Congress tries for solvency

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government, its till dry, told about 500,000 employees to go home today, even as Congress appeared to be closing in on legislation to keep the bureacracy solvent.

The notice, issued by the Office of Management and Budget at 10 a.m. EDT, told non-essential workers they had three hours to "secure their desks and otherwise prepare for shutdown."

Earlier, the agency had said it would temporarily furlough most of the federal workforce if the White House determined that the emerging spending compromise between the House and the Senate was unlikely to meet with President Reagan's approval.

Not affected by the shutdown order are federal workers dealing with air traffic control, border guards, medical institution personnel, and prison and other law enforcement personnel.

The Postal Service, which has its own budget, was not affected. Government processing of Social Security and other government checks would also proceed.

With more yawns than debate, the Senate kept itself in session into the morning. The more than 22-hour session stretched well past the midnight Wednesday expiration of a stopgap government spending measure.

But, as government employees reported to work, only to be sent home later, the Senate stopped just short of a final vote on the measure necessary to keep the government solvent.

Majority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., gave his Senate colleagues a pre-dawn pat on the back for resisting the temptation to attach amendments to the measure that would have changed foreign aid programs, water policy and various social and legal issues such as civil rights, abortion and court-ordered school busing.

In a victory for President Reagan, the Senate kept the administration's crime-fighting program in the money bill — voting 97-0 to defeat a motion to kill the provision.

City to address gas rate stipulation

A three-item agenda will be considered by Snyder city council members Thursday night — a meeting originally scheduled to discuss aspects of a recent natural gas rate hike request with officials from Lone Star Gas Company.

The meeting will begin at 6:30 p.m. at city hall.

Thursday night's meeting is expected to specifically address a stipulation in the rate request called a cost of service adjustment (CSA).

This would allow Lone Star to adjust residential and commercial customer bills to reflect "changes in the cost per customer of providing gas service."

Such expense items to Lone Star as depreciation (excluding cost of gas), gross receipt taxes and income taxes could be figured in when figuring the CSA charge to the customer.

The CSA charge would be in addition to the amount charged for actual cost of gas used. As proposed by Lone Star, it would become effective with bills mailed in May of 1985 and would be annually adjusted each subsequent May.

SHS exes to register at stadium

Snyder High School ex-students are invited to a 3 p.m. pep rally Friday and are urged to register at the gate Friday night before attending the Tiger game versus Sweetwater.

Stickers will be given out identifying all ex-students at the gate Friday. The game begins at 8 p.m.

Activities for this year's homecoming were to begin Thursday with a 5:30 p.m. parade down College Ave. and around the square. It was to be followed by a pep rally on the courthouse grounds.

Snyder homecomings are conducted every two years.

The 1984 Homecoming Queen will be crowned during half-time ceremonies Friday night. Following the game, former students are invited to a reception in the SHS Library

A dance in the high school student center is planned also for high school students.

4-H clubs set event Saturday

Scurry County's 4-H Achievement Banquet will begin at 6:30 p.m. Saturday at the Snyder High School cafeteria.

All Scurry County 4-H members and families are invited to attend this "covered dish" meal. Coffee and tea will be furnished by the 4-H Adult Leaders Association.

Highlights for the banquet include: recognition of 4-H members in specific project areas, adult leader award, "Friend of 4-H" award, junior 4-H boy and girl awards, and Gold Star awards.

State 4-H Round-up participants Tammy Ritchey and Janna Tate will present their method demonstration entitled "Why Me?" and the guest speaker will be Debbie White, a WTC student and Taylor County 4-H alumni.

Tate and David Trevey will serve as mistress and master of ceremonies.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "A status symbol is something you can't afford but did."

It has been said if a person tells a story often enough, even he will begin to believe it. In Snyder last week, it was a week of rumors.

On repeated occasions, folks came to the newspaper office and called the office to ask why the newspaper had not reported the arrest of at least three Snyder police officers.

There is a good reason for such a report not being in the newspaper. The report simply was not true. No Snyder policemen have been arrested, nor have they been charged with anything.

As is normal in the case of repeated rumors, each story called to the newspaper contained a little different information. We even received a call from one area TV station attempting to confirm the rumor.

That's what is was--rumor. We don't know the motive, and we're sure some well-intentioned folks repeated the tale as fact.

And we're proud that our staff checked out the situation first hand.

If you repeat a story often enough, you can get most anyone to believe it. Most folks in Snyder are convinced that the wife can't and doesn't cook.

Red Skelton's wife and our's must have had the same home economics teacher. It was Red who said of his wife's cooking, "She broke the dog from begging at the table."

Don't forget next week's White Buffalo Days Celebration at the Scurry County Coliseum. Last year was a big success, and organizers this year have promised even a bigger and better show.

Those attending the chamber of commerce luncheon Monday were treated to sample of the popular Whirlagig. A feature of the show this year will be the audience participation in a song written especially for the show. It's called "Are You From Snyder." It is sung to the tune of Are You from Dixie with words by Lynn Bethel and music by George Cobb.

Don't forget homecoming activities today and Friday. Prior to the Snyder game with Sweetwater, the Band Boosters will be serving its annual Turkey Dinner in the high school cafeteria.

Deadline Friday for voter signup

Friday is the final day to register to vote in the upcoming General Election — a ballot featuring two locally contested races, eight amendment proposals to the state constitution and this year's presidential race.

County Clerk Beverly Ainsworth reported a last minute flurry of registration activity. She estimated some 350 county residents have registered this week alone.

An individual should register in person at the county clerk's office on the third floor of the Scurry County Courthouse. A qualified voter may also register their spouse, mother, father, son or daughter.

In addition, any person who will turn 18 prior to the Nov. 6 election may register also. If they signup prior to Friday, they will be eligible to vote election day.

Voters may cast ballots regardless of which primary they voted in. A vote for a particular party in the primary does not bind them to vote for that specific party in the General Election.

In addition to the race between U.S. President Ronald Reagan (R) and Walter Mondale (D), the local vote will decide the race for judge of the 132nd Judicial District and the Pct. 3 position on the county commissioners court.

In the judges race, Leland W. (Pete) Greene is the Democratic nominee and Gene Dulaney the Republican Party candidate.

For the Pct. 3 post, incumbent Bernhard Bartels again has the Republican Party nomination. He is challenged by Democrat C.D. Gray Jr.

Ask Us

Q. — Is there any "law" regarding how much noise some pickups and small car exhaust systems are allowed to make?

A. — According to the Texas Motor Vehicle code, "Every motor vehicle shall ... be equipped with a muffler in good working order and in constant operation to prevent excessive or unusual noise...." There is no defined maximum noise level and enforcement of the laws relies on the police officer's discretion as to what constitutes a "loud or unusual" noise.

In Brief

Countdown

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The countdown advanced smoothly today toward Friday's liftoff of space shuttle Challenger and seven astronauts on a "mixed bag" flight whose main goal is to examine planet Earth.

Rocket watchers expect a spectacular show from the 7:03 a.m. launch as the shuttle and its smoke trail are illuminated by the sun, just climbing above the horizon.

No bail set

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A 20-year FBI veteran offered the Soviet Union a "very detailed" picture of U.S. intelligence activities for $50,000 in gold and $15,000 cash, authorities said after the first-ever spy charge against an FBI agent.

Special Agent Richard W. Miller was held without bail after his arrest Wednesday because "flight is a real strong risk," said Assistant U.S. Attorney Ray Edwards.

Authorities also arrested and detained without bail two Soviet emigres accused of conspiring with Miller.

Miller, 47, was a counterintelligence agent in the FBI's Los Angeles Office.

Local

Rain amounts

Later afternoon showers Wednesday and early morning rains Thursday dampened most of Scurry County, but most of the significant rainfall appeared concentrated in the southwest part of the county.

There was no official report available from Lake Thomas, but estimates from that area were between 1 and 2 inches east of the lake.

Ira also reportedly received 1.25 inches.

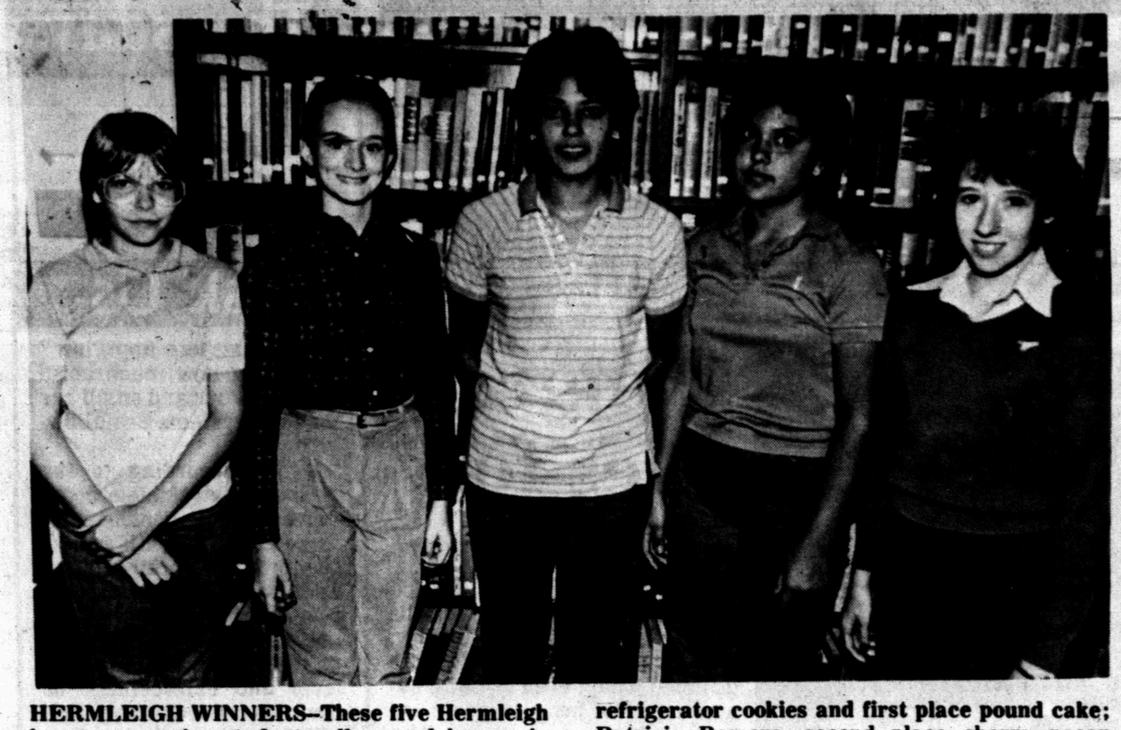
In Snyder, the official total for the 24-hour period was .55 of an inch, upping the year to 10.41 inches.

Other totals included Hermleigh, .50 of an inch; and Fluvanna, .20 of an inch.

Weather

Snyder Temperatures: High Wednesday, 75 degrees; low, 59 degrees; reading at 7 a.m. Thursday, 61 degrees; .55 of an inch precipitation; total precipitation for 1984 to date, 10.41 inches.

West Texas Forecast: Scattered thunderstorms in most sections today and tonight. Rain activity ending from the southwest late today. Highs mostly in the 70s, climbing to the upper 80s in extreme south regions. Lows in the upper 40s in the Panhandle to the upper 50s in the south.



HERMLEIGH WINNERS--These five Hermleigh home economics students all earned honors in junior division competition during the recent Scurry County Fair. They are from left, Karen Olsen, third place devil's food cake; Crystal Church, first place jumper, first place refrigerator cookies and first place pound cake; Patricia Romero, second place cherry pecan loaf; Eva Romero, first place decorated cake; Lori Tate, second place chocolate cake.(SDN Staff Photo)

Inmate indicted on charges of kidnapping, sexual assault

ANGLETON, Texas (AP) — A prison inmate serving a life sentence for aggravated rape has been indicted on charges of kidnapping and aggravated sexual assault in the abduction of a woman guard.

Richard Joseph Sisto, 35, was indicted by a Brazoria County grand jury Tuesday night, assistant district attorney John Davis said. He is charged with kidnapping and aggravated sexual assault in the Aug. 3 abduction of 27-year-old Carlene Bates.

Sisto is accused of holding Ms. Bates at knifepoint for four hours in a small room from which medicine is dispensed to inmates. Sisto is an inmate at the Ramsey II Unit of the Texas Department of Corrections.

Although TDC Director Ray Procunier and a priest were able to talk Sisto into surrendering, the guard later said the prisoner sexually molested her.

Davis said Sisto will be prosecuted as a second offender, which raises the severity of possible prison sentences.

If convicted of aggravated sexual assault, Sisto could be given a prison sentence of 15 to 99 years or life. A second offender conviction for kidnapping could result in a five to 99 year sentence or life.

Travel advisory now under very serious consideration

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The U. S. Embassy here is seriously considering asking the State Department to issue a travel advisory warning tourists of possible assaults and other dangers in Mexico, diplomatic sources said Wednesday.

The American sources, who spoke on condition they not be identified for protocol reasons, said a series of attacks on American tourists have occurred in recent weeks.

They said the embassy had sent a letter to Mexico's Tourism Department expressing "deep concern."

Servando Gonzalez, a spokesman for the Tourism Department, said his Cabinet-level agency had "no official knowledge" that the embassy was considering asking for a travel advisory.

Gonzalez said the ministry had been informed of incidents that had occured recently including the case of a Brownsville, Texas, couple whose vehicle was stopped by armed men on Central Highway 57 near Matehuala. The two Americans were robbed and their car stolen.

On Sept. 28, speaking at Palo Alto, Calif., U.S. Ambassador John Gavin said "certain stretches of Mexican highways — Highway 40 from Durango to the Pacific Coast; Highway 15 in the states of Sonora, Sinaloa and Nayarit; Highway 57 between Matehuala and San Luis Potosi, in the state of San Luis Potosi; and Highway 185 across the Isthmus of Tehuantepec require extra caution."

The ambassador said travelers should "avoid driving at night, especially alone and never sleep in their vehicles along the road."

Tourism is the second largest source of foreign income for Mexico after petroleum exports. Tourists spend about $1.5 billion each year in Mexico.

Mexican police officials have reluctantly acknowledged a jump in street crime since the start of the worst economic crisis in decades two years ago. They attributed it to the growing number of unemployed people, although the government now says the economy is beginning to recover.

Last year, the Mexico city police department assigned 600 sharpshooters to guard 77 banks in the metropolitan area in an effort to clamp down on robberies.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH
"Because We Care"

Hermleigh News

This news has been delayed due to my mother's recent hospitalization.

Mrs. Keith Lloyd and daughter, Sidney, of Luling visited her mother-in-law, Mrs. Raymond Lloyd, recently. Sidney is a freshman at Western Texas College.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Barfoot and Eva Mae Brackeen visited their aunt, Ina Barfoot, last week.

Guests of the O.W. Richburgs the first week of September were Jack and Katy Richburg, Rossie and Virgil Richburg, Eva and Era Richburg and Ed and Tonnie Richburg, all of Sweetwater. Also visiting were Rev. Charles Bridges, La Von and Amy of Booker, Marlene and Herman Richburg and Carrie Lou McQuaid.

Rev. Charles Bridges has accepted the pastorate of the First Baptist Church of Hamlin effective Oct. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Powers Boothe and Parise of Beverly Hills, Calif. recently visited his grandparents, the Lloyd Reeves.

The Thursday canasta club met at the Hermleigh Community Center with Norma Hess as hostess. High scores were won by El Jean Beane and Ben Nachlinger.

David and Clona Mae Lindley from Mineola visited Rachel Lassiter and Adala Drennan on Sept. 10. They had spent the past three months touring interesting places in the United States from Virginia to Washington. One of their daughters is married to the brother of Cissy Spacek, the television and movie personality. While in Virginia, they visited the daughter and her family at their ranch and toured the mansion and guest houses.

The discovery well in the Hawkins field in Wood County is on the Lindley's farm.

A reunion of the late Jim Wright family was held at the Hermleigh Community Center on Sept. 15th and 16th. Those attending included Effie Wright, Ruth Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Stahl and Patricia and Tim, Nell Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Stahl and Tracee and Barry Don, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Reeves and Mr. and Mrs. Rex Glass and son, Gregg, all of Hermleigh; Mr. and Mrs. Mickey Rose and Margie, Mitzi and Jonathan of Abilene; Jackie Williamson of Fort Worth; J.E., Donna, Carrie and Shannon Traweek of Caldwell; Jerry and Norma Soules, Charlie Soules and Cristi and Donnie Lloyd of Dallas; Tommy, Linda, Josie and Kate Wright, Mary Ann and Bobby Neblett, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Mason, and Darwin, Sheila and Dona Melton, all of Snyder.

Also attending were Calvin, Gail, Kresta and Brandon Wright of Kilgore; Mrs. Donnie Blake and Inez Arnold of Midland; W.E. and Joy Wright of Andrews; Randy, Patti, Tiffany and Rachael Wright of Plano; Kenneth, Mary Ann, Jimmy, Justin and Lance Reeves of Potosi, Imagene Harvey of Roby; Melvin, Winnie and Melody Calhoun of Gordon; Mr. and Mrs. Lannes Callison and son, Laramie, of DeLeon; Harvis and Cleo Davis of Claytonville; Bernice Glass of Sweetwater; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Glass of Odessa; and Elsie Stahl of Loraine.

Those from out-of-state were Frank and Ann Wright and Mr. and Mrs. Pat Wilson of Carlsbad, N.M.; Mr. and Mrs. Dicky Satterfield of Wagoner, Okla.; and Esther Thompson and grandson, David Blackwell, of Henryetta, Okla.

Effie Wright, Frank Wright, Joy Wright, Bert Stahl, Gloria Glass, Melody Calhoun and Laramie celebrated birthdays during the event. Faye Robbins and Bertha Holdridge were guests.

Meeting set for Baptist Association

The 60th annual meeting of the Mitchell-Scurry Baptist Church Association will meet at the Oak Street Baptist Church in Colorado City Tuesday, Oct. 9. The WMU meeting will begin at 2:30 p.m. and the associational meeting will begin at 4.

Dwayne Martin from the Stewardship Department of the Baptist General Convention of Texas will speak on the denomination in the afternoon session.

The executive board and WMU will meet at 5:30 and the host church will serve supper at 6.

The evening session at 6:45 will include a sermon by Jerry Summers, director of Baptist Student Union at Western Texas College.

Ken Branam is the outgoing moderator and Harold Davis is the incoming moderator for the association. Malcolm Brown is the director of missions.

About 1 in 40 Americans, some 5.6 million, were living on farms on April 1, 1980, says the American Council of Life Insurance. In 1970, the ratio was 1 in 25.

It's hidden in plain view

By James Jacoby

Eddie Kantar has been entertaining readers of the Contract Bridge Bulletin for years with interesting play problems. The theme of this one is that sometimes the right play is so obvious it escapes us. In fact, if today's solution were a snake, it would absolutely bite you. Cover the defenders' hands and plan your play.

Take no credit if you tried to ruff a diamond with dummy's five of spades. That would get overruffed. Similarly, leading a club toward the K-J-10 nets nothing. If you tried either of these approaches, you fell into the same trap that snares even very good players from time to time. You looked for something intricate on a very simple deal.

All you need to do is win the ace of hearts, play the jack from dummy and discard a club. If a club is now returned, you can ruff, enter dummy with the spade king, and discard your nine of diamonds on the good nine of hearts. If East happens to ruff the nine of hearts, you will be able to overruff, and now would almost surely be able to ruff the third round of diamonds in dummy. When East follows to the third heart, you draw trumps and claim your contract.

Hot tub care

Your favorite hot tub, at home or in a health club, could give you a nasty rash.

Hot tubs are just like swimming pools, needing careful maintenance of the tub and its surrounding area.

Chlorinate the hot tub or use special pool disinfectants and provide a special foot bath for all to use just as they would before entering a swimming pool.

Shower well after using the hot tub to remove all chlorine from the skin and reduce the possibility of bacteria remaining on the skin.

Task force makes many recommendations

AUSTIN (AP) — It's the taxpayers' turn now to say what they think about the 70 recommendations made by the Task Force on Hazardous Waste Management to state officials and the 1985 Legislature.

Several of the recommendations propose state taxes on hazardous wastes and tax exemptions for treating or destroying the wastes.

"I am impressed with the comprehensive nature of this report and the consensus reached by all parties concerned about safe disposal and recycling of hazardous waste in our state," Gov. Mark White said Wednesday in releasing the bulky document for public comment.

The 33-member task force included representatives from large chemical and electronics companies, environmental groups and hazardous waste disposal firms as well as members of the banking, engineering, public health and legal professions.

Dean Max Sherman, former state senator, was chairman of the study group.

Some of the recommendations included:

— That the Texas Department of Water Resources and Texas Department of Health complete their inventory of current active sites as rapidly as possible "so the future live-span of the sites is known."

— That public notice of applications for sites be made as soon as possible.

— That single-permit hearings be held, instead of several hearings before individual agencies.

— That more public information be given on proceedings of the Public Interest Office in the Department of Water Resources.

— That the Legislature clarify the role of local governments in selecting hazardous waste sites.

— That a $1 million abandoned site contingency fund be established out of general revenue in cases where responsible parties cannot be found for clean-up.

— That governmental subdivisions support tax-exempt financing for hazardous waste destruction and reduction facilities.

— That local governments establish ordinances requiring hazardous waste collection and disposal for small quantity waste generators.

— That the state encourage on-site destruction because of transportation hazards.

— That the state undertake a major effort to take legal action against individuals and companies found to be violators of hazardous waste laws.

WTC headed for third WAC meet

MIDLAND -- Western Texas College, sitting in fifth position in the Western Junior College Athletic Conference golf race, is looking to hoist itself up here Friday in a key tournament at Greentree Country Club.

The 18-hole tournament is the third of the season, and the final fall meet. Schools will take a break from WJCAC play until the spring.

While WTC is in fifth place, the squad is only 3½ points out of first place. New Mexico Military and Midland lead with 9 conference points, followed by Odessa with 8½, New Mexico Junior College with 6, WTC with 5½ and South Plains with 4.

Six points are awarded for a first place finish, five for second place, four for third place, and so on.

Playing for the Westerners Friday will be Ryan Heller, Bob Stangby, Bo Kay, Pat Fitzpatrick, Chris Johnson and Jack Fallin.

"It will be a pretty key match," acknowledged WTC Coach Dave Foster. "If we can place well we can get ourselves in a little better shape heading into the spring. Last year we won this one and hope to do it again this year."

Ump controversy extended by TV

by The Associated Press

Former Baltimore Orioles Manager Earl Weaver, in his role as a television commentator, says that umpires must be doing a good job if no one notices them during a game. The substitute umps pressed into action by the major league umpires' strike never had a chance to blend into the background.

When ABC-TV signed on Tuesday afternoon with the National League Championship Series opener from Chicago, the matter of umpires was a top priority. The obvious question, and one which the ABC crew addressed from several angles with mixed success, was whether the amateur umps would be a factor in the outcome of the game.

Two of ABC's commentators, Don Drysdale and Jim Palmer, noted - as former pitchers would - that an umpire's interpretation of the strike zone is critical. Drysdale noticed inconsistencies in calls by plate umpire Dick Cavanaugh at the NL game, while Palmer said that former major league umpire Bill Deegan, brought out of retirement, had no problems behind the plate in Kansas City where the Royals were playing the Detroit Tigers.

Deegan drew praise from both sides for his work and there was little opportunity for controversy in Detroit's methodical 8-1 victory.

Those umps in Chicago made a couple of other boo-boos, as did the broadcast crew trying to cover the story. But, the booming bats of the Cubs, which keyed a 13-0 victory over the San Diego Padres, quickly made it a secondary story.

To backtrack, the Major League Baseball Umpires Association called a strike upon the expiration on Sunday of certain portions of its agreement with Major League Baseball. Issues include money and the selection process for the postseason games, plus job security.

The NL invited trouble and almost got it. Baseball has traditionally assigned six umpires to each postseason game. Tuesday night, the AL put five other subs on the field with Deegan.

But the NL, for some reason, opted to replace six major leaguers with only four amateurs.

Lady Tigers welcome Tors in key match here tonight

Snyder varsity volleyball team tries to stay atop the District 2-4A standings here tonight while its opponent - Lamesa - will try to get back in the race.

The Tigers are 6-1 in conference play and tied with Monahans and Pecos for the summit. Lamesa is 3-4 and finds itself in a near must-win situation to have any shot at the 1984 playoffs.

The 7:30 varsity match caps a triple-header at Snyder High School Gym. A freshman tilt opens the action at 5, followed by a junior varsity match at 6:30. Tickets are $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. Concessions are available.

"Every match we play now is important," said Snyder's Coach Penny Bane, following the Tigers' only loss a week ago.

"We appreciate the fans who have supported us and invite everyone to come out tonight and Saturday (The Tigers host Fort Stockton Saturday afternoon.). It really means something when you have the fans on your side," she has stated.

Snyder is 11-8 on the season, a record which includes one loss to and one defeat of Lamesa's Golden Tornadoes.

The Tors won a non-district tournament match earlier in the season. Snyder rebounded to defeat Lamesa 15-11, 15-10 in loop play in Lamesa on Sept. 11. The Tors are 15-11 for the season.

Key players for the visitors tonight are spikers Kelli Gillespie and floormate Vera Jones, a 1983 all-loop pick, and setters Terri Guzman and Jennifer Smith.

Starters for Snyder are expected to be spikers Donna Anderson, Gina Vaughn, Karlene Thompson, Allison Adams, Hope Hernandez and setter Sabrina Sullivan. Kima McLarty should also see action.

San Diego falls behind 2-0; must win three straight now

CHICAGO (AP) -- The San Diego Padres are locked in a precarious situation and the only way out will be a possible but improbable three-game sweep over the versatile Chicago Cubs.

Noted for their power, the Cubs resorted to daredevil base running Wednesday for a 4-2 victory over the Padres and a 2-0 lead in their best-of-5 National League Championship series.

Thus, the series could end tonight in San Diego, where the teams resume the competition after the flight west. If the Cubs don't get that one victory they need to get into their first World Series since 1945 tonight, they have chances again Saturday and Sunday in the Padres' park.

"Anything can happen but we're hoping to close it out tomorrow night," said Bob Dernier, whose base-running figured in two of the Cubs' runs Wednesday.

No team in the NL has ever come back from a two-game deficit to win a pennant although Milwaukee did it in 1982 to defeat California in the American League playoffs.

"We know their backs are against the wall, but we still have to go out their and play with the same intensity we have had all season," said Dernier.

"A 2-0 lead in a short series is a good feeling," said Keith Moreland, who scored all the way from first base on a double by Ron Cey to set up a two-run third and a 3-0 lead which left-hander Steve Trout never relinquished.

Dernier, who started Tuesday's 13-0 romp with a leadoff homer, opened the Chicago first Wednesday with a single. Ryne Sandberg grounded to third baseman Luis Salazar and while Salazar was throwing Sandberg out at first, Dernier raced to third and then scored as Gary Matthews grounded out.

With one out in the third, Moreland singled. Cey followed with a double to leftcenter and Moreland raced all the way home to score. The throw home also enabled Cey to take third from where he scored on Jody Davis' sacifice fly.

The Padres never recovered although they finally scored a run in the fourth when Tony Gwynn, the NL batting champion, doubled, went to third on a ground out and scored on Kevin McReynolds' sacrifice fly.

The Cubs got the run back when Dernier reached on a fielder's choice, stole second and scored on Sandberg's double.

Briefs

by The Associated Press

FOOTBALL

NEW YORK (AP) - Running back James Wilder of Tampa Bay was named the Offensive Player of the Week and linebacker Jim Collins of the Los Angeles Rams was picked the Defensive Player of the Week in the National Conference, the National Football League announced.

Wilder rushed 43 times for 172 yards, including a 33-yard touchdown scamper, in Tampa Bay's 30-27 overtime victory over Green Bay.

Collins was credited with 13 solo tackles and two assists in the Rams' 33-12 triumph over the New York Giants.

AUTO RACING

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) - Benny Parsons won the pole position for the Miller High Life 500 Grand National stock car race with a record-breaking, four-lap average of 165.579 mph.

GOLF

WOBURN, England (AP) - Japan's Ayako Okamoto ignored the chilly conditions and took the first-round lead in the $200,000 women's British Open Golf Championship.

Okamoto, who arrived from the 80-degree heat of Tokyo, scored a 2-under-par 71 to top Scotland's Dale Reid by one shot, with American Amy Alcott in third with par 73.

DULUTH, Ga. (AP) - Michael Podolak of Fargo, N.D., and Bob Lewis of Warren, Ohio, emerged as the finalists in the 1984 United States Golf Association Mid-Amateur Championship.

Podolak beat David Jacobsen of Portland, Ore., with a par on the first sudden-death playoff hole. Lewis beat Gordon Brewer 3 and 2.

TENNIS

BARCELONA, Spain (AP) - Top-seeded Mats Wilander of Sweden and second-seeded Jimmy Arias won their second-round matches in the $225,000 Count of Godo Tennis Tournament.

BRISBANE, Australia (AP) - Third-seeded Peter Fleming breezed past Australian John Stoddart 6-2, 6-1 in the first round of the GWA Mazda Tennis Classic.

Tigers look to lock series up in Detroit this weekend

KANSAS CITY (AP) -- The home team stands 1-13 in games between Detroit and Kansas City this year, which is no comfort to the Royals and seems not to worry the Tigers one bit.

The hard-to-figure home field disadvantage between the two American League division winners could go to 2-15 and still the American League pennant would fly from Tiger Stadium. The Tigers have two victories in the bank and need to win just one of the three weekend games in Detroit for their first World Series appearance since 1968.

The best-of-5 series shifts to Detroit for Game 3 Friday night. The Royals won five of six games at Tiger Stadium this year.

"It's a five-game series and that's the way we'll have to play it," said a smiling Aurelio Lopez, who tossed three innings of four-hit relief to get the victory in Detroit-s 5-3, 11-inning conquest Wednesday night. "but if we go less than five games, it's all the better for us."

John Grubb doubled in two runs off of Royals pitcher Dan Quisenberry in the 11th to stake the victory.

The Royals had knotted the game 3-3 in the eighth. Quisenberry started the ninth. Lance Parrish singled off the glove of a diving Greg Pryor at third leading off the 11th.

Next was Darrell Evans, who tried to sacrifice but would up safe when Don Slaught failed to pick the ball up cleanly. The Ronals got lead runner Parris on another bunt attempt, but Grubb, on a 1-2 pitch, hit a sinker into the gap at right-center to score both runs.

"He started me with a fastball and then he came at me with a breaking ball," said Grubb.

Said Quisenberry: "He hit a sinkerball. Apparently, it didn't sink very well."

Eckersly will start for Cubs

CHICAGO (AP) - Introductions may be in order for both sides tonight when San Diego right-hander Ed Whitson faces off against Chicago's Dennis Eckersley in Game 3 of the National League Championship Series.

Whitson, who enjoyed his best season in 1984 with 14 wins and a 3.24 earned run average, will be looking at the Chicago order for the first time since July 18, his third and last appearance this season against Chicago when the Cubs forced him to make "the earliest exit of my career."

In that one-inning appearance at Wrigley Field, Whitson got tagged for three quick runs and headed for the showers when the Padre Manager Dick Williams pinch-hit for him in an effort to get back into the ballgame.

It didn't work. The Cubs went on to win 4-1 and hand Whitson one of his eight losses.

Tonight, Whitson will try to rein in the rampaging Cub order - that holds a 2-0 edge in the sries - by alternating a 90-mph fastball with a fluttering palm ball, traveling 50 mph when Whitson really cranks it up.

No major college upsets

By BILL McCLELLAN
SDN Sports Editor

You'd think I'd learn about upsets. The rule is, don't pick more than one or two, because you are going strong against the odds anyway. Last week was a 30 right, 10 wrong slate for .750 or 99-39, .717 for the year. But on upsets, I was 1-2, getting LSU over USC right, but woefully missing the Arkansas-Navy and Oiler-Saints games.

No major upsets in the offing this time around, but there are plenty of toss-ups or near toss-ups, including Maryland at Penn State, North Carolina at Clemson, Stanford at UCLA and Georgia at Alabama.

Here we go...

Sweetwater at Snyder: The game plan is simple, but not easy. Basically put, Snyder has to limit Sweetwater's high-powered offense. The best way to do that is keep the Mustang attack on the sidelines. Snyder can probably score against the Mustangs - everybody has - but can the Ragin' Tigers move consistantly? If so...SNYDER 28, SWEETWATER 24.

Fort Stockton at Monahans: Monahans hasn't given up a point (and needless to say, hasn't lost) in three games. Fort Stockton may break one of those strings, but not the other...LOBOES 21, PANTHERS 7.

Lamesa at Andrews: Lamesa is off to its best start in 11 years and the Tornadoes really feel like they can win this one. They could if the Mustangs were looking ahead, but that is doubtful...MUSTANGS 28, TORS 14.

Pecos at Lake View: Could this be the week for Lake View to come alive? No...EAGLES 28, CHIEFS 9.

Ira at Rochester: Hopefully the 'Dogs learned last week that football is a serious game, no matter who the opponent is. If so...IRA 45, ROCHESTER 20.

Rule at Borden County: Wonder how many times the headlines have read "So-and-so rules Rule." The Coyotes write it again and pad their already 4-0 record...BORDEN 41, RULE 12.

TCU at Arkansas: Can the Frogs rebound? Can the 'Hogs show consistancy? Can I show consistancy in picking Arkansas? Answer: Yes, maybe and probably not...TCU 24, ARKANSAS 19.

Houston at Baylor: Only TCU has turned a program around as fast as Houston has, and the Cougars are heading the opposite way...BAYLOR 28, HOUSTON 24.

Texas at Rice: The odds favor Texas overwhelmingly, but that was the case last week when Nebraska went to Syracuse. Still, I can't see this as a legitimate upset...LONGHORNS 35, RICE 14.

Texas Tech at Texas A&M: The Aggies have been about as unimpressive as you can get, but who can argue with 3-0? Meanwhile, Tech had minus yards rushing against Baylor last week and to me that's a big clue. Pick A&M, but don't give any points...A&M 21, TECH 20.

COLLEGE...

Georgia 17, Alabama 14; Miami, Fla. 28, Notre Dame 20; Nebraska 34, Oklahoma St. 14; Michigan 28, Michigan St. 13; Florida 17, Syracuse 14; Penn State 21, Maryland 20; Illinois 31, Wisconsin 14; Iowa 34, Northwestern 7; Missouri 14, Colorado 10; Ohio State 27, Purdue 14; Auburn 23, Mississippi 21; Clemson 27, North Carolina 18; Florida St. 19, Memphis St. 17; Georgia Tech 21, North Carolina St. 7; USC 21, Washington State 9; UCLA 19, Stanford 13; Washington 42, Oregon State 20; Air Force 30, Navy 14.

PROFESSIONAL...

Denver 24, Detroit 17; Miami 22, Pittsburgh 18; Minnesota 17, Tampa Bay 14; New England 35, Cleveland 21; Chicago 24, New Orleans 21; Kansas City 21, NY Jets 9; Dallas 24, St. Louis 23; Washington 27, Indianapolis 19; LA Rams 34, Atlanta 31; Cincinnati 19, Houston 17; San Diego 23, Green Bay 21; LA Raiders 31, Seattle 24.

2-4A grid roundup

It's that time of the season when District 2-4A coaches are telling their teams the past doesn't mean a thing, and while records may give an indication of strength, the coaches are right, at least for one week.

District 2-4A swings into intraconference action Friday night and for a brief few days, everybody is 0-0. Forget that Saturday morning half of the group will be 0-1, because unlike the past few years, there are no real clear-cut winners and losers on opening night.

Witness the scene to be at Andrews, where an undefeated and pumped up Lamesa squad comes calling. The Mustangs, 2-1 themselves, may be considered a favorite, but the Golden Tornadoes feel they can beat the hosts, and maybe they can.

The situation is similar in Snyder, where the rejuvenated Ragin' Tigers play homecoming host to Sweetwater. The Tigers, 1-2, come off a 28-18 win over Brownfield. The 28 points scored was the most by Snyder in two years, indicating the Rage may have finally found its missing ingredient - an offense. If so, Friday's contest outcome could turn some heads.

That's true also at San Angelo, where Chief partisans are somewhat stunned by Lake View's 0-3 start. The Chiefs will try to put it all together against Pecos, a team which suffered its only loss last week.

The loop's other contest pits two unbeaten teams as Fort Stockton travels to Monahans. The big question is how dominate is the Loboes' defense. Monahans has yet to give up a point in 1984.

Tradition goes back to 1925 for Mustang and Snyder gridders

When Snyder's Ragin' Tigers and the Mustangs of Sweetwater take the field here Friday it will be for the 38th meeting between the teams.

The rivalry is one of the longest and best in Tiger history, dating back to the 1920's.

Sweetwater owns the series 22 wins to 14. There has been one tie ballgame, a 0-0 defensive struggle in 1965.

The Mustangs won the first-ever game between the schools, 30-0 in 1925. They played four more times between 1927 and 1937, then went separate directions until 1952. Since '52, the schools have played every year except 1972 and 1973 when an increased enrollment caused Snyder to move up in class to 4A (now 5A).

The 1970's were dominated by the Tigers though Sweetwater won 7-0 in 1970. The Tigers won in '71, and following the two-year move up in class, triumphed again in 1974, 75, 76, 77, 78 and 1979.

The victory bell hasn't sounded for Snyder since however, and Sweetwater has been victorious five straight ballgames - including two in 1982 when Ector was dissolved and the Tigers and Mustangs also played a non-district contest.

The Mustangs won 28-6 in 1983.

Texas won't fall this week

by The Associated Press

Having become the fourth team this season to be ranked No. 1 in the Associated Press college football poll, is Texas also about to become the fourth team to fall from that lofty perch?

It may happen to the Longhorns eventually, but probably not this week. They are whopping 29-point favorites over Rice despite Coach Fred Akers' protestations that "they (Rice) have got the same conference record that we do (0-0) and the only thing really that's important about all these games is how you do in your own conference. Anything else doesn't really make that much difference when it's all said and done."

Schedule-wise, Rice might be in a good position. The Owls are playing at home and catch Texas not only looking back to their impressive showing against Penn State but also looking ahead to Oklahoma. Rice, however, is looking ahead to a thorough beating...Texas 42-6.

Last week's prediction record was 34 right - including the Upset Special of South Carolina over Georgia - 15 wrong and onetie for a percentage of .694; on the year, it's 170-56-4, .752. Against the spread, last week's score was 19-13-0, .594; for the season, 61-56-1, .521.

No. 2 Ohil State (favored by 8) at Purdue. Ohio State 28-17.

No. 3 Washington (by 20) at Oregon State. Washington 35-14.

No. 6 Florida State (by 10) at Memphis State. Florida State 31-14.

No. 7 Brigham Young (no line) at Colorado State. BYU 38-14.

No. 9 Oklahoma State at No. 8 Nebraska (by 9). Nebraska 24-14.

Maryland at No. 11 Penn State (by 7). Penn State 24-14.

North Carolina State at No. 12 Georgia Tech (by 14). Upset special of the week: North Carolina State 24-21.

Michigan State at No. 13 Michigan (by 12). Michigan 28-10.

No. 14 Miami, Fla, (by 1) at No. 16 Notre Dame. Notre Dame 27-24.

Stanford at No. 17 UCLA (by 9). UCLA 28-14.

No. 18 Auburn (by 9) at Mississippi. Auburn 21-14.

No. 20 Georgia (pick'em) at Alabama. Alabama 21-20.

4-1A grid roundup

District members in the 4-1A South Zone have looked extremely tough or extremely weak this season, and Friday number five doesn't look to change that any.

Three teams in the zone are undefeated, while the two others - Grady and McCaulley - have only one win between them. Grady's Wildcats are 1-3 while the Eagles of McCaulley are 0-4.

This week, Grady goes against the balanced attack of Paint Creek, a team which suffered its only loss last week in a 72-44 defeat to Ira. McCaulley takes on Lueders-Avoca. Avoca, 2-2, lost to Brookesmith a week ago, 49-0.

The unbeatens in the South Zone play figure to stay that way. Remaining udefeated is no tough task for the defending state champion Highland Hornets, who are idle. Highland, 4-0, overcame a fiesty Trent Gorilla team last Saturday, 54-38.

Borden County and Ira are scheduled to play however, and both will be favored to pad their respective 4-0 and 2-0-1 records.

Borden hosts its fifth straight opponent in Rule, an 0-4 bunch from the North Zone, while Ira treks to Rochester. Rochester, also from the sister zone, is 2-2. Rochester defeated McCaulley last week, 50-22, while Rule lost to May junior varsity, 40-27.

In addition to Rule and Rochester, Paint Creek is also from the North Zone. Newcomer Jayton leads the zone with a 4-0 mark. Weinert, a 26-20 loser to Borden last week, is 3-1, as is Paint Creek.

Ruins revered

BELCHITE, Spain (AP) — Late on an afternoon, Modesta Lopez shuffles through the rubble and refuse to the house where she was born.

Stopping at a crumbling brick wall, she points to a jagged stick that was once part of a door lintel.

"Here it is, number 18 Sagasta St., the house where I was born. I come here to remember — how my sisters died, how they shot my brother and how my mother went crazy."

Only there isn't any house, just a decaying facade. The Belchite into which Modesta Lopez was born 81 years ago is a mass of bombed-out buildings, jagged church spires, bleached sheep bones, rotting shoes and polemical ghosts.

Domingo Serrano also was born in Belchite, but in 1946, in the cold, hungry years following the 1936-39 Spanish Civil War that turned his and Modesta Lopez' birthplace first into a battleground and later into a controversial symbol.

If Serrano — now mayor of a new Belchite located a mile to the west of the old town — succeeds in his struggle with Spanish bureaucracy, Modesta Lopez will be doing her remembering in a memorial park, not in a maze of hazardous ruins of the 14th-century town.

Until August 1937, Belchite was a prosperous market town of 3,800 people located on a bluff south of the main Zaragoza-to-Barcelona road in the heart of the former kingdom of Aragon.

On Aug. 24, hoping to draw away the nationalist forces of Francisco Franco from northern Spain, about 80,000 republican troops, including British, Irish and American volunteers in the 15th International Brigade, attacked eight points along the so-called Aragon front.

Well-fortified, tenacious and mostly nationalist, Belchite held on for days as the main republican offensive advanced. But after a 13-day siege that included heavy aerial bombardment, Belchite surrendered in ruins. No one knows the exact figures, but it is estimated that thousands died.

Because they saw Belchite as a symbol of nationalist valor, Franco and his advisers decided to leave the ruins untouched, declaring them a national monument once the civil war was won.

The new regime offered to assist the remaining inhabitants to set up another town nearby. The transfer was completed in 1960.

Serrano and his eight-man city council — seven conservatives, including the mayor, and two socialists in office since May 1983 — have been trying to revive an effort initiated by the national Ministry of Culture in 1981 to turn the ruins into a bipartisan memorial park.

The project to bulldoze the greater part of the ruins and conserve the most striking features of the town has been passed to the new autonomous government's Department of Culture in Zaragoza where Serrano says he fears it will languish for at least another year.

WTC to offer housing course

Western Texas College will offer a fair housing practices course through the Continuing Education department on the night of Oct. 15.

The class will meet from 6:30-9:30 p.m. Students will pay fees of $5 each for the course and will register at 6:15 p.m. in building 2B, room 110, the same room the class also meets in.

To pre-register call 573-8511, etx. 240.

The first successful technicolor movie was "The Toll of the Sea." It opened in 1922 at the Rialto Theater in New York City.

In 1925, George Gershwin played his "Concerto in F," the first classical composition in jazz, at Carnegie Hall in New York City.

There was a loss of about 3,200 lives in 1948, when the steamer Kiangya exploded northeast of Shanghai.

NEW SHOW — John Gibson, assistant professor of art at Western Texas College, looks over prints now featured in the Fine Arts Gallery on campus. The show includes 25 pieces to include lithography, silk screen, etching and relief print. It will remain on view in the lobby area of the Fine Arts Theatre through Oct. 28. (SDN Staff Photo)

Print show at gallery on campus

Prints from the North Texas State University collection of past and present study work is now on view at the Western Texas College art gallery located in the Fine Arts Building.

The print show will be in place through Oct. 28. The gallery is open each weekday and the public is invited to view it free of charge.

Works by two NTSU faculty members, Don Scaggs and Judy Youngblood, are included.

Next on the exhibit schedule for the Fine Arts Gallery is a collection of photographs by local artist and photographer Jay Huckabee. His show will go up in November. The final show of the season will be the WTC faculty art display in December.

'Red' Hill

FORT WORTH–Services for William Wallace "Red" Hill, 81, of Fort Worth were held Wednesday morning at Greenwood Funeral Home. He was the brother-in-law of Mrs. Roswell Rigsby and Mrs. Amos Joyce, both of Snyder.

He died Sunday after a lengthy illness. He was born Sept. 12, 1903 in Trent.

He worked as a teacher, coach and high school principal in Snyder Schools from 1930-1942. He resigned as high school prinicpal at Snyder in 1942 to work for the federal government.

He married Audra Jenkins of Snyder in 1931. She died Jan. 22, 1983.

He is survived by a son, Jackson of Fort Worth; a daughter, Jo Marie Ramirez of Hebbronville; three brothers; two sisters; 10 grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren.

Dwellers in city sullenly co-exist

JERUSALEM (AP) — If Jerusalem is a preview of the Mideast at peace, the best the area can hope for is sullen coexistence between Arab and Jew. In this city they live side by side, but not together.

Witness the neighborhood of Abu Tor. It straddles the Jordanian-Israeli border that bisected the city until Israel overran East Jerusalem in the 1967 war. It is one of the few that houses both Jews and Palestinians.

But they live on separate streets, and walking from the Jewish to the Arab side is like traversing a national border.

On the Palestinian side most of the signs are in Arabic. It is difficult to find anyone who speaks Hebrew, although the language has been taught in the schools almost since Israel annexed East Jerusalem 17 years ago.

The streets outside rundown homes are strewn with litter, and the children playing outdoors throw pebbles at Israeli strangers.

On Abu Tor's Jewish side, exclusive high-rise apartment buildings have gone up for Israelis who can afford to pay for a magnificent panoramic view of the Kidron Valley mentioned in the Bible.

Few of these residents speak Arabic. Even fewer bother to cross the street to get acquainted with their Palestinian neighbors.

Jews and Arabs mostly live on separate sides of Jerusalem, once divided by barbed wire and minefields, now by something more subtle.

New Jewish enclaves have been built on the Palestinian side to tighten Israel's claim to sovereignty over what it considers the reunited capital of Israel. But the enclaves exist like islands in a hostile sea.

Studies show almost no social contact across the old frontier. Few Arabs go to plays or movies on the western, Jewish side. Not many Jews will go to the eastern side for an evening's entertainment. The one exception is the relatively high Arab attendence at National League soccer games, say the studies.

A recent study by Hebrew University anthropologist Alex Weingrod concluded that the city's 120,000 Palestinians view themselves as a conquered minority.

Arabs must pay city taxes and can vote in municipal elections, but they are excluded from national elections since most retain their Jordanian citizenship.

Weingrod also found that Arab interaction with Jerusalem's 290,000 Jews was based on mutual economic dependence, but each side preferred social segregation to integration.

Jewish West Jerusalem relies heavily on the Palestinian work force, especially in construction, hotels and municipal jobs such as gardening and garbage collection.

The studies say that in recent years Palestinians have risen to middle-level management in some places, especially hotels, but rarely do they reach the top.

About 50,000 Palestinians have joined the Histadrut Labor Federation which entitles them to social benefits.

Hussein Shweiki, a 50-yearold father of 12, holds the pragmatic view adopted by many Palestinians.

"I don't want trouble," says Shweiki, a cheesemaker for Israel's largest dairy cooperative since 1968. "I had an operation and for the past three months I've been collecting (Israeli) national insurance.

"The young people, they can talk about a Palestinian state. For me, a Palestinian state is a dream. I don't have time to dream, I have to feed my children."

On the Jewish side, Abu Tor resident Shoshana Benvenisti is an exception to the rule — being the only Israeli to live next door to a Palestinian family.

Her sand-colored Arab house is separated from the Barakat family home by a vine-covered white wall, over which she and Mrs. Barakat exchange gifts and food on Jewish and Moslem holidays.

On his last vacation as a merchant marine officer on a Saudi ship, one of the Barakat's sons brought Mrs. Benvenisti a gift from Pakistan and helped her with heavy garden work.

"I have found a comfortable modus vivendi (way of life), I don't experiment," says Mrs. Benvenisti, a translator.

Bride's Charming Suitor Has Become a Green-Eyed Monster

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1984 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: After being chased for three years by a charming Frenchman who begged me to marry him at least 1,000 times, I finally said yes. We've been married for four months, and now I'm afraid I made the biggest mistake of my life.

He was always jealous, but I thought he would change. I was wrong. Although I've never given him any reason to doubt me, he checks up on my every move.

If I say I'm going to my mother's, he phones her house to see if I'm there. If I say I'm going to the beauty shop, he phones me there. He says, "You should be happy I'm jealous. It proves I love you!" Well, I'm not happy; I'm miserable.

I am so fed up with his checking up on me, listening in on my telephone calls and going through my purse, I'm ready to end this marriage.

Could professional help straighten him out, or should I go ahead and divorce him now? Hurry your answer.

FED UP

DEAR FED UP: His jealousy does not prove that he loves you; it proves that he feels inadequate, insecure and unworthy of you.

Professional help may straighten him out, but now that you've already said "I do," don't say "adieu" without giving him a chance to shape up.

DEAR ABBY: I don't know if you ever heard of a case like mine before, but here goes.

My sister passed away in '78 and I still cry about losing her every day. We were very close. I know I'm not the only person who has lost a loved one, but I wonder if there is something wrong with me. I also cry about other things—things I see on TV, sad songs, poems I read, and even sad stories I read in the newspaper.

I took care of a neighbor's little boy for seven months, and when they moved away, I cried for a week.

Why do I do this? I'm 53 years old, have a good husband and a good life. People don't know how much I cry when I'm alone. If they did, they would probably think I'm crazy.

WEEPY

DEAR WEEPY: Don't be ashamed to cry. Tears are healing. You seem to be crying at appropriate times, but you may be crying longer than you should. See your doctor for a checkup, and be sure to tell him what you have told me.

DEAR READERS: I believe the following inspirational message from The Wall Street Journal is worth passing along:

ONCE AN ACORN

"Sometimes to make it big, you first have to make it small. Conrad Hilton started out sweeping floors in a dusty New Mexico hotel. He cleaned up as owner of a famous hotel chain. John Paul Getty started with a $500 oil lease in Oklahoma and became one of America's richest men. David Packard baked the paint onto his first product in a kitchen oven. Forty-five years later, he was running a $4.7 billion company. There are anonymous men and women starting small today whose names will be household words in 20 years. Will one of those names be yours? Get started!"

CONFIDENTIAL TO THE CAMBRIDGE BUM: I recently reran the letter you wrote to me in 1970. A reader requested it because he thought it contained a powerful moral lesson for young people. I agreed. You were 18 and wrote from prison in Cambridge, Minn., while awaiting trial for burglary and other charges. Many readers wrote to ask what happened to you. If you see this, please let me know. Ex-blacksmith likes retirement

By RACHAEL KAMUF
Associated Press Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — There is no shade from a spreading chestnut tree to cool Fred Hutt after spending a warm afternoon over a whitehot forge.

There are no wagons or horses either, but as the sign on his 156-year-old building says, Hutt is a blacksmith.

He is slight and a bit under average height, but there is no doubt about his upper body strength when he handles his tools.

Hutt, who shod his last horse in 1966, now spends his days sharpening drill bits. He also repairs and designs special brackets and instruments in his shop, located just a few blocks from Louisville's downtown shopping and business district.

No job is too small or too large, and Hutt takes special pride in pointing out that he built a grader for Churchill Downs without a blueprint. That led to similar jobs for three other tracks.

Hutt said he had also built the trams to transport fans around the Louisville race track. The third-generation blacksmith said the business had been associated with Churchill Downs for more than 50 years. He's now working on starting gates for the track's new museum.

Hutt, 57, is a blacksmith because his father was one, as was his grandfather. In 1947, after three years of college, he joined his father in a business that's been in the family almost 100 years.

If his father hadn't been ill, Hutt said his name might not have appeared on the sign outside the shop. He admitted that at first he wasn't sold on the work but concedes that "after five years, I loved it."

It's a love affair that is going strong after 37 years because of the challenge and the thrill of seeing his accomplishments, he said.

Although some of his work is done under contract, Hutt doesn't know from year to year what his income will be. That might make him a gambler, he said, but he has been able to provide for six children.

"I feel like I've done a decent job to have been able to raise a family" that ranges in age from 13 to 25.

He admits that perhaps his children have done without some material things, but he's been able to send them to private schools. And while he has worked a minimum of six days a week most of his life, he doesn't envy a man who told him about working regular hours in a factory for 30 years and hating every minute of it.

"I think you've got to be happy in what you do. Can you imagine hating to get out of bed in the morning? I'm satisfied," he said.

His work is physically demanding and Hutt said he had to rely on brains as much as muscle to complete most tasks.

"You learn every day. If you don't you become stagnated and then you are in trouble," he noted.

One reason he's been able to stay in business in the middle of an urban area, Hutt said, has been his ability to adapt to changes. As a result, he has taken a few jobs that he "probably shouldn't have," but always completed them.

Fuel's success 'intoxicating'

By DENNIS PATTERSON
Associated Press Writer

The Watauga County Transportation Authority in North Carolina may be intoxicated with success if the white lightnin' bubbling in their mountain stills keeps packing a powerful punch in authority vehicles.

The 180-proof alcohol appears to be as good as 89-octane gasoline, and authority director Lynn Leidersdorff says he's been pleasantly surprised.

"I'd say the performance so far has been satisfactory, and above our expectations," Leidersdorff said in a telephone interview. "We've seen no appreciable difference in the performance of the van, and our miles per gallon is only down about 2 percent."

The transportation authority is running the corn liquor experiment with financial help from Appalachian State University, the Appalachian Regional Commission, the state Department of Transportation and the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Leidersdorff said the authority had used information readily available from large companies in making the conversion to a multifuel carburetor for two vans. The authority's shop foreman was already familiar with the conversion, Leidersdorff said, because he runs a race car on alcohol fuel.

The authority sells the byproduct of its distilling operation to farmers as a high-protein food supplement, allowing the authority to break even on what it would pay for unleaded gas, he said.

"If we were a private company that could take advantage of the tax credits, we would see about 30 percent reduction in our fuel costs," Leidersdorff said.

He said the still was funded as a demonstration of a fuel still that could operate on farms, providing the farmer with feed for his cattle and fuel for his farm equipment. He would, in turn, grow crops that would feed the still and keep the process going.

City to consider rate request

Lone Star has requested a rate increase equaling approximately 4.2 percent.

At the council's September meeting, it exercised its legal option to postpone a decision on the rate request to allow further study. Effective Sept. 10, the city has a 90-day grace period to take final action.

At Thursday's meeting, the council will also meet with board members and the chief appraiser for the Scurry County Appraisal District.

District and city representatives are to discuss an agreement proposed by the district to specify the amount of city computer disc space available to the district.

Equipment updates on the city computer have been jointly financed in the past by the city and the district, which contracts for use of the city computer.

The agreement sought would outline the amount paid by the district over the years and specify how much computer disc space — the storage element or "memory" of the computer — the city agrees to make available based on this.

The third agenda item relates to a requested subdivision replat of the Bassridge Subdivision being sought by its developers, August Homes of Lubbock.

Developers are hoping to adjust the number of lots for sale at the effected area — located just south of Towle Park — from 12½ to 14 lots.

City lots are scene for wrecks

Three minor traffic mishaps — all on parking lots — were reported in Snyder Wednesday afternoon.

A two-vehicle collision was reported on the parking lot of Snyder High School at 3:37 p.m.

Involved in it were a 1978 Oldsmobile driven by John Wesley Nichols of 208 34th St. and a 1973 Oldsmobile driven by Tommy Chris Fryar of 2316 42nd St.

The parking lot at Piggly Wiggly on College Ave. was the scene of the day's second mishap at 4:35 p.m.

According to reports, a parked 1980 Ford owned by Barbara J. Jacobson of Roswell, N.M. was struck by a 1984 Ford driven by Pauline Carnes Gideon of Ira.

Wednesday's final accident was reported on the parking lot of Central Tire on 25th St. at 5:42 p.m.

Involved in it were a 1978 Ford driven by David Calvert of 3614 44th St. and a 1980 Chevrolet driven by Clifton William Miller of Snyder.

Arrests reported

Snyder police jailed two subjects on misdemeanor charges Wednesday evening.

Both men were charged with public intoxication late in the evening.

Use of Pill can cause acne

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am 36 and my face is still breaking out. I take 2000 mg. of vitamin C every day and I smoke two packs of cigarettes a day. That's why I take so much vitamin C. I also take 400 IU of E, 50 mg. of combined B vitamins and 30 mg. of zinc. If I took more zinc, would my face clear up? My skin is usually oily.

I have been using Oxy-10, which has helped, but leaves my skin dry. Now I use Noxema one or twice a week.

I do not eat candy or junk food. I am on birth-control pills. My face broke out badly when I was a teenager, but it had cleared up. Now it's starting again. Could you please help?

DEAR READER — Taking vitamins or minerals will not help acne. You probably do need more vitamin C than a nonsmoker, since smoking does appear to destroy vitamin C. But I think a much smarter move would be to stop smoking entirely. Cigarette smoking will age your skin. Not only will you have some acne problems, but you will have a wrinkled skin with deep crow's-feet around the eyes before you should. Addtional zinc won't help.

You may be one of the people who develop acne in response to birth-control pills. Ask your doctor about it. You could go without birth-control pills for a trial period and see if that helps. If so, you might do well with a different prescription.

The public is sometimes confused about vitamin A and acne. At one time, large doses of vitamin A were prescribed to treat acne, but this is not true today. Taking large amounts of vitamin A can lead to vitamin toxicity. The derivatives of vitamin A are entirely different and are used as a surface preparation. They decrease oiliness and help improve drainage of the oil glands. Although Accutane, a new medicine, is derived from vitamin A, it is an entirely different chemical with a different effect.

I have summarized the current thinking about treating acne in a new issue of The Health Letter, Special Report 29, Controlling Acne, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspapers, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Why do some people develop such unhealthy fingernails that they are positively unsightly? My nails splinter and form layers. I've tried every "cure" and "strengthener" on the market. Actually, hardeners and strengtheners definitely make my condition worse. So does regular nail polish, for that matter.

I wrote off gelatin as useless years ago. I have begun to wonder if calcium might help. Do you have any advice?

DEAR READER — You are right that fingernail polish, remover and even hardener can be hard on fingernails. The remover contains harsh chemicals. Fingernails are specialized skin. They need moisturizers to avoid dryness, which leads to splintering and peeling. Don't use anything on your nails. But after having your hands in water, rub your nails with Vaseline or a similar preparation. That helps to conserve their moisture. Also, one night a week, you might want to coat them well with petroleum jelly and wear rubber gloves, for additional moisturizing effect.

A good diet is helpful. That includes adequate calcium, complete proteins and iron. Gelatin is not a complete protein. Avoid harsh detergents if you can.

Inmate escapes school

DENTON, Texas (AP) — Officials were searching for a state prison inmate who walked away from a North Texas junior high school where he was hanging curtains as part of a work crew.

A dispatcher with the Denton County sheriff's office said late Wednesday officers had been unable to locate 32-year-old Mark Byers, who escaped Wednesday afternoon from Calhoun Junior High School.

Guards noticed Byers was missing about 4:50 p.m., prison system spokesman Charles Brown said. By that time, he had probably been gone about an hour and a half, Brown said.

Brown said Byers was traveling with an industrial division of the prison system which works in state buildings and in schools. Ordinarily such inmates return to prison each day, Brown said.

Byers was based at the Wynne Unit near Huntsville. He is serving a 15-year sentence for unauthorized use of a vehicle and burglary of a residence in Dallas County.

Brown said local authorities had been notified and were searching for the inmate.

Byers, who is 6 feet tall and weighs 154 pounds, escaped in his prison-issue white trousers and shirt, Brown said.

Man refuses to waive rights

BASTROP, Texas (AP) — The man charged with kidnapping 8-year-old Vicki Lynn Hoskinson won't waive his right to oppose extradition to Arizona, and authorities say a successful extradition effort could take weeks.

Frank Jarvis Atwood — charged with the Sept. 17 kidnapping of the Tucson, Ariz., youth — appeared at a district court hearing here Wednesday at which bond was set at $2 million.

District Judge Harold R. Towslee set the bond recommended earlier by Pima County Superior Court Judge Robert Buchanan, who issued a state kidnapping warrant for Atwood last week in Tucson.

Towslee also appointed attorney Art Keinarth of Smithville to represent Atwood, who remains in the Bastrop jail.

FBI and other officials arrested Atwood in Kerrville, Texas, two weeks ago on a federal kidnapping warrant. The federal charge was dismissed Monday, four days after Buchanan issued the state warrant.

The Hoskinson girl, who disappeared from a Flowing Wells-area neighborhood near her home, has yet to be found.

In another development, an Oklahoma detective reportedly tried to warn authorities that Atwood was on his way to Tucson.

Informants in Enid said Atwood, a convicted child molester on parole in California, was heading to Tucson, West said.

The Indian Constituent Assembly adopted a republican constitution Nov. 26, 1949, and India became the first republic within the Commonwealth two months later.
