

Faculty Changes Listed by City School Head

Election of two new teachers to the Wellington faculty and changes in teaching assignments were announced this week by J. L. Harper, superintendent.

This completes the faculty for the opening of registration Thursday and Friday August 23 and 24 and the beginning of school work, Monday, August 27.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Tucker of Farwell were elected to teach in junior high and elementary school. Both have masters degrees and a number of years teaching experience, Supt. Harper said.

Mrs. Tucker will teach in the first grade, taking the place of Mrs. Bernice Welch.

Mrs. Welch was transferred to teach high school English and Mrs. Ben Ratliff, who was English teacher, is assigned as librarian. This in turn fills the vacancy left by the retirement from the local system of Mrs. John Justice.

Tucker will teach science in Junior High. Mrs. Jack Davis, who has filled that place several years, was transferred to high school as math instructor. She replaces Mrs. Tolbert Painter, who resigned to join the Littlefield faculty, Harper said.

The superintendent also announced that one new school bus has been delivered and delivery on a second is expected around October 1.

Booster Trips Advertise Fair

Southeast Panhandle and southwest Oklahoma towns are receiving invitations to Collingsworth county's big Free Fair, in two days of caravaning by Wellington business men.

George Shadid is caravan director and Police Chief Troy Marsh assisted in the organization work.

The first day's trip Wednesday, August 22, took boosters to Clarendon, Hedley, Memphis and Childress. Thursday, August 23, the group covered Shamrock, Erick, Mangum and Hollis.

Marsh said that anyone wanting to join the Thursday booster trip should be downtown at the Chamber of Commerce office shortly before 9 a. m.

Attend FHA Executive Meet

Mrs. Dee Coleman, Home Economics teacher for Wellington High School, and Sylvia McQueary attended an executive council meeting of the Texas Association of the Future Homemakers of America in the Stephen F. Austin Hotel in Austin. They were in Austin from August 15th through the 17th.

The purpose of the council meeting was to plan next year's meeting held in the spring at the State Fair Music Hall in Dallas.

Miss McQueary is the state fourth vice-president and will be the Mistress of Ceremonies for the Friday night Fun Night and will also assist with relaxers through the meeting.

They returned on Saturday, August 18.

Fourteen Beauties Entered

Choose Farm Bureau Queen Here Saturday Evening

Beauty from the four corners of Collingsworth appears Saturday night, August 25, and from this group the County Farm Bureau Queen will be chosen.

The queen's contest will be held in the community building at 8 p. m., Dee Burba Farm Bureau manager announced.

Fourteen girls are entered in the contest and most of them will participate for the first time.

Cotton John Smith, Amarillo television personality, will be the master of ceremonies, and a musical program will be furnished by Mrs. Lowell Wells and the Quail high school chorus.

"This is an honest-to-goodness Queen contest," Burba emphasized. "The girls will be judged on grace, poise, charm, vivaciousness and all the other qualities that go to make up a winsome Texas future Home-maker—and all of these qualities so many of our Collingsworth farm and ranch girls have."

As each girl appears on the stage, she will be interviewed by cotton John, and at the end of the interview she will speak briefly on "Why I am Glad My Family Belongs to Farm Bureau."

The girls entered in the contest are Peggy Shanks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Shanks; Nancy Gibbs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milburn Gibbs; Gail Henard, daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. Rusty Henard; Judy Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Crawford; Elaine Crawley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elvis Crawley; Anne Henard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Henard; Mary Elder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noble Elder;

Appaloosa Show Draws Entries from Wide Area

The big added attraction of this year's Collingsworth County Free Fair will be the first Appaloosa Horse Show, slated for Friday, August 31 at 1:30 p. m.

The Rotary Club is the sponsor, and Paul Guthrie is chairman and ringmaster.

The show will be held at Marian Airpark Stadium.

Indications are that some of the major Appaloosa breeders from the Panhandle - Western Oklahoma area will exhibit. The growing interest in this breed of horses that has sprung up within the last few years has brought some of the finest blood lines of the nation into this section of the country.

Three grand champions, three reserve champions and winners in 15 classes will be picked, with Max McLaughlin of Gould, Oklahoma, as the show judge.

Assisting Guthrie in putting on the Appaloosa show are Troy Marsh, Paul Bell and Zook Thomas.

Trophies will be awarded the champions and all first place winners. Rosettes will go to first through sixth place winners in each class.

Both halter and performance classes are scheduled.

The show is approved by the Golden Spread Appaloosa Association and all horses except 1962 foals must be registered in the foundation or tentative registry of the Appaloosa Horse Club.

Grand champion and Reserve champion will be named from the stallions, mares and reigning classes.

Guthrie has announced the following classes:

1962 stallions, 1961 stallions, 1960 stallions, 1959 stallions, 1958 or before stallions.

1962 fillies, 1961 fillies, 1960 mares, 1959 mares, 1958 mares or before mares.

Geildings any age, get of sire (three horses, any sex, by the same sire), produce of dam (two horses, any sex, out of same mare).

Two performances classes are on schedule, junior reigning which includes animals foaled in 1958 or later, and the senior reigning, for those foaled in 1957 or before.

Carnival Opens Here Monday

Carnival rides will begin turning Mon., August 27 to open Collingsworth County Fair Week in Wellington, N. M. Higdon, assistant superintendent, announced this week.

In addition, the largest number local concession stands in the fair's five-year history will operate. These are money-raising projects of Collingsworth county organizations, it was pointed out.

All rides and concessions will be located in streets around the square. The carnival will take up the west side, while concession booths will be on the south and east sides. The north side of the square will be open for traffic, according to the Fair Association office.

The carnival is that of the Rhodes Lone Star Amusement Company of Amarillo, which has served the Fair several years.

"We have checked and we feel this is the best carnival we can secure. It has been playing Dumas annually for 14 years and it is used by Amarillo Waddy Week," Higdon explained.

A former Wellington girl, Mrs. Robert Fleming, will teach this year in Korean Christian College, an institution at Kimpo Station, near Seoul, Korea, sponsored by the Churches of Christ.

Mrs. Fleming, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Kelso, will also serve as secretary to the president of the college, Haskell L. Chesshir.

After visiting here for nearly two months, Mrs. Fleming flew to Korea about a month ago to join her husband, Lt. Robert Fleming, with the medical battalion of the 7th Infantry.

She will teach in the field of education.

Her main project will be teaching the Korean teachers how to interpret American to the children, Mrs. Fleming wrote her parents.

Buy Barbecue Tickets Early, Higdon Urges

Early purchase of county fair barbecue tickets was urged this week by N. M. Higdon, assistant superintendent. The deadline, he added, is 5 p. m. Thursday, August 30.

The barbecue itself will be held Friday at noon in Ellison park, and barbecued beef with all the trimmings will be served by Underwood's Ranch Style Foods of Wichita Falls.

The Fair Association is preparing for approximately 350 persons.

Serving will begin at 11:20 a. m. and continue until 1:30 p. m.

Tickets are on sale at the three drug stores: C&H Pharmacy, Parsons and Pruden Drug; the Chamber of Commerce and The Wellington Leader.

Former Countian In Revival at Friendship

Revival services will open at Friendship Baptist Church Friday, August 24, and continue through the following Friday, August 31 according to J. C. Hartman who is helping with plans.

Bro. George Crawford of Henderson will be the evangelist, and the song services will be directed by the church members.

Services will be held twice each day, at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Bro. Elvis Pitts is the pastor.

Bro. Crawford was raised in Collingsworth county and graduated from high school here, he was pastor of several churches in the Henderson area.

He now is vice president of Henderson Baptist College at that city, a school for the training of preachers of the denomination.

The public is invited to attend any or all of the services, Hartman said, and especially are Crawford's friends urged to be present.

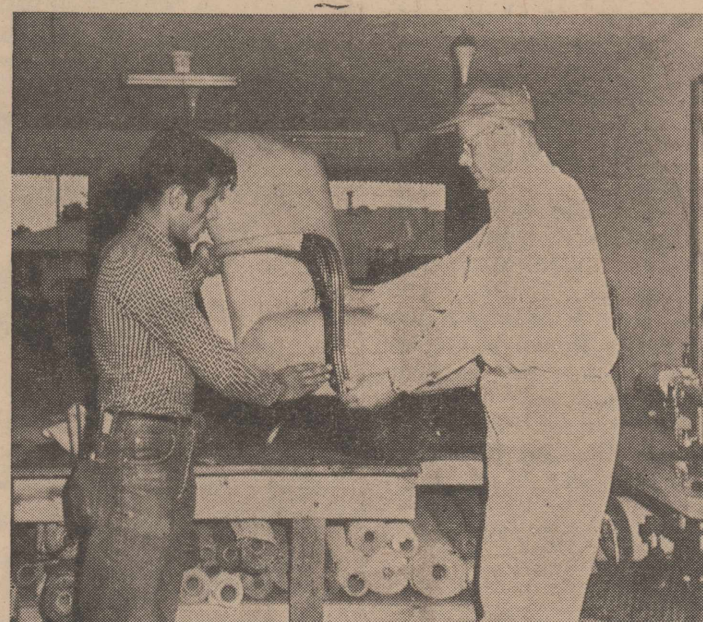

Project Show Fund Reported

Collection of $993 for expenses of the Youth Project Show to be held in connection with the county fair was reported Tuesday, August 21, by N. M. Higdon of the chamber of commerce.

Ben Hurst, veteran project show supporter, is in charge of raising the money.

Approximately $1,250 will be needed to pay the project show premiums and bear other expenses.

Record Delivery Made on First 1962 Cotton

A record delivery of the first bale of cotton was set in Wellington Thursday, August 16, when Kermit Hall and his son, Bill Hall, ginned a 452 pound bale.

This was a middling white bale, pulled from a field that will produce a bale and a half or more per acre, and in no way affected by the hot dry weather, according to Dub Marchant, manager of the farmers Co-Op, where the bale was ginned.

The gin bought the cotton for 37½ cents per pound, which represented about $40 on the bale above market price. It was ginned free of charge, Marchant said.

Hall and his son reached town about 8 p. m. with the bale.

The cotton was planted April 12, the owner said.

This is around a week earlier than the previous earliest bale delivered in Wellington, veteran ginners recall. Twelve or 15 years ago, during an exceptionally dry year, a bale opened by the dry weather was delivered on August 23, recalled Dick Sweat, then the Co-op gin manager.

Refugee Makes Good in Local Upholstery Firm

Frank Andras, who is now employed by the Herman Childress Mattress Co. of Wellington, is a 21 year-old Hungarian refugee whose rehabilitation sounds something like a Cinderella story.

The odds were definitely against him when he was brought to the Western Oklahoma Tuberculosis Sanatorium in Clinton in 1959.

He had been brought to the United States from Hungary by a sponsoring Catholic organization and had done odd jobs in Oklahoma City prior to succumbing to tuberculosis. Through dint of hard work by sanatorium personnel he began to show improvement. Adjustment for him was still difficult, however, and he did not fully begin to find himself until the staff physician approved for training in the rehabilitation facility.

He chose furniture as and after he was discharged with inactive tuberculosis arrangements were made for him to commute to and from classes.

After a training period of 21 months work was found for him with the Wellington firm where he has been doing good work. Mr. Childress says he is a very competent upholsterer man and considers him a full time employee.

City Manager Bura Handley said Yates was helping change the chlorine gas bottles from which chlorine is used to sterilize the water in the pool.

After returning home, Yates developed a throat irritation and caught and was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital.

Chlorine gas in its bottled form is highly concentrated and goes in the water only in a much diluted form, it was pointed out.

Mrs. Sitton to Teach at Tech

Mrs. Margaret Ann Sitton, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Wilson, has been added to the faculty of the home economics department of Texas Tech College, Lubbock.

Mrs. Sitton taught during the last year in the homemaking department of Tascosa high school, Amarillo.

She received a bachelor of science degree from North Texas State College and master of science from Southwest Texas State College at San Marcos.

During the summer, Mrs. Sitton worked toward her doctor's degree at Tech. Her three year-old daughter, Peggy Lou, remained with Mr. and Mrs. Wilson.

Runs Another Through Fence

Negro Chases Himself Into Arms of the Law

D. C. Grisby, Negro, who went on a wild spree in both Collingsworth and Childress counties Wed., August 15, is now lodged in the Childress County jail.

Earlier in the day Grisby had used a shotgun to run Floyd Solomon through a barbed wire fence in the Swearingen community, according to Sheriff John Rainey. Solomon was severely cut by wire although he was not shot. Local officers were looking for Grisby when he made his way back to Wellington and stole a pickup belonging to the Lone Star Gas Company.

Grisby drove south toward Childress and north of Childress on Highway 83 his erratic driving forced Sgt. Fern Zinn who was accompanied by his wife, off the highway. The Negro turned the pickup around and drove up behind Zinn's car. He is reported to have said that he was an officer on special duty and wanted the Airman to prove his identity.

While they were talking Zinn got his engine started and turned around and took out for Childress. Upon reaching Childress Zinn spotted City Patrolman Joe Hicks and was reporting the incident to him when the Negro drove up and was arrested.

Grisby is also charged with forgery in Donley County, but was released on bond on that charge at 1:30.

Elementry Students Register August 23-24

Wellington elementary school students will register Thursday afternoon and Friday afternoon August 23 and 24, Jack Davis, principal, has announced.

Children in grades one, two and three are to come to the school to register Thursday from 1 to 4 p. m. and fourth and fifth grade boys and girls will register Friday from 1 to 4.

A teachers meeting has been set by Davis for 9 a. m. Thursday.

First grade students were asked to bring certified copies of their birth certificates, Davis said. The originals should not be brought, as they will be kept at the school to become a permanent part of the child's record.

Teacher assignments have been made, Davis said.

First grade teachers are Mrs. R. B. Tucker, Mrs. Vernon Peters and Mrs. Sam Thompson; second grade, Mrs. Olea Burquist and Mrs. Les White; third grade, Mrs. Gus Barton and Mrs. Dan Henard; fourth grade, Mrs. Lynn Carter, Mrs. Byron Duncan and Mrs. Claude Savage; and fifth grade, Mrs. A. A. McQueary and Mrs. J. I. Morgan.

$7,209 Donated to Water Fund

Collingsworth people have paid in $7,209.50 to finance the county's over-all water improvement program.

"We feel that people have been generous, and this almost reaches our $7,500 goal," N. M. Higdon, Chamber of Commerce manager, said.

Reports have not been received from the Samnorwood and Quail areas, he added, and this is expected to put the drive over the top.

State Government Expense Mounting

Candidates for various public offices were promising "greater economy in government" in their campaign speeches early this year, yet they will be faced with requests from several state agencies for greater appropriations during the next biennium.

Government is costing more and more each year, just as the costs are rising in family budgets. We are spending more for everything.

For instance, one day last week the newspapers carried stories which gave indication of what is to come when the legislature convenes in January. The Texas prison system estimated that it will need some $42 million during the next two years to improve and operate the system. The State Parks Board will likely request $5 million, about three times the amount appropriated for the current biennium.

It is certain that more will be required for higher education since the University of Houston has been absorbed by the State, and since several colleges have been raised to senior rank.

The Department of Public Safety will request more than $4 million in new money.

Now who will say that this request or that request should be denied? Who would deny additional funds for providing better parks? Who would say no more money for correctional institutions? Who would clamp down on our Department of Public Safety?

Undoubtedly more money will be needed for public schools as well as for colleges and universities. Who will say how much more, or where it should stop?

Per capita costs of government have risen by nearly five times since 1940. It is inevitable that costs be greater during the next few years. That is the way we are living. That is what we will demand—more services from our state. And more services from our local government.

It might be well to review just how our tax dollar is being spent. For instance public schools, higher education and teacher retirement take 45.4 per cent of the tax dollar. Roads take 26.8 per cent. Welfare gets 15.8 cents of the dollar while law enforcement takes 2.5 cents. Health, hospitals and special schools all combined take only 4.5 per cent.

The surprising thing to many people is the small cost of operating the three basic branches of our state government—administrative, judicial, and legislative. All executive branch costs amount to only 4.4 per cent of the total dollar; the judiciary costs four-tenths of a cent and the legislative branch costs two-tenths of one cent.

Add up all the above figures and you have one dollar. Add up all the appropriations for the two years ending Aug. 31, 1962 and you have $1,200 million. That is what we said was about right to spend for state government.

When the new governor and the new legislature take charge next January they will be confronted by many of the same problems that faced our state officials two years ago—and the two years before that.

One thing is certain: If we want more services we must be willing to bear a heavier tax load. On the other hand, if we demand a reduction in taxes (costs) we must be willing to accept less in the way of services.

Just where we should economize is debatable!

An irrigation well pumping 1,000 gallons per minute was brought in on the Elvis Crawley farm at Fresno.

Burglars entered all three lumber yards in one night but got no more than $5 for their work.

D. W. Maddox Jr. brought the first bale of cotton to town, but Frank Light got one ginned first. Ed Crowder ginned the first bale at Dodson. This is the earliest cotton has ever been ginned here.

W. J. Gosnell received a broken hip at his Quail farm when he cranked his tractor while in gear and it knocked him down.

J. N. Wallace, clerk of the draft board, resigned and he and Mrs. Wallace moved to Arkansas.

Ross Wilkerson was named the new draft board clerk, Henry Sullivan and Bobo Castleberry received degrees from the University of Texas.

Three children of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Blewer provided the entire student body of China Grove School. Miss Anita Hughey was the teacher.

Students of the Cottonwood, Houselog and Rolla Schools were contracted into Wellington. Teachers were Mrs. Lewis Morris, Mrs. Selma Rainey and Miss Rama Camp.

Capt. John Coleman was notified he was being transferred to the Philippine Islands.

George Neal, science teacher in Wellington, received his master's degree. He also resigned here to teach at Henderson.

VETERANS' INSURANCE PLANNED

AUSTIN.—Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler announced that the Veterans' Land Board had concluded preliminary arrangements to provide group credit life insurance for some 30,000 veterans who have purchased land under the state's $200,000,000 program.

Great American Reserve Life Insurance Company of Dallas will be the insurer if the Texas Insurance Commission approves the plan. Sadler said the plan is to guarantee full ownership of land to a veteran's widow or heirs at modest annual premiums.

Land board will send details to veterans included in the program when it is fully authorized.

BIG SCHOOLS "COOL"

AUSTIN.—Mass air conditioning programs at the University of Texas and Texas A&M College will account for 7% of the $28,767,000 of state funds earmarked for construction in the year starting Sept. 1.

Money to air condition old classroom and lab buildings on the Austin and College Station campuses comes out of revenue from University Permanent Fund investments, as does all the $15,588,683 to be used for new buildings, renovation and additions at the two schools next year.

Air conditioning projects at the University include the chemical engineering building; Garrison Hall; Sutton Hall; and T. U. Taylor Hall engineering building.

A&M plans to air condition its agricultural building; animal industries building; biological sciences building; chemical building; engineering building; Francis Hall; and physics buildings.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where a newspaper story says there are now 3 million motorboats cruising up and down our U. S. highways.

But anybody can see that if we keep on damming up every gully that somebody runs across, the time will come when every American will own a boat or have to stay at home.

However, there is one cheering thought about this situation: by the time we get all of these dams paid for, humankind will likely have evolved to where folks will all be born with gills and flippers.

Mild horror is being expressed by some folks who claim the Administration tries to whip Congressmen into voting for its program by making threats.

Like promising if they don't play ball they won't get any new dams or postoffices or other types of vote-bait in their districts.

Which is not any new idea, but just the old "or-else" technique that is widely used by preachers to inspire cleaner living, and by hi-jackers in fund-raising activities, and which might be called Reverse Incentive.

Federal study is going on about whether to make the cigarette people print it on the packages that smoking these things may cause cancer.

Which ought to meet the needs of all selectively educated people who can't read the newspapers but can read the fine print on a cigarette package.

In the public interest, also, no doubt all food containers ought to bear the warning that eating this stuff may cause either fattening or longer tax-life.

I see where a Congressman Gross of Iowa figures that he and his fellow lawmakers draw more than $30 an hour for the time they actually put in on the job.

Which seems like pretty good pay, but they only average two or three hours productive time each day, and most of them would find it hard to get by if it wasn't for the fringe benefits.

We probably ought to put Congressmen on a commission, anyhow, so they would only get paid a percentage of whatever public money they could slap the bureaucrats away from.

My forwardized neighbor a while back bought a book on Speed Reading Self-Taught, and one of your deep editorials which takes you two hours to write he can now read in 1.2 seconds.

He has read through our public library forward and backward, and is now advanced to spending his 1967 wages to keep himself in books.

And he is looking forward to somebody bringing out a speed-listening course, so he can listen through a one hour after-dinner speech in a couple of minutes.

I see where the emerging anti-work type of citizen is whooping it up for three days of labor and four days of leisure per week.

Which would have been a mighty fine deal back in the old days, when leisure time was spent on some creek bank dunking worms, or sitting in a porch swing drawing flies.

But modern leisure is such high-octane stuff that people can't stand it in big doses, due to physical and mental limitations. Three days of relaxed working is just not enough time to get over a modern four-day leisure blast.

HIGH COURTS TAKE A HOLIDAY

Justices of the Texas Supreme Court and the Court of Criminal Appeals have shed their long black robes for the remainder of the summer. The massive doors to their elegant chambers in the Texas Supreme Court building won't be opened again until they reconvene on October 1.

Both courts are "supreme courts" because of a unique judicial set-up that Texas shares with the State of Oklahoma and England. Civil cases appealed from lower courts come to the Supreme Court. Final hall of appeal for criminal appeals is the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Dodson HD Club Meets Aug. 14

Dodson Home Demonstration Club met Tuesday night, August 14, in the home of Mrs. Glen Lewis for another fabulous cook-out. There were three tables piled so high with food that 25 members and visitors simply could not dispose of it all. However, a lovely "Red Velvet Cake" baked by Mrs. Frank Short, disappeared quite rapidly.

Mrs. Kathryn Potter Barjenbruch, Home Demonstration Agent, presented a film depicting the travels of several foods from field through factory to family table. The highlight of the evening was the opening of farewell gifts by the surprised honoree, Mrs. A. B. Cooper, who is moving to Midland.

Mrs. Gilbert Hunt received the Hostess' Prize. Members present were Meses. C. E. Crosnoe, M. R. Wynn, Gilbert Hunt, Tommie Vann, Fred Powers, Regie Lewis, Truitt Holland, Marvin Teutsch, Ben Bogle, A. B. Cooper, Thurman Crownover, Frank Short, Merle Whitfield, T. J. Bowling, Miss Gwen Lemons, and the hostess, Mrs. Lewis. Welcome visitors were Meses. Barjenbruch, Lonnie Roberson, J. T. Martin, Misses Sherry Crownover, Janet Holland, Judy Lewis, Ronnie Vann, Nancy Vann, and little Glen Lewis, who presided as king over the whole affair.

Rev. and Mrs. Jack Durham spent part of last week in Albuquerque, New Mexico, where Rev. Durham's father was seriously ill. They came back by Lubbock to visit their son, Paul, who is a student at Texas Tech this summer in preparation to teaching the choral music in all grade levels of the Muleshoe city school system.

LIFE ADJUSTMENT NEEDS EARLY START
To encourage a little more creativity in junior, psychologists recommend introducing the child to a variety of activities and spheres of endeavor at an early age. Early induction to a variety of activities, from music to trips to the zoo, to story telling, broadens a child's perspective at an early age, and thus induces creativity.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Adams Observe Golden Wedding Anniversary Sun.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. (Bill) Adams, beloved farm couple, observed their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday, August 19 at a reception given in their honor by Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Moore.

The event was held in their farm home east of town and friends called between 2 and 5 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams were married August 18, 1912 in the home of the brides parents Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Dickey and have lived in that same neighborhood for the past 50 years.

In the course of those years they have made countless friends by their neighborliness and cheerful good fellowship always being ready to lend a helping hand.

Mrs. Adams came to Collingsworth County in 1906 with her parents and Mr. Adams arrived in 1910. He worked on a ranch near Dalhart before coming to Wellington. He likes to recall that he and the late Pink Sullivan came to the county together.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Adams have been active in church and community work. They are members of the Nazarene Church in Wellington. Mrs. Adams was a diligent worker in Home Demonstration circles in her more active years and still likes to do fancy needle work for her friends.

Mr. Adams was one of the organizers and charter members of the Farmers Co-Op Gin and served on the board of directors for many years. He says that his hobby is fishing when time permits, but his neighbors know that his real hobby is helping his neighbors. He is a Trustee on the Board of The Nazarene Church.

If hubby snores (or wifey) ... be patient. Although much is known about snoring, little can be done. But if hubby sleeps on his back and snores, you might tell him he looks much so much nicer on his side or face down. This might help (or start another fight). At least if he's lying face down and snores, his snoring will be muffled somewhat.

Glenn Ray Hunt in Top 15 at Wayland College

PLAINVIEW—Special: Glenn Ray Hunt, Dodson, is one of 15 top ranked students in 1962 graduating classes who have received permits to enter Wayland Baptist College, according to Dean Maurice J. Sharp. Mr. Hunt was valedictorian of his class.

Valedictorians and salutatorians of their classes are awarded $300 scholarships to Wayland Baptist College.

Mr. Hunt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Teutsch, Dodson, is currently enrolled in summer school at Wayland. He is undecided as to his major and minor fields but will work toward the BA degree.

In high school Mr. Hunt served as president of the Science Club and was a member of the yearbook staff and high school chorus.

Mr. Hunt will be a member of Wayland College's largest freshman class as admission of registrants is running 25 per cent ahead of this time last summer. Additions have had to be made to the history, English and mathematics faculties to care for the increase. Additional facilities include the spacious new Home Life Building, which opens in September for classes in home and family life education and laboratories for foods and clothing, and the $12,000 electronics language laboratory which went into use with the second summer term.

Laymen Speak at City Church

Sunday, August 26th is Laymen Sunday at the local Church of the Nazarene in the absence of the pastor, Rev. Jack Durham. Two outstanding laymen will bring the Sunday messages for this day — Mr. Clyde Emmert will be the morning speaker and Mr. Earl Yarbrough will be the evening speaker. All the activities of the day will be in the hands of the laymen. These fine lay speakers will have messages worth hearing, and the public is invited to come and participate in these unusual services.

The pastor and wife will be at Camp Arrowhead near Glenrose, Texas on the banks of the Brazos River for the camp meeting of the Abilene District which is held annually by the denomination during the month of August. This year's date will be 20th through 26th.

SAFETY BELT DRIVE LAUDED

AUSTIN.—Gov. Daniel credited organizations such as the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, with awakening public interest in the use of safety belts in automobiles. He said that Texas Department of Public Safety statisticians have informed him that their accident reports show "500 lives could have been saved in Texas traffic in 1961 alone if drivers and front-seat passengers, in particular, had been wearing seat belts."

This would have reduced the year's traffic toll by nearly one-fourth.

Jaycees and members of TFWC have been conducting safety belt campaigns.

PARSONS DRUG

LOOKING AHEAD

by Dr. George S. Benson

LOOK AHEAD A WARNING

The Wall Street Journal, a newspaper which has been watching the stock market closely for a long time, carried some pungent editorial comment following the recent down-swing of stock prices.

It referred to the price break that caused the values of stocks to drop many billions as a "jolt" that could serve as a "timely warning," one the nation had better heed. This jolt to the market, it said, might be very helpful if the country and Washington would pay any attention to it.

Being no thing apart from the rest of the country, the market may be considered a mirror in which real or imagined economic conditions are reflected, the Journal explained.

"Whenever its wild enthusiasm reflects an illusion it is only because a delusion exists elsewhere; whenever it reflects fright, it is only because uneasiness has been created elsewhere." It is easy for all of us to recall the widespread lack of confidence and fear that followed the government's massive unleashing of punitive power against the steel industry.

Basic Delusions

But the Journal probes further. "The root of the stock market's trouble, which is now being corrected, is a delusion. It is a delusion that every tree grows to the sky. It is the delusion that a nation, unlike a family, will never be called to account for imprudent economic policies. It is the delusion that the Government, if it will just intervene boldly, can always keep everything spinning upward. It is the delusion that Government can abuse the economy one moment and whip it on to new heights in the next."

President Kennedy's oft-repeated campaign promise was to "get America moving forward" to unheard-of levels of growth and employment.

This kind of unprecedented prosperity would, of course, patch up all the deficits in the budget caused by throwing billions around in order to achieve the prosperity. A sort of "perpetual motion" of politicians, as the wag put it.

Here is the Journal's description of how the President, dissatisfied with the booming decade behind him, would move the nation ahead to greater and greater growth:

To Move Ahead

"True, there were a few little problems. But the Administration was going to solve the dollar problem abroad by cutting Aunt Bessie's customs allowance. It was going to spur business by suing nearly every major company under the anti-trust laws, and hold down prices by telling major industries what they could do. It was going to encourage savings by withholding taxes on savings, encourage farmers to solve the farm problem by putting them under the tightest controls ever, encourage labor by fixing the formula for their wages."

This approach, the Journal went on to say, has never made any sense. It is a credit to our system that the economy is still robust despite all the punishment given it. "All it needs now is for people to stop abusing it. To stop pretending that costs can be pushed up and prices held down, that we can spend without limit at home and abroad and never pay the piper, that high taxes are a tonic for vigorous growth, that Government can make the business of the nation go forward by kicking it in the behind."

Back to Basics

The Journal is entirely right. Perhaps it is not required that business be loved by the government, but some evidence of respect is essential.

What business and industry needs from government most of all is understanding. This should include an appreciation of the nature of the free economy that makes possible our high production, high consumption pattern and is responsible for our high standards of living. The conciliatory words of recent weeks have been helpful, but words alone will not be enough to restore confidence.

All of us need to get back to the basic idea that a really free economy is one that is largely self-propelled, one that requires no coddling and petting from dispensers of patronage and political spoils.

The fact is that we still live under private capitalistic system, and it is the only kind of system that most Americans desire to live under. Our free enterprise system has been taking a terrific pounding in recent months from those who would have the government direct and manage it. Too many persons in high places do not want to promote a free economy nor allow people to make their own decisions. They want everything socialism has to offer except the name, forgetting that socialism is the road to mediocrity.

Storm Cellars Can Serve as Fallout Shelters

COLLEGE STATION.—Many of the tornado and underground vegetable cellars in Texas can be made into good fallout shelters, says W. S. Allen, extension agricultural engineer.

However, there are several points that must be kept in mind when remodeling these shelters to provide adequate fallout protection. They are: (a) adequate shielding; (b) a protected entrance; (c) positive ventilation; (d) storage facilities for supplies; (e) and installation of a radio antenna for radio reception.

The most economical means of providing additional shielding needed is with a layer of soil to a depth of 3 feet over the entire cellar roof. Most cellars will require additional reinforcing in the roof in order to hold this extra weight. A steel reinforced, six inch thick concrete slab over the roof may be used instead of the soil cover. A local contractor can tell you the amount of steel necessary for your situation, but for most cellars 1/2-inch steel bars laid on 12-inch centers in both directions will be sufficient.

A right angle entrance into the cellar, essential to protection from fallout, may be made by building a partial wall inside the existing cellar. If the cellar is not large enough to permit this wall inside, then a new entrance should be constructed with the necessary right angle in it.

A mechanical blower should be installed to provide positive air exhaust in time of disaster, and an inlet and outlet vent provided. The blower should provide a minimum of 5 cubic feet per minute per person. A filter is not necessary for the average home shelter.

There should be enough shelves and storage space to hold the recommended amount of supplies and a radio antenna should be installed to receive CONELRAD broadcasts. Be sure that your battery powered radio will work in the shelter and will connect to the antenna.

Fallout shelter plans are available from the Extension Service Office, Office of Civil Defense, and other organizations concerned with civil defense.

Time to Fight Cattle Grubs

COLLEGE STATION.—Cattle grubs annually cost U.S. livestock producers between 100 and 300 million dollars, says R. L. Ridgway, associate extension entomologist, Texas A&M College.

Losses to meat packers result from the carcass devaluation and trimming and hide damage, according to Ridgway. Losses on the farm and ranch result from skin irritation, nervousness of the animals, below normal weight gains and lowered milk production.

Cattle grubs may be controlled by conventional spray applications or pour-on of backline treatment. All grub insecticides should be used between the time heel fly activities cease in the spring and before the grubs appear in the backs of the animals, he adds. In most areas of Texas, the systems may be used between May 1 and August 1.

Co-ral and Ruelene may be used as sprays or as pour-on insecticides and Co-ral may also be used as a dip. Ronnel (Troleone) is a systemic and may be fed to the animals in the normal feeding operation either in the feed or in mineral. It is pointed out that these materials should be used only on beef animals or dry dairy cows.

For detailed information on the mixing and application rates of these insecticides, study the label instructions. Ridgway recommends that precautions concerning their use on young and sick animals be particularly observed.

Well organized area-wide cattle grub control programs give the best results.

Boys Ranch Will Stage Rodeo on Sept. 2 & 3

A new rodeo arena and a record number of contestants is expected to attract the largest number of people ever to visit Cal Farley's Boys Ranch when the 300 boys now living there put on their 18th annual Boys Ranch Rodeo, September 2nd and 3rd, the Labor Day weekend.

A total of 265 boys have registered as contestants in the nationally famous event that has become a Boys Ranch tradition. Although all of the boys who make their home at the Ranch will participate in some phase of the rodeo, only the best riders will be riding the professional rodeo animals that have been taken to the Ranch for the occasion. Boys, from 5 to 17, will be competing for honors and prizes by riding calves, steers, Brahma bulls and bucking brones.

To prepare for the crowds, the boys have been helping with the construction of the new and larger rodeo arena, located in the midst of shady cottonwood trees, south of the Ranch picnic grounds. New chutes and corrals have been constructed to assure a fast-moving rodeo and bleachers have been elevated to provide an excellent view of the action for all of the spectators.

The boys will be competing in two divisions, according to ages, and will ride under R. C. A. rules. Clowns and trick riders will provide the color and excitement along with other special feature attractions.

The Boys Ranch rodeo is the biggest Labor Day weekend event of the Golden Spread area. Performances will be held at 2:30 on Sunday and Monday afternoons. Admission is 75c for children and $1.50 for adults. Proceeds will go to help the Boys Ranch expansion program.

Mrs. B. G. Glenn visited in Dallas, with her sister, Mrs. Frank Johnson for a week.

Combine Fleets Provide Sizable Industry for County Operators

By Elaine Crawley

Some of the fleets have been home for weeks but others are still far away and may not return until September. These are not fleets that sail the watery seas. Instead they are fleets of combines, trucks, trailers, and other motor vehicles that go forth annually to battle the dust and the sun, the rain and the hail, in their effort to harvest the seas of golden grain on the midwestern plains of the North American Continent that stretch from this part of Texas hundreds of miles into Canada.

These fleets of harvesting machines came into being during World War II when the existing harvest machinery was inadequate to meet the need for food to feed this nation and its allies. They have continued in operation since that date for the grain growers of the midwest, particularly the wheat farmers have found it more economical to employ these specialists in grain harvesting than to buy the expensive equipment needed today and harvest their own grain. The industry is and has been an important segment of the economy of the Wellington area and some of the harvesters have been operating out of Wellington this season.

Arthur Belew was in Wyoming last week and is expected to go on into Canada before he returns home. With six machines, Mr. Belew begins the harvest at Seymour, Texas and travels through Kansas, South Dakota, North Dakota, and on into Canada. Dwight Burns of Quail, Kenneth Patterson, and Glen Thomas both of Wellington are the local boys who make up the crew.

Johnnie Crawford is in Montana at the present time and is not expected to return until early in September.

Elvis Crawley returned in the middle of July. Beginning at Chilcothe, Texas, with two machines, Mr. Crawley harvested as far as Seldon, Kansas. Among his crew were Jennings Wells and Stanley Harrison both of Wellington.

Although Drury Lacy has returned to Wellington, his sons, Don and Denzil, are still harvesting. With Don in Bismark, South Dakota and Denzil in McLaughlin, S. Dakota, they plan to continue to Winters S. Dakota before turning back. Some of the boys who operate the Lacy's six machines are Jackie and Bobby Barnett, Graham Bowen, Johnny Jones, Kent Holland, and Max Byman all of Wellington.

Ray Peebles and his son, Kent, are at present in McLaughlin, South Dakota. Mr. Peebles begins the harvest in Quanah, Texas, and with five machines plans to harvest in North Dakota.

Gene Martin, who has returned from the harvest, went as far as Kansas and returned home. Mr. Martin operates four machines and the local boys who accompanied him are Ray Denton and Gordie Dockins.

Beginning at Altus, Oklahoma, Lynn Wright cut into South Dakota before returning home. Gene Brown, of Wellington and Tommy Harelsen of Quail are the area boys who help operate Mr. Wright's three machines.

Hezz Jones, with two machines, began the harvest in Wellington and continued to Dumas. He returned to Wellington from Dumas after having his Colorado and Nebraska cuts hauled out. Herbert Duncan and Bobby Winton both of Wellington were among Mr. Jones' crew.

Herman Belew, presently in Flasher, North Dakota, is not expected to return until early in September. Mr. Belew began the harvest at Seymour, Texas with four combines.

Having his Colorado cut ruined by hail, Melvin Seale harvested in Wellington and Dumas before returning home. J. C. Saunders of Quail and Douglas Seale are the area boys operating Mr. Seale's two machines.

Odus Benson and Glen Young expected to continue on to North Dakota, began the harvest at Seymour, Texas. With five machines, their crew is made up of Mr. Young's college friends.

The young men who go forth with the harvest crews travel from the flat plains of Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, and Colorado, to the rolling hills of Nebraska, the Dakotas, Montana, and Canada. They meet people from different backgrounds and environments as well as different nationalities. During the summer months, the boys live in either motels or hotels or trailer house and buses owned by the combine operators. Their breakfasts and dinner meals are in cafes while at lunch sandwiches are brought to the fields and they eat in shifts so as not to stop the harvesting operation. Most of the time, the harvest is very rewarding for these boys but in the wet, rough years they sometimes get back with little money to show for three months of hard work.

In some years the return of the combine crews is like the return of the fleets that have been sailing the seven seas richly laden at the end of a profitable voyage, but in other years the return of the fleets is a dismal affair for they encounter rain and empty fields devastated by hail, costly delays when muddy fields kept them from combining the grain, and the piracy of the price cutters grown desperate by too much idleness.

There is great profit and great risk in the land voyages; but there is also adventure. And that may be the reason that the fleets of combines still get ready each spring and set forth on their summer voyages.

STRONG VOICE SILENT

AUSTIN.—When the Texas Railroad Commission held its monthly hearing to determine the August oil allowable, representatives from the major oil companies and independents were heard, but the strong voice of Commissioner Gen. Ernest O. Thompson was missing.

As one oilman after the other went up to urge a law 8-day allowable, no member of the Railroad Commission challenged them. If "the General" had been there, he might have done so, but he was seriously ill in his home in Amarillo.

SHALL RETURN

Thieves broke into a Leicester, England office and stole only a tape measure, but they left this note in a typewriter: "We Will be back."

THAT TOUCH!

It's apparent that Doris Day isn't in agreement with the baseball umpire's call in this N. Y. Yankee dugout scene from "That Touch of Mink," laugh-loaded romantic comedy in which she stars with Cary Grant. From left to right are Roger Maris, the indignant Doris, Mickey Mantle, the perplexed Mr. Grant and Yogi Berra. The champion Yank stars play themselves in the film co-starring Gig Young and Audrey Meadows. In color at the Bronco Drive In Thurs., Fri., Sat., Sun., Mon. and Tues.

Mrs. O. A. Kiker, who has several hundred laying hens reports that the spraying planes are playing havoc with her flock. When an ag plane passes low overhead the chickens go wild and fly into the wire netting and into each other and several have been crippled. The real loss, however, is in the production of eggs. Mrs. Kiker says that she was getting well over a hundred eggs a day before the planes started coming over. Now it has fallen off more than 40 per cent. Mrs. Homer Ingram also reports that several of her customers have been complaining about the reduction in egg production. Please gentlemen, let's skirt around the farm homes where the ladies are trying to make money out of chickens.

Plans are underway here to conduct an oral vaccination for all who want it. Announcement of the date and places will be made next week in all probability. This is the Sabin vaccine which is administered on a lump of sugar. Doctors say that the Sabin vaccine should be taken even by those who have had three shots of the Salk. Every person of every age should be immunized for older people may be carriers and infect younger people.

Fair time is almost here and advance reports indicate a lot of interest. The parade is expected to be larger and the exhibits more varied. The carnival will be in operation this week end and will continue through next week.

Down in Quanah they are planning a Mexican style Fiesta for September. Ed Eakin reports that they may even have a bull fight. I don't think so. That so-called sport was ruled illegal in Texas long before the state did away with pari-mutual betting on horse races.

Tom Wilkins, that jovial personality who holds forth with windy sessions at the Red Top Cafe each morning after the breakfast dishes are cleared away, contends I have done him harm by mentioning the rich people who live south of 15th street. Says that the paper was no sooner out last week than all his creditors started coming around wanting him to pay up. He claims the young husbands in that section have to take tranquilizers at night to drown out the noise of the mortgages drawing interest. Besides he has yet to hear of Robert Posey, James Doneghy or Paul Starr moving south of fifteenth.

We should not be feeling too sorry for ourselves because of a few torrid dry days. Down in Austin it has not rained for 53 straight days. Although it did not reach Texas until September it was just this time last year when Hurricane Carla was beginning to form far out in the Caribbean. I still remember the look on the faces of the refugees as they came streaming into Austin on the eve of the storm.

Will wonder never cease, A Dallas girl has been chosen "Miss Fort Worth."

Schools Best for Driver Education

There is an ungent need for greater emphasis on driver education courses in Texas schools, J. O. Musick, General Manager of the Texas Safety Association, said recently.

"If we are to succeed in training our youth today to be better drivers tomorrow, then we must make driver education courses available to them," Musick said.

The safety director pointed out that of the 1,402 public schools in Texas, there were only 671 offering driver education courses during the past year. Of the 105 non-public schools, 29 offered driver education courses.

"This is less than a 50 per cent participation in driver education courses by Texas schools," Musick said.

Total enrollment for grades nine through 12 in public schools during the past year was 472,873 students. Non-public schools had an enrollment of 14,882 students.

"In state supported schools 49,421 students completed the basic driver education course which requires 30 clock hours of classroom instruction, six clock hours of observation and six clock hours of practice driving," he said.

"In non-public schools, 1,735 students received the basic driver education course including the observation and practice driving."

He explained these figures do not mean that only this number of students have received driver education, some of the number included in the total enrollment have already had instruction in driver education.

"However, we figure there were at least 130,320 students of eligible age who would have taken driver education if it had been available to them," Musick added.

The 130,320 figure represents the number of students enrolled in the tenth grades in all Texas schools. It is also the figure that the Texas Education Agency has used in determining the percentage of students receiving driver education in our schools last year.

This percentage is approximately 39 per cent. Music said safety experts agree that driver education is the key to traffic accident prevention.

"If we can reach drivers before they form bad driving habits, we can prevent many accidents that take their toll in death and disabling injuries and cause an economic loss to our country," he said.

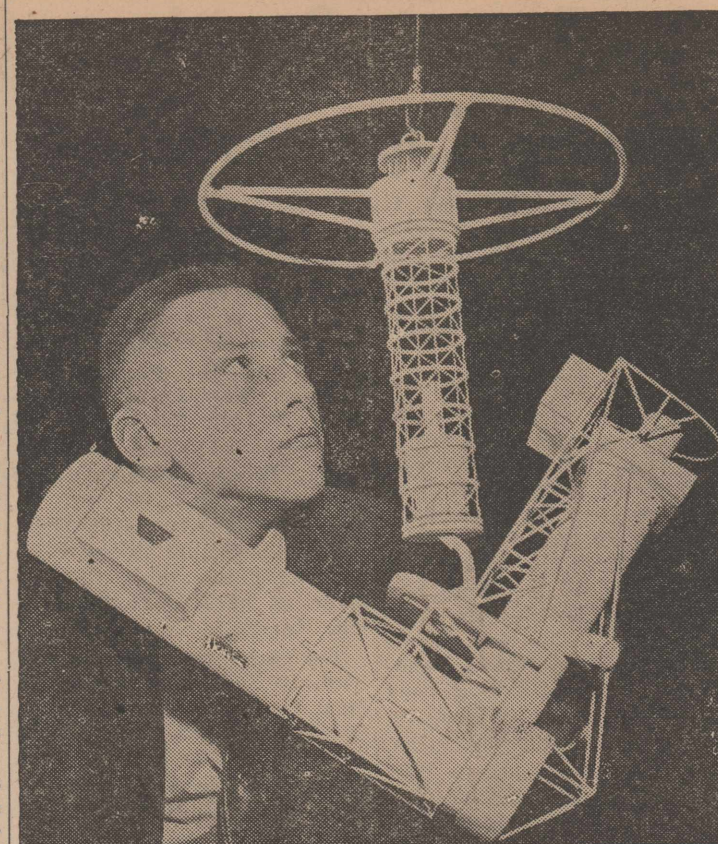

The Texas Safety Association director says the schools are the best place for training safe drivers.
