WALSH BEATS SHOUSE FOR DEMO CHAIRMANSHIP

Ex-Convict Aide Of Gaston Means Questioned In Death Of Lindbergh Baby

PRISONER SAYS HE HAS $49,500 RANSOM FUNDS

Federal Agents Arrest Suspect in Brooklyn Monday Night

LINDBERGH TESTIFIES

Flier on Stand as Trial Of John H. Curtis Continues

NEW YORK, June 28. (AP)—An ex-convict charged with playing the role of the Lindbergh baby kidnaper in the fantastic hoax engineered by Gaston B. Means was arraigned in federal court today while department of justice agents sought to determine whether he had been merely acting the part or whether he had a more sinister connection with the case.

The prisoner, Norman T. Whitaker, who figured as the melo-dramatic "Fox No. 19" in the transaction by which Means muicted $104,000 from Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean on promises to return the Lindbergh child, was held in $100,000 bail pending removal to Washington.

What induced government agents to look upon Whitaker as possibly more than a talented actor was his alleged assertion he possessed $49,500 of the marked money paid by Dr. John F. Condon in another series of ransom exchanges coupled with their own asserted information he was in New York at the time the money was paid.

Traced to Brooklyn

Whitaker, a champion chess player in his college days, was arrested secretly in Brooklyn last night. Federal operatives traced him through his use of the alias Neil Williams in the Means-McLean negotiations.

Mrs. McLean identified him.

At the second rendezvous, in El Paso, Texas, Whitaker is alleged to have told Mrs. McLean she would have to give him $35,000 in "clean" money to reimburse him for the $49,500 in marked bills, which he termed too "hot" to handle.

He was willing to accept a lesser amount, police quoted him as explaining, because Mrs. McLean already had turned over $104,000 to Means.

Asked in the lineup today how much of the $104,000 he received, "The Fox" said;

"I got none of it, but I wish I did."

He merely smiled when asked if he had been double crossed and remarked he "never admitted knowing Means," who recently as sentenced to 15 years for his part in the fraud.

He said he might waive extradition between now and the time set for his hearing tomorrow. At Washington he is charged with conspiracy and grand larceny.

Whitaker, a short, stout man of 42, is alleged to have told Mrs. McLean at a rendezvous in Aiken, S. C., he had held the Lindbergh baby in his arms and at El Paso to have announced the child was ill. All this time the child actually was lying dead near the Lindbergh home. His record includes two convictions for automobile theft.

LINDBERGH TELLS OF CURTIS DEAL

By WILLIAM A. KINNEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

FLEMINGTON, N. J., June 28.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, testifying today in the trial of John Hughes Curtis for obstructing justice, flatly diverged in his stated opinion from the prosecution contention the Norfolk boat builder was "in actual contact" with the kidnapers of Lindbergh's infant son.

"I don't believe Mr. Curtis ever had contact with the kidnapers," said the famous flier.

There was a hush in the court-

Hutton's Witnesses Say Nurse Scuffled At Gay Wine Parties

By ALANSON W. EDWARDS
United Press Staff Correspondent

LOS ANGELES, June 28.—Opposing witnesses injected new sensations into the Myrtle St. Pierre-David Hutton heartbalm case today with testimony that the comely nurse scuffled with men at gay wine parties and that Hutton married Aimee Semple McPherson for her evangelistic fortune.

The charge against the pudgy choirmaster was made "with great reluctance" by Miss Betty O'Dille, an artist. She was the last witness called by Mrs. St. Pierre in her attempt to collect $200,000 from Hutton in return for his lost love.

Given his first chance to assail Mrs. St. Pierre's case, Hutton went strictly on the offensive by calling Mrs. Gladys Cassil of Hollywood, who said she "was brought up to believe" she was Mrs. St. Pierre's sister.

"Myrtle got to feeling pretty good at a wine party once," she said, smoothing her blond hair and giving her fashionable gown a tuck. "Myrtle did a solo dance, about all she did was kick high and show off.

Riding Pants Slipped

"There was a scuffle between Myrtle and a Mr. Hall and her riding trousers slipped and almost came off. I gave her a dress."

Delving further into intimate details, Mrs. Cassil described a party at the nurse's home attended by Lloyd Curry, Pasadena station agent.

"I started to leave at midnight and assumed Curry would leave also," she resumed. "Myrtle said Curry would remain. She was in her 'nightie' when I left."

A series of rapid fire objections from Mrs. St. Pierre failed to halt the tale. Previously Mrs. Nan Anthony Norbury, hostess of the now famous party at which "Iron Dave" and the nurse first met, repeated some of the names she allegedly called the baritone.

Calls Hutton Sissy

Mrs. St. Pierre referred to Hutton by such appellations as "a big fat slob," "sissy" and a "mama's boy," Mrs. Norbury said.

Testimony of Miss O'Dille, the artist, was not allowed to stand. She created confusion in the courtroom when she told of reprimanding Hutton for neglecting her affairs when he was acting as her manager in April, 1931.

"I guess you're not interested in my small affairs when you have bigger things at Angelus temple," she said she told Hutton. "I suppose you'll marry Mrs. McPherson for your own advancement and help, won't you?"

"Yes, that's right," Miss O'Dille quoted Hutton as saying. "I want to marry her for her money and that's what I intend to do."

Hutton and Mrs. McPherson were married a few months later. The day after their wedding, Mrs. St. Pierre sued the 250-pound baritone, alleging he betrayed her under promise of marriage.

Spanish Officer 'Fired' For Forgetting Republic

MADRID, June 28. (UP)—Gen. Manuel Goded, chief of staff of the Spanish army, was relieved of his duties today because he "forgot" to mention the 14-month-old republic when addressing his troops.

The government's action, which created a sensation in military circles partly because of recently frustrated monarchist plots, was brought about by the resentment of a staunch Republican officer, Lieut. Col. Julio Mangada, who suffered public rebuke and arrest at the hands of General Goded because he protested the general's attitude.

Attorney Leads in Race For Governor of Florida

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 28. (UP)—Dave Shults, Daytona Beach attorney and runner-up in the recent Florida Democratic primary, took a commanding lead over former Gov. John W. Martin of Jacksonville in early returns from today's run-off primary to elect a governor.

Returns from 292 out of the state's 1,283 precincts—as tabulated by the United Press from one half of the state's 67 counties—gave Shults 29,518; Martin 13,190.

King of Siam Accepts Limitation of Monarchy

BANGKOK, Siam, June 28. (UP)—King Prajadhipok today signified acceptance of a new constitution limiting Siam's absolute monarchy, and informed the public that he had long desired such a system.

The bloodless revolution which forced the change against the will of some elder statesmen and military leaders, prompted the king to recognize the existence of the people's party. The public enthusiastically hailed the monarch's action.

HUNTER HERE

Wichitan to Confer With Friends After Tour Of 8,000 Miles

Tom F. Hunter, whose supporters declare he's certain to be the next governor of Texas, is paying a flying visit to Wichita Falls Wednesday morning prior to leaving for Breckenridge where he makes an address tonight. Hunter and members of his party, these being A. W. Von Struve, publicity director, and H. D. Cuykendall, secretary, arrived shortly before midnight. Hunter had been gone from Wichita Falls for just one month in course of which he traveled more than 8,000 miles campaigning. The candidate spent Tuesday in Dallas lining up his organization there.

'JIM' AND 'ROSS' INVITED HERE

Candidates Challenged To Debate With Hunter

Letters were dispatched Tuesday night by J. B. Marlow, chairman of the Tom F. Hunter committee here, to James E. Ferguson and Gov. Ross S. Sterling asking them to meet Mr. Hunter in debate here on July 8 before a public mass meeting.

Forwarding of the challenges was authorized by a meeting of the Hunter committeemen held at the courthouse at 3:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

J. W. Radcliffe of Moran, active worker in the Hunter campaign, told those present of the political attitude encountered recently in Jones, Stephens, Throckmorton, Jack, Cook and Montague counties. He predicted that Mr. Hunter will lead in the race for governor in each of those counties on July 23.

Mrs. Maria Ordones Seeley, prominent Spanish welfare worker and lecturer among Spanish-speaking citizens of this country and Mexico, told the committee that the Wichita Falls candidate for governor will receive solid support from Mexican citizens in the eastern and southern parts of the state. Mrs. Seeley, who has been living at the home of her brother, Miguel Ordones, for the

Actress Sues Scenarist For Beating at Party

LOS ANGELES, June 28. (UP)—Dashiell Hammett, author and scenarist, was too literal in his stories about strong-arm gangsters, it was charged in court today by attractive Elise de Viane, screen actress, who sought $35,000 damages for an alleged beating he gave her.

Miss De Viane said she attended a party at Hammett's apartment in July, 1931, and that he insisted upon her drinking. When she refused, Hammett beat her, the actress added.

Fast Gain in Hog Prices Hailed as Good Omen

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 28. (UP)—Sensational gains in hog prices during the last month on the Kansas City livestock market was interpreted by Southwest agriculturists today as an optimistic sign.

(Top fat hogs closed at $4.45 this afternoon, with the bulk of sales ranging from $4.30 to $4.45.

The top hog price has advanced $1.50 a hundredweight in the last month.

BATTLE ROYAL PROMISED IN CONGRESS RACE

Poor Health Big Factor In Forcing Williams To Quit Campaign

THREE SEEK POST

Hinson, Backus, McFarlane Start Scramble For Stray Votes

A three-cornered battle royal for Guinn Williams' seat in congress from the 13th district was predicted Tuesday following announcement of the Decatur congressman of his withdrawal from the campaign.

Three candidates are left in the race, the ballot is closed, and approximately one month remains for the three contestants to wage their battle to win the former supporters of Representative Williams.

Two From Graham

Two candidates are from Graham and one from Vernon. W. D. McFarlane, former state senator and candidate for congress in the last election, is one of the Graham men. Dillard Hinson, attorney, is the other Young county candidate. George W. Backus, Vernon business man and candidate for the state senate in the last election, is the third candidate. All are reputed vigorous campaigners.

State Senator Ben G. Oneal, who announced his candidacy for congress early last winter, later withdrew his announcement when Representative Williams' friends prevailed on him to make another race. Mr. Backus was one of Senator Oneal's unsuccessful opponents in the last senatorial race, while former Senator McFarlane was unsuccessful against the Decatur congressman in the 1930 contest.

Statement Issued

Ill health and the late adjournment of congress, which would prevent him making a campaign, was given by Mr. Williams as his reasons for withdrawing from the race. His statement, made Tuesday morning at Decatur, follows:

"To the voters of the 13th congressional district: Owing to the fact that congress remained in ses-

Explosion Wrecks Store at Bowie

Special to The Record News.

BOWIE, Texas, June 28.—A terrific blast wrecked the J. P. Trout Feed store and damaged the four-story National hotel and other nearby buildings here shortly before 9 o'clock tonight.

Mrs. N. T. Borris was injured by falling glass in the hotel. No other person was injured.

Fire which swept the feed store after the explosion, completed the work of destruction. Cause of the explosion had not been determined early tonight.

Witnesses to the explosion said flames shot more than 50 feet in the air. Windows in the hotel were demolished as was glass in other adjacent buildings. The feed store was wrecked, although the flames were brought under control after a brief period.

Mrs. Borris, aged mother of Mrs. R. E. Gardner who operates the hotel dining room, was showered with broken glass as windows in the hotel shattered. She was severely cut.

Bonus Payment Carried To Platform Parley

CHICAGO, June 28. (US)—Fight for immediate cash payment of the bonus was carried to the Democratic platform committee tonight.

Three Democratic representatives, leaders of the bonus battle in congress, went before the committee behind closed doors to demand a plank calling for cash payments and other measures to aid the veterans.

Those who appeared were Representative Patman of Texas, Connery of Massachusetts and Rankin of Mississippi.

The committee allowed each of them five minutes.

BATTLE RAGES ON RUM ISSUE

Democrats Split Over Repeal Plank

By SEYMOUR BERKSON
Universal Service

CHICAGO, June 28. (AP)—The Democratic resolutions committee broke up tonight at 11:15 p. m. eastern daylight time after a heated discussion over the prohibition issue without an agreement on a plan for its consideration by the convention.

CHICAGO, June 28.—With all other planks completed, a fierce battle on prohibition raged tonight as the Democratic party's platform carpenters hammered away at a plank expected to precipitate a bitter fight on the convention floor tomorrow.

Twenty states and territories have lined up for outright repeal of the 18th amendment and immediate modification of the Volstead act. Their members on the platform committee today submitted a 140-word draft of their plank.

They announced that if the committee dominated by Roosevelt forces which favor mere resubmission of the dry question to the people, reject their plank they will submit a minority report and carry their battle to the convention floor.

With a combined voting strength of 566—only 12 less than the required majority for adoption—the 20 delegation leaders claimed they would gain enough additional votes from other delegations to win their fight for an outright repeal plank.

Farm Help Planned

Meanwhile, the platform committee's inner circle of nine, who are actually writing the platform, completed all its planks—except the one on prohibition which they said may not be agreed upon until shortly before the convention reassembles tomorrow morning.

The farm plank drafted by the platform-writers would pledge the party to effective control of agricultural surpluses, federal refinancing of agricultural indebtedness, and would condemn speculative practices of the federal farm board.

A public works program and federal aid to states when local relief funds are exhausted were the main features of the unemployment relief plank.

Other planks to be recommended by the committee would call for downward revision of tariff rates on recommendations of a fact-finding commission; strict federal economy and a balanced federal budget; stricter regulation of banks with more safeguards for depositors; and peaceful negotiation of international disputes.

Former Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock of Nebraska, chairman of the platform-writing subcommittee, announced after the group's session today that all of the planks are in readiness except prohibition.

OUTRIGHT REPEAL PLANK OFFERED

CHICAGO, June 28. (US)—The 140-word prohibition repeal plank which platform committee members from 20 states and territories will fight for on the convention floor tomorrow follows:

"We favor the repeal of the 18th amendment.

"We demand that the congress immediately propose such repeal to truly representative conventions in the states called to act solely on that proposal.

"We urge that the Democratic party cooperate in the enactment of such measures by the several states

Double Services Held For Victims of Crash

UVALDE, Texas, June 28. (UP)—Double funeral services were held at La Pryor today for Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Castante injured fatally in an automobile accident near here Saturday. The woman died shortly after the crash. Her husband died today.

Two children riding with their parents were injured.

Demo Chairman

Senator Thomas J. Walsh of Montana, backed by the Roosevelt forces, Tuesday was elected permanent chairman of the Democratic national convention over Jouett Shouse of Kansas, "favorite sons" candidate. The vote was 626 to 528, the majority being far less than confident Roosevelteans had anticipated.

VOTE PASSES ECONOMY BILL

Agreement on Unemployment Relief Reached

WASHINGTON, June 28. (AP)—The national economy bill, badly battered through weeks of controversy, finally was approved tonight as congress cleared one of its major pre-adjournment hurdles.

Meanwhile, an agreement bringing the $2,300,000,000 unemployment relief bill nearer conformance with President Hoover's views was reached by senate and house conferees.

The last congressional action on the economy measure came when the senate yielded and by a vote of 35 to 11 accepted the conference report on the bill as amended by the house. It carries savings estimated at from $150,000,000 to $175,000,000.

Ready for Signature

The measure probably will go to the White House tomorrow and receive President Hoover's signature in time for the beginning of the new fiscal year, Friday. As finally approved it carried the payless furlough plan for government em-

GARNER FORCES SEEK RECRUITS

Texas Leaders Say Speaker Gaining Ground

By FRED DYE
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO, June 28.—While the Democratic national convention struggled on today with its effort at formal organization, the Texas and California delegations, totalling 90 votes pledged to John N. Garner, laid new plans and proceeded vigorously to rally support to the speaker of the house.

"Our chances look better and better," said Sam Rayburn of Bonham, the Garner national leader, late today as the fight for permanent chairman of the convention occupied the delegates' time.

Mr. Rayburn sat in place No. 1 in the Texas delegation with his hand resting upon the state standard. Next to him sat Amon G. Carter, the Fort Worth publisher and chairman of the state delegation.

Amon Carter Confident

"It looks increasingly like Garner," said Mr. Carter. "I dislike to make a statement with conditions as chaotic as now, but the vote on the seating of the Louisiana delegation looked prophetic. Judging from that, Governor Roosevelt rallied his maximum strength.

"We have been approached with every possible kind of proposition, including that of making Mr. Garner the vice presidential candidate. We have not considered any of them. We came to Chicago to nominate him for the presidency and that is what we are going to do."

The Texans and Californians, the Garner nucleus, had a joint "pep" meeting today and will each day during the convention.

Mr. Carter told his fellow Texans it looked as though Mr. Garner might have been from California if efforts of Texas and California were compared.

A steering committee was ap-

GARNER NOMINATION PLANS COMPLETED

CONVENTION HEADQUARTERS, Chicago, June 28. (UP)—The name of John Nance Garner will be offered to the Democratic national convention as a candidate for the presidential nomination by U. S. Senator Thomas Connally of Texas, California and Texas delegates decided today.

Both delegations are supporting the house speaker.

William Gibbs McAdoo, who launched the Garner boom in California, was chosen to second the Texan's nomination.

A committee of four Texans and four Californians was selected to direct the campaign for Garner's nomination.

F. D. R. FORCES SMASH PATH TO VICTORY

New Yorker's Steam Roller Mows Down Opposition In First Test

TWO-THIRDS STANDS

Huey Long's Louisianans Seated at Convention Over Opposition

By EDWARD J. DUFFY
Associated Press Staff Writer

CHICAGO, June 28.—Three times a Roosevelt hurricane smashed the opposition in today's intense session of the Democratic convention, elevating Senator Walsh of Montana to permanent chairmanship, settling in its own way the two delegation contests and in general hurling on with an enthusiasm generated for a supreme effort to capture the presidential nomination by a two-thirds majority.

But the majorities in every instances were more than a hundred short of the 770 that will be required to nominate, the attempt to allow leeway for a simple majority nomination having been given up finally by all hands. Ending the six-hour meeting, the convention specifically adopted the 100-year-old rule.

ROOSEVELT NEEDS 69 MORE VOTES TO WIN

CHICAGO, June 28. (US)—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt must pick off 69 of his "die-hard" opponents' delegates to capture the Democratic presidential nomination, a careful compilation disclosed late tonight.

He is conceded 701 votes based on shifts by anti-Roosevelt delegates who are not trusted to stay put. There were 453 "last ditch" votes counted against him. Whether they would stand against a bandwagon movement remained problematical on so narrow a margin.

Publicly, the anti-Roosevelt allies claimed tonight 520 votes or 136 more than the one-third necessary to block him.

The Roosevelt managers boasted of a first ballot victory their own private figures did not reveal.

Uproarious Procession

Welcomed by an uproarious Roosevelt an procession that twisted in both directions through the congested aisles, and with cheers that drowned some few shouts of derision, Senator Walsh was given a 626 to 528 margin.

In the other two patience-trying roll calls, the Roosevelt flock seated the Senator Huey Long delegation from Louisiana by 638¾ to 514½ and the Minnesotans led by Elmar Hoidale on a count of 656½ against 492¾.

Although they have been expressing confidence all along, partisans of the New York governor held their breath during the first and at times disorderly calls of the roll in the Louisiana contest. Not until each state and territory had been called, and a return to those which had been passed momentarily, was the outcome certain.

James A. Farley, Roosevelt manager, said immediately "that was our weakest vote," as he joined the cheerers. But it proved not to be, a slightly lighter lead coming for Walsh.

Veteran of '24

The veteran and scholarly Montana senator it was who presided through those days of torrid dispute at Madison Square garden eight years ago, until he almost broke under the strain. By one of the coincidences that politics produces, one of those opposing him today in favor of Jouett Shouse was the nominee of that convention—John W. Davis of New York.

While paying high personal tributes to Walsh, the celebrated lawyer likewise praised the service Shouse has done the party in his post as executive director, referred to the agreement which his supporters insisted had been entered into on behalf of Roosevelt for his selection as chairman—but which the governor has denied—and asked if the honor of the office at stake should not properly be his as a reward.

In answer, Senator Dill of Washington paid high respects to Shouse but called the question one between "a man of ability and personality" and one "long experienced in the convention affairs of the party."

Galleries Boo

At one or two points, as Dill argued briefly, he was interrupted by loud "boos" that seemed to come mainly from the galleries. He paused unnoticing, and then went quietly on, to be given a momentary ovation that paralleled the one given Davis in his wind-up.

Then the roll began, amdist some disorder as one or two delegations engaged in controversies as to the accuracy of the vote given for them.

In contrast with the fever of watchfulness which marked those three stirring ballots, when the rules committee report came up at the last minute—formally closing the two-thirds rule dispute that has raged day in and out through endorsing the rule for this convention—little if any attention did it get. Very few of those on hand seemed aware of what was going on, the

They'll Be Fighting On Judgment Day Over What To Do With Huey, Says Will

By WILL ROGERS
(Copr'i, 1932, McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

CHICAGO, June 28.—John W. Davis, a man that knows what it is to be a Democrat, made the best speech so far. He was speaking for Shouse or Walsh. He seemed to want to have the two of 'em alternate, one act one week, and the other the next.

He seemed to have no resentment over Walsh, for what Walsh got him into in 1924 at Madison Square. Davis must be broadminded. And he has got humor too. It took a defeat to make a good comedian out of him.

Iowa couldn't vote till they phoned to their kin folks in Southern California. Iowa kept fighting over how to vote on Huey Long. All the time the thing was over, and whether they voted, or killed each other didn't make any difference to the vote.

Holding up a big convention waiting to pick a chairman is like holding up a world series game waiting to pick out what prominent citizen will throw out the first ball.

I bet this convention cured Senator Dill from ever trying to make two speeches on the same subject. They gave him seven and a half minutes to listen to his boos and hisses.

To Huey Long goes the credit of being the first to split the party and get 'em acting like Democrats. I'll bet when judgment day comes, things will go along unusually quiet till all at once there will be the blamedest fight and it will be over what to do with Huey. By golly,

SUSPECT HELD IN KIDNAPING

Ex-Convict Claims He Has Ransom Money

room as the flier told about learning his baby was dead.

"How did you identify the body?" he was asked.

"By the clothes and the feet," he replied quietly.

Betty Gow, the baby's nurse, fidgeted and looked down whenever the child was mentioned.

Lindbergh reaffirmed his faith in the nurse, in Ollie Wheatley, the butler, and Mrs. Wheatley, housekeeper, after telling the jury Curtis had told him the kidnaping was arranged "through a member of my own household."

Servants Still Trusted

"We have only three servants, and I have complete confidence in them," he said.

He also reaffirmed his faith in Dr. John F. (Jafsie) Condon, who futilely paid $50,000 of Lindbergh's money to a supposed member of the kidnap gang.

The Lindbergh recital seemed to bear out the line of offense it was first supposed the prosecution would take—contending Curtis invented a fantastic tale of bogus negotiations and hindered the police search for the kidnapers by diverting attention from it.

The last-minute surprise move taken by the state yesterday, when Prosecutor Anthony M. Hauck Jr., declared the state would prove "beyond reasonable doubt" that Curtis was in actual contact with the kidnapers or their representatives, left observers with confused opinions.

The move also brought a storm of protest from the defense, which complained the defendant was not being tried for the same alleged offense which caused his arrest after he typed a confession last month that the characters in his stories were all "creatures of a distorted mind."

Lindbergh Testifies

Colonel Lindbergh testified Curtis told him he had been shown some of the money the colonel authorized Dr. John F. Condon to pay to supposed kidnapers as ransom. But Colonel Lindbergh didn't see the bills.

He related how Curtis had described members of the gang in detail. But Lindbergh never saw or met them.

Curtis, too, he testified, described minutely the boat on which the baby was supposed to be held captive, and its German nurse. But Colonel Lindbergh never saw the boat, despite repeated trips by sea in search of it.

Edmund B. Bruce, Elmira, N. Y., followed Lindbergh to the stand.

Bruce, who entered the case as friend of Curtis and driver of the car which took them on many trips, said Curtis one night in New York pointed out to him a man he said was the "John" to whom Dr. Condon gave the ransom money in a Bronx cemetery.

The man came out of a cafeteria, Bruce said, as Curtis predicted he would do, looking neither to the right nor to the left.

"That is John," Curtis was quoted as saying.

Bruce, who declined to come to court as defense witness, but willingly appeared for the prosecution, related Curtis had obtained $1,000 from Mrs. Bruce by misrepresentation, and in reference to this called Curtis a "liar."

A moment later, pressed by the defense, Bruce was saying:

"I do not think he (Curtis) is guilty under this indictment."

Curtis Well Treated

But when the defense sought to get testimony from him to support their contention of Police Duress used on Curtis, they failed.

"You got your idea of Jersey justice from treatment of Curtis?"

"I didn't know of any mistreatment. I heard he was well treated."

"Did you talk of the matter of money with Colonel Lindbergh?"

"I think I did. He said he could be helpful in the sale of Mr. Curtis' story to a decent newspaper."

"Didn't you suggest to Mr. Curtis hard cold facts could be dull and suggest a fictional, lies, story?"

"Never."

Bruce said he had induced Curtis to go to Colonel Lindbergh in the first place, when Curtis told him about being approached by a supposed kidnaper representative. He told of seeing the man Curtis called "Dynamite," also, on one occasion, but he did not speak to him.

William Edward Haskell, of the New York Herald Tribune business department, followed Bruce. He told of being approached by Curtis and Bruce about sale of a story on the return of the baby.

The man wanted a guarantee of $25,000, Haskell testified. He said no written contract was made.

Curtis asked a $25,000 advance from the syndicate proceeds of his story be arranged, Haskell said. "I told him if his story wasn't worth $25,000 it wasn't worth a cent."

MAN HELD IN EUROPE SAYS HE KILLED BABY

WAAG-NEUSTADTL, Czecho-Slovaki., June 28. (AP)—An unidentified man claiming to be an American citizen but refusing to reveal his name surrendered to police here today, saying he was one of seven persons who kidnaped and murdered the Lindbergh baby.

The seven, he said, went to London after the murder. There they received money from America, he added, and went to Paris, buying an automobile and trying to reach Soviet Russia. On the way he mysteriously lost his companions, the man said.

He was elegantly dressed, but was penniless, lacked identification papers and was exhausted to the point of collapse. He was arrested by police, who were skeptical, however, believing his story only an attempt to get free passage to the United States.

You would think if a man studied the preaching business all his life he could memorize a few little apt sentences to prolong a political gathering.

Feminine Angle

Then Mr. Barkley, today's toastmaster, said, "We will be entertained by a song by somebody." Well I had never heard that announcement at a convention before, and as I had just been talking to Irving Berlin, the best song writer in the world, why I just figured that this was one of his new ones he was having put over. But the minute it started I knew it wasn't. It was a kind of a "pep" song to offset some of the predictions in the prayer.

Went around to kinder get the feminine angle today. Had a fine old-time chat with Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, who looks lovely. Then of course I found Alice, who after all is about as much Democrat as she is Republican. In fact she is wise to both sides. Seemed like old Houston and Madison Square times to visit Mrs. Al Smith, always smiling, always pleasant.

Then Mrs. McAdoo who has been in the midst of stirring times, even in her short span of life. Mrs. Ed Hutton of New York, wife of the man that runs those little innocent blackboards with numbers on 'em that keep getting littler.

As you go into the stadium there is a board with all of the names of the states and how much they have contributed to the campaign. Looks exactly like a stock market board. I thought at first the Democrats were maybe on the "curb." I know they couldn't make the big board.

May Nominate Coolidge

Who do I run into looking at the board to see if he would get any of his money back but my best friend, Barney Baruch. He is going to have some news of me tonight. He is one of the men that meet in the little room where the candidates "are" nominated. No candidate will accept the vice presidency. By Saturday all of 'em will be grabbing at it.

The best candidate the Democratic party can nominate you don't hear anything of. Its Owen D. Young, the most able man in both parties.

They wouldn't let 'em nominate Calvin Coolidge at the Republican convention so I am going to try and do it here. He might be a Democrat. Nobody ever did hear him say.

Senate Approves Cowles For RFC Directors Board

WASHINGTON, June 28. (AP)—Gardner Cowles Sr., Des Moines Iowa, newspaper publisher, was approved today by the senate as a director of the reconstruction corporation.

Cowles succeeds to the directorship left vacant by the resignation of Charles G. Dawes, but not to his position as president of the corporation.

report being accepted with the barest ripple of notice.

Wild Parade Staged

The tension so evident through the arguments on the chairmanship and the contests broke when that final vote was over.

As Senator Barkley—the temporary chairman—roared the result a flurry of applause started far back among the outlying delegation. Somebody pulled the Montana standard over Senator Walsh's head from its place and set off down the aisle. At once all the standards of states which participated in putting the Montanan in power over the convention joined in.

The organ and band alternated in helping things along a bit. Even when the music stopped, the paraders kept on, cheering and yelling.

Down through the center of the hall, a solid block of delegates from New York, Massachusetts, California, Ohio and Texas stuck to their seats looking on. A standard guard clung to each state sign, but they were not needed.

Walsh Reads Address

Senator Barkley began pounding for order after a few minutes. The uproar subsided magically and within another minute or two Senator Walsh was escorted to the platform to receive generous applause from all over the floor.

Senator Walsh, in a brief prepared address that he read in his usual professional manner, reminded the party of its duties and tasks—and attacked the Republican opposition. As for the recent administration, he said that for the last 11 years this government has been run on "the theory that national well-being is to be looked for by giving free rein to the captains of industry and magnates in the field of finance, and accommodating government to their desires."

"From every section of the country an aroused and wrathful people demand a new deal," he declared, to the delight of the assembled Democrats.

New Dispute Looms

Closing on a note asking harmony, he appealed:

"A great opportunity as well as a great responsibility is before us, an opportunity for service as rare as the occasion is extraordinary. Let us proceed to the task to which we are called patriotically, in the accommodating spirit, so far as principle will permit, mindful always of the truth that he serves his party best who serves his country best."

The rules adopted, as modified at a hastily-summoned meeting of the committee today, all for consideration of the platform at tomorrow's session meeting at noon. There is the probability of another dispute on pro-and-anti-Roosevelt lines, over prohibition. The committee dominated by his supporters wants to hold the party to promising submission of a repeal amendment, but Alfred E. Smith and other leaders in the eastern delegations are determined to pledge the party as favoring repeal, if possible.

DEMO PROGRAM HEREAFTER SPECULATIVE MATTER

CHICAGO, June 28. (AP)—The order of business for the rest of the Democratic national convention is all ironed out, but nobody knows how long it will take.

The official program and the convention manual provide for two more days with nominating speeches starting tomorrow, continuing on Thursday and the balloting Thursday.

The resolution adopted by the convention today limiting nominating speeches to 20 minutes and second speeches to five minutes will do much to speed up the procedure.

The expected debate on prohibition tomorrow will be limited, so the only thing to keep the delegates here later than Thursday will be a deadlock over the nominations.

The convention will decide tomorrow whether to hold a night session, the order of business is as follows:

Called to order at noon by Permanent Chairman Thomas J. Walsh, United States senator from Montana.

Invocation by the Rev. Duncan Hodge Browne, dean, St. James cathedral, Chicago.

Report of committee on resolutions and platform.

Minority report on prohibition plank—tentative.

Debate on prohibition plank.

Roll call on minority report.

Adoption of platform.

Roll call by states for speeches placing in nomination candidates for president of the United States.

as will actually promote temperance, effectively prevent the return of the saloon and bring the liquor traffic into the open under complete supervision and control by the states.

"We demand that the federal government effectively exercise its power to protect states against importation of intoxicating liquors in violation of their laws.

"Pending repeal, we favor immediate modification of the Volstead act to legalize the manufacture and sale of beer and other beverages of such alcoholic content as is permissible under the constitution and to provide therefrom a proper and needed revenue."

Dallas Donkeys Saved From Lions in Zoo

DALLAS, June 28. (UP)—Dallas park board officials announced tonight despite the bull market on donkeys none would be fed to lions at city zoo.

The announcement was made after the board had received hundreds of letters protesting disposition of the herd bought during the administration of Mayor J. Waddey Tate to furnish rides for children.

Since Tate has left office the herd of 25 has been inactive. Recently they were ordered sold or fed to the lions. Only six remain in the hands of the park board now and it was decided none of these would be fed the lions. The board has been selling the pets for $7.50 each which zoo keepers said is expensive in that horses bought for lion fodder cost more than. The protests came from persons living in all parts of the country.

VOTE PASSES ECONOMY BILL

ployes, which the president sought, but carried the house provision that employes so necessary that they could not be spared from their work should take pay cuts ranging from 8 1-3 per cent to 20 per cent.

Despite removal of this obstacle, however, senate leaders were fast losing hope of an adjournment of congress this week. Conferees on the unemployment relief bill made slow progress, and deadlocks on some of the big appropriation bills remained unbroken.

The unemployment bill conferees agreed on a $300,000,000 fund for emergency relief loans to states, but had not yet found compromises on the more controversial sections.

Deadline Near

Worrying leaders more than adjournment was the fast approaching deadline marking the end of the fiscal year, with the growing possibility all of the funds for running the government would not be available by that time.

The senate today finally approved the billion dollar treasury-postoffice bill and sent it to conference with the house, but only two of the 10 annual supply measures carrying funds for next year had been completed.

Two of the others, the war department and agriculture bills, were tied up in conference deadlocks.

Senator La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin, said the economy bill was an "humiliating surrender" by the senate.

To Correct Abuse

After the vote on the conference report, Senator Bingham, Republican, Connecticut, introduced a concurrent resolution which he said would "correct one of the chief abuses of the bill which has just been forced through under the threat of no economy bill at all."

The resolution, requiring house action also, would direct the clerk to strike out a section which provides that when husband and wife are both in government employ, one of them shall be dismissed first in any reduction of personnel.

It is expected to come up tomorrow.

"HEXING" IN ENGLAND

LONDON, England.—There are still many people in England who believe in witches, according to William H. Taynter, Cornish authority on witchcraft. By almost every mail, Taynter receives letters from people who claim they have been bewitched, making them the victims of repeated misfortunes, and asking his advice.

County Judges Ask Special Session

DALLAS, June 28. (AP)—Fifty county judges, commissioners and others meeting here today went on record as favoring a special session of the legislature to relieve tax burdens of the counties.

A resolution adopted petitioned Gov. R. S. Sterling to call a special session not later than July 15 to appropriate "an amount of the present gasoline tax which allotted to the highway commission sufficient to pay current road bonds indebtedness due on designated state highways."

Speakers said that as a result of crumbling tax valuations and difficulties of collection finances of many counties were in a serious condition.

County courts throughout the state were urged to petition Governor Sterling, through county-wide mass meetings, to call a special session of the legislature.

A steering committee named included Judge Otis Miller, Anson; Judge Jessie R. Smith, Breckenridge; Judge Claude Callaway, Foard county; Judge J. C. Irby, Franklin; Judge Thomas Smiley, Karnes; and Judge R. E. Biggs, Liberty county. Judge Miller presided.

Co-Ops to Provide Expert Cotton Classers

DALLAS, June 28. (AP)—Sentiment towards cooperative marketing is rapidly crystalizing both with farmers and business interests, according to R. J. Murray, general manager of the Texas Cotton Cooperative association, who has returned from a speaking tour throughout the valley, Corpus Christi and Houston sections. He states that at each of the well attended meetings held, much interest was shown in the program. Mr. Murray anticipates heavy delivery to the channels of cooperative marketing.

Mr. Murray also stated that the co-ops this year would follow its program of establishing federal licensed cotton classers throughout the state to insure members correct grading and stapling of their cotton.

pointed to get the Texas delegates actively into the contest and seek Garner votes in all rival camps.

The Texans voted their solid 46 votes today against seating Huey Long and his associates from Louisiana and voted in favor of the minority report which would have seated the "out" Minnesota delegation. In both instances the Texans favored groups they could depend upon for Garner strength.

Silliman Evans of Fort Worth, national publicity director for Garner, today was replaced upon the credentials committee by C. M. Chambers, mayor of San Antonio. Mr. Evans resigned.

After having been balked yesterday in their effort to parade the Texas standard along with those of many other states in the demonstration which accompanied the keynoter's demand for repeal of prohibition, the "wet" Texans came prepared today to demonstrate without hindrance from their "dry" brothers.

Texas Repeal Banners

They brought in five banners, three of them marked "Texas" and the other two carrying these devices: "Garner for Repeal—Texas" and "Liberal Democrats of Texas."

They did not get their opportunity to demonstrate, however, except for a score of photographers who learned of the preparations and put the delegates through a mock demonstration for the picture benefit of posterity.

Mr. Rayburn today was in communication with Mr. Garner in Washington and quickly denied the many rumors which had cropped up overnight concerning the purported intentions of the speaker.

Under the auspices of the Press club of Chicago, Edgar E. Witt, lieutenant governor of Texas, will speak concerning Mr. Garner over station WIBO at 11:30, Chicago time, tomorrow. Senator Tom Connally, who will nominate Garner, also was down for a radio address from that state tomorrow.

CHINESE HOLD 10 AMERICANS

Consul Reports Capture By Communists

WASHINGTON, Jun- 28. (UP)—The American consulate general at Hankow, China, reported to the state department today it had been informed that 10 Americans were captured by go-called Chinese Communists at Kikungshan, Honan province, last Sunday.

The consulate general promptly made representations to the Honan provincial government for protection of the captured Americans; it also requested the legation in Peiping to make representations to the national government.

CABINET OF HERRIOT BALKS

Arms-Reparations Stand May Doom Government

PARIS, June 28. (US)—The government of Premier Edouard Herriot tonight was apparently doomed to break up next week unless Herriot, now at Lausanne, changes his attitude against the Hoover disarmament plan and annulment of reparations.

This was the outcome of a meeting of the Radical-Socialist party today after Minister of Marine Leygues, Colonel Minister Sarraut and Labor Minister Dalimer announced they would go to Lausanne to convey to Herriot the party's disapproval of his policies.

Francois Albert, chairman of the chamber of deputies' foreign affairs committee and a bitter enemy of Herriot, backed by Deputies Pierre Cot and Gaston Bergery, also foes of the premier, began the move against Herriot.

Ask Acceptance

They demanded that the party send a delegation to Lausanne asking the premier to accept Germany's insistence that reparttions be cancelled, and accede at the same time to President Hoover's one-third arms reduction scheme. They declared that Herriot has so far done nothing save imitate former Premier Tardieu, who was overthrown because of his government's intransigeance.

Albert, Cot and Bergery, however were unable tom uster any kind of vote at the stormy meeting, after which the three cabinet ministers said they would entrain for Lausanne to inform Herriot of the party's disapproval of his stand.

It is expected that if and when Herriot falls, he will be succeeded by Minister of Public Work Edouard Daladier, but Daladier is also expected to fail to hold a government together, which would mean a stalemate at Geneva and Lausanne until a firm government in France is reached.

U. T. Bans Secret Political Groups

AUSTIN, June 28. (AP)—Regents of the University of Texas have adopted resolutions directing dismissal from the university of students who are members of secret political organizations and publishers or circulators of anonymous publications.

The expression was prompted by appearance on the campus of a publication called The Spark, purported to be published by the "University of Texas Chapter of the National Student League." The regents said there was no university chapter of the league.

The resolution said The Spark tended to "inculcate a lack of respect for and violent opposition to established government, such that the result of its circulation would be to create discord and result in permanent injury to the university."

HITCH-HIKING CANDIDATE

SAN ANTONIO, June 28. (AP)—Roger Q. Evans, San Antonio man who is a candidate for governor, is hitch-hiking from town to town on his state-wide campaign. A cheese sandwich and a knapsack filled with clothes is his only luggage. He carries a sign on his back saying: "This is Evans, candidate for governor. Give me a ride."

Dalhart Officers Give Croton Oil To Recover Swallowed Stolen Rings

DALHART, Texas, June 28. (UP)—A man-sized dose of croton oil was forcibly given a prisoner here today in whose stomach x-ray photographs revealed two rings allegedly stolen from Mrs. Clinton G. Hickey, wife of a prominent Denver, Colo., physician.

The big croton oil man gave his name as E. Guy Edwards of Dallas. He told county officers he was engaged in the oil business. The persuasive methods were applied after he admitted hiding one ring in a lavatory of the courthouse here and swallowing two others.

Officers found the ring in the lavatory, took the prisoner to a physician's office where x-ray photographs were taken and then fed him croton oil in liberal quantities. Edwards is charged with a theft of $50 and is held at Channing, in a nearby county.

Mrs. Hickey and her husband were refused a room at the Channing hotel because of their wire-haired terrier. They went to a private home for a night's lodging. Later Edwards and a young woman giving the name of Miss Ruth Irene King came to the house for a night's stay.

During the stay the physician's wife left her purse in the bath room. She recovered it, but the rings were missing. Dallam county officers arrested Edwards and Miss King and Dr. Hickey filed charges against both.

Sweetwater Rail Lines Washed Out By 11-Inch Rain

SWEETWATER, Texas, June 28. (AP)—Repairs were pushed rapidly by railroads and state highway crews today after a rain unofficially estimated at about 11 inches virtually had isolated this town.

Tracks of the Santa Fe and Texas and Pacific railroads were washed away for several hundred yards and all highways were made impassable for a time. Culverts were damaged on several streets.

Many basements were flooded and the fire department was called on to pump out the water. Damage to the wheat crop was believed to have been large. Many fields were transformed into lakes.

A train arrived from San Angelo this afternoon and other trains were expected as repairs to tracks progressed. Passengers were transferred by bus from Trent to Sweetwater.

State highway employes began repairing 100 yards of highway 30, three miles south of Sweetwater, from which the topping had been washed. A bridge over Sweetwater creek, east of the city, likewise was being repaired.

Heavy rains, with damage to crops, were reported from some other West Texas points. Howard county crops suffered extensive damage. At Abilene 1.47 inches of rain fell.

Wesley Girls Class Has Regular Monthly Meeting

Members of the Wesley Girls class of the First Methodist church met in the church parlor Monday evening in the monthly social and business meeting, with Mrs. Ben Jones and her group as hostesses. Bowls of summer flowers made the long room attractive.

The meeting was opened with a song with Mrs. Stanley M. Raub leading and Mrs. J. E. O'Brien at the piano. In the short business session, a number of interesting reports were given by officers and special committees.

Alton Bedinghaus, a talented young artist with the violin, gave two numbers with Miss Minnie Baker accompanying and Joe Uttz sang "On the Road to Mandalay," and "Schubert's Serenade" with Mrs. A. H. Mahaffey accompanist. Both violin and vocal musical numbers were greatly applauded.

An ice course was served by the hostess group to Mesdames H. C. Pierce, L. L. Wallace, E. S. Easton, G. A. Remington, S. S. McKenney, Homer Lee, R. M. Morrow, Jim Hanks, W. O. Kimmell, W. W. Cook, Sam Man, Wayne Somerville, E. B. Lehrack, J. L. Eggleston, Albert Kelly, J. E. O'Brien, J. S. Riggs, H. C. Cheshire, Jason Walker, C. E. Rhoads, Frances Crawford, R. A. Jarrott, J. F. Frank Smith, E. E. Louderback, C. C. Collier, W. C. Cole, E. W. Shaw, S. D. Johnson, J. P. Tarry, P. L. Fischer, H. G. Parker, J. S. Gullahorn, H. J. Bruce, John A. Stulken, W. J. Ranbarger, J. R. Welch, Ben Jones, A. H. Mahaffey, R. C. Honea, C. E. Pross; Miss Minnie T. Baker and Alton Bedinghaus and Joe Uttz.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

Drip, drip, drip, sounds the rain as it falls from the trees and eaves after the skies seem to have emptied. It is a sound that wakes memories.

In rainy days of our childhood we played in an attic where there were little old-fashioned trunks and great boxes packed with quaint old costumes. Rainy days were "dress up" days. The boxes and trunks are still there, but today, if we could visit the attic again, rather than dressing in flowing old brocade gowns, in prim dimity frocks and sweeping feathers, we would read the stacks of yellowed letters that were tied in bundles in our grandmother's boxes.

Those were the days of umbrellas; no lady deigned to go under sun or rain without a silken covering; umbrellas are almost as extinct as ruffled petticoats and high-necked gowns and curling tongs; we doubt if, in proportion, any more umbrellas are sold than hairpins, as one might say, or collar buttons. Modish raincoats and shiny slickers have taken their place.

But dripping rain takes our imagination back into days before history was authentic. It makes us think of miry roads and struggling horses and coaches unable to move; of runaway kings, slipping through Scotch hills and wet heather and wading raging torrents; of loves betrayed and lives lost through delays caused by rains.

The rain of 40 days and 40 nights when the world began to wake to its defiance of the Lord; a steady downpour and rushing waters, then fear, and death, and only the ark safe upon the muddy waters.

The stories of the days of chivalry have as a background, deep green forests and wide, placid streams. But the loves and fears of Guinevere went through rainy days; storm may have fallen on that barge in which King Arthur's sisters carried him away to the mysterious isle of Avalon to try to restore life; "Joyous Garde" was not always a place of sunshine and Launcelot the brave and Galahad the pure pushed their steeds through deep mire. The lady of Shalott, who gazed in vain for the knight who never returned, must have looked from her casement windows into a mist that was not all her own tears.

There were muddy roads and gray skies for Caesar's legions in their far flung battle line; roads and skies that were more threatening to the Romans in far countries than the swords of their enemies.

Just before the battle of Waterloo, history records: "The night of the 17th was dreadful and seemed to presage the calamities of the day. A violent and incessant rain did not allow the army to take a moment's rest. To increase our misfortune, the bad state of the roads retarded the arrival of our provisions and most of the soldiers were without food." It has been said that the mud lost to Napoleon the battle of Waterloo.

The rains and snows that beset the half-starved Continental army are a gray background against which they stand out in bright valor.

Rain is rest from heat and succor from drouth; it is rain when it falls too long in time of harvest and death dealing when it comes driven by cyclonic winds. But a gentle rain always brings dreams and memories.

Our Children

His Garden

Any child who has the least taste for gardening ought to have a bit of earth for his own. I know a lad reared in a crowded city, not even a foot of earth upon which to rest his foot, who is a gardener. He gathered soil where none else could see any, and he made windowboxes and attached himself to a florist until by and by he got to a school where there was a garden and he blossomed there.

Gardening is one of the finest fields for the cultivation of mind and body known to civilization. It is the oldest and most perfect form of work. It is creative in its very nature. There's magic as well as drudgery in it so it runs the full gamut of activity. Its rewards are in direct relation to the effort spent. The rules are impersonal and they work for the unlearned and unskilled exactly as they do for the expert. A child can grow as fine a petunia or a cabbage as the skilled gardener, provided he follows the rules.

Then, gardening is an outdoor activity altogether. The boy working in his garden is part of the great outdoor scheme. He is in partnership with nature, toiling to make life richer. There's no nonsense about it. You dig and the deeper you dig the higher your planting grows. You weed and water and cultivate and the more power you put into the job the more the planting shows. Wisdom comes with the harvest. A child cannot plant a seed and care for its development without spreading himself in growth over a new field. He is bound to learn something.

There is no activity that so justly rewards the worker nor so plainly indicates his quality. The lazy gardener is held up to all the world by the pigweed and the burdocks and the malicious bindweed. The industrious understanding gardener is showered with honor and glory by the color of his blooms, the perfume and the weight of the fruits of his garden. The weather has some share in the job but the gardener goes into partnership with nature and surmounts the evils of drouth and storm, taking them philosophically, part of the scheme of things.

Life holds no secrets from the gardener. The whole story is before him and his patient tolerance, his skill, his quiet acceptance and understanding and ultimate triumphs are in accord with all that life can mean. That training is a liberal one for anybody and priceless to those children who can take it.

There is no sense in trying to make a gardener out of a business man. Don't waste the time. But if you have a child whose eyes turn longingly toward the earth and all that grows therein, help him to it. You will be helping him to enter a field of knowledge that touches every other. While we know that all knowledge is one, we are certain of it when we have built and maintained a garden.

Into my garden all manner of people, all strange customs, all lands, all life have entered, until it has become a place like that one planted over toward the east long time past. Give the earth hungry child his garden and make it as good a one as lies in your power. He will do the rest.

(Copy't, 1932, by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Alathean Executive Board Plans Luncheon

Members of the executive board of the First Baptist Alathean Sunday school class met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. G. Stewart on Brown street. Mrs. Homer McGregor gave the devotional and Mrs. W. H. McDonald the opening prayer.

In the business meeting, reports were made for a month's work and plans were completed for a luncheon to be held early in July.

A delicious ice course was served to Mesdames Homer McGregor, C. D. Whitley, C. C. Bunnenberg, H. E. Nettles, W. H. McDonald, T. L. Wheeler, Tom Wynn, Sibyl Morris, and the hostess, Mrs. Stewart.

Mexican Rail Strike Blocks Border Traffic

TUCSON, Ariz., June 28. (US)—Rail communication between Nogales and Guadalajara, Mexico, continued paralyzed today as the strike of 3,000 workers got well under way. Federal troops were in charge of depots and road yards and little disorder was reported. The strike is in protest of a 10 per cent wage slash.

E. Post Gives Advice On Perfect Mother-In-Law

By EMILY POST

Author of "Etiquette, the Blue Book of Social Usage."

A letter, which goes to the heart of every mother of lately married children, says "Dear Mrs. Post: Can you give me, and my husband, any suggestions for becoming successful parents-in-law? Our three children have all married lately and we have no especial reason to fear that our two new daughters and one new son will find us difficult. Our fear is caused solely by the happenings around us. Our children have been our whole world—perhaps you can help us not to lose them?"

In answer I must say, as in so many like situations, I can at least tell you some of the things not to do! The two difficult situations to take happily and successfully in the foursome of man, wife, mother-in-law and father-in-law are those of the father-in-law of the husband and the mother-in-law of the wife. The other two positions are so easy that there is little excuse for failure.

Don't Interfere

But in any case, the very first rule that every father-in-law—more especially every mother-in-law—must learn, is don't interfere. Never mind what small blunders your daughter or your daughter-in-law or your son or your son-in-law may be making; remember and think as they please. If you are asked what you think, answer truthfully of course, but don't, upon being given one opening, then cram into this opening every other item of "good advice" that you've been storing up for just this chance.

Young people make a thousand mistakes—so do old people. There is only a difference in the what. A young housekeeper is extravagant, wasteful, through ignorance. It is a great temptation to tell her this, advise her against that. But each young housekeeper has a right to find things out for herself and should be allowed to do so unless she asks for advice.

It is necessary that a mother-in-law remember that "interest" can all too easily be interpreted as curiosity. And curiosity is one thing that an in-law is never permitted. Probably the greatest fault a mother-in-law can have (next to the habit of interference) is lack of interest of her own, so that she hangs on to those of her children. Older people love to know what is going on, and perhaps the hardest thing to bear is not being told. Young people feel like telling only when not asked, and seldom even then. Which is merely a fact, like hundreds of others, that age must face and make the best of.

The perfect mother-in-law listens with sympathetic and concentrated interest to whatever is told her; she responds to whatever demand is made. But she does not ask questions, she does not infer suspicion, disapproval or hurt feelings. Above all, not this last. In other words, she is as charming as sympathetic as it is possible for her to be, and she grants to her children-in-law their full rights as independent persons over whom she has no more jurisdiction than she has over any other friends or neighbors. The fact that she loves them is no excuse for hampering their lives.

Trials for Family

This same exaction must be followed by the father of a daughter with his son-in-law! In countless cases, happily, the entire relationship between parents, children and in-laws is everything that is beautiful. But even so it is well to be on the safe side of a situation, which means so much to you both as this!

When a father or mother must, for whatever reason there may be, live with a married child, the situation demands the wisdom of Solomon, the tact of Reckmier, and the self-control of a Stoic. Moreover, he or she must conscientiously practice the art of "invisibility" at frequent and lengthy intervals. This does not mean scuttle out of sight like a frightened mouse, but that she shall have or make occupation of her own, which keep her from being idly, plaintively or forcefully, present—and especially when there are visitors of the younger age.

In America, above all, the little house for each man and his wife is in every way more desirable than the biggest house in the world that must contain relatives of either his or hers. The saying that no roof is wide enough to happily shelter two families is especially true in the cases where the parents live with the children. In the reverse cases where married children remain at home, the situation is far less difficult, though the principles to strive for are the same: Freedom granted to each, definite consideration for the point of view of the oldest by the younger and by the younger of the older, and genuine willingness on the part of each to give as well as to take.

Today's Pattern

SLIP CUT ON BIAS

Pattern 2363

Step-by-step instruction diagrams included with this pattern.

By ANNE ADAMS

Because the frocks of this season are more or less moulded to the figure, undergarments must fit perfectly. By using the fabric on the bias one gets that perfect fit with a minimum of fabric. Lace is a dainty finish for lovely lingerie, but may be omitted and the garment simply tailored. Crepe de chine in tea rose shades will prove delightful.

Pattern 2363 may be ordered only in sizes 32 to 44. Size 34 requires 1⅞ yards of 39-inch fabric, 1¼ yards lace.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred), for each pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. Be sure to state size wanted. Address all mail and orders to

Pattern Department,
RECORD NEWS,
Wichita Falls, Texas.

On account of the large number of orders being received, 10 days time will be required in filling orders.

Irish Senate Passes Bill Abolishing Oath

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, June 28. (AP)—The Irish senate today passed the De Valera bill to abolish the oath to the English crown, but the measure carried an amendment which nullified the purpose of the Free State government.

Minister Connolly of telegraphs said the government had no intention of accepting the measure in its present form but would let it go to the dail "with the results that might be expected."

Weekly Dinner And Program Is Monday Feature

A cool evening and a delicious dinner combined with an informal program made the Monday evening meeting of lovers of art at the Municipal Golf club unusually pleasant. Mrs. G. Wayne Barker was a charming hostess and musical numbers given by her daughter, Miss Viola Grace Doern, who has just returned to the city from New York were of special interest.

The program, consisting of music, readings and an open discussion that suggested the salons of the brilliant French period, was entirely informal. Several members of the party gave interesting and amusing numbers.

Covers were laid for Messrs. and Mesdames A. L. Hecht, J. W. Akin Jr., Ethel Allen Nelson, Stanley M. Raub, H. H. Ferrell, Dr. Maude Lindsey, Mesdames Valeria Fisher, H. B. Van Emden, R. Gribble and James P. Bowen, Misses Mary Fitzgerald, Marguerite Gerhardt, Marguerite Fisher and Evelyn Van Emden, Messrs. Baldwin Montgomery and Emil Hermann.

The dinner will be given as usual next Monday evening and those who will attend are requested to make reservations by 1 o'clock Monday, July 4.

BOARD STUDIES SALE OF LANDS

Developers Draft New Lease Agreements

Details of a revised rental and lease contract for tenants and prospective owners of farm lands in the irrigated valley were discussed by the Wichita Valley Development association board at the regular meeting Tuesday at the chamber of commerce offices.

Chairman J. N. Sherrill, named last week to head a committee to outline the contract, presented a new form of optional agreement to purchase the land whereby rental money will ultimately apply to the purchase price. Field Manager J. F. Meurer of the association reported that a survey is under way for available land for use of tenants and for sale.

A favorable report on livestock and produce markets for valley products was made at the meeting with a better price quoted on hogs. It also was pointed out that the local butter fat market is two cents per pound better than in some neighboring Oklahoma communities.

The board also announced a new basis for rental contracts which will be considered in the fall. An additional report will be presented on the contract discussion at the next meeting for the annual farmers tour of the valley July 21-22.

Germany May Resort To Martial Law Regime

BERLIN, June 28. (UP)—The alarming spread of political chaos, street fighting and rioting throughout Germany indicated today the government might have to resort to martial law to prevent more serious disorders.

Although election of a new reichstag is five weeks away and the campaign is not even started, newspapers daily devote columns to an increasing toll of disorders. The situation became steadily worse after the government lifted the ban on Adolf Hitler's brown shirt army.

Kilgore Trucker Held On Oil Theft Charge

KILGORE, Texas, June 28. (AP)—W. R. Sims, trucking contracter, was arrested today on a charge of stealing more than 600 barrels of oil from the Knowles No. 1 well located in the city of Kilgore. He waived preliminary hearing and was held under $1,000 bond.

Officers said the oil had been taken from the well and loaded on a railroad tank car, which was held. Sims will be taken before a grand jury at Longview.

Car Loadings Show Increase for Week

WASHINGTON, June 28. (UP)—The American Railway association today reported that car loadings of revenue freight for the week ending June 18 totaled 518,400 cars, an increase of 16,649 above the loadings of the preceding week but a reduction of 220,685 below the corresponding week last year and 402,236 below the loadings for the same period two years ago.

FREDERICK, Okla., June 28.—Announcement was made Monday of the marriage at Lawton on April 10 of Miss Bobbie Headrick to Warner Wright. Mrs. Wright is the daughter of Mrs. Ethel Wright; Wright is a son of Mrs. M. J. Wright, proprietor of the Frederick news stand.

Austin Officials Hurt In Automobile Wreck

AUSTIN, June 28. (AP)—Asst. Atty. Morris K. Womack and Investigator Robert C. Scott of the district attorney's office were injured late yesterday in an automobile accident near Hempstead. Their machine crashed into a highway culvert after a tire blew out.

They were brought to Houston and were under treatment here today. Scott, who suffered probable internal injuries, was the most seriously hurt.

New York Plane Crash Kills Two Aviators

MINEOLA, N. Y., June 28. (INS)—Lieut. Timothy J. Creedon, injured last night when an army plane in which he was flying with Corporal Gilbert S. Barnett crashed in Manhasset bay off Port Washington in a blinding rain storm, died today in Nassau hospital.

Barnett died on his way to the hospital last night.

The two men were attached to Mitchel field where Creedon was a reserve officer on active duty with the airplane contingent.

DAWES' SUCCESSOR

WASHINGTON, June 28. (AP)—Gardner Cowles Sr. of Iowa was confirmed today by the senate as a director of the reconstruction corporation, succeeding Charles G. Dawes.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN

This is a special department devoted to the handling of inquiries. You have at your disposal an extensive organization in Washington to serve you in any capacity that relates to information. Write your question, your name, and your address clearly, and enclose two cents in coin or stamps for reply. Send to The Record News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C.

Q.—Do drivers ever fall asleep while driving automobiles?—C. R.

A.—Many accidents are caused because tired drivers momentarily lose consciousness while driving. This is true not only of men who make a business of driving but of those who on pleasure trips press on beyond a safe limit without rest.

Q.—Do many movie stars travel by air?—F. W.

A.—The Air-Graph says that among the recent travelers were Douglas Fairbanks, Mary Pickford, Richard Barthelmess, Will Rogers, Ann Harding, Everett Horton, Wallace Beery, Lil Dagover, Lawrence Tibbett, Nancy Carroll, Dolores Del Rio, Bebe Daniels, Lupe Velez, Zasu Pitts, Victor McLaglen, Claire Windsor, Harry Langdon, Sally O'Neil, and Marie Duncan. Only a short time ago movie contracts prohibited stars from riding in airplanes.

Q.—Has Spain any crown jewels? S. B.

A.—In the strict sense of the term, Spain has no crown jewels.

Q.—When will the Olympic games postage stamps be put on sale?—M. D.

A.—On June 15 at Los Angeles, Calif. The stamps are of 3 and 5 cent denominatons.

Q.—When is a man too old to enlist in the army and navy?—E. C.

A.—The maximum age for enlistment is 35 years.

Q.—How many miles of water front has Massachusetts?—Z. H. L.

A.—The mainland of Massachusetts has a water front of 420 miles. The island water frontage of the commonwealth is 250 miles in length.

Q.—Are the various concessions in government buildings operated by private concerns?—J. A. W.

A.—They are operated by the welfare and recreation department which is an organization composed of government officials and is not profit making. Most of the cafeterias are operated by this association.

Q.—What kind of surveying instruments did George Washington use?—W. P. M.

A.—The George Washington Bicentennial commission says that the essential instruments used in surveying during Washington's period of actvity were the chain and an instrument for measuring angles. For the first, Washington used what is called the Gunter chain. The instruments for measuring angles then in use were the plane table, circumferentor, and theodolite. The first was of restricted use, being confined to small enclosures, and it is not likely that Washington used it to any extent, if at all. The theodolite then, as now, was elaborate and costly, and it is doubtful whether Washington ever had one, although it would probably be necessary to go through his invoices carefully in order to determine the matter finally. It is known, however, that he did have a circumferentor, so that it is safe to consider that this was his chief, if not his only instrument. He may have had a protractor, and of course he possessed other necessary instruments for plotting, including compasses, scales, etc., but these were not outdoor instruments. His tripod is still at Mount Vernon.

Q.—When were the fortifications of Quebec begun?—E. W.

A.—Quebec has been fortified from the earliest times, the first structures being built by the French. In 1783 a temporary citadel was begun and the remains of these works, still visible, are erroneously referred to in some guide books as of French origin. In 1823 the British government undertook a comprehensive scheme of defense, the main parts of which are in excellent repair today.

The Record News Offers An Official Road Map

Have you a good road map in the pocket of your car? You should have, and here is your opportunity to get one of the best for the nominal charge of 15 cents. It is twice the size of the usual map and shows all the main highways of the whole United States, together with the national resort areas and touring objectives marked in red. On the reverse side there is printed all essential touring information, such as state motor laws, national routes, distances between principal cities, first aid instruction, and directions for planning a motor tour.

Record News' Program for Wichita Falls

1. OIL—Place the Wichita Falls district on a parity with other centers in the marketing of both crude oil and refined products.
2. THE VALLEY—Systematic, vigorous development of the irrigated valley in keeping with its possibilities as Wichita Falls' greatest physical asset.
3. WATER—An ample, assured supply of soft water.
4. EDUCATION—Maintenance of a junior college in Wichita Falls to give opportunity for higher education to our youth—the highest standards in elementary schools.
5. THE LAKES—Full development of the recreational opportunities offered by the three lakes.
6. HIGHWAYS—Early consummation of a highway program covering all the main routes radiating from this city and all the local roads that serve its agricultural community.
7. DRAINAGE—Solution of the drainage problem in all three phases; first, in the irrigated valley; second, with regard to Holliday creek; third, in those portions of the city now inadequately drained.
8. GOVERNMENTAL ECONOMY—The adoption of such means as may be found most feasible to reduce the cost of local government by elimination of unnecessary offices and consolidation of others.

Life in a city is certainly annoying. If some motorist isn't tearing down the street, some contractor is tearing it up.

An English ape returned to its owner after being taken more than 100 miles from home. Must have been a boomerang-outang.

Fundamentals

AN age of disillusionment may be a hard time to live through, but it can also be extremely healthful.

Right now we are well on in the third year of one of the sharpest eye-openers any people ever had to face. It isn't a bit of fun, and the end is not in sight; but the important thing is to nourish the skepticism and disillusionment which the depression has given us, and to see to it that we don't lay them away when good times return.

For it is becoming obvious every day that the high old times which ended with the market crash of 1929 were, above all, an era of bunk. We kidded ourselves and we permitted our leaders to kid us. If there is any single reason why we descended into the pit that was digged for us, it is that we were all so very willing to believe a lot of things that weren't so.

All of this, somehow, is brought to mind by a graduation address made at an eastern university the other day by a prominent American statesman.

This statesman told his audience that they must cultivate the qualities of "self-reliance, common sense, industry, energy, perseverance, honesty, sobriety and education," since the nation's leaders invariably owe their rise to their possession of such traits.

Now all of that is very fine, and the least that we can say is that it ought to be true; but if you will think a minute you will see that a lot of men rose very high indeed during the boom years without developing any of those qualities very greatly.

A politician could rise notably without either self-reliance or common sense. A "financial wizard" could amass a fortune without industry, perseverance, honesty, sobriety or much of an education; and it seems, in fact, that energy was about the one trait that was necessary in those days.

It is vital that we recognize this fact. We let ourselves get away from the need of those fundamental virtues, and we are paying for it now—paying for it right through the nose. If we would avoid a repetition of the present depression, we must tie up to them more firmly than ever before.

Fighting Becomes a Racket

A DECADE or so ago the opposition to prize fights arose chiefly from the fact that they were brutal. Today it comes from the fact that prize fighting has changed from a brutal sport into a dirty racket.

Certainly it can hardly be called brutal any more. The heavyweight title has changed hands several times in the last decade, but not since 1919 has it changed hands by virtue of a knockout; and what such stalwart bruisers of the old days as Sullivan or Fitzsimmons would say about such a situation would not bear publication.

But it has become a racket, and, as is the case in all rackets, the general public foots the bill. And those who run the racket should take an hour or so off some day to meditate on the old fable of the goose that laid the golden eggs. If they keep on bilking the public they will find themselves in the position of the man who killed the goose.

A Real Hero

SERGEANT HILMER N. TORNER, the marine corps clerk who won a navy distinguished flying cross for landing a plane after the pilot had fainted, seems to have had about as unsual an experience as any airplane passenger ever had.

Torner had never taken any flying lessons and knew, to all practical purposes, nothing at all about piloting a plane. So when his pilot fainted while carrying him high over Camp Kearney he prepared to use his parachute. Then, reflecting that the pilot would die in the crash that seemed inevitable, he moved forward, dragged the pilot from the controls, flew the ship about until he got the hang of things, and then brought it down in a safe landing.

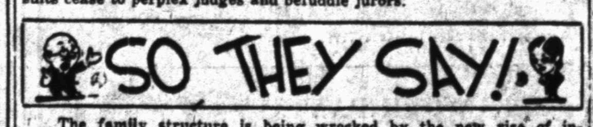

Such presence of mind, bravery and capability are well worth a decoration. If the marine corps is producing many men like Sergeant Torner it is more than living up to its reputation.

Air Traffic Cases

THE growth of airplane traffic is going to bring the courts some difficult new problems during the next few decades. Indeed, the process has begun already, and precedents are now being made for what may ultimately become an entirely new body of law.

Right now the New York courts are trying to figure out the way to deal with a lawsuit arising out of a mid-air collision between two planes.

What makes the lawsuit difficult is the fact that there are few established rules to govern air traffic. The question of who has the right of way, and when, is not as clearly defined in the air as it is on land and sea. Probably it will be a good many years before aerial lawsuits cease to perplex judges and befuddle jurors.

The family structure is being wrecked by the new rise of individualism.—Dr. Alfred Reginald Radcliffe-Brown, British scientist.

WALTER WINCHELL
On Broadway

(Copyright, 1932, Daily Mirror, Inc.)

Logic

I thank you but I cannot be your friend,
Who once was more than any one to you;
Far better, dear, that this should be the end
And I find fresher, fairer things to do.

You claim that when a romance breathes its last
That two can meet as calmly as before,
Nor give a thought to rapture that is past—
But I prefer the locked and bolted door.

Oh, we are thru, I'll gladly grant you that—
But I am sick of sleepless nights abed;
Right now the town is most absurdly flat
So get this thru your charming little head:

To rid myself of my pronounced dejection
I do not need a friend—I need affection!

—DON WAHN.

Sweet Girl, Tho

Walter O'Keefe was witnessing a rehearsal of a new musical show and his attention was focused on a show girl. Show girls, you probably know, are those lassies in a musical production who have practically nothing to do. At any rate, this one's left knee had a ribbon around it.

"Why," asked Walter, "have you that ribbon around only one shaft?"

"Well," was the devastating retort, "when the stage director tells me to start with my left leg, I don't want to waste any time thinking."

Political Note

The same clown says that the Republicans will get on the back of the elephant—the Democrats will get on the back of the donkey and the Socialists will get on the back of Heywood Broun.

Reason Enough

Gene Fowler, the author of "The Great Mouthpiece" and other novels, amazed his intimates when he suddenly chucked his Hollywood job which paid him $100,000 per annum.

When one of us asked him why he spurned all that money in these difficult times, Fowler chirped: "Because one morning I awoke and found the flag of my intelligence flying at half-mast!"

Incidentally

It reminded us of the time Ina Claire (who has also renounced the movie colony) saw "Once In A Lifetime," the devastating satire on the flicker business.

"Can you think of anything funnier than this show about Hollywood?" she was asked.

"Yes," snapped Ina, "Hollywood!"

On the Other Hand

When Adolph Zukor, the movie magnate, went to see the same show he didn't smile, chuckle or even titter at it.

"Everybody finds this the funniest show in town," Zukor was told. "How can you sit there like that without enjoying it?"

"How can I laugh at something," was the mournful reply, "that I've cried about for years?"

Big-Hearted Gus

Gus Driffel of Driffel & Driffel, the vaudeville team, couldn't get a job for years. In the meantime his wife supported him. Recently a rich uncle folded up and left Driffel a mess of coin.

"Well, old boy," said a pal, "you're in the money now. You sure ought to be nice to the wife."

"Nice to her?" driffed Driffel. "I told her that everything she made from now on—she could keep herself."

Portrait of a Girl

Her name is Geraldine Dvorak and she's no kin to Ann, the movie star. For three years the MGM company hired Geraldine to double for Garbo because she resembles Greta so much it is not easy to tell them apart. They even used her out there to attract crowds, in the exploitation manner—and now Greta is done, so is Geraldine, so far as Hollywood is concerned.

So she has come to town to study with Mme. Rasch and will show girl it for Billy Rose's forthcoming revusical. There must be something dizzy about an industry that considers a girl capable enough to double for the nation's most popular screen heroine—but doesn't find a spot for her charms. Instead, they go to the old country regularly to import women who "look something like Garbo."

I give up.

Broadway's Like That

The Astor hotel's chiropodist has handled some of Broadway's better known pedals in his time. And so when he was juggling the corns of this or that theatrical producer he would say: "I wish one of you fellows would read a play one of my relatives has written. It would be a hit!"

His listeners, all of whom rate high as hit-pickers, always dismissed the corn doctor's suggestion with: "Okay, some other time. I'll let you know" and so forth. This went on for years.

Finally, the chiropodist (and what do they know about shows, anyhow?) met an outsider, who was interested and produced it.

It is "Another Language," New York's outstanding legitimate hit!

Of All Cracks!

One of those types was sitting around a Hollywood studio day after day—never saying anything. She finally got on Wilson Mizner's nerves.

"Say!" thundered Mizner, "how are you gonna tell when that dame's dead?"

Not Polly Moran?

David Murray reports that his brother is an unlucky bird. The other day he married Miss America—Miss America of 1904.

The Only Real Sock

Well, far be it from us to try and make our voice heard over the booing which still goes on over the decision that gave the championship to Mr. J. Sharkey. But when Gunboat Smith, the referee, ankled into a Times Square spot after the alleged fight, he walked over to a table at which several gamblers were grouped.

"Harya?" said the referee affably. "Did ja see the fight?"

"Yeah," growled one of them. "Did you?"

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

A WONDER OF PROLIFICITY — Lope de Vega (1562-1635), famous Spanish playwright, soldier, sailor and poet, wrote his first play in four acts at the age of 11. Thereafter for 60 years, crowded with every imaginable adventure and activity, he wrote books and plays in astonishing profusion.

The number of books written by him is so enormous that the feat of transcribing them is incredible in itself. Some of his four-act plays were composed, written and produced within 24 hours. In addition to 1,800 plays he wrote 400 "autos," and 100 other books. Some of these books were exceedingly voluminous, among them the poem "Jerusalem Conquered" of 22,000 verses.

Fear Of Hydrophobia From Mad Cows Follows Mad Dog Scare At Duncan

Special to The Record News.

DUNCAN, Okla., June 28.—Mad cows have been added to the list of hazards in a "mad dog" scare here. Four members of the Emmett Cash family, living three miles northwest of Duncan, are being treated for fear they were infected by two cows which died of hydrophobia. Treatment was advised after an examination at the state laboratory revealed a heifer calf died of rabies. Cash said he believed the animals had been bitten by a coyote.

Physicians believe Arthur Stewart, city employe, was saved by an accident. He was bitten by a dog he believed was afflicted with fits. At first, Stewart did not plan to have the wound treated but the injury proved painful and he went to the hospital. He was advised to send the dog's head to the state laboratory, where an examination revealed the animal had rabies.

Members of the Cash family were not bitten but they scratched their hands on a wire fence while working with one of the sick cows and physicians said there was danger of infection.

Convict's Home Is Pen, Court Rules

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 28. (UP)—Service of legal papers on a life term convict cannot be had by leaving the document with his wife at his former home, the state supreme court ruled today in the case of E. N. Lipe, acting as guardian for Elizabeth Burkhart, against W. K. Hale, convicted in the sensational Osage murder cases.

Hale is serving a life term in federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., for the murder of Henry Roan, Osage Indian.

Hale was surety on the guardian bond of Ernest Burkhart. A judgment was rendered against him as bondsman when a shortage was discovered. At about this time, Hale transferred what property he had to his wife, was tried for the murder of Roan, and given life imprisonment.

The sheriff, in service papers in the suit against Hale, left them with Mrs. Hale at Fairfax, on the contention that it was Hale's residence.

"It would be misinterpretation to hold that the usual place of residence of Hale, in the penitentiary several years and under a life sentence, was at Fairfax with his wife," the court's opinion stated. "The lower court so held, and the judgment is affirmed."

Revival at Electra Draws Large Crowds

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, June 28.—Large crowds have been attending the tent revival of the Assembly of God church during the past week. The revival will continue through two more weeks. Rev. E. L. Newby of Fort Worth, superintendent of the Texas Assemblies district council, is in charge of the preaching. He is being assisted by his wife and son, Rev. A. L. Newby, also of Fort Worth. Rev. and Mrs. E. B. Crump of the local congregation are helping. W. T. Westbrook is director of the song service.

Divergence of Views Delays League Assembly

GENEVA, June 28. (INS)—A divergence of views over the time limit to be allowed Lord Lytton's Manchurian investigating commission to turn in a report today caused postponement of the scheduled meeting of the League of Nations assembly until Thursday afternoon, the assembly's Sino-Japanese committee of 19 will meet tomorrow in an effort to reach agreement on the problem.

American Singer's Wife Indicted in London

LONDON, June 28. (INS)—True bills charging Mrs. Elvira Dolores Barney, wife of an American singer, with the murder of Michael Scott Stephen in her apartment after a cocktail party was returned by the grand jury today.

One of the indictments charges her with the actual murder and another with shooting at him with intent to do bodily harm two weeks before the slaying.

Oklahoma Tax Board To Assess Corporations

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 28. (UP)—A special meeting of the state equalization board will be held Thursday so the Oklahoma tax commission can file assessment recommendations for about 40 public service corporations, Chairman Melvin Cornish of the tax commission, said today.

Duke Woodmen to Hold Two-Day Picnic July 1-2

Special to The Record News.

DUKE, Okla., June 28.—The annual W. O. W. picnic which will be held at Perry lake July 1 and 2 is being extensively advertised. The program committee has outlined an elaborate program of entertainment. The program will open each day at 1:30 o'clock and will include 120-yard race; potato race, fat man's race, free for all mule race, one-fourth mile horse race, 220-yard pony race, and will end with a rodeo. A dance will be held each evening and candidates will be given an opportunity to speak.

PESTS DAMAGE PECAN CROPS

'Lance Bug' Is Name Given For New Pest

AUSTIN, June 28. (AP)—J. H. Burkett, chief of the pecan division of the Texas department of agriculture, announced today that a new pecan pest had been found by field agents in Neff park near Waco. The pest, never before encountered in Texas so far as known has been named the "Lance bug."

Limbs containing specimens of the pest will be submitted to the federal department of agriculture, Burkett said. Burkett said a check would be made to determine the extent of infestation so that eradication plans could be outlined and the work started as soon as control methods were discovered.

The Texas pecan crop for 1932 already has been reduced to 8,000,000 pounds through activity of the nut case borer. Last year the state produced 32,000,000 pounds.

Burkett reported that damage of from 50 to 80 per cent had occurred to the pecan crop in Guadalupe, Fayette, Atascosa, Kerr, Gillespie, Llano, San Saba, Mills, Comanche, Erath, Tarrant, Johnson, Ellis and Bell counties.

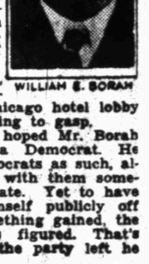

Farmer Awaits Hearing In 'Collision' Slaying

LINDEN, Texas, June 28. (AP)—F. M. Burchfield, 45-year-old Arkansas farmer, today awaited preliminary hearing on a charge of murder for the slaying of Morris Whetstone in a quarrel over an automobile collision.

Whetstone, 32, was employed at a filling station in Vivian, La. His automobile and one driven by Burchfield collided near Bloomburg, Texas, Saturday night. The shooting followed.

A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON

WILLIAM E. BORAH

CHICAGO, June 28.—It remained for Bill Borah of Idaho to give the assembling Democratic national convention here its first real thrill.

When the press wires brought the word humming in that under the spell of that melodious voice and courteous manner of Senator "Jim Ham" Lewis, the often heretofore Republican near-lone wolf from Idaho had declared he would not support President Hoover, Democrats loitering along the Chicago hotel lobby front quit gossiping to gasp.

None of them hoped Mr. Borah would support a Democrat. He doesn't like Democrats as such, although he plays with them sometimes in the senate. Yet to have him declare himself publicly off Hoover was something gained, the lobby strategists figured. That's the farthest to the party left he has ever gone.

Ghost for Democrats

Whether the Borah-Hoover break was about prohibition or the result of an accumulation of disagreements was a secondary consideration, it appeared.

What specifically eventuated out of it in the way of third-party movements in the Republican ranks also was generally set down as a potential Democratic asset in the coming election.

Individualistic Borah

However, all this may be from the viewpoint of the Democrats, and whatever may prove to be the significance of Senator Borah's statement with relation to the campaign just opening, that one sentence wrote a whole new chapter into the strange and unfinished story of Borah in politics.

Borah has been a big man in the national politics of his generation. Perhaps no senator in his day has had so unique a role to play of individualism within his party.

Yet none who have watched Borah's career can doubt that it has all led for him up to now to disappointment. That long cherished dream of the presidency, unless now a political miracle evolves, must go unfulfilled.

'Farm-To-Market' Work Discontinued

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 28. (UP)—The state highway commission's farm-to-market road activities have been suspended and the commission has dispensed with the services of W. E. McGowan, contact man for the farm-to-market division, Chairman Sam R. Hawks said today.

Hawks denied reports that McGowan, former Pittsburgh county commissioner and a candidate for corporation commissioner two years ago, had been discharged.

"McGowan has finished his work and we didn't need him any more," Hawks said.

The chairman said a map showing a proposed 5,000-mile system of farm-to-market roads, touching every county, has been drafted.

Voters next Tuesday will decide on the fate of the governor's "fire-bell" measure providing for unemployment relief through a farm-to-market system, Hawks pointed out.

If the bill is defeated, he said, the plan will be presented to the next legislature. Meantime, the highway department will complete 100 miles of such secondary roads now under construction.

Court Asked to Affirm Quinn's Death Sentence

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 28. (UP)—Asking that the death verdict for Earl Quinn in the slaying of Zexia and Jessie Griffith, Blackwell school teachers, be affirmed, Assistant Attorney General Frank M. Dudley today prepared to file the state's brief in the case with the criminal court of appeals.

Attorneys anticipated an early decision in the case since oral arguments have been completed and briefs for the prosecution and defense are in the court's hands. Quinn's execution date has been delayed pending final determination of the Kay county district court death ruling by the appellate court.

HAWKER SAYS DEMOS STINGY

Delegates Refuse to Purchase Novelty Specials

By HENRY M'LEMORE
United Press Staff Correspondent

CONVENTION STADIUM, CHICAGO, June 28.—The Democratic convention may be the greatest gathering in the world to some folks, but ask Sam Hightower and he'll tell you it "ain't in there with them Shriners, Elks, Knights of Pythias and them Woodmen of the World."

Sam Hightower is the novelty and souvenir hawker whose booth stands just outside the main entrance to the auditorium in which the delegates and fractions of delegates from Iowa are right now cracking one another's skulls in an effort to seat and unseat Huey Long.

As a matter of fact, it was while in search of some one who could explain why Iowa should care whether Huey Long got a seat or had to stand up, that we happened into Sam and got to talking about his business. Or rather, his lack of business.

"If things don't pick up tomorrow," said Sam after bumming a cigaret, "I'm going to scram out of this place and go back to my corn salve and pocket knives. They go right good out in this section. But this place—phooey! I been here two days now and I got just what I started off with, except that water color picture of Alfalfa Bill which somebody stole off'n me."

"You know I can't figure these here Democrats out. I thought the Republicans were tight, but these Democrats got 'em beat a mile, when it comes to nursing a nickel. I been in this racket long enough to know a sweet line of goods when I see it. And that's what I got now. But it ain't doing me no good. Look at this little number. I figured it would sell like hot cakes."

Sam held out a celluloid button about the size of a prize winning sunflower. On it were the picture of a mule and an elephant. By pulling a string the left hind leg of the mule could be made to kick out and sock the elephant where the seat of an elephants pants would be if an elephant wore pants.

Glass and Clay Mules

"I thought that one would sell like hell. Do you reckon' people don't understand it? You see, the mule stands for the Democrats and the elephant stands for the Republicans. At least, that's what a guy told me. And look at these."

This time it was a glass mule with a barrel of beer strapped around the neck, and a clay mule with the words "It won't be long now, boys," printed on its side. Sam explained that the "it won't be long now, boys," business meant it wouldn't be long before the Democrats won the "president's race."

We left Sam with the advice that if he wants to clean up, he'll bring his old line of corn salve and knives into the stadium. For that combination is just what the Democrats are looking for, providing the knives are sharp.

Convention Sees Real Demo Donkey

'Baering' Down On The News

BY ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER

MEET HUEY LONG OF LOUISIANA

CHICAGO, June 28.—When we made the Louisiana purchase in 1803 we never thought we would get Huey Long with it.

But he was there in the bundle under three layers of excelsior ready to pop out and spread the alarm through every Middlesex village and farm. Maybe it was Paul Revere.

Anyway, Huey is here to stay like your maiden aunt who arrived with seven trunks to spend the week-end.

Huey has been rubbing this convention against the grain and scoring glorious victories. Like Caesar, he came, he saw and he cuckooed.

He is a man's man. The ladies like him. He likes himself. It's unanimous.

When he gets up to speak there are always three men on base. Today he turned the convention into a spiritual seance with the head ghost rapping on the table for order.

When Huey points with alarm he shadowboxes. He leads with his right and crosses his left.

When he races around the aisles he can spot a Republican 10 yards and catch him on the first hill.

Huey is a dramatist. And he will go far if he doesn't knock himself out with one of his own gestures.

In two days he scored three victories. He met the national committee and whipped them to a white blister. Then he broke the blister.

He appeared before the credentials committee, gave them the aces and kings and finessed a celluloid trey through a forest fire.

Then he arose on his hind legs in open session and sewed up his opponents with the famous Huey Long dropstitch. This stitch defies the efforts of the world's greatest basting puller.

He is a flower that grows in the spotlight.

When he views with pride he gets cross-eyed and his eyebrows grow a foot.

He loves it. If he fell in the water, came up for the last time and somebody threw a spot on him—Huey would take a bow and drown purring like a cat in cream.

Huey is apparently a disciple of the Teddy Roosevelt theory that you must be the corpse at the funeral and the bride at the wedding.

Today he was the biggest man in the Democratic party and he is one bird that Frank Buck wouldn't bring back alive. He won one of the greatest arguments we ever heard. We don't know what it was all about. Neither did Huey.

It seems that the sovereign if somewhat argumentative state of Louisiana sent three delegations to this convention. Two of these delegations were controlled by Huey and he wanted all three.

He got what he wanted, created the high spot of the day. And wasted the afternoon.

There was such excitement that now the delegates have forgotten what they came to Chicago for.

It wouldn't surprise us if Huey grabbed the presidential and vice presidential nominations and also got elected to a room with eight mirrors so he could be the new cabinet.

We are thankful to Huey for raising the convention pitch an octave higher and making the convention resemble an old-fashioned Cub-Giant double-header with Mordecai Brown pitching both games.

There is only one thing we didn't like about his 11 speeches. He referred to books and pamphlets for his facts and figures. Whenever he made a statement he proved it by cold print.

Huey, that's magnificent. But it ain't politics. Back home in Pennsylvania we did it right. When the facts followed the truth we discarded them both.

SENATE VOTES AID VETERANS

Resolve to Provide Funds For Fares Home

WASHINGTON, June 28. (US)—In recognition of the growing gravity of the situation presented by 20,000 penniless, hungry veterans, without a real leader, in Washington, the senate today passed a resolution providing funds to transport members of the bonus expeditionary forces to their homes.

The measure, sponsored by Senator Howell, Republican of Nebraska would allow 75 cents a day per man for subsistence en route, in addition to railroad fare. Only bona fide members of the B. E. F. in Washington on the day the bill becomes law can take advantage of its provisions. It now goes to the house.

This action was taken after Chief of Police Glassford bluntly told leaders of the broke and hungry "army" to get the veterans out of the city with all possible speed. Glassford, now genuinely concerned called the camp commanders to his office to deliver his latest ultimatum.

The leaders, obviously nettled by the plain talk, stubbornly announced through George Kleinholtz, of Portland, Ore., the new national commander of the B. E. F. and the third in four days, that:

"We are here to stay till we get what we are after—the bonus."

WATERS NAMED CHIEF OF BONUS ARMY AGAIN

WASHINGTON, June 28. (UP)—W. W. Waters, of Portland, Ore., was dramatically re-elected national commander of the bonus expeditionary forces here tonight by 10,000 veterans of Camp Marks.

He resigned this post recently because of trouble with his executive committee. Tonight he appeared suddenly at the great camp, and made a short address in which he emphasized the necessity of the veterans standing solidly behind their leaders.

Waters said if he was re-elected to the post at the elections to be held Friday, he would not be hampered with an executive committee. As he finished, some one in the crowd yelled:

"Let's vote now."

The cry spread rapidly and a few moments later Waters had been re-elected by acclamation.

NEW WAY

English Channel Crossed On Surf Board by Two British Women

LONDON, June 28. (INS)—The English channel today has been crossed in a new way.

Lady Katharine Carnegie, 28, sister of the Earl of Northesk and wife of Capt. W. B. Manley, and Miss Lilly Copplestone, 23, of New Zealand, were the first to ever cross the channel on a surf board.

Towed by a speedboat, Miss Copplestone made the crossing to Calias in 63 minutes. Lady Katharine rode the board on the return trip, taking two minutes more than the 23-mile trip.

Itinerants Killed as Cars Derail in Colorado

CASTLEROCK, Colo., June 28. (AP)—Eight men are believed to have been killed and 40 others, all itinerants, were injured today in the derailment of 18 cars of a Santa Fe fruit train, en route to Denver from Pueblo.

Collapse of a flood weakened bridge over an arroyo, three miles south of Castlerock, piled up the 18 cars within four car lengths and created a jumble of twisted metal and splintered wood that will require two days to clear away.

Water and Rodeo Fete Planned for Dalhart

DALHART, Texas, June 28. (AP)—Plans were completed recently for a gala celebration on the shores of Rita Blanca lake here July 4 and 5. Motor boat racing, swimming and diving events, bronc riding and horse and foot races are on the program of sports. The rodeo events will not be as in a regular rodeo but only to add western glamour to the fun.

Water polo and an air circus are tentative at this date. A giant fireworks display will be night of July 5.

SIX HELD FOR WITCH SLAYING

Rangers Make Additional Arrests at Victoria

VICTORIA, Texas, June 28. (UP)—Witch-defying Texas rangers today arrested two additional men in their investigation of the "curse" slaying of Domingo Cisneros, 22, and began a search for the woman fortune teller said to have decreed his doom.

Sam Uresti and Chano Diez were arrested today and like the four men already held were charged with murder in connection with the tenant farmer's shooting. The others charged are Henry Eguia, 16, identified as the actual slayer; his father, Manuel Eguia; an uncle, Alfredo Flores, and the youth's grandfather, Sabino Flores.

Investigators believe men of the Eguia family plotted to kill Cisneros after the fortune teller told the youth that he could not recover from his periodic illnesses so long as his neighbor, young Cisneros, remained alive.

Before dying, Cisneros said he had been shot by young Eguia who appeared at the Cisneros home accompanied by three or four heavily armed men and called the young farmer out into the night.

The youth surrendered following the shooting and was freed under $2,000 bond after being charged with murder. His wealthy great uncle, Mauro Gonsales, land owner, was a security on the bond.

Young Eguia was the only one held in connection with the case until Alberto Cisneros of McAllen, a brother of the slain youth, asked the assistance of rangers in the investigation. Rangers Riggs and Sadler made the arrests in cooperation with Sheriff Robert R. Weisiger.

Both the Cisneros and Eguia families live in and about the little South Texas town of Nursery, 10 miles north of here. It is largely a Mexican community and investigators were handicapped because many persons questioned could speak no English. The fortune teller is supposed to live in another community a few miles farther north.

PARIS, June 28. (AP)—Paris newspapers said today that Samuel Insull, Chicago public utilities magnate, had been living quietly in Paris for a week. Passenger lists of steamships recently arrived did not include his name.

More Voting Places Sought at Laredo

LAREDO, Texas, June 28. (AP)—District Attorney John A. Valls today petitioned District Judge R. D. Wright for a writ of mandamus to force the Webb county Democratic executive committee to establish additional polling places in precinct No. 1 of Laredo, where more than 3,000 voters were registered.

It was estimated that approximately 800 persons were unable to vote in the April election because of a crowded condition at the polling place and an inadequate number of election officials being on duty there.

An application for assistance from the attorney general brought the suggestion that more commodious quarters be obtained and additional election judges and clerks be employed. District Attorney Valls was not satisfied with this advice and proceeded to seek relief through court action.

MURRAY ORDER IS SUSTAINED

Supreme Court Confirms Robison Appointment

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 28. (UP)—Appointment by Gov. W. H. Murray of D. E. Robison as Cherokee county commissioner to fill the unexpired term of John L. Wade, removed from office Aug. 27, 1921, was confirmed today by the state supreme court.

The court's opinion, written by Acting Chief Justice Fletcher Riley, reversed the judgment of the Cherokee county district court which had ordered Robison ousted. Action was brought before District Judge W. A. Woodruff, Republican, by C. T. Chapman, on behalf of himself and other officials of the Cherokee county Republican party organization. Chapman contended Murray's appointment of Robison was illegal on grounds that Robison, a Democrat, was named to the place of a Republican.

The supreme court held that a party organization has no legal capacity to bring such an action and that such action cannot be brought by a private citizen who has and claims no direct personal interest in the office in dispute.

The court did not pass directly on the power of Governor Murray to make such an appointment.

Humble Chief Cites Legislative Needs

NEW YORK, June 28. (AP)—Enactment of legislation which will give a degree of government cooperation to permit physical and economic laws to function without restraint would have a stabilizing effect on the oil industry in the opinion of W. S. Farish, president of Humble Oil and Refining company.

This, he believes, would avoid interference of government in business. If some such steps are not taken in the near future the government, he holds, will be driven by public interest to measures of control of the industry that must prove to be even more radical and drastic. Farish's views were expressed in The Lamp, publication of Standard Oil Company of New Jersey.

Second Auto Victim Succumbs at Uvalde

UVALDE, Texas, June 28. (AP)—The death today of Antonio Castante was the second fatality to result from an automobile accident on the highway near Uvalde last Saturday. His wife died a few hours after the crash. Double funeral services were held at La Pryor today. A son and daughter hurt in the same accident were recovering.

Stamford Girls And Women Attend Home Economic Classes

Special to The Record News.

STAMFORD, June 27.—Stamford High school is again giving the home economics work during the month of June. The adult class and the high school girls class in home project work will close this week. They are being taught by Mrs. H. K. Langford, vocational teacher of the school.

In the adult class a large group of women have met three times a week and studied problems in home making, cooking, hospitality, and home care of the sick. The last session will be held at the Stamford sanitarium Wednesday when Miss Jane Brown, assistant superintendent of nurses, will demonstrate phases of home nursing.

The girls will make a trip to Abilene as one of the closing features of their work. They will visit a factory, an ice cream plant and a lingerie shop. They have conducted satisfactory home projects and have entertained their friends at the home economics cottage.

The Stamford school is one the 15 schools conducting such courses this summer. Others are Bartlett, Bowie, Corsicana, Dilley, Farwell, Groveton, Lamesa, Liberty, Odessa, Olney, Pharr, San Juan, Rosenberg and West Columbia.

Channel Completed For Missouri River

KANSAS CITY, June 28. (AP)—The lower section of the Missouri river between Kansas City and St. Louis has been added officially to the inland waterways transportation system of the Middle West.

Efforts of U. S. army engineers in curbing the turbulent "Big Muddy" were crowned here late yesterday by completion of the initial inspection trip of Patrick J. Hurley, secretary of war.

Hurley told the Kansas City reception committee he had the word of engineers that "We have an all-year-round six-foot channel from St. Louis to Kansas City. The river looks particularly good now, because of high water, but am discounting that when I say a navigable channel has been made."

He predicted the opening of barge transportation on the river would mean an additional 10 cents on each bushel of wheat sold by the Kansas farmer.

Organized Teachers Ask Aid for School System

CHICAGO, June 28. (INS)—Organized school teachers of the nation today voiced a plea for federal aid in the emergency confronting the country's educational system.

The American Federation of Teachers, meeting in their 16th annual convention here, adopted a resolution calling on congress to embody in the Wagner-Garner relief bill a provision authorizing "aid temporarily to the several states to enable them to maintain their former high educational standards."

SISLER QUITS TYLER SPORTS WHEN ASKED TO TAKE PAY CUT

MORRIS WILL DIRECT TEAM

Beaumont Loses Final Game Of First Half

TYLER, Texas, June 28. (AP)—George Sisler resigned today as player-manager of the Tyler Sports of the Texas league after he was asked to take a reduction in salary.

J. Walter Morris, business manager, will direct the team, and Sisler will return to St. Louis, where he has an interest in a printing business.

Morris will be in charge of the Tyler club when it opens the second half of the Texas league season at Longview tomorrow.

Several new players have been signed, including Hart Sullivan of Independence, Kan., a catcher; Stuffy Stewart, formerly with the Birmingham Barons, and Wilber Hubbell, a pitcher from the Pacific Coast league.

CATS 5, BEAUMONT 4

BEAUMONT, June 28. (AP)—The Beaumont Exporters dropped the final game of the first half this afternoon when the Fort Worth Cats had a big sixth inning in which they scored all their runs for a 5-4 victory.

Pitching honors were about even between Paul Gribble and Buck Marrow, each suffering a streak of wildness though keeping the base hits fairly well in check. Marrow walked two and hit another in his bad inning and Gribble walked a pair and hit another in the fifth, when Beamont scored three runs. John Pasek hit his first homer of the season in the sixth. BUCS 3, LONGVIEW 2

GALVESTON, June 28. (AP)—Harlond Clift's home run, coming after two were down in the ninth inning and with one man on board, robbed Art Seydler of a shutout and tied the score, but it availed the Longview Cannibals little as Galveston came back in the last half of the ninth to score another run and take the final game of the series 3-2 tonight. The final run also came after two were down, when Ballew sent a deep drive to center that would ordinarily have gone for at least a triple, to score Molesworth, who had beat out an infield hit and advanced to third on a sacrifice and a ground ball.

The final victory gave the Bucs a record of having won 8 of 12 games played at home during the current stand and placed them at the head of the second division for the first half. Score:

Sharkey-Schmeling Fight Movie May Be Shown Here

The complete film record of the Sharkey-Schmeling fight is now being shown throughout the country, and will be shown at a Dallas theater beginning today. The movie shows the fight in detail throughout the 15 rounds, and at times slow motion photography of certain events in the fight is employed. It is a sound picture. C. H. Stewart, manager of the Majestic theater here, said his office was making an effort to bring the picture to Wichita Falls.

Floral Heights Team Wins Opening Game

The Floral Heights Methodist team defeated the First Methodists yesterday on Culbertson field, 9 to 8, in the first game of the recently organized Church Indoor Baseball league. The schedule calls for three games between league members weekly.

Leads Pack In Four Base Drives

"Buzz" Arlett's big bat is making out a powerful case for the return of the Baltimore Oriole slugger to the majors. He's leading the baseball world in homer production. Arlett performed for the Phillies a season, but was sent to the International league because his fielding wasn't up to par.

IKES RE-ELECT BEN G. ONEAL

Lee Retained as Secretary In Annual Vote

Ben G. Oneal, perennial president of the local chapter of the Isaak Walton league, will serve in that capacity for another year, it was voted at the chapter's annual election of officers last night.

Bill Lee, faithful secretary of the organization who has teamed with Oneal in the handling of the chapter's affairs the last several years, also was re-elected, as was the entire board of directors, composed of Bill Daniel, J. W. Pond, C. M. McFarland, Jim King and Mr. Oneal. Mr. King was installed as vice president.

The election of officers was the principal business transacted at the meeting, which was held in the courthouse. Several matters of interest to sportsmen were discussed, however. Among them was the subject of ridding the irrigation lakes of carp. In the informal discussion it was proposed to obtain cooperation from the state game and fish commission in the work, and this step probably will be taken, Mr. Oneal said.

Two committees named to report on cost of improving present or building additional rearing ponds at Lake Wichita and Lake Kemp asked for more time in which to assemble their data. One committee is headed by J. W. Pond, the other by Jim King and J. T. Cotton.

Gus Moreland To Return Auto Won In Golf Tourney

DALLAS, June 28. (UP)—The new $3,000 roadster that Gus Moreland brought home for winning the 32nd annual trans-Mississippi golf tournament will be returned to the Oklahoma City Golf and Country club, he said here tonight.

Moreland said he received a letter from United States Golf association as to keeping the automobile. He refused to divulge the nature of the reply. He will personally return the machine within "the next several days."

Moreland drove the automobile here after the tournament, but has not used it since.

Ozarka Nine Wallops Dixon Sign Nine, 10-4

Joe Deal's Ozarka Water company baseball company nine of the Commercial league took a one sided 10 to 4 decision over Dixon Sign company Tuesday afternoon on Harrison field. The game was a loosely played contest on the part of the Dixon nine which fielded indifferently behind "Smokey" Powell. Cantwell hurled hitless ball through the first four innings when he weakened behind his long lead. A long double by Mann and a crashing triple by Bill Miller were the start of the hitting attack off Cantrell. The Watermen enjoyed two big innings, scoring eight of their runs in these two innings with mostly errors suppling the scoring. Score:

VINES GOES TO SEMI-FINALS

U. S. Champ Only American to Survive Test

WIMBLEDON, England, June 28. (UP)—H. Ellsworth Vines, youthful Californian who holds the American tennis title, advanced to the semifinals of the British singles championship today, the sole American to survive a day of spectacular upsets in the men's tourney.

Three of those favored to reach the semifinals, two of them Americans, were toppled from their lofty perch. Superb stroking by H. W. "Bunny" Austin of England eliminated Frank X. Shields, 6-1, 9-7, 5-7, 6-1 in the greatest reversal of the afternoon.

Jiro Satoh of Japan, springing a complete surprise, humbled Sidney B. Wood of New York, defending titlist, in four heated sets, 7-5, 7-5, 2-6, 6-4, while Jack Crawford of Australia eliminated Fred J. Perry of England, 7-5, 8-6, 2-6, 8-6 in an exciting match.

Vines accounted for Enrique Maier, Spanish champion, in the only regulation-length encounter in the men's quarter-finals, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2.

Vines and Mrs. Helen Wills Moody easily defeated J. H. Knottenbelt and Miss M. Couquerque, 6-2, 6-4, in their fourth round match in the mixed doubles.

Gregory Mangin and Sarah Palfrey, Americans, were not strong enough and E. D. Andrews, New Zealand, and Kathleen Stammers, England, defeated them 6-4, 6-4.

Ian G. Collins, England, and Mrs. L. A. Harper, U. S., eliminated Sherwell and Montgomery, a British pair, 7-5, 6-3. Jacques Brugnon and Mme. Simone Mathieu, France, later defeated the Collins-Harper team, 6-3, 6-2.

Jack and Mrs. Crawford accounted for Wilmer Allison and Helen Jacobs, United States, 6-0, 6-4.

Elizabeth Ryan and Miss Jacobs were forced to the extra set to defeat Miss N. Trentham and Mrs. R. N. Turnbull in very patchy tennis, eliminating the English pair 6-1, 4-6, 6-1.

MARSHFIELD, Ore. (UP)—When a chicken hawk, at Port Oxford, attacked a brood of chickens, the mother hen pounced on the hawk to do battle. The hen was joined by a drake, who also fought against the common enemy. When Pearl Purdin, owner of the fowls, arrived, the hawk was on its back "taking the count."

Poll Shows Fans Prefer Baseball To Watch, Play And Read About

By STUART CAMERON
United Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK, June 28.—Baseball is the great American sport. Boxing is the runner-up. Newspaper readers today are more interested in sports pages than they were four years ago.

These are a few of the conclusions reached today through a questionnaire conducted by Paul Gallico, sports editor of the New York News, in his daily column.

The questionnaire was printed last week. The United Press asked Gallico for an advance copy of the column containing the answers. It will appear in the News of tomorrow.

A total of 1,300 readers answered at least some of the questions. The general trend was towards baseball. A majority likes the game best to watch, to play and to read about. Boxing ranks second in all these things, a surprisingly large number preferring it as an active sport. Football, of course, was third, but it is rated as much more interesting as a sport to see and play than to read about. Golf was a general fourth. Track, despite the imminence of the Olympics, ranks way down the list—more would rather go fishing than run or jump. Some scattering votes went to nude cults, Broadway gals and sessions of congress.

Neutrality in sports writing is a 2 to 1 choice over partisanship. A large majority seeks information rather than entertainment from the sports pages. Most of the voters would have been more interested in the Sharkey-Schmeling fight if the defending champion had been an American. Interest in boxing has decreased during the past three years. Most readers prefer "straight" stories over personality pieces.

Here are some of the questions and some of the answers:

Q.—Are you as interested in fights as you were, say, three years ago? A.—Yes, 305; no, 772.

Q.—Are you interested in stories sent out of boxing training camps? A.—Yes, 506; no, 502.

Q.—Are you as interested in the sports pages as you were three or four years ago? A.—Yes, 789; no, 304.

Spanish Fort Ace Whiffs 21 to Blank Foes, 4-0

Special to The Record News.

SPANISH FORT, Texas, June 28.—"Calf" Evans, ace of the Spanish Fort staff and holder of the Montage County Red River Valley league strikeout record, added to his total in impressive fashion when he fanned 21 Montague batters and allowed only five hits to blank his league rivals, 4 to 0. Evans received excellent support from his mates. Bill Minor, Montague hurler, was slammed for 15 hits.

Oklaunion Wins Over Frederick Nine, 3 to 2

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., June 28.—The Frederick Booster baseball team was defeated here Sunday afternoon in the Red River Valley league by the Oklaunion nine, 3 to 2, in a 10-inning contest. This ended the first half of the season, with Electra in first place and Frederick second. The second half starts next Sunday when Frederick and Tipton play on the local diamond.

Mr. Treadwell was Hot . . .

but His Motor Wasn't!

CONTINENTAL OIL COMPANY.
Gentlemen:

"During my recent vacation I had occasion to give Germ Processed Oil a real test, driving some 1,600 miles, temperature from 105 degrees to 111 degrees. The car never previously stayed as cool, and drove nicer, and I attribute it to no other cause than the use of Germ Processed Oil. Yours truly,

"T. P. TREADWELL."*

Although Mr. Treadwell is Chief of the Fire Department at Fort Collins, Colorado, he must have been pretty hot in weather like that!

But in spite of 105 to 111-degree weather, his motor didn't heat up! Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil withstands heat better because Conoco's exclusive, patented Germ Process gives it extra "oiliness" other oils don't have. That extra oiliness reduces motor operating temperatures. It guards against thinning out caused by heat and crankcase dilution. It gives Germ Processed Oil more stability.

And, no matter how hot the weather, the Hidden Quart stays up in your motor and never drains away. It's always on duty when you start, cutting down costly wear during the starting period, when almost half of all motor wear occurs.

For Summer, for Winter, any time—Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil is a better oil for your car. Change now at any Conoco Red Triangle station.

* This unpaid testimonial is on file at Conoco headquarters.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, June 28. (AP)—Near-month liquidation in cotton was absorbed today on comparatively slight declines. The tone was generally steady. July contracts closed at 5.22, final tone net 1 point higher to 3 lower, with July showing the advance.

Substantial July liquidation and switching from July to later delivery was followed by a slight increase in selling. December worked off from 5.62 to 5.54 around midday. When the general list showed net losses of 6 to 7 points, Trade buying continued, however, and the market stiffened again in the later trading when July liquidation subsided. Covering then became more active. December closed at 5.60 or 6 points up from the lowest and within a point of yesterday's final quotations.

Early estimates said notices representing 40,900 bales had been issued against July contracts. It was rumored after the close that notices representing between 15,000 to 20,000 bales had been stopped for export, probably to Germany. The remainder were said to have gone into the hands of other spot houses, or trade interests.

The New York cotton exchange service estimates world's consumption for May at 1,017,000 against 964,000 last year, or at the rate of about 12,488,000 bales for the season. Liverpool cables reported local buying and trade calling in that market. Exports today 8,962 making 8,356,040 so far this season. Port receipts 7,662. U. S. port stocks 3,606,081.

Futures closed steady, 1 to 3 lower. Spot quiet; middling, 5.35.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, June 28. (AP)—Cotton was extremely quiet during most of the day's session and after early declines closed net unchanged to 2 points up.

October closed at 5.43 and December at 5.58 or net unchanged for the day on both these active months.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow 1 to 2 penny points up.

Port receipts 7,662, for week 19,130, for season 9,842,848, last season 8,921,750. Exports 8,962, for week 14,399, for season 8,171,492, last season 6,404,532. Port stock 3,610,447, last year 3,058,154. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 73,327, last year 47,047. Spot sales at southern markets 2,737, last year 2,369.

Liverpool Cotton

LIVERPOOL, June 28. (INS)—Moderate demand for spots cotton at the opening today with prices steady. Receipts 2,000 bales, all American.

At midday, middling fair was 5.38d, strictly good middling 4.93d, good middling 4.53d, strictly middling 4.48d, middling 4.43d, strictly low middling 4.33d, low middling 4.23d, strictly good ordinary 4.03d, and good ordinary 3.73d.

Futures steady with July at 4.09d, October 4.10d, December 4.13d, January 4.15d, and March 4.21d.

CHICAGO COTTON

CHICAGO, June 28. (AP)—After a setback around midday, cotton rallied and closed steady. Final prices were 1 to 4 points net higher. Cables about 1 penny point better than due. Opening unchanged to 4 points up. After the early demand was supplied, prices eased around 5 points. Too much rain and heavy boll weevil infestations may bring serious crop damage later on.

Stocks Move Irregularly In Wake Of Good And Bad Dividend News

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, June 28. (US)—Stocks moved irregularly today seeking to interpret a series of conflicting developments, such as the overnight banking news from Chicago and a rush of favorable and unfavorable dividend items.

The unexpected action of the American Can and Allied Chemical directorates in voting to maintain their respective dividend rates came as a decided assistance to the market, but only momentarily and principally in the specific issues benefiting by the action. In addition, the Hershey chocolate directors maintained this company's previous dividend.

To offset these items, General Foods lowered its rate from $3 to $2 annually; the Atchison, true to its management's forecast, took no action on its payment, and the Norfolk & Western lowered its rate to $2 quarterly from $2.50 formerly.

The Chicago bank announcement merely brought into the open a situation which had been known to inner wall street circles for some time, and hinted at here. Responsible brokers noted a continuation of selling from Chicago.

There was considerable disagreement with the declaration that the American Can and Allied Chemical dividend-maintenance "represented "good news." It was pointed out that the price of both stocks had descended to levels where reductions were being discounted.

In conformity with its usual practice, the allied management made no statement with respect to its action, thereby encouraging continued speculation over prospects for maintaining the $6 rate.

American Can's management, without claiming that earnings this year will equal the present dividend rate, nevertheless set at rest reports concerning "immense bank borrowings." The company's bank loans currently were officially announced as $4,000,000, which compares with $3,000,000 this time a year ago.

Despite the low prices, there seems to have occurred of late a relatively large increase in short-selling. One of the former most aggressive bear groups especially has been mentioned frequently in the street gossip as renewing operations. Odd-lot short-selling likewise has expanded, reaching a ratio of almost 33 per cent on Monday.

Bond quotations continued lower, but without display of any excitement.

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, June 28. (AP)—Wheat continued in keen demand Tuesday with other light offerings on the Fort Worth cash grain market fairly well absorbed.

Quotations ranged as follows, basis carloads on track at Fort Worth, freight paid:

Delivered Texas gulf ports, export rate or Texas common points:

Wheat—No. 1 hard, according to protein and billing, 53½@61½c.

Barley—No. 2 nominally 32½@33c.

Sorghums—No. 2 milo or kaffir 73@74c.

Delivered Texas common points or group three:

Corn—No. 2 mixed 41½@42c; No. 2 white 42@42½c; No. 2 yellow 48½@49½c.

Delivered Texas common points:

Oats—No. 2 red 20½@21½c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 28. (AP)—Anxiety over meagerness of arrivals of newly harvested wheat gave a brisk upturn to wheat values in the late dealings today.

Enlarged speculative buying on dips in prices resulted also from belief that good weather southwest was now imperative to prevent heavy further losses from rains, as wheat was reported dead ripe in many sections. Special attention too, was given the fact that so far this season Galveston has received very little grain, although harvesting in Texas has been on for several weeks.

Wheat closed firm at virtually the day's top ⅛@⅜c above yesterday's finish, corn unchanged to ⅛c higher, oats ⅛@⅜c off, and provisions at 7@12 cents advance.

Domestic primary receipts in 1930 during July, August and Steptember were 244,949,000 bushels, and the visible supply during that time increased 98,000,000 bushels. In 1931, primary receipts for the same period were 205,221,0000 bushels and the visible supply increased 44,000,000.

A striking contrast was that today's domestic primary receipts of wheat amounted to but 556,000 bushels against 1,873,000 bushels a year ago. Arrivals of wheat at Southwestern points today were 601 cars, compared with 2,816 cars on the corresponding day last year.

Corn, oats and rye were helped by wheat rallies and by the most active shipping demand for corn in some time. Oats and rye were decidedly weak at intervals, July oats touching the lowest price since 1897 and July rye the lowest since 1884, a result of scattered liquidation.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—July 47⅞@48c, 49½@48⅝c; Sept. 50⅛@50⅜c, 52@52¼c; Dec. 53⅜c, 55c. Corn—July 28¼c, 29¼c; Sept. 31⅜@31¼c, 37⅞@32c; Dec. 32¼c, 32⅜@32⅜c.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, June 28. (US)—Wheat shorts are beginning to show some apprehension over the shortage of offerings in the pit. Hedging pressure has failed to develop to any extent, owing to the relatively light receipts. Declines fail to bring out any liquidation.

Bulls have not overlooked this scarcity of offerings, but there is the usual tendency to refrain from aggressive commitments while liquidation of a nearby contract is under way.

Crop conditions in Europe continue generally favorable. Because of the better conditions in France an Germany, the Uhlmann Grain company looks for requirements of import nations to show a reduction this year of some 50,000,000 bushels.

Canadian marketings already are beginning to decrease and a sharp drop is expected at the end of the month when the export bonus expires.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, June 28. (AP)—(U.S.D.A.)—Around 30,100 cattle were offered in the day's trade at 11 markets with values quoted as strong to 25c higher on fed steers and yearlings in a fairly active outlet. Chicago established a new top for the season at $8.40 on consignments of steers averaging 1,469 pounds and 1,206 pounds, while several loads around the circuit scored with a range of $7.65@8.25. The general bulk of steers and yearlings were included within a spread of $6.25@7.50. Common to medium grass steers sold about steady at $3.75@5.35. Fed heifers and mixed yearlings were fully steady at $5.25@6.50 for the bulk and several loads at $6.75@7.00. Chicago noted a short load of yearling heifers up to $7.10. Arrivals for the week at 11 markets totaled 80,500, as compared with 76,659 last week and 87,898 a year ago.

Continued active demand for hogs boosted prices unevenly 5 to 30 cents above those of yesterday's average, with a practical top of $4.85 in Chicago.

Advice To Investors

By Charles W. Storm—Editor of the "News Service of Wall Street"

H. E. M.—I am a regular reader of your column and would like to know how United Gas Improvement stock is rated.

Answer—On per share basis, United Gas Improvement company earned $1.46 in 1931 against $1.54 in 1930; in first quarter of 1932, 39 cents against 41 cents in first quarter of 1931. Controls utility operating companies in Philadelphia district, Connecticut and Delaware and holds minority interests in other important utilities including Public Service Corporation of New Jersey. Stock is considered a good investment among holding company issues. Annual dividend rate $1.20 per share.

S. B. T.—Please advise me as to how Warner Brothers Pictures Co. is doing now and your opinion of stock.

Answer—There is little promise of near term improvement in earnings of Warner Brothers Pictures. Exceptionally well maintained picture quality now appears to have failed to counteract the progressively unsatisfactory trend of theater attendance. The deficit in the second quarter of current fiscal year was practically double that sustained in the first quarter, despite the normally favorable seasonal influences of the period, and now the normally dullest season of the year is at hand. The financial situation may be complicated by the need of additional borrowing later in the summer. The stock is regarded as an unattractive speculation.

P. F.—What can you tell me about earnings, etc. of Pacific Gas & Electric Co.?

Answer—Pacific Gas & Electric company is one of largest operating companies in country serving important northern California territory. Earnings in 1931 equivalent to $2.72 per share against $2.62 in 1930 based on 6,232,264 and 5,674,213 shares outstanding at the close of each period. Based on average number of shares, $2.79 and $3.07 respectively. In first quarter of 1932 per share earnings were 57 cents against 66 cents in corresponding quarter of 1931. Stock pays $2 a share annually and is regarded as a business man's type of investment.

Mrs. C. P. F., Vernon.—Kindly advise me about Cities Service common stock. I have a number of shares and am distressed about the dividend cut.

Answer—Gross earnings for the month of May, 1932, amounted to $3,077,289 as compared with $3,320,366 in May, 1931. For the 12 months ended May 31, 1932, gross earnings amounted to $36,621,379, as against $51,707,481 in the previous 12 months. It is understood that company omitted dividends because it was necessary to conserve as much cash as possible in order to remain in a sound financial position. The stock can be regarded only as a speculation.

J. K.—Please give me some information on Allis-Chalmers.

Answer — Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company reported a first quarter loss of $336,395 compared with earnings of 38 cents a share in same period of 1931. 1931 earnings of 96 cents per share of common were reported by this prominent producer of mechanical and electrical equipment comparing with $2.86 per share on 1,288,400 shares in 1930. Book value of stock about $43 per share, and working capital over $21 per share at end of 1931. Company has good possibilities of earnings growth over a period following the current depression. Has acquired substantial concerns in recent years. Paying at the rate of 50 cents annually, the stock is rated as a speculative investment.

W. G. M., Wichita Falls—How are Armour & Co., 5½ per cent bonds rated?

Answer—Armour & Co. of Delaware first mortgage guaranteed gold 5½s of 1943 are rated as a speculative investment. These bonds, either by direct mortgage or through pledge of securities, are secured by a first lien on property having an estimated value largely in excess of the total issue. Underlying properties include a large number of packing plants in the United States, Havana, and also include all investments in South America. Bonds also bear the guaranty of Armour & Co. of Illinois, as to both principal and interest by endorsement. Preferred dividends on Armour & Co., of Illinois were passed April 1, 1932. Consolidated earnings of the parent company in normal years have exceeded fixed charges by only a small margin but for 1930 fiscal period were just under such charges and for year ended Oct. 31, 1931, a loss of $9,854,906 was indicated before interest and subsidiary preferred dividends of $11,966,484.

SMITH TO SIGN ETEX ORDER

Protests Against 51-Barrel Allowable Fail

AUSTIN, June 28. (AP)—Efforts of some East Texas oil field operators to have the Texas Railroad commission rescind its proposed order to place a 51 barrel per well daily allowable, without reference to a field maximum, seemed about to fail today.

Lon A. Smith, member of the commission, announced he would sign the formal order "in the morning." C. V. Terrell, chairman of the commission, already had signed it. Ernest O. Thompson, third member of the commission, had indicated he was willing to hear further protests but previously had agreed to the proposed allowable.

The new order would become effective July 1 and continue for 60 days, replacing the current regulation which held the field production to approximately 325,000 barrels daily, each well to contribute an equal share to that amount of oil. Adjustment of the per well allowable was made each 15-day period on a basis of the number of producers in the field. The allowable had been scaled down to 51 barrels daily.

Smith said he intended to sign the order after he had a talk with R. D. Parker, chief oil and gas supervisor of the commission. Parker was not in his office today.

Three In Race For Congress

Guinn Williams Forced To Withdraw

sion until it is now too late for me to campaign the district thoroughly before the election and the further fact that my doctor advises me that in justice to my health I should not enter an active speaking campaign. I hereby announce my withdrawal from the race for reelection as a representative from the 13th congressional district of Texas.

"I wish at this time to thank all my friends who have supported me so loyally in the past and who have assured me of their support in the present race, and say to each and every one of you that I shall never forget your kindness to me and that I stand ready at any and all time to render service when I have the opportunity."

Mr. Williams was elected to congress in May, 1922, at a special election following the death of Lucian Parrish of Henrietta. He was reelected in November of that year and has served continuously since.

Some months ago Mr. Williams announced that his health would not permit him to remain in politics and that he would not seek re-election this year. Later, however, his health showed marked improvement; this fact, coupled with the fact that Democratic control of the house increased his usefulness to his party and to his district, prompted his friends throughout this district to urge him to reconsider, and remain in the race.

The long and arduous session of the present congress, with its many problems, taxed his strength more than had been expected, however, and he returned to his home at Decatur a few days ago to recuperate. His realization that he must give first consideration to his physical condition caused him to decide not to seek re-election.

Mr. Williams, a banker by profession, first entered politics in 1920, when he was elected to the state senate. Before his term had expired the death of Congressman Lucian Parrish of Henrietta, in an automobile accident, created a vacancy in congress from this district and Mr. Williams was elected.

He is chairman of the house committee on territories, and is vice chairman of the house committee on insular affairs. He is also a member of the house elections committee No. 3 and the committee on expenditures in the executive department.

WILLIAMS EXPECTED TO REMAIN NEUTRAL

Special to The Record News.

DECATUR, Texas, June 28.—Representative Guinn Williams of this city is unlikely to actively support any of the three remaining candidates for congressman of the 13th district after his withdrawal from the race, close friends of the representative said late today. Mr. Williams has made no statement favoring either of the three candidates and is very unlikely to do so, it was declared by those in close touch with Mr. Williams' interests.

Mr. Williams is in Gulfport, Miss., well-known southern resort, and his statement resigning from the race was issued from his headquarters here.

Opinion among active leaders in supporting Mr. Williams in past political contests pointed to Dillard Hinson as the most likely to receive former Williams votes in this area.

Store Joins Trade Drive

Roy Daniel, commander of the Wichita Falls post of the American Legion, Tuesday received word from national headquarters that the resources of the Sears, Roebuck organization has been pledged to cooperation in the gigantic "trade revival" campaign which is being developed and promoted throughout the United States by the American Legion.

The communication said that both the national organization of Sears and the company's local retail store units would actively participate in the legion's program and urged that the local post make arrangements to coordinate its efforts with those of the local Sears store in planning for the events scheduled for the campaign.

Ralph S. Fidler, manager of the local Sears store, reported that plans have been perfected in the national office of Sears, Roebuck & Co., for complete cooperation in the legion's effort. "The officials of Sears, Roebuck & Co., are enthusiastically behind the American Legion's campaign," he said.

Summer Savings

"Plans for the program were developed so rapidly that we were faced with a tremendous job of buying in order to be in time for the first event which opened Monday. However, word was flashed through our buying organization and it got busy supplying the retail stores with new merchandise for the event.

"Fortunately the opening date lacked just three days of falling on the opening date of the Sears summer savings event which will be celebrated in all of the company's retail units and considerable advance buying had already been done. Our event will extend beyond the legion's national clearance week from June 30 to July 9.

"Sears, Roebuck & Co., believes that the thought back of the campaign is sound—that a powerful, aggressive, nation-wide effort to stimulate retail buying is bound to stimulate buying from factories and hence is bound to improve the employment situation.

Dollar Worth More

"In order to stimulate retail buying the legion has hit upon the most striking argument of all—that the dollar today has reached its pinnacle in purchasing power—in other words that the consumer can probably get more from his money now than he will be able to get at any time in this generation."

HUNTER FORCES SEEK DEBATE

Challenge Issued Ferguson And Sterling

past several months, has been conducting a campaign by letter among that element of the state's population. She and Mr. Ordonez expect to leave for a personal campaign in South Texas in support of Mr. Hunter.

Challenge Issued

The letter addressed to Mr. Ferguson Tuesday reads as follows:

"The measures offered by the leading candidates for the office of governor as a solution for the problems confronting the people of Texas are so different, and the voters are so vitally interested at this particular time in a correct solution, we think it wise to have a full discussion of the measures proposed by each. To that end, we hereby challenge you to meet T. F. Hunter in a joint discussion at Wichita Falls on July 8. We confidently expect a crowd of 20,000 or 25,000 people on that occasion, and we promise you an equal division of time.

"Answer by wire at our expense.

"If for any reason you can not possibly be in Wichita Falls on that date, Mr. Hunter will meet you on any date you may name at any other place.

"We are taking the liberty of handing a copy of this letter to the press."

The letter to Governor Sterling follows. Both were signed by Mr. Marlow as chairman of the Hunter committee here.

Letter to Sterling

"Dear Sir: The people of this state are now, more than ever before, vitally interested in the measures advocated by the leading candidates for the high office of governor, and since it is apparent that there is a wide difference between the measures proposed by you and those by T. F. Hunter as to the proper solution of the problems now confronting the people, we are of the opinion that a joint discussion between you and Mr. Hunter would be profitable to the voters.

"Mr. Hunter is to speak in Wichita Falls on July 8 in support of his candidacy, and we here now challenge you to meet him in joint discussion on that occasion, and promise you an equal division of time. We are confidently expecting 20,000 to 25,000 people on that occasion.

"If for any reason you cannot possibly be in Wichita Falls on that date, he will meet you at any other place in the state, at a date to be named by you. Answer by wire at our expense.

"We are taking the liberty of handing a copy of this to the press."

MEXICAN VOTERS PLEDGED TO HUNTER

A pledge of the support of Mexican voters in South Texas for the candidacy of Tom F. Hunter for governor is contained in a letter received from Dr. E. V. Rodriguez of San Antonio by Senora Maria Ordonez Seelay and Senior Miguel Ordonez, both of whom are Wichita Falls' residents.

The letter of Dr. Rodriguez, dated June 25, follows:

"My Kind Friends:

"I have just received your fine letter stating that a cultured and conscientious man is promoted as governor; a man who will carry on his duties well, and one whom we can depend on.

"It is right, and it is the very thing that we need in order to win, not only in the routine of life, but in the highest public position, such as a governor. I congratulate you for your good choice and I believe that he will win in his campaign.

"If you have an interview with Mr. Hunter, please congratulate him for me and tell him that I will help him in his campaign in this part of the country.

"I should like very much to have a large number of your pamphlets to distribute among my friends and also in the local churches in this city. I wish to cultivate Mr. Hunter's friendship. I am sure I can give him some assistance during his campaign.

"I write for the press in Mexico and also for three daily newspapers in our republic and before the triumph I will be glad to dedicate a nice article to our friend Mr. Hunter."

"Bring 'Em Back Alive"

By FRANK BUCK with EDWARD ANTHONY

For 16 exciting years, Frank Buck has been gathering live animals, reptiles and birds for American zoos, circuses, and dealers. He hunts them barehanded in jungle and mountain-fastness, in wildest Africa, in darkest Thibet—but he always brings 'em back alive.

He now tells about a 16,000-mile journey into the interior of Nepal to capture, at the order of Dr. William T. Hornaday of the New York Zoological park, a great armor-plated, single-horned Indian rhinoceros as the unicorn of fable. He obtains help from General Shum Share, a nephew of the Maharajah of Nepal. Buck's plans are frustrated by the Ganges river which is on a rampage. He starts back for Singapore. Later he returns to collect the rare rhinos the Maharajah has captured for him. The most difficult part is transporting them to the rail head in India. After an exciting journey, he arrives in Calcutta with his rhinos.

Of the thousands of monkeys and apes Buck has brought to America from Asia, the most interesting was a female orangutan picked up in Borneo which he named Gladys. In the last chapter, Buck related the experience of a white adventurer named Holter, who gave up the tea business to go on a tiger trapping expedition. Meeting Holter a year later, Buck hears the story of how Holter lost his leg when caught in his own steel trap.

Returning to America with one of the biggest of many floating zoos Buck brought back, he has trouble with a huge orangutan and is aided by a powerful sailor, "Chips," to subdue the animal. In the last chapter, Buck's friend, the sultan of Johore, challenges Buck to capture a man-eating tiger, native to the sultan's domain. Buck leaps at the opportunity to try for a man-eater and joins the Sultan at his fort. The tiger, after killing a native, is trapped in a pit dug by Buck. He sets out to capture the animal alive. Buck arrives at the pit which is surrounded by fear-ridden natives.

Buck, at the instance of a Los Angeles animal dealer, sets out to capture the smallest baby elephant in the jungle. Buck now sets out to obtain the rare species of proboscis monkey.

CHAPTER XXIX

Ali and I were in Pontianak, Dutch Borneo, where I found myself bargaining with a Malay trader for some specimens he had on display in front of the nipa shack where he made his headquarters.

I had heard from a member of the crew of one of the boats that ply between Singapore and the Borneo coast that this trader had recently come down from the jungle with a pair of orangs and a number of other interesting catches. Tips of this kind having resulted profitably in the past, I decided to investigate. It is a short trip from Singapore, where I was at the time, to Pontianak. The boat remains only one day—long enough to pick up a cargo of rattan which eventually finds its way to Grand Rapids, Mich.—then goes directly back to Singapore.

So here I was in Pontianak, looking around for bargains—and more particularly for something unusual. Your dyed-in-the-wool collector is ever on the lookout for something that has never before been seen in the country where he disposes of his specimens. There is no bigger thrill in the game than bringing back rare "firsts" and on every trip I've ever made since I got started in my chosen field I've always kept my eye peeled for novelties. Nothing delights me more than to place under the nose of an eminent zoologist a bird or a beast or a snake he has never seen before—something that up to then had only been a name—perhaps a ponderous Latin one—in the natural history books or the zoological dictionary. A phlegmatic scientist suddenly come alive is always a treat to me. There is one—a chap who normally seems as devoid of emotion as a flounder—who, when I show him a rare zoological specimen, becomes so animated I begin to fear that the quick transition from his usual state of bloodless calm may prove too much for him. He jumps up and down, waves his arms, shouts and acts for all the world like an astronomer who has discovered a new planet. These bursts of scientific joy are one of the real compensations of my work.

The Malay trader had a fairly interesting collection but nothing that I had not brought back many times. Still, I had orders for most of the species he showed me, and as his specimens were in good condition I started bargaining with him for the lot. The exhibits on display constituted his entire collection, he told me, and he preferred to sell the whole business for a flat price. As I was about to close the deal, Ali, who had been snooping around, came over and whispered something in my ear.

The information Ali gave me was decidedly important. Instantly I turned and went up into the house, the trader chasing after me protestingly. There, in the place where Ali told me to look, I found as unusual a sight as I'd witnessed in years of collecting—a pair of proboscis monkeys! These are the rarest of simians and had never been seen in the United States. It was the first time I had ever beheld the species.

The male was about three feet high, its nose sticking out from its face about two and a half inches. The female was somewhat smaller in size, but she too had a very prominent proboscis. The animals were tannish brown in color.

Ali had done an excellent piece of detective work, a very necessary part of the business of dealing with native traders. Very often they hold out their best specimens. When I buy out a man's stock I feel entitled to a look at everything he's got. As these traders can seldom be depended upon to tell the truth, it was part of Ali's job to snoop around and see what else he could find while I bargained for whatever I selected.

With more indignation than I really felt—for the trickiness of natives was something that I had grown accustomed to—I demanded to know why he had been holding out on me. What was the idea of telling me he was showing me everything when he knew full well that the pair of monkeys in the house would interest me more than anything he had shown me?

He was sorry. But the proboscis monkeys were not for sale.

Not for sale? Then he could keep his other stuff . . . Come, Ali . . . Together we started walking away. (Of course we were bluffing. It is all part of the business of dealing with a native trader.)

The trader ran after us, needless to say. Would I please return? He would explain.

Yes, I would return for a moment but he was wasting his time. How could I believe anything that came from the lips of a man who said he was selling me everything and then held back his best goods? Bah! (I did my best to restrain a chuckle as I made this show of disgust with having encountered the appalling trait of deception. No, not until I had come to Pontianak did I realize there were people who were capable of such dastardly conduct.)

Would the tuan please listen. I nodded, shrugging in differently as I did . . . The tuan would soon see that he, the trader, had not been trying to practice deception. He had merely been following the advice of the Dutch resident who had told him that the proboscis monkeys were very valuable. If they could be got to Batavia, there they could be sold to the Amsterdam zoo for a handsome price. Surely the tuan understood. He might never again acquire another monkey like that pair. He would have to have at least 50 guilders ($21.00) apiece for them.

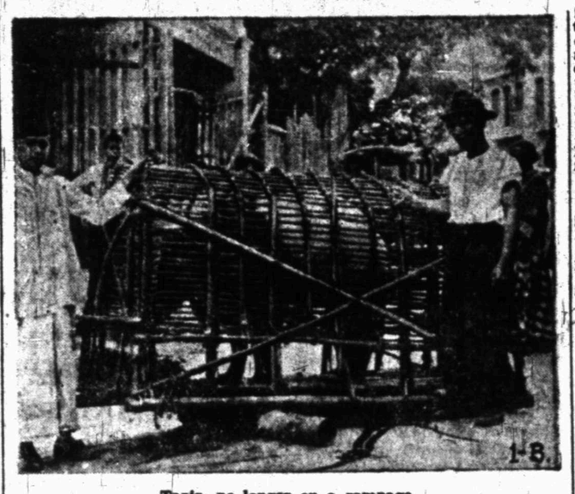

To close the deal in a hurry I offered the Malay a thousand guilders for his whole collection, including the proboscis monkeys. He was overjoyed. This was a fortune to him. He had probably secured that pair of rare simians from the Dyaks for five cents worth of salt or a few ounces of tobacco. I know of one instance where a trader left a group of Dyak savages in a delirium of joy by giving them a dozen yards of cotton cloth and a hatchet for a fine collection of animals and reptiles. When he threw in a little salt and tobacco for good measure they decided they had been dealing with the most generous man in the world.

Often the original price I pay for an animal represents only a very small percentage of what it costs me to deliver it to a zoo or a circus in the United States. I am always willing to pay a decent price for a specimen, confining my slashing of prices to those occasions when I am asked to pay sums that I know to be well above the market.

In this particular case I was willing to boost the price on everything in order to get the proboscis monkeys, the sum of a thousand guilders, as little as seems, giving the trader more money for his other specimens than he originally asked.

Ali and I departed, with the blessings of the Malay ringing in our ears. A few hours later my purchases were at the dock; and when the little inter-island packet heaved anchor at Pontianak, I was having a much-needed sleep on a pile of loose rattan under the shade of a matting awning which had been rigged up for me, while Ali sat upon the poop-deck peacefully chewing his ever-present betel nut surrounded by two orang-utan cages, four baskets containing argus pheasants, a crated leopard cub, two gibbon apes looking out of crude native containers, a box containing a 24-foot python, and the cage housing my rare "firsts."

The trip back to Singapore was a happy one, for I couldn't help revel-

ing in the fact that I had picked up the only proboscis monkeys, with one exception, brought out of Borneo in several years. The single exception I knew of—(I kept in close touch with such matters, having been on the hunt for this species for some time and having failed to find one after consulting practically every trader and trapper along the Borneo coast)—was the proboscis monkey captured for the Prince of Wales on the occasion of his visit to India and the Straits during 1921-1922, when a good-sized zoological collection was presented to him by both the Indian and Straits governments for the zoo at Regents park in London. This specimen, however, died a few days after arriving in Singapore.

When I got back to Singapore, this rare pair of apes was not installed in the compound with the balance of the collection. Ali, who was almost as pleased over securing them as I was, decided he could take better care of them and keep a closer watch on them by taking them out to his own house. So the two quaint little long-nosed simians became members of his household. A roomy cage was built for them on his nipa-thatched veranda and they were made as comfortable as if they were in their jungle home. Ali fixed up the cage with long perches and swings and watched the pair's diet and general welfare as carefully as a mother might look after a delicate child. A couple of weeks after they were installed at the Malay house, a little baby proboscis was born to the female, so when I went up to Calcutta some days later I left quite a family on Ali's front porch.

Ali's main problem, and it was this that I stressed more than anything else before leaving, was to find a steady palatable substitute for the food these strange creatures were accustomed to. In their wild state they live mainly on three or four varieties of thick, waxy jungle leaves obtainable only in Borneo. A sudden change of diet is dangerous in handling animals, especially in the case of monkeys, with the exception of the hardy little rhesus chaps that eat practically anything.

Ali finally fixed on a thick-leaved water-plant, used by the natives in salads. My long-nosed simians soon grew very fond of it. The faithful Malay daily had his army of grandchildren out gathering these plants. Raw carrots also proved popular, and occasionally a meal of bread and boiled rice.

All went well until we transferred my lucky finds to my compound, just before I returned to the United States with my entire collection. At the compound Ali continued his careful supervision of these odd little creatures from Borneo. Our first mishap took place when, without warning, the male decided he had seen enough of this world, and died. Only a few hours before he had been as gay and chipper as could be. It was one of those sudden casualties about which it is possible to theorize at length but which are never fully explained.

The female, of course, was affected by the loss of her mate but her little baby kept her so busy and filled her life so completely that she had no difficulty in retaining a very healthy interest in life. Spry and energetic, she kept fussing over her little child, obviously as proud of it as any human mother could be of her offspring. It was a charming little infant, about the size of a marmoset, and very much like a human baby. Its long nose had not yet formed, which made it impossible for me to tell the mother, regardless of how much I wanted to flatter her, "Your child takes after you." Without the long nose of its species, it looked like anything but the child of the female that was nursing it so tenderly.

JUVENLE STEALS TRUCK

BATTLE CREEK, Mich. (UP)—When Jane Pettibone and Nellie Collins saw a truck moving down the street, apparently without a driver, they followed in their own car to investigate. To their surprise, they found an 8-year-old boy piloting the truck, which had been stolen. The juvenile auto-thief was held overnight by police "for a lesson."

DEATHS

IRENE JOINER

Funeral services for Irene Joiner, 6-year-old daughter of Mrs. H. N. Joiner of Knoll street, were held Tuesday afternoon from the Hines mortuary chapel at 2:30 o'clock with the Rev. A. C. Turner, South Side Baptist church pastor officiating. The child died early Monday morning from burns suffered while playing Sunday night. The mother, two brothers and two sisters survive.

COUNTY BALLOT IS COMPLETED

Demo Committee Certifies List of Candidates

Candidates who qualified for places on the Democratic primary election ballot for July 23 by paying apportioned parts of election costs before midnight last Saturday were announced by H. J. Bruce, secretary of the county executive committee, Tuesday morning.

With few exceptions, all who had filed applications for places on the ticket paid their assessments, Mr. Bruce reported.

L. V. Abernathy, county attorney, was left without opposition for re-election when Russell (Jack) Ballard failed to post the cost-assessments made upon candidates for that office. J. C. Hines also will be unopposed for justice of the peace precinct 3, two other candidates failing to pay their assessments. Precinct 3 shows no candidate for constable, and no candidate is listed for public weigher, precinct 1.

Judges and clerks for the primary election will be announced a few days before July 23, Mr. Bruce said. Ballots can not be printed until the state executive committee certifies the list of candidates for state offices.

The list of paid-up candidates for this county was announced as follows:

Prepare for Paving of Highway 81 in Oklahoma

Special to The Record News.

RYAN, Okla., June 28.—A spur half way between Terral and Ryan is being constructed in readiness for the paving of highway 81 from Terral six miles north. Chief officials of the construction company are here superintending preparations for the paving which will begin about July 1. The contract specifies that 75 per cent of the laborers must be Oklahomans.

HOARDERS FORK OVER

STOCKTON, Calif.—Who said the anti-hoarding drive was just a waste of time and money! When a local woman bought a truck from C. M. Menzies, garage owner, some of the gold pieces and other coins which made up her $250 down payment dated back as far as 1853. And, according to Menzies, more cash payments are being made now than at any time in the past several years.

Wichita Business Leaders To Attend Childress-Pampa Rail Celebration

FROM BURK

Wichita Chamber Thanked for Aid in Silver Jubilee

Appreciation of the part taken by the chamber of commerce organizations of Wichita Falls in putting over the silver jubilee program at Burkburnett last Thursday was expressed in a letter to President Albert E. Kelly of the senior group Tuesday. The letter was written by Secretary Herman Brown of the Burkburnett chamber.

A score of business leaders of Wichita Falls will represent this city at Pampa July 15 for the celebration marking the opening of the new Pampa-Childress Denver railway line. Members of the chamber of commerce trade area development service agreed to charter a Pullman train coach for the trip at a meeting Tuesday afternoon.

The delegation will invite Pampa merchants to open trade connections here in view of the additional rail service which offers a direct connection. The group will leave the night of July 14 and arrive in Pampa for the formal opening of the party and remaining for most of the day.

The Wichitans will leave Pampa early enough for short stops with business men at Shamrock and Wellington and an evening stop at Childress, returning the morning of July 16. The chartered car will probably be operated in a section with similar cars from Dallas and Fort Worth.

Plans for one-day, one-bus trips into the Wichita Falls area were adopted by the service and referred to the executive committee of the manufacturers and jobbers division. The first trip will probably be made over the new state highway 66 route to Mineral Wells, although no date was set.

FILLERS FILES SCHOOL REPORT

Budget for New Term Shows Sharp Reduction

The annual report of Supt. H. D. Fillers to the Wichita Falls board of education has been filed, covering major activities of the school system for the 1931-32 term. The report is issued in eight divisions, covering investment and bonded debt, organization and enrollment, teacher and pupil activity, pupil progress, holding power, instruction cost, supervision and probable budget for 1932-33.

Investment $2,742,981

The capital investment of the system is placed at $2,742,981, based on an auditor's report of Aug. 31, 1931, and subsequent reduction of debt. The bonded debt was $1,858,000 but this has been reduced by $3,000 since Aug. 31, 1931. The debts of $15,000 due on April 1, 1932; and the $39,000 due on July 1, 1932, are in the process of being refunded at present.

A table of instruction costs from June, 1923, to June, 1932, is included for both white and negro schools and for the entire system. The peak of instruction cost was $56.18 in June, 1931, as compared with a low of $45.74 in 1932.

The total cost of instruction per pupil for the year ending June, 1931, over the year ending June, 1932, was $10.44, representing a saving of $79,509.68 in instructional cost for the past year.

The probable budget for the 1932-33 session shows a reduction of 30 per cent under the previous two-year period. The budget for 1930-31 was $695,315.45 and for 1931-32 it was $621,336.65, while the budget for 1932-33 has been tentatively adopted by the board as $491,595.46, a cut of $129,741.19 under the past year's operation expenses.

The current debt has been reduced by $114,868.96 during the past year with the total debt as of Aug. 31, 1931, totaling $188,940.86 while the total on May 26, 1932, was $73,271.90.

Enrollment Totals 9,883

The personnel of the system for 1931-32 included 385 employes, with 284 teachers, 30 janitors, and 42 cafeteria managers and workers, not listing the administrative heads and office employes. The total enrollment in all schools for the year was 9,883 while in 1930-31 it was 10,412, showing a loss of 529 pupils.

The report covers work of the various teacher associations, sick benefit association and study of instruction and leadership problems, in addition to student activities in athletics, publications, clubs, and other pupil group programs.

Six mathematical tables are issued with the report covering the progress of pupils, promotions and failures and similar information. The highest percentage of failure was in the low first grade which was 25.5 per cent, while the lowest percentage was in the high sixth grade which was less than five per cent. Promotions and failures of high school pupils are listed by school departments.

Cooperation of instructors in conferences and visits and in handling the George Washington bicentennial program for the schools was complimented by Mr. Fillers in the report. The service of the school board and especially the work of collecting of current and back taxes and in holding the operating expenses at a low level was endorsed by the superintendent.

JUNE RAINS TOTAL 3.35

Temperature Slumps After Showers Here

Precipitation in the Wichita Falls area was boosted to 3.35 inches for this month Monday night and Tuesday morning by a downpour of .40 of an inch here, according to reports of the Texas Electric Service company weather bureau. Rainfall in June, 1931, totaled one inch for the entire month, while precipitation in the same month in 1932 was 4.08 inches. The highest rainfall for June in recent years was in 1918 when 6.28 inches was recorded.

Continued overcast skies offered Wichitans freedom from summer weather Tuesday while the thermometer climbed to a top of only 88 degrees as compared with 92 degrees for Monday's high. A low of 72 degrees was recorded for the 24 hours ending at 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at which time the temperature was 85 degrees.

Navy Combat Planes Stop at Wichita Port

Four naval combat airplanes stopped at the municipal airport in Wichita Falls Tuesday en route from the navy base at San Diego, Calif., to the base at Hampton Roads, Va. The planes were in charge of naval lieutenants, R. W. Morris, J. A. Haley, S. S. Miller and J. W. Sullivan. A civilian pilot, R. K. Wright of Santa Maria, Calif., stopped at the local port during the visit of the naval planes, en route to St. John's, N. D.

Wichita Man Faces Charge on Labor Law

A charge of violating the female labor law was brought against a local cleaning and pressing shop proprietor Tuesday in a complaint taken by Louis V. Abernathy, county attorney.

The defendant is accused of having required a woman employe to work more than nine hours per calendar day.

Numerous complaints charging swindling by check were taken.

Oil Price Depends On Curb In Texas, Hamilton Declares

Reduction of Texas oil production to 75,000 barrels daily in West and South Texas and to 325,000 barrels in East Texas was offered as a means of securing an advance in the price of crude by W. B. Hamilton in an address at the Shrine Luncheon club at the Wichita club Tuesday. The address was the second on the outlook for oil by Mr. Hamilton at the club meetings.

He declared that Oklahoma production already is restricted and the recent order lowering California production 25,000 barrels to 465,000 barrels daily has sent the price of oil on a 25-cent hike from 75 cents to $1 per barrel.

Sheriff Perry Browning announced that he would furnish watermelons for the Shrine picnic July 7 at Lakeside park and Potentate Sydney A. Gaines named Mr. Hamilton and Emil Hermann as judges of a bathing beauty contest for the occasion. Dr. Walter B. Adams, president, will speak next Tuesday.

Taxi Drivers Fined $205 In Trial of 13 Cases In City Court

Fines totaling $205 were assessed 13 defendants in corporation court Tuesday before Judge Edgar Scurry in the trial of dime taxi operators. Ten cases were tried before Judge Scurry with convictions obtained in each case. Three fines of $25 each and seven of $15 each were assessed.

One case was dismissed, one resulted in a hung jury and the defendant in a third case, tried before a jury, was assessed a $25 fine. Notice of appeal was given in each case.

Three taxi operators face trial by juries in city court Wednesday on the double charge of operating a taxi without a license and with violation of the city's minimum-fare ordinance.

DEATH CLAIMS JACOB SPECHT

Services in Kansas For Clay County Rancher

Funeral services for Jacob Specht, 80, of the Jolly community will be held late this week at Sabetha, Kan., where the body will be forwarded from Wichita Falls Wednesday by the Merkle Undertaking company. Mr. Specht died at a local hospital Tuesday morning. Mr. Specht had resided at his ranch near Jolly for the past 21 years, after coming to this area from Sabetha.

Survivors are the widow; seven sons, Frank of this city, H. L. of Marysville, Kan., A. A. of California, and J. H., Ed and Harry Specht of Sabetha, and William Specht of South Dakota; and two daughters, both of Sabetha.

TWO HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Seymour Men in Serious Condition Here

Little change in the condition of W. B. Murphy, 48, and Joe McDaniel, 39, was reported at the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital Tuesday night by attendants. Both men suffered serious injuries about 11 o'clock Tuesday morning when the automobile in which they were riding overturned six miles west of this city on the Seymour road.

Mr. McDaniel suffered a fractured pelvis and four broken ribs while Mr. Murphy suffered two scalp lacerations. Mr. McDaniel also was reported suffering from shock, and attendants said they were resting as well as possible. The machine swerved into a ditch and overturned without apparent reason, according to Mr. Murphy.

Supreme Court Judge Visits Wichita Falls

Judge William Pierson of the state supreme court was in Wichita Falls Wednesday in the interest of his candidacy for re-election.

Judge Pierson considers himself a West Texan, having spent much of his early life at Haskell, where relatives still reside. His father, in moving to West Texas, narrowed the choice to Wichita Falls and Haskell, finally choosing the latter place.

Judge Pierson is a graduate of the University of Texas and a veteran of the Texas bar.

Tax Office Open Until Midnight Thursday

County Tax Collector Arthur C. Howard announced Tuesday that his office at the courthouse will be open Thursday, June 30, until midnight in order that taxpayers may take up unpaid balances of 1931 taxes without payment of penalty, interest or other delinquency costs.

Persons who paid half of their 1931 assessments prior to last Nov. 1 were privileged to leave the balance unpaid to June 30 without penalty. A large number of such property owners are expected to obtain tax receipts in full for 1931 before midnight Thursday, Mr. Howard said.

An economist says we need the old-fashioned American fight to bring back prosperity. If we take his idea, the Democratic nominee for president will be a cinch.

"Light One for ME"

It's pretty hard to be around a Chesterfield and not want one. That tempting aroma tells you the truth. It says . . . "Here's a milder cigarette. Here's one that tastes better."

Sure . . . there's a good reason. Several, in fact. Chesterfields contain the finest tobaccos grown.

These tobaccos are not only blended, they're cross-blended in Chesterfield's own special way.

They are rolled in the purest paper that money can buy. Grown right. Cured right. Blended right. Made right. Packed right. That's Chesterfield.

In fact, there isn't any way for a cigarette to be purer, milder or better tasting.

No wonder so many millions of smokers say "THEY SATISFY."
