COL. CHARLES A. LINDBERGH'S BABY KIDNAPED

Justice Brandeis Denies Stay Of Oil Injunction

MILITARY RULE OF OIL FIELDS FROWNED UPON

Member of U. S. Supreme Court Upholds Texas Federal Judges

SEEK FINAL DECISION

Attorneys for Gov. Sterling To Place Case Before Whole Court

WASHINGTON, March 1. (UP)—Justice Louis D. Brandeis of the supreme court of the United States today denied a stay of execution of the three-judge federal court order filed at Tyler, holding invalid the use of national guardsmen in enforcing Gov. Ross Sterling's oil proration orders for the East Texas oil field.

A stay would have permitted continued use of the troops in the field pending final decision of the governor's appeal from the lower court decree. Dan Moody, who appeared as attorney for Governor Sterling, said he would take immediate steps to have the appeal argued before the full supreme court to obtain a decision before adjournment.

Call on Brandeis

Moody and E. F. Smith, another Sterling attorney, went to the home of Justice Brandeis to ask for the stay. They wanted it issued to prevent carrying out of an injunction granted by Judges J. C. Hutcheson Jr., Randolph Bryant and W. I. Grubb to Eugene Constantin and J. D. Wrather, prohibiting use of troops in enforcing executive proration orders.

Troops are still in the field, enforcing the governor's orders against all wells except those of Constantin and Wrather. A second injunction against troop interference was made effective today, protecting the five wells of the Peoples Petroleum Producers, Inc.

STERLING VISITS GUARD HEADQUARTERS

KILGORE, March 1. (UP)—Gov Ross Sterling paid a surprise visit this afternoon to national guard headquarters here, conferred with Brig. Gen. Jacob F. Wolters for an hour and started back to Jacksonville without revealing what was discussed in the conference.

"There's nothing new," was his only comment.

At that time it was not known here that he had been denied a stay of execution pending final decision of his appeal against the adverse federal ruling on martial law.

The governor came here from Jacksonville, where he addressed a gathering of club women today.

ADJUTANT GENERAL NOT AT CAPITAL

AUSTIN, March 1 (UP)—W. W. Sterling, adjutant general of the Texas national guard, was not in Austin tonight and members of his family said they did not know where he was.

Any orders for movement, withdrawal or change of status of troops in the East Texas oil field would be issued by Gov. Ross Sterling himself in the absence of Adjutant General Sterling, it was pointed out by other officials. The orders would go direct to Brig. Gen J. F. Wolters at Kilgore.

It was suggested that troops need not be moved from the field, as the injunction for which stay was sought applies only to wells of E. Constantin and J. D. Wrather.

Bill To Give Wheat To Needy Approved

WASHINGTON, March 1. (AP)—The principle of feeding the hungry with wheat from the farm board's bulging bins was embraced today by house Democratic leaders and they made preparations to pass on Thursday a senate bill devoting 40,000,000 bushels for this purpose.

Under pressure from majority leaders, the agriculture committee today reversed its previous stand and approved the measure by a vote of 15 to 6. A fortnight ago it rejected it, 14 to 9.

Tomorrow Chairman Jones will ask the rules committee for right of way in the house and—if Democratic plans are carried out—a vote will be taken Thursday.

Wichitans Recall Events In Life Of Texas' Famous Leader

As Texans everywhere observe Wednesday, March 2, in memory of the declaration of independence of the young republic 96 years ago, a special significance is attached to the occasion by two Wichitans. J. R. Irion, 1518 Twenty-sixth, has in his possession the original copy of a letter written to his grandfather by Sam Houston.

Dr. F. R. Collard of Wichita Falls recalls that both his paternal and maternal grandfathers were in the battle of San Jacinto with the Texas army under Gen. Houston. The grandparents were Jonathan S. Collard and Dr. D. H. Love.

The letter to Dr. Robert A. Irion at Nacogdoches, Texas, was written March 19, 1837, from Columbia, Texas, and gives a real personal glimpse of the leading figure in early Texas history.

Dr. Irion was Houston's physician and was named secretary of state of the republic on the death of Stephen F. Austin, first colonizer of Texas territory and later first secretary of state.

Miss Anna, referred to in the letter, later became the wife of Dr. Irion who was a successful rival of Houston. Dr. Irion also later became a senator at the first state congress of Texas. He made his home at Nacogdoches where he died about 1850. A surviving son, J. R. Irion Sr., of Dallas has dozens of letters giving highly interesting views of Houston, J. R. Irion Jr., said.

The letter follows:

"My Dear Irion:

"I have but a moment to say how do you? You will have learned that we are independent and recognized by the U. States on the 4th Inst.—the last official act of Gen. Jackson's life. This alone is cause of joy; but annexation would have rendered me truly happy and secured all that we have contended

Stock and Meat Show Opens Today With Exhibits From 11 Counties

Club Workers to Display Canned Products, Cured Meats And Fine Animals in Two-Day Exposition

Final preparations for the first annual fat stock and meat show for the Wichita Falls area 4-H club boys and girls clubs were made Tuesday afternoon and the doors of the exhibition at Sixth and Indiana will be opened at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning for a two-day display.

George Barnes, Texas A. & M. college beef cattle specialist, will judge all classes of livestock as the opening feature of the boys' division and Roy W. Snyder, college meat specialist, will judge cured meats exhibited by home demonstration and 4-H girls' clubs. Miss Zetha B. McInnis, home industries specialist of the college and Miss Mildred Horton, state home agent, will judge canned meats.

Livestock Division

More than 30 Hereford yearlings, each a project of a 4-H club boys' feeding program, will be shown. Seventeen yearlings were established in the show rooms Tuesday afternoon. The livestock division will include swine and lambs of Wichita and adjoining counties.

More than 50 boys, all exhibitors in the show, will be guests of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce at a banquet at the Wichita club at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening.

The exhibits will be open to the public throughout both days. A fea-

QUICK JUSTICE FOR ATTACKER

Youth Given Life Sentence At Honolulu

HONOLULU, March 1. (AP)—John Fernandez, 21-year-old former convict, was sentenced to life imprisonment late today when he pleaded guilty to an attack earlier in the day on a Japanese servant woman.

The speedy retribution which followed the second similar crime within four days bespoke the high feeling which an apparent recurrence of a recent series of such assaults has aroused among Honolulu citizens.

The report of the assault, perpetrated near the home of Harold Castle, cousin of Under-Secretary of State William R. Castle, sent police, army men and citizens hurrying to the scene. Armed with a full description of the man, they soon arrested Fernandez at the dairy where he was employed.

He confessed, police said, and immediately was indicted by the federal grand jury. He was held without bond until brought into court for arraignment where he pleaded guilty and immediately was sentenced.

Chief of Police C. F. Weber and Prosecutor John C. Kelly started questioning Fernandez about the attack which occurred while the Japanese woman was walking a quarter of a mile from the servant's quarters to Castle's home.

The assault came three days after an attack on the wife of a navy man and nine days before the scheduled trial of four persons charged with the slaying of Joseph Kahawai, one of four accused of attacking the wife of naval Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, Sept. 12.

All police organizations on the island and many citizens joined in a frenzied search for the attacker.

Fernandez was taken to the Emergency hospital for examination by Sergt. Dewey Mookin and Arthur McDuffie, private detective, who informed Chief Weeber the captured man had confessed. Police said Fernandez is employed at a dairy and is married.

When the hunt was started the victim told police her assailant had a wrist watch fastened to a strap hanging from a watch pocket. Such a watch was found on Fernandez.

Sweeping Fire Takes Homes of 200 New Jersey

PENNSGROVE, N. J., March 1. (AP)—Fifty to 60 small homes were burned or badly damaged and a church and six stores were destroyed by a fire which swept a large section of the western end of Pennsgrove borough today.

About 200 persons were made homeless and damage was estimated by the authorities at close to a half million dollars.

Sen. Tydings Demands Prohibition Inquiry

WASHINGTON, March 1. (US)—Convinced the country is in revolt against prohibition, Senator Tydings, Republican, of Maryland today demanded a senatorial investigation of conditions under the 18th amendment as a preliminary to a drive for repeal. Tydings' resolution was referred to the judiciary committee. He will ask for early hearings.

Rhode Island Makes Beer And Ale Legal

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 1. (US)—So far as the state of Rhode Island is officially concerned, 3.75 per cent beer became legal today. But so far as Uncle Sam is concerned, it remained contraband.

What the outcome of this situation—one of the most unique in the nation's history—will be depends on how many prohibition agents the government can rush into Rhode Island, according to state leaders.

Gov. Norman S. Case this afternoon signed a bill declaring beer, ale and porter, containing 3.75 per cent alcohol, "legal."

At the same time, he automatically nullified the state enforcement act and signed a group of bills setting up a new and more liberal system for search and seizures where liquor exceeds the 3.75 per cent limit. Under these laws, making hard liquor for personal use is permitted.

Animals at Stock Show Sold for Good Prices

SAN ANGELO, Texas, March 1. (UP)—The grand champion club calf of the San Angelo fat stock show, owned and fed by Miss Audrey Faye Kidd, 10, brought 75 cents a pound in the sale here today to the M. C. Burnett Hotel company. It weighed 680 pounds and with premiums brought its owner $710.85. The champion fat lamb, weight 105 pounds, was bought from Garth Clark of Eldorado at 26½ cents by C. B. Metcalfe. The champion porker of Jesse B. Dobbs of Katemcy, was bought by Sears Roebuck & Co. at $10.25 per hundred.

Texas Exes And Public Schools Lead Observance Of Independence Day

Former students of the University of Texas and city school pupils will lead Wichita Falls' observance today of Texas Independence day, March 2. Aside from the closing of banks, little official notice will be taken of the occasion.

The annual banquet and meeting of Texas exes will be held at 7 o'clock at the Wichita club. An informal program recalling memories of student days, with special music surprises announced by Raymond Myers, will feature the program. Miss Willie Mae Kell is president of the local exes. The annual election will also be held at the meeting.

Banks of the city will be closed and the day will be recognized at meetings of civic clubs and other groups.

School Programs

Wichita Falls public schools will celebrate the 96th birthday of Texas' independence with stories, songs and readings in special assembly programs and in the classrooms, H. D. Fillers, superintendent

R. C. PROPES FATALLY HURT

Victim's Body Crushed By Impact of Car

Special to The Record News.

BURKBURNETT, Texas, March 1.—R. C. Propes, 68, received fatal injuries when he was struck by an automobile driven by James A. (Jimmie) Collier Jr. on the highway in front of his filling station one mile west of here early Tuesday night. He died an hour later in the Burkburnett Clinic hospital.

The aged filling station operator was crossing the pavement directly in front of his establishment and was believed to have not seen the approaching automobile. He was thrown 30 feet by the impact of the crash. Collier was said to have swerved his car in a futile effort to avoid striking the pedestrian, but failed to clear the man. The machine struck sideways, the door being crushed by the victim's body.

Crushed Chest

Hospital physicians said Prope's death was caused by a broken blood vessel directly above the heart. Other injuries included a crushed chest, a broken arm, other internal injuries and numerous bruises and lacerations.

Collier, a young man, is the son of J. A. Collier Sr., a hardware dealer here. The youth recently was married, and at the time of the accident was driving west on the road, which leads toward Iowa Park, to meet his wife at their home a short distance from the edge of the city.

Rendered Aid

Collier stopped his car after the accident and returned the injured man to the hospital.

Propes had been a resident of Burkburnett for the past 13 years.

Funeral arrangements had not been made Tuesday night, but were expected to be completed Wednesday. Services probably will be held here Thursday. The body is held at the Thomas Funeral home.

Surviving are the widow and five daughters, Mrs. J. E. Hill of Gladewater, Texas; Mrs. R. B. Saxe of Borger, Texas; Mrs. L. Earle Rader of Ardmore, Okla., and Mrs. Frank Ormand and Mrs. M. R. Vaught, both of Burkburnett.

House Adopts Report On 'Lame Duck Bill'

WASHINGTON, March 1. (US)—The house today adopted the conference report on the Norris "lame duck" resolution. Similar action is expected soon in the senate.

As perfected in conference, the measure provides for one session of congress each year, and the inauguration of a president on Jan. 20 of each fourth year.

Jap Reinforcements Arrive As Chinese Refuse To Withdraw

(Copyright, 1932, by United Press)

SHANGHAI, Wednesday, March 2.—The withdrawal of Chinese troops from Shanghai, repeatedly demanded by the Japanese was under way today.

(Copyright, 1932, by The Associated Press)

SHANGHAI, March 2. (Wednesday)—A battle of heavy ordnance over the flaming ground of Chapei jarred everything within miles today as Japanese and Chinese guns hammered each other's positions.

The shelling opened up again before dawn, after a lull in the night, while Chapei, battleground of Shanghai long since shattered in the conflict, was a blazing inferno from the worst punishment thus far.

Beyond Chapei along the Kiangwan front action also was resumed with the coming of dawn, although to a lesser degree.

New Japanese troops, numbered at approximately 10,000 men, were reported to be fighting their way southward from Arnound Liuho, where they landed yesterday.

Chinese Make Denial

Chinese denied the fresh Japanese troops had landed, but apparently authenticated reports said the newcomers managed to get ashore, landing on the south bank of the Yangtze river.

They were thought to be advancing southeastward toward Shanghai with the object of joining the 22nd regiment of Japanese infantry, which constituted the right flank of the Japanese lines north of Kiangwan.

Gen. Hoshinori Shirakawa's fresh troops saw their first heavy action this morning in a fierce attack on the Kiangwan front in which they beat back the Chinese front line in the face of intense machine guns fire.

The Chinese, weakened by a battering assault lasting from dawn till dusk yesterday, fell back to the south, fighting for every foot of ground.

Retreat Covered

Nests of machine gunners covered the retreat while the main body took up positions in secondary defense lines prepared for just such a contingency.

The Japanese headquarters announced that during yesterday's action the whole line between Kiangwan and Miaochungchen, a distance of about two miles, had been advanced from three-fourths of a mile to a mile.

These new positions were consolidated during the night and long before daybreak the Japanese storm troops went over the top to continue the forward movement.

The Japanese apparently were carrying out their original plan to break through at Kiangwan and then drive southward toward the Chinese strongholds in Chapei, about two miles away. If they advance far enough the attack on Chapei probably will be carried out in conjunction with an assault from the Japenese lines to the east in Hongkew.

What was left of Chapei was burning early this morning in a

Stray Bullet Strikes Fisherman in Back

SHREVEPORT, La., March 1. (UP)—A. Marvin Turner, filling station operaton, was shot in the back by a stray bullet today while fishing in a motorboat with two friends on Cross lake here.

The bullet barely missed Turner's spinal column and lodged in his hip. A physician said his condition was not dangerous but that if the bullet had struck the spinal column paralysis would have resulted.

Turner is a son of Dr. A. W. Turner, Methodist minister and secretary of the Louisiana Prohibition Legislative league. Origin of the stray bullet was not immediately determined.

Court Tells How to Keep Drug Violator 'In Line'

HOUSTON, March 1. (UP)—Ennis Brock, given a 13-month suspended sentence today for violation of the antinarcotic laws, wasn't sure he could "hold himself in line."

He asked Judge T. M. Kennerly for something to help hold him in line.

Judge Kennerly turned to Erock's wife, asking: "Have you bed slats at your house?"

"Yes," Mrs. Brock answered.

"I recommend their use," said Judge Kennerly.

They fought through the civil war in the Confederate army until they were captured and sent to a Rock Island, Ill., prison camp. Both men are in good health.

Infant Son Of Famous Flier Taken From New Country Home In Hills Of New Jersey; Police Press Hunt

(Copy't, 1932, by Associated Press)

HOPEWELL, N. J., March 2. (Wednesday)—Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr., 20-months-old son of the flying colonel, was kidnaped last night from his nursery in the Lindbergh country home near here. He was spirited away in a dark green Chrysler sedan registered in the name of Herbert W. Allen, Margate, N. J., and reported to have been stolen in Atlantic City, police said. The car contained two men, who stopped at least two persons prior to the kidnaping and asked directions to the isolated Lindbergh home.

Within an hour after Colonel Lindbergh himself telephoned the first alarm, police squad cars blockaded every Jersey road for miles. They had orders to stop any suspicious persons or cars.

The child, clad in a blue sleeping robe, was put to bed at the usual hour, 7:30 p. m. At about 10 p. m. some one peered into the nursery. The crib was empty.

Lindy Paces Grounds

The first newspaper man to reach the home was an Associated Press reporter, who ran a mile over muddy, rut-cut roads to reach a phone to send the first direct news from the residence.

Colonel Lindbergh, bareheaded as usual, was pacing the grounds, while troopers and detectives went over the place with flashlights, seeking clues.

Mrs. Lindbergh, who telephoned the news to her mother, Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow, at the Morrow home in Englewood, N. J., was inside the house, but was shielded carefully from newspaper men.

A close friend of Mrs. Lindbergh said she was expecting another child within three months.

Refuse Statement

The house glowed with lights, a butler appeared at the door, obviously distraught, but he, like his employers, refused to make a statement.

The police, dashing pell-mell to the place, were delayed by the mud soaked roads. It was an hour before they reached the house, which is perched amidst the Sourland hills, on the second highest eminence in New Jersey.

At the Morrow home in Englewood, it was said Mrs. Morrow had not decided whether to leave at once to be with her daughter.

The first police news of the crime came in the following blunt teletype message:

"Colonel Lindbergh's baby kidnaped from Lindbergh home at Hopewell, between 7:30 and 10 p. m. Boy, 19 months (his age actually is 20 months) dressed in sleeping suit. Search all cars."

Many Volunteer Aid

For the next hour it virtually was impossible to get telephonic communication with the Lindberghs. One call brought the response—"No one has time to talk!"—and finally the chief operator said she had orders to refer all inquiries to the police, who had no announcement to make.

As news of the kidnaping filtered through the friendly countryside—all Lindbergh's neighbors are farmers—lights began to glow in the hills and many came to the place to volunteer aid in the search.

The Lindbergh baby, probably the most famous infant in the world, was described as a golden-haired replica of his famous father. He is chubby, with blue eyes and curly hair.

He was about normal stature for his age, had begun to toddle about and was learning to talk. Members of the family stressed the resemblance to his father.

His nursery, filled with every possible device for childish joy, is in the right-hand corner of the second floor of the big house.

The window near his crib, which was open when his nurse went into the room, is 30 feet from the ground. On the window sill, police said, a note was found, and though they would not divulge its contents, it was indicated that it contained a demand for ransom.

A three-piece ladder was found a hundred feet from the house, as if it had been dropped in a hurry, and police believe this was used to reach the window.

The window of the nursery looks out on the private road which links the estate with the outside world.

Near the house is a private landing field, and behind it are dense woods, though open country is at the front and on both sides.

Footprints Found

Beneath the nursery window, footprints showed in the soft earth. These indicated the kidnapers, moving with such stealth that the Lindberghs, though in the house, heard no sound, had removed their shoes before climbing the ladder to the window.

These footprints were followed to the rutted land, where a car apparently had waited.

The first news the Lindberghs had of the crime was when the frightened nurse ran downstairs, screaming that the baby had been kidnaped.

Automobile Described

A description of the car was carried in a confidential communication on the police teletype systems of New Jersey and New York.

The police notice gave its license number as "A-1158NJ" and stated the machine was stolen in Atlantic City.

Princeton police reported two men in a sedan had stopped there shortly before the kidnaping and asked directions to the nearby Lindbergh home. A highway laborer reported he had been asked for similar directions.

Colonel Lindbergh, reporting the kidnaping personally to the police, simply said the child, clad in a blue sleeping robe, had been put to bed at the usual hour, 7:30 p. m. At about 10 p. m. some one looked in the nursery and he was gone.

When police and newspaper men reached the isolated home, they found the flying colonel pacing nervously in the yard, watching troopers and detectives as they went over the grounds with flashlights.

Baby Carefully Guarded

Lights glowed in the house where Mrs. Lindbergh was waiting anxiously, shielded from all questioners.

Throughout its brief life, the Lindbergh baby has been one of the most carefully guarded infants in the country. Last summer, while his parents flew to the Orient, he was taken to the Morrow summer home in Maine, and his mother, though far away, frequently expressed concern for him.

The baby was born on June 22, 1930, his mother's birthday anniversary, and the event was publicized internationally.

Son of Lindbergh and grandson of the late Dwight W. Morrow, former United States senator and international banker, celebrities in all parts of the world hastened to send their congratulations to the famous couple.

Flowers were delivered to the Englewood home in trucks. Cablegrams, telegrams and letters arrived by the hundred.

Gifts came too, including four pairs of baby shoes, one pair wrought by hundreds of workmen laboring overtime "in gold beads on the softest white kid imaginable." Another pair in pale blue kid, bore the wings of the "Lone Eagle" in silver beads.

The nursery is in the northwest corner of the house, which was completed last October, and into which Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh, the latter being the former Anne Morrow, daughter of the late United States Senator Dwight W. Morrow, moved with their infant early in December.

Others in the household, police say, were Miss Gow, the nursemaid, and Ollie Whateley, who is a combination butler and chauffeur for the family, and the latter's wife.

It is understood that Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh and the baby had been at the house continuously since last Friday.

Another report, which also lacks confirmation by the police, is that a pair of sox was found on the lawn near the foot of the ladder which extended up to the nursery window. It was pointed out in connection with this report that the kidnaper may have pulled the sox on over his shoes before ascending the ladder to get the baby, to deaden his footsteps, so that he would not be heard in climbing up and down the ladder, or walking about on the nursery floor.

Colonel Makes Discovery

At 10:15 Colonel Lindbergh called the New Jersey state police barracks at New Brunswick and notified them that the baby was gone.

Within two hours a state-wide alarm had been sent out on police teletype machines from three headquarters—Trenton, New Brunswick and Newark.

Police were asked to search all motor cars for the Lindbergh heir.

There was also a confidential message sent out from police headquarters in New York City asking that a search be made for the missing child.

A squad of state police also left Lambertville before midnight to join in the search which by that time had spread to three states, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and New York.

Colonel Lindbergh told the police at New Brunswick in his first frantic call that the little boy had been put to bed as usual at 7 o'clock. Before retiring himself, he went to the baby's room to see him tucked safely in his crib.

The baby was missing.

Mother at Home

A few moments later Colonel Lindbergh also called the Trenton police headquarters and notified them to send out the alarm and begin the search.

Mrs. Lindbergh, who was Anne Morrow, daughter of the late Senator Dwight W. Morrow, was at home when Colonel Lindbergh sent out the alarm. The child, now more than a year and a half old, has been a pupil at the private kindergarten school of his aunt, Miss Elizabeth Morrow, at Englewood.

The boy is an exceptionally bright and alert child and was a great favorite among the children of the school. He is an unusually sturdy youngster and has been universally said to greatly resemble his famous father.

Rebel Army Holds Town In Finland

HELSINGFORS, Finland, March 1. (AP)—Finland's Fascist rebels, the Lapua, still held the town of Mantsalla, 35 miles from the capital, tonight and a government trap set at Hameenlinna, 70 miles away, failed to bag any conspirators.

Although the government announced it believed the movement was well in hand, a regiment of soldiers arrived in the capital from Turku, in southwest Finland, to strengthen the army here.

Two members of the cabinet, Social Minister Klipelainen and Assistant Home Minister Solja, both of whom are Lapuamen, offered their resignations to President Pehr Evind Svinhufvud. They had formed the opposition bloc in the cabinet.

Members of Governor Bilbo's Family in 'Row'

JACKSON, Miss., March 1. (US)—Dr. C. L. Smith, son-in-law of T. G. Bilbo, former Mississippi governor, said today that Mrs. Bilbo, who has charged him with assault and battery, threatened him with a pistol.

Smith, released on $200 bond pending a preliminary hearing Friday, said that he was summoned home by his wife last Wednesday night.

"My wife asked me to come home immediately that Mrs. Bilbo was at my home with a gun," said Smith. "When I got home, Mrs. Bilbo demanded that I tell her where to find Governor Bilbo. She suddenly slapped me.

"Then she drew a pistol from her pocketbook. I had to grab her by the neck to keep her from shooting me."

Full Investigation of Stock Exchange Planned

WASHINGTON, March 1. (AP)—A thorough investigation of all activities of the New York stock exchange, including both buying and short selling transactions, was agreed upon today by the senate banking committee, but before proceeding it decided to seek approval of the senate itself.

A subcommittee, headed by Senator Walcott, Republican, Connecticut, advocate of an inquiry into bear operations, was directed to draft a resolution under which the committee proper would be empowered to conduct the inquiry.

Bill Curbing Court Injunctions Passed By Big Senate Vote

WASHINGTON, March 1. (US)—Described as American labor's "bill of rights," the Norris anti-injunction bill was passed by the senate late today by the overwhelming vote of 75 to 5.

During the closing debate the opposition completely collapsed. Senators who had led the fight against it not only spoke for the measure but switched over and voted for it.

Representatives of the American Federation of Labor, which for years has urged a curb on the use of federal court injunctions in labor disputes, were in the galleries as the senate voted.

Opposition Is Small

Only five senators, Austin of Vermont, Bingham of Connecticut, Hale of Maine and Moses and Keyes of New Hampshire, all Republicans, opposed passage.

Senator Reed, Republican, of Pennsylvania, who with Senator Herbert, Republican, of Rhode Island, headed the drive to modify the bill, announced at the last minute he would vote for it "with a great deal of shame." He said that while the general principles were good, the bill was badly drawn, and he hoped the house would rectify the senate's mistakes.

This speech aroused Senator Johnson, Republican, of California, who dressed down Reed in a brief but one of the sharpest sallies of the session, saying:

"If I felt any shame I wouldn't vote for the bill. I vote with a feeling of pride and exaltation. We are doing justice for the men who toil. At last we've seen the day when congress has dared to legislate against injunctions issued infamously and unjustly against working people."

Victory for Labor

Frank Morrison, secretary of the A. F. of L. hailed the senate's action as a "great victory for labor."

The bill abolishes "yellow dog" contracts, guarantees labor's full right of association and freedom to bargain, and forbids federal courts to issue any injunction restricting labor's rights to quit work and carry on strikes.

Defendants in contempt cases are given right of trial by jury.

Bill Introduced To Pay $2,400,000,000 To World War Vets

WASHINGTON, March 1. (US)—As a depression relief measure, Senator Thomas, Democrat of Oklahoma today introduced a bill providing for immediate cash payment of veterans' adjusted compensation certificates.

He estimated the total cost as $2,400,000,000 and said 3,658,427 veterans would receive money.

Based on the fact that 1,203,786 ex-service men have not applied for loans, as now authorized, and therefore probably do not need funds at present, Thomas added the immediate outlay might not exceed $1,250,000,000.

Financing is provided for by means of a federal bond issue.

Thomas explained the currency expansion would have great value in stimulating business recovery.

State May Approve Road In Hardeman

AUSTIN, March 1. (AP)—Contracts for highway construction totalling $1,001,182 were awarded today by the Texas highway commission. Letters made yesterday totaled $802,968.

Awards today included 47 miles of concrete paving; 23.9 miles of grading and drainage structures; 53.9 miles of base and surface work and nine bridge structures.

Investigation was ordered of the proposed designation of a highway from Quanah in Hardeman county to connect with highway 28 near the Foard-Cottle county line. The route was advanced as a short cut from Vernon to Paducah.

Aerologist Testifies in Disabling of Dirigible

LAKEHURST, N. J., March 1. (US)—Lieutenant Commander Meguire, aerologist at the naval air station, was the chief witness today as the navy investigating board continued its inquiry into the disabling of the dirigible Akron on Washington's birthday.

He said that, on the morning of the accident, he had informed dirigible officers that he believed it would be safe to take the airship out. The decision, he said, was made after a careful estimate of all available weather information.

He informed the Akron officers, he said, of the possibility of wind gusts up to 30 miles an hour. It was one of these gusts that caused the accident, according to previous testimony.

Texas Centennial Plans Will Be Made Today

AUSTIN, March 1. (AP)—The Texas centennial committee plans to meet here tomorrow to further its campaign to hold in 1936 a suitable celebration commemorating the Lone Star state's independence from Mexico.

The group of centennial planners, created by an act of the legislature, hopes to complete permanent organization and start agitation that will terminate in the adoption next November of a constitutional amendment empowering the legislature to appropriate money towards defraying expenses of the centennial observance.

Committee Approves Bill For Two Cent Excise Tax

WASHINGTON, March 1. (AP)—The first completed draft of the new revenue bill containing a manufacturers sales and excise taxes will be laid before the full house ways and means committee tomorrow by Acting Chairman Crisp.

A subcommittee today unanimously approved a two per cent manufactures sales tax with an estimated yield of $525,000,000 and excise levies to bring in about $300,000,000. Increases in income estate and gift taxes are expected to produce $200,000,000.

Anti-Trust Violation Charged to Railroads

WASHINGTON, March 1. (US)—American railroads and rail holding companies were accused today by Senator King, Democrat of Utah, of violating the anti-trust laws and unloading millions of dollars in stocks and bonds on the public at extortionate prices.

He introduced a resolution asking Attorney General Mitchell to report on the operations of holding companies and on the proposed merger of eastern lines into four major systems.

Children of its alumni make up 12.5 per cent of the enrollment of Ohio Wesleyan university.

ADVICE FOR YOUNG MOTHERS

Texarkana, Ark. — "Twice during periods of expectancy I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I also took some of the Golden Medical Discovery' and was perfectly satisfied with the result, for I was greatly benefited," said Mrs. W. F. Hubbard of 209 Grand Ave. "I never had anything to improve my health so much and I am glad of this opportunity to make such a statement and hope it will be the cause of some other prospective mother being benefited." Last of Pony Express Riders Ends Journey

LOS ANGELES, March 1. (US)—Eighty-two-year-old Charles (Bronco Charlie) Miller, last of the famed Pony express riders of another century, galloped his brown mare into Los Angeles today, completing a unique 3,000-mile horseback jaunt from New York City.

His long grey hair flying in the wind, Bronco Charlie rode down an astonished Broadway, tethered his horse in an auto parking lot, and presented his pouch full of "dispatches" to the chamber of commerce.

Once again the mail had come through! And in the record time of seven months, 24 days, 6½ hours!

JAPS GAIN IN NEW ATTACK

Chapei Area in Flames As Shells Lay Waste

great fire about half a mile long. Flames leapt high into the air. The fire seemed to be most intense in the area around the North railway station which has been battered into wreckage by the Japanese guns.

Japanese headquarters announced advancing infantrymen found more than 200 Chinese dead at a cross roads which had been under heavy fire for several days. More than 700 wounded Chinese were brought back from the front to the crowded hospitals of the international settlement.

No figures on Japanese losses were made public, but a headquarters spokesman indicated they had been heavy. A colonel and a captain, he said, were among the men killed by Chinese machine gun fire in one of yesterday's assaults.

Before the guns let up last night the Japanese artillery fire was concentrated on the Chinese left wing to the south of Kiangwan. This apparently was for the purpose of reducing the Chinese positions in preparation for renewed assaults today.

Neutral observers in touch with developments reported peace negotiations were virtually at a standstill.

Chinese Are Firm

Chinese officials held a series of conferences last night and early this morning, but no definite results were achieved. The Chinese held to their contention that it was impossible to submit to the Japanese demand that they withdraw their troops.

Gen. Tsai Ting-Kai, commander of the Chinese 19th route army, was well aware that fresh Japanese reinforcements had been pouring into the area for several days in preparation for a fight to the finish, but said he would see the business out to the end.

The warfare took a new turn shortly after noon yesterday when two powerful mines blew up close to a couple of Japanese warships moored in the Whangpoo off the international settlement.

These explosions rocked all Shanghai and residents poured into the streets, thinking there was an earthquake.

The mines were so potent that when they went off they flung streams of water 50 yards into the air. One of them exploded within 20 yards of the Japanese flagship Idzumo, which has been the target of Chinese artillery on numerous occasions, and the other went off about 50 yards from the cruiser Oi, 500 yards downstream.

Foreign Ships Endangered

This second mine was only a short distance away from the bow of the American flagship Houston, anchored midstream below the Japanese consulate. The British flagship Kent was moored near the opposite shore of the Whangpoo just across from the Oi, and the Italian flagship Libia was below the Kent.

Japanese naval officers aboard the Idzumo said the mines were not close enough to do any damage, but they caused great excitement on both warships. Officials said the vessels would not change their berths.

Rear Admiral S. Shimada said that after the explosions dredges brought up rubber-insulated wire. Japanese officials expressed the belief the wire had connected the mines with the Pootung side of the river.

Reinforcements Arrive

Twelve thousand fresh reinforcements were moving into the Japanese support lines and in the reserves when the zero hour for the attack came yesterday morning.

There was a heavy artillery and air bombing preparation for the assault and a squadron of tanks crept ahead of the infantrymen.

By afternoon the action had spread throughout the entire front from Miaochungchen past Kiangwan and down to Chapei.

Observers behind the lines saw the most spectacular scene of all the fighting that has gone on here. The entire front was in constant uproar and at times the whole battle area was covered by great clouds of smoke.

General Shirakawa, who took over command of the Japanese land forces from Lieut. Gen. Kenkichi Uyeda, said he would do his utmost to avoid aggravating the situation and to limit the military operations to the minimum necessary to accomplish the speedy termination of the present crisis.

Proceeds Of 'Baby Bond' Sales To Remain At Home, Barrett Says Here

Declaring that the United States is better off economically than any other nation, A. P. Barrett of Fort Worth, state anti-hoarding drive chairman, told 100 Wichitans of the plan to draw the nation's idle cash into circulation at a meeting Tuesday morning at the Wichita club.

Mr. Barrett fired the opening blast in a tour of 16 Texas cities covering 1,200 miles by air when he stopped in the city shortly before 9 o'clock Tuesday morning. Mr. Barrett reached the public of this area in a KGKO broadcast on his arrival and later met with leading citizens of Wichita Falls at the Wichita club. Judge William N. Bonner is local chairman.

As a result of the personal introduction of the plan here, three heads of local banking institutions pledged complete cooperation in the finance reconstruction campaign. In his radio address, Mr. Barrett emphasized the need of cooperation in restoring confidence. Cash realized in sale of anti-hoarding bonds will remain in the city of purchase. The bonds are of one-year duration with two per cent interest and are payable on 60-day notice with accrued interest.

BARRETT SPEAKS AT AMARILLO, BIG SPRING

BIG SPRING, Texas, March 1. (AP)—A speech here completed the first day of A. P. Barrett's whirlwind air tour of Texas to stop hoarding. The Fort Worth man, state chairman of the federal government's anti-hoarding campaign, had stopped earlier in the day at Wichita Falls, Amarillo and Lubbock.

Barrett was a guest of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce at Dinner, and addressed a mass meeting tonight. He asserted the return of idle cash to circulation would do much to revive business.

Stock Show To Open Wednesday

ture of the Wednesday afternoon lamb and pork cutting for farm program will be a demonstration of use by Roy Snyder.

Major interest in the show is centering on the auction sale of livestock at 10 o'clock Thursday morning. The sale has been arranged by the Junior chamber of commerce and buyers for each of the Wichita county yearlings have been secured. A special effort has been made to help the youthful owners obtain a fair profit on their projects. J. R. Ray will be in charge of the auction.

Experts to Talk

The remaining Thursday program includes: Miss Mildred Horton in address to farm women at 10 a. m. Miss Zetha McInnis in a demonstration of attractive ways of serving canned meats at 10:30 a. m.

Criticisms of cured and canned meats by the judges at 1:30 p. m.

Weighing of all livestock sold at the auction at 3 p. m.

Release of exhibits to owners at 5 p. m.

Exhibits for a majority of 11 counties in this district had been entered Tuesday afternoon in all divisions of the show. Counties in the area are Wilbarger, Clay, Archer, Foard, Cottle, Hardeman, Motley, Baylor, Throckmorton, Young and Wichita.

Osborne to Speak at Luncheon for Realtors

F. K. Osborne, president of the Dallas real estate board, will speak before members of the local board at Ansley's cafe Wednesday noon, it was announced Tuesday by Ray Keith, president.

Mr. Osborne was expected for the meeting two weeks ago, and was compelled at that time to defer his appearance until March 2. Mr. Keith said that important business matters are to be considered, and urged a full attendance.

Burkburnett Boy Breaks Arms in Fall From Slide

Special to The Record News.

BURKBURNETT, Texas, March 1.—Thomas Pinkston, 11, broke both arms when he fell from a slide on the playground of a ward school this afternoon at recess time. The boy struck the ground with arms outstretched and the bones in his arms snapped just above the wrist. He is the son of Mrs. Martha Pinkston.

RITES TODAY FOR ATTORNEY

C. G. Whiten of Abilene Dies at Hospital Here

ABILENE, Texas, March 1. (AP)—Funeral rites for C. G. Whiten, attorney of Abilene who died early Tuesday of a heart attack in Wichita Falls, will be held from his home here at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

The body, accompanied by Mrs. Whiten, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. St. Clair of Comanche, and a group of Abilene friends, arrived here tonight.

Rev. W. P. Gerhart, Episcopal rector, and Rev. W. O. Bradly, Methodist minister, will have charge of the service.

HEART ATTACK FATAL TO ATTORNEY

C. G. Whiten, 46, prominent Abilene attorney, died early Tuesday morning at a Wichita Falls hospital two hours after he was stricken by a heart attack at his room in a local hotel. The body was shipped to Abilene Tuesday afternoon by the Dalton-Powell Funeral home. Funeral arrangements had not been completed at the time.

Mr. Whiten came to Wichita Falls on legal business as Texas receiver for the Julian Oil company.

Mr. Whiten told physicians he had been subject to heart trouble since November, 1931, when he was ill with influenza. He was well known in Wichita Falls, having served as master of chancery in the suit of Pat J. Hurley, receiver for the Gilliland Oil company, against the McMan Oil and Gas company in 1924-25.

Mr. Whiten had been a resident of Abilene since 1909 after his graduation from Vanderbilt university. He was reared at Mineola, Texas.

Survivors are his widow, two children, his mother and a sister, Mrs. Norma Heckman of Dallas. Mrs. Whiten arrived in Wichita Falls accompanied by the family physician at 2 o'clock Tuesday morning. She was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John B. King, 1301 Pearl, before returning to Abilene later in the morning.

COST OF AIR MAIL PROBED

Offer of Half Price Made By Cord Corporation

WASHINGTON, March 1. (INS)—A flat offer to carry the air mail for one half the present cost was made before the house postoffice committee today by Lyndol Young, attorney for the Cord corporation, as the committee began investigation of alleged exorbitant cost of the air mail.

Young said that under the present law his company is denied the opportunity to bid on air mail contracts. The postmaster general has authority to make contracts without competitive bidding.

The committee has before it bills to cancel all existing contracts. Strong opposition was expressed by W. Irving Glover, assistant postmaster general in charge of air mail.

Cheaper by Air

WASHINGTON.—According to the U. S. postoffice department, the government now spends $24,000,000 a year for transporting first class mail by train, and $15,000,000 for movement of air mail. This makes a total of $39,000,000 a year. The department believes this total could be reduced if all first class mail were carried by air.

WHEN YOU OVER-INDULGE

THERE are times when we all are tempted to take a holiday from the usual prudence.

Where is the person who wants to be discreet in diet every day in the year? It isn't human!

And it isn't necessary!

Your stomach won't be poisoned by every little indiscretion if you will just remember to give it the friendly aid of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It will sweeten the sour system and put things to rights.

Suppose you do overload your stomach with those things that bring on acidity? Phillips' Milk of Magnesia will neutralize many times its volume in acid. Just take two spoonfuls before and after such over-indulgence. It's a very simple way to prevent those miserable mornings which follow too much to eat and drink.

When you over-indulge—eating, drinking, smoking—don't suffer for hours! Nature will restore a proper alkaline balance in time, but Phillips' Milk of Magnesia acts immediately. A creamy, pleasant-tasting emulsion that sweetens the stomach, dispels that sour gas, and relieves the nausea and headache, and feeling of biliousness due to overdoing. (Phillips' milk laxative properties always help the bowels at such times.)

Make sure it's genuine. The signature of Chas. H. Phillips on the wrapper and bottle will tell you it's the real product endorsed by the medical profession. Less perfect preparations do not act the same.

For a Healthy Mouth

Use Phillips' Milk of Magnesia as a mouthwash every evening before retiring. Use Phillips' Dental Magnesia, a superior tooth paste, to keep the teeth clean and white.

Forum Department Stresses Home In Pretty Program

More than 200 members and guests were present at the final meeting for the year of the civics and health and home departments at the Woman's Forum clubhouse Tuesday when Mrs. J. A. Kemp made an address on "Changing Conditions in the Home," and members of the Unity club, who were hostesses, arranged a charming background in 10 pageant scenes showing periods in homes since the days of the American Indians.

Probably no more charming decorations have ever been seen than those arranged by Mesdames J. T. Montgomery, G. D. Anderson, P. P. Langford and other Unity members who reached the height of beauty in the simplicity of crystal bowls filled with branches of fragrant wild plum blossoms and japonica in soft rose and red shades. Mrs. A. H. Carrigan had a table that showed the style for the American hostess of 50 years ago. A pickle stand was filled with home made pickle; a six-layer cake stood on the crystal cake stand; the soup tureen, the covered silver butter dish, the celery holder with its decorative celery tops, the sugar bowl with silver spoons in the little hooks around it and the plates turned upside down with knives and forks at the right—these with other pretty touches brought reminiscent smiles to many faces. Mrs. Carrigan, when called on to tell of it, explained to the audience that the plum blossoms and japonica, were intended to represent the days when woman had her earliest home in the Garden of Eden; the tepee and Indian rug with wild flowers banked at one end on the stage, represented the day of the Indian and the table arranged as a center attraction in the room, was to represent the days of her girlhood. As the audience entered, a negro stood with a fancy fly brush shooing the flies from this table.

Pageant

Mrs. Claude Woods, president of the Unity club, acted as toastmistress. The first episode in the beautiful pageant was the appearance of Mrs. W. M. Priddy, who was dressed as an Indian maiden and sang "By the Waters of Minnetonka," with Mrs. Lucile Brooks Huff accompanying; Mrs. Joe Carrigan was a charming Puritan maid and walked through the audience in her gray gown and white cap and apron; Miss Elizabeth Carrigan, in a lovely colonial frock, represented that period; Mrs. J. H. S. Bonner was a dainty replica of the statue of the "Pioneer Woman," with her brown frock, bonnet, bag and leading a little boy by the hand. With each of these scenes, Mrs. Alfred Miller, accompanied by Mrs. Lucille Brooks Huff played beautiful violin numbers.

Mrs. J. H. Crouch was "A Belle of the Sixties," and played a medley of airs during her appearance. Joan Hoffman in a quaint red velvet frock and a wisp of hair coiled on the back of her neck, drew hearty applause as a "belle of the eighties" and Maurine Adams, representing "the gay nineties," danced to Merry Widow waltz with Mrs. Maurice Adams accompanying.

The bride of 1910 was one of the hits of the afternoon. Charlotte Maer in her mother's brocaded white satin wedding gown with a three-yard train and wearing also the exquisite rose point veil which Miss Sybil Kemp wore when she became Mrs. Newton Maer, was a charming bride; Joan Kemp and Marian Miller were train bearers.

Miss Marietta Hunt was the "hobble skirt girl" and wore the authentic dress of the period. She was a quaint picture in the broad brimmed feather trimmed hat with enormous sleeves and narrow skirt.

The last scene of the pageant was "Modern Misses," in which Patsy McGregor was the charming pajama clad maiden; Catherine Smith, the pretty girl of this period dressed for the street and Camille Avis the girl in evening gown.

Mrs. Kemp Speaks

Mrs. J. A. Kemp was presented by Mrs. Bernard Martin with a graceful tribute. Mrs. Martin stated that Mrs. Kemp came to Wichita Falls as a bride and since that time her name has been associated with everything worth while the city has sponsored.

Mrs. Kemp decried any responsibility in attempting to analyze the influences that are affecting the home. She spoke of Eden as the home of Adam and Eve, wondering if there were not some of the imperishable basic ideals there which have been the perpetuating force of the home, and emphasized the fact that all animal creation has the homing instinct. "The birds, the ants and jungle animals," she said, "build their homes after the instinctive patterns that have served them for all time with no progress. Only to mankind has the power been given to show individual expression, mental conception and changing ideals."

That all education, all government, all inventions are pronounced good or bad as they affect the home was a point made by the speaker, who emphasized the statement "home has been the base of our greatest inspiration."

From the days of the discovery of America down to the present, Mrs. Kemp gave a vivid picture of changing conditions, with stress on the changes of the past 20 years. She said that the forces of nature have been unraveled by science, that medical science and surgery have accomplished wonders and prolonged human life.

Machine Age

"We are bewildered when we consider how mechanical inventions have changed and reconstructed our homes," the speaker said. The radio, the automobile and other time savers and entertainers were mentioned. "With our Christian ideals and background of experience, I believe we will better employ the opportunity of leisure," she said, stating that the storm is the test of the craft. She paid tribute to the youth of this day, possessed of opportunities and ideals. "This is the season of sowing the seed," she said, "the harvest will come. In essentials, we will be firmly united, uncompromising and persevering; in non-essentials, we will be generous, yielding, with minds and hearts open to conviction."

Officers Elected

Mrs. O. W. Harvey presided in the business meeting and Mrs. A. H. Carrigan gave the beautiful invocation. Guests were introduced from Electra, Henrietta, Colorado, California, Bellevue, Bowie, Iowa Park and other cities.

Mrs. P. L. Myers, chairman of the nominating committee, read the slate of officers who were elected by acclamation. The same officers were named for another year: Mrs. O. W. Harvey, chairman; Mrs. R. G. Scheurer, vice chairman, and Mrs. T. F. Hunter, secretary and treasurer. The nominating committee included Mrs. Myers, chairman, Mesdames M. A. Beckman and R. G. Scheurer.

Mrs. Harvey gave a charming greeting to the number assembled and a gracious word of thanks for the cooperation of the department with her.

Mrs. Newton Maer announced the new cook book which the forum will have printed. Mrs. T. F. Hunter announced the garden contest sponsored by the civics and health and home department when prizes for the best entries will be given by the four hardware stores of the city. Mrs. Ola G. Hamlin announced the luncheon of the literature and writers, March 10, when Mrs. Ben G. Oneal's play will be presented. Mrs. M. T. Clements announced the writers' luncheon and program Thursday and Mrs. Claude Woods stated that the pageant scenes were portrayed by the children and grandchildren of Unity club members with the assistance of Mrs. J. H. Crouch, Miss Lucile Crouch, Mrs. Maurice Adams and Miss Maurine Adams and Mrs. Lucile Brooks Huff, musicians.

More than 200 were present and parties were entertained by Mesdames M. T. Chamberlin, W. L. Holloway, J. H. Crouch, Harry ten Brink, W. C. Woody, Noble Gray, Paul Pearson, O. Slopansky, B. K. Booth, Claude Gilchrist, O. R. Dunn and J. D. Bright.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

These paragraphs may seem disconnected but they are peeps at people more really than the figments of our fancy. First, a woman whom we overheard saying to another via telephone, "Let's get together and have a good old gossip.

The man in the cafe who turned his fork and head until the end of the fork was in line with his mouth; the woman with him who insisted on eating from the end of her spoon, the little fingers of each person so gracefully curved in the air.

A moment of beauty. While we are no golfer and are not particularly interested in the Bobbie Jones golf series at a local theater, we thrilled when between the lessons by voice followed by lessons with balls sent as Bobbie desired, we heard birds singing on the links where they played. Listen closely the next time you hear a lesson. It may be you will hear another bird. Spring is there—in Atlanta; we suppose that is where the champion puts on his game.

A woman who clicked her chewgum, walking along the street with a man who chewed tobacco and expectorated like a champion.

A woman who has two voices—one for home and one for the public. The honeyed sweetness of the latter is a whine for her dear ones.

The eyes that men of all ages have for youth and beauty. But who would blame them? Even women love youth and beauty. Only it is hard at times not to have those palms oneself.

The woman whom we almost ran into when she made a U turn on a forbidden corner without even putting out her hand. Phew! How she looked at us! All we hope is that we looked quite as viciously in return.

Two little peach trees in full bloom in our back yard just outside our bedroom window. It makes us feel a bit of spring's buoyancy.

That person who has hitched her or his "wagon to a star," which may have been good advice in the day it was given, but is hard on his or her fellow men—for usually, that person is ready to trample all else underfoot.

A tiny white Spitz who is convinced he can frighten us and each time we come upon his premises, dashes at us with mad barks. He must believe we tremble with fear at his growl—and he isn't 12 inches long.

Age that will not take the burden of years. Smiling sweet face and as deep an interest in events of the world as the very young.

A darling girl wearing her mother's brocaded satin wedding gown with long rose point lace veil in a pageant; adorable youth of 1932 carrying off the honors with a winning face. The bride who wore it would have been timid. Girls of 1932 have composure; their mothers and grandmothers rarely had it.

Open House Party Given At Odd Fellows Hall

Open house was observed Monday evening at the Odd Fellows hall when an entertaining program was followed by delightful refreshments. Hostesses in charge of the arrangements, all of whom were in colonial costume, included Mesdames Myrtle Montgomery, Ester Pack, Opal Ayers, Mattie Vaughn, Mildred Hodges, Miss Jimmie Ruth Martin and Mrs. Ruby McNeely, who had special charge of the silver offering that was taken to purchase silver for both organizations.

The program given was as follows: Piano solo, Mrs. G. Galmiche; boxing contests between Oscar Parrish and Alec Parrish, 12 and 13 years of age; eccentric dance, Miss Frances Shaver, accompanied by Mrs. Grace Noe; songs, with guitar accompaniment, Glen Sanders; tap toe dance, Faith Galmiche, accompanied by Mrs. G. Galmiche. An address on "George Washington and His Home Life" was made by L. V. Abernathy and a pretty playlet was the closing number, with Mrs. Lillie McNeely taking the part of George and Mrs. Grace Noe of Martha.

Dainty refreshments were served to the large crowd present.

Tejas Delphians Study Phases of Dutch Art

Members of the Tejas chapter of the Delphian society who met at the Woman's Forum clubhouse Tuesday morning studied an interesting program on landscape and still life in Dutch painting. Mrs. C. E. Beavers, leader, gave the resume.

Topics were reported as follows: "Holland's Two Great Landscape Painters," Mrs. H. P. Ledford; "Estimate of Ruysdael," Mrs. Rhea Howard; "Landscape Painting," Mrs. A. D. Tennyson; "Dutch Still Life," Mrs. G. P. Raborn; "Subject in Dutch Painting," Mrs. C. A. Rogers.

Pictures for study were discussed with interest Mrs. R. G. Cocanower had the pictures of Ruysdael; Mrs. R. L. Hargrave those of Hobbema and Huysum.

First District Women Plan For Spring Meetings

With the opening of March, federated clubs are beginning to prepare for conferences. The dates for several have already been announced and programs are being planned. The Wichita County federation will meet in Iowa Park for the day on Wednesday, March 9, with the 1923 Iowa Park Study club and the Pleasant Valley Demonstration club as hostesses. The conference will be held in the First Baptist church.

Members who anticipate attending are requested to telephone 2-2034 so that reservations may be made. Clubs who have not done so were urged to pay dues so they may vote.

Members of the Wilbarger county federation, who will convene Saturday at their clubhouse near Vernon, will have first district officers from Fort Worth among their speakers. Wichita county will be represented.

The Clay county federation, which will meet at Bellevue on Friday, March 11, will have as the theme of the day, the bicentennial.

The inter-county conference will be held in Wichita Falls on Wednesday, March 22. Seven counties will be represented in that meeting and the theme of the conference has been announced as "Products of Texas Women."

The first district Texas Federation of Women's clubs, to convene at the Woman's Forum clubhouse, April 21, 22 and 23, will conclude federation meetings in this district until autumn. Approximately 400 women are expected to be in the city at that time and arrangements are being made for interesting entertainment as well as splendid business programs.

STOPPED THE CROAKERS

Guests at a California hotel were bothered by croaking bull frogs disturbing their sleep at night. The hotel manager rigged up a powerful searchlight system, bathed the nearby pool with light, and the frogs stopped their nocturnal music.

Study Club Will Give Program At P.-T. A. Meeting

Members of the executive board of the Benjamin Franklin P.-T. A. will meet in the auditorium of the school at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon with the regular meeting of the parent-teacher association following. The program will be given by the study club group.

Papers especially prepared for the occasion will be given as follows: "Character Training," by Mrs. L. T. Burns; "What the Benjamin Franklin Study Club Has Meant to Me," Mrs. Walter Prechel. The program is looked forward to as one of the outstanding features of the year and a large attendance is expected.

Election of officers will be a part of the business session following the program. The nominating committee has been made as Mrs. L. H. Estes, chairman, Mesdames L. E. McConnell and Herbert Voelcker. Plans will be made at this time for the carnival to be held soon and committees will be appointed. Delegates will be elected for the district meeting in Quanah and plans for the spring round-up will be discussed.

A play room for small children whose mothers cannot leave them will be in charge of the Girl Reserves and it is requested that all members attend the meeting.

Humane education will be studied at the next meeting. This is reported to be a new feature of the association and preparation is being made for an interesting program.

Ben F. Greer Makes Speech At Friberg Tree Planting

Ben F. Greer gave the dedication speech when the Friberg P.-T. A. had a tree planting ceremonial at the school Monday afternoon. Mr. Greer said in part, "These trees we are planting today, we dedicate to the father of our country and to the boys and girls of our community who will soon be the men and women of our country and will carry on in our places.

"Washington himself must have loved trees, for his diary contains repeated references to their value and care. He chose a spot for his home where their beauty is unexcelled.

"Deep rooted in the ground, a tree is like a man coming up out of the earth, but lifting his branches to heaven. It may outlast the ages. And as it grows in usefulness, it grows in beauty. It offers its shade to all alike. A tree bespeaks the spirit of Washington. He was democratic in his services, regal in his leadership, commanding in his principles, while he extended a brotherly hand to a new and independent nation struggling for a fuller freedom. Our boys and girls, as they grow into manhood and womanhood, will, we hope, realize the true value of conservation and cooperate in the retrieving of our forests. Charles Lathrop Pack has said, "If the nation saves the trees, the trees will save the nation."

The school children marched while they sang "Star Spangled Banner" and "America." The boys' club led the march, followed by the Girls' Glee club and the remainder of the school.

Flag bearers were A. D. Kemp and Erbie Horton, both Boy Scouts. After the salute to the flag, members of the boys' club planted the four trees. The Girls' Glee club sang "The Flag," led by Emma Jean Eubanks.

George White of Montana, who has made a close study of the birthplace of Washington, told interesting facts about Mount Vernon and Wakefield.

Visitors present included Mesdames Mathews and Bryant of Oklahoma and Mr. and Mrs. George White of Montana.

The trees were donated by Mr. and Mrs. Singleterry.

Why blame stockings when YOU may be at fault?

Are you washing away the ELASTICITY that makes stockings wear?

"ANOTHER PAIR GONE!"—but don't blame the stockings. Do you know YOU may have caused those costly runs?

New stockings give under strain—stretch and spring right back again—because they are elastic.

But if you wash away the elasticity, the lifeless threads, instead of giving, break. The slightest little strain—then a wretched run!

With Lux, you preserve this precious elasticity. That is why this easy way of washing makes even your sheerest, loveliest stockings wear and WEAR.

The Lux Way to save the ELASTICITY that makes stockings wear and fit

Wash this 2-minute way:

1. One teaspoon of Lux for each pair.
2. Add lukewarm water to Lux, squeeze suds through stockings, rinse well.

Don't rub with cake soap. It destroys the elasticity. With Lux there is no rubbing.

Avoid ordinary soaps—cakes, powders, chips. These often contain harmful alkali which weakens silk threads, fades colors. Lux has no harmful alkali. Anything safe in water is safe in Lux.

Don't use too-warm water—it fades color. With Lux you use lukewarm water. No hot water needed.

MILLIONS of women keep hands lovely at small cost with Lux in the dishpan.

WOMEN HELD IN BOLD ROBBERY

Feminine Hijackers Take Sum From Painter

OKLAHOMA CITY, March 1. (UP)—Two attractive women, who said their home was Washington, D. C., were held by police today as bandit suspects.

Police said E. R. Fagerquist, a painter, identified the two as the bandit pair who threatened him with a gun earlier in the day and took $5. The women were driving a large sedan when police scouts arrested them an hour after the robbery.

At headquarters, they gave the names of Mrs. I. M. Wheeler and Mrs. J. B. Davis, both of Washington. Detective Chief W. E. Snelson said letters indicated they were from Savannah, Ga., and Raleigh, N. C.

Both women wept while being questioned. They refused to make any statement.

Fagerquist told of the robbery.

"I was standing on a downtown corner waiting for some friends. A big car drove past, turned around and came back.

"One woman called to me, 'Are you lonesome?'

"I told them I was not, that I was waiting on friends."

"Haven't you got any money?" Fagerquist quoted her as saying.

"Sure, I have $5," he answered.

"Then the black haired one pulled out a gun and poked it in my face. The other said, 'Hand over the money, buddy, and scram.'

"They looked so innocent like I just gave them my $5," the painter said.

Several Utilities Concerns Desire Oklahoma Nat. Gas

NEW YORK, March 1. (AP)—It was reported in public utility circles today that several utility companies were negotiating for control of the Oklahoma Natural Gas company, the principal natural gas producing company of the Tri-Utilities corporation, in receivership.

Whether the reports were based upon actual tenders or were inspired by the recent sale of other Tri-Utilities corporation subsidiaries could not be learned in official quarters.

After yesterday's sale under the hammer of the Eastern Minnesota Power company, a subsidiary of the Peoples Light and Power company, representatives of the interests involved in the Tri-Utilities group indicated that the corporation would never exist again as a unified system and that the Federal Water Service and Southern Natural Gas corporations would operate as separate units.

The Southern Natural Gas and Oklahoma Natural Gas companies are subsidiaries of the American Natural Gas company, which was the natural gas holding unit of Tri-Utilities corporation.

Thieves Dine After Working Frederick Safe

Special to The Record News

FREDERICK, Okla., March 1.—Thieves who Sunday night robbed the high school vault here of $5, visited the fridigaire in the home economics room before their departure, and ate lunch.

Miss Jewell Graham, home economics teacher, found empty milk bottles, and a half-emptied jar of raisins, a section of raw ham and some cakes were missing.

Entrance to the building was made through the open window of the boys' lavatory. Two office doors were removed from their hinges and propped against the wall.

The combination was worked in unlocking the vault.

Railroads Ask I. C. C. to Regulate Motor Freight

Special to The Record News.

WASHINGTON, March 1. (AP)—Railroad representatives today urged the Interstate Commerce commission to ask congress to provide complete regulation for commercial motor vehicles throughout the country.

The commission began hearing arguments on a proposed report by Examiner Leo J. Flynn, recommending that motor trucks and buses be regulated and that railroads be permitted to enter the trucking business.

Death Ends Romance Of Pair in Apartment

CHICAGO, March 1. (INS)—Death today ended the drab romance of Fred Mueller, 67, a waiter, and Mrs. Marie Szantay, 48, a widow.

They were found shot to death in the apartment where they had lived as man and wife for eight years.

Police said Mueller evidently shot the woman and then committed suicide.

In a note, the waiter declared Mrs. Szantay "tricked me out of all my money—$13,000."

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough due to a cold can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in millions of homes, because it gives more prompt, positive relief than anything else. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey to make a full pint. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicine, and gives you a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes good—children like it.

You can actually feel its penetrating, soothing action on the inflamed throat membranes. It is also absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly on the bronchial tubes. At the same time, it promptly loosens the germ-laden phlegm. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief even in those severe coughs which follow cold epidemics.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest medicinal agents for severe coughs and bronchial irritations.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

The Greeks Had a Garb for It

Out in Los Angeles, home of the movie bathing beauty, they had a trial over the costumes of Lysistrata, Greek suffragist, whose exploits were written up in stage play form. In the Pacific coast metropolis they arrested 58 actors and actresses, including the producer. On the left, in picture above, Policewoman Mary Roes is explaining to judge and jury details of the costume in the play "Lysistrata," worn by Dorothy Jackson. On the right is shown a typical Santa Monica bathing suit. Santa Monica is a Pacific ocean suburb of Los Angeles where all the movie colony goes. Lysistrata's gossamer garb, designed to keep the soldiers at home, was under fire, but as no one had ever censored the scant beach costumes, which, in the movie zone, are rather al fresco, the jury of one man and 11 women decided that Lysistrata's costume was all right, too.

Langdon Divorce Decision Reserved

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., March 1. (AP)—Decision was reserved by Supreme Court Justice Joseph Morschauser today in the separation action of Mrs. Helen Walton Langdon against Harry Langdon, film comedian.

The court directed that Langdon appear personally in the case to be sure he understood the action.

Mrs. Langdon testified at the hearing today to support her charge of abandonment. She said she and Langdon were married at Beverly Hills, Calif., July 27, 1929. On Oct. 4, 1931, she said, he told her he was leaving her and would not come back. She has not seen him since, she said.

A stipulation, signed by her counsel and Langdon, was offered, which provided she was to receive $150 a week for six months, after which the amount was to be increased to $200.

After the hearing, Mrs. Langdon told reporters that "I still love Harry and think I always shall." She added the idea of alimony was obnoxious to her, but she had no money and she wanted to "make a niche for myself." Asked whether she planned to return to the stage, she said she probably would try to write.

Southwest Farmers To Get $7,000,000

DALLAS, March 1. (AP)—Appointment of Carl Gallagher of Dallas as office manager of the regional agricultural loan office of the reconstruction finance corporation was announced today by Owen Sherrill, regional manager, under whom he will serve.

Sherrill said he planned to spend as much time as possible touring Texas, Arizona and New Mexico, the states comprising the southwest region. He expects to distribute approximately $7,000,000 in agricultural loans in the next three months.

About 60 contact men will be appointed to tour the field in the loan work, Sherrill said. Graduates of agricultural colleges will be used as much as possible.

Sherrill urged the immediate appointment of loan boards in each county of the region to work with the county agricultural agent in initiation of loan applications. These boards are each to be comprised of one farmer, one banker and one merchant.

Personnel of these county boards should be sent immediately to O. B. Martin, head of the agricultural extension department of Texas A. & M. college.

SIX ACCUSED IN BANK ROBBERY

Charges Filed at Dallas In Richardson Case

DALLAS, March 1. (AP)—Felony charges were filed today against six men in connection with robbery of the Citizens State bank at Richardson last Thanksgiving day and the kidnaping of Night Watchman George Huffines.

The accused men were Brooks Woodman, Lawrence Evans, Clifton Davidson, Otto Cox, John Hannan and Albert Reeder. All are in jail except Evans, who is in Parkland hospital for treatment of a gunshot wound he received in trying to evade capture recently.

Four counts were filed against each man. The first charged robbery with firearms for the disarming of Night Watchman Huffines. The second alleged burglary of the Richardson bank. The third charged theft of $115 and a watch from the bank. The other charged theft of an acetylene torch and gauges from the Trinity farm Nov. 24.

Four of the accused men, Woodman, Evans, Davidson and Cox, were in jail on other charges in connection with robberies here and in Fort Worth.

Detective Who Solved Murder Frames Case

TUCSON, Ariz., March 1. (INS)—J. A. Street, El Paso, Texas, the department of justice agent who obtained a confession from Golney Seymour, 21, Apache brave, that he attacked and killed Miss Henrietta Schmerler, Columbia university co-ed, on the Apache reservation last July, today began preparation of the government's case against Seymour who will be brought to trial in Globe, Ariz., March 14.

Before he unraveled what appeared to be a tribal secret, Street worked in the White river Apache country for four months.

Seymour's attorney has indicated that the defense will center around certain violations of Apache code by Miss Schmerler who was engaged in family life research among the red men. The two were on their way to a festival dance when Seymour confessed he attacked the university co-ed in a dark canyon and a short time later crushed her skull with rocks.

Texas Oil Man to Wed California Sportswoman

REDWOOD CITY, Calif., March 1. (AP)—Talbot Wildman, 34, president of the Wildman Petroleum corporation of Fort Worth, and Evelyn Lansdale, 25, sportswoman and daughter of Philip M. Lansdale, San Mateo and San Francisco capitalist, filed notice here today of their intention to wed. They said the ceremony would take place Saturday at San Mateo.

Dean Of Cathedral Tells His Views On Marriage In Wife's Divorce Suit

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 1. (UP)—Forty-year-old Dean Israel H. Noe of fashionable St. Mary's Episcopal cathedral, testifying today in the trial of his wife's suit for divorce, told of his struggle to reconcile the marriage relationship with teachings of the Bible.

The basis of his wife's suit is the alleged unwillingness of her husband to agree to their having the boy baby she wanted. They have two daughters. Dean Noe has maintained a belief that "sexual instincts are for procreation purposes only," and that physicians advised him his wife's health would suffer if she bore another child.

The pallid clergyman, four years his wife's senior, told of a conversation with a colleague, Rev Alfred Loaning-Clark, concerning the Bible's view on marriage. Clark had sought to reunite the couple.

Quoted Bible

"We were discussing the fifth verse, seventh chapter, 8 Corinthians," Dean Noe said. "The verse says:

"'It is better to marry than burn.'

"Dr. Clark considered that this verse seemed to contradict St. Paul, 8 Thessalonians, fourth chapter. I told him it was only seemingly a contradiction."

The fourth chapter, 1 Thessalonians, reads in part:

"Not in the lust of concupiscence . . . for God hath not called us unto uncleanliness, but unto holiness."

The dean's further discussion of Biblical references to marriage was stopped by Chancellor M. E. Ketchum after Dean Noe referred to his wife as "a Judas Iscariot."

Opposed Divorce

Dean Noe then explained he meant that Judas' disloyalty to Christ was "similar except in degree" to her "disloyalty in exposing" his whole life.

The dean, neatly dressed in a black suit and wearing a dark vest, finished his testimony today with the comment he didn't want his wife to get a divorce.

"Why don't you want your wife to have a divorce?" he was asked.

"Because I love my wife and my children. Because I want to preserve the unity of the home," he replied, picking his words carefully and speaking slowly but distinctly.

Rheumatic Pains Yield Quickly to Rx A-2851

Agonizing rheumatic pains in shoulder, arm, leg, knee or foot disappear promptly, and soreness in joints and muscles are relieved by a famous prescription known to druggists for over 67 years.

Prescription A-2851, as it is called, is designed to go right to the seat of the trouble and drive uric acid out of the system and dissolve the chalky deposits that cause painful swellings and torturous ache. Also surprisingly effective in relieving many forms of gout, neuritis and sciatic nerve pain. Refilled over one million times by grateful users.

Don't suffer another day. Tear out this announcement and hand it to your druggist, or be sure to remember the name—Prescription A-2851. In liquid or pill form. No harmful drugs or opiates. Get it today.

Claude Bowers Predicts Gov. Byrd's Election

RICHMOND, Va., March 1. (AP)—The Richmond Times-Dispatch today quoted Claude G. Bowers, New York writer and keynote speaker at the 1928 Democratic national convention, as predicting former Gov. Harry F. Byrd's "certain" election if nominated as Democratic presidential candidate and said his nomination would be "wholly acceptable."

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Haskin, director, Washington, D. C.

Q.—What is the value of the Cuban tobacco crop?—B. A.

A.—It is worth from 40 to 50 million dollars yearly.

Q.—Who made the first modern cross-word puzzle?—G. W. L.

A.—The first genuine cross-word puzzle of the modern type was composed by Arthur Winn and appeared in a supplment of the New York Sunday World on Dec. 21, 1913. The outbreak of the world war arrested the cross-word puzzle craze temporarily, but it was revived as a feature in the World in 1916.

Q.—What kind of a dance was a passepied?—T. E. D.

A.—It was a lively dance in triple rhythm which preceded the minuet. It is thought to have originated in Bretagne.

Q.—Please give the dimensions of some of the rooms at Mount Vernon.—O. P. Y.

A.—The central hall on the main floor of Mount Vernon is 10x30 feet; the east parlor, 17x11; the west parlor, 17x17; the family dining room 17x15; and the banquet hall 30x22.

Q.—What do the initials, P. V. D stand for on an old silver tankard?—M. G. W.

A.—They stand for Peter Van Dyke, a silversmith who was born in New York in 1684 and died 1751.

Q.—Where is the gold reserve of France kept?—V. W. A.

A.—Specially constructed vaults have been provided to house the gold reserves of France. These vaults are in a big chamber covering 2½ acres, 200 feet below the earth's surface. Above the ceiling is first 40 feet of water and then 50 feet of solid rock. This safety deposit has been built since the world war. A place was planned which would not only be safe from bombs but where the bank force guarding it would be safe from gas attack. A supply of fresh air is drawn into the vault chamber through a secret source. The fact of the vaults being under water is explained as resulting from the flow of a river beneath the city of Paris. This was dicovered when the opera house was built just before the war of 1870.

Q.—What was the gross revenue received by the United States treasury from tariffs in 1930 and in 1931?—W. L. T.

A.—The United States customs revenues in 1920 equaled $587,000,903; in 1931 $378,354,005.

Q.—Is it true that old gun barrels were used for the first gas pipes in England?—J. M. B.

A.—Turned and bored cast iron pipes were used for gas as early as 1868. In Norman's Romance of the Gas Industry reference is found to the fact that an overstock of gun barrels were screwed together and used for pipes for distributing illuminating gas in London early in the 18th century.

Q.—Who wrote the poem containing the lines "When God sorts out the weather and sends rain, why rain's my choice"?—C. C.

A.—James Whitcomb Riley.

Q.—Of what nationality was Mata Hari, the German spy?—D. D.

A.—While a fiction was created about her birth in India, she in reality was a Dutch girl, Marguerite Gertrude Zelle, born Aug. 7, 1876 at Leeuwaarden in Frisia. She married Capt. Rudolph MacLeod. After some years of wretched married life, she was deserted and trained herself as a dancer. Her astonishing popularity followed. Eventually she came under suspicion as a German spy during the world war. She was arrested, convicted, and shot.

What's become of the old prediction that there would be a slump in business because it's a presidential year?

Open the Censors' Books

CERTAIN citizens of New York are urging the state assembly to pass a law which would compel New York's movie censors to open their books for public inspection and show just why they make cuts in pictures.

The idea is one that might apply wherever there are censors. For movie censorship, designed originally to protect our innocent minds from vulgar and immoral influences, is beginning to do what censorship always does sooner or later—to operate to protect the reputations of officeholders.

One of the backers of the proposed law points out that New York's censors do their heaviest cutting on films which might lead the public to suspect that there was ever any such thing as graft in public office.

Make a movie in which there is a successfully crooked police captain, mayor, governor or other public official and the chances are strong that the censors will eliminate the graft. This is true not only in New York state but in many other parts of the country. Censors everywhere seem to feel that movie audiences must never be told that any of their elected representativs go wrong.

The absurdity of this, of course, is obvious. Yet it is in line with one of our greatest national failings—our tendency to think everything is all right if we say it is.

Corruption in public office is a terrible thing—but it's all right if we don't talk about it too much. (Do you remember the way leading citizens condemned the senators who exposed the oil scandals in the Harding administration?)

War is a terrible danger, too—but we're all right if only every nation will sign a treaty agreeing not to use war any more as an instrument of national policy. (Japan signed that treaty, too, you know.)

The depression is proving extremely uncomfortable, what with 7,000,000 or more wage earners unable to get jobs—but it'll be all right if we just will try hard enough to pretend that times aren't really very bad. (You can recall civic leaders who have taken that attitude, can't you?)

So it goes. The movie censors are ridiculous, to be sure; but they are not much more ridiculous than the rest of the professional Pollyannas who think that everything is just dandy as it is.

Transgressors Take Notice

STEPS were taken by the city council Monday night to check a phase of poster advertising which has come to be handled almost as a racket in the past two years.

Like every other city, Wichita Falls has had its share of vacant buildings in the downtown district. While owners and agents have endeavored to keep such property clean, and attractive to prospective occupants, various concerns have appropriated the right to use display windows in lieu of billboards.

Many show windows in the business district have been kept in a state of extreme unsightliness, despite the efforts of owners and realty agents to keep them clear. Posters of every description, and signs painted with chalk, have been smeared promiscuously upon such spaces. When admission could be gained to the building, such advertising matter was placed on the inside—a partial guarantee of longer life.

Much of this ruthless abuse of property rights has been done at night. Fly-by-night advertisers for nationally known concerns plaster their printed matter on such windows and are on their way before dawn. Amusement and tobacco concerns are said to be among the worst offenders.

The ordinance which the council is preparing to punish such practices should meet with energetic support on the part of the entire citizenship. Advertising is a demonstrated stimulant to business, but this kind of advertising, without consent of property owners, is an open transgression of property rights, and of doubtful value at its best.

Kill This Bill

ONE excellent thing congress might do in the present session is to kill the pending bills providing for compulsory registration of all aliens.

There are in the United States some 6,000,000 aliens. These proposed laws would subject them to a mean bureaucratic tyranny. They would enromously strengthen the hand of the reactionary industrial would enormously strengthen the hand of the racketeering. They would quite effectively Prussianize the entire United States and would make the spy a familiar American institution.

After all, these aliens have conducted themselves extremely well during the very difficult times that the past two years have brought. No one with any sense has had any occasion to get scared of Communism. Why go out of our way to make these 6,000,000 look on Uncle Sam as a heavy-handed tyrant?

SO THEY SAY!

Mr. Green also submits the message that an admiral once sent: "We have met the enemy and they are ours!" He adds:

When the Japs met the Chinkees they sent the home office this message: "We have met the enemy and ouch!"

Louder and Tunnier

Gene Tunney tells of his experiences as a lifeguard at Keansburg, N. J., in an interesting magazine article, but he doesn't reveal that he was ousted from his boarding house there.

Because Gene refused to wear anything over his bathing jersey at the dinner table. So he found another house where the formality was not so essential.

Add Rackets

The latest of the gags being pulled locally goes this way: A beggar enters a restaurant and palms the proprietor for a sandwhich and a saucer of Java. Later he asks for a ciggie. He gets it and reaches into his own pocket for a match. As he does so from his pocket tumbles a $10 bill, which the proprietor usually snatches and then he remonstrates with the "phoney" for begging when he can afford to pay. He takes out the amount of the feed, gives the beggar the change and then orders

The following day at the bank the restaurateur is informed that the 10 spot is counterfeit. him away.

Temporary Insight

I am agreeably conscious of
The fact there isn't so much love—
Brief ecstasy and an interim.
Of contemplating the faults of him,
Before the glamour returns again,
And brings that sharp "do you love me" pain.
I know the cycle and every phase;
My mind is washed of emotion's haze;
I know and I know love is triesome,
And a girl's a fool to require some

Oh, well I know, but small comfort these—
A rack of books and a Pekinese.
—Jane Sayre.

Merciless Truth

Unkie Shafer's favorite pepigram is: "The applause of the people is but a blast of air!"

Which is why, adds Shafer, so few of us catch cold.

A Form of Criticism

Wilson Mizner, one of the more amusing clowns in Hollywood, saw Rufus LeMaire, who has a nose like Jimmy Durante's, at a recent movie premiere.

"Rufus, in a silk hat," barked Mizner, "sets civilization back 300 years!"

Another

In the long ago days Wilson Mizner ran a dice house in Alaska where he taught many a sucker a good lesson. He was reminiscing about those times the other night and said: "I once had a waiter there who was such a petty thief—he invented rubber pockets to steal soup!"

Nifty

Beau Broadway's pepigram is a pip: "The only trouble about putting up a bluff on Broadway is that you fall over it."

Pepitaph No. 6

Add to our list of appropriate epitaphs—the suggestion from J. Fearlman, to wit: Erect a tall and heavy monument over W. W.'s grave and have it inscribed: "Walter Winchell, His Last Column—And His Best!"

Elegy on Sleep

The milk can's clatter hails the day,
A factory whistle shrieks out wild and free;
The world arises, in its usual way,
By waking you and you and you —and me! —Norman Sullivan.

As If We Didn't Know

And it is Al Schwartz's observation that the only thing true about a Broadway Pal—is his aim.

Curse

"I hope," hopes J. H. Pollack of Philadelphia, "that all your children become columnists and have their style burgled!"

Sotto Voce

Ruth Walsh, N. Y. C.: It never appeared here.

Frank Hackett, New Orleans: Veriwell, sir. But your rhymes don't.

O, Mr. Wilstach!

Skeptical as a gossip columnist about a star's domestic bliss . . . Jack Harrower: As inefficient as an efficiency system . . . Dave Blader: As much sex-appeal as Gandhi . . . Bugs Baer: His voice sounds like leaky plumbing . . . Anon: Just as sure as a George Jessel imitator is to sing "My Mother's Eyes" . . . Lester Zimmerman: Unexpected as a squirt from an aggressive grapefruit . . . Geo. J. McGivney: As self-conscious as the wife of a psychoanalyst . . . Anon: Funny as a drunkard in a house of mirrors . . . Mac Benoff's: Her kisses were as cold as the African team in the Olympic bobsled races . . . Pathfinder: Money is as hard to borrow these days as it is to pay back!

Heheheh

A worthy and Above-the-Belt competitor is the conductor of the column called "Main Street Meditations," in the esteemed Plain Dealer, of Cleveland. The sender of the following clipping did not include the columnist's handle, and we are in haste.

However, the paragrapher had this to jot down: "Another friend of mine discoursed for half an hour on the tragedies Winchell undoubtedly caused by his gossip. After we had all agreed with her that he ought to be suppressed, she entertained us for another half hour by telling us the full details of a separation between two people we all know."

Gag

It happened in the case of two tune-writers, dialecticians, who had won some fame on melodies thefted from others. Alf Friedman explains that one of them was dying, and as he was gasping his last gasps, his partner in crime stood by.

"I'm pessing hon to de bevond," murmured the sick one. "I kin hear de hainjells singing dare songs."

"Qveek!" yelled the partner as he grabbed a pencil, "nobody'll know vare it came frum—just get me de chorus!"

MADE A MILLION DOLLARS BY STANDING STILL—Eugene Sandow, who was known as the perfect specimen of physical culture, was a native of Konigsberg, Prussia, and was frail and sickly in his youth. By dint of exercise he developed his physique to such perfection that people flocked to his exhibitions, not to see him lift weights or to be entertained by the usual run of strong man stunts, but merely to gaze at him and be exalted by the beauty of his physical development. He was a pioneer in the art of classical poses and his postures have become the stock in trade of the entire profession. He made a million dollars by standing still.

CHAPTER XI

When the effort to divert John N. Garner into the chairmanship of the committee on foreign affairs had failed, the issue was thrown into the Democratic caucus.

Garner emerged from this grand council of his party with more votes for a place on ways and means than were received by any other candidate. He now turned his attention toward carrying out a definite platform pledge, upon which his party had been returned to power in executive and legislative branches, the revision of the tariff.

Mr. Garner's whole effort to go upon ways and means had been with this in view. He had a natural talent for tariff making, and he had a Texas constituency in seeing to it that the tariff was made national, and not sectional in scope, as had been the case with previous Republican tariffs.

He played a conspicuous part, in committee, in framing the Underwood-Simmons tariff law, which in due season superseded the Payne-Aldrich law which had contributed so largely to Mr. Taft's failure to succeed himself in the White House, and to the election of Woodrow Wilson as president.

Under the new system of organization in the house, under the Democratic formula which had supplanted the despotism of the Reed and Cannon regimes, Oscar W. Underwood, of Alabama, was not only chairman of ways and means, but the floor leader, and the ways and means committee was not merely the fiscal committee of the house, charged with responsibility for all bills raise revenue, but it was the policy committee of the Democratic majority, charged with responsibility for all party programs in the house. Thus Garner, as a member of that committee, functioned in a dual role. It gave him a magnificent training in leadership.

Work Done Well

So perfectly was the work of the committee done in framing the Underwood bill, so smoothly did the party function under the able direction of Speaker Champ Clark, that the Underwood act was put upon its final passage in the house without a "gag" rule to aid the leaders. It was the first time in the history of the house that a tariff bill had been enacted without a "gag" since the Republican party had introduced the custom of passing such measures under drastic rules limiting debate and the right of amendment, thus rendering minorities impotent.

An amusing exchange of pleasantries occurred while the tariff bill was under discussion in 1913, which revealed Garner's sense of humor, and his ability to take—and give—a joke.

Now, there are lots of mohair goats in the fifteenth Texas district, and Garner has looked after that goat industry with a jealous eye. It means a lot to his people. So, when the Underwood bill was seen to contain a few kind thoughts for goats, J. Hampton Moore, now the mayor of Philadelphia, but who was then in the house, rose to his feet one day and convulsed everybody by reading a little poem, which went like this, and was entitled "Garner's Goat of Texas":

"Of all the creatures in the land,
Of pedigrees supremely grand,
There's none that does respect command
Like Garner's goat, of Texas.

"So, while you kick the wool off sheep
And beef and mutton make so cheap,
Protective tariff now will keep
The Garner goat of Texas.

Speaker and Mrs. John N. Garner and their granddaughter, Genevieve Garner, at the Garner home at Uvalde, Texas, in the autumn of last year.

"Oh, wondrous breed of Lone Star State!
Premier in wool and hair, thy rate
Of ten per cent is truly great—
The Garner goat, of Texas.

Laugh Is on Garner

The laugh was on Garner. It was generally admitted that Hampie Moore's literary effort was the best poem on goats which had delighted the sensitive ear of the house of representatives since that day, many years before, when Private John Allen, of Mississippi, under somewhat similar circumstances, had burst into song:

"Mary had a little lamb,
It's fleece was white as snow;
It followed her to Pittsburgh, one day,
And look at the damn thing now."

Garner didn't care how much the house might laugh at that 10 per cent duty on mohair. But they couldn't laugh at the goat of Texas. He went into a corner, chewed the end off of a couple of lead pencils, and a little later in the debate, he turned to Hampie Moore, and neatly turned the laugh when he read a poem which he had composed for the occasion:

"Hampie Moore is a heluva poet—
He don't know a sheep from a goat."

Life in congress is not all seriousness. The man who can give and take a pleasantry goes farther than one who has no sense of humor. Nothing amuses Garner to this day more than a recitation of Hampie Moore's doggerel.

Finally Garner had the satisfaction of voting for the completed Underwood act, which, with the addition of the name of Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, eventually became the law, by President Wilson's signature. Thus was this party pledge fulfilled.

Presides Over House

During the next session Garner frequently presided over the house, obtaining a most valuable knowledge of the machinery of government of that large and unwieldly body. He also acquired a helpful psychological insight into the minds of his colleagues. He came, in the end, to know the house better perhaps than any other man in it, on the Democratic side. While he did not deliver any set speeches, none whatever, he participated often in debate, covering the whole field of legislative and governmental activity. A few sentences at a time, crisp and to the point.

When the fateful time came, and America was plunged into the world war on the side of the allies, he was one of the best equipped men on either side of the house, a tower of strength to Speaker Clark. In the war congress he was a leader.

He voted for the national defense act, of March 23, 1916. About a year later, on March 1, 1917, when the war clouds were gathering swiftly, he voted to furnish arms to American merchant vessels for defensive purposes. Then came the president's message, setting forth the various acts of aggression on the part of Germany. He voted for the war resolution, which took America into the conflict overseas.

The Two-Thirds Rule

Champ Clark had been deprived of the Democratic nomination for president at the Baltimore convention, in 1912, although he had had a majority of the votes. The two-thirds rule ultimately defeated him. Between him and President Wilson there was a coolness perfectly understandable under the circumstances. Wilson's relations with Claude Kitchin, of North Carolina, then chairman of ways and means, were no more cordial. They were, indeed, hostile.

During the long days of the costly war, President Wilson called repeatedly upon Garner for advice

Principles of Water Application

Water treatments are valuable for the purpose of washing out or diluting toxic materials, in softening hardened tissues, and in controlling the circulation and temperature of the body, the action depending entirely on the ways the applications are made.

One of the most valuable uses of water is in the form of hot or cold applications to relieve pain or banish congestion. There are just two principal effects of heat or cold applied to the body and it is very easy to choose the one most suitable. Remember that the heat applied to the tissues relaxes the muscular fibres. Cold produces the opposite effect, contracting the muscles and producing a temporary anemia. Inasmuch as a pain is usually accompanied by a contraction of muscular fibres, relief can generally be accomplished by the application of heat to the congested tissues. On the other hand, where fever is excessive, it is often advisable to use cold applications to control the fever within reasonable limits.

It is vitally important to furnish the body with a good supply of drinking water for the elimination of both the natural toxins and extra impurities which need to be thrown out after the physical and mental exertions. There is always more danger in not drinking enough water than there is in drinking too much. It is better to do the water drinking between meals when the stomach is empty as this does not interfere with digestion and the stomach is not overdistended with the combination of food and water. Those who are attempting to cure themselves of any disease will do well to use two or three quarts of water a day even though they do not feel the need of this amount. The purest water obtainable should be used, and, if doubt exists as to the purity, it is always safe to use distilled water which is entirely free from minerals and micro-organisms.

In certain disorders where water cannot be taken into the mouth the system can be supplied with sufficient water through the use of the Murphy drip attachment which can be used with any ordinary fountain syringe. This treatment is taken in much the same way as an enema except that the flow of water is controlled so that it enters the intestines drop by drop and is absorbed through the intestinal walls. Distilled water is best for this purpose as it is absorbed in about half the time required by ordinary tap water. The intestinal colon bath or enema is certainly the best single help that a physician has at his command. It can be used with benefit in every acute and chronic ailment and is always indicated where pain is present in any part of the body.

In disorders of the pelvic region a very effective remedy will be found in the hot Sitz bath for about 10 minutes. Where a toning effect is desired the hot Sitz bath can be followed by a cold Sitz bath lasting three or four minutes. Where headaches are caused by a congestion of blood in the head, a good treatment is a 20-minute hot foot bath which serves to draw the heavy blood away from the head into the limbs.

The elimination of impurities through the skin can be increased through the use of sweat baths, sheet packs, and sponge baths. Every person should take at least two shower or sponge baths daily. Cool or cold water is to be preferred because of its toning effect upon the skin, but its use should always be followed by a friction rub with a coarse towel in order to bring about a good skin reaction.

Those who wish to remain well will find in the various uses of water the most effective and easily available and at the same time inexpensive treatments obtainable.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Tuberculosis Not Inherited

Question—Mrs. T. I. writes: "I would like to ask a question about a boy 10 years old whose parents both died with tuberculosis, the father being 25 when he died and the mother 30. The boy was constantly with her during her illness. He has had tonsils and adenoids removed. He is pale and nervous. There seems to be quite a discharge from his nose during cold weather. What would you advise?"

Answer—It has been found that tuberculosis is not inherited but the predisposition toward the disease may be. The boy may also have contracted the disease during childhood. For this reason I believe the best plan would be to have the boy examined by some competent doctor and X-rays of his chest taken to be sure that he is free of active tuberculosis. He is very likely suffering from catarrh of the nose. If you can obtain the exact diagnosis, I will be pleased to advise you.

ROAD WORK TO AID CHILDRESS

Improvements to Be Made On Highways 4 and 5

Special to The Record News

CHILDRESS, Texas, March 1.—Plans and specifications for the grading and drainage structures on highway 4 from Red river to the south line of Collingsworth county have been completed and announcement made the contract for the work will be let at the monthly meeting of the Texas Highway commission the latter part of March.

This work will include the erection of large bridges over Red river and Buck creek, as well as about 12 miles of grading. It is expected this work will continue until late in the summer. The cost of the two bridges will run close to $200,000. The work will give employment to a large number of men for several weeks and will be of much help under present conditions.

The highway commission has had the plans and specifications of the paving of highway 5 from this city east to a connection with the paving at the Hardeman county line completed and it is expected a contract for this work will be let at either the March or April meeting of the commission. This would fill in a gap of about 12 miles. Highway 5 would then be paved from Memphis, Hall county, to Fort Worth and other down state cities.

Unidentified Woman Aids Police In Capturing Wild Dallas Gunmen

DALLAS, March 1. (AP)—A pretty woman aided police last night in capturing two gunmen who rode through the Dallas business district firing shots at store windows.

The gunmen fired twice at a building as they drove their car past Patrolman J. E. Bell. As he started to pursue them afoot, the woman came up in her car and said if he would climb on the running board she would overtake the gunmen.

Bell complied and she pursued them for three blocks, finally passing and forcing them to the curb. The officer made them leave their car, covering them with his pistol.

He disarmed the first gunman and shoved him to one side, then turned to disarm the second. As he did so, the first attempted to attack him from behind. The woman collared the man and jerked him away from Bell.

Bell disarmed the second man and then stood guard over the pair while the woman telephoned for a squad car. When it arrived she drove away without revealing her identity or even waiting for the officer's thanks.

Frederick Receives State Money for Charity

Special to The Record News

FREDERICK, Okla., March 1.—An addition of $5,619 has been made by the state relief commission to the grant to Tillman county for charitable purposes.

The demand upon the fund exceeds the supply already, and Commissioner C. B. Greever stated that the enlarged fund will permit no additions to the roll of those now receiving help. The grant is Tillman's portion of the $400,000 raised by gasoline tax.

PRESIDENT OF TRUST HEARD

Marriage and Birth Insurance Sales Explained

DALLAS, March 1. (AP)—C. G. Earman, former president of the National Marriage and Birth Trust company, testified today that policy claims were paid by assessing members.

He was on trial, along with 10 other persons connected with the company, on charges of using the mails to promote a scheme similar to a lottery and using the mails to defraud.

The other defendants were Charles B. Hedrick, Hix Smith, Earl Ragland, W. A. Hedrick, Fred N. Irvin, Lawrence W. Adkins, Georgia A. Boyd, Leon H. Godchaux, W. A. Bell and C. L. Phillips.

Earman said 1,000 members would be assessed $1 each to pay a $1,000 claim, or four $250 claims. Oldest claims were paid first, he said.

A letter was introduced by the prosecution yesterday in which Earman warned the San Antonio office that there must be less use of the mails in distributing company literature and that agents were to do this distributing themselves.

On cross-examination today Earman said he had sent this letter because of legality of methods of some other companies was being questioned and he did not want his company to do anything illegal.

Mrs. Sarah Meneses, United States attorney, produced records to show the company had issued a marriage contract after the marriage had been performed.

Earman's testimony showed that the Guaranty Underwriters Trust had but $1,000 behind it and that that money came from funds of the National Marriage and Birth Trust company.

Process Servers Finally Locate Vallee On Coast

SANTA MONICA, Calif., March 1. (AP)—Two years of waiting and recent strategy which involved making process servers of bathing girls, finally has placed a $1,000,000 damage suit complaint in the hands of Rudy Vallee.

The suit was filed in Los Angeles by Roberta Hudson McKay, who charged Vallee pirated her song, "Vagabond Lover," and published it as "I'm Just a Vagabond Lover."

When the radio crooner arrived from New York recently to be with his wife, the former Fay Webb, efforts began to serve him with the complaint. He was hard to find.

Agents for Miss McKay's attorneys equipped four girls with copies of the complaint and told them to frequent the beach as bathers on the chance he might appear there, but he did not.

He was met by a male process server, however, as he drove up to the home of his father-in-law, Chief of Police C. E. Webb, here late yesterday.

Chief Webb explained Vallee had spent some time at Agua Caliente and was not hiding from the agents.

Ends Stomach Torture of Yrs.

Better Than Whiskey For Colds and Coughs

The sensation of the drug trade is Aspironal, the two-minute relief for colds and coughs due to colds. Authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have ever tried.

All drug stores are supplied with the wonderful elixir, so all you have to do is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk sixty cents for a bottle of Aspironal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel the distressing symptoms of your cold or cough fading away like a dream, within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for all druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

Take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and children for Aspironal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for children as well as adults. Quickest relief for catarrhal croup and children's choking up at night.—Adv.

AL FORMALLY ENTERS RACE

Hoover to Be Submitted To Ohio Republicans

BOSTON, March 1. (AP)—Alfred E. Smith formally was listed today as a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in the Massachusetts primary April 26.

Smith's assent to the use of his name by those seeking places on the state's delegation to the national convention, required under the Massachusetts law before delegates may be pledged, was received by Frank J. Donahue, Democratic state chairman.

With his letter of consent, in which Smith said "I would not be interpreted as hampering in any way the desire of my friends in Massachusetts to express their sentiment for me" was a power of attorney authorizing Donahue to file Smith's assent to the use of his name with the secretary of state.

The 1928 standard bearer's action assured a Smith-pledged slate of candidates for delegates at large and for district delegates, supported by a majority of the party leaders, including Gov. Joseph B. Ely and Senator David I. Walsh.

While the Smith letter cleared the Democratic political atmosphere to some extent, it still left uncertain the question of a possible contest between Smith and Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt for the Massachusetts delegation. Thus far Roosevelt has not indicated whether he would enter the state primary in a campaign for delegates, but party leaders tonight expressed doubt his name would go before the voters.

Mayor James M. Curley, Boston, is leading the Roosevelt movement in the state.

Smith's letter, consenting to the use of his name, was written in reply to a request from Donahue for his formal assent in order "to meet a purely technical requirement."

HOOVER TO ENTER OHIO PRIMARY

WASHINGTON, March 1. (AP)—President Hoover's first formal bid for renomination will be made in the next few days.

He will consent to the use of his name in the Ohio preferential primary May 10, as soon as he receives formal notification of the selection of one additional candidate for the alternate delegate from that state.

When this notice is given, Mr. Hoover will send appropriate letters to all election districts in the state where the law requires consent of the candidate for whom the delegates are running.

Former Senator Joseph I. France of Maryland, the only candidate in the field against Mr. Hoover, already has entered the Ohio primary, but the president's supporters are confident of winning the state's 55 votes.

Postmaster General Brown has been in Ohio lining up the delegation for the president. He returned to Washington today and reported on the situation to administration leaders at the capitol, including Senators Watson of Indiana and Moses of New Hampshire.

Brown's appearance on the floor with Senator Fess of Ohio, chairman of the Republican national committee, and former Senator William M. Butler, of Massachusetts, chairman of the committee under President Coolidge, started speculation, but the principals said it was just a coincidence.

Butler, who was one of a small group of dinner guests tonight at the White House, has been mentioned as a possible successor to Fess as Republican chairman. He predicted the Massachusetts delegation to Chicago would be for Hoover.

Garner's Namesake Wins Stock Award

AMARILLO, Texas, March 1. (AP)—It wouldn't surprise Jim Farley of Groom, 12-year-old exhibitor at the Amarillo fat stock show, if Congressman John N. Garner is elected president.

Jim's senior calf, which he named for the speaker of the house, today was declared grand champion of the show.

"That name is sure a winner," Jim said. "I had been trying to win four years. It wouldn't surprise me a bit now if Mr. Garner is elected president."

When the baby beeves are sold at auction Thursday, Jim will reserve "a big steak" from his calf to send to Mr. Garner.

CAMPAIGN FUND QUIZ PLANNED

Resolution Offered to Air Expenditures

By FRASER EDWARDS

WASHINGTON, March 1. (US)—Once more the expenditures in the presidential campaigns, both pre-convention and post-convention, will be exposed to the spotlight of "pitiless publicity."

This was provided in a resolution offered in the senate late today by Senator Dickinson, Republican of Iowa, after conferences with the Republican leaders.

Inasmuch as President Hoover is a candidate for re-nomination and re-election, practically without opposition in his own party, the chief purpose of the Dickinson resolution is to expose the expenditures made in behalf of the numerous Democratic presidential candidates in the field.

The Dickinson resolution provides for the appointment of a committee of five, which will be empowered to inquire into the campaign expenditures of candidates for president, vice president and for senator.

There is no doubt about the ultimate passage of the resolution, which follows the general lines of the one offered two years ago by Senator Nye, Republican of North Dakota, as senators can not afford politically to oppose it.

If the investigation is ordered, it is understood that Vice President Curtis is prepared to appoint a strong committee to carry out the directions of the resolution.

For some time there have been reports that certain of the Democratic presidential candidates are being heavily financed and it will be the disclosures in this connection that will command the chief interest into the inquiry.

The investigation would include the campaigns for Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, Alfred E. Smith, Newton D. Baker of Ohio, former Gov. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, and the activities of the friends of Speaker Garner.

While there is no specific provision in the resolution as drawn for any special times for the managers or treasurers of the various campaigns to report, it was understood that some such arrangement would be asked so that the committee could keep abreast of the outlays in the campaigns.

In the past dozen years the campaign expenditures of the Republican candidates for president have aroused more interest than those of the Democratic contenders, but because of the peculiar situation this year the Democratic expenditures will come under the closest scrutiny.

The boy was crossing a street near the hospital at the time. A woman was driving the car but her name was not obtained. A report was not filed with police.

BIG PETROLEUM FIRMS MERGED

Sinclair and Prairie to Combine at Tulsa

INDEPENDENCE, Kan., March 1. (UP)—Big business came to the oil fields of the Southwest today to form the nation's sixth largest petroleum company.

The new concern, with assets of more than half a billion dollars, was established through consolidation of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation, the Prairie Oil and Gas company and the Prairie Pipe Line company. Offices will be maintained in Tulsa.

Five Others Larger

It bears the name of the Consolidated Oil corporation. Only five other oil companies in the United States are larger.

Final approval for the consolidation was given here today at meetings of the stockholders in the Prairie Oil and Gas company and the Prairie Pipe Line company.

The latter concern's stockholders voted approval tonight. Of the represented shares voting, 88.17 voted in favor of the merger. The number of shares approving the merger was 3,570,898; the opposing number 121,576.

Court Fight Looms

Arthur Mag, Kansas City attorney, who protested the consolidation on behalf of one minority stockholder, said the dissenters would take every legal action possible to prevent the consolidation from going through.

Earlier in the day, Harry Sinclair, meeting with stockholders of his company in New York, secured their approval of the merger.

Prairie Pipe Line minority stockholders also served notice none of their shares of stock should be sold unless they were paid in cash what the holdings represented.

CHAPER XXXVIII

"Please try to be a little more conversational than usual," Mrs. Morse urged Sybil. Sybil had heard that remark hundreds of times previously. She invariably tried to obey, but for some unaccountable reason her tongue became virtually tied every time she approached a man. All she could do was to listen to what the man had to say and nod her head in approval or to shake it in disapproval.

"I do try to be conversational," Sybil said, tearfully.

"I know, I know," her mother agreed, "but you must talk to Bruce Durand. He's the nicest boy of the entire set. I want you to cultivate him."

Sybil's heart was leaping as she heard the doorbell ring, and the maid step quickly to answer it.

Bruce Durand's visit at the Morse home was brief. In a polite, gentlemanly manner he apologized for having been absent from Sybil's party and in an equally polite and gentlemanly manner he stated that he would be looking forward to seeing her at his home on Friday. He had the feeling as he was saying it that he was a small boy who had been sent by his mother to get a loaf of bread and a pound of butter. He found himself repeating his aunt's message literally, word by word.

Sybil Morse bowed and reddened in her customary manner and asked him to please come in and sit down. Bruce said that he was terribly sorry but that he had an engagement for the evening, that he was taking his aunt to a concert. He was glad to get away. It always embarrassed him when he had to talk to Sybil Morse. He saw her blushing and then he had the feeling that he likewise was blushing.

Sybil looked at her mother helplessly after Bruce had gone.

"He didn't even sit down," Mrs. Morse said regretfully.

"I asked him to come in but he wouldn't," Sybil said mournfully.

There was a silence and then Mrs. Morse sighed audibly. "Well, you have Friday night any way in which to make an impression. That's something. I don't know what more any one can do."

"I'll have to have a new dress," Sybil suggested.

Her mother nodded. "Of course. We'll attend to that the first thing in the morning." What Mrs. Morse did not realize was that if she did not attend to Sybil so much herself the girl might have a chance to overcome her bashful traits. She was forever living by rules and regulations that Mrs. Morse laid down for her, doing things that her mother told her to do. Hadn't Mrs. Morse, girl and woman, been through it all?

It was true. She had. But it was also true that she had lived in an age of horses and carriages. Some mothers could not understand that, especially when their daughters did not have the courage to inform them of it.

It was obvious, Bruce thought when he got into his car and headed into the traffic, that these women were making a play for him. Poor little Sybil Morse! Bruce really pitied her. He didn't see how she'd ever get a man unless it was some one who didn't mind her everlasting blushes. He couldn't imagine what it was going to be like at his party Friday night. His aunt evidently had trumped things up so that he would have to take Sybil. He hoped not but he was afraid of it, from things his aunt had said.

He glanced at his watch. It was 8:30. He wished he could go to see Lois. He wanted to tell her everything and get it over with. He wasn't afraid. She'd understand, he knew. Hadn't they promised each other this time they would believe and trust in each other, no matter what happened to them? Well, if Lois didn't approve of his going to the party Friday night, he wouldn't go. That was all there was to that. Lois wasn't going to take a back seat for anybody ever again. She would be first in his thoughts and first in his actions.

He wished Lois were feeling better. That, also worried him. What if something were to happen to her? He smiled a little to himself. There he was, getting panicky just like some old woman. He knew Lois wasn't seriously ill. What made him so silly?

On the corner of Sheridan and Fillmore he picked up Gdy Rush, an old friend of his. Guy was walking toward the lake, his overcoat pulled up around his chin, his hands in his pockets, puffing jerkily on an old pipe.

"Get in," Bruce said warmly. "No use in walking when you can ride, is there?"

Guy said no he guessed there wasn't and got in. The two rode on for a few blocks in silence, neither asking the other where he was going.

"See you're having a blowout Friday night," Guy said between puffs on his pipe. Bruce nodded stubbornly.

"Who's that in honor of, your new girl?" Guy quizzed.

There it was. Well, Bruce supposed he would have to face facts. That was another reason he didn't want to hang around his old gang, too. He didn't like the idea of having to let all of them know that Lois would not be accepted by his family.

"No," he said curtly. "My girl isn't 'in'—I imagine that's what you'd call it—with my family."

Guy puffed on in silence.

"I wouldn't worry too much about that," he said after a while.

Bruce looked straight ahead. "Why?" he asked casually, as if it didn't mean anything to him whether his girl was welcome in the family or not. As a matter of fact, it did mean a great deal to him.

"Oh, they'll come around all right after you're married."

"What makes you think so?"

Guy said, "I know. Take Bob Traylor. Don't you remember how his old man swore that he'd disinherit him and wouldn't let him set foot inside the house and all that sort of mush? The old man was the first one to get to the hospital when they had the kid. Gave it $500 right off the reel to start his bank account."

Bruce reflected. He did recall that instance now that Guy had mentioned it. But Bruce didn't want to have to win his aunt and uncle over in that manner. He desired them to welcome Lois from the start. She would be disappointed if they didn't. She felt deeply concerning this. She had the idea already that they didn't like her, even though she evidently didn't know about their returning from Europe.

The two young men drove along in the crisp, wintry air. It was invigorating to whiz along the boulevards, watching the people scurry through the streets to keep warm.

There was only one thing missing. Lois should be there beside him instead of Guy, Bruce thought. She would be soon, too. He didn't care what occurred. He'd marry Lois in spite of anybody. He desired to do it just as soon as she could see her way clear. He had plenty of money to start on. They wouldn't need much. Not when one had love. The money would all come later, as they needed it. Lois would be satisfied with a small apartment.

Bruce drew up in front of Guy's home. He was smiling without knowing that he was doing it. Guy looked at him with an amused grin on his face.

NEW SPUDDER PILOT SENDS SQUAD THROUGH FIRST WORKOUT

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

Likes Our Barbers

J. Alvin Gardner, president of the Texas league with offices now in Dallas, came back to his old home town yesterday.

He said the main reason for his journey to Wichita Falls was "to get a haircut," implying he was so accustomed to the manner of his favorite barber here that he didn't get along very well with the Dallas shops.

Gardner predicted the Spudders this year will land in the first division.

"You have a fine manager and catcher in Severeid," he said, "and your rookies are talented. Every one of them was scouted thoroughly, and has ability."

Gardner expects to be here two or three days.

Wedding Bells

Howard Taylor, young pitcher with the Spudders last season, recently was married, according to a scanty announcement Secretary Airey received from the hurler this week. Taylor gave no other details in his letter. Taylor will be back with the Spudders this year, after spending the last part of the 1931 season with Milwaukee.

All-District Cage Team

One of my assistants who saw all the district four tournament games and who, in addition, knows a little about basket ball, reminded me yesterday that to omit picking an all-district team was a thing that just ain't done.

Having seen but one of the tournament games, and knowing very little about basket ball, anyway, the Rambler turned the job over to the assistant.

Here is the result of his cool calculations:

First Team

Player—	Pos.	Town
Pratt	F.	Olney
Nielson	F.	Harrold
Wright	C.	Olney
Duckworth	G.	Olney
Janeway	G.	Wichita Falls

Second Team

Player—	Pos.	Town
Brandon	F.	Wichita Falls
Burns	F.	Bomarton
Reeves	C.	Wichita Falls
Nixon	G.	Harrold
Greenwood	G.	Wichita Falls

Third Team

Player—	Pos.	Town
Parr	F.	Electra
Fenoglio	F.	Nocona
Jeffries	C.	Petrolia
Cloninger	G.	Electra
Doss	G.	Harrold

Now, there you are; not only a first team, but a second and third as well. If the first team doesn't fit your idea of an all-district combination, you have two other teams to choose from. Just change the numbers around to suit yourself.

More About Bejma

All our recent efforts to pronounce this man's name have gone for nought. The young second baseman's last handle is not pronounced "Bay-mah," as we thought, but "Beamer." The authority for this is President McEvoy, who referred to Bejma as "Beamer" when in conversation with Secretary Guy Airey in Dallas last week.

How "Bejma" can be turned into anything so different from what it looks like is beyond the Rambler's powers of intellect, whatever that is; but we'll let 'er go at what McEvoy says. All we hope is that Bejma is as good a second baseman as he's cracked up to be. McEvoy, according to Airey, believes Bejma has got the stuff.

Christians Win Closing Contests

First Christian and Highland Heights Christian thundered down to the final game without a loss and next week will meet for the last half title in the Sunday School league. First Christian snowed the Temple Israel under an overpowering 32 to 2 score Tuesday night on the Floral Heights Presbyterian court while Highland Heights won a close and hard fought game from East Side Presbyterian, 27 to 25. In the opening game, Floral Heights Methodist came from behind and led by Charley Reeves, nosed out Floral Heights Presbyterian 32 to 29.

Charles Reeves hung up 20 points with 10 field goals to provide the leading punch in the Methodists' win in the first game. Birdwell with 12 points led the Presbyterian attack.

Battling on almost even terms throughout the game, Highland Heights was barely able to beat back a last minute rally by the plucky little East Side Midgets and win a 27 to 25 victory over the East Siders. Scoring on both sides was about even.

Keeping the scoring evenly divided among them, First Christian snowed under the Temple Israel, and only Max Sepkovitch's wild shot from the center of the floor saved the Temple five from a whitewash.

OVER 20 HERE FOR TRAINING

Hank Gets First 'Cussin'' From Railbirds

A manager who never had been "cussed out" by his friends the railbirds would be looked up as something abnormal, in baseball. Those things just don't happen.

Hank Severeid, new Spudder pilot, proved he was just a normal man yesterday. On his very first day as manager, Hank took his first trip over the coals.

Some railbird who took in the show free of charge as Hank drove a score or more of youngsters through the first drill of the season, became interested in one particular player who was limbering up his doggies by circling the park.

Mr. Railbird wanted to see the youngster play ball. So after the workout he called the Spudder offices.

"Say!" roared the voice, "Why in hell don't your manager let that kid play ball. I can't tell anything about him when he's just running around the park!"

Hank Hits Hard

The boys limbered up in a brisk workout on the first day of training. None of the youngsters, however, was more active than Manager Severeid, who ran, batted and engaged in "pepper" games with the rest of them. Severeid apparently is a dead left field hitter. In batting practice he socked two against the left field fence.

The second workout will be held starting this morning at 10:30 o'clock. Under the new plan ushered in by Severeid, there will be only one workout a day, lasting from late in the morning until early afternoon.

The crop of youngsters who reported to camp a week early in order to display their wares before the new skipper consists mainly of Texas and Oklahoma semipro players, although here and there an outsider is noticed. As was the cast last season, the Spudder rookie brigade includes two brothers of proven players. Dudley Turgeon, brother of Pete, who came from Minneapolis, Minn., and Ned West, brother of Sam West of the Washington Senators, are here for tryouts. Turgeon is an infielder, while West in an outfielder. Later on, Gerald Levey, brother of Lightnin' Jim, is expected to report.

Looking 'Em Over

With but a week in which to reach some sort of conclusion about the young players now in camp, Skipper Severeid faces the difficult task of trying to tell whether a man is talented on the strength of only a few days limbering up. However, with Hank working steadily with the newcomers at each day's drill, his conclusions at the end of the week should not be far wrong. The candidates on hand probably will be either released or farmed out on option by the end of the week, to allow Severeid to start work with his pitchers and catchers, due to report next Tuesday. The remainder of the squad will report March 15.

Among the players on hand for yesterday's first workout, in addition to Turgeon and West mentioned above were Lavell Bilbrey, Goree; Troy Crab, first baseman, Fort Worth; Oscar Easterling, outfielder, Abbott; J. L. Goode, outfielder and first baseman, Roby; Leon Fowler, Goree; Billy Gillum, pitcher, Waco; A. J. Helmer, pitcher, Leuders; Joe B. Hainline, outfielder, Sherman; Johnnie Jones, Olustee, Okla.; Frank Jarvis, Fort Worth; C. H. Kimbrell Jr., pitcher, Campbell; Odell Morgan, pitcher, Waco; Forrest Meek, infielder, Dallas; Alvin Ogilbee, outfielder, Temple, Okla.; Dean Pavillard, pitcher, Amarillo; W. T. Ritter, outfielder, Oklahoma City and Wesley Thompson, third baseman, Wichita Falls.

The last named player spent the 1929 season with the Spudder's Abilene club and for the last two seasons has played in a semipro league in Missouri. He is back for another trial.

Several other Wichita Falls boys were present at the initial workout, most of them members of local sandlot teams who perhaps are not thinking seriously of entering professional baseball, but are taking advantage of the opportunity to get in early season practice.

HOUSTON BUFFS OPEN TRAINING

HOUSTON, March 1. (AP)—More than 40 players, mostly rookies, reported to Manager Joe Schultz here today for a week of preliminary work before the Houston squad starts training March 7.

All of the Buff batterymen reported. Mike Cvengros, obtained from Columbus, checked in and was all set to go to work. Elmer Hansen and Charlie Breeden, both with Houston at the close of the 1931 season, were in camp.

Hal Funk, regular Buff catcher in 1931, and Mike Ryba, voted the most valuable player in the Western association last year, took their turns with the youngsters. Ryba promises to give Funk a merry battle for the catching position on the 1932 Buff team.

Lefty Grove Signs Athletics' Contract

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 1. (AP)—A two-year contract of $25,000 a season, drugstore chatter had it, was the document Lefty Grove signed today. Both the pitcher and Manager Connie Mack, however, declined to verify the report as to the amount.

The Athletics' manager made the important announcement that Grove had signed in a deprecatory manner at the ball park today.

"Grove has signed," Connie said, and then spoke about the weather.

Goree Independents Beat Nocona Quintet

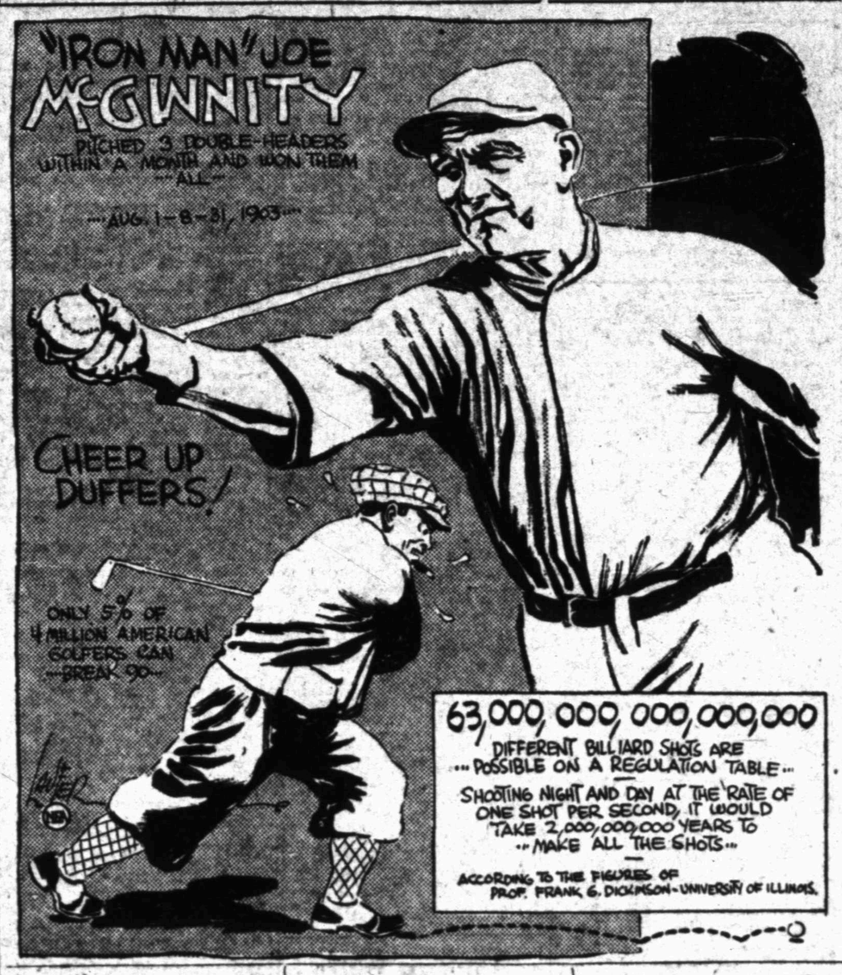

Special to The Record News.

NOCONA, Texas, March 1.—The Goree Independents defeated the Justin Demons, local independents, 37 to 29 here tonight in a fast basket ball game. Couch with 19 points led the victors' scoring attack. Cunningham and Harrison, with seven points each, were high for the Demons. The teams meet in a second game here Wednesday night.

BRAVES SWAT 'EM

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 1. (AP)—Manager Bill McKechnie set up his batting cage today and the Boston Braves spent two hours hammering the offerings of six rookie pitchers to all quarters of Waterfront park.

BAYLOR BEATS PONIES, 40-28

Bears Now Sure of Tie For Conference Title

WACO, Texas, March 1. (AP)—Baylor tonight assured itself of at least a tie for the Southwest conference basket ball leadership at the close of the regular schedule by beating Southern Methodist university, 40 to 28.

The Bears finished their conference season with 10 victories and two defeats. Texas Christian must beat Southern Methodist at Dallas Thursday night to equal that mark. A play-off between the Bruins and Frogs may be staged.

The Methodists got hot in the second half and for a time it looked as though they might register the most startling upset of the current campaign. They reduced a 20-point lead to six points, but the Bears came back and iced the contest.

For part of the first half and until Strickland, star Bruin center, went out on personal fouls early in the second period Baylor played great basket ball. The score was 26 to 9 when Strickland was banished.

Raymond Alford, who stayed in there all the way, perhaps playing his last college game, gave an excellent performance. He was high scorer with 13 points and his handling of the ball and floor work were even better than his shooting.

Electra Girls Defeat Faculty Cage Team

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, March 1.—The Electra High school Tigerettes defeated the feminine members of the high school faculty in a close basket ball game Monday night, 31-29. Proceeds from the game will be used to help purchase gold volley balls for the senior volley ball team which won first place in the county round robin league and was runnerup for the county title. The Tigerette team was composed of members of the volley ball team. Neither team had had much practice for the event, but both displayed good team work. A fair sized audience was present, and the game was received with much hilarity.

Varnell, forward for the teachers, rung up a total of 18 points for scoring honors. She was closely followed by Chesher of the Tigerettes who totaled 14 points. Greer for the students made 11 points and Grace Hardy of the opposing side had 9 points to her credit. Jones, Tigerette, made 6 points and Mildred Thornton, teacher, 2 points. Jones and Thornton played a great game, using a fast passing system which enabled their respective teammates to score. Guards for both teams played a good game.

The starting lineup: Tigerettes, Chesher, Greer, and Jones, forwards; McClure, Brashear and Boutwell, guards; substitutes, Dees, Flippin, Parsons, Shepherd; teachers, Hardy, Thornton and Varnell, forwards; Cawlfield, Morgan and Smith, guards; substitutes, Westbrook for Smith, Varnell and Jones served as jump centers. Miss Lucy B. Whiteside, former high school athlete and C. I. A. physical education major, acted as referee, Jack Parr, timekeeper, and Robert Cloninger, scorekeeper.

AIR CORPS LOSES

SAN ANTONIO, March 1. (AP)—The Fort Sam Houston Yellow Jackets defeated the Air Corps Training Center Riders, 14 to 11, in the championship match of the circuit cup event of the ninth annual mid-winter polo tournament here today. The Fort Sam team spotted the Aviators four goals by handicap.

TIGERS' NEW COACH ARRIVES

Crisler Takes Over Post At Princeton

By EDWARD J. NEIL

PRINCETON, N. J., March 1. (AP)—A big likeable fellow from Minnesota, Herbert Orrin (Fritz) Crisler by name, moved into Princeton university today to see what could be done about lifting the battered Tiger out of football's hospital ward.

His head was jammed with ideas on football in general and the plight in particular of a Princeton football team that lost every major game last season after winning the opener from Amherst.

He did not know, first off, whether Millard Draudt, the best back Princeton could muster last fall, was a football player or a weather condition, but for hours he talked football here, there, and everywhere, systems, rules, scouting agreements, spring practice, and everywhere he left the impression that the tide of Princeton football, once the most powerful force in the East, soon would be on the flood again.

Crisler, for the past two years head coach at Minnesota and the first non-alumnus ever chosen head coach at Princeton, leaped off a train almost at dawn to breakfast with the faculty committee on athletics, went from there to meet administrative officials, posed for photographers, visited more officers, lunched with newspaper men, talked things over with sophomore and junior varsity men, dined with them, and then called all candidates together for an evening discussion.

He would not say whom he sought as his assistants next fall, although the impression persisted that Tad Wieman, his line coach at Minnesota, would come here as his right-hand man, breaking another precedent existing 66 years that no outsider might lay hands on a Princeton football eleven.

Crisler did announce, however, that six weeks of spring football would start here April 4, and that his entire staff would be complete by that time. He said his football system consisted of "blocking and tackling," although he does favor single wing back formations. He likes smart teams rather than powerful machines.

One remark of possible significance he did drop in the general discussion, an opinion in favor of scouting, which Princeton agreed with Yale to discard some time ago."

Red Sox Hurler Stabbed In Fight

BREWTON, Ala., March 1. (AP)—Ed Morris, veteran Boston Red Sox pitcher, was seriously stabbed last night in a fight at a fish fry near Brewton given in his honor by a group of friends on the eve of his departure for the Red Sox training camp.

Hospital attendants said he had only a slight chance to recover.

Morris was said to have been stabbed twice near the heart by Joe White, with whom he engaged in an argument after the party assembled five miles from Brewton for the fish fry.

Witnesses said Morris slapped White down and himself tripped and fell. While lying on his back, they said, White drew his knife and stabbed Morris after slashing at him. White was being held without charges to await outcome of Morris' condition.

Morris, veteran major league pitcher, planned to leave today for the Red Sox training camp at Savannah, Ga.

Before joining the Red Sox Morris pitched for the Chicago Cubs in the National league and for Mobile and Nashville in the Southern association. He makes his home here in the winter.

MORRIS' INJURY SADDENS BUDDIES

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 1. (AP)—The Boston Red Sox battery candidates, saddened by the wounding of big Ed Morris, opened their spring training season today in listless fashion. Manager John Collins ordered all hands to jog about the park and then permitted the pitchers to toss up slow balls for an hour.

MANITOU WINS

FREDERICK, Okla., March 1.—Manitou's cage team Saturday night defeated Tipton, 19 to 18. Manitou led with consistent play, though the two teams were tied at one time.

BATTALINO IS REINSTATED

But New York Heads Oust His Manager

NEW YORK, March 1. (AP)—Christopher (Bat) Battalino, former king of the featherweights, returned to the good graces of the New York State Athletic commission today, but he couldn't bring his manager, Hy Malley, back with him.

Battalino, who was suspended when he failed to come within 10 pounds of the featherweight limit for a bout with Lew Feldman here last month, formally relinquished all claim to the title. He put it in writing.

The commission then reinstated him, but stipulated that in future he is to act as his own manager and sign his own contracts for fights in New York state. The commission made it clear it wanted no part of Malley, who has been acting as Battalino's manager in this state.

Battalino still is under suspension by the National Boxing commission for his part in the recent fiasco with Freddie Miller at Cincinnati. The bout was stopped when Battalino appeared on the verge of a knockout in the third round and the referee was skeptical.

On the doorstep

WE were leafing through a photographer's files the other day when we came across this unusual portrait. It was so gripping and tragic that we asked the photographer about it, and here's what he told us. "That picture wasn't posed, although you might have thought so. In fact, the subject didn't even know he was photographed. I came down to the studio the other morning early and there he was asleep on the doorstep. I couldn't pass up the opportunity so I ran upstairs, grabbed a camera, and 'shot' him as he sat in a stupor."

Sordid this photographic study may be—but it is nevertheless a dramatic picture of human tragedy.

Possibly you're wondering what place it has in a Gillette advertisement—and we're a bit inclined to wonder ourselves. Certainly there is no direct tie-up with our product. But now that we think of it—how much better this poor soul would look with a clean shave and a haircut! But we would not even imply that failure to shave will drag a man down to the depths. Of course, one can be somewhat neglectful about his person and still occupy a respected place in his community.

After all, the purpose of this message is to call your attention to the splendid razor blades Gillette is making today. It is impossible to express the shaving comfort these blades will afford you. They are expressly designed to glide across tender faces without burn or irritation. You must experience this sensation to appreciate it. We urge you to give the present Gillette a trial on our guarantee. Buy a package and use one or two blades. If every shave isn't absolutely clean and comfortable—far better than you have ever experienced before—return the package to your dealer and get your money back.

THE GILLETTE BLUE SUPER-BLADE

The $2 Kroman De Luxe blade has been withdrawn from production and replaced with the sensational Blue Super-Blade—far superior to the Kroman. You pay only a few cents more for the Blue Blade than for the regular blade and get unmatched shaving comfort. The Blue Blade is of extraordinary quality—without reservation the finest blade ever produced. Colored blue for easy identification—it is contained in a blue package, cellophane wrapped, and is made by a distinctly different process. Distribution is not yet complete—so if your dealer hasn't the Blue Blade ask him to get it for you, which he can quickly.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, March 1. (AP)—Except for a flurry of selling during the morning, cotton was comparatively quiet today and prices ruled fairly steady.

May eased from 6.98 to 6.93 under forenoon pressure, but later rallied to 6.96 on trade buying or covering and closed at that figure with the general market closing steady, net 2 points lower to 1 point higher.

No special news factor was particularly emphasized in connection with the decline. Reports from the South said demand for spot cotton had fallen off since the filling of February commitments but that the basis remained steady.

A private report pointing to a decrease of about 14.7 per cent in acreage was published without apparent effect on the market. According to the New York cotton exchange service consumption of Japanese mills for January amounted to approximately 216,000 bales of all growths against 188,000 last year.

Liverpool cables said trade calling had absorbed continental liquidation and hedging in that market and reported fair [sales] of cotton cloths to India. Exports today 42,380, making 5,977,102 [so far] this season. Port receipts 54,49[4]. U. S. port stocks 4,714,148.

Futures closed stea[dy] 2 points lower to 1 higher. Spot stea[dy]; milling, 7.00.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, March 1. (AP)—Cotton was generally quiet today, although there was a little trading in the late afternoon. Prices fluctuated within a narrow range, but developed no special trend. After opening slightly lower, the market advanced 1-4 points in early trade buying, later lost 4 points on hedge selling and rallied back to the early highs in the late afternoon on covering. The close was steady showing 1 point net gain for the day to 1 point net decline.

Liverpool is due tomorrow on New Orleans 1 to 2 penny points up.

Port receipts 54,313, for week 102,808; for season 8,464,568; last season 8,109,680. Exports 42,430; for week 165,315; for season 5,871,840; last season 4,866,478. Port stock 4,747,872, last year 4,121,191. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 163,603. Last year 90,981. Spot sales at southern markets 21,665, last year 12,792.

Futures closed steady, one point up to one point down:

Stock Market Holds Firm As Traders Short-Cover; Rail Shares Ease Off

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, March 1. (US)—With the help of some short-covering by hourly traders, the stock market today closed relatively firm, though railroad shares moved moderately lower on the day. Early softness in quotations gave way to firming tendencies as sentiment shifted temporarily.

The market was typical of recent sessions. Its significance might be interpreted from the volume of 700,000 shares.

From Washington came additional rumblings of a thorough-going investigation of the stock exchange, with immediate repercussions by that institution in demanding additional data on short selling, though the new demands have slight bearing on quotations. The effect of all the talk about short selling nevertheless is to curtail trading volume.

In a sense an extremely dull market, if accompanied by relative stability in the price structure, would be wholly satisfying to the best friends of the market. Such inactivity at least would remove the charge of artificiality from prices. The market might then conceivably enter a period in which investment considerations alone would rule.

That would be an idealistic period, though its attainment, regardless of governmental interest in quotation-making and breaking, is hardly likely in full. Speculation is bound to be encouraged by dullness-and-firmness, if this condition develops.

However, if the buying or aggressive sponsoring is restricted to worthy securities, there will be little harm in increased activity.

Hesitation in the railway stocks was occasioned by widespread report that the weekly carloadings report for the country would show a decrease of more than 10,000 compared with the previous week. Actually, the report shoed a gain of 10,141 cars, which is greater than the average seasonal expansion of recent years.

Steel operations for the industry were expected to show small change in the mid-week reports, though U. S. Steel's activities, it was reported, have been stepped up somewhat.

Johns-Manville sold off more than two points on its 1931 report showing eight cents a share for the year before extraordinary charges.

Westinghouse Electric continued to hold firm, with continued reports of short-covering despite expectation of a discouraging 1931 statement due shortly.

Mohawk Carpet advanced nearly a full point on a single transaction. It was reported that private negotiations had removed a block of stock heretofore over the market, and that more aggressive buying is contemplated by interests associated with the company. A strong group has undertaken sponsorship for the issue, the asset value of which is several times its current market price of 9.

Washington advices that the petition seeking a congressional vote on prohibition had obtained the necessary number of votes to effect this plan, inspired a period of activity in the alcohol stocks.

There will be considerable gratification at the announcement that the British treasury is arranging to pay off the $200,000,000 credit which it arranged in the United States last August. Even if only a portion of this credit is canceled, the result will be to relieve the American banking community of its indebtedness in that connection. More than 100 banks have participated in the credit.

Potentially as significant was the sudden drop of $20,000,000 in "earmarked" gold. If this marks a turn in the tide of gold movements, it will be immeasurably important since it will make entirely unnecessary the drastic "gold economy" measures adopted to safeguard the United States supply of the precious metal. It might conceivably end the gold scare permanently.

Delivered group three points: Oats, No. 2 red 24½@25½c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 1. (AP)—Unofficial estimates which indicated that reserve stocks of wheat on United States farms were the largest since 1921 led to moderate price setbacks today.

Ranging from 163,000,000 bushels of wheat to 192,000,000 bushels, the estimated farm stocks averaged 179,000,000 bushels compared with 160,000,000 reported last year. Furthermore, monthly private reports issued today gave evidence that during the winter just ended the deterioration of domestic wheat crops had been less than usual.

Wheat closed unsettled ¼@⅜c under yesterday's finish, corn ⅛c off to ¼c up, oats unchanged to ⅛c lower, and provisions unchanged to 10 cents down.

Adding to downward pressure on the wheat market was the fact that deliveries on March contracts reached a heavy total for an initial day, 1,900,000 bushels. First of the month deliveries at Liverpool were also large.

Corn and oats displayed relative firmness influenced by the fact that country offerings of corn were not of as large volume as recently.

Provisions reflected absence of buying.

Closing indemnities: Wheat, May 59⅞@60c, 61⅛@⅛c; July 61⅝c, 62⅝@⅝c; Sept. 63⅝c, 64⅝c. Corn, Mai 39⅛@⅝c, 39⅝@⅞c; July 41⅞c, 42⅝c; Sept. 43⅝c.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, March 1. (US)—Farm reserve estimates again directed attention of wheat traders to the relatively heavy domestic position. In the absence of any news of the growing crop or improvement of foreign demand to serve as an offset, sentiment turned rather bearish. The expectation seemed to be that further adjustment between domestic and foreign price levels will be witnessed.

H. C. Donovan, of Logan & Bryan, said in his report: "Condition of winter wheat is generally good from central Kansas eastward except in some of the far eastern sections. The winter growth of top foliage which usually withers to the ground during jointing period has had unusual growth and may cause the fields in some sections to present an unhealthy yellowish tinge if the jointing is delayed by cool, cloudy weather. About 4,500,000 acres in western Kansas and vicinity is showing rather badly from which sections conditions taper off to better toward the East and South, consisting of about 3,000,000 additional acres that is classed from poor to fair."

Broomhall says that the Liverpool wheat futures market is affected by heavy Argentine arrivals and moderate tenders on March contracts. The general market has turned easier owing to the pause in demand for actual wheat following fairly good purchases by English and continental millers.

WOODY MURDER TRIAL OPENS

Witnesses Describe Events Preceding Slaying

SAN ANTONIO, March 1. (AP)—Events leading up to the slaying of Edward Ortiz, alias Eddie Green, for whose murder Garnet C. Woody, Randolph field soldier, is being tried before District Judge McCrory, were described from the witness stand in the murder trial today.

The events were detailed by Juanita Rodriguez, who testified that she had lived with Ortiz, or Green, seven years as his wife. She testified that Green married Edith Foster, who had been Woody's girl, last fall.

On the night of the killing the two men left a place on Houston street together and the witness went to a show, she said. Half an hour later, she testified, she was called to an address on Leona street and there saw Green's body.

Another witness testified that he saw a pistol in Woody's pocket. He testified that the two men left the house together and that he told Green not to go. Half an hour later, the witness said, he heard that Green was dead.

Edith Green, who testified that she had married Green last fall, was on the stand during the morning. She testified that before she married Green she had gone with Woody.

Clashes between attorneys in the case marked the opening of the trial.

House Committee Sends Messenger After Secy. Hyde

WASHINGTON, March 1. (AP)—Dissatisfied because Secretary Hyde had not answered a letter asking his opinion on the creation of a department of public works, the house expenditures committee today sent a messenger to ask the cabinet officer if he would testify.

Hyde, however, was in a cabinet meeting and could not be reached immediately so the committee decided to write another letter asking if he would appear Thursday.

When the committee met, Chairman Cochran presented replies from other members of the cabinet, most of them disapproving in part the plan to consolidate all government building activities except rivers and harbors work, in a public works department.

He said, however, that although Hyde had been asked in a letter written Jan. 7 to express his opinion on the legislation, a reply had not been received.

Transatlantic Air Mail Is Nearing Reality

NEW YORK, March 1. (INS)—A transatlantic air mail line to Europe may be established within two years, Richard F. Hoyt, director of the Trans-American Air Lines corporation, said today.

A bill now pending in the parliament of Iceland, granting the line to use that country as a base must be passed, however, before the route can be established, Hoyt declared.

If this sanction is obtained, officials of the company planned to make a two-year survey of the Canada, Greenland, Iceland and Faroe island route to England and establish the service immediately afterwards.

The Story of John N. Garner and assistance. This was on the suggestion of Postmaster General Burleson, a fellow Texan, who had served with him in the house, and knew his man. The relationship of Wilson and Garner in this period was exceedingly confidential. There were times when Garner saw the president at the White House every day, when he was one of the few men, of either party, who did see him. What transpired at these conferences is Garner's secret and will go to the grave with him.

It is certainly no betrayal of a confidence, however, to say that through the medium of these conferences, the president and the house of representatives were enabled to function together for the single purpose of winning the war.

Talent for Friendship

This delicate and intimate relationship was possible because of Garner's talent for making and keeping friends, and for keeping out of quarrels between mutual friends. His close contacts with President Wilson did not cost him the friendship of Champ Clark. Garner's friends declare that one of the most noticeable of all his characteristics is his complete aloofness from the quarrels of others. He has never been drawn into them.

With his party, he supported the president in all the war measures. As a member of the ways and means committee he played a conspicuous part in financing the war, in raising the thousands of millions of dollars necessary for the armed forces of the country.

By these war days he had advanced on ways and means until he was fifth from the top, having climbed from near the bottom. When the Republicans returned to power in the house, in 1919, he remained on the committee, and rendered valuable service to his party, and to the country, by the ceaseless fight he made, at every step, to keep the new Republican tariff bill within bounds.

The day that bill was completed Chairman Fordney, of the committee, whose name it was to bear, said to him: "Jack, your picture is on every page of this bill."

Garner's efforts had been to keep the rates down, to safeguard the interests of as large a part of the masses of the people as possible.

His Republican opponent thus bore witness to the measure of his success.

POPE PIUS XI VIEWS CHANGES

Pontiff Brings About Big Improvements

By ANDRUE BERDING

VATICAN CITY, March 1. (AP)—Pope Pius XI is looking back on a busy, eventful and revolutionary 10 years as pontiff of the Roman Catholic church. He celebrated the 10th anniversary of his coronation Feb. 12 by attending a mass in St. Peters.

In this decade the pontiff has wrought such changes at the vatican that whatever the remainder of his life may produce he will go down in history as one of the most important of the 265 popes.

His most apparent works have been his creation of an independent state, Vatican City, by the treaty with Italy that settled the "Roman question," and his modernization of the vatican.

Is Seeker After Peace

But a dozen other achievements mark his reign. He ascended the throne of St. Peter when the world was upset by postwar disturbances. His first efforts were in the cause of peace.

He wrote open letters to Cardinal Gasparri, then papal secretary of state, and to the bishop of Genoa about the international conference at Genoa. He sent a telegram to Mustapha Kemal Pasha urging the maintenance of peace in the East. He addressed letters to Italian bishops asking them to help in stabilizing the minds of men.

The pope then founded the Catholic Action organization for laymen. This flourished until it brought him into conflict with Fascism last year. It lost some of its influence in Italy, but it is still strong in many other countries.

Pius early made himself known as a promoter of missions. He sponsored a huge missionary exhibition, shown first in the Vatican gardens and then transferred as a permanent exhibit to the Lateran museum.

Pilgrims Flock to Rome

He consecrated in St. Peter's the first six Chinese bishops and the first Japanese bishop. He brought to Rome the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, the general administrative body of missions.

In 1925 he proclaimed a holy year, and a million pilgrims flocked to Rome. In 1929 he celebrated his 50th anniversary as a priest. Again hundreds of thousands of pilgrims attended the observances lasting a year.

In that same year came the signing of the Lateran treaty with Italy which made Vatican City an independent political state. Then followed the pope's first exit from the vatican since the unification of Italy in 1870. King Victor Emmanuel and Queen Elena visited the pope, the first Italian sovereigns ever to do so.

The next two years were periods of modernization of the vatican. A radio station was established and broadcast an address by the pope, the first time any pope had been heard over the air. A power station, a telephone system, a telephoto system and a governor's palace were dedicated.

A new library, a railroad station and a new art gallery were begun. American experts modernized the Vatican library.

Revives Church Congresses

In his 10 years as pontiff Pius XI has given utterance to more than a score of important pronouncements in the form of encyclical letters. Those of last year were outstanding. They dealt with marriage, unemployment, labor, Fascism and reunion of Protestant, Orthodox and Roman Catholic churches.

Pius XI revived the eucharistic congresses interrupted by the world war. Five have been held, at intervals of two years, at Rome, Amsterdam, Chicago, Sydney and Carthage. Another is set for Dublin in June.

The pontiff has had four disappointments in this decade: the fight with the Catholic royalists of France in the Action Francaise movement; Russian, Mexico and Spain.

Pope Pius is 74 years old, but so vigorous and dauntless is he that his followers grant him at least another decade of activity.

March 'Lion' Brings Storms To Midwest

CHICAGO, March 1. (US)—It was a lion! Snow, sleet and rain greeted the first of March today.

The lamb, if it survives the ides of March, will gambol over the countryside 31 days from today when March makes way for April.

Today's storm was centered over Arkansas, moving northeastward. Heavy rainfall was reported from areas to the south while snow fell from Chicago northward.

Temperatures were still above normal over most of the country and not extreme cold was in sight tonight.

Crabtree Cinches Reds' Left Field Position

TAMPA, Fla., March 1. (AP)—Estil Crabtree, weak-hitting but fast ground coverer of the Cincinnati Reds, has the first call on the left field job, Manager Dan Howley said today. Crabtree was sought during the winter by several clubs but President Sidney Weil turned down all trade offers. Howley is revamping Crabtree's "swing from the grass" batting style into a Lloyd Waner fashion. Crabtree can get to first with the fastest men in the league and his throwing arm ranks among the best. He hit only .262 last year.

STRIKE CALLED OFF

LAREDO, Texas, March 1. (AP)—A proposed strike of Pullman porters, conductors, cooks and waiters in service in Mexico failed to materialize today. It was to have been used as a means of forcing the Pullman company to comply with labor demands. It was understood that leaders of the strike movement changed their plans last night and decided against the strike.

ROOMING HOUSE BLAZE

No damage resulted from a blaze caused by a lighted cigaret placed in the window of a rooming house at 1112 Scott at 8:15 o'clock Tuesday morning. A unit of the fire department answered the alarm.

SHERIFF ASKS RE-ELECTION

Perry Browning Announces Candidacy

Application of the fundamental principles of business economy in the conduct of his office has made it possible for Perry Browning, sheriff of Wichita county, to report that he will return to the county treasury $7,265.31 for the year 1931, according to his statement as contained in his announcement that he will seek re-election to the office of sheriff for a second term.

Mr. Browning, in a three-cornered race in 1930, was successful in being nominated at the first primary, having been accorded the active support of more than one-half the voters of the county.

"I feel that the results accomplished during my first year in office stand forth as a testimonial that I have fulfilled my promise to the voters that I would endeavor to give them a business administration," Mr. Browning said in discussing his candidacy for re-election.

"I have learned, however," he continued, "that it is utterly impossible to please every one, especially in public office, but I cheerfully invite the voters of Wichita county to make a fair and careful investigation of my administration and feel confident that the honest conclusion thus arrived at will reflect itself through the medium of the ballot box and that I will be honored and favored with the old-time Democratic principle of serving a second term.

"I have sincerely endeavored throughout the past year to earn my fees of office by giving greater consideration to the more weighty matters rather than by pursuing the course of arresting petty law violators and extracting from them some fines and fees which, as a rule, they are barely able to pay, and by practicing the strictest economy in every department. I am happy to report that the excess fees earned by my office, and which will be returned to the county, amount to $7,265.31.

"Honest consideration on the part of the voters will be deeply appreciated and if returned to office I will continue to pursue the same course of conduct as I have in the past. I do not want to permit this opportunity to pass without again expressing my thanks and appreciation for the splendid support given me in the 1930 primaries."

City and County Start Work on School Census

Enumeration of scholastics in Wichita Falls and throughout the county began Tuesday afternoon, according to school board and county school officials.

The scholastic population now being enrolled will be the basis for the per capita allowance from the state department of education during the school year beginning next September. About 17,700 children of school age were enumerated last year. Children who will be at least 6 and not more than 17 years of age before Sept. 1, 1932, are to be enrolled.

Principals of country schools are being assisted by trustees and in some cases by pupils in obtaining the enrollment, it was said. Nine secondary school principals are making the count in this city. Parents have been asked to prepare lists of their children of scholastic age, giving the age and name of each.

McGown Named Secretary Of Agriculture Group

County Agent G. C. McGown was elected secretary of the chamber of commerce agricultural committee at a meeting Tuesday afternoon. J. N. Sherrill, chairman, presided at the session. The committee approved the action of the budget committee and voted to employ a secretary for the county agent and the home demonstration agent for 1932 at a salary of $600.

The committee also approved appropriations of $200 for expenses of the Valley Development association to date and $200 for the expenses of the fat stock and meat show Wednesday and Thursday here.

C-C DIRECTORS MEET

Directors of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce held a short business session following the anti-hoarding meeting at the Wichita club Tuesday morning. The board members ratified action of the national affairs committee in approving 11 of 13 questions on federal taxation submitted by the United States Chamber of Commerce in determining a national policy.

Schools Observe Independence Day

of the city schools, said Tuesday. Particular emphasis will be placed upon the importance of the day in the history classes.

The varied programs will be entertaining and educational to the scores of school children of the city.

Eight of the schools are having no special assembly program but are carrying out the Independence day theme in the various classes throughout the day, selected students relating stories of Texas history and of the life of Sam Houston. These schools are Alamo, Bowie, Carrigan, Crockett, Huey, Fannin and Travis.

Austin school students will participate in the Texas day program at the regular meeting of the P.-T. A. Wednesday afternoon. Miss Bessie Stewart, principal, will be in charge of the program.

A patriotic cantata, "The Spirit of 76," was presented in a program at the Ben Franklin school Tuesday evening, under the direction of Miss Bernice Ewing, instructor of music. Students of the fifth and sixth grades sponsored the program, which included numerous songs and dances popular during the past century.

Sam Houston will honor Texas' independence and Sam Houston's birthday Wednesday afternoon at the school, when a number of the students will present a play, "The Fall of the Alamo." Stories and readings about Texas will be given, and Miss Faye Jane Smith, music teacher, will lead the group in a singsong of Texas songs. The program is under the joint direction of Miss Smith and Miss Edith Denton, instructor of history.

Tree Planting

Pupils of the San Jacinto school will combine the independence day program with a tree planting ceremony in commemoration of Washington's birthday. Students of the sixth grade will present a study of Texas history and of the life of Sam Houston.

Each home room at the Reagan Junior High school will have a brief patriotic program at the beginning of the day Wednesday, according to W. A. Franklin, principal. In addition to the classroom activities, the school clubs will observe the day in their programs at the regular meetings Wednesday.

Zundelowitz Junior High school observed Texas' independence Tuesday afternoon in a tree planting exercise, under the auspices of the student council.

Songs by a boys chorus and a mixed chorus and readings and declamations on Texas were included on the program at the regular high school and Junior college assembly Tuesday morning. Mrs. Hermione Stewart Vaughan, music director, and Miss Juanita Kinsey, of the public speaking department, were in charge of the program.

Pupils of the sixth grade will sponsor the program at the regular assembly of the Washington school Wednesday morning, when A. A. Lucas will address the students on the subject, "Texas Under Six Flags." A singsong of Texas songs will follow the talk. A. E. Holland, psincipal, will be in charge of the program.

100 Cases on Docket Of 78th District Court

One hundred cases will comprise the civil docket for the March term of the 78th district court, to be opened next Monday by Judge W. W. Cook, according to Mrs. A. B. Eichelberger, district clerk.

Thirty-four of the cases are divorce actions.

WALKER SEEKS STATE POST

Vernon Man in Race For Texas Legislature

Albert G. Walker, state representative of the 112th district, has authorized The Record News to announce his candidacy for re-election, subject to action of the Democratic primary to be held this year. The 112th district is composed of Wilbarger and Wichita counties and the voters of the district jointly elect a representative for such district. Wichita county in addition to its representation in the 112th district has two representatives elected from district No. 111 places 1 and 2 solely by the voters of Wichita county.

Mr. Walker in announcing for his second term made a statement as follows:

Experienced in Work

"It is my desire to continue my services as state representative through another term subject to the action of the Democratic primary as I believe that I am now better acquainted with the work and can render a bigger and better service to the district and the state then during my first term. I have heretofore filed with the Wichita county Democratic chairman my application to have my name placed on the official ballot for re-election. The time has come for lawmakers to cease increasing tax burdens and do considerable cutting down of state expenses and I believe that both houses of the next legislature will have the necessary voting power to do much work along this line when it convenes in 1933. I realize that the tax burden is heavy and that those, who are familiar with my work in the past sessions of the legislature know that I voted for and supported many tax relief measures and that some of them were passed and some were defeated for lack of the necessary vote. As your state representative I have always tried to be fair in my deliberations and believe that any one who cares to investigate my record will find that a square deal has been rendered in all matters coming before me. There are a number of things which I am looking forward to in hopes that the next legislature will do some work upon and among them are the following:

"1. Redistrict our state for representation in congress.

"2. Redistrict our state as to district courts and eliminate all courts that are not now needed. The 42nd legislature has a special committee working on this matter and it is hoped that this committee will make report of a measure that will be satisfactory to all members of the 1933 legislature or a sufficient number thereof to redistrict and eliminate some courts, as we all know some of our courts can be eliminated without impairment of our efficiency of the judiciary of this state.

Economy Needed

"3. Submit to vote of the people by resolution the necessary constitutional amendments for more efficient economic operation of our local governments including consolidation of offices where amendment to our constitution would be necessary.

"4. Pass another law giving delinquent tax payers an opportunity to pay their taxes without penalties and interest. The law the 42nd legislature passed was good but it came at the wrong time—that is when other taxes were falling due and hard times were on hand.

"6. Reduce the membership in the house of representatives of our state from 150 to 81 members. One cannot be very optimistic about this when he realizes that past legislatures have constantly refused to submit a constitutional amendment for this purpose.

"There are many other things that I am interested in but space will not permit a full discussion here, however, it is my plan to again meet as many of the voters of this district as possible and pick up new ideas and become more familiar with the needs of those whom I represent. I ask the support and vote of all voters and those whom were not fortunate enough to obtain a poll tax receipt to vote I ask your consideration and support as you can still have a voice in your official election by supporting your candidate and maybe the next legislature can pass a resolution to be voted upon that will permit one to vote with less restriction."

For Re-Election

Albert G. Walker of Vernon has announced for re-election as state representative of the 112th district.

Houston Letter Revealed Here

for. My only wish is to see this country happy—at peace, and retire to the Red Lands, get a fair sweet "wee wifie" as Burns says and pass the balance of my sinful life. (If I can).

"Your advice will not be neglected about my health. The moment that I can possibly I will repair to Houston and hope to be a comfortable Houston. My health under your Esculapian auspices I thank God is restored and my habits good. I am informed that many ladies are coming to Houston, and that society will be fine. We will not have the fair Miss Anna there—for she has a great aversion to "Houston" and I dare not invite her, or I would wait upon her, and ask her to a "Levee" of the President. How sad the scene must be at my Levees, no Mrs. H—— there, and many who will attend can claim fair Dames as theirs!!! You know the old adage "every dog" Ha. Ha. My day may come!

"I pray you to salute all friends and to Col. R. and family present me—to Miss A. my adoration. What is doing with the Indians? Do let me know? I write in great haste—never was man so much pressed with business as I am.

"Every yr. friend, truly, Houston.

"Irion. Miss Anna won't write me. Oh, what a sinner she must be for such omission. H."

The letter pages are folded and addressed as was the custom in that period and is directed, "To Doct. R. A. Irion, Nacogdoches, Texas," with "Col. Houston" written in the lower left hand corner of the outside.

Miss Anna was a daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Raguet, referred to in the letter as Col. R. When Dr. Irion and Miss Anna were married General Houston requested that the first son be named for him, a request that was granted with the name "Sam Houston Irion" for the first son.

Parade To Honor Shrine Potentate

Imperial Potentate Thomas J. Houston will be welcomed to Wichita Falls Wednesday, March 9, with a parade at noon in the business district, it was announced Tuesday at a Shrine club luncheon at the Wichita club. Plans for entertainment are in charge of Past Potentate W. B. Hamilton, Shrine Director Kindel Paulk and Recorder Al Ellis.

A luncheon will follow the parade and in the evening a banquet and dance will be held at the Wichita club.

Members of Maskat temple Shrine plan to attend a dance Saturday evening at Burkburnett, leaving the temple at 8 o'clock, it was announced by Marshall Franklin, trips chairman.

Tidal waves have been found to measure from 80 to 100 feet in height.

Hampton, both of Wichita Falls.

Father Faces Charge For Whipping Youth

Following an investigation by Juvenile Officer C. A. McDonald, a complaint charging aggravated assault was filed Tuesday against a Burkburnett man in connection with his alleged whipping of a 14-year-old son with a heavy stick.

The boy was said to have been punished for talking back to his grandmother. Mr. McDonald said the youth's back showed 18 heavy welts as a result of the whipping.

Need Of Farm Produce And Dairy Market Urged At Development Meet

Need of a farmers' produce and dairy market in Wichita Falls was presented by B. F. Greer Tuesday afternoon at the regular meeting of the Valley Development association directors and committee members. The board heard reports on plans for reopening a cheese factory here, plans for the membership drive and on the auction held last Friday.

Mr. Greer presented a strong plea for a produce and dairy market and described the successful operation of a similar project at Little Rock, Ark. The project at Little Rock was developed under direction of the county agent.

J. F. Meurer, field representative of the association, presented a report urging early completion of the cheese factory project and placed emphasis on the farmers' need for a market. The need of a market to adequately develop the valley was presented by Mr. Meurer.

Wilburn Page, Junior chamber of commerce secretary, presented plans for the membership drive developed in cooperation with Oral Jones, association finance chairman.

H. A. Gray, chairman of the cheese factory committee, reported further action would depend on a report to be made Saturday at a meeting of the Wichita County Dairy association. Assurance of 20,000 pounds daily production is necessary.

J. N. Sherrill, auction committee chairman, said more cash was handled at the third auction and livestock exchange last Friday than at the previous sales with a larger volume of items offered. The next sale will be at Call field March 25.

The board members urged public attendance at the fat stock and meat show on Wednesday and Thursday at Sixth and Indiana.

Fort Worth Rector to Speak Here Tonight

The Rev. Halsey Werlein Jr., rector of St. Andrew's church in Fort Worth, will be the Lenten speaker at the Lenten services of the Church of the Good Shepherd Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The public is invited to attend the services.

The Rev. Mr. Werlein has held important charges in Mississippi and California. He also was dean of the cathedral at Ancon in the Panama Canal zone for several years.

C-C Committee on Taxation to Meet

A meeting of the chamber of commerce taxation committee will be held at 3:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the offices in the Hamilton building. The group was scheduled to meet Wednesday morning but the session was postponed due to a conflict with court business on the part of Chairman Edgar Mann.

Taxpayers to Hear Reports on Economy

Reports by a tax economies committee in charge of Judge A. H. Carrigan are expected to feature the second meeting of the Wichita County Taxpayers association Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the 78th district courtroom. The public is invited to attend. Judge John C. Kay is association president.

Texas Independence

Woodrow Bristow was in charge of the regular high school and college assembly Tuesday morning when the students presented a special program on Texas Independence day. Mary Belle Franks presented a declamation, "Patriots of Texas," by former Gov. Pat Neff, and Mrs. Hermione Stewart Vaughan led the entire assembly in a singsong of Texas melodies.

A boys' chorus, chosen from the high school boys' glee clubs, sang numerous Texas songs, and a mixed chorus sang "My Texas." Alice Marrs told the story of "The Child of the Alamo."

College Speakers

Representatives of the local junior college will be announced Wednesday for the first annual state speakers convention at Denton Friday and Saturday, according to information given Tuesday by Miss Juanita Kinsey, head of the high school and college public speaking department. Representatives in poetry reading, George Washington orations and extemporaneous speaking will go from the junior college.

Language Clubs

Junior college language clubs will meet at the 30-minute period Wednesday, Mrs. Marie Gilbert and Miss Kathleen Melat, faculty sponsors, announced Tuesday.

Nu-Health Water

Some time ago we had the privilege of reading a report of the state health department upon the water system of our city; also a report from the health department of the United States government and were immediately convinced that Wichita Falls needed pure, cheap, drinking water more than any other one thing in all the world.

It is, therefore, our greatest ambition to make absolutely pure drinking water "Almost As Cheap As the Air You Breathe" and "As Pure As the Sunlight From Heaven." To do this we have gathered much information from the world's best informed authorities on pure water and have purchased new equipment, some of which has never been used by bottled water concerns in Texas. We have also purchased a five-gallon bottle washing machine which has recently been perfected to meet the laws of certain states which require that each and every bottle shall be sterilized for five minutes before being washed with treated water.

Nu-Health Water Will Be Available March 5

And will contain just the necessary minerals so essential to perfect health . . . and remember—

It Is Almost as Cheap as the Air You Breathe and as Pure As the Sunlight From Heaven

You Can Not Drink Bad Water And Have Good Health
