Nazi Lines At Riga Smashed

3,000 Towns Taken In Mighty Soviet Drive To Destroy Germans In Baltics

By W. W. HERCHER
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Wednesday, Sept. 20—The Red Army drove within six miles of the Latvian capital of Riga yesterday in the fourth day of a new all-out offensive that has captured nearly 3,000 towns and aims at total destruction of the Germans in the Baltic states.

A single one of the three Red Army groups participating has smashed through the deep network of Nazi defenses south and southeast of Riga on a 75-mile front 25 miles deep, Moscow announced.

Closest approach to Riga came with capture of Kekava, on the west bank of the Daugava (Dvina) river six miles south of the sprawling city limits of Riga, the Russians disclosed.

Do Or Die Orders

The Germans had orders "not to retreat a single step and to hold their positions to the last man," a Soviet communique said this morning, but the Soviet First Baltic Front Army broke through the deep defensive zone, crossed the Lielupe and Niemenek rivers south of Riga, and drove ahead to the Daugava through the bitterly-resisting enemy.

In a single day on that front the Germans lost more than 3,000 men besides many prisoners, the Russians announced.

Eddy Gilmore, Associated Press correspondent in Moscow, said in a dispatch early today that "the Red Army's breakthrough towards Riga was so massive that advance motorized units and leading tank forces actually are probing the city's outer defenses," and added:

Hitler's End Near

"There are definite signs that this will be Hitler's end in Estonia, Latvia and Lithuania, for the winter is coming on fast and the armies of the Baltic are eager to drive out the last Germans before the first snow.

"The Baltic drive, however, is only the first step in the Russians' autumn offensive, which is expected to be bigger than anything yet; developments may be expected from the Gulf of Finland to Yugoslavia."

The offensive, concerning which the German radio has been issuing alarmed bulletins since last Friday, was officially disclosed in an order of the day from Premier Stalin, announcing Soviet capture today of Valga, Estonia-Latvia border city, cutting the last rail connection between the enemy forces in the north and south. Two hundred additional towns were swept up in this drive by Gen. Ivan Maslennikov's Third Baltic front Army.

Finnish Terms Are Said Tough

LONDON, Sept. 19 (AP)—The Russo-Finnish armistice was signed in Moscow today and in a radio broadcast to the Finnish people tonight acting Premier Baron Ernst von Born described its terms as "the hardest in the Finnish history."

He said the terms included:

1. Withdrawal by the Finns immediately to the 1940 border.
2. Petsamo will be relinquished by Finland.
3. The Porkkala peninsula and a "fairly large land and sea area" will be leased to the Soviet Union for 50 years.

Airfields, Merchant Fleet

4. Airdromes in southern and southwestern Finland will be placed temporarily at the disposal of the Allies.
5. The Finnish merchant fleet will be placed at the disposal of the Allies.
6. The Finnish Army will be placed on a peacetime footing.
7. German forces in Finland will be disarmed.
8. Finland will pay the Soviet Union an indemnity of $300,000,000 (American) over a period of six years.

The acting premier told the nation "we must try to build up our future on what is left for us. We are Russia's neighbor and must always take this into account."

TEXT OF AGREEMENT EXPECTED TONIGHT

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press Staff Writer

MOSCOW, Sept. 19—The armistice with Finland was signed today by a government delegation from Helsinki and Col. Gen. Adrei A. Zhdanov, Leningrad's leading politico-military figure, on behalf of Russia and Great Britain.

The text of the agreement is expected to be made public Wednesday night.

The Finnish Foreign Minister Carl Enckell and the others of the Finnish delegation who signed for Finland refused to comment. They packed their bags in a Moscow hotel where they have led a hermit-like existence and were seeking the first available air passage back to Helsinki.

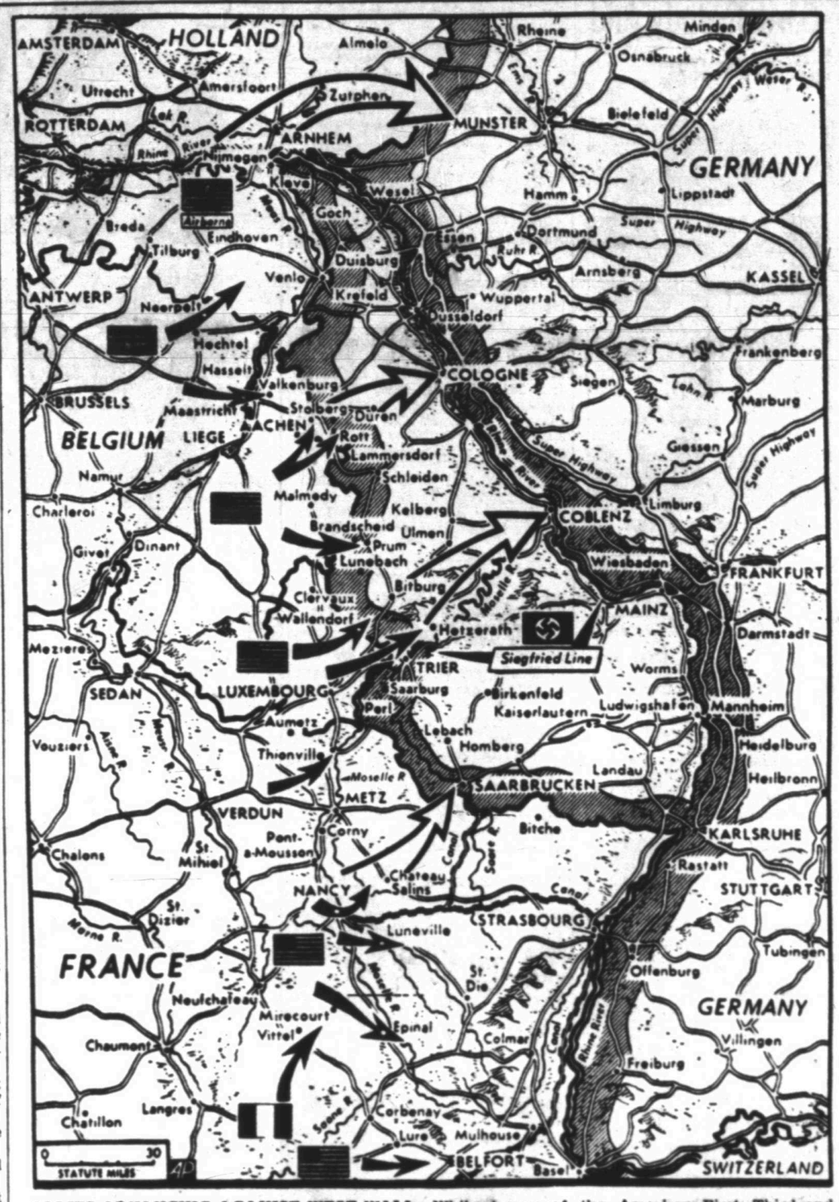

Approved By Parliament

(Word from Stockholm said the terms had been approved by the Finnish Parliament in a closed session.

(The Swedish press said the terms were "hard," and one well-informed Finnish sources said the item causing Finland greatest anxiety was Russia's demand for a 50-year lease on the Porkkala naval base in the Gulf of Finland with use of territory only eight miles from Helsinki.)

The Finns admittedly were in a poorer bargaining position than was Romania, which signed on the dotted line last week as a virtual co-belligerent, and it was assumed that the terms for Finland were stiffer than those accorded Romania.

The presence of Zhdanov in the final negotiations was symbolic of Russian insistance on future naval and land security for Leningrad. He is a member of the political bureau, secretary of the Leningrad district Communist party and president of the military council of the Leningrad front.

ALLIES ADVANCING AGAINST WEST WALL—While troops of the American First, Third and Seventh armies in the center and south of the noted Siegfried line were slowed down by fanatical Nazi resistance, an airborne Army and the British Second have fought to a second junction in Holland near Nijmegen on the Waal Rhine, and apparently are engaged in a drive around the north end of the Siegfried which stops at Klene. Open arrows on map indicate large German industrial centers for which Allied troops are driving, and solid arrows indicate points where major attacks are now under way. Shaded portions on the left show the Siegfried line, and the other defenses along the Rhine.

Armored Units Drive Over 37 Miles In Day In Effort To Flank Siegfried

LONDON, Sept. 19 (AP)—U. S. First Army troops have made another crossing into Germany, hitting just beyond Sittard in the southern corner of Holland, a front dispatch said tonight.

By HOWARD COWAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF, Wednesday, Sept. 20—The British Second Army racing to flank the northern end of the Seigfried line, has completed a new junction with Allied airborne troops in Holland and now is fighting on the southern banks of the Waal Rhine, field dispatches said early today.

Reports received from the front by Reuters said Lt. Gen. Sir Miles C. Dempsey's forces had reached the last large pocket of the airborne Army on the edge of Nijmegen, forging a solid link with Lt. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton's sky troops with whom a union was made first in the vicinity of Eindhoven Monday.

Dempsey's swift armored units advanced more than 37 miles during the day to cap a 50-mile drive in the last 48 hours.

Eindhoven Captured

Eindhoven, seventh city of the Netherlands, was captured by the joint action of the British Second Army and the airborne troops, who had doggedly held open a gateway between Nijmegen and Arnhem to aid the main thrust toward Germany's industrial Ruhr valley.

By completing the new junction, Dempsey's Army now was four miles from Germany on the southern banks of the Waal Rhine.

After dashing through country largely cleared of the enemy by American, British, Polish and Dutch sky troops, the British were within three miles of Nijmegen, a field dispatch said.

On a dozen different battlegrounds the Germans were held at bay while the Allies' power blow on the northern flank took shape rapidly. Attention centered on Nijmegen and Arnhem, officially identified as the targets of Sunday's landings by the air troops.

Resistance Stiffening

A front dispatch said the Nazis gradually were recovering from the shock of landings by Lt. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton's sky-trains and were stiffening their resistance. Heavily reinforced Germans, facing entrapment in western Holland between the advancing British Second Army and the air troops, opened counterattacks Tuesday, the dispatch said.

All along the northern end of the front activity was stepped up as throughout the day more Allied troops dropped from the air in what were described officially as strong forces. Headquarters did not disclose whether these were new units or reinforcements.

At the same time the American First Army, after making still another crossing into Germany, began shelling Duren, 20 miles southwest of Cologne, and Prum, eight miles inside Germany and 45 miles west of Coblenz.

Robots Loosed On Third

Further south the Germans, in desperation, were turning robot flying bombs against American Third Army troops as a mighty battle raged in the area of Nancy.

The breath-taking British drive through southern Holland began at Valkenswaard, five miles south of Eindhoven. A spearhead bypassed Eindhoven and sent a column four miles east to Geldrop to protect the flank. Tanks rumbled and swayed across pontoons north of Eindhoven, where the Germans blasted the Wilhelmina bridge and raced across country to Grave, nine miles southwest of Nijmegen. There the airborne troops held a vital bridge across the Meuse against frenzied German attacks.

First Launching Drive

The First Army shelling of Duren and Prum may presage the long-awaited Allied push into the Rhineland. It was significant that 105 mm. guns began roaring as the British Second and airborne armies neared the last towns between them and the Reich.

Three Peaks In Gothic Captured

By NOLAND NORGAARD
Associated Press Staff Writer

ROME, Sept. 19 (AP)—American Fifth Army troops brought the fighting point to within 27 miles of Bologna today after capturing three strategic Gothic line peaks in savage mountain fighting.

Bologna is an important communications and industrial center in the central section of the Po valley.

The capture yesterday of 3,300-foot Monte Pratone, Monte Altuzzo and Monte Celli against the Nazi's best efforts to defend them was officially described as a "great success." The Americans, crawling over exposed slopes and pressing forward from rock to rock and through ravines, met extreme concentrations of artillery, mortar and small arms fire. One barrage of 2,000 shells was hurled at Americans at one point.

One Of Area's Fiercest

The action was described as one of the fiercest engagements of the Italian campaign. British and Indian troops under Lt. Gen. Mark Clark's command contributed materially to the success by flanking and pinching off some enemy emplacements.

Some 25 miles of mountainous terrain faces the advancing Fifth Army before it can emerge into the Po valley in this central sector. Yesterday's experience tells the Allies they can expect rugged passes and peaks fortified with dug-in position, concrete emplacements, tank turrets buried for use artillery, mine fields and extensive wire entanglements. The going is expected to be difficult and slow.

On Adriatic Sector

On the Adriatic, where the Eighth Army is fighting toward Rimini, eastern doorway to the Po valley, British troops drove into the little republic of San Marino and advanced a mile toward San Marino City. Canadian forces pushed to a point three airline miles southwest of Rimini to the Ausa river, and there locked with the Germans in a heavy tank-supported battle.

San Marino fell to the Canadians after four days of relentless combat and the Nazi commander, Field Marshal Gen. Albert Kesselring, must now decide if he can hold the approaches to Rimini or begin a bloody retreat across the flatlands of the Po valley.

Nazis Besiege Danish Palace

By ROBERT N. STURDEVANT
Associated Press Staff Writer

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 19—Aging King Christian X of Denmark and his family were reported besieged in the Amalienborg palace by German Marines tonight, but there were indications that the nationwide rioting resulting from Nazi siezure of government buildings and police stations had ceased.

The free Danish press service said an appeal had been made by the Free Danish council asking all Danes to stop fighting but to continue a general strike until Thursday in protest against German dissolution of the Danish police force of 12,000 men.

Capital Said Calm

As a result, fighting was presumed to have stopped and word from Copenhagen said the capital was calm tonight.

The Swedish newspaper Dagens Nyheter, quoting Danish information unconfirmed from any other source, said the king, Queen Alexandria and Crown Princess Ingrid were under siege by a Marine detachment which sought to seize the castle.

An earlier report from Halsingborg, on the Swedish coast across from Denmark, said Danish constabulary fought a fierce but uneven battle today in defense of the royal palace and killed at least 14 Nazis, but were subdued by light artillery.

The Danes were forced to surrender, this report said, and a number of Danish police officers fled to Sweden.

Said Misunderstanding

(The Nazi-controlled Copenhagen radio said the "incident" outside the royal palace resulted from a "regretable misunderstanding" by the Danish guards who "thought the German detachment was going to disarm the sentries and take the king prisoner."

(The broadcast insisted, however, that the German forces had "no intention of disarming the king's life guards.")

In addition to seizing government buildings, the Nazis decreed new death penalties as part of their effort to crush growing Danish resistance.

(OWI quoting a Swedish radio report said three civilians were killed and 16 wounded in the fighting in Copenhagen.)

Defended By Police

The Danish press service said 160 Danish policemen defended the palace against the Marines.

"The Germans surrounded the entire area of the castle where King Christian, Queen Alexan-

Heavies Batter Nazi Railyards

LONDON, Sept. 19. (AP)—Almost 2,000 Allied planes, including 700-Flying Fortresses, blasted seven of Germany's western front railyards today in some of the heaviest daylight raids of the war, and left the targets, through which the Nazis must funnel troops and materials, battered masses of wreckage.

The Fortresses attacked Hamm, Soest, Coblenz and Dillenberg, all in western Germany east of the Rhine river, and other unidentified rail targets in the same area. Industrial targets at Wiesbaden also were hit. At the same time medium bombers smashed at rail yards at Duren, Eshweiler and Merzenich.

19 U. S. Planes Missing

Ten heavy bombers and nine fighters are missing, apparently victims of the intense flak, since no enemy fighters had challenged them. Incomplete reports showed that 26 German planes were downed during the day's complete operations which included widespread strafing in Holland and Germany.

Flying Fortresses which dropped supplies to Warsaw patriots yesterday and flew on to Russian bases, bombed industrial targets in Hungary and northern Italy on the return trip to Italian bases today.

Liberators smashed at bridges at Krattovo and Mitrovica on the north-south rail line through Serbia which links Macedonia and Greece.

All through the day Thunderbolts, Lightning and Mustangs supported reinforcements operations of the Allied airborne Army in the Netherlands, shepherding long aerial lines of troops and supplies from Britain.

U. S. Subs Sink 29 More Nip Ships, And Conquest Of Palau Chain Moves Steadily

By VERN HAUGLAND
Associated Press Staff Writer

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, Sept. 19.—Conquest by American Marines of most of the eastern coastal area of Peleliu was announced today by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' headquarters.

Japanese forces on Angaur, the smaller Palau island to the south of Peleliu, continue to occupy only two isolated pockets in the face of advancing 81st Army division troops.

Americans now hold approximately the southern half of Peleliu, where the Palau islands invasion was launched last Thursday (U. S. time), and the northern three-fourths of Angaur.

The 117 badly damaged Japanese planes found on the Peteliu airstrip included 77 single engine fighters, 28 medium bombers, eight light bombers and four transports. A Navy spokesman said these planes were in addition to those previously announced as destroyed, and they have not been included in any other compilation.

THREE WARSHIPS AMONG 29 VESSELS SENT DOWN

While American Marines and doughboys pressed their conquests of two of Japan's strategic Palau islands yesterday, the U. S. Navy disclosed loss of a minesweeper in the operations there and announced the sinking of 29 additional Nippon ships by Yank submarines.

The first ship lost in the Palaus campaign was the Minesweeper Perry. Casualties were light. The Navy also reported the loss without casualties of the auxiliary transport Noa in the Pacific as a result of a collision with an American destroyer.

The biggest kill by American submarines ever announced in a single communique—29 ships—included two destroyers and one escort. There is no doubt about it.

"No human power can stop the utter and complete defeat of the remnants of the German army.

"I would say there is no point in rushing straightway to Berlin today or this week. If you first defeat the Germans or collect them in as prisoners you will make the job easy."

The Marine commander, Maj. Gen. Julian S. Smith, indicated the cleaning up of Peleliu would not be hurried. He said the main objective—the airfield—had been taken and he could see no point in a whirlwind mopping up campaign at heavy cost in American lives.

Montgomery Sees End Of Nazis This Year

LONDON, Wednesday, Sept. 20. (AP)—Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, who is in overall command of the ground and airborne armies on the northern front, told his troops in Belgium yesterday without qualification that the war against the Germans would be ended this year.

"Before we started this business I gave it as my opinion that if we did our stuff we could have the war against the Germans over this year," he said.

"It is now the middle of September and I will go so far as to say that statement is absolutely right. There is no doubt about it.

"No human power can stop the utter and complete defeat of the remnants of the German army.

"I would say there is no point in rushing straightway to Berlin today or this week. If you first defeat the Germans or collect them in as prisoners you will make the job easy."

Ninth Air Force Runs Up Impressive Totals

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, AEF, Sept. 19 (AP)—Ninth Air force bombers and fighters have destroyed at least 1,200 Nazi planes and 15,000 tanks, locomotives, railway cars, trucks and other vehicles in 11 months' operations in this area, headquarters reported today.

In far-flung operations employing a total of more than 10,000 aircraft, the air force has flown more than 200,000 sorties and loosed more than 400,000 bombs of all descriptions on the enemy.

Almost half of this activity has occurred since D-day. Ninth Air force planes now fly from French bases and provide close support for advancing American troops.

The Ninth has paid a price of 233 men killed, 2,003 wounded and 750 missing. A total of 945 of its airplanes have not returned, but many crews of downed aircraft found their way back.

From October, 1943, to D-day, Marauder bombers of the air force flew approximately 27,000 sorties against marshalling yards, bridges, airfields, coastal defenses and flying bomb sites in preparation for the landings.

Loss Of Submarine Flier Is Announced

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19. (AP)—Loss of the submarine Flier "in recent operations against the enemy" was announced today by the Navy.

The Navy said that the skipper of the Flier, Cmdr. John Daniel Crowley, Springfield, Mass., is a survivor.

The Navy gave no further information.

Texas Oil Leaders Condemn Anglo-American Agreement

By WILLIAM E. KEYS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Sept. 19.—A group of Texas oil operators, joined by the state railroad commission, today condemned the Anglo-American petroleum agreement and asked the United State Senate not to ratify the agreement.

In an informal meeting the group adopted a resolution discrediting what was termed "a treaty device inherent in the agreement."

In floor discussions the group declared in favor of an international commission to recommend conservation measures but opposed creation of an agency which would be given directive powers concerning allocation of production, drilling, price fixing and other regulations which were viewed by speakers as dangers in the agreement.

The resolution was offered by Glenn M. McCarthy, independent operator of Houston, after the commission, Texas' oil regulatory agency, had adjourned a statewide proration hearing. Texas produces approximately 43 per cent of the nation's oil.

Also approved was a motion requesting Commission Chairman Beauford H. Jester to appoint a committee to present the views of Texas operators before the Senate Foreign Relations committee which will conduct hearings on the agreement.

Jester indicated he would appoint as Chairman Grady Vaughn of Dallas, former director of production for district 3 of the Petroleum Administration for War (PAW).

Jester and other members of the commission expressed opposition to the agreement.

Declared Jester:

"I look upon it as an international approach to federal control of oil. It also is an approach to an international cartel."

Dewey Has Two Narrow Escapes

By GARDNER BRIDGE
Associated Press Staff Writer

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 19.—Arriving here late today after two narrow escapes from possible serious injury, first in a train wreck and then in a near collision of his automobile and a truck, Thomas E. Dewey told the nation tonight there "are no indispensable men."

Obviously referring to the "big three" leaders—President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin—the 42-year-old Republican nominee for president declared that the making of peace is too important "to be dependent upon the life span and continued friendship of two or three individuals."

Not On Slender Thread

"The peace we seek must not hang by the slender thread of personal acquaintance of any two or three men."

"The pages of history are littered," he declared, "with treaties proclaiming permanent peace made privately by rulers of nations and quickly and publicly broken."

Dewey, driven here from the wreckage of his special train, which plowed into the rear of a stalled passenger train 63 miles north of Portland near the scene of another wreck last night, said in a nationwide broadcast that Mr. Roosevelt had proved unable to foster teamwork in his own administration and between the administration and Congress.

"An administration which cannot unite its own house even in

Negro Escapee Accused Of Murder Shot In Recapture

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 19 (AP)—Shot five times in the arms and body, Sylvester Davis, 25-year-old negro, who escaped from Fort Sam Houston military prison Sunday night, was taken to Brooke General hospital Tuesday night after his capture in the brush on the J. P. Ashley ranch, 17 miles north of San Antonio.

Chief of Detectives Duke Carver with Detectives G. M. Hutton and J. L. Kirk, working with J. P. Ashley, flushed the fugitive in a ravine on the Ashley ranch. Carver said 10 shots were fired before the negro was stopped. The detective described Davis' condition as critical but added that early examination had not revealed the extent of his wounds.

Davis, who faced the death penalty for the murder of a San Angelo woman in June, was brought to Fort Sam Houston July 10. Sunday night when he was brought to the orderly room at his request for medical treatment Davis jumped out the window and fled.

A widespread search throughout the north section of the county was conducted by state, county and city police aided by Texas Rangers and military police using flood lights at night and mobile communications units from the state department of public safety.

More than 60 officers participated in the hunt through the thick brushlands of the ranch country from the edge of the city limits to the north boundry of Bexar county near which Davis was finally caught.

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

HOW are you coming along with your buying and wrapping Santa's gifts for that man in your life who is overseas? Judging from the lines at the gift counters and at the postoffice and substations, Lubbockites are taking to heart the suggestion that the earlier the packages are sent, the better for you and yours.

We think there has not been a Christmas since we started sending gifts overseas that the choice of what to send has seemed as difficult. For one thing, post exchanges over the world are fairly well stocked with the articles that are always listed on polls of what the service people want and, if the men in your family are like ours, they have written that there is nothing they want that they cannot get at the PX.

One of the brothers wants a certain brand of hair tonic that long since has disappeared on the drug store shelves here and anyway we are cautioned against sending anything liquid in breakable containers.

SINCE the men grow awfully tired of G. I. rations, delicacies baked at home will be double welcome but when you pack that fruit cake or those cookies in tins be sure to enclose a can opener. If your man is stationed near a family he has visited, he'll likely appreciate some special food to give them as a present to brighten their dull rations. Of course you realize you can't get all these things in one five pound parcel. But then you have the privilege of sending one a week if you wish.

Vest pocket size books on almost any subject except the war seem popular enough and Scout knives that can be opened to perform many acts, wash rags and small towels, pocket size combs and fine razor blades are an many want lists.

One young Lubbock officer who is stationed an a Pacific island, asked his wife to send him a year's subscription to a popular digest, a pipe and a pair of leather house shoes. While she said she could meet that request easily enough she was discouraged because it appears he is settling down to at least another year. She would be happier if he wouldn't indicate such a "settled" atmosphere.

POET PRESIDENT

WOMEN of 14th district, Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, are pleased with the visions of parent-teacher work as set forth by the new president, Mrs. Justin L. Adams of Crosbyton, who in addition to being a civic and church leader and long active in parent-teacher work, is a person of musical and literary talent.

Mrs. Adams says her home and family come first in her life and after that she contributes a portion of her time, talents and energies to work of the parent-teacher congress. She says she has great faith in their role in tomorrow's drama.

The world will furnish the stage for tomorrow's play, Mrs. Adams points out in an inspirational talk, and science and invention will furnish the scenery. A magnificent production is possible if the actors, who will be today's generation in supporting roles and the coming generation in starring roles, are trained.

As Mrs. Adams sees it, tomorrow's actors must be courageous, versatile in the use of language, well educated, have a spiritual depth and be in good health. The children who are to have a part in this production should be prepared for their roles now and that is the challenge presented to teachers and parents.

MORNING THOUGHT

Some one mailed this bit from the pen of Arnold Bennett, suggesting it is timely, which we agree:

"When you have proved that in war work you are a decent human being—and you will prove this by sticking to the work long after you are weary of it—then you will part company with the war worker's last illusion, namely, that one's efforts will meet with gratitude. Gratitude is going to be an extremely rare commodity. Everybody is or will be war-working, even the soldiers and sailors. The highest hope of the average war worker must be to escape censure. And herein is a great lesson. The reward of war work will be in the treaty of peace."

Hard-Shooting Demo Factions To Argue Elector Contest In Court

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Sept. 19.—Two hard-shooting factions of Texas Democrats carry their no-quarter battle of pro- and anti-Roosevelt electors into the state Supreme court tomorrow for the second time in recent months.

It was a conflict that has raged in precinct, county, and state conventions since mid-May. It resulted in an open break and the organization of a second convention. It focused the nation's attention on rival delegations at the National Democratic convention in Chicago.

Fight Of Swift Action

The fight flared on the floor and behind the scenes at that meeting, it echoed in sessions of the Democratic national committee; it broke out in an Austin district court; it sent Gov. Coke Stevenson flying to Washington for a conference with President Roosevelt.

It was a bitter, unprecedented clash that resulted at the recent September convention in a complete turn-over in the personnel of party organization leaders in a session which was formally polite to Gov. Stevenson.

It resulted in a head-on collision between two sets of Democratic presidential electors, one nominated at the May 23 state convention and only conditionally bound to support the national party's nominees, the other nominated Sept. 13 under an iron-clad pledge to vote in the electoral college for Roosevelt and Truman. Fifteen of the May convention's electors said they would not vote for Roosevelt and Truman, but for some other Democrat.

Latham's Decision

Secretary of State Sidney Latham, confronted with two sets of electors, both certified to him by Democratic conventions, announced he would direct county officials to print the names of the May electors on the general election ballot. That decision led straight to the Supreme court, where the September session leaders brought suit to compel him to approve its electors.

The pro-Roosevelt faction failed in an attempt to persuade the Supreme court last summer to order the names of the rival electors printed on the July 22 Democratic primary ballot. The court held then that in the absence of any statute saying specifically when electors should be nominated, those named in May were the electors. It added the policies of the party are necessarily "to be exercised by the state convention."

Since then, the September convention named its slate of electors, including several of the May group who have said they would support Roosevelt and Truman if elected.

Today at Marshall, National Committeeman Myron G. Blalock again urged Texas Democrats to get together.

"I want to reiterate that this is another election," he said. "There will be more elections in the years to come and people should be calm, considerate and tolerant of one another in debating and discussing the issues."

Attorney C. C. Renfro of Dallas and Frank Knapp of Houston were here today, preparing the case for the 15 electors named by the state Democratic convention's petition for mandamus.

The convention's petition was signed by a big battery of attorneys. Former Gov. James V. Allred of Houston, Woodville Rogers of San Antonio and Robert W. Calvert of Hillsboro were expected to argue the case before the Supreme court for the current executive committee. The other side had not announced who would speak for it."

New Mexican Admits Slaying Of His Wife

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 19 (U.P.)—Sheriff Ed Donohue said today that Ollie Bishop had admitted the killing of his wife, Mrs. Myrtle Bishop, whose body was found last night in a shallow grave in the sand hills east of Albuquerque.

Bishop, according to the sheriff, said that he and his wife had been fighting for more than a year, they had another argument yesterday, and Bishop "blew his top" and stabbed his wife in the neck.

Bishop wandered around for awhile after the killing, then went to a house in the neighborhood and asked that officers be called. Sheriff Donohue said that Bishop had attempted to cut his own throat.

Texas Traffic Deaths To July 1 Are 595

AUSTIN, Sept. 19. (AP)—The state department of public safety reported today that 595 persons have been killed in Texas traffic accidents in the first six months of this year compared with 539 in the same period last year.

The total number injured in the first half of 1944 was 2,425 compared with 1,581 last year.

Although fatal industrial accidents went down in 1943, the trend on injuries went up.

U. S. Tank Destroys 8 Jap Tanks Quickly

WITH U. S. MARINES ON PELELIU ISLAND, Sept. 17. (Delayed) (AP)—Pfc. Clyde Winters of Paris, Tex., was a member of a crew of one Marine tank which destroyed eight Japanese tanks in 30 minutes of fighting today in a battle that apparently has destroyed the remainder of Japanese armor on Peleliu.

Sgt. James D. Miller of Indianapolis, a Guadalcanal veteran, commanded the Marine tank. He kept his head up through the turret during the hottest part of the fight, when Japanese artillery as well as enemy tanks were firing on him.

"And that was the reason we were able to do what we did," said Miller's gunner, Cpl. Edward E. Brooks of Washington, D. C.

Congressional Junket To France Is Slated

LONDON, Sept. 19. (AP) — A "congressional invasion" of France was arranged today by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower after nine members of the U. S. House told the supreme commander they believed that they were being blocked from the trip by lesser military authorities.

Eight representatives probably will leave tomorrow on an inspection tour which will include Cherbourg, possibly Brussels, supply bases, an advance hospital, the Maginot line and perhaps the Siegfried line to study the equipment of the troops, how they are faring in the fields and the operation of lend-lease and civil affairs.

Those who will make the trip to France include W. R. Uoage (D-Tex); O. C. Fisher, (D-Tex).

Rates Under Potato Loan Program Listed

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19. (AP)—The War Food administration today announced its schedule of rates under the 1944 Irish potato loan program.

The rates will range from 29 cents a hundred for potatoes in farm storage in some western areas to $1.81 for those in warehouse storage in Louisiana, parts of Texas and a few states east of the Mississippi.

Loans will be available until Dec. 15 to growers, growers' associations, certified dealers and processors. They will be payable on demand not later than next March 31.

Oil Allowables Hike PAW Call

AUSTIN, Sept. 19. (AP) — The Railroad commission today announced a statewide oil production schedule for October calculated to result in an output of 2,134,113 barrels daily of crude oil or 1,113 more than certified by the Petroleum Administration for War (PAW).

The PAW's October certification reflecting changing trends in war conditions, was 30,000 barrels less than its September recommendation.

Texas production pattern for October list 24 general producing days including the big East Texas field which has only 23 producing days this month, and no shutin days for the Panhandle which was not restricted this month.

Major changes by fields are reflected in the following daily allowables of Oct. 1 and Sept. 16, respectively: Tom O'Connor, 56,914 and 63,335; West Ranch 24,268; and 25,076; Van 35,152 and 36,303; Coke 1,600 and 2,428; Seminole 26,394 and 27,171; Slaughter 76,085 and 78,608; Yates 42,554 and 49,888.

Average daily allowable for Texas wells beginning Oct. 1 will be 2,304,650 barrels of crude. Underproduction of 7.40 per cent, based on past experience, will reduce estimated flow to 2,134,113 barrels daily compared with 2,133,000 recommended by PAW.

Distillate and natural gasoline production of 147,700 barrels daily will increase daily production of all petroleum liquids to 2,281,813 or 3,813 more than the overall certification of PAW.

Cadet, Instructor Killed In Goliad

VICTORIA, Tex., Sept. 19 (U.P.)—Aloe field authorities announced today that a flying instructor and an aviation cadet were killed Monday night when their trainer plane crashed two miles south of Fannin in Goliad county.

Lt. Marshall was an all-district high school football player at Greenville, and a brother of Capt. Bert Marshall, P-38 fighter pilot and former Vanderbilt university grid star, listed as missing in the European theater.

Simmons Quits Office Of Attorney General

AUSTIN, Sept. 19. (AP)—Ed Roy Simmons, a member of the attorney general's department for nearly six years, has resigned to enter private practice in Corsicana.

Attorney General Grover Sellers in announcing the resignation of Simmons, said: "I am sorry to see him go. He has made a splendid record during his service with the state and will be difficult to replace."

Simmons joined the attorney general's department in 1939 during the administration of Gerald C. Mann and has headed the oil and gas, highway, insurance and county matters ever since.

A native of Freestone county, Simmons practiced law in Teague prior to his state appointment.

Hitler Said Above Chewing On Carpets

ROME, Sept. 19. (AP)—The following order by a Nazi political education officer of the German first parachute division was seized on the Italian front today:

"Officers must counteract with all possible means and with conviction assertions made by the enemy as well as even some of our own people that the fuehrer goes mad with rage and when he is in that state he tears down curtains, bites the carpet in his rage and rolls in convulsions on the floor."

The order added that there are witnesses who know Adolf Hitler "is well above such a lack of control," although "many a man in the street if he were exposed to the disappointments which the fuehrer has to bear would have gone under long ago."

What's the Rush?

IT'S THE TELEPHONE RUSH. Every night thousands of service men and women dash to the nearest telephones to talk with families and friends at home. Most of the Long Distance calls from camps and naval stations are crowded into a few short hours.

Many circuits are likely to be crowded at that time, and it helps a lot when you keep the lines clear from 7 to 10 for the service men and women. That's about the best time for most of them to call.

Threat Of Reprisal Implied If Texas Declines To Support FDR

FORT WORTH, Sept. 19. (AP)—The Star Telegram says it has learned that "several of Texas' anti-fourth term electors have been approached with the argument that continued opposition to the national administration might endanger the state's community property law, with respect to income taxes, and 'depletion of reserves' allowance given Texas oil men on income tax returns."

"Basis for the argument is that other Democratic congressmen might withdraw their support of the Texas delegation for the two measures if the intra-party fight continues and the states goes against the administration in the general election," says the paper.

Deny It Is Threat

"Pro-Roosevelt forces in the state were quick to deny that the arguments were offered as a 'threat,' the Star-Telegram adds.

One of the pro-Roosevelt leaders at the state party convention in Dallas last week, Congressman Wright Patman of Texarkana, told the Star Telegram from Austin that the Texas fight might "aggravate" the position which the two tax law features occupy, but said he was sure the party arguments would not cause any action to be taken.

"There has been a lot of opposition to both provisions," he said. "The Treasury department has made a recommendation to eliminate the depletion of reserves features."

Patman said the matter had not come up in any political arguments he has heard on his current trip to Texas, and had come up in no official meetings.

The Star Telegram says the depletion allowance permits about $350,000,000 a year to go untaxed in Texas on the theory that oil withdrawals represent depletion of assets and take from future income. The community property law permits a husband and wife to divide income of either.

Patman said he would have a hearing in Washington Wednesday and Thursday at which the oil question might come up. He said all Texas congressmen are for retention of both measures and pointed out that Speaker Sam Rayburn appoints members of the ways and means committee in which change would originate.

Slaton Marine Given Promotion On Saipan

SAIPAN, Marianas Islands. (Delayed)—After battling through the latest Marine landings on Saipan and Tinian, Marine Sergeant Ira B. Stephenson of Route 1, Slaton, Texas, was promoted from corporal to his present rating.

Sergeant Stephenson, who also landed with the famed Second Marine Division on Tarawa, regards the Gilbert Islands battle as the hardest he has been through. "On Tarawa," Stephenson says, "I had to wade several hundred yards through all kinds of Jap fire to make the beach. It took me about two hours to make it, and I've never gone through anything harder than that."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—Loss of the minesweeper Perry in action against the Japanese at Palau—the first ship lost in the campaign to capture that enemy island group—was announced by the Navy today.

At the same time the Navy reported loss of the auxiliary transport Noa "in the Pacific" as a result of a collision with a United States destroyer.

There were only light casualties in the loss of the Perry. All members of the crew of the Noa were rescued.

Both ships were converted destroyers. Each carried a normal complement of about 120 officers and men

Concerning the Perry, the Navy said only that she went down as a result of enemy action off the Palau islands.

Premiums and discounts for grade and staple in the 1944 program will be calculated in relation to the loan rate of 15/16 inch middling cotton.

Loan Rate Varies

The loan rate for 15/16 inch middling cotton, net weight, in Lubbock county is 21.18 cents, Boyd said. The loans will vary according to location. The rate for 16/16 inch middling cotton, net weight, will range from 21.09 to 21.30.

Loans will be made directly by the CCC or through lending agencies, principally banks, approved by the corporation. Requests for approval as lending agencies should be directed to CCC regional office, New Orleans, La.

Bar 3 Per Cent

The state and county AAA committees in the various states will designate persons as clerks to assist producers in preparing and excuting loan papers. Bona fide employes of Production Credit associations chartered by the Farm Credit administration; of banks approved by CCC as lending agencies; and of warehouses approved for the storage of loan cotton; and county AAA officers will be designated clerks. In addition, employes of other groups, such as cotton factors, ginners, cotton buyers, or others who have adequate facilities to perform the services required of a clerk, may be approved upon recommendation of the county committee to the state AAA committee.

Cotton producers' notes will bear interest at the rate of three per cent per annum and will mature July 31, 1945, but will be callable on demand. Loans will be available until May 1, 1945, Boyd said.

Loans will be made on cotton represented by warehouse receipts issued by warehouses approved by CCC and on farm-stored cotton secured by chattel mortgages. Cotton to be eligible to the loan must be classed by a board of cotton examiners of the War Food administration.

Loan forms are being made available through approved cotton warehouses and the county agricultural conservation committees.

Wilson Sergeant Is Awarded Distinguished Unit Citation As Member Of P-38 Fighter Group Commanded By Col. D. S. Campbell

Sgt. Thomas L. Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy F. Moore of Wilson, who is stationed in Italy with the Fifteenth Army Air Force, is now authorized to wear the gold-bordered blue ribbon indicative of the Distinguished Unit citation awarded to the P-38 Lightning fighter group of which he is a member, according to a dispatch received by the Avalanche-Journal.

The dispatch also revealed that the fighter group of which Sgt. Moore is a member is commanded by Col. Dan S. Campbell, former director of training at Lubbock Army Air field and later commanding officer at Pampa Army Air field. Col. Campbell's home is in San Antonio.

Assistant Crew Chief

Sgt. Moore is an assistant crew chief of 25 months experience overseas with the hardest hitting Lightning squadron of a fighter group in the 15th Air Force, cited for its outstanding performance in aerial combat over Steyr, Austria, April 2, 1944. The Lightnings on that date added a brilliant victory to their aggressive record by beating off numerically superior enemy aircraft which attempted to attack the bomber formation. Twenty of the 70 Nazi planes were destroyed without loss of a single P-38.

"It is unquestioned," reads the citation, "that the success of the mission was due to the superior combat eficiency of the pilots, together with the professional skil' and devotion to duty of the ground personnel of the group."

OPA Sues Firms For More Fat On Loins

CHICAGO, Sept. 19. (U.P.)—The Office of Price administration today sought an injunction against the four major packing companies, Armour, Swift, Wilson, and Cudahy to force them to halt alleged violations of an OPA ruling on the amount of fat to be left on pork loins and boston butts by packers.

George Austin, OPA enforcement attorney, told Federal Judge John P. Barnes that the companies had violated the rule from Jan. 1 to March 31, 1944, and in some cases until Sept. 1.

The regulation provides that a maximum of one half-inch of fat be left on the two cuts by the meat packing firms. It was put into effect in October, 1942.

A suit was filed against the four packing companies March 31 of this year.

Phillips makes millions and millions of pounds of BUTADIENE

AND I CAN'T GET EVEN ONE SYNTHETIC RUBBER TIRE

Naturally it seems strange to A-card motorists that they still can't buy a single tire . . . when they read of the production miracle which almost overnight has achieved an annual output rate of 836,000 tons of synthetic rubber, exceeding by more than 25 per cent the previous all-time peak of our crude rubber imports from the Malay States and the Dutch East Indies.

The reason, of course, is that rubber is ammunition, that rubber is fighting power: in tires for planes, and combat trucks and cars . . . in life rafts and landing boats . . . in bullet-sealing tanks . . . in aircraft carrier wiring . . . and in essential domestic transport service.

Even with victory on the horizon, the best informed estimate now is that synthetic rubber tires will not be generally available to all motorists much before the middle of 1945. That is why every patriotic driver will do everything in his power to coax every last bit of mileage from his tires.

You can get help to do just that by calling on your Phillips 66 Service Man. His Tire-Saving Service includes checking air pressures at least once a week . . . inspecting for nail holes, cuts and bruises . . . examination of the tire carcass to warn when re-capping is necessary . . . and crisscrossing with the spare every 3,000 miles.

Phillips Car-Saving Service will similarly help prolong the life of your automobile. So please don't think of "Care for your car—For your country" as a mere advertising slogan. It is a patriotic injunction from our victory-minded authorities, which tells you what you must do to help prevent a crisis in domestic transportation.

Why not enlist the cooperation and aid of the nearest Phillips 66 Service Man? Drive in at any Orange and Black 66 Shield, the sign of famous Phillips 66 Gasoline and Phillips 66 Motor Oil.

FDR Orders Plans Started For Breaking Up Of Federal Bureaus

By ROBERT J. MANNING
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19. — President Roosevelt today ordered the budget bureau to begin planning demobilization of the government's vast wartime machinery through liquidation of emergency bureaus and agencies and reduction of the federal payroll to a "peace footing."

"This is the time to do the planning, although the war—even in Europe—is not over," Mr. Roosevelt said in a letter to Budget Director Harold D. Smith. "Most of the planning will probably have to wait for execution until the Japs have surrendered —and there is no way of telling when that will happen. But the plans should be ready."

Principal Problems

In planning adjustment of the government's executive branch from "the needs of war to the needs of peace," Mr. Roosevelt said, three principal problems must be considered:

1. "Liquidation of war agencies and the reassignment of such permanent or continuing functions as they possess." There are now 23 emergency war agencies. Some of the major ones, such as the Office of Price administration ad War Production board, are expected to continue operation for some time after hostilities cease.

2. "Reduction of government personnel to a peace footing." The federal payroll last July listed 2,938,602 civil service employes in this country, as compared to about 1,000,000 in May of 1940 when the expansion began under impetus of the defense program.

3. "The simplification and adaptation of the administrative structure to peacetime requirements." This presumably will include realignment of the duties of regular agencies which were assigned special wartime duties by congressional or executive order.

Early Attention Urged

"Some steps along these lines may be taken when the fighting ends in Europe," Mr. Roosevelt said, and urged that "immediate attention" be focussed on this phase of the government demobilization program.

In apparent reference to criticism of the administration based on the great increase in the federal payroll, Mr. Roosevelt acknowledged that "total war has required a great expansion of government activities agencies and personnel."

But, he added, "our success on the battle fronts all over the world bears witness to the effectiveness of our efforts."

"Upon termination of hostilities, we must proceed with equal vigor to liquidate war agencies and reconvert the government to peace," Mr. Roosevelt said. "The transition . . . should be carried forward rapidly, but with a minimum of disorder and disruption. Only careful planning can achieve this goal."

Dewey Blasts Bureaus

One of the latest blasts at the increased federal payroll came last week from Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, the Republican presidential nominee, who assailed what he termed "overpopulation" of government bureaus and agencies.

Many war agencies already are beginning to release workers under their own demobilization plans. The WPB has abolished several smaller units and the Office of Defense Transportation last week announced that 1,000 of its 5,000 positions were being eliminated.

AUSTIN, Sept. 19. (U.P.) — Gov. Coke R. Stevenson today designated Sept. 24-Oct. 1 as "14th annual religious education week."

No Labor Shortage Is Expected In Area

Lubbock county and the South Plains apparently will not be affected by the shortage of cotton pickers as are other sections of the state, Jason O. Gordon, county agent, said Tuesday.

Approximately 3,000 will be needed in Lubbock county, he said, but about 1,200 have arrived and indications are that the remainder will be here in two weeks.

Gordon said many of those expected have a habit of coming to this county every year. They go immediately to farms where they previously worked. Others report to Gordon's office and are referred to Julio Herrera, county farm labor assistant, who places them where they are needed. Those who do not have a place to go on arival are quartered at the Panhandle - South Plains fairgrounds.

ODT Plans Slash In Number Of Employes

Under the new setup of redistricting the Lubbock district will be made up of 72 counties.

Branch offices of the Lubbock district will be operated in Amarillo and El Paso.

Senate Passes Reconversion Bill Stripped Of Grants To Civilians

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19. (AP)—The Senate today reluctantly passed a postwar reconversion bill stripped of House-opposed provisions which would have extended unemployment compensation coverage to 3,100,000 federal employes.

Abandoned also was a proposal to provide up to $200 back home travel pay for displaced war workers as the Senate sent the bobtailed compromise on to the House for certain approval tomorrow.

Issue To Be Revived

Leaders served notice, however, that the government employe compensation issue would be revived after the November election.

The only other major obstacle to a recess beginning Thursday or Friday and lasting until after the election—a compromise bill setting up a three-member board to dispose of an estimated $100,000,000 of surplus war properties—was ready for final action.

The reconversion bill sets up an office of war demobilization and reconversion to coordinate all phases of postwar adjustment, and provides a federal insurance fund to guarantee the solvency of state unemployment compensation systems.

Senate conferees agreed earlier in the day at a conference with a House group that House rejection of jobless pay and transportation features yesterday left no other choice than to pass the abbreviated bill.

Senator George (D-Ga), chairman of the Senate conferees and author of the Senate bill, declared "We have not abandoned the conviction that federal employes must be made eligible for unemployment benefits." Majority Leader Barkley (Ky) said he thought Congress would have to deal with unemployment compensation pay and travel pay for migratory workers after the recess.

Nervous German Asks Americans To Move Wounded

WITH AMERICAN THIRD ARMY, Near Moselle River, Sept. 18 (AP)—Infantrymen returning from a bloody battlefield in the thick woods of Cheveux west of Metz reported that the screams of American wounded so unnerved an English-speaking German machine gunner, he called out: "Take out your wounded. We will stop shooting long enough for you to take them out."

First Lt. Emory M. Ornelles, 21, of Honolulu, entrenched in the woods, heard him but could not believe. Incredulous, Sgt. Alfred E. Bruce, 28, of Plunketville, Okla., asked: "Do you think he means it, sir?"

Pvt. Lyman E. Lehrburger 20, of Brookline, Mass., was lying in a slit trench with two dead comrades and two wounded ones.

"I figured I was dead anyhow," he said, "so I called 'do you really mean it?' This Jerry replied in perfect English: "I mean it. Get out your wounded and stop that noise.'

"The boy on the ground beside me was wounded in the leg and the hip. He had been moaning and praying most of the morning. I grabbed him by the shoulders, dragged him back into the woods and escaped. That was all that saved us. When I stood up and walked toward the wood I could see a German machine gun not more than 25 yards away with the gunner crouched at the ready behind it."

It is estimated that accidents cost employers about $35 per worker a year.

FARMER INDICTED

DALLAS, Sept. 19. (AP)—A federal grand jury here has returned an indictment against Jack Taylor Davis, Abilene farmer, in connection with an alleged attack last month on A. A. Heathington, chairman of Abilene's selective service board No. 2.

Officials Would Kill Ad Valorem

SAN ANGELO, Sept. 19. (AP)—The West Texas County Judges and Commissioners association today went on record as favoring abolition of state ad valorem taxes and decided to bring the proposal before the state association convention in Galveston next December.

The resolution, which suggested no alternative levy, was approved three to one by the association at the closing session of its two-day convention here.

The group elected Charles W. Roberts of Andrews county president succeeding Judge Lee Thompson of Parmer county. Other officers elected were Commissioner Charles Butler, Brown county, vice president, and Judge E. C. Grindstaff, Runnels county, secretary.

Abilene Next Host

Abilene was chosen as the association's spring convention site.

Judge M. Scarborough of El Paso county spoke earlier in favor of the ad valorem tax abolishment.

The resolutions committee did not act on a proposal for establishing a new independent state county roads commission after McLennan County Judge H. Y. McDaniel, Waco, had proposed adoption of a rural roads program as a postwar project. He advocated financing such a program by one-fourth of the 4-cent road bond indebtedness.

By a 22 to 20 vote, with many members not voting, the association declined to adopt a resolution presented by Irion County Judge Willis Burke. His resolution called on the University of Texas to place its 2,000,000 acres of endowment lands on sale for homesteading by veterans and others.

The association unanimously endorsed a proposal of Weaver H. Baker of the state board of control that Army camps and other facilities which can be feasibly adapted be converted into postwar eleemosynary facilities.

Two Correspondents Captured By Nazis

U. S. THIRD ARMY HEADQUARTERS, In France, Sept. 19. (AP)—War correspondents Wright Byran of the Atlanta Journal and Edward W. Beattie of the United Press were captured by the Germans Sept. 12 four miles north of Chaumont, headquarters for Gen. Pershing in the last war.

Byran was wounded slightly in the left leg. Beattie was not injured. Both presumably were taken to Germany.

A third reporter, captured with them, was freed by an Allied armored column and has returned to the Third army press camp. Army regulations forbid publication of his name at this time.

BEER: A beverage made from malt, hops and yeast.

Preparation For Leadership In Post-War Era Urged On Students

Dr. William M. Whyburn, president of Texas Tech, told students and faculty members of Tech Tuesday morning that college students will be urgently needed for leaders in the post-war period. President Whyburn's address was made at the opening convocation of the 1944-45 college year.

The capacity audience — Tech's gym was jammed to the rafters—was quietly attentive until the newly-named president had completed his address, then cut loose with an ovation.

Announcement was made that college enrollment stood at 1,931 —20 per cent higher than at this time last year. Preponderance of enrollment is freshmen students.

Leadership Must Be Ready

Speaking generally on the need for leaders in the period following global war, Dr. Whyburn said the entire world will be faced with immediate problems of adapting itself to the changing requirements of political, social, economic and other fronts; and that it is up to institutions of higher learning and to individuals convinced of the world's future needs to supply leaders who can assist.

He mentioned obvious future contributions peculiar to persons graduated from the various divisions of Tech: Agriculture, engineering, home-economics, arts and sciences and commerce.

All Must Contribute

The need should not be met alone by the colleges, Dr. Whyburn emphasized; there is responsibility that should be borne by those who will be discharged from the armed services, by those who leave defense industries, and by those who can qualify from the ranks of the public-at-large.

College, as a matter of fact, he explained, "only prepares one for his eventual position, does not secure the individual in it; you must establish your own qualifications." He said that full advantage taken of college training would help point the way to the place where the individual would fit.

Problem History's Greatest

"There is more need for leaders now than at any other time in the history of the world," Dr. Whyburn said he was convinced.

The crowd was larger than at any other convocation in at least three years, numerous upperclassmen estimated.

The Matador band, directed by D. O. Wiley, played. There was audience singing. Rev. John A. Winslow, rector of St. Paul's-on-the-Plains Episcopal church, offered an invocation. Students sang "O College Mother Beautiful," lyrics written by the late Dr. Paul W. Horn, Tech's first president. Dean James G. Allen introduced Maxine Craddock, president of the student body, who asked for nominations for head cheer leader. Billy Johnson was elected by acclamation.

TECH CLASSES ELECT THEIR OFFICERS TODAY

Classes at Texas Tech this morning elected officers, and representatives to the student council and to the Association of Women Students were designated.

Seniors named Charles Senning of Spur, president; Oliver Ramsey of Ralls, vice president, and Francine Young of Lubbock, secretary-treasurer. AWS representatives named were Marjorie Street of Graham, and Donella Bucy of Wink. Student council representatives named were Nancy Overline of Amarillo, from the arts and sciences division; P. L. Payne of Lubbock, commerce; Elbert Rankin of Amarillo, engineering; Clyde Parmelly of Abilene, home economics, and Paul Payne of Byron, agriculture.

Juniors Name Seymour Student

Juniors named Troy Caldwell of Seymour, president; Elizabeth Robison of Lubbock, vice president; Margie Gerber of Pampa, secretary. AWS representatives are Patsy Smith of Ralls and Norma Cleavinger of Springlake. Representatives to the Student council: Mary Frances Barnard of Lamesa, from arts and sciences; Mary Jean Webb of Dimmitt, commerce; Roger Flanagan of Sweetwater, engineering; LaNell Doshier of Claude, home economics. The agricultural representative will be named later.

Sophomores named Arthur Shahan of Graham, president; Gene Nowlin of Lubbock, vice president; Ruth Anthony of Lubbock, secretary-treasurer. Representatixes to AWS: Verdia Beth Edler of Lubbock and Estelle De-Busk of Idalou. Representatives to Student council: Troy Davidson of Lubbock, from arts and sciences; Dan Young of Lubbock, commerce; Don Sloan of Plains, engineering. Home economics and agricultural representatives will be named later.

Freshmen elected Gene Hardy of Hugoton, Texas, president; Bill Kennedy of Lubbock, vice president, and Jackie Lewis of Lubbock, secretary-treasurer.

Of the officers elected in the four classes, four men are returning servicemen from this war. They are Charles Senning, Oliver Ramsey, Troy Davidson and Bill Kennedy. Senning served with the Infantry, Ramsey was enrolled in the Naval Air corps reserves, Davidson was a Marine, and Kennedy was in the Navy and served in the Southwest Pacific area for 17 months, receiving the President's Citation.

In 1880, 70 percent of the U. S. population lived on farms and 30 per cent in cities—exactly the reverse of 1943.

Lubbock To Have Full Grid Slate

Lubbock football elevens continue preparations for one of the heaviest weekend football schedules to be faced this season, with demands on tickets expected to reach a new high for the big games on the schedule.

The firing will start Thursday afternoon, and will not be over until the final gun sometime late Sunday afternoon. Five of six games involving local elevens will be played on home fields with the Cowhand eleven under Coach George Philbrick going to Tahoka Friday night for the only road game on the schedule.

Grid Party Tonight

The football fever will be touched off tonight at the Tech staduim when the Red Raiders will be introduced in the members of the Matador club, and will offer a special scrimmage session as the highlight of the party. All club members are urged to be on hand at 8 o'clock.

The football games will be started Thursday afternoon at Chapman field with the four junior high school elevens playing the opening conference game for each club. This grid double bill will start shaping up the race to determine the two teams that will battle for the junior championship of the city.

Schoolboy Grid Duel

The Lubbock Westerners will move the program to Tech field Friday night as they are hosts to the state champion San Angela Bobcats, who are doped to repeat for the honors again this season.

The Westerners began setting a defense Tuesday afternoon with the second stringers running San Angelo plays.

Charles Pressley and George Brewer were both at the field Tuesday, but not in uniform, but it is hoped that both will be ready to go against the Bobcats Friday.

Pressley is slated to take over his center position Friday, moving R. W. Moyers back to his fullback slot. The rest of the lineup will be the same as that which started last Friday against Odessa.

Moyers came through the game Friday in good shape, and played some bangup ball at center, a position he played early last season, but his return to the backfield should greatly strengthen the Westerner attack.

Word from San Angelo indicates that Kenneth Carley, a star back of the state champions, injured his knee last week in the Ballinger game, and will likely be used sparingly against the Westerners.

Tech Plays LAAF

The Texas Tech Red Raiders will open the season Saturday night with their crosstown foes, the Lubbock Army Air Field. Both teams offer a lineup well dotted with new faces, and little comparison of the two teams will be available before the kickoff. But, indications are that Saturday's scrap will be a tossup.

It is expected to develop into a duel between two great fullback stars with Lawrence "Buster" Dixon for the soldiers and Walter Schlinkman for the collegians expected to spark the attack for both teams.

The program will be run over into Sunday with the untested South Plains Army Air Field Winged Commandos battling the All-American dotted lineup of the Amarillo Sky Giants in an afternoon game.

Coach Marlin R. "Shorty" Hayhurst's Cowhands Gold team will be the only Lubbock grid eleven to take it easy this week.

Hughson To Hurl In Wichita Falls Game

WICHITA FALLS, Sept. 19 (AP)—One of the biggest crowds ever to see a baseball game in this section is expected to turn out Sunday to watch Cecil (Tex) Hughson, former Boston Red Sox pitching star take the mound for the first time since arriving at Sheppard Field.

Hughson will hurl for the Yankees, one of the two All-Star teams selected from the post league. The Yanks and Rebels meet at 2 p. m. at downtown Spudder Park. Lefty John Travis one of the service league's top pitchers will work for the Rebels.

PEP KAYOS LEWIS

McWhorter To Play For LAAF

The sun is out today at Lubbock Army Air Field and much of the gloom that has prevailed at the base has been dispelled by the news that "Big Mack" McWhorter, last year's tackle who placed on the second All-Service team, is back on duty at the West Base.

It was "Big Mack" that tore out many of the big holes that Roger Smith roamed through to bring fame to LAAF last season, and his return has been a welcome bit of news to LAAF GIs.

Transferred early this spring to Randolph Field, along with Roger Smith, the loss of those two dependable performers cast a shadow on the LAAF pigskin spirits.

Rumors that both McWhorter and Smith were being sent back to LAAF have proven partly justified. Although nothing will be known about the possibility that the elusive Smith will be returned to the fold until actual orders are received, hope is running high at LAAF that one of the best backs in the Southwest may eventually reappear in a LAAF uniform.

With the return of McWhorter, an already impressive LAAF line begins to look like the tough proposition that opponents found it last year. The strengthening of the Army line may well throw the spotlight of Saturday's night opener with the Red Raiders at Tech Stadium on the two lines as both have shown promise of some excellent line play for this season.

Former Frog Coach Dies Tuesday Night

SPOKANE, Wash., Sept. 19 (AP) Francis A. Schmidt, head football coach at the University of Idaho until last March and famous for his "razzle dazzle" grid teams at Ohio State university and at Texas Christian university, died tonight.

Schmidt's physician said the coach had been in failing health several months and he had been in a hospital here since early this month.

He was signed at Idaho in 1941, coming west from Ohio State with a 24-year coaching record of 166 victories, 46 losses and 12 ties. A year ago Idaho joined other Pacific Northwest colleges in suspending football due to a war-prompted manpower shortage and last March Schmidt's contract was not renewed.

Tigers Defeat Yanks In Opener

DETROIT, Sept. 19. (AP)—Harold Newhouser, hanging up his 26th pitching victory of the season, humbled the New York Yankees today for the sixth time this year as the Detroit Tigers strengthened their grip on first place with a 4 to 1 victory in the opener of a three-game series.

The Detroit's biggest week-day crowd of the season—28,290 fans—watching the Tigers increase their edge over New York to three full games by handing the Yanks their fourth straight loss. The defeat was the 13th for New York in 20 games with Detroit this year.

Newhouser spaced eight hits and had a shutout until the ninth, when Johnny Lindell hammered his 17th homer into the upper left field stands. Lindell's four-bagger was the second run off the ace Tiger lefthander in his last 38 innings. Newhouser now has won six games in a row.

Hank Borowy, the Yankee starter who went into the game seeking his 18th victory this year, permitted but five hits in seven innings but four of them figured in the scoring of three Detroit runs. Atley Donald, who worked the eighth, gave three hits including Eddie Mayo's fifth homer into the right field seats with nobody on.

Detroit scored in the first inning when Mayo singled to left center, took second when Pinky Higgins walked and scored on Dick Wakefield's single to center.

Borowy permitted but one hit for the next four innings but spotty fielding by the Yanks, combined with a pair of lusty triples from Tiger bats, helped two Detroit runs across in the sixth.

The loss dropped the Sox five games behind the league-leading Detroit Tigers. Steve Gromek spaced nine Boston hits, the Indians supporting him with a four-run uprising in the sixth which drove starter Rex Cecil from the mound.

Muleshoe Preps For 5-A Grid Schedule

MULESHOE, Sept. 19 — The Muleshoe High school Yellowjackets will return to the schoolboy football picture this fall with a light, but scrappy, football team in prospect.

Johnny Wight, a colorful and well known sports figure, has taken over the job as coach, and the building of the football in this city. New equipment has been purchased, and work has started to prepare the grid field, but no lighting equipment will be installed this season.

Wight played football at Tulane down in New Orleans, playing under Clark Shaughnessy, Pittsburg coach, and daddy of the now famed T formation. For this reason, Muleshoe probably will use the T formation this season.

Wight also played professional baseball in the American league with the New York Yankees, as well as spending some time in the Texas and Southern loops, and has coached college and high school athletics for the past ten years.

Wight has about 50 boys trying for places on the team, but lists only one experienced performer.

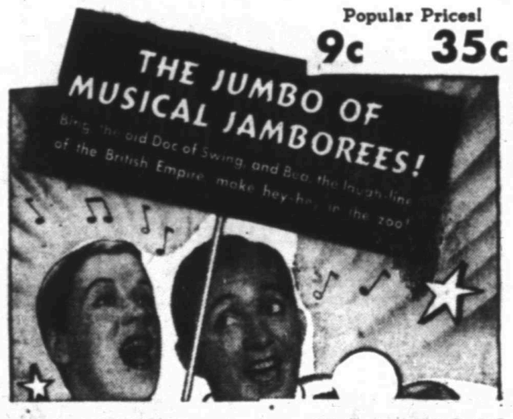

Wight also stated that he was needing officials for games this season.

Muleshoe will open the season Friday at Spring Lake, then swing into the 5-A conference race the following week with Sudan playing in Muleshoe.

The Muleshoe schedule is:

Sept. 22—Sprink Lake there.
Sept. 29—Sudan here.
Oct. 6—Morton there.
Oct. 13—Olton here.
Oct. 20—Spring Lake here.
Oct. 27—Littlefield there (night).
Nov. 3—Sudan there.
Nov. 10—Levelland here.
Nov. 17—Morton here.

A Disturbing Attitude

TYPICAL of the intolerance and unfairness and blind partisanship—which have cracked the ranks of the Democratic party in Texas was a statement the other day attributed to Harry L. Seay, of Dallas, a member of the pro-Roosevelt forces in this state.

When the secretary of state, Sidney Latham, ruled on the question of whether or not the presidential electors chosen in May legally could be replaced by a new set named in Dallas last week, he was acting as the official representative of all the people in Texas. Yet when Latham ruled against Mr. Seay's group and decided that in his opinion the May electors still stand, Mr. Seay was quoted as remarking:

"We (the pro-Rooseveltians) can't for the life of us understand why a public official will fail to follow the mandate of the Democratic party."

It should be pointed out to Mr. Seay, and all others on both sides of the political argument, than an official of the State of Texas is not bound to follow the "mandates" of the Democratic party; or of any wing of it; or of the Republican party, or of any other organization. It is his duty not to follow partisan mandates of any kind but, instead, to follow only the mandates of the people —all the people—as set out in the laws and statutes.

PARTICULARLY disturbing to thoughtful Texans is the fact that the biased attitude—that which holds a state official should follow the "mandate" of a part of the people rathen than the law—is attributed to a man like Mr. Seay.

Mr. Seay is not of the "peanut," or the "common garden" variety of politician. To the contrary, he is a highly respectable—and respected—Dallas business man. For many years he has been a civic "wheel horse" in the East Texas metropolis, an ardent worker for and contributor to the better things. Successful in business, Mr. Seay is a man of wide popularity and generally recognized as being both eminently fair and of good judgment. In short, his record would mark him as the very antithesis of the sort of individual likely to fall victim of blind partisanship.

Our guess is that Mr. Seay did not mean exactly what he is quoted as saying. But since he is an acknowledged leader in his community, and as such his words bear weight, his choice of statement was unfortunate.

THE attitude attributed to Mr. Seay in the question of presidential electors is the attitude of many, if not most, of the leaders of both winds of the Democratic party in Texas. Pro-Rooseveltians ruthlessly "steamrolled" old line Democrats when they finally secured control of the Dallas convention, just as Fourth Term opponents "steamrolled" their New Deal rivals in Austin last May. Each side has worked itself up to such a pitch that calm judgment and fair play —even common courtesy—have been kicked overboard.

It is a sad state of affairs when American citizens deny the right of others to honestly disagree on candidates or on principles.

It is even a sadder state of affairs when an official of any political party, or any segment of any political party, allows himself to become so partisan that he looks upon the state government, or any official of it, as memely a partisan vehicle.

If state, or federal governments, or their officials, become merely partisan vehicles, then democracy has failed of its purpose.

Deficiencies In Education

FAR be it from us to argue an academic question with Dean W. R. Woolrich, of the University of Texas College of Engineering. But we will make bold to suggest that perhaps the good dean has not surveyed the whole high school field when he insists that the foremost deficiency there-in is in mathematics.

Being a director of an engineering school, Dean Woolrich naturally would notice weakness in mathematics on the part of youngsters coming under his supervision from the various high schools of the Southwest. He'd be more apt to notice a mathematical deficiency, we think, than, say, an English deficiency.

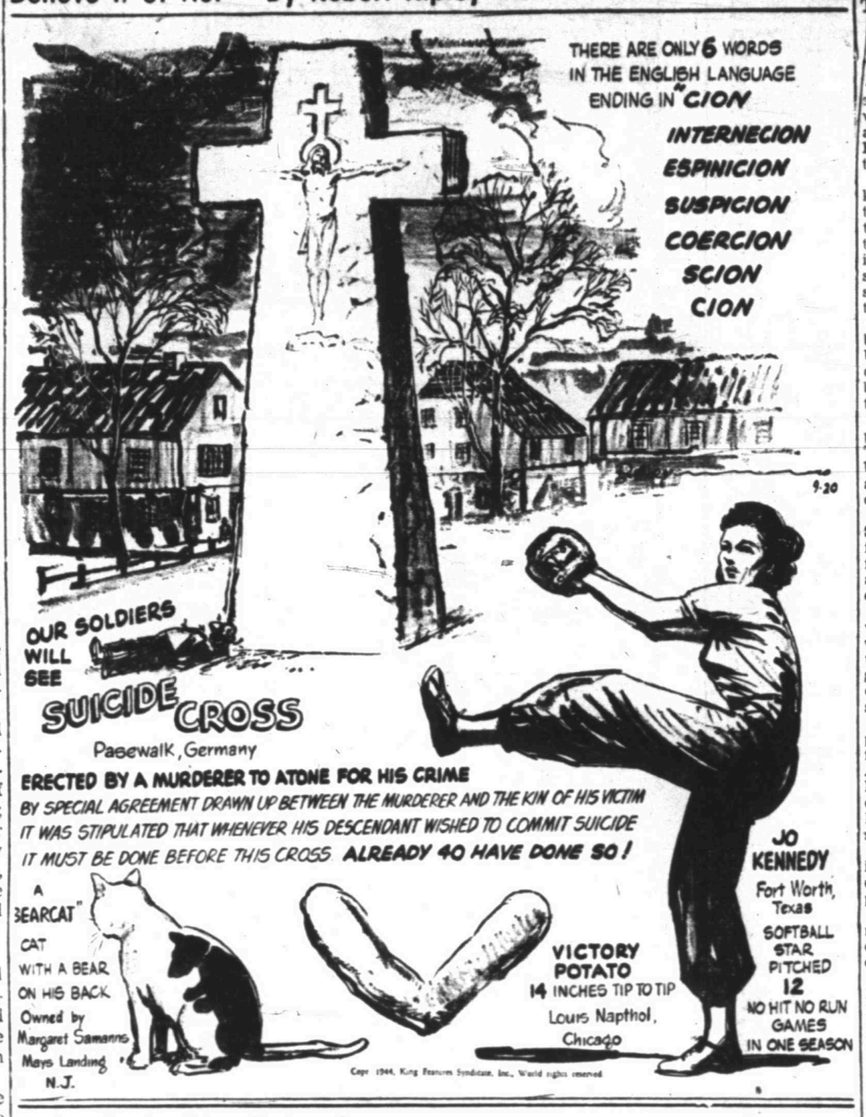

Being inexpert—yea, even sadly lacking —in mathematics, the Editor of The Morning Avalanche wouldn't quickly notice a deficiency in mathematics. So perhaps that's the reason he feels Texas youngsters are, generally speaking, more deficient in English than in other studies.

Of more day-by-day use than any other subject taught in the public schools, English, therefore, should be the best taught subject in our public schools, and our colleges. But if it is, then our system of education is woefully inefficient. For the average high school and college graduate is so poorly grounded in his native language that he cannot apply it in exactness and in keeping with its niceties.

Could it be that historians find too much deficiency in history; the botanists too much deficiency in their field; the chemists in theirs?

Perhaps our entire educational system needs overhauling and bucking up. If so, that's a post-war job which should be undertaken and completed as quickly as is possible.

The Life Of Eisenhower

By Francis Trevelyan Miller

(Copyright, 1944, NEA Service, Inc.)

FOUR-STAR GENERAL

XIX

General Eisenhower at the conference at Casablanca was intrusted with one of the biggest jobs in the war. He was selected by the British and American governments and their combined staffs to drive the Axis out of North Africa.

Again President Roosevelt and General Marshall, in full agreement with Prime Minister Churchill and the great British war lords had said, "This is the man."

While they were closeted in conference Montgomery's British Army was administering heavy punishment to Rommel's forces in retreat across the deserts of North Africa. They captured ancient Tripoli and left the city burning. The Axis fled in panic across the Tunisian border.

Rommel was digging in along the Mareth Line for a last desperate stand. Tunis and Bizerte were under continuous bombardment by Allied air forces. The Americans were battering at Axis strongholds barring the roads to Tunisia from Algeria.

News was now to come which marked the end of Axis power on the African continent. Eisenhower was placed in supreme command of all Allied Forces in North Africa on Feb. 6, 1943. For the first time in history the British and Americans were united into a consolidated fighting force under an American commander.

The "Big Four" were announced as General Eisenhower, commander in chief, with three great British warriors on his General Staff: General Alexander (direct superior of the indefatigable Montgomery); Air Marshal Tedder with his Royal Air Force; and Admiral Cunningham, with his powerful navy. Eisenhower, although out ranked by all three, was their chief.

Prime Minister Churchill in making this unprecedented announcement, said, "In General Eisenhower and in General Alexander you have two men remarkable for their unselfishness of character and their disdain of purely personal advancement. Let them alone, give them a chance, and it is quite probable that one of these fine days the bells will have to be rung again."

Admiral Cunningham, with the gallantry for which the British Navy is famous, declared, "I am General Eisenhower's naval commander and I want to emphasize that I am very content to serve under him. He has welded together some of the most diverse ideas. Our British Staff ideas differ from the American's in various ways, but nevertheless General Eisenhower has joined the staff into a happy family. It does not really matter whether you are British or American; in fact he never thinks of it that way. Very few men could have done this."

President Roosevelt on Feb. 11 proposed General Eisenhower as a "four-star" full general to the Senate. Suspending all rules, they approved the appointment that afternoon. Eisenhower now joined General MacArthur and General Marshall as the third full general in active service.

General Eisenhower was advised of his appointment by his wife in a cablegram which she quickly dispatched when she heard of it in Washington, but she was anticipated by a naval officer who heard the news over a ship's radio. The official confirmation was received by the general just as he received an enterprising French jeweler who was delivering 12 handsome silver stars.

Eisenhower planned his staff on a "business basis" and called himself "Chairman of the Board." Under him were Admiral Cunningham (British) as Mediterranean naval chief, with Vice Admiral Henry K. Hewitt (American) as deputy; Air Marshal Tedder (British) was chief of strategy with Gen. "Tooey" Spaatz (American) as tactical leader and Maj.-Gen. "Jimmy" Doolittle (American) as the bomber boss. General Alexander (British) was deputy Allied commander and the leaders in the field were General Montgomery (British), General Clark (American), General Anderson (British), and the Gen. George Patton (American).

The Allied Headquarters grew to tremendous size, 1200 officers and 16,000 enlisted men, housed in 1500 requisitioned buildings in Algiers. In preparation for the Sicilian invasion General Eisenhower issued a combat order which exceeded 100,000 words, and yet, despite the huge preparations, the general had the satisfaction to say, after the attack at Gela, "By golly, we surprised them!"

Passing the buck is out with Ike Eisenhower. He assumes all blame for whatever goes wrong. When the Yanks took their greatest licking at Faid Pass, the American and British units became hopelessly entangled. The general issued this statement: "Any blame for the mixing up of units belongs to me. We saw a chance to grab all of Tunisia before the Germans could reinforce. We threw up every combat unit we had, regardless. It was a long gamble, but we almost got away with it. After you mix up your units, even on a good gamble like that, it take time to sort them out."

Another time, when supply lines were particularly long, French troops under Giraud were guarding supply routes and DeGaulle chose this critical moment to present a demand that all Vichyites be purged from the French army. General Eisenhower settled the matter by explaining the military exigencies and the problem was solved diplomatically.

Looking At Life - - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

A YOUNG fellow who is about ready to earn a living but still too young to join the armed service, asked my advice a couple of days ago.

"I want to prepare myself for a business or a profession," he said, "but it's so hard to make up your mind."

"Well, have you any particular inclination?" I asked him.

"Yes, I have," he said, "I like selling. But my father wants me to go into something more dignified. He thinks people kind of look down on salesmen."

"What rot!" I replied, "I think salesmanship is the most important business in the world."

And then I went on to prove my statement.

Salesmanship is vital in every phase of life.

The baby, by its yelling, sells its mother on its first drink of milk.

No man has yet gotten a wife unless his courtship and proposal were good salesmanship.

The sweetest poem languishes unread unless it is sold to a producer.

The dog, man's dearest friend, telis his desires to his master by pleading eye or begging bark.

Nature herself is a salesman—the beauties of the flowers, the verdant green of the trees, the majesty of the mountins and the grandeur of the sea—all these have sold more real estate than any salesman ever could.

EVERY successful man is a good salesman.

Every new idea has to be sold —against doubt and resistance.

The first steamboat, the earliest train, the old incandescent lamp, the airship and the radio—the world's greatest inventions had to be sold before hey could revolutionize our lives.

Columbus had to sell his idea to Isabella before he became a discoverer.

Roosevelt had to sell himself to the nation before he could be elected President.

Unless Dewey is a salesman as a statesman and politician, he will never get inside the White House for more than a visit.

The doctor, the lawyer, the minister, the teacher, all convert their knowledge into cash.

"No, my boy," I said to the young fellow, "don't let anybody tell you that selling isn't a good business. And in the very near future, it will be the salesman's day more than ever before."

But enough of this. Deuce has just sold me on the idea of taking him out for a walk.

And I am a sucker for salesmen. Aren't you?

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration has tangled in the tresses of rival agencies in Washington and foreign emissaries whose countries this organization is supposed to aid. Internal conditions have become so bad that Herbert Lehman, American representative, is on the verge of quitting.

Basic trouble seems to be that UNRRA, as it is known to the trade, is staffed by starry-eyed brain trusters. They aim to internationalize WPA, and to become glorified replicas of Harry Hopkins for the universe. Roy Hendrickson, operations officer, is a protege and admirer of Henry Wallace, and shares his bountiful philosophy that the U. S. should be father and provide for the "century of the common man."

War Food Administrator Marvin Jones, a capable, conservative Texan, does not agree with UNRRA's "give everything away" theories. Neither does the State department, nor the Army which has been assigned the task of feeding liberated populations until six months after the end of the war.

The War Food and the Army will have huge surpluses here and abroad for relieving the hungry. They think it more economical and efficient for UNRRA to draw on these stores. But Hendrickson and his aides, ambition to emulate Herbert Hoover, demand that they be recognized as head bosses.

SUSPICION: A further complication lies in the fact that many foreign nations want to cut loose from UNRRA. Oddly enough, they desire to stand and march forward into the unknown on their own economic feet.

Many countries have gold or credits here with which they could purchase supplies if the reserves were released. But so far they have been unable to persuade President Roosevelt or Secretary Morgenthau that they should be allowed to use their own funds. We are forcing free food upon them for some reason or other.

Several European spokesmen have said that they prefer to buy in South America, where low prices for beef and wheat prevail. But they cannot get Anglo-American clearance for such transactions. Many relief agencies here have accumulated stocks of food and clothing for needy kinsmen abroad. But they are unable to obtain licenses or shipping space.

Through their influence at the White House, ideological-minded officials of UNRRA have blocked attempts to inject businesslike methods into the problem of restoring Europe.

Note: As evidence of other nations' suspicions regarding the whole scheme, only the United Kingdom and Canada have made full payments on their quotas for financing UNRRA.

MEAT: Even more fundamental differences are behind the clash of the War Food administration, which has the solid support of military men who know conditions in reconquered lands, and UNRRA.

Administrator Hendrickson insists that 2,600 calories a day should be furnished for each person. WFA's maximum is between 1,600 and 2,000. The lower estimate is based on the thought that liberation of Italy and France, the two countries chiefly involved now, came early enough to permit them to help themselves.

RECOVERY: UNRRA wants to hand out food through a system of soup kitchens. War Food and the Army insist that edibles be destributed through regular retail stores as in prewar days.

This disagreement may seem trivial. But it may be all-important in so far as restoring the courage, the initiative and the self-respect of broken peoples is concerned.

If they must line up in streets with mess kits, they may consider themselves victims of charity; they may come to resent the hand that fed them. If they can walk into a friendly, familiar store run by a native, even though they receive the provisions free or at low prices, they can hold up their heads.

It is the difference between WPA leaf-rakers and PWA builders of bridgers, dams and roads. How this bread-and-butter question is settled—it will eventually land on FDR's desk—may determine the speed of Europe's recovery and the continent's future attitude toward Uncle Sam.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

AS NEW YORK'S great national trade association opens the season by announcing programs for the year, directors report on the seven-league strides by individual companies as well as groups toward making reconversion a period of prosperity.

Regardless of the stalling until after election by Congress, business is going ahead—not only with blueprints for X-day but with active sales promotion campaigns.

Its leaders condemn partisan vacillation. But they know that in the end they and the retail merchants all over America will have only themselves to blame if they are caught napping when peace comes.

Realists understand that when Uncle Sam stops buying, there will be the swiftest disappearance of markets in United States history. The pessimist sees only this loss. But the optimist recognizes that millions of private customers will spring up—enormous pickings for anyone who goes after them.

DEMANDS: No economist minimizes the difficulties of the transitional era. But Manhattan's progressive executives believe too many crepehangers are exaggerating them.

Although many Victory plants are "frozen" they state that only 20 per cent of the total national industrial setup was ever completely converted to war. Petroleum, food, leather, mining etc., can switch with slight effort.

For example, textiles are bound to boom. In most places it will soon be almost impossible to purchase men's shirts and underwear. After government requirements are filled the whole male civilian population will clamor for the missing necessities. New England mill owners say that the average factory can change its looms in about a fortnight.

TELEVISION: Industrial pigeonholes are stuffed with patterns for new things. But of even more consequence, sales forces that are on their toes already are writing orders for standard and improved articles. Not only firms but banks and trade organizations are signing up potential buyers and are tipping off local retail outlets regarding demands.

One of the most ingenious projects to stimulate sales is the "purchasing plan" or "lay away plan" inaugurated last year for a few wide-awake bankers. It has proved so successful that it may soon spread all over the country.

From surveys financiers learned that the public will salt away money provided that it has a definite schedule of depositing and the idea has been dramatized. This is how one bank profited by the information:

It set up in its lobby—of all places!—a display that included a home television receiver, a helicopter and other "dream products." It kindled the imagination of visitors.

PAYMENT: The bankers soon saw that, whereas the interest of men and women is aroused by the spectacular, they are really concerned with the conveniences that will be available to them tomorrow.

So an architect planned and a builder constructed one side of a modern dwelling outside the cashier's cage and a model kitchen and bathroom next to the vice president's desk. Air conditioning apparatus, deep freezing units and a 1945 auto were on view. One conservative establishment in a rural area demonstrated new electric chicken breeders in the directors' conference room.

Newspaper advertising, direct mail, counter pamphlets and other media were used to tell the stories of the exhibits. Reconditioning guides written by architects and printed advice given by home decorators were distributed.

As a prospect showed a definite desire for an object, a special club account with regular weekly deposits was opened for the purchase of the new product, pending delivery. The order and its full payment are all ready, even before the factory has started making the goods.

Deaf Smith County Plans Cashing In On Publicity

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Associated Press Staff Writer

WITH 700,000 sacks of Irish potatoes harvested, a crop which grosse more than $500 per acre, and 6,000,000 bushels of wheat stored, Deaf Smith county is prepared to answer more than 1,000 letters from all sections of the United States and 17 foreign countries requesting every conceivable item grown within the county from prairie grass to drinking water.

In 1942, Hereford, the county seat, became known as "The Town Without A Toothache," following a discovery by a local dentist, Dr. George W. Heard, that the ratio of tooth decay in Deaf Smith county was practically nil. Many chemists attributed this to the mineral content of the drinking water and health-giving qualities of the soil.

Requests began pouring in for wheat, vegetables, livestock and produce. People in 17 states requested and received jugs of water.

Now Herford intends to capitalize on its storehouse of nature's wealth. E. B. Posey, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, has copyrighted the "toothache" slogan and has certified more than 100 other trade names to protect his community against fly-by-night promoters and get-rich-quick schemes.

To Expand Campaign

He has one letter from a Seattle woman, who has been receiving Hereford water and grains for many months, stating she recently saw a package of "nice brown rice from Deaf Smith county, Texas," on a shelf in a Seattle store. Hereford resents this. Rice doesn't grow there.

City and county officials realize developments in manufacture and distribution of home-grown products cannot materialize until after the war. "But we can keep our assets before the minds of the nation," reason officials. "Wt have scores of legitimate concerns stating they intend to market our products after the war. We intend to expand the knowledge of what the county offers until that time."

PLANS are under way to employ a publicist to work toward that end. Financing such a plan may be through a bond issue brought about by both the city and county.

In the meantime Posey and Sank Ramey, local railway express agent, continue to ship drinking water all over the nation. There is no charge for their service. Judgs and barrels are filled from the city water supply, neighboring irrigation wells or the Ramey windmill. The receiver is asked to pay only the freight or express charges.

These civic boosters also fill requests for beef, lamb, poultry, butter, eggs, milk, vegetables, wheat, barley, oats, alfalfa, and any other item requested. Letters stating the water has improved the teeth of the users and otherwise praising the Deaf Smith county food products are ample renumeration for their time and trouble, Posey and Ramey declare. "But we want manufacturers located here if they intend to capitalize on our county and city name," they say.

Baylor Seeks Information

What became of Baylor's first graduate and whether he left descendants is a mystery the university is trying to solve as it gets ready to celebrate its 100th anniversary in 1945.

He was Stephen Decatur Rowe, who gave his home town as Galveston. He was the only graduate of 1854, and remained at the school, then located at Independence, as "resident graduate and professor or ancient languages" for a year or two afterward.

First heard of in 1848, when he is listed among donors of goods and money to the ambitious little school, Rowe was last heard of at Baylor in 1857, when a sentiment was signed by him in a young lady's autograph album now in possession of the university.

Later he was heard of as a Civil war officer, being listed as a second lieutenant in the Smith and Wood County cavalry by the Dallas Herald of June 19, 1861 and by the War department as "absent badly wounded in hospital." He was discharged in May 1862.

Dallas, Houston, Galveston, Independence, Austin and Tyler have been sent letters of inquiry and Mrs. Lily Russell, director of Baylor's public relations, has even picked Rowes at random out of telephone directories in those localities and written them trying to get a clue.

If Stephen Decatur Rowe has any descendants Baylor wants them as guests of honor at its centennial celebration.

A CHARGE of refusing to serve a blind woman accompanied by a Seeing Eye Dog has been filed against a cafe in Houston.

The complaint was filed by the district attorney's office in behalf of the blind woman, a war plant worker.

The district attorney's office explained that a state law forbids refusal to serve meals when a Seeing Eye Dog accompanies a patron and that a penalty of from $50 to $200 may be assessed.

Witnesses said that a policeman at the scene took the side of the cafe, arguing with the girl that she should leave the dog outside.

drina, the crown prince, and princess are living," the agency said. "The bodies of 14 Germans were sprawled before the Dutch legation building."

The German-controlled Danish radio said the Marines were fired on by the castle guards and in the fighting which resulted both sides suffered losses.

Immediately after the German coup at noon a general strike was called at 2 p. m.

Ruse Used By Nazis

The Germans employed a ruse in seizing the new control, staging a false air raid alarm throughout the country and then moving into the government buildings and police stations while the Danes were taking shelter. The Danish police force was dissolved immediately.

A proclamation broadcast over the Nazi-controlled Danish radio said the Germans could no longer tolerate the communistic conditions now prevailing in the country, and they accused the Danish police of creating this state of affairs at a time when the occupation forces were fighting for their existance. Therefore, the broadcast said, German troops were directed to exercise police supervision of the country.

The Germans said they planned "no interventions" against the Danish civil government and that the measures taken with regard to the Danish police would be abolished "as soon as the normal state of security is restored in Copenhagen and in the provinces."

medium bombers resumed attacks on Mindanao island, southern Philippines, starting many fires. Among the targets was the Buayan airdrome on Mindanao's southern tip.

Other Yank fliers unloaded 145 tons of bombs on Langoan airfield in the Celebes. Three grounded Japanese planes were destroyed.

A third Nippon attempt to air-raid American-held Morotai island, 300 miles south of the Philippines, was repelled. One Japanese plane was shot down.

Meanwhile radio Tokyo reported Allied aerial strikes against Davao, southern Philippines, Koror island in the Palaus north of Peleliu, and in northern Sumatra, immediately west of the Malay peninsula. The Japanese said 50 Liberators and Lightnings hit Davao while a hundred carrier-based planes blasted Koror.

The Japanese threat to vital Kweilin, in China's Kwangsi province, increased hourly. One Nippon column closed in from the northwest to within 40 miles of the city. Another, last reported 51 miles eastward, was claimed by the Chinese to have been forced into retreat 40 miles.

TAX ELIMINATION ASKED

British Drive To Flank Siegfried

and the last big hurdle before Cologne. Prum is 30 miles south of Aachen on the inner fringe of the Siegfried defenses and five miles east of Brandschied, where the Americans dug in.

12 Miles Beyond Kleve

At Nijmegen the American and Allied parachute troops and airborne infantry were about 12 miles beyond the town of Kleve, which has been authoritatively described as the northern terminus of the Siegfried line. Uprooting of the enemy's right flank and a subsequent Allied plunge into the German industrial Rhineland appeared to be imminent.

The German radio said American airborne troops fought into Eindhoven, a big communications center of 111,000 population, from the north, while British ground forces entered the city from the southwest. The enemy broadcast declared grim fighting was in progress around Arnhem and Nijmegen, with Allied landing forces being "immediately attacked by the Germans from all sides."

More Landings Reported

Additional Allied landings were reported by the German DNB news agency to have been made in the Dutch provinces of Utrecht and Gelderland, immediately north and northeast of Arnhem and Nijmegen. Nazi broadcasters repeatedly stressed the enormous numbers of troops and the quantities of supplies and equipment raining down on Holland from the skies.

A front dispatch said the people of Holland surpassed the French in their hilarious welcome to liberating troops. Unarmed Dutchmen, women and children—were pouncing on groups of Germans and holding them for the arrival of parachute troops. The Nazi prisoners were described as poor specimens for the most part.

At one point the Germans concentrated heavy artillery fire on airborne troops holding a strategic bridge and followed with a determined infantry rush, but the Allied unit fought back heroically with bazookas and even bayonets and held its ground.

Forts Turn Violent

U. S. Flying Fortresses, whose valiant crews played such an important role in silencing German anti-aircraft guns and making Sunday's record airborne invasion a success, took violent steps today to keep German heavy artillery from coming within range of the huge Arnhem-Nijmegen pocket.

Possibly 1,500 Allied planes in all including about 750 Fortresses, smashed the enemy rail centers of Hamm and Soest, some 80 miles to the east, with an estimated 2,500 tons of bombs.

The brilliant Allied operation to turn the enemy's northern flank took on increased importance as fall rains turned the front from Cologne to Belfort gap into a quagmire, enabling the Nazis to fight the American First Third and Seventh armies to a virtual standstill. Along the Moselle river and into the Saar valley it poured, and tanks slithered through deepening mud.

Three Fierce Battles

Three fierce battles swirled in an arc east of Nancy alone, where the Nazis were counterattacking against Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's forces with fanatical zeal. A front dispatch said the German high command was throwing men and tanks away recklessly in an effort to halt Patton's grinding drive.

German prisoners declared they were told five days ago that they needed to hold out only 10 more days until Hitler's terrible new secret "V" weapon would be turned against the Allies.

A great battle was raging north and east of Nancy, with violent fighting raging over an area of 50 square miles. Knives and bayonets were in frequent use. One force of about 2,000 Germans, when cut off and called upon to surrender, replied "we would rather die first."

Battle Ferocity Increases

Wes Gallagher, Associated Press war correspondent, said that the fighting increased in ferocity in direct proportion to each mile of Patton's advance toward the German border. Many German units, he said, had been left without motor transport, leaving them the choice either to stand and fight or be overrun by American armor.

"To embattled American troops fighting for every inch of ground there is no talk of the war being over in two or three weeks," Gallagher said. "They will settle for any time this year."

A field dispatch by Edward D. Ball of the Associated Press described how a force of young German SS (elite guard) troops—"drunk, doped or crazy"—rushed American positions southeast of Nancy with frenzied cries and were slaughtered almost to the man.

Lt. Gen. Courtney Hodges' First Army made another crossing into Germany in the vicinity of Sittard, north of Maastricht, but his troops were up against much the same violent Nazi resistance that had slowed Patton's advance to a crawl.

Artillery Fire Heavy

East of Aachen, Hodges' forces were being blasted by the greatest concentration of artillery the Germans had gathered since the fighting in Normandy.

Hodges' mobile guns made withering reply and his tanks never ceased plugging into the Nazi defenses. An Allied communique announced capture of more than a half-dozen villages between Aachen, in the direction of Cologne. The surrounded German garrison in Aachen still held out, though American troops had fought into the streets of the city.

A German broadcast, declaring that Nazi counterattacks had succeeded in halting the American drives from Aachen to Belfort, said that now the "center of gravity on the western front is clearly in Holland."

Civilians Disobey Adolf

A dispatch from the First Army front said German civilians who had been ordered by Hitler to evacuate the Aachen-Cologne area under penalty of death were remaining in their homes in direct disobedience of the order. The Nazi order, Sept. 12, gave the citizens of the area explicit directions how they were to resist the American advance before evacuating.

One German who refused to leave his home said: "If the American soldier conducts himself as his father did, then we know we have nothing to fear." Approximately 2,000,000 Germans were to have left their homes under the order.

Prisoner Toll Heavy

Since D-day the First Army has captured more than 180,000 prisoners of war, or the equivalent of 15 full German divisions.

There was little news from the Seventh Army front, where Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch's men were slugging toward the Belfort gap. A communique said Fougerrolles, 27 miles northwest of Belfort, had fallen to Allied troops. French troops beat off an enemy counterattack 10 miles south of Belfort.

A German communique said the great port of Brest had been reduced to a smoking ruin under the sustained attack of American forces and that the Nazi garrison had retreated to nearby Le Crozen peninsula for a final stand. The enemy broadcast also acknowledged that Canadian forces had fought into Boulogne but said they were repelled.

Russian Assaults

than 2,000 towns south and southeast of Riga. Big population centers and German strongpoints falling in this drive included Iecava (Jesava), 21 miles due south of Riga; Bauska, 33 miles south; Vecumuiza, 25 miles southeast, and Jaunjelgava on the Daugava (Dvina) river 39 miles southwest of the Latvian capital.

The regular Soviet midnight communique, confirming these gigantic gains, added capture of Palvinas, railway center 62 miles east of Riga, and 600 adjacent towns. This area, between the operations of the First and Third Baltic armies, apparently was assigned to the Second Baltic Army of Gan. Andrei I. Yeremenko, although this forse was not specifically identified.

Nazis Fought Off

Simultaneously with the three-way drive the Russians announced they had fought of German tank and infantry attacks west of Jelgava with terrific losses to the enemy. This was in the area of the narrow corridor that the Germans have been struggling at al costs to maintain along the coast south of Riga.

To the south on the Romanian front the Russians captured Timisoara, 20 miles from the Yugoslav border and 73 miles northeast of Belgrade, Yugoslav capital.

The Russians were silent concerning the battle for Warsaw, but the Polish capital continued under heavy Red Army artillery fire across the formidable barrier of the Vistula river, where the Germans were reported to have gathered reinforcements.

Calm At Warsaw

The German radio said a two-day comparative calm at Warsaw had been interrupted only by a few Soviet attacks northeast of Praga, the Russian-held Warsaw suburb, and said these thrusts made no progress.

Farther northeast of Warsaw in the Lomza area about 15 miles south of the East Prussian border, the Germans said there was only a series of probing actions, that Soviet regrouping was evident and the hurricane might break out in new fury at any moment.

Dewey's Escapes

war can never unite the nation for the tremendous peace tasks ahead of us," he boomed out.

The governor and Mrs. Dewey were seated in their private compartments in the last car of their 13-car special train when it crashed. They were thrown violently against the forward cushions but neither was hurt. Several other persons were cut and bruised.

Asserting the President "claims that the United States and the world cannot get along without him," the 42-year-old former New York prosecutor declared:

"Let's have no more of this pretense about indispensable men. There are no indispensable men.

"The peace and prosperity of America and of the world can never depend on one man."

Cyclist Badly Hurt When Hit By Auto

Kenneth Seal, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Awton Seal of 2601 Dallas Ave., was seriously injured about 4:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon when he, riding a bicycle, was run down by a car in 1300-block Main and dragged approximately 75 feet.

Police said the driver of the car was H. H. Holmes, 53, of 2302 Monroe.

The youth was in West Texas hospital with a possible concussion, a severe laceration on the forehead, a scalp injury and brush burns over his body. An ex-ray examination was to be made this morning to determine whether he suffered any broken bones.

Both Holmes and Seal were going east when the accident occurred. The youth told police that he somehow disentangled himself from the dragging bike at the intersection of Main and Ave. L. The bicycle was shoved under the front wheels of the car east to Ave. K and almost to Broadway, where Holmes was stopped by onlookers.

Holmes told police that he was unaware that his car hit the youngster.

Government Asked To Aid Grain Movement

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19 (AP)—Rep. Mahon (D-Tex) today sought government help in moving a West Texas combine maize crop which he estimated in excess of Texas' 1943 crop of 72,000,000 bushels.

Mahon said Director Monroe Johnson of the Office of Defense transportation promised to see whether additional freight cars could be found to move the crop. Commodity Credit corporation officials were reported looking for pre-fabricated bins for sale to West Texas farmers at approximately 10 cents per bushel capacity.

The CCC has set a loan price of $1.60 a bushel on the grain, but the trouble is, said Mahon, that few farmers can get warehouse or storage space and are buying to sell to speculators at $1.10 to $1.20 a bushel.

Gallup Surveys Union Labor's Vote

FDR Gains Among CIO, But Loses Support Within AFL

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Sept. 19.—President Roosevelt has gained support since June among CIO labor union members and lost some strength among AFL members.

On the basis of nation-wide survey among labor union members, the President's support has risen four points among the rank of the CIO, but has dropped off a point among AFL members.

GALLUP

At the same time, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey has at the present time greater support among CIO and AFL voters than any other Republican presidential candidate since 1932, the survey shows.

Labor union members were asked:

"If the presidential election were being held today, how would you vote—for Roosevelt or for Dewey?"

The results:

	FDR	Dewey
CIO	72%	28%
AFL	63	37

The June pre-convention survey among labor union members revealed 68 per cent among the CIO, 64 per cent among the AFL, preferring Roosevelt to Dewey.

A comparison of the findings in today's survey with the vote of the CIO and AFL members in the 1936 and 1940 elections, shows the Republican candidate with a substantially higher labor union vote than was won either by Landon or Willike:

Per Cent For FDR	CIO	AFL
1936	85%	80%
1940	79	71
TODAY	72	63
Pts. change in FDR vote since 1940	—7	—8

The big question in the minds of political leaders revolves about the turnout of labor union voters at the polls in November, for, as the present survey emphasizes, the greater the number of labor union members to vote, the more the Democrats will be helped.

This is of course why Sidney Hillman's Political Action committee and other interested groups are making such strenuous efforts to turn out a large labor union vote at the polls on election day.

The attack was made last Friday by big RAF Lancasters of the bomber command. Although unescorted, the bombers suffered no losses.

Visibility was excellent but an intense smoke screen made it difficult to assess results, a communique stated. It was the sixth attack on the ship lying in the Norwegian fjord of Kaa.

Drive In Holland Seen As Deadly Allied Threat To Nazi Capital

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

Driving to link up with airborne Allied forces in eastern Holland, British armor is threatening to do more than turn the flank of the Siegfried line. It is aiming a deadly shaft at Berlin itself through the half open Nujmegen - Arnhem gateway at the head of the Rhine delta.

SIMPSON

A Berlin radio admitted further Allied air landings in eastern Holland, with fighting in progress "north of the great rivers." The reference apparently is to the Maas and the Rhine and their tributaries. Arnhem, gripped by airborne troops, is the northern Portland of the Brabant gateway to Berlin. Through that area run the direct road and rail connections between Berlin and the Low Countries.

Main Drive In Question

It is too early yet to say definitely whether the Allied breakthrough attempt at the head of the Rhine delta is the main attack of the Anglo-American blows in the west, or is designed in part at least to force a diversion of German forces northward from the American front. It seems precisely aimed through the Nijmegen-Arnhem gateway to avoid both the Nazi flooded coastal areas in Holland and the heavily congested Essen-Cologne-Aachen triangle that faces American First Army forces on the British right.

The highly industrial lower Rhine area of Germany is the most densely populated portion of the country. Farther north, however, where the Allied air Army now is operating with a fast-paced British followup around the southern portal of the Brabant gateway, there is no such obstacle. A break-through there, once the Rhine is left behind, would encounter no further water barriers of consequence to slow its pace.

Olton Sergeant Ends 20 Months Abroad

At A 12th AAF B-25 Base—Sergeant Leon A. George, 26, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon A. George, Olton, Texas, a crew chief in the engineering section of his squadron is rounding out his 20 months of overseas duty with a 12th Air Force B-25 bombardment group, which entitles him to wear three gold bars on the left sleeve of his service coat, blouse, jacket and shirt.

According to a recent directive by the War Department, each member of the United States Army is authorized to wear an additional gold bar for each six months period spent overseas.

Sergeant George's B-25 bombardment group has been fighting in the Mediterranean theater for twenty months, backing the attack through Tunisia, Sicily and Italy. At present it is concentrating on vital Jerry supply lines and communication routes in France and northern Italy.

Lt. Clyde Plemons Is Back In States For AAF Reassignment

SANTA MONICA, Calif.—With his B-24 heavy bomber ripped by 232 flak holes, 1st Lieut. Clyde H. Plemons brought his "air-condied" ship back to the home base after a raid on the Ploesti, Roumania, oil refineries and today, after four raids on the Nazi oil source and completing a total of 51 combat missions, he is back in the states at the Army Air Force Redistribution Station in Santa Monica, Calif., awaiting reassignment.

The 28-year old veteran pilot, flying in the Mediterranean theater of operations, had many a close call including eight forced landings. His crew ranked high in the shooting down the Jerry fighters, accounting for at least five of the enemy aircraft.

Lieut. Plemmons has been awarded the Air Medal with four bronze Oak Leaf clusters, the Distinguished Flying Cross and the European Theatre of Operation ribbon with two major battle stars.

He entered the service in February, 1935 and was sent overseas in January of this year. The Texas pilot is the son of Mr. J. H. Plemons, 3010 Twentieth, Lubbock, Tex., and he attended the Texas Technological college from 1933 to 1935.

Pep Soldier Is Radio Specialist In Italy

15TH AAF IN ITALY—Communications plays in a vital role in the war of the air, and the efficiency of the communications network is only as good as the men who maintain and service the radio equipment. Pfc Cecil J. Weston, 23, son of Mrs. J. H. Weston, Pep Texas, is a communication specialist with a Liberator heavy bombardment group in southern Italy.

The work he does, day and night, on the Liberator radio equipment keeps them in direct touch with the home base and the protecting screen of fighters around them, this is perhaps the most important link in all bombing operations.

Graduate of Pep High school, Weston entered the air force in October 1942, later, in the spring of 1944 he was under orders for overseas duty.
