JURY HEARS BANK MURDER PLOT

GOTHAM GIVES DAY OVER TO OCEAN FLIERS

Irish Chests Expand To Bursting Point As "Fitz" Appears

MONOCLE ATTRACTS

"Cap" and the Baron Grin Happily at Throngs On Streets

By DAMON RUNYON
Universal Service

NEW YORK, April 30.—The jaunty baron's aristocratic monocle gleamed as brightly as a brand new 25 cent piece as he aimed it at the cheering crowds, and enthusiastically swung his little blue nautical cap over his head.

The jolly looking Captain Koehl's sun-baked face fairly flamed with radiance which he spread all along the line of march, seeming to gather everyone to his heart in a broad grin.

And debonnair Major Fitzmaurice, a martial figure in his olive drab blouse and whipcord breeches and boots, smiled, and bowed, and the Irish along the route puffed out their chests in pride over such a gallant representative of the ould sod.

Thus the riders of the westerly air trail, the men who manned the stout ship Bremen, moved through a big town welcome today, the like of which hasn't been seen since Lindy came home.

Baron Most Pleased

Captain James Fitzmaurice sat between Baron von Huenefeld and Captain Koehl.

"Hello, Fitz!" bawled the crowds, and "Fitz" helloed right back at them. Captain Koehl was popularly just "Cap." The slender, dapper von Huenefeld, who begged and borrowed to finance the famous flight of the Bremen was more formally "Baron," as is his right. It was plain to be seen that the baron got even more "kick" out of the reception than his shipmates of the big airship that still roosts on the ice on faraway Greenely island, awaiting the spring thaw.

Pal of the Kaiser Wilhelm, and of the crown prince, and a scion of the old Teutonic regime, Baron von Huenefeld rode today through streets that blazed with the black-red-and-gold of the new German republic.

So, oddly enough, Baron von Huenefeld, who dropped flowers for his kaiser in lonely exile at Doorn, in Holland, before starting his historic flight, was largely responsible for bringing to New York the first considerable display and patriotic outburst of the new Germany.

Windshield Puzzles

He struck the fancy of the crowd, this slight of build nobleman, and he saluted them with friendly gesture along the streets that 10 years ago resounded to the shuffling feet of American soldiers marching to the destruction of the things he [illegible] and loved.

"He [illegible] under how he keeps that windshield in his eye," commented a spectator, as a vagrant sunbeam was thrown in his orbs by the reflection of the sun from the baron's monocle. It is indeed something of a trick, that monocle, but it has become so closely identified in the public mind with the baron's pictures that folks would be disappointed to see him without it.

A devil-may-care looking fellow is "Fitz" in his soldier uniform, and with his little moustache. Just the type of fellow that you would figure to lead a forlorn-hope charge, swinging a cane. They breed 'em that way over in the Irish Free State, I believe. The crowd liked him. He would be the first to reach a friendly fist to any over-excited lady, or breathless small boy, who managed to wiggle through the line of stern cops along the right-of-way and get close enough to the automobile for a fleeting handshake.

Big Town's Welcome

This thing today was the big town's official welcome to the crew of the Bremen, though they have been with us intermittently for several days. They stopped over here briefly Saturday when their flight down out of Canada to Washington for the funeral of Floyd Bennett was broken up by bad weather. They went to Washington by

Newspaper Poll To Determine Sentiment On Candidates

Readers to Have Opportunity to Express Preference in Presidential Race Of Both Major Parties

While precinct conventions in Northwest Texas Saturday, May 5, are expected to draw the largest attendance in history, the representation will be far less than that shown at primary elections when candidates for precinct, county, district and state offices are chosen.

With this thought in mind, The Record News will conduct a newspaper poll among its readers to determine the sentiment of this section on candidates for president.

Editors of the Record News have their own opinions on politics and candidates, and an opportunity to express them. The same privilege is accorded the reader, not only in this newspaper vote on candidates, but in the opportunity to express in letters or articles opinions on matters of public interest. It is the belief of this newspaper that the reader has the same right to be heard in the columns of the daily press as have the editors.

Each Reader Votes Once.

Each Record News reader is entitled to vote on his or her choce for president—the only direct vote that can be cast for the highest office in the nation. While the results of the poll will, of course, have no official bearing upon the precinct conventions Saturday, it may more truly reflect the wishes of people of this section because of its access to a more general public thought.

Reluctance of many persons to attend conventions, and the inability of others to attend at the hours specified, has in the past naturally resulted in a smaller representation at convntions than at the polls, where convenient voting places are open the entire day.

In providing for a vote upon both republican and democratic candidates, an interesting feature of this newspaper poll should be the strength shown by Herbert Hoover. In the organization of the Hoover-for-President club here, the names of many democrats were found. Just how widespread is this sentiment for the commerce secretary should be determind in the voting.

Leading Candidates Are Listed.

Names of six leading democratic contestants for the nomination and six leading republicans are listed for the selection of readers. A blank space on the ballot appearing on this page is also provided for the writing in of names of any preference not listed. Ballots which are voted for more than one candidate will NOT be counted in the poll.

Results of the daily voting for candidates will be given each morning with the poll closing at 6 o'clock Friday afternoon. Final results of the poll will be published in Saturday morning's paper.

Readers are invited to send in the ballots at once, and to make known their wishes in the matter of presidential candidates.

SURVIVOR OF SHOOTING AT STANTON TALKS

Mexican Relates His Employment by Baze And Smith

FURNISHED LIQUOR

Witness Says His Life Spared With Threat Of Death

ABILENE, Texas, April 30. (AP)—Victor Ramos, Mexican wounded at Stanton when two of his countrymen were killed in front of the bank there Dec. 23, told on the witness stand Monday afternoon of his employment by C. C. Baze and Lee Smith on the fatal date in Smith's trial for murder here. Baze broke jail some time ago and is still at liberty.

At the time of the slaying, Baze announced that the men killed were in the act of robbing the bank, exhibiting a sack of crude burglar tools he said belonged to the Mexicans. Later he confessed that he had "framed" the men to collect the $5,000 reward offered by the Texas Bankers association for "dead bank bandits."

Plied With Liquor

Ramos told of being plied with liquor and transported on a truck to the bank, where he and the other Mexicans were told to wait. Baze and Smith departed, he testified, and on their return Baze cried:: "Let's go." the firing then began, he recounted.

"I run," Ramos testified. "I did not see Smith with the gun. My back was to him. Baze followed me. I was shot four times. Baze struck me with his gun. He said 'I'll let you go, but if you ever come back I'll kill you.'"

Smith could have escaped early Sunday morning, when L. P. Hamilton broke out of the jail, Sheriff H. T. O'Bar reported Monday. Hamilton, who pleaded guilty to counterfeiting, was sentenced in federal court here last week to 18 months in the federal penitentiary. He and Smith occupied the same cell.

Massie to Testify

"I chose to remain and allow the jury to decide my fate because I am innocent of the charges," Smith said Monday afternoon.

W. M. Massie of Fort Worth, president of the Texas Bankers association, is scheduled to appear here at 9 a. m. Tuesday as a witness.

Ramos' Testimony started after completion of the jury at 3:15 p. m. The jurors are: C. R. Cottrell, Ovalo; C. W. Best, Guion; L. W. Fulton, Merkle; R. A. Ivey, Tuscola; V. N. Ellis, Merkle; Herman Adams, View; G. M. Green, Abilene; G. B. Middleton, Guion; J. W. Edmonson, Abilene, and J. H. Little, Abilene.

Smith is on trial for the murder of Norberto Diaz, slain with Hilario Nunez when Ramos was wounded.

The array of legal talent for the prosecution is probably the greatest ever seen in a Central West Texas murder trial.

EGG MARVEL

X-ray Treatment Causes Only Females To Be Hatched

NEW YORK, April 30. (AP)—The treatment of fertilized hens eggs by X-ray so that only female chickens can be hatched was one of a series of remarkable experiments described to the Associated Press today for the first time by Dr. William H. Dieffenbach of the Flower hospital.

The experiments extending over three years, he said, have brought to light that chickens hatched from eggs which have been exposed to X-ray show certain marked peculiarities. Exposures up to several hours produce chickens with deformities or mutations from normally inherited characteristics such as absence of wings.

SENATE PROBES CAMPAIGNERS

Scrutiny of Presidential Funds Decided

WASHINGTON, April 30.—(AP)—By senate decree, expenditures in this year's presidential campaigns will be brought under the rigid scrutiny of a special committee of five senators to be appointed by Vice President Dawes.

A resolution calling for this investigation was adopted today by the senate almost immediately after its introduction by Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader, who acted after a conference with his party associates. Demands for such an inquiry had been voiced on the floor repeatedly during the past few weeks and the resolution was adopted without discussion or a roll call. It is virtually identical with the Borah resolution approved in 1920, which led to disclosures of huge expenditures on behalf of the late Major General Leonard Wood and former Governor Frank O. Lowden, of Illinois.

Plans for the investigation were held up tonight waiting for the appointment of the five senators who are to conduct the inquiry. Under the terms of the Robinson resolution, however, blanket authority is extended to explore every aspect of campaign expenditures by or in behalf of candidates either for nomination or election to the presidency.

In presenting the resolution Senator Robinson made no charges against any particular candidate but confined himself to the general statement that "many senators believe that such a committee would prove helpful in informing the public and the senate in connection with this important subject."

24 DISAPPEAR IN LOST SHIP

Dutch Steamer Lost In Fog On Coast

HALIFAX, N. S., April 30. (UP)—Twenty-four men, the entire crew of the Dutch steamer Collisto, were believed to have been lost when the ship foundered off Louisburg, N. S.

The first report to reach Louisburg was that a steamer was in distress off Scatterie, having gone ashore in a fog. With the lifting of the fog today, however, patrols reported there was no indication of where the ship had been ashore. A life boat and a door were picked up off Kelp Cove.

The Collisto was bound for Louisburg from Rotterdam.

The Collisto is a steel screw steamer, built in Rotterdam in 1920, and managed by C. Hudig and J. Veder. The ship is 377 feet long and carries wireless.

THREE REPORTED DROWNED IN BLAST.

NEW YORK, April 30. (UP)—Three men were reported to have been drowned when a tug boat exploded late today in Jamaica Bay, off Rockaway Point.

Two of the five men aboard the tug at the time of the explosion were rescued and taken to a hospital where it was said they were in a serious condition. They were unable to give an accurate account of the disaster.

A short time after the explosion Lieut. John Eiseman, in command of the Rockaway naval air station, and two others went out to the scene—a hundred yards from the Rockaways—and rescued one of the men. Captain Moore of the coast guard station also manned another rescue boat which recovered a body.

Within a short time many small boats were searching for the other member of the crew believed to have been lost.

And Wat's It All About?

Political Writer Gives Background For Precinct Conventions of Saturday

BY HUGH NUGENT FITZGERALD
The Record News Staff

Now that the battle lines of the factions within the Democratic party of Texas are being drawn and the skirmishers are busy for the battle royal which will take place for the control of the Beaumont convention, those who are followers of Jefferson, and those who are followers of Jefferson when they have their way, are sending out their spell-binders and their instructions to the democratic voters who will be participants in the precinct convention preliminaries on May 5.

There are thousands of Democrats who are asking, "What is it all about?" They should be told and the message should be straight from the shoulder.

NEW MANAGER STARTS TODAY

Jones Elected Acting Mayor Of City

Administration of the municipal affairs of Wichita Falls will pass into the hands of George D. Fairtrace, first city manager of Wichita Falls, when the new executive head of the city government takes office Tuesday.

Mr. Fairtrace is expected to arrive this morning to assume his new duties as active head of city departments. The city council will determine matters of policy under the new form of government, and will advise the manager on administrative problems.

Jones Recalls First Job.

Pending the arrival of Mr. Fairtrace, the city council completed certain unfinished business at the meeting Monday night in the new auditorium.

Oral Jones was named acting mayor by vote of the council in the absence of Mayor Akin who is out of the city. In accepting the office, Mr. Jones recalled to the council one of his first jobs, that of janitor of a school at $10 a month. The school stood at the present site of the Masonic temple and Miss Kate Haynes was principal. His rise from schoolboy-janitor to acting mayor carried with it no increase in salary as far as the city position goes, it was pointed out, as under the city manager government Mr. Jones' regular salary as councilman is $10 and he receives no special payment as acting mayor.

City Values Increase.

An increase in the inventory of city owned property of $1,409,210.34 from $9,432,499.37 on April 1, 1927 to $10,841,709.71 as of April 1 this year, was indicated in a report of City Clerk W. E. McBroom. The report was approved by the council.

The chief items of the city assets is shown as $5,298,108.97 for street paving which is credited as improvements to real estate. This is an increase of almost $900,000 in a year over the $4,418,507.70 of 1927.

The value of the sewer lines decreased $200,000 from $1,356,828.95 to $1,356,191.53. This was accounted for by depreciation. The hospital likewise showed a loss in value from $119,905.40 last year to $108,726.16 this year on the same basis.

BOWERS PICKED A S KEYNOTER

Democrats Select Officials For Convention

WASHINGTON, April 30. (US)—Claude G. Bowers, a political "dark-horse" today was unanimously selected by the committee on arrangements to "keynote" the democratic convention at Houston, Texas, on June 26.

Bowers is a historian and newspaper writer of note who was virtually unknown in national politics until his powerful speech at the Jackson day dinner of the democrats here last January brought him to the foreground as a political orator. From that time on his selection as a keynoter and temporary chairman of the convention was practically assured.

Harmony Meeting.

Today's meeting of the arrangements committee was another "harmony gathering" at which talk of presidential candidates was largely sidetracked while the committee concerned itself with details of the forthcoming Houston gathering.

National Committeeman Charles A. Greathouse of Indiana was named secretary of the convention, Representative Clarence Cannon of Missouri, parliamentarian; Patrick Haltigan of Washington, chief reading clerk, and Kenneth Romney of Montana, chief tally clerk.

Jones In Report.

The post of sergeant-at-arms was left open to be decided upon by a committee on personnel headed by Jesse H. Jones of Texas. Jones, who is treasurer of the national committee, reported that rapid progress is being made on construction of the temporary convention hall which will house the Houston gathering. This hall will have a seating capacity of 19,000, or 2,000 more than Madison Square Garden had in 1924.

The committee adopted a resolution sponsored by Howard Bruce, Maryland national committeeman, thanking Jones for his success in paying of the party debt.

Methodists Prepare to Sift Scandal Involving Ousted Danish Bishop

KANSAS CITY, April 30. (UP)—The quadrennial general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, bringing delegates from the far flung corners of the earth, was opened unofficially with a reception here tonight.

The meeting, which is expected to attract 75,000 visitors to Kansas City during the month's session, will convene for its first business conference Tuesday morning.

Roll call and election of a successor to the office of general secretary now held by Dr. R. L. Wade will occupy the main portion of the initial session.

Airing the case of Bishop Anton Bast of Denmark, who was stripped of his bishopric habiliments, also was expected to get under way.

The case, described as one of the major scandals of the Methodist Episcopal church, will be heard by 14 ministers of the church sitting as a court of justice. Bishop Bast arrived here late today and will appear at the hearing at which he will seek to clear his name of charges of imprudent conduct and misapplication of profits accruing from a printing establishment operated by him for 10 years.

Rejection Sought

Dr. Otto Fabricus, Denmark barrister, will lead the prosecution in its attempt to secure final rejection of Bishop Best's plea for reinstatement. Dr. Fabricus was the special assistant prosecutor for the Danish crown in the trial of the bishop several years ago.

The charges against the bishop which resulted in his serving a three months' prison sentence, asserted the Danish divine had converted profits of a printing establishment that were to have gone into a mission fund, to his private use.

Harry Sinclair May Put End To Oil Probe by Telling His Story

WASHINGTON, April 30. (US)—Primed to end its investigation into the Teapot Dome oil scandal if possible, the senate public lands committee tomorrow will hear Harry F. Sinclair's story for the first time.

At least it hopes to have the multi-millionaire oil operator "tell everything."

If he does, the senate probe of the naval oil reserve transactions of the Harding administration probably will be brought to the end.

It is not expected that Sinclair, released from criminal prosecution by a jury's "not guilty" verdict ten days ago, will defy the senate tomorrow. He said so when he appeared before it four years ago—and is now at liberty under an appeal of a three months jail sentence for contempt as a result.

The questioning of the oil millionaire tomorrow will be centered around his participation in the Continental Trading company's $50,000,000 oil deal, a portion of the profits of which he used in paying off former secretary of the interior Albert B. Fall a few weeks after the Teapot lease was signed.

It was from the Continental's $3,080,000 in "profits" that Sinclair also drew the $260,000 Liberty bonds which he advanced to Will H. Hays, former national republican chairman, to "take care of" the G. O. P. deficit in 1923.

Sinclair's party contributions are expected to be the target of several queries at the hearing tomorrow.

Several members of the committee are anxious to know the methods by which Mr. Hays obtained the $260,000 at about the time republican leaders were trying to smother the Teapot Dome investigation in 1923.

GOTHAM PAYS FLIERS HONOR

train, and returned from there by train Sunday. Wherefore, they were already acquainted with many persons and things in New York, but the general public hadn't had a chance at them. They had not been officially speechified, so to speak, by our official speechifiers, including Mayor James J. Walker, who has now welcomed so many fliers that it has become well nigh a routine to him.

I doubt if any flight was ever followed with more interest than this, not excepting Lindy's jaunt. The make-up of the crew of the Bremen with the Irish Free Stater added at the last minute, the landing on lonely Greenly island, and the attempts of rescue, including that which ended in the pathetic death of Floyd Bennett, all contributed to attract unusual attention.

From the Battery, up through the financial district, the Germans and the Irishman were escorted in formal parade, and as they passed through the great gorge of lower Broadway, the windows of the buildings on either side began erupting the inevitable ticker tape.

After the parade left the city hall, it had as one of its most conspicuous members, a little girl, who sat in a huge automobile, her face as sparkling as a ray of April sunshine, and her eyes wide with interest.

Wives Arrive.

The little girl was Miss Patricia Fitzmaurice, called "Patsy," daughter of Major James Fitzmaurice. She is eight years old. Drowsy-eyed, and scarce comprehending, she was gathered up in her father's arms in the early morning a day not long age, and fondly kissed.

She did not understand that he was hurrying away on a journey from which he might never return.

Mrs. Fitzmaurice and "Patsy," and Mrs. Elfrieda Koehl, wife of Captain Koehl, arrived on the North German Lloyd steamship Dresden this morning. It was little "Patsy" who was first of the three off the steamer, a teddy bear under her arm.

The child was wide-eyed, and eager. She did not exactly understand what all the rumpus was about.

She was a proud little girl as she sat in the automobile in the parade after it left the city hall, though she was probably weary of all the talking, and would have preferred being alone with her daddy.

She looks like her mother, a pretty little woman with brown eyes, bobbed brown hair, and one of those complexions that we are told are typical of the Irish colleens.

The wife of Captain Koehl is also good looking, with an outdoor complexion.

Rain Unheeded.

It was Mrs. Fitzmaurice's first trip away from Ireland since she went there as a bride, ten years ago. She was born in England. The crowd cheered the women along the line of march, and they bowed, and smiled. The crowd cheered "Patsy" also, and she threw kisses lavishly.

The baron is a bachelor. Still, he was pleased to meet "Patsy," at that.

High overhead a flock of airplanes skittered about the skies, which had been alternately scowling, and smiling. That is to say, now it looked like rain, and now it didn't. There was a final compromise of the matter on the part of old Jupiter Pluvius with a few sporadic showers that did not interfere with the proceedings, though they brought out friend umbrella.

Rangers Make War On Monshiners

AUSTIN, April 30.—(AP)—A squad of Texas rangers headed by Captain Frank Hamer, believed to comprise at least five men, left here Monday afternoon for Fairfield, Freestone county, to descend on moonshiners.

Governor Moody ordered the movement at the request of Fairfield citizens.

A special Texas ranger, one of the three commissioned to work against alleged whisky interests, was killed there recently.

MARJORIE NELL SMITH

"Sweetest Baby in Texas!"

For over fifty years, mothers, like this well-known Texas woman, have been telling each other about California Fig Syrup, and leading physicians have been endorsing it. Nothing else acts so gently and harmlessly to propel the souring waste from the delicate system of babies and children, which, when allowed to remain, keeps them cross, feverish, bilious, headachy, weak, with coated tongue, bad breath, broken-out skin, no appetite or energy. Its rich, fruity goodness helps to give tone and strength to their little stomach and bowels so they continue to act normally, of their own record. It helps to build up and strengthen them—makes them active and happy.

"I have used California Fig Syrup with my little daughter since early babyhood," says Mrs. L. D. Smith, 109 S. Calaveras street, San Antonio. "Whenever she has a cold, is the least bit constipated or doesn't seem just right, I always give her a little, and it fixes her up quick. She's the picture of health, now, and friends say she's the sweetest baby in Texas. She has never had a serious illness, and I give California Fig Syrup full credit for it."

"New York Or Heaven?"

Spirit of St. Louis Breaks Its Own Record in Final Trip for Lindy

WASHINGTON, April 30.—(UP)—The "Spirit of St. Louis" glided gracefully to earth at Bolling Field shortly after 3 o'clock today to end its active, historic career and spend the rest of its days among the antiquaries of the Smithonsian Institution.

Its owner, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, flew it here from Lambert Field, St. Louis, to turn it over to Smithsonian officials—fulfilling a promise made after the immortal flight from New York to Paris.

Unless a sentimental impulse overcomes Colonel Lindbergh later, he has taken his famous plane into the air for the last time. For so far as is known now the "Spirit of St. Louis" has permanently retired from active partnership in the famous firm of "We."

For 725 miles across familiar territory, the "Spirit of St. Louis" throbbed at a speed of 140 miles an hour, establishing a new flying record of five hours and 13 minutes from St. Louis to Washington.

Even on its farewell flight the plane lived up to its reputation as a record breaker.

Writer Gives Poltical Dope

and his followers controlled the Dallas convention in 1920 and sent a hog-tied delegation to the San Francisco convention. That convention had one spokesman. His name? Thomas B. Love.

Delegates were voiceless, so to speak; they could not sit in with other delegates and break the deadlock; they were held under the unit rule and the boss saw to it in advance that a majority of the 40 delegates sneezed when he took snuff.

Defeat came to the Texas delegates. They were so many pawns in the hands of the boss. In 1924 the May convention was controlled by Boss Love and the leaders of the Ku Klux Klan. It was at Waco that Love and his lieutenants "took on" the klan and the klan leaders named the delegation to the Madison Square Garden convention.

It was at this convention that R. Harper Kirby was thrown out and a dripping wet named for delegate to the Madison Square Garden convention. Now the story of the Madison Square Garden convention was a repetition of the San Francisco convention. Defeat and disaster came to the Love combination and humiliation came to the Democrats of Texas who believe in the majority rule and the vibrant voice of a free people. Love and Hicks and the combination for months and months have been playing the same old game this year.

"Rule or Ruin" Program

They demand another hog-tied delegation. They demand instructions against leaders of the Democratic party. They demand the adoption by a Democratic people of the old "rule or ruin" program. It is a selfish program, a party suicide program, a program that calls for the defeat of the party of Jefferson in advance of the election in November.

A great gathering of Democrats in Dallas—Democrats who are prohibitionists and believe in law enforcement—led by Governor Moody, General M. M. Crane, T. W. Davidson, Lynch Davidson and a whole host of Democratic men and women who believe in party loyalty and the rule of the majority as well as in the cause of prohibition and loyalty to the Democratic nominees, declared for prohibition.

They declared for the enforcement or prohibition laws. They declared for delegates to the Houston convention who will vote for presidential and vice presidential nominations only, those who agree to accept the platform, and obey; if elected, their oath to support the constitution of the United States.

Democratic leaders of all the factions are said to have been united in the "harmony" program. But in many places the party pledge has been swept aside. It has been repudiated. The test will come Saturday. Where is Boss Love and his combination?

Test Comes Saturday

They demand a hog-tied delegation to the Houston convention, ready at all times to obey the voice alone of the boss. They have been ready to kick aside party tests and repudiate party nominees. They spurn the old traditions and teachings of the early fathers. They are for rule or ruin. They prefer the party of Fall and Daugherty and Sinclair to the party of Jefferson unless they are given their own program and their own candidate.

May 5 is coming. There are a million Democrats or so-called Democrats in Texas. A majority of the Democrats of Texas believe in party loyalty. A majority of the Democrats of Texas believe in the majority rule. They are ready to follow the flag and the standard bearer and do their level best to return the party of Jefferson to control of the government.

There is no reason why all Democratic voters who find it possible to do so, should not participate in the precinct conventions May 5 and declare themselves against bossism—selfish bossism—and the rule of the few in this commonwealth.

By general classifications, the present values of the city are listed as follows: Buildings and structures, $3,640,581.13; real estate, $1,262,198.84; equipment, $596,862.95; improvements to real estate, $5,300,198.39, and materials and supplies, $41,868.40.

Seventy-five delinquent tax foreclosure suits were presented to the council for consideration before filing in district court by Thelbert Martin, city attorney. They total $7,500 and will be filed at once, Mr. Martin indicated.

C. O. Sargeant appeared before the council for the N. O. Nelson Manufacturing company asking that the $18,000 taxable value of company property be reduced to original error. The council made the taxable value $9,000. Mr. Sargeant went down stairs. When he came back up stairs a minute later he called for Roy Carter, police commissioner.

"My new Chevrolet car has been stolen while I was getting my taxes adjusted," he said.

Sympathy.

Mayor Jones sympathized with Mr. Sargeant by explaining that at a meeting of the council several weeks ago when the council salaries were slashed to a nominal figure of $10 a month, his new 31x6 spare tire and lock was stolen from the rear of his car in front of the auditorium.

An emergency appropriation of $22,327.02 was approved that the payroll might be met and that several notes due and current bills might be met.

An ordinance prohibiting "sniping," throwing away of handbills, and similar advertising was passed on third reading.

The council voted to send Mayor J. W. Akin to the convention of the League of Texas Municipalities at Denton next Monday and Tuesday.

Accepting the invitation of the city council, Adam Johnson, city manager of Austin, sent an expense account to the council for his recent trip to this city for $38.43. The account was approved for payment.

Dr. A. H. Douglass was instructed to make arrangements for the construction of sewer and water lines to serve eight houses to be built on Miller street west from Holliday street. This was made conditional on the houses being built. The motion carried with it approval of expenditure of $175 for water pipe connections.

I. C. C. TO HEAR PIPE PROTEST

City to Join Fight On Rate Raise

A fight before the interstate commerce commission that may mean $10,000 to $15,000 to the city of Wichita Falls and a great sum of money to the dealers and users of cast iron pipe, is to be waged in a hearing in the near future, according to a letter received Monday by Dr. A. H. Douglass, manager of the city water system.

An increase in rates from $12 to $14.80 a ton on cast iron pipe had been announced by the roads and had been protested by Wichita Falls and others. The interstate commerce commission finally replied to the city that the rates will not be made effective until after a hearing. No date for the hearing was given in Dr. Douglass' information.

If such an increase is granted, it means an increase of $10,000 for pipe to be used in the city as soon as the projected water program is started. The improvement in the city system is considered certain at some time in the not far distant future, and the move to keep the freight rates at their present levels will tend to save that much money for the city, Dr. Douglass explained.

If a cast iron pipe is used to the lake, it will mean another $5,000 expense in freight to be considered on that material.

HOME SAVED

But Negress Fined By Judge for Fight With Rival

"Jedge, thet black woman wuz tryin' to steal away mah husban', suh, and I jest nacher'ly up and fit her."

Such was the plea of a negro woman brought before O. L. Gibbs, justice of the peace, Monday morning, on charges of disturbing the peace. Her efforts to punish the high-brown vamp cost her $10.80.

The woman accused of "husban' stealin'" was released when she declared that she did not know the man in question was some one else's property.

Judge Gibbs advised the militant wife to seek the aid of police in protecting her home henceforth.

Governor Declines Challenge for Debate

AUSTIN, April 30. (AP)—Governor Moody Monday afternoon declined to accept the challenge wired him by R. L. Henry, chairman of the Harris county Al Smith for president club, for a debate on Smith's candidacy.

Henry first issued the challenge Sunday in a letter to Lynch Davidson, chairman of the Texas "harmony" democrats, declaring that if Davidson did not answer, he would wire the governor.

Condition of Cline, Jr., Shows Improvement

Walter Cline Jr., injured in an automobile accident Friday night, was further along the road to recovery Monday night, it was believed at the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital. The boy's condition has gradually improved since Saturday afternoon, physicians said.

Walter D. Cline, father of the injured boy, returning from Philadelphia, Monday, barely escaped an accident himself when the steering gear on R. E. Shepherd's automobile gave way near Beicherville. The car was brought to a stop without further mishap, however. Mr. Cline continued on to Wichita Falls.

Mr. Williamson told officers that the suitcase and contents were valued at more than $100.

American School Teachers Sentenced to Turkish Prison

But Schoolhouse Serves as Jail for Trio of Church Workers

BROUSSA, Turkey, April 30. (AP)—Three American teachers in the American school here, Miss Edith Sanderson of Berkeley, Calif., Miss Lucille Day and Miss Jennie Jilson, today were pronounced guilty of contravening Turkish regulations against dissemination of religious propaganda. The Broussa court sentenced each woman to three days in prison and to pay a fine of three lira (about $13). Because the teachers are women and foreigners they were permitted to make the American school their prison with the promise that they stay inside the grounds.

The women, who have denied violating the regulations regarding religious instruction, immediately gave notice of appeal and the sentences were withheld pending the decision of the superior court.

Miss Sanderson and Miss Day were found guilty of attempts to convert students, and Miss Jilson, who has been head of the school for 16 years was convicted for allowing grace to be said before meals and for observance of Sunday.

Miss Sanderson and Miss Day plan to go to Constantinople tomorrow. Miss Sanderson is going to Italy Thursday, but said that she would return to Turkey to serve her sentence if the superior court sustains the trial judge.

MILITIA BID TO COURT WRIT

Johnston Tells of Being Ready to Call

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 30. (UP)—Governor Johnston today testified in the O. O. Owens habeas corpus case that he had expected to be called upon to use the militia in the enforcement of one of the court writs in the controversy between the state supreme court and the criminal court of appeals.

Johnston was the first witness called by Owens when the case opened before Federal Judge A. S. Van Valkenburg. He had been summoned to bring records of all correspondence between himself, members of the supreme court and the attorney general's office relative to the Owens case.

The governor denied the existence of any correspondence between himself and members of the court. He admitted he had written a letter to the court but not to any member thereof concerning the case.

"I expected to be called on to use the militia in the enforcement of one of the writs of the case, so I wrote the court to find out where I stood, what my rights were," the governor testified. "I never received an answer to the letter."

Owens was the next witness and H. Bart Martin, his attorney, immediately went into the matter of the meeting between Owens and Chief Justice Branson in Chicago at the time they are said to have discussed the Riverside oil case, the litigation out of which the Owens contempt case grew.

The case was narrowed down considerably due to the state's answer to Owens' habeas corpus petition in which the state admitted many allegations, merely denying their materiality.

After testifying that he met Branson in the law building at Northwestern university in July, 1925, Owens testified:

"He said 'you was robbed in that case' (the Riverside oil case in an opinion written by Justice Clark). He told me 'this is what you should do to protect yourself.' He asked about a petition for a rehearing in that case and advised me to get extensions on the time to file one so as to be sure that it would be filed after all members of the court had returned from their summer vacations.

"He called my attention to the fact that only four or five members of the court would be in Oklahoma City during the vacation season and that they were the ones who had concurred in the original opinion and consequently would promptly overrule the petition. He told me that was the way to get the case fixed up."

PEOPLE OVER 40

People over 40 have to be careful of their blood pressure. It's at this age, due to our abnormal living habits, that our blood pressure begins to slip up on us. And high blood pressure shortens life—may cut it off suddenly.

Modern living puts too great a pressure upon the vital organs, especially the liver. The liver becoming weak and sluggish fails to cleanse the blood of the poisons formed in food waste. The whole system then becomes toxic, with stomach, kidneys heart and blood vessels affected.

The liver occasionally needs a little help, and there's nothing better for this, as physicians agree, than ox gall. Ox gall is a remarkable natural stimulant for the human liver, promoting its normal active functioning so essential to real health. Dioxol tablets are genuine ox gall in dainty and tasteless form, each tablet representing 10 drops of pure ox gall. To be sure of getting the genuine ox gall, be sure of getting Dioxol. They cost less than 2c each at good druggists, and a few bring a delightful change.

Free Test Take this ad to the druggist named below and he will give you a free sample of Dioxol tablets. Try them yourself. See the splendid, quick results. One trial of Dioxol and you will want a full package!

Bandits Drop Tools and Weep When Tear Gas Prevents Bank Robbery

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 30. (AP)—Tear gas in the vault of the Union bank at Munford, Tenn., routed robbers early today after they had burned their way through two outer doors to the safe containing several thousand dollars. In their haste to escape they abandoned an acetylene torch and other tools.

The attempted robbery was discovered at 7 o'clock by Mrs. S. H. Bash, assistant cashier, who was called after passersby had noticed the drawn curtains at the front windows. The gas was so strong that she was unable to enter the bank for an hour. The tear gas was released when the robbers cut through the inner door of the vault.

Lee Beaver of Crosstown, Tenn., en route to work at 4 a. m. saw a large closed car speeding in the direction of Memphis and police here were notified to be on the lookout for the robbers.

Entrance to the bank had been gained by smashing a window.

Any Girl Is Lucky to Lose Man Who Marries for Money, Miss Dix Says

Why Any Girl Is Lucky to Lose The Man Who Marries for Money —Why Women should Never Confess Past Indiscretions. Advice to A Henpecked Husband.

Dear Miss Dix: I am in love with another woman's husband and he returns my love, but no one can truthfully say that I have stolen his love from his wife. Neither can any one accuse me of doing wrong in allowing myself to fall in love with a married man, because when I first loved him he was not married, and though he was engaged I did not know it. I met him at the coed college I attended. He was very handsome and fascinating and, along with several other hundred girls, I went after him and I won him. He loved me, but because he was engaged to this other girl who had money, and because he thought he ought not to have to work for a living, and because he did not regard a professor's salary as a living, he married her.

That was three years ago. Since then we have written to each other occasionally and have seen each other once. The other day I got a letter from him in which he said there was nothing to be done about our affair, that he refused to deceive his wife and meet me secretly. Also he says "Naturally I do not suffer because such a thing is much too alien to my nature and I find it quite impossible to cherish a hopeless passion. That doesn't mean that I am without a very great sympathy for you for being in that sad state. My wife has taught me this. Nor does it mean that I am without a very great admiration and fondness for you."

Now what shall I do about this? I do not live in the hope that his wife will conveniently break her neck so that I can marry him, nor even that he will divorce her, but give him up I cannot. I feel that if I could just see him now and then and have a few kisses that I could reconcile myself to marrying some other man. Also that I can make him come to see me in spite of what he says if I choose to press the matter, and it seems to me as if I must press it. What have you to say about it?—NOEL.

Answer: I have this to say about it: That you are willfully deceiving yourself and refusing to look the hard, cold, bitter truth in the face. It takes a lot of courage for a woman to admit to herself that the man she loves no longer loves her, that he probably never did love her. Certainly that he never loved her in the way that she loves him, and that he was just amusing himself with her and has ceased to find the game diverting and wants no more of it. Yet that is exactly the state of affairs in your case.

Your handsome young professor, who had made up his mind to marry "sensibly" and who wasn't the least in love with his wealthy fiancee, found it amusing to have a flirtation with one of his pretty girl pupils. Probably you are a lot better looking, brighter, more sympathetic and intriguing than the girl to whom he was engaged, and your open admiration for him and pursuit of him flattered him and stimulated him, so that he made love to you and kissed you and sighed for what might have been.

And you thought that he loved you as you loved him, but never once did he offer to give up the rich girl for you. There was no "all for love and the world well lost" quality to his passion. You would have given up everything for him, but he would not give up one softness of life for you.

Nor will he ever sacrifice himself for any woman, for the man who marries for money is egotist in every bone and sinew of him, and the only person that he is capable of loving is himself.

What I am trying to tell you, my dear, is that your case is utterly hopeless, because this man could not tell you any plainer than he does in his letter that his fancy for you is over, that your importunities are boring him and that he is trying to get rid of you. He is doing it like a gentleman, if a gentleman could do such a thing, and he expects you to take it like a lady. And if you want to save your face you will do so.

Don't delude yourself with the idea that you can get him away from his wife. You will never do it as long as she has the checkbook. And of the two women who love this cad hopelessly you are the luckier, because you have the right to forget him and put all thoughts of him out of your life and find love and happiness in marrying a better man, while all of her days the wife is doomed to go on adoring a husband who gives her nothing but toleration for the comforts and luxuries she brings him.

To love without being loved in return is bad enough for a woman, but to be married for her money is the greatest humiliation that can befall her.—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Feeling it to be the fair and honest thing to do, I confessed to the man to whom I am engaged an indiscretion of my early youth, with the result that he feels that he cannot marry me. Is not this intolerant of him? If we do marry, do you think that this knowledge of my past will be a bar to our happiness or will time and nature restore his confidence in me and make him forget? I have never made but this one small step off the straight and narrow path.—GENE.

Answer: Men are always intolerant of women's faults, Gene. They demand mercy for their own shortcomings, but they seldom show it to their sisters.

A man expects the women he marries to forgive him all of the sins of his past life and even to blot them out from her memory, but he is not willing to condone her errors, and if he does he never forgets them. They remain a rankling sore in his memory. And he never quite trusts her.

There are very few men big enough to realize that a girl may blunder into wrong doing through ignorance, that she may have been the victim of circumstance and environment, that she may even have sinned through the best that was in her because she was too generous to count the cost of love, and that having once taken the wrong step she was appalled at what she did and repented it in tears of shame and remorse. Still fewer men are just enough to remember that the girl who has done wrong once and passionately regrets it is absolutely sure never to transgress again. She has had her lesson and profited by it.

The average man who marries a woman who has not always gone straight only remembers that she once took the wrong turn of the road, and he is always expecting her to do it again, and in moments of anger he reviles her with it.

That is why I think any woman is foolish ever to tell the man she is going to marry of any indiscretion of her past. If there is anything connected with it that can injure him, she should not marry at all. If it is only a mistake that she regrets, it does no good for him to know it. It merely blasts their happiness.—DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix: I am a married man with two small boys and earn $40 a week, but in two more years' time I am due for a substantial advancement in the bank in which I work. My wife is very dissatisfied. Does not believe in sacrificing her life further for her two babies and myself. I have to get my own breakfast and that of the children. I make a good deal of money on investments and give her many elaborate presents, but the more I hand over the worse matters grow. She is high strung and goes off on brainstorms at times. Just now she wants me to leave my home and children because I get on her nerves too much. She wants me to get out of her sight and intends to go back to business with the understanding that I will still support the family. I am at a loss to know what to do.—HUSBAND.

Answer: The thing to do is to tell your wife in no uncertain language just where she gets off. Tell her that she can leave and go back to business if she wants to, but that if she does she certainly can't expect you to support her, and that as long as you are paying the freight for the house you have a right to live in it.

I think she must be having a brainstorm when she makes such a ridiculous proposition to you and orders you out of your own home for no reason except that she is tired of looking at you. The trouble with you is that you are weak. You have let her bulldoze you until she has a contempt for you.

Brace up and assert yourself. Tell her it will be good for her nerves to get up and get breakfast, and that if she expects you to support her as a wife she has to do a wife's duties.—DOROTHY DIX.

MODISH MITZI — THE GOOFER DECIDES "NOT YET" — By Jay V. Jay

The Goofer has received a letter informing him that a certain most beautiful brunette whom he admires also admires him. She is accustomed to hiding "her feelings for him under a light flirtatious mood." Marie, the little scamp who wrote this letter, is watching the Goofer reading it.

The Goofer knows that there is but one beautiful brunette in his life—Mitzi. But she must have really liked that blonde chap who golfs with her because he has often seen her pleated skirt, blouse and sweater with coin dots in company with his striped sweater on the green.

The other day the Goofer spotted Mitzi having tea with a prominent polo player, and evidently liking it very much. The Goofer has never seen her more charming. The gentleman opposite was showing the effects of gazing upon Mitzi in a lace dress with a wide brimmed matching lace hat—one of the smartest costumes of the season.

When Mitzi appears at a dance, partners appear from nowhere in twos and threes. Later she will lose that sheer shawl that belongs to her evening gown and send one of them looking for it—the Goofer most likely. The Goofer wonders if he'll have to have this competition all his life? He really doesn't think Mitzi is ready for marriage.

Now! meal time is a happy event

"IT is all so wonderful, I can hardly believe my eyes. When I think how badly you used to feel—didn't want anything to eat—perhaps sometimes a little grouchy and miserable, and just driving yourself by main force, I almost shudder. I know it worried you, too. You seemed to feel as though you were slipping. Then one day you brought home a bottle of S.S.S. and told me you were going to give it a trial. That was only a few weeks ago. Today you look like a new person. Your appetite is keen, your flesh is firm, and your whole being seems to radiate happiness and I am happy too, because you are well and strong again."

Loss of appetite only a symptom

It is a known fact that when one's system gets "run-down," they haven't the resistance to ward off diseases. Loss of appetite is only a symptom. General weakness pervades the entire body. There is no desire to work or play.

Rich, red, blood builds and sustains

Your physician will tell you that lowered vitality is the result of an insufficient supply of red blood cells—those vitalizing elements in the blood that build and sustain the body.

Without plenty of rich, red blood, there can be no strong, sturdy, powerful men, or beautiful, healthy women.

When you get your blood cells back up to normal, that sluggish, let-down feeling, loss of appetite, rheumatism, boils, pimples, and skin troubles disappear. You get hungry again; sleep soundly; solid flesh takes the place of that which was once flabby. You feel strong; and your nerves become steady.

Mother-Daughter Luncheon Proves To Be Unusually Attractive Event

One of the attractive social events of the early part of the week was the "Mother-Daughter" luncheon given jointly by the Lucy Hansel guild and the Women's Missonary society of the First Presbyterian church, Monday at the church.

The tables were arranged artistically and decorated with large baskets of roses and ferns, while foliage was used to flank the centerpiece.

With Mrs. Jim Barnard, president of the Lucy Hansel guild, presiding, the program was featured by a talk given by Dr. H. Y. Weber, medical missionary of the church who has charge of the hospital at Elat, Africa, which is situated in the Cameroun district in interior Africa. The speaker gave a description of the work of the mission and told of evangelism among the natives.

Each missionary in that section of Africa, sent by the Presbyterian church, has charge of a total of 6,800 people, 71 village churches and pastors and 69 schools in the field, and the work of the heads extremely arduous, Dr. Weber said.

The speaker urged the church to extend its full co-operation in the work, as an inspiration to the evangelists as well as material aid for the natives.

Dr. Weber was presented with a check from the Lucy Hansel guild which will be used for the care of four lepers in the region.

Mrs. Weber also spoke of the work among the women of the interior, stressing the necessity of aiding the native women to properly care for their children. These charges are often products of the mission schools, she said.

Mrs. Weber pronounced the invocation. Other members on the program were a violin solo, "Because," by Mrs. Alfred Miller, accompanied on the piano by her mother, Mrs. O. E. Maer; devotional on "Stewardship," given by Mrs. Joe Farabee; prayer, "Joy of Stewardship" by Mrs. J. D. Madry. Dr. Nat F. Grafton closed the meeting with prayer.

Mrs. C. C. Hagmann made an announcement of the musical festival to be given by the city as an event of May 11 at the Memorial auditorium, sponsored by the Spanish American and World War veterans, and urged cooperation and attendance.

Those present were: Mrs. M. A. McClure and daughter, Mrs. Lesley Humphries; Mrs. Ed Howard and daughter, Mrs. Rhea Howard; Mrs. C. C. Cabiness and daughter Miss Mary Cabiness; Mrs. O. Ramblin' with
Marie Theresa

MARIE THERESA has located another field in which women excel and put the best efforts of men to scampering. That is the field of evangelism. Listen to this story as told by a missionary on furlough:

A native African with 21 wives decided to put aside at least 20 of those women and live according to Christian teachings. He faced the task of dismissing 20 women with much misgiving and finally decided that the missionaries could look elsewhere for a convert.

But he reckoned wrong again—one of the 20 women decided she would like her freedom in order to marry a younger man, and set about the task of poisoning the head of the family. When the native finally recovered from a thorough poisoning which had paralyzed every organ in his body for an unbelievably long period of time, he was completely and forever evangelized. Mark one score for women in the evangelical field.

A SPEAKER at a luncheon I attended recently said that two women had criticised his speech saying "If you had only stopped 10 minutes before you got done, the address would have been a great success." True, sister, true. Marie Theresa has always had the greatest difficulty picking out the principal speaker on most of the programs she has listened to.

MERCY! This column is going to look feministic. But I just must tell this one—Miss Alice Buckman of Griswold, Iowa, doesn't let her sex stand in the way of success in athletics. She is a regular member of the Griswold high school nine, and quite often surpasses the best efforts of the other eight members.

BENNINGTON (Vermont) College for Women will try something new, necessary and bound to attract attention when they launch their new experiment of teaching girls to meet the changed conditions of the present day.

No longer will young women be taugh according to the old fashion when girls were instructed just as men, with no effort made to mould the natural mentality of women along lines for which their minds are best suited.

The founders of this institution asserted that much that is now being taught women is unimportant and not easily assimilated by the feminine mind, while much that should be taught them is being withheld. Subjects taught in this school will apply to women's specific interests.

The new woman, they claim, should be educated along lines that recognize woman's capacities and develops them. To do this, the new college must use new methods in which emphasis will be placed not the teacher or system, but upon the individual student.

And with the launching of these new methods, will come the fun and the fireworks, for new methods in a field of so many ruts as education, cannot enter without much dissension and lots of newspaper space.

Delphian Chapter Lists Program For Tuesday's Meeting

A program on the theme, "The Formation of the Hebrew Nation," will be given at the Memorial auditorium at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning by Wee-che-tah chapter of the Delphian society, with Mrs. Joe Carrigan, presiding. The general theme will be on Palestine.

McGaha; "The Hebrews in Egypt," by Mrs. Ernest Fain; "Life in the Wilderness," by Mrs. T. B. Noble, Jr.; "The Canaanites," by Mrs. E. R. White; "The Tribes," by Mrs. R. H. Scott; "The Era of Judges," by Mrs. J. Wilkie Talbert; "Deborah's Song," by Mrs. Bert King.

Current topics discussed will be: "Science and Invention," by Mrs. Paul Steed; "Art," by Mrs. A. B. Maples; "Opera," by Mrs. C. E. Loreta; "Drama," by Miss Carrie Finley; "Late Books," by Mrs. O. L. Dale.

Young Wichita Falls

Ashley's parents are too modest to claim that he resembles either one, so you may take your choice as to which parent is particularly handsome. Judging from the accompanying photo of the lad, that resemblance would be hard to live up to.

Ashley is six years old and has an older brother, Robert, aged nine years, and a younger one, aged two and one-half years. Between the two brothers, Ashley has a pretty good time, the only trouble being that Robert is away at school so much of the time, and the baby doesn't catch on to games any too easily yet.

Ashley rides anything that is meant to be ridden but prefers his bicycle. He is particularly fond of a bunny rabbit just now.

Ashley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Priddy, 1012 Harrison.

Pot Shots at Politics by Col. Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald

FENCE JUMPERS.

According to close friends of Chairman D. W. Wilcox, he is one of the men who should be named as delegate-at-large to the Houston convention. Chairman Wilcox is a regular. He believes in the rule of the majority. He insists that to be a real democrat, a voter should follow the flag and support the nominee. He is said to have a powerful following in Texas and his home county, Williamson, may present his name to the Beaumont convention for delegate honors. There is going to be a scramble for the national committee representation. Col. Jed Adams of Dallas is said to be willing to serve another term. He is one of the original harmony democrats. He believes that political fence jumpers should be disciplined. Now if the political fence jumpers dominate the Beaumont convention what will happen to the Dallas colonel?

TEST FOR MILLS.

Larry Mills is swinging around the circle. He is for a delegation instructed against Smith and Reed and Ritchie. He would bar all but the drys in the balloting for a standard bearer. He is close to Ross Love. He doesn't like Moody. Indeed, he told his Austin friends that he was doing his best to seek out a new candidate for governor. Why a new one? Judge W. E. Hawkins hasn't pulled down his flag and Col. Lewis J. Wardlaw is making six speeches daily telling the people why he should be given the democratic nomination for governor. There is a way for Mills to test his own popularity. Let him withdraw as a candidate for delegate-at-large and enter the race as a contender for the democratic gubernatorial nomination.

THE DIFFERENCE

It is contended that it is not criminal to solicit a bribe under the laws of Texas. If it isn't, it should be. Isn't a bribe seeker just as guilty as a bribe giver?

HAPPINESS—AT DAWNING

When Big Ben awakes me—in the morn;
Almost running his bell-ringer down,
I lazily open my eyelids and look
At the world all about me and frown.

I have tried to smile in the mornings,
And have tried to be merry at dawn,
But then, my joys of the daytime
Are scarecrows—their pleasure is gone.

I just sigh a great sigh of depression;
My temper's not easy to keep.
I choke my alarm with a weak hand,
Turn over and go back to sleep!

One-Minute Sermon

Then the same day at evening, being the first day of the week, when the doors were shut where the disciples were assembled for fear of the Jews, came Jesus and stood in the midst, and saith unto them, Peace be with you.

And when he had so said, he shewed unto them his hands and his side. Then were the disciples glad, when they saw the Lord.—St. John, xx, 19-20.

Where Women Are Barred

AND now the Supreme Court of Canada has decided that women are not entitled to appointments to the Canadian senate under the terms of the British North America act. Some day the Canadian sisters will bring about the repeal of the act. Think of what the flappers of England accomplished when they compelled the conservative leaders of the British parliament to surrender to their franchise program. They won hands down.

Kansas Has a Favorite Son

KANSAS Democrats have a favorite son, Congressman W. W. Ayres has pushed his face into the presidential picture. His followers control the state convention to send delegates to the Houston convention. They instructed the 20 delegates to present the name and the claim of their favorite. Senator Charles Curtis is the favorite son of the republicans. There are favorite sons bobbing up everywhere. Politicians dearly love to get in the head lines. They dearly love to see their mugs in the pictures. They are as wild for publicity as movie queens.

Brownsville On the Map

ACCORDING to District Judge A. W. Cunningham of the Magic Valley country "Brownsville is the best policed city of its size in Texas, in fact, in the south. There is only one explanation of this—an efficient police department." Furthermore, the judge said it was passing strange that a city like Brownsville, located on the border, should be so remarkably free from crime.

According to the court records the border country shows fewer crimes in proportion to the population than in the agricultural sections of the north and middle west, which are generally conceded the most law abiding in the United States.

There is a new Texas. And criminals are fast finding it out. Just now the state penitentiaries show a larger population than at any time in history, which is said to be convincing proof that the prosecutors are busy and jurors are doing their full duty.

Another Deep Water Port

NATIONAL COMMITTEEMAN R. B. CREAGER has returned from Washington. He is confident that the appropriations bill will carry an item of $2,000,000 for the completion of the Point Isabel deep water project. Texas has the longest coast line of any American state and gulf deep water ports are getting to be very much in evidence. In 1930 Texas will show a population of 6,000,000 and in 1940 the population of the empire commonwealth should approximate 9,000,000.

Development of natural resources is the order of the day and men of vision the republic over are keeping close tab on the commonwealth and its marked building activities. Some day there will be a million busy people in what is known as the Magic Valley of Texas. It is the winter garden of the world and in time will relegate southern California and Florida to second and third place in the output of the products of the soil which are in demand in the large cities of the country.

Texas needs an Arthur Brisbane as a publicity director of its industries and its possibilities. Just now he is devoting the most of his time and his writings to the advertising of California where he has large interests and where climate is the main thing. California has spent millions of dollars for advertising purposes the world over. Why not Texas?

OPPORTUNITIES IN CHILDRESS

Childress is a wholesale and jobbing center of greater proportions than our own people realize, say those interested. There are two wholesale or jobbing grocery houses, both doing a large business in this section. A wholesale hardware firm is selling goods in many towns throughout this part of the Panhandle, having one or two men on the road all the time, shipments being made as far as one hundred miles from Childress. Other firms are doing business in a similar manner, but there should be more of them, and by all means there should be a jobbing house devoted to dry goods and notions. There is a territory of large size just waiting for this kind of business at Childress.

HEALTH and DIET ADVICE

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

Questions in regard to health and diet will be answered by Mr. McCoy who can be addressed in care of this paper.

CANNED FOODS WHOLESOME

The title of "Canned Goods" is generally restricted to foods put up in tin cans and sterilized by heating. The object in all kinds of canning is the same, that is, to kill all microorganisms started, and then by the exclusion of all air to prevent any new ones from gaining entrance. Microorganisms speedily render any food unfit for consumption because they induce fermentation.

There are many varieties of canned foods on the market. All kinds of food, including fish, poultry, meat, vegetables, fruit, etc., are put up in cans, and the United States stands today as the foremost exponent of canned goods, the output of this country being considerably greater than the total of all other parts of the world combined.

The first method of canning was a process invented by a Frenchman named Francois Apperp, a little more than a hundred years ago, and has been improved and amplified by modern mechanical devices and equipment. In this country the canning of all kinds of foods developed very rapidly during the Civil War period. The industry has gradually expanded because of the need of a greater conservation of vegetables and perishable goods of every kind. Today our canneries serve the need largely as community kitchens in which all the rough and dirty work of preparing vast quantities of food is done for the convenience and nourishment of innumerable households. Thousands of acres of fruit, grain, and vegetable land, and great herds of cows, and fisheries, are dedicated to their service.

The details in cannery methods vary with different foods. Some foods are placed in the cans in a raw condition, and others are first blanched or parboiled, as with asparagus, beans, and peas.

The time required to insure sterilization varies. With some vegetables, those of a tougher texture require a longer time for the full heat to penetrate to the center of the can; also, because of their peculiar composition, some foods need very long processing.

As long as fresh, sound foods are used, if sterilization has been complete and if the cans are very tight, the contents, whether meat, vegetables or fruit, will be of equal nutritive value to those cooked in the household. Some dietitians argue that the vitamin content is lowered by food standing in a can for months before it is used, but there is no evidence to show that this decrease is very great.

Some of the best canned foods to use are: Spinach, asparagus, string beans, corn, French artichokes, pineapple, (especially if prepared without syrup) and olives.

When using canned foods of any kind, be sure and examine the contents carefully as soon as the can is opened, and empty out into a dish. If there is a strong odor noted upon opening the can, this should always be regarded as a danger signal, whether with fish or any other food, and irrespective of the shape or appearance of the can.

Question: Mrs. J. H. I. writes: "I read your advice every day and think it is wonderful. Will you please tell me what causes the feeling as if there is a lump in one's throat? My doctor tells me it is nervousness. The ten years I have had this trouble have been terrible to me."

Answer: The nervousness you are suffering from and the lump in your throat are doubtless caused by some form of thyroid derangement, perhaps a small goitre. Another cause of a choking feeling in the throat comes from pelvic disorders, such as metritis, enteritis, or from rectal trouble.

Question: R. J. asks: "When fasting on orange juice can one drink during the day, water in which vegetables have been cooked?"

Answer: If you wish to take the vegetable juice diet you should not do so while taking the orange juice. You might try the vegetable juice one day and the orange juice the next.

Question: Mrs. B. asks: "Will you please tell me the food elements of gelatin?"

Answer: Gelatin is a form of protein, very beneficial to the body as a food. Those in health will find it advantageous to include it in the diet quite often, and it is tremendously helpful to those inclined to nose-bleed, on account of its blood-coagulating powers.

Question: K. L. writes: "I have used cocoa-butter for four weeks for a thin face, but it has not helped. Can you suggest anything better?"

Answer: There is not much you can do for a thin face except through increasing the circulation through the tissues you will be able to make a "shaplier" face. This applies to the fat as well as the thin face.

FLATIRON BUILDING

NEW YORK, April 30. — Variegated notes of a reporter covering the biggest beat in the world:

The biggest coffee cups I ever saw are in the Harvard club here. They hold a pint.

Thomas A. Edison ignores progress in automotive science and still drives his first car, of 1912 vintage. But he loves to speed in motorboats.

R. F. Foster, the famous bridge expert thinks one-deck Russian bank is a better game. (See your Hoyle. It isn't a sinful game. I was taught to play it by a bishop.)

In the nurses' school at St. Mark's hospital, the students are taught, among other things, voice control.

Dorothy Stickney, Broadway show girl, says she is a cousin of President Coolidge.

Countess Inga Nybo, of Roumania, relative of Queen Marie, is in New York looking for a job.

The average first novel sells about 600 copies, a publisher tells me.

Jazz's victory isn't quite complete. The Metropolitan Opera company grossed more than $3,000,000 in the season just closed.

A chorus man who read in this column that "In the profession chorus men are held in low esteem," sends a protest. He points out that the men in Broadway show ensembles are generally of high class, most of them intent only upon learning the show business or stepping from the chorus into higher roles. He calls attention to Benjamin Cutler, Yale '26, star half back of the Old Eli eleven, and prominent in two other sports, member of the highest college societies, and chosen by his class as its best all-around member. Cutler sings in the chorus of a musical comedy.

Other examples he offers are Hazard Newberry, son of wealthy Frederick Newberry of Detroit and cousin of former U. S. Senator Truman Newberry; John Pierce, a graduate of University of West Virginia medical school; Charles Maynard, star debater at Wooster college; George Lamb Jr., also of Yale, where he attracted attention in art and dramatics. A former Episcopalian minister is in the chorus of a show.

Sale of peanuts in Central park dropped away to nothing after park commissioners, desiring to rid it of peanut hulls, ruled that only shelled nuts might be sold in the park. Without the shells to scatter to the winds, park visitors found peanut eating rather dull and uninteresting. Then some enterprising peddlers began bootlegging the forbidden fruit. Bags that used to sell for a nickel now are distributed covertly at 10 and 15 cents. The bears and monkeys are again demonstrating their proficiency in the art of shelling peanuts.

The Story Thus Far

There were fingerprints in the apartment of the murdered Margaret Odell, but the thing that baffles Vance most is the jewel case. It had been opened with a steel chisel after unsuccessfully being pried with a poker. Spotswoode had gone out with the girl the night of the murder. When he left her he told Jessup to call a cab. They heard a scream from her apartment, rushed back to her door and were told everything was all right. The next morning she was found strangled. Vance believes two men were in the apartment: the murderer and another who lay hidden in a clothes closet. Investigation discloses that Cleaver is the man who has been seen with her the most.

CHAPTER XV

Markham sat up.

"I know Cleaver—if it's the same one."

"It's him, all right," declared Heath. "Former Brooklyn tax commissioner; been interested in a pool room for pony-betting over in Jersey City ever since. Hangs out at the Stuyvesant club, where he can hobnob with his old Tammany Hall cronies."

"That's the one," nodded Markham. "He's a kind of professional gay-dog—known as Pop, I believe."

Vance gazed into space.

"Well, well," he murmured. "So old Pop Cleaver was also entangled with our subtle and sanguine Dolores."

"I thought, sir," went on Heath, "that, seeing as how Cleaver is always in and out at the Stuyvesant club, you might ask him some questions about Odell. He ought to know something."

"Glad to, seergeant." Markham made a note on his pad. "I'll try to get in touch with him tonight. . . . Any one else on your list?"

"There's a fellow named Mannix—Louis Mannix— who met Odell when she was in the 'Follies'; but she chucked him over a year ago, and they haven't been seen together since. He's got another girl now. He's the head of the firm of Mannix & Levine, fur importers, and is one of your night club rounders—a heavy spender. But I don't see much use of barking up that tree—his affair with Odell went cold too long ago."

"Yes," agreed Markham; "I think we can eliminate him."

"I say, if you keep up this elimination much longer," observed Vance, "you won't have anything left but the lady's corpse."

"And then, there's the man who took her out last night," pursued Heath. "Nobody seems to know his name—he must've been one of those discreet, careful old boys. I thought at first he might have been Cleaver, but the descriptions don't tally. . . . And by the way, sir, here's a funny thing: when he left Odell last night he took the taxi down to the Stuyvesant club, and got out there."

Markham nodded. "I know all about that, sergeant. And I know who the man was; and it wasn't Cleaver."

Vance was chuckling.

"The Stuyvesant club seems to be well in the forefront of this case," he said. "I hope it doesn't suffer the sad fate of the Knickerbocker Athletic."*

Heath was intent on the main issue.

"Who was the man, Mr. Markham?"

Markham hesitated, as if pondering the advisability of taking the other into his confidence. Then he said: "I'll tell you his name, but in strict confidence. The man was Kenneth Spotswoode."

He then recounted the story of his being called away from lunch, and of his failure to elicit any helpful suggestions from Spotswoode. He also informed Heath of his verification of the man's statements regarding his movements after meeting Jude Redfern at the club.

"And," added Markham, "since he obviously left the girl before she was murdered, there's no necessity to bother him. In fact, I gave him my word I'd keep him out of it for his family's sake."

"If you're satisfied, sir, I am." Heath closed his notebook and put it away. "There's just one other little thing. Odell used to live on 110th street, and Emery dug up her former landlady and learned that this fancy guy the maid told us about used to call on her regularly."

"That reminds me, sergeant." Markham picked up the memorandum he had made during Inspector Brenner's phone call. "Here's some data the professor gave me about the forcing of the jewel case."

Heath studied the paper with considerable eagerness. "Just as I thought!" He nodded his head with satisfaction. "Clear-cut professional job by somebody who's been in the line of work before."

Vance roused himself.

"Still, if such is the case," he said, "why did this experienced burglar use the insufficient poker? And why did he overlook the living room clothes press?"

"I'll find all that out, Mr. Vance, when I get my hands on him," asserted Heath. "And the guy I want to have a nice, quiet little chat with is the one with the pleated silk shirt and the chamois gloves."

"For myself, I have no yearning whatever to hold converse with him. Somehow, I can't just picture a professional looter trying to rend a steel box with a cast-iron poker."

"Forget the poker," Heath advised gruffly. "He jimmied the box with a steel chisel; and that same chisel was used last summer in another burglary on Park avenue. What about that?"

"Ah! That's what torments me, sergeant. If it wasn't for that disturbin' fact, d' ye see, I'd be lightsome this afternoon, inviting my soul over a dish of tea at Claremont."

Detective Bellamy was announced, and Heath sprang to his feet.

"That'll mean news about those fingerprints," he prophesied hopefully.

Bellamy entered unemotionally, and walked up to the district attorney's desk.

"Cap'n Dubois sent me over," he said. "He thought you'd want the report on those Odell prints." He reached into his pocket and drew out a small, flat folder, which at a sign from Markham, he handed to Heath. "We identified 'em. Both made by the same hand, like Cap'n Dubois said; and that hand belonged to Tony Skeel."

"'Dude' Steel, eh?" The sergeant's tone was vibrant, with suppressed excitement. "Say, Mr. Markham, that gets us somewhere. Skeel's an ex-convict and an artist in his line."

He opened the folder and took out an oblong card and a sheet of blue paper containing eight or ten lines of typewriting. He studied the card, gave a satisfied grunt, and handed it to Markham.

Vance and I stepped up and looked at it. At the top was the familiar rogues'-gallery photograph showing the full face and profile of a regular-featured youth with thick hair and a square chin. His eyes were wide-set and pale, and he wore a small, evenly trimmed mustache with waxed, needle-point ends.

Below the double photograph was a brief tabulated description of its sitter, giving his name, aliases, residence, and Bertillon measurements and designating the character of his illegal profession. Underneath were 10 little squares arranged in two rows, each containing a finger-print impression made in black ink—the upper row being the impressions of the right hand, the lower row those of the left.

"So that's the arbiter elegantiarum who introduced the silk shirt for full-dress wear! My word!" Vance regarded the identification card satirically. "I wish he'd start a craze for gaiters with dinner jackets—these New York theaters are frightfully drafty in winter."

Heath put the card back in the folder, and glanced over the typewritten paper that had accompanied it.

"He's our man, and no mistake, Mr. Markham. Listen to his: 'Tony (Duke) Skeel. Two years Elmira reformatory, 1902 to 1904. One year in the Baltimore county jail for petit larceny, 1906. Three years in San Quentin for assault and robbery, 1908 to 1911. Arrested Chicago for house breaking, 1912; case dismissed. Arrested and tried for burglary in Albany, 1913; no conviction. Served two years and eight months in Sing Sing for house breaking and burglary, 1914 to 1916.'" He folded the paper and put it with the card, into his breast pocket. "Sweet little record."

"That dope what you wanted?" asked the imperturbable Bellamy.

"Till say!" Heath was almost jovial.

Bellamy lingered expectantly with one eye on the district attorney; and Markham, as if suddenly remembering something, took out a box of cigars and held it out.

"Much obliged," said Bellamy, helping himself to two, and putting them into his waistcoat pocket with great care, he went out.

"I'll use your phone now, if you don't mind, Mr. Markham," said Heath.

He called the homicide bureau.

"Look up Tony Skeel—Duke Skeel—pronto, and bring him in as soon as you find him," were his orders to Snitkin. "Get his address from the files, and take Burke and Emery with you. If he's hopped it, send out a general alarm and have him picked up—some of the boys'll have a line on him. Lock him up without booking him, see. . . . And, listen. Search his room for burglar tools; he probably won't have any laying around, but I specially want a one-and-three-eighths-inch chisel with a nick in the blade. . . . I'll be at headquarters in half an hour."

(To be continued.)

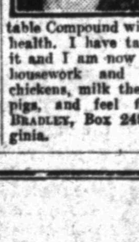

*Vance was here referring to the famous Molineux case, which, in 1898, sounded the death-knell of the old Knickerbocker Athletic club at Madison avenue and 45th street. But it was commercialism that ended the Stuyvesant's career. This club, which stood on the north side of Madison Square, was razed a few years later to make room for a skyscraper.

Moity's Jeopardy Plea Denied in Hearing

NEW ORLEANS, April 30. Moity's plea was lost when Judge Frank Echezabel sustained the state's attorney's demurrer.

Moity now is under sentence of life imprisonment in connection with the slaying of his wife. The women were slain on the same night, their bodies dissected and stuffed into trunks.

KLAN DRAGON CALLED KILLER

State Attorney Fights Stephenson's Release

INDIANAPOLIS, April 30. (UP)—Attorney General Arthur L. Gilliom went before the supreme court today and made a vigorous appeal against the latest effort of D. C. Stephenson, former klan dragon of Indiana, to obtain release from the penitentiary.

Stephenson is serving a life sentence for the murder of Miss Madge Oberholtzer. His attorney, John Kiplinger, argued that Miss Oberholtzer committed suicide and that Stephenson "cannot be guilty of "felonous homicide."

Gilliom, in denouncing the defense contention, shouted before the state's highest tribunal that "she [illegible] blood poisoning which resulted from Stephenson's criminal attack on her."

"She was recovering from the mercurial poisoning when blood poison, resulting from marks on her body made by Stephenson, set in and caused her death," Gilliom argued. "Even if Stephenson were not legally responsible for the poisoning of his victim, he would still be guilty of murder because he is clearly responsible for the blood poisoning. But he is responsible for the mercurial poisoning also."

Miss Oberholtzer died at her home here several days after the state contends she had been attacked by Stephenson.

Wichita Council to Confer Select Degree for Fourth Time in History

A meeting of Wichita Falls Council No. 140, Royal and Select Masters, will be held at the Masonic temple Monday, May 7, at which time all the degrees of the order will be conferred.

Notice has been mailed out, according to G. W. Lawler, recorder, to more than 400 eligibles for the degrees and to 30 other councils of the state. This work is seldom conferred due to the great amount of time required for preparation and the expense involved. Wichita Falls council has conferred this work only three times before, once in 1925, once in 1926, and once in 1927.

Work will start at 3 o'clock in the Masonic temple with the royal master's degree being conferred by John A. Elder, thrice illustrious master. The select masters' degree will follow and is to be conferred by Past Illustrious Master James D. Avis.

At 7:30 the super-excellent masters degree will be conferred in the lodge rooms of the Maskat temple, top floor of the City National bank building, by the regular team in charge of J. S. Pitman, right illustrious deputy master.

Four Bumper Crops Per Year Record Of Electrically Treated Test Farm

PARIS, April 30.—(UP)—Hardening with electricity, French experts of the governmental agricultural experiment station at Wagonville have succeeded in raising four bumper crops a year on the same plot of ground and in making fruit and vegetables grow to three times their usual size.

The use of electricity instead of chemical fertilizer is still in the experimental stage, but France, Germany and Norway are making great progress in these tests and government experts predict that the day is not far distant when agriculture will be the most modern of all sciences.

The principle of electrical fertilization is simple. At one end of the field, at a point facing approximately the magnetic north a small instrument is buried to a depth of about 15 inches. Its role is to collect the telluric currents which circulate through the earth.

At the opposite end of the field is a transformer, embedded in the soil at the foot of a pylon, standing 20 feet high and surmounted by a fringe of metal prongs bent southwards. Beneath the soil, from north to south, is buried wire.

Great secrecy surrounds the nature and the principles of the transformer and the buried wire, but it is understood that a current of six to nine volts is obtained by the equipment, which is sufficient to light a small lamp. By the end of the next summer crop season, the experts will have completed their report and will then make public the details of this modern application of electricity to the oldest science.

At the Wagonville experimental farm, the electrically treated field is surrounded with fields fertilized by manures or chemical products. At a glance, it is easy to see how much the crops benefit from the electrical treatment for fruit trees in that area were bearing small fruit before trees in other fields had blossomed. The electricity also kills field parasites.

BARNES BESTS PAYNE, 1 TO 0 AND BUFFS TAKE LEAGUE LEAD

SPUDDERS HELD TO ONE KNOCK

George Hurls 3-Hit Game; Frank Wins On Duel

By LARRY DAILEY
Record News Sports Editor

Ball games can't be won without runs; runs can't be scored without hits. Thus the Spudders yesterday dropped the second in a row to the Houston Buffaloes at Athletic park. The score was 1 to 0.

Frank Barnes bested George Payne in a brilliant pitchers' battle in which the champions were held to a lone single and the Buffs to three blows. The enemy won in the ninth, Barnes accounting for his own game when he singled sharply to center, was sacrificed to second by Hock, Stanton to Turgeon, and scored on Selph's single to center.

The defeat cost the Spudders more than the ball game. It tumbled them into second place, one game back of the Buffs and only half a game ahead of the third place Cats. And it also broke the winning streak of Payne, who had won all his four starts this campaign before losing yesterday's heartbreaker.

Spud Bats Silent

The Spudders were impotent before the lefthand chucking of the rangy Barnes. Joe Cobb's single to left in the third was the only hit and the portsider had superb control, passing but two. Barnes turned back the champions in order in the last three innings.

Wichita Falls had runners on base in four innings. Twice double plays helped Barnes out of danger. With one out Turgeon doubled at first in the first inning on Fitzgerald's drive to Watkins and Hock started a two-ply killing in the fifth after Stanton had strolled.

Tough One to Lose

Payne turned in a glittering hill performance. He pitched hitless ball until the seventh when Worthington singled with one out. But the next two Buffs were retired and in the eighth George sent them back one-two-three. He also issued only two bases on balls.

Sparkling infielding marked the pastime. Infielders came up with hard-hit grounders and made perfect throws; outfielders roamed far and wide to pull down potential hits. Turgeon, Benton, Lamb, Selph, and Watkins were particular shining luminaries in the superb defensive play of both clubs, in which a Buff made the only error of the contest.

Notes of the Game

Mike Cvengros probably will be Skipper Carl's hill choice today in the final of the series.

Tex Carleton is the likely choice of Foreman Frank Snyder. Tex is a righthander.

Barnes yesterday was the second southpaw to beat the Spuds. Hallahan turned the trick Sunday in which he allowed a run and five hits.

More than 2,000 say the pastime yesterday.

Stanton limped from an injured ankle, sustained when he stepped on a ball in fielding practice.

Lamb and Watkins made fast catches in the first inning.

Payne made a speedy recovery and throw on Powell's bounder in the third.

Turgeon accounted for two scintillating plays. He came in fast for Barnes' grounder in the third and went far to his right in the ninth for Watkin's grass-cutter.

Wally Swenson objected that that Jonnard tipped his bat in the fifth but Umps Donahue didn't see it that way.

Benton robbed Selph of a hit in the seventh with a stop and throw on a grounder to his left.

Selph, who had a perfect day at bat Sunday in four trips made ONLY one hit yesterday—but it was, as the saying goes, right in the clinch.

Catcher Ike Danning has been returned to the Spudders by Dallas, who had purchased him conditionally.

Bare Facts

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
(Copyright, 1928, by Universal Service)

NEW YORK, April 30.—Our office windows look out upon Pier 27, East river.

Tied up at the pier is the big freighter Glendoyle. Her funnel is sealed and she is as deserted as a bigamist's wife.

Remember the Glendoyle? She came staggering up the Hudson smelling like a wet puma in a bed of violets. She was so full of liquor that her captain couldn't dock her. He had to lean her against a lamppost.

There was $400,000 worth of paints, oils and happy varnishes on the Glendoyle. When the cops saw the boat leaning against a lamppost an investigation followed like footprints follow a hen in the snow.

The government confiscated that treasury of booze, thereby stalling off a national epidemic of sociable halitosis.

Although originally designated for the ultimate hiccougher, that cargo is now fermenting legally under official lock and key. And there's always a corkscrew on a keyring.

It begins to look as if the 18th amendment was passed in order to give the government a chance to set its booze free.

JAPAN DEFEATS CUBA IN DAVIS CUP TENNIS

HAVANA, April 30. (UP)—Japan eliminated Cuba in the Davis cup tournament today by winning the doubles match 6-3, 6-3, 4-6, 9-7.

GEORGE GOTTLEBER SENT TO NASHVILLE BY BUCS

FORT WORTH, Texas, April 30. (UP)—George Gottleber, third baseman sent here by Pittsburgh, left Sunday for New Orleans where he will report to the Nashville club of the Southern association Monday.

HAFEY INJURED

Chick Suffers Slight Brain Concussion In Crash Into Stands

ST. LOUIS, April 30. (UP)—Chick Hafey, right fielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, was knocked unconscious when he collided with the right field wall in an effort to catch Hughie Critz' long drive in the seventh inning of today's game with the Cincinnati Reds.

Critz made the circuit before Douthit could retrieve the ball.

Hafey was carried from the field unconscious and bleeding profusely from the head.

He was taken to a hospital where it was found he had suffered a slight concussion of the brain.

John Martin, rookie from Houston, took Hafey's place in the outfield, and the game proceeded after about 15 minutes' delay.

British Open Golf Sought by Yanks

Star Pros in Tournament Starting May 7

LONDON, April 30. (AP)—The British open golf championship, won by Americans six times in the last seven years, again will be the object of a Yankee assault when play starts May 7 at Sandwich.

An American contingent of 10 players, six professionals and four amateurs, already is in England. Although Bobby Jones, winner of the title the last two years, will not defend his title, there are others almost as dangerous with their clubs.

Heading the list of Americans is Walter Hagen, winner of the championship in 1922 and 1924, and Jim Barnes, the 1925 titlist. Other well known professionals are Tommy Armour, Gene Sarazen, Bill Mehlhorn and Larry Nabholtz, while the amateur contingent consists of J. A. McHugh of San Francisco,; Joshua Crane of Boston; S. M. Newton of Washington, and Douglas Grant, a former Californian now living in London.

Nine other foreign nations are represented among the 721 players who have entered the championship. France has the largest delegation with 12 crack players seeking the British title. Spain will be represented by four professionals, while three of the leading stars from the amateur ranks will strive to take the title to South Africa. The Argentine is sending one amateur and one professional, Mariano Demaria and Jose Jurado.

STEERS WIN IN NINTH

DALLAS, Texas, April 30 (AP)—Wayne Windle's error on a made-to-order double play off Mulvey's bat in the ninth paved the way for a three-run rally that gave the Steers the second game of the series with Waco Monday, 8 to 7.

The Cubs scored twice in the first of the ninth, to take what looked like a safe lead, but Molenda blew up, walking two and hitting one to force in a tally, so that Schuman's pinch lick driving in two spelled victory for Dallas. Happ Morse hit, the first Steer homer of the season. Score.

Girden Boys Show Youngsters How To Play This Game of Basketball

Team of Brothers, Some Gray Around Temples, Beats Henry Street Five in Game of Romantic Import

By DAMON RUNYON
Copyright, 1928, by Universal Service

NEW YORK, April 30. (US)—Down in Henry street, on the East Side, last Saturday night, there was an athletic event of romance and even historic import to the neighborhood.

The Girden boys returned to their old haunts to show the younger generation how basketball should be played.

The Henry street settlement has a basket ball team that hasn't been defeated in two years, and is the champion settlement outfit.

Wherefore it was something of a shock to the younger generation of East Side athletes but a matter of quiet gratification to the older lads when the Girden boys whipped the youthful champs by a score of 12 to 10 after as tough a basketball game as they have seen in those parts in many a day.

The Girden boys are not as young as they used to be, ranging now from twenty-eight up to thirty-eight years.

Haven't Forgotten.

Some of them are gray around the temples, and all of them have affairs beyond athletic endeavor to concern them, but they havent forgotten how to play basketball. As the youngsters of Henry street can testify. They will be talking about that Saturday night game down there on the East Side for some time to come.

The Girden boys are brothers, sons of Dr. Max Girden, a noted diagnostician, and for many years one of the most prominent citizens of the old East Side. The boys were raised down there, and every one of the five who played against the Henry Street settlement champions Saturday night, had some little fame for individual athletic prowess in his day. Incidently, they all served in the big war.

Mat Champion.

Dr. Joseph Girden, 38 years old, is a noted surgeon and a former all-American basketball player. He was captain of the New York university team in 1910.

Barney Girden, 34 years old, is a physical director, and was a wrestling champion at N. Y. U. He was also captain of the wrestling team, and it is told of him that on one occasion he wrestled and won in three different classes the same night.

William Girden, 30 years old, is a real estate man. Julius Girden is a lawyer, and also physical director of the university settlement. Both were good basketball players in their time.

Finally there is Kenneth Girden, a dentist, and a well known young man along Broadway, Park avenue and Strasses east and west—a handsome, dapper youth who is fond of the front row at pugilistic encounters, and all other events of an athletic nature.

He is 32, and looks younger. He was one of the best basketball players of his day. He was a star with the old Jasper Jewels, a noted team of the times, and also played with Newburgh and Utica.

Another Girden.

There is still another Girden boy—Eddie—although he did not play Saturday night. He is assistant coach at the University of West Virginia and a member of the wrestling team. He won the 135-pound championship for his college last year. Eddie is about 20.

The older Girden boys played on the different teams of the Henry Street settlement in their youthful days, according to their weight, but they came together as a brother team in 1911 to play the Henry Street settlement championship team of that year. They won by a score of 48 to 6.

The occasion of the game Saturday night was a Henry Street settlement reunion, and the Girden boys somewhat reluctantly banded together once more at the earnest behest of Miss Lillian D. Wald, the noted director of all the Henry settlements. When word went about the East Side that the Girden boys were coming again there was terrific excitement.

Roads Leads to Lakes

Roads to Lake Kemp, Wichita, Pauline and Diversion lake, the chief centers of fishing activities in this section of the state, were crowded late Monday afternoon with anglers en route to these lakes to prepare their shacks and boats for the opening day of the season.

It seems that practically all the fishermen in the city who can possibly get out today will be on hand to initiate the first day of the season.

Several fishing experts of the city have predicted that this year will be considerably better than last and that if the high wind settles enough for the water to clear, that great numbers of bass, bream, drum, channel cat and perch will nab the fatal hook before the season closes.

Average size fish in the classes just named are generally caught in this section of the state. Several prizes have been offered by local sporting goods stores for the best fish caught this season and this will no doubt be a great incentive to the leading anglers.

Light Tackle Favored.

Fishing tackle and equipment has taken a decided leap in the sales of the sporting goods and hardware stores in the last few days and numbers of fishermen have equipped themselves with tackle of all sorts. Light tackle and artificial lures are favored though a directory of agencies for live minnows, worms and crawfish may be found in the leading hardware and sporting goods stores of the city.

From the number of licenses that have been sold by local stores and agencies and the number of last year's licenses that are still good it appears that a record number of fishermen will be out this season.

Roebuck protested the decision, claiming that he had miscalculated the count and could have continued. His protest was disallowed, however.

RELAY HONORS CHANGE HANDS

Breaking Down of Eastern Supremacy Presaged

By LEWIS BURTON

PHILADELPHIA, April 30. (US) Ten relay championship trophies were consigned today to colleges which replaced last year's title holders in the Penn relay carnival. Six of the eight institutions winning championships of America never held the honor before, but only two titles went to the middle west this year, where four went in 1927.

Track officials and coaches in the aftermath discussion nevertheless were convinced that the relay carnival of Friday and Saturday presaged the breaking down of eastern supremacy in the Olympic tryouts.

Although there was only a small mid-west representation it left its mark plainly. The 100-yard dash, high-hurdle relay, half-mile relay, 3000-meter steeplechase and javelin throw were taken by the mid-west, while Chicago led home the one-mile relay, but was disqualified for dropping the baton late in the race.

Victories Impressive

It was not the fact of these victories, but the manner that was most impressive. Ohio state, beating as strong a squad of hurdlers as Yale's in the 440-yard relay, indicated what already had been suspected—that Ohio State always can be depended upon to produce something outstanding in the hurdles along the lines of George Guthrie.

Ohio State's sprinters, especially Simpson and Kriss, left a lasting impression. Simpson, once a schoolboy sensation, convinced the skeptics that his 0:09 3-5 "century" dash at the Ohio relays a week ago is not among the doubtful performances. The best in the East were far outclassed by him in the 100-yard race here.

In V. Gist, the Chicago anchor man, was presented one of the great quarter milers of the country. Any man who can come from behind to defeat Launcelot Ross, of Yale, and Ray Barbuti, of Syracuse, runner-up and third man, respectively, in the intercollegiate 440-yard championships must be outstanding.

Oklahoman Stars

The triumph of Harold Keith, the Oklahoman, in the 3000-meter steeplechase brought fourth a probable member of the Olympic team, who had come to eastern attention very little. Keith's time of 10:39 under adverse weather conditions was one of the highly commendable performances of Friday.

Penn State, New York university, Ohio State, Bates and North Carolina came into possession of championships which they never had won. Yale, taking the one-mile college relay trophy, ended a quest of 23 years duration, its last victory in that particular race coming in 1905.

While ten major prizes were shipped to new owners another remained in partial possession of last year's winner. Pennsylvania being forced to share its right to the 440-yard laurels with Penn State. The Nittany Lions, runner-up in five events in 1927, came through with more success during the past week-end, taking one title jointly and the distance medley relay title alone.

RICE BLANKS BAYLOR

Houston, April 30.—(AP)—"Fuzz" Douglas Monday strengthened his position as the southwest conference's foremost twirler by whipping the Rice Owls, 6 to 0, in a game that was a battle royal until the eighth, when Abies became unsteady and his mates failed him. Coach Jennings' Baylor charges shoving over four tallies.

DAILY DOPE

By LARRY DAILEY

NO SOONER had the Spudders lost yesterday's ball game, which was two in a row, than they started that old query, "What's wrong with the Spudders?" Well, I don't think there is a lot wrong with them. Losing two ball games doesn't mean a team has gone all to pieces—they're up there within half a game of the lead. That ball club that rode to glory last season is almost intact and it won't disintegrate this speedily.

There is, however no denying that the champions aren't playing the sort of ball that will win another pennant. That is, they are not hitting. There you have the nub of the situation and it doesn't require such an expert such as this writer, if any, who is only a fan like the rest of you, to tell what is wrong with the Spudders.

SUPERB PITCHING and excellent fielding carried the Spudders to the top. They beat Fort Worth last week, thanks to airtight chucking and defensive play. They have won practically all their games by superior defensive work. But except for Benton and one or two others the home athletes are not hitting. Such weak offensive work as the tossers have shown doubtless will not last. You know that fellows like Jenkins and Fitzgerald and Lamb aren't going without their base hits for long; that Turgeon and Swenson are going to smack that ball hard and often. Well, then, is there anything wrong with the Spudders? Methinks not, only a slump from which they soon will recover.

While the Texas league clubs are playing to form, with the three most strongly reckoned nines setting the pace, affairs in some other minor loops are such as cause wonderment. Memphis is tied for the lead in the Southern association, with Little Rock third, which is contrary to all traditions of John Martin's circuit. And resting in the last three places are New Orleans, Nashville and Atlanta, who history tells us are pennant or first division contenders.

INDIANAPOLIS is second to Kansas City in the American association, which is a place the Indians haven't occupied for a long time. And on the other end of the wheel is Toledo, the 1927 champions, occupying last place along with the Milwaukee Brewers, who with Kansas City fought the Mud Hens for the flag down to getaway day last year. So we are lucky at that to have our own champion Spudders up in the race.

SHARKEY STOPS DELANEY IN 1ST

Bremen Crew See Sailor Score Speedy Win

By FRANK GETTY.

NEW YORK, April 30. (UP)—In the presence of the crew of the trans-Atlantic airplane Bremen and a crowd of 20,000 in Madison Square garden, Jack Sharkey of Boston, knocked out Jack Delaney tonight.

The spectacular knockout, which ended the bout before the first round was half over, left the French-Canadian groveling in great pain on the canvas, while Sharkey, weeping hysterically, clutched the ropes in a neutral corner.

Delaney did not put a glove on the Bostonian during the brief fight and for the first time in his career the Bridgeport boxer, former light-heavyweight champion of the world, heard the cat-calls of a derisive and hostile crowd in his ears as soon as he could be assisted from the ring.

Sharkey's Own Style.

Sharkey, still weeping from excitement, nearly fell in his own corner as his seconds threw their arms around him and tried to quiet him.

For once the big Lithuanian fought the kind of fight he himself chose, and it proved just the proper dose for disposing of Delaney.

When the bell rang for the start of the first round, Delaney stood in his corner as though dazed, and it took a second clang to get him going. Sharkey rushed at him, and began to swing overhand rights to the head.

Delaney Retreats.

Delaney, outweighed 14 pounds, backed away and shifted to avoid the swings, instead of stepping in with left counters as he might have. Finally Sharkey landed a couple of looping rights to the jaw, and his opponent was on the run.

Having no need for defense, the Bostonian chased Delaney about the ring and a long right to the jaw sent the French-Canadian sagging to his knees. As he started down, Sharkey drove a left and right to Delaney's unprotected body, and spun the lighter man around like a top.

The Bostonian stepped away and Delaney went down to his hands and knees. He staggered up and clutched at Sharkey, who fought loose and again dropped the Bridgeport boxer with fierce rights and lefts to jaw and body.

Under a drum-fire of punches, Delaney went to the canvas again.

On his hands and knees, eyes glazed, mouth-piece dangling, his jaw drooping, blood running from one ear and his face livid, Delaney gazed bewilderedly towards a corner as though for advice. But he was looking towards Sharkey's corner and didn't know it.

Just a Punching Bag.

The French-Canadian managed to paw his way to his feet before the count reached ten, but he was in such shape that he made nothing but a miserable punching bag for Sharkey.

Terrific body punching rendered Delaney practically unconscious on his feet, and he sank slowly, trembling, to the canvas for the third time. Sharkey punched him until the Bridgeport boxer was down, and then ran to a corner.

The Bostonian cried as he had when the fight with Harry Wills was stopped by Patsy Haley.

Delaney was obviously in great pain, and shook like a leaf in his dressing room, unable to understand what had happened.

As for Sharkey, he calmed down just enough to announce that he will fight like this from now on, and win himself the heavyweight championship yet.

Ritt's Ritticisms

By BILL RITT

Now that the school boys have taken to the boats, some of our most noted college athletes are rowing nowhere in a hurry.

Rivers are so full of oars and speeding shells, fish circles report alarm over the new traffic problem.

Most shells are equipped with eight oars and a megaphone. The guy with the megaphone sits in back but has front view. His hardest job is to keep his adjectives free from his pronouns.

He does all the talking while the other boys perspire. After leaving school he should become a congressman.

Once in a while during a rowing race a boat hits a bridge. The bridge always wins and the rowers take a bath. That's why the races are always held on Saturday.

Some of these shells cost 3000 platters apiece so when an uneducated log rams a collegiate craft it's a marine disaster of no mean proportions.

A Lucky Drink

DETROIT.—Fate was kind to Florence Kohout and her parents when it caused her to walk in her sleep in quest of a drink of water. After turning on the faucet the girl collapsed. This woke her father who found the house filled with gas. Nearly overcome by the fumes he crawled to the house of a neighbor. Police revived him and his daughter with a pulmotor, while Mrs. Kohout was rushed to a hospital where she too was brought back to consciousness.

Red Lefty

Eppa Rixey, star leftie with the Cincinnati Reds, was born at Culpepper, Va., May 3, 1891.

Rixey began his professional baseball career in the National league and has remained there ever since. He was with the Phillies from 1912 to 1920 when he was traded to Cincinnati for Greasy Neale and Jimmy Ring.

Before going into professional ball Rixey pitched for the University of Virginia.

HALLAS TAKES LONG GRAPPLE

Billy Defeats Gipsy Smith In Straight Falls

Billy Hallas won another mat match last night at the Gym—but the Greek had strenuous going before he finally was victor. Gipsy Smith, from Birmingham, England, flashed speed and science in his first match here. But superior strength and stamina of Hallas prevailed and he was victor in two straight falls.

Hallas took the second and decisive fall in 15 minutes with a merry-go-'round whirl, after winning the first fall in an hour and a minute.

Hallas won the first fall, one of the longest that has been grappled here in many a month, in one hour and one minute. Two headlocks that weakened Smith enabled Hallas to hurl his adversary to the canvas and take the fall with a body slam.

Smith, in the United States only three months, insisted on grappling Police Gazette rules, which is straight wrestling, and the so-called "New York commission rules," which permits about anything, was banned.

Hallas weighed 148 pounds, six pounds heavier than Gipsy.

Country Boy Owens, or Cowboy Owens as he was introduced last night, won his fourth start in as many engagements when he defeated Lem Lewis in a lively encounter of three rounds in the boxing feature.

Henry Adams and Jim Beard boxed two rounds, Johnny Owens stopped Kenneth Adams in the fourth round and Billy Daley and Dick Webb stepped four rounds in other bouts.

Kiwanis Told Of Forestry Needs

The Kiwanis club luncheon Monday noon at the Kemp hotel assembled like a lumberjack convention when Walter B. Taylor spoke on "Reforestation." Mr. Taylor is assistant manager of the Galbraith-Foxworth Lumber company.

The local lumberman made his talk in connection with American Forest week, nationally observed the week of April 30 to May 6.

Prophesying that it could be a matter of only a few years before lumber and forest products would be very high, Mr. Taylor urged his hearers to do their bit toward the encouragement of reforestation.

R. M. Pitcher and D. L. Naylor were introduced as new members of Kiwanis club.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, April 30. (AP)—The cotton market showed continued apprehension over new crop prospects today. Early declines were followed by advances which established new high prices for the movement on all positions. Contracts for July delivery sold up from 20.77 to 21.49 or 50 points net higher, and closed at 21.39, the general market closing steady at net advances of 35 to 44 points.

There was considerable selling at the start on reports of better weather in the South over Sunday. First prices were 15 to 21 points lower, active months showing net losses of 18 to 22 points after the call under realizing or liquidation, while there also appeared to be some selling for a reaction on the reported absence of rainfall in the belt on Saturday and Sunday.

May eased off to 21.07 and October to 20.65 under these early offerings, which seemed to be readily absorbed at the decline, and prices turned upward shortly after the opening.

Prices reached the highest levels of the day and present movement in late trading, when May sold at 21.71 and October at 21.43, or 46 to 57 points net higher and about 65 to 75 points above the low levels of the morning. These prices attracted renewed realizing and the close showed reactions of 10 or 12 points from the best.

Liverpool cables reported local, London and Continental liquidation in the market there, but a slightly better cloth inquiry from India.

Exports today were 18,901 bales, making 6,426,411 so far this season. Port receipts 19,582. U. S. port stocks 1,487,624.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, April 30. (AP)—Stimulated by adverse crop reports and fears of a recurrence of bad weather, cotton became extremely active today after an early dip of about a dollar a bale, advancing nearly $4 a bale from the early lows and closing with a net gain of $2.50 on the day's trading.

Speculative demand for the staple was also a contributing factor in the upward movement that saw new high levels reached for the movement and new crop months above the 21-cent level. July after an early dip of 21 points to 20.55 advanced 70 points to 21.25 and closed at 21.22, 46 points net higher for the day. The general market closed strong, 37 to 50 points up from the previous close.

Prices opened 18 to 21 points down, July at 20.55, October 20.28 and December 20.29, the day's lows, on poor cables and reports of favorable weather in the belt over the week-end. Prices turned upward shortly afterward on the official weather forecast for unsettled and showery weather for the western belt. This trend was maintained throughout the session with only occasional reactions until late in the afternoon July traded up to 21.25; October to 21.05 and December 21.04, 70 to 77 points above the early lows and 47 to 53 points up from the previous close.

Slight realizing developed at the close but October closed firm at 20.97, a 50-point gain, and December at 20.95, a 48-point gain.

Several items in the day's trade news affected the market. Unfavorable crop reports came from all sections of the belt while Arkansas and west Tennessee reported heavy rains. One private authority estimated the acreage increase at only 4.2 per cent over last year.

Grain

By THOMAS TEMPLE HOYNE
Universal Service

CHICAGO, April 30.—Corn came to life today and shot upward 4 cents. Wheat sold up into new high ground, the May future touching $1.71½. A board of trade membership sold at $17,500, the record price for all time.

At the close wheat was up 3 to 3⅜c; corn was 4 to 4⅜c higher; oats were ½ to 1⅛c higher; rye was up ½ to 2c.

It was a wild day in both the wheat and corn markets. Commission houses were advising customers to take profits on the bulge in wheat, and all during the session millions of bushels were poured into the pit.

The market took the liquidation like a desert sucking up a pail of water, and toward the close seemed as thirsty as ever for more.

Today, the first of the new month, private reports on the condition of the winter wheat crop are due. That these will be extremly bullish goes without saying. The idea seemed to prevail, however, that there might be a reaction when the anticipated news came out.

Perhaps, but the action of the market suggested that it is in a healthy condition because of the heavy selling, and unless it shoots up into new high ground right at the outset, it may not have the setback expected by so many in the trade.

Call Money Rate Advance Puts Stop to Climb in Sales On New York Stock Exchange; Oils Active

BY BROADEN WALL
Universal Service Financial Expert

NEW YORK, April 30.—Jump in the call money to 5 per cent halted advance in the stock market today. Standard Oil of New York was the outstanding feature of early strength moving to a new high in record volume of turnover. It was followed by other oils as that group practically monopolized trading attention. The balance of the market evidenced further advance in the first hour but then the banks started calling loans.

In all a total of $40,000,000 accomodations were called in with the result that while commission houses reported the public buying in goodly amount, the list turned more irregular as the session progressed. Delaware and Hudson attracted interest to the rails by a temporary flurry, while here and there favored specialities moved forward in a general soft industrial department.

Sterling and the Japanese yen sold off in an otherwise quiet and fairly firm foreign exchange market. Wheat remained the feature of an advancing grain market with further bullish weather advices in circulation. The weather news was responsible for recovery of cotton from early decline.

Advance in the call rate was regarded as temporary. The two main factors were the huge dividend and interest payments scheduled for tomorrow and the necessity of banks to prepare for the bi-weekly adjustment as of tomorrow afternoon. Interest and dividend payments tomorrow will be the largest for any May 1 in history. As soon as the checks are received they will add to the surplus of funds seeking investment and tend to early resumption of favorable money conditions. However, the measures adopted by the reserve system to quiet speculation in securities must be credited with partial responsibility for the higher rate. Selling of government securities and higher rediscount rate in other districts have lessened the amount of funds available for the stock market and promise to effect avalable for the stock market and promise to effect gradually increasing influence on the cost of money here.

Standard Oil of New York was the most active issue of the session and in the first hour promised to repeat the rather sensational advance of Saturday. It was taken in big blocks at steadily advancing price. It was followed closely by Standard of New Jersey but the belief that these two stocks would draw closer together in price remained unchanged. Sinclair, Barnsdall and other independents also moved higher early in the session but their gains were more than wiped out in the general reaction that was influenced by money conditions.

Curb

Leading Issues on New York Market

NEW YORK, April 30. (AP)—Buying was in heavy volume and prices moved upward in the curb market today under the leadership of the oil stocks. Increase in the call money rate to 6 per cent and the calling of $40,000,000 in loans by banks caused profit taking and some recessions at noon, but the list generally was strong. The ticker ran 25 to 40 minutes behind the market.

Standard Oil of Indiana led the oils, rising about 3 points to a new top at 83⅝, accompanied by Venezuela Petroleum, Prairie, Gulf and Leonard. Humble was under pressure, selling off nearly 3 points. Darby Petroleum advanced to the year's high and gains were shown by Margary, Creole Petroleum, Mexico, Ohio and others.

Bancitaly again was the feature of the industrial group, rising about 6 points to a new top at 223, although its gains subsequently was cut to 2 points. Mining and metal shares also were strong, Mattuc Denn and New Jersey Zinc invading new high territory. New Mont Mines was at its previous high.

Substantial gains were reported by Bohn Aluminum, Hercules Powder, Melville Shoe, Atlantic Fruit, Central Aguirre Sugar, General Baking preferred and Fedders Manufacturing A.

* The utilities showed group strength with American Super Power B, Cities Service, Pen Water and Power, Southeastern Power and Southeastern Power & Light at new highs.

AUDIT VOTE SET THURSDAY

Kerr Settlement Delayed By Commissioners

Contracts amounting to $18,500 were awarded by the Wichita county commissioners court in session Monday, while a trust fund of about the same amount remained tied up, pending final settlement of the accounts of A. F. Kerr, former district clerk.

The contracts include one awarded R. B. Sparks of Dallas for graveling a roadway in precinct Four (Electra), on an estimate of $17,800 and another given the R. B. George Road Machinery company of Dallas for road machinery costing $980. Burgess and Gilstrap of Iowa Park were unsuccessful bidders on the road contract. Only one bid on the road machinery was submitted.

Approved Thursday

Siging of the settlement proposals for the Kerr accounts, drawn up Judge R. O. Kenley, was deferred until Thursday morning at 10 o'clock, when L. L. Kuntz of Iowa Park went to Montague county as witness in a criminal case. Members of the court believed a full membership should be present before action was taken.

On the basis of settlement proposed by Judge Kenley, heirs of the former district clerk will receive from Wichita county $3,463.03 and all delinquent tax fees in suits filed from January 1, 1924 to the time of Mr. Kerr's death in 1926. The amount of delinquent tax fees will be between $600 and $1,000, it is estimated. About $670 in fees already has been collected.

The Kerr estate, for its part, must agree to relinquishment of all claims to the $18,500 trust fund now being held by the district clerk. T. R. Boone, attornev for the estate, explained that the heirs had never laid any claim to the trust fund.

Weeth Bonds Isesued

Judge Kenley's settlement figures were reached after a study of several audits of county records for the years in controversy.

The commissioners court also passed an order for the issuance of bonds for $20,000 voted by the Weeth consolidated common school district several weeks ago. The proceeds from the bonds are to be used in "construction, repairing and equiping" school buildings in that district. All new buildings must be of brick or stone, the court ruled.

FACES PRO CHARGE.

C. C. York of Vernon was charged in federal court Monday with the possession of whiskey and the possession and sale of beer. The man was released on $750 bond. The arrest was made by the sheriff's department of Wilbarger county.

Ye Olde Gallus Is Now Collegiate

He Who Wears Both Pessimistic, Say Studes

BY GRADY SNUGGS
College Correspondent

Suspenders, ranging in color from the somberness of black or the purity of white to the prismatic colors of the rainbow, are to be seen and heard in the corridors of the Junior college building as the frolicsomeness of spring invades the blood of the more daring of the masculine sex.

Suspenders, long and short, crossed and straight, broad and narrow, in fact all kinds of suspenders or "galluses" are to be seen. He who wears a belt only is defined as conservative; he who wears only suspenders, as progressive, and he who indulges in both, as either a pessimist or a sheik.

From all indications the renewed fad started with the adoption of black and white suspenders by the high school seniors as an unofficial part of their senior costumes.

Those scholastics who as yet have not ventured out upon project seem to gain a most unreasonable joy from snapping all suspenders that come in their range, say the victims.

"There never did and never will exist anything permanently noble and excellent in a character which was a stranger to the exercise of resolute self-denial."
—Walter Scott.

Four elective officers of the 1929 Wai-Kun staff were chosen at the Junior college assembly Monday morning with Mack Thomas, Jr., heading the list as editor-in-chief. Harrold Diggs was elected managing editor, Jim Tom Barton, business manager, and Gaylord Giles, photographer. All officers were elected without one disenting vote.

It is customary to elect annual officers in the spring so that they might be working on the layout of the book during the spring and summer months. The photographer also has the vacation season to get pictures in.

These officers elected Monday mornin- together with Miss Verna Sellers, faculty sponsor, and R. O. Jonas, faculty business sponsor, will select other staff members this spring and early next fall.

COLLEGE AND HIGH SCHOOL PLAN SENIOR WEEK

With only four more weeks to go until all will be over, scholastically speaking, seniors of Junior college and high school are making extensive plans for observance of senior week.

Maurice Allred, high school senior class president, announced Monday morning at class meeting that the social committee would have complete charge of preparations for senior week. The committee is composed of Katherine Weldon, Frank Bain, Katherine Keller, Mary Beth Sharpe, Kenneth Keith, and Merle Trigg. Dates and affairs have been decided on but as yet the places are not definite.

In the Junior college sophomore meeting Professor R. O. Jonas, class sponsor, received an ovation from the class when he invited the class to a sunrise breakfast to be given by Mr. and Mrs. Jonas during senior week. In order to settle the question of a class memorial to be left to the school, President Fred T. Couper called a meeting of the committee, Maurice Mount, Jewell Jennings, William Warren and Howard Shepherd, which will be held Wednesday morning. For further preparations a meet... was called for Tuesday mornin- of the finance committee composed of Mabelle Moore, Charlotte Keevil, Mary Alice Bone and Oyama Gose.

Plans are also under way for the observance of the "golden spade" tradition, a tradition that hinges around the spade with which the first dirt was turned in the ground-breaking ceremony at the beginning of the Junior college building. Each year the spade is transferred from the sophomore president to the freshman president, thus handing down the traditions of the institution. An appropriate program is being planned for this occasion.

SCHOOLS HEAR CLUB SPEAKERS

Advancement in Education Urged by Rotarians

Continuing the observance of Boys' Week, the Wichita Falls Rotary club opened the second day of its program, Boys' Day in School, by sending speakers to the schools in the city to urge the necessity of securing an education.

In the grade schools the speakers spoke to the sixth grade boys urging them to continue their education and go into junior high school next year. In the eighth grade of the junior high school it was urged that boys go into senior high school next fall. In each of the schools all talks were based on the advisability of the continuation of securing an education at public expense.

Plans have been made, according to J. Wilkie Talbert, chairman of the program, to have speakers to address the graduating classes of the senior high school and the junior college some time this week.

The next day of the program will be Boys' Day in Citizenship, when the boys of the city will be the guests of the Rotary club and will provide the program for the day at the luncheon.

Boys' Day in Athletics will be observed Saturday afternoon at the junior college when an athletic field day will be held in which the boys will participate in athletic contests and races.

Measles Leads in City Quarantine Report

If Wichita Falls keeps up its rate of quarantine this year in proportion to the pace set last week, the number will be almost trebled, according to reports issued Monday at the office of Dr. L. I. Lucey, city health director. In the week ending Saturday night, for which Monday's report was made, the number of quarantines was 52. In the fiscal year ending March 31, the total was 948.

Measles was the most popular disease for the week as 31 were quarantined, and also for the yeas when 420 were quarantined.

County Delinquent Tax To Show Increase

Delinquent taxes on the county rolls for the year ending March 31 will be less than they have ever before been in this county, according to Guy C. Raley, county tax collector, who Monday was engaged in preparing his annual report.

Practically all of the larger delinquent accounts have been paid, Mr. Raley said. The last of the larger delinquent tax accounts owing Wichita county probably would be settled before the end of the week, he said.

Ad Club to Hear Champ Declaimers

The Advertising club of Wichita Falls will observe Boys' Week at its meeting Tuesday noon at the Kemp hotel, according to J. W. Pyland, program chairman. Louis Bond and Kathleen Cason, high school champion declaimers of the district, will furnish the program, and will give their winning declamations.

900 BLOCK ON INDIANA SECTION

WICHITA FALLS, TEXAS, TUESDAY, MAY 1, 1928

BUSINESS CENTER HAS OPEN HOUSE

INDIANA 900 BLOCK IS NEW MONEY CENTER

Many New Business Concerns Are Located Here

Several of the business concerns that have come to Wichita Falls during the past two years have secured locations in the newer shopping district in the 900 block on Indiana avenue, a recent survey of the growth of Wichita Falls shows.

Of all the downtown district the 900 block on Indiana has been the scene of the most building activity during the past three years. Business concerns in the block have been among the most progressive in the city.

This week the business establishments of the block are cooperating in welcoming the people of Wichita Falls and vicinity to that part of the city's shopping district and are offering many special bargains.

Up-to-Date Stocks At Sanderfords

Sanderford's Booterie, 911 Indiana avenue, has been in business in Wichita Falls since 1922, and before moving to the present location was at 824 Indiana.

The concern specializes in women's fine shoes and hosiery and has its stock made up from styles and leather on special orders to the manufacturers of shoes. Types, colors and leather are selected by Mr. Sanderford and one large stock is kept new and fresh because the shipments arrive by express daily.

The present store is much larger and better than the concern had in the old location. Mr. Sanderford reports that the business of the store has grown each year and that a better class of merchandise, with a highest type of service, has been responsible for the success of the establishment.

The hosiery department is one of the best in the city and only high grade products are offered customers.

Experienced shoe salesmen give much attention to customers because it is a policy of the store that each customer must have shoes that fit perfectly before leaving the establishment.

Tricket Company Deals In Exclusive Leather

The Trickett Trunk and Bag company, 913 Indiana avenue, is an exclusive leather goods concern and is all that the name indicates, for practically all kinds of trunks and leather luggage is for sale at the store, according to Gail E. Trickett, president and manager.

The company opened for business at the present location October 21, 1927, and is incorporated under the laws of the state of Texas.

Included in the stock is a complete line of everything in hand luggage, wardrobe trunks, packing trunks and a large array of small leather goods.

The establishment also has a gift and novelty department, which is the most complete in northwest Texas or southwest Oklahoma.

Handbags, hat boxes, Gladstones, ladies' cases, fitted and unfitted; brief cases, catalogue cases and many other kinds of leather goods for traveling or for the salesmen, all carried in stock.

Mr. Trickett and R. W. Peyton are both experienced in leather goods, having been in that line of business for a number of years.

BUSY DAY

Shoppers Crowd 900 Block on Indiana Avenue

Shopping crowds were very much in evidence in the 900 block on Indiana Avenue Saturday, according to merchants in the block, who reported that business was brisk practically all during the day.

The newer shopping district of the city, which includes the 900 block on Indiana avenue, is attracting many more people than in the past because the block is well represented in practically every line of business endeavor.

Some of the city's most representative stores are located in the 900 block on Indiana and many of the buildings are new and modern.

LATE STYLES ARE FEATURED

Kimberlin's Keeps Pace With Age

Kimberlin's, 918 Indiana avenue, exclusive southern apparel, has had a remarkable growth since the opening of the concern in October 27, 1919. The first location was in a building at the corner of Indiana and Tenth street. The concern moved to 818 Indiana in August, 1922, and to the present location in September, 1925, according to Sam Kimberlin, owner of the establishment.

The floor space of the store is now approximately 25,000 square feet, and there are several departments on both the lower floor and the balcony. On the lower floor are the ready-to-wear, accessory, novelty, economy shop, dressmaking and hosiery departments. On the balcony, beauty parlor, baby shop and the millinery departments.

Kimberlin's has a connection with one of the world's largest buying syndicates and receives the latest creations and styles daily by express from New York.

The concern started with a capitalization of $5,000 in 1919 and employed four people. At the present time the store employs 25 sales people and carries a stock of merchandise valued at $40,000 to $50,000.

Other Kimberlin stores are in Oklahoma City and Ponca City, Oklahoma.

Federal Clothing Store One of Large Chain

The Federal Clothing store, 907 Indiana avenue, is one of a chain of 95 stores located in various cities from Maine to Texas, and doing millions of dollars worth of busines annually, according to H. W. Symonds, local manager.

The Federal chain of stores was started 33 years ago in Troy, N. Y., and during the years the system has expanded until at the present time several stores of the concern are in operation in southwestern cities.

The local store of the company has been in operation here for several months and is one of the most popular credit concerns in north Texas. The merchandise is in keeping with the policy of the owners that only good clothing be sold in any of its stores.

All the fixtures are new and modern and the store is well arranged for the display of its merchandise.

Mr. Symonds has had several years of experience in the credit clothing business and is one of the best known managers of credit stores in the southwest.

Peppy Amusements Are Recreation Club's Assets

The Recreation Club, Inc., 916½ Indiana avenue, is one of the most up-to-date clubs of its kind in the southwest. In the club room there are many different kinds of amusements, including pocket and carom billiards, dominoes, reading and writing room, lunches and fountain drinks.

Baseball returns by innings of the National, American and Texas leagues are received by ticker service from the Western Union special baseball wire.

The equipment of the club is all new and modern. The club has a large membership.

MUSIC STORE SHOWS GROWTH

Wichita Co. Here for 20 Years

The Wichita Music company, 920 Indiana avenue, is one of the leading stores of its kind in northwest Texas and southwest Oklahoma. The growth of this popular Wichita Falls institution has been gradual and it has always enjoyed the confidence of the people of this city and surrounding territory, according to K. O. Williams, owner of the concern.

It was in December, 1908, that Mr. Williams moved his store to this city from Bowie. The first location in the city was at 800 Indiana, where Mr. Williams sold pianos and during the days when business was not so brisk he tuned pianos.

Today the Wichita Music company is rated as the largest music house north of Fort Worth in Texas and there is not a music concern in southwest Oklahoma as large as the store here.

The musical teachers of Wichita Falls and vicinity have nothing but praise for Mr. Williams and the Wichita Music company, as he has been doing business with many of them for 20 years or more.

The Wichita Music company has the local agency for many of the world's best musical instruments.

The concern does not make special prices to any individual, but has the same price for all customers who seek to obtain certain products, Mr. Wilson declares.

Among the products sold by the concern are William Knabe grand pianos, Ivers and Pond pianos and other famous makes.

Other products are phonograph records, music teacher supplies, sheet music and books, guitars, mandolins, ukuleles, banjos, violins, in fact everything for those who are interested in music.

Wichita Floral Co. Holds High Rating

The Wichita Floral company, 909 Indiana avenue, was established February 21, 1920, by E. A. Bebb and associates when the greenhouses of the Downing interests were purchased. On April 3, 1920, the Wichita Floral company opened its downtown store at 706 Ninth street, and remained at that location until April 10, 1927, when the concern moved to its present location.

The local floral company is one of the largest in the southwest and there is only one other florist in the state of Texas that has the volume of business done by the Wichita Floral company, according to E. A. Bebb, manager and co-owner.

The store is equipped with the most modern florist equipment and fixtures obtainable. The concern also has its own nursery and greenhouses. Thousands of plants are placed on the market each year that come from the company's nursery.

The green houses are located at 1706 Ninth street and are under the supervision of Kenneth Bebb.

The company is a member of all national florists organizations and has a good business throughout the year.

Honor High School Pupils Named at Mangum

Reese, principal, announced that six students of Mangum High school, all of whom are girls, have made an average of more than 90 per cent. First honors in the field of scholarship place Miss Gwendolyn Thompson as valedictorian of this year's senior class, with an average of 94.39. Miss Nell Covington, who ran a close race with an average of 94.07, is salutatorian. Commencement exercises will be held Thursday evening, May 17. Operators of Grant Chain Stores Take Interest in Civic Affairs

To have what the customers want, when they want it, and at a price they are willing to pay is the rule on which all W. T. Grant company stores are operated," said K. W. Tolman, manager of the local store at 914 Indiana.

It is their ambition to serve the communities in which they are located, with the newest and best goods which can be sold within the Grant price limit of one dollar.

It is their effort to bring the better things of life to a greater number of people by making it possible to purchase these things more reasonably. They try sincerely to live up to their name, "the Real Economy stores."

"Among Grant buyers is a standing rule that nothing must be purchased just because it can be sold. Everything purchased must either meet a visible demand, or an acknowledged need, or the purchase must be an effort to bring existing items within the lower price limit.

"Grant stores have increased the buying power of millions of customers. The fact that the Grant chain has grown in 21 years from a small store in 1906 to a great chain of today, reaching from Maine to Texas, and from Wisconsin to the gulf, attests this statement.

"An intergral part of the cities in which its stores are located, the W. T. Grant company is interested in the growth and development of those cities. It realizes that unless those cities grow and prosper it cannot succeed. It is therefore interested in anything for the development of those communities.

"All Grant managers are members of the chamber of commerce of their respective towns. The Grant stores are willing to co-operate with community affairs. Only local salesgirls are employed in Grant stores. Whenever towns having Grant stores produce items which can be sold by the chain, Grant buyers are glad to avail themselves of such production."

NO HOME TOO LARGE—OR TOO SMALL—TO PROFIT!

The gigantic cooperative sale by the merchants in the 900 block on Indiana avenue is the first event of its kind to be staged in Wichita Falls, if not in the entire country. All of the merchants in this business block are offering special values to the people of Wichita Falls and Northwest Texas in a big "bargain festival" Tuesday. The 900 block on Indiana is composed of stores and shops offering an almost unlimited variety of merchandise—at a most complete range of prices.

IDEAL PLANT FOR FURNITURE

McConnell Bros. Largest In Southwest

McConnell Brothers, 915-17-19 Indiana avenue, is one of the southwest's largest home furnishing concerns. The building occupied by the firm is considered an ideal plant for a furniture store. It has several large display windows on the lower floor and the second floor display windows show the progressiveness of F. E. and L. E. McConnell, owners of the establishment.

The store was founded in 1908, and since that time has always had a good business. The growth of the concern has been gradual. McConnell Brothers have always sold the very best of merchandise at reasonable prices and enjoy the confidence of the buying public.

Within the building there is more than 35,000 square feet of floor space, all of which is utilized for the large stock of merchandise which the establishment has on display for customers.

Elevator service is maintained to lift customers from the first to the second and third floors of the building.

The stock of merchandise is so complete that every item of furniture needed in this home may be selected from the stock at one visit of a customer. The many different types of furniture, rugs and other necessities of the home may be selected from a $75,000 stock in a much shorter time by patrons than formerly.

The stock is neatly and attractively arranged and is kept in the best condition possible at all times.

A visit to McConnell Brothers is well worth while.

McConnell Brothers also have one of the largest and most complete furniture stores in Dallas.

The traction company in making the repairs along the 900 block on Indiana has been able to speed up its service in that block and on Tenth street in the business section.

The 900 block on Indiana avenue is now one of the best improved blocks in the downtown district. It is the intention of the traction company to make other repairs as rapidly as possible in many other parts of the city.

After robbing the druggist the gunman calmly walked out to the front of the store and told the two customers that the druggist would be out in a minute, that he was filling a prescription in the back.

Womens' Ready-to-Wear Is Specialty At Miller-Ferguson Company

The Miller-Ferguson Company store, Indiana and Tenth, is one of the largest women's stores in the Southwest, and does an extensive business not only with patrons of Wichita Falls but of Southwest Oklahoma and Northwest Texas, according to the records of the concern.

The establishment has one of the most modern stores to be found in this part of the Southwest, and specializes in all kinds of women's wearing apparel.

The store has been in active operation for several years at its present location and each year the business of the concern has shown a big increase both in the turnovers in merchandise and in finances.

The Miller-Ferguson company has one of the best means of securing the latest merchandise, because of the fact that one member of the firm spends the greater part of the year in New York where each garment is personally selected by Claude Miller, one of the owners of the company.

Mr. Miller has had many years of experience in the women's ready-to-wear business in several southwestern cities and is in very close touch with the actual needs of the women of this section.

Quality Merchandise

The concern has several departments on the lower floor and at all times customers are to be seen in the store selecting wearing apparel. The store carries a large stock of merchandise that is representative of the world's best manufacturers. Every piece of merchandise in this popular establishment has been selected for the people of this section by an expert.

N. A. Ferguson is in active charge of the establishment, and is always ready and willing to assist any patron in the selecting of any particular piece of merchandise.

Mr. Ferguson has had wide experience in the business in which he is engaged, having been in the same kind of business in other southwestern cities before opening the store here with Mr. Miller.

"Quality merchandise at a price you can afford to pay," apparently is the keynote of the success of the store, for, all of the merchandise is of excellent quality and is reasonably priced.

Although the main store is featured in all kinds of the better class of merchandise, the bargain basement is just as popular with customers of the establishment.

The bargain basement has many bargains that are sold at close margins of profit, and the turnovers in merchandise in this part of the store are numerous during the year.

The bargain basement has two entrances, one from the Tenth street side and the other from the main store. The two entrances make it easy for customers of the store to enter the bargain basement.

During the week the Miller-Ferguson company has arranged to give the women of this section an opportunity to secure merchandise at real savings and has arranged to give the acme of service.

The Miller-Ferguson company always welcomes visitors.

VISION BUILDS STORE CHAIN

Perkins-Timberlake in 30th Year

The Perkins-Timberlake company store, Ninth and Indiana avenues, has been in operation more than a quarter of a century and is one of the largest department stores in northwest Texas and southwest Oklahoma.

At Decatur, Texas, 30 years ago, a small store opened its doors to the public. Behind this venture were men of vision and they made a marked success in the mercantile business, for at the present time the men associated with the Perkins-Timberlake stores own establishments in approximately 30 cities.

Confidence in the stores in each of the cities has caused the growth of the separate stores and it is not because of better merchandise at a lower price, but rather because of the ideals and policies which the stores have always maintained.

The little "Red Store" in Decatur, opened by J. J. Perkins and associates in 1897, had 2500 square feet of floor space. Today the Perkins-Timberlake syndicate has 300,000 square feet or more of floor space and employs more than 500 sales people and does a business of approximately $20,000,000 annually. The present store building was occupied in 1922.

The Perkins-Timberlake company has been associated with every progressive movement for the betterment of Wichita Falls.

Spoonts Store No. 3 Shows Business Gain

The Spoonts Drug store No. 3, 901 Indiana avenue, is considered one of North Texas' most complete drug stores. Before the Perkins-Snider building was elected special plans were drawn for the store. Its interior arrangement is said to be ideal, there being plenty of passageways and modern fixtures for the display of practically all of the merchandise of the concern, according to J. M. Spoonts, owner.

One of the chief features of the store is the prescription department where pure drugs are kept ready for the compounding of any prescription that is sent to the department.

A large fountain equipped with every modern appliance for rendering good service in conveniently located. Light lunches are served. Books and magazines of the leading publishers are on sale at the store.

The store has a large cigar, cigarette and smokers supply department and does a large business in tobaccos.

Mr. Spoonts stated that the business of the store was good and was showing a gradual gain over the same period of 1927. The store has many items listed below the regular selling price, he declared.

A gala week!

The 900 block on Indiana avenue is inviting all Wichita Falls and vicinity to pay the stores a visit during the coming week, when merchants in that block will offer special inducements and bargains galore all during the week.

Starting at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon the merchants will be awaiting your visit and will be glad to take patrons through their establishments and show them the many interesting products to be found.

All during the past week these merchants in the 900 block on Indiana have been preparing to welcome this week's visitors. They report that all is in readiness, and have passed the word to their sales forces to be ready to serve customer's wants in the shortest time possible.

The 900 block on Indiana avenue is really one of the finest and best shopping districts in the Wichita Falls downtown section and if you have not visited the many shops along both sides of the street you surely have missed some of the most attractive in the city.

Plan to make the trip through the block some time during the week and do a part of your shopping in this new section of the city's shopping district.

Practically every merchant in the 900 block on Indiana is co-operating to give patrons the best service possible and all have prepared to show you all that is new in their stores.

The following stores have joined the co-operative movement to acquaint you with the newer shopping district:

The Olympic theater will have two exceptionally good pictures during the week. Starting Sunday and running through Tuesday "The Beloved Rogue," and Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, "Stand and Deliver," featuring Rod La Rocque, according to T. B. Noble Jr., local manager for the Dent chain of theaters.

John Barrymore takes the leading role in the "Beloved Rogue," which is said to be one of the best pictures shown here in several weeks. The play is in the time of Louis XI of France during the fifteenth century. It is a picture that has received the highest praise from many of the leading cinema critics.

Of course, the romance that features the play is one that will grip your heartstrings. Barrymore is said to be at his best in this kind of play.

Olympic Candy Shop Is Busy Center Here

The Olympic Candy shop, 904 Indiana avenue, is one of the busiest concerns of its kind in Wichita Falls. It is conveniently located in one of the city's best retail centers. Fountain drinks, candies and tobaccos are featured in the business, according to Gene Elliott, owner and manager.

Mr. Elliott purchased the business from George Kerner November 21, 1927. Since the present owner has managed the business it has grown rapidly and at the present time it requires three persons to give the customers prompt service.

Mr. Elliott stated that he was very thankful for the patronage he was receiving from the people of Wichita Falls, and in the future expects to add other confectionery merchandise to the stock carried.

Favorite Jokes of Famous People

As Told by Them to

FRANK ERNEST NICHOLSON

By LEW CODY

Lew Cody's real name is Cote. He studied to be a surgeon in McGill university, but he got a lot bigger kick out of cutting up in the Stanhope Wheatcroft School of Dramatic Acting than he did cutting out in surgery. He finally landed on the stage instead of in a clinic.

Lew's first contract was with a kerosene circuit. He was stranded, marooned, broke and went through all the vicissitudes possible on a tank-town tour. Then he hoofed in vaudeville until he got a part as leading man in a stock company. Next thing the manager knew, Cody owned the show and five other stock companies. I am not certain just what Lew's act was.

He took his first fling in the leaping tintypes opposite Bessie Barriscale. Now he plays the blase man-about-town, and is a big noise with the ladies. Says that to attract a man even the most beautiful woman must have "something." He doesn't know exactly what it's all about, but doesn't doubt it.

Lew is married to Mable Normand, but when speaking of Hollywood marriages, one should end the story with a comma, if not a dash.

He knows few parlor stories, and several about a traveling man. Told me that the following was his favorite joke:

"I know a film producer here in and, to put it brutally plain, a very ignorant man as well.

"One day he was playing a round of golf with a certain bishop, when he made several bad shots and sent bits of the turf flying in every direction. Then he indulged in a burst of profanity.

"The bishop was shocked.

LEW CODY

"'If you don't respect me, sir,' he said, reproachfully, 'you might at least respect the cloth.'

"'Cloth, hell!' snarled the producer, 'we ain't playin' billiards!'"

Funeral services will be held here this afternoon.

Dictator Will Marry

PARIS, April 30. (INS)—Gen. Primo de Rivera, premier-dictator of Spain, will be married to Senorita Mercedes Castellanos on Wednesday, according to a report received from Hendaye today.

PLAN MUSIC WEEK PROGRAM

Wichita Orchestra Plays In Altus

Special to The Record News.

ALTUS, Okla., April 30.—Plans for national music week, May 6 to 12, are being rapidly perfected here by the different clubs of the town under the supervision of the MacDowell club. Arrangements have been completed for programs to be given each night except Friday, May 11, when that evening will be given over to the junior college play at the city auditorium.

Wichitans Appear

One of the outstanding features of the program will be the appearance of the Little Symphony orchestra of Wichita Falls Thursday night in the city auditorium.

The program for the first night, Monday, May 7, will be a Schubert memorial program given by the members of the Schubert Choral club of Altus, assisted by Miss D'Esta White, violinist; Miss Leta Mae Smith of Mangum, pianist; and the Music Lovers club of Quanah. The group of 35 women from Quanah, under the direction of Reverend J. A. McMurray, will give a number of choruses.

Tuesday morning a program will be given at the Curry Music store, according to Mrs. George Gosselin, general manager of the music week observation. The program for Tuesday night will be given by the schools under the supervision of Miss Elouise Austin, high school instructor.

A musical tea given by the MacDowell club at the home of Mrs. M. H. Wooldridge, club president, will be the feature Wednesday afternoon. Musical numbers at the tea will be given by each club in Altus.

May Pole Dance

Towns in Jackson county other than Altus will give the program Wednesday night when the entertainment will again be at the city auditorium. The Little Symphony orchestra of Wichita Falls will appear Thursday night and the junior college play will be given Friday night.

A May pole dance and crowning of a queen will be the program for Late Saturday afternoon. This program will be given under the direction of Miss Elouise Austin and Miss Rob Ben Austin, instructors in the local high school, and Mrs. Ed Kimbell. Community singing for that evening will be under the direction of Kay Henry.

The program for the week will close Sunday night when men's choruses from all churches of Altus will sing. Reverend Jno. O. Ensor, pastor of the First Methodist church, will direct the singing and the program will probably be in the First Baptist church.

Talking Dog Helps as Railroad Station Agent

Not the least among the accomplishments of "Duke," a dog who helps Harry L. Strong run the railroad station at Azalia, Mich., is his ability to talk. The words "yes" and "no" and "hello" are his vocabulary and he knows when to use each of them correctly. In addition he understands some of the Morse code of telegraphy, unlocks doors, stamps tickets, sets the semaphore to halt fast trains, flags slow freights with a red flag and acts as "red cap" in his spare time by carrying luggage for passengers. He is shown above at a few of his tricks.

13 miles east of Holliday, entertained on last Tuesday with a chicken dinner, having as her guests Rev. and Mrs. C. C. Klingman, Mrs. Jennie Brown and her daughter, Miss Maude, of Electra.
