Blasts Damage US Ship

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP)—Two underwater explosions heavily damaged the U.S. destroyer Warrington on Monday in the Tonkin Gulf where it was trying to intercept cargo from three Chinese freighters, U.S. military sources reported today.

The Navy said the cause of the explosions was under investigation. Spokesmen declined to speculate whether the 390-foot ship might have been hit by U.S. mines that had broken loose from the fields U.S. Navy planes planted around North Vietnamese harbors.

No enemy fire was reported at the time of the explosions, spokesmen said.

One sailor among the destroyer's 270 crewmen suffered minor injuires, was treated on board and returned to duty, the Navy said.

The 3,400-ton Warrington sustained heavy shock damage and there was flooding in its engineering spaces, which was quickly brought under control, a spokesman said.

The Warrington left the Tonkin Gulf on her own power for the U.S. naval base at Subic Bay in the Philippines but later was taken under tow by the salvage ship Reclaimer because full extent of the damage was not known, spokesmen said.

Sources said the Warrington was part of a 7th Fleet task force posted off Hon La island about 85 miles north of the demilitarized zone to fire on barges and craft attempting to ferry war materials ashore to North Vietnam from threeChinese Communist freighters.

The sources said none of the freighters had ever been attacked.

The U.S. Command reported that American fighter-bombers flew more than 310 strikes against highways, bridges, supply barges, fuel depots and warehouses inside North Vietnam on Monday.

Radio Hanoi claimed three U.S. warplanes were shot down this morning during U.S. air raids on the North Vietnamese capital city and Ha Tay Province. It made no mention of the fate of the pilots.

The U.S. Command said Air Force and Marine fighterbombers made two attacks in error on government positions in South Vietnam. The Command said five South Vietnamese soldiers were wounded, but none killed, in the strikes near Quang Tri City and Hue, on the northern front.

The Saigon command reported there was no significant change on that front. South Vietnamese marines and paratroopers remained on the eastern and southern edges of Quang Tri City. Scattered ground fighting and artillery and mortar attacks against government positions were reported.

Today In History

Today is Tuesday, July 18, the 200th day of 1972. There are 166 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in the year 64 A.D. the great fire of Rome began. The legend is that Emperor Nero set the fire and fiddled as the city burned.

On this date:

In 1776, New Jersey declared itself independent of British authority.

In 1792, the American naval hero, John Paul Jones, died in poverty in Paris.

In 1914, the U.S. Army created an Aviation Section within the Signal Corps and six planes were made available for air training.

In 1932, the United States and Canada signed a treaty to develop the St. Lawrence Seaway.

In 1938, flier Douglas Corrigan-nicknamed "Wrong Way Corrigan"-arrived in Ireland after leaving New York on a flight ostensibly to California.

In 1964, thousands of blacks rioted in New York's Harlem after the shooting of a young black by a policeman.

Ten years ago: The government of Peru was overthrown by military leaders and the United States halted military aid to that country.

Five years ago: Railroad workers began returning to work, ending their nationwide strike and President Johnson named a conciliation panel to settle the dispute.

One year ago: The South Vietnamese government proposed that North and South Vietnam call a ceasefire and countrywide general election leading to reunification.

Top Entries Expected For 36th Annual Rodeo

A record number of entries are expected in the Thirty-sixth Annual Scurry County Rodeo to be held Wednesday night through Saturday night at the rodeo arena on West Thirtieth Street. Each performance will begin at 8:30 p.m.

Ann Mattison of Hungerford, secretary of the rodeo, said that 228 entries had been received by noon Monday. You can sign up in person at the Sheriff's Posse building on West Thirtieth or you can call in your entry at 573-8675.

"We expect a record number of entries this year," Ann said. She reminded rodeo fans that the rodeo this year is an International Rodeo Association sanctioned rodeo. The books on entries will close at noon Wednesday.

This means that some of the top cowboys in the country will be competing for prize money. Included among the top 10 already entered are Ronny Williams of Fort Worth and Mike Duplissy of Winnsboro, La., bareback bronc riding; Ronnie Hilton of Keller, Tom Walker of Norman, Oklahoma, and Don Smith of Kiowa, Oklahoma, calf roping; Charlie Battles of Talala, Oklahoma, Everett Crandell of Henrietta, Oklahoma, and Red Doffin of Ada, Oklahoma in steer wrestling; Jack Wiseman of Missouri City, Texas and Glen Bird of Weatherford, Texas in bull riding; Jim Erickson of Prescott, Ariz., Stan Moser of Jamul, Calif., and Brad Beachen of El Cajon, Calif, in saddle bronc riding. Wiseman and Bird both are previous winners in bull riding at IRA rodeos for a season. Battles currently is the leader in steer wrestling.

Other events include barrel racing, goat sacking and Pony Express Racing. Several talented cowgirls are entered in the barrel racing, including Vicky Johnson and Marie, Lesa, Billie and Jenny Voss, all of Snyder. Another competitor will be Judy Boggs of Cyril, Okla., who currently is in the top 10 in barrel racing.

Sinatra Blasts Panel's Action

By JIM ADAMS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Frank Sinatra marched grimly into a House Select Crime Committee room today and accused the committee of indecently and irresponsibly letting a convicted felon "bandy my name about."

"It was character assassination, let's face it," the retired crooner told a jammed hearing room.

Sinatra said the committee should have immediately refuted the testimony of Joseph (The Baron) Barboza May 24 that the singer had been a front man for La Cosa Nostra money in the Fontainebleau and Sands Hotels in Miami Beach and Las Vegas.

"This bum went running off at the mouth and I resent and I won't have it," Sinatra said. "I'm not a second class citizen. Let's make that clear."

"How do you repair the damage that was printed in the newspapers?" he demanded.

Committee counsel Joseph Phillips said Barboza unexpectedly made the charge about fronting for the mobs in the two hotels when he was asked about a completely unrelated matter at the May 24 hearing.

Phillips said the answer could not have been anticipated or cut off and noted that the Fontainebleau had filed an affidavit with the committee denying the story.

"And at that point someone, presumably the counsel, should have done something to refute that story," Sinatra said. He suggested the committee should have called the press in and announced the hotel's statement.

"I don't have to refute it because there isn't any truth to it," Sinatra said of the Fontainebleau story at another point.

As for his purchase of stock in the Sands hotel in 1963, he said that was bought "with my own money."

The huge House caucus room was jammed with spectators and at least 200 people waited outside as Sinatra began testifying.

There were several squeals of recognition reminiscent of his crooner days as he came down a corridor, moving unsmilingly and quickly toward the committee room.

Mrs. Bryant Dies Monday

Mrs. Hattie Bryant, 70, who lived at 2511 Ave. C, died at 6:30 p.m. Monday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital, after a lengthy illness. Mrs. Bryant was a life time resident of the Snyder Area. She was born Jan. 20, 1902 in China Grove. Funeral services are set for 2 p.m. Wednesday at Northside Baptist Church, with the pastor, Rev. George White, officiating. Burial will follow in Ira Cemetery, under the direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home. Grandsons will serve as pallbearers. Mrs. Bryant was a Baptist.

She married Bob Bryant, Sept. 11, 1918 at China Grove. He survives.

Other survivers are three daughters, Mrs. Bobbie McKinney of Snyder, Mrs. Aurelia Cook, of Polson, Mont. and Mrs. Frances Teague of Monahans; two sons, Jimmy of Kermit and Jack of Snyder; two sisters, Mrs. Mattie Hairston and Mrs. Celia Murket, both of China Grove; one brother, Leonard Allen of China Grove; 16 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

WTC To Host NIRA Rodeo

The Western Texas College Board of Trustees gave official approval for a college-sponsored rodeo and approved new personnel in its regular monthly meeting last night. The remainder of the time was devoted largely to routine matters and reports.

Van Rigby, assistant professor of agriculture, and sponsor of the Rodeo Club, outlined to the board the expected expenses and income in the event that WTC did host an NIRA rodeo. He poionted out that although intercollegiate rodeos usually included top-rated performers, that they were often plagued with poor attendance. It was the concensus of the board that WTC should have a top-quality rodeo, and that if it did, the local and area people would probably support it.

The rodeo will be held Oct. 12-14, and would coincide with the open date of the Snyder High School varsity football game. Included in the plans are a top-rated announcer, clown, rodeo stock and prizes, so that the better performers will have the incentive to compete in the rodeo. Dr. Clinton said that the entire staff of the college would back the rodeo and help it to be a success.

New personnel approved include the following: Mrs. Ruth Griffith, part-time piano instructor; Harry L. Krenek, associate professor, history and geography; Richard E. Lancaster, assistant professor, English; Joe Reaves, assistant professor, psychology; Michael Thornton, art instructor; Mrs. Kathleen Tully, instructor, biology lab; and Paul G. Alexander, residence hall director.

The board considered bids on the paving of parking lots, curbing and tennis courts. It was decided that the best type, and most economical in the long run, would be a hot-mix, and the board accepted the low bid of $41,830 submitted by Price Construction. The board also accepted the low bid of $9,247.49 of Stevens' Pictures for some audio-tutorial equipment.

Soviet Military Advisers Asked To Leave Egypt

CARIO (AP) — President Anwar Sadat has asked the Soviet Union to withdraw its military advisers from Egypt, informed sources said today.

Several were seen leaving on Sunday and Monday, shortly after Premier Aziz Sidky returned from a one-day visit to Moscow.

Sadat informed the 150-member Central Committee of the ruling Arab Socialist Union of the action today and several heads of foreign missions here were called in to see top Egyptian officials Monday—including the chief U.S. diplomat here, the informants said.

It was not immediately clear how many Soviet military advisers were to leave or how soon.

Estimates of the number of Soviet military advisers in Egypt range from 10,000 to 20,000.

They came after President Gamal Abdel Nasser's secret visit to Moscow in January 1970 in which he agreed to Soviet military presence. He went to the Soviet capital during Israel's deep penetration bombing raids against Egypt.

Two months later badly needed surface to air SAM missiles, manned by Soviets, began arriving in Egypt.

The withdrawal of military advisers, perhaps because they have finished their job, and trained the 500,000-man Egyptian army, was expected to be popular among the masses.

Student demonstration blocked Cairo streets last January for nearly a week with participants questioning Egypt's relationship with the Soviet Union.

Asked in Washington about the new development in the Middle East, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird would say only that "we are watching the initial reports very closely."

At the State Department, officials dealing with the Middle East went into a series of meetings but later said they had no information other than press reports from Cairo.

Removal of the military advisers may be considered by many a sign of Egypt's independence from the Soviet Union. It would ease complaints of those who fear domination by any one foreign power and could open the door to a freer foreign policy in Egypt where everyone is fed up with the continued state of no war, no peace, observers said.

Considered of interest is that one of the few ambassadors known to have met with the premier Monday was the Sudanese ambassador.

Sudan, largest country in Africa and the Arab world, expelled thousands of Soviet advisers after an unsuccessful Communist-led coup last July and has since made enormous diplomatic efforts to be friendly with everyone—including the United States and Communist China—as well as its African and Arab neighbors.

Occidental Inks Pact With Russia

LONDON (AP) — The Occidental Petroleum Co. announced today that it has signed an agreement with the Soviet government to supply the Russians a wide range of scientific and technical services.

Informants in London estimated the value of the contract as high as $3 billion and said it was the biggest ever signed by a U.S. corporation with the Soviets.

Dr. Armand Hammer, the 72-year-old chairman of Occidental, told a news conference the agreement was signed in Moscow on July 14. He said it covers a five-year period and is renewable by mutual consent.

Hammer, who first did business with the Soviets shortly after the Bolshevik Revolution, said the contract covers five areas.

1. The exploration, production and usage of oil and natural gas in the Soviet Union.

2. Production of agricultural fertilizers and chemicals.

3. Metal treatment and metal plating.

4. The design and building of hotels in the Soviet Union.

5. The use of solid waste materials.

"The agreement is not restricted to the five areas mentioned," Hammer said, "but permits development in other areas at any time by mutual accord."

The agreement also provides for compensations for the transfer of scientific and technological know-how the sale of patents and the sale of licenses, Hammer continued.

Hammer pointed out that his company's deal with the Soviet government was one of the first developments to follow in the wake of President Nixon's agreement during his Moscow visit two months ago for U.S.-Soviet cooperation in the fields of science and technology.

"In 51 years of dealing with the Soviet government," said Hammer, "I have never found the grounds more favorable for the rapid expansion of East-West trade than exists at present."

Occidental's chairman gave no indication of his financial arrangements with the Soviets, but some experts speculated that payment would be in crude oil and gas from the Siberian fields.

Rumors of the agreement circulated in Europe on Monday, and soon after they reached New York trading in Occidental's stock was halted on the New York and West Coast stock exchanges.

Trading resumed on the West Coast after the New York market closed. In 2½ hours the stock jumped 19 per cent, from 12¾ to 15⅛ on a volume of 116,300 shares.

Irish Truce Feelers Reported

BELFAST (AP) — New feelers for a cease-fire in Northern Ireland were reported today after guerrillas of the Irish Republican Army halted their attacks in the bullet-scarred Lenadoon district of Belfast.

David O'Connell, chief strategist of the IRA's Provisional wing, said in Dublin that overtures for a new truce with British forces were being made. O'Connell, who led negotiations for the cease-fire that collapsed nine days ago, declined to elaborate.

British authorities would not confirm his statement.

Despite the hint of peace, 100 shootings and gunfights were reported across the province between midnight Monday and 8 a.m. Tuesday.

The British Army said soldiers hit eight guerrillas in gunfights in Belfast and Londonderry, where three big bombs caused heavy damage in the commercial district Monday.

Three soldiers were reported wounded by snipers. Two bombs blasted the predominantly Protestant town of Portadown, southwest of Belfast. One wrecked a tavern.

Protestant vigilantes and Catholic guerrillas battled in Duncairn Gardens, a no-man's land in North Belfast, the Army said.

The IRA Provisionals agreed late Monday to halt their bomb and bullet attacks in the Lenadoon area of Southwest Belfast. They yielded to demands from Catholic residents to stop shooting after the British army said it would pull out most of the 700 men it had stationed there if the guerrillas quit first.

Some British units were expected to withdraw today, after William Whitelaw, Britain's administrator in Northern Ireland, conferred with his security chiefs.

At least 29 persons have died in more than a week of fighting since the cease-fire ended. The army said 160 terrorists were killed or wounded, and the IRA acknowledged 10 dead and 58 wounded.

Blackout Cripples New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Several residential sections of Brooklyn were crippled by a blackout Monday night and more than 100,000 customers faced another scorching day today without power to help them bear the heat.

It was described as the largest blackout here since the Northeast power failure in November 1965.

Consolidated Edison shut off electricity to the Bay Ridge, Sunset Park and Gowanus sections at 9:45 p.m. Monday after six of 10 27,000-volt feeder cables had stopped functioning.

The National Weather Service predicted temperatures in the 90s today, with the humidity expected to be uncomfortably high.

The decision to cut the power was made, according to a Con Ed spokesman, to avoid overloading the four feeder lines that were still functioning. "If we didn't cut the power when we did, the entire system would have been destroyed," he said.

The immediate cause of the breakdown was not determined.

Her 'sexy' bosom is a burden to her

By Abigail Van Buren

(c 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: This is in regard to that lady whose husband is always gawking at women with big bosoms while she is made to feel inferior because she is small.

I have what is considered a "sexy" bosom, and I hate it! Ever since my teens I have been conspicuously large. Even today I have an entire bureau drawer filled with expensive bras of every description because I have never found a comfortable one. I am sick and tired of bras which cut and bind and torture me.

I am seriously considering surgery to reduce the size of my bosom. I envy the woman who is lucky enough to enjoy the freedom and comfort of a small bosom. And if her husband is a male chauvinist pig who humiliates her by constantly gawking at big-bosomed women, any psychologist could tell him that he is still a little boy looking for his Mommy. BIG IS BURDENSOME

DEAR BIG: Your feeling has been confirmed by many. But one woman's "burden" is another woman's booby prize.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think retired parents should spend EVERY day with their married daughter? Mine have rented an apartment near us and they use my home to store all their "hate-to-part-with" treasures. My closets contain their off-season clothing, and they use my house as theirs, which doesn't upset me, but I resent more and more the lack of privacy.

They come here at 9 a. m. for "coffee" and stay for lunch, then they wait for the children to come home from school. They are still here when I start dinner, and since they never have any plans, I ask them to stay. They don't sponge off us. In fact, they're always bringing steaks, fresh fish or something for the family.

They do many things to "help" me. Dad works in the yard and Mom sews and darns and bakes. I go to nothing alone. Not even a dental appointment. They like to go along "for the ride" and are content to just sit in the car and wait for me.

Altho there are many retired couples in this community, my folks want no part of them. We are their only interest. Several years ago our friends were very good about including them in parties, etc., but they grew tired of this, and now our social life is very sparse.

Well, Dear Abby, my problem is somewhere in this rambling letter, so if you can find it, perhaps you'll offer a solution. TRAPPED

DEAR TRAPPED: Your problem wasn't hard to find. You lack the courage to extricate yourself from a situation which has become stifling. The only solution is to try harder to acquaint them with their contemporaries, and introduce them to other interests.

DEAR ABBY: Three cheers for that wife of 50 years who was married to Herman, and felt that after 50 years of "for better or worse" she was entitled to a few years of "better" before she died.

She probably raised a family and helped Herman in his business, while Herman [on his off hours] charmed the ladies and pursued his hobbies. Then Herman grew old and the ladies were no longer charmed.

Herman's wife probably got tired of hearing Herman tell people what a great father and husband he was. And how hard he had worked all his life to become a big success from such a humble beginning.

Hooray for Herman's wife who had the courage to call it quits after 50 years. I hope she's living it up in Palm Springs, and still has the health to play a few games of canasta.

I wish I had her courage. "A FORTY-NINER"

CONFIDENTIAL TO "EMPTY ARMS": Stay with the husband to whom you have been happily married for the last 15 years. Number One missed the boat 20 years ago.

Teamster President For Nixon

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (AP) — President Nixon returns to Washington today with the endorsement of the leadership of the 2-million-member Teamsters Union.

Nixon smilingly thanked and shook hands with Teamsters chief Frank Fitzsimmons and other members of the independent union's executive committee after it endorsed the Republican President's re-election bid Monday.

The Teamster president did not disclose whether there was any split in the committee vote, but a source said it was almost unanimous.

Fitzsimmons blasted Democratic candidate George McGovern and termed the break from big labor's backing of Democratic presidential hopefuls "unprecedented."

But a Teamsters historian later said that although the union had supported Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey and other Democrats dating back to Depression days, it backed Nixon's losing campaign in 1960 against John F. Kennedy.

In a prepared statement to newsmen at the union's conference and recreational complex 25 miles south of the Western White House here, Fitzsimmons declared that Teamster leaders "felt that the backing of Mr. Nixon was in the best interests of labor and the country." Fitzsimmons was the only labor representative on Nixon's Pay Board who remained after others walked out in protest of the President's policies.

The Teamsters president cited complaints about McGovern on Monday ranging from support of the "right-to-work" law which labor opposes, to his stands on marijuana and the Vietnam war.

Presidential press secretary Ronald Ziegler flatly denied as "untrue and absurd" a speculative Washington report that linked the Teamsters' endorsement with the early release from prison last Dec. 23 of former Teamster leader James Hoffa by presidential clemency. The events were not connected.

In Washington, the Justice Department denied further that the endorsement had any ties with the department's recent decision not to prosecute Fitzsimmons' son, Richard, in Detroit on allegations of mishandling Teamster funds.

Shriners Parade In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, having been described as "the salt of the earth" by a U.S. Senator, gave Dallas this morning what was perhaps the city's biggest parade ever.

More than 10,000 Shriners were to participate in the parade to celebrate the international organization's 100th birthday.

An estimated ninety thousand other Shriners are in Dallas, participating in various activities of the 98th Imperial Council Session of the Ancient Arabic Order.

The Shrinetennial officially opened at the Statler Hilton Grand Ballroom Monday afternoon with colorful ceremonies which included civic and Masonic dignitaries and visitors from all over North America.

The Mayors of Dallas and Fort Worth welcomed the Shriners, as did one of the groups own members, U.S. Sen. John Tower, R-Tex.

"You are the salt of the earth and I am proud of you," declared Tower.

C. Victor Thornton, Imperial Potentate and a member of Moslah Temple of Fort Worth, read a telegram from the White House which characterized the Shrine as having "an extensive record of humanitarian service."

Entertainers, such as Bob Hope and Meredith Willson, were to be on hand. Forty Shrine Bands were to play Willson's "76 Trombones."

Services Held For Mrs. Hernandez

Funeral services were held at 3 p.m. Monday in Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church for Mrs. Beatrice E. Hernandez, 65, of Snyder, who died at 10 p.m. Saturday in Cogdell Memorial Hospital. Officiating at the services was Father Francisco Lopez, with burial in the Hillside Memorial Gardens under the direction of Bell-Seale Funeral Home.

Mrs. Hernandez was born Feb. 4, 1907, in Floresville, Texas, and had been a resident of Scurry County for 22 years. She married Joe Hernandez in 1926 in Floresville. He survives.

Ohter survivors include five daughters, Mrs. Isabell Allen and Mrs. Mamie Rios of Snyder, Mrs. Annie Mena of Fluvanna, Mrs. Margaret Shuler of Abilene and Mrs. Jessie Fernandez of Lockhart; eight sons, Joe, Merce, Leonard and Louis, all of Snyder, Ralph of Belton, Lupe of Bastrop, Jimmy of Dallas, and Rudy of Garden City, Kansas; one sister, Mrs. Elviria Melchor of Snyder; 46 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Grandsons were the pallbearers.

McGovern Has Three Outlines

CUSTER, S.D. (AP) — Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern, in the Black Hills of South Dakota for two weeks of rest and strategy sessions, has before him three alternative schedules and a detailed proposal for media spending in the fall campaign against President Nixon.

The outlines, far more detailed than anything the Democrats had four years ago even after the campaign was launched, were among the materials McGovern brought with him when he flew here Monday.

After an enthusiastic greeting from several hundred supporters in Rapid City, he drove south 37 miles to the Sylvan Lake resort area near here.

Aides said McGovern's scheduling office has prepared one outline for concentration on the large industrial states, a second for a campaign aimed at all 50 states, and a third for an attempt to combine the two approaches.

In addition, the aides said, a detailed plan covering media expenditures, both allocating amounts per area and specifying type of advertisements to be used, has been prepared for McGovern by Charles Guggenheim, the senator's radio-television adviser.

In 1968, Democratic presidential nominee Hubert H. Humphrey arrived at his Waverly, Minn., home after the party's late August convention to find that no planning had been done for the general election campaign.

Even while resting, McGovern had his eye out for strengthening the party unity behind his candidacy.

Within five minutes of his arrival at Cabin No. 22 at Sylvan Lake, the candidate was on the phone to Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley to thank him for Monday's endorsement of the entire Democratic ticket.

Press secretary Richard Dougherty said Daley, ousted from last week's Democratic National Convention in a drive led by McGovern backers, told the senator he and Sen. Thomas F. Eagleton of Missouri are "a fine ticket" and he planned to "do what he can to help him get elected."

The next major step toward Democratic party unity is Wednesday's meeting of the AFL-CIO Executive Committee in Washington. Although top McGovern aides are keeping hands off, Eagleton is expected to see some of the union chieftans before that session.

Mrs. McGovern, delayed in Washington for personal reasons which aides said included a physical examination, is expected to join the senator Wednesday for a celebration of his 50th birthday.

RODEO

featured during the opening night performance. The Pony Express Race — featuring a four-man team—will be held the remaining three nights.

Sponsor of the rodeo is the Scurry County Rodeo Association. Its officers are J. N. Eicke , president; Ralph Miller, vice-president; Tommy Riley, secretary-treasurer; John Ward, arena director; and Sidney Johnson, Jerry Springer and Bill Zimmerman, directors.

Stock producer is Sloan Williams of Hungerford, who has been the producer for the past several years. Jim Miller, a real estate broker from Rapid City, South Dakota, again will be the announcer. A popular announcer. Jim has handled these duties at the Scurry County Rodeo for the past five years.

Clowns will be Lecile Harris of Collierville, Tenn., and D. C. Cogburn of Miami, Okla.

There will be a grand entry every night. The annual rodeo parade will begin at 5 p.m. Wednesday. The parade will lineup at Twenty-sixth Street and Avenue Z and proceed clockwise around the downtown square, then travel south on College Avenue to Thirtieth Street. Several floats will be entered in the partade.

Admission to the rodeo will be $2 for adults and $1 for children.

Hoyle Nix and his West Texas Cowboys will provide music for the nightly dances from 10 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Minor Damage

Minor damage resulted from a two-car collision in the 3700 block of College Avenue at 5:35 p.m. Monday.

Involved were the 1969 Model Rambler of Sharon Lynn Gill, 3701 Galveston, and the 1964 Model Chevrolet of Jackie Dell Barrett, 214 Thirty-sixth Place.

Bids Accepted By County Court

County Commissioners yesterday accepted bids for the installation of a jet fuel tank and pump at Winston Field.

The bid of $4,531.03 submitted by Hale Pump Co. of Big Spring for the jet fuel tank was accepted. The bid of $5,340 from Semler Industries, Inc. of Franklin Park, Ill. for a pump also was accepted.

The name "Colorado" derives from the Spanish word for red, first applied to the Colorado River.

Dish Fools Non-Weight Watchers

By TOM HOGE
Associated Press Writer

The dieter, unnerved enough by the absence of calorie-laden goodies from his plate, would do well, in the opinion of this weight watcher, to avoid being too Spartan all at once.

I found it rough, for instance, to try to cut down on food and alcohol at the same time. Get used to one deprivation, then follow it up with the other; if you have any moral fibre left.

Diets often seem to be dull, but they really don't have to be. Veal is a good diet dish, and it comes in many attractive, unfattening forms.

This delicate, light meat serves as the basis of a particularly tasty dish known as the veal bird. Stuffed with all manner of good things, rolled and simmered in chicken broth, it sends the weight watcher away from the dinner table contented and without that gnawing feeling that follows many diet meals. And the dish also delights other member of the family who are not watching their waistlines.

The birds are stuffed with onions, mushrooms, spinach and grated cheese. The blandness of the vegetables is offset with a liberal dish of tabasco sauce. This peppery sauce blends well with most any dish that might accompany the birds. The veal dish has a festive look, incidentally, yet it is simple to prepare and cooks in less than half an hour.

Sliced tomatoes sprinkled with bread crumbs and herbs and cooked in the broiler a few minutes are a good accompaniment for the veal. Here is the recipe:

VEAL BIRDS

2 tablespoons margarine
¼ cup chopped onion
¼ pound chopped mushrooms
10 ounces frozen chopped spinach
¼ teaspoon tabasco
½ teaspoon dried leaf basil
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese
½ teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 pound thin-sliced veal cutlet (8 slices).
1 cup chicken broth

Melt butter in skillet, add onion and mushrooms, cook until tender. Add thawed spinach, tabasco, basil, salt, Parmesan and lemon rind. Cover and simmer 5 minutes. Place 2 tablespoons stuffing on center of each veal slice, roll and secure with toothpicks. Place veal rolls in skillet and add chicken broth. Cover and simmer 20 minutes, until veal is tender. Serves 4. Good with a dry white grapes, well chilled.

Cinnamon Buttered Toast Sticks

Blend 3 tablespoons soft butter or margarine with 5 tablespoons brown sugar and 1 teaspoon cinnamon. Cut sliced bread into sticks or fingers and spread with cinnamon mixture; place on greased baking sheets and bake in 400-degree oven until lightly browned, about 5 minutes.

Browns Enjoy Annual Reunion

The Brown reunion was held this past Saturday and Sunday at the Towle Park Pavilion.

Approximately 75 people enjoyed a goat barbeque Saturday night and more than 100 were there Sunday to enjoy the annual dinner. This was the largest group to attend in a number of years.

Those attending were from Big Spring, Ralls, Odessa, Loraine, Fort Worth, Houston, San Antonio, Abilene, Levelland, Norman, Okla., Belton, Sweetwater, Iowa Park, Wichita Falls, Colorado City, Morton, Idalou, Lubbock and Snyder.

It was announced at the conclusion of the get-together that the group would meet at the pavilion again next year on the third Saturday and Sunday of July. Everyone was asked to bring their old pictures to this gathering to compare and swap.

HOST REUNION—Mr. and Mrs. N.A. Brown of Snyder and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Brown hosted the Brown reunion held this past Saturday and Sunday at the Towle Park Pavilion. The reunion will be held at the same time, the third Saturday and Sunday of July, and the same place next year.

TUNA COTTAGE CHEESE

1 cup butter, soft
½ cup small-curd creamstyle cottage cheese
1 can (6½ or 7 ounces) tuna in vegetable oil, drained
1 tablespoon caraway seeds
1 tablespoon drained capers
1 tablespoon minced chives
1 tablespoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon paprika

With electric mixer cream together the butter and cottage cheese; add tuna and beat until smooth. Stir in remaining ingredients. Mound mixture in center of serving plate; sprinkle lightly with extra paprika. Chill slightly before serving with crisp crackers. Makes about 1¾ cups.

WOMEN

Actress Presents One-Woman Shows

By PEACE MOFFAT
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Vinie Burrows is a gutsy actress who has the nerve to think she can stand on a stage for an hour and a half and entertain an audience all by herself.

But the amazing thing is—she can—and won great acclaim from New York critics for her one-woman show, "Walk Together Children," which she calls a "journey into the black experience."

In her apartment here that looks almost like a country home—with plants hanging from the ceiling, tomatoes ripening on the terrace, warm, wood-grained furniture and stacks and stacks of books, Miss Burrows settled her tiny frame into a rocking chair and discussed her work.

With her hair wrapped in a turban, and wearing a blue shirt and slacks, she looked more like a housewife—which she is, with a husband of 19 years and two children—than an actress, director, producer and businesswoman, which she also is and has to be to keep her show going.

"I was born and grew up in New York City," she begins. "I remember when I was about 6—it must have been something I said, but a lady said to my mother, 'Oh, she's going to be an actress.' After that I was so inspired I went to Central Park and practiced speaking with pebbles in my mouth."

She graduated from high school with a beautician's license, however, because her mother felt an actress's career wasn't entirely respectable. Miss Burrows also learned as a teen-ager about the special problems black actresses have to face.

"When I was in high school, I read about a woman who tutored actresses," she relates. "I wrote for an appointment, and went to her Park Avenue apartment. A butler opened the door, and ushered me upstairs. The woman was floored that I was a black. She said, 'I've never taught one before,' and refused to teach me. I said, 'Well, I won't cry in front of you,' walked down the stairs and the butler let me out."

Miss Burrows didn't give up, although she was later told she would end up playing only the roles of maids. She majored in pre-law at New York University, but later became associated with the American Negro Theater, made her Broadway debut with Helen Hayes in "The Wisteria Trees" and appeared in six other Broadway shows and several off-Broadway.

The actress's career as a monologist began in 1963. "I had done the shows, but I still wasn't getting any real satisfaction," she says. "So I thought I could assemble a one-woman show. It took a lot of courage and work. The first one was a series of vignettes from theatrical literature. I made no money but it was received well. Then I did a show called "Shout Freedom," about all kinds of personal freedom, and "Dark Fire," about the folklore of Africa.

Her present program, which has closed in New York, but will be taken to other cities, began when Miss Burrows was asked to perform for a church here. "I'd thought of doing a peace show," she says, "but they told me they'd had a lot of those, and suggested I do something about the black experience. So I did, and it was a great success. I worked on it for a year—expanded it—and the show really opened in 1968." Since then it has appeared across the country, and off-Broadway.

"Walk Together Children" is a mix of prose, poetry and song, using the actual words of ex-slaves, historical figures and the writings of modern black authors. "The program keeps changing to reflect how I think and feel," its creator says.

One thing Miss Burrows feels is a strong reaction to the question of her "black militancy." "That's a press word—it's like waving a red flag in front of a bull," she exclaims. "Did you call Patrick Henry a militant? I am certainly more conscious now of the fact that everything we do has political overtones. We have to realize how interrelated all aspects of our lives are. There are bigger problems than that I'm black and you're white, but if we can't solve those human relations problems, how can we begin to cope with the larger ones, like taking care of our world?"

To give yeast breads a rich glossy color, brush with beaten egg about 15 minutes before end of baking time.

Inspect Foods For Good Buys

COLLEGE STATION — "To put the lid on soaring summer prices, inspect local food markets for economical buys," advised Gwendolyne Clyatt, Houston consumer marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Aervice.

In beef sections, consider ground beef, frankfurters, spare ribs, steaks and roasts for outdoor cookouts. Many markets feature hams of all types and also offer luncheon meats as good choices for the picnic season.

"Poultry products rank high as thrifty meat and protein buys," Mrs. Clyatt said. "Despite larger supplies, demand for fryers will likely remain strong. Specials on the birds continue to offer real bargains; any price rises won't be great enough to knock them off the low-cost list."

According to the Texas A&M University employe, the 1972 turkey crop climbs five per cent larger than last year, with cold storage stocks of the birds also numbering more this year.

Fresh fruit markets have tagged watermelon with attractive prices as supplies increase considerably. Texas-grown honeydew melons, with extra good flavor, also boast moderate to low prices.

Fresh fruit and vegetable sections offer pineapples, oranges, bananas, cantaloupes and potatoes as choices in best supply at the most economical prices. Also cabbage, carrots, tomatoes, dry yellow onions, radishes and green onions.

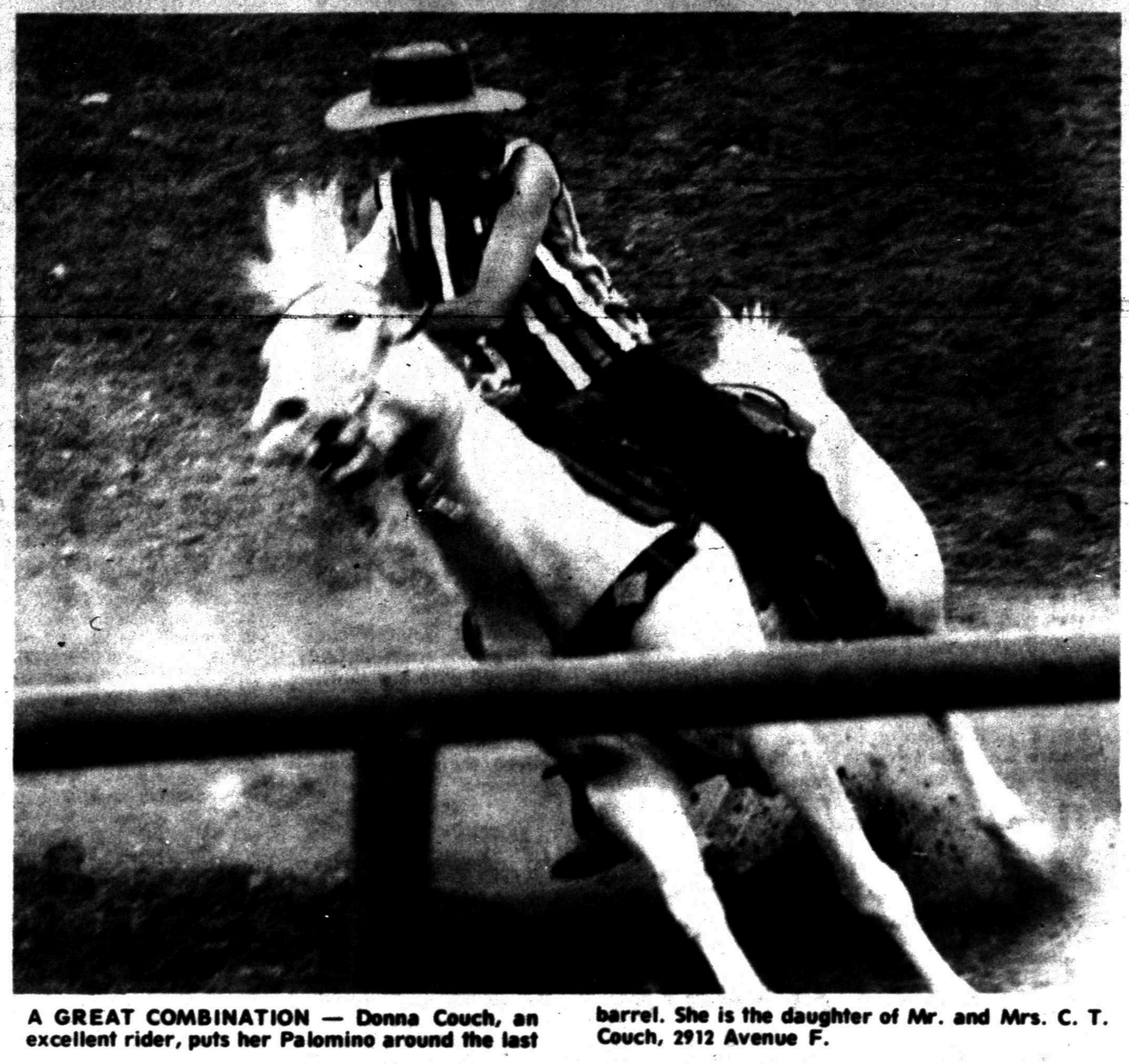
Playdays Big Events In Today's 'West'

DOWN IT COMES — Bobby Don Stroud brings the pole with him in the pole bending contest. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Stroud, 600 Avenue R.



A GREAT COMBINATION — Donna Couch, an excellent rider, puts her Palomino around the last barrel. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Couch, 2912 Avenue F.

BENDING THE POLES — Just a might too much pole for Lagina Stroud to bend. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Stroud, 600 Avenue R.

BY BILL BALDWIN JR.

"I like to feel the sun, the rain and the wind," the old-timer said. "Used to on Saturday night we would head out for a regular barn dance. We'd spend the next morning soaking our heads and then in the afternoon, providing you hadn't danced your callouses off, we'd cut out some steers. Then we'd find out who the best horseman was real quick."

No one needs to tell the old-timer that times have changed. Cowboys and Cowgirls cruise around the city square on Saturday night in an air conditioned V-8 automobile and Sunday morning finds them fidgeting in the back pew of a good Christian Church. The afternoons however, may not be in for a change for some time to come.

The Sabbath may be a day of rest for people and rightly so, but on that day many a horse gets his weekly workout. The tradition and heritage the old-timer referred to earlier hasn't disappeared.

Like so many All-American activities horses and the sport that surrounds them are part of a back-to.nature revival traveling across the country. It seems to be well entrenched in the cities too, at this early stage.

Of course, the old-timer would tell us that horses are working animals. He'd have his hands full of argument should he mention that to any member of Snyder's riding clubs.

Recently, Cowboys and Cowgirls from Snyder, Big Spring and Sweetwater and C. City gathered for a District IV Playday of the American Association of Sheriffs Posse's and Riding Clubs. A Playday is where western riders, young and old, put their ponies through the paces and occasionally through a fence.

A Playday has eight competitive events divided into four age classifications: Pee-Wee, Juniors, Intermediate and adult. Events like the Baton Relay recall the old days when Pony Express riders raced across the prairie carrying the U.S. Mail. Ring Spearing is a modern version of nights jousting in the Middle Ages. Barrel Racing finds a special place in the hearts of Sunday equestrians.

A twelve-hundred pound steed at full throttle rounds the three barrels set in a triangle pattern. It demands much of horse and rider. The rider must signal the horse when to slow and stop to turn each barrel in succession and then spur the horse into a run to the next barrel.

Other events such as the keyhole, pole bending, potato race, flag and ribbon race test the skill of the rider. Not discounting the horse; he must run hard, turn on a dime, and snake through any number of mazes.

In this area, participants come from all around to revive some of the heritage that would bring a nostalgic tear to the old-timers eyes. Riding clubs are not the only group of horse lovers. Many a modern day Cowboy relishes a few hours spent on a good horse.

As local rancher-farmer John Voss put it, "When I get worried or just not feeling right, I just saddle up that old hoss and ride off for a little peace and quiet. Just me and that old hoss. It sets a man's mind at ease.

CHECKING OUT THE POSSE — Lloyd Merritt, former sheriff of Scurry County, strikes a typical pose as he watches the playday in progress.

OBSERVER — Earl Clinkenbeard, 4706 A venue R, watches as his daughters come to a flying finish in the ribbon race.

ONE POTATO, TWO POTATO — Ricky Kruger, son of Mrs. Hazel Nichols, 208 Thirty-fourth, scores points on a fast ride by putting his potato in the right place.

Investigators Hunting Link In Tavern Fires

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Fire investigators are hunting for a link between the controversial vending machine and juke box industry and a series of fires in Texas taverns and night clubs.

"Personally, I think it could be a tie-in," said Odessa Fire Marshal Kenneth Cable.

Cable is investigating two lounge fires in Odessa last month, both ruled arson cases.

He said his investigation has not turned up enough conclusive evidence to point a finger at any sort of power struggle among juke box owners.

"But I was told by one of them there is a war going on," Cable said. "I can't tie it in, but they come right out and say there is something going on."

Other clubs which have burned during the past year include night spots in Dallas, Amarillo, Houston and Galveston—plus three in Lubbock clubs burned since last December, two of the more than once.

Lubbock Fire Chief A. C. Black said a five-gallon gasoline can was found at each of the five night club fires in his city. He said there is un unconfirmed report that at least one of the blazes was a "paid job."

Black said one man is being sought in connection with the fires but "we don't have any evidence we could present in court."

The vending machine and jukebox industry has attracted attention since 1968 when a legislative inquiry was made into the business. Buster Loicano, a Fort Worth machine company, owner, testified he lost machines worth $20,000 in a fire at a bowling alley two days after his machines were installed.

More recently, regulation of the amusement machine industry has become a touchy matter of concern in the legislature. The lawmakers were considering the appointment of Raymond B. Williams as chairman of the newly formed state vending commission last month, when he resigned. Williams said he resigned because of "unjust criticism."

Of the night club fires, these in the Lubbock area have caused the most damage.

The Hobnob Club burned at Lubbock last Dec. 4 causing more than $20,000 in damage. The Jockey Club burned Dec. 17, causing $10,000 in damage.

The Hobnob burned a second time Jan. 25, leaving more than $20,000 in smoking ruin. Again, the Jockey Club burned March 7, doing another $25,000 in damage.

The most recent fire was at the Town Pump, which saw $20,000 go up in smoke.

Cable said after the Sands Lounge fire at Odessa in mid-June he received a visit from a vending machine operator who said he had heard the industry was suspect in the blazes.

"We weren't investigating that angle at that time," Cable said. "But everyone has been saying the fires and the vending machine people are connected."

After the 1968 legislative hearings, a law was enacted in 1969 under which the industry became tax-regulated by the state controller's office. The vending commission was set up last year and was removed from the controller's authority.

Dallas arson investigator Joe Yadack said last week's fire at the Players' Lounge was definitely arson.

"We also found a gas can at the scene," he said.

"This thing is definitely something of concern," Cable said.

AUDITOR REPORTS
State Lost Money On Insurance Tax

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — State Auditor George McNiel says "substantial" revenue might have been lost because of the Texas Insurance Department's failure to collect a tax on certain group insurance policies.

The comment came in an official audit of the department's records.

State law imposes a 1.1 per cent tax on insurance companies, gross premiums, but premiums on the first year of a policy are exempt.

McNiel questioned what he called "the prevailing practice" of treating all premiums on group disability—including hospitalization—and credit life insurance policies as exempt from the tax.

"Since credit life insurance currently being written in Texas amounts to many millions of dollars annually and the amount of premium tax involved, if due, would be substantial, we have pointed out to the (insurance) commissioner the need for the board to study and perhaps secure a legal opinion on this matter," McNiel said.

Robert Clines, the insurance board's attorney, said no attorney general's opinion has been sought, but "this matter is being studied for litigation—we may just go in and institute some collection suits."

"I am sure something will be done before taxpaying time," said Clines, referring to the March 1, 1973 deadline for the next gross premium tax reports.

He said the problem arises because the terms of a number of group insurance contracts permit either party to drop out after a year, or to renegotiate the terms of the contracts. this leads to the belief, he said, that all premiums for such group policies are first-year premiums, exempt from taxation.

"There have been some strenuous screams by some companies that this (tax) is not a collectible item," Clines said.

He added that "the biggest problem has arisen not so much on credit life as on the big employer groups."

Legal experts said they knew of no law prohibiting the collection of the tax as far back as it was due if the courts rule it can be collected on group policies that are renegotiated annually.

Fire Victim In Poor Condition

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — An elderly man was listed in poor condition early today with burns suffered in a boarding hotel fire that killed four persons. Arson was tentatively ruled as the cause of the blaze.

Hospitalized with burns over 50 per cent of his body was Albert J. Williams, 80, one of four persons who escaped the fire on San Antonio's poor West Side about midnight Sunday.

The dead were identified as Carl Vann, 42, Anita Simpson, 28, Willie Rogers, 58, and Tommie Piper, 51.

Mrs. Simpson's three children were staying nearby with their great grandmother.

Fire investigator Blas Arcos said there was "a strong indication that it was set by arsonists" because fires appeared to have started in two places in the Holiday Hotel, said to be about 75 years old.

He said the blaze raced through the two-story frame structure and "the people upstairs were trapped. They had no chance to get out at all."

Officials said it was the city's worst in terms of lives since 1957, when four small children died in a house fire.

John Connally Rejoins Law Firm

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally is rejoining the law firm he left to become a member of President Nixon's Cabinet.

Frank Smith, a partner in the firm, said Monday that the firm officially changed its name July 1 to Vinson, Elkins, Searls, Connally & Smith to reflect Connally's return.

Drilling In China Studied

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — An international oil exploration company is investigating possible drilling in China.

Robert L. Parker, president of Parker Drilling, Co., said Monday his firm has approached the Chinese government and received a reply.

"They informed us they were interested and would contact us in a short time," Parker said in an interview.

"It is such a vast country that there is bound to be oil there. It could well be a great new frontier."

The most likely areas, he said, are along the coast and possibly in a basin near Russia.

Parker Drilling has 14 rigs that could be transported even into remote areas.

The firm has several rigs on the North Slope of Alaska, has several drilling deep holes in the deep Anadarko Basin of Oklahoma and West Texas and three in the Uinta Basin of Utah.

The firm also operates in Ecuador, Peru, Colombia, Paraguay, Bolivia and Agentina. There are two rigs in the Far East and a third is scheduled to begin operations soon.

The firm will be shipping a new rig to Africa within the next 30 days with a second one to go next year, Parker said.

House Vote Set On Health Bills

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is moving to intensify attacks on America's chief killer and communicable diseases despite Nixon administration opposition to key parts of the billion-dollar battle plans.

Two comprehensive health-fund authorization bills, similar to measures which the Senate passed without dissent, were due for House action today.

One would provide a three-year, $1.29 billion program aimed at curbing heart, blood vessel, lung and blood diseases—America's leading killers. The other would extend the communicable disease control program for three years under a $270 million plan to combat venereal diseases, German measles and tuberculosis.

The heart bill is envisioned as a companion to the recently enacted $1.6 billion anti-cancer law. The Senate's version of the heart legislation authorizes $1.47 billion over three years, about double the present rate of spending. The Senate-passed bill on communicable diseases contains a five-year authorization of $759 million.

The House Commerce Committee approved a more conservative funding level in both bills but retained several organizational features such as grants to states and local communities in the communicable disease control bill, and the handling of research and treatment programs through federal facilities in the fight against heart and lung diseases.

The administration has opposed organizational features of the legislation and contends the earmarking of funds would limit flexibility. It objected to the categorical grant programs on grounds there is sufficient legal power already available for control of communicable disease.

The key features of the heart bill include creating new research centers, speeding up the federal grant process, setting up a national heart and lung advisory group, and requiring a national plan covering a wide range of prevention and research programs.

The communicable disease control bill would focus $150 million on venereal disease, which officials call an epidemic. Reported cases of gonorrhea rose from 260,468 in 1962 to 624,371 in 1971.

Old Army Saying Is Still True

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Hurry up and wait" is an old Army saying.

The Army was anxious in 1946 to let the homefolk know that Pvt. Alvin L. Finkowitz, 18, of Los Angeles had completed basic antiaircraft artillery training and had qualified as rifle sharpshooter.

Finkowitz's relatives and friends had to wait 26 years to be officially informed because the publicity release from Ft. Bliss, Tex., arrived only Monday at the Los Angeles Times.

In the meantime, Pvt. Finkowitz has changed his name to Fink, has risen to vice president of U.S. Consumer Products Co., has married and has two daughters and two grandchildren.

The release that the Times received was marked "for immediate release" and postmarked Aug. 13, 1946. Neither postal nor Army officials could explain the delay in delivery.

Effect Of Oil Activity On Environment Probed

GALVESTON, Tex. An organization involving scientists from ten institutions and funded by more than 50 companies in the petroleum industry is undertaking a two-year, 1.5 million dollar study of Louisiana's coastal and continental shelf region.

The organization Gulf Universities Research Consortium (GURC), will determine what effects, if any, petroleum activities have had on the marine environment.

The sponsoring companies will have no control over either the collection or interpretation of data and the findings of the comprehensive study will be made public, according to Dr. James M. Sharp, President and Principal Investigator for GURC which is based in Galveston, Texas.

Dr. Sharp is one of 20 participating scientists. Dr. Robert J. Menzies of Florida State University is Chief Scientist for the organization.

"The study," said Dr. Sharp, "is to be conducted in an area roughly ten miles by 40 miles including Timbalier Bay in the Louisiana Delta country and will extend to about the 90-foot depth contour on the continental shelf. Particular attention will be given to comparisons between relatively undisturbed sectors and those which have experienced extensive drilling and production over many years."

Dr. Menzies said that GURC scientists are now "actively reviewing experimental procedures with federal and state agencies in order that the data and information obtained in the research can be developed in a form which permits easy comparison with data the agencies have obtained or are in the process of obtaining."

The objective of the study, said Dr. Menzies, is to answer the question: "Have petroleum drilling and production operations affected the environmental quality in estuaries and continental shelf areas, and what changes, if any, in the exosystem have resulted from these activities?"

Hugh B. Barton, of Humble Oil & Refining Company, chairman of the industry group which is providing funds for the GURC study, said that a public and objective study of this nature can replace subjective speculation with a scientific consensus based on valid data. This data can assist the industry in its planning and can provide information to governmental agencies as they formulate energy development policies.

Most of the joints in the human body are actually immovable, consisting of two bones separated only by a thin tissue. An example is the skull, whose joints are capable of just enough movement in case of accident to prevent the bones from breaking.

'Sleepy' Is Last Sofka Pusher

OKEMAH, Okla. (AP) — If it's sofka that "turns you on," Alfred "Sleepy" Storm is the man to see.

A white-haired, mild-mannered resident of this small Oklahoma community, he proudly admits he is the last sofka pusher in the country. His backroom operation turns out about 8,000 pounds of the stuff a year. He sells it in two-pound to 100-pound lots for 25 cents a pound.

"And it's a very pure product—every bit as good as you can make in your own home," he said.

Sofka is a food stuff, Indian corn. The sofka grind of flint corn used to be supplied by Coleman mills to retail outlets across the state.

"But they've all quit within the last few years," Storm said. "So we just grind our own now, and try to take care of our customers."

Most of his customers are Indians.

Sofka is the Creek Indian word for a coarse-ground corn that is smaller than hominy but much larger than grits. It was a staple of the Indian diet.

Storm's sofka is processed in an old, double-barreled coffee grinder in the back room of his grocery store.

'73 Tax Increase Seen Regardless Of Course

NEW YORK (AP) — America's tax bill averages about $4,500 per household, or $2,000 more than 10 years ago, causing rumblings and mutterings about a tax revolt by those hardest hit.

But that's only half the story. As many, or more, are demanding greater government expenditures, for health and welfare especially, and Congress seems willing to go along with them.

The situation is developing into a mass confrontation of opposing philosophical and practical views on what course the country is to take. One group calls it a tax problem, the other a spending problem. Both demand reform.

Few politicians care to discuss it before November, but regardless of which course is taken over the long term, the outcome of the immediate battle seems likely to be—you guessed it—a tax increase in 1973.

The reason for this conclusion, now shared by a large number of economists and researchers, is that government spending commitments already exceed revenues.

With the fiscal 1973 budget deficit likely to be near $30 billion, the three-year total 1971-1973 may exceed $80 billion, a stupendous figure when measured against any other "peacetime" period.

Whether or not spending can be better controlled after 1973 depends to some extent on the outcome of this year's election, but it is worth noting that recent deficits were run up by a President who considers himself a spending conservative.

The past also offers a suggestion: Figures supplied by the Tax Foundation demonstrate that in recent years the country has been demanding more services from its government but has been more reluctant to pay the bills.

In 1962, the foundation reports, expenditures per household by local, state and federal governments were $3,225. By 1968 the comparable figure was $4,676, and for 1972 it was more than $6,200.

By contrast, taxes per household in 1962 were about $2,500, rising to more than $3,600 in 1968 and to more than $4,500 in 1972, a percentage rise of only 77.5 per cent, compared with a spending advance of 93 per cent.

While inflation has many causes, this gap between revenues and expenditures is cited by economists as one of the underlying causes. Inflation, they point out, is really an unlegislated tax.

If a tax increase does come, what will be its form? Again, a lot depends on which party is most successful.

Present speculation puts a value added tax at the top of the list, especially if President Nixon is re-elected. Simply, this tax would be levied every time value is added to a commodity as it proceeds through the production process.

Tax analysts figure such a levy would yield $15 billion in revenues to the federal government, but it also could erode the tax base. It would, for example, put upward pressure on prices and tend to discourage demand.

Higher income taxes also are mentioned as a possibility, no matter who is elected, although there is considerable feeling among economists that such a move would be accompanied by relief at lower income brackets.

Junior Editors' Quiz on MACE

QUESTION: What kind of spice is mace?

* * *

ANSWER: Mace is a product of the nutmeg tree, a tall evergreen which ordinarily grew in the Molucca or Spice Islands, but now is successfully raised in all of the East Indies and West Indies, Brazil, Ceylon and India. The tree has long, pointed leaves and clusters of pale yellow flowers which resemble lillies of the valley.

The nutmeg is the fruit of the nutmeg tree and is the only single fruit yielding two spices. On ripening, the fruit husk splits and exposes a lacy red membrane that is commercially known as mace. This membrane is removed and dried in the sun, then it turns to an orange color. The inner kernels of the nutmeg are dried over slow fires for days and then are sorted according to their size. The large ones are sold as whole nutmeg and the small ones are ground.

While the spices nutmeg and mace come from the same tree, the two spices differ in flavor and use. The aroma of ground mace is similar to that of nutmeg, but the flavor seems to be milder. Mace is used in many fish dishes including oyster stew. It is also used in many jams and jellies and to flavor and enhance the color of certain cakes.

Remarks Returnees Tire Of

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks people get tired of hearing when they come back from a vacation:

"Have you been away?"

"You didn't get much of a tan, did you?"

"You missed the best weather of the year while you were away."

"I'd like to hear all about your vacation, but I guess it'll have to wait until I get back. I'm leaving on my own vacation in half an hour."

"You put on a few pounds, didn't you?"

"Oh, is that where you went? We stayed there year before last. Is it still as terrible as ever?"

"It's a good thing you came back so soon, George. That guy who filled in for you did a great job."

"Think of all the things you could buy now if you'd just stayed home and saved your money."

"Your children behaved like perfect little angels, but I'm glad you're back. Your daughter has the mumps and your son broke his collar bone yesterday, and right now he's getting pretty fretful."

"I knew I'd left one of the gas jets on the stove burning. It has been burning for two whole weeks. Heaven knows what our gas bill will be this month."

"We missed you, George. But that new guy who filled in for you is an awful nice guy, too."

"I didn't even notice you'd gone until yesterday."

"The first thing I found in the mail this morning was a letter from that vacation lodge saying they had undercharged us $124.50, and asking you to send a check for that amount by return mail. Can they do that to us?"

"I know you said you had a fine time on your vacation, but tell me, what was it really like?"

"Of course, I want to hear about your vacation. But first I want to tell you about mine."

"You look tired. What you need is a vacation from your vacation."

"We'd love to come over and see the pictures you took on your vacation, George. Shall we make it next month sometime?"

"You picked a great time to come back. The worst heat wave of the season is supposed to start tomorrow."

"The guy who filled in for you bought the state lottery ticket you'd bought if you were here. He won a $1,000 consolation prize."

Shivers To Support Tower

TYLER, Tex. (AP) — Conservative Democrat Allan Shivers, a former Texas governor, will throw his support behind incumbent Republican U.S. Sen. John Tower in Tower's bid for re-election, a GOP spokesman said Monday.

Shivers announcement will be made public later in the week by Ed Clark, chairman of the Texans for Tower campaign. Clark also is a Democrat.

A state Republican headquarters source said although Shivers will lend his support to Tower, newspaper announcements of the move were not supposed to have been made until after Shivers' official announcement later in the week.

The first class of cadets at the U.S. Air Force Academy north of Colorado Springs graduated in June 1959. The cadets chose the falcon as the academy's mascot.

269 Serving Life Terms In Texas

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Two hundred sixty-nine persons—including four women—are currently serving life sentences in Texas prisons under a law covering habitual offenders.

Classed as habitual offenders on their third conviction for a less-than-capital felony offense, most of these prisoners are imprisoned for offenses like burglary, with only a few convicted of crimes involving assault or threat.

Pope Expresses Hope For Unity

WINNING COMBINATION—Calvin Reese, left, and John Hopkins, right, combined from the mound and behind the plate in the Snyder All-Stars victory over Colorado City yesterday. Reese hurled a two hitter and Hopkins stole home in the second inning for the winning run.

Snyder Conquers Colorado City 11-2

The Snyder Little League All-Stars lived up to everyone's expectations yesterday afternoon when they met and conquered the Colorado City All-Stars 11-2. The visiting Snyderites dominated all but the first half of the second inning in coasting to their first victory.

Neither team scored in the first inning. Snyder first threatened when Sid Everton led off with a single for the game's first hit, but C. City shortstop Blake Hammond fielded Zane Sterling's hard hit grounder over second, stepped on the bag and fired to first, completing the double play and ending the Snyder threat.

In the top of the second the C. City team surprised Snyder hurler Calvin Reese with a single and a two run homer by Craig Carter. The first offensive spark could have opened the game for the hosts, but Reese remained unshaken and retired the rest of the order.

In the bottom of the inning the Snyder machine finally began to roll. Darrel Lester was hit by a wild pitch, Randy Browning walked, and Hopkins was also the victim of a misguided toss. Everton stepped to the plate with the bases full and two men gone in the inning and singled to right field to score Lester and Browning. Everton took second on the throw to home and Hopkins broke home with the go ahead run on a daring steal, causing another throwing error that allowed Everton to score. That wild flurry sent Snyder ahead to stay 4-2.

The remainder of the game was merely an exhibition of this season's individual stars playing as one unified galaxy. The Snyderites capitalized on their opponents' errors and made breaks of their own. Browning clouted a third inning home run and Lester repeated with a four bagger in the fourth to completely demolish Colorado City.

Hopkins and Sterling had solid singles and Dray Sikes placed a near perfect bunt down third base for a hit. Everton was three-for-four to lead the offensive attack.

Reese was splendid from the mound, mixing his fast ball with curves that kept C.City off balance. In the last four frames he allowed only four base runners, finishing the game with a two hit victory. The Snyder defense was almost impenetrable, supporting Reese with 14 putouts during the game.

The next outing for the All-Stars will be Friday night against either Ballinger, Winters, or Colorado River. Ballinger and Winters have played each other, but the results are not known. The winner of that game will meet Colorado River and the winner of the Colorado River game will play Snyder.

Flames Rip Big Spring

The Snyder Flames bested Big Spring 21-8 here in Winston Park Monday night behind the pitching of Gwen Brunson, who boosted her record to 8-0. The Flames now are 10-2 for the season.

Barbara Moffett and Wanda Hudgins each collected three hits for the Flames. Barbara hit a home run and a triple while one of Wanda's hits was a three-bagger.

Helen Rios, Linda Yeager, Sue Jane Sullivan and Gwen Brunson each slammed two hits. One of Helen's hits was a bases loaded double.

Janie Roddy also was credited with a two-bagger.

The Flames will participate in a tournament here Thursday and Friday nights., Big Spring meets Odessa at 8 p.m. Thursday, followed by a clash between Kermit and Monahans. On Friday, Western Insulation tangles with Andrews at 7 p.m.; Hamby tests Midland at 8:40 p.m.; and, the Flames take on Mineral Wells at 10 p.m.

HOME RUN TROT—Darrel Lester trots home after smashing a fourth inning home run that was the crushing blow in the eventual downfall of the Colorado City All Stars. Lester's home run was the second of the game for Snyder. Randy Browning clouted a four bagger in the third.

Tennis Players Capture Trophies

Snyder netters travelled to Brownfield last weekend and returned with nine trophies from the three day event.

Mary Margaret Womack had a thrilling day, winning the 12 girls' singles in her fourth tournament appearance. She has captured the Big Spring crown, finished second in the Snyder tourney, and won her first round in Odessa's Highway 80 tournament. Quite an impressive showing for her first year of tournament play.

To take the title Mary Margaret first beat Amanda Bragg of Denver City in two love sets, and repeated by blanking a Lubbock opponent in the semifinals. She left her record unblemished in the finals by defeating Denver City's Judy Eubank 6-0, 6-0, giving her a 36-0 game record for the three matches.

Suzanne Peek won her first match in 16 girls' singles with Pam Huneke of Lubbock 1-6, 6-1, 6-3. Debbie Fields was beaten by Robin Armandes of Lubbock 1-6, 0-6 and Suzanne won her second match over Gloria Masso, Brownfield, 7-6, 6-4. In the semifinals Armandes won her match and Peek downed Lynn Sparks of Lubbock 3-6, 7-5, 6-2. Suzanne had another difficult match in the finals, but finally emerged the champion with a victory over Armandes, 6-4, 4-6, 7-5.

In boys' 16 singles David Watlington was defeated by Jameson of Lubbock 5-7, 3-6 and Bobby Christian lost to Doug Davis of Lubbock 1-6,6-1,1-6, but Christian and Watlington came back in the doubles with a first round victory over the Lubbock team of Benitez and Brown 6-2, 2-6, 6-4, and avenged their singles losses by beating Davis and Jameson 7-6, 6-4 for the championship.

Christian also competed in boys' 18 doubles, teaming with Jimmy Brandon to beat their first round opponents from Muleshoe 6-4, 6-1, and then finishing second after 3-6, 6-7 losses to champions Cummings and Simmons.

In boys' 14 singles Glenn Smiley fell to Steve Farrell of Lubbock 1-6, 1-6, and Mark Leavell was beaten by John Elmore 2-6, 2-6.

Ricky Bowden came back from a second round loss in boys' 12 singles to take third place. He won his first match 6-2, 6-2 over Doug Snodgrass of Lubbock before falling to Perry Franklin of Seminole 1-6, 7-5, 1-6, then defeated Bobby Locke of Andrews in the third place match 4-6, 6-2, 6-2. Bowden teamed with Robert Botts in the doubles event, losing their first round to Robert Campbell and Robert Reeves 1-6, 1-6, and then losing again in trying for a third place finish against Locke and Nazarenas 4-6, 6-4, 4-6.

Deanna Boles combined with Suzanne Peek to take second in the women's doubles, losing in the finals to Mary Sparks and Joneen Cummings, a three time state champ from Seminole, 4-6, 1-6.

Deanna teamed with David Watlington in mixed doubles but lost to the team of Robert Kirchenbauar and Cindy Croslin 0-6, 2-6.

Bill Boles, coach of the Snyder outfit, competed in the men's singles and doubles, but had some unlucky first round draws. In singles he was narrowly defeated by Tim Plumlee, who went on to win the championship, 6-7, 4-6. In doubles play Boles and Robert Donovan, coach at Lubbock Dunbar carried two more coaches, Lee White of Brownfield and Plumlee of Seagraves, three sets before falling, 2-6, 6-4, 4-6. White and Plumlee went on to win the men's title.

Coach Boles stated that the Brownfield tourney marked the end of tournament play for the team although some of the individual players may choose to enter other summer tournaments on their own. He also said that the instructional courses will be extended a week to make up for some of the days missed because of tournaments.

Pitchers Shine In Jr. Loop

There were some tight pitching duels in the Junior Teenage League last night as the Braves shaded the Bullets 7-1 and the Dodgers blanked the Oilers 2-0.

Stan Francis twirled a no-hitter for the Braves, who got their only run in the 5th frame on a walk and an error after two men were away.

The Braves collected only three hits off Charles Hammond and Paul Villanueva, who divided pitching chores for the Bullets. Randy Gressett tripled for the Braves while Bernie Weems and Ricky Howell each singled. The Braves tallied one run in the 1st, one in the 3rd, one in the 6th, and four in the 7th.

The Oilers' Ricky Beard and Phil Robinson shared mound duties and twirled a no-hitter, but the Dodgers took a 2-0 decision, getting one run in the 6th off a walk, a stolen base and an error, and one in the 7th off an error and a fielder's choice.

Dodger pitchers Garry Greenlee and Roy Villaneuva yielded just two safeties—singles by Rickey Beard and Larry Gee.

Dodgers, Greens Win Contests

The Roscoe, Snyder & Pacific Dodgers flailed the VFW and Auxiliary Giants 34-7 in an important Miss Softball America contest here last night.

The Dodgers shelled three different Giant pitchers for 12 hits. Leading the hit parade was Ronda Cain, who rapped four singles. Mary Jo Timmons, Debra Littlepage and Cherlyn Runner each smashed two singles. Cindy Clayton and Letrice Pevehouse each collected one single.

Mary Jo Timmons and Debra Littlepage divided the pitching chores for the Dodgers.

Giants collecting singles were Lela Archie (2), Martha Womack, Tammy Ashworth, Peggy Fletcher and Cindy Beasley.

The Dodgers tallied 14 runs in the first frame and 20 in the second inning. The Giants made all of their tallies in the first stanza.

In the other game last night, the Greens bested the Blues 31-10 with Karen Webber, Gwen Hopson and Regina Lewis each getting four hits. One of Karen's hits was a double. Gwen had a triple and a double to her credit, and Regina stroked two doubles and a triple.

Pat Stewart got two hits, including a double, and Teresa Hall was credited with two hits. Ruth Hammond netted one hit. Karen Webber was the winning pitcher. She worked four frames and gave way in relief to Pat Stewart in the 5th.

Bowling Trophies Presented Tonight

There will be an awards presentation tonight at 8:00 at Snyder Lanes announced Joe Pitts, owner of the bowling facilities.

Trophies and awards will be presented for the American Junior Bowling Congress and the tournament that was held May 20-21. All participants of the two events are encouraged to attend the ceremonies.

The two most impressive spring hitters for the New York Mets have been Rusty Staub, obtained from Montreal, and rookie John Milner who hit 19 homers last year at Tidewater, Va.

Captains Sweep Twinbill

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A youngster who knows the feeling of a winning tradition and an oldster who is the other side of 40 are moving to reverse the sagging fortunes of the Shreveport Captains in the Texas League.

Both the bat and the glove of David Chalk, a third baseman from the University of Texas, were prominent Monday night when Shreveport swept a doubleheader from the Midland Cubs.

On the bench was manager Norm Sherry providing moral support. Sherry, whom some hot stove leaguers remember as the man who handled Sandy Koufax, has activated himself as a catcher for Shreveport. The Shreveport manager celebrated his 41st birthday Sunday.

Shreveport eased past Midland in the first game 3-2 and had less trouble taking the shortened nightcap 4-1.

In other games, El Paso edged Alexandria 4-e, Memphis sneaked past San Antonio 2-1 and Amarillo beat Arkansas 5 to 4.

Chalk, who played with this year's NCAA Dist. 6 champion Texas Longhorns before being drafted, launched the first game victory with his first homer as a professional in the first inning.

In the second game, he drove in three of the Captains' four runs. The base knocks gave him a string of nine consecutive games in which he has hit safely.

Sherry decided to activate himself after one of his catchers was injured. He did not play in Monday night's twinbill.

House OKs More Funds For Aged

WASHINGTON (AP) — An additional $1.5 billion for programs to aid the country's elderly has been approved by the House of Representatives.

The vote was 351 to 3 Monday. The bill now goes to the Senate.

The funds will be appropriated over three years, with $335 million for the current fiscal year, $510 million for 1974 and $683 million for 1975. Emphasis will be on programs designed to provide economic and personal independence for older Americans.

The measure provides for a National Information and Resource Center for the Aging and appropriates $35 million for multipurpose senior centers.

Some $225 million will go for special impact programs to improve housing, transportation, employment education and preretirement training.

A portion of the funds will be distributed to the states on the basis of the percentage of population over age 60.

Marcus To Retire

DALLAS (AP) — Edward S. Marcus, chairman of the board of the world-renowned Neiman-Marcus specialty store, announced Monday he will retire in November upon his 63rd birthday.

Stanley Marcus, Edward's older brother, remains president and chief executive officer of the store.

Screwworm Cases Are At Ten-Year High

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cattle producers in the Southwest, who represent an important link in the nation's meat pipeline, are being plagued by the worst outbreak of screwworms since a massive eradication program was launched a decade ago.

The Agriculture Department, although warning several months ago of the buildup potential, has not reported on the seriousness of the current situation through regular information channels.

Field reports, however, have been published by the USDA Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, and they show screwworm infestations at 10-year highs.

During the week of June 18-24, the most recent period reported, 3,946 cases of screwworms were confirmed, the APHIS said, Most cases were in Texas.

"This is the largest number of laboratory confirmed cases to occur during any single week since start of the program in 1962," the agency said.

Screwworms are larvae which develop from eggs laid by screwworm flies in open wounds of cattle and other animals. The worms can injure and sometimes kill livestock.

For 10 years the United States and Mexico have engaged in cooperative efforts to control or eradicate screwworms in areas on both sides of the border.

One of the most effective means-until now, at least-has been the distribution of sterile screwworm flies in the zones. Those insects mate with natural flies, which, in turn, lay unfertile eggs. Thus, according to the plan, the eggs do not produce the screwworm larvae.

In June, the report said, Texas accounted for 3,879 of the confirmed cases, with others reported in New Mexico, Arizona and Oklahoma.

According to APHIS officials, the heavy outbreaks this year resulted in part from abnormally warm weather in Northern Mexico last winter. That enabled screwworm flies to remain "unusually active" and ready to build up their numbers when spring arrived.

Production of sterile flies has been stepped up in hopes the outbreaks can be slowed. Meantime, officials said, livestock producers need to be more watchful than ever.

Navels of newborn calves and man-made wounds resulting from dehorning and castrating are said to be especially susceptible to the flies.

Connally Visits Union Stock Yards

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The Union Stock Yards had one of its most famous visitors Monday—former Treasury Secretary John Connally.

Relaxing at his ranch in nearby Floresville after his recent 15-nation tour for President Nixon, Connally came here to sell 175 cattle in Monday's auction.

The former Texas governor, the only Democrat in Nixon's Cabinet until he resigned recently, told a newsman he was exhausted when he completed his 35-day worldwide tour.

He looked rested and relaxed when he arrived here Monday, accompanied by a brother, Merrill Connally.

The former Treasury Secretary returned to his ranch over the weekend after completing his trip and reporting to President Nixon last Friday. The President was an overnight guest there earlier this year.

Connally sends cattle to San Antonio for auction frequently.

FischerBack In The Running

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Bobby Fischer was back in the running for the world chess championship today, and it appeared that the fourth game might start this afternoon without the turmoil that has kept the match on the world's front pages for nearly two weeks.

The 29-year-old American chess whiz won his first game ever from world titleholder Boris Spassky on Monday and now trails the Russian 2-1 in their 24-game match. In seven previous meetings, Fischer lost five times and two were draws.

Spassky was at the chess board alone Monday when the third game resumed after the overnight adjournment, and referee Lothar Schmid opened Fischer's sealed 41st move, left with him the night before. It was bishop to queen six, and it put the champion's king in check.

Spassky sat for five minutes, turned his king on its side to concede defeat, and left the stage as the audience sat silent. A few minutes later, Fischer arrived to mixed boos and cheers. He stayed only two minutes.

For the first time since the match was supposed to start on July 9, there was no overnight barrage of protests or complaints about the arrangements, threats from Fischer to quit the match and frantic negotiations between officials of the various chess federations and representatives of the players.

The fourth game was scheduled to start at 1 p.m. EDT today, with Fischer having the first move.

International grandmaster Isaac Kashdan, analyzing the match for The Associated Press, said the 29-year-old American's play Sunday "was the kind of game expected of Fischer after his extraordinary successes of the last two years."

Spassky "seemed to lack any aggressive ideas," Kashdan commented.

Fischer lost the first game of the match last week, and the second was awarded to Spassky by forefeit when the American refused to play because of the presence of three movie cameras in the hall.

The first part of the third game was played Sunday at Fischer's insistence in a private room, with the audience watching on closed circuit television. The game was moved back to the main hall of the sports palace Monday when Spassky said he would not play in the private room, and Fischer made no objection.

Wives Picket With Husbands

FREEPORT, Tex. (AP) — Wives joined husbands Monday in picketing the Dow Chemical Co. plant here as a strike by some 3,400 workers entered its fourth week.

On strike are operating engineers and members of seven other unions affiliated with the Texas AFL-CIO in a jurisdictional dispute. Workers claim the company's latest contract offer would shear away some of their control by contracting out some jobs.

The plant has remained operational by salaried workers on 12-hour shifts, a system resulting in several confrontations between strikers and non-union workers.

Several hundreds of wives joined the picket lines Monday, obstructing traffic at a shift change which backed up traffic for more than a mile.

Astronauts Among Trustees

HOUSTON (AP) — Astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr., Houston Mayor Louie Welch and Philip G. Hoffman, president of the University of Houston, are among 10 trustees of a new real estate trust, according to a prospectus filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission last month.

The trust, which has not yet started operating, intends to primarily invest in construction mortgage loans on and equity interests in, shopping centers.

"Substantially all of the trust's initial investments will be in properties where the principal tenant is or will be the S.S. Kresge Co., engaged in operation of discount department stores under the name of K Mart," the preliminary prospectus said.

All trustees will receive $4,000 a year, plus $250 and expenses for each meeting they attend, the document said. Welch said his duties will take up about one hour per month.

Subsidy Plan To Cut Wheat Surplus

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sweetened billion-dollar farm subsidy plan by the Nixon administration is expected to bite into huge surplus stockpiles next year even if the Soviet Union decides not to buy any U.S. bread grain.

The plan, announced Monday by the Agriculture Department, could pay farmers about $1.1 billion for trimming wheat acreage next year, a record high subsidy for the crop and about $100 million more than payments for 1972.

It is basically the same as for this year, but includes additional incentives to entice more acres from wheat production. The basic government price support loan will remain unchanged at $1.25 per bushel.

A department spokesman, noting the build up of wheat surpluses to the highest level in nearly a decade, told reporters the 1973 acreage "set-aside" program benefits could run $100 million more than the billion spent on payments this year.

"It was drawn up without taking into consideration the possibility of the Soviet sale," Glenn A. Weir, deputy administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service said.

Weir referred to a recently announced $750 million sale of U.S. grain to the Soviets over the next three years.

"But if exports, and sales to the Soviet Union materialize, then farmers stand to gain and cost to the government will be lower," he said.

The program is keyed partly to markets, meaning that if farmers get higher prices for cash sales they will rely less on government payments.

The program is aimed at taking 25 million acres from wheat production next year, compared with about 20 million idled this harvest.

A major change for 1973 is in an "optional" provision intended to entice farmers to remove 10 million acres from wheat production in addition to their basic idled acres.

For that, the government plans to pay farmers an average of $20 per acre or more to reduce acres for harvest next year.

The reason is apparent: On July 1 the wheat "carryover" or surplus was more than 900 million bushels, the most since 1963-64.

Much of the current surplus is the result of a record harvest of 1.6 billion bushels last year, coupled with a sharp dip in exports which was blamed, partly, on dock strikes.

Manager Yogi Berra of the New York Mets will fly from Chicago to Cooperstown, N.Y., Aug 6 to be inducted into the Hall of Fame the next day. He will miss the Mets game in St. Louis Aug. 7.

Economic Stabilization Questions and Answers

Internal Revenue Service

This column of questions and answers on the President's Economic Stabilization Program is provided by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service. The column answers questions most frequently asked about wages and prices.

* * *

Q. Does the Internal Revenue Service have a publication that tells you what to do when you discover a rent violation?

A. Yes. The IRS Publication S-3026, "Rent Violations," explains what rent increases are legal and what a tenant should do when he believes he has found an illegal increase. You can obtain a free copy by writing your Internal Revenue district office.

Q. I signed a two-year lease for my apartment in August, 1970. How large an increase can I expect when my lease expires?

As far as rent controls are concerned, a tenant in a situation such as yours has two options open to him:

1) He may sign a new lease for one year or less in which any rent increase will be restricted to no more than eight percent plus allowable costs and increases resulting from capital improvements begun before June 1, 1972; or

2) He may sign a new lease of the same or longer duration than the expiring lease with the rent calculated under the existing regulations.

Your landlord is required to figure out for you the effect of each option and to notify you of your rights under the rent regulations.

Q. Who can represent an individual or business before the IRS in economic stabilization matters?

A. Any person, 21 or over, may represent others before IRS in economic stabilization matters upon filing a properly executed power of attorney with the IRS office.

Form S-68, which will be available in late July, will be used to file a power of attorney in stabilization matters. In the meantime, Form 2848, Power of Attorney, may be used. Forms may be obtained from IRS offices.

Q. If an employer who previously did not qualify for the small business exemption fires some employes to bring his total employment level below 60, does the employer gain exempt status.

A No, the employer does not gain exempt status because for purposes of the exemption, stabilization regulations look toward the number of employes in past pay periods. Similarly, if an employer who previously qualified for the small business exemption hires more employes to bring his total employment level above 60, he does not lose his exempt status.

Q. When an individual "rents" beach cottages on a weekly basis, may he qualify for the small business exemption?

A. Yes. The small business exemption does not apply to landlords who rent real estate. However, service organizations such as hotels, motels and beach cottages, etc., that "rent" to transients may qualify for the exemption if they meet the other requirements.

Q. Are there any limits on a company's profit margin if the firm does not increase its prices?

A. No. A company that does not increase prices has no limits on its profit. The company may increase its profit margin through increased sales or increased productivity as long as it does not increase prices over the base period level which, in general, are prices charged during the Aug. 15 to Nov. 13, 1971 Freeze. Companies that do not increase price must submit a quarterly certificate of no price increase.

Rites Held For Mrs. O'Daniel

DALLAS (AP) — Private funeral services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday for Mrs. W. Lee O'Daniel, widow of the former Texas governor and senator. Mrs. O'Daniel, 74, died Sunday.

Mrs. O'Daniel was noted for her involvement in a number of charitable and civic projects in the past.

She is survived by a daughter, two sons, a brother and three sisters.

Big Diamond Is Found In Arkansas

MURFREESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Ralph Clutter of Waldo, Ohio, who has visited the Crater of Diamonds here several times, paid the usual $2 fee to search for diamonds Monday and found a 3.34 carat white stone.

Kathryn McCarty, facilities manager, said it was "a nice one, a real nice one, a nice fat stone."

The only diamonds in North America are found in the Murfreesboro area.

June Industrial Production Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Industrial production rose slightly during June, the Federal Reserve Board announced, but the increase was insufficient to spark a sharp acceleration of the economy.

The board made its announcement Monday as the Nixon administration imposed wage price controls on some 62,000 small lumber companies and the Federal Reserve put the brakes on the increase in the nation's money supply.

The industrial production index rose 0.3 per cent in June. The increase was not substantial enough to indicate the sharp acceleration of the country's economy that has been forecast by the administration for the second half of the current year.

The June increase matched the May increase, but both were off from the April advance of 1 per cent. The index measures output of the nation's factories, mines and utilities and is designed to provide sensitive information on the performance of the economy.

The Cost of Living Council reimposed wage-price controls on small lumber companies in an effort to restrain rising lumber prices.

Small lumber companies previously were exempted from wage-price controls as part of a general exemption which was granted May 1 for companies employing fewer than 60 persons.

Council Director Donald Rumsfeld said exempted lumber companies had raised prices "considerably more rapidly than those remaining under controls."

The Federal Reserve Board also disclosed a planned slowdown in the increase in the country's money supply, which was up 9.5 per cent in the first quarter, as measured by cash and checking accounts. The normal projected increase is about 5 per cent a year.

The slowdown is aimed at relieving inflationary pressures.

The industrial-production index showed that production of textiles, paper, chemicals, business equipment and materials advanced during June; steel and most consumer goods remained steady, while automobile production was off 3 per cent.

Questions Remain On Zoo Robbery

NEW YORK (AP) — The tortoise, the motive and the watchdog were the last remaining questions today in the great Coney Island zoo robbery.

An anonymous tip Monday led police to a battered Brooklyn stable seven miles from the Astroland amusement park where the entire children's zoo was stolen early Sunday.

Detectives found the six Shetland ponies, 11 sheep, 11 goats, a llama, a minature white bull and a coop of chickens suffering from heat prostration. But only a South American tortoise was missing.

Police arrested Toby Esposito, 19, on charges of posession of stolen property and cruelty to animals. But they said the motive for the robbery remained unclear.

Meanwhile back at the zoo, the operator was wondering what her trained guard dog was doing while the thieves smashed several padlocks, tore down a fence and loaded the menangerie on a trailer for the getaway.

"The dog wasn't harmed at all, just left there," said a puzzled Elizabeth Hammond. "It's very strange."

Texas is growing wood faster than it is being removed by harvest and killed by fire, insects, and disease.

ERTS-A Launch Is Set Friday

WASHINGTON (AP) — A complex satellite to be launched next Friday may help keep track of cities' growth, prepare crop forecasts, make better maps and spot good fishing spots, the national space agency says.

ERTS—A, the first earth resources technology satellite, is scheduled to be launched down the Western Test Range over the Pacific from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif. the 1,965-pound spacecraft will orbit the earth 14 times a day at an altitude of 570 miles.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the satellite may help the Bureau of the Census keep track of urban sprawl, the Agriculture Department prepare more accurate crop forecasts, the Geological Survey produce more useful and up-to-the-moment maps.

It may also enable the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration to help the fisheries industry locate troubled waters and those areas where the catches will be good.

ERTS—A is a complex project, with about 300 investigators from 43 states and 31 foreign countries involved.

At a NASA briefing, James Wray, Geological Survey senior geologist for the satellite program, told how ERTS data can contribute to the Census Cities project by providing photographs of week-to-week, month-to-month urban changes.

Scientists will study ERTS data on the nine-county area around San Francisco in estimating water use requirements in California and in mapping of open spaces for county planning, Wray said.

A real estate firm plans to use ERTS data in looking at the San Francisco area with an eye to new town development, he said.

Urban growth changes in more than two dozen other city areas, including New Orleans, Washington, D.C., Cedar Rapids, Iowa, New Haven, Conn., and Boston, also will be studied.

Dr. Bruce Kelly, director of standards and research for the Department of Agriculture, said, "ERTS coverage will be very broad and very rapid. We are most enthusiastic, and expect that in the area of crop surveys it will provide a most valuable supplement to the information we gather from other sources."

Kelly said the initial areas to be studied intensively by ERTS—A are one or two sectors of 100 square miles each in Missouri, South Dakota, Idaho and Kansas.

William Stevenson of NOAA said the satellite would be used by his agency to study a little-known but important industrial fish in one area, but he added the knowledge obtained will be applicable to fisheries in other areas.

The study will deal with menhaden, a small fish common in the Gulf of Mexico and on the Atlantic seaboard, and widely used as a poultry feed additive, Stevenson said.

In the Mississippi Sound area from New Orleans to Mobile Bay and including the Barrier Islands 10 miles offshore, the satellite will study water and ground quality.

Fort Worth Appeal May Prove Busing Test Case

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The Fort Worth School System may become the first in the nation to test the constitutionality of a new federal law aimed at curbing court-ordered busing, the school system attorney said here Monday.

The law, which was the Broomfield Amendment to the $21.3 billion education bill recently enacted, prohibits federal court integration orders from being enforced for 18 months unless all appeals have been exhausted.

The constitutionality of the law has not yet been ruled on, and Fort Worth school attorney, Cecil Morgan, said it is possible the appeal of the school system's new court integration order may be the test case.

The Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals last week ordered the school system to integrate all or predominantly Negro schools which were not integrated under last year's desegregation plan.

In a special meeting Monday, the school board authorized Morgan to take the first legal steps toward appealing the ruling to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Morgan told the board two steps are available to start the appeals process.

First, he said, the board can ask the Fifth Circuit to stay its own order, and it can ask the appeals court to re-hear the case.

If the New Orleans court refuses to grant the motion to stay the order, the board may then ask the Supreme Court to stay the order.

The six board members at the meeting unanimously voted to authorize Morgan to proceed.

Board president Rev. John Leatherbury said it is the intention of the board to follow the stay order, if granted, with an appeal "all the way to the Supreme Court."

In a resolution on behalf of the board, Rev. Mr. Leatherbury said the decision of the Fifth Circuit "was a surprise and shock to every member of the board."

He said the board feels the ruling is "unreasonable, impracticable and places an insurmountable burden on this board."

Further, he said, the ruling goes "far beyond the scope of guidelines" of previous integration rulings in the nation and is "contrary to the spirit and intent of legislation recently enacted by the Congress of the United States."

The Rev. Mr. Leatherbury said the school system has "provided an educational program that we feel is in the best interest of all of the students..."

"This program has been based upon our experience, the leadership of what we believe to be a capable administration and the assistance of our teachers."

But he said the Fifth Circuit Court, by its ruling, "has preempted our jurisdiction in providing such educational program and the court has taken away our authority to operate and control the Fort Worth schools."

He said the board made that observation "after mature deliberation and with profound respect for the court."

Much of the board's resolution dealt with the logistical problems of devising and implementing a new integration plan doubling the extent of integration here by the Aug. 24 school opening.

In its ruling, the court said it had examined the location of the elementary schools involved "and find that it is both simple and practical to include these...schools in the cluster program."

The Rev. Mr. Leatherbury said the board "must respectfully disagree."

He said the staff would have to survey all the schools that might be involved and the effects the necessary changes would have on 35 to 40 schools.

He said the busing necessary to carry out the court's order would mean transporting "many thousand" students, that 70 to 80 new buses costing more than $600,000 would have to be bought, drivers found and bus routes determined.

Delivery of the buses, he said, would take about six months.

"Based on our experience we know that it is impossible to establish such a program before the 1972-73 term begins," he said.

The Rev. Mr. Leatherbury pointed out that next year's school calender was adopted in February and "the entire school program is based upon this organization.

The court order, he said, "would completely disrupt, disorganize and destroy this program."

Glass Blowers On Strike

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Members of the Glass Bottle Blowers Union remained on strike here today at the Owens-Illinois Glass Co. plant despite the order of a federal judge to go back on the job.

The men struck last week over the dismissal of a union president at the firm's Los Angeles plant.

U.S. District Court Judge Jack Roberts issued a restraining order Friday ordering them back to work. When they continued on strike Monday, he ordered 103 members of Local 220 to his court next Monday to show cause why they should not be cited for contempt of court.

Company officials have called the strike illegal and Ray Stevener, president of Local 220, has received telegrams from Newton Black, president of the International Glassblowers Association and from plant manager W. P. Trowbridge, urging him to get the men back to work.

Stevener held a meeting with Local 259, the other union at the plant, whose members are not on strike.

About 35 men are picketing the Waco plant, but no disorders have been reported.

Truman Is Home

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP) — Harry S. Truman is back home after 15 days at Research Medical Center in Kansas City for examination and treatment of the gastrointestinal tract.

Trinty Project Praised

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The Trinity River Project is the key to benefits that will improve the environment of the river basin "beyond our fondest dreams," says Fort Worth publisher Amon G. Carter Jr.

"I am convinced more than ever that the Trinity River Project is perhaps the greatest thing that could happen to the people of the river basin," said Carter, following personal tour of the Lake Livingston Project and other Trinity water developments below Dallas.

"People in other parts of the country would give their all for the opportunity we have from the Trinity."

Carter, chairman of the Executive Committee of the Trinity Improvement Association, says people of the 17 counties along the Trinity between the Gulf and Fort Worth must stand united in support of the Trinity Project.

"As we approach the construction phase of the project, it is highly important that we all understand just what it will mean to us all down through the years," said Carter. "Trinity River Project, as itemized in the national budget, includes the multiple-purpose channel for navigation, flood control and recreation; also the Tennessee Colony Reservoir on the mid-Trinity, the West Fork floodway linking the Fort Worth floodway with the Dalles floodway, and extension of the Dallas floodway to eliminate recurring floods in the Roosevelt Heights section of Dallas."

Carter said pollution control was a primary goal of the Trinity program, along with water supply, recreation, flood control, low-cost water transportation, soil conservation, fish-wildlife propagation and the preservation of natural areas in the bends and bows that will be bypassed in construction of the waterway.

Meredity Dropping Out Of Politics

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — James Meredith says he is dropping out of politics because it has become "clear that I am not in tune nor in step with either the black bourgeois nor the black masses."

Meredith, who desegregated the University of Mississippi in 1962, said Monday that he was also "resigning from any role of public leadership because there is perhaps nothing more futile than trying to project an idea whose time is not at hand." Meredith sought the Republican nomination to the U.S. Senate but was defeated in the June primary. He then announced he would run as an independent candidate for Congress from the 4th District, which includes his home area of Jackson.

"Quiet" Campus Polled

LUBBOCK, Tex. (AP) — To learn what the "quiet" students and faculty think, Texas Tech's Institute of Mass Communications Research made an opinion study of Tech which is known as a quiet campus. The results indicate that serenity is not synonymous with complacency.

The university, with more than 21,000 students, is one of Texas' four multi-purpose universities.

Respondents indicated that there are policies, programs and attitudes students and faculty would like changed, and they indicated a high regard for library facilities, the job placement service and the campus radio and television stations.

On-campus communication and student government received poor ratings. Most respondents said a student should serve on the Board of Regents. Among other opinions reported, most said they believe students like the campus police.

Nearly 70 per cent of the respondents said students and the administration do not communicate well while faculty appeared to have more rapport. There were 43.4 per cent who said the students and faculty communicate well while 42.1 per cent said they do not communicate well.

In assessing the university's administration, 36.4 per cent regarded the administration as working for students' benefits and 47.3 per cent disagreed.

Freedom of speech does exist on the Texas Tech campus according to 63.6 per cent, while 23.3 per cent found freedom of speech lacking.

Seating a student on the Board of Regents won approval from 63.6 per cent; 26.8 per cent opposed the idea.

A majority of the respondents found fault with bookstore prices which were rated unfair by 62.7 per cent and fair by only 25 per cent.

Favorable opinion was voiced for the campus police with more than 56 per cent of the respondents saying "Yes," they are liked and 28.9 indicating they are not liked.

Ezell-Key Store Has Plenty Of Rodeo Supplies On Hand

Time is fast approaching for the annual Scurry County Rodeo, and a good place to get your rodeo supplies is Ezell-Key Feed & Seed, 1615 Twenty-sixth Street.

Alvis Minton, the veteran operator of the feed and seed store, said he has in a good supplies of cowboy supplies. Included are such items as ropes, bridles, bits, spurs, chaps, saddles, girts, halters and blankets.

Ezell-Key also has a good supply of ranch items, such as horse shoes, vaccines, all kinds of cattle and horse spray and cattle dust, wound dressings, ear tick oil, screw worm medicine and horse wormer.

Feeds of all kinds are available at Ezell-Key for horses, cattle, sheep, hogs, chickens, fish and rabbits. Dog food for pet owners also can be purchased at Ezell Key.

We also have all kinds of field seed and garden seed," said Minton, including flower seed.

In fact, Ezell-Key is the headquarters for local gardeners, farmers, and ranchers as well as cowboys. They hear many problems about farming from the people who trade and visit at the store and they always are glad to pass on any information they've learned from this source.

Hog feeders, hog waterers, fertilizers, insecticides, alfalfa hay and bermuda grass hay are other items in stock at Ezell-Key.

There is no waiting for service at the Ezell-Key Feed and Seed Store. There always is a friendly employe ready to get you whatever you need. Moreover, there are ample parking facilities in front of and to the east of the building.

McBeth & Marricle Egg Farms Assure Top Quality Products

McBeth & Marricle Egg Farm on the Roby Highway is one of the most successful egg farms in Texas, guaranteeing quality eggs for your breakfast table.

One reason the egg farm has held its own in a highly competitive industry is because the owners — Leslie E. McBeth and Tommy Marricle—have kept up with the latest innovations in the business. Only recently they had their hen houses painted white with a new type of material that cuts down on the heat inside. Extreme weather during the last part of June had no effect on production or the comfort of hens. Fans and cooling pads have been installed in all of the hen houses.

Many other egg farms are closing down, but McBeth & Marricle are staying in business and expanding. They have plans for an operation in Abilene where there is no local production, but will keep the Snyder plant in operation under the same management and policy. When you get McBeth and Marricle eggs you can be sure they are quality eggs. The egg farm provides excellent service to area stores so that the housewife can be assured fresh eggs for all occasions.

The new Abilene plant is to be under the management of Bennie Marricle, Tonny's son. Bennie will graduate from Sul Ross College next month.

Last year McBeth and Marricle installed an automatic feeder system. The hens are fed four times each day by a time clock. The attendants have to scoop no feed and there is absolutely no feed wasted. Most egg farms now are changing over to automatic feeding.

McBeth says that feed is so high and egg prices are so low that none can be wasted. With hens being fed less but more times per day means less waste and little feed conversion. The egg farm also installed its own mill and will be buying local grain to make its own feed.

Eggs are a bargain at any price, but especially so at the low prices that obtain today. You can prepare eggs in a dozen different ways. But no matter how you use them, they always will be a vital food that provides you with plenty of nourishment.

FOR JOINT SPACE MISSION

Soviets Budgeting Two Space Craft, US One

By PAUL RECER
AP AEROSPACE WRITER

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Soviet Union is budgeting two space craft, in contrast to one planned by the United States, for a joint Russian-American rendezvous and docking space mission in 1975, officials said Monday.

The announcemnt came at the conclusion of two weeks of talks between American space experts and a 22-member team of Russians.

Boris N. Petrov, president of the Counsel of Intercosmos and head of the Soviet delegation, and Christopher C. Kraft, director of the Manned Spacecraft Center, said the groups completed a basic technical outline for the mission, to be called the Apollo Soyuz Test Project, and design work will start immediately on the needed hardware.

Glynn S. Lunney, U.S. ASTP technical director who will outline the mission plan, said the Soviets will start the joint project by launching a Soyuz spacecraft with two men aboard.

About seven and one-half hours later, he said, an American Apollo spacecraft with three men aboard will be launched.

If the Apollo launch is delayed beyond the mission lifetime of the Soyuz spacecraft, the Soviets will have another Soyuz standing by for launch.

This, according to one space official, indicates the Soviets are making a substantially greater commitment in terms of hardware and spacemen toward the mission than presently envisioned for the American side.

Lunney said about one day after the Apollo is launched, it will redenzvous and dock with the Soviet craft. Two Americans will visit the Soyuz and then return to the Apollo for a rest period.

On the following day, two astronauts again will visit the Soyuz. One American will remain in the Soviet craft and the other will escort a Soviet cosmonaut into the Apollo.

After about 48 hours of ribiting the earth together, the two ships will separate.

Lunney said the American spacecraft has a mission lifetime of about 12 days but the Soviet craft, because of onboard supplies, can stay in space only about half that time.

Agreements reached during the meetings here, Petrov said through an interpreter, "can hardly be overestimated in importance."

"It opens up the creation of a joint mission and gives greater security for men who fly into space as well as opens the chance for joint experiments in space," he said.

An essential part of the mission, he said, is "an entirely new, novel docking system" which in the future "assures the possibility of one spacecraft coming to the assistance of another if it's necessary," he said.

The compatible docking system will be on one end of a docking module, which resembles a tin can. The module will be carried into space with the American launch. The apollo spacecraft will link with one end of the module and the astronauts will guide the docking mechanism on the other end to a lockup with a similar linking device on the Soviet Craft.

Lunney said the mission will be launched in the second half of 1975, with July as the current target month.

Kraft said the agreement reached here will enable North American Rockwell, which has a contract for the docking module, to begin design work immediately.

The American and Soviet ASTP engineering teams will meet again in Moscow next fall, officials said.

Bank Secrecy Act Challenged

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A panel of three federal judges has taken under submission the first court challenge of the Bank Secrecy Act of 1970. It requires banks to microfilm all checks for government inspection.

"There simply is no right of privacy for bank customers," declared John J. McCarthy, an attorney in the tax division of the Department of Justice who argued the government's case Monday.

The act "will require banks to become government spies on their customers," said attorney Neil Horton of the American Civil Liberties Union. The ACLU has joined the California Bankers Association, representing the state's 158 banks, in challenging the act's constitutionality.

CBA attorney John Anderson argued that in California alone compliance with the requirement to photograph the front and back of each check would involve 250 million checks a month at a cost to the banks of $50,000.

He said this would be like requiring the telephone company to monitor and record all telephone conversations in order to detect criminal ideas.

The act, which was to have gone into effect July 1, was challenged in the CBA-ACLU suit on June 22.

On June 30, U.S. District Court Judge William T. Sweigert issued a temporary restraining order nationwide against banks having to turn the microfilm records over to the government pending outcome of the suit. However, he ordered them to make the records in the meantime.

In accepting the case Monday, the U.S. District Court panel extended Sweigert's temporary order.

Cool Front Sets Off Showers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A weak cool front crept southward through the Panhandle-Plains sector in West Texas today, setting off scattered showers and thunderstorms in an area damaged here and there by turbulent weather during the night.

Thundershowers also dotted the southern half of the state, parts of East and Central Texas and the coastal plains.

Menacing turbulence caused official forecasters to place 15 counties in the Panhandle under a tornado watch for a time during the night. One funnel cloud spun through the sky near Muleshoe on the South Plains but did not touch ground.

Rain descended in torrents and hail pelted some localities. Amarillo measured one-half inch of rain within an hour as the wind gusted above 50 miles per hour.

Authorities reported one deluge washed out part of a roadway in Parmer County.

By this morning skies were partly cloudy nearly everywhere in the state.

Temperatures near dawn eased down to 62 degrees in Amarillo, behind the frontal system, while it was still 80 at Palcios and 81 at Galveston on the coast.

Monday afternoon's top marks ranged from 97 at Wichita Falls down to 78 at Alpine in the mountains of far West Texas.

Official observers looked for the cool front to stall across the Panhandle during the day. Scattered thundershowers were expected to linger in that area and to continue in a hit-or-miss pattern elsewhere.
