Truman Host At Big Three State Dinner

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press Staff Writer

POTSDAM, July 19—President Truman entertained Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill tonight at a state dinner, the first such function of the Big Three conference now proceeding on a workmanlike timetable.

The dinner at the "Little White House" climaxed a day in which the three leaders presumably met formally for a third time.

Under conference procedure, the foreign secretaries pass problems on to the Big Three for final decision as soon as they reach some generalized agreement.

Stresses Quick Victory

There was speculation that the President was stressing the necessity of a quick victory in the Pacific, arguing that the sooner Japan falls the sooner the United States can aid in the stabilization of European economy and the reconstruction of shattered industries.

It was officially announced that the three leaders are meeting regularly with their agenda prepared each morning at 11 o'clock by the foreign secretaries. Thus the burden of the preliminary work falls upon Secretary of State James F. Byrnes, Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov, and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden.

These three held their first session Monday, with Byrnes presiding under a system of daily rotation of the chairmanship.

Just how long the conference might last appeared to be undecided, but it seemed likely it would continue through most of next week at least.

Observers said the Russians and British apparently had many more proposals to submit than did the American delegation, but that this would be natural since they had more detailed policies concerning European issues.

President Truman, keeping up with domestic affairs at his headquarters here, scheduled a conference tomorrow with Gen. Omar N. Bradley on Bradley's new duties as head of the Veterans administration.

OPA Sticks By Guns On Prices

WASHINGTON, July 19. (AP)—The OPA today stood by its prediction that most consumer products returning to the market will be priced at 1942 levels.

Deputy Price Administrator James F. Brownlee said at a news conference that the agency still is confident of achieving that goal, despite the fact that some reconverting manufacturers will require price increases.

Brownlee in outlining new pricing methods intended to speed up production of civilian goods, said that OPA would meet next week with wholesalers and retailers of various trades to decide to what extent these distributors can absorb increases granted to producers.

New Pricing Methods

The new pricing methods unveiled provide formulas which individual reconverting companies may use to determine to what extent, if any, their 1942 ceilings may be increased. The formulas allow additions to 1941 costs to compensate for higher wage rates and increases in prices for materials and parts.

To this adjusted cost producers may add all or part of prewar profit margins, depending on the size of the firm, to determine ceilings.

Brownlee described the program as "very flexible," and added:

"Where certain costs have gone up to such an extent that to maintain existing (1942) ceilings would delay production, OPA is ready to take immediate steps to remove the price impedement."

Japs Admit Much Resentment To Duty

SAN FRANCISCO, July 19. (AP)—A Japanese naval ministry official today admitted some Nipponese were showing resentment toward their war duties.

The broadcasting remarks of Navy Vice Minister Takeo Tada followed a radio attempt to explain to America why Japanese planes have failed to oppose Allied fleet bombardment of the Nipponese homeland.

Domei, Japanese news agency, in a broadcast recorded by the FCC, said Tada told employes of the navy ministry that "it is regrettable" that some of their countrymen have become "discouraged by the real facts of this fierce war."

These people have "become resigned to an attitude of aimless and destructive disinterest and abandonment" and "neglect their duties and become idle and resentful," Tada was quoted as saying.

FOREST FIRE LEAVES HEAVY DAMAGE—Nearly 1,500 men, including several hundred Army and Navy personnel, are battling a forest fire which has already enveloped 55 square miles of northwest Oregon, the third disastrous blaze to hit Oregon's Tillamook county in 12 years.

Fire Threatens Oregon Towns

PORTLAND, Ore., July 19. (AP)—A forest fire which has already enveloped 55 square miles of northwest Oregon was raging today toward the tiny towns of Glenwood and Gales Creek.

The blaze, roaring with such fury that it threatened briefly to trap 415 sailors, approached within four miles of Gales Creek—a town of 50, and about three miles of Glenwood—a lumber town of 500.

Neither Town Evacuated

Frank Hamilton of the Northwest Oregon Forest Protective association said neither town had been evacuated, and that fire fighters hoped to check the blaze once it hits slower-burning green timber separating it from the town.

All available equipment was thrown into the lines on that side of the blaze—the eastern end.

The fire was raging in several directions, endangering a railroad and growing so quickly the state forester said it might continue until fall rains.

Sailors Almost Trapped

A crew of 415 sailors were almost surrounded last night by flames which spread like lightning through the trees above the point where they were fighting.

Falling to the ground to escape the force of the blaze, they radioed for help and sprinkled the area around them with extinguishers. "We were sort of scared then for a minute," reported one.

Leaving some of their gear behind, they succeeded in reaching the road below through an unburned passage of timber, while the flames licked over their heads. Trucks evacuated them to the Tillamook naval air station.

Chiang Says China Landing Unnecessary

CHUNGKING, July 19. (AP)—In the first interview he ever granted an American soldier, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek told Sgt. Walter E. Peters of Yank magazine that he believed a huge land offensive in China would not be necessary to defeat Japan.

"Given proper equipment and supplies, the Chinese Army — together with a strong American air force—can defeat the Japanese on the continent," Peters quoted the generalissimo as saying. His dispatch cleared Chinese censorship today.

"We must remember the Chinese soldier is fighting in his own homeland. He knows the topography better than anyone else. He is more suitable to the climate and conditions of fighting. To send U. S. troops where we can employ Chinese troops is not very logical. It would be a big strain on the line of comumnications."

Chiang told Peters he was looking forward to visiting the U. S. before the end of the war to meet President Truman.

Release Of Men To Industry Said Barred

WASHINGTON, July 19. (AP)—Undersecretary of War Patterson said today it is impossible for the Army to release men to civilian industry because that would force abandonment of the point discharge system.

In the past month, 50 industrial and professional groups have asked for discharge of soldiers, Patterson told a news conference.

The requests, he said, "have ranged from 110,000 men for the coal mines to three men for breeding mice."

Denison Couple Found Dead, Gun Nearby

DENISON, July 19. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs E. Barry Reynolds were found dead in the bedroom of their home this afternoon, each with revolver wounds. A .22 caliber revolver was found on the floor. No inquest verdict has been returned.

Eastern Cowboys Find Beef On Hoof Almost Too Much

HATFIELD, Mass., July 19 (AP) Massachusetts city folks, hungry for fresh beef, have brought some 150 western steers into Hampshire county for pasturage, but are finding out that cattle-raising isn't so simple.

The animals are perpetually breaking out of fences or jumping them, and then destroying crops and other property.

Citizens in this area thought they'd seen real excitement after a pail of grain was set out for bait, with a lasso ready around it. The steer came, was lassoed, and wound up by dragging its six would-be captors down the street.

But that was nothing compared with the story they told today about a loose steer that went berserk. After an impromptu rodeo in which amateur cowboys fled, Police Chief R. Breor rushed to the scene with a couple of cattle experts, armed with shotguns.

The steer charged one of them. His gun jammed. To save his companion, the second man shot the steer thrice, and then had to club the animal down with his gun butt before it could be killed.

U. S. Pledge To Poland Renewed

WASHINGTON, July 19. (AP)—The State department promised today to seek full publicity for the situation in Poland and reiterated that it stands for self-determination for the Polish people.

Acting Secretary Joseph C. Grew stated the department's position in response to a letter from Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich), who said that to him and to millions of other people, the Polish settlement seemed "inadequate and unconvincing."

Vandenberg's View

"There still seems to be no clear assurance," Vandenberg wrote, "that the Polish people will themselves have the final opportunity of untrammeled self-determination under this new provisional government which is imposed upon them by Britain, Russia and the United States, within Polish boundaries similarly dictated by these external powers."

Grew replied that the new Polish government was set up by the Poles themselves, but indicated the United States would seek to keep close watch to see that actually free elections carry out the rest of the Yalta agreement on Poland.

Responsibilities Cited

"It is clear . . . that the creation of the new government does not alone discharge us from the responsibilities we assumed at Yalta," Grew wrote.

His letter laid stress on the proposed elections by numerous references, and pointed up continuing American interest by two separate mentions of the assignment of Ambassador Arthur Bliss Lane to keep this government "informed about the situation in Poland."

Patterson Warns On Jap Plane Supplies

WASHINGTON, July 19. (AP)—The Japanese have plenty of planes, says Under Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson.

He made this cautionary statement during a news conference discussion of the surprising absence of air opposition to American attacks on enemy homeland.

This absence of opposition, he said, "should not be taken as an indication that the Japanese are without the power to retaliate."

STAMP BREAKS RECORD

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP) — The three cent postage stamp featuring Associated Press photographer Joe Rosenthal's Iwo Jima flag-raising picture broke all postoffice records for first day cover cancellations, the department announced today.

Senate Votes Approval Of World Fund

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 19.—The Senate today voted its approval of the Bretton Woods plan to stabilize the postwar monies of the world and help finance reconstruction.

The vote, 61 to 16, returned the measure to the House. Expected agreement there on minor technical amendments will give final congressional approval to the administration-backed program intended to steady the economy of a world recovering from war.

Part Pledged By U. S.

The plan puts the United States down for a $2,750,000,000 share of a proposed $8,800,000,000 fund to stabilize world currencies and a $3,175,000,000 capital subscription to a $9,100,000,000 bank to make loans for reconstruction and development.

With administration forces in easy control of the final day's debate, the Senate rejected every attempt to alter the plan. It apparently took its cue from Majority Leader Barkley (D., Ky.) who argued an amendment to the agreement would kill the entire proposal and force the world into another monetary conference such as last year's Bretton Woods meeting of 44 nations which produced the international bank and fund proposal.

SHIFT IN CORPORATION TAX LAWS APPROVED

WASHINGTON, July 19. (AP)—The Senate approved tonight revision of the corporation tax laws intended to make about $5,000,000,000 available to business to hasten reconversion to peacetime manufacture. Passage was on a voice vote.

The measure, which goes back to the House for action on amendments, increases the specific exemption on excess profits taxes from $10,000 to $25,000, effective in the 1946 tax year. This is designed to make it easier for small business to accumulate reconversion funds.

Amendment Defeated

Senator Wherry (R., Neb.) offered an amendment to apply the new exemption to 1945, but it was defeated on a roll call, 31-30.

The Senate struck out on a standing vote a House-approved provision which opponents charged would give reorganized railroads an undeserved windfall. Chairman George (D., Va.) of the finance committee said under the House plan reorganized railroads would have been allowed a tax credit on the accumulated interest of the old company. He explained that the Senate committee intends further study of the House provision.

As approved by the Senate, the measure would:

1. Make about $1,540,000,000 available to corporations by permitting the 10 per cent credit on the excess profits tax to be used currently as of 1944 and subsequent years.

2. Fix Jan. 1, 1946 as maturity date for outstanding postwar tax refund bonds, involving about $1,300,000,000.

3. Make $1,000,000,000 available by speeding up refunds from carry backs of net operating losses and unused excess profits credits.

4. Hasten refunds from recomputation of deductions made for amortization of emergency facilities, involving about $1,700,000,000.

Marine Pilot Claims Souvenir Distinction

EL CENTRO, Calif., July 19. (AP)—Probably the only Marine in this war that has collected a Jap souvenir at 12,000 feet is 2nd Lt. Eugene M. Dennis, fighter pilot from Decatur, Ill., Marine officers said here today. He has part of the ceremonial robe of a Japanese kamikaze pilot he shot down near Okinawa.

The freak accident happened April 14 when the Jap pilot bailed out and snagged his robe on Dennis' plane aerial. About that time Dennis was so busy with other Kamikaze planes that when he landed on the carrier deck only a piece of silk cloth remained.

During the Marine "Wolfpack" squadron's encounter with 15 kamikazes, nine Jap planes were shot down and five damaged within ten minutes. Dennis got three planes in as many minutes.

13th Armored Starting Home

PARIS, July 19 (AP)—The main body of the 13th Armored division was embarking today at Le Havre en route to the United States and then the Pacific. Advance units sailed June 30.

The Ninth Air force announced that it was sending 6,892 men through the Reims assembly area for redeployment clearance to the United States, plus 1,374 others with 84 or more discharge points for ultimate discharge. All units are expected to clear Reims by August 1. These are:

The 386th Bombardment group, which will fly A-26 Invaders home; the Second Service area command, the 19th Air Depot group, the 19th Depot Repair squadron; the 19th Depot Supply squadron; the 480th, 489th, 498th and 499th Air Service groups; the 898th, 997th, 916th and 197th Air Engineering squadrons; the 722nd, 731st, 149th and 741st Air Material squadrons; the 96th, 99th and 318th Station Complement squadrons; the 103rd, 814th, 819th and 867th Air Operations Chemical companies; the 761st Depot Aviation Chemical company; the 878th Signal Depot company, the 393rd Signal Company wing; and the 1230th, 1256th and 1255th Military Police companies

Advance units of the Ninth Army headquarters were loading at Le Havre and the main body will embark July 20.

Redeployment Status

The status of divisions in redeployment moves:

Second—at sea.

Fifth — two regiments arrived yesterday in New York, rest due shortly.

44th division—expected in New York harbor tomorrow on the SS Queen Elizabeth.

20th Armored — advance units sailed from Le Havre July 14, main body now at port for shipment July 24 and 25.

28th—advance units sailed from Havre July 14, main body arriving at Le Havre for July sailing.

30th — advance units at Le Havre expected to sail July 21, main body at Reims assembly area.

35th — advance units at Le Havre, main body at Reims.

45th — advance units at Reims, main body expected there by July 23.

Government Soon To Free Alcohol Industry

WASHINGTON, July 19. (AP)—The alcohol beverage industry soon may be released from mandatory production of industrial alcohol, the War Production board disclosed today. Registered distillers have been asked to contract voluntarily with the Defense Supplies corporation to deliver industrial alcohol during the last three months of the year.

The agency estimated that beginning in October not more than 50 per cent of the capacity of the registered distillers would be required for industrial alcohol production.

Aussies Take Sambodja; Giant Jap Drome In China Battered

Other Areas Also Pounded

By SPENCER DAVIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Friday, July 20.—The greatest Japanese airdrome in China, just outside the northern limits of Shanghai, was hit with 290 tons of bombs in a record raid on that sector Tuesday by Okinawa-based tactical planes.

Other Far East Air force raiders severed rail communications to the Japanese-industrial city of Kagoshima on Kyushu. Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced the action today.

Seventh Lashes Drome

The medium and heavy bombers of the Seventh Air force made the attack on Kiangwan airdrome at Shanghai. Their escorting fighters started fires at Tinghai airdrome, damaged installations on a nearby island, and swept south for attacks on enemy shipping off Taishan island.

One plane was definitely lost on the raid and another was listed as missing.

Simultaneously MacArthur announced that other Fifth and Seventh Air forces planes temporarily severed rail communications between the munitions and submarine manufacturing center of Kagoshima and the rest of Kyushu, southernmost of the main Japanese islands.

The attacks sealed off two vital rail tunnels northwest and southwest of the port city of 180,000 population. A third tunnel was damaged and the harbor area of the city itself was strafed, damaging railroad cars, trucks and coastal shipping.

Dock Areas Fired

Near Miyazaki on the east coast of Kyushu numerous small vessels were damaged, and fires were set in the dock areas.

MacArthur reported a 10,000-ton freighter was destroyed off Amami island in the northern Ryukus, halfway between Okinawa and Kyushu, by 12 direct bomb hits.

The series of air attacks on Formosa was interrupted by bad weather but Seventh Fleet planes ranged down the Asiatic coast, destroying or damaging 27 small cargo vessels and sinking a freighter-transport off Hainan island at night.

In daylight planes of the same force set fire to storage facilities and hit motor transport near Canton while 13th Air force medium bombers attacked Itu Aba island in the South China sea.

Three Italian POW Escape At Amarillo

Three escaped Italian prisoners of war were sought in the Panhandle and South Plains areas Thursday night.

The trio fled a work detail at Amarillo Army Air field some time after 6 o'clock Wednesday morning. They were believed to have headed south.

The Italians were on a detail from the prisoner of war camp near Hereford. At the time of their escape they all wore khaki clothing. They speak very little English, if any, officers said. All have brown eyes and hair.

They were identified as Giovanni Colombino, 22, 5 feet 4 inches tall, 154 pounds; Antonio Saracino, 17, 5 feet 7 inches, 140 pounds, ruddy complexion; Casino Candido, 23, 5 feet 2 inches, 149 pounds.

SWPC Ready To Hear Vets' Farm Needs

DALLAS, July 19 (AP)—Smaller War Plants corporation now is set up to handle promptly priority purchases of farm equipment for farmer-veterans of the current war, Morton R. Harrison, SWPC regional director, said today.

Applications from farmers who have served in this war account for about 10 per cent of the veteran applications for surplus war property, Harrison said. Tractors and small farm-type trucks head the list of their wants.

Record Force Of B-29s Lash Japs

GUAM, Friday, July 20. (AP) — A record force of more than 600 American Superforts struck four Japanese mainland cities and a prime oil refinery before dawn today with 4,000 tons of incendiary and demolition bombs.

It was the 57th fire raid on Nippon's war industry centers.

The attacks on the four Honshu island cities of Choshi, Fukui, Okazaki and Hitachi, brought to 46 the number of Japan's industrial centers hit by fire raids.

Oil Plant Fifth Target

A branch of the Nippon Oil company at Amagasaki, just north of Osaka, was the fifth target. It was the tenth oil plant singled out for precision bombing by the B-29s.

Once before more than 600 B-29s flew in a mission against Japan but the force in today's five-pronged raid was even larger. The 20th Air force gives sizes of missions only in general terms and exact figures could not be used.

The record raid in the flaming campaign to wipe out all Japan's war making industries came while the U. S. Third Fleet still roamed Japanese waters after raiding and bombarding Tokyo area targets Wednesday and early Thursday.

Hitachi Shelled

Hitachi, blazing for the first time from B-29 inceniaries, was bombarded by warships of the fleet Tuesday night and early Wednesday.

The attacks on the other cities and on the oil refinery also were the first by the B-29s.

As they split up to strike the targets, the Superforts ranged over a wide area of Honshu island.

Complex Industry

Hitachi is 80 miles north of Tokyo, population 82,000, and is a new, large and complex industrial community.

Choshi, whose 61,000 population makes it the second largest city of Chiba prefecture, is a great fishing port only 60 miles northeast of Tokyo. It is estimated to supply one-eighth of that basic Japanese food.

Fukui, population about 100,000, is near the west coast of Honshu, about 200 miles west of Tokyo, and is an important industrial and railroad center.

Building And Loan Man Dies At Dallas

DALLAS, July 19. (AP)—Alden Clark Bigger, 71, president of the Metropolitan Building and Loan association, died here today. Bigger was first president of the Dallas Community Chest. He also organized the American Life Insurance company and had been president of the Texas Building and Loan league and a member of the executive council of the United States Savings and Loan league.

Fifth More Shoes Promised Civilians

WASHINGTON, July 19. (AP)—Twenty per cent more shoes will be made for civilians in the last three months of this year because of reduced demands for military footwear, the War Production board and OPA announced today.

OPA said it could not predict, however, what liberation of shoe rationing might be possible, nor when another shoe ration stamp would become good.

FISH SUPPLIES DOWN

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP) — Holdings of frozen fish were 34 per cent lower July 1 than on the same date in 1944, a government report said today, reflecting exceptional demand for fresh fish during the meat shortage.

Flaming Oil Field Seized

By DEAN SCHEDLER
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Friday, July 20. — Australian troops in a five-mile thrust seized the rich Sambodja oil fields Wednesday and the refining center of the same name without a fight, it was announced today.

The Australians quickly spread over the oil field, one of the three major producing areas of eastern Borneo feeding the now-wrecked refineries of Balikpapan.

Fires roared in various parts of the field as the veteran Seventh Australian division drove northward into the oil-producing region, whose approaches had been bitterly defended by the enemy.

The general condition of the wells was not known, but from the reports of the fires it was apparent that the Japanese had taken a cue from the Dutch and put the field to the torch.

The Dutch turned the Borneo fields into an inferno when the Japanese swept southward in their conquering march in 1942.

Located On Pipeline

Sambodja, with a normal population of 1,500, is 28 miles northeast of Balikpapan. Situated on a pipe line, Sambodja also maintained a refinery and a pumping station.

The other fields are the Louise, about 30 miles north of Sambodja, and the Delta near the mouth of the Mahakam river, about 40 miles northeast of Sambodja. In all there are about 400 wells.

Production in the Sambodja field ran to about 7,000,000 barrels a year.

Three days before the Japanese invasion in February, 1942, the Dutch destroyed the tank farms which had a storage capacity of 3,500,000 barrels of fuel so pure that it could be burned in nearly every ocean-going vessel without refining.

FLEET WORRIES JAPS

GUAM, Friday, July 20 (AP) — Bombarding guns of the U. S. Third Fleet carried Adm. William F. Halsey's battle challenge right to Tokyo bay Thursday and the Japanese, still declining the challenge, worried over where the next blow would fall.

The fleet was continuing its destruction rampage along the homeland's Pacific coast into the eleventh day, Tokyo radio assumed.

Tokyo speculated nervously on whether the series of damaging attacks were "spasmodic" or preludes to a "quick" invasion.

Leopold Not To Give Up Throne

ST. WOLFGANG, Austria, July 19. (AP) — King Leopold of Belgium said today he surrendered himself to the Germans in May of 1940 "because I felt I should stay with my people and also because I felt that with me in Belgium the Germans would rule the country on a military instead of a civilian basis."

In an interview with Stars and Stripes Reporter Joe Western the 43-year-old monarch also declared that he surrendered his country because it was impossible for it to fight any longer at that time.

Sharply Criticized

Leopold has been sharply criticized by some Belgians for surrendering both himself and his forces. Some Belgian groups have demanded that he abdicate. After conferences with government leaders, he has decided not to give up his throne but to remain away from Belgium temporarily.

He told Western today he would not quit the throne until the Belgian people have "a democratic opportunity" to select their own leaders in "a free and honest election."

Leopold reiterated that "there is no truth in the evil stories spread in the early years of the war that my surrender was premediated and pre-arranged with the Nazis."

Typical Surrender

"I surrendered myself with the words 'I am your prisoner' just like any other soldier," he said. "I did this instead of fleeing to France or England with some of my ministers," he continued, "because I felt that I should stay with my people and also because I felt that with me in Belgium the Germans would rule the country on a military instead of a civilian basis.

"This happened, and I believe that it was for the best interest of my people."

Sub Gets Jap Carrier In One Of War's Strange Naval Adventures

By REMBERT JAMES
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAIPAN, Marianas Islands, July 2, 1944. (Delayed in censorship)—Roving the far western Pacific, an American submarine ran into one of the strangest naval adventures of the war when she encountered the major part of the Japanese imperial fleet and torpedoed a large enemy carrier.

Most of the enemy ships passed over her one night as she lay in the black depths and counted the shirring of their screws.

Before the adventure ended, enemy destroyers jarred her with depth charges, but the sub's lean black hull was unharmed.

The story of the 48-hour experience of the submarine was told here today by the subs insouciant young skipper, Lieut. Commander Herman J. Kossler, 32, of Los Angeles.

"She looked as big as the empire state building, and we had a perfect setup on that carrier," said Kossler.

"I feel sure we could have hit her. But I hadn't heard of that Jap force being around, so I thought our primary task was to get back the word about it—to report rather than to attack. It was a tough decision to make."

Later the sub got its sights on a carrier of the same big class—perhaps the same carrier.

This time the sub got off her torpedoes.

"She was heading into the wind, taking on her planes," Kossler related. "I almost fainted—it was such a beautiful target. In broad daylight.

"We headed in on her. I let my executive and gunnery officers look at her. All agreed it was Japanese. Then we saw the Rising Sun flag on her. We were sure. Meantime, a Jap destroyer kept coming for us.

"We fired torpedoes. The first three hit. Depth charges started jarring us as we dived. There were a lot. They kept coming a long time.

"Then we heard loud water noises in the direction we had made our attack—four loud explosions. 'There goes the carrier—sinking,' I said."

Later the sub surfaced and found no sign of the carrier. The Navy put it down as a probable, but Kossler is convinced he sank it.

WPB Cites Great Contribution By Texas Industry To War Program

DALLAS, July 19. (U.P.) — Since the U. S. Treasury revealed that Texas led the nation in percentage of bonds bought per capita in the Seventh War Loan, there has been some bragging and blackslapping in the Lone Star state.

Now the War production board has come through with another tribute for Texas' great part in the war effort.

Synthetic Expansion

The WPB revealed today that Texas production of synthetic rubber amounts to 41 per cent of the nation's total; Texas stands seventh among the states in industrial expansion with 6.2 per cent of the total; and it also took the lead in new aviation gasoline facilities, having 37 per cent of the total.

Since the Japs seized most of the world's rubber supply, the syntetic rubber industry was brought to Texas, and it probably will remain permanently. The state's synthetic rubber plants have inhaled $295,856,000.

Industrial Expansion

According to a WPB report, giving figures of May 31, 1944, industrial expansions in Texas amounted to $2,259,038,000. Of that total, $990,900,000 of the expansions were made with federal funds, and private funds furnished $268,200,000. Needless to say, millions of dollars have been added since the computation of those figures. The government alone put more than $155,000,000 into expanded facilities since that date.

Production of aviation gasoline has accounted for $283,709,000 of the expenditures. Aircraft production plants have consumed $120,473,000. Another figure—$12,473,000—represents the money that went into the expansion of magnesium and other nonferrous metals production while explosives plants have cost $120,358,000.

Heavy In Houston Area

The Houston area received more than one-third of the expansion expenditures—$584,628,000.

This area, standing sixth among all the industrial areas of the nation, is comprised of Harris, Galveston, Brazoria and Waller counties. The same section of the state holds first place among the industrial areas of the nation in new chemical and petroleum facilities, and fourth rank in new nonferrous metal plants.

The Beaumont-Port Arthur, Amarillo-Borger and Dallas-Ft. Worth areas contain the remainder of the production facilities.

Texas has aided victory—these figures prove it.

Deadline Is Set For Vehicle Registrations

August 1 has been set as the deadline for registration and authorization for all sellers of used vehicles who wish to sell on a warranted basis, Earl Kerr, district Office of Price administration director, has announced.

"In order to protect buyers from illegal charges we must be sure that sellers who charged warranted prices have repair and service facilities to enable them to fulfill the conditions of the warranty," Kerr said.

Each seller who wishes to charge warranted prices on or after August 1 will receive an application for an "authorization to sell at warranted prices" from his war price and rationing board. In this application, dealers must record information about their repair and service facilities. This must be mailed to the district OPA office immediately so that the dealer may receive his authorization by the specified date.

Authorizations will be mailed to dealers who establish the facts of adequate repair and service facilities. No warranted price sales can be made on or after August 1 unless the authorization is displayed at the seller's place of business.

All other authorizations to charge warranted prices, including special authorizations issued to dealers in the past, become null and void August 1, Kerr said.

Aged Negro Has Proof He's "Man Enough For Job" And Gets It

SHREVEPORT, July 19. (U.P.)—A 68-year-old Shreveport negro proved today that he was "man enough for the job."

The negro, Moses Witherspoon had applied for a job to R. M. Jackson, who is recruiting labor for an E. I. DuPont de Nemours naval ordnance plant being built at Charleston, Ind.

Jackson inquired as to the negro's age, and upon learning that he was nearing the three-score and ten mark, said he thought Moses was a "pretty old man for this job."

"But I can work all 'round dese young niggers you'se hirin," Moses answered.

"Well, it's hard labor and I'm not sure you're men enough," Jackson said doubtfully.

"Oh, I'se man enough. I'se got a 13-months-old baby at home," said Moses.

Recruiter Jackson said if the negro would prove that statement, he would give him a job.

Digging into his wallet, Moses came out with a snapshot of a kinky-headed infant.

Jackson has signed Moses for a job.

Combat GI Charges Beatings By Guards In Returnee Camp

LONDON, July 19. (U.P.)—An American combat infantryman charged in a letter to the Army newspaper Stars and Stripes today that he and other soldiers, many of them wounded veterans, were beaten and clubbed repeatedly by American guards at the 10th replacement depot in England.

The soldier, whose name was withheld by Stars and Stripes, said he was clubbed on four separate occasions by American officers and non-coms for minor infractions of the guardhouse regulations.

Recalls POW Trouble

"I have been reading so much about a private in the U. S. Army being court-martialed for hitting German prisoners of war," the soldier wrote. "So what? They don't go to that much trouble about an American."

The anonymous doughboy writer said he spent more than four months in the 10th depot guardhouse and that during that time he saw soldier prisoners beaten on many occasions.

"I know they beat men with clubs there and made life miserable for them with different types of punishment," he went on. "The reason I know is they beat me up four times and made me double time against a wall while two jailers held my arms and beat me.

Orders From Commander

"They said they had orders from the commanding officer of the post. They could do anything they wanted with the prisoners. Even if we were in the guardhouse we should rate higher than any German POW."

The letter was signed "A Dough in Company M, 310th Infantry."

An Army spokesman told the United Press that the beating charges were already being officially investigated by the inspector general's office.

Lt. Todd Lands At New York Thursday

Lt. R. A. Todd, glider pilot with the First Airborne Army which saw considerable service in western Europe, arrived at New York Thursday, he telephoned his wife, the former Maxine Beasley, late Thursday.

Lt. Todd spent 17 months in the European theater, including several missions with his airborne unit. He holds the Air Medal with one cluster, seven Bronze Stars and the Presidential Unit citation.

He expects to clear his leave papers at Fort Sam Houston, where Mrs. Todd will meet him, and they expect to return here, where Lt. Todd will see his one-year-old son, Ronald, for the first time.

U. S. Combat Casualties For Week Among Smallest For Some Time

WASHINGTON, July 19. (AP)—Combat casualties reported by the armed forces since Pearl Harbor reached 1,053,101 today, an increase of 3,997 in the past week.

The rise was one of the smallest in weeks. The Army reported losses of 917,442, an increase of 1,724, and the Navy listed casualties of 135,659, a gain of 2,273.

Undersecretary of War Patterson also reported that Army casualties in the Philippines from the time of the landings on Leyte last October until July 17 totalled 59,956 including 12,035 killed, 46,425 wounded and 1,196 missing.

Jap Losses Heavy

Patterson said that he did not have exact figures on enemy losses in the Philippines but that the campaign had cost the Japanese "well over 450,000 troops."

He also reported that total Army casualties in the Okinawa campaign through July 7 amounted to 18,412. This included 3,761 killed, 14,415 wounded and 236 missing.

A breakdown on Army casualties as reported and corresponding figures for the preceding week:

Killed 194,447 and 193,508; wounded 568,976 and 567,674; missing 36,303 and 37,323; prisoners 117,716 and 117,213. The decline in the number of missing apparently represented transfers to other categories.

Many Back In Service

Patterson reported that 348,196 of the wounded are back in service and that 94,742 of the prisoners have been exchanged or returned to military control.

A similar breakdown on Navy casualties:

Killed 50,363 and 49,657; wounded 70,072 and 68,165; missing 11,431 and 11,454; prisoners 3,793 and 4,110. The reductions in the missing and prisoner classifications for the Navy also apparently reflected transfers to other categories.

FBI Says Amnesia "Victim" Nazi Spy

NEW YORK, July 19. (AP)—When "Pvt. William Walker" arrived in the United States as a battle casualty — feigning amnesia — he accepted press and radio publicity as a hero in the hopes, he said, some one might clear up his identity.

All he could remember of his life before D-day was his name, he said and that he probably was from New York.

The FBI said last night it had solved the mystery. "Walker's true name, agents said, was Karl Horst Max Wacker, 20, a trained Nazi espionage agent, and his "amnesia" was a fraud.

In newspaper interviews in New York and Paris, the youth was quoted as saying he had been liberated by the Russians and aided in the capture of Berlin—"I shot three krauts in a cemetery."

The FBI said Wacker was arrested Monday at Camp Upton, N. Y., where he had been hospitalized as a battle-shocked veteran. He had been flown to Boston from Berlin June 16.

U. S. Public Sees Another Full Year Of Fighting Japan

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J. — Despite the devastating air attacks on Japan which are making airmen optimistic of an early end of the war, the civilian public thinks it will take another full year to beat the Japs into submission.

That would mean an end of the war sometime during the summer of 1946, if the public's guesses prove correct. Of course no one, not even military experts, can be sure of making an accurate prediction about the end of the war, but the guesses of the individual citizen are important because they often affect his attitude toward buying bonds, changing jobs, paying taxes, or conforming to ration rules.

GALLUP

Actually the civilian public is less optimistic now than it was last autumn about the end of the Pacific war. Last September field reporters for the Institute found that 57 per cent of the civilian population thought the Jap war would end this year — 1945 — whereas now only 20 per cent are confident of that early a victory.

The current guesses are shown as a result of questioning carried out from coast to coast by interviewers for the Institute.

"How much longer do you think the war with Japan will last?"
Until end of 1945	20%
First half of 1946	42
Second half of 1946	12
1947 or later	20
Unwilling to guess	6

The median average of these replies is one year.

The survey did not include servicemen's guesses about the length of the war, because military regulations do not permit civilian polltakers to question men in uniform.

Amarillo On Brink Of Milk Shortage

AMARILLO, July 19. (U.P.) — Amarillo was about to come face-to-face with a milk drouth today.

Dry weather so far this year has resulted in a lack of home-grown feed. Dairy farmers said if they have to buy feed from distant points the cost would be so high they would be forced out of business unless they receive more for their milk.

A solution, they said, would be an increase in the amount paid the producer for milk or an increase in government subsidy.

MINES KILL TEN

ROME, July 19. (AP)—Nine United States enlisted men and one civilian were killed at Viareggio yesterday by an explosion of German mines stored in a building. Thirty others were injured.

Intensive Military Research Urged As Protection To U. S.

WASHINGTON, July 19. (U.P.)—Dr. Vannevar Bush, head of the nation's wartime program of scientific research, got quick action today on his proposal to promote intensive military research during peacetime as an essential to national security and preparedness.

Bush, director of the Office of Scientific Research and Development, urged in a report to President Truman that the United States set up a national research foundation at once to stimulate the most advanced scientific progress after the war.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, R., Wash., immediately introduced a bill to establish such a foundation as the heart of a permanent scientific program to insure national defense, improved health and a more prosperous economy.

Suggested By Roosevelt

Bush drafted his report in response to a suggestion made by the late President Roosevelt last November.

Warning that American science beat the Germans' U-boat campaign only by a "dangerously" close margin," and that V-bombs were overcome by default, Bush said the government must develop a national scientific research policy drawing on the scientific brains of both government and private industry.

"We cannot rely again on our Allies to hold off the enemy while we struggle to catch up," Bush asserted. He advocated a "professional partnership" between Army and Navy officers and civilian scientists to keep this nation ahead in military science.

Restaurant Men Seek Point Allotment Hike

DALLAS, July 19. (AP)—Members of the board of directors of the Texas Restaurant association in a meeting today advocated an increase in point allotments and food to restaurants to alleviate an "unprecedented plight" they said restaurant men were facing.

The group heard assertions that many Texas restaurants had been forced to close because of ration and food shortage emergencies and that the load on eating establishments may grow worse as soldiers return from overseas.

Patrick Moreland of Austin, manager of the state association, led the discussions.

Rat-Proofing Of Buildings Begun

Authorized by the recently enacted city ordinance No. 706, Lubbocks rat-proofing campaign is now actively under way, James H. Harris, sanitary inspector for the typhus control unit of the U. S. Public Health service, announced Wednesday afternoon.

Working in close cooperation with Dr. J. W. Rollo, city health officer, who is the commanding general of the local war on rats, Inspector Harris reported that five carpenters have been employed to rat-proof local business buildings in accordance with the latest scientific methods, and that one professional rat-trapper is at work exterminating the rodents.

One Building Completed

"One building has been completed, and we are finding the business men of the community very cooperative," Harris said. "Our work of rat-proofing actually adds to the value of the buildings, and will also prove a business aid in attracting trade since out of town visitors like to shop in cities that are safe from a health standpoint."

Harris pointed out that Lubbock has a distinct "advantage over many cities, because of its dry, healthful climate, but that a complete rat-proofing job here might take two years.

17 Out of 25 Have Typhus

Laboratory tests have revealed, according to officials, that 17 out of 25 rats caught here had typhus. However, the disease is not as prevalent in Texas as in some Southern communities, Harris said.

The actual cost of labor and materials used in rat-proofing is borne by the property owner. The cost averages from $50 to $100 for a building.

While the program does not call for the rat-proofing of residences, all home-owners are being urged to do everything they can in eradicating rodents, the officials explained. Tests have shown that 96 per cent of the rat population resides in the business districts.

Care Is Requested

Home owners are requested to take care in providing rat-proof garbage cans, and in keeping their back yards free of refuse piles and stacks of lumber, which can harbor rats.

Lubbock is one of 36 counties which have been approved and are eligible for participation in vaccination, poisoning and DDT dusting programs, expected to aid in control of typhus. The disease has increased from 13 cases in 1940 to 1,740 in 1944. With a half a million dollar federal grant, plus 113,000 pounds of the mircale insectide DDT, the State Department of Health is planning a statewide dusting program next year.

No One Seems To Know Why Fiscal Officers Of Army Wear The Diamond-Shaped Insignia

By GEORGE TUCKER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WIESBADEN, Germany — Officers in the fiscal section of the U. S. Army wear diamond-shaped insignia of such obscure origin that apparently no one knows what it means.

Infantrymen wear the familiar crossed rifles, military police crossed pistols—insignia whose meaning and origin are perfectly clear—but I have asked scores of officers over the European theater about the fiscal diamond and none has been able to provide the answer.

Treasury Didn't Know

Capt. Ernest E. Brown of Oklahoma City, Okla., said he believed the diamond was chosen because the diamond represented permanent value. Brown is a former infantry officer who fought in Italy.

"I used to wonder about it in Washington and I asked several people in the Treasury what it meant but none of them knew," Brown said.

Carry Money By The Tons

This conversation took place in a transient officers' mess in Verdun recently where we shared a small table for a night meal. Brown had been to Paris from his headquarters near Heidelberg, Germany, and was pushing straight through on the return trip.

"It was a pretty hard trip," he said. "I just took two tons of money to Paris. All kinds of money — South African, Palestinian, Egyptian, Italian. The last time I took eight tons. I had to overload a five-ton truck to do it."

Sometimes It's Lost

The Army handles money like that, in bales of paper currency. Sometimes money is lost, and that money had to be destroyed to prevent it from falling into German hands.

There are estimated to be some 2,600,000 farmers who sell dairy [illegible] the United States.

Now, since the overall picture of the AEF is breaking up due to redeployment, much money assembled in central points is withdrawn to headquarters in Paris.

THE best way to cheer yourself is to try to cheer somebody else up.—Mark Twain.

TODAY'S JOKE!

A prominent business man fell in love with an actress and decided to marry her, but for the sake of prudence he employed a detective agency to prepare a report on her life.

The operative's report read: "The lady has an excellent reputation, her past is without a blemish, and she has a circle of impeccable friends. The only breath of scandal is that lately she has been seen a great deal in the company of a business man of doubtful reputation." This was lifted from the Texas Outlook under the heading of "Scandal."

Taking one's own medicine is the bitterest dose of all. — Unknown.

We wonder if many of the Lubbock citizens who did not take advantage of the opportunity to see Mr. Truman when he was in Lubbock last year have had any qualms of conscience now that he is holding the reins of our nation, and we wonder if they would flock to his side if they had the opportunity now.

Our president is distinguishing himself, isn't he? If he could just get some of the red tape out of his way, we would all be happier.

* * *

WE noticed the OPA announced it is checking on the C rations in each of the war price and rationing boards in the district—or having it done. It might help considerably if the OPA would eliminate some of the red tape requiring needless driving.

For instance, let's take the matter of the canning sugar applications. The amount of gasoline used by Lubbock residents in driving to obtain their application forms is inestimable—and yet the government daily mails numerous letters serving less worthy purpose than it would be to mail these applications to the doors of residents. Or merely it could make a certain stamp usable for obtaining canning sugar. We prefer the latter course, since it would use much-needed paper to mail these applications, and we're in favor of eliminating any needless mails of the OPA and other agencies, as well.

We noted that origin and need of parlimentary law, justice, order, protection of the minority, majority rule, room for debate and treasury reports were explained by Mrs. H. F. Godeke in a talk to Lubbock county home demonstration council in the opening session of a five-weeks course in parliamentary law.

It is kind of Mrs. Godeke to give her time and talents to aiding the county's club women.

Who isn't in favor of parliamentary law? In certain cases, however, we're in favor of the same way Charlie Guy ate his beans with a spoon that time to the discomfit of a nearby diner—the most sensible way, regardless of law, parliamentary or otherwise.

Party Honors Miss Amy Ann Assiter

Miss Amy Ann Assiter, one-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Assiter of 3117 Twenty-first, was honored with a birthday party given Sunday afternoon in the back yard of the Assiter home.

The lace laid table was centered with a mammoth pink cake. Tiny bluebirds and white rosebuds circle a little white angel holding a burning pink candle. In blue lettering "Happy Birthday Amy Ann" was embossed on the cake, which was laced with a blue and white border.

Plate favors were blue scalloped napkins wit hthe honorees name printed in the corner. Tiny guests were served pink lemonade.

Children present were William Heinman, Frank Ford, Myrna and James Garland, Nancy Lynn Sheppard, Peggy Jane Strader, Susan and Davis Ford, Paxton Dennison, Sandra Sue Walker, Martha and Amy Kipp, Norma Jane Adamson, Lynn and Bill Walton, Bill Trotter, Charlie Revier, Helen McDoughlie, Carolyn Lofland, Wade Collins, Bryan Edwards, and Carla and Glenna Maxey.

Mothers attending the party were Mesdames Newton Walden, J. F. Ford, Cecil King, Vernon McDoughlie, Perry Walker, Kenneth Lofland, M. L. Sheppard, Waldo Trotter, Richard Heinman, Craig Strader, and Floyd Eaves of Petersburg.

Amy Ann was christened Sunday morning at St. John's Methodist church by Rev. Aussie Carlton, pastor.

Slaton HD Members Make Hooked Rugs

Miss Clara Pratt, county home demonstration agent, told members of the Slaton Home Demonstration club that a "rug should be of sufficient size so it will not appear as a spot on the floor," when she demonstrated making hooked rugs Wednesday afternoon.

A report of the recent rural women's educational short course held at Texas Technological college was given by Mrs. W. H. Long and Mrs. C. E. Lilley.

Members present were Mesdames Lucille McEuer, Carter Shaw, I. C. Tucker, R. C. Hall, E. C. Wilson, H. H. Booker, R. W. Dooley, Forney Henry, Douglas Wilson and Cleta Young.

Next meeting will be held Aug. 1 at the Slaton club house. Members of the Posey and Union clubs will be guests.

LAWS Members Meet In Home For Luncheon

Mrs. James E. Honnol was hostess to 16 members of Lubbock Army Wives society in her home at 1942 Avenue N Wednesday for a luncheon. Mrs. Howell M. Estes, jr., was a guest.

The three luncheon tables were decorat with sweetpeas and cornflowers. Place cards were crocheted hats matching the colors of the flowers.

Plans for a business meeting and election of officers to be held August 1 at 3 p. m. in First Presbyterian Fellowship hall were made.

Community Reunion Held At Pace Home

A reunion for the Owens community was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Pace recently.

Home made ice cream was served to the 59 attending and plans for next year's reunion were made.

Deposits In State Banks Show Big Hike

AUSTIN, July 19. (AP) — Resources and liabilities of Texas state banks on June 30 totalled $874,311,255 an increase of $238,837,827 in a year, the state banking department reported.

Deposits at $827,828,208 increased more than $233,000,000 in a year and $654,338,839 since 1936.

In a statement Banking Commissioner H. A. Jamison said deposits will proceed to and through a shifting process during the next few years and predicted that "unmistakable progress will continue to attach to state chartered institutions."

Refrigerator Cars Available For Melons

WASHINGTON, July 19. (AP)—Rep. Tom Pickett of Palestine has been informed that the Interstate Commerce commission has released 60 refrigerator cars to help move the East Texas watermelon crop.

Pickett received appeals from watermelon growers at Navasota and Grapeland who reported the largest crop in history was rotting in the fields for lack of cars to move them to northern and eastern markets.

German Praises Work Of San Angelo Man

VEGESACK, Germany, July 19. (U.P.)—A new tribute was paid today to Lt. Jack Mathis of San Angelo, Tex., bombardier who won the first Congressional Medal of Honor in the European theater.

It came from the man whose plant Mathis bombed — Robert Kabelac, director of the Bremen Vulkan submarine building shipyard. He said the bombing killed 102 persons and stopped production for two months, besides damaging four submarines on the ways.

"I had always thought that when we were raided the bombers would fly along the length of the plant so their bombs would have a larger target," Kabelac said. "But your men flew across the plant's narrow center section. Even so, their bombs hit here"—and Kabelac drew a circle on the center of the map of the yard.

Mathis was the lead bombardier of a group of Flying Fortresses which pinpointed the yards on the banks of the Weser March 18, 1943.

An anti-aircraft shell hit the nose of his bomber, mortally wounding him. He crawled back to the bombsight, lined up the target and pressed the release. With his last breath he called "bombs ——."

The navigator finished the traditional phrase of the bombardiers, quietly adding —"away."

"Yes," Kabelac said, "the man who guided this raid did a good job."

Yanks And British Back At Old Tricks As Signs Clutter Roads

By KENNETH L. DIXON
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS (Delayed)—The Allied armies, which always go in for countless signs wherever they travel, now are taking advantage of the lack of combat activities really to turn their sign-painters loose.

Driving from Biamen, Germany, to Paris we found highways through Germany, Holland, Belgium and France dotted with signs in a manner reminiscent of the billboard business back home.

They concern occupation regulations, conduct for soldier traffic, instructions and other subjects. Since territories involved often are jointly operated, the signs are sometimes American and sometimes British—and quite often give the translation into whatever is the local language.

British Really "Sign" Up

The British go in for plenty of traffic signals—often obscure to Yanks even yet—and when they think a road is dangerous they make no attempt to keep it a secret.

"Warning: Bad road surface," will read the first sign of a series. Following it will be several more merely repeating that warning. Then the wording will change to, "Warning: Surface slippery when wet." And then that may be repeated a few times.

Apparently there remains a doubt in their minds that you are properly impressed, so next comes a huge billboard saying flatly, "Warning: Death trap road surface." And a few hundred yards farther, they wash their hands of you with: "You have been warned."

Lulled by an absence of signs for the next few miles you may shift into high gear again, when suddenly you are confronted with signs listing the number of highway casualties in this sector during the last week.

Then Comes Speeding

They give that a moment to sink in before unleashing a printed lecture series on speeding, which usually begins gently with something like this: "Speeding is dangerous" or "no overtaking" (British for passing).

Then they warm up to their work. "Drive slowly—save lives, save equipment," is the next reminder. If there is road work ahead or a dangerous intersection they slap a bold black, "Danger: Dead slow"—which is limey language for: "Better take this one in low, bud."

Provisions Given On Cotton Loan

WASHINGTON, July 19. (AP)—Provisions for the government's cotton purchase program for the 1945 cotton crop, designed to stabilize cotton prices, have been made public by the Department of Agriculture.

Offers to buy 1945-crop middling 15/16 inch cotton, basis gross weight flat cotton, at Memphis, will be made by the department's Commodity Credit Corporation at the following prices in cents per pound for the months indicated:

August 22.15, September 22.20, October 22.25, November 22.30, December 22.30, January 22.40, February 22.45, March 22.50, April 22.55, May 22.60, and June 22.65.

The same premiums and discounts for grades and staple lengths and location differentials as under the 1945 government cotton loan program will be effective under the purchase program.

The purchasing agents, as designated by the CCC, in general will be local banks and other lending agencies approved under the cotton loan program.

Committee Named On Rural School Aid

AUSTIN, July 19. (U.P.)—House Speaker Claude Gilmer today appointed Reps. Joe C. Humphrey, Abilene; Max C. Smith, San Marcos, and Hervyn L. Ramsey, Beckville, to fill vacancies in the joint legislative committee to supervise distribution of state aid to rural schools.

Senate members were appointed during the recent session of the legislature.

Speaker Gilmer also appointed Rep. M. A. Bundy, Wichita Falls, House member of the legislative and business council committee to advise on purchase of a state office building and erection of office buildings.

Lt. Gov. John Lee Smith will defer naming the Senate member of this committee until Sept. 1 to see if Sen. Fred Mauritz will be able to serve. Mauritz who authored the bill to purchase the Tribune Tower for state offices, has been ill. If he is unable to serve, Smith said he will designate Sen. R. C. Lanning, Jacksboro. Lanning handled Mauritz' bill after Mauritz became ill.

Lightning Buys With Tails In Technicolor Subject Of Tall Tale

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff Writer

Like they say in novels, the characters here are fictitious and any resemblance to persons living or dead is purely coincidental. We go further. Any resemblance to fact is purely accidental. The only real life character is Judge Robert E. Sparkman, the Baron Munchausen of Italy, Texas. Judge Sparkman comes up with this tall tale of lightning bugs with technicolor tails. He says they will save the cotton industry.

With a perfectly straight face Judge Sparkman says a former cotton planter named P. G. Rollins from Alabama moved to Teras and settled near Lightning Bug Hollow on Chamber's creek.

Now, Lightning Bug Hollow is famous, naturally, for lightning bugs. Rollins noticed that the bugs attracted boll weevil. But he also noticed, to his sorrow, that they had no attraction for boll worms or cotton leaf worms.

So he abandoned the growing of cotton, and began a scientific study of the effect of light on insect life He experimented with lightning bugs, and somehow turned out bugs which threw off red light, green light, blue light—in short, six delicious shades.

"He found," says Judge Sparkman, "that a red light was absolutely irresistable to the cotton flea, and that a green light lured the leaf worm."

It took Rollins two years to do it, but Judge Sparkman says that he now has lightning bugs which can out-lure the Pied Piper of Hamlin. They have a fatal attraction for boll weevil, cotton fleas, leaf worms, boll worms and other pests which threaten the cotton industry.

If this be entomology, make the most of it.

Regional American Legion Tournament Here Next Week

A tournament of champions, the regional American Legion junior baseball tournament will open here next Wednesday afternoon with the champions from the first three districts meeting in a round robin playoff for the right to enter the state tournament.

Three games have been scheduled in the round robin, involving teams from Wichita Falls, San Angelo and Lubbock, all winners of the district playoffs last week.

Darkhorse Wichitans

Coach George Blackerby's Wichita Falls nine is the dark horse of the race. Just what the Wichita Falls nine has had to do to get to this stage of the race is unknown here. But reports from Wichita Falls indicate that the club will be a good one.

San Angelo won its round robin tournament with Ballinger and Lamesa last week. Lubbock was the victor in a three-way scrap in District One, winning over Morton and Hedley last week.

The games will be played at Chapman field, with starting time set for 5:30 o'clock each afternoon. Only one game per day will be played during the three scheduled days.

Lubbock will face the unknown team, Wichita Falls, in its first test of the tournament on Wednesday afternoon. The visitors will take the spotlight on Thursday afternoon, Wichita Falls playing San Angelo. On Friday, Lubbock and San Angelo will hook up in the final duel.

In case of a tie in the round robin, the playoff will be held on Saturday, H. J. McCabe, tournament director, said Thursday night.

The Lubbock Legion nine will play its final tuneup for the regional tournament Sunday afternoon, going to Lamesa. At the same time, the Legion Reserves will remain at home to entertain the Post team at Chapman field.

The Lamesa Legion team was one of the stronger ones in this section this year, but was beaten in the district playoff by the San Angelo club, 7 to 3. In its other game in the playoff, Lamesa shelled the Ballinger club 21 to 6 for an even break in the district two playoff.

Lubbock Golfers To Face Busy Weekend

Lubbock Country club golfers face a busy week end of qualifying with many linksmen yet to shoot their final 18 holes to qualify for the John Kattmann Cup matches at the annual Lubbock Invitation tournament, here Aug. 9-13.

There will also be the qualifying round for the Director's Cup tournament, which must be shot by Sunday night, club pro Herbert Schroeder announced Thursday night.

Two golfers have completed their Kattmann Cup qualifying, and 19 others have turned in cards for the first round. They must complete the second round by Sunday night.

Morley Jennings, with a 144, and Ted Tipps, with a 148, are the only ones to complete the 36 holes of qualifying play.

The twelve low men, and two alternates, will qualify for the John Kattmann Cup team.

Other scores turned in to date for the first 18 holes include: Don Mitchell 74, C. L. Dean 78, Dr. J. H. Stiles 77, H. M. Chick 83, Chick Trout 74, A. H. Howard 76, Raymond Marshall 73, T. E. Patterson 75, J. H. Hinson 75, Roy Howard 76, Otis Felty 76, Truman Hutson 76, Wynne Collier 77, John Kattmann 80, Jimmy Yates 80, C. N. Woods 79, Ray Dickey 80, Dr. W. A. Schaal 77 and M. K. Dean 80.

No cards have been turned in to date for the Director's Cup play.

Chicago Cubs Star Celebrates Birthday

CHICAGO, July 19. (AP)—Phil Cavaretta, who has been around the National League long enough to be ranked a veteran, was 29 years old today, in his 11th season with the Chicago Cubs, and he was enjoying the best season of his baseball career.

The fast running, hard playing first baseman, who came to the Cubs at the tail end of the 1934 season and succeeded in beating Manager Charlie Grimm out of his infield job, is credited by many with having much to do with the Cubs being in first place.

His current batting mark of around .360 is the best he ever has compiled in midseason and compares with his .284 average over his entire major league career with the Cubs.

In addition to leading the Cubs in batting, Cavarretta is setting the pace in hits, runs batted in and in doubles.

Herb Flam Takes Net Title From Bartzen

RIVER FOREST, Ill., July 19 (AP) Herbert Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., today added the River Forest Junior Open title to his recently-acquired National Interscholastic tennis crown as he dethroned Bernard Bartzen of San Angelo, Tex., 6-3, 7-9, 7-5.

Flam had to turn on the heat in the third set of the championship match, having match point seven times before he successfully ended the two hour and 15 minute battle.

Following his victory in the singles, Flam came back with Hugh Stewart of San Marino, Calif., to win the doubles crown by defeating Bartzen and Bobby Doll of Tampa, Fla., 6-3, 6-4.

HOUSTON POLIO RISES

HOUSTON, July 19. (AP)—Polio cases in Houston this year rose to 109 when four new cases were brought in yesterday. In addition, 32 area victims have been brought to the Jefferson Davis hospital polio ward.

Chisox Defeat Boston Red Sox

BOSTON, July 19.—Although he allowed nine hits, hit a batter and issued seven bases on balls, Thornton Lee, 37-year-old Chicago White Sox southpaw, beat the Boston Red Sox today, 5 to 3, for his tenth win of the season. He has lost seven.

The victory moved the White Sox back above the .500 mark, and dropped Boston into fourth place, one percentage point behind the idle Washington Senators.

The Pale Hose shelled starter O'Neill for nine hits in seven innings, before he retired for a pinch hitter, and handed him his fourth loss of the season, compared with six wins.

Hopes Increase For World Series Play

WASHINGTON, July 19. (AP) — The 1945 World Series was virtually assured today as the result of a request by Secretary of Navy Forrestal and Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet.

They asked Commissioner A. B. "Happy" Chandler to make arrangements to send the World Series winner "on a tour (90 days) of the Pacific ocean to play Army and Navy teams at advance bases."

Forrestal is so enthusiastic about the possibilities of such a tour that he commented in a letter to Chandler: "It may persuade more Japs to surrender because the one thing they all want to know is: 'Who's leading the leagues?'"

"This shows how eager the boys in service are for the World Series to be played," Chandler said, "and there no longer appears to be any valid reason for not playing the annual fall championships."

The playing of this year's series had been in doubt due to transportation difficulties, but Chandler said he felt sure "the problem can be worked out satisfactorily."

Chandler, in an interview, said he "immediately called" the two big league presidents, Ford Frick, National, and Will Harridge, American, for their cooperation upon receipt of the request from Forrestal.

"I talked with Harridge and he thinks it is a swell idea," Chandler said. "I have been unable to yet reach Frick by phone. I'll call a meeting right away of Frick, Harridge and representatives of the Secretary of Navy to work out details."

In a Navy Department memorandum, Admiral Nimitz said that the 90-day tour of the Pacific areas "would be feasible and would constitute a welcome addition to the expanded welfare and recreation program."

"It is recommended that every effort be made to arrange this tour," Nimitz added.

Hank Wyse Cops Seventh In Row

CHICAGO, July 19. (AP)—Hank Wyse notched his seventh straight mound victory today, with a five-hit performance that gave the first-place Chicago Cubs a 3-1 triumph over the Brooklyn Dodgers before a paid crowd of 10,128. It was Wyse's 13th win of the season.

The Bruins handed little Vic Lombardi his fifth successive loss.

Dixie Walker robbed Wyse of a shutout when he singled across pinch-hitter Morrie Aderholt from second in the ninth frame for his 74th RBI of the season.

It was the 18th victory in the last 21 starts for the Cubs, who now head the third-place Dodgers by four and a half games. Second-place St. Louis, three games behind, meets the Phillies in another double-header tonight.

The Cubs collected all except one of their nine hits off Lombardi, who gave way to a pinch hitter in the eighth and was replaced by Clyde King.

St. Paul Open Golf Tourney Wide Open

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 19. (AP)—The St. Paul Open golf tournament developed into a "dark horse" affair today with most of the pros refusing to concede that Harold "Jug" McSpaden of Sanford, Me., was the only one with a chance to win the title.

Until the withdrawal of Byron Nelson, the Toledo, Ohio, winner of virtually all the top money this year, there was little speculation about the victor. Nelson, a native of Texas, suffered a back injury in a recent contest.

Among the "dark horses" considered to have the best chances were Dick Metz, the farmer-golfer from Arkansas City, Ark., who set the tournament record of 270 in 1939; Sgt. E. J. "Dutch" Harrison of Wright Field, Ohio, and Johnny Revolta of Evanston. Another was Joe Coria of St. Paul who fired a 68 in practice round for his nomination.

The open gets under way Friday morning with 18 holes of stroke play. Another 18 holes will be played Saturday with the 36-hole final scheduled for Sunday.

Phils Sign Schoolboy Pitcher From Florida

BRADENTON, Fla., July 19. (AP) —Lewis West, star Bradenton High school pitcher, has signed with the Philadelphia Phillies and received a $7,500 bonus, his father, Frank West, discloses.

The 17-year-old has been optioned by the Phillies to their Concord club in the North Carolina State League. Young West plans to return here next fall for his senior year at high school. He will be of draft age next May 1.

Baylor Grid Squad Gets Reinforcements

WACO, July 19. (AP)—Fifteen more football prospects, including one discharged veteran, arrived at Baylor university this week to swell the list to one of the largest squads in the Southwest Conference.

Among the new arrivals was Frank Devereaux, a back who played at Lufkin High school in 1938, 1939 and 1940. He was recently given his honorable discharge from the service after seeing action in the European war theater

Others enrolling included Billy Kimbrough, star passer from South Park (Beaumont); Lawrence Smith, 170-pound back who was an all-stater in Kentucky; Bill Musselwhite, guard from Reagen (Houston); and J. W. Arbuckle, ace end from McGregor.

Jack Knott Plans To Return To Athletics

BROWNWOOD, July 19. (AP) — Lt. Jack Knott, first major league baseball player to win an Army commission in this war, said here today he won't go back to baseball until the last shot is fired, but when it's over, Connie Mack has a job waiting for him.

Knott, former pitcher with the Browns and with the Athletics since 1940, is still under contract to Mack. He said Mack had promised him a job as coach or minor league club manager after the war.

On leave with his wife here, he will report Aug. 3 to San Luis Obispo, Calif., with 104th division headquarters company. He won his battlefield commission Jan. 7, 1945 during fighting in the Belgian bulge. He wears the Bronze Star and the Purple Heart for a shrapnel knee wound.

Knott began his baseball career in 1926 at Dallas and pitched at Palestine in the East Texas League.

Shepard Placed On Solons Active List

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP) — Bert Shephard, one-legged former combat pilot, today was placed on the active player list of the Washington Senators.

Shepard, in his first appearance in major league competition, pitched well for four innings against the Brooklyn Dodgers in a recent inter-league war relief game. He probably will be used as a relief hurler.

Yankees Boss Ired By Lack Of Hustle

NEW YORK, July 19 (AP) — Deploring "lack of hustle" by the New York Yankees, President Larry MacPhail promised today "there will be wailing and gnashing of teeth when it comes time to sign 1946 contracts."

After a long conference with Vice-President George Weiss, Loquacious Larry commented, "It is quite one thing to be beaten and quite another to be outhustled."

Pearl Harbor Revenge Starts, But Main Jap Fleet Probably Missed

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press News Analyst

The glee with which naval airmen spotted and pounced on holed-up Japanese warships hiding out at the Yokosuka base just inside Tokyo bay can be imagined. It gave them their first opportunity to repay Pearl Harbor debts in kind.

It seems wholly unlikely, however, that any major element of what is left of Japan's surface fleet was moored under camouflage at Yokosuka. The whereabouts of such enemy battleships, plane carriers and heavy cruisers as are still afloat is yet to be revealed. By every rule of logic and military axiom they must be elsewhere. Probably in the island sea. The fact that seamining operations at the wide twin southern entrances to the inland sea have been the frequent mission of B-29 bombers sufficiently indicates the view of the American high command as to where Japanese big surface craft are sweating it out.

SIMPSON

Tokyo bay under present circumstances is no more than a trap for any part of Japanese surface naval power holed up there.

Suicide Sorties

Such Japanese ships as are lurking under cover in the inland sea could presumably effect suicide sorties through either of the two passages leading into the Pacific when the moment for that comes. Assuming that the initial phase of invasion of Japan should come on bomb-blasted Kyushu, the southernmost island where there is indication Japan's military rulers expect it, any enemy fleet remnants in the inland sea will continue to represent a real threat to successful landings until they are disposed of.

Closer-up advance air bases than have yet been acquired would seem to be an urgent Allied necessity in preparation for a full scale invasion. The closer those bases can be established for tactical air support purposes to the selected main invasion sites the lower will be ground force casualties.

Brownell Plugs For GOP Victory

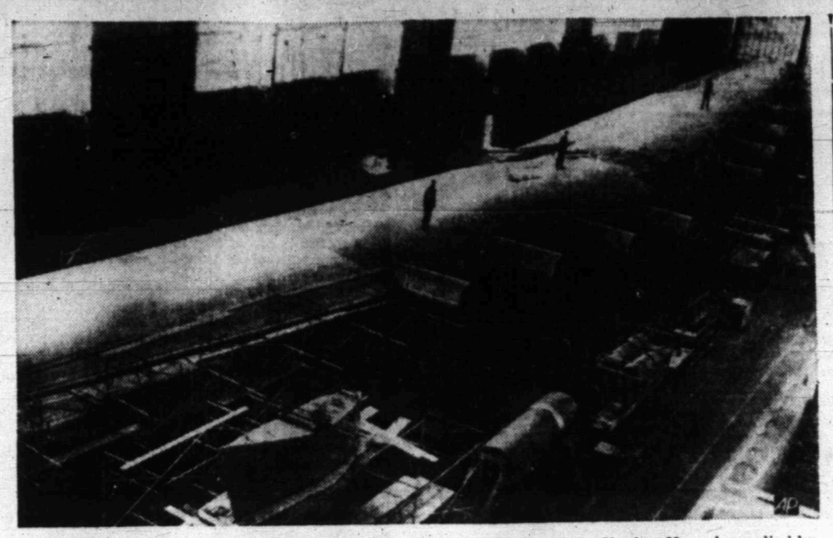

DENVER, July 19. (AP)—National Chairman Herbert Brownell, jr., told approximately 400 Colorado Republican leaders and members today the party would win control of Congress in 1946 and "we shall have two years in which to audit the New Deal" to prepare for a national triumph in 1948.

The New Yorker attacked what he described as the administration's method of political publicity through the hiring of many publicists at "the people's expense."

The Republican national committee, he said, is preparing for the 1946 elections through establishment of press and radio information departments and research staffs to keep Republicans in Congress informed of new developments in foreign and domestic affairs.

Of the next off-year campaign, the speaker said, "we have only to elect 28 more representatives and we shall have control of the House, control of every committee. Then we shall have two years in which to audit the New Deal and open the way for a return of the Republican party nationally' to direction of the country's affairs.

The Democratic party is made up of three groups, Brownell said. He described them as the "southern bloc, which maintains itself in power by denying the franchise to a very large segment of the population, black and white; the big city machines, which believe in politics for the benefit of private property, and the extreme left-wing group, which has built the legislative program for the New Deal."

GIANT WING FOR HUGHES 'HURCULES'—This shows the wing of the Hughes Hurcules, called by its builders the biggest plane in the world, now nearing completion in the Hughes Aircraft company plant at Culver City, Calif. The wing is 320 feet from tip to tip and 13 feet thick at the hull. Frau Himmler Still Believes Her Hubby Was Great German

By ANN STRINGER
United Press Staff Writer

INTERNMENT CAMP ON ROME'S OUTSKIRTS, July 19—Frau Margarete Himmler maintained today that she was still proud of her infamous husband and shrugged away the world's hatred of the dead Gestapo chief with the calm observation that no one loves a policeman.

When I told her that husband Heinrich had been captured and had died from his own dose of poison Frau Himmler showed absolutely no emotion. She sat, hands folded in her lap, and merely shrugged her shoulderss.

Until then she had not known what had happened to Himmler since he last telephoned her from Berlin around Easter while she was at their home near Munich.

Claimed Weak Heart

When first captured by the Fifth army she had claimed a weak heart, and internment camp officials, fearful of a heart attack, never told her of her husband's death.

But even when I told her that Himmler was buried in an unmarked grave Frau Himmler showed no surprise, no interest. It was the coldest exhibition of complete control of human feeling that I have ever witnessed.

I talked to Frau Himmler in a luxurious villa home owned by a former movie magnate where she and her 15-year-old daughter, Gudrun, are being held with one other female internee.

I asked her if she was aware of her husband's activities as Gestapo chief and she replied, "of course."

"Policemen Not Liked"

Then I asked if she knew what the world had thought of him and she replied, "I know that before the war many people thought highly of him."

Asked if she realized that Himmler was probably the most despised and hated man in the world after the European war got well under way Frau Margarete shrugged and said, "maybe so. He was a policeman and policemen are not liked by anyone."

Frau Margarete denied the possibility that her dead husband might have been considered the No. 1 war criminal. She said, "my husband? How could he be when Hitler was Fuehrer?"

Asked if she was proud of her husband, Frau Himmler replied, "Of course, I was proud of him." Then she added, "in Germany wives would not even be asked such a question."

Shows No Feeling

Then pressed as to whether or not she was still proud of Himmler when he had sentenced millions of innocent people to death by torture, gassing, or starvation, Frau Margarete answered noncommittally, "Perhaps. Perhaps not. It all depends."

I gave her details of Himmler's attempted disguise, his capture, his suicide, and his burial. She put her elbows on the table, chin in hand, but still showed no feeling.

When the conference was over I, and a radio correspondent who accompanied me, thanked her and walked out.

Looking back on the interview I can only remember that Frau Himmler was singularly ugly. Her greying dirty blonde hair was twisted into one huge knot on the back of her head. Her hard face, minus makeup, is speared by a long scar running from the left cheekbone to the left upper lip.

Mouth Wide, Large

Her mouth was wide and large and when she smiled you could see glistening gold teeth in each corner. She said that she had married Heinrich on July 3, 1928, when he was already a veteran member of the Nazi party.

She freely admitted that she, too, was a Nazi.

The last time Frau Himmler saw her husband was in Munich in November, 1944, and she said that he was in high spirits and not at all depressed. He believed that Germany would lose the current war but she added, "he knew the war then would not be at an end. The war will go on. America and England never will be able to work with Russia and that war will go on."

Speaks English

Frau Himmler spoke coldly, emotionlessly, and it was apparent that she watched carefully for the effect of her words. She spoke a great deal of English but sometimes parried for time by waiting for the translator to give her the German version of her questions.

Asked if Himmler had hoped to succeed Hitler, Frau Himmler replied, "no, he did not, but Goering did."

Runaway Father And Baby Caught

DENVER, July 19. (AP)—An 11-day-old baby was returned to his mother today after authorities cut short his train journey with a runaway father who planned to wean the child "by studying up on a book."

Mrs. Arthur Kestermont, 21, of Kansas City, Kans., laughed and wept by turn when the state highway patrol restored blue-eyed Arthur, jr., to her after a dash from Hugo, Colo.

Then she gave the nursing child a long-postponed feeding while authorities led her 27-year-old husband, a truck driver, to the county jail on a charge of contributing to juvenile delinquency.

Reason For Flight

The district attorney's chief investigator, Ray Humphreys, said Kestermont told of fleeing with the child this morning because his wife refused to accompany him to Kansas City.

Asked how he proposed to feed the infant, Kestermont said he had taken a book telling how to wean a baby and, "by studying up on the book, he was going to wean him forthwith," Humphreys related.

The investigator said Kestermont, who had brought his wife to Denver from Dragerton, Utah, denied her story that he beat her this morning and threatened to kill her.

"He said he was sorry now and glad that we intercepted him," said Humphreys. "He said he loved his wife and baby."

Military Motives Said Behind China Switch

WASHINGTON, July 19. (AP) — Undersecretary of War Patterson was reported to have told senators today that purely military motives dictated command changes in China that preceded the retirement of Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault.

Chennault announced his retirement when the 14th airforce which he headed was grouned with the 10th airforce under the command of Lt. Gen. George C. Stratemeyer in the southeast Asia theater.

Patterson testified at a closed session of the Senate military committee. Senators said he was asked about reports that Chennault — as one senator put it — was "eased out" because of opposition from Chinese communist quarters. Chennault has been a close friend of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

Two Con Men Sought In $25,000 Swindle

HOUSTON, July 19. (AP) — Peace officers throughout the state tonight were on the trail of a well-known confidence man believed to have been a partner in a switch game which left Walter Siros, Baytown restaurant man, minus $25,000.

Siros told officers he had the $25,000 in $500 bills, which he had withdrawn from two Houston banks to be used in a real estate deal. The money was in an envelope, he said, and the suspect, together with an accomplice, substituted an envelope containing sheets of photographic paper for the one in which he had the money.

Siros described both men to the officers. The confidence man for whom a search was underway is said to be a 60 year old ex-convict who served time in a federal penitentiary. Police said he had a long record, including many swindles.

The other man, believed to be about 40 years old and serving as a steerer for the confidence man, was unknown to police here.

Congratulations To:

Lt. and Mrs. Floyd A. Smith of 1311 Twenty-seventh on birth of a daughter weighing 7 pounds 6 ounces at 3:20 o'clock Thursday afternoon at Lubbock General hospital.

One-Man Yank Banzai Clears Up Jap Area

WITH THE ELEVENTH AIRBORNE DIVISION, South of Manila, July 19. (AP) — Throughout the weary, bloody afternoon, Pfc. Manuel Perez kept up his one-man banzai attack against the Japanese.

Ducking and twisting beneath heavy fire, he threw dozens of hand grenades into strong pillboxes the enemy had erected to protect the approaches to Fort McKinley. He returned to his own lines only for more grenades.

When he had finished, the little paratrooper from Chicago had killed an estimated 75 Japanese and wrecked 12 pillboxes. At the end he defended himself with his rifle and bayonet against the last fanatics in the enemy garrison.

This story was told for the first time today when the 23-year-old Perez was awarded posthumously the Medal of Honor for his almost incredible feat, and how he died one month later on another front, protecting the withdrawal of his advanced patrol, for which he was awarded the Silver Star.

Chinese Beat Back Three Jap Columns

CHUNGKING, July 19. (AP) — Thirteen hundred Japanese troops, striking across the Indo-China border in three columns, have been smashed back by Chinese defenders in a two-day battle, the Chinese high command announced today.

Aided by Indo-Chinese puppets, the Japanese attacked last Saturday from a point 13 miles northeast of Caobang, but by Monday all had been knocked back across the border, a communique said.

The enemy, apparently nervous over Chinese thrusts into Indo-China, launched his assault from Tra Linh two miles south of the frontier. The battle raged at points south, southwest and southeast of Tsingsi, Chinese road junction 15 miles north of the frontier.

To the northeast, Chinese forces seized a point 14 miles northwest of the great airbase city of Kweilin on Teusday and pressed on toward the city, the high command said.

Kweilin's fall is "imminent," said a central news dispatch from Yungning quoting Gen. Chang Fah-Kwei, commander of Chinese forces in Kwangsi province.

"By using basis in Kwangsi our troops can attack Japanese forces on the coast," the dispatch added. It said he predicted the fall within 10 days of Tsangwu (Wuchow), a West river port 150 miles southeast of Kweilin and 115 miles west of Canton.

Argentine Forces Reporter To Sign 'Error' Statement

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 19. (AP) —John Nasht, travelling correspondent for the magazine "Newsweek," reiterated today that three Argentine government agents told him July 14 in Buenos Aires that he would not be permitted to leave the country unless he signed a government-prepared statement correcting a dispatch he sent to "Newsweek."

Nasht said he signed the statement and left the next day. On his arrival here he publicly described the incident. The press office of the Argentine ministry of war then issued a formal communique yesterday accusing him of "bad faith."

The correspondent said the Argentine agents had objected to his report that the deaths of three Argentine colonels were announced several days after they died, that mutual aid societies rather than the families made the announcement, and that there was no indication that they were buried with military honors.

Labor Disputes Keep Many Workers Idle

(By The Associated Press)

Production graphs in at least 27 plants, mines and shipyards continued downward yesterday as major labor disputes kept idle more than 59,700 of the nation's workers.

Five major labor controversies in the Detroit area accounted for 24,600, including 14,000 made idle yesterday at 200 lumber yards closed in a dispute involving a new union contract.

Seven other unsettled labor disputes in various parts of the nation kept another 28,800 idle, including 8,000 shipyard workers at Beaumont, Tex., 3,900 at Alameda, Calif., and 3,500 at New Orleans; 6,500 cigar makers at Tampa, Fla., 2,700 miners at Jenkins and McRoberts, Ky., 2,000 employes of a metallurgial plant at Alloy, W. Va., and 2,200 distillery workers at Schenley, Pa.

More than 4,300 others were idle in 15 disputes involving work groups ranging from 18 to 725.

A back-to-work order from the WLB brought an end to a strike of 1,335 CIO union workers at the Pure Oil company refineries in Newark and Toledo, O., Port Neches, Tex., and Charleston, W. Va.

Dire Results Feared From Lack Of Sugar

WASHINGTON, July 19. (AP)—Rep. Jenkins (R-Ohio) said today that unless sugar is made immediately available to housewives, canners and other commercial users "much of the produce of victory gardens and vast quantities of other foods . . . are certain to be lost."

The chairman of the Republican congressional food committee made to the House these five specific recommendations to help relieve the sugar situation:

"1. Borrow sugar from the United Kingdom.

"It is reported that for more than two years past Great Britain has held stocks of sugar in excess of normal peacetime practice.

"2. Borrow sugar from military allocations.

"3. Embargo exportation of American-allocated sugar.

"A month ago the Republican congressional food study committee strongly recommended that an embargo be placed on the shipment of sugar available to the United States to any foreign country until such time as their actual stockpiles are disclosed and justified. Up ti this time no apparent action has been taken on this recommendation.

"4. Expand sugar beet production.

"5. Prepare now to produce sugar in the Orient.

ICC Rate Order Delay Charged

MOBILE, Ala., July 19 (AP) — Governor Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma declared tonight that opposition forces were making a concerted effort to delay effectiveness of the recent Interstate Commerce Commission order directing freight rate equalization.

Kerr said the Southern Governors' conference, of which he is the chairman, would "analyze the extent and the nature of the opposition that is now manifest or that may develop" and take steps to combat it.

Four-Day Conference

He made the statements in an interview before formal opening of the four-day conference here tonight at an executive dinner for members of the freight rate committee.

"Our primary objective here is to do whatever is within our power to expedite the effectiveness of the ICC order at the earliest possible date, the Oklahoma chief executive asserted.

"To do that we will first analyze the opposition and second analyze the forces that are available for cooperation with us. We then will unify efforts of all who are favorable to our position, and in that we expect the support of the south, southeast, southwest and much of the western area."

Kerr said that lately "some of the southern and southwestern railroads are coming around to our position."

The conference chairman did not call the opposition forces by name but he referred to today's action by the western railroads in asking the ICC to reconsider its recent class rate decision and to similar action earlier this week by eastern governors.

The ICC order, handed down two months ago, would substantially reduce rates in the south and west and increase them in the east. Railroads affected by the ICC order have asked the ICC to postpone its effective date from Aug. 30 of this year to April 1, 1946.

Kerr said he and the other southern governors were of the opinion that the order could be made effective by November 1, 1945" and certainly not later than Dec. 31."

Storm Due To Hit Texas Coast Today

NEW ORLEANS, July 19. (AP) — The weather bureau said a gulf disturbance was centered at 9:30 p. m. central war time tonight 240 miles east of Corpus Christi, and was attended by winds of 35 to 45 miles per hour over a small area.

The bureau cautioned, however, that precautions against possible increase of winds up to 55 miles per hour in heavy squalls should be continued between Matagordia, Texas, and Lake Charles, La.

The disturbance was moving northwestward or north northwestward eight to ten miles per hour and was expected to move inland Friday between Freeport, Texas, and Lake Charles.

Working Capital Of Corporations Higher

PHILADELPHIA, July 19. (AP)—American corporations with securities listed on national stock exchanges face reconversion with a working capital 63 per cent higher than the 1939 level.

This was disclosed today by the Securities and Exchange commission in a study of current assets and liabilities of 1,290 listed corporations which shows that working capital soared from $12,553,000,000 to $20,253,000,000 between 1939 and the end of 1944.

"The steady increase in working capital to unprecedented levels, reaching a new high estimated at $45,500,000,000 for all American corporations, is considered by the commission to reemphasize the ability of American industry as a whole to reconvert to peacetime production and also to undertake considerable expansion without recourse to outside sources of funds," a commission spokesman said.

U. S. Puts Up Most Of UNRRA Funds

WASHINGTON, July 19. (AP)—The Byrd economy committee heard today that thus far the United States has put up 72 percent of the funds spent by the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration in five European countries.

Roy F. Hendrickson, deputy director general, reportedly told the group in a closed session that of the $1,350,000,000 pledged by the United States a total of $793,000,000 has been made available.

"Six-Shooter Sis" Of Gregg County Likes Her Job So Well She's Going To Run Again

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff Writer

You can have your pistol packin' mamas. Gregg county will take "Six-Shooter Sis."

They've elected her constable of precinct 4 twice, and she says frankly she's going to run again and again and again. She likes it.

"Six-Shooter Sis" is Addie Louise Dickerson, 31, 192 pounds and five feet six. Everyone calls her Sis, and she even gets her mail that way.

Bailiwick No Pushover

Her bailiwick is no pushover. Precinct 4 is in the East Texas oil field. It includes Liberty City and ten nearby oil company camps.

She says there is little "what you might call crime" and no gambling. But there are at least ten honky tonks scattered around "and the boys like to get out and kick up their heels a bit."

Sis says the boys usually come along quietly when she says so. For one thing, they know she packs a 38-caliber colt and knows how to use it.

On duty she wears slacks and a jacket and her snubnosed revolver swings in plain sight in a holster on her hip. She wears an outsized badge, to save argument.

She hasn't shot a man yet, but had a close call with a former Texas Ranger last Thanksgiving. He finally backed down.

Then there was the time she chased a speeder and found herself looking down the muzzle of a sawed-off shotgun. She talked herself out of that one, and turned the man over to the federals. A sawed-off shotgun is illegal.

On trips, she carries what she calls her "Sunday badge" — smaller and neater. And wears a dress.

She was appointed to her job to succeed her late father in 1941, has been re-elected twice, plans to keep on running.

It's a rugged life, but I like it," she says.

Man Is Found Dead Seated On Tractor

O'DONNELL, July 19. (Special) —Alfred W. Gibbs, 53, a resident of this area for the last 40 years, was found dead Thursday near here, after he was apparently stricken with a heart attack while driving a tractor. Gibbs was discovered seated on the tractor about six hours after his death, according to an attending physician.

Gibbs, a former employe of the Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber company here, is survived by his widow and two daughters, Margaret and Billie.

Funeral services will be conducted at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Methodist church, with Rev. H. H. Hollowell of Spur, and Rev. E. H. Crandall officiating. Burial will be in O'Donnell cemetery.

MacArthur Greets McNutt At Manila

MANILA, Friday, July 20. (AP)—Paul V. McNutt, war manpower commissioner, arrived today and was greeted at Nichols Field by Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

The former U. S. high commissioner to the Philippines, here on an economic and health survey, was accompanied by a staff of health and relief experts.

Philippines political circles professed no knowledge of the exact purposes of McNutt's visit. In some quarters, it was thought probable that McNutt might become the first ambassador to the free Philippines after independence is established.

At Honolulu, McNutt said he intended to investigate Hawaii's request for 6,000 Filipino agricultural laborers.

Planes Grounded Due To Tire Shortages

WRIGHT FIELD, O., July 19. (AP) — Fourteen hospital troop planes have been grounded in North Africa because of lack of tires made in Akron and Detroit plants, Maj. Gen. Hugh J. Knerr, commanding general of the Air Technical Service command here, reported today.

Declaring other operations will be hampered if tire production is not stepped up immediately, General Knerr said:

"Tires of the 15.50 by 20 size used on C-54's and C-46's are needed badly and the recent labor troubles within the tire industry have aggravated seriously the situation.

WALKOUT ENDS

BEAUMONT, July 19 (AP) — A three-day walkout ended today at the Pennsylvania shipyards when two-thirds of the day shift reported for work.

News Briefs

City detectives launched an investigation Thursday into the burglary Wednesday night of City Swimming pool in Mackenzie State park in which $90 in money and candy valued at $60 were taken. The intruders overlooked approximately $30 in change. Entry was through a smashed window, according to Chief of Detectives Bill Mabray and Patrolman Charlie Street.

By-laws of the Veterans Civic Service committee were adopted by its policy committee in a meeting Thursday night in the chamber of commerce offices. The by-laws will be presented to the central committee which the policy group called to meet at 8 o'clock Tuesday night in the Legion hall. The forthcoming gathering, it was said, will take the form of an organizational meeting at which appointment of committees will be among the items of business.

A hotel dice game among ten men, including a negro porter, was raided Thursday afternoon by Deputies Sheriff Earl Horton and Tom Cannon and Ranger Capt. Manny Gault. Justice of Peace D. Robertson fined each of the players $18.50, including costs. All paid off.

Prowlers took almost everything detachable from five taxicabs Thursday night on the City cab lot in 1300-block Broadway, police were informed. The cars were stripped of gear shift knobs, gasoline tank caps, accelerator pedals and windshield wiper blades. Youngsters were suspected.

A motorist's accidental backing of his automobile into a guy wire to a highline pole in 2000-block between Avenues G and H Thursday afternoon set off a short circuit in a line running north to Ninth street, firemen said. The wire near the affected pole snapped and several yards of the high-voltage line fell to the pavement. Firemen stood by to direct passersby away from the scene while repairs could be made.

Billy Ray Turner, 13, of Idalou, was injured about 7 o'clock Thursday night when the car in which he was riding overturned. He was admitted to West Texas hospital at 7:45, and received treatment for severe lacerations of the scalp and numerous bruises. Hospital attendants reported that his condition was considered satisfactory.

Miss Alma Gene Garrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Garrett of 2424 Twenty-first, who recently completed her training at St. Joseph's hospital in Fort Worth, returned home Thursday.

Jap Suicide Planes Said Very Accurate

CHICAGO, July 19 (AP) — Japanese kamikaze or suicide planes obtain "four to five times" as many hits on naval craft "as can be accomplished in normal dive bombing or horizontal bombing," Commodore Dixie Kiefer, captain of the aircraft carrier Ticonderoga, said today.

The Navy disclosed today the Ticonderoga suffered 337 casualties and extensive fire and bomb damage when struck by two Jap suicide planes near Formosa last January.

The commodore told a press conference that suicide bombing was effective "because it is fairly easy for a ship to maneuver away from other types of bombing but impossible to maneuver away from a plane that is being steered."

Kiefer, wounded in 65 places by bomb fragments when the Ticonderoga was hit, still has one arm in a cast. He lay on a mattress outside the wrecked bridge and directed the ship's emergency repairs, refusing medical aid for 12 hours after the Jap plane struck, then walked down 11 decks to the sick bay.

Windsor To Confer On His Future Aid

WASHINGTON, July 19. (AP)—The Duke of Windsor said today he expects to confer next month with his brother, King George, and the British Prime Minister.

The former King Edward VIII told reporters he was "out of a job" since he resigned after five years as governor-general of the Bahamas. The presumption was that he will ask what he can do next in the empire administration.

The duke said his American-born duchess, the twice-divorced former Wallis Warfield Simpson for whom he gave up the throne Dec. 10, 1936, will accompany him to England. He has been there only twice, and that briefly on war business, since his abdication.

Three Japs Downed In Raid On Okinawa

OKINAWA, Friday, July 20. (AP) —Marine fighters shot down three Japanese aircraft attempting to raid Okinawa last night.

It was the first Japanese attempt in weeks to strike this fast-growing American air base, captured five weeks ago after 82 days of the Pacific's most bitter fighting.

KING, QUEEN HOME

LONDON, July 19 (AP) — King George and Queen Elizabeth flew back to London tonight from a trip to northern Ireland, the first time in English history that the king and queen have ever flown to and from a visit. They were accompanied by Princess Elizabeth.

DISCHARGES DELAYED

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP) — Selective Service today deferred inauguration of a point discharge system for conscientious objectors pending disposition of legislation prohibiting such a plan.

ROAD PROJECTS APPROVED

DALLAS, July 19. (AP)—The War Production board announced the approval of $1,378,968 in Texas highway department projects today. The projects include Rusk county, $754,476 and Tom Green county, $229,092.

Fifty-two weeks do not make a year; they total only 364 days.

Greet 'Em With Jobs!

Lubbock Has A Task To Perform

IT is high time for Lubbock to accelerate its plans and preparations for receiving the returning veterans and aiding them in finding proper employment.

Calling attention to the magnitude of the task of helping the veterans to reestablish themselves, Brig. Gen. J. Watt Page, state director of Selective Service, said this week in Austin:

"No matter how many governmental agencies are set up to do the job, in the last analysis the communities will have to do the work of helping the veterans to readjust themselves."

General Page pointed out that veterans are now returning to the State at the rate of 5,000 a week. To date 125,000 have been discharged out of the 750,000 in service from Texas.

Houston has set an enviable example by establishing its own central clearing house with a paid director and workers to facilitate its returning veterans in finding jobs. All available jobs are listed along with the special skills required.

While the local Red Cross, the U.S.O., the service officers of the American Legion and V.F.W. have demonstrated their willingness to aid the returning veteran at every opportunity, and the United States Employment Office is doing its best to meet the problem, a cooperative effort will no doubt be required. As General Page point out the problem is in the last analysis a community one.

Let us welcome the veterans home with jobs.

In The Nation's Interest

AFTER two and one-half years of study and two weeks of public hearings, the Post-War Planning committee of the House of Representatives—(the Woodrum committee)—has recommended a system of military training for the United States.

The committee's report, approved by 22 out of the committee's 23 members and signed by 16 as favorable, warns that the peace might be lost by a "retrogression" to the pre-war state of unpreparedness.

It also points out that it is unlikely that any possible future aggressor would ever give the United States time to build and train an army. The committee rejected the idea of a large standing army as impractical because of the excessive cost of maintenance.

The report appears to have logic in it, logic that all of the clouds of arguments arising over the question of compulsory training can not obscure. Both proponents and opponents of military training have tended too frequently to becloud the basic issue. Those favoring the program have been too prone to cite the benefits to the young men of the nation, while those opposing it have countered with the argument that such benefits could be obtained in other ways.

But the prime issue is not what military training will or will not do for the young men. The issue is the future safety of the United States.

This nation must never again be caught unprepared. Preparedness is a nation's best insurance against war.

Fate Of A Tarnished Hero

WHAT will happen to Marshal Henri-Philippe Petain, the 89-year-old French "Hero of Verdun," who is now awaiting trial for high treason by his countrymen because of his cooperation with Nazi Germany?

Will France—even the new France which is dealing so realistically with those accused of treason—dare to execute him?

The question of his fate is one of the perplexing human problems arising from the war. It is one that will wrench the heart of many a patriotic Frenchman.

For Petain and his slogan—"Il ne passe-ront pas." (They shall not pass), a slogan that became a symbol of French resistance to the Boche hordes at Verdun—are things that remain green in the memory of the heroes of World War No. 1. It is hard for a Frenchman to forget a national hero, even a tarnished one.

Those who know French character best predict that France, despite her showing of heartless fury during the French Revolution, will not have the heart to execute the aged "Hero of Verdun," even though he deserves execution.

A paragrapher says there has been more weather than usual this year. Maybe so, but we hadn't noticed. Some time ago we placed weather on our list of unimportant things, and shall pay no further attention to it unless it serves up a cyclone or an earthquake.

"Sleep isn't necessary to physical well-being," says a faddist. Maybe not, but it's necessary to mental health, in that it provides an avenue of temporary escape from ourselves.

We Flew Without Guns

By Gen Genovese
(Copyright, 1944, NEA Service, Inc.)

This is a true story of the men who fly the "hump"—carrying passengers and cargo over the high Himalayas between India and China. Pilots call it the toughest airline route in the world.

* * *

II

There are two kinds of ice found over the Himalayas in northern China and lower Tibet: the wet, sloppy kind that sloshes over your aircraft and molds itself to the shape of the wings and fuselage before freezing hard; and the "clear" ice that comes at your plane in hard little nuggets, caking together in blocky lumps on the leading edges of the wings and even on the blades of the props. Since it breaks their smooth contour, that caking-up of ice on the wings cut heavily into their lifting power.

For the first half-hour after we got into the storm we had wet ice, and our only real difficulty was holding our altitude against the increasing weight as the ice accumulated. But our oxygen was getting dangerously low and I had to tell Tsui to take off his mask. We could get along if he passed out, but there had to be someone at the controls. That meant simply that either Fox or I had to keep going; we could feel sorry for Tsui, but that was all.

With Tsui off the oxygen I felt a little easier, but our supply was still short if we were going to have to stay at that altitude for any length of time. And with every passing minute it seemed more evident that the storm was a wide one, accompanied not only with changing stages in the sleet formations—one minute wet ice and the next minute clear and chunky—but the wind was changing, too.

* * *

Tsui was pretty light on his feet when he got up out of his seat, mumbling something about taking a look at the passengers. Concentrating as I was on what was ahead of me, I was still aware of his opening the door into the cabin, and then, after a moment, tottering forward and leaning over my shoulder. He dropped a note into my hand. "Three passengers conscious," it read.

I shot a quick glance at the Chinese boy and I knew that the passengers weren't the only ones taking a beating from the altitude and the lack of oxygen. As Tsui stumbled back to his own nook behind Fox and me I began to feel some real alarm myself.

The oxygen gauge showed that we could hold out about 20 minutes more if Fox and I both continued to draw on the supply. If I cut off Fox, I could hang on twice as long, perhaps even for three-quarters of an hour. On the other hand, if we were on our course the breakthrough was due in less than half an hour.

I leaned over toward Bill and said, "We'll take the stuff in shifts. Two minutes at a time, then switch." I had my own mask off when I spoke; in fact, I had pulled it off before I turned to speak to him. As I turned back to the controls, when I looked at the windshield—only then did I realize what we were really up against.

* * *

The glass was turning gray on the inside. My breath, condensing inside the mask until then, was now condensing on the windshield itself. My hands and feet had been getting colder and colder for the last hour; the heater wasn't worth a damn under those conditions; and when I took off that mask it was like blowing warm air into a refrigerator. Even the section of the windshield in front of Fox was coated with my breath before I had fully realized what was happening.

Then we were closed in completely. The ice on the outside of the glass had allowed us at least a dim view of the outside world. Through that ice we had been able to tell the direction in which the sleet was blowing, and thus the direction of the wind. Using that as an index, I had felt a certain amount of confidence that no mountain peak would suddenly loom up in our path; it would have been betrayed by the shifting currents in the sleet.

Now with that gray film making an impenetrable coating on the inside of the windshields, even daylight failed to show through the glass. I had a nail file in an inside pocket; with numb fingers I opened my jacket and took it out. Signaling Fox to take the controls, I leaned forward and started digging at the frost on the glass.

We were at 20,500 feet when I started clearing the windshield, and when two thin scratches had been dug in the front I told Fox to let us down to about 18,000 while I kept on digging with the nail file. The clearing was about one inch deep and three inches wide a couple of minutes later when I suddenly let out a yell that for its sheer terror ought to be legend in those Tibetan hills by now.

We were at 18,500 feet and the overcast had abruptly begun to thin. The next instant we were in the clear and heading directly at a snow-capped mountain peak that rose to a good 19,000 feet. "I've got it!" I shouted, and grabbing the controls I threw that old C-53 into the scream ingest chandelle she had ever made. Full throttle and hard left rudder, with her nose pulled almost straight up, the old crate groaned and her wings strained so violently we could hear the ice cracking at every joint. And then all we could do was wait.

It seemed like a lifetime, but of course it was only a matter of seconds before we knew we had cleared the peak.

PEANUT CROP WEEDY

WASHINGTON, July 19 (U.P.) — (USDA)—A U. S. Department of Agriculture report said today that the peanut crop in some sections of Texas was becoming very weedy because of the inability to cultivate in wet fields. But on the whole, the report said, growing conditions continued very favorable in all but a few sectors.

"Buy A War Bond TODAY"

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

IN these days when you read and hear so much about juvenile delinquency, it is refreshing to read the story of 10-year Dickie Quick of Belton, Mo.

When the town's regular iceman quit, Dickie went into business for himself.

BRANDEIS

He owned a little wagon and a goat by the name of William. So he started to deliver ice to the Belton citizens.

Everything wasn't quite rosy from the start, because William apparently didn't take to the ice business. But with patience and perseverance Dickie taught him how to pull the wagon without upsetting it and how to stand still while he was delivering the ice.

Now Dickie averages delivery of about 450 pounds of ice a day. His charge is 5 cents for each 25 pounds.

He is pretty well satisfied with the progress of his enterprise, except that three or four ice cream cones a day and extra feed for the goat after a day's work, eat up a lot of the profit.

But he is sure that he will solve this problem soon.

* * *

The same issue of my paper that contained the story about Dickie Quick, also had a lengthy article about juvenile delinquency in which Dr. John E. Wade, superintendent of New York schools, warned that juvenile delinquency usually begins at the age of 10—by an odd coincidence just Dickie Quick's age.

He recommended to parents and teachers that they should encourage "individual aptitudes and creative efforts of children, so that these children may be helped to discover their own individuality and to add to their self-esteem."

* * *

I AGREE with Dr. Wade. That goat and ice business added to Dickie's self-esteem and made him realize the responsibilities of life at an early age.

Ten is a dangerous age for kids. It is the time when they begin to plan and to want to do things and be somthing.

It's up to you parents to lead them either right or wrong.

I said it before and I say it again:

All juvenile delinquency is the result of adult delinquency.

Show me a delinquent child and I'll show you a delinquent parent.

Show me a delinquent pupil and I'll show you a delinquent teacher.

* * *

I forgot to tell you that Dickie Quick paid $2 for William, the goat, and that he got the money from his father who encouraged him in his enterprise.

Who's Who" is full of the records of sons of understanding parents.

And the jails of the country have in their cages the offspring of adult delinquents.

Rankin Vs. Marcantonio

Extremists Hold The Spotlight

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

ALTHOUGH the House of Representatives has a preponderant Democratic majority that should be able to keep everything under control at all times, actual leadership during the present session rests in the hands of two men of such bitterly contrasting philosophies that they never speak when they meet on Capitol Hill.

The legislative directors are Vito Marcantonio, radical American Labor party member from Manhattan's Harlem, and John E. Rankin, the Conservative from Tupelo, Mississippi. The former is a protege of Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia of New York City, but he stands far to the left of Hizzoner on social and economic questions.

TUCKER

Rankin is dean of the Mississippi delegation, foremost advocate of public power and a "professional veteran" as chairman of the House Committee on Veterans Legislation. He is a typical Bourbon, only more so. Both are thorns ("pests" is the description applied in the corridors) to the authorized leaders and to the gentlemen on both sides of the aisle. But they are running the show.

Except for routine appropriation bills, the only important measures enacted by the House at the current sitting were forced through under the whip of the Italian-American. Against bi-partisan opposition in the powerful Rules committee and on the floor, the New Yorker obtained passage of the Anti-Poll tax bill and wrested a grant of $250,000 for continuance of the controversial FEPC. He also forced Chairman Sol Bloom to report favorably from the Foreign Affairs committee his resolution advocating recognition of Italy.

* * *

CONFUSED: Rankin, taking the Rayburn-McCormack bosses by surprise on the first day of the session, set up the "Dies committee" as a permanent organization to conduct a continuing investigation of un-American activities, and immediately became the dominant man on that body. It had been the intention of Democratic and Republican bosses to kill off this agency.

The Southerner also slipped one over on the "organization" when he persuaded the House Committee on Veterans Legislation to approve his proposal that discharged soldiers be exempt from joining labor unions. Nothing he has done so dismayed Sam Rayburn and John McCormack, and even GOP-er Joe Martin, jr. At the last session Rankin upset all administration plans on the absentee soldier vote bill, forcing his own version on the White House.

Two factors explain why the 435 members follow such diverse rulers as the metropolitan radical and the rural tory. The first lies in the fact that congressional thought was never more confused. The boys cannot decide whether to turn to the left or to the right as they prepare for the 1946 elections.

They cannot sense whether the folks back home are in a mood for liberal or conservative action. So they go along with Marcantonio one day and with Rankin the next.

The second reason is that these uncrowned rulers are experts in parliamentary law and practice. They know every trick of the legislative trade. Their favorite reading is Jefferson's Manual. They have the best attendance record on Capitol Hill. When their colleagues are sitting in box seats at the baseball park, they are crouched in their chairs in the House.

* * *

JAPAN: Acting Secretary of State Grew's formal discussion of reported Japanese peace "feelers" and Allied surrender terms had an extremely significant background. It was an attempt to allay a feeling of unrest and dissatisfaction over the fact that the United States bears the brunt of the war against Tokyo.

WINNING THE WAR
By Albert Leman

WITHOUT fanfare Allied officials are rapidly completing arrangements for the trial of German war criminals. The recent execution of the four murderers of a Yank paratrooper is but the first punishment.

Examples of the strange paradoxes of the German mind—and the perverted psychology with which Allied courts of justice must deal—were described to the writer by Maj. Marcel A. Maillard of the French Army, who has just arrived in New York. He was once a departmental director of the French underground and later a political prisoner in Buchenwald.

Despite his military rank, the major was forced under the lash to lift huge stones up a slippery hill in the prison quarry. He and other prisoners were marched out at 5:30 in the morning, fed half a loaf of bread, and brought back at 5:30 at night.

LEMAN

Regardless of winter weather they then stood roll call for a half to six hours; even the sick and corpses were placed in line. Once the men remained in formation for 32 hours; 400 dropped dead.

But here is the most amazing part of the story: Every night the Germans assigned a brass band in gorgeous scarlet uniforms to entertain the prisoners. It played sentimental music while the poor devils toppled over and died.

The major was quartered near notorious Block 45 in which thousands of human "guinea pigs" perished. German physicians experimenting with phosphorus burns and typhus tried out remedies and vaccines on prisoners. If the cure failed, the patients, of course, succumbed; if it worked, the healed were promtply given a lethal injection of poison.

Next door to this fiendish hell was a hospital for prisoners in which the best doctors and materials in German medical science were available—x-rays, sterilizing apparatus, drugs, modern operating tables. Milk, eggs, rich soup and white bread were freely given.

But only 2,000 beds were available and there were always many more ill. The rejected were shot. When the disabled were discharged in health from the hospital, they were immediately given hard labor and either died of starvation or were clubbed to death.

German doctors cultivated beautiful flowers beside the vivisection chamber where human limbs were amputated for practice.

LOVE: Everyone by now has heard of Frau Koch, wife of the concentration camp commander, whose hobby was collecting the tanned skins of victims. Certain details were censored; here they are: She usually picked handsome young Poles and Russians because their chests were sketched more elaborately than those of other nationalities.

They were brought secretly to her bed-chamber, when her husband was away, and fed choice food and wine. In the morning after each illicit love affair she had her paramour shot and his tattooed skin flayed for her ghastly collection. She will not stand trial as a war criminal because an unknown American aviator dropped a bomb on her cottage and she was killed.

Nor will most of the SS guards at Buchenwald be brought before the bar of justice. They, too, perished through the indirect action of a United States Army flyer. This unknown hero bombed the camp's arsenal. In the excitement of the attack prisoners snatched weapons and hid them in the hospital.

Just before American troops drove into the outskirts of Buchenwald, prisoner firemen—who were allowed to patrol the streets—dug up the buried guns and distributed them. Most of the guards were slain before the Yanks arrived.

"Wasps actually have an affectionate regard for man," says a naturalist. Maybe so, but we don't care for their rugged caresses.

"What causes me to wake up every night at 3 o'clock with an avid desire to eat?" some one asks. Maybe it's hunger.

Reconversion Problems Still Hanging Fire

Congress Charged With Shirking

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON. — Congress is going to cease business until Oct. 1, as far as domestic legislation is concerned, without doing anything about adequate unemployment benefits for those who will be thrown out of work during reconversion, or without formulating a specific program to provide full peacetime employment.

The House soon begins its long recess. The Senate is remaining behind to ratify the San Francisco charter which follows the Bretton Woods agreements. Approval of the charter is expected early in August, after which senators will begin their vacations.

STOKES

Both branches are leaving their jobs here without lifting a finger, even in the preliminary committee stage, to enact measures designed to deal with what the late President Roosevelt called "the human side of reconversion"—workers who will be out of jobs, at least temporarily, in the reconversion process. Such measures have been introduced, as well as bills for a long-time job program.

They will gather dust until autumn, unless President Truman intercedes and induces Congress to get back to work, or at least to do the preliminary spadework in the committee.

His letter-writing campaign to Congress, politely suggesting action, has brought no results. It will take more than nice notes.

* * *

Picture Is Discouraging

It is getting late, too. Should the war with Japan end suddenly Congress would be caught ill-prepared for dealing with acute post-war problems. Reconversion already has begun. Unemployment also has started, as a visit to any large war center will show. It will accelerate from now on.

It is a discouraging spectacle, especially since Congress has had so long to do something about these problems.

THOUGH Congress has done nothing to provide adequately for unemployed war workers, it is hurrying through, before it recesses, a bill to assist business and industry in reconversion. The bill would make available now refunds and tax allowances, amounting ultimately to $5 billion, that orginally were postponed until after the war. It would relieve small business of excess profits taxes at a cost of $160,000,000 to the Treasury. This is for the purpose, as the Senate Finance committee report says, of "improving the cash position of business enterprises."

What about the cash position of the worker?

The Senate Finance committee has responsibility also for legislation for him. In its report on the business tax relief bill, it says: "With the steadily increasing tempo of cutbacks and war contract cancellations, many businesses will need cash immediately." The same cutbacks and contract cancellations also are affecting the worker.

* * *

History Repeats Itself

This Business Tax Relief action, without commensurate help for the worker, repeats a spectacle of two years ago. Then Congress legislated first for business and industry in reconversion, providing the postwar cash allowances it is now making available ahead of time. Then it recessed for a long time before taking up bills for unemployment compensation for the worker.

When it did, it made inadequate provision. It left rates of unemployment benefits in the states, some of them pitifully low, resisting all attempts to raise these by federal allowances. And it has done nothing since.

Some of the states since have increased their benefits. But President Truman felt they were still too low in many cases and he urged Congress several weeks ago to adopt a comprise federal-state system which would permit an increase up to a maximum of $25 for 26 weeks.

* * *

BILLS now have been introduced in both House and Senate for this purpose, though in some states low paid workers still would receive only the state limit. The Senate bill, introduced jointly by Senators Kilgore (W Va), Wagner (NY), Thomas (Utah), Guffey (Pa), and Pepper (Fla), all Democrats, is much more liberal than the House measure. It includes federal workers not now covered, and provides travel allowances to new jobs, and increases the benefits of unemployed veterans, among other added features.

But nothing has been done about these bills, nor about the so-called "Full Employment" bill introduced in both House and Senate to establish a long-time employment program, nor about expansion of the Social Security act.

No. Congress is knocking off work, shirking these tasks.

Resignation Of A. & I. Professor Announced

KINGSVILLE, July 19 (AP)—The resignation of Paul M. Eberhardt, director of publicity and instructor in journalism at A&I College since last September, has been announced by Dr. E. M. Jones, president of the college.

The appointment of Eleanor Mortensen, junior journalism major from Weslaco, as acting director of publicity for the summer also was announced.

Eberhardt's resignation, effective July 14, was dictated largely by conditions of health, the announcement said.

Corn, coconuts, sugar, hemp and tobacco are grown in quantity in the Philippines.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Buses are overburdened as never before. A crisis is near. With more men, tires and gas going to war, present service can barely be maintained. Each day brings greater loads. When you must travel locally, let this be your creed:

1. Do Not Ride in Rush Hours, except to and from your job.
2. Have Exact Fare Ready, saves time and fuss.
3. Move Back When Driver Asks, speeds your ride.

This simple creed will work wonders.

Woman Is Jailed For Threatening U. S. Jap

SACRAMENTO, July 19. (AP)—A tirade against a Japanese-American soldier and his family has landed Mrs. Wilma Insigne, 34, of Walnut Grove, Calif., in the Sacramento county jail because, in the words of Justice Milo Dye, "doing you a favor is doing you an injustice."

Dye, Walnut Grove justice of the peace, sentenced Mrs. Insigne to 90 days in jail on charges of disturbing the peace and using vulgar, profane and indecent language. He suspended 60 days of her term on condition she leave the county after serving 30 days.

Secretary of the Interior Ickes yesterday cited her conviction as the first jail sentence imposed for threatening returned Japanese-Americans.

She was arrested on the complaint of Army Pvt. Yoshio Matsuoka, who has just returned to the United States after 10 months in a German prison camp. Matsuoka charged that the women threatened to have his father's home burned down if the family remained in Walnut Grove.

From her cell Mrs. Insigne screamed last night, "It's a lie, a dirty Jap-loving lie! I positively did not threaten any Japs. I just gave them a darn good cussing out."

More Pay Sought For Merchant Mariners

WASHINGTON, July 19. (UP)—Howard McKenzie, merchant seaman and vice president of the National Maritime union (CIO), told the War Labor board today that the sea has lost its glamor.

McKenzie said some men sign up for the Merchant marine believing the "Horatio Alger stories of the War Shipping administration that there is a pot of gold at the foot of each gangplank." But such men last only one trip and then they leave the industry, he said.

By that time, he said, they have decided that the wages are too low for the hard and confining work aboard ship.

McKenzie urged the WLB to order a 55-cent hourly minimum wage in the maritime industry. He said this was necessary to compensate partially for the loss of take-home pay caused by the reduction of war risk bonuses last Monday. The bonuses were reduced from $100 to $80 a month in European coastal waters and $80 to $40 a month in other Atlantic waters by order of the maritime war emergency board. He also asked a time and one-half rate for work in excess of 40 hours a week. The seamen have a scheduled 56-hour week.

SHARES MOVE SLOWLY
NEW YORK, July 19 (AP)—Timid buyers returned to the stock market today and lifted favorites fractions to a point or so, but dealings were among the slowest of the year and losers plentiful.

Turnover was 780,000 shares compared with 1,450,000 Wednesday.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .5 of a point at 64.9 after four successive recessions.

Advances of a point or more were retained by Atlantic coast line, as this stock was placed on a regular quarterly $1 dividend basis; Santa Fe, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, Eastman Kodak, Johns-Manville, du Pont and Allied Chemical.

Electric Power and Light sprinted to a 1945 peak but ran into opposition and ended down ⅝ net. On the offside were Bethlehem, U. S. Rubber and Texas Co.

Bonds did better selectively.

NEW YORK FUTURES
NEW YORK, July 19 (AP)—Cotton futures moved in a narrow range today as traders awaited fresh incentive. Reports of unwanted rains in the eastern and central cotton belts brought in New Orleans and local buying in early trading. Final prices were unchanged to 10 cents a bale lower.

Private crop advices estimated production in the Rio Grande valley will be 80,000 bales against 125,000 bales last season.

Futures closed unchanged to 10 cents a bale lower.

AVERAGE PRICE
NEW ORLEANS, July 19 (AP)—The average price of middling 15-16ths-inch cotton today at ten designated Southern spot markets was 10 cents a bale lower at 22.66 cents a pound; average for the past 30 market days 22.70; middling ⅞ths-inch average 21.24.

Accused Woman Is Found In Hospital

DALLAS, July 19. (AP)—Upon motion of District Attorney Dean Gauldin, Judge Henry King today issued a bench warrant for the return to the Dallas county jail of Anna Bell Turner, located yesterday in the Austin state hospital.

The woman is under a 14-year prison term, assessed by a Dallas jury which convicted her of assault to murder in the pistol wounding of Mrs. Dora Turner.

The Court of Criminal Appeals recently affirmed the 14-year conviction. A search had been under way for the woman since this higher court action and her attorney, T. K. Irwin, who made her appeal bond, had offered a reward for her rearrest.

Overseas Surplus Goods Up For Trade

WASHINGTON, July 19. (AP)—This government is willing to consider trading its overseas war surpluses for foreign "rights and concessions" which would foster postwar world trade and amicable relations.

Thomas B. McCabe, Army-Navy liquidation commissioner, says such trades will be "thoroughly considered" in disposal of the vast array of surplus war goods remaining in countries which might find it difficult to obtain American dollars for outright cash deals.

McCabe filed his report on foreign surplus disposal with the surplus property board's new chairman, William Stuart Symington.

In the early 19th century, purple finches, bobolinks and blue birds were sold as food in New Orleans markets.

More Wounded Vets Arrive At McCloskey

TEMPLE, July 19. (AP)—McCloskey General hospital looked good to 59 veterans from the Philippines, Okinawa, France and Germany, who arrived here last night. Thirty-one were on litters.

Lt. Robert Lockhart of Conroe, Texas, hit by mortar fragments on Mindanao, said "The fighting's not all over there by a long shot and it'll take a long time to finish it."

Cpl. Arthur M. Hare of Hereford, Tex., wounded in the leg April 24 by a Jap sniper on Okinawa, commented "I saw a lot of action on Saipan but Okinawa was the roughest."

A veteran of 38 months overseas, T/Sgt. W. D. Horn of Wichita Falls, returned after duty in the Aleutians, Philippines and Okinawa with sharp respect for Japanese shooting. Horn was wounded as he replaced his platoon leader June 2 while serving ith the 96th. He said the "Nips are bloody good with their weapons, all of them."

Other Texans included Pvt. Curtis Sherman, Abilene; Marion L. Vackar, El Campo; Cpl. Jimmie Brandenburg, Mineral Wells.

Texas Flier's Plane Cracks Up In Landing

13TH AIRFORCE HEADQUARTERS, Philippines, July 17. (Delayed) (AP)—Capt. Harry Remington of Dallas, Tex., split the keel of his Catalina patrol plane while landing in white-capped Balikpapan bay Dutch Borneo to deliver an emergency supply of 1,600 pounds of blood to Australian doctors.

He estimated the waves to be 15 feet high.

Two other Catalinas were wrecked earlier trying to attempt the landing.

Remington tried to taxi toward shore as crewmen bailed water. A boat coming to his aid wrecked the plane's tail and then the Catalina was really helpless. It drifted four miles toward enemy positions and Japanese shells were beginning to land around it before a Navy boat rescued the pilot and crew.

The plane's belly finally ripped completely open while near its destination.

Remington's wife lives at 2103 Jones st., Wichita Falls, Tex.

The first museum in the United States was operated on the second floor of Independence Hall, Philidelphia.

Top Officials Accused Of Plans For Communistic Indoctrination

WASHINGTON, July 19 (U.P.)—Rep. John E. Rankin, D., Miss., told the House today that top War department officials "are using their offices to indoctrinate members of the armed forces with Communistic philosophy" and should be removed at once.

He said he believed Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson, Undersecretary Robert P. Patterson and assistant Secretary John J. McCloy "should go now."

The House Military Affairs committee, Rankin said, is receiving many protests from servicemen overseas that "these men are responsible for commissioning Communists in the Army."

Communism Charge

Rankin's statement followed a vigorous defense by the War department and the Office of Strategic Services of 16 men named by a House subcommittee as having "communistic backgrounds."

Rep. Ewing Thomason, D., Tex., chairman of the military affairs subcommittee which named the men, said during the discussion that followed Rankin's remarks that the men listed by the committee had affiliated before the war with organizations and associations with Communist tendencies and ideologies.

But, he added in response to a question, "it is a fair statement" that the subcommittee found they had served their country to the best of their ability during the war.

Others Protest Charge

Rankin's remarks brought immediate protests from other House members.

Rep. Adolph J. Sabath, D., Ill., said Rankin "feels that way of course, because before the United States entered the war, some of these (16) men were writing articles not pleasing to reactionary and Fascist groups." "I say they are loyal, patriotic Americans who are serving this country with the best that's in them," Sabath added.

Sabath waved his hands in the air as Rankin shouted an interruption.

"You can't prove a single thing—that these men are not patriotic Americans," Sabath said.

"Oh, yes I can," Rankin countered.

Rep. William A. Pittenger, R., Minn., said he regretted that any member would make a statement on the floor that would "reflect on the confidence the people have in the work of the secretary of war and other officials."

Should Be Investigated

But he added that "if anybody made a mistake of letting Communists get on the payroll that matter ought to be investigated and these people fired."

Rep. John H. Folger, D., N. C., said that "it is deplorable that such an attack should be made on the men who are directing the war." He said both Stimson and Patterson were patriotic Americans who have been doing good jobs.

The War department said there was no question of the loyalty of the 16 men named by the committee.

Canada's merchant navy now numbers more than 1,500 trained men.

Extension Of Scope Of Baby Program Given

AUSTIN, July 19 (AP) — Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, today announced extension of the scope of the program of maternity and infant care of wives and children of servicemen, under terms of the G. I. baby program.

A serviceman's wife may apply for maternity care and care for baby even after her husband has been honorably discharged, promoted or demoted, provided she was pregnant during the period when he was in one of the four lowest pay grades of the service or was serving as an aviation cadet. On the same basis, she may apply if the husband and father is a prisoner of war, missing in action, or dead, said Dr. Cox.

Liberty Man Shot To Death; Suspect Sought

Powerful Aviation Gas As Safe As Kerosene Is Said Developed

NEW YORK, July 19 (AP)—Practical development of a powerful aviation fuel so safe that "a lighted match can be dropped into it without causing a fire," was announced today jointly by the Standard Oil Company (N. J.) and the Pan-American World Airways.

E. V. Murphree, vice president of the central technical organization of Standard Oil said research chemists had made the fuel "as safe as kerosene but with combustion power equal to the best fast-vaporizing gasoline." It must be heated to more than 100 degrees fahrenheit to produce enough vapors to ignite, the announcement said, "thus eliminating the dangers of a flash fire from fast-vaporizing gasoline that might be set off by a spark."

OUTSTANDING LEGIONNAIRE

DALLAS, July 19 (AP)—Ernest L. Tutt, manager of the U. S. Social Security board here, has been selected the outstanding Legionnaire of Texas for 1945, L. A. Stewart, 5th district commander of the American Legion, announced yesterday.

Snap Beans First In Importance On Vegetables List For Canning

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

SNAP BEANS come first in importance on the list of vegetables to can.

CANNED SNAP BEANS
(in Steam pressure Canner)

Select young and tender beans from the vine. They should be crisp and firm. Wash in several waters until no trace of sand is left. Trim and cut.

Prepare only enough beans for one canner load at a time. That is important. If too much food is prepared at once, it will stand around and may spoil.

Pour boiling water over beans and boil for five minutes.

Clean Jars Important

Clean hot jars are vitally important. Pack in beans, taking only one jar at a time from hot water. Use a clean cloth to protect hands from hot jars and also to protect jars from any cold surface.

Pack beans in jars loosely. Don't cram. Then pour in enough of the bean liquid to leave only one-half inch above the top of the beans. Work as quickly as possible. Add one teaspoon salt to each quart jar. By pushing knife blade down the sides of the jar, work out all air bubbles. Then wipe the rim of the jar carefully. Even a speck of food on the rim will prevent an air-tight seal.

Lids Should Be Sterilized

Sterilize lids. If using flat metal lid, set it on jar so that sealing compound is next to glass. Screw metal band on firmly, but not so hard that the compound will be damaged. If using other type of lid, follow manufacturer's directions accurately.

Now for your pressure canner. Pour two or three inches of boiling water in the canner to prevent water from boiling "dry." Then place your filled jars in the canner so they won't touch each other. Remember — steam must flow all around each jar.

Carefully Fasten Cover

Carefully fasten canner cover. Open petcock or weighted gauge opening and allow steam to pour out for at least ten minutes. Then shut pet cock or put on weighted gauge.

Count time only when pressure is at ten pounds. Adjust heat to keep pressure steady. For beans allow 40 minutes for quarts, 30 minutes for pints. That's at sea level. If you live above sea level, for each 2,000 feet above sea level add on pound pressure to regular amount of time.

Open Pet Cock

When processing time is up, remove canner from heat. When pressure falls to zero, wait two minutes, but no longer, and then open pet cock or take off weighted gauge. Unfasten cover and tilt up the side away from your face.

Remove jars from canner and place on rack or folded cloths. Keep out of drafts.

To can other non-acid vegetables in pressure canner, follow this same procedure. For time table and other necessary information, see the following article.

Never use a sharp instrument in removing ice trays; it may injure the refrigerating coil or tray.

Pear halves are good served with a square of currant jelly on each.

(Recipes serve four)

Cottage Cheese Salad With Sour Cream Dressing

1½ cups cottage cheese
¼ cup radishes, sliced
¼ cup chopped chives
¼ cup chopped cucumber
Salt and pepper
Lettuce

Combine cheese, radishes, chives and cucumber and season to taste. Place on a bed of lettuce and serve with:

Sour Cream Dressing

½ cup sour cream
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon tarragon Vinegar
1 tablespoon minced onion
⅛ teaspoon paprika

Mix seasonings, add vinegar and stir until well blended. Add cream and beat with rotary beater until dressing thickens. Add onions.

BAKED HAM

Put ham in pot half full of water, cover, and boil two hours. Pour off water. Place ham in baking pan. Add a quart of pineapple juice (or apple juice). Bake one hour in 300 degree oven. Remove from oven and take off top skin. Cover ham with thick layer of brown sugar mixed with prepared mustard. Stick thickly with whole cloves. Return to oven and bake until done (about two hours).

Save left-over vegetables for soups or salads.

Molasses Good Sugar Substitute

SOME folks still hold out a faint hope that the armed forces have more sugar stowed away in warehouses than they will use—but at the present time every indication is that civilian sugar supplies will not be released in any great quantities, even for canning.

The bright side of this picture is that there are liquid sweets which can be used to satisfy the great American sweet tooth. Molasses, corn syrup, maple syrup and honey are all sweetenings that will have to be used.

Molasses Can Be Used

Molasses is in good supply and can do as much for us as it did for our pioneer ancestors before the days when refined sugar was considered essential. Spreading molasses and other liquid sweets through the day's meals and avoiding all unethical practices in purchasing sugar is one very important way that every housewife can help Uncle Sam during these critical times.

Nary a grain of that hard-to-get sugar is used in this recipe for—

MOLASSES ROUNDS

1-4 cup melted shortening
1-2 cup molasses
1 egg, beaten
1 cup raisins, chopped
1 1-2 cups rolled oats
1-2 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1-2 teaspoon baking soda
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons milk

Combine shortening and molasses; cool slightly. Then stir in egg, raisins, and oats. Sift together flour, soda, cinnamon and salt; then stir in first mixture with milk. Drop by heaping tablespoonfuls 2" apart on greased cookie sheet. Bake in hot oven of 425 degrees F, 10-15 minutes or until cookies are brown. Makes about 2 1-2 dozen.

How To Beat Shortening

Would you like to use these cookies for dessert — with ice cream? You can still beat the sugar shortage, according to one local housewife who reported that she kept ice cream in the frigidaire all the time—for the children of course!

Here's how:

1-4 cup sugar
3 teaspoons flour or cornstarch

Light Salad Is Good For These Hot Days

Has what to serve and what to eat put you on the spot these sultry days? Most homemakers at some time wish they could prepare, in a hurry, some cooling treat or a fresh light salad to tempt the family.

If you answered yes to the first two questions and you've idly thought of planning something different or actively wished for an appetizing salad—you're troubles can be solved by whipping up this recipe for—

PERFECTION SALAD

1 envelope plain unflavored gelatine
1-4 cup cold water
1-4 cup water
1-4 cup sugar
1-4 cup sugar
1-2 teaspoon salt
1-4 cup mild vinegar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1-2 cup cabbage, finely shredded
1 cup celery, cut in small pieces
1 pimiento, cut in small pieces or 2 tablespoons sweet red or green peppers.

Soften gelatine in cold water, dissolve in hot water with sugar and salt. Add vinegar and lemon juice and cool. When mixture begins to thicken, fold in vegetables. Pour into mold that has been rinsed in cold water first, and chill until firm. When ready to serve, unmold on salad greens and serve with mayonnaise. Serves six.

Salad may be molded in flat pan, cut in squares and served in red or green pepper cases; or it may be placed in individual molds that have been lined with strips of canned pimiento.

Here Are Tested Recipes For "Luxury" Canned Goods

Any sugar left? Then stretch it with light or dark corn syrup and put a few "luxury" jars of preserves, marmalades and spiced vegetables on your 1945 canning shelf.

RED TOMATO PRESERVES

Yield: 9 six-ounce glasses

Dip 2 pounds small red tomatoes in boiling water 1 minute, repeat the process using cold water; peel and quarter. Cover 6 thin lemon slices with water, and boil 5 minutes; drain; discard liquid.

Combine mixture of 2 cups light corn syrup and 2 cups sugar, place them in a large saucepan and bring them quickly to a boiling point. Add tomatoes, lemon, 2 pieces of ginger root and 1-8 teaspoon salt. Boil mixture rapidly from 15 to 20 minutes until tomatoes are clear and syrup is thick, stirring constantly to prevent scorching. Pour into hot sterilized glasses. Seal them immediately with a thin layer of hot melted parraffin.

SPICED BEETS—Yield: 4 pints

3 pounds young tender beets
1 cup dark corn syrup
1 cup sugar
2 cups vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
1-2 teaspoon white pepper
1 teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon allspice
1 tablespoon cinnamon
1 emon, thinly sliced

Cook beets until tender, about 15 minutes; dip in cold water, peel and cut in large dice or thin slices. Put remaining ingredients in saucepan, bring to a boil. Add beets and cook 15 minutes. Completely fill hot sterilized jars and seal immediately.

GOOSEBERRY JAM

Yield: 10 six-ounce glasses

3 cups gooseberries
5 1-3 cups sugar
2 2-3 cups light corn syrup

Pick over and wash gooseberries; remove stem ends. Put in large saucepan; mash well. Cover and cook slowly until skins are soft. Add sugar and syrup. Cook, stirring occasionally to prevent sticking, until thick (222 deg. F.) Pour into hot sterilized glasses. Seal immediately with thin layer of hot melted paraffin.

APRICOT AND PINEAPPLE MARMALADE—Yield: 5 pints:

1 pound dried apricots
5 cups water
1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple
1 1-2 cups light corn syrup
3 cups sugar
1-2 lemon, thinly sliced

Put apricots through food chopper, using fine blade. Cover with water and soak over night. Drain, saving juice. Drain pineapple and measure juice; add enough apricot water to make 2 cups. Put apricots and pineapple in large saucepan. Bring to boil and cook rapidly 5 minutes. Add sugar and lemon. Boil rapidly 5 minutes longer. Pour into hot sterilized jars filling to 1-2 inch of top. Seal according to type of lid and jar, and process for 5 minutes in boiling water bath.

Defrost the refrigerator cooling unit before the ice is one-quarter inch thick.

Try mixing tomatoes and celery occasionally.

Spiced Apple Peanut Muffins

2 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1-3 cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 egg
¾ cup milk
4 tablespoons peanut oil
1 cup diced raw apples
½ cup salted peanuts, coarsely ground

Sift dry ingredients. Beat egg, add milk and add to dry mixture. Add peanut oil and fold in diced apples and peanuts. Drop into greased muffin tins. Bake in 400° to 425° F. oven 20 to 30 minutes.

KENTUCKY FLIER KILLED

CORPUS CHRISTI, July 19 (AP) The Navy said today that Ensign Edwin Debose Baggett, 21, was killed Monday in a plane crash 10 miles north of Monterrey, Mexico. He was the son of Rev. and Mrs. John F. Baggett of Lexington, Ky.

Cooled left-over vegetables for winter salads taste best if marinated.

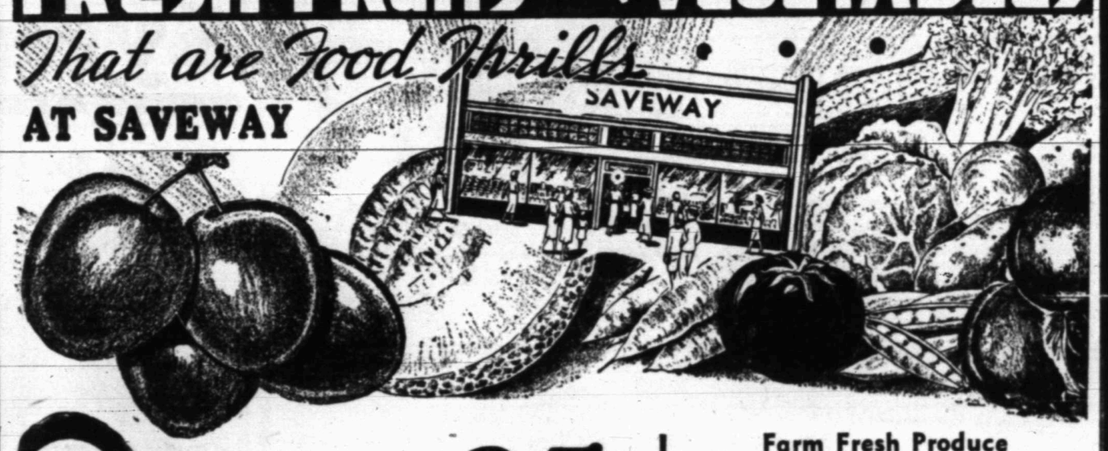

A hint of nutmeg or mace in a cream sauce add zip to snap beans.

PAW Takes Over Sinclair Plant At Houston, Third Texas Seizure

HOUSTON, July 19. (AP)—The Petroleum Administration for War began operating the Houston plant of the Sinclair Rubber company today, third plant it has taken over under a presidential order in Texas within the last 30 days.

As in the other cases—seizure of the Humble Ingleside, Tex., refinery June 22 and the Texas company refinery at Port Arthur, July 1—the government said a labor dispute threatened interruption of vital production for war.

Workers Vote Strike

Production and maintenance workers for Sinclair, members of Oil Workers International union, Local 227, (CIO), had voted 361-129 to strike unless differences with the company over reopening a contract were composed. Last night the Eighth Regional War Labor board, after a show cause hearing at Dallas, held that the union had no good cause to strike.

Labor members of the board dissented in its four to two decision. About 550 workers were involved in the dispute.

The President's executive order for the seizure was issued early today and the PAW took over operation at 7 a. m. The order said there was a "real, substantial and immediate emergency in the form of a threatened interruption" in production of butadiene used in making synthetic rubber required for the war effort.

Fear Spread Of Trouble

Bargaining rights are held by the CIO union at the adjacent Sinclair refinery. William H. Davis, director of economic stabilization, who recommended the seizure order, said that if a walkout took place similar disturbances probably would occur immediately at the refinery. He said the plants of Sinclair company and nearby refineries were turning out products which were required urgently by the war effort.

Sisters File Suit, Ask For $32,000,000

BATON ROUGE, July 19. (AP)—Three spinster sisters in a suit filed in district court here asked $15,979,875 damages and an equal amount in interest from 40 persons and agencies.

The plaintiffs, the Misses Agnes E., Annie C., and Elizabeth Lewis, of Ave Maria plantation, members of a once wealthy Louisiana family, alleged infringement and trespassing and other injuries.

The sisters also seek title to Weeks' island and Marsh island, located off the Louisiana coast near Vermilion bay, and given the state by the Russell Sage foundation.

Deductions From Pay Of Officials Closing 'Early' Said Unlawful

AUSTIN, July 19. (AP)—A county auditor has no power to deduct any amount from the salary checks of county officers who do not keep their offices open to the public 48 hours a week, the attorney general said in an opinion today.

The opinion, by Assistant Attorney General J. C. Davis, jr., was furnished at the request of J. B. Hutchinson of Boston, auditor of Bowie county. Hutchinson wrote that the Bowie county commissioners had issued an order directing county officials to keep their offices open to the public six eight-hour days each week. He wanted to know if he could legally deduct from their salaries the time the offices are closed short of 48 hours.

In reply, Davis wrote in part:

"The county auditor has only such powers and duties as are conferred by law, and we know of no provision which gives the county auditor the power or duty to deduct from the salary check (an incident to the office) of a county officer any amount for the reason that said officer failed to keep his office open six eight-hour days per week.

"The salary or emoluments are incident to the title to the office, and not to its occupation or performance of official duties."

F. M. Cowsert Named Enforcement Officer

AUSTIN, July 19. (AP)—F. M. Cowsert, formerly stationed at Dallas, has been named provisionally as chief of law enforcement for the state game, fish and oyster commission.

He succeeds H. E. Faubion, who was recently named assistant executive secretary. V. E. Skaggs, former accountant with the department, has been named by Executive Secretary Howard Dodgen as chief clerk.

Sailors Who Man TYL In Guam Harbor Tire Of Their Daily Chores

By ROBBIN COONS
Associated Press Staff Writer

APRA HARBOR, Guam. — There is a great yearning for the seven seas among sailors who man dozens of U. S. Pacific fleet boats—if you can hoist it aboard a ship, it's a boat, mate—which daily dart about this great war harbor.

They joined the Navy to see the sea. And most of them complain that all they are seeing is Apra harbor, Guam. It's a busy, interesting harbor to the newcomer but, like anything else, it could no doubt become tiresome in time.

"And how!" chorus the four "swabbies" of the "Mickey Mouse Navy" — as distinguished from the seagoing "Donald Duck Navy" of sub-chasers, escorts and the like—who operate the YTL 656 in Apra harobr.

The YTL is a "yard tow launch" and her number, 656, shows she came along in that order when the hundreds of similar little craft were being launched for their humble but essential service. They are tugboats of a sort, with not enough engine power to pull big ships but very useful for line-handling and other light jobs.

Day after day, the four "swabbies" take the small, gray YTL 656 on its round of chores inside the harbor breakwater and along the Guam shores.

The life of a harbor sailor? They live in a quonset ashore, and eat ashore too. They go to movies at night, and on their one day off weekly they can play ball if they like. They're cheered by a ration of 24 cans of beer a month.

Okey Neff (inevitably "Okinawa" to his buddies) has found a novel way to break the monotony. He knows some fliers; on days off goes up to their airfield and, by virtue of helping clean guns and such, inveigles rides. He's been on two practice bombing missions to Rota and thinks that's fun."

Fire Brought Under Control After Explosions Rock Canadian Arsenal

HALIFAX, July 19. (U.P.)—Fire at the Royal Canadian Naval arsenal was brought under control today after the city had been rocked for almost 18 hours by exploding ammunition.

The danger of a catastrophe if the main magazine containing hundreds of thousands of tons of explosives had gone off, was believed to have passed. Admiral G. C. Jones, chief of the naval staff, who flew here from Ottawa, warned, however, that the area of the smoldering, 600-acre arsenal, still was dangerous.

Blast Scene In World War I

Throughout the night and morning, since the first earth-shattering explosion at 6:45 p. m. yesterday, this city, scene of a distastrous explosion in World war I, and the surrounding area had been in a state of alarm. Ten thousand men, women and children had fled their homes in north Halifax and Dartmouth near the flaming arsenal. Although no deaths were reported, at least 14 persons were injured and damage was widespread. Many streets were littered with shattered glass.

Damage in the north ends of Halifax and Dartmouth was extensive and evacuation plans prepared for war emergency were carried out there. The Red Cross supplied emergency meals to 5,000 persons this morning. Red Cross trucks helped move residents and their valuables from the danger zone.

Boats Flee From Harbor

No trains were entering or leaving Halifax and all boats had fled the harbor.

The arsenal area was entirely cleared. Officials, admitting that casualties were unexpectedly light, said the number might increase when communications were established with the small towns of Tuft's Cove and Bedford, nearer the arsenal. Evacuees from there said damage was heavy in both sections.

Six Heavy Explosions

Six heavy explosions had echoed from the arsenal at 3 a. m., shattering windows in towns along the bay. The sixth rocked Halifax from end to end and plunged the city into darkness.

Residents fled as far as they could from the arsenal area, crowding against the sea at the south end of the two principal cities.

The sky was bright night long as tongues of fire shot hundreds of feet into the air over the 600 acre armament depot. Exploding shells kept all persons from approaching by land or sea to learn the damage or how much unexploded ammunition remained.

Officials welcomed daylight and the chance to make an aerial observation of the area.

Ammunition exploded all through the night. The ominous rumble of exploding shells sounded like a distant battle. Some of the shells exploded in the air and other fell into Bedford basin.

Fortunately, there was no wind and the danger of the fire spreading from the arsenal to evacuated areas nearby was negligible.

Officials acted quickly to prevent a repetition of the Halifax disaster of Dec. 6, 1917, when more than 1,200 persons were killed and half the city leveled or burned by the explosion of the French ammunition ship, Mount Blanc which collided with a Belgian relief ship inside the harbor.

Police said damage in the Nova Scotia capital would amount close to $1,000,000 from broken windows alone. Streets were littered with glass from windows that had only recently been repaired after being smashed in V-day celebrations.

No shells were reported to have fallen in Halifax or Dartmouth. Doors were blasted off their hinges and window panes and sashes torn from their frames by the six explosions that rocked the area.

High Naval Officers Assigned New Posts

DALLAS, July 19. (AP) — Capt. L. J. Dow, until recently on the staff of the Third Fleet command, next month will succeed Capt. H. T. Dietrich as commanding officer of the Dallas naval air station, it was announced today.

Dietrich's new assignment will be at the joint staff and command college, Fort Leavenworth, Kan.

Mrs. Clara Driscoll Is Buried Thursday

SAN ANTONIO, July 19 (AP) — Mrs. Clara Driscoll, business and civic leader and philanthropist known to Texans as the "Savior of the Alamo" was buried here today in the family mausoleum in the Alamo Masonic cemetery.

Funeral services, attended by throngs of San Antonians and Texans in all walks of life, were conducted at 2 p. m. at St. Mark's Episcopal church, where the Rt. Rev Everett H. Jones, bishop of the Episcopal diocese of West Texas, and Dr. Thomas H. Wright, rector of St. Mark's officiated.

Mrs. Driscoll, 64, died Tuesday night in her penthouse apartment atop Corpus Christi's Driscoll hotel, which she owned.

Prior to the services at the church, Mrs. Driscoll's body lay in state for three hours in the historic old Alamo which she had fought untiringly to preserve for Texans. The flower-banked casket attended by honor guards from the San Antonio Police department, the Texas Federated Women's clubs, and the Daughters of the Republic of Texas, was viewed by hundreds of visitors came to pay tribute to the woman who for years had occupied a prominent place in the life of the state.

Atop the casket was a simple bouquet of tuberoses, placed there by Mrs. Driscoll's close friend, Mrs. D. E. Roberts of San Antonio.

A police escort conducted the body to St. Mark's church for the funeral, and finally to the cemetery.

MEASURE IS APPROVED

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP) — The Senate agriculture committee approved today a measure giving owners the first chance to buy when any lands suitable for farming are sold by the government as surplus.

Army Sets Up Chain Of Roadside Canteens To Cheer Departing GIs On Way To Homes

By GEORGE TUCKER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WIESBADEN, Germany. — The Army has flung a chain of roadside canteens through southern Germany, Luxembourg and northern France to cheer departing GIs on their way back home to civilian life or to the Pacific.

The canteens have coffee and sandwiches available at all hours of the day and night. They are not under single roofs but are flung out for a quarter of a mile in separate roadside tents so that entire convoys can spill out of their jeeps and trucks and refresh themselves without having to queue up in time-wasting lines.

Sky Was The Limit

I recently made an 800-mile trip in a jeep with Pfc. George Fitzsimmons of Hillside, N. J.

We found one canteen occupying six big tents, each 100 yards apart. There were wooden benches with dozens of basins of water for the Yanks to rinse their hands. The coffee was in 10-gallon urns, scalding hot. Sandwiches were in mounds two feet high and the sky was the limit.

Germans Get Lesson

In Saarbrucken the French occupation forces were giving the German civilians a realistic lesson in what it means to start a war and then lose.

Saarbrucken is one of the utterly destroyed big towns in the European theater.

French MPs in immaculate white helmets, belts and leggings swarmed all over the place. French artillery wound through the rubble heaped streets. Tanks puffed in and out of central sector and officers were everywhere barking orders.

Watching all this with a wondering eye was the entire population of the town who had been herded onto the sidewalks and curbs so that they could get a good look and never forget what the victorious army looked like. It was Fitzsimmons who pointed out that only women and children were doing the looking. The French had most of the German men working like mad cleaning up the wreckage.

Dr. Martin H. Benson, Family Back In City

Dr. and Mrs. Martin H. Benson and son, Martin, have returned to Lubbock where Dr. Benson is resuming his medical practice after serving over four years in the Navy.

Dr. Benson, who was a commander at the time of his medical discharge in May, was a member of the St. Louis Children's hospital staff immediately after being released from service. Prior to entering the Navy, he practiced in Lubbock for eight years and was a partner of Dr. Allen T. Stewart in the Stewart-Benson clinic. He opened an office in the West Texas clinic Thursday.

He served five months in the Pacific theater of war and was stationed at Bethesda, Md., immediately before being discharged. Dr. Benson and family are living at 1625 Ave. Y.

LUNCH AID APPROVED

WASHINGTON, July 19 (AP) — Permanent federal aid for school lunch programs, at the rate of $100,000,000 annually, was approved today by the Senate agriculture committee.

Here's News: Dog Bites Man And Later Dies

TEMPE, Ariz., July 19 (U.P.)— A dog bit a man—and this time it was news. The dog died.

"I'm just poison to 'em," Marshal Walter Baker said. "It's the second time the same thing has happened."

After the dog nipped him, Barker took it to the pound for observation. When he went to feed it, the animal was dead. Laboratory tests showed the dog was not rabid.

Board Purchases Land For New State School

AUSTIN, July 19 (AP)—Under authority of a law passed at the last general session of the legislature the board of control has purchased for $17,208, a 451-acre tract of land 14 miles northwest of Austin on the Burnet highway for construction of a school for delinquent negro girls.

38,621,055 TIMES
the choice was RIVERSIDES

Yes, a grand total of more than 38 million Ward Riverside Tires have been sold. And every last one of them was a "replacement" sale; the careful choice of a person like yourself! Millions of car-owners have chosen Riversides deliberately in preference to the brands that come on new cars . . . in preference to all other well-known makes of tires! Why? For the same reason that makes so many car-owners switch to Riversides today:—

More MILES-OF-SAFETY ON RIVERSIDES

Today, Riversides are even stronger than Wards pre-war tires! Here's why:—Stronger cords to begin with are chemically-strengthened to stay strong . . . then liquid-dipped ("welded" together) . . . next cushioned in rubber! Finally, the plies are cemented together before vulcanizing, for greater protection against separation and blow-outs!

Germans Suckers For Rumors; Few Choice Rumors In Country Listed

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
United Press Staff Correspondent

FRANKFURT, July 19.—Would you believe that Hermann Goering and Rudolf Hess have been pals of the Allies all along?

Many Germans apparently do.

They whisper about this, and many other things. Every time over three of the Reich's citizens put their heads together the rumors begin to fly.

Fines For Too Many?

Some are saying, and believe, that the Americans and British collect fines of 1,000 marks, or $400, from every German mother who gives birth to over three children.

The say that Goering and Hess are getting kid-glove treatment in Britain because they "betrayed the luftwaffe."

Lt. Col. R. K. Phelps, of Saginaw, Mich., said, "we feel such rumors are being disseminated by Nazis sympathizers, but the trouble is that the wilder the rumor the faster it spreads."

Would Forbid Marriages

Here are a few more choice bits of gossip which are firmly denied by the military government:

The Allies are considering a law forbidding marriage among Germans for at least five years.

Two Hanau (a town situated just southeast of Frankfurt) military government officers and other United States Army officers are in the pay of the Russians.

Paid By Russians?

The mission of these officers is to grant as small a ration as possible to the German civilians in order to produce discontent and drive the Germans to Communism.

German soldiers returning home from prison camps have been forced to swear they will not reveal any mistreatment which they received at the hands of their captors.

Phelps said you can deny all these rumors until your tongue is weak, but the Germans still believe them.

Film Group Returns From European Tour

NEW YORK, July 19. (AP) — A committee of motion picture executives, who went to Europe to study Europe's devastated cities, returned today aboard an Air Transport command plane.

Barney Balaban, president of Paramount pictures, said the group would report to the War department "the part the motion picture industry can play in reconstruction through newsreels, documentaries and other types of films."

Memorial Services To Be Conducted Sunday For Cpl. Jed Forgey

Memorial services will be held for Cpl. Jed D. Forgey, a native of Lubbock and a former resident of Monroe, at the New Deal school in Monroe, 3:30 p. m. Sunday.

Although young Forgey was killed in Thialand, Sept. 27, 1943, news of his death was not given out by Japanese authorities until recently. Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Forgey, of 1922-B Thirteenth St., parents of the 21-year-old corporal, were notified officially of his death last June 17. Cpl. Forgey was a member of an Army unit captured by the Japanese in Java.

Capt. Aryln E. Conard, protestant chaplain at Lubbock Army Air field, will participate in the memorial service, which will be conducted by Rev. Ben D. Johnson, Baptist preacher. Corp. Forgey was a member of the Baptist church at Monroe.

Eisenhower Elected To Famed Legal Society

LONDON, July 19. (AP)—Gen. Eisenhower was elected an honorary bencher of the Lincoln's Inn Society today. A bencher is a member of the governing board of the society, which is one of London's legal organizations through which the practice of law is governed.

The same recognition was given British Admiral of the Fleet Sir Andrew Browne Cunningham and Field Marshal Sir Harold Alexander.

Plane With Capacity For 750 Infantrymen Slated For Test Run

CULVER CITY, Cal., July 19. (AP)—The 200-ton Hughes Hercules will be test-flown in January, builder Howard Hughes said today.

Construction of the $10,000,000 eight-engined flying boat began in March, 1943. Originally three of the boats were to be built by Hughes and industrialist Henry Kaiser at a total cost of $18,000,000, each somewhat smaller than the one now nearing completion. Kaiser later withdrew from the project and Charles W. Perelle, Hughes' general manager, said there are no plans for additional planes of the type.

The plywood flying boat has a 310-foot wing span, a 220-foot long hull, 30 feet high and 25 feet wide, and has cargo space equivalent to two railroad box cars. The plane carries 14,000 gallons of gasoline for its 3,000-horsepower engines.

It can carry a 60-ton tank with armor and crew or three light tanks. It can also become a mobile hospital with 350 patients on stretchers, surgery facilities and sufficient doctors and nurses, or carry 750 infantrymen with equipment.

Top speed will be about 218 miles an hour, with a cruising speed of 175.

Before the plane can be launched at Long Beach, Calif., hundreds of power and telephone lines will have to be lowered to move the craft from its Culver City plant. The hull, wing sections, tail assembly and other parts will travel separately and be assembled in Long Beach, Hughes said.

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR
She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Jap Suiciders Fire Ticonderoga And 337 Men Lost Or Wounded

By COURTENAY MOORE
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Three hunderd and thirty-seven American fighting men were lost or injured when two Japanese suicide planes crashed into the aircraft carrier Ticonderoga near Formosa early this year and left the ship in flames, the Navy revealed today. Of the casualties, 144 are dead or missing, the Navy said in announcing that the 27,000-ton Essex class carrier already has been repaired and is back in the Pacific.

Officer Keeps Fighting

The story of the Ticonderoga was a saga of heroic crew and their skipper, Commodore Dixie Kiefer of Kansas City, who kept fighting for 12 hours despite 65 body wounds.

The Ticonderoga joined the fast carrier task force in November, 1944, in her first tour of duty, her planes sank two cruisers, two destroyers, four destroyer escorts, 23 other craft and destroyed or damaged 207 enemy planes.

Fire Spreads Quickly

On the morning of Jan. 21 the Ticonderoga was launching planes when a Jap plane came out of the sun through a cloud bank and crashed through the flight deck. The bomb exploded between the galley deck and the hangar deck, which was packed with aircraft being refueled and rearmed.

Girders in the vicinity of the exploding bomb were twisted and fire, fed by gasoline, spread swiftly.

The executive officer, Cmdr. William O. Burch of Norfolk, Va., supervised the carefully prepared plan to save the ship in just such an emergency. Magazines were flooded to prevent detonation of explosives and to limit the fire area.

While the crew fought fire and pushed burning planes overboard, other Japanese suiciders were attacking the stricken ship. The Ticonderoga's planes shot down five of the enemy and ship anti-aircraft gunners accounted for three more.

Hit Second Time

But just before 1:00 p. m., the Ticonderoga was hit again. A Japanese plane and its two bombs crashed into the superstructure, setting off more fires.

Several top officers were lost to the Ticonderoga in the second attack. Burch was wounded seriously and Kiefer, wounded in 65 separate places, lay bleeding on the bridge.

But for 12 hours, the skipper directed his ship in the work of recovery and refused medical attention until midnight when he was assured that all injured men had received treatment.

Repaired At Puget Sound

By 2:37 p. m. all fires had been under control without assistance from other ships.

Though the Ticonderoga was still able to launch aircraft, she suffered sufficient damage to be sent home. She was repaired at the Puget Sound Navy yard, Bremerton, Wash., before returning to sea. The ship was commissioned May 8, 1944, at Newport News, Va.

A new all-plastic tire which will not crack or check in sunlight and is not soluble in gasoline or oil and which will withstand twice the heat a natural tire develops at high speed has been developed for post-war use by the engineers of a large tire plant.

Travel Bureau Driver Identified By Girl As Her Attacker

SAN ANTONIO, July 19. (U.P.)—A 20-year-old girl war-worker today identified a 32-year-old travel bureau driver whom she claimed took her to the edge of the city in a travel bureau car and criminally attacked her.

Police arrested the man at a local travel bureau office for questioning in connection with the case.

The girl told police she was en route from Los Angeles, where she had worked in an aircraft plant, to Houston. She said that the driver arrived at her hotel shortly after she called the bureau to arrange transportation to Houston.

He took her to the bureau office, she said, and then, on a pretext of going after other passengers, took her to the edge of the city and assaulted her. He then brought her back to town and left her and her baggage on a sidewalk, she said. She said she got the license number of the car her attacker was driving and telephoned police, who located and arrested the man.

A physician verified for police that the girl had been attacked and had suffered injuries.

Hero's Welcome Is Being Prepared For Son Of Sharecropper To Receive Highest Medal

By JOHN LEWIS STONE
United Press Staff Writer

LEPANTO, Ark., July 19—This town today prepared a hero's welcome for the "toughest kid in Hell's Half Acre," Sgt. Jimmy Hendrix, who once was kicked out of the fourth grade because the teacher couldn't make him behave.

Jimmy has earned the nation's highest honor.

Today, there was mounting rivalry between Mississippi county where the 19-year-old son of a sharecropper was born, and Poinsett county where his family now lives. Both claim the boy who will be awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor next month by President Truman.

Arrives In U. S. Monday

Hendrix, who landed in the United States Monday and who since has been in a Washington hospital with a throat ailment, was expected to arrive home this week-end for a 30-day furlough with his mother, 36-year-old Mrs. Jim Hendrix, his father, who farms 40 acres of bottomland cotton and corn, and his ten brothers and sisters.

For his mother, Jimmy's homecoming was to be a proud and happy interlude in a still-youthful life during which she divided her time between bearing 14 babies and helping with the farm work.

Earned At Bastogne

Hendrix earned the Medal of Honor for heroic action during the battle of Bastogne last December. Armed only with a rifle and in the face of murderous enemy fire, the Arkansas sergeant knocked out two German 88-millimeter guns, captured their crews, silenced two machine guns and rescued a buddy from a burning half track.

His mother says that Jimmy got his fill of living up to his reputation as a tough kid out there under enemy fire and now is ready to settle down to a quiet life at home. Maybe even become a model citizen.

Anyway, he recently wrote his mother:

"All I want to do is come home and milk cows and feed pigs."
