Burleson To Speak At Celebration

Word was received Tuesday that the Hon. Omar Burleson, representative of the 17th Congressional District, will participate in the Independence Day Celebration to be held here Saturday.

H. A. Johnson, Jr. and Bentley Baize, co-chairmen for the event which is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, said that Burleson's remarks would officially open the observance of the holiday.

It is planned that the celebration will officially start at 2 p.m. In addition to Burleson, Felix Jones, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and M. L. Broman, mayor of Snyder will make brief welcoming remarks to the crowd.

Following the official start of the celebration, a parade will be held. Johnson and Baize said that all types of floats or entries in the parade were welcome, but added that it would be appreciated if those planning to join the parade would call the Chamber of Commerce office at least by Friday morning so that some pre - planning could be done. The parade will form on the parking lot west of the National Guard armory.

Handling Of Funds Issue

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's Bobby Baker investigators argued today over a Republican proposal to prohibit Senate employes from handling political campaign funds, and then announced they would release their report tonight.

The report of the Senate Rules Committee contains the findings of the Democratic majority on the probe of the former Senate aide, along with the separate views of the Republican minority.

In addition, it sets forth recommendations for tightening enforcement of lobbying laws and for safeguards against conflicts of interest among senators and Senate employes.

At a closed meeting of the committee today, with the report already printed, the members argued over a proposal to ban Senate employes from soliciting, accepting, or otherwise handling political contributions.

Chairman B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., said the committee's report would be released for publication at 5 p.m. EST today.

The politically explosive investigation was launched just after Baker resigned on Oct. 7, 1963 as secretary of the Senate's Democratic majority amid questions raised by Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., and others about his outside financial and business dealings.

When President Johnson was the Senate Democratic leader, Baker was his right-hand man and the committee's investigations ballooned into an issue in last fall's election campaign. Republicans accused the Democrats of a cover-up and a whitewash.

Baker, who accumulated a claimed fortune of over $2 million while on the Senate pay roll at $19,600 a year, invoked his Fifth Amendment protection against possible self-incrimination and refused to answer questions when called as a witness.

A former page boy from Pickens, S.C., he was found "guilty of many gross improprieties" by the Rules Committee in a report last July. It said he had used his Senate office "as if it were a private business office."

Testimony brought out that he had interests in insurance, vending machines, motels, meat imports and other enterprises and had made some highly profitable stock purchases.

After the committee's report last July, Williams forced a reopening of the investigation with a Senate speech charging a political payoff by Matthew H. McCloskey, Philadelphia contractor and former ambassador to Ireland, on the District of Columbia Stadium project.

Williams said that McCloskey had made a $35,000 overpayment on the performance bond on the stadium and that $25,000 of this had been channeled through Baker to the 1960 Kennedy-Johnson campaign fund.

Don B. Reynolds, a local insurance man, later swore he was the "bag man" and kept $10,000 for handling the money. But McCloskey made a sworn denial of the charge and testified the overpayment was a "goof" by his company.

Others who figured prominently in the reopened investigation included lobbyist friends of Baker and Walter Jenkins, one of Johnson's top aides, who resigned at the President's request during last fall's presidential campaign after disclosure Jenkins twice had been arrested on morals charges.

On the advice of psychiatrists, the committee excused Jenkins from testifying but he answered written questions under oath and denied pressuring Reynolds into buying $1,208 worth of advertising time on an Austin, Tex., television station controlled by the Johnson family.

Viet Cong Is Repulsed

By EDWIN Q. WHITE

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) —A large government force, hit by a reinforced Viet Cong regiment, appeared to have fought its way to comparative safety tonight in a major battle 200 miles northeast of Saigon, a U.S. military spokesman reported.

A Vietnamese infantry unit of undisclosed size was surrounded and heavily engaged by the Viet Cong earlier in the day. The command post of a second element was reported also surrounded and in danger of being overrun.

However, the spokesman said two airborne battalions which were part of a three-unit Vietnamese task force operating near Cheo Reo in Pleiku Province had linked up with the threatened command post.

He said the infantry unit, whose size was classified, had re-established radio contact with the remainder of the troops and that, while their situation was not known precisely, the unit reported that it was all right.

There were no reports of casualties.

A total of 34 air sorties were flown against the Viet Cong in an effort to smash their attack.

A U.S. Air Force light spotting plane, flew over the area and was shot down in the jungle. The fate of the pilot and his observer, both Americans, was not known, the spokesman said.

The Viet Cong shot down another American plane, a Navy F8 Crusader jet, supporting government troops on a mission 50 miles west of Saigon. The spokesman said the pilot ejected and was picked up uninjured by a U.S. Army helicopter.

Forty-seven Navy jets from the carriers Coral Sea and Oriskany joined in a raid on a North Vietnamese air base at Vinh, 165 miles south of Hanoi. A spokesman said they knocked out the runway, severing it at one end and cratering the rest with direct hits.

In the ground war, the biggest action of the day centered in the highlands midway between Saigon and Da Nang, a strategic air base guarded by U.S. Marines.

It appeared that another major battle was developing.

The government task force made up of three units of paratroopers and infantrymen, began an operation Tuesday near Cheo Reo, the capital of Phu Bon Province. The force headed in the direction of Thuan Mong, a district capital 8 miles from Cheo Reo.

A huge Viet Cong force attacked Thuan Mong and the advancing government force this morning, the spokesman said. Shortly after the town's radio communications blacked out, indicating it probably had fallen.

Simultaneously, one of the three large government units was reported surrounded and fighting a desperate battle.

Footprints, Body Found On Beach

EL ROSARIO, Mex. (AP) — Searchers have found a woman's body and footprints on the beach in an area where two boats with pleasure-cruising families sank last week.

The footprints, a life jacket and women's clothing were found by a 15-man search party Tuesday near where Denise Winter, 15 swam ashore last Saturday. She was believed the sole survivor of her family of five after their 45-foot cruiser sank last weekend off Baja California. But the evidence on the beach gave new hope that others made it ashore.

Also sighted awash in the surf in the area was the body of an adult woman in a lifejacket.

The U.S. Coast Guard said it could either be Denise's mother or Mrs. Hugh V. Wynn, 24, Visalia, Calif. The Wynn cabin cruiser sank last week and the bodies of Wynn, 55, and his son, Art, 1, were found last Friday. Also in the party was Letitia Wynn, 3.

Searchers for the Warren Winter family of Murrieta, Calif., also reported finding fresh water near the footprints, adding to chances of survival on the barren coast.

Philippine Women Attack Burglars

MANILA (AP)—Mrs. Alejandra Peralta, 50, awoke Tuesday night when five burglars broke into her house.

She roused three women sleeping in the room with her. They tiptoed into the kitchen. Each armed herself with a bolo, a long machete-like knife. Then they attacked the burglars.

Living Costs Edge Upward

WASHINGTON (AP)— Living costs advanced three-tenths of one per cent in May for the second straight month, the Labor Department reported today.

The rise lifted its index of consumer prices to 109.6, a new high. This was 1.7 per cent higher than a year ago.

The index reading means that consumer goods which could be bought for $10 in the 1957-59 period now cost $10.96.

The consecutive monthly increases of three-tenths of one per cent in April and May were the first such occurrence since mid-1963.

And, officials said, preliminary indications are that the index rose further in June. The June figures will not be compiled for several weeks.

India, Pakistan To Pull Border Troops

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — India and Pakistan have agreed to issue orders to their troops to withdraw all along the border between the two nations, a foreign office spokesman said today.

The spokesman said the agreement to end the recent confrontation of the armed forces of the two countries was made by President Mohammed Ayub Khan and Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri of India. He said the orders would be issued forthwith.

Hectic Surge Of Market Endures

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market surged ahead today, picking up where it left off after a roller-coaster session Tuesday. The pace of trading was only a little less hectic.

Brokers attributed some of the rise to an increase in buying by institutions and investment funds and others who deal in big blocks.

One broker described the small investor as "still scared and selling" but said some bargain hunters were beginning to appear among them.

At 12:30 p.m. the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up 13.50 at 864.90, although it had been ahead 14.43 at 10:30 a.m.

The Associated Press 60-stock average at noon had advanced 3.6 to 315.5.

The New York Stock Exchange high speed ticker tape, which records sales and prices for display in broker's offices and elsewhere, fell one minute behind floor transactions in the first few minutes of trading. Volume in the first hour totaled 2.46 million shares against 2.63 million in the like period Tuesday, when trading for the day exceeded 10 million shares.

An unusual factor in the market lately has been purchases by companies of their own stock, apparently because they believe falling prices have made the shares attractive buys.

The New York Stock Exchange's volume of trading headed toward a first-hour record.

At the end of the first half-hour, the Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks soared 14.43 points to 865.83, a gain larger than that for the entire session Tuesday.

Rights Units Rap Report

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — The claim of a special committee of the Alabama Legislature that three civil rights groups are promoting the Communist cause has drawn immediate answering fire from the groups' leaders.

A report by the Alabama Legislative Commission to Preserve the Peace was released Tuesday, charging that the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee and the Congress of Racial Equality are Communist inspired.

Reactions from leaders of those groups included, "witch-hunting", "a typical response from a typical Southern legislature," "entirely false," and "rubbish."

The report labeled Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., the head of SCLC and top figure in civil rights efforts in Alabama recently, as one "actively engaged in promoting the Communist line."

King, in turn, blasted the report as "another attempt to evade the fact that democracy does not exist in Alabama."

Post-War Babies Start New Cycle

By G.K. HODENFIELD

NEW YORK (AP) — For years, educators have been talking about the postwar baby boom and the problems it has meant for the schools.

Forget it! There's a bigger boom coming — lots more babies, lots more problems.

A report released here today by the National Education Association confirmed, biological facts many people have overlooked.

Those babies born when Johnny came marching home from World War II have grown up. They're getting married. They're having babies.

In a few short years those babies will be starting school. That means more classrooms, more teachers, more taxes.

The report cited these figures from the U.S. Census Bureau, the nation's official baby-counter.

The number of births in the United States jumped from 2.9 million in 1946 to 3.9 million in 1947. Then it tapered off at about 3.7 million through 1950, hit 4 million in 1954, and in 1964 was 4.1 million.

This year the number of births may reach 4.5 million, and by 1970 it could hit 5.2 million. The Census Bureau acknowledges those figures could be smaller, depending on what it calls the nation's "fertility rate."

A limiting factor, according to the NEA report, is that most young women today seem to want three children. Ten years ago they wanted four.

The tidal wave of youngsters which soon will be hammering on the schoolhouse doors compounds the problem of paying for their education.

More and more of them are starts school earlier. They're staying longer.

Despite impressive gains in recent years, the report said, there is still a shortage of classrooms.

The NEA didn't try to project what all this is going to cost.

Farm Product Prices Rise

By OVID MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The favorable price situation that has developed for meat in recent months has helped carry the level of farm product prices 10 per cent above a year earlier.

Much of the increase has been in hogs prices, with somewhat lower gains for beef cattle, sheep and lambs. But farmers' income has not increased as much as prices because supplies of farm products are down from a year ago.

The Agriculture Department said Tuesday farm prices increased 2 per cent during the month ended June 15. This per cent came on top of a 3 per cent increase a month earlier.

With prices paid by farmers holding relatively steady, farm prices have climbed to 10 per cent of the parity price goal of federal farm aid programs. A year ago they reflected only 74 per cent of parity.

Agriculture Department figures indicated farm operating costs are running about 2 per cent above last year.

Hog prices, averaging $22.50 per 100 pounds in mid - June, were up 51 per cent from a year earlier. Beef cattle prices, at an average of $21.50, were 23 per cent above mid - June last year.

Reflecting increased market supplies, grower prices of commercial vegetables declined 8 per cent between mid - May and mid - June, but prices still were 21 per cent higher than a year earlier.

Besides meat animals, farm products bringing more in mid June than a year earlier included corn, oats, barley, sorghum grain, hay, soybeans, flaxseed, potatoes, sweet potatoes, dry beans, strawberries, lemons, limes, milkfat, milk, chickens and turkeys.

Those bringing less included wheat, rye, cotton, dry peas, fresh peaches, grapefruit, oranges, eggs, wool and mohair.

The department said the bright outlook for hog producers probably will stimulate expanded pig crops. However, a recent department survey indicated 1965 pig production will be below last year.

It said that hog slaughter, now well below year - earlier levels, will likely continue reduced through mid-1966.

Austin Trip Planned By College Supporters

Members of the Chamber of Commerce's Junior College Survey Committee and others who are interested in the establishment of a junior college in Snyder have been asked to meet at 9 a.m. Thursday at the community room of Snyder Savings and Loan.

It is hoped that a large delegation will be able to go to Austin for the State Board of Education's hearing on Snyder's request. That hearing will take place July 12.

Plans for this trip, which will probably include the chartering of one or more busses, will be made at the meeting tomorrow.

City To Greet Foreign Students

Forty-four students from foreign countries were scheduled to arrive in Snyder at 6 p.m. today for a visit that will extend to Friday morning.

The group, all in this country for the past school year as American Field Service Exchange Students, is en route from California to their respective homes. The stop here will be the only one in Texas for the students as they complete their American academic year with a tour across the country.

Host families will pick up the students this evening in front of the courthouse. Tomorrow, the students will have a full day of activities, including a four-of the Koonsman Ranch, a swim in the Towle Park pool, a barbecue, an impromptu rodeo and a western square dance.

The students, host families and invited guests will attend the barbecue Thursday evening at the rodeo grounds. The general public then will be welcome to join them as the Scurry County Sheriff's Posse members stage several rodeo events in the arena.

The Thursday activities will be concluded with a western style dance at the rodeo pavilion, which will feature exhibitions by the Country Cousins and Shirts 'n Skirts Square Dance Clubs.

The students will board their bus Friday morning to continue their trip across the country. Their next overnight stop will be in Ponca City, Okla.

3-D ART SHOW—Mrs. Melvin Lee displays the trophies to be presented at the 3-D Art Show July 3 at the National Guard Armory in Towle Park. The show is open to artists of the region, and entries must be in Friday between 1 and 7 p.m. They will be picked up between the hours of 9 and 10 p.m. Saturday. Two traveling trophies will be given for the over all best in the senior and junior class. These trophies will be kept by the winner for one year, then returned to the July 4 show next year. If won two years in succession by the same person, the exhibitor will then keep it. These trophies were donated by Mr. and Mrs. Bentley Baize and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Johnson. Each artist may enter 4 paintings in each division. There will be an entry fee of $1 per painting in adult class and 50 cents per painting in junior class, and 25 cents per painting for exhibit only. For further information contact Foy Nutt, HI 3-3231 or Mrs. Lee, HI 3-4754.

Bat-Wielding Mothers Win Park Battle

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A group of vigilant mothers apparently has won a double victory in their battle to restore tranquility to little Franz Park.

Young toughs who had been vandalizing the neighborhood park are steering clear of it and police are watching it more closely.

Mrs. John Guffey, one of 9 baseball bat-brandishing moms who marched on the Park Monday, said they will be there again today, "but we don't expect any trouble."

Another of the mothers, Mrs. Pat Feilner, who lives just across the street from the park, said it was peaceful Tuesday night.

The mothers began patroling the park Monday following an increase in vandalism and an incident last week in which two recreation counselors were harrassed by a group of young toughs.

The park department began installing new swings and other equipment Tuesday to replace units damaged by vandals.

Franz Park is in the predominantly white section of southwest St. Louis.

Beards Are Urged For Commissioners

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — City fathers have been challenged to grow beards.

Abe Koblentz, chairman of Chattanooga's sesquicentennial celebration, told the city commissioners Tuesday, "I want you to be courageous. I want you to be bold. Grow a beard. You are not going to lose votes. We are going to have 20,000 growing beards."

Vice Mayor Dean Petersen so far is the only commissioner showing support of the idea. He is cultivating a mustache.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Maybe you can tell us what to do. Three years ago our daughter ran away and got married. We didn't try to stop her although we wanted so much for her to get married in a church, but he didn't believe in church weddings. He promised her that if they had any children they would be baptized in her religion. Three months ago they had a baby and so far nothing has been said about baptizing it. Our friends tell us we should disown our daughter, but how can people disown their own flesh and blood? We know the husband has no intention of keeping his promise and we are just sick over it. All I do is cry, Abby. I can't disown my daughter. It isn't her fault. What should I do?

HEARTBROKEN

DEAR HEARTBROKEN: The problem is clearly your daughter's. If she cannot persuade her husband to have the baby baptized, why make her even more miserable by making an issue of it? Of course you shouldn't disown her. Wall off that episode in your daughter's young marriage and help her make the most of what is left.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am a secretary who has been working in the same office for many years. The messenger boy has been here almost as long as I. (He's not really a "boy" — he's a man.) He has frequently done small favors for me in addition to doing his routine office errands. He would never accept money so I have given his children little gifts on various occasions. Now this messenger boy has invited me to spend Sunday at his home with his family. Don't get me wrong, I am not snobbish, but I hate the idea of spending one of my precious Sundays with the messenger boy and his family. I have nothing in common with his wife, and I have a hundred things I'd rather do on Sundays. On the other hand, I hate to hurt his feelings. Any suggestions on how to refuse?

STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: Don't say that you have a previous engagement, or he will only ask you for your next "free" Sunday. Tell him in a gentle way that your Sundays belong to your family and close friends whom you aren't able to see during the week. Be kind, but final.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: A question came up recently at a gathering of women, and I would like your opinion.

A friend of ours has a niece who has a baby. Whenever anyone sends the baby a gift, the niece writes the thank-you note as though it were written by the baby. ("I just love the darling little blue sweater you gave me. It just matches my eyes," etc.) The friend thinks this is just too coy and therefore not in very good taste. What do you think?

THE FRIEND'S FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: I think the spirit and promptness of the thank-you note covers all essentials of good taste.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for the "lift" your column always gives me. I have been a widow for 40 years. My only child suffered a nervous breakdown 18 years ago, and she is in an institution, but she is allowed to come home for a visit every once in a while. She is a beautiful, bright young woman, but too mentally disturbed to live at home. When I hear people say they have trouble, I say to myself, "They don't know what trouble is." You may print this if you wish. I know you don't print names. Sign me...

"FAITH AND HOPE"

DEAR FAITH AND HOPE: Thank you for your letter. It's letters like yours that remind us how lucky most of us are. God bless you and your daughter.

Foreign Purchase Limits Reduced

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate-House conferees reached agreement today on a bill fixing a new $100 retail value duty-free allowance for purchases abroad which U.S. tourists can bring back to this country.

The new allowance would take effect Oct. 1 this year.

It compares with a limit of $100 wholesale value, the equivalent of $167 retail, which now is in effect.

Congress is racing to get the bill to President Johnson so that he can sign it before midnight. If it does not become law by then, the old limit of $500 based on wholesale value will go into effect Thursday.

Under the compromise bill, the present law, with its $100 wholesale ceiling, will stay in effect through Sept. 30. This is to protect tourists already abroad, or with plans to make such a trip this summer.

The Senate passed the legislation 61-31 Tuesday.

Johnson had asked Congress to lower the duty-free exemption to $50 retail effective Thursday.

The Treasury estimated the administration proposal would mean a balance of payments position improvement of about $100 million annually. It pegged the $100 retail limit savings at about $55 million.

Although House and Senate agree on a duty-free allowance figure, they differ on three other sections of the measure, thus sending it to a hurry-up conference.

Existing law expires at midnight tonight, and any new law must be signed by Johnson by then or an older law will go back into effect. That one allowed a $500 wholesale exemption.

Project At Dallas Gets Senate Okay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The controversial Dallas federal building was approved by the full Senate Appropriations Committee today. Sen Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., reported.

Four other major Texas projects also were approved by the committee, including $2,379,000 for a Lubbock structure.

The Dallas federal center has been an issue in Congress for 15 years.

The proposal now must go to a conference committee for a compromise between House and Senate versions. The House version does not include the $26 million Dallas center.

Sen. Yarborough, a member of the full committee, said these other projects also were approved in the independent offices appropriation bill:

The San Antonio VA hospital, $800,000 for planning.

A Lubbock postoffice, court house and office building, $824,000 for site and expenses and $1,555,000 for construction. This is $101,000 more than in the House bill for construction.

A border patrol station headquarters at Laredo, $100,000 for site and expenses.

A Rockwall post office and offices structure, $72,000 for site and expenses.

Mexico Negotiating $90 Million Loan

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Minister of Public Works Gilberto Valenzuela has disclosed the government is negotiating a $90 million loan from the Inter-American Development Bank for highway construction.

He said the new Mexico-Toluca highway will be completed by July 25.

The Puebla - Orizaba super highway will be completed early in 1966 and the Tijuana-Ensenda speedway will go into service next year.

Woman Is Accused Of 'Short Changing'

Doris Lorain Smith of Ft. Worth entered a plea of not guilty Tuesday afternoon on a charge of theft under $50. She was accused of "short changing" a service station attendant.

The arrest was made by Snyder city police. Bond was set at $750, which had not been posted at noon today.

Girls Good Field Hands

GOODLAND, Kan. (AP) — Jone Isernhagen, 15, paused to dry her face in the hot sun. She had hoed a quarter-mile of sugar beets.

"This work is O.K.," she said. "When it gets too hot we knock off work and return in the afternoon when it's cooler. The pay is good and the work isn't too hard."

Jone is one of several girls of high school and college age hired as field hands by beet grower Leo Hatcher. There is a shortage of braceros, field workers, from Mexico this season, but Hatcher says:

"I'm well pleased. They're (the girls) doing as well as the braceros did; possibly they're a little more careful. They're willing to work and they're no trouble. I like them."

The girls are paid $18 an acre, the same scale as the braceros. They thin out the beets and weed an average of seven hours a day and earn from $8 to $11.

Congo Marks 5th Birthday

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—The Congo celebrated its fifth birthday today with politicians crowing and the military marching. But the country's economy still is sickly.

Potentially it is one of Africa's richest countries, rich in industrial diamonds, copper, cobalt, uranium and other minerals. It has one of the world's great potentials for hydroelectric power, lush land and plentiful manpower.

But its economy is stagnant. One reason is the lack of security. Rebellion has racked the vast central African territory since its first week of freedom in 1960.

Hot Rod
"On tight corners . . . will hold its own with anything on the road."

Sports Illustrated
"On test runs at GM's Michigan proving grounds the Corsa started and stopped with no dipping, and it cornered—even at wild speeds—with smooth intent and no sign of sway."

Car Life
"We'd feed the Corvair into the turn with increasing force on the steering wheel, applying as much power as was available, and come scorching out the other end of the curve without so much as a tailwag."

Motor Trend
"Not counting the Corvette, Corvair has the closest thing to performance handling characteristics you'll find on this side of the ocean, with no sacrifice in ride qualities."

Sports Illustrated
"... a new American sports car that will be eminently acceptable at rallies but that can, in the American manner, double at church picnics."

Car and Driver
"We have to go on record and say that the Corvair is—in our opinion—the most important new car of the entire crop . . . and the most beautiful car to appear in this country since before World War II."

Car and Driver
"... the superfluous has been stripped away from a classic form and the result is a clean, beautiful car. The new Corvair's styling is going to attract most people—it's an obvious selling point. Its hidden virtue, handling, will soon become apparent to—and much appreciated by—the enthusiast driver."

MRS. FRANK R. KIOLBASSA

Miss Glenney, Lt. Kiolbassa Wed In San Antonio Church

St. Leo's Catholic Church in San Antonio was the setting for the marriage of Mary Elizabeth Glenney and Lt. Frank R. Kiolbassa on June 26th, at 7 o'clock in the evening. Rev. Leo Ebisch, C. M. officiated.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Julius G. Glenney, 2301 Fortysecond Street, Snyder, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Kiolbassa of San Antonio.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white peau de soie wedding gown. The molded bodice was designed with scooped neckline and long pointed sleeves. A beaded floral design accented the bodice and bell-shaped skirt. A beaded lace bridal hat held her veil of French illusion. She carried a white orchid surrounded by stephanotis.

Pat Fay of San Antonio was miad of honor. Bridesmaids were Shirley Gann and Mrs. William Powell, both of San Antonio, and Carolyn Glenney of Snyder, sister of the bride. Janet Roeder was flower girl.

Thomas A. Kiolbassa of San Antonio served his brother as best man. Gerald Jendrusch of San Antonio and George Glenney of Snyder seated guests.

Groomsmen were Edward J. Zatopek, Richard Bartoskowitz and Michael Lutich of San Antonio.

Acolytes were Richard Glenney, brother of the bride, and Lawrence Jendrusch.

A reception was held in the Confederate room in the McCreless Center. Tollie Martin registered guests. Those receiving and serving were Polly Chamberlain, Pat Rourke, Mrs. Ralph Glenney, Mrs. Harry Rank, Mrs. James Kilgore, Mrs. Tom Nicholson, and Mrs. Irene Kappmeyer.

A supper was given following the reception to honor the families, close friends, and out-of-town guests of the bridal couple.

After a short wedding trip the couple will make their home at 441 Gentleman Road, San Antonio.

Butterscotch Cheese Pie

1 1-3 cups graham cracker crumbs
¼ cup butter, soft
¾ cup sugar
1 package (6 ounces) butterscotch-flavor pieces (1 cup)
8 ounces cream cheese, soft
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 egg
2 tablespoons flour
2-3 cup milk
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
¼ cup orange juice
3 tablespoons corn syrup
2 tablespoons water

In a mixing bowl, blend together the crumbs, butter and ¼ cup of the sugar; press on bottom and sides of a 9-inch pie plate. Bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven for 8 minutes. Remove from oven. Sprinkle ½ of the package (½ cup) of the butterscotch pieces over the crust; let stand until melted; spread evenly over bottom and sides of crust.

In a mixing bowl beat together the cream cheese and butter to blend; beat in the remaining ½ cup sugar and the egg, then the flour. Thoroughly stir in the milk, orange rind and orange juice. Turn into prepared crust. Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven for 35 minutes. Chill. Before serving, turn the remaining ½ cup butterscotch pieces and the corn syrup into the top of a double boiler. Place over hot (not boiling) water; vigorously stir in the water; let stand 5 minutes. Serve warm over chilled pie.

Herbed Butter

Flavored butter is especially good on fresh garden vegetables, just cooked. Try adding savory, tarragon marjoram, basil, garlic salt or celery salt to butter. Stir in one of these seasonings to suit your taste and serve this herbed butter on uncooked vegetables, piping hot.

Barbecued Lobster Tails

8 frozen lobster tails (4 to 5 ounces each), thawed
1 cup butter, melted
1-3 cup lime juice
¾ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons vegetable bouquet sauce
¼ teaspoon sugar

Clip underneath each side of lobster tails and remove membranes. Slit fresh about halfway through down middle of tails; bend shells out toward back to crack in order to prevent curling. Brush flesh with marinade made of remaining ingredients; refrigerate about 1 hour. Place on grill, shell-side down; broil over moderate heat about 12 minutes. Brush generously with marinade; turn and cook 4 to 5 minutes longer. Turn again; brush again and serve with remaining marinade for dipping. Makes 4 servings — 2 tails per portion.

Family Again Faces A Question Of Race

BEYOND BOJADOR. By Charles Mercer.

The central irony of Mercer's novel is that a wealthy New England family, which has long been steeped in guilt over a slave - trading ancestor, now faces the problem of miscegenation in its own ranks.

Judson Lathrop, just turning 45, returns from Africa, where he has been expiating some of the family guilt as a representative of the U. S. State Department. (His father had served in Africa as a medical missionary.) Judson is being considred for a promotion.

But there are other things on his mind at the moment. He is about to ask his wife Marilyn for a divorce. He has been having an affair with a beautiful Belgian anthropologist, Lisette Fontaine, who follows him home.

Suddenly, the Lathrops' 21-year-old daughter Ann arrives to break the news that she wants to marry a young sociologist, George Carveth, with whom she has been working. She has invited him to meet the family. George is a Negro.

But before the family reaches the crisis point, the reader is given—through the device of an old journal—an account of a grisly episode that closed the career of the old slave-trader, great-great-grandfather Nicholas.

The Lathrops, of course, try desperately to handle the question of Ann and George in a "civilized" manner. In the showdown, Judson is ready to throw his career away, rather than stand in his daughter's way. The author succeeds in presenting George as a thoroughly plausible and sympathetic character, who knows the odds against him but cannot surrender without losing his self-respect.

The story is a little complex, and perhaps would have had more unity without the Judson-Marilyn-Lisette theme.

Hope For Human Dignity Shines Through Novel

YOU CAN'T GET THERE FROM HERE. By Earl Hammer Jr.

Hammer's novel is a wonderful blend of innocence and sophistication, giggles and tears, adventure and comedy, spun together with honest compassion. Don't miss it.

The story begins with Wesley (Wes) Wingfield Scott, 16, returning to New York from a summer vacation, spent with his grandparents in a pastoral haven in the Blue Ridge Mountains. He learns that his father Joe has been fired and has gone on a binge.

So Wes spends a very long Saturday on a wild Manhattan odyssey, searching his father's haunts and always just missing him by a few minutes. Wes is no neurotic adolescent mooning over his own emotional problems. He is a young man in search of his father's real image, and determined to help him.

Wes's journey turns into a nightmare. Because he is such an obliging soul, he is distracted and delayed by a nutty shoplifter, a lost boy and a lost dog. He wanders in and out of bars, talks with the cleaning woman in Joe's office, visits a tough neighborhood in Spanish Harlem; he rescues a sophisticated lady at the Plaza and talks to a drummer in a jazz spot.

Gradually you learn what Joe was like. Why did he crack up? Because he is a Good Guy who "has been carrying on an unrequited love affair with the world" and in the big city good guys have a hard time. Wes finds that everywhere his father has been, a life has been illuminated. Even the guy who had to fire Joe wants to help.

Of course this is a story about Wes, too, and Meredith, the warmly human stepmother whom the youngster loves. The reader gets to know these people surprisingly well in this book.

In his earlier novel, "Spencer's Mountain," set in the Blue Ridge, Hammer did a beautiful job of showing us that the human race isn't so bad after all. But that was in a simple, innocent world. Here he shows us that even in the neon jungle there is some hope for human decency and dignity. His humor is droll, not sick. His pathos is touching, not sticky. His people are alive.

You can't get a book like this very often.

B&PW Meet, Picnic, Held Tuesday

One of the Business and Professional Women's Club's prettiest picnics was held last week at the home of Miss Ethel Mae Sturdivant.

The backyard setting was surrounded by a profusion of flowers with a backdrop of a vegetable garden with squash, corn, cucumbers, beans, beets and okra.

The vegetable garden is a project of Miss Sturdivant's 83-year-old mother, who also fried large platters of chicken and made that old-fashioned cream gravy, like only grandmothers can.

Committees were named and the coming year's work seemed to be shaping up to a very profitable year. The club is offering a scholarship to some deserving pupil, and contributing to the Chamber of Commerce to defray expenses for the July 4th activities.

Thirteen club members and one visitor, the granddaughter of Mrs. Ennis Weathersbee from Floydada, was present.

Believe Break In Market Is Correction Of Past Excess

EDITOR'S NOTE — In this second of a two-part series on business at the halfway point, Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst, points out the strengths and weaknessese that will shape the economy the rest of this year.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market has been saying that it could have been too optimistic in bidding prices to record highs. Is business making the same mistake in pushing expansion plans higher? Are consumers in spending at record rates and in increasing their debts?

The second half of 1965 looks good largely because neither business nor consumer are giving any sign of changing their ways or their plans.

Most analysts still are saying that the stock market break is a correction of what stock traders apparently considered past excesses, rather than a forecast of a general economic downturn.

Pulling for further economic gains, at least through the next six months, are capital spending plans of business, consumer spending trends and the wherewithal to spend, and government spending plans and fiscal policies geared to the urge to keep the economy growing.

Roadblocks, current or potential, are first of all, the stock market jitters themselves, since a large portion of the public still regards the market as a barometer; international conflicts and uncertainties; monetary problems at home and abroad; labor strife in key industries and the upswing in production costs; rising prices in some basic materials; and inventory buildups that could get out of hand.

The plus and minus possibilities show up in most of the statistics.

For example corporate spending for new plant and equipment is due to increase the rest of this year and run up to 13 per cent ahead of 1964. This will give the economy a boost. But if production facilities expand beyond consumer demand, idle plants will become a drag on the economy.

Also personal incomes seem likely to go on rising. Employment is at a record high. Consumers have record savings on which to draw. But instalment debt also is at a record high. If consumer confidence is shaken by the stock market, by shooting wars, by any slowdown in factory production or drop in overtime pay, how quickly could this spread to a general economic slowdown?

The outlook still is for the second half of 1965 to be a good period for most business firms, workers, and consumers. It will lose status only when compared with the booming first half which topped expectations.

Junior Editors Quiz on STARS

QUESTION: Do stars really have five points?

• • •

ANSWER: The five-pointed star is only a symbol or design, for the light of real stars, coming from enormous distances away, appears as dots of light on photographic plates. The stars' light seems to twinkle as it comes through the different layers of the earth's atmosphere, and it is this twinkling which gives the effect of points. Such an appearance was noticed long ago. In the 600's B.C., a six-pointed star drawn with two interlocking triangles appeared as the symbol of Judaism, and star shapes were used by astrologers and magicians. In the days of knights in armour, stars became one of the heraldic symbols used to tell the knights apart. Exactly who designed our flag, the stars and stripes, is not known, but there is a legend that Washington wanted six-pointed stars on the new national emblem. As the story goes, Betsy Ross, a seamstress of Philadelphia, showed him that five-pointed stars would be simpler to make, and look just as well or better. To prove her point, she cut a five-pointed star with a single clip of her scissors. Then, according to the story, which may or may not be true, Washington was convinced and gave her the order to make the first official flag.

Wholesale Gas Hike Approved By FPC

WASHINGTON (AP) — A wholesale natural gas settlement for Cities Service Gas Co. of Oklahoma City providing for a rate increase of about $2 million was approved Tuesday by the Federal Power Commission.

The company had requested a $4.8 million increase and put higher rates into effect in April of 1964, subject to refund of any amounts exceeding what the FPC ultimately allowed.

Under the settlement Cities Service will refund about $3 million to 70 utility customers in Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Texas.

'Bird Dog' Pilots Find Excitement

By HAL BOYLE

DA NANG, Viet Nam (AP) — Once they screamed through the skies at speeds of better than 1,000 miles an hour.

Now they wheel and circle over the enemy in small, vulnerable planes that travel less than a tenth that fast.

They are "the bird dogs," a group of ex-jet pilots who act as forward air controllers for the American and Vietnamese air forces.

"Our job is pretty much like that of a bird dog," said Lt. Col. William M. Edwards, 43, of Los Angeles, Calif., who heads the air support operations center for the 1st Corps here.

"We fly down and mark the enemy targets, and then call in our fighters on them."

It is dangerous but exhilarating work. Their vehicle is a small, unarmored L19 observation plane that cruises at 90 miles an hour and probably could be brought down by a well-flung rock.

The combat function is crucial. Each plane carries an American pilot and a Vietnamese observer. They serve as the vital link between ground observers and the attack planes.

The "bird dogs" are supposed to stay above 1,000 feet for safety's sake, but for the sake of accuracy they often come down to tree-top level.

"Our biggest problem is to tell the friendlies from the unfriendlies," said Edwards, a chunky, red-haired former F100 pilot who has four sons.

"That's the reason we need to have a Vietnamese observer along."

Each "bird dog" plane carries four white phosphorus markers and seven white phosphorus grenades to pinpoint the target. They feel they've had a bad day if they miss it by more than 100 feet. Usually they hit on the nose. In the recent bloody battle of Quang Ngai south of here, they helped direct some 700 aerial sorties around the clock over a seven-day period.

Some of the "bird dogs" flew up to 19 missions during that week. They were so weary that they slept under the wings of their planes.

The 14 pilots range in age from 24 to 45. The oldest Lt. Col. Ellis E. Bruch of Cherryvale, Kan., formerly flew B57 jet bombers. He has two children. He has flown 230 missions since the first of the year.

"As jet flyers, most of us were a little apprehensive about the slow speed of our bird dog planes," said Edwards. "But everything has worked out fine."

Edwards minimized the peril involved although the Viet Cong hate these little snooper aircraft and try at every opportunity to shoot them down.

"It's really not so bad except when low ceilings force us to come down lower than we'd like to," he said. "Then they open up on us with rifles and 30-caliber machine guns. One of our planes came back with 14 holes in it. The other day some of our planes disappeared. We don't know whether they were shot down or not. They just disappeared in thick jungle.

"We've had four men wounded."

Cleveland Indians Move Into First Place In AL

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

A year ago Ralph Terry was trying to break out of the New York Yankees' bullpen and the Cleveland Indians were doing time in the second division.

Today Terry and the Indians are on the loose while the Yankees are where Cleveland was last June 30 — sixth place.

The torrid Indians took the American League lead for the first time Tuesday night by pounding Boston 8-5 as ex-Yankee Terry picked up his eighth victory of the season.

The tall-right-hander had won only two at this point last year and had lost his starting job. He was 2-6 with one complete game and a 6.95 earned run average.

"The Yankees tried to use me in relief," Terry said, "but I didn't go well and I think they gave up on me."

Terry, who had won a total of 40 games in the two previous seasons, wound up 7-11 for 1964 and was dealt to Cleveland last October.

He won four of his first five starts, then went a month without a victory before starting to roll again. Tuesday night's victory was his fourth straight. He has five complete games, two shutouts — including a 4-0 white-wash of the Yankees — and a 2.68 ERA.

The Indians' 16th victory in their last 18 games moved them one-half game ahead of second place Minnesota. The Twins edged Chicago 7-6 in an afternoon game, dropping the White Sox from a first-place tie into third position, one game out.

Washington, meanwhile, nipped the Yankees' five-game winning string with a 2-1 verdict over the defending AL champions, who fell 10 games off the pace and three under .500.

Baltimore topped Detroit 3-2 on Curt Blefary's two-run single in the eighth in the only other AL game scheduled.

In National League action, Pittsburgh and Cincinnati divided a marathon twi-night doubleheader, the Pirates winning the 15-inning opener 2-1, the Reds taking the second game 7-5. The Los Angeles Dodgers topped San Francisco 9-3, Milwaukee beat the New York Mets 8-6 and Philadelphia drubbed St. Louis 7-1. Rain washed out the Houston-Chicago Cubs game.

Minnesota pushed over the winning run in the last of the ninth on a double-by pinch hitter Bernie Allen, a sacrifice bunt and Zoilo Versalles' scoring fly. Smokey Burgess' two-run pinch homer had tied the score in the top of the inning. Jimmie Hall and Harmon Killebrew each drove in two runs for the Twins.

Frank Howard broke up New York southpaw Al Downing's no-hit bid in the seventh with a towering homer and the Senators won it in the eighth on an error by Clete Boyer, a wild pickoff throw by Downing. Bob Chance's single and Ed Brinkman's sac fly. Bobby Richardson doubled in the eighth and scored New York's run on an error by Ken McMullen.

John Orsino's single, Brooks Robinson's double and Blefary's two-base shot enabled Baltimore to end a three-game skid and take fourth place, one game ahead of the Tigers. Rookie John Sullivan had put Detroit in front 2-1 in the fifth with a two-run homer.

Joe Namath Ready For Football

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A lean, deeply-tanned young man in a green and white jersey with Namath lettered across the back, dropped back eight paces, set up and fired a long pass down the foul line at Shea Stadium.

"Okay, Joe, I'm satisfied," said a roundish little gent with a crew cut.

Joe Namath, the rookie quarterback from Alabama who is supposed to be getting $400,000 from the New York Jets, had passed his first postoperation test for Weeb Ewbank, his new coach.

"I expect Joe to be working with all the others on the first day at camp," said Ewbank. "I expect him to be the quarterback in our rookie game with Boston."

The Jets report at their Peekskill N.Y. training camp July 14 and will play the Boston rookies July 28 at Lowell, Mass. An intrasquad game July 31 at Baker Field in New York will precede the first regular exhibition game against Houston Aug. 7 at Alexandria, Va.

Namath, who underwent surgery on his right knee Jan. 25, will be tested thoroughly in those early games as John Huarte, his rookie rival from Notre Dame (a $200,000 prize) will be in Chicago working out with the All-Stars for their Aug. 6 game with the Cleveland Browns.

Because of the operation, Namath was excused from both last week's All-America game in Buffalo and the game in Chicago.

Their performances were one stroke better than defending champion Stuart Chancellor of Midland, Tex., Don Green Jr. of Phoenix, Ariz., and Stan Magnuson of Park Ridge, Ill.

Wimbledon Enters Finals; Ralston, Emerson Battle Due

By GEOFFREY MILLER
Associated Press Writer

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — America's Davis Cup captain said today that Dennis Ralston has a great chance to win Wimbledon and steel himself for the Cup battles ahead.

George MacCall, who has taken over the captaincy of the United States team from Vic Seixas, forecast a close semifinals battle today between Ralston, the American No. 1 from Bakersfield, Calif. and Australia's Roy Emerson, reigning Wimbledon champion.

"It will be an offensive battle on both sides," said MacCall, of North Hollywood, Calif.

Ralston and Emerson are fighting for a place in Friday's Wimbledon final. The other semifinal was scheduled between Australian Fred Stolle, runner-up for the last two years, and South Africa's Cliff Drysdale.

The United States is scheduled to play its next Davis Cup match on hard courts at Dallas, Tex., beginning July 31 — probably against Mexico.

Mexico has first to beat the winner of the British West Indies-New Zealand elimination.

MacCall said the American team will not be chosen until after the United States Western championships at Milwaukee Town Club July 5-11 and the National Clay Court Championships at River Forest, Ill., starting July 12.

Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., went through to the semifinals of the women's singles Tuesday with a 6-2 6-1 win over Australia's Lesley Turner — and found herself shouldering the American flag alone.

Nancy Richey of Dallas, Cliff Richey's elder sister, unexpectedly lost 4-6, 6-1, 5-7 to Christine Truman of Britain.

In the semifinals Thursday Billie Jeank will take on Maria Bueno of Brazil, the defending champion. Miss Truman plays Margaret Smith of Australia.

Religious Book Is Question In Bonham

AUSTIN (AP)—Does acceptance by the Bonham High School football team of a $2.95 religious book violate the Texas Interscholastic League's awards rule?

That's the question the league's executive committee was to consider this afternoon.

The rule states only awards in the value of $15 can be made during a school year, and the boys also received jackets costing that much.

The books, from the Seventh and Main Baptist Church of Bonham, were presented Dec. 17 at the high school football dinner. Titled "Play Ball," the volumes contain testimonials from 17 professional athletes and coaches.

Bonham compiled a 9-1-2 record in 1964, winning the Dist. 6AAA football title and reaching the quarterfinals before being eliminated from the playoffs.

Wichita Falls Has Two Sign Contracts

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—Two 18-year-old high school baseball players from Wichita Falls have signed contracts with major league clubs, both of the National League.

Davis Brashier of Wichita Falls Hirschi, an outfielder, signed with the New York Mets. Louis McKown, a lefthanded pitcher with Wichita Falls High School, signed with the Houston Astros.

Four National League coaches of last spring are managers this year. They are Dick Sisler, Herman Franks, Luman Harris and Red Schoendienst.

Dallas-Ft. Worth Wants Franchise

DALLAS (AP)—City Councilman William Cothrum believes Dallas could best land a major league baseball franchise by working with Fort Worth.

He said at this week's City Council meeting that a bi-county (Dallas and Tarrant) athletic commission would be helpful in bringing about such a development.

Cothrum and fellow councilman W. H. Roberts added their backing to an idea expressed last week by deputy mayor pro tem Joe H. Golman to the effect that Dallas needs an athletic commission and general sports center.

Spur Polo Team Wins Two Victories

Spur's polo team took two victories in matches held here Sunday.

The Snyder polo team was host to the teams from Ralls and Spur. The Spur riders won a close match, 10-8, over Snyder and then defeated Ralls, 9-6.

The Snyder team is scheduled to go to Spur for a match Saturday night.

American League All-Stars Selected By AL Players

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Felix Mantilla, a New York Met reject, was named today on the 1965 American League All-Star team which for the first time in its 33-year history failed to list a single member of the New York Yankees.

Mantilla, the American League's runs-batted-in leader, beat out Bobby Richardson of the Yankees for the second base job on the opening line-up which will face the National League's best on July 13 at Minnesota. The veteran Boston Red Sox infielder, who also has played the outfield, is the league's fifth leading batter with .317.

Third baseman Brooks Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles was the only repeater from the 1964 opening line-up. Robinson was joined by four players who made the team for the first time. They included shortstop Dick McAuliffe and left fielder Willie Horton of the Detroit Tigers, center fielder Vic Davalillo of the Cleveland Indians, and Mantilla.

Other starters, chosen by a vote of 280 league players, coaches and managers, were catcher Earl Battey of Minnesota, first baseman Bill Skowron of the Chicago White Sox and right fielder Rocky Colavito of the Indians.

In all, the American League starting team, exclusive of the pitcher, comprised two players each from Cleveland and Detroit, and one apiece from Baltimore, Boston and Chicago, and Minnesota.

Shut out, besides the Yankees, were Washington, Los Angeles and Kansas City.

Commissioner Ford Frick, whose office conducted the balloting, said the National League starting line-up will be announced Sunday, July 4. The remainder of the squads, including the pitchers, will be announced later.

Al Lopez of the White Sox, who will manage the AL All-Stars, was expected to name eight pitchers. Gene Mauch of the Philadelphia Phillies, will manage the National Leaguers. Each squad will carry 25 players.

The Yankees who, back in 1939 and 1940 had five starters in the opening line-up, managed to land two runner-up positions.

Catcher Elston Howard, sidelined for five weeks following an elbow operation, finished second to Battey. Richardson was runner up to Mantilla.

Other runners-up included Minnesota's Harmon Killebrew at first base, Zoilo Versalles at shortstop and Jimmie Hall in center; Cleveland's Max Alvis at third base; Boston's Carl Yastrzemski in left field and Detroit's Al Kaline in right field.

Last year's game was played at Shea Stadium in New York, where the National League won 7-4 to even the series at 17-all. One game ended in a tie.

The National League has won six of the last seven games.

Cards Trip Cubs; Tribe Tips Yanks

In Little League action Tuesday night, the Indians slipped by the Yankees 5-4 while the Cardinals nudged the Cubs 3-2.

Willie Garcia scored the winning for the Indians in the sixth inning in their victory over the Yankees. The Yanks had tied the score at 4-4 when Lewis Loyd had driven in Marvin McClanhan with a single. The Indians scored three runs in the fourth inning when four walks and a fielders choice allowed the Indians to score without a hit in the inning. The Indians scored five runs on only three hits in the game.

Bruce Almond pitched a no hitter for the Cardinals, but had one bad inning in which he lost his shutout. In the sixth inning Bruce walked four men and hit a batter in allowing the Cubs to score their two runs. Up until the sixth, Almond had very little trouble in recording his victory. The Cardinals had only four hits in the contest, and one of them was a double by Mike Blythe.

Believe Break In Market Is Correction Of Past Excess

EDITOR'S NOTE — In this second of a two-part series on business at the halfway point, Sam Dawson, AP business news analyst, points out the strengths and weaknessese that will shape the economy the rest of this year.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market has been saying that it could have been too optimistic in bidding prices to record highs. Is business making the same mistake in pushing expansion plans higher? Are consumers in spending at record rates and in increasing their debts?

The second half of 1965 looks good largely because neither business nor consumer are giving any sign of changing their ways or their plans.

Most analysts still are saying that the stock market break is a correction of what stock traders apparently considered past excesses, rather than a forecast of a general economic downturn.

Pulling for further economic gains, at least through the next six months, are capital spending plans of business, consumer spending trends and the wherewithal to spend, and government spending plans and fiscal policies geared to the urge to keep the economy growing.

Roadblocks, current or potential, are first of all, the stock market jitters themselves, since a large portion of the public still regards the market as a barometer; international conflicts and uncertainties; monetary problems at home and abroad; labor strife in key industries and the upswing in production costs; rising prices in some basic materials; and inventory buildups that could get out of hand.

The plus and minus possibilities show up in most of the statistics.

For example corporate spending for new plant and equipment is due to increase the rest of this year and run up to 13 per cent ahead of 1964. This will give the economy a boost. But if production facilities expand beyond consumer demand, idle plants will become a drag on the economy.

Also personal incomes seem likely to go on rising. Employment is at a record high. Consumers have record savings on which to draw. But instalment debt also is at a record high. If consumer confidence is shaken by the stock market, by shooting wars, by any slowdown in factory production or drop in overtime pay, how quickly could this spread to a general economic slowdown?

The outlook still is for the second half of 1965 to be a good period for most business firms, workers, and consumers. It will lose status only when compared with the booming first half which topped expectations.

Junior Editors Quiz on STARS

QUESTION: Do stars really have five points?

• • •

ANSWER: The five-pointed star is only a symbol or design, for the light of real stars, coming from enormous distances away, appears as dots of light on photographic plates. The stars' light seems to twinkle as it comes through the different layers of the earth's atmosphere, and it is this twinkling which gives the effect of points. Such an appearance was noticed long ago. In the 600's B.C. a six-pointed star drawn with two interlocking triangles appeared as the symbol of Judaism, and star shapes were used by astrologers and magicians. In the days of knights in armour, stars became one of the heraldic symbols used to tell the knights apart. Exactly who designed our flag, the stars and stripes, is not known, but there is a legend that Washington wanted six-pointed stars on the new national emblem. As the story goes, Betsy Ross, a seamstress of Philadelphia, showed him that five-pointed stars would be simpler to make, and look just as well or better. To prove her point, she cut a five-pointed star with a single clip of her scissors. Then, according to the story, which may or may not be true, Washington was convinced and gave her the order to make the first official flag.

FOR YOU TO DO: Get a perfectly square piece of paper, fold in middle (1). Holding the fold up, carry right hand corner down to a point two thirds down left hand edge and press flat (2). Fold upper left corner down (3) and then left hand side over on right (4). Now draw pencil line where you see dotted line and clip right across on line. Unfold and you'll have the star. 6-30

'Bird Dog' Pilots Find Excitement

By HAL BOYLE

DA NANG, Viet Nam (AP) — Once they screamed through the skies at speeds of better than 1,000 miles an hour.

Now they wheel and circle over the enemy in small, vulnerable planes that travel less than a tenth that fast.

They are "the bird dogs," a group of ex-jet pilots who act as forward air controllers for the American and Vietnamese air forces.

"Our job is pretty much like that of a bird dog," said Lt. Col. William M. Edwards, 43, of Los Angeles, Calif., who heads the air support operations center for the 1st Corps here.

"We fly down and mark the enemy targets, and then call in our fighters on them."

It is dangerous but exhilarating work. Their vehicle is a small, unarmored L19 observation plane that cruises at 90 miles an hour and probably could be brought down by a well-flung rock.

The combat function is crucial. Each plane carries an American pilot and a Vietnamese observer. They serve as the vital link between ground observers and the attack planes.

The "bird dogs" are supposed to stay above 1,000 feet for safety's sake, but for the sake of accuracy they often come down to tree-top level.

"Our biggest problem is to tell the friendlies from the unfriendlies," said Edwards, a chunky, red-haired former F100 pilot who has four sons.

"That's the reason we need to have a Vietnamese observer along."

Each "bird dog" plane carries four white phosphorus markers and seven white phosphorus grenades to pinpoint the target. They feel they've had a bad day if they miss it by more than 100 feet. Usually they hit on the nose. In the recent bloody battle of Quang Ngai south of here, they helped direct some 700 aerial sorties around the clock over a seven-day period.

Some of the "bird dogs" flew up to 19 missions during that week. They were so weary that they slept under the wings of their planes.

The 14 pilots range in age from 24 to 45. The oldest Lt. Col. Ellis E. Bruch of Cherryvale, Kan., formerly flew B57 jet bombers. He has two children. He has flown 230 missions since the first of the year.

"As jet flyers, most of us were a little apprehensive about the slow speed of our bird dog planes," said Edwards. "But everything has worked out fine."

Edwards minimized the peril involved although the Viet Cong hate these little snooper aircraft and try at every opportunity to shoot them down.

"It's really not so bad except when low ceilings force us to come down lower than we'd like to," he said. "Then they open up on us with rifles and 30-caliber machine guns. One of our planes came back with 14 holes in it. The other day some of our planes disappeared. We don't know whether they were shot down or not. They just disappeared in thick jungle.

"We've had four men wounded."

Wholesale Gas Hike Approved By FPC

WASHINGTON (AP) — A wholesale natural gas settlement for Cities Service Gas Co. of Oklahoma City providing for a rate increase of about $2 million was approved Tuesday by the Federal Power Commission.

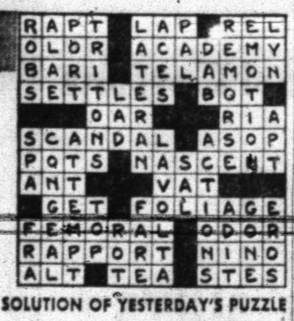

The company had requested a $4.8 million increase and put higher rates into effect in April of 1964, subject to refund of any amounts exceeding what the FPC ultimately allowed.

Under the settlement, Cities Service will refund about $3 million to 70 utility customers in Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Texas.

Cleveland Indians Move Into First Place In AL

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

A year ago Ralph Terry was trying to break out of the New York Yankees bullpen and the Cleveland Indians were doing time in the second division.

Today Terry and the Indians are on the loose while the Yankees are where Cleveland was last June 30 — sixth place.

The torrid Indians took the American League lead for the first time Tuesday night by pounding Boston 8-5 as ex-Yankee Terry picked up his eighth victory of the season.

The tall-right-hander had won only two at this point last year and had lost his starting job. He was 2-6 with one complete game and a 6.95 earned run average.

"The Yankees tried to use me in relief," Terry said, "but I didn't go well and I think they gave up on me."

Terry, who had won a total of 40 games in the two previous seasons, wound up 7-11 for 1964 and was dealt to Cleveland last October.

He won four of his first five starts, then went a month without a victory before starting to roll again. Tuesday night's victory was his fourth straight. He has five complete games, two shutouts — including a 4-0 white-wash of the Yankees — and a 2.68 ERA.

The Indians' 16th victory in their last 18 games moved them one-half game ahead of second place Minnesota. The Twins edged Chicago 7-6 in an afternoon game, dropping the White Sox from a first-place tie into third position, one game out.

Washington, meanwhile, nipped the Yankees' five-game winning string with a 2-1 verdict over the defending AL champions, who fell 10 games off the pace and three under .500.

Baltimore topped Detroit 3-2 on Curt Blefary's two-run single in the eighth in the only other AL game scheduled.

In National League action, Pittsburgh and Cincinnati divided a marathon twi-night doubleheader, the Pirates winning the 15-inning opener 2-1, the Reds taking the second game 7-5. The Los Angeles Dodgers topped San Francisco 9-3, Milwaukee beat the New York Mets 8-6 and Philadelphia drubbed St. Louis 7-1. Rain washed out the Houston-Chicago Cubs game.

Minnesota pushed over the winning run in the last of the ninth on a double by pinch hitter Bernie Allen, a sacrifice bunt and Zoilo Versalles' scoring fly. Smokey Burgess' two-run pinch homer had tied the score in the top of the inning. Jimmie Hall and Harmon Killebrew each drove in two runs for the Twins.

Frank Howard broke up New York southpaw Al Downing's no-hit bid in the seventh with a towering homer and the Senators won it in the eighth on an error by Clete Boyer, a wild pickoff throw by Downing, Bob Chance's single and Ed Brinkman's sac fly. Bobby Richardson doubled in the eighth and scored New York's run on an error by Ken McMullen.

John Orsino's single, Brooks Robinson's double and Blefary's two-base shot enabled Baltimore to end a three-game skid and take fourth place, one game ahead of the Tigers. Rookie John Sullivan had put Detroit in front 2-1 in the fifth with a two-run homer.

Joe Namath Ready For Football

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A lean, deeply-tanned young man in a green and white jersey with Namath lettered across the back, dropped back eight paces, set up and fired a long pass down the foul line at Shea Stadium.

"Okay, Joe, I'm satisfied," said a roundish little gent with a crew cut.

Joe Namath, the rookie quarterback from Alabama who is supposed to be getting $400,000 from the New York Jets, had passed his first postoperation test for Weeb Ewbank, his new coach.

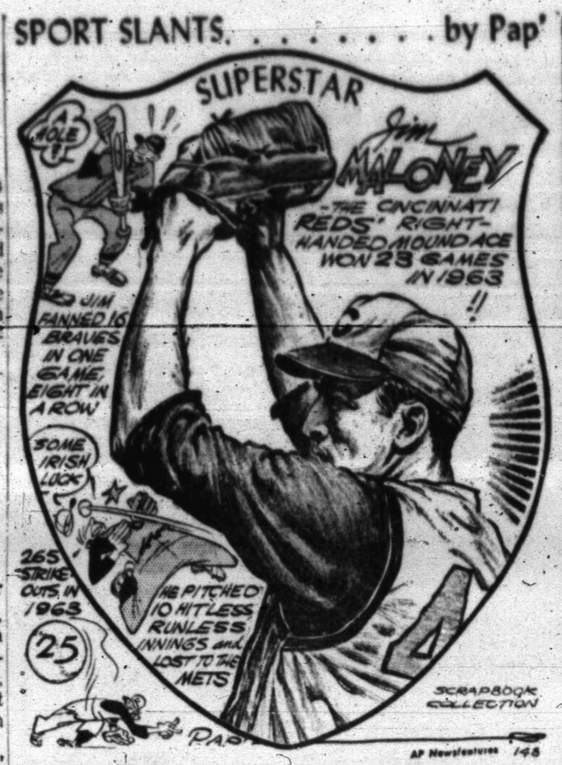

"I expect Joe to be working with all the others on the first day at camp," said Ewbank. "I expect him to be the quarterback in our rookie game with Boston."

The Jets report at their Peekskill N.Y. training camp July 14 and will play the Boston rookies July 28 at Lowell, Mass. An intrasquad game July 31 at Baker Field in New York will precede the first regular exhibition game against Houston Aug. 7 at Alexandria, Va.

Namath, who underwent surgery on his right knee Jan. 25, will be tested thoroughly in those early games as John Huarte, his rookie rival from Notre Dame (a $200,000 prize) will be in Chicago working out with the All-Stars for their Aug. 6 game with the Cleveland Browns.

Because of the operation, Namath was excused from both last week's All-America game in Buffalo and the game in Chicago.

Wimbledon Enters Finals; Ralston, Emerson Battle Due

By GEOFFREY MILLER
Associated Press Writer

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — America's Davis Cup captain said today that Dennis Ralston has a great chance to win Wimbledon and steel himself for the Cup battles ahead.

George MacCall, who has taken over the captaincy of the United States team from Vic Seixas, forecast a close semifinals battle today between Ralston, the American No. 1 from Bakersfield, Calif. and Australia's Roy Emerson, reigning Wimbledon champion.

"It will be an offensive battle on both sides," said MacCall, of North Hollywood, Calif.

Ralston and Emerson are fighting for a place in Friday's Wimbledon final. The other semifinal was scheduled between Australian Fred Stolle, runner-up for the last two years, and South Africa's Cliff Drysdale.

The United States is scheduled to play its next Davis Cup match on hard courts at Dallas, Tex., beginning July 31 — probably against Mexico.

Mexico has first to beat the winner of the British West Indies-New Zealand elimination.

MacCall said the American team will not be chosen until after the United States Western championships at Milwaukee Town Club July 5-11 and the National Clay Court Championships at River Forest, Ill., starting July 12.

Billie Jean Moffitt of Long Beach, Calif., went through to the semifinals of the women's singles Tuesday with a 6-2 6-1 win over Australia's Lesley Turner — and found herself shouldering the American flag alone.

Nancy Richey of Dallas, Cliff Richey's elder sister, unexpectedly lost 4-6, 6-1, 5-7 to Christine Truman of Britain.

In the semifinals Thursday, Billie Jeank will take on Maria Bueno of Brazil, the defending champion. Miss Truman plays Margaret Smith of Australia.

Religious Book Is Question In Bonham

AUSTIN (AP)—Does acceptance by the Bonham High School football team of a $2.95 religious book violate the Texas Interscholastic League's awards rule?

That's the question the league's executive committee was to consider this afternoon.

The rule states only awards in the value of $15 can be made during a school year, and the boys also received jackets costing that much.

The books, from the Seventh and Main Baptist Church of Bonham, were presented Dec. 17 at the high school football dinner. Titled "Play Ball," the volumes contain testimonials from 17 professional athletes and coaches.

Bonham compiled a 9-1-2 record in 1964, winning the Dist. 6AAA football title and reaching the quarterfinals before being eliminated from the playoffs.

Wichita Falls Has Two Sign Contracts

WICHITA FALLS (AP)—Two 18-year-old high school baseball players from Wichita Falls have signed contracts with major league clubs, both of the National League.

Davis Brashier of Wichita Falls Hirschi, an outfielder, signed with the New York Mets. Louis McKown, a lefthanded pitcher with Wichita Falls High School, signed with the Houston Astros.

Four National League coaches of last spring are managers this year. They are Dick Sisler, Herman Franks, Luman Harris and Red Schoendienst.

Dallas-Ft. Worth Wants Franchise

DALLAS (AP)—City Councilman William Cothrum believes Dallas could best land a major league baseball franchise by working with Fort Worth.

He said at this week's City Council meeting that a bi-county (Dallas and Tarrant) athletic commission would be helpful in bringing about such a development.

Cothrum and fellow councilman W. H. Roberts added their backing to an idea expressed last week by deputy mayor pro tem Joe H. Golman to the effect that Dallas needs an athletic commission and general sports center.

Spur Polo Team Wins Two Victories

Spur's polo team took two victories in matches held here Sunday.

The Snyder polo team was host to the teams from Ralls and Spur. The Spur riders won a close match, 10-8, over Snyder, and then defeated Ralls, 9-6.

The Snyder team is scheduled to go to Spur for a match Saturday night.

American League All-Stars Selected By AL Players

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Felix Mantilla, a New York Met reject, was named today on the 1965 American League All-Star team which for the first time in its 33-year history failed to list a single member of the New York Yankees.

Mantilla, the American League's runs-batted-in leader, beat out Bobby Richardson of the Yankees for the second base job on the opening line-up which will face the National League's best on July 13 at Minnesota. The veteran Boston Red Sox infielder, who also has played the outfield, is the league's fifth leading batter with .317.

Third baseman Brooks Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles was the only repeater from the 1964 opening line-up. Robinson was joined by four players who made the team for the first time. They included shortstop Dick McAuliffe and left fielder Willie Horton of the Detroit Tigers, center fielder Vic Davalillo of the Cleveland Indians, and Mantilla.

Other starters, chosen by a vote of 280 league players, coaches and managers, were catcher Earl Battey of Minnesota, first baseman Bill Skowron of the Chicago White Sox and right fielder Rocky Colavito of the Indians.

In all, the American League starting team, exclusive of the pitcher, comprised two players each from Cleveland and Detroit, and one apiece from Baltimore, Boston and Chicago, and Minnesota.

Shut out, besides the Yankees, were Washington, Los Angeles and Kansas City.

Commissioner Ford Frick, whose office conducted the balloting, said the National League starting line-up will be announced Sunday, July 4. The remainder of the squads, including the pitchers, will be announced later.

Al Lopez of the White Sox, who will manage the AL All-Stars, was expected to name eight pitchers. Gene Mauch of the Philadelphia Phillies will manage the National Leaguers. Each squad will carry 25 players.

The Yankees who, back in 1939 and 1940 had five starters in the opening line-up, managed to land two runner-up positions.

Catcher Elston Howard, sidelined for five weeks following an elbow operation, finished second to Battey. Richardson was runner up to Mantilla.

Other runners-up included Minnesota's Harmon Killebrew at first base, Zoilo Versalles at shortstop and Jimmie Hall in center; Cleveland's Max Alvis at third base; Boston's Carl Yastrzemski in left field and Detroit's Al Kaline in right field.

Last year's game was played at Shea Stadium in New York, where the National League won 7-4 to even the series at 17-all. One game ended in a tie.

The National League has won six of the last seven games.

Cards Trip Cubs; Tribe Tips Yanks

In Little League action Tuesday night, the Indians slipped by the Yankees 5-4 while the Cardinals nudged the Cubs 3-2.

Willie Garcia scored the winning for the Indians in the sixth inning in their victory over the Yankees. The Yanks had tied the score at 4-4 when Lewis Loyd had driven in Marvin McClanhan with a single. The Indians scored three runs in the fourth inning when four walks and a fielders choice allowed the Indians to score without a hit, in the inning. The Indians scored five runs on only three hits in the game.

Bruce Almond pitched a no hitter for the Cardinals, but had one bad inning in which he lost his shutout. In the sixth inning Bruce walked four men and hit a batter in allowing the Cubs to score their two runs. Up until the sixth, Almond had very little trouble in recording his victory. The Cardinals had only four hits in the contest, and one of them was a double by Mike Blythe.

Cards, Yanks In FL Wins

The Cardinals downed the Cubs 9-4 and the Yankees defeated the Indians 19-5 in games played in the Farm League Tuesday night.

The Cardinals scored seven runs in the fourth inning to erase a 4-2 lead by the Cubs. The Cubs scored four runs in the top of the fourth to take the game lead, but the Cards exploded to end the Cub threat. runs in the first and second innings to round out the scoring in the ball game.

The Yankees scored eleven runs in one inning and seven runs in another inning while limiting the Indians to five runs. Four of the five Indian runs came in the fourth inning. They had a single run in the second. The Yankees also had a single run in the third.

Odessa Man Burned In Highway Mishap

WICKETT, Tex. (AP) — Dan Yandell, 45, of Odessa was seriously burned Tuesday when his butane truck exploded after colliding with another truck 3 miles north of here in West Texas.

The other driver was not injured.

Witnesses saw the tank of the truck, carrying about 10,000 gallons of butane, skyrocket several thousand feet when it blew up. The blast downed power lines, burned grass and trees, and melted the asphalt pavement.

DOMINICAN REDS: How Big Was Their Role In Revolution?

EDITOR'S NOTE — More than two months ago, President Johnson announced the dispatch of troops to the Dominican Republic to prevent a Communist takeover. His action has been the subject of spirited debate ever since. How imminent was the Red threat? Did the Communists control the rebellion? Did the United States act too hastily? In the following article, AP Special Correspondent William L. Ryan, who has tapped sources in the Dominican Republic and Washington, examines the available testimony.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) — After two months of lingering crisis, heated hemispheric debate has failed to dispel a curtain of fog surrounding the issue of Communist potential in the Dominican Republic rebellion.

What are the facts? In a revolutionary situation, facts are difficult to nail down. This is even more the case where Communist operations are involved.

—From evidence of innumberable witnesses, it is clear the Communists took an active part after the fevolt exploded April 24. What is not clear is whether they had any role in plotting or sparking the rebellion, or had control of it at any time.

—It is generally agreed from the evidence and official observation that the revolt was launched by a group of disgruntled junior officers against President Donald Reid Cabral's regime. Nobody has accused the 30 or 40 professional military men in the rebel command of being Communist.

—Communist leaders moved swiftly into the situation. Left extremists took part in the early hours and continue to take a part. Even the rebel leaders acknowledge this.

—Early in the crisis, U.S. government sources issued a list of 54 persons identified as Communist leaders in controlling positions in the revolt. This list seemed hastily thrown together. It included names of a few known to have been non-Communist and others who for various reasons could not have had a role. This tended to weaken the contention that the Communists ran the rebel show.

—U.S. intelligence has produced a new list of persons identified as leading Communists in the revolt. This list contains 77 names and admits 11 of those on the original list of 54. The new list is reported to be part of a forthcoming U.S. white paper. Some Washington sources say they think that soon the administration will prove its case to Latin-American satisfaction, and if so, this will help repair the damage to the U.S. image wrought by the unilateral intervention.

The new list, it is known, details in almost every case what each Communist leader was supposed to have done in the first week of the revolt. It identifies many as having had Cuban or Communist bloc training. An accompanying text accuses Castro Cuba of having had close connection with Red operations in the Dominican Republic.

U.S. sources in Santo Domingo contend the Communists moved into control of most of the 20 commando units into which the rebel military organization was divided and thus could block a political settlement.

Col. Francisco Caamano Deno, 32-year-old son of a Trujillo era general and the nominal leader of the revolt, scoffs at this. So does his militia chief, Col. Manuel Ramon Montes Arache. Both are professional officers, as are the 30 or 40 others in the rebel high command.

Col. Montes Arache, examining the original U.S. list of 54, said he saw in the rebel zone only five of those named. U.S. sources insist that 43 on the original list of 54 were seen in the zone in the past few weeks. They say four others were captured and jailed, one was killed, five were spotted outside the Dominican capital, and all of them were members of the Castroist-dominated 14th of June Movement.

U.S. intelligence now puts the story together this way:

When the revolt erupted Saturday, April 24, the junior officers seized the 27th of February military camp and its arms. Civilians seized two radio stations in the capital and announced the overthrow of President Reid. Government forces later took back the stations, but the rebels already had called on civilians to join the rebellion in the streets.

By Sunday, all three Communist factions were active: the Moscow-line Popular Socialist Party—PSP, the violence-minded Popular Dominican Party — MPD, and the 14th of June Movement, which began six years ago as a non-Communist organization but was heavily infiltrated later by Castroists.

The U.S. account says that in the first hours, among the most active Communists were Narcisco Isa Conde, PSP central committee member; Diomedes Mercedes Batista, PSP member identified as a commuter to Havana, and Amil Abel Hasbun, of the 14th of June Movement.

The situation was wildly confused by Sunday. President Reid lost the support of senior officers, resigned and went into hiding. At this moment, U.S. sources say, armed PSP members harangued crowds at Independence Park downtown and shouted for violence.

Somebody convinced the rebel leaders they should distribute the captured arms to civilians. The Communists had been shouting the slogan: "Arms to the working class."

Several thousand civilians got machine guns, grenades, fire bombs and other lethal weapons. U.S. intelligence says a truck owned by Buenaventura Johnson Pimentel, a PSP central committee member, transported arms to the rebel zone, that his home was used to store arms, that machine guns were mounted on his roof and that his house was the meeting place for 50 members of the Communist strategy command.

The account says Communist leaders played a leading part in distributing arms, sometimes controlling the distribution. Other Communists — identified by name — incited mobs to destroy and burn, to kill police, to loot stores and homes, and were responsible for appeals to the rest of the country to demand arms for civilians and organization of "people's combat units," the report says.

There is a hint of vagueness in the second list of 77 names. The list specifically identifies only a few of the leaders as having been on the scene in the first hours of April 24. By the next day, apparently, more than 30 Red leaders were on hand. The rest are not identified specifically as having been active until April 27 or thereafter. The inference may be that the Communists are not ready for the explosion and swarmed in hurriedly.

The first U.S Marine landing April 28, the fourth day of the revolt, was announced as protection for U.S. lives. The massive military landings thereafter were to counter an assumed Communist threat to seize the island.

But arguments continue, even about the identities of supposed Communist leaders. For example, Col. Montes Arache acknowledges the presence in the early hours of Manuel Gonzalez a sub - chief of a commando unit. The rebels say he was a hero of the early fighting before the Marines landed.

U.S. intelligence calls Gonzalez an old-time Spanish Communist, member of the Cuban intelligence and a Dominican PSP leader who set up a commando post, helped distribute arms and took part in Communist strategy meetings during the crisis.

Gonzalez told The Associated Press he was on the U.S. list by mistake. He claimed membership in the conservative National Civic Union and said he was only a salesman of U.S. goods who joined the revolt "at the urging of friends."

U.S. sources in Santo Domingo estimate that more than half the rebel civilian army came from the 14th of June Movement. Said one U.S. official:

"That is not to say that they are all Communists. The 14th of June is pro-Castro and nationalist, and includes many types of people."

Communists now hold big quantities of arms, U.S. sources say.

"If the thing looks like it's over for the time being," said one official, "the Communist leaders will wait for a better opportunity. You can bet they won't give up those arms."

The U.S. case, which soon may be spread publicly and in detail on the record, is that there was much evidence of Cuban and Communist involvement in Santo Domingo, that Communists were in a position to assert control and that they threatened to set up a new Red base in the Western Hemisphere.

Balance Of Payments Has First Surplus In 6 Years

By ADREN COOPER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government winds up another business year at midnight tonight with one important account approaching a surplus for the first time in years and another running red ink for the sixth straight year.

Preliminary figures indicate that the U.S. balance of payments will show a surplus in the April-June period. This means that the vast volume of dollars in other countries will be decreased for the first time since 1957.

The surplus was achieved through a program of persuading bankers and businessmen to curtail loans and investments abroad. Prospects are good for balancing the international payments this calendar year, a goal which has been attained in only one year out of the past 15.

The federal budget will run another deficit.

Exact figures on the two accounts won't be available for about six weeks.

The budget deficit for fiscal 1965, the year which ends tonight, is estimated at $3.8 billion. This will leave the national debt at about $317 billion compared to some $312.5 billion a year ago. A year ago the deficit was $8.2 billion.

Revenues are rising rapidly, despite a series of tax cuts which began in 1962—but so is the cost of government. Another deficit, now estimated at $4.4 billion, is scheduled in the new fiscal year.

This is likely to be pared during the next 12 months since President Johnson takes pride in reducing the deficit each year. Both Johnson and Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler have talked about bringing the budget gradually into balance — possibly in 1967, more likely in 1968.

However, Johnson has made it clear that additional tax cuts are on the planning boards and his economic advisers say priority will not be given to a balanced budget if more government spending is needed to stimulate the economy and bring unemployment down.

Slum Shacks Are Vacated

MEXICO CITY (AP)— More than 1,000 families left slum shacks Tuesday to take up residence in the modern and functional houses of Unidad San Juan de Aragon on the northeast side of the capital.

Authorities helped move residents of the slum areas known as "Lost Cities," which lack sewage, electricity and water systems.

The shacks were gleefully abandoned by families who left behind numerous utensils and such household effects as wooden laundry basins and oil stoves.

Sociologists, who checked earnings of the former slum dwellers, said the income of many enabled them to live better but they had become accustomed to their way of life.

Scandal Inquiry Flares In Canada

OTTAWA (AP)—Chief Justice Frederic Dorion's inquiry into the Lucien Rivard bribery scandal has resulted in the resignation of Justice Minister Guy Favreau, but Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson says that is "only the first scene of the first act."

Favreau resigned Thursday night after Quebec's chief justice criticized him for dropping an investigation into an alleged offer of a $20,000 bribe to a prosecutor would help get bail for Rivard, wanted in the United States on narcotics charges.

Pearson said he would give Favreau another Cabinet post but that the justice department would look into the possibility of criminal charges against others assailed by Dorion.

Pearson added that his government wants to "deal with the sinister and growing involvement of crime in politics."

He said that Favreau, 47, a lawyer who is considered a top contender to succeed Pearson, would also continue to lead the Liberal party in Quebec Province. He said the Cabinet had given Favreau a vote of confidence and that his integrity remained unsullied.

Favreau said Dorion's findings amounted to no more than a statement that the chief justice "would have exercised his discretion in a different fashion" had he been the justice minister.

"My resignation was tendered, not out of a feeling that I had done anything wrong, but because of the feeling that my usefulness as minister of justice had been impaired," Favreau said.

Dorion criticized Favreau for deciding on his own to stop an investigation into an allegation by Montreal lawyer Pierre Lamontagne that a high government official offered him the bribe to drop his opposition to bail for Rivard. Dorion said Favreau should have instructed his legal advisers to make a full study of the case.

Rivard, 49, is wanted in Texas as the alleged kingpin of a multi - million - dollar heroin smuggling operation. He escaped from a Montreal jail March 2 and is still at large.

Solons Are Critical Of CBS Film

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Shameful," "Degrading," "Immoral," "Lousy," and "Double lousy," said the Republican senators.

Those were some of the adjectives they applied Tuesday to a 90-minute rock 'n' roll type film about the administration's anti-poverty program which was shown on the CBS television network Tuesday night.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, the Senate Republican leader, and Sen. Gordon Allott, R-Colo., led the verbal attack. Allott said he phoned the president of CBS and told him, "I am about to throw up."

But here's what Holmes Brown, speaking for the Office of Economic Opportunity headed by Sargent Shriver, had to say in the film's defense:

"My three children saw the program and liked it. I saw nothing immoral, degrading or shameful about it, and neither did my son, who is preparing for the ministry.

"Our purpose was to reach a section of the population between 16 and 22. Knowing that they watch TV a lot, particularly rock 'n' roll shows, we knew we would be able to attract that group.

"We were pleasantly surprised it drew such a big audience, and if nothing else, it revealed the wide popularity of rock 'n' roll."

Brown emphasized that no government money was spent on the program. He said CBS donated the 90 minutes of network time and the performers donated their services.

The film was called "It's What's Happening, Baby." It was described as aimed at acquainting teen-agers with the antipoverty work of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Cracker Balls Being Seized

NEW YORK (AP) — Authorities around the nation are seizing cracker balls, tiny pellets which can explode when bitten.

The brightly colored firecrackers—about three-eighths of an inch in diameter—can be lethal when swallowed. The death of at least one child has been blamed on the pellets which look like candy.

The nearness to the Fourth of July, with its traditional use of fireworks, has accelerated the crackdowns.

Nine children throughout the country have been injured because they mistook the cracker balls for candy, the Massachusetts Department of Public Health said Tuesday.

The department warned parents and retailers to be on the alert for the cracker balls made with an outer coating of papier-mache material. The pellets are made to explode when thrown against a hard surface.

A Massachusetts official said inspectors had confiscated 450 boxes of the pellets under the state's hazardous labeling act. "To date," the official said, "nine cases of oral and dental injury have resulted in the country because these fireworks explode when bitten."

Career Gals Told To Use Lipstick, Watch Language

By JAMES CALOGERO

BOSTON (AP) — Career women competing with men for the executive suite would do well to carry no stick, save lipstick.

And watch your language, lady, there may be gentlemen present.

The advice was from Miss Jo Foxworth in a talk before the national convention of the Advertising Federation of America Tuesday.

She is president of the Advertising Women of New York and a vice president and creative director of the New York firm of Calkins and Holden.

She presented a code of ethics for the woman who wants to succeed and called it "Nine Commandments for Women in Business," as follows:

First: Thou shall try harder, thou need not be No. 2.

(It is the first order of business to prove to the men that we mean business about our careers).

Second: Thou shall know when to zip thy ruby lips an let the men do the talking.

(The longer we hold out on the men, the harder they'll listen when we do break down and give them the inside, straight picture).

Third: Thou shall not attempt to hide behind thine own petticoat.

(Petticoats don't hide nearly so much as they used to. Nowadays they're apt to reveal rather more than they conceal).

Fourth: Thou shall speak softly and carry no stick, save lipstick.

(All of us have known the female whose voice, under stress, goes up so many decibels that it could set fire to the fur on a rat's back).

Fifth: Thou shall serve thy lady boss as graciously as thou servest any man.

(How can we expect to survive as lady bosses ourselves if we give the girls above us a hard way to go—and keep insisting that we'd rather work for men?).

Sixth: When success cometh thou shall not get too big for thy bustle.

(A man grown too great for his own raiment is hard enough to take, but a woman who is too big for her own bustle is impossible).

Seventh: Thou shall watch thy language; there may be gentlemen present.

(A lot of our current smart talk drifted up to a polite society from the dock walloper, but when the girls start bandying it about it's particularly unsmart).

Eighth: Thou shall not match martinis with the men.

(Some women can drink some men under the table—but a man under the table can still be dangerous).

Ninth: Thou shall save they sex appeal for after 5.

(Sex around the office is like alcohol on the highway).

Miss Foxworth added: Anyone who trys to fathom the feminine mystique would be making a mistaque.

Apollo Excites Men Of Science

By ROBERT HEARD

HOUSTON (AP) — Six men of science can't hide their youthful enthusiasm when they talk about how they feel about being part of the Apollo moon program.

Two wanted in the program so badly, they revealed at a Manned Spacecraft Center news conference Tuesday, that they applied to become astronauts several months before space officials advertised for applicants with scientific backgrounds.

Another, Navy Lt. Cmdr. Joseph P. Kerwin, 33, said he heard about the National Aeronautic and Space Administration advertisement and "after reflecting on it about a second and a half I put in my application."

Dr. Harrison Schmitt, 29, astrogeologist for the U.S. Geological Survey at Flagstaff, Ariz., said: "I tied Joe (Kerwin) in the time it took to get in an application."

Dr. Edward G. Gibson, 28-year-old Newport Beach, Calif., physicist, said his wife Julia saw the ad in a Los Angeles newspaper.

"When she told me about it and I found out she was serious about it, I applied. I sometimes think she's more space-minded than I am."

Did any of them have to take a pay cut? All six indicated they did not.

"I think all of us would have done it for nothing," said Dr. Duane E. Graveline, 34, a physician at the space center.

The two who applied previously are Dr. Owen K. Garriott, 34, a Stanford University associate professor of physics, and Dr. Frank C. Michel, 31, a Rice University assistant professor of space sciences.

Michel applied in 1963 and was rejected because he didn't have enough hours in jet flying time.

Garriott filed an application 18 months ago "even though I knew it would collect dust." As soon as he heard that scientists were wanted, he filed another.

Donald K. Slayton, a Project Mercury astronaut and director of flight operations at the space center, was asked about the possible scientific value of adding a woman to America's space team.

"We seek the best qualified persons — male or female, it makes no difference," Slayton said, turning to see if Hess had any comment.

"Don't pass the buck to me," Hess said.

The two medical doctors among the new astronauts were asked their opinion.

Kerwin could think of no scientific experiment for which a woman astronaut would be necessary.

Graveline said he couldn't think of anything I could say that would be to my advantage."

No one asked Schmitt, the only bacheior in the group.

Auto Risk Rate May Be Probed

AUSTIN (AP) — Rep. Will Smith of Beaumont, a frequent critic of auto insurance rates, discussed the proposed 13.4 per cent increase in auto insurance premiums with House Speaker Ben Barnes Tuesday.

Smith asked Barnes to order a study of the matter, but said later that no decision had been made on the nature of the probe. He said Barnes indicated interest in the increase.

In 1961, Smith sponsored a resolution that led to a House investigation of a rise in auto insurance premiums.

The Beaumont legislator said he had visited members of the State Insurance Board and its staff to discuss the method by which rates were calculated.

"I'm not questioning their integrity—those men over there are as honest as the day is long," Smith said.

He added, however, that the people of Texas lack a clear answer to why their auto insurance premiums are rising.

Smith said he finds it hard to understand how the insurance board decides what percentage of premiums should be allowed to cover promotional costs, profit and home office expenses. The board allows 37 per cent of liability premiums for these items.

Jersey Pilot Wins Distance Contest

ADRIAN, Mich. (AP)—A glider pilot from Elizabeth, N.J., woh the first event, a distance contest, in the 32nd National Soaring Contest here Tuesday.

Use Your Own Judgment

The best judgment a homemaker can use in determining the decor of her home is her own. There is a good reason, too, since she must live with it the most and maintain it. In planning the color scheme for a kitchen, for example, use colors that suit you best, in materials that are easiest to maintain, such as ceramic tile for countertops and splashbacks. Ceramic tile is available in more than 250 different colors and an infinite number of designs. It is good judgment, too, to specify ceramic tile bearing the certification mark of the Tile Council of America. This hallmark guarantees first quality domestic ceramic tile wherever it appears.

Miss Grove Appointed To State Post At Convention

Approximately 917 members of the 186 chapters of Alpha State, the Delta Kappa Gamma Society, met in the 37th annual convention, June 10-13 at the Shamrock - Hilton Hotel, Houston.

"Action for Leadership" was the theme chosen by the State President, Miss Sarah Tobolowsky, Dallas. Present at the opening meeting of the Executive Board were Miss Ray King, Fort Worth, and Miss Lela Lee Williams, Dallas, International Founders. Miss King is a member of the International Administrative Board.

The President of Zeta Lambda Chapter, Mrs. Rita Carter, was honored at the Presidents' Dinner. Miss Virginia Grove was also present from Zeta Lambda Chapter. Miss Grove was appointed as State Chairman of the Publications and Publicity Committee for the biennium 1966-68.

Miss Elsie H. Lindgren, International Parliamentarian from Twin Falls, Idaho, speaker for the Presidents' Dinner, entitled her address "Sand and Salt" taken from a quotation by Randall Jarrell: "The tide comes in, the tide goes out, but the sand stays on the beach, and the salt stays in the sea." Miss Lindgren throughout her talk challenged members to stand for quality in membership and for lasting values. She challenged members with the question, "What has happened to our ideals?"

At the birthday luncheon, Mrs. Doris Hibbert, Sherman, presented the recipients of the State Achievement Awards. Dr. Lola Beth Green, Lubbock, presented the recipients of the scholarship awards.

At the first general session the following incoming officers were elected:

President — Mrs. Ruby Lee Lafferty, Kappa, El Paso. First Vice-President — Mrs. Bess Desmuke, Beta, San Antonio; Second Vice-President — Mrs. Mae Hope Reid, Delta Gamma, Jasper; Recording Secretary — Ella Mae Gehring, Beta Omicron, Houston; Corresponding Secretary — Mrs. Frances Lowrance, Kappa, El Paso; Parliamentarian — Jessie Sue Iota Denton; Committee on Finance — Elpha Lee West, Alpha Nu, Laredo, and Ilene Coke, Alpha Sigma, Port Arthur.

Prior to the Founders' dinner, Mrs. Sadie Ray Powell, Chairman of the State Committee on Nominations, directed the installation ceremony for the officers for the 1966-1968 biennium.

An original ceremony honoring the Founders was narrated by Miss Yvette Rosenthal, Galveston, past state president.

Mrs. Nell B. McMains, Texas City, Southwest Regional Director, spoke on Robert Frost's words, "Promises to Keep and Miles to Go." Mrs. Edyth Bosse, Dallas, co-chairman of the State Committee on Scholarships, directed the Corsage Ceremony through which approximately $600 was added to the state scholarship funds.

The convention concluded with the Memorial Service conducted by Mrs. Pauline Hix, Abilene, chairman of the State Committee on Necrology, at which 83 deceased members were honored.

The 1966 Alpha State Convention will be held in San Antonio.

Square Dance Club Holds Jamboree

The Shirts and Skirts Square Dance Club held their first annual "Jamboree" Saturday night at the rodeo pavilion.

It was reported that dancers from Lubbock and Big Spring joined the local teen-agers for the event.

No Drudge Center

The American kitchen has changed from a "drudge center" to a "living center." For many years, the kitchen was shut off from the rest of the home. Not so any more. Expanded use of materials such as colorful, durable ceramic tile have made the modern kitchen a focal point for family living. Heat-, stain- and water-resistant, available in more than 250 colors and an infinite number of patterns, domstic ceramic tile also can be guaranteed first quality when it carries the certification hallmark of the Tile Council of America.

Next time you need fresh lemon juice for a recipe, squeeze some extra juice and store it in a very small container in the freezer. Convenient to have on hand — and when you use it, there will be no squeezer to wash, dry and put away.

Festival Of Art At White House

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's June, and art is bustin' out all over the White House.

It's even upstaging the President.

From the East Room to the South Lawn, the mammoth Festival of the Arts has taken over for today.

Props, costumes, musical instruments, sculpture, paintings and photographs are in place and scores of performers are set to go on stage.

Nothing like it has ever happened at the White House — or probably anywhere else for that matter.

You could bump into Alexander Calder's huge sculpture "Whales II" on the lawn, or Helen Hayes preparing to serve as mistress of ceremonies.

A threesome from the cast of "The Subject was Roses" was catching up on rehearsal time they missed Sunday night to get a Tony award for the best play of the year.

All the White House was a stage for men and women of the arts at the invitation of President and Mrs. Johnson.

Mrs. Johnson, opening the festival she called "a rich feast indeed," declared all of the arts "are warmly welcomed in this house."

She gave a special salute to "the men and women who create all these wondrous things for our mind's pleasure and our soul's delight."

She said in her prepared remarks they had "earned the gratitude of every American for the beauty, the meaning and the zest you are contributing to our lives."

"There would be nothing for the rest of us to support if a very few did not make the personal sacrifices necessary for the arduous act of creativeness," the First Lady noted.

The Johnsons returned from a weekend at their Texas ranch to take part in the day-long events at the White House that ranged from dramatic performances and readings on the stage of the East Room to jazz and sculpture on the South Lawn.

College Towns Fertile Ground For Telephone Co.

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Your youngster's love for the telephone increasingly is carrying right through to the college years. And the rapid increase in the number seeking higher education is affording new growth for the nation's telephone industry.

As the colleges and universities expand so do the communities in which they and their branches are located. This, too, means more business for the phone company, whether it be the Bell System or the 2,500 independent companies. Many of the latter serve the smaller communities where small colleges are booming with the teenage population explosion.

In rapidly growing education institutions private automatic branch exchanges are being installed to serve dorms and faculty offices. Data transmission networks now link the several campuses of many college or universities.

Lectures by phone from a distant city are a commonplace of the new education. So is closed-circuit television instruction over phone lines serving students in many classrooms.

Today's more affluent college students — now estimated to spend around $4 billion a year for necessities and conveniences beyond tuition and dorm fees — are demanding more phones and using them more, both locally and long distance.

Phone companies are offering both this general service and some highly specialized ones.

Example: In central Texas five universities are linked with a circuit that provides access to their collective store of two million books through interuniversity library cards issued to faculty, staff and graduate students.

A wanted book can be located almost instantly in one of the five schools. The universities are: North Texas State and Texas Woman's, both at Denton; Southern Methodist and University of Texas Southwestern Medical School, both at Dallas; and Texas Christian at Fort Worth.

How business is growing as colleges expand is shown in Illinois. The General Telephone Co. of Illinois has burgeoned along with Southern Illinois University at Carbondale and Edwardsville. New conduit systems this year serve 800 new dorm room phones. A leased circuit provides voice transmission between the two campuses by day. By night it is used for data transmitters and for computers.

Willie Shoemaker has led the riders at Hollywood Park 15 times in the last 16 years.

Crash Attributed To Pilot Fatigue

WASHINTON (AP) — Pilot fatigue contributed to the crash of a Beechcraft C18 plane in which six persons were killed near Sonora, Tex., last March 28, the Civil Aeronautics Board said today.

"The most probable reason for the accident was disorientation of the pilot during night flight over an area of dark sparsely lighted terrain, resulting in a loss of control," the CAB said.

The party left Portland, Ore., for Victoria, Tex., the day before and spent that night at Salt Lake City. The CAB said the group, on reaching El Paso, Tex., apparently planned another overnight stay but changed that intention and departed for Victoria at 6:50 p.m.

Pilot J. F. Shelley, 62, of Portland looked tired and remarked that he had flown about 11 hours skirting weather. After a 20-minute rest in the pilots' lounge, however, he appeared refreshed. Flight conditions at the crash scene were clear but very dark, the CAB said.

Killed with Shelley were his wife Gladys, a student pilot; Mr. and Mrs. Oren Nicholls of Eugene, Ore., and Walter Fuller and E. S. Niemela of Portland.

CAB findings on other fatal crashes included:

Shortly after takeoff from Mercedes, Tex., March 13, a Curtiss P40 fighter plane en route to an air show at Harlingen, Tex., entered a slow roll 400 feet above the ground, pitched up, inverted and dived into the ground, killing pilot George Waters, 34, of Brownwood, Tex. Probable cause: "A loss of control during an acrobatic maneuver at an altitude too low to effect a recovery."

About 30 miles northeast of Laredo, Tex., a plane from San Isidro, Tex., crashed on a planned night flight to McAllen, Tex., killing all four occupants. The CAB said the pilot, James Auld, 25, of Edinburg, Tex., attempted flight which exceeded his ability and experience.

It blamed the crash on pilot disorientation during flight over dark, unlighted terrain in unfavorable night weather conditions. Auld was a student pilot, not rated to fly by instruments or to carry passengers. Killed with him were Felix Garza, Homero Garza and Thomas Pena, all of San Isidro.

Evangelist Dies

CLEVELAND (AP) — Dr. James W. Bright, 64, national secretary of the Division of Evangelism of the Board of Homeland Ministries of the United Church of Christ, died Monday.

STRICTLY 'NEW-HAT' EVERY DAY!

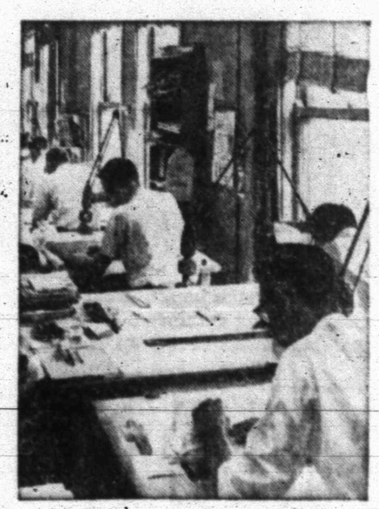

There's nothing brighter, fresher, newsier and more welcome than your daily paper. It keeps you current on world affairs, stimulates your mind, tickles your sense of humor, puts facts at your fingertips.

It's short-lived — but it grows old gracefully. Today's paper won't be dead tomorrow or even the day after that. So much that's in it is timeless as well as timely. Things like expert financial and medical advice, recipes, do-it-yourself hints, special features and stories, pictures — these are just a few of the ageless extras your daily paper gives you.

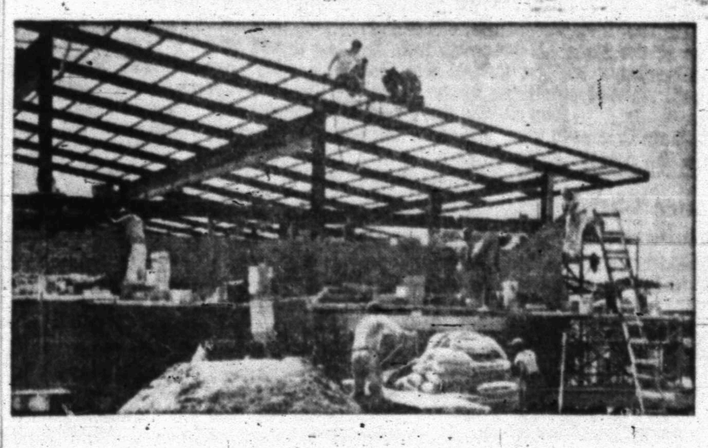

In this era of mass communications, your newspaper stands out as a tangible document. It's yours to read, put down, pick up and read again, clip and save.

The Snyder Daily News

It takes a lot of "outside" help to get this year's big telephone job done...

This year Southwestern Bell is investing nearly $1 million a day in an intensified construction effort to make your telephone service (already the most modern and reliable in the world) even better.

These construction dollars, pouring into communities large and small, account for some 17,500 jobs among the hundreds of firms which sell supplies, services and materials to the telephone company.

These jobs mean more paydays for secretaries, accountants, architects, bricklayers, carpenters, engineers, truck drivers, bulldozer operators, ditch diggers—thousands of people who aren't telephone company employees.

There's another tangible benefit, too. Because hundreds of individual projects affect virtually every telephone exchange we serve, the economic impact in these communities will be significant and widespread.

That's how Southwestern Bell's construction program works to help build a more prosperous America. You, personally, will benefit through even better telephone service. "Your Town, USA" benefits from a surge of new dollars into the local economy.

Pressmen Plan Huge Dallas Meet

BONHAM, Tex. (AP)—A joint convention of the Texas Press Association and the National Editorial Association, opening Wednesday in Dallas, promises to be one of the largest gatherings of newspaper people ever held in Texas, TPA President Aubrey McAlister said today.

Registration is expected to top 800 as members of the national association make their first trip to Texas in many years.

Among the headliners for the four-day program will be Ralph Callahan of Anniston, Ala., president of the Alabama Press Association, and astronaut Gene Cernan from Houston.

Callahan's talk Friday morning is expected to deal with Alabama newspaper handling of civil rights turmoil the last several months.

Cernan, a lieutenant in the U.S. Navy, is one of the third group of astronauts named in this country. He will speak Friday afternoon.

Other speakers will include Felix McKnight, Dallas Times Herald, speaking Thursday afternoon on "Where Press and Bar Collide," and Tom Meredith, classified advertising manager, Waco News-Tribune, Friday at 2 p.m. on developing classified lineage.

Presentation of awards in the 1965 Texas newspaper contest is scheduled at a breakfast Friday.

NEA will close their convention at an awards dinner Saturday night.

Newsman Takes Wild Ride: Jet Air Raid On Viet Cong

EDITOR's NOTE — the U. S. Air Force allowed correspondents for the first time today to ride American jets during air strikes against the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam. Here is a report on one strike.

By JOHN T. WHEELER

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Our flight of four jet fighter-bombers circled the Viet Cong village like silver birds lining up for the attack.

A smoke bomb dropped by a liaison plane marked the target, a cluster of huts in the jungle near Route 19 about 260 miles northeast of Saigon.

Pilot Nelson of Warwood, Va., was at the controls of the F100 Super Sabre in which I witnessed the raid.

The altimeter unwound like a clock gone mad and the plane plummeted at 450 miles an hour. It lurched slightly as two 500-pound canisters of napalm were dropped.

A moment later a corner of the village was a roaring hell of burning jellied gasoline.

Intelligence had reported that Viet Cong troops used this and several other hamlets in the area in recent bloody ambushes along the vital east-west road.

How many guerrillas and civilians died in the village may not be known for days. Ground troops ordinarily are wary of going into Viet Cong areas to assess the results of air strikes.

After his run, the pilot pulled up steeply to avoid a hilltop and banked left for his next pass.

As we continued turning, the second jet, piloted by Capt. Harold Stewart, Tulsa, Okla., released two napalm canisters and Capt. Robert Hires, Gary, Ind., turned in on his first run.

The forward air controller, who was running the strike from a L19 spotter plane, radioed corrections to the jets in a dry, emotionless voice:

"Mary 71, this is Yucca. Let's put the last load of nape (napalm) about three yards to the east. Then start with the bombs."

Capt. Ralph Havens, Falls Church, Va., dropped his pair of canisters. As he pulled up, the inferno caused by two tons of napalm consumed an area three times the size of a football field.

The FAC, as forward air controllers are called, then crisply called out instructions for the bombing run.

The nose of our plane again dipped sharply as we made a diving turn and the second series of passes began.

The pilot hunched forward slightly as he lined up crosshairs on the target. Then came the same jolt as two 750-pound bombs were released, and the same clawing drag of gravity as the plane pulled up.

On the ground, huts burned furiously. The forward air controller, who was flying slow enough to count, said eight huts were destroyed. But neither he nor the jet pilots saw anyone on the ground.

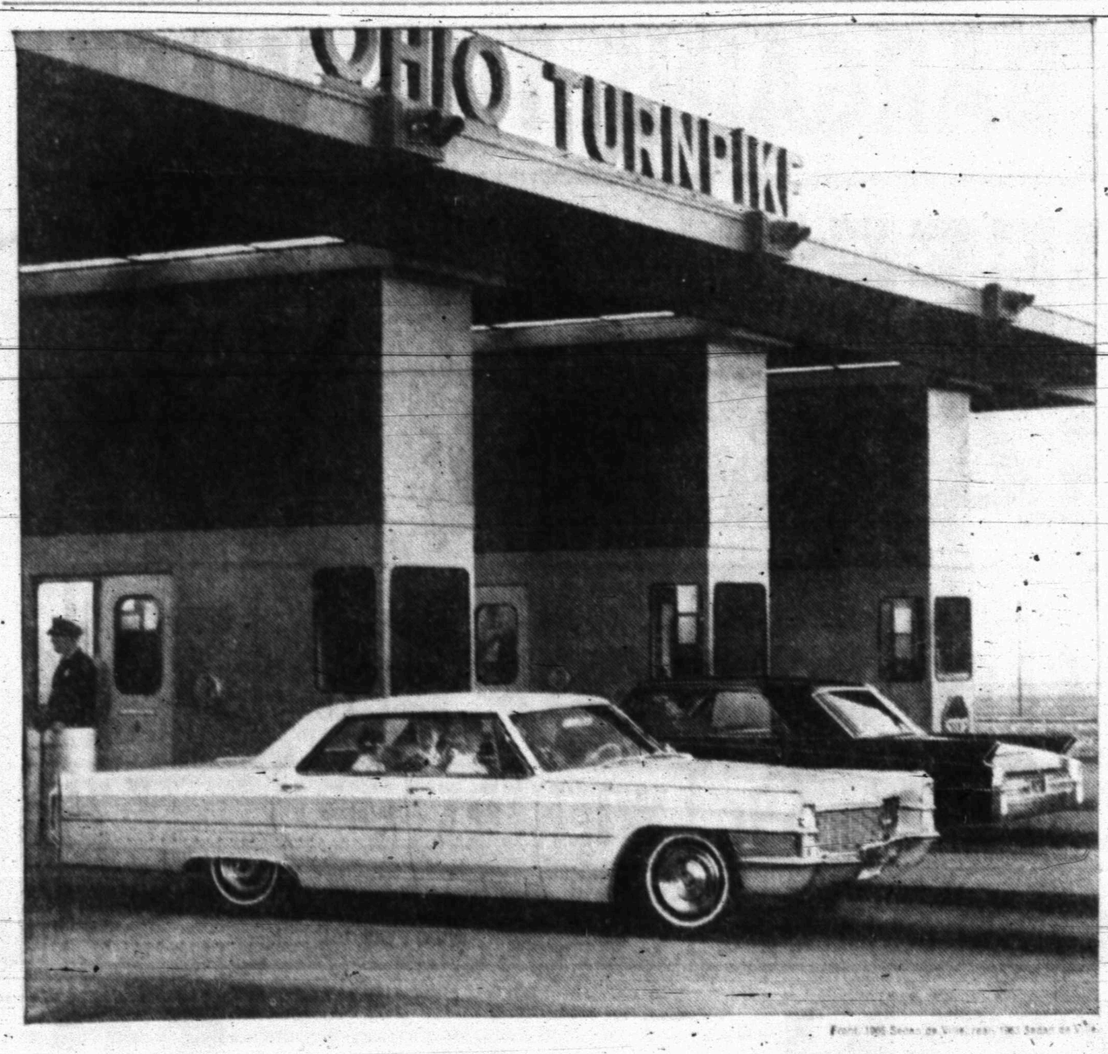

No doubt the villagers and the Viet Cong had taken refuge in foxholes and bunkers when the jets appeared. These afford some safety from bombs but not from napalm.

Water Tragedies Claim Four Texans

CONROE, Tex. (AP)— Four Conroe residents died Monday in two separate water tragedies.

Billy Edwards, 35, and his children Cindy, 6, and Larry, 10, drowned in the San Jacinto River. Edwards and his son jumped into the stream 4 miles south of here in an attempt to rescue the little girl.

Wilber Phillips, about 4p, drowned near Splendora, in Montgomery County, after his motorboat caught fire. Two children with him reached shore safely.

Rebels, Braves Take Pony Wins

The Rebels beat the Sports 5-3 while the Braves trounced the Dodgers 13-1 in last night's Pony League action.

The Rebels took their victory in the seventh inning when they scored two runs to break a 3-3 deadlock. Jim Patrick doubled in the winning run with his second hit of the night. The Sports held a brief lead in the fifth inning of 3-2, but the Rebels managed to take the victory.

Ronnie Lewis had a single, double, and triple in four trips to the plate and also scored three runs for the Braves as they beat the Dodgers. The Braves scored in every inning except the first. The Dodgers scored their lone run in the fourth inning after Jerry Northcott tripled and scored on a ground ball by Johnny Quiros.

Ron Taylor Is Traded To Houston Team

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ron Taylor left the St. Louis Cardinals laughing, the Pittsburgh Pirates moaning and the Houston Astros waiting anxiously for his arrival.

The right - handed reliever pitched the Cardinals to a 5-2 victory over the Pirates Monday night with 4 2-3 innings of shutout pitching. Moments after the game, word went out that he had been traded to the Astros for left-handed reliever Hal Woodeshick.

"I feel better about leaving this way — helping the team," Taylor said after his finest stint of the season. "Red (Manager Red Schoendienst) called me into his office and told me after the game."

Before Monday night's victory, Taylor had a 1-1 record. He had pitched 39 innings in 24 games and given up 22 earned runs for a 5.08 earned run average.

Taylor, 28, was 8-4 last season and played a big role in the Cardinals' pennant drive.

Woodeshick, 32, had his big year in 1963 when he was 11-9, with a 1.97 ERA and saved numerous games for the Astros. His record sank to 2-9 last season, but he had an ERA of 2.77 and still was Houston's ace in the bullpen. In 27 games this season, he is 3-4 with a 3.09 ERA.

The Cardinals also acquired right-hander Chuck Taylor, 22, from Houston's Amarillo farm club in return for left-hander Mike Cuellar, 28, of St. Louis Jacksonville team. The two pitchers will switch teams.

Spurs Regain First Slot In Texas League

By The Associated Press

Dallas-Fort Worth regained first place in the Eastern Division of the Texas League Monday, nipping El Paso 7-6 before 12,074 fans at Arlington. The crowd pushed the Spurs' home attendance for 21 games this year to 101,896.

Tulsa slipped a half game behind Dallas-Fort Worth as Austin scored twice in the top of the ninth inning to nip the Oilers 4-2.

Albuquerque and Amarillo battled through eight scoreless innings before a squeeze bunt by Tommy Dean in the top of the ninth sent Brack Bailey across the plate to give the Western Division leaders a 1-0 squeaker over Amarillo.

El Paso led Dallas-Fort Worth 6-1 going into the seventh, when John Boccabella smashed a three-run homer. Boccabella drilled a two-run double in the ninth to tie the score 6-6 and scored the winning run on an infield error.

Ace Tulsa relief Dennis Ausl took over in the ninth with the score tied 2-2. Butler Powell then hit his second double of the night to score J. W. Porter and Lee Tate, who had walked, scored on a fielder's choice.

Snyder Golf Team To Be Honored

Charles Bruce, golf pro, said also that a discussion would be held concerning the improvements which have been made to the club course, and also plans for further work to be done.

Tigers Face Alvin In Semi - Final Round

Snyder's fighting Tigers will open the state tournament in Austin at 1 p.m. today when they tangle with Alvin in the semi - final round.

For Coach Speedy Moffett, it marks the fourth time that he has taken a team to the state capitol to try for the most coveted schoolboy award that baseball has to offer, the state championship. The Tigers have never won the championship although they won the runnerup spot in 1960. They hope the lucky clover leaf number will be a charm this trip around.

In Class AAA, South San Antonio and Snyder are the only two teams ever to compete in the state classic. San Antonio is the defending champion and has won the state crown five out of the last seven years. South San Antonio will meet Waxahachie directly after the Snyder-Alvin contest.

Snyder had a light workout yesterday in order to eliminate the traveling kinks that they might have received from the trip to Austin. They practiced in Disch Stadium which will be the sight of today's contest. Alvin also worked out earlier in the day.

The Tigers will send either J. N. Wall or Jerry Owen to the mound to face Alvin this afternoon. Nolan Ryan, 19-3, will do the pitching chores for the Yellowjackets.

Farm League Has Braves, Sox In Wins

In Farm League action Monday night, the White Sox defeated the Indians 15-5 and the Braves beat the Cubs 12-5.

The White Sox scored in every inning in gaining their victory over the Indians. They scored six runs in the second inning and were never behind at that point. The Indians tied the score in the first inning 2-2, but fell behind in the second and could never regain the lost ground.

The Braves had two four run innings and one of them coming in the first in their victory over the Cubs. The Braves were never behind in the contest. The Cubs scored four runs in the fourth inning to come within a single run of the Braves, but could never close the gap.

Gold Jackets Defeat Blue Note Nine

Snyder's Gold Jackets defeated the Big Spring Blue-Notes by a score of 10-5 Monday night in Winston Park.

The win gave the Jackets a 4-0 record on the season. Gene Allison was the winning pitcher for the locals. Helen Goosby hit a booming triple scoring two runs that started the rally of the Gold Jackets.

After the triple, the Blue Notes could not make a substantial comeback.

Cubs And Sox In League Wins

The Cubs beat the Braves 3-1 and the White Sox downed the Indians 5-0 in Little League games played Monday night.

Catcher Scott Morgan drove in two runs with a single and double for the Cubs in leading his team to the victory over the Braves. The Cubs scored one run in each of the last three innings to take the win. The Braves scored their fore run the sixth and left the bases loaded in their attempt to catch the Cubs.

Jack Tovar and Robert Pharis again combined in a shutout pitching performance. The two pitchers only allowed three hits to be given, and they were all off the bat of first baseman Butch Buchanan. Buchanan got a double and two singles, but the Indians could never score. The White Sox scored three runs in the second inning in their victory.

South San Antonio Is AAA Favorite For Championship

AUSTIN (AP)—To bet against the South San Antonio Bobcats winning the Class AAA schoolboy baseball championship is risky at best.

The only team given much chance to stop them is Snyder's young West Texas team. Snyder gained the finals in 1960 but lost.

South San Antonio is 37-2 for the season. It won the state title last year and in 1963, and has taken home five championships in the past seven years.

Waxahachie and Alvin, also in Class AAA, enough to challenge the San Antonio club, which has an all-tournament battery when Johnny Guzman's on the mound.

Guzman, a 5-foot-7 righthander batting .310 was a 1964 all-tournament choice and has a 19-0 mound record this season. Catcher Meddie Lomas, also an all-star choice last year, is hitting .424.

Lefthander Eddie Tello is 13-1, backing up Guzman's pitching.

South San Antonio's only losses were to San Antonio Harlandale and McAllen.

Snyder, with only five seniors on the team, has four batters hitting over .300. Besides being runnerup to Seguin five years ago, the Tigers finished third in 1957 and fourth in 1958.

Tournament openers today sent Snyder against newcomer Alvin at 1 p.m., followed by South San Antonio against Waxahachie at 3 p.m.

Night games in the two - day tournament match Class AAAA teams—Brownsville vs Galena Park at 7 p.m. and Dallas Samuell vs. Austin El Paso at 9 p.m.

Losers in both divisions will vie for third place Wednesday afternoon and the titles will be decided that night.

Class AAAA appears to be a toss-up, with all four teams strong in pitching.

Should Stick To One Hitters

Jim Maloney Pitches No Hitter And Still Loses

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Maloney should stick to one-hitters. At least he wins them.

The Cincinnati ace finally pitched a no-hitter Monday night — and lost.

Maloney, who has won three one-hitters, blazed through 10 innings of no-hit pitching before losing a two-hitter to the New York Mets, 1-0 on Johnny Lewis' leadoff home run in the 11th inning.

The 25-year-old right-hander thus joined eight other pitchers who went through nine innings of hitless hurling only to give up at least one hit in overtime and lose.

Maloney, who also tied a National League record by striking out 18, allowed only two baserunners before Lewis lofted a 2-1 pitch against the extension on the center-field wall. Roy McMillan later belted a meaningless single.

"The ball Lewis hit was a fast ball," Maloney said dejectedly in the Reds' clubhouse. "I tried to jam him but failed. He hit the same kind of pitch for a homer off me the last time the Mets were here."

Lewis, who struck out his first three times at bat, said he wasn't even sure it was a homer until he saw the umpires signaling.

Last pitcher to take a no-hitter into extra innings only to lose was Harvey Haddix, who hurled 12 innings of perfect ball for Pittsburgh against Milwaukee in 1959. Last year, Ken Johnson became the only pitcher ever to lose a no-hitter in nine innings when the Reds nipped Houston 1-0 on an error.

In other NL games Monday night, St. Louis defeated Pittsburgh 5-2 and Chicago stopped Houston 2-0. In the American League, Cleveland edged New York 5-4 while rain washed out Baltimore at Boston.

Maloney, now 5-3, tied Warren Spahn's 1952 record of most strikeouts in an extra-inning NL game. The fastballer walked Ed Kranepool in the second inning and allowed Charlie Smith to reach first in the fourth on a wild pitch third strike.

The Reds had a chance to score a run in the fourth inning, but Vada Pinson was cut down at the plate, catcher Chris Cannizzaro to pitcher Frank Lary, trying to score from second on a passed-ball third strike.

The Cardinals continued their two-season mastery over the Pirates, beating them for the 17th straight time. St. Louis snapped a 2-2 deadlock with two runs on Carl Warwick's grounder in the fifth. Julian Javier came home when the ball got through shortstop Gene Alley, and Bill White raced across as left fielder Bob Bailey bobbled the ball.

Larry Jackson ended a personal five-game losing streak while the Astros lost their seventh in a row. An infield out brought in a Chicago run in the first, and Ernie Banks drove in the other with a fifth-inning sacrifice fly.

A two-base throwing error by relief pitcher Pete Mikkelsen paved the way for two unearned runs in the eighth inning that boosted Cleveland past the Yankees. Rocky Colavito singled across the tying run and scored the winning run as Joe Azcue singled.

ON U.S. SHRINES

Trio Convicted In Blast Attempt

By MALCOLM STEPHENSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Defense attorneys say they will seek a new trial for three members of the Black Liberation Front who face up to 10 years in prison on convictions of conspiracy to blow up U.S. national shrines.

U. S. Dist. Judge William B. Herlands turned down moves to set aside the guilty verdict, reported by a jury of 11 men and one woman Monday night.

The three men, all New York City Negroes, were convicted of conspiring to blow up the Statue of Liberty, the Washington Monument and the Liberty Bell in Philadelphia — all government property.

They also were convicted of smuggling dynamite from Canada for the planned demolition.

The three men could be sentenced to a maximum of five years in prison and a fine of $10,000 on each of the two counts in the indictment. They were jailed to await sentencing Thursday.

The three — who allegedly cooked up the plot as a protest against racial discrimination — are: Robert S. Collier, 28, the alleged ringleader and a former employe of the New York City Public Library; Walter A. Bowe, 32, who was a judo instructor at an East Side Manhattan settlement and a supporter of the pro-Castro Fair Play for Cuba Committee; and Khaleel A. Sayyed, 22, on leave from electrical engineering studies at Howard University, Washington, D.C.

Also to be sentenced Thursday is Michelle Duclos, 26, a Canadian white woman who has been active in a Quebec Province separatist movement.

Miss Duclos pleaded guilty to smuggling dynamite from Canada in connection with the destruction plot and testified for the government at the 18-day trial. The other charge in the indictment — conspiracy to destroy government property — was left in abeyance when the blonde Miss Duclos, former Montreal television personality, entered her plea.

The three men and Miss Duclos were arrested here last Feb. 18 by FBI agents and New York City police.

The plot was uncovered by Raymond A. Wood, 31, Negro undercover man on the New York City police force.

Wood, later promoted to detectives, infiltrated the Black Liberation Front. He was a government witness at the trial.

Texans Fail To Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—Neither Texas senator voted Monday night as the two-year $3,243,170,000 a year foreign aid bill passed.

Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., was announced as paired against Sen. Hiram Fong, R-Hawaii, who was for.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., did not vote and was not paired, but was announced as favoring passage.

New Cotton Bill No Simple Task

WASHINGTON (AP) — After several weeks of hearings, the House Agriculture Committee now must try to draft a bill to set up a new cotton program.

In view of the many and diverse views held by producers, ginners, cotton handlers and textile millers, and because of the enormous complexities of the matter, the drafting procedure may prove to be a considerable undertaking.

Chairman Harold Cooley, D-N.C., said he nevertheless is optimistic the committee will come up with an acceptable measure.

Specifically the committee has for consideration a bill introduced by Cooley to retain the present one-price program for cotton. It also would permit direct subsidy-type payments to growers and reduce the minimum national cotton acreage allotment from 16 million acres to 14 million acres.

Without some new law, the existing program will expire next year and the industry would return to the old two-price program under which domestic textile mills were forced to purchase cotton at the high government-supported domestic price rather than at the world price.

At present, under the law enacted last year setting up what is regarded as a textile mill subsidy, the mills now buy U.S. cotton at world price levels.

Whether the program actually is a textile mill subsidy is open to dispute. Rep. W. J. Bryan Dorn, D-S.C., told the committee Monday: "This is not a subsidy for the mills—this is only justice."

The committee has received numerous proposed programs from diverse groups.

Dallas Girl To Compete In Chicken Cooking Contest

Miss Janet Painter, 13 year old Hill Junior High School student of Dallas, has been awarded top place in Texas Chicken Cooking Contest with her oven barbecued chicken. The award allows Janet to compete in the National Chicken Cooking Contest, Junior Division, to be held in Salisbury, Maryland, June 17th.

Safeway Stores of Dallas will sponsor the Texas representative to the National Cook - off and makes it possible for Miss Painter to take her family on the trip.

This is the 18th Annual Chicken Cooking Contest and is sponsored by the National Poultry and Egg Board and, locally, by the Texas Broiler Council. The State Teen Chicken Cooks will compete for a top prize of $1,000 shopping spree in Chicago and numerous other prizes.

Miss Painter has plans to major in Home Economics after high school and says she became interested in foods and their preparation after learning that she was diabetic. She includes sewing and horseback riding among her hobbies, which she first learned while attending Camp Sweeney for diabetic teens near Gainesville.

While competing in the contest, Miss Painter, her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Painter, and her two older sisters, Gayle and Deanna, will attend the many activities of the Delmarva Chicken Festival, an annual event in Salisbury, Maryland.

Texas Finds Integration Fair Exchange For Aid

By PEGGY SIMPSON

AUSTIN (AP)—Potential loss of federal aid has proved a very persuasive factor in bringing integration to Texas public schools.

The Texas Education Agency reported Monday that nearly all school districts have filed either a plan for desegregation or a statement pledging compliance with the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

The alternative: Doing without federal money come September, when massive federal aid to education begins.

Texas' share in the new program is $80 million.

School districts in "impacted areas," near military bases, would be ineligible to be compensated by the U.S. government for educating military dependents if they refused to comply with the civil rights law.

There has been little outward protest against the sweep toward integration. Announcements of across-the-board integration in medium and smaller cities rate only perfunctory newspaper space. It seems to be an accepted fact that schools will comply.

The government isn't requiring total integration until September of 1967 as a basis for getting federal money. But the U.S. Office of Education must approve a district's desegregation plan or its statement of compliance before September.

Leon Graham of the Texas Education Agency noted that only 600 of the 1,150 school districts filing assurances of compliance with the civil rights act have received federal approval.

Most districts not hearing from the federal office operate dual systems for Negroes and whites. Graham said the confusion existed because the districts thought a mere statement of their intentions would suffice.

After some nervous weeks, 350 of the districts sent in specific plans for desegregation, often allowing Negroes and whites free choice of schools to attend.

Graham said 25 of the 125 districts filing desegregation plans in March have been notified of approval. An additional 13 districts won okays on the basis of integration regulated by court order.

Graham expects other districts to file definite plans by July 1.

Grazing Is Good In Texas

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas livestock is entering the summer in good condition because of ample grazing, boosted by widespread showers the past six weeks, the U.S. Department of Agriculture said Monday.

"All classes of livestock are generally in good condition," the department reported, adding that stock water supplies are good.

Heavy rains, wind and hail, however, damaged some High Plains wheat and tore up cotton in Bailey, Dawson, Lynn, Terry and Hall counties.

From the Low Plains southeastward to the Gulf of Mexico, generally open weather promoted cotton growth and enabled farmers to cultivate and spray for insects.

The department said combining of wheat and other small grains was active from the Caprock eastward to the blacklands. Planting of sorghum and cotton was pushed in the Low Plains with cotton cultivation and haying active in the eastern half of the state.

Wheat combining is 33 per cent complete, 18 per cent behind last year's pace. Oats combining and barley harvest also lags.

Ninety-one per cent of the state's cotton has been planted, and sorghum planting is 87 per cent complete.

Corn prospects look very good, the department said, and peanut planting is well advanced.

Most High Plains vegetable areas had good rains, but hail damaged some Hereford potatoes.

In the trans - Pecos area, rains slowed onion harvest at Fort Stockton. Cantaloups made good progress in South Texas.

Conflict Over Foreign Aid Moves Into Ideological Area

By GEOFFREY GOULD

WASHINGTON (AP) — The foreign aid authorization bill moves into a new area of ideological conflict between the House and Senate this week.

Passed by the Senate 68 to 20 Monday night, the $3.24-billion-a-year bill contains these major provisions not in the previously passed House version:

—A two - year authorization, rather than one year as in the past. House foreign aid leaders might not be too reluctant to go along with this, but it is coupled with:

— A two-year deadline, under which the foreign aid program will terminate in its present form. A 16-member special commission would be set up to map the future of the program and make recommendations.

— A far-reaching amendment giving the Organization of American States an important new role in channeling $25 million of U.S. military assistance out of the $55 million provided in the bill for Latin-American countries.

A conference between the two houses to iron out a compromise is expected to start its work Thursday.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, heads the team of Senate conferees. Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., his House counterpart, undoubtedly will head the House team. Other members of the House group have not been announced.

Morgan clashed earlier this year with Fulbright's idea of changing the form of foreign aid by channeling more of it through international lending organizations like the World Bank, and also splitting the economic and military assistance in two.

Morgan said he was unalterably opposed to splitting the bill, and he prevailed in the House. The House report that accompanied the $3.37-billion House measure declared against any need to change the form of foreign aid.

Fulbright was unable to split the bill in the Senate, but he backed the plan for the two-year cutoff and revamping process. This is likely to be the major point of ideological contention between the two houses.

The OAS amendment, which grew out of criticism of U.S. intervention in the Dominican Republic, was another Fulbright idea. It may win some friends in the House. It requires that future military aid to Latin America, even for internal security purposes, must be furnished "to the maximum extent feasible" according to plans approved by the OAS. It is designed to give a multilateral flavor to arms aid in the area to counteract the unilateral action of the United States in the Dominican Republic.

Weatherman Vital In Viet Nam War

By HAL BOYLE

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — Weather is one of the most important words in war.

Every American over here talks about the weather — usually in uncomplimentary terms — but Capt. Norman F. Jacobs is one of the few who does anything about it.

He forecasts it.

He also can explain the vagaries of the two monsoon seasons over here, which have most people baffled.

As commander of Detachment 9 of the 30th Weather Squadron, Jacobs has a vital role.

In war, both ground and air operations are to a great degree dependent on the weather, and it is his onerous task to predict it accurately as far in advance as possible.

In the operations office of the big Da Nang air base, the captain, 32, who comes from Los Angeles, directs 22 American and Vietnamese Air Force helpers. He also works closely with 20 employes of the nearby Vietnamese civilian weather station.

Every morning and evening at 8 o'clock they send up a large transmitter-carrying balloon which rises to a height of 80,000 feet as it sends down data on wind and temperature.

"At those sane hours other balloons are sent up at hundreds of weather stations around the globe," said Jacobs.

"Thus we get an instantaneous picture of the atmosphere throughout the world.

"The balloons stay aloft 1½ to 2 hours, then expand and burst. Sometimes one of them will fall into our ammunition area — and then there's a little excitement."

About 150 feet off the runway Jacobs has an air-conditioned, glass-walled observation shack which he describes as one of the most modern installations in Southeast Asia.

"It operates as the weather does — 24 hours a day," he said. "We send out hourly reports regularly, but sometimes as often as every 10 minutes.

"We even have a snow gauge. So far as I know it has never snowed here — but if it does, we'll be able to measure it."

Now, about those mysterious monsoons.

Most people think South Viet Nam has two seasons: The dry season, when the country is like an arid desert, and the monsoon season, when the skies open and flood down rain in torrents for six months.

The Viet Cong are supposed to welcome the monsoon season, because the bad weather keeps our fighter planes down and they can attack us with less risk of punishing air strikes.

Well, it isn't quite that simple.

"In a tropical climate such as this we can expect an afternoon rain in any part of the country at any time of the year, including the so-called dry season," explained the meteorologist.

"The word monsoon merely means weather caused by winds. There are two monsoons, not one.

"But by the time the winds reach Da Nang, several hundred miles to the north, the mountains have wrung out most of their moisture. So it is comparatively dry up here."

Crude Ouput Steady

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — U.S. production of crude oil and lease condensate held steady at a daily average of 7,675,000 barrels last week, the Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Kansas production was off 18,200 barrels a day.

Texas produced 2,628,300 barrels daily, up 16,700. California was up 1,100 barrels to 846,800.

Production in Louisiana was [illegible],200, off 200; New Mexico 33,800, unchanged, and Oklahoma 564,600, off 400.

Junior Editors Quiz on LENSES

QUESTION: What is the difference between a convex and a concave lens and what are they used for?

• • •

ANSWER: Lenses are disc-shaped pieces of glass or transparent material, cut so they will bend or change the direction of rays of light coming through them. The two most important ways in which lenses are ground are shown in our top picture in cross-section. Double-convex lenses have both sides curving outward; light rays coming through are refracted or bent so that they all come together in one point or focus. In double-concave lenses, the sides curve inward; these widen out the rays of light instead of bringing them together. Lenses have a great many uses. Nature has placed a little lens in front of each of our eyes. If these do not focus a little picture of what we are observing at exactly the right distance on the back of the eyeball, we use other lenses called eyeglasses to correct the focus so we can see things sharply. Lenses focus images on sensitive camera film, and enlarge our vision when used as magnifying glasses, microscopes and telescopes. It's great fun to make the telescope in our picture. Find a mailing tube for the main part and another smaller tube (or make one of stiff rolled cardboard) to go inside of it. Tape lenses inside. You can get these in shopping centers or from old cameras or optical goods, but be sure you don't use anything that belongs to somebody else.

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: If the telescope project looks too difficult, find a magnifying glass. Hold it close to your eye and look at something across the room, which will be blurred but upright. Move the glass away and the object will blur into nothing, suddenly appearing again sharp and clear but upside down. You'll learn the reason for this when you study physics. 6-15

Northeast Hard Hit By Severe Drought

By The Associated Press

A severe drought is plaguing most of the northeast United States, causing water shortages and threatening crops, an Associated Press survey shows.

"If we don't have about three weeks of rain, we'll have the worst drought in 70 years," says Herbert W. Peabody, of the eastern division of the Federal Extension Service in Newport, R.I.

One Rhode Island city, East Providence, has taken steps to curtail the use of water for watering lawns.

New York is one of the hardest-hit states. Crops are affected. Experts predict a situation similar to last year when 35 of 62 counties were declared drought-disaster areas.

In Onondaga County in central New York, the situation is the worst since 1907. Reservoir supplies are down 37 inches from last year.

Syracuse is building a 30-mile, $45-million pipeline to tap Lake Ontario.

Albany, the New York capital, must cut consumption by five million gallons a day — to about 20 million.

Throughout upstate New York, local governments have banned lawn-watering and car-washing among other water conservation measures.

In New York City all ornamental fountains have been ordered shut off. Restaurants are not permitted to serve patrons a glass of water unless specifically asked.

The U.S. Geological Survey district engineer says Maine has a "serious but not yet critical" drought condition. The engineer says that if the June rainfall is much below normal, some curtailment of the public water supply must be expected.

In Vermont, the outlook is bad for the hay crop, which would cause higher hay prices for dairy farmers, according to Agriculture Commissioner Raymond G. Rowley. Lake Champlain is near an all-time low level.

Recent rains have helped alleviate a drought situation in Connecticut, but rain generally is still about 5½ inches below normal since Jan. 1. Some water restrictions are in effect.

Nurserymen in western Massachusetts have stopped digging up plants, selling only trees and shrubs already on hand.

In New Jersey, Gov. Richard J. Hughes has declared a state of emergency in four northern countries and the city of Elizabeth to combat a critical water shortage. The restrictions include use of public water for car washing, watering of lawns and streets.

In New Hampshire, the outlook is reported gloomy for hay crops, especially in the western area of the state. The legislature was asked to approve a $100,000 contract for cloud seeding.

In some states, however, recent rains have helped tremendously.

In Maryland, heavy rains rescued the state from what could have been severe truck crop damage in the millions of dollars. Strawberry crops benefitted particularly.

After a serious two-month drought, almost all sections of Florida had substantial rains over a period of four days last week, except Everglades Park.

In some areas, rains measured as much as 10 inches. Everglades Park, which would need 10 inches to offset the drought conditions which caused a heavy loss of bird and animal life, got only about two inches.

No agriculture losses were reported.

Recent widespread rains also broke the grip of the drought in several other states including Mississippi, Georgia, Texas, Colorado and Nebraska.

Employment Law Effective In July

By NEIL GILBRIDE

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sweeping new federal law designed to eliminate acial discrimination on the job begins going into effect July 2, and eventually will cover most of the nation's employers, labor unions and employment agencies.

It is the equal employment opportunity section—Title VII—of the 1964 Civil Rights Act. It forbids employment discrimination based on "race, color, religion, sex, or national origin."

Who is subject to the law?

In the first year, employers with 100 or more workers are covered. The figure drops to 75 in the second year, 50 in the third and finally to 25 in 1968.

The same formula applies to labor organizations with more than 100; then 75, then 50 and finally 25 members.

Employment agencies are covered regardless of size.

Is anyone exempt from the law?

The biggest exemption under employers is the U.S. government, but the law says "it shall be the policy of the United States to insure equal employment opportunities for federal employes without discrimination."

State governments and their political subdivisions also are exempt.

So are Indian tribes and "bona fide" private membership clubs.

What constitutes discrimination under the law?

Generally, any action based on five points—race, color, religion, sex or national origin—that hurts an individual in his job, his attempt to get a job, his pay, working conditions, or privileges of employment.

An employer would violate the law if he fired or refused to hire; discriminated in pay, working conditions or job privileges; or segregated, limited or classified employes, on the basis of any of the five points.

A labor union would break the law if it barred membership, expelled a member, segregated its members, refused to refer an individual for a job, or caused an employer to discriminate, on the basis of any of the five points.

An employment agency would violate the law if it failed or refused to refer an individual for a job, or discriminated in any other way, on the basis of any of the five points.

It also is illegal for any employer, labor organization or employment agency to publish any job advertisement that indicates preference based on race, color, religion, sex or national origin. Government lawyers say a newspaper which printed such an advertisement would not be held responsible.

There are a few exceptions to the ban on discrimination.

It is not unlawful to hire on the basis of religion, sex or national origin if they are a "bona fide" qualification for the job.

Educational institutions are exempt in employment connected with their educational activities. Religious groups can hire members of their particular faith without violating the law.

The law also specifically exempts the hiring of Indians on or near a federal Indian reservation.

The protection for Indians follows general congressional policy of trying to help reservation Indians, who are wards of the federal government.

The law also sanctions job promotion based on a seniority or merit system, or hiring on the basis of an ability test, provided they are not used to mask discrimination. It also preserves veterans preference rights.

What are the penalties for violation of the law?

If conciliation fails, a complainant can file a civil suit in any federal court. The court can issue an injunction against any discriminatory practice, and can order the hiring or reinstatement of an individual with or without back pay.

The court can provide an attorney for the complainant and free him of all court costs.

Violation of a court order could, as in other cases, bring a contempt of court fine or jail sentence.

The law also provides a $100 fine for any employer, labor union or employment agency that "wilfully" refuses to post in a conspicuous place a summary of the law to be prepared by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

Criminal penalties up to $10,000 fine or 10 years in prison are provided for forcibly resisting the commission or any of its agents.

This Airman Bloody Well Objects!

By COLIN FROST

LONDON (AP)—A Royal Air Force hero mailed his royal decoration—member of the Order of the British Empire — back to Queen Elizabeth II today because he objects to the Beatles getting the same honor.

Former squadron leader Paul Pearson said he meant no insult to the queen.

"I hope she will realize she has been tricked into making a political award by her ministers," he said.

Pearson, wartime leader of an air-sea rescue squad in the Straits of Dover, accused Prime Minister Harold Wilson of recommending the Beatles for the award as a vote-getting gimmick.

"The award has been cheapened and debased," he said. "Hundreds of thousands of people who served in the war must feel as I do."

Pearson is the second holder of the M.B.E. to send his insignia — a heavy silver cross — back to the queen in protest at the award to the Beatles.

Hector Dupis, a former member of the Canadian Parliament, mailed his Monday, complaining he had been placed on the same level as "vulgar encompoops."

The Beatles, one of Britian's big dollar earners, were given the award in the queen's birthday honors list last week. Although made in the name of the queen, the royal honors are awarded on the recommendation of the prime minister.

The Beatles were saying nothing about the controversy.
