SPUTNIK'S ROCKET PLUNGES INTO SEA

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 30 (AP) — The rocket of the first Soviet Sputnik probably plunged to its death tonight, possibly into the South Pacific, hundreds of miles off South America, Dr. Fred L. Whipple, director of the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, said.

Whipple said rapid changes in the circling time of the rocket indicated it was losing altitude rapidly and heading toward the denser lower atmosphere that would burn it up.

A Los Altos, Calif., Moonwatcher, Roy N. Griffin, reported he sighted the rocket at 7:09 p.m., EST. He said it was brighter than the planet Venus or any other object in the sky except the moon.

This led Dr. John S. Rinehart, assistant director of the Smithsonian, to speculate that the satellite might have been starting to burn up.

If the rocket was starting to burn up over California, Whipple said, it might last a few thousand miles but it would be unlikely to be seen again.

Its path would take it over the Pacific Ocean, then across lower South America near Argentina. If it survived that far it passed over many thousands of miles of open water in the South Pacific before crossing the Indian Ocean. The next land in its path would be India.

Whipple cautioned that no observations were positive but he believed there was legitimate reason to believe the rocket may not have survived much beyond the California passage.

The rocket would have circled the world approximately 920 times since its launching on Oct. 4.

At a maximum velocity of 18,000 miles per hour, the rocket, itself a satellite, will have traveled nearly 25 million miles in 57 days. This is equal to about 50 round trips to the moon, earth's only satellite before man began putting his own moons into orbit.

Dr. Whipple had based his prediction of the sudden death of the rocket on data received today from the giant radar telescope at Jodrell Bank, England.

The 250-foot disc of this huge radarscope caught the Russian rocket as it passed over England at 10:18 a.m., EST, today. That observation, the only reliable one relayed to Smithsonian today, indicated the rocket had speeded up in its orbit, making its flaming plunge into the denser atmosphere of the earth possible tonight.

About a week ago, Smithsonian scientists had predicted the rocket would fall on or about Sunday, Dec. 1.

Sputnik I is assumed to be in orbit in the same plane as its rocket satellite but is expected to last several weeks more. It is a 23-inch, 184-pound sphere, and presents much less atmospheric drag.

Sputnik II, launched Nov. 3, is in an orbit so that it is observable in twilight hours only in the extreme north and south where there are few observers. Smithsonian officials expected it will be seen in the United States within the next couple of weeks.

Knowland Calls For Control Of Missile Funds

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) proposed today that President Eisenhower clothe a Defense Department coordinator with broad budgetary powers to channel missile spending into fields most likely to give the United States early superiority over Russia.

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, said that unless one official has authority to transfer funds between projects being carried on by the Army, Navy and the Air Force, he does not believe the necessary cooperation will be forthcoming to elevate this country from a position of second best in the missile field.

NO AUTHORITY

Under the present setup, Knowland said in an interview, William Holaday, assistant secretary of defense in charge of missile development, does not have the budgetary authority the California senator is proposing. Knowland added that apparently no one but the President himself now has the power to make fund transfers.

"We must make certain we get in the lead in all forms of missile production," Knowland said. "We must not be second best. It is quite likely the government is going to have to allot additional funds to the missile program.

"Whether an additional billion dollars or two billion dollars is necessary will depend on the facts as they are developed. But I don't think the mere shoveling in of additional funds is going to solve this problem.

"I do not believe we are going to get full coordination in the program unless the operating head of it is clothed with sufficient authority. The only way he can get that is to have the necessary authority to transfer funds from one missile development project to another.

"Unless he is given that authority he is not going to have the power to coordinate our efforts fully."

Knowland expressed confidence that additional funds can be channeled into the missile program without either new taxes or deficit financing. He said he thinks economies elsewhere in the budget will offset some of the increased missile spending.

Missile Launching Sites Are Planned

To Study Cost Of Equipping Europe Bases

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP)— Arming allied forces in Europe with Intermediate Range Ballistic Missiles is estimated to cost the United States 150 million dollars initially in increased foreign aid next year.

The Eisenhower administration is expected to advise allied leaders of the price tag which presumably will go up in future years as more missiles become available to equip more bases.

Administration officials now are pressing to a conclusion the basic political and military plans and decisions which will constitute U. S. policy in the North Atlantic Treaty summit conference in Paris beginning Dec. 16.

At least the outline of the program will be presented to Democratic and Republican congressional leaders at a White House meeting Tuesday.

With President Eisenhower recuperating at his Gettysburg farm from his latest illness, Vice President Nixon and Secretary of State Dulles met at Dulles' home today to plan the administration's approach to the Tuesday session. Maj. Gen. Wilton B. Persons, presidential assistant, sat in on the 2¼ hour session.

One of the specific proposals which Eisenhower or Nixon is due to put up to allied leaders is for a network of missile bases in the European area. It would be up to the NATO commander, Gen. Lauris Norstad, to say where the bases should be.

The United States would stockpile atomic warheads near the missiles for use in event of war. The warheads would be kept under U. S. control until the shooting started.

One of the problems in any such new project is its cost which, so far as American work on the missiles plan is concerned, has been figured within the administration here as part of the foreign military aid expense.

Gen. David Wade To Run SAC Ballistic Missiles

OMAHA, Nov. 30 (AP) — Maj. Gen. David Wade, chief of staff of the Strategic Air Command, was named today to head the ballistic missiles force of SAC.

Wade's appointment, announced by Gen. Thomas S. Power, commanding general of SAC, followed disclosure by Gen. Thomas D. White, Air Force chief of staff, yesterday, that responsibility for both intercontinental and intermediate range ballistic missiles in their "initial operational capability phase" would be transferred from the Air Research and Development Command to SAC.

Power said creation of the sub-command under Wade will bring under one central control all ballistic missiles designed for strategic offensive and integrate it with SAC's global striking force. This will make use of the world-wide resources of SAC intelligence, reconnaisance, material and communications.

* * * *

Gen. Wade is well known here, having served as executive officer of the Big Spring Bombardier School when it was activated in Decembeer of 1942. He became acting commander of the base after the death of Col. Sam Ellis in March of 1943 and shortly thereafter went overseas.

He is a graduate of West Point and a career officer who was decorated extensively for his combat activities.

Air Force Has Aim Of Ring Around Nation

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP)—The Air Force is getting ready to build the first of a probable chain of Bomarc antiaircraft missile launching sites which eventually may ring the country with a long-reach defense against jet bomber and conventional guided missile attack.

At the same time, planners are assaying another, even more perplexing aspect of defense: the approaching problem of redesigning the distant and overseas radar warning systems to detect hypersonic ballistic missiles within minutes of their launching from Soviet bases thousands of miles away.

Such a long-range, instant-reaction detection system is prerequisite to the use of any anti-missile system.

TO ACQUIRE LAND

The Air Force has just been authorized by the Defense Department, it was learned today, to acquire land for the first Bomarc launching site. An official announcement on the approximate location may be made soon.

Air defense experts of the Air Force are understood to believe that a complete chain could be created with construction of about 15 such sites. This would compare with more than 30 launching sites used in the Army's Nike antiaircraft missile system for close-in defense of cities along the northern border and northern Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

HOMING DEVICE

The Bomarc, produced for the Air Force by Boeing Airplane Co., is an "area" defense missile, with a present range of about 300 miles and supersonic speed. Its guidance system includes a "homing" device enabling it to steer itself in to final destructive contact range of an enemy object after it has been guided into the general proximity. Its warhead can be either nuclear or conventional explosive.

Those who created the Bomarc say it is not intended as the ultimate weapon for use against ballistic and guided missiles and manned bombers. Like the Nike, it is to provide defense during the time when long range jet bombers and missiles something like the 5,000-mile cruising missile Snark continue to be the primary method of nuclear weapon delivery.

No Bomarc or Nike could work against a ballistic missile, which flies at a speed of up to 15,000 miles per hour and in a trajectory as high as 600 or 700 miles.

Harrison Rejection Unconstitutional

AUSTIN, Nov. 30 (AP)—The state Senate's rejection of William Harrison as commissioner of insurance was based on a section of law that is unconstitutional, Atty. Gen. Will Wilson held today.

The confirmation or rejection of the insurance commissioner by the Board of Insurance is a nonlegislative power and that part of the new insurance code giving it such powers is invalid, Wilson said.

Harrison, one of the state's top investigators in recent insurance failures such as U.S. Trust and Guaranty and the ICT Insurance Co., was turned down by the Senate in an executive session Nov. 12, last day of the first special session.

The action led to widespread criticism of the Senate, which gave no immediate official reasons for its action. Last week, the differences between the Insurance Board and some senators exploded in speeches in the Senate.

Several senators said Harrison was turned down because they did not feel his experience as an auditor and accountant qualified him. They also said they were not satisfied with reorganization of the Insurance Department under Harrison.

Harrison had no comment on the attorney general's opinion. He said he would confer with Chairman Penn Jackson and other members of the commission. They were out of town.

WILLIAM HARRISON

Harrison was warmly defended by members of the board and Gov. Price Daniel when the Senated rejected him. The board also challenged validity of the Senate action on grounds that it was not constitutional, and Wilson today upheld that view.

Attorney general's opinions have no force of law, but they are usually put into effect by state departments which ask for such guidance in administrative matters.

Apparently, Harrison will continue in office as top administrator for the Insurance Department. The board's work had been virtually brought to a standstill after Harrison's appointment was rejected.

It was entirely possible the matter could not be finally settled until some court action might be brought to test Harrison's right to hold the office in view of the Senate action.

Wilson said the questions raised by the Insurance Board had never been determined by a Texas court.

The courts have held however, Wilson said, that the power of confirmation is an executive function of the Legislature, and that it must be expressly permitted by the Constitution. Approval of appointments by the governor in the Senate fall in this category.

Indonesian King Escapes Assassination Attempt

JARKATA, Indonesia, Nov. 30 (AP) — Assassins hurled four grenades at President Sukarno as he left an elementary school tonight, but, he escaped injury. A bloody toll was taken among those around him.

First reports said seven persons —five children and two police officers of the presidential escort— were killed when the exploding grenades ripped through a crowd around Sukarno's auto.

Seven other persons, all children were reported injured seriously. A citywide radio appeal was made for doctors to report to Jakarta's Central Hospital.

A few hours after the attack, Sukarno made a radio speech, appealing to the nation to remain calm. He said that mothers and members of his body guard were injured "and also several have been killed."

There was no immediate clue to the identity of the grenade throwers or the source of the attack.

Military leaders in various parts of the young island republic have been in revolt against the central government in Jakarta in recent months, but last September they pleaded allegiance to Sukarno.

Sukarno's program for a guided democracy for Indonesia has come under strong attack, however. Much of the opposition to it has resulted from his plan to include Communists among members of a ruling National Council.

The grenade attack occurred as Sukarno was getting into his car after speaking at a program at the elementary school attended by his own children, His son, Guntur, 12, and daughter, Megawati, 9, were not among the caualties, reports said.

In his radio address, Sukarno said:

"This is my voice, the voice of Sukarno. I want to express my gratitude to God Almighty that I have been saved from assassination at Tjikin Public School.

"I hereby want to express my deepest sympathy for these victims of terrorism. To the entire Indonesian people and to security agencies, I hereby urge that they remain calm and intensify national security.

Churchill Sprightly On 83rd Birthday

WESTERHAM, England, Nov. 30 (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill celebrated his 83rd birthday at the family fireside today with reminiscences and champagne.

Britain's "man of the century" greeted another year in the peace of an English country mansion with his grandchildren at his feet and a wartime comrade by his side.

Churchill looked fit and sprightly. He came to the door of Chartwell, his country house, and waved at well-wishers gathering outside in the late November frost.

The pink cherubic face lit up with pleasure. He was stooped, and there were other signs of the advancing years.

Only one thing was missing from the familiar picture—no big, brown cigar jutted from his lips in the jaunty old way.

Churchill was overwhelmed by a mountain of birthday telegrams and letters pouring in from all over the globe. A special delivery truck was needed to carry them from this Kent market town to nearby Chartwell.

Every newspaper ran editorial eulogies describing Churchill as the living symbol of the worldwide British Commonwealth of Nations.

In a radio address, Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd tonight told millions of listeners:

"From very full hearts we send (Sir Winston) our warm congratulations and affectionate greetings.

"I am sure that he would think that his most acceptable birthday present has been the good news about President Eisenhower's recovery. We pray that it may be rapid and complete."

WINSTON CHURCHILL

Churchill began the day by staying in bed most of the morning reading his mails.

Then he came down to lunch with the family and his one non-Churchill guest, Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery.

Round the table where his son Randolph, two of his daughters, Mrs. Christopher Soames and Mrs. Duncan Sandys, and all nine of his grandchildren.

After lunch the rest of the family withdrew to give Churchill and Montgomery a chance to talk over old times. Churchill sipped champagne while the abstemious Montgomery drank tea.

The big occasion of the day was a family dinner party with the long table groaning under a 15-pound iced birthday cake with only one candle.

Churchill is known to dislike being reminded of his age, but his cakemaker said the one candle was not his idea.

Adenauer Has Flu

BONN, Germany, Nov. 30 (AP)— Influenza today forced West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer to put off his visit to London next week.

Vessel Is Staying Afloat After Damage By Iceberg

LONDON, Nov. 30 (AP)—A British research ship struck an iceberg and was badly damaged today some 400 miles off the frozen northern tip of Antarctica, but hours later it was reported still seaworthy and keeping afloat.

The 1,100-ton Shackleton, en route with 60 persons aboard to relieve scientists who had been in the antarctic for two years, radioed tonight it was heading across the storm-tossed Scotia Sea and would try to reach the British island of South Georgia.

The radio message picked up by the admiralty here came as an optimistic footnote to a day of high drama amid the polar ice.

A previous radio signal from the Shackleton had said the master of the crippled ship was trying to beach it on bleak Laurie Island.

A radio report tonight from Port Stanley in the Falkland Islands said the Shackleton had messaged that her leaks were "almost under control" and that the weather in the area was calm.

Reviewing The

Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

The Thanksgiving holidays have come and gone—and it's later than you think. Only 20 shopping days until Christmas. If you think it's been hectic so far, dig in for the fastest whirlwind of the year. Socials, services, projects and even business will keep you on the move.

Based on the report at the meeting last week, the Howard County Tuberculosis Association isn't off to a good start on its Christmas seals. So far only about 250 people have responded out of a total of 5,876 who were invited to buy seals. If it's a case of forgetting, let this be a reminder. The association finances its entire program of help on revenues from the seals.

Grain was rolling to elevators at a heavy clip during the week, something in excess of a million pounds per day. Friday winds inflicted some heavy damage, but nothing like spots on the upper plains where upward of 80 per cent of the grain in the field was toppled. WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP)— The Public Health Service said today there was a marked reduction in the number of cases of influenza and similar diseases last week.

City's Yule Tree Is Decorated

Big Spring's 1957 Christmas tree was installed Saturday in the memorial recess on the east side of the courthouse grounds.

Clyde McMahon paid the bill for transporting the tree here from Ruidoso, N. M. He used one of Jimmy Jones' trucks to move the 30-foot spruce.

Installation of decorations was started immediately, and the tree is due to be fully dressed in time for the formal opening of the Christmas season here Tuesday evening. Lights on the tree and on the other decorations around the courthouse will be turned on at 6 p.m. Tuesday, following the parade which starts at 4:30 p.m.

Help Needy Children With Christmas Cheer

So you're getting ready for a big Christmas . . .

A lot of folks are not. These would be the youngsters of underprivileged families, those in homes where there may not be a Father or a Mother, or where the bread-winner has been ill a long time. These would be children poorly tossed about by fate, and whose moments of pleasure come only when they're remembered by people of more fortunate circumstances.

There's a way to help these needy boys and girls. It's through the CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND, a seasonal program open to you through the firemen of the city, The Herald, and dedicated workers in the health and welfare agencies.

For more than a quarter-century, the firemen have been receiving and administering this CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND. Every cent given goes to help the poor youngsters. Not a cent goes to administrative affairs. No volunteer worker receives a penny.

The CHRISTMAS CHEER money buys toys, fruits, nuts, substantial food for children who need theem. It helps to finance toy repair. And, if there's money left over, it is used through the year to purchase milk and medicine for those in destitution.

The CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND opens today. It is under way with two gifts — one for $10, another for $5 — from old friends. It will receive your gift until a couple of days before Christmas.

There is no "campaign" for this fund. No "pressure" is exerted, no special requests are made. The CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND simply is available to you who want to have a part in expressing the richest spirit of Christmas.

If you want to share in this, just make out your check to CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND. Mail it to The Herald, or hand to any fireman, for appreciative acknowledgement.

You'll be glad you did.

Mohammed To See King Ranch

KINGSVILLE, Tex., Nov. 30 (AP) —The King of Morocco, Mohammed V, flew into this south Texas city today en route to a week end visit at the fabulous King ranch.

His plane touched down at the Kingsville Naval Auxiliary Air Station at 5:26 p.m. as a crowd of about 500 civilian and naval personnel watched. It was a beautiful, cool day.

King Mohammed, looking rested and in native dress, stepped from the plane to be greeted by Adm. Ralph S. Clarke, chief of naval air advanced training, Capt. William A. Sullivan, commander of the station, and Richard M. Kleberg Jr., head of the King ranch and the King's host for the week-end.

The Corpus Christi Naval Air Station band struck up the Moroccan national anthem. Then King Mohammed inspected the Marine honor guard.

Immediately afterward the King was driven to the ranch by Kleberg.

Rebels Claim Heavy Attack By Spaniards

RABAT, Morocco, Nov. 30 (AP)—Rebels in the Spanish colony of Ifni on the African coast claimed today they were under attack by planes, warships and 6,000 Spanish troops.

There were reports the fighting had spread to the big Spanish possession of Rio de Oro, 200 miles to the south on the Atlantic coast.

Rebel sources said Spanish war planes had bombed villages in Rio de Oro. Moroccan officials said parts of independent Morocco bordering Ifni also had been attacked. There was no confirmation from Madrid. Sources in Rabat said there was danger of a clash between regular Moroccan troops and Spanish forces on the Ifni border.

Ifni is a 471-square mile enclave on the Atlantic coast of Morocco. Spain claims the enclave as a perpetual possession under an agreement in 1860. Morocco's King Mohammed V, now touring the United States, ordered negotiations with Spain last summer on making Ifni part of Morocco. There have been sporadic uprisings in Ifni ever since.

Officials in Rabat maintain the revolt is purely an affair between the inhabitants of Ifni and the Spanish. Spain charges the rebels come from outside the enclave and are members of Morocco's semi-official army of liberation.

Reports of rebel leaders say 63 Spanish soldiers were killed in the first five days of fighting and that more than 230 Ifni tribespeople died in Spanish bombings.

In Paris, the French News Agency reported that two Spanish ships bombarded the enclave yesterday. A dispatch quoting well informed sources identified the ships as the heavy cruiser Canarias and the mine layer Neptunio.

Medical Costs Lagging, Area Doctors Told

Prices on medical care have been followers—not leaders—in the inflationary spiral.

Perhaps one reason people mistakely feel that medical costs are sometimes unduly high is that they just don't like to be sick, C. Lincoln Williston, Austin, executive secretary of the Texas Medical Society, told members of the Howard-Glasscock-Martin Counties Medical Societies here at their meeting on Tuesday.

"Bills for doctors services, for hospitalization, and drugs represent an expense for something that an individual did not want in the first place," he said.

While cost of all commodities and services have risen by 91 per cent during the past 16 years, medical care and drugs have gone up but 78 per cent, Williston declared.

During the period of 1936-56 fees charged by general practitioners rose 79 per cent and surgeon's 59 per cent. In contrast, according to the Department of Labor, haircuts advanced 221 per cent, furniture 123, movies 114, transporation 113, laundry 108, automotive repairs 84.

The average American family today spends 4½ cents of each dollar for medical care including drugs and nationally about $11 billion on alcholic beverages, or 50 per cent more than for physicans' services and hospitals combined. They spend almost as much for tobacco as for doctors and hospitals, he said.

Next meeting of the society will be held in December for annual election of officers.

Saturday's Low Hit 23 Degrees

It was cold early Saturday morning all right—23 degrees—but it lacked three degrees of equalling the 20 scored on Nov. 23 for the coldest night of the 1957 fall season.

And it lacked 10 degrees of equalling that chilly 13 which was scored on Nov. 30, 1911. That was the coldest of all Nov. 30's in Big Spring history and second coldest November day on record. Coldest day was Nov. 29, 1911, when the temperature dropped to 7 degrees.

That November must have been a booger—five of the November minimum readings for the 57 years records have been kept in this city occurred during that month. That cold spell seems to have begun on Nov. 12 and continued through the remainder of the month.

Many Persons Have A 'Light Stroke'

By JOHN A. BARBOUR
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK, Nov. 30 (AP)—Death, paralysis or just a dizzy spell—they all came packaged in one shocking and inexact word: Stroke.

President Eisenhower's light stroke of six days ago seems to have been less incapacitating than a bad cold. He attended Thanksgiving Day services three days afterward.

Doctors let him motor to his Gettysburg farm on Friday. And in another two weeks, he may attend top level NATO meetings in Paris.

To many this dramatic recovery may seem hard to believe. The word stroke seemed just a few steps from the grave.

Actually doctors prefer to call the blow which struck the President by a more specific name—a cerebral vascular occlusion—change occurrence in a blood vessel of the brain.

Normally, they like to keep their eye on their patient for perhaps six weeks afterward to get the best idea of the extent of damage, the possibility of recurrence.

They also like their patients to enjoy the luxury of rest. This is a luxury which is difficult for presidents.

To get an idea of the varied degrees and nature of strokes, suppose you lived in a city where immediate delivery of foodstuffs was essential. There were no means of storing foods. You and your neighbors, living close together, depend on deliveries for each and every meal.

Foodstuffs were carried along expressways into your city. They flowed off onto secondary avenues sidestreets, alleys and driveways.

In the same way, your brain is dependent on the minute to minute flow of blood into its every nook and crany. One missed delivery and some part of your thinking and memory metropolis is affected.

In the case of an occlusion, that is exactly what happens.

An accident somewhere along the expressways or the sidestreets of that city ties up blood traffic and the deliveries don't get through. The effect is felt immediately.

Other neighboring sidestreets or alleys try to take care of the stricken area. The extent to which they are successful determines just how well the patient recovers.

Actually countless Americans suffer similar strokes every year—little strokes they never realize they've had. These strokes vary in intensity. Some people have recurring strokes.

Santa To Pay Special Visit To Webb Children's Party

Webb Air Force Base will stage a big Christmas party for children of military personnel again this year—on Dec. 14.

Santa Claus, due to fly here either by helicopter or jet, will be the big attraction, of course. There'll also be gifts and goodies, and several clowns to help entertain the youngsters.

The party will be staged in Hangar No: 25, starting at 1 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 14.

Base personnel also are planning several other Yule projects. A male chorus has been organized by members of the 3560th Air Force Band, and plans to sing Christmas carols in the vicinity of the various headquarters buildings during the pre-Christmas period.

Also Protestant and Catholic choirs of the WAFB Chapel are being combined. They will present a program of Christmas music in the chapel, at a date to be chosen later.

Air Force families will turn out for Big Spring's Christmas parade Tuesday evening, and 25 base officers will help local police handle the crowds at the event.

House Schedules A 'Dummy' Session

AUSTIN, Nov. 30 (AP)—A Legislature that has finished its assigned job but can't agree on a quitting date will try again to end it all next week.

The House meets Sunday at 6 p.m. in an extraordinary session that very likely will not have enough members present to do anything but adjourn until Monday.

The Senate had such a session yesterday, with 4 of 31 members present. Senators were outnumbered 6 to 1 by newsmen, clerks, doorkeepers and other attaches.

Those situations came about when both houses, squabbling over final adjournment and one remaining segregation bill, couldn't agree on granting mutual permission for a Wednesday-to-Monday Thanksgiving holiday.

The Constitution proves that neither house shall adjourn for more than three days at a time without the consent of the other. Members of the House and Senate butted heads over this question, and over the matter of final adjournment, for hours Wednesday without avail.

Then the Senate, as it often does, took matters into its own hands. It adjourned until Friday with an understanding that almost all would stay at home.

The House then had no choice. To get as well around the three-day rule as the circumstances permitted, it quit until 6 p.m. Sunday.

The only bill of major nature pending is the registration measure—one that both the House and Senate have passed in precisely the same textual form. A technicality has kept it from going to the governor.

Gov. Price Daniel's suggested program was disposed of early last week when the lawmakers agreed on a troop-school closing bill and a bill bolstering state legal aid for local school districts involved in federal integration suits.

Special Services Fund To Receive More Jury Fees

Fifty lunacy cases, one of the largest dockets in several months, will be heard at the regular sanity session of the Howard County Court at the Big Spring State Hospital on Dec. 12.

Once again, as has been the practice for the past three sessions, the six jurors who will be called upon to pass on the admission of the patients, will contribute their $1-per-case fee to the state hospital special services fund.

Jurors began this practice in August. Their combined fees, which generally total more than $250, have been contributed to the fund used by local agencies to provide special comforts and facilities for the patients in the hospital.

Howard County Judge R. H. Weaver and John Richard Coffee, county attorney, will be officers at the hearing.

This will be final session of the lunacy court operating under the old state Mental Health Code.

Effective Jan. 1, the new code, as drawn by the legislature, replaces the old system. Several sharp modifications in procedure in such matters have been set up in the new code.

Most important, perhaps, is the provision which permits a person up for admission to a state hospital to waive a jury in his case, if he so elects. Most officials regard the old jury system as archaic and ineffective and believe that there will be few sanity hearings before a jury in the future.

R. E. Jones, 83, Dies At Cisco

Funeral services will be conducted in the River Chapel here Monday afternoon for Robert Edney Jones, 83, former Big Springer who died Friday in a hospital at Cisco.

The services are to start at 2:30 p.m. Dr. Jordan Grooms, First Methodist pastor, will officiate and interment will be in City Cemetery.

Mr. Jones had lived in Eastland County for the past 30 years, since moving there from Big Spring. He was a retired rancher and farmer. He had been ill for about 10 days.

He is survived by his wife, four sons, Howard Jones of Odessa, Britton Jones of Alamogordo, N. M., Otto Jones of Stamford, and Doyle Jones of Compton, Calif.; five daughters, Mrs. Rudy Mosely and Mrs. John Cowling of Odessa, Mrs. L. V. McDonald of Fort Worth, Mrs. Katherine Archer of Cisco and Mrs. Willie Digby of Dublin, and 35 grandchildren.

Christmas Program Still Needing $300

The Chamber of Commerce still needs more than $300 for its Christmas Activities Fund.

Merchants participating in the Christmas program so far have given $2,884. The program was set up on a $3,200 budget, and expenses are going to reach that figure, Chamber officials said Saturday.

New Swartz Shop Will Open Monday

If peering through the window or knocking on the door are criteria of acceptance, Big Spring's newest business will be well rooted by time of its opening Monday.

These indices of interest have been little short of phenomenal for Swartz's Junior Shop, adjoining its widely known and long established senior.

While the fixtures, furnishings, woodwork and other appointments are basically the same as in the Swartz's women's fashion center, the Junior Shop purposely reflects greater informality. It has more openness and light, and the design lines are in keeping with the vigor, casualness and directness of the younger set.

The idea of the Junior Shop grew out of a need for smart fashions for young women, and thus A. Swartz has made the store broad enough to encompass the career girl as well as the young matron in its merchandising.

By beaming the stock within this range the Junior Shop will present merchandise within budget requirements of young ladies and young matrons.

Like the parent store, the Junior Shop features an open glass front recessed from a masonry border. The ceiling is acoustical and illumination provides daylight effectiveness. The front is blue and the walls are light. A pastel rose baffle separates the display areas from the reserve stock space. The areas to the rear of the semi-partition will be used not only for stock, but also for wrapping and for alterations. It also contains four attractive fitting rooms.

The space is air conditioned for both winter and summer.

Gins Are Humming Around The Clock

Howard, Martin and Glasscock counties finally had a full week of harvest.

Texas Employment Commission estimates Saturday morning were that 35 per cent of the crop had been ginned, although Howard and Glasscock were nearing the half way mark.

Ginnings totalled 31,280 for the three counties, Leon Kinney, TEC manager, reported on his weekly survey. The rate of harvest was stepped up until practically all gins were humming on a 24-hour basis. Given two more weeks of fair weather, Kinney predicted the bulk of the crop would be gathered.

Martin County led with 13,696 bales but it was trailing the list in the percentage of crop harvested, for despite hail in the Tarzan area and losses by early frost, it is estimated that the total yield may be 51,000 bales.

Howard County was next with 10,798 bales, which was 44.8 per cent of its estimated yield of 24,000 bales.

Glasscock reported 6,786 bales or 49 per cent of its estimated yield of 13,600 bales.

Ginners estimated that the crop was at least 75 to 80 per cent open.

While not critical, the labor situation was in delicate balance. There were practically no domestics engaged in the harvest, except those who live in this vicinity, and braceros were exercising increasing pressure to go home as cold weather set in.

Within 10 days to two weeks Kinney said mechanical harvest of the crop, principally by stripping, would reach major proportions. The exception will be in Martin County where the rank growth of plants almost precludes the use of strippers on irrigated acreage. There has been pressure in those areas by harvest hands to pull instead of pick, but so far growers have contended for picking because of a price differential which rates as high as $25 a bale. Within about another week or 10 days, however, most of the harvest may be on a pull basis.

CRMWD Revenues Drop To $125,600 In October

Water sales declined, and correspondingly revenues came down for the Colorado River Municipal Water District during October, the regular revenue fund report shows.

The regular seasonal modification showed prime revenues of $125,640 plus recreational revenues of $1,897 in October. This brought the total for the year to $1,227,637 from water sales and $48,835 from recreation. The former is all applied to operations, maintenance debt retirement and special funds set up under the indenture. The latter is used for recreational service and improvements.

Total expenditures during October stood at $43,492. For the first 10 months of the fiscal year expenses have been $450,417, which left $826,055 to be transferred for debt service, coverage, retirement, etc.

Water sales reported for October (which are in reality September deliveries) amounted to 837,671,000 gallons. Of this, Odessa took 307,640,000, Big Spring 194,938,000, Snyder 57,472,000, SACROC 195,460,000, Lion Oil 35,781,000, Sharon Ridge 42,120,000, and Texas Gulf Producing 4,260,000. Production aggregated 878,556,000 gallons, of which 354,642,000 came from district and city well fields and 523,556,000 from Lake J. B. Thomas.

Stock Offering Completed By Zale's Jewelry

Underwriting of Zale Jewelry Company's first public stock offering has been completed with presentation of a check for $1,462,500 to the company by Eppler, Guerin & Turner, managing underwriter.

Fulfillment of the underwriting agreement was announced in Dallas Saturday by William Zale, a director of the jewelry firm and chairman of its finance committee, and Dean P. Guerin, vice president of the investment banking company.

The check represented proceeds from the sale of 125,000 shares of common stock, syndicated by Eppler, Guerin & Turner through a national underwriting group and released to the public on November 18.

Zale said the proceeds would be used to acquire additional stores and to continue expansion of the company, largest retail jewelry firm in the United States.

Zale's currently owns and operates 85 stores in an 18-state area extending from Columbus, Georgia, to Seattle, Washington. The company's operation has been expanded by 13 stores during 1957 alone.

Founded in Wichita Falls in 1924, Zale's has made a profit every year since its founding and has paid uninterrupted cash dividends to stockholders for the past 21 years. The company reported sales of $35,843,310 for the fiscal year ending last March 31, with net earnings after taxes of $2,254,150.

The Zale organization is directed from executive offices in Dallas. Ben A. Lipshy is president and Morris B. Zale is chairman of the board.

New Tunnel Has Usual Mishaps

BALTIMORE, Nov. 30 (AP)— The new four-lane highway tunnel under Baltimore Harbor opened at 12:03 a.m. today.

Fifteen minutes later came the first smashup. One car rammed another in the rear. Both drivers were injured slightly.

A few minutes later, another was charged with reckless driving and failing to wear his glasses while driving.

At 1:10 a.m., the first car stalled in the tubes. Dead battery.

Tri-Hi-Y Sets Guidance Talks

Parents of boys and girls enrolled in the Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y Clubs are being urged to participate in the "partners in guidance" program set for Wednesday.

Everett Taylor, program director, said that the session would start at 7 p.m. in the YMCA basement. This program is designed to aid in understanding the teen-ager and his (or her) problems, to explain how the Y attempts to fit into teen-age development and how parents can reinforce the clubs' program.

After a devotional presented by the Hi-Y Club. George Oldham will introduce a panel composed of Bill Estes, who will discuss "Counselling Your Child;" Dr. T. J. Williamson, "Meeting Emotional and Physical Needs;" Chaplain V. E. Mikesell, "Helping Your Child Meet a Spiritual Challenge;" Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr., "Code of Ethics." There will be a special film, "My Son's Dad," and Bobo Hardy, general secretary, will appraise the conference.

C-C Directors To Complete Board

Date for new and holdover directors of the Chamber of Commerce to elect up to 10 additional board members will be set Monday at the regular C-C directors meeting.

Election of the 15 new directors, announced last week, will be made official by the board, also. New directors won't take office until Jan. 6.

The election arrangements and reports on various activities of the Chamber were the only items listed Saturday on the agenda for the board meeting. The session will be held at noon in the C-C offices.

County To Consider Steps To Start Airport Construction

Howard County Commissioners will discuss a trip to Fort Worth sometime in the very near future at their meeting on Monday.

R. H. Weaver, county judge, said that he had talked with Louis Jean Thompson, engineer, and and that he had been told the plans and specifications for the Howard County Airport should be in shape for presentation to the Civil Aernautics Authority within the next week.

The CAA want the commissioners—or representatives of that group—to come to Fort Worth when these plans are ready for a conference on the next step in the program.

Weaver was hopeful that the preparations could be far enough along by Thursday of this week to permit this visit.

The CAA has approved and returned the master plan, and with the specifications ready, it is hoped that the long-delayed project can be set in motion in the relatively near future.

The commissioners are still waiting for the State Highway Department to provide it with complete details on the land it will need for the proposed FM 700 job.

Until deeds for right-of-way are in the court's hands, no negotiations with the landowners on the projected road can be undertaken.

"Until we know exactly how many acres will be needed from each property owner," Weaver pointed out, "we are in no position to talk with the owners.

"All that we have now is the engineering stakes which indicate the general route of the proposed road. We have conferred with the owners of the land but we cannot make any definite proposals because we don't have enough information.

"We have been waiting for the deeds from the highway department, but so far they have not arrived."

Weaver said that he did not believe any discussion of the proposal to renovate the old Dora Roberts residence on Scurry into a new home for the Howard County Library would come up at Monday's meeting.

Plans and specifications for remodelling the residence have been completed and are now in the hands of the Dora Roberts Foundation officers. The foundation has deeded the property to the county and allocated approximately $40,000 in money to pay for remodeling the rambling structure into a library.

Howard County Commissioners did not meet last Monday due to the absence from town of the county judge.

It was also said Saturday that it was doubtful if any further discussion of the county's participation in a proposed revaluation project for tax purposes in cooperation with the city and the schools would come up at Monday's meeting.

Next step in this project will have to come after the special committee, named to study offers of engineering firms to do the work, have been investigated and the reports on their work in other counties studied.

Inquiries have been dispatched to the counties where similar programs have been carried out. Replies to some of these have been received by City Manager Herbert Whitney. When all of the answers are on hand, it is probable the committee, which includes representatives from the city, the school and the county governing bodies, will meet to consider the next step.

Officials indicated there seemed to be no reason for any further discussion of the problem until this next step has been taken.

Only 2 Cases Set For Trials Monday

What promised to be an interesting and fairly crowded week of criminal jury trials in 118th District Court this week seems to have fallen apart at the seams.

Originally announced for trial were half a dozen cases including the embezzlement indictment against Vincent A. Gomez, leader in the Latin American part of town.

Actually, the way things looked Saturday, Gil Jones, district attorney, will have only two cases ready for the jury to consider when Judge Charlie Sullivan convenes court on Monday morning.

Gomez, indicted by the last grand jury for embezzlement of merchandise allegedly stolen from the Saunders Co., a wholesale builders supply outfit here, disappeared from town while the grand jury was in session.

Although a wide search has been in progress for him for nearly a month, he has not been apprehended. It is reported that he was in contact with an attorney here during the month by mail and indicated in that letter he would be back. However, according to officers, he has not been in Big Spring since he disappeared late in October.

Two other persons were indicted in connection with the Saunders Co. thefts. They are Leroy Wright, under three indictments, and Herb Dyer, one indictment. They were tentatively scheduled for trial this week but it was not anticipated Jones would go to trial with these cases unless he could also proceed with the Gomez charge.

Nine pleas of guilty, a day or two after the grand jury had reported, cut down the potential trial list sharply. Another defendant, Steve Harper, indicted for burglary, was revealed as a minor when officers investigated. He was sent back to Huntsville to resume serving a term already assessed against him there.

Everell Lee Cavet, charged with forgery, disappeared soon after she had been released on bond but was located in mid-November. She elected to plead guilty and drew a probated sentence.

This further reduced the prospective number of cases which would have been set for Dec. 2 in criminal district court.

As a result, the way things shaped up Saturday, there will probably be two cases announced ready when Judge Sullivan sounds his docket.

Lawrence Rollwitz, charged with DWI second offense, will probably be the first defendant tried. He was scheduled for trial at the last criminal jury docket but secured a continuance on the grounds he had not been given enough notice. An important state witness in this case is coming from Waco and is believed that a special effort will be made to get this case on the road Monday.

J. E. Turnbow, also indicted for DWI second offense, is the only other defendant likely to face a jury at this week's court session.

Meantime, a regular panel of 60 jurors is under orders to report to Judge Sullivan in court at 10 a.m. Monday.

Sunflower Seeds

STRAUBING, Germany, Nov. 30 (AP)—Farmer Hermann Spanner is baking sunflower seeds into bread and trying to sell it to the U. S. Army. He said vitamin-packed sunflower seeds would give the soldiers added strength and stamina. He got the idea when he saw Russian soldiers in World War II chewing sunflower seeds as Americans chew gum.

Science Lag Report Gets Ike's Approval

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Nov. 30 (AP)—President Eisenhower tonight heartily endorsed an advisory report saying America is lagging dangerously in training scientists, with Russia "bending every effort" to achieve world domination in a scientific revolution.

The report by the President's Study Committee on Scientists and Engineers was made public by the temporary White House as Eisenhower continued convalescing at his farm home after last Monday's mild stroke.

In response to the Soviet threat in this space era, the committee told the President that the United Sates must marshal "our brainpower resources in company with other nations of the free world, not only for mutual defense, but to meet the broader challenges of the scientific age."

HAVEN'T GRASPED IT

The committee chairman, Howard L. Bevis, president-emeritus of Ohio State University, said in a letter to Eisenhower:

"The committee believes that the American people have not grasped the full implication of the recent technological developments, namely, that we have entered a new phase in man's intellectual progress and social evolution."

Bevis said further that long before such Russian space age advances as the launching of satellites, the Presidential Study Committee felt "very real concern . . . over the Soviet Union's mounting challenge to our technological leadership." Bevis added:

"The successful release of atomic energy some 12 years ago, the recent launching of man-made satellites, exciting advances toward unraveling the mysteries of life itself — these are dramatic symptoms of the new scientific revolution which is reshaping the world.

"There is ample evidence that the Soviet Union is bending every effort to achieve its goal of world domination by leading the way in this scientific revolution."

In replying to Bevis in a letter dated yesterday, Eisenhower commended the work of the Study Committee he created in April, 1956. Of the group's report and its remedial recommendations, the President said:

"It represents a clear picture of the large problems that confront us in building the nation's potential in science and engineering, and it makes pertinent suggestions for action to help solve these problems.

"It's my hope that the organizations whose leaders comprise the committee, as well as others concerned with these questions, will use the competent guidance provided by the report and plan and undertake such action as may be appropriate to their arms."

Memorial Service Is Slated By Elks

Big Spring Elks will stage their annual memorial service for deceased members of the lodge today.

The program will start at 2 p.m. in the lodge hall at the Crawford Hotel. The public is invited, said Joe Clark, exalted ruler.

Clark and other officers of the lodge will conduct the services.

Moose Lodge To Get Charter Today

Institution of Big Spring Lodge No. 1852, Loyal Order of Moose, and the enrollment of 250 or more charter members, is scheduled for this afternoon.

Large delegations from lodges in Midland, Odessa, Andrews and Lubbock, along with representatives of the Supreme Lodge at Mooseheart, Ill., are expected for the ceremonies.

Institution of the new lodge is set for 1:30 p.m. in the Settles Hotel ballroom. Conducting the ceremonies will be Hamilton J. Murphy, regional director of the order; Leaton P. Nobis, state membership director, and representatives of the national headquarters.

A degree team from Midland will handle the enrollment ritual. All candidates for membership are to report to the ballroom prior to the 1:30 p.m. ceremonies so that they may be processed and instructed in advance of the meeting.

Officers will be chosen for the new lodge and will be installed by A. M. McClentock, past governer of the Midland lodge.

Nobis, who has been here several weeks making preparations for opening of the lodge, said several local men will be honored with diamond emblems for their work in helping organize the lodge.

Special lapel emblem of the order will be presented to all charter members.

Following the ceremonies at the Settles, all members and their wives are invited to a turkey and baked ham dinner and dance at the lodge quarters, formerly the Skyline Supper Club, at 3rd and Birdwell. Music will be provided by the Webb AFB dance band.

Traffic Mishaps This Year To Cost Howard County $172,000

Automobile accidents in Howard County during the current year will cost $172,920 — assuming the number of accidents in this county runs parallel to the national figures.

This cost represents repairs to motor cars, other property damage, legal and medical fees, insurance expenses and loss of income through absence from work.

Statistics just released by the Accident Prevention Department of the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies demonstrate that the per capita national cost for traffic accidents in dollars and cents is $43.23 or $168.92 per family.

Total bill for the nation for car accidents for 1957 will hit $7,255,600,000.

This is the monetary cost of such accidents, the statistician points out. On the blacker side of the record is the prospect that 38,300 persons will be killed. There will be 1,856,000 persons injured.

DISTRESSING TOTAL

The year will stack up a total of 11,700,000 accidents.

The statistics are based on the records for the first nine months of 1957 and projected through Dec. 31.

Strange as it may seem, if December turns out to be a severely cold and unpleasant month across the nation, with snow, rain and other adverse weather, the traffic bill may be slightly reduced. Such weather, the experts point out, keeps cars off the road and lessens the potentiality of disaster. If December is a pleasant sort of month with the usual round of holiday shoppers and season celebrants, then it once again may make the month the deadliest interval of the whole year.

The statistics disclose that while deaths are a little under the bloody and shocking total hung up in 1956, that the number of accidents, the number of injuries and the dollar costs are continuing a steady climb and stand to reach a new all-time high level.

This steady increase, according to Thomas N. Boate, head of the Accident Prevention Department of Association of Casualty and Surety Companies, exposes the error in measuring highway safety progress solely on traffic death figures.

He did add that the $43.23 bill charged to every man, woman and child for damages resulting from traffic accidents can be marked paid, since the cost of accidents is met on a pay-as-you-go basis. This is poor consolation, however, since every citizen can count on his share of the economic waste to increase each year for the rest of his life.

DEATHS NO YARDSTICK

Howard County has been able so far this year to keep its traffic death toll to 10—which is a far better figure than the 26 scored in 1956. However, as patrol officers and other enforcement agencies point out, the element of chance in traffic accidents determines the number of fatalities to a major degree.

In 1956, there were several tragedies in which multiple deaths resulted. One such accident took six lives; two others caused two deaths each.

Officials point out that the number of traffic accidents in the county has not been diminished in step with the reduced number of fatalities.

While no statistics are readily available, it is reasonable, most officials believe, to assume there have been as many and perhaps more traffic mishaps during the present year than occurred in 1956.

Luck, perhaps, has been a contributor to the fewer deaths which have resulted from these accidents.

Officials are also inclined to believe that accidents of the current year have probably injured as many persons as were injured in accidents last year.

Property damage and all of the other dollar costs which go into such incidents and which are the economic element in such matters have certainly not diminished.

It seems very likely, most safety observers feel, that if the national per capita cost from motor car accidents is $43.23, — Howard County's share is on a parity with the country as a whole.

Locally, patrol officers and peace officers in general and others who watch the highway dangers, are crossing their fingers as December moves into the picture.

If the weather is good, the burden of travel on the highways will begin to steadily mount as the Christmas holiday nears.

The more cars roaring over the roads, the greater danger of accidents and—inevitably—the greater number of accidents.

Jordan Seeks British Aid

LONDON, Nov. 30 (AP)—A delegation from the Jordan army arrived today against a background of speculation it would seek restoration of British military and economic aid.

The three-man delegation, led by the quartermaster general, Col. Jubran Hawa, refused to discuss its purpose upon arriving at London Airport. Unofficial reports from Amman said the group would sound out the British government on a renewal of military and economic assistance. A Foreign Office spokesman said he knew of no foundation for the reports.

The aid program, involving 12½ million pounds (35 million dollars) cut off last year after King Hussein in March fired British Gen. Sir John Bagot Glubb as head of Jordan's Arab Legion.

Curb Markings Due On 11th Pl.

Eleventh Place will be marked for no parking from Goliad to Settles as soon as the city street crews can get to it.

H. W. Whitney, city manager, said Saturday that the curbs need to be cleaned after recent rains and snow before they can be marked. The city will get to this work plus the painting next week if possible.

The entire route will be marked, Whitney said, but until it is painted, the city will make no attempt to enforce no parking on the street.

The City Commission authorized removal of parking on the street at its meeting Tuesday night.

Market Makes Recovery Along With President

NEW YORK, Nov. 30 (AP)—From Main Street to Wall Street, news of President Eisenhower's mild stroke jarred business sentiment this week. But the shock was temporary.

First announcement of the Eisenhower ailment stirred fears that business confidence, already weakened by layoffs, cutbacks, Sputniks, a falling stock market and a shorter than normal Christmas shopping season, might be in for a further jolt. Merchants took another look at their projected Christmas sales figures and wondered if shoppers would lose the urge to buy.

This queasiness was heightened by Tuesday's sickening plunge in stock prices. Then came word that Eisenhower was making rapid progress toward recovery. The stock market bounced back with a powerful upward surge. Main Street felt better.

Government economists reported a continued downtrend in industrial production, capital spending, inventory buying, exports and foreign investment. Higher prices still gnawed away at consumers' buying power. While total consumer spending for 1957 was expected to show a five per cent gain over 1956, more than half the rise reflected price increases. Taking population growth and price increases into account, you didn't have to be an Einstein to figure out that Americans as individuals were buying close to the vest. Government experts put it this way: on a per capita basis, they said, there has been no real increase in consumer buying since the spring of 1956. It's just that there are more people buying today, and the things they buy cost more.

Steel, backbone of the economy, showed further signs of softness this week. Production, at 73.6 per cent of capacity, dipped to 1,884,000 tons. It was 2,463,000 tons in Thanksgiving week last year. Colorado Fuel & Iron Co. put its big Pueblo, Colo., mill on a 32-hour week. Salesmen for steel companies were warned that they are entering the toughest market this industry has faced since 1954.

Italian Tenor Gigli Succumbs

ROME, Nov. 30 (AP)—Tenor Beniamino Gigli, 67, successor to the great Caruso, died today at his home of pneumonia.

His unexpected death—he joked with his family up to the last—shocked music-loving Italy, where operatic arias are whistled and hummed as the latest rock 'n' roll hits are in the United States.

Death came so quickly a Roman Catholic priest arrived too late to administer last rites of the church. After - death rites were given.

Gigli's doctor said he became ill two days ago. At first it appeared to be only a cold with fever. His attorney, Adriano Belli, said Gigli may have caught the Asian flu. He said it suddenly developed into pneumonia. He was given oxygen but it did not help.

Gigli's funeral will be held Monday.

In 1920, a year before he succeeded Enrico Caruso as the star tenor of New York's Metropolitan Opera, Gigli was hailed by a U. S. critic as one who sang "as naturally as a gamecock fights."

MYSTERIES OF CHEMISTRY UNFOLD
Doug Whitley explains experiment to Jerry Wadsworth and Saundra Murphy

Junior High Serves As 'Threshold To Science'

By JOE PICKLE

When a youngster comes to junior high, he stands on the threshold of the trend to specialization, and nowhere is this more apparent than in science teaching.

Pupils in the seventh and eighth grades get half a year of a general science at each level. Tom Ernest, principal, explained that a full year of science in each grade would be more desirable but it is now physically impossible. Junior high has 1,200 enrolled. There are only two laboratories, and if they were used every minute of the day only 300 could be accommodated.

A chaotic bottleneck is avoided at this point because seventh and eight graders do an extra amount of library research to compensate for a lesser amount of time in the laboratory. Instructors are obliged to give more demonstrations themselves because they have less time for experiments by individuals. In the ninth grade, many pupils take routes other than physical science—homemaking and vocational agriculture. Even so, the general science class has 163, which is a formidable number for the one instructor, Mrs. Jack Alexander.

General science in the ninth grade is divided into biology,, physics, chemistry and physiology. Each part gets equal time and instruction familiarizes the pupil with these specific subjects in senior high. Some thought has been given to specializing in the specific subject rather than having all general science, said Ernest. Anderson saw merit in offering biology, chemistry, etc. and skipping general science in junior high except for those simply getting off a graduation requirement.

Requirements weigh heavily in high school, for two credits in science are necessary for graduation. Most pupils will have had general science in the ninth grade. As sophomores 325 are taking biology, whereas only 40 are enrolled for chemistry and 60 for physics. When science becomes elective, the drop-off is tremendous.

Roy Worley, principal, and Doug Whitley, chemistry and physicis instructor, regard this as normal, but they also hope that above normal interest can be created. Whitley is rebuilding the department. More than a thousand dollars of new equipment has been added to close gaps and replace worn out apparatus. He is not only keeping the lab open after school but in evenings for those interested enough to do a more complete job. He has definite ideas about the line of instruction. While acknowledging the value of projects as interestholders, he is emphasizing the less glamorous and more prosaic study of fundamentals.

Space is a growing problem in high school. The same laboratory is used for physics and chemistry. This is unsatisfactory because physics demonstrations may have to be dismantled before the chemistry class moves in; conversely, acids, etc., from chemistry may have to be stashed away before physics pupils arrive. As enrollment increases, as it inevitably will, more equipment and more space will be imperative.

Compared with students from other schools, local biology, chemistry and physics students hold their own in college. Whitley is determined that they will be better than average.

Testing plays its part in the science program. Sam Anderson, director of curriculum, is looking forward to instituting testing in elementary schools so that science aptitudes (as well as others) can be spotted early.

In junior high the testing program is coming on steadily, and here those with a bent for science are first spotted. Testing in high school is intensified, and E. B. Pierson, guidance director, counsels with certain students about careers in science, or about the background of science needed for engineering, medicine, etc. Instructors are alerted to those with special talents in science, and where practical A and B pupils are grouped in one class section. They can be challenged with vastly more and tougher work than a section of C and D students. Of course, only the supervisors and teachers are aware of this grouping, which can be one means of pushing the more apt ahead toward becoming young scientists.

CAREERS IN SCIENCE

Excellent Program At College Level

Young people in the Big Spring area, bent upon a career in science, have an unexcelled opportunity to get started on the college level.

A realistic appraisal of the whole science program would indicate that the base of our pyramid is at the top. This is not critical of elementary or secondary science programs, for the Howard County Junior College science department is, without boasting, exceptional as to plant, equipment, supplies and staff.

More financing and an ability to specialize for specific needs has contributed to a greater stability on the college levels. High schools and junior high schools everywhere have found it increasingly difficult to secure and hold competent science teachers. Too, they have felt more quickly the pressures of a rising scholastic population. This has put great demands on space and apparatus.

At HCJC, bulk of the science load is carried by J. T. Clements, head of the department, Bob Dyer, chemistry and physics instructor, Esker Gene Powell, biology instructor, and James Bruce Frazier, geology instructor. Aside from a love of teaching, they share a common philosophy that quality of junior college work should not only equal but actually excel that of the same course in a senior college. An opportunity for more intimate touch with students helps them succeed to an admirable degree.

Records clearly show that when a student bent on science and engineering passes through the department successfully, he (or she) more than holds his own in a senior college.

Of course there is no substitute for instruction, but HCJC has unusually well equipped lab facilities, both for chemistry and physics—and the same can be said for biology and geology. Most senior colleges and universities—on the sophomore and freshmen levels, suffer by comparison.

The freshman chemistry lab has 118 stations, which means that as many as 59 students could be accommodated at one time. The sophomore lab, for organic chemistry and quantitative analysis, can handle up to 15. Each has its auxiliary rooms for storage, it has its ovens, its special rooms for precision instruments, balances, etc. The sophomore lab (and here is a real advantage) permits a student to come in at any time to work, and not at just stated lab periods.

Schoolmen from all over the region have rubbed their hands over the chemistry lecture room. Not only does it have demonstration facilities as the focal point of the amphitheatre, but it has a projection room as well. Clements and Dyer regularly make use of 12 motion pictures as well as film strips and other visual aids.

The physics department is equally well equipped, but the weakness is in duplicates. For instance, an item of equipment likely is used only once a year in an experiment, yet it may cost $150. Getting two of that item may be hard to justify.

Lab specimen as well as facilities for both geology and biology are likewise out of the ordinary. The geology course always includes two or three field trips.

Some expansion of the curriculum might be indicated, but the volume of students in special courses is a problem. Agricultural chemistry, for example, might be added if there were ample demand.

Natural science offerings at HCJC include general science (two courses); general chemistry (elemental and advanced freshman chemistry), organic chemistry (two courses); quantitative analysis (two courses; general physics (elemental and advanced freshman physics), engineering physics and physical measurements (two courses); general geology (elemental and advanced freshman geology), geology for engineers, minerology; general biology (elemental and advanced biology), zoology, entomology (basic and systematic), bacteriology, and botany.

There are many tie-in courses such as math of all types, composition, languages, etc. Science aptitudes spotted in the general testing program of all freshmen are referred to the science department. Here department members counsel with students regarding possibility of a career in this field. Between 80 and 90 take chemistry but only about 20 are enrolled in physics. The higher the level of the courses, the lower the enrollment because at the freshman level in science, some soul-searching takes place and weeding sets in.

"Better by far that they find out here at home that they won't be engineers, physicists or chemists than to go off to some senior college and discover it," observed one of the instructors.

Mrs. Ray's Uncle Dies At Abilene

Mrs. Edgar Ray, deputy county clerk, who lives at 1525 E. 17th, left Friday afternoon for Abilene where she was called by the death of her uncle, J. W. Ledbetter. Mr. Ledbetter died suddenly Friday of a heart seizure, it was reported. Funeral services will be conducted Sunday at Olney.

Instruction Really Starts In First Grade

Education, confronted by an age of plastics, atoms and rockets, is bringing the field of science into bolder relief.

What are the chances of our local system turning out its share of more minds gifted in science?

Schoolmen think that we can hold our own. Based on tests given elementary, junior high and high school levels, we stack up favorably.

"But," warned S. M. Anderson, director of curriculum, "I'm not so sure that means much. I think we have been too weak on science nationally in view of the demands of our times."

There are many hurdles in giving science instruction added prominence. Not the least is the loss of science teachers to private industry because of salaries more lucrative than the average school can afford. Another hurdle, tied in with money, is a need for more materials, supplies, classrooms and laboratories in direct proportion to the increasing school population.

Other hurdles in strengthening the science program include not only those connected with the subject in grades 1-12, but in related subjects. On a college level, an instructor observed that one of the most serious problems was inability of students to comprehend what they had read. Another was a lack of grasp of basic mathematics.

In Big Spring schools a child doesn't suddenly discover the world of science in the ninth grade. Instruction actually starts with the first grade and is integrated into the curriculum through the sixth grade.

Through simple examples of things about him, he begins to learn of physical science (matter and its properties) and biological science (living things).

The appeal at first is primarily to sensory perception, for he can see, smell and perhaps handle and touch liquids, solids and gases. He can see how heat will melt wax or grease. He can see how cold will turn water into a solid or heat change it to gas. He can see the stars, feel the winds, know something about why it rains. He can learn about the rocks, the soil, the oil, plants and animals about him. Gradually he comes to appreciate and understand how they affect his life. He may even get an elemental idea about acids, bases, and salts; or about the power of gravity, or even understand that there are such things as atoms and molecules.

Science instruction requires a system-wide organization, and there must be definite classroom plans for presenting scientific knowledge and skills, Anderson pointed out. Not all teachers are good teachers and certainly not good science teachers, but a program of in service training may go a long way toward bolstering the general quality of science teaching. A self-evaluation to be followed with one by outside specialists may help point up means of making the whole program of science in Big Spring schools stronger, said Anderson.

86.9 Pct. Of County Tax Bill Paid During October

Howard County taxpayers paid 86.9 per cent of their current taxes during the month of October, Mrs. Viola Robinson, county tax assessor, said Saturday.

She has just completed her record on tax payments for the first month that current taxes could be paid.

Breakdown of the money paid in during the month showed a net tax collection of $1,015,416.72.

The state received $162,556.22; the county $436,434.32; Howard County Junior College $244,210.07 and district schools $203,280.41.

Tax collections for November have been brisk but the totals for the month are not included in the report.

Effective Tuesday, discount for tax payments drops from 2 to 1 per cent. This discount privilege extends through Jan. 1.

At that time, tax bills are net with no discount.

Taxes not paid by Jan. 31 bedraw a penalty. The initial penalty assessment is 1.5 per cent. It mounts as the tax bill remains unpaid.

Former Bible Professor At H-SU Expires

ABILENE, Nov. 30 (AP)—Dr. E. B. Awood, 83, professor of Bible at Hardin-Simmons University for 25 years, died today after an illness of several months.

Dr. Atwood, who was president at Wayland College at Plainview 1918-22, retired in 1950.

Surviving are two sons, Leland Atwood, president of North American Aviation, Inc., of California, and Dr. Bagby Atwood, professor of English at the University of Texas.

Dr. Atwood, who came to Texas from Kentucky in 1905, had held Baptist pastorates at Yoakum, Quanah and Hereford. He was a former secretary of the New Mexico Baptist Convention.

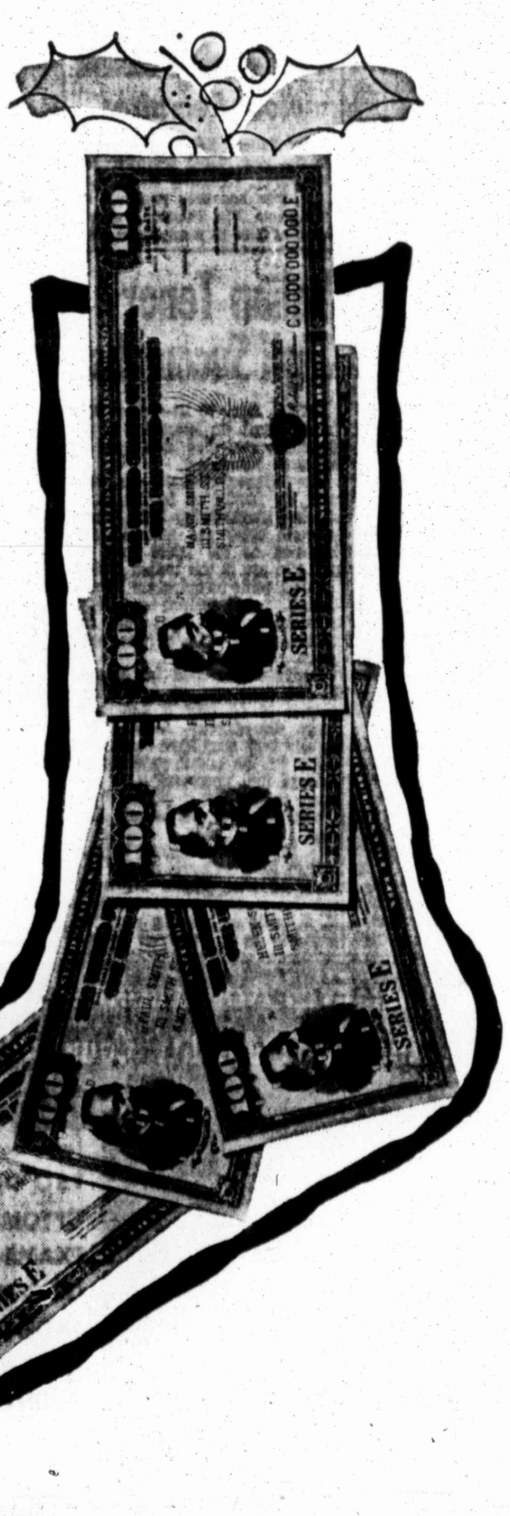
What about a family stocking -Dad?



Wise fathers know that, next to love, the greatest gift they can give their families is security.

And financial security is built on systematic savings!

What's the easiest, safest way to save? As millions of Americans have discovered, it's the Payroll Savings Plan offered to you by your employer.

Through this plan your money is saved for you before you get a chance to spend it. All you do is sign the authorization card in the payroll office where you work. Sign up for the amount you want. Then, each payday, that money is put into your account. When there's enough, a Savings Bond is bought in your name and given to you.

And Savings Bonds now earn more interest than ever before. Every Series E Savings Bond purchased since February 1, 1957 earns 3¼% when held to maturity. It matures faster, too — in only eight years and 11 months. And it earns higher interest in the earlier years.

So why not give the whole family an extra Christmas gift this year? Sign up today for the Payroll Savings Plan where you work!

The piggy bank that can't be raided!

To see how fast small change can add up, put it into Savings Stamps. 10¢ and 25¢ denominations available at your post office along with handy albums to keep them in. How about putting an album with a few stamps in each Christmas stocking?

'Space' Problem: How To Get Books, Where To Stack Them

Howard County Free Library is faced with a space problem — a two-horned space problem at that.

The first is a simple question of where to put more books—the library has just about outgrown the wing of the Howard County courthouse assigned to it when that building was built.

The second is far more exciting.

It is the problem of providing the reading public which patronizes the library with the books and material on space flight which the patrons demand.

Who reads and studies about space?

Why, everyone! The first applicants who stand at the library counter and tiptoe to lisp their needs are the tiny tots who have just begun to conquer the reading barrier. The library is well prepared for these youngsters, too.

You may not believe it, but there are many many volumes on space flight, nuclear fission, atomic power and kindred subjects written and illustrated in first grade language.

These books, interesting to note, will provide a great many adults with the answers to the questions they so often ask each other about these modern miracles which are transpiring.

For example, why does Sputnik keep circling the earth? Take a look at one of the thin little "kiddies" books on space and space conquest. The answer is there and in language that even a grown-up can understand.

There are other books, just a wee bit more erudite for the next age group. It is worth mentioning that the teen-ager wouldn't be caught dead reading one of the books for the tots. (Some adults are not so blase; there are a number of grownups who peruse the kiddie books with great interest and considerable illumination.)

The teen-age group wants books in its own age category. Provided, however, that it doesn't turn out that the teen-ager has long passed the "norm" for his age and insists on technical volumes written by adult students of the science. Which, the librarians report, is often the case.

OTHERS WANTED

The library does not have as many books on space, space travel, atomic energy and nuclear fission as it would like to have. And there are many special requests by readers for books which are not in the stacks. However, a policy of steadily adding to the available titles in this field is pursued by the library and the number of available books of a technical and semi-technical nature on these modern subjects is steadily growing.

In kindred division are the books which are widely identified as "science fiction."

Science fiction has been a highly popular form of escape reading for a long time. A group of writers with fertile imaginations bolstered, it must be conceded, by an amazing general knowledge of today's scientific thought and theory, has developed in this and other countries. These men write what a generation ago would be called "fantastic" adventure stories—in which the characters traverse space to remote planets and unknown solar systems. They engage in interplanetary wars and they employ amazing machines and weapons.

It is a little difficult today to classify these stories as fantastic. Indeed, a great many science fiction books which caused the public at large to wonder if the writer wasn't as mad as a March hare to dream up such "utterly ridiculous" situations at the time they first appeared, are now no longer read. The utter ridiculous situations in them have become everyday realities and have lost their zest.

LOSING GROUND

It is not strange, in view of the amazing strides that science is taking, to find that science fiction is losing ground as popular reading material. Its chief charm was its "impossibility" and that has now been pretty much erased.

Librarians at the Howard County Library say that their stock of science fiction books is not in the high demand it was a short time ago. However, it still has a generous number of followers and the list of titles is still growing. In recent months, the library notes that a considerable number of girls have begun to ask for these books, in the past, the teen-age boy was a highly important reader of the books.

It is a little difficult, in fact, to definitely say where science fiction stops and where real science begins. The past two decades has seen a strange blending of the "wild" theories of fiction writers with the realities and solemn-faced theories now pronounced by recognized scientists. No one today is quite sure where the dividing line between the two types of books may be found.

So the library has two space problems.

One, perhaps, is a major contributor to the other—the growing demand for more and more books on space and space science is creating a need for more physical space on which to stock these books.

Swimming Pools Are Good Business

HOUSTON, Nov. 30 (AP)—Swimming pool construction was described today as the nation's fastest growing young business.

Robert Hoffman of New York said 40,000 pools costing 600 million dollars will be built in the United States next year.

Hoffman is here for tomorrow's opening of the national convention and exposition of the National Swimming Pool Institute. He is president of the organiation.

Methodist Women Set Ft. Worth Meet

FORT WORTH—Representatives from five white and two Negro conferences of The Methodist Church in Texas, will gather at the Texas Hotel here Dec. 6-7, for the annual meeting of the Texas State Council of Methodist Women.

This council is responsible for making effective the social action programs and projects sponsored by Texas Methodist women. Featured speaker at the 7:30 p.m. session Dec. 6 will be Dr. James A. Turman, Austin, acting executive director of the Texas Youth Council, which has responsibility for correction homes, institutions for exceptional children and Negro orphans.

Atomic Plant

Sterling Highway Bids Requested

Improvements on State Highway 158 from U. S. 87 in Sterling County to the Glasscock County line are to be contracted at the Dec. 10-11 meeting of the State Highway Commission.

Bids are being asked on grading, structures and base for a distance of 14.8 miles.

Approximately 185 miles of road work will be contracted at the commission's December meeting. It is estimated the work will cost $17 million.

Atomic Trains, Robots Help Make Up 'Toyland Of Future'

The world of the future is here! Nudging diesel and steam powered locomotives is the newest electric toy train treat, the "Atomic" train.

It whizzes around the tracks with blinking lights that simulate the burning of fissionable materials. The flat cars are mounted with guided missile and an atomic cannon, while the engine and caboose bear the startling legends "Danger, Radio-active."

Nervous mothers will be glad to learn that there isn't an ounce of uranium anywhere in the five-car set, according to the Kusan-Auburn designers. Cannon fires such "eatomic" substances as jelly beans, peanuts and licorice fits.

Other Christmas toys let the youngsters stretch their imaginations from here to Mars without any difficulty. There are robots, supersonic ears and flying platforms.

"Big Max," an electronic robot, is controlled automatically from his operating panel and will bend to pick up metal ingots with his electromagnetic arms from the bin behind and deposit them on the moving conveyor belt in front.

And don't be surprised if a gold futuristic-looking car suddenly crawls through the living room, neatly dodging tables and chairs and continues out the front door.

HALF-PINT HAM can broadcast from room to room, house to house or send code up to a mile.

FIVE CAR atomic train on O-gauge track has atomic reactor and atomic cannon to fire jelly beans.

It's a new radar controlled car, that responds to a special gold whistle up to 40 feet away. The revolving radar screen fastened on top responds to the sound wave and is directed accordingly.

Even such a tried and true toy as the minstrel show dancing man has been revitalized with large shots of electronic flavor. "Dancing Dan" (that ol' minstrel man) now sports a mystery mike. Just sing or hum a tune into it and he'll break into a showboat shuffle. He'll also answer the command "Dance Dan," or "Stop Dan."

Toys Borrow From The Past

Antiquarian lore gets a spot in toyland this year, alongside atomic energy kits and rocket launchers.

A ranch phone modeled after an early design of Alexander Graham Bell's invention will be featured alongside of sleek dial phones in pastel shades.

The colonial four poster bed has varied toyland counterparts, the Toy Guidance Council reports. Miniature grandfather clocks and captains' chairs provide graceful reminder of the nostalgic past. In contrast will be miniature ranch houses filled with sectional furniture geared to day's functional living.

There's a drum model inspired by Revolutionary War styles. The covered wagon, the buggy, the sailship and the wheel-propelled river boat are all inspired by means of transportation of the past.

BRRROOM! Guided missiles will break sugar plum slumber as sailor wheels out launcher unit.

Give Her 'Personal' Presents

Women love presents, which makes Christmas a dear time for them. But often their gifts actually are earmarked for family use — dishwashers, electric fry pans, coffee makers, new lamps, card tables.

Tuck personal items among these home ones and watch her smile. Lingerie, blouses, sportswear, carcoats, sleepwear, gloves, stockings, flirty scarves or a mink stole always rate thanks.

A giver can check with a woman's favorite clerk in a store about sizes, colors she likes and what dress, jersey blouse, skirt or sweater has caught her eye recently.

For the athletic type there are carcoats, Bermuda shorts or skinny pants. Jeweled or satin-trimmed evening sweaters, high-styled sweaters in lamb's wool, cashmere or orlon, bulky knit crew sweaters or turtle-neck pullovers are good Christmas bets.

As a real surprise full of flattery, how about polished cotton toreador pants with jacket to match, or a contrasting jacket for separate wear?

Keep Tiny Objects Away From Babies

For a happy, safer family holiday keep tiny objects away from small children.

A little child should never be given anything small enough for him to swallow. This includes parts of toys and hard Christmas candies. Also he should be discouraged early from tinkerisg with festive decorations.

Food For Chatter

Select your prettiest Christmas cards; cut each on the fold and place each cut card, face and verse side-by-side, under the glass top of your coffee table.

They'll serve as food for conversation while guests wait for the Christmas delicacies to come around to them.

December Holidays Are Year's Most Dangerous Traffic Period

Looking forward to a happy holiday season? Then be a little more careful than usual when you're on the highway, either crossing it or driving on it. Insurance statistics show that almost 40 per cent of highway fatalities happen on weekends. And holiday weekends are the most dangerous of all.

Some 715 people lost their lives on U.S. highways during last year's Christmas weekend. Another 412 were killed in automobile accidents over New Year's weekend.

More traffic casualties happen between the hours of 4 and 8 p. m. than at any other period. According to the National Safety Council more than one-fourth of all fatal traffic accidents occur during these hours.

With these facts in mind, safety engineers of the Seiberling Rubber Co. prepared a safety checklist for Yule motorists:

1. Don't drive your car to Christmas or New Year's celebrations. Where possible, take a bus or taxi, especially if you plan to do any drinking. If parties are within walking distance, walk.

2. If you must drive, don't drink. Stay well within speed limits and keep your eye peeled for drivers who may have ignored "don't drink" warnings.

3. If roads are slippery, don't drive without chains or snow tires.

4. Be sure your tires have good treads. Check them for cracks or swellings. When in doubt, replace them.

5. Turn your steering wheel very gradually when taking corners. Recommended: A series of short, slow turns.

6. If you skid, remove your foot from the brake and steer into the skid; i.e., in the direction you're skidding. Never push down hard on your brake if the road is icy. Slow the car gradually, with gradual pressure. It's best to use a series of pumping movements.

Introduce Children To Fun Of Reading

The enchanting world of story-telling comes to life at Christmas with the unfolding of the birth of the Christ Child. And it grows with Dicken's "Christmas Carol," "'Twas the Night Before Christmas" and other holiday favorites.

It is a good time to introduce young readers to future fun through stories.

If they believe all fantasy of action is on TV, wait until they bite into "Snow White," "Uncle Remus, His Songs and Sayings," "Heidi," "Winnie the Poo," "Peter Pan," "Robinson Crusoe," or "Treasure Island." These are just a few classics that are never old hat stories for young readers. Librarians can suggest old and new books to please children.

Display Yule Cards On Wood

In most homes, colorful greeting cards from friends and relatives march around a mantel, over a door or down the draperies as focal points of Christmas decorating.

Mounting them on an easy-to-make display unit of natural wood adds the warmth of wood to festive colors of the cards.

To construct such a display measure the area available, probably over the fireplace. Ask the lumber dealer for a simple joint, V or bull nose, Western Pine Assn. suggests.

With paneling cut to correct length, fit pieces together and either nail or screw vertical cleats to the back for rigidity. A matching moulding may be used to finish edges.

Use a stain to allow the grain and knots of the wood to show. A top coat of clear lacquer, varnish or wax is the final touch.

Attach cards to the display with tape that comes in suitable holiday colors or colored thumbtacks.

Think Of Receiver, Choose Gifts To Fit The Individual

Wish your newsboy, maid, elevator operator, the milkman, breadman or service station attendant a merry Christmas, with a gaily wrapped and beribboned present.

* * *

A newsboy saves wear and tear on his pockets with a new change purse for his collections. Or he would be proud to show friends a new bicycle accessory.

* * *

If the office boy is a record collector, hi-fi discs of his favorite artists are in line. Or an inexpensive record rack in brass-plate, turquoise, pink or wrought iron black fits his hobby. The racks hold 55 records of all sizes.

* * *

So the milkman is studying acting. It's possible! Or he just likes to entertain family and friends with his tape recorder. Include a pre-recorded tape with the morning milk bottle note.

* * *

Flatter hard-hitters on the golf course with balls designed to take punishment, such as Colt's new "Gold" golf balls. Spalding has a useful gift box of golf balls. On top is a reproduction of the 10th hole of the Augusta National, painting by Erwin Barrie.

* * *

Fish haven't a chance next season. Watch fish tales grow with each catch a fisherman makes with a fish-finder thermometer. The temperature of the water determines the depth at which fish most often will be found. Reading the thermometer, an angler knows whether to fish shallow, medium or deep.

* * *

Shopping for the boss takes many office skull sessions. An African oak cigar humidor or black and brass horse pen-and-holder set will add touches of useful elegance to his desk.

* * *

Son's lawn-cutting chores pay off during the holiday season. A new five-transistor, cordless radio by Philco will keep him posted on game scores or new records. To solve his curiosity, it is run by four mercury cells, the type used in small hearing aids.

* * *

Femininity and fragrance go together. Scented sachets, bath oils or soaps shouldn't be overlooked. From Spain, for example, there is Maja soap that blends rose, jasmine and orange blossom fragrances. It comes in intriguing black wrappings with a dancing senorita motif.

Dolls Elegant, Costumes Vary This Christmas

In the enchanted world of toys, dolls like little girls come in all shapes, colors and sizes.

These are sophisticated debutante dolls, dolls in taffeta ballerina gowns, in crinoline petticoats, high-heel dancing slippers, long nylon hose and opera length gloves for Christmas stockings this year.

Some wear diamond engagement rings, others have necklaces, earrings and even rhinestone clutch bags. There are family groups with the tiny baby doll wearing a fluffy flannel Baby Bunting suit and held tenderly by the mother doll who is accompanied by two older doll children. This reflects the U.S. trend to larger families, according to the Toy Manufacturers of the U.S.A.

Almost all the dolls have individual flexible fingers, toes and realistic skin, hair, faces and bodies.

Since little girls enjoy having likenesses of themselves, one company manufactures an eight-inch replica of the youngster from a photograph.

Doll clothes and accessories may be small in actual measurements, but in volume they rival the output of their adult counterpart, New York's garment center. These outfits range in price from one dollar to several hundred dollars for high styled mink coats, hats and muffs. There are such detailed outfits as a beach costume with a "Mae West" type life preserver and sand pail; new revealing sunsuits and meticulously-designed dresses in the latest styles and fabrics. And, of course, there are sun glasses for the beach.

Doll furniture makers have kept abreast of juvenile trends, too.

Things To Consider

Gift caps for a tall, thin youngster should not be the long visor type and of bright colors. These combinations bring the eye directly to the top of the head. And this is the exact spot to keep subdued.

Take it from Bing: no gift offers more years of comfort, pleasure and convenience than a modern automatic GAS appliance. Choose from automatic GAS ranges that cook complete dinners by themselves . . . automatic GAS dryers that dry clothes beautifully in minutes! Or GAS water heaters that give you all the hot water you need—and so much faster, too!

See all of these GAS appliances tomorrow at your local gas appliance dealer. You'll like their looks and their low all-around cost . . . less to buy, less to install, much less to operate!

Syria Attacks U.S. Stand On Algerian-French Issue

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Nov. 30 (AP)—Syria said today that because of "so-called NATO solidarity," the U.S. position on Algeria was unsatisfactory. She asked that the United States reconsider the situation there "on its merits."

Syrian Delegate Farid Zeineddine added that the U.N. General Assembly should recommend direct negotiations between Algerians and French "on the basis of independence" for Algeria, with legitimate French interests safeguarded.

He told the Assembly's 82-nation Political Committee France should negotiate with the Algerian Front of National Liberation —FLN, which he said could speak for Algeria and was ready to negotiate. The three-year-old Algerian revolutionary war, he added, should stop when the negotiations start.

Cmdr. Allan Noble, British minister of state, urged the Assembly to avoid any action that would hamper France in carrying out the pending framework law for Algeria, which he called "a courageous first step." This and supplementary laws would set up an Algerian federation giving Moslems equal voting rights with Europeans in the separate regions but leaving France in over-all control. The French National Assembly approved two of the laws last night.

Noble called for a cease-fire in Algeria leading to free elections to discover "who really can speak in the name of the inhabitants." He said it would be dangerous to equate the FLN's demands with the true interests of those inhabitants. He argued that institutions for such a complex communiy could be evolved only through the discussion of "freely elected representatives of the community as a whole."

The United States has not yet spoken in the committee's Algerian policy debate. In a communique ending the Washington visit of King Mohammed V of Morocco, Secretary of State Dulles Wednesday said merely that the United States favored a "peaceful, Democratic and just solution" of the Algerian question.

Zeineddine charged that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, now planning a high-level meeting next month, had supported French rule in Algeria by letting French NATO forces fight the rebels there.

Teachers Ask Ike For Tideland Aid

DALLAS, Nov. 30 (AP)—The Texas State Teachers Assn. today asked President Eisenhower to help the state keep its tidelands.

The house of delegates made the request in a resolution at the close of the 67,000-member group's annual convention.

Fort Worth was selected for the next meeting. Mrs. Sadie Ray Powell of San Antonio was named president and V. W. Miller of Pasadena vice president.

A motion deploring passage of the state anti-troop bill was tabled by a vote of a large majority of the delegates.

The tidelands resolution also asked the attorney general of the United States to "put into full effect the policy of the administration by withdrawing the ill-advised suit which proposes to set aside Texas' claim to its own tidelands, thereby denying educational opportunities to Texas children."

Income from the tidelands is a source of revenue for the permanent school fund.

The resolution noted that President Eisenhower has "publicly on several occasions acknowledged Texas' just and undisputed claim to its tidelands . . ."

Other resolutions thanked the 55th Legislature for a teachers' pay raise and for creating the Hale-Aikin Committee of 24 to study Texas educational problems.

The group also endorsed "a program of public education capable of instilling in young people the training, discipline and devotion to principle that will be required to meet the pressing demand of the precarious technological age in which we live."

Miss Catherine Ruff of Falfurrias offered the anti-troop bill motion as new business rather than as a resolution.

M. M. Landrum of Spring Branch moved to table it.

Divorce Suit File Reduced

The burgeoning divorce suit record book in the office of Wade Choate, district court clerk for the 118th District Court, is a much slimmer volume now than it was when November was ushered in on the scene.

Records of the clerk show that 29 divorce suits were dismissed by Judge Charlie Sullivan during the month; 18 divorce petitions heard and divorces granted and only 12 new suits filed.

There were 11 other civil suits filed in the court during the month. Thirty-nine civil suits on the docket disposed of without a jury during the month. Twenty-seven criminal cases also were disposed of without a jury and only one criminal jury case was heard. There were no civil cases tried before a jury during November.

Four passport applications were handled by the office and three adoption orders entered in the minutes.

On one day officers reported five burglaries. On another police had seven cases of petty theft on the blotter. On still another day three breakins cost businessmen $200. All of which should remind us that we are getting to a season of the year (plus economic conditions which force fast-buck boys into other fields) when you had better take double precautions.

Texas Retail Sales Cited

AUSTIN, Nov. 30 (AP)—The Bureau of Business Research said today Texas is one of the brightest economic spots in the nation in retail sales.

Estimates of total Texas retail sales for October were four per cent above both September, 1957 and October, 1956. Sales for January to October were four per cent higher than last year.

"Most merchants polled by trade transactions expect Christmas sales to exceed last year," the University of Texas bureau said.

The dollar volume of 266 Texas department and apparel stores in October was up 11 per cent above September and 4 per cent over October, 1956.

The October 1957, over October 1956, gains in reports from 27 cities included Paris up 18 per cent, Dallas up 4, Port Arthur up 11 and Brownwood and Cleburne up 7.

The best gains for the 10 months included Cledurne up 12, Lubbock up 10, Austin, Brownwood and Paris up 7, Amarillo and Marshall up 6.

Total advertising linage in 25 Texas newspapers during October was 8 per cent above September and 1 per cent above October 1956.

Irish Came First

OTTAWA, Nov. 30 (AP)—A Canadian historian, Dr. Gustave Lanctot, figures the Irish were the first to reach North America. He says the discovery of certain relics leads him to believe the Irish reached Nova Scotia in the year 880 after being blown off course en route from Iceland to Greenland.

Texas Economy Shows Stability

AUSTIN, Nov. 30 (AP)—The Bureau of Business Research said today the economy of Texas is showing stability in the face of uncertainty.

"Most important economic barometers in the nation are pointing toward a recession or at best a situation of no change in activity for better or worse," the report of the University of Texas agency said.

The report said that since oil production and refining, two of the most important areas of economic activity, began readjustment earlier in the year Texas reached a point of stability earlier than the rest of the nation.

Two important factors point to improvement: a change in the granting of credit by commercial banks; and the reappraisal of defense expenditures necessitated by the Russians' achievements in the field of artificial satellites.

Texas business activity is at year-ago levels, the bureau reported.

The bureau said production and refining or petroleum continued to show weakness and added that Texas cannot endure this condition indefinitely.

"The continued restriction on crude production is likely to have a very damaging effect on the state's economy because of the thousands of people who depend directly or indirectly on petroleum production for their livelihood," the report said.

More Hub Caps Reported Stolen

Thieves continue to plague car owners.

W. C. Blankenship Jr. lost two hub caps from a 1955 Pontiac between 9 p.m. and 12 Friday night. Zane Lantz reported loss of two hub caps from his 1954 Oldsmobile while parked at 11th and Austin from 7:30 to 10 p.m. Friday.

A Mrs. England, 2110 Runnels, reported loss of two fender skirts from her 1951 Chevrolet.

Two hub caps were also taken from a car owned by Leonard Eggen, 610 State. The car was parked in the 300 block of NW 3rd between 7:30 and 8:30 p.m. Friday night.

Gein's Farm Combed Anew After Another Skeleton Found In Pit

PLAINFIELD, Wis., Nov. 30 (AP)—Officers of three counties converged on the secluded farm of admitted killer-ghoul Edward Gein today after the discovery of another skeleton in a garbage pit raised the possibility of additional slayings.

Sheriff Frank Serles of neighboring Adams County said that it was "very possible" a skeleton unearthed yesterday by Portage County Sheriff Herb Wanserski was that of a mysterious, money-flashing stranger who vanished with an Adams County acquaintance while hunting five years ago.

State Atty. Gen. Stewart Honeck, placed in overall charge of the investigation last Monday by Gov. Vernon Thomson, said this afternoon that the finding of another body "is not inconsistent" with some of the information drawn from Gein during extensive lie detector tests.

He said at Madison that he has sent an investigator to Plainfield to help county officers and added: "We may come up with something more."

The sensational new development came as authorities in Gein's home county Waushara, expressed themselves as "just about satisfied" with the 51-year-old handyman's story that he had killed and butchered two neighborhood women. Gein claimed that parts of an undetermined number of bodies found in his home had been dug out of new graves.

So far, Gein has specified nine graves, although State Crime Laboratory officials indicated "there might be more than nine" bodies involved in the frail-appearing, sometime babysitter's grisly collection of human heads and other remains.

Gein was arrested two weeks ago today after the mutilated body of Mrs. Bernice Worden, 58, was found hanging by the heels in his woodshed. A week ago Gein was committed to Wisconsin's Central State Hospital for the Criminal Insane to determine whether he is sane enough to stand trial for first degree murder in the Worden case. He also has admitted similarly slaying Mrs. Mary Hogan, 54, a Portage County tavern operator, in 1954.

But he insisted the other human remains came from cemeteries.

The case quieted earlier this week when Waushara County Dist. Atty. Earl Kileen presided over the opening of two graves selected at random from Gein's list and found both caskets empty.

However, Wanserski and his officers continued to search the weed-grown and now snow-covered farmstead six miles southwest of Plainfield.

Yesterday, Wanserski said, he and Deputy George Cummings decided to dig into a trench about a quarter-mile from the house, after neighbors said they occasionally had seen Gein "burying garbage" there.

After an hour's digging at one end of the 40-foot trench, Wanserski said, the two men uncovered a virtually complete skeleton, including a complete skull with a prominent gold tooth.

Serles said today that coincided with the description of a man known to authorities only as Ray Burgess, who went hunting with Victor (Bunk) Travis, 43, of Friendship on a farm across the road from the Gein place on Nov. 1, 1952. Neither man ever was seen again.

Mother Continues 'Gratitude March'

WEST COLUMBIA, Tex., Nov. 30 (AP)— A stocky little mother trudged into this South Texas town today after covering another 13 miles in her attempt to walk 387 miles along the Texas coast.

Mrs. Manuela Carreon, 46, Texas City, Tex., is making the marathon walk to a Lower Rio Grande Valley shrine to give thanks because her son was freed on a murder charge. Thus far she has walked 61 miles.

She was met today by her two sons, Oracio, 12, and Armando, 11, and a sister, Mrs. Raul Caro of Texas City.

"This is the happiest day yet for this is the first time I have seen my children since the day of the trial," Mrs. Carreon said.

Her face was burned from a 30-mile per hour cold wind which blew across the coastal plains. She was wearing a light three-quarter coat for protection against the weather, which was expected to tumble temperatures to below freezing in the area tonight.

Mrs. Carreon turned down an offer by a Galveston merchant to give her a new coat.

Her foam rubber shoe soles were wearing thin but she had declined offers to buy her replacements.

Mrs. Carreon left Galveston, 50 miles to the northeast, with a firm vow to give thanks at Our Lady of San Juan Mission, near the southern tip of Texas.

She spent last night in a pickup truck with her husband, a vegetable salesman, who met her near Angleton. She slept in a filling station the night before.

Holcombe Eyes Tuesday Voting

HOUSTON, Nov. 30 (AP)—Mayor Oscar Holcombe, seeking a 12th term, meets Lewis Cutrer, a former city attorney, Tuesday in Houston's city election runoff.

Cutrer, also a former school board attorney, led a field of four candidates in the Nov. 16 primary and held a plurality of 9,754 votes over Holcombe.

It is the first time for Cutrer to seek election to a pubic office.

Holcombe has support from the two candidates eliminated Nov. 16. Dr. Ira Kohler, a former city councilman, has endorsed the mayor. Councilman Gail Reeves said he will vote for Holcombe.

Reeves polled 18,912 votes to 6,864 for Kohler. Cutrer had 34,504 to Holcombe's 24,752.

The runoff includes races for five of the eight council positions. Two councilmen, Lee McLemore and Shirley Brakefield, are in runoff campaigns.

Louie Welch, a former candidate for mayor, was the only councilman reelected Nov. 16. Two veteran councilmen were defeated. George Marquette lost to Johnny Goyen. Matt Wilson was defeated by Loy Hassell.

State Tax Man, George Boyd, Dies

George Robert Boyd Sr., 67, auditor for the state tax department, died here at 6 p.m. Saturday after an illness of five days.

Arrangements are pending at River Funeral Home but the body likely with be returned to his home in Woodville.

Mr. Boyd was here on routine audit work and became ill on Tuesday. He had been suffering from a heart condition.

Surviving him are his wife; two sons, George D. Boyd Jr., Texas City, and Willis Boyd, Houma, La.; a daughter, Mrs. Wynn Howard, Houston; and one grandchild.

Cornerstone On Supreme Court To Be Laid Monday

AUSTIN, Nov. 30 (AP)—The cornerstone of the new Supreme Court building will be laid Monday with the help of the same gavel used on March 2, 1885 to level the cornerstone of the state capitol.

The implement comes from the Masonic Grand Lodge Museum in Waco. The gavel originally was used by Sam Houston as president of the Republic of Texas, when he presided over the state Senate Dec. 20, 1837 in Houston.

State Sen. George Moffett of Chillicothe, past grand master of the Masonic Lodge in Texas, will act as grand master in the ceremony Monday.

Ketner Rites At Colorado Today

COLORADO CITY, Nov. 30—Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Sunday the Kiker Funeral Home for E. P. Henry Ketner, 46, who died Friday in a Big Spring hospital.

Mr. Ketner was a member of the Presbyterian Church and was a World War II veteran.

Conducting the services will be Rev. Clarence Collins, pastor of the First Methodist Church here. Burial will be in the Snyder Cemetery.

Survivors include his wife; his mother, Mrs. J. E. Ketner of Colorado City; two brothers, Jennings Ketner of San Angelo, and Jim Ketner Jr. of Shreveport, La.

Quigley Shop In FTD Association

The Florists' Telegraph Delivery Association announced Saturday that Quigley's Floral Shop, 1510 Gregg, has been accepted as a member. Mr. and Mrs. John J. Quigley operate the shop. The association has 11,000 members in the United States and Canada who handle flower orders sent by telegram. It also works through Interflora for world deliveries. Other FTD members here are Faye's Flowers, Cottage of Flowers and Estah's Flowers.

Laborites Returning To Power In New Zealand

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Nov. 30 (AP)—Laborites edged the Conservatives in Parliamentary elections today on the basis of unofficial returns. The Socialists thus will return to power after an absence of eight years.

Prime Minister-elect Walter Nash, 76, head of the Labor party, promised in a nationwide broadcast to work for peace in the world. Nash was deputy prime minister in the old Labor government.

Final unofficial returns gave the Laborites 41 seats to 38 for the Conservative National party. One seat will be decided by a special election in January.

Labor will have only a slim working majority. The January election is in a National Party stronghold, and thus the Labor majority may be cut to two.

While the vote swept two Conservative ministers from Parliament, Prime Minister Keith Holyoake, head of the National party, retained his seat by a majority of 3,824 votes.

The Laborites struck hard at the tax issue and rolled up votes in the cities and the larger towns.

They promised a rebate of 100 pounds ($280) to each taxpayer on income tax due in February. The government had provided for a rebate of 25 per cent of taxes up to a maximum of 75 pounds ($210).

The National party, as usual, ran strong in the rural areas.

The final unofficial count gave Labor 508,981 votes, the National party 458,801, the Social Credit party 75,135, and the Communists 528.

Princess, Former Co-Star At Lunch

LONDON, Nov. 30 (AP)— Prince Rainier lunched yesterday with Cary Grant—a man whom movie audiences knew as one of Princess Grace's screen lovers.

It was a family affair. Princess Grace, the former Grace Kelly, was present and so was Betsy Drake, Grant's wife.

The get-together took place in Rainier's royal suite in a London hotel.

"We had a world of fun," said Grant.

It was the first meeting of Rainier and the handsome actor who was Princess Grace's screen sweetheart in "To Catch a Thief."

It was while the picture was being filmed on the Mediterranean that Rainier met his bride-to-be.

So far as it is known, Rainier has still to see the movie.

Grant is making a movie with Ingrid Bergman in London. His wife flew in from California this week to spend Christmas with him.

Parking Is Free During Holidays

PERU, Ill., Nov. 30 (AP)— The working heads of 250 parking meters in downtown Peru were removed today by order of the City Council, and small evergreen trees inserted in the standards.

The council voted a moratorium on pay parking throughout December.

Youth Killed In Hunting Mishap

CAMERON, Tex., Nov. 30 (AP)—Richard Hobson, 14, was accidentally killed by his own shotgun today.

He was hunting four miles southeast of here. Justice of Peace B. G. Rice ruled it accidental death.

Grid Game Is 'Tonic' For President

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Nov. 30 (AP)— President Eisenhower marked up additional headway today toward recovery from a mild stroke —with the Army-Navy football game on television as a personally prescribed tonic.

The commander in chief of the armed forces went through the customary motions of neutrality, then gathered old friends around him and rooted for Army from start to finish.

And, as he went through an otherwise quiet day of recuperation at his country estate, Eisenhower's doctor, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, reported that his patient "had another good night's sleep" and that "his progress continues to be excellent."

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty described his boss as in a "very good" mood. He said that, "To me, he looks increasingly better every day."

As to how the President felt about the 14-0 beating his alma mater took from the Navy, there was no way of telling immediately, Hagerty said late this afternoon he hadn't contacted the President about the game's outcome and didn't plan to.

Hagerty and Eisenhower handled a bit of official business. But otherwise, the President spent the day reading, loafing, and taking in the big game.

There wasn't much else to do, because it was a wet, raw day and it kept the chief executive indoors.

So he had an early lunch and nap, and then plunked himself in front of the TV set on the glass-enclosed porch of his home.

Pulling for Army, of course, was just what could be expected. For after all, Eisenhower is the most noted graduate of the West Point class of 1915. Furthermore, he was a halfback on the football squad until a knee injury ended his gridiron career in his sophomore year.

Widely Known Oil Man Dies After A Fall

MIDLAND, Tex., Nov 30 (AP)— William D. Lane, 59, widely known West Texas oilman, died early today of injuries suffered in a fall at his ranch 30 miles southeast of Rocksprings in Real County.

Lane retired in 1954 after serving as general superintendent in charge of all Plymouth Oil Co. activities in West Texas, New Mexico and the Rocky Mountain area.

He had considerable oil property and owned ranches in Real, Uvalde and Comanche counties. He also was associated with a son in Lane Bros. Trucking Co. of San Angelo and Odessa.

Members of the family said Lane was awakened by a noise early today. He fell and suffered a concussion on concrete steps leading to the basement of the ranchhouse. Death came about an hour later.

A native of Comanche County, Lane started his career in 1924 at Texon, Reagan County, with Big Lake Oil Co., a subsidiary of Plymouth Oil Co. He later joined the parent firm and stayed in Texon until 1939, when he was transferred to Browafield.

Lane came to Midland as superintendent of the firm's Midland district in 1942.

Accidents Involve Three Automobiles

Two accidents occurring Saturday saw three cars involved.

One occurred on private property at 608 State. A 1955 Ford pickup owned by Robert Alderson, 608 State, rolled into a 1954 Chevrolet pickup owned by Marshall Cates, 602 W. 15th, and a 1954 Chevrolet owned by Dewey Phillips Jr., 1103 Lamar.

Involved in an accident on the Gregg viaduct were cars operated by Arnulfo Hernandez, 410 NW 5th, Auldon Clanton, 410 Austin, and Floyd Thompson, 306 W. 17th. The Clanton and Thompson vehicles were stopped.

In the 300 block of Johnson, Ira Morrell, Sterling City Rt., and Otho Cox Jr., 1600 E. 16th, were drivers of cars colliding.

Don't Worry, You'll Get Your Tax Forms

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP)— You'll be glad to know that your ol' Uncle Sam hasn't forgotten you—he's at work right now making sure you get your income tax forms after the start of the new year.

And that's no easy task. It takes about 300 freight carloads of paper just to print up the necessary half billion or so forms of one kind and another. These have to be shipped to all corners of the country, and dropped into your mailbox starting Jan. 2.

If you are one of the 60 million who filed an individual income tax return last year you're down in uncle's little black address book for good. He has you listed by name, address, and whether you filed as an ordinary wage-earner, a farmer, a businessman or a self employed person.

All this information is assembled at the regional distribution centers at Lawrence, Mass.; Kansas City, Mo.; and Ogden, Utah. Here the Internal Revenue Service makes up a little package especially for you, containing duplicates of the type of form you used last year and instructions. A name and address label is attached and the package is ready for mailing.

If you have moved since you last filed a return, don't fret about it. The Post Office Department will see to it that your package is forwarded.

If, for any reason, you didn't file a return last year, it's up to you to contact the nearest district director's office—in person or by mail—and get the necessary forms.

The government expects to collect more than 84½ billion in the fiscal year that ends next June 30.

Don't let that figure of 84½ billion dollars fool you. That's just what the government takes in, not what it gets to keep or spend.

More than seven billion dollars of the total is earmarked for the Social Security fund. Another two billion dollars goes into the highway trust fund. A goodly chunk of it must be set aside to refunds to taxpayers.

The net take from taxes, customs duties and miscellaneous receipts is expected to hit just over 73½ billion dollars this fiscal year.

Just under half of all tax collections come from individuals who fill out the forms the IRS is now preparing. During this fiscal year, individual income taxes are expected to total more than 41½ billion dollars. Another 21½ billion will come from corporations, 11¼ billion from excise taxes, nearly 9 billion in employment taxes and 1½ billion in estate and gift taxes.

To reap this golden harvest, the tax people this year ordered 119,919,000 individual income tax forms for the nation's 172 million people. They expect to get back some 60 million—with cash.

Colombia Seeks Peace Through Sharing Power

BOGOTA, Colombia, Nov. 30 (AP)—After a decade of civil strife and an estimated death toll of more than 200,000, Colombians will vote tomorrow on a plan designed to assure political peace for 12 years.

The proposal in a nationwide election would amend the Constitution to permit the two traditional parties, Conservative and Liberal, to share political power equally.

It will be the first balloting in Colombia since 1950 and the first in which women participate. More than four million Colombians are expected to vote.

The agreement between the two parties to share power is unprecedented in Colombia where an individual is born either Conservative or Liberal and never dreams of switching.

Most of the bloodshed in the undeclared civil war of the past 10 years has been in the rural areas, but the bitterness between adherents of the rival parties has existed everywhere.

Gen. Rafael Navas Pardo, one of the five members of the military junta that has been running the country since last May, is the authority for the estimate that more than 200,000 Colombians have been slain.

Strife - weary Colombians applauded when the army chief, Gen. Gustavo Rojas Pinilla, overthrew the Conservative government and seized power in 1953. But when the general turned dictatof, leaders of both Conservative and Liberal parties realized that the time had come for an end to inter-party strife.

Rojas Pinilla was forced to resign last May when a nationwide strike by business as well as labor paralyzed the country.

The military junta succeeding him consists of four army officers, who had served under the general, and a rear admiral. But instead of attempting to hold power permanently the junta spurred the two parties to come to an agreement.

School Officials To Meet Here Tuesday

Howard County school administrators and trustees will hold their third meeting of the year Tuesday evening.

The session, for discussion of common problems and other school matters, is set for 7 p.m. in the Big Spring High School cafeteria, said S. M. Anderson of Big Spring, chairman of arrangements. Big Spring Independent School District officials will be hosts for the meeting of representatives of all school districts in the county. It will be a dinner meeting.

Big Spring Girl Is Officer For Youth Council

Alisa Hernandez of Big Spring was elected vice president of the newly-organized chapter of the National Council of Catholic Youth Friday.

Twenty-five representatives of Catholic young people met at St. Ann's Church, Midland, to form the chapter and to elect officers.

Chosen president was Kathryn Moriarity, Odessa; secretary, John Joe Contreses, Lamesa; treasurer, Kenneth Haggard, Stanton.

Norma Schuerger of Big Spring will serve as social chairman; Nancy Lawson, Midland, spiritual chairman, and Kenneth Fletcher of Midland, physical activity chairman. The cultural committee will be headed by Darlene Klug of Lamesa.

The group planned a dance for February to be given in Midland. The meeting was climaxed with a dance at the parish hall of St. Mary's Catholic Church in Odessa.

Attending from Big Spring were Pat and Julia Flynn, Mrs. J. E. Flynn, Miss Schuerger and the Rev. William J. Moore, OMI.

Students Asked To Contribute To World Clothing Program

Big Spring students are being asked to participate in World Clothing Week, starting Monday.

The local drive is part of a nationwide effort to collect 3 million pounds of used clothing, shoes and bedding for orphaned and needy children and adults in the U. S. and other countries.

Supt. Floyd Parsons said the drive will be under way in Big Spring schools throughout the week. Teachers also are being urged to participate.

Starting Monday, pupils and teachers will be asked to bring their bundles of used clothing to school. Any serviceable item will be accepted.

The school drive is to be conducted in cooperation with the Christian Children's Fund, an international charitable agency which assists orphans and other needy children in 34 countries.

As much of the clothing as is needed will be distributed to local needy children, many of whom are unable to attend classes because of lack of proper clothing.

"We expect World Clothing Week to be one of the finest service projects ever conducted by our schools," said Parsons. "The clothing collected is used in handicapped areas of America by CCF to help needy children—some of whom can't even attend school regularly because they have no coat or shoes. It goes to aid orphans and other needy children in the United States and overseas. Also, free clothing and bedding is distributed during disaster emergency situations. Every student has been given literature to take home explaining the purpose of the drive and asking the cooperation of parents and friends."

"The Christian Children's Fund reports that good used clothing is one of the most vital needs of children and adults the world over. The minimum goal this year alone is three million pounds. Through World Cothing Week, the school children of Big Spring will see to it that many needy boys and girls will be warmly clad this winter. At the same time our own young people will be learning a valuable lesson in humanity and experience the joy that comes with sharing with those less fortunate. I hope the citizens of our community will get behind the schools in this effort. Send all types of wearable infants, children's and adult clothing and shoes to school during World Clothing Week," the superintendent said.

Since 1938 the Christian Children's Fund has been aiding needy children. Today, it assists more than 22,000 orphans in 250 orphanages in 34 countries. In addition to the United States, CCF operates its programs in Austria, Belgium, Borneo, Brazil, Burma, Chile, Finland, France, Formosa, Greece, Hong Kong, India, Indonesia, Iran, Italy, Jamaica, Japan, Jordan, Korea, Lapland, Lebanon, Libya, Macao, Malaya, Mexico, Okinawa, Pakistan, Peru, Philippines, Puerto Rico, Syria, Viet Nam, and Western Germany. CCF also has an expanding program on several American Indian Reservations.

All programs of the Christian Children's Fund are administered without reference to race, creed or national origin of those assisted.

Parking Lot Still Snagged Over Leases

The city is still waiting on signed contracts before starting to work on a downtown parking lot.

Parking meters arrived last week for the parking lot to be established between the Ritz Theatre and Empire Southern Gas Co., on Main, but at present, the city doesn't have control of the lot. H. W. Whitney, city manager, said the city did not plan to do any work on the lot until it is officially leased.

The property is owned by three parties, W. B. Potton of San Antonio, Fred Polacek, and a corporation headed by J. Y. Robb. Only Robb has returned a signed contract.

Wayne Basden, assistant city attorney, said Saturday that Polacek has agreed to sign, but Potton wanted more information before signing. He called the city about it Friday.

When the City Commission authorized purchase of the parking meters at its Nov. 12 meeting, the expected holdup was delivery of the meters. The city thought it would have time to stabilize the lot and install meter poles before the 52 new meters arrived. Delivery on the meters was pegged at Dec. 1.

Downtown merchants proposed the parking lot and asked that three-hour meters costing a dime be installed. The city complied and ordered 52 manually operated meters. The merchants agreed to pay rental on the lot and let the city keep all meter revenue.

Both the city and the merchants hoped the lot would be in operation in time to relieve downtown parking problems during the Christmas shopping season.

'tis the season to be jolly..

Rice, A&M, Texas All To Play In Bowl Classics

By The Associated Press

The Southwest Conference is sending three teams to post-season bowls, Rice, Texas A&M and Texas.

Rice, as Southwest Conference champion, is host in the Cotton Bowl and will meet Navy. The Owls beat Baylor 20-0 Saturday to gain the championship undisputed. Navy downed Army 14-0 and accepted a Cotton Bowl bid.

Texas, which finished second in the conference, is going to the Sugar Bowl against Mississippi, which tied Mississippi State 7-7 Saturday. Texas finished its season Thanksgiving Day, upsetting Texas A&M 9-7.

Texas A&M, which finished third in the Southwest league, goes to the Gator Bowl Dec. 28. The other two bowl games are Jan. 1. The Aggies will play Tennessee. The Vols beat Vanderbilt 20-6 Saturday.

Rice lost to Duke, Texas and Clemson while beating Louisiana State, Stanford, Southern Methodist, Arkansas, Texas A&M, Texas Christian and Baylor.

Navy beat Boston, William and Mary, lost to North Carolina, beat California, Georgia, Pennsylvania, Notre Dame, was tied by Duke and beat George Washington and Army.

Texas beat Georgia, Tulane, lost to South Carolina and Oklahoma, then beat Arkansas and Rice, then lost to Southern Methodist, got tied by Baylor, then beat Texas Christian and Texas A&M. Mississippi beat Trinity, Kentucky, Hardin-Simmons, Vanderbilt, Tulane, lost to Arkansas, beat Houston, LSU and Tennessee and was tied by Mississippi State.

Texas A&M beat Maryland, Texas Tech, Missouri, Houston, Texas Christian, Baylor, Arkansas, Southern Methodist, then lost to Rice and Texas.

Tennessee lost to Auburn, beat Mississippi State, Chattanooga, Alabama, Maryland, North Carolina, Georgia Tech, lost to Mississippi and Kentucky, then beat Vanderbilt.

Rice coach Jess Neely said he had not had time to think about Navy. "We were too busy with Baylor," he said. "We will exchange whatever films they want I will call them tomorrow and we'll work these things out."

Baylor Coach Sam Boyd said, "Rice has a fine ball club and will represent us well at Dallas."

Navy Coach Eddie Erdelatz said Navy players decided by secret ballot two weeks ago to accept a Cotton Bowl invitation provided they beat Army.

Navy Fullback Ray Wellborn, who is from Houston, chortled, "Every Texas kid dreams of playing in the Cotton Bowl and now I'm going."

Texas Aggie Coach Bear Bryant said, "We are highly honored to play in the Gator Bowl against the University of Tennessee."

BILL MEEK

Meek To Speak At Grid Party

Bill Meek, Southern Methodist University coach, is to be the speaker for the annual Lions Club football banquet.

Date for the event had been set for Jan. 17 at the Cosden Country Club, Carl Smith, president, has announced.

The Dowtown Lions Club annually has been honoring the members of the Steer football squad for the past 15 years, and usually has a Southwest Conference coach or athletic director as a speaker.

Sundown Tramples Over Alpine, 33-0

SUNDOWN, Tex., Nov. 30 (AP)—The Sundown Roughnecks breezed to a 33-0 victory over Alpine today in a second-round Class A playoff. They earned the right to meet Ralls next week.

Jimmy James started the Sundown scoring with a 72-yard punt return on the fourth play of the game. Dale Childs, who kicked all three extra points, passed 41 yards to end Jack Hanks early in the second quarter to make it 14-0 at halftime.

Sundown's third touchdown came in the third quarter on a one-yard plunge by Billy Evans while Childs went 11 yards and Guerry Wright went over from the one for fourth period tallys.

Sundown's defense was great, allowing 29 yards on the ground and only one first down — that coming on a personal foul.

Flock Wins, 20-0, Grabs Bowl Berth

HOUSTON, Nov. 30 (AP)—Rice's Owls used long kick returns by halfbacks Larry Duitt and Bobby Williams to explode for a pair of quick touchdowns early in the second half today to defeat the stubborn Baylor Bears and win the Southwest Conference championship and the right to meet Navy in the Cotton Bowl. Final score was 20-0.

Dueitt, who probably will quarterback the Owls next year, and Williams, a junior second stringer, thrilled a crowd of 43,000 by taking advantage of beautiful blocking while scampering for runs of 89 and 80 yards to break up a scoreless deadlock in the first four minutes of the third period.

Dueitt returned the halftime kickoff to the Baylor 11, from where quarterback King Hill passed to Halfback Ken Williams for the first score.

Four plays later Bobby Williams received a Baylor punt on his 20 and raced untouched for the second score.

Late in the final period, quarterback Frank Ryan engineered a 72-yard scoring drive, passing 10 yards to end Buddy Dial for the score.

Hill kicked the first two extra points, but halfback Gordon Speer missed the third.

In the scoreless first half Rice had to stop Baylor threats on the one and six-yard lines while managing to get only one serious threat of its own under way. The Baylor defense stopped a 39-yard Rice drive on the Bear one.

The victory sends Rice to the Cotton Bowl with a 7-3 season record that includes losses to Duke, Texas, and Clemson. The Owls' 5-1 conference record leaves Rice a half game ahead of Texas in final standings.

The Jan. 1 date with Navy in Dallas will be the second meeting between the Owls and Middies. In 1951 Rice defeated Navy here, 21-14.

The key blocks for the long runs by Dueitt and Bobby Williams came from fullback David Kelley and end Gene Jones.

Kelley escorted Dueitt down the sideline and removed the next to the last defender. This left only Lee Harrington and Dueitt's way and the Baylor center managed to trip up the Corpus Christi speedster at the 11.

Jones, who sprained an ankle in a light Thursday workout, shook Williams into the clear with a neat block at midfield.

The shutout over Baylor was the first in the series since 1942, when Rice won by an identical score. Rice had troubles at times in early season on defense but today's victory enabled the Owls to sweep four straight conference games from Arkansas, Texas A&M, Texas Christian and Baylor while giving up only two touchdowns.

Baylor played all but the opening six minutes of its game without its No. 1 quarterback, Doyle Traylor, a high school star who has been plagued by injuries ever since entering Baylor five years ago. After maneuvering the Bears on an unsuccessful 79-yard drive from the opening kickoff, Traylor was injured while receiving a punt the second time the Bears got the ball.

Trainers said the Temple star reinjured an old internal injury at the base of his spine, suffered originally in high school.

Plainview Subdues Steer Cagers, 62-51

Plainview's Bulldogs blitzed the Big Spring Steers, 62-51, in the local team's opening basketball game here Saturday night.

The victory, and it came easier than the final score indicated, was the second in two nights for Plainview over a District 2-AAAA team. On Friday night, the Bulldogs had toppled Midland.

Big Spring led only in the first few minutes of play. The visitors had moved to the fore by the end of the opening period, 19-15, and had widened the gap to 11 points at half time.

They were out front by as much as 20 points a couple of times in the third period, at which time the Bovines could count but six points.

Big Jan Loudermilk tossed in 23 points to capture scoring honors in the game but he got 21 of those in the first half. He was saddled with his fourth foul shortly before the second quarter ended, however, and was walking on eggs thereafter. The two points he managed in the final 16 minutes of play came on gratis pitches.

Billy Taegel and Bill Reeves paced Plainview in scoring with 19 points each. Superior rebounding by Reeves and Bobby Grace proved the real difference in the game, that and a remarkable ability to hit from the foul line.

The guests outshot the Steers from the field by six points but they kept the heat on the Longhorns by connecting with 22 of 34 free shots.

Officials sent two Big Spring boys — Bill Thompson and Benny McCrary — to the penalty box. Plainview lost one, Lee Richards, on fouls.

Richards also hit in double figures for Plainview, counting ten points.

McCrary had eight and Thompson seven points for the Steers.

Of the first 15 points Big Spring made, Loudermilk accounted for 14 of them.

The Steer B team also lost, 40-37. Goose Russell kept the Dogies in that one with some fine outside shooting.

The Shorthorns captured a one-point advantage midway in the last period but soon lost it and fell behind by as much as five points.

The Steers return to action Monday night, at which time they host Lamesa.

Irish Defeat SC Trojans For Sixth Win, 40 To 12

SOUTH BEND, Nov. 30 (AP)—Notre Dame unleashed some of its potent sophomore talent today and three of the rookies scored touchdowns—one a 92-yard runback of a kickoff by Pat Doyle—to power the Irish over Southern California 40-12.

The victory, accomplished before 54,793 chilled fans who had to scrape snow from the seats of Notre Dame Stadium, was the Irish's first over the Trojans since 1954 and their 18th in the series which began in 1926.

It gave Coach Terry Brennan's team a 6-3 season record in closing its home campaign and marked USC's 9th loss in completing a slate of 10 games.

Sophomore Monty Stickles of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., tallied twice on 17 and 7-yard passes by Bob Williams. He also booted three extra points.

The 92-yard gallop by Doyle, Sioux City, Iowa, came midway in the second quarter after USC scored on Rex Johnston's 10-yard run. Walter Gursich's recovery of Williams' fumble on the Irish 22 set up the Trojan touchdown.

Doyle took the ensuing kickoff, cut to the sideline and raced across without a threat. It gave Notre Dame a 19-6 halftime bulge.

Another sophomore, fullback Jim Crotty of Seattle, had his turn at the outset of the third period as he led a smashing ground attack 66 yards in 13 plays. He barreled the final 2 after gaining 39 in four previous successive carries.

Following a Trojan 67-yard touchdown thrust climaxed by Tom Maudlin's one-foot blast, the Irish drove 70 yards to score at the start of the fourth period. Williams hit Stickles for the last seven yards.

Later Notre Dame went 81 yards for another TD. Sophomore George Izo of Barberton, Ohio, rifled an 8-yard scoring toss to Dick Prendergast.

Ole Miss, State Battle To A Draw

STATE COLLEGE, Miss., Nov. 30 (AP)—Mississippi and Mississippi State—bowl-minded football giants—fought to a bitter 7-7 tie today before 35,000 wind-chilled fans.

Mississippi State in holding their state rival to a tie knocked the Rebels out of a share of the Southeastern Conference championship. It was Mississippi's first blemish in six conference games this season.

The difference between the two big teams this windy afternoon was Mississippi State's supercharged line that penned up the Rebels' backs all afternoon. The Maroons' line led by Co-Captain Jimmy Lee Dodd, a 195-pound senior, gave way to hard-running Rebel backfield only once—for the Ole Miss touchdown.

It was a repeat of a 1953 game when State held Mississippi to a 7-7 tie. Mississippi State hasn't defeated the Rebels since 1946.

The Maroons, steamed up to the hilt, lost little time in driving to a touchdown. Quarterback Billy Stacy took the opening kickoff on his five and returned it to his own 36. And, after 11 vicious line smashes in five minutes, Bubber Trammell drove the final 18 yards over left tackle for the touchdown to cap a 64-yard march.

Left tackle Bobby Tribble converted the Maroons into a 7-0 lead.

Midway in the second period Mississippi opened its first and last touchdown drive. The Rebels took a punt on the Maroons' 44. after State had been driven back to its own one-yard line by penalties.

Leroy Reed returned the punt from the 44 to the Maroon 35. A pass from quarterback Bobby Franklin to Cowboy Woodruff moved the ball to the 20. Line plunges by Charles Flowers and Franklin shoved the ball to the 12.

Then Franklin tossed a pass to John Brewer, who was stopped on the 5. Woodruff from the 5 shredded the Maroon line for the touchdown and Robert Khayat converted. The score was knotted 7-7.

LSU Tigers Wallop Tulane Wave, 25-6

BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 30 (AP)—Fullback Jimmy Taylor, playing his final game for Louisiana State, hammered his way to the Southeastern Conference rushing title today as the Tigers blasted arch-rival Tulane 25-6.

About 50,000 chilled fans, pushing LSU's home attendance to a record 300,000 for six games, watched the burly fullback gain 171 yards on 19 tries for a nine-yard average and score two touchdowns on runs of 48 and 32 yards.

Taylor finished with 760 yards rushing in 10 games, nearly 100 yards more than Bobby Cravens of Kentucky who moved ahead last week with a total of 669 yards as Kentucky finished its season.

Taylor pushed his scoring total to 86 points. The victory gave LSU a 5-5 mark.

Sooners Clobber Okla. State, 53-6

NORMAN, Okla., Nov. 30 (AP)—Fifth-ranked Oklahoma, looking for greater national recognition and sharpening for its coming Orange Bowl encounter, blasted Oklahoma State 53-6 here today.

The Sooners, despite being scouted by its bowl opponent Duke, showed off all their multiple offense tricks and took advantage of Cowboy errors for the romp.

Clendon Thomas, the Sooners' great halfback, scored twice to give him 9 touchdowns for the season and 36 in his college career, a new school record that exceeded the 35 made by George Thomas and All-Americas Billy Vessels and Tommy McDonald.

Thomas passed for another touchdown as he and seven other starters played their last regular game for Oklahoma. Thomas set two other new school records of the most rushing yards in three years, 2,120, and the most points, 216.

Middies Tip Army, Embrace Dallas Bid

By JACK HAND

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30 (AP) — Ned Oldham, hobbled by a knee injury since mid-season, led fired-up Navy into the Cotton Bowl on a 14-0 victory over Army today behind a rock-ribbed defense that bottled up the Cadets' touchdown twins.

The decision to accept the bowl bid was made on a ballot of the Middies in the dressing room. Navy went to the Sugar Bowl following their 20-7 victory over the Cadets in 1954.

Oldham drove through a host of defenders on a six-yard touchdown run in the first period and ran 44 yards on a punt return for the second score early in the fourth period.

Just to keep things in the family, the 21-year-old captain of the Navy team from Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, also converted twice.

Navy's two-deep line and sturdy defense contained Bob Anderson and Pete Dawkins, the halfbacks who had scored in every previous Army game. It was the first time the high-scoring Cadets had been shut out all season.

While a crowd of 101,000 watched on a gloomy, rain-soaked afternoon at Municipal Stadium, Navy took charge of this 58th renewal and never let up.

The going got a little rugged after the second Navy touchdown when Navy's Bob Reifsnyder and Army's Bill Melnik were ejected for tossing a few left hooks. Navy had intercepted an Army pass on the play but it was nullified by the balancing penalties.

Oldham, who was hurt in the Penn game and saw only limited action in recent weeks, made up for that enforced "vacation" by his brilliant offensive and defensive play.

But the real story of this ballgame was the rock and sock play of the Navy line and the tightly knit defense that made the Middies second in the nation on total defense.

Army made one serious march early in the second period as they drove all the way to the Navy 9 before a mix up in the backfield resulted in a fumble that Navy's Bob Caldwell finally recovered on the Navy 10. On the play the Army backs appeared to miss a count and the team was off sides before Dave Bourland took the ball.

Although the Cadets intercepted two of Tom Forrestal's passes in that frantic second period, the Navy held twice for downs in its own territory.

Army had another chance to score in the third period when a long, booming punt by Vin Barta was fumbled by Harry Hurst and recovered by Melnik on the Navy 19.

On a fourth down and six to go situation, Bourland's pass was intercepted by Forrestal in the end zone for an automatic touchback.

Don Usry, the Army left end, had maneuvered into position behind Forrestal but the Navy quarterback leaped into the air to pick it off. That was the ball game.

Heavy rains in the morning which slackened by the kickoff but picked up at times during the contest were a definite factor. The field remained covered until game time but the traditional parade of the cadets and midshipmen was cancelled.

OLIVER JACKSON WILL ADDRESS STEER GRIDDERS AT BANQUET

Oliver Jackson, famed track and field coach at Abilene Christian College, will be the principal speaker at First Baptist Brotherhood's Dec. 10 banquet honoring the 1957 Big Spring High School football team.

Jackson accepted the invitation by telephone Friday. He was invited to bring Bobby Morrow, ACC's Olympic champion, with him.

Jackson stated Morrow might not be able to make it due to the fact that he and Mrs. Morrow are expecting twins about that time.

Al Milch and his assistant coaches will be guests at the banquet, along with the players.

The meal is served in the basement of the church.

Frogs Stop Pony Ace Cold To Win

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 30 (AP)—Texas Christian brutally rubbed the glitter off Don Meredith, Southern Methodist's golden boy, today and swept to a 21-0 victory on the passing and running of Dick Finney and the dashes of Marvin Lasater and Buddy Dike.

The great SMU passer, sensation of the Southwest Conference, was so badly rushed by the sweeping Horned Frogs that he wound up with a net loss of 64 yards.

It was the heaviest margin TCU ever beat SMU in Southwest Conference play and left the Methodists winless in Fort Worth since 1945.

A crowd of 25,000 watched the Frogs fight SMU off its feet virtually all the way, batter Meredith from pillar to post and then follow Finney, who scored two touchdowns, and Lasater, who ran 56 for the third counter, to a smashing triumph that probably knocked SMU out of bowl contention.

The game meant nothing in the Southwest Conference race but SMU had hoped to use it as a stepping stone to a bowl game.

Finney made the two touchdowns on short plunges, setting up the first with two passes to halfback Marshall Harris that gained 44 yards a 52-yard drive and directing the Frogs, with Dike, Lasater, Jim Shofner and Jack Spikes doing the carrying, to the other.

The 56-yard Lasater run came in the fourth period.

As the game ended the Frogs had rolled to the SMU three.

The Methodists never got closer to the TCU goal than the 22-yard line, that coming on a Frog fumble.

Meredith completed nine of 14 passes but he connected on only three the first three periods. The Frogs were crashing him, with the ends and corner linebackers forming a pincher and with the guards and tackles banging through to contain him when he was caught in the vise.

Meredith gained only eight yards running but was thrown for 64 yards in losses trying to pass, thus wound up with a net 56.

The Frogs rolled up 275 yards on the ground and 67 in the air. Southern Methodist had a minus 34 on the ground and 112 passing.

BASKETBALL WASTES NO TIME IN ASSUMING THE SPOTLIGHT

By The Associated Press

Now that the bulk of college football is over for 1957, college basketball wastes no time taking over the spotlight this week.

There have been scattered games the last 10 days, including the City of Richmond (Ind) tourney, but Dec. 1 is recognized as the official opening of the dribble season.

And what an opening week. Unlike other years, so-called warmup games are at a minimum as virtually all major teams take the floor, with many intersectional contests on tap.

North Carolina, unbeaten in 32 games in sweeping to the National Collegiate (NCAA) championship last year, doesn't open until Saturday afternoon against Clemson, but Kansas, beaten by North Carolina in triple overtime in the NCAA final, plays tomorrow against Oklahoma State.

This promises to be a bangup affair. Kansas, 24-3 last year and ranked second to North Carolina in the final Associated Press poll, was beaten by State, then known as the Oklahoma Aggies, last year and is out to trounce Hank Iba's Cowboys. Big Wilt Chamberlain, an All-America, again will lead the Jayhawks.

Kentucky, ranked No. 3 last year, and Southern Methodist, No. 4, also will play Monday in two intersectional affairs. Kentucky, 23-5 in 1956-7, entertains Duke while SMU is at Minnesota. Rice, expected to replace SMU as Southwest Conference champion this year, also takes the floor Monday, meeting New Mexico A&M. Seattle, No. 5 last year and featuring big Elgin Baylor, is the only one of the top ten not to see action opening week. The Chieftains open a week from Monday, Dec. 9, against Portland State.

Louisville, No. 6, is at Evansville Monday; West Virginia, No. 7, opens Tuesday against Virginia Military; Vanderbilt, No. 8, takes on Sewanee Monday; Oklahoma City, No. 9, tangles with Houston Monday and St. Louis, No. 10, opens Saturday against New Mexico A?M.

Michigan State, the Big Ten co-champion which also forced North Carolina into triple overtime in the semifinals of the NCAA tourney opens on Monday, too, along with Illinois, Indiana, Purdue, Wisconsin and Northwestern. Michigan State entertains Butler, Narquette is at Illinois, Ohio Univ. at Indiana, Miami (Ohio) at Purdue, South Dakota at Wisconsin and Northwestern at Western Michigan.

Texas Tech, eligible to compete for the Southwestern Conference title this year for the first time, also opens Monday against Abilene Christian.

Contend For Regular Jobs

Two freshmen at HCJC, Jerry McPeters (left) of Lovington, N. M., and Mike Musgrove of Big Spring are competing for regular jobs on the HCJC basketball team, which plays Decatur here Tuesday night. McPeters is an even six feet while Musgrove stands 5-10.

Crusaders Win Over Eagles

WORCESTER, Mass., Nov. 30 (AP)—A hard-hitting Holy Cross eleven churned through the mud in the second half to defeat Boston College 14-0 today in a driving rainstorm at puddle-filled Fitton Field.

The fired-up Crusaders cashed a Boston College fumble and a pass interception for touchdowns and added a safety while dashing the Eagles' hopes for any possible bowl bid.

Al Turrin, a 6-3, 210-pound senior center from the Bronx, N.Y., set up both Holy Cross touchdowns. He recovered a fumble in the third period and then intercepted a pass to put the Crusaders on the Eagles' 13 in the finale.

Tom Greene, Holy Cross' fine junior quarterback, dived into the end zone from one-yard out for the first tally. Later in the period, end Dick Berardino blocked Don Allard punt and the ball rolled out of the end zone for a safety.

Turrin intercepted an Allard pass on the BC 25 and returned to the 13 midway through the finale. Halfback Ed Hayes carried twice and a personal foul put the ball on the 2 whence fullback Dick Surrette banged across the goal.

Mal Anderson Beats Merv Rose

ADELAIDE, Australia, Nov. 30 (AP)—Mal Anderson looks like the No. 1 tennis player in Australia, successor to Lew Hoad and the toughest obstacle in the Davis Cup challenge round next month.

The 22-year-old cattle rancher from near Brisbane virtually ansured himself a double Davis Cup role by beating Mervyn Rose today for the South Australian Championship 7-5, 6-8, 4-6, 6-2, 6-4.

The victory, marking his first state championship, was almost as brilliantly executed as his triumph over Ashley Cooper last September for the U. S. title at Forest Hills.

ENGINEERS ARE SHOCKED, 7-0

By MERCER BAILEY

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 30 (AP)—Theron Sapp, a fast, powerfull fullback blasted Georgia Tech's defenses repeatedly today and upset the Engineers 7-0 in their season's ending football game.

The upset victory was Georgia's first over Tech since 1948 and the Bulldogs' first in Atlanta since All-America Charlie Trippi ran wild in 1945.

Sapp, called the bomber by his teammates, broke his neck in a high school diving accident and once gave up football. But today he flashed and smashed like a lad with bones of steel.

On Georgia's scoring drive, late in the third period, Sapp carrived on seven of the last eight plays. He went over on the fourth down from the 1, sliding off right tackle when Tech's line massed for an up-the-middle power play.

Georgia whipped Tech up front, with center Dave Lloyd, tackle Nat Dye and guard Cicero Lucas the big men. And Tech had no runner with the pile-driving power and speed of Sapp, who gained 91 yards in 23 carries.

Tech, a 6½-point pre-game favorite, got the breaks in this traditionally bitter clash with its cross-state rival but, unlike Yellow Jacket teams of previous years, could not cash them in for points.

Twice in the first period short Bulldog punts gave Tech the possession in Georgia territory but the Engineers were unable to crack the determined Bulldog defense.

Cotton Bowl Game To Start An Hour Later

DALLAS, Nov. 30 (AP)—The Cotton Bowl football game this year will have a starting time of 2:30 p.m. (CST), an hour later than in the past, Secretary Howard Grubbs announced today.

The change was necessitated by the television commitment. CBS is the new sponsor for the Cotton Bowl broadcast will come when the Orange Bowl telecast is over.

NBC, which had been telecasting the Cotton Bowl, went to the Sugar Bowl this year.

Bear Bryant Won't Talk On Alabama

HOUSTON, Nov. 30 (AP)—Paul (Bear) Bryant, football coach at Texas A&M, said today he had no comment to make on his possible move to Alabama University.

Watching the Army-Navy game on television in his hotel suite, Bryant said:

"I do not plan to make any comment the rest of the day on that."

Austin Favored To Meet Abilene - Amarillo Winner

By The Associated Press

Austin upset Corpus Christi Ray 26-14 Saturday in the surprise of the weekend in Texas schoolboy football.

Bobby Nunis ran an intercepted pass 45 yards for a touchdown and a kickoff 87 yards for another in the clash of previously undefeated, untied teams. Ray was favored going into the Class AAAA bidistrict tilt, but the winner is expected to provide a favorite for the finals from the south.

Abilene and Amarillo play next week and the victor should be the other Class AAAA finalist.

Dallas Highland Park, once-beaten, slammed Dallas Crozier Tech, previously sporting a perfect record, 26-7 in another AAAA bidistrict game.

Garland, defending Class AAA champion, walloped Gainesville 53-8 in a first round battle. Garland will play Cleburne in the quarterfinal game next Saturday at 2 p.m.

Nederland, the only undefeated, untied team left in Class AAA and a favorite from the South, slammed El Campo 49-7 in bidistrict play Saturday.

Nederland will meet Brenham Friday at 8 p.m.

Sweetwater whipped Breckenridge 18-13 in another top Class AAA game. The victory makes Sweetwater a favorite to battle it out with Garland for the northern final playoff berth.

Bellaire and Port Arthur will play at Houston at 2 p.m. Saturday in the Class AAAA quarterfinals.

Dallas Highland Park meets Wichita Falls at Wichita Falls Saturday afternoon in Class AAAA.

Levelland and Kermit tied 21-21 in Class AAA bidistrict, but Kermit won on penetrations 5-3.

Kermit Winner On Penetrations

LEVELLAND, Tex., Nov. 30 (AP)—The Kermit Yellow Jackets and the Levelland Lobos fought to a 21-21 deadlock in a state high school football class AAA deadlock today with the visitors awarded a victory by virtue of penetrations.

Kermit punched inside the Levelland 20-yard line five times while Levelland made the Kermit 20 on only three occasions. Kermit will meet Sweetwater next weekend, the latter having downed Brackenridge 18-13 today.

Quarterback Jack Probst, Halfback James Williams and back Joe Harrison rammed over touchdowns for Kermit and Harrison also added the three conversions.

End Jackie Ballew, quarterback Doug Cannon and end Jerry Garrison scored for the hosts with Mack Tubb booting three extra points.

Garland Crushes Gainesville, 53-8

GARLAND, Tex., Nov. 30 (AP)—Garland, defending state Class AAA champion, slaughtered Gainesville 53-8 in bidistrict play today.

Jon Overstreet intercepted a Leopard pass early in the game and four plays later ran 24 yards for the first Garland touchdown. From then on, the issue was never in doubt.

Chock Bailey scored three times for the winners.

Highland Park Whips Tech, 26-7

DALLAS, Nov. 30 (AP) — Reed Johnson scored three times today as Dallas Highland Park whipped Crozier Tech 26-7. It avenged Highland Park's only loss, an early season defeat by Crozier Tech, and was the first loss for Tech.

Johnson scored on a 12-yard run, a 24-yard run with a pass from Jack Collins, and a 14-yard dash. Bobby Reed passed 16 yards to John Seals for another Highland Park touchdown.

Tech scored when Freddie Greer went 21 yards on a reverse.

Nederland Grabs No. 1 Rating, 49-8

NEDERLAND, Tex., Nov. 30 (AP)—Nederland's Bulldogs, slowed to a crawl in the first half by their own fumbles, scored at will in the second half to rout outmanned El Campo, 49-8, in a Class AAA bidistrict playoff game here today.

Nederland, champion of Dist. 11—and top-rated team in its class, will meet Brenham Friday at 8 p.m.

The ground - minded Bulldogs took to the air for three of their touchdowns. Halfback Mike Johnson passed for two, hitting halfback Fred Melder for 19 yards and end James Street for 23. Melder then passed 23 yards to Jim Keeling for another.

Sweetwater Mustangs Skim By Breckenridge, 18-13

BRECKENRIDGE, Tex., Nov. 30 (AP)—The Sweetwater Mustangs, recovering five of their opponents' fumbles and turning two of them into touchdowns, trounced the Breckenridge Buckaroos 18-13 today in a Class AAA high school football playoff.

With the victory, Sweetwater climbed into a favorite's position to eventually meet Garland in a North Texas showdown.

The Mustangs displayed a strong ground game, netting 209 yards on the ground and 16 first downs. They completed two out of five passes for an additional 36 yards.

The Bucks ground out 14 first downs on 118 yards passing and 113 yards rushing. The hosts completed eight out of 12 passing attempts.

Breckenridge broke the scoring ice early in the second quarter when End Ronnie Payne grabbed a pass from Buck quarterback Bobby Goswick and ran 25 yards for a touchdown.

Late in the same quarter Sweetwater evened it up. The Mustangs pounced on a Buck fumble on the latter's 20 and fullback James Parker went over a few plays later from the 1-yard line. Sweetwater scored again in the third period to top off a 70-yard march, aided by a 15-yard penalty deep in Buckaroo territory. Parker blasted over from the one.

Recovery of another Breckenridge fumble, this one on the home team's 45, set up the winning touchdown. Right halfback Eddie Scott took the ball over from the five.

The Bucks' last score came in the fourth quarter. Halfback Joe Ed Pesch scampered 24 yards around left end on a pitchout for the touchdown. Glenn Dixon's extra point try was good, the only successful attempt of the game.

Corpus Christi Ray Ousted By Austin Maroons, 26-14

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., Nov. 30 (AP) — Bobby Nunis ran an intercepted pass 45 yards for a touchdown and a kickoff 87 yards for another as Austin crushed Corpus Christi Ray, 26-14, in Class AAAA bi-district action today.

Ray, undefeated and untied this year before the Maroons came along had the best of it statistically but it couldn't offset the great running of Nunis.

Most of the Ray yardage was in midfield. The Texans made 16 first downs to nine and gained 220 running compared with 122 for Austin.

Austin scored twice in the second period, one on Nunis' runback of an intercepted Arthur Foster pass, and another on a 65-yard drive with Don Jester circling end the final five yards. Jester kicked two extra points.

Ray scored in the third period on five plays that covered 65 yards, with Fritz Miller ambling the last 22 yards. Bobby Oliver kicked the first of two extra points.

Then Nunis broke the Texan's back by taking the kickoff and streaking 87 yards for a touchdown from which Ray couldn't recover.

Austin scored its final touchdown in the fourth period when Mike Cotton broke through the right side for 29 yards and scooted across.

Ray's last touchdown followed quickly on a 62-yard drive that included two personal foul penalties against Austin. Foster cracked the middle from a yard out for the touchdown.

Clemson Dazzles Hurricane, 45-6

GREENVILLE, S. C., Nov. 30 (AP)—Sophomore quarterback Harvey White threw three touchdown passes and broke an Atlantic Coast Conference record here today as his aerial artistry carried Clemson to a 45-6 victory over Furman.

White completed 13 of 24 passes for 258 yards to break an ACC record for a single game. He also ran his own season's offensive total to 1,038 yards for another record. His three touchdown passes made 11 for the year, topping the previous mark of 8 set by South Carolina's Johnny Gramling in 1953.

49ers, Giants Clash In Pro Grid Feature

By JOHN CHANDLER
The Associated Press

The San Francisco 49ers and New York Giants meet today at Yankee Stadium in one of the key games of the National Football League schedule that finds Cleveland and Baltimore, leading the Eastern and Western Conferences, playing on their home gridirons.

Five games are on tap, with the Los Angeles Rams at Baltimore, the Chicago Cardinals at Cleveland, the Pittsburge Steelers at Philadelphia, and the Washington Redskins and the Bears at Chicago.

Baltimore leads the West by half a game, the same as Cleveland's margin over the Giants in the East.

The Detroit Lions, who thumped the Green Bay Packers 18-6 on Thursday, climbed to within a half game of the Colts. The 49ers are a game behind Baltimore, while the Rams and Bears both are two games behind.

Thus, it's a "must" game at Yankee Stadium for San Francisco, as well as New York, to keep within striking distance in the race for the playoffs. Since both can't win, a tie would be of little help, either.

After today's firing, only two games remain for all clubs excepting Pittsburgh and the Chicago Cards, who have lost three, and are virtually out of the race.

If the Giants and Browns keep on winning, they can settle the Eastern title when they meet at the stadium Dec. 15. In addition to the games this afternoon, the Giants play at Pittsburgh next Saturday, while the Browns are at Detroit on Sunday. Cleveland is 7-1-1 for the year, New York has a 7-2 record.

Baltimore heads West for its last two games, at San Francisco next Sunday, and at Los Angeles Dec. 15. Detroit winds up Dec. 15 against the Bears in Chicago. If Baltimore, with a 6-3 record, falters, Commissioner Bert Bell may have to flip some coins to arrange a play-off of a possible two or three-way tie in the West. Detroit is 6-4, San Francisco 5-4, and the Rams and Bears both 4-5.

Plainview Downs Midland, 63-51

MIDLAND, Nov. 30 (SC) — The Plainview Bulldogs opened their 1957-58 basketball season by knocking off the Midland Bulldogs here Friday night, 63-51.

The going was very close until the final period, when Plainview pulled away. Plainview led at half time, 33-30.

Bill Reeves, up from the B team, scored 21 points for the visitors.

ODESSA, ABILENE WILL HOST BOXING MEETS

FORT WORTH, Nov. 30 (AP)—The annual Texas Golden Gloves Tournament will be held here Feb. 13, 14, 15 and 17, with boxers from 18 regional centers competing for state championships.

The state meet will be shortened by one night. Also, the field probably will be larger than in preceding years. The new arrangement calls for both semifinals and finals on Monday night, Feb. 17.

New regional centers have been added at Sherman and Victoria. For the first time in 18 years, Beaumont will not have a tournament.

Other tournaments will be held at Austin, Amarillo, Abilene, Brownwood, Corpus Christi, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Houston, Odessa, Galveston, Greenville, Harlingen, San Antonio, Waco and Wichita Falls.

The regional tournaments will be held from mid-January through early February.

Competition in the Golden Gloves is open to amateurs from 16 to 27. Winners in the state tournament will be sent to the Touranament of Champions at Chicago late in February.

Boxers may qualify for the state meet through the regional tournament nearest their residence. Most regional tournaments will have two or three classes of competition, but only the open class champions qualify for the state meet.

Eagles Rebound To Tip Winters

ABILENE, Nov. 29 (SC)—Abilene, rebounding from a previous loss from Winters, came back hard and fast in the last half to stop the Blizzards, 52-33, here Friday night in a non-conference basketball game.

Randy Hurst scored 17 points as the Eagles came back from the halftime intermission with only a four-point edge, 24-20, and poured on hot defensive coal to melt the Blizzards hopes. Winters scored only 11 points the last half.

The Eagles play Monterey of Lubbock next Monday night.

IN BI-DISTRICT

Amarillo Sandies Defeat Paschal

FORT WORTH, Nov. 30 (SC)—Paschal fell before the speedy Amarillo Sandies here Friday night, 26-6, dropping by the wayside in Class AAAA bi-district play.

The Sandies held a bare edge over the Panthers in statistics. They gained 16 first downs, while Paschal had 13. In yards rushing, Amarillo ground out 258; Paschal trailed with 247 yards. Connecting on 50 per cent of their passes, on four of eight tries, the Sandies took 86-yards air-wise. Three completions on ten tosses netted 45 yards for Paschal.

Turning an early fumble into a scoring break, the Sandies covered a bobble right after the kickoff on the Panther 38-yard line. On the second play, quarterback Soapy Sudberry tossed to David Russell on the 20, who romped over for the first touchdown. Conversion try failed.

Early in the second, Amarillo blocked a punt on the Panther 11 to take over. On the fourth down from the three yard stripe, Dickie Polson smashed over, then converted for an inspiring 13-0 lead.

Turning breaks into scores, the Sandies intercepted a pass on the 36. A play later, the sparkling Polson danced 64 yards to score, giving Amarillo a 19-0 headway by halftime.

Paschal marched 92 yards for their only score in the third period, Stell dashing around left end 39 yards for the end zone. The Panthers' conversion try was no good.

The Sandies wrapped it up in the fourth, driving 89 yards for their final touchdown. Russell smacked over from the three. Running passes by Russell and Polson helped the drive along, and a pitch from Sudberry to Russell carried down to the five-yard line to set up the score.

Seymour Rips Lockney, 27-6

SNYDER, Nov. 30 (SC) — Seymour's Panthers, sleek and deadly, scored on the first play of the game, then went ahead to rip Lockney 27-6 in a Class AA regional contest here Friday.

Seymour doubled Lockney's first down output, 13-6. The Panthers clawed out 214 yards rushing, Lockney 133. One completion of five pass attempts netted 16 yards for Lockney; Seymour connected on four of nine for 61 yards.

Lockney gained its only score early in the second quarter to trail 7-6. Dickie Barton climaxed a 59-yard advance with a nine yard trip to the end zone. That was the score at halftime.

Eddie Syptak, who had scored on a 56-yard carry on the first play, quarterback Billy Ryan, end Don Pollard, and Larry Martin tallied one each to send Seymour into the state quarter-finals against McCamey next Saturday afternoon. Bill Moss kicked three of four point conversions attempted.

Baugh Will Coach Jaycee All-Stars

JACKSON, Miss. Nov. 30 (AP) — Top junior college football players from across the nation converge upon Jackson next week for the second annual All America East-West game here Dec. 7. The players will begin practice as teams Monday.

Baird Back Halted

Pro Grid Loop Holds First Draft Monday

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30 (AP) — The National Football League holds its preliminary draft session here Monday followed by an executive meeting of club owners which could end the squabble between players and owners over the Players Assn.

NFL Commissioner Bert Bell says the first items on the agenda of the one day meeting will be the bonus choice and the first four rounds of the annual 30 round player draft. Bell initiated this early preliminary draft to meet Canadien League competition for the 1957 graduating college talent.

After the draft, Bell and the owners will meet to discuss the Players Assn., a new six-year schedule format, recommendations for constitutional changes made to the league by a congressional committee, and an exhibition game schedule. Details of possible playoffs in the event of conference ties and plans for the league's championship game also will be ironed out.

The Chicago Cardinals automatically get the bonus choice this year as the only team remaining in the annual out-of-the-hat draw in which each winner drops out until every club has won. The bonus choice was initiated in 1947, when the Chicago Bears selected Bob Fenimore, Oklahoma A&M back. Last year Green Bay won and took Notre Dame's Paul Hornung. The bonus is negotiating rights to any draft-eligible player in the country.

The Cardinals reportedly will select King Hill, Rice quarterback as their bonus player. Hill, a 210-pounder, is the key man on the Rice team which upset Texas A&M. An all-round athlete, Hill is a fine passer, excellent punter, swift and powerful runner, kicks extra points and stars on defense.

Other possibilities as bonus choice include Walt Kowalczyk, Michigan State halfback; Phil King, Vanderbilt halfback; John Crow, Texas A&M back; Lou Michaels, Kentucky tackle; Jim Ninowski, Michigan State quarterback; Charles Krueger, Texas A&M tackle; Don Currie, Michigan State center.

Immediately after the Cardinals make their bonus pick, the league will start the draft with the 12 teams selecting in order, from last to first according to the standings after games of Dec. 1. The Cardinals, in the Eastern Conference cellar, conceivably could get the bonus and the first draft choice.

In all, 49 players will be chosen. The mere drafting of a player doesn't automatically give a team that player. A draft selection represents negotiating rights to the player picked. It is up to the clubs to go out and sign their choices.

Some of the top players, in addition to those mentioned as possible bonus choices, available to the pros include:

Bill Krisher, Oklahoma guard; Clendon Thomas, Oklahoma back, and Garland Kennon, Texas tackle.

Vols Accept Bid To Gator

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 30 (AP) —Tennessee pounded out a 20-6 football victory over Vanderbilt today and immediately accepted a bid to the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 28.

The slashing runs of seniors Bobby Gordon and Tommy Bronson produced three touchdowns for the Vols to overcome a 6-0 halftime deficit.

A shivering crowd of 38,000 saw Gordon and Bronson smash through the bulky Vanderbilt line almost at will for two touchdowns in the third period and another in the fourth.

Vanderbilt jumped off to a first quarter lead on the strength of a 61-yard punt return by Phil King. The gallop put the Commodores on Tennessee's 22 and five plays later quarterback Boyce Smith sneaked over from the 1.

Tennessee made only one threat in the first half and it died when Jimmy Ray intercepted Gordon's pass in the Vanderbilt end zone.

But the Vols came out with renewed determination after the intermission and marched 48 yards in eight plays for the first score, Bronson plunging from the 1.

On the ensueing kickoff, Bronson sped down and grabbed the ball on Vandy's 24. Tennessee scored in five plays, Gordon racing off tackle four yards for the touchdown.

Gordon, who netted 91 yards in 23 carries, raced 26 yards for Tennessee's final six-pointer. The score came early in the fourth quarter and it capped a 72-yard drive in which Gordon and Bronson alternated with the ball. Burklow converted.

Promised Land Wins

BALTIMORE, Nov. 30 (AP)— Promised Land, still hot after winning stakes victories the three previous Saturdays, won the $50,000 Pimlico Special today in a photo finish over Tick Tock. Third Brother was third and Swoon's Son last in the four-horse field.

PORTLAND, Ore.—Archie Moore, 199, San Diego, knocked out Roger Rischer, 184, Oakland, fourth round.

SAN DIEGO, Calif.—Don Jordan, 141, Los Angeles, knocked out Ray Portilla, 136, Houston, sixth round.

Gail Wins 1st Regional Title

PYOTE, Nov. 30 (SC)—Gail's Coyotes smashed to their first regional six-man crown in ten years here Thanksgiving day, beating Dell City, 64-42.

Climaxing an undefeated season which saw the Coyotes wade through a tough non-conference schedule, then win their district handily, the Gail sextet made it 11 wins in a row. A game with Union, also an undefeated sextet, was stopped because of a sandstorm.

The 7-B champs were paced by Reuben Vaughn, who scored 28 points on three touchdowns and five extra point conversions, worth two each. He kicked five of seven attempts.

Teammate Bernie Massingill followed closely behind with 24 points. Other scorers with one TD each were Raymond Walton and Loyd Ramsey.

Outstanding man for the Dell City squad was Jim Faulks, who tossed three touchdown passes to teammates.

The Pack trailed only briefly in the first quarter, 12-6, then broke it open for a 30-12 advantage at one time.

Dell City defeated Pyote in bi-district play, while Gail was stopping Sterling City, 26-6, last week.

Baylor, SMU Land 3 Each On West All-Star Squad

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 30 (AP)— Baylor, Southern Methodist and Idaho each landed three players on the West squad for the annual East-West football game to be played here Dec. 28.

The squad, announced today, also included two each from Stanford, Utah and College of the Pacific. Single representatives come from Texas, Texas Tech, Texas Christian, California, Washington, Arkansas, Oregon State, Colorado and San Francisco State.

Guards, tackles and centers will average 220 pounds on the squad selected by the West's head coach, Jack Curtice of Utah, and his assistants, Tommy Prothro of Oregon State and Sam Boyd of Baylor.

The backfield includes such star performers as Bob Stransky of Colorado, Joe Francis of Oregon State and Jim Jones of Washington. Quarterbacks, selected were Jack Douglas of Stanford and Tom Flores of College of the Pacific.

The squad includes: End Willard Dewveall, SMU; Tackles—Bob Oliver, Baylor; Jerry Corselison, SMU; Garland Kennon, Texas; Guards—Clyde Ledbetter, Baylor; Charles Moore, Texas Tech. Centers—Larry Coward, Baylor; and Backs — Charles Jackson, SMU; Jim Shofner, TCU; and Gerald Nesbitt, Arkansas.

Halimi Reigns As No. 1 Boxer Among Bantams

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 30 (AP)—Alphonse Halimi, French Algerian bantamweight, today was recognized as the world's 118 -- pound champion by the National Boxing Assn.

Halimi, holder of the European title, recently decisioned Raul Macias, Mexico, who had been recognized as world champ by the NBA.

The NBA ratings committee, headed by Fred J. Saddy, also designated Halimi as the Boxer of the Month. It listed Macias as the No. 1 contender in the bantamweight division.

Heavyweight Tommy "Hurricase" Jackson of New York, and Miguel Berrios, featherweight from Puerto Rico, were withdrawn from the NBA classifications.

Gilbert H. Jackson, NBA president, said recognition of Jackson was withdrawn after he was stopped by Eddie Machen, the No. 1 contender for heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson's crown. The NBA president said Jackson is in danger of serious physical injury and should retire permanently.

Jackson said Berrios recently underwent eye surgery and "will require close attention.

Jarnigan Is New Buffalo Mentor

CANYON, Tex., Nov. 30 (AP) — Frank Kimbrough will become a full time athletic director at West Texas College and line Coach Clark Jarnagin will succeed him as head football coach Jan. 1.

Dr. James Cornette, West Texas president, said today Jarnagin would have a free hand in selecting assistants.

Kimbrough was head coach and athletic director last season when the school won 7 and lost 3.

Lightweight Titlist Tries Joey Lopes On Wednesday

CHICAGO, Nov. 30 (AP)—Lightweight champion Joe Brown makes his third title defense Wednesday in a 15-round scrap with wiry Joey Lopes, the No. 7 contender.

The fight at Chicago Stadium will be televised nationally by ABC at 9 p.m. CST., with Chicago blacked out. There will be no radio broadcast.

Portugal-born Lopes, who has called Sacramento, Calif., his home since he was 5, gained his title shot by holding the champ from New Orleans to a 10-round draw in an overweight match at Chicago Stadium Aug. 21.

Lopes was given a 49-45 edge by one judge under the same five-point must system to be used in the championship bout, but the other two officials called the bout even and it went as a split decision.

Lopes, 27, came up through the amateur ranks, winning the AAU and Golden Gloves featherweight crowns in 1948. As a pro, since 1949, he has won 43 fights, 16 by knockouts, lost 12 and fought two draws. This year he has registered knockouts over Noel Humphries, Hoacine Khalfi and Manuel Kid Castra, all in Sacramento. He dropped a 10-rounder April 3 in Washington, D. C. to Orlando Zulueta.

Brown, 31, scored a 15-round KO over Zuleuta on June 19 in Denver in his last title defense. He won the crown from Wallace "Bud" Smith on Aug. 24, 1956, at New Orleans although fighting the last 13 rounds with a broken hand.

Brown kayoed Smith in the 11th in defense of his 135-pound title last Feb. 13 at Miami Beach. His record is 67-14-9 with 28 knockouts.

RICE OWLS TOP-RATED IN SW CAGE SCRAMBLE

By The Associated Press

The Southwest Conference basketball campaign shoves off Monday with everybody talking about Rice but also eyeing TCU and Texas A&M.

Rice, with nine lettermen and losing only one man from the entire 1957 squad, is a top favorite to win the championship and rank high in the nation.

SMU, champion three years in a row and one of the best in the country last season, has only two lettermen but probably the best sophomore crop in the league. The Methodists, however, aren't expected to strongly contend for the title.

Texas A&M, with eight lettermen, a new coach—Bob Rogers, who was at East Texas State last year—and with a good big boy for the first time, is expected to improve its 1957 finish greatly. Wayne Lawrence is a 6-8 sophomore.

TCU has seven lettermen and plenty of height. H. E. Kirchner is a six foot 10 center. Ronnie Stevenson, who scored 343 points last season, is back.

Texas Tech, making its start in the conference, is one of four teams that play opening games Monday night. Rice is host to New Mexico A&M, SMU will be in Minneapolis to play Minnesota, Arkansas engages Oklahoma at Norman and Texas Tech entertains Abilene Christian.

SMU takes on Iowa at Iowa City Tuesday, TCU plays Austin College at Fort Worth, Texas meets Texas A&I at Austin and Baylor plays McMurry at Waco.

Arkansas is home to New Mexico A&M Wednesday.

TCU plays McMurry Friday, Texas engages Trinity, A&M opens against St. Marys at San Antonio, Baylor will be in Salt Lake City playing Utah and Rice and Oklahoma City University meet at Houston.

Texas Tech plays Hamlin at Lubbock Saturday, Arkansas will be at Tulsa and Baylor again meets Utah.

Baylor figures to be improved over its 6-6 showing of last season with six lettermen returning, among them Tom Kelly, 6 foot, 4 center, who looped in 332 points.

Arkansas has seven lettermen but lacks height. Texas has seven lettermen and is in the same boat. Texas Tech, one of the few teams to beat SMU last year, has six lettermen and a very bright sophomore prospect—Pat Noakes, a 6 foot, 10 star from Fort Worth.

Rice looks fully as strong as SMU was last season featuring its 6 foot, 10 Temple Tucker and 6 foot, 9 Tom Robitaille, and with sizable fellows in 6-6 Willie Preston and 6-5 Gary Griffin. There is good speed in a quartet of veteran guards—Gerry Thomas, Dale Ball, Jay McIlvain and Bob Higgins. Football star King Hill is good at either forward or guard. The only sophomore on the squad, Steven Galloway, brings improvement in outside shooting.

IN LOCAL GYM

Jayhawks, Decatur Tangle Tuesday

Decatur Baptist College will present the third basketball challenge —by past experience, a much stronger threat—for the HCJC cagers next Tuesday night in the local college gym at 7:30 p.m.

The Jayhawks won their first two games with expected ease over Lubbock Christian and Sayre Junior College, both here. Decatur will be in Big Spring for the game following a clash with Odessa College Monday night in the Ector County city.

Rarely an eye-catching ball club, Decatur winds up each season as one of the top junior college teams in the state. Last year the Indians won the state championship. They are usually a well-balanced squad, with good rebounders, and are seldom out-hustled. Too, they are the type team likely to be underestimated.

The Hawks resume workouts this week following the brief holiday let-up. A second scrimmage with the high school Steers was cancelled last Wednesday.

On December 5, 6, and 7, the Howard County college team will be in Tempie for its annual tournament. The college quintet is defending champion, winner each season of the three-year-old tourney.

Top performers in last week's contest with Sayre, were Bennie Carver, Tommy Zinn, and Bill Borries.

Gilbert Bell, down with the flu for a few days, saw a good deal of activity and is in fair shape for the Decatur game.

Larry Lockett is still absent with a bursitis condition in his arm.

Biggest Cager Set To Debut

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 30 (AP)— Jean Claude Lefebvre, a French farm boy now hailed as America's biggest college basketball player, makes his debut Monday as starting center and star attraction for Gonzaga University.

Lefebvre, 20, stands 7-feet, 3-inches tall, weighs 280 pounds and will play the "low post" position near the basket in the offense Coach Hank Anderson plans for the opener here with College of Idaho.

The freshman from the outskirts of Paris scarcely heard of basketball until two years ago and Anderson has cautioned excited Gonzaga alumni not to expect too much too soon.

"He's just a beginner at the American style and has a lot to learn," he said. "But he's coming along real well, is a good shot and has some pretty fair moves. He'll be tough."

Even without Lefebvre, Gonzaga has its best team in years and the handsome Frenchman, while showing flashes of potential stardom, has found the going rugged in practice scrimmages.

Though very popular with teammates, they haven't given him an inch in practice. He has been "hipped out" of position on rebounds, been double and triple-teamed on offense. In two recent 20-minute scrimmages he scored 19 points, 10 in one, 9 in the other.

Anderson forecasts a tremendous future for him, if he gets some timing, a little speed, learns to be more aggressive and takes better advantage of his size. Lefebvre said the American game is much more aggressive than the European style.

Louisville Named As Drake's Foe

EL PASO, Nov. 30 (AP) — It will be University of Louisville vs. Drake University in the Sun Bowl football game here Jan. 1, matching teams with almost identical records and both strong on offense.

Louisville was selected Friday night to bring its 8-1, high-scoring record to El Paso for a clash with the Missouri Valley Conference team that won seven and lost one. Drake was picked last week.

The Louisville Cardinals finished the season Nov. 22 after scoring 280 points to 85 for the opposition. They are coached by Frank Camp.

Louisville lost only to Kent State 13-7. Drake, which rolled up 165 points to 78, was defeated by Wichita 14-7 but beat Iowa Teachers, South Dakota State, North Texas State, Washington, Mo., Bradley, Iowa State and West Texas State.

Ike Neutral In Big Game

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Noov. 30 (AP) —President Eisenhower today "scrupulously observed" neutrality in the Army-Navy football game—he said so himself—but he sent the Army a special victory plug.

Eisenhower, recuperating at his country home from the slight stroke he suffered Monday, arranged to watch the game by television.

As commander in chief of all the armed forces, the President sent off telegrams to the coaches of both teams, extending his best wishes. But he couldn't resist an extra word of encouragement for the cadets. He played halfback for Army himself more than 40 years ago until a knee injury forced him to give up the game.

To Navy Coach Eddie Erdelatz Eisenhower sent this wire:

"Please extend my personal best wishes to each member of your squad as it goes into the big game today. I know that regardless of the outcome, every American will be proud of them and that they will richly deserve a 'well done.' Good luck to you and your team."

In his telegram to Army Coach Earl (Red) Blaik, Eisenhower at the outset quoted the wire he reported he had just sent to Erdelatz. Then the President added:

"The requirements of neutrality are thus scrupulously observed, but over a span of almost a half century, on the day of 'the game.' I have only one thought and one song: 'On brave old Army team. Warm regards."

Cosden Income, Net Up For First Half

Gross and net income totals, as well as earnings per share, continued to show gains for the first half of the fiscal year, according to Cosden Petroleum Corporation's quarterly report.

For the first six months ended Oct. 31, Cosden sales amounted to $47,945,192 as compared with $32,012,274 for the same period in 1956. This sharp increase, however, was due in part to the acquisition of additional properties, including Col-Tex and Onyx.

The net income was $3,025,111 as against $2,796,000. The earnings per share stood at $1.17 on 2,584,009 shares outstanding as against $1.08 per share for the comparable period of a year ago.

HIGHER RATE

Gross income for the first half was at the rate of nearly $96 million per year, and during the second quarter at the rate of $98 million per year. With abatement of the retail gasoline price war and prospective new outlets for Cosden products, it is still possible that Cosden will for the first time pass the $100 million sales mark before next April 30.

Cosden also set a new record during the first half, that of expenditures to acquire and develop new production. The figure was $7,732,000. During the six-months period Cosden got 23 new net wells and plugged eight net holes. Production for the first half stood at 973,000 barrels as against 647,614 for the same time a year ago.

THOMAS I. SHERIDAN JR.

NEW PROCESS PEAK

A total of 9,356,344 barrels of raw materials were processed and used in the first six months, far above the 6,319,049 of a year ago. (However the former Onyx refinery at Hawley figured in only one month of the comparative period a year ago. The Big Spring refinery gained half a million barrels.)

The military cut-back affected the aviation gasoline market to some extent, but asphalt sales boomed during the second quarter. Prospect of expanding markets is good when the pipeline from the Hawley refinery to Wichita Falls is completed, President R. L. Tollett, noted in his report.

SHERIDAN RESIGNS

Another item of interest in the report was the announcement that Thomas I. Sheridan Jr., effective today, becomes a member of the Cosden board succeeding his father, "Senator" Sheridan had been a member of the board since 1948, but his interest in Cosden dates back to the days when he served as counsel of the Bondholders' Protective Committee of Cosden Oil Corporation. A graduate of Fordham University law school, he served four years as assistant district attorney in New York and was a member of the state senate for 10 years during the tenure of Alfred E. Smith as governor. He also has held many high Catholic lay offices.

Cosden is by no means new to Tom Sheridan who has come here for several years with his father for the annual meetings, and also has found it possible to visit on other occasions.

Dawson Deep Well Dually Completed

A deep wildcat four miles south of Lamesa in Dawson County has been plugged and abandoned.

Meanwhile, operator plugged back a well recently completed in the Spraberry West Deep field and dual completed.

The duster is Texas No. 1 B. E. Miller. Operator gave up on it at a depth of 11,893 feet. Location is 1,979 from south and 660 from east lines, 17-36-5n, TP Survey.

Originally, the wildcat was slated for a 10,100-foot bottom, but operator received permission to deepen. No shows developed in the deeper regions, however.

The dual completion is Seaboard No. 14 Petterson. It fractured perforations from 6,783-87, 6,795-811, and 6,858-78 feet with 20,000 gallons and then pumped 142.39 barrels of oil and 11 per cent water. Gravity is 38.5 degrees, asd gas-oil ratio measured 329-1.

272 TOGETHER

The well is 15 miles southeast of Lamesa, 1,208 feet from north and 2,738 from west lines, 40-34-5n, TP Survey. Total depth is 7,575 feet, and top of the upper Spraberry zone is 6,660.

Last week, the well potentialed 130 barrels of oil from below 7,509 feet, which makes a combined potential of 272 barrels.

In the Welch field, Davison-Pembrook No. 4 Key acidized with 3,500 gallons and then pumped 61 barrels of oil and 60 per cent water in 24 hours. Gravity is 34 degrees.

The location is 660 from north and west lines, 3-C39, PSL Survey, and three miles northwest of Welch.

The hole bottoms at 4,950 feet, production is reached at 4,850, and perforations are from 4,850-86 feet.

Twelve miles southeast of Lamesa, Texas Crude B. L. McFarland No. 1-24 Riggan tried to regain lost circulation at a depth of 8,640 feet Saturday.

The wildcat is 660 from north and 2,210 from west lines, 24-34-5n, TP Survey.

Martin Venture

In Martin County, Husky-Pano Tech No. 1 W. M. Yates drilled Saturday at 2,370 feet in anhydrite and salt. The Devonian wildcat is 660 feet from south and west lines, Tract 22, League 263, Kent CSL Survey. The location is 10 miles southwest of Patricia, and a north offset to the Husky-Pasotech No. 1 Breedlove, recent Devonian discovery.

SMALL WELL IN STERLING

A new completion in Sterling County is the Gruber - Damron of Chrane No. 4 Hildebrand.

The well is in the Durham (Yates) field two miles south of Sterling City. It pumped nine barrels of 33-degree oil and five per cent water on 24-hour potential. Drillsite is 630 feet from north and 1,550 from east lines, 19-12, SPRR Survey. Total depth is 705 feet, and top of the pay section is 680 feet.

Houston Firm Given Permit

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP) — Transcontinental Gas & Pipe Line Co. of Houston won permission from the Federal Power Commission yesterday to make natural gas available for the first time to easters shore areas of Delaware and Maryland.

The commission modified a Sept. 20 decision by examiner Emery J. Woodall, deleting a proposal to let Transcontinental build and operate facilities for supplying fuel gas to be used by Virginia Electric Power Co. of Richmond.

A $53,714,000 expansion of Transcontinental's gas pipeline system was authorized. It will serve the new Delaware and Maryland areas through Eastern Shore Natural Gas Co. of Salisbury, Md. Eastern Shore was authorized to build facilities costing $3,045,000 to serve areas in the two states.

In consolidated proceedings, the commission scheduled a hearing for Jan. 6 on reopening of the Transcontinental case and its proposals to sell winter peaking gas to Atlantic Seaboard Corp. of Charleston, W. Va.

Wildcats Spotted In Three Areas

Wildcats have been located in three West Texas counties for immediate drilling.

In Tom Green County, Wilson Exploration No. 1 Mrs. G. O. Davis is a 5,000-foot wildcat 12 miles southeast of San Angelo. It is 1,980 north and 660 from west lines, 135-11, SPRR Survey.

Coroco Oil No. 1 TXL is a wildcat in Nolan County. Drillsite is 660 from north and east lines, 77-5, T&P Survey, and three miles north of Dora. It will test to 6,500 feet.

Rowan Oil No. 1 Ducek is staked in Runnels County seven miles northwest of Ballinger. It is slated for a 4,900-foot bottom. Drillsite is 330 from south and 2,350 from east lines of Section 13, Thomas Williamson Survey.

Finals Big Well

PHILADELPHIA — Completion of No. 5 SVXS as an oil producer in Venezuela's Lake Maracaibo Block No. 1 today was announced by the Venezuelan Sun Oil Company, Venezuelan Atlantic Refining Company and Seaboard Oil Company group. The well tested at the rate of 7,080 barrels a day of 32 degree gravity oil through a ¾-inch choke.

Rotary Drilling Operations Show First Substantial Gain

The first substantial gain in rotary drilling operations in the Permian Basin of West Texas and New Mexico in the past six months was noted during the 15-day period ending last Monday.

The increase also boosted the total to the highest point since Sept. 10.

The semi-monthly survey taken by Reed Roller Bit Co. revealed 461 active units last Monday, a gain of 22 over the Nov. 10 count. Until last week, the count had been steadily dropping since the first of April.

The total Nov. 10 was 439.

MOST ACTIVE

Lea County, N. M., still was the most active county with 72 rigs, an increase of only two. Ector led the Texas segment of the Basin with 36, although dropping one rig from the Nov. 10 count.

Other counties reporting 20 or more units included Andrews with 34, Crane with 28, Gaines with 21, Pecos with 23, Upton with 29, and Winkler with 31.

Howard County increased its activity by three to 10.

County-by-county, the entire Basin picture (with Nov. 10 totals in parenthesis) showed Andrews 34 (37), Borden 7 (8), Coke 2 (1), Cochran 2 (0), Concho 1 (0), Crane 28 (24), Crockett 6 (2), and Culberson 4 (0).

HOWARD UP

Also Dawson 7 (7), Dickens 2 (1), Ector 36 (37), Eddy 7 (8), Fisher 7 (4), Gaines 21 (19), Garza 6 (6), Hale 1 0), Hockley 3 (3), HOWARD 10 (7), Irion 1 (4), Jeff Davis 1 (1), Kent 5 (3), Lamb 2 (1), and Lea 72 (70).

Others include Lubbock 3 (3), Loving 6 (5), Lynn 1 (2), Martin 4 (3), Midland 8 (6), Mitchell 1 (2), Menard 1 (0), Nolan 10 (12), Pecos 23 (24), Reagan 2 (4), and Roosevelt 3 (1).

Also Reeves 2 (4), Runnels 9 (10), Scurry 13 (8), Schleicher 4 (1), Sterling 2 (0), Stonewall 8 (8), Sutton 3 (1), Tom Green 4 (3), Terry 4 (5), Terrell 2 (2), Upton 29 (27), Val Varde 1 (1), Ward 7 (10), Winkler 31 (31), Yoakum 12 (18), Spraberry Trend 20 (18), and Permain Basin totals 461 (439).

'Mr. Mack' Retires

W. O. McClendon closed out 27 years with Cosden on Saturday and hung up his lunch pail for good.

Starting today, Mr. and Mrs. McClendon, who reside at 305 Lincoln, will begin enjoying his retirement. A trip to Arkansas to visit Mrs. McClendon's mother is first on tap, to be followed by leisurely flower gardening and other activities.

"Mr. Mack" has been a carpenter for Cosden except for his first two months and since 1955 he has been supervisor of carpenters, bricklayers, painters and insulators. A native Texan, he lived for a time in Arkansas and Oklahoma, marrying Elva Blackwell is Octavia, Okla., in 1917. He taught school for a while, worked for an oil company and later moved to New Mexico.

The McClendons have two daughters, Mrs. Elva Phillips and Mrs. Mary Jane Miller, Fort Worth; one son, James William McClendon, a member of the Cosden family; and four grandchildren.

Engineer Booklet Being Compiled

The Permian Basin section of the Society of Petroleum Engineers of the AIME is sponsoring the publication of a directory of engineers in the petroleum field.

Letters have gone out to all oil companies, independent engineers, oil well service and supply companies operating in West Texas and southeast New Mexico. Any company or individual who has not received a letter and who wishes to be listed in the directory may write John R. Evans, Box 2476, Midland. Closing date for the directory is Dec. 12, 1957. Proceeds from sale of the directory will go to the technical library fund of the society.

Three Howard Pools Report Completions

New wells have been completed in three fields of Howard County, the Moore, Snyder, and Iatan East Howard pools.

The completion in the Iatan field is Fleming, Fleming Kimbell No. 8-F Denman. It pumped 90.75 barrels of oil and 1 per cent water in 24 hours. Gravity of the oil is 31 degrees. The well is 330 from south and west lines, 14-30-1s, TP Survey, and eight miles south of Coahoma.

The hole bottoms at 2,896 feet and top of the pay zone is 2,536 feet. Operator fractured with 10,000 gallons before taking potential.

SNYDER FIELD

In the Snyder field, Bond No. 5 TLM fractured with 37,500 gallons and then pumped 114.21 barrels of 30.1 degree oil in 24 hours. Location is five miles southeast of Coahoma, 990 from north and 1,650 Survey.

Top of the pay section is 2,660 feet, and seven-inch string is set at 2,616 feet. Total depth is 2,843 feet.

Ibex No. 7 Barnett finaled for a daily potential of 20 barrels of 34-degree oil and 80 per cent water, after fracturing with 10,000 gallons. It is in the Moore field, 330 from south and 998 from east lines, 21-33-1s, TP Survey.

Total depth is 3,100 feet, and top of the pay zone is 3,075 feet. Five and a half-inch string extends to the top of the pay zone.

In the Howard-Glasscock field, Guthrie No. 3-C Sarah Hyman cored below 1,245 feet Saturday. It is a project trying the Yates section, 330 feet from south and west lines of the northwest quarter, 89-29, WNW Survey.

Daniel To Attend Interstate Meet

TULSA, Nov. 30 (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel of Texas will be one of nine governors attending the Interstate Oil Compact's three-day meeting opening here Monday.

A special committee will report on effects of the oil imports of state oil conservation programs.

Gov. Raymond Gary of Oklahoma is chairman of the commission, a voluntary cooperating association of oil producing states dedicated to oil and gas conservation. Governors or their representatives compose the membership of 27 states.

E. O. Thompson, of the Texas Railroad Commission and chairman of the IOCC's legal committee will preside at a group discussion meeting. Participating will be John Hussey, Louisiana conservation commission, and Asst. Attys. Gen. James Ludlum of Texas and Samuel Freeman of Colorado.

Completions Now Past 14,000 Mark

AUSTIN, Nov. 30 (AP)—The Railroad Commission said today 166 oil wells and 23 gas wells were brought in this week in Texas.

Wildcatters completed were 7 oil and 1 gas well. Wells plugged totaled 104.

Oil well completions total 14,110 for the year compared to 14,929 wells last year. Gas wells this year totaled 1,707 compared to 1,626.

Some 64 dry holes were reported, a total of 6,850 for the year compared to 7,410.

The daily oil allowable today was 3,069,922 barrels compared to 3,063,918 a week ago, an increase of 6,004 barrels.

Mitchell Test Rates 67 bbls.

Col-Tex finaled the No. 5 Butler, in the Westbrook field of Mitchell County, for a daily potential of 67 barrels of oil.

The well is 330 feet from north and west lines, 26-26-1n, T&P Survey, three miles north and west lines, 26-28-1n, TP Survey, three miles north of Westbrook. Operator fraced with 21,000 gallons before taking potential. Oil was accompanied by 15 per cent water.

Total depth is 3,130 feet, with production reached at 2,955 feet, and perforations extend from 2,955-3,066 feet.

In the Iatan East Howard field, on the Mitchell side, Blue Danube No. 1 Schumacher cored at 2,571 feet at the end of the week.

The venture is four miles south of Iatan, 2,310 feet from south and west lines, 15-29-1s, TP Survey.

Borden Well Completed

The Texas Co. completed a well in the Jo-Mill (Spraberry) field of Borden County for 248.88 barrels of oil on 24-hour potential.

The well is Texas No. 16-A-NCT-2 Miller, about 15 miles southwest of Gail, and the flow was through a 42-64-inch choke. Oil tested 38.1 degrees. Location is 1,980 from north and 550 from east lines, 4-33-4n, T&P Survey.

Spraberry perforations extend from 7,512-52 feet.

BY SAVINGS

Magnolia Employes Hold Million Shares Of Stock

Magnolia Petroleum Company has announced that employes of Socony Mobil Oil Company, Inc., and of its major affiliates now own a million shares of Socony Mobil stock.

Magnolia, the southwestern affiliate of Socony Mobil, said that the total includes only those shares purchased through the employee savings plan. Many employees also own shares acquired outside the plan.

The million shares, amounting to slightly more than 2 per cent of some 48 million Socony Mobil shares outstanding, are owned by 20,000 employees of the Company and its affiliates in this country. Principal affiliates are General Petroleum Corporation, in the Far West, and Magnolia.

Although the savings plan shares are held by a trustee, each employee owner may direct the voting of his shares.

Some 38,000 of the Companies' 48,000 employees in the United States participate in the savings plan on a voluntary basis. They may invest up to 5 per cent of their pay in United States Government Bonds, Mutual Investment Funds, and Socony Mobil stock—or keep a cash account—in whatever proportions they desire. They also may change from one investment to another, and convert previous purchases into other securities. Company contributions reach 60 cents for every dollar allotted by the employee during his first 10 years, 80 cents for the next 10, and dollar for dollar after 20 years.

California Imports Under New Attack

HOUSTON, Nov. 30 (AP)—The oil industry must keep a separate set of supply and demand records for California.

Transport problems and other factors have forced the industry in recent years to add emphasis to a rather old practice of figuring the state's crude production and products demand separately from the rest of the nation.

California has complicated the problem. The state's crude oil production this year declined a fourth straight year but the state still lead the nation in increased demand for gasoline.

Since 1953 the state's annual crude output rate has declined over 14 million barrels. Its demand for gasoline alone has increased over 17 million barrels a year.

Such a combination of production decline and demand increase caused President Eisenhower's advisory committee on energy supplies and resources policy in May 1956 recommended that any efforts to limit foreign oil imports exclude all imports to California and the West Coast.

Administration officials said at the time the recommendation was made to permit desirable flexibility in California as the industry made adjustments needed during transition from a surplus to a deficit producing area.

The advisory committee reaffirmed its recommendation in late 1956 just before the Suez crisis halted government plans for voluntary efforts to limit imports. The West Coast exception was included, however, in President Eisenhower's order of last July 29 establishing the current voluntary curtailment program.

Independent oil operators, leaders in the fight against imports, now contend California imports have increased sharply since the July 29 presidential order. A Washington hearing was held this week to determine whether West Coast imports should continue to be excluded from quotas set under the voluntary program.

HEARING SET ON REQUEST

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30 (AP) — Whether the West Coast area shall be brought under the program for voluntary reduction of oil imports is expected to be decided in December.

President Eisenhower's cabinet committee on oil imports is scheduled to review the question and make its recommendations to him within two or three weeks.

Independent oil operators in California and the Southwest have asked that the voluntary program recommended by the cabinet committees for the areas east of the Rockies and put into effect last July, be extended to the West Coast.

MEET THE 'seniors' OF THE COSDEN FAMILY . . .

This is the 25th in a series of special Cosden presentations recognizing the long and valued services of those employes who have been associated with the Company 15 years or longer. Cosden is proud of its scores of workers who have contributed their efforts through so many years toward the success of the Company.

Roy L. Wyrick, mechanic No. 1, was born in 1906 at Calvin, Okla., and finished high school at Tulia, Texas. Employed by Standard Oil in the Yates field from 1928-32, he later worked for various contractors in East Texas and for Public Construction Co. until 1939, when he went to Wichita, Kan., on a construction job. Returning to Texas in 1941, he worked briefly for W. D. Caldwell before joining Cosden on Sept. 24, 1942.

A Baptist, Mr. Wyrick was married at Lamesa in 1928 to the former Miss Willa Deal, who was born in Reese, N.C. They have three sons: Roy L. Jr., who studied electrical engineering at Texas University and is now associated with an electronics firm in Colorado Sprngs, Colo.; Lt. Carl A. Wyrick, now in Dreux, France, with a troop carrier squadron; and Tommy, inducted into the Army last August and assigned to Fort Riley, Kan., Headquarters Battalion. Tommy previously was employed in Cosden's production department.

Mr. and Mrs. Wyrick own their home in Coahoma at 406 Culp. When he isn't hunting, fishing or gardening, he's helping to entertain the new granddaughter, Linda, born in September. Linda and her mother, the former Jann Brooks, are dividing their time between both sets of grandparents until they can join Carl in France next March.

Brush Eradication Is Topic For Conference At Stanton

STANTON, Nov. 30 (SC) — A movement to start a brush eradication program in the Stanton area will get under way at a public meeting in the district court room on Dec. 10.

E. C. Fisher, superintendent of the Lubbock Experiment Station, will be the principal speaker, and will outline various methods used to eradicate mesquite and other worthless brush.

The Stanton Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the meeting, according to Allen Singleton, manager. Opening remarks and introductions will be made by Gerald Hansen, Martin County agricultural agent.

Singleton says mesquite infestation is preventing the growth of grass in some parts of the area, and the program will be pushed vigorously. Perhaps the heaviest infestation is in northwestern Glasscock County where dense stands of mesquite are found in almost every pasture.

Fisher has done more work than anyone else in devising methods to get rid of cedar and mesquite. He was the first scientist in Texas to experiment with chemical control. Most of the early work was done while he was stationed at the Spur Experiment Station.

The meeting which starts at 7 p.m. is open to the public.

Martin Has 'Disastrous' Crop Year

STANTON, Nov. 3 (SC)—The year of 1957 will be remembered as one of the most disastrous for Martin County's irrigation farmers. Not only was it an expensive crop to produce, but the yield will be the lowest in several years.

The early freeze did considerable damage, according to Stanton banker, Jim Tom, but will prove more costly to the Tarzan-Badgett area than around Stanton. Tom says the damage was less severe around Stanton, but even here the yield and grade have been lowered substantially.

Despite the poor yield and low prices, Tom says collections at the bank have been better than he expected.

"Some farmers will pay out," he said, "but others will not be able to meet all their obligations. I'm sure some of them will need to be carried another year."

The earlier estimate of 55,000 bales for the county has been dropped to less than 40,000 bales by most observers. Tom's own guess is that the county will end up with about 35,000 bales.

Firemen Call For More Toys. Few Received

The fire department hopes more toys will come in the next two weeks than have come since the annual toy drive opened two weeks ago.

The stack of toys at the fire station is still small, firemen reported. And it is growing very slowly.

The fire department, with the help of Shell Service stations, is collecting toys which will be repaired and given to needy children at Christmas. The drive started two weeks ago, but very few toys have been turned in.

H. V. Crocker, fire chief, reported the firemen had planned to start repairing the toys Monday, but the amount of toys would hardly justify starting.

Crocker urged Big Springers to turn in the toys as soon as possible. The later they wait, the later firemen are in getting them repaired, he added.

This year, the toys will be given out in the old Ford building at 4th and Bell.

Crocker said that any type of toy which can be repaired is wanted. Also any spare bicycle parts which can be used will be appreciated.

Jess Talkin' by Jess Blair

The Martin County cotton crop is nearly half harvested, according to L. E. Baize, Stanton gin manager, or at least he thinks his gin has already got 50 per cent of its total.

Grades are low everywhere, and some of the last pulling won't amount to much. Cracked bolls will lower the grade still further, while some of the late bolls are beginning to rot.

Baize says picked cotton is still being graded as middling, but there won't be much more of it.

"The workers are getting restless," he said, "and want to start pulling bolls. I doubt if farmers can keep them picking much longer."

* * *

The Midland County cotton crop is a good deal better than in Martin County, according to Ray Kelly, Stanton cotton buyer and farm owner. He said their cotton was two to three weeks earlier and the frost damage was light.

"Several farmers over there think they will make a bale and a half to the acre," Kelly said, "which is much higher than it will average here."

Kelly has a farm near Tarzan which looked good for 150 bales along in the summer. Now he is estimating the yield at 50 bales.

In several West Texas areas farmers have been trying to find irrigation water at deeper levels. In the El Paso Valley a well was drilled to around 1,000 feet, but only salt water was found.

Just lately a group of farmers near Petersburg pooled their money to put down a well 800-feet deep. The drill went far down into the redbeds, where water bearing sands were encountered between 680 and 767 feet. However the water pumped only 75 gallons a minute and contained 5,000 parts of sodium - chloride per million. This is considered too salty for irrigation use.

The outlook for deep irrigation water on the plains is rather dim, according to W. L. Broadhurst, chief hydrologist for the High Plains Water District. He says that any irrigation water found in the redbeds is likely to be highly mineralized.

The only place where suitable water might be found in deeper formations would be along the edge of the Caprock, Broadhurst said. There is some irrigation from the redbeds near Colorado City, and also a well near Hereford is pumping from the red clay. It is very salty, though, and the farmer mixes it with water from shallow wells before applying it to crops.

* * *

The damage to cotton crops has cut the profit in half, says J. M. Bradley, area manager of a string of gins in West Texas. The yield has been reduced, but the main trouble has been in lowering the grade.

Bradley says farmers in all the counties have been penalized by the frost and wet weather, but the greatest damage is found in the Tarzan community. Farmers who made over two bales an acre last year may not harvest over a bale this time.

"Last year our gin at Tarzan turned out around 6,000 blaes," Bradley said, "and the outlook right now is for only half that much."

* * *

The 4-H Club members and FFA students of Glasscock County have stopped feeding calves for show purposes. Instead they are concentrating on lambs and pigs, according to County Agent Oliver Werst.

Werst said the two organizations had a total of 100 lambs and 35 pigs on feed. The members will show their animals at the Odessa, Abilene, San Angelo and El Paso shows.

They will also be shown at the annual show at Garden City. Werst said details of the local show had not been completed yet.

* * *

Braceros have been casting long glances to the south this week, which is another way of saying they are homesick. Not too many have left yet, but it may take only one more cold spell to give the movement a big push.

Oscar Fanning, manager of the Basin Growers Association at Stanton, said his organization had lost about 75 workers. Friday, however, brought in about 20 who wanted to go home. Fanning says he tried to talk them out of it, but doesn't know how successful the effort will be.

He say boll pullers are still plentiful, but very few want to pick cotton.

L. H. (Noisy) Martin is still in the rabbit business. A few days ago I stopped by his place north of Sand Springs and was shown through the rabbitry, which contains four kinds of bunnies.

He is raising red and white New Zealands, Checker Giants and Californians. The biggest ones are crosses, as they grow faster and at maturity weigh a pound or two more than a straight bred animal.

Martin hasn't been selling quite so many lately, because he had a feed and cotton crop to harvest. The hutches are filled with young ones, however, and he will be back to full capacity in a few weeks.

It was back in 1950 when Martin started raising rabbits. He needed something to boost the income from his 80-acre farm. After making several mistakes, he found a rabbit's foot, so to speak, and from then on had a profitable business.

Some people laughed at him when he started, but no one is laughing now. Several rabbit farms have been started in this area, including a small one at Stanton and a very large one in Midland, yet they all went out of business and Martin bought most of their stock.

Martin does all the work himself, except for a four-year old collie named Bozo who tags at his heels. The dog is a good rabbit herder.

"When a rabbit gets out of the cage, Bozo puts his big foot on him until I get there," said Martin. "If one gets very far away, Bozo herds him back toward the hutches. I've never known him to hurt one."

Most of the Martin bunnies wind up in Big Spring grocery stores. He butchers from 45 to 65 a week.

Experiment Farm Office Building Is Near Paint Stage

Members of the staff at the U.S. Experiment Station here are pondering just what colors they prefer for their offices in the new building being built on the station site.

They did not know, until recently, they would have a choice in the tints that would be employed. Now that the matter has been left up to them, the issue is being discussed with considerable enthusiasm.

Mrs. Catherine Priebe, secretary, will probably cast the deciding vote. Dr. Earl Burnett, director, said that he and others at the station will be satisfied with whatever colors Mrs. Priebe selects.

Workmen are pushing ahead with the new office building which will replace the frame structure which has served for so many years.

The new building, one story in type, is of brick. It is located to the rear of the present offices.

Workmen have just about reached the point where the colors to be used inside will have to be determined.

Suspect Is Jailed

Freddie L. Snowden, wanted here to answer charges of forgery, was returned to Howard County jail Friday afternoon from Silver. Jack Shaffer, deputy sheriff, took custody of the man and placed him in jail here. He has been sought for some time, Shaffer said.

SALESPEOPLE
Men Or Women

We have the product and the know-how, but we need the help of 2 qualified salespeople in this vicinity. If you don't think you can do the job, or if you're bashful or a negative thinker, please do not apply. Let your conscience be your guide. The opportunity is here. Contact Rudy Jackson, Frontier Lodge, Big Spring, Monday or Tuesday, December 2 or 3, between 7:00 p.m. and 9:30 p.m.

SALESMEN, AGENTS F4

DISTRICT SALES REPRESENTATIVE

Wanted for this area. We have the finest opportunity available. In 1956 our average territory salesman earned $10,127.45 and half of his business was mail-ordered. No experience is required. Here is our offer to you:
CAR ALLOWANCE (OR CAR FURNISHED) EXPENSES PAID—Liberal expenses advanced weekly.
GUARANTEED INCOME — To assure you a substantial net income from the very beginning.
HIGH COMMISSIONS—Same high commissions paid on mail orders and written orders.
LIMITED TRAVELING—Our salesmen average less than three nights per week away from home and are never far from home.
FIVE DAY WEEK—No calls required on Saturdays. Only 240 working days per year.
THOROUGH TRAINING—At our expense. We will thoroughly prepare you to assume your responsibilities within 6 weeks.
30-DAY VACATION—No traveling required during most of December and until after the New Year Holidays.
You will never know what an unusual opportunity this is until you investigate. If you are between 23 and 35 and seriously desire a merchandising career, forward complete resume with references or write for application to P.O. Box 177, Memphis, Tennessee.

Put Garden Lights To Work For Festive Outdoor Display

For an unusual Christmas outdoor lighting effect, put garden lights to work! Ingenuity, plus regular outdoor an garden lights, can easily create a festive outdoor decoration.

The small stick-in-the-ground mushroom units can be lined up a drive or walk with the "stems" wrapped in candy-striped paper and a bright Christmas dazzle attached to the top for an effective display.

They also make delightful miniature Christmas trees to enhance a shrubbery setting or walk. Chicken wire rolled in a cone shape makes the form of the tree, Moe Light explains, and aluminum bells, stars and angels, either made at home or purchased, add a bright decorative note. Take the caps off the lights and place atop trees for a final trimming.

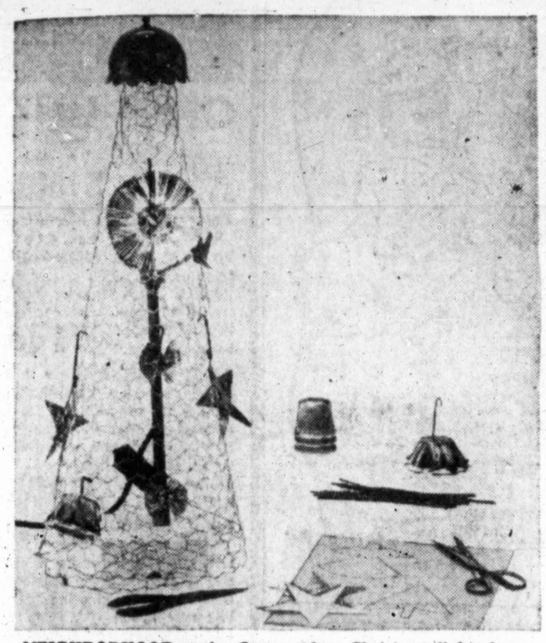
The trees can be varied by the use of different colored outdoor bulbs in each tree or line each tree with colored cellophane.

To make the outdoor Christmas ornaments for the mushrooms trees, use aluminum pie plates, cheese snack cups or heavy-duty aluminum foil. Cut Christmas illustrations from magazines or trace around Christmas cookie cutters to make patterns. Trace on aluminum, cut out and hang on trees with pipe cleaners.

Make Christmas trees from a circle of foil rolled into a cone shape. For icicles, use one-half-inch strips of foil (leftovers from the round edges of the pie plates will also do. Wind the strips around a lead pencil to make a curl. Remove, and insert a fine wire for hanging. Leftover pieces of foil can be used to make butterflies and other bits of imaginative creations.

Outdoor floodlights are excellent to illuminate Christmas displays. Post lanterns, garage lights and house lights take a holiday touch. Fashion some greenery and a holiday ribbon around the lights. The Old-World style lanterns are ideal for snowflake and Christmas scene stencils on the glass. You can also place a bit of colored tinsel inside a clear glass globe.

Be sure to use fireproof materials in your Christmas decorating.



NEIGHBORHOOD genius fixes outdoor Christmas lights from chicken wire and aluminum snack containers or pie plates. Arrange fire-proofed ornaments on 36-inch x 36-inch wire cone slipped over garden mushroom lights.

How To Wrap Yule Presents For Shipment

Do your Christmas shipping early—and be sure your gifts are securely packaged before turning them over to the post office or express agency.

After studying shipping habits and problems for several years, the Railway Express Agency has provided suggestions which it says will assure delivery of Christmas gifts—on time and in good condition. Here they are:

1. For packing, use a sound, sturdy fibreboard or corrugated container large enough to provide a 2-inch clearance all around the gift package.

2. Use old newspapers for cushioning material. Do not ball or roll the paper. Instead, tear into 2-inch strips and then fluff and crinkle them.

3. Insert a 2-inch bottom layer of the fluffed newspaper, then your gift. Stuff 2 inches of the material on the sides and top of the gift—firm—but not too tight.

4. It is a good idea to double pack very fragile gifts. First pack them, with cushioning, in a properly sized carton. Then, with more cushioning, pack the first box in a second container in the same way.

The container must be securely closed or held together. Taping or tying, or both, can be used. Gummed tape is preferable for shipments going by express.

When tape is used—at least 2 inches in width—moistening with a damp sponge, cloth, or paper napkin is recommended. Avoid soaking because it will impair adhesive quality. If a little vinegar is mixed with the water, the tape will stick more securely.

Tied gift packages also can be shipped very safely if strong twine and proper tying methods are used. The twine should be securely looped all around the length and girth of the package twice so that there will be a double strand. The twine should be knotted securely where the strands cross on top and bottom.

Care in marking holiday gift shipments is equally important. "From" and "to" addresses should be hand-printed on the top of the package and repeated on one side. Black crayon or heavy pencil are best to use. Ordinary ink may smudge or run and become illegible. Gummed labels, preferably typewritten, are also suggested.

Shippers should write or print clearly and be careful of abbreviations in addresses. States should be identified fully. For example—there are 28 communities named Madison in as many states.

A Further protective measure is to place an extra address label or slip inside the package before it is closed. This will provide the necessary identification if the outside marks on the package become torn, lost or illegible.

Special labels to indicate the nature of the shipment as well as special instructions as to handling are available. Drivers or receiving clerks, the express company says, will gladly place them on the packages as required. For those who have special problems, the local express office is a good place to call or visit to get help or advice.

Fabric Gifts For Newlyweds

A Christmas gift for a young married couple from their parents creates a problem. A gift for the home or apartment is a safe solution. But this, too, can be a stumper.

Perhaps a fabric gift to finish decorating a recreation room or den would be in line. This room usually is the last to get attention because of budget problems.

A gift certificate or check for amount of fabric needed allows the couple to choose what they want.

A Waverly stylist dreamed up one "fabric gift" room. To give the room a casual air, cafe curtains are used. These feature combined use of a novelty print, "Remember Me," in soft tones of blue and beige with coordinated beige Glosheen. Two-toned ball fringe is used on valance and side of cafe curtains to give the effect of full-length draperies. The print then is repeated on the sofa or couch and solid blue Glosheen covers an ottoman.

Window Scenes

Cut sheet plastic to fit panes of a many-paned window. On each, lay out transparent cellulose paper in stained-glass designs. Cement in spots with clear cement; place against pane with papers against glass. Tape plastic to frame with cellulose tape. Room light illuminates your creation.

Musical Gifts Cover A Wide Price Range

A wide variety of unusual gifts in a wide range of prices is the dream of every Christmas shopper. The world of music offers this ideal.

For the piano student, or the family with a new piano, the choices range from a metronome to sheet music. For a family gift, have gay sheet music covers framed in the decor of the music room.

Inexpensive gifts may be fleece-lined bugle bags for the Boy Scout, rain covers for instrument cases, leatherette portfolios for sheet music, mouthpiece cases for the clarinet player and neckpiece sling saxophone cords for the embryonic "rock and roll" musician or mutes or mute-holder and derby stands for brass players.

The accordion enthusiast will be thrilled with chromium initials for the instrument or an electric "mike" to achieve organ effects. The amateur guitarist will feel like a "pro" with a portable amplifier.

For music lovers consider a book of opera librettos or, more expensive, fine miniature scores of operas; musical dictionaries, lives of composers or histories of jazz greats.

An instrument itself is a top gift. The very young enjoy rhythm band instruments, the teen-ager the ukulele or guitar, the adult the simple recorder or a gift certificate for group lessons in any instrument.

Safety Big Factor In Choosing Toys

Toy manufacturers include many safety features in play items. But wise toy buying calls for some caution.

Be certain the toy has true, lasting colors and non-toxic paint is used. This is especially important with toys for young children, since youngsters like to put things in their mouths.

Dictionary Helps Sports Enthusiast

What outdoor sport uses such words as tiller, serving, bullet point, rat tail, billets, stave, nock, belly, boss and clout? Answer: archery.

Could you explain these terms to your youngsters? Hand him a book, a dictionary, just to keep yourself out of hot water. A new Webster's Elementary Dictionary has been published especially for children ages 8 to 12.

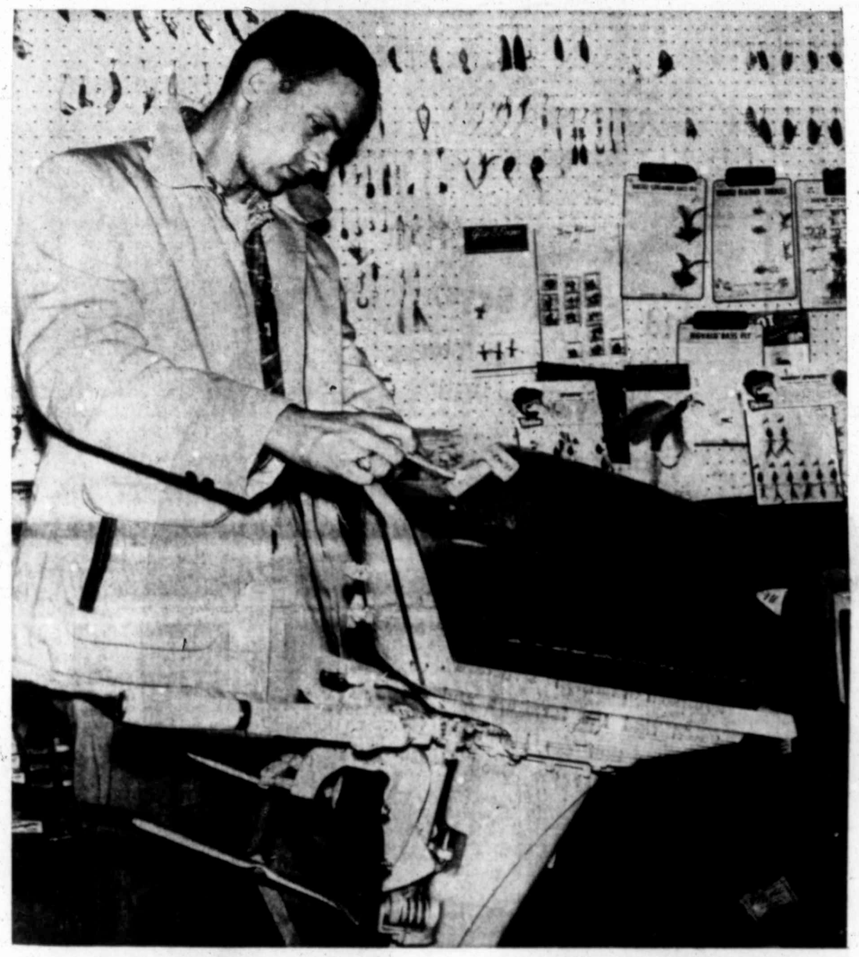
WORTH TWO LOOKS is the mink stole with the model, Mrs. Loyd Curley, in the photo above. The stole, of natural mink in the shade, Autumn Haze, would be a glamorous gift for any woman, especially at Christmas time, with so many social affairs in prospect during the coming months. A versatile color, the fur will show up well against almost any shade, be it in brown, black, navy, gray or the colors so popular at the present time.



WISHFUL THINKING is clearly the attitude of Lt. Paul Wagner, who would like to find an outboard motor under the Christmas tree — if he had a boat to put it on. The lieutenant, whose address is 304½ Harding, is originally from Washington, and is now stationed at Webb Air Force Base. He received his training at Hondo AFB, but he has lived in Big Spring for about a year and a half. Another of his interests is archery.

Note To Santa:

Gift Selections Are Being Made Now!

(Photos by Keith McMillin)

THIS IS WHAT I'D LIKE FOR CHRISTMAS is the sentiment of Bobby Moore, as he settles down in an easy chair in a local furniture store. He and Mrs. Moore, who live at 1107 North Nolan, were married just about a year ago — Dec. 29, 1956, and have not finished buying all the furniture they want. It might just be that Mrs. Moore has found the solution to that ever-vexing question, "What shall I give him?"

TRIED ON FOR SIZE is the yellow car being "test-driven" by Glen Rasberry, under the supervision of his mother, Mrs. Harold Rasberry. Two-year-old Glen had spent a busy half-hour sitting in all the tiny chairs, working on a miniature black-board, pushing a doll-buggy and rocking a cradle. His attention was taken from a set of bell chimes when he spied the car. Highlight of his driving was the horn, which he pressed continuously. Just getting in practice, no doubt, for grown-up driving.

DRESS-UP FROCK

Cut, Drape Of Fabric Do Right By Your Curves

"Dias" is such a lovely work when it is defined by Ceil Chapman and used with such inimitable style as in this low-back dressy dress.

Completely lined and judiciously boned, the front bias drape is smoothed into the side seams, while the skirt floats freely over a straight sheath slip.

This is a trick that gives figure control, so that the dress clings in the proper places, makes the most of a curve without making too much of it.

Perfect for chiffon, or crepe in either silk, rayon or synthetic mixtures, and even in very sheer wool, it is easy to make and a cinch to fit. From this chart select the one size best for you:

Size	Bust	Waist	Hips	Nape of Neck to Waist
8	33	23	34	16¼ inches
10	34	24	35	16½ "
12	35	25	36	16¾ "

Take Tip Of Movie Stars For Makeup

Sometimes it's sensible to imitate. One small but important trick employed by movie stars is to tuck tissues around the necklines of their costumes when wearing grease-paint off camera.

Makeup, like greasepaint, discolors fabrics almost beyond repair. The easy way to protect the necklines of dresses is with a few pieces of tissues when putting on cosmetics.

Marchbanks-Garms Vows Are Solemnized In Little Rock, Ark.

MRS. CHARLES LINDSEY MARCHBANKS

Marriage vows were exchanged Saturday afternoon by Troy Gertrude Garms, Little Rock, Ark., and Charles Lindsey Marchbanks, Big Spring, in a double ring ceremony at the Second Baptist Church of Little Rock.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Grady Garms, Little Rock, and Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey A. Marchbanks, Big Spring and Dallas.

Dr. Dale Cowling, pastor of Second Baptist Church, read the nuptial service in a setting of jade trees and greenery. Floor candelabra held pink candles, and a pair of pedestal baskets and the altar arrangement featured pink chrysanthemums.

Wedding music was presented by Mrs. Floyd Chronister, Little Rock, who sang "O Perfect Love" and "I Love Thee" by Grieg. Mrs. H. C. Harris, also of Little Rock, was organist.

BRIDAL GOWN

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of white Chantilly lace over white satin, fashioned with empire waistline and scalloped neckline. The long sleeves ended in graceful points. Designed with princess lines, the skirt flowed into a chapel train. The tiered veil of French illusion, of finger-tip length, was attached to a half hat of silk braid encrusted with pearls and sequins. A cascade of pink sweetheart roses formed the bridal bouquet.

Betty Jane Garms, Little Rock, was her sister's maid of honor. Her frock of DuBarry taffeta was cut on princess lines. At the back of the sabrina neckline were attached streamers which descended the length of the flared ballerina skirt. She wore a matching halo, and her bouquet was of American Beauty roses.

Nancy Kate McCraw, Dallas, was bridesmaid. Her dress of peacock blue taffeta was identical to the one worn by the maid of honor. She also had a matching halo and carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Candles were lighted by Nancy Wilcox and Mrs. Eugene Pendergraft, both of Little Rock. They wore identical dresses of rose-beige taffeta, waltz length.

Wade Choate, Big Spring, served his cousin as best man. Ushers were Grady Garms Jr., Little Rock, brother of the bride; Wendell Tey, Big Spring; and Josef Kaspar, Dallas.

RECEPTION

The home of the bride's parents was the scene of the reception following the ceremony. Arrangements of chrysanthemums decorated the rooms. Mrs. Grady Garms Jr., sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Thomas Lynch, cousin of the bride, served the guests. Lucia Hersey, cousin of the bride, was in charge of the bride's book, and Betty Moss distributed bags of rice. All members of the house party are from Little Rock.

For a trip to Hot Springs, Arkansas, the bride chose a sheath dress of avocado green wool, with matching jacket. Her accessories were of rust brown. Upon their retura, the couple will make a home in Big Spring.

The bride is a graduate of Southern Methodist University, where she was affiliated with the Delta Zeta Sorority. Prior to her marriage she was employed by the Union National Bank of Little Rock. Marchbanks also attended Southern Methodist University. His fraternity was the Pi Kappa Alpha.

WEDDING GUESTS

Out of town guests for the wedding were Mrs. H. A. Hays and Mrs. Harold Choate, Big Spring, aunts of the bridegroom; Bob Nunn, Big Spring; Mrs. Winsie Walling, Dallas; Mrs. Fannie S. Turner, Poplar Grove, Ark., aunt of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Butler, Memphis, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Hicks, West Memphis, Ark., uncle and aunt of the bride; Dr. Paul Curry and Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Laney, all of Camden, Ark.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Jones are spending the weekend with his parents in Comanche and with her parents in Stephenville.

Have Good Supply Of Paper Napkins For Holiday Feasts

Your table should set off the exciting holiday meal you've planned, so by all means use your most colorful china and appropriate accessories.

The arrangement needn't be costly—an old cloth dyed red and a grouping of rainbow-hued ornaments will lend festivity enough to the Christmas dinner.

This is one gala, informal occasion when it pays to be praetical too. And the wise homemaker would do well to furnish a good supply of paper napkins, so that youngsters and even adults can pick up a juicy wing or leg of turkey in their fingers.

Because they are of a good size, and more absorbent, the new table napkins solve the greasy finger problem beautifully. They can be thrown away too, which saves a lot of laundry work later on.

Mother Of Bride In Friday Rites Fashions Wedding Gown

Wearing a wedding gown fashioned by her mother, Patsy Ann Gotcher exchanged wedding vows with Denver Leeon Pettitt Friday evening in the Eleventh and Birdwell Church of Christ.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Gotcher, 1417 Eleventh Place, are parents of the bride; the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Pettitt, 2108 Johnson.

Darrell Flynt, minister of the Garden City Church of Christ, read the double ring vows. The altar was centered with a sunburst arrangement of white gladioli. Wrought iron candelabra bearing cathedral bouquets of the gladioli were placed on each side of the altar and held seven tapers each.

A vocal group make up of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Conley, Stanley Peurifoy, Mrs. Vollie Sorrels, Mrs. Edsel Maddox, Lou Ann Nall, Pat Rogers and Jane Cudd sang "O, Promise Me," "The Lord Bless and Keep You" and the traditional wedding marches. Mrs. Horace Williams, of Fort Worth, aunt of the bride, sang "Always."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white bridal satin, floor length. Double pleats at points in center front and back, with double pleats at the sides, gave fullness to the skirt. The bodice was cut with a wide scooped neckline and long fitted sleeves came to points at the wrists. Tiny covered buttons marked the closing.

Small flowers of satin edged the half hat of white satin, to which was attached a veil in two tiers. On a white Bible, the bride carried a bouquet of white carnations.

MRS. DENVER LEEON PETTITT

TRADITION

Following wedding tradition, the bride's veil belongs to Mrs. M. B. Smolko for something old; her dress was new, and she wore a blue garter. She had borrowed the Bible from Darla Swindall.

Twin cousins of the bride, Patty and Peggy Francis of Coahoma, served as maid of honor and bridesmaid, respectively. They were identically attired in powder blue frock of antique taffeta, made like the dress of the bride. Their slippers were in the same shade of blue and they carried nosegays in harmonizing shades of chrysanthemums.

Dan Pettitt served his brother as best man. Chuck Bartoway of Indiana was groomsman; guests were seated by Eddie Gotcher, brother of the bride. Charles Teague Jr., a nephew of the bridegroom, Hue Tolbert and Neil Robb.

Mrs. Charles Teague Sr. and Dorothy Baker of Ackerly were the taper lighters. Their dresses were identical to those of the other feminine attendants and their flowers were harmonizing writlets.

At the reception, which was held at the home of the bride's parents, the bridal couple received guests assisted by their parents and the bride's attendants.

A blue cloth was covered with lace and the centerpiece was the bride's bouquet. A three-tiered cake, decorated in blue and white, held a miniature bridal couple and wedding bells.

Assisting in the house party were Mrs. J. J. Francis, Miss Swindall and the bride's cousin, Mrs. Jimmy Spears of Austin. Madelyn Dick registered guests, who included friends from Fort Worth, Arlington, Abilene, Snyder, Midland, Odessa, Kermit, Brownfield, Austin and Nebraska.

TRAVEL ATTIRE

For traveling the bride donned a two piece dress of dark gray with trim of white collar and contour belt. Her gloves were white; she wore black shoes and bag and her corsage was taken from her bridal bouquet.

Upon the return from the wedding trip, the couple will make a home at 508 Nolan.

The bride, who is a graduate of the Garden City High School, attended Howard County Junior College. She is now employed by Universal CIT Finance Co.

The bridegroom was graduated from Big Spring High School and attended Arlington State College. He has served two years in the United States Army and is now employed by Texas Electric Service Co.

Mrs. Gotcher chose for her daughter's wedding a shantung dress of powder blue with white hat and wedgewood shoes and bag, white gloves and hat. Her corsage was also of white carnations.

REHEARSAL PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Gotcher were hosts Wednesday evening for a party after the rehearsal. Guests found the refreshment table centered with a pile of rice. On the top was a toy car, identical to the car of the bridegroom.

Painted red, the toy bore the sign, "Just Married," and the names of the couple. A miniature couple stood by the toy. Red candles flanked the arrangement; red rosebuds marked the cake squares, and red napkins furthered the color scheme.

'ROUND TOWN

With Lucille Pickle

There were many people who spent the holidays away from Big Spring but there were a great many more that didn't go anyplace and didn't do anything but stay home. Most of them seemed to be resting up from some activity or another or just getting girded for the Christmas rush.

We appreciated a note from Dr. PRESTON HARRISON, who is studying at the Menninger Foundation in Topeka, Kan. He took a leave of absence from the staff of the Big Spring State Hospital for the nine months course. He says the course in administrative psychiatry is even better than he had hoped.

• • •

MR. AND MRS. H. H. SQUYRES are in El Monte, Calif., where they are visiting their son and his family, Mr. and Mrs. Ferrell Squyres. They plan to visit a daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Engle, in Ontario, Calif., before returning here, which will be shortly before Christmas.

• • •

MRS. TRACY SMITH and son, Robert, will return today to Norman, Okla., after spending the holidays with Mr. Smith, and other relatives. Mrs. Smith is working on her doctorate at Oklahoma University.

• • •

Guests of MR. AND MRS. RUPERT JENNINGS Thursday and Friday were their daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Thomas, who make their home in Terrell.

• • •

In San Angelo for Thanksgiving day were MR. AND MRS. W. G. WILSON JR., who were guests of Mrs. H. O. Lown and her family. The families were friends when they both lived in Texarkana. The Wilsons also visited in the home of Mr., and Mrs. Alfred Bettley. Mrs. Bettley is the daughter of Mrs. H. M. Compton, also of Big Spring, who with her son, Hugh, was spending the holiday with the Bettleys. Mrs. Compton's brother, Munson Goodyear, and Mrs. Goodyear of Houston were also guests.

• • •

Approximately 25 relatives were present for the big dinner Thursday at the home of MR. AND MRS. JOE R. KING. Included in the group were their daughter and her family, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Chamberlain and son, Charles, of Big Lake.

• • •

MRS. BENNETT PETTY and son, Biff, of Midland were here for the family gathering of the W. R. Yates family Thanksgiving day.

• • •

MR. AND MRS. BILLY GARRISON and daughter, Nannette, of Fort Worth have returned to their home after spending the holidays with his sister, Mrs. Nolan Reed, and her family.

• • •

The Picture Of Contentment

If Francis Branch isn't supremely comfortable it is not the fault of his family. Mrs. Branch is ready with a cup of coffee while Carolyn eases on his slippers. Nancy is poised to help, and James perches on the arm of the easy chair. Branch is probably looking for news of Maine whence the family recently moved to Big Spring.

Transplanted Maine Family Likes West Texas Folks, Fuel Bills

There is no smoke curling out of a chimney at 2306 S. Monticello. In fact, there is no chimney. This is as it should be as far as the occupants are concerned.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Branch and family, newcomers to the city, are delighted with the mild weather in this part of the country. And the head of the house laughingly remarked that it was the idea of his money literally going up the chimney in smoke that was a major factor in sending him to the southwest.

The Branches came here from Augusta, Maine, where snow is a major factor in everyday living. Their first sight of West Texas was through snow and not the thin film of white which fell here last week. Branch, who began work here October 14 as claims examiner at the Veterans Administration Hospital, surveyed the utilities bills with sheer glee after having been accustomed to $250 fuel bills in Maine. Although he is a native of New Haven, Conn., he had lived in Maine for the past 34 years. He has been in VA Hospital work for a decade.

Mrs. Branch, whose hometown is Waterville, Maine, is interested in finding a job. She has had clerical experience and enjoyed her work with the Internal Revenue office in Augusta. She and her husband have been active in the Eastern Star and Masonic programs.

Potential West Texans are the three winsome Branch youngsters who, with their mother, joined Branch here November 5. Nancy, 16, is a junior this year and claims sports as her special interest. Carolyn, 12, is a seventh grader and shares enthusiasm for her sister's growing collection of stuffed dogs, which vie with the family's live English setter for attention.

Five-year-old James bemoans the fact that he is too young for school, but he is pleased with the abundant supply of playmates in his neighborhood. The eldest of the children is Gwendolyn who, as Mrs. Fred Coffin, resides in Mechanic Falls, Maine, where her husband is high school coach. They have a son, Steven, who was one year old Oct. 2.

Although not yet affiliated with a local church, the family is attending Wesley Methodist Church. They are quick to remark on the friendliness of folk in Big Spring.

Perhaps the major difference they have noticed is the spaciousness of West Texas. They like the open spaces for youngsters' play, and they are impressed with the wide paved streets. Here the buildings tend to ramble low while in Augusta they reach toward the sky, the newcomers noticed.

But guess what the children claim as one of their major surprises. . .Tumbleweeds!

AAUW Acquires Site For New Washington Office

Elizabeth Daniel president of the local chapter of the American Association of University Women, has received news from the Washington office that 21,000 square feet of property in Washington's Potomac Plaza Center have been purchased for a new two-million dollar headquarters building for the Association.

The riverside location in the nation's capital is one of several sites being developed by private interests and is part of a new center to be planned along the lines of Rockefeller Center in New York City. Other buildings tentatively planned include a luxury hotel along the Potomac River, deluxe apartments, office and medical buildings.

AAUW proposes to have its new building completed in 1959. It will be an eight-story structure, planned with an eye to future expansion. Currently the Association occupies an historic five-story building at 1634 Eye Street, N. W., facing Farragut Square.

The proposed AAUW headquarters building will bring to the center an educational organization which has had 75 years of practical work in education. The Association supports a fellowship program with an endowment of $1,812,000. An estimated 1½ million dollars must be raised among the Association's 142,000 members located in 1380 communities throughout the United States, Alaska, Hawaii, and Guam.

Miniature Farm Is Among Gifts For Youngsters

The push-and-pull set will be writing, instead of riding, the rails this year. A blackboard express uses blackboard panels as the sides of boxcars for their most legible efforts.

The toddler who likes to telephone is in for a surprise. A new doll phone includes a cuddle toy. And the young xylophonist will a two-toned mallet. A hammer head with rubber on one side and plastic on the other results in two tones, just by switching sides.

Also in the music line, there is a tiny, electronic organ that holds the volume of tone as long as the key is pressed.

For children in an off-to-the-farm mood are full-scale barns, silos, tractors and cultivators.

A series of specialized farm trucks are designed to transport cattle and poultry. A miniature corral is complete with blooded stock for the young rancher hankering to put his brand on some steers.

Eggnog Traditional Christmas Drink, Can Be Varied

Since eggnog is the traditional drink during the Christmas holidays, eggnog has and will be on a good many holiday buffet tables. This year, however, spark this traditional beverage with a new exciting flavor. Make it a chocolate milk eggnog with bottles or cartons of chocolate milk.

The chocolate milk story doesn't end there. Milk has a flair and a flavor for fashion. Joseph Love has blended chocolate milk, the color, into a good many dresses and has come up with a holiday collection of chocolate milk brown dresses for little girls.

Chocolate Milk Eggnog
(Makes about 7 cups)

Three eggs, separated; ¼ cup firmly packed brown sugar; 1 quart bottled or cartoned chocolate milk; 1 teaspoon rum extract or vanilla; 1 cup heavy cream, whipped; nutmeg.

Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored. Add sugar and blend. Add chocolate milk and rum extract or vanilla and mix well. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry. Fold egg whites and cream into chocolate milk mixture. Serve topped with nutmeg.

Consider Quality

In buying for yourself or others, consider long wear. In a tricot garment, buy a closely knit tricot in a heavier weight for long wear.

You'll Be Glad If You Start Christmas Early

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.

Christmas has a way of pouncing out of the fall. It always seems to come before you are ready. When you wake up to the fact that the big day is just around the corner there is a mad dash to get everything ready. Tempers are likely to snap during mad dashes.

This year get going early and make some leisurely preparations with your children. When you start early you'll have time to talk to the children about what Christmas means. It's a wonderful season and the children need to be part of all of it—not just receivers of gifts.

About the first of December begin to plan your Christmas decorations. It is of course too early to set up a tree, but you could plan a creche or nativity scene.

Talk about the Christmas story and let the children make animals and figures, trees and houses to represent the nativity. As you work up a little scene, your children begin to feel the spirit of Him whose birthday we celebrate.

Perhaps you want to buy a few figures, but don't buy too many. A home-made scene with figures molded out of clay, with pine cones for trees, will mean more to the children. Your homemade story of Christ will be worked over and played with for weeks before Christmas.

YULE DECORATIONS

Plan some other decorations for the house and put them up as the children work on them. Try to add a few new items every day or so.

Make a big batch of Christmas cookies. Cut them in interesting shapes and decorate them with bright colored sugar. These can be stored until needed, and make wonderful gifts for visiting children during Christmas week, or even before. Perhaps some of the children would like to send a fancy decorated cooky as a Christmas card to a special friend.

CHRISTMAS CARDS

Christmas cards can be planned well before Christmas. As much as you can, interest the children in making their own cards. If you have kept those that were sent to you last year many of them will supply pictures which the children can cut out and paste on cards or colored paper.

When the children buy their cards let them make their own selections, deciding which card goes to which person. Let them sign their own names and stamp the envelopes.

Keep the children interested in doing things for Christmas, doing things for the family, for their friends and taking part in community plans. Their interest in others helps to keep down the pitch of excitement in what is being done for them and it also helps to give them a real feeling of love and concern for others.

This, much more than receiving, is what we want our youngsters to feel about Christmas.

Bible Program Is In Its 14th Year

From Thanksgiving until Christmas people in 50 countries unite in a worldwide Bible reading program. This is the 14th year for the program, which consists of reading a recommended passage from the Bible each day.

Verses are designated on free bookmarks from the American Bible Society.

Giant Stocking

Put a final holiday touch on your living room by making a giant stocking to hold fruit, candy and stocking gifts. Shape two pieces of heavy felt into a stocking and sew together with a satin stitch. Attach embroidered ribbons of various lengths to stocking top and Christmas cards as you receive them.

HI--TALK

By Brenda Barr

Thanksgiving has come and gone and just for a moment everyone stopped to count our blessings. Mrs. Charles Wegg had this quotation from George Herbert written on her board this week which adequately expressed the feeling of this holiday:

"Thou hast given us so much,
Dear Lord,
Give us one thing more — a grateful heart."

Wednesday afternoon the traditional Thanksgiving Assembly was held with Dr. P. D. O'Brien as guest speaker.

Dancing amid the fall leaves at the semi-formal Wednesday night were Luan Lawson and Jackie Touchstone; Pat Johnson and Jerry Hewett; Opal Hancock and Billy Johnson; Judy Reagen and Bobby Laudermilk; Diana Dawson and Johnny Roy Phillips; Lynn Porter and Jan Loudermilk.

Among those blessings counted this week was the fact that all of the college boys got to come home. Sherry Lurting, Andrea Lou Sledge, Pressy Pond, Malinda Crocker, Nita Jones, Janet Carpenter, Sharon Creighton, and Sandy Hale were looking for Jerry McMahen, John Brown, Clinton Whitley, Stormy Edwards, Art Dodds, Dennis Jones, Glenn Jenkins, and Lewis Porter home for the holidays.

Judy Perdue and Lorene Meires journeyed to A&M this week to see J. D. Adams and LeRoy LeFevre.

This year's DE Sweetheart is Marie Clackum. Congratulations, Marie!

George Peacock, J. B. Davis, and Jan Laudermilk are the nominees for Majors Club Sportsman this year. Selections are a penny a vote with the proceeds going to the Majors Club.

"Mirror, Mirror, on the wall,
Who is the fariest of them all?"

That was the question being asked last week as the election for school beauty nominees was held Tuesday. Five girls were elected, and their pictures will be sent to John Robert Powers School where the winner will be decided by experts on beauty. The five girls elected as nominees are Susan Landers, Opal Hancock, Diana Dawson, Jo Ann Ebling, and Janice West. The winner will be announced at the Christmas Formal.

As of Wednesday 482 annuals have been sold. Notice to all who paid only part on their annuals. You may come in this week only and pay to Mrs. L. H. Steward so your annual will be reserved.

Shirley Terry and Gloria Coker were surprised with a party last Saturday afternoon. Hostesses were Marilyn Bingham and Ceila Grant. Some of the girls helping them to celebrate were Sherry Lurting, Marilyn Mann, Lona Anglea, Judy Carson, Judi Simpson, Pat Johnson, Malinda Crocker, and Jeanette Heflin.

This week our Senior of the Week is truly an outstanding student at BSHS. Few people have done as much to better our school. Seldom in the limelight but always actively supporting the project or activity is Stephen Baird. Stephen is president of the Key Club, vice president of the student council, and vice president of the Senior Hi-Y. In his junior year he was a Who's Who representative, delegate to Boy's State, a member of the golf team, and on the student council. Stephen is also a member of the Debate Club and the Court Jesters.

He is an active member of the First Methodist Church, where he is president of the local Methodist Youth and president of the district Methodist Youth Fellowship.

Tennis and dancing rate among his favorite pastimes. Stephen has not definitely decided on the college he will attend yet, but SMU, his current favorite, will really be getting an asset if he decides to go there.

Homemaker Of Tomorrow Tests Due Here Tuesday

On Tuesday, twenty girls in the Big Spring High School will join with 327,000 graduating girls across the nation in tests to determine their homemaking knowledge and attitudes.

Mrs. Douglas R. Boren, homemaking teacher here, said that the answers will be recorded in a 50-minute written examination prepared under the auspices of General Mills in the fourth annual Betty Crocker Search for the American Homemaker of Tomorrow.

Scholarships totaling $106,000 are being offered by General Mills. The girl with the highest score will be named Homemaker of Tomorrow for her school and will receive an award pin designed by Trifari of New York. Her test will be entered in competition for $1,500 and $500 scholarships to be awarded each state winner and runner-up, respectively.

All state winners will be given an expense-paid educational tour to Washington, D. C., and New York, and on April 17, one will be announced as the 1958 Betty Crocker All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow. Her scholarship will be increased to $5,000.

Each girl taking the examination will receive a homemaker profiler which serves as an aid to self-analysis on problems facing high school girls today.

Deer Hunts, Holiday Visits By Forsaners Are In News Today

FORSAN—Bill Conger and son William spent Thursday and Friday hunting deer in the Junction country. In the Mason area trying their luck for deer were Frank Thieme and son Frank Bade.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Digby and daughter of Odessa were guests here of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Fairchild.

The Frank Thieme family have had as guests Mrs. Thieme's sister and family, S. Sgt. and Mrs. Ray Gish and Gary from El Paso. The Thiemes' daughter, Carol Ann, who has been ill with pneumonia, has been dismissed from a Big Spring hospital.

Howard Watkins has returned to his home in Leavensworth, Kan. after a visit with his sister and family, the Henry Parks, and his mother, Mrs. J. J. Watkins, who is ill in Odessa.

Leroy Prescott has been released from a Big Spring hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Green, Freddie and Bennie were recent guests of her mother in Flower Grove.

Ray Crumley of Dublin was a Forsan visitor with his mother, Mrs. S. C. Crumley and Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Wash and Danny. Other guests in these homes were Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Boothe and Lana of Austin.

In San Angelo this week were Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Middleton and Larry.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Anderson visited friends in Odessa.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Parker and Mrs. M. M. Fairchild spent Thanksgiving with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. P. Armstrong, in Jal, N. M.

St. Lawrence Club To Have Family Dinner

Members of the St. Lawrence Home Demonstration Club will change the regular December meeting of the club to a Christmas party for their families. This was decided at a meeting of the group Tuesday in the home of Mrs. James Johnson.

Included in the party will be a supper and a Christmas tree. Planning the menu will be Mrs. J. L. Hoelscher, Mrs. Arnold Lange and Mrs. Johnson. Arrangements for recreation will be made by Mrs. A. W. Schraeder, Mrs. M. E. Saunders and Mrs. T. I. Green.

Roll call was answered by members telling what they have enjoyed most about club work. A demonstration on putting in sleeves zippers, hems and making belts was given by the HD agent, Mrs. Mildred Eiland for 11 members.

Pat Flynn, a student at A&M, has been here for the Thanksgiving holiday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Flynn.

Local Couple Married In Lubbock

The parsonage of the First Methodist Church in Lubbock was the setting for the wedding Saturday evening of Luan Lawson and Jackie Touchstone, both of Big Spring.

The Rev. Elery Phillips, uncle of the bridegroom, performed the single ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Lawson, 1202 Lloyd, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Touchstone, 2111 Runnels, are parents of the couple.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a pink velveteen suit and carried a bouquet of white carnations. Bridal tradition was followed with the suit as something new, a blue garter, a borrowed white Bible, and a strand of pearls as something old. A lucky penny was in her shoe.

Following the nuptial service, a reception was held. The couple left for a brief wedding trip and, upon their return, will reside at 205 East 22nd Street.

The new Mrs. Touchstone will continue her study at Big Spring High School, where she is a sophomore. She is president of the Tri-Hi-Y; is a member of the Pep Squad and the FHA, and has been a Rainbow Girl.

The bridegroom, a prospective mid-term graduate of the local high school, will also resume his study. He is employed by Cannon's Shoe Store.

Attending the wedding from Big Spring were Mr. and Mrs. Neil Fryar, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Lowe, and the couple's parents.

Remember To Cushion Gift Parcels

It won't be long now before most of us will be busy wrapping Christmas gifts. And when you have gift packages that have to go through the mail it's always wise to tackle the packing job with extreme care and do your Christmas shipping early.

Nothing is more disappointing than to learn that your gift arrived at its destination in a condition something less than perfect.

When wrapping breakable articles or those which easily can be scratched or marred in any way, it's a good idea to use generous amounts of soft, cushioning material such as Kimpak.

You've probably handled Kimpak, a versatile cellucotton material, any number of times without knowing it by name. It's used for cushioning everything from large appliances to tiny vials of perfume.

You've no doubt seen it often in boxes of candy; it's that embossed tissue paper material which rests atop the candy. On large items it's the flexible substance applied to surfaces which are easily damaged.

If possible, it's recommended you save some of this Kimpak for the day you have to wrap fragile items for shipment. It'll come in nighty handy around Christmas time.

Thanksgiving Guests

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Kirk of Big Lake were Thanksgiving guests of Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Kirk, 2110 Runnels.

MRS. JACKIE TOUCHSTONE

The Christmas party of the Past Noble Grands Club of John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge has been rescheduled from Monday to Dec. 9 at 7 p.m. It will be held in the home of Mrs. D. G. Harris, 201 Dixie.

Westbrook Couple To Mark Golden Wedding

WESTBROOK — Mr. and Mrs. T. L. McKenney of Westbrook Rt. 1 will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary this afternoon, at an informal open house.

Setting for the occasion will be in the home of their son and daughter in-law at 716 Vine in Colorado City, Mr. and Mrs. Jack McKenney.

Other sons and daughters helping host the affair are Mrs. C. F. Dohoney of LaPorte; Rex McKenney of Westbrook; Mrs. A. J. Smith of Brownwood; Mrs. R. L. Westbrook of Odessa, and Mrs. O. B. Williams of Lamesa.

One daughter, Mrs. S. M. Bowman of Novato, Calif., will be unable to attend the celebration.

All friends of the honored couple are invited to call between the hours of 3 and 5 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. McKenney were both born in Delta County, and were married in Westbrook, Nov. 30, 1907.

Mrs. McKenney, the former Susie Little, moved to Mitchell County with her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Little in 1900. Her father purchased ranch land in the Conoway community south of Westbrook and built and operated the first cotton gin in Westbrook. McKenney with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. G. J. McKenney came to Mitchell County in 1897. Land for the town site of Westbrook was purchased from the elder Mr. McKenney.

The couple has 13 grand children and one great-grandchild—all of whom will attend the celebration except two granddaughters, Frances and Susan Bowman of Novato, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. McKenney have lived in Colorado City and Iatan community intermittently since their marriage. They are engaged in stock farming and maintain an interest in agricultural development in the area.

Lamesa BTU Gathers For Holiday Dinner

LAMESA — The Adult Training Union of the Woody Baptist Church held a Thanksgiving dinner Monday evening. Special music was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shipley. The Rev. Vernon King, pastor of the Grandview Baptist Church was the speaker for the evening.

A Thanksgiving motif was used in the decorations. Thirty-one attended the dinner. The Rev. Jack Stringer is pastor of the church.

Miss Lewis Honored At Bridal Tea

WESTBROOK — Mary Beth Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Lewis of Westbrook, was complimented at a bridal shower Friday evening at the Westbrook Baptist Church.

Miss Lewis is to be married to Joe Merren on Saturday. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Edd Morren of Westbrook, and the late Mrs. Moren.

Hostesses for the shower were Mrs. M. A. Gann, Mrs. Orlean Cook, Mrs. Altis Clemmer, Mrs. W. T. Brooks, Mrs. D. J. Barber, Mrs. P. E. Clawson, Mrs. Willie Byrd, Mrs. F. B.Oglesby, Mrs. A. G. Anderson and Mrs. L. Hazelwood.

The centerpiece was composed of a wedding ring, wedding bells, miniature bride and groom, pink carnations and blue streamers with the names "Mary Beth and Joe." Candles were at each end of the table and table appointments were silver.

Mrs. Clemmer and Mrs. Brooks presided at the tea table, which was laid with a white cloth.

The receiving line was headed by Mrs. Gann who greeted the guest and introduced the honorees, Mary Beth and Joe, their parents, his grandmother, Mrs. Brown of Colorado City, the bride-elect's sister, Mrs. Ray Eiden of Abilene.

Sister of the prospective bridegroom, Pat Morren of Big Spring, presided at the registry.

Out of town guests were from Colorado City, Big Spring and Abilene.

MRS. ARLTON HALE DeVANEY

Arlton DeVaney Weds Linda Cary In Loraine

Marriage vows of Linda Gay Cary, Loraine, and Arlton Hale DeVaney, Coahoma, were pledged Friday evening in Loraine. The Rev. Bobby Rine, pastor, read the double ring ceremony in the First Baptist Church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Garland Cary, Rt. 2, Loraine, and Mr. and Mrs. C. H. DeVaney, Coahoma.

The bridal party stood before an altar centerpiece of stock which was flanked with candelabra banked in greenery and mums.

Traditional wedding music was played by Mrs. K. L. Taylor, organist. Fran Griffin sang "Always," and Louis Lovelace, cousin of the bridegroom, was soloist for "The Lord's Prayer."

BRIDAL GOWN

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attired in an original model of Chantilly lace and tulle over imported oriental satin. The fitted bodice, buttoned down the front with simulated pearls and featuring a fly-away collar, was attached to a ballerina length skirt of scalloped lace. Sleeves of the gown tapered to a point at the hands. The veil of silk illusion was caught to a half hat with rows of simulated pearls. Springolators with rhinestone studded heels completed the bridal attire.

Golda Cary, Loraine, was her sister's maid of honor. Her ballerina skirted dress of ice blue polished cotton was caught at the waist with a cummerbund. The bodice was cut with a bateau neckline and elbow length sleeves.

Rosalie DeVaney, Coahoma, sister of the bridegroom, was bridesmaid. Her frock of pink polished cotton was identical to that of Miss Cary. Both wore wristlets of carnations.

Altar tapers were lighted by La Von Claxton of Midland, and Jane Dobbs, Wichita Falls.

Elvon DeVaney, Coahoma, served as best man for his brother. Groomsman was Richey Carey, Lubbock, brother of the bride. Bill Tindoll, Coahoma, and Bobby Hicks, Andrews, were ushers. The bride's cousin, Johnny Horton of Corpus Christi, was the ring bearer.

RECEPTION

Blue and white were predominant in decorations for the reception at the church.White net over a blue cloth covered the table which held a miniature bridal couple and the bride's bouquet. The two-tiered wedding cake was iced in white and accented with blue wedding bells.

Betty Griffin, Loraine, was at the register. Other members of the house party were Mrs. John Horton, Corpus Christi, aunt of the bride, and Virginia Caine, Loraine.

WEDDING TRIP

For the wedding trip the couple is in Louisiana. Mrs. DeVaney selected a blue sheath dress with black accessories for traveling. Upon their return they will reside in Coahoma.

The bride is a 1957 graduate of Loraine High School. Her husband was graduated from Coahoma High School last year and is employed by Marks Construction, Midland.

Woolknits Give Good Dividends In Fashion

Being well-dressed at all times doesn't necessarily involve owning an extensive, costly wardrobe. It means having clothes that are always wearable, ready for immediate use without showing telltale signs of active performance.

Nothing fits these requirements better than a woolknit dress or suit. There's never any last-minute fuss of pressing, or worry about wrinkles when you are en route somewhere. The natural springly resiliency of the woof fiber makes them stay as fresh and unmussed as when new.

The new group of woolknit fashions for holiday and resort wear has a special new excitement in silhouette, texture and unusual yarn designs. Handsome pattern effects are achieved with embossed tracery, welted stripes and bulky rib trims; there are plaids that have a woven feeling but with a better performance record, and a novel wool snakestitch with a rich three-dimensional appearance.

These bulky knits provide the best background ever discovered for long-haired furs that are enjoying such a spectacular revival. An example is the double-breasted suit in magnified knit, relaxed in feeling, trimmed with a sporty shawl collar of raccoon.

It's the flexible, supple-fitting quality of knitted wool that makes it adaptable to the new easy line of fashion, in gently bloused one-piece dresses, suits with free-action jackets, two-piece dresses with permanently rib-pleated skirts; dress and jacket costumes go from office to party. There are even special styles for Talls.

The ever-ready virtues of woolknits have been further enhanced by some new tricks that make fitting possible without expensive alterations. A three-way flexible waistline can be adjusted to short, average or tall figures simply by shifting on elastic-band. A new magic-string hemline enables a woman to choose her proper skirt length by pulling a thread on one, two or three hem strips, leaving a finished selvage edge that requires no sewing.

Electric Christmas

Electricity rules the roost in most homes. Last year the 10 top-selling home electrical appliances were clocks, irons, fans, skillets, coffee-makers, washing machines, food mixers, toasters, vacuum cleaners and refrigerators, in that order. Television sets, radios and record players were not lumped with this group.

German Christmas

German writers first referred to lighted Yuletide trees. In 1737 a writer commented on a woman who lit her tree with candles.

Secretarial Exams Will Take In Canadian Groups

Canadian secretaries will have their first opportunity to take the Certified Professional Secretary examination when it is held May 2 and 3, 1958. This was announced by Ernestine Dismuke, publicity chairman of the local chapter of The National Secretaries Association.

The examination will be open to qualified Canadian secretaries, 25 years of age or older, men as well as women, members or non-members of The National Secretaries Association. Purpose of the test is to give secretarial work professional status. It also provides the busy executive with an efficient means of identifying secretaries capable of filling top level positions in their field.

In order to receive the CPS rating and certificate, secretaries must pass all parts of the two-day, 12-hour examination which covers six phases of secretarial work. These include personal adjustment and human relations; business law; business administration, secretarial accounting; secreatrial skills; secretarial procedures.

Wrapping Tape Is Material For Tree

Decorating packages is fun. For a stylized Christmas tree, use a long strip of green gift wrap tape down the center to form the trunk.

Then place strips of red tape across it. The tree is shaped by narrowing the size of the cross strips as you work toward the top.

MRS. JOHN WELDON RATLIFF

(Photo by Bradshaw)

Miss Threatt, John Ratliff Repeat Vows

In a single ring ceremony performed at the home of the bride's mother, Hazel Marie Threatt became the bride of John Weldon Ratliff Saturday evening.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Dulah Graham, 711 Abrams, and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Ratliff, Sterling City Route.

The Rev. Ray Myers, pastor of the Westside Baptist Mission, read the vows as the bridal party stood before a fireplace with an arrangement of pink and white gladioli on the mantel. White candles in crystal holders were used on each side of the flowers.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Frank Threatt of El Paso. Her gown was of white lace, fashioned with a fitted bodice and full circular skirt. Made in shirtwaist style, the blouse featured a turnback collar and brief slit sleeves. A tiny half hat was formed of pink feathers. She carried a white Bible with a cluster of pink and white carnations on it.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Creelman were the couple's attendants.

During the reception, refreshments were served by Omega and Blanche Ratliff, sisters of the bridegroom, and Tonie Roman. Mrs. Janetta Griffice was at the guest register.

The bride's table, in a cutwork cloth of white, held crystal serving appointments and the wedding cake decorated in white and pink frosting. Candles in crystal holders flanked the cake.

Out of town guests were Bob Threatt of California and Frank Threatt, brothers of the bride, and Cayll Ratliff of Amarillo, a cousin of the bridegroom.

Dinner At Beckhams For Baptist SS Class

LAMESA — Mr. and Mrs. Sparky Beckham entertained with a Thanksgiving dinner at their home Tuesday evening for members of the Welcome Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church.

The serving table was laid with a lace cloth, while a cornucopia formed the center arrangement. Flanking the arrangement were red tapers in silver holders. Silver appointments were used on the table. Fall leaves and grains centered the quartet tables.

Following dinner Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Beckham showed slides of their trip to Europe. Twenty attended the dinner.

Return From Houston

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Hailey of Big Spring returned home Saturday after spending a week visiting their son, Cmdr. Robert H. Hailey, in Houston. Cmdr. Hailey is an instructor at Rice Insitute.

CAMPUS CHATTER

By KATHY McREE

The Thanksgiving holidays have been a weekend of reunions for all the returning college kids. A get-together was held at Cecilia McDonald's house Friday afternoon and Friday evening with the kids coming and going the whole time.

Those attending were: John Davenport, Frosty Forrester, Ricky Terry, Donnie Bryant, Jerry Forsythe, John Janak, Judy Kloven, Joe and Nancy Liberty, Frank Powell, Helen Gray, Lou Ann White, Sue Boykin, Walter Dickenson, Wayne Dittloff.

Also, Jacqueline Smith, Jackie Johnson, Jerry Barron, Charles Johnson, Milton Davis, Jimmy McCrary, J. D. Adams, Darlene Agee, Charlene Lansing, Kirby Brown, Toni Curtis, Gerald Lackey, Kathy McRee, Carol Rogers, Mike Musgrove, Ronnie King and Danne Green.

Janie Murphy had a surprise visit from two of her friends—Carol Megason from Dallas and Betty Sherrin from Texarkana Junior College—who visited until today.

The Jayhawks won over Sayre, Okla., last Tuesday night by a large margin. At the game cheering the Hawks were Ben Faulkner, Melinda Crocker; Cookie Sneed, Rodney Sheppard; Guinette Gibbs, Don Anderson, Janey Murphy, Jo Ann Mobbs, Carol Letcher.

At the dance following the game were: Bill Borries, Gay Bownds; Julie Rainwater, Delbert Shirey; Londa Coker, Larry Glore; Bennie Carver; Sammie Sue McComb; Donald Lovelady, Truett Newell, Dude Cluck, Mike Tate, David Barton, Billy Bluhm, Jimmy Seagraves, Jimmy Parks, Donna Belew, Freda Donica, Ronnie King, Jerry McPeters and Tommy Zinn.

The First Baptist Young People held a Thanksgiving banquet last Tuesday night before the game. Ben Faulkner, Melinda Crocker; Londa Coker, Kathy McRee, Oakey Haygood, Tommy Pickle, Kirk Faulkner were a few who attended.

Most of the HCJC students returned home for the Thanksgiving holidays, but Royce Walker and his father decided to take off and go deer-hunting. Bound for Mason County, they were to return Saturday.

Ben Lockhart and Roger Fleckstein journeyed to the regional football game at Pyote Thursday. After the game, Roger returned home, and Ben went to Monahans to visit relatives.

Cookie Sneed and Barbara Coates were happy to see Wednesday afternoon roll around because that was when they left for Seminole.

John Richardson returned home this weekend to visit Billie Freeman. John is a student at Texas Tech and a former student of HCJC.

Bennie Compton and Lovelle Fletcher went to Roby Wednesday to meet Mary Sue Hale and Freddie Stuart, who are students at North Texas, to bring them to Big Spring.

Don Anderson and his family have taken advantage of the holidays also. They went to Corpus Christi to visit relatives.

Larry Glore was the guest of Bill Borries and Tommy Zinn this weekend at Irving.

Houston was the destination of Darrell Ferguson and his family. They planned to visit Ronnie Ferguson, who is working as a chemist there.

Bobby Shirey of Lovington visited the campus of HCJC last weekend. Bobby is the younger brother of Delbert, a student here.

Also on the list of homeward-bound students are Charlie Dobbs and Mallard Bennett. They are both from Junction.

The Jayhawks are playing another game Tuesday night at the HCJC gym. Everyone is urged to come out and back them all the way! Having won our first two games, we have our eyes centered on this game with Decatur Junior College.

Pointed Opinion On Complainers Is Given By Woman Who Was One

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

A woman who sits at home and complains because her husband is too busy to take her out dining and dancing is not only a dope but also is well started on the road to Reno, says Phyllis Cerf, pretty wife of one of America's busiest men, publisher-author-TV panelist Bennett Cerf.

The only sensible thing for a wife to do, says Phyllis, is to get busy herself and develop just as many fascinating outside interests as her husband has.

Mrs. Cerf is a publisher in her own right, author or co-author of half a dozen successful books, a nationally famous puzzle expert, a newspaper columnist and a regular contributor to a national magazine. Her latest book, "The Complete Family Fun Book," which she co-authored with her friend and puzzle collaborator, Edith Young, has just been published by Random House and contains several hundred ways to avoid being bored.

In addition this very busy wife is the mother of two sons, Christopher, 16, and Jonathan, 11, runs an apartment in New York and a home in the country, entertains lavishly and loves her husband.

"When we were first married," says Phyllis, "Bennett was hopping around like a cat on a hot tin roof, doing thousands of things, and I was complaining. Then I got smart and got busy too."

Before her marriage Phyllis had been successively a movie actress, an advertising executive and author of radio scripts. Then she was introduced to Bennett Cerf by the late Harold Ross, editor of the New Yorker magazine, and forgot all about careers for a time.

Carol Lee To Head Lamesa Latin Club

LAMESA — Carol Lee was recently named president of the Lamesa High School Junior Classical League, an organization for Latin students at the school. Other officers elected were Mike Miller, vice president; O'Linda York, secretary; Larry Marshall, treasurer; Charlene Short, social chairman; and Connie Nix, program chairman.

Members elected to the social committee with Miss Short are Clarkie Mires, Zant Woodul, Buddy Bryant and Sue Green. On the program committee are Sandra Jordan, Eddy Holder and Ruth Felnniken.

Survey Shows Five Colors Preferred In Bathroom Decor

Soft, decorative color schemes are popular in bathrooms today. But women, who are the arbiters of most home decoration, have definite opinions about their choise of color and will insist that it be carried down to the smallest details.

This point was brought out in a recent consumer survey on contemporary styling of bathrooms.

For this reason many of the more popular bathroom tissues now are obtainable in color. The quality, two -ply tissues are offered in five differnt colors—pink, blue, green, yellow and white—the shades wanted most often by the homemaker, it was found.

Local Choirs To Present Outstanding Yule Music

Performances of outstanding Christmas compositions will be presented by local groups during the coming season. Two of the programs will be presented the same afternoon but on a schedule which will permit citizens to hear both.

The choir at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church will present Handel's "Messiah" Dec. 15 at 3:30 p.m. at the HCJC Auditorium, while the combined HCJC and First Methodist Church choirs will give the "Christmas Oratorio" by Saint-Saens at 5:30.

The St. Paul's group has been working on the Messiah since Oct. 1. Practically the entire choir will be from the church. The String Symphonette from Odessa, directed by James Gambino, will accompany the choir.

Ira Schantz, music director at First Methodist and instructor at HCJC, will direct the combined church and college choir in the "Christmas Oratorio." It will be presented at First Methodist Church. Schantz will welcome other singers to join in the program. Organist will be Mrs. Champ Rainwater, while Jack Hendrix, HCJC music instructor, will be at the piano.

The church choir has already started on the composition, but the HCJC group will not take it up until next week.

Other churches are planning special musical programs.

At the First Presbyterian, Mrs. Mentora Carter is working with the church choir on a program to be presented the night of Dec. 15. The program will be a medley of Christmas songs with several solos, duets, and other ensembles.

A Christmas cantata at the East Fourth Baptist Church will feature the church choir under the direction of Paschal Harris and a youth drama group directed by Mrs. George Thomas. Both groups are already working on the program to be given the night of Dec. 22.

Also presenting a cantata will be Wesley Methodist Church, the night of Dec. 22. The church choir is already preparing for the program.

Baptist Temple will present a program of Christmas music the night of Dec. 15. The church choir under the direction of Mrs. H. M. Jarratt will be joined by the junior and primary choirs of the church in the general music program. Several different ensembles will be featured.

The First Baptist Church, the evening of Dec. 15, will present the Story of Christ in music and words. A narrator will continue the story between songs by the church, junior, and primary choirs. Wayne Nance is directing the program.

Course In Wrapping Gifts Set At HCJC

Howard County Junior College will conduct a short course in Christmas gift wrapping on Dec. 2, 3 and 4.

The course is primarily designed to train employes of stores in the art of preparing gifts rather than as a training program for individuals who merely want to know how to attractively adorn their own presents.

However, if there is room in the class—it is limited to 30 and no students beyond that number will be accepted—the individual who wants to know how the professionals do the job is welcome to enroll. The fee for the three night course is $2. Each class session will last from 7 to 9 p. m. The classes will be conducted in the PA 102 room at the college.

Five have already enrolled. A check of several stores by college officials has indicated that most of these plan to have their own employes attend.

Selected as a teacher for this year's course is Mrs. Elva Biffar, who has been head gift wrapper for Hemphill-Wells for the past three years.

"I have never taught anything but a Sunday School class," said Mrs. Biffar, "and I don't know how well I'll do as a 'college prof.' I intend to try hard, though."

Hemphill-Wells, she said, usually has from 12 to 15 gift wrappers on duty at the peak of the season and she has helped in the three Christmases she has been at the store with instructing new employes there. Her success in the field led to her selection by HCJC to direct this second annual package wrapping short course.

"I learned myself," she said, "by trial and error, and I think I can help anyone who wants to avoid many of the mistakes I made."

It is pointed out that each student should provide himself with two boxes or more of different sizes; with a sufficient quantity of Scotch tape, ribbon, wrapping paper and a pair of scissors.

It was suggested, if enough interest is generated and more than 30 students show up for the classes, a second three-night session may be held—possibly on Dec. 9, 10 and 11. This date, however, is so close to the rush season that it may not be practical to attempt a second round.

Last year, the initial session in this training brought out 57 persons eager to enroll. The college, aware of the difficulty this created, has decided that this year's class must be strictly limited to 30.

Wash Diamond To Keep It Gleaming

To make your diamonds sparkle like Christmas stars during the holidays, clean them in the following manner:

Diamonds may be washed with three parts hot water and one part ammonia or a solution of soap or detergent in hot water. However, never take diamonds out of hot water and dip immediately in cold water. This may crack them.

GLITTERING ANGELS will wink at holiday guests as table centerpieces or from mantel. Shape bodies from cones of metallic paper, heads of tree ornaments and wings of household wrap. Tinsel and glitter add glow.

Christmas Angels Gay, Easily Made

Christmas angels — colorful, twinkling and, best of all, easy to make — are a charming approach to holiday decoration. They're assembled quickly from metallic paper, three sizes of tree ornaments, a few feet of tinsel, metallic glitter and a roll of sparkling Saran Wrap.

The whole idea is based on cones of varying sizes — from 3 inches high (small enough to hang on the tree or use as place cards at your Christmas table) to 12-inch cones, large enough to become the center of attraction as table or mantelpiece decor.

Make cones by cutting metallic paper into a circle; slit to center point. Lap over edges and paste. Remove wire hanger from Christmas tree ball and fit ball over point of cone. Secure with a dab of florist's clay or cellophane tape.

Select balls of proportionate size to cones. Sparkling wings are made by doubling a rectangular piece of Saran Wrap and folding it into fine pleats. Attach at back of cone with tape.

To make demure, smiling faces, use nail polish for the mouth, black or brown eyebrow pencil for brows and curling lashes. A wreath of tinsel forms the little crowns and neck ruffs. Sprinkle gold glitter inside the crown for hair and along the edges of wings and skirt.

For your table centerpiece try a group composed of a large angel surrounded by smaller ones. On your mantelpiece center a large figure with three angels of graduated size on either side. Hang a large angel attached to a pine or balsam spray to your door to say "happy holidays" to one and all. Top your gift packages with small angels for another sparkling surprise.

Parade To Open Christmas Season

A dramatic portrayal of "The Christmas Story" will mark the advent of the 1957 Christmas season here Tuesday.

An all-Scriptural parade, featuring floats prepared by 15 churches and Webb Air Force Base, will tell the story. It is scheduled for 4:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Following the procession, downtown street decorations will be lighted and will shine until after Christmas.

The parade will coincide with Santa Claus' first visit to the city this year. He will be accompanied by the Big Spring High School Band as he rolls into town in the wake of the parade.

After Santa's visit, stockings of Christmas candy will be passed out to all youngsters on hand. Distribution of the candy is to take place on the courthouse square.

Here are the parade floats and the scenes they will portray:

The Open Bible, on a float prepared by the Salvation Army.

Reading the Christmas Story on Christmas Eve, a family scene arranged by the Wesley Memorial Methodist Church.

The Prophecy (Isaiah 7-14), "Therefore the Lord Himself shall give you a sign; Behold, a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and shall call his name Immanuel." To be prepared by the First Presbyterian Church.

The Announcement to Mary (Luke 1-26), "And in the sixth month the angel Gabriel was sent from God unto a city of Galilee,, named Nazareth, to a virgin espoused to a man whose name was Joseph, of the house of David; and the virgin's name was Mary. And the angel came in unto her, and said, Hail, thou that are highly favored, the Lord is with thee; blessed art thou among women."

The Announcement to Joseph (Matthew 1-20), "While he thought on these things, . . . the angel of the Lord appeared unto him in a dream saying, Joseph . . . take unto thee Mary thy wife: for that which is conceived in her is of the Holy Ghost. And she shall bring forth a son, and thou shalt call his name Jesus . . ." Float by Baker Methodist Chapel.

The Journey to Bethlehem (Luke 2-1), "And it came to pass in those days, that there went out a decree from Caesar Augustus, that all the world should be taxed. . . . And all went to be taxed, every one into his own city. And Joseph also went up from Galilee . . . unto the city of David, which is called Bethlehem; . . . to be taxed with Mary his espoused wife, being great with child." Float by Baptist Temple.

Mary, Joseph and the Inn Keeper (Luke 2-7), "And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn." Float by West Side Baptist Church.

Angel and Shepherds (Luke 2-8), "And there were in the same country shepherds abiding in the field, keeping watch over their flock by night. And, lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them . . . And the angel said unto them, fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy . . . For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord . . . Float by St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

The Heavenly Host (Luke 2-13), "And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God, and saying, Glory to God in the Highest, and on earch, peace, good will toward men." Float by First Baptist Church.

Three Wise Men (Matt 2-1), "Now when Jesus was born in Bethlehem of Judaea in the days of Herod the King, behold, there came wise men from the east of Jerusalem." Float by First Christian Church.

Wise Men before Herod (Matt 2-7), "Then Herod, when he had privily called the wise men, enquired of them diligently what time the star appeared." Float by East Fourth Baptist Church.

The Manger Scene (Luke 2-7), "And she brought forth her firstborn son, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and laid him in a manger; because there was no room for them in the inn." Float by St. Thomas Catholic Church.

Manger with Wise Men and Shepherds with Gifts (Luke 2-7), "And the shepherds and wise men were led by a star to Bethlehem and the manger where they found the young child with Mary his mother, and fell down, and worshipped him: and when they had opened their treasures, they presented unto him gifts; gold, and frankincense, and myrrh." Float by College Baptist Church.

Presentation of Infant Jesus in Temple (Luke 2-22), "And when the days of her purification according to the law of Moses were accomplished, they brought him to Jerusalem, to present him to the Lord." Float by First Mexican Baptist Church.

A Family in Prayer, Thankful for Christ. Float by First Church of God.

An International Scene (Rev. 22-16), "I, Jesus, am the root and offspring of David, and the bright and morning star." Float by Webb Air Force Base.

STUDENTS TO HAVE SHORTER YULE VACATION THIS YEAR

Big Spring pupils will have a shorter-than-usual Christmas holiday this year.

Classes are being suspended for only one week this year in the city schools. In addition, a one-day holiday is to be granted for observance of New Year's Day.

At Howard County Junior College, the usual two-week Christmas vacation will be observed.

City schools will shut down for Christmas on Friday afternoon, Dec. 20. Classes will be resumed on Monday, Dec. 30. Two days later, New Year's Day will be observed.

The schedule at HCJC calls for dismissal of classes at noon Friday, Dec. 20. School will be resumed at 8 a.m., Jan. 6.

The one-week vacation in the public schools was set by teachers, who voted on the matter at the end of school last spring. They decided an earlier start on the long summer vacation would be preferable to a two-week vacation at Christmastime.

Schedules haven't been announced by schools in most neighboring communities. Principal Doyle Fenn at Gay Hill said the school there will observe the same schedule as Big Spring. Russell Howle, principal at Elbow, reported students there will have one week off for Christmas, but that no observance of New Year's Day is planned.

Some Stores To Remain Open In Evenings For Yule Season

Big Spring stores will operate on their own individual shopping hour schedules for the Christmas season, a spot check of establishments indicates.

There is no uniform plan in force in the town—each establishment seems to be more or less on its own. Many of the stores, apparently, prefer a plan which will keep their doors open until 8 p.m. for the 10 days immediately preceding Christmas. Other establishments will have different schedules. Some of the larger establishments are talking about remaining open extra hours on Dec. 19, 20, 21 and 23.

Hemphill-Wells indicated it planned no late shopping hours at all—the store will operate at regular hours throughout the holiday season.

Big Spring Chamber of Commerce said that it was understood nearly every store in town will be open until 8 on the night of Dec. 16. This is the date of a holiday event dubbed "Treasure Hunt," which will be observed as "Family Night."

Downtown store managers were unanimous in voicing a wish that some sort of common understanding on this problem could have been reached. Some were reluctant to say just what they would do in the matter of later shopping hours immediately ahead of the holiday—indicating their action would be largely controlled by the decision of their competitors.

Only one store — Anthony's — showed any consideration to a plan to operate later hours steadily from Dec. 3 on through Dec. 24 but it was not established that this would be adopted. Circumstances will determine the final outcome.

Shoppers are reasonably certain to be provided with extra shopping hours the last week before the holiday. Some stores will extend that period to at least 10 days and a few, perhaps, to three weeks.

Managers pointed out that a great many factors enter into any decision to extend shopping hours. The problem of adequate and competent help is one issue. The regular staffs of the stores cannot be expected, it was said, to work the extra hours involved and finding suitable replacements for the longer hours is not always easy.

A few stores, it was said, have found that later shopping hours do not seem to serve any great benefit. Some managers said their experience has shown the volume of business, provided by such a program does not always prove adequate to offset the operation costs and the difficulties of staffing the storees.

Stores reported that Christmas buying has already begun but that the tempo so far has been light. The grand rush will probably make itself evident starting with December.

Buffet Meal Is Easily Managed

A buffet meal is an easy meal to manage and is a wise way to entertain friends during the holidays. Guests relax more and the hostess has time to enjoy herself.

Decorate the table with a small, white Christmas tree trimmed with red glitter balls. Set it on the back of the buffet, out of the way of dishes.

Brighten Up Pots

Brighten containers for plants by wrapping them in aluminum foil.

Most Christmas Trees To Arrive Here From Canada

Most of the Christmas trees which will adorn Big Spring living rooms this holiday season will be products of Canada.

Bulk of the Yule tree stock sent here for the holiday demand consists of Douglar fir grown in the Dominion.

Supplies of trees will be arriving this week. They will make their appearance on Dec. 5.

The Optimist Club and the Big Spring Chapter of the Order of DeMolay is cooperatively conducting a Christmas tree sales effort this year. Many homes will be supplied with trees from this assortment.

However, many stores will also stock trees and it appears that ample and abundant supply of the traditional holiday greenery has been ordered for the community.

Charles Rusk, member of the Optimist Club, who is working in close cooperation with the DeMolays in the joint tree operation, said that arrangements have been made for the trees to be displayed on the lot adjacent to the Cunningham-Phillips drug store. He said he has been advised the shipment should be on hand and ready for sale by Dec. 5.

Advance sales by the DeMolay, who have canvassed the town, have been fair, Rusk reported. However, he said if the two organizations are to be successful in their enterprise, a heavy sale of trees from the lot will have to be achieved.

Children Can Perform Many Yule Chores

SANTA had better guard his beard as little girl staples decorations, gift wraps and even Santa apron.

Half the joy of Christmas for most children is to be allowed to help with the preparations. There are numerous ways for busy parents to put eager, ingenious little hands to work.

For one thing, Sis and Junior will find it fun to use an ordinary desk stapler to make decorations for parties, packages, the Christmas tree and table, and themselves.

Staple candy kisses in their silver foil wrappings to gaily colored ribbon and string on tree or hang nut cups covered with crepe paper and ribbon holders attached. Cotton whiskers can be stapled on Santa Claus figures and halos fitted on angels.

A little girl can make an attractive Christmas apron by cutting a piece of white oilcloth into the shape of a snowman, and then using her Bostitch stapler to fasten on a black oilcloth hat, eyes and nose. Red oilcloth buttons and ribbons to hold the apron around neck and waist can be stapled on to complete the simple and colorful outfit.

Sis can make an apron for Mother, too. A piece of red or green organdy can be cut into a dainty apron shape. Staple on felt Christmas trees, angels and powder puffs simulating snowballs. A shimmering tinsel border is then fitted to the apron with staples.

To create interesting package wrappings use the fastener as a tacker with the head swung back.

And here's an idea for displaying Christmas cards. Simply staple them to red, green, gold or silver ribbon and hang the ribbon across the fireplace or Christmas tree. You might even frame your doorway with cards.

PRECUT CARDBOARD dollhouse has young man in home builder mood. Brightly colored house and furniture fold into correct shapes. Can be home for little girl's dolls or fort for cavalry unit.

MECHANIZING YOUTH

Shop Tools, Model Kits Make Play Instructive

Toy makers are taking the strain off dad, whose coveted power tools hold a strange fascination for the young do-it-yourselfs of the house.

The toy industry already is producing battery powered lathes, sanders, drills and other shop tools for the younger set. These tools will help Junior learn the fundamentals of woodworking and other crafts.

To insure safety, cutting edges are designed in rubber or some other nondestructive material.

The ever-popular hand tools for the juvenile Mr. Fix-its are also musts in the miniature home workshop.

A special automobile which shows all of the working parts will delight the mechanics of tomorrow. It enables Junior to learn first-hand what makes an automobile run.

For the youthful home gardener, there is an elaborate array of yard tools. The miniatures range from trowels to power mowers — everything needed to assist in home garden projects.

Rainy days can be occupied with a growing variety of kits which keep young designers busy for hours, according to the Toy Manufacturers of the U.S.A., official spokesman for the toy industry. There are scale model boats, airplanes, automobiles and trains, all popular among the youngsters as well as the oldsters.

JUNIOR engineer tops a skyscraper. Structural steel buildings rise from panel and girder kit.

A Bible Thought For Today

Beloved, follow not that which is evil, but that which is good. He that doeth good is of God: but he that doeth evil hath not seen God. (3 John 11)

Stressing The Real Meaning

To say that our pre-Christmas parade on Tuesday will be the first all-Scriptural procession would be a foolish claim.

To say that it is the first time to which we have given such total emphasis to the real meaning of Christmas is to reflect the facts.

In the past we have had an odd mixture of the religious and legendary themes; we have varied from the storybook to the openly commercial. We have paraded everything from Mother Goose characters to fiddle bands.

Rather recently we settled upon the efficacy of contributing money to churches for creation of floats with a spiritual basis rather than have them contesting one another for a prize.

This year participation promises to be the best yet from our churches, and if the quality of their displays measures up to past years, we will see some striking floats Tuesday afternoon.

While this will more or less signal the advent of the pre-Christmas season, the exclusive message of the parade at least should give us a better perspective on the meaning of Christmas—giving out of love. "For God so loved the world . . ."

Memorializing The Old Timer

Many months ago, following up on an idea which was suggested to us, we advanced the thought of a park which would adequately honor our pioneers.

The tract of land we had in mind was the "Brennand" place, or later known as "Pool" place. The reasons for suggesting this particular piece of ground which lies south of 12th street and west of Lancaster are several. For one thing, it is centrally and thus ideally located; for another it is a historic residential property; for still another it has sufficient acreage for a park; and finally, it already has some magnifient willows and other trees as well as some rather profuse and sizeable junipers along the canyons which finger into the basin.

Recently, city commissioners were discussing what to do about the museum, and in the course of conversation, the "pioneer park" idea was mentioned.

We think it is proper to amplify the thought once more in the hope that some individual or group will give serious consideration to memorializing our early settlers and at the same time preserving a spot of intrinsic and natural beauty.

The city has no funds for purchase of park ground, nor is there immediate prospect of any. But if somehow such a property were conveyed to the city, surely means could be found for maintaining it and in due season to improve and develop it.

Christmas-Tree Trimming Is Dangerous

Almost before you know it, male members of households are going to be involved in that seasonal frustration called putting up the Christmas tree.

Now, if a fellow is a genius of a handyman, this may be no chore; but I submit that for the ordinary run of husbands, it definitely is an assignment to take a good part of the joys out of Christmas.

The Christmas tree business sort of comes under the do-it-yourself classification, a principle to which I am violently opposed. I have just gathered new ammunition in support of my position.

This comes from a published report which says that even when they stay home where they are supposed to be safe, men get themselves killed off twice as fast as women. In a recent 16-state survey, this report says, the National Safety Council found more than 1,000 men died in home accidents in one year, compared to fewer than 600 women.

The implication is that men climb up on roofs and ladders and fall off; they get tangled up in power tools; they stick their fists into the wrong electrical outlets, or their noses into the wrong gas lines; and they fool around with guns they thought weren't loaded.

It's partly due to misguided gallantry, the Safety Council says. If there's a risky job around the house to be done, like fixing the TV aerial, the man does it. Whether this is gallantry is open to question. In some cases it's the matter of the poor hubby getting brow-beaten into it.

The moral, of course, is not that the man of the house ought to send his wife up on the roof—even if he could. He ought to turn the job over to some other male, one of those handymen I mentioned, who's trained to do such work without getting a broken neck.

Women, in a general way, expect too much of husbands, anyway. Doubtless back in the days of romancing, we boys built up the impression that we were strong, husky, fit and ready for any chore, however challenging. But there's no reason for a wife, after years of learning otherwise, to regard her spouse as a genius who has mastered carpentry, plumbing, electrical installations and electronics, not to mention masonry and woodworking. This is asking too much.

For myself, I am going to keep these National Safety Council figures around, and when the gentle suggestion comes from the other side if the breakfast table that this would be a good day to get out and repair that sagging screen, I am going to cry in alarm:

"What you trying to do, kill me off? Right here it says 1,000 men get themselves killed messing around at household chores. You ready for the insurance, or something?"

Now, no good wife is going to admit she is ready to take the insurance, so she should quiet down—for a time.

And I hope the same procedure might work with putting up the Christmas tree—which, after all, is a job that ought to go with the cooking. It's mighty easy to get yourself electrocuted fooling with strands of Christmas lights, and to fracture your sacroiliac in trying to put that last ornament on top of the tree.

Christmas tree decorating is just too dad-gum dangerous, and now I've got myself just too scared to tackle it.

Problem Of Presidential Succession

WASHINGTON—The spotlight is again on Vice President Nixon. The popular conception has been developed that, if the President is temporarily indisposed, the second man takes over. Actually, nothing of the kind occurs.

The vice president can assist the cabinet officers and the heads of agencies in interpreting what is believed to be the President's wishes. But he has not the slightest bit more authority than when the President is on active duty and in good health.

Congress has struggled with the dilemma—how to permit lawful delegation of power to a vice-president and yet turn that same power back to a President when he recovers. It's the constitutionality of the action taken during an illness which is in question.

There has been talk about the fact that Mr. Eisenhower has said he would resign if he found himself incapacitated. The decision, of course, must be his. The President recommended some time ago that the vice president and the cabinet should be given constitutional power to determine whether a chief executive can or cannot carry on his duties. But Congress pigeonholed the proposal, largely because it doesn't really solve anything. Supposing a President disagrees that he is disabled—then what? Many a sick man insists he is well enough to carry on his duties.

When President Woodrow Wilson was ill, having suffered a paralytic stroke, Secretary of State Lansing called cabinet meetings, and there was discussion about a plan to have the vice president take over, but Thomas R. Marshall, the vice president, would have none of it. When Mr. Wilson subsequently learned about all this, he was angry, and it is believed that the forced resignation of Mr. Lansing later on was in part at least caused by this episode.

Basically, there is only one logical answer—though not yet recognized by the American people. It is that the people's elected body—the Congress—should always choose the chief executive, as is done in parliamentary countries. The majority party in Congress would retain possession of the presidency as long as the people willed it, as is the case with a prime minister in Canada, Great Britain, Australia and other countries in the free world. Incidentally, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, Sam Rayburn, Democrat, is in line under present law to become President after Vice President Nixon.

Unless a President, with his cabinet, is responsible directly to the people through Congress, there will always be doubt as to how to deal with the case of a chief executive who becomes ill and is unable to decide for himself whether or not to resign.

The situation today is that the doctors all say Mr. Eisenhower has merely suffered a temporary disability and that it does not affect his mental ability or his reasoning powers. Mr. Eisenhower may ponder what his duty is under the circumstances. He cannot look into the future and determine whether he will be sick again. He cannot assume that maybe he might be further incapacitiated and hence should resign. For he has a deep obligation to the electorate. He was elected for four years, and the people do not expect that a President will never be ill or out of commission for a brief period of time. They knew all the possibilities when they re-elected Mr. Eisenhower. After all, the people elect human beings and not supermen immune to the illnesses or contemporary life. What is really important is whether permanent incapacity—not temporary illness—is involved.

Mr. Eisenhower is a conscientious man. If he really feels he cannot go on, he will be the first to say so. But there hasn't been any evidence that such a critical decision is before him, though the newspapers have naturally been filled with speculation in that direction.

Fortunately, Mr. Eisenhower has taken every precaution to train a possible successor. He has brought Vice President Nixon into his most intimate councils. This has afforded Mr. Nixon a chance to show his abilities, and the word from those who have attended presidential conferences and cabinet meetings in the last five years is that the vice president has a keen perception, good judgment, and an unswerving loyalty to the Eisenhower policies. He has been reported recently by former critics as having "grown in stature." But the truth is the press in Washington has gotten to know his real ability, and he, on his part, has exhibited a commendable forthrightness in international policy, especially through his trips abroad. This has removed all suspicion of any alleged "isolationist" feelings or provincialism.

Mr. Nixon, moreover, has the faculty of understanding politics, which is a big advantage. For it enables him to sense popular currents and to understand underlying pressures in the nation. He is well equipped to help the President during his present illness and well equipped to take over if the situation should be such as to require actual succession.

Vast Forces Beyond The President's Health

To suggest that President Eisenhower's latest illness makes no change in the business outlook or world conditions is naive. The swift, panicky reaction in Wall Street Tuesday, immediately after the news was released, indicates the strong hold the President has on people—on investors and speculators, on persons who place a dollar sign on every event, international, national, and local.

If President Eisenhower has to take things easy, Washington activity, White House decisions, will be slowed down. And the President's influence in domestic and world affairs will diminish. Thus, Vice President Nixon is going to NATO Council in Paris, where the President's presence had been expected to exert a calming influence in the face of Russia's blustering cockiness over Sputnik.

Moreover, the President's health is bound to be a continuing concern for Americans and people throughout the world. His close advisers will have to shield him from unnecessary strain. And any slight indisposition will make front page news and the country nervous. The President was 67 on October 14. He suffered a heart attack on September 24, 1955; he had an ileitis operation on June 9, 1956. The record is a damper on consistent Wall Street enthusiasm. Uncertainty about a President's health creates apprehension.

Yet, when that has been said, the worst has been said. And it's significant that Wall Street reflected Wednesday after its reflex Tuesday. Stocks rebounded.

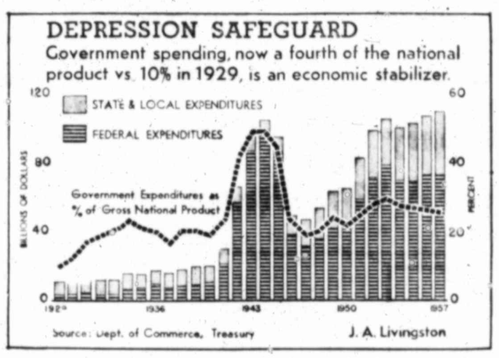
To me, and this is the dominant point, America's near-term future has been seized by recent events. The times control us, not we the times. We know what has to be done and are and will be doing it. The President, his associates, Congress are committed to:

1. An expanded and accelerated military effort, with emphasis on missiles and defense against missiles.

2. A program to ameliorate the economic readjustment which is already under way. Thus, the Federal Reserve Board has reduced the rediscount rate from 3½ per cent to 3 per cent, and Secretary of Labor James G. Mitchell, a man who gains increasing stature in the Cabinet, acknowledged that unemployment would rise considerably in January and February. He is forewarned, hence forearmed.

Prof. Sumner Slichter, of Harvard, made this sensible observation to Charles A. Schmutz, president of Standard & Poor's Corp.: "The Russians have significantly brightened the long run prospects for the economy. We owe them a vote of thanks." To which, Schmutz added his own comment: "America will make up for lost time. Red tape in Washington will be cut." Regardless of which party is in power, regardless of who directs strategy from the White House, defense has become paramount.

I noted last week that this is the era of Big Government: that total federal, state, and local expenditures constitute about one-quarter of the gross national output; that they are a stabilizing force against a catastrophic industrial decline, against unemployment which feeds on itself.



Consumers will from time to time curtail their purchases of automobiles, or clothing, or home furnishings, or new homes. But the U. S. won't, over the coming years, cut purchases of missiles, investment in scientific research, or demands for schools, roads, and other public services. Those are the collective requirements of an expanding population bent on fighting the spread of Communism and improving the standard of living.

It's significant that 64 per cent of our federal outlays today go for national security. Before we got into World War II, they came to only 12 per cent. In 1929, they were 23 per cent. This last seems high, doesn't it?

The federal budget then was $3.1 billions. Defense outlays amounted to only $0.7 billions a year, one-sixtieth of current levels. Admirals commanded a paper Navy, generals a putative Army. Government was small. Now, government has become America's biggest business.

During the thirties, government outlays climbed as President Roosevelt tried to lift the country out of the depression. They were 20 per cent of gross national output. Yet, they amounted to less than $20,000,000,000 as against $110,000,000,000 today. The total economy then was $100 billion, less than one-fourth of today's $437,000,000,000 (see chart).

In 1958, federal outlays are likely to increase. State and local government expenditures will go up too. Such outlays will help counterbalance declines in plant and equipment expenditures of corporations and curtailment of inventory.

As I said last week, Big Government is insurance against a depression. And I say it again, taking into account President Eisenhower's "cerebral episode."

The Secret Of Being Really Alive

You can never know when you are going to have an unforgettable experience. I had one on a cold, blustery morning last January in Muncie, Indiana. I had made a speech there the night before, and I arose early and went down to the dining room for breakfast.

Everyone else apparently had the same idea, for there wasn't a free table. But one man, sitting alone, looked up at me, seemed to recognize me, and courteously asked if I would sit with him. I had never seen him before nor have I seen him since, but I was very happy to join him. And I'm glad that I did, for he certainly had something to transmit.

"It's a great morning, isn't it, Doctor?" was the way he started out our conversation.

I looked out the window and answered: "It sure is: That's the greatest rain and slush I've seen in a long time."

"Oh," he said, "but it's cool and fresh. It's really a glorious morning."

"How's business?" was the only question I could think of to change the subject.

"Business is wonderful," he said, and started to tell me enthusiastically about a product he was selling.

"Tell me about your family," was my next suggestion.

And then he told me about how wonderful his wife and children are, and got me to talking with equal enthusiasm about my own. In no time at all, I forgot about the cold, rainy, slushy day outside. This man had real vitality and dynamism in every sense. He made the morning seem good.

"Do you know, my friend," I told him, "you actually do me good. You're a real tonic. You're alive and you're making me come alive also. How is it that you're so full of enthusiasm?"

He then pointed to a long scar on his forehead. "Not too long ago," he said, "I had a bad automobile accident. They took me to the hospital and I heard someone say, 'He won't live.' That thought kept turning over and over in my mind and I kept thinking, 'I'm going to die.' But in that daze, more than anything else, I knew I wanted to live. And although I was conscious only part of the time, I kept concentrating on wanting to live. And then one day I heard a voice say, 'He's going to live!'

"You have no idea of the sharp burst of happiness that went through me. I knew I would see my children grow up, have more years of happiness with my wife, see my friends, and move about actively in the good world. I was going to live! It was so wonderful.

"Then, I began to think and to ask myself whether I had really lived before. And I had to admit that I hadn't—not to my fullest. So I decided to dedicate to God this new life that I had been given, and I asked Him to help me make more of it. And He did. Now, believe me, I can hardly wait to get up in the morning to enjoy this reprieved life, and actually I hate to go to sleep at night for fear I will miss something fascinating."

This remarkable man had learned how really to be alive. Like him some people are very much alive, but others seemingly are crawling through life on their hands and knees.

How do you get to be alive in that complete manner? The Bible points the way: "In Him we live, and move, and have our being." That means, of course, that you are incomplete unless you are in tune with God, that you've never been fully alive unless you've found God and experienced spiritual vitalization. God is life, and only in Him can you profoundly be alive.

Anderson's Approach To Budget Issues

WASHINGTON — The hard choices which this administration faces, caught between the demand for far greater defense expenditures, the promise of a balanced budget and the debt ceiling and the evidence of a readjustment or recession, are now being worked out.

The budget for the year that begins next July 1 is being hammered together with great pain and anguish, and all the time the pressures for greater spending for national security increase. Secretary of the Treasury Robert B. Anderson's approach to these choices is more pragmatic, more experimental, than that of his predecessor, George M. Humphrey.

To Anderson, a balanced budget is important, but it will not stand in the way of greater spending for security that will certainly mean a request to Congress to raise the present $275 billion debt ceiling, an increase in taxes, deficit spending or perhaps all three at the same time.

As the assessment of America's defense position goes forward before Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson's Senate Preparedness subcommittee, Anderson is going to need all the flexibility he can muster to meet the demands certain to press down on the administration and Congress with increasing harshness.

In the testimony which impressed the Senate subcommittee so much, Dr. Edward Teller, the distinguished physicist who is credited with fathering the hydrogen bomb, touched on the need for protecting the civilian population from radioactive fallout and from the terrible "fire storm" that goes with the explosion of nuclear bombs.

Protection from fallout is relatively inexpensive. But to protect the peoples of the big metropolitan centers from fire storms following nuclear explosions would mean building deep shelters at the cost of many billions of dollars.

Even to begin such a program would add amounts to the budget far in excess of the sums now contemplated—perhaps an additional $1.8 to $2 billion above the present ceiling—for catching up with the Soviets in missile and rocket development and in other fields where the lag in our retaliatory power is most conspicuous.

For civilian defense, the administration requested for the current fiscal year $180,000,000, of which $50,000,000 depended on additional legislation being passed. The legislation did not go through, and of the remaining $120,000,000 sought, Congress appropriated $39,300,000. As an example of how deep the cuts were, the administration asked for $75,000,000 for stockpiling emergency supplies and equipment and this was cut back in Congress to a little more than $3,000,000.

The billions for shelters that Dr. Teller urged on the committee as an important step toward national security will almost certainly never be requested in the forthcoming budget, nor will such huge amounts be appropriated by Congress. But they do illustrate the unprecedented pressure building up in the wake of the discovery that the American military posture is not so strong as had been assumed.

With his caution, his discretion, his determination to make sure the budget will cover adequate security for the long pull, Anderson can be hopeful in at least one respect. That is that overall inflation is no longer a danger to the economy even though prices in some areas may continue to advance.

With respect to the readjustment taking place in the economy—administration spokesmen reject the word "recession"—Anderson is as cautious as he is on the budget and defense spending. But he is determined to appraise the consequences in humanitarian terms and in relation to all the tools of government available to try to check what could become a recession. Anderson makes it clear that these tools will be used when they are needed.

What Others Say

Secretary of State Dulles has posed an iffy situation in which he believes direct government controls on the economy might be necessary.

Just how this question comes into the purview of diplomacy is perhaps debatable. But anyway Mr. Dulles told his news conference that if the nation failed to give up or delay some non-military programs in order to concentrate on things that are vital, then the budget might get unbalanced. In that case, he said, "we may have to have some controls, possible stand-by controls, in relation to certain areas where inflationary pressure might make itself felt."

There are a couple of disturbing things about this thinking. One is that it seems to provide justification for those who want the government to do everything, or almost everything, at once.

Direct controls do not control inflation. For a time they may give the appearance of doing so to people who refuse to see what is actually happening. Sometimes they don't even give the appearance.

Mr. Dulles' views on economic controls were not particularly well received by other administration officials. Said one: "The thinking from the President on down is not to fool around with that kind of thing."

We hope that thinking continues to prevail. There is indeed a place for direct and stringent government economic controls—on the government's own budget. And that is the only place.

Bible Words for Today

TITUS 3:2—"Speak evil of no man....but (be) gentle, shewing all meekness unto all men." (King James)

* * *

My first knowledge of the medical profession was gained from our family doctors. In making a diagnosis of some childhood disease one of their first requests was, "Let me see your tongue." In our social contacts we cannot learn much by looking at the tongue, but by listening we soon know its kind and color.

Some deserve the reputation of having a merciful tongue, a kind word, and a gentle voice, while others are known to have a long tongue noted for gossiping, fault-finding, or profanity.

David took a stand which we need to follow today, when he wrote in Psalm 39:1, "I will take heed... that I sin not with my tongue: I will keep my mouth with a bridle." Such a resolution followed in spirit and in letter would greatly improve the fellowship in our churches, for most of the unpleasant experiences in our church life are caused by the uncontrolled tongue.

So the next time you are tempted to pick the pastor to pieces, complain about the choir, or find fault with the organist, remember the words of James 1:26, "If any man among you seemeth to be religious, and bridleth not his tongue,...this man's religion is vain."

Many Groups Join In Helping Needy

Many organizations will have a hand in giving food and gifts to needy persons at Christmastime here, with the amount of gifts reaching into the thousands of dollars.

Annually, the fire department cooperates with the Salvation Army in repairing toys to be given the day before Christmas to persons who will not have enough to give their children. Estimates of the toys given last year ran well above $10,000.

The firemen collect the toys, with the help of Shell Service stations. Shell stations act as collection centers for the toys and since they are more numerous and in more conspicuous places, they naturally get more toys than do the fire stations.

After toys are collected, firemen begin work on them, repairing, reworking, and assembling them. Out of the Christmas Cheer Fund, a large number of new undressed dolls are purchased, and various organizations undertake to dress them.

Many individuals also take some of the dolls. Last year, the fire department purchased 12 dozen dolls.

After all the toys are repaired and the work dressing the dolls completed, they will be transferred to the old Ford building at the corner of 4th and Bell. Prior to that, persons who need the toys will have registered with the Salvation Army. This registration brings the number of children who will need toys, and the Salvation Army workers can determine how to allocate the toys.

Then on Christmas Eve when the toys are given out, each family will be limited to a certain amount of large toys and an amount of smaller toys depending on the number of children.

The Christmas food baskets will be given out the same day as the toys. Last year, the Salvation Army gave out between 250 and 275 baskets valued between $12 and $15 at Christmas.

The Salvation Army used the same system for food as toys. This year, the unit is asking persons to come to the Salvation Army the week beginning Dec. 9 in the mornings from 9 to 12 and 1 to 4:30 p.m. each day ofr interviews about needs.

This way an accurate amount of families in need is obtained.

Money to finance the food baskets will come from street collections, and Lt. Fred Overton said that the Salvation Army would start its street collections Dec. 5.

Lay Away Good Supply Of Cookies

Cookies are the sweethearts of holiday merrymaking. Artfully decorated spiced goodies can be stockpiled for New Year's and Twelfth Night festivities and still be fresh.

For three dozen spiced press cookies sift 1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon ground cinnamon, ¾ teaspoon ground ginger and ½ teaspoon nutmeg together and set aside. Stir ½ cup butter or margarine until soft and fluffy and gradually blend in ½ cup sugar and beat in 1 egg.

Gradually stir in dry ingredients and mix well. Press dough through a cookie press onto an ungreased cookie sheet.

Decorate with colored sugar, glazed cherries, citron or nuts. Bake in preheated hot oven, 400 degrees, 8 to 10 minutes or until done. Cool on wire racks and store in a tightly closed jar or tin box.

Build A Chest For Your Kid's Christmas Toys

Corraling a deluge of Christmas toys is a problem in homes with little storage space. Be ready with a toy chest. One of ¾-inch plywood involves screwing six sheets together.

The six sheets measure: top and bottom, 46½x18 inches; front and back, 46½x17¾ inches; sides, 16½ x17 inches. Other materials are 48 1½-inch No. 10 flathead steel screws, 12 1½-inch No. 6 flathead steel screws and two ¾-inch wide butt hinges.

To assemble, place front piece face down and mark screw holes. The first hole starts 1¼ inches from the top edge with others spaced at 4-inch intervals from it. Follow the same procedure for the back and sides and bottom. Label each sheet.

Drill holes with a ⅛-inch bit in a ¼-inch drill. Join front and back to sides, with the shorter pieces simply placed against the longer pieces to form corners. Secure four sides with steel screws with ordinary screw driver or the speedy way with screw driver attachment for a Cummins ¼-inch drill.

Use try square to make certain the entire structure remains square and edges flush.

Fasten chest lid or top with two simple recessed butt hinges. Measure carefully placement of the hinge on back of chest. Then chisel out to the depth of the face of the hinge. Accuracy is extremely important. Mark and drill holes for screws. Secure hinges and fasten lid.

Put Skirt On Tree

Save your rug and hide the tree's ugly underpinnings. A round Christmas tree skirt is easily made of pie-shaped wedges. Reserve a wedge for presents for each member of the family.

Toyland Geared To Develop Aptitudes

Toyland, 1957 style, is geared to discover and develop the aptitudes of young Americans. Actually in the creative play activities they'll have a "life" in these United States" spread on the toy room floor.

Just name the career or hobby you choose for junior and his sister, or mention a few, and Santa is sure to have a kit ready to provide practical training, Melvin Freud, president of Toy Guidance Council, assures parents.

Radar, atomic energy and jet-propulsion principles have inspired a record variety of new toys. The latest equipment for home maintenance, cooking, sewing, arts and handicrafts, too, have practical play counterparts.

The boy whose father is a power tool fan can imitate Dad safely with his own power drill, a battery-powered device which drives screws and bolts only through a steel work bench that comes with the kit. The play drill also buffs and polishes.

The sports car influence is in evidence in wheel toys of all types. A realistic instrument panel of a sports car with wheel and gear shift attached is ready to keep young motorists occupied.

City planning will have top fascination for the young architect this Christmas. The latest speed method of skyscraper construction utilizing girders and panels has a toyland version. Suburban developments, too will sprout realistically on the playroom floor. Prefabricated techniques will aid junior builders achieve workmanlike effects.

Defense preparations against atomic attack also have inspired more play miniatures of military equipment than toyland has seen in a decade. The guided missile program particularly intrigues the playroom crowd.

Homemaking enlists the carpet sweeper as the latest labor-saving device to have a streamlined toy version.

Trees Big Business

Mark Carr, a Catskills woodsman, is said to be the pioneer in the huge American Christmas tree business. In 1851, he offered two sledloads of firs for sale in New York City. The idea caught on quickly with people who had neither time nor opportunity to cut their own trees.

Select Toys With The Right Challenge

The urge to buy "do-it-yourself" toys is strong. Just as Daddy can't resist puttering around with home projects.

However, avoid too easy or too difficult toys of this type. Lack of challenge will soon bore a child. Too much challenge will be discouraging.

Handy Man Can Make Decorations

A handy man with a saw can turn out a novel Christmas door wreath, with a colorful stage for a Christmas setting.

This is possible because of an attached shelf on which to display Nativity figures or Santa Claus and his reindeer.

A frame for the wreath can be made from one board, 11½ inches wide and 4 feet long. Ten-cent-store figures, glued to the shelf, make a center display.

Attach holly, laurel or other Christmas greens, pine cones and decorative ribbons by winding, tacking or stapling.

For the frame, draw two semi-circles, each 23 inches in diameter, on the board. When the curved rims are cut out with a coping saw, one of the resulting semicircular pieces is the shelf. On half of the other is the shelf bracket. Saw ½ inch from each of the straight sides of the brace, reducing the radius of the curve to approximately 8 inches.

Join the two curved rims with dowel joints and glue. Attach the brace to the shelf with 8-penny finishing nails and glue. Flatten the lower end of the brace by planning so that it fits evenly on the lower rim. Also flatten the rear corners of the shelf so they will fit evenly within the rim.

Fasten the shelf in place with recessed strap braces. Drill a hole 2 inches deep into the lower rim and secure the bottom of the brace with a finishing nail, using a nail set.

Hang the wreath with strong ribbon or fasten with screws in place of a door knocker.

Pretty Decorations Can Be Useful, Too

Why not combine the decorative with the useful at a holiday table for bridge or sewing club members?

Cut out appropriate Christmas symbols — bells, trees, Santas, angels or choir boys —from heavy paper or felt. Fasten them over a bottle of hand lotion for all feminine guests as favors.

Making such favors is simple. For a Christmas bell, select a rectangular piece of colored paper or felt, big enough when folded in half crosswise to cover a bottle of Trushay.

With the folded edge as the top, draw a bell on one side of the paper. Cut out, through both pieces of paper, taking care not to cut through at the top (folded edge). Cut a hole in the center of the folded edge so the bottle cap will slip through.

The bell is slipped over the bottle, covering it front and back like a sandwich-board sign. Decorate bell with sequins, stars or glitter. Decorate cap, too.

For a snowman, a circle will serve. Draw faces on ovals or circles cut from white paper and paste to the bottle cap for heads.

SMALL GIFTS take on frivolous air when decorated with gift wrap tapes. Place handkerchiefs, gloves, scarves or even glass cases between shirt cardboard and slip into manila envelope for convenient mailing.

CHEVROLET SETS A NEW STYLE IN STATION WAGONS!

Two new Yeoman wagons—2-door 6-passenger and 4-door 6-passenger. Smart, durable all-vinyl interiors.

Wonderful's the word for these new wagons! They're boldly beautiful with new length and lowness, new sculptured grace. They're boldly engineered with new ideas that make loading easier, riding smoother, driving happier. And they're almost too new to be true.

Meet the year's smartest station wagon set! Chevrolet brings you five new wagons for '58—all long, low and loaded with news.

They're more than nine inches longer, dramatically lower. The liftgate is hinged into the roof and raises completely out of the way for easier loading. Safety plate glass in all windows gives you crystal-clear visibility. There's a new easy-opening tailgate, too, and room for longer cargo.

No station wagon built ever carried loads with more ease or passengers with more comfort! Chevrolet's new standard Full Coil suspension cradles you on deep coil springs at every wheel. And you can have a real air ride as an extra-cost option.

You can choose from two- or four-door, six- or nine-passenger models with livelier V8 or 6 engines. Stop by your Chevrolet dealer's and look them over.

Silk Stockings

Fred Astaire and Cyd Charisse dance in this scene from "Silk Stockings," film version of Cole Porter's musical, Sunday and Monday at the Ritz. Miss Charisse is seen as a Russian agent who becomes enamoured of Western imperialistic luxury and Mr. Astaire.

Abnormal Figure Brings Girl Fame

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON, Nov. 30 (AP)—In the age of the awful gimmick, a little-talented but big-busted girl has become a household word in Britain.

Men travel hundreds of miles just to look at her.

She's had scores of marriage proposals.

Squads of policemen battled crowds fighting to get near her at Manchester.

The fire department had to be called to drive back the people in Leeds.

In another place her clothes were almost torn off her.

This all took place in Britain, a land of traditionally reserved and undemonstrative people. It has the undertones of a frightening phenomenon.

The girl is Norma Sykes.

The gimmick is a pretty face, the lyrical stage name of Sabrina and her outsized chest measuring 41 inches. Sabrina says she's still growing.

Two years ago she came to London from Blackpool looking for work. Any kind of work. She labored as a waitress in a seamy section of London. She tried to get a job as a housemaid and when actually hungry, began posing for photographs, some of them in the nude.

Then comedian Arthur Askey put her in one of his television shows. He gave her nothing to do; assigned her no lines to speak. But he highlighted her tremendous frontage. That seemed to do it.

Overnight she became a sensation.

"Sabrina was my idea," Askey said. "Not the name, but the gimmick. The idea was based on something Billy Merson used to do in British music halls 25 years ago.

"He had a musical act—a singer, pianist, cellist and flutist. All the time they were on stage a pretty girl with a nice figure sat by reading a book."

Since her first series of programs with Askey two years ago, Sabrina has appeared in movies and other TV shows, made phonograph records and is now on the stage in a musical.

In her spare time she concentrates on personal appearances.

She is paid $280 for merely showing up and being seen.

Rowley-United Circuit Slates Angelo Session

Announcement has been made of the annual convention of partners and managers of the Rowley United Theaters circuit, to be held in San Angelo for three days beginning Monday.

This organization is the outgrowth of the old Robb & Rowley organization, and San Angelo is the birthplace of that circuit, which started in 1916. At that time, the late Harold B. Robb and Ed Rowley had one theatre and an "airdome" in San Angelo. The Robb family previously had opened theatres in Big Spring, but the general acquisition of other showhouses started from the San Angelo partnership.

After Mr. Robb's death in 1944, the Rowleys, in association with United Artists Theatres, acquired the Robb interests from his estate (Big Spring properties excepted).

Today the circuit operates 150 theaters and drive-ins in Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas.

About 100 people are expected to attend the San Angelo gathering. A program of business and social activities has been planned.

River Woman

Sophia Loren wears this costume in "Woman of the River," Wednesday and Thursday at the State. Miss Loren is cast as a woman who hides from gangland vengeance in the cane fields of the Po River Valley.

Stowaway

Elsa Martinelli and Trevor Howard are two lost souls who, through each other, find meaning in life in "Stowaway Girl," an unusual film import from Britain, showing Sunday through Tuesday at the State.

Under Fire

A combat patrol finds a hidden cache of money in this scene from "Under Fire," Sunday through Tuesday at the Jet. Complications set in when the leader of the patrol is simultaneously awarded a medal for valor and charged with desertion.

CINEMA COMMENT

By BOB SMITH

"Samoa." Have you ever thought, while in the midst of the troubles that are the bane of civilized men, that you'd like to chuck it all and sail off to a tropical isle? If so, then this is the movie of the week for you. Written and filmed by Herbert and Trudie Knapp, world-renowed professional photographers and explorers, "Samoa" is released by Walt Disney as another in his "People and Places" series.

The film is a fascinating, authentic glimpse of the storied Polynesian island group and its people. The color camera graphically records the centuries-old rituals and customs of this mariner race, and at the same time manages to capture much of the atmosphere that has made Polynesia a fabled paradise.

"Silk Stockings." There has been a trainload of movies lately out of Hollywood on the theme of what happens when a beautiful Russian girl is exposed to the luxuries of capitalism and the romanticisms of Western men. Some have been good, some weren't worth shaking a stick at. But this latest venture in the cold war is one of the better attempts, if only because it's taken from a successful Broadway musical. (And I suspect that's where script writers got the idea for some of the earlier attempts.)

This film is recommended for all those who like music, Fred Astaire, sex, Cyd Charisse or the higher type rock-n-roll.

"Bomber B52." If you like Karl Malden, the B52 or Natalie Wood, you might like this one. A tale of a colonel who makes a play for a sergeant's daughter while the B52 flies around somewhere in the stratosphere.

"The Tattered Dress." A story of sordid affairs that lead to murder in which many courtroom tactics of criminal lawyers are revealed. Noteworthy is comedian Jack Carson's dramatic role as a villainous sheriff.

"Woman of the River." Sophia Loren in an imported Italian movie, released in the U. S. by Columbia. The original version has, of course, been snipped in spots. The broad-minded version may be seen in Italy, the "safe" version may be seen at home. Miss Loren is seen as a woman seeking to hide herself and her son from underworld vengeance in the cane fields of the Po River valley.

"Apache Warrior." A film based on one of the many legends growing out of the white-Apache wars of the Southwest. It's the story of Katawan, the warrior who found himself caught between the conflicting laws of the Apaches and of the U. S.

"Under Fire." Rex Reason as a young lieutenant who defends a war hero under charges of desertion and, ironically, is himself later killed in combat.

"Stowaway Girl." An unusual British import that stars Trevor Howard, Elsa Martinelli and Pedro Armendariz. The cast alone should be enough to recommend the picture, but U. S. critics have given it a few pats on the back. It's the story of two lost souls who, through disaster at sea, finally find themselves.

"Short Cut to Hell." This is noteworthy mainly for the fact that old-time movie villain James Cagney is the director. Screen rookie Robert Ivers is well cast as a vicious young hired killer who, even while continuing his depredations, manages unwittingly to help the cause of law and order.

"For Whom the Bell Tolls." Hemingway's masterpiece, screen version, of the last days of the Spanish Republic. Stars Gary Cooper and Ingrid Bergman.

LOOKS At BOOKS

By Sam Blackburn

THE SINGING MOUNTAINEERS, a collection of Quechua songs and stories, edited and translated by Jose Maria Arguedas and Ruth Stephan. Illustrated by Donald Weismann. University of Texas Press.

The Quechua people are primitive residents of the highlands of Peru. They have no writen language and although their poems, songs and stories have long been widely known to students, no attempt here-to-fore has been made to collect them in book form.

Jose Maria Arguedas, eminent Peruvian scientist, has long been intensely interested in the literature of this unusual race and through a fortunate circumstance, he came in contact with Ruth Stephan, American novelist and poet.

Ruth was entranced by the Andes, by the beauty of the Quechua songs and, in collaboration with Arguedas, set about compiling this volume of poems and stories in the English language.

Arguedas collected the 30 songs and painstakingly translated them from the ancient Quechua tongue to Spanish. Miss Stephan then translated Arguedas' Spanish into English.

Also included in the collection are nine unusual folktales which were collected by Father Jorge A. Lira; eleven "threshing songs" assembled and translated from Huanca—a Quechua dialect—by Maria Lourdes Valladares and two essays by Arguedas.

The poems are unusual, often most melodious and lovely. The folk tales are simple but are fascinating because of their very simplicity.

This is an unusual book but one which because of its very character will have special appeal only to a rather limited audience.

The illustrations are by Donald Weismann.

"The Singing Mountaineers" is officially making its debut on Monday. It will be on the bookshelves of bookdealers on or very soon after that date.

Count Three And Pray

Van Heflin gets a hair trim, among other things, from Jeanne Woodward in this scene from "Count Three and Pray," at the Sahara Thursday through Saturday. It is the riotous tale of a Civil War veteran (Yankee side) who returns to his Southern hometown as a preacher, and finds a young waif waiting to be tamed.

LIFE WITH MUSIC

Don't Disparage The Amateurs

By RICHARD D. SAUNDERS

It is surprising that the amateur, who gains prestige in the field of sports, where the title is applied appreciatively, loses standing in the field of music, where the name is used disparagingly. Perhaps not enough people understand that an amateur is not necessarily a novice, but merely one who engages in the occupation for the fun of it.

Rachmaninoff is credited with remarking: "I place all musical people in three classes. First, and lowest, comes the professional musician who loves music, studies it, and expects to be paid for it. Next higher is the concert goer, who loves music and is willing to pay to hear it. Highest of all is the amateur who loves music so much that he is willing to study and perform it without any other compensation."

LEISURE TIME

True, the amateur is not likely to concertize with the same finesse and assurance as the high-ranking professional. The virtuoso achieves his standing because he devotes his life to it. He puts in long working hours, comparable to those of the average man in any other profession in or in business for himself, and far more than employes or laborers. The amateur normally can devote only his leisure hours to the required practice.

The musical amateur must start out with that appreciation of the finer things in life which is called culture. He must possess the valuable trait of curiosity the trait that must exist in all artists, scientists and other progressive persons which renders them eager to explore new fields and experience new sensations. He must have determination in pursuit of his goal and persistence in applying himself to the necessary work of achieving it. And he must have the quality we call good taste, so that he can distinguish between the real and the spurious, regardless of whether the music is tagged classic or modern, serious or popular.

MORE EFFORT

The amateur strives as hard, if not harder than most professionals. But, as an ancient adage puts it: "Work is play you have to do, and play is work you don't have to do!"

Star Says Teen-Age Manners The Most

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 30 (AP)— Jeff Chandler, admittedly peeved, says some adult movie fans could learn good manners from the teenagers.

Back from a tour, Chandler reports some unpleasant experiences.

"In all fairness," he says, "the offenders are only a minority but they can make it rough on a star —and on the movie patrons who have good manners."

Jeff found in Pittsburgh he couldn't finish a meal:

"A friend of mine finally took me out to a little restaurant at 2 o'clock in the morning for some ham and eggs. He promised me that the place was so dark that no one would even recognize me, let alone bother me.

"I didn't get the first biteful to my mouth until some woman dragged her boy friend over to my table and kept repeating: 'Hey, Jeff, doesn't this guy look like Ralph Bellamy?'

"I couldn't get rid of her even after I said the guy looked like Ralph Bellamy. And I couldn't finish my ham and eggs."

In Cleveland in another restaurant a fellow in a phone booth grabbed him; shoved the receiver to his ear and said: "Hey, Jeff, say hello to my girl friend."

Chandler said hello.

"I had to," he says, "I was stuck. Then this guy says, 'I hope she doesn't tell her husband how she got to talk to Jeff Chandler.'"

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Here's something about the high cost of television as revealed by Bob Hope. It cost the comic $50,000 to change sponsors and a few little jokes about Queen Elizabeth.

His show, canceled by his original watch sponsor after he guested on Frank Sinatra's show, had been kinescoped for Nov. 7. In his opening monologue, he kidded about Queen Elizabeth's visit to the United States but by the time another sponsor picked up the show, that trip no longer was timely. So he substituted some jokes about President Eisenhower hiring Adlai Stevenson. That meant the monologue had to be changed at a cost of $50,000. $50,000.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Eddie Fisher, after becoming wealthy as a singer, is now taking singing lessons. He has the same tutor as Mario Lanza.

The reason: He's singing such longhair stuff as "Tosca."

"For 'Dungaree Doll' you don't need lessons. 'Tosca' you do," explains Fisher.
