IN HIS MOUTH

Tiny Tot Burned By Wire

Little Jay Franklin Sanford put an electric wire in his mouth and almost shocked himself to death.

The 13-month-old toddler was severely burned in the accident Tuesday at his home 13 miles south of Loraine.

His mother, Mrs. Frank Sanford, rushed him to Johnson Hospital in Loraine for emergency treatment.

Later, the boy was hurried by police car escort to Young Hospital in Sweetwater.

RELATIVES Thursday morning reported his condition still to be serious, but improving. Earlier, the boy had been listed in critical condition.

Jay Franklin, just learning to walk, was believed to have grabbed an electric wire in the vicinity of the Sanford's kitchen refrigerator and put the wire in his mouth.

The accident happened at about 4 p. m. with the mother at home and the father plowing in a field at the farm.

MRS. SANFORD carried her son by auto to the Loraine hospital while neighbors hurried to inform her husband of the accident.

Loraine Police Chief Jack Brewer later sped the boy to a Sweetwater hospital. Sweetwater police provided emergency escort from Roscoe to Sweetwater.

Mrs. Brewer said the electric wire severely burned the toddler throughout his mouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanford live on the Virgil Wimberly farm, 13 miles south of Loraine. They are the parents of 13 children.

TRACED BY CAR LICENSE

Boy Admits Burglary

A 16-year-old schoolboy traced by an auto license number, has admitted the Friday night burglary of Burrus Grocery & Market.

The youth, who left a crude note on a blood spattered paper sack at the burglary scene, also attempted a break-in the same night at the downtown Sports Shop.

He failed to gain entrance at the shop, however, after shooting the back door lock with a pistol taken from the grocery.

County Attorney Frank Ginzel has filed juvenile delinquency charge against the boy. However, a hearing on the charge will not be conducted until additional investigation.

* * *

THE BOY WAS taken into custody because of a license number jotted down by alert police the night of the burglary.

Police spotted a car parked near Piggly-Wiggly, 203 E. Second, late Friday night and recorded the number for future reference. When the burglary and break-in attempt were reported next day, the license number was quickly traced to the father of the boy.

And the youth had used the car the night before and visited a friend in a rural area outside of Colorado City.

* * *

GINZEL SAID THE boy could give no reason for either the burglary or the second break-in attempt.

At the Sports Shop, located 141 E. Second, he had fired the stolen .22 caliber pistol four times into the door, hitting the lock once.

County Judge Elmer Martin, who serves as juvenile judge for Mitchell County, said investigation will be carried out in all phases of the case before a court decision is made.

* * *

BOTH THE JUDGE and county attorney already have been checking with the boy's parents, his school teachers, friends and into his past record of conduct.

Friday the youth will go to Odessa for conference

Bank Building Sold To Savings & Loan

Sale Told By Firms' Officials

City National Bank Thursday announced sale of its present building to Colorado Federal Savings & Loan Association.

The bank will vacate the building, corner W. Second and Walnut, upon completion of its new banking home.

Charles C. Thompson, City National president, said the new structure at Elm and E. Third, has a target date for completion early in 1960.

The transaction between the two Colorado City financial institutions was announced jointly by Thompson and Lewis B. Elliott, executive vice president of Colorado Federal Savings & Loan.

* * *

ELLIOTT SAID the bank building fits into the plans of Colorado Federal with its continued expansion of operations and business.

"Present location of Colorado Federal (137 W. Second) is just too small for our staff and business," the executive vice president said.

Thompson said that City National Bank officials "are pleased to have a fine financial institution like Colorado Federal Savings & Loan acquire our building."

"We believe construction of our new building and acquisition of our present property by Colorado Federal will be an asset to Colorado City," said Thompson.

* * *

THE CITY NATIONAL president said the architectural firm of Hedrick & Stanley of Fort Worth is now completing detailed plans for the new bank home.

New building site fronts 200 feet on Elm and 140 feet on E. Third with 50 feet extending east from the alley to Chestnut between E. Second and E. Third.

Colorado Federal was organized in 1934 with its first home in an upstairs office in the bank building. Later it moved into a location in the Sam L. Majors Jewelers building.

Twelve years ago the firm moved into its present location a half block west of the bank.

Why Gamble?

Yes, why gamble . . . when there's no chance of winning? That's the kind of gambling you're involved in when you drive your car beyond the recommended period without having the oil changed.

Although you may use the very best motor oil, such as Phillips 66 Trop-Artic*, there comes a time when the accumulation of impurities in the oil reduces its efficiency.

That's why lubrication experts say: the best motor protection is to use the best motor oil, and change it every 1,000 miles under average around-town driving conditions.

County Attorney Ginzel said the youth has stated he was alone when he committed the offenses Friday night.

Until the hearing, the boy has been placed in custody of his parents.

Two avenues of action are likely when the juvenile hearing is conducted: (1) placing of the boy on strict probation under a detailed set of regulations administered by the county judge, or (2) placing him in a state training school.

The youth is too old for admission in West Texas Boys Ranch at San Angelo, which caters to youngsters in trouble.

ANOTHER STATE CHAMPIONSHIP

Wildcats Win State Track, Tennis Titles

Colorado City's D. W. Wallace High School added two more state championships this past week to go with its state basketball title.

The Wildcats brought home the Class B track and field top trophy from Prairie View, in addition to the boys' singles title in tennis.

Coach Billy Smith's track team tied with McCamey for the title with 36 points each, and the two schools from the same district were crowned co-champions.

Wallace had previously beaten McCamey to win the District track championship in Big Spring.

Taking the boys' tennis singles was Jonathan Christian, who downed a player from Round Top, 6-2, 6-3, 6-1, for the title.

Then Christian combined forces with track star Ernest Biggers to win second place in the boys' doubles. They lost to a duo from Round Top in the finals, 9-7, 6-3.

Ernest was subbing for Archie Joe Biggers who became ill prior to the state tourney.

W. D. Harris, who coached his Wallace basketball team to the State Class B title this year, is also tennis coach.

It took a first place victory in the 440-yard relay and two individual first places to score the Wildcats' 36 points.

It was Biggers, Charles Lindsey, Curtis Alexander and Melvin Williams who toured the quarter in 45.8 to score 16 points for the Wildcats.

Picking up 10 points each were Elmer Randle with a winning 10 feet 6 inch effort in the pole vault and Tony Jones with a 44 foot 6 inch throw in the shotput.

Two other Wallace trackmen narrowly missed the scoring column which would have given the Wildcats the title outright. Melvin Williams finished second in his heat of the 180-yard low hurdles but placed fourth in the finals. Chester Christian, district mile run champion, finished fifth at Prairie View.

Wolf Pitching Staff

COP Seeks Two Wallace Athletes

Two D. W. Wallace High School athletes may attend College of the Pacific in Stockton, Calif.

They are Ernest Biggers, probably the greatest all-around athlete in Wallace school history, and Elmer Randle, another standout athlete.

Coach of COP came to Texas via airlines recently to offer scholarships to the Colorado City pair.

Biggers has played basketball four years at Wallace, going to the state tourney three years. This past season he led the Wildcats to the state title while making the all-state team. The 6-4 lad is an outstanding track performer, tennis and baseball player.

Randle was also an all-state cage player, state pole vault champion and baseball player.

Corpus Visitors

John S. Williams is in Corpus Christi this week visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Denman Rhea and son, Randy.

ERRORS ARE C-CITY'S DOWNFALL

Wolves Drop 3-AAA Opener To Snyder's Tigers, 16-2

Colorado High baseball team outhit Snyder here Tuesday but lost a 16-2 decision in the District 3-AAA opener.

Coach Ron Gurley's Wolves picked up eight hits to Snyder's seven, but committed too many errors afield.

Wolves face Lamesa there Tuesday in the second district contest and then host the Lamesa team May 1. The regular season will be finished in Snyder May 2. The scheduled has been changed to allow the senior boys to make the annual senior trip.

Wolves played the Tigers on a fairly even basis for the initial three innings here Tuesday, trailing only 4-0.

But then in the fifth and sixth frames, the Wolves allowed the Tigers a total of nine runs to lose all chances for victory.

It was little sophomore outfielder Spencer Dyer who paced the Tigers at the plate with three hits in five trips. Wolves' sophomore shortstop Don Vest rapped out two hits in four trips to pace C-City.

A Wolf error on an outfield fly allowed the initial Snyder run in the first inning. The Tigers increased the lead in the third when K. Drake doubled against the fence and his twin brother, Johnny, socked a single to centerfield, scoring Kenneth.

Johnny and Terry Lee came on across later in the inning on two Wolf bobbles.

Snyder increased the lead to 6-0 in the fourth when Dyer singled and Lee's hit was muffed by an outfielder to bring in two runs.

The roof fell in on the Wolves in the fifth when Ronnie Wyle walked, Dyer singled and Wolves committed three more errors for five runs.

Wolves' two runs came in bottom of the fifth when Ronnie Feaster singled, Jerry Treadwell singled and Bob Caffey doubled to bring in both runners.

Four more Snyder runs came in the sixth on a series of four walks and two errors. And in the seventh, a Snyder single and C-City error brought across run No. 16.

They will be battling the best in West Texas in all AAAA and AAA districts.

Loraine's foursome from District 16-B will be Marvin Wallingsford, Robert Galvan, Gary Parnell and Stanley Martin.

They won the mile relay in district and will be running that event on the Red Raider track at Texas Tech.

Galvan will also run the mile, an event which he won in district in 4:46.

Parnell and Martin will also run the 440-yard dash. They finished 1-2 in the district.

Sportsmen Linked To Conservation

This fact was pointed out in plain talk fashion recently by A. V. Sheppard, who heads the Soil Conservation Service staff here for Mitchell County Soil Conservation District.

In a speech before Kiwanians the conservationist traced the link of sportsman and landowner to the heart of conservation — proper use of land within its capabilities for the best balance in conservation of soil, water and wildlife. Both lose from improper use of land.

The fact has been proved again and again that when you take land out of its capability and try to use it beyond its capacity, then the landowner loses because there is no return from livestock or farming from barren land.

The sportsman at the same time should realize, too, there can be no wildlife on barren land. For when land is taken of its capability, then every dove, quail, deer and turkey is driven out.

Sheppard, who mixes a keen practical outlook with the technical side of conservation, urges sportsmen and landowners to recognize their common bound and work together in a common cause.

Naturally, a thorough interest and knowledge of the overall plan of conservation is a necessity for the hand-in-hand effort. But Sheppard outlined other practical, do-it-at-home-now approaches that could strengthen the link and bring immediate results in conservation and better outdoor sports.

After all the cost of purchasing, developing, maintaining and improving farm or ranch land is far from cheap. The expense is high. And sportsmen could aid in the development, assure himself of better hunting also, by providing feeders for quail for a landowner in exchange for proper hunting rights.

A group of sportsmen could pool together a few dollars for treating and stocking a stock water pond in exchange for fishing rights. Inexpensive treatment of a pond can increase the yield of frying size fish from 50 pounds to 200 pounds per year, Sheppard pointed out.

There is an important factor in this hand-in-hand project for conservation. The factor is respect — respect, first of all, by the sportsman to the rights and investments of the landowner.

Forward Step

Appointment of a joint committee to perfect proposals within a new Lake Colorado City regulatory ordinance can be applauded as a sensible step.

City Council has tabled action on the ordinance until a report from the committee, which is composed of representatives from both the council and Mitchell County Sportsmen's Club.

City Council in past years too often has been lacking in studious advise and support for a suitable lake ordinance. This year, however, leaders in the Sportsmen's Club have stepped forward with both.

The joint committee should work successfully for a suitable ordinance. Members of the club can offer the practical, workable proposals through their close and continuous observance as sportsmen on the lake. And the councilmen, naturally, can balance the committee with their working knowledge the city's needs and limitations.

PHILOSOPHER SAYS

School Has Back Seat to Student

Editor's note: The Shinnery Flats Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Bone Hollow Creek discusses education this week. It's a free country, and he seems to be taking advantage of it.

* * *

Dear editor:

When it comes to talking about education, I can speak without any conflict of interest, if you understand what I mean. And I was interested in an article I read some time ago about a famous educator who has surveyed the public education system in this country and announced that it was his opinion a high school to be really first class has to have at least 100 members in the senior class.

Since I didn't go to a high school that big when I was in school, I guess you can say he has a pretty good argument, but something turned up in the newspapers the other day that has got me to thinking.

It's about those seven men the country has picked to be the first men to fly off into space. As I understand it, the armed services searched from top to bottom to find the best equipped men, physically, mentally, etc., to make this attempt, and where did the top seven men come from? From small towns most people never heard of before.

Now I know some educator is gonna bust out and say the purpose of public schools isn't to train men to conquer space, but you'd think at least one or two of these superbly equipped men would come from a big city with a big school.

I know it's nicer to have well equipped schools, and the bigger the school the better chance it has of being well equipped, but I have a notion there are some people in this country it wouldn't make any difference what size school you put them in, they'd miss the boat. And on the other hand, there are some young people who make the boat regardless of how small a school they had to put up with.

I ain't saying if you go to school in a big high school you can't come out pretty well equipped to start getting educated, I'm just saying if you look around among the leaders in all phases of life and assume they all came from big high schools, you'll be a long ways from being accurate.

I've heard that a good school could consist of a good teacher on one end of a log and a good pupil on the other, but there are people who argue the whole thing depends on the size of the log. There are others who say this is true, but there's a shortage of logs.

But don't take my advice on this. As far as I'm concerned, logs are made to fish from.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

SPECIAL SESSION MORE LIKELY

Pressure Pushes Legislature As Session's Deadlines Nears

State Capital NEWS

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

With just about three weeks left in the regular session, legislators will be under much pressure — to do many things and do them fast.

Each day that passes without agreement on financial matters heightens the possibility of a special session as soon as this one ends.

Many measures will be trampled under or pushed aside until '61. But as Speaker Waggoner Carr told the House, the problem of raising some new money "won't go away. It has to be faced."

* * *

NO EASY OUT — Like every other tax proposal made this session, the huge "something for everybody" omnibus tax bill recommended by the House Tax Committee brought howls of protest.

It would raise an estimated $151,000,000 a year by raising some old taxes and placing new taxes on hundreds of items. Tabbed for increases are natural gas, motor vehicles, cigarettes, liquor, wine, beer licenses.

New targets include hotel rooms, restaurant meals, cigars, chewing tobacco, snuff, aircraft and auto parts, dozens of luxury items (jewelry, furs, cameras, watches, silver, radio and TV sets, machines, commercial rentals, club dues, construction materials, dance studios, reducing salons.

Officially, the bill is known as the Tax Committee substitute for H. B. 727. Unofficially, it's called a lot of other things.

House members showed no more eagerness to rally behind this broad-based approach than they had for Gov. Price Daniel's less "spread out" plan.

* * *

GIVE AND TAKE — Two appropriations bills of varying sizes have been passed by the House and Senate. Differences will be adjusted by a conference committee of members from the two houses.

Both bills call for spending nearly $2,500,000,000 during the next two years. House bill is slightly larger. It calls for approximately $333,000,000 from general revenue. Senate would spend only $307,000,000 in general revenue.

To satisfy both houses, the conference committee will try to reach a compromise between these two figures. However it's worked out, it's already clear that spending will considerably exceed the $281,000,000 spent from general fund for 1958-59.

* * *

ROUGH SLEDDING — Governor Daniel's "abandoned property act" barely squeaked by its first test on the House floor by a 71-69 vote.

Measure would allow the state to take over money and property unclaimed for seven years or more. Estimates of how much it would bring in immediately range from $20,000,000 to $50,000,000.

Many bankers fear such a law would cause people to be afraid to put their money in banks and decide to stick it in a sock instead.

Backers of the measure say the banks and other businesses are holding and getting the benefit of property that does not belong to them, should be used to benefit all the people.

* * *

CO-OP BILL SHUNTED— A bill to allow rural electric coops more "elbow room" has been sent to the Attorney General for an opinion.

Rep. Alonzo Jamison of Denton, sponsor, protested to the House State Affairs Committee that this would kill the bill. This late in the session, delay is usually fatal.

Highly controversial, the bill would allow coops to add new customers after the area of their lines is annexed to a city.

* * *

ADVERTISING BILL—A state-financed advertising program for Texas moved close to final enactment despite heated opposition from an advertising man in the Senate.

Proposed bill would create the Texas Development Board to supervise tourist advertising by the Highway Department and industry advertising by the Texas Industrial Commission.

Sen. George Parkhouse, an advertising man from Dallas, objected, not to the idea of state advertising, but to the way it would be handled. He declared the suggested $100,000 appropriation would be wasted.

But the bill gained final approval in the Senate and next-to-final passage in the House.

* * *

FIRE-POLICE GAINS — A shorter work week for many city firemen and policemen is near to legislative approval.

Senate has passed the bill finally, and a House committee has recommended passage.

Bill limits firemen's working hours to 72 in cities of 10,000 to 60,000 population, 63 hours in cities of 60,000 to 125,000 and 60 hours for all larger than 125,000. Policemen would work the same hours as other city employees.

City officials have protested the measure would raise local expenses and aggravate an already acute revenue-raising problem.

WASHINGTON REPORT

Price Supports Vs. Production

By CLINTON DAVIDSON
Special Correspondent

Farmers themselves have answered one of the most hotly debated questions in Washington — do high price supports cause excessive production?

Price supports for most crops this year average about 10% below last year. Farmers intend to plant at least five million more acres in the supported crops than they did last year.

Most of that increase could be explained by the ending of the soil bank acreage reserve program. While 17 million acres have been dropped from the acreage reserve, only 13 million acres have been added to the conservation reserve.

Farmers are planting more corn, cotton, wheat and rice, crops for which the smallest reductions in supports were made, and fewer acres in oats, barley, soybeans, grain sorgums and potatoes, crops less hard hit by support reductions.

* * *

THE ANSWER, obviously, is that the level of price supports has little or no effect on total crop production, at least not immediately. But, when farmers can they increase acreage in crops that have the higher supports.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson's entire farm philosophy has been based on the contention that high supports caused the accumulation of more than $9 billion worth of surpluses and that, therefore, low supports would result in less production.

Last year supports averaged 20% under both five and ten years ago, but total farm output was a whopping 11% larger than for any previous year. Total acreage was lower but yields per acre set an all-time record high.

Farm income was up a healthy 20% in 1958 over 1957 due to a combination of higher prices and record production. The Department of Agriculture now expects a 3 to 10% reduction in farm income this year, due entirely to lower supports and prices.

* * *

THE REMARKABLE IN-crease in farm production has been due to increased efficiencies that have upped yields per acre and pounds of meat and milk per bushel of feed; to better disease and insect control, and to greater use of fertilizer and machinery.

Some think the answer lies in forcing more farmers off the land and into cities where they would become consumers instead of producers. In the past five years more than a million farm families have moved away, yet production has continued to increase.

Small farms have been absorbed by larger neighbors, more efficient production methods adopted and total production increased. Squeezing the small, family-size farmer out isn't the answer, either.

About one out of every three farmers is receiving a fair income—$5000 or more net per year. They produce three-fourths of all crops and livestock going to market. Few of them are producing at full capacity.

LOCAL BUSINESS

There's One Sure Test for 'Pitch'

By JOE ED BOATRIGHT
Record Staff Writer

A good way for a merchant to test the relative value of an advertising medium would be to ask which would be his first choice if it were possible to use only one method of advertising.

The president of a large Montana department store recently asked himself the question and quickly found an answer:

"If I were suddenly restricted to only one advertising medium I would continue an aggressive business-building advertising investment in the newspapers," said Forrest Arthur of Buttrey Associates, Great Falls, Montana.

Rather than giving up newspaper advertising, Arthur said he "would board up the display windows, discontinue all interior and departmental selling displays, eliminate all show cards, discontinue all sales meetings, and stop all telephone selling . . ."

The department store executive was not deemphasizing the importance of other sales promotion methods. He was just illustrating the primacy of the newspaper in department store selling. "Newspaper advertising is definitely a profitable business investment," he said.

Among the main advantages of the newspaper over other media, according to Arthur, is the opportunity it gives the merchant to exploit the public's interest in the words "new" and "today." It is in the newspaper that the public traditionally expects to find the latest information on the newest products on the market.

Like many other retailers, Arthur feels that national advertisers would profit from a similar respect for newspaper advertising: He said: "It is wasteful folly to advertise a product nationally and not realize fully the final selling of the product must be done locally—by the local newspaper."

BIBLE COMMENT

Need for Church Every Sunday?

The person who says he doesn't "need" to go to church every Sunday, is quite likely the same person who wouldn't, of his own choice, miss any one of the principal meals each day.

Of his bodily needs he is unwaveringly solicitous.

However, perhaps unwittingly, he is existing on a spiritual diet definitely subnormal in content.

That thought is brought to mind by the remembrance of congregations swelled in numbers at Easter and Christmas, but far from at their maximum on Sundays the calendar around.

Many of us lack the will to pursue a course of Bible study or religious instruction, consistently, of our own will.

Through our regular attendance at church we receive the "foods" necessary for spiritual health and well-being.

The lessons, the sermons and, in some, confessions of faith and ceremonies all strengthen and nourish our spiritual life.

It is true that a sunset, a forest glade, the calm beauty of a moonlight night, give evidence of the existence of God.

But relatively few of us are strong enough in spirit to abide on such lovely but nebulous fare alone.

The person who says he doesn't "need" to go to church is mistaken in his statement; what he really is saying is that he doesn't "want" to go—that it is too much trouble to make the effort to attend.

Is it really too much trouble to devote an hour or two a week to His teachings?

To Him we owe the very existence that gives us the opportunity to exercise a choice.

Judge Named Registrar for Draft Board

County Judge Elmer Martin of Colorado City has been appointed registrar for the Howard-Martin-Mitchell county draft board in the Colorado City area.

Boys who reach the age of 18 can register in Colorado City by calling on Martin at the County Courthouse during regular business hours.

A registrar is maintained in the area so that men will not have to travel to the draft board at Big Spring.

"People of the Colorado City area should appreciate the services he renders to them," Colonel Schwartz said, "as he is doing the work without pay as a public service to his country."

All males are required to register under the draft law on their 18th birthday or within five days thereafter. Maximum penalties that can be applied for failure to register are $10,000 fine, or five years in prison, or both.

Pink candles with music notes on them and bouquets of pink and white carnations, adorned the tables, as did tiny pink hearts that were strewn about. Plate favors were pink heart shaped balloons. Miniature China pianos were used as salted nut cups.

Hanging from the ceiling at intervals were ruffled pink and silver crepe paper streamers. Suspended from the light fixtures were a variety of small golden musical instruments.

FASTEST-GROWING FUEL in America's FASTEST-GROWING REGION

El Paso Natural Gas Company reports record deliveries of Natural Gas to customers in the West

Natural gas is America's fastest-growing energy source, and El Paso Natural Gas Company and its subsidiaries serve natural gas's fastest-growing market.

Deliveries of gas were at record highs in 1958 as El Paso and subsidiaries continued to expand their pipeline systems and increase their gas reserves to meet the long-term energy demands of the West.

For the second consecutive year, gas deliveries totalled more than a trillion cubic feet.

Extensive exploration and purchase programs brought total gas reserves at year's end to an all-time high of 38.8 trillion cubic feet—assuring vitally needed energy supplies for western consumers and industries in the years ahead.

El Paso's 1958 annual report, distributed to its 51,835 stockholders (an increase of 10 per cent in 1958) reports consolidated gross revenues for 1958 of $368,299,522, compared with 1957's $301,090,537. Net income was $35,308,813 in 1958, compared with $34,506,238 in 1957.

The report gives details of 1958's accomplishments, as well as plans to meet the future needs of western consumers—for natural gas, for petroleum, for petro-chemicals.

El Paso Natural Gas Company and its subsidiary, Pacific Northwest Pipeline Corporation, serve customers in California, West Texas, Arizona, Idaho, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, Utah, Washington, Wyoming and Colorado.

56 VISIT FRIDAY

Library Growing, Lions Are Told

"More than 5,00 member families checked out 18,618 books from the Federation Library during 1958," Mrs. Boyd Dozier told Lions Club members Friday.

Mrs. Dozier, librarian, and Mrs. Paul Boston, chairman of the National Library Week observance here, were featured speakers at the luncheon in Civic House.

"During the year 300 new cards were issued to bring the membership to 5,430 with an average of 61 books per day used during the year," Mrs. Dozier added.

There are 12,988 accessions at present.

Mrs. Boston urged the group to read more. She quoted from an article in News Week which said in part: "You had better learn to read and to read well, or you may wind up in a world where no English is written."

Mrs. Dozier gave a brief review of the Library's history since it was organized in 1925. One hundred memberships were sold the first year. The Library has had four homes. It was organized in the County Courthouse, moved to City Hall in 1927, to the Coleman Building in 1940 and to its present location in Civic House in 1953.

"If the Library grows any more, it will soon require more room," Mrs. Dozier added.

The Lions were invited to visit the Library following the meeting and 56 registered contributing approximately $60 to the book fund. Mrs. J. S. Craddock Sr., treasurer, received the gifts.

MAGIC FLAME OF PROGRESS

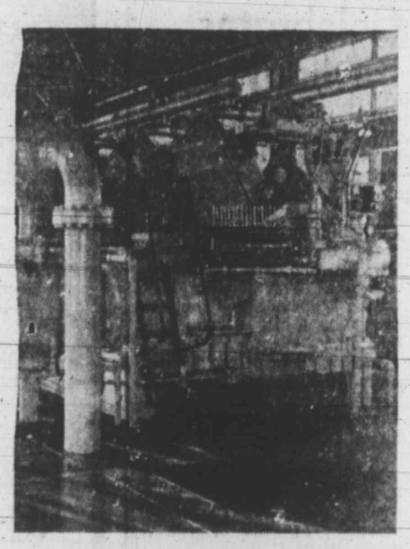

EXPLORATION — where natural gas service begins. Constant search for new fields is required to provide for the increasing demand for the world's finest fuel.

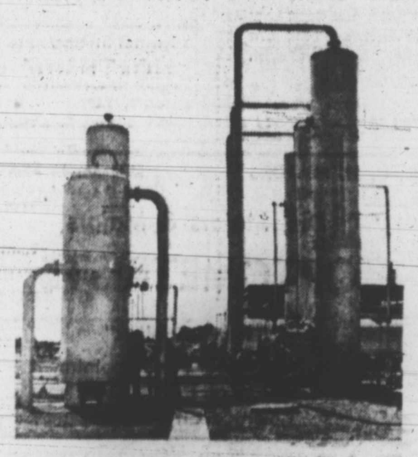

DRILLING — After geological explorations are made, leasing completed, the rig is positioned and drilling begins. Drill bits bore deep into the earth to possible natural gas strata.

TYING-IN — natural gas from the fields to the transmission line. The natural gas has begun its long journey to you.

COMPRESSOR STATIONS — natural gas receives a boost. Pushed on by large compressors that maintain pressure in the pipelines to assure safety and a dependable, sufficient flow.

PROCESSING PLANT — removes the liquid by-products of natural gas (hydrocarbons like butane, propane and isopentane and others); dehydration plants remove water vapor to prevent pipeline stoppages, so that pipelines may operate trouble-free.

PIPELINES — a network of long distance pipelines is necessary to bring the natural gas from its origination point to the city where it will serve uninterrupted, day and night.

but gas must be bought in the gas fields in the face of vigorous competition!

Everyone knows – there is nothing more important to a natural gas company than supply – gas reserves attached and ready for use.

Lone Star Gas Company has had a 50-year record of dependable, adequate gas supply – except for the few early, trying years when the Company was struggling to get started and remain in business.

Lone Star's present gas supplies are being used up, and Lone Star must continue, day by day, to add to its supply. These additional supplies are available for purchase only in the face of competition from other pipelines.

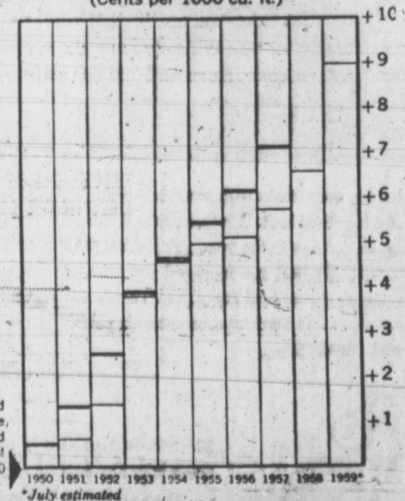

Lone Star will protect and maintain your gas supply, but it must pay higher prices, if it is to continue to get the gas you need.

Why Electric Cooking is ACCURATE

An electric range cooks with accurately controlled and measured heat. Whether you're cooking on surface units or in the oven, you just set the controls for the heat you want and you get exactly the same even heat every time. There's no guesswork . . . no need for constant oven peeking and pot-watching.

Only an electric oven can be insulated all around, including the bottom, for economical operation and accurate heat control. Since electric heat needs no flow of air into and out of the oven while it is in operation, heat is retained inside the oven and the temperature remains constant throughout the cooking operation. This assures uniformly excellent results.

Electric cooking also is clean, fast, cool and economical. Select your new electric range now and enjoy all these benefits . . . at an average cost of only about 3c a meal for electricity.
