CARDS SHUT OUT ROBINS AS RHEM ALLOWS 3 HITS

(By NEA Service)
PHILADELPHIA, June 3.—Connie Mack's winter plans for winning the American League pennant in 1927 are already pretty well shattered, with the season less than two months old. He figured to do it with veteran stars. Apparently it just can't be done that way.
 The Athletics with Eddie Collins and Ty Cobb in the lineup have plenty of offensive power but must be classed as the slowest club in their league, there being several others on the team not noted for speed. Each day slows Cobb and Collins up perceptibly.
 Ty Cobb during the first month of play showed enough speed on the bases and in the field to get him by. Then he suffered a leg injury in an exhibition game at Buffalo that has slowed him up to a whisper, particularly in the field.
 It is really pitiable to see the once great Cobb, playing on only one good leg, trying to cover ground. Balls are dropping safe in the Athletics' right field territory that should be the easiest of outs. Naturally such breaks make the great hit with the pitchers.
 While Eddie Collins hasn't showed up to the extent that Cobb has, he can cover only a small portion of the ground that once made him the greatest second sacker of all time.
 His now escape Collins by a step or two that five years ago would have been soft chances for him.
 Ty Cobb and Eddie Collins still can hit the ball as well as ever. They are two of the smartest players the game has ever produced. Unfortunately the weakened legs will not carry out the dictates of the mind and the power of the arms.
 The bases are clogged, to use a baseball expression, when these two stars get on the bases, players who 10 years ago were rated as two of the greatest base runners in the business.
 Once noted for stretching singles into doubles and doubles into triples, they are now taking only one base on what would have been a double in the old days and being satisfied with a double on what should have been a triple.
 Zach Wheat has disappointed like Cobb and Collins as to his legs. He can hit as well as ever but his underpinning fail him in the field and on the bases.
 Too many stars and too little speed tells the story of the failure of the Athletics to keep close on the heels of the fast-stepping Yankees.

 sacker, to hit big league pitching, and the erratic showing of what was believed to be the best pitching staff in the American League.
 Connie Mack must considerably alter his plans if he is to win the American League pennant, the Athletics can only be rejuvenated by youth and speed, speed, speed.

HUBBERS MEET LAMESA HERE TODAY AND FAST GAME EXPECTED; FORMER SKIPPER SLED ALLEN WILL PLAY

This afternoon the Hubbers clash with their ancient rivals in the baseball field, the Lamesa Lobos, at the Merrill park at 2:30 o'clock. The Lamesa park is composed of real baseball material with the return of the White brothers, Gus Ragsdale, and other players that have worked with the Lobos in the seasons past.
Lamesa Is Winner
 Recently the Lamesa club defeated the Midland aggregation, a club that is composed of stellar performers of the national pastime. They have won from Snyder, Big Springs, and other clubs of West Texas.
 It will be another Lubbock-Lamesa day this afternoon as it has been in the past seasons. The Lubbock-Lamesa games have always attracted the attention of the fans over the South Plains for they know well that the game will be one worthy of time and cost. The Hubbers are in readiness for the contest and promise the visitors a fast show today.
Taylor Slated for Mound
 Roy Taylor, ace right hander of the Hubber staff, will take the mound for the homebats against the hard hitting aces of the Dawson county team. Taylor pitched a very creditable exhibition against the Oiler of Pampa last Sunday and he is expected to show even more ability in tossing the game this afternoon.
 Lubbock line-up will show up like the old original Hubber list with the return of Sled Allen for today's game. Skipper will likely catch and Red Hamilton will be sent to the infield. With the return of Skipper the following players are in line for the game today: Jackson, centerfield; Sheppard, second base; Gaither, third base; Sanders, first base; Hamilton, short; Hardwick, left field; Hensley, right field.
Have Eye on Bell
 In the three games played the Hubbers are hitting .352 which is a fair indication that the homebats are getting their eye on the agate and busting it out with slashing drives and hot liners. Red Gaither, third base man of the homebats, is leading the line with an .353 with seven singles in twelve trips. He is followed by "Red" Hamilton, Hubber receiver, who has an average of .509 with six for twelve.

TILDEN-HUNTER COMBINE LOSES IN TENNIS PLAY

(By Associated Press)
ST. CLOUD, June 4.—William T. Tilden and Francis T. Hunter were eliminated today from the doubles of the international hard court tennis tournament. The American pair went down to defeat before Jean Borotra and Rene Lacoste of France, 4-6, 6-2, 6-2, 3-6, 5-2, in a hard battle which was marked by many errors on both sides.
 The players showed such keen desire to win that they made mistakes through over-anxiety. On the other hand, they also put over some almost incredible shots.
 Hunter played magnificent tennis, while Tilden made many errors in driving attempts at difficult strokes.
 The final of the men's doubles Monday will be an all-French affair. Borotra and Lacoste will meet their countrymen, Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon, who eliminated Louis Raymond and J. C. Condon of South Africa, 6-2, 4-6, 4-6, 6-2, 6-3, in today's other semi-final. Cochet and Brugnon won the Wimbledon championship last year. Tomorrow afternoon Tilden will play Lacoste in the final of the men's singles. Tilden defeated Lacoste, 6-4, 7-5, in their last meeting May 29.
 Miss Douman of Holland will meet Mrs. Peacock of South Africa tomorrow in the final of the women's singles.

 Today will be a big afternoon for the Hubbers—it's their initial game with the ancient but honored rivals—the Lamesa Lobos. The Lobos are coming with a fast line and will give the fans of the South Plains and Lubbock a real treat for baseball.
 The fans of the South Plains and Lubbock know well the brand of baseball that the Lobos put up and have put up for the past few years. Lubbock and Lamesa have always played good exhibitions—games that you read about and love to talk about long after they have been played—a similar exhibition will be played this afternoon.
 Skipped Sled Allen, who for four years has led the baseball clubs of Lubbock, will be here for the same this afternoon. He will be donned out in the Hubber regalia for the scene. Skipper loves his games against the Lamesa club. A good fighter likes to battle with good fighters—that's Sled against the Lamesa line.
 Roy Taylor, ace right hander of the Hubber ranks, will toss for the homebats this afternoon. Taylor was the lad that came to the front against the Pampa nine here last Sunday and checked their mighty hitting. He is right when he's right—here's hoping that he'll be ok.
 The fans of Lubbock have the fever—they want baseball and will have it if they continue to show the interest they showed last Sunday. Don't mind telling you that the crowd turned out for the first exhibition—and the Hubbers turned out well, too, so everything went ok.

 Today will be a big afternoon for the Hubbers—it's their initial game with the ancient but honored rivals—the Lamesa Lobos. The Lobos are coming with a fast line and will give the fans of the South Plains and Lubbock a real treat for baseball.
 The fans of the South Plains and Lubbock know well the brand of baseball that the Lobos put up and have put up for the past few years. Lubbock and Lamesa have always played good exhibitions—games that you read about and love to talk about long after they have been played—a similar exhibition will be played this afternoon.
 Skipped Sled Allen, who for four years has led the baseball clubs of Lubbock, will be here for the same this afternoon. He will be donned out in the Hubber regalia for the scene. Skipper loves his games against the Lamesa club. A good fighter likes to battle with good fighters—that's Sled against the Lamesa line.
 Roy Taylor, ace right hander of the Hubber ranks, will toss for the homebats this afternoon. Taylor was the lad that came to the front against the Pampa nine here last Sunday and checked their mighty hitting. He is right when he's right—here's hoping that he'll be ok.
 The fans of Lubbock have the fever—they want baseball and will have it if they continue to show the interest they showed last Sunday. Don't mind telling you that the crowd turned out for the first exhibition—and the Hubbers turned out well, too, so everything went ok.

TILDEN-HUNTER COMBINE LOSES IN TENNIS PLAY
 (By Associated Press)
ST. CLOUD, June 4.—William T. Tilden and Francis T. Hunter were eliminated today from the doubles of the international hard court tennis tournament. The American pair went down to defeat before Jean Borotra and Rene Lacoste of France, 4-6, 6-2, 6-2, 3-6, 5-2, in a hard battle which was marked by many errors on both sides.
 The players showed such keen desire to win that they made mistakes through over-anxiety. On the other hand, they also put over some almost incredible shots.
 Hunter played magnificent tennis, while Tilden made many errors in driving attempts at difficult strokes.
 The final of the men's doubles Monday will be an all-French affair. Borotra and Lacoste will meet their countrymen, Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon, who eliminated Louis Raymond and J. C. Condon of South Africa, 6-2, 4-6, 4-6, 6-2, 6-3, in today's other semi-final. Cochet and Brugnon won the Wimbledon championship last year. Tomorrow afternoon Tilden will play Lacoste in the final of the men's singles. Tilden defeated Lacoste, 6-4, 7-5, in their last meeting May 29.
 Miss Douman of Holland will meet Mrs. Peacock of South Africa tomorrow in the final of the women's singles.

GIANT JUBILEE IS PLANNED FOR TRAVELING MEN

750 EXPECTED HERE FOR ANNUAL C. C. FETE ON JUNE 25

R. O. R. E. TO MEET

SOUTH PLAINS TOWNS JOIN LUBBOCK IN ENTERTAINMENT

"Knights of the Grip" will gather here from all points of the nation June 25 for the sixth annual "Peddlers' Jubilee." The jubilee, which is a stag party put on by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce annually to entertain the salesmen, is expected to draw in the neighborhood of 750 traveling men.

R. O. R. E. Will Meet
The mystic order of the R. O. R. E., a fraternal organization, which draws peddlers back here year after year, will have its annual session during the Jubilee and officials have assured committees in charge that the same old good time will be had. Additional work will be given those of the organization who have merited it and the usual initiation will be given the novices. Registration will begin early Saturday morning while peddlers are coming in from their work to greet old acquaintances and to make new friends. Shortly after noon, armed with an abundance of whistles, and other noise makers,

RECONSTRUCTION OF UPPER LOUISIANA FLOOD REGIONS GETTING UNDER WAY

(By Associated Press)
NEW ORLEANS, June 4.—With the flood threat rapidly diminishing in the lower Atchafalaya river basin, plans were forwarded today for steady repatriation and reconstruction of the upper reaches where the waters continue to recede.

Leaves at Bovick and half a dozen small towns along the Southern Pacific railway, about 110 miles west of New Orleans, were considered safe unless an unexpected rise of water develops. The rescue crew assembled in the region stood by as a precautionary measure but it was not believed its services would be needed further.

Exodus Expected Soon
Within the next six days the exodus from concentration camps in the northern portion of the flooded zone is expected to be general. A few refugees already have been returning to their homes as fast as ridges appear above the murky waters.

The second contingent to return to the Bayou Des Glaises country, about 150 miles northwest of New Orleans, sailed today on the steamer Tusculum, which also carried provisions for refugees camps.

Zimbalist's $10,000 Violin Found

When Herman Schevill (left) walked into a Chicago music store and asked the violin experts how much "this" was worth, he was held for police. For the instrument was recognized as the $10,000 violin stolen in Los Angeles from Efrem Zimbalist the internationally famous violinist. The violin was made in 1743 by Laurentius Gueagnini. Schevill said he bought it from a music teacher in Kansas City. He was held. Sergeant John Carter is shown with Schevill.

comical hats and other celebration regalia which will be furnished by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, the peddlers will stage their annual parade lead by the R. O. R. E. mascot, a live billy goat.

Ball Game Scheduled
Following the parade the Peddlers will pit their baseball nine against some local club. Information has leaked out at the Peddlers' camp that some big league players will be included in their line-up but the manager remains silent and refuses to make a statement regarding his prospect. Practice is to start soon behind closed gates.

The feature of the Jubilee will be the annual meeting of the R. O. R. E. which will follow a big feed. Lubbock business men, bankers, merchants, professional men and others, will forsake their business and professional jobs Saturday afternoon and evening to become waiters, bell hops, ushers, taxi drivers, and other kinds of servants to the visiting peddlers.

Many Special Guests
South Plains Chamber of Commerce secretaries will be here to assist Lubbock in being host to the visitors and many hotel managers and wholesale house managers will be here as special guests for the occasion. Invitations have been broadcasted to all salesmen, would-be salesmen, and order-takers to pack the old kit for Lubbock, June 25th.

CAPITAL READY FOR RECEPTION OF LINDBERGH

ATTENTION NOW DIVIDED BETWEEN BELLANCA AND NEW HERO

PLANS FORMED

MILITARY PARADE TO BE ONE OF MANY FEATURES

(By The Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, June 4.—Official Washington divided its time today between following the course of the dramatic flight of the airplane "Columbia" from New York for an unnamed destination in Europe and arranging for the reception here next Saturday of Captain Charles A. Lindbergh, hero of the first New York-to-Paris hop, who left Cherbourg, France, today, for the national capital on the cruiser Memphis.

Arriving here at noon next Saturday, Captain Lindbergh will be personally welcomed and decorated by President Coolidge; will remain here over Sunday and take off from Bolling field between 6 a. m. and 8 a. m., Monday, June 13, for New York in his monoplane, "Spirit of St. Louis" in which he made his epochal air voyage.

Arrangements Complete
Arrangements for the reception of the world's flying hero were completed today by the semi-official reception committee, which announced that its members and the District of Columbia commissioners would greet the young flier at Washington navy yard when the Memphis docks.

Captain Lindbergh will be escorted to the Washington monument grounds by "The President's own" troop of cavalry and there he will be welcomed by the President and presented with the Distinguished Flying Cross, the highest award of the American air service.

A military parade will form behind the aviator at Peace Monument, on the west side of the Capitol and follow him to the monument grounds. There will be about 2,000 in this line of march, the committee holding the number low on the theory that the thousands who will crowd the national capital that day will want to see Lindbergh and not a parade.

President Coolidge will await the aviator on a special stand at the foot of the knoll upon which the monument to the father of his country towers. Grouper around this stand will be the cabinet, the supreme court, the diplomatic corps, senators and representatives and government officials.

Nungesser Honored

A McCoy Calls A Hatfield Pal Closing Long And Bitter Feud

The bitter feud that raged a generation ago between the Hatfields and McCoy's, in which 35 men and one woman were killed in the Kentucky and West Virginia mountains, has ended. will have a place in the President's stand, Robert Nungesser is a resident of Washington, conducting a machine shop here.

Mrs. Evangeline L. Lindbergh, mother of the celebrated flier, also is expected to be in this crowd, a special committee of women, headed by Miss Mabel T. Boardman, of the American Red Cross, was appointed to welcome Mrs. Lindbergh to Washington and to arrange for her program while she and her son are guests of the President and Mrs. Coolidge at the White House.

Lindbergh Enroute
U. S. S. Memphis (By Wireless to the Associated Press)—"It was a glorious send-off" Captain Lindbergh remarked as the Memphis steamed away from Cherbourg this afternoon.

The farewell receptions to the American flying ace ashore this afternoon were highly gratifying, but his actual start by home, as the Memphis put on full steam and made straight for Hampton Roads, was the best part of the whole great adventure.

Goes To Quarters
After formalities aboard the cruiser, Lindbergh, escorted by Commander Bagley, went to his quarters. He was well pleased, and said so. There were flowers heaped in every corner. Then he mounted the bridge and as the Memphis moved out, listened to the encomium of farewell from the harbor boats, crowded to the guards with people of Cherbourg who had come out to shout and wave "bon voyage."

An invitation from President Coolidge to Captain Lindbergh and his mother to stay as guests of the White House was handed to the aviator as soon as he reached his quarters. A squadron of airplanes accompanied the Memphis for nearly an hour, and the last glimpse he had of the tri-color was as the planes dipped picturesquely in final good bye, then turned homeward, while the Memphis got under way at 23 knots.

CLEAR THINKING

Much feeling was aroused yesterday afternoon among the 50 or more persons who saw a young girl, clearly of minor, placed in the city jail in which half a dozen negroes were in the inner cell. Taken in a local hotel, she was apparently doped, and early in the evening was being in a stupor on an old quilt spread by negro prisoners for some time.

Later in the evening the negroes were moved to the other jail and placed in the outer compartment. The white prisoners were in the center cell. The girl was left in the "negro" jail with the quilt as the only furnishing. City officials said that, in the absence of another jail and with no coats or coverings provided, they were following the only recourse.

Toward midnight the jail was opened and a cot and comforter were placed inside by private citizens. This morning the girl, a slight form of early high school age, was lying in the jail in a dazed condition, very sick from her experience. That she was taken in guilt does not solve one of the oil field's problems, that she is young, and some mother's daughter, should impose a responsibility upon the public, not only that she and others of her sex should be held in custody under better conditions, but that she should be saved from a life in which she apparently is starting.

Pampa, like all other communities, is urged to support foreign missions, the Near East, denominational homes and hospitals, and multitudes of other causes. It is time to look about at home, and save some liberality for local use. Here is a fertile field for rescue and The News believes Pampa people will contribute liberally toward the saving of unfortunate girls who may be found here. The interest which has been aroused in the present instance, and the scores of inquiries which have been made, bespeak the spirit of the people.

SUGGESTION FOR RUSSIA

If Russia wants to spread the Communist system to other countries—which she does—there may be a much more effective way than the way she has been following. Communist propaganda financed by the Soviet government hasn't accomplished much except to make other countries mad and suspicious. It has failed even among opinion-minded people, because well informed people, because well informed people know that Communism has not been successful in Russia, and has only been kept from disastrous failure by the progressive adoption of capitalistic methods.

The Soviet leaders have wasted a lot of time and money in this foreign propaganda. It has hurt Russia far more than it has hurt the other countries. Common sense should tell them it is time to quit. If they don't want to give up Communism, that is all right. If they want to persuade the world that Communism is its sole salvation, even that is all right. But there is only one way they can ever prove it to the satisfaction of intelligent people in any other country. That is, by making it successful in Russia—by making Russia prosperous and happy under a Communist system.

Let them concentrate on that for a while. Nothing succeeds like success. If and when it can be demonstrated that the system works in its chosen land, the Missouriian world will sit up and take notice.—Gainesville Register.

THE RING OF DEATH

A grewsome ornament, mystifying, deadly. At its touch men fell in an agonizing paralysis and died. No one knew its origin. Only a few knew its terrible secret. It was one of the baffling mysteries of Porto Verde.

Porto Verde, a jungle-fringed town in South America, where Elise Marberry, a girl from the United States, encountered the enmity of a plotting band of cutthroats, a murderous gang to whom killing was as casual a performance as eating or sleeping.

A man named Vilak saved her and solved the mystery of the ring. A strange man, but shrewd and courageous. Not since Sherlock Holmes has fiction produced a greater detective character. Not in years has a more entertaining adventure story been written than the story that introduces him—"Jungle Breath," by Ben Lucien Burman.

"Jungle Breath" is a story for every member of the family. Clean, wholesome, red-blooded adventure. Romance. Mystery. It starts in The Journal Monday, June 6. Watch for the opening installment.

RED CROSS TAKES UP RELIEF WORK

MARSHALLING FORCES FOR FLOOD SWEPT PORTIONS OF KENTUCKY

(By the Associated Press)

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 4.—Designated by Governor William J. Fields to take charge of the relief and rehabilitation of the Kentucky storm area, the national American Red Cross was marshalling its forces throughout the state and pushing its way slowly, but surely up the valleys of the Kentucky, Big Sandy and Licking rivers, carrying succor and cheer to homeless thousands who so recently were contributing of their own means to the sufferers of the greater Mississippi valley flood.

Devastation Widespread

Meanwhile, communication lines, broken during the cloud burst of Sunday night were being re-established to bring into headquarters belated reports of the devastation wrought the whole eastern end of the state by raging mountain streams that raced through narrow valleys in the dead of the night, sweeping all before them.

Latest estimates show that 125,000 people, one sixth the total number who felt the heavy hand of the father of waters in the Mississippi valley, were affected by storm and flood that followed. Eighty nine deaths have been reported and upward of 20,000 men have been thrown out of employment. Many more are homeless. Damage was estimated at $25,000,000. Funds are being raised by local Red Cross chapters.

AMERICAN SAID SLAIN IN A QUARREL OVER BUSINESS MATTERS WEDNESDAY

(By Associated Press)

MEXICO CITY, June 4.—Dispatches from Guadaluajara say that Javier Diaz, who is charged with shooting and killing Arthur Brewer, an American coal merchant and former Harvard football star, has been arrested.

The American embassy and the consulate general have not received any word concerning the shooting which was reported in press dispatches from Guadaluajara as having occurred on Wednesday in a quarrel over business matters.

Details Lacking

No details of the shooting have been received here and unless instructions are received from the department of state at Washington, the American embassy will make no representations since it is without official information.

Concerning dispatches from Boston that Mr. Brewer was Arthur Harris Brewer, formerly of Boston, Mexico City friends said today that Brewer was one of the greatest football players ever produced at Harvard and was captain of the team in 1895. DAILY MARKETS

COTTON GOODS

NEW YORK, June 4 (AP)—Cotton goods closed steady, with trade light for the short day. Raw silk was more abroad and unchanged here. Prices were said to be slightly higher in Calcutta and remained set here.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, June 4 (AP)—Modern rallies were followed by declines in the cotton market today on a selling promoted by prospective buyers in the southeast part of West Texas. October sold off on 17.07 to 16.77 and closed at 16.86, the general market closing steady, at net declines of 9 to 19 cents to 17.27, net advances of 1 to 10 cents to 16.44 and December 16.55, 28 to 38 points below Thursday's close.

A good part of the loss was attributed to a readjustment here to meet the decline in New York yesterday while the local market was closed. The low levels attracted brisk buying and October rallied to 16.81 and December 17.03, or 9 points above the lows. This recovery was practically maintained to the end and at the close the undertone was steady, with the market 7 to 9 points above the lows.

Exports for the day totaled 4,546 bales.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 4 (AP)—Rains across the corn belt from Iowa to Ohio making the fields in many places look like lakes today, the corn market again today. Heavy selling developed on the upward swings, however, and to prices failed to hold well.

Corn closed unsettled, 1-3 cent to 1-2 cent net higher, oats unchanged 1-2 cent off to 1-4 cent up and provisions 5 cents to 25 cents down.

Wheat prices were affected chiefly by more auspicious crop reports from the southwest, especially improvement noted due to relief from drought in Kansas. Oats displayed firmness, the crop situation leading to talk that all oats available this season will be wanted.

Provisions tended downward. High prices for corn were regarded as pointing to liberal receipts of hogs.

PORT WORTH LIVESTOCK

PORT WORTH, June 4 (AP)—Nominal trading conditions prevailed today in the cattle and sheep divisions of the livestock market here, but a decline of around 10 cents was recorded in the hog trade.

Receipts called for 200 grown cattle, 100 calves, 500 hogs and sheep nil.

BOSTON WOOL

BOSTON, June 4 (AP)—Wool continues fairly active, and values are firm on all offerings of choice wools. Some houses report sales, whereas others are fairly slow, especially those offering new domestic wools. Because of restricted supplies and relatively high prices on choice foreign wools, mills have shown a keen desire to cover part of their needs as rapidly as the new clip arrives.

WIFE ROBS; HE CARES FOR BABY

While his wife wore his clothes and played the part of mail carrier, a man, attired in skirts, carried for the baby at Fohndorf, near Vienna recently. A gendarme was attracted by the movements of a lantern in a mail car and, as he approached it a woman wearing trousers leaped from the car and dashed across the snow covered fields. When cornered she threatened the gendarme with a revolver, but was disarmed. Her husband, dressed in her clothes, was found sitting along the roadside near the Fohndorf station and holding the baby. The woman is a former subordinate postal officer. Before the arrival of the gendarme she had forced the mail sorter at the point of a revolver, to barricade himself in a cupboard of the car.

BIG SPRING PLANS OWN GAS SUPPLY

GULF BRINGS IN TWO BIG PRODUCERS IN CHALK FIELD AND OFFICIALS HOPE TO SUPPLY CITY

BIG SPRING, June 4.—Indications are good for Big Spring to have from its own oil and gas field located twenty miles south and east of the city. The Gulf Production company which owns 160 acres in the producing territory of the Chalk field has brought in two large gas wells, one well is making five million cubic feet. According to gas authorities either of these wells would supply the present needs of Big Spring. Negotiations are being had with gas companies who may be interested in taking out a franchise.

New Location To Be Tested

The Bruce Oil company of New Orleans has closed a drilling contract and made location for a test on the W. P. Cushing ranch twenty five miles south of Big Spring. The date for spudding in has not been set.

The Marland Test on the Edith K. Fisher ranch 10 miles south of Big Spring has been retarded for a few days with a fishing job, a string of tools having been lost at a depth of 550 feet.

Westheimer Drilling company of Oklahoma have spudded in on the Reed ranch, thirty miles south of Big Spring in Steadley county.

The World Oil company on McDowell well number 1, has finished setting fifteen and one half inch casing and is now drilling at six hundred feet. This well is twenty miles south of Big Spring and is near the field where oil was found by the General Oil company in 1919. The test on the Mrs. Dora Roberts ranch being drilled by Owen and Cloon on section 135 block 29 is down 1900 feet. This location is being watched by oil scouts. Being located midway between the Clay and Settles fields it is almost sure to be a producing well, according to driller reports.

Two Producers

The California company has brought in two producing wells on the W. L. Foster ranch east of Big Spring and are drilling at 1,900 feet on their third well which is about eighteen hundred feet from the discovery well. These wells are on section 6 block 28, 18.

The Richardson company of Ft. Worth has made a location and spudded in on the S. E. 1-4 of section 193 block 29, W. and N. W. survey. This is known as the Dry Lake section and joins the Mack ranch where there are drilling operations by other companies. Material is being assembled on the W. B. Currie ranch about 20 miles S. E. of Big Spring and a test is to be made by the California company. Location has been made on section 215 block 29, W. and N. W. survey.

The F. H. E. company has brought in what seems to be one of the best wells in the Clay and Settles fields. It is located on section 158, block 29. Production was gotten in 1925. A good gravity oil was found and this proves up the territory between the Clay and Settles fields which are about four miles apart.

Leasing Is Active

The Marland test on the Gular ranch five miles west of Big Spring is down to 2000 feet and the showings are such that leasing is taking place at a rapid rate for holdings near this test. If this test comes in paying quantities the Howard county field will be approximately 25 miles long and the width has not yet been ascertained.

The John O'Neal company of Wichita Falls has closed a drilling contract for a test four miles west of Big Spring.

With the new locations that have recently been made Big Spring is in the center of drilling operations that is fast developing the theory

Movie Queen Is A Princess Now

Here are Pola Negri and her boy friend Serge Mdivani, the Georgian prince, on wedding "location." Pola keeps her best movie composure, but the camera seems to intrigue the prince. The picture was taken at Pola's Parisian chateau at Serravallo, near Paris, just after the wedding. With the couple is the bridegroom's father, Prince Gregory, said to be a former general in the czar's army. Others of the prince's family including his son, David, husband of Mae Murray, were unable to be present. At the reception at the chateau, cameramen and reporters predominated. Pola wore an ermine cloak and many costly jewels—pearls, diamond rings and diamond and emerald bracelets.

that has been advocated by several ecologists that the city of Big Spring sits in the middle of an oil pool.

COOLIDGE SEES NATION'S FLEET PASS IN REVIEW

BATTLESHIPS PASS OUT TO TAKE UP POSTS IN SEVEN SEAS

WEATHER CLEAR

CHIEF EXECUTIVE GIVEN HIS FIRST VIEW OF ENTIRE FLEET

(By The Associated Press)
U. S. S. MAYFLOWER, President's Yacht, off Cape Henry, Va., June 4.—The United States fleet today proudly paraded past President Coolidge, its commander in chief, to take up its far-flung posts in the seven seas of the world. For an hour and forty minutes the mighty gray war machines of the sea ploughed their way by the presidential yacht, Mayflower, under the eyes of the President, Secretary Wilbur and Admiral Eberle, chief of naval operations, and as the huge battleships bringing up the rear came abreast of the reviewing yacht, Mr. Coolidge ordered the signal "well done" to be flashed.

Weather Clear

Clear weather brought the fleet into bold view as the flagship, the armored cruiser Seattle, in the lead turned its nose into Hampton Roads shortly after noon for the parade between the twin capes of Virginia—Henry and Charles—out into the rolling Atlantic. The ninety-seven ships, constituting the greatest concentration of America's sea force since the war, stretched out over 15 miles and included every form of fighting auxiliary craft. It was Mr. Coolidge's first view of the fleet.

Escorted By Planes

Wearing the commander in chief's hat, the president was on the bridge of the Mayflower, anchored about 2 1/2 miles northwest of Cape Henry, at the doorway of the Atlantic, when the double and single column formations in battle array dove into sight under the protection of a fleet of 25 planes, slightly in advance.

The Seattle, bearing Admiral Charles F. Hughes, commander in chief of the combined scouting and battle fleets, headed the procession from Hampton Roads, war-time harbor of the navy and scene of other high points in naval history. As it drew along, the President lowered his binoculars and came to a salute.

Salute Is Fired

The flagship, when 500 yards from the Mayflower, let loose 21 guns, the presidential salute, from her three-pounders. Passing the President at 12:30 o'clock on the dot, her salutes, manning the rails, stood at salute, each with his right hand to head and left arm extended to his neighbor's shoulder. The Mayflower acknowledged the salute with the Star Spangled Banner, played by its band. The President again came to salute.

Fully equipped, the fleet at 10 knots steamed out as if to meet an enemy off the eastern horizon, slender submarines preceding the heavier warcraft in the fighting line.

The armada eased quietly to sea, scattering, even within sight of the President, to its distant home posts and to protect America's widely scattered properties.

TIGER TERROR FINALLY ENDED

After having killed many people and terrorizing a great part of Egypt, a man eating tiger that seemed to defy all human methods of warfare, was killed near Cairo recently. He was known by sight to the whole countryside because he wore a collar, obviously having escaped from captivity. He would enter a village and carry off a pedestrian while the terrified parents looked on, and natives so feared him that a driver would sit cowering and chattering while the animal attacked his ox team in daylight. The striped bandit always indulged in surprise attacks, traveling long distances between his kills, and for years avoided all traps and sportsmen until a hunter shot him and claimed the heavy reward offered for his head.

A terrible lot of interest has been shown in the annual balloon race preliminaries—just about as much as in a chess tournament or a six day bicycle race. The Plainman can't imagine many finger nails being bitten off by anxious fans awaiting the results.

The body of James Herriek, who disappeared about a year ago, was brought up by a boy fishing in Lake Michigan.

LUBBOCK, LUBBOCK COUNTY, TEXAS, SUNDAY, JUNE 5, 1927

MEANS "BY ASSOCIATED PRESS"

IMPERATIVE NEED FOR CONNECTED SYSTEM OF PAVED HIGHWAYS OVER LUBBOCK COUNTY SEEN BY PARRISH

Imperative need of a paved highway to connect Lubbock county up with Fort Worth and the main Texas highway systems was pointed out by Mayor Frank L. Parrish Saturday.

"With the highway commission in a mood to give West Texas road building programs now, it is necessary that Lubbock county act at once in a construction program which will both fill the needs of the county and will connect up with the big Texas road systems already paved," the mayor stated.

Worth Much As Railroad
"Having a paved road system from here straight through to Fort Worth and the other eastern highways would be worth almost as much to Lubbock as a railroad. If Lubbock and adjoining counties will act now they can get the attention of the highway commission. If they delay, and highway 28 running east and west through Plainview and highway 82 running west into New Mexico and El Paso from Lamesa is designated, this section will be left out. It is necessary that immediate action be taken," he said.

Of about twenty persons interviewed at random on the streets the majority were in favor of a bond issue or other means of financing a construction program now. The belief that the difference in cost of maintenance for automobiles and trucks would practically pay for the bonds, during their lifetime. Besides more money will be spent in most communities during the construction than is taken out in taxes, it was believed.

Main Artery Planned
The organization of the Highway Number 82 association will be completed at a meeting in Snyder on June 7. The new roadway, if put through, promises to be one of the main arteries of state travel. It was predicted.

Maintenance work is being featured by the highway association now, with active campaigns of construction on in all parts of the state, an official highway bulletin announces.

Contracts have been let for projects in Walker, Wilbarger, Callahan and Harris counties which will close up important highway gaps. The projects in Walker and Harris counties are on state highway No. 18, an important road serving nine counties.

The highway extending from Grand Saline through the towns of Athens, Palestine, Crockett and Huntsville, and affording these the facilities of a direct north and south highway. The highway is a federal project from Athens south. The project in Walker county is 15.3 miles of concrete while that in Harris county is also concrete, closing the gap in that county. Wilbarger county contract calls for concrete and closes the gap in this section of highway No. 5, one of the most important interstate roads crossing Texas from east to west.

The project in Callahan county is for asphalt surfacing, and completes this stretch of highway number one on the back-road from Terzakana to El Paso on the transcontinental route.

One hundred and ten bids were received recently by the State Highway department on maintenance machinery which the commission is to purchase. Modern machinery for handling all roads is to be bought.

Lamesa Newlyweds Don't Fear Divorce

LAMESA, June 4.—"It is dangerous to get married in Lamesa," is the statement and voiced sentiment of three very popular young business men of this city. C. A. Hollingsworth, Matt McCall, and Quelden Vess are the young business men who tried the venture. They were seized, placed in heavy log chain stocks, carried to the city auditorium and given a genuine dipping. They were made to stay in the cold water for several minutes before they were taken out and returned to the business square where many awaited to witness their dripping clothes.

Upon their return the "key was lost" and it took several minutes to find it before the young men could be set free. After freedom and an exchange of clothes one of the sufferers was heard to say "It is fine that a fellow does not have to marry but once in life." Another said "I do not think I ever want a divorce," while the other said he would busy himself at once in writing a book entitled "Advice to Young Men."

SWEDISH ACTOR KILLED IN WRECK

ELINAR HANSON PINNED UNDER CAR WHEN MACHINE TURNS

SANTA MONICA, Calif., June 4.—Pola Negri's "leading man" in the film, Elinar Hanson, Swedish feature actor of the stage and screen, died here Friday, a victim of the broad highway, crushed under his overturned automobile.

Hanson's eyes, which had never failed him under the terrible light of the sun rays of Hollywood, played him false when they looked into the headlights of an oncoming automobile at a hairpin turn on the coast highway north of here.

Struck Sand Bar
He swung out to avoid the crash, struck a sand bar at the side of the highway and his car somersaulted, pinning him underneath. This, he told physicians later in a moment of consciousness, was all that he remembered.

Two mechanics, found him under his automobile last evening, his leg, an aircable, uninjured, and standing guard. They rushed him to a Santa Monica hospital but with crushed chest and a shattered right leg he failed to rally and died a little more than four hours later. The dog remained at his side, the only friend of the popular stage and screen player who was with him at his death.

Was Host To Party
Hanson's valet said that the actor had been host to a party of Swedish friends last evening, including Greta Garbo, motion picture actress, and Maurice Stiller, director. The valet said that after their departure Hanson went for a ride. Funeral arrangements are awaiting instructions from Stockholm, Sweden.

Hanson was born in 1899 in Stockholm. His father wished him to take up engineering and he went through a technical course, only to abandon this field for the one of his choosing, the drama. After a few years on the speaking stage he went into pictures in Sweden and came to the United States in 1925.

WHEAT YIELD POOR

Early Planting Yields Fair But Late Wheat Is Smutty and Undeveloped, Farmers Say

LOCKNEY, June 4.—Undue excitement over the yield that the wheat is harvesting in this section has been quelled as more farmers are starting their harvest.

Early reports came from the farmers who had planted their wheat extraordinarily early and were the first to start harvesting and as more farmers start their harvest, there are many reports of much smaller yields. Bankers, business men, grain dealers and farmers state that at least 50 per cent of the average is of late planting and will produce very little on account of the wheat being smutty and undeveloped.

PLANS GIVEN FOR PRESS MEETING

MUCH ENTERTAINMENT WITH TRIP TO JUAREZ, FEATURES EL PASO SESSION

EL PASO, June 4.—Complete arrangements for the El Paso meeting of the Texas Press Association June 16, 17 and 18, are announced by the El Paso Chamber of Commerce.

A special train of the Texas and Pacific will leave Fort Worth, Texas, at 9:30 a. m., June 14th. It will travel via Millsap and Toyahvale to allow those making the trip to enjoy entertainments being arranged for the Mat Mineral Wells and Madera Springs. A wide and comprehensive program has been planned that will be of interest to every publisher who is a member of the Texas Press Association.

Much Entertainment Planned
Many interesting entertainment features have been planned for the delegates and visitors in El Paso, according to D. A. Hansen, manager of the El Paso Chamber of Commerce.

On the first day of the convention a motor ride has been planned that will carry the delegates over the Gateway City. The upper and lower Rio Grande valleys will be traversed where the visitor will see the opportunities afforded through the irrigation project along the Rio Grande. The visitor will ride to a height of 5000 feet above sea level on the famous El Paso Scenic Drive. Across the international boundary one's gaze is filled with the grandeur of the Guadalupe Mountains in Mexico, now famed in fact and fiction.

Will Visit Juarez
On the second day of the convention the delegates will be entertained at a barbecue and reception in Juarez (Old Mexico) amid the century old surroundings of this quaint Mexican town, where they will be received at Federal Military Headquarters by General Ramon Lopez, Military Commander of the forces in Juarez. From the military headquarters the delegates will proceed to the Tivoli Gardens where they will be met by Mayor Antonio Corona, Consul General Enrique Luffkins and Consul Rafael Avilera.

A luncheon will be served the editors on the third day in the New El Paso Club, recently opened on the roof of the New Grand Hotel.

DEPENDABLE MERCHANDISE

The Woman's Day

By Allene Sumner

A special bachelor tax is about to be levied in Hungary for the sole purpose of caring for the old people of parents of large families. The tax is all wrong. Of course, the old people of many or few children should be taken care of. But that about the offering doing it themselves it seems to me that one of the first laws made by any country should be a law compelling children to care for their parents. It seems a certain shame to a human race that a law should be necessary for a thing that should be a human instinct should be made a law.

WHY PICK ON BACHELORS?

Why do bachelors look after their own parents? I can see no earthly reason why they should enlarge the scope of their activities and take care of their parents' parents. However, I think this nation knows that if parents wouldn't be taken care of by their children, they would be taken care of by their brothers and sisters, and who themselves are to blame, one sometimes thinks, for not raising their children with any sense of responsibility to parents. I know a boy and a mother of five grown children who take it for granted that their brothers and sisters, and who are their aunts and uncles, when they consider the job of looking after their mother not sufficiently well.

SMOKE HAZARD

Well, of all things, "Woman" is generally blamed for most everything that happens, but this is surprising! The National Fire Protection association says that women who smoke have increased American fire hazard by tremendous figures. They say sarcastic things about "the natural refinement of woman rapidly succumbing to this habit." Wonder just how many generations it will be before human hands will function sufficiently rationally to have shed tradition and prejudice and do enough straight thinking to see that there is little or no connection between a woman's refinement and whether she smokes or not, any more than whether or not she can be refined and eat chocolates or drink coffee?

HOW MUCH KISSING?

How many kisses a year is a husband entitled to? I am speaking of kisses from his wife. This question was recently propounded to the Anglian Judge by a male applicant for divorce on the grounds that his wife had kissed him but seven times in a year! The Judge thought that was about enough, but the male attorney said that three kisses a day were the minimum which any proper wife could give. What a silly, unanswerable argument! Such things can't be generalized. Three kisses a day might send another husband to the divorce court, complaining that he was being annoyed with incessant demonstrations of affection. It all depends on the proper matching of two personalities—says I, sapiently.

TELLS WHEN LIE IS WHITE

There is such a thing as a white lie, but it is rare. The Bishop of Southwell in an address to teachers on "Truth," delivered in Nottingham, England, recently. The circumstances must be unusual, he continued, but he would be prepared to exonerate from guilt a person who told a lie to save an innocent life, if he was reasonably sure that not to tell a lie would involve loss of life. Having the choice of two evils, he would be choosing what would appear to be the lesser. Just as he imagined, most would agree that a man who was on the point of starvation would be justified in stealing food.

Each child brought a lunch and these were spread on the tables at the park with the school furnishing lemonade.

Sandwiches For Picnic

BY SISTER MARY
NEA Service Writer

With the picnic season upon us perhaps a few sandwich suggestions will not be amiss. The right sort of sandwiches and fruit can be made to serve as an adequate and nourishing luncheon for a day's motoring or boating, hiking or in the saddle.

Some Are Hardy

There are certain kinds of sandwiches that will endure several hours of packing and jolting and heat and still be palatable while others are ruined after an hour's standing. Meat sandwiches, plain cheese, olive and nut and a few other varieties are "hardy" and will stand much. But tomato and cucumber and most lettuce sandwiches, delicious as they are, are best served on the porch or in the garden.

CHURCH GROWS DURING EXODUS

While homes of many parishes are being moved away, the congregation of Christ church of Sydney, Australia, is growing, says Rev. Frank Cash, the pastor. Holding services at 8 o'clock in the morning instead of 11, is the reason for the growth, he declares. The church is on Lavender Bay, and entire blocks of houses are being demolished for the new harbor bridge works. Hundreds of members of the church having to find homes elsewhere, but the congregations recently have been the largest in the history of the church. Rev. Cash says that 11 o'clock is not a suitable hour in the hot climate of Sydney. Evening services also are being well attended.

BROWNSVILLE—The achievements of Jefferson Davis, who, among other things, landed at Point Isabel during the war of 1818, are commemorated in the memorial boulder here, which is to be presented by the United Daughters of the Confederacy to the state of Texas.

Little Planting Done At Lockney

LOCKNEY, June 4—The last moisture received in the Lockney trade territory was a light snow in December of last year and as a result there is very little cotton and feedstuffs planted, except in the irrigated district. Cotton farmers are of the opinion that the time is passed to plant cotton and some say there is very little time left to plant grain sorghums.

MAY PARK CARS UNDER PARKS

Paris and London are considering the plan of having garages, car parking spaces and cab stands beneath the city parks. The idea was introduced by the automobile association which has been urging the government to take up its suggestion for under ground parking places. The plan would be to make a cellar garage with four subways providing two entrances and two exits, under each park. As London has 285 public squares there would be room for tens of thousands of cars. Government officials have held back on the project because they said the cost would be so high that it would not pay.

THE RING OF DEATH

A gruesome ornament, mystifying, deadly. At its touch men fell in an agonizing paralysis and died. No one knew its origin. Only a few knew its terrible secret. It was one of the baffling mysteries of Porto Verde.

Porto Verde, a jungle-fringed town in South America, where Elise Marberry, a girl from the United States, encountered the enmity of a plotting band of cut-throats, a murderous gang to whom killing was as casual a performance as eating or sleeping.

A man named Vilak saved her and solved the mystery of the ring. A strange man, but shrewd and courageous. Not since Sherlock Holmes has fiction produced a greater detective character. Not in years has a more entertaining adventure story been written than the story that introduces him—"Jungle Breath," by Ben Lucien Burman.

system has proved so popular with the trade that some have demanded its extension to other meats and to animals on the hoof. That will be undertaken, though gradually so as to avoid disruption. The changes will not be revolutionary, it is asserted, for the Government standards will be based on the safe factors now in use. The main effect will be to bring about uniformity, which is far from being afforded at present. Now a certain grade-name may have a different meaning in different markets, so that on many occasions misunderstandings between shipper and consignee have arisen. When the Federal standards go into effect, a man may buy a "choice grade steer" in Fort Worth, San Francisco or Jersey City and know exactly what he is getting. As with cotton, each classification will stand for certain definite characteristics. The breeder will be assured better prices and the consumer will pay no more, for he will benefit from economies in handling. As quality will command a premium, the new arrangement will be a stimulus to raising pure-bred stock. For that reason alone it will be a boon to the whole industry.

SO THINK WE

We think the weather man has a very hard time getting everything just right. Its too hot or too cold; too wet or too dry for some folks all the time. There is one thing that we have noticed however that when people really try to do things they usually succeed very creditably.

We think there are many mighty fine folks in this world, notwithstanding reports to the contrary. Yesterday we were the recipients of a very splendid basket of delicacies from the kitchen of Mrs. W. L. Altman, west of Lubbock. They were as nice as we have ever seen, and we appreciate the treat.

We think there are some people who can be disappointed in themselves sometimes. For example, they have known people who thought they were superior to others, who were not.

We think that Lubbock county needs better roads and permanent roads seem the best solution. A bond issue this year would give employment to a great many people when they need it, and we would have the roads too, which we will have to have anyway.

We think some folks do not know what they are really well situated. Just think how much more pleasant it is to live in this country, even when it hot and dry, than it is to live in the top of some big tree like some of the folks in the Mississippi valley are doing now.

We think there are a good many of the homes in this city that could be made more attractive by cutting the weeds off the lots, and clearing away the trash in the back alley.

We think it would not be much trouble for you to sack the tin cans and the rubbish that usually accumulates in the back yard and the alley of the average home, and place it where the trash wagon can get it. It will keep your yard clean and it will keep you a dime to have it hauled away.

We think that law enforcement is very necessary some times especially when the parental laws have not been properly enforced.

We think that from the looks of things the big queen of the north Panhandle may still let Miss Clarendon be host of the Clarendon college.

We think the United States Senatorial race is simmering down to a long list of splendid fellows, and it may be a hard job to decide who to vote for in 1928. We are confident however there will be some in the race that most any decent fellow will take pleasure in voting against even though that one may have made known his intentions of running yet.

We think too few people of this city really know just what there is in Lubbock.

We think that Congress should have passed the appropriation for the new postoffice building in Lubbock, and we could have had it built before the big rush of business came to this city from the oil development that is sure to come.

We think people should have more feeling for the general public than to dump rubbish, dead animals and fowls on the public highways. It is a violation of the Texas laws, and it should be very forcefully reminded of it.

We think with several revival meetings going on the people of this city can take their choice and attend services today.

We think Lubbock county cannot afford to lag behind the progression in road building. If it takes bonds to build highways, then bonds are the things to secure.

We think the building of the new fire station should be rushed as fast as possible. With so many nice buildings going up in this city, they should have ample fire protection.

We think that reputation is not something that can be put on and removed indefinitely. It is something that has to be earned every day.

We think that the fathers who are not contributing to the Boy Scout work are missing a mighty fine opportunity to do some good constructive work for the boys of the community.

We think that many nations have started many different things but it seems to take America to finish them in the proper way. More than once this old nation has put the finishing touches on things that other nations have failed in. The non-stop fly across the Atlantic ocean for example.

We think a lot of people do not go to church the summer because it is too hot and others do not go to church in the winter because it is too cold. Such people as that will very likely not have much choice in where they will go from here.

We think the firm that does not appreciate the patronage of the farmers must have something very radically wrong with them. Yet we are told that there are few firms in this city who say they do not care for that class of trade.

We think that the down town street should certainly be swept good and clean Saturday night in order that they do not have such a bad appearance as they sometimes do on Sunday morning.

We think the fellow who objects to the fire siren sounding each Thursday evening is possibly the fellow that is first behind the fire truck when it goes to a fire.

MISFORTUNES AND BLESSINGS

Misfortunes are sometimes turned into blessings, or at least it very often proves that there are some very splendid results come from what seems a disaster. History reveals that after some of the most serious disasters there has arisen an opportunity and a desire to rebuild on a grander, finer scale than before, and thus turning the temporary reverses into a permanent gain. Many a dauntless, enterprising urban community has such a record to its credit. The examples of San Francisco after the flood, Galveston after the hurricane, might be cited.

Formulating plans for rehabilitating the devastated areas in the Mississippi Valley, Secretary Hoover has visions of similar achievement there, also. Though relatively no more people may be involved, the task is greater than rebuilding a city would be. It is spread out over much more territory and, generally speaking, equal resources of capital and credit are not available.

Even the most optimistic person would not expect bungalows equipped with up-to-date conveniences to replace the one-room tenement houses, or country estates to supplant run-down farms. Through his genius for organization Mr. Hoover has wrought near-miracles, but he possesses no magic wand.

In any event there will be little occasion for reconstruction in a literal sense. For the most part the buildings in the flooded district are still standing; comparatively few of them have been damaged beyond repair. The housing problem usually will take care of itself, and the immediate concern is to restore the farm to a productive basis.

Here Secretary Hoover sees an opportunity to start the returned refugees on a course which may lay the foundations of better agricultural practice. He would encourage the growing of sustenance crops by distributing vegetable seeds—suggesting a most practical use for supplies which Congressmen periodically dish out to constituents.

As cotton is by no means a sure crop thus late in the season, the farmers may diversify from necessity and thereby learn through experience what propaganda would not teach them. Indeed, these cotton-growers have heard the diversification doctrine preached for many years—and have clung tenaciously to the one-crop system. Should the flood impel them to depart from this custom at least to the extent of raising a living at home, it would be—as the bollweevil has been to many communities—a blessing in disguise.

The prospects of a permanent change in agricultural methods thereabouts are none too bright, however. There is more likelihood of lasting gains from the sanitary work which the Red Cross is doing in the stricken regions. Typhoid fever and smallpox, which otherwise would have been scourges, have been conquered through the immunization of whole populations. Malaria is under control, also, thanks to measures for eradicating the mosquito. Surely the effect of these striking demonstrations in disease-prevention will not be lost.

It seems that there are a few fellows left that just simply will insist in slurring the ministry, and casting reflection on Christianity when possible. The Liberty Weekly of recent date published an editorial that had a real right to it, and while it may be a bit severe, it is no worse than the dope that Mr. Lewis, the ancestor put out. Liberty says that a wise man said that belief in God was like belief in Santa Claus. Very young children believe literally; older children are shocked when they find there is no Santa Claus, and still later when they have children of their own, they know that Santa Claus is true after all; that without the spirit of Santa Claus in the air there is no Christmas for the children of men. So with belief in God. When the high-school boy comes to the conclusion that the whale didn't swallow Jonah and that our grandpas lived in trees, it's the same shock as the seven-year-old gets about Santa Claus. But most folks later discover. They learn that without the spirit of God about them the earth is a crueler place for them. Some folks do not so soon recover—if they ever do. They remain in high-school condition spiritually. They like to deride God publicly. It gives them a great kick. Sinclair Lewis is one of these. He seems to have a feeling of venom for the God of Christianity. This feeling inspired his latest book. In it he conveys the impression that clergymen in general, and Baptist and Methodist clergymen in particular, are hypocrites, liars, disbelievers at heart. In order to make his point stronger, he shows his principal character, a Methodist and Baptist minister, as a drunkard, a glutton, and a chronic libertine. If Mr. Lewis means that most or many Christian ministers are as he pictures Gantry, Mr. Lewis lies. Which reminds us of a story. A good old Quaker preacher was driving down the road in an old fashioned buggy, to which was hitched a particularly opinionated mule. The mule balked. The Quaker remonstrated with him vocally and with a whip, but the mule budged not. Finally, a veteran of the First Division, a mule skinner of mule skinnors, came along, walked up to the mule, kicked him vigorously and said, "Get on down the road, you lop eared blankety so and so." The mule went into high gear immediately and as he trotted off, the good old Quaker turned in his seat and said, "I thank thee, brother for that word!"

"Gantry" is grotesque nonsense. It hurts no one's feelings for the simple reason that it will make no impression upon the minds of any man. It is not for us to say that Mr. Lewis is a liar, but since Liberty has said it—thanks, brother for that word!

QUALITY SHOULD BE CONSIDERED

Buying and selling commodities on their quality is one thing that should receive the hearty approval of all people. But when this is done, quality should be there and that without any doubt. Certain lines of stuff—nationally advertised commodities see to it that there is quality in every package and in every can, or under every label that contains the name of certain firms. For this reason those who have tried this brand of stuff know what they are buying, and they know all they need to do is to report the case to the dealer and it is promptly replaced, or an adjustment made that is satisfactory in every way. This is the secret of the wonderful success of many nationally advertised products, and if it will give satisfactory results on one end of the line we see no good reason why it cannot be just as successful as on the producing end of the line. We are glad that the announcement has been made that the department of Agriculture soon it to put into effect a schedule of official grades applicable to several kinds of livestock and dressed meats. This step doubtless will meet the approval of Texas stockmen, as of producers everywhere.

Two years ago standard classifications for beef-cuts were established, and the Teachers give medical aid when no physician is available. During the one year such help was given by 159 teachers 21,943 times to 13,133 persons.

It is claimed that crime has been reduced to some extent in England. When an individual has been convicted of violation of the law in England, shrewd attorneys do not have the opportunities for appeals and bailing of the convicted person so as to congest the courts. When a man is convicted he goes to jail.

IT IS REPORTED

It is reported that ten of the best looking boys of Texas Tech were selected by a fair coed. One of the boys returned the compliment by selecting the ten prettiest girls. That being settled, will some pretty maiden now select the football team?

It is reported that some folks have said that wheat would not yield in this country but those who planted last fall are now in position to show those fellows that though to rain to speak of has fallen on it since last November, it will yield from eight to fifteen bushels of wheat to the acre. That is not a bad yield, and may be better than they will make on any other crop.

It is reported that Cal would rather take his vacation than to call congress together to help the thousands of flood sufferers. Possibly he knows his congress so well that he figures they would do nothing but be might save enough money to support a bunch of those unfortunate, but getting the money to them is the thing.

It is reported that the motor cop ran down an automobile Friday night that was making more than fifty per. We have not learned just what it cost the speeder to have the race but we hope he will get a lesson from the incident, and will hereafter keep his speed down to a reasonable rate.

It is reported that more people seem to be worried over Moody's political future than you could quite imagine, but it does not seem to worry Dan in the least.

It is reported that strong personality is not acquired merely from getting honors, but from earning them. There is a difference.

It is reported that one of the news reporters on this paper is going to tell the truth and nothing but the truth about some things and some people in this city, and when he does look out. The reporter will possibly not be in town when the paper is circulated, but there will be a number of people who are already well wised up by things they had not kept their mouth shut.

It is reported that Captain Lindbergh will soon return to the United States and will no doubt receive a warm welcome back in his own country. We bet the statute of Liberty will look mighty good to Lindy even though he has been having a royal good time in Europe.

It is reported that some people just will not keep their premises looking clean and pretty. Some folks will not keep the inside of the building in good order either. However in the latter case it is not seen by so many people.

BRITISH ETIQUETTE

By MILTON BRONNER
NEA Service Writer

LONDON, June 3.—These Europeans have all kinds of little quirks and oddities and customs that would puzzle a plain simple American way of doing things.

For instance, not long ago an American fine fellow of good family, irreproachable manners, abundance of culture, and considerable knowledge of the world, was invited to a great English house to dinner.

It was very formal. It was more than a meal. It was almost a banquet.

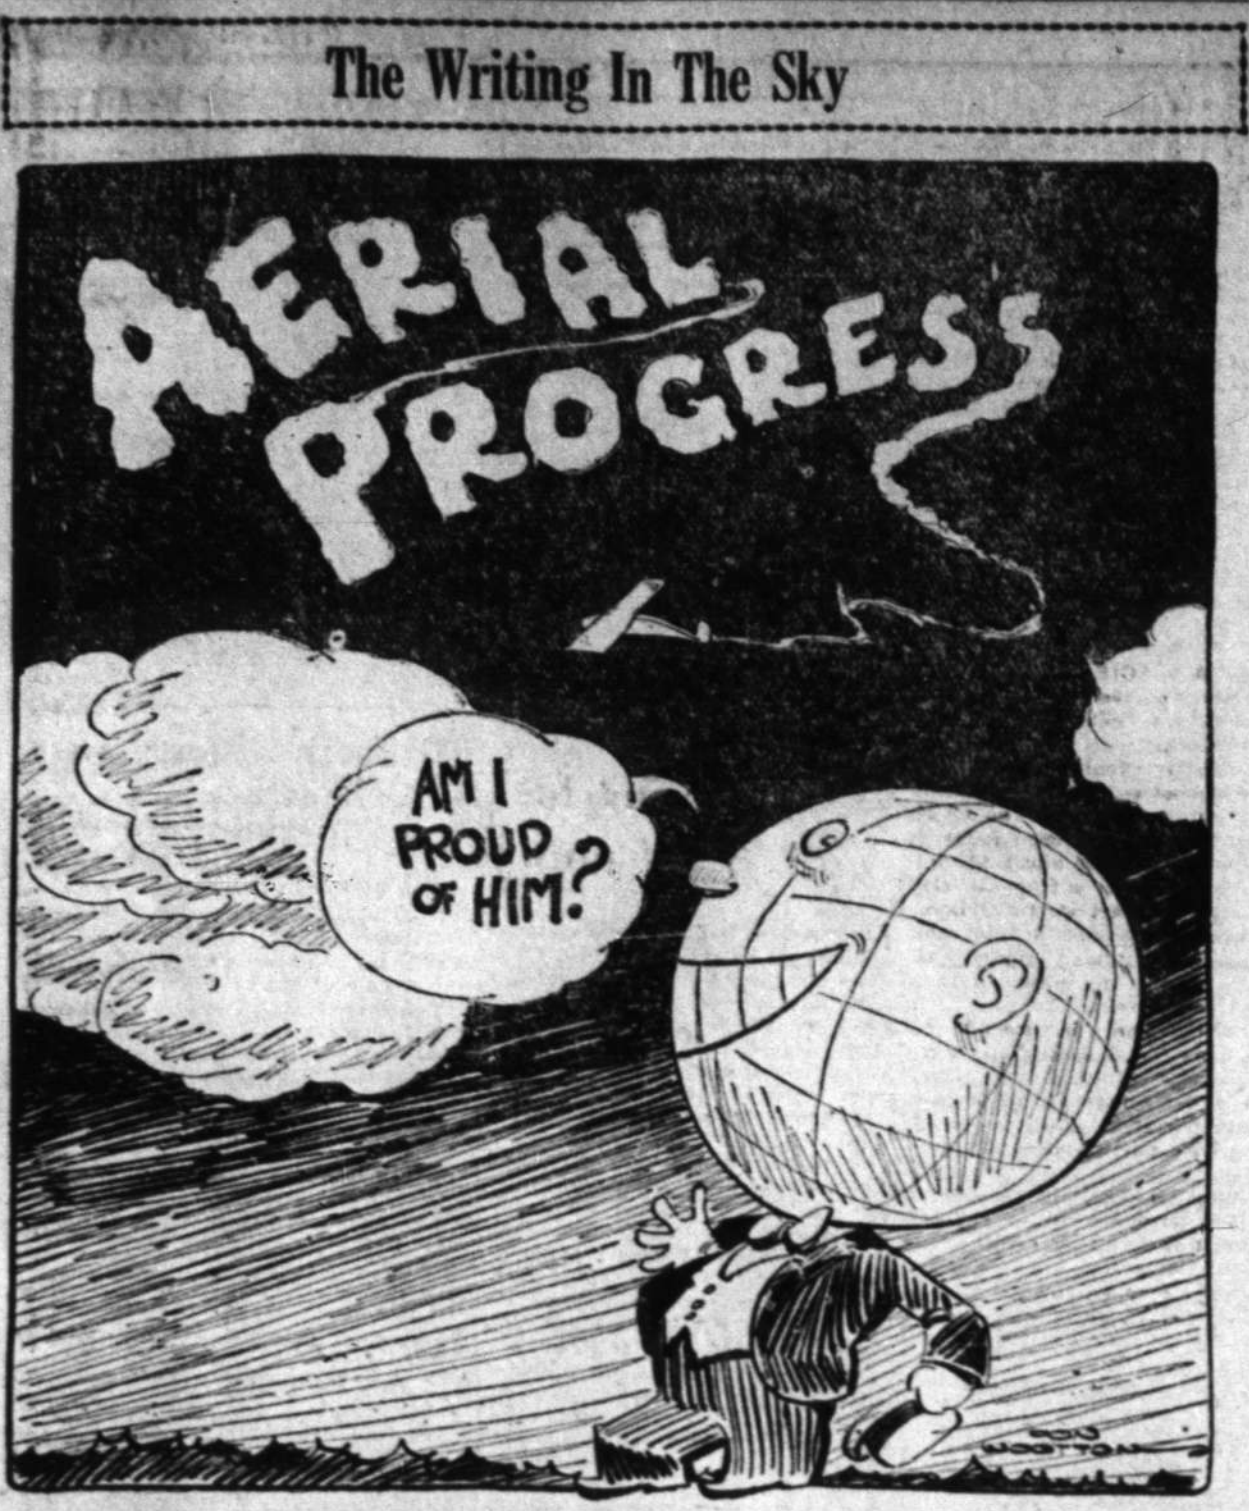

Things went swimmingly until the American suddenly felt the need of a whiff or two of tobacco. He was used to smoking an occasional cigar during the course of a big meal. So he pulled out his cigar case and offered one to his neighbor, a haughty old dame with a nose almost as long as her pedigree and a mouth almost as thin as her war-depleted purse. She refused, her nose seeming to get longer and her lips thinner. The American proceeded to light up. Then he noticed something frigid in the atmosphere. The thermometer dropped as suddenly as it does in Chicago when a blizzared sweeps across from Lake Michigan. Conversation seemed to sag. When it was contrivedly resumed, he seemed left out of it. When the party finally broke up and goodbyes were being said, many of the guests seemed nearsighted. They didn't see him. And all the way back to his hotel in his taxi the American, in a most bewildered state, wondered what he had done. He had made no new cracks. He had needed no Maxim silence on his soup spoon. He had not jangled with his peas. He had not playfully dropped a lump of lead down some woman's back.

It was only weeks later that an American, who had lived in England for a while, broke the news to him. He had committed a terrible social crime. For one of the iron customs of the English is that at a formal dinner or a banquet you simply do not smoke until the toast to the health of the king has been given and duly drunk!

We have never wanted to engage in mud-slinging before, but boy, we would sure like to engage in a mud-slinging duel. Of course, we don't care to use artificial mud, but if we could use the pure old home-made, lobbly mud like we used to have, we'd be tickled to death to smear it on deep. Of course, Colorado does not have the mud any more like Roscoe when it rains. Roscoe mud is the muddiest mud in West Texas when it does get muddy. We know, because we got stuck in Roscoe flat once. How ever, we would like to see just half as much water soaking out of the ground now as there was at that time, Colorado Record.

And the Times-Signal would like to add its "job of mud" thought, too—Snyder Signal.

The desire for mud possibly has not been so great in the country as it is now, about at the same time, where the proper kind of "dry farming" has been done, there is not such a distressing need for mud even now. Out in this South Plains country many people have their crops up and looking good. There is a difference in the soil and there is a great difference in the way it is handled and there is a great difference in the climatic conditions. It takes less rain in this section of the country to produce a crop than across up and looking good, or heard of. Let's keep on sowing seed, and leave off the mud-slinging if it is not convenient to furnish the mud.

Paipations of the Heart and Nervous Hearts

BY DR. MORRIS FISHER

A celebrated French specialist in heart disease said that when a patient seeks advice for palpitations of the heart only the physician may infer that the reaction is a nervous one and that the patient does not have an actual disease of the tissues of the heart.

The person who complains of palpitation of the heart is usually a woman under 50 years of age with a certain amount of disordered digestion. When the palpitations occur on the patient usually exhibits great distress and may even faint away.

The scientific physician will endeavor first to determine if the tissues of the heart are normal. This he does by finding out if the heart is enlarged beyond its usual borders and if it lies in the usual position. He will listen to the sounds of the heart to see if murmurs are present, indicating that the valves of the heart do not operate efficiently. He will look for swellings of the extremities which may be taken as a sign that the heart is unable to pump the blood all the way around the circulatory system. It will also be necessary to find out how much work the heart can do without distress.

Among the methods of testing the capacity of the heart are such simple steps as hopping on one foot, running up and down stairs, lifting weights a certain number of times, or other rapid and regular movements. Examination of the heart while the patient lies absolutely still does not give an opportunity to determine how much the heart can do when its reserves are called upon, as may frequently be the case when a person runs for a street car.

Sir James Mackenzie said that the heart never fails if its muscles were never given more work than it can do without exhaustion.

Besides the tests mentioned, the physician is now able to study the movements of the heart by the use of a number of electrical devices of great sensitivity. These show the propulsion of the heart beat through the various parts of the organ, and are indeed so sensitive as almost to be able to record every twitch of a fiber.

When the heart tissues are found to be normal by every possible test, an dthe heart is able to react in a normal manner to unusual strains, the physician must determine if the usual symptoms are due to some nervous reaction. This may involve a study of all the circumstances of the patient's life to reveal whether the symptoms tend to come on in association with any particular event of the daily routine. Sometimes the cardiac nervousness is merely a part of a general nervousness. During the great war soldiers suffered not infrequently with these nervous manifestations related to the heart.

WHAT A LITTLE GIRL HEARD

I just ran away to the buttercup
When mamma told me I'd better not
And a little brown birdie up in a tree
As true as you live kept a-saying to me
"Naugh-tee May ran away!"
"I'll I didn't know what to do,
Now how do you s'pose he knew?"

And once we went to the meadow brook
Josie and me, with a fishing hook
And the very same birdie sang again
Over and over and just as plain,
"Naugh-tee May ran away!"
And Josie she heard him too,
Now how do you s'pose he knew?
Josie she guesses what I heard

But the water looked so scowly and
We took hold of hands and ran right back,
And all the way we heard it say;
"That is the best thing to do."
And mamma she said so too.

derful sermon last evening on the subject, "The Invisible God." It was simply a masterpiece. No Atheist on earth could meet the argument produced in that message. CROP CONDITIONS GOOD OVER STATE

SOUTH AND SOUTHWEST PART OF STATE ARE ESPECIALLY GOOD

Crop conditions have increased in excellence since May 1, according to the report just compiled by the Department of Public Relations of the Southern Life Insurance Co. In practically every section of the state except the Panhandle, indications are for a better than average crop; both of cotton and feed-stuffs.

South and Southwest Texas especially appear to be on the boom and very good to excellent conditions are reported south and west from San Antonio to the border, including the sheep and goat raising counties. Elsewhere except for a few scattered counties at least normal crops are expected.

A more notable spirit of hope prevails as far as business is concerned. Reports of lost grain crops in the middle west and cotton shortages in many southern states appear to have spurred both business men and farmers, and one of the most promising indications is that farmers throughout Texas have spent less money making their crops than in many years.

Contrary to the general impression many parts of the state are needing a rain but the crops would not be materially damaged if this did not come until the middle or latter part of June.

Many instances of heroism on the part of telephone girls have been reported from the flooded towns of the Mississippi Valley.

Come to the services this evening, and enjoy another Gospel message, and those of you who are Christians, come and assist in the service in whatever way you can.

All services of the Church will be held tomorrow in the tent, including the Sunday school. The Sunday school will meet at 10 a. m. Preaching at 11 a. m. and 8:45 p. m.

The Junior choir will meet at 7:30 p. m. Also, there will be a special prayer service at 7:30 p. m., then the regular devotional service at 8 p. m.

The public is extended a cordial invitation to attend all these services.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Within a short period after his enlistment with the U. S. Marine, Preston Hubert Robb, of Lubbock, Texas, has taken his first step upward in the military profession and has been promoted from private to private first class, according to an official list of promotions recently received at Marine Corps headquarters here. He will immediately receive an increase of more than thirty per cent in pay.

Preston lived at the home of his father, Harry E. Robb, in Lubbock before he joined the Marine Corps at Dallas, in April 1926. In recent weeks he has been stationed at Parris Island, S. C., the large Marine Corps training camp in the South.

When certain men of that post were recommended for promotion recently, Preston was one of the marines selected.

VACATION, LIKE WOMEN IS ALL IN WHAT YOU PREFER, PROSPECTS SAY IN DISCUSSING UTOPIAN OUTINGS

Vacation, like women, is all in what you prefer. It might be "a jug of wine, a loaf of bread and thou" judging from the rush the marriage license bureau receives about this time; it might be just to sit without the trouble of thinking; it might be fishing; it might be listening to the testimonies.

"For me," quoth one, "I take it straight without women. Just a bunch of stags, a cabin in the woods, game, fish and—But not for long. Now for my ideal vacation, I'd take the one woman in the world" he continued.

Wants Men Around
"Some may prefer just a bunch of girls, but I won't take a long vacation anywhere without some men around," confessed one girl in describing the vacation she would take if she could.

No stipulations were made other than that a description of the ideal vacation be given, rather than the one that probably will be taken this summer. But some of them are taking their ideal vacation.

Time And C-his Wanted
Like the women who in camp meeting described heaven as a place of eternal and exquisite rest, vacation seems to spell just this to the working person. Give me the mountains, a creek, a cabin, limitless time and nothing to do, they cry in sympathetic chorus.

"I'd ride to Cloudford in a sport roadster, laden with tennis racket, golf sticks, prepared for riding and swimming and a life of leisure and fun." And with me, I'd take—Well that depends," one young man affirmed.

"I want nothing that will remind me of the handiwork of man," declared one. "Alone I would look down from the mountain tops into deep canyons. With tranquillity, peace and quietude, I would have only those things that will remind me of the magnificence of God's creations."

Mountains And Sea Beckon
The mountains and the seashore beckon during these hot days and too-heavy noon meals followed by a doze early afternoon bring longings for things with nothing to do except sleep and dream.

Only one girl of the dozen or so who were asked expressed a desire for a vacation without companions. She wished a cabin away on a mountain side where she might follow her deliberate inclinations to dream dreams under the sinking stars, wander with random drink deeply of sleep on a pine-needle bed beside a rushing mountain stream, read, cook her own meals and live without care.

"I've been here must be freedom," asserted one college youth whose life has been one of untrammelled freedom from worries. "I would have money, I would go where I pleased and I would have no care, I must be free to be happy."

"I'd take money island where for days I can bob with the throng beholding the wonders of the city. From there I would go to Scotland. And he is a Longhorn Texan. He said so when asked why he wished this holiday.

3. An unpaid county child welfare board.

CITIZENS OF LUBBOCK OWE ABOUT $1,000,000 IN TRADE ACCOUNTS, BOOKS OF LOCAL R. M. A. REVEAL

Citizens of Lubbock owe approximately $1,000,000 on accounts—not a lot of financial soundness, but a lot of trade, according to local merchants from whom these purchases were made.

Of this amount possibly $50,000 is owed by persons who will be asked to pay or from whom collection may prove doubtful, and who have to be forced to settle, if at all.

Autos And Lots Lead

Purchase of automobiles on the installment plan by Lubbockites and loans trading here accounts for $375,000 of this figure, while $225,000 is owed on the partial payment plan, with the plan of selling homes later, real estate in report.

Current accounts such as groceries, lights, water, fuel, rents, doctors, clothing and the necessities of life with a small per cent of others take up the remainder.

Recorded on the books of the Retail Merchants' association here may find a large part of the history of many persons. Often financial or personal dealings noted as personal secrets are revealed in black and white on the installment cards, in as far as they show the paying record of the individual.

Do not make a person's credit an individual record, his own thing—we merely record it," says Reeves, secretary of the association, stated.

Close Records Kept

Inter-city co-operation of all conditions, it is now practically possible for anyone to run up accounts in one city, have them without paying, and get credit in another city. When he asks credit the association is asked to raise by the merchant, and in turn check back over his records.

Special departments of the organization, the advertising committee and the S. O. S. committee, are designed to prevent the merchant becoming a victim to his own records. Any persons having some business or soliciting plan which shows that the business man here will aid in, is referred to the committee, which investigates, and reports if it is profitable or not.

S. O. S. Group Active

The S. O. S. group, which receives reports of forgers, swindlers or persons who might make the merchant, has an organization of captains, who in turn have six sergeants, and fifteen minutes after a message has been received, all the members in the city will be alerted to be on the alert.

Many things affect a person's rating while other important things in life do not. Apparently such membership has nothing to do with it, as many citizens' names are marked "slow pay" while persons who never go to work are the best of pay. Ledger membership oftentimes helps a person's rating because one's fellow members sometimes bring pressure bear upon him. Apparently it is willingness to pay more than ability that counts in the eyes of the merchant. The person who wants to be his bills can usually find ways to do so in a satisfactory way.

Information is Confidential

The careful merchant, considering credit is an accommodation to customer, asks a few stock questions when someone requests a loan on time—about the same that a person's banker would ask. Information given is always considered confidential and is not passed on except to the credit association. "Where do you work?—what is your income?—your address?—do you operate a car?" These are the common inquiries on matters which affect paying records.

Many persons realize that the Retail Merchants' association is an asset to them rather than a severe guardian, and on moving to a city but in a request that the association check back, and get a credit rating upon them. This enables them to purchase goods on time in a city even though they are not known personally there, where their rating is good.

HOTEL WORK RESUMED

Needed Material Arrives For New Crawford Hotel At Big Spring, Five Story Structure

BIG SPRING, June 4.—Work has been resumed on the Crawford Hotel after ten days delay waiting for concrete pans for the first floor.

Material for the other floors has been received and according to Construction Superintendent Yought the building will go up at the rate of a story each ten days until the five stories have been completed. According to Mr. Yought this will be one of the most modern "flamingo" hotels in all West Texas and will be equipped with high class equipment.

The growth of Big Spring during the past six months due to the oil activity in Howard and adjacent counties has made the housing situation in Big Spring one of its big problems. With the building of the Crawford which will have one hundred rooms and the rebuilding of the Cole that burned six months ago, Big Spring will have 275 hotel rooms. The contract date for completion of the Crawford is September 15.

NEW OFFICES OPENED

Mariand Oil Maintains Headquarters At Big Spring For Howard And Adjacent Counties

BIG SPRING, June 4.—The Mariand Oil Company of Texas is opening an office in Big Spring. This will be their District Headquarters for products in Howard and adjacent counties. The extension of the Howard County road west by the J. E. Harding well and the favorable showing in the last five miles west of Big Spring on the Gutter Ranch has put new life into the oil activities around Big Spring, despite the slump in crude prices.

J. C. Campbell will be District Superintendent for the Mariand offices in Big Spring.

British Winsomeness

Disconcerting: London has acclaimed Miss Daphne Gladstone as one of England's outstanding beauties. Her classical features and winsome pose make her the envy of exclusive London society.

EXPERT RUNS CLOTHES BUDGET

How to make a yearly dress allowance last twelve months is the lesson taught by a young society girl in the fashionable West End of London. She is known as "the debutante's dress adviser," and her method is to take their dress money for the year and spend it for them in the most profitable and economical manner. In addition she shingles and manicures them and gives them face massage. Debutantes, who realize that their taste in dress is immature, welcome the idea of having their pin money spent by proxy. The "dress adviser" has charge of accounts of from $1,000 to $5,000 a year, and provides everything but shoes.

COTTON CHOPPING MAY PROVE WRONG

GOVERNMENT TESTS SHOWS PRACTICE ACTUAL AID TO BOLL WEEVIL

GREENVILLE, June 4.—Tests tending to prove that the ancient practice of chopping cotton may be "all wrong," carried on over a five year period by the United States Department of Agriculture at its cotton-breeding field station near here have been published in bulletin form and may be obtained from the Department of Agriculture at Washington.

Although chopping has been reported to for years on the theory that thinning gives the plant room for growth and proper development, modern conditions, as exemplified by those at the experiment station, may cause a change from the old practice, according to the bulletin.

The principal new factor in this report says the bulletin, is the boll weevil.

The tests indicate that chopping cotton thins out rows too much, leaving room for flourishing vegetation in which the deadly weevil thrives. They showed that closely spaced plants produced few vegetative branches and the sun-burnt, as a result passed through open lanes, drying out squares containing boll weevils, and materially reducing the weevil crop.

Under Greenville conditions during experiments, the highest yields were obtained from unthinned rows where the plants, growing in original stands, were two to four inches apart on the average.

At Derby, Ark., Mary and Florence Mabon, twin sisters, married Robert and Gerald Ledderson, twin brothers.

Mrs. Joseph Eichen of Chicago refused to prosecute her husband for beating her saying "he didn't hurt me."

Major Hoople Writes On Shortcomings Of Men; Most Of Them Feeble Minded

By MAJOR AMOS HOOPLE
Avalanche-Journal Philosopher

According to promise and for the purpose of solving over the wounds of certain women who (understand) our more or less elevating comments of last Sunday, we shall this time tell a few things we know about men.

Most Men Feeble Minded
To begin with we will say that most men are very feeble minded. They have plenty of sense about some lines, but take them as a whole, credit them with white marks and black marks and then take the average and it would surprise you just how little the average man knows. Of course he thinks he knows a lot, and that is what completes the situation. The most ignorant of the male species feels superior to his wife. He may be afraid to tell her so, but he will go to his grave believing it. He may be an ignorant, ill-bred, uneducated, dumb-foc, and she may be a polished, educated and refined woman—it makes no difference, and the more ignorant he is the stronger he contends for his "place in the sun." Being a man we know.

The average man lives for about four specific causes. He lives to eat, to accumulate wealth, show his authority "at home" and make people think he is "what he ain't." If he could only know that people know him as he really is he would mend his ways. If he didn't drop dead when he found the truth was out.

Many Religiously Inclined
Most men are religiously inclined, but very few of them are religious. They assumed a sanctified air as they feel that it will give them added power, and people will have more confidence in them. The sheriff puts in less time running down church members than he does crack-shooters, though we sometimes feel that he would make more arrests if he watched some of the church members more and the crack-shooters less. Religion, as the Bible we should say, valuation is the greatest gift man has ever known. Yet we sorrowfully admit that many men are using it for commercial purposes. A few women at equality of this also.

As a rule a man is baser if he has a dollar, a job and no hell out letters after him. Of course he must have identity to eat and his wife and children must use care not to rub him the wrong way. He is a very touchy animal—more than demands great care. He must have the best of everything and have it in a hurry, for if he does not he will howl his head off. He is indeed a queer duck. He will go down the back alley, crawl into a window of a livery stable, insert the neck of a quart bottle half down to his "Adam's apple" if he can only get a little "bracer." It makes no difference if a half dozen other men, including a few negroes, have been drinking out of the same bottle—it tastes good and he will not make a lick. But let the somnolent go home and he will howl his head off if his wife happens to give him a cut of pie that one of his babies has bitten off of. That is just the man in him.

Some Not Sanitary
The average man is not as sanitary as he should be. At a very early age the male species learn to hold soap and water in contempt. A bath is punishment, and they comb their woolly heads only as often as they are compelled. However, about the time their voices begin playing tag between high "C" and low "G"—changing you know—when their whiskers are about as fuzzy as the fuzz on a powder puff and when they realize their actual worth they will begin bathing, combing their hair and decorating themselves generally. No, this is not a bad sign, nor is it dangerous. It merely means that they are in love. Of course they won't admit it, but the facts remain the same. For a few years they act almost human. They even look human, but it is only camouflage. As soon as some poor and unsuspecting girl says "yes" his battle is won.

He takes off his make-up and becomes normal.

The poor girl is bound to him for life, but in thirty days after the last wedding bell has sounded she realized that the "thing" she is living with—her husband—in no way resembles the gallant young knight she courted. Naturally she is heart-sick, but what is there she can do to change matters? Hubby forgets to kiss her good-bye, while his bath is sadly neglected. It makes no difference whether he has a shine or not—just going to work, anyway. But it is all in life and had the girl listened to her mother she would never have married. One look at her father should have convinced her that most men are just what they seem.

Men Greatly Needed
But with all their faults men are needed in this world—without them conditions would be awful. The women would gossip themselves to death.

After a man is thirty years old he begins waking up. He realized that there are a few things he does not know, and by the time he is forty he is positive that there are changes he doesn't understand. By the time he is fifty he is becoming a real scholar, and if he happens to reach the three score mark he is really pretty well versed. Of course he won't know half as much as he "thought" he knew at twenty, but that's that.

But men have their shortcomings. They have many of them and the sad part is very few men care to correct them—they are satisfied with themselves. That is why the divorce courts are running overtime. Men are not men, but negligent, and while wives will stand a lot of abuse few will remain hitched to a man that neglects or ignores her. Women must be noticed, and the man who fails to notice them is headed for the rocks.
Honored by Creator
But with all his mistakes man is honored by the Creator. He was made in his image. He is weak, has many faults and only a few good traits, but at that he ranks higher than one might suppose. He can't spend his time "doing society" as his wife would have him, but by "doing someone" in the commercial world, he thinks more of a check book than he does diamond rings, and a business suit means more to him than a Tuxedo coat and patent leather pumps. He is not interested in "style."

The world needs him and can't get along without him if he is humored a little, fed a lot, and allowed to go through life thinking he is boss. His greatest weakness is for uniforms. Men who are as conservative as Silent Cal will don bright colored knickers and parade the streets all day and far into the night. "Lodge doling," you know, and their weakness for world things. They want to know something that you don't know, even if it is no more than the semi-annual pass word to a bobunk lodge. It makes them vain and men must be vain in order that the Scriptures read right, for it is said "vanity of vanities, all is vanity."

Men Often Change
Men change quite often, but the world is not aware of it. Once they begin realizing that they have been acting the part of a monkey, they decide to change, but they never mention for they would have the world think they have always been in the reformed state. As a matter of fact the world doesn't care very much how a man stands just so he pays his bills and votes the party ticket. He may be a "cousin deacon" or a drunken prohibition officer. He may shoot craps and pray in public all the same night, but he better not bolt the party or fail to attend lodge meetings if he wants to stay in good favor.

The life of man is a sort of farce, after all. He lives today, forgets yesterday and never worries about tomorrow. He must die, though, and if he fails to convince his Maker that he is worthy of a home in that house not made with hands, eternal in the skies, he is a failure. He may fool the world but not himself or his Creator. Four-flushing won't work, and that is man's greatest weakness—he is a natural born four-flusher.

TEXAS UTILITIES BUILDS HIGHLINE TO LEVELLAND
LITTLEFIELD, June 4.—Right-of-way is being secured, and work will shortly begin on a high line from Littlefield to Levelland. This is being done by the Texas Utilities company. Their high line coach nearly every town in this section and they are rapidly getting to those not already in the system.
Three Seminole Indians who had not been to town for 10 years looked for a saloon at Ft. Myers, Fla., and were surprised when told about the prohibition law.

INCREASED ACTIVITY SHOWN IN GENERAL BUSINESS IN TEXAS

NO MARKED SEASONAL DECLINE NOTED WITH GENERAL TRADING DISPLAYING MARKED STABILITY; PROSPECTS GOOD

(Special to Avalanche-Journal) AUSTIN, June 4.—An improvement in business conditions in Texas was noted for the month of April over the preceding month, according to statistics and general information received by the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas. In the monthly report just issued by the Bureau, which Dr. A. B. Cox is director, the following is given:

"Business conditions through Texas and the Southwest continued to show increased activity in April, despite some unfavorable factors. Stability in general displayed gratifying stability and the changes recorded for the most part were favorable. As usual at this time of the year, seasonal influences have caused some conflicting movements, but the net result appears to have placed conditions about on the same level as those of a year ago. This business has not experienced any marked seasonal decline is further proof of the underlying soundness of conditions.

Farm Situation Better—The agricultural situation was further strengthened during the month. Prices of all grains and cotton went up sharply, on the average, the prices of those commodities are about equal to the prices a year ago at this time.

Some sections of the state report too much moisture, while others, especially the northwestern part of the state, are too dry. Yet crops generally are encouraging. Cotton planting has been delayed somewhat due to unfavorable weather in several sections. The delay in the northwest is becoming quite serious due to the short growing season. In other sections the drier start may be beneficial later in the season in acting as a check on the insect pests which come out in hibernation in large numbers.

Livestock Favorable—The livestock situation remains favorable. Wool prices have firmness slightly in recent weeks, and the demand for sheep and cotton is much stronger than it was early in the year. Beef prices are unchanged and a good demand for dairy and dairy products was maintained over the month. On the other hand, hog prices suffered further reverses, but the decline was much slower than in March.

"Shipments of truck crops were heavy from the lower Rio Grande valley all during the month. Onions and early potatoes accounted for the bulk of the shipments. Import and export shipments were somewhat less than in the previous month due to smaller loadings of cotton and grain.

"Farmers are taking advantage of warmer weather to finish the spring planting. Cotton that was planted earlier in the season came through to a good stand and chopping is reported to be well under way. Some wheat and oats have been harvested in the southern part of the state and the corn crop is maturing rapidly.

Wholesale And Retail Trade—Wholesale and retail trade was in large volume with a seasonal downward trend at the end of the month. Consumption of raw cotton fell off from that used in March as was to be expected, but will continue active.

"Possibly the most favorable factor in the business picture is the easy credit situation. Interest rates are low and ample funds are readily available to care for new business and bank deposits are large. The number of new enterprises receiving charters in the state is far ahead of last year, while the number of commercial failures is on the downward trend.

"New enterprises receiving charters in the state during the month were much smaller than in March. A total of 138 corporations with a capitalization of $11,900,000 received charters, as compared to 205 companies with a capitalization of $45,500,000 in March. Forty companies increased their capitalization by about $2,000,000, and there were 22 permits issued to outside companies to do business within the state.

Building Permits—Building permits in Texas dropped slightly in April, but are still well above the level of a year ago.

DENVER, June 4.—The cross-country highways are already beginning to lead tourists westward to nature's greatest round of wonders—the national park area in the west.

Here 6000 miles of good highway form a circuit of twelve national parks, of numerous national monuments and Indian reservations, across mountain pass and valley, over prairie and desert. The old days of pioneers, of Indian struggles and ancient civilization are lived again along the route that takes the traveler over eleven colorful states.

The start may be made at Denver, which is reached from the east by the Pike's Peak Ocean-to-Ocean Highway, which is number 40 on the new federal highway system. Southward to Colorado Springs we meet Pike's Peak, the famous spire of the Rockies, and go on to Pueblo and up the Arkansas river to the eastern gate of the Royal Gorge at Canon City.

Further on the road winds southwest to Mesa Verde National Park, the first of the twelve great parks of the west, to be met by this route. This is the ancient land of the cliff dwellers, whose rugged homes may still be seen along the way.

Into Old Civilization—The road must be retraced to Durango on the Park-to-Park Highway, where it turns south through New Mexico into the colorful region of the Aztecs, the Navajos and the famous Spanish missions of long ago. Entering Arizona, we pass the petrified forest and continue west to Maine, a little beyond Flagstaff, where the Grand Canyon Highway reaches northward to that world famous wonderland.

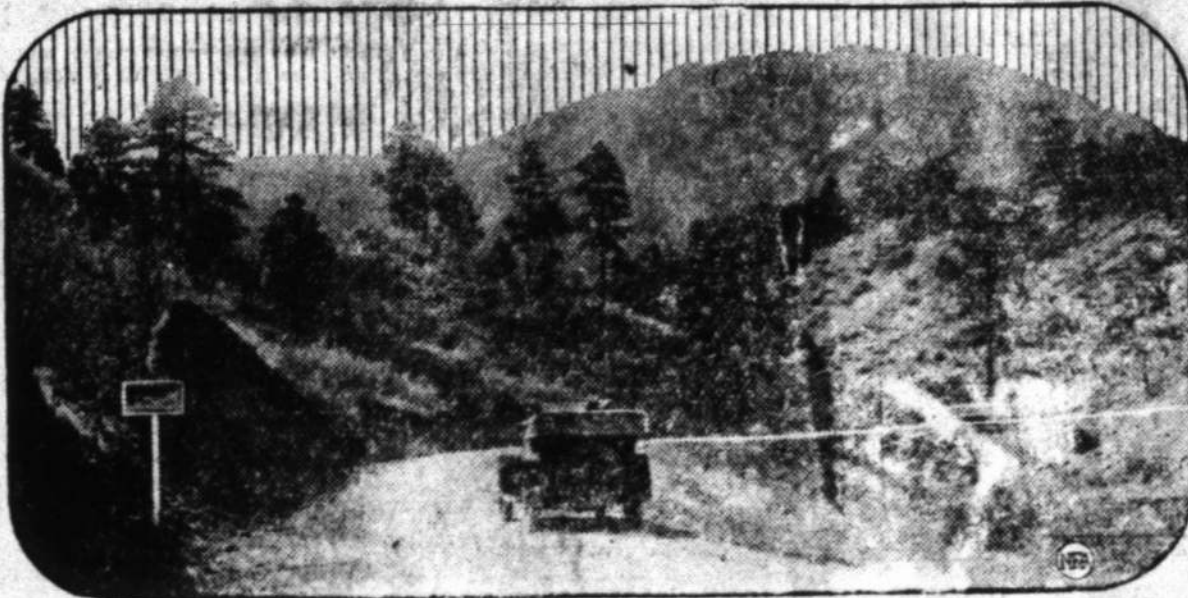

From the Mesa Verde to this point, travel is cool and pleasant, for the road is from 5000 to 7000 feet high. After the wonders of the Grand Canyon, the trek is down hill into the hot desert valley of Arizona and across the Colorado river to Nevada.

A little west of here, another road branches northward to Zion National Park in Utah, another colorful section of this tour.

Through Death Valley—Back again on the Park-to-Park Highway, the ride is west over the

GREATLY IMPROVED HIGHWAY SYSTEM TOUCHING ALL PARTS OF NATION IS OFFERED TOURISTS ON SUMMER TRIPS

(Special To Avalanche-Journal) WASHINGTON, D. C., June 4.—Since the 1926 touring season became a pleasant memory, the road builders of the nation have been more than ordinarily busy, with the result that the motor tourist caravan of 1927 will find many improvements and additional links of highways over previous years, when they take to the trail.

The American Motorist, the national motor touring magazine, sets forth in its current issue the result of a nation-wide survey of road conditions recently completed by the National Touring Board of the American Automobile Association.

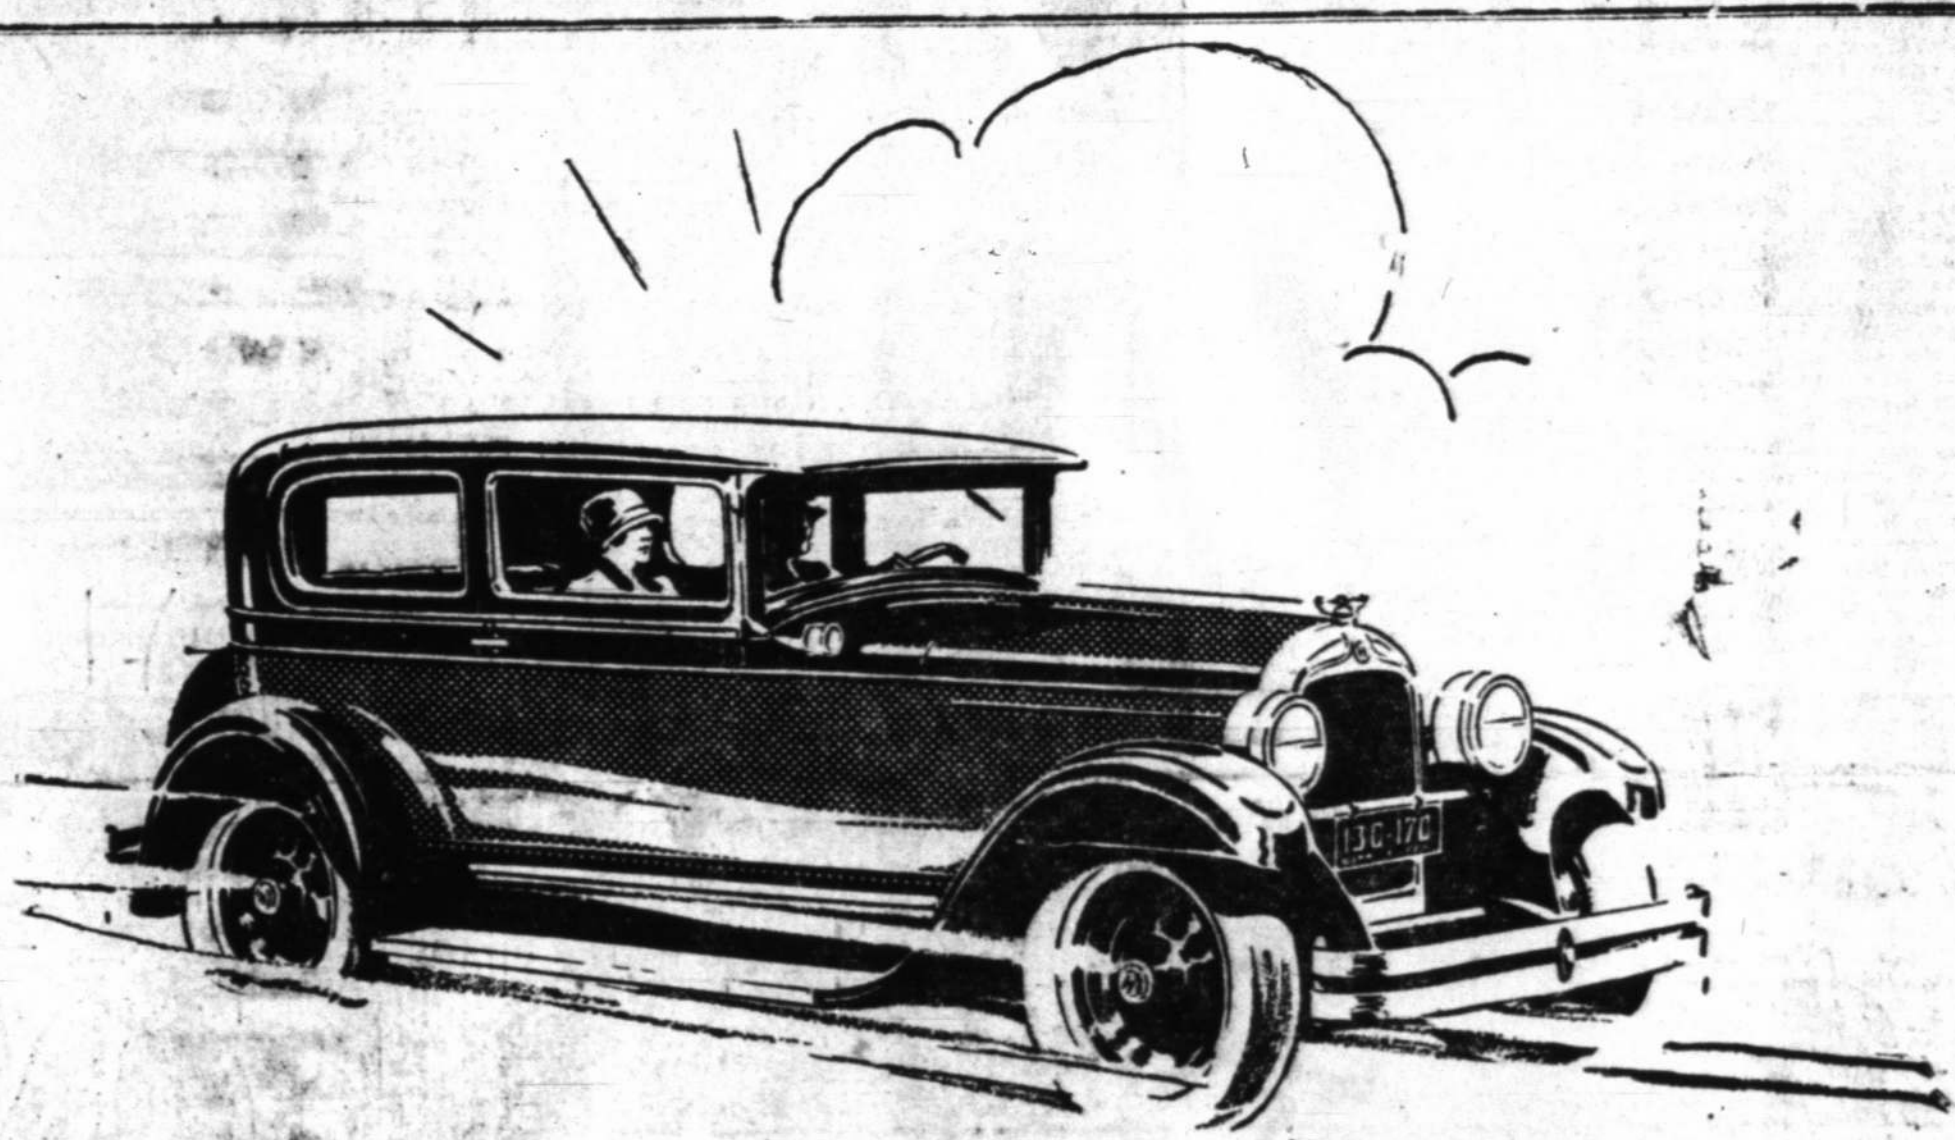

"Highway improvements," says the American Motorist, "have been legion and the well-traveled touring regions in particular have prepared many pleasant surprises for the man who seeks his summer recreation along the Gasoline Trail."

During the past year, according to the statement, additions to the Federal Aid System alone totaled 9,400 miles, bringing the aggregate Federal Aid improved highways to 55,903 miles. Equally important extensions have been made to the state primary systems and, in particular, to the main East and West and North and South roads.

Regarding conditions on some of the outstanding national motor highways, the American Motorist says:

One Outstanding Route—"An outstanding route, because of its significance as a mid-continental connected highway from Atlantic City, N. J., to San Francisco, is U. S. Highway No. 40. This touches such important cities as Baltimore, Wheeling, Columbus, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver, Salt Lake City, and

STATE HIGHWAY BODY ASKED TO TWO MEETINGS

MAY ATTEND EXECUTIVE MEETING AND GO ON MOTORCADE TRIP

ABILENE, June 4.—Interest of the Texas Highway Commission in two forthcoming events of the West has been elicited this week by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, who, through its manager, Homer D. Wade, has extended cordial invitation to the state body for attendance at both these affairs.

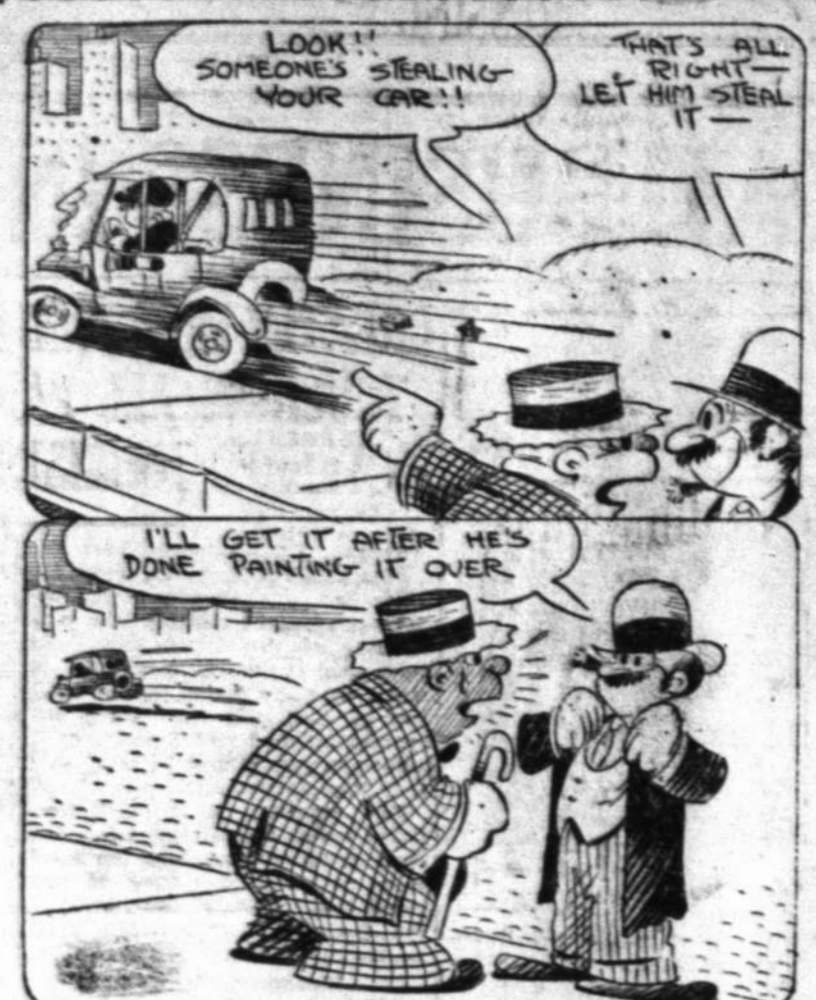

The entire membership of the State Highway Commission has been invited to attend the first executive session of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors appointed at the ninth annual convention, May 17. This official meeting is to be held at Cleburne, Texas, June 12, and will be attended by about fifty of the most representative business men throughout West Texas.

The second invitation issued by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to the State Highway body urged all its members to join with the West on the motorcade tour of the Davis Mountains and East New Mexico, and invited them to make the whole trip, to go at least as far as El Paso.

The motorcade, as outlined by the Highway Commissioners in their official invitation, is to assemble July 2 at Sweetwater, Texas, from which point it will proceed by easy stages to Odessa, and from Odessa, to Fort Stockton and on to Alpine. Here the Big Bend District convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will be held July 4 and 5 in connection with the Cowboys and Old Settlers Reunion. From Alpine, the motorcade will travel to Marfa and other points. From Fort Davis the caravan will move up the Bankhead Highway to El Paso, making stops on the route, including Sierra Blanca. Two days or more will be spent in El Paso.

Reaching Cloudcroft July 10, leaving El Paso, the motorcade will go to Alamogordo, New Mexico, and will arrive in Cloudcroft, New Mexico, July 16, where the New Mexico District convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will be held next day. From this point, the Mesquero Indian Reservation, the Hudson river, the White mountains, Roswell, the famous Irrigated Valley of the Pecos

GASOLINE SUBSTITUTE SHOWN

An alcohol mixture said to be capable of replacing gasoline in engines of automobiles and possibly of aeroplanes, has been developed by the Warsaw Polytechnic Institute and is attracting much attention in Poland. It is said that required adjustments in the engine for use of the mixture are slight, and the mixture is superior to gasoline. No alcohol fit for beverage purposes can be separated from the mixture even by fractional distillation. As the price of each of the ingredients, except ether and benzol, is less than that of gasoline, the mixture could be made cheaper than gasoline. It is claimed by the institute.

LINDBERGH URGED AS 'AMBASSADOR'

FEAT OF AIRMAN DOES MUCH FOR RELATIONSHIP OF U. S. AND FRANCE

Commenting on the spectacular history-making flight of Captain Charles A. Lindbergh today, John N. Willys stated his belief that the courageous airman's exploit will have a tremendous effect in the Franco-American friendship, which has been threatened in recent months by the unwise utterances of a few self-seeking politicians and a highly patriotic but unenlightened handful of the French public.

"After my return from Europe last summer, I made the statement that some of our sportsmen and sportswomen by the quality of their deeds and the charm of their personalities, were doing more than all the politicians in the world to create a favorable impression of America in foreign lands. At that time I quoted as examples Gertrude Ederle, Bobby Jones and Helen Wills.

"Now we have a new name to add to the list, the name of a young American for whom the entire French public is showing the greatest admiration, affection and respect. In the marvelous reception by French people of every type to this young conqueror of the air, there has not been one anti-American note. Differences which seemed to be growing important among a very small minority of the French population have been instantly forgotten. I hope forever.

"I can only reiterate my thought that if we could send abroad annually by a considerable number of 'social ambassadors' including sterling athletes and others whose exploits and personalities would give the French people an understanding of us and help us toward a complete understanding of them, it would, as nothing else could, produce a lasting bond of friendship between the two republics—a highly worthwhile accomplishment, of importance to the entire world."

TO RIDE CIRCUIT IN PLANE

With a parish as big as England, Rev. L. Daniels of New South Wales, will use an airplane in the furtherance of his duties. He has been driving an automobile, but believes that an airplane will be especially fitted for trips to scattered sheep ranches and isolated homesteads. The Colonial church has approved his plan and he expects to obtain a plane in England at once. His parish is in the remote northwestern corner of New South Wales and 160 miles from a railroad. Reverend Daniels was a pilot in the Royal air force during the world war. He is one of the most popular clergymen in New South Wales.

Building Permits $40,000 At Slaton

SLATON, Texas, June 4.—Building permits issued for residences only totaled $40,000.00 for the months of April and May, according to Harvey Austin, city secretary.

Dr. W. E. Payne now occupies his new brick home completed at a cost of $8,000.00. L. M. Smith will soon finish a brick residence costing $5,000.00. J. C. Stewart has completed a duplex costing $4,000.00 erected for rental purposes.

Others who have secured permits for residences ranging in cost from $2,000.00 to $5,000.00 each, are: C. M. Simmons, C. A. Porter, S. S. Forrest, H. T. Swanner, M. Jones, D. I. Skelton, G. W. Tudor, M. L. Barton, W. E. Kidd and E. I. Thornton.

Residence building is much more active here this year than at the same time a year ago.

GAS MASKS FOR WOMEN

MOSCOW—Detachments of housewives, servants, and other members of the "unorganized population" soon will be formed by the soviet society of chemical warfare to resist gas attacks by enemy armies.

Members recruited through existing house committees will be trained in the use of the gas mask, the composition of poison gases, and treatment of gassed persons.

Fruit merchants in Hull, England, now ripen bananas by electricity.

PICTURES FOUND UNDER PAINT

Pictures that had been hidden for many years were revealed recently by workmen renovating an ancient building in Prague, Czechoslovakia. The walls of the structure were decorated with figures producing an effect similar to that on pottery, and when the coating of dust and paint were removed the art work was clearly shown. The pictures had been worked in plaster, an imitation of bas-relief being effected by laying a coat of white over one of black, and then removing enough of the upper coating to expose the black in the desired designs and patterns. They are being preserved as curiosities.

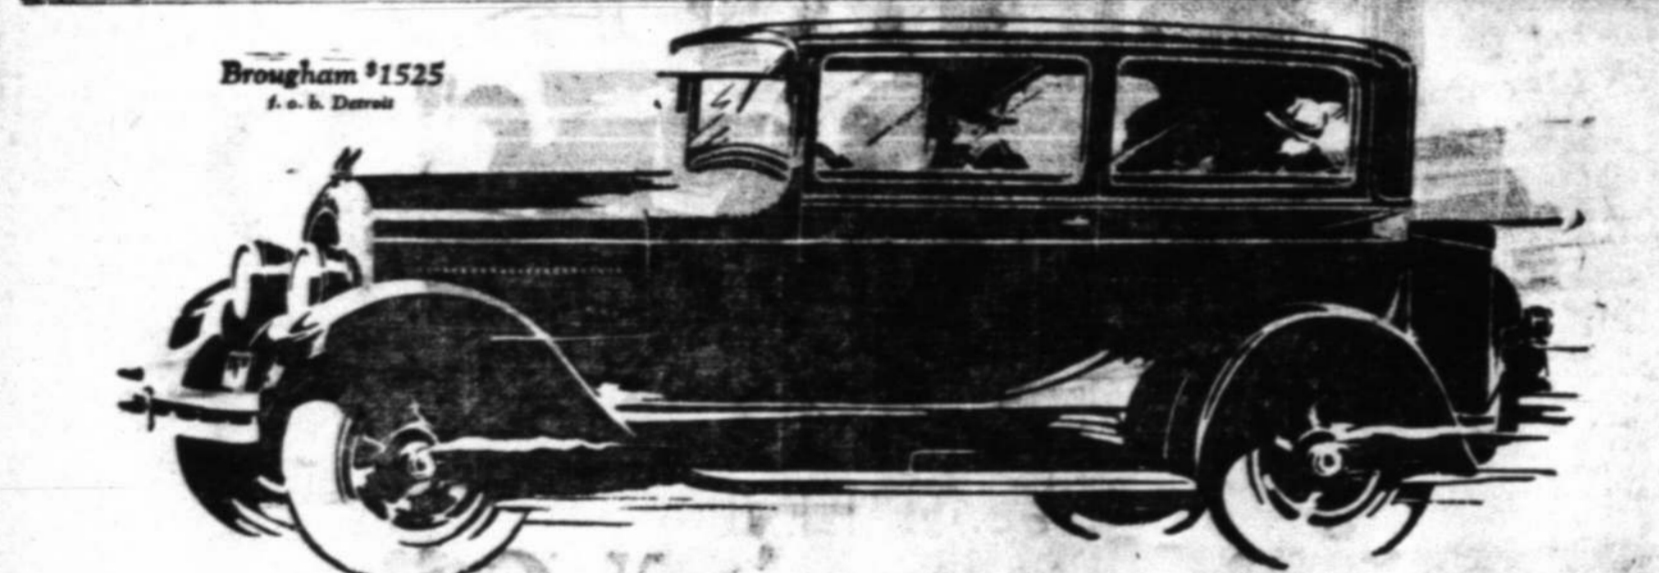

Gasoline Now 11c

A welcome announcement is the fact that gasoline may now cost only 11c. It is estimated that this reduction would effect a saving of millions of dollars for the American motorists. This amazing reduction is brought about by a mysterious little device that is easily installed on any car in a few minutes time. E. Oliver, 1941-248 W. Winnebago St., Milwaukee, Wis., is so proud of this invention that for a limited time he is offering the device free to auto owners who will help introduce it. He also needs men everywhere and offers profits of $75 to $150 a week to men who will handle local business. Write him at once for his free sample offer and money making proposition.

DAUGHTERS OF MIDAS

THIS HAS HAPPENED T. Q. CURTIS, millionaire department store owner, takes BILLY WELLS, NYDA LOMAX and WINNIE SHELTON from his store and places them in his home for one year, because he wants to help them. Billy, who has a great deal of talent, wants to be a concert violinist, is the only one that is serious. The others like to enjoy his generosity.

Billy is infatuated with DAL ROMAINS, nephew of MR. MEADOWS, the hostess. She is harassed by the fact that he is "big" both her and Winnie Shelton. Through everything she loves CLAY CURTIS, son of her benefactor, who has disinherited himself and is living with Billy's mother in the city of New York, and that everyone's singing and whistling and waiting to right now. He may make a fortune on it—one foolish little tune, but a tune that gets into your blood and haunts your dreams.

"A fortune out of a song!" T. Q. Said wryly. "Mother says Clay is shy about the song," Billy went on. "He despises that sort of music, is embarrassed when he hears his own song over the radio or on a phonograph. I'm awfully glad for Clay. He's worked like a slave, night and day."

"I'm proud of him, too," T. Q. said in a low voice, not meeting her eyes. She left him then, with his memory of his son, and with the bitter-sweet thought of that son's coming success. When she reached her own bed room at 10 o'clock, Billy found Viola turning back the covers of her bed and laying out her things for the night.

"Miss Nyda she say can you come see her a minute before you go to sleep," Viola told her. "She still got a powerful bad headache." "Tell her I'll come in about half past ten," Billy answered.

"She wanted to know about about Clay and the wonderful things that were happening and about to happen to him. She had seen her mother that very day, had felt an unworthy jealousy of her mother's fond delight in Clay, her pride in him."

"Clay has become more her own child than I am," Billy confessed to herself, then went to weep, forlornly. The year which had promised to be so wonderful was nearly over. In less than a month the year of probation would be ended. Two girls would go back to hard work and poverty. If she were one of those two—and she had no earthly reason to believe that she and not Winnie or Nyda would be chosen for adoption by T. Q. Curtis—she would be really worse off than she had been at the beginning of the year.

After she had bathed she resentfully wrapped a negligee about her for the duty call upon Nyda Lomax. "I was just dying to talk to someone," Nyda greeted her with unusual friendliness. "Sit down on the edge of the bed; I'll move over. I want you to help me plan a costume for the masquerade ball at the Country club."

The two girls talked for almost an hour. It was nearly half past 11 when T. Q. Curtis knocked at the door, asked with kindly solicitude about Nyda's headache, and then called out his good nights in a cheerful voice. "He's really a darling, isn't he?" Nyda asked lazily. "Which reminds me—I've got to study for a quiz tomorrow in kindergarten methods. Will you hand me my book off the desk? Oh, I forgot—I left it down in the library. I intended to study there after dinner tonight, to keep T. Q. company. Won't you get it for me before you go to bed, if you don't mind?"

Billy agreed readily, feeling more drawn to Nyda than she had been for months. The girl was really studying hard. It was nearly twelve when Billy entered the library and switched on the light in a reading lamp on T. Q.'s desk. After a bit of searching she found Nyda's text book on a little side table beside a wing chair, then it occurred to her that she had nothing in her room with which to read herself to sleep. She went to the book shelves and scanned the titles of scores of books before she found one that appealed to her mood.

As she stooped to open the glass doors of that section of the book case, Billy felt a hand on her shoulder to fasten her negligee caught on the knob of the case and broke. One of the bright crystal spheres rolled out of sight under the book cases and she went down on hands and knees to grope for it. It was then that she realized it must have been the book case, to that section of the book cases that opened by pressure a secret spring to reveal the wall safe in which T. Q. kept private papers, the girls' jewelry and his unset diamonds.

Without hesitation she pressed upon it, watching the section of the book case waning slowly outward. She was on her knees before the safe, picking up the strayed blue bead, and looking for any other that might have dropped, too, when the voice of Sawyers, the butler, startled her. "That you, Miss Billy?" he called from the doorway. Then his eyes narrowed with suspicion as he saw that she had been kneeling before the exposed wall safe.

"I came down for a book for Miss Lomax and broke the fastening on my robe," she explained rather breathlessly. "I was looking for one of the beads." When she was again in her room, after having delivered Nyda's book to her, she went to the stand in the window she had opened for the night, her hot cheeks grateful for the rush of wintry air. Why had she acted like a thief caught in the act, she asked herself disgustedly. Her thoughts were broken into suddenly by the faint sound of a familiar whistle. She leaned far out of the window, her heart beating fast with sudden, wild joy. That was Dal's signal. He had come

TRIMMINGS ARE TAKEN FROM AUTO

COLORFUL BODY AND NICKEL MISSING UNDER HEAVY ENGINEER'S SCRUTINY

By ISRAEL KLEIN Science Editor, NEA Service Again the colorful body and nicked trimmings are stripped off the automobile of 1927 and the car is exposed to us as still wanting the perfection for which the industry has been striving.

True, much progress has been made in this direction, but all the good is taken for granted and only the remaining evils are scrutinized and criticized by automotive engineers.

Scrutiny is Keen This year, the cold analysis of these men, in convention at French Lick Springs under the auspices of the Society of Automotive Engineers, misses no part of the entire car. It extends from headlights to car axle and delivers under the hood, within the transmission and even into the very composition of the materials that go to make up the car.

From it come surprising revelations. Tires aren't the only things that shimmy, point out H. T. Donkin and H. H. Clark of Cleveland. And they produce a high speed movie showing a poppet valve spring doing the same hootchy-kootchie as the uncontrolled balloons.

Their point is that during compression, when the valves are shut tight, some coils are enough under tension or stress as to cause them to shimmy.

New Ponderance That's something new for the motor engineers to ponder over. M. R. Schmidt, oil specialist of Indiana, adds another one. He finds that the automobile manufacturers differ so widely on oil specifications for their products, as to show they know little as yet about one of the most important materials used in the industry.

Even in the matter of designing, there is so much controversy and doubt as to have required a whole afternoon's session at the society's meeting on this subject alone. Body designers must have a greater appreciation of the value of color, of moldings and of "cheat lines." If their products are to succeed, says A. E. Northrup, well known body man.

Cars Appear Lower Cheat lines are what make the car appear lower than it actually is. And so do certain widths of moldings and certain tricks in painting. Four-speed transmission comes in for much consideration this year. If only the third speed could be silenced!

Headlights, adjusted vertically and horizontally, might be ideal, but what's wanted are lights that can be kept from glaring without so much adjusting. Tires, brakes, axles and other parts of the car also come in for discussion and improvement. Electrical parts of the car aren't omitted from the list of the fault finders, and even state legislation, with its fanciful ideas can't escape the keen analysis of the automotive engineer.

Double Steering On European Car

By NEA Service PARIS, June 4.—Double steering is being used for the first time on regular stock models of passenger automobiles. The innovation was adopted by a manufacturer at Lyons as a relief from wheel shimmy.

Shimmy does not exist when each wheel is steered independently as the condition is brought about when two wheels wobble in unison. In ordinary wheel wobble is rarely violent and lasts but a brief interval.

Two main steering levers are provided. The two levers have to move in opposite directions and an inverse movement is obtained by a crank and connecting rod mechanism which allows duplicate control with a single mechanism.

Other striking features of this car are quadrate transverse suspension and low chassis line, bringing the floor of the car to the level of the running boards, seven inches from the ground.

Quadrate transverse suspension is accomplished by four springs which join the chassis across the width instead of along the length of the car in the usual manner.

The transverse suspension insures ease and comfort for the passenger and makes possible the lowering of the body to the running board line.

"MISS SULU" IN BEAUTY RACE Among the contestants for the glory and profit in being chosen "Miss Philippine" is "Miss Sulu."

That's something new for the motor engineers to ponder over. M. R. Schmidt, oil specialist of Indiana, adds another one. COPYRIGHT 1926 NEA BY ANNE AUSTIN

As Faith knelt before the small body, tears running down her cheeks, the judge shouted for order, banging repeatedly on his desk with his gavel.

"The ladies and gentlemen of the press will take their seats and keep them until this court adjourns. Judge Grimsdale thundered as a score of reporters crowded about Faith and the unconscious body of the defendant.

When a measure of order had been restored, District Attorney Manning rose and addressed the court.

"As district attorney and prosecutor of this case, I join the defense counsel, Stephen Churchill, in asking that the indictments against Cherry Lane Wiley and Christopher Wiley be quashed, in view of the evidence which has just been brought to my attention.

The astounded spectators, who had tirelessly watched the progress of the big drama from day to day, broke into a mighty cheer then, a cheer of which Cherry's dazed ears soon became faintly conscious. She rose shakily to her feet, clutching her brother and sister, then flung her arms above her head in a wild gesture of thanksgiving, as she cried:

"Oh, thank you, God! Thank you, Mummy! I'm free! I'm free!"

And in less than half an hour she was legally free. Judge Grimsdale summoned her to the platform on which his desk stood, rose and took both her trembling little hands in his, he congratulated her on her miraculous escape from further persecution at the hands of the law.

There was no further effort to control the joyous demonstrations of the crowd. Never in the history of the city had there been such an ovation for a vindicated defendant as took place in the next few minutes. Press photographers snapped Cherry being ridden on the shoulders of the shouting, cheering mob. Cherry in the arms of her family, Cherry shaking hands with the beaming jury, Cherry shaking hands with Churchill, Cherry making a speech of thanks to the thousands that milled about the courthouse lawn.

"Bob," she implored at last, "take me away, Dad, Faith, Junior, Fay—she called the names of her family in a voice of heartbreaking sweetness, "let me go for a little while. Take me, Bob—"

"Where are you going, Faith?" Faith cried in a jealous fear of losing her again, even for a little while.

"I'm going to the hospital to see Chris, to congratulate him on his freedom," Cherry confessed in a low voice, but a reporter leapt forward and broke into a run to reach the nearest telephone.

"Cherry," Jim Lane's voice quavered on the beloved name. "You're—you're going back to that second-story who got you into all this trouble?"

"No, Daddy," she shook her copper-and-gold curls, but her golden eyes filled with tears. "I—I can't go back to him, Daddy, but I've got to do the decent thing. He has no one to rejoice with him today. He's sick and alone, and I've got to do the decent thing. I—I hope I've learned decency if nothing else during these dreadful weeks."

"Good girl, Cherry!" Bob applauded. "Of course I'll take you, but why can't Faith come along, too? You'll want to see Chris alone, I imagine, and Faith and I have a lot to talk over, haven't we, darling?" he added, turning to the girl he was engaged to with a smile of infinite tenderness glowing in his blue eyes.

"Of course Faith is to come," Cherry said quietly. "Oh, Faith, Bob! You wonderful people! Church, I'll say you did it all by yourself. You're a hero, Bob, and Faith's the greatest heroine since Joan of Arc. I adore you both!"

Faith, watching Cherry's little arms clinging about Bob's neck, and seeing lovingly, childlike little mouth pressing against his lips, wondered just how much Cherry had changed after all. Then horror at herself, for the unworthy thought sent fire hot blood rushing into her face.

"Thank God, Cherry was free, she said herself passionately. Cherry would come home, would live with her and Bob after they were married. And after a few months there would be a baby—Cherry's baby—" and 18 per cent in April from March. Although the decline is rather sharp, it is in line with a decrease for the entire country and was to be expected after the unusual increase of 50 per cent for March over February. According to reports of 25 cities to the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas, permits fell from 112,746 in March to 110,529,900 in April.

"During earlier months of the year, building activity was greater in the Northwestern and the South central parts of the state. April reports seem to indicate a slight curtailment in these sections. Building in other parts of the state is about what it has been for several months past. Most of the increase during March took place in Houston, Amarillo and San Antonio, likewise, the large decrease in April was in these three cities.

"Building costs continued the downward trend which began more than a year ago, but they are still relatively high in comparison to the general price level. According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the wholesale price of building material in April was 145 compared to 127 in March and 122 in April last year with the 1913 price as equal to 100. When labor charges are added to the high prices of building material, the total cost of building is very high at the present time.

"Textile mills throughout the state were very active throughout the month. Most mills were running at capacity and some companies were operating night shifts in order to care for increased business. Twelve mills reporting to the Bureau of Business Research used a total of 5,186 bales of cotton, or a decrease of 287 from March. Reports from only twelve identical mills have been received for both March and April, and the figures will be revised when all reports are received. The twelve identical mills used 5,572 bales in March, whereas fifteen mills reporting used 7,250 bales in March. The textile industry over the entire country was less active in April than in March due to seasonal influences. Preliminary reports from Texas mills indicate that the decline in this state was not as great.

"The old car certainly has endeared itself to me," he said. "It was always ready, could always be depended on, no hill was too steep nor no journey too long, and no road too rough for a car which could always be counted on to take you where you were going and bring you back on schedule time."

Harper & Harper men point out that the Eight still had its original fenders, original paint and was in splendid mechanical and body condition despite its 67,000 miles of travel.

Mills Manufacture "During the month, the twelve mills manufactured 3,609,000 yards of cloth and spun 538,000 pounds of yarn. Cotton goods sales for April amounted to 3,215,000 yards against 2,709,000 yards in March. Yarn sales show a decline from 175,000 pounds to 158,000 pounds over the month. Unfilled orders at the end of April for the twelve companies reporting amounted to 4,021,000 yards against 4,966,000 yards for the month previous. The twelve mills reporting are equal to about 53 per cent of the industry in Texas.

"Production of Portland cement in Texas plants made a new high record in April. The output amounted to 425,000 barrels, an increase of 4,000 barrels over the March output and 58,000 barrels over the production in April of last year. Notwithstanding this fact, shipments were 22,000 barrels in excess of April. The excess of loadings over production during the last two months has reduced stocks on hand to 42,000 barrels at the close of the month. Stocks are equal to about 15 per cent of the amount in storage at the end of April, 1926."

What'zit?

Police are up in the air about the contraption which William Nichols of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology drives through Boston. The state can't give it a license, and still it has a motor—a one cylinder affair that chugs along with the best of cars. Nichols built the machine, yet he doesn't know what it really is. His feet stuck out in front, as he leans back clutching a small cross bar. Nichols takes the countryside by surprise.

UNIT IRRIGATION SAID PROFITABLE

HEREFORD FARMERS PLAN TO TAKE UP PRACTICE AS URGED AT PORTALES

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal) HEREFORD, June 4.—The possibilities of introducing in the Hereford shallow water belt, the small unit irrigation plan now being used successfully by farmers in the Portales valley, are being studied by interested people of Hereford, a party of business men and farmers, made a trip Wednesday to Portales to inspect the irrigation projects of that community, and much valuable information was obtained.

Practice Profitable The local group found that irrigation projects in the valley are being developed on a smaller unit plan than is the case here, and that those people find that a twenty acre tract is ideal for truck farming. In the valley they are specializing on sweet potatoes, tomatoes, and peanuts, and are actually making these crops pay. Around fifty new irrigation plants are being installed this spring, and farmers there will grow about 1300 acres of sweet potatoes, 500 acres of tomatoes, and some 200 acres of peanuts, with a smaller acreage of grapes, onions, etc.

A canning factory is being enlarged to take care of the increased acreage of tomatoes, and most of the potatoes will be handled through a farmers marketing association. This organization sold some 80,000 bushels of potatoes last season.

50 Wells Already Installed With a much larger acreage underlaid with shallow water, than is to be found around Portales, with some fifty big wells already installed here, and with a soil that will grow vegetables, small fruits, alfalfa, etc. in abundance, those who made the trip are the Hereford Chamber of Commerce.

Another Page Turns in Dodge Brothers History A REMARKABLE NEW SIX by DODGE BROTHERS ANNOUNCING The Senior Line A new line of sixes by Dodge Brothers is presented to the public today. It has been rumored, and hoped, for years that Dodge Brothers would ultimately produce such a line—more refined and, of course, higher in cost than their present car. To combine the sturdy worth of Dodge Brothers standard product with those refinements which greater cost permits, could not fail, it was conceded, to produce a motor car of unique distinction and fitness. The Senior Line is Dodge Brothers answer to this demand—and Dodge Brothers have answered well. These are remarkable cars. Brilliantly vital and alive—surprisingly quiet—impressively smart. And built, like all Dodge Brothers motor cars, for years of dependable service. See one and drive it and you will marvel that performance of this quality and character could be provided at a price so low. ROYALTY MOTOR CO. 1011 13TH STREET PHONE 444

NEW DODGE SIX, INNOVATION IN AUTO INDUSTRY, NOW ON DISPLAY HERE AT ROYALTY MOTOR CO., LOCAL DEALERS

The arrival of Dodge Brothers keenly anticipated six cylinder car at the Royalty Motor Company building here the latter part of the week has caused a great deal of favorable comment, and the model is being received by the public with enthusiasm, according to W. W. Royalty, owner and manager of the firm.

The car is now on display at the salesroom at the corner of 12th and Ave J, where it will remain several days.

Dodge Six is Innovation
New cars and new models are constantly rolling over the horizon. A Six arriving from the Dodge laboratories carries its own peculiar news value. There are, of course, certain pre-conceived ideas as to high quality in structure and mechanics, due to the past history of the makers covering a period of twelve successful years during which nearly two million cars were built and marketed. But how does this new member of the family perform? And—here is where curiosity is perhaps uppermost—how does it look? Is there a note of conservatism in its appearance? Or does it look as though its designers were appealing to flaming youth?

It may be said at once that without being extreme in any sense Dodge Brothers Six has plenty of pep in its appearance as well as its performance. Niran Bates, one of the foremost technical editors in the country, hits it off well when he says in Automobile Topics: "Dodge Brothers Senior is a distinctive embodiment of the spirit of the times." Mr. Pope has made an intensive study of the new product and wrote extensively on the subject, continuing:

"Its size is rendered indefinite by the gently rounded contours of the roof lines which is crowned and moulded over the sides to produce the effect of length and lowness without unpleasant accentuation anywhere. Actually it stands a fraction over 71 inches from the ground, but it looks considerably lower.

Door Panels Recast
"An entirely new interpretation of the moulding line is created by the use of recessed panels in the doors and swinging around the back from one rear quarter to the other side. The entire front of the car is distinctively new. The radiator is deep, rather high and surrounded by barely more than a rim of the polished shell which is of deep width, save at the top where it widens out. The butterfly sweep of the guards is effective, the lines of the hood rugged and strong.

There is abundant room inside the car for comfortable riding and frequent change of posture during long drives. In unobtrusive places, all the interior work is carefully tuned on the chromatic scale to a soft and durable exterior of blues and greens in lacquer finish, set off appropriately with ivory hair lines.

Mojave desert and the notorious Death Valley, and into Los Angeles. Then on through the rich oil fields around Bakersfield, we enter a region of three famous national parks, Sequoia, General Grant and Yosemite.

Here are the mightiest trees of the great west, although there are many other natural attractions to intrigue the visitor.

Northward again through San Francisco and Sacramento, we reach Red Bluff and turn off for a view at Mt. Lassen, in Lassen Volcanic National Park the only active volcano in the United States.

The Pacific Highway, along which the four runs all the way up from Los Angeles to Seattle, is one of the finest in the country. It is followed farther on past another great peak, Mt. Shasta, and on through the Siskiyou Pass into Oregon.

Another road winds off past Klamath Falls and the Klamath Indian reservation to the edge of Crater Lake, six miles around and held by walls as high as 2000 feet.

Along Columbia River
One of the most awe-inspiring views is the next strip of the Pacific Highway northward through Oregon, along the Hogue river, into fertile valleys and then for 125 miles out of Portland along the surging Columbia river to Tacoma, the gateway to Mt. Rainier National Park. A new sight is that of banks of vivid flowers broken here and there by stately glaciers, while the white peak of Mt. Rainier reaches above them.

Next comes Seattle and the road turns back east through Spokane to the Glacier National Park on the Canadian border. Here great mountains, broad lakes and stately trees rival one another for supremacy in grandeur.

Southward now the trip is nearing its end, until one of the greatest sights is met at Yellowstone National Park, with its interesting and mysterious phenomena of hot geysers and colorful volcanic rock. Now the trip runs through Wyoming and into Rocky Mountain National Park in Colorado, the end of the 6000-mile journey. Here we are high above sea level with mountain peaks towering even higher, one of them more than 14,000 feet above sea level.

GOOD ROADS

Reno. The entire length is 3,250 miles and the route is paved throughout, from Atlantic City to St. Mary's, Kans., a distance of 1,302 miles. West of St. Mary's, the roadway is chiefly graded earth or gravel, except between Auburn and San Francisco, where there is a continuous stretch of pavement. This route crosses the Great Salt Lake Desert over the famous Wendover cut-off.

"Route No. 20 will carry the motorist westward from Boston through Albany to Buffalo, and then over a highly improved Canadian road to Detroit. The tourist who seeks a route to follow still farther westward may take No. 10, through Saginaw to Ludington, where Lake Michigan is crossed by ferry to Manitowish, Wis., and then touching Minneapolis, Fargo, Bismarck, Billings, Missoula, to Seattle. About three-fourths of this route is surfaced.

"An important partial transcontinental route is No. 66, which forms a direct connection between Chicago and Los Angeles by way of St. Louis, Oklahoma City, Albuquerque, and Flagstaff. Its length is 2,245 miles, of which more than half comprises pavement or gravel. The greater part of the unpaved section is maintained in good condition in dry weather.

North and South Routes
The United States System also provides several useful north-and-south routes of outstanding importance. No. 61 is a good example. Originating at Grand Portage, Mich., this route runs to New Orleans, following the Mississippi River from St. Paul down to the Memphis bridge, where the road crosses to the east side and continues southward along the eastern shore.

"A diagonal route, which is open virtually the whole year, is No. 11, which runs in a southwestward direction from Round Point, N. Y., through Syracuse, N. Y., Scranton and Harrisburg, Pa., Winchester, Va., Lexington and Bristol, Ky., Knoxville and Chattanooga, Tenn., Birmingham, Ala., and Meridian and Hattiesburg, Miss. Route No. 11 joins No. 50 at Pearl River, Miss., and thereafter the tourist may travel by way of New Orleans and through Texas to El Paso, and thence over Route No. 80 westward to San Diego, Calif.

HIGH SPEED CARS ARE SAFER

By NEA Service
LONDON, June 4.—Tabulation of figures gathered by the London Safety First council in the city's motorist areas shows that the largest amount of fatal accidents occur when automobiles are going only five to ten miles an hour. The fatal accidents from 1920 to 1926, the survey shows, was 366 for cars going not more than 10 miles an hour, a percentage of 35.49 of the total accidents.

CHICAGO, ILL.—The automobile world is agog over the amazing results of the new gasoline discovery made by the Chicago scientist, L. Forgrave. It is an entirely new, scientific idea—never before anything like it. It is not a mechanical contraption, carburetor device or dope to put in gasoline. Its action is astonishing. Here's its strange feature—it is positively guaranteed to give 334 gallons of gas at only 1c a gallon every 10,000 miles. It is named Motor-Mystery and is also guaranteed to instantly eliminate carbon, increase power and pep. One of its strongest features is that it is needed only every 10,000 miles. It costs practically nothing and saves $300.00 to $500.00 yearly. This Is An Electric Age

It has only been a few years back when electricity was considered an unharnessed force . . . for cooking purposes an experiment. Today throughout America people have found it to be the cleanest, safest and most satisfactory cooking fuel of the age.

Its dependability is now unquestioned. None can doubt its superiority for perfect control, for quickness, for cleanliness. Electrical advancement has been revolutionary and its instantaneous acceptance for cooking purposes by millions of housewives is a verdict that is positive proof of the age we live in—the electrical age!

It's the Greatest Natural Force Harnessed for Human Happiness

If Ben Franklin could vision the possibilities of electricity would he not be astounded at its quick development? Women who spent drudgerous hours over steaming, back breaking tubs, now, by the turn of a switch give electricity charge of the washing. Sewing machines are driven cheaply, economically and pleasingly by the little, powerful, dependable electric motor. Brooms have come almost into discard while the electric vacuum sweeper does the work better and saves years of rug life. Control of electricity makes possible the present-day motor car. The light you now read by is electricity—compare it with the oil lamp of a few years back.

This Is The Age Of Electricity

For cooking purposes compare electricity with any fume-producing fuel. Compare its ease of control, its safety, its cleanliness. This modern age—wherein the universal recognition of the wonderful, unsurpassed uses for electricity, gives far more pleasures to living than any other. We who are in the business of supplying electricity feel a justified pride in the work we do. Make the fullest use of electricity if you would raise the standard of living to the 1927 level!
