Buddhist Urges Viet Nam Unity

Calls For Return Of Generals

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Buddhist Institute's chief called Saturday night for government, social and economic reforms and — for unity in the war effort — a return of purged generals from abroad to resume duty with the other officers.

"They must be united, united to fight against the Communists," Thich Tam Chau told a rally of more than 10,000 persons that overflowed into streets around the institute.

LEADERS
Highest ranking among the exiles are Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh, last reported in Europe, and Maj. Gen. Duong Van Minh, who is in Thailand.

Both are former government leaders. Both were originally sent abroad on diplomatic missions — Minh to Asian neighbors and Khanh to the United Nations in New York. Both, like most of Viet Nam's people, are Buddhists.

The institute rally was one in a series of meetings, strikes and demonstrations touched off last week by the ouster of Lt. Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi, from a seat in the military government and his command of South Viet Nam's 1st Corps area.

COPTER LOST
Chief field action was a clash between entrenched Viet Cong and a company of the U.S. 9th Marine Regiment at Binh Nam, a hamlet eight miles south of Da Nang. The Marines suffered moderate casualties and lost a helicopter in a 12-hour fight. They killed 10 Viet Cong.

U.S. pilots hit at Red targets on both sides of the border. Chau presented a low-keyed reiteration of Buddhist demands for a national election and a civilian government to replace Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's military regime, plus further efforts to better the lot of the Vietnamese people. These were originally set forth in a four-point communiqué March 12.

SUPPORT
This war-torn nation "must have a congress and constitution in order to achieve social revolution," Chau said. But he said the communiqué was not intended to criticize or support anyone, or to urge the overthrow of anyone.

"We hope to live in prosperity and peace," he said. The Buddhist leader reported that he had met with Ky and Lt. Gen. Nguyen Van Thieu, the chief of state, both before and after issuing the communiqué.

They agreed with the four points, he said, and told him: "Keep quiet and keep reassured until the promises are carried out."

Ky has specifically promised a democratic constitution by next November and a national election in 1967. Social and economic improvements were among other things pledged in the declaration of Honolulu, issued by President Johnson and South Viet Nam's leaders Feb. 8.

Income Tax Hike May Be Coming

JUST 'A GUESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some time this year, taxpayers may find their income tax boosted by about $5 for every $100 they now pay — this is the prevailing guess as President Johnson's administration and Congress buckle down to the tussle with Viet Nam and costs and inflation.

It is no more than a guess. The administration insists the question of a tax raise is still wide open — and its actions bear out this contention.

For example, when the Labor Department disclosed Thursday the sharpest February rise in the wholesale price index since the Korean War — a clear inflation danger signal — the same department promptly followed the announcement with the reassuring word that there was no additional rise between Feb. 15 and March 15.

As for Congress, it has barely begun serious consideration of the possibilities of anti-inflationary tax action.

The action committees, Ways and Means in the House and Finance in the Senate, have done nothing. But a study group, the Senate-House Economic Committee, was active all last week.

Its Democratic majority issued a report saying evidence is mounting daily of the need for a tax increase to restrain inflation. It urged Congress to enact a standby program that could be triggered by a quickly passed joint resolution if the need became urgent.

A subcommittee opened hearings and by the end of the week had gathered the views of 11 economists. While the expert witnesses differed on many details, all but one agreed that a tax boost program of some sort should either be put into effect now or at least shaped up for

Bomb Nudged To Pickup Position

PALOMARES BEACH, Spain (AP) — A U.S. Navy task force began operations Saturday to nudge a 20-megaton H-bomb off a precarious slope 2,500 feet down in the Mediterranean and place it in a more suitable position for recovery.

It was believed the tiny submarine Alvin, with three men aboard, was attempting the job on a rough bottom filled with deep canyons.

Once the bomb is moved to a better location, surface vessels with huge cranes are expected to lift it up by cables, thus ending an operation that began shortly after the collision of a U.S. Air Force B52 and a jet tanker during a refueling operation over Palomares Jan. 17. Three other bombs were recovered on land after the planes crashed.

DEAR BOSS: Spring Is Due To Arrive Today

DEAR BOSS:
I doggone near overlooked it, Boss. If you hadn't asked "When is Spring?" I reckon I'd have let it slip right in unannounced and untrumpeted.

The day is saved, though, Boss. I fished out that old reliable Texas Almanac for the current year. And there on page 30 it is writ in characters plain and clear:

"Spring: March 20 (that's today, Boss) 7:53 p.m."

This means that we are now inching into the Vernal Equinox and if there's any more cold weather or frost, it ain't legal.

From now on, Boss, everything should be green and flowery and the sun should be balmy and all that jazz.

However, I note that Easter is not until April 10. And the old timers hereabouts are still mumbling in their beards about there must come a pre-Easter freeze. They are already speculating, Boss, on how little fruit we will probably have.

(Boss, I never have no fruit anyhow and to the best of my knowledge the fruit crop has been killed every year since '01.)

However, just for the record, regardless of what kind of weather we may endure Sunday (today), we have this to console us. Winter has went and spring has sprung — effective, that is, at 7:53 p.m.

We'll have spring on our hands until 2:33 p.m. June 21.

Then it'll be summer.

NEW HIGHLIGHTS

Higher Rates For Postal 'Services'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Higher rates for the postal system's five "special services" will take effect next Saturday. Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien said Saturday.

The new rates — first announced Jan. 31 — are designed to put a 60 per cent dent in the annual $60-million deficit being registered by the service.

Money order, registry and c.o.d. fees will go up for the first time since 1961. The last previous fee increases for insurance and certified mail were in 1957.

The fee for domestic and international money orders will be increased by 5 cents.

The minimum fee bracket for postal insurance will be increased from $10 to $15, with a minimum insurance fee of 20 cents instead of a dime. Above $20, the fee will be 30 cents; above $50, 40 cents; above $100, 50 cents; and above $150, 60 cents.

The present registry fees of 60 and 75 cents will be combined into a single 75-cent fee for values up to $100. Registry fees for articles at more than $100 will remain unchanged.

The fee for certified mail will be increased from 20 cents for each item to 30 cents.

And the present 40-cent and 50-cent fee brackets for c.o.d. mail will be combined into one 60-cent bracket for amounts up to $10, with no change in fees covering items valued at more than $10.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey said Saturday night the United States "can have both ammunition and education."

Flu-Like Cases Holding Steady

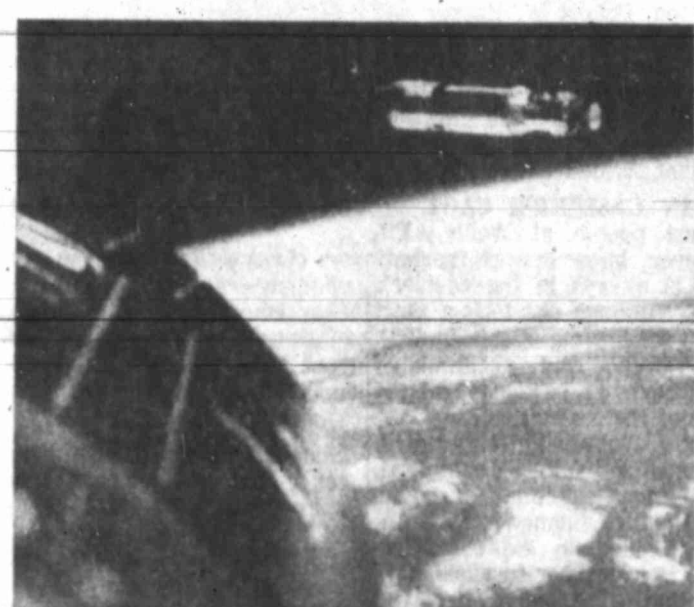

AUSTIN (AP) — The State Health Department said Saturday a total of 12,109 cases of influenza-like illness were reported in Texas during the week that ended March 12.

This compares with 2,104 cases the previous week.

Localized increases were noted in Hardin and Bee counties, the department said, and counties reporting cases for the first time this year include El Paso with 535 and Hunt with 200.

Emergency Blamed On Short Circuit

Pilot Error Ruled Out In Data Analysis

Near Hookup

This is how the Agena rocket looked to Astronauts Scott and Armstrong as they moved into range for docking maneuver. Nose of the Gemini 8 is at lower left. The rocket and spacecraft were 212 feet apart when photo was taken. (AP WIREPHOTO)

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — A short circuit in one of Gemini 8's small maneuvering thrusters probably caused the wild gyrations in space that forced an emergency end to the flight, the space agency said Saturday.

Preliminary analysis of the data from the aborted flight ruled out any possibility of pilot error. Dr. Robert Gilruth, director of the Manned Spacecraft Center said.

"In fact the crew demonstrated remarkable pilot skill," he said.

Astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and David R. Scott were ordered back to earth last Wednesday after their spacecraft went wild while linked with an Agena rocket. It was revealed Saturday they were spinning at a rate of one revolution per second.

The space agency released a statement on Gemini 8's troubles after an all-day review of various information gathered from tracking stations around the world and information brought back from space aboard the spacecraft.

The statement traced the difficulty this way:
MANEUVER
Gemini 8 docked with the Agena and both vehicles stabilized normally. A command was sent to the Agena to perform a 90-degree yaw maneuver, and a second command to turn on the Agena's tape recorder. The commands were properly transmitted and completed.

Shortly afterward, a 25-pound yaw thruster on the spacecraft suddenly went on full blast, sending the docked vehicles into a yaw and roll maneuver. The crew did not know the thruster was on and had no reason to suspect that it was.

Armstrong and Scott, spinning in space, succeeded in troubleshooting the problem and turned off the entire maneuvering system of the spacecraft, including the wild thruster, realizing they were approaching their physiological limits.

BACK AWAY
They then regained control enough to back away from the Agena.

Armstrong, once separated from the Agena, was able to activate a secondary thruster system normally used for re-entry and brought the spacecraft to a stable position.

"This entire sequence can be fully explained by a short circuit, causing the no. 8 thruster to fire," the statement said. "The thruster fired three seconds and then fired continuously."

"The Gemini spacecraft electrical malfunction was not connected in any way with commands sent to the Agena," it said.

TROUBLE SOUGHT
Earlier Saturday, the Gemini 8 astronauts arrived at Cape Kennedy, Fla., and wasted no time in beginning an intensive three-day huddle with project officials attempting to find out why the United States almost suffered its first space disaster.

Wants More Funds For Water Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson sent Congress Saturday a plan to double spending on water research in the next five years — and to study even such novel ideas as watering Southern California by towing in arctic icebergs.

Johnson sent Congress the blueprint for a 10-year research program prepared by the Committee on Water Resources Research set up by the federal Council for Science and technology.

This document envisions research outlays increasing from an estimated $91.9 million this year to $199.3 million in 1971.

In a letter accompanying the report, Johnson said the program would be refined and revised "as the future state of our knowledge grows." But he said it "establishes a guideline for action."

The council concluded that "as a whole, the nation does not face a critical water shortage."

Ed Brindley, Longtime Resident, Dies Friday

Edward Eugene (Ed) Brindley, 94, who came to Big Spring when it was a small frontier cattle and rail town, died Friday at 9 p.m. after a long illness.

He had been in failing health for several months, but after being hospitalized several weeks ago, he returned to his home nine miles southwest of Big Spring, where he died.

The body will lie in state at the home where it will be until 1:30 p.m. Monday when it will be taken to the River-Welch Funeral Home Chapel for last rites. The Rev. John Black, pastor of the First Christian Church, assisted by Dr. R. Gage Lloyd, First Presbyterian minister, will officiate. Interment will be in the Masonic section of the City Cemetery.

Palbearers will be Knights Templar, and all Masons and railroad men will be considered honorary palbearers. Knights Templar rites will be at the home Sunday at 7 p.m.

Mr. Brindley was born Feb. 16, 1872, in Cullman, Ala., and he moved to Big Spring in 1892 working for the Texas & Pacific Railway Company until January of 1925 when he retired. Since that time he had farmed his place just beyond what is now Webb AFB.

He was especially devoted to his Masonic work. For 65 years he was a member of Staked Plains Lodge 598. He also was a member of Big Spring Council 117, Big Spring Chapter 178, Big Spring Commandery 31, of Big Spring.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Edna Mae Williamson, two daughters, Mrs. Edna Mae Williamson, Mrs. Edna Mae Williamson, and an ardent participant in the annual Old Settlers Reunion. He also was a member of the Methodist Church. He was married Feb. 3, 1913, to Earnest Reagan at the home of her mother, Mrs. Walter Bird, and Mr. Bird, at 203 Gregg. On the same day in 1963 at the Big Spring Country Club, scores of their friends helped them celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary.

Reviewing The

Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

A numbing and inexplicable tragedy came suddenly out of the dark last Wednesday evening. Wayne Ralph Patterson, 30, father of three, and Tony Bert Hampton, 24, HCJC student, were closing Pinkie's store on US 87 three miles north of town. Hampton, perhaps unknown by his assailant, had taken a few strides toward a car when he was felled with a high powered rifle shot; Patterson was knocked down in the doorway, likely as he looked to see what was happening. Both were shot again, although they likely died instantly. Officers later charged William T. Patterson, 33, a cousin of one of the victims.

While our city and vicinity had several mishaps which only sent a few people to hospitals, Van Appleton, injured in a Jan. 24 crash here, died unexpectedly. Dawson County was hard hit (See THE WEEK, P. 4-A, C. 1)

AFTER LONG TENURE

Mrs. Webb Retires From Webb Post

For 14 years Mrs. Rilla Webb has been watching personnel at Webb AFB come and go.

"Now they will see me go out of the office," she observed. That time will come Thursday, her last duty day, although her retirement will bear the official date of March 31.

LONG TENURE.

Mrs. Webb seemed like a fixture at Webb for many good reasons, including a tenure that dates back to the re-activation of the base in 1952. None, however, is more compelling than the naming of the base for her son, the late James L. Webb Jr.

Rilla Webb had been working at the Big Spring Air Base several months when the Secretary of the Air Force announced that the installation would be named for Lt. Webb, who gave his life in a plane crash off the coast of Hokkaido Island, Japan, on June 16, 1949.

She and his widow, Doris, and her two children, Karen and James, together with his sister, Mrs. W. L. Walker, now of Levelland, were honored by Lt. Gen. Robert W. Harper and Rep. George Mahon when the base was opened formally May 18, 1952. Each year since then, Mrs. Webb has been an honored guest at Webb's observance of Armed Forces Day.

IN CASHIER'S CAGE

Most people at Webb AFB, however, know her as the lady who is always in the cashier's cage. Although she took a short leave for hospitalization in 1954, Mrs. Webb had accumulated 1,000 hours of sick leave at the time of her retirement.

"Mrs. Webb is an outstanding, dependable worker," said Maj. Valentino Castellina, base accounting and finance officer. Another colleague expressed regrets in losing her services, adding that "the spirit displayed by both her and her gallant son will continue to exemplify the best in Air Force tradition."

Actually, her tenure pre-dates Webb AFB, for she was bookkeeper at the Officers Club during World War II days of Big Spring Bombardier School. She took up her duties with the accounting and finance department as a check writer while the wing headquarters building was still under construction. She started with check No. 7. Except for about four years of desk work, she has put in all her time as cashier.

She had helped in the motor agency on moving here from Sweetwater in the late 1920's, and later worked in the county tax office. Mostly, she concentrated on being housewife and mother.

DOESN'T RECALL.

If there have been unpleasantities during her 14 years at Webb, Mrs. Webb doesn't recall them.

"I remember the happy times, the good times, and there have been many," she said. Right now she's going to take it easy for a time. This means redecorating her home, 1802 Wasson Road, just east of Webb's south gate, and catching up on her yard work.

Mrs. Webb also hopes to see more of her daughter and family at Levelland, where Mr. Walker instructs in South Plains College, and Lt. Webb's two children, Karen, 20, a junior in the University of Kansas, and James, 17, a high school student in Russell, Kan.

She plans also to volunteer her services in the office of her church, the First Methodist, and to do some work on scrapbooks reflecting the history of Webb and of her son's life.

She has extensive personal files, including complete, bound files of Webb newspapers dating back to the first issue of the "Springboard" in April, 1952, to the latest issue of "Prairie Pilot."

LIVELY INTEREST.

Mrs. Webb will stay on the subscription list, and she will keep up her lively interest in Webb. To say it is a part of her is more than a figure of speech.

"Many honors have come to me through the years, and I appreciate them," she said. "Even more, I appreciate all the things that have been done to honor the memory of my son."

DEAR ABBY

Putting Cart Before Horse

DEAR ABBY: This man, aged 52, has been meeting my sister, age 54, in his barn every night for the last nine years. This started one year before her husband died. I have been praying for her and trying to help her all these years, but to no avail. She denies any wrong doing.

Owl Likes Mother's Job

BOGATA, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Newt Bryson was teaching school in 1947 when some of her pupils found a baby owl and gave it to her.

Somewhat to her surprise the owl, soon named Hooter, thrived in captivity and apparently thought it was a chicken, since it had no other playmates.

It was 1951, before Hooter, supposedly a male bird, surprised Mrs. Bryson by laying an egg.

When the owl obviously started hunting a place to nest, the owner wisely provided one — filled with five bantam eggs. Hooter dutifully hatched them and proudly raised five chicks.

The process was repeated with three more eggs in 1957. Then Mrs. Bryson called a halt, fearful that the chicks pecking Hooter's eyelids might blind the owl.

Hooter settled into a humdrum life inside a big back yard cage. A couple of times the owl strayed outside. Both times it came right back home.

Then Mrs. Bryson noticed that Hooter, now an old bird at 19, was trying to nest again. She decided to let the owl raise one more family.

A neighbor provided two hen eggs. The other day one hatched into a fuzzy brown chick. Now Hooter's a happy, busy mother once more.

Five Ask Places On Grady Board

Five men are seeking three places on the Grady School board in the April 2 election. Voting will be at the Grady School building just west of LeNorah in central Martin County. Polls will open at 8 a.m. and close at 7 p.m. Absentee voting is now in progress.

Homar Howard Jr., one of the incumbents, is retiring from the board, but Marvin Stander and Buster Haggard are asking re-election. Others asking for a place on the board are Jack H. Kuhlman, Newell Tate and Sammy Yates.

ing. I have spoken to several clergymen in town about her shameful sinning, and have asked all our friends and relatives to pray that my sister will put aside her evil ways and repent. My brother, who is a pastor, is on her side. He says I should not judge, that the Lord will be the Judge on Judgment Day, but by then it will be too late. (Galatians 6:1). How can I help my poor misguided sister to be saved if everyone is against me?

ALONE.

DEAR ALONE: Your brother is right. "Judge not, that ye be not judged." (Matthew 7:1-2). You could be mistaken. Put yourself in your sister's place. How would you like it if your sister went around asking everyone in town to pray for you when you had done no wrong?

DEAR ABBY: I am 59 years old but don't look it. I weigh 147 pounds and stand 5 feet 2 inches tall. I keep myself looking nice and carry my weight well. I think I look a lot better at this weight than if I were to reduce and get all wrinkled in the face and neck like lots of women I know. I am divorced and have been going with Walt for a year now. He is 50. He speaks of marriage and I am all for it, but here is the catch.

Walt says, "If you will go on a diet and keep losing weight until I tell you to stop, and then show me your birth certificate, I will marry you." Abby, I never told him how old I was because never thought it was important. Besides, we are near enough the same age, and I look younger than Walt. How about the dieting part? Set me straight. I like him a lot. WALT'S LADY FRIEND.

DEAR LADY FRIEND: Better show him your birth certificate first. It might not be necessary for you to lose the weight.

DEAR ABBY: When I invite five or six widowed friends to my home for a lovely dinner and an evening of cards their gratitude is overwhelming. Several have commented that it has been "years" since they have used their nice china and silver. This set me to wondering. Why do so many widows fall into a lazy do-nothing rut and tell themselves, "I have no one to set a lovely table and cook for." They could do it for each other, couldn't they? They all have beautiful apartments, lovely things with which to entertain, and many are excellent cooks. I am not talking about widows who must watch their pennies. I mean those who have money for travel and clothes. I don't mean to sound unkind, Abby, but perhaps some lonely widows would be less lonely if they entertained a little instead of waiting for someone to entertain them.

Vandals Pick On Strom Building, Reward Offered

Vandals seem to be picking on the Carl Strom building at State and Ridgeroad, and Strom will offer a reward for information leading to apprehension of those who may be responsible.

Sometime Friday night someone tossed a rock through a plateglass door. Earlier holes, obviously made by a b-b or pellet gun, had ruined two windows. Before that, rocks were thrown through windows on three different occasions, and once vandals took a water hose, stuffed it into the mail slot and flooded the building. Then they pulled loose the gas connection outside the building.

Water District's Lake Plans Outlined For ABC

Owen H. Ivie, general manager of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, gave members of the American Business Club an insight on the long-range plans of the district at the Friday luncheon in the Settles Hotel.

Ivie reported on the progress the CRMWD is making toward its proposed 150-billion gallon reservoir near Robert Lee. He said it was anticipated that 30 months would be required for construction, which would set the completion date during the first quarter of 1969.

Ivie also said the evaporation problem at the new dam would not be as serious as it is at Lake J. B. Thomas, because the new lake will be deeper.

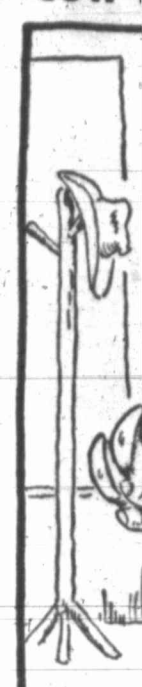

He revealed that under ordinary conditions the lake would be filled in from four or five years after completion. The new reservoir, Ivie stated, had a potential of 488,250 acre-feet of water, compared to Thomas' 204,000 acre-feet.

The safe yield of a lake, such as J. B. Thomas is 23 million gallons daily, but an average of 31 million daily is now being used by subscription. Part of that supply, of course, must come from wells. The safe yield at the new lake will be 50 million gallons daily.

The dam of the Robert Lee Lake, Ivie said, would be about four miles in length when completed and the spillway when completed, will be one of the Welfare Agency Founder To Explain Program

A large number of Big Spring citizens interested in instituting new community welfare activities, or broadening the scope of those at work, have been invited to an indoctrination session on the United Voluntary Services.

This is to be held Thursday, from 4 to 6 p.m. during a reception which will be sponsored by Mrs. Helen Lengfeld of San Mateo, Calif., founder and national president of UVS.

The organization, founded originally to fill special needs during World War II, has active units in 49 states. The national office offers help and guidance to local chapters, which basically map their own activities to find community needs.

UVS sponsors activities in support of the armed services, works actively with veterans, hospitals and other such institutions, lends support to handicapped veterans, and serves communities through a variety of youth guidance work. The national organization has sponsored a "golf-swing" program, puts emphasis on a fitness-for-youth program, and has international activities through orphanage projects, exchange of letters and stamps, distribution of food and needed articles to military men overseas.

UVS is called a "flexible" organization, in that its local units are encouraged to adopt projects that fill a special local need.

Mrs. Lengfeld will explain the ramifications of the program, and advise how a local unit might be established.

Iranian Students Mark Beginning Of New Year

For a small group of Big Spring residents, today is a special one — the beginning of a new year.

Four Iranian students at Webb AFB will be observing the occasions in different ways. Some have gone to San Antonio to join with other of their countrymen to welcome Noruz.

Noruz — literally "new day" — is the beginning of the year 1345, the first day of the month of Fardin. As the Julian calendar reckons its beginning with the birth of Christ, so the calendar drawn in the 12th century by Omar Khayyam begins with the events in the life of Mohammed.

NEW LIFE

Iranians, however, have always celebrated the advent of a new year in the spring. Their decorations are not wrappings and tinsel, but rather spring flowers, picnics and freshly sprouted grain. Above everything, Noruz is a time of beginning and hope, the start of new life, and yet a time of meditation.

In their native land, the Iranian officers now training at Webb AFB, would be joining with their towns or villages in an observance opening with the booming of a cannon. Back of this are weeks of preparation, and the family is clad in new clothes or at least one new item (it funds will not permit, then only the children wear new apparel). Greetings are offered to the head of the family, and children exchange gifts — gold jewelry before Christ, Persian coins, plants or anything of value.

AHMAD SEPARI LEARNS ABOUT T-38 AIRCRAFT Takes break in training to observe Noruz

Exchanging of gifts dates back to the ancient Persian court at Persepolis, built by Darius the Great. The king acknowledged the coming of spring by granting audiences to envoys, craftsmen and artisans and making speeches and bestowing favors. In turn, visitors brought gifts and tribute to the monarch. This weekend in Teheran, the Shah will have a reception in the palace to receive greetings and good wishes of foreign ambassadors to Iran. Now they bring good will instead of lambs, goats and grain.

But this is but the beginning for festivities continue for 13 days and are climaxed with special ceremonies which take families into the out-of-doors where trees and flowers are bursting in color and snow-festive streams are running faster.

It is considered unlucky to stay at home, and the country side is covered with groups of people picnicking, walking or resting along banks of streams. Often there is entertainment such as folk singers, clowns, dancers or acrobats.

By going into the country, Iranians leave bad luck behind. Kings and commoners, rich and poor alike, observe this ritual, and at the end of the day, they throw the Sabzeh (sprouted grain) into running water — again throwing away misfortune, leaving the new year free for a fresh start.

ANCIENT CUSTOMS

The Sabzeh is one of the most ancient of customs. Kernels of wheat or barley are put in a shallow dish of water, and the sprouting, tiny green blades symbolize the beginning of spring — symbol of good fortune which is kept through the 13 days.

Whole the Sabzeh is flourishing, other things take shape. Houses are cleaned spick and span, rugs and linens washed and furniture scrubbed. Families prepare stores of good foods: vegetables, boiled eggs (tinted in many colors), and a wealth of sweets. This makes certain that life will be sweet also.

A decorative tradition is the arrangement of fruit, flowers and food called Haft-Sin, all beginning with the letter S — Sonbul (hyacinths), Sabzeh (sprouted grain), Samano (sweet pudding), Seerkeh (vinegar), Sumac (a plant), Seeb (apples), and Sumak (smoked fish). Beside the arrangement is placed a mirror with a lighted candle for each member of the family, and a Koran, the Mohammedan holy book.

The Iranians here likely will observe only the beginning of the festival, and having wished each other "happy Noruz," get back to the regimen of flight training.

Postal Savings System May Soon Be Closed

By SAM BLACKBURN

Nile Cole, postal clerk, will soon have one less job to do. Last week, the Senate passed and sent a bill to the president for his signature which, when he signs it, will stop a plan established 66 years ago to provide the public of that day with a safe and convenient place for its savings.

The bill, which was approved without a dissenting vote or any debate, abolishes the postal savings system. Here in Big Spring, one of Cole's jobs is the supervision of the postal savings department.

The department has been losing ground steadily, and, in more recent years, with the banks and loan associations paying 4 to 4.5 per cent interest, the appeal of the good old United States Post Office as a place to deposit money has just about disappeared.

The federal law, which created the department in 1910, specified that only two per cent interest could be paid on such savings. Further, the maximum a depositor could leave with the post office for safe keeping was $2,500. This, it has been pointed out, is only one fourth the amount the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation insures for member banks and savings and loan associations.

In the early days, particularly when banks were few, far between, and sometimes a little shaky, the post office savings system was highly popular. Many postal savings services had vast sums on deposit.

There was a day when the Big Spring post office was such an establishment. Not any more. Cole said that there are now only 122 active accounts on his books and the total savings held by these 122 depositors is only $20,059. Nearly every week, one of these clients sends in his deposit receipts and asks to be refunded his money.

Indicative of the loss in interest is the fact that just four years ago there were 194 accounts with $64,177 on deposit. And in 1959, the 274 depositors of record had $121,564 on deposit.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT CLOSED
Nile Cole, clerk, shows Postal Savings withdrawal request

It is not certain when the death blow for the ancient and honorable service will be delivered, but the time is soon. And Cole is all set when the word comes to send the 122 depositors their $20,059 and close out his books.

Reason for the abolition of the system, in addition to the interest limitation, is that there is no longer any need for the post offices to do double duty in the role of banks.

E. C. Boatler, who was postmaster for many years prior to the designation of Frank Hardesty, present acting postmaster, said that the postal savings plan was in high popularity here for many years.

Marker To Honor '80 John' Wallace

North Of Loraine

COLORADO CITY — Mitchell County's fifth official Texas Historical Marker will be unveiled at 3 p.m. April 3 near the ranchhouse of the late "80 John" Wallace about three miles northeast of Loraine.

The marker, about 18 by 28 inches, honors "80 John," pioneer Negro cowboy, who came to Mitchell County in 1877 and amassed a fortune in land while riding for rancher Clay Mann. "80 John" received the odd nickname because Mann's brand was the "80" brand. He was interested in education and three of his four children became schoolteachers. A grandson, T. P. Fowler, is principal of the Wallace School at Colorado City, named for "80 John."

The program will include music from the Wallace choral group, a presentation of the family history by T. P. Fowler and a talk by Dr. R. N. Richardson, Abilene, state director of the State Historical Survey Committee, according to Mrs. Witt Hines of Colorado City, chairman of the Mitchell County Historical Society.

Commies Could Muster Big Force

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. military planners are taking into account a current intelligence estimate that Communist China and North Viet Nam together could sustain a combat force of 80,000 to 100,000 in South Viet Nam. Intelligence experts also believe Red China alone could put some 20 divisions, or about 400,000 men, into Southeast Asia on a wide front from the Vietnamese coast to Burma.

Moore School Reunion Set For March 27

Moore School, (Howard County School District No. 12) closed its doors Feb. 25, 1945. That was the last day school was held in the schoolhouse, five miles north and one mile west of Big Spring.

On the night of Feb. 26, 1945, the schoolhouse burned and the blaze also consumed the teacherage.

On March 27, the former students of the school and one-time residents of the Moore Community, which in the years prior to 1920 was a populous and thriving part of the county, will stage their fourth annual reunion.

Zirah LeFevre, a member of the association, has sent out written notices to all former residents and students who live out of the county and has relayed word by other means to all who still live in Big Spring and Howard County.

The reunion will last most of March 27 — starting in the morning and extending into the afternoon. The place will be the Student Union Building at Howard County Junior College. A dinner is to be served at noon for $1.50.

Lawrence Adkins is the president of the Moore Community Association, and Anna Smith is secretary.

It is stressed that it is not required that attending guests dine with the group. However, those who do want to eat are asked to call AM 4-2262 and advise the number of reservations desired.

Senior Citizens To Meet Monday

A meeting of the Senior Citizens Club has been announced for Monday evening. The affair will be a salad supper, to be held in the Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church, and the meal will be followed by a social period.

All persons over the age of 60 are invited to attend.

Schools Urged To Select Champions

With only three weeks remaining before the Fourth Annual Howard County Spelling Bee, schools are urged to select their school champions as soon as possible.

The spellers who are to represent the individual schools in the county bee should have at least two weeks to study ahead of the event.

Meantime, all arrangements are being completed for the county bee.

It will be held at the high school cafeteria at 10 a.m. Saturday, April 16. The pronouncer will be Mrs. O. T. Brewster, a member of the high school faculty. The judges will be announced soon.

About 900 boys and girls in the schools of Big Spring, the two community parochial schools, and the Midway school, are competing in the classroom competition. Classroom champions will be selected and the school representatives selected from these.

The school champion and an alternate will be named to sit in on the county bee. Only the champion will be permitted to compete, unless illness or other causes keep him out of the match. In that event, his alternate will fill in.

Winner of the county bee is awarded a plaque, a free trip to Lubbock and a chance to compete April 30 in the regional spelling bee.

CITY BUDGET—2

Employees Benefit Most In Planned Expenditures

By TOM BARRY
(This is the second of three explanatory stories on the new city budget on which public hearing will be held Tuesday—Ed.)

City commissioners will consider the 1966-67 budget, based on income of $2,244,119 and expenditures of $2,882,840, a new record. Most of this increase is in employee benefits.

Most of the expenditures will be in the general fund—$1,489,923, based on income of $1,536,000. The water and sewer fund costs will be $1,190,490, with income of $1,342,700. To pay its bonded debt, the city will put $365,419 into the interest and sinking fund, spending $202,431.

Each of these funds breaks down into a number of departmental groupings.

GENERAL FUND
City Commission—The mayor and commissioners receive $600 total a year, or a nominal $10 each per meeting. In the new budget, $10,765 is proposed for spending, including $3,500 for the annual audit, $1,440 on the Master Plan; $850 on the annual report; and $400 on the city election. $1,325 for travel expenses to the Texas Municipal League meeting in Fort Worth and trips to the Austin legislature; and another $225 for dues and subscriptions. It is $2,000 lower than last year's budget.

City secretary's office—About $18,900 is planned for salaries and wages, up $1,564, due largely to a planned salary boost for secretary C. R. McClenney within his pay range, from $647 to $679 per month, and a $400 boost in retirement and Social Security for the employees. Total operating expense is pegged at $22,359.

Administration—Salary totals in this department are estimated at $30,113, about $1,000 above last year, due largely to an increase for the assistant city manager, Roy Anderson, from $616 per month to $647, and the administrative secretary, Mrs. Pat Carnes, from $360 to $378 monthly. Larry Crow, city manager, received no salary increase. Travel expenses are pegged at $935; $385 has been set for a special school for electronic data processing; dues and expenses total $114 for a total of $34,103.

Legal—Slightly less will be spent this year, despite a $100 per month salary increase for John Burgess, city attorney. His salary jumps from $475 monthly to $575, or $6,000 per year. A total outlay of $8,953 is set compared to $8,992 last year.

Corporation Court—An outlay of $7,450, about $200 over last year, is planned for the corporation court budget. The judge, W. H. Eysen Jr., receives $200 per month, and total wages, including retirement, Social Security and longevity are $6,430, and the total is $7,450, compared to $7,276 last year.

Tax department—Some $23,832, $400 above last year, is budgeted for the department, with no one of the staff receiving raises. Total salaries will be $15,339.

Police department—A total outlay of $345,999, about $22,000 over last year, is budgeted, almost all due to salary hikes in the department's lower echelons.

The force's one lieutenant was boosted from $438 to $460 monthly; the eight sergeants went up in pay from $417 to $438; and the 25 patrolmen were jumped from $343-397 to $360-417 range; also jumped a grade was the dog catcher, from $311 to $327 monthly. All other grades remain the same. One more secretary has been added to the staff, for a total of two. Salaries and wages will total $272,843, which compares to $252,592 on the current budget.

Maintenance of equipment is budgeted at $37,950, same as last year; and $725 for travel expenses; $1,670 for training of personnel, and $1,350 is set up for purchase of equipment, $900 for a radio, furniture and books.

Fire department—Salary increases will jump the budgeted expenditures in the department from last year's $308,374 to the new estimate of $325,315.

Fifty-three employees will be paid some $294,922. A re-classification of 38 employees' pay grades (up a notch) resulted in most of the change. Twenty firemen were raised from $360 monthly to $379-378; and 18 equipment operators were jumped to $397. Only other raise was given to the battalion chief, but it was an in-grade raise, from $460 to $483 monthly.

Supplies are estimated to cost $6,995, up from last year's $4,750, big difference is in $3,420 estimated for wearing apparel. Equipment upkeep will cost $7,250. About $400 is set up for travel expense, $50 for dues and subscriptions; and $100 for promotional matter.

Engineering—Raises for four employees and re-classification for three others boosts salary requirements. Getting raises are Ernest Lillard, director of public works, from $749 to $788 per month; his secretary, from $282 to $296; engineering assistant, from $282 to $296 monthly. Two construction inspectors, Dewey Byers and Dean Line, will be re-classified in pay from $397 to $417; and John Hernandez, senior draftsman, up from $397 to $378-460. Including $4,700 in retirement, Social Security and longevity, salaries and wages will total $49,914.

Equipment maintenance will cost $4,950, dues, travel, insurance will be $3,653, $2,653 of which will be in life insurance. The total operating expense will be $60,367, compared to $52,653 in last year's budget.

Traffic and Electrical division—One wage change is set in the division. The electrician, Benny Kilgore, was raised from $397 to $433. Wages and salaries will cost, including $1,500 for extra help and $1,471 in retirement, Social Security and longevity, $13,963, about $1,300 more than last year.

Installation of corner signals at Second and Main, and installation of improved lighting at school crossings will cost $5,292, compared to only $3,800 last year in capital outlay for equipment. This item brings the total expenditures expected to $29,229, compared to $24,934 last year.

Zoning and Inspection—the building inspector, Tom Newton, will be re-classified from $438 to $460; and Homer Ward, electrical and plumbing inspector, will be jumped to the same grade. Total wages will be $15,447, about $1,000 more than last year.

Miscellaneous service will cost $921, including $300 in travel expense and $591 for insurance policy payments.

Total outlay is $18,428, compared to $17,245 in last year's budget.

Field Office—One clerk was eliminated in the department; leaving one, who was given a raise from $375 to $408 monthly. Including $350 for extra help and $418 for retirement, Social Security and longevity, wages will total $5,664. Total cost of the office is $7,335, compared to $6,718 last year.

Jury Rules Arrick Guilty

The jury hearing the case of Jerry Arrick, charged with driving while intoxicated, second offense, found him guilty Friday night. Saturday at 11:45 a.m. the panel agreed on a recommendation of nine months in the county jail as his punishment.

A guilty verdict was reached at 10:35 p.m. Friday, little more than 12 hours after the jury had been given the case. The hearing started Wednesday morning and it was the first case in which the jury of a criminal case was free to go home at night. It also marked the first criminal procedure of a finding of guilty or innocence was first returned, then a chance given the state to introduce punishment options and previous record. The state cited the punishment options, then passed to the defense, which promptly rested and wiped out chance for rebuttal.

Hospitalized

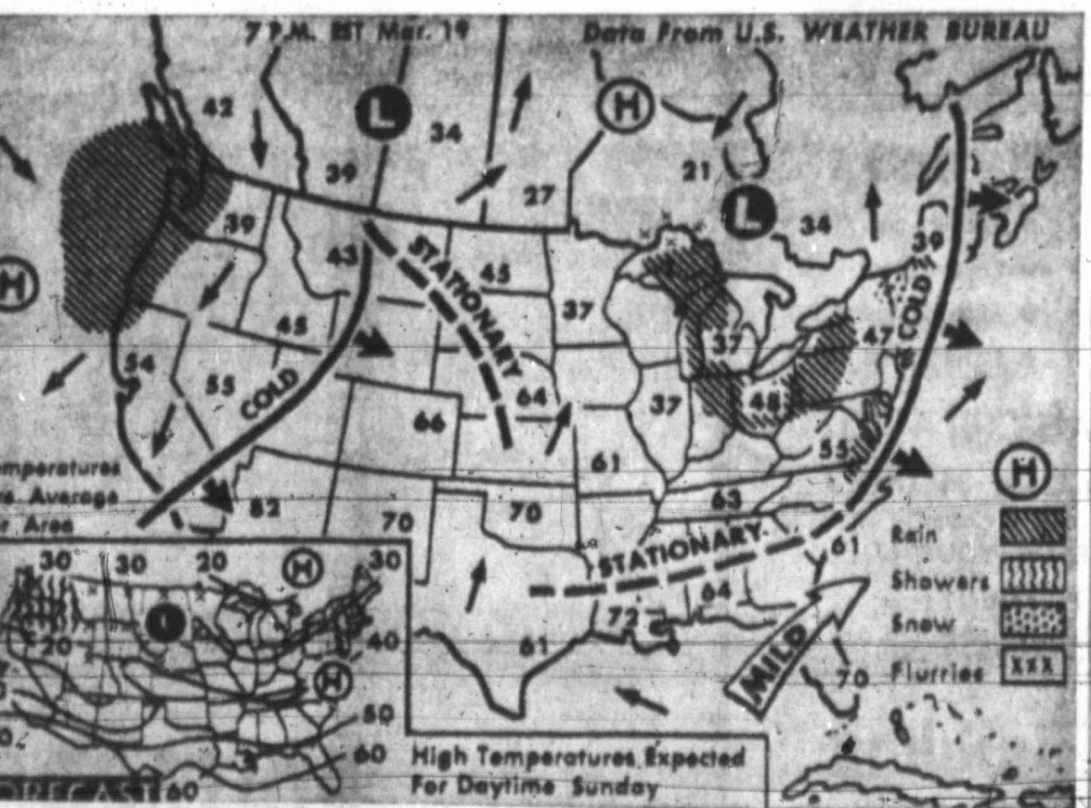

Officers said a woman was taken to Howard County Hospital Foundation at 7:40 p.m. Saturday after a caller from an address in the 1600 block of Lark said a woman had taken an overdose of sleeping pills. Attendants at the hospital said the woman's condition was "satisfactory" late Saturday night.

C-City Drilling Operator Moves Main Offices Here

By TOM BARRY
COLORADO CITY — An 18-year-old C-City contract drilling firm, Robinson Drilling Co., has moved its main office to Big Spring, and will re-open for business here Monday in the Permian Building.

"We will be closer to our main sources of work, and closer to supply there being two firms in Big Spring whose services we regularly use," president G. R. (Bob) Robinson said, in explaining the move. "We are also going to beef up our radio communications system, and have already received FCC permission to move it."

Robinson said he will purchase a home here shortly, and move here with his wife Myra and their 14-year-old daughter, Anne, a high school sophomore.

OTHERS TO MOVE
Also moving to Big Spring is Chester G. Miller, production supervisor of the company for the past four years. He has bought a home at 2208 Merrill Drive, where he and wife Josie will reside.

Drilling supervisor Kenneth H. McGrew, with Robinson 14 years, may move here shortly, he said. He presently resides in Snyder.

Lester E. Mannering, Robinson's accountant for 15 years, will remain in Colorado City, but continue to handle accounts for the firm, Robinson said. Secretary Mrs. O. D. Carter, an 11-year veteran with the company, will commute from C-City, as will Robinson's other secretary.

Robinson's firm has grown considerably in the 18 years of its existence. He started on a shoe-string and an aging cable-tool rig in 1948 in Colorado City, moving from Miami, Okla., his home town.

"You might say I've been in business for much longer than 18 years," Robinson said. "My father was a contract cable-tool driller all his life, and I started out with one."

EIGHT RIGS
Robinson Drilling now has eight rigs operating on the eastern end of the Permian Basin. The company contracts to drill both oil and gas wells, and drilled 75 in 1965.

"Our rigs have a depth range of from 2,500 feet to 12,000 feet," the University of Oklahoma graduate (in petroleum engineering) said, "but most of the holes we drill average about 7,500 feet in depth."

In Big Spring, Robinson feels his firm will have a more central location, and a "better radio system" operation, as well as being closer to oil people. Much of the firm's business comes from Midland.

Robinson Drilling Co. employees (there are 117 of them, based mostly in C-City and Snyder) have racked up an enviable low accident rate. Robinson said the rate last year was about 25 per cent below the state average for all other drilling contractors.

Burglars Force Shasta's Safe

Nearly $700 was taken as burglars forced a safe in the women's restroom of Shasta Ford Co., 500 W. 4th, Friday night, officers said Saturday.

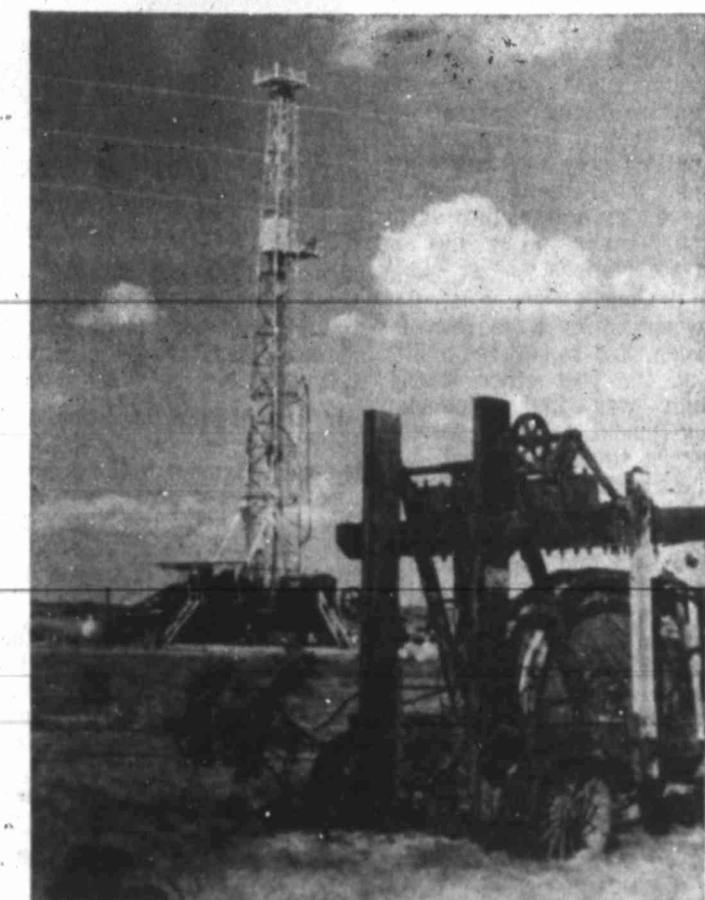

Police said the safe had been dragged through offices to the restroom, where a Shasta mechanic's tools were used to force off the knob of the safe and punch the pin, forcing the safe. Shasta officials said $684.06 in cash was missing.

The tools used were taken from a mechanic's tool box, and put back on a bench after the safe was forced, officers said.

Entry and exit of the burglars was by way of a broken window on the north side of the building near a wash rack, investigators said.

Robinson And Staff
G. R. (Bob) Robinson, center, is flanked by his two top assistants, Chester G. Miller, left, production supervisor, and Kenneth H. McGrew, drilling supervisor of the company.

Old And New
First Robinson Drilling Co. rig, an ancient cable-tool rig, foreground, contrasts with a new Robinson rotary rig.

Their three-year accident frequency was less than one accident of the disabling type for every 10,000 man-hours worked on the rigs. According to the insurance carrier, this accident frequency is lower than that of almost every other industry common to this area.

CITY LEADER
Robinson was active in Colorado City public life as mayor of the city for two years, and on the city's industrial team.

"I have always liked Colorado City," Robinson said, "and have many friends here. But in order to improve my business I felt the move necessary."

Robinson has two children other than Anne—son Mike, who will graduate from Princeton as a geological engineer this year; and Myra Ellen, 18, a freshman coed at Southern Methodist University.

Miller was division superintendent for Oceanic Oil Co., before moving to Robinson's company from Midland.

McGrew, an Indiana native, was with Olson Drilling Co. prior to his employment with the local firm.

The firm's new offices will be in Suite 306 in the Permian Building.

"We hope we'll be an asset to Big Spring," Robinson said. "I know we will try to be one."

Cook Elected To AFA Presidency

Robert J. (Jack) Cook will head up the new slate of officers for the Big Spring chapter of the Air Force Association, following the annual meeting Friday in Withycombe Hall at Webb AFB.

Others elected to serve for the year are Jack Guiley, vice president and program chairman; Bill Crocker, secretary (re-elected); A. J. Statter, treasurer (re-elected); Jeff Brown, membership chairman; and Capt. Gene Taft and Capt. Jim Fitzsimmons were elected to represent Webb AFB on committees. Cook served during the past year as membership chairman.

About 75 attended the meeting, and all were urged to attend the national AFA convention in Dallas Tuesday. Cook, outgoing president Lester Morton, and others indicated they would attend, heading up the local delegation.

Sam Keith, chief of traffic, and Val Prahl, chief test pilot for General Dynamics, brought the program — a film, lecture and discussion of the F-111, onetime controversial TFX aircraft. It is the latest addition to the U.S. military inventory. Keith also is president of the Fort Worth AFA chapter.

Mrs. Aguilar Dies Saturday
Mrs. Paula Loya Aguilar, 42, died at her home, 619 NE 11th, early Saturday.

She was born June 29, 1923, in Big Spring. Her husband preceded her in death.

Services will be at 9 a.m. Monday, at St. Thomas Catholic Church, Rev. Robert J. McDermott officiating. Burial will be in City Cemetery under direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Survivors include four sons, Joe Loya Rodriguez, Odessa; Bernardo Jr., Benjamin and Oscar Aguilar, all of Big Spring; four daughters, Linda, Teresa and Sylvia Aguilar, and Mrs. Gloria Hernandez, all of Big Spring; two brothers, Octavio Loya, Big Spring, and Nieves Loya, Midland; and seven grandchildren.

for Mrs. Virgie Nieman Brannon, 35, Lubbock, and her mother, Mrs. Elsie Nieman, 68, Wilson, were killed in a car-truck crash seven miles south of O'Donnell on US 87. Before the week was out, Kenneth Medlock, husband of the Dawson County home demonstration agent, died of injuries when his motorcycle met a car head-on east of Seminole.

Sterling County had a pair of Wolfcamp discoveries during the week. Sun Oil No. 1 Cole, 12.5 miles south of Sterling City, flowed 192 barrels of 34.3 gravity oil through perforations at 5,108-18. Union Pacific No. 1 Rape, 13 miles south made 102 barrels of 41.6 gravity oil from 7,589-96. Coastal States No. 1 Ellwood, in southern Mitchell County, which earlier had a show in the Abo, also had a show in the Wolfcamp.

An unexpected but welcome response to the voter registration emergency extension brought in upwards of 1,500 additional voters. At deadline time Thursday, 1,327 certificates had been issued and there were a hundred or more applications by mail still to be processed. As of now, the county's visible voting strength is 10,488, and the additional certificates and over-age exemptions outside of town will push the potential well past 10,500.

The 29th annual stock show (that makes it one of the oldest in West Texas) proved a success last week, thanks to good work by sponsoring Jaycees and the fine work of 4-H and FFA members. Dolores Lankford got $1.50 a pound for her 846-pound grand champion steer; Brenda Jackson $1 a pound for her reserve champion, Dixie Coleman, Sara Oakes, Bu Mann received $2 a pound or $210, $200 and $190 respectively for their champion lambs. The sale in general was a good one.

If you have a few minutes this afternoon, why not take in the open-house at the Howard County Rehabilitation Center in the Dora Roberts Health building at Third and Lancaster? If you haven't seen this humanitarian facility, you'll be amazed at the building, the equipment.

Link Dedicated

LAMESA (SC) — Herbert C. Petry, chairman of the Texas Highway Commission, said here Friday night that "The Highway Commission never loses sight of the fact that we are spending the taxpayers' money. We must merit and keep our trust and assume our responsibilities in doing our job well."

He made the remarks as the main speaker at a banquet in the high school cafeteria formally dedicating a recently-completed four-lane link of US 87 from a mile south of Lamesa to the Martin County line.

The center is a real blessing to this area.

Forsan Independent County Line School District is to reshuffle its school divisions next autumn. Elementary grades will be housed at Elbow, the junior high will be shifted to Forsan, where the high school is located. A bond election for $350,000 to finance a classroom building at Elbow and an auditorium and renovations at Forsan is due to be called soon.

Speaking of bonds, Howard County sold the remaining $200,000 of its $600,000 roadway issue at 3.638. This is approximately a quarter of a per cent higher than the original batch was sold for about six months ago.

Our Red Cross chapter has advised the national headquarters that it will shoulder its share of the load occasioned by an unusual string of natural disasters, plus the Viet Nam emergency. Our part is $1,655.

Talks between Midland and the Colorado River Municipal Water District are getting in the short runs. There is general agreement on all but about half a dozen points, and these could be resolved this week. If contract is signed, CRMW will plan on bigger pipelines at once, and it may be thinking in terms of a $30 million project.

Help Asked In Collection

Citizens are being asked to help in collecting magazines, paperback books, cards, and games to send to servicemen in Viet Nam, according to Mrs. Bob Knight, of Mu Zeta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi, national service organization.

The sorority has been in touch with military personnel in some of the most remote outposts along the North Viet Nam border. They have expressed desire and need for such items, Mrs. Knight said.

The commander of the Fifth Tac Con Gp (CR) wrote to that his people need books and magazines to help pass the time and to keep abreast with what is happening in the states and the world," she said.

Arrangements have been made to fly collected items in a C-130, which will be at Webb AFB for repairs, back to the soldiers, mostly in remote radar outposts and other small commands.

The sorority will conduct their drive all week long, but will culminate it March 26, when Big Spring will be observing Texas Patriot Day.

Man Held In NS Shooting

A 31-year-old Negro man was arrested by officers Saturday night and charged with assault with intent to murder following a Northside shooting of a Negro woman about 7 p.m., police said.

Edward Eugene (Sonny) Banks, 501 NW 4th, was arrested on a warrant signed by Walter Grice, peace justice, who advised him of his rights at the police station, officers said. Banks was being questioned late Saturday night.

Officers said a telephone call from a man who identified himself as Bobby Williams, 616 NE 9th, reported a shooting at the home of Annebelle LaBrew, 1105 N. Gregg.

Sgt. D. W. Day found Annebelle LaBrew lying on a couch in the living room of the address. He said she told him she had been shot in the side and in a leg. She was taken to Howard County Hospital Foundation, where attendants said her condition was "satisfactory" at 9:30 p.m. Saturday.

Officers obtained a warrant and arrested Banks about 8 p.m. near the courthouse square. Police said Banks made oral statements about the shooting when arrested and at the police station.

MUNICIPAL WATER SYSTEM, NEW POST OFFICE

Ackerly Improvements Bloom

By SAM BLACKBURN
ACKERLY — Two important community improvements are on tap for this little town.

One is the installation of a municipal water system — slated for completion sometime this year. The second is the construction of a new post office building.

Both projects are making rapid progress.

SITE MARKED

Last week, federal agency engineers were in Ackerly to drive stakes marking the post office site.

Last week, community leaders were busy signing up citizens who wish to connect to the scheduled city water system. And the Farm Home Administration, slated to buy the community's $131,000 bond issue which will finance the project, is pressing Ackerly municipal authorities to accelerate preliminary activities.

Travis Russell, a long-time resident of the town, has a close personal and official interest in both projects.

His interest in the post office will be with him for sometime to come — officially speaking. He is the postmaster-designate of Ackerly and currently chief clerk in the office. His appointment is due confirmation any day.

His other interest, from an official viewpoint, will terminate on April 5. However, his personal concern for the enterprise will continue. He is now mayor of Ackerly but is not running for re-election to his post. The election is April 5. As postmaster, he cannot serve in another office.

As mayor, he has been a leader in the efforts of the community to find ways to establish its own adequate municipal water supply.

WELLS

Most of the homes in Ackerly are provided with windmills. The wells, as a general rule, do a good job. However, Russell has found that the majority of Ackerly residents are enthusiastic about the new city water system.

The post office building is another enterprise in which the entire community is deeply concerned. Ackerly post office is now housed in a small building on First Street, where it has been located for the past 33 years. John Rudeseal, who is currently rural route mail man out of the Ackerly post office, but who was postmaster for 32 years before changing jobs a year ago, owns the building.

"I'll lose a tenant," he said, "but that's fine. I've been working five years to get Ackerly a new post office building. It looks like we will now have something we'll be proud of."

He will offer the small building, which is in excellent repair, for sale with the lot, he said. The only other location a post office has had in Ackerly was in the old W. A. Wilson store. This was prior to 1932.

According to specifications as described in the official release from the Dallas postal department, the new building will be 1,000 square feet in size. It is to be situated on a 90 by 130 foot lot on which the government has obtained an option. The land is owned by Mrs. Odessa Daventport. The site is about 50 feet north of the present post office.

PARKING SPACE

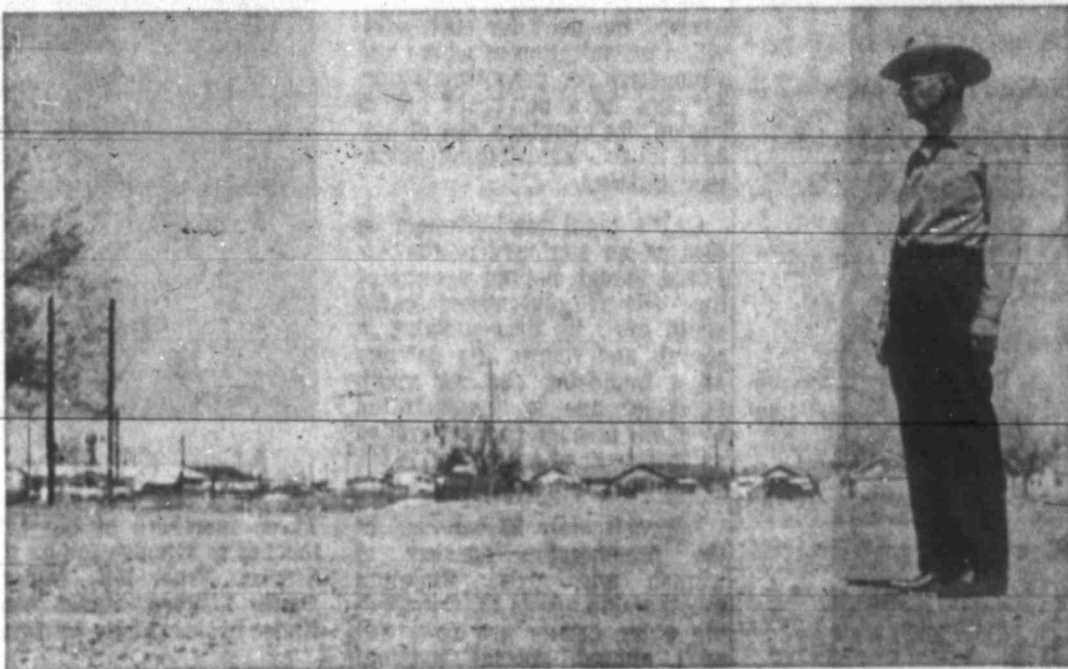

The plans call for 7,820 square feet of surfaced parking space to surround the new building. Nature of the construction has not been announced. The release from Dallas says that specifications and bidding forms will soon be made available.

Russell points out that the building will be built to government specifications and leased to the government by the builder-owner. It will continue as private property while occupied by the government and real estate taxes will be collected on it.

The new building is in Dawson County. This is one of Ackerly's novel features — the town is half in Martin County and half in Dawson County. The street running east and west of the present post office building — Avenue G — is the boundary line. Ackerly, south of this street is in Martin; north is Dawson County. A few hundred yards to the south and east is the Howard County line.

At the present time, pending confirmation of Russell's appointment as postmaster, Mrs. Russell is acting postmaster. He, under the present setup, is the clerk. He began work with the post office in 1953. Mrs. Russell began in 1954. She became acting postmaster when Rudeseal resigned to take over the rural route.

There are 1,500 patrons served

New Post Office For Ackerly

out of the Ackerly post office. Ackerly is an incorporated town. As such it recently proposed and approved a $131,000 bond issue to finance construction of a municipal water system. The city council has taken option on three 80-acre tracts a short distance north of the town. All of these tracts have indications of abundant water. As soon as the bonds are sold, test wells will be drilled. Russell says that water in the area selected is about 180 feet deep. Wells in the area make from 50 to as much as 100 gallons an hour. The town plans to start operations with two wells — assuming they produce enough water. Tests will be drilled in all tracts.

The plans call for the construction of pumping equipment, an overhead storage near the well site adequate to the minimum reserve water needed for the town; distribution lines through the town and tie-in lines to residences of patrons.

68-2 VOTE

The election carried 68 to 2. Russell said. His initial efforts in signing prospective users has proved, he said, that nearly 100 per cent of all the residents will be served by the new department. He said that engineers estimate there are 105 potential patrons.

He has personally signed up 40, he said, and there are 15 others who are to sign soon. Each user pays a fee of $50 in advance for tie-in charge. Those who do not tie in now will find the expense of attaching to the city lines much higher later, he said. He said he has already collected $4,000 in tie-in fees.

Also included in the plans, he said, are funds for a small municipal building to house the water office and, in essence, to serve as a city hall. At present, the city council meets in the community building.

REVENUE BONDS

The bonds to be issued are revenue bonds. Receipts from sale of water will be earmarked to pay off the indebtedness and no tax levy will be assessed to retire the debt.

He said present plans are to run the feeder lines in town through the alleys, where possible.

"Most of our people," he said, "have their windmills in the

Big Travel Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — House members spent $472,800 on trips to nearly every nation in the world in 1965. Another $181,660 was spent by Senate and Joint committees on overseas travel. Some Senate groups have not reported. Travel expenses are listed in the Congressional Record.

Webb Unit Has Visitors

Maj. Gen. Loren G. McCollom, commander of Amarillo Technical Training Center, and his staff visited the 420A Field Training Detachment at Webb AFB last week. The men visited the detachment to familiarize themselves with the various phases of the detachment's operation.

The 420A FTD provides quality training in organizational and field maintenance in support of the F-104, T-37 and T-38 aircraft. It was formed at Webb on Jan. 1, 1960, as an F-102 detachment in support of the 331st Fighter Interceptor Squadron. In March, 1963, the 331st converted to F-104 aircraft. In February, 1963, the detachment was given the additional responsibility of training maintenance personnel for the 356th Pilot Training Wing in the T-38 aircraft. In early 1965, the detachment was also given the responsibility of training personnel on the T-37 aircraft.

Commander of the 420A FTD is 1st Lt. Billy J. Hawthorne, presently on temporary duty to Greece. Acting commander is M. Sgt. Arthur W. Roberts, NCOIC of the detachment.

Special Dough, Sauce, Baking Go Into Pizza Hut's Products

Making pizzas is an exacting procedure at The Pizza Hut, Highland Shopping Center, Hwy. South 87. Every step is important and essential to produce a pizza with crispness and mouth-watering goodness. It starts with the dough, fresh and tossed. Like the dough, sauce is also prepared freshly each day. A patented formula combines special spices, cooked tomatoes, and puree in just the right amounts.

VISIT THE PIZZA HUT LOCATED ON HWY. 87 SOUTH

LARRY MERRIFIELD SPINNING PIZZA DOUGH

The customer can choose what ever kind of pizza suits his taste — cheese, green pepper, sausage, mushroom, pepperoni, pizza supreme, onion, anchovy, hamburger or shrimp. They're all authentic, crisp and delicious.

Just as important as what goes into the pizza is the way it is baked. At The Pizza Hut, baking is done in large, pre-heated, brick-lined ovens at 550 degrees for approximately 20 minutes. These special ovens haven't been turned off since their original lighting when the restaurant opened.

The Pizza Hut also serves a popular tossed salad, a choice of soft drinks, Michelob light and Budweiser dark beer.

The pleasant atmosphere of The Pizza Hut provides a comfortable, relaxing place to stop for lunch, dinner or a late after-the-show snack. Office workers and store personnel find it convenient to telephone their orders prior to lunch and have them ready when they arrive. Prompt Service

Carry-out orders are filled promptly and efficiently. Pizzas will be piping hot when the customer picks them up. And they'll stay that way until they're ready to be eaten since they are placed in special carry-out containers.

Customers may telephone AM 3-3333 to place orders for parties, get-togethers or for easy and thrifty family meals.

Big Spring's Pizza Hut is one of 130 franchised Pizza Hut restaurants throughout the nation. The owners of the Big Spring franchise also operate The Pizza Hut in Midland and will open a location soon in Odessa.

CAP Youngsters Working Toward Aerospace Careers

By JERRY MONSON

Seven girls and 10 boys, all Howard County students, are members of the local Civil Air Patrol, working toward one objective — the cadet aerospace training program.

The local group, headed by Lt. E. L. Mulkey, Coahoma, is active year-round, with training programs scheduled throughout the year. Every Saturday from 9:30 a.m. until noon, the patrol meets in Withycombe Hall, Webb Air Force Base, to study Red Cross and Civil Defense procedures and to lay a foundation of general knowledge in aviation.

The Civil Air Patrol, a national, non-profit organization, formed in Washington, D. C., Dec. 11, 1941, was originally organized to help the Office of Civil Defense "at home" during World War II. The CAP served so close to the military on its air patrols that supervision was transferred to the War Department "for the duration."

In 1946, aviation leaders recognized the need for such a civilian organization of adults and youngsters for peacetime emergencies. As a non-profit organization, its members are all unpaid, dues-contributing volunteer citizens.

CAP's legal establishment in 1948 as an auxiliary of the Air Force though not an agency of the federal government came about after its proven value in search and rescue. Its potency as a launching pad for youth in a jet age is demonstrated by 42,000 teenage cadets enrolled as members of a total of 76,000 in the program.

Approximately 20 per cent of the membership consists of women and girls. Minimum membership age is 13. Outstanding older cadets are rewarded with annual special national activities, such as the foreign cadet exchange and drill competition; orientation courses in jets, space missiles, a general aerospace age course, and air traffic management. Summer encampments are held by Wings each year for all ages.

Cadets and Kadets, the feminine members, can build, with more advanced study, careers in the aerospace field. CAP cadets receive academic instruction through the patrols' aerospace education program, supplemented by special cadet activities.

Senior CAP members can contribute to the program in flying rescue units, the chaplaincy, supervising cadet activities, or teaching in the patrol's aerospace education cadet program. Goal for the national CAP program is membership of 100,000 cadets and 60,000 or more seniors by 1967.

In cooperation with the chamber of commerce aviation committee, the local patrols is polishing and repairing the old F-86 on display at the Howard County Airport. Fund-raising projects are under way to send cadets to a summer encampment program at Amarillo. A feature of the local patrol is the nationwide radio hook-up for CAP members only, at the headquarters in Coahoma. The hook-up has its own frequency, and only CAP members can cut in on it.

Ace Fouls Out, But Brigham Young Beats NYU In Finals

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Jims took over for ace Dick Nemelka and sparked a spurt at the start of the second half that carried Brigham Young to a 97-84 basketball victory over New York University Saturday in the final of the National Invitation Tournament.

The title is the second for the Cougars, whose 1951 team won the NIT in its first appearance. NYU was seeking its first crown in eight appearances, but could get only its second runner-up finish.

Villanova won third place by defeating Army 76-65 behind the 29-point performance of Bill Melchioni.

Jims came into the game for Nemelka, who has averaged 24 points a game, when the six-foot guard drew his fourth personal with 1:45 left in the first half.

WIDEN LEAD
The 6-1 sub started the second half and scored the Cougars' first point on a free throw. He then passed to Craig Raymond for a layup and scored himself on a jump shot, taking Brigham Young from a five-point half-time advantage to a 53-45 lead.

With Raymond dominating the boards and Jeff Congdon passing brilliantly, the Cougars went on from there to make a runaway of the contest. The top-seeded Westerners led by 17 points late in the second half.

Stan McKenzie kept NYU on the scoreboard, getting 19 of the Cougars' last 23 points. However, the best he could do was get the Violets to within 10 points, 82-72, with 5:21 remaining.

McKenzie was the Violets' high scorer with 27 points while Steve Kramer added 20 for Brigham Young.

For leading Villanova to third place, Melchioni was named the tournament's most valuable player. The 6-foot-1 senior scored 109 points, in four games, the fifth highest total in the tournament's 29 years.

Melchioni, playing his last game, scored 24 points in the 29-point performance of Bill Melchioni.

Jaure Breaks Hurdle Mark, Is High Point

Joe Jaure, running despite a pulled muscle, set a new meet record for the low hurdles in the West Texas Relays at Odessa Saturday.

He also was high point man in the meet that went to Permian with 47 points. Monahan got 41 points, followed by Hobbs, N.M., with 29, Amarillo Tascosa with 29, Carlsbad, N.M., 21, Lubbock Dunbar 20, San Angelo 19.

While Jaure shaved .2 of a second off the old record for the low hurdles, his greatest race of the day was in the 100-yard dash where he finished second with 9.6, by far his best time of the season.

Jaure was ahead of Ricky Potts, Monahan, at the 75-yard mark, but he didn't dare turn on the heat in the stretch because of a pulled muscle. Potts won with a brilliant 9.5.

Jaure was running with his leg tightly wrapped, and he had been advised not to run. However, he had his heart set on being high point man.

Friday he had nailed down a third place in the broad jump with a leap of 22' 7". Thus, he accounted for 12 of the Steers' 13 points in the meet. Jerry Carter, Tascosa, won the broad jump with a 23', 4 1/2' jump.

Big Spring's other point came from Kirby Horton, who was off his feed. His 51' 5 1/2" heave was two feet short of his previous week's best effort, but he got a fifth place. James Carver made his best put of the season with 50' 4", but he was out of the money.

Jaure's hurdle triumph took on added luster because he beat John Gibson, the Carlsbad, N.M. streak who set a world's schoolboy indoor record two weeks ago. Jaure was so far ahead he eased in.

This weekend the Steers will go to the San Angelo relays, said Coach Cliff Patton.

Texas Western Upsets Favored Kentucky, 72-65

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer
COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Inspired Texas Western, led by the gymnastic efforts of little Bobby Joe Hill, toppled top-ranked Kentucky 72-65 Saturday night and captured the National collegiate basketball championship that Kentucky Coach Adolph Rupp wanted to add to his collection of four others.

Hill, a 5-foot-10 backcourt man, scored 20 points, most of them in clutch situations and many on spectacular driving layups that brought to mind the heyday of Bob Cousy.

In the end, it was Texas Western's vaunted defense and surprising poise that won the big one.

Kentucky, on the other hand, noted for its finesse and discipline under the legendary coaching of Rupp, was kept off balance throughout and was guilty of a shocking number of lapses, mistakes, bad passes and mental errors.

Texas Western, once a little mining school just across the border from Mexico, was making its first appearance ever in the national final under young Coach Don Haskins but didn't let the pressure or the exposure before a national television audience bother it a bit.

The Miners' calmly dropped in 28 of 34 free throws and that — along with the rebounding of their strong front line — was the difference.

The turning point came early in the second half after Kentucky had closed to within one point at 46-45. The Miners replied with six straight points — four of them on free throws — for a 52-45 lead that never was seriously challenged.

Kentucky simply could do no right. Rupp, who has won 747 games in his 36 years at Kentucky, has called this his finest shooting team ever. But it wasn't when it counted.

The Wildcats, whose only other

Chambers, an underrated 6-foot-4 senior, scored 32 points in Utah's losing cause, giving him a total of 143 and breaking the old NCAA four-game tournament record of 141 held by Clyde Lovellette.

Odessa Has Competition

By TOMMY HART

Promoters over there probably don't know it yet but the Odessa Pro-Am Golf tournament, which is not sanctioned by the PGA, is going to run into competition for pro linksters . . . A $25,000 Pro-Celebrity tournament has been booked for July 9-10 at the Atlanta (Ga.) Country Club, which will drain off some of the talent from the Odessa meet . . . The PGA has tried to get the Atlanta people to move their tournament up a week but 38 top pros have already signed on at Atlanta and chances are the dates will remain as is . . . The Atlanta people point out that it is hard to attract a crowd Independence Day, not to mention the fact that some of the players in show business don't want to play on that day . . . Cassius Plays Other Side Of Record

TORONTO, Canada (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay, is playing a different side of the record for his March 29 bout here against Canadian George Chuvalo.

"I've never been 15 rounds in my life," the champ, who prefers the Black Muslim name of Muhammad Ali, moaned Saturday as he prepared to open training quarters here.

"The most I've ever been 12—Man, if I don't get some solid training in pretty soon, my legs won't take me."

MISERIES

Cassius said these are not his only miseries. He is 15 pounds overweight. His favorite cooks, Lana Shabazz and Ruth Bryant, aren't in camp. He has a skinned knuckle, suffered in workouts in Florida.

"I've got only 11 days left," Clay complained. "What with all this controversy and missing training and all the worries I've had, I haven't been able to think about the fight."

"I've got to start thinking. I've got to get in the mood." The champion brooded over time lost in appealing his draft status. His draft board in Louisville earlier this week refused to change his classification from 1A.

BAD DREAM

The champion said he lost two days when he came to Toronto to sign for the fight. He lost two when he went to Chicago to apologize for remarks made regarding the U.S. war effort in Viet Nam, he added, and the Louisville trip cost him four more.

Clay said he regarded Chuvalo as a tough opponent — and this feeling was substantiated recently in a dream.

"I kept hitting him and hitting him and he wouldn't go down," Cassius said. "Pretty soon, I was so tired I could hardly punch. He kept punching and getting stronger. He won the decision. Man, I woke up in a sweat."

Knicks' Protest Is Disallowed

NEW YORK (AP) — Walter Kennedy, commissioner of the National Basketball Association, rejected a protest by the New York Knicks Saturday and ruled that the Bulls won Thursday night's rough contest at Baltimore, 118-113.

Sixty-five personal and six technical fouls were called. The final technical was charged against the Knicks for having only four men on the floor after Emmette Bryant fouled out with 24 seconds left to go.

Dick McGuire, coach of the Knicks, protested that the officials should have checked to make sure that Bryant had been replaced. Kennedy said it was the duty of the coaches.

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — da Citrus Open Saturday with a 54-hole total of 208. The lean 39-year-old pro from Dothan, Ala., managed to fight off severe back pains; and the challenge of 77 other pros shooting for the $21,000 first prize purse.

Only 10 strokes separated the entire field after the 36-hole cut Friday.

Dickinson shot a par 71 Saturday over the 6,873-yard Rio Pinar course.

Two strokes behind at 210 were Lionel Hebert, Dick Lytle, Gay Brewer Jr., and Joe Campbell.

Another five were tied at 211, including Al Bessell, Mason Rudolph, Jack Nicklaus, John Lotz and Tommy Bolt.

This comprised one of the closest fields in recent tournament history.

Ball Trial Is Speeded

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Attorneys worked overtime Saturday in an effort to speed up trial of Wisconsin's antitrust suit against baseball.

About a dozen exhibits and two depositions offered by the defense were accepted during the three-hour session ordered Saturday by Circuit Judge Elmer W. Roller. The trial has been in progress since Feb. 28 and attorneys for the National League are just beginning their presentation.

The depositions were from Warren C. Giles, president of the National League, and Richard Cecil, an aide to President John McHale of the Braves. Portions of Giles' deposition had been put in evidence earlier by the state.

Judge Roller recessed the trial until Monday.

Matson Wins, But Aggies Off

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Texas A&M strongman Randy Matson won both the shot put and discus throw in Saturday's triangular meet with Rice and Louisiana State, but the favored Aggies still fell into second place behind Rice University.

Matson, the world's shotput champion, won his specialty with a heave of 62 feet, 3 inches. He took the discus with 181-8.

"The main thing is getting my strength back," Matson said afterward. "I'm not nearly as strong as I was. I weighed 239 at the end of basketball, but I lost four or five pounds when I had the virus last week."

"I'm a lot farther behind than I thought I'd be. I thought I could come out of basketball weighing 245."

Matson weighed 260 when he produced his record throw of 70 7/4 in the Southwest Conference meet last May.

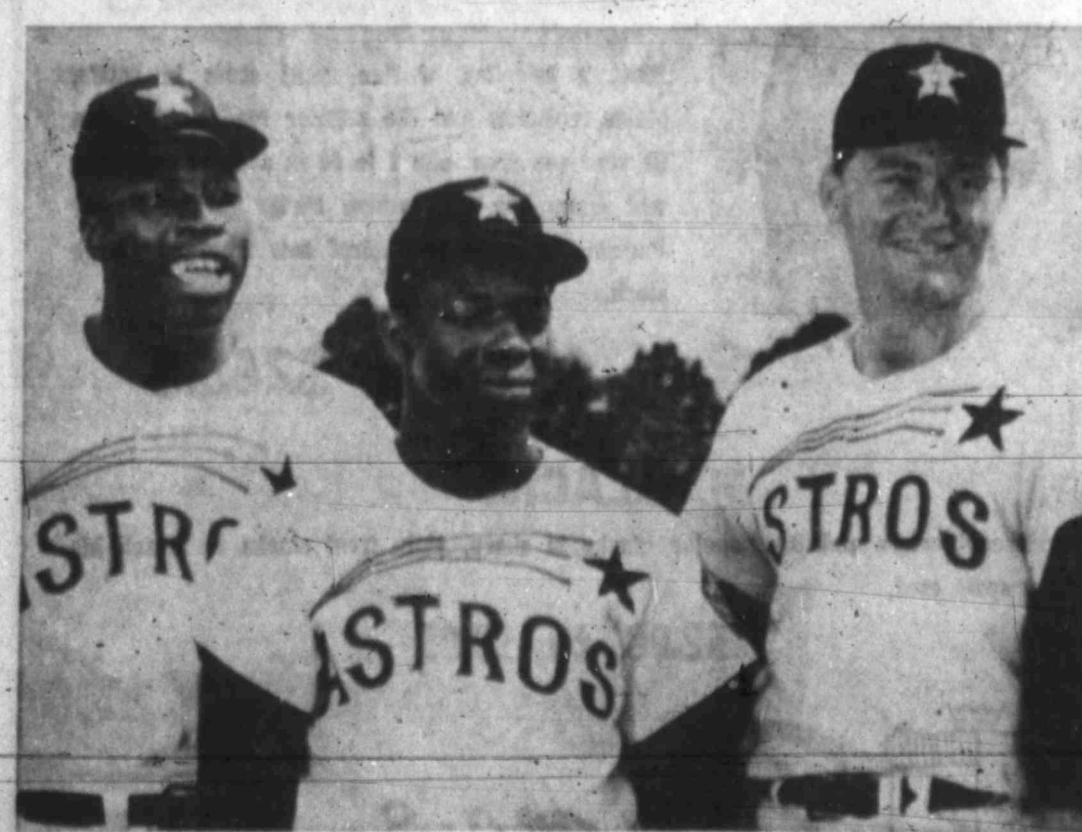

Rice scored 15 points in the last two events for a winning total of 75. A&M won 65 points and LSU was last with 30.

Rice set two new records while A&M and LSU each broke one.

Aggies Stretch Victory String

HOUSTON (AP)—Texas A&M stretched its victory string to 10 Saturday on a 10-0 decision over Rice University.

The Aggies unloaded 15 hits on the Owls to make their 10th straight victory in the Southwest Conference record 3-0 over Coach Tom Chandler's 41st birthday.

Astros' Fly Chasers

These three players will have a lot to do with how Houston's Astros fare in the National League chase this season. The outfield are, left to right, leftfielder Lee Maye, centerfielder Jim Wynn, and rightfielder Rusty Staub. Maye is the speed merchant, and Staub last season showed considerable power at the bat. The team met the Los Angeles Dodgers Saturday night in the Astrodome opener for the season, and play another exhibition today.

Steer Baseballers Win Two Of Three

By TOM BARRY

Big Spring Steer baseballers ventured outside the city Friday for a game with Lubbock, winning handily, 2-0, behind the 7-hit pitching of Gary Mearns, then came back home to split a doubleheader with Lamesa, 4-3, and 0-1 Saturday, leaving their season mark at 3-4.

Friday, R. J. Englert, right fielder for the Steers, singled in Gerald Wilson, who was on third with a triple, to start the scoring in the fifth inning.

In the seventh, pinch hitter Berry King got on base via four balls, and scored a little later on a shortstop error, completing the scoring for the Steers.

Best the Lubbock club could manage was third base, where shortstop Richard Beauland resided after he smashed a Gary Mearns pitch for a triple in the fifth. But the next two batters hit into easy outs and the third fanned.

Mearns went the distance for the Steers, gathering five strikeouts. He gave up seven hits. Wesley Verner pitched the full game for Lubbock, also getting five fans to his credit. He allowed the Steers only two hits, but still got beat.

Back home, Saturday, the Steers continued winning. Big Spring scored in the bottom of the 10th inning to win 4-3 over Lamesa in the first of two games.

Yogi Anderson got on base, then Jesse Zapata flied out. Berry King was intentionally walked, as was Bill Burchett.

Then the Lamesa pitcher walked Gerald Wilson, and Anderson stroled past home plate, breaking a 3-3 tie and winning the game for the Steers.

Big Spring scored two runs in the third, with Sam Mims hitting a single, scoring Rod Roberts and Bobby Griffin, who had both walked on.

Lamesa's scores came in a bunch. All three were tallied in the third inning on a single by Gibson, the catcher, and three Steer errors. But the Steers fought back with those two, third-inning scores and Griffin's tying score in the fifth, caused by Englert's sharp single.

Bobby Griffin went the distance for the Steer club, giving up six hits and fanning seven batters. Losing pitcher was Mills, who allowed five hits while fanning only two.

Lamesa High's fine second baseman, Tjerina, whopped a Johnny McCollough pitch out of sight in the third inning of the second game, for the contest's only score and a Lamesa win of 1-0.

Star Performers In Three-Way Meet

Walter Reyna, HCJC star distance runner, is shown finishing all by himself in the two-mile event in Friday's triangular track and field meet at Memorial Stadium. He was clocked in 9:49, after he earlier had won the mile event. Robert Horn, HCJC, is shown making a 6-3 leap in the high jump to tie Kenneth Coffu of Lubbock Christian, but he had to take second place because of more misses. ACC won the meet.

ACC Frosh Shade Hawks In Three-Way Meet Here

ACC's classy freshmen raced to a relatively easy victory in a triangular track and field meet here Friday afternoon, scoring 78 points to 48 for runnerup HCJC and 27 for Lubbock Christian.

The Jayhawks, no doubt, would have offered serious contention for team honors had not their two star sprinters, Jimmy Jasper and Linwood Wright, been virtually incapacitated by leg miseries.

Neither could run in any event where starting blocks were used.

Because they were ailing, the Hawks did not enter a team in the sprint relay.

Ablene Christian had no competition in either the discus throw or shot put and picked up 16 points in those two events merely by fielding two athletes.

High point man of the meet was ACC's Monte Stratton, who finished with 11½ points. Walter Reyna of HCJC and ACC's David Parsons each won two first places for 10 points.

Reyna stepped off the mile in 4:21.7 and then won the two-mile in 9:49.1. He was given half-mile, 220, pole vault and mile relay.

HCJC emerged with blue ribbons in both hurdles events as well as the distance races while Lubbock Christian's first places were limited to the broad jump and high jump.

Robert Horn turned in the electrifying time of 13.8 in the high hurdles. It was later discovered, however that one hurdle had not been placed, although the distance was regulation. Horn nipped a teammate, Harley Bynum, in the event, although Bynum was also caught in 13.8.

Perhaps the best feat was accomplished by ACC's Pinto Beene, former Abilene Cooper star, who cleared 14-10½ in the pole vault. Beene tried again at 15-1½ but appeared to be tired and didn't come anywhere close to clearing it.

The meet was staged in near perfect weather. The Hawks run next week in Denton.

Miners Only Second Texas Club In Finals

DALLAS (AP) — When Texas Western entered the finals of the NCAA national basketball tournament Saturday, it was only the second Texas team in history to reach that dizzy height.

Sports historian Lester Jordan of the Southern Methodist University athletic staff is the authority for the report.

And it was Kentucky, which entered the finals with Texas Western, that played the other Texas team, Baylor University, Jordan recalls.

Kentucky's Wildcats beat the Baylor Bears 58-42 in the finals in 1948.

GREAT YEAR

Jordan said Texas teams had a "great year" in NCAA basketball play this year. Three Texas teams: Texas Western, Southern Methodist and the University of Houston were among the top 16 teams which played in the four NCAA regional tournaments.

The El Paso team gained the finals by beating Utah 85-78 Friday night in the semifinals. Kentucky edged Duke 83-79 for its berth in the championship game.

Texas Western, ranked third in the nation, had a record of 27-1 going into the finals. Until the NCAA playoffs, many basketball observers took TWC lightly, despite its impressive season record. The Miners lost only to Seattle a few days before they began NCAA competition.

LOOKED AHEAD

Don Haskins, Miner coach, said the loss to Seattle came because the Miners "were looking ahead" to the playoffs.

To gain a berth in the national championship round, TWC had to play in overtime to beat Missouri Valley champion Cincinnati 78-76 in the opening round at Lubbock, Tex., and needed two overtimes to topple favored Kansas University, the Big Eight titleholder, 81-80, in the finals of the Midwest Regional.

Southern Methodist, also playing in the Midwest Regional, lost its opening round to the Kansas Jayhawks 76-70 and then beat Cincinnati 89-84 for third place.

HOUSTON STRONG

Houston played in the Far West Regional at Los Angeles and lost its opening round game to Oregon State 63-60. In the consolation game for third place, the Cougars beat the University of Pacific 102-91. Prior to entry in the NCAA playoffs, the Cougars had boasted a 100-point average per game.

In 1956, SMU reached the national finals, but San Francisco, the eventual champion, beat it 86-88. The Mustangs lost in the consolation round to Temple 90-81.

Girl Gymnasts Learn New Athletic Skills

By JERRY MONSON

"Gymnastics has not only taught the girls skills which can be used in other sports, but it has given them self-confidence and the determination to do something on their own," said Jim Gilbert, physical director at the YMCA.

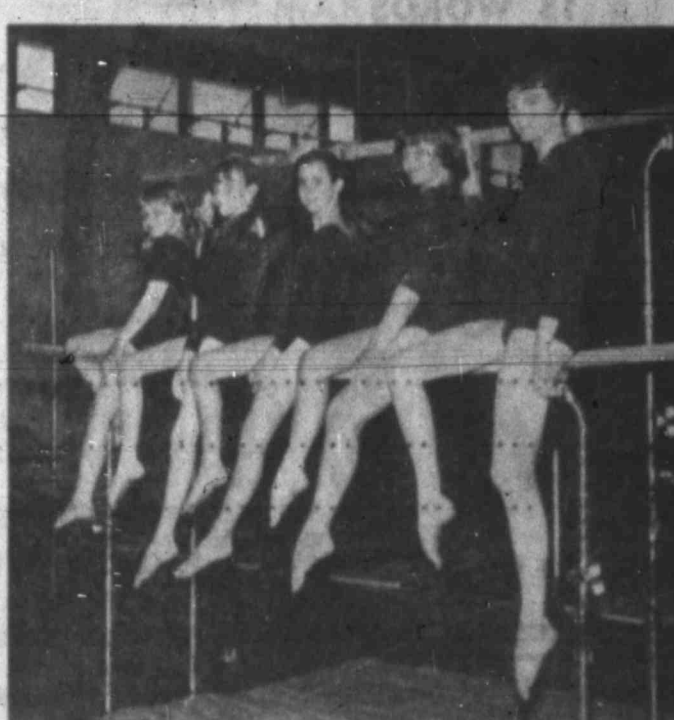

Gilbert and 2nd Lt. Pete Bauer, Webb Air Force Base, will see a combination of all these things when five girls from the YMCA gymnastics team compete with teams from Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana and all areas of Texas in the 11th annual Southwest Area YMCA Sports Festival, held in Dallas Friday through Sunday, March 25-27, the annual event draws top competitors from all regional YMCAs, and the athletes compete in several different sports.

Accompanying the gymnastics team from Big Spring will be the YMCA swim team and the high school basketball team. A total of 25 local youngsters will compete for honors in the festival.

The gymnastics team has been working for two years on form, continuity, and general ability to do several stunts. All members have competed in at least two other meets, and some have entered as many as six. "But this is the big one," Gilbert said.

Events will include free calisthenics, uneven parallel bars, balance beam, sidehorse vaulting, and general tumbling stunts. Five judges will score athletes on the difficulty of the stunt, form in following the stunt, and continuity — how well the stunt is presented. Medals will be awarded to first, second and third place winners.

The local team meets Wednesday from 4:30 p.m. and Saturdays from 3:30-5 p.m. Each girl follows individual workouts

When time permits, Gilbert said Lt. Bauer, himself a tumbling expert, will accompany the team, as will Gilbert, and will be entered in several events.

Gilbert Paces Texas Scrimmage

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Longhorns had a scrimmage type intrasquad game Saturday and Sophomore Chris Gilbert of Spring Branch scored three touchdowns on runs of 37, 29 and 28 yards to lead the Orange to a 30-12 victory over the Whites.

Eyes of most observers were glued on quarterback candidates, however, and Gregg Lott, junior from Lubbock, and Bill Bradley, sophomore from Palestine, ran close to a dead heat.

Each led their teams in nine drives and each led three scoring drives. Soph Quarterback Andy White of Houston took the third unit on offense twice to score one touchdown.

Marichal-Giants Still Far Apart

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Juan Marichal, the San Francisco Giants ace pitcher, is still miles away from his club both literally and in contract negotiations.

Chub Feeney, vice president of the club, said Marichal is still in the Dominican Republic. "And we still are quite a ways apart."

"There's absolutely no change," Feeney added.

Marichal reportedly got $60,000 last year and is holding out for $80,000 this year.

Texas Wins, 6-4

DALLAS (AP) — Minton White's three-run homer in the eighth inning brought undefeated Texas from behind to a 6-4 Southwest Conference baseball victory over Southern Methodist Saturday.

Same old bug —
till you step on it.

Look at the 1966 Volkswagen in our showroom and you'll notice the hubcaps are flattened (to help you keep from flattening them on high curbs). Everything else on the outside is right where it was in '65. Inside it's another story. The 1966 Volkswagen presents 23 improvements. To notice the most significant change takes a test drive. Volkswagen engine power has been increased 20%. The '66 may look like the same old bug. But you just come in and step on it.

Casually Yours

By JO BRIGHT

Mrs. Howard J. Witheycombe and Mrs. Bob Miller, who arrived here from Colorado Springs, Colo., Wednesday evening are reaping the rewards that lovely women are entitled to. The Adolph Swartzes hosted a dinner for them Thursday, the R. W. Whipkeys Friday, Mrs. Champ Rainwater Saturday, while Mrs. Lloyd Watson's home was the scene of a bridge party the same day. Mrs. E. V. Spence has invited friends of the two to drop by her home and see them today, and the whirlwind weekend will climax with a dinner party in Cosden's Blue Room tonight, hosted by Marvin Miller.

You're right, Monday they'll gather their strength for the trip home!

Another one who is already gaining strength is Jack Wilcox. I understand he's doing well following surgery Thursday at Howard County Hospital Foundation.

Mrs. D. V. Allen of Edna is here for the weekend visiting her cousin, R. E. McKinney and his son, Rick. She's on the way to Denver to deliver a car to her son who is in service there and will stop on the way at Dalhart to see R. E.'s mother, Mrs. Leona McKinney. Mrs. McKinney has another Big Spring visitor occasionally — Bill Inkman stops during his travels.

Let's see, who else is coming and going? Mrs. Fred Beckham, for one. She came in Friday night from a week's stay with her father, I. W. Ramsey, and sister, Mrs. Holland Hope, in Clarksville, Tenn. She was honored at a luncheon there and attended a dinner at Fort Campbell, Ky., as the guest of Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Ward S. Ryan. Say, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Thames are enjoying themselves today, having the grandchildren underfoot. Their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Thames and youngsters, Terry and Kendra Leigh, came in Friday from Dalhart. Grandmother will go there to stay with the children while the younger Thameses are in New Orleans, La. She may need a rest after that so she and her friend, Mrs. Cleo Byers, are trying to schedule a trip to Las Vegas, Nev., supposedly to see Cleo's sister who lives there, but I doubt they'll spend much time over the coffee cups.

Just back from the lure of that city's lights are Mr. and Mrs. Bill French, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kasch and Dr. and Mrs. P. W. Malone. The Frenches still looked solvent when they dined at Cosden Country Club Friday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Peters and Mrs. Flora Belle Wright. At another table were the Paul Meeks and four youngsters. Across the room, Mrs. Imogene Lloyd and Mrs. Omar Pittman shared the dinner hour with that pretty red-headed woman, Mrs. Gail Bonner, who said she had a fine trip to Arizona. Gail's got a new fortune-teller in Odessa. Might give it a go — my own crystal ball keeps clouding up . . . and I hate being surprised.

There was a crowd again at the Americana Friday evening. Guess the drawing card Dewey Byers on guitar and Mel Sharp on most anything. It was good, danceable music but as usual, much too loud for a place that size. Think they'll be there day. Mrs. Champ Rainwater six weeks so maybe the band can develop a soft sound soon. The music is too good to ruin with too much of a good thing. Among the dancers were Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Kilgore and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pachall. Luis Puga had his band in the Ramada's Lamplighter Club and sounded good on trumpet. Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Hunt are going their separate ways. He'll be at the Driscoll Hotel in Austin this weekend for a meeting of college presidents, and she goes Sunday to Levelland to see their son and daughter-in-law. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hunt, and their children, Tony, Heidi and Holly.

Mrs. W. G. Wilson Jr., in a pretty pink hat, stopped by the office with Mrs. Joe Barbee, in an equally pretty blue one. Mrs. Wilson said her son, Bill, is still in Ethiopia. Since she can't be with him Easter, she'll be in Texarkana with friends and family.

The C. C. Choates planned to be in Lubbock this weekend for a big DOKKIES affair but don't know if they made it. There were some 'maybes.'

I resent the time that one must spend under the hair dryer but it was made more pleasant the other day at Gordon's when I got my first look at little Darren Ramsey McCrary, son of Mr. and Mrs. Danny McCrary, who have moved back here from Midland. He sat nicely on mama's lap and watched his grandmother, Mrs. W. E. Ramsey, get beautiful.

Wonder if Leonard Cook is having any luck in El Paso? If not, guess he'd have been home before now.

Mrs. Jack Irons wore a pretty black and white coat dress to Zack's style luncheon the other day. She was joined in the lobby by Mrs. Charles Tompkins, Mrs. Harold Talbot, Mrs. M. M. Edwards and several others. On another divan, Mrs. Charles Neefe chatted with Mrs. Jimmy Robertson while waiting for her luncheon buddies, Mrs. Bill C. Coleman, Mrs. Dick Collier and Mrs. Ennis Cochran. Miss Bessie Love, who says she needs an assistant to help her retire, was having lunch with Mrs. Donald Van Meter. Mrs. John Ritenour and Mrs. Doyle Paris who was being feted on the occasion of her departure for Kansas City. Tall and handsome Terry Lewis is in his black Mustang was practically stopping traffic downtown the other day. He breezed in from Austin for a golf game or two with his dad, Jim Lewis. The Lewis' oldest daughter, Mrs. Bob Strauss and her captain husband still live in Waco. Their son, Robbie, will be here with the grandparents when the new baby comes in July. Call me.

tients who are waiting their turn for treatment. After treatment, the volunteers serve refreshments to the youngsters. Uniforms for the auxiliary consists of gold and white pinafores worn with white blouses. During the Thursday meeting, the women received their regular assignments and special duties for an open house this afternoon from 2 to 5 p.m. at the center. The meeting concluded with the serving of refreshments.

Gift Shower Fetes Miss Sharon Gary

Miss Sharon Gary, bride-elect of John Moeser, was honored with a bridal shower Thursday evening at the Cosden Country Club.

Hostesses were Mrs. Clyde Angel, Mrs. Leland Calvert, Mrs. Bill Gage, Mrs. Elmer Giles, Mrs. J. O. Hagood, Mrs. J. C. Pickle, Mrs. Jack Hendrix, Odessa; Mrs. S. M. Smith and Mrs. Jim Zack.

Welcoming guests were Mrs. Zack, Miss Gary; her mother, Mrs. Cornelia Gary; her fiancé's mother, Mrs. Charles V. Moeser, Lubbock; and her grandmothers, Mrs. Walter R. Douglas and Mrs. L. M. Gary.

Miss Connie Gary, sister of the honoree, presided at the guest book.

Room decorations featured the bride-elect's chosen colors of green and white. The refreshment table was covered with a white cutwork cloth and centered with an arrangement of pear blossoms, daffodils and pussy willows. Silver appointments were used, and bouquets of spring flowers were highlighted throughout the room.

The couple is planning a June 22 wedding at the First Baptist Church.

New Teachers Debate Merits Of Specialty

By JO ANN PHINIZY

Three phases of teaching is the main topic of conversation of three new residents, Miss Lynn Anthis, Miss Tamara Ann Shivers and Miss Kaye Pfluger.

The teachers are January graduates of Denton schools, Texas Woman's University and North Texas State University. They slipped and slid into the Ponderosa Apartments in the midst of our most recent bout with ice and snow elements.

Since that time, they have become Big Spring boosters and hope to teach here during the summer sessions and into the 1966-67 school year.

Which of their individual teaching assignments is the most intriguing is a matter of frequent debate at Apt. No. 17. Miss Anthis calls Fort Worth her home town, and speech therapy is her main interest. She conducts special classes at Baer, Cedar Crest and Lakeview elementary schools.

It is her contention that correct pronunciation is the key to learning; and that her students are most responsive and the most appreciative of learning.

Miss Tamara Ann Shivers, Longview, is a second grade teacher at Marcy Elementary School. She ranks her post as most important because it is her realm to be the child's first teacher.

READ AND WRITE

"There is nothing more rewarding than being the one to teach a child to read and write," she said, "unless it's watching a child blossom when he realizes that the world won't eat him if his mother isn't around."

Miss Kay Pfluger is from San Angelo and teaches the fourth grade at Washington Elementary School.

Secret Pal Names Told

Secret pal names were revealed during the Thursday afternoon meeting of the Big Spring Chapter of the Texas School Food Service. Thirty-one members met at the Big Spring Senior High School cafeteria with Mrs. Nathan Stallcup presiding.

Mrs. Charles Sweeney reviewed the "Pepperidge Farm Cook Book." She read modern recipes and compared them to the 14th Century version.

Mrs. West Henderson read a birthday poem, and Don Stinson, Odessa, District 4 chairman, was welcomed as a guest.

Refreshments were served from a table centered with the St. Patrick motif, and the April 5 meeting will be at Marcy Elementary School.

Party Honors Mrs. E. L. Long

KNOTT (SC) — Mrs. E. L. Long was recently honored with a pink and blue shower at the home of Mrs. L. G. Harrell.

Cohostesses were Mrs. Robert Nichols, Mrs. Leon Riddle, Mrs. H. C. McClain, Mrs. Charles Williams, Mrs. Robert Brown, Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins, Mrs. Sonny Shroyer, Mrs. Larry Shaw, Mrs. Lloyd Robinson and Mrs. T. M. Robinson.

Twenty-three guests were registered, and gifts were displayed by the honoree and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Walter Long.

tary School. She thanks her roommates for their care in training pupils; but reminds them that she has the fun of teaching children as they are just beginning to widen their scopes.

"And you had better be careful," she said. "Their curiosity will cause more library research than a Ph.D."

One example Miss Pfluger gave was in her class' study of Australia. She divided her students into groups and each was to study and report segments of Australian life.

The reports were so complete and the enthusiasm so outstanding, that she intends to continue the study with countries around the world.

HISTORY STUDY

"History is my pet subject,"

she said, "and I'm surprised at how much I am learning, or re-learning. It's hard to say which."

The three roommates happily admit that teachers they may be — but cooks, they are not.

Since they have been in Big Spring, they've cooked one casserole. They do have a chicken that, sooner or later, one of them is going to try to fry.

It isn't that they are opposed to cooking, it's just that they are collectively short of spare time.

There's teaching, getting acquainted around town, and each of them plans trips to her home as often as possible.

Between plans and this and that, they maintain that any equation of teaching is a delightful challenge to one and all.

Texas History Explored By Mrs. Harold Talbot

Mrs. Harold Talbot's talk on the life of Sam Houston highlighted the Thursday afternoon meeting of the 1948 Hyperion Club in the home of Mrs. Ross Boykin, 101 Jefferson.

Cohostess was Mrs. Allen Hamilton. Mrs. Talbot's program was given in conjunction with the year's study of "An Informal History of Texas" by Frank Tolbert. Tracing Houston's early life and exploring his military and political career, she summed up by noting the effect he had on the history of the state.

Mrs. R. W. Whipkey presided and welcomed a new member, Mrs. George Bair. Also, the group agreed to extend for another year their sponsorship of a Friend of Youth membership at the YMCA.

Mrs. Charles Tompkins, 711 Tulane, will be hostess April 21 and her cohostess will be Mrs. Bair.

Fifteen attended.

Miss Sosa Marries Benny Noland Evans

Miss Lupe Nancy Sosa became the bride of Benny Noland Evans in a Saturday evening ceremony at the St. Lawrence Church in Amarillo. The Rev. Dermot O'Brien, minister, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Lupe Sosa, 901 NW 4th, Big Spring, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill McClure, 2610 N. Grand, Amarillo.

Mrs. Joyce Shanks, organist, played a selection of wedding music including "Panic Angelicus" and "Ave Maria."

The bride, given in marriage by F. J. Oliver, wore a formal gown of white peau de soie. The dress was designed with a scooped neckline, fitted bodice and long sleeves that tapered to petal points over the wrists. The bodice was trimmed with Alencon lace motifs and fastened with covered buttons. The detachable train extended from a modified belted skirt.

A peau de soie bandeau bow, lavished with lace and seed pearls, held a silk butterfly veil of illusion. For her bouquet, the bride carried an arrangement of white orchids.

The attendants wore Empire-style dresses made of lilac satin with lace-covered bodices and sashes of dark purple velvet. They wore purple ring hats with circled lilac veils.

The attendants carried bouquets made of different shades of purple carnations. Jimmy Dale Langford was best man. Ushers were Eugene Frizzell, the bridegroom's brother; Larry Johnson and Frank Evans.

Flower girls were Miss Annette Padilla, Wichita Falls, and Miss Rachel Barragan, Big Spring. Ben Richard Padilla, Wichita Falls, was ring bearer.

For a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the bride wore a beige knit suit with three-quarter-length sleeves. The dress was accented with a light brown scarf and accessories. She wore an orchid corsage taken from her bouquet. The couple will reside in Amarillo.

'ROUND TOWN

By LUCILLE PICKLE

Oklahoma University's most distinguished dropout is once more a student of a former Big Spring woman, MRS. HELEN REAGAN SMITH. The student is none other than Henry Bellmon, governor of Oklahoma, a graduate of Oklahoma State University and an OU student several years ago in an extensive writing course. He had to drop it when he became state Republican chairman, took over management of the family farm, and then tossed his hat into the ring for governor. Now he's enrolled in a creative writing course under Mrs. Smith, who has been a member of the OU Journalism staff for several years and director of its correspondence courses in writing. The daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. B. Reagan, she is a sister of Horace Reagan. Mrs. Smith holds her bachelor and master's degrees from Baylor University.

There is a new member of the Falkner clan. She is ELIZABETH AVERY FALKNER, born to MR. and MRS. AVERY FALKNER JR. in San Francisco, Calif., on Feb. 12. Avery Jr. is doing drafting work for a construction company there. Grandparents are MR. and MRS. AVERY FALKNER of Big Spring and MR. and MRS. LEE ELSWICK, Joplin, Mo.

There'll be an interesting announcement from the Western District Convention of Texas Federation of Women's Clubs to Big Spring people when the reports of awards are made following the gathering. The news will be circulated locally immediately after the meeting concludes.

Two of our favorite people, MRS. NORMAN READ and MRS. J. H. GREENE are under the weather. Mrs. Greene is not having company at present.

The RAY McMAHENS had word from Lt. Jerry McMahan last week informing them he had returned from a skiing trip to Austria but had to sit out the last three days there as he hurt his knee and had to have it put into a cast. He's out of the cast now. Other Big Springers skiing in Norway were SHARON CREIGHTON and GLORIA COKER, who had the time of their lives recently when they joined a skiing party that went north of Stockholm for their outing. Our Lt. Tom says after he saw the skiing party return to his Chamley AFB in France from a trip to Germany he decided the flat ground was good enough for him.

CAROL JEAN HARALSON, eldest daughter of the JACK HARALSONS who is a junior at the University of Texas, is excited over the prospects of spending the summer in Bavaria where she will be working. She is to be a member of the group from the university that will fly from Houston on June 4.

MRS. ED SETTLES was in Abilene Friday and Saturday attending the mid-year meeting of the Federation of Insurance Women of Texas.

ALBERT POLACEK has returned to his home in Jal, N. M., after being hospitalized in Kermit since the first of February after suffering a heart attack. He is a former resident of Big Spring.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Robert Coleman April 4.

ELBOW CLUB
Mrs. Denver Yates conducted the program during the Thursday afternoon meeting of the Elbow Home Demonstration Club at the school cafeteria. Mrs. C. P. Sherman presided.

Mrs. Yates discussed ways to keep highways and homes beautiful and safe. She suggested that, when traveling, families should carry disposable litter bags. She also stressed that, to lessen the danger of home fires, storage areas should be cleaned often.

The members made 35 pounds of potato salad for sale at the 4-H and FFA stock sale, and refreshments were served by Mrs. Sherman, Mrs. W. A. Allen and Mrs. L. L. Phemister.

FAIRVIEW CLUB
"Let's Keep America Beautiful" was the program topic during the Tuesday afternoon meeting of the Fairview Home Demonstration Club. The members met at the home of Mrs. J. F. Skalky, and Mrs. Roxie Wilten was welcomed as a guest.

Plans were discussed for helping with the concession stand during the 4-H and FFA stock show.

It was announced that the first meeting in April will be a county-wide session. Mrs. Leona Allman from the National Food and Drug Administration will be guest speaker. Her topic is "Separate Fact From Fallacy."

Miss Sue McConnell Weds J. C. McCrary

Miss Janette Sue McConnell became the bride of James Clinton McCrary Saturday evening at the Church of Christ in Italy, Texas. A. O. Christian, minister, officiated for the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert McConnell Jr. of Italy and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elvis McCrary, 1201 Runnels.

Highlighting the altar were arrangements of gladioli and carnations against a background of tapers and wedding palms.

Vocal music was presented by the Jackson and Moore Quartet. Their songs included "Whither Thou Goest," "Always" and "The Wedding Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal gown of white peau de soie. The dress featured an oval neckline and long, tapered sleeves. She wore a Spanish mantilla draped with French Alencon lace that formed a chapel train. For her bouquet, she carried an arrangement of Calla lilies, feathered chrysanthemums and orchids atop a white Bible.

MATRON OF HONOR

Attending their sister as matron of honor and bridesmaid were Mrs. Linda Kyle, Alvarado, and Miss Debbie McConnell. Other bridesmaids were Miss Carol Furr, Dallas; and Miss Nell Jones, Irving.

The attendants wore identical dresses of pink peau de soie in the A-line design with three-quarter-length sleeves. Their bouquets were of carnations and English ivy.

Benjamin McCrary, Dallas, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Robert Kyle, Robert West, Dick Schnell and Jim Underwood.

Groomsmen were Gary Tidwell, Houston; Frank Medley, Lubbock; and Danny McCrary, Big Spring.

For a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination the bride chose a pink linen suit with three-quarter-length sleeves. She wore black accessories and an orchid corsage taken from her bouquet. The couple will reside in Irving.

The bride attended the University of Texas, Austin; Arlington State College, Arlington; and Navarro Junior College, Corsicana. She was a member of the Industrial Art Club.

The bridegroom attended Austin College, Sherman, where he was a member of Beta Chi Omega. He is employed at Traders and General Insurance Company, Dallas.

KEEP DENTISTS AWAY TOO

Apples May Save Teeth

By SAM BLACKBURN

Over in England, children are testing out whether an apple a day — according to the old adage method for keeping the doctor away — will also keep the dentist away.

And in Big Spring, dentists agree, in part, that the idea is not as strange as it may seem.

According to published reports, 25,000 British school children have given tangible proof that apple eating reduces tooth decay.

LOGIC

Big Spring dentists point out there is good logic to the plan.

"Since the kids probably do not brush their teeth after each meal, if they are given an apple to eat, the cleansing effect of the fruit will certainly do some good," one dental surgeon said.

"Haven't you noticed how clean your mouth and teeth feel after you've eaten an apple?"

"It will help, perhaps. But, of course, it is not the final answer."

Meantime, in Great Britain tooth decay in children is a major problem. Medical authorities in that country are saying that if this apple-eating campaign doesn't work, there is a high probability that 1966 born babies will be toothless by the time they are 12.

Statistics offered show that 98 per cent of the school children of Great Britain already suffer from dental problems. The average British child of four to five years of age has four or five filled, missing or decayed teeth. There are thousands who have complete sets of false teeth by the time they are 20.

GRIM PROPHECY

Dentists here say that on very rare occasions they are called up to fit younger people with dentures. The grim prophecy in England of all children born this year being toothless by 1978 may be true in England; it is not true here.

It is also pointed out that for some reason, Britons have always been notorious for their bad teeth. American dental troubles are serious enough, dentists say, but they are not as grim as those reported in Great Britain.

Under Great Britain's national health program, dentists are paid nearly $300 million annually to put the nation's teeth in good shape. They spend about 5,000,000 hours a year filling cavities, cleaning, pulling and generally looking after the British molars. Additional costs run the total to better than $600,000,000 and still the nation's dental problems are said to be growing.

One local dentist pointed out that under the British program

the dentist is paid per filling — hence a practice, frowned on as not so good in this country, of making individual fillings in two, three or more small spots on one tooth rather than one major filling covering all. This, the local dentists say, is no way to insure the job doing much good.

Meantime, a Britisher named G. L. Slack has been making studies for two years with two groups of children. One group is given a raw apple after each meal. The others were left without apples.

After two years, according to the report released in London, Slack's studies showed the apple eaters' average tooth decay is only half that of the kids fed no apples. The apple-eating youngsters also had three times better gums than their compadres.

To encourage apple eating, a famous clown, Pierre Picon, is handing out apples in British schools each week. The National Fruit Producers Council has joined with the General Dental Council to push the program.

Scout Dinner Set Monday

More than a dozen institutions and three dozen representatives are expected for a Together dinner sponsored Monday evening by the Lone Star Boy Scout district.

The meeting, which is to explain phases of the Scouting program to prospective sponsors of units, will be at 7 o'clock at Coker's. Institutions which may have not been contacted, but nevertheless interested in boys, are asked to send representatives to the meeting.

Among those who have indicated participation are North Birdwell Lane Methodist Church, Church of the Nazarene, Downtown Lions, Baptist Temple, No. 826 of International Union of Operating Engineers, College Baptist, First Methodist, Holy Name Society of Immaculate Heart of Mary Church, Kentwood Methodist, Big Spring Fire Department, Junior Chamber of Commerce, First Baptist.

William B. Crocker Jr., district chairman of organization and extension, will preside at the meeting, said R. L. Tollett, Lone Star district chairman.

IN VIET NAM

Marines Want American Music

PVT. RONNIE JETER

A GI in Viet Nam misses many things about home — the language, family, friends, and music — American music. A soldier gets tired of listening to himself think.

Marine Private Ronnie Jeter, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Jeter, 1814 Benton, and 11 other soldiers of Hq. Co., Third Battalion, 7th Marines, Viet Nam, decided to do something about the lack of home-grown music, and Pvt. Jeter's mother was chosen as agent for relieving boredom.

Jeter, 21, and the other men chipped in and bought a battery-powered record player, but they didn't have any records, except maybe "Reveille." So each of the 12 put $10 of their small pay checks in the kitty, and Jeter wrote his folks about it.

"You (Mrs. Jeter) were elected 'Mother of the Section' and we got up a little list of records that we'd like for you to get and send to us AIR MAIL," Pvt. Jeter wrote. "Now, we just named 25 (records). That ought to leave about $20 for packaging and mailing, but if it doesn't cover it we can get up some more money. But, if you have a little money left over (after buying the records and paying postage) buy us an extra record or two.

"Ready? Here's the list." Following was the list of 25 selections the 12 soldiers chose. The list ran from "Just Ask the Lonely," by the Four Tops, to "Ring of Fire," by Johnny Cash.

Only two of the artists selected appeared on the list twice — Cash, and the Four Tops. Most of the list was made up of newer, "Big Beat" recordings, but nine artists were chosen with only the notation "any album."

Pvt. Jeter's letter continued: "Now, if the record shop hasn't got all of these records and you can get them to order them, go ahead. If they can't order them, just substitute any other records."

"Please hurry with these. We've gotta have something to listen to."

Mrs. Jeter hurriedly bought the records, and the Marines are probably listening to them right now, the Big Beat rocking through Vietnamese rice paddies.

But Pvt. Jeter may not have a chance to wear out the Stateside recordings. He is due to finish his tour in the war this November. He has been in Viet Nam for a year this month, with the Marines since 1962, the year he graduated from Big Spring High School.

College Work Order Issued

Work order for the new science and new library buildings at Howard County Junior College has been issued.

Dr. W. A. Hunt said that the order had been mailed to Walter Droemer, Giddings, low bidder to whom the contract has been awarded. In response to a telephoned notice, however, Droemer told Dr. Hunt that he was moving in immediately.

Completion date for the job is May 20, 1967, which is 425 days. However, Droemer said he intends to finish the job in substantially less time than the contract allows.

The general contract is for $700,940, and fees, equipment and furnishings will run the total cost above $800,000. The Housing and Home Finance Agency has made a $304,000 grant for the project, and district voters passed a $500,000 bond issue for the local share.

Plans call for a two-story science section for labs, lecture rooms, work room, classrooms and offices; also a one-story building for a vastly enlarged library. When this project is finished, the present science and library facilities will be converted to classrooms.

A Devotional For The Day

Have mercy on me, O God, according to thy steadfast love; according to thy abundant mercy blot out my transgressions. (Psalm 51:1, RSV)

PRAYER: O Lord, our God, have mercy upon us. We are painfully aware of our transgressions against Thee and our fellowmen. "Lord have mercy." Give us Thy compassion to be merciful in our dealings with others. In Jesus' name. Amen.

(From the 'Upper Room')

Time Of Reckoning

The Big Spring City Commission has proposed a budget of $2,882,849 for the fiscal year beginning April 1, which represents an increase of $89,000 over the current budget. This is a relatively modest 3.08 per cent gain.

Perhaps the most sobering thing about the budget is not in its overall figures, but upon the impact it will have on property owners. In order to raise about $150,000 additional revenue, the commission decided that the tax route was about the only one left. Indeed, the necessity of $150,000 in the face of an increase of only $89,000 in budget requirements underlines the expectation that some other revenue sources will be down.

Two ways are open to raising funds by taxes — one is to raise the percentage of value on which the rate is levied; the other is to raise the rate. The commission elected to go the percentage route because it is relatively less painful in reaction, though not in final extraction from the taxpayers. The average taxpayer would be shaken at the prospect of a 30-cent or 20 per cent increase in his rate, yet this is what it amounts to. This is the plain, unvarnished truth, and it need not be dodged.

Yet, if the city is to furnish all the services expected of it and is to treat its personnel fairly, it must have more revenue. Not since 1959, when the rate was raised from $1.20 to $1.50, has there been a change in the tax structure. In the seven-year gap, everything the city has to have for operation has risen and risen again, and salaries have probably risen less than material and other service costs.

The city invested a considerable sum two years ago in a survey of its entire family to arrive at a job classification and salary scale. A key part of this is annual increments, and this alone will claim a healthy slice of new revenue the city is asking.

Other services are being bulked and expanded, yet some revenues are coming down. For instance, the parking meter department means a loss of $22,000 receipts — not to mention the once-lucrative fines from overtime offenders.

These things should be borne in mind in studying the budget prior to the public hearing Tuesday. There may be some other and easier way, and if so, the commissioners certainly would welcome hearing about it.

Encouraging Response

The response to the extended registration for voting has been both surprising and encouraging.

We would have not been too surprised had there been only 500 or so new registrants. At the closing of the tax office Thursday night, 1,327 new registrations had been counted. There is a possibility that the mail applications on hand will push the list to nearly 1,500. In so many words, the response has been two or three times as good as we anticipated.

This will give the county a voting

Marquis Childs The Tight Bans On China Trade

WASHINGTON — A rare example of East-West coexistence, and hopefully even cohabitation, offers a ray of relief in the grim fog of the news. Chi-Chi, the London Zoo's female giant panda, has been flown to Moscow to be introduced to An-An, the Moscow Zoo's male panda.

A footnote to the rigidity of America's China policy is recorded in Chi-Chi's earlier wanderings. She was originally to come to the United States, the Brookfield Zoo in Chicago having offered $50,000 for her to the Swiss animal dealer who had brought her from China to Europe.

CHI-CHI WAS one of two giant pandas outside China where the species in the great bamboo forests of the Province of Szechwan is said to be increasingly rare. This was, then, a coup for the American zoo. Every one was presumably happy, including Chi-Chi, whose owner was exhibiting her in European zoos at a special fee.

But at this point the United States Treasury intervened and what followed was a farcical bureaucratic hassle. Wasn't Chi-Chi really a product of Red China? And didn't she, therefore, come under the ban of the trading-with-the-enemy act, dating from World War II, which prohibits any commerce with Communist China? It appeared that the United States would lose one of the two pandas outside the bamboo curtain.

AN APPEAL was taken to Dr. Theodore H. Reed, director of Washington's National Zoo. He was asked if he could not help find a legitimate loophole to let Chi-Chi in. Maps were consulted. Wasn't it possible that she had strayed from the mountain fastness of Szechwan into Bhutan or even through Tibet into Nepal before she was captured? For three days Chi-Chi's fate hung in the balance.

Finally the ruling was negative. Chi-Chi was denied admission, having been found beyond a doubt to be a product of Communist China. In the fall of 1959 the London Zoo snapped up the prize.

TRADE WITH Communist China, giant pandas to one side, would under any circumstances be negligible so far as the booming American economy is concerned. China has little or nothing to sell that the United States wants to buy. On the export side American wheat growers and grain dealers looked longingly at the mass sales by Canada to Peking. Such sales are, of course, prohibited under the trading-with-the-enemy act.

IT IS THE inflexibility of the American position, as shown once again in the hearings before the Fulbright committee, that puts the United States in a striking contrast with the Western Allies. They not only buy from China but sell in increasing volume from year to year, although the total is nothing like as large as the trade of Western Europe with the Soviet Union.

West Germany has trade relations with Peking, although Bonn does not formally recognize Red China. The French last year put on a big trade fair in mainland China's capital and sent high-ranking representatives to preside over it. Britain entered into a deal to sell Viscount planes to China.

VICE PRESIDENT Hubert H. Humphrey intimated that while containment of Red China was American policy this did not mean isolation. The ban on all trade, and not only on strategic goods which are on a prohibited list agreed to by the Allies, would seem to be aimed at isolation. A relaxation of the ban might be a step away from this rigid exclusivity.

The trading-with-the-enemy ban was applied to China in 1950 and has apparently never been re-examined as a part of American policy.

Revival Set

NEW YORK (AP) — One of the major dramas on Broadway a quarter century ago, "Native Son," is slated for revival.

The play was adapted by Paul Green and Richard Wright from the latter's best-selling novel and was originally directed by Orson Wells.

Producer Sidney Bernstein has tabbed John Berry for the new staging. Berry performed in the original presentation and later directed a company for national tour.

Tax Increase As Economic Brake Pondered

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Will a federal income tax increase be necessary to finance the Viet Nam war and to halt inflation?

That was a big question in business and financial circles during the week.

Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler said a "moderate" tax increase may become necessary but maintained it is too soon to decide.

President Johnson has pledged that he will ask prompt enactment of a tax increase if he decides that higher levies are required to prevent inflation.

"We do not want to put the brakes on unnecessarily or too fast," Fowler said. "We want to watch and weigh all developments carefully."

MODERATE RESTRAINT He added that, "As of now, the administration is shifting from a policy of steady stimulus of demand to a policy of moderate restraint."

The Joint Economic Committee of Congress said there was increasing evidence that a general tax increase would be needed this year to restrain inflation.

Democratic members of the committee urged Congress to work out the details of such a tax increase now so that it could be put into effect quickly later by passage of a simple joint resolution of Congress and the signature of President Johnson.

Republican members agreed that a tax increase would probably be needed this year but they argued that it could be avoided if the administration cut spending and if the Federal Reserve Board tightened further the availability of credit.

SUSPEND CREDIT Democrats recommended that the special seven per cent tax credit given to business on its expenditures for equipment be temporarily suspended to discourage further rapid rises in such spending. Republicans said suspension of the investment credit should be considered.

Industrial production and personal income climbed to new records in February.

The Federal Reserve Board's index of industrial production rose to 151.3 per cent of the 1957-59 average from 150.1 per cent in January and was substantially above the 139.2 per cent of a year earlier.

PERSONAL INCOME UP The Commerce Department reported that personal income advanced by $4 billion to a $56.3 billion annual rate in February. Wages and salaries rose $2.8 billion to a $37.6 billion annual rate.

The Commerce Department also said that manufacturers expect their inventories to grow more slowly in the first and second quarters of 1966 after surging in 1965's closing months. A survey showed that manufacturers expect to raise inventories by $1 billion to $69 billion at the end of this quarter and to further boost them by $1.3 billion to $70.3 billion by the end of June.

- Tax may be inflation deterrent, war financier
- Administration follows moderate restraint policy
- Industrial production up, inventories rise slowly
- Corporate profits hit annual rate of $75 billion
- Newsprint, tobacco processors back off price hikes along with increases in individual and corporate taxes.

President Johnson signed a bill which will bring the government about $4 billion in additional revenue over the next 15 years.

The legislation is to increase from 6 per cent to 7 per cent the excise tax on car sales and to reinstate the 10 per cent on telephone calls, which had been reduced to 3 per cent. It also provides for speedups in the collection of corporate and personal income taxes.

In another report, the Commerce Department said that corporate profits increased by $1.75 billion during the fourth quarter of 1965 to an annual rate of $75.25 billion. It estimated national income, including corporate profits, at a rate of $57.1 billion for the fourth quarter of last year.

NEWSPRINT SCRAMBLED The newsprint price situation became scrambled. Last week Canadian producers initiated a $10-a-ton increase, putting the price in the Eastern United States at $144 a ton and in the Western United States at $134.

During the week one producer announced a $7-a-ton boost and two others announced $5-a-ton increases. Then two other producers who originally had raised their prices $10 substituted $5 raises.

R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. rescinded the increase at the request of President Johnson.

General Tire & Rubber Co. advanced prices for passenger car, truck, farm and industrial tires by 1 to 3 per cent. Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. said it would add 3 per cent to the prices of most passenger car tires.

Automobile production during the week was estimated at 200,000 cars, the same as last week but down from 213,854 a year ago.

Steel production during the week posted its 10th week-to-week gain of this year. It totaled 2,692,000 tons, compared with 2,660,000 tons the previous week.

To Your Good Health How To Keep Arthritis Controlled

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: I recall reading a comment that a person should "start preventive treatment for arthritis." It startled me as I was under the impression that arthritis could neither be cured nor prevented.

Now I am sure I am developing arthritis, enlarged knuckles, extreme tenderness to pressure. I use my hands a great deal and would be most interested in any preventive treatments available. — A. P.

You are right in that the disease cannot be cured or prevented, but patients wish so fervently for such a treatment that arthritis inspires all manner of quackery.

The wise patient looks at the problem factually, and is guided by the valid fact that arthritis can be made more tolerable, and a good deal of disability can be prevented.

Arthritis is a broad term meaning creaky, painful or deformed joints — an oversimplification, perhaps, but it will do. But not all joint pains are arthritis, and not all arthritis is the same.

Gouty arthritis, a quite common form, can be combated by medication to control uric acid in the system. Osteoarthritis, or the "wear-and-tear" type of joint trouble, can't be prevented by medicine, diet or the "secret treatments" that the charlatans peddle. The true cause may be the cumulative stresses of the years, or even injuries, long forgotten, which have damaged the tissues.

Avoiding excessive strain on these joints, yet using them to keep them mobile, moving them to the fullest extent possible, will keep them from "freezing" or becoming stiffer. Keep in mind the difference between using and moving these joints, and exerting them. Aspirin and heat (whether dry heat or warm baths) are the time-tested, reliable methods of easing discomfort. Other medications for the most part depend on supervision by your doctor.

Rheumatoid arthritis, unlike osteoarthritis, is a disease. It can jump from one joint to another, and requires the most careful medical attention in its acute phase — medication, rest, sometimes complete bed rest, plus physical therapy, heat applications and so on.

Still other supposed "arthritis" on examination can prove to be muscular pains, bursitis, sprains or injuries which can be corrected.

The tender knuckles of the fingers can be characteristic of a degenerative joint condition — osteoarthritis. This is the type that occurs in the 40's or later, is not preventable but is not disabling, either. The swollen joints may be unsightly but no way has yet been learned to stop the process. Why this affects some people and not others is not known. But we do know the practical answer unless something better is discovered. Do what can be done to make the joints feel better. Keep them mobile. Keep them active. And do not subject them to extreme stress or strain.

"Don't Quit Because of Arthritis" is the title of my leaflet designed to help all who suffer the aches and pains of arthritis. For a copy write to Dr. Molner in care of The Herald, enclosing a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 5 cents in coin to cover cost of printing and handling.

Dr. Molner is always happy to hear from his readers, but he regrets that he cannot answer individual letters due to the great number received daily. Whenever possible he uses readers' questions in his column.

Around The Rim Ode To The March Zephyrs

This land has big blue skies
And a wonderful sunset glow;
Could be much better yet,
If the wind didn't blow.

The soil keeps a-rollin'
Down from New Mexico;
But we'd never have the stuff
If the wind didn't blow.

You can always see it comin',
And head for a place below;
Wouldn't have to do this
If the wind didn't blow.

Some days look up and see
Logs and stones on the go;
Well, you'd never witness this
If the wind didn't blow.

Farmers watch their land fill,
Till they can't see a row;
They could do more smilin'
If the wind didn't blow.

Flyers plan a take-off—
Find the ceiling zero;
They'd have clear sailin'
If the wind didn't blow.

You can do a lot of plantin'
And hope to see it grow;
You just might get your wish
If the wind didn't blow.

No use to clean the place,
Workin' arms to elbow;
It might count a little
If the wind didn't blow.

Pick a day to wash your car?
Say cenie, meenie, moe;
You might, could bet on this

If the wind didn't blow.
There's times when a little lark
Sounds mighty like a crow;
Even birds could do better
If the wind didn't blow.

West Texans talk big talk,
But would boast more ego
And talk even bigger yet
If the wind didn't blow.

And strangers who frown and
Take the weather as a foe
Might talk up Texas, too,
If the wind didn't blow.

Those who praise this country,
Having to sing it solo,
Would find a full-voice choir
If the wind didn't blow.

You can shout it from the hills
"Till you hear the full echo;
Nothin' wrong with this land
If the wind didn't blow.

To like the airy places,
One must be a pro;
But even amateurs would come
If the wind didn't blow.

So play it on your fiddle,
With scrapin' of the bow;
We'd all be better off
If the wind didn't blow.

Some will think this doggerel
Is less than appropos;
Would be willin' to erase it
If the wind didn't blow.

Spring feverishly yours,
BOB WHIPKEY

Canada As Sexy As Any Other Nation

WASHINGTON — Canada can now be considered a major power. She rates it because she has a major sex scandal. This means more in the world of power politics than the highest stockpile of hydrogen bombs.

No country who wants to play a deciding role in international affairs can have any influence without a first-class sex-in-government crisis. France found this out when she had the "Ballet Rose." Britain discovered it when it produced the Profumo Affair and the United States became a first-class nation only after the Bobby Baker case came to light.

RUSSIA IS working on a crash program to catch up with the West, and their leaders predict they'll have an earth-shaking sex scandal about 1967. The Communist Chinese, who got started late, are not expected to have a major sex scandal for at least 10 years.

What this has done for Canada in terms of morale and spirit has been unbelievable. When the Minister of Justice announced in Parliament that Canada had a sex scandal that could be worse than the Profumo affair, the country went wild. Factory workers were dismissed, banks closed, schools were let out, and everyone poured into the streets kissing and slapping each other on the back.

CROWDS GATHERED around television store fronts hoping some of the details would be shown on TV. Other crowds gathered in front of newspaper offices where editors read bulletins to the happy throngs.

"We're on the front pages of every newspaper in the world," a man shouted, and the people cheered.

"We're asking for a veto in the United Nations," another man yelled.

"GERDA MUNSINGER, the German woman in the affair, says she'll come back and tell all!" someone else yelled.

The people could not contain themselves. Some laughed, a few cried for joy.

At the Toronto stock exchange the Canadian dollar, which had been soft, was suddenly in demand.

And in Ottawa telegrams of congratulations from all over the world poured in. One leader cabled, "Thank God you got it before the Cubans."

BUT AFTER all the celebrations, the Canadians started sobering up. A spokesman for the government said, "To have your own sex scandal is a very sobering responsibility. We can't use it as a club against a non-sex scandal nation. It must be used for peaceful purposes only."

There has been no official word yet as to how Washington is taking its neighbor's good fortune.

ONE U.S. Canada-watcher told me: "We don't know how big the sex scandal will be, so we can't guess how it will affect United States-Canadian relations. Of course, we're happy for them, and we'll help them in anyway we can."

"Does that mean you'd be willing to pool your sex scandal resources?" "I didn't say that. I think that's something for NATO to decide."

Wage-Price Controls Coming?

WASHINGTON — Hardly anybody wants to see wages or prices controlled by the government, and the administration feels that it can manage the economy without taking such a step, but it may nevertheless prove to be the only way to prevent the economic strain in the United States from getting worse.

THE AMERICAN people have experienced wage-and-price control three times—in World War I and World War II and during the Korean war. Up to now it has been assumed that the Viet Nam war wouldn't have a big enough repercussion to require such controls. With the maintenance, however, of a large military expedition in Southeast Asia and the substantial increases in appropriations being made by Congress and more in prospect for war purposes, a serious economic squeeze is currently developing.

WHILE THE administration has been relying on "voluntary" restraints on both wages and prices, no formula has yet been advanced that has proved effective. The so-called "guidelines" or "guidelines" for wages and prices have been repeatedly transgressed by both management and labor. Only last week George Meany, head of the AFL-CIO, urged union leaders in the electrical industry to ignore the 3.2 per cent "guideline" for pay increases which has been recommended by President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisors.

Concurrently, price rises have appeared in several categories, and the administration seems to be powerless to prevent them. This is the kind of situation that could lead to congressional action.

THE ADMINISTRATION, of course, may first seek an agreement between management and labor to establish an informal council to pass judgment on wage and price increases. This would be an extension of the informal arrangements which have hitherto been left either to the President or to the Secretary of Labor to handle. The problem is getting further complicated, and a board of some kind would have to be set up to deal with the question if inflation is to be slowed down.

The idea that the federal government can use its influence by giving advice to industry and labor still prevails, but all such voluntary programs in the past have not been adequate and have usually been superseded eventually by legislation.

THE PROBLEM of interest rates is at the moment the most acute. There is a scarcity of money, and yet there is a bigger and bigger demand for loans. The administration has just put through a tax bill which will result in more income to the Treasury to cover costs of the Viet Nam war, but there is no sign that this alone will be adequate. A general rise in income-tax rates may come after the November elections.

WITH WAGE-AND-PRICE controls, an excess of profits tax is usually passed. The government at the moment, however, is not so much interested in cutting down profits as in preserving the purchasing power of the dollar. If prices continue to go up, wage levels would have to be substantially increased all along the line. Incidentally, passage of a bill to increase the minimum wage, which President Johnson has promised labor, will cause many wage scales above the minimum to be shoved upwards.

The whole situation indicates that a serious upheaval on the economic side can hardly be avoided without direct controls.

'THE GREAT RACE'
Tony Curtis and Jack Lemmon

Feature Spoofs A Classic Race

"The Great Race," has king-sized humor and adventure; it changes into the world of special effects, with performances by Jack Lemmon, Tony Curtis and Natalie Wood during round-the-globe escapades. "The Great Race," starting Thursday at the Ritz Theatre, exploded into activity after five years in the mind of Blake Edwards, its creator and director. In it he sought the answer to the desire for slapstick, excitement and other worldly adventures in the incredible — all of which is played against elaborate backgrounds by talented people.

Edwards uses all the old and new comedic devices that motion pictures has made possible. As an admirer of the Charles Chaplin - Laurel and Hardy - Harry Langdon type of comedy, as well as the derring-do of Douglas Fairbanks and other early - day swordplay-ers and wall - leapers, the director has made "The Great Race" in this mold. It was produced in Technicolor and Panavision.

Jack Lemmon in black, Tony Curtis in white and Natalie Wood in pink are the regimental leaders of this multi-million-dollar enterprise — one which is calculated to prove, among other things, that even in 1968, automobiles were man's best friend as well as his deadliest enemy and also that film comedy can be funnier, faster and more elegant than ever.

Although there was an actual auto race from New York to Paris in 1908, and it took 170 days for the winning car (a Thomas Flyer) to travel 22,000 miles between the two cities, this picture is only roughly based on that event. The setting and the period are the same, the race covers the same distance, but after that any resemblance to reality ceases.

Edwards' picture had a seven-month shooting schedule which carried the company from California to Kentucky, to Austria and to France, with a climatic finale at the Eiffel Tower in Paris.

Accompanying Lemmon and Curtis in their respective vehicles are Peter Falk, playing Maximilian Meen, a shifty character of wickedness, and Keenan Wynn, playing Hezekiah Sturdy, as strong and honorable as Mr. Clean.

THE ARTS Carlos Montoya Due In Concert Series

One week from Wednesday, show is off, but in its place will be a bigger one. Big Spring Art Association will host the regional concert series in the First Federal Savings & Loan building May 27-28-29. Mrs. John Zimmerman and Mrs. W. H. Crenshaw will head up arrangements for the show transferred from Midland. "John Brown's Body," next production of the Big Spring Little Theatre, is now in rehearsal. Dates for the unusual play are April 29-30. Easter Sunrise services (April 10) at the amphitheatre will have a new turn with worship in music. The combined choirs of the junior college, high school and two junior highs, aided by the band, will join forces in furnishing music. This will be some new and different from regular church Easter services.

Music lovers will be interested in the presentation of Bach's "St. Matthew Passion" at 7:30 p.m. this evening in the First Presbyterian Church sanctuary, 800 West Texas, in Midland. The combined choirs of the church will be assisted by an orchestra of strings, flute and organ. Ira Schantz, Fort Worth and for many years choir director at Howard County Junior College, will sing the role of evangelist. C. A. Salley, organist-choirmaster, will conduct.

While a little out of territory, it should be noted that Amarillo's sixth annual invitational exhibition of paintings and sculpture will be held in the Tri-State Fairgrounds Exhibits Building March 27 from 1 to 6 p.m. Over 600 artists in a three-state area have been invited to show.

Carmen Alvarez, winner of the Hemphill-Wells and Sorantin contest, will be guest soloist for the San Angelo Symphony concert March 23 at 8:15 p.m. in the municipal auditorium of San Angelo. She is a native of Uruguay and attends SMU. "She will play the Chopin Concerto in F Minor. Also on the orchestra program are Schubert's Symphony No. 5, plus several other selections.

Today is the first exhibits in Midland's new Museum of the Southwest, 3203 W. Wall. Items have been selected from private collections and other museums of the state and include maps, documents, paintings, photographs, sculpture, household items, tools, Army gear (a brass canon from Goliad), etc. Another Midland event comes up March 29 with presentation of young artist winners with the symphony.

Barbara Bouchet Stars In Next State Film

Europe has provided many of the motion pictures' most beautiful stars. Barbara Bouchet, who stars with Mark Richman, Wendell Corey and Carl Esmond, in "Agent for H.A.R.M.," opening next Friday at the State Theatre, is another in this long line.

The tall, blonde beauty burst into the motion picture limelight with her performance as the faithful wife of Kirk Douglas in "In Harm's Way." She is a product of Germany's stars, have been many of film's stars.

'THE THIRD DAY'
Elizabeth Ashley and Roddy McDowall

Amnesia Problem Provides Interest

"The Third Day," which opens today at the Jet Theatre, focuses on the talents of two of Hollywood's most engaging young stars, George Peppard and Elizabeth Ashley. To back them, there are seasoned co-stars Roddy McDowall, Arthur O'Connell, Herbert Marshall and Mona Washbourne. Percy Faith, one of America's top composers, did the score, and also the picture's theme-song, "Love Me Now."

"The Third Day" revolves around the psychological conflict of a man, portrayed by Peppard, who emerges from a car-crash to discover his memory is gone and, moreover, that he is suspected of murdering a morally-dubious young woman. How he gropes through the fog of amnesia; finds again the beautiful but insecure wife, played by Elizabeth Ashley, he nearly loses; saves his position in a large business enterprise, and clears himself of responsibility for murder, are the main elements of drama.

Elizabeth Ashley has been hailed as the most exciting feminine star to come along in 10 years of new faces. After appearances in most of the top-rated dramatic television shows, she scored a personal success on Broadway in "Take Her, She's Mine." She was cast in "The Carpetbaggers," then returned to Broadway for another acting triumph in "Barefoot in the Park."

Roddy McDowall, co-starred in "The Third Day" as a malicious and conniving cousin of Miss Ashley's, has been a motion picture star since childhood. He is one of the few, however, who continued to play important roles once childhood was finished. "The Greatest Story Ever Told" and "That Darn Cat" are among McDowall's recent films besides "The Third Day."

Arthur O'Connell had no sooner completed his portrayal of the newspaper editor in "The Great Race," than he was signed for "The Third Day" and "Fantastic Voyage." He plays a doctor in both movies. O'Connell is a long-time veteran of stage and screen.

Herbert Marshall, one of Hollywood's greatest character actors, took an unusual assignment in "The Third Day." Renowned for his magnificent voice, Marshall co-stars as Miss Ashley's father, victim of a stroke which leaves him unable to move or talk. He plays the entire role without speaking a word.

Mona Washbourne, Percy Faith, one of America's top composers, did the score, and also the picture's theme-song, "Love Me Now."

How he gropes through the fog of amnesia; finds again the beautiful but insecure wife, played by Elizabeth Ashley, he nearly loses; saves his position in a large business enterprise, and clears himself of responsibility for murder, are the main elements of drama.

Elizabeth Ashley has been hailed as the most exciting feminine star to come along in 10 years of new faces. After appearances in most of the top-rated dramatic television shows, she scored a personal success on Broadway in "Take Her, She's Mine." She was cast in "The Carpetbaggers," then returned to Broadway for another acting triumph in "Barefoot in the Park."

Roddy McDowall, co-starred in "The Third Day" as a malicious and conniving cousin of Miss Ashley's, has been a motion picture star since childhood. He is one of the few, however, who continued to play important roles once childhood was finished. "The Greatest Story Ever Told" and "That Darn Cat" are among McDowall's recent films besides "The Third Day."

Arthur O'Connell had no sooner completed his portrayal of the newspaper editor in "The Great Race," than he was signed for "The Third Day" and "Fantastic Voyage." He plays a doctor in both movies. O'Connell is a long-time veteran of stage and screen.

Herbert Marshall, one of Hollywood's greatest character actors, took an unusual assignment in "The Third Day." Renowned for his magnificent voice, Marshall co-stars as Miss Ashley's father, victim of a stroke which leaves him unable to move or talk. He plays the entire role without speaking a word.

Mona Washbourne, Percy Faith, one of America's top composers, did the score, and also the picture's theme-song, "Love Me Now."

Peppard, who emerges from a car-crash to discover his memory is gone and, moreover, that he is suspected of murdering a morally-dubious young woman. How he gropes through the fog of amnesia; finds again the beautiful but insecure wife, played by Elizabeth Ashley, he nearly loses; saves his position in a large business enterprise, and clears himself of responsibility for murder, are the main elements of drama.

Brewer, regularly assigned as a tank gunner in Company B, 4th Battalion of the division's 35th Armor near Hohenfels, Germany, entered the Army in June, 1964, and arrived overseas the following October. He received basic training at Fort Polk, La.

The 19-year-old soldier attended Big Spring High School.
