Endurance Plane Shows Signs Of Faltering As Repairs Are Made In Air

BOLT HOLDING SHIP'S MOTOR COMES LOOSE

Engine of Record Breaking Craft Pumping Oil As Dusk Falls

HUNTERS WRANGLE

Newspaper Stories Set Off Verbal Fireworks From Pilots

CHICAGO, July 3. (AP)—Indications that the record-breaking City of Chicago, is beginning to yield to the strain of more than 531 hours were evident at Sky Harbor airport tonight. A bolt connecting the motor to the frame of the plane came loose, and the engine was pumping oil.

A bolt to replace the one which had shaken loose was hurriedly taken up to the endurance fliers.

Lieut. E. S. Moon who made a successful two-way radio contact with the City of Chicago at 6:01 p. m. central standard time, reported he saw a streak of oil on the ship which he said indicated that one of cylinders of the motor was pumping oil.

A short time later an oil soaked shirt was thrown to earth by one of the Hunter brothers.

PILOTS SHOWING EFFECT OF STRAIN

CHICAGO, July 3. (AP)—The City of Chicago glistened in the dusk and careened on into darkness over Sky Harbor tonight with the question of how long an airplane and two men can stay in the air still unanswered.

The plane, piloted by John and Kenneth Hunter, passed the 529th hour of endurance flying at 8:40 o'clock, central standard time, and by then had eclipsed the former record by 113 hours.

Papers Cause Trouble

Wednesday night newspapers were sent up to John and Kenneth by way of Big Ben, the refueling plane, that started a storm.

Kenneth saw himself quoted as saying he was tired of the flight and that he wanted to land. As

DETROIT PAIR SHOT TO DEATH

Chicago Feud Blamed For Double Slaying

DETROIT, July 3. (AP)—Two men were killed and one wounded today by an unidentified slayer who shot them as they sat in an automobile in front of the La Salle hotel, then walked into the hotel lobby and lost himself in the crowd. The victims were identified as Detroit men.

The dead men were William Cannon, 28, and George Collins, 28. The wounded man is Mike Stitzel, 30.

Seated in Auto

They were seated in an automobile bearing an Illinois license number shortly before 7 p. m., when the slayer stepped alongside and began shooting. Cannon was killed instantly. Collins died before he could be taken to a hospital.

No one interfered with the killer as he walked into the lobby and early efforts to identify him among the persons found there when police arrived were unavailing.

While all three men had Detroit addresses, police expressed the belief that the double slaying had its inception in a Chicago gang feud.

Police learned that Collins and Cannon came here from Chicago only a week ago. Cannon wore a badge marked "private detective." Collins had a "special police" badge. None of the three carried guns.

Girl Involved

At the hospital, Stitzel told police Cannon had been friendly with a Chicago girl, whose husband had been killed recently. Cannon, he said, had been warned to keep away from her.

The girl's name, as given the police by Stitzel, is Julia Kuffel.

Stitzel refused to discuss the shooting further, but police hoped to get some information from him later. They expressed doubt of the explanation he had given thus far for the shooting.

Persons at the scene of the shooting said two men were standing at the curbing near the parked au-

They announced that as soon as the ship passed Ambrose light they would climb into one of the gliders, launch it, and be towed to the Mediterranean by the liner. The extra glider was taken just in case of an accident.

CONGRESS ENDS SESSION AFTER PASSING BILLS

Veterans Relief Measure Signed by President Within Hour

HOOVER SEES CLOSE

Executive Plans to Call Special Session For Treaty Monday

By EDWARD L. RODDAN

WASHINGTON, July 3. (US) — Congress adjourned at 10:40 tonight after a terrific last day's struggle to wind up its legislative business.

President Hoover was at the capitol as the final curtain was rung down. Crowded galleries saw the closing scenes—tired senators and representatives ending a long and hectic session.

Three major tasks were completed in the welter of debate of the final day.

The $80,000,000 World war veterans bill was passed, the second deficiency bill passed and the District of Columbia $9,500,000 appropriation bill passed.

President Hoover waited in the presidential room of the capitol as the final hour drew near.

Veterans Bill Signed

There, before adjournment he signed the World war veterans' bill. Later he signed the deficiency bill and the District of Columbia appropriations bill. At 10:35 the president left the capitol and returned to the White House.

The president announced at the capitol he would issue his proclamation for the special session of the senate to consider the London naval treaty tomorrow morning at the White House.

At the same time he will sign the $120,000,000 rivers and harbors bill.

The final move for adjournment came shortly before 10:30 p. m., when the senate voted to end the session "before midnight." That stopped any possible chance of a recess.

As soon as the resolution passed the senate, the house which had recessed, reconvened and adjourned

Oil Companies Sued In Fatal Cave Blast

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 3. (UP)—A suit blaming oil companies for an explosion in a cave near Seminole which took seven lives last May and requesting $90,000 damages was filed here today.

The victims, women and children, were killed by an explosion of gas when they took refuge in the cave during a severe wind storm.

The suit, filed by relatives of the victims against the Gypsy Oil company, Shell Petroleum company and W. B. Pine, alleges that the gas seeped into the cave from a leak in oil pipes of the two companies.

Man Hunted 35 Years for Murder Faces Discovery

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., July 3. (AP)—Sheriff A. N. Hensley of Mount Vernon received information today that Abner Meade, formerly of Pierce City, Mo., hunted for 35 years as a murderer, has been twice a sheriff in Texas during that period and is now residing under an assumed name on a farm he owns, in Oklahoma.

Constable John Poe of Bowlegs, Okla., gave Hensley this information in a letter, saying it came from a man who says he knows Mead's whereabouts but who wants $100 reward paid in advance before divulging his secret.

Constable Poe said he was given considerable information regarding Meade's life since he fled from Pierce City July 2, 1895, after the murder of William Agan, a farmer, but he was unable to learn Meade's assumed name or his whereabouts.

WICHITA YOUTH FATALLY HURT

Walter H. Doyle Dies In Pampa Accident

PAMPA, Texas, July 3. (AP)—Walter H. Doyle, 23, of Wichita Falls, was instantly killed near here today when struck by timbers protruding from a truck as it went around an automobile in which Doyle was riding.

Officers were seeking the truck driver, who, they believed, was unaware of the accident. Doyle was riding in the rear seat of A. Milner's automobile at the time.

Walter H. Doyle, 23, who was instantly killed in an accident near Pampa Thursday, was a former resident of Wichita Falls, having left this city about five months ago to take up work in the oil fields near Pampa. While here he had also been employed in oil field work.

He lived in this city with his sister, Mrs. J. W. Strother, 2303 Yale avenue. Besides this sister, he is survived by a brother, Will Doyle of this city, and another brother, three other sisters, three half brothers and four half sisters. His parents are not living.

The body will probably be brought to Wichita Falls for burial Friday or Saturday. No definite arrangements had been made at a late hour Thursday, although some of the relatives here were planning to go to Pampa as soon as possible.

MERAMEC, Okla., July 3. (UP)—Officers rushed along highways near here tonight in search of two robbers who held up the state bank of Meramec today, obtaining about $1,000.

ASPIRANTS FOR GOVERNOR FACE GRUELLING DAY

Half-Way Point of First Primary Race Finds Entries Busy

'WET' TAKES TO AIR

Paul Loven to Cover Big Part of State Today In Airplane

(By The Associated Press)

If they were playing baseball instead of trying to be elected governor, the 11 aspirants to the Democratic nomination, probably would be given a fresh start about July 4 so the "cellarities" could get their heads above water once more. At any rate, National Independence day generally is regarded as the halfway point in the first primary race, the two leaders (provided no one comes out with a clean majority) to stage a sort of Dixie series a month later to se which will carry the banner in November against the Republican nominee.

Day of Oratory

All this being the case, tomorrow will be a great day for the gubernatorial sprinters as well as a bonanza for little boys with firecrackers to shoot.

Paul Loven of New Braunfels, against prohibition although he boasts of kinship to Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas, was to make the biggest display of them all. He had chartered an airplane to gobble up big Texas in a single jaunt. He planned to speak in San Antonio at 5 a. m., hasten to the airport, go aloft for Abilene, where he had an engagement at 10 a. m., fly over to Fort Worth where he was advertised to speak at 3 p. m., skip to Denton for 8 p. m., and then split the breeze to Houston to wind up an active day with a 11:30 p. m., speech.

Love To Be Busy

Senator Thomas B. Love, the anti-Tammany candidate and proud of his part in placing Texas in the Republican column in the 1928 unpleasantness between Smith and Hoover, planned to stay on the ground, but he had three addresses booked — Mother Neff's park in Coryell county 10 a. m.; Corsicana 3 p. m. and Mexia 7:30 p. m.

Senator Earle B. Mayfield had a double-header on his hands, speaking at Denton and Decatur. Former Congressman Jim Young was to be the headliner at his home town of Kaufman. The Fergusons—Former Governors James E. and Miriam A.—were booked for Conroe. Lieut.-Gov. Barry Miller was to be in Stephenville; Senator C. C. Small at Bertram and Mason and R. S. Sterling was to speak in Gainesville and Denison.

C. C. Moody, Frank Putnam and Dr. C. E. Walker, a trio that have not been tearing their shirts as yet evidently were to spend quiet days at home.

Senate Votes Fund For Crime Survey

WASHINGTON, July 3. (US)—President Hoover was victorious today when the senate reversed itself and voted an appropriation of $250,000 to carry on the Wickersham commission.

The item was restored to the second deficiency bill by a vote of 37 to 22. The bill itself was then passed without a record vote and sent to President Hoover for his signature.

The appropriation will permit the commission to continue its general inquiry into the problems of law enforcement and observance.

Earlier in the week, the senate slashed the appropriation to $50,000, directing that this amount should be used for an exclusive study of prohibition.

Texas Guard Cleared In Prisoner's Death

HOUSTON, July 3. (UP)—Lee Simmons, manager of the Texas penal system, today exonerated Retrieve Prison Farm Guard D. E. Hughes of responsibility in connection with the fatal shooting of A. J. Love, negro inmate. Hughes said he shot Love through the heart after the prisoner attacked him with a rock and attempted to escape.

Nellie Cherry To Resume Place On Comic Page Soon

Readers of The Record News who have bombarded this newspaper with queries concerning the absence of Frank Beck's cartoon strip, "Gas Buggies," from the comic page will be pleased to learn that Nellie Cherry and the other characters created by Mr. Beck will return shortly.

Mr. Beck recently signed a new contract for the strip with the New York Herald Tribune syndicate, and the publication of the cartoon will be resumed as soon as details of the transfer of Mr. Beck's services to the new organization are completed. The change in service has resulted in a brief delay in the cartoons, but Gas Buggies will be resumed in a few days where the story was discontinued last Saturday.

CITY READY TO OBSERVE 4TH

Many Forms of Amusement Available Here

There'll be no fiery oratory from a flag-draped bandstand—but it will be the Fourth of July, nevertheless, and Wichita Falls will be in holiday attire with the spirit of independence expressing itself in everything from torpedoes and the rest of the fireworks on down through the long list of recreations, sports and celebrations to the quieter forms of holiday activities.

The business section of the city will probably resemble a Sunday with an over-supply of excitement, because the great majority of business houses, banks and stores will remain closed throughout the day. Cafes, drug stores and the police station will be about the only places where service will be available Friday. The streets, however, will be decked out in flags and the national colors, and traffic will probably be heavier than on lesser holidays.

As to noise of fireworks in the downtown section, Chief of Police Frank Burns Thursday issued a warning to all residents, particularly youngsters, that the shooting of fireworks within the fire limits, roughly including the entire business area, is prohibited. Anyone caught shooting firecrackers, torpedoes or other forms of explosives on the downtown streets will be arrested, he said. The chief also issued a plea to parents, asking that they exercise every possible precaution in allowing their children to use fireworks at their homes or at any place on the Fourth.

"Last Fourth of July was marked by several accidents to children and even grown-ups from careless use of explosives," he said. "Only ordinary care will be necessary to prevent a repetition of such accidents this year." The chief also cautioned against fast or reckless driving on

Moody Signs Free Bridge Contract

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., July 3. (AP)—Gov. Dan Moody of Texas today signed a contract assuring the immediate construction of a free bridge over Red river between Gainesville, Texas, and Marietta, Okla., on U. S. highway No. 77, Lew Wentz, chairman of the Oklahoma Highway commission, said in a message from Fort Worth.

Wentz flew to Texas yesterday to obtain Governor Moody's approval of the contract so work on the bridge could begin at once. The Oklahoma commission awarded the contract for the bridge last April. The contract was signed more than a month later by the Texas commission, but Governor Moody's required approval was not obtained until today.

Wentz said there would not be any litigation from the company owning the toll bridge adjacent to the site of the new free bridge.

The contract was awarded to the Missouri Valley Bridge and Iron company for $31,468.

Davidson Takes Stand In Gubernatorial Race

BRADY, Texas, July 3. (AP)—Declaring that his aim in the present gubernatorial race will be to defeat the state highway bond issue and Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, Earle B. Mayfield and Thomas B. Love, Lynch Davidson of Houston today made his first public speech since he withdrew as a gubernatorial candidate. The occasion of his speech was the opening of Brady's three-day July jubilee.

He said it would not be necessary for the Texas legislature to submit the state wide bond issue, since the people can decide the issue in the primaries.

Barry Miller Says Bond Figures Juggled

GLEN ROSE, Texas, July 3. (AP)—It is an easy matter to juggle figures, but figures have a way of asserting themselves and telling the truth, Lieut. Gov. Barry Miller, candidate for governor, said in a speech here today, referring to the proposed statewide road bond issue.

"The taxpayers of Texas are too smart to have a $350,000,000 road bond issue saddled on them, no matter how much juggling any candidate may do with the figures," Miller said.

DEAL PROVIDES TRANSFER OF STOCK CONTROL

Over $4,000,000 Reported Involved in Sale Of Company Here

Houston Corporation Buys Industrial Gas Lines To Wichita

Sale of a "very large percentage of preferred and common stock" of the Northern Texas Utilities company to the United Gas corporation of Houston early this week was announced Thursday in dispatches received by The Record News from offices of the purchasing concern. No indication of the amount involved was given, but utility executives estimated that more than $4,000,000 must have been involved in the deal.

According to such information as was available Thursday at the offices of the Northern Texas Utilities company here, the transfer represents part of a merger which has been under development for some time. It was said that exchanges of stock of the local concern have been so numerous and frequent during the past several months as to make enumeration of stock involved in the United Gas corporation deal impossible for local officials. The purchasing concern was said to be a part of the Electric Power & Light corporation, which in turn is a subsidiary of the Electric Bond & Shares company of New York, according to the information given.

The Northern Texas Utilities company became active in this community about four years ago when it was incorporated for the purpose of delivering gas from the Amarillo field to Wichita Falls and intervening points. A large main and branch lines has been in use for several years for that purpose. In Wichita Falls the company does only an industrial and commercial heating business. It serves about 7,500 customers directly in Wichita Falls and nine other towns in Northwest Texas. Through other companies to which it supplies gas on a wholesale basis for distribution, the concern serves approximately 5,000 other customers, according to information given.

A small group of stockholders represent all the Northern Texas Utilities company stock owned here prior to this week's deal, it was said, prominent among them being D. A. Upham, president, C. R. Upham of Mineral Wells, vice president, and W. H. Penix, attorney.

Association Opposes Austin Postal Rules

LUBBOCK, Texas, July 3. (AP)—Criticism of regulations assertedly imposed on clerks of the Austin postoffice by the postmaster there was contained in a resolution adopted today by the postoffice clerks of the state, here attending the annual convention of the Texas branch, United National Association of Postoffice Clerks. The convention also decided to make the 44-hour week a paramount issue in its program for the year. A resolution adopted indorsed House Bill 6603, known as the S. A. Kendall bill, providing for 44 hours a week with four hours off Saturday afternoons, where possible. The vote on this resolution was 21 to 11.

Legal Storm Threatens To Disturb National Balloon Race At Houston

HOUSTON, July 3. (AP)—Fifteen balloons which will drift away tomorrow in the annual national elimination balloon race lay under canvas, deflated and flat, on Belleaire speedway tonight. Smooth weather appeared ahead for the aeronauts, according to a weather bureau forecast this afternoon, but the promoters had encountered slight legal head winds with perhaps more to come.

One suit was lodged against the committee of three which incorporated to sponsor the race, and others, said Capt. Fred S. Wilbur, one of the committeemen, were threatened. He had heard rumors, he added, that the plaintiffs might send a deputy sheriff out to the speedway tomorrow to try to attach the gate receipts.

The action was brought by creditors of the original promoters, who failed finally to obtain sufficient financial backing for the race. The present committee took over the task and apparently inherited at the same time, Captain Wilbur said, the debts of its predecessors.

The most recent forecast was for clear weather. The wind, at the time, was ideal—from the southeast, and its velocity was 12 miles an hour. A hard rain fell for a time this afternoon, but gave way to a bright sun after about two hours.

Brig. Gen. Frank Lahm of San Antonio and other distinguished military men were expected to attend the races. Among these was Col. Roberto Fierro, the Mexican flying ace, who was expected late today or early tonight, the committee asserted.

The first balloon, that of Navy Captain T. G. W. Settle, last year's winner, will not leave until 6 p. m. tomorrow. The others will follow at five minute intervals. Most of the day will be devoted to an air circus, and to inflating the bags.

FOURTH OF JULY ATTRACTIONS PLENTIFUL IN WICHITA FALLS

HOLIDAY TO BE PERIOD OF FUN

Varied Assortment Of Amusement Offered

Wichitans who go forth Friday in search of amusement in honor of the nation's birthday won't have to look far to find a sufficiency of recreations typical of the day, ranging from golf and dinner at the country club to peanuts and hot dogs over the roller-coaster at Lakeside park.

So far as July Fourth attractions go, it seems that Wichita Falls has them on every corner, according to a survey made Thursday by The Daily Times and Record News.

With fireworks stands and miniature golf courses cluttering up every vacant lot, and every theater, resort and swimming pool striving to give Ma, Pa and the kids a happy day, it won't be the fault of these modern patriots if everybody in town doesn't go to bed Friday night tired, happy and with the tummy ache.

Some of the major amusement events of the day follow:

Lakeside park will feature a mammoth fireworks display Friday evening in celebration of the Fourth. Extensive preparations have been made to care for the throngs expected at the park during the day and those who will line the board walk and the pavilion to witness the pyrotechnical exhibitions during the evening. The fireworks program will be one of the largest of its kind ever brought to Wichita Falls, it was said. The spectacles will be fired from rafts anchored in the lake waters offshore from the amusement park. Featured displays will include a huge reproduction of Niagara Falls, a "Battle in the Clouds," a panoramic scene of fire showing "The Wonders of Yellowstone," Old Glory in a blaze of pyrotechnics and the "Flight of the Zeppelin." The fireworks will also include various other sets and numerous flares, bombs, star showers, Roman candles and skyrockets. All amusement devices will be in operation throughout the day, with concessions and picnic grounds open for the crowds. Music for dancing will be provided at the pavilion during the evening and night.

At the Wichita Falls Golf and Country club the Fourth will be ushered in with a series of mixed foursomes in which 30 or 40 golfers will take part, beginning at 8 o'clock Friday morning. Almost the entire day will be taken up with various affairs at the club. Following the morning play, luncheon will be served in the grill room and at 2 o'clock a men's handicap tournament will begin. The day's golf will be under the direction of William Strachan, the club pro. Late in the afternoon a swimming contest for boys and girls will be held in the club pool, under the direction of Miss Marjorie Bright. At 7 o'clock in the evening, a putting contest will be staged on the greens near the clubhouse. A special dinner for members and their friends will be served at the club Friday evening, followed by an informal social. Reservations will be required for the dinner.

Preparations have been made at the Municipal Golf club in Weeks park for the large crowds of holiday golfers expected for Independence day. Although several of the greens are not yet in condition for use, the temporary greens have been conditioned and will offer no difficulties in putting, according to Phil Hesler, club pro. The clubhouse will be open throughout the day for the use of golfers and refreshments will be available at all hours. The portions of the park not occupied by the golf course will be open to picnic parties, with tables and benches provided in various shaded spots on lanes off the main road through the park. Parking space under the trees will be plentiful for picnickers desiring to serve their holiday lunches on the ground.

Among the favored spots in Wichita Falls on July Fourth will be the various miniature golf courses and driving tees. The popularity of the tiny courses, which first appeared early this spring, has been rapidly increasing and with holiday throngs planning to take advantage of practically every sort of diversion in the city on the Fourth, golfette course operators are preparing for capacity crowds Friday. The latest addition to the ranks of miniature golf courses are driving courses, where players may make use of the wooden clubs for long shots, and these also are preparing for July Fourth crowds.

Minnow dealers in the vicinity of Lake Wichita are loading their tanks with bait and even grasshoppers and earth worms are not safe from the ravages of fishermen who are planning to throng the shores of Lake Wichita Friday for a day of fishing in place of more noisy celebration of the Fourth. Boatmen and pier operators at the lake have made all necessary preparations for the holiday and it was expected that all boats would be in use on the water during practically the entire day. Not only at the piers, near the conveniences offered at the pavilion and in the park, but in the various favored spots along the shores of the lake fishing parties and semi-fishing parties are expected to take advantage of the holiday for outings. If Independence day of previous years may be taken as an example, many of the anglers will be camped along the lake shore even before the break of day Friday and before the day ends, scores of fishermen will turn out to try their luck.

If Friday dawns with a beating sun and the thermometer goes skyrocketing in imitation of the fireworks for the day, the Fourth will draw scores of Wichitans to cooling spots like Haven park and Cedar park pool for picnic lunches and swimming. Operators of both pools have made ready for the holiday crowds, which are expected to increase steadily as the day grows older. Numerous spots for picnics are available under the trees at the two parks and ample provision has been made to care for the increased number of swimmers anticipated.

The feature of attractions, besides individual picnics at Westmoreland park will be a free exhibition of high and fancy diving which will be presented by Tom Beaty, Leonard Rice, Homer Donohoo and Bill Man. The exhibition will begin at 8:30 o'clock.

A varied assortment of movies are offered for those who prefer to spend a part of their Fourth in the theater. At the State, "On the Level" will be shown, featuring Victor McLaglen and Fifi D'Orsay, while the Strand will present Gary Cooper in "The Texan." At the Majestic, a real epic of patriotism will be shown for its last day in "With Byrd at the South Pole." The last show Friday night will be followed by the regular encore matinee, the management bringing back George Bancroft in "Thunderbolt" at the request of the public.

Ford Company Accused of Selling Irish-Made Tractors in America

WASHINGTON, July 3. (AP)—Saying he believed between a quarter and a third of the Ford tractors manufactured at Cork, Ireland, were being imported into the United States and used for industrial purposes in southern oil fields and by municipalities and states for highway work, Representative Esterly, Republican, Pennsylvania, today introduced a bill to amend the new tariff law to make tractors dutiable at 27½ per cent ad valorem.

A provision is included in the bill that they may be imported under bond, and if within three years from date of importation or withdrawal from bonded warehouses satisfactory proof is furnished they have been sold to a farmer for agricultural purposes, duty would be remitted.

Esterly said in a statement "Ford was one of the principal opponents of the Smoot-Hawley bill," that "tractors were placed in the free list on the plea that they would supply the deficiency in man power on the farms," and that customs officials had informed him the new law would provide no means of checking the diversion of tractors to commercial use.

the holiday, when scores of cars will crowd the streets and highways.

Chief Burns joined with Fire Chief J. L. McClure in urging careful use of fireworks to prevent property loss and possible injury or loss of life from fires caused by careless celebrants. It was pointed out that Roman candles and skyrockets offer a menace to property because of their long-range firing and that even firecrackers could cause fire if allowed to explode where smouldering bits contact with wood or other inflammable surfaces.

Friday will find the postoffice, the city offices at the Memorial auditorium and all offices at the courthouse, with the exception of the sheriff's and constable's department, closed. The law enforcement branches will operate on skeletonized forces.

Favored spots for recreation and celebration during the day will include the various swimming pools, parks, both golf courses, the miniature golf and driving courses, Lakeside park with its varied amusement attractions, widely scattered picnic spots, favorite fishing lakes and streams, the theaters with their special offerings for the day and a variety of other holiday vacation spots.

AIR ENDURANCE GRIND GOES ON

Pilots Wrangle Over When To End Flight

John put it in a note: "It caused plenty of trouble between me and him."

Kenneth did complain that he was tired, said his brother, Albert, who with another brother, Walter, operates the refueling plane.

But John, the ground crew brothers explained, was angry because his note had been made public.

Still another worry of the boys, who hope to make their record long enough to stand forever, was news that a law suit involving the City of Chicago and directed against them had been set for hearing next Tuesday.

Ask Air Court

"That would mean we would have to land Monday to get some sleep and bathe and shave," wrote Kenneth. "We want to stay up as long as we can."

So they suggested that Judge Michael Feinberg move his court to a 21-passenger plane next Tuesday and hear their testimony via two-way intercommunication radio.

Judge Feinberg put their minds at ease with a message that court would wait until they landed.

Broadcast Falls

Still another difficulty of the day had nothing to do with the success of the flight, but it left radio fans disappointed. It was the third failure of an army radio plane to pick up a broadcast from the endurance fliers by dropping to them an extension microphone.

When the army plane returned to the ground, officers charged their equipment had been tampered with. Their battery, they said, had been turned on during the night and had lost its charge.

The army radio engineers on the ground then reported they found a wire had been cut and its loose ends concealed in a box. The result of the alleged tampering was that John and Kenneth talked into a "dead" microphone.

Crowds Continue

Their short wave broadcast was to be picked up and rebroadcast by the Columbia system. For this radio service they are receiving $1 a minute.

Crowds continued to pour into the airport, and the roads leading to it were clogged with automobiles. Newspaper men, photographers and news reel grinders tonight were furnished tents by the airport. Last night they received beds from a loop hotel and many of them slept under the starry skies with the drone of the endurance motor to lull them to sleep, if any.

CHICAGO OFFICERS INVESTIGATE CASE

CHICAGO, July 3. (AP)—Belief that principals in the shooting affray in Detroit tonight in which two men were killed and a third wounded by a gunman who escaped, were involved in the gang war here, was expressed by police tonight.

The license for the car in which the victims were sitting when the assassin opened fire, was issued to a Julia Kuffel of the Olympia hotel here. A squad of police was dispatched to the place immediately to question the woman.

George Collins, one of the slain men had a record as a safe cracker, police said. He was at liberty on bond pending a hearing on a robbery charge at the time of his death.

CAR LOAD OF WHISKY SEIZED

CHICAGO, July 3. (AP)—A freight car load of whisky valued by prohibition agents at $80,000, was seized in the Pennsylvania railroad yards near the Union station today by investigators under Assistant State's Attorney Charles F. Rathbun, head of the inquiry into the killing of Jake Lingle, Tribune reporter. Officials said it came from Boston, and was consigned to George (Bugs) Moran.

The officers had lain in ambush since yesterday hoping to entrap some of the Moran gangsters who had been expected to call for the liquor. When none arrived, they decided to wait no longer.

The investigators said they had obtained records showing that a carload of whisky a day was being shipped to the Moran gang from Boston.

The investigation into the Lingle slaying has been conducted under the assumption that he was killed by Moran gangsters. Lingle was known to be friendly to "Scarface Al" Capone, Moran's enemy.

Huston Slated To Get 'Gate'

Hoover Demands Resignation of Chairman

By WILLIAM P. FLYTHE

WASHINGTON, July 3. (US)—Unless Claudius H. Huston, chairman of the Republican National committee resigns by Thursday, July 10, at a meeting of the officers of the G. O. P. here, President Hoover will demand his resignation, it was learned today.

The important meeting was called for Monday, July 7, but Chairman Huston today unexpectedly postponed it. In telegrams to the officers, he said several had notified him it would be impossible for them to be here Monday without sacrificing their holiday arrangements, and the delay was agreed upon.

In calling the meeting Huston had announced it was for the purpose of confering on "matters pertaining to the conduct of the forthcoming senatorial and congressional campaigns." In his statement today he repeated this.

In addition to the officers of the G. O. P., the chairman of the senatorial and congressional campaign committees will attend. The telegram announcing the postponement read:

"Because of holiday engagements some of those invited to the meeting called for Monday find it inconvenient to attend. The meeting has therefore been postponed to Thursday, July 10, at the same hour. I hope you find it possible to be present at that time."

The president has reluctantly reached the decision to ask for Huston's resignation, after almost six months in which the chairman has been under fire. During this time Huston has steadfastly resisted strong pressure to have him voluntarily retire.

Today events neared a climax. Acting on the assumption that the meeting of the committee would be held Monday, President Hoover called in James F. Burke, Pittsburgh, general counsel of the committee, it was reported, and Burke may deliver an ultimatum from the president demanding the resignation.

This action was determined upon after word reached the president and party leaders that Huston was determined to hold on.

The president also conferred with Senators Allen of Kansas and Walcott of Connecticut, members of the "young guard" who have been insisting that Huston resign.

Chairman Huston was to have been called to the White House, it was said, but he was not in the city, having left for New York to spend the week-end. The postponement of the meeting has in no way changed the president's decision, it was learned.

Moody Denies Political Conferences in Houston

AUSTIN, July 3. (AP)—Returning from Dallas where he had gone reportedly for political conferences, Gov. Dan Moody today denied that he had "conferred" with R. S. Sterling, his political appointee and now a candidate for governor.

He said that while he had seen several friends of Sterling, he had not conferred with the Houston publisher, nor had he "talked politics" with any of Sterling's supporters.

Summer-Bridge-Luncheon Honors Out Of Town Guest

Summer colors, combined with the pretty gowns of the women playing bridge, made the foyer of the Woman's Forum clubhouse like a scene from a summer garden when Mrs. A. Marks entertained a group of friends there Thursday morning, honoring Miss Violet Ellinger of Lincoln, Neb., who is the house guest of Mrs. Eugene Liepold. A cool green was the outstanding tone.

In the bridge games, Mrs. I. A. Fine won high score and received a set of the dainty novelty bath bottle sets in green. Mrs. Louis Franklin received two hand-made handkerchiefs for consolation and her mother, Mrs. Leo Franklin, who is her guest, won high among the out-of-town guests, a beautifully colored jar of French bath salts. Miss Ellinger, as honoree, received a French makeup box that carried out the color motif in artistic tones.

The luncheon was served in the foyer at small tables where lace doilies on the green covered tables, green crystal service and pretty summer bouquets as center nosegays, added to the already attractive motif. A delightful four-course luncheon stressed the same colors.

Out-of-town guests with Miss Ellinger, the honoree, were Mesdames Maury Letterman of Oklahoma City and Leo Franklin of Milwaukee.

Covers were laid for Miss Violet Ellinger, Mesdames Eugene Liepold, I. A. Fine, Alvin Horwitz, Paul Green, Samuel Egger, Leo Goldstucker, Lazarus Cohen, Louis Franklin, S. H. Fagadau, Maury Leterman, Leo Franklin and the gracious hostess, Mrs. Marks.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

Yes, they are getting ready for July 4. Coming to the business part of town unusually early we ran upon nine heads that had issued from beauty parlors in their pristine freshness—undried, uncombed—waiting the glorious Fourth to be ripples and waves, nets tied carefully over them.

◇ ◇ ◇

Twenty years ago, they were doing it with a marcel or curling iron. There were scars on some foreheads and women's heads looked more frizzy in front and more lumpy in the back.

◇ ◇ ◇

The Wichita Daily Times of 20 years ago tells of the celebration at Lake Wichita. A ball game seemed to be the main feature, although there was a baby show.

◇ ◇ ◇

Just fancy it—the babies dressed in their best frocks and lots of frilly petticoats, for even the babies wore clothes then—having to go through the misery of being judged on what is usually a hot Fourth.

◇ ◇ ◇

People of Wichita Falls—many of them—are preparing to go to Lake Kemp—more to picnic than to fish. We cannot imagine such a thing as a picnic without plenty of shade. And even when there is shade, there are plenty of ants to run over the cloth and into the food.

◇ ◇ ◇

We used to go to picnics in Tennessee, where at long roughly built tables in the shady groves, they would give us all the Brunswick stew we wanted. Tennesseans reading that, will remember the old time Brunswick stew with their mouths watering.

◇ ◇ ◇

Little stands are going up Thursday morning for the sale of fireworks. We do not know what the law is, but we noticed sky rockets and Roman candles and several other sorts, beside those great firecrackers that ruin our nerves each Fourth of July.

◇ ◇ ◇

Then we imagine this Fourth of July will see some amount of money spent on the "Putt-putt golf." In the blazing sunshine of the morning of July 3 we saw seven people playing on one ground.

◇ ◇ ◇

They seem to be putting them on every corner; we noticed one on the corner across from the General hospital and we heard one of two women who lived in that neighborhood, say as they got off the bus Thursday, "That durned thing went until 12 o'clock last night and they were shooting again at 6 o'clock this morning."

◇ ◇ ◇

The motorman on the car grinned and said lazily to himself, "Well I think I'll go into the banking business; it's a very nice business with a good many holidays."

◇ ◇ ◇

And we thought to ourselves, yes, it's a very nice business. If anyone can choose that way, we will go into the banking business ourself and we will take the position of president.

By 2:30 o'clock, the wave sets went up to 14. Everyone has a new curl ready.

Only one guest was present, Mrs. J. F. Friberg and the hostess served Mrs. Friberg and the club members a delicious ice salad course. Members were Mesdames C. F. Burnett, D. Dellis, R. C. Ficklin, A. E. Friberg, Walter Tyson, J. A. Maley and the hostess.

Modern Women About Same As Their Mothers

I get a great many letters from girls who tell me that they are "modern," whatever that may mean, and who seem to think that they are a new species of fauna that older people cannot comprehend even when they behold this marvel of nature with their own eyes. Which causes one to laugh, for the modern girl isn't so different from the girl of the past as she thinks she is. True, she works in an office instead of helping mother at home. She pets more openly and doesn't pull down the blinds when she kisses the boy friend as grandmother did and she joyrides in a high-powered car instead of a sidebar buggy and she wears fewer petticoats than grandmother did, but that's about all.

Deep down inside her the real girl is cut off the same bolt of cloth that nature has been manufacturing ever since she made the first woman. She has the same emotions, desires, ambitions, hopes that women have always had and probably always will have and in any emergency she reacts just the way women have always reacted.

"There are many histories," says Tallyrand, "but only one human nature." And especially there is only one feminine human nature and it hasn't changed a particle since Eve grabbed the only man in sight and then was dissatisfied with him and dillydallied with the serpent because she found domesticity dull with a husband who was so good she didn't even have to watch him.

Of course, in mother's and grandmother's and great-grandmother's day the main business of a girl was to catch a husband, because marriage was about the only respectable profession open to women. A husband then was a necessity because he was a combination meal ticket, card to society and passport to freedom, for the unmarried women not only had no way of supporting herself, but she had to hang on to some matron wherever she went and couldn't move without a chaperon until she was 90.

Now a husband is a luxury instead of a necessity and no woman has to get married to emancipate herself. Any able-bodied girl with a fair allotment of brains can make a good living for herself. She can have her own home. She can go where she pleases and be as free as a bird.

Nevertheless, girls are just as anxious to get married as their mothers and their great-grandmothers were and they are just as keen in pursuit of husbands. The main business in life for them is still getting married, and when it comes to a choice between a husband and a career the career goes into the discard.

The modern girl is far better educated than her mother and her grandmother and, heaven knows, she has a million times better chance to know men, since she works side by side with them every day, and so she should make a wiser choice of a husband than her foremothers did.

But she doesn't. She still uses her heart and not her head when she makes the most important decision of her life and marries a man because he has a cute line or a way with him or she likes the slick way his hair grows on his head.

The modern girl poses as wise. She prides herself upon being sophisticated. She has heard all there is to tell and she boasts that nobody can put anything over on her. But in reality she is just as credulous as any little mid-Victorian miss who had never stirred beyond the radius of mamma's skirts and who was sent out of the room when people mentioned babies.

She still believes that she can reform a drunkard by marrying him or that she can infuse pep and hustle into a lazy loafer or keep a philanderer nailed to his own fireside.

The modern girl still marries as her grandmother did, on a hunch. Sometimes she gets a good husband and sometimes a bad one, but whatever the result, it is purely a matter of luck and not because she used any intelligence in the matter.

The modern girl thinks she is hard-boiled, but all about you you see girls giving up everything for love and marrying men whom they know will half starve them; every day you see girls who keep on with their jobs after marriage and add housework to standing behind a counter or pounding a typewriter in order to help their husbands get a start in the world or to take care of sick husbands; every day you see slim, little, frail girls shouldering the support of old parents or the little helpless children of their sisters and brothers. You see the modern girl going the old immemorial way of self-sacrifice and devotion that women have gone since the beginning of time.

There are those who tremble for the future of the race when they look at the scantily clad, bobbed-haired, modern Sheban, but within their thin, little breasts beats the eternal mother heart, and when their time comes they will do just as many lans walking the baby with the colic as they used to do in the ballroom. Maybe they will drop cigaret ashes in the baby's cradle, but they will bring up their youngsters according to the latest scientific theories.

Of course, the modern girl isn't going to keep house just as her grandmother did because the conditions of life have changed. You can't keep house in a kitchenet house the way you would in a 12-room mansion, but she will keep a better eye on vitamins than grandma did and she won't kill her husband and her children off on her cooking so often. As a wife she won't be a doormat like grandma, but she will be a better sport. She will laugh more and nag less and make her husband a better wife than grandpa had.

But in all essentials the modern girl is the same old woman with a few up to date improvements.

Americans Must Pay Honduran Consular Tax

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, July 3. (AP)—The Honduran supreme court ruled today that everyone including American companies, must pay consular taxes on exports.

The action was brought by American fruit companies with concessions here who protested a hike in the consular tax to five per cent. The tax originally was two per cent, which was paid by the Americans but in 1923 congress raised it to three per cent. The Americans objected but later decided to pay. When the rate was made five per cent last March they brought the court action.

PUBLIC INVITED TO OPENING OF NEW ELKS HOME TODAY

LODGE SHOWS STEADY GAINS

$40,000 Building Model For Club Structures

Culminating almost a quarter-century of steady growth and activity in Wichita Falls lodge No. 1105, B. P. O. E. will welcome not only its members but the public on Friday, July 4, to the attractive new lodge home recently completed at 909 Ninth street at a cost of almost $40,000.

Completion of the new Elks building, for which ground was broken March 3, gives Wichita Falls the largest and most elaborate club house thus far erected here by any fraternal organization. It is thoroughly modern in every respect, presents an attractive appearance from a site overlooking the entire business district of the city, and anticipates in its construction material enlargement in the future.

No formal program has been prepared for Friday, according to Howard C. English, secretary, but from 10:30 a. m. until midnight the building will be open to public inspection. Orchestral music will be provided during the evening, it was announced. Members and officials of the lodge will be hosts to visitors throughout the day.

Plans for the erection of such a home as is now provided for the Elks in Wichita Falls and vicinity date back to 1908, for almost immediately after the establishment of lodge No. 1105 here in February of that year, attention was turned to the problem of obtaining a permanent home for the organization. Efforts were made from time to time to effect that result, the most promising being in 1924. The lodge owned at that time two lots at the corner of Ninth and Lamar, on the northwest corner, and planned the erection of a six-story building. Conditions changed sufficiently to alter those plans, and that ground was sold. Three years later, on Nov. 21, 1927, the lodge voted to buy the lots at Ninth and Travis, and paid $35,000 in cash for the site on which the new building now stands.

Attractive Colors

Presenting on Ninth street a facade of cream colored face brick, combined with a trim of dark orange in an effective two-tone scheme, the new home covers an area 50 by 100 feet in size, and rises to a height of two stories. The front quarters of the building are surmounted by a vari-colored tile roof, with brilliantly colored ornate cornices. The remaining exterior walls of the structure are of smooth-faced red building brick.

Visitors to the Elks' new home will be impressed at once with the interior lighting. An abundance of windows, spacious in area, combined with a Tiffany finish on interior walls, explains the unusually good distribution of daylight throughout all parts of the building. Windows are equipped with obscure glass.

Inside the double-door entrance at the front of the building, a flight of shallow steps leads to the foyer, floors of which are finished with master builders' composition in brick-red. To the left is the secretary's office. The cashier's desk, confection stand, etc., are just to the left of the hall leading from the foyer to the billiard room at the rear of the main floor. To the right, a wide stairway, furnished with a handsome wrought-iron rail, leads from the foyer to the lounge on the second floor.

Equipment of the main floor provides excellent facilities for social purposes of the lodge home. On the right of the hall are located a strictly modern kitchen and lunch room, the latter having a horseshoe counter with places for 20 persons. On the opposite side of the hall are large dining room and a domino-and-bridge game room. The touch of modernity is well illustrated by the drinking fountains provided throughout all parts of the building. They are equipped with electric refrigeration, while in the kitchen is a large electric refrigerator. The main floor also includes a commodious and handsomely appointed ladies' parlor.

Comfort in Library

The staircase opens on the second floor to the lounge, attractively restful with deeply upholstered chairs and divans, heavy rugs, and window drapes and curtains harmonized in color with other appointments of the room. Opposite the stair, on the east of the lounge, a wide entrance opens to the library, amply supplied with a wide variety of reading matter, and furnished for extreme comfort.

The lodge room, 48 by 52 feet in diameter, is located at the rear of the second floor. Arrangement of its stations is such as to suggest a much greater area than the room's dimensions actually provide. Platforms are portable, allowing the ready conversion of the floor for dancing. The lodge room and the lounge are connected with a wide hall, providing practically the entire second floor as a ballroom for social occasions.

Ceilings in the building are of insulite, and walls are in plaster with smooth finish. A gum trim was used throughout the building, finished in walnut. A pleasing modulation of color tones from the light tan walls to the deep walnut of doors and casings has been accomplished in the Tiffany interior. The stairway is built of oak, and the delicate green of the wrought iron railing provides a pleasing relief of color in the front of the lower floor. Arches which divide the long hallway on the first floor into segments are dropped from the ceiling sufficiently to shorten the passage materially in appearance.

Located on the western portion of the ground owned by the lodge, the building is so constructed as to invite extension to Travis street in the future, and is built to permit the addition of two more stories on the present structure. Partitions within the building are removable, making it easily convertible for other purposes in the event that the lodge should, in future years, erect a large home on the now unoccupied portion of its property.

$70,000 Invested

Combined values of the building and ground now owned by the local Elks lodge was placed at about $70,000. The building was designed by Jerry M. Schaefer, local architect.

Wichita Falls Elks, when first organized in November, 1908, named Charles W. Bean, who died in California last year, as the first exalted ruler of lodge No. 1105. Prominent among the list of 39 charter members of that organization are found the names of W. A. Reid, who was secretary; P. P. Langford, W. M. McGregor, Abe Marcus, F. P. Avis, Mark Walker, J. A. Kemp, A. L. Huey, E. P. Walsh, T. B. Noble, J. W. Clasbey, C. B. Woods, C. W. Hendricks, E. B. Gorsline, Nat Henderson, V. E. Stampfli, H. A. Waller, Sam Scaling and J. W. Stone. During the first few months following its organization, the lodge held its meeting on the third floor of the Hines building, at Seventh and Ohio.

During the year of 1909, membership increased rapidly, and the lodge moved to new quarters in the Anderson building, on "Eighth and Wall streets," where the Y. W. C. A. is now located. Its home was maintained there through the following 12 years, becoming overcrowded during the earlier part of the oil boom in this community, and compelling a second removal.

Early in 1921, the lodge occupied the upper portion of the old Perkins-Snider building, at Eighth and Scott, where it remained until its recent removal to the new home on Ninth and Travis. Rapid growth in membership during the heyday of oil activity here brought the personnel of the organization to about 650. The Elks' annual revues came to be anticipated as outstanding features of the city's entertainment numbers.

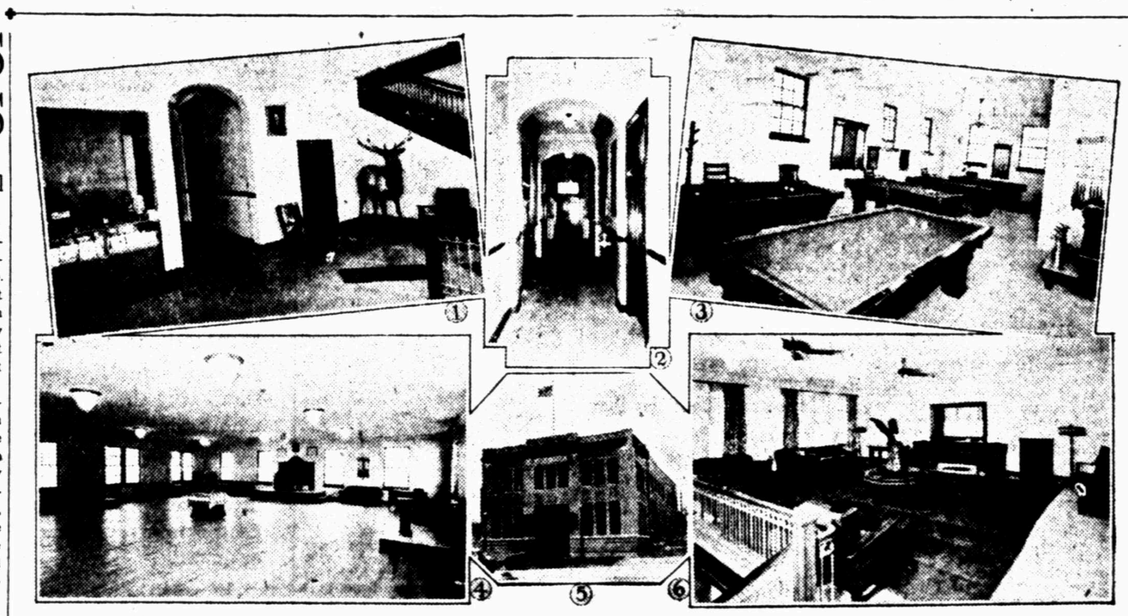

Many Prominent Members

Since its inception here, 22 years ago, the lodge has been honored by selections of various of its members for state and national office in the Elks' organization. C. K. Johnson has served several terms as vice president of the Texas Elk State association, and one term as trustee. Mr. Johnson, H. H. Bray and A. L. Huey have served as district deputies for the Northwest Texas district under the national organization.

During its 22 years of activity, lodge No. 1105 has had the following men as exalted rulers, in the order named: C. W. Bean, Claude B. Woods, J. Wes Clasbey, A. H. Britain, A. L. Huey, John T. Young, A. E. Myles, E. G. Hill, William N. Bonner, Carter McGregor, J. S. Bridwell, E. Stanley Field, H. H. Bray, A. M. Miller, B. F. Johnson, J. B. Marlow, C. K. Johnson, B. A. Lowry, H. H. Bray, Ernest Katz, E. F. Freuchte (two terms), and F. A. Rinehart, incumbent.

Present officers, aside from Mr. Rinehart, are esteemed leading knight, C. B. McConnel, esteemed loyal knight, E. S. Cooke; esteemed lecturing knight, J. Z. Steinkoenig; secretary, Howard C. English (1920——); treasurer, W. F. Boling; squire, E. F. Freuchte; tiler, A. A. Friedman; chaplain, J. E. Duncan; inner guard, B. D. Caffey; trustees, C. W. Hendricks, C. D. Shamburger and A. L. Huey.

Aside from a fixed program of local and extended charities, the Elks lodge has been active in recent years in student aid. During the past year, money was furnished for tuitions for six students in this city, four of them finishing work at Draughons Business college, and two in the Junior college. Money also was furnished to many of the elementary school cafeterias during the past year for providing meals to children without means for self-provision.

Views of the new home of B. P. O. E. lodge No. 1105, recently completed at 1009 Ninth street, reveal the spacious and comfortable quarters provided. Shown in the above group are (1) the foyer, with staircase at the right leading to the club rooms; (2) first floor hall, connecting foyer with lunch room, dining room, and recreation parlors; (3) billiard room, at rear of main floor; (4) lodge room; (5) the new Elks home; (6) the lounge, opening in the background upon the library.

CASE TO HINGE ON MAN'S BONES

Seminole Couple Seeks Title To Lands

MUSKOGEE, Okla., July 3. (AP)—A dead man's bones will be produced in United States court here next Monday as the central exhibit in a scientific and legal battle, with an oil fortune at stake.

Davis and Rhina Jackson, Seminole Freedman couple, will contend that the remains are those of their long missing son, Raymond Jackson, and that they therefore are entitled to his land allotment now rich in oil. The body is that of a negro who was killed in a train wreck near Blue Mountain, Ark., in 1921 and was unidentified for years. It was claimed about two years ago by the Jacksons as that of their son.

The defendants, principally the Carter Oil company, which has been developing the Raymond Jackson allotment, will contend that the bones are not Jackson's but those of another man. Defense attorneys believe scientists employed by them will show the man to have been older than Jackson.

Eminent anatomists and physiologists from Cleveland, New York and Chicago will be here to support both sides of the case.

P.-T. A. Wins Battle To Close Speakeasy

NEW YORK, July 3. (UP)—The women of St. Albans, Queens, embattled against an alleged speakeasy that leaned in too friendly fashion against the neighborhood school, won their fight to close it today after having carried their case to the president of the United States.

A uniformed policeman was stationed outside the establishment this afternoon and assured members of the parent-teacher association of the St. Albans school that the place would be so guarded until it had moved out to the last bar fixture and last bottle.

SCHOOL FUNDS DUE JULY 10

State to Make Final 1930 Payments

AUSTIN, June 3. (AP)—S. M. N. Marrs, state superintendent of public instruction, announced today that $1,426,859 of the state school fund would be distributed among school districts July 10, completing the student per capita apportionment of $17.50 promised by the state in August, 1929. The last payment will be $1 per student.

With this payment, he said, the state will have paid out $24,970,032.50 since Sept. 1, 1929.

Income to the school fund for July and August will be carried over into the ensuing year and probably will make a balance not quite so large as last year. The state board of education will meet in August to make the apportionment.

Marrs said the estimate of available funds for next year indicated a per capita apportionment slightly smaller than this year, probably $16.50 or $17. Since new students are counted, the total apportioned probably will be greater, however, because of the greater number of students, he said.

Bowery Social Worker And Actress Are Wed

OLD ORCHARD, Maine, July 3. (AP)—Urbain J. Ledoux, who gained public attention through his social work in the Bowery of New York under the name of Mr. Zero, and Miss Mary White, New York actress, were married at St. Margaret's Catholic church here today.

The bride, who last fall played with Walter Hampden's Shakespearean company in New York, gave her age as 30, while Ledoux's was given as 56. Both said it was their first marriage.

Mrs. Ledoux said that she would give up the stage and assist her husband in his social work in the Bowery.

Millionaire Candidate Speaks in Oklahoma

Special to The Record News

HOLLIS, Okla., July 3.—Frank Buttram, Oklahoma's millionaire oil candidate, is attracting the most attention of all candidates for governor who have so far delivered campaign speeches in the southwestern part of the state. At a meeting held in the La Vista theater on July 2, there was an estimated crowd of from 750 to 1,000 citizens and farmers present.

Agriculture, schools, highways and taxes were the four principal points covered by Mr. Buttram in his talk.

LONDON, July 3. (INS) — Mrs. Kate Meyrick, far-famed London "night club queen" whose two daughters have married peers of the realm, today was sentenced to six months in prison following a plea of guilty to unlawful sale of intoxicating liquors.

Mrs. Meyrick was arrested a few days ago in a raid on her fashionable "Forty-Three club" in the west end of London. She was accused of selling liquor after the legal hours.

Nationalists Claim Victory in Battle

SHANGHAI, July 3. (AP)—Nationalist dispatches today claimed government troops overwhelmingly crushed southern rebels in a three-day battle near Hengchow, Hunan province. Fifteen thousand rebels and 5,000 Nationalists were reported killed.

The major portion of the rebels were caught between Nationalists advancing both north and south.

Government dispatches asserted the battle crushed rebel resistance in Hunan, and would release 50,000 Nationalist troops for service on Honan and Shantung province fronts against the northern alliance and insurgent armies.

FARMERS TOLD OF OBLIGATION

Hyde and Legge Reiterate Over Supply

WASHINGTON, July 3. (AP)—The government's two big men so far as agriculture is concerned, Secretary Hyde and Chairman Legge, of the farm board said in radio addresses today the farmer must bear the responsibility for any more "backbreaking" wheat surpluses.

"We of the department of agriculture and the farm board offer you the basic facts of world supply and demand," the secretary said, "and the final decision is yours.

"It is yours to say whether you will produce another back breaking surplus or whether you will be guided by the most accurate facts man can muster. No power exists to compel you to do or to forbear doing exactly as you please."

The addresses preceded departure of the secretary and farm board chairman for a series of meetings in the heart of the winter wheat belt; to start at Hastings, Neb., on July 7 and extend into Kansas, Colorado, Oklahoma and Texas.

Secretary Hyde said the trip was being made so there would be no lack of opportunity for wheat farmers to get the facts.

"For several weeks now," he said, "wheat prices have been uncommonly low. You have seen the market sag under the pressure of accumulated world supplies. We do not expect to see wheat prices remain as low as they have been during the past month. Nevertheless the present prospect is that world wheat prices during the next seven years will average appreciably lower than in the last seven years."

Mr. Legge said the world wheat situation is not one that offers hope for early improvement of return to the American wheat grower if he continued to produce so much wheat that the price for all his crop is determined by the part he must sell in the world market.

Move to Bar Sooner Candidate Overruled

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 3. (UP)—An attempt to prevent the state election board from placing the name of C. J. Wrightsman on the primary ballot as a Democratic candidate for United States senator failed in district court today when Judge Sam Hooker sustained a motion to dismiss the petition of W. E. Norvell of Tulsa, Wrightsman's opponent in the race.

Norvell asked a restraining order on the contention Wrightsman spent $98,000 and an additional $50,000 more than allowed by law in his senatorial campaign in 1924.

NOW and ...THEN

A Workless World.
Wars and Business.
A Tea-Taster's Suicide.
The Bible Wins.

By EMILE GAUVREAU

The Bible will continue to be read in the public schools of New York, and justly so. A suit brought by Mr. Joseph Lewis, head of the Freethinkers society, against the practice, is dismissed. He argues that the reading of the Scriptures and singing of religious hymns constitute a violation of the state and federal laws.

Some no longer regard the Bible as a purely religious tome. To many it is sacred only in the sense that the inspired words of philosophers and poets are sacred. It is the world's greatest literary treasure. It is the world's greatest source book for art, ethics, theology, law and history. To deny children an early acquaintance with the Bible would be foolish and illiberal, particularly when the request comes from a freethinking society.

Professor Eddington, noted British scientist, looking ahead quite a bit, envisages a workless world, the dream of all Utopians. Subatomic energy will take care of everything. No more burdens, no more labor strikes, no more gougings by capital. Steam, coal, gas, oil, all these makeshifts will be dispensed with. How? By matter, physical matter, being swallowed up and converted into radiation as propounded by another hard thinker, Professor Einstein.

The only bad feature about Professor Eddington's workless world is that when it comes to pass, there will be nothing left to do but to think. But not many would be happy by merely thinking. Possibly one person out of 100,000 really thinks.

Sir Henry Worth Thornton, chairman of the board of the Canadian National railways, thinks business is standing in the way of world peace. He holds that modern industry, seeking continually enlarged markets, is a perpetual menace that can only end in war.

In this he merely restates the economic interpretation of war. But that interpretation does not hold up war as the only solution to a world problem. It explains why we have had wars, not why we must have them. As now constituted, the world cannot do without business. But it can do without bloodshed.

Millions of people are engaged daily in transactions without bloodshed or even an altercation. War is a piece of outworn machinery that civilization foolishly thinks it cannot do without. Just as at one time people could not imagine a state without a king. And that theory has been pretty well exploded. Fewer kings, fewer wars.

A retired tea-taster living with his family in a comfortable home on Long Island decides to take a final fling in the market. He thought stocks had struck bottom, but they went lower and his marginal accounts were wiped out. He sees his life savings vanish, kills his wife, his daughter, then puts a bullet into his brain. He had retired with enough money to have kept his family comfortably for a lifetime. But the fever for easy money seized him. It was too late for him to learn that money never depreciates in a good bank.

Four gunmen are arrested in Philadelphia in connection with a prize fight between a colored gentleman named Godfrey and a European giant known as Carnera. The discovery that gunmen are mixed up with prize fighting will not surprise the public.

Three Texas Youths Injured in Collision

PARIS, Texas, July 3. (AP)—Three Paris youths were injured, one probably fatally, last night in a motorcycle and automobile collision. Thomas Givens, 18, driving the motorcycle, suffered a fractured skull and may die. Morris Berry, 18, riding with Givens, received severe cuts and bruises, and Ralph Eubank, 28, driver of the automobile, was severely hurt.

Bloom Center's population is 341. "Th' five girls missin'. "We're goin' t' see America before th' fillin' stations hide it," said Art Smiley, today, as he an his family started on a big auto trip.

The plane that made the record drop in our opinion is the one built last year for the Schneider cup races at a cost of $90,000 and put up for sale the other day for $1.

"Money," says Max Schmeling "is not everything." And to those who paid to see him fight money, apparently, is nothing.

The Problem of Unemployment

WHAT are we going to do about unemployment?

It is true that statistics gathered by the census takers show that the number of unemployed is only a little more than 2,000,000 instead of nearly 6,000,000 as some had believed, but even 2,000,000 unemployed is far too many.

And the number of unemployed is growing from year to year.

Stuart Chase, a writer on financial and industrial subjects, tells us some of the reasons why unemployment is increasing in an article entitled "The Nemsis of Business" in the July Harpers.

"Here is a new ensilage harvesting machine," he cites, "that cuts cornstalks in the field and delivers them to the silo without a human hand touching a single stalk. Here is a new tabulating machine capable of doing the work of 100 skilled actuaries. Here is an automatic mechanism producing 73,000 electric light bulbs every 24 hours, displacing 2,000 hand operators for each machine installed. Here is Section E of the St. Louis concrete sewer project. Thirty-three machine operators, aided by 37 laborers, are doing the work of 7,000 pick and shovel men. Seventy men and machines displace 7,000! The United States department of commerce estimates that combines in the harvesting of wheat in one area have cut the force of farm laborers from 50,000 to 20,000. Here are automatic cigar makers, dial telephones, the iron chink which has revolutionized the canning of fish, automatic stokers, mechanical glass blowers, automatic power stations, automatic knitting machines, bookkeeping machines, paint sprayers, mechanical cotton pickers, the telephonic typewriter, automatic check writers—and a hundred more, all taking their toll of direct labor. It must not be forgotten that, in the final balance, the direct labor which is displaced may find a job in building or servicing the machine—but the margin of jobs permanently lost is reasonably wide, otherwise there would be no point in introducing the mechanism."

Mr. Chase might fill a whole magazine with similar instances of men being displaced in industry by machines, and there would be no point in the introduction of the machines unless human labor could be displaced.

And with our machines we are able easily to produce more than we can consume, a result that brings a depression in industry and a condition of want from our very productive capacity itself.

Surely a civilization that can invent machines to take the place of human labor and which can so organize business and industry as to make them able to produce more than we can consume ought to be able to devise a system that would prevent these machines and this efficiency from causing want and suffering through unemployment.

Mr. Chase suggests as a slogan: "Six Hours Work and Work for Everybody."

Joy Elmer Morgan, editor of the Journal of the National Educational association, advises American educators to prepare for the time when the average working day will be just four hours long. The problem for the educator will be to teach the public how to use all the leisure time it will have on its hands.

Whether its solution comes through a shorter workday thus providing more jobs, or whatever may be its solution, unemployment is a problem that we must and will solve and the quicker we set to the task the better off everybody is going to be.

Heading Off the Ugly Rumors

AS THE murder of Alfred Lingle, Chicago police reporter, passes farther into the background, the number of ugly rumors about the man and his disproportionately large income seems to increase.

Lingle, mingling with the underworld as part of his job, had an income far greater than that paid him by his paper. Some of the current reports attribute this to shady practices on his part; others assert that he made his money in a perfectly legitimate manner in the stock market.

Whatever may be the real facts in the matter, this much becomes evident; the most important thing in the world for a man in Lingle's position is to avoid even the appearance of evil. The reporter, the policeman, the holder of public office—these men must take extra precautions to have all of their dealings open and above suspicion. In no other way can the rise of ugly rumors be headed off.

A Pocket Borough and Its Population

NEVADA, one of the largest of American states in territorial area, has a population of 90,559, or an increase of 13,125 over 1920. Harris county, Texas, has a population of some 325,000. Nevada has two votes in the senate of the United States and one in the house.

There is a lot of logic in the Garner division theory.

Texas has a population of upwards of 6,000,000 and less than a hundred thousand people of Nevada have the same representation in the American senate as the imperial state of New York, which has a population of thirteen million, or the imperial empire of the South and the Southwest with a population of 6,000,000.

There are other pocket borough states, top-heavy with representation in the senate and all powerful in the enactment of laws for the American people.

Cherry Pies and Diplomacy

THE people in charge of Michigan's Cherry Festival, which is to be celebrated in the Grand Traverse Bay region in a week or so, seem to be people of considerable insight.

First of all, they selected a pretty girl to be queen of the festival. There's nothing unusual in that, to be sure; but they put her in an airplane and sent her about to make calls on such folk as President Hoover, Mayor Walker of New York and Rufus Dawes of Chicago, president of the World's Fair association.

Now that, too, doesn't look particularly inspired—until you learn that she took with her a consignment of big, juicy cherry pies to present to these notables. Then its effectiveness becomes clear. A cherry pie, made from Michigan cherries just off the trees—diplomacy could think of no more persuasive argument.

Quotations Worth Noting

Handicap

I'd like to act as tho' I didn't care,
I'd like to show the world a smiling face;
But acting is an art—I'm well aware,
And one that I'm unfitted to embrace.

I've tried to find the path to happiness,
The path I once walked laughing-eyed with you;
But when you took your heart away, I guess
The trail to Rainbow's-End went with it, too.

It's funny, there are many girls around,
You'd think that I could easily forget;
I've tried my best—net not a one I've found
Can turn my thoughts or banish my regret.

Such faithfulness in lads is most unique—
It's nice, my dear, that you are not so weak!

—AV3X.

As a Matter o' Fact

Mr. Paul Sweinhart, who edits Zit's Weekly, the theatrical oracle, scoops the field with: "Walter Winchell isn't going to play at the Palace. Remembering the days he worked for coffee and cakes, he looked the bookers in the eye and asked for $4,000 per week, which was too much for the RKO bankroll to digest."

Well, this is very flattering and nice of Mr. Sweinhart, but his informant failed to add the real reason, which is that we would rather be shot at dawn than hear a Palace spectator say: "Things I Never Knew Till Now—that the Cherry Sisters had a brother!"

Is My Face Red?

First-nighters who went to the shore to witness the premiere of Earl Carroll's new revusical report that one of the more amusing sketches goes like this. Two girls are playing with mud: "What picture are you making?" asked the first. "That's a picture of Mark Hellinger," is the reply.

"Why don't you make one of Walter Winchell?"

"Ain't got enough dirt!"

Bravo!

Ned Brown relates this most interesting suggestion by Al Singer, the fighter, on how to erase the stench from foul blows. Singer hopes that the N. Y. State Boxing commission will agree that when he meets Mandell both wear protective apparatus that has been demonstrated to prevent injury from foul punches—and that it be incorporated in the articles of agreement between the fighters that neither shall win or lose on a foul.

In the event of a foul the only penalty enforced to be the loss of the round by the perpetrator.

A lusty cheer for Mr. Singer, and a lustier one if his suggestion becomes a law.

Revised Version

As well-done as a New York day in June.

Newspaperman Stuff

The local columnists have saluted Mr. Calvin Coolidge, who is to turn columnist for a New York rag soon. Heywood Broun, frinstance, counseled the ex-president shrewdly on what not to do to enjoy success. Broun pointed out that if he did a word picture of various sections of New York life he would be thefting an idea belonging to the very odd McIntyre. "And," Continued Broun, "Unfortunately the blessed event business and items about who are going to 'tell it to a judge' are pretty much monopolized by Retlaw Chinwell. But Broun offered Mr. Coolidge no suggestion on what to write.

So Mr. Coolidge is welcome to this surefire hint on how to attract immediate attention. Let him open up his first column with some mean crack at Rudy Vallee. The next day he will receive complaints from the nation's morons objecting strenuously—and his editor, upon seeing all that mail will believe that Mr. Coolidge has a huge following.

In Fewer Words

One presumes that Mr. Coolidge decided to become a columnist because he would rather be wrong than be president.

A Form of Criticism

William McCaffery, vaudeville scout, was swapping lip with a confrere in front of the Palace, when a well-known ham ankled along.

"Tat's Joe Doakes," said the confrere, "is he clever?"

"Well," snapped Mac, "if you don't think so, ask him."

Origin

The attractive letterhead of the Funk & Wagnalls company features a slogan in red ink, viz: "Look Up a Word a Day!" So perhaps the origin of "vaudeville" should be listed among other things you never knew till now.

"Vaudeville," really means "The Valley of Vire." Vire is a small town in Normandy, France. In the 15th century there lived in the valley a poet christened Oliver Basselin, who invented a type of satirical song to which he gave the name of his native district.

As time passed the expression took on further meanings, with the result that at the present time it is used in a general way in the United States to designate almost any form of entertainment consisting of successive acts or separate performances.

As If We Didn't Know

"It isn't the heat," bellows Robert Garland, "it's the Humanity!!!"

The Morning Mail

"Dear W. W.," affectionately writes Donald Barr Chidsey, one of the better typewriter jugglers. "Seems to be a lot in the col'm these days about when a man's drunk and when he isn't. As a matter of fact this question was decided some time ago by Thomas L. Peacock (1785-1866), if you must know. In even an abridged edition of his 'The Misfortune of Elphin,' you will find, among other amusing things, this definition:

"Not drunk is he, who from the floor
"Can rise alone, and still drink more:
"But drunk is he, who prostrate lies,
"Without the power to drink or rise."

CHAPTER XXXIII

Edna and her mother had dined at home alone. When they arose from the table Mrs. Rogers said:

"Edna, dear, I want to have a talk with you. Will you come to my room?"

Edna followed her mother wonderingly up the stairs and seated herself in a low rocking chair near an open window in the combination sitting-dressing room that adjoined Mrs. Rogers' bedroom. It was early evening, and the sun, still several degrees above the horizon, sent a golden flood into the cozily furnished room. Mrs. Rogers slowly paced the floor several times. Finally her lips met in a decision and she drew a chair to Edna's knee and sank into it. She looked fondly at Edna, but still she did not speak.

"Mother, dear, what is it?" the girl cried in alarm.

"I have set myself a hard task," she replied. "I have something to tell you that will shock you—something that may hurt you, something that may even turn you against me."

"No, no!" Edna protested. "You know that nothing, nothing could turn me against you."

"No, I was wrong; you are of a newer, kindlier generation, and then too, you—you are yourself. Edna, when I was a young girl—younger than you are, only 18 years old—I made one terrible misstep that, but for the help of two lovely, saintly women, would have ruined my entire life. You know very little of my people. They moved to the far West, and my father and mother died there not long after you were born. We were very poor. Father was a carpenter and the wages of a carpenter in those days were very small, with frequent periods of unemployment. And we were a large family, of which I was the oldest.

"We lived in Houston. Automobiles had not then come into general use and Houston was much smaller than it is now. You may have noticed and wondered that on our auto trips I always have contrived that our route never took us through Houston. The town holds too many painful memories. I had only two years of high school and at 16, after I had taught myself the operation of a typewriter, I went to work in the office of a man named Crimell, who conducted a small farm supplies agency. The wages were small, but they were a great help at home.

"Mr. Crimell was a tall, broad-shouldered, handsome man of early middle age. He was married, the father of several children, was a steady church-goer and teacher of a Sunday school class, of which I was a member. It was at Sunday school that I became well acquainted with him. He seemed interested in me in a fatherly way and paid me little compliments that flattered my romantic girlish heart. When he learned that I was looking for work, he offered me a position and I gladly accepted. My parents were delighted, too— Mr. Crimell was such a good man, I would be well protected in his employ. How little they knew!

"Edna, that man in reality was a two-faced devil, but I didn't find it out until too late. I looked up to him, trusted him as the respectable pillar of society he pretended to be. He was a persuasive talker and he was able to play upon my unsophisticated mind and emotions as a master artist upon the keys of a piano. I hung upon his every word as a disciple at the feet of a seer.

"Cleverly, skillfully, fiendishly, as I see it now, he gained complete domination of me. At first a gentle pressure of the hand, a light kiss on cheek or forehead, which I accepted as mere fatherly gestures. Then he enlisted my sympathy with the old story of a cold, unappreciative and nagging wife—a loveless home. And I, little fool that I was, easily fell into the role of comforter and consoler and felt virtuously exalted in being singled out for his confidence. The inevitable happened—our intimacy passed the bounds of convention. I was young, ignorant, emotional, easily led; he was cunning, clever and unscrupulous under a mask of pious probity.

"A terrible day of awakening arrived—I discovered I was to become a mother. Oh, the agony of those days! For weeks I kept the secret locked in my own breast, fearful of voicing it even to the man who had betrayed me. I could see no way out; I was hopeless. Racked with anxiety, nerves shattered and ill of body and soul, I contemplated suicide. A mother's intuition saved me from that. One night mother came to my room and gathered me in her arms.

"'Mary, dear, tell mother,' she said—and that was all.

"I told her and oh! what a relief it was to share the burden with another. There never was such a mother, Edna, as was mine. Not a word of rebuke, nor a whisper of condemnation, just a great yearning to comfort and help. She held me close and kissed my reddened eyes. 'My baby, my poor baby,' she crooned softly, again and again, as I sobbed out the whole distressing story.

"'There, there,' she said soothingly, 'Don't worry about it any more. Nobody knows anything about it but you and me and we'll find some way out.'

"Brave, brave mother! She was trying to give me courage when her own heart was terrified. She promised to keep the secret as long as possible from father. He was a good man, but stern and uncompromising. We both feared his anger and knew not what he might do in the face of the disgrace I was about to bring upon the family.

"Of course, I immediately gave up my position and that was explained to father as due to illness. He could see for himself that I was not at all well and he was very kind and considerate. As the days went by mother and I frantically sought some way out. If only I could go far, far away from Houston, where nobody would know! But we had no money, and even could father have afforded that expense, we would not have dared to ask him.

"Finally, without my knowledge, mother decided to appeal to Mr. Crimell for help. She went to him. He not only refused, but flew into a rage and charged mother and I were trying to blackmail him. He flatly denied everything and threatened to make the town too hot to hold any of our family if a word was breathed against him. Oh, he played well the part of the righteous, smug, respected citizen who has been unjustly accused! Poor, timid little mother was no match for him. He well knew we could prove nothing and nobody would believe us if we accused him. He held a high social position and we were poor and without influence.

"Having made this clear, he became grandiloquently magnanimous. Purely out of friendship, mind you, and not because of any obligation, he would pay my railroad fare to any place I might want to go within 200 or 300 miles of Houston, but that was all he would do. Mother—I will bless her for it to my dying day—threw a book in his face and left his office.

"And so that road of escape was closed to me and there seemed to be no other. I did not even know of that one, for Mother did not tell me of her visit to Mr. Crimell until long afterwards. We were sunk in despair and I was on the point of something madly desperate when Mother saw an advertisement in The Houston Chronicle.

Mrs. Rogers went to a desk and unlocking a tiny clipping, yellow with age. She placed it in Edna's hands. It read:

WANTED—To adopt a baby, either boy or girl; must be child of healthy parents and not from an orphanage. Address W-43, care Chronicle.

"I have kept that clipping all these years—it was the only link I had to—my first baby," Mrs. Rogers continued. "Mother immediately wrote to 'W-43.' I didn't see the letter, but she must have poured into it the agony of her soul, for a few days later when Mother met a handsome, well-dressed woman at the door, the woman asked:

"'Is this Mrs. Sarah Crane?" and clasped Mother in her arms, crying, "God bless you, God bless you!" as soon as Mother replied.

"She was a young woman, Edna, only four or five years older than I, but if ever there was a saint on earth she was one. She was a Mrs. William Johnson, the wife of a traveling salesman. They lived in a downtown apartment in Wichita Falls and were in comfortable circumstances. Both she and Mr. Johnson were very fond of children, but they were childless and a physician in Dallas, where they formerly had lived, had told Mrs. Johnson that she never would bear a child.

"They decided to adopt one, but when they applied to a number of orphanages and were 'investigated' they were refused. Though found to be respectable, home-loving and law-abiding, they were barred because they were not members of any church. As if church membership made anybody good — Mr. Crimell was a pious church member! But those were the rules of the church-controlled institutions. So they put the advertisement in The Chronicle. Mother's was one of a number of answers, but Mrs. Johnson said hers appealed to them the most.

"When she had heard all about us, she came over and sat down beside me. She put her arms around me and said:

"'Mary Crane, you are going to come out of this all right, and nobody will be the wiser. Will you put yourself unreservedly in my hands? I have a most wonderful plan!"

Teachers Federation Opposes New Party

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 3. (AP)—The American federation of teachers, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, today rejected a resolution advocating the formation of a labor party distinct from the major political organizations.

In resolutions submitted on the last day of the federation convention here, the legislative committee advocated unrestricted selection of text books, the elimination of high school commencement programs on the ground they made the diploma more of an objective than studies, and government aid in fighting illiteracy in backward sections.

A.—They are asphalts to which has ben added sufficient petroleum distillate to make them of suitable viscosities for use without the application of heat.

Q.—Which state has the longest coast line?—T. B.

A.—Maine has the longest, the coast being so indented that its length is about 3000 miles.

Q.—Where was irrigation first employed in the United States? —R. C.

A.—The first projects of any size were those instituted in Utah by the Mormon settlers.

Q.—How many miles of highways has Canada?—B. C.

Q.—Is the character of Christus in the Freiburg Passion Play taken by a person chosen each time for the role?—B. R. A.

A.—The roles are inheritable and the role of Christus is assigned to the Fassnacht family. The present Christus is the eighth member of the family to play the role.

Q.—Does the pope annul or dissolve a marriage?—E. B.

A.—The pope of Rome personally does not annul or dissolve a marriage. When there is petition for the annulment of a marriage in the Roman Catholic church or in which a Roman Catholic is involved on the ground of fraud, want of age, want of consent, or other valid reason, the matter is considered by the rota, a supreme council of the Roman Catholic church, which declares its findings and the pope makes a declaration in accordance with such findings.

Q.—How will Vergil's birth be commemorated at Mantua?—L. S. T.

A.—Among the preparations being made at Mantua to celebrate the 2000th anniversary of his birth, is the development of a 15-acre tract which is to be planted with over 200 trees and plants mentioned in his poems. The space will be made to appear as much as possible like a Roman garden of the first century before Christ. As far back as the Napoleonic wars a similar project was planned but lack of funds prevented its completion. The Vergilian Wood will be dedicated in October.

Q.—Was a fleet ever captured by a troop of cavalry?—J. C. B.

A.—A noted instance of this kind occurred during the Reign of Terror. The French armies were sent to protect the threatened frontiers of the country. General Pichegru led an army into Amsterdam in 1794. At that time the Dutch fleet was ice-bound in the Zuider Zee near the harbor of Amsterdam. Pichegru surrounded the fleet with his cavalry and compelled it to surrender. The result was that the government of the country collapsed and Holland was forcibly allied to France in 1795.

Q.—Please describe the new Vicksburg bridge.—W. C.

A.—The Vicksburg bridge, a $7,000,000 combination highway and rail bridge across the Mississippi river at Vicksburg, was opened to motor traffic on May 20, 1930. It is the only bridge across the Mississippi river below Memphis and it enables the motorist to drive from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast on U. S. highway No. 80 without having to cross a ferry. The bridge is so constructed that it carries a single track railway and an 18-foot concrete highway, on the same level. It has a total length of 15,997 feet. Clearance from low water to bottom of steel under the channel span is 112 feet.

Q.—Please give some facts about Randolph Field at San Antonio.—F. P. L.

A.—Randolph field, the West Point of the Air, is the world's largest flying field. Several years ago the city of San Antonio bought 2300 acres of land and sold it to the government for one dollar. This was the inception of the $50,000,000 project which was dedicated on June 20-21. The field is an innovation in airport building. Heretofore air ports have been built with the landing area in the center and the hangars and other buildings around the edges. Randolph Field's hangers, barracks, etc., are in the center and the landing area runs around the outside. It will be walled in on three sides by hangars of which there will be 26. The flying area will be so large that 250 airplanes can take off at once in formation.

The report also showed collections of $829.30 in common school taxes and $90.71 in Iowa Park independent school taxes.

State tax collections amounted to $3,042.47 during the month. Mr. Raley pointed out that the collections for June compare favorably with those of the same month in past years.

Styles of 30 Years Ago Shown In Magazine Display by Junior C.-C.

Styles in dress and social forms of the 1900-1910 period as they were reflected in illustrations, magazine front pages, and wall art of that time will be revealed in a window display now being arranged at the Industrial Mart by the Junior chamber of commerce.

Originals made by famous illustrators of the 20th century's first decade which have been collected by W. P. Killingsworth of the Decorators company comprise the interesting and unusual group of drawings. Many of the originals included in this display were purchased recently by Mr. Killingsworth from publishers who first produced them.

Many of the names commonly seen on magazine front page art, calendars, mottoes, and wall cards 25 years ago will be shown on the originals now on display at the Industrial Mart. C. Twelvetrees, whose cupid-like juveniles with bulging red cheeks and knowing eyes became familiars in every home; the conventional "Wallace girl,"—by R. O. Wallace, more prolific than many better known types: O. Schmidt, H. C. Renwick, Mayo Bunker, S. H. Mitchell and others. Paintings, water colors, and drawings from which the myriad prints were made make up the collection now being shown here, and represent items of considerable intrinsic value.

Particular interest doubtless will be taken in a reproduction of a photograph taken years ago by William C. Weidling, an amateur photographer, in Linden Grove cemetery at Covington, Ky. Taken originally as an effective winter landscape, with trees drooping under burdens of snow upon their branches, the picture became more or less famous when it was discovered that certain lines therein quite definitely represent the form of Christ upon the cross. The Weidling photograph is included in the exhibit which has been arranged in the window of the Industrial Mart, 911 Eighth street.

After remaining on display for several weeks, some of these originals will be placed in the art gallery on the upper floors of the mart.

Pearls are produced by meleagrina (speckled) oysters only, the products of others being declared not genuine by a recent decree in French courts.

The nose and chin are the most important features in the face of any woman who claims to be beautiful, according to a famous theatrical producer.

Experiment Station Fruit Ripens Early Under Hot June Weather

IOWA PARK, Texas, July 3.—Earl J. Wilson, superintendent of Texas Experiment Station No. 16, submits the following report for the month of June:

The month of June has been warm with the highest temperatures toward the latter part of the month reaching the high point of 104 degrees. The average mean temperature of the month wac 81.40 degrees, or 1.7 above the normal Fair weather has prevailed, there being 21 clear days, 7 partly cloudy days, and only two cloudy days. The rainfall, however, was considerably above the normal, with 5.12 inches as compared to 3.18 inches for the normal for June. The major part of the precipitation occurred on the 14th, when 3.37 inches of rain fell. This was the heaviest rain ever recorded at the station.

There were 5275 miles of wind during June as compared to 4903.2 miles for the normal. A mean relative humidity of 55.0 per cent for the month is considerably below the four year average of the substation with 66.1 per cent.

Winds Drying

Crops, which were needing hot weather, made headway during June. But some danger was encountered during the very last days from burning winds and drying conditions. Peaches are ripening earlier, in some cases, as much as 10 days, than they did last year. This is attributed, somewhat, to weather conditions. Field work has been accomplished with little interference from rains.

There were netarly 100 visitors during the month, who were station visitors, which number holds up well for this season of the year. Many of these were interested in the orchard, and many bought fruit, which commenced ripening in commercial quantities early in the month.

Good yields of fruit were made throughout the month. The crossbred plum, Opata and Sapa, ripened early and were much sought after for culinary and canning purposes. The Compass cherry-plum was a poor yielder in comparison. Early Wheeler peaches ripened the forepart of the month, and were excellent in size and quality. Triumph, Alexander, Carmen, Crimes Best, Mamie Ross and Augbert are other peaches that made good yields.

Cantaloupes Thrive

Cantaloupes formed well during the hot season of the month, a few commenced ripening before the end of the month. All sugar beets in the variety tests grew rapidly, following thinning, and disease and insects have not invaded the crops. All varieties of the soy bean tests are making fair growth without any disturbance from the outside; these, however, were eaten off by rabbits previously. Corn is entering the milk stage in several varieties, but has been damaged somewhat with an infestation of grasshoppers; and later somewhat harmed by hot winds.

Clovers have about matured, but alfalfa is ready for the second cutting. Root rot is showing up badly in a number of varieties and at different points in the tests. In the asparagus tests, roots that were planted in the sandy loam are surpassing those on heavy land greatly in point of foliage above ground. All barley and wheat in the row tests comparing several hundred strains and varieties have matured and will be harvested and threshed for replanting for further testing, and increase of seed.

Most of the bugle calls used in the United States army have been adopted from foreign countries.

ETHICS TALKED BY TEXAS BAR

Jury Reform Discussed At Annual Session

SAN ANTONIO, July 3. (AP)—Ethics and jury reform were discussed at the opening session of the Texas Bar association here today. The afternoon program, lengthened to hear a paper read by Judge R. L. Batts, former justice of the United States circuit court of appeals, which has been set for Friday, was later curtailed to permit the visitors to enjoy a sightseeing trip. The tour ended at San Antonio Country club where a Mexican dinner was served.

Judge Batts read an eulogy to the memory of the late Hiram M. Garwood of Houston, who had died since the last meeting. Judge Batts and Garwood were boyhood friends both being reared in Bastrop.

Judge Batts paid tribute to Garwood as a lawyer, scholar and a man who had always fought for what he thought was right. Beginning his career as a criminal lawyer, Garwood never used the methods of criminals to defend criminals, Judge Batts said. He said that Garwood had contributed masterpieces to the literature of the law in the form of petitions, answers and briefs that now lie in the archives of the courts to remain unknown to posterity. Many of his great masterpieces may be admired in after years, he said, and the writer be unknown because there is nothing to indicate the author.

William R. Watkins of Fort Worth read a paper on "Concepts of Professional Ethics and Discipline," in which he urged the creation of a board of 15 governors chosen from the bar association to pass on disbarment cases. The hearing by the governors should be secret, he declared, and the governors should after the hearing file their recommendation with the supreme court which should have the power to act. The proceedings should be published in case the hearing results in disbarment or disciplinary action, he said.

Round table discussions of "legislation" to be led by W. A. Keeling of Austin; "Grievance and Discipline" led by Thomas H. Franklin of San Antonio; "Criminal Law and Procedure," and "Legal Education and Admission to the Bar," by R. E. Cofer of Austin were postponed until Friday.

In his annual address President C. S. Bradley of Groesbeck urged reform of the jury system, stating a jury of 12 men composed of chief justice of the supreme courts of the states with the presiding justice of the United States supreme court as foreman could not arrive at just decisions under the present system.

He attacked the custom of locking up jurors during the trial of cases and not permitting them to discuss the case among themselves as the trial progressed.

put your Telephone on Half-pay during Vacation

You'll save money . . . and spare yourself inconvenience when you return.

"Something should be done about this"

The Rumseys are going vacationing.

The milk's been stopped, the ice man has been called off, and the Man Who Delivers the Newspaper has been instructed to bring no more until further notice.

But the telephone will be left at home, drawing full pay in an empty house!

Something should be done about this!

Vacation rates for idle residence telephones

One solution (provided you're planning a vacation of 30 days or more) is to place your telephone on vacation half-rates while you are away.

It's a convenient way to save money. And—this to folks who sometimes have their telephones taken out—it spares you inconvenience on your return.

That's because:

1. You pay just half the regular rate.
2. Service is reconnected quickly after you return—usually within 24 hours after you notify us.
3. You keep your present telephone number. (You'd lose it if you had your telephone removed!)
4. Your name remains in the telephone book.

If you wish, while you are away we will refer your calls to another telephone—that of relatives, for instance.

Vacation rates are available for periods of more than 30 days, but not over four months. They apply only to residence telephones.

To obtain them, mail the coupon below or telephone the business office.

Cantaloupes Are Cooling

Provident nature kindly arranged to give us cantaloupes during the warm season when they are most valuable. Throughout the melon time I would suggest that you will keep cooler and feel better if you use melons once or twice daily. On extremely hot days it is often a good plan to make an entire luncheon on nothing but cantaloupes, using as many as desired. The large amount of purified water and wholesome mineral elements contained in cantaloupes and other melons have a cooling and cleansing action on the blood stream and should be used abundantly during the summertime.

Cantaloupes are related to the gourd family. Their original home is in Asia and India, and they were first brought to Europe from Armenia. Muskmelons, cantaloupes and nutmeg melons all belong to the netted group whose rinds are laced over with a thick graying pattern. The pulp of these melons varies from green to a deep gold, and is highly flavored and sweet to the tongue. They consist of about 89 per cent of water, the rest being composed of sugar and organic minerals, principally potash, lime and iron, and vitamins. Cassabas and honey dew closely resemble muskmelons in food value and are somewhat larger in size and ripen later in the season. These melons contain a small amount of acid and for this reason the best way to use them is to make a complete meal of any one kind of melon, using all that is desired.

They should never be eaten when they are unripe or overripe, as they may produce symptoms akin to colic. They are best when the flavor is most fully developed. The housewife should use the greatest care to select the ones which have a good ripe odor and are not bruised. Much of the pleasure of eating the muskmelon is due to the delicate musk-like aroma which is whifed up the nose. For this reason, the melon with the best odor usually has the best flavor.

They are best chilled by placing in the refrigerator. If cracked ice is used to chill them, it should not be placed inside the melon, but the melon should be packed inside the ice, and opened and cleaned when ready to serve. This method preserves the delicate natural taste and is not diluted with ice water. To make the cut cantaloupe stand on the plate a slice may be cut from the bottom, making it flat. Cantaloupe filled with ice cream makes a perfect meal for luncheon when you do not care for heavier food. Another delicious way to serve muskmelons is to cut the fresh fruit into small squares or balls which can be made with a melon spoon obtainable at any hardware store. This can be served as a salad or you can cover these pieces with apricot or pineapple Jell-O or Jell-Well, placing the dish in the refrigerator until the gelatin has hardened.

Some people enjoy the cantaloupe baked. Simply cut the cantaloupe in two, scoop out the seeds and put the halves into a hot oven. Serve as soon as they begin to brown. Do not cook them too long or they will become mushy. If the cantaloupe is a little too green to serve for breakfast, you may often use it by baking in this manner.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Pyelitis

Question—M. R. asks: "What are the symptoms of pyelitis? Is it possible to have it at intervals for a period of years? Is it curable? If so, what is the cure?"

Answer: Those with pyelitis usually develop a fever; but the characteristic diagnostic point is the presence of pus in the urine. It is often associated with other disorders. The treatment would depend upon the findings from a thorough diagnosis.

Bread With Meals

Question—A. C. N. asks: "Will you tell me why you never recommend bread with meals in your menus, only Melba toast? What harm is there in eating yeast bread and baking powders breads?"

Answer: I do recommend bread occasionally in my menus, but I do believe most people use too much bread to the exclusion of other more vital foods. When any kind of bread is used it should be taken with non-starchy vegetables and not in addition to other starches or with protein foods.

Spinal Curvature

Question—Mrs. S. writes: "My little girl 12 years old has developed a curved spine within the last two years. She has a mixed diet, attends gymnasium, and seems generally well, but complains of backache and tires easily. What causes this? Can it be corrected? Does it affect the health?"

Answer: Be sure that your little girl is having corrective exercises with her gymnasium work and that she is instructed by a competent teacher. It is also well to have an x-ray picture made of her entire spine, and to get the opinion of a bone specialist regarding the condition of the spinal vertebrae. She may be suffering from tuberculosis of the spine, in which case it would be unwise for her to exercise during that time when the acute changes are taking place in the bones.

Tillman Plants Heavy Seed Crop

Special to The Record News

FREDERICK, Okla., July 3.—Tillman county farmers intend to have plenty of feed this season. R. L. Allen, one of the Frederick dealers, has sold 80,000 pounds of seed. There are three other dealers in Frederick. Red top cane and hegari are proving most popular, about 20,000 pounds of the former and 18,000 pounds of the latter having been sold, said Allen. Sudan is planted for pasture. It grows rapidly and soon becomes several feet high, an acre affording pasture for several head of cows or work stock.

Cane seed and hegari are used for winter feed. Hegari is proving very popular. The first hegari introduced here, according to M. L. Wearmouth from northwest of Frederick, was in 1921 when some seed was shipped here from Farwell, Texas. It is planted in June and when it is ripe it can be headed or cut and bundled. Heads as well as stalks are relished by cows and horses. Wearmouth says as high as a ton of heads an acre have been obtained.

POLICE QUELL STRIKE PARADE

Fisher Body Co. Workers In Demonstration

FLINT, Mich., July 3. (AP)—State police charged into a crowd of striking workmen who were parading back and forth in front of the Fisher Body corporation's plant here today and broke up the demonstration.

One man, Ivan Hoops, a striker, was treated for injuries inflicted by a police club and was taken into custody.

The crowd, estimated at about 1,500 disbanded after the attack and after its leaders had urged the men to move on to a meeting place outside the city limits. Five pickets left behind were not molested.

Neither company officials nor strike leaders would make an estimate of the number of men at work at the factory. The strikers denied a claim of officials that a large number had returned to the plant, where about 5,000 men normally are employed.

The strike started Tuesday through a disagreement over wage rate readjustments.

Shawnee Veteran Named in Citation

WASHINGTON, July 3. (INS)—George Shorney, of Shawnee, Okla., today was awarded a citation for gallantry in action by the war department. He was formerly a private, first class, in ambulance company No. 167, 117th sanitary train, 42nd division, A. E. F.

At St. Benoit, France, on Sept. 16, 1918, Shorney, with nine other men, volunteered to rescue several wounded men of another regiment who had been caught in an enemy barrage. Proceeding through a severe bombardment, they rescued one officer and seven enlisted men, all severely wounded.

Answer to Yesterday's Puzzle

STEERS PLUNGE FROM REAR TO WIN LAST OF SERIES, 8 TO 6

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED D. THOMPSON

People Who Bore Me

We doff our hats to Lindy, who
Alone o'er the salty ocean flew
And then, defying Hollywood,
Lived obscure as a hero should
And held his tongue, as others should,
But don't.

But our headpiece is firm on bean
When we see shots on the silver screen
Of Admiral Byrd, the gallant hero,
Who (with others) found, sub-zero,
A land none but an Eskimo
Would want.

The hurdles the Spudders must clear in the second half appear to be towering higher, as if their roots were fixed in good fertile soil, conducive to rapid growth. One is the increased strength of the Dallas Steeers, who have been hard to beat. But the biggest is night baseball. If Houston, the Spudders' most consistent rival, can't defeat Waco under the arc lights, what will the Spudders be able to do? And how will we fare in Houston's night plant?

The problem is serious, it appears that clubs which have night plants are going to take an unfair advantage over clubs whose parks are not so equipped. No one will deny that Houston has a better ball club than Waco, and yet the Waco Owls, being accustomed to playing under the arcs, whipped the socks off Houston in two successive games. And the victories didn't come by an ability of the Cubs to play better baseball than the Buffs. The games were won simply because the Cubs were accustomed to the night air, so to speak. Houston, for instance, made six errors in last Wednesday night's game, and the Cubs made not a one. Probably all of the Buffs' errors were caused by their inability to get the hang of the night game.

We look forward with apprehension to the time the Spudders will be called upon to perform at night.

Jim Chapin, former mound ace of the San Antonio Indians, made his debut with the New York Giants Wednesday as a relief hurler. He handled the job with great credit to himself, considering he is just breaking the crust off his career in the majors. He served for six and one-third innings, and in that time gave the league-leading Chicago Cubs only five hits. He walked only one man and struck out four. In addition he got a hit out of two times at bat.

Polo enthusiasts of the city probably will take an interest in the international series starting at San Angelo today between a picked Mexican team and a squad chosen from the two San Angelo clubs. The Mexican quartet was chosen by Gen. Joaquin Amaro, Mexican secretary of war and marines, from some of the highest ranking Mexican army officers. General Amaro himself will attend the series and Governor Moody has announced he will attend some of the games. From seven to ten matches will be played in the next few days, it was announced.

The games are to be played at the $500,000 polo plant of George A. Henshaw, Jr., millionaire West Texas oil man.

General Amaro, it was announced, will be the guest of General William Lassater, commandant of Fort Sam Houston, during the series, the war department at Washington having interested itself in the international matches as being a method of fostering good will between the United States and Mexico.

Redskins Win 10-Inning Battle With Exporters

BEAUMONT, July 3. (AP)—Beaumont and San Antonio celebrated the glorious Fourth a day early this afternoon when they crowded everything known to baseball in a wild 10-inning game which the Indians won, 9 to 8. Skipper Burns juggled his five pitchers wisely as the Redskins scored a run in the tenth to nose out the Exporters, who had tied it up in their half of the ninth. Hamilton socked two homers, his second coming in the ninth with a mate aboard that put the Tribe out in front. Holley also socked a homer. Score:

Seattle Girl Sets New Mark in 100-Meter Swim

LONG BEACH, Calif., July 3. (UP)—Helene Madison, sensational young Seattle, Wash., star, established a new world's record for the 100-meter free style dash here late today when she swam the distance in one minute, eight and two-tenths seconds.

The new mark went up when Miss Madison, 18, led competitors by 12 feet to win the event in the finals of the National A. A. U. outdoor swimming championships.

George Kojac, New York Athletic club star, won the finals of the 100-meter free-style event in 50 2-10, Al Swartz, Illinois A. C. second, J. K. Brines, Yale university, third.

UMPIRE ORDERS GEYGAN OUT

Close Decision Starts Row In Third

Special to The Record News

DALLAS, July 3.—After the Spudders had scored five runs in the second inning off Bert Grimm, the Dallas Steers came from behind today to win the last game of the series, 8 to 6.

"Specs" Meadows, pitching in a relief role, held the Spudders to five hits and one run in the last seven innings. Lester White was pounded from the mound in the fifth to make way for Florrid, who took credit for the loss.

Geygan Expelled

An argument in the third inning, over a decision by Umpire Ziggy Sears resulted in Charlie Geygan, third baseman, being expelled from the game. Larry Bettencourt took the hot corner for the remainder of the game and Garland Orr replaced him in right field.

After the first had gone scoreless, the Spudders crawled all over Grimm in the second. Burns, first up, hit the first ball pitched to him over the center field fence for a home run. Bettencourt then doubled to center. Bradbury doubled to left, Bettencourt stopping at third when he thought the left fielder would snag Bradbury's hit. Geygan beat out a hit down the the third base line, Bettencourt scoring and Bradbury taking third. White doubled to left scoring Bradbury and Geygan took third. Levey doubled to left, scoring Geygan and White, but was thrown out trying to stretch it into a triple. Hensick then relieved Grimm and walked Storti. Fitzgerald popped out to second and Kloza grounded out, third to first, to close the period.

The Steers scored only one in their half. G. Moore, first up, touched White for a double to center. Taitt walked. Michaels forced Taitt at second, Levey to Storti, and G. Moore went to third. Tobin singled to right scoring G. Moore and advancing Michaels to second. Willingham batted for Hensick and forced Tobin at second, Levey to Storti.

In the third the Steers gained more ground while the Spudders failed to tally. L. Morse was safe at first when Burns made a bad throw to White, who was covering the sack. Urban walked. Cotter hit a home run over the right field fence, scoring L. Morse and Urban ahead of himself. G. Moore strolled. J. Moore flied out to right. Then followed a close play and the argument which led the Geygan's expulsion. Taitt apparently popped out to Geygan, who threw to first to double G. Moore. But Umpire Sears ruled the ball had touched the ground before Geygan caught it. G. Moore therefore went to second on Taitt's infield out, Geygan to Burns. A great row ensued in which Carl Williams, Spudder skipper, took part. Williams himself was ordered out of the park, but was later allowed to remain. Geygan, instead of leaving, returned to the Spudder bench, and had to be expelled by Sears. Bettencourt replaced Geygan and Orr replaced Bettencourt in right field. Michaels flied out to Orr to close the inning.

Spudders Score One

The Spudders made it 6 to 4 when they scored a run in the fourth off Storti's double to right and Fitzgerald's single to left. The Steers did not tally.

The Spudders went scoreless in the fifth, but the Steers put over two runs to tie the score at 6-all. White walked Urban, first up. Cotter doubled to center, scoring Urban, and White was relieved by Florrid. Florrid fanned G. Moore. J. Moore singled to right, scoring Cotter, and went to second on the throw to the plate. Taitt flied out to left and Michaels grounded out, Storti to Burns.

And in the next inning the Steers won the game. Tobin strolled to open it. Meadows sacrificed, pitcher to first, Tobin taking second. L. Morse singled to right, and when Orr, threw to the plate, Bradbury fumbled. L. Morse continuing to second. Tobin remained on third. Urban flied out to Orr. Cotter doubled to right, scoring Tobin and L. Morse. G. Moore, grounded out, Florrid to Burns, to close the inning. The Spudders couldn't fathom Meadows' offering the rest of the game, and were held well in check.

Florrid pitched a great game in the latter innings, particularly the eighth, in which the Steers failed to score although they loaded the bases twice.

The Spudders play a double-header in Fort Worth Friday and then return to the home lot for a prolonged stay.

Babe Ruth Back On Job Despite Injury

PHILADELPHIA, July 3. (US)—They didn't know their Herman.

That seems to be the only alibi for the doctors, the trainers, the newspaper men and the players who agreed Wednesday afternoon that Babe Ruth was lost to the Yankees for a week or 10 days.

Several of them had looked on while a finger nail, hanging by a thread, had been clipped from the third finger of Babe's left hand. He had torn the nail almost off when he tried to block a home run drive by Reynolds into the right field bleachers at the stadium.

It was no fake injury on the Babe's part.

But Herman was back on the job today.

TILDEN LOSES IN DOUBLES

Europeans Meet Americans In Finals Today

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 3. (AP)—The two strongest doubles teams in Europe swept into the semi-final round of the British tennis championships today, and tomorrow they will clash with two powerful combinations of young American Davis cup players for the right to enter the finals.

Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon of France eliminated Bill Tilden and his Dutch partner, Hans Timmer, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3, 6-3, in one quarter final. In the other, Dr. J. Colin Gregory and Ian G. Collins, Britain's best doubles pair, overcame a French team of Jean Borotra and Christian Boussus, 9-7, 6-3, 6-2.

America's surviving representatives in this phase of the tournament won their quarter final matches on Tuesday.

In the semi-finals tomorrow, Cochet and Brugnon will meet the United States champions, George Lott Jr., of Chicago, and John Doeg, Santa Monica, Calif., and Gregory and Collins will oppose John Van Ryn, East Orange, N. J., and Wilmer Allison, Austin, Texas, who beat them in the final here last year.

Another feature attraction will be the women's singles final between two Americans—Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, defending champion, and Miss Elizabeth Ryan.

Mrs. Moody and Miss Ryan, partners and favorites for the doubles title, reached the final in that division of play as well as defeating Madame Henrotin and Mademoiselle Jeanne Sigart, Belgium, 6-2, 6-0 today.

In an uphill battle against a strong English team consisting of Mrs. Eileen Bennett Whittingstall and Betty Nuthall, the young American combination of 17-year-old Sarah Palfrey, Boston, and Edith Cross, San Francisco, finally prevailed, 4-6, 10-8, 6-3.

This victory carried Miss Palfrey and Miss Cross into the semi-finals where tomorrow they will encounter the Misses Feltham and Heeley of Britain for the right to meet Mrs. Moody and Miss Ryan for the title.

Cats Rally Late To Defeat Sports, 8 to 6

FORT WORTH, July 3. (AP)—Larry Cox, Panther right fielder, drove out consecutive home runs in the eighth and ninth innings for Fort Worth to defeat Shreveport, 8 to 6, in the final game of the series this afternoon. His blow in the eighth inning knotted the score. Cox's two circuit smashes pulled an apparently lost game out of the fire. Score:

Austin Netter Enters Western Semi-Finals

CHICAGO, July 3. (AP)—Bruce Barnes of Austin, Texas, seeded No. 1 in the draw, and Harris Coggeshall of Des Moines, Iowa, wedged into the semifinals of the western men's singles tennis championship today at the River Forest club. They meet in the bracket Saturday.

Barnes advanced after a three-set struggle with his fellow townsman, Karl Kamrath, holder of the eastern, western and Illinois state junior titles, 5-7, 6-3, 6-2.

Coggeshall had too much pace on his flat drives for another Austin junior ace, Joe Bill Bralley, whom he eliminated handily, 6-2, 6-3.

The other two quarter final matches will be decided tomorrow with Cliff Sutter of New Orleans, national intercollegiate champion, meeting Charles Lejeck of Chicago, and Maurice Bayon of Tulane university clashing with George Jennings of Chicago, national public parks champion.

Waco Nighthawks Upset Buffs In Sunlight Encounter, 5 to 2

HOUSTON, July 3. (AP) — Del Pratt's Waco Nighthawks proved this afternoon they also can play baseball in the day time. Behind the masterful pitching of Long Bill Harris, they hustled their way to a convincing 5 to 2 verdict over the Houston Buffs. The Houston attack was weakened by the loss of "Tony" Kaufmann, who likely will be out of the lineup for a week or ten days. While boating Wednesday afternoon on Lake Waco, Kaufmann was struck in the eye by the cranking rope of an outboard motor. Score:

Jones Leaves For Minneapolis Links

NEW YORK, July 3. (AP)—Bobby Jones today went away from the roar of Manhattan, with Father Knickerbocker's rousing welcome still ringing in his ears, headed for the comparative quiet of a golf course over which he will defend his open championship of the United States.

The world's most famous golfer entrained at 2 p. m. (E.S.T.) for Minneapolis. His plans included a stop in Chicago tomorrow and Saturday. He will not see the Interlachen course, scene of the 1930 championships, until Sunday.

Bobby was disturbed as he left New York. Although Pennsylvania railroad officials, at his insistent request, held the Broadway limited two minutes in a vain hope that Cyril J. H. Tolley, former British amateur champion, would put in an appearance. The train finally had to leave without him.

As the Pennsylvania train pulled out a dozen blocks away, Tolley was waiting at the Grand Central station, wondering why Bobby and his traveling companions failed to appear for the imminent departure of the 20th Century limited.

Tolley will rejoin Jones in Chicago tomorrow morning.

Freil, in Oklahoma City where Topeka opens a four-game series with the Indians today, said Koob would report to the Senators there Saturday.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, July 3. (AP)—Trading in cotton here today was attributed largely to evening up over the holidays, but relatively easy cables and favorable weather reports brought in some scattered selling as well as realizing, and the market was generally lower.

After selling off to 13.40, July recovered the loss, selling up to 13.50 and closing at 13.49 or 1 point net lower. Later months were relatively easy, with new October selling off to 12.98, or 13 points net lower, and closing at 13.01, and the general market closed steady at net declines of 10 to 14 points on new crop positions.

Only one more of the private end June crop reports was published, estimating a reduction in acreage at 2.7 per cent and placing the acreage under cultivation at 45,775,000 bales. This was lower than the average of previous private reports, but seemed to be without much effect on the market.

Liverpool cables reported a small market with prices lower under Bombay liquidation. All American markets will be closed from today until next Monday morning. Exports today were 16,362 bales making 6,688,403 so far this season. Port receipts 3,773; U. S. port stocks 1,638,085.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, July 3. (AP)—Cotton was quiet today, and trading was restricted largely to evening up of commitments in advance of the holidays and the government's acreage estimate next week. Cables were lower than due and some additional July notices were issued so that prices opened 2 to 6 points down and continued to ease off slowly despite occasional brief rallies until the price level was 9 to 11. Points under yesterday's close.

The market continued quiet in late trading with prices within the earlier range except July which made a new low at 12.94. New crop months improved slightly from the lows on covering. The general market closed steady at net declines of 8 to 10 points.

A private authority estimated the acreage in cultivation at 45,775,000 acres, a decrease of 2.7 per cent.

Port receipts 3,773, for week 19,684, for season 8,613,294, last season 9,443,538, exports 16,362, for week 54,116, for season 6,514,240, last season 7,732,418. Port stock 1,645,621, last year 746,365. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 47,109, last year 53,072. Spot sales at southern markets 1,800, last year holiday.

Bears Take Sluggish Market By Surprise to Send Values Down

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, July 3. (US)—Detecting lack of interest by the bull contingent, the bears today launched a pre-holiday drive against the stock market which succeeded in unsettling prices. During the first few hours of trading volume had dipped to the smallest level in four years, a rate which would have meant under a million shares for the day. The bear attack however stimulated trading sufficiently to swell the total to 1,384,000 shares or in excess of Wednesday's total. The bear drive uncovered several weak spots in such issues as Gillette, Dupont, Air Reduction and others, and the entire market declined in the afternoon. A fair-sized rally developed from the lows but the general list closed off over three points among industries, about a point in the railroad list and about two points among utilities. Announcement that the Chrysler corporation had reduced salaries 10 per cent induced considerable selling in the fear that this might inaugurate a general wave of salary cutting. Money remained firm at 2½ per cent, but some easing is expected next week with the return of holiday-drawn currency and completion of the half-yearly adjustments of the money market. Wheat and other grains were again lower.

Weakness which developed as the quietness progressed was obviously of bear character. Many usually active bulls were away for extended holiday in the belief that only the minimum fluctuations and extreme dullness would prevail. A report spread however that the bear crowd would attempt another attack on the market, commencing in the afternoon. Dupont apparently was selected the principal target for the selling and the bears succeeded in breaking the stock through its former low point for the year. The issue was persistently sold in belief its income from General Motors may be reduced and also that its own business has been reflecting the general business setback. Probably the bears also recalled that Dupont, despite its supposedly powerful sponsorship, was the least-supported of the leading stocks in the early stages of the panic last year. General Motors despite weakness in Dupont more than held its price. Chrysler closed unchanged as some support appeared on the management's announcement that every step will be taken to assure profitable operation. Other motor shares likewise held relatively firm, although a renewed drive against Auburn forced it down several points before it recovered. The depression is bringing about almost maximum efficiency in the auto trade.

Practically all of the leading stocks sold off under pressure. Steel common declining a full point after a greater loss earlier in the day, while American Can was down almost three points and Westinghouse was off the same amount. Railroad shares for the first time this week joined the decline but the losses were relatively small. The specialties suffered the worst, Case Threshing breaking 10 points at the low and Worthington five points. Vanadium, however, continued to act as if the strongest support were being extended. The stock has been selected by a powerful group as a logical leader of the speculative group of the next bull market.

Gillette declined to the lowest price since being listed on the exchange. The selling undoubtedly has been in large part professional, but the issue seemingly passed out of the investment class some time ago, so that investment holdings probably have also been liquidated since the first of the year. The patent differences and the disclosure that competitor companies' business have been increasing likewise helped the bears. Air Reduction's weakness reflects a poor showing against the same period last year when income was running at a record-breaking rate. Earnings of Air Reduction in the first half of 1930 are stated to have run above the 1929 six months, so that it may offset a less favorable showing in the last half of this year.

The principal selling by professionals of late has been directed against stocks on a relatively high ratio of share profits. This is one of the reasons why General Electric has been singled out for intensive selling. In some parts of the list lower priced stocks appear under long-pull accumulation. Yellow Truck, whose operations are said to be showing continuous expansion in earnings, seems one of the favored issues.

Further reduction of $197,000,000 in brokerage loans during the past week emphasizes that the process of liquidation continued even during the period of relatively firm prices. How great has been the actual and total liquidation of loans on stocks will not be known until the contribution of new bond financing to the total borrowings is disclosed.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 3. (AP)—Wheat pouring into market centers almost twice as fast as a year ago spelled lower prices today in big letters. The domestic winter wheat harvest, especially in the West and Southwest, was reported as making rapid progress, and export demand appeared to be temporarily at a standstill, affording no outlet for the big surplus of last year's wheat on hand, let alone the new wheat piling up. For the year just ended, North American wheat exports were announced today as almost 200,000,000 bushels less than for the 12 months previous.

Closing quotations on wheat were unsteady at the day's bottom level, 1⅜ to 2c down, oats ¼ to ⅜c off, and provisions ranging from 5c setback to 5c advance.

Corn and oats slid down with wheat, oats establishing a new low price record for the season.

Provisions steady.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, July 3. (US)—After traders regulated their positions in wheat on the opening break today, there was a marked lack of interest in the market. The long week-end holiday caused speculators to stock close to shore. The market is considered in debatable ground at the present level and Monday's action is expected to be mainly an adjustment in relation to the movement of foreign markets over the holidays.

July corn continued to act tight, despite the general disinterest in the market and the weakness of prices under favorable weather, lack of buying because of the holidays and the sympathetic price reaction with wheat.

There were renewed complaints of moisture in Germany affecting both wheat and rye crops, cables reported today.

Broomhall said that while there had been further rains in Australia more good soaking showers were needed.

BRADSTREET'S REVIEW

NEW YORK, July 3. (AP)—Bradstreet's this week will say:

Warm weather and buying for vacation needs have been the chief contributors to activity in trade, this mainly retail, whereas wholesale and jobbing trade have tended to quiet except for the usual midyear sales to close out seasonal goods. Industry has reflected quieting down either for the period of the holidays or for longer curtailments earlier planned. In the iron and steel trade the first half of July is likely to see a good deal of idle machinery, advance notice of this being given by a further definite slowing down to about 60 per cent of full operations, this comparing with about 95 per cent ruling before the holiday a year ago, when a record half-year's output was being scored. In this industry, however, there seems to be more optimism than in some other lines, this based partly on seasonal shutdowns helping to reduce stocks and partly on the fact that price changes recently have been few. Another industry in which there is promise of considerable quiet, for a while at least, is lumber, where present capacity is reckoned at from 50 to 60 per cent of normal. Bank clearings not issued.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, July 3. (AP) (U.S.D.A.)—Limited supplies of hogs at all of the larger markets influenced an active trade with values working sharply higher. Some unevenness was in evidence and prices were from 20-40 higher than Wednesday's levels. The extreme top reached $9.75 at Chicago. Offerings totaled 57,000, as compared with 75,294 last Thursday. A year ago was a holiday.

Trade in fed steers and yearlings was very irregular. Receipts were light at most of the river markets where values ruled steady to 25c higher but at Chicago demand was narrow and some sales were as much as 25-50c lower with many unsold at the close. Desirable long yearlings and best weighty steers went at $12.00 for the day's top. She stock met a fairly good outlet at steady to strong prices. Stockers and feeders continue very dull with values barely steady. Receipts totaled 11,500, against 21,436 a week ago.

Demand for fat lambs was somewhat improved and trading was fairly active at all points, with prices steady to strong. Desirable natives and best range lambs scored $11.00 at Chicago while several loads of Idaho lambs brought $10.75 along the river. Fat ewes sold readily from $2.50 to $3.50. Total offerings were estimated at 22,950, as compared with 27,852 a week ago.

OIL OPERATORS PROTEST TAX

Valley View School Rate Contested

Action on protests of Wichita Falls oil men against tax valuations on oil in the Valley View Independent school district is expected in a conference between the board of equalization and a committee representing the operators at the school house on Wednesday of next week.

The oil men are protesting the $600 a barrel valuation fixed by the board for school taxes, claiming that the rate shows an unjust discrimination in relation to the land values fixed. The first complaint was lodged before the board early this week when around two dozen Wichita county operators met with the board to protest the action.

$3,242,000 Valuations

Valuations for the district this year have been set at $3,242,000, representing revenues for the district totaling $32,420, about two-thirds of which the oil men are assessed. Land valuations in the district range from a few small tracts at $60 an acre to $45 for agricultural land and $20 for pastures.

Attorneys for the operators who met with the board this week announced that the question would be taken into the courts should efforts at agreement fail in the Wednesday meeting. Guy Rogers and Harvey Harris, representing different oil groups, were among the spokesmen for the operators. P. B. Cox represents the schools.

Two-Year Fight

The controversy first arose two years ago when the Valley View district, the largest rural school in the state, became an independent unit. The district, situated in the heart of the irrigated valley 16 miles from Wichita Falls, has a scholastic population of 569. The first valuation increase, made when the district was organized, met with protests to which the board later agreed. In 1929, efforts to raise the valuation failed when attorneys raised a legal question involving the methods of assessing and collecting the funds. To avoid the same issue this year, the district has appointed B. M. Bullard as special assessor so that the valuation can be fixed independent of the county rate.

Companies and operators represented in the group of protestants are the Shappell Oil company, Riner & Bailey, Riner & Omohundro, Carl B. Bailey, Gulf Production company, Albert Crenshaw, Martha B. Jones, L. C. Danny, Nora Michil, Whitehill Oil corporation, Seaboard Oil and Gas company, Magnolia Petroleum company, William P. Oldom, B. M. Beaver, Humble Oil and Refining company, Humble Pipe Line company, Arkansas Fuel Oil company, United Producers company, Petroleum Producers company, Bass & Dillard, Bonner company, Holbrook & Woods, Producers Drilling company, Coppock & Coleman, Texas company, Rathke Oil company, Prairie Oil and Gas company, Comac Drilling company, Grayce Oil company, Panhandle Refining company, J. J. Perkins, Atlantic Oil Producing company, Continental Oil company, King Royalty company, L. P. Hammond, Valley View Irrigated farms, and Dr. C. M. Wallace.

Guards Find Prisoner Sewed Up in Mattress

OSSINING, N. Y., July 3. (UP)—A novel method of attempting escape from Sing Sing prison was uncovered today when guards found Jack Levy within a mattress made in the prison factory.

Levy, small and middle-aged robber, almost got away with it. He would now be on his way to freedom but for the curiosity of Victory Brown, keeper-chauffeur, who thought a pile of mattresses on his truck looked suspiciously lop-sided although it had been twice inspected by other guards.

Levy was sewed into the mattress from the outside. His accomplice has not been found.

Man Needs One More Gland Says Scientist

BERLIN, July 3. (UP)—Addition of another gland to man would make him a super-man, according to Dr. Serge Voronoff, the famous surgeon and rejuvenation expert, in an interview carried by the Achtuhr Abendblatt from Vienna.

Voronoff is quoted as saying that in Japan "tests made on tiny male animals show that the implanting of a third gland makes a more powerful and healthy animal." The scientist concludes:

"Such an operation on a man would increase his brain power and in the third generation make a race of giants."

Court Orders Operation Over Mother's Protest

NEW YORK, July 3. (UP)—The story of a mother who was willing to let her son die rather than have him undergo an operation because "the Lord gave him to me and the Lord can take him away" was told today by Justice Peter B. Hanon of children's court, Brooklyn.

The judge refused to reveal the woman's name, but said the boy's life probably was saved by the operation which the court ordered performed.

Abuse of Americans In China Reported

WASHINGTON, July 3. (AP)—After receiving a report that American missionaries had been driven through the streets of Suiping, Honan, China with sticks, the state department announced today the American legation at Peking had been instructed to make "urgent protests."

A report from Frank P. Lockhart, consul general at Hankow, described how Rev. Thomas I. Lee, of Minneapolis, Minn., and Deaconess Thonea Sandland of Grygla, Minn., were paraded through the streets of Suiping and roughly handled by a local political organization.

Earlier, the department said, Lockhart had received a telegram dated June 24, from an American missionary at Sinyangchow reporting that on the morning of June 23 the missionaries had suffered indignities at Suiping.

WAURIKA, Okla., July 3. "Uncle" Joe Wood, 69, prominent Jefferson county pioneer farmer, was fatally wounded by a bullet from a .22 caliber Winchester rifle in the bedroom of his home three miles northwest of Waurika about 1:30 Thursday afternoon.

The wounded man was found lying across the bed, the rifle by his side, when Mrs. Wood rushed into the room at the sound of a shot. The bullet, which had passed completely through the head, was found in the wall above the bed. Mr. Wood died on the way to the hospital.

"Uncle" Joe Wood has been a leader among the business men and farmers of Jefferson county for the past 20 years. Recently he has been in bad health and had suffered an attack of illness Thursday morning, Mrs. Wood said.

He is survived by Mrs. Wood, his wife and two daughters, Mrs. E. N. Ellis and Mrs. Thornton Wright of Waurika. No funeral arrangements have yet been made.

Congress Closes Bitter Session

at 10:35 p. m. There was the usual outburst of cheering, the handshaking among members, the noise and confusion in the house.

Senators Tired

The senate maintained its usual dignity and the end came silently. For one thing the senate was dog tired.

The final day was packed with action.

During the day and night the senate rocked with debate on the World war veterans pension bill. At 9:15 the conference report on the bill was finally adopted. The vote was 48 to 14.

That paved the way for the final windup.

The final report on the second deficiency appropriation bill was next adopted by the senate.

With speed the house, which had been in recess since late afternoon, was convened and the deficiency report adopted.

That wound up the house business. It adopted a resolution notifying the president it had no further business and was ready to adjourn, then recessed waiting for the final adjournment agreement.

Norris Causes Delay

Senator Norris, Republican of Nebraska, delayed the final getaway, however.

After the veterans bill had passed, and the second deficiency bill had been adopted, Norris took the floor and began a speech on farms relief and Muscle Shoals.

Meanwhile President Hoover waited.

The District of Columbia appropriation bill of $9,500,000 was the remaining legislation. But in the end that too was brought to a vote and the conference report was adopted. The total bill is $44,000,000 but the $9,500,000 item was the disputed point.

Just before adjourning the senate passed a resolution directing the tariff commission to investigate the costs and rates for shoes, hides and leather, maple sugar, maple syrup, spruce and pine and a number of other articles.

New York Organizes Against Begging

NEW YORK, July 3. (UP)—Stung by the knowledge that it has been contributing more than $10,000,000 a year to the alms chest of organized begging, New York City moved today to combat one of its greatest evils—that of preying upon human sympathy.

William Hodson, executive director of the welfare council of New York, announced that a special committee had been appointed to investigate the practices of approximately 2,000 active beggars and recommend measures to eliminate them.

"Begging and panhandling is distinctly on the increase," Hodson said in announcing plans for the campaign. "There is no question about the necessity for action."

Playground Band Plays For Odell Celebration

Paul Seeds and his playground band will be among the feature attractions at the three-day rodeo and jubilee which opens with a Fourth of July celebration in Odell Friday. The band will leave early Friday morning to be away through Sunday.

PAPERS SERVED ON DEMOCRATS

County Committee Cited In Mandamus Action

The first definite step in bringing to an actual contest the legal battle between the Wichita County Democratic executive committee and the group ousted from places on the ballot, composed of J. R. Ogle and 45 others, was taken Thursday when citations to appear before the court of civil appeals at Fort Worth July 10 to show cause why the names of the barred group should not be printed on the primary ballot were served by mail upon Judge Edgar Scurry, chairman of the county committee, and the majority of the 45 precinct chairmen.

The hearing was called on an application filed in behalf of Mr. Ogle and others for a mandamus injunction to compel the executive committee to have the refused names printed on the ballot. The application was taken before the appeals court by George Smoot, Wichita Falls attorney, who with W. M. Taylor, Dallas attorney, will represent the group before the court at Fort Worth. No attorney had been announced Thursday night to represent the committee in defense of its action in denying the applications of the group to have their names placed on the ballot as candidates for county chairman and precinct chairmen. The hearing, originally set for Saturday, was postponed until Thursday, July 10, because of failure to secure service of citations in time for an earlier hearing.

The delay in printing the ballots brought about by the court action, it was pointed out Thursday, probably will cause a reduction in the number of absentee votes cast in the primary, since applications for absentee ballots must be made not more than 20 days nor less than 10 days before the election. In the event the hearing results in unusual delay in printing the ballots, there will not be sufficient time before the election in which to mail the ballots out of town and receive them back in time to be counted in the results, Miss Elizabeth Hall, county clerk, explained.

Feather Bed Escape Fails

Prisoner Tries Getaway In Mattress

OSSINING, N. Y., July 3. (AP)—Jack Levey, of Brooklyn who entered Sing Sing in 1929, thought he had things all sewed up today for a getaway from the prison.

His pals in the mattress factory, where he worked, bound him into a mattress, with feathers around his head so he could breathe, a razor in one hand so he could cut himself out when he got outside the walls, and a hammer in the other hand with which to deal with any too-inquisitive guard.

The mattress was packed in its place in a bundle of six. The bundle, with several others, was loaded on a truck. A guard at the loading platform looked it over and passed it. Another guard at the door to the old prison wall prodded the mattresses and approved the load. The door was opened and out went Levy.

But Victor Brown, keeper and truck driver, knows a well-made mattress when he sees one. He looked back at his cargo and saw that one mattress didn't seem to settle like the rest in that bundle. He stopped in front of the warden's home to say it looked to him like an inferior piece of work.

The principal keeper agreed. He had the mattress taken out of the bundle. It It seemed inordinately heavy. He ripped it open. There was Levy, all fuss and feathers.

Levy was doing 25 years for robbery and would have been eligible for parole in 1950. But not now. He gets an additional sentence for trying to escape, and will get another for having that hammer. All in all it'll come to about two years more.

Police Seek Owner Of Seized Chickens

Police Chief Frank Burns is seeking the owner of more than 50 hens and fryers, seized by city officers early Thursday morning.

The chickens were confiscated when officers arrested a man in a small coupe, apparently about to transport the load of chickens out of town. The man is being held in the city jail, and Chief Burns advised any farmer in this area who has recently lost chickens to get in touch with the department. The majority of the birds are Rhode Island reds, although there are a number of other breeds represented in the collection.

PRAIRIE CUTS OIL PURCHASES

Refinery Slow-Up Brings Check in Takings

Special to The Record News

TULSA, Okla., July 3.—Action of refiners of the nation in cutting crude oil runs to refinery stills from 15 to 20 per cent is to cause purchasers of oils to cut their takings that much a day, it is learned.

The Prairie Oil and Gas company is the first of the big purchasing companies to take steps to meet the refinery slow-up by cutting its crude oil purchases.

In the absence of an official statement from the Prairie it is learned that crude oil shipments to northern and eastern refineries as of July 1 were cut as much as 50,000 barrels a day. Producers are receiving word that the Prairie is now working out a plan of probating the cut-back of purchases, so that the new condition that faces it will be distributed equally and fairly among producers of Oklahoma, Kansas and Texas.

Whether other purchasers will take similar action is yet to be determined. The Prairie's action will force a readjustment of the proration plans for Oklahoma, and instead of doing 650,000 a day it may be cut to 600,000 a day or lower.

Oklahoman Would Aid Enforcement Commission

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 3. (UP)—John B. Nicholas, millionaire oil man of Chickasha, today cast his lot with those who favor continuation of the investigations of President Hoover's law enforcement commission.

Nicholas today notified Secretary of War Hurley he would contribute $1,000 to continuation of the commission's work if congress carries out an indicated curtailment of appropriation for the group.

President Hoover recently announced he would seek private subscription for the crime commission if necessary.

Winds Hurt Harmon County Cotton Crop

Special to The Record News

HOLLIS, Okla., July 3.—The recent high winds of the past 20 days have caused a loss of from one-third to one-half of the cotton crops in the sandy portion of Harmon county. Crops on the mixed or tight land are in excellent condition and have suffered no noticeable effects. Conditions in general are much better than at the same period of last year, there being much more moisture in all portions of the county.

New Outboard Motor Boat Mark Claimed

CLEARWATER, Fla., July 3. (AP)—A world's record for outboard motor boats was claimed today by B. E. Lamb, Jacksonville.

Driving the Wee Wing and using a class C motor Lamb made an average speed of 47.23 miles per hour in six heats of one mile each over a straight-away course. The previous record of 46.51 miles an hour is said to be held by H. Furgeson of California.

CLERK GIVES COURT DOCKETS

Important Criminal And Civil Cases Pend

Civil and divorce dockets for the opening Monday of the July terms of the 30th and 89th district courts were released Thursday by Mrs. A. B. Eichelberger, district clerk. On the civil docket, 13 cases are scheduled for call in the 30th district court and 58 cases in the 89th court. The divorce docket listings indicate five cases for call in the 30th and 31 in the 89th district court.

Grand Jury Meets

The grand jury for the July term of the 30th court, will be convened Monday morning by Judge Allan D. Montgomery. Among the criminal cases scheduled to be presented to the grand jury by the district attorney's department is the bribery charge against former Constable J. P. Williams of Iowa Park and the charges against Mrs. Georgia Lynch in connection with Williams' alleged acceptance of bribes for "protection" of beer sellers. The murder charge filed a few days ago against Jess Ellison, negro, in connection with the fatal stabbing of Cecil Sweeney, another negro, on Tenth street will also be presented.

Several damage suits involving large sums of money are included on the dockets for the two courts. One of the largest suits is that of T. R. Glass against the Louisiana Ice and Utilities, Inc., operator of the Peoples Ice company here, on a claim of $58,200 damages growing out of Glass' claim that he was wrongly accused and tried for embezzlement of funds while in the company's employ here.

Another large suit is that of Elsie Spears against the L. G. Bradstreet company on a claim to damages of $50,817.60 growing out of the death of her husband, Mike Spears, in a highway crash on the Archer City road several weeks ago, when the car in which Mr. Spears was riding and another driven by A. G. Holmes, employe of the company, collided.

The $49,500 damage suit against the Wichita Falls Traction company on the claim of Max C. Arlia that he suffered permanent injuries when a water sled at the Lakeside swimming pool jumped the track and threw him into the water is also scheduled for call. In an answer filed in behalf of the traction company, it is alleged the company was not operating the swimming pool at the time of the accident but had turned its operation over to J. W. Duncan, who still owns and operates the concession.

Many Damage Suits

Other suits scheduled for call include that of Jewel Hampton Goff against the traction company on a claim to $10,000 damages growing out of injuries and illness she alleges resulted from a bus accident here in February, 1929. An operation necessitated as a result of the accident, her petition states, was "the most dangerous surgical operation known to medical science." The docket also includes the suit of E. L. Terry on a $30,000 claim against the Wichita Valley Railway company for injuries he claims to have sustained while working on a section crew, and that of the Victory Motor company against the Southwestern Bell Telephone company on a claim to $3,000 actual and $4,000 exemplary damages for alleged failure to include the company's name and telephone number in the regular directory listings and for alleged errors in the address and number in the classified business listings.

STRAND: Gary Cooper in "The Texan," with Fay Wray. Short subjects and sound news.

MAJESTIC: "With Byrd at the South Pole," with Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd and some penguins. Independence day novelty. George LeMaire comedy, screen song and sound news.

STATE: Victor McLaglen and Fifi D'Orsay in "On the Level." Short subjects and sound news.

While hundreds roll along on the hot pavement toward the double-header at Fort Worth or in other directions of exit, there will be plenty who will prefer to shoot their fireworks in their own back yard and have fun in their own amusement centers. In anticipation, theater managers were arranging Thursday for the usual large holiday crowds.

◇ ◇ ◇

A midnight matinee, giving a special pre-view of "The Texan" (Gary Cooper) at the Strand, ushered in the Fourth as far as the movies are concerned, and another midnight show, the regular Friday encore matinee at the Majestic, will usher it out. George Bancroft is this week's hero who stages a come-back with "Thunderbolt" as the extra-show-no-charge event. Those who see Richard E. Byrd in the second show Friday night may stay to see George and hear his he-man-laugh without buying another ticket.

◇ ◇ ◇

One of the best reasons why audiences pack the theater and cheer, laugh and cry unashamedly at "With Byrd at the South Pole" is the fact that it is undeniably the simple picture of actual life. Those who have almost changed their cheers to sneers on the frequent appearance of the American flag in less worthy pictures, when it is used merely as a stunt, find real emotion in their throats and on their cheeks as a tiny replica of Old Glory finds its way to the South Pole from the good plane Floyd Bennett.

◇ ◇ ◇

As John Rosenfield explained in The Dallas News, "those blasts of cold wind were not made by Hollywood wind machines this time." It is just that element of sincerity that gives Byrd's picture its real thrill. The public is not being fooled for once, and it rather enjoys the sensation of knowing it.

◇ ◇ ◇

Victor, who started this "oh yeah" epidemic, and Fifi, the French panic, couldn't pick a better time to bring their repartee back to Wichita Falls. When Gary Cooper's drawl or Dick Byrd's Virginia accent get a little old, a lot of difference will be found in the way McLaglen and D'Orsay speak the English language.

Child Dies From Blow Struck by Companion

M'ALESTER, Okla., July 3. (AP)—Bruce Sterling, 12-year-old newsboy, died here late last night of a heart attack, occasioned by a blow struck by John Stevens, 11, in a friendly boxing bout on the street. No blame was attached to young Stevens, son of Cully Stevens, a preacher, who was holding services on the street less than a block from the scene of the bout.

Possibility of Trust Among Bakers to Be Aired

WASHINGTON, July 3. (AP)—The succulent pie, America's favorite 18th hole to the dinner course, has inspired a demand for an investigation.

Representative Chalmers, Republican, Ohio, said he intended to ask the justice department to investigate the "pie makers of America," to see if the organization had violated anti-trust laws.

The organization, he said, maintained offices in Detroit, New York and other large cities. He inserted in the congressional record a petition from the Northwestern Ohio Bakers association, charging the "pie makers of America" have a policy of giving "away pies for an indefinite period, and naturally the dealers will take pies for nothing rather than pay. They call it sam pling."

The practice, the petition said, was cutting into the business of independent bakers throughout the country.

Texas Cotton Crop Grows Satisfactorily

DALLAS, July 3. (UP)—The Texas cotton crop still is spotted but growth during the three weeks of hot weather has been relatively satisfactory," the Dallas Morning News will say Friday in its weekly crop report.

"The third weke of hot weather finds the Texas cotton crop as a whole quite spotted as to condition. While growth has been relatively satisfactory and the plant is gradually catching up, it is still small in the upper half of the state, where soils are drying out rapidly except where scattered rains of the past few days have fallen. All but South Texas is in need of a general rain. Chopping is practically finished and fields are well worked and clean," the News will say.

How I coaxed him to eat

"ONCE I was worried. Mealtime was getting on my nerves. I prepared many appetizing dishes, but John simply would not eat—just 'minced' at his food. Perhaps sometimes a little grouchy. I began to fear he was 'slipping.' What was I to do? Love, home, happiness, business success—all depended upon an improvement in his condition. The blood tonic idea suggested itself to me. My Druggist recommended S.S.S. He told me that S.S.S. was a great blood tonic; that it had been successful for over 100 years; that it was made from strictly fresh vegetable drugs and was beneficial to the most delicate system. Also that it would build up the blood and improve the processes by which the body is nourished. I brought home a large size bottle. John agreed to try it. Well, in just a few days I could see the difference. His improvement has been so rapid he is going to take several more bottles, and not only that, but he is now telling his friends to take S.S.S."

It is a known fact that when a man's system gets "run-down," he hasn't the resistance to ward off diseases. Loss of appetite is only a symptom. General weakness pervades the entire body. There is no desire to work or play. It is dangerous to let the red-blood-count remain below normal.

It is natural to expect, when you get your blood cells up to normal, that sluggish, let-down feeling, loss of appetite, and those skin troubles to disappear. You should get hungry again, sleep soundly, and firm flesh take the place of that which was once flabby. You should feel strong and your nerves become steady.

You owe it to yourself and friends to try S.S.S. Its tonic effects will surprise you.

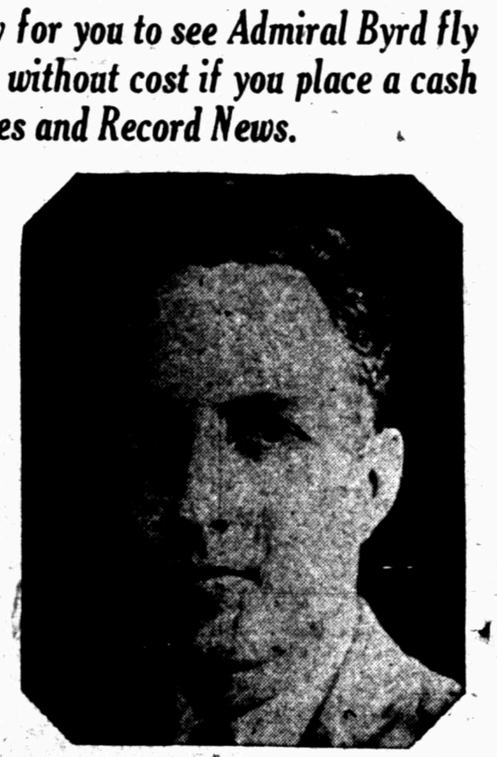

S.S.S.

S.S.S. is daily helping people to regain their strength. Thousands of users have testified to its benefits in unsolicited letters of gratitude. It promotes a keen appetite, gives vitality to the body, clears the skin and wards off disease. All Drug Stores sell S.S.S. in two sizes. Ask for the larger size. It is more economical. ©S.S.S.
