Commissioners Fill Justice Vacancy Here

Constable J. W. Graham was the unanimous choice of the county commissioners for Justice of the Peace to fill the vacancy left by the recent death of John Andrews when they met yesterday in County Court.

Graham was recently elected as constable of Precinct 2 and the decision to appoint him to the Justice of the Peace met the unanimous approval of all those present.

This was the chief action taken by the commissioners, who had one of the busiest schedules in some time as they approved a bid on two 1956 Ford trucks for precinct 3 for a total of $4654.88, and carried on many other items. Two of these were the approval of bills, and authorization of the County Judge to approve bond of the tax collector for 1957.

It was further ordered by the commissioners that a farm-to-market road be designated extending from State Highway 152 west of Pampa, south to the intersection of U.S. Highway 60 and FM Road 750, a distance of approximately 0.9 miles. This was done subject to the condition that all rights of way be obtained by the county, free of cost to the state. The actual road itself, however, will be built by the State Highway Departmen t without cost to the county.

The reason for this action is the proposed underpass to be built at the railroad crossing of Hobart. This road will be used as an alternate, during the construction of the underpass, but it will remain a permanent road upon completion of the project.

An increase of salary of up to $7,500 for all top county employes, as well as commissioners, was also voted. This increase is in keeping with the gradual reaching oft he maximum salary, which major county employees may receive, of $5500.

Two year appointments for Hospital Board members were also made and those were Ray McKernan, Don Conley, and J. R. Sparkman of Lefors who replaced Perry Davis, who resigned several weeks ago.

Members were also added to the airport board and those members appointed for a three - year term were Frank Culberson, Damaris Holt, and Boyd Meador of McLean.

Lawyers Set Perryton Meet Saturday

PERRYTON — North Plains lawyers will meet in Perryton, Saturday, December 8, for a legal institute on oil and gas law and taxation, Jack M. Allen, president of the Northeast Panhandle Bar Association, has reported.

The one - day study, to be held in the district courtroom, will be co-sponsored by the Panhandle group and the State Bar of Texas. About 100 lawyers from neighboring Western Oklahoma have been invited to attend.

Allen said the institute will feature some of the state's foremost authorities on oil and gas law. Morning speakers include Joseph T. Sneed and Keith Morrison, professors of law at the University of Texas, whose respective topics are: "Federal Tax Problems in Oil and Gas Transactions" and "Practice Before the Railroad Commission."

An institute luncheon in the Harvester Room of the Perryton Hotel will feature an address by Newton Gresham of Houston, president of the State Bar of Texas. He will be introduced by Arthur M. Teed of Pampa, member of the State Bar board of directors representing the Panhandle district.

Allen will preside over the business sessions. Institute and luncheon reservations are being received by Robert D. Lemon of Perryton, program chairman for the Northeast Panhandle Bar Association.

The institute will be concluded Saturday afternoon with a social hour at the Perryton Hotel.

This is the second institute to be held in the highly industrialized North Plains area within a month. A meeting last month at Borger involved the study of workmen's compensation law and was co-sponsored by the Borger Bar Association and the State Bar.

Syria Charges Plot

By DANIEL F. GILMORE

LONDON, Dec. 1 (UP)— Syria Saturday accused Britain, France, Turkey and Israel of plotting a military attack on Syrian territory.

Syrian foreign minister Salah Bitar, in a cable to United Nations secretary general Dag Hammarskjold, asked the U.N. General Assembly for help against the "aggressive intentions" of these countries.

Bitar said the situation "constituted a threat to the peace," and asked that it be placed before the current session of the General Assembly in New York.

Syria's safety and independence are threatened by the concentration of Israeli forces along its borders as well as by statements made by Turkish officials, Bitar said.

He Pinpoints Talks

He called attention to the talks in London between acting Turkish Foreign Minister Ethem Menderes and British Foreign Minister Selwyn Lloyd.

He referred to news reports alleging that Syria is becoming a Communist puppet of the Soviet Union and is being supplied with vast amounts of arms and technical advice.

These, Bitar said, "prove that British, French, Israeli, Turkish, and other leading officials are planning an armed attack on Syria through a propaganda maneuver based on the fabrication of tendentious reports."

Syrian Situation Most Serious

These charges reinforced the opinion of diplomats that the Syrian situation potentially is more dangerous to the peace of the Mideast than the subsiding Suez crisis.

These officials regard it as a virtual certainty that Russian "volunteers" would go into action in Syria if there was armed conflict between Syria and such neighbors as Turkey and Iraq.

The Russians already have charged that Turkey is on the road to "premeditated aggression" against Syria. It also has alleged that the United States is preparing for "active intervention" in the area.

Turkey itself reflected its grave concern at the reports of Soviet arms pouring into Syria by announcing Friday that it will hold "routine" army maneuvers near its frontiers with Syria and Russia in the next few weeks.

Britain, France Concerned

Britain and France, too, are concerned about the Syrian situation. As a result, they have welcomed U.S. support for the Baghdad Pact nations and are believed desirous of clearing up the Suez problem quickly so they can be free to handle any new Middle East crisis.

Beef Week Is Proclaimed In Pampa

This week has been proclaimed Beef Week in Pampa by Mayor Lynn Boyd.

The mayor proclaimed the week in Pampa in recognition of the cattle industry and the part it plays in the economy of Pampa and the surrounding area.

The following is the proclamation signed by the mayor.

In recognition of the cattle industry's eternal contribution to the basic welfare and health of the citizens of Texas.

In recognition of the cattleman as one of the prime builders of Texas history, its economy and world reputation.

In recognition of beef as greatest natural resource of Texas and as Texas' historic contribution to the tables of the nation and the world.

In recognition of the constructive and ceaseless efforts of the Texas Beef Council on behalf of our Texas cattle industry and the economy of our great state. I, Lynn Boyd, Mayor of the City of Pampa, in the County of Gray, in the sovereign state of Texas DO HEREBY PROCLAIM the period of December 2 - 8 as Beef Week in Pampa and do hereby urge all citizens of this city to carefully weigh the nutritional and gustatory qualities of this great Texas specialty and urge that they observe Beef Week by placing beef on their personal menus at least once every day."

Soviet Press Continues Propaganda

By HENRY SHAPIRO

MOSCOW, Dec. 1 (UP) —The Soviet press continued its bitter propaganda campaign against the United States Saturday, accusing it of seeking to start a new Mideast conflict.

The campaign was being waged in the columns of the Communist Party newspaper Pravda and the government organ Izvestia.

Pravda put one particularly tough dispatch from Fedor Orekhov, its New York correspondent, under the headline: "New War of Nerves Against Syria."

"The United States has made new efforts to divert attention from the Anglo-French-Israeli aggression against Egypt with a campaign of provocation against Syria," Orekhov said.

Orekhov said the New York Times, in referring to a statement by Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov that Israel was massing troops on the borders of Syria and Jordan, "said on Nov. 13 that this statement was being interpreted as

Time To Be Measured

(An Editorial)

The approaching week finds Pampa's Community Hotel in the balance!

The amount of $586,000 has been raised thus far but a great deal of work remains to be done to reach the goal of approximately $800,000 which is necessary to build the kind of a hotel which will give our city not only the complete community facilities it needs but offer the transient the outstanding accommodations which will attract his patronage.

It has been our experience the last few weeks to talk to many, many individuals about the need for a new hotel. There is an almost unanimous opinion that one is needed and many citizens are proving their faith in the future of Pampa by buying securities. There remains, however, a segment which is holding back on the basis that the fellow next door will invest the needed capital so he can "free-load," so to speak, but we have now reached the point where it is obvious that waiting for the other fellow to do the job isn't going to get the job done.

Hence, we most seriously urge the many individuals who haven't purchased securities, or who have purchased a minumum amount, to re-evaluate their position and either buy securities or increase their holding.

Pampa has reached an hour, one might even say an epochal hour, when she needs the help of every one of us. We cannot afford to let her down, for in so doing, we must face the fact that the residue left of a frustrated effort will be a city which will have gone sour on its view of community life.

Pampa's future figuratively rests at your feet, Mr. and Mrs. Pampa, and this week will tell the story. We are truly being asked to be measured as individuals and a city. The answer rests with each one of us.

Hotel Stock Now Totals $586,000

The campaign to sell stock in a community - owned hotel for Pampa continues with full momentum and a total of $63,600 in sales since Wednesday night was reported by the executive committee and the general sales force of the hotel campaign at a report meeting in the Palm Room at noon yesterday.

This additional $63,600 brings the total amount of stock sold in the proposed hotel up to $586,000.

Of the total amount reported yesterday the general sales force reported $13,100 and the executive committee reoprted $50,500.

The amount reported by the executive committee included a net gain of $30,000 obtained by the completion of the conditional package group of eight who agreed to raise the amount they purchased to $10,000 and a net gain of $18,500 from the conditional package of 20 who agreed to raise the amount of stock purchased to $5,000 was not completed but the executive committee reported that it should be completed by the noon report meeting tomorrow. When this group is completed it is expected that it will mean a net gain of about $25,000 in amount of stock purchased.

Honor guest of the two groups at the meeting yesterday was Mrs. Inez Carter who purchased $55,000 in stock in the hotel last Wednesday. She stated, "I don't think there is any place better to live and if we don't do something to make Pampa a better place to live we should be ashamed of ourselves."

She Wanted To Pay Back Pampa

Many stories have come out of the stock selling campaign to raise funds to build a community-owned hotel in Pampa but one of the most interesting stories of all came to light this past week.

A woman who has lived in Pampa for the past 42 years and has been confined to a wheel chair for nearly 22 of these years expressed her desire to better Pampa by purchasing $1,000 of hotel stock.

This lady is Mrs. J. L. Noel, 1445 N. Russell, who will be 80 next March. Mrs. Noel's daughter, Mrs. Elmer Fite, is working on the hotel project and was visiting her mother one evening when Mrs. Noel expressed her desire to purchase stock.

Mrs. Fite tried to discourage her mother for several reasons but when Mrs. Noel stated that she would purchase stock even if her daughter did not want to make the sale, Mrs. Fite gave in.

In purchasing the stock, Mrs. Noel stated, "Pampa has been good to us and if the old timers of Pampa don't get behind this hotel project how do you expect the new people of Pampa to be behind it?"

The "Big Six" was reported at the meeting yesterday. This is the top six sales groups in the general sales organization in the amount of stock sold.

The group heading the top of the list is Group 13, managed by Mrs. Frances Cree. Running a close second is Group 5, managed by Floyd Watson. Third on the list is Group 19, managed by Mrs. Kirk Duncan and fourth was Group 10, managed by Johnny Campbell. Group 20, managed by Mrs. Paul Crouch, was fifth and Group 14, managed by Mrs. Kave Finkelstein was sixth.

The American Flag which is awarded each day to the division that reports the largest amount of sales went to Division D, managed by Miss Jean Chisholm.

The campaign goat was split among three groups tying with the largest amount reported by the 24 groups of the general sales organization. These groups were: Group 5, managed by Floyd Watson; Group 13, managed by Mrs. Frances Cree; and Group 16, managed by Mrs. Louise McCrery.

The saleswoman to report the highest amount of sales at the meeting yesterday was Mrs. E. L. Green Jr. who received a gift certificate presented by Leslie's. The saleswoman to report the largest number of sales was Miss Suzie Huff who received a turkey presented by Fite Food Market.

The salesman to report the largest amount of stock sold was Floyd Watson who received a gift certificate presented by Lynn Boyd Lumber Co. Hugh Peeples and John Schoolfield tied for the 10 free show passes presented by Video Theatres to the salesman reporting the largest number of sales.

The executive committee will meet at 11 a.m. tomorrow in the conference room of the Chamber of Commerce for another work session. The group is meeting each day to discuss progress and form groups to contact new prospects.

The next report meeting of the two hotel groups will be held in the Palm Room at noon tomorrow with two additional report meetings scheduled after that. These meetings will be held at noon on Tuesday and Thursday. The final meting planned for the two hotel groups will be held Saturday night at the Pampa Country Club and will be a victory dinner.

SANTA'S HELPERS SAY:

Gunbattle Rages Near Shamrock; One Boy Is Killed

By FRED M. PARKER
Pampa News Staff Writer

What started out as an automobile accident in Oklahoma early yesterday afternoon turned into a gun battle near Shamrock last night with one youth being killed by two fugitives and two deputy sheriffs suffering wounds.

The dead youth is Victor Lee Stephens, 19, son of Bob Stephens who lives east of Shamrock. The injured officers are Shamrock Deputy Sheriff Mannon Nix, who suffered a slight wound in the arm, and Texola, Okla., Deputy Sheriff Marvin Skinner.

The running gun battle was reported to have begun about 3:30 p.m. yesterday in Texola when Skinner gave pursuit to a car which had sideswiped another car in Texola.

The two men in the fleeing car fired at Skinner and one of the bullets is reported to have hit him in the jaw. After being injured Skinner radioed ahead to Shamrock and asked the officers there to stop the car. As soon as the deputy sheriff's office in Shamrock received the word deputies Luke Henley and Nix headed east on Highway 66 and spotted the car about three miles east of Shamrock.

The two fugitives abandoned their car and ran into the shinnery on the north side of the road. The officers stated that the two men were armed with highpowered rifles. Later it was believed that they were armed with sub-machineguns.

The two Shamrock deputies jumped the fugitives in the shinnery north of the highway and two bullets went through the windshield of Henley's car. One of the bullets struck Nix in the arm but he rejoined the search after having the bullet extracted and the wound treated by a Shamrock doctor.

Mrs. Paul Aycock, who lives two miles east of Shamrock and one mile north of the highway, reported that she heard shooting and thought it was some hunters. She stated that she went out into the yard and thought that the hunters might stop shooting if they saw her.

She then went back into the house and shortly thereafter two young men dressed in shirts ran up on her front porch. She reported that one of the men was carrying what appeared to be a sub-machinegun.

The two men went back to their car and started down the road when they were jumped by Henley and Nix, she reported. The two men jumped out of their car and shot at the officers and then ran into the brush, she stated.

The area was quickly surrounded by officers and the fugitives kept up a steady barrage of fire. Young Stephens was one of the first ones on the scene and was a member of the Shamrock sheriff's posse. During the initial gunfire he was struck by a bullet and lay in the field for more than an hour before he could be reached because of the heavy fire.

The officers called for help from officers from nearby towns and all units of the Highway Patrol and sheriff's units from a radius of about 150 to 200 miles rushed to the scene.

The two fugitives were believed to be in a shinnery row running north and south along a fence line. The officers began searching a four - mile square area and patrolled along the edge of the area.

Lighting equipment from several towns was being rushed to the scene last night in an effort to light up the scene so that the officers might be able to see.

Two planes flew over the area and dropped flares but the flares were not successful in showing the officers where the two fugitives were according to latest reports.

Following the dropping of the flares the officers decided to continue the patrolling of the area until daylight and hoped that with the coming of daylight they would be able to locate the hiding place of the two men.

Late last night it was reported that Mayor Siebert Worley of Shamrock was attempting to contact Governor Allan Shivers to see if the National Guard could be called out to help with the man-hunt.

An order was placed for 100 sandwiches and all of the coffee that could be obtained in Shamrock to feed the officers and volunteers the officers had been in the hunt since early afternoon and had not had a chance to eat.

Troops, Police Battle Rebels In Santiago

By ALDOLFO MERINO

SANTIAGO, Cuba, Dec. 1 (UP) —Troops and police battled rebel snipers firing from downtown buildings Saturday and fought other skirmishes in the city's outskirts in the second day of outbreaks against the government of President Fulgencio Batista.

At least 10 persons are believed to have been killed and more than 30 wounded in the two - day violence.

Nearly 500 persons were reported under arrest in various parts of Cuba, including more than 40 active rebels and some 400 known opponents of Batista.

Snipers in half a dozen buildings in central Santiago fired on troops and police and took potshots at patroling planes. Fairly heavy firing was heard at various points in the city, but there was no sign of a concerted attack.

Saturday's fighting seemed to be on a smaller scale than the outbreak Friday, in which most attacks were carried out by squads of six to eight rebels.

Hope to Create Panic

Some sources speculated that the rebels, despairing of overthrowing Batista by direct attack, hoped to create a general panic that would force him out of power.

Others believed the scattered, small-scale attacks were intended to create disorder as the prelude to the landing of an "invasion fleet" manned by leftwing refugees from Cuba and other Latin American countries.

United States Offers Asylum To Refugees

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (UP)— The United States offered asylum Saturday to 21,500 Hungarian refugees.

President Eisenhower, who had previously ordered admission of 5,000, announced from his vacation headquarters at Augusta, Ga., that the quota has been increased by 16,500.

He also ordered the Defense Department to work out arrangements for bringing the refugees here from Austria "with the utmost practicable speed." Presumably a military airlift will be organized to replace the chartered private planes now flying refugees to this country. But Tracy S. Voorhees, newly-appointed refugee coordinator, said details "are still being worked out."

About 100,000 refugees have crossed the border into Austria since Russian troops crushed Hungary's freedom revolt. Only 1,000 have been brought to this country so far. About 30,000 have been taken to other countries, mainly Britain and France, which have offered to accept unspecified numbers.

There has been some criticism in Europe of the U. S. record in accepting refugees. And some members of Congress had publicly appealed to Mr. Eisenhower to make a more generous offer.

The President's announcement noted that "other nations have already made increasingly generous offers and have waived the ordinary restrictions imposed upon immigration."

He said he was ordering "emergency action" by the United States to "give practical effect to the American people's intense desire to help the victims of Soviet oppression."

Knife, Fork Club Hears Rep. Judd

In his address before 250 members of the Knife and Fork Club last night at the Pampa High School auditorium, Representative Walter H. Judd of Minnesota said that it was "a paradox that it is our sense of values and our spirit which has permeated the peoples of other nation of the world and encouraged them to attempt to do the same things we did not too long ago, and yet they cannot understand why we condemn them for it, and neither can we find a reason to give them."

The whole question of the feeling that most countries have for us was defined by Dr. Judd as being "the virus of the underdog."

"People" he said, "want recognition. They want to feel wanted, and as though they can do things for themselves." He added that "we, on other hand tend to resent it." It was we, he said, who took "the sleeping dragon" over to these countries and awakened it.

We didn't understand what we were creating. They, (the other countries) moved in and cultivated the "virus" which we had started, and continued to do so in order to quench the thirst which we had started.

"We have reached a stage in human relations," Judd said, "whereby we must do one of two things. Either we must lay down our power and work with these people. . . or else we must destroy ruthlessly anything which jeopordizes our claim and patent rights to that power. We must, in other words, be good enough to co-operate, or else we must retaliate."

Dr. Judd had spent many years as a medical doctor with the missions in China. In that period, he traveled between North and South China many times, and became quite familiar with the situation there.

This very virus we try to hide, the communists try to inflame, for only through doing so can they make headway. In the use of the very virus which we created is that the Communists are beating us at every turn. And they are constantly putting us to the test whereby we have either to stand up to them, or back down in defeat, he indicated.

"The tested us in Greece, and we met the challenge, they tested us in Germany and once more we met them. However, their ultimate objective is by no means these little countries which they seek so cleverly to involve us with. The United States is the target," he said. "We are the final block which they must crush if they are to attain their end." However, he indicated that the Communists were by no means stupid, but rather clever. We in America understand when people use force, and we are quick to react. It's when they smile at us that we get confused. The smile is first weapon which the communists have learned to use so effectively on most of us because we want peace so badly that we can taste it, so much so that we are over trusting in regards to the intentions of the Communists, which Judd said, will never change, not so long as there exists such a form of totalitarianism.

Another form of strategy which the Communists often use is the offer of trade. Back in 1933 as one of the gimmicks with which they

Air Force Secretary In Defense For Airman Ouster

By JOHN W. FINNEY

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (UP)—Air Secretary Donald A. Quarles said Saturday the Air Force accepted a Mississippi court's drunken-driving conviction of Lt. Titus A. Saunders as "sufficient grounds" for forcing the young Negro officer to resign.

In an exclusive interview with the United Press, Quarles said he did not review the court trial before giving Saunders the choice of resigning or being discharged "under less than honorable conditions." He said it was not the responsibility of the Air Force to determine the adequacy of the evidence.

It was sufficient for the Air Force, he said, that Saunders had been convicted and that the conviction had been upheld upon review by the Mississippi Supreme Court.

Quits Effective Saturday

Saunders' resignation became effective Saturday. The 25-year-old Meigs, Ga., officer weighed the two choices and finally decided to quit.

His former chaplain, the Rev. Benjamin H. Adams of Basking Ridge, N. J., asserted the Air Force had used threats against Saunders after pressure was brought by Sen. John Stennis (D-Miss.), a member of the Senate Armed Services committee. Adams also claimed Saunders was convicted on "trumped up charges" and is "the victim of circumstance and racial prejudice."

The case, which caused days of anxious consideration by top defense and Air Force officials, has now come to the attention of the White House. Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio earlier this week wrote to President Eisenhower protesting that the situation confronting Saunders was "unjust in view of the circumstances." Lausche had refused to allow extradition of Saunders to Mississippi on grounds "the ends of justice would not be served."

In the accident that led to Saunders' conviction, his car, driven by a woman companion, struck an auto driven by a white woman. Saunders was found guilty on the basis of moving the car out of the line of traffic after the accident.

At the time of the accident Saunders was stationed at Columbus, Miss. While out on $2,000 bond pending review of the case, he was transferred to Lockbourne Air Force Base in Ohio.

guided this country into recognizing was by "impressing" upon those in power the "realistic" necessity of trade. "We accepted that offer," he continued, "and the truth is that we had more trade with the Soviet Union before those years than we have ever had with them since." Judd said that the Communists don't need trade so much for economy as for recognition. The Trade cry has always been one of the most effective gimmicks and it is used, primarily for the purpose of recognition.

Communist China is currently trying to attract us with that offer of trade. The meeting of Red Chinese Heads with Nehru will be aimed primarily at getting us to be "realists" about the situation and get from us recognition. The main stumbling block in their thirst for conquest of the entire Far Eastern world is Formosa, and this too will be one of their objectives in this current conference in India. At this time, they will probably spring their third trick. That is the release of a few more prisoners of war which they had no right to begin with. "They have studied us carefully and well," he said, "and they have long since realized that we value our citizens." They will offer to release a few more, he said, however, they will always hold onto a few pawns without which they might not be able to even have "talks."

What is the solution to this 19th century dilemma? What are we to do in order to gain back the friends we have lost to the Russians and also those who have gone neither to one side nor the other, but still express a strong distrust of us? Dr. Judd did not have the answer, and he did not seem to believe that anyone else had it either.

The closest answer he could reach was to go once more to the virus of the underdog. The urge for freedom, he said, is stronger than the swords which try to suppress it. It is not a case of Russians against Poles. That, he pointed out, was the sad part of the narrowness of the age, whereby we could be led to believe that it was Russia we were against, and not so much Communism. The many outbreaks in so-called satellite countries, he said, have been engineered by Russians themselves, from their hideouts in the hills. Our best allies, he said, are those Russians who have long since deserted to fight in the hills against the Communists themselves.

The side that will win in the end, he said, is the side that can "pull itself together soonest and firmest." In this regard we should ask ourselves whether or not we truly believe in the dignity of the individual. Are we forever going to stick to the people of our own color and deprive all others of any credit for integrity?

"We have no way, save the following of our own principles which we preach so openly. . .only this time in action."

Hungary President Has More Promises

Editor's Note:

By RUSSELL JONES

BUDAPEST, Dec. 1 (UP)—Hungarian President Istvan Dobi promised Saturday night that Democratic parties would take part in the government "after peace and order is restored."

The president spoke in a nation-wide broadcast, his third major address to the people since the fight for freedom erupted Oct. 23. The main theme of his speech was an appeal to the workers to strive "with all your strength" to get production started again.

It came shortly after leaflets were scattered in the streets of Budapest calling on the workers to resume their "total strike" for another five to 10 days against the tough policies of Soviet puppet Premier Janos Kadar.

The leaflets called for the defiant new gesture in an effort to get concessions from Kadar's regime, including immediate participation of non-Communist elements in the Red-run government.

Dobi's promise of a government with a "Democratic look" closely paralleled the pledge given by Kadar in a similar radio broadcast a week ago. Kadar also said non-Communist party leaders would be taken into the government "when order is restored."

"After peace and order is restored," Dobi said, "those leaders of Democratic parties who basically accept the people's Democratic state will participate in the government."

Saturday's mysterious leaflets urging an extension of general strikes indicated there still was strong worker sentiment against believing the promises of the Kadar regime without deeds to match the words.

The leaflets were signed with the name of the Central Workers Council of Budapest, the most powerful workers group in the country.

The government-controlled Budapest radio announced Saturday the leaflets were being distributed all over the battered city. But it also produced a "spokesman of the Budapest Workers Council "to denounce the leaflets.

The spokesman produced by the government implored the workers to pay no attention to the leaflets and asked them to "help actively" in preventing another general strike. The previous strike virtually paralyzed the country.

The printed exhortation to another round of economic paralysis appeared despite an attempt by the Kadar regime to crush by force the workers' leaders attempts to keep their followers informed.

Friday, Kadar's police raided all suspected printing shops and seized all the mimeograph machines they could find.

The police acted after the Budapest Workers Council announced it would mimeograph "information sheets" for the workers in the provinces. The move followed Kadar's refusal to grant permission for a "workers' newspaper" which would have helped the BWC to coordinate its struggle for freedom.

sight in the past week stimulated the latter belief, although officials here scoffed at the theory.

Santiago was quiet during the night, but normal activity came to a halt at 10 a. m., when snipers opened fire on naval headquarters near the waterfront of this provincial capital near Cuba's eastern tip.

Gunfire at Many Points

Minutes later, gunfire crackled at a dozen points throughout the city. Snipers also fired at police from the Venus building, the Serrano building and the telephone company building.

Skirmishes also were reportedly at half a dozen points in outlying sections of the city.

Army and navy planes, circling over Santiago at 1,000 feet altitude in an effort to spot snipers, also drew fire from the rebel gunmen.

One gunman was located at the top of an elevator shaft in the Serrano building, and police took over the adjoining Casa Grande hotel to return his fire.

Most of the snipers used pistols. Police found a number of "Molotov cocktail" incendiaries in a parked car in downtown Santiago, but there was no report of their being used by the rebels.

FHA Ups Interest Rate On Mortgages

By RICHARD D. MOONEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Federal Housing Administration has raised its interest rate on home mortgages by one-half per cent, effective Tuesday.

The order boosts the interest rate on FHA-insured mortgages to 5 per cent. In addition borrowers who get FHA insurance on their home loans still must pay a one half per cent premium. That makes the new total cost 5 1-2 per cent.

Federal Housing Chief Albert M. Cole said the increase will help people "get the financing they need."

Tight money conditions in recent months have pushed interest rates generally higher and have made lenders reluctant to put their money into government-backed mortgages when other investments promised better return.

The rate of home building has slumped this year, and various elements of the housing industry have been clamoring for federal relief.

FHA Commissioner Norman P. Mason, who formally authorized the increase, said it is important now because builders and lenders are making plans for the year ahead.

Ronald Coleman Is Seldom Lured Into Present Movies

By ALINE MOSBY

United Press Hollywood Writer

HOLLYWOOD (UP)— Ronald Colman seldom is lured into movies these days because, he says, Hollywood doesn't make those "romantic classics" any more.

Only two supercolossal guest star epics have brought Colman from his hillside home in Santa Barbara, 100 miles to the north, to the film factories since 1949.

Last spring he was one of many celebrities who did fast scenes for the fun of it in Mike Todd's "Around the World in 80 days." This week he arrived at Warner Studio for a more full role in another guest star epic, "The Story of Mankind," his first movie emoting since "Champagne for Caesar" seven years ago.

"On the big screen they use a different kind of material than what I used to do," Colman reflected in that hesitating, British voice that has been imitated so often.

"They do circus epics, Bible stories. What I used to do is gone —romantic films, the classics. You don't see pictures any more such as 'A Tale of Two Cities,' 'Beau Geste,' 'Lost Horizon.' "

Colman, handsome and graying but still looking like the quizzical star of his "Random Harvest" and "A Double Life," settled back in his chair on the Warner set and added with a smile, "and as the years go on I naturally become a little choosier about roles —and a little harder to cast."

The veteran star has been more active on television. Last year he did "The Halls of Ivy," but never again will he try a weekly TV series "because it's terribly hard work." This season he starred in a "General Electric Theater" drama, to be seen next month, and on a recent Jack Benny show based on Benny's 10-year gag of having the Colmans as neighbors.

Colman used to live around the corner from Benny in Beverly Hills. Many fans think he still does, but the Colmans moved several years ago to Santa Barbara.

"We have friends up for weekends, we come to Los Angeles week-ends, we keep very busy," Colman said.

"The Story of Mankind," is one of those movies in which Colman plays mankind, Vincent Price is the devil and Sir Cedric Hardwicke is God on a set swirling with "smoke" (buckets of dry ice).

Worship Of James Dean Is Far From Dying Out

By ALINE MOSBY

United Press Hollywood Writer

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Far from dying out, the worship of James Dean goes on: A documentary movie has been made of Dean's life featuring such "uncovered" details as his personal letters and his first motorcycle.

This movie, "The James Dean Story," is the pinnable of numerous attempts, from magazine stories to souvenir masks, to nourish the Dean frenzy or take advantage of it.

The 65-minute black-and-white movie was filmed in "March of Time" style on the spots where Jimmy lived and worked, from his bedroom in Fairmont, Ind., to the Italian restaurant in Hollywood where he ate (in the kitchen). The makers of the movie, George George and Bob Altman, insist their film "is not sensational but sincere and honest."

"It's the true story of Dean, and it debunks many false attitudes built up about the kid," George explained. "We don't whitewash him. It's an objective view, the black as well as the white."

George and Altman beat two other producers to the punch. An agent has been taking bids from major studios for the life story of Dean. And another group had announced a documentary film on the late actor.

But George, a screenwriter, and Altman, a documentary producer in Kansas City, swung into action six weeks ago and will have their movie edited, scored and in the theaters in eight weeks. They first hired a camera crew for $5,000 and started out for Fairmont.

In Dean's home town the pair filmed the Dean Memorial Foundation where Dean's honors are on exhibition. The movie - makers induced Dean's aunt and uncle, who reared him, to talk about the actor before the camera. For the first time Dean's bedroom in his uncle's home was photographed.

The dead actor's relatives read some of the letters he wrote them, such as one touching missive that ends, "things are kind of rough here in New York for a young actor. Can you spare $10?"

The film shows drawings Jimmy did as a child; the first motorcycle he bought at 15, the church he attended and the graveyard where he was buried. There are scenes of his New York days and of Georgie's restaurant, Schwab's drugstore and his other Hollywood hangouts. Even his girl friends, such as actress Lili Kardell, are interviewed in the movie.

George and Altman emphasize the film "is not macabre." However, it winds up showing the scene of his death near Paso Robles, Calif., and the highway patrolman who sped to the fatal accident.

The Valentino - like interest in Dean has prompted action in other quarters, too. CBS recently reran two dramas that starred the late actor. Warner Studio will release his first two pictures, "East of Eden" and "Rebel Without a Cause," next spring.

The reason for this activity is best summed up in a recent trade paper item: "Giant," his last movie, is expected to gross $13 million.

HEADS ASSEMBLY—Prince Wan Waithayakon, Thailand's minister of foreign affairs, is the new president of the United Nations General Assembly. He is a grandson of King Rama IV, the king in "The King and I." A diplomat for the past 39 of his 65 years, he has been Thai ambassador to the United States since 1947.

If your hair is unruly or difficult to manage, it may be that you're using a shampoo that's the wrong type for your hair. There are shampoos on the market today for normal, dry and oily hair types. Investigate these. And when you shampoo your hair, follow it by a clear or cream rinse whose purpose is to cut the soap and leave your hair soft and easy to manage.

Lefors Personals

By MRS. CHARLES ROBERTS
Pampa News Correspondent

Philip Earhart is visitng his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Earhart, after having completed boot training at a camp in California.

The Lefors United Fund now stands at $411. We are short only $89 of our goal which is $500.

Mrs. Charles Roberts returned Tuesday morning from the Shamrock General Hospital where she spent three and one halif days. She is now convalescing at home.

Richard and Morris Roberts spent three days in Shamrock with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Vernon, while their mother was in the hospital there.

There was a turkey feed at the High School cafeteria, Wednesday, Nov. 28. Several of the parents attended in addition to the school children.

Bill Shipley from Phillips visited his sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Coberly, Wednesday night and also Mrs. Jennie Parker.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Rose, Jackie and Eddie of Hopkins visited Tuesday night with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roberts.

Michael and Randy Frizzell of Pampa have been staying in the home of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Coberly, while their mother, Mrs. Bessie Frizzell, is in an Amarilo hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Mullins left Wednesday morning for Austin where they plan to spend the Thanksgiving holiday with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Redus and Mike.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Teel and family spent last week in Milborn, Okla., visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Haley.

Mrs. Tom Blake who has recently been in Highland General Hospital is at home now and feeling better, we are glad to report.

The Lefors girls basketball team has really been working hard lately. A few of these hearty lasses are Pat MacDowell, Peggy Lamb, Janis Dunnam, Betty Carpenter, and Managers Barbara Cody and Marilyn Pafford.

"Nine Girls," a mystery, was presented by the Junior Class Nov. 19 and 20.

Jan Johnson of Kermit spent the Thanksgiving holiday with Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Sparkman.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bright visited last week with his mother, Mrs. Bertha Bright in Caney, Kans.

Mrs. C. B. Vernon and Don Wernon of Shamrock had Thanksgiving dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roberts. Mrs. Vernon is the mother of Mrs. Roberts and Don Vernon is Mrs. Roberts' brother.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Carlton had Thanksgiving dinner with Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Daughetee, 1313 Duncan, Pampa. Also John Welton ate Thanksgiving dinner with the Daughetees.

New Penitentiary Proposals Asked

WASHINGTON (UP) — The government invited communities in Illinois, Kentucky, Tennessee and Missouri Friday to submit proposals for a site for a new Alcatraz-type federal penitentiary.

The Justice Department previously announced the new maximum security prison would be built somewhere in central United States.

Cops Get Shoes

CHILPANCINGO, Mexico (UP) —Local merchants offered today to buy shoes for the town's policemen because they think it is a disgrace for the officers to stand duty in open-toed sandals. "It makes a bad impression on tourists," the merchants said.

Here Comes Santa

TEMPLE CITY, Calif. (UP)— Santa Claus would have welcomed a good set of flying reindeer here Friday night. Firemen had to help Santa from a rooftop so he could visit hundreds of children attending a kiddies' program.

Many Pampans Are Santa Claus' Helpers

By FRED M. PARKER
Pampa News Staff Writer

I was talking with the firemen at the local fire department the other day while they were repairing and painting toys that will be given to underprivileged children this Christmas and was surprised to learn of the large number of individuals and groups that are acting as Santa Claus' helpers in Pampa this year.

In checking at the fire station every day for stories I knew that Pampa residents had been responding to the calls for toys and that several hundred toys had been brought to the station but what I didn't know was of the other groups involved in the repairing and distribution of the toys.

In talking to Ernest Winborne, fire chief, I learned that all of the dolls brought to the fire station had been turned over to the local Girl Scout office. In checking on this I learned that several groups of the Girl couts in Pampa were repairing the dolls and were making new clothes for the dolls.

I was unable to learn exactly what groups of the Girl Scouts were undertaking this worthwhile project but I did learn that practically every group in Pampa was doing something to help with the project.

Another group of young people that is working as Santa's helpers is the Boy Scouts. The local Boy Scout office reported that the Boy Scout troops and Cub Scout packs are making plans to give a party for the colored children at Christmas.

The troops and packs are also sponsoring families at Christmas and will see that old St. Nick supplies toys and food on Christmas day.

Several of the Cub Scout packs are making plans to bring toys to one of the pack meetings before Christmas and the toys will be assembled and given to some other organization to distribute to those children that might otherwise be passed up by Santa at Christmas.

It seems that the toy headquarters in Pampa will be the local Salvation Army and this organization will distribute them to the families in Pampa that are most in need. So far several pickup loads of toys have been taken to the Salvation Army and several more loads will be taken by the time the firemen complete their work.

When I contacted Envoy H. C. Seago of the Salvation Army I learned that this group is compiling a list of needy families in Pampa and that the needs of each family will be checked in order that the families will be supplied with the items most needed.

Pampa citizens that know of a family that should be on the list are requested to contact Envoy Seago personally at the Salvation Army, 837 S. Barnes, and supply the information needed about the family.

This is only a few of the many Pampans that have contributed toys and time to this project that will mean so much to many Pampa residents this Christmas. Several hundred people, too numerous to list, have donated used toys and other items.

Several Pampa residents and business firms have made possible the painting of the metal toys by furnishing the paint that has been used. The firemen report that they have received more than enough paint for the toys they will be able to repair before Christmas.

A group of young boys that should be mentioned is the members of Pack 80 of the Cub Scouts. This group of youths conducted a door to door collection campaign and turned in several hundred toys to be repaired and painted.

Though the efforts of several hundred Pampa citizens Christmas will have a brighter outlook for families that would not otherwise have a very bright Christmas this year.

Income Tax Forms To Be Available

Federal income tax forms for the preparation of 1956 returns will be available about December 3 in reasonable quantities to accountants, attorneys and other professional personnel, W. C. Bowen, administrative officer of the Pampa office of the Internal Revenue Service, has reported. The revenue Service has provided order blanks to the 3500 North Texas tax practitioners who have, in most cases, already submitted orders. These orders are being packaged and shipped starting December 3.

Individual taxpayers on record will receive their forms and instruction booklets through the mails on the same schedule as last year, during late December or early January, Bowen said.

There are very few changes in the form other than minor revisions for clarity and simplification. The instruction booklet which accompanies it has been changed, however, to provide a line-by line series of explanations, keyed to the arrangement of the form and its sequence of entries.

New type - faces have been used in both form and booklet, Bowen said, and should, with the simplified treatment and explanations, make preparation of a return easier than in past years.

The Internal Revenue Service will sponsor the printing of 185 million copies of Form 1040. Taxpayers were advised to begin study of the tax instructions as soon as possible since a good understanding of the tax instructions will mean money in the taxpayer's pocket when he files his tax return.

Report Made On Farm Ownership Loans

Annual gross cash income grew from $4,880 to $8,021 in five years for a group of Texas farm families who obtained Farmers Home Administration farm ownership loans in 1950 to buy, enlarge, or improve their farms, the agency's state director, Walter T. McKay, reported recently.

The average net worth for these Texas farm families advanced from $7,301 before they received their farm ownership loans to approximately $10,900 at the end of their fifth year of operation under that loan program.

Before the loans were made the average family in the group was operating 189 acres but was operating 224 acres in 1955. The combined value of equipment and productive livestock owned by the average family in the group was $4,598 before the loan was made, and was approximately $6,686 in 1955.

Figures showing these advances, together with five-year progress along other lines, come from a survey of 1955 borrowers who obtained loans in 1950. A similar survey is made each year. The 1956 figures will be available in 1957 showing five - year progress made by those who got their loans in 1951.

Farm ownership loans are made to buy family - type farms, enlarge under - sized farms, develop farms and refinance debts. Funds come from private lenders under the insured loan program or from annually appropriated funds, and are amortized for periods up to 40 years. On an average the loans are repaid in 9 years. Insured loans are limited to 90 percent of the fair and reasonable value of the farm. A loan to buy a family-type farm cannot be made if the fair and reasonable value of the farm is more than the average value of efficient family - type farms in the county.

STAFF NOTES

JOEL R. COMBS, managing editor

Getting out a paper the size of the Pampa News is no picnic: If we print jokes people say we are silly; if we don't they say we are too serious.

If we stick to the office all day, we ought to be out hunting things to write about; if we go out and try to hustle some news, we ought to be on the job in the office.

If we don't use contributions, we don't appreciate genius; if we print them the paper is full of junk.

If we edit the other fellow's story we are too critical; if we don't we're asleep. If we clip things from other papers, we're too lazy to write them; if we don't, we're stuck with our own stuff.

Now, like as not some guy will say we swiped this from some other publication. . .we did, and admit it.

JANE KADINGO, women's editor

They say you learn something every day. . .and I really did, one day this week! I was informed of a great time - saving, household practice. When I was told about it, my first — and still — reaction was: "Now why didn't I think of that!" But, in case your grey matter hasn't been working along these lines, just as mine wasn't, I'll tell you about it.

It all came about when talking with two friends — Emily Myers and Bunny Hukill. They both confessed they clean the ash trays with their vacuum sweepers! Really, I was mortified that I hadn't thought of anything that simple, instead of making at least two trips a day to the garbage can to empty the ash trays!

It was quite a few months ago that I picked up another economy hint, and, I believe, it was Bunny that told me this, too. I've been throwing out quite-full packages of brown sugar for several years because it gets so hard I can't even "crack" it with an ice pick. I've had all sorts of suggestions on remedies, such as keeping it in the refrigerator, but it didn't work for me.

Bunny suggested I place a small piece of fresh bread in the package about 12 hours before I was going to use it, and the brown sugar would become soft. And it works! Only, I usually don't know 12 hours ahead of time if I'm going to use it or not. But I've found just an hour will work wonders.

Again, it's something you think should have occurred to you, because it's so simple. It follows along with what I've suspected for a long time — we all try so hard to work out an elaborate solution to our problems, large and small, that we overlook the simplest, and, most often, the best.

FRED M. PARKER, oil, farm editor; staff writer

Being a reporter causes one to see both the good and the bad of life. One of the hardest jobs that I have is writing about injuries to people resulting from automobile accidents or other causes.

It is not the easiest thing in the world for me to write about people being killed or injured in an automobile wreck, especially when it is someone I know, so when I cover another type of story where someone has accomplished something for the good of the community I am able to do it more easily and with a greater feeling of an accomplishment.

One of the biggest thrills I have encountered lately was being able to report that Mrs. Inez Carter purchased $55,000 in stock in the proposed community hotel for Pampa.

I'm not ashamed to report that after covering every meeting of the hotel I was becoming plenty discouraged with the prospects of obtaining the necessary amount of money by the end of this week, but along came the report of Mrs. Carter's purchase last Wednesday night and the outlook , became brighter.

With the added boost that this purchase gave the stock selling campaign, I, along with practically everyone selling stock, felt better and I believe that the result of this boost is evident in the way the stock is now being sold.

It was indeed an honor and a joy to be able to report a fellow citizen's faith in our community and this one story makes up for a lot of heartbreak I have felt in reporting stories of sadness and injuries.

BOB PEREZ, area, church editor; staff writer

One of the cleverest advertising gimmicks that these eyes have ever seen, was one put out by the advertising firm of Young and Rubican and printed in the Wall Street Journal. The center of the page was taken up with a water color painting of a turtle with his neck stuck out in front of him. In huge type, above him, was the message: "Somethimes, (like the turtle), even an agency wouldn't make progress unless it stuck its neck out." Underneath friend turtle in small print was written: "The Young and Rubican, Turtle Research Department, has come up with the following facts: 1.) a turtle CAN move with its head inside the shell; 2.) a turtle usually sticks his neck out of the shell when moving; 3.) a turtle generally moves faster with its head outside, than inside."

This, I think, is rather symbolic. Not just of myself; but rather of the many non-Texans who have stuck their necks out and come to Pampa to work in some field or other. I have been asked many times why I came here. I imagine that most other out of state Pampans, (and they are Pampans, since there is not, to my mind, any degree of citizenship) have been asked much the same question. To those citizens who were born and raised here and have not had to go to other vistas in search of something better. . .they are indeed fortunate. But I do feel that to those who have come to Pampa in search of that something, there should be slightly more than an upraised eyebrow and a confused look. There should be the understanding that they have come here in pursuance of bumper crops as varied as Scottish plaid, and have not given in to complacency.

DICK COLLINS, sports editor

The Pampa News' nose for news appears to have been stuck out once too often, as far as one local policeman is concerned. In fact, the News got its nose and ears pushed back by one of the city's finest.

When a fire, wreck, robbery or collision occurs in Pampa The News attempts to arrive on the scene immediately for pictures and story. Calls immediate start pouring in from citizens voicing inquiries. Many wait until the afternoon paper arrives in the homes or news stands to find out what happened.

One such incident occurred Friday at noon near the intersection of Kingsmill and Starkweather where two cars were involved in a minor mishap.

A reporter - photographer was immediately dispatched to the scene where he was told not to take pictures. The minor collision did not merit a picture because of the small extent of damages to both cars.

The collision was worthy of perhaps one or two paragraphs but attempts to get information from the investigating officer were futile. The reporter (who now had put away his camera by order) was told that he had no right to stick his nose in other people's business.

Minutes later the reporter, with his nose (for news) slightly red from anger and embarrassment, crept back to the News like a scolded dog with his tail tucked under. He was no more enlightened on the facts of the mishap than he had been upon arriving and his opinion of Pampa's protectors took an even bigger nosedive.

Texan's French Wife Is Interpreter For Cabot

By BOB PEREZ
Pampa News Staff Writer

Most young men curse the draft and deftly seek to avoid it. Still others placidly acquiesce in a manner much like the acceptance of taxes. Jack Chance was no different from most in this regard, especially since he had to leave after three years at Stephen F. Austin College in Nacogdoches to answer the eagle's crow. However, I dare say that if the old boy had it to do over again, he would jump at the chance to do so.

Why? Anyone working in the engineering division of the Cabot Carbon Company in the Hughes Building will tell you. Because the beautiful and personable blonde who takes all the blue prints and correspondence received in French and translates them for this particular department is Jack's wife. Her name is Vicki.

Jack was stationed as a clerk with the Army at the Headquarters of communications for U.S.A.R.E.U.R. (pronounced yoosarer) in a little place called La Rochelle, just north of Bordeaux in France. In the office next to his was a little French girl named Vicki.

Now this story might have ended right now, were it not for two pertinent facts. For one thing, one of his best friends was going with Vicki at the time, and secondly, Jack had to pass through her office on his way to the snack bar. Well, in the first instance, "love laughs at locksmiths," and aforementioned best friend had seen fit to take a leave in the great city of Paris. In the second case Jack still had to make his trips to the snack bar, although it would seem that somewhere along this part of the game, he developed a bit of a sweet tooth, and those trips through the "other" office to the "geedunk" became more and more frequent. Now no French civilians were allowed in the snack bar unless accompanied by an American, and I don't think any of us would deny that our hero acted as a perfect Texas gentleman in asking Vicki if she'd care to have a cup of coffee with him. After all, it was pretty cold around that time. . .I guess. Well, needless to say, friend came back, and for a while he wasn't too much of a friend. However, he finally came around, and as a matter of fact, there wasn't anything he wouldn't do for either party. . .or so I'm told.

Once the wheel of love started turning for these two question of marriage came to the fore. (It usually does). But along about this time I'm inclined to agree with Vicki that although he didn't think so, it was she who had maneuvered their meeting and everything else that led up to the situation.

One of Jack's jobs was the processing of forms for marriage between Americans and French civilians. He had long since come to realize what a mangled mass of red rope this was, and now that he found himself in much the same position, he began to worry if he would finish putting this jig-saw puzzle together in time to get married and bring Vicki home with him. It seems that no matter how much we preach love of our neighbors across the seas and in neighboring lands, and as much as we may want to help them when it comes right down to the wire, there are so many things supposedly taken into consideration that the original idea or plan is usually thwarted.

However, by this time, Jack and Vicki had started filing their petitions with the base chaplain, base C.O., Commanding General of the U.S.A.R.E.U.R., and all the ships at sea. Their problem was not so much to get married, that only took five months. The main obstacle was getting Vicki back to the states with him. Jack's time in service was fast coming to a close and he was afraid that Vicki might either be denied a visa, or that it might take so long that he would find himself home for some time without her. Fortunately neither of these things occurred.

After having her background inspected by authorities in every country and place she had ever visited. (Her father is a school inspector for the French government and his job took them throughout most of the French colonies, and she had also studied for four years at a private school outside of Boston between 1948 and 52.) Even the FBI had to file reports on her. After all this was done, Vicki finally got her visa.

On the trip to Bremerhaven, where they were to get a ship which would take them back to the states, a frightening thing happened. While at the railroad terminal in Paris, Vicki lost her visa. It was not until they were in Bremerhaven that she noticed it, and she had to go all the way back to Paris leaving Jack with the understanding that if she could not find her visa she would re-apply and do anything, but that she would follow him later to the United States.

Once again, our story might have ended here.

It didn't however, this time for one reason. The lost and found department had been holding the visa after it was turned in. Had the visa been turned over to the "authorities," there would probably have ensued another formal runaround which would have made her return trip to Germany in time to catch the boat impossible.

Even the Atalantic Ocean insisted on giving the two a rough time, but they rode it out, and in a matter of eight days they were cruising into port at New York's West Side.

Had Jack been a New Yorker, once more, our story might have ended. However he was from Texas; and I'm not going to mention any of the states he passed and-or what he saw on his way here, but he finally arrived at his home in Henderson.

After spending a few days there he went to Dallas, where he was hired by the Magnolia Petroleum Company, which transfered him to Pampa.

After being in Pampa a while, and attending business school, Vicki applied at the Cabot Carbon Company for employment. Once they found out that she could speak French and English, she was hired on the spot as a translator.

Vicki is originally from Paris, but she has not spent most of her life there. Her father's job had brought them to many parts of the globe where the French flag has flown, and, in many cases to places where it has hot. She completed high school in Boston, and went back to France immediately upon graduation. She has lived in many parts of North Africa, and attributes the fact that she grew up among many of the Arabic and African people for her love of all kinds of music and her extreme sense of rhythm. She has a large collection of Jazz, Latin, French, and operatic records, and in short, she can appreciate them all in their turn. She is by no means fanatic over any one type of music. She loves to dance, but that is not unusual to the French. For the French are lovers of music.

At Cabot, her principal job has been the translating of blueprints and other correspondence which comes into the office from the Cabot plant in France.

USAREUR TO PAMPA — This portrait was started two years ago when Jack Chance met his wife Vicki, who was then working as a secretary in the same office building as he in La Rochelle, France. Vicki is an interpreter for the Cabot Carbon Company here in Pampa, and has had many jobs in many parts of the globe where the French flag has flown. (News photo)

COACH CLIFTON McNEELY should know more about his chances for another basketball championship by the time you read this. The Harvesters, who have made a habit of winning district and state championships in recent years, have played two games — against Childress and Vernon.

The Harvesters have three more games away from home this week before they open home play in Harvester Fieldhouse. Pampa faces Phillips Tuesday night, Portales, N.M. Friday night and Clovis, N. M. Saturday night.

It's too early to decide a definite trend in District 3-AAAA although Borger and Amarillo have won games. Even before the season started it was evident that those two teams would make good showings this year. Coach T. G. Hull of Amarillo has one of the tallest groups in the district. Borger has very few veterans but Tex Hanna usually comes up with a fine team. Palo Duro has only one starter back from its 1955-56 state championship team.

A CALLER PHONED the other day and wanted to know when the University of Oklahoma lost its last conference game. After looking through Harold Keith's record book, which shows just about everything the Sooners ever did on the gridiron, I finally came to the conclusion that Kansas' 16-13 win over Oklahoma in 1946 was the last conference loss for the nation's No. 1 team.

It's been 46 years since Colorado beat Oklahoma but the Buffaloes threw a scare into the Sooners three times in the past four years. Colorado tied Oklahoma 21-21 in 1952, lost to Oklahoma 13-6 in 1954 and led for the first half this season only to lose in the last part of play.

Iowa State's only win has been a 13-0 triumph over the Sooners in 1928. Oklahoma was tied in 1936. Kansas holds 19 victories over in 53 games played. Five have ended in ties. Kansas State last beat Oklahoma in 1934 and they did it eight times before that. Missouri won by a 14-6 count in 1945 for its last win over Oklahoma. Nebrask's last win over their long - time opponent was in 1942. The record stands at 17-16-3.

E. M. SPROTT, director of law enforcement for the Texas Game and Fish Commission, lists helpful hints about how not to hunt. He bases his report on the monthly arrest report of hunting violaters. The infractions include: no hunting license, 50 cases: taking game in closed season, 84 cases; hunting from a car, 33 cases; shooting from a public road, seven cases; exceeding bag limit, 16 cases; and shooting before or after legal hours, 21 cases. Six of the chief violaters paid a total of $975 to gain their knowledge of how not to hunt.

NOTES FROM THE CORNER FILE — The laundry man at the Olympic Village, near Melbourne, Australia, has had his trouble and embarrassing moments during the current Olympic Games. Two E. Browns were residing at the village and entered in the Games. They are Earlene, Los Angeles woman track star, and Elmer Brown, Texas trainer. . .several Pampa boxers are entering the first annual Cotton Belt Boxing Tournament to be held in Lubbock's Fair Park Coliseum on Dec. 6-7-8. The turonament is being sponsored by the George S. Berry American Legion Post with proceeds going to the youth center.

Gene Brown, 6-1 Pampa guard, is a member of the West Texas State freshman basketball team this season. The young Buffs boast some of the outstanding high school stars of West Texas, including Junior Fitts, 6-5 Tahoka forward; Max Miller, 6-0 guard from Borger; Jim Reid, 6-6 center from Amarillo; Larry Corbin, 6-6 Levelland forward; and Judge Perry, Phillips guard. . .Jones Hedrick, senior fullback of Panhandle, is one of the top ground gainers of this area. Hedrick carried 140 times for 1,056 yards this season, a 7.5 average per carry. He returned 10 punts for 336 yeards, had a punt average of 34.0 on 19 kicks, and scored 72 points this season.

Pampans Attend Florida Baseball Meet

Two members of the Pampa Baseball Association will be in Jacksonville, Fla., this week to attend the minor league baseball convention.

Pinky Branson, president of the local association, and member George Cree Sr., are representing the Pampa Oilers of the Class B Southwestern League.

Branson hopes to make an agreement with a major league team for next season. At the same time, he will try to hire a business manager and field manager for the 1957 Oilers. Several players may also be drafted from the lower classification leagues for the Oiler roster.

PHS'ers Win Two Basketball Games

Harvesters In Easy 78-33 Win Over Childress Friday

By DICK COLLINS
Pampa News Sports Editor

CHILDRESS — The Pampa Harvesters let loose with double-barrelled accuracy in the second quarter to gain a lead that Childress found hard to overcome as Coach Clifton McNeely's Pampans ground out an easy 79-33 victory over the Bobcats here Friday night.

The Harvesters took their time in warming up for the slaughter but once they found the basket they made every shot count. The District 3-AAAA team hit for 86 percent of its shots in the second period and would up with a fine 56 percent shooting average.

The Harvester defense, which had been untested before Friday's opening contest, allowed the Bobcats of Coach Dick Risenhoover only six points in the first half. Four of those were made in he first quarter. Childress, District 3-AA basketball power, could hit only two of 30 shots in the first half but came back for 12 of 31 in the last two periods against the Pampa reserves for a final game percentage of 20 per cent.

Scoring was fairly divided for the Harvesters. Dickie Mauldin, who had been working out only a few days for the cage season after finishing football, was top scorer for the Pampans. Mauldin tossed in six field goals and four free throws for 16 points. Mauldin did not start the game but came into in the second quarter after Pampa had gained a 15-4 first period lead. Jerry Pope and Bill Brown shared second high scoring with 12 points each while Sam Condo had 10 and Tommy Gindorf nine.

The Harvesters, who started out slow because of their lack of ability to rebound and hit the bucket, made up for the deficit in the second with some spectacular shots. Almost every shot from every angle was dropping in with Brown setting the rapid pace.

Pampa finished the half with a 47-6 lead after hitting on 86 per cent of their attempts. Two free throws by David Seals, the Bobcats' leading scorer with eight points, were the only points made by Childress in the second quarter. Bill Shahan dumped in two field goals in the opening quarter for the Cats' only field goals of the first half.

McNeely sent his reserves into the game early in the third period of play and they kept rolling, although Childress finally began to hit the bucket and the Harvesters took a 64-20 lead after three quarters which found the Bobcats hitting on 40 percent of their shots.

It was Childress' second loss of the season and both losses have been to District 3-AAAA teams, Pampa and Borger.

Local 'Thump-Thump' Boys Down Vernon

By DICK COLLINS
Pampa News Staff Writer

VERNON — The opening season road trip for the Pampa Harvesters proved successful once more here Saturday night with the Pampans taking an 85-44 victory over Vernon's outclassed lions.

The Harvesters continued their hot hitting streak connecting for 54 per cent of their shots. It was Pampa's second victory in two nights.

Bill Brown and Ray Stephenson tied for high point honors for the locals, both bagging a total of 16 points. Brown scored his 16 in the first half and after intermission, Coach Clifton McNeely sent in his reserves and Stephenson scored his 16 in the last half.

Jerry Pope was the second high scorer with 13 points.

Richard Christopher led Vernon's scoring column with a total of 8 points.

It was Vernon's first game of the season.

The Shockers won the first game of the night, overcoming Vernon's "B" team, 65-24. They won Friday night's game with the Childress "B" team, 71-28.

Syracuse Happy Over Bid To Play In Cotton Bowl

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Dec. 1 (UP) — Cheering, banner-waving students snake-danced through the city streets Saturday, celebrating Syracuse University's invitation to the Cotton Bowl.

The tumult broke loose on the university's "Hill" campus but spread quickly downtown. Crowds of students danced in and out of theater and hotel lobbies. They recruited a band, formed a motorcade and paraded through the city, shouting "We're going to Dallas."

No one cared that Syracuse was invited after Army tied the Navy, 7-7 and the Middies declined the bid. A half hour after the Army-Navy game ended, Howard Grubbs executive secretary of the Southwest Conference, telephoned the invitation to Athletic Director Lewis P. Andrdeas, who said Syracuse will be "very proud" to meet Texas Christian in the New Year's day game.

"I have a hunch we're going to beat them," Jimmy Brown, All-America sparkplug of Syracuse's 7-1 season record, said.

University officials were equally jubilant. Chancellor William P. Tolley, caught in his bath by the news, emerged damp but "delighted."

Andreas called the invitation "a very fine award" for a successful season. Tackle Jerry Cashman, hearing the announcement at the end of the Army-Navy game on television, said he and his teammates "almost went through the roof."

Coach Ben Schwartzwalder, hearing the announcement on TV, said he was "delighted for the kids because they are a fine bunch and it's been a privilege to coach them."

Will Start Workouts Monday

He said the team would resume practice Monday.

Syracuse, which lost its only other bowl game — 61-6 to Alabama in the 1953 Orange Bowl—has been bowl-minded this year almost since the football season started. The Orangemen lost only once, 14-7, to Pittsburgh, while beating West Virginia, Army, Boston University, Penn State, Holy Cross and Colgate.

This city's police department called all its motorcycle and extra duty men to report for duty Saturday night when it learned Syracuse University had received ths bid.

The police did not expect trouble but wanted to prepare for any celebration by Syracuse students.

Sam Houston Trips Middle Tennessee

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Dec. (UP)—Gayle McGinty's speed a power and Ben Nicholson's tal ed toe swept Sam Houston Stat College to a 27-13 Refrigerator Bowl victory over Middle Tennessee State College Saturday.

McGinty scored two touchdowns, one on a 96-yard kickoff return, and Nicholson kicked three point-after-touchdowns and two field goals.

Sam Houston of Huntsville, Tex., unbeaten winner of the Lone Star Conference crown, started scoring in the first period when quarterback Ron Choate passed to halfback Bobby Girsham for 34 yards, soon after Middle Tennessee lost a fumble on its own 16 yard line. Nicholson made his first conversion.

In the next stanza, Nicholson booted a field goal from 19 yards out.

But a few minutes later, Middle Tennessee of Murfreesboro, Tenn., Ohio Valley Conference champion and twice beaten during the season, retaliated with a touchdown. Quarterback Sid Corban lateraled to Tillman Harris on an 18-yard play. Corban's boot for the extra point was no good.

McGinty, Sam Houston's halfback, dived a half yard in the third period and Nicholson converted to give the Texans a 17-6 lead.

Later McGinty fumbled as he was tackled on his own 5. G. E. McCormick recovered for Middle Tennessee, then Terry Sweeney drove over tackle for the touchdown. Corban's pass to McCormick gained the Tennesseeans another point.

Sam Houston	7	3	13	3—26
Middle Tennessee	0	6	7	0—13

Sam Houston scoring: Touchdowns, Grisham (34 pass), McGinty 2 (1 plunge, 96 run). Field goals, Nicholson 2 (15, 15). Conversions, Nicholson 3.

Middle Tennessee scoring: Touchdowns, Harris (18 lateral), Sweeney (5, plunge). Conversions, McCormick (pass).

Colorado A&M Hits New Mexico

(UP)—Colorado A&M fought from behind in the final three minutes and rode Ron McCrary's third straight conversion for a 28-27 Skyline Conference football victory over New Mexico Saturday.

Joe Gale, New Mexico's clutch quarterback, had given the Lobos a short-lived 27-21 lead with a 28-yard sprint into the end zone with six minutes left.

The Aggies took the kickoff and marched 58 yards in six plays with Wayne Walker scoring from the four.

Wayne Gares missed the conversion after Gale's score and that was the ball game.

Syracuse, TCU In Cotton Bowl Match

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 1 (UP)—Syracuse University, boasting a 7-1 season record, Saturday accepted a bid to meet most Texas Christian in the 21st annual Cotton Bowl game New Year's day.

The Orangemen backed into the school's second major bowl appearance in its history when Army tied the Navy 7-7, and as a result the Middies declined an invitation to the Cotton Bowl because of its 6-1-2 record.

It was the second year in a row that Army has kept Navy out of the Cotton Bowl.

Syracuse would like to forget its only other bowl visit—a 61-6 shellacking by Alabama in the 1953 Orange Bowl.

This year's team, sparked by versatile Jimmy Brown at quarterback, lost only by one touchdown, 14-7 to Gator Bowl - bound Pittsburgh, and rang up victories over Maryland, West Virginia, Army, Boston University, Penn State, Holy Cross and Colgate.

It will mark Texas Christian's second straight Cotton Bowl visit, the Frogs having bowed to Mississippi 14-13 last season. TCU, too, backed into the bowl as the second-place team after champion Texas A&M was banned from post-season play by the NCAA.

TCU Reserves Pull Game Out Of Fire, 21-6

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 1 (UP)—Reserve quarterback Dick Finney and scrub halfback Carlos Vacek, who had never thrown before, tossed touchdown passes Saturday as Cotton Bowl-bound Texas Christian downed stubborn Southern Methodist 21-6 before 32,500.

Sandwiched in between Vacek's 19-yard second quarter flip to end Harold Pollard and a final period four-yard scoring pitch from Finney to scatback Virgil Miller, the TCU first team managed to convert an SMU fumble into an eight-yard touchdown run by quarterback Charles Curtis.

With the reserve units carrying the brunt of the offensive success against injury-stricken SMU, TCU tucked away a 7-3 season record and an undisputed Southwest Conference second place to carry into the New Year's day bowl against Syracuse.

SMU had scored first on a four-yard drive by halfback Charles Jackson in the second period after the day's most spectacular play—a 75 - yward interception return by SMU guard Tom Koenig—had set up the situation.

The Methodists put up a terrific scrap in view of the fact four of its first six backs weren't even in uniform due to injuries and the quarterbacking was in the hands of sophomore David Musslewhite, who had seen only one minute of varsity action all season.

Musslewhite turned in a spectacular defensive game, batting down TCU passes and turning in one of SMU's four interceptions.

But, the TCU ground attack, sparked by the reserves, was too much for SMU to handle as it rolled up 279 yards to 64 for SMU.

The SMU defenses, spearheaded by Koenig and linebacker Ray Masters, managed to keep the TCU first team pretty well contained in dangerous territory, but it couldn't handle the lighter, sharp-hitting reserves, who drove up yards for one touchdown and picked up a lagging drive to go the final 18 yards for the final TCU score.

Koenig got in on 16 tackles and Masters 13 as they waged their own private war against the Christians.

Score by periods:

SMU	0	6	0	0	— 6
Texas Christian	0	7	0	14	—21

SMU scoring: Touchdowns, Jackson (4, run).

TCU scoring: Touchdowns, Pollard (10, pass from Vacek); Curtis (8, run); Miller (4, pass from Finney). Conversions, Pollard 2, Swink.

Southern Cal In Win Over Notre Dame

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 1 (UP)—Quarterback Jim Conroy's passing and halfback Ernie Zampese's running spearheaded an overwhelming Southern California attack to a 28-20 victory Saturday over the Fighting Irish of Notre Dame who never gave up the fight.

The Trojans won their ninth game in the 28th renewal of the classic intersectional contest by turning on a crushing ground attack from the opening kickoff and never relenting before 64,538 fan in Memorial Coliseum.

Closing out Jess Hill's last season as head coach of the Trojans, SC scored twice in the opening period, added another touchdown in each of the third and fourth periods and never let the Irish get ahead.

But the Irish, stung by former coach Frank Leahy's pre - game remarks that they were "spiritless" and "not trying," never gave up. At halftime they failed by the margin of Paul Hornung's missed conversion, 14-13.

And a dazzling break-away runback of a kickoff by Hornung, Notre Dame's hero and almost the goat on that missed conversion, brought the Irish to within a point of the Trojans, 20 to 21, in the third period.

Even in the final minute of the game, trailing 28-20, the passing arm of sophomore quarterback Bob Williams was churning the air and it carried the Irish from their own four deep into Trojan territory as the final gun sounded.

Zampese carried the ball 20 times for 125 yards, including a 38-yard touchdown romp in the final period that put Southern Cal ahead too far to be caught.

Conroy scored the first touchdown from nine yards out and passed another nine yards to end Don Voyne in the third period for a score.

Conroy's aerial gains totaled 117 yards.

Score by periods:

Southern Cal	14	0	7	7	—28
Notre Dame	6	7	7	0	—20

Southern Cal scoring: Touchdowns, Conroy (9, plunge); Hill (15, pass from Roberts); Voyne (9, pass from Conroy); Zampese (38, run). Conversions, Kissinger (3) Johnston (11).

Notre Dame scoring: Touchdowns, Williams (6, plunge); Wetoska (10, pass from Williams); Hornung (95, kickoff return). Conversions, Hornung (2).

U.S. Olympians Fear For Lead

By LEO H. PETERSEN

MELBOURNE, Sunday, Dec. 2 —(UP) — America's Olympic forces, shot into the team lead principally by smashing victories in track and field, feared Sunday that their point-margin was not enough to offset Russia's anticipated superiority in "minor" sports during the last week of the games.

Those were the whispered thoughts as the United States athletes took Sunday off for prayer and relaxation with only a 72 1-2 point lead over the Soviets in the unofficial team standings.

The most authoritative sources speculated that the U. S. needed at least a 150-point lead by Saturday's conclusion of the track and field events in order to counteract the coming week's expected Soviet onslaught in such sports as gymnastics and Greco - Roman wrestling.

In the 1952 games at Helsinki, Russia amassed a total of 188 points in men's and women's gymnastics and 56 in Greco - Roman wrestling.

There was hope that some of America's more obscure athletes in these sports might break the Soviets' anticipated stranglehold and make the present U. S. point-lead stand up. But at best, it was a long-shot proposition. And even if the Yanks gymnasts and wrestlers performed the unexpected, it would require some additional point-strength in such sports as swimming, yachting and shooting to win the team title.

The rub was that the Americans had to contend not only with the Russians, but also with other countries that have strengthened greatly in other sports during recent years. Australia, for example, is making serious inroads on what once was U. S. swimming supremacy.

America enjoyed its traditional supremacy in track and field, winning 16 gold medals and a total of 232 points. This haul justified Coach Jim Kelly's pre - Olympic praise that this is "the best team we ever sent to the games."

The latest victories on Saturday were provided by the star 400-meter relay team of Ira Murchison, Leamong King, Thane Baker and Bobby Morrow, which set a world record of 39.5 seconds; by the 1,600-meter team of Lou Jones, Jesse Mashburn, Charley Jenkins and Tom Courtney, which won in 3:04.8; and by surprising Mildred McDaniel of Atlanta, Ga., who set a women's world high jump record of five feet 9 1-4 inches.

However, even with the bonanza in track and field, the American lead is not as big as many figured it might be after the first eight full days of the games. And to many Americans comes the

Sugar Bowl - Bound Bears Trample Rice By 46-13

By LOYD LARRABEE

WACO, Tex., Dec. 1 (UP)—The Baylor Bears, sparked by halfback Del Shofner and a band of alert pass defenders, smashed Rice Institute 46-13 Saturday and accepted a bid to meet Tennessee in the Sugar Bowl on New Year's Day.

Announcement that Baylor had accepted an invitation to the Sugar Bowl came shortly after the game was over. It will be the Bears' first appearance in the New Orleans classic.

A crowd of 20,000 fans saw the Bears score in every period, winding up the season with a third-place finish in the Southwest Conference in a wild contest which brought Baylor two touchdowns on pass interception runbacks and set up a third.

Shofner scored two touchdowns and stood out on defense, along with All-America guard Bill Glass, who intercepted a Rice pass in the third period and ran it back 45 yards to the Rice 3 to set up a touchdown.

Holds In First Half

Rice held Baylor to a 20-13 halftime edge, and twice tied the Bears in the first half. But the Bears erupted in a frenzied second half, marked by two touchdowns within two minutes early in the third period.

Led by quarterback King Hill, Rice completed 18 of 33 passes for 227 yards, but Baylor stopped the Owls when it counted, intercepting four passes with runbacks totaling 160 yards.

Shofner scored on a 30-yard pass late in the second period from quarterback Bobby Jones and on a 10-yard run in the fourth quarter.

Fullback Charles Dupre scored twice, plunging three yards and running a pass interception back 48 yards, and sophomore halfback Farrell Fisher counted twice on two and three-yard plunges.

Glass Standout

Sophomore fullback Billy Pavliska rounded out the Baylor scoring with a 55-yard run after intercepting a Rice aerial.

Rice tied the Bears twice in the second period, once on a one-yard plunge by Hill, and later when fullback David Kelley bounced over from the 2. Kelley sparked the 90-yard march with a 40-yard run.

Halfbacks Arthur Beall and Donnel Berry each converted twice for Baylor, while Hill gained Rice's only conversion.

Glass shone on defense, along with Shofner, end Jerry Marcontell, and center Lee Harrington, while Rice standouts included end James Briggs and center Jerry Harris.

Score by periods:

Baylor	6	14	13	13	—46
Rice	0	13	0	0	—13

Baylor scoring: Touchdowns, Dupre 2 3, plunge; 48, pass interception runback); Fisher 2 (2, plunge; 3, plunge); Shofner 2 (30, pass from Jones; 10, run); Pavliska (55, pass interception runback). Conversions, Beall 2, Berry 2.

Rice scoring: Touchdowns, Hill (1, plunge); Kelley (2, plunge). Conversions, Hill.

Holy Cross Defeats Boston

BOSTON, Dec. 1 (UP) — Quarterback Billy Smithers tossed a 21-yard touchdown pass to halfback Paul Toland with 40 seconds left in the game to give Holy Cross a 7-0 victory over Boston College Saturday.

The favored Crusaders, thwarted four times previously within the Boston 12 by the tough Eagle defenses, staged a stirring finish before 34,176 to gain their first victory since 1952 in the 60-year-old series.

Smithers, a 21-year-old senior, made good his last-ditch aerial to climax a 66-yard march. Before that, it looked as if the game would end in the series' fourth scoreless tie.

The win over Boston, the first for the Holy Cross seniors on the squad, pushed the Purple's victories in the series to 24. Boston has won 26 times in the traditional rivalry.

The farthest penetration Boston managed was to the Holy Cross 19 in the second period, but the Eagles were pushed back to the 30 before losing the ball.

Score by periods:

Holy Cross	0	0	0	7	—7
Boston Col.	0	0	0	0	—0

Holy Cross scoring: Touchdowns, Toland (21, pass from Smithers). Conversion, Hohl.

Texas Aggies Lose BB Game

SHREVEPORT, La., Dec. 1 (UP)—Little Ron Viskozki pumped in 31 points Saturday night to lead Centenary College to a season opening 67-59 basketball victory over Texas A&M.

A crowd of 5,000 watched the contest which inaugurated use of the 10,500 seat youth building.

Centenary only trailed once throughout the contest and shot 10 times before the Aggies took a shot. Soph Neal Swisher topped the Aggies with 19 points.

Viskozki hit on 13 of 17 field goal attempts and sank five foul shots. The only other gents to break 10 points were Dean Busboom with 14 and Larry Teague with 11.

Centenary led 35-33 at the half and in seven minutes moved to a nine-point lead. They held this nine-point advantage on four other occasions. A&M closed to within four points 64-60 with a minute to go, but that was as close as it came.

ABC Tournament Reservations Due This Week

FORT WORTH — (Special) — Less than a week remains for bowlers to make reservations for the 1957 American Bowling Congress tournament, which will be held here, March 9 — April 28, in the Will Rogers Memorial Coliseum.

After next Monday, Dec. 3, entries will be on a first come, first served basis. The ABC will try to assign dates requested after that, but in many cases teams will find that the spot they want no longer is available.

The final deadline for all entries is Feb. 5, 1957.

An interesting side to the ABC tournament is that entries are open to all 2,100,000 Congress members. Most national tournaments in golf, tennis and the like have qualifying or sectional tournaments to determine who competes in the finals.

Ole Miss Wins Over Mississippi State

OXFORD, Miss., Dec. 1 (UP)—Quarterback Ray Brown and fullback Paige Cothren led Mississippi on a desperation fourth period drive Saturday to give the Rebels a 13-7 victory over fired-up Mississippi State.

Brown raced over from the four with two minutes and twelve seconds left for the touchdown that gave the Rebels the winning edge in the traditional intrastate rivalry.

A crowd of 43,000 saw Mississippi State's hard charging line keep Mississippi's attack bottled for three periods before Brown and Cothren went on their 34 yard touchdown march.

State, threatening to end Mississippi's 10-year domination of this series, led 7-6 at the half on center Jimmy Dodd's 52-yard runback of an intercepted pass.

Dodd caught the defense flat-footed when he intercepted and ran into the end zone without a Mississippi player coming near him. Tackle Bob Tribble converted.

Score by periods:

Mississippi	0	6	0	7	—13
Mississippi State	0	7	0	0	— 7

Mississippi scoring: Touchdowns, Cothren, (1, run). Brown (4, run). Conversions, Cothren.

Sandies Get Beat

AMARILLO, Tex., Dec. 1 (UP)—Fort Worth Paschal barged into the state AAAA quarter-final playoffs next week against mighty Abilene with a stunning 13-7 upset of Amarillo Saturday afternoon.

As 8,000 stunned partisan fans sat in unbelieving silence Paschal scored the first time it had the ball, obtained by an Amarillo fumble after the opening kickoff, and tallied again midway in the halftime lead.

A Paschal fumble gave the Golden Sandstorm its opportunity in the third quarter and Amarillo took advantage of the bobble to march 77 yards for its lone tally which came in the fourth quarter. It was the only Amarillo penetration of Paschal's 40-yard line.

Paschal scored on a two-yard burst by halfback David Erwin in a 23-yard end run by Dan Gurley, the other halfback. Amarillo's Billy Hullett romped two yards for the Sandy score.

Majors Leads Vols' Win Over Vandy

NAHVILLE, Dec. 1 (UP)—All-American Johnny Majors guided Tennessee Saturday to a 27-7 win over Vanderbilt, capping a perfect season, and the Volunteers immediately accepted a bid to the New Orleans Sugar Bowl.

It was the 10th straight victory this season for the Volunteers, second-rated team in the nation by the United Press Football Coaches Board.

Tennessee, which also won its first undisputed Southeastern Conference crown since 1946, accepted the Sugar Bowl bid as soon as the game ended. The Vols were known to be "in" after they defeated Georgia Tech Nov. 10.

Majors personally scored once on a 25-yard run, tossed two key passes in another touchdown drive and kept another going with a clutch 12-yard run.

Fullback Tommy Bronson made two of the Tennessee scores, diving over twice from one yard out.

Vanderbilt put up a stubborn fight for two periods but Majors' touchdown early in the second half broke the game open.

Tennessee, in traditional fashion, turned two fumbles into touchdowns in the first half.

Score by periods:

Vanderbilt	0	7	0	0	— 7
Tennessee	7	6	7	7	—27

Vanderbilt scoring: Touchdowns, Butler (5, plunge). Conversion, King.

Tennessee scoring: Touchdowns, Bronson 2 (1, plunge, 1 plunge), Smith (15, run, Majors (25, run). Conversions, Smithers, Burklow, Cantrell.

Louisiana State U. In 7-6 Upset Over Tulane

By JACK GATES

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 1 (UP)—Jimmy Taylor, a big fullback with a feather tread, scored a touchdown on a one-yard plunge then kicked the extra point Saturday to give LSU an upset 7-6 victory over Tulane before 60,000 in the season's final game for both teams.

LSU's winning score was set up by a Tulane fumble on the Green Wave three-yard-line and came three plays after Tulane had held an LSU drive on the three.

Tulane substitute fullback Jimmy McCoy fumbled and center Durwood Graham recovered for LSU. Two plays later Taylor went over from the one and booted the extra point.

Tulane Scores in Second

Tulane, which had numerous drives stalled within short sight of the end zone, scored early in the second period to move into the halftime with a 6-0 lead.

Fullback Ronny Quillian scored from two yards out, but tackle Emmett Zelenka failed to convert.

The game was marred by eight fumbles, one of which possibly cost LSU another touchdown. In the fourth period, LSU was on Tulane's one. On a third down play, halfback J. W. Brodmax fumbled short of the goal line and Tulane's tackle Dalton Truax recovered in the end zone to give Tulane the ball on its 20.

Greenies Make Last Effort

The win ended an otherwise dismal season for LSU on a high note. It was its thrid win of the season.

Tulane tried desperately for a comeback in the final four minutes. It moved from mid-field to the 19, but a fourth down pass by quarterback Johnny Caruso was broken up and that was the game.

Taylor's scoring Saturday gave him 59 points for the season and the Southeastern Conference's scoring title. He also picked up 86 yards in 26 carries to lead the LSU rushes.

Twice in the second period, Tulane was in scoring distance, but a fumble and a pass interception, also by Taylor ended the threats.

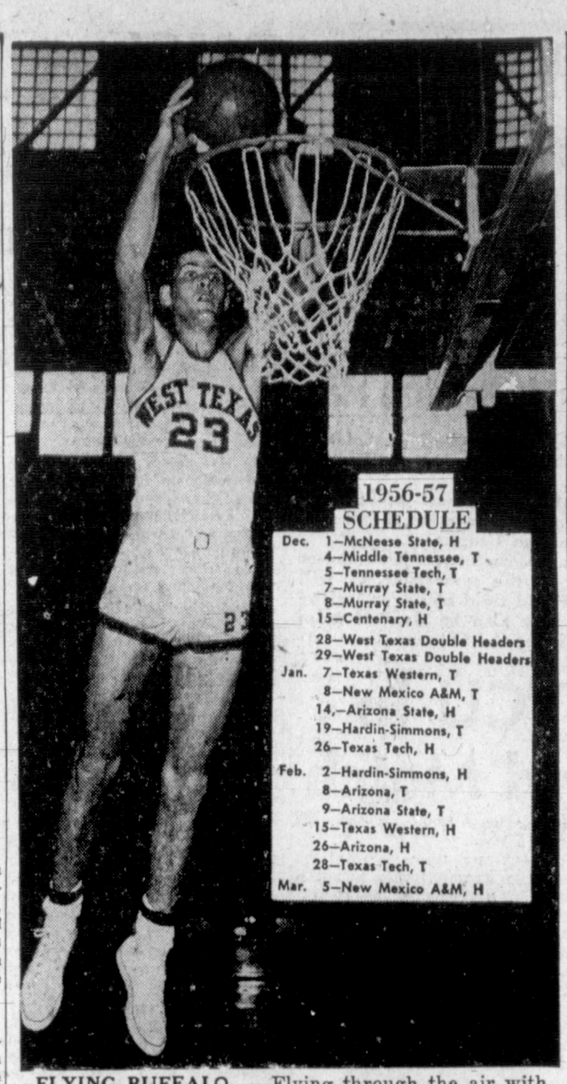

Score by periods:

Tulane	0	6	0	0	—6
LSU	0	0	7	0	—7

Tulane scoring: Quillian (2, plunge).

LSU scoring: Touchdowns, Taylor (1, plunge). Conversions, Taylor.

Oklahoma Tromps Okla. Aggies, 53-0

By CARTER BRADLEY

STILLWATER, Okla., Dec. 1 (UP)—Oklahoma's greatest football team kept its blaze of glory bright Saturday, defeating its home-state rival, Oklahoma A&M 53-0 for its 40th straight victory — a new national record.

The Big Seven champions apparently cinched their second consecutive national championship. They are not eligible for a bowl trip this year under conference agreement with the Orange Bowl.

Oklahoma gained 520 net yards rushing and set a new national record for a season with an average of 391 yards per game.

Thomas Scores Twice

Junior halfback Clendon Thomas scored twice in the first half to go ahead of his All-America running mate, halfback Tommy McDonald, in point-making. Thomas banged over from the one after an Oklahoma drive of 74 yards in the first quarter and took a 7-yard pass from McDonald in the end zone five minutes later.

Thomas closed out the season with a total of 108 points to 102 for McDonald, a senior playing his last game for Oklahoma.

McDonald's only touchdown came in the final period. Thomas, Saturday's rushing leader, set it up with a 41-yard romp to the 17, and McDonald went the rest of the way on the next play.

Favored Navy Forced To Settle For 7-7 Tie With Army

By RUSS GREEN

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 1 (UP)—Favored Navy, outplayed for three periods, rose to fury pitch in the final moments Saturday and turned an Army fumble into a touchdown that netted a 7-7 come-from-behind tie, but the failure to win cost the Midshipmen a trip to the Cotton Bowl game.

Immediately after the game Rear Admiral W. R. Smedberg III, superintendent of the Navy Academy, announced that Navy had decided to turn down a bid to play Texas Christian in the Dallas classic on New Year's day.

"I do not think in the light of our record that it would be in the best interests of the Naval Academy to participate in a post-season bowl game," Smedberg stated.

The Navy finished with a record of six victories, one defeat, and two ties.

However, Smedberg left the impression Navy would have accepted a bid had it won the game. The service schools have an "unwritten rule" that they will not play in post-season combat unless they are victorious in this game. Navy won here two years ago and beat Mississippi in the Sugar Bowl, 21-0.

The Middies, hemmed in beyond their own 50-yard line most of the afternoon by a dog-eat-dog Cadet line, marched 27 yards in seven plays after pouncing on a Cadet miscue and scored with seven minutes left to play.

Sophomore fullback Dick Dagampat crashed over from half a yard out. Ned Oldham kicked the point which gave the bruised Middies a tie in a game in which breaks played the major part in both scores.

Set Up By Interception

The Cadets' lead touchdown early in the third period was set up when quarterback Dave Bourland of El Paso, Tex., snagged a Navy pass and returned the interception 28 yards to the Middies' four. Bob Kyasky, the Army's siege gun all season, ripped over left tackle on the first play. Dick Murtland kicked the point.

The Navy had to settle for the tie, and could only breathe easy at the final gun as the swaggering Cadets carried the fight to them all afternoon.

Navy never could steam past mid-field under its own power as the lightning fast Cadet line kept up the relentless pressure. The only sorties to Cadet territory came when a bounding punt was touched by an Army end and then recovered by a Middie on the Army 20, and on an earlier fumble recovery at the same point.

Plagued By Fumbles

Then the Army, with visions of a victory, was plagued by the same fumble bugaboo which cost them the Michigan, Pitt and Syracuse games. The third fumble, and most damaging from a Cadet outlook, was the one which set up the tying score.

Until that climactic point it was Army's show.

The Cadets played with no interest in the odds which favored the Middies by 2 1-2 points, and their spirited play made their third-period touchdown look good. The Cadets still were trying in the final seconds when Jim Kennedy tried a field goal from the Navy 36 but it was short and time ran out before Navy could put a play in progress.

The score by periods:

Army	0	0	7	0	—7
Navy	0	0	0	7	—7

Navy scoring: Touchdown, Dagampat (1, plunge). Conversion, Oldham.

Hardin-Simmons Pokes Down Techsans, 41-14

ABILENE, Tex., Dec. 1 (UP)—The fired-up Hardin-Simmons Cowboys spotted Texas Tech a 14-0 first quarter lead and then put on a tremendous offensive and defensive performance to beat Tech 41-14 before 5,000 fans Saturday.

Tech ended the year with its worst won-lost record since 1929 when the Red Raiders posted a 1-7-2 record. This year the Raiders wound up 2-7-1.

Hardin Simmons wound up with a 4-6 record for Sammy Baugh in his second year of head coaching.

Tech scored the first time it got the ball, going 54 yards in two plays. After Don Williams hit Ken Vakey with a 48-yarder, fullback Gene Bentley blasted over from the 14 for the score.

Drive 95 Yards

The Raiders drove 95 yards for their second touchdown. Williams went over on a keeper from the eight.

H-SU scored early in the second on a 57-yard drive, Charles Massegee catching a 12-yarder from quarterback Gene Saur for the touchdown.

After holding Tech on downs after the kickoff, the Cowboys roared 75 yards to whittle the margin to 14-13 halfway through the third.

A 16-yard Sauer to Danny Villarreal pass put the ball on the six and Saur then hit the same halfback for the touchdown.

The Cowboys went out front late in the third on a 78-yard drive that used up only eight plays.

Bohling blasted over from the one to put H-SU out front 19-14.

Cowboys Boost Margin

A 64-yard drive boosted the Cowboy margin a few minutes later. The Cowboys moved to the five and bogged down, so Joel Honyecutt kicked a difficult angle field goal.

H-SU drove 75 yards early in the fourth to widen the lead to 28-14. Sauer went three yards on a keeper for the score.

A 47-yard pass off a reverse with Honeycutt throwing to Bohling paid off for another H-SU score.

The final touchdown for the Cowboys came on a 71-yard drive using four plays. Don Sizemore blasted over from the seven and Johnny Jones converted.

Score by periods:

Florida U. Falls To Miami U.

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Dec. 1 (UP)—With fullback Don Bosseler racing 72 yards for one of his two scores and setting up a third, Miami whipped Florida 20-7 Saturday in the "frustration bowl" game between two good elevens that will spend New Year's in the NCAA doghouse.

Some 40,000 fans watched the Miami Hurricanes jump to a quick 14-0 first half lead. They then cancelled out Florida's only score in the fourth quarter with Bosseler's brilliant run to preserve Miami's undefeated record with just one game to go.

The only Florida score came with 7 1-2 minutes to play in the final quarter when end Dan Pelham broke through to block a Miami kick, grab the ball on the 20 and run across untouched.

On the third play from scrimmage after the Florida kickoff, Bosseler's run put the Miami lead out of reach. He cut through left tackle from his 28 toward the sidelines and then ran the distance in a clear field. Florida halfback Jimmy Rountree threw a desperation tackle at the Gators' two yard line, but Bosseler fell into the end zone.

Score by periods:

Florida	0	0	0	7	— 7
Miami	0	14	0	6	—20

Florida scoring: Touchdown, Pelham (20, run after blocking punt). Conversion, Spears.

Miami scoring: Touchdowns, Scarnecchia (1, sneak), Bosseler 2 (1 plunge; 72, run). Conversions, Oliver 2.

Auburn Plainsmen Drub Alabama

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 1 (UP)—Veteran Auburn quarterbacks Howell Tubbs and Jimmy Cook threw the ball and end Jerry Ellio caught it Saturday to troubce Alabama 34-7 before a sell-out crowd of 44,000.

It was Auburn's third straight win over an Alabama team trying to work out of a dismal three years football depression.

Auburn took to the air after a rugged and hard-charging Alabama line put up a stone wall in the first period. Then the Plainsmen couldn't be stopped.

Tubbs, playing his last game for Auburn, passed for one touchdown and carried by another in the second period. It was his sharp passing that kept the ball moving throughout the first half.

Auburn made 22 first downs to Alabama's eight and rushed 333 yards to the Tide's 140. The Plainsmen completed 10 of 24 pass tries for 156 yards.

Score by periods:

Alabama	0	0	7	0	—7
Auburn	0	27	7	0	—34

Alabama scoring: Touchdowns, Loftin (8, run). Conversion, Booth.

Auburn scoring: Touchdowns, Elliot 2 (6, pass from Tubbs, and 21, pass from Cook); Tubbs (11, runs), Kitchens (1, run); Lorino (15, run). Conversions, Tubbs, 2, Atkins, Smmons (pass from Cook).

Both Army And Navy Disappointed

By JACK O'BRIEN

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 1 (UP)—Both the Army and Navy football squads were disappointed in their 7-7 tie Saturday, but the deadlock hurt Navy more because it cost them a trip to the Cotton Bowl on New Year's day.

Army Coach Earl (Red) Blaik said his team "was very much disappointed because we expected to win."

"Everyone on the staff is dedicated to go out and win the Navy game and a tie is always unsatisfactory," Blaik said.

In a quiet, saddened Navy dressing room, Coach Eddie Erdelatz and Director of Athletics Capt. Elliott Loughlin said the tie cost Navy the Cotton Bowl game.

Loughlin explained that Naval Academy Superintendent Adm. W. R. Smedberg, III, turned down the bid and the players had no chance to vote on it as they did two years ago when they received an invitation to the Sugar Bowl game.

"It was strictly a policy matter. The superintendent felt that Navy's record this year was not quite good enough to earn a bowl appearance," Loughlin said.

Asked whether that meant a Navy victory over Army would changed the picture, the athletic director said, "yes, it would. I'm sure we would have accepted the bid."

Erdelatz, whose football players sat morosely in their crowded dressing room called Army "definitely the best team we've met all season."

"They were tops. . . they were a good outfit," the Navy mentor said.

Blaik blamed fumbles on Army's blowing a 7-0 lead and the chance to register two straight upsets over the Middies.

Georgia Tech In Win Over Georgia

By BILL FERGUSON

ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 1 (UP)—Georgia Tech riddled Georgia 35-0 Saturday for its ninth victory against one loss and immediately accepted a bid to play Pittsburgh in the Gator Bowl Dec. 29.

The Gator Bowl will be a rematch of the Sugar Bowl game played Jan. 2 this year which Georgia Tech won 7-0.

Georgia Tech used a one-two punch at fullback to pierce the hard shell of Georgia's line and halfback Paul Rotenberry then scampered merrily as the Engineers turned the game into a romp before 50,000 fans.

Tech players in their dressing room accepted the Gator Bowl invitation by unanimous vote. The Engineers have ranked among the top half dozen teams of the nation all season, losing only to second-rated Tennessee by a lone touchdown. It will be Tech's sixth consecutive bowl appearance. The Engineers have won all five.

Fullbacks Ken Owen and Dick Mattison softened up Georgia in a brutal first half and Rotenberry turned the ends with an eight-yard touchdown sweep and a 53-yard breakaway that set up another score.

Georgia, hoping to break a six-game Tech winning streak in this angry rivalry for the sake of Coach Wally Butts, who may be under fire, fought the highly-favored Engineers almost on even terms through the first half, trailing only 7-0.

Score by periods:

Georgia	0	0	0	0—0
Ga. Tech	0	7	7	21—35

Georgia Tech scoring: Touchdowns, Rotenberry (8,—sweep), Mitchell (1, sneak), Flowers 2 (1, buck; 12, pass from Vann), Mattison (1, buck). Conversions, Mitchell 3, Vann 2.

Missouri Slips By Kansas

COLUMBIA, Mo., Dec. 1 (UP)—Coach Don Faurot's Missouri Tigers pounded out a safety with only 39 seconds left to go Saturday and end Faurot's 19 years of Missouri coaching successfully, 15-13, over Kansas.

It was Faurot's 101st win in his tenure at Missouri and almost didn't come when a fumble on Missouri's final conversion attempt left the game tied 13-13 with only 3:12 to go.

Both teams scrambled frantically for another score in the fading minutes and it was the "Farocious" Missourians who turned the breaks in favor of their coach, who announced his retirement just before the season began.

The safety came when senior tackle Church Mehrer grabbed Kansas halfback Bobby Robinson in the end zone with 39 seconds left. On the play before, the determined but stalled Tigers had pounded Kansas back from its 20 to the four.

Faurot, who remains as Missouri Athletic Director and begins a search for a new coach next week, ended his 19 years at Missouri with a 101-79-10 record. His lifetime record in 28 years of collegiate coaching and in two years in the Navy was 177 wins, 96 losses and 13 ties.

Missouri held a slight edge in the final statistics, but had to battle from behind nearly all the way.

That touchdown tied the game at 13-13 and the fumbled pass from center ruled out the conversion and appeared to leave the game in a draw.

Score by periods:

Missouri	0	0	7	8—15
Kansas	0	6	0	7—13

Missouri scoring — Touchdowns, Doane (4, run); Plumb (14, pass from Doane). Conversions, Rash 1. Safety, (Robinson, tackled Mehrer in end zone).

Kansas — Touchdowns, McCue (22, pass from Strauch); Letcavits (4, pass from Strauch). Conversion, Strauch.

Houston Fogs Detroit By 39-7

By JOHN COLTON

HOUSTON, Tex., Dec. 1 (UP)—University of Houston, hopeful of going to a bowl, scored two quick touchdowns and then coasted to a 39-7 victory over Detroit Saturday to close out the second best season in school history.

Detroit, stymied in the air and on the ground, and muffing four chances, managed to break through in the third period for a lone touchdown, with Negro halfback Billy Russell rushing 13 yards to score.

Four Houston seniors bowed out of college football with touchdowns in the first, third and fourth periods, with end Bob Borah intercepting a Detroit pass to add another tally from the enemy 11 in the final two minutes.

Houston, the Missouri Valley Conference champions, closed the season with a 7-2-1 record, the best since 1952's eight wins and two losses. Detroit closed the season with a 2-8 record.

Houston, scoring almost at will except in a stand-off second period, wracked up points on runs of 19 yards by quarterback Don Flynn, 22 yards by fullback Donnie Caraway, and 11 by Borah. A 64-yard pass-run to Smith and another 52-yard aerial to end Webb Bishop accounted for others.

Caraway contributed another score on a one-yard plunge. Flynn kicked the three extra points.

Detroit scored in the second period on a 46-yard pass from quarterback Larry O'Dell but the tally was called baack and the Titans were penalized 15 yards for holding.

Detroit was turned back twice from the Houston one-yard line in the final period.

Score by periods:

Houston	13	0	7	19—39
Detroit	0	0	7	0— 7

Houston scoring: Touchdowns, Flynn (19-run), Bishop (52-pass from Blount), Caraway (22-run), (1 plunge), Smith (64-pass from Flynn), Borah (11-interception). Conversions, Flynn 3.

Detroit scoring: Touchdowns, Russell (13-run). Conversion, Korpak.

Miami Mothers Sponsor Annual Football Banquet

MIAMI — (Special) — The members of the Miami High School Mother's Club honored the Warrior football team Friday evening of last week with the annual football banquet in Fellowshhip Hall of the Methodist Church.

The centerpiece, flanked by golden candles, was a fall arrangement of golden grains and fruits pouring from the Horn of Plenty. The tables were covered with purple paper with golden place mats. White felt Indian heads decorated with purple and gold, the school colors, served as the program and menu covers. The menu served was: turkey, dressing, gravy, cranberry sauce, green beans, sweet potatoes, rolls, pumpkin pie.

Donald Stobaugh, high school principal, acted as toastmaster. Superintendent Frank Odom gave the Invocation.

As the group sang, "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," Co-captains Johnnie Lopez and Wayne McLaughlin crowned the queen, Caroline Hodges, with a decorated helmet and presented her with a bouquet of yellow roses tied with purple ribbon. She was also presented with a gold engraved football.

Mrs. Joe Cunningham, president of the Mother's Club, welcomed the group. Wayne McLaughlin gave the response. Coach Steve Scott gave a few comments on this past football season. He said that even though the boys had not won all the games they played, it has been a successful year in other ways.

Calvin Crail, Pepper Burnett, Howard Morris, Johnnie Lopez, Terry Gill, Billy Lard and Sam Harris, accompanied by Miss Jackie Jackson, sang "Green Door" and "Angels In The Sky," Miss Sammie Jo Bowers gave a toast to senior players. The group sang the school song.

Those present were Messrs. and Mmes. Steve Scott, Donald Stobaugh, Joe Cunningham; Misses Kathryn Ann Harris, Jennie Mathers, Mary Hosier, Beverly Poore, Sammie Jo Bowers, Charlotte Christopher, Jackie Jackson, Jennie Hosier, Darlene Harris, Caroline Hodges, Lavonne Patterson, Joan Bryant, Barbara Holland, Jacque Gill, Sue Clark, Verna Bridwell. Football boys attending were: Johnnie Lopez, Doyle Smith, Wayne McLaughlin, Toby Cunningham, Charlie Christopher, Pepper Burnett, Sam Harris, Bll Breeding, Calvin Crail, Terry Gill, Lewis Robers, George Bobo, Jimmie Seitz, Henry Turner, Jerry Mayo, Jimmie Bowers, Howard Morris, Theo Mayo, Billy Lard.

WT Beats Midwestern

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., Dec. 1 (UP)— Bob Ratliff and Ronnie Mills led the West Texas State Buffaloes to a 41-14 victory over Midwestern Saturday.

It was the last game for Midwestern, but West Texas will play Mississippi Southern in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla., Jan. 1.

Ratliff and Mills each scored twice as the Buffs turned a close game into a rout by scoring 21 points in the last period.

Panhandle Outdoor Life

By S. V. WHITEHORN

Several years back, A. S. Jackson, the Panhandle's top wildlife expert, was in a conversation with a group of quail hunters over a cup of coffee when one of the hunters turned to Jackson and remarked, "I hunted in Arkansas about ten years ago and we always could kill a basket of quail every time we went hunting. Where did all the birds disappear to? You can go to the very same fields now and can find practically no birds."

Jackson remarked, "You should be able to answer that question."

With a heavy population of hunters and a small population of birds the hunters can simply cut the breeding stock to a degree that the birds have a hard time of 'holding on.' In just a few years of observing the quail situation here in the Panhandle, I have observed that much.

Where can a person find a place to hunt. "These ranchers just won't let you hunt," is the common cry of many of the quail hunters of today. If every one that wished to could hunt as often as he wished the situation here would be similar to the one the hunter was speaking about in Arkansas.

"I never hurt the bird population. When I kill a covey down to about eight birds then another larger one is hunted." The hunter that makes this remark is usually honest in his assumption but incorrect. When quail coveys are reduced to this number they usually join up with another covey thus the hunter is hunting the same birds.

We have a surplus of quail, that is a hunting surplus for the amount of range available this year but we do not have a large surplus and the hunters, especially this year, should be more interested in the outdoor sport of working their dogs and occasionally bagging a bird rather than just getting the limit. (exceeding that bag limit might really warrant that limit)

The above paragraph applies more to the counties in the north and west parts of the Panhandle than in the south and eastern parts. From all accounts, the quail population is much greater in the Wheeler, Shamrock, Childress and Spur areas of this area. That is, pertaining to bird population.

The State Game Management area near Canadian, will allow this year sixty hunters to hunt for one day each on the ranch. Jackson, the wildlife biologist, has determined the area can safely furnish 600 birds without endangering the breeding stock on the ranch. This area is not typical of other ranches of the same acreage, 5000 acres, due to planned game management practices put into effect and the fact that the grassland has rested for the last five years will add to a greater bird population than any average ranch.

Many of the ranches is the Panhandle, in the 5000 acre bracket, in the good bird years, have provided as many as 1500 birds and still maintain a good carry over amount but 1956 didn't chalk up the amounts of rainfall as some of the good quail years.

The Texas Game and Fish Commission is carrying on the quail wing collection this year the same as in the past. There is a great amount of information collected from the study of these wings, by the wildlife biologist and your cooperation is greatly needed. At most of the sporting goods stores in this area you will find wing collection envelopes available. Pick up some of these and give the wildlife boys a hand.

All that is necessary is a wing from each bird in one of the envelopes. After the hunt, assemble the birds of the hunt in a pile, then separate the cocks from the hens and take one wing each from the birds and place in the prepared envelopes and drop in the letter box at the post office. Of course, fill in the blanks pertaining to date of kill, what county, etc.

GUN SHY DOGS

Many hunters will gun shy their dogs the first time out due to carelessness on the part of the hunter. It is always a good rule to have your canine fully accustomed to the gun before three or four open up above the dog on point with automatic shotguns. Usually when this happens, and the dog leaves out, the hunter will remark, "Well old rover is gunshy," never knowing that he caused the dog to be that way.

One good way to get your dog accustomed to the gun is to take your canine to the field before hunting and wait until the dog is in hot persuit of game and then wait until the dog is at least 100 yards distance from you then fire a small calibre gun. If the dog fails to respond to the shot repeat at a closer distance. It won't take buut a few times out until your dog will associate gun firing with game and love the sound of shooting.

Lefors' Bandit Banquet Is Held

LEFORS — (Special) — The annual Lefors Junior High School Bandit football banquet was held Friday night at 7:30 in the Lefors cafeteria.

Guests to the elaborate affair included junior high football players, their dates, the boys' mothers and fathers, all the coaches, and the superintendent, Jerry Jacobs.

Special entertainment for the evening included two vocal numbers by the Junior Trio which includes Alta Smith, June Henderson, and Sheila Cable. A film also was shown to the guests.

This banquet officially closed the exciting and successful Bandit football season during which the team won all of their games.

Peg O' Pampa

TIGHTEN YOUR BELT, if you are able after two Thanksgiving weeks, and prepare for the battle, from now until Christmas . . . When Peg was a child she remembers that there were an endless number of days between Thanksgiving and Christmas . . . and it seemed to be at least three months . . . now there is only one small month . . . never enough days to get all the shopping done . . . and to make the little personal gifts that are so much fun to give . . . and receive . . . and to enjoy with the children the meaning of the season's events . . . accelerated living has changed Christmas from a leisurely time of quiet joy to a bustling hodgepodge of parties and buying . . . does it not seem that the sound of carols is nearly drowned by the rustle of wrapping paper and price-tags? Or is it just that pre-Christmas panic creeping up on Peg?

Temptations, when we meet them at first, are as the lion that reared upon Samson; but if we over come them, the next time we see them we shall find a nest of honey within them.—John Bunyan.

HERE AND THERE about the town . . . Pampa has another of its sons in the Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities . . . Bill Webb, who is at Wayland College, a senior, and a very fine young man . . . Peg thinks that the cleverest name for a club is the Desk and Derrick Club . . . the new Stephen F. Austin Elementary School is looking fine . . . heard Brian Duncan (small, handsome son of Ray and Hilda) saying that that is "his" school . . . and acting very proud of it . . . won't be long until he will be ready to attend classes in the school . . . since Jean Pratt Losher became ill with polio last December, her friends in Pampa have frequently asked about her . . . latest report is that she is in good spirits . . . regaining more movement in her right arm, and is now allowed to sit up in a wheel chair for short periods . . . this is a reminder, also, that just because of the Salk vaccine the polio problem is not licked, for treatment of patients still must be done . . . Bob and Mary Norton left for New York last week . . . Mary was planning to attend some plays and concerts and really see the town . . . Dr. Lloyd and Ann Hicks are moving to a new house. To finish the report begun a couple of weeks ago on the bowlers who went to Amarillo . . . John Koontz won the singles, Class B . . . which gets him a tidy little cash prize and a trophy, too . . . Peg likes Peggy Palmitier's pretty new hair style . . . heard rumors of a little shopping that was done in Dallas when Bubs and Carl Lang attended a medical meeting there recently . . . and also that Henry Gordon enjoyed the hi-fi meeting . . . saw Lillian Snow in a stunning brown suit, with a scarf to match the melon-colored flecks in the suit fabric . . . Angela Spearman certainly does a fine job with her three children, and is so attractive . . . makes Peg feel like a lumbering elephant to watch her.

IT IS PARTY-GIVING and party-going time of the year . . . it always seems that all the parties of the year are stuffed into busy, hectic days from the week before Hallowe'en to the week after St. Valentine's Day . . . there is hardly a chance to catch one's breath . . . for instance, recently there have been eight or ten parties, among them parties at the hotel, at Ann Heskews, at the Country Club, at the Cabot Auditorium, and in many homes . . . we guess that never a day goes by that there isn't a party or perhaps a "coffee" somewhere in Pampa . . . with the "coffee-drinkingest town around here . . . and the coffees fee-drinkingest town around here . . . and the coffee range all the way from the small, neighborhood gathering of maybe only two or three to big receptions with candles and silver services . . . from introducing a new neighbor to friends to honoring some "Very Important Person" . . . we think that this type of entertaining is the "most."

WHEN THE FOOTBALL team is losing, and spirits may lag a little, then the courageous cheerleaders are called upon for renewed efforts . . . we think that high praise should go to these young people . . . Nancy is head cheerleader . . . and another group of handsome youngsters doing a fine job for their school, and incidentally, for the community, is the high school A Cappella Choir, directed by Bill Hunt and encouraged by his wife Jane . . . Wayne Harrison is president of the choir . . . Cynthia Duncan is soprano section leader . . . Benny Sparks is tenor section leader . . . and John Lee is bass section leader . . . certainly these representatives of the "teen-age" breed are ambassadors of good-will wherever they go.

NEW INVENTION of the year is a small electric beater . . . it has, instead of the regulation beaters, a large wire that whirls . . . put an egg on a sponge rubber cushion, gently press the wire into the top of the egg, and turn on the motor . . . the egg is beaten right in its own shell . . . then can be broken to use in cooking, or hard-boiled (with a piece of that water-proof tape covering the small hole made in the beating process) for people who don't like yolk or white separately in a boiled egg . . . when you stop to think of it, this contraption is pretty sinister . . . Peg calls it unconstitutional invasion of the privacy of any self-respecting egg to be beaten in its own shell . . . oh, the horror of it! Poor, helpless egg!

SPEAKING OF ART . . . have you ever seen the hand carved altar pieces done by Amy Russell . . . it would be something to see any weekday, and certainly and especially at church on Sunday . . . Nuptial Vows Are Exchanged Thursday By Miss Joan Ryan And John Stonnild Vows were exchanged by Miss Joan Grey Ryan and John W. Stonnild, both of Fort Worth, at 4 p.m. Thursday in the Arlington Heights Methodist Church of Fort Worth. Dr. Clarence Sutton officiated for the double - ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Ryan, 1216 Duncan, Pampa, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Agnes Aalov of Copenhagen, Denmark.

THE CEREMONY

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white faile and rosepoint lace. The empire lace bodice was styled with a lace Peter Pan collar, accented with a rosepoint applique, and longlace sleeves. The princess-style faille skirt was waltz-length. Her waist-length veil of illusion fedd from tiara accented with seed pearls, and she carried a cascade of red and white roses over a bible.

Mrs. Harold Shook, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. She was attired in a gown of changeable green silk taffeta. The sleeveless bodice was styled with an empire waistline and the skirt was waltz length.

Lee Clark of Fort Worth served as best man, and ushers were Clifford G. Ryan Jr. of Pampa, brother of the bride; and Duane Fincher of Fort Worth.

Decorations for the ceremony included arrangements of white mums. Will Foster served as organist and Mrs. Sally Wilson, vocalist, sang "I Love Thee."

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Ryan wore a green dress, and Mrs. Aalov, mother of the bridegroom, was attired in a black and white dress.

THE RECEPTION

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church's Sutton Hall. The serving table was covered with a white lace cloth, centered with an arrangement of white mums. Mrs. Landi Lawson of Gainesville presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Leonard Trietsch of Denton served the cake. Guests were registered by Mrs. Bill Lynch of Denton.

For the wedding trip to Carlsbad, N.M., the bride wore a copper and gray suit with black and bisque accessories. Her corsage was of red and white roses from her bridal bouquet.

Upon returning the couple will be at home at 3828 Clarke Ave., Fort Worth.

SCHOOLS, AFFILIATIONS

The bride was graduated from Pampa High School in 1951, where she was a member of La Rose sorority. She received her BS degree from Texas State College for women in 1955. She taught first and third grades for two years in Gainesville and is now teaching third grade at Mary Louise Phillips Elementary School in Fort Worth. She is a member of Beta Sigma Phi sorority.

The bridegrom was graduated from Neils Ebbesensvej High School in Copenhagen, Denmark, and attended the Copenhagen Academy. He is now attending Texas Christian University in Fort Worth. He came to the United States in April 1954 and is a photographer and salesman for the West Cliff Camera Shop of Fort Worth.

The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Agnes Aalov, flew to Fort Worth Nov. 24, for her son's wedding and her first visit to the United States. She plans to return to Denmark Dec. 15.

RUTH MILLET

Work. Work. Work. No vacations. No time for fun. And now the wife has become interested in a younger man who works for the same company that she does.

She admits she has a good husband but she also admits she is fed up with a life in which there is no time for pleasure. Their children are almost grown and she is beginning to wonder if she hasn't a right to some happiness herself. happiness herself.

Sure, she has. But she won't find any happiness in having an affair with the younger man or breaking up her marriage in order to marry him.

It's too late to make a new life for herself. But it isn't too late to take a good look at her marriage and her old life and see how both can be improved.

Why have she and her husband done nothing but work for years? Is it because they wonted so many things they forgot about the importance of enjoying life from day to day and year to year?

Is it because they have tried to give their children too much?

Or is it just because they have gotten so in the habit of working they have forgotten how to stop and enjoy themselves along the way?

The best thing this wife could do is to arrange for a vacation with her husband. Once they get away from their home and their jobs — if it is even for a few days — it will be easier to talk and plan for the future.

Together they should be able to work out a better pattern for living than just work, work, work.

All work and no play is not a satisfactory pattern for any marriage.

Instruction Is Given To Skelly Rebekahs

SKELLYTOWN — (Special) — Rebekah Lodge met recently in the IOOF Hall with Mrs. Ross Neugin, noble grand, in charge.

Mrs. Miles Pearston gave a report on the entertainment committee. Mrs. Clifton Hanna and Mrs. Miles Pearston were appointed to meet with the Oddfellow lodge on decorating the lodge hall.

Mrs. T. M. Mastin of Pampa, district deputy president, held a school of instruction. Mrs. Ross Neugin announced the marriage of a member, Miss Peggy Wyatt, to L. W. Lybrant of Pampa.

Mrs. Miles Pearston directed several games, following the closing of lodge.

The serving table was centered with a tiered wooden bowl of fruit, surrounded by autumn leaves. sandwiches, salad, homemade candy and coffee were served.

Attending were Mmes. T. M. Mastin and Homer McNeil of Pampa; and Mmes. Johnny Wyatt, C. M. Estes, R. C. Heaton, George Allen, Al Shubring, Ross Neugin, Clifton Hanna, Clarence Hoskins, Miles Pearston, Fred Genett, Delmar Sims, Carlos Beck, Walter Niver, R. S. Marlar, Lyle Zmotony, Everett Crawford, Peggy Lybrant; Miss Addie Fern Lick; and Messrs. Everett Crawford and C. M. Estes.

Fay Eileen Trader Becomes The Bride Of Guy Harvey In Double-Ring Service

Miss Fay Eileen Trader became the bride of Guy Roland Harvey Nov. 25, in the Church of the Nazarene, with Rev. J. R. Manning Jr. of Shamrock and Rev. D. D. Elliott of Pampa, officiating for the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Fay B. Trader, 318 Sunset Drive, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Henry Harvey of Chidester, Ark.

THE CEREMONY

Decorations for the ceremony included palms, ferns, baskets of gladioli and pompons, and candelabra. Traditional organ music was played by Miss Mary Ann Becker. Mrs. Mack Hiatt Jr., accompanied at the piano by Miss Marieta Williams, cousin of the bride, sang "Bless This House," "The Wedding Prayer" and "The Lord's Prayer.

Given in marriage by her brother, Eugene Trader, the bride wore a white velvet gown. The moulded bodice that closed with tiny covered buttons was fashioned with a stand-up collar, trimmed with seed pearls and long fitted sleeves. The bouffant, floor-length skirt extended into a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a white calot, fashioned from velvet leaves, accented with seed pearls. She carried a white Bible topped with a bouquet of white gardenias and carnations tied with white and purple ribbon.

She carried out the tradition of "something old, new, borrowed and blue." Her "something new" was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. R. G. Buckles of Graham, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. She was attired in a purple gown of pin cordury, topped with a velvet bolero. Her velvet headdress was trimmed with seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of lavender cushion mums.

Bridesmaids were Mrs. Don Jones and Mrs. John Shearer, who wore identical gowns of lavender satin and tulle. They carried bouquets of lavender cushion mums and lavender grapes. Their velvet headdresses were trimmed with seed pearls.

Judy Mayes, Perryton, was flower girl. She was attired in a lavender, floor- - length satin dress. Her headdress was of lavender velvet, and she carried a basket filled with lavender cushion mums.

Doyle Harvey, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man, and R. G. Buckles of Graham and Bill Davies of Amarillo were groomsmen. Ushers were Harvey Hilderbrand of Chidester, Ark., Gerald Richardson and Gary Green.

Bobby Trollinger of Pampa and David Buckles of Graham were ringbearers.

The mother of the bride, Mrs. Trader, wore a black chiffon dress trimmed in velvet, with laveader accessories. Her corsage was of lavender carnations. Mrs. Harvey, mother of the bridegroom, was attired in a blue wool crepe dress with blue accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

RECEPTION

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cooper, 610 N. Gray. The three-tiered wedding cake and crystal punch bowl were flanked by tapers, and the table was centered with an arrangement of lavender chrysanthemums. Mrs. Gayle Trollinger of Pampa and Mrs. Bill Davies of Amarillo presided at the table.

For the wedding trip to points in New Mexico, Oklahoma and Colorado, the bride wore a navy-blue wool suit with a white beaver hat. Her corsage was of gardenias and carnations from her bridal bouquet.

Upon returning, the couple will be at home at 1402 E. Francis. Both the bride and bridegroom are employed by Magnolia Petroleum Company.

Out - of - town guests for the ceremony included Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Harvey, Miss Mary Ann Harvey, Mrs. Harvey Hilderbrand and Mrs. Henry Harvey, all of Chidester, Ark.; Mrs. Lillian Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. John Fergerson, Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Mayes and Judy, all of Perryton; Mrs. Annie Williams and Miss Merita Williams, both of Oklahoma City, Okla.

PRE - NUPTIAL EVENTS

Among the pre-nuptial courtesies for Miss Trader was a miscellaneous shower in the home of Mrs. W. R. Morrison, 1609 Mary Ellen.

Co-hostesses with Mrs. Morrison were Mmes. R. J. Sailor, John Shearer, Don Jones, C. A. Jones, Marguriete Nash, Paul Hawthorne and Johnny Spinks.

About 128 persons attended or or sent gifts.

Varietas Study Club Given Program On Decorating Homes

Mrs. W. A. Wagoner was hostess to the Varietas Study Club, with Mrs. J. R. Spearman, president, in charge. Roll call was answered by Bible verses. During the business session, plans were discussed for the next meeting, which will be a Christmas program and gift exchange.

The program, "Our Homes," was under the direction of Mrs. J. G. Doggett, who spoke on "Interior Decoration and Furniture Styles." She told the history of furniture and discussed the furniture trends of today. She accompanied her talk with magazine pictures, illustrating furniture styles, types, arrangements and colors. Following her talk, she introduced her husband, J. G. Doggett, who showed a film on home decoration. The film was centered on selection of carpeting and the arrangement of other home decorations around it.

Guests were Mrs. Jess Clay and Doggett. Members present were Mmes. H. H. Butler, J. G. Doggett, H. P. Dosier, S. C. Evans, H. T. Hampton, Dow King, J. E. Kirchman, C. L. McKinney, Otis Nace, George Sims, J. R. Spearman, Sherman White, and W. A. Wagoner.

First Baptist Circles Have Study Meets

Two circles of the Women's Missionary Union, First Baptist Church held mission and Bible studies during meetings in members' homes this week.

MARY ALEXANDER

The Mary Alexander Circle met with Mrs. T. C. McGlohon, with Mrs. T. O. Trout giving the opening prayer. The business session was led by Mrs. W. R. Bell. Mrs. Randall Howell led the mission study, followed by group discussion. A Thanksgiving basket was prepared for a needy family. Closing prayer was given by Mrs. McGlohon. Six members were present.

ROBERTA COX

Mrs. Charles Scott Jr. was hostess to Roberta Cox Circle. Opening prayer was given by Mrs. Harold Craddock, and Mrs. Melvin Bailey led the business session. A program on stewardship was presented by Mrs. Floyd Barrett. A Thanksgiving basket for a needy family was prepared, and Mrs. Paul Turner closed the meeting with prayer. Present were six women.

DOLLS FOR ORPHANAGES

Miss Nancy Tate, left, and Miss Sue Evans, right, both of McLean are shown looking over the dolls the McLean, Alanreed, Grandview, Hopkins and Pampa 4-H girls have made, to be given to orphanages in Panhandle, Amarillo and Lubbock for Christmas. About 45 or 50 dolls have been made. Miss Tate and Miss Evans held a training school recently in McLean to teach the other girls how to make the dolls. (News photo)

Programs Highlight WMU Circle Meets

Programs were presented at meetings of circles of the Women's Missionary Union, Calvary Baptist Church.

MARIE MATHIS

The Marie Mathis Circle met in the home of Mrs. L. A. Lavery, Sinclair Merten camp, with Mrs. C. R. McGahen leading the opening prayer. Featured on the program were Mmes. Wilda McGahen, C. R. McGahen and Robinette Willis. The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. A. C. Broen and Mrs. Willis.

Following the meeting, the women packed a Thanksgiving basket. Ten women attended.

BLANCHE GROVE

Five members attended the meeting of the Blanche Grove Circle in the home of Mrs. T. L. Rowe, 1145 S. Wilcox. Opening prayer was led by Mrs. Rowe, and the mission program was presented by Mmes. C. B. Cummings, C. E. Humphries, and Jack Robertson. Mrs. Wynola Sanders gave the closing prayer.

KATHLEEN MALLORY

Mrs. Ennis Hill, 824 S. Barnes, was hostess for the meeting of the Kathleen Mallory Circle, with Mrs. C. A. Pixler giving the opening prayer. On the program were Mmes. Patsy Gates, C. Davis, Ennis Hill and Bert Mitchell. The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. Hill. Following the meeting, a Thanksgiving basket was prepared.

"Know Your Library" Is Program Given For Meeting Of Twentieth Century Club

Mrs. Lillian Snow, city librarian, presented a program, "Know Your Library," at the meeting of the Twentieth Century Club in the Lovett Library.

Mrs. Snow told the women that a re-cataloging of the library has just been completed and a plan set up to carry over for a much larger library. She explained the Library's system of cataloging by letter and number, rather than by author, making the shelving of books much easier.

She stated the library has "increased tremendously" in the last few years, but is "not yet the library a town of this size and culture" needs.

Mrs. Snow explained a person can find a recipe from any state in the union in the library. She said the library has a large variety of cook books, books on sewing, on flower arrangement and how to make cut flowers last longer.

"We take the reader's Guide to Periodicals, but until this year we did not take very many of the magazines listed," she told the women. "Now we have most of them. There are many more things to be added to the library as soon as the public starts using the things we have."

Mrs. Snow went on to give some statistics concerning the library. She explained a total of 60-554 books were checked out between Sept. 1, 1955, and August 31, 1956, making an average of 197 books checked out each day. The most books checked out in one day were 435, with 100 being the least, she pointed out.

During that same period, there were 1,087 new patrons, averaging 90 per month, Mrs. Snow explained. There were 2,709 books catalogued, averaging 226 per month. She added that a total of $4,411.72 were spent on books during the year, averaging $367.64 per month.

Mrs. V. J. Jamieson, president, led the business session, during which Mrs. R. E. McKernan asked for supplies to be sent to the state mental institution in Wichita Falls.

The flag ceremony and devotional were presented by Mrs. McKernan. Hostess for the social period was Mrs. Joe Gordon.

CAN'T RESIST A CREAM PUFF? Your tongue twitches every time you pass a creamed dish? Now you can stop fighting temptation and eat what looks good to you. One of the arguments against diets is that diet food has the personality of sawdust on your plate or on your palate. Here's a menu that is designed to make your mouth water without adding an inch to your hips or a lump to your conscience.

THIS IS IT!
Dietetic Fruit Cocktail
Broiled Mixed Grill
Tossed Salad — Dietetic Dressing
Iced Coca-Cola
Pineapple Snow Peaks — Low Calorie Whipped Topping

DIETETIC FRUIT COCKTAIL

Get a tin of Dietetic Fruit Cocktail — large or small — depending on whether there is just "you" or "You and yours." If you have a champagne glass with a hollow stem, serve the fruit cocktail in that. The juice flows easily into the steam and standing a straw down the hollow and through the middle of the cocktail will give an extra festive note to the dish, and YOU get to the juice easier.

BROILED MIXED GRILL

1 lamb chop wrapped in a slice of very lean bacon.
Fresh mushroom slices (they are low low calories)
½ grilled tomato
2 rye wafers
1 sprig parsley

Broil the lamb chop outlined in the bacon slice, the tomato and the mushrooms together on a skillet. Blend in the bacon juices with the lamb chop for a happy marriage of meat flavors. Slice the mushrooms down the center to form little T's. Set several on each plate . . .arrange tomato alongside parsley.

TOSSED SALAD WITH DIETETIC DRESSING

Slip all those greens in your refrigerator into a mixing bowl and toss until the lettuce and tomatoes and bits of watercress or whatever you've found under ice cube tray are closer than this. Sprinkle sparingly with any one of prepared dietetic dressings — or make your own with two or three drops of oil and a dampening of lemon juice. The juice gives that extra bit of Vitamin "C" anyone on a diet can use.

COCA-COLA . ICED

It is no surprise to see Coke show up here — it has only 77 calories (in a standard 6-oz. bottle). A true diet meal beverage, its low-calorie count is less than half a grapefruit. End the meal with. . .

PINEAPPLE SNOW PEAKS

Here is a tasty dessert with only 75 calories a serving. Make it today and have it for a week. . .if you are eating alone.

4 saccharin tablets (¼ grain each) or ½ teaspoon sweetener solution
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1¼ cups unsweetened canned pineapple juice.
½ cup cold water
1 envelope of unflavored gelatin

Dissolve saccharin tablets in the lemon juice or blend liquid sweetener with the lemon juice. Add to pineapple juice and set aside. Soften gelatin in cold water in a quart saucepan and stir over low heat until gelatin is dissolved. Remove from heat and add the pineapple juice mixture. Pour into four gelatin molds or custard cups holding about ¾ cup each. Chill until firm, about two hours. When ready to serve unmold and top each "peak" with Low Calorie Whipped Topping. Makes 4 servings.

LOW CALORIE WHIPPED TOPPING (about 75 calories)

½ or ¼ grain saccharin tablet
¼ cup water
¼ cup non-fat dry skim milk
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Dissolve saccharin in water in a deep mixing bowl. Sprinkle dry milk on top of liquid and beat at high speed until mixture stands in peaks. Gently stir in lemon juice. Chill before serving. Makes about 1¼ cups.

To an orlon slipover or cardigan, add a little fur-like collar in one of the cotton pile fabric. Whole thing is dressy and washable, too. Collars come in white and fur colors.

Skellytown's HDC Has Dinner Meet

SKELLYTOWN — (Special) — Members of the Home Demonstration Club and their families held a Thanksgiving supper in the Skelly Schafer clubhouse in the Schafer camp. Mrs. Janie Fletcher, Carson County home demonstration agent, and Mrs. Fannie Williams, both of Panhandle, were special guests.

The banquet tables were decorated with cornucopias filled with fruits, and miniature turkeys.

The invocation was given by Rev. Dewey Godwin, pastor of the Skellytown Community Church.

Attending were Messrs. and Mmes. Clifford Coleman, Cecil Shipley, W. S. Berry, Dewey Godwin, Fred Wall, Howard Wedge, Clarence Hoskins, Fred Genett, Paul Mathews, J. R. Ellis, Everett Crawford, R. C. Heaton, and Mmes. Joe Chapin, Guy McKenney, George Porter, Clifton Hanna; also Donald Chapin, Linda Moore, Joyce Chapin, Mary McKenney, Linda Pitman, Karen Shackelford and Shirley Keach.

Fudge Provides Sweet Way To Wish "Merry Christmas"

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Elitor

To say "Merry Christmas" the sweetest way, letter fudge squares with frosting and fit the squares like alphabet blocks into a gift box to spell the message. Fluffy, snowy-like coconut topped with candied cherry and angelica "holly" completes the Christmas motif.

MERRY CHRISTMAS FUDGE

(Yield: Approximately 2¼ pounds)

One jar (5 to 10 ounces) marshmallow cream, 2-3 cup evaporated milk, ¼ cup butter or margarine, 1½ cups sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 6-ounce packages (1 cup each) semi-sweet chocolate morsels, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ½ cup chopped nuts, optional.

Combine marshmallow cream, evaporated milk, butter or margarine, sugar and salt in saucepan. Bring to a full rolling boil, stirring constantly. Boil 5 minutes over moderate heat, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Add semi-sweet chocolate morsels and vanilla; stir until smooth. Add nuts, if desired. Turn into greased 8-inch square pan. Chill until firm. Cut into squares and place in gift box. Letter individual squares with butter frosting through a pastry tube to spell out a holiday greeting; decorate other squares with flaked coconut, candied red cherries and angelica or citron.

GIFT BOX FUDGE

(Yield: Approximately 1¼ pounds)

Two 6-ounce packages (1 cup each) semi-sweet choclate morsels, 2-3 cup sweetened condensed milk, 1 tablespoon water, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Melt semi-sweet chocolate morsels over hot, not boiling, water in top of double boiler. Remove from hot water. Add milk, water and vanilla; stir until smooth (do not beat). Turn into greased 8-inch square pan. Chill until firm. Mark into squares. Decorate individual squares with butter frosting from pastry tube in pink and white candy stripes. Or cover squares with flaked coconut; decorated with candied red cherry halves and pieces of angelica. Or use patry tube to make candy canes; top canes with multi-color sugar candy.

TOOTHSOME, yet inexpensive, friendship gifts for the holiday, such as fudge, can come from your own kitchen.

A nail brush and a pumice stone are as essential to lovely hands as nail polish and hand lotion. Keep both brush and pumice stone handy in the bathroom where you'll see them and be reminded to use them daily.

When you're buying a carpet or rug, pick a color that will fit in with your draperies and up-holstery. If you choose a rug with a prominent design, the rest of the room should be in plain colors in order to avoid a busy effect.

Almost any woman looks better for a touch of rouge, used sparingly and placed high on the cheekbones. Very few women have sufficiently rosy coloring to enable them to do without rouge entirely. Lipstick and powder are the essentials; rouge adds the necessary sparkel.

Prayer Week Rites Planned By WMU

A Lottie Moon Week of Prayer for foreign missions will be observed this week by the Women's Missionary Union of the First Baptist Church, with services planned each day, Monday through Friday.

Services Monday and Tuesday will be held at 3 p.m. in the church, and services Wednesday through Friday will be held at 10 a.m.

Mrs. J. B. O'Bannon will be in charge of the programs, and special music will be under the direction of Mrs. Harold Craddock. Theme for the week will be "Hallowed be Thy Name."

A special program with representatives from various churches in Pampa is planned for Thursday, with those taking part to be in costume.

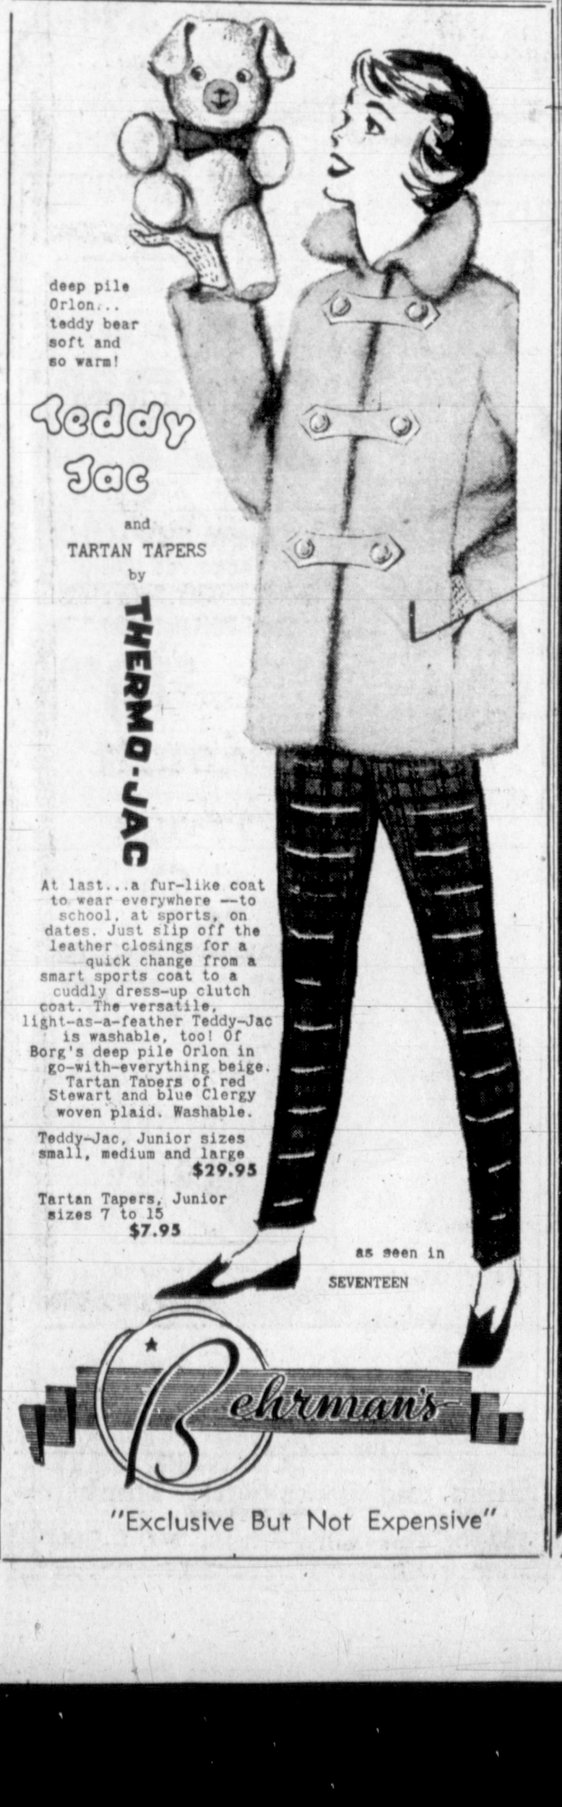

Skelly Schafer Club Plans Family Event

SKELLYTOWN — (Special) — Members of the Skelly Schafer Club met in the Schafer clubhouse recently, with Mrs. L. F. Karlin and Mrs. L. Barrett as hostesses.

Mrs. L. F. Karlin, president, directed the business meeting. A Thanksgiving supper was planned with each member to invite another family as her guests. Next meeting will be Dec. 13, with Mrs. R. E. McAllister and Mrs. J. M. Chapin as hostesses. Each member is asked to bring towels or wash cloths to this meeting as a gift to a home.

A dessert plate was served to Mmes. L. D. Cowart, B. A. Wesner, L. Barrett, Henry Gentry, Jim Thompson and J. M. Chapin.

B&PW Club Holds Thanksgiving Fete

The annual Thanksgiving banquet of the Business and Professional Women's Club was held recently in the City Club Room.

The invocation was given by Mrs. Gladys Jaynes, and Mrs. W. G. Crowson, president, welcomed the guests. Mrs. Crowson also gave a short inspirational talk entitled, "Vitamins for Living." The vitamins she named were C-1 for courage; C-2 for confidence; C-3 for cooperation; L for love; and P for prayer.

Special vocal music was provided by a trio, composed of Misess Barbara Lunsford, Nancy Stevenson and Marilyn Myatt, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Maxine Milliron.

The program was a skit, "An Insight To An Interview," presented by Mmes. Marguriete Nash, Gladys Howard, Hattie Holt, Gladys Jaynes, Rufe Thompson, D. C. Ash and W. A. York, all club members. The skit, showing the types of woman applying for a job as secretary, won first place at the district meeting, held recently in Perryton.

The meeting was closed with the club collect, given by Mrs. Jewell Howell.

For the banquet, dinner music was provided by Mrs. Lillian Powers, accordionist. Guests were registered by Mrs. Jessye Stroup and Mrs. Ruth Marselle.

The tables were covered with white cloths and decorated with gold and silver cornucopias filled fruit and vegetables. Favors were miniature gold and silver cornucopias filled with candy.

The banquet was under the direction of Mrs. Lillie Mae Fowler, assisted by Mmes. Mary Summers, Jessye Stroup, Ruth Marselle and Misses Lucille Moore, Johanna Dyer and Shirley Dickson.

During the dinner, each member inlroduced herself and her guests.

If you'd like a touch of fur this winter but don't feel you can put your money into a coat or jacket, put it into a fur handbag instead. Good for several seasons and many costumes.

Miami Guild Fetes WSCS Members

MIAMI — (Special) — The members of the Wesleyan Service Guild entertained the Women's Society of Christian Service with a salad and ham supper in Fellowship Hall.

Mrs. William E. O'Loughlin, president, welcomed the guests. Rev. J. V. Patterson gave the invocation. After the meal, a film, "City Story," was shown. Mrs. Troy Hopkins, study leader, explained the film was the conclusion of the Guild's study, "Mission USA".

Guests were Mmes. J. V. Coffee, Frank Russell, J. K. McKenzie, Laura Cox, W. O. Russell, C. C. Shield, Eunice Holland, Ross Cowan, C. Carmichael, C. W. Bowers, Miles O'Loughlin, W. L. Russell, W. H. MR. AND MRS. KENNETH MELSON

W. Darlene Darnell, Kenneth Melson United In Marriage

In a double - ring ceremony at 8 p.m. Nov. 23, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jon Jones, Miss Wilma Darlene Darnell of Pampa and Kenneth Neal Melson of Plant City, Fla., were united in marriage. Jon Jones, minister of the Harvester Mary Ellen Church of Christ, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Darnell, 936 E. Campbell, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Melson of Plant City, Fla.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a light-blue silk faille suit with matching hat. Her jewelry consisted of a gold bracelet, a gift of the bridegroom, and a pair of earrings belonging to her aunt. Her corsage was of white carnations.

She carried out the tradition of "something old, new, borrowed and blue."

Miss Rayna Lee Darnell, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor. Her dress was of yellow linen, and she wore a corsage of white carnations.

Serving as best man was Preston Baily, uncle of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Darnell wore a black taffeta suit accented with a maroon pin stripe. Her acessories were red, and her corsage was of red and white split carnations. The bridegroom's mother was unable to attend.

Following a short wedding trip, the bride will resume her studies in Pampa High School where she is a senior student, and the bridegroom will report for duty at Eglin Air Force Base in Florida.

Birthday Party Given For Skellytown Girl

SKELLYTOWN — (Special) — Mrs. Buck Durning recently entertained her daughter, Becky, with a party for her eighth birthday.

Party games were played, after which refreshments of cup cakes, ice cream and punch were served. Party favors were candy and balloons.

Attending were Lana Sue Brown, Rita McAllister, Beverly Harlan, Lynn Sharpe, Emily Huckins, Donna Huckins, Glenda Lockhart, Jerry Grange, Ronny Knutson, Torchy Beaver and Amy Jo Durning.

Time to get your clothes ready for holiday entertaining is right now. Decide what you need, buy it at leisure. If repairs or alterations are called for, this is the time to have them done.

Try attaching a chiffon bow and collar to your favorite cardigan for dressy wear. It can be in a matching or contrasting color but the ends of the bow should be long and floaty.

FHA SWEETHEART

Miss Joyce Ballard, senior student in White Deer-Skellytown High School, has been elected sweetheart of the White Deer chapter of Future Farmers of America. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ballard of White Deer.

20th Century Forum Is Given Program On Artists In Taos, Indian Silversmiths

Mrs. J. R. Holloway was hostess to the Twentieth Century Forum Club, with Mrs. H. C. Federer Jr. and Mrs. F. J. Vendrell presenting the program.

TAOS ARTISTS

Mrs. Federer's review of "Taos and Its Artist," by Mabel Dodge Luhan, emphasized the fact that his nearby New Mexican community is "the best-known and most significant art center of America."

Bert Phillips, who became famous for his portraits of the pueblo Indian, and Ernest Blumenschein, who also painted Indian subjects, traveled by covered wagon to this oasis surrounded by mountains, she explained. They were the first of the famous seven, "whose paintings now hang in most of the museums in American and countless private collections," Mrs. Federer said.

Others in this pioneering group were Berninghaus, Higgins, Course, Sharp and Ufer. Their paintings are primarily concerned with the Indian and his animals and mores as well as the spectacular beauties of nature to be found in that vicinity, she pointed out. These painters demonstrated, in the colony they founded, the "old-fashioned fallacy that art is unconcerned with ethics or morality is outmoded." Only the morally healthy remained to work and paint in the inspiring natural beauty of Taos, the women were told.

One of the most important artists to find his way to Taos, where he painted for thirty years, was John Young Hunter, who became the official Carnegie portrait painter, she reported.

"His fun came with painting the tender landscape with a faraway, pale sunset on the horizon, or the pink and yellow sand cliffs, with or without those characteristic Indians having a good time beside a stream," Mrs. Federer explained.

Present - day Taos is a most hospitable community, Mrs. Federer mentioned. The artists welcome visitors into their studios and a friendly atmosphere predominates, she said, adding that art is a big business for Taos, with tourists buying at least $150,000 worth of paintings last year, according to the "Wall Street Journal."

"The Navajo and Pueblo Silversmiths" by John Adair, which Mrs. Vendrell reviewed, was also primarily concerned with the Southwest. Adair, an anthropologist, is not interested in the Indian's jewelry as mere museum pieces, but rather as it reflects his mind and economy, she told the women.

"The nomadic and warring Navajo learned how to work silver about 1860," Mrs. Vendrell explained. "When they were defeated and exiled to an area near Ft. Sumner, N.M., in 1864, they were wearing jewelry, but it had been made by other Indians."

The first Navajo silversmith, Atside Sani ("Old Smith" in English) learned his trade from the Mexicans, she reviewed. As the craft developed it was by one Navajo teaching another. Relative taught relative as a courtesy, but a fee in "sheep, goats or credit at the trader's store" was charged outsiders, Mrs. Vendrell explained.

"To the Navajo, his silver has an economic value," she said. "It is not just something pretty. . .This display of wealth is a family matter and they pool their jewelry for a dance, or if a member of the family is to have his picture taken."

In 1870 jewelry making was still a crude art to the Navajo, and it was made only for his own use, Mrs. Vendrell explained. He first used American coins for his silver, but in 1890 the United States began enforcing a law prohibiting defacement of U.S. currency and the Indian switched to Mexican coins. Since these coins do not contain as much alloy as U.S. coins, the silver was easier to work, she pointed out.

The Navajo did not originate many designs himself; rather he copied from other Indians, from Mexican leather designs or from Spanish mission art, Mrs. Vendrell reported. However, he changed and adapted each design he selected, she said. The cross which hangs on some of his necklaces is "only decorative and void of religious value." The concha, the squash blossom, buttons, beads and earrings are all popular with the Navajo craftsman as well as bracelets and beads.

The first stones, turquoise, were set into Navajo silver in 1880, she told the women. Later came native garnet, jet, malachite, abalone shells. Commercialization of Indian silversmithing came with the Fred Harvey Company's interest in selling souvenirs of the Southwest to its customers, she explained. Mass production and stamped, stereotyped designs which have little or no significance to the Indian, but were introduced to them by the trader, tended to discourage fine craftsmanship.

Mrs. Vendrell explained that the Indian Arts and Crafts Board, as well as schools and some of the traders, are presently encouraging the Indian to return to finer design and better workmanship.

BUSINESS SESSION

The short business meeting was conducted by Mrs. M. McDaniel, president. It was decided to bring gifts for patients in the mental hospital in Wichita Falls to the December meeting as a Christmas project.

Members present were Mmes. Holloway, Federer, Vendrell, McDaniel, Roy Bourland, Bob Curry, E. J. Dunigam Jr., William L. Ellis, William T. Fraser, Homer D. Johnson, W. Calvin Jones, Frank Kelley, Henry J. Rose, Aubrey Steele, Arthur Teed and C. V. Wilkinson.

Manners Make Friends

Some people are always talking about how rushed and busy they are as though they alone had responsibilities. You may not be able to help rushing around. But at least you don't have to talk about it all the time.

There's nothing charming about giving the impression that you are the busiest person you know.

The life of clothes may be reduced by as much as 50 per cent from the effects of hard water. The collection of minerals makes the fibers brittle and acts as an abrasive on the fabric.

4-H Club Is Given Doll Demonstration

Miss Helen Dunlap, county home demonstration agent, gave a demonstration on making octopus dolls at the meeting of the Waysidette 4-H Girls Club in Miss Dunlap's office, Courthouse.

Members will make the dolls, which will be distributed by Miss Dunlap to orphanages in Panhandle, Amarillo and Lubbock.

During the business session, the Christmas party, to be held Saturday, was discussed. Miss Sharron Osborne was welcomed as a new member and elected vice-president. It was decided to divide the secretary - reporter's duties, with Miss Arlena Wills as secretary and Miss Irene Baggerman as reporter.

Those present were Misses Nellie Green, Jeanie Hopkins, Arlene Wills and Sharon Osborne.

If you're a small woman, overpowering furs are not for you. Pick a soft, sleek fur. The new river otter is ideal, particularly in a little jacket. Leave the fur stoles to the tall gals.

How I Keep Him Happy
(AND MYSELF YOUNG)
By MRS. COULD-BE-YOU of Pampa, Texas
BE IT A BEAUTIFUL GAS STANDING RANGE

Hug him in the morning, kiss him at night . . .
but what the perfume ads didn't say was that you've got to cook for him too.
Hot, messy, and time consuming hardly describes cooking on my old range!

I loved him too much to

Carhops In Southwest Receive A "Boost" From Mrs. Mary King, Charm Specialist

By RALPH MONCRIEF,
NEA Staff Correspondent

DALLAS, Tex. — (NEA) — If you should drive into a drive-in restaurant these days in the Southwest, you're likely to get blitzed by charm along with the food.

The blitz is being generalled by Mrs. Mary King in Dallas, Houston, Lubbock and Oklahoma City, to wipe out what she calls the "I don't care what I look like, I gotta job," attitude among women employees who meet the customers.

Mrs. King, a determined woman who has been a charm director in other fields, got into the carhop problem this year when she was introduced to Jim Lane, operator of a chain of ice cream and snack-type drive-ins.

Lane complained to Mrs. King that he could find training programs on every phase of the operation except sprucing up the girls who were his link with the motoring public. He asked her to do something about it.

On her first research trip around the chain, Mrs. King's sense of charm was more than a little shocked. She found:

Most of the carhops and many of the waitresses sloppily dressed; atrocious makeup; terrible language.

"I found some of them," Mrs. King says, "wearing rhinestone earrings with blue jeans in the afternoon. . Rhinestones are strictly for evening wear. It was obvious the girls just didn't know."

When Mrs. King opened the drive-in clinic, more than 50 of Lane's employes were on hand for the debut.

She talked to them about self-improvement, make-up, wardrobe, diet and exercise, self - confidence and sales suggestions — demonstrating each point in turn with live models and basic face patterns.

"From the pertinent, personal questions they asked me after the clinic," she says, "I could feel these young women were in dead earnest about this thing called charm."

Says Lane: "In less than two weeks, I could see some of the results. My personal secretary attended that first clinic, and the next day I could see a change in her. I believe this 'charm in industry' idea will show a marked improvement in my company, and I can see no reason why it won't work in other fields."

Mrs. King has no intention of leaving her girls alone after their initial clinic. She's going to keep right on blitzing them with bulletins on the latest gimmicks in the field of charm.

Rocketeer Playing Vital Research Role As A Wind Ballistics Expert Is Woman

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — "They have never cut down an Aerobee-Hi that I had anything to do with." Eleanor Pressly is not one to brag, but that's a statement she's proud to make.

To explain the jargon requires a description of one of the most exciting and vital jobs any woman now holds.

Miss Pessly, 38, is probably history's first woman to throw a lever that sets off a major U.S. rocket. A wind ballistics expert at the Naval Research Laboratory here, it's her job to figure the exact angle at which unguided rockets should be set before they are blasted into the heavens.

If she makes a mistake, the missile will not land in a safe area when it falls back to earth.

If this happens, it's necessary to trigger a charge in the rocket to destroy it. That's what they call "cutting down" a rocked.

So far, any rocket Miss Pressly has directed into space has never been cut down. She has been in on 15 firings of the Navy's Aerobee-Hi at the White Sands Proving Grounds in New Mexico.

The Aerobee-Hi is an unguided rocket being used by the Naval Research Laboratory for upper atmosphere research. One Aerobee fired at White Sands reached a height of 164 miles and established a new record for an American-built boosted rocket.

On this occasion, as many others, Miss Pressly operated out of a special blockhouse where she calculates the correct position of the rocket on its nearby tower.

With one eye on an anemometer, the other on wind reports coming in from balloons and on a crew of computers, she keeps a constant watch six hours previous to firing.

"It's a busy, busy time," she says. "And I always have to make sure somebody doesn't do something wild like calling a north wind a south wind."

That actually happened, but she caught the mistake before the rocket went off. She will never forget the time she had to call a halt on a firing 30 seconds before firing time.

"That's the toughest experience I've ever had with rockets," relates this youthful - looking woman who gives the appearance of a happy housewife set for a round of afternoon bridge. She has bright blue eyes, blonde hair and an infectious laugh.

"This was an Aerobee set to go off in the evening to measure the light of the night sky," she explains. "It was last July Fourth. No moon was out and it was the final chance we had for a long while to make the test.

"Everything was going fine until 30 seconds before firing, when the wind completely changed direction. It was a sudden and unusual switch and I had to tell them to stop the count so the tower could be readjusted," she recalls.

"My big worry then was whether this abrupt shift of wind would hold until we got the rocket again. In about four minutes it was put in a new position.

"The wind held, we said a prayer and fired it. The flight turned out fine and the rocket went over 100 miles."

On several occasions Miss Pressly has been completely in charge of rocket firings at White Sands. This fall she will be at Fort Churchill in Manitoba, Canada, for a series of four rocket tests.

During the summer of 1955 she made some of the first calcuations to determine how long the earth satellite could be expected to stay up.

"Essentially, I'm a mathematician," says Eleanor, who has been at the Naval Research Laboratory for 11 years. During the war she worked at Harvard. She's from South Carolina and received her MA in math from Duke University.

Her favorite hoby is choir and solo singing. She also dabbles in painting.

Eleanor Pressly calls her shots when she plans firing of upper atmosphere rockets. She's shown examining the nose cone instrumentation for one of the high-flying devices.

Work Secret Aims Into Room "Decor"

Don't let convention restrict your imagination when you decorate a bedroom. Have you a hobby? A faraway place that has always fascinated you? A favorite game? Any of these themes can be worked into a decorative scheme.

There are wallpapers which reproduce stamps, music, and dolls, if any one of these is your hobby. Racks and chests for a fan, rock, or souvener collection make interesting focal points in any room.

An interest in American history can be reflected in a room furnished with antiques. (The crowning touch here — A four-posted bed!) It's easy to work in exotic touches of the Far East nowadays with the great popularity of Japanese and Indian accessories. Chessmen adorn drapery fabrics, and a floor can easily be made into a fine checker board.

The main thing is to use your imagination. Make the room a reflection of your interests. But remember — a bedroom is for sleeping. Don't over-decorate to such an extent that the room becomes a confusing jumble. And don't overlook the bedding. No matter how much fun the room is, without a comfortable mattress and spring you won't get much satisfaction or rest from it.

Sponges are often preferable to wash cloths because they leave no lint and hold a thick lather.

Make Friends Manners

Never write a letter when you are angry. Remember that by the time the letter is delivered, you may have thought better of the things you said. Or you may have found out something that makes your anger seem absurd. If you do write a letter in anger, at least keep it on your desk for a few days and re-read it before mailing.

If you do, it will probably never see a postmark.

A bottle of sudsy water and a clean cloth in the glove compartment of the car may come in handy if the windshield becomes splashed with mud or dust.

The flour sifter should be slipped into a paper or plastic bag after use to keep it clean and to keep it from spraying loose four on shelves.

"Baking results become really important when I'm cooking several fruitcakes at a time!"
says MRS. BILLY HENRY
520 WEST VIRGINIA ST.
FLOYDADA, TEXAS

GETS CONTROLLED HEAT

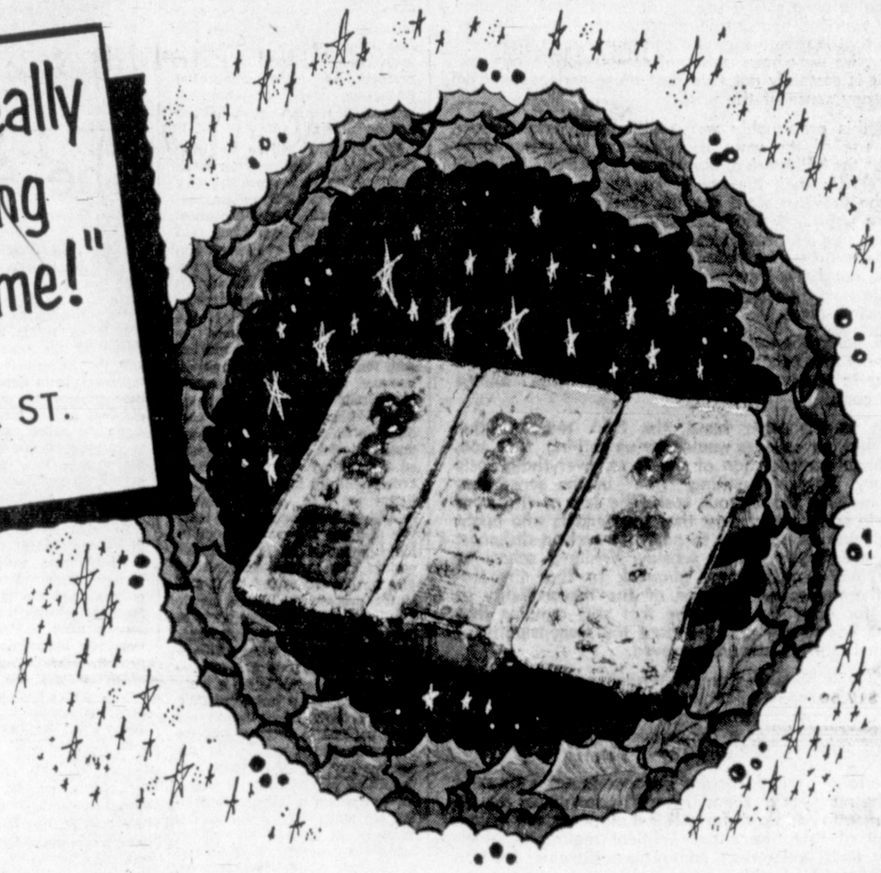

"I've cooked electrically for years, so naturally when I bought a new double oven range, it was electric. When I am working with expensive fruit cake ingredients, my baking temperature must be exact. I have found that an electric oven gives me exactly the controlled heat I want."

RANGE DOES PERFECT JOB

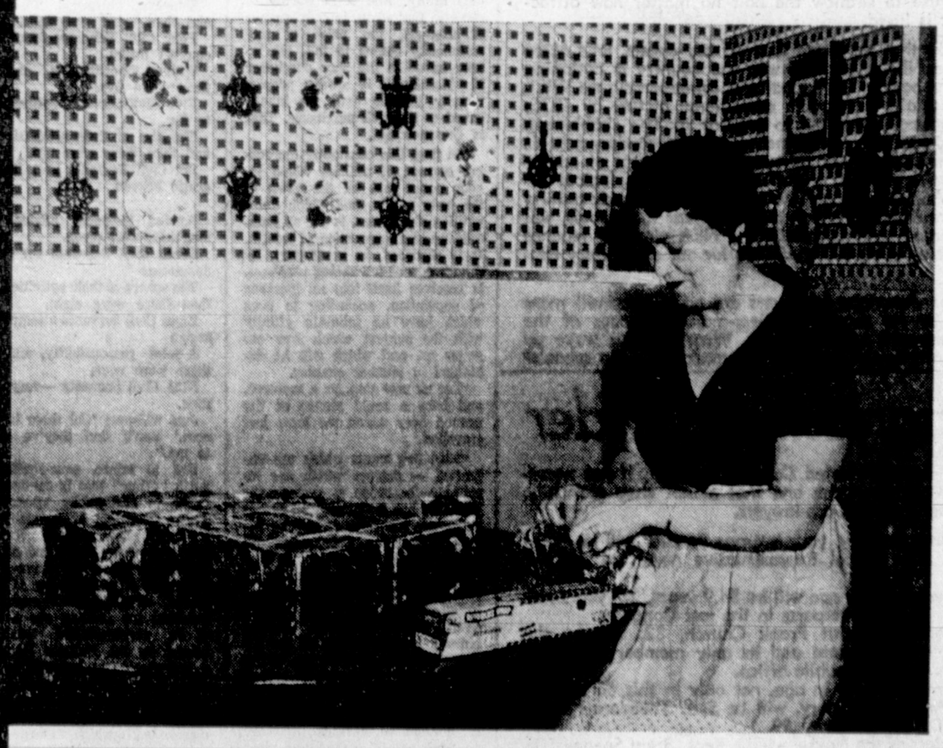

"The double oven model is excellent, not only in my fruit cake baking, but comes in handy for family dinners and entertaining friends. Handy, too, for quick snacks are the surface units . . . they're so fast. I find my new range does a perfect job whether it's a quick snack or the fully loaded ovens."

LIKES ELECTRICITY

Mrs. Henry describes her home as an electric one and she says, "We are all proud of our electric appliances which make living more enjoyable."

Christmas is coming and Mrs. Henry has turned her love for baking fruit cakes into a profitable business during the holiday season. Last year she baked over 500 pounds of fruit cake in two weeks . . . a tribute to the exactness and accuracy which electric baking gives.

At Christmas Time, Cook Better Electrically with a New Electric Range!

True Meanings

The human race stands self-indicted in its apparent unwillingness to make itself understood. Perhaps the greatest problem of our time is the business of individual communication. And while we are the only species known to have the ability to exchange ideas and thought, we are apparently still functioning in this vital area much as primitive man functioned. We simply don't want to take the time to achieve accuracy in our expressions.

For example, quite recently an official representative of the National Educational Association, speaking in Washington, announced that by 1975 America would have "free, compulsory college education" available for all. What a phrase! The use of the word "free" is completely political and totally inaccurate. While it may be true that if the government continues on its undeviating way, we may have universal compulsion in our colleges, it is certainly not true that these colleges will be free in any sense of the word.

If this presumably well-qualified educator meant by his use of the word that freedom of information would be the hall-mark of our higher institutions of learning by 1975, then his use of the word "compulsory" gives the previous word the lie. Freedom and compulsion are opposites. This phrasing is equivalent to the Hitlerian propaganda releases during World War II in which German troops victoriously advanced to the rear. You do not have freedom and compulsion, any more than you have light and darkness at the same moment in the same place.

No doubt the word "compulsion" had such unpleasant connotations that it was hitched to the word "free" in order to remove the curse. The word "free" always sounds good.

If, on the other hand, the NEA representative meant that our colleges would cost us nothing, that, too, is in direct contradiction of the facts. Everything costs somebody. There is nothing "free" in the sense that it can be provided without cost. The use of the word "free" in an effort to show that the persons who ought to be paying do not have to pay, is merely a dishonest dodge revealing a hidden subsidy. While a school or college may provide some gimmick so that the students themselves are relieved of the responsibility of paying for what they get, the fact still remains that someone has to pay and therefore the responsibility of payment is shifted but not removed.

There is no such thing as "free" education either in our lower schools or at the college level. And where compulsion is used as in all government schools, the cost of education becomes a dangerous threat, not only to our solvency but to our very way of life.

Certainly, this particular instance is not a singular one. The numbers of times in which good words are inserted next to bad words for political purposes, are legion. In point of fact, the entire political regime to which we pay such undeserved admiration, sustains itself in a realm of half-truths, weasel words and outright untruths. Rarely does a political figure have the courage to report the real unvarnished truth. Instead, he cloaks his actions, which may be iniquitous in the extreme, with words which tend to mislead and misdirect the public.

In this connection the NEA is a past master of the art of deception. But it is surely time for the American public to become informed of the true meanings of words and refuse to swallow the bait no matter how attractively it is lured.

Now that we've got that off our chests, let's agree with the NEA man. The way the country is cottoning up to the boys in the educational bureaucracy, we WILL have a totally compulsive educational picture by 1975, if something isn't done to prevent it. The shabbiness, the mediocrity of our elementary and secondary schools will then saturate our colleges if this concept of education at the point of a gun is carried to its logical extreme. And the burden to our taxpayers, already putting out more than ten billion dollars a year for schools, will be enlarged until (according to NEA aims) it reaches a whopping thirty billion dollars for our compulsory education.

The American taxpayers are on a treadmill more deadly by far than the power-making devices of the mid-nineteenth century looms. When will we wake up sufficiently to call a halt to this madness in our schools?

Congressmen Older

The newly elected Congress is older, if not necessarily wiser, than the one that closed shop last July. And most members are lawyers.

Come January, your average Senator will be pushing 58. The typical Representative never will see 54 again.

Their average age will be 54.9 years, 2.7 years older than their counterparts in the last Congress.

Idaho Democrat Frank Church, 32, will be the "baby" of the Senate and its only member without a previous record in public office.

Senior Senator in age, not only in this Senate but in all American history, will be Sen. Theodore Francis Green (D. R. I.), a spry 89.

Elders of the House, will be Reps. Brent Spence (D., Ky.), 82, and Clare E. Hoffman (R., Mich.), Will Neal (R., W. Va.) and Daniel A. Reed (R., N. Y.), all 81.

Reps. Edwin May Jr. (R. Conn.), Kenneth Gray (D. Ill.), Merwin Coad (D., Iowa) and Joe Holt (R., Calif.), all 32, will be the youngest House members.

As in the past, the nation's laws will be written mainly by lawyers. Nearly two-thirds of the members of Congress also are members of the bar. Almost a third of the members have had experience in business or banking.

Agriculture, teaching and journalism also figure in a substantial number of biographies.

Though many of the members will attribute their votes to divine inspiration, Rep. Walter Judd (R., Minn.) is the only former minister.

Competition

XII.

In the last few issues I have been quoting from Frederic Bastiat's chapter on "Competition," showing how competition benefited the laboring class, the entrepreneur, the capitalist, and all mankind.

Bastiat's essay was written about 100 years ago when the beliefs on economic subjects in France were about the same as they are in the United States today. Since few people really believe in competition or understand it, his essay is timely.

In the following he attempts to show how competition had improved the lot of the workers in the 1840's. Just think how much competition has improved the lot of mankind in the following 100 years. Bastiat continues:

"Will it be said that, in point of fact, mankind has not made the progress that this theory seems to imply?

"I answer, in the first place, that in modern society Competition is far from occupying the sphere of its natural action. Our laws run counter to it, at least in as great a degree as they favour its action; and when it is asked whether the inequality of conditions is owing to its presence or its absence, it is sufficient to look at the men who make the greatest figure among us, and dazzle us by the display of their scandalous wealth, in order to assure ourselves that inequality, so far as it is artificial and unjust, has for foundation conquests, monopolies, restrictions, privileged offices, functions, and places, ministerial trafficking, public borrowing,—all things with which Competition has nothing to do.

"Moreover, I believe we have overlooked the real progress which mankind has made since the very recent epoch to which we must assign the partial enfranchisment of labour. It has been justly said that much philosophy is needed in order to discern facts which are continually passing before us. We are not astonished at what an honest and laborious family of the working class daily consumes, because habit has made us familiar with this strange phenomenon. If, however, we compare the comfortable circumstances in which such a family finds itself, with the condition in which it would be placed under a social order which excluded Competition — if statisticians, armed with an instrument of sufficient precision, could measure, as with a dynamometer, the relation of a working man's labour to his enjoyments at two different periods, we should acknowledge that liberty, restrained as it still is, has accomplished in his favour a prodigy which its very permanency hinders us from remarking. The contingent of human efforts which, in relation to a given result, has been annihilated, is truly incalculable. Time was when the artisan's day's labour would not have sufficed to procure him the most trumpery almanac. At the present day, for a halfpenny, or the fiftieth part of his day's wages, he can obtain a gazette containing the matter of a volume. The same might be said of clothing, locomotion, carriage, lighting, and a multitude of other satisfactions. To what is this result owing? To this, that an enormous proportion of human labour, which had formerly to be paid for, has been handed over to be performed by the gratuitous forces of nature. It is a value annihilated, and to be no longer recompensed. Under the action of Competition, it has been replaced by common and gratuitous utility. And it is worthy of remark, that when, in consequence of progress, the price of any commodity comes to fall, the labour saved to the poor purchaser in obtaining it is always proportionally greater than the labour saved to the rich purchaser. That is demonstrable.

"In fine, this constantly increasing current of utilities which labour pours into all the veins of the body politic, and which Competition distributes, is not all summed up in an accession of wealth. It is absorbed, in great part, by the stream of advancing numbers. It resolves itself into an increase of population, according to laws which have an intimate affinity with the subject which now engages us, and which will be explained in another chapter.

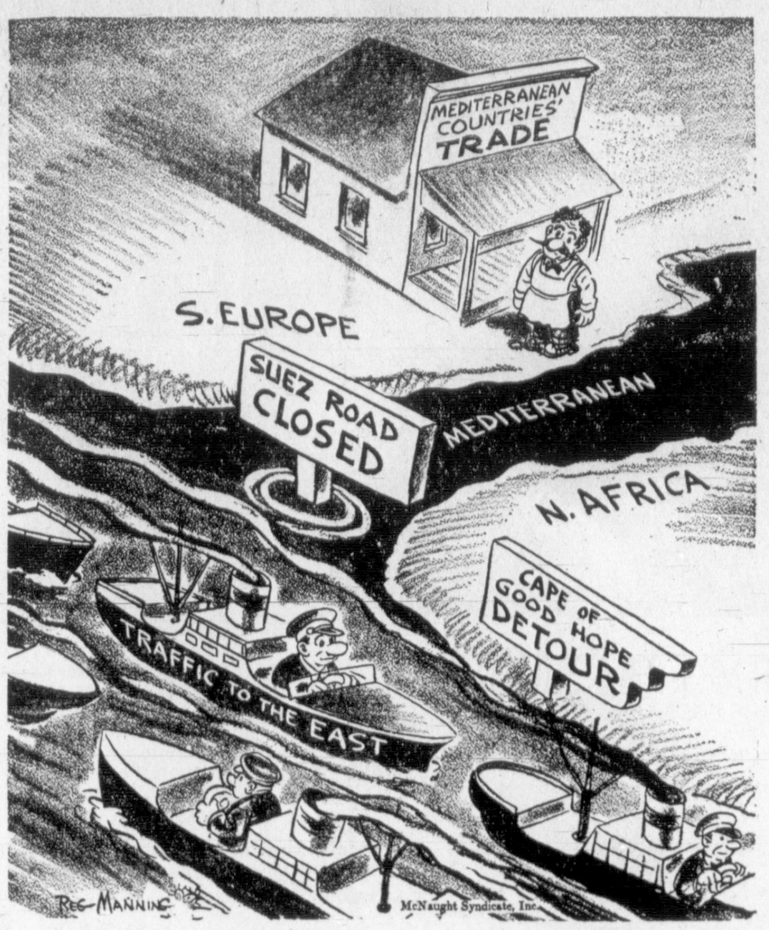

"Let us now stop for a moment, and take a rapid glance at the ground over which we have just travelled.

"Man has wants which are unlimited — desires which are insatiable. In order to provide for them, he has materials and agents which are furnished to him by nature — faculties, instruments, all things which labour sets in motion. Labour is the resource which has been most equally distributed to all. Each man seeks instinctively, and of necessity, to avail himself to the utmost of the co-operation of natural forces, of talents natural and acquired, and of capital, in order that the result of this co-operation may be a greater amount of utilities produced, or, what comes to the same thing, a greater amount of satisfactions acquired. Thus, the more active co-operation of natural agents, the indefinite development of intelligence, the progressive increase of capital, give rise to this phenomenon (which at first sight seems strange) — that a given quantity of labor furnishes as always increasing amount of utilities, and that each man can, without despoiling anyone, obtain a mass of consumable commodities out of all proportion to what his own efforts could have realized.

"But this phenomenon, which is the result of the divine harmony which Providence has established in the mechanism of society, would have been detrimental to society, by introducing the germ of indefinite inequality, had there not been combined with it a harmony no less admirable, namely, Competition, which is one of the branches of the great law of human solidarity."

The American Way

"SOLDIERITIS"
By George Peck

As this be being written we are about go to to the polls to register our decision as to the individual who is to reside in the White House for the next four years and the individuals who are to represent us in Congress. By the time it appears in print. The elections will be history and once again the nation can settle down to carrying on its affairs without the shouting and tumult that inevitably accompany our great American quadrennial hippodrome.

So, what to write about at this In-between period! Perhaps just a few more words about the Hoover Commission recommendations and the failure of our lawmakers to do the "necessary" to put most of them to work, would be in order. In this connection, "The Outlook," published at Toronto, Canda, printed in its October issue, some very appropriate comment, which it found in "The Recorder" of London, England. This bit of humer in rhyme aptly depicts how mother England suffers from a similar malady to that which afflicts America and which the adoption of the Hoover Commission recommendations would go far toward effecting a cure. I quote his gem from England via Canada:

"One Civil Servant, with nothing much to do,
Wrote a Memorandum, and then there were two.
Two Civil Servants, over cups of tea,
Formed a Working Party, and then there were three.
Three Civil Servants, drafting forms galore;
Someone whispered 'Planning,' and then there were four.
Four Civil Servants found they couldn't thrive
Without Co-ordination, and then there were five.
Five Civil Servants settled down to fix
The size of their establishment, and then there were six.
Six Civil Servants in a bureaucratic heaven
Needed technical advice, and then there were seven.
Seven Civil Servants set out to demarcate
The sphere of their activities, and then there were eight.
Eight Civil Servants attempted to assign
A joint responsibility, and then there were none.
Nine Civil Servants —very busy men,
Just whisper: 'Cut them ten per cent.' You'll find they've grown to ten."

Sad to relate, over-staffing is not a "crime" that is confined entirely to our public servants—it it also prevalent in private industry and business—made necessary by "feather bedding" and soldiering on the job of all to many employees. To the Chamber of Commerce, of Boulder, Colorado, I'm indebted for sending me a copy of an announcement that was posted on the Bulletin Board of a manufacturing concern in that city. Any employer reading this column will cheer the effort of this Boulder concern to correct a disease with which a large number of employees suffers in this day of high wages and low performance. This announcement read as follows:

"NOTICE TO ALL EMPLOYEES

"Due to increased competition and a keen desire to remain in business, we find it necessary to institute a new policy —Effective Immediately.

"We are asking that somewhere between starting and quitting time and without infringing too much on the time usually devoted to lunch periods, coffee breaks, rest periods, story telling, ticket selling, vacation planning, and the rehashing of yesterday's TV programs, that each employee endeavor to find some time that can be set aside and known as the 'WORK BREAK.'

"To some this may seem a radical innovation, but we honestly believe the idea has great possibilities. It can conceivably be an aid to steady employment and it might also be a means of assuring regular pay-checks.

"While the adoption of the Work Break Plan is not compulsory, it is hoped that each employee will find enough time to give the plan a fair trial. It is also hoped that those employees not in favor of adopting the Work Break idea, will have fully completed their vacation plans.

"(Signed)

"THE MANAGEMENT"

Cute, isn't it? Especially that last sentence!

In all fairness, let it be proclaimed that there are still millions of employees of industry and business wo have so far resisted the attack of virus "Soldieritis." May their powers of resistance hold out against the all too-prevalent policy of getting the most for doing the least! Perhaps our Labor Unions may one day (I hope soon) get back to the policy of "A Fair Day's Pay for a Fair Day's Work"—a policy bequeathed to them by the pioneer leaders of the American Union Labor movement. Or is that too much to hope?

P. S.: Webster's Dictionary defines the verb "to soldier" as follows: "To make a pretense of working, while doing only enough to escape punishment or discharge; to malinger."

The Nation's Press

THE SOVIET PROPOSAL ON OPEN SKIES

(Chicago Daily Tribune)

The soviet union has offered another comprehensive disarmament plan. This one differs from others that have preceded it by going part way toward acceptance of Mr. Eisenhower's proposal for mutual air inspection. Under the Eisenhower program, the United States would be allowed to fly aerial reconnaissance over the soviet union and the Communists would be allowed to do the same over the United States.

Until now, Moscow has refused to consider such a trade. But, in its latest note, the Kremlin agrees to the arrangement over a belt extending 800 kilometers (about 480 miles) on either side of the iron curtain. The advantages of this arrangement are all in favor of Russia.

The Communists would be able to fly over every NATO country in western Europe, over the whole of Britain, and even over Iceland.

The NATO air patrols would be limited to surveillance over the communist puppet states of eastern Europe, with only two small patches of Russia subject to observation. These lie on the extreme soviet western border. Even parts of the soviet puppet states of Bulgaria and Romania would not lie within the search zone.

The Russians do not act without a reason. The apparent concession in this plan of modified search is just a booby trap for the United States and its allies.

Russia's biggest headache right now is the rebellious spirit of the satellite countries. Red troops have just put down a revolt in Hungary with great savagery. The evident intention of the soviet union in opening the skies over the satellite countries to western inspection is to obtain an inferential acknowledgment from the west that these are Russia's properties, and that their future status is not subject either to discussion or challenge, from within or without.

No greater mistake could be made by the United States than to fall in with this plan. It would have a deadening effect on the peoples of the satellite countries, three of which — Hungary, East Germany, and Poland — have made impressive demonstrations against the continuance of communist rule.

We may hope, from the widespread resistance of these peoples to communism, and from the intrepid and sacrificial spirit displayed in such uprisings as that in Hungary, that the days of soviet rule over them are numbered. It would be a capital error to assent to a scheme which amounts to a tacit recognition of the validity of Russia's title to slave nations.

The soviet proposal is objectionable on this ground and useless as a device for guaranteeing the peace. We have always had our doubts that Mr. Eisenhower's "open skies" plan in its original form, opening all of the soviet union to aerial inspection, would accomplish anything useful. Troop concentrations can be hidden or disguised. Soviet military aircraft might seem to be quietly marshaled at their usual bases; but within hours, planes can be hundreds of miles from a base, flying to attack. Aerial photography can do little or nothing to herald atomic attack.

Cabinet Members' Roles May Be Revised

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Although President Eisenhower will not shake up his Cabinet immediately, he has gained a better understanding of its various members' abilities, and he will gradually revise their roles in Government on this basis. He will take over some of their authority directly or through new faces to be brought to Washington.

Ike will keep an even firmer hand on the Departments of State and Defense in view of their importance in th econduct of foreign affairs. Even if John Foster Dulles is physically able to resume his full duties, and to remain on pending settlement of the Suez and Central European crises, their conclusion will require him to be absent from his desk.

Undersecretary Herbert Hoover, Jr., has not specialized in fixing or carrying out major policies. He is mainly State's administrative officer, a sort of executive manager and housekeeper. It so happens that numerous unhappy incidents have occurred while he was in sole charge at State.

As a result, Ike himself will handle foreign affiars more closely and singlehandedly, as he has done recently. He may also delegate many responsibilities to a special White House adviser from outside the Government.

Among the men mentioned for the post are General Walter Bedell Smith Ike's World War II Chief of Staff and former Ambassador to Russia, and Governor Christian A. Henter of Massachusetts. Denials to the contrary, "Beetle" Smith has been under serious consideration.

The prospective appointment has met strong objections from within the State Department, but Dulles' health and Hoover's inexperience furnish Eisenhower with ample reason for such a strengthening of this Department.

Eisenhower has prepared for the possible departure of Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson by relying heavily on Admiral Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

In a time like the present, however, a civilian chieftain at the Pentagon is actually a "fifth wheel." Such problems as push-button weapons, strategy, tactics and the simultaneous organization of two kinds of forces — nuclear and conventional — are matters for trained experts.

This is the principal explanation for the transfer of General Alfred M. Gruenther from SHAPE to the presidency of the American Red Cross. He will be on call with regard to both military and diplomatic questions, for he probably knows more about the resources and capabilities of our European Allies and the Russians than any other man in the three services.

Since Gruenther is the President's favorite bridge player, the two can arrange for private discussions without arousing Pentagon jealousies.

Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey is Ike's most trusted advisor on domestic affairs, and Ike wants him to remain. Ezra Taft Benson has the President's confidenne in his persistent effort to get rid of the $9 billion farm surplus. Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks can stay on because of past political service to the GOP.

The Cabinet member who has risen high in Presidential esteem is Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell. He has won friends for the Administration by his fair and impartial handling of labor's problems, as the Republican vote in industrial areas on November 6 revealed. Ike would hate to lose him to any of the corporations which have made him financially attractive offers.

BEFORE THE DISHES ARE DONE

By BETTY KNOWLES HUNT

THE FREE AND THE BRAVE!

Thanksgiving was its usual fine Holiday. The turkey was as plump as ever. The pies were as golden, and the plum pudding as rich and sweet. We thanked God for our bountiful blessings, but even as we did, we felt sad and guilty, for the anguished cry of a brave and dying Hungary rang loud in our ears. America the beautiful, America the lover of freedom and justice, had not helped those who begged so pitifully and so justly for a helping hand.

What should we have done? What could we have done? Back in 1952, the Eisenhower Administration campaigned on a pledge of "liberation" for Communist - enslaved peoples, and repudiated the Truman - Acheson policy of "containment" which accepted the status - quo and merely aimed at preventing further Communist imperialism. But after the Republican victory, that "liberation" pledge was brushed under a rug, and no long-range policy was ever developed to take its place. So — when the call came — we were not ready. Why?

Because expediency in the name of Peace has been our policy. The stalemate Korean war was replaced by a stalemate Korean truce which solved nothing and achieved none of our goals or promises to the Korean people. "A free, united and democratic Korea" was postponed indefinitely, and the Chinese aggressors were not only left undefeated and unpunished, but they were allowed to keep North Korea, and to violate every word of the truce terms without the slightest action from the United Nations.

Worse still, most of our allies stepped up their trade with the Chinese murderers, and kept plumping to get them accepted as "respectable" members of the U.N. At the same time, Soviet Russia, which had openly violated the entire U. N. Charter, was never censored by this body for its crimes, and any suggestion that it should be — was always met with expressions of horror and ridicule.

Instead, our statemen compounded the evil by submitting to Soviet blackmail and accepting a U. N. membership "package deal" in which a whole batch of Soviet satellites (including Hungary) were welcomed into the United Nations as the price for allowing Italy and Japan to come in. This was another miserable example of rank expediency and another surrender of moral principle by the free world. Not one of these satellites was "a free and sovereign nation" as the Charter demands. Not one was represented by freely-chosen delegates of the people, and we knew it, yet we allowed Soviet masters to take these seats in the U. N., and to speak for the gagged and silent slaves they ruled.

And then came the amazing revolt of the Germans in East Berlin, the pitiful but wonderful exhibition of an oppressed people fighting Soviet tanks and guns with their bare hands. Surely here was an opportunity for the free world to help the cause of freedom and justice. But we did nothing! We yelled "Bravo!" and let the brave die alone and unaided.

And then came the Poznan revolt — and now the Hungarian, and again, all we do is stand on the sidelines cheering the brave, and denouncing the guilty, while blood runs in the streets, and the Soviet boxcars herd thousands of innocent men, women and children off to the Siberian mines. "Our ship is sinking. The light vanishes. Help us!" So wails their last message, and we weep in shame!

LIFE's editors, in their November 19th, salute to the "Heroes of Hungary" assures them that they "did not lose," and that "the conscience of the whole world is outraged." They conclude: "That we could do nothing to rescue you lies heavily upon our consciences. Now it is for us, the living — wherever freedom dwells — to turn our helpless tears to a stern purpose, that future fights for freedom on the part of enslaved peoples will find us somehow prepared to come to their aid. Our President, with his tremendous new mandate, must develop a 'liberation' policy which is more than words."

But aren't we a little late? What will we have to offer the "future fighters for freedom" that we did not have for the Germans, or the Poles, or the Hungarians? If we did not have the guts to punish Red China for the rape of Korea, or Tibet, or Indo-China, nor the moral stamina to kick Russia out of the U. N., what hope is here that we will not go right on valuing Peace — more dearly than human justice?

FPC Natural Gas Order Is Facing Stormy Seas

(WEEKLY OIL COLUMN)
By HARRY WILSON SHARPE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 (UP)—Stormy seas are ahead for the Federal Power Commission's famous order 174-A which 30 months ago set up price-policing controls over independent natural gas producers.

On Nov. 8 three big oil companies challenged in the Supreme Court not only the legality of 174-A but the FPC's rights under the Natural Gas and Administrative Procedures Acts to even regulate the producers.

Behind the scenes meanwhile industry segments have gone to work on a model bill which would restore to the producers the freedom they lost June 7, 1954, when the Supreme Court ruled all gas sold in interstate commerce is subject to federal price regulation.

The legislative assault will open soon after the new Congress convenes Jan. 3. If precedent means anything President Eisenhower will be in the producers' corner. He favored a decontrol bill passed last year but was forced to veto it because "arrogant" oil men allegedly offered bribes to influence Senate votes.

The issue taken to the Supreme Court is whether FPC orders such as 174-A are "judicially reviewable." Vigorously insisting they are where the plaintiffs, the Magnolia Petroleum Co., Ohio Oil Co., Superior Oil Co., and an individual, Wesley West.

Last June 30 the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at Houston ruled, two to one, with Judge John R. Brown dissenting, that it lacked jurisdiction in the case because 174-A "is not a definitive order" under the gas act. It said it was merely a set of regulations not binding upon a producer or changing his present or future status.

Say Precedent Opposite

In their position for review the companies asserted this was contrary to three previous high court decisions that similar orders issued by two other quasi-judicial federal agencies were subject to judicial review.

They argued that in these cases the Supreme Court emphasized the "immediate and practical impact" of the orders on a company's business affairs and contractual relations. To say that 174-A had no immediate impact on their business, they said, was a brazen disregard of all the issues raised in their pleas.

Northern Gas Honors Area Man

Jack C. Waters Sr., pipeline division superintendent for Northern Natural Gas Company at Skellytown, completed 25 years of continuous service with that company on November 16.

Waters began working for Northern at Lincoln, Neb., in 1931. Before becoming division superintendent at Skellytown in 1940 he had served as district foreman at Otis, Kan., and South Omaha, Neb.

In recognition of the completion of 25 years service he will receive a gold inscribed watch, cash bonus, extra paid vacation and will be a guest of Northern at an annual awards banquet later this year in the company's headquarters city, Omaha.

Political Party Procedure

MADISON, Wis. (UP) — An anonymous Wisconsin politician made this suggestion for conduct at a cocktail party, "You may notice that I carry my drink in my left hand," he said. "I have found that the voters prefer a warm, dry handshake."

Anglo-French Laud U. S. Oil Action

LONDON (UP) — Britain and France are hailing news that U.S. oil will soon flow to Europe as the first sign of improved relations with the United States.

The Britons and French also rejoiced for another and more vital reason: They need the oil.

President Eisenhower's decision Friday to launch the emergency plan to meet Europe's oil shortage, created by the crisis in the Middle East, was the number one story in the British press and throughout Europe.

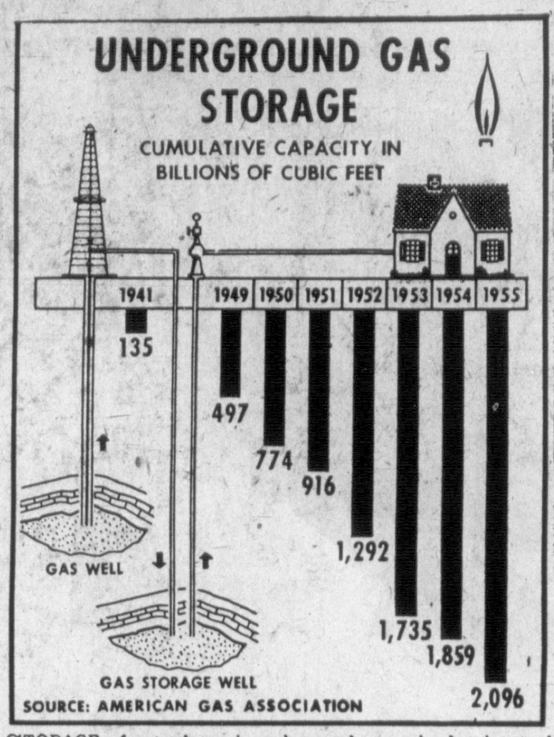

Diplomatic circles in London and Paris said the action was proof that Anglo - French forces are stepping up their withdrawal from Egypt. U.S. authorities said earlier no American oil would be sent to the two countries until their occupation troops evacuated the Suez Canal Zone.

Both Britain and France, facing a winter of acute petroleum shortages, were in no position to jeopardize shipments of American fuel supplies by balking at the evacuation.

Bitter criticism of U.S. policy in the Middle East eased considerably with the news of President Eisenhower's decision.

Two British newspapers, the Laborite London Daily Herald and the Liberal News Chronicle, used the same banner headline: "Ike Rolls Out the Barrels."

But the first joy was tempered by a ministry of supply statement which said it was much too early to talk about ending fuel restrictions and rationing.

STORAGE of natural gas in underground reservoirs has increased more than tenfold in the past decade. Piped in during mild weather when demand is low, this "warehoused" gas will provide heat this winter for nearly 17 million homes in the U. S.

Local Man Named To Oil Committee

Edwin E. Simmons, associated with Cree Drilling Co., Inc., has been named to the national Accounting Committee of the American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors, it was announced by Jack H. Abenathy, president.

The AAODC, with headquarters in Dallas, is an association of more that 640 contractors who drill 75 per cent of the nation's oil and gas wells.

Solon Asks For Session On Oil

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney has called for a special session of Congress to make sure the emergency oil-for-Europe plan does not result in a world petroleum monopoly.

The Wyoming Democrat, one of the Senate's most active anti-trust campaigners, said Congress should return to see that the emergency plan does not favor big oil companies over small companies and the people.

O'Mahoney told a news conference this should be determined by some group like the Senate Foreign Relations committee. But he said the whole Congress should be called back to make sure the committee members return to Washington.

Continental Ups Rocky Mountain Crude Oil Prices

HOUSTON (UP) — Increased prices on Rocky Mountain sour crude oil were posted today by the Continental Oil Co.

Company President L. F. McCollum said the price increases range from one cent per barrel for 35-degree gravity crude to 40 cents per barrel for 15-degree gravity crude. There will be no price increase on crudes over 35-degree gravity.

"This adjustment in Conoco's crude prices reflects an increased demand for fuel oil and asphalt-type crudes," McCollum said.

Crude Oil Can Be Available Without Upping Allowables

OKLAHOMA CITY (UP)—Crude oil producers in Oklahoma, Louisiana, Texas and New Mexico can produce and transport to the Gulf coast more than 500,000 extra barrels of oil per day without asking regulatory bodies to increase their allowables immediately, an Oklahoma official has said.

Massena Murray, conservation officer for the state corporation commission, said recent increases of the allowables in the four states, plus "underage" production and drawing on oil in storage, can go a long way toward furnishing the oil needed in the government's emergency oil program for West Europe.

"We will have plenty of oil for at least three or four weeks in the four states, and we will have the pipelines and transportation for it to the Gulf coast for shipping," Murray said.

Murray said Louisiana recently increased its allowable by 225,000 barrels daily, Texas by 75,000 barrels, and Oklahoma by 60,000 to 65,000 barrels (including underage). New Mexico's allowable also was boosted. The underage in Oklahoma consists of oil which companies that have been taking only a percentge of their allowable can make up with the increased demand.

In addition, said Murray, companies in these states can take about 135,000 barrels daily safely from storage for the time being.

"These states could meet 500,000 barrels extra at the present time without having the regulatory bodies meet," Murray said.

As for Oklahoma in particular, Murray said the corporation commission has boosted allowed production for December by about 40,000 barrels per day. Another 20,000 to 25,000 barrels in underage can be produced.

Companies also can draw on about 10-million barrels in storage.

Venezuela Can Up Production

WASHINGTON (UP)— Venezuela is reported to have advised the United States it can boost its oil production 200,000 barrels a day to help meet the world emergency.

Informed sources said this would raise daily Venezuelan production to 2.8 million barrels and compensate for the oil that may be diverted to Europe from such Latin American markets as Argentina and Brazil.

Harrisburg 1957 Polled Hereford Sale, Show Site

LITTLE ROCK (UP)—The National Polled Hereford Association Friday selected Harrisburg, Pa., as the site of its 1957 show and sale.

John Shifelt of Red Rock, Okla. was elected president, and M. P. Moore of Senatobia, Miss., was named vice president of the association at the end of its three-day convention here.

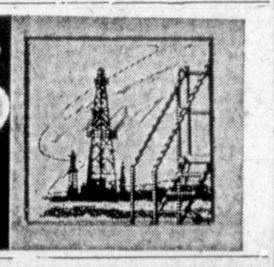

At Friday's auction, cattle breeders paid $101,965 for 25 bulls and 34 females, including more than $75,000 for the bulls. John M. Lewis and Sons of Larned, Kan., showed the champion sale bull, ALF Monarch 35th, calved May 1, 1955. Circle A Ranch of Sandersville, Ga., paid $15,200 for the animal.

Two Ohio breeders pooled their bids to buy the reserve champion of the bull show. Dr. C. E. Vedt of Ironton and A. C. Hunsinger of Mount Eaton paid $12,500 for HHR Misch Duke 46th, offered by Halbert and Fawcet of Miller, Mo.
