Three Potential Sites Chosen for Steel Smelter

Three potential sites were selected Tuesday for the proposed steel mill at Daingerfield, and indications point to an early approval of the project by the Office of Production Management in Washington as part of the defense program.

Directors of the company sponsoring the $30,000,000 smelting plant reportedly had a representative in the iron ore field all day Tuesday inspecting sites for the location of the plant, and three places were reported selected, one of which it is said will be decided on by the OPM at a later date.

Each of the tentative sites comprises a thousand acres, with an additional two hundred acres nearby for a housing project to accommodate the workers. An expert will survey the locations to decide which will be most suitable for the big plant, and every detail will be taken into consideration.

Farmers are Warned of Frosted Feeds

In an effort to prevent costly livestock losses this winter farmers are being warned against allowing stock to graze too early in feed crops which have been frosted.

Several head of cattle are lost yearly because they are turned up on frosted feed crops, especially second-growth sorghums, it is stated. These losses may be averted if livestock is kept away from the frosted feed for a week to 10 days after killing frosts.

Lamar County Agent A. L. Edmiston says that any sorghum crop, sudan grass, soy beans, cowpeas or Johnson grass will make good feed after being frosted if put into silage. He recommended a trench silo as the most economical.

Winter Launches Its Coldest Drive Since January 19

Temperatures tumbled to a new low for this season Monday when the mercury dropped to 24 degrees above zero, coldest weather experienced here since last January 19. Previous low was 30 degrees on Nov. 10.

Frost every morning this week has been very heavy and ice has been much in evidence.

The cold wave was preceded by heavy rains Friday night and Saturday that put some streams out of banks and generally delayed farm work.

Farmers welcomed the cold, as it killed green leaves on cotton and will make what remains to be picked much easier to find. They also took advantage of the weather to kill their meat hogs, and many smokehouses are now stocked with a supply of meat for the winter.

Farm Scrap Metal Will Be Asked for Defense Products

The Department of Agriculture has announced that farmers throughout the country will be asked to sell their scrap metal for use in defense production.

Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard requested U. S. Department of Agriculture Defense Boards in each state to make plans for their states immediately and enlist the county defense boards in the effort.

Mr. Wickard pointed out that the Office of Production Management has been putting on a drive to increase the flow of scrap metal from the cities. OPM has now requested the aid of the Department of Agriculture in increasing the flow of scrap from the farms.

Well Known Titus Co. Farmer Dies

Streetcar Rails in Paris are Taken Up

Fifty tons of steel will be salvaged in Paris for national defense purposes in a project which got under way Monday. Thirty-nine workers are being used to dig up rails on abandoned streetcar lines in the city, covered for years with an asphalt topping. The job will cost $5,351, with the city of Paris footing the bill for $1,410 and the Works Progress Administration furnishing the remaining $3,941.

Mt. Vernon to Stage Christmas Parade

Plans are underway for the largest Christmas parade ever held in Mt. Vernon on Dec. 9. Bands from Talco, Winnsboro, Mt. Pleasant and Sulphur Springs have promised to appear. Mt. Vernon merchants and civic organizations are preparing floats, many of them patriotic in nature, and a group of horsemen from Winnsboro will ride in the parade. M. F. Fleming is general chairman for the event.

Financial Report of Trojan Games for This Season

Talco Athletic Department, in its financial report of the Mt. Vernon game, announces the gate receipts for the contest amounted to $93.08. From this sum, the following expense items were deducted:

Mt. Vernon Contract	$50.00
Officials	22.50
Lime for field	2.50
Printing tickets	2.50
Federal tax	10.53
Cleaning of uniforms	6.50

Total Expense $94.53
Cost of lighting the field was not included in the expense account.

The athletic department has found that it costs about $100 to play a game on the home field, so it usually takes a top-notch contest, such as the Mt. Pleasant game to get enough fans out to put the Trojans in the clear financially. The Trojans netted above $200 profit on that occasion, but on all other home games, except the Hughes Springs game, have suffered a slight loss. The greatest loss was registered in the Deport game, which amounted to about $26.

Games on the road have brought a slight profit. Food for the team amounts to about $12 per trip and cost of the pep squad averages about $5.00.

Total gate receipts and contracts for all Trojan games this year both at home and on the road are as follows:

Receipts for Home Games
Hughes Springs	$110.05
Deport	48.55
Mt. Pleasant	331.85
Clarksville	78.85
Mt. Vernon	93.08
Total Receipts	$662.38

Receipts of Games Away
Winnsboro	$50.00
Pittsburg	50.00
Gilmer	75.00
Paris	25.00
Total	$200.00

OUR WEEKLY LETTER FROM Lonesome Bill

Dear Editor: I notice in the papers that on account of the national de-fence over here that there will be a shortage of garden seed next spring. First it was aluminum, then it was silk stockings, next it was hair pins, then it was paper and now it is garden seed. I tell you that I cannot understand heads or tails about this here war going on over yonder.

I always thought we growed enough garden seed in this country to plant over two or three times each spring on account of the cut worms and the plow a getting out of the middle and ruining a stand. I also figured that with a war going on over in Europe they wouldn't do much gardening over there, so it looks like we ought to have more garden seed than ever instead of less. It may be though that we are going to let Great Britain have a lot of our cabbage seed and mustard seed and things to drop on Germany so that when they come up they will be a new kind of fifth column, causing the German people to quit eating wood and stuff like they say they eat and start eating vegetables and go on set-down strikes like we are doing.

It would be funny, wouldn't it, if they run out of iron and lead over there and had to start shooting vegetables at one another. It makes me kind of dizzy to think of pumpkins and watermelons and tomatoes and blackeyed peas and sweet potatoes a flying through the air and mowing folks down right and left. If it ever comes to that, some smart aleck will probably make a kind of gas out of onion juice and spray it through the air. But there is a kind of gas in pinto beans that would do more harm if it could be fixed right. I hope they can get this strike business straightened out for once and all over here. If they don't do it pretty soon, I figure on writing my congressman and asking him to tell our army boys to throw down their guns, or brooms, or whatever they are practicing with, and come on back home until the government gets gumption enough to strike the strikers out. I figure it is like this: If Santa Claus ain't going to come, there ain't no use in us hanging up our stockings. Yours truly,

LONESOME BILL.

Many Cases of "Flu" Cause Warning to Guard Against It

Austin.—Fulfilling a prediction made several months ago by the State Department of Health, an epidemic of influenza in Texas is represented by several times as many cases at this time than that shown for the same time in the preceding seven years, according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"Neglecting proper treatment of influenza, or allowing the patient to be up too soon may have disastrous results," Doctor Cox warned, "since persons suffering from influenza are particularly susceptible to other infections."

Doctor Cox emphasized the importance of guarding against "flu"; drinking plenty of water, eating simple, nourishing foods, outdoor exercise, plenty of sleep in a well-ventilated room, and sensible dress according to the weather were stressed as best precautions.

"Pneumonia, frequently resulting from influenza, is a very dangerous complication," Doctor Cox stated, and advised that a patient go to bed immediately upon the first appearance of a cold and place himself under competent medical care.

Talco-Bogata Game Has Been Called Off

Coach Chas. Holden announced on Tuesday that the game with Bogata, scheduled for Friday, had been called off. This ended the season for the Trojans.

Bad weather had previously caused a postponement of the two games. The Bogata school informed Holden the first of the week that they did not wish to play the game.

Hard-Hit Farmers to Receive Aid in Loans and Grants

The Farm Security Administration has directed its Texas-Oklahoma administrator to issue up to $3,400,000 in loans and grants to relieve farmers who had crop failures, Representative Wright Patman said on Wednesday.

The principal area to receive relief, Patman said, was East Texas where bad weather and insects reduced this year's cotton crop to about one-third the normal yield.

C. M. Evans, the Texas-Oklahoma administrator, with headquarters in Dallas, was authorized to spend $100,000 in setting up an office force to carry out the relief program, Patman added.

"Farm security officials assure me that full and adequate relief will be provided every deserving farmer with the allocation to be handled by Evans," the Representative said.

Meat, Eggs, Cheese Short in England

Washington.—Some 250,000 tons of American food are reaching England each month, but even so Secretary of Agriculture Wickard says that an average American could consume an Englishman's weekly ration of fresh meat, bacon, ham, eggs and cheese at one meal "without feeling he'd overeat."

Agriculture department officials said that English housewives can buy all the flour they need and that England was producing all the potatoes and most of the vegetables required, but they added it was this country's job to produce the meat, eggs, and dairy products.

Man Found, Drowned, After 22 Year Search

For 22 years relatives searched for David Mitchell, 85-year-old farmer. They found his body.

Mitchell was drowned last week in a pool behind the home of Mrs. Lilly Gossett at Mt. Pleasant.

Five days after the death, the body was identified at a funeral home by Mrs. G. C. McClanahan, Oklahoma City, and Mrs. Ed Taylor, Muskogee, Okla., daughters of Mitchell, and a daughter-in-law, Mrs. C. C. Mitchell, Dallas. His widow and two sons, C. C. Mitchell and Carl Mitchell, live in Dallas.

The aged farmer left his former home in Lindale 22 years ago, relatives said, and they had not seen him since. They last heard from him 16 years ago.

Cotton Growers to Vote December 13

Farmers are reminded again that cotton growers of the nation will vote Saturday, Dec. 13, on acceptance or rejection of the 1942 cotton marketing quotas.

Two-thirds of the nation's cotton growers must favor quotas to put them into effect again next year.

Trojans Put Steam in Last Half; Beat Mt. Vernon 14-12

Talco High Trojans staged a last-half rally to overcome a twelve-point half-time deficit and rack up a 14 to 12 win in a District 19-A tilt with Mt. Vernon High's Tigers in the Talco stadium last Thursday night. Frank Lindsey, Trojan back, accounted for all of Talco's scoring with two touchdowns and two conversions. Williams and Harris shared equally in the Tiger scoring.

Outweighed exactly twenty pounds to the man, the Trojans had wrestled their heavier opponents for two quarters with the going very much in favor of their opponents, due chiefly to two lucky fumbles which the alert Tigers had pounced upon and followed up with touchdown drives. Unfortunately for the Trojans, though, they failed to make those two extra points and in the final results it cost them heavily.

Soon after the opening of the last half, Clyde Holder, Trojan butterfly, set up the first Talco score when he darted off right tackle, and, finding no opening, after crossing the line of scrimmage, he quickly reversed his field and picking up perfect blocking by a now wide-awake Trojan line, scampered 37 yards to the Mt. Vernon 15-yard line. A pass, Lindsey to Long, was good for 8 yards and Buchanan made a first down around the Tiger left end. Three plays failed to gain and Captain Lindsey, who played his heart out all evening and climaxed his high school football days with the greatest individual performance of his career, faded to chunk a pass. He couldn't find a receiver open and it looked like the drive had ended, but the little fullback was not to be denied that score. Quickly he darted around end, and straight toward the sidelines as the Tiger secondary moved over with him to cut him off. He cut just as he reached the sideline and smashed toward pay dirt four yards away. Three Tigers met him on the 3 yard stripe, but he picked them up and carried them over the goal line with him. A few seconds later, he placekicked the extra point and the score stood at 12-7.

Mr. Vernon elected to receive and Arlen Ivy kicked out of bounds. Taking the ball on their own 35 yard line, the Tigers found a fighting Trojan line, led by Long and Nichols, too tough to pierce and kicked on fourth down. Lindsey almost blocked the kick, and the ball came to rest on the Trojan 45. Buchanan, on a reverse, raced to the 50. Lindsey picked up three through the middle and Holder passed to Long for a first down on the Tiger 38. Buchanan made 3 more around end. Holder picked up 2 yards off tackle and then Lindsey crashed through the middle for 16 yards and a first down on the 17 yard line as the Talco stands went wild. Holder whirled around end for 5 yards and in two tries off tackle Lindsey made a first down on the Tiger 6. Three tries made only 2 yards, and on fourth down Lindsey took the ball and once more raced toward the sidelines. Once more he cut just as he reached the sideline and once more the same three Tigers were waiting for him. Once more he met them with the power of a speeding express train and hauled them over the goal line with him. Again his kick from placement was perfect and the score stood 14-12.

The remainder of the game found the Trojans gallantly staving off a desperate Tiger passing attack. Eight seniors played their last game for the Trojans and their performance will never be forgotten. Long and Nichols were never better at their end positions. Fox was a demon at tackle. Jones and Mayfield were great and were the only guards in the district that were able to handle Williams, Mt. Vernon's 200 pound fullback through center. Captain Ernest Clark's blocking was furious and his work on pass defense, in this game, as all of them, will long be remembered.

The work of Holder and Lindsey is a goal in itself for all future Trojans to shoot at. Their spirit, determination, and cooperation have furnished the spark to speed the Trojans on throughout the season.

O. B. Hopwood, prominent Talco druggist, will give an address before Tuesday's meeting of the Bogata Lions club in the lunch room at the school.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1941

Less than a month now remains to separate the kids from Santa Claus and us older folk from our cash. Santa Claus is just around a corner that so far as we know and have been able to learn he has never heretofore failed to turn on time. Signs of the coming Christmas season already are appearing in the bright eyes of children, in the gift-minded appearance of adults, in the news stories and advertising of our newspapers and in the show windows of our merchants. War, with its terribly exacting toll of sadness and sacrifice, cannot come between a people and its customs. Santa Claus will come this year as he has in years past. The spirit of Christmas will shoot up through the clouds of conflict, will rise triumphant and shine all the brighter for its darker background.

Things About Town

Talco has a natural born orator in O. B. Hopwood. A majority of the people knows that in a gathering, if it is necessary for a talk to be made, Mr. Hopwood is called on to talk. And it is a good talk every time, regardless of the occasion. The words just come easy for him.

A short time ago we were talking to our orator in his store, and he was extremely low that day on worldly affairs, and the way Hitler was taking over things, which brought about this remark: "Some day I wouldn't be surprised if 'Hit' (he sometimes calls Hitler that) doesn't take over down below and run the devil out, then he could take the inhabitants there and carry on his war campaigns.

We remembered that because there is a lot of truth in his description of this wicked person.

A short time ago we were talking to a Talco citizen and listened to his description of the old pioneer days in Texas and Oklahoma. Our friend brought up the subject of pranks, reminded of the passing Hallowe'en, that it was quiet. He says that youngsters just aren't as mischievous as they were in his younger days.

We remember two incidents told us that we will pass on to our readers. He said the thing they looked forward to was finding a person who could not take a prank very well, and then giving him the works. They chose their victim, and on the eventful night set out for their fun. This unfortunate person had just bought a new wagon, and in those days a wagon was as valuable for transportation as a car is today, and its owner thought a lot of it. These boys, including himself, stripped this wagon and carried its parts all over the country. They took one of the wheels and drove the hub down over a small tree and sawed it off flush with the hub and then wedged it. It's not necessary to tell of the owner's rage, but to restore his wheel to the rest of the wagon he had to dig up the stump, roots and all, before the wheel came free.

Another time the pranksters turned a flock of goats loose in a man's home while he was away.

Last week we mentioned a deer hunting incident of R. R. Kelley, and that while hunting in Oklahoma, he shot a polecat. Just to show you that a nimrod always gets his game, we bring you this story. Mr. Kelley returned Saturday afternoon from Bracketville, in Kennel county, where he had spent part of last week deer hunting. Mr. Kelley didn't allow his coattail to touch his back until he could tell us that he really killed the game this year. Not a buck, but a turkey gobbler. He said that he saw a deer but didn't get a shot.

OK, Mr. Kelley, we withdraw last week's accusations, saying you shot a skunk thinking it a deer. After all, a turkey is something to eat.

Weldon Moore and Miss Maurice Turner visited in Paris Sunday afternoon.

Farmers are Told How to Earn AAA Payments in 1942

To earn his full AAA payments in 1942, a farmer must do three things.

First, he must devote at least 25 percent of his land to erosion-resisting crops or land uses at some time during the program year. Second, he must plant within his acreage allotments. Third, he must earn his soil-building allowance.

A farmer falling below the 25 percent minimum requirement will earn only a proportionate part of his cotton, wheat, peanut, and Irish potato payments.

The soil-building allowance may be earned, as in previous years, by carrying out approved soil-building practices, AAA officials explain.

Payments for planting within allotments, include:

Cotton, per pound	1.25c
Wheat, per bushel	10.5c
Peanuts, per hundred	7.25c
Irish potatoes	2.0c

Crops meeting erosion-resisting classification include biennial and perennial legumes or grasses, cowpeas, soybeans, mung beans, velvet beans, sweetclover, ryegrass, Natal grass, lespedeza, crotalaria and winter legumes.

Other crops include 1941 fall-seeded small grains not harvested for grain, with the exception of wheat. If the oats, rye, barley and small grain mixtures are cut for hay, they must be cut prior to the dough stage, the AAA official explained.

Thick-seeded sudan not harvested for seed, sweet sorghums or millet for pasture; peanuts hogged-off; planting forest trees, and green manure and cover crops, also meet erosion-resisting requirements.

It is pointed out that all fall-seeded crops must be seeded in the fall of 1941 to apply on the 1942 program.

Former Talco Man Acclaimed Champ of Deer Hunters

Lauded as Lordsburg's (New Mexico) champion deer hunter this season is Donald Johnson, manager of the Community Public Service Co. in that city and president of the Lordsburg Lions Club, who formerly resided in Talco where he was manager of the local branch of the Community Public Service Co.

A clipping from a Lordsburg newspaper states that Donald brought in a 12-point deer last week that dressed 193 pounds. Adding that he brought the deer down during his first hour of hunting, the newspaper acclaims him as the champion deer hunter of this season.

The newspaper clipping is backed up with a letter to The Times publisher from Donald, wherein he modestly admits having performed the feat and includes a photograph of himself and his deer to prove it. The letter further asserts that Donald also bagged his limit of turkey and quail this season and that he is now contemplating going after a bear.

Mr. Johnson has many friends in this area who are glad to learn of his nimrodian notoriety, some of whom no doubt will either dispute his right to champion deer hunter or else claim they taught him how to shoot that way. Since the newspaper clipping stated that Mr. Johnson was accompanied on the hunt by his mother, Mrs. S. L. Johnson, and his son, Allan, local hunters may say they could bag a buck that big themselves if they ganged up on it with three generations.
