Alert For Holiday Burglars, Robbers Advised

JUST AS we expect Santa to come sliding down the chimney Christmas Eve, we also can anticipate an increase in crime, particularly burglaries, shoplifing and robberies during the holidays.

Crime Line is asking residents of Lubbock to be particularly alert for crime during the season. And if you have information on any felony crime, call Crime Line. Your identity will be completely protected and you may receive a cash reward.

As 1979 comes to a close, Crime Line continues to be a tremendous success in removing criminals from our streets and recovering stolen property. If you want to make a tax free donation to Crime Line, mail your check to Crime Line P.O. Box 2000, Lubbock.

A $500 reward is being offered this week by Crime Line for information concerning a burglary and attempted murder that occurred about 10:40 p.m. Dec. 18.

Police were called to 511 51st St., where the victim said he was in bed when she heard the door bell ringing.

She said she called her next door neighbor and asked him to check on who was ringing the bell.

The victim said she then heard a tapping on the door. When she got up and walked into the living room, the light was switched on and she saw a man standing in the room, holding a .22-caliber pistol.

The victim said the man shot at her twice and then ran out the front door. The suspect also shot at the neighbor, who was walking across the yard to check on the victim.

The suspect ran west down 51st Street. Entry to the house was gained by breaking out the storm door glass and prying the wooden door open with a screwdriver. The suspect apparently cut his right arm when he was leaving the house, because there was blood and flesh left on the broken storm door.

The suspect was described as a black male, about 20 years old, 5-feet-6, medium to slender build with a mustache, short cropped Afro hair style. He was wearing a brown, pullover, short-sleeve shirt and dark pants.

A $500 reward also is being offered for information leading to the arrest of a man who raped a woman on Dec. 15.

The victim told police that the rapist had knocked on her door about 11:30 p.m. and asked for "Roy." The victim said she told the suspect that no one by the name lived there, and then the suspect left.

But about two hours later, the victim answered another knock at her door. When she opened the door, the suspect forced his way into the house.

The victim described the suspect as a Mexican-American male, between 5-feet-7 and 5 feet-9, stocky build, black hair and was between 14 and 17 years old. The victim said the suspect wore a tan corduroy coat with a black fake fur collar. She said the man was bareheaded the first time he knocked on her door, but that he was wearing a ski mask the second time.

After wrestling with the intruder, the victim said she was forced into a bedroom and thrown down onto a pile of clothing on the floor. She said the suspect held her around the throat with one hand, and slapped her twice across the face with the other hand.

After she screamed, the suspect threatened to hurt her son, who was asleep on the couch, if she did not cooperate. The supsect then raped the victim, and tied her hands behind her before he left.

Crime Line is offering a $300 reward for help in apprehending Mercedes Valero who has a warrant for his arrest for attempted murder and for felony theft. Val-

Thailand Forces Stage 'Full Alert'

REAL SNAKY—A snakeskin is not leather, so Bob DeLoach of Amherst, puts his rattlesnake skins over leather for hatbands, watch bands and other articles sometimes also decorated with the rattle. Here, he checks a design to determine how to use a particular skin in a new but growing hobby. LeLoach catches his own rattlers, sneaking up on the sunning critters and slipping a noose over their heads before they have a chance to "vent" their deadly venom. The meat goes into the freezer for "special-occasion" meals. (Staff Photos)

Viets Ready Attack On Cambodians

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — Thai troops along Cambodia's frontier went on "full alert" Sunday and staged infantry and tank maneuvers within sight of the border where Vietnamese troops massed for an all-out drive against Khmer Rouge guerrillas.

The clandestine Khmer Rouge radio denied reports circulating in Bangkok's diplomatic community that rebel leader Pol Pot had been assassinated following a Cabinet shakeup that ousted him from the premiership.

The Thai command ordered the first "full alert" since last October after the Vietnamese moved heavy field guns and armored personnel carriers into forward positions. Thai military analysts expect the long predicted Vietnamese offensive against the Khmer Rouge guerrillas to begin before New Year's Day.

Just south of the Thai border town of Aranyaprathet, the Thai 21st infantry regiment went through its paces with wide-ranging attack and retreat maneuvers. The troops also made a display of armored personnel carriers and U.S.made tanks equipped with 90mm guns.

"We'll be out maneuvering again tomorrow," said one officer Sunday. "But tomorrow we'll be using real bullets."

The Vietnamese have stationed eight divisions, or 56,000 of the 200,000 soldiers they have in Cambodia, along the frontier. Military intelligence reports say the Vietnamese recently built five landing

'WITH 10-FOOT POLE!'

What's Best Way To Touch Live Rattlesnakes?

AMHERST—Most folks wouldn't touch a rattlesnake with a 10-foot pole, but an Amherst man finds a 10-foot pole, with a wire loop on one end, the only way to touch a live rattler.

Bob DeLoach, who recently turned into a snakeskin entrepeneur, sneaks up on a prairie rattler warming itself in the sand, slips the noose over its head and has another batch of raw material for a booming hobby.

Skins, after a tanning process, go over leather for any number of creations—hat bands, bracelets, belts, card holders, etc.

The meat goes into the freezer for special-occasion meals, like the rattlesnake stew that won son Chip a red ribbon in a 4-H Club contest.

"That first bite is difficult," DeLoach admits, but after the first, folks will come back for more.

DeLoach took his first bite without too much concern, figuring that anyone who could eat ants roasted in K-ration can in Korea could eat anything.

Snake steak, battered and deep-fried, is much tastier and more filling than grasshopper legs while snake boiled like chicken has only one drawback, bones.

"Snake has no taste. You put the taste on with seasoning and batter just like with fish."

The meat, however, is only a byproduct for DeLoach who puts the skins to good use in gifts and on "anything a person wants covered."

Friends bring him what they find, but mostly he does his own hunting. A big stash of skins to see his hobby through the winter attests to his success.

Any warm day before winter comes to stay is a good snake hunting day for DeLoach.

"Snakes den up in the fall. They stay in during the night and come out to flatten in the sand and absorb heat for the night. If it stays cold long enough, they'll go into hibernation."

DeLoach began his snake interest about eight months ago when an oversupply of prairie rattlers, sometimes called sand rattlers, erupted from Lamb County sand dunes being moved to make way for Southwestern Public Service Co.'s coal-burning generating plant.

Growing up near Sudan, he had seen only one snake in 32 years. The second bit his son, Mike.

Summers, when DeLoach did a lot of hunting and roaming on the family farm, were too hot for snakes during the day. They came out at night, a habit reversed when fall arrived.

Tanning snakeskins came as naturally as tanning hides of rabbits, skunks and coyotes he "twisted out, smoked out or watered out" of holes as a boy.

Today, with snakes, DeLoach uses even the smallest rattler where the small prey of long ago often became pets.

There was a baby skunk—"a little bitty thing"— that DeLoach had "defumigated" and kept in a cage when he wasn't playing with it. His jealous dog, that would undo the catch to let the skunk out, let the skunk loose one more time than DeLoach could find it.

A baby coyote turned into a great pet, which, contrary to beliefs, "would not eat chickens and would not suck eggs" and only frolicked playfully with rabbits jumped while DeLoach was plowing.

Back then he didn't make anything of the hides he nailed to the barn door for drying and then soaked in castor oil for softening.

Making something of the unique de-

Goodfellows, Santa Facing Busy Night

GOODFELLOWS, like Santa Claus, won't get much sleep tonight. It's Christmas Eve.

The rustle and bustle, the hurry and scurry of preparation are over. The stage is set for Christmas.

By the wee hours of the morning, Chief Goodfellow's merry band will begin gathering for a secret rendevous at the warehouse where Christmas waits for about 10,000 Lubbock children not on Santa's list this year.

There are no fast reindeer to speed these special volunteer Santas on their appointed rounds. They use horsepower and their own wheels to spread the joy of Christmas to needy Lubbock children.

"They come early, some by midnight to be the first in line. They take packages and spread all over town to find the addresses. In two hours it's all over."

The brief delivery time doesn't bother Chief Goodfellow. The combined happiness dispensed in the two-hour time span keeps him feeling a warm glow all year. He and his band have been pulling off successful Christmas capers for 44 years now.

By dawn tomorrow, No. 45 will be history.

Anyone who forgot to add his or her bit to make Christmas possible for Lubbock children who might miss it otherwise still may send contributions to: Chief Goodfellow, P.O. Box 491, Lubbock 79408.

American Clergymen Begin Iran Mission

NEW YORK (UPI) — Three clergymen left for Iran Sunday night to celebrate Christmas services for the 50 American hostages held at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran.

At an airport news conference just before their departure, the Rev. William Sloane Coffin told reporters "we have all the time in the world" to wait for the release of the American hostages.

Earlier in the day, Coffin, Presbyterian minister at New York's Riverside Church, delivered a sermon in which he said President Carter's call for economic sanctions against Iran was "highly reminiscent of Lyndon Johnson's bombing of North Vietnam. It only puts iron up the spine of the other side."

Coffin, the Rev. William M. Howard Jr., a black who is president of the National Council of Churches, and Roman Catholic Bishop Thomas Gumbleton of Detroit were invited to Tehran by the Iranian government.

At the news conference, Coffin said, "The president had exercised, at least initially, enormous restraint ... Now we seem to feel we're running out of time and my feeling is we have all the time in the world, the only thing we're running out of, perhaps, is patience."

Asked by a reporter if he planned to see Khomeini, Coffin said, "The more interesting question is whether he plans to see me. I can't answer that question."

A spokesman for the group said they did not know where they would be staying or for how long, or when they would first see the hostages.

After the press conference they boarded a British Airways jetliner for London where there was to be a two-hour layover before they continued on to Tehran aboard an Iran Air jet. They were to arrive at 7:20 p.m. Monday, Iran time.

The State Department had no comment on the clergymen's visit.

Before leaving Detroit, Gumbleton told reporters he saw the trip as an optimistic development, though he stressed the group was traveling as a religious — not diplomatic — Delegation.

"Maybe they really are anxious to meet with persons interested in peace," he said.

"We're going as a religious delegation but if the opportunity offers itself perhaps we can do more to help."

The three were specifically invited by Iran on orders Friday from Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini to invite a delegation of U.S. clergymen — "especially black clergymen" — to spend Christmas with the hostages. It was not known how long they would stay in Iran.

It was expected an ecumenical service would be held for all the hostages, plus separate services — if allowed — VFOR Catholics and members of other religions.

David Osborne, a spokesman for the Council of Churches, emphasized the delegation is "not going there to negotiate with the Iranian authorities but to help the hostages celebrate Christmas."

Howard, in an interview, said, "We as religious leaders are going on this mission for the sake of the hostages' families, for the sake of the hostages, and for the sake of the nation, that these persons

Powerful Storm Hits Pacific Coast

A powerful storm system packing high winds hit the Pacific Coast Sunday, and the nation's midsection was bothered with rainy, foggy conditions that hindered holiday travel for some.

Bringing rain and gusty winds, a strong storm center moved onshore to central California through western Washington state. Eureka, Calif., reported wind gusts of nearly 60 mph and some minor wind damage Saturday night.

Rain changed to snow over the mountains of northern California and in the Cascade Range in Oregon and Washington, bringing heavy snow warnings over much of the mountainous West.

Blizzard warnings were issued for Sunday in the popular Mount Shasta ski area in upper California and through Sunday night over the Sierra Nevada range in the northeastern part of the state.

Gale warnings also covered the coasts of Oregon and Washington.

In the central part of the nation, rain reached across much of the southern Plains and lower Mississippi Valley into Tennessee and Kentucky. A few thunderstorms also occurred in Texas.

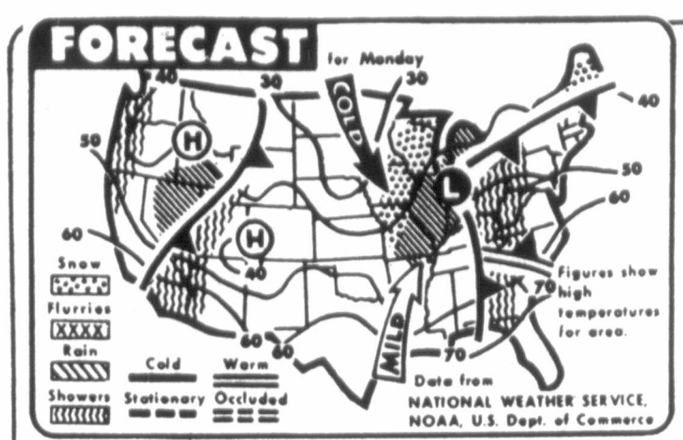
A flash flood watch was posted in southeast Texas Sunday afternoon and evening, while a tornado watch covered the western half of Louisiana, part of eastern Texas and extreme southern Arkansas.

Farther north, light rain and drizzle was scattered over the Great Lakes region with freezing drizzle and snow reported in Minnesota.

Dense fog that persisted across much of the area from the eastern Dakotas through the lower Great Lakes Region forced about 1,000 air travelers to spend more time than they anticipated in Sioux Falls, S.D.

A spokeswoman for Western Airlines said the groups, many of them waiting for connections in Minneapolis from Honolulu, had to spend Saturday night in Sioux Falls because the fog was so thick.

They were able to make connections Sunday morning, she said.



WEATHER FORECAST — The National Weather Service forecast for today calls for showers over the Pacific Northwest and rain and showers for the Rocky Mountain states from Idaho south to the Mexican border. Snow over Wisconsin, Iowa and Missouri will turn to rain as it moves East to the Ohio Valley. A broad band of showers is forecast for the east, from western New York to Florida and snow will fall in northern New England. (AP Laserphoto)

Weather, Alcohol Threaten Drivers

By United Press International

Travelers faced the possibility of a foggy Christmas, with weather conditions contributing to accidents that pushed the traffic death toll toward the 300 mark in the third day of the long holiday weekend.

A UPI count at 3:30 p.m. CST Sunday showed 279 people had been killed on the nation's roads. The holiday period began at 6 p.m. local time Friday and ends at midnight Tuesday.

California led the fatality count with 36 dead. There were 29 deaths on Texas roads. Florida, Illinois and Ohio each reported 17 killed.

The National Safety Council had estimated 450 to 550 people could be killed during the four-day Christmas weekend. Last year, 456 people were killed in traffic mishaps during a three-day Christmas weekend.

The council said snowy weather and alcohol posed the greatest threat to holiday drivers.

A car packed with six persons returning from a Christmas party in dense fog smashed into the side of a boxcar Saturday in Augusta, Kan., killing five of the occupants.

A sixth person was listed in critical condition at St. Joseph Hospital in Wichita, suffering from head and internal injuries.

Officials said the car was dragged about 160 feet upon impact, killing the five at the scene.

Police said the driver of the vehicle probably did not see the train because of the thick fog.

Business Affairs Assistant Named At Tech

In his new position Tomlinson will exercise control over day-to-day operating systems procedures and planning relating to fiscal activities of the Texas Tech Health Sciences Center which includes the medical and nursing school but not the county hospital. He will serve as assistant to Dan Williams, interim vice president for finance and administration of both the university and Health Sciences Center.

Tomlinson has been director of accounting and finance at Texas Tech since 1971.

A graduate of New Mexico Military Institute, he also has completed graduate work in accounting at Texas Tech.

Tomlinson previously served the university as an internal auditor, 1970-71, and was business manager of the L.T. Lewis Estate in Roswell, N.M., 1960-69.

He was an officer in the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, 1956-58, and in the New Mexico National Guard, 1961-69.

Wilbert W. Hart, deputy director of accounting and finance, will serve as interim director of that division in replacement of Tomlinson.

Officials Unenthusiastic About Terminal Bid

DALLAS (AP) — Local officials have responded unenthusiastically to American Airlines' proposal for a radically different terminal at the Dallas-Fort Worth Airport.

Airline officials appeared before the airport board's operations committee to propose the $305 million terminal with long corridors instead of a semicircle terminal similar to those now in use.

But board members say they are taking a wait-and-see attitude while airport staff members review American's proposal over the next few months.

Santa Should See Cloudless Skies

The warming trend that pushed South Plains temperatures into the 50s Sunday afternoon is expected to keep on defrosting the area at least through Christmas Day.

Highs today should once again slip into the middle and upper 50s today, making the day pleasant for last minute Christmas shoppers and somewhat unpleasant for those wishing for a white Christmas.

But while white Christmases will be enjoyed only by those in the upper Midwest and New England, the clear skies and pleasant temperatures will make it much easier for Santa Claus to make his rounds throughout West Texas.

Nighttime temperatures should dip to near freezing by the time Santa begins distributing his presents across the South Plains. And because there is no mention of precipitation in the National Weather Service forecast, Santa's reindeer should experience no trouble at all landing on area rooftops.

As Santa and the reindeer enter West Texas from the North tonight, he should run into a smattering of upper level cloudiness, but as he comes in lower to makes his deliveries, he should see nothing but cloudless skies and shining stars.

The cold front that crossed the area late last week now is causing showers along the Texas Gulf Coast, though no major storms or significant amounts of rainfall had been recorded by late Sunday. And, a small line of showers spotted the northern Panhandle, but, once again, there were no measureable amount of rainfall.

35 Hunting Accidents Recorded In State

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has recorded 35 hunting accidents in the state in 1979 — the lowest annual total in 20 years.

The 35 accidents resulted in five fatalities. The 1978 figures included 83 accidents involving 19 deaths.

'Fortune Cookie' Approach May Warn Smokers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Federal agency urged Congress Sunday to consider requiring a "fortune cookie" approach to cigarette warning labels, with different health dangers taking turns on packages.

The Federal Trade Commission, in its annual report to Congress, said the 10-year-old labeling system could be improved by mentioning such specific health hazards as cancer, heart disease, bronchitis and emphysema.

"The commission also recommends that Congress consider a system of rotating label warnings similar to the present Swedish system," the report said.

Sweden's 2-year-old system provides for rotating 16 different warning statements on cigarette labels with each package featuring one of the potential tobacco-related health hazards.

The FTC said a rotating system would remind the public of the general proposition that smoking is dangerous while bringing home to each potential consumer just how smoking can harm him or her.

The report, citing a Roper Organization survey for the tobacco industry, said 66 percent of all cigarette smokers would like to quit.

The FTC said smokers surveyed indicated "government reports on the effects of smoking and health, and health problems, are persuasive reasons for quitting."

At the same time, the agency said more than 90 percent of American adults know the general content of the current danger label on cigarette packs, "making it unlikely that most persons notice the warning any longer."

The current danger label — which does not cite specific diseases — reads: "Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking Is Dangerous to Your Health."

The survey also was quoted as saying the emergence of the non-smokers' rights issue is "the most dangerous development to the viability of the tobacco industry that has yet occurred."

The FTC said the survey concluded the non-smokers' rights movement "may be a major factor in deterring people from smoking and in persuading them to quit."

It said the survey, portions of which were inadvertently made public earlier this year, showed "nearly six out of 10 Americans believe that smoking is probably hazardous to non-smokers' health."

The FTC said promotional efforts by the tobacco industry reached a record $875 million in 1978. Cigarette sales climbed to a record $615 billion during the year, although per-capita consumption declined slightly.

It recommended that Congress consider legislation appropriating funds for cigarette public information campaigns conducted via the mass media.

CAREERS

By JOYCE LAIN KENNEDY

Technical, business and health fields will lead the parade of opportunities during the coming decade, not much different than what's happening today.

Most new jobs will be in the services sector rather than in manufacturing, farming and mining. The average increase projected for all occupations in the '80s is 16 percent, a slowdown from the '70s figure which probably will reach 25 percent.

The fastest-growing services will come from the private sector — medical, business, computers, for example. Government and education will be less promising than in the past. Among major industries, retailing — because of its size — is likely to rank number one in new jobs created.

These are some of the broad-brush trends the Bureau of Labor Statistics foresees in the '80s job market, as reported in one of its recent publications.

Prospects look stellar for welders and accountants. And personnel relations workers should enjoy a fertile work-world. But demand for keypunch operators is petering out.

While lawyers will continue to plead for jobs because there are more of them than traditional openings, prospects will be plentiful in clerical ranks — especially for cashiers, receptionists and secretaries.

Food counter workers, bank officers and guards are seen as expanding occupations, but domestic help will be even scarcer.

Nuclear, petroleum and chemical engineers, and their related technicians, can look forward to a busy decade seeking out energy. If military aviation drops as anticipated, the skies won't be as friendly for aeronautical engineers.

Farm employment is deflating, but not as much as during the past few decades — farms already are well mechanized.

Although there'll be shortage pockets for teachers in rural and inner-city schools, a new boom time for them isn't on the books. Good bets: vocational subjects, math, science, reading, learning disabilities and special education.

The excess of college graduates may have bottomed out. Those making the transition from campus to career are likely to have somewhat sunnier prospects than did their '70s predecessors — at least they won't be any worse off.

Bear in mind that projections are based on data that's known, often imperfect, refined by alertness to trends and common sense. Moreover, all forecasting is subject to the vagaries of the economy, government actions, technology, social change and the like.

READER SERVICE: Want an overview of employment projections to 1990 — in occupational groups — by the Bureau of Labor Statistics? It will be available next month in a press release of several pages. To obtain a single free copy, enclose a gummed, self-addressed mailing label with your request to Joyce Lain Kennedy at this newspaper. Ask for "BLS Job Outlook 1990." The offer ends March 1, 1980.

Santa and the Elf Boy

(SYNOPSIS: It is Christmas Eve, only moments until the professor will release the gas which will kill all fairies. Arriving at the Castle on the Hill with Santa Clause, Esteban rushes to the room of the professor's spell-bound wife. He sparkles the dust given him by the Hangdog Hag on the eyes of the beautiful woman and she awakens.)

Chapter Seventeen
A MERRY CHRISTMAS

THE beautiful woman gazed at Esteban and repeated her question. "Where is my husband? "Where is my own darling child?"

Instead of answering, Esteban ran to the door. His heart pounded and his hands grew cold. Was it too late after all? Had the professor already let loose the powerful gas?

"They are coming!" he cried.

"My dear," said the woman curiously. "Who are you? What are you doing here?"

"I am Esteban," he said. "You were put under a spell by the Hangdog Hag. The professor wishes to destroy all of Fairyland in order to destroy the Hag."

"All of Fairyland! How terrible! I shall not let him do it!"

At that moment Charlotte and the professor came into the room. The little girl took one look and threw herself into mother's arms. The professor, his lips trembling, moved slowly forward hardly daring to believe what he saw.

"My dear!" said the woman.

Then the professor's eyes filled with joy and he clasped his wife to him.

In a moment she said, "This boy tells me you plan to destroy all fairies. Can that be so?"

"Not any more," said the professor looking gratefully at Esteban. "I shall destroy the gas instead."

ONCE again he clasped his wife in his arms and Charlotte and Esteban slipped away.

"Oh, Esteban! How wonderful you are!" cried Charlotte. "You have saved everyone! How happy I am!"

She danced into her own room and her eyes widened in astonishment. Standing in the center of the room was an enormous tree decorated with blue and silver balls. Under the tree was a mountain of gifts.

"What can it be?" cried Charlotte. "Open it, Esteban. Open it, do!"

Esteban tore off the wrapping and opened the box. He broke into a joyful cry. "It's my wings! I have my wings again! Quickly — fasten them on me!"

Wide-eyed with delight, the little girl took the beautiful fragile wings frm his fingers and gently pinned them to the boy's shoulders.

Immediately Esteban grew smaller and smaller until he stood no higher than Charlotte's socks. With a whoop of joy he spread his wings and flew to the window.

"Goodbye, Charlotte. I must fly away now to Fairyland for that is where I belong."

BUT before she could speak he suddenly placed his finger to his lips and whispered "Listen!"

"Oh, Merry Christmas!" breathed Charlotte joyously.

"Merry Christmas!" called Esteban spreading his wings and gliding away.

(The End)

"Merry Christmas!" Cried Esteban, Flying Back To Fairyland.

Packages For Hostages Swamp U.S. Embassy

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — More than 1 million Christmas cards, trees, food packages and gifts swamped the besieged U.S. embassy Sunday. Outside, thousands of Iranians rallied, chanting "Death to America."

Militants occupying the embassy said some of the estimated 1.1 million cards have already been distributed to the 50 American hostages spending their 50th day in captivity.

There was no independent confirmation the captives were actually getting the mail, but two Christmas trees were seen being carried into the embassy compound.

One of the trees, about 10 feet tall, was wrapped in a piece of cloth and did not appear to be decorated. The other, a little smaller, was decorated with red ribbons, cotton, silver paper and pieces of holly.

The small tree was brought to a side gate of the embassy by a Catholic priest, Alfred Picchioli along with dozens of wrapped gifts, cookies, cheeses and fruits.

The priest, accompanied by two women, one from the Italian embassy and an Austrian, was not allowed to personally deliver the gifts to the hostages.

Picchioli refused to talk to reporters, and as he argued with revolutionary guards in front of one of the numerous side gates of the embassy, about 5,000 angry Iranians stood in front of the main gate and burned a effigy of President Carter on one side and the ousted Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi on the other.

The cold weather did not seem to affect the demonstrators who continuously shouted, "Mark-bar America," and "Mark-bar Shah" —Farsi for death to America and death to the shah.

One elderly woman, about 70, pointed her finger at reporters gathering in front of the embassy and shouted, "You journalists stop lying and tell the truth to the American people. Tell them about the crimes of the devil Carter in Iran and the crimes of America all over the world. Tell them what they (the American government) have done in Vietnam..."

Responding to a call by Islamic leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, the students occupying the embassy said they would allow clergymen from all faiths to visit the hostages on Christmas day.

Reports from New York said six clergymen and an expert in Mideast affairs flew to Tehran Saturday.

The six included Jimmy R. Allen, former president of the Southern Baptist Convention; Dale White, Methodist bishop of New Jersey; Charles Kimball, a specialist in Islamic studies at Harvard University and Thomas Ricks, a specialist in Iranian and Mideast affairs at Goergetown University.

Three other American clergymen, led by Rev. William M. Howard Jr., were invited to Tehran by the Islamic regime and were due to arrive Monday.

More mail, almost entirely addressed to "Fellow Americans," poured into this capital Sunday to cheer up the captives.

At least 100,000 cards loaded in 66 boxes were delivered to the captors.

Cards came from all parts of the United States and were signed by all sorts of people. Elderly women and men, children, students, teacher, priests and nuns all hoping for the safe return of the hostages and wishing them a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Young children wrote, "It won't be much of a Christmas without you ... Christmas without you is like a Christmas tree without presents."

One card from a young student at Bielfield Elementary School in Middletown, Conn., read, "I hope you get out of jail before Christmas so you can have a happy holiday."

Another card from a kindergarten student said, "Are you having a bad time?" and the handwriting was so shaky that the name was illegible.

Patriotic Front's 'Victory Parade' Dispersed

In Bulawayo Saturday, police used tear gas and dogs in a second night of minor rioting in a black township there. Police also dispersed a march dominated by children in Gatooma, a small town midway between Salisbury and Bulawayo, and arrested seven men.

Police intervened Sunday in St. Mary' township, 10 miles south of Salisbury, after a split developed in a rally organized by both wings of the Patriotic Front.

Supporters of Joshua Nkomo stayed at the rally, but those backing Robert Mugabe broke away and started marching through the streets. Police moved in and ordered the marchers to disperse, but allowed the rally to continue.

"They were given permission to hold the rally, but not to hold a procession," a police spokesman said.

New British governor Lord Soames issued a statement laying down the first stages for planned independence elections. He said all political parties must register by Dec. 31 and submit their list of candidates by Jan. 21.

Under the terms of the ceasefire, the voting is supposed to take place two months after the truce becomes fully effected on Friday Dec. 28, but a British spokesman said this date was still flexible.

The two wings of the Patriotic Front were given legal status by Soames after they formally signed the truce agreement in London Friday.

Preparations for the ceasefire continued with the arrival of more troops to serve on the 1,300-man Commonwealth force which will monitor the settlement.

Under the truce, the guerrillas have the next five days to get word to their men that the fighting has stopped while the Rhodesian army halts all offensive operations. The guerrillas will then gather at 16 assembly points around the country where they will be housed until the elections have been held.

Mugabe flew to Dar es Salaam Sunday and aides said he will meet Monday with Tanzanian President Julius Nyerere, chairman of the African "frontline" group which supported the Front. They said Mugabe will travel to Mozambique Tuesday to visit guerrilla rear base areas and is expected to enter Rhodesia Friday.

Nkomo was given a rousing welcome by thousands of supporters waving placards and chanting slogans on his arrival in Lusaka, Zambia, from the London peace talks.

He said he would return to Rhodesia "in the near future" to begin campaigning. Aides said he will visit guerrilla camps in Zambia during the next few days to explain the cease-fire.

Professors Say News Reports Fostering Hysteria In America

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two American college professors, back from talks with militants at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran, say news reports of the crisis are "fostering hysteria and endangering the hostages."

"I can't say how much people stateside are being misled," Clarence Dillingham told reporters Saturday night on arrival at Dulles International Airport after 17 days in Iran.

Norman Forer, who accompanied Dillingham on the trip, said, "The picture Americans are getting is fostering hysteria and endangering the hostages."

The two Kansas University professors were not permitted to see the 50 hostages at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran, but met for 2½ hours with the Moslem revolutionaries holding the Americans.

"It is safer (for an American) to be on the street during a demonstration in Iran than it is in New York city at night or even in Lawrence, Kan.," Forer said.

He said the professors' mission to Iran had achieved "a marked softening in the positions of both sides."

"When we left on Dec. 5 there was the expectation of a war," Forer said. Since then, he said, "some conciliatory gestures have been made by both sides," but he did not elaborate.

The professors said they talked with, among others, Iranian Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh and his predecessor, Abolhassan BaniSadr.

Forer said the militants told him the hostages are being well fed.

"They joked that they were getting fat," he said. Forer also said the militants promised to get a cook to prepare American-style food for the captives.

Probe Clears Army Personnel

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (UPI) — The Army has exonerated all Fort Dix personnel in the death of a recruit who died of heart failure while on a 10-mile march, the Philadelphia Bulletin reported Sunday.

Army officials, who conducted a four-month investigation into the death of Pvt. Lawson D. Hileman, of Clarksburg, W. Va., discounted testimony by witnesses that Hileman was pushed, kicked or ridiculed into trying to complete the march, the paper said.

Hileman, 18, who weighed 232 pounds when he entered active duty June 19, had reportedly begged his parents the day before he died to get him disiharged. He died July 16 of a sudden cardiac arrest.

Khomeini Says Carter Holds Key

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) — Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini in a Christmas message addressed "to Christians of the world" Sunday said President Carter held the key to the release of the 50 American hostages he called spies.

"Do not heed propaganda by heads of state who think of little except acquisition of power. Do know that our youths are treating the spies in such a way as to please God since Islam calls for kindness to prisoners, even if they are cruel and spies," Khomeini said in the message broadcast by the state radio.

American nation: Demand of Carter that he return the deposed and criminal shah to Iran, since the key to the release of the spies is in his hands."

Khomeini's speech came as the American hostages spent their 50th day in captivity awaiting Christmas visits from American clergymen amid mounting indications they would face show trials shortly after the New Year.

Carter's Nephew To Be Released From Prison

VACAVILLE, Calif. (UPI) — President Carter's nephew, Willie Carter Spann, serving a 7-year term for robbing a gay bar, will be released from prison Christmas Eve, prison officials said Sunday.

Spann, 33, has served 3 years and 9 months of his sentence for robbing a San Francisco bar frequented by homosexuals. Previously, he had spent 10 years in California prisons, mostly for robberies and parole violations.

Prison officials said Spann would spend a quiet Christmas and New Year's with his wife, San Francisco insurance broker Jane Frey, whom he married in prison in April.

Mrs. Spann said her husband has engaged a Washington, D.C., agent to handle speaking engagements and paid interviews with the news media. Prison officials said Spann would be interviewed Monday by the National Enquirer for an undisclosed amount of money.

The only member of the Carter family who has maintained contact with Spann is the president's mother, Lillian Carter, who has written him occasionally.

Man's Rampage Ends With Three Dead

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Investigators said Sunday they may never know exactly what sparked the violent outburst by a former mental patient that ended with three people dead in a double murder-suicide.

"We have no idea what caused it," said Lt. Joe Holt of the Memphis Police Department. "There's really no way of telling what set him off. It could have been just one word or it could have been an argument over money. We may never know just what it was."

Police said Salvatore Iantorno, a 6-foot-4, 290-pounder who claimed to be a professional wrestler, went on a rampage Saturday afternoon shortly after arriving at the house he shared with his mother, aunt and uncle.

AN EDITORIAL:

Oil 'Gouge' Will Cut Deeply

FAILURE OF the international oil cartel to agree on a world pricing formula last week is of small comfort to Americans and others who are at their mercy, of which they have precious little.

Oil industry analysts disagree on whether prices will rise faster with or without formal price fixing by the OPEC ministers, but all agree that the gouge is going to cut deep in either event.

OPEC—the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries—met in Venezuela in full knowledge that the industrial countries will pay whatever they ask for crude oil.

Saudi Arabia, the most moderate voice, argued that its 33 percent increase—to $24 a barrel—was high enough and held out for no further increases through four days of tough negotiations.

Others whose hatred for the United States transcends the bounds of business logic, wanted to go as high as $35 a barrel.

Libya, which produces top-quality oil and entertains the President's brother Billy, had already boosted its selling price to $30 and wanted to increase the base price to as much as $35.

Iran has raised its price for standard grade oil to $28.50, up from $23.50.

THE PRICE OF a gallon of gasoline in the United States is expected to rise by from 5 to 10 cents in coming weeks as a result of the price hikes already announced.

Congress, meanwhile, was signalling the OPEC price fixers that the U.S. is willing to remain dependent on them in perpetuity; it moved toward adoption of an excise tax on domestic production rather than encourage American self-reliance.

The government has failed in the one role in the whole energy crisis that it should shoulder rather than leave it to the industry. That role is in the realm of diplomacy and international relations, working with both the oil-exporting nations and the consumer nations to keep the price from doubling every year or two.

Stripped of political rhetoric, what the Carter administration and Congress have done is fail in their jobs and be successful only in getting the public to put the blame on the oil industry.

AN EDITORIAL:

Windfall For Them--Or Us?

AS CONGRESS continues to fine tune the windfall oil profits tax proposal, lots of debate chatter goes on—all of it avoiding the central point.

Whatever version of the proposal that finally emerges from Congress will mean less, not more, energy production. Politics at its best, perhaps, but an exercise that will do absolutely nothing to solve America's energy crisis.

House Speaker Thomas O'Neill said this week he doesn't believe there's any possibility of getting a compromise between the $178 billion Senate version and the $277 billion House proposal until February.

Rep. Charles Vanik, D-Ohio, one of the House-Senate conferees working for a compromise, suggested that the tax credit portion of the bills not be taken up until lawmakers return from a month-long Christmas vacation Jan. 22.

MILTON COPULOS, energy analyst for The Heritage Foundation, says Americans are being misled into thinking that the tax revenues generated will go exclusively to spur synfuels production.

"No way," he writes, "the revenues...will go into the general treasury, or might even be used to bail out the faltering Social Security system."

Somehow, he says, the misconception is being fostered that the imposition of a tax on oil will result in more energy. "Hogwash," he writes. "The fact is that the effect of all versions of this bill will be exactly the opposite."

A study of the impact of the imposition of such a tax done by the Congressional Budget Office indicated that our nation would produce anywhere from 4-14.8 percent less oil with such a tax.

ONE REASON for the public confusion over the effect of the tax seems to be the claims that its funds are needed to develop alternative energy sources. "This sounds fine on the surface," Copulos writes, "but the funds raised are not likely to go to such purposes."

During the Senate debate over the bill, one of the amendments offered by proponents of the harsher House-passed version would have earmarked the revenues for the beleaguered Social Security system. "While putting Social Security on firm financial footing is an admirable goal," Copulos says, "it will not produce a drop more oil or a kilowatt hour more of electricity."

The days of cheap, plentiful energy are past. In the future, it is going to cost more and will be harder to come by.

The only real question is whether the source of that energy will be domestic or foreign, and whether the revenues generated by its production and sale will accrue to Houston, Riyadh or the Washington bureaucrats.

ART BUCHWALD:

Ayatollah Won't Stand For Flack About Iran

WASHINGTON—"The Secret Revolutionary Council of Iran will come to order. We will now hear a report from our Secret Minister of Information, Mullah Flack."

"I just received the overnight Arbitron ratings from our embassy in Washington. We got a 32 share of the audience on Walter Cronkite, a 30 on NBC and a 30 on ABC."

"That's not too bad. Are our student demonstrations getting a play?"

"No. The American TV audiences are bored with the demonstrations. We're going to have to come up with something different soon or all three networks may cancel us for the new season."

"How is the Ayatollah Khomeini doing?"

"HE'S SINKING in the Nielsen ratings. The networks are complaining that he doesn't do anything but sit on his rug and stare at the ground."

"What can we do about that?"

"Has anyone suggested it to him?"

"I did and he got very mad. He said if he wasn't sitting down and staring into the ground nobody would know who he was. He claims it's his trademark."

"What else did he say?"

"He's blaming us because his interview with Pakistani Television didn't get on prime time in the United States."

"Did you tell him it was on the ABC wrapup at 11:30 at night?"

"YES, BUT he complained bitterly that they put him against Johnny Carson. He said if it happened again he was going to find himself a new Secret Revolutionary Council."

"How is Foreign Minister Ghotbzadeh doing?"

"Sadegh's overexposed. Every time he sees a TV camera he steps in front of it. Also people are now wise to the fact he doesn't know what's going on."

"Can't we keep him off the air for a while?"

"Are you kidding? He eats it up. He's even offered to go on 'The Dating Game.'"

"IF THE show gets canceled we're all going to face an Islamic court. Maybe we ought to get some new writers."

"Why don't we let the hostages go? They would pre-empt the Super Bowl for that one."

"The Ayatollah won't go for it, and neither will the students at the U.S. Embassy. Once the hostages are released the networks will pack up their cameras and go home."

"I'll tell you why we've been slipping. It's all the fault of the Ayatollah Shariatmadari. His people are putting on anti-Khomeini demonstrations in Tabriz and the American audiences are eating it up."

"They had one show last week where 300,000 people went into the streets screaming 'Down With Khomeini' and we didn't even get on the air."

"THAT'S BAD. Before we know it every ayatollah in the country will want to be on American television and we'll have a civil war on our hands."

"We have already. Mullahs, unless we come up with a gimmick Tehran will no longer be the show biz capital of the world."

"And all of us will be pounding the streets looking for jobs."

Editor, Avalanche-Journal

I was angered and disgusted after reading Mr. Reichel's assessment of, as he termed it, "Big labor and government" and his unequivocal blame that, combined, they are to blame for the economic woes of our nation.

Simply stated, one of the major reasons Taiwan, Japan and Western Europe manufacture and sell so many goods in the USA is cheap labor. So cheap, that these laborers work for pennies a day.

The organized laborer suffered to obtain many of the existing working conditions of today. "Sweat shops," 7-day work weeks, 16- to 18-hour days for starvation wages no longer exist in America, nor does the abuse of child labor. The American laborer organized in order to obtain a reasonable standard of living. It's easy to find a scapegoat, but let's place the blame where it belongs.

We, the American people, elect government officials, yet a small percentage of the American people even bother to vote. If every voter was registered and exercised his right to vote the economic woes of this nation could be corrected through responsible leadership in our government.

We, of organized labor, are your neighbors. We are your sacrificing contributors to United Way. We register voters and car pool those voters to the polls. Our bills are paid, we attend church, are hard working and dedicated.

Let me assure you, we'll be at the polls, at the precinct meetings, at the meetings for fund raisings for the needs of our community. We'll also continue to tell the leaders of our nation how we feel regarding consumer issues and cast our ballots in favor of the average consumer.

The politicians in Austin and Washington know us well. They know us well because we care about the working people of this nation.

The apathy of the American people is to blame for the economic woes existing today, not Big Labor and not necessarily the government.

We, of organized labor, don't believe in fairy tales, just hard work and dedication.

U.S. Should Have Shut Down Embassy Long Ago, She Says

Editor, Avalanche-Journal:

In my opinion, there is no excuse for our being in the distressing position in which we find ourselves in Iran, since our intelligence agencies knew, or should have known, before the revolution began that the Iranian people resented our government's support of the Shah.

Therefore, I feel that our embassy should have been closed and the personnel brought home as soon as the Shah was deposed.

According to information I have had in the past, the Iranian people are pro-Palestinian and resent the part we played in displacing the Palestinians, to some of whom Iran gave refuge.

No doubt, the part we have played in helping Israel bomb Lebanon has not endeared our government to the Iranians either, for, after all, they are all of the Islamic faith. So chickens do come home to roost.

Sue Stevens, Denver City

Writer Would Like To See Yule Trail Lists Once Again

Editor, Avalanche-Journal:

Why doesn't The A-J have a list of the Christmas decorated houses available anymore? The children in this generation enjoy this type of entertainment as much as the previous generation.

It used to be so much fun to map out the houses and go on a tour. There are still plenty of decorated houses and lots of Christmas spirit around Lubbock. Why forget the old tradition?

Can't we do something about it? Or is it too much trouble for a good newspaper like The A-J?

G. G. Wood, Lubbock

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The A-J at one time sponsored a lighting contest at Christmas. But, due to a lack of interest, an emphasis on conserving energy (for lights) and other factors, it was dropped. It would be impossible to list all the impressive displays which individuals on their own put up. We, as you, enjoy them.)

Citizens Should Have Right To Defend Nation, He Says

Editor, Avalanche-Journal

Non-discrimination is the cornerstone of modern American attempts to make our country freer for all people. The Constitution and laws very clearly make it illegal to take any action that will favor or prejudice any national group over another. That protection extends to citizens of other countries that are physically present in the U.S., either legally or illegally.

There is one vital exception to non-discrimination that must be established and preserved at all costs. That is, the U.S. government must have the power to determine when a foreign nation is warring on us, when the nation is an enemy, and if that nation's nationals in the U.S. constitute a threat to public order and security in the U.S.

If those conditions are met, then the government must have the right to expel those people from our country without regard to the Constitutional and legal protections (that is, if those people are not citizens).

Any judge (or supreme court justice) who rules the government does not have that vital right to safeguard the people from whom the government derives its authority, and to whom it must answer, should be impeached and removed from office for the crime of "giving aid and comfort to the enemy."

If we have to remove the entire Supreme Court, so be it. A people has the right to self defense, and any government whose system of law does not allow the government to exercise that right in behalf of the people who created the government should be laughed out of existence. That is exactly what the lunatics in the Mideast are doing to us right now.

Former Resident Takes Issue With Stand On Refugees

Editor, Avalanche-Journal:

I am a recent subscriber to your newspaper, though when I lived in Lubbock, I read it often. I am writing in response to the letter in your Sunday Dec. 2, issue. A letter by Mr. Sam Scroggins, greatly upset me.

His attitude toward the helpless refugees was appalling, in my opinion.

These men and women are not part of a Communist plot, they are escaping the oppression of the Communist states, just as our ancestors, the first Americans, were escaping the oppression of England and the other European nations.

Should we change the words on the Statue of Liberty to read: "Give me your tired, your poor, your weak, as long as they agree with me politically and promise not to disturb me"?

If we cut off immigration from the Communist countries, we would be going against every principle of our Founding Fathers. If our desire for self-preservation becomes so strong that we discriminate against a group of people because of their country of origin, if we become that repressive we become as bad as the Communists.

If we abandon the very foundation that created America and keeps her great, then we no longer deserve to be called a Democracy and I am not sure that we deserve to exist as a nation. We must not heed words of fear, we must listen to the voice of compassion.

Houston Visitor Makes Three Lights In Row, Has Advice

Editor, Avalanche-Journal:

I spent two days in your fine city recently and I want you to know I finally did it. I made three traffic lights green in a row on West 19th Street.

In the meantime I spent most of my time burning $1 per gallon gasoline sitting at lights.

Is there no computer system? You have big wide streets, much more so than we have in Houston and there are left turn-protected lanes, but all of the traffic is in small groups.

If I were the gasoline-buying public, I would insist on getting something done immediately or file a class suit against past Councils. Otherwise, I liked your city very much.

JAY HARRIS:

Night Of Miracle

IN COUNTLESS homes across the nation, children and adults will gather tonight for a reading of what generally is recognized as the most famous Christmas poem in the English language.

It is, of course, "T'was The Night Before Christmas," or "A Visit From St. Nicholas," as it was originally known.

The classic, more than any other one thing, perhaps is responsible for the image of Santa Claus as the world envisions him today.

The exact details vary, but as is the case in many such writings, seemingly inspired by a touch of genius, the poem just happened in a sense. Today, in keeping with a long-standing tradition on these pages, we repeat the story.

DR. CLEMENT Clarke Moore, the author, was born July 14, 1779, on the old Chelsea Estate just outside New York City, overlooking the Hudson and what is now 23rd Street.

A graduate of Columbia at the age of 19, Moore devoted himself to the study of Oriental and Classical literature. He was musical and had a flare for architecture, and at an early age wrote verses and books.

He quickly earned a reputation as a lexicographer. In 1813, he married a beautiful girl, only 19 at the time. She died when only 36 years old.

In 1831, Moore was named professor of Biblical Learning at the General Theological Seminary of New York City, and later donated the ground upon which the building now stands.

AS TO HOW the famous poem came about, the details vary only slightly. One account has it that Moore's wife was making baskets for the poor of Trinity Church on Christmas Eve, 1822, when she found she needed more turkeys.

She persuaded the professor to leave his warm study and go to the store.

The streets were decked out in their most colorful and cheery Christmas dress. The crowds were warm and friendly. The normally aloof 43-year-old scholar was touched. On the way home, as sleigh bells tinkled, the vision of Christmas as all children see it formed in his mind.

UPON HIS RETURN home, he penned the lines now known around the world, and read them to his seven children as they sat around the crackling fireplace that evening.

Ironically, the verses lay dormant until the fall of the following year, when the daughter of a friend visited in the Moore home. She took a copy to Troy, N.Y., where she gave it to the local editor, who printed it Dec. 23, 1823.

Some say it was not until Dec. 25, 1838, that the poem was printed under Dr. Moore's name, later appearing in 1844 in a volume by him. Dr. Moore died July 10, 1863, at the age of 83.

His last years were spent for his children and in aiding others. He has been described as a man of "rare comeliness and simplicity of character, kindly disposed and generous to a fault."

But his contribution to Christmas for children of all ages will live forever. Each Dec. 24, his grave in Trinity Cemetery at 155th St. and Broadway in New York City, is decorated by those who remember.

"A VISIT FROM ST. NICHOLAS"

"T was the night before Christmas,
"When all through the house,
"Not a creature was stirring, not even a mouse;
"The stockings were hung by the chimney with care,

AND IN THE Middle of the poem:

"The moon on the breast of the new-fallen snow
"Gave a luster of midday to objects below;
"When, what to my wondering eyes should appear,
"But a miniature sleigh and eight tiny reindeer,
"With a little old driver, so lively and quick,
"I knew in a moment it must be St. Nick.
"More rapid than eagles his coursers they came,
"And he whistled and shouted, and called them by name:
"'Now Dasher! Now Dancer! Now Prancer and Vixen!
"On Comet! On Cupid! On Donder and Blitzen!'"

AND HIS parting words:

"And laying his finger aside his nose,
"He sprang to his sleigh, to his team gave a whistle,
"And away they all flew like the down on a thistle.
"But, I heard him exclaim, ere he drove out of sight,
"'Happy Christmas to All, and To all A Good Night!'"

DOWN THROUGH the years, there have been hundreds of takeoffs on the bit of whimsy. The poem has been given a Spanish twist and a Texas Y'all touch.

But, Dr. Moore's account lives on, particularly the image of Santa Claus as a jolly elf-like figure "dressed all in fur from his head to his foot."

For reasons of his own, Dr. Moore never saw fit to commercialize on his poem, and for 155 years now, it has thrilled old and young alike.

It is most fitting that a man of Dr. Moore's background, family love and charitable instincts should have been the one to give so much pleasure to so many.

And in his words, with a slight variation, we also say to one and all: "A Very Merry Christmas. And To All A Good Night!"

L.M. BOYD:

...Pass It On

THE MODERN house is for grownups, not for kids. Where can a youngster go in a modern house when he doesn't want anybody to see his burning face?

In an old-time house, the attic had a broken-down couch in it, fit to put feet on. Cobwebs. Trunks with rounded tops. Battered books. Sewing gear. A smell of dust and heliotrope.

In the cellar behind the sauerkraut crock was a flat rock that glowed in the dark for some peculiar reason. The original Pet Rock. Nowhere else in the world were stashed so many Mason jars and jar lids.

Another place where a child could contemplate the dishonor of adult strength was out back behind the kindling rack in the woodshed where hung a blacksnake whip who knows how long.

All right, enough Huck Finn whimsy for now. But the modern house is not for kids.

Supporters Say Ford Could Win Primary

Sentiment Remains For 38th President

By TOM TIEDE

FITZWILLIAM, N.H. (NEA) — The opinion polls continue to suggest that Ronald Reagan is overwhelmingly favored to win the Feb. 26 Republican presidential primary in this wintering state. On paper at least, the Californian can very nearly match the combined popularity of his announced opposition.

But there is one tangential exception.

Jerry Ford.

When Reagan is matched with the announced contestants, the surveys consistenly give him 40 and in some cases 50 percent of the vote. When placed aside the unannounced Ford, however, Reagan loses by two, three, even four percentage points.

Clearly, there is still a good deal of sentiment here for the 38th president of the United States. Observers say the polling support may be misleading, in that it may reflect little more than name recognition. But there is no denying Ford could theoretically be the man to beat in New Hampshire.

According, almost inevitably, a handful of the former executive's fans have organized here to coax him into the advancing presidential campaign. The New Hampshire Committee to Draft Ford has registered with the Federal Elections Commission, and is "working hard," as well as "confident of victory," etc.

Officially, the committee is the third of its kind in the country. Draft Ford groups have also formed in Ohio and Massachusetts. Illinois had one that disbanded in October. Several other states, such as Vermont, have individuals who say they are ready to put who say they are ready to put committees together on short notice.

Not that the Ford supporters are making a big splash of it anywhere. The group in Massachusetts is the only one yet to order lapel buttons. And movement workers routinely pay expenses from their own pockets. There is no central organization; the states keep in touch primarily by telephone.

In New Hampshire the Draft Ford headquarters is located behind the counter of a small Fitzwilliam grocery store. It hands out 1976 bumper stickers with Bob Dole's name cut away. This apart, C. Richard Webber, the state coordinator, insists that if Ford wants the Repubican primary here, he can have it:

"We don't have much money. We don need it. Everyone knows our candidate, and they know how they will vote if he runs. So all we have to do is to get his name on the ballot."

Webber owns the grocery store just mentioned. He is also a justice of the peace and member of the Lions Club. In this state that qualifies him as something of a political expert. "Ford will win here," he says, no doubt wisely, "because he's the most experienced of the Republican candidates.

Webber says many Republicans are worried about nominating an untested candidate. Hence the Ford boomlet. "He served in Congress for 25 years, and he knows how to get the wheels turning in Washington. He could go to the Oval Office today, and just start in working, because he's been there before."p

But does he want to? The Draft Ford movement has not gotten much encouragement from Ford himself. At one time the former president said he was keeping his options open for 1980, but he's closed the door since then. His present attitude is publicly described as being firmly against an active candidacy.

Die-hards are not convinced, however. Ford's strength in the polls remains solid (a Gallup survey says he can whip Reagan, Carter or Edward Kennedy). Also, he has said repeatedly (as in a letter to Webber), he's not completely opposed to running, and indeed will accept a genuine Republican draft.

So Webber's forces are working to bring about a genuine draft. "If Ford won't speak for himself, we're trying to get the voters to speak for him." He will run if the people want him to, Webber adds. ""Therefore we should go to the polls and say, in effect, 'Mr. Ford, we needed you.'"

The voters will first have to speak by way of petitions. Candidates cannot be put on the ballot in New Hampshire unless they have been endored by 500 residents in each of two congressional districts. Deadline is December 28. Webber says he's gathering three times the required number of signatures.

When the petitions are submitted, and if they are validated, Ford will be notified by mail by the secretary of this state. And he'll be given a short time to decide if he wants his name to go on the ballot or not. If he does, his fans think he will win in February and go on to the GOP nomination.

What's more, the fans say Ford may win, and so forth, even if he doesn't want his name on the ballot. In that eventuality, Webber & Associates are prepared to conduct a write-in campaign.

The write-in would not be easy. But Ford supporters believe they must do everything possible to promote their choice.

Remember the alternative, they explain.

Mr. Reagan.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

By BILL DOYLE

Q. I have a friend who is very leery of the stock market and who has all her savings — almost $20,000 — in her credit union. I have advised her that, instead of continually adding to her account, she should buy 100 shares of a good utility stock that has a reinvestment plan. Then, by reinvesting her dividends and making periodic additional purchases, she could build up a nice income by the time she retires in seven years.

I started such a program some years ago. It has worked out beautifully. Have I advised her correctly?

A. Yes. By following your advice, your friend could accumulate a fairly large number of shares. This column has always favored dividend reinvestment programs, because they provide easy, low-cost methods of building investments.

Many companies with dividend reinvestment programs also allow stockholders to make additional investments for a very low service charge, or no fee at all.

Electric, gas and telephone utilities were among the first companies to offer such plans. Although utility stocks have not been favorites in the market reoently, most of them have records of moderate and steady growth in earnings and dividends.

Because utilities must borrow large amounts of money they have been hurt by rising interest rates. When interest rates come down, as they eventually will, utility stock prices should improve.

You have to realize, however, that many people are, as you put it, too "leery" to ever buy stocks. Your friend may be one of those people. Even though you and I may feel she's making a mistake, she can't be forced to invest.

Q. One thing I don't understand is why the price of a preferred stock will change a point ($1) or more, when only a few hundred shares are traded. Why?

A. Chalk it up to what Wall Street calls a "thin market" — meaning that there is little trading activity. Remember that the market price of any stock, at any given time, is set by buying demand and selling pressure at that time — the number of shares some people are trying to buy and the number others want to sell.

With a relatively inactive stock, it doesn't take a great deal of buying demand to push the price up. Nor does it take much selling pressure to send the price down.

With preferred stocks, there can be another angle. While most stocks are traded in "round lots" of 100 shares, some preferreds are traded in round lots of 10 shares. With such a stock, trading volume of 30 shares in one day might mean that there were as many as 30 transactions of 10 shares each.

A one-point price change over a period of 30 trades isn't really much of a move.

Q. I closed a savings account at a local bank on Sept. 18 and received no interest for the period from July 1 through Sept 18. When I wrote to the bank about this, I received a note saying my interest was lost, "because the interest is compounded daily but paid only quarterly. The teller who closed your account should have reminded you."

This does not seem proper. I lost about $60 interest. What can I do?

A. Sorry to have to tell you this. But you're stuck. Different banks and savings institutions have different rules on this. Typically, they require that you have some money in the account right up until the date that interest is scheduled to be credited, in order to collect interest for the latest interest period.

Sure that teller should have reminded you. But you have to take the final responsibility for not checking things out. If you had inquired, learned that bank's rules and left some money in that account for 12 more days, you would have received interest for the year's third quarter.

DOYLE welcomes written questions, but he will be able to provide answers only through the column.

States Paid For Use Of National Forests

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department has mailed checks for more than $89.6 million to 40 states and Puerto Rico as their further share of receipts from timber sales, grazing, recreation and mineral uses on the 183 million acres of national forests.

The funds, which now total more than $227.8 million for 1979, are used for public schools and roads.

Total receipts this year total more than $1 billion — the first time that mark has been eclipsed, the department said. One-quarter of the revenues collected by the Agriculture Department must be sent to the states. Oregon received the largest payment, $121 million, the department said.

MUGABE SUPPORTERS RALLY — Some 25,000 supporters of guerilla leader Robert Mugabe of the Patriotic Front surge along the main road in this sprawling black township near Salisbury Sunday. The demonstration was in defiance of Gov. Soames' edict Friday that political parties must get permission for demonstrations, and it was the first time since bans on the ZANU Mugabe party were lifted that supporters were able to turn out and show support. The party has been proscribed for the better part of five years. (AP Wirephoto)

Carter Says Support Improved By Kennedy Disenchantment

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — President Carter believes part of his recent surge in the polls can be attributed to Sen. Edward Kennedy's transformation from a "vision of perfection" to a "flesh and blood candidate."

In an interview with the Des Moines Sunday Register, Carter acknowledged the crisis in Iran has rallied support for his presidency and helped lift his low nationwide approval rating.

But he also insisted part of the improvement is due to the scrutiny cast on Kennedy and on California Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. now that they formally have challenged him for the Democratic nomination.

"I was running against a vision of perfection before," Carter told the newspaper. "Whenever anything went wrong, they said somebody would do a better job or somebody could say something better.

"But now I'm running against a real flesh and blood candidate in Senator Kennedy — and Governor Brown — and I think the voters are getting a chance to see his human fallibilities, like I have mine."

A recent poll showed Carter and Kennedy running even among Iowa Democrats five weeks before precinct caucuses labeled by both candidates as the first major test of the 1980 campaign.

During the first month of his campaign, Kennedy was dogged by organizational problems and several widely publicized verbal missteps seized upon by the Carter campaign.

The president did not elaborate on Kennedy's "human fallibilities." He said only that day-to-day campaigning had pierced the image Kennedy projected while still on the sidelines of the presidential campaign.

"He's out campaigning and the voters are getting a chance to assess what he does, what he says, to the hazy vision of what some perfect candidate might say or do," he said.

The president referred to his jump in the polls as "an unprecedented change" that would not — contrary to predictions of his opponents — reverse itself once the Iranian crisis is resolved.

Despite a self-imposed embargo on active campaigning while American hostages still are held in Tehran, he admitted politicking by telephone.

Carter said he calls as many as 20 Democrats in Iowa and elsewhere some evenings, "between phone calls to the State Department and Defense Department and studying the budget for the next day."

And while he has depended on family members and Vice President Walter Mondale to carry forth his political plans during the crisis, he said he longed for the campaign trail.

"It would be very good for me to go from one media center to another, to have a press conference, town hall meetings, to be seen shaking hands with factory workers in Des Moines and visiting a farmer on his tractor and looking at his livestock with him," the president said.

"Nothing would please me more. I miss that part of it."

Woman Files $250,000 False Arrest Suit

GARLAND (AP) — A Garland woman claiming she was falsely arrested filed a $250,000 suit in federal court Friday against the City of Garland and the Garland Police Department.

Teresa Mae Carter, 19, said she was roused out of bed and arrested a year ago for a traffic ticket she had paid two months earlier.

She claims her constitutional rights were violated and that she suffered "much anxiety, distress and embarrassment, physical pain and mental injury."

Access To Base Offered

NEW YORK (UPI) — Somalia has offered the United States access to the Soviet Union's former Gulf of Aden base at Berbera, it was reported Sunday.

The New York Times, citing Somali, congressional and Pentagon sources, said access to Berbera was one of the major goals of a U.S. military diplomatic team touring the Middle East and Africa.

In Washington, Pentagon and State Department spokesmen declined to confirm the report.

The Pentagon has carefully avoided linking the U.S. team's mission to the Iranian crisis, but the hostage drama has made America painfully aware of the difficulties in launching military operations in far-flung areas.

The Times said Somali President Mohammed Siad Barre made the offer of Berbera because he wants to move his nation closer to the West, especially the United States.

Somalia, a one-time close ally of the Soviet Union, broke relations with the Kremlin in 1977 when the Russians sided with Ethiopia in fighting for control of the Ogaden region.

Access to Berbera would be a major help in resupplying the big U.S. naval task force gathered south of Iran for possible use in the hostage crisis. The force is a seven-day trip from the nearest U.S. base — Subic Bay in the Philippines.

'Zookeeper' Guards 70,000 Organisms

PEORIA, Ill. (AP) — Most of Tom Pridham's menagerie is public, but he keeps a padlock on the refrigerator door where the man-made life might be.

Not even Pridham is sure what's in there. He just keeps it safe — and secret.

"We maintain some odd kinds of microbial life," says Pridham, the government's "zookeeper" for more than 70,000 organisms from bacteria to yeasts, all kept on the third floor of a yellow brick laboratory building here.

Pridham's menagerie probably is the largest collection of micro-organisms in the world. As such, it likely will be the place — or at least a model for the place — where companies seeking patents on newly invented life forms will send their discoveries for safekeeping.

In fact, Pridham says that a few may already be here.

"Companies just send organisms here with a name," he says. "There is really no way you can detect some of these genetically engineered forms unless you know what it is and what to look for and how to analyze it."

Gene-splitting no longer is the stuff of science fiction. A fledgling industry using recombinant DNA technology has grown up in recent years and, recognizing there may be profit in man-made life, has gone on the offense to protect its discoveries.

General Electric Co. is presently involved in a court case in which GE has tried to patent a "bug" which eats oil slicks and then in turn becomes food for fish. The U.S. Patent office has held that a living organism cannot be patented and the U.S. Supreme Court has agreed to consider the issue.

The case is being watched closely by genetic researchers and could have a big impact on an emerging frontier of science dealing with genetic modification, test tube babies and methods of mechanically rearranging DNA, the building blocks of life.

Pridham's facility at the Agriculture Department's laboratory here has long been a place where companies have sent samples of naturally occuring micro-organisms used in various industrial processes such as making alcohol and antibiotics.

The patent office requires that companies send live samples of organisms either to Pridham or to another lab in Maryland as part of the application. Those are the samples behind the locked refrigerator doors.

Pridham concedes that his refrigerator may already be home to the first members of a bold new generation of genetically engineered life. But he's not confirming anything.

"I try to maintain very strict control on patent cultures to prevent any leak of information," says the auburn-haired scientist who is the fourth curator in the collection's 75-year history.

The vast majority of the 70,000 inhabitants are not secret because they are not involved in pending patent cases. They are kept in about a quarter of a million test tubes stored in long lines of white refrigerators, unlocked, or in tanks of liquid nitrogen.

In the lab adjacent to Pridham's office are stacks of boxes and metal file cabinets holding cards which identify each strain and include a few details about what it looks like and what it does.

Agriculture Department scientists use the samples in research. And the department has a policy of sending samples from the collection to outside scientists involved in legitimate research to universities or companies, Pridham says.

Some of the inhabitants in Pridham's menagerie are old-time members with excellent pedigrees, including the progeny of the original strain of penicillin discovered in 1928 by Alexander Fleming.

Others are newcomers like the still-unnamed bacteria recently discovered in a cowpile which scientists believe can be used in the production of alcohol.

But those are all naturally occuring. The new group would be man-made.

HEARTLINE: In December 1978, my mother, aged 85 at the time, became ill. She was unable to go to the bank, buy groceries, etc. She had her life savings in a checking account and had signed a card at the bank in my brother's name, so that if she were unable to withdraw her funds, he could do it for her.

Unfortunately, my brother withdrew all of her funds and closed her account. The amount was over $10,000. It was a big shock to Mother when she went to the bank to withdraw some money.

My brother is using the money to benefit his immediate family and has left our mother poor. Since she receives a railroad retirement benefit, she has that to look forward to. However, my brother waits for her to cash her check and then takes almost all of it out of her purse. She just says that she doesn't know what to do, that she can't prosecute her own son.

Can you suggest something to help this poor woman? I am ashamed of this situation and will not give my name or initials. Please answer in the paper.

We suggest that your mother contact an attorney. If her son still has the money, or some of it, it might be possible for her to get it back. Steps of some kind should be taken to stop further abuses by the son. We suggest that you try talking with your brother. If you cannot reason with him, contact a family counselor in a social service agency or talk the matter over with your clergyman. If you know for sure that your brother has committed these crimes against your mother, you can press charges against him yourself. Someone must consult an attorney. If something is to be done, you or your mother will have to take the first steps.

HEARTLINE: I have recently developed a severe allergy, for which I must take three shots each week. Will Medicare Part B pay for allergy shots? — P.N.

Yes, Medicare will pay 80 percent of the reasonable charges for allergy shots.

Heartline has just revised our 1979 Heartline's guide to Medicare to contain all the changes that will affect your Medicare coverage for 1980. To order the 1980 edition, send $1.75 to Heartline's Guide to Medicare, 114 E. Dayton St., W. Alexandria, Ohio 45381.

HEARTLINE: My wife and I have both worked all of our lives. Now that we have both retired, we intend to travel. We never had time to travel before. Can you tell me how to get a passport? — L.S.

First, apply for your passport long in advance of your trip. You must have proof of your U.S. citizenship (generally a birth certificate if you were born in the U.S. or a naturalization certificate if you were born abroad), two identical front-view photos of yourself, two inches square in size, proof of identity and a fee of $14 ($10 if you have had a recently expired passport and present it with your present application). You may apply at any passport agency, and in some communities, at the clerk of the court or at post offices.

Remember — many countries require visas. This endorsement, or stamp from a foreign government, permits you to visit that country for a specified purpose and for a limited time. Apply directly to the embassies or consulates of the countries you plan to visit, or go through a travel agency. You will need your passport first.

Step 1 — Year of birth. Read down the left hand column to find the last number in the year of your birth then go across to the appropriate decade. For instance, if you were born in 1947, your number for Physical would be 21, Emotional 17, Intellectual 19. Note whether your numbers are preceded by an A or B; this will be used for Step 2.

Step 2 — Month of birth. Find the corresponding numbers for the month you were born. If your month is February, and your year numbers were preceded by a B, your month numbers would be 8 for Physical, 3 for Emotional and 31 for Intellectual. Enter your own numbers in the figure chart for Step 2.

Step 3 — Day of birth. Enter your day of birth three times in the figure chart, once each for Physical (P), Emotional (E) and Intellectual (I).

Add the three columns to derive your permanent biorhythm numbers for your Physical, Emotional and Intellectual cycles. Now you can refer to today's biorhythm readings.

Computerized Games Craze Take Toll On Parents' Pocketbooks

United Press International

The spiritual surge of Christmas seems to compete with the tangible.

An ex-Marine in Brookings, S.D., who traded in his uniform for some scarlet, velvet duds, says his job as a Santa has touched him unexpectedly.

"I always thought Christmas was materialistic, just exchanging presents and that was it. But in the past month, I've realized it's a time to express feelings about people and gifts are just a symbol of that expression," he said.

But even while Santas everywhere might see merit in his observation, the Christmas rush was experiencing that end-ofthe-stretch kick, when shoppers charge the stores and grab for the trendy symbols of expression.

This year it is apparent the age of the non-animated pet rock fare is dead. In its place is the beeping, microchipped, battery-driven cornucopia of computerized toys.

Sometimes loquacious, chess sets talk back, and space-age tanks complain if left unattended.

Most of the so-called education-oriented gizmos use the monkey-see-monkey do approach.

Are these high-priced items selling in the era of double-digit inflation?

George R. Ditomassi Jr., senior vice president for marketing at Milton Bradley, said "We're not even close to filling our orders. The public is absolutely mesmerized by this stuff.

Price has not proven to be much of a barrier to sales. "It used to be that try to keep a game at $10, maybe $20 tops. But with electronics, it now seems that $100 may not be unrealistic," Ditomassi said.

Blitzed by television ads for the machinery, the public has responded.

A salesman at FAO Schwarz at Chicago's posh Water Tower place on Michigan Ave. says times are rare when a person comes in and asks for a Raggedy Ann doll.

"People see the advertisement on TV and I think they expect an IBM 2000 computer," he said. "Most younger kids seem to get bored with the stuff pretty soon."

But if the excitement wears off, there are other diversions. There are guitars that remember tunes, doodads that deal hands of blackjack, and updated versions of the shootout at the OK Corral with lasers substituting for sixguns.

To Your Good Health

By PAUL DONOHUE, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have an overactive thyroid and am taking medicine for it. Radiation is being suggested for the future. I have read about kelp, which has iodine, and which can balance your thyroid whether it's high or low. Why is it one couldn't take a natural substance to solve a medical problem? — C.S.

Allow me to back into your answer.

There are two ways to treat overactive thyroid, which means the gland is producing too much hormone. One is with drugs to block the thyroid production. The drugs cannot be given forever and there are many people whose gland reverts to overactivity when medicine is stopped.

Radioactive iodine is given. The thyroid takes this up and gland tissue is destroyed. The word "radiation" need not cause distress. You're not being treated with an atomic bomb. It is safe.

Tissue can also be removed by a surgeon's scalpel. In either case the person must take thyroid by mouth afterwards.

The role of iodine in this story is this. Iodine is an ingredient of the thyroid hormone. Too little of it in the diet causes the gland to enlarge, producing a goiter. A detailed explanation of why would, I fear, be confusing.

Kelp is a seaweed and a rich source of iodine, as are seafoods in general. Table salt can be iodized. You'll find that word on salt that has iodine added.

But if you have a diagnosed thyroid gland problem the exact amount of iodine has to be prescribed. Kelp might be fine as an additional supplement if needed. For an overactive gland, iodine alone is not the treatment of choice, so kelp would be of no value.

What does kelp taste like? Do you serve it as a salad or a main dish?

Dear Dr. Donohue: My son was born with a birthmark on his knee. It resembles a penny in size and color and it is flat. It hasn't changed since birth. Aren't most birthmarks best left alone? My doctor says it will have to be removed later — D.W.

There are so many kinds and causes of birthmarks that it is impossible to make any general statement about them or their treatment. The common "strawberry" birthmark consists of clusters of tiny blood vessels. These often disappear on their own.

However, another kind, called portwine birthmark, again composed of blood vessels, requires removal. Other kinds are caused by clustering of skin pigment cells and they may or may not require surgery.

You can understand why I cannot answer your question more specifically with regard to your son's mark. Treatment depends on what the birthmark is due to. Many birthmarks are caused by little genetic quirks, are harmless and are best left alone to develop as they will. Dermatologists are expert in evaluating birthmarks.

Long established birthmarks that show a sudden change in shape or color require investigation.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Is there a kind of sickness that could cause someone to get taller after they are 40 years old? My friend says she is getting taller. — Mrs. E.C.

There is a condition called acromegaly that will increase body size. It is due to overproduction of growth hormone, which is produced in the pituitary gland at the base of the brain. Adults with this problem grow larger, but not taller. Children with it grow taller as well as larger. Their bones have not fused and can still grow to add height. Adult bones have fused.

• • •

Dear Dr. Donohue: Would you please explain a prolapsed uterus? My doctor says I have this and I know very little about it. — R.H.

A prolapsed uterus is one that has dropped out of position. The ligaments holding it in place have become lax. This produces problems only if it causes symptoms, such as putting pressure on the bladder and interfering with urination. If you are having no symptoms, and if the uterus has dropped only a little, nothing need be done.

Your thyroid plays a critical health role — in everything from eyesight to fertility. The booklet "Your Thyroid: How It Works for You" explains this important, and misunderstood, gland. To get a copy, enclose 50 cents and a long, stamped and self-addressed envelope to Dr. Donohue, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, Ill. 60611.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

GASOLINE STORAGE

When storing gasoline, keep the container where only an adult can reach it, advises Claudia Kerbel, a consumer information specialist witht the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The smell of gasoline often intrigues children, she cautions. Don't let their curiosity cause them or anyone else harm, she urges.

At Wit's End...

By ERMA BOMBECK

Ed McMahon has a theory about New Year's Eve. He says he wouldn't dream of going out and partying on that night because the streets are full of amateur drinkers.

My husband feels the same way about shopping on Christmas Eve. He said it used to be a night that belonged to the professional shoppers...the last-minute, no-nonsense, super-efficient decision-makers who have to believe it's better to receive than to give.

How he used to pride himself on being able to do all of his shopping after dinner on Christmas Eve. For 30 years, I never got a gift that didn't carry a warranty or hold a battery.

Then last Christmas, something happened. He came stomping into the house and dropped into a chair exhausted. "What's happened to people?" he snarled. "It's a jungle out there. All my favorite gift shops are jammed — the drugstore, the gas station, the convenience markets, the hardware store. You're not going to believe this, but I was in the auto supply store with a smoke alarm in my hands to buy for you and a crazy person grabbed it right out and took it to the register to be gift-wrapped. Lucky I was able to substitute." (I got a set of floor mats for the car and a fleece bicycle seat.)

"People are crazy. They think they can just run out and become a last-minute shopper overnight. Well, you can't. It takes years of practice and know-how."

"That's ridiculous," I said. "How do you know they're amateur last-minute shoppers?"

"Easy. You can spot those suckers a mile away. They always have lists in their hands. Our people never use them. And they haggle over colors and sizes. We take whatever's there. But mostly, it's their attitude. They don't know how to break down the barrier between sales clerk and customer. Last-minute shoppers are as tired and as desperate and as anti-shopping as the clerks. We're one of them. We understand. They'll do anything for us — gift wrap, alter, deliver...anything."

Last night I said to my husband, "You look pretty smug. Does that mean your Christmas shopping is done or are you going to mingle with the amateurs again?"

He smiled. "I haven't done any of it yet, but I know of a plumbing supply house that no one else knows about that is open Christmas Eve until 8:00 p.m."

GOREN ON BRIDGE

BY CHARLES H. GOREN AND OMAR SHARIF

1979 by Chicago Tribune

Q.1 — As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠AQ10952 ♡AJ6 ♢AK105 ♣
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	2 ♡	Dble.	Pass

What action do you take?

A. — With a six-card major suit and a void in the opponent's suit, you should "never" pass your partner's low-level penalty double. This hand is the exception. Partner surely has spade shortness for his double, so it is quite possible that your side cannot make a game. Since you have a wealth of defensive values, we would pass. You should collect a substantial penalty, and you will still be a 3-to-1 favorite to win the rubber.

Q.2 — Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠KQ1073 ♡AK ♢A94 ♣A87
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	Pass

What action do you take?

A. — Although partner's jump to game does not promise much in the way of high cards, he must be distributionally strong. It's not unreasonable to expect him to have the ace of spades and a singleton (probably in a minor suit). If he has as little as the queen of hearts on the side, slam could be laydown. We would gamble out six spades.

Q.3 — Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠KQ98652 ♡A6 ♢AK5 ♣
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
2 ♢	Pass	3 ♢	Pass

What do you bid now?

A. — You are certainly not going to stop short of a small slam, but you should investigate the possibilities of a grand slam. To do that, initiate a cue-bidding sequence. Start by cue-bidding three spades. This will warn partner that his ace of spades might not be too useful, so he will have to sign off in three no-trump or four hearts. You can then cue-bid your club ace, which will allow partner to cue-bid diamonds if he has the king. If he shows that card, we must bid the grand slam.

Q.4 — As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠643 ♡A8 ♢A983 ♣KJ62
The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 ♠	2 ♡	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A. — Opposite a partner who made a vulnerable overcall, you have a very good hand. If our heart and spade holdings were reversed, we would try four hearts. However, with our actual hand, those three little spades are a liability, so we would take the conservative course of bidding only three hearts. Any doubler facing a two-level overcall is adequate trump support.

Q.5 — Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠KQ4 ♡K8752 ♢AQ ♣J103
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	1	Pass
2 NT	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A. — Rarely are you faced with a problem that can be solved by simple arithmetic, but this one is easy. Partner has shown a balanced hand of 19-20 points. You have a balanced hand of 13 points. Together that gives your side 34-35 points — enough for a small slam but not enough for a grand. No bid other than six no trump should even come into consideration.

Q.6 — Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A72 ♡Q6 ♢K1072 ♣A1095
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South
Pass	3 ♡	?

What action do you take?

A. — There is no reason to suspect that someone is trying to steal from you. Your partner has already passed, and you have only the equivalent of an opening bid. To enter the auction with your hand, even in these inflationary times, would show a reckless disregard for your financial well-being as well as your partner's.

Q.7 — Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠93 ♡1062 ♢J763 ♣A985
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♡	Pass	1 NT	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	?

What action do you take?

A. — By now you are probably regretting your initial response. But it's again your turn and the one thing you cannot do is pass. Partner's jump shift is an absolute force. A raise to four clubs would grossly misdescribe your hand. Take a preference to three hearts — at least you will end up in a ten-trick game rather than an eleven-trick one. On this auction, partner surely has at least five hearts.

Q.8 — Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠A872 ♡A963 ♢7 ♣AK83
The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♢	?

What action do you take?

A. — If the opponents are to be believed, your partner's hand must be a thing of beauty (perhaps one jack on a good day). The enemy has bid two of your three suits, so you can do nothing except await developments. Pass and hope that the opponents get overboard.

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: The Brass Goose Egg Award to you, Babe, for your insensitive, unprofessional comments regarding the adult bed-wetter. Add 50 lashes for his big-mouth wife. What business does she have discussing a problem of this nature with a "friend"? Why didn't she see to it that her husband went to a doctor?

Also, since when does one night out a week with "the boys" constitute a beer drunk? You really messed up on that one. What's with you, anyway? — First Time Male Writer

Dear First-Time: Cool it, Dad. The facts are as follows: Some letters are too long to print, so I must trim them to fit this space. The letter from the woman married to the "beer drunk" went on and on. This is typical of people who write to me to unload. I had to make drastic cuts in the letter, but I printed enough of it so the readers could get a fairly accurate picture of what she had been putting up with.

The woman's husband had been wetting the bed for years. She said he drinks "several" bottles of beer every night after supper. When he goes out for his weekly night on the town with the boys it's like Swanee River.

The man refuses to discuss his problem with a doctor. He says, "I ain't sick." What's more, he thinks because he pays the bills and gives her room and board, she should not mind swimming three nights a week. NOW do you get the picture?

• • •

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is the hail-fellow-well-met type — loves everybody and has a heart as big as all outdoors. Problem: At least two nights a week he brings out-of-town salesmen (two and three at a time) for dinner. I never know in advance. He just shows up with the extras.

I'm a good cook, but I'm not a magician. I can't stretch a four-pound chicken to feed eight people.

I keep telling Big-Hearted Joe to please give me at least an hour's notice so I can run to the market. He says, "These traveling guys would rather have a fried egg in a person's home than a sirloin steak in a restaurant."

Please give me a solution to this problem, Ann Landers. I am — Saucer-Eyed In San Francisco

Dear Sauce: Your husband gave you the answer. Fry eggs and make no apologies.

• • •

Dear Ann Landers: Usually your advice is pretty good, but you really blew it when the reader wanted to know if it was "proper" to take photographs of a deceased person in a casket.

I was sure you would say, "No, it's morbid and in poor taste." Instead, you quoted two morticians who said, "It's perfectly all right — people do it all the time." "Slumber-room" indeed! The person in the casket is DEAD, not sleeping. Furthermore, just because something is done frequently does not mean it's right. Please let that reader know how YOU feel. If the reader had wanted an answer from a mortician he would have asked one. — Sickened In Chelmesford

Dear Chel: The question was, "Is it proper?" Two morticians said, "Yes." They are authorities, I am not.

Personally, I find the practice weird, but for those who want "a final remembrance," who am I to say it's wrong? P.S. Several readers expressed the opinion that most people would not care to have their remains photographed. Perhaps the camera buffs should ask themselves how they would feel under similar circumstances.

Hints From Heloise

HI THERE!

I've just found out something about eyeglasses I'd never given a thought to, much less even knew about.

If you have to wear glasses on occasion, as I do, then you've had the problem of the hinge screws loosening, or the ear pieces needing adjustment. Drats! Sure is a problem!

Did you know that your regular optometrist will fix up those glasses for you at no cost — or for a very modest fee? These dear people will even put in a lost screw and ask nothing, or very little, in return.

And did you know that you can probably purchase from this same optometrist a handy little screwdriver, made just for putting in those slippery little screws that always manage to fall out at the most inopportune times? The one I bought came with a supply of extra screws in case one gets lost. Hooray for that! And a friend of mine saw a similar kit at the hardware store. Bet they're available at notions' counters too.

DEAR HELOISE:

The little flat plastic fasteners on bread and roll wrappers make good holders for Christmas tree lights.

Hook one of the fasteners onto the wire at the base of the light and then fasten it to a small branch, thus better positioning the bulb. — Amelia DeVine

DEAR HELOISE:

Here is a hint that can dramatically reverse a common household mini-tragedy:

If your child's homework paper or an important document gets too near the butter dish, an unsightly grease spot may result.

You can restore the paper's appearance by sprinkling some baby powder on both sides of the paper over the spot and letting it soak up the grease for awhile. When you brush off the powder, the spot will be practically gone!

Having been a teacher for several years, I like to see children concerned with the appearance, as well as the content, of the work they hand in.

Being a mommy also, I find this hint useful at home. — Ruth Decko

• • •

DEAR HELOISE:

I have an idea for making a dandy bird feeder.

Take an empty cardboard milk carton and cut the middle out of two opposite sides to make windows.

Make two holes (one under each window) and put a dowel stick inside the carton through both holes.

DEAR HELOISE:

I'm always being asked by the family, "Are the dishes in the dishwasher clean or dirty?"

I work fulltime so sometimes I don't get the dishwasher emptied or get around to running it at precise times.

To allebiate this problem, I made two felt, magnetized faces, one a dirty face, the other clean.

I put the one on the dishwasher that matches the state of the dishes. When the other one isn't on the dishwasher, it can be "stored" on the refrigerator or other metal appliance.

Really adds to the decor no matter where it is — especially the dirty one because it matches the dirty little smudges and fingerprints here and there. — Shirley

DEAR HELOISE:

To help keep car floor mats clean and dry in messy, wintertime driving, place a cellulose sponge on each rubber mat. Soaks up a surprising amount of muddy water. About once a week just take it into the house to wash, rinse and let dry out. — B.W.

Anniversary

MR. AND MRS. TRAVIS WALLACE

CROSBYTON (Special) — Mr. and Mrs. Travis (Tiny) Wallace, Sr., were honored Sunday with a reception to celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary at their home in Crosbyton. Hosting the event were the children of the couple: Travis Wallace, Jr. of Azle, Charles Wallace of Crosbyton, Lori Thrasher of Lorenzo, and Nelba McCravey of Eunice, N.M.

Wallace and the former Betty Brents were married Dec. 23, 1939 in Ralls. The couple has twelve grandchildren.

SOMETHING DIFFERENT

Any day is the day to try something different with chicken. Using a marinade of fruit juice, salad dressing mix and oil turns everyday chicken into a gourmet delight. Combine 1/3 cup grapefruit juice with an envelope of Italian or old fashion French salad dressing mix in a cruet or jar with a tight-fitting lid. Cover and shake well. Then add 1/3 cup salad oil, cover and shake again. Pour over 2-3 pounds of frying chicken pieces, cover and let marinate in refrigerator at least 6 hours or overnight. Broil chicken about 15 minutes on each side or to desired doneness, basting occasionally. This amount makes 4 servings and the unusual flavor should make it a family favorite.

DEDICATED, QUALIFIED, APPRECIATIVE — For insurance, in '80 and years to come, PIA is assurance of knowledgeable, customer-oriented service. Pictured at the firm's offices in south Lubbock (7212 Joliet) are Don Baldridge, Kerry Jackson, Ann Ball, Carol Knight and Melba Neelley, each thoroughly versed and pledged to the finest concepts of insurance service.

Panhandle Insurance Agency Built Upon Service Concept

"We appreciate the fact that so many of you chose Panhandle Insurance Agency (PIA) as your 'first team' for insurance services in 1979."

"At Christmastime we join in special awareness of all the blessings each of us has enjoyed . . . good and loyal friends . . . new friends . . . achievements . . . bountiful material and spiritual benefits . . . and opportunity for service."

"Please accept our greetings at this glad season as from the heart; we wish the best for each of you in 1980 and years to come," is the word from every staffmember at PIA.

For Every Insurance Need

As the new year approaches, we believe that more than ever, PIA is fully qualified in all the essential areas — dedication to service, experience in the field, expertise in insurance programing, access to the most desired markets, and with an enviable record of good working relationships with each valued customer; this is PIA, "your kind of folks."

Possibly best known as commercial specialists, PIA (located at 7212 Joliet, phone 799-5335, at South Loop 289 and Indiana Avenue) serves equally well in every insurance situation, for large and small transactions alike. Whether the need is mortgage retirement insurance, group health, life, bonds, auto or any of the other insurance categories, PIA wants to prove its worth to you as it has for so many others.

PIA opened its Lubbock offices in March of 1978, with original staffmembers J. Don Baldridge and Melba Neelley still serving. More recent staff additions are Kerry L. Jackson, Ann Ball and Carol Knight, all well-experienced and exceptionally qualified in insurance service.

Baldridge for 18 years was co-owner and secretary-treasurer of Baldridge Bakery in Lubbock, and has since been in the insurance business for 13 years. A native of Lubbock, he has held numerous civic and church offices and is a founding trustee of Lubbock Christian College.

Kerry Jackson, a Lubbock resident since 1965, marks 18 years in insurance, including 12 years with Firemen's Fund and three years with Cravens Dargan. He is active in the South Plains Shrine Association, is a charter member of the Lubbock Scottish Rite, is a member of the First Methodist Church, and is otherwise active in community activities.

Melba Neelley has agency service of more than 15 years, with specialization in personal lines.

Growth of PIA in Lubbock has been most gratifying, and the staff is appreciative of the confidences and trade accorded. Each representative pledges continuation of professional insurance service . . . with appreciation, friendliness and courtesy.

"Whatever your insurance need in 1980, you can turn with confidence to the competent staffmembers at PIA, innovators whose first consideration is accommodation of your needs."

Cowling Furniture's Storewide Sale Commencing Wednesday

"Once again at Cowling's Furniture it is our pleasure to extend the most sincere and warmest of Christmas greetings, at the same time being humbly appreciative of the blessings of the year. To everyone in our growing list of customers and friends we say 'thank you,' and we want to continue to be your kind of store."

In conjunction with this year-end season, Cowling's is staging its storewide sale, one of the two sales conducted annually at the store.

This means that beginning Wednesday, Dec. 26, discounts up to 50 per cent are posted, with everything included and with every department represented.

Tags on each item will reflect the exceptional savings that have been arranged.

So . . . if it is price and all-around good taste that is a consideration, the out-of-the-ordinary Cowling's Furniture at Broadway and Q is sure to appeal!

Wide Selection

Cowling's has stocked extremely heavy during this year, and a discriminating but full stock is on hand at this time, made available at sale prices.

Cowling's Furniture, 1210 Ave. Q prides in "what's right and what's quality" for every furniture need.

Opening in late 1975, Cowling's has become recognized as a good firm, with good merchandise, with integrity and with a quality-savings combination to be appreciated.

With so very much included in its selection (and all now at sale prices) it is impossible to enumerate all.

However, it can be pointed out that the merchandise includes a tremendous selection of sofas, groupings for every room, Rattan furniture, credenzas, consoles, investment art and "just plain pretty art work," Hamilton clocks, recliners, lamps by the scores, Beautyrest bedding . . . and more.

Everything seems to say that "we at Cowling's want you to have the best without strain on the budget; we like you and want to serve accordingly."

Individual pieces and groupings for every room of the home are stocked.

Modest on the outside, the big store is most impressive within; and entry there is actually into a whole new world of quality furniture at prices to please.

Locally Owned

Cowling's Furniture is family owned and operated, with family members doing their best to bring your own family the very finest home furnishings to fit your budget.

Ken Cowling and family want to know you and help you in your furniture situation, now and in the new year!

Financing is available.

Remember the location, south off Broadway on Avenue Q in Lubbock. Both an east and north entry is provided, with appreciated off-street parking at the north.

And remember, the Year-End Sale begins Wednesday morning, and early selection is invited as a great but economical way to conclude 1979 and usher in the new year!

AT SOUTHERN SEA — Robert and Priscilla Sims, owners-operators of the two Lubbock Southern Sea eating establishments, send holiday greetings and express appreciation for the generous trade and the friendships marking an eventful year.

Southern Sea Arranges Specials Aiding Year-End Meal Planning

"Merry Christmas" from all the folks at Southern Sea, downtown at 10th & Q and at Loop 289-South Indiana!

Southern Sea will be closed today (Monday) and Christmas Day, also closing on New Years Day, enabling the staff to be with friends and family on these occasions.

"As a special gesture of our appreciation of your trade during the past year that has made our steady growth possible, Southern Sea is posting a special, effective through Jan. 2.

It is a Tub o' Chicken (12 pieces), great for family dining, at just $7.75, including a pint of cole slaw and five hot puffs. Also, a whole chicken (8 pieces) is specially priced for the same period at modest $4.70, with four puffs.

"Isn't this a nice way of assisting during the holidays when good food, economy and convenience all are especially to be desired?"

"Carry-out" service is just one of the appreciated services at Southern Sea.

Catering is one of the best received services of the Lubbock-owned firm, together with the great dining facilities at either of the Lubbock locations.

For "carry-out", one is invited to call from office or home, and the order will be ready when desired. This works great for those with a limited-time luncheon hour.

Catering from Southern Sea is "something special", more than a few will attest. Simply call Danny Waller, catering manager, at 799-2099, for details of this area-wide service.

An expanded menu made news at Southern Sea during the past year, also.

It all is a part of the carefully-planned and thoughtfully-executed customer consideration program initiated by owners Robert and Priscilla Sims, a business concept and practice that has placed Southern Sea in a leadership spot in good eating at prices and convenience to be appreciated.

"We thank you for letting us develop our plans with the support of your patronage and friendship in 1979 and years past. Thank you for relying upon us, whatever the service or department utilized; we pledge continuing attention to your needs, to the best of our ability, in the new year at hand."

Don Crow Service Department Relates Holiday Sceldule, Continues Specials

The Don Crow Chevrolet Service Department is closed through Christmas day, re-opening again Dec. 26. The department will close for New Years day only next week.

Jess Nichols, service manager, joins with the entire Don Crow organization in extending warmest of Christmas and holiday greetings, expressing appreciation of past considerations and looking forward to a new year in which Don Crow service again can be most meaningful.

Target engine availability at a very economical price is one of the present situations at the big Don Crow firm at Loop 289 and Slide Rd. in Lubbock.

In addition, specials as outlined below are effective throughout December, which means that special values are enabled at this strategic time, when economy is especially appreciated when son or daughter may be home with an auto that needs some care such as tune-up, brake attention, etc.

Furthermore, this special low price includes installation, intake gasket set and labor, for Chevrolet passenger cars and light duty pickups. Cost for heavy duty trucks is slightly more.

From the service manager to the service advisors and technicians (including five master technicians) at Don Crow Chevrolet, Inc., all take pride in the ultimate in customer service at a price that can be lived with.

Special Low Prices

Jess Nichols, with 23 years of service in Lubbock, tells of other limited-time specials featured now at Don Crow Chevrolet:

Change oil, filter and lube is just $9.95, including up to five quarts of Quaker State HD30w oil, AC filter and grease!

Brake special, complete, is $79.95 and includes replacing front pads, repacking front wheel bearings, replacing rear shoes, turning both rotors and turning both rear drums. Genuine GM parts are used.

Especially important at this time is the cooling system flush at just $14.95 and including antifreeze necessary to zero safety.

Other values mark the service department, including tune-ups, wheel balance and rotation, front-end alignment, transmission service, and more.

"And don't forget Don Crow Chevrolet's invitation to compare costs; we are glad to show you the posted hourly rates and allotted Chevrolet factory time for any job, eliminating any confusion. We are aboveboard in all dealings."

Don Crow believes that it pays you to know all the facts; it pays to know and trust Don Crow Chevrolet!

"Happy New Year!"

Serving 'The Hard Of Hearing' Proves Continuing Christmas

The staff at Sonotone-Lubbock, 2318 Broadway, wishes all the very best at Christmas and in the new year of 1980.

Each expresses the most sincere gratitude of friendships of this and years past.

In extending their warmest greetings, they also pass on a suggestion that might make for even happier Christmases:

"While the family is together at the holiday season, wouldn't this be a good time to consider what might be the greatest gift possible — a quality, modern CE all-in-the-ear hearing aid for any family members with hearing problems?

Think this over; then do something about it; see Louise Bills or Ralph Huntington at Sonotone-Lubbock for the solution.

The CE is individually made to meet one's hearing requirements. It may be fitted for hearing impairments of mild through severe.

It may be comfortably worn after retiring . . . while you sleep; it is designed for reliability and may be worn comfortably and inconspicuously . . . offering the potential of hearing assistance combined with minimal visibility.

(Also inquire about other models available.)

Long Appreciated

Desks again this have been stacked with the card, letter and gift remembrances of persons throughout the area who have benefitted from the services, products and personal interest of Louise Bills, manager, and staffmember Ralph Huntington.

"If you have not become acquainted with these very fine folks at Sonotone-Lubbock, the very best New Year resolution would be to do so at earliest convenience!

Louise Bills is a veteran in hearing aid sales, service and achievement. She has been heaped with honors from manufacturer and customers alike . . . and her personal interest in every customer is a well-recognized fact.

LOUISE BILLS

Ralph Huntington also exemplifies the highest service concepts in his many contacts. He has been with Sonotone over 17 years, is a consultant at the Lubbock office, and is thoroughly dedicated to the "professionalism with a human touch" that has earned appreciation of our customers throughout the region.

These folks at Sonotone-Lubbock have made life richer for hundreds within the vast South Plains area.

Individual hearing tests, at no obligation, personalized fitting, frequent check ups and the interested care of a Sonotone-Lubbock consultant is the service one can expect without exception at the firm.

"If you have a hearing problem or suspect that you may have one, why not stop by at 2318 Broadway or call 762-5469 now. That visit or call you make to Sonotone-Lubbock may be the most important one you will ever make."

Three-Day Sale, Comprehensive New Classes Set At Cake Place

"Merry Christmas" from The Cake Place that has three very important announcements:

(1) The Cake Place, 5423 Aberdeen (just off 55th and Slide) is staging a very meaningful sale Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Dec. 27, 28, 29.

For this Pre-Inventory event, all merchandise in stock is marked at a full 20 per cent off!

(2) The Cake Place, featuring cake decorating supplies for every occasion, will be closed today through Wednesday, Dec. 26.

(3) A very comprehensive class schedule has been announced for early 1980, and those familiar with the instruction there in the past know of its worth. So don't delay in getting full details and in registering, as pre-registration is necessary for the classes.

Why not come in for the sale, profit accordingly, and get full information on the classes and demonstrations at the same time?

(Free candy demonstrations are set Feb. 2, Mar. 8, Mar. 22 at 10 a.m. and 2 p.m.)

Schedule Told

Included in the classes are:

Basic I Beginner Class, a 5-week course, involving basic cake decorating techniques for the homemaker, beginning Jan. 15 (a.m.), Jan. 17 (p.m.) and Mar. 6 (a.m. and p.m.), at $20, plus equipment.

Basic II Intermediate Class, beginning Jan. 17 in a morning schedule, involving flowers, borders, string work, color flow, panorama egg and figure piping; also a 5-week course, $25, plus equipment.

Commercially Creative Class, beginning Jan. 15 in the afternoon, a 5-week course involving borders, flowers, air gun, figure piping and rice paper; at $25 plus equipment.

The following classes will be offered in one 3-hour session only, with each class fee a modest $6.

March 11, Figure Piping;

March 18, Rice Paper;

March 25, Sesame Street Characters, and

April 1, Rolled Fondant Demonstration.

Regional Cake Show

"And don't forget the South Plains Regional Cake Show scheduled April 17, 18, 19; don't let the time slip up on you and your preparations!"

Get complete details on all the above at The Cake Place, phone 792-5730, at 5423 Aberdeen. Inquiry is invited regarding exact times and arrangements, together with supplies involved.

The Cake Place is customer oriented in every respect, with everything arranged for customer and class convenience.

For any baking or cake decorating project ahead, why not come in during the announced sale, profit in dollars and cents and learn of the classes and the customer services that are making The Cake Place popular, respected and appreciated throughout the region.

'THEIR EXPERTISE — YOUR ASSURANCE' — Earlene Moore and Carol Laird, co-owners of The Cake Place, are shown against backdrop of some of their many awards and certificates of achievement. A year-end sale, together with posting of a new class schedule at the southwest Lubbock store, is outlined in the accompanying story.

MULTIPLE SERVICES PLUS CONVENIENCE TO PLEASE

Budget Rent A Car Airport Valet Parking Aids Traveler

"As a special holiday traveler, you may discover what a lot of people have known all year long . . . that free airport valet service (with parking at just $1 per day) is available at Budget Rent A Car of Lubbock! What a convenience! What a saving!

Yes, one can park his or her vehicle at Budget Rent A Car, 1701 N. Quirt, at cost of only $1 per day, when taking advantage of the free valet service provided right to the airport (with Budget Rent A Car servicing all flights, early and late!)

(Many also find it advantageous for the folks at Budget Rent A Car to service the vehicle while it is there.)

In extending the heartiest of Christmas Greetings, Eddy Yelton and staff at Budget Rent A Car also point out some advantages at the firm that could well contribute to a happier new year for all.

Budget Rent A Car of Lubbock, 1701 N. Quirt Ave., not only operates from all-new facilities said to be the most modern in the area, but it provides likely a much greater scope of services than some may have realized.

You don't have to be in need of rental units to be served at this complete Enco service center where there's even a big used car lot.

As for the rental part of the business, the owner emphasizes, that "we save you money," inviting comparison of the low rates afforded on current model GM and other fine cars of all sizes.

Valet parking is one of the much-appreciated services, with Budget Rent A Car enabling one to leave a personal car there, with a firm representative taking the driver and occupants right to the airport, affording the same service upon return trip! Thus there are no long walks from parking areas: the customer is taken right to the airport doorway.

A full-service station is provided, open six days a week.

Good Car Buys

Not only are autos rented, but a good truck selection is avilable in the rental department, too. Select units varying from cargo vans to 22-ft. units, some air conditioned, most with hydraulic lifts and some with automatic transmission.

(There is no drop charge for cars dropped in Amarillo.)

Budget Rent A Car of Lubbock (a budget Rent A Car System licensee) opened in September '78 in the all-new present quarters just 2 1/4 miles south of the airport at 1701 N. Quirt. The firm previously was at 604 No. Ave. Q for several years.

Whether the automatic car wash, the full-service station, the rental services, the car sales lot or any other feature of Budget Rent A Car is desired, customer service is assured.

"May we have the pleasure of your consideration and patronage at Budget Rent A Car of Lubbock? Phone 763-6471 during the holidays and throughout 1980."

McWhorter's Voices Greeting, Tells 'Pit Stop Farm Service'

"At Christmastime it is a special pleasure to reiterate our expression of appreciation . . . for your friendship, trade and confidence.

"We at McWhorter's, 1008 Texas Ave., and at our 213 N. Ave. U truck center, extend the most sincere of Christmas greetings, and we look forward to a new year especially rewarding for you. We hope you will pay us a visit, sharing in our year-around pride of the quality, pricing and the type establishment afforded by McWhorter's, Inc., a company synonymous with the sale of Goodyear tires in this region since back in 1940.

"We are glad that we can be a real aid to one's efforts to economize and to operate efficiently, holiday time or throughout the year. It is a pleasure to afford best performance at minimum cost. After all, the right tires and a brake and front end system that function properly contribute to savings and safety, year in and year out."

Farm Service

McWhorter's believes it can be of special service to the farm trade throughout the area.

"Pit Stop Farm Service" is a way of business at McWhorter's, with three trucks equipped for service in the field, and with a farm tire inventory believed one of the largest in a wide southwest region.

William Tanner said the company's truck center at 213 North Ave. U now receives truck customers from Colorado, New Mexico, Kansas and Oklahoma, as well as Texas.

Trend Outlined

Inflation has not been a significant deterrent to the tire industry, according to Tanner. During this period, motorists had rather fix up an existing automobile, along with a new set of tires, and "give it another run, than to trade for a new one," he said.

Virgil Rickel of McWhorter's indicated that the firm's supplier, Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., has recently made capital investments for expansion and new facilities.

The manufacturer currently has begun production at a new plant in Lawton, Okla. It has assembled the latest equipment available to the tire manufacturing industry.

The management of McWhorter's has developed an approach to its business which involves "giving the finest customer service that can be had in this area."

The company also maintains its slogan of years past, "If it's not right, we make it right."

McWhorter's has set business hours from 7:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday, and from 7:30 a.m. to around noon Saturdays.

CHILDRESS — OLD FRIEND BUT NEW LOCATION

Fred Childress Hardware, At New Address, Geared To Serve

"Once again it is our pleasure at the Fred Childress Hardware to extend Seasons Greetings, recounting blessings of seasons past and looking forward to new friendships, achievement and service."

"The year just closing has been hectic in some measure, what with our move into new, enlarged, modern quarters (but still in downtown Lubbock) at 10th & H, just a block north of the long-familiar 902 Main Street location that was home of hardware dating from back in 1917."

"We appreciate the patience of those of you who might have been inconvenienced during our move; and we equally appreciate the many expressions of enthusiasm from those who have visited us in our new quarters where we believe all is arranged to serve in the best manner we know. If you haven't been in to the new Fred Childress Hardware facility, may be have the pleasure of your visit at an early date?"

"Don't forget the address, at 10th & H."

It is no idle statement that hardware needs of the area have been met for decades by the Childress Hardware and its predecessors. As a bit of history, it is recounted that the old Cole-Myrick Hardware was established at 902 Main in 1917. Within a few years ownership passed to the Nislar interests, with Fred Childress in 1924 going to work for that ownership. Then in 1934, just a decade later, the firm was purchased by Childress and O.A. Terry. Then in 1959, Terry disposed of his interest.

The Fred Childress Hardware, Inc., is owned by Dick Jay and Leslie Duncan who have long served at this time-proven and time-honored establishment that prides in stocking needs of the day for every year, every season.

The former Main Street building has been razed to make way for other use of the property, and the new and beautiful building at 915 H marks even greater capacity for service.

Away from the "conjested area," more and easier parking is enabled, yet the business still is on a major traffic artery to conveniently serve city and area. The new building was specifically designed for Childress Hardware, and the open displays and other built-in conveniences certainly do not detract from the traditional Childress image of "we appreciate you as a customer and friend, and we're glad you came to see us."

Whether one's immediate concerns and needs involve winter preparation (even need of fireplace accessories, etc.), security via quality mortise locks, or even the unusual hardware items, likely still the first and only place necessary to check is Childress Hardware, now at 10th & H.

Childress for years has stocked the finest in security hardware, and possibly at no time has "security" been more in the minds of most people than today. And properly so. It would be foolish, then to consider security for the home of business without attention to the locks, such as dead bolts etc., that are among the products stocked at Childress.

Correct tools and equipment can be the big item in convenience and accomplishment in numerous home operations or by the professional builder throughout the year, and for these tools, one can rely with certainty upon the Fred Childress Hardware.

For those who appreciate good hand tools, there is a wide stock, including the respected name of Stanley, Crescent, Thorson, Nicholson, Bluegrass, Disston, Lufkin, Plumb and others long associated with quality and integrity in toolmaking.

On and on the list could go in enumerating the lawn and the building needs provided at Childress Hardware, but suffice it to say that "if it is in the hardware line, you can get it there."

Thousands of Items

One can purchase an old-fashioned sprinkling can or a lawn watering device that negotiates your yard, a well pulley or a lamp chimney, actually more than 10,000 items.

Childress Hardware continues as a popular place with carpenters and craftsmen, who make it headquarters for nails of all sizes, as well as a wide range of other fastenings including stove bolts, capscrews, carriage bolts, machine screws, metal screws, wood screws and brass screws, chain, rope — you name it, for home, industrial or farm use.

Pelican, Excelling In Finest Seafood, Steaks, Arranges New Year Eve Special

"Happy Holidays . . . and thereafter . . . from The Pelican, Lubbock's fine restaurant that brings you unsurpassed fresh seafood and prime rib steaks at prices you can live with!"

Deeply appreciative of the trade that has marked its service in Lubbock, The Pelican pledges finest food and service throughout the new year, at the same time making two key announcements:

(1) The Pelican, at 7202 Indiana, phone 793-2507, will be closed today (Christmas Eve) and on Christmas Day. It will be open, however, on New Year's Eve and New Year's Day, prompting the second announcement of note:

(2) A New Years Eve special Prime Rib for 2 has been arranged to include an 8 oz. prime rib steak for each, champagne, baked potato, salad, soup and bread, together with party favors and a truly festive atmosphere. Free champagne at midnight will be available for those present at that time during the extended New Years Eve hours.

(Regular Pelican hours are 5 p.m. until 10:30 p.m., Sundays through Thursdays, and 5 p.m. until 11 p.m., Fridays and Saturdays.)

Always Fresh Seafood

The Pelican probably is best known for its outstanding seafood, including oysters on the half shell, swordfish, lobsters, etc., with the seafood flown in fresh weekly.

"The best prime ribs in town" is another claim of the restaurant, welcoming the opportunity of proving this assertion.

And equally good news is that the prices are not prohibitive; far from it. In fact, the median meal price is calculated at $7.95 per person.

Reservations Welcomed

Private meetings can be served any weeknight.

Throughout The Pelican, decor is inviting and the meals and service are exquisite. A very casual atmosphere prevails, with casual dress "always right."

"May we at The Pelican serve you during the holidays and in the new year? We believe you'll like everything about this distinctive eating place just off Loop 289 at 7202 Indiana in Lubbock."

Opportunities For Rewarding Career Afforded By Cinderella

"Christmas Greetings from Mrs. Winnie Vaughn, owner-operator, and all the staff at Cinderella Beauty School in Lubbock."

"The fast-closing year has been very good to us," Mrs. Vaughn relates in counting blessings of the season, "and we know that it has been a better year, by virtue of training and preparation here, for students entering the world of new achievement and related rewards."

"Yes, preparation for a career 'the Pivot Point way' has opened a whole new world of opportunity for so many, and we are glad we had a part."

While home for the holidays, while making plans for the new 1980 year, wouldn't this be a good time to investigate and weigh the advantages of training at the Cinderella Beauty School? The new year could be most memorable for you, we want to help, at Cinderella Beauty School, exclusively franchised in Lubbock County for the Pivot Point International curriculum, the "scientific approach to hair design."

In Southwest Lubbock

To learn all the facts (curriculum, schedules, assistance programs and all), come by Cinderella, at 5401 Aberdeen, in the Plaza Shopping Center, or phone 792-4439 or 792-4430. Our classes start any day, Tuesdays through Saturdays.

The just-concluding year has been most auspicious for the Cinderella Beauty School. Students have excelled.

New grants were made available.

Even the physical size of the school was enlarged, with more laboratory facilities for high school vocational cosmetology students and more staff offices.

Remodeling and additional teaching capacity were the direct result of "the need to accommodate the 50% increase in our regular student enrollment, not counting the vocational students."

Mrs. Vaughn, a member of the accrediting Committee of the national Cosmetology Accrediting Commission, Washington, D.C., has just returned from a Pivot Point International Symposium in Chicago, where representatives from 28 foreign countries and from all 50 states gathered to learn the latest hair styles and Pivot Point techniques.

If you witness Pivot Point and what it can do for you, you may decide that you, too, want to be a part of the Pivot Point International, and you can train right here, at Cinderella in Lubbock, as you learn the "Scientific Approach to Hair Design," a methodology which is based on proven principles of art design.

MRS. WINNIE VAUGHN

"Further, the Pivot Point curriculum will not make you an ordinary hairdresser, but a Pivot Point Hair Designer. This means you will learn cutting principles that are directly related to sculpturing as you achieve 14 classic hair designs: up-elevation cuts, down-elevation cuts, plus any new developments in cutting that arise, such as in our Pivot Point Symposiums. Do come in and talk with me about the very best and how you can be a part of it," Mrs. Vaughn states.

Enviable Record

Cinderella Beauty School, a Redkin approved school, as well as Pivot Point franchised, opened new and modern for the public in December, 1976, and in the past three years has seen every graduating student pass the Texas Cosmetology Commission Examination without a failure.

Mrs. Vaughn, with over 40 years of Cosmetology experience, takes each student under her wing, and with her staff, provides outstanding training. Certainly, Cinderella's record of scholastic achievement and manipulative vocational skills have attributed to this record of never having a failure at State Board, and this record has not been equalled in the Lubbock area by any other source of Cosmetology graduates, Mrs. Vaughn emphasizes.

Customer Services

"We at Cinderella are proud of our students; we welcome patrons, both men and women; and we offer complete Cosmetology services that are most reasonably priced. As a school, we teach a profession which offers pride, prestige, and personal fulfillment in knowing that you are making others attractive and happy. A trained and dedicated Cosmetologist often exceeds college graduates in earning power and financial independence. Certainly age is no barrier and does not present the handicap experienced by many other professionals who must 'retire' in a youth-oriented trade or profession while still physically and mentally capable of performance.

Assistance Programs

"If you would like to enroll, but are in need of financial assistance, you may be eligible to apply for the Federal Basic Education Opportunity Grants (BEOG), in addition to other Federal and State assistance programs available to students. We are approved for the BEOG, a grant program, and if you qualify, the grant you receive does not have to be paid back," reports Mrs. Vaughn, adding that "We have all the necessary information and will be happy to assist you in the application procedure."

"Cinderella Beauty School also offers educational benefits and assistance for the Texas Education Agency (TEA) approved Cosmetology Course, as well as the Instructor Course, which can be made available to qualified veterans under Veterans Administration (VA) training, to those eligible for Texas Rehabilitation Commission and Social Security benefits, to high school students enrolled in their Vocational programs, and other assistance as it becomes available," states Mrs. Vaughn.

Lellem Welch Firm Outlines Functions, Extends Christmas, New Year Greeting

Bob, Jim, Lou, Richard and Glen at Lellem Welch, Inc. wish to take this opportunity to wish all our friends and customers a very Merry Christmas and a prosperous New Year. We wish also to thank you for your past patronage in the 1970's.

We hope to be able to serve you in the '80's with good service and fine products from our sales store at 1401 Ave. J, as well as from Welch Plumbing, our plumbing service company at 1411 Ave. J.

'Known' Brands

We will continue into the 1980's with such well-known name-brand products as Eljer, Arctic Circle, Payne, Rheem, State, Bradly, Delta, Price, Phister, Delex, Auto Flow, R-P, Cool Pad, Bruner water softeners and April Air humidifiers."

For the do-it-yourselfer, one can find the kind of help you need at Lellem Welch — from fixing a leaky faucet to plumbing an entire house. There is a master plumber on the sales floor to help you with your selections and your problems.

Special Benefit

We know that Santa will bring disposals, dishwashers, faucets and shower massagers that won't hook up with what you have. But don't let that worry you, we have the know-how and the items you will need to go from Christmas tree to daily use, and you really can do it yourself!"

Now with all the Christmas cheer and Happy New Year celebrations, don't forget to protect those water lines that will freeze, and don't forget to check those heating filters, remember those dirty filters use extra energy.

We at Lellem Welch have a large stock of wall furnaces and wall heaters, floor furnaces and Payne forced air furnaces for both heating and air conditioning.

So — with plumbing, heating or even cooling problems, be they large or small, give us a call.

Leaseway-Southwest, Serving Region, Providing Units For Modern Demands

"It is a distinct pleasure each year at this time not only to extend Christmas Greetings, but to reminisce regarding friendships and associations of the year past. At the same time we at Leaseway-Southwest, Inc., look forward to ever-increasing service to the area, pledging our utmost efforts in 1980 and seasons to come."

"We hope the new year brings to each of you the fulfillment of your desires, is our sincere wish."

Leaseway-Southwest, at 409 E. 50th St., in Lubbock, offers a complete transportation service to busy companies that simply cannot devote the time, space or money required to own and maintain a fleet of vehicles or in some instances, just one or two units. This progressive leasing firm provides transportation vehicles to serve any size or type business.

Full Service

"Corporations as well as small operators find that full-service transportation package is more efficient from every standpoint."

"Full service" as provided by Leaseway-Southwest Transportation Corp., is exactly what the name implies. The firm provides the maintenance and inspection and even supplies the fuel and pays the taxes on the vehicle."

Personnel there are most adept, serving in a professional but considerate and friendly manner to meet the particular transportation needs of every customer.

"We'd like to count you, too, among our customers."

Leaseway-Southwest's understanding of the short-term, peak and long-term needs of area industry and business is well recognized, contributing to its own growth, too.

Half-a-hundred Lubbock businesses (and even more) depend on Leaseway-Southwest for transportation vehicle needs.

There must be a very good reason.

In Tune With Times

Keeping abreast with the needs of the area is one of the convincing reasons Leaseway-South continually adds new equipment for rental and for full-time customers of this service-oriented firm.

"Utilization of leased vehicles is the growing trend in transportation management," it is emphasized by Leaseway-Southwest management.

"May we give full details and work with you, too, in 1980. We believe we can be of service ... to your profit and satisfaction."

Jiffy Oil Change & Lubrication Proves Worth In Convenience

"The warmest of Christmas greetings and the best wishes for a new year" is the sincere message from Larry Ogle, Conley Faulkenberry, Mark Lingle and Steve Paschall, the folks serving at Jiffy Oil Change & Lubrication, 82nd & University Avenue.

A lot of people discovered this past year how Jiffy Oil Change & Lubrication "led the field" as a revelation in convenience, service and genuine appreciation of the growing trade.

After all, in less than 10 minutes the capable staff will (1) install up to 5 quarts of Quaker State 30HD or Havoline 30HD, (2) install new Quaker State oil filter, (3) lubricate chassis, (4) check wiper blades, and (5) check all fluid levels and for only $13.95. For only $1 more, QS 10-40 or Havoline 10-40 can be substituted.

Jiffy is open from 8 a.m. until 6 p.m., Mondays through Fridays, and until 5 p.m. Saturdays, closed Sundays.

(Jiffy will be open today, Christmas Eve, until noon, closed on both Christmas and New Years days.)

Locally Owned

Also available and conveniently situated adjacent is Texaco self service gas, from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m., seven days a week.

Expressions of "how convenient", "the cost is so reasonable", and "it is so neat and efficient that my wife even looks forward to taking her car to Jiffy" attest to the acceptance and appreciation of this modern business.

Jiffy Oil Change & Lubrication is owned by longtime Lubbock resident and auto service specialist Steve Paschall who has 13 years experience in related businesses, including ownership.

Manager of Jiffy Oil Change & Lubrication is Larry Ogle who formerly for several years was with a Lubbock auto dealership as a mechanic.

Larry invites old friends and new customers alike to depend upon the modern but friendly Jiffy Oil Change & Lubrication, 82nd & University, phone 745-6190.

Featured at the facility are Quaker State and Texaco Havoline motor oils, Quaker State oil and air filters, Quaker State lubricants and other major brand oils.

Charge cards accepted include Texaco, Visa and Master Charge.

Soviet Cooperation Seen In U.N. Vote

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The administration said Sunday it expects the Soviet Union to withhold its veto power and support the U.S. effort to impose U.N. trade sanctions against Iran.

A State Department spokesman said, although it has no specific assurances from the Russians, the administration expects Soviet backing when the U.N. Security Council meets to decide on the sanctions.

"They understand the importance we attach to this," said spokesman David Passage.

"We are confident they understand the implications for U.S.-Soviet relations should they be seen to be the cause of the U.N. not taking action, if it does not take action in this matter."

He added: "We have every reason to believe we will receive their support."

Passage did not explain why U.S. officials held such confidence, but it was known that Secretary of State Cyrus Vance discussed the economic sanctions two weeks ago with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin in Washington.

Soviets Put On Notice

It also was known that both Vance and Watson put the Soviets on notice, in the strongest diplomatic terms, that a Security Council veto would be seen as an unfriendly action.

Passage said the Russians understand the proposal for sanctions is probably the most important matter ever brought before the Security Council by the United States.

"We are confident there won't be a veto," he said. "They know full well what it means to us."

Decision Depends On Talks

Official sources said Vance, who is expected to head the U.S. delegation at the Security Council session, may fly to New York at the end of the week.

But the sources said the decision will depend on meetings that Donald McHenry, America's U.N. ambassador, is holding with officials of the United Nations and Security Council members.

President Carter said Friday he would ask the world organization to impose the sanctions in response to Iran's holding of 50 American hostages at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran.

The decision was made after U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim struck out in his latest round of negotiations with Iranian authorities.

Trade sanctions would be aimed at producing not only discomfort but isolation and international censure of Iran. The United States, however, does not expect Iran to be brought to its knees in a few months.

Nine of the council's 15 members must approve the action — a development considered unlikely by U.N. observers. In addition, any of the five permanent members, including Russia and China, can veto the sanctions.

The Soviets supported the U.N. Security Council resolution calling for release of the hostages and the World Court ruling that they must be freed.

Ex-CIA Agent Named In Gun-Running Case

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Former CIA agent and a suspected PLO arms supplier were charged Sunday with plotting to sell $2 million worth of automatic weapons to undercover police posing as Caribbean revolutionaries.

Manhattan District Atttorney Robert Morgenthau identified the two as Frank Terpil, 40, a discharged CIA agent who allegedly supplied weapons to deposed Uganda dictator Idi Amin, and George Korkala, 38, president of a Nutley, N.J., Surveillance-equipment firm.

The two, arrested at the New York Hilton Hotel, were charged Sunday with possession of explosives and weapons in violation of a state law and conspiring to sell 10,000 automatic weapons to the undercover officers. The charges carry maximum penalties of 25 years in jail for both men.

A third man, described as a "self-proclaimed assassin for hire," was being held as a material witness.

Terpil, who lives in McLean, Va., and Korkala, were arrested in a suite at the hotel after the undercover detectives gave them a $56,000 deposit toward the $2 million price of the weapons.

The 10,000 weapons, mostly English-made Stent guns and U.S.-made Ingram machine guns, were stored at an undisclosed location in England, Morgenthau said some had been used in warfare, possibly in the Mideast.

Terpil, who owns a Washington-based company called Oceanic International, with offices in Panama and Paris, was "unfavorably discharged" from the CIA in 1971, Morgenthau said.

He is known to have supplied arms to Libya and Uganda and had been part of a $3.2 million deal to train and supply military and surveillance equipment to Amin's troops, the prosecutor said.

Terpil also owns "two safe houses" in London, which have been used to "conceal fugitives," Morgenthau said.

Korkala owns an electronic equipment supply company in Nutley, Amstech International, and is known to have supplied equipment to Libya and Lebanon, Morgenthau said.

He is believed to have provided arms to the Palestine Liberation Organization, Morgenthau said, and "he claimed to have trained a cadre of 11 men who are willing and able to go anywhere for hire."

strips in western Cambodia capable of handling large helicopter gunships. Several Soviet-built MiG21 fighters have been spotted flying in and out of Cambodia's Siem Reap airport.

The United States believes there is a high risk of a Thai-Vietnamese conflict should the Vietnamese launch a pincer movement from the north and south to rid Cambodia of pockets of Khmer Rouge and right-wing Khmer Serei guerrillas. As one result, the Americans have speeded up arms deliveries to Thailand's 160,000 man army.

The Cambodian guerrilla radio, monitored in Bangkok, did not mention the reshuffle that put Khieu Samphan in the premier's seat of the Khmer Rouge. Intelligence reports said the shakeup would be announced Dec. 27.

China, which backs the Khmer Rouge, officially reported Sunday the "reshuffle" but made no mention of Pol Pot's fate. The report came in an official Xinhua news agency dispatch, datelined Bangkok and quoting a Thai national broadcast.

International relief workers at the sprawling Khao I Dang camp where some 80,000 Cambodian refugees are housed, said they had drawn up emergency evacuation plans in case of a Vietnamese attack.

Airliner Crash Kills 39 Turks Near Ankara

ANKARA, Turkey (UPI) — A Twin-engine Turkish airliner crashed into a hill in heavy fog and burned two minutes before its scheduled landing in Ankara Sunday, killing 39 of the 43 people aboard the domestic flight.

A Turkish Airways spokesman said the F-28 jetliner was carrying 39 passengers and four crew members. All were Turks.

The four survivors, including one stewardess, were injured and three were hospitalized, he said.

The plane was en route to Ankara from Samsun, in northeast Turkey. It crashed into a small hill near the village of CUCUK Koy, 20 miles from Ankara's Esenboga Airport, the spokesman said.

Villagers helped pull the survivors from the burning wreckage, which was located by Turkish military vehicles dispatched by the airport control tower when contact with the plane was lost.

The stewardess said the plane hit the hill about two minutes prior to the scheduled landing.

Nilay Ercan said she had just announced the landing at Ankara airport and sat down in a seat at the front of the plane when it crashed.

"After that, I don't remember anything," Miss Ercan said. "When I came around, I was in the middle of a field approximately 20 meters (yards) away from the burning plane. I wanted to get up but couldn't. Later some men came to my rescue."

Nazif Hosif, who escaped from the crash with minor injuries, said later in the hospital that he, too, was seated in the front of the plane and he had seen through the clouds that the plane was heading toward a small hill.

"As soon as we hit the ground, I got up in a panic and ran away from the plane," he said.

No Injuries Reported In Ferry Grounding

GOTHENBURG, Sweden (UPI) — The 450 passengers aboard a Swedish ferry boat bound for England that was forced aground just outside the harbor by high winds returned safely to Gothenburg Sunday.

The Tor Scandanavia was en route to Felixstowe, England Saturday when 27 mph winds forced it aground on the Swedish island of Botto, seven miles southwest of Gothenburg.

Two Coast Guard tugs pulled the ship off the rocks and helped it return safely to port, where the holiday travelers remained on board awaiting transfer to a second ferry.

The Coast Guard said there were no injuries to the passengers and crew — none of whom could be immediately identified by nationality — and no damage to any of the cars or buses aboard.

Plane Crash Kills Five

LANCASTER, Calif. (UPI) — Five persons — including a 10-month-old baby — were found dead Sunday in the wreckage of a light plane that crashed in stormy weather in mountains north of Los Angeles.

The Civil Air Patrol and the Air Force said the single-engine Cessna carrying three off-duty Air Force officers from Williams Air Force Base near Phoenix went down late Friday night when the pilot was advised to change his course to avoid a thunderstorm.

The dead were identified as: Capt. William Martin, 26, the pilot; his wife, Krista, 25; and their 10-month-old daughter, Sarah; and 1st Lts. John Grapper and Ronald Sharplass, both in their 20s.

Civil Air Patrol spokesman Maj. Fred Beelby said the plane made its last radio contact late Friday afternoon, was advised of a thunderstorm in the Bakersfield area, and was told to fly west to avoid the storm.

The Civil Air Patrol began its search early Friday night with two aircraft attempting to pick up radio signals from the Cessna's emergency transmitter.

Cinema Kissing Ban Proposed

MANILA, Philippines (UPI) — An official in a southern Philippine city has proposed a ban on kissing and hugging in cinemas, a report said Sunday.

The Bulletin Today newspaper said the law, submitted by council member Abeto Salcedo to the legislative body of Cagayan de Oro, 459 miles south of Manila, would also prohibit women from wearing short pants in movie theaters.

Salcedo said he proposed the law because kissing and hugging "distracts attention" and creates a "scandalous atmosphere" among moviegoers.

Park Assassination Probe Nets General

SEOUL, South Korea (UPI) — Gen. Chung Seung-hwa, former army chief of staff and martial law commander, will be prosecuted for his part in the assassination of President Park Chung-hee, the Defense Ministry said Monday.

"Chung Seung-hwa will be prosecuted for assisting Kim Jae-kyu's attempted insurrection," a spokesman said. "Proper measures will be taken against the other four generals according to their crimes. They were followers of Chung."

The spokesman told a news conference that a lieutenant general and three major generals were also arrested following the bloody military shakeup Dec. 12 when the former army chief was taken into custody.

The spokesman said three soldiers were killed and 20 others wounded in a series of clashes late that night.

The arrests were the latest developments in the Oct. 26 assassination of Park, gunned down by Kim Jae-kyu, a retired army lieutenant general and former head of the Korean Central Intelligence Agency.

Kim, Park's chief secretary, Kim Kae-won, and five other KCIA men were sentenced to death last Thursday for killing Park and five presidential bodyguards. Another KCIA man drew three years in prison for destroying evidence.

Those arrested with Chung include Gen. Lee Kun-yung, commander of the 3rd Army; Maj. Gen. Mun Hong-ku, director of the chairman of the joint chiefs of staff office; Maj. Gen. Chung Byung-ju, commander of the Special Forces; and Maj. Gen. Chang Tae-wan, commander of the Capital Garrison Command.

Chung was in an office nearby the building where Park was assassinated during a KCIA dinner party. After the shooting, Chung and Kim drove together to army headquarters.

During the investigation, officials learned that Chung received a large sum of money from Kim Jae-kyu in early October and had frequent contacts with Kim's supporters, including the generals who were arrested.

The investigation team withheld questioning of Chung until after the Dec. 6 presidential elections in order to avoid possible interference from his supporters, the spokesman said.

He said investigators had hoped Chung would resign voluntarily.

The spokesman said Chung aided Kim Jae-kyu by not taking such proper measures as alerting the presidential security forces of Park's death and ordering them to the scene of the assassination.

He also freed an army lieutenant general who was arrested for not mobilizing his troops after the shooting.

The spokesman said two of the arrested supporters of Chung tried to mobilize troops and tanks following Chung's arrest, denouncing it as a "kidnapping."

"If the developments were allowed to continue, it could have passed the stage of simple resistance to a situation where national peace and order are threatened, and thus martial law forces had to call in reinforcements and arrest those involved," the spokesman said.

China's Population Exceeds Forecast

PEKING (UPI) — China's millions again produced too many babies in 1979, the Communist Party newspaper Renmin Ribao (People's Daily) said Sunday.

Mrs. Chen Muha, vice premier in charge of family planning, was quoted as saying the strategy for the future must shift to persuading married couples in China to stop at one baby.

Renmin Ribao said Mrs. Chen made the statement at a national meeting on family planning held in Chengdu city in China's western Sichuan province Dec. 12-20.

"Population growth this year was higher than the one percent planned by the government," Mrs. Chen said. "There has not been a completion of the national plan in regard to population."

She also said that the norm of one child for each couple "must be made the central point in family planning work."

The Communist Party paper's report of the conference gave no estimate of China's present population, and did not say how many babies were born this year.

The U.S. government Census Bureau in May estimated the population of China already has crossed the 1 billion mark. The Chinese government earlier this year gave a figure of 945 million, including 17 million living outside the Peking government's control on Taiwan.

GREETINGS FOR HOSTAGES — Alex Paen, radio reporter of KMPC, Los Angeles, had to hire a truck Sunday to pick up the Christmas greetings sent to the American hostages from the folks in Chicago. There were 64 crates to deliver, a massive effort organized by the Chicago Sun-Times, adding up to hundreds of thousands of Christmas cards. Clergymen Begin Trip To Iran

Howard, 33, is a black Baptist minister born in Americus, Ga., with a background of civil rights work "on a national and an international level," a spokesman said.

Coffin, 55, senior minister of New York's Riverside Church, is best known as an antiVietnam War activist during his tenure as chaplain at Yale University in the '70s. He also served as a civil rights "freedom rider" in Alabama in the '60s.

Gumbleton, 49, also has a reputation as an outspoken antiwar activist who as early as the mid-1960s began speaking out publicly against the U.S. involvement in Vietnam, calling it "gravely immoral." He counseled conscientious objectors and said he, too, would have been a conscientious objector if he were eligible for the draft.

An uninvited six-member delegation including clergymen and some experts on Islam left for Iran Saturday with the express purpose of trying to break the deadlock over the hostages' release.

Carter Leads Kennedy In Latest Poll

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Time magazine poll found a majority of those surveyed now support President Carter for renomination and re-election over all his opponents, both Democrats and Republicans, mostly because of his handling of the Iran crisis.

The poll, conducted by Yankelovitch, Sells and White Inc. by telephone between Dec. 10 and Dec. 12 among 1,041 voters, shows Carter leads Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., among Democrats by 53 to 33 percent.

The poll also found Carter leading California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. by 71 to 16 percent.

Time said the respondents looked favorably on Carter's handling of the continuing Iran crisis, which was deemed "just right," in preferring the president to all his opponents.

At the same time, they also actively faulted Kennedy for his waffling on Chappaquiddick and other issues and his "misstep" of denouncing the deposed shah while Americans were being held in Tehran.

Among Republicans, Carter leads former California Gov. Ronald Reagan by 50 to 36 percent, former Texas Gov. John Connally by 53 to 23 percent and Tennessee Sen. Howard Baker by 52 to 22 percent, the poll said.

A similar poll by the Los Angeles Times found Reagan is at least a 3-1 favorite to win the GOP nomination.

Rattlenakes Give Lives, Skins For Man's Hobby

Unlike its relative, the diamondback rattler, the prairie variety has irregular spots for more variety in designing.

The diamondback doesn't come as far north as the DeLoach farm, but has been seen a short distance south at Bull Lake where it apparently came from caprock areas.

Whatever the variety of rattler, he said, the "snake is as scared of you as you are of it and its fangs are its only protection."

The normal reaction to snakes is one big factor in making his hobby a rare one. He takes his prey alive to protect the skin and the meat for use. Then, he "puts them to sleep" to keep the skin whole and the steaks intact.

With the response of friends to the snakeskin creations, DeLoach figures he will be wielding his "snake getter" the 10-foot pole, more often when the snakes wake up next spring.

Last Of Movie Moguls Dies

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — Darryl F. Zanuck, co-founder of 20th Century-Fox and last of the famed movie moguls who ruled Hollywood during its heyday, has died at the age of 77, two months after he suffered a heart attack.

The film pioneer who helped create such stars as Bette Davis and Tyrone Power died at Desert Hospital where he had been treated since a heart attack on Oct. 29. A spokesman for the hospital said death was attributed to a stroke and complications from pneumonia.

Services will be held Thursday at Westwood United Methodist Curch in Westwood, according to 20th Century-Fox spokesman Jet Fore. The time will be announced later.

Zanuck's wife, Virginia, and their children, Darrylin Pineda, Susanne Savineau and Richard, a film producer, were with him when he died. He also leaves 14 grandchildren.

Zanuck was ousted as chief executive of 20th Century-Fox in 1970 and moved to Palm Springs the next year, living in quiet retirement.

Born Sept. 5, 1902, in Wahoo, Neb., Zanuck moved to Los Angeles with his mother when he was 6 years old and began his movie career two years later, donning the costume and wig of an Indian girl and appearing before cameras for $1 a day.

DARRYL F. ZANUCK
Movie Mogul Dies

But his father, a hotel operator, objected and young Zanuck returned to Nebraska where he continued school until World War I broke out and he enlisted in the infantry, eventually serving in France where he began to write.

Following the war and a brief attempt at a writer's career in New York City, Zanuck moved to Los Angeles where he rewrote an unproduced play and sold it to Universal Studios for $525.

It was his first movie sale and for several years he earned his living turning out stories for silent films, getting as many as 19 screen writing credits in one year. He also wrote scenarios for Rin-Tin-tin who he called "the most brilliant bloody animal that ever lived."

But his strong forte was ideas and in 1927 he was hired as executive producer of Warner Bros. where he produced the first feature-length musical in sound, "The Jazz Singer," which was followed by "The Singing Fool."

With Joseph M. Schenck, then head of United Artists, Zanuck formed 20th Century Pictures in 1933 and in 1935 20th Century combined with the giant Fox Film Corp. to form 20th Century Fox. Profits leaped from $3.5 million the first year to $16 million the second.

He made mistakes, firing among others Marilyn Monroe, Clark Gable and Rita Hayworth, and he passed up the chance to sign Elizabeth Taylor, but he discovered Miss Davis, Power, Edward G. Robinson, James Cagney and many others and turned out such hits as "A Message to Garcia," "Tobacco Road," "Winged Victory," "The Razor's Edge," "Twelve O'Clock High" and "The Man in the Gray Flannel Suit."

City Man Treated For Stab Wound

A Lubbock man was treated for a minor stab wound early Saturday morning after he was reportedly attacked in the 1800-block of East Broadway, according to police reports.

Lupe Mathis Ramos, 24, of 220 David Ave., was treated for the wound and dismissed from Health Sciences Center Hospital.

Ramos told police he was walking along the sidewalk outside a nightclub on Broadway when one or more assailants attacked him. He did not see who was involved in the incident, reports indicate.

In other activity, a city man was in serious condition Sunday night at West Texas Hospital as the result of a shooting incident late Friday night in an East Lubbock nightclub.

Claude Louis Turner, 26, of 1716 E. Cornell St., was hospitalized following the incident, in which another man allegedly shot him in the stomach during an argument at the club, according to Lubbock County Sheriff's deputies.

A 23-year-old Lubbock man was jailed on suspicion of attempted murder in connection with the incident. The man remained in jail Sunday night.

After the incident, Turner was taken by a witness to a truck stop on the Idalou Highway, where the witness telephoned the sheriff's office for assistance. A .22-caliber rifle was recovered at the club.

Lubbock police officer L.W. Casey reported Saturday that an unknown assailant fired a shot at his squad car as he was driving in the 1000-block of East 28th Street.

The officer was driving west along the street shortly before 10 p.m. Saturday when he and an unidentified passenger heard a gunshot nearby. The report indicates Casey felt the shock wave from the blast, however the car was not hit.

A diamond ring valued at $6,000 was taken from the home of Christopher Alan Smith of 4608-B 55th Drive between 10 and 11:50 p.m. Saturday, police said.

Several Power tools, valued at $2,500, were taken from A-1 Truck and Body Shop, 1321 Harvard Ave., between 6 p.m. Friday and 12:30 p.m. Sunday.

C.H. Rampy of 2517 52nd St. told police burglars entered his home between 10 a.m. and 6:30 p.m. Saturday and took several items. Watches, jewelry and a tape recorder, valued at $1,100, were among items stolen police said.

Furniture valued at $550 was taken from the home of Glen Best, 2005 15th St., between 2 p.m. Thursday and 3:30 p.m. Saturday, police said.

J.W. Daniels of Beaumont told police a diamond ring, a small television set, credit cards and other items were stolen from his car between 2:20 a.m. and 7:20 a.m. Sunday. The car was parked at 3205 Teak Ave. at the time of the theft, police said. The total value of the items taken, including a broken rear window, was estimated at $960.

A white 1977 Chverolet Malibu belonging to Ray Morta of 2206 3rd St. was stolen from the intersection of FM 2641 and Quirt Avenue. According to police, the theft occurred between 6 and 10 a.m. Sunday.

Kennedy Out To Change 'Screamer' Image Created By Media

WASHINGTON (UPI) — As Edward Kennedy traveled the nation over the last few weeks seeking support for his challenge to President Carter, the senator's performance on the stump often was described as uneven.

There was a contrast between the foot-stomping, fist-swinging orator on view in the past and the more restrained speaker who has begun appearing more often as the campaign heads into the election year.

The senator and his advisers say the alteration is no mistake. They feel Kennedy's impact will be diluted if he is perceived as a "screamer" all the time.

In an interview Saturday aboard his Washington-bound campaign plane, Kennedy, looking somewhat fatigued after two days of non-stop campaigning in New Hampshire, elaborated on the decision to address issues in a less theatrical manner.

"When you're talking about substantive issues of great importance or significance to the constituency you're addressing, you don't expect footstompers," Kennedy said as he puffed on a cigar.

Aides cited a speech he delivered recently to the Council on Foreign Relations in Chicago. It was more a reading than an address, but it presented Kennedy to television viewers as an almost scholarly observer of foreign affairs.

Privately, aides to the Massachusetts Democrat argue that the bombast of the past is not well received by television viewers. The senator has adopted a style he feels is more favorably conveyed by the camera.

Kennedy, in some respects has been victimized by radio and television, which often select the most electrifying moments of otherwise dull performances to transmit to their audiences. The image thus projected is something of a circus ringmaster.

When the "ringmaster" performance is not on tap, reporters often write that Kennedy appeared listless or wooden.

"My own sense is that there are many matters of great substance and importance and of a serious nature which don't lend themselves to campaign rhetoric or footstomping performances," Kennedy said.

During the interview, the Democrat also made these points:

•He does not believe unfavorable accounts of his early campaign efforts will determine the outcome of primary elections next year. "I don't quite frankly think that their (reporters') assessment of the campaign in November is going to decide what the outcomes will be in February or March," Kennedy said.

•He thinks "whoever the Democratic nominee is going to be will be successful" in the general election.

•He acknowledges the crisis in Iran has helped the president's political standing. "If the Iranian situation is unresolved, then that works to the advantage of the incumbent," Kennedy said. "If the Iranian situation is resolved, I think we can get back to the debate on the economic issues."

A recent stop at the Payne Memorial African Methodist Episcopal church in Waterloo, Iowa, featured a speech he delivered in the cadence of a black Baptist minister.

Aides said Walter Fauntroy, the District of Columbia's congressional delegate, had advised him to try that approach before black church audiences.

"I intend to address (audiences) in a way which I think can best elaborate the issue and present my views on it," Kennedy concluded.

New Rules For Picking Convention Delegates May Hurt Carter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Democrats' new rules for selecting delegates to nominate the party's 1980 presidential candidate may hurt President Carter, even though his people control the committee that wrote the regulations.

The Democratic National Committee has been able to get its own way with a few exceptions. It lost some battles over holding primaries and precinct caucuses before the March 11 starting date the committee wanted for such activity.

The new rules are the work of party reformers from the George McGovern generation of Democrats who began the process after the 1968 convention. Now Carter supporters run the DNC, but their concept of fairness has not greatly differed from that of the earlier reformers.

Since 1968, the number of primaries has increased dramatically and primaries in which the first-place finishers take all the delegates have been virtually eliminated, as have Democratic primaries that allow Rpublicans to vote.

The increase in primaries — There were 12 in 1968, 31 in 1976 and 35 in 1980 — further reduces the number of states in which delegates are picked in conventions where political machines favorable to incumbents once dominated the selection.

The abolition of "open" or "crossover" primaries — where Republicans could vote in the Democratic battle — also would appear to hurt Carter in his battle with Sen. Edward Kennedy and California Gov. Edmund Brown Jr. for the presidential nomination.

In 1976, Carter came from nowhere to win the nomination, in part because he was able to mobilize large numbers of voters who had never taken a strong interest in politics before.

In the fall election, Carter did not do as well among traditional Democratic voters — especially Roman Catholics and Jews — as have other Democratic candidates in the past.

But he won greater numbers of voters who traditionally are independent or Republican. These people cannot vote in Democratic primaries unless they switch their party registration.

The polls say Carter has continued to do poorly among Catholics and Jews. Additionally, blacks — who were a significant part of his constituency — are thought in large numbers to be moving toward Kennedy because of his liberal voting record.

Five states, including powerful Michigan and Wisconsin where Carter won by razor thin margins in 1976, had open primaries in 1976.

None are allowed to have them in 1980, although Wisconsin Democrats are asking the courts to intervene. In 1976, 246 of the 3,008 delegates were picked in open primaries. In 1980 none will be.

The absence of winner-take-all primaries, except in Illinois and West Virginia where such a formula is allowed on the district basis, also should be a minus for Carter because such procedures tend to favor the local political leadership, which usually leans toward incumbents.

FAMILY PAYMENT DELAYED

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The Richard Schilling family has been given six months longer to pay $1.2 million it promised to donate to a trust fund for the victims of the May 1977 fire at the Beverly Hills Supper Club, which the family owned. Approval of the extension was granted Friday, shortly before the court-ordered deadline. The Schilling family, which owned the club where 165 people were killed in the blaze, had agreed to pay $3 million.

Young Boy's Heart 'Wanted To Live'

CHIPPEWA FALLS, Wis. (UPI) — An 11-year-old boy doctors had presumed dead will be home for Christmas.

Darven Miller broke through the ice of Duncan Creek Dec. 13. The Chippewa Falls Fire Department recovered his body an hour later. He had been under water for 30 minutes.

His lungs full of water, Miller was rushed to St. Joseph's Hospital in Chippewa Falls. His pupils were dilated. He was not breathing. His heartbeat was very low and erratic. His body temperature was 87 degrees and fell to 82.

"When he came in, he was, by clinical evaluation, dead," Dr. Bruno Rahn said. He said Miller was given shots of adrenalin and an electric shock to revive his heart, but he was very cold. His body remained a deep blue color.

"I told the staff, if there's any chance to do some good, we're going to have to get some heat back into his body," Rahn said.

The staff wrapped the boy's body in a heating wrap that circulated water heated to 105 degrees around his body, gave him more injections and two more jolts of electricity.

The monitor showed an erratic bleep, and one hour and 10 minutes after Miller had been brought to the hospital, his cardiopulmonary system began working.

"First, when he starts to get a heartbeat back, you say, 'Oh my God, he's been dead 20 minutes. What if he survives?'" Rahn said. "You can't play God. Here's a heart that wants to live, so you support it."

Then the boy's pupils responded to light, Rahn said.

"We had another branch put back on the tree, so you're now supporting something of a nervous system, you're now supporting circulation, too, so again you can't quit," Rahn said.

"We got nothing then except a little bleep as we kept working," he said. "And I think it was the Godsend that kept us from facing the ultimate decision: Are we saving a vegetable or what are we doing?"

The boy was reported in stable condition. He has a normal diet and his mental condition was reported good.

His hands remained swollen and unable to grasp objects, but his personal physician, Dr. Romeo Sangalang, said he would regain use of the hands.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's projection for a record-high $32 billion in farm exports in 1979 means a 17 percent increase in value over last year's foreign farm trade.

Ordinance Prohibits Using Fake Dress Codes At Clubs

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas consumer affairs department is visiting discotheques this weekend to enforce a new ordinance prohibiting the clubs from using fake dress codes to keep out minorities.

The revisions in the public accommodations law were approved by the City Council Wednesday. The panel voted unanimously to keep discos from enforcing dress codes unless they are posted in clear view at the entrance.

A department spokeswoman said investigators probably would make spot checks to see if dress codes were posted.

Oilers Survive Key Injuries, Broncos

But they forgot to consult the Oilers' defense.

"We probably had the most courageous group of young men on the field that I've ever seen assembled," Houston Coach Bum Phillips said after the Oilers had overcome their injuries with a ferocious second-half defensive effort to defeat the Broncos 13-7 Sunday in their National Football League playoff.

"They just plain would not take no for an answer," Phillips said. "I was prouder of that group for that performance than any that I've ever had."

Houston defensive end Elvin Bethea said the Oilers, who pressured quarterback Craig Morton all day, just "did what we had to do when we had to do it.

"We knew if we could get to Morton he would be very ineffective. He had us off balance early by calling quick counts. We adjusted to that but they just kept doing the same ol' stuff.

"Our 'proud' did it again," Bethea added. "When our offense slowed down the defense came up with the plays we had to have."

Middle guard Curley Culp, who had two quarterback sacks in the crucial fourth quarter, said: "Morton's not as mobile as, say, a Terry Bradshaw and that helped us. One side can't carry the other but we rallied when we had to."

Disappointed Denver Coach Red Miller said he didn't think the Oilers could win without Campbell and Pastorini. "But we just didn't score the points when we needed them," Miller said. "But we have no alibis, no excuses. You can't score seven points and win a lot of games."

The victory propels Houston, 11-5 and runnerup to American Conference Central Division champion Pittsburgh, into the AFC semifinal next Saturday in San Diego. On Sunday the Steelers host Miami in the other conference semifinal.

Campbell, the NFL rushing champion with 1,697 yards this year, suffered a pulled groin muscle on a 3-yard touchdown run with 46 seconds to play in the second period.

Houston's Toni Fritsch kicked a 31-yard field goal on the Oilers' first drive of the game. Denver's Craig Morton hit Dave Preston on a 7-yard touchdown pass before Campbell's touchdown gave the Oilers their 10-7 lead. Fritsch's 20-yard field goal with 4:18 to play capped Houston's scoring.

With 9:06 to go in the third quarter, disaster seemed to strike the Oilers again when Pastorini, their quarterback, fell to the turf with a strained groin and had to leave the game.

That's when the Oilers' defense rose to the occasion with one devastating play after another. In all, the defense finished with six quarterback sacks for 47 yards in losses.

Early in the fourth quarter, after Denver linebacker Bob Swenson intercepted a pass by Gifford Nielsen at the Houston 26, the Oilers pushed the Broncos back to the 33, and reserve placekicker Jim Steinfort, taking over for injured Jim Turner, missed a 50-yard field goal attempt when the ball hit the right upright.

Moments later, Houston linebacker Gregg Bingham intercepted a Morton pass and returned it 15 yards to the Denver 20-yard line.

RUSHING — Denver, Armstrong 12-51, Preston 9-24, Canada 4-29, Jensen 4-5, Upchurch 1-3, Morton 2-0. Houston, Carpenter 16-59, Campbell 16-50, Wilson 8-21, Coleman 2-5.
PASSING — Denver, Morton 14-27-1-144. Houston, Pastorini 8-18-1-149, Nielsen 2-4-1-9.
RECEIVING — Denver, Preston 4-40, Moses 3-47, Armstrong 2-22, Odoms 2-3, Egloff 1-17, Jensen 1-11, Canada 1-4. Houston, Wilson 4-53, Carpenter 3-26, Coleman 1-41, Barber 1-31, Campbell 1-7.

With 4:08 to play, Denver took possession at its 34-yard line on the kickoff following the field goal. Morton drove the Broncos as far as the Houston 27, but was sacked by middle guard Curley Culp as the Houston defense pushed Denver back to the 40. And on fourth-and-22 from that point, Morton's end zone bomb to wide receiver Steve Watson was batted away by safety Vernon Perry, killing Denver's drive with 1:42 to play.

The Broncos had one final, desperate chance, taking a Houston punt at their 20 with 39 seconds to go. But after one incomplete pass and a completion of 25 yards to Rick Upchurch to the Denver 45, time ran out on the Broncos.

Morton completed four of his first five passes for 48 yards in Denver's 80-yard touchdown drive. The Broncos also were aided by a 14-yard pass interference penalty against Houston cornerback Greg Stemrick that got the drive started.

Denver's defense stopped two Houston drives inside Bronco territory in the second quarter on a Campbell fumble recovered by cornerback Louis Wright at the Denver 45 and a Pastorini pass interception by Thompson at the Broncos' 18-yard line.

Four plays later, Campbell bulled into the end zone. He fumbled just after crossing the goal line. However, in the pile-up at the goal line, Campbell was hurt and was helped off the field. He finished the day with 50 yards on 16 carries.

The Oilers said he would be able to play against the Chargers next Saturday.

Jaworski's Arm Rifles Eagles Into Next Round

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Ron Jaworski, booed for early ineffectiveness, threw three touchdown passes including a 63-yard fourth-period game-winner to Billy Campfield as the Philadelphia Eagles beat the Chicago Bears 27-17 in the first round of the National Football League playoffs Sunday.

The Eagles, runnersup to Dallas in the National Conference East with a regular-season record of 11-5, advanced to next Saturday's NFC semifinal in Tampa Bay against the NFC Central champion Buccaneers. In the other NFC semifinal, on Sunday, Los Angeles will visit Dallas.

The score was tied 17-17 in the final period when Jaworski connected with Campfield, who caught the ball at the Philadelphia 45 and, behind a crushing block by wide receiver Charley Smith, raced down thre right sideline and into the end zone to complete the TD. The 63-yard scoring play came with 3:36 gone in the last quarter.

Jaworski's first two touchdown passes went to 6-foot-8 wide receiver Harold Carmichael. He hit Carmichael for 17 yards after only 4:03 of the first period for a 7-0 Philadelphia lead, and connected again for a 29-yard TD with 6:52 left in the third quarter to tie it at 17-17.

The Eagles' other points came on field goals of 29 and 34 yards by rookie Tony Franklin, the barefooted kicker from Texas A&M. The 34-yarder came with 5:40 to play. Meanwhile, Philadelphia's defense held Chicago scoreless in the second half.

After falling behind in the first period, the 7-point-underdog Bears came back 72 yards on 11 plays to deadlock the game with just 44 seconds remaining in the opening period. In the drive, Walter Payton picked up 16 yards rushing and 39 on passes for a total of 55. He drove the final two yards into the end zone.

After Franklin's 29-yarder 5:23 into the second period, Payton scored the Bears' second TD on a 1-yard run that capped a five-play, 47-yard drive helped along by a 23-yard pass interference penalty against Eagles' cornerback Herman Edwards.

Before the first half ended, the Bears took advantage of a fumble by Jaworski, recovered by veteran Alan Page at the Philadelphia 16-yard line. A running play and two passes failed to pick up a first down and Bob Thomas came on to kick a 30-yard field goal that sent Chicago ahead 17-10 at intermission.

The Eagles drove 67 yards on six plays in the third period for their tying touchdown. The march started after Thomas was long enough but slightly wide to thr left on a 50-yard field goal attempt that gave Philadelphia the ball at its 33-yard line.

Jaworski threw to Wilbert Montgomery for eight yards and Montgomery ran three for a first down at the Eagles' 44. A 16-yard completion from Jaworski to Carmichael moved the ball to the Bears' 40, then Montgomery gained 11 yards on two running plays to the 29. Then Jaworski threw the rest of the way to Carmichael for the touchdown.

The Bears missed an excellent opportunity to go ahead after Brian Baschnagel returned the ensuing kickoff 27 yards to the Chicago 42. Quarterback Mike Phipps led a drive that picked up four first downs to the Eagles' 10. After Dave Williams gained one, a Phipps pass was picked off in the end zone by cornerback Bobby Howard.

Earlier, the first time the Bears had the ball in the third quarter, Payton raced 84 yards down the right line for an apparent first down at the Eagles' 1-yard line — but the pay was nullified by an illegal motion penalty against Baschnagel.

GO-AHEAD SCORE — Philadelphia receiver Harold Carmichael races into the end zone for a touchdown as Chicago defender Gary Fencik falls to the turf after missing the tackle in Sunday's wildcard game. The score put the Eagles ahead 6-0 and they went on to defeat the Bears 27-17. (AP Laserphoto)

Big Ten's Cage Stock Drops After Defeats

By The Associated Press

Maybe the Big Ten isn't as tough as it thinks.

Touted by many as the nation's best basketball conference this year, this midwestern league suffered a bit of a blow to its pride over the weekend when two of its top three teams lost to outsiders.

Indiana, the nation's No.5 team, dropped a 61-57 decision at home to No.8 North Carolina and No.9 Purdue lost 61-60 to No.3 Kentucky in the finals of the Kentucky Invitational Tournament Saturday night.

"The game really got away from us for a total of six minutes — three minutes in the first half and three minutes in the second half," said Indiana Coach Bobby Knight. "Both times we were able to come back, but the second time not as well as the first."

The Hoosiers might be excused for losing, though, with leading scorer Mike Woodson out of the lineup with an injury. Indiana's only consistent player was freshman guard Isiah Thomas, who scored 18 points.

James Worthy had 18 points while Mike O'Koren and Al Wood added 16 each for North Carolina. Indiana's last lead was at 35-34 early in the second half, but consecutive baskets by Dave Colescott, O'Koren and Worthy put the Tar Heels ahead to stay.

Kyle Macy's clutch shooting put Kentucky ahead for keeps and Fred Cowan added the eventual winning points on free throws as the Wildcats defeated Purdue.

"Kentucky is an outstanding team and they certainly deserve their ranking," said Purdue Coach Lee Rose. "I thought my team played extremely well in a situation we will encounter later in the year — before large crowds away from home against good teams. We have some talented teams in our league."

Ohio State, ranked No.2, was the only one of the Top Ten teams from the Big Ten Conference to win Saturday night. The Buckeyes defeated Tennessee 91-65.

In other action involving the nation's ranked teams, No.1 Duke beat Providence 82-78; No.4 Notre Dame stopped Fairfield 69-59; sixth-ranked DePaul trimmed Chicago Loyola 92-83; seventh-ranked Louisiana State stopped Tulane 95-85 and No.10 Syracuse turned back Pittsburgh 73-66.

Also, Utah upset No.11 Louisville 71-69; No.12 Virginia routed Army 83-79 in a consolation game of the Cable Car Classic; Iowa beat Dayton 61-54 in the finals of the Dayton Invitational; No.14 UCLA routed Colorado State 86-63; No.17 Georgetown beat Northeastern 85-66; No.18 Brigham Young whipped Utah 89-84 and No.19 Oregon State defeated Oregon 75-66.

Herb Williams' 18 points led Ohio State's rout of Tennessee. The Buckeyes sank 55 per cent of their field goal attempts in the first half and rolled up a runaway 48-27 lead.

"This was probably our best game and we needed it," said Ohio State Coach Eldon Miller, whose team had been beaten just a few days before by Louisville.

Also, Utah upset No.11 Louisville 71-69; No.12 Virginia routed Army 84-60 in a consolation game of the Cable Car Classic; Iowa beat Dayton 61-54 in the finals of the Dayton Invitational; No.14 UCLA routed Colorado State 86-63; No.17 Georgetown beat Northeastern 85-66; No.18 Brigham Young whipped Utah 89-84 and No.19 Oregon State defeated Oregon 75-66.

Nittany Lions Salvage Portion Of 1979 Season

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Matt Suhey is leaving Penn State a winner but with mixed feelings. Larry Kubin and 14 other starters will be coming back, hoping next year will be better ... and happier.

Penn State, a team with something to prove, edged 15th-ranked Tulane, a team with nothing to lose, 9-6 Saturday in a rain-soaked Liberty Bowl and Suhey and Kubin were the Nittany Lions' offensive and defensive standouts.

"We won but I'm not overjoyed," said Suhey, who rushed for 112 yards and set up a pair of second-period field goals by Herb Menhardt with runs of 30 and 26 yards.

"We had a lot of adversity this season and we wanted to go out winners. As a result of this season, anyone who comes to Penn State will know what's expected of them."

Even in the wake of a victory that salvaged some pride from an 8-4 season, the problems Penn State encountered during the year — injury, academic and disciplinary — hogged the spotlight.

"We learned this year that some of the people we recruited really didn't believe what we were telling them," said Coach Joe Paterno. "We now have cases that demonstrate we mean what we say. Players coming to Penn State will know what we expect of them. They know we are going to work hard in the classroom."

"Penn State teaches you to keep your poise and we did. It's a lesson you can use in later life," Suhey said after the Lions survived four turnovers, blew a 6-0 lead on two field goals by Tulane's Ed Murray in the final period, and then pulled out the triumph on a 20-yard field goal by Menhardt with 18 seconds left.

Meanwhile, the Lions limited Tulane's high-powered attack to 202 yards. Although Roch Hontas threw a Liberty Bowl record 39 paases and completed 21 for 210 yards, he was sacked five times — four of them by Kubin — and the Green Wave showed a minus eight yards on the ground.

"It was so important for us to win this game," Kubin said. "It's our first win for the 1980s. When Tulane tied the score, we could have laid down and died, but we didn't.

Instead, they took the kickoff on their 20-yard line following Murray's game-tying field goal with 2:40 remaining and drove to the Tulane 3, the key play a 39-yard option pass from fourth-string tailback Joel Coles to Tom Donovan.

"It took us longer than I would have liked to get going," said Hontas, who picked up 138 of his passsing yards in the last 17 1/2 minutes. "It embarrasses me to be named MVP and have our team lose."

Tulane, which finished 9-3 and enjoyed its first winning season in six years, seemed happier in defeat than Penn State did in victory.

"When two teams play inspired football, the defense wins the game," said Coach Larry Smith. "Give them credit. They came after us and played hard football. We played a fine football team with a fine program. We have nothing to be ashamed of. We can play with anybody."

Dent, Newcomer Win South Wales

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Phil Dent of Australia captured the men's singles title in the New South Wales Open tennis championship Sunday with a 6-4, 6-4, 7-5 victory over Hank Pfister of the United States.

Czechslovakia's Hana Mandlikova, at 17, became the youngest player to win the women's final in the open's 94-year history when she beat her 16-year-old American opponent Bettina Bunge 6-3 3-6 6-3.

Miss Mandlikova, seeded third, said, 'I'm very happy with the win but I know I can play a lot better.

"There were a few shots by Bettina that I let go by because I didn't want to stretch myself too much. I didn't want to take the chance of injuring myself for the Australian Open."

Sunday's victory added to Miss Mandlikova's impressive record.

Bruce Leads Squad To Coast For Rose Bowl Confrontation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Coach Earle Bruce tries to salvage the Big Ten Conference's tarnished image in the Rose Bowl when he leads his top-ranked Ohio State football squad to the West Coast today.

"The Big Ten needs a winner bad on the Coast," said Bruce, mindful that the giant midwestern conference had lost the last five Rose Bowls and nine of the last 10.

Ohio State, undisputed Big Ten champion and winner of 11 straight games in Bruce's first season, will be making its eighth straight bowl appearance against third-rated Southern California, 10-0-1, in the Pasadena, Calif., classic New Year's Day.

However, it's the Buckeyes' first appearance in the Rose Bowl since the 1975 squad dropped a 23-10 verdict to UCLA that cost Ohio State a probable national championship.

If he can produce an upset over the Pacific 10 Conference champions, Bruce would become only the second coach in NCAA major college football to post a 12-0 season in his first year at a school.

Jack Murphy of Toledo guided the Mid-American Conference school to 12 straight triumphs in 1971.

Also on the line is his 55-game winning streak as an Ohio head coach. The 48-year-old Bruce led Sandusky High School to 24 consecutive triumphs before turning out a 20-0 record at famed Massillon.

He then took an assistant coaching job in 1966 with Woody Hayes, the man he replaced at Ohio State Jan. 12.

The Buckeyes worked most of last week without Bruce, hospitalized with chest pains for three days. He was released Friday and Dr. Robert J. Murphy, the team physician, said the 48-year-old coach had no trace of heart disease.

Bruce gave his team this weekend off so they could celebrate Christmas with their families. The 95-player traveling squad, in excellent physical condition, will leave on a charter today at 8:30 a.m. for Los Angeles.

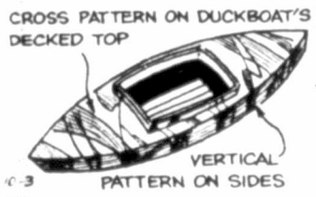
CROSS PATTERN ON DUCKBOAT'S DECKED TOP



VERTICAL PATTERN ON SIDES

GENERALLY, "DEAD GRASS" IS THE BEST COLOR FOR A DUCK-BOAT. USE A "FLAT" PAINT--NOT GLOSSY--TO AVOID SHINY SURFACE. IF PAINT IS RUBBED OFF METAL BOATS, COAT THE SPOTS BEFORE USING; BARE METAL IS A SHINING ALARM TO DUCKS. SOME HUNTERS CAMOUFLAGE THEIR BOATS BY PAINTING NARROW, VERTICAL LINES, IRREGULARLY ON SIDES WITH DULL, GRAYED GREEN, ETC., OVER THE "DEAD GRASS."

Husky Defense Helped Bleach 'Horns In Sun

EL PASO (AP) — When it came to defense in the 45th annual Sun Bowl, it was the Washington Huskies who produced and not the highly-touted Texas Longhorns.

The 13th ranked Huskies upset the 11th ranked Longhorns 14-7 Saturday and it was two big defensive plays by strong safety Greg Grimes that saved the day for the Pac-10 Huskies who were playing outside the Rose Bowl for the first time.

Husky coach Don James said "That (tackle) probably won the ball game for us because if they go in and score it would have been hard to get two touchdowns on them."

Texas coach Fred Akers said "That tackle hurt ... it didn't set anything in concrete but it hurt."

Grimes later recovered a fumble that led to the second and game-clinching Washington touchdown in the second period.

Washington had to overcome a technical malfunction in the press box. The telephone connection for the Huskies was faulty and the offensive and defensive coordinators for the Huskies had to scurry to the sidelines.

"That bad phone connection could have cost us the game," said James.

Washington swept individual honors as freshman receiver Paul Skansi, who caught an 18-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Tom Flick, was named the most valuable offensive player and tackle Doug Martin was named the most valuable lineman.

The game was played in a 30-mile an hour wind which kept passing effectiveness to a minimum.

The wind also was blamed for blowing some television equipment off the top of the press box into the crowd injuring five persons.

"That wind made it really tough," said Flick. "But we got ahead early and let our defense win the game for us."

Huskies Wear, Carry Trophies Back Home

SEATTLE (AP) — The University of Washington football team looked like any group of happy tourists as they got off the plane from El Paso.

It seemed like almost every member of the team had picked up a cowboy hat or cowboy boots either in El Paso or its sister city across the Rio Grande, Juarez. Even coach Don James had a new pair of pointed-toe cowboy boots when he stepped off the team's chartered airplane at Seattle-Tacoma International Airport Saturday night.

Richardson carried the Sun Bowl trophy for the Huskies' 14-7 victory Saturday over the Texas Longhorns. Martin carried his trophy for best lineman and the freshman Skansi carried his trophy for Most Valuable Player of the bowl game.

A small but enthusiastic crowd of Washington fans led by the alumni band playing the fight song greeted the players as they came down the plane's ramp into the 32-degree Seattle night.

"We're all pretty excited about this," said Richardson.

Injured tailback Joe Steele, Washington's all-time leading career rusher who was lost during the regular season because of a knee injury, said, "They did a really good job. I wish I could have been out there. The defense was phenomenal."

Steele was carrying two pairs of boots and a chess set he bought for his parents for Christmas.

Carrying his trophy under one arm and a box of two cowboy hats in the other, Skansi said he didn't expect to be most valuable player. "It could have happened to anybody," he said.

Coach James may even be bringing back something other than his second bowl victory in three years. During the visit to Texas, James said he had been recruiting. He said he thought there were two or three promising Texan football players who might be going to college in Seattle.

NO. YOU DON'T — Texas quarterback Donnie Little hits the turf two yards short of the end zone after being tackled by Washington's Greg Grimes during Saturday's Sun Bowl game in El Paso. The key tackle stopped the Longhorns on fourth-and-goal from the one-yard line as the Huskies went on to a 14-7 victory. (AP Laserphoto)

LADDER OF SUCCESS — Chicago Bear halfback Walter Payton (34) climbs over a pile of defenders to score a touchdown in NFC wildcard action Sunday in Philadelphia. The points were not enough, though, as the Eagles won 27-17. (AP Laserphoto)

Temple Celebrates AAAA Crown

By The Associated Press

The Wildcats made three key interceptions as Temple trounced Houston Memorial, 28-6, snaring its first-ever state football championship.

Deliriously happy Wildcat fans — some of whom could remember Temple's five state title near-misses — chanted 'We're Number One' for seven straight minutes as the clock ticked away the final quarter.

The Wildcats have traveled to state championship games six times since 1940, but until this weekend, had returned home empty-handed.

In other state championship games this weekend, running back Danny Brockaway overcame a rain-soaked field for three TDs to lead Van to the Class 2A title over McGregor.

Van used long, time-consuming scoring drives to blank McGregor, 25-0, in a contest played at Mesquite, while Hull-Daisetta amazed a crowd in Bryan by snapping China Spring's 26-game winning streak, 28-18.

Davis stunned the Baylor Stadium crowd of 31,500 with scoring runs of 9, 39 and 17 yards. The 180-pound junior also nabbed one of three key first-half interceptions that killed Memorial scoring drives.

"Memorial was not the toughest team we faced this year," Davis said. "Lewisville was the best. They were great. I don't know how we beat them."

Temple, which finished the season with a 15-0 mark, drew first blood on their second possession of the game and never trailed Saturday night. After driving from their own 35, the Wildcats lined up for a punt on fourth and five. But wingback Darrell Weddington dazzled the mystified Mustang defense and scooted 32 yards for a score on Temple's belly bum play. Weddington lined up as the short man in a punt formation, took the snap and faked to the right. After hesitating for a moment, he ran left and sailed in unmolested for the touchdown.

Pitt, Arizona Coaches Welcome Bowl Visit

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — Coaches Jackie Sherrill of Pittsburgh and Tony Mason of Arizona refused predictions Sunday on their Fiesta Bowl football meeting on Christmas Day, but agreed the game was good for both schools.

Sherrill said, "Today's fringe benefit is tomorrow's expectation," which translates to a post-season bowl game giving impetus to both the next season and recruiting.

Despite the Panthers' 10-1 record and No. 10 rating in the Associated Press poll, Sherrill disagreed with odds favoring his club by eight points or more.

"When you play a bowl game, you reallly have no favorite," he said.

Mason told reporters, "You heard what Jackie said, and I won't disagree. I don't want to make him mad at me."

Arizona of the Pacific-10 takes a 6-4 record into the Fiesta Bowl with its 1:45 p.m. kickoff, but has five players who were injured at various times during the regular season ready for action against independent Pittsburgh.

"We're proud to be here, and this bowl game should have a positive effect on our program," Mason said. "I'm proud of our university and this nationally televised game will give it more exposure."

Asked about his pass defense, which proved vulnerable during the regular season, Mason said, "I think it is as good as any in the country. But we've played against six of the top 10 college quarterbacks this season. Dan Morino is an outstanding quarterback, but so were the others.

"Pitt will put the ball in the air and put it up pretty well."

Hippo Surprises Officials With Baby

DETROIT (UPI) — The director of the Detroit Zoo was right on target when he advised workers to keep their eye on Naomi the hippopotamus.

"There may be something going on there," Dr. Gunter Voss said when the 2-ton hippo began gaining weight recently. "Let's watch her for a while."

The "something" arrived last week — a 60-pound baby.

Determining that a hippo is pregnant is difficult, Voss admitted, and figuring out when the baby will be born is nearly impossible.

'Time Machine' Displayed At Chinese Theater

BURBANK, Calif. (Special) — In commemoration of the anniversary of the birth of H. G. Wells, the fanciful full-scale Time Machine constructed for use in Warner Orion's romantic thriller, "Time After Time," was exhibited in front of the Bruin Theatre in Westwood. It is now on display at the Chinese Theater in Hollywood.

Christmas Folklore Put In Computerized Archive

DETROIT (UPI) — If the first person to enter your home on Christmas Day is a man, you'll have good luck throughout the coming year. But if it's a woman, misfortune awaits.

That's not the conclusion of a male chauvinist, but a tidbit of Christmas folklore stored in the world first Computerized Folklore Archive, housed at the University of Detroit.

The archive, established by U-D professors James Call ow and Frank Paulsen in 1964, contains more than 40,000 items collected by U-D students.

Many of the international items are culture-oriented, such as the Ukrainian superstition that drinking water during Christmas supper means it will be a hot summer and workers will grow thirsty in the fields. Other folklore from abroad:

•In Sweden, an almond is placed in a bowl of rice pudding on Christmas Day and whoever gets the dish with the almond will have good luck.

•In England, young girls peel an apple and toss the peel over their shoulders. The peel will form the initial of a young man the girl will meet in the coming year.

Japanese, Iranian Officials To Discuss Money Transfer

TOKYO (UPI) — Fllowing Iran's threat to pull its money out of Japanese banks, Japan's foreign minister and the Iranian ambassador will meet today to discuss the U.S.-Iranian crisis and President Carter's call for economic sanctions against the Islamic nation.

The meeting between foreign Minister Saburo Okita and Iranian Ambassador Ghassem Salehkhou follows the decision by Iran's Central Bank to transfer its funds out of Japanese banks in London in an apparent move to forestall a freeze on its assets in Britain.

Japanese banking sources said the Iranian bank told Japanese and other banks in London Friday it is withdrawing its deposits after their offices open for business Monday.

Sources in the foreign ministry said the Iranian ambassador sought the meeting with Okita to find out Japan's position regarding the U.S.—Iranian dispute and assess how far Tokyo would support American steps to force the release of 50 hostages held in Tehran since Nov. 4.

Carter in a nationally televised statement Friday called on the United Nations to impose international economic sanctions against Iran to secure release of the hostages.

Japanese Prime Minister Masayoshi Ohira said in a television program videotaped Saturday "Japan must not take steps to weaken the postion of the United States (in its dispute with Iran). It's no good for Japan to cash in on the dispute."

Sources in the Foreign Ministry said Okita will reiterate Japan's position that the holding of hostages is an inhuman act, which also violates international law.

They said Okita will also explain Japan's position that the hostage drama must be solved through negotiations rather than such steps as economic sanctions.

The Japanese banking sources said the Iranian bank is transferring its funds from Japanese banks to its accounts in Libyan and Algerian banks in Tokyo and Paris.

Iranian deposits in Japanese banks total between $800 million and $1 billion, with between $300 million and $500 million in London, the newspaper Yomiuri Shimbun said.

PHIPPS RANCH SOLD

DENVER (AP) — The 22,010-acre Phipps Ranch south of Denver has been sold for more than $22 million to Mission Viejo, the giant real estate subsidiary of Philip Morris. Mission Viejo plans to build about 30,000 houses on the property, in addition to developing commercial and industrial areas. Mission Viejo bought an option on the land nearly two years ago from Highland Ventures, a group of Denver-area investors, that bought the land from the Phipps estate in 1977 for $13.66 million.
