THIS IS A VACATION? — The usual logistics of vacation travel pale before the problems faced by Mrs. Robert Hamilton, of Belleville, Ill., in foreground. Mrs. Hamilton, a widow, herded 16 of her 17 children and one grandchild into two family autos for a drive to Phoenix to visit her father. "It takes a lot of gumption and patience, and I've got both," she said. The 1,600-mile drive took 50 hours.

Israel Claims Three MIG's Shot Down

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli warplanes shot down three Egyptian fighter-bombers in dog fights over the Suez Canal today, the military command announced.

The Egyptian planes were Soviet-made MIG21s, a spokesman said.

They had attemptd to intercept Israeli warplanes which began raiding Egyptian targets on the northern sector of the waterway a few hours earlier, he reported.

The aircraft were felled by cannon and rocket fire, he added.

TOTAL OF 105

This brought to 105 the number of Egyptian planes Israel has claimed shooting down since the 1967 Middle East war.

These were first reported air strikes since Israel last Monday made public its claim that the Russians had set up SAM3 surface-to-air missiles in the canal zone.

The planes were downed at 11:30 a.m. and Israeli bombing missions were still going on 90 minutes later, the spokesman said.

All Israeli planes were safe, he added.

EGYPT'S STORY

In Cairo, an Egyptian spokesman said two Israeli planes were hit when 24 planes from both sides engaged in a dogfight over the canal. The spokesman said on Cairo radio that all Egyptian pltnes returned safely from the fight.

"Fifty-six enemy planes intermittently raided our positions on the western bank of the Suez Canal and were immediately engaged by our antiaircraft fire which forced them to flee," the radio said.

The ensuing dogfight was the first reported in 40 days.

LOW DEFENSE

Egyptian Information Minister Mohammed Hassanein Heikal said the Egyptians have been ising new air defense factics along the canal for two months.

In his weekly semi-official editoritl today in Al Ahram, Heikal said the new tactics had led to the downing of "an electronic American reconnaissance plane carrying 12 Israeli crewmen"—a claim that had not previously been announced for reasons of military secrecy, he added.

Legal Action Taken Against Segregation

BISHOP RELEASED BY RED CHINA — Red China released Roman Catholic Bishop James Edward Walsh, right, Friday after nearly 12 years in Communist captivity. But the Chinese announced that another American prisoner, Hugh Francis Redmond, left, committed suicide three months ago.

Southern Districts Are Named

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration, following what its civil rights chief says was "our game plan all along," has taken spectacular legal action against hardcore Southern school segregation.

Suits naming Mississippi state education officials and 27 school districts in three other Southern states were filed simultaneously by the Justice Department Thursday.

Jerris Leonard, the assistant attorney general for civil rights, said suits will be filed soon to desegregate 76 more districts that still maintain separate educational facilities for blacks and whites.

TRIED TO TALK

The push follows a virtual absence in the past four months of federal court activity while administration officials attempted to talk Southern educators into doing away with dual systems voluntarily.

The switch to sweet talk and President Nixon's emphasis, in his March school desegregation message, on good faith negotiations may have led some Southerners to believe the heat was off. However, with classes due to open in but seven weeks, Leonard proclaimed an end to negotiations.

"This as been our game plan all along," Leonard told reporters.

DIFFICULTIES

He acknowledged that some Southern districts will experience difficulties in meeting a September desegregation deadline, but said administrative problems "will not be an acceptable legal argument" for delay.

Thursday's suits seek to dismantle a total of 46 dual school systems: 19 in Mississippi, 10 in South Carolina, nine in Arkansas and eight in Florida.

Still facing legal action are 48 districts in Texas, seven in Georgia, seven in Tennessee, six in Florida, five in Virginia, two in Mississippi and one in Louisiana. The Justice Department refused to name those districts before suits are filed.

In addition, 14 segregated districts remain in North Carolina, but the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Legal Defense Fund has filed a statewide suit there, the department said.

Tough Fight Still Ahead On War Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — A dozen members of Congress, split nearly down the middle, now hold the key to the fate of the Cooper-Church amendment to restrict U.S. actions in Cambodia.

The House left the controversial measure to the fate of a Senate-House conference committee when it refused Thursday to order conferees to support the amendment to the foreign military sales bill.

The Senate passed the amendment, named for Sens. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., and Frank Church, D-Idaho, two weeks ago after almost two months of debate.

ARMS TWISTED?

House supporters of Cooper-Church reached a high-water mark in votes for antiwar proposals in their chamber, but nevertheless lost in a key 237-153 vote during a session marked by parliamentary confusion and Democratic charges that the White House twisted arms of doubtful members.

Indications point to a tough fight in conference, with all five House members against curbing presidential power in Cambodia, but the Senate representatives overwhelmingly for the amendment.

The Senate members line up 6 to 1 in favor of Cooper-Church and most also have little use for the military sales bill which both the Nixon administration and House conferees want extended.

"HANG TOUGH"

"My impression is that the Senate is going to hang tough," said Rep. Donald M. Fraser, D-Minn., who described the Thursday scene as "a typical ramrod operation of the House."

Pennsylvania Democrat Thomas E. Morgan, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, who will lead the House contingent, suggested to reporters a long conference was on the horizon. "I would say 30 days ought to do it," Morgan added.

In Thursday's vote all five of the House conferees joined in killing a motion by Rep. Donald W. Riegle Jr., R-Mich., which would have instructed them in advance to accept Cooper-Church.

MAJORITY

Conference rules specify a majority of the conferees from both branches must agree on action taken. They can modify, accept or eliminate Cooper-Church and other points of difference in the bill but whatever action is taken then is subject to final approval by both the full House and Senate.

As drafted by the Senate, the Cooper-Church amendment provides no funds can be used for U.S. troops and advisers or for mercenaries from other nations in Cambodia.

Mercury Hits Century Mark

We skipped a day but we're now back in the hundreds in Big Spring.

The mercury edged up one degree from Wednesday's reading and hit 100 Thursday.

Sunday-Thursday readings are 102, 103, 103, 99, 100, respectively. Today's forecast calls for more of the same.

Police Battle Defiant Youths

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — Police battled hundreds of youths in a predominantly black section of the West End Thursday night in the second outbreak of rock-throwing and arson in two days.

Police said there was scattered sniper fire, but no one was injured by bullets. Police arrested an unidentified man carrying a loaded sawed-off shotgun on a charge of possessing a dangerous weapon.

By midnight peace had been restored to the area but extra police were kept on duty.

Police said the disturbance began about 9:30 p.m., when a house was set on fire. Firemen were prevented from reaching the blaze when they were pelted with rocks.

Rocks were thrown at police who entered the area, authorities said, and about 20 officers were injured.

Police used tear gas to disperse the crowds, which, in turn, threw back tear gas canisters and fire bombs.

Police said three buildings were set afire including a Neighborhood Youth Corps center, and there was minor looting.

Aircraft To Help In Narcotics Curb

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Specially equipped U.S. aircraft worth an estimated $10 million will be turned over to Mexico as part of the two countries' efforts to stop the flow of illegal drugs, officials said Thursday.

Deputy U.S. Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindinest is tentatively scheduled to turn over the equipment Monday to his Mexican counterpart, David Franco Rodriguez, Justice Department sources said.

The equipment which includes five helicopters and three Cessna 185 aircraft, will be used by Mexican crews to locate marijuana and other narcotic producing fields, officials said.

Overdose Of Heroin Kills Harlem Boy

NEW YORK (AP) — An overdose of heroin has killed another Harlem youth barely into his teens.

The medical examiner's office announced Thursday that 14-year-old Michael Hawkins, whose body was found on a roof on 112th Street Tuesday night, died of "acute and chronic narcotism."

Hawkins was the 102nd teenager to die in the city so far this year from drug-related causes, according to the medical examiner's figures. A total of 322 adults have died of drug-related causes.

Former Policeman Draws Conviction

SEATTLE (AP) — The former No. 2 man on the 1,000-man city police force has been convicted of perjury in a bribery probe.

M. E. Cook, retired assistant police chief, was convicted Thursday by a Federal jury on charges of lying to a federal grand jury when he said he knew of no police shakedowns or payoffs.

During the trial of Cook, 56, witnesses testified that a shakedown system in operation for 30 years yielded $140,000 or more yearly to officers taking part in it.

Rogers Seeks More British Cooperation

LONDON (AP) — U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers was flying to London from the Far East today to seek pledges of more active support from Britain's new government for American policies in the Middle East and Asia.

Two-day policy talks with Prime Minister Edward Heath, Foreign Secretary Sir Alec Douglas-Home and other high officials will range over the entire field of foreign affairs.

MID-EAST CRISIS

But the dominant topics undoubtedly will be the deepening Arab-Israeli crisis, the implications of the U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam and the Conservative government's plans to work more closely with the white supremacist regimes of South Africa and Rhodesia.

In the Middle East and the Far East, Heath's government has already provided evidence of its resolve to back the Americans more vigorously than Harold Wilson's Labor government did.

In return, the Conservatives hope they will be able to count on U.S. understanding, if not overt support, for the intentions to resume the sale of certain defensive weapons to the apartheid government of South Africa.

AGREES WITH NIXON

In the Middle East, the Conservatives have displayed less inclination to conciliate President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt than Wilson's government did. Their attitude was expressed recently by Julian Amery, an influential minister, who wrote: "The objective of western policy is not only to achieve peace between Israel and her neighbors but to achieve it under conditions which remove the threat of Soviet predominance in the Middle East."

This appears to conform exactly with President Nixon's own thinking as understood here.

BRITISH PRESENCE

On Southeast Asia, Rogers has already received official word of British plans to preserve a military presence in Singapore and Malaysia through the 1970s as part of a five-power Commonwealth force. This was conveyed by Anthony Royle, a Foreign Office minister, at the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization meeting which Rogers attended in Manila.

Douglas-Home intends to advise Rogers of the precise limits of Britain's readiness to participate in the Commonwealth force, which has been designed partly to raise local morale during a period of American retrenchment.

Texas Draft Call Lower For August

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas draft call dropped again today with the State Selective Service asking for induction of 560 men during August. The July quota was 817.

Col. Morris Schwartz, state draft director, said no one would be called during August with a draft lottery number higher than 195. The July cutoff was 190.

Pre-induction physical and mental examinations will be given 1,490 other men in August.

Hit-Run Victim

MISSION, Tex. (AP)—A man died early today after being struck by a hit-and-run driver on U.S. 83 west of Mission in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

He was J. L. Hubbard of West Hollywood, Calif. Officers sought a brown or tan van with a damaged radiator, highway patrolman Duard Wells said.

Bishop Freed From 12-Year Captivity

HONG KONG (AP) — Red China released Roman Catholic Bishop James Edward Walsh today after nearly 12 years in Communist captivity. But the Chinese announced that another American prisoner, Hugh Francis Redmond of Yonkers, N.Y., committed suicide three months ago.

Border sources said the 79-year-old prelate from Cumberland, Md., "walked across the border bridge unaided and appeared in fair condition considering his age and the ordeal he has undergone."

A U.S. Consulate spokesman said Bishop Walsh was being given a medical examination and "we will not know his real condition until after that."

The spokesman said he doubted that the bishop would be made available to talk to reporters or be photographed "for some time."

He reportedly has been in a prison hospital in Shanghai most of the last eight years.

The bishop was arrested in October, 1958. He was convicted in 1960 of espionage and sentenced to 20 years imprisonment.

Hsinhua, Peking's official news agency, said he had been freed before completion of his sentence because of his "old age and ill health" and that he had left for Hong Kong.

Dr. Charles LeMaistre Is New Texas Univ. Chancellor

AUSTIN (AP) — Dr. Charles LeMaistre, 46, a physician who likes to be called "Mickey"—a childhood nickname, was named chancellor of the University of Texas System today effective Jan. 1.

He succeeds Dr. Harry Ransom, who resigned May 29 and was given the title of chancellor emeritus. Between now and Jan. 1 LeMaistre will have the title of "chancellor-elect."

As chancellor, LeMaistre becomes administrative chief of the giant university system, which now has 17 units spread from Galveston to El Paso and from Dallas to San Antonio.

LeMaistre actually has had the main administrative duties of the system since June 1969, when he became deputy chancellor, a newly created position. The idea then was to free the scholarly Ransom from many day-to-day administrative details.

He is a silver-haired, slender, blue-eyed man. LeMaistre first moved into the university system administration in 1966 when he became executive vice-chancellor for health affairs, with general responsibility for the system's medical, dental and nursing schools.

When appointed in 1966, he was professor of internal medicine and associate dean of the university's Southwestern Medical School in Dallas.

He has been on the Department of Health, Education and Welfare's advisory committee on health protection and disease prevention; its Bureau of Health manpower as a consultant; the surgeon general's advisory committee on emergency health preparedness; the New York City task force on tuberculosis; and the surgeon general's advisory committee on smoking and health.

LeMaistre also has been on a special Texas legislative study committee on the legal, ethical and moral questions involved in heart transplants.

He is a native of Lockhart, Ala. After receiving his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Alabama, he earned his medical degree in 1947 from Cornell University Medical College. He interned in the New York Hospital. Before coming to Texas, LeMaistre taught medicine at Cornell in Ithica, N.Y., and at Emory Universith in Atlanta.

LeMaistre is married to the former Joyce Trapp. They have two sons an two daughters.

SULPHUR DRAW BRIDGE ON FM 700
. . . Construction work nearing completion

Road Work On Schedule

Construction work on FM 700 and US 87 South is proceeding pretty close to schedule, Joe Smoot, resident engineer with the Texas Highway Department, said Thursday.

The timetable under which Strain Bros. workmen are working calls for the projects to be completed by the end of August, and Smoot estimates they will be finished during the first of September. However, the contract still has several months to run.

During next week workmen should finish pouring hot mix on FM 700, Smoot said, and the slabs on Sulphur Draw Bridge should be finished by the end of July.

On US 87 South workmen are now rebuilding the east half of the road between Highland South and Coronado Plaza shopping centers. Smoot said in about a week workmen will transfer to the west half of the highway and reroute traffic over the east half.

Ask Disaster Aid For Looted Area

ASBURY PARK, N.J. (AP) Gov. William T. Cahill has asked President Nixon to declare the West Side neighborhood of Asbury Park, torn by looting and burning for four days this week, a major disaster area.

The governor said Thursday after touring the predominantly black area that he asked Nixon for emergency assistance to clean up the area, set up temporary housing, reinstate public facilities and offer unemployment assistance.

The request was made in a telegram sent to the White House Thursday evening.

Damage from the disorders was expected to be more than $4 million—$2 million in property damage and $2 million in damage to personal belongings.

Cahill appealed to black residents to remain calm.

The governor said there were no immediate plans to withdraw State Police from Asbury Park.

The disorders began Sunday and subsided Wednesday.

At least 165 persons were injured during the trouble. At least 130 persons were arrested.

But the city was generally calm Thursday for the second straight day.

Discussions continued throughout the day between leaders of the black community and city officials in an effort to avert further violence.

Racial disturbances flared elsewhere in the nation.

In New Bedford, Mass., police battled hundreds of youths Thursday night in a predominantly black section, the second outbreak of rock-throwing and arson in two days.

Scattered sniper fire also was reported, but no injuries. Police said three buildings were set afire, including a Neighborhood Youth Corps Center. Firemen at the scene were pelted with rocks.

At Great Lakes, Ill., about 40 black sailors stationed at Great Lakes Naval Base threw rocks at a base building early today after the arrest and confinement of four Negro WAVES for what a spokesman said were "provoking gestures and comments and for being insubordinates."

Charleston, W.Va., was placed under curfew briefly today following a second night of attempted arson in the Triangle District, in protest against demolition of homes in a black neighborhood for a projected six-lane superhighway.

A police spokesman said the area calmed down in about half an hour. Some pellet gun fire was reported and some rock throwing, but there were no injuries.

A city official said later that word was received from the office of Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe to stop demolition along the disputed route.

Ceiling Opposed By Farm Bureau

WACO, Tex. (AP)—The president of the Texas Farm Bureau said Thursday the organization opposes the $20,000 limitation on federal payments to farmers.

Sidney Dean of Victoria said through the Farm Bureau office here that the 116,622 - member group was concerned over the U.S. Senate amendment to a farm appropriations bill that would limit the payments.

"We agree with Congressman Bob Poage of Texas, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, that farm programs cannot work effectively when payment limitations are applied," Dean said.

Want A Schedule Of Withdrawals

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bipartisan antiwar conference sponsored by some 100 senators and congressmen says public release of a definite withdrawal timetable offers the best chance for a successful American exit from Vietnam.

A "slow and erratic withdrawal" under President Nixon's Vietnamization plan "could confront America with a choice between a bloody Dunkirk or nuclear doomsday," Sen. Alan Cranston said during the day-long session Thursday.

Cranston, a California Democrat, said an enemy uncertain over whether the United States truly intends to withdraw entirely will be tempted to launch a major attack as U.S. forces decrease under current plans.

"If they do attack, we would be unable to rush reinforcements in fast enough to stop them and we would then have to choose between an amphibious retreat or fighting back on an escalated scale," he added, "even to the point of using nuclear weapons."

Conference Chairman Arthur Larson, a former special aide to the late President Dwight D. Eisenhower, said "the healing of domestic divisions could begin at once, as could the restoration of confidence in American leadership abroad" with public designation of a withdrawal timetable.

W. Averell Harriman, former U.S. ambassador to the Paris peace talks, said he is "in full accord with the conception that there should be a fixed withdrawal." He said negotiations would be aided by such a step because "the North Vietnamese do not believe we have any intention of getting out of South Vietnam."

The conference was not limited to the withdrawal timetable and gave evidence of what has become a standard hard-line separation between Senate doves and the Nixon administration.

Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, said the "main roadblock to negotiation is the dance of death in which we are locked with the Thieu-Ky regime, a military dictatorship whose stock in trade is the harsh repression of the freedoms we Americans prize and the brutal treatment of non-Communist political opponents of their unrepresentative regime."

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Disgruntled Citizen Asks Why City Has No Buses

To The Editor:

Why is it that a town of our size cannot have a bus system? Surely with Cosden, Webb, the carbon black plant and the rest of the businesses in this town, they could supply us with enough taxes to pay for a bus system.

When one doesn't have his own transportation — he has one of two choices — walk or ride a cab. The taxis are too darn expensive and some of the drivers are reckless and rude and stink of smelly cigars! But if you live 18½ blocks from town and you can't find a charitable friend to take you to town and it's 115 degrees you have to take a taxi or faint from heat—big choice!

I can remember when we had a bus system in this town and if it would have expanded its route to grow with the town — plus raise its prices from 35 cents to maybe 50 cents it might still be in business. I personally wouldn't mind paying 50 cents for a fare knowing that I could transfer from one bus to another and go on all sides of the town if I needed to.

With this company that's going to build a factory that will manufacture egg cartons etc., plus also considering Cosden, the bowling alley, the park, etc., this city really needs to think of installing a bus system for people who need jobs, would be willing to work, but cannot afford transportation of their own at the time and are therefore still out of a job. Believe it or not but some people still can't afford cars of their own and I happen to be one of them! And I have to walk 18½ blocks to my job downtown or ride a taxi.

Anyway it's just a downright disgrace that a town our size "can't" or "won't" supply its citizens with a good bus system.

The cooler cool
(by Mr. Friedrich's Incredible Electric Cooling Machine)

The Incredible Electric Cooling Machine cools like other air conditioners . . . only cooler. Why? Because of a nifty little gadget called a "Heat Anticipator Thermostat." Friedrich patented it. So only Friedrich has it. The "Heat Anticipator Thermostat" does just what it says. Anticipates an increase in temperature, and cuts in Friedrich's cool before you notice any temperature increase. It also controls humidity on days when you don't want much cooling, but a lot of humidity removal is needed to be comfortable. Result? Friedrich gives your room (or rooms, as the case may be), a more steady, a more even, and consequently a cooler cool. And this cooler cool is a more quiet, more economical cool than most any other make's cool. Very dry, too. Takes the muggy moisture out. Incidentally, the Incredible Electric Cooling Machine costs more than other air conditioners. That's because it does more. But its cool costs less* . . . and is cooler. Isn't that incredible?

*Comparative operating costs of all brands of room air conditioners are published every year by the Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers. Your Friedrich Dealer has these figures and can show you exactly how much you will save.

YARD OF THE MONTH WINNER — Noel Morgan of 1011 Main stands on the lawn that won him the Garden of the Month award, presented to him by Mrs. Dale Smith who headed the judging panel.

Noel Morgan Yard Gets Top Honors In Contest

The judging in the July edition of the Yard of the Month contest was completed Tuesday as Noel Morgan's yard took top honors and six other yards received recognition.

Morgan's entire yard and garden area at 1011 Main was declared July Yard of the Month by a panel of judges headed by Mrs. Dale Smith.

Dr. Jim Roberts, 2508 Allendale, received an honorable mention award for his five-acre lawn and garden entry.

Mrs. Stanford L. Muse, 2908 Cherokee, and Roy Cornelison, 1009 E. 15th, were given honorable mention certificates for front lawn entries.

Mrs. Smith presented special citations to the owners of three yards not officially entered in the contest. These yards impressed the judges as they drove around town, and the citations were made in keeping with the contest aim of fostering residential beautification.

Norman Krisle, 2704 Ann, John M. Turner, 2714 Ann, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stovall, 1752 Purdue, were given the special citations.

Entries now being accepted for the August Yard of the Month contest are due on or before July 31. Lawn and garden areas as well as a number of "single feature" items may be submitted for judging.

Possible single feature entries include trees, fences, shrubs, flower beds, hedges, planter boxes, retainer walls, parking areas, street planting, reflector or planted pools, walks or access areas, play areas, windbreaks or sound barriers, and distinctive use of garden sculpture.

Contestants may place their ertries with the Chamber of Commerce office, 263-7641.

Mayor Says His 'Racist' Words Were 'Distorted'

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Accused of making "racist" remarks about Mexican-Americans on an NBC Television program, Mayor W.W. McAllister says the network deliberately "distorted" his comments.

The mayor, 81, leveled the charge before a chanting, sign-carrying crowd at Thursday's city council meeting—where a motion to censure him was voted down.

He refused to issue a formal apology, saying he saw no reason to apologize for what "NBC has done."

Demands for an apology or his resignation was prompted by a report on Mexican-Americans aired Monday night on the "Huntley-Brinkley Report."

In an interview on the program, McAllister said of Mexican-Americans:

"Perhaps they're not quite as, let's say, as ambitiously motivated as the Anglos are to get ahead financially, but they manage to get a lot out of life."

The mayor, who appeared only minutes on the program, said the interview with NBC reporter Jack Perkins lasted an hour and covered a wide range of topics.

McAllister charged that Perkins produced a "poor and distorted commentary" by taking excerpts of statements he had made in the interview and playing them behind filmed scenes of the city's predominantly Mexican-American area.

The mayor declared that the film-voice technique was "deliberately calculated to distort my utterances."

Fiery Councilman Pete Torres demanded an apology from McAllister. He also proposed to censure the mayor. The motion failed, 5-2, with two abstentions.

Life Term May Curb Piracy

WASHINGTON (AP)—An airline spokesman says the life sentence imposed Monday on the hijacker of a jet transport may prove the most effective deterrent yet to air piracy.

Franklin Oelschlager, director of enforcement for the Air Transport Association — ATA, said that even before a Georgia court sentenced Lorenzo Ervin for hijacking an Eastern Air Lines Atlanta-Miami flight to Cuba in February, 1969, there was reason for guarded optimism over the reduction in U.S. hijacking incidents.

"There have been less than one-third as many successful hijackings so far this year as there were this time last year," he said.

ATA records list 26 attempts to divert U.S.-registered aircraft in the first six months of 1969. Five of these attempts were foiled. The remaining 21 were hijacked to Cuba.

Three Die By Electrocution

BELLS, Tex. (AP) — The parents and son of a North Texas family were electrocuted Thursday while installing a television antenna on their farm home six miles northwest of this Grayson County community.

Killed in the accident were Rufus Floyd Clark, 57; his wife, Juanita, 43; and son, John W., 19.

They apparently came in contact with a high voltage line above their home, authorities said.

Sex Laws Face High Court Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — The routine arrest of a homosexual in a Dallas restroom last year has wound up in the Supreme Court as a challenge to all state laws making "unnatural sex acts" a crime.

The explosive test case has been brought to the high court by Texas Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin in a defense of the state's sodomy law, found unconstitutional last January by a three-judge federal court in Dallas.

The confessed homosexual, Alvin Leon Buchanan, is cross-appealing with a second homosexual, Travis Lee Strickland, to broaden the district court's decision into an ironclad protection of private homosexual conduct.

Should the justices accept the dispute when the new term opens in the fall, all states could be barred from making any kind of private sexual conduct between consenting adults a crime.

The Supreme Court first pronounced a constitutional right of privacy in 1965 when it struck down Connecticut's birth control law. The court said the state could not forbid married couples from using contraceptive devices.

This ruling formed the basis of the district court decision, particularly since married couples as well as homosexuals could be punished under the Texas law.

Atty. Gen. Martin, in appealing, says states should be allowed to draw a line between "the marital union of intercourse from which offspring are born" and sodomy, which, he said, "often leads to distaste, revulsion and divorce."

On the other side stand Buchanan, Strickland and their lawyer, Henry J. McClusky Jr. of Dallas, who is arguing that all adults, single or married, homosexual or heterosexual, have a constitutional right of privacy that states cannot invade.

Dallas Judge Sarah T. Hughes' decision noted that "an examination of the statute reveals that it operates directly on an intimate relation of husband and wife."

Besides, the judge added: "Absent some demonstrable necessity, matters of (good or bad) taste are to be protected from regulation."

The Supreme Court does not have to rule in the case. There is a possibility, in fact, that the Texas appeal was not filed within the required time.

Should the high court back away, the Texas legislature presumably would be free to write a new sodomy law aimed more directly at homosexuals and clearly protecting married couples from prosecution.

Testimony Opens In Murder Trial

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) —The murder trial of Charles Dennis Easley, 18, accused of killing two young girls in the Sherman-Denison area, began Thursday after lawyers completed jury selection.

Easley, a school dropout, is being tried in connection with the slaying of Laurie Stevens, 11, of Denison.

He also is accused with the killing of Donna Marie Golish, 7, of Sherman.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Morgan of Denison, the mother and stepfather of the Stevens child, opened testimony in the trial. The case was moved to Wichita Falls on a change of venue.

The nude body of Laurie Stevens was found April 4 in Northwest Denison three days after she disappeared on her way home from school. She had been shot six times.

Donna Golish disappeared in Sherman as she walked home from school last September. Officers said she had been run over by a car several times.

Laurie almost reached her home before she was abducted. Her books and purse were found almost at her house. Her body was found tossed over a fence into a clump of bushes near a rural road about four miles from Denison.

Mrs. Morgan testified that she returned home from work and discovered her daughter missing.

She identified her daughter's clothing, purse and a small notebook.

The slain girl's brother, Jerry, 12, testified that he found Laurie's books on the road.

Laurie's classmate, Deborah Akers, 11, said she walked from school with the victim the day she disappeared.

The jury completed Thursday consists of nine men and three women.

HemisFair Plaza Now Free To All

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Free admission to HemisFair Plaza, the 1968 World Fairgrounds, was informally approved by city council Thursday.

Formal adoption is expected next week.

The issue of entrance fees came before the council last week after continued poor attendance. The plaza became city property when the fair closed Oct. 6, 1968.

An advisory committee recommended dropping the charge of 25 cents for adults and a dime for children.

South stumbled into a four spade contract on the skiniest of trump holdings. East opened the bidding with one club and South chose to overcall with one spade, despite the superiority of his diamond holding, in the hope of showing both of his suits most economically. If the enemy contests in hearts, it might actually prove more convenient to bid his suits naturally.

North bid two hearts and now South showed his other suit. North's preference to three spades, holding only a worthless doubleton, was highly questionable — in our opinion he should have tried to slow down the proceedings by bidding three hearts to suggest that the hands do not fit well. North's delayed raise propelled South into bidding a game.

West opened the jack of clubs, the deuce was played from dummy, and declarer was in with the king. He was not very happy with the spade holding put down by his partner; however, he realized that if he intended to establish his diamond suit it might be a good idea to make use of dummy's ruffing value while it was available.

The ace and king of diamonds were cashed as both opponents followed suit. On the third diamond West covered with the queen, North ruffed with the spade four, and East overruffed with the nine.

East switched to the king of hearts; dummy played the ace and led the five of spades. East put up the ace and returned the queen of hearts. Declarer ruffed with the three of spades and then cashed the king, dropping East's queen and leaving only West's jack of spades outstanding.

South conceded a trump trick to West and claimed the remaining tricks, since his diamond suit was established. He lost three tricks on the deal — two spades and the overruff in diamonds.

ABOVE AND BEYOND WAR COSTS

American Dollars Are Lifeblood For Viets

By DANIEL DE LUCE
Associated Press Writer

It's fantastic to see what $30 billion a year buys for the United States in South Vietnam.

You can watch a million of those dollars go bang in just one mission by B52s. They've been flying 2,500 missions a year in South Vietnam.

The average mission consists of six Stratoforts dropping a total of 180 tons of high explosives, from six miles up, on a patch of ground the flight crew knows by map coordinates.

But American dollars are South Vietnam's lifeblood in ways that go beyond the high cost of waging war with 413,900 Americans and more than a million Vietnamese under arms.

Vietnam foreign trade? It runs a deficit of more than $700 million yearly. The United States picks up the tab—all of it.

National employment? There are 150,000 Vietnamese and 20,000 "third-country nationals" on American payrolls. Together with their dependents, about 750,000 civilians. The cost is more than $400 million yearly, right out of the U.S. Treasury.

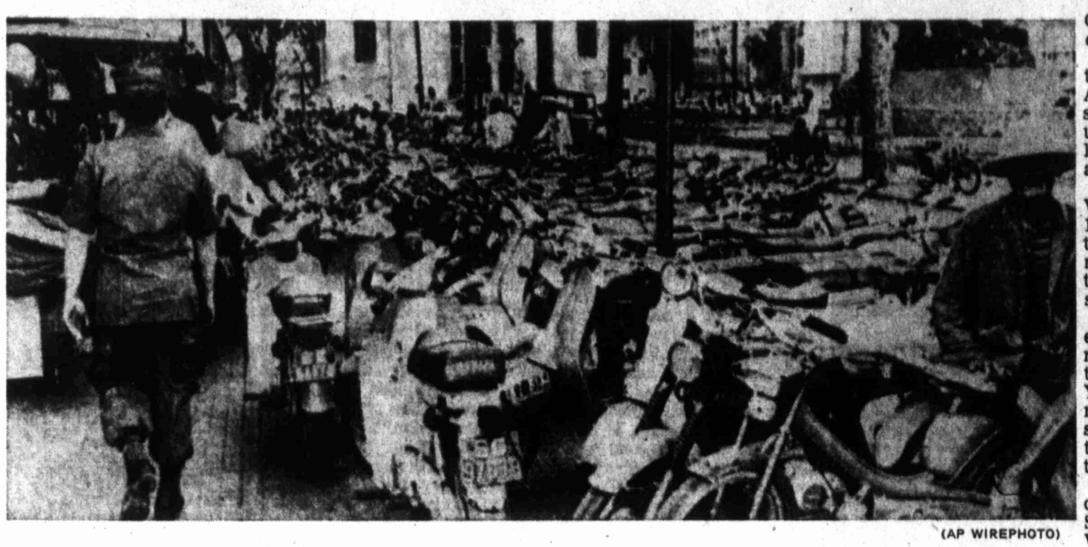

Every give-away program of the Saigon government is financed by the United States. The programs proliferate. Resettlement. Pacification. New Life Development. Open Arms. Handclasp, Land for the Tiller, Work for Peace. All are part of the political war.

Last February in North Vietnam, I saw relatively large amounts of equipment from the Soviet Union and China for repairing the road and rail communications which U.S. bombers had smashed in a four-year offensive.

I also saw an array of imported armaments, at the People's Armed Forces exhibition in Hanoi, which ranged from tanks to surface-to-air missiles.

But as I know now, after touring South Vietnam, the gift construction equipment from the so-called socialist bloc is a tiny fraction of what the United States reconstruction effort amounts to south of the 17th Parallel. All the Sino-Soviet trucks, bulldozers, graders, rollers and cranes in the North, which I counted in a thousand miles of road travel, could get lost in just a corner of a U.S. supply depot in Da Nang.

Supply depots in four corps areas are stockpiled with multimillion-dollar reserves of new military and civilian equipment materials. Seaports are congested with shipping. On the docks, you see mountains of rice from Louisiana and pine lumber from Oregon, with other U.S. products.

AFFLUENCE IN SAIGON — Parked motorbikes — many of Japanese manufacture — crowd the plaza in front of the National Assembly building, background, in Saigon. With the influx of United States dollars, more and more South Vietnamese have gone on a buying spree. Photograph was taken by Alma De Luce, who accompanied her husband AP Correspondent Daniel De Luce on recent trip to both North and South Vietnam.

South Vietnam imported $745 million of commercial items alone in the past year. Its exports amounted to $16 million. The deficit, equivalent to $40 for each of 17.8 million Vietnamese, was entirely covered by the United States.

Backed by U.S. aid, the Saigon government is distributing a special gift of 1 million piasters to every country village for a public works project of its own choice. This program will cost more than $18 million if completed. There are 2,517 villages.

Another program promises cash to millions of Vietnamese for new housing, besides welfare allotments for food and clothing. The sums are small for individual war victims, refugees, and Viet Cong defectors. Cumulatively, they have exceeded $100 million.

A feverish war boom grips all the cities at the back door of American logistics bases. In the shops, foreign perfumes, liquors, textiles, watches and other luxuries beckon. But the slums are growing.

The austerity of life in North Vietnam, which I observed for 18 days last February, bears little resemblance to the colorful, noisy, mechanized existence that South Vietnamese are pursuing.

Hanoi seemed in a quiet reverie. The center of Saigon has more raucous taxis to the block than Times Square at midday. You can see the affluent getting rich. Nearly everybody is scrambling for a piece of the action. Some worry, of course, that the boom will bust.

There is no precise way to compare the cost of the United States' investment in South Vietnam with what the Soviet Union and Red China have spent to help North Vietnam.

An executive in the U.S. defense industry has estimated that the cost ratio is probably about 10? for 1 for arms alone; that is, $50 billion of U.S. armaments thrown into the war versus $500 million from Russian and Chinese stockpiles.

A private forecast circulating in American official circles in South Vietnam says current U.S. expenditures at the rate of $30 billion a year for the war could be trimmed to $5 billion in 1975, if Vietnamization is a success.

The forecaster assumes that South Vietnam's million-man army, plus air force and navy, will have crushed most of the guerrilla activity in five more years, and that millions of acres in free-fire zones will have been restored to farming.

In such a case, it is theorized, $5 billion a year might suffice to keep friendly Vietnamese forces in modern military shape while providing, at the same time, continuance of U.S. strategic bases with 50,000 to 100,000 Americans manning them.

The forecast expects that nationalism in the Philippines and Japan will deny the United States its bases there. This would increase the strategic importance of bases in South Vietnam, such as Cam Ranh Bay, which have been built at heavy cost. The forecast assumes there will be no political settlement that would bring all U.S. troops out in the near future.

Retention of the bases for an indefinite period, it is said, "would be in the best interest of the United States and constitute a reassuring influence on non-Communist governments in Asia."

State Park Designation Asked For C-City Lake

COLORADO CITY — A delegation of Colorado City and Mitchell County leaders appeared before the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission in Austin Thursday, seeking designation of a portion of Lake Colorado City as a state park.

Plans for the project, which embraces an estimated 500 acres, have been going on without fanfare for six months. Spokesman for the group was City Manager J. A. Sadler, who said he was optimistic that the state would react favorably to the proposal.

The land projected for the site is located on the west shore line of Lake Colorado City northwest of the lake's damsite near the junction of State Highway 163, which connects Colorado City with Sterling City, and FM Road 2836.

Most of the acreage is owned by Texas Electric Service Company but also includes the city's J. F. Merritt Lake Park.

Others in the Colorado City delegation to Austin were Mayor Mike Burt and three city councilmen and their wives, Chamber of Commerce President and Mrs. J. C. Britton, Mr. and Mrs. Trevlyn Kelley and County Judge Elmer Martin; County Judge-elect Bill Carter; county commissioner Marcus Vest; Mr. and Mrs. Don Benson; Chamber Manager Sefton Pickens; Mr. and Mrs. Drew Ballard, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Wistrand, Jimmy Harrison and Truman Nix.

The site of the proposed park has been inspected by J. R. Singleton, director of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission, and Mark Goodson, planning director for the State Parks system.

Sadler pointed out to the commission members that the West Texas area from Colorado City to the New Mexico border has no state park facility bordering on water and a Lake Colorado City park, if approved, could be turned over to the state with practically no initial cost.

He added that such a facility would be readily accessible to more than half a million people in 20 counties west of Colorado City.

The park proposal does not include nearby Lake Champion.

Tax Return Estimated At $81,000

This year's tax figure will be between $500,000 and $1,000,000 above last year's total, Mrs. Zirah LeFevre, county tax collector said this morning.

A more definite figure will not be available until the Equalization Boards complete their studies of cases that were brought before them by taxpayers during the three-day equalization sessions this week.

Last year's total was $80,050,357, said Mrs. LeFevre. Although this year's estimated increase has a fluctuation of $500,000 in the estimate, Mrs. LeFevre said that this is not a very large fluctuation for a tax figure.

On the basis of this estimate, this year's tax return will be close to $81,000,000.

Busy Agenda Set For City Fathers

City commissioners are scheduled to act on a $300,000 damage claim and a water pipeline, and oil pipeline at their regular meeting Tuesday at 5:15 p.m.

They will also consider bids for pre-coated paving gravel, a change in the contract with the Five-Watters radio club authorized at the June 9 meeting, a request for the closing of an alley, and a recommendation by the traffic commission for the installation of a yield sign.

An Odessa legal firm, Watts and Patterson, is asking for $300,000 in behalf of its client, Betty Harmon Rose, as reparation for injuries resulting from an auto accident May 24.

She claims the accident resulted from hydraulic oil or fluid which leaked or was spilled from a city sanitation truck onto the street.

Cosden Oil and Chemical Co. is asking for an agreement with the city on a water pipeline for supplying the company with 600 gallons of water per minute.

City Manager Larry Crow is suggesting that a 12-inch pipeline be laid instead of the 8-inch pipe required now, so that future water needs could be handled without laying new pipe.

Bids have been received from three companies offering to provide the city with the 1,100 cubic yards of precoated aggregate to be used in the seal-coat paving program.

The Five-Watters want their contract with the city to be changed to allow them 90 days in which to remove any buildings and clean up the site if the city should ever decide to terminate their lease on the proposed clubhouse site on US 87.

Cook and Talbot Realtors, representing National Building Centers of Big Spring, are asking the commission to consider the closing of an alley running parallel to the 300 block of East Second. National Building Centers will be required to pay the city a fee of $700 if the request is approved.

Joseph E. Saint, commanding officer of the Salvation Army, has asked the commission to reconsider a street improvement assessment levied against the organization for the paving of the east side of the third block of San Antonio.

A letter from Saint stated his belief that the city had agreed to maintain the Salvation Army land involved, and that payment could not be made without seriously hampering the charitable efforts of the organization.

Other business includes action on a yield sign recommended by the traffic commission for installation on Robb Street at 25th and consideration of a request by Phillips Petroleum Company for the right to run an oil pipeline under or over Moss Lake Road.

Fire Completely Destroys Barn

A barn used for storage on the Wilma Cashion property a half-mile north of SH 350 and the Birdwell Lane intersection was completely destroyed by fire Thursday.

Mrs. Willis Walker, Mrs. Cashion's mother, said the barn was valued at approximately $2,000. Mrs. Cashion is in Alaska where her husband, a staff sergeant, is stationed. A tenant reported the blaze to Howard County sheriff's officers and the Jonesboro Fire Department was dispatched.

Road Engineering Project Approved

The Texas Highway Department has given the green light for engineering on a 2.5-mile road from SH 350 (Snyder-Big Spring) south of Snyder eastward to an intersection with SH 208 (Snyder-Colorado City). The project is estimated to cost $350,000 and is conditioned upon Scurry County furnishing the right of way.

A delegation from Odessa petitioned the highway commission a second time for widening and pavement of 42nd and Alamo Streets from Grandview west to SH 302 (the Goldsmith road) and designation of the road as a state highway. D. C. Greer, commission chairman, told the Odessans that the commission would not change designation of a road unless it had the money to upgrade it. Major Jim Reese said that Odessa and Ector County would pay for the curbing.

Water Demand Remains High

Water demands upon the Colorado River Municipal Water District are continuing about the same — high.

Thursday the cities required nearly 60 million gallons of water, and although oil units relying on Lake J. B. Thomas were cut to half on June 1, the total deliveries approached the year's record of approximately 70 million gallons. Part of that, however, comes from the brackish water reserves from the Colorado River diversion works above Colorado City.

During most of the week demands have been slightly less, but the cities have maintained a uniformly high demand around 55 million gallons or more per day.

PHONE BOOKS READY

Smith, Jones Holding Lead In Directory's Top Ten

Everyone knows that Smith and Jones are common names.

But did you ever wonder what other surnames rate in the top ten?

Well, just for the useless information file, a count of names in Big Spring's new phone directory shows Williams running a close third followed by Brown, Johnson, Anderson, Davis, Thomas, Phillips and Walker.

About 20,000 copies of the new directory are hot off the presses and will be distributed beginning Saturday.

The cover features the administration building of Big Spring State Hospital printed in brown ink.

The book opens to reveal local emergency numbers just inside the cover. The call guide on page one has been simplified and has a neater look than last year.

One of the most handy inclusions this year is a two page United States map with boundaries of area code disignations drawn in for easy location.

List of Big Spring subscribers is 70 pages in length two more than last year. Thirteen additional pages are devoted to Ackerly, Lomax, Luther, Coahoma and Sand Springs listings.

Yellow pages total 160 pages, the same length as was last year.

Southwestern Bell manager Harry Sawyer said the listings represent some 20,017 individual phone stations operating through the Big Spring office. He said records indicate a net gain of 394 stations for December through May of this year.

Father Charged Here With Kidnapping Son

A Houston man is being held in county jail in lieu of $1,000 bond on a charge of kidnapping his own son. Albert Samuel Kaseberg, 48, 4500 N. Main, Houston, reportedly abducted his nine-year-old son from the grounds of Goliad Junior High Thursday.

Mrs. Georgia Kaseberg, 1908 Nolan, reported to police shortly after 8 p.m. Thursday that two of her son's playmates said the boy had left with a man in a taxi.

Mrs. Kaseberg filed a complaint against her estranged husband, and a warrant for his arrest was issued by Justice of the Peace Walter Grice. Kaseberg was arrested by Sterling County sheriff's officers at 11 p.m. Thursday and held until local officers could pick him up. Officer Bill Lee returned Kaseberg to Big Spring and Kaseberg was transferred to county jail this morning.

Albert Kaseberg Jr. was returned to his mother by officers Thursday.

Raising Moss Dam Hearing Likely

Prospects are that a hearing will have to be held on the application to increase the height of Moss Creek Lake dam.

The permit with the Texas Water Rights Commission application was filed by the Colorado River Municipal Water District on behalf of the City of Big Spring. The district is seeking to raise the dam in order to increase capacity of Moss Creek Lake as an intermediary reservoir between Lake E. V. Spence and the central and west end of the system.

No additional consumptive use of water is involved in the application, but the board indicated a hearing may be required.

Probes Pitfalls To Research

"Genealogical Research — Pitfalls to Expect," was the topic discussed by Miss Gladys Hardy, president of the Genealogical Society of the Big Spring, during Thursday's meeting in the Pioneer Gas Flame Room.

"The main pitfalls to research are spelling and mis-spelling of family names," said Miss Hardy. "Also, in earlier days, when 'junior,' 'senior' or 'the third' were used, it did not necessarily refer to a father or son. Sometimes, these additions were applied to names of cousins or uncles."

Miss Hardy noted that researchers are sometimes lucky enough to discover old family pictures or newspaper clippings, only to find they are neither named nor dated. She suggested that every effort be made for accuracy, including double-checking names, spellings and dates.

"Always list sources of information," she said, "and don't be discouraged. Keep trying, and you will be rewarded many times in eventually gaining the information you seek."

During the business session, Mrs. Bud Nichols, Howard County librarian, announced that four more books have been ordered for the genealogical section of the library.

The club, which is still in the organizational stage, will apply for incorporation. Mrs. John R. Damron was named reporter.

Club members will meet at 7 a.m. Saturday at the entrance to Scenic Mountain for a tour to view names and other carvings on the mountain. Mrs. Vern Vigar will conduct the tour. The next regular club meeting will be Aug. 6 in the Flame Room.

Church Women Want Closed Center Open

Rumors that the building was condemned and not worth repairing and lot of other things combined brought about the closing of the Westside Community Center," said Mrs. Ben Boadle, president of the Wesley United Methodist Church Women United.

Church Women United, a group made up of all church women of Big Spring, has sponsored the center in the past, according to Mrs. Boadle, and would like to re-open it. Church Women United is holding a meeting Saturday at 10 a.m. at Wesley United Methodist Church to discuss plans for re-opening the facility.

Since the closing, according to Mrs. Boadle, the center has been found to be in good repair and usable. "We want very much to re-open the center and serve the Westside," said Mrs. Boadle.

Saturday's meeting has a two-fold purpose. The Westside center is to be the main topic of discussion, but the election of a new slate of officers is also on the agenda. Mrs. Marvin Dixon currently serves as the group's president and will preside at the meeting.

TREE HOUSE

There is joy in the tree house nestled high in the boughs . . . for the boys climbing up to play in it . . . for the adults remembering the golden afternoons of their own childhood.

Sometimes grownups say wistfully, "I wish I were that age again." But do they really wish it? Being a child is wonderful, but maturing can be a painful process.

Help your children enjoy the precious childhood hours — never forgetting that they must grow up. Remember you have a never-ending source of guidance. The church will help your children preserve the spirit of youth and give them the wisdom, courage and faith that will sustain them through the rest of their lives.

Wants Probe Of 'Caging' Prisoners

WASHINGTON (AP) — A conservative Democrat who was among President Nixon's chief defenders in the latest Senate battle over Southeast Asia called today for an investigation of the reported use of tiger cages to hold political prisoners in South Vietnam.

"Shocking and abhorrent," Sen. Robert C. Byrd said of the reports which surfaced after a congressional committee's trip to Con Son prison.

If the reports are true, the West Virginian said in a speech prepared for the Senate, the United States should withdraw any financial aid which contributes to the conditions.

And, he said, "our government should use every means at its disposal to compel the government in Saigon to treat prisoners humanely."

At the same time, Byrd called for pressure on Hanoi to gain humane treatment of U.S. troops held prisoner by the North Vietnamese. He compared the plight of prisoners in both Vietnams as focal points of compassion from the U.S. public.

Byrd said Americans are shocked by reports of the tiger cages, shackling and beating of prisoners, and poor food served the inmates.

Byrd, a floor leader in the fight to resist limitations on President Nixon's powers in Cambodia, joined a widening group calling for an investigation into the Con Son reports.

The prison conditions came to light when two congressmen, Reps. Augustus F. Hawkins, D-Calif., and William R. Anderson, D-Tenn., visited the prison last week.

In Geneva, the International Commission of Jurists called for an inquiry into the allegations.

The commission's secretary-general, Sean Macbridge, sent a cable to its South Vietnamese section in Saigon urging it to approach the government for an international inquiry.

The commission is a private organization with United Nations consultative status.

DIE IN FIRE — Bjarni Benediktsson, prime minister of Iceland, and his wife, along with their grandson, died in a fire that swept their summer home Thursday night. The wooden cottage was located at Chingveille, 30 miles from Reykajavik.

Iceland Premier, Wife, Grandson Perish In Fire

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Iceland's premier, Bjarni Benediktsson, his wife and a grandson were killed in a fire at the premier's summer home Thursday night.

A priest living nearby discovered the fire in the wooden cottage at Tingvellir, 40 miles from Reykjavik. He raised the alarm, but when firemen reached the house, they found the three bodies.

The cottage was owned by the government and was used by members of the cabinet.

A former law professor and mayor of Reykjavik, Dr. Beneditksson was 62. He became chairman of the Independence party and premier in November, 1963, when Premier Olafur Thors resigned because of his health. Beneditksson had been minister of justice and then foreign minister under Thors.

Boy On 'Bad Trip' Threatens Family

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A teen-ager who police said apparently was on a "bad trip" from LSD and another drug went beserk Thursday night, terrorized a Houston family and stripped nude before his arrest.

Officers said about 200 persons watched as police chased the nude youth, 17, and finally caught him.

The incident began moments earlier when the James Richburg family of Houston drove into the Sunken Gardens tourist attraction at Brackenridge Park.

Mrs. Richburg said the youth, then fully clad, ran cursing toward their car with a knife or razor. Another youth, carrying a pipe, was chasing him, she said.

The youth with the weapon said he was "going to kill me if I didn't get out" of the car, Mrs. Richburg said.

She said he cut her slightly on the hand as she abandoned the vehicle with her husband, their daughter and another girl.

The berserk youth jumped into the car and drove away, careening down a 30-foot embankment and hitting another automobile.

He drove on and struck a signpost, witnesses said.

Officers arrived. Police Sgt. Ignacio Rosas said the youth "got excited as more police arrived and started taking his clothes off."

Jerking away the last of his clothing, the youth ran down the street, Rosas said.

"There were people all over the place, cars were stopping. . . everybody was stopping," he said.

Officers caught the youth, bound his legs with a leather cord and handcuffed him. But when they got him inside a squad car he grabbed a police billy club and swung at an officer. He missed and dived out of the car.

Subdued again, he was taken to a hospital, where he was described as "incoherent."

Patrolman Ed Wright said two witnesses told him the youth had taken LSD and another drug called Bella Donna," and it was supposed to have been bad stuff."

LBJ 'Interested' In Bentsen Race

STONEWALL, Tex. (AP) — Lloyd Bentsen, Democratic candidate for the Senate, got a pat on the back from former President Lyndon Johnson and his wife.

"Lyndon and I are deeply interested in Lloyd's candidacy," Mrs. Johnson told the candidate's wife when Mrs. Bentsen visited the LBJ Ranch near here Wednesday.

Johnson has taken no active part in state politics since leaving Washington but has said informally he plans to support his party's candidates in November, as always.

"Lyndon was always impressed by Lloyd's ability, energy and enthusiasm when they served together in Congress," Mrs. Johnson was quoted as saying.

Teacher Attends Summer Institute

W. R. Hakes, physics and chemistry instructor at Big Spring High School, is in San Antonio this week attending the Summer Institute in Project Physics at Trinity University.

Hakes is among 31 teachers from 13 states and the Republic of China attending the institute which ends Aug. 22.

Directed by the Trinity physics department, the high school teachers are studying basic principles, concepts and ideas of teaching the materials and methods of physics. Content of the institute was developed at Harvard University. Schedule of the institute includes lab work, lectures, films and individual and group discussions of the material.

Six hours of college credit in physics are earned.

Local Teacher To Attend Workshop

A local teacher has been chosen to attend the West Texas Eduacation Center's summer workshop in Midland.

Mrs. Virginia Lile, Big Spring, a third grade teacher in Stanton schools, will study "Reaching the Handicapped Child Through the Regular Classroom."

Teachers are chosen according to their abilities, personalities and interest in the handicapped child through the regular classroom. Mrs. Lile was one of 11 teachers chosen from region eight.

She will be on one of 11 "teams" consisting of a superintendent, principal, teacher and aide. College credit toward postgraduate work is earned.

Students Protest Curbs On Travel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The president of the Texas Intercollegiate Student Association (TIBA) has asked for congressional hearings on Civil Aeronautics Board charter regulations, claiming they have upset Texas students travel plans abroad.

Tom Henderson of Texas A&M University asked in letters to the Senate and House Commerce Committees for hearings to define the term of charter worthiness as applied by the CAB to student charter flights.

The TISA has sponsored a summer European charter flight program for seven years without question as to its charter worthiness, Henderson told congressional members and CAB officials.

About 1,200 Texas students were booked this year for the program, he said, but on June 2 the CAB ruled the Texas student group as ineligible for the low-cost charters.

Henderson said that 183 students at Dallas Love Field awaiting take-off for Europe were affected, and another group at New York's Kennedy International airport was barred from boarding a charter flight. Five other student flights also were planned.

The TISA president termed the CAB action a "restrictive interpretation of an outmoded regulation." Cancellation of the flights worked an extreme hardship on the students involved as 60 per cent of them had investments in Europe which could not be recovered, he said.

TISA was founded in 1949 and has a membership of more than 200,000 students. The organization is recognized by Texas students, educational leaders, and state and national officials as the leading student group of that type in the state, Henderson said.

The CAB, in tightening its old liberal rulings, as to charter groups, plans to set 20,000 members as the maximum for qualification as a charter group.

CAB officials said that larger groups are too difficult to distinguish from the general public.

DEAR ABBY: My husband must entertain his business contacts very often. There is one couple with whom we go to dinner frequently. The wife CHEWS ice like a teenager with bad manners. That is bad enough, but she'll "suck" the ice, and spit it back into her empty glass, and the sound of that ice against her teeth and back into that empty glass simply drives me up a wall. Is there any way I can let this woman know that this irritates me? I don't want to hurt her feelings. EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: Does your husband BUY from her husband? Or does he SELL to him?

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I need your help in handling a very touchy situation. I recently visited my cousin in another state. She proudly showed me a very lovely family album which she said took her "months" to put together.

When I started to look through it, I was flabbergasted to see some pictures of our family I hadn't seen in over 40 years!

I remembered having seen them last in my mother's family album, and I recall that after a large family gathering my mother was heartsick to discover that many of her precious pictures were "missing."

Now I see the "missing" pictures in my cousin's album. My cousin's mother is now deceased and so is my mother. I know that these are the priceless pictures that were taken from my mother's album. They rightfully are mine and I would like to have them. How can I mention this without casting ugly reflections?

NAMELESS NATURALLY

DEAR NAMELESS: You can't. Ask your cousin if you may "borrow" the pictures you want in order to have them reproduced. (Shop around for photographers who specialize in restoring and duplicating old photographs.) Then return the originals to your cousin.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I know this doesn't rate as one of the biggest problems in the world, but if you would bring it to the attention of your readers, a lot of cab drivers would love you for it.

Many people will call a cab, and they'll leave before the cab arrives. This is discourteous and costly to the driver as it could tie him up anywhere from five to 20 minutes looking for the person who ordered a cab, but left before it got there.

I realize there are times when people HAVE to leave before their cab arrives, but it takes only a minute to call back and cancel the cab.

CABBY: MADISON, WIS.

DEAR CABBY: I'll pass the word on. But how about the person who orders a cab, is told it will be there in "10 minutes" — and after waiting 45 minutes he's so irritated he doesn't feel like spending another dime to cancel it?

* * *

What's your problem? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069. For a personal reply enclose stamped, addressed envelope.

TALE OF TROUBLES OF WOUNDED VET

Amputee Has Battled Red Tape

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—A former schoolboy football star, his foot amputated recently because of wounds received in Vietnam, told a tale Thursday of red tape and delays dating back to January of 1969.

At one point, Eddie Moran said, he wrote Rep. O. C. Fisher, D-Tex., outlining his problems over disability benefits and medical treatment. He said he put his point across in his letter this way:

"I can't pay my bills with a bumper sticker that says 'America—love it or leave it.' I served my country, I did what I thought was right."

Moran said he joined the Marines in 1967 after being graduated a year earlier from a San Antonio high school where he was a starting fullback and two-year letterman.

In January of 1968, while carrying a wounded man to safety in Vietnam, Moran was struck in the stomach by a grenade blast and in the leg by gunfire. A doctor said the leg wound left him with no nerve function from the knee down.

He was treated at the Army's Brooke General Hospital here from February of 1968 to January of 1969 and given a medical discharge from the Marines.

Then the red tape began, Moran said. First he had trouble obtaining a decision on his disability benefits, he said.

Then late last year, he said, the ankle of his injured left leg began bothering him and he sought medical treatment.

He was sent to hospitals and clinics here and in Temple over a period of about five months early this year and to Dallas for fitting of a special shoe, he related.

At the Veterans Administration Hospital in Temple, Moran said, he was fitted with an ankle brace. But a sore began developing on his foot, he went on, and he was sent back to the Temple hospital, where "all they did was widen the shoe."

He said he also received conflicting medical advice.

"One doctor told me to stay off my foot and another doctor said I should stay on it," he said. "I didn't know which way to go."

A special shoe he received in Dallas didn't fit, he said, adding, "The only time I wore it was when I tried it on. I couldn't get into it because my foot was so swollen."

There were other problems. He had a clerk's job with the post office here but said he was able to work very little. There were bills to pay but he said he was receiving only $192 monthly in veteran's benefits for his injury. He began writing letters to politicians for help.

Finally, he said, he returned to Brooke General, where his foot was amputated last month.

After pressure from congressmen and legislators in response to his pleas for aid, Moran said, the Veterans Administration has given him a 100 per cent disability. This will raise him from $192 to $472 monthly.

The former football star said he hopes he can return to college and eventually become a coach, 'if I'm able to do it."

Air Fare Hike Invalidated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Court of Appeals has invalidated a Civil Aeronautics Board order of last September which allowed the raising of domestic airline rates by six per cent.

But the CAB says the higher rates will stay in effect for at least the three weeks allowed by the court before the order is effective—possibly longer under appeals.

And the board said there would be no rollback or refunds, no matter what the outcome. There were no provisions for protection of the public when the higher rates went into effect.

The court action Thursday was taken on an appeal filed by Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., and 31 other House members. Moss, a member of the House Commerce Committee, protested that the fare increase was approved without public hearings. The court upheld his contention that the CAB acted illegally and remanded the case to the board for further action.

County Court Trials For 30

July 21-28 has been set as the dates on which approximately 30 Howard County Court cases will come to trial, according to County Judge Lee Porter. Docket call involving defendents in 235 cases was held at 10 .m. Thursday in the County Courtroom.

Not all the defendents and their lawyers have been heard from, according to County Attorney Bill Eyssen. More cases will probably be scheduled at a later date, he added.

Nixon To Fight Subsidy Limit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has decided to fight a Senate-passed limit of $20,000 on government farm payments by going all-out for a $55,000 lid, says Rep. W. R. Poage, D-Tex.

Poage, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, says he was told by Agriculture Secretary Clifford M. Hardin that administration muscle would be applied in support of higher restriction.

"The administration told me yesterday and today that they were going to go all out for $55,000 and I think they will," Poage said Thursday night.

NO LIMIT NOW

His comments followed Wednesday's 53-44 Senate vote for an Agriculture Department appropriations bill rider limiting to $20,000 the amount of government farm payments an individual could collect per year.

There is no limit under present farm programs, which are due to expire this year.

Critics have pointed to huge payments—some more than $1 million each—as evidence that farm programs help big operators at the expense of small farmers.

The House has twice in recent years approved a $20,000 limit only to have it upset in legislative conferences with the Senate. Wednesday's action was a surprise turnabout.

INEVITABLE

Poage, a staunch defender of paying farmers for idling excess acres, has acknowledged for some time that some type of payment limitation is inevitable if new farm legislation is to gain approval in an urban-oriented Congress.

The administration until recently has been only lukewarm on the subject.

The hard commitment of administration support came after the Senate action. Asked specifically if the pledge for "all out" backing came from Hardin, Poage said it did.

The payment controversy has been emotional and often clouded by rhetoric exhibiting ignorance on the part of many critics, Poage said.

$3.5 BILLION

Nevertheless, farmers now are being paid around $3.5 billion for not producing crops. The payments take a number of forms but all are keyed to taking between 50 million and 60 million acres of land from crop production each year.

To some critics the payments to large farmers are senseless and unneeded.

But Poage contends—as do many supporters—that the heart of the farm problem is potential over-production. To keep surpluses from rising, tnd market prices from breaking, he says, the extra land must be idled and someone has to pay for it.

Moreover, Poage maintains, it would be impossible to get enough land out of production unless payments were made to the larger farmers.

Defense Loan Authority Is Curbed

WASHINGTON (AP) Acting in the wake of an aborted administration attempt to aid the ailing Penn Central Railroad, the Senate has voted to sharply limit the Defense Department's authority to guarantee loans.

The Senate passed and sent to the House Thursday night a two-year extension of the Defense Production Act, under which the administration almost rescued the railroad from financial trouble.

After first promising to guarantee $200 million in loans the administration backed out. Shortly thereafter, the railroad sought reorganization under bankruptcy law.

The Senate Thursday slashed the maximum amount the government could guarantee to $20 million. Larger amounts would require congressional consent.

The vote on the limitation was 75-0, then the act passed 69-1.

Also added by the Senate was a provision which, for the first time, would require defense contractors to follow uniform accounting standards.

Supporters said the new requirement could save the taxpayers up to $2 billion a year. Opponents called it a "costly experiment" that might doom many small contractors.

The limitation sponsored by Sens. William Proxmire, D-Wis., and Harry F. Byrd Jr., D-Va., would bar the President from using the act to approve any loan designed to save a failing company unless he first certified that such a failure would impair the national defense effort and gave Congress 10 days notice.

First enacted in 1950, the Defense Production Act authorizes the Defense Department to fix priorities and allocate materials needed by the military, as well as to guarantee loans.

Although loans worth more than $2 billion have been guaranteed to date, only seven worth $14.3 million are outstanding.

Louisiana Nixes 18-Year-Vote

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — The House Thursday killed the issue of an 18-year-old vote for perhaps another two years with a ballot that demonstrated a majority of representatives favored the idea.

The 53-33 vote failed, however, to meet the two-thirds requirement needed for passage of the Senate-approved constitutional amendment, which would have been submitted to the people.

Thursday was the final day of the 1970 legislative session.

A Devotion For Today . . .

How shall we sing the Lord's song in a foreign land? (Psalm 137:4, RSV)

PRAYER: O Lord, who ever gives strength to the weak and courage to the faint-hearted, keep us true to our profession as followers of Christ. Help us to make our lives Christian every day in thought, word and deed. Amen.

Legislative Program Stalled

The word is being circulated "privately" in Washington by the observers who stay close to the scene, that the Nixon program in Congress is in deep trouble, and chances are slim for the enactment of any legislation of major import.

Says one analysis writing on a "confidential" basis:

"The welfare program is probably dead. So are revisions in Medicare and Medicaid programs. So are the $10 billion water pollution program, a proposed increase in minimum wage and the proposed National Institute of Education."

The welfare program has been pushed vigorously by the administration; and many interests have fought for a water pollution program. But apparently the attitude of Congress is that measures such as these can wait until after the November elections.

One remote guess is that the members of Congress are as disturbed over the state of the national economy as are all other citizens; are more concerned with finding some solutions to this problem than they are with governmental reforms, however badly some are needed.

The voter, to be sure, wants something done about rising prices, about the money market, about continuing unemployment. These matters ought to be brought to the top of the legislative priority list. In this area, both the administration and the Congress face their severest challenge.

Need For Prison Reform

There is no shortage of literature, statistics or theories on the subjects of prison reform, rehabilitation of immates and the parole system. It is the difference between words and actions which makes the system so tragically inadequate.

In theory, at least, imprisonment for crime is a mixture of punishment and reform. The theory is that most men and women who commit crimes can, under proper training and supervision, be converted into useful citizens.

In actual priactice, most Americans (though they may not be prepared to admit it) think of imprisonment as a revenge society should take against offenders. The proof of this is the general lack of public interest in meaningful prison and parole reform measures. Certainly there is no evidence that the public is prepared to pay for the high cost of these reforms.

The Texas Prison System, for instance, is grossly overcrowded and understaffed. About the only thing that can be done with prisoners is to herd them. Faced with a continuing flow of new prisoners, the system is forced to release others on parole, often without any semblance of preparation for civil life. The last tragic act in this drama is the shocking lack of parole officers — 150 to 200 parolees for each parole officer is not uncommon, for instance. The system collapses under its own weight.

What is lacking, too, is public awareness of the cost of even this inadequate system. The average cost of keeping a prisoner is about $3,000 a year. This is a dead loss unless some assurance can be given that when the prisoner gains freedom he will find a job and have the help and counsel of a trained parole officer. Lacking these helps, an offender is almost condemned to a life as a repeater.

The American Bar Association has now moved to make an exhaustive study of prison and its aftermath. The study may require at least five years — approximately the time spent in seeking penal code reforms. Out of this may come recommendations for legislation that will create public concern in place of public apathy.

The great task is to persuade the public. It should not be too difficult, though. An efficient, systematic program of training and rehabilitation will not really cost money. It will pay for itself many times over by turning offenders into useful, tax-paying citizens.

The Heritage Of Roger Williams

SAUNDERSTOWN, R. I. — In this the smallest state in the Union, where the ethnics have almost entirely supplanted the Yankees, July 4th was observed with a special fervor. The Italian-Americans in the majority today, feel compulsion to testify to their patriotism.

This owes something to heightened sensitivity over the allegation that Italian names are unduly conspicuous in the crime statistics, with the Mafia and its Sicilian origins constantly in the news.

A NATIONAL organization was formed with Frank Sinatra in the lead to combat what Italian-Americans consider rank defamation. In New York City, they held a big rally, with Joseph Colombo as a prominent speaker. The day following the rally he was arrested for refusing to answer questions about organized crime before a Long Island grand jury, even though he and others had been granted immunity.

But the fervor of the patriotic response is more than an ethnic phenomenon. There is something like an inverse ratio between the rise of the troubles afflicting America, the doubts and uncertainties, and the increasing strident insistence that all must be well. Patriotism, the decal flag, becomes a defensive mechanism, a chip on the shoulder, on the lowest level a commodity to be exploited.

THAT BUMPER sticker, "America — Love It or Leave It," has an odd sound in Rhode Island, or at least it does if anyone recalls the past of what was once called Providence Plantations. Roger Williams, who founded Rhode Island, was a great one to take leave when he felt the standards by which he loved it were betrayed. He is in many ways a unique figure among the founders of America.

For reasons of conscience and his religious convictions. Williams decided to emigrate from England in 1630. In Boston, and later in Plymouth, he was a pastor and teacher of religion. Soon, however, his own views were in conflict with the authoritarian overlords of the Massachusetts Bay Colony.

THIS REBEL dared to say that the civil power of a state had no jurisdiction over the consciences of men. Even more heretical was his stand that the patent of the king gave the colonists no right to the land they occupied. This land, he insisted, rightfully belonged to the Indians, who should be paid for it.

When he refused to recant, he was tried by the Massachusetts General Court, and a sentence of banishment was passed on him. An attempt was made to seize him and transport him to England.

WILLIAMS FLED to Manton's Neck, and there with four companions he founded the settlement he called Providence. He established friendly relations with the Indians, whose language he had learned, and he bought the land for settlement from them.

The concept of the colony was complete religious toleration, "a shelter for persons distressed for conscience." In this gently yet courageous man there was none of the blind patriot, the love it or leave it. He put his own conscience above both custom and law. This has been written large in the record of this action ever since.

THE PATRIOT who puts on blinders and a gag does his country small service. Over the years men of conscience with courage enough to speak out for unpopular causes, and against the dictum of the popular will when they felt it was wrong, have helped America grow in strength.

Billy Graham

I have always dreaded getting the family ready to go to church. Recently we began listening to several church services on television every Sunday. Is this wrong? M.K.

I am happy that you have a television, and I am also glad that you enjoy the services which are telecast in your area. But I'm afraid you have the wrong idea about what Christian discipleship is. Following Christ is not "getting," it is giving. It is not comfort and ease: it is service and sacrifice. Jesus said, "If any man would come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me." It is not self-pleasing; it is self-denial.

One of the important things about going to church is your influence. I heard of a deaf and dumb man who always attended church, and another mute asked him why he went. He said, "I go to church to show everyone which side I am on." Another reason you go to church is to serve. Children need teachers; the nursery needs baby sitters; and Sunday School teachers need scholars to teach. Yes, I believe there is something wrong with using the television to evade your spiritual responsibility. You are losing the fellowship of other Christians, you are losing your influence, and you are losing the opportunity for Christian service. Go back to church, and follow your Lord.

Fear Checks Spread Of World Capital

NEW YORK (AP) — More than any other factor, fear keeps open—and perhaps widens—the capital gap that separates the world's have and have-not nations. It is the salt in the wound.

The have-nots need industry in order to improve their standard of living and compete with developed nations. But fear of economic domination prevents them from being enthusiastic hosts. Better to starve, some say.

The haves are fearful also. Expropriation has been too common for them not to be wary of foreign entanglements. Sometimes they get paid fairly for property that is taken, more often not. So why take the risk?

These were some of the per capita gross national product figures for less developed countries in 1968: Honduras $240, Bolivia $171, India $86, Ethiopia $68, Uganda $93, Philippines $193.

And these were the per capita figures for some developed countries: United States $4,121, Sweden $3,130, France $2,399, Germany $2,154, Japan $1,283.

Proof that fear is undermining efforts to close the gap is revealed clearly in a survey of 134 business leaders from 51 countries, published by the National Industrial Conference Board.

Said a Jamaican executive: "In the eyes of many, the foreign investor is a replacement for the colonial master, though a more acceptable one, and more controllable because of national independence."

And a Philippine respondent: "we have seen how foreign industrial giants engulfed local competitors by massing all their resources to quell competition from a small local company."

These fears are genuine. But sometimes fear is used as a propaganda weapon, as described by a Bolivian executive who stated:

"... The fear of economic domination is constantly exacerbated by the demagogues of nationalism and those of the left, some of whom are generously rewarded for the exclusive purpose of making trouble and chaos.

"This fear shuts the door to badly needed foreign capital, thus creating conditions propitious for inflation and political instability, which in turn cause the flight of local capital."

And how will the fears be lessened before the gap grows wider and the world more unstable?

Most of the businessmen said the burden of easing the fears rests with foreign investors, who must show a greater willingness to become an integral part of the host country's economy.

The developing countries, for their part, must improve their climate for outside investment, the business leaders stated, primarily through striving for political and economic stability.

New Ideas For Vacation

NEW YORK (AP) — Are you bored with routine vacations?

Don't you get tired of sweating all day in a hot rowboat trying to catch a wary wall-eyed pike, and then sitting all night in a resort hotel's frigid cocktail lounge in hopes of snaring an unwary glassy-eyed blonde?

What you need is a vacation doing things you've never done before. For example, you might—

Count the goose bumps on a frightened wart hog.

Organize a marathon flagpole-sitting contest for politicians who've bored you by their fence-sitting tactics.

Take Dean Martin to a marshmallow toasting orgy.

Send your boss a box of a dozen assorted molehills and see how many mountains he can make of them.

Build a love nest in that unused corner of your attic.

See if you can find a bank that will let you open a savings account without having to lug home an electric toaster or piece of luggage.

Make a collection of prize box tops which you can't mail to the manufacturer and get anything back.

Create a television commercial that will automatically self-destruct five seconds after it has been shown once.

Train a couple of garter snakes to keep your socks up.

No one yet has thought up a surefire way to cook spaghetti backwards. Can you?

Invent a wrap-around, sleeveless necktie wide enough to be used also as a dressing gown.

Is there any land in the world where the natives aren't restless? How about going there and building a rest home for those who want to get away from it all.

Put a bean up a teen-ager's nose.

Search the zoos for an elephant with so much self-control he can stop after eating only one peanut.

Launch a campaign to minimize the maxiskirt and maximize the miniskirt.

Get American Indian tribes to sign a new peace pact under which they'll agree to quit sending up smoke signals. After all, if we are ever to lick the problem of air pollution, we've got to make a firm start somewhere.

To Your Good Health

Concerned About 'Fibrosis Of The Lungs'

By G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Am concerned about fibrosis of the lungs. Had an X-ray in 1967 and was told I had this. Is it dangerous and what can I do to take care of it? Am in my early 70s, with no other illness that I know of. — E.E.B.

With the number of chest X-rays these days (and they are a good thing) a notation of "fibrosis" is not unusual. Letters from readers make it clear that a good many don't know what it means and are worried.

Very often there is no need to worry.

Essentially, fibrosis means that some scarring has occurred. This may be from having had tuberculosis. It may be from a fungus infection called histoplasmosis. Or it may be from some other lung ailment.

Since an old, healed case of tuberculosis can break down many years later and become active again, it is wise to take some precautions. Subsequent X-rays may be taken, to make sure that no further change occurs in the scarred area, indicating a disease process at work. More frequently, these days, a course of isoniazid medication is given to prevent disease activity.

In other cases, there is no need for further treatment. The scarring has occurred, but the disease has been conquered.

A finding of fibrosis requires discrimination to determine the cause, and sometimes a further follow-up, but in many cases there is nothing to worry about and nothing that needs to be done.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My husband is past 50 and has emphysema so bad he cannot carry a heavy box across the room without losing his wind. If he catches cold he has a lot of trouble.

Every evening he drinks not less than six bottles of beer, smokes at least half a pack of cigarettes a day, has no appetite, and has lost 25 pounds.

He says he drinks beer to keep from taking a laxative. His doctor said a bottle of beer at night would be good for him. He also takes at least two nerve pills and two cold capsules which he says help his wind.

Does all the beer affect his appetite and contribute to his being so inactive and winded? Do you have any books available on this subject? — J.V.W.

The combination of nerve pills, cold capsules (which may contain antihistamines), and that much beer would most certainly contribute to his lassitude and probably depress his appetite.

But you are missing the most important point: he still smokes. No one with emphysema should smoke at all. Yes, I have a booklet, "How To Control Emphysema." Send 20 cents in coin and long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for a copy.

* * *

Troubled with varicose veins? To make sure you are doing all you can to relieve the problem, write to Dr. Thosteson in care of the Herald, requesting the booklet, "How To Deal With Varicose Veins," enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents in coin to cover the cost of printing and handling.

Around The Rim

They Don't Know What They Missed

There's nothing sadder than the childless couple. It breaks you up to see them stretched out relaxing around swimming pools in Florida, sitting all suntanned and miserable on the decks of their boats, or going off to Europe like lonesome fools.

THERE'S NOTHING but more money to spend, more time to enjoy, and a whole lot less to worry about. The poor childless couple gets so wrapped up in themselves you have to feel sorry for them.

They don't fight over the children's discipline, they don't blame each other for the characteristics most nauseous in the child, and they miss all the good fun of doing without things for the children's sake.

THEY GO ALONG in their dull way doing what they want, getting what they want, and liking each other. It's a pretty pathetic picture.

Everyone should have children. No one should be allowed to escape the wonderful experience attached to each stage of the development of the young.

The happy, happy memories of the baby days; the alert nights, coughing spells, debts, diaper deliveries, dipso baby sitters, saturated mattresses, spilled food, tantrums, emergencies, crises.

THEN COMES the real fulfillment as the children grow like little acorns and become real nuts. The wonder of watching your overweight ballerina of 12 make a fool of herself in a leotard.

The warm smile of the small lad with the sun glistening on 500 bucks' worth of metal braces ruined on peanut brittle. The rollicking, merry, carefree voices.

A married couple without little ones envy their neighbors' brats. It isn't enough to be god-parents to the entire block; they still miss out on the glorious period of childhood that is alive, exuberant and bursting with healthy impulses to shatter the shredded nerves.

THE TENDER, thoughtful discussions when the report cards reveal the prodigy to be one step below halfwits; the close-knit family gatherings around the family fireplace to roast hotdogs and the pet puppy, if he isn't fast on his feet; the end-of-the-day reunions with all the joyful days' happenings related like well-placed blows on the temple.

The feeling of reward the first time you took the boy hunting. He didn't mean to shoot you in the leg. He was excited. Remember how he cried — how disappointed that you weren't a deer?

THINK BACK to that night of romantic adventure when your budding beautiful daughter eloped with the village idiot. What childless couple could ever share in the stark realism of that drama?

The childless couple lives in a vacuum, filling their lonely days with golf, vacation trips, dinner dates, civic affairs, tranquility, leisure and money.

THEY CONTRIBUTE no additions to the human race. There is a terrifying emptiness without children, and the childless couple is too comfortable to know it.

You must look at them to see what the years have done. He looks boyish, unlined and restful. She's slim, well-groomed and youthful.

It isn't natural. If they had kids, they look like the rest of us — tired, gray, wrinkled, sagging — in other words, normal.

MY WORDS? No. This wunnerful article was written by Roslyn South, and was first published in the American Mercury in 1956.

No 'Behavior Drugs', Please!

WASHINGTON — I got a law right here and if I can get something on a Congressman I am going to have it introduced in our national legislature. It says that psychiatrists and educators henceforth will be banned from our schools.

This exercise in legislation was prompted by intelligence from Omaha, Neb. — no less! — that pupils in the Omaha schools are being given "behavior" drugs to make them sit still in class and give their teachers time to muse on their master's thesis. It seems the voodoo bunch and the purveyors of cerebral fodder have decided that child-like behavior in a child is illegal instead of merely annoying.

FOR ME, that did it. Over the years I have been comforted by the belief that head-shrinking was merely a passing fad, to be borne with the same hurty tolerance as the singing commercial. Despite the statistics showing that most school systems suffer agonies trying to figure out a way to teach spelling, I had hoped some backwoods radical would suggest starting with C-A-T.

But the dirty work in Omaha convinces me that unless something is done all our kids will show up for commencement exercises nattily attired in straitjackets. Don't teach 'em, says Omaha, put 'em to sleep. With, probably, marijuana for dessert.

IT IS TOO much. You go your way, Mac, but I'm sick of being run by a mob of publicity-mad witch doctors, with half-educated educators handing them their tools.

Omaha is copping out. Encountering a pupil who does not respond in class, its teachers are saying the kid is at fault, possibly because he was jilted by a girl named Alice in the first grade, and therefore he needs a pill. It is substituting medicine for education and guidance, using a sprout's instinctive anarchism as an excuse for not providing adequate schooling.

WE GOT disciplinary problems, says Omaha. So what else is new? When a boy named Andrew leaped out of an open window at St. Mary's, Sister Gregory did not convene a round table on disciplinary problems; she jumped out after him. And caught him. He got three months after school, not a free supply of Miltown.

NOWADAYS, THE brewers of psychiatric hellbroth have it both ways. I will not do the doc the favor of using his name because he deserves obscurity, but one of that bunch recently deposed that if a boy behaves himself in school he is dangerously maladjusted and almost surely will wind up in the electric chair for hacking up his pa. But watch the bad boy, says this charlatan. He can't be trusted either because his parents hate him and eventually will drive him into the white slave trade.

GOING TO SCHOOL is bad enough without having some ghoul with a doctorate, dark glasses and halitosis tinkering with your inborn distrust of the adult who tells you to sit down and shut up. Beat him regularly like a gong, maybe, but keep him conscious enough to make a pass at two and-two. If it isn't already too late, perhaps the President could appoint a czar to police these quacks. This czar would be named me.

Matter Of Public Confidence

WASHINGTON — Public confidence is the most delicate and perhaps the most fateful element in the economic edifice. That's why it is hard to understand the indifference on Capitol Hill to the plea of the Penn Central Railroad for the federal government to guarantee a 200-million-dollar loan. When it was denied recently, a series of events was triggered off that has produced considerable apprehension in the business and financial community.

EVERYBODY KNOWS that the railroads are having a hard time getting along in competition with the air lines and trucks, and the need to preserve rail service is recognized by the government as essential. Now, however, the refusal of a loan guarantee for the Penn Central has resulted in financial complications. One reads about power companies insisting upon weekly payments of their bills and about pressures that may mean trouble for some other railroads and for the banks that have been holding their loans.

THE ADMINISTRATION at first was quite willing to render assistance to the Penn Central, but a few of the politicians on Capitol Hill complained that the administration was trying to bail out the railroad and banks for political gain. The matter then was left to the legislators to handle. The results thus far has been to create confusion and a good deal of uncertainty as to what is going to happen to the nation's railroads.

THE SENATE has passed a bill to relieve the industry of its passenger losses by setting up a government-backed corporation to take over the running of passenger trains. Federal loan guarantees are being proposed by the Department of Transportation, and the Interstate Commerce Commission is considering the approval of various mergers to promote lower costs and more effective service. Experts hope that changes made now will pay off eventually.

The whole problem is not one to be disposed of in a few months. Finances pose a difficulty at present for many of the rail lines, especially since the inflationary spiral has moved costs up higher than freight rates. Railroad wage scales, for instance, have been rising, and the prices of materials and supplies have been increasing.

WHEN THE Penn Central, which takes care of 35 per cent of the rail passengers in the United States, lost $105 million in 1969 on passenger service and dropped 27 trains last year, the stockholders became concerned. Also, the financial outlook became cloudy as some of the creditors began to raise questions about solvency. If the government had backed the loan, it would have implied that the strong hand of the Federal Treasury would have prevented any bankruptcy. There are other railroads which are dependent upon the Penn Central, and they, too, are facing difficulties.

THE PENN CENTRAL incident has helped to upset the stock market. Much attention has been given to the cash liquidity of corporations, and undoubtedly business sentiment has been characterized by a new wave of anxiety. All of this, of course, is more or less psychological, because the fundamental soundness of the American financial structure is one that would normally not even be questioned if such incidents as the Penn Central episode had not occurred. The need now is for a restoration of confidence, and this is, as it always has been, the principal task of government in times of crisis.

HE'D SETTLE FOR TWO 71's

Trevino Set To Roll

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP) — "Just give me two straight 71s and I've got the British Open Golf Championship in my pocket," said flamboyant Lee Trevino today as he set out on the tourney's third round.

The 31-year-old self-styled Merry Mexican, playing out of Dallas, was eight-under-par for 36 holes and one-stroke ahead of an incredible field of 80 survivors from the original 134.

He's confident he can stay in front even though defending champion Tony Jacklin, Jack Nicklaus, and a host of Americans and rising British challengers are breathing down his neck.

"When you're leading, you can afford to miss one now and then. Anybody who says he wants to come from behind is a liar," Trevino said.

"I promised my wife four 68's here and I got two of them. If I get two 71's, I'm in."

Whether he can produce this one or not, the ebullient Trevino has a whopper of a program "including all the big ones in America," the Piccadilly World Match Play championship at Wentworth, England, and the Alcan on this side of the water, the World Cup in Argentina "and by then Santa Claus will be climbing down my chimney."

The British Open is the one he wants now. The title on the ancient Old Course where the game was born and which has become a must for the top Americans.

"I like it, this is a course where a good shot is rewarded and a bad shot is penalized," Trevino said.

"For all the work, playing golf to me is a holiday and even when I take a holiday I play 36 holes a day. I made up my mind I'll get bad weather again like I have here before and so decided to make the best of it and I guess I did."

Trevino led a contingent of 17 Americans into the third round knowing well that a half-dozen British artisans of the sport are offering the stiffest fight they have in a long time.

The 6,351-yard par 72 Old Course was as fickle as usual, smiling one minute and lashing its scorpion's tail the next just in case anybody got cocky.

"You've got to watch it every minute, not only on the ground but up there in the air," Trevino said with professional caution.

The low 55 and ties continue on Saturday for the 18-hole finals for total prize money of $100,000—$12,000 to the winner, who can parlay that into much, much more.

Play opening at 3:30 p.m. EDT, featured new faces like Trevino, Jacklin, Neil Coles, Harold Henning of South Africa, Tommy Horton and Clive Clark of England. But there also was the old Nickalus and the older Arnold Palmer on the threatening fringe. The third man of the once dominant triumvirate, Gary Player of South Africa, was there by sufferance only. His 149 was the cut off point that cut the field and 13 shots behind.

Reds, Braves Beaten Despite Comebacks

By The Associated Press

Catch-up baseball is a futile game...unless you hold on to what you've caught.

The Cincinnati Reds and Atlanta Braves mounted big comebacks Thursday night, then let their prey slip away again in extra-inning cliff-hangers.

Johnny Bench slammed a pair of two-run-homers as the Reds made up a 9-1 deficit before bowing to the San Diego Padres 10-9 on Steve Huntz' sacrifice fly in the 10th inning.

The Braves erased a 6-0 San Francisco lead with one eighth-inning thrust, but the Giants rebounded to earn a 7-6 nod on Dick Dietz' run-scoring ground out in the 11th.

Elsewhere in National League play, the New York Mets rocked Montreal 7-1; Pittsburgh blanked St. Louis 6-0 and Houston thumped Los Angeles 9-5. Philadelphia and the Chicago Cubs were idle.

The Padres raked rookie pitching ace Wayne Simpson for nine runs in the 2 2-3 innings he lasted, but Bench's fourth-inning homer started Cincinnati on the way back and the All-Star catcher unloaded his 28th homer of the season in the eighth before pinch hitter Bernie Carbo's three-run wallop tied it up.

Simpson, who started in quest of his 11th straight victory and 14th of the season, escaped his second setback as a result of the abortive Cincinnati rally. It marked the first time in 18 starts that he has failed to go at least five innings.

The Giants' Juan Marichal was breezing toward his first shutout of the season when Atlanta struck suddenly in the eighth. Felix Millan singled and Orlando Cepeda homered for two runs; Mike Lum doubled home another and Clete Boyer rapped a tying three-run homer.

But Willie Mays singled in the 11th off Bob Priddy, moved to third when the fourth ball to Willie McCovey was a wild pitch and scored the winning run on Dietz' roller to the mound. Winner Don McMahon worked out of a bases-loaded jam in the bottom of the 11th to assure the victory.

Dietz drove in two earlier runs with a single for a total of 12 RBI in the four-game series.

Tom Seaver stopped Montreal on three hits and hit his first major league homer enroute to his 14th victory and Ron Swoboda drilled a grand slam homer as the Mets rolled to their seventh straight win.

The Pirates remained 1½ games behind first place New York in the NL East by taming the Cards on the five-hit pitching of Dock Ellis. Singles by Roberto Clemente, Jose Pagan and Bill Mazeroski plus two errors by shortstop Jim Kennedy keyed a four-run burst in the fifth.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Chuck Davey, the Michigan state boxing commissioner who is trying to decide whether the people in his state could stomach the Joe Frazier-Cassius Clay fight, was once a welterweight fighter who went a long way with a modicum of talent.

Back in the early '50's, Davey built a TV reputation in a series of bouts against palookas. They inevitably booked him in against class, lining up a match against the formidable Kid Gavilan. Davey flunked but emerged from the uneven tussle admired for his grit.

Gavilan threw his best punches at Chuck an awesome number of times and connected often as not. Four times Davey hit the deck. He got up each time but the rumble was stopped in the tenth round when Chuck was unable to answer the bell.

The fight lured a crowd of more than 17,000 and a 'live' gate of $211,454. An estimated 35 million watched the carnage on television.

Davey fought on for another year but packed it in at the age of 29, after five years in the ring. He graduated to the ranks of television sportscasters, where he prospered until state officials decided his image was such that he would make a good commissioner.

Tim Hamilton of Loraine, a participant in the Big Spring Muny Partnership Golf tournament here last week, is perhaps the most versatile athlete in the history of that city's high school.

He recently was named to the Class B All-State links team.

Texan Bill Montgomery, who has guided the University of Arkansas to 19 football wins and two Sugar Bowl games in two seasons, and Stanford's Jim Plunkett together have been on a junket of military hospitals in Southeast Asia.

When the two see each other again, in all likelihood they'll be quarterbacking their respective teams in a Sept. 12 football game in Little Rock — a booking that will be on nationwide TV.

Montgomery pays tribute to Plunkett as "the best thrower in the country. He moves that team up and down the field and puts points on the board."

The two took a football with them but Montgomery said Plunkett would have to play catch with someone else, explaining:

"He'd break my fingers."

With athletic programs in so many colleges in jeopardy (because of pyramiding costs), the pros might be wise to give a portion of their gate receipts (as apart from their TV loot) to the schools.

Where would pro ball be if the schools didn't train and develop their athletes? The pros should exercise more care, too, in seeing that some of their TV productions didn't conflict with the college attractions.

Mental Blunder Fails To Hurt Detroiters

By The Associated Press

The longest single of Dalton Jones' career and the shortest rain delay in baseball history has combined to keep Baltimore's East Division leaders within hailing distance in the American League.

Jones delivered what appeared to be a pinch hit grand slam homer Thursday night but was credited with only a single when he passed teammate Don Wert on the basepaths. The mental blunder did no harm because three runs scored on the play and Detroit went on to whip Boston 7-3.

WIN ARGUMENT

New York, in danger of having a three-run rally in the top of the sixth in Baltimore wiped out by rain, argued a halt in play long enough for a shower to blow over. They managed to get another inning in, making their rally legal and beat the Orioles 7-5 in a game ended by rain in the eighth inning.

Elsewhere in the American League Thursday night, Washington whacked Cleveland 9-3; Chicago edged Milwaukee 6-5, and Minnesota topped California 4-2. Kansas City and Oakland were off.

The Tigers and Red Sox were tied at 3-3 in the seventh when Jones belted a two-out drive off the facing of the right field stands with the bases loaded. He was admiring the shot when he passed Wert between first and second and was called out on the technicality infraction.

"I was real excited about the hit," said Jones. "I was watching it and I never realized Wert was there. About half-way between first and second I came to my senses and hoped the umpire didn't see it. But he did. I've never done that before. I've never hit a grand slam either."

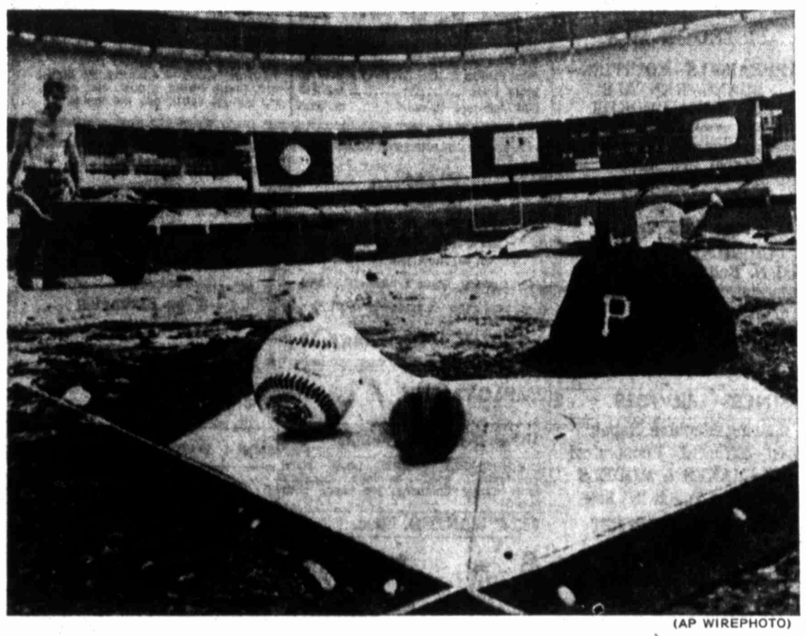

The umps were alert to Jones' blunder and also to the heckling of the Red Sox over some ball-strike calls an inning earlier. Plate umpire John Rice thumbed pitcher Mike Nagy and catcher Gerry Moses and then third base ump Larry Napp cleared the Boston bench, sending all the players to the club house "to cool off." Napp said the players could have come into the game later from the club house but none did.

The victory moved the second place Tigers within six games of Baltimore. The Birds bowed to New York when the Yankees rallied for three unearned runs in the sixth inning—the last two on Jerry Kenney's bases-loaded single.

The start of the game was delayed 27 minutes by rain and it sprinkled throughout. The rain began coming down in earnest with Baltimore at bat in the bottom of the sixth and with two out and a 1-1 count on Don Buford, umpire Hank Soar signalled for the field to be covered.

SHOWER ENDS

Had the game been called at that point, the New York runs in the top half of the inning would have been erased and Baltimore would have won 5-4. The Yankees, aware of the jeopardy their lead was in, delayed leaving the field and the sudden shower quickly ended. An inning later, with the runs official, rain ended the game. The victory, only the third in the last 13 games for New York, left the Yanks 6½ games behind.

Little Fighting Mad About Loss Of Title

MONZA, Italy (AP) — Piston-punching Freddie Little had just taken one on the chin—and was fighting mad about it.

"The referee was very unfair . . . I thought I had clearly won," Freddie fumed Thursday night after losing his world junior middleweight boxing title in a 15-round decision to Carmelo Bossi of Italy.

"I can't understand where the referee (Ronald Dakin of Great Britian) got the four-point advantage for Bossi," Little added.

Dakin's scorecard carried 73 points for Bossi and 69 for the former American champion. The AP had eight rounds even, five for Bossi and two for Little.

Dakin warned Little between the six and seventh rounds because Little had pulled his trunks up to cover most of his stomach, above the belt. Dakin, however, did not count when Little fell to the canvas in the 11th round after a clinch. The referee said Bossi had pushed Little.

Bossi, a 30-year-old who now lives in Milan, revenged a defeat Little hung on him in a non-title bout last October. The Italian used brute defensive tactics to offset the American champ.

Bossi forced Little into the attack, quietly waiting for the 34-year-old American to tire and slow down. In the 13th round the Italian suddenly woke up and began bombarding Little with combinations of left and right hooks to the head which clearly shook the American.

The champion was unable to keep up with Bossi's speed and the Italian piled up a thin, but clear margin for victory.

The Italian, with a tight defense and good speed, was never in trouble. Little was never able to connect solidly with his left hook and put power in his blows.

For those who had seen Little win the world crown in Rome in October, 1968, by crushing Sandro Mazzinghi of Italy, the Las Vegas boxer was a big disappointment against Bossi.

CITY PLAYOFFS

Hawks Capture 22nd Straight

It took a fine defensive play by center fielder Eddie Vela in the sixth inning to keep them in the game but the American league Hawks finally edged the National league Lions, 8-4, in the American park here Thursday night to win a spot in tonight's Little League City playoffs.

The Hawks, still undefeated this season, will go against the International league Rockets in the International park at Webb AFB. Game time is 8 p.m.

Vela threw out a Lion who was barreling home with what would have been the winning run in the sixth.

Enheartened by the development, the Hawks then erupted for four runs in the top half of the eighth.

Jimmy Shanks, on the hill for the Hawks, was tagged for eight hits. His counterpart, Bobby Doe, surrendered 15 blows.

Steve Evans collected three hits for the winners while Pat Carroll, David Wheeler, Shanks and Vela had two each.

For the hard-luck Lions, Robert Huibregtse and Jerry Kelley each crashed out two safeties.

One of Huibregtse's hits was a home run.

Rockets Rally In Sixth To Edge Cards, 5 To 4

In a cliffhanger that went right down to the wire, the Rockets of the International League edged the National League's Cardinals, 5-4, Thursday night at Webb AFB to attain the finals in the Little League City playoffs.

The Rockets rallied for three runs their last time at bat to harpoon the Cards, one of the city's Cinderella clubs all season.

Jody Matthews smashed a home run with the sacks deserted in the fourth and the blow helped to give the Red Birds a 3-0 bulge but the Rockets came back to bank two in the fifth, then closed it out with their sixth inning push.

In the fifth, Mike Valenzuela and Joe Baranik drove in runs for the Rockets. In the sixth, two walks, combined with a sacrifice bunt and a fielder's choice resulted in one run for the Internationals.

Baranik then proceeded to drive home the tying and winning tallies with a double.

Valenzuela picked up the win for the Rockets. Phil Woods and Mike Warren divided time on the hill for the Cards. Warren and Wade Cobb smashed doubles for the Birds, who had six hits in all.

Jay Madison and Baranik each had two hits for the winners.

Fans Get A Double Treat At Race Track Saturday

RUIDOSO DOWNS, N.M. — Fans attending Ruidoso Downs, Saturday, will be in for a "double treat." The running of both the Nat Stuckey and Los Caballeros Club Purses will be presented, with diversity as the main theme in these co-features. The Nat Stuckey Purse will be contested over six furlongs, featuring thoroughbreds, three-year-olds and older, running for a claiming tag of $3,500.

Heading the list of eligibles will be Diamond Charge, representing Robert Hirst, Roswell, N.M., and Anthony Williams' Likeness Son. Likeness Son was a very impressive winner in his last out, at five and one-half furlongs, while leading every step of the way.

Completing the list of starters will be Taurus Dunce, Ramon Wood's improving gelding; Grace McCray's Nova-Levu; Gay Willie, representing Albert Frazzini; Nosey Straw, co-owned by Gerald Harper and James Isler; Eddie Wilkerson's Heather Wheat; and J. Paul Lomax's Silk Ribbons.

The co-featured Los Caballeros Club Purse honoring the famous group from El Paso, Tex., will be headlined by some of the top "short horses" on the grounds. Hooking up with each other, will be such stalwarts as Hop Chick, owned by Jack Byers, and Craig Evans' Busy Chick. Hop Chick has been a very consistent campaigner at Ruidoso Downs over the last two seasons, while Busy Chick qualified for the "Consolation" for the "Rainbow Quarter-Horse Derby."

Rounding out the field will be Lucky Face, co-owned by Magin and Fernando Rivas; Roger Braugh's Scooper Sport; Miss Straw Bar, representing William Huddleston; Bell Will, from the Foster Price stables; Loyd Jones' Bar Dame; Moon Dough, owned by Chadworth Winter; Mildred Murphy's St. Joan Bar; and Go Sabre Go, owned by J. B. Hastings.

Saturday's finely balanced program will act as a prelude to Sunday's second running of the $5,000 added "Rio Grande Stakes" for New Mexico bred and-or foaled thoroughbreds, three-year-olds only.

The contest highlights the Texas High School Girls' Basketball Coaches Association, which begins July 16.

Stanley Whisenhunt of Wylie will coach the North squad. He will be assisted by Charles Skeen of Follett, one-time Forsan athlete who formerly coached at Grady Junior High School. Skeen guided his team to the Class B state championship last season.

Mrs. Strickland, the former Roxanne Minter, graduated from Klondike High School the past spring. She was an all-state guard.

It's an expensive used car.

If you're thinking of buying a new car, consider this.

New York Magazine said VW "retains its value better than anything else. A 1956 VW is worth more today than any American sedan built the same year, with the possible exception of a Cadillac."

Sweig Found Guilty Of Perjury

NEW YORK (AP) — After nearly 17 hours of deliberation, a federal court jury has found Martin Sweig, suspended chief administrative aide to House Speaker John McCormack, guilty of one count of perjury and acquitted him on six other counts.

"Thank God it's over," Sweig said after the four women and eight men returned their verdict Thursday.

The suspended aide, who had been employed for 24 years in the Speaker's office, was indicted on one count of conspiracy and six counts of perjury.

The indictment charged that Sweig conspired with lobbyist Nathan Voloshen to defraud the government by misusing the prestige of the Speaker's office and that the pair pressured government agencies to obtain favors for clients of Voloshen.

Voloshen pleaded guilty when the trial opened June 17.

Sweig, 48, was found guilty of lying to a federal grand jury here about knowing Gary Roth of Lawrence, N.Y., and denying he made calls in the name of the Speaker.

Judge Marvin Frankel set Aug. 31 for sentencing. Sweig faces a maximum of five years in prison and a $2,000 fine. His lawyer, Paul T. Smith, said he would appeal the verdict.

During the trial, testimony indicated that Voloshen received $1,500 to obtain a hardship discharge for Roth, and that Sweig made calls to Army officers saying the Speaker was a close friend of the Roth family.

A juror who declined to be identified told newsmen later that the panel thought the Roth matter should not have been forgotten by Sweig because of memoranda bearing Sweig's initials which were introduced at the trial.

The juror said the majority of the panel had been inclined to acquit Sweig of all perjury charges except the Roth matter, because Sweig was "a busy man," and conceivably could have forgotten events about which he was accused of perjuring himself.

Trio Sentenced In Bank Robbery

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A Texas man and woman and a California man were sentenced Thursday on bank robbery convictions.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge Fred Daugherty sentenced Sam Harris, 32, of Mesquite, Tex., to 20 years in prison. Melba Jean Glass, 26, of Irving, was given a ten-year term. The two were sentenced for the robbery last November of a Terral, Okla., bank.

Hughey Arvelle Tabor, 44, of Redondo Beach, Calif., was given 20 to 25 years in prison for bank robberies in Oklahoma, Oregon, and California. The sentences are to run concurrently.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Ray Higdon of Dallas, Tex., already had been sentenced to 20 year terms for the Terral robbery.

Lubbock Mayor Will Help Peru

AUSTIN (AP) — Lubbock Mayor Jim Granberry, whose city suffered a disastrous tornado May 11, flies to Peru today to offer his help in that earthquake disaster area.

Granberry will be accompanied by Dr. David Wade, president of the Texas Partners of the Alliance, a privately financed organization promoting economic and social growth between the two countries.

Paul Thayer Replaces Ling As President Of LTV Corp.

DALLAS (AP) — In what were described as steps completing a management reorganization, James J. Ling was supplanted Thursday as president of Ling-Temco-Vought, Inc., which he built into the nation's 25th largest corporation.

His place was taken by Paul Thayer, who has been president and chief executive officer of the subsidiary LTV Aerospace Corp. In addition to president, Thayer became chairman of the giant conglomerate's board and chief executive officer.

Ling stepped down to the office of vice chairman of the firm he founded in 1951, and said he no longer would be active in company operations.

In his new capacity Ling succeeds Dallas financier Troy V. Post, who said he was resigning to devote his time to personal investments and real estate developments. These include a $20 million luxury golf and beach resort outside Acapulco, Mexico.

As Ling-Temco-Vought board chairman, Thayer replaces Robert H. Stewart, who took the position during a May 17 shakeup but said he would serve only in an interim capacity. Stewart remains board chairman of the First National Bank of Dallas.

Ling-Temco-Vought won the right under a May 10 court ruling to own and control Jones & Laughlin Steel Co. provided the Dallas-based corporation divested itself of Braniff Airways and Okonite Co.

To the board vacancy left by Stewart's departure the directors named C. Edward Acker, executive vice president and general manager of Braniff.

At the same time the Ling-Temco-Vought executive committee was reconstituted with E. Grant Fitts, chairman of Gulf Life Holding Co., as chairman.

One financial expert interpreted the series of changes as a victory for Post in a struggle with Ling over management control.

Post has been identified as a major holder of a series of Ling-Temco-Vought bonds with $1,000 face value which he received in 1968, when the big conglomerate acquired Post's Greatamerica Corp. Prior to the LTV executive changes these bonds were traded as low as $150 on the open market.

Bank Robbed Of $11,380

HOUSTON (AP) — Police searched today for two men who made off with $11,380 from the Liberty Bank in Houston Thursday afternoon.

One of the bandits, armed with a revolver, told Miss Sandra Warrenburg, 21, to put all the money in a paper sack.

Instead, Miss Warrenburg told police, she ducked beneath her teller's cage and pressed the holdup alarm.

The bandit scooped up $880 out of the cash drawer before leaving.

The other bandit, believed unarmed, got $10,500 from Mrs. Jerry N. Hughes, 41.

No one was injured. Both men were seen leaving on foot.
