of a pickup truck and others into the highway and a driveway at Roberson Mobil Service.

Forecasters See Good Year For Agriculture, Business

The Olton area has just finished a good year and is looking forward to a better one in 1964.

This is the opinion handed down by agricultural and economic experts who say 1963 is expected to set a record high in farm output, state-wide, and that '64 will remain high and perhaps set a new record.

Consumer spending in the county was high in the past year and gives every promise of going higher.

John G. McHaney, economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, gives one reason:

"Consumer incomes after taxes are running about five percent above 1962 now and further gains are expected in 1964."

He notes that the domestic market for agricultural products looks good and the immediate outlook for agricultural exports is about the "best ever."

"Total exports of farm products for 1963-64 is likely to be near $6 billion if the proposed grain sales to Soviet bloc countries materialize," he adds.

In the year just past, local residents returned to the market place in force. The loss of confidence they had suffered in the Spring of 1962, when the stock market took a nose dive, was all but forgotten as they proceeded to pick up where they had laid off.

The result has been seen in the volume of business registered by county retail stores in the 12-month period ending June 30, 1963.

Retail business in Lamb County came to $33,811,000 which passed the previous year's $32,111,000.

According to the Standard Rate and Data Service, Lamb County merchants accounted for .0140 percent of the national total.

This was more than their proportionate share, since the

Bales Fly In Mishap

It's not too uncommon to see cotton dust flying around Olton but when it comes to cotton bales flying through the air, that's a different story.

That was the scene, however, Tuesday just before noon on Highway 70 in front of Roberson Mobil Station.

A GMC semi-truck carrying 44 bales of cotton from Flagg Gin near Earth was headed east on the highway when the bolts in the tractor wheels snapped, according to Police Chief Emmett Burrows.

Sixteen of the bales came tumbling off. A 1962 Ford pickup, which belongs to Richard Roberson, was hit by several bales and damages to the pickup were estimated at $500.

Damages to the GMC were estimated at $100.

Population Now Estimated 2,276

Olton Growing At 100-A-Year

What is the present population of Olton?

This depends to a great extent on the person with whom you are talking, since several different estimates have been made.

No one, however, has taken the trouble to apply statistical analysis to the problem.

According to such an analysis by the Enterprise, Olton's population today is 2,276. Here's how it's figured.

The federal government's procedure in figuring the statistical population of any given city is to take the number of gas, electric and water meters at the time of the last census, divide it by the number of persons officially counted in that census and thus arrive at the mean average number of persons per meter.

At the time of the census, there were 524 gas meters in the city. Today there are 620. Using the above means of computation, these figures give Olton an average of 3.66 persons per gas meter. Multiply that figure by the present figure and the answer is 2,269 persons.

The average of 2,282 and 2,269 gives Olton a present statistical population of 2,276 persons.

The Enterprise was unable to obtain information on the number of water patrons in the city so this was not used in figuring the statistical population.

That average figure, multiplied by the present number of meters gives those figuring an accurate approximation of the population. When three different meter figures are used, the total of each is added and then divided by three for a population average.

The 1960 Federal Census gave Olton a population of 1,917. At that time Olton had 916 electric meters in service and 524 gas meters, according to Southwestern Public Service and Pioneer Gas officials.

Applying the official population, 1,917, to the number of electric meters in service at that time shows that there were 2.09 persons per electric meter.

Applying the same ratio of residents to meters in service today, 1,092, gives Olton an electric meter population of 2,282.

At the time of the census, there were 524 gas meters in the city. Today there are 620. Using the above means of computation, these figures give Olton an average of 3.66 persons per gas meter. Multiply that figure by the present figure and the answer is 2,269 persons.

The average of 2,282 and 2,269 gives Olton a present statistical population of 2,276 persons.

The Enterprise was unable to obtain information on the number of water patrons in the city so this was not used in figuring the statistical population.

Building Continues At Quarter Million

New construction in Olton during 1963 remained on a level with 1962 near the quarter of a million mark, a review of city building permits showed this week.

Approved by the city were nine permits for homes to be erected with valuations totaling $145,650 and 14 permits for residential move-ins totaling $30,075.

Five commercial permits were approved with a valuation total of $39,800.

The city also authorized remodeling, repairs and additions to homes and commercial buildings amounted to $3,150.

The permit valuations for homes ranged from $225, a move-in, to $36,800.

The five commercial permits covered the new Consumer's building, $14,000; Bodkin and Nixon, $15,000; Jeffery Lumber, $10,000; Moss Welding, $500; and a commercial storage building, $300.

Cool Man, Cool!

Two cold fronts blew over Olton during the Christmas holidays leaving snow both times.

At the weather station here, snowfall was measured at .2 of an inch Dec. 22 and .4 of an inch Dec. 29.

Low temperature recorded during the fronts was six degrees Dec. 22.

Muleshoe had the most players on the first unit, three. They placed center Dick Pylant and two backs, Kenny Heathington and Scott Oliver.

Pat Hubbard, Denver City back, in on the team for the third straight year. Denver City also placed Thurman Williamson, a tackle.

Also listed are end Eddie Pool of Canyon and guard Bill Potts of Floydada.

Tulia, the only Class AA team in the area to go undefeated for the regular season, placed tackle Phil Tucker and quarterback Frank Hooper.

Don Light, Friona coach, was picked as the coach of the year.

KENDALL

LOOKING BACK AT 1963

A Year That Saw Little Of Everything

Olton residents put up their 1964 calendars this year and, with them, the ever-optimistic outlook of a farming community:

"This will be the best year ever."

To some, 1963 had not lived up to expectations, while, others felt at the close of the year that, from an overall point of view, the year had been good to Olton.

Certainly it was a year that the nation will never forget after the assassination of John F. Kennedy in Texas.

Local farmers will not be likely to forget last June when high winds, hail and torrential rains put a gloomy forecast on crop prospects.

Summery weather in the fall cooperated with the late cotton, however, in that a killing freeze did not come until Nov. 17, one of the latest ever recorded in this area.

Building continued strong here, totaling about $250,000 in building permits, and consumer spending was up from 1962.

Deposits at Olton State Bank at the close of business Dec. 31 came to $7,698,887.48, about three-quarters of a million dollars higher than the $6,949,432.19 recorded at the end of 1962.

Bank President Owen Norfleet said: "It's a good increase, especially in view of the fact that we've had a tough year for cotton." Norfleet said that not only will production be down, but also that farmers were faced with rising production costs.

As the old year closed, the cotton harvest was nearing its end, and not more than 10 per cent of the crop remained in the fields.

A production of about 40,000 bales, compared with 50,000 in 1962, was figured as about the best the area could hope for on the current crop.

Possibly biggest news-maker in Olton during 1963 was the city council.

It is unlikely that anyone suspected last February, when candidates began to file for mayor and councilmen, just how long it was going to take to settle the election.

In February, Bill Thomas filed for mayor along with Gene Wilson. Filing for councilmen were Bill Kemp, Russell Rucker, G. A. Bodkin and F. Hollingsworth.

Then, in April, the election brought out 592 voters, the largest number ever recorded here. Election officials, in fact, had to get extra ballots in a hurry.

Feelings ran strong on the election and the results were close, all down the line.

Wilson was named winner in the mayor's race by one vote. Councilmen election was almost as close. The first meeting of the council in April split the group wide open.

Major item of controversy was whether or not the new mayor would also serve as city judge. Later that month, a letter from the Texas Municipal League said he could, indeed, serve as city judge.

Early in May, a contest was filed in district court on the mayor election with Bill Thomas seeking a vote reversal. The one-vote loser alleged that non-residents had voted.

Shortly thereafter, Wilson submitted his resignation and went fishing. At the same time, another law suit, G.A. Bodkin vs. Bill Kemp was withdrawn.

Olton was not to know who its mayor until June 11 when Thomas was sworn in, after he had been declared the mayor in district court June 10. The recount showed Thomas the winner by one vote.

The dust hardly settled until Councilman G. H. Buchenau resigned, making another election necessary.

This one, however, was not to prove as stormy as the earlier one. Douglas Jones and Robert Dennis filed for the post in June and Jones was elected in July.

The post office has also made big news during the year with residents looking forward to a new post office here, possibly as early as April.

The Running-Water Draw project has drawn wide-spread interest throughout the year and several meetings have been held by various groups to promote the project.

Olton High School girls basketball team made news last January when the Fillies took second place honors in Southwestern AAU Cage tourney. At the same tourney, Gayle Nicholas was named outstanding forward of the entire 24-team tournament and Cheryl Poteet was named queen of the tourney.

Weather made the news that month also when temperatures dropped to 11 below zero around the middle of January.

A fire at High Plains Research Foundation resulted in approximately $40,000 damages.

Olton Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture banquet in February had two important announcements to make--Citizen of the Year was George Redinger and Olton was to have an airstrip.

In other news that month, Tanya Bryant and Barry Prestridge were named Most Likely To Succeed at the high school, Polard's Cleaners sold to Bill Richardson, it was announced that 200 acres of sugar beets were to be planted here and the 18th annual Olton Stock Show sales topped $11,000.

In late February, Glen Phillips, George Caddell and Bill Dickenson Jr. announced as candidates for the school board election. The incumbents, Gilbert Roberson, Ed Thompson and Owen Jones, sought re-election and won it in the April election.

School activities were big in the news in March with 1200 turning out for the school week activities. Also held at the school that month were the third Sabin oral polio clinic, the science fair and the calendar girl revue, which was won by Jonetta Moss.

April saw Carl McClure being named new junior high principal, Herman Meyer being named new Lions Club president and Bub Holt, David Howton, W.T. Hall Jr., Lee Simmons and Frank Struve being given honorary awards at the FFA banquet.

THE COTTON HARVEST was a long time coming, but when it did, it loaded up the area's gins.

What Is A Farmer?

IN ALL OF BUSINESS there are no other men just like farmers. Farmers are a diminishing class of specialists that do many things well. They come in all sizes, shapes, colors, and ages.

Farmers are eternal optimists who expect that the next year will bring better conditions than the floods or droughts or breezes or insect infestations they have endured every year in the past.

A farmer can keep a $5,000 machine working with a piece of baling wire, an off-size bolt and the lid from an old tin can. Farmers don't belong to unions, don't have 40-hour work weeks, don't need sleeping pills and don't like neckties or fast talkers.

Farmers witness the miracle of birth and the certainty of death and sense an order behind it all.

Farmers are men who teach their sons and daughters responsibility and workmanship before the youngsters move to the city and go to work in industry.

Farmers are patience in overalls waiting for the rain to stop, for seeds to sprout or for a calf to be born.

Farmers see the sunrise and walk alone under the stars, they are strengthened by faith in a higher being.

Farmers are practical family men that are sincere and natural and don't try to appear as something they are not.

Farmers risk all the hazards of other businesses and, in addition, endure the uncertainties of weather, insects, disease and politicians.

Farmers are persistence with a sun bronzed face, starting again after a hailstorm has wiped out a year's work.

Farmers are exhaustion with 326 bales that must be lifted and hauled to the barn after dark before lying down to rest.

Farmers are the kind of courageous, hard working, persistent, practical, fair-minded men that other men imagine themselves to be.

Finally, farmers are the brunt of jokes, the whipping boy of editors, and the sacrificial lambs of politicians.

In spite of all the criticism farmers get, an indication of what people really think is revealed in that, almost every man considers himself a farmer at heart.—North Texas Dairyman.

Running Water Philosopher Starts '64 Like '63 Ended

Editor's note: The Running Water Philosopher on his careless weed farm on Running Water Draw has entered a new year about like he left the old one, his letter this week indicates.

Dear editor:

Now that I've got a new calendar and can plainly see we're into 1964, I was sitting by the fire last night wondering if I shouldn't be making some plans for the new year, but I called it off.

I don't need any more new plans, I've got plenty left over from the last 12 or 15 years I haven't used yet.

Most people plan from the wrong end of the year, they plan ahead while you can be a lot more accurate if you plan back. I can see now a lot clearer what I should have done last January than I can what I ought to be doing next December.

Oh I could make some detailed plans for this careless weed farm for the next twelve months all right, but how do I know what the unfolding international situation will do to them? A man can feel awkward trying to plug up holes in his own fence when the leaders of world thought are arguing there ought to be more holes opened in the Berlin Wall. Patching holes willy-nilly is no longer a sound practice. The world is a delicately balanced outfit and a man has to be careful what he does. It used to be that whether a man got on his tractor and plowed was of absolutely no concern to anybody but himself, but have you ever stopped to think of the international repercussions plowing can have? Some hard-pressed country on the other side of the world will hear about it and say, Look at him, plowing away to make another crop to add to the surplus and make us feel worse. And right when Washington was trying to gain their friendship.

Before I rush head-long into plowing in 1964, I'm going to think long and hard on what effect it'll have internationally. You're not going to catch me jumping on my tractor and upsetting the balance of world power.

I don't know what sort of year 1964 will be, but I have a notion it'll be about like all the other years that have gone before, and it seems to me most people have found them interesting enough to look forward to some more. Your faithfully, J. A.

county population is only .0121 percent of the national.

The cost-price squeeze is expected to still be an important factor in farm income in 1964, but with many farmers also doing off-farm work, per capita personal income of people living on farms from all sources is expected to be near the 1963 record level.

The farming outlook also calls for further increases in farm assets, chiefly due to the continued rise in farm land values.

Though farm debts also continue to increase, the equities of farmers and other farm property owners are reported to be increasing at a faster rate.

Some area farmers are pointing to sugar beets as a coming crop for the Olton area. Many are optimistic about the possibilities of a sugar beet plant at Plainview.

On the business front, new car sales were the strongest part of consumer spending last year in the county.

Other big-ticket items, such as air conditioners, washers, dryers and refrigerators, also benefited from the return of consumer confidence.

Sparking the general business improvement was the powerful economic force of rising incomes. With more money in their pockets, with prices fairly steady and with the business outlook favorable, people began to spend more freely.

Net income in Lamb County last year, after allowing for taxes, reached a total of $36,615,000.

This was more than in fiscal

New Real Estate Firm

Hi Plains Real Estate, a new Olton business firm was announced this week by P.A. Nafzger, who will run the office from his home at present.

The Nafzger home is located at 1305 West 9th Street.

Nafzger received his real estate license last month and says he now has some listings, both city and rural.

A resident of Olton since 1913, he has been a cotton and stock farmer here since 1932.

After graduating from high school, he attended West Texas State for one year.

He and his wife, Mildred, have three sons, Don, J. P. and Carl.

1962, $34,921,000.

What it amounted to was an average spending capacity of $5,432 per county household.

Most local leaders see good times ahead for most of 1964. They forecast a good farm year, good automobile year, continued large-scale outlays for industrial expansion and substantial spending by all levels of government, Federal, state and local.

The outlook, many feel, is better than at any time since 1960.

several years ago, when similar announcements were made linking smoking with lung cancer and heart disease—not very much.

The figures show that they are puffing away at a greater rate than ever. Per smoker, local consumption is about seven percent higher than it was 10 years ago.

The data comes from national statistics compiled by the Department of Agriculture and from area reports issued by the tobacco industry.

In Lamb County, some 2,567,000 packs were consumed in the past year.

This was at the rate of 172 packs per year for every local resident over the age of 14.

It was lower than in most parts of the United States, the average being 201 packs per year. The rate in the West South Central States was 164 packs.

Except for 1953, when cigarette consumption dropped somewhat following the first lung cancer report, there has been a continuous rise in sales.

How much do Lamb County residents spend annually for whatever satisfaction it is that they get out of cigarette smoking?

The answer is—more than they realize. Last year it amounted to $757,000 or approximately $51 per smoker.

Taking into account the 70 million smokers in the country, some $8 billion a year is spent for cigarettes and other tobacco products.

MRS. JAROLD LEE SIMMONS

Moss-Simmons Exchange Vows In Saturday Ceremony Here

In a candlelight ceremony Saturday, Dec. 21 at 7:30 p.m. at the Main Street Church of Christ, Miss Jonetta Moss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth L. Moss, of Olton and Calgary Alberta, Canada, became the bride of Jarold Lee Simmons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Simmons, Olton.

R. E. Higgins of Lubbock performed the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of bridal satin featuring a scooped neckline which extended to a full wateau neckline in back. The front was delicately beaded in a floral motif and long sleeves with petal points extended over the hands. The bell controlled skirt extended into a chapel train. The headpiece of lace cuplet accented by pearl and tiny fabric roses with a pearl drop in center, held the tiered veil of imported illusion.

She carried a bridal bouquet consisting of a white orchid surrounded with white roses. A wedding band belonging to the bride's grandmother, Mrs. J. O. Bledsoe, was tied to the bouquet, for something old and borrowed. For something blue, she wore a blue garter. Something new was her wedding gown.

White carpet was rolled out by the bride's brother, Jim Moss of Olton and Gene Moss of Midill, Okla.

The bride and groom engaged in a candle lighting ceremony while the chorus sang "Be With Us Lord".

The church was decorated with a background of greenery frosted with white glitter. Candles completed the decorations.

Mrs. Jim Moss, of Olton, sister-in-law of the bride, served as matron of honor. Jo Ann Moss, Vernon, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Carmen Bley and Bobbye Lynn Tollett, both of Olton; Laurie Moser, Colorado City; Martha Copeland, Tulsa; and Bettye Ann Young, Memphis.

All the attendants wore identically styled dresses in different shades of blue. The maid of honor wore a party blue peau de soie full-length sheath with flowing panels accenting the back. The sleeveless bodice had a scooped neckline which extended low in back. Accessories included long matching mitts. The headpiece was a matching cabbage rose with tulle.

Bride's attendants carried muffs topped with feathered carnations trimmed in wedding bell. The matron of honor's dress was of medium blue while the bridesmaids were in dance blue.

James Simmons, brother of the groom was best man.

Candlelighters were Debbie Bledsoe of Vernon and Max Moss of Olton, cousin of the bride. Flower girl was Diana Smith, Olton, cousin of the bride. Doug Nickerson of Ralls served as ring bearer.

Ushers were Jim Moss, brother of the bride; Jerry Mathis, Charlie Burrus, all of Olton; Jerry Felder, Hart; Ricky Jackson, cousin of the groom from Wolforth; and Roy Neal Jones, Lubbock.

Wedding music was furnished by the Broadway Church of Christ wedding chorus of Lubbock.

The bride's mother chose for her daughters wedding a pale blue brocaded satin dress. Accessories were matching satin shoes and blue velvet hat. She wore long white gloves to complete her ensemble. The groom's mother wore a champagne beige wool sheath dress, matching full-length coat, tapestry shoes and bag. Both mothers wore orchid corsages.

Following the wedding, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The reception table was overlaid in a white lace cloth. The centerpiece consisted of a silver candelabra with blue candles trimmed with Cotton is a natural pacesetter—out front in the fashion parade. Designers love cotton. Its complete flexibility and versatility make cotton the medium they turn to for expressing their best ideas. Style is a look, and no fiber can assume so many different looks. In both decorator and apparel fabrics, cotton stands for casual good taste and a way of life that is today. There is no denying it—nothing looks like cotton, does like cotton, is like cotton. It's in a class by itself.

Electric Company Plans New Facilities This Year

Southwestern Public Service Company's plans for 1964 call for the largest one year investment in new facilities in its history it has been announced by A. R. Watson, president and general manager of the electric light and power company.

Watson revealed today that the company has investment plans for new equipment and construction of $30,222,000 for this year.

"The 1964 improvement and construction budget is nearly 31 percent higher than our record years for construction, which were 1953 and 1963, and is evidence of our continuing confidence in the growth of this region", Watson said in his announcement.

The major item in the company's 1964 construction program will be an accelerated schedule of work on the second unit of Cunningham Station, located west of Hobbs, N.M. Originally scheduled for completion in 1966, the continued growth of the area has resulted in this timetable on this 210,000 kilowatt unit being advanced a full year, and it is now scheduled to be in service in mid-1965.

Still another major generating plant addition is the 4th turbogenerator at Plant X, in this County. This 210,000 kilowatt unit, the largest single machine ever installed on Southwestern's system, will go into service in mid-1964.

"With our present generating capability being a little over one million kilowatts, and additions which total 420,000 kilowatts being planned for the next two years, it is apparent that we see our biggest period of growth still ahead of us. This, of course, means that this area must also be looking forward to its greatest growth period, because we install new facilities only because we see they will be needed, and we must be ready in advance of the hour of need", Watson pointed out.

Directly related to the construction of the generation facilities in 1964 is the building of a 230,000 volt transmission line linking Plant X and Cunningham Station. This line will be the first constructed by the company to operate at 230,000 volts, although some segments of the present transmission system, which are operating at 115,000 volts, have been built for easy adaptation to the higher voltage.

The company's ultimate goal is the operation of a 230,000 volt "backbone" transmission system extending from Borger to the Pecos Valley region of New Mexico. The result of doubling the transmission line voltage is that the line will then carry four times as much power.

The 230,000 volt transmission line construction scheduled for this year also calls for a new 230,000 volt line to Lubbock. This will make it possible for the Lubbock area to receive power at the new higher voltage and guarantee even better service in that region.

In addition to the transmission grid, which ties together all of the company's plants, the generating facilities of the larger stations, Plant X, Cunningham and Nichols Station, near Amarillo, are directly controlled by automatic dispatching system, which electronically determines the most efficient generating units to be operated. The dispatching system also computes the share of the load which other plants should be carrying, on the basis of costs, and then these loads are assigned to the plants by direct communication from the load dispatching center in Amarillo.

"There are several other important factors which make it possible for our rates to our customers for electric service to not have to be raised. One of these is the fact that our customers are using more electricity, which makes it possible for us to use larger and more efficient equipment. Our employees are due a measure of credit for these low rates, too, for in 1963, operating expenses and maintenance took a lower percentage of gross revenues than they did the previous year, and it is efforts like this which overcome the rising costs of many of the things necessary to our business, and make it possible to keep our rates low", Watson concluded.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN, Tex.—Pres. Lyndon Johnson's holidays would exhaust most ordinary mortals.

The President arrived in Austin on Christmas Eve, his homecoming delayed by a congressional crisis over the $3,000,000 foreign aid bill. Abandoning his announced schedule, he went to the Governor's Mansion for a 30-minute visit with Gov. John Connally.

Stopping his party's helicopter at the ranch of another close friend, A. W. Moursund, the President joined Moursund in an hour of deer hunting, before he finally got home to hang up his Christmas stocking. There he spent a happy time with his family and relatives and numerous close friends.

Christmas Day at the LBJ Ranch also found the President confronted with problems. He explained a cut he had just ordered in federal employment. All this he did before settling down to his Christmas dinner and the opening of presents under the tree.

Before dawn the next day, he and former Gov. Buford Ellington of Tennessee left "The Little White House" on a deer hunt. Both bagged bucks.

The President was back at the ranch house, working in his office, before noon and conferred with Secretary of State Dean Rusk by telephone, repeatedly, on the Cyprus crisis.

Later, he named a nine-member committee of experts to evaluate foreign economic and military aid programs and recommended how to strengthen them.

In doing his homework for the important Erhard visit, Johnson conferred in person with these distinguished government officials at the ranch: Secretary Rusk, Under Secretary of State George W. Ball, Special Ambassador Christian Herter, Agriculture Secretary Douglas Freeman and McGeorge Bundy, special assistant for national security affairs.

Theodore Sorensen, special White House counsel, was summoned to assist in preparation of the new President's first state of the union message. It will be delivered before the Congress on January 8.

Thomas C. Mann, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, and John A. McCone, Central Intelligence Agency director, were among others called to confer with the President, in addition to regular staff members.

Press members from Washington and foreign countries, as well as the native Texans of the State capital, were invited back to talk and eat with the President on Friday.

In addition to official talks, there was a program of fun for Chancellor Erhard, a portly ex-professor. He toured Fredericksburg home of many German-speaking Texans, and attended church at Bethany Lutheran Church there Sunday. More than 200 turned out for a barbecue luncheon honoring the Chancellor at the Stonewall High School gymnasium three miles from the ranch.

When Erhard departed, Johnson turned immediately back to the national budget and went into a huddle Monday with Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and the joint chiefs of staff.

STUDENTS HOME

Students from Abilene Christian College home over the Christmas holidays included Charlie T. Burrus, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Burrus; Gary Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Johnson; and Johnny Mack Conder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Conder.

VISIT POTEETS

Visiting in the home of Mrs. Lee Poteet Christmas week were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Poteet and children of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Powell of Plainview, Mr. and Mrs. Don Powell of Friona and Mrs. Loren C. Jones of Columbus, Ohio.

So it went as the President wound up his "holiday" and prepare to return to the regular schedule in Washington.

PRESS COVERAGE—For many years, Austin's stately Driskill Hotel has been President Johnson's home away from home. Now it is the home away from home for some 75 to 200 news reporters. They "cover" the White House, whether it is on the Potomac or the Pedernales.

The Crystal Ballroom, usually the setting for brilliant Christmas and New Year's balls, has been a working pressroom during the 1963 holiday season. The "Press Center" covers the hotel's mezzanine and extends to quarters occupied by White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger and his staff.

In the Driskill, the press corps waits for word of cuts in federal employment, the President's luck at hunting, statements on Cyprus and on repercussions from his meeting with Chancellor Ludwig Erhard of West Germany.

At times, the news from Johnson's LBJ Ranch near Stonewall is delivered via a "press pool", in which four reporters are assigned to represent all their colleagues. Other times, the whole corps is bunched into buses for the trip to the ranch over U.S. 290 and the newly-designated Ranch Road No. 1.

Some of the press-center setup will remain intact in the Driskill Hotel for presidential visits in the future. This may be for the next year, or the next five years, or, perhaps, the next nine years, according to voters' reactions to the news that this army of reporters turn out.

REDISTRICTING—Attorney General Carr asked the U. S. Supreme Court to accept the appeal of the State of Texas against a three-judge Federal court's decision that all 23 Texas Congressmen should be elected statewide.

Carr's appeal says that the high court should recognize the unfairness of such an order. Furthermore, that it should agree to accept briefs and hear oral arguments on the legal questions involved.

Court has under study a similar order from Georgia in which a three-judge Federal court refused to enter the Congressional-districting field.

Still pending is a suit seeking to require redistricting for state legislative purposes. Primarily it is aimed at the Texas constitutional provision under which the 1,200,000 people in Harris County are limited to a single state senator.

Rep. Dick Cherry of Waco has proposed a new approach to this question. He plans to introduce a constitutional amendment which will let the legislature grow as the state does. This would make possible additional representation for the big-city counties without such a sharp reduction in rural representation.

Cherry's plan would allow the Legislature to determine how many members it shall have, with maximums set for the Senate and House. These would be based on the number of Congressmen Texas is allowed, under automatic Federal law which reallocates seats in the national House of Representatives after each census.

Based on the present census, the Cherry proposal would permit an increase in the State Senate from today's 31 to as many as 46 members, and expand membership in the House from 150 to 172.

New Motorist Laws Are Now In Effect

AUSTIN--The director of the Texas Department of Public Safety today reminded motorists that more stringent provisions of the state's safety responsibility law--requiring drivers and owners to be able to pay for damage to others in traffic accidents--became effective Jan. 1.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., DPS director, emphasized that the law required the Department to suspend the driver licenses and vehicle registrations of drivers and owners who are not in compliance with the law at the time of accident involvement, if the accident comes under the Safety Responsibility Act.

"The law provides that drivers and owners of vehicles involved in traffic accidents occurring or originating on a public street, highway or thoroughfare resulting in $100 or more property damage, injury or death must file written reports with the Department of Public Safety within 10 days, and its requirements must be met," he explained. "Accidents not involving death or injury but with $25 or more damage involved still must be reported to the Department but will not come under the Safety Responsibility Law."

"The Department is required to suspend driver licenses and all motor vehicle registration plates of both the operator and owner of vehicles involved in an accident coming under the Safety Responsibility Law, unless:

"1. Evidence of liability insurance coverage in the minimum amounts of $10,000 where one person was injured or killed, $20,000 where more than one, and $5,000 for property damage is reported to the Department.

"2. A release signed by damaged or injured persons is filed with the Department.

"3. A signed agreement to pay damages in installments is accepted by the damaged or injured persons, and filed with the Department.

"4. The operator and owner are found not to be liable in a civil court of competent jurisdiction, and a copy of such finding is filed with the Department.

"5. The operator and owner deposit with the Department cash or bond security in an amount sufficient to cover any judgment for damages resulting from the accident that might be obtained by damaged or injured persons, which in no case shall be less than $200."

In addition, the operator and owner must file proof of financial responsibility for the future and must maintain it for five years.

Garrison noted that under the new law, suspensions of licenses and registrations will be for a period of two years, unless the requirements of the Safety Responsibility Act are met.

Also, he said that when a person's driver license is suspended or revoked under any Texas law because of a conviction on a serious traffic charge, the Department is required to suspend such person's motor vehicle registration unless he immediately files proof of financial responsibility for the future.

In addition to other statutory filing fees required, a $10 reinstatement charge has been provided for restoration of suspended license and/or vehicle registration in those cases where proof of financial responsibility for the future must be filed.

Garrison listed these exceptions where the law does not apply:

1. The law does not apply to the owner of a vehicle if it is involved in an accident while being driven by another person without the owner's consent.

2. If the operator or owner involved in an accident is the only person damaged or injured.

3. If the vehicle was legally parked or stopped at a traffic signal at the time of the accident.

4. If the vehicle involved was being driven by an employee of the United States Government in connection with official duties.

Livestock Feeding Shows Jump

A new livestock feeding survey released this week by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce reveals a total annual capacity of 1,302,442 head in West Texas, which the WTCC says is a 50 per cent increase during the past two years.

Dr. W. L. Stangel of Lubbock, chairman of the Livestock Feeding Committee of the West Texas Chamber, announced results of the survey, saying that there are now 493 feeders in the 132-county WTCC area with a total capacity of 520,977 head of cattle at any given time. The total capacity for 12 months is figured at 1,302,442 head, Dr. Stangel said.

Lamb County reported three feeders with a feed lot capacity of 22,500 head at one time or 56,250 in a 12-month period.

Material for the feedlot survey was gathered as a public service by Southwestern Public Service Co. and Pioneer Natural Gas Co., both of Amarillo; by the West Texas Utilities Co. of Abilene; and by Texas Electric Service Co. of Fort Worth, Dr. Stangel said. The West Texas Chamber compiled the information and prepared the survey.

Ninety-seven counties reported one or more feeders. Tarrant County (Fort Worth) has the greatest number, 22. Comanche County reported 17 while Hale County and El Paso County listed 16 each. But Lubbock County had by far the greatest feedlot capacity, being able to feed 50,650 head at one time or 126,625 in a 12-month period. Farmer County's 14 feeders have a capacity of 36,000 head at one time and El Paso 25,000 head at once. Tarrant County lots can handle 21,975 head and Hale County 22,085.

Dr. Stangel, dean emeritus of the School of Agriculture at Texas Tech, said nearby counties in New Mexico, Oklahoma and Kansas have a total of 90 feeders with a feedlot capacity of 144,439 head at one time.

Stangel said the number of feedlots in West Texas had increased greatly since the West Texas Chamber staged its first livestock feeding tour to Iowa in 1960. Since then there have been three other tours, two into Arizona and California and another this October into a number of West Texas and eastern New Mexico cities where there is considerable livestock feeding.

"We feel like these tours have been of tremendous importance in promoting livestock feeding in West Texas," Stangel said. "We believe our people have gone out and viewed livestock feeding operations inside and outside of Texas and have either installed new feedlots in our territory or expanded existing ones," he said.

"We cannot underestimate the economic value of livestock feeding to West Texas. It is becoming a big business for us," Stangel said.

Copies of the feedlot survey are available free from the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, P.O. Box 1561, Abilene, Stangel said.
