Internal Row Being Staged By Members

Urban And Industrial Leaders Threaten To Strike Cotton From Proposed Farm Bill

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1—A behind-the-scenes struggle over crop control and wage-hour bills threw house members today in such turmoil that some legislators said both measures might be endangered.

Representatives of urban and industrial districts indicated they would try to strike cotton provisions from the farm bill unless southern colleagues help get a vote on the labor standards measure.

Meeting Is Postponed

The labor bloc arranged to organize last night, but postponed the meeting until tonight on the plea of Chariman Norton (D-NJ) of the labor committee.

She preferred to see how many of 24 necessary names could be added today to a petition to wrest the wage-hour bill from the rules committee and bring it before the house within a fortnight.

Leaders Not Worried

Although Mrs. Norton said a "double-edged sword" might kill both farm and labor bills, house leaders declared they were not worried about either. Majority Leader Rayburn said he was confident the wage-hour petition would be completed by the end of the week.

The labor bill's backers contended they were entitled to support from farm-state congressmen because they always had aided farm legislation. Many southern members have opposed the wage-hour bill on the contention it would harm industrial development in the south.

Final Debate Stages

In both senate and house, farm legislation entered the final stages of debate. Although opponents have critized virtually all major provisions, sponsors predicted the measures would be approved with only minor changes.

After the vote on the farm bill, leaders spoke hopefully of bringing before the house the administration bill to stimulate a privately-financed

"I Don't Know Why I Did It," Schoolboy Says After Shooting; His Victim Is Near Death

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Dec. 1—Tom B. Cathey, 26, salesman, was near death here today from three bullet wounds after sixteen-year-old George McFall Nance, jr., had told Chief Deputy Sheriff Bill Decker "I don't know why I did it."

Cathey was shot three times, once in the side and twice in the back, near Duncanville yesterday.

In a written statement before officers and newspapermen, the high school junior said he came home from school, put his father's .32-caliber pistol in his pocket and started to walk to his uncle's home a few miles away.

"This man gave me a ride," the statement read. "I had been in the car only a few minutes when I drew my pistol and told him to turn where I directed . . . While we were riding along he told me if it was the car I wanted he would lend it to me for the night. He said he wouldn't say anything to police and would give me a written statement saying he was allowing me to use the car of his own free will and accord.

"But I made him stop and get out. He walked through the cedars about 50 yards off the road and suddenly I made up my mind to shoot him. I don't know why."

Cathey was picked up by passersby. The youth was arrested at a hamburger stand a few hours later. The automobile was found there. Several of the half dozen companions of the youth said they had been joy-riding in the automobile, that the driver had explained he had it "on trial."

Plans For Balancing Budget Cause Split

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1 — President Roosevelt's proposal to curtail road expenditures created in congress today the same split that has developed among presidential advisers over wisdom of balancing the federal budget at this time.

Opposition was directed at the president's choice of highway funds as the first medium for reducing expenditures.

Voices were raised against the policy of balancing the budget under present economic conditions, although many legislators still favored such action.

Some senators who heretofore have advocated quick balancing of the budget said the business decline now called for a different strategy.

Senator Austin (R-Vermont) said, "we can't change new deal spending policies suddenly, abruptly, without creating great injury."

Senator Pittman of Nevada said he had "never considered balancing the budget so acute an emergency as reducing unemployment."

Some advocates of budget balancing said they would go along with the president's recommendation.

Some senators and house members said they would vote against cutting road funds, but would support reductions in other appropriations.

Bright Future Forecast For The Farmers

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Dec. 1—There's no business slump down on the farm.

Furthermore, farm and industrial statisticians declared today the immediate agricultural outlook is optimistic.

Citing charts and figures, they asserted there has been no recession in national cash farm income and that market statistics indicated no pronounced setback is likely the next few months. In October cash farm income reached the highest point in seven years.

Same As Year Ago

Figures showed, for example, that the market valuation of grains, despite the price drop, was practically the same as a year ago when agriculture launched its most prosperous year since 1930. Hog prices have dropped sharply but swine marketed here in November returned more cash to producers than did the smaller receipts of August when prices were at eleven-year highs.

Nat Murray, veteran Chicago statistician, said "Although the price per unit is smaller, farmers are getting a total amount more than last year and at the same time are giving buyers more for their money."

Harry G. Davis, farm equipment institute research director, prepared a chart showing that in the 12-months period ended October 31 cash farm income plus benefit payments totaled $8,616,000,000, the greatest for any twelve months' period since late in 1930.

Apology Made By Japanese To America

U. S. Launch Is Returned To Owners Along With Flags; Japs Disturbed By Reaction

(By The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, Dec. 1—The Japanese navy returned to its owners with apologies today an American-owned launch, seizure of which by Japanese sailors yesterday drew a protest from the United States consul general.

Apparently disturbed by strong reaction in the United States, the Japanese returned two American flags with the vessel.

All Just A Mistake

They also handed back to their owners two Italian vessels with apologies that their seizure yesterday was "all a mistake."

Japanese assertions that Japanese sailors had not thrown the United States flag into the Whangpoo river when they took over the vessel were confirmed by United States consulate officials.

The William Hunt Steamship company, owner of the launch, had reported the alleged disrespect to the flag to American Consul General Clarence E. Gauss, who protested yesterday against seizure of American property and discourtesy to the flag.

Merely Handed Down

Officials explained the flag merely had been handed down to an adjoining Chinese launch at the time the American vessel was seized.

A Japanese embassy spokesman earlier today explained that the launch was seized under Japan's blockade regulations and declared the Japanese navy had felt certain that it was the property of the Chinese government.

Japanese forces had seized a number of Chinese vessels to transport supplies and troops to the interior for their drive against Nanking. Reinforcements moved steadily westward.

Japanese reported capture of Kiangyin forts, where Chinese had blockaded the Yangtze river ap-

Ford Plant Faces Charge Of Unfair Labor Practices

(By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 1—The national labor relations board issued a complaint today charging the Ford Motor company with unfair labor practices in its St. Louis assembly plant. A hearing was set for Dec. 16.

Charges against the company were filed with the board Oct. 25 by the United Automobile Workers of America, which called a strike at the plant a week ago, alleging discrimination against its members.

Milton N. Johnson, plant manager, specifically denied each of the union's charges.

The complaint alleged that the company has "interferred with, restrained and coerced its employes in the exercise of their right to self-organization" by:

1. Threatening to discharge employes who wore union buttons in the plant or displayed other evidence of union membership.
2. Threatening to discharge employes who refused to sign a statement that they were satisfied with working conditions and the company's labor policy.
3. Preparing and disseminating "loyalty pledges" and urging and compelling employes to sign them.
4. Threatening to close the plant and move it to another city unless employes halted labor activity and dropped any union affiliations.
5. Keeping all union and organization activities under "strict surveillance."
6. Employing armed guards for the intimidation of employes seeking to exercise the rights of self-organization.
7. Distributing anti-union propaganda and fostering and financing the "Ford service workers" and the "Ford loyalty group."
8. Laying off and refusing to rehire certain workers because of their union membership.

Decision Made After Appeal From Ruling

Texas Supreme Court Claims Graduated Tax According To Number Not Discriminatory

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Dec. 1—Validity of the Texas tax on chain stores was upheld today by the state supreme court.

The tribunal held that the placing of a graduated tax on stores according to their number constituted a valid classification and was not discriminatory.

Levies Are Varied

The levy varies from $6 a year on each store in the smallest chain to $750 on each establishment in the largest.

The case was appealed from Dallas county. The court of civil appeals there had tentatively upheld the tax while certifying questions to the supreme court.

The opinion, written by Judge J. E. Hickman of the commission of appeals, was adopted unanimously by the court. Hickman pointed to decisions of the supreme court of the United States on the Indiana, Florida, West Virginia and Louisiana chain store taxes.

Distinctive Features

The nation's highest tribunal has held, Hickman said, that numerous distinctive features exist between the business of a chain store and that of independent establishments.

"To strike down the act," he wrote, "we must hold the legislature acted arbitrarily or capriciously. Courts generally over the country, including the highest court in the land, hold that reasonable differences justifying the classification exist. It cannot be demonstrated that they do not exist. How then could we at this late day justify a holding that the differences seen by all those great courts are but the fruits of their imaginations. We are unwillin to assume such a critical attitude."

The tax has been estimated to raise between $500,000 and $750,000 a year. Representatives of the chain store interests probably will ask a rehearing n the state's highest tribunal and failing in that appeal to the supreme court of the United States.

Some Firms Exempt

Hickman said that the statute's exemption of lumber yards, filling stations, and other establishments from the tax did not invalidate it.

"The fact that the merchants exempted from the tax sell a different kind of goods from those which are taxed is an all sufficient justification of the exemption," he declared.

Relative to an exemption of manufacturing concerns operating stores for distribution of their products only, the court said it merely exempted distribution establishments at which no sales were made. It does not exempt retail auto tire and shoe stores which make sales.

Nine Are At Liberty After Corpus Break

(By The Associated Press)

CORPUS CHRISTI, Dec. 1—Nine men escaped early today from the Nueces county jail on the sixth floor of the Nueces county courthouse. A widespread manhunt was started immediately throughout Southwest Texas.

The group was led by Freemont McCollum, under 16-year sentence in federal court for armed robbery of the Orange Grove State bank last December. Others in the group included George Priest, held on white slave charges, Eduardo Ramirez, under 10-year term for murder, Henry Huff and Herman Brown.

The men were confined in a recently completed new section of the jail. Officers said they managed to work loose several rivets, making a small hole in the wall which allowed them to reach outside of a window. They reached the ground by means of a rope made of mattress coverings and blankets. The escape was not discovered until 5 o'clock when trainmen saw the rope and notified officers.

Million Dollar Narcotics Ring Is Reported To Be Smashed

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP)—Smashing of a million dollar international narcotics syndicate which hired women to smuggle heroin with the connivance or bribed customs agents was claimed today by federal agents.

One hundred agents in raids yesterday arrested 15 men and 5 women on charges of smuggling and bribery, and sought ten others.

Joseph P. Martin, assistant United States attorney, said the syndicate had paid $1,000 each to three customs agents here each time they permitted women "tourists" to enter with narcotics concealed in their trunks.

Chicken-In-Every-Pot Plan Not What Ex-Spouse Wants

CHICAGO, Dec. 1 (AP)—That chicken-in-every-pot standard of living may be okay but Mrs. Mae Sandet wants no part of it.

Her attorney came into circuit court yesterday and complained her estranged husband, Ernest, head of a commission house, had paid out $466.08 in temporary alimony in the form of dressed chickens, meat and vegetables.

Judge Philip J. Finnegan ordered payments of $25 a week hereafter—in cash.

Man Just Sighs And Dies As Landlady Refuses Him Pie

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 1 (AP)—Seventy-year-old Harry Godderd, blind pensioner ill a long time, asked his landlady, Mrs. Nellie Anderson, yesterday for a piece of pie.

Mrs. Anderson told him that his weakened condition made pie eating unwise. Godderd sighed, then died.

YOUTH EXONERATED

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 1. (AP)—Twenty-three-year-old James Womack, a research chemist, was absolved today by Pasadena police and district attorney's investigators of any connection with the poisoning of Mrs. Lennie Morey, inventor of a motion picture color process.

Texas Masons Are On Hand For Session

(By The Associated Press)

WACO, Dec. 1 The same gavel Sam Houston used to assemble the organization meeting of the Grand Lodge of the Republic of Texas in the senate chamber at Houston 100 years ago this month, today sounded the opening of the Grand Lodge of Texas, A. F. and A. M.

Grand Master Galloway Calhoun of Tyler rapped the anniversary session to order at 10 a. m. in the Grand Lodge auditorium which could not seat hundreds of those attracted to the centennial program.

Is Centennial Year

Although this is the centennial year of the Grand Lodge the present communication is the 102nd.

The Houston gavel was presented to Master Calhoun by James W. McClendon, past grand master, Austin, as a gift from W. A. Clubhant, past master of Hill City lodge, Austin.

Sam Darden, master of J. W. Speight lodge, Waco, welcomed the Grand Lodge representatives and visitors. John Temple Rice, El Paso, deputy grand master, responded.

Representatives Welcomed

Representatives of 35 grand jurisdictions of the United States, Canada, Mexico and Hawaii were welcomed. W. M. Fly, representative of the Grand Lodge of New Jersey and Cosmos Grand Lodge of Mexico, responded.

The Grand Lodge recessed at noon to continue its afternoon and evening centennial program at the Cotton Palace coliseum which will be climaxed by a banquet for more than 3,000 Master Masons and the presentation of a tableau arranged by the centennial commission to be witnessed by 7,500.

Melvin M. Johnson, past grand master of Massachusetts, considered one of the foremost authorities on Masonry, Dr. C. C. Selecman, president of Southern Methodist university, and Pat M. Neff, president of Baylor university, will address the Masons this afternoon.

Aged Couple Near Death After Gas Blast In Tourist Cabin

DURANT, Okla., Dec. 1 (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Lewton, aged couple from Kansas City, Kas., were reported near death in a hospital here today from burns suffered in a gas explosion in a tourist cabin at Atoka.

They told investigators they left the gas stove burning when they retired last night and the fire went out.

When Lewton arose today he attempted to relight the stove. A terrific explosion ripped off the top of the cabin and blew out one wall.

Al Smith Says Only Two Things Are Really Wrong In Nation

NEW YORK, Dec. 1. (AP)—Former Governor Alfred E. Smith says there are two things fundamentally wrong with the nation:

1. "The complete lack of interest on the part of the ordinary citizen in the operation of his government," and
2. "People don't know they are paying the taxes."

Seal Takes Nip At Actor But Andy Won't Stand For It

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 1. (AP)—Andy Devine and a seal named Butch traded bites today.

It was for a scene in "Dr. Rhythm." After the seal took a nip at Devine, Andy turned on Butch and bit him.

Two Killed In Plane Crash

(By The Associated Press)

SHREVEPORT, La., Dec. 1.—An army pilot and an enlisted man were killed today when a Barksdale field plane crashed near Avery, Texas, about 50 miles west of Texarkana, Ark.

The pilot was Second Lieut. Charles William Field, 23, air reserve, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Field of Rocky Face, Ga.

The enlisted man was Private George W. Bolton, jr., 19., son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Bolton of Bienville parish, La.

Both Are Victims

Early reports said only the pilot was killed, but army officers at Barksdale field later announced both occupants of the plane were killed.

They said the plane, a new type army attack plane, crashed while engaged with two other Barksdale field planes in combat training in the vicinity of Avery.

Details of the crash were delayed in reaching officers at the local base, who launched an immediate investigation.

U. Brown Chosen District Clerk By Lubbock Judges As Jackson Resigns Post

U. Brown, deputy Lubbock county district clerk the last three years, was appointed district clerk this morning.

He will serve the unexpired term ending in January 1939, of Floyd Jackson, who suddenly tendered his resignation about 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon to take effect at midnight.

Made By Judges

Brown's appointment was made by District Judges E. L. Pitts of 99th district court and Daniel A. Blair of 72nd district court in accordance with the procedure outlined in the state's revised civil statutes of 1936.

Brown's application for the place stated specifically that he will not run for reelection to the office.

Official statements still were entirely lacking this morning as to reasons for Jacksons sudden resignation. He said Tuesday night that he would issue a public statement within the next few days.

Serving Second Term

Jackson was serving his second term, having been elected at the general election of 1932 for the term beginning in 1933.

Several technical legal developments delayed the appointment of his successor several hours beyond the expected time this morning. A special meeting of the county commissioners court was called Tuesday night by County Judge J. J. Dillard for this morning, and the officials gathered in obedience to the call.

The session lasted, however, only long enough for them to read the law and to decide that the resignation and appointment of successor in the district clerk's office were matters specifically delegated to the district judges.

Must File Bond

The actual act of qualifying, it was explained, consists of the filing of the required surety bond of office, which is $5,000, and the formal administration of oath. Those technicalities probably will be completed this afternoon. As deputy, Brown's bond has been $1,000.

Pitts and Blair made the appointment in executive session in which county commissioners sat as observers. The judges said that they reached agreement without difficulty.

Reports were that other applications were submitted, among them that of Mrs. Jackson.

However, Louie F. Moore, chief deputy county clerk who had been mentioned as a possible applicant, said the report was entirely in error and that he did not seek the place.

The new district clerk is a native of Mt. Pleasant, Texas, and served

Warning Given On Farm Bill

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1—Agriculture department officials, declaring they wanted the crop control program to be practicable, advised today against enacting legislation too hurriedly.

There is no undue rush in passing a farm bill, said one high authority in the Agriculture Adjustment administration, as long as it is finished before the 1938 planting season, He added:

Want Workable Plan

"We feel that the main thing is to get a good, workable bill, even if it takes us into the regular session."

Other agriculture officials said privately that longer debate might produce legislation more nearly to their liking.

They pictured the AAA as desiring a program that would provide $650,000,000 to $750,000,000 for farm subsidies. President Roosevelt, indicating he preferred to hold the cost to the $500,000,000 already authorized for next year, said last week congress would have to find new revenue for expenditures above that figure.

Debate continued in both senate and house.

Rise Of 293,000 In Number Of Unemployed Reported Today

NEW YORK, Dec. 1. (AP)—There was a rise of 293,000 during October in the number of unemployed persons in the United States, the national industrial conference board estimated today. This increase over the September level lifted the number of unemployed to an estimated total of 6,355,000.

Senator Vandenberg Claims He Will Nof Become A Candidate

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 1. (AP)—Sen. Vandenberg of Michigan is "not a candidate" for the Republican presidential nomination and "should not be put in a false position" he wired friends here who today proposed a Vandenberg-for-president club.

Leo Koehler, slated for presidency of the proposed Vandenberg club, said "we know Senator Vandenberg is not a candidate. What we are trying to do is make him a candidate."

Flying Instruction In Land Grant Colleges Now Urged

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 1. (AP)—Flying instruction in land grant colleges as a means of building up a reserve of aviators for national emergency was advocated today before air officials of two score states.

"America lags in training its man power for war in the air, if that war ever comes," Floyd E. Evans, Michigan state director of aeronautics, said at the annual convention of the National Association of State Aviation Officials.

TEXAS LAWYER DIES

BRENHAM, Dec. 1 (AP) — Judge John M. Mathis, 67, former member of the Texas legislature and wellknown criminal lawyer, died today.

City Lighting Plans Rushed

Firemen today exhibited blistered fingers, but they didn't have time to stop to nurse the blisters.

They merely covered them with tire tape and continued their work of attaching 5,000 sockets to approximately 13,000 feet of electric wiring.

Work Against Time

They were working against time. Before electric wiring can be strung in Lubbock in preparation for a brilliant Christmas lighting display, work of the firemen is necessary.

The sockets had been attached to approximately 5,000 feet of wiring this morning, said W. E. Twitty, fire chief.

In the meantime, members of the city electrical department were hoping for favorable weather for the tedious process of attaching the electrical lines to supporting wires. In each of the 5,000 sockets must be snapped small wire hangers, and in each must be screwed a tintel light bulb.

Chief Twitty pointed out that preparation for the Christmas lighting display will be comparatively easy after this year. Electric lines will be numbered and given locations, and maps of the lighted section will be made, showing where each line should be placed.

Pension Setup Given Change

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Dec. 1.—Administration of old age assistance functioned under a new setup today.

As a retrenchment move, officials yesterday reduced from 20 to 15 the number of district offices.

Supervisors Resign

W. A. Little, acting director, announced also the resignation of three district supervisors, J. S. Fischer of Plainview, T. C. Atwood of San Angelo and W. R. Thomas of Athens.

The realignment included the following changes:

Lufkin became a sub-office in the Beaumont district with Joe Denman, former supervisor, named worker in charge.

Athens became sub-office in the Waco district with a worker in charge to be appointed later.

Poe Replaces Campbell

Dennis M. Poe, supervisor at El Paso, replaced W. J. Campbell, San Antonio supervisor who returned to a former post as investigator and Uvalde became a sub-office with R. N. Pulliam in charge. James M. Deaver was named worker in charge of the El Paso district, a supervisor to be chosen later.

Wichita Falls headquarters took in more territory with Homer Brelsford, formerly in charge at Abilene, supervisor. S. S. Ikard, former supervisor at Wichita Falls, became an investigator and George Harper was appointed worker in charge at Abilene.

San Angelo became a sub-office in the Brownwood district with a worker in charge to be named later.

Plainview became a sub-office in the Amarillo district.

"Don't Take Life So Seriously; You Ain't Going To Get Out Of It Alive Anyway!" Is Bit Of Local Philosophy

BY IVAN LITTLE

"Don't Take Life So Seriously; You Ain't Going to Get Out of It Alive Anyway!"

Philosophy leaps from gothic, script and from neon letters of numerous signs here and there in Lubbock, mostly at places where men draw up close to counters in eating establishments. Most signs or placards are reminders the man who fries hamburgers wants to be paid, and proposes to be paid before the customer leaves.

Posted in one cafe are these laconic words:

"Credit? Hell no! We're broke, too." And at the same time patrons obligingly are reminded that:

"Your face is good alright, but we can't put it in a cash register."

If that ruffles the tender feelings of the customer, he can find consolation in this: "We have an agreement with the banks—They won't sell our goods, and we won't cash checks or give credit."

One place, well versed in modern affairs, carries a sign that should forestall many divorces. It is addressed to Tired Husband: "If your wife can't cook, keep her for a pet and eat here!"

The proverbial "If you are so damn smart, why ain't you rich?" witticism is rarely found, but a few places display it.

Another sign, evidently originated by someone who knows, reads, "When in doubt, eat ham and eggs." But it is bested by the sophisticated wit who printed, "Our coffee has the kick of a flapper's kiss."

A bridge player, not a grammarian, though of these lines:

"I may have a good heart

"And you may have a big diamond,

"But there is always a man with a big spade

"Ready to dig my grave if I go bust—

For behind the counter I keep a big clu

"For the man who asks me to trust."

But they make for as much context as those jingles in a "Shooting Gallery" (as it is

PRAYER MEETING TONIGHT

International Dance Festival Will Plead For World Peace

Ballet Proves Big Feature

Editor's Note: This article on the "dance international" programs should be of unusual interest in Lubbock since two of the ballets mentioned are to be presented here early in 1938. The Jooss Ballet will appear as a number of Tech Artists course; Trudi Schoop's Comic Ballet is on the South Plains Civic Music association series of programs.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 — The Dance —from the ballet to the Big Apple and such goings-on—is being enlisted in the fight for peace.

While Death is dancing across China and Spain, the peoples of 40 nations have joined together in presenting an international festival at Radio City that began November 28 and will continue to January 2.

The Dance International 1900-1937, as it is officially known, was conceived by Louise Branch out of a desire "to help bring about in friendly competition a closer relationship for better understanding of all nations. In this way may lie the hope of world peace."

Among the countries represented in the "friendly competition" are Japan and China, Germany and Russia, Italy and England.

The Festival is featuring two performances by the foremost American ballet and modern dance groups; a series of 15 afternoon folk-dance programs by representatives of 27 governments, lectures, exhibits, and motion pictures.

Warring Nations Take Part

Instead of bullets, bombs, and battleships the nations are exhibiting books, sculpture, paintings and every form of art that touches upon The Dance.

And, instead of newsreels of the shelling of Shanghai, there will be motion pictures of South African dances and the duk-duk steps of the New Guinea natives, and the only film made of the whirling Pavlowa. Mary Pickford, herself, ground out this precious footage of flying feet.

Japan, half of whose male population is now clothed in khaki and steel, has sent over rare dance costumes, apparently not having any particular use for them at the present time. Italy, carving out an empire, has contributed the sculpture of Antonio Marain. France has sent the paints of Degas.

Broadway will send Patricia Bowman, Paul Haakon and Paul Draper of musical comedy fame to collaborate with the Ballet Caravan, the Dance Center Company, and Catherine Littlefield's Philadelphia Ballet Company, which troupe, by the way, is as rugged as it is graceful, including a wrestler, football star, track man, and truck driver.

Ends With Modern Step

Ruth St. Denis, Martha Graham, Hanya Holm, Doris Humphreys, Charles Weidman, Tamiris, Anita Zahn, Felicia Sorel, Gluck-Sandor and their groups will demonstrate the Modern Dance on the night of Jan. 2.

The first week of folk dances with recitals on Dec. 2 and Dec. 4 offers the representatives of Armenia, Cuba, France, Jugoslavia, Portugal, Sweden and Ukraine, Austria, Bulgaria, China, Czechoslovakia, England, Estonia, Hawaii, Norway and Spain will dance during the second week.

The third week of recitals will see Denmark, Germany, Hungary, Japan, Italy, Lithuania, Poland, Scotland, South America dancing. Africa, Central America, Finland, Greece, India, Ireland, The Netherlands, and Rumania will dance in the fourth week.

Mexico and the U. S. will dance December 28, 30 and January 1 with the American Indian, American Square, Negro, Filipino and Porto Rican dances being demonstrated.

Directors of the Dance International have gone to a great expense, they say, scouting through the various countries for performers during the past summer, but they (and "they" are such notables as Anne Morgan, Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, David Sarnoff, Edward M. M. Warburg, and so forth) are unselfishly thinking of "art for art's sake."

Audiences Enthusiastic

However, it is quite possible that the Festival will be a financial success. The Dance is stepping right along in this country.

The terpsichoreans report that America is appreciating their pirouettes and whirls and twists and twirls more and more every year.

About $[illegible] was spent by American devotees of The Dance last year to watch their favorites [illegible]. Chicago is the most [illegible] The Dance. Los Angeles is a close second. New York, Philadelphia, San Francisco, Boston, and St. Louis rate in that order in the big league of ballet.

This season promises to be the biggest in the history of The Dance. More concert groups and ballet companies are taking to the road than ever before.

Among them are the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo (which last year brought in a record of $1,000,000 on its fifth transcontinental tour); the Hindu Shan-Kar; Trudi Schoop's Comic Ballet, who are quite serious about their comedy; and the Jooss Ballet, which has proved America likes its dance thoughtful and rugged and which will tour 22 weeks instead of nine as last year.

Entry Lists In Slaton Show Scheduled To Close Today

SLATON, Dec. 1 (Special)—Entry lists will close today for the first annual Slaton Community show scheduled to open Thursday and continue through Friday and Saturday, according to A. J. Payne, manager of the chamber of commerce.

The exhibits will be in place in time for the opening at 9 o'clock Thursday morning. No entry fee is charged.

Three departments included in the show are for home canned goods, fancy work and poultry. Prizes in all divisions, including poultry, will be limited to residents of Slaton vicinity.

R. B. Galloway, Amarillo, is to judge the show. N. C. Dickson is president of the association sponsoring the show. No admission fee is to be charged, but prizes will be given.

Annual Turkey Show Opened

(Special To The Journal)

PLAINVIEW, Dec. 1—The municipal auditorium this morning was the center of activities for the fourth annual dressed turkey show sponsored by the Hi-Plains Turkey Improvement association as it was opened here. Dressed birds were being placed in the cool auditorium building preparatory to judging by H. P. Griffin, Salt Lake City, Utah.

Farmers and county agents were here for the occasion. An educational exhibit was also being planned.

Entries Are Closed

Entries closed at 9 o'clock. Griffin was to start his work before noon.

Several nearby towns were expected to send delegations here, including Lubbock.

Last year 696 birds, all dressed, were entered. This year but one bird to a class instead of two, will be permitted to each entrant. This is expected to reduce the number in the show.

Over $500 In Prizes

Prize money amounts to over $500; of this, $67 will be for live birds, entered in a separate class. Only U. S. prime or better birds will be entered. Live birds will be judged by breeds, each breed competing against all other breeds.

Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock a baked turkey will be served to visitors by Hale county home demonstration women. George P. McCarthy, College Station, extension service assistant poultry husbandman, will carve and serve the bird, which demonstration women have baked. Two birds, in fact, are to be shown and carved, one a prime turkey and the other a commercial bird. Facts will be given on the weight, etc., of the two and the differences also noted.

At night the annual meeting of the Hi-Plains Turkey Growers association will be held in the Hotel Hilton. Choice, baby-beef type of turkey will be served at the banquet. Following it a dance is to be given in the hotel.

Thursday morning Griffin will conduct a school for breeders. Vocational agriculture teachers and classes from high schools of the area are expected here.

Auction On Thursday

In the afternoon, starting at 1:30, the annual auction is to be held. Commercial buyers to the number of between 150 and 200 have been invited. H. S. Hilburn, chairman of the committee, will cry the sale. Paul S. Cunyus, general manager of the association is aiding in arrangements.

General show committee is composed of R. Q. Silverthorne, C. B. Martin, Roy B. Davis, W. A. Painter and Smith, all of Plainview. Painter is show president.

Besides Hilburn, on the sales committee are Mason King, Amarillo, Fred Warren, Chicago, A. B. Davis, Lubbock and Ben F. Smith, Plainview.

Manager Smith and J. T. Hatch, Plainview and McCarthy are on the program committee.

The board of city development and chamber of commerce sponsor the show, offering prize money. Local committees have completed raising the funds.

Christian Women To Honor Vivretts, New Members

"Rosebud" Names Are Drawn At Meeting Of Needlers

"Rosebud" names were revealed and new names were drawn at a meeting of the Sew-a-While club with Mrs. George Long, 2117 Ninth street, Tuesday afternoon.

The club planned to give a Christmas party Thursday, December 16 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Elliott, 1620 Seventh street. The next regular club meeting will be at 3 p. m. January 4 in the home of Mrs. Vernon McCullough, 1616 Ninth street.

Attending the Tuesday meeting were Mesdames Raymond Land, McCullough, Craig, Bond, Homer Moss, Elliott and Connie Dale.

"The other morning I woke up with a cold. My nose was running—my eyes were running—and everything seemed to be running but my bowels. Right there mama figured I was temporarily constipated, which made me feel worse. She gave me Teethina, because mama says Teethina is the nicest, kindest laxative for little fellows like me. It cleansed my bowels and helped to relieve my acid condition. I feel better now and I want to thank my drug store for always keeping a big supply of Teethina on hand. Teethina costs only 30c for twelve nice-tasting powders." TEETHINA.

"Dillinger Was A Piker!" They're All Pikers If They're Dead

Theme Song Of Three Bandits Is Ended By G-Men Bullets

BY JACK HEIL
NEA Special Correspondent

The stuttering, chattering ribbon of machine gun fire had just mowed down Patrolman Paul Minneman, of the Indiana State Police, with 54 steel-jacketed slugs.

A scant hundred yards away in a field, clipped like a broken field runner as he fled, lay the bullet-riddled body of Deputy Sheriff Elmer Craig.

In the maroon sedan three men grinned at each other and laughed aloud as they sped away from the little white schoolhouse which had provided the ambush.

"Dillinger was a piker."

That was their motto, the phrase that Al Brady, James Dalhover and Clarence Lee Shaffer, jr., set out to make a byword and they succeeded, at least as far as the police were concerned.

Kill Without Reason

"John Dillinger couldn't be a chauffeur for this mob," said Captain Matt Leach of the Indiana State Police. He was gritting his teeth as he spoke. Captain Leach had known Dillinger, too, had hounded his trail for weeks and months and had brought him back from the west when Dillinger and his gang were captured there.

"These three kill without reason or cause—just for the pure fun of it. They're kill crazy."

Dillinger a piker? Putting it in terms of brutality and murder and lawlessness as the Brady gang put it—yes.

From rural Kentland, in western Indiana, short, slight Al Brady had come to Indianapolis as a petty thief and racketeer. Resisting arrest on suspicion, he was shot by an Indianapolis patrolman. Brady vowed vengeance and after a term in the Pendleton Reformatory for auto theft, set out to get it.

Liked The "Difference"

From down in Marion, Indiana, came that "atom of lawlessness." Dalhover, hardly five feet four inches in height, with his blondish hair rapidly receding from a weak forehead at 35. Bootlegger in prohibition days and hijacker, rattish in appearance, he liked the "difference" that a blazing gun gave his stature.

Indianapolis born and raised was Shaffer, about Dalhover's height, with a light brown, wavy pompadour, a pleasing profile, but his crooked mouth gave him a perpetual sneer at life.

They met in Indianapolis in January of 1936 and it is more than probable that the one thing which welded them together more than anything else was their stunted size, the inborn inferiority complex of each, the introspective craving for headlines and notoriety that would compensate their runtiness.

They started out by preying on filling stations and small stores and then they skipped a class in crime and graduated to the "big time." It took them just 18 months to make good that boast:

"Dillinger was a piker."

In those 18 months Brady had been listed as the government's Public Enemy No. 1, and Dalhover and Shaffer might well have had the second and third places on the nation's crime list.

They raided an armory, carting away an army machine gun so heavy, with its tripod, that it took the combined strength of the three to carry it. They mounted it on the back seat of a sedan to cover their flight and cut down pursuit.

Murder A Policeman

Within the course of little more than a month they had looted jewelry stores in Greenville, Dayton and Lima, Ohio. They had shot a grocery clerk in Piqua, wrecked a section of Lima's North Main street business section in a gun battle with police.

Fleeing from Lima with a wounded pal they raced to the home of an Indianapolis physician where Sergeant Richard Rivers in charge of a police detail surprised them. They killed Rivers and escaped.

From this murder they hurried to Chicago where their women were waiting—they all three liked women, stole and killed for them—but Chicago police ferreted out Brady and Dalhover, and Shaffer was picked up in Indianapolis a short time later.

In jail they showed their strangest trait. Each boasted that he and he alone had killed Officer Rivers—and collectively they boasted that no jail could hold them, that—Dillinger was a piker.

Jail Doesn't Hold Them

That Greenville jail, near Indianapolis, didn't hold them. They battered Sheriff Clarence Watson into insensibility and fled, and guards imagined they heard them laughing as they ran.

A dozen bank robberies followed until May 25, 1937, when the trio looted the State Bank of Goodland, and while escaping approached the intersection where Officer Minneman and his companion were stationed. They whirled about and lost the pursuing officers, stopped behind the schoolhouse and sprung their deadly ambuscade.

Within 10 days of the Minneman murder they had looted the First National Bank of Plymouth, Mich., and another at North Baltimore, Ohio.

Robbery At High Noon

There were more robberies and more gun battles, then Baltimore, Md., police flushed them and the police escaped with their lives luckily—for they weren't prepared for the reception they received.

While in Baltimore, Md., Shaffer and Dalhover had married. Brady was "engaged" and they were living "respectable" lives—doing their raiding elsewhere. Brady and a woman companion spent a week at the fashionable Plaza Hotel at Indian Lake, Ohio, in the latter part of August, and then the gang shot down Jim Tisone in Youngstown, and robbed him of $9000 at high noon in front of his cafe.

But it couldn't last and it didn't last. In Bangor, Maine, a long ways from the theater of their crimes, all three dropped before the combined fusilades of federal men and local officers. Dalhover was captured, Brady and Shaffer were dead.

Dillinger was a piker.

Sure, they're all pikers when they're dead.

Gins In Levelland Planning To Continue Capacity Runs

LEVELLAND, Dec. 1 — Gins here will run 24 hours a day for at least another month, as in-rolling cotton continues to exceed processing capacity.

This week, the four gins had turned out approximately 11,000 while there are many thousands of bales, yet to be ginned, left in the fields.

The present crop exceeds any other ever produced in this section. Some tracts have produced more than a bale per acre, while the average will run close to a half-bale per acre.

"WARM AWAY" the tightness of your child's CHEST COLD

When a chest cold brings your child that "congested feeling," rub on Penetro for quick, comforting relief. Because Penetro is super-medicated with 113% to 227% more medication than any other nationally sold cold salve, it creates thorough counter-irritant action to increase blood flow and stimulate greater body heat. That's why Penetro makes cold discomfort feel so much easier.

Not only does Penetro help to create this increased body heat but because it is made with an animal fat base of mutton suet, it helps to "hold in" this heat by conserving and concentrating it. The aromatic vapors of Penetro are inhaled into nasal passages to open up stuffy noses, make breathing easier. Trial size, 10c. Economy size jars, 35c, 60c, and $1. At dealers everywhere.

Final Obstacle For Opening Removed

Work of grading Texas avenue from a railroad crossing near Twenty-sixth street to a juncture with Avenue H near Thirtieth street was resumed this morning after last obstacles to opening the thoroughfare were cleared Tuesday afternoon.

The only technicality remaining is the formal approval by the Fort Worth and Denver railroad of a crossing over a switch near Twenty-sixth street and city officials said they have been assured there will be objections from that source. The precaution of making certain that specifications for the crossing satisfy legal technicalities was described, however, as a routine which may require several days for completion.

The grading, begun Tuesday afternoon was from a short distance south of the railroad due south to Twenty-eighth street, and from there on a broad curve to a juncture with Avenue H near Thirtieth street. Avenue H and Texas avenue are paralleling streets one block apart.

Work now being done will provide for a 40-foot roadway eventually to be paved, with 10 feet for sidewalks on each side.

Possible objections to the opening of the street right-of-way, city officials were informed, grew out of the fact that a small building projected several inches beyond the property line into what will be the sidewalk of the new thoroughfare. Assurance by the city that the matter can be easily adjusted without cost and inconvenience to the property owner was described as having cleared the way for an immediate agreement and for the start of actual work.

Theater Guild subscriptions for out-of-New York presentations increased 40 per cent for the 1937-38 season.

"Jarring Johnny" Hits Stone Wall In Ponies

Texas Christian's "Jarring" Johnny Hall, (No. 10) was nailed in his tracks when Bob Belville (No. 26). refused to budge. Note the expressions as others try to get in on this part of the exciting game. The Frogs rallied in the fourth quarter to win 3 to 0 from the S. M. U. Mustangs last Saturday.

Variety Will Be Style In Arena Here

Variety is the style tonight at the Auditorium, home of the Wednesday night wrestling matches.

Tetsura Higami, the veteran Jap, meets Otis Ludwig of Germany in the main event, Jack Hagen tackles Cyclone Mackey in the semi-final and Andy Tremaine comes back to initiate a newcomer, Dick Sampson, in the prelim.

An Added Attraction

Then there'll be an added attraction in the person of Jack "The Great" Mahan, who'll do stunts with his muscles.

Special guests will be the varsity and freshman footballers of Texas Tech, who'll be introduced.

Tetsura Higami, master of jiu jitsu, the native Japanese style of wrestling, has also mastered the American style as he set out to prove last week in his debut here. He is a veteran of the ring and one of the smartest, cleverest and cruelest, and he provides his own vocal accompaniment as he wrestles.

A newcomer shows up tonight. He's Dick Sampson of Fort Worth and they say he's a pretty tough hombre.

Introducing Sampson to the local crowd will be Andy Tremaine, the Tucson Thunderbolt, who has been absent for many months. Tremaine used to be a big main event favorite here. Last time he visited he was not so effective. 'Tis possible he has recovered his old time form and reputation. He possesses a beautiful body, is strong and handsome, and he can wrestle.

Hagen vs. Mackey

Jack Hagen, formerly one of the nicer boys of the circuit, who turned villain during his last visit here, comes back after a country-wide tour and meets Cyclone Mackey, the ambitious, ever-youthful New Mexico favorite who can give anybody a run for his money.

As for Mahan, the circulars say he is quite a number when it comes to exhibiting muscular control and power. He does such things as bend iron bars with his teeth, defy six men to choke him with a rope, burst an inner tube by lung expansion, etc.

During the year 1936 Canadian fishery exports reached the highest point since 1931, with a total value of $25,358,000.

He'd Have Tech Carry On

By Collier Parris

IT IS NOT FOR US to heap verbal flowers upon the grave of Dr. Bill Jackson, to eulogize his memory. In the first place, we are not capable of producing the words that adequately describe his life and character, not worthy of the attempt, and, secondly, we know he would "shush, shush" us or anybody else, who even made the attempt.

But we can't keep from saying that knowing Dr. Bill was one of the finest things that ever happened to us.

We would have known him, as all of you did, even if he had not been so closely, and so sincerely, associated with the Texas Tech athletic department. Because of that affiliation, however, we had the gracious privilege of knowing him better than we would have otherwise.

And we are extremely glad that, in our feeble way, we voiced and wrote deep regard and appreciation for him while he yet served.

It is a trite expression, but when it can be truthfully said of a man that no one can take his place, it is a high compliment indeed. That will be said of Dr. Bill many times now and it is true.

It is true in all his various endeavors. It is true as it obtains in the Texas Tech athletic department, and Dr. Bill would have us restrict our remarks, if we had to make remarks about him, to the athletic department.

"Doc Jackson," the boys called him —he would have preferred they call him just plain Bill— was a lot more than a member of the athletic council, even part time chairman of the council. He WAS the council and the counsel. Not that he ruled the athletic department with an iron hand, dictated policies of the council or in any way attempted to grasp power, but he made the council part of his life, served there as faithfully and untiringly as if it was all he had to do.

He was "father confessor" to the coaching staff, and to the boys in the department; they took their troubles to him every time, and, one way or another, he would iron them out.

He was strong for athletics—clean, sportsmanlike athletics. He would not tolerate any other kind. He was "for" the boys, and he went to great effort to help them along, smooth their paths and see that they got all that was coming to them.

So you can imagine the deep grief that came upon his "boys" and his associates in the athletic department.

Dr. Bill's last official act was to summon members of the council together for final action on the El Paso Sun Bowl situation. He was greatly pleased over Tech's invitation to represent the Border conference in the post-season game, and it was not about all he talked about for the past several weeks. None was a more enthusiastic supporter of the game than he. And he made it plain the other day that he didn't care whether we make any money out of it or not, as long as we can do something nice for the boys."

He was always wanting to do something nice for someone.

Our own dealings with him were the most satisfactory and pleasant we ever had with any "interviewer." He would go out of his way to "give us the dope" on something, and when the subject needed handling with gloves, he provided the gloves, but never suppressed the news.

Tech's immediate duty is clear. Formal acceptance of the Sun Bowl bid and the carrying out of the arrangement according to the ideals that would have characterized Dr. Jackson's manipulation of the reins.

We'll miss that man; we'll all miss him. He had EVERYTHING on the ball and we won't ever forget him.

Alabama And California To Clash In Rose Bowl

Crimson Tide Accepts Bid For Classic

BERKELEY, Calif., Dec. 1 (AP)—Alabama's Crimson Tide and the Golden Bears of California, each undefeated, will clash in the nation's oldest New Year's football classic—the Rose bowl game at Pasadena.

"Alabama will play California in the Rose bowl," was the brief announcement last night from Graduate Manager Kenneth Priestley of California, who had telephoned the invitation to Alabama officials and received their immediate acceptance.

Speculation Is Ended

The selection ended two weeks of speculation, involving Alabama, Pittsburgh and Fordham, all unbeaten this year.

Priestley would not say whether invitations had been offered any other schools.

Alabama has played in the Rose bowl four times, winning three games and tying one. California has played three times, coming out with one victory, a tie and a loss.

The Bears, Pacific coast conference champions, scored impressive victories over nine opponents this season.

Happy To Play Again

Alabama is both unbeaten and untied.

"Alabama is happy to play in the Rose bowl again," said Athletic Director Henry G. Crisp of the southern school.

It was expected the Alabama team would make a leisurely trip to Pasadena, arriving around Christmas time.

The classic will bring together two teams employing opposite offensives.

California crashed to its conference championships with sheer power, while the Crimson Tide pulled more than one of its games out of the fire with timely passes.

Conflicting Reactions Seen In Sugar Bowl Selections

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 1 (AP)—Selection of Santa Clara and Louisiana State university for a return game in New Orleans Sugar bowl generated conflicting reactions in sports circles here today.

Some expressed disappointment that teams new to the Sugar bowl were not picked for the New Year's day battle while others, recalling the close game last year which Santa Clara won 21 to 14, looked forward eagerly to another clash between the teams.

Sports Editor William Keefe of the New Orleans Times-Picayune said the Mid-Winter Sports association had "acted in self-defense" and declared that "Alabama, Pittsburgh and Fordham gave the Sugar bowl the run around."

Eskimos Play In Ice Bowl For Championship Of The Arctic

KING ISLAND, Alaska, Dec. 1 (AP)—Coach Ken Chisholm announced today that two teams of King Island Eskimos will meet in the "Ice bowl" on this precipitous islet, New Year's day, for the football championship of the Arctic.

Both teams will use the Notre Dame system, the kind of football Chisholm played at Santa Clara before he joined the Rev. Bernard Hubbard, "the glacier priest," on Alaskan exploring trips.

The Hubbard party, equipped with photographic and meteorologic apparatus, has been showing the Eskimos motion pictures of famous football games in the United States, and Coach Chisholm said his players have been quick to learn the rudiments of the game.

Football Figures Reveal Big Swing To Defense This Year

BY HERBERT W. BARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—The coaches have been squawking that the defense has become top-dog in the football world, and the figures say they don't lie.

The 16th annual Associated Press scoring compilation today revealed a comparatively sharp drop under figures for 1936 and a continuance of the downward trend in scoring that has been more or less steady since 1922.

Averages Decline

The 209 teams included in the compilation scored an average of 107.19 points for the season while the 1,813 games they played produced an average of 12.36 points per game. The 168 teams included in the 1936 survey scored an average of 113.3 points per season while 1,438 games were producing an average of 13.23 points per game.

Several factors seem to have combined in making it tougher than ever to break into the scoring column. The rules committee provided the defense with one big break by its revised interpretation of the forward pass interference rule.

Few Penalties Called

The interpretation pointed out that in forward passing plays the defense had an equal right with the offense and that no foul was to be called against the defending team if its player, or players, made a bona-fide attempt to catch the ball. Officials have been much slower to call interference than they were a year ago.

Another factor in reduced scoring has been the trend against the lateral pass and the so-called "razzle dazzle" type of offense. These built up huge scores when they clicked but were risky and most coaches returned to more conservative tactics.

Southwest Still Open

Had it not been for the Southwest and its spectacular passing offensives, this year's decline would have been much more marked. The 13 Southwestern teams included in the compilation scored an average of 156.54 points per season and 16.68 points per game in 122 games.

Scoring leadership of the entire country went to the unbeaten Arkansas State Teachers outfit which piled up 337 points.

The games were more frequent than usual. A survey showed a total of 134 draws. This compared with 100 a year ago.

DRILLS ARE STARTED

CHICAGO, Dec. 1 (AP)—Ten pounds overweight, Heavyweight Champion Joe Louis planned to start boxing drills today. He weighed 210 pounds after light gym exercise yesterday.

Baseball Moguls Stall Around Hotel Lobbies Just Waiting For Big Bargain To Appear

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Dec. 1 (AP)—Everything was ice cold from beer to weather to player deals today as the baseball moguls stalled about tightly packed hotel lobbies waiting for bargains.

Except for a few players transferred to minor league clubs, not a single deal of importance was revealed though rumors of sales and trades were heard.

Out of yesterday's shopping tour, during which such names as Van Mungo, Ducky Medwick, Dennis Galehouse and Harlond Clift were mentioned, only one actual major leaguer was sold. He was Eddie Madjeski, reserve catcher of the championship New York Giants, who was sold outright to Louisville of the American association. The Giants, here to strengthen their Jersey City farm, also sold Joe Dwyer, Jersey City outfielder who saw service with Cincinnati last season, to Little Rock.

The New York Yankees also yielded a bit of news by selling Outfielder George Stumpf of their new Kansas City farm to St. Paul.

Most trading and selling that will occur before the mart moves to Chicago next week was expected to be made by the American leaguers, who have to worry about the Yankees 154 games a year instead of just a world series.

Colonel William Terry of the Giants spent most of his time denying rumors. In swift succession, he denied he had offered Lou Chiozza to Cincinnati and that Freddie Lindstrom, former Giant star, had been given a job in the Giant organization.

The Chicago Cubs seemed hot in pursuit of Van Mungo, Brooklyn's truant fireball ace.

As a prelude to the opening of the biggest minor league convention in history today 30 minor league presidents gave a testimonial dinner last night to Judge William Gibbs Bramham of Durham, N. C., minor league commissioner.

Basketball Gets Under Way At Lubbock High School; 80 Men Out For Places

Basketball will get under way at Lubbock High school immediately if enough uniforms can be found to accommodate the record-breaking number of Westerner candidates.

After Basketball Coach J. G. "Goober" Keyes issued the call for basketball candidates and announced that suits would be issued no less than 80 boys of the high school reported at the equipment window.

To Weed Them Out

The "weeding out" process will get under way this week, Keyes said, continuing until workable squads were selected, one to represent the school in interscholastic league activity as the Westerners, the other to revert to Cowhand coaches.

Keyes has only two lettermen back from last season's squad. They are H. P. Ford, center and guard, and Robert Allen, who played forward and guard. L. D. Venable, who played almost enough to earn a letter last season, is back. He and Ford were regulars on the Westerner football team.

Up from Cowhand and reserve squad, who hope to earn places on the new Westerner "varsity" quintet are other members of the 1937 football squad—Dutchy Cawthon, Wayne Johnston, Harold Parsons, Jack Ware, Jerry Nash, Joe Pytell, Leete Jackson and Joe Bob Foster. Others counted upon by Keyes for his first squad are John Robert Moxley, Bill Coker and Charles Purcell.

Webster Is Injured

Walter "Jumbo" Webster, backfield ace of the grid team and a better than fair basketball player, may not see much service, Keyes said, especially in the early part of the season, due to a badly injured shoulder. He is carrying his arm in a sling, and being treated for the shoulder injury, which prevented him from looking his best in the Amarillo game.

Once more the high school basketball teams of District 1, as the district applies to Class A football, will play for district championship honors, the Westerners defending the title won last season.

A double round-robin system will be followed this season, with each team playing the other in four games, or two series. The series will be played on a home and home basis. Lubbock, Amarillo, Pampa, Borger and Plainview comprise the league. Activity therein is not recognized by the state interscholastic league.

Keyes said the Westerners probably would play one or two practice games before the league season opens early in January.

Other Strong Squads Also Considered

Texas Tech was still without a Sun Bowl opponent last night. Officials of the El Paso Sun Carnival association in charge of arranging the football classic of West Texas for New Year's Day, still were seeking an opponent for the Red Raiders.

An Associated Press message late last night advised that Sun Bowl officials were attempting to establish contact with Villanova, strong Eastern team, in an effort to present an invitation, following refusal of University of Montana to accept a bid submitted late Monday.

REASONS ARE GIVEN

MISSOULA, Mont., Dec. 1 (AP)—Montana's Grizzlies passed up an invitation to play a New Year's day football game in the El Paso Sun bowl for three reasons, Coach Douglas Fessenden explained today.

Fessenden said the players rejected the bid to play Texas Tech, whom they defeated 13 to 6 earlier this season, because Four football players are members of the Grizzly basketball team which already has started training.

Practice facilities in cold weather are inadequate to keep the team in shape during December, and

Graduating seniors were disinclined to endanger their scholastic standing during the examination period.

Sun Bowl authorities also indicated that Holy Cross, Mississippi State and Rice Institute were on the "feeler" list, and would be contacted in the event Villanova failed to accept the invitation.

In San Francisco

The Villanova team last night was in San Francisco, whence it had traveled after playing Loyola of Los Angeles Saturday. Victorious over Loyola, the club is enroute home to Villanova, Pa.

Villanova was near the top on the list of "suitable" opponents submitted earlier by Coach Pete Cawthon of Texas Tech, along with Santa Clara and Colorado. The latter Monday accepted the Dallas invitation to play the Southwest conference representative in the Cotton Bowl. Santa Clara yesterday accepted invitation to play Louisiana State in the New Orleans Sugar Bowl.

Montana's rejection of El Paso's invitation came as a surprise. Montana officials are thought to have opened the negotiations themselves, asking Coach Cawthon of Tech to recommend the Grizzlies to the Sun Bowl officials. Cawthon did this and announced that Tech would be glad to play Montana. Montana's interest faded suddenly yesterday, a report announcing that players on the team did not choose to play Texas Tech. School officials, following the example set by the players, also voted against the plan.

Council Defers Action

Meanwhile, Texas Tech's athletic council has not placed its official okay on the game although this is a foregone conclusion and a matter of formality, in the belief of Coach Cawthon. Scheduled to meet yesterday to discuss the matter, the council again postponed definite action due to the death of Dr. W. A. Jackson, acting chairman of the council.

Dr. Jackson was preparing to meet with the council yesterday morning

Lamesa To Be Legion Host

LAMESA, Dec. 1. (Special)—Representation from each of the 28 posts in the district is expected for the convention of the American Legion and its auxiliary to which Allen-Houston post of Lamesa will be host Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

J. M. Willson of Floydada, executive committee man from District 19, will preside over the convention. Larry Daniel, commander of the Fifth division, will also attend and take part. Several ladies, noted in the Ladies auxiliary work, are expected to attend and participate in the program. Senator G. H. Nelson will address the convention at 2 p. m. Sunday.

Dance Saturday Night

Entertainment features of the program will consist of a dance at the Legion hall Saturday night, breakfast for the ladies at the Country club at 9:00 Sunday morning, and a luncheon at the Legion hall for all visitors and Legionnaires Sunday noon.

Legion posts from the following towns will be represented in the convention: Amherst, Aspermont, Brownfield, Coahoma, Colorado, Crosbyton, Floydada, Haskell, Lamesa, Levelland, Littlefield, Lockney, Lubbock, Morton, Muleshoe, O'Donnell, Olton, Petersburg, Plainview, Post, Rule, Seminole, Slaton, Snyder, Spur, Stanton, Sudan and Tahoka.

BEER IS BANNED

PADUCAH—Cottle county voters banned legalized beer in a special election Nov. 19 by the slender majority of nine votes.

The oldest theatrical family still represented on the stage is that of Mrs. Ann Pitt, a London actress born in 1720.

when stricken. He had been authorized by W. L. Stangel, chairman of the council, to call a meeting when necessary. It was Dr. Jackson's sincere hope and desire that Tech accept the Sun Bowl bid. He was the strongest in favor of the move of all Tech officials, and Cawthon said he believed other council members, now scheduled to meet Thursday, will abide by Dr. Jackson's wishes.

"He worked harder than anybody else," Cawthon said of Dr. Jackson, "in promoting Tech's part of the Sun Bowl game, and I am sure that his wishes would have been observed had he lived. As for the team and the coaches, we are more determined now than ever to play the game and to make a good showing. The boys probably will dedicate the game to Dr. Jackson's memory."

Plains Cotton Being Moved

Movement of government cotton to sea ports is gaining momentum in an effort to release space in warehouses and compresses on the South Plains for the huge volume of the baled staple still coming in, according to reports here late Tuesday.

Delay has been occasioned by slow government loans, the Commodity Credit corporation office at Dallas being swamped with applications for loans. The force has been increased to three times the original size, but still the process is slow.

Movement Just Begun

From Lubbock, about ten or more cars per day of loan cotton has moved south, R. H. Forbes, division freight agent, said yesterday. When details are worked out, he expects more to move.

Lamesa is moving a larger amount than Lubbock, likewise Slaton. From Littlefield, Brownfield, Sudan, Muleshoe, Plainview, Crosbyton, Ralls, O'Donnell, Tahoka and other points, cotton also is being shipped.

Other Orders Expected

Orders for 25,000 bales to be shipped from this section have been received and other orders are expected. It is expected that by the middle of December the movement will be well underway.

With the government cotton census as of November 14 showing in excess of 500,000 bales ginned for the territory, and with capacity of compresses and warehouses not half that total, it will be necessary to move more cotton more rapidly if protection is had for cotton from weather, it was pointed out.

Turkey, on the F. W. D. C. has had a good movement of cotton to the port, R. F. Stroup, F. W. D. C. agent, said. Other towns on the South Plains line of that road have been moving cotton this fall.

Meanwhile, additional warehouses in which to store the government staple are reported planned at many South Plains points.

The warehouses, all bonded, will supplement present warehouse facilities of local compresses, to handle what is now known as the largest crop in the history of the plains.

In Lubbock the Planters Warehouse Co., Don Mitchell, owner, is nearing completion. It is located on Fourth street, along the Santa Fe right-of-way. Cotton is expected to be received soon.

W. O. Fortenberry at Monroe has his second house nearly completed and several thousand bales in the first house. Capacity of each is about 3,000 bales.

Abernathy's coop gin has finished a large house, in which several thousand bales have been stored.

Muleshoe has two 3,000-bale capacity houses; Littlefield, two 5,000-bale houses; Sudan, one; Lamesa, five; Tahoka, three; Grassland, one; Post, one; O'Donnell, one; Brownfield, one; Levelland, two; Floydada, one.

Hamlin Warehouse Co., has been reported started at Lorenzo.

Lubbock has three compress platforms, owned by two companies. The Lubbock Compress Co., has two large platforms, with a high density press. It also owns a compress at Levelland and has added to its warehouse capacity there, as well as in Lubbock.

The new South Plains Compress and Warehouse Co., plant southeast of the city, opened recently. It is the third plant here. It has more than 40,000 bales stored in its yard.

Union Compress Co., and affiliates, owned by a group headed by A. S. Underwood, Lubbock and Athens, owns compresses at Lamesa, Brownfield, Slaton, Littlefield, Plainview and Ralls, with warehouses at Sudan and Crosbyton.

Additional warehouse space has been provided by the company at all points.

Committees For Conservation Work In County Are Chosen

Meetings in Monroe, Wolfforth and Woodrow by County Farm Agent C. C. Jobson, Assistant County Agent Homer E. Thompson and Walter F. Johnson, representative of the soil conservation program, have resulted in selection of committees for agricultural conservation work in the county, they announced late Tuesday.

Chairmen of the committees, with chairmen chosen Monday night at Shallowater, Slaton and Idalou, will form the Lubbock County Agriculture Conservation board. A chairman of the board was to be selected in a meeting in Jobson's office soon.

Officers selected Tuesday night were: Monroe, R. T. White, chairman; Roy G. McNeely, vice-chairman; S. S. Allcorn, committee member; J. R. Shipp, first alternate; and R. E. Myers, second alternate. Jobson conducted the meeting.

Woodrow, L. W. Wilke, chairman; Alvin B. Allen, vice-chairman; Ed W. Gordon, committee member; Clyde Bostick, first alternate; and George E. Eklund, second alternate. Johnson was in charge.

Wolfforth, E. L. Wheeler, chairman; Ed L. McCrummen, vice-chairman; Guy K. Horton, committee member; R. L. Hobgood, first alternate; and H. A. Sullivan, second alternate.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Dutcher's News Of Washington

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1—A mythical two and a half billion dollar armament program for the United States next year is the subject of Washington's most persistent recent rumor.

Rodney Dutcher

There are several versions of the tale, all of which insist that Roosevelt whispered to this man or that one that an armament boom was his rabbit-in-the-hat for curing the present business "recession."

The facts are that the President is a "big navy" man, that he already has decided on a policy of having an American navy second to none, that he would like to build up the navy rapidly and probably would try to do just that if there were no deterring factors.

But he and like-minded men in the administration realize that the American people won't support a huge naval program unless they feel there's imminent danger of war. So the big navy boys temporarily at least must be content with a long-time program to build up the kind of a navy which they would like to see produced all at once.

And the immediate plans for a "shot in the arm" for business are confined to proposals for stimulating a private housing boom.

No Immediate Danger

The President himself does not believe there is going to be a big war in Europe, at least not in the near future. But he has urged Americans not to imagine that the western hemisphere can escape in any worldwide conflagration.

Meanwhile America can't afford to take chances, in his view, because no one really can tell what's going to happen in the international field. F. D. R. and many others here are impressed by the spectacle of England, which found herself insufficiently armed to keep the Fascist powers from shoving her around. The lesson as seen here in high places is that this has become a world wherein only nations which are prepared to be tough can protect their interests.

Nazi and Fascist penetration into South America, especially in Brazil, has given Roosevelt and Secretary Hull a real headache and enters into consideration as to naval building.

British Hold Key

At the time of Roosevelt's Chicago speech it had been decided that this country ought to go almost any distance in cooperation with England and France to curb Japanese aggression in China short of war. This attitude has been toned down considerably as a result first of an unenthusiastic reaction to the President's speech in this country and, second, discovery at Brussels that Britain felt in a conciliatory mood toward Japan.

The British position is still the key to the international situation and British unwillingness to act sternly anywhere should have been no surprise to the State Department.

Word was quietly conveyed to the State Department long ago that his majesty's government would try to take no strong role on the international stage until it felt rearmament had reached the point where England could "clear up the Mediterranean situation"—a situation which involves Italian machinations in Egypt, Palestine, Arabia and other Mediterranean areas. British attitude as understood here has been that England could placate Hitler and either beat or frighten Mussolini into subordination. How this idea will really work out or what may happen in the meantime is anybody's guess.

A large group of other uncertainties have combined to make Roosevelt's big navy be-ready-for-anything attitude increasingly more popular in Washington.

Yesterday: Cilly looks down from the roof and is startled to see that Mr. Hunter, paralyzed for years, walks about with ease in his own bedroom!

CHAPTER XIX

With a quiver of relief, Cilly awakened from a dream of horror. The warm morning sun shone through her open window. What a blessing the morning sun was! All through the night, she had been in Bluefields where every street was a pitch-black roof, bordered by yawning, treacherous chasms, into which one pitched at the first halting misstep. Where all these streets converged Jim had stood with arms outstretched to greet her, though a thousand shadowy policemen struggled to hold him back. And along the way drunken Corbetts mocked her and paralyzed men arose from their wheel-chairs to block her path.

She sat up in bed and rubbed her eyes. Her heart still thumped from the excitement of her adventure in sleep. Under the covers her feet were cold and damp. Her eyes traveled from one to another of the familiar objects in the room until she was finally thoroughly awake.

Today was Wednesday. Only two days since she had last heard from Jim but what endless days they had been! How many more would she have to wait until he returned to lift the clouds? All the world would be right if she could hear his voice again, if she could feel the strength of his hand on hers.

Thoughtfully she rose and dressed. Then because she was so miserably lonely and forlorn she walked down to the drug store on the corner for breakfast. On the way she bought a newspaper. The murder of Amy Kerr, she noticed, was still front page news. She read it as she drank her coffee.

Returning to her apartment she met Detective Martin in the hall.

"Good morning, Miss Pierce," he greeted. "I've just been through the house. Dolan wants everyone down at police headquarters this morning at 10:30."

"Very well. I'll be there," Cilly assured him. She decided that she would be there at 10 o'clock to inform the sergeant of her latest discovery. He had ruled Mr. Hunter out as a possibility because of the man's physical incapacity. This morning, however, Hunter loomed in Cilly's mind as a very important possibility. Why would a man deliberately tie himself to a wheel-chair when he was well able to walk?

* * *

Later, however, when a burly policeman ushered her into a private room at police headquarters, she discovered she would have no opportunity to see the sergeant alone. Several of the Bayview tenants had arrived before her. They sat in a semicircle around a plain flat top desk, nervously expectant. She recognized the Downeys, so obviously mother and daughter. Mr. Hunter, looking feeble and frail in his wheel-chair, was there with his wife. A blanket covered his supposedly helpless limbs. Cilly felt an overwhelming urge to kick him in the shins as she passed, to see if he would jump. She wondered how the man had made the journey, wheel-chair and all. Detective Martin must have provided a special police car.

Mr. Johnson arrived a few minutes after she was seated and he was followed by a young couple — the Smiths, undoubtedly. As yet there was no sign of Mrs. Wheeler.

Promptly at 10:30, Sergeant Dolan entered the room, followed by Martin. Dolan seated himself at the desk, his back to the double windows. Martin stood behind him, leaning against a windowsill. The tenants sat facing the windows, where the light shone on their faces clearly and relentlessly. If they lied, Cilly thought, Dolan would be able to read it in their features.

"Everybody here, Martin?" Dolan asked.

Martin checked with a list in his hand. "Didn't get in touch with the Wheeler women yet," he reported. "The three other tenants are still out of town—but I don't see the Corbetts."

The Corbetts! Cilly looked up in surprise. But, of course, they would be summoned. Mrs. Corbett's mother was the only person who actually saw the murder committed. Her testimony would be very important.

Even as Martin spoke, the door opened and they entered. Mr. Corbett, Cilly noticed, had survived his drinking very well. He was immaculate in a light gray tropical worsted and he carried himself with an air of assurance.

Mrs. Corbett, the same meek and humble woman Cilly had first met, followed her husband hesitantly into the room. She wore a nondescript blue voile dress and it hung limply on her thin frame. Her face was pale and drawn. Her mother, in spite of asthma, held her head high and entered the room with a firm step. There was a challenge in her dark eye and her chin was aggressive. Small wonder, Cilly thought, that Mrs. Corbett was nervous and haggard. What a life she must endure as the buffer between these two dominant individuals — her husband and her mother!

* * *

As soon as they were seated, Sergeant Dolan addressed the group.

"You all know," he began, in a calm rather friendly voice, "a young woman was killed in a fall from the roof of the Bayview Apartments last Sunday night—or, to be more exact, at 12:20 early Monday morning. We have a witness present who can testify that the girl did not fall but was deliberately thrown from the roof. This is a cold-blooded murder, ladies and gentlemen, which we are investigating and I need not impress upon you the importance of absolute truth and accuracy in answering my questions. Mrs. Shaw, will you please tell us again, in your own words, just exactly what you saw occur on the roof of the Bayview?"

Mrs. Corbett's mother got to her feet. All eyes were turned upon her. Dramatically, she squared her shoulders and took a deep breath before she spoke.

"As I told you before, sergeant," she said in clear, crisp tones, "I was seated at the window of my bedroom in the St. Ann Apartments. I had not been feeling well and I wanted to get the air. It was very dark out; there were neither stars nor a moon—and ordinarily I could not see the roof opposite except when an occasional beam from one of the ships in the bay would pass over it. Suddenly I heard this frightful scream, and at that very instant a beam passed slowly over the roof opposite. I saw a man pick this girl up in his arms and deliberately fling her over the side of the house. That is all. I must have fainted. My daughter prepared an opiate for me and I did not awaken until morning."

"Thank you, Mrs. Shaw. May I ask if the light was sufficiently strong for you to recognize this man in any way?"

"It was not." Mrs. Shaw resumed her seat.

Sergeant Dolan scanned the faces before him. "Now I am going to ask each of you to remember very carefully what happened Sunday night. We'll start with you, Mr. Hunter. You live on the top floor directly under the roof where the murder was committed. Did you hear any voices on the roof, any sign of quarreling?"

"No, sergeant," Hunter replied. He spoke in a frail voice, as if to match the infirmity of his limbs. "I must have been asleep. It was the scream which woke me up. My wife ran to the window."

"Did you get up?"

The man shook his head sorrowfully. "I couldn't do that, you see." He made a futile gesture toward his legs. "I haven't walked in 20 years."

* * *

Cilly stood up, her eyes afire. "Sergeant Dolan," she cried, "will you ask Mr. Hunter how it happens, therefore, that last night from across the street I saw him walking about his bedroom in his pajamas?"

The man gasped. He turned to stare at Cilly and in his eyes there blazed the malevolent fear of a trapped animal.

"Is that true, Hunter?" Dolan snapped.

"The girl's crazy," he choked through dry lips. "She's crazy or drunk. I can't walk. I have doctors' statements to prove it."

For a moment Cilly regretted her impulsiveness. She should have told the sergeant about it privately so that he could check for himself. Now it was merely her word against Hunter's, and he would take special care not to be discovered again.

"What time was this, Miss Pierce?" Dolan inquired.

"Eleven o'clock, sergeant. There is no mistake about it. I saw him."

"Say! Wait a minute!"

Cilly spun around to face the man who suddenly interrupted her. It was Mr. Corbett. There was a malicious glint in his eyes.

"In another minute, sergeant, the young lady will be telling you about pink elephants," he offered with tolerant amusement. "At 11 o'clock last night she was in my apartment, drinking rye highballs. And, believe me, she was in condition to see a great many things walking."

"That's an outrageous lie, Mr. Corbett, and you know it!"

Cilly turned to the sergeant, shaking with fury. But in his eyes, she saw doubt and disappointment. It was part of his job to believe the worst—and he believed Corbett's story. She could see it. From now on, the fight would be doubly hard.

READY TO BUILD HOMES IF—!

Perhaps no section of the United States is more eagerly hopeful than the South Plains that governmental efforts to stimulate home-building will be successful. That condition of mind is true even though many, perhaps most persons, may be grouped with the Missourians who have to be shown that such an effort can succeed.

There will be no dispute on the part of those informed with one explanation advanced by the President for almost paralyzing curtailment of residential construction. That has been the skyrocketing costs of materials which, according to latest available quotations, were within less than 10 per cent of the peaks of so-called prosperity eras.

Few sections of the United States are in more urgent need of additional housing than Lubbock and its territory. Few, in proportion to population, were scenes of greater home-building activity than Lubbock through early months of this year. Few saw activity slow more quickly than Lubbock when contractors could not be sure that prices quoted for materials last night still prevailed today — when every change in price was merely another climb.

Lubbock and its territory still need many, many new homes. Given reasonable encouragement, they will be built. The best possible encouragement would be building materials more reasonably priced.

Hollywood Chit-Chat

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 1—Up to now, movie magicians seem to have been able to accomplish anything—earthquakes, hurricanes, cataclysms and holocausts. They can do ghosts and other disembodied effects. They can make a person look like somebody else, and they can use one person's singing for another person's acting. They can turn back time.

But now, with the coming of Technicolor, the screen's scientific sorcery is stymied by a simple little emotional reaction—the blush.

Wild Bill Wellman, who hopes never to direct another picture in black and white, brought up the problem of the blush the other day, and it has been keeping me awake nights. What's to be done about it, anyway?

Wellman skipped the true gravity of the problem by saying merely that from now on actresses will have to learn how to blush. He should have blushed when he said it. He knows as well as you and I do that no actress save perhaps the most dewy ingenue can stir in her cheeks the flame of modesty or confusion.

Can you imagine Mae West blushing? Or Carole Lombard? Or Greta Garbo?

The hands and legs of unknown women sometimes double in closeups for those of stars, but the blush is something that couldn't be dubbed in. Also there's a problem of a flaming embarrassed face when none is called for in the script.

You've no idea how red most of the young leading men become when they're locked in the arms of some of our more torrid clinchers.

A Horse On Him

One of this department's friends in New York relays a little story from the recent National Horse Show in Madison Square Garden. William Powell was a visitor one night as a guest of Mr. John Hay Whitney.

Horse show crowds, particularly at the Garden, are pretty thoroughly immune to celebrities. After all, scores of famous people are actual participants, exhibitors and riders and drivers. Also the spectators are there to see [illegible] and not to collect autographs.

A single [illegible] was in the [illegible] lined up for judging when Powell arrived. As the judges walked [illegible] up the [illegible] applause [illegible].

[illegible] the Whitney box [illegible] a [illegible] of handclapping. Mr. Powell arose and made a deep bow.

[illegible] personal. Best [illegible] in Hollywood is Marlene Dietrich. Knows how to pose herself and insists on doing it. A full-length mirror must be placed [illegible] the camera [illegible] the glass the actress knew [illegible] she'll look to the [illegible]

The same routine is followed for some of her movie scenes, especially those in which she strikes a languorous pose.

Worst still-camera study is Bing Crosby. Won't keep appointments for sittings, won't dress up for portraits, and won't sit still when finally cornered by the lens-men.

Too little vanity is a rare thing in a player, but when it occurs it drives studio people crazy.

Gary Cooper hates to shave and his black jowls are a great trial to cinematographers who have to get the lighting just right. Bette Davis is the only actress who'll permit herself to be photographed at unflattering times, such as in her dressing room with hair awry and makeup only half applied.

Charlie Chaplin cuts his own hair. Hates barber shops and may go only six or eight times a year. Meanwhile he trims the edges himself.

Heather Thatcher wears a monocle, but not as an affectation. One eye needs a special glass.

At banquets and benefits, black Bill Robinson always begins his speech by looking around the room and observing: "Well, I guess I'm the only Gentile here!"

Farm Boy Of Near Leonard Is Killed In Auto Mishap

LEONARD, Dec. 1 (AP) — Melvin Armstrong, 17, farm boy of near Leonard, was killed and two of his companions seriously injured last night when their automobile overturned off a bridge on state highway 28, four miles west of here.

Floyd Ray Holcomb and J. D. Langton, both 17, also residents of this section, were in a serious condition at a local hospital.

The temperature of a living room should be from 68 to 70 degrees, with a relative humidity of from 40 to 50, from a health and efficiency standpoint.

FLASHES OF LIFE

By The Associated Press

Wasted Effort

FRANKFORT, Ind. — Thomas Ploughe, president of the Farmers State bank of Circleville, is puzzled by the way some bank robbers operate. He told police yeggs broke into the bank in the night, opening the front door after boring holes around the lock.

They took only a few postage stamps.

Justifiable Delay

PHILADELPHIA—Subway users fidgeted and frowned early today until they learned the cause of a 25-minute delay in the broad streets trains.

Operators were rescuing a stray dog along the tracks.

Love And—Dynamite

CHICAGO — Mrs. Patricia Davis, 21-year-old divorcee, was awakened by the explosion of a stick of dynamite on her window sill and a shower of broken glass.

She told police that a jealous admirer had struck her on a dance floor and warned she would hear from him again—soon.

"He said he would blow me up, and I guess he did his best," she reported.

Hay-Hay!

PURE AIR, Mo. — Lester Bozarth has milked more profits from his "modernized" cow barn than he ever got from old bossy.

Bozarth got rid of the cows and turned the old red barn into a dance hall. The loft became the orchestra dais, a hot dog stand took the place of the horse stall.

Rural gallants needn't worry about going to the dance with stubbly chins either—the corn crib has been converted into a barber shop.

Each year more than 20,000 oil wells are drilled. The annual cost of such drilling in the United States alone exceeds $500,000,000.

Rhythmic Robert

A year old on Armistice Day, Robert Pugliese of Cleveland can romp through a snappy "Yankee Doodle" on his harmonica. He adds a jig, if he's a mind to; sometimes he imitates an airplane. Here's Rhythmic Robert, who's practiced for two months, in a recital:

"Swell to have two harmonicas to pick from, eh?"

"Here's 'Yankee Doodle.' Hope it sounds right."

"Watch out! This is an air raid."

"That's all. How was it?"

Combined Rates
10 Word Minimum

1 day, per word	4c
2 days, per word	6c
3 days, per word	8c
7 days, per word	10c

These rates are for consecutive insertion only.

All out-of-town ads received by mail must be cash with order. No exception. "NO REFUNDS" on ad stopped after it has appeared in paper.

PHONE 13, 14, 18 OR 16

Our experienced ad taker will receive your ad and help you to word it. Then our collector will call the [illegible] same day.

THESE ACCOUNTS ARE "ACCOMMODATION ACCOUNTS" FOR OUR PATRONS AND FOR ONE DAY ONLY.

No advertisement accepted on an "until forbid" order. A specified number of insertions must be given.

We reserve the right to place an advertisement under its proper classification and revise unless [illegible] objectionable copy.

Obituaries and cards of thanks at regular classified advertising rates.

The publishers are not responsible for copy omissions, typographical errors or any unintentional error that may occur further than to correct it in the next issue after it is brought to their attention. All advertising orders are accepted on this basis only.

The Avalanche-Journal will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of a classified ad. Advertisers should check their ads on first day of publication and immediately notify the Classified Department of any mistakes occurring.

Classified Advertising accepted until 6:00 p. m. week days and Saturday.

For classified display advertising information.

PHONE 13, 14, 15 OR 16
TO DISCONTINUE AN AD

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed proposals addressed to W. B. Copeland, president of the Board of Trustees, Cooper Rural High School District No. 1, also known as Rural High School District No. 1, Lubbock county, Texas, for the construction of a school building for the Cooper Rural High School District, the Owner, in accordance with the plans, specifications and contract documents prepared by and upon deposit of $10.00 obtainable from Haynes and Strange, Architects, 511 Myrick Building, Lubbock, Texas, will be received at the office of the Superintendent of Schools, Woodrow, Lubbock county, Texas, approximately 10 miles south of Lubbock, Texas, until 2:00 p. m., December 10, 1937, and then publicly opened and read aloud. Any bid received after the closing time will be returned unopened.

Proposals are requested, and the work will be executed under three separate contracts: General Construction, Heating and Plumbing, and Electrical Work. A proposal covering a combination of Heating and Plumbing and Electrical Work may be submitted.

Plans, specifications and contract documents may be examined without charge in the office of the Architect.

The Owner expects to have available not to exceed $76,000 for this contract.

A cashier's check, certified check or acceptable bidder's bond, payable to the Owner, in an amount not less than five per cent (5%) of the largest possible total for the bid submitted, including consideration of the alternates, must accompany each bid.

Attention is called to the fact that there

Rules For Scooters In Lubbock Given

Motor scooters should not be ridden downtown since they increase traffic hazards, according to Lewis Kittrell, sergeant of the police traffic detail. All scooters should bear a front and rear light and carry motorcycle license.

No serious accidents have been caused by these vehicles in Lubbock and, in an effort to uphold that record, Kittrell suggested that riders and rental agencies adhere to the following rules:

1. The rider should have a driver's license. No one too young for license should be permitted to rent a motor scooter without parents consent.
2. Do not ride the vehicle downtown or on sidewalks.
3. Only sober persons should be permitted to rent machines.
4. The rental agencies should see that all machines function properly before renting.
5. Riders should observe all traffic regulations.

Vice-President John N. Garner says that when he was a member of the national house of representatives, a position he held for 30 years, he knew personally half the people in his district of 33 Texas counties.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

TWO of the three eyelids of a bird are much like our own, except that most birds use the lower one to close the eye, while we use the upper one. The third lid, the nictitating membrane, is inside the others and moves across the eye from side to side.

SCIENTISTS suspected that the planet Neptune existed long before it was discovered, due to the peculiar actions of the planet Uranus, which showed that it was being influenced by some unknown body. Curiously, two men, working independently, calculated the location of the new planet, and reached identical conclusions. It was found to be exactly where they predicted it would be.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Dec. 1 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, 2 higher to 1 lower with steadier Liverpool cables offset by larger private crop estimate and Wall street liquidation. Dec. 7.91, Jan. 7.92, March 7.97, May 8.02, July 8.04, Oct. 8.07.

Following the call prices eased under Wall street liquidation which centered in May as well as southern hedge selling.

March sold off from 7.97 to 7.90. Shortly after the first half hour that delivery was selling at 7.92 and the list was net unchanged to 5 points lower.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 1 (AP)—Buying and selling orders were about even in cotton at the start of trading here today and initial trades were 1 point net higher to 1 point lower.

Liverpool cables were better than expected but a private authority issued a crop estimate of 18,491,000 bales which would be an increase of 248,000 bales over the last official prediction.

Dec. opened at 8.04 bid, Jan. at 8.02 bid, March at 8.09, May 8.11, July 8.13 and Oct. at 8.15.

After recovering 1 to 2 points the market reacted and towards the end of the first half-hour prices were 2 to 4 points net lower.

Charge Of Murder To Be Filed After Shooting Near Levelland

LEVELLAND, Dec. 1. (Special)—A charge of murder will be filed here today as result of a slaying Tuesday near Levelland, said county authorities.

Adolfo Lopez, jr., 20, made a statement wherein he admitted shooting Jesus Ramiro, about 22.

Victor H. Lindsey, assistant district attorney, of Lubbock took the statement in presence of other authorities.

Lopez said he had been threatened and that he shot four times, the first two shots missing and the other two being effective when his target was running.

The senate banking committee called Stewart McDonald, Federal Housing administrator, who appeared before the house group yesterday.

McDonald supported the president's recommendation that the FHA insure small homes up to 90 per cent of their value. He said this would not take business away from building and loan associations.

Final Tribute Is Set Today

Final tribute will be paid to Dr. W. A. Jackson, 47, dean of the graduate division and head of the government department at Texas Technological college, at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at the First Baptist church.

Dr. Jack M. Lewis, pastor of First Presbyterian church, will officiate, assisted by the Rev. C. E. Hereford, pastor of First Baptist church. Burial will be directed by Rix Funeral home in Memorial Park cemetery.

Classes Are Dismissed

Classes at the college were dismissed at noon today, said Dr. Bradford Knapp, president.

College and city officials expressed grief at the unexpected death of the educator. He was stricken by a heart attack in his office at the college at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. He had entered his office breathing with difficulty. He fell and died almost instantly.

Other than his wife and son, Dr. Jackson is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Jackson of Nocona; eight brothers, Dr. W. L. Jackson of Ranger, Dr. C. L. Jackson of Tulia, H. A. Jackson, school superintendent at Pasadena, Texas, H. J. Jackson, school superintendent at West, L. A. and F. E. Jackson of Nocona, M. D. Jackson of Thalia, and M. M. Jackson, jr., of Levelland; and three sisters, Mrs. J. G. Duggan of Nocona, Mrs. H. L. Hunter of West, and Miss Alma Jackson of Sao Paula, Brazil.

Expected To Be Here

All his brothers and sisters are expected to attend funeral services except the sister in Brazil, relatives said.

Dr. Jackson was vice chairman of the college athletic council and Tech's representative on the Border Athletic conference. He was a member of various college committees. He also was a member of the American Political Science association and other scientific and professional organizations. He had been head of the government department since founding of the college.

He had been head of the department of political science at Baylor university from 1920 to 1925 and before that had taught in grade and high schools.

He was born Aug. 16, 1890, at Healdton, Indian territory. He was graduated from Baylor university in 1914, took his master of arts degree at the University of Chicago in 1916, and his doctor's degree from the University of Iowa in 1924.

The flag at Tech was drawn to half-staff.

Active pallbearers will be: Dr. W. C. Holden, Clark Mullican, Walter Posey, P. W. Cawthon, J. H. Murdough, R. C. Goodwin, Spencer Wells, and A. B. Davis.

Honorary pallbearers: Dr. Montell Ogdon, J. W. Jackson, Dr. D. D. Cross, Dr. C. J. Wagner, Dr. J. M. Gordon, Dr. Bradford Knapp, Chas. A. Guy, W. L. Stangel, W. T. Gaston, Cecil Horne, Don Jones, A. H. Leidigh, O. V. Adams, James G. Allen, Dr. A. B. Cunningham, G. H. Nelson, T. C. Root, R. T. Smith, J. L. Quicksall, Clifford Jones, H. F. Godeke, Dr. Fred Sparks, J. O. Ellsworth, Dr. R. E. Garlin, V. I. Doughtie, R. A. Mills, Dr. A. W. Evans, J. I. Kilpatrick, W. P. Clement, Sam Reid, Neil Wright, W. C. Cole, Dr. W. M. Craig, H. D. Woods, H. L. Allen, W. O. Daniel and R. F. Hinchey.

Local Philosophy

labelled:

"Oh you Crazy Card Shoot me, I'm crazy too" and "$3 for Worst Six Shots This Week."

Or those words in a small, crowded cafe, "Hot Dogs, Pet Shop, Ain't it Mad?"

One place offers hope to the person of small means, and quickly withdraws it:

"We positively will not cash a personal check unless we know you personally . . . . We don't know you."

This one is reminiscent of prohibition days:

"Lizzie went forty miles on a gallon.

"Our cook went nuts on a pint."

"I'm still looking for the girl that said, one cafe sign reads, 'I'll see you next Saturday.'"

"Take care of your bill," another admonishes, "but don't take anything else."

A "Thousand Mile Stew" is confidently advertised outside still another small eating place.

Who could fail to get the moral of this story entitled "Three Wise Men":

"One said: 'I'll see you pay day'—he went blind.

"Another said: 'I'll pay you when I get back'—he's gone!

"And the third said: 'I'll pay you or die'—he's dead!"

No Lubbock resident forgets "Step in", "Duck in" or "Dew Drp inn" when he thinks of novel names and signs.

"If you want to loaf," one placard brightly points out, "go to a bakery."

And so they continue, the signs, in jestful and whimsical suggestions until one thinks of the words of Omar Khayyam, ancient Persian poet and astronomer, who must have been the first sign painter of them all: ". . . Take the cash and let the credit go . . . ."

Prize Is Awarded—W. S. Hodges, Lubbock grocery, was awarded a $10 prize in the dealer display contest conducted by American Beauty Flour, it was announced by Standard-Tilton Milling Co. this week. The display was judged for attractiveness, merchandising value and originality. Twenty-nine Texas grocers received prizes.

West Texas School Leaders To Gather In Lubbock Dec. 8

The annual banquet and program of the West Texas School Executives association will be held in the ballroom of the Hilton hotel at 7 o'clock the night of Dec. 8, said Eluford F. Minor, superintendent of Levelland schools and president of the organization.

Themes relative to the subject, "Evaluation of Public Schools Today," will be led in a representative discussion by Dr. L. A. Woods, state superintendent of public instruction, on a program that will include addresses by a farmer-rancher, a business man, a college man, and a public school superintendent. Speakers other than Dr. Woods were not named.

Details of the affair will be arranged by a committee which consists of Joseph R. Griggs, county superintendent of Lubbock county; R. W. Matthews, principal of Lubbock High school, and Dr. A. W. Evans, head of the department of education at Texas Technological college.

Jury Panel For December Term Of Federal Court Is Drawn

Mrs. Olive Fluke, United States deputy clerk, and C. E. Luce, U. S. deputy marshal, Tuesday drew a jury panel for the December term of federal court.

The selection of the panel was made in presence of three attorneys, W. D. Wilson, Jack M. Randal, and Vaughn Wilson, as required by law.

Persons selected for services will report at 10 o'clock on the morning of Dec. 13, attaches of the court said. The term is for two weeks or until "it gets through."

Gold Star Medal To Be Given Lubbock County 4-H Youth

Gold star medal will be presented to James A. Potts, Lubbock 4-H boy, by D. n L. Jones, superintendent of the state experiment station at the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis club Thursday, according to Homer F. Thompson, assistant county agent.

The star was awarded Potts for outstanding club work. He was one of 100 Texas club members to receive the award this year.

A knife which was awarded Allen Gamble for placing high in meat identification work at the state contest at College Station last October, is also to be presented.

Il Duce's Paper Expresses 'Satisfaction' Over Result Of Brussels Peace Parley

(By The Associated Press)

MILAN, Italy, Dec. 1 — Premier Mussolini's newspaper Popolo D'Itilia today expressed ironic "satisfaction" with the result of the Brussels conference.

The newspaper's editorial was generally believed to have been written by Il Duce himself.

It said collective action had "registered one of those total insuccesses which assume almost naturally the proportions of a fiasco."

"Would Be Hypocrites"

"We would be hypocrites if we did not say the outcome caused great satisfaction to us who never believed in the smoke purveyors of Geneva."

The article, written in Mussolini's most biting style, was advertised in advance by radio as "most important."

American attendance at Brussels after President Roosevelt's Chicago speech "had ignited such flames of hope that the sequel was more unhappy than ever."

Nothing May Be Done

"A little knowledge of history, geography and the forces in play are sufficient to convince one that nothing may be done against Japan."

(Italy recently adhered to the Japanese-German anti-commintern pact.

(At Brussels conference Italy alone voted against adoption of a statement deploring Japan's military action in China.)

"What can the United States, France or Great Britain do separately against Japan, or together? Japan is invulnerable."

The newspaper said economic measures against Japan would be ineffective "because they would rebound to the damage of the very ones who apply them." Likewise it was said military action would not succeed "because Japan can strike without being struck back."

Even Russian aid to China is not a serious threat, the article said, because "Russian cannot play at war without mortal danger to its internal situation."

which had charged conspiracy illegally to restrain trade, had good reason for action against the defendants.

Suit Brought By Allred

Governor James V. Allred, then attorney general, brought the suit in 131. It based conspiracy allegations principally on a code of practices for marketing petroleum products adopted by the American Petroleum Institute and asked forfeiture of charters to do business in Texas and $17,000,000 penalties.

Defendants were the Standard Oil of New Jersey, New York and California, Texas company, Gulf Refining company, Shell Union Oil company, Sinclair Refining company, Humble Oil and Refining company, Pasotex Petroleum company, Continental Oil company, Magnolia Petroleum company, Simms Oil company, Shell Petroleum corporation, Cities Service Oil company, Texas Pacific Coal and Oil company, Texas Petroleum Marketers association and American Petroleum Institute.

Honorary Officers Will Be Selected

"Find the girl of your dreams and present her to members of Torch and Castle within the next few weeks."

These were the instructions given ROTC cadets at Texas Technological college and if Joe College doesn't watch his step he will discover one fine day soon that his girl is the sweetheart of 170 boys in uniforms.

It is all a part of an ancient custom practiced when Knighthood flowered and which has been revived by the military unit. Sometime this month members of the Tech ROTC will select three girls, an honorary cadet major and two commissioned honorary cadet captains. Election results will not be made public until the girls are presented at the annual military ball the latter part of February.

Plans for the election and ball will be made Thursday night when Torch and Castle members meet at 7:30 in the military building.

Big Spring C.-C. Budget $12,000

BIG SPRING, Dec. 1—At the regular directors meeting of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce this week, a $12,000 budget was approved for the year 1938. Objectives outlined by the manager and program committee were adopted.

The budget includes appropriation for conventions, trade extensions and good-will, office, affiliations, manager's expenses, promotional and salaries. The most outstanding objectives for 1938 are highways, housing, industries, beautification, and entertainment.

Plans for a membership and financial drive by the respective committees will be mapped out at a smoker to be held December 6, and the drive will be launched at 8:30 a. m., the following day. On the same evening of the campaign at 6:30 o'clock a dinner will be given while results are checked. Winning division will be treated to a free meal. A week after the campaign, the annual chamber of commerce banquet will be held December 13, when new directors, work program, and budget will be announced.

December Is Given Start In Building

Building permits aggregating $15,490 were issued by Building Inspector Jim Reid this morning to give the new month of December a running start toward the new construction records of other months of this year.

Including among them was a permit to Virgil Shell, contractor, for construction of a masonry addition to the city power plant costing $1,440 in which a new Diesel engine is to be housed. Contract for the structure was awarded to Shell several weeks ago.

Other permits this morning were: to Mrs. Mollie Helms, for frame dwelling costing $2,000 at 2013 Eighth street; to Four Square Gospel church, for repairs costing $600 to residence at 1708 Eighth street; and to Will Fletcher, owner, and Louis Gosdin, contractor, for box servants house costing $450 at 1501 Thirty-second street.

Permit totals issued in November, as officially tabulated this morning, authorized new construction costing $115,520. Total for the year, including those issued this morning, Reid reported, is $1,532,324.

Confession In Killing Given

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Dec. 1 (AP)—Detective Captain J. M. Peach said last night that Michael Ritter, elderly shopkeeper, admitted he "did the shooting" that killed Sue Stokes, 11-year-old school girl and seriously wounded her companion near his home late yesterday.

Captain R. A. Johnson, who arrested Ritter as the 77-year-old man calmly clipped a hedge about his yard, quoted witnesses as saying the hermit-like storekeeper evidently fired at the children from within his screen door as they scribbled with chalk on the sidewalk.

Juvenile Officer Edward G. Burcher reported that Ritter recently had complained children were defacing his property by writing on the walk and walls of the store with chalk and that boys had been seen throwing rocks against the building and into his backyard.

The arresting officer said a butcher knife, carried in a sheath, was taken from Ritter, who offered no resistance.

Mary Ellen Coleman, 12, who was accompanying Sue Stokes home from school, was wounded in the hip, but physicians said she was not critically hurt.

Business Men And Officials Given Rare Treat Tuesday

More than 40 business men and officials from Lubbock, Slaton and Plainview feasted on squirrel and venison at an indoor picnic supper in the bath house at Buffalo Springs bathing beach Tuesday night.

Hosts of the occasion were City Manager W. H. Rodgers and his father-in-law Andy Gillespie, who killed the squirrels in a one-day hunt during a three-day absence from the city last week, and John W. Broome, who contributed the venison. E. C. Wallace, resident manager of Buffalo Springs lake, was the chef, serving brown beans, slaw, cream gravy, pie and coffee along with the rest of the fare.

Included among the guests were Mayor John Hood, City Commissioner L. B. Wooten, Chamber of Commerce manager A. J. Payne and Utilities Company Manager Jim Elliott, all of Slaton; and L. M. Mise and J. B. Cardwell, Plainview business men. Others present for the most part were officials of the city and of the chamber of commerce here.

Aid Of Press Is Requested In Effort To Identify Youth

ABILENE, Dec. 1 (AP)—Aid of the press was requested by officers here in establishing the identity of a transient youth killed in a highway accident Thursday morning. The youth, between 18 and 20 years old, was walking at the edge of a highway when struck by the mirror projecting from the cab of a truck. The blow broke his neck.

He is 5 feet 11 inches tall, with blue eyes and brown hair. Moderately well dressed, he was wearing a brown suit, with a gray polo type sweater, khaki shirt, and long red and yellow striped golf socks.

A companion, Jack Evans, from Chicago, said he had joined the unidentified youth at Fort Worth for a trip to California. Evans said the boy spoke with a deep southern drawl.

Hills Cost Robbers $500 And Quite A Bit Of Embarrassment

HUNTSVILLE, Dec. 1 (AP)—Huntsville's hills cost some safe robbers $500 and a lot of embarrassment today.

The felons broke into an oil company office, loaded an 800-pound safe on their truck and fled.

The truck started up an incline near the First Christian church, hit a bump and the safe fell out.

Embarrassed, the robbers fled and left behind the safe and its $500 contents.

Woman Almost Loses Life In An Attempt To Rescue Dog

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 1 (AP)—A woman, trying to rescue her dog from the sticky pitch of the historical La Brea tar pits, where primeval animals were sucked down to death thousands of years ago, fell into the black ooze today and had sunk to her armpits before she was rescued.

The woman, Mrs. Alice Harris, 40, was frantic and screaming when a park foreman and a crew of laborers reached her. The foreman, Sam Warren, grasped her wrists. The rescue crew worked for several minutes prying her loose from the death grip of the tar. Her dog was not found.

The La Brea pits, situated on fashionable Wilshire boulevard, have existed since prehistoric times. A three-foot wall encloses the pits and there are warning signs against venturing in to the tar.
