Donley's Advantages To Be Exploited At State Fair

COUNTY EXHIBIT AT FAIR PLANNED

COUNTY TO BE FEATURED AS DIVERSIFIED FARMING AREA

The Donley county exhibit at the Golden Jubilee Celebration of the State Fair of Texas is being arranged today by J. R. Gillham, secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce and vocational agricultural instructor, and Led Jay, Clarendon College student.

The exhibit will feature Donley county as a diversified farming area, listing truck, cotton, small grains, grains orghums, legume hays, ranching and Hereford cattle, and dairying as the chief agricultural resources.

Conservation will also be featured in the exhibit with the contoured, terraced, strip crop, and deferred acreage being listed. The number of range dams, trench silos and the approximate amount of silage stored will be listed on the background of the exhibit. The center of the floor of the exhibit will feature a miniature trench silo.

Fourteen samples of 11 kinds of seed and grains will be shown in head and ear form and five forms of roughage will also be exhibited as will eight kinds of vegetables.

The materials were gathered by members of the local F. F. A. and the grains for the exhibits were all hand picked.

The exhibit will be in place when the fair opens October 8 and will remain until October 23.

All physically able members of the F. F. A. voted to participate in the fights, each of which will consist of three one-minute rounds.

Medals will be awarded the winners.

PATRICK RELAYS BIRCH ADDRESS

OAKLAND APPEAL FOR AMERICANISM OUTLINED FOR LOCAL LIONS

With a splendid attendance the Clarendon Lions Club gave attention Tuesday in their regular weekly luncheon to high-lights of the annual address of President Frank Birch, at the Oakland, California International Convention of Lions Clubs, as presented by President W. H. Patrick, with brief comment. The address bristled with facts about un-American activities and influences and called upon Lions everywhere to stand against every appearance of communism, fascism and Nazism, with a new allegiance to "Liberty, Intelligence, Our Nation's Safety."

Earl Myers of Lelia Lake was introduced as guest of Lion Cap Morris.

Lion Drennan announced the football game here Friday evening with the Mobeetie Hornets, under the lights at the college field.

Lion Allen Bryan announced the annual Ladies' Night of the club would be held on the evening of Tuesday, Oct. 18th, at the Home Ec dining room at the college, served by the Home Ec girls. Lions Andis and Patman were added to Lion Bryan's committee to assist in the preparations.

DONLEY SINGERS GO TO WELLINGTON

WILL MAKE BID FOR 1938-39 CONVENTION TO MEET HERE

A number of singers from Donley county are expected to attend the Texas-Oklahoma District Singers Association to be held on Saturday, Oct. 8 and 9 at Wellington. The Donley group will push the bid for the convention to be held in Clarendon in 1939. Their bid will be presented by C. Newt Waldron, president.

All song book publishers and quartets are especially invited to the meeting. No special song books are used. Mrs. A. J. Byram secretary-treasurer, said that any song book, regardless of name, may be used.

At 4:30 on Saturday afternoon the officers and delegates will meet. Present officers are A. B. Willis, president; E. J. Cooper, first vice president; J. L. Evans, second vice president, and Mrs. Byram, secretary-treasurer.

A large group always attends these meetings of the Eastern Panhandle district of Texas and Western Oklahoma, which is one of the most active district organizations of singers in the Southwest.

The convention has never met in Clarendon and there is high hope that the invitation to be presented by President Waldron will be accepted for the 1939 meeting.

Donley Singing Convention Meets

A large crowd attended the Donley County Singing Convention all-day singing at Sunnyview Sunday. A good program was enjoyed both in the morning and afternoon. Several well-known quarters gave members and other special numbers were well received.

At noon, a basket dinner was served. Two visitors from Memphis attended the convention. Everyone present thoroughly enjoyed the fellowship and good music.

The conventions are held the first Sunday in every third month. C. Newt Waldron is president. A group from the Donley Convention will attend the Texas-Western Oklahoma district convention in Wellington this Saturday and Sunday.

Junior High Team Defeats Memphis

The Junior High football string defeated the Memphis Juniors 21 to 0 for the second time last Thursday afternoon on the local grid.

The local Juniors, coached by L. B. Penick, have shown real rospect as future high school iron men in their two games of this season, playing real heads-up football, and hitting the line 'til the finish of every match.

Coach Penick took the boys at the beginning of the school year and gave them their first fundamentals of football, and through his efforts the boys show more promise than any Junior team in this district.

No game is matched for this week, but plans are underway to match the team next week, probably with Memphis or possibly some other nearby junior string.

The Broncs are on top in conference winnings, having won their only conference game, standing 1,000 per cent.

The Broncs defeated Lakeview their last game in a close 7 to 6, and Coach Emil Hutto has been putting the boys through a stiff course of training the past two weeks, getting them in shape for the game with Mobeetie Friday and their next conference game with Memphis on Oct. 14, and Wellington on Oct. 21.

Through negotiations last week, Mobeetie consented to transfer the game here, which was scheduled for there.

WATERSHED WORK IS PROGRESSING

PLANS MADE TO PURCHASE TRACTOR FOR CANAL AND DAM WORK

Plans of the Watershed Association were progressing this week as association heads were making plans for purchasing a tractor for the drainage and contour and terracing work that is underway at Lelia Lake under supervision of government engineers.

The group met at the county agent's office last night and discussed various plans for purchasing the power.

Many out-of-town engineers were present at the meeting, including P. C. Bennett, project manager of the Vega area; E. M. McBride, camp superintendent; C. A. Robinson, agronomist; Nemo Knapp, conservationist, and Warren Eaton, junior agriculture engineer.

Committee members from Lelia Lake were: John Howard, chairman; M. G. Cottingham, Elmer Kennedy, Lamar Aten and Lon Howard.

This group met with County Agent H. M. Breedlove at his office and reviewed the temporary work that has been done in the area. Two dams have been built and one canal has been dug, beside laying out and surveying of lines for terraces and contours to be made in the winter.

The group stated that it would take possibly two years to complete the project, and enthusiasm was high with the prospective results in the watershed area.

Attention was attracted to this area after a disastrous flood last spring, which cost three lives and destroyed all crops in the area.

Unsuspecting Donley Back In Line For PWC Dam—Maybe

After being forgotten for months, Donley county got some unheralded mention as a possible site for a water conservation and flood control dam, under the direction of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics Tuesday of this week, when the co-ordinating committee listed Donley among 12 prospective sites from which five may be selected for construction in the coming year.

One of the steps taken was the announcement that the BAE land acquisition department had received orders this week to begin immediate acquisition of options on two or three prospective sites for a lake in Curry county, N. M., near Clovis. If options on the sites do not delay procedure officials anticipate early construction of this lake.

Probably the most important action of the coordinating committee which includes represenatives of the BAE, Farm Security, Soil Conservation Service, WPA, Texas Board of Water Engineers and the Panhandle Water Conservation Authority was the listing of 12 possible lake sites for what is technically termed Site Proposal surveys. These were asked to be in position for definite decisions as regular projects by Jan. 1. A smaller number will then be selected on the basis of the engineer's report for construction in the program of the forthcoming year.

Counties in which site proposals were requested were: Union county, N. M.; Wheeler, Hansford, Roberts, Donley, Hale, Parmer, Lipscomb, Collingsworth, Armstrong, Floyd and Lamb counties, Texas, and Roosevelt county, N. M. Survey work has been done in some of these counties. It was the request of the committee that at least five lakes selected from the above surveys be constructed next year. This followed a report on engineering and labor facilities available by BAE and WPA represenatives.

James C. Foster, regional head of the BAE and chairman of the committee, presided.

CONFLICT AND DISCUSSION MAY BRING BETTER DAYS FOR SOUTHERN FARMER

All over the Southand there is a growing dissatisfaction among the farmers over the federal crop control law, which steadily restricts his acreage in cotton, while foreign powers take over the world markets for the fleecy staple.

Not alone in Texas has there been loud and vociferous discussion of the deficiencies of the present law, with open demands for a different basis of control and operation. The farmers are refusing to be lulled into silence by the cash benefits which are promised for next year, if they will only comply with this year's program

There is evidently much logic on the side of the dissenters, and many notable and official persons in the South are not mincing words in their denunciation of liberty-restricting features of the present law, and demands for lowering of the tariffs which stand as a bar to increased cotton sales on foreign markets. Commissioner of Agriculture McDonald of Texas is one of the most pungent speakers for the domestic allotment plan of farm legislation, with tariff changes to match and bolster by the federal government.

It is hard to say just what ultimate plan is for the best of the whole people, but The News is convinced that the parrot-like repetition of "cut the acreage" in growing ratio each year, on the part of the farm administration must be halted or the Southland is doomed as a profitable area for agricultural people.

Let us hope that out of this epochal conflict and bitter discussion may come a sound program of progressive recovery with liberty, happiness and profit for the people of the whole South. At any rate the American habit of fighting out openly all political and economic differences is likely the only route that will bring relief to a people who refused to live in the wreckage of a war some 70 years ago.

ADDITIONAL FEDERAL POWERS MUST BE GRANTED SPARINGLY AND DISCREETLY

It has become apparent to every more than casual thinker that whereas modern day needs seem to demand additional powers for the federal government—more centralization—yet the granting of them brings a serious and growing threat to individual liberties and state's rights.

James Truslow Adams, the historian and governmental authority, foresaw this conflict many years ago, and warned against the effects of over-liberal and careless extension of federal powers in these words: "In considering what may be the 'proper' functions of the federal government we have to take a broader view than our ancestors did, but in doing so we should take into consideration the spheres that the American spirit and form of government reserve to the individual and to the individual states. If we can do this wisely, we may be able to add to the necessary powers of the federal government and yet avoid the dangers of concentrated power and totalitarian state. I see no other way of escape."

IS THE OLD HUSTLE GONE?

"Write a Letter" Week Urged Here

In line with efforts over the nation, Postmaster Forest Taylor has submitted the following appeal for letter writing to the people of Clarendon and Donley county. There's something in the philosophy laid down—read it and act accordingly:

WRITE A LETTER!

It's only a few steps to the nearest mail box—write a letter! Take a little chunk of your heart and spread it over some paper; it goes, oh, such a long way!

Write a letter to your mother or father, to your sister, brother, sweetheart, loved ones. Are they dear to you? Prove it with a letter! Write a letter and give them the same thrill you had when you last received that same kind of a letter. Think of the joy of opening the mail box and drawing out a warm envelope enriched with old familiar handwriting! A personal letter—it's good to get one. So send one—write a letter!

Write a letter to the aged relative who hasn't many days to live, the friend of your father, the friend of your family, the one surving link between your own present and past. Don't wait for that dear soul to die till you act. Act now with a message of love to cheer those last few days on earth. Sit down and start writing!

Write a letter to the author whose story gave you that delightful half hour last night. Write a letter to the cartoonist whose serial strip you avidly devoured this morning; to the teacher who inspired you 20 years ago; to the doctor who saved your baby's life; to your old employer to show him there was something more between you than a pay check. Be a human being—write a letter.

There's a man in public life you admire, believe in, rave about. Write him a letter of praise, of encouragement. To be "with him in spirit" is not enough—show your spirit with a letter. We can't all be pioneers, crusaders, presidents—but we can help those brave men stay on the track and push through to a grand and glorious success if all we ever say is "Attaboy!" Write an "Attaboy" letter.

Write a letter and—give. Give praise, encouragement, interest, consideration, 'gratitude. 'You don't have to give these things; but the real letter is the one you don't have to write!

The sweetest, gentlest, and most useful of all the arts—letter writing. Great, grand characters like Washington, Franklin, Lincoln and the greatest men of all nations, have been regular letter writers. Write a letter! Write it with pen, pencil or typewriter. Use any kind of paper, any kind of spelling or grammar. It doesn't matter how you say it and it doesn't even matter what you say; its beauty, its gold lie in the pure fact that it's a letter! Each mistake is another handclasp; every blot is a tear of joy.

Do you see a job? Do you smell an order? Is your mind on business? Write a letter. Then write another letter. No business, no individual, built on the "write-a-letter" rule ever failed. Because you simply can't fall, if you write a letter.

Try it, you'll like it. Great joy and many surprises are in store for you. You'll get letters back. You'll get help from unexpected sources. All that you gave in your letters will be returned to you a thousand fold. For a letter is a 3-cent investment in bountiful good fortune.

Write a letter! Whether you say: "Attaboy!" "Thanks!" or "I love you," always remember: A letter needs no excuse.

—JAMES MANGAN.

WOODUL STILL FIGHTS FOR TEXAS AD PLAN

The proposed advertising of Texas in a continuous campaign will be submitted to the coming session of the Legislature again Lieut.-Gov. Walter Woodul announced here.

Although Woodul will have no official capacity after he turns over the lieutenant-governor's gavel to the newly-elected presiding officer of the Senate, Coke Stevenson, he nevertheless plans to continue his fight for the advertising scheme, he said here.

Woodul proposes to dedicate approximately $3,000,000 to a nation-wide campaign to advertise the industrial assets of the state.

To make such an appropriation would require an amendment to the Constitution and the lieutenant governor fought fruitlessly at the last regular session of the Legislature for the submission to the people of such an amendment, failing to get in the House of Represenatives the 100 votes required to submit an amendmeent.

"But," Woodul said, "it took me eight years to get across the raise in the governor's pay." Woodul was original sponsor of the constitutional amendments increasing the salaries of constitutional officers, the first time that has been done since the Constitution was written.

The proposal of the lieutenant governor is for the expenditure of about $600,000 annually for advertising Texas nationally, the details of the campaign to be worked out by Legislature subsequent to the approval of the amendment by the people. Although little of the advertising would be done in Texas newspapers, most newspapers have endorsed the idea.

And he believes that $600,000 would be but a starter on the amount of money spent.

Several cities, he pointed out, already have advertising taxes and are trying to do on a small scale what Texas would do on a large scale. These cities, he asserted, would take advantage of the state campaign to call attention to the advantages of their respective territories, and many industries like would join in the campaign.

Teamed For First Time In a Story Brimming With Love and Laughter

Robert Montgomery, Franchot Tone, Janet Gaynor in "Three Loves Has Nancy"

The vivacious, bubbling story of a small-town girls who comes to New York to see the man who left her waiting at the altar, only to find erself involved as the romantic pivot between two othr men, brings Janet Gaylor, Robert Montgomery and Franchot Tone to the Pastime Theatre, starring in "Three Loves Has Nancy," their first co-starring picture. A laugh-filled supportist cast features Guy Kibbee, Claire Dodd and Reginald Owen.

Janet Gaynor Became a Star Despite Herself

Strangely enough, Janet Gaynor currently appearing on the Pasttime screen with Robert Montgomery in "Three Loves Has Nancy," never even dreamed that she could ever become a motion picture star.

The combined efforts of her family were necessary to get her to make her first call at a studio casting office, and the rebuffs she received in her first weeks so thoroughly disheartened her that she renounced motion picture work "forever" and instead took a stenographic course in a Hollywood business college.

"We were living in San Francisco when I finished high school," Miss Gaynor related in an interview on the set of her latest picture. "I had done a little entertaining at the Naval Lakes Training Station near Chicago during the war and had appeared in one or two amateur shows. But it never occurred to me to think of acting as a career until my stepfather began talking about it."

Personally, she confessed, her childhood idea was that she would become either a teacher or a lawyer. At one time she intended to enroll in a teacher's college. That was just after she graduated from Polyhechnic High School in San Francisco. Funds were none too plentiful, so instead she went to work in a smart shoe store in the Union Square district, where she wrapped packages until she became a clerk.

"The family never stopped talking pictures," Miss Gaynor said, 'and eventually, much against my will, I found myself in Hollywood trudging from studio to studio with the rest of the extras."

She won a few extra parts, then "bits" and finally small peaking parts. Suddenly she emerged as the overnight sensasion of "Seventh Heaven." Since then she has been one of the leadng stars of filmland.

GOLDEN JUBILEE FAIR GATES TO OPEN SATURDAY

DALLAS, Oct. 3.—Saturday morning, October 8, the gates will swing open on the largest and most attractive State Fair in all the half century of progressive effort, each year to outstrip the one preceding.

Early in the week but four small spaces had not been contracted for the 16-day event, with all indications these would be taken prior to opening day.

Approximately 175 towns, cities and organizations have reserved special days. Colorful bands will be on the grounds at all times.

In agriculture, livestock and poultry the State Fair has assembled the greatest showing in all its history. Sixty-seven counties, in all sections of Texas will display agriculture. In addition there will be individual exhibits, Negro farm exhibits, agriculture displays and showings by individual farmers.

Approximately 500 head of livestock have been entered, which includes every breed of livestock in the Southwest, and some of its leading herds.

The poultry show will present every variety, in new housing conditions, with the close confinement eliminated.

Amusement features of the State Fair are the greatest in its history. In the auditorium first will be presented the Jubilee Follies with the Hollywood Revue closing. On the Midway is the famous Hennies Brothers Show, the largest Midway in America. Numerous free acts daily include Ainsley's Aerial Ballet, Bozo the mind-reading dog, and Kurtzo & Kurt, daredevil high pole artists.

"The Fair is set to entertain the expected visitors," Otto Herold, president, said.

Farm Lands Need Winter Overcoat

AMARILLO. — Land needs an overcoat in the winter, too.

High winds are normal in the Southern Great Plains during winter and spring, and, unless the land has a protective cover of vegetation, some of the valuable topsoil is likely to be carried away in the form of dust storms, Soil Conservation Service technicians point out.

Many farmers of the wind erosion region this year have grown grain sorghums because of their soil protective quality and feed value. Farmers within recent years have learned that by leaving a stubble from eight to 12 inches tall on the field and then protecting it against overgrazing and trampling by livestock, they can provide an overcoat of erosion-resisting vegetation for the land during the period of high winds.

Where sorghums are grown in strips with crops which do not resist erosion, such as cotton, corn and beans, the strips of stubble serve to check the movement of soil from the clean-tilled strips.

On fields of light or sandy soils farmers found during the last "blow season" that emergency listing or chiseling between rows of stubble increased the protection against soil losses by wind erosion. The cloddy surface left by such tillage methods served to break the force of the wind and checked the movement of soil, many reported.

Generally over the wind erosion region, it has been observed that where a good stubble is left on the fields and protected from grazing, there is practically no loss of soil from blowing. On the other hand, where there is little or no stubble, or where this protective cover is grazed and the surface pulverized by the trampling of livestock, there is considerable soil loss by blowing.

THE AWFUL PRICE YOU PAY FOR BEING NERVOUS

Quivering nerves can make you old and haggard looking, cranky and hard to live with—can keep you awake nights and rob you of good health, good times and jobs.

What you may need is a particularly good woman's tonic—and could you ask for anything whose benefits are better proved than famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? Let its wholesome herbs and roots help Nature build up more physical resistance and thus help calm your shrieking nerves, give more energy and make life worth living again.

More than a million women have reported benefit—why not let Pinkham's Compound help YOU, too, to go "smiling thru" trying times like it has other grateful women for the past 3 generations? IT MUST BE GOOD!

McDonald Scores Farm Rule by AAA

Texas Agricultural Commissioner J. E. McDonald renewed his attack on Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace here Tuesday, characterizing the cabinet member as an "agricultural theorist, hell bent on the domination of agriculture and regimentation of the farmers of this country."

He charged: "Secretary Wallace is more interested in forming a political machine than developing a farm prograc, giving greatest benefit to the farmer.

"He knows nothing about conditions of practical agriculture or the marketing of products. After five years of his regime, the purchasing power of the farmer is at its lowest ebb in history, conclusive proof of his inability to place agriculture in a stable position.

"At the rate foreign countries are increasing their production of cotton, America will have no place in the world market within four years. We will be asking Congress to put up tariff barriers to protect the farmers' own mill business in Texas."

Mr. McDonald's domestic allotment plan would allot each farmer a share of the domestic market, and guarantee price for cotton delivered to this market on a parity with industrial incomes. All moneys to pa ythis subsidy would be derived from an excise tax on finished cotton textiles. All moneys to pay this subsidy the world market at the prevailing price.—Dallas News.

The Low Down FROM HICKORY GROVE

You will need to get up early, if you plan on getting ahead of those goober-grabbers and sandhillers down yonder around Atlanta, and in Carolina, etc. But if you have been lucky enough to know some of these people, I do not need to tell you all, anything more about them.

But for folks who have not been South, and kinda have an idea that they are maybe a little slow down there, they are barking up the wrong tree.

And what I got in mind now, is how they been taking the bit in their teeth, and figuring out for their ownself, what they want or don't want—and then they vote.

And if you have been sorta scared the country is going to pot, you can take on squint Southward— and relax.

And if Wash. has been hounding your town to do this or that, like building more swimming pools or power houses, or something which you do not need any more than a cat needs a coupla tails, you do not have to shiver and shake and be scared stiff, any more.

Cotton Ed and Mr. George, they have clarified the air.

Yours, with the low down,
JO SERRA.

Stubble Checks Wind Erosion

Stubble of Sudan grass or any of the other sorghums, when protected from overgrazing by livestock, binds the soil and prevents erosion during the period of high winds, the Soil Conversation Service points out. This farmer, cooperating with one of the demonstration projects, is leaving a stubble from 8 to 12 inches tall as he harvests his Sudan grass crop for feeding during the winter.

Texans Drinking More Hard Liquor

AUSTIN, Oct. 4.—Texans apparently are drinking more hard liquor. This is indicated by tax stamp sales of the treasury department.

Treasurer Charley Lockhart reported today that his department sold $15,278 more in stamps in September, 1938, than in the same month of 1937. Wine, beer and cigarette tax stamp receipts were less.

Total income from tax stamp sales was $1,112,347 as against $1,155,566 in September, 1937.

STATE ASKS WHY PRISONER WAS LET OUT PREMATURELY

BORGER, Oct. 5.—The state filed a petition today asking that two prison officials be cited for contempt and making it mandatory for them to appear in district court here Oct. 14, to give their reasons for releasing Arthur Huey before his prison term expired.

The petition, filed at Stinnett by Attorney General William McCraw and District Attorney W. L. McConnell, named Warden W. W. Waid and O. J. S. Ellington, manager of the Texas prison farm system.

It further asked for an order, should reasons for the release be unacceptable to this county, commanding the officials to apprehend Huey and return him to the penitentiary.

Huey, serving a term for embezzling county funds, was released recently from the Huntsville penitentiary on a writ of habeas corpus signed by Judge Fountain Kirby of Groesbeck.

Gov. James V. Allred ordered an investigation of the release shortly thereafter.

Paul and Bill Greene returned Friday from Washington where they have been employed this summer.

Scarlet Fever Is Discussed By State

AUSTIN.—"Scarlet fever still continues to be a menace to children," said Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer, in discussing diseases common to children. "Many cases are slight, but they may infect others who may become seriously ill. It is treacherous and undesirable, and the only good thing about it is that if one can avoid it until grown, the chances of never getting it are excellent.

"Scarlet fever is spread by the transfer of the infection in the discharges of nose and throat, ear or abscesses of persons ill with the disease and those who are carriers of the infection. The handling of articles soiled by the patient may cause the disease.

"Children under 10 years of age are usually susceptible to scarlet fever. Children becoming suddenly ill with fever, sore throat, vomiting and showing a fine red rash, should have medical attention and be immediately quarantined to prevent the spread of this disease. The appearance of scarlet fever in the home should be immediately followed by a rigid quarantine for at least three weeks. The public schould be warned against exposing young children to those exihibiting acute catarrhal symptoms of any kind. Take no chances—be on the safe side.

"The use of potent scarlet fever antitoxin is of value in shortening the course of the disease. The antitoxin should be administered within three days of the onset. Scarlet fever antitoxin lessens the complications, such as heart and kidney diseases, discharging ears and sinuses that often occur after scarlet fever.

CROP CONTROL OPPOSED IN WEST TEXAS AREA

ABILENE. — G. A. Bandeen, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, interprets the widespread response to the chamber's endorsement of the domestic allotment plan as further indication of the general dissatisfaction in West Texas with the present federal crop control program.

The chamber's agricultural board, in commenting on the control program, said the United States is planting 13,000,000 acres less cotton while foreign countriees are planting 14,000,000 acres more, resulting in increased unemloyment and loss of income to Texas and American farmers.

Mass meetings in behalf of the domestic allotment plan are being held throughout West Texas, with petitions being forwarded to congressmen from this region urging consideration of its merits.

PATHFINDER CLUB OPENS YEAR WITH DINNER

The Pathfinder Club opened their club year with a dinner Friday night at seven at the clubrooms. Hostesses for the occasion were Mesdames R. L. Bigger, M. C. Goodner, U. J. Boston, E. D. Landreth, T. S. Barcus, L. E. Thompson, L. N. Cox and Miss Temple Harris who served a delicious three-course dinner from from a beautifully appointed table.

The table was centered with a bowl of large pink dahlias. Two bowls of small spring dahlias and rosebuds and a trailing vine of pink completed the table decorations. Garden flowers and ferns added a decorative note to the rest of the room. During the dinner hour an orchestra composed of Mrs. Allen Bryan, Mrs. Marvin Warren, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cauthen, Murrell Landreth, and John Burton King played soft, sweet music.

The retiring president, Mrs. Joe Goldston, was toastmistress and in the course of her speech she presented each of the retiring officers with a hand-painted picture in appreciation of her loyal support during the year. In a short busienss session, the minutes of the meeting of May 12, were read and approved. Mrs. C. B. Morris, historian, read an interesting history of the past year's work.

At this time, the broadcasting station KLUB was tuned in and Mrs. C. T. McMurtry in a few well-chosen words introduced Mrs. Goldston, who in turn introduced the new officers over the air, enumerating their various duties in a humorous vein. She presented each officer with a symbol of her office.

The following were introduced: President, Mrs. B. L. Jenkins; vice president, Mrs. C. T. McMurtry; recording secretary, Mrs. Simmons Powell; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Ed Dishman; treasurer, Mrs. C. B. Morris; parliamentarian, Mrs. H. T. Burton; historian, Mrs. A. T. Cole.

The new president, Mrs. Jenkins in a speech of acceptance, expressed her appreciation of the Pathfinder Club and asked for the support and cooperation of the members.

Thirty-six active and eight associate members were present and one guest, Mrs. Geo. Dugan of Greenville.

CHURCH OF CHRIST
H. V. Crumley, Minister

The presence of out-of-town visitors was very noticeable at the morning worship hour, last Lord's Day. If there is anything that we covet, it is the presence of all visitors, at all times. Won't you too, come and be with us this coming Lord's Day

The subject for this Lord's Day will be: "The Letter to the Angel of the Church at Pheladelphia." This congregation, along with one other, was the only one among the ones addressed that Jesus found no fault with. Surely, then, it will survive as an example for us. Come, be with us and we will do thee good.

Woman Saw Home Burned By Santa Anna Is Dead, 111

Mrs. Sarah Jane Gillis, reputed to be 111, known to thousands as Grandma Gillis and the oldest native of Goliad county, died at the Harris County Home for the Aged. She suffered a paralytic stroke a week ago.

As a frightened child of nine years, from her hiding place in the brush at Harrisburg, she watched General Santa Anna burn her log cabin home, she often had related.

She was born Sarah Jane Morey, December 25, 1826, and the cabin where she was born was in a small clearing near Buffalo Bayou. The site is now the center of Harrisburg.

One day while playing, she heard shouts from the clearing and ran with her family from their home. Soon the Mexicans came and burned their home, she said, when telling friends of her life in Texas, then a part of Mexico.

She often recounted how two other families had moved into the vicinity by this time, and Santa Anna burned all the houses. After the Mexican army departed the men erected one large building to house all the families she said.

Her father fought in the Battle of San Jacinto

She often told the difficulties encountered in farming, telling how the bears would carry away their corn.

Later, more people moved into the community and life became happier, the young people enjoying many gay parties, playing games and dancing the old square dances. There was no school and no church.

When she was 17, her father bought a sheep ranch in Grimes county. Later she married Mr. Bates. They lived in New Orleans for a time. Back in Texas his health failed. The day came when they were penniless and without shelter. With the aid of neighbors, she completed a house that she had begun herself, and moved her ill husband into it.

After his death, she continued to live alone several years. She married again later and when her second husband died she married a third time. Her husband, Mr. Gillis, died after she entered the home of Beaumont Road. She has outlived her eight children. At Humple, just before she entered the home and at the age of 101, she showed her usual vigor by covering a porch at her home and building a chicken coop.—Houston Post.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Zachary and three children and Mr. and Mrs. Marian Zachary and daughter of Floydada spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Mongole. Miss Mable Mongole returned with them for a visit.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS
BY JULIAN CAPERS JR.

AUSTIN.—The raising of tax money to pay increased pension benefits to aged persons, and to provide the state's share of other phases of the social security program, including aid for dependent children, needy blind persons and teachers" pensions, will constitute the No. 1 problem of the new legislature. It doubtless will consume most of the time of the four months' regular session.

Next will come governmental economy, and then will follow the introduction of hundreds of bills, some embodying the ideas of large groups, others those of a single individual member of the House or Senate. A few of these, usually those backed by a substantial bloc of public opinion, will be enacted, while the great majority will be good for a line or two in the newspapers for a day, and then die by the wayside, either in committee or on the calendar.

TRUCK PROBLEMS LOOMS

The tax program, of course, will depend largely upon the recommendations and plans of the new governor, as embodied in his first message. O'Daniel has been giving concentrated study at his Fort Worth headquarters to this and other administrative matters, but has been keeping his own counsel upon details of what he will recommend. Whatever plan he suggests, will naturally encounter sturdy opposition from the group or groups which he proposes to tax.

A determined effort will be made in the new legislature to enact legislation regulating the use of motor trucks upon the highways and increasing the present limit of 7,000 pounds of net load that a truck may carry. Persistent efforts have been made to raise this load limit, which was enacted back when trucks used solid rubber tires, on the theory that heavy loads would damage the highways. Modernizaation of motor truck manufacturers, together with universal use of scientifically designed pneumatic tires, have largely removed this objection, and the railroad lobby, which has battled bitterly and successfully to curtail truck operations, has relied largely during recent years upon the argument that large loads mean larger trucks and that a resulting traffic hazard follows. The truck people, who have carried on a vigorous campaign, have answered this argument rather patly by showing that the larger the truck load, the fewer the number of trucks necessary to move traffic, and that the fewer trucks that are operated on the highways, the lower the traffic hazard. It is identically the same argument the railroads have used in opposing laws to limit the length of freight trains.

VALLEY SENATOR SPONSOR

Anoter important phase of the truck problem is the fact that the privately owned motor trucks are largely unregulated, because the Supreme Court has held that under the present law, most of them are technically common carriers under the law. The impossibility of applying the common carrier law's provision to the thousands of private trucks was so manifest that the Railroad commission, by unwritten agreement with the truck owners, is simply ignoring the Supreme Court decision until the legislature can enact a law to regulate private trucks.

Rogers Kelley, senator-elect from the Valley district, has declared he will push for enactment of truck legislation—because his Valley district moves millions of tons of fruit and vegetables to markets by truck eacn season—and Kelley, known in his district as an aggressive and able leader Pprobably will get results.

ECONOMY PROGRAM

A Senate subcommittee of five members has been working for nearly two years on the problem of reducing the overhead of state departments, and out of their efforts will doubless come some improvement. Their goal is a $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 cut in departmental expenditures. They hope to consolidate and abolish some bureaus and commissions, which is a difficult task, at best, because every little department has its bloc of supporters in the legislature, whose loyalty is held by giving jobs to friends and relatives of the legislators. One improvement upon which everybody seems agreed, however, is the appointment of the state auditor by a legislative committee, instead of by the governor, as at present, and the probable creation of a modernized budgeting set-up. Many leegislators have come to see the fallacy of asking the board of control, the largest single spending unit in the government, to make the budget, as it now does.

Along the plan for better auditing and budgeting will go plans for abolishing some of the 102 special funds in the state treasury, so that officials can more nearly get an actual picture of the state's real financial condition from periodic statements by the treasurer and comptroller.

FAIR TRADE ACT

The last gubernatorial race brought out what was apparently a widespread agreement that some kind of anti-price cutting legislation should be passed, to protect independent merchants against "loss leader" merchandising. If the legislature believes as firmly in this as the gubernatorial candidates did, some legislation along this line probably will result. The chain stores, who are opposing it, optimistically hope to get the chain store tax repealed, but best information here gives them little hope at this time.

TWO CORRECTIONS

Whenever a newspaper reporter begins to brag, he is usually headed for trouble. This columnist recently indulged in a mild brag about a news beat in this column. Now he humbly corrects two mistakes in last week's column. No. 1—The McFarland who is being boomed for state tax commissioner is Represenative McFarland, of Wichita Falls, veteran House member and tax expert, and not Congressman W. D. McFarlane, of Wichita Falls, defeated for reelection in August. No. 2—The uncertainty about when certain state officials, including the land commissioner and the attorney general, shall take office, was clarified by the last legislature, and definite dates fixed. January 1 is the date for beginning the terms of elective officials except the governor, who takes office January 17.

GARRISON SUCCEEDS CARMICHAEL

The department of public safety, which as the nearest approach to a civil service or merit system in the state government, adhered to this policy this week, when it named Homer Garrison, Jr., youthful assistant director, to succeed the late H. H. Carmichael, as director of the state police system. Garrison, a deputy sheriff at Lufkin when he was 19, has been with the department since it was created, and has a brilliant record.

EDITOR'S CORNER

We were talking to one of the football boys the other day and he says they will beat Mobeetie seven points. We know it's bad business to say they will make more, but we do think they will. You boys are going to beat that bunch three touchdowns. We believe you can run it over them. It's bad that you have lost a few of your men, but don't let that stop you. You remember how much they beat you last year, don't you? Well, let's get our revenge.

The old Clarendon school system is just now beginning to get under way. The schedules are all straightened out and students and teachers alike are really putting their hands to work. Six weeks tests are only a short while away and an observer can notice the old students in getting ready for them. Mr. Drennan says every year that that particular student body is better than ever, but we think this one really is.

The Broncho Range is no slacker for spirit either. We have the largest membership we have had in several years, and it looks like we will put out the best page we have ever been able to put out. Understand we are not bragging, only telling you what we think. Let's keep up the good works,

We want to comment on a little article that appeared in your page last wee, "Impresasion of Clarendon College." The author of that story stated that the only fault that could be found was the lack of chivalry shown the girls by the boys. We agree with the author, in one way. There is very little chivalry shown, but do we want it? If the boys should suddenly become young gentlemen, the girls would object. They would rather be on the same level with the boys.

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste

Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery.

Symptoms may be nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength.

Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder may be burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills, Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

DOAN'S PILLS

ASSEMBLY

Assembly was held last Friday the fifth period as a climax to the Freshman initiation. The program opened with the whole group singing "The Battle Hymn of the Reublic," followed by "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," sung first by the girls, then by the boys, and then by all.

At this point, George Seaton took charge of the progam. He explained that the Freshmen had begged so hard that the Sophs were letting them put on the program. Jo Wells played a piano solo, "Ride, Tenderfoot, Ride," and "Lovelight in the Starlight." Ethelyn Drennan tap danced, and Jo Word sang "I've Got a Pocketfull of Dreams" and "Music-Maestro, Please." Both were accompanied by June McMurtry. This part of the program closed with a piano solo by Belva Robertson.

The second part of the program came from station BUNK, broadcasting from C. J. C. A special type of microphone was used and the progam was similar to the "Man On the Street.' Ralph Grady was the first one to be interviewed. Then, during a pause for station identification, it was announced that the program was being paid for by the Sophomores at the expense of the Freshmen. Others interviewed were Craig Johnson, Dorothea Riley, Ray Palmer, and Jack Reeves. Bobby Wilson came to the microphone between interviews to tell some pokes. After signing off, Announcer Seaton said the microphone would be turned over to Doctor Swift so that we might hear one of his famous sermons; however, it developed that Doctor Swift was not in the house.

Mr. Drennan closed with some announcements. The college was asked to remain for a meeting.

COLLEGE FRESHMEN AT J. D. SWIFT'S

J. D. Swift entertained with a party for the college freshmen at his home Thursday night.

Games were played with winner of the star checker game, Ralph Grady, receiving a prize. Dancing was enjoyed by those who wished to dance. The social lights were Charlie Murphy and Laura Drew. Charlie who has been noted on College Hill as champion wise cracker, was put in place with the snappy comebacks of Laura.

Punch and cookies were served to thirty-seven guests. All had a wonderful time and are planning another party soon.

SWINGING WITH THE BAND

Through the cooperation of the Pastime and Cozy Theaters the band sold 1,000 pencils with the football schedule printed on them. This netted the band about $40.

The band plans to go to the Memphis football game and if arrangements can be made it is hoped the band can go to the Canadian game, on October 28.

We are signing off this week with "Washington and Lee Swing," and will be back next week with "Alexanders Ragtime Band."

Sophomores Initiate Freshmen Successfully During Past Week

Another Freshman Class has undergone the tortures of freshman initiation week. (But somehow they managed to live over it!) Every Soph around College Hill has looked spic and span this week. Have you heard why? I'll let you in on the secret—the freshmen have very kindly kept the Soph's shoes shined and their coats neatly brushed. (Of course they didn't mind doing the work free of charge.) However, several prosperous fish owe their sudden prosperity to their unusual ability at selling papers at the enormous price of one cent each!

Don't tell anyone, but I know several young freshmen who were very sorrowful when they had to rid themselves of the aprons and overalls they wore during initiation week (or were they glad?)

A surprise chapel program Friday climaxed the initiation. An interesting progam was given by members of the freshman class: Jo Wells, piano solo; Ethlyn Drennan, tap dance; Jo Word, solo; Belva Robertson, piano solo. Dr. J. D. Swift was to deliver the sermon of the hour, but he was unable to be there.

A special broadcast of the "Man On the Street," came to us by remote control from station BUNK in the C. J. C. C. Building in Clarendon. Some of the freshmen were interviewed by the "requiring reporter," Warren Hardin. By listening to these interviews, we learned which way a pig's tail curls, the three major leaders in Europe today, how many eggs red hen lays; if Farmer Brown traded off the old Ford, the most important course in school, and other interesting facts. (Oh, yes, we found out that stagnation is a nation for men only.)

BR

STUDENT BODY OFFICIALS ELECTED

The college student body met Friday at the conclusion of the chapel period to elect their officers for the coming school term. The following officers were elected: President, George Seaton; vice president, Ruby Tucker; secretary-treasurer, Ethelyn Drennan; reporter, Theresa Bain; sergeant-at-arms, Ralph Grady.

The college enrollment is larger this term than usual, and it is expected that much will be accomplished during the year.

BR

HIGH SCHOOL SOPHS ELECT OFFICERS

The High School Sophomores held a class meeting Tuesday and elected the following officers: President, Billy Ralph Andis; vice president, Raymond Johnson; secretary-treasurer, John Burton King; reporter, Bietty Jo Bartlett; sergeant-at-arms, Jimmie Lumpkin.

Class sponsors are Miss Harris and Miss Howren.

NOTICE

This space is reserved for the students of C. H. S. and C. J. C. who have some question to ask Broncholetta. Just drop your question in the box in the office.

Dear Bronhcetta:
Is it true that love comes only to those who seek it?
A Sophomore.

Dear Sophie:
Definitely not. For instance, look at Lois Marie Taylor. Does she seek boys? No. Do boys seek her. Yes. Oh, yes, there's Phoebe Ann Buntin, too. ? ? ?
Oblingly,
Bronchoetta.

Dear Bronchetta:
How can I attract Billy Patman? Dozens of girls have tried and failed. Is he really a woman hater?
Miss Never-Give-Up.

Dear Miss Never-Give-Up:
Now, now, take it easy. Too many girls jump at conclusions. He isn't a woman hater, neither a woman chaser. If you take my advice, and make an A when he only gets a C, you've practically got him.

Dear Bronchoetta:
Can you tell me who will be Football Queen this year?
Inquisitive.

Dear Inquisitive:
Well, you do think I know a lot. Of course, I'd rather not say for sure, but it will be someone with Yvonne Smith's gayety, Margaret Pipes' eyes, Wanda Craft's hair, Frances Hott's mouth, Mildred Phelp's figure, and Dona Adams' wit.
Yours for questioning.
Bronchoetta.

OBSERVATIONS OF THE MASKED STUDENT

Ray Palmer wants a ride to Canyon Friday evening.

Ruth Cornell has been keeping company with a Freshman from Hedley lately. Ruth, would Stopper approve of this?

Ralph Grady has been wanting to visit Jelley McGowen every night all the season.

We wonder why Neil Thompson didn't go with Christine Thursday night.

We wonder if it is true that Billie Cooke's chemistry paper had five different handwritings on it.

There is a certain car that belongs to one of our high school students that has a habit of wandering off.

Junior High Team Is Outstanding

Mr. Pennick, junior high coach, has a team this year that would prove to be good competition for any high school team. They have defeated the Memphis team, 21 to 0, twice in succession. The boys are as fast and shifty as rabbits and as strong as steers. Buddy Ryan and Basil Smith ran the Memphis boys ragged but they never slowed up themselves for they are in perfect condition.

With the help of their ferocious linemen they ran the old pigskin over the pay stripe for 21 precious points. Tooter Johnson led the fight in the backfield for the Colts with the true leader spirit. The boys have developed a double reverse that clicks every time it is called. The ends can reach up and snag passes as easy as a Aggie, and they stopped the end runs on the line of scrimmage. The guards ran low, and charged hard and smashed the line wide open. The tackles played a perfect defense and a tough offense. When a boy did get through the line, he was brought down hard by an alert back. Every boy played his position splendidly, and we are very proud of them. They showed that they knew their stuff and were not afraid to put it out.

Everybody should see Mr. Pennick personally, and congratulate him for his fine coaching. This work of his will be a great contribution to the high school teams of tomorrow, and will make a smarter team for the high school coach to work with.

AMERICA A WORLD POWER

By Dorothea Watson

America knows that she is a great nation. The elements of greatness were not imparted to her by the war, but they were revealed to her by the war, and their vitality and significance were increased though the war. The world, today as never before, knows and confesses the greatness and power of America. The world today admires, envies, and respects America.

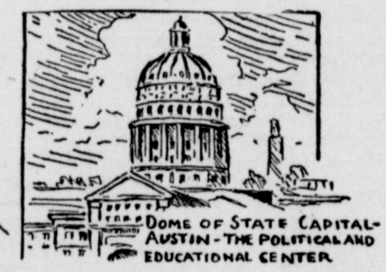

Her voice reaches afar, her spirit travels across seas and mountain ranges to most distant continents and islands; and with America goes far and wide what she represents—democracy and liberty and peace, a government of the people, by the people, and for the people. This is Americanism.

Sometimes wonderful things come through war, we must admit. But we must ever regret that they came through war instead of peaceful justice. When they do come through war, their beauty is dimmed by the memory of the suffering which was their price. Is there no other way to justice than war—that nations are forced to stoop to the methods of the animal and the savage?

America, the eyes of the world are upon you. Our eyes, the eyes of your children are upon you. We love you. We do not expect you to protect us; instead, we want to protect you, because we know that you are striving for eternal world peace.

Money In The Bank

By T. C. RICHARDSON, Secretary
Texas Breeder-Feeder Association

"Feed in the silo is like money in the bank—safe as long as you leave it there and subject to checking out whenever you need it." That's what thousands of trench silo users will tell you after a year's experience. There are now known to be about 11,000 of these "money in the bank" ditches in Texas and probably that many more in the four adjoining states, for which figures are not available at the moment. They range in size from 6,000 tons capacity down to those just large enough to feed one or two family milk cows, the tiny ditch just as efficient for its purpose as the huge canyons holding feed for thousands of beef steers.

The Southwest probably has the greatest crop of feed, both grain and roughage, in history. Many farmers who diverted land from cotton or wheat into other crops, will have more feed than the livestock now on their farms can use in one season. If stored above ground as dry forage its palatability and feeding value gradually deteriorates but if properly stored in a trench silo it will be as good ten years from now—if it should be that long before the next drouth or hard winter—as it is a month after filling the silo.

The trench silo can be constructed with little or no cash outlay. Any dirt-moving tool from a spade to a drag-line will do the work. It can be dug in a hillside or on the level, any length, depth or width to suit the conditions and the needs of the owner. If rock is too close to the surface or ground water too high for the desired depth, the dirt excavated can be piled up to raise the walls above the ground level, and increase the depth of the trench sufficiently to insure good packing of the ensilage, which is essential to proper curing and keeping of the material.

Any crop can be ensiled, even after the grain is mature and the stalks partially dried ou. The ideal condition of course is while stalks and foliage are still green and succulent, but if drouth or frost gets in its work before the crop can be ensiled, adding water will supply the deficiency of moisture and make ensilage of dry, or partially dry, material.

Corn, sweet sorgo and grain sorghums carry sufficient sugars and easily convertible starches to insure the fermenting process which turns the material into ensilage. Sudan grass and the legumes require the addition of some fermenting material, and black strap molasses, a few gallons to the ton of ensilage, will do the job.

Crops may be successfully ensiled in whole stalks or an ensilage cutter may be used. In either case success or failure depends on thorough packing in order to exclude air pockets. It is easier to properly pack cut ensilage than stalks and it is easier to feed out but the lack of a cutter has not prevented hundreds of farmers from making and using whole-stalk ensilage. Those who have not had previous experience in storing ensilage should consult their neighbor who has, or the county agent, who will supply detailed information in person or by bulletin

Ensilage is more digestible than dry forage, hence an acre of feed in the silo is worth more as feed than the same acre cured dry. There is also less waste, and the acre of feed will go farther in the silo. It furnishes succulent feed when green pastures are not available, and is therefore relished by all livestock. It keeps the digestive apparatus of cattle and sheep functioning better, they get more nourishment from dry grain feed, and therefore produce more milk or weight for each pound of expensive grain they eat.

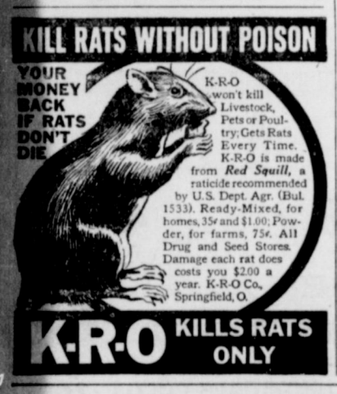

No farm, even if it has only a family milk cow and the work stock, can afford to do without a trench silo. One year's use will pay for it, and if not needed this winter, think what it would mean to have "money in the bank" when the next drouth hits!

Presenting Clarendon Junior College

By DORTHEA WATSON

Scientific knowledge and scientific management are at the root of all successful present-day projects and enterprises. The business man must have a thorough knowledge of the factors which enter into his business. Also the lives of youths are full of projects.

The aim of science is to start young people on scientific projects which will influence for good their present lives, and which will equally influence their future lives.

It is only recently that scientific writers have become aware of their obligation and value to the boys and girls in schools. Each year, the science classes are almost double that of the previous year. Pupils are becoming more eager to know the actual facts about the world in which they live. Not only in high school and college is science being popularized. The number of schools desiring general science for elementary schools is increasing annually.

Among the scientific projects presented to the pupils are those of the selection of suitable paints, oils, and varnishes for actual daily use; the examination of different fuels; the investigation of home and school lighting: the utilization of simple labor-saving devices to relieve physical exertion; the employment of chemical agents to transform useless waste products, such as grease and sewage, into useful products, such as soaps and fertilizers; and the application of hygenic facts and theories to school, home and community sanitation.

In practically every high school, college and university in America, science is voted to be the most interesting course. Why? Because it is moving forward and expanding. It progresses daily.

The general science department of the Clarendon Jr. College offers an excellent course which includes not only the above mentioned, but countless numbers of interesting scientific projects. Science is an important factor in human development and educational growth and expansion.

The interest and importance of Biology is usually a matter of opinion among students. Personally, I think it is very interesting and holds a place of unusual importance. For those people who are in constant doubt and argument over evolution, it is especially interesting.

Biology is the study of things that are alive, both plants and animals. Man lives in a world filled with living things. Some are his friends and some are his enemies. It is essential, if he is to be master of this world, that he should understand the living things that are around him.

Everywhere about us Nature reveals her secrets, her beauties, and her activities. Of special interest are the living things, the plants and animals, for they are always doing, going, growing. There is nothing more interesting in life than life, and yet we know so little about it. It is perhaps the greatest riddle of the universe. Whether the riddle of life will untimately be solved is a question which everyone would like to answer but only the rash would attempt to predict.

All the remarkable progress in biological information has come through the painstaking observations of many scientists, who by their contributions have made the world a better place in which to live. But in our zeal to apply these brilliant discoveries to human welfare, we must not overlook the beauty of biology; and as we attempt to understand life, let us not miss the delight that comes from simply knowing animals and plants in our homes.

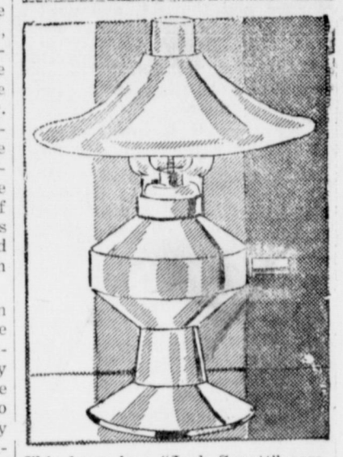

Biology will take its recognized place as a valuable subject in training only when teachers require accuracy of observation. It is possible to learn much about our own lives from the study of animals and plants, but trustworthy conclusions can be formulated only from reliable observations.

College Biology students have three lecture periods and two laboratory periods each week. The laboratory is fully equipped to meet all problems and experiments of everyday Biology. The laboratory is also a very interesting one, containing various preserved mammals which have been collected, and are very interesting for anyone to see. Man, in his opportunities, and responsibilities of life must know life and its functions; thus, we have the importance of Biology.

County Agent Receives Inquiries From Donley Farmers On Terracing

Several inquiries concerning terracing and contouring have been made by Donley county farmers in the past week according to H. M. Breedlove, county agent.

Mr. Breedlove encouraged the terracing work and stated that it was one of the most valuable assets in farming, especially in the Texas Panhandle.

Mr. Breedlove referred to a statement made by C. Hohn, specialist in soil and water conservation of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service which follows:

Contour cultivation results in the use of less fuel and allows more work to be done.

"We hear a lot about terracing and contour farming saving the soil and holding the rain where it falls, and about better yields as a result. If we had ever stopped and thought, and used a little common sense, we would have figured out long ago what some tests in Kansas proved, that contour cultivation also saves time and power.

"We know it is easier to walk on the level than up and down hill. It stands to reason that a team can pull a plow easier on the level, or that a tractor will do more work and use less fuel under level conditions. I imagine lots of farmers in Texas could have told us that."

"These tests showed that a man can farm on the contour and do about 15 per cent more work with about 9 per cent less fuel," Hohn pointed out. "It looks like it would pay us to work on the contour just from that angle, let alone the advantages of holding our rainfall and our soil."

RATON PASS WILL DIE AS NEW ROAD TAKES ITS PLACE

Picturesque Raton Pass highway will soon be dead. It will be replaced by a new speed road, leading from Raton up Railroad canyon, route of the Santa Fe railway.

Colorado is to complete its portion of the new road in October, and federal men are pressuring New Mexico to hurry. R. P. Nelson, location engineer, is now making the survey, estimates several months for completion.

The world-famous Raton Pass road has even the haunting fear of many a Southlander, headed for the mountain playgrounds. people familiar with it have not generally thought it was dangerous, but have admired its picturesqueness; the ribbon of road curbing around towering bluffs, and overlooking canyons in the bottoms of which, thousands of feet away, the purple cooling shadows were never completely dissipated, even during the most broiling days.

EVERYDAY RELIGION

By C. E. BRYANT, JR.

How be happy?

The story is told of a ferry boat operator whose run was across a river which formed the boundary line between two counties. One day, a passenger, enroute from Ashley county to Union county, told the riverman that he was moving his home into the second county.

"I certainly hate to leave Ashley county," he said. "The people there are so friendly and my neighbors have been so nice. Tell me, what kind of people are there in Union county?"

"Oh, the people in Union county are fine; they are even better folks than those in Ashley county, the operator replied.

The next day, another man used the ferry to transport his belongings from Ashley to Union county.

"I certainly am glad to get out of Ashley county," he told the boatman. "The folks there were terrible. What sort of people are there in Union county?"

"Oh, the folks in Union county are just awful. They are even worse to live with than those in Ashley county," came the reply.

After the trip was finished, the riverman's son asked his father to explain why he had told one man one thing and the other just the opposite.

"Well, you see," he philosophied, "it isn't so much the sort of neighbors you have; it is the sort of person you are. If the first man got along with his neighbors in Ashley county he will also find those across the river agreeable. Bpt, the second man seems to be the sort of fellow that always finds fault. He won't be able to get along with anybody; he will be miserable everywhere."

The message in this story throws a personal responsibility upon me to make myself enjoy life. If we could mold our attitudes toward the world in general so as to always be on the up and up, wouldn't this be a much happier world for us? Such is the religion taugh by Christ.
