Loraine Approves School Bond Issue

The much publicized and much debated Loraine School Bond Issue has passed by an overwhelming majority.

The Loraine voters went to the polls Tuesday and put their stamp of approval on the bond issue and with it a $525,000 school renovation program by a vote of 251 to 95 in contrast to a similar bond issue in 1977 which was defeated.

There were 346 votes cast in the election including 12 absentee votes. The election was held at the Lions Club Building with Ted Lefevre serving as election judge and Opal Jo Blair as alternate judge.

What this means to Loraine citizens as far as their taxes are concerned is that the present rate of $1.58 per $100 evaluation will be increased to $2.10 per $100 evaluation.

The bonds will have a 15 year retirement schedule.

Loraine citizens 65 years old and over who have applied for the homestead exemption cannot have their taxes raised above the amount they paid in 1979 unless the value of their property is increased.

What this means as far as the school is concerned is that the way is now clear to begin an extensive remodeling program on the school building which is 30 years old.

The $525,000 figure will be spent in the following ways on the renovation project. The roof of the school will be replaced at a cost of $70,000.

The lighting throughout the school will be replaced and the ceiling will be lowered at a cost of $75,000.

A new electrical system will be installed and extra outlets will be put in each classroom at See BOND Page 10

Three Win Bonus Bucks In Drawing

Three fortunate Colorado City citizens became the first winners of the Chamber of Commerce Bonus Bucks drawing Saturday.

Fannie Cooper was the winner of the $100 prize while Betty Robinette and Charlene Mayes had the winning tickets for the $50 and $25 prizes respectively.

If you didn't win a prize last week you still have two more chances. There will be drawings for the next two Saturdays at 5 p.m. at Friendly Park at the corner of Walnut and Second Streets.

To win you must register at any of the 55 local businesses participating in the program. You may register in as many places of business and as many times as you wish.

The tickets are only good for one week and you must register again each week to be eligible for that Saturday's drawing.

The bonus bucks are redeemable for merchandise at any of the places of business.

Aston Says Bobcat Is Fair Game

"Contrary to rumor, bobcats are legal to trap and hunt in this county," Game Warden Ronnie Aston said.

In a recent article published by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, it was reported that the bobcat pelt tagging program would continue despite a federal court order temporarily banning the export of bobcat pelts from the United States.

"The Defenders of Wildlife, Inc. (DOW) has filed suit in the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia against the Endangered Species Scientific Authority (ESSA), the federal agency which is See GAME Page 10

Council Issues A New Peddlers Ordinance

It was apparent from reactions of City Councilmen during Tuesday evening's meeting that at least one constructive thing has evolved from the Auxiliary Airstrip title dispute between the City and Dell Barber: That being, a majority of opinion that it is the responsibility of each councilman to consider, plan and discuss a matter which concerns the well being of the community, prior to making a commitment.

"The city has gotten into trouble by acting too quickly and not taking enough time to plan matters," Councilman Elmer Martin said during a heated discussion in relation to appointment of a Zoning Committee for the airstrip.

The discussion began when City Attorney Pete McKinney suggested to the council that they appoint a Zoning Committee in order to meet Federal Aviation Administration requirements.

He indicated the duties of the committee should be to set up regulations and controls for the property. This would include all construction, including location of possible oil wells, McKinney noted.

McKinney indicated there would be a public notice posted naming the individuals on the committee and a public hearing would be held after 15 days.

Councilman Loyd Ledbetter asked McKinney if the committee could be delegated further duties.

McKinney replied that the decision was up to the council but for the purpose of satisfying FAA requests the zoning committee was necessary.

Councilman Macca Findley then noted that the agenda called for "future plans for the airport" and he had a comment to make.

He noted that he had not been present for the final decision to accept FAA's Plan 2 (minimum amount of land required by FAA regulations) and he was sorry that he had missed the meeting. However, he had been contacted by Dell Barber since that time and Barber had See CITY Page 6

Vest Announces Retirement Intent

County Commissioner Marcus Vest, Precinct One, announced Thursday that he will not be a candidate for re-election to that office.

"I am most grateful to the people who have placed their trust in me over the years. I have always tried to perform my duties in a manner consistent with the best interest of those who See VEST Page 10

TWO RETIRING CITY employees were honored during Monday evening's city banquet. Mildred Campbell, curator for the museum (not pictured) will retire after 10 years. Twenty Years Of Growth Recalled By Commissioner County Commissioner W.M. Vest recently announced his intention not to be a candidate for re-election to that office in 1980.

With Vest goes 20 years of experience and learning.

"This job has been one of continual challenge and up until recently, when my health took a turn for the worse, I have always enjoyed a challenge," Vest commented.

In the almost 20 years in which Vest has served as commissioner, Mitchell County has seen some big changes.

"When I took over this job the county budget was about $400,000. We were in the red. This year the budget was about $1,153,000 and we are in the black," Vest said.

"The greatest challenge of all has been to keep the county financially sound and in the black. It's a big job, but we have been very lucky in that property valuations have managed to keep up with inflation and, except for the rate increase from 22 cents to 25 cents, we have not had to raise taxes," he noted.

"It's a funny thing, but I almost didn't run for this office. I did a lot of thinking about it. It took a long time to finally decide to place my name on the ballot.

"For one thing, Precinct One, at that time, had more population and voters than any other precinct. It included a strip down the center of the county and all of Colorado City. I just wasn't sure I could win," he recalled.

"It is not an easy thing to go knocking on doors, begging people to give you a job and that's what is necessary to win a political campaign.

"But, I thought I could do a good job. I could see things that I felt needed to be accomplished and in the end, I decided to try, win or lose," Vest said.

Obviously, Vest won. It wasn't by a landslide margin but he did win and his first project was to have the county commissioner precincts redistricted.

"At that time, about 70 percent of the voters were in Precinct One. The same precinct had far more roads than the other divisions and at that time each precinct operated independently of the other. Precinct One got about 32 cents per $1 on road and bridge money," Vest recalled.

"I felt the money, road mileage and voting strength needed to be equalized," he noted.

"There are five members of the court. Each has a different idea on every issue. It is necessary to gain the confidence and trust of these people so you can work together for the best interest of the community," Vest stated.

The first major project carried out by the Commissioner's Court after Vest was elected was to redistrict the Commissioners' precinct within the county.

After redistricting, the county began to see many improvements. In several phases, the County Courthouse was remodeled. This was accomplished one step at a time, according to Vest, in order to expend only the amount of tax dollars available and not go into debt.

The Mitchell County Library was approved and constructed as the next major project after Vest took office. The Extension Service Annex to the Courthouse and See YEARS Page 10

Law Officers Team-Up With Cowboys For Kids

"Cowboys, Cops and Kids, Inc." is the title of a new Kiwanis Club project designed to introduce children to local law enforcement personnel in a friendly fashion.

President of the Colorado City Kiwanis Club Johnny Shackelford presented Sheriff Bill McGuire and Police Chief Fred McWhorter with football trading cards depicting members of the Dallas Cowboy team for distribution to local children Tuesday.

"This will be a combined effort of the Cowboy Weekly Magazine, Kiwanis International and local participating law enforcement agencies," Shackelford announced.

"The objective or purpose of this program is to reach the youthful citizens of Mitchell County during their formative years. Using an item such as a football trading card will create a legitimate reason for youthful citizens to have positive contact with a uniformed officer," he noted.

"One side of the trading card is a high quality color picture of a Dallas Cowboy football player or coach. On the other side is an NFL football rule in italics and a crime prevention tip or rule of safety which relates to the NFL rule in bold block print," Shackelford stated.

"Distribution of the cards will be made only by uniformed officers and will be handed out only one card per contact."

"They will be made available only by personal request from the youth. The more contacts the uniformed officer is able to make handing out one card at a time, with the same youngster, the better is his or her chance to build a genuine relationship of friendship and trust," he stated.

"Children should be encouraged to exchange and trade the cards with other children. The first group of cards will consist of 13 team members and head coach Tom Landry," Shackelford noted.

Three "R"'s Discussed At School Board Meet

The Colorado School Board, meeting in executive session at their monthly meeting Monday night, voted to hold an eighth grade student out of school until their next meeting on Jan. 14.

Superintendent Charlie Useton said that the youngster would be held out of school and during that time would be under a doctor's care. He added that the youngster would be taking tests through the Plan A Program until the Jan. 14 meeting, at which time the board will decide what further action to take.

They must determine whether or not the problems the student has been having are caused by his physical condition or whether it is strictly a disciplinary problem.

Useton declined to make any comment as to what the youngster did to bring the matter to the board's attention. The Board voted to increase the student fee for Drivers' Education from $45 to $55.

The fee increase was the second time within a year that it had been hiked. It was passed in an effort to offset the rise in expenses of the course costs caused by the soaring price of gasoline.

The classroom phase of this year's Drivers' Education Program will begin on Jan. 7, 1980. The times of the classes will be from 7:15 a.m. to 8:15 a.m. from Jan. 7 to Feb. 22 and from 4 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. on the same dates.

Another Drivers' Education session will be from 7:15 a.m. to 8:15 a.m. beginning on Feb. 26 and running through April 21.

For a student to participate in the program they must be 15-years-old by Jan. 7 or by Feb. 26.

Classroom instructors for the course will be Pat Parker and Bobby Lemons. In-car instructors will be Parker, Lemons and Doyle Lowrance.

In other matters, the school board approved the renewal of a yearly contract with Pritchard & Abbott, valuation consultants of Odessa, concerning their appraisal service.

Tax-assessor collector J.S. Craddock Jr. had received a letter from Pritchard & Abbott in which they offered to appraise any real estate designated by the school within the district for a fee of $9 per unit. This was an increase of $1 per unit over their fee for the past two years.

Craddock said that this will likely be the last year the school will need this service as the Mitchell County Tax Appraisal District will take care of this when it goes into operation in 1980.

The school board granted a leave of absence for Mrs. Vicki Rinehart effective Jan. 3, 1980 until the beginning of the 1980-81 school year. She is employed as a Plan A teacher at Kelley Elementary School.

Along with this the board approved the appointment of Mrs. Florence Pratt to fill the vacancy left by Mrs. Rinehart. Mrs. Pratt is a former employee of the Colorado Schools who retired from the teaching profession a couple of years ago.

The board members also approved the updating of several school policies, the most important of which were the following:

-Reimbursement for travel expenses for school employees was upped from 18 cents per mile to 20 cents per mile. The amount that See PLAN Page 10

Colorado Middle School Chatter

The Colorado Middle School Council has been having a busy school year. During the fall, we had an event called "Inside-out Day" and we held a raffle to throw pies at teachers. This proved to be so popular that we earned $116. for our first dance.

On Dec. 6, the student representatives met and decided to have the dance on Jan. 18th. A decision was also made to sponsor the door decoration contest again this year. Our theme is "Combination" which means "anything goes."

The council is also collecting canned goods for the needy. This is a good cause which the students can support and participate in the true meaning of Christmas.

On behalf of the Student Council, I would like to wish a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to all of you at Colorado Middle School. I hope Santa Claus comes to see you, too!

Pam Ehret

Land formations, layers of the earth and atmosphere, rocks and minerals have been the study of Mrs. Welch's sixth grade science classes. Under land formations, we studied the forming of volcanic, dome, block and folded mountains. We also studied different layers of the earth and their names, but the different layers of the atmosphere were far more interesting.

The study of rocks was also informative. We studied their structure, classification in groups and how to identify the rock. Rock collections were made and the best were kept to be judged by Mrs. Welch's advanced class on Nov. 27th. These people are to be congratulated for doing a good job. The first place winners were: Ashley Weaver, Missy Neff, Cindi Calloway, Julie McPhaul and Shannon Perkin. The second place winners were: Stu Howell, Heidi Ehret, Rhonda Barber, Lisa Garner and Sherry Fite. Third place winners were: Kelli Martin, Roger Iglerhart, Staci Wood, Melanie Rees and Denise Jackson.

Other finalists were: Cody Scott, Adam Alvarez, Chipper Hubbard, Audra Carpenter, Yolanda Lee and Dion Alvarez. Appreciation goes to Robyn Turner, Pam Ehret, Marci Marino, Raymond Bassinger, Manuel Molina and Yardy Powell for judging the collections.

Miss Gail Young is a new teacher in the sixth grade hall. She teaches all sorts of math from addition to division. We have fun with Miss Young as our teacher. She graduated from Seminole High School and East Texas State University. After college, she came to Colorado City to teach her first year at C.M.S.

We are lucky to have such a good teacher, and we would like to wish Miss Young a happy first year at C.M.S.

Heidi Ehret

If you could have three wishes granted to you this year, what would they be? This question was put to several students at C.M.S. recently. After careful thought and study on the question, they put forth these answers:

Shelia Benson: Honda, $1,000., to live in the White House.

Doug Chitsey: $1,000., a Trans Am, 100 more wishes.

Sherry Fite: That everyone in the world would be Christians, that I was already in high school, a brown Z-28.

Dennis Alvarez: $1,000., a lot of candy, no more school.

Melinda Selvera: Hamster Farm, a certain boy to like me, to keep up my grades.

Beth Smith: to keep up my good grades, $1,000., a mansion.

Jody Smith: Britt, a horse trailer, a good barrel horse.

Sally Rodriguez: a lot of money, good grades, a mansion.

Teresa Garcia: a lot of money, a car, no more school.

Julie McPhaul: $1,000., a new car, no more school.

Cindi Callaway: $1,000., no more school, 3 wishes.

Melanie Rees: a car, money, to make straight A's.

Carol Creswell: a car, no more school, 100 more wishes.

Heidi Ehret: a limousine, a tall, dark and handsome somebody, a palace.

Beth Smith
Barbara Heredia

We also asked some of the students and teachers what they enjoy about Christmas and here are their answers:

Mrs. Welch-Christmas is a time to enjoy family and friends. It is also a time to celebrate new life and beginnings.

Sherri Morris-I like getting to pass out gifts.

Mrs. Rees-Everything.

Doug Chitsey-Christmas Holidays (no school).

Mrs. Horton-Christmas Carols.

Mrs. Bodine-Getting the whole family together is special for me.

Angie Bentley-I like giving and getting gifts.

Diane Gregory-When it is snows.

Karen Joiner-Passing out gifts is fun to me.

Melinda Selvera-Decorating the tree is what I enjoy.

In basketball, the seventh grade boys went to the Stanton Tournament Dec. 6, 7 and 8. The "B" team lost their first game to Coahoma 38-14. High point man for Colorado City was Ruben Rivera with six points. In their second game they lost by a score of 11-56 to Stanton. Jay Piland had five points to lead the Wolves' scoring attack.

The "A" team won their first game by defeating Stanton "A" 17-16. Don Randle had six, Doug Chitsey had 4, Joey Ritchey had two and Armanda Rivera added four points. Billy Jackson made the team's only free throw.

The second game for the "A" team ended in a 16-16 tie with Coahoma "A". At the end of the three minute overtime Colorado City had taken a 21-16 lead and victory. Armanda Rivera had six points to lead the Wolves. Doug Chitsey added five more points. David Crow and Billy Jackson followed with four each. Don Randle had two points.

The championship game matched the Wolves against the Forsan Buffaloes. Colorado City won easily 25-7. The third victory gave Colorado City the championship.

done in the advanced class while some have not. The sponsors feel that being in an advanced class should not make the students feel penalized. They want to go at this the fairest way that they can.

Here is an explanation of how the new system will work. No teachers will make allowances in the future for the advanced classes in their grade distribution. The exact grade will be recorded with no curve. The Middle School Honor Society will compute grades the same way in which the high school does by using a point system.

Regular Class Points

Advanced Class Points
A+ 12 pts.

B+ 9
B 8

An A- in regular class is worth seven points. So, we will consider points rather than grades. A student must have all sevens to enter the Honor Society. He may receive no more than two trimester ranges of six to four during a year. Anything below a 4 will be grounds for dismissal.

There were twelve new seventh grade students who qualified to be in the Honor Society. They were Diane Jones, Beth Smith, Karen Joiner, Chelci Weatherly, Sherri Morris, Denise Gregory, Barbara Heredia, Melinda Selvera, Kerry Herm, Ricky Womack, Doug Chitsey and Perry Conner.

National Honor Society students must also maintain all satisfactoriness in conduct. If they receive two n's (needs improvement), they are put on probation. If they receive three n's, they are dismissed. One unsatisfactory conduct grade will result in dismissal.

The seventh grade girls' basketball team took on Snyder last week at Wolf Gym. The score was Snyder over C-City 24-5. Sheri Morris made the first basket for C-City. Teresa Garcia made a basket and Rebecca Jill Erwin had one point.

The girls' next game is the Stanton Tournament Thursday, Friday and Saturday. We all wish these girls good luck.

indicated he would agree to having the condemnation clause removed from the proposed contract between the city and himself.

McKinney explained his belief that even with the clause omitted, the city would still not hold fee simple title. McKinney explained that this fee simple title meant according to law that the city must be at liberty to sell the property to anyone at any time. He noted that the contract would still obligate the city to sell to the Barbers if it ever abandoned the property therefore, the title would be clouded.

"Under Plan 2 the city has agreed to abandon a portion of the airstrip. Are we liable for restoration on that part of the property?" Findley asked.

"Any suit will have to be filed in State Court. They will decide what land has been abandoned. I don't think he has a very good case," McKinney said.

"Since we have accepted Plan 2, aren't we admitting we have abandoned a portion of the airstrip?" Findley asked.

"Yes, he can win his case on that portion that we have abandoned but nothing is finalized until we get the approval of FAA. This is still a proposal," McKinney said.

"Have we contacted the FAA with our proposal?" Councilman Jesse Munoz asked.

"No, we need a survey to submit with the proposal," McKinney said.

"Can we submit without the survey just to see if it is acceptable and if it is, go to the expense of having the survey made?" Ledbetter asked.

"Yes," McKinney noted.

City Secretary Brenda Tarter asked how soon the case would be tried in the event Barber filed suit? She noted that she was concerned about the city's financial position.

McKinney noted he could not give any real indication. However, he said he had never seen a civil suit come to trial in under a year's time.

"And if it comes to trial, what are attorney's fees normally?" Mrs. Tarter asked.

"Normally $50 an hour. However because I am the city attorney I would probably not charge that much," McKinney answered.

"If it goes to trial what other costs could we anticipate?" Mrs. Tarter questioned.

"An expert FAA witness would be necessary and I don't have any idea of the cost involved there. A survey cost would be necessary but would probably be divided between Barber and the city," McKinney said.

"An expert FAA witness would be necessary and I don't have any idea of the cost involved there. A survey cost would be necessary but would probably be divided between Barber and the city," McKinney said.

"At what point are we going to discontinue use of the old airport? Are we going to operate two airports at the same time?" Mrs. Tarter questioned Ledbetter.

"We worked out there (auxiliary airstrip) last weekend trying to install lights. We should have them installed by this Spring at the latest. As to the cost, so far we have only spent what money the pilots have paid for hangar space and when we get to the transitional point we can decide about the expense of two airports," Ledbetter said.

"I feel we should have control of the money and allowed to make the decision," City Manager Ray Mason commented.

"What is the progress of the gas tanks? Will they be ready at the same time as the lights?" Mrs. Tarter said.

"No, but the main thing is to have time for pilots to make the transition. They can still use the fuel tanks at the old airfield until we can have everything completed at the new airstrip," Ledbetter answered.

"All we have allotted to spend this year is $5,000. We will have to wait and see next year," Ledbetter said.

"The lease on the old airfield expires January 1, 1981. We have until then to decide," Ledbetter said.

"Is it wise to do a whole lot of anything before we have FAA approvals?" Munoz asked.

"They drew up Plan 2 and said they would approve it. We have title to the airport, although it is clouded. We cannot get grants or government money but we could not get any on the old airfield either. We voted to reject Barber's proposal. We took a positive action. The airstrip is important to the City and is important to the city and is important for its growth. It would be impossible to match the funds if we could get a grant," Ledbetter answered.

"We have the runway lights and with close security we can have an operational airport by Spring and phase the old one out. We should go ahead with our plans and at a later date if the city wants clear title, start condemnation," Ledbetter said.

"I don't think the majority of people want an airport like we are talking about," Findley commented.

"I have had several comments from the people who elected me and they can't see spending money we don't have for survey and lawsuits," Findley said.

"I have had no contact with any citizen that doesn't go along with Plan 2," Mayor Marion Bassham interjected.

"Everyone I have talked to approves," Ledbetter said.

"I don't go along with that," Councilman Sammy Parham interjected. "Just who do you talk to? I go to the homes of people who are trying to exist on $200 a month. The airport is not what they need."

"We came to vote on a Zoning Committee and I think that is what we should do," Mayor Bassham said.

"I didn't know anything about a Zoning Committee and am not prepared to look at some names for a half an hour and make them responsible for a big piece of real estate," Martin said. "I suggest we hold off until after the first of the year."

"We do need to consider this and contact the people before hand to see if they want to serve. I suggest we come to the next meeting with several names to be submitted for consideration and not rush into this thing," Martin added.

The council agreed to consider the matter and contact persons to serve on the Zoning Committee.

A new city ordinance restricting peddlers was approved. The ordinance gives city authorities tight control over peddlers but makes exceptions to persons selling agricultural products.

McKinney indicated that a "No Peddler" sign would restrict and prohibit peddlers from soliciting if a citizen wished to post one.

The ordinance requires solicitors to work between the hours of 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. only. They are required to carry a registration card issued by local authorities. They must submit application to solicit 72 hours prior to being issued a permit. An annual fee of $30, plus $10 for each agent, is required and a $1,000 bond must be posted.

In other business, Mrs. Evelyn Rose was appointed to replace Mildred Campbell as Museum Curator. Mrs. Campbell is retiring after 10 years service to the city.

Mike Mickle, fire marshal, reported to councilmembers that the program to flush out fire hydrants was almost completed and the plugs would soon be painted. The color code to be used will include five colors. Black will indicate zero pressure. Green will indicate 1,000 gallons per minute pressure. Red indicates 300 gallons per minute pressure. Yellow will indicate 500 gallons per minute pressure. White will indicate the hydrant has some pressure and can be used if necessary.

Mickle attributed the low water pressure to the old lines and not to the hydrants.

He noted that the Texas Highway Department had given the city some shiny beads to add to the paint so the firemen can identify the plugs at night as soon as the headlights shine on them.

Hess To Highlight Banquet

Angelo State University Head Football Coach Jim Hess will be the guest speaker at the annual Colorado High School Football Banquet set for Dec. 20 in the Middle School Cafeteria.

The event will begin at 7:30 p.m. Tickets are $4 per person and may be bought from any member of the Wolves or at the Central office at Colorado High School.

Sports Action

Coach Ronnie Gaine's seventh grade boys' basketball squad got their season off to an outstanding start this past weekend as they came out on top in their first three games of the season in the Stanton Tournament to take first place in the meet.

In their first round game, the seventh grade A team eased by Stanton by a one point 17-16 margin with Don Randle leading the Wolves with six points.

The seventh grade A squad's second round match also proved to be a tough contest but again they came out on top by a 21-16 overtime score over Coahoma. Armanda Rivera had six points for Colorado in this game.

That win propelled the Wolves into the tourney finals where they rolled to an easy 25-7 win over Forsan. Randle again led Colorado with six points.

The seventh grade B team also competed in the tournament and lost their two contests. Their first round loss came at the hands of Coahoma 36-14. Ruben Rivera had six points for the Wolves.

They then moved into the consolation bracket where they dropped another game to Stanton 54-11. Jay Piland led the Wolves here with five points.

The seventh grade boys' squad lost a heart-breaker to Ballinger in Wolf Gym Tuesday night by the score of 21-20 as the Bearcats dropped in a goal at the sound of the buzzer to barely slip by the Wolves.

Doug Chitsey had 10 points for Colorado.

XXX

Westbrook's Junior High girls' basketball squad ran their season's mark to 6-1 Monday night with a 23-13 home win over McCauley. Teresa Browne led the Wildcats with 10 points.

Westbrook trailed after the first quarter 5-2 and also at halftime 11-5. The Wildcats came back, however, in the third quarter to take a 16-13 win before holding McCauley scoreless in the final frame to ice down the victory.

Roger Cantu put through 10 points for the Westbrook Junior High boys in their game with McCauley but it wasn't enough as the Wildcats went down to defeat 52-30. Westbrook trailed 12-5 after the first period, 24-9 at halftime and 42-20 after the third quarter buzzer.

effanbee dolls that touch your heart

As an industry, doll making in America is over 100 years old. Effanbee, which was one of the pioneers in the American doll industry, was organized in 1910 by Bernard F. Fleischaker and Hugo Baum, and the company was then known as Fleischaker and Baum, makers and retailers of dolls. It was in 1913 that they decided to manufacture their own dolls, and combined their names to form the new company name: EFF (Fleischaker) and BEE (Baum). They began by making dolls, and dolls with a crude hard composition. F and B became the initials of the company's policy: Finest and Best a motto which stands to this day.

For more than half a century, Effanbee's parade of stars has truly established the company as the one which has most influence on the entire doll industry of America. We are proud of that tradition, and are determined to continue to maintain our position as the leader in the quality doll field with respect to creativity and design.

school employees were granted per diem on school trips was upped from $25 per day to $40 per day.

A dress code policy was adopted which stated, "All staff members are expected to maintain a standard of dress, personal appearance, general decorum, moral standards and behavior, that conforms to their professional status in the community."

A telephone policy was adopted which stated, "When it is absolutely necessary for school personnel to make a personal long distance call, permission should be received from the principal or supervisor. Children will not be permitted to use the office telephone unless they bring a note from their teacher."

In an outgoing program instituted by the school board several months ago, five fourth grade teachers along with Hutchinson Elementary School Principal Dell Riley appeared before the board to discuss their programs and their objectives and problems with their students.

The teachers were Mickie Norris, Rebecca Clapp, Karen Rose, Annette Callaway and Billie Roenfeldt.

Mickie Norris made a presentation on English and Spelling. She said that her main goal in teaching these students English was to teach them how to express themselves properly in written and oral language.

Mrs. Clapp discussed the Reading Program with the board. She said the fourth graders are divided into five levels in their Reading Program and of the 113 fourth graders, 61 of them were reading below the fourth grade level at the beginning of the year.

Board President Tom Rees asked Mrs. Clapp what her opinion was as to why so many of the students were behind in this area.

She said, "It goes back to the home. Television has taken over; kids aren't made to think things out; they have no desire to pick up a book and read it."

She went on to say that the main objective in the Reading Program was to develop the skills of the students to help them read independently and to help them to enjoy reading.

Mrs. Rose discussed the Math Program and said that the main goal here was to help the students become confident handling the basics of math, namely addition, subtraction, division and multiplication.

Mrs. Callaway discussed the Health and Science Program with the board while Mrs. Roenfeldt discussed Social Studies and Handwriting.

Uselton presented several information items to the board. He said that the Wallace Center Nutrition Program for senior citizens was going well. The school budget called for expenditures for the program of $1,462.44 per month by the school and for the past two months expenditures have been only about $1,200 per month. Contributions for the program from the senior citizens themselves have been budgeted at $2,943 for the entire year and $1,060.82 has already been received.

Uselton reported that there were 13 students enrolled in the building trades class of the Adults Education Program for Disadvantaged Adults. He also said that there were 13 students in the auto mechanics class and 10 students in the typing classes in the same program.

The superintendent also reported that $15,514.05 had been spent by the school on the Vocational Agriculture facilities during the last two years and it was expected that an additional $1,000 would be spent to complete the project.

new facilities at the county jail were the next projects in the long list of improvements accomplished during Vest's stay in office.

"The only deficit spending I can recall, at the moment, was for new equipment. We had to purchase a motor grader," Vest noted.

"All the existing equipment was just about completely worn out when I took office."

Vest's stay in office has seen almost 50 additional miles of county roads constructed, including the loop around the west side of Lake Colorado City and several new farm to market roads.

"We have tried to maintain a high standard in all areas of county responsibilities in the past several years," Vest said. "This is something that is never completed. You never get through. If you have a court that is not working on something, you have a sleepy court."

"We don't always think alike but I have had the privilege of working with some good men and we have always managed to pull together."

"When I first came into office I was real green. I began at the bottom and probably asked more questions of the county auditor than anyone. The business and financial end is a major portion of the commissioner's job."

"I have worked hard to eliminate as much politics from the job as I possibly can. We make much better decisions if they are not completely political."

"I can honestly say that I have accomplished everything that I set out to do in the court. This has not been done alone, but as a

Other members of the board of directors are George Womack and Kent Womack and Legal Advisor Joe Earnest. McKinnon will stay on the board as immediate past president.

In other matters before the general meeting, McKinnon reported that the annual awards banquet will be held Friday, Jan. 4 at 7 p.m. at the C.C. Thompson Room of the City National Bank Annex.

The Playhouse membership also voted to amend bylaws and articles of incorporation in order to qualify for a non-profit status as established by the Internal Revenue Service.

He added, "Naturally I was pleased with the outcome but I was surprised that it passed by the margin that it did."

Each year, five directors are elected for three-year terms.

a cost of $86,400.

New insulation will be installed throughout the school at a cost of $7,200.

The plumbing system will be replaced and new fixtures will be installed at a cost of $38,000.

A new heating and cooling system will be installed at a cost of $68,000.

The tile in the south end of the school will be replaced at a cost of $5,760.

Because of the installation of the central air conditioning and heating system, the windows in the classrooms will be closed at a cost of $26,000.

To prevent flooding, the landscape at the south end of the school will be reworked at a cost of $15,000.

Improvements will be made to make the school more accessible to handicapped students at a cost of $10,000.

The gym will be remodeled at a cost of $60,000. A new floor will be installed, new lighting will be installed, new insulation will be installed and a concession stand will be built in the gym.

The renovation project will begin when the school closes in May and is expected to be completed in about seven months.

Loraine School Superintendent Glenn Sanders commented after the election saying that he wanted to thank the people of Loraine for putting their trust in the school board and he wanted to thank the citizens committee for their work in promoting the bond issue.

He added, "Naturally I was pleased with the outcome but I was surprised that it passed by the margin that it did."

unit of five men working to keep their county prosperous," Vest said.

"People, as a whole, should elect the best qualified person for any office. In this particular one there is a lot to learn, therefore that person must have the ability to learn. More than that, he must have sound judgment and in my opinion, a conservative philosophy."

"It sounds high-toned to use words like honesty and integrity, but these two qualities are also a must," Vest said.

"When you get there, there's no place to pass the buck and one thing is for certain, if you don't please the people they won't keep you," Vest stated.

sues export licenses for bobcat pelts, alleging that continuation of the current licensing policy would be detrimental to the survival of the species," the report noted.

"Judge June L. Green issued a temporary restraining order effectively banning export of bobcat pelts and products taken in the U.S. during the 1979-80 season, pending the outcome of a hearing set for December," according to the report.

The bobcat tagging period is November 15-February 15. The pelts are legal for domestic sale. Prices may be affected if international sales are stopped, according to the report.

Tagging is done through local fur dealers this year, Aston noted.

For every way to use electricity in the kitchen, there's a way to use it more efficiently.

Keeping your heating and cooling costs down are the biggest ways to save electricity, but there are lots of little ways, too.

Your kitchen is a good place to start. Here are a few ways to save.

Use flat-bottomed pans. The flatter the pan the better its contact with the cooking unit. A tight-fitting lid on your pan will reduce cooking time.

Use less water. By cooking vegetables with the least amount of water possible, you'll keep the oven door closed. Opening the door unnecessarily causes heat loss and extended cooking time.

We'll Be Happy To Explain Value and Economy For Your Tire Dollar

Every Michelin 'X' tire is backed by a 40,000 mile warranty for tread wear on domestic cars. That's just about twice the mileage you'd expect from a conventional tire under the same driving conditions. Also, because of its radial design the Michelin 'X' rolls with less road resistance than conventional tires, and that means you can save up to 10% on your present gas consumption (pretty good considering today's fuel crisis.) Plus, every Michelin 'X' tire gives you all the distinctive radial tire advantages over conventional bias-ply tires: smoother ride, easier handling, better traction and firmer road holding. And, they add up to a lot of comfort and safety. Invest in better driving. Stop in and have a set of Michelin 'X' radials installed today.

Vehicle Bids Set By Board

The Loraine School Board met in their regular monthly session Monday night and passed the following items:

They voted to advertise for bids on a new car and pickup with the idea that it's more economical to purchase the vehicles than to lease them.

All hourly paid personnel of the school were granted a pay increase of 20 cents per hour. This was done to comply with a change in the minimum wage law effective Jan. 1, 1980.

A policy concerning alien students was also adopted which said, "Alien students will be admitted to school with a tuition charge equal to the amount of the current total state aid per pupil for the school year as determined by the Texas Education Agency."

In other matters, the board adopted a criminal prevention and drug education action program and also adopted graduation requirements in special education and VAC Programs.

The contract of School Superintendent Glenn Sanders was also renewed for a period of two years beginning July 1, 1980 through June 30, 1982.
