C of C Event On January 25

Tickets for the luncheon-theater event to be sponsored 1 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 25 by the Women's committee of the Chamber of Commerce as a benefit for the local Hospital Foundation Fund continue in brisk demand, it was reported earlier this week by the committee.

The original program was for the Alpha-Omega Players to present a performance of "Heroes and Hard Cases" at a dinner-theater gala Sunday at Sandollar's Colony room, but the 150 tickets for the evening performance were sold out the day the tickets became available and it was decided to add the luncheon-theater performance to accommodate those who were unable to obtain tickets for the evening event.

The sponsoring committee reported the Alpha-Omega Players volunteered to contribute the 1 p.m. performance to the hospital project. Committee members expressed their appreciation for the civic-minded action of the players.

It is believed that a fair supply of tickets are still available for the luncheon event, although approximately half of the tickets for this performance had been sold by the early part of this week. Tickets are $10 for both the luncheon and the theatrical performance, with luncheon starting at 1 p.m. Sunday and the performance following at 2 p.m. Tickets may be reserved by telephone or in person at the Chamber of Commerce office on a first come, first served basis. The evening dinner will be at 7 p.m. and the performance at 8 p.m.

Twenty sponsors' tickets have been sold for $30 each to individuals and business firms. Names of sponsors will be printed in the program. A number of individuals have made cash contributions to the affair because they will be unable to attend. The committee reports all such contributions will be received with appreciation.

"Heroes and Hard Cases" is a Bicentennial oriented comedy written by Alpha-Omega Players. The theatrical organization maintains its national headquarters in Rockport and presents plays throughout the country at churches, colleges, country clubs and military bases.

There are three traveling casts consisting of four actors each, and each troupe has a repertoire of several different plays. Each group presents an average of six plays a week.

As to "Heroes and Hard Cases," the play is about the people who have made this country great. The material used in the play was assembled from a wide variety of source material such as history texts, biographies, folk songs and legends, both written and spoken. The play includes many traditional and some original musical numbers.

Proceeds from the luncheon-dinner theater gala will be added to the fund being raised to provide emergency hospital service and possibly ambulance service for this area. The Women's Committee already has raised a total of $60,000 for this purpose.

Aransas County Emergency Corps, Rockport Cemetery Association and the SeaFair Commission.

Ballots have been mailed by the Chamber of Commerce to the entire membership and these ballots are to be returned to the C of C office not later than Friday, January 23.

All three organizations nominated are outstanding groups that perform worthwhile services for the people of this community. News articles describing the history and purposes of each organization are published in this issue of the Pilot.

Drivers Course Starts in June

Driver education courses will be offered in the Rockport-Fulton High School this summer starting approximately June 1. The tentative plan is to complete the classroom phase by June 30. Some of the students will complete their driving by June 30. The plan now is to complete the remainder of the student driving phase during July.

The Rockport-Fulton High School has obtained the Aetna Drivetrainer trailer for the month of June to be used in this driver training program.

One phase of the program employs a fleet of computerized simulator cars which students "drive" to filmed traffic situations.

The cars are those of the Aetna Drivetrainer system, furnished through Region II Education Service Center of Corpus Christi, which provides facilities for training 16 students at a time, compared to the three or four students an instructor can handle in a dual-control car.

The Rockport-Fulton installation consists of 16 stationary cars which students "drive" to meet changing road and traffic conditions seen in the wide screen color film shown at the front of the classroom. The simulated car is equipped with all the controls used in standard automobiles. The controls function exactly as they do in real cars.

Under the hood is an electronic "engine" with integrated circuits connected to a digital computer that tells the student immediately what action he should be taking if he varies from good driving procedures. The computer also scores the student's performance for the instructor.

At Rockport-Fulton High School, students will get 12 hours of behind-the-wheel instruction with the Drivetrainer system while on-road time in dual-control cars will be reduced from six to four hours.

Sixteen films and accompanying teacher's guides have been prepared for use with the Drivetrainer system by driver education specialists. The films contain a carefully programmed series of situations selected and filmed to develop judgment and build proper student driving attitude.

Advanced films prepare the student for handling emergency crises and for driving in bad weather. The movies provide opportunities to experience these extreme and dangerous situations in complete safety.

Enrollment for the driver education classes will be taken during the month of January and February. State Law and Texas Education Agency Laws specify that a student must be fifteen (15) years old or older on the date the class starts to be eligible to take a driver training class.

A charge of $40.00 will be made for the driving phase of the program.

Shell Permit Denied for San Antonio Bay

Austin--An application for a special permit to take shell from San Antonio Bay has been denied Parker Brothers and Company, Inc., by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, following a Dec. 9, 1975, hearing on the application.

A letter to the applicant from Clayton T. Garrison, P&WD executive director, concurred with recommendations resulting from that hearing that taking and disturbing of shells in the presently closed area would damage and injuriously affect oysters, oyster beds and fish in waters of a square-mile tract and surrounding waters.

It was also determined by hearing officer Robert J. Kemp, P&WD director of fisheries, that "The proposed removal and replanting of the existing oysters or oyster reefs located in Tract No. 60 to another location...by applicant will not benefit the growth and propagation of the oyster and oyster reefs" and "...will not benefit fishing conditions."

Instead, Garrison's letter specified, removal of the exposed reefs in the tract would have an adverse effect upon the existing water currents in the tract as well as San Antonio Bay. It was also pointed out that alternative sources for shell or shell by-products are available to satisfy requirements of industry.

During the December hearing, it was estimated by the applicant that 1.37 to 1.5 million cubic yards of shell are located on the tract involved.

Girl Scouts to Sell Cookies

Scouts also will sell the cookies in shopping centers and in front of stores. The cookies come in five flavors...mint, vanilla creme sandwich, peanut butter, shorties and peanut butter pattie.

PHONE DIRECTORIES BEING DELIVERED

Thirty-two characters from American history--all talking on various types of past and present telephones--dress the cover of the new Rockport telephone directory.

"This year's phone book cover commemorates the 200th birthday of the United States and the 100th anniversary of the invention of the telephone," said Georgia Shuford, manager for Southwestern Bell.

"The cover is a special 'Happy Birthday' card to all our customers who will join in celebrating these two important anniversaries," Mrs. Shuford added. "It will appear on more than 184 million Bell System telephone directories throughout the U.S."

Delivery of more than 5500 directories began January 17. The artist who designed the cover is Stanley Meltzoff of Fair Haven, N.J. His work has appeared in Saturday Evening Post, Life, Scientific American, National Geographic and Sports Illustrated.

A complete identification of the cover's characters appears inside the new directories.

Mrs. Shuford said residence customers will receive one copy of the new phone book in order to conserve paper.

"However, customers may obtain more copies by calling the business office," she added.

Alien Address Forms Due

Joe F. Staley, District Director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, today urged all aliens in this area who have not yet filled out alien address report forms to do so before January 31 at the nearest Immigration and Naturalization Service office or local Post Office.

The Immigration official pointed out that the law requires all non-citizens, except persons in diplomatic status and foreign representatives to certain international organizations, such as the United Nations, to report their addresses to the Government each January.

Staley added: "The parent or legal guardian of an alien child under 14 years of age must fill out the address report form for such a child in order to comply with the law."

He declared: "We have tried to make it as convenient as possible for non-citizens to meet the address report requirements; and, in view of serious penalties for willful violations all persons subject to the address report law are urged to fulfill this obligation before the end of January."

Staley advised: "It is easy for an alien to meet this requirement. He just goes to the nearest Immigration and Naturalization Service office or post office, fills out the address report form, and returns it to the clerk. Or, after filling it out, place a postage stamp on the reverse of this card and drop the card in any mail box."

CERTIFICATE OF APPRECIATION is presented to Lola L. Bonner, Aransas County Democratic party chairman, by Joe Hugenberg, Rotary president, after she spoke before the local civic group explaining provisions of newly enacted election laws.

Election Laws Are Discussed

Newly enacted election laws which will affect Texas voters for the first time this year were described by Lola L. Bonner, local attorney and Aransas County Democratic party chairman, at a Rotary Club luncheon at Sandollar restaurant Jan. 14.

She said the federal Voting

Rights Act of 1965 as applied to Texas and most southern states requires printing a bi-lingual ballot in Texas counties which have a population with as much as 5 per cent who are of Mexican-American descent.

Further, every political entity in the county responsible for holding an election of any kind must file a report with the U.S. Department of Justice showing among other things:

- *Any change in precinct boundary lines since 1972.
- *Any change in election officials since that year.
- *The ratio among ethnic groups and whites.

*Any changes in voting places since 1972 together with justification for such a change.

Miss Bonner reported that one Texas county has been faulted for failing to report that a polling place had been moved from the second floor to the first floor of its courthouse as the result of remodeling.

Another example of how the law works is the requirement that Hawaii must print ballots in six different languages and that Arizona must print ballots for an Indian tribe which has no written language, only a sign language. The Department of Justice has ordered that a happy cloud with a smiling face must be used to indicate a "yes" vote and that a gloomy cloud with a thunder bolt will represent a "no" vote.

According to Miss Bonner, the Political Funds Reporting and Disclosure Act requires that every candidate before filing an application to have his name on a ballot must file with the county clerk the name of his campaign treasurer, even though it may be himself. Also he must report all contributions and expenditures along with the names and addresses of contributors. In addition, the candidate must file a financial report with the County Clerk, or in some cases the Secretary of State, 30 days before the primary, seven days before it, and 30 days after the primary.

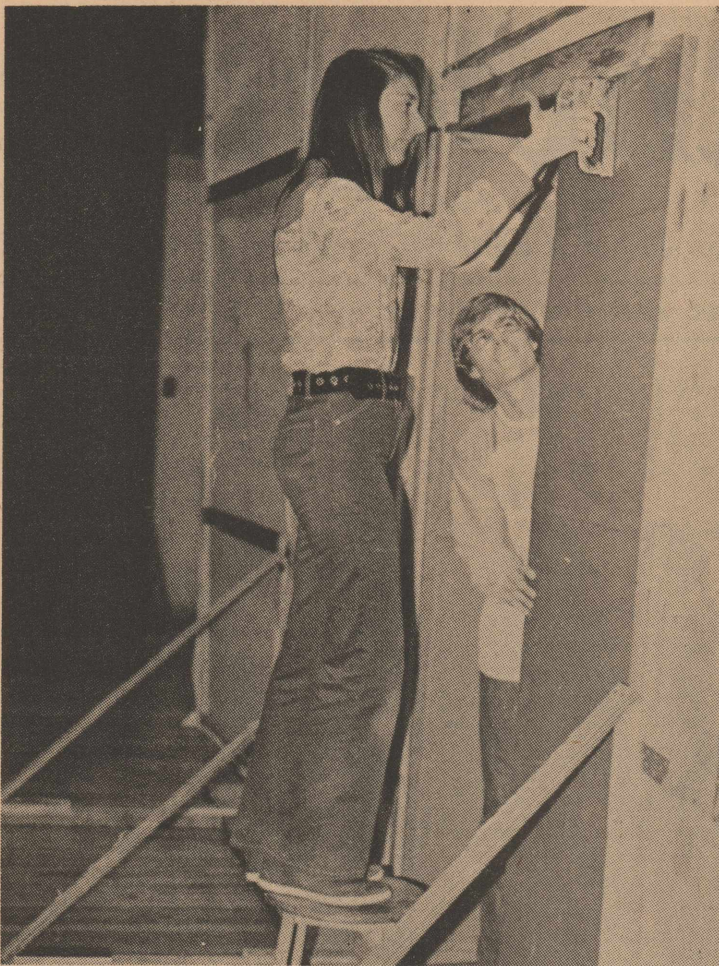

Also, present office holders whose names do not appear on the ballot also are subject to provisions of the same disclosure act even though they have not been engaged in any election activity.

Finally, Miss Bonner described the new Texas preference primary act which will expire following the 1976 presidential year.

Seventy-five per cent of Democratic party delegates to the party's national convention in New York City will be chosen by ballot in the May primary. Each presidential aspirant who qualifies to have his name on a Texas primary ballot will be entitled to have the names of three, and in some senatorial districts four names, below his name on the ballot as prospective delegates. The voter may vote for the delegate candidates or he may cast all three of his votes for the presidential aspirant.

Persons who wish to go to the New York convention as uncommitted delegates must petition the Texas Secretary of State for a place on the primary ballot.

The remaining 25 per cent of delegates to the national convention will be chosen at the state convention in June by vote of the 75 per cent elected by ballot in the earlier primary election and by vote of the convention itself. Also, at this convention 70 alternate delegates will be elected, Miss Bonner explained.

Work is currently underway by the drama clubs of Rockport - Fulton High School on a three act mystery-comedy by Vincent E. Dalley entitled "Room No. 13." The stage crew has been very busy for the past several weeks constructing the set for the play which consists of such interesting items as: A hidden passage, a "secret box" and an opening and closing fireplace. "Room No. 13" will be presented on Friday February 20, and Saturday, February 21, at 8:00 p.m.; everyone is invited to attend.

A preliminary discussion was held on the organization's shrimp gumbo dinner "Stump Night" for the purpose of presenting the candidates, local and district, to the public.

Explanation of the Political Funds Reporting and Disclosure Act of 1975 was given by Lola L. Bonner. Nominating petitions for presidential candidates in the forthcoming primary election were offered to the membership. This is the first time Texans will have the opportunity to vote on presidential candidates in our primaries.

The next meeting will be held February 12.

Seth Steele Memorialized

The late Seth Steele, former Rockport mayor and an alderman at his passing, was memorialized as a twenty-five year member of Rockport Lions Club at the January 15 meeting at Sandollar. A minute of silence was observed as the Rev. Josef A. Barton sang "Kum Fa Yah" (Come by here, Lord).

Contributions to the Rockport Lions Scholarship Fund in memory of Mr. Steele were reported as well as a memorial gift to the Emergency Hospital Fund by the Lions.

Joe Randow, Superintendent of Aransas County Independent School District, was the speaker for the day. He spoke to the Rockport Lions on school finances and policy. He reported that the current bonded indebtedness of the school district will be paid out in 1981. A total of $129,000 is paid annually on the debt.

"A letter from M.L. Brockette, State Commissioner of Education, gives the total fair market value for taxing purposes of the district as $236,910,000," according to Randow. (The figure is based on the Governor's "Official Compilation of 1974 School District Market Value Data" reviewed by a five-member panel appointed for that purpose under Section 13 of House Bill 1126, Sixty-fourth Legislature.)

"The total school budget is $3,009,400 for 1975-76. This includes $69,660 of Federal Funds under Title I. Special Education is financed with $396,768 of state funds under Plan A. The federal money is well-used. It furnishes four teachers and four aides in a much-needed phase of our educational program," continued the speaker.

Randow announced that ACISD employs 117 "regular program" professional employees (including administrators, teachers and counselors), 29 professional special education personnel, 31 teacher aides, secretaries and tax-office personnel (ancillary employees), and 44 non-professionals in cafeteria, custodial and maintenance work. "The monthly payroll is $182,000 and another $30,000 is spent on operation," added the speaker.

He answered questions from members about use of federal funds and stated that the Aransas County system received much-needed help that gave value for money expended. And he agreed that there are some federally financed programs which could be done more economically with state or local funds.

When quizzed on Title IX (sex discrimination) and on bilingual education the local school superintendent admitted that the whole issue can be considered a "Pandora's Box" problem. Time made it impossible to continue any lengthy discussion of this issue.

John Franz, chairman of the annual Spring Broom and Mop Sale, announced that the sale of products made by the blind would be in the first part of April and at three locations -- Ray's Texaco corner and the H.E.B. and Super-D parking lots.

The Rev. Barton reported on delivering the club's December membership and activity report in person at Lions International headquarters in Oak Brook, Illinois. He said the headquarters staff informed him that this was the first time any club secretary had ever done so. And it was voted that he read the fifteen foreign language Lions magazines he brought from Chicago and report on their contents at the next meeting.

It is a well known fact that anything that projects up from the soft mud of the Gulf floor tends to attract small bait fish and other marine organisms that are used for food by the much-sought-after game and food fish. This, of course, concentrates the game fish and makes it easier for the fisherman to locate them.

Unfortunately, the natural reefs and rocks off the Texas coast are, for the most part, a long ways off shore - too far for most small boat fishermen. The answer is artificial reefs constructed near enough that the small boats can reach them and still in deep enough water, so as to constitute no navigational problem. Texas has built, and is still building such artificial reefs.

The latest effort has involved the sinking of WWII cargo ships that have been stripped and cleaned. Three such ships are already in place off Port Isabel-Port Mansfield and three more will soon be in place and anchored in about 80 feet of water southeast of Port Aransas. Later ships will be sunk southeast of Port Lavaca and southeast of Freeport.

The Texas Coastal and Marine Council acquired these ships from the Federal Government after they were declared surplus. They have been in storage at Beaumont since June, 1952.

The Council entered into a contract with Andy International, Inc. of Brownsville to tow the ships to their yards in Brownsville, remove all salvage, clean them of any potential pollutants and floatable items, tow them to the reef sites and anchor and sink them. The first ship sunk at each site is equipped to serve as an anchor for a large buoy provided by the Council. The contractor will be allowed to keep all galley equipment, dishes, wheels, bells, lights, portholes, tools, lifeboats, winches, tackle, rigging, brass and bronze fittings, copper wire and other salable items. For this he will do all the work to the specifications set down by the Council and he will also pay the State $35,000 for each of the 12 ships.

When the four reefs are completed the State will receive the total bonus of $423,996. The cost of the four buoys with fog signals, lights, batteries and chain for attachment is around $42,000. Necessary buoy maintenance and repair will require use of additional funds. The general appropriations bill of the 64th Legislature provides that any funds remaining may be used for studies of the effectiveness of these artificial reefs and for construction of additional smaller reefs in waters even closer to shore.

When the time came to decide where to build the reefs there were many things to consider. They had to be close enough to a bay entrance that the small boat Gulf fisherman could reach them without too much difficulty. Thirty miles was decided to be the maximum distance. At least 50 feet of water over the reefs was required for safe navigation and, since the ships were 27 feet high, it was felt that the water needed to be at least 80 feet deep. Amateur scuba divers using compressed air are not safe at a depth of greater than 110 feet so this was considered the maximum depth for the sites.

Two-mile-wide shipping lanes are designated as "off limits" to such structures, so in order to avoid danger to small boats an additional two miles was provided. There are some charted "snags" and uncharted bottoms that are untrawable so the reef sites were placed on or near these obstructions in order not to deny any fishable water to the shrimp trawlers. A bottom had to be found that was firm enough to keep the ships from sinking out of sight. Some settling is desirable to help keep the hulls in place. Exactly the right kind of bottom had to be found. This work was done by the University of Texas boat, Longhorn, and Marine Science Institute faculty.

TRAVTRAIL-R TALK

By Sally Irvine and Cooter Harbaugh
Cooter says, I never repeat gossip so listen carefully the first time.

Ladies day was a smash. Eva Wilson taught the crafts class the art of making button jewelry. Letha Gallamore and Agnes Stalbaum were hostesses for the day and the refreshments were super.

Mary Northcutt was the big winner at our game night. She won both prizes. Jeanne says she'll become suspicious if Mary takes Shorty out to dinner. Shorty is our game director.

Doc and Sally Irvine, Carl and Nellie Vincent were in Neuvo Laredo and Reynosa, Mexico for a few days. George and Ethel Pariseau, their son and daughter-in-law from Austin, visited Monterey, Mexico. Glad to see you back from the valley, Eunice and Max Craig.

Dorothy and Russell Boyer returned from St. Louis after a month's visit with their daughter. The Barney Freemans are back with us after a visit with their children, Dr. and Mrs. V. Hermen and James and Jaunita Holter, from Millington, Tenn.

Shorty Meyers caught 30 fish on Friday, 29 trout and 1 flounder. John Wilder, Ross Marshall, Harry Connors and Shorty have contributed fish for our big fish fry. According to Paul Harbaugh, all we need is about 90 pounds more fish.

We have had a number of visitors the past few weeks. Hugh and Harriet Baxter from Alton, Ill. were surprise guests of Lucille and Joe Baxter. Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Riess had as their guests, James, Deb and Mike Chaffine, and of course Charlie, a peek-a-poo. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Douglass and Bill, from Houston, Ill., were weekend guests of Irma and Harry Douglass.

Joe Johnson of Palatine, Ill., visited his parents, Lucille and Martin Johnson. We all look forward to Joe's visits. Leitha and Bob Gallamore have the pleasure of their son, Bob, and grandson, Steve, from Irvine, Texas, as their guests. It is always nice to have these young people around.

Speaking of young people: Happy birthday, Lucille Johnson and Mildred Shaw.

We are happy to welcome back Don Hudson, but were deeply saddened at the news of the recent passing of his wife, Lucille, who was so dear to us all. You are among friends, Don.

Clyde Northcutt is working on chartering a boat for the folks here at TravTrail-R to enjoy a day's fishing in the Gulf.

Welcome home, Leila and Check Alley, Enid and Harold Vratil, Dorothy and Russ Boyer, Gert and Leonard Fraipont, Margaret and Bob Fleege, Marguerite and Ralph Cryer.

A most hearty welcome to the new kids on the block: Bessie and Leonard Campbell, June and Keith Windrum, Bernice and Arch Trimble, Mr. and Mrs. John Campagna, Joyce and John Morton, Virginia and Virtus Felton, Betty and Frank Schrader.

Rosemary says: Let us remember that he who is understood and loved will grow as a person; he who is estranged will die in his cell of solitary confinement, alone.

And how was your week? Friday Mamie Heavener and her friend, Mrs. Jones from Surfside Motel, and Harry and Irma Douglass ent to Port Aransas. There they joined others from the Surfside Motel and boarded the Marlin Queen for a trip to Corpus Christi.

A bus met the boat and took them on a tour through the residential area, the Port of Corpus Christi, the South Texas Art Museum and Corpus Christi Museum, and to Padre Staples Mall for shopping and lunch. It was an enjoyable and interesting trip.

Saturday the Arnsts, Beemans and Douglasses helped Walt Fanholz celebrate his birthday.

SIXTIETH ANNIVERSARY — Mr. and Mrs. Roy G. McClellan will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary on Sunday, January 25 with an open house from 2 to 5 in the afternoon at their residence at 1210 Redbird, Rockport.

They were married at Cameron, Texas on January 22, 1916. They have been residents of Rockport for 26 years.

Their children are Mrs. Shelby R. Love of Corpus Christi, Mrs. Paul Kelm of Port Lavaca, Mrs. E. B. Richards of Baytown, Mrs. Ben W. Clift of Seguin, Mrs. Homer L. Bennight of Ingleside, and Mr. J. P. McClellan of Sandia. They have fourteen grandchildren and eight great grandchildren.

MISS SHRIMPOREE — Pam Hutchins of Rockport, will be a special guest at the upcoming Aransas Pass Chamber of Commerce Banquet to be held at Little Bob's Rattan Room January 30.

Pam has been very busy this past year at Blinn College in Brenham. She was a featured twirler, Homecoming finalist, was elected Sophomore class favorite, was a runner-up to Miss Bucanneer at Blinn College, elected the girl member of the College President's Advisory Committee and selected to work on the Bicentennial Committee as a representative of Phi Theta Kappa, National Scholastic Fraternity of American Association of Jr. Colleges. Despite all of the activities, Pam maintains a grade-point of 4.0 after 3 semesters of college work.

ARANSAS COUNTY EMERGENCY CORPS

The following is a resume of another organization nominated by the Chamber of Commerce Civic Award Committee for outstanding community service:

The Aransas County Emergency Corps was organized approximately 20 years ago. Its purpose is to protect life and property in Aransas County during times of emergency. It is part of the Civil Defense organization of Aransas County and the City of Rockport, being charged with the responsibility for fire-fighting, rescue and radiological defense.

The Emergency Corps is composed solely of the four volunteer fire departments in Aransas County: Rockport, Fulton, Lamar and Holiday Beach. Its officers and directors are chosen from the membership of these units. Only in case of an emergency (hurricane, enemy attack, etc.) is declared by the city or county government does the Corps become an operational unit, taking charge of and directing the activities of its members. During all other times, the individual volunteer fire departments operate as separate, self-governed units. For the Corps to take a more dominate role in day-to-day activities would detract from the individual fire departments, make response to fires and other small emergencies more cumbersome, and generally lessen their efficiency.

The Corps is the disbursing agent for County funds to the four fire departments; it takes care of insurance requirements common to the four units; it provides a means of co-ordinating efforts when more than one unit is involved; and it provides a means of disseminating information, special training, of benefit to all its units. It meets regularly four times a year and on special call to handle these matters.

This information, with which everyone may already be familiar, is provided as an explanation of why the Aransas County Emergency Corps is not a visible participant in more county and city activities, but rather that participation is more likely by one or more of our four volunteer fire departments. These departments do participate in many civic activities. The Corps did participate in SeaFair where several units were in the parade and where the Corps provided a full-time first aid and rescue team.

The principal contribution of the Aransas County Emergency Corps to our community is in providing an organized, trained and dedicated membership (currently 85) ready and willing to do whatever they can to protect the lives and property of its citizens.

PALM HARBOR ELECTS OFFICERS

Wally Witt was elected president of Palm Harbor Property Owners Association at a meeting of recently elected directors Jan. 14 at Palm Harbor. Vernon Townsend, Jr., was elected vice president; Rose Wright, secretary-treasurer; and Pansy Martyn, assistant secretary-treasurer.

In addition to the officers, other directors elected at the annual meeting of the association Jan. 10 were Hank Bierd, Eunice Hansen, Bill Matthews, Betty Mitchell and Theil Sharpe.

Tennis Group Seeks Members

The recently organized Rockport Tennis Association has opened a campaign for membership in an effort to broaden support for tennis in this area.

Letters soliciting membership are expected to be mailed this week to all members of the Key Allegro Tennis Club and Rockport Racquet Club, as well as to others who may be interested in promoting tennis, according to Dewey Lingo, president of the association and tennis enthusiast.

Individual membership fee is $10 with a family membership fee set at $15. In addition the association will welcome more substantial contributions from those who feel strongly about the importance of encouraging support of this fast-growing family sport. One need not be a tennis player to become a member of the association, Dewey said.

Objectives of the Rockport Tennis Association include the staging of free clinics for aspiring players, especially youngsters, sponsorship by the Texas Tennis Association and U.S. Tennis Association for local tournaments, improvement of facilities for tennis in the community, assistance and encouragement for Rockport-Fulton High School tennis teams. The association plans to concentrate on encouraging young people to take up tennis.

The first association-sponsored tennis tournament will be a Rockport Spring Men's Senior Classic scheduled for April 22 to 25. This tournament, the first of its kind for Rockport, will include singles and doubles play for men 45 and older, 55 and older and 60 and older with trophies in each division. The tournament will be sanctioned by both Texas Tennis Association and U.S. Tennis Association. This makes it possible for participants to be recognized for official state ranking. In charge of the local tournament are Jim White and Dr. Jim Wideman.

Dewey pointed out that the mailing lists to be used for the letters of invitation to join the local association obviously will be incomplete. He urges anyone who is interested in promoting tennis in this area who does not receive a letter to get in touch with the Rockport Tennis Association by phone or letter addressed to Star Route 1, Box 70, Rockport; telephone 729-0880. Membership checks also may be mailed to this address.

Chairman of the membership campaign is Joe Hugenberg, assisted by Polly Bracht and Leon Bateman, all of whom are directors of the association.

Application is being made for tax exempt status for membership contributions to the association.

ROCKPORT SEAFAIR

Editor's Note: Rockport SeaFair Commission is one of three organizations nominated by Chamber of Commerce for outstanding civic award.

Purpose of recent successful Rockport SeaFair was three-fold, first to provide a vehicle with which to unite the community in a common undertaking, second, to generate a business stimulant during a normally quiet period between the end of the summer tourist season and the beginning of the winter season, and finally, to spread the fame of Rockport as a desirable resort and vacation area, especially among fellow Texans.

In addition, the festival was designated as our first community-wide Bicentennial event in celebration of the nation's 200th birthday.

The basic idea for the SeaFair was fathered by Bill Christian who served as general chairman for the event. He drew together all the complex elements of planning and execution which were assigned to a dozen or more dedicated and enthusiastic chairmen, each supported by equally dedicated committee members. Literally hundreds of Rockport area people participated in this truly community-wide endeavor.

The SeaFair was a two-day extravaganza of entertainment, good food -- mostly seafood -- attractive merchandise, -- much of it fashioned by local artists who have helped make the Rockport area an art center -- and overall an opportunity to let the world, at least the world of Texas, know about our pride in our home community.

The SeaFair has been likened to a medieval trade fair, a Sunday School picnic, a big family reunion and a Chautauqua -- for those who are old enough to remember this distinctly American community event of the early twentieth century.

By every conceivable standard, Rockport's first annual SeaFair was a huge success. It attracted what unquestionably was the largest crowd in the history of this community -- 12 to 15 thousand -- for the two-day run. It was a financial success paying its own way. It was an emotional triumph because it brought the people of the community together to an extent not seen since the Aransas County-Rockport Centennial celebration of 1970. And it provided a recognizable stimulus, one that could be measured in thousands of dollars of extra business.

One measure of the success of the SeaFair is that every chairman who helped make SeaFair 1975 a success has agreed to serve in the same capacity for the 1976 renewal of this distinctive Rockport community celebration.

Rockport's annual SeaFair promises to become one of Texas' outstanding community enterprises, one which will continue to make the Rockport community proud of its heritage and proud of the skill and enthusiasm of hundreds of our people who made and will continue to make this an outstanding civic event and a tradition of great worth.

History of Cemetery Ass'n

The following is the first in a series listing brief histories and continuing service of three organizations selected by the civic award committee of the Chamber of Commerce. The annual award will be presented to the winning group which is elected by the Chamber membership at the banquet to be held in March.

In 1893 land developers, Mr. Doughty and Mr. Mathis, donated a tract of land to the City for a cemetery. This land was located in the south part of Rockport, one block from the bayfront, and the cemetery was called the Bayview Cemetery. Each time there was a high tide, water covered most of this land. Later on Mr. Doughty and Mr. Mathis donated to the City what is now known as the "old part" of the present cemetery. The late Mr. Fred Percival surveyed this tract and laid out the streets on a map, but the streets were never opened on the ground. Whenever there was a funeral, a path was cut through the underbrush to the burial site.

In 1937, after one such funeral, the minister asked the crowd to stay a few minutes as he had something of interest to say to all. He asked if there wasn't someone present who could form a group to establish regular care and clean-up of the cemetery so it might be maintained in a manner fitting God's acre. This was the spark that started the Rockport Cemetery Association, which continued its work to this day, over 37 years later.

The late Mrs. John C. Sorenson responded to the minister's appeal and set October 12, 1937 as the date of the first meeting which was held in her home with 21 citizens present.

Mrs. John C. Sorenson was appointed president and served in that capacity for 17 years, until 1954, when her health forced her to give up this work. Mrs. W.B. Allen (Myra Camehl) was appointed to serve Mrs. Sorenson's unexpired term, and was elected president in 1955. Mrs. Allen served as president for 19 years, until her resignation in April 1973 due to ill health.

Mr. Walter Seales served for a brief period last year and contributed a great service through surveying and re-plotting of the grounds.

Mrs. Tommy Webb (Corinne) is president at this time and Mrs. Etouil (Duck) Eller is the treasurer.

Others who contributed many years of continuing support were Mrs. Gertrude Mills and Mrs. Evelyn Townsend, who served over ten years each as treasurer and secretary, respectively.

Going back to the inception of the organization in 1937, under the leadership of Mrs. John C. Sorenson the cemetery was cleared, streets established, and a wooden fence built, all with voluntary labor with materials paid for through yearly dues and donations. This fence was necessary because at that time cattle roamed everywhere as there was no state law to control this.

During those early days of organization good records were established which are still maintained today. Mr. W.D. Bell, local undertaker at that time, had all of the records of burials in an old record book which is now in the possession of the Cemetery Association and being preserved along with subsequent records.

In 1947 Miss Mary Lambert of Refugio donated the northwest section of the present cemetery which is named Mary Lambert Addition. Water was piped to this section and a water well dug (which did not prove successful). The county blacktopped all the streets. By the time these improvements were completed, the ground was again getting scarce and another benefactor filled this need when in 1958 Mr. and Mrs. Emory M. Spencer donated an adjoining tract, fenced it, had streets put in, and the lots surveyed. This section is designated the Sharon Spencer Memorial Addition.

During the 37-year period outlined above a great deal of labor of love has been expended and while many setbacks and disappointments were experienced, the small group of dedicated supporters never lost sight of their goal to provide the area residents with a final resting place for their loved ones that would be pleasing in God's eyes and of comfort to the families left behind. They have as their reward the sure knowledge of having contributed something of lasting value to their community.

Celebrity Parade

BY CATHY POST FIELD

Now that they have reconciled, what do you think the chances are for Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton to remain together? C. George, Altoona, Pa.

I would say excellent. In fact when they parted I predicted that there would never be a permanent replacement in either of their lives because their love is too deep and they've gone through too much together. Liquor broke them up but both have licked that problem — and their separation only convinced them they couldn't live apart.

Please settle a bet. I believe that Stevie Wonder is the highest paid recording artist today, but friends insist Elton John or Paul McCartney holds that honor. Who is right? L. Gillis, Tampa, Fla.

You are, Stevie, the most honored American record artist of the '70's has a contract giving him the highest guarantee — $13 million for the next seven years — in the history of the record industry. Wonder will receive a royalty rate of over 20 per cent on all sales. The usual superstar rate is 15 per cent tops. But despite this great Motown deal and his 10 Grammy awards, Wonder says: "The biggest award I ever received was on April 7, 1975 the date my daughter, Aisha, was born."

What is the status on those two TV holdouts, Jim Brolin (of "Marcus Welby"), and Sally Struthers ("All in the Family")? Betty Collins, Brooklyn, N.Y.

Both will be returning though neither wanted to. But the courts ruled a contract is a contract. In fact, the "Welby" producers plan on giving Jim a wife this coming season.

Now that the "Gunsmoke" series has departed, can you tell us the truth — did the cast really get along as well as it always seemed? Kay and John Lee, Boston, Mass.

They most certainly did. In fact, all the old crew attended the wedding of Rick Weaver, Dennis Weaver's son, and Dennis (as "Chester") hadn't even been on the show for almost 10 years. Perhaps their camaraderie was because all of them from Jim Arness on down to the regularly-used extras were real pros and not impressed with themselves.

I have an argument going. I'm positive I read somewhere that Nelson Rockefeller admitted when he was being investigated for the Vice Presidency that he had given his wife Happy close to $500,000 in jewelry during the first ten years of their marriage. My husband says this is impossible. Who is right? Mrs. J. Samuel, Blairsburg, Ia.

You are. The Rockefellers are very generous to the women in their lives. Remember, each Rockefeller came onto this earth a multi-millionaire, thanks to the clever, tax-evading trusts of their grandfather, John D. (To a Rockefeller, "tax" is a dirty word.) Ten thousand dollars to a Rockefeller is like $10 to the average person.

How is Alice Cooper recovering from that rib injury he recently suffered during a performance? C.M., Houston, Tex.

The entertainer cracked six ribs and the injury's wearing him down. He's having trouble breathing. But he expects to be in shape by fall when he's due to start a film that has him playing a Peter Sellers type role.

Our local paper mustn't have printed what happened regarding that women's case against David Carradine, who she claims assaulted her. Or did it come up yet? T. Blake, Jeffers, Mont.

Yes, the matter was resolved with the lady receiving a $20,000 judgment for his advances which were made while he was completely nude. In granting the money L.A. Superior Court Judge Francis X. Marnell commented: "The court is of the opinion he (Carradine) was bombed out of his skull."

Landmark Inn Has Charm With Aura of History

Castroville -- For anyone wanting time out from modern hustle, the state park system can offer some tranquil breathing spells. A superb example of old-world atmosphere is the Landmark Inn, recently acquired by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department as a state historic site.

This venerable inn is located on U.S. Hwy. 90, 25 miles southwest of San Antonio on the Medina River in Castroville, the Little Alsace of Texas where it has offered shelter to wayfarers for well over a century.

The charm is felt from the moment one arrives at the historic little town, founded soon after the birth of the Texas Republic, and enters the courtyard of the inviting old inn. Miss Ruth C. Lawler, who has lived here since the 1920's when her brother bought the property, in March 1974 donated it all to the state to be preserved as a unique historic site. She temporarily continues to conduct tours and run the guest house.

Among the grounds of the inn is a huge, oddly shaped pecan tree, one of the Famous Trees of Texas. It is believed Henry Castro and a small advance group of Alsatians made their first encampment here in September 1844. The bishop of Texas said Mass in the shade of the tree and a blessed the cornerstone for the first Catholic church between San Antonio and the Rio Grande.

After Texas became a republic in 1836, one method of encouraging colonization was to give land grants to individuals who became responsible for colonizing the grant. Henry Castro, a Frenchman, gained such a grant, on which to establish 600 families or single men. He found his staunch colonists in the Rhenish provinces of Alsace and Lorraine, which at that time were included in French territory on the eastern border, directly across from Germany.

The early settlers faced extreme hardships -- disease, drought, famine and danger from Indians. But gradually they flourished and the first log houses were replaced with mostly single-story, thick-walled structures made of limestone with steep, gabled roofs resembling European farmhouses.

Landmark Inn had its beginnings in 1848, soon after the founding of Castroville. Cesar Monod, a French settler, purchased two of the original lots and built a one-story stone residence and store with an ell and detached kitchen. A prosperous dry goods merchant, he became Mayor of Castroville in 1852.

The second owner was John Vance, an Irishman, who added a second limestone story with six rooms to the main structure, plus a double gallery to the courtyard facade, and operated a general store in the one-story ell. A first-floor corner room, used for some years as a post office, still has the old mail slots in the double walnut doors opening onto the street.

The place soon became known as the Vance Hotel, a rest stop for wagons and stagecoaches on the busy route between Mexico and San Antonio. Vance outfitted with supplies and rented rooms to a colorful assortment of travelers including trail herders, scouts, gamblers, hunters and men of renown such as Bigfoot Wallace and possibly Robert E. Lee.

One of Vance's innovations was a two-story bathroom, the top lined with lead to serve as a cistern for river water which was heated by a fireplace on the first floor. The lead lining is said to have been melted down for Confederate bullets during the Civil War. Nowadays, the upper room is the park manager's office.

A stone and wood dam was built across the Medina River in 1854, plus a two-story stone gristmill, an underground mill race and a nearby cotton gin. These were important assets to the growing community. Part of the gristmill still stands within the Landmark Inn acreage. Joseph Courand and his son, succeeding owners of the inn and store, modernized the mill and gin and these remained in operation until the early 1920s.

In 1926, when Jordan T. Lawler purchased the property, the buildings were in deteriorated condition. He made renovations, added bathrooms, and converted the mill into a power plant which supplied the surrounding area with its first electricity. During World War II the inn was reactivated to provide housing for families of servicemen, and the name "Landmark Inn" was adopted.

The historical atmosphere of the inn has been enhanced by period furniture and other antiques.

The descendants of the remarkable people who were the first settlers still are the major inhabitants of Castroville. An outstanding event during 1975 was the visit to the city of a group from Alsace, several of whom stayed at the Landmark Inn. Many old-country and American Alsatians were delighted to find they still could converse in the old dialect.

In 1972, the Landmark Inn complex was entered in the National Register of Historic Places. March 11, 1974, was the date Miss Lawler donated it to the P&WD.

The state is carefully considering plans for future operation of the inn and its interpretation to the public, aware of the importance of retaining authenticity and atmosphere. The aim is to present the continued evolution of the site and to show the economic importance of the store and mill, with perhaps a trail going down by the river.

Landmark Inn will be for Texans a tangible link with the state's colorful past.

"Exceedingly good values are usually found on chuck cuts--with other good values on corned beef, ground beef, round steak, liver and standing rib roast.

"Occasional features will appear on pork steak, Boston butt roast, bacon, frankfurters and liver," Mrs. Clyatt noted.

At produce counters, January is a very good month for citrus, cabbage, and carrots--but this year it finds dry onion and cauliflower supplies unable to meet demands, she said.

Apples and pears are in good supply and avocados will be available during coming weeks at moderate prices.

SPOT REMOVAL TIPS FOR HOLIDAY SPILLS

College Station -- Prompt stain removal treatment can help those new holiday clothes stay prettier longer, Marlene Odle, a clothing specialist advises.

"Somehow little bits of food sometimes find their way onto special holiday clothing and unless treated right away, they may be there for weeks--or permanently," she said.

Miss Odle is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Greasy stains can be removed with special treatment with a spot or grease remover. Brush the stain from the outside toward the inside to prevent a ring, using a soft cloth.

"Non-greasy stains usually can be brushed off and lightly wiped with a damp cloth," she said.

After removing the spot, it is wise to launder or dry clean the garment as soon as possible to be sure the stain is permanently removed, the specialist said.

"Candle wax on garments can be removed by scraping the excess wax from the garment with a dull edged knife. Then place the stain face down on an absorbent paper towel, place another towel on top of the stain.

"Hold a hot iron over the towel, but do not let it touch the towel. Move the towel as often as necessary until wax does not appear on the towel.

"Launder or dry clean as usual to remove any discoloration left from the stain," she said.
