U.S.-Soviet Relations Take Grave Turn

Johnson Takes Vote Battle To Highest Court

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27—Rep. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) today asked Justice Black of the Supreme court to stay the execution of a lower federal court order which is keeping his name off the ballot in Texas as Democratic nominee for U. S. senator.

Justice Black agreed to hear attorneys for Johnson at a closed session in his chambers sometime tomorrow.

Arnold Joins Legal Staff

Today's request was filed by 13 attorneys for Johnson, including James V. Allred, former governor of Texas, and Thurman Arnold, of Washington.

District Judge T. Whitfield Davidson has issued an order in Fort Worth restraining the Texas secretary of state from placing Johnson's name on the ballot. The action was taken at the request of former Texas Gov. Coke Stevenson, Johnson's opponent for the senatorial nomination.

Stevenson refused to accept a finding of the state Democratic convention that Johnson won an August runoff primary by 87 votes out of nearly 1,000,000 tabulated.

Lack Of Time Stressed

Judge Davidson ordered an investigation of charges that voting frauds occurred in Jim Wells, Zapata and Duval counties.

The petition filed with Justice Black said that the step taken today was necessary because of the lack of time involved in the case and the nearness of the general election.

"The only remedy that will prevent violation of the petitioners (Johnson's) rights and the right of the people of Texas to vote on official ballots, would be a stay of the temporary injunction," the Johnson petition stated.

The petition contended that the federal district court at Dallas had no authority or jurisdiction to hear or rule on the contest.

It stated that the temporary injunction issued by Judge Davidson had "no basis whatsoever in law."

The right of Johnson to inclusion on the ballot as the Democratic nominee is "irrevocably and uncontestably vested under the laws of Texas, and is not subject to the process of courts of the United States," the petition said.

Jim Wells Vote Probe Launched

ALICE, Sept. 27 (AP) — The Jim Wells county ballot boxes from the Aug. 28 Democratic election were brought before a special master today and impounded for federal district Judge T. Whitfield Davidson.

An attorney reaching to examine the key hanging from the box for precinct 13 discovered the padlock on the box was unlocked.

The special master, W. R. Smith, jr., one of two named by Judge Davidson, came here from Corpus Christi. Earlier in the day at Corpus Christi he had ordered subpoenas issued for three Jim Wells county men to produce records of the election.

Three Subpoenas Unserved

When Smith opened a hearing here at 3 p.m. W. W. Ainsworth, Deputy U. S. Marshal from Corpus Christi, reported he had been unable to find the three men to serve the subpoenas.

Judge Davidson, of North Texas Federal district court, appointed the masters to probe charges by Coke R. Stevenson that there were vote frauds in Jim Wells, Zapata, and Duval counties, in the runoff election.

After the deputy marshal made his report Smith subpoenaed the ballot boxes from Mrs. Juanita Hulsey, chief deputy county clerk.

It's 'Lubbock Day' Today; Most Firms To Close

Fair Off To Impressive Start; Exhibits, Entertainment Tops

By H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche Staff Writer

THE 31st annual Panhandle-South Plains fair hastens today into the first of several mounting climaxes after an opening day record termed by fair association officials the most gratifying in history.

The first day attendance of 7,824 was well short of the all-time record of 23,046 last year when the widely publicized and costly giant balloon parade proved a powerful magnet. But the turnout compared very favorably with the 7,000 average for first days of previous fairs.

Opening day demonstrated conclusively that those who promised the greatest fair in history did not exaggerate. Exhibits are superb, especially in the Agriculture department. The "Queen for a Day" broadcasts which are to be repeated today and Wednesday measured to the most optimistic expectations.

The "Water Follies of 1948" are big time entertainment, featuring fun, which will be repeated at 2:30 and 8 p. m. today. The Forsythe & Dowis carnival, while not the largest, is as good, if not better, than any that has played Lubbock previously. The Seldon stratosphere act, presented daily as a free attraction at 5:30 and 11 p. m. on the midway, is the most spectacular of its kind ever to show in Lubbock and is well worth the price of admission to the fairgrounds.

The assurance that today will be one of the biggest of the week lies in the fact that it is Lubbock Day. The fact that it is "Lubbock Day," and not "Lubbock Children's Day" requires emphasis. City schools will not be closed today. They wil be closed Wednesday, when afternoon and night performances by the Ringling Brothers-Barnum and Bailey circus will provide some of the outstanding attractions of the week on the fairgrounds.

But most business houses have agreed to close at 11:30 a. m. in-

LYNN COUNTY IS CLOSE SECOND

Floyd County Exhibit Is First In Fair's Agriculture Section

By A. B. SLAGLE
Avalanche Staff Writer

FLOYD county's exhibit, arranged under supervision of A. L. Hartzog, county agent, won first place and $100 cash award in the county display section of the agricultural department of the Panhandle-South Plains fair here yesterday.

The Floyd display scored 940 points, and only two behind was Lynn county, with a total of 938 points. W. B. Griffin, former assistant county agent in Lubbock county, now county agent in Lynn, supervised the second place booth, which was awarded $85 cash.

Placements were announced by Marshall W. Howard, superintendent of that section, under the general department superintendency of D. W. Sherrill, Lubbock county agent.

Post Man Is Judge

Judging was done by George (Scotty) Samson of Post, veteran judge, who was described by exhibitors as "the best judge of agricultural displays in the southwest."

Samson paid high tribute to exhibitors, describing the entire agricultural department as probably the best display and greatest array of products he has ever judged.

Attesting the closeness of competition, the judge's scorecard showed only 48 points between first and thirteenth places. Thirteen booths were judged. Fourteen were originally scheduled for display, but the exhibits from Lea county, N. M. had not arrived yesterday, and the booth reserved for it remained empty.

Other Winners Listed

Other winners, total points, county agent who in each instance arranged the display unless otherwise noted, and cash winnings, were:

Third — Parmer county, 936 points, Ollie Liner, $75; fourth—Castro county, 935, R. L. King, $60; fifth—Garza county, 934 points, Robert H. Gibson, $50; sixth—Lamb county, 933 points, David F. Eaton, jr., $40; seventh—Bailey county, 925 points, J. K.

Western Officials Doubt Soviets Will Deliberately Start Clash

By GEORGE DURNO
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—Best informed western power opinion today is that Russia will not forcibly interfere with the Berlin airlift in such fashion as to precipitate a war.

International experts conceded that the Russians were imponderable but pointed out several reasons why Moscow would avoid carrying the East-West crisis to a state of armed conflict. They are:

1. Russia admittedly could overrun Europe in short order. The Soviets then would be faced with the terrific problem of garrisoning the conquered countries.

2. World Wars I and II demonstrated conclusively that North America's military potential must be smashed before any aggressor is assured of world victory.

3. The Communist dogma is based on a conviction that the so-called capitalistic world will fall apart of its own weight. Teachings of Lenin and others ward specifically against creation of a situation wherein Russia alone is facing the rest of the world.

It is believed that the Soviet Union and its satellites are quite apt to quit the United Nations

Smith Warns Situation Is Now 'Serious'

(By The Associated Press)

BONHAM, Sept. 27 — Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith conferred with President Truman tonight and said that relations with Russia are very "critical" but not on the verge of war.

Smith told reporters conditions at no time since the war have been more critical. Asked whether that means we are going to war, Smith replied: "Thats too deep for me to answer. But I'll modify critical and say serious." "I don't by critical mean we are trembling on the verge of war."

Smith Flies To Dallas

"If our present policy of firmness, patience and determination is followed you don't necessarily have to face the ultimate."

Smith flew to Texas from Washington to confer with the chief executive for some 3½ hours while Mr. Truman's campaign train was rolling from Dallas to Bonham.

The President relayed word to reporters that Smith gave him a "complete and valuable" fill-in on the crisis in Berlin.

And Smith himself said he was able to supplement messages he had been sending to Mr. Truman.

Expressing Own Views

Smith talked informally with reporters in the press car of the campaign train.

Before switching his description of present relations with Russia from critical to serious, Smith said the throught he was reflecting the President's views and he certainly was expressing his own.

A reporter told him there was an impression growng from the presence of Premier Stalin, that the Moscow talks among Britain, France, Russia and the United States were going reasonably well. He asked if their failure had been anticipated.

Smith said he through a State department news release covered the subject.

To an inquiry whether Soviet foreign policy was designed to "cover up domestic difficulties," the ambassador answered quickly: "No, I don't think so."

While our relations with the Soviets are worse than at any time since the war, Smith said, there were difficulties in the Pacific before the war, with Japan serving as a sort of buffer.

As for Stalin himself, Smith said

Five Burned At Butane Company

Five men were burned, four seriouly enough to require hospitalization, about 6 p.m. Monday in a fire of short duration at the fuel division of Baker-Fleming Flash-O-Gas company at 3205 Ave. H.

The injured men were taken to Lubbock Memorial hospital by a Rix Funeral home ambulance.

The fire, which was extinguished quickly without any damage other than to the men, apparently started when employes were filling a butane bottle, a fire department spokesman said. Six units of fire-fighting equipment, three each from Central and Texas Avenue stations, went to the scene.

Hospitalized were:

Roy G. Montgomery, 27, of 235 Ave. H, and Austin Alexander, 36, a negro, received first, second and third degree burns of the face, neck, lower arms and hands, and were suffering from shock, hospital authorities reported.

South Plains Gets First Real Fall Day

The first real Fall day since the official arrival of the season last Wednesday night made its appearance in Lubbock and the South Plains Monday, in time to inaugurate the Panhandle-South Plains fair.

Temperatures dropped to a minimum of 42 degrees early Monday morning, the U. S. Weather bureau reported. Monday's maximum was 74 degrees, occurring in mid-afternoon.

Meanwhile, the Weatherman forecasts fair weather today and Wednesday, without much change in temperatures, and with a low today of about 43 and a high of around 79 degrees.

The rest of the state also reported cool readings with temperatures in the high 80's tops for the day.

Committee Asks Spy Trials For Two Atom Scientists, Red Agent

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27—Spy trials for four persons—cluding two atom bomb scientists and a Communist party official — were urged today by the House Un-American Activities committee.

A 36-page report, in which the committee said it has been able so far only to "scratch the surface" of atomic spy activities in this country, recommended these legal actions:

1. Prosecution of Steve Nelson, Communist party organizer in Pennsylvania, on charges of outright espionage, and citation of Nelson for contempt of Congress for refusing to answer committee questions.

2. Prosecution of Dr. Clarence F. Hiskey, his former wife, Marcia Sand Hiskey, and Dr. John H. Chapin on charges of conspiracy to commit espionage. Hiskey and Chapin were atomic bomb project scientists during the war.

The committee accused the latter trio of conspiring with one Arthur Adams to pass along to Adams secret information on their work in New York and Chicago on development of explosive derivatives of uranium. The report identified Adams as an active spy for Moscow and said he is presumed now to be in Russia.

HST Rejects GOP's 'Unity' Plea During Visit In State

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

BONHAM, Sept. 27.—President Truman rejected tonight a Republican "lullaby" of unity and pledged the Democrats to unite the nation for the benefit of the "ordinary folks."

Campaigning from daybreak on into the night into northern Texas, Mr. Truman said nothing he can say about the Republicans "is as bad as their record." He said it would be "disastrous" for the Republican party to say whom it is "working for."

The Truman train came here from Dallas where Walter Bedell Smith, American ambassador to Moscow, joined the President for a conference in person on the Berlin crisis and the Russian situation.

"Storm Warning" Posted

Smith flew from Washington to Dallas. He was closeted with the President as the train sped from Dallas to Bonham.

Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said Mr. Truman wanted from Smith "a complete account" of the American-British-Russian consultations in Moscow which had failed to provide any formula for settling East-West differences in troubled Europe.

In his speech here, the President posted a "storm warning" against picking a Republican president and said "you can't expect anyone under an obligation to Joe Grundy" to change the high-tariff GOP.

Mr. Truman made no mention by name of Republican presidential candidate Thomas E. Dewey, who has been preaching "unity" and promising teamwork with Congress if he wins in November.

Denies GOP Wants Unity

The Republicans, the President said, don't actually want unity, but "surrender." And he said he doesn't intend to surrender an doesn't believe the people will, either.

In a speech at Dallas, the chief executive said the GOP wants the kind of unity that benefits the National Association of Manufacturers, the power and real estate lobbies and the selfish interests of the country.

"The Democratic party," he pledged, "will unite the American people—and it will unite them, not for the benefit of big business, but for the benefit of the ordinary folks in this country who have made this country great."

Later at Bonham, he said he didn't want the kind of unity that would let prices go "sky high" and ease taxes for the rich.

Claims Trade Pacts Crippled

In an address prepared for delivery in the high school stadium here, Mr. Truman tied together the topics of tariffs, world trade, foreign policy and peace.

He said the GOP crippled the reciprocal trade agreements program in the 80th Congress, and next year "they want to kill the program entirely."

"The 80th Congress," he said,

A young woman from Plainview, Mrs. Jean Miller, was happy Monday afternoon at the prospect not only of receiving the goat for which she had wished, but also other gifts valued at approximately $2,000.

Mrs. Miller was chosen "Queen For a Day" at the radio show presented in the grandstand of Panhandle-South Plains fair Monday afternoon.

Programs will be presented again today and Wednesday from noon to 1:30 p. m. in the grandstand, with a "Queen For a Day" being chosen each day and receiving numerous gifts in addition to granting of her wish.

Given Several Prizes

Officials of the radio program were busy Monday afternoon helping Mrs. Miller solve problems standing in the way of departure of herself and her husband, Ernie Miller, jr., by airplane at 9:50 a. m. today for Hollywood, where they are to be guests of the radio program.

Future Of UN May Rest On Berlin Issue

By EDWARD CURTIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Sept. 27.—Britain's Ernest Bevin warned today that the United Nations may fall apart over the East-West conflict and the possibility arose that a double veto by Russia will keep the Berlin crisis out of the Security Council.

The foreign secretary told the U. N. Assembly that Russia alone will be to blame if the black fury of an atomic war grips the world. If it is impossible to work on a world basis, he declared, "we must proceed on a regional basis."

Soviet Veto Is Hinted

Accusing Russia of insincerity, untruthfulness and evasion, he said: "It is better to have our difficulties now than to live in a fool's paradise." He added:

"If the black fury, the incalculable disaster of atomic war should fall upon us, all I can say is, that one power . . . will alone be responsible for the evils which may be visited upon mankind."

A delegate from Soviet-dominated Poland told a reporter tonight that Russia may invoke the double veto to block council acceptance of the western powers' Berlin case and thus snuff our airing of the charges against Russia at the very start. His statement came as the three powers moved swiftly for emergency council handling of the situation.

West To Present Charges

The western powers completed their notes to the Council charging Russia with threatening world peace through her road, rail and river blockade of the battered German capital.

The notes ask for urgent action. The Council may take up the case as early as Thursday with the very life of the U. N.—and perhaps peace—at stake. Identical notes from the United States, Britain and France will be delivered to U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie tomorrow at 3:30 p. m. (9:30 a. m. EST).

But debate on the merits of the case may never start. Juliusz Katzsuchy, the Polish delegate, said Russia would argue in the Council that the Berlin situation is not a threat to peace. He said the Soviet Union may use the double veto to keep the problem off the agenda (calendar).

Phillips Boosts Crude Oil Price

NEW YORK, Sept. 27. (AP)—Phillips Petroleum Co., tonight announced a 35 cents per barrel increase in its posted prices of all grades of crude oil at many southwestern points.

The increase will be effective at 6 a. m. (CST) tomorrow at all points in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas and Arkansas where the company posts a schedule of prices as a purchaser of crude oil.

K. S. Adams, president of the company, said unprecedented civilian demand and the increasing military requirements for all petroleum products have forced upon the oil industry large capital expenditures.

No Action By Others

Phillips' 35-cent boost is the first major increase since Sun Oil of Pennsylvania set off an industry-wide round of increases nearly a year ago with a 50-cent price hike.

In Tulsa, there was no immediate comment from other companies on the Phillips action, which apparently took the industry by surprise.

Spokesmen for several major buying concerns, including Stanolind Oil Co., Skelly Oil Co., Sunray Oil Corp., and Carter Oil Co., said they had no statements to make.

Commenting on Adams' announcement, a spokesman for the Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) said:

"Jersey standard has had a policy of holding firmly against any increase in the price of crude oil and also against passing on any increases to the consumer."

STUDEBAKER AGAIN SCORES AGENCY POLICIES

Resigned Education Commissioner Accuses FSA Of Being 'Naive' In Its Approach To Communism

By H. K. REYNOLDS
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.— Former U. S. education commissioner John W. Studebaker today accused the Federal Security administration of being "naive" in its approach to Communism.

The resigned commissioner appeared before a Senate committee to air charges that his own anti-Communist program for the schools was censored and curbed by the FSA when he was in office.

Positive Approach Urged

Studebaker said he was told to "emphasize the positive advantages of Democracy," and to "tone down" denunciations of Soviet methods. He said he was accused of having a "negative approach."

Assistant Secretary of State George V. Allen, in charge of the "Voice of America," at the same time in a speech at Boston said the world issue is freedom and upheld Studebaker's view that the "tyrannies" of Communism should be exposed. Allen added:

"If the issue were Capitalism vs. Communism, Britain and other Socialist states would be mugwumps and there would be room for compromise. But there can be no compromise on the issue of Democratic freedoms."

Studebaker appeared before the committee headed by Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.) to tell of his troubles with Federal Security administrator Oscar Ewing and of the "frustrations" which led to Studebaker's resignation last summer.

Fund Use Studied

The committee is particularly interested in the administration of a $150,000 fund set up by Congress to expose Communism through the public schools.

Studebaker said difficulties arose only because of conflicts of opinion. He emphasized that he was making no allegations that Ewing or other officials were pro-Communist.

Of assistant FSA Administrator John Thurston, who suggested to the Office of Education that the task of exposing Communism should be left to the FBI and the State department, Studebaker said:

"I never thought Mr. Thurston was disloyal or subversive. I just thought he was naive. If it was to be left to the FBI, that might mean that the Office of Education was not to do anytihng about it."

The former commissioner said that Thurston, top reviewing officer for Office of Education speeches and publicity material, urged that more stress be put on the advantages of American Democracy, and that direct attacks on Communism be "called down."

Studebaker said he consented to the alterations in speeches and publicity put out by his office, because it was subordinate to FSA, but that he did not agree with the policies.

Stockholm Residents Pay Last Tribute To Count Bernadotte

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 27 (AP) — Funeral services were held here yesterday for Count Folke Bernadotte, assassinated U. N. mediator for Palestine.

Last rites in the Gustav Vassa church were attended by the aged King Gustav V, diplomats and representatives of the United Nations.

After the service, throngs of mourners watched as 40 Boy Scouts drew the coffin on an open catafalque to the northern cemetery. Burning torches held by 400 Girl Scouts saluted the funeral procession as it reached the cemetery.

The body was cremated at a simple ceremony attended by the family, including Bernadotte's American widow, the former Esther Manville.

The urn with Bernadotte's ashes will be deposited in the family grave beside the remains of his mother, two sons and his sister.

Jerusalem, where Bernadotte was shot Sept. 17, a memorial service was held in the Y.M.C.A. yesterday. U. N. representatives, the consular corps and Jewish officials attended the service. Outside there was the sound of machinegun fire in the old city.

Burglars Break Into Fool-Proof Safe To Take $8,000 At Baytown

BAYTOWN, Sept. 27. (U.P.) — Burglars schooled by Houdini and imported to Bayton were blamed today for a robbery that safemakers and an insurance firm said should never have happened.

The new safe at a chain grocery store here was declared by its makers to be fool-proof. Even the most expert yeggmen couldn't get into it within 13 hours, it was said.

The insurance company endorsed it as "the safest of safes."

Energetic thieves sometime Sunday used a brace and bit, axe and saw to enter the store. Then they ripped off the safe's steel covering with a sledge hammer and chisel, broke up a 10-inch thick cement vault and took $8,000 in cash and checks.

Evacuation Of Berlin Studied

By KINGSBURY SMITH
European General Manager, INS

PARIS, Sept. 27 — The Western powers were understood tonight to be studying the possibility of staging history's greatest aerial evacuation to beat the Soviet blockade of Berlin.

More than a half million Germans would be flown out of the Allied areas of Berlin to the western occupation zones of Germany under a plan said to be under investigation by the American, British and French foreign ministers.

See Long Siege Ahead

The collapse of direct negotiations with Russia on the Berlin blockade has convinced western leaders that they must prepare for a long Soviet siege of Berlin.

The Soviets, already having demanded control of the western airlift to the city, are expected to start a relentless tightening of the screws on the western hold in Berlin.

Many U. N. delegates feel that all hope of reaching an understanding with Russia is fading rapidly, and some fear the danger of war is mounting rapidly.

Rescue "Loyal" Germans

But the evacuation plan would be based primarily on the need to reduce western food and other requirements inside Berlin should the Russians move to restrict air communications.

It also would serve to rescue those Germans who have cooperated with the West from Soviet labor camps or worse should the western powers lose effective control of their sectors.

Under the plan, the Germans would be moved out of Berlin in the empty western airlift planes returning from Berlin.

No definite decision has yet been taken but because of the Soviet demand for control of passenger and cargo traffic, the plan may be put into effect soon.

The depression hit them hard in 1931! Maynard Knott was glad enough then to pour concrete at $3 a day. Raising a growing family was a struggle even when he got extra summer work running a movie machine. But a business of their own was what they really wanted. Finally they had the chance to buy a little movie theatre. The family ran it; Knott kept his regular job. By pitching in together they saved the money to buy a lot for a bigger, better theatre . . .

Owner-Manager Maynard Knott designed and helped build the new Clay Theatre, only movie in Clayton, N. C. Its Grand Opening in 1947 proved his ability to finish what he starts.

"Junior partner" Julia-Ann, the Knotts' 15-year-old daughter, takes her turn at the ticket window. She helps at home, too . . . takes care of her baby sister . . . really enjoys housework!

Son Dan, 14, took over as manager of popcorn and candy sales. Profits are his for college. Running the theatre itself someday is his big ambition.

Expert manager! Besides helping in the theatre office, Mrs. Knott enjoys making the children's clothes, most of her own; and still finds time to teach in Sunday School.

By lab work at Meredith College, Raleigh, plus savings from three years as theatre cashier, daughter Jackie helps pay her way towards biology degree.

Their garden supplies enough vegetables for them to eat, canned or fresh, all year. They spend $23 cash a week on food for six; $8 for clothes; $3 for recreation; live on about $4200 a year. Money after expenses and some savings goes to church and to several charities.

Money problems are always worked out by the Knotts together. On important matters their life insurance agent helps them. Life insurance, Mr. Knott will tell you, helped him get his business . . . helps protect his family. His $18,000 life insurance program includes some term to cover a debt, takes $23.35 a month. In spite of these uncertain times, says Mr. Knott, "we're getting along towards success. Our secret? We all pitch in and do our share. We all get a kick out of helping each other!"

The future looks bright to baby Janice, too! They're saving for her education as well as for a roomier house!

THE LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES AND THEIR AGENTS

BRING YOU THIS STORY BECAUSE... families like the Knotts show us one way that happiness is earned! You, yourself, probably know a family, right in your own town, that is getting ahead in the same typically American way. Such families prove to all of us that we can solve our own problems by our own efforts. . . . Their example shows too why it is so important for us to hold to our rights to think for ourselves, to work at what we like, to live as we choose. For what this country amounts to depends upon what happens to its homes!

Disciples Of Christ Okay Unification Plan

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 27. (INS)—The international convention of the Disciples of Christ in San Francisco today unanimously approved a set of steps toward unification of Protestant denominations.

The resolution named two men who are to meet with representatives of other churches affiliated with the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. This planning committee, it was stated, "would inaugurate its work shortly."

Another approved resolution hailed recent action of the Methodist church in their "crusade toward church union."

The convention referred back to committee a resolution of "separation of church and state." Much debate accompanied the resolution. Fear was expressed that the wording might prevent federal financial aid for sectarian colleges.

Dr. C. Oscar Johnson, of St. Louis and president of the World Baptist alliance, spoke to the convention this afternoon. He recently returned from the World Council church meeting at Amsterdam and pleaded for relief for the people of Europe. He declared, "We cannot well evangelize people who are crying for bread and clothes."

El Paso Man Is Named New Assistant To Tech President

Appointment of Frank Junell, for the past two years public relations director of the Roderick Radio stations at El Paso, as assistant to the president of Texas Technological college, was announced Monday by Dr. D. M. Diggins, president of the college.

His duties, Dr. Wiggins said last night, have not yet been clearly outlined, and will not be until Junell arrives here around Oct. 1 to assume his position. Dr. Wiggins added, however, that Junell's duties are expected to be similar to those of assistants to presidents in other colleges and universities. He will arrive in Lubbock today to confer with Dr. Wiggins.

Junell formerly was at Hardin-Simmons university and from there he went to El Paso where he established the journalism department at the Texas School of Mines. Later he served as dean of men and as registrar before going into the Navy, where he served four years. He has been with the radio stations since leaving the Navy as lieutenant-commander.

Married and 34 years old, he is the father of a son and daughter.

Temporary Military Cemeteries Overseas To Be Closed Soon

All World War II temporary military cemeteries overseas will be closed out by the end of November, and the 12 regional distribution centers in the United States will be consolidated into six by that time, the chief of memorial division of the Army Quartermaster General announced Monday.

It was announced that remains awaiting return to the United States for burial will be concentrated shortly at centers overseas pending availabiilty of shipping. By the end of November, the only overseas cemeteries remaining in operation will be the 14 designated as permanent American military cemeteries, and two in outlying U. S. possessions to be known as national cemeteries.

By Sept. 30, the Army will have returned to this country, at the request of next of kin, the remains of 81,500 war dead. By the end of the year, the figure is expected to stand at approximately 113,000. A total of approximately 150,000 are expected to be returned before the program is completed.

Still awaiting disposition are the remains of 16,087 armed forces dead whose next of kin have failed to return the final burial forms sent to them by the Army Quartermaster General. Unless the Army is able to locate the next of kin within a reasonable time, these deceased will be interred overseas in permanent military cemeteries.

Figures on the scope of the program, released by the Army, show that the total combined estimate of overseas deaths, for Army, Navy, Marine corps, Coast Guard, and Air Force during the past war is 358,967. Of this number 275,762 were buried in temporary military cemeteries, and the remaining 83,205 have not been recovered. Though the majority of the unrecovered remains are known to be irretrievable (through such catastrophes as sinkings at sea), searches are being continued where circumstances indicate they are warranted.

Lonely Dog Jumps From Fourth Floor Window In England

BRIDLINGTON, Eng., Sept. 27 (AP)—Eleven-months-old Sammy, a wire haired terrier, jumped out of a fourth floor window today and ended up in the dog hospital, because he couldn't bear to be left alone.

His owners, Dr. and Mrs. Martin Linell, thought Sammy should stay at home and closed the door of their flat on him. As their car was about to start from the curb they heard a thud on the roof and Sammy rolled to the pavement. He had jumped from a window 40 feet above the street.

Dr. Linell set a broken leg and treated the dog for shock.

Errol Flynn, Red-Haired Wife Admit Marriage Near Breakup

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 27 (INS)—Film star Errol Flynn and red-haired Nora Eddington admitted today that their marriage was on the verge of breaking up.

The one-time cigarette girl whom Flynn married in Mexico five years ago is hunting for a house, although still living at the family home in the Hollywood hills. She said:

"This is the most serious situation that Errol and I have run into yet in our marriage, but I am in no position now to make any definite statement because nothing definite has been decided.

"I have not talked to an attorney or anything like that."

Flynn's only comment was: "If Nora is looking for a house I hope she doesn't find one."

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

A STYLIST for a fashion house says a woman should always stand up when trying on hats, to get the whole costume effect.

The Texas Safety association wants to ask you this—are you a conscientious citizen who wouldn't kill or steal or cheat? These actions apply as much to driving a car as anything else.

It takes a little cheating—like wandering across the center strip or driving a little too fast—to steal away some other person's health and happiness and perhaps to kill him. Be honest in your driving, too.

IN THE MAIL

DEAR Miss Turner:

You may know about newspaper writing, but there is one thing you do not know about and that is being a widow. I trust you never do.

Do you know the letters w-i-d-o-w really spell sorrow of the deepest kind? Don't you think it's rather unkind to speak so flippantly of widows on the hunt and grass. Some of the finest women I know are those whose marriages failed in their youth and they have spent their entire lives rearing and educating their children by their own efforts. Being Mrs. Mary Smith I think of others whose companions were claimed by death when quite young and for various reasons wish to be Mary Smith all through life. There are occasions when it is necessary to use your own name.

When you think of it, surely every woman has a perfect right to use the name that fits her way of life.

I am a widow and use my husband's initials mostly, but after many years just writing the Mrs. J. B. brings a prick of sorrow to my heart. Being Mrs. Mary Smith would be so much easier.

WIDOWED by Death.

DEAR Reader:

We are sorry that you misinterpreted our paragraphs of pleading with married women to use their husbands' names or initials in giving us reports of their activities. That's all that we are interested in. As you say, every woman has a right to use the name that fits her way of life and we don't care what name she wants to go by in her club or lodge, but we are writing for the public's interest and our main worry is proper identification.

A widow may use her name or her husband's name as she chooses and that's all right with us. What we want to avoid is the use of a woman's name in our stories as Mrs. Jane Doe, if she is married and writes her checks and gets her mail and is on record as being Mrs. John Doe.

Thanks for your letter.

Actress, Three Other Persons Survive Wild Fight Against Sea

SAVANNAH, Ga., Sept. 27. (INS)—Actress Martha Sleeper and three other persons are recovering in Savannah today after a ten hour battle against the sea which was climaxed by their yacht sinking in the Savannah river.

The other three were identified as Nicholas A. Schlangen, 50, a retired Springfield, Ill., manufacturer, Gordon Ince and Charles Pender, both of Nassau. The four said they had to tie themselves to the boat masts to keep from being thrown overboard by rough seas.

Miss Sleeper first gave her real name, Mrs. Martha Duetschbein, but later identified herself as the stage and screen actress. She said her husband, a contracting engineer, was on a business trip to the Virgin islands and that she was to meet him in Florida.

The speed of farm haulage has been increased from seven to 40 miles an hour through use of anti-friction bearings.

Town Talk

Forgotten is the dust and grime of the caliched Lubbock Fair grounds, because the voice of a caliope, booths filled with a fabulous collection of gilt studded prizes, a voice calling "bingo," bright tasseled canes and umbrellas, a hunger inducing display of taffy apples, popcorn and peanuts, cotton candy, snow cones and ice cream, and little stalls advertising "funny photos while you wait" have transformed it into a new world of excitement and intrigue and happiness.

Grease paint and makeup cover the tiredness of the performers faces—society matrons forget their shining noses—well dressed men ignore their dust caked shoes—adults go from one attraction to another with eagerness they haven't felt since childhood, and round eyed children try to gaze at and understand all of the strangness and mystery about them. These are the people who love a fair and all of the tradition it represents.

Inside the Women's building displays of common and unusual flowers blossom on shelves in a variety of colors and arrangements. Even in the afternoon heat delicate cosmos, petunias and roses hold up hardy heads beside their stronger zinia, bachelor button and marigold cousins. Combination fruit-flower arrangements illustate ideas for breakfast table centerpieces, and representing a practical and lasting winter-time arrangement are clever dried okra pod and cotton boll "bouquets," and pyracantha berries are shown as ideal fall "flowers."

Contracting in color and ancestry, gaillardia or Indian paint-brush, colendulas, verbenas and asters, are placed side by side in a floral rainbow. Royal arrangements of deep toned cockscombs are a contract to dainty pastel dahlias, and giant yellow dahlias are a burst of sun-toned beauty. A garden basket display of golden dahlias with blue winter daisies is reminiscent of the days of "southern belle gardeners."

Walking on to the culinary counter an observor is a hungrier but slimmer, individual because the calorie-filled pastries and sweetmeats are protected by a glass counter. Christmas spirit can begin in September when one looks at the array of divinity, date loaf and candied fruit, and creamy chocolate fudge and vari-colored mints are year round candy favorites on display. Old fashioned sugar cookies in circular and diamond shapes, fudge topped muffins and wholesome oatmeal cookies bring exclamations from masculine Fair visitors.

In the cake division icings of pale pink swirls of sweetness rival frostings of chocolate nut richness. Devil's food cakes rival their angel food opposites in taste-tugging goodness, and the potato and fruit cakes would be a perfect compliment to a pot of hot coffee.

Pastry's country cousins, corn bread and baking powder biscuits have their place of importance at the Fair too, and are baked in muffins, sticks, squares and loaves. Looking just ready to be eaten are the fresh baked loaves of bread ranging from Dutch and French varities to raisin dotted loaves.

Discouraging to the beginning cook are the rows of eatable jewels—the colorful fruits and vegetables looking out from crystal jar walls. English peas, pickles and green beans have an emerald-like quality, and ruby red cherries and beets rival topaz toned peaches for canning perfection. Even the practical bars of homemade soap have a pearl like appearance beside their canned tomato neighbors.

Seen modeling at the first "Style Show of the Air" Monday morning at the Lorraine Shop were three pretty Tech co-eds, Jane Wier and Glena Faye Winston of Brownfield and Thala Foster of Lockney. Marriage In Ralls Is Announced Here

Mr. and Mrs. John Tarleton of Ralls are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Miss Joy Tarleton, and Odell Herring, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Herring of Crosbyton, which took place Friday night in the Tarleton home with Rev. C. Melvin Ratheal of Lubbock Parkdale Baptist church officiating in the single ring ceremony.

The bride wore a pink crepe dress with green accessories and a gardenia corsage. Her something old and blue was a handerchief belonging to Mrs. Will Marr of Ralls; her something new, was a necklace given to her by her brother; and her something borrowed, was a gold bracelet belonging to her cousin, Miss Sue Wilson of Lubbock.

Miss Clara Nell Herring, sister of the bridegroom, and Houston Tarleton, brother of the bride, were attendants.

At a reception held following the ceremony, an open Bible wedding cake was served to guests.

SYMINGTON REVEALS 'SECRET'

New Jet Bombers Appear Able To Flee Modern Fighter Planes

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 — The Air Force is making progress toward solving one of its gravest problems—finding a bomber that can escape from the darting speed of attacking jet fighters.

The fact that this tactical feat has been accomplished at least once was disclosed officially over the weekend. Air Secretary Symington made a brief and otherwise unexplained reference in a New York address to "the day the new jet bomber ran away from some jet fighters."

This marked a new phase in the centuries-old contest between offensive and defensive weapons during which each new machine or method of attack has been countered with a device to offset it.

In the three years since the war, the jet fighter has risen to challenge the offensive power of the heavily-gunned but comparatively slow bomber. The importance of this situation is underscored by the possibility that the United States some day might have to send bombing forces against Russia, already protected by expanding squadrons of jet fighters.

While the Air Force has published figures on the "designed" —that is, hoped for—speed of its experimental jet bombers, it never had indicated the actual relation of those speeds to fighters until Symington's terse comment.

Among the jet bombers with which the Air Force has been experimenting most extensively is the XB-47 Boeing light bomber. The Lockheed F-80 is the jet fighter in most general use by the USAF.

Thus, the indications are that Symington was talking about the XB-47 and "attacking" F-80 jets.

The XB-47 has six J-35 jet engines, developing a total thrust of 24,000 pounds. In addition to the jet engines, the bomber has 18 "jato" rocket units which produce an additional 18,000 pounds of forward push when fired simultaneously.

It was learned, however, that in "running away" from the jet fighters, the XB-47 did not take advantage of this auxiliary rocket power, named for its other use—a more powerfud "jet-assisted take off."

The official description of the XB-47 says it is designed "for speeds exceeding 500 miles an hour." But jet fighters, such as the F-80s, can fly at least 580 miles an hour. Therefore the speed of the escaping XB-47 was above this.

JET BUSES NEXT, MAYBE

NEW YORK (U.P.) — Sidney H. Bingham, a member of the board of transportation, envisages the possible use of jet-propelled buses in New York. Bingham has just returned from Europe, where he witnessed experiments in jet propulsion, and will report his findings to Mayor William O'Dwyer.

WHERE FOUR PEOPLE DIED—The fiery highway crash scene pictured above was where four men died in a headon collision of a car and truck just north of the city limits of Hale Center about midnight Saturday night. Travis Nivens, 31, long-time resident of Hale Center, who was driving the car was one of the victims and the other three were Mexican laborers from the Rio Grande valley. (Staff Photo by Bill Hams).

Three Persons Killed In Fiery Wreck Near Hale Center Identified As Valley Residents

Travis Nivens 31, of Hale Center, and three Latin American workers whose homes were said to be in the Rio Grande Valley died in the headon collision of an automobile and a pickup truck on the Lubbock-Plainview highway just north of the city limits of Hale Center at midnight Saturday.

The bodies of the three Latin-Americans were burned almost beyond recognition in the pickup in which they were riding.

Travis Nivens, 31, a truck driver for the Burgess Butane company of Hale Center, where he had lived the greater part of his life, was the Hale Center victim.

Others Are Identified

The others were listed by Roy G. Wood Funeral Home of Plainview, where the bodies were taken, as Augustine Pena, 25; Jose Garcia, 22; and Encension Flores, 23, all of whom were said to have lived in the Rio Grande Valley.

The collision occurred on the turn of the highway immediately north of Hale Center, and the vehicles, crashing headon apparently at high speeds, caught fire and were gutted before the flames could be brought under control.

Nivens, apparently killed almost instantly, was thrown clear of his 1940 Chevrolet coupe, in which he was riding alone toward Plainview, but the three Mexicans, either rendered unconscious by the impact or trapped in the cab of the pickup in which they were moving southward, were horribly burned in the fiery crash.

Patrolmen File Report

The collision occurred on the east side of the paved strip, indicating that the three Mexicans in the pickup either were attempting to pass another vehicle or were "cutting the corner" in making the curve in the highway, according to a report filed by members of the highway patrol at Plainview, who investigated the accident.

The funeral home said Monday that bodies of the Mexicans were sent south by train at 10 o'clock Monday morning. Bodies of Garcia and Flores were sent to Raymondsville, and that of Pena to San Benito.

Funeral services for Niven were held at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon from the Hale Center Church of Christ, with Minister Joe Banks officiating under direction of Roy G. Wood Funeral home of Plainview.

Nivens was not married. Survivors include the father, A. B. Nivens of Hale Center; two sisters, Miss Velma Nivens of Hale Center, and Mrs. V. D. Hembree of Muleshoe; and six brothers. Vernon Nivens of Artesia, N. M., and Cleddie, Winifred, Roy, Foy and Arville, all of Hale Center.

The deaths brought to 21 the number killed in traffic accidents in this district of the highway patrol during the last 28 days, the district office here said.

Last Rites Are Slated For Mrs. J. W. Sampson Today

Funeral services have been set for 2 p.m. today in Rix Funeral home chapel with Dr. J. M. Lewis, pastor of First Presbyterian church, officiating, for Mrs. J. W. Sampson, 71, of 2210 Tenth, who died Sunday afternoon in Lubbock Memorial hospital, where she had been a patient since suffering cerebral hemorrhage Sunday morning.

She had lived in Lubbock about 25 years.

Funeral services will be conducted at Rix Funeral home chapel at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Dr. J. M. Lewis, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and Rev Chester E. Gleason assistant pastor of the First Christian church, will officiate.

Rix Funeral home will direct burial in Lubbock cemetery.

Mrs. Sampson was survived by her husband; one sister, Mrs. C. F Spencer of Fort Worth; two sons, B. S. Sampson of Houston and T L. Sampson of Lubbock; two grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

Women More Interested In Food News, Official Says

NEW YORK, Sept. 27. (AP)—Women are much more interested in food news than in most other types of features, Allen B. Sikes of the American Newspaper Publishers association said today.

Sikes, service manager of the ANPA Bureau of Advertising, summarized results of an analysis of reader interest in food news for the annual national food editors' conference here.

The analysis is based on a special study of all food editorial matter in 120 newspapers checked by the continuing study of newspaper reading since 1939, under supervision of the advertising research foundation.

The study showed that interest in menus and recipes outruns the median women's readership of bridge columns, crossword puzzles, advice on etiquette, child training hints, beauty counsel, dress patterns or serial stories.

Cong. Mahon Is Speaker At Methodist Church Class

Cong. George H. Mahon, speaking Sunday morning to members of the Horn Bible class at First Methodist church, pointed out that although world conditions are unsettled at present, and the future indicates lots of trouble, uncertainty, and difficulties, "we can preserve our assurance by being loyal, hard-working, and faithful, as was Timothy."

The speaker made reference to the early home life of Timothy, and asserted that the early training of a child is as important now as then. He pointed to the Bible as the book of instructions to be used in rearing a child.

In emphasizing the value of training, Mahon, who teaches a Sunday school class regularly in the Mount Vernon Place Methodist church in Washington, D. C., cited figures from a poll in this country showing that three per cent of the people answered they do not believe in God. In France five per cent answered similarly but in communistic countries two out of three replied that they do not believe in God.

Permit Is Requested For Dawson Wildcat

Tide Water Associated Oil company has filed an application with the Railroad Commission of Texas, requesting a permit to start drilling immediately at its No. 1 Everett Turner, as a 5,200-foot wildcat in extreme northwest Dawson county.

The prospector will be 660 feet from north and east lines of south half of section 2, block C-39, psl survey. That puts it one and one-half miles northwest of the town of Welch.

The 5,200-foot destination is calculated to take the venture into the San Andres—Permian formation.

Standard Oil company of Texas No. 1 Brown, in northwest Scurry county, nine miles northwest of Snyder, and 1,880 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 440, block 97, H&TC survey, logged some porosity in the lower Permian lime, and was running a drillstem test at 4,300-85 feet, to check that horizon.

The samples from the interval being investigated did not show any signs of oil or gas. This wildcat is slated to drill to about 8,000 feet to explore the Ellenburger.

GOP Ticket Holds Substantial Margin In Latest Wisconsin Poll

BY GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N.J., Sept. 27—The Republican Party presidential slate today enjoys a substantial lead in the Wisconsin popular vote.

Wisconsin, captured by the GOP in 1944 with only a bare majority, at the moment gives a safe margin to Dewey and Warren. Noted for its violent swings from one party to another, the state is undergoing a strong shift from the Democrats who won its 12 electoral votes by landslides in 1932 and 1936.

GALLUP

Interviewers for the Institute asked a representative cross-section of Wisconsin voters this question.

"If the presidential election were being held TODAY how would you vote—for Truman, for Dewey or for Wallace?"

These are the results:

Dewey	51%
Truman	38
Wallace	3
No Opinion	8

Neither Governor Thomas E. Dewey nor President Truman plans any campaign speeches in Wisconsin according to speaking schedules thus far announced, Governor Dewey, of course, stumped the state vigorously last April in his unsuccessful bid for support in the state presidential primary election. That Wisconsin voters now give Dewey such a commanding lead over Truman after turning him down in favor of Harold E. Stassen as G.O.P. nominee is indicative of Republican unity in Wisconsin.

Another interesting sidelight on political sentiment in the state is the comparatively light vote for Henry A. Wallace and his Progressive Party. Wallace will visit the state next month, and later surveys will indicate the effectiveness of his campaign there.

Traditionally, third party movements have found above-average acceptance in Wisconsin, LaFollette's Progressive Party receiving 54 per cent of the popular vote there in 1924. Beginning in 1934 the Progressive Party organized by the elder LaFollette's sons polled substantial votes for its candidates until the merger with the Republican Party two years ago.

In 1944 Dewey carried Wisconsin by the narrow margin of 50.9 per cent of the major party vote, with Roosevelt taking 49.1 per cent. In 1940, with Willkie as the Republican candidate, the situation was just reversed, Roosevelt winning with 50.9 per cent of the popular vote.

Almost seven out of ten Wisconsin voters cast their ballots for Roosevelt in 1932 and 1936, his proportion of the major party vote being 67 per cent for the first term and 67.8 per cent for the second.

Today's Wisconsin survey is the eighth in a series conducted by the Institute showing standings of presidential candidates in individual states. To date polls have shown Governor Dewey leading in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, California, Ohio and Wisconsin. Truman leads in his home state of Missouri, and J. Strom Thurmond, candidate of the States' Right Party is well in the lead in South Carolina, of which he is governor.

Norris Celebrates 40th Year As Pastor

FORT WORTH, Sept. 27. (AP)—The Rev J. Frank Norris, pastor of the First Baptist church of Fort Worth celebrated the 40th anniversary of his pastorate Sunday with special services.

He received many tributes from friends and admirers. At the morning service Mayor F. Edgar Deen praised the work Rev. Norris has done through the years.

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram in an editorial said the Norris' anniversary marked the longest pastorate in the history of the city.

Pastor Paid Tribute

"The fortunes of the First Baptist church have been a part of the history and progress of Fort Worth, and for that reason command general recognition," said the Star-Telegram.

"The church membership can attest the spiritual influence of an outstanding institution under the able, long leadership of Rev Mr. Norris."

In connection with the anniversary, Rev Norris launched a campaign for a million dollars for the Bible Baptist seminary.

The Norris churches, the First Baptist church of Fort Worth and the Temple Baptist church of Detroit, with the seminary, have holdings valued at more than $3,000,000 and claim the largest congregations and Sunday schools in the world.

Friends of Rev. Norris in a full page newspaper advertisement congratulated him on his long career.

"Erstwhile enemies have become your friends and the city that once rejected you today recognizes you as one of its chief influences for progress and good," the tribute read.

Jaycees Hear Talk By Tech President

Dr. D. M. Wiggins, president of Texas Technological college, declared in a talk at the luncheon of the Junior Chamber of Commerce at Hilton hotel Monday noon that a pattern developed after World War I has been exaggerated more after World War II until it now is one of the major threats to our democracy is that of unwarranted and cynical criticism of our government and solid American institutions.

"I believe fundamentally in the right of a man to be heard," Dr. Wiggins said, "but I also believe he should think before he speaks. Somehow or other because we live in a democracy, we have assumed the attitude that it's all right to say what we want to about anything or anybody.

"You can't prostitute any great heritage and maintain it," Dr. Wiggins declared.

"What we need is a good overdose of confidence—faith in our fellow men and our institutions," he continued. "The most unhappy man in the world is the man who has lost confidence."

That was the major point emphasized by the new Tech president in his talk, but he also touched on the need for a close relationship between business, industry and education and declared that education should have a sympathetic understanding of business and industrial problems.

He was introduced by Harold Chapman. New members introduced at the luncheon included: Robert Wylie, Frank Reviere, Ed Moore and Tom Rollins.

Jap Relatives Of Soviet-Held Prisoners Start Hunger Strike

TOKYO, Sept. 27 (INS) — Five hundred fasting relatives of Japanese war prisoners in Russia were sleeping tonight on the bare concrete floor of a Tokyo temple.

They were ordered to the temple for the ngiht by police following the launching of a 72-day hunger strike with a demonstration in the plaza of Tokyo's imperial palace.

The demonstration was organized to call attention to the retention of the half-million Japanese war prisoners and civilian internees in the Soviet Union.

Leaders of the group claim to represent 4,000,000 relatives of the Russian held Japanese. They announced a series of open-air mass meetings for tomorrow and Wednesday.

A delegation of the demonstrators yesterday called on prime minister Hitoshi Ashida and the Allied council for Japan. They presented demands that the prisoners be sent home from Russia.

Torrid American Loop Race Resumes

Three Top Nines In Stretch Drive

(By The Associated Press)

After one day of rest in the torrid American League pennant chase, the three contenders squared away again today for the final week of play and a crack at the National league champion Boston Braves in the World Series opening a week from Wednesday.

The nerve-fraying stretch drive between the Cleveland Indians, Boston Red Sox and New York Yankees will continue on three widely-scattered fronts. Each club has just five games left to play, in a "don't spare the horses" finish the likes of which the junior loop has rarely experienced.

The Indians definitely are in the saddle now, to cop their first flag since 1920, riding along on a one-game bulge over the Yankees and Red Sox, tied for second place.

With all clubs in both leagues idle Monday, the shouting ended in the National league as Boston clinched the pennant Sunday.

A's, Chisox Can Gum Works

Three also-rans, the lowly Chicago White Sox and the Washington Senators, and the Philadelphia Athletics can gum up the works further beginning today.

The Indians, with all of their remaining games at home, meet the White Sox in the first of a two-game series tonight. Tribe manager Lou Boudreau says flatly his gang is in, and he could be 100 per cent correct.

"I sincerely believe we're in now," the shortstop-pilot said after Bob Feller defeated Detroit Sunday while New York whipped Boston in their finale at Yankee stadium.

The Yankees open a three-game set with the Athletics in Philadelphia this afternoon, while the Red Sox and Washington play the first of three games at Boston.

Cleveland can clinch the flag by taking five straight, no matter what Boston and New York do. The Indians could drop two games. And still the Yanks and Red Sox would have to win five in a row to grab the bunting. What's more, New York and Boston will be cutting each others throat again in a two-game series winding up the season at Hubtown Saturday and Sunday.

Yankees Jolted By News That Niarhos Sustains Injuries

NEW YORK, Sept. 27. (INS)—The New York Yankees were jolted today by an announcement that Gus Niarhos, regular catcher, will be out of action for the final week of the American League pennant race.

Dr. Sidney Gaynor, club physician, said Niarhos sustained a triple fracture just behind the knuckle of the right index finger from a foul tip in yesterday's game with the Boston Red Sox.

Manager Bucky Harris was undecided tonight as to who would catch Vic Raschi in tomorrow's game with the Athletics. He could use Yogi Berra, recently converted from a catcher into a right fielder. Or he could use one of his secondary receivers, Sherman Lollar or Ralph Houk.

Another possibility is Charley Silvera, who immediately was summoned from the Portland club of the Pacific Coast league. Silvera batted .296 this year and is a fine defensive catcher.

Prof Finds Many Sad Coaches On Monday

Old Professor—Greetings and salutations, gentlemen. And who, pray tell, is this white-haired individual with the flowing beard?

Frank Leahy, Notre Dame—It's me, Frank Leahy, professor. Believe it or not, I was a young man Saturday about 2 o'clock. I never saw a better football game in my life; it went just as we all had anticipated. I am very proud of my team. Frank Tripucka's performance was superb.

Stu Holcomb — Purdue — "Our squad played the greatest losing game I have ever seen. No one can question the courage of those Boilermakers who forced the issue with the Irish all the way in the face of breaks that might have demoralized a lesser squad.

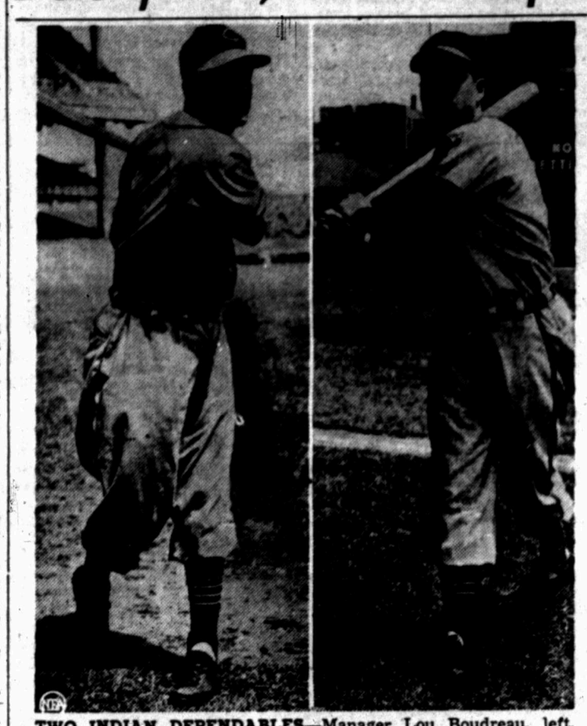

Old Professor—It isn't pooh, poor Purdue this year, I take it. Mr. Snavely, please don't light matches in class.

Carl Snavely, North Carolina—I was just showing how our boys were fired up while Texas seemed to be complacent, professor, the boys can't help it, and it's fatal when they get that way. The difference in this year's game from last year's wasn't in the Texas team but in ours. We hit hard early and got them before they realized they were in a ball game.

Blair Cherry, Texas — North Carolina was great out there. We weren't sharp enough to take care of the Tar Heels. We simply made too many mistakes. They were high and we weren't.

September, the ninth month of the year, got its name from the Latin word "septem," which means seven. Julius Caesar added two months to the Roman calendar and upset the sequence.

Austin Maroons Boast Speedy Backfield; Show Improvement

TWO INDIAN DEPENDABLES—Manager Lou Boudreau, left, and Outfielder Dale Mitchell, right, are two of the American League's leading hitters. They are also fine fielders and together have had a lot to do with the Indians' high standing in the eight loop race. If the Indians get into the World Series, Boudreau and Mitchell will carry much of the Cleveland burden.

Westerners Hold Contact Session

Lubbock High's surging Westerners, fresh from their 21-14 victory over North Side at Fort Worth, will face one of the fastest backfields in the state when they clash with the Austin Maroons of District 13-AA Friday night at House Park stadium at Austin.

Heading the Maroon secondary are a crew of speedsters, including several of the boys who were members of Austin's state championship sprint relay team this spring. The Maroon backs are light—about the size of the Westerner secondary—but are extremely shifty in the open and take full advantage of their blazing speed.

The Austin line is not extremely heavy, but boasts a mobile, uniform set of forwards. The weights range from 165 to 175, with a couple of the linemen topping 190 and 200.

Austin, like Lubbock, has been hampered by inexperience, but the Maroons are showing steady improvement each week. Austin opened the season against Brackenridge of San Antonio, winner of the AA crown in 1947 and a top favorite in the City conference this year, and the Maroons absorbed a 27-7 drubbing. The next week Austin showed improvement in holding another powerful eleven, Waco, to a two touchdown 27-14 win; then last week the Austin gridders chalked up a 7-6 triumph over Thomas Jefferson of San Antonio.

Coach Pat Pattison opened drills for the Austin encounter by sending the Westerners through a lengthy contact session Monday afternoon at Chapman field. The Hub city gridders opened the workout with head-on tackling, then romped through a full 60 minutes of hard scrimmage. Pattison closed the practice period by sending the Westerners through a series of 100-yard dash wind sprints.

Another stiff session is slated this afternoon then a final home field workout will be held Wednesday afternoon. The Lubbock squad will leave Thursday morning for Austin.

Sports Study

By Earl Scudday

Although football continues to hold the sports spotlight in West Texas, we can't resist the opportunity to do a little long-distant second-guessing on the American league pennant race. After hearing the crucial game between the Boston Red Sox and the New York Yankees Sunday, it seems apparent that the eastern sports scribes—who have said all season that the Bosox have failed to take advantage of their opportunities—are entirely correct. In the Sunday afternoon setto the Sox flubbed a bases-loaded situation, then repeatedly let men die on second and third. That is the same thing, so the close observers say, that has been happening all year.

Recent games by the league-leaders also indicate that the 1948 World Series may rival the '47 classic in the number of pitchers used in each tilt. It seems impossible for Boston to get through nine innings with less than three hurlers, except on rare effort by Kramer or Dobson, and the Yankees have kept Joe Page busier than a scalper at a Texas-S.M.U. football game. The Boston Braves seem to be able to depend on Johnny Sain and Warren Spahn for dependable jobs, and might cop the Series if they could just get enough rain on the third day.

Back on the gridiron grind, the state Class AA schoolboy picture is beginning to take shape. It's still anybody's race in most of the loops, but favorites have definitely been chalked up in all the circuits. Here's the lineup of top contenders, as picked by the scribes and coaches who should know:

District 1-AA—Amarillo, favorite; Pampa and Lubbock, strong contenders.

District 2-AA—Wichita Falls, favorite; Vernon top threat.

3-AA—Odessa, favorite; Sweetwater and San Angelo, best challengers.

4-AA—Austin (El Paso), favorite; Ysleta, strong contender.

5-AA—Denison, slight favorite; Bonham, top threat.

6-AA—Highland Park (Dallas), favorite; take your choice of Denton or McKinney for weak second.

7-AA — Stephenville, favorite; Brownwood and Breckenridge, challengers.

8-AA—Marshall, favorite; Texarkana and Longview, top contenders.

9-AA—Waco, favorite; Corsicana and Temple, contenders.

12-AA—Baytown (Goose Creek), favorite; Galveston, strong contender.

13-AA—Corpus Christi, favorite; Kerrville, still a challenger.

14-AA—Harlingen, favorite, (but not going anywhere); Brownsville and Edinburg, top threats.

In the City conference it looks like Adamson or Woodrow Wilson in the Dallas district; Arlington Heights has the inside track in the Fort Worth circuit; Lamar and Milby of Houston are top-rankers; and Brackenridge is all but "in" in the San Antonio loop.

Most of the state sports fans would like to see the Class AA champion matched against the City conference champ in a tussle to determine the "real" state winner. But the plan will probably receive little support from the City loop members. Year after year, the Class AA boys play a better brand of football.

Buff Fish Play Tech Frosh Here Friday

Jones Stadium at Texas Tech will have a football game this week end, instead of lying dormant for two weeks, the West Texas State Teachers college freshman eleven coming here to play the Red Raider first year men.

Morley Jennings, athletic director, said that the game would be played Friday afternoon at 3 and admission will be $1 including tax. There will be no reserved seats for the game and seats will go on a first come, first served basis.

This year's crop of Raider freshmen is touted as one of the best ever to enter Texas Tech, featuring Brownfield's Jerrell Price at tackle and several other players from the South Plains.

Polk Robison, assistant football coach, and Maxey McKnight, trainer and assistant coach, are directing the freshmen.

Ten Colleges Undefeated

(By The Associated Press)

Ten of Texas' 28 senior colleges remain undefeated as the football campaign rolls into October.

At least one and possibly three others will fall out in this week's games. Two of the teams with perfect records—Southern Methodist and Texas Tech—play each other. They meet at Dallas Saturday.

Unbeaten and untied through two weeks of the campaign are Rice, Baylor, Texas Christian, Southern Methodist, Stephen F. Austin, Southwest Texas State, Texas Mines, Texas Tech, Sul Ross and Southwestern. Hardin-Simmons is undefeated but has been tied—7-7 by Cincinnati University last week.

The standings of the undefeated, untied teams:

TEAM	W	L	PTS.	OP
Stephen F. Austin	2	0	75	12
So'west Tex. State	2	0	53	0
Texas Mines	2	0	68	21
Sul Ross	2	0	54	26
Texas Tech	2	0	39	14
Texas Christian	2	0	35	27
Southwestern	1	0	60	0
Rice	1	0	46	0
Baylor	1	0	42	19
S. M. U.	1	0	33	14

Their schedule this week:

Rice vs Louisiana State at Houston, Baylor vs Mississippi State at Memphis, Texas Christian vs Arkansas at Fort Worth, Southern Methodist vs Texas Tech at Dallas, Stephen F. Austin vs Trinity at Nacogdoches, Southwest Texas State vs Texas A. and I. at Kingsville, Sul Ross vs Eastern New Mexico at Alpine, Southwestern vs Daniel Baker at Brownwood, Texas Mines open.

Baylor, Texas Christian and Stephen F. Austin are the three that appear in danger of losing this week.

Oilers Drop Cats 6-3 In Playoff

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 27. (AP)—The Tulsa Oilers exploded four runs in the eighth inning tonight to defeat Fort Worth's Cats, 6-3, and send the Texas league pennant series back to Fort Worth with the Cats leading, three games to two.

A gamble by Cat Manager Bobby Bragan in relieving starting hurler Willard Ramsdell, an old Oiler nemesis, with his giant southpaw, Chris Van Cuyk, was fatal to the visitors' attempt to wind up the series here.

The line score:

Ft. Worth	003	000	000	3	8	0
Tulsa	100	010	04x	6	10	0

Ramsdell, Van Cuyk (8), Brown (8) and Bragan; Perkowski and Unser.

AMARILLO NEEDS ONE MORE VICTORY TO WIN SERIES

AMARILLO, Sept. 27. (AP)—Amarillo can sack up the post-season series with Lone Star league champion Kilgore by winning just one more time.

The West Texas-New Mexico league titlist Sunday made it three in a row over the Drillers 11-4.

Three home runs helped the Gold Sox win. Bob Crues, Buck Fausett and Dick Gentzkow hit for the circuit. Manager Joe Kracher homered for Kilgore.

The fourth game of the series is scheduled tomorrow night in Kilgore.

PARKS LEAVES KILGORE

KILGORE, Sept 27. (AP)—Jimmy Parks, athletic director at Kilgore Junior college, resigned today to become truck sales manager for a local automobile agency. Parks came to Kilgore in 1936 as assistant high school coach. He joined the junior college staff in 1938 and was named athletic director last year.

MAYER SELLS HORSES

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 27. (INS)—Movie Magnate Louis B. Mayer, continuing to liquidate his thoroughbred empire, announced another auction sale today. Forty-eight brood mares will go on the block at Hollywood park on Nov. 29. That is where 39 of his two-year-olds were auctioned for $1,033,250 last January.

Cookie Lavagetto and Al Gionfriddo, two of the Brooklyn dodger stars in the 1947 World Series, are playing for Oakland, Calif., and Montreal, respectively.

Only One Change In Texas Steers' Lineup

AUSTIN, Sept. 27 (AP) — Only one major change in the Texas Longhorns was made by Coach Blair Cherry after Saturday's debacle against North Carolina.

That change sent tenacious little Billy Pyle back to the starting left halfback slot to put more power and harder blocking into the Texas offensive array.

PROMISING TCU FRESHMEN TO MEET CUBS WEDNESDAY

FORT WORTH, Sept. 27 (AP)—One of the most promising freshman squads in Texas Christian university football history opens the season Wednesday night against the Baylor Cubs.

The 55-man squad has some of the best-known schoolboy players in Texas, including Backs Keith Flowers of Perryton and Gilbert Bartosh of Granger and End Robert Fulton of Wellington. There also is an All-Stater from Arkansas, David Easterling, Pine Bluff back.

RAZORBACKS PREPARE TO MEET T. C. U. SATURDAY

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Sept. 27 (AP)—Coach John Barnhill put his Arkansas Razorbacks through a light drill session here today as he began preparations for the Porkers first duel with a Southwest Conference foe.

BAUGH'S COACH TAUGHT PONY BACK

SMU's Johnson Was Too Slow To Run, So He Became Passer

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

DALLAS, Sept. 27.—Gil Johnson, Southern Methodist's strike-out king of football, is a great passer for two reasons:

1. He was too slow to run so he concentrated on throwing the ball.

2. He was taught the fundamentals of passing by the man who did the same for Sammy Baugh. And Sammy Baugh has become the acme of passers, as every fan knows.

When Johnson completed nine out of nine for 207 yards, three throws counting for touchdowns, in Southern Methodist's 33-14 conquest of Pittsburgh Saturday, he was besieged by writers wanting to know how he did it and how he has been doing things like that for two years. Last season he completed 43 out of 78 for 565 yards and had five touchdown passes.

Johnson Explains

Johnson explained it like this today:

"I have been playing football a long time. I started back in junior high school at Tyler. Then I went to senior high school and the coach was Ed Hennig, who is a leading exponent of wide open football. He likes to throw that ball around.

Hennig was coach at Sweetwater high school when a fellow named Sam Baugh came along. You know what Baugh did when he finished high school and went to Texas Christian. Well, Hennig told me I was too slow to play in the backfield regularly but if I wanted to stay on the squad I could become a passer. He taught me plenty about passing and when I went to Southern Methodist Coach Matty Bell and Coach Rusty Russell taught me plenty more."

Johnson, a modest young man whose idol is Doak Walker, Southern Methodist's All-America, says please don't give him all the credit.

Raider Linemen Suffer Injuries

Coach Dell Morgan, obviously pleased over the Texas Tech victory at the expense of Texas Aggies, sent his football squad through only a light drill yesterday.

The bruised, battered players came through the game in good shape, with the exception of Guard Milburn Haydon and Center Bud Henderson. Both the Red Raider linemen suffered torn knee cartilages and will be out of action for several days or weeks.

Conley Slightly Hurt

But the rest of the squad withstood the pounding of the heavy Aggie line and backfield. Fullback Bud Conley came up with a slight knee injury, but is not hurt badly enough to keep him out of the SMU game Saturday.

Yesterday's light drill, designed more to keep the players limber and to loosen up sore, stiff muscles, emphasized conditioning. Light offensive work, mainly passing, and dummy defense work featured the workout.

Meanwhile Coach Polk Robison, who scouted the Mustangs at Pittsburgh, Pa., went over to the practice field with the reserves. There, for the long afternoon, he coached the scrubs on SMU plays, so that they can run them with some semblance of similarity to SMU. Today they will get their chance in a scrimmage against the varsity.

Mustangs Are Loaded

The scrimmage session, designed to keep the first string players and reserves sharp, also will be a chance for the varsity to get experience against Mustang plays. And they will need all the experience they can assimilate, what with Doak Walker, Paul Page, Dick McKissick, Kyle Rote and Gil Johnson in the SMU backfield.

Johnson completed nine of nine tosses Saturday against Pitt, with Walker completing three of four attempts. Altogether, the Mustangs travelled most easily through the air and looked good in winning. They are one of the top teams in the nation and the odds against Tech will be prohibitive.

Coaches Talk At QB Club

"We're going to Dallas with the idea of winning a ball game," Coach Dell Morgan of Texas Tech told the fans attending the first meeting of the Lubbock Quarterback club Monday night at Hilton hotel.

Morgan also reviewed the Tech games against West Texas and Texas A. and M., pointing out developments in offensive and defensive play and explaining the strategy used against both opponents.

Polk Robison, assistant Raider mentor who scouted the Southern Methodist Mustangs against Pittsburgh last weekend, reported that the Raiders will face probably the best-balanced backfield in the nation Saturday at Dallas.

Pat Pattison, Lubbock High head grid mentor, explained the Westerner-North Side tilt to the fans, then gave a brief report on the Austin team Lubbock will play Friday night. The Steers' giant quarterback, 200-pound Darrow Hooper, was praised by Pattison, who explained that a defensive lapse aided North Side's offense in the first half.

Two Trainers Suspended

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Sept. 27. (INS)—The New Mexico state racing commission announced today that two race horse trainers have been suspended indefinitely as a result of "occurences" at the state fair.

Jerry Knott, state fair secretary, reported that Herbert H. Yates of El Paso, Tex., and Leo Speer of Dickens, Tex., were suspended for "conduct detrimental to the best interests of racing."

Yates was trainer of the horse, Miss Banks, doped in a Sunday race at Albuquerque, and Speer is owner and trainer of Signal Time and Scim, also reported doped.

The case of the horse, Marching Dan, of the Circle AA Ranch at Tucson, Ariz., also doped at a race last week, was considered, but the commission deferred action. The case will be reviewed at the next commission meeting in Silver City, when the race meet starts there Saturday, Knott said.

USC Signs To Play Army Squad In 1951

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 27. (INS)—The University of Southern California today signed a home-and-home football pact with West Point for 1951 and 1952.

The first game against Army will be played in New York City, Nov. 3, 1951.

The following year the West Pointers will take on the Trojans in Los Angeles on Oct. 4.

USC already has a home-and-home agreement with the Navy. The first game will be played in Los Angeles next September.

Funeral Will Be Held Today For Noted Kentucky Turfman

NEW YORK, Sept. 27. (INS)—Funeral services will be held tomorrow in St. Thomas church for Edward Moore, Sr., noted Kentucky turfman. Moore, who died last night in New York, maintained the famous Circle M. Farm in Kentucky's blue grass country. This farm formerly was owned by the late Col. E. R. Bradley.

Moore, a native of Chicago, was a late-comer in his enthusiasm for the sport of kings. He did not make his presence in the racing world really felt until last year when Big Pebble won the Hollywood Derby and Relic captured the rich Hopeful stakes.

FISHIN'S STILL GOOD—The pleased quintet pictured above really got something on their collective string—21 yellow and channel catfish which weighed 192 pounds dressed. The fish were caught at the Elephant Butte Dam near Hot Springs, N. M. TCU To Meet Arkansas Saturday In Southwest Conference Opener

FORT WORTH, Sept. 27 (Spl.)—An opening day attendance record is certain when T. C. U. and Arkansas meet Saturday night here to open the 1948 Southwest Conference football season and to launch varsity play in the Frogs' enlarged stadium.

Approximately 13,000 tickets were already sold last Saturday, a week before the game, and heretofore the largest crowd ever to witness an opener at T. C. U. was the 12,300 who saw the same two teams in the 1946 home curtain raiser.

Saturday's game in Fort Worth will also be historic in that it will mark the first time that the Frogs have ever played a night home game.

CUP REGATTA WINNER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27 (AP) — Jack Schafer's big gold cup boat Such Crust of Detroit, driven by Danny Arena, today won the 18th annual running of the President's Cup Regatta here and set new speed marks for laps, heat and race.

North Texas Aggies Meet Tyler Saturday

(By The Associated Press)

The battle for the Southwestern Junior college conference football championship swings into high gear this week with three games counting in the standings.

North Texas Aggies go to Tyler and San Angelo to Beaumont in major title tilts.

Tyler's defending champion Apaches opened the conference race last week by beating John Tarleton 19-7. They will face much sterner opposition Saturday night in the game with the Aggies.

NTAC beat the North Texas State freshmen 12-6 last week.

San Angelo, which fell 6-0 to the Hardin-Simmons freshmen, will run into a tough one indeed in the unbeaten Lamar Cardinals of Beaumont. Lamar has defeated Brownsville Junior college 25-7 and Del Mar of Corpus Christi 21-7.

Paris plays Schreiner Institute at Kerrville in the other conference game on the card. Paris is undefeated in two starts. Schreiner has lost both of its games this season, last week falling to Victoria Junior College 18-6. Paris was smothering Weatherford 37-6.

John Tarleton plays Texas A. & M. freshmen at Stephenville Thursday and Kilgore engages Louisiana State Northeast center at Kilgore Saturday.

University Of Arizona Grid Squad To Meet Utah Saturday

TUCSON, Ariz., Sept. 27. (Spl)—A squad of approximately 35 University of Arizona football players leaves here by train early Thursday (Sept. 30) for Salt Lake City, where the Wildcats meet Utah university in their second game of the 1948 season Saturday night, Oct. 2

The game in Salt Lake City this weekend will be the ninth meeting of the Wildcats and Redskins. In previous games plyed, Utah holds a six-to-one edge. Last year, in Arizona stadium, the two teams played to a 20-20 tie. Utah won previous games played in 1924, 1925, 1936, 1940, 1941 and 1946. Arizona's lone victory over the Redskins was scored in 1942 by a 14-0 score.

Madison Square Garden has posted $84,000 in prize money for the 23rd annual rodeo to be held in the arena, Sept. 29-Oct. 24.

The strength of democracy lies in the voluntary group action it sets in motion to solve social and community problems. Fair Gets Off To Impressive Start stead of the usual 1 p. m. on Lubbock Day. Most of those which will not close at the earlier hour have agreed to release any of their women employes in plenty of time to attend the "Queen for a Day" program and broadcast at the grandstand between noon and 1:30 p. m. Every woman who attends has a chance of being chosen queen, and of receiving awards which average close to $2,000 in value.

The Lions club sponsors of the "Queen" broadcasts announced that tickets for that event will be available from 8 until 10 p. m., today and Wednesday in the lobby of the Hilton hotel. After that, they will be on sale at the fairgrounds. Attached to each ticket is a card upon which any woman can write the reasons why she would like to be queen for that day. The judging which leads to the selection of the eventual winner starts with these cards.

Exhibits Are In Progress

Among the many events which made the opening day outstanding in the history of Panhandle-South Plains fairs were these:

Mrs. Jean Miller, 19, of Plainview was chosen Monday's queen. She and her husband, Ernie Miller, jr., are scheduled to take off to Hollywood at 9:30 a. m. today by airliner—one of the awards.

Floyd county won by an eyelash in the County Agriculture exhibit department, out-scoring Lynn county by two points. Parmer county, the winner last year, was a close third. Only 48 points out of a possible 1,000 separated counties in the first and the 13th positions. First prize was $100.

Meadow won first prize of $50 in the vocational agriculture department, closely pressed by Frenship, in second place, and Muleshoe third, also capturing $50 each. The difference in the awards was the ribbons.

Slaton Wins Honors

In the Veterans' Vocational department which combined agricultural display with educational exhibits, Slaton captured first and $30. Jack R. Tinney instructs the Slaton vocational class. Others placing, the instructors and the awards were: second, South Lubbock, W. H. Tinnery, $25; third, Shallowater, Howard Preston, $20;; fourth, Roosevelt, Kenneth Frazier, $20; and fifth, North Lubbock, E. F. Dawkins, $20. Earl Fine, the superintendent, and A. H. Leidigh and T. L. Leach, both of the Texas Technological college faculty, reported that the competition was astonishingly close.

Judging was finished in the individual agriculture exhibits but Walter Y. Wells said the results cannot be tabulated until some time today. They are among the finest ever shown at a Panhandle-South Plains fair. Dr. A. W. Young, of Tech, is judge.

The final and climaxing major event of the day was the first presentation of the "Water Follies of 1948" at the grandstand. The performance deserved much better than the slim attendance which appeared for the initial presentation.

Show Is Tops

The chill undoubtedly cut the gate sharply. Top coats are advisable for those who attend the night performances during the remainder of the week. But those who attend can be assured that there isn't a seat in the grandstand which is not excellent. The reserved center seats at $1.80 and general admission is $1.25.

Comedy Keynote Of Show

The water ballet, which performe intricate precision drills in a pool 75 feet long, is tops. The girls are shapley and, in beauty, will stand closest inspection. They also appear in several dance routines, as background for the performances of the blond and lovely Miss Cecil Lewis, ballerina.

But comedy is the keynote of the show, and the opening night audience enjoyed the performance thoroughly. Peter Fick, who holds several speed swimming records, gave several demonstrations, but was best in a comedy water act. Eddie Rose and Lenny Laden combined in another comedy presentation which came close to stealing the show.

Diving exhibitions were extraordinary, including two comedy acts. Crooner Danny Southern has an excellent voice and his selections pleased the audience. The "Dilly Dallies" produced a lot of laughs on the diving boards and in a dance number with six of the ballet girls. A hand balancing act presented by the "Three Aces" probably is the best of its kind on tour today.

The show moves smoothly and, on the whole, is well paced, except that some of the monologues are on the longish side. The audience also would like to have seen a little more swimming by the girls. But the "Follies" are top flight entertainment—the best of its kind ever to be booked in this portion of the Southwest.

The carnival measured up to the most optimistic of advance expectations. The midway includes only three or four tent shows, with none of the offensive honky-tonk type. It features rides. The equipment is new. Prices are reasonable.

Seldon's stratosphere act is genuinely outstanding. The thrills it produces as he performs at the top of a 135-foot pole are well worth seeing. Among other things, he does a handstand at the top of the pole while its sways through an arc of more than 40 feet. As a climax, he loops a noose about his neck and does a 200-yard "slide for life" down an inclined wire from an elevation of about 100 feet. Seldon's elaborate equipment is of his own design and, according to carnival officials, cost approximately $20,000.

An electrical robot has been created to warn loading dock crane operators of loads that might cause the crane to tip over.

Vote Probe Launched

She was questioned about them on the stand. Then Smith said the hearing would resume at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow. He directed the deputy marshal to continue to try to serve the subpoenas.

Judge Davidson named the masters after granting Stevenson, U. S. senatorial candidate, a temporary injunction which is keeping the name of Lyndon B. Johnson off the Texas ballot as democratic nominee for the state. The state Democratic convention certified Johnson the winner over Stevenson by 87 votes.

Consultation Held

Subpoenas were issued for Clarence Martens, former chairman of the Jim Wells county executive committee; B. F. (Tom) Donald, former secretary of the same committee, and Luis Salas, election judge of precinct 13.

Stevenson has charged that Johnson received more than 200 votes fraudulently in precinct 13 at Alice.

Smith, and J. M. Burnett, the other master, after a brief consultation with attorneys for both Stevenson and Johnson, called a halt at Corpus Christi pending issuance of subpoenas for witnesses in Jim Wells, Duval, and Zapata counties.

After the Corpus Christi meeting the masters split into two sections. Smith, who is to handle the Jim Wells county probe, came here, where he had made three subpoenas to the Jim Wells men returnable.

Johnson's Lawyers Protest

Burnett planned to start his hearings tomorrow morning at San Diego, county seat of Duval county. He planned a hearing Wednesday in Zapata on Zapata county.

Ainsworth told Smith the three men were out of town. He said the only report he could get was that Martens was at his ranch at San Diego, Texas.

Smith then was about to adjourn until 9:30 tomorrow after telling the marshal to continue the search.

Josh Groce, attorney for Stevenson, told Smith that, inasmuch as the poll tally list was said to be locked up in Box 13, that one way to get it would be to bring the box in and open it up.

Everett Looney of Austin, attorney for Johnson, protested, as did Dudley Tarlton, another Johnson lawyer. They said to open the box would be a violation of the sancity of Texas election laws and the Texas constitution. They said there was no authority to open a ballot box except in an election contest and only then upon an order from the district judge in Travis county.

Reported Box Hidden

Smith said it was not a question of opening the box. He wrote out a subpoena to Mrs. Hulsey. She brought box 13 into the hearing room.

From the witness stand Mrs. Hulsey identified the box as that of precinct 13. She said that she had not received it herself, when it was brought in, but that it was in the same condition as when she first saw it.

Under cross examination she testified that the box had been brought in late—at least a week after the canvass of votes—but said that she did not know that of her own knowledge.

She testified that the Jim Wells county clerk had told her the Friday after the canvass that the box was still not in.

Mrs. Hulsey was asked why she happened to bring only box 13 when the other boxes also had been subpoenaed.

"I had hidden box 13, and brought it because nobody else knew where it was," Mrs. Hulsey said.

"Well, we wanted it to be safe," she said when asked why the box had been hidden.

Box Found Unlocked

"The last election two years ago somebody tried to pick a lock on the county clerk's door," Mrs. Hulsey testified.

Defense attorney Looney walked over to the box and picked up the key, which was tied to the handle; then noticed that the padlock on it was open.

Mrs. Hulsey said she did not know whether it was that way when the box was received, because she had not received it. But, she told the examiner, it was in the same condition as it was a week ago, and that she had not in any way tampered with it. She said it was in the vault in the county clerk's office where the other boxes were also kept.

She said she had hidden box 13 behind some long paper tubes of the sort wall maps come in.

Other Boxes Impounded

The hearing recessed briefly and Smith ordered all the boxes brought in.

Attorneys for both sides went over with the marshal to bring the boxes from the vault. They were put in court room, where they were ordered impounded by the federal court.

Smith announced he would subpoena three other deputies in the county clerk's office for the hearing here tomorrow.

The county clerk, C. H. Holmgreen, is on vacation in California.

At Corpus Christi Tarleton earlier had protested the opening of ballot boxes at Alice or "anywhere else." He said his protest was based on laws of the state of Texas that ballot boxes can be opened "only on order of the district judge after an election contest has been declared."

Attorney Protests Action

Tarleton said no such contest has been declared in the U. S. senatorial runoff election and that the federal courts are completely without authority to interfere in this situation.

"Our position," attorney Looney told the two masters, "is that the taking of testimony at this time by these masters (investigators) is premature since the issues have not been joined in the case in Fort Worth."

Looney said Johnson was served with a summons Sept. 17 or 18 to appear in Judge Davidson's court. "The law requires him to appear and supply the plaintiff with his answer within 20 days after the summons," he added.

Looney said therefore Johnson has until Oct. 17 or 18 to file his answer.

The issue cannot be joined until Johnson has filed his answer, he added.

He insisted that the federal court does not have jurisdiction.

Smith interrupted Looney to say that he and the other master, J M. Burnett, were concerned only with complying with instructions issued them by Judge Davidson.

Future Of UN

Russia—she would vote against putting the western-power complaint on the agenda, arguing the negative vote was a veto. If other members challenged, Russia would veto the challenge.

There has been wide speculation here over the tactics the Russians will use. Some observers expect the Russians to walk out if the Council goes ahead with debate. Others expect a Soviet veto at the end if there is a debate.

The three-power notes cite Articles 39 under Chapter Seven, the most powerful section of the U. N. charter. The Council is given the power to eliminate threats to the peace through such pressure as economic and diplomatic sanctions and, finally, armed force.

Bevin's talk was a typical Bevin crisis speech, delivered with such emotion that his voice broke at intervals. The impact was electrifying and the 58 delegates—except for those from the grim-faced Soviet bloc—gave him a noisy ovation. Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky took notes throughout and strode out of the chamber at the conclusion.

The Berlin crisis rumbled around the world. In Moscow foreign diplomats were asking whether Russia would withdraw from the United Nations, whether the U. N. itself would flounder on the issue.

In Berlin a Russia-controlled newspaper echoed some of Bevin's fears with the declaration that if the western powers force a U. N. debate on Berlin "a wedge will be driven into the U. N. which may split the entire world organization."

The Berlin city council told the four occupying powers (United States, Russia, Britain and France) that if they could not settle their differences over the divided city they should get out and let the Germans conduct their own affairs.

Western Officials

permanently if the decision goes against them, as expected, on the Berlin issue,

Qualified observers, however, denied that such an extreme course would result in a breakup of the world organization.

Rather, it would force all of the other world states into a coalition against Russia.

These experts refuted the idea that East-West relations had deteriorated badly as a result of developments in the past 48 hours.

Ironically, they pointed out that there could be no deterioration—that from the time of Peter the Great no other nation had enjoyed truly friendly and respected relations with Russia.

It was conceded that should the Soviets try to interfere seriously with the western air freight operation into Berlin it would constitute a deliberate act against our military forces and would have to be treated as such.

Should such a situation develop, it was anticipated that the weight of American public opinion, to say nothing of that in Britain, France and elsewhere, would surge up in quick demand for stern resistance.

No One Seriously Hurt In Auto Collision Near Carlisle

No one was seriously injured in a two-car collision at Carlisle at 7:10 p. m. Monday.

A 1940 Chevrolet coach, driven by Mrs. Louree Pace Koonce, 41, of Hurlwood, was struck by a 1947 Pontiac coach driven by Roscoe Buckalew, 27, of Veterans village. Mrs. Koonce was attempting to turn north from the south lane of traffic on the highway toward a nearby gin when her car was in collision with Buckalew's. Considerable damage was caused to both machines.

Mrs. Koonce's two small children, Sammy Lane, 13, and Patsy Nell, 7, were bruised. Investigating Texas Highway patrolmen were to continue an investigation into the wreck today.

Berlin Crisis Sends Stock Market Down

NEW YORK, Sept. 27. (AP) — Listed stocks lost more than $1,500,000,000 in market values today in a selling wave that followed a deepening of the Berlin crisis.

Individual stocks declined from $1 to more than $4 a share in trading that expanded to 1,210,000 shares for the day.

The Associated Press average price of 60 stocks fell $1.60 to $65.90, the lowest since April 14.

Railroad stocks were hardest hit of any group in the list with some of the leaders losing from $2 to more than $4 a share. At the same time the shares of steel, Motor, oil and metal companies declined from a few cents to more than $2.

Stocks of the aircraft manufacturing companies remained steady.

Floyd County Wins

Adams, agent (arranged by Edward White), $25; eighth—Hale county, 921 points, Manuel W. It was announced by Walter Y. Wells, superintendent of the individual exhibits sections of the agriculture department, that judging was about completed in that section last night, results were being tabulated, and would be announced today.

MEADOW WINS VOCATIONAL AGRICULTURE DIVISION

Meadow was awarded the royal purple ribbon and $50 cash first prize as top place winner in the vocational agriculture department of the 31st annual Panhandle South Plains fair here yesterday, and Frenship, rural school in Lubbock county, won second.

Results of judging of the 12 booths arranged by vocational agriculture classes in the area were announced shortly after noon by L. M. Hargrave, department superintendent. Judging was done by A. H. Leidigh and T. L. Leach, both of the Tech college faculty.,

Other Winners Named

Truett Babb is instructor of the Meadow ag class, and the exhibit showed the value of adapted cotton varieties. The second place Frenship class is taught by John Johnson, and the display showed the value of proper terracing. Second place also paid $50 cash award, as did third.

Others, in the order of the placement, were:

Third place, Muleshoe, $50, subject matter cotton harvesting, O. L. Christy, instructor; fourth, $45 Brownfield, varieties of grain sorghum,, Lester Buford, instructor; fifth, $45, Cooper, cattle grub eradication, Harvey Owen, instructor; sixth, $45, Tahoka, farm safety, Virgil Carter, instructor; seventh, $40, Cotton Center, irrigation of grain sorghum, Costlow, instructor; eighth, $40, Hale Center, roundworms in hogs, Lee Carter, instructor; ninth, $40, Sudan, saving pigs, Edgar Chance, instructor; tenth, Anton, $35, poultry quiz, Jack Rosenbaum, instructor; eleventh, Littlefield, $35, underground irrigation ditches, Eldon Matthews, instructor, twelfth, Lorenzo, $32.50, profitable poultry, S. B. Martin, instructor.

Cotton Comparison Made

The first place winning Meadow exhibit graphically illustrated a comparison in money returns to the farmer from producing normal boll variety cotton and a stormproof. Figures are from the Lubbock experiment station, on the 1947 crop.

This showed a normal boll variety on dry land netted the farmer $63.56 an acre, compared to $70.96 an acre with stormproof cotton on dry land. On irrigated land normal boll cotton netted $121.50 an acre, compared with $140.38 from stormproof.

The second place Frenship display painted a picture of the value of saving the soil. In the center of the background is an enlarged picture of a weeping baby, and the question "What will you leave him?" Alternate answers are "an eroded infertile farm soil," or "erosion controlled fertile farm soil."

Figures are cited from the Sour experiment station showing that cotton planted with the slope on unterraced land yielded 116 pounds of lint per acre, and that soil loss was 3.75 tons per acre per year of use. This compared with land on which closed level terraces had been built that yielded 175 pounds of lint cotton per acre, with no soil loss.

Plainview Woman

said: "What if I can't go? I have two children."

She was informed that a staff exists for the purpose of helping work out problems so a "Queen For a Day" can make the trip.

In addition to the trip, Mrs. Miller's awards included the queen's scepter, a bouquet of roses, a pin, hat, gloves, suit, dresses, a cake, a bathing suit, Alka-Seltzer, Phillip Morris cigarets, shoes, portrait, beauty treatment, Yellow Cab scrip book, mattress, refrigerator and gold diamond-studded watch from Zale's Jewelry.

Wanted A Goat

Her wish as expressed on the program was for a goat so she would have fresh goat milk to feed her seven months old baby, Carole, who suffers from eczema.

She has another daughter, Connie Jean, 3. Mrs. Ernie Miller, sr., plans to keep the children while her daughter-in-law goes to Hollywood, the "glamour capital," as it was described by Jack Bailey, master of ceremonies for the program.

Program officials Monday afternoon were offering assistance in arrangements for her husband to leave his work. If Mr. and Mrs. Miller go on the trip as planned, they will return Friday or Saturday.

Mrs. Miller, going behind the platform to discuss her prizes following the broadcast, exclaimed over a chocolate cake, one of the smaller awards. "My husband likes chocolate cakes," she said.

Lubbock Woman Gets Wish

She was not the only person happy over results of the program. Mrs. Frederick W. Hess of 2003 Broadway, whose husband is an Air Force major in Arabia, expressed the wish to telephone her husband. She was the runner-up in the program and her applause was "quite close" to that of the winning candidate, said a program representative. Although it is not customary to grant the wish of the runner-up, program officials planned to provide for a call to Arabia. They also presented a washing machine to Mrs. Hess.

An estimated 1,800 persons attended the program and they decided the final winner.

Proceeds the Lions club receives from the program will go into its general charity fund.

Twenty-One Named

Twenty-one women had been chosen to go to the platform on basis of wishes they had written on cards. From the 21, five were chosen by the master of ceremonies on basis of whether their wishes were worthwhile and interesting, whether they appeared likely to talk well over the radio, on their reactions to questions and whether Bailey thought listeners would be entertained by the dialogue. The remaining 16 served as judges, selecting Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Hess from the five. Audience applause determined who should be crowned.

Every woman who enters the grandstand may fill in a card and be a candidate to go to the platform. Such cards may be filled in as soon as sale of tickets opens at the grandstand at 10 a. m.

The other three persons selected among the final five were Mrs. James Eubank of Lubbock, Route 1, who wished for a washing machine; Mrs. Joe D. Music, of Forty-sixth street, Overton addition, who explained her husband was in the Marines when they were married and went overseas soon afterward and said her wish was for a honeymoon, and Mrs. Dessie Fielder of 1908 Tenth, who wished for two dozen hens and a rooster.

Lubbock Man To Face Charge Of Transporting Liquor

A charge of transporting an alcoholic beverage will be filed this morning against a 23-year-old Lubbock man, police indicated. The man was allegedly aprehended in 1400-block of North Third street and six cases of beer taken from his car by patrolmen. The patrol car had followed him from an address in the Latin-American section of the city, reports said.

A complaint charging drunkenness and use of abusive language was filed last night against a 32-year-old Lubbock man, the arrest following a telephoned report to police headquarters that a man was drunk and carrying a pistol and knife in 1200-block Ave. G. Arresting officers found that the gun was only a cap pistol.

John B. Laney, about 30, was fined $1 and county court costs on a plea of guilty to check law violation, records showed.

Police, indicating that his injuries were not serious, said the car was being driven eastward on Thirty-first by Ronald Forrest Carson, 14, of 2426 Thirty-first and that the bike rider lost control and fell against the car's left rear fender. No charges were filed.

Ambassador Reports

the last time he saw the premier about two weeks ago "he looked extremely well." He said Stalin is a little older, of course, but "quite vigorous and alert." Russian leaders, the ambassador said, are always asking if a change of administrations in this country would result in a change in American foreign policy. He went on:

"We always answer "no", that that policy is a considered policy supported by both major political parties and about 90 per cent of the people of the United States."

To a question about how Russian newspapers treat the American political campaign, Smith answered that there was an article in Pravda "to the general effect that the Wallace campaign is gaining vigor and millions of Democratic Americans are flocking to his standards."

He said he gathers from conversations that Russians take seriously the presidential campaign of third party candidate Henry A. Wallace.

"How are things in Russia?" somebody inquired. "Can't you read the papers?" Smith came back with a smile.

The ambassador and the President parted here tonight, Mr. Truman to make another camapaign speech, Smith to drive 30 miles to an air base and fly back to Washington. He said he plans to remain in the capital a week or more and to see Secretary of State Marshall again in Paris on the return trip to Moscow.

He was believed to be a customer in the place at the time of the fire. The other injured men were reported to be company employes.

Georgia Senate Bill Would Open Election Ballot To All Candidates

ATLANTA, Sept. 27. (INS)— A Georgia Senate committee today unanimously recommended passage of a bill designed to open the state's general election ballot to all presidential candidates. Technicalities in the wording, however promise to make passage difficult.

Sen. Everett Millican of Atlanta, who introduced the bill, admitted that it "probably will be amended." He pointed out that a vital word was omitted from one section of the bill that would mean that Georgians would not be assured of a chance to vote on presidential electors from all parties.

The bill goes back to the Senate for its second reading tomorrow. It must be read three times before it goes to the floor for debate and amendments.

YANKEE INGENUITY PERSISTS

WESTBORO, Mass. (U.P.) — Odds and ends he bought for $1.25 plus his ingenuity earned Philip R. Scott, Jr., 18, a $700 scholarship to Worcester (Mass.) Polytechnic Institute. A diving rig made of a war surplus gas mask and old tire pumps won Scott the Fuller Scholarship for Yankee Ingenuity.

Spy Trials Asked

along with the others, it called him a cooperative witness and recorded his denial that he ever gave Adams any secrets.

The proposed prosecutions would be under the 1917 espionage act, which provides a maximum penalty of death or up to 30 years imprisonment.

The committee also said a mysterious "scientist X" should "either be prosecuted forthwith or cleared." That is a separate West Coast case.

It added that it may ask later for perjury charges against three witnesses heard in recent weeks.

Reds Given Information

The report also said Dr. Martin D. Kamen, now a professor at Washington university in St. Louis, "very definately gave classified information" to a Russian consular official in San Francisco in 1944. Kamen "concedes that what he did constituted a gross indiscretion," the report said, adding:

"Whether that was all it was, or whether it constituted something more than that, the committee is not prepared at this time to say."

Dr. Kamen has denied that he gave away atomic secrets to the Russians. In a statement at Berkeley, Calif., on Sept. 5 Dr. Kamen said he had been discharged from the Manhattan atomic project in 1944 for "indiscretions" but said he was never charged with "security violation."

He acknowledged having met some Russians in a San Francisco restaurant and said that while most of their conversations was "idle chit chat" they did talk about the treatment of leukemia by radiation because the brother of one of the Russians was suffering from the ailment.

The Kamen affair was reported as separate from the Hiskey-Chapin and "scientist X" matters, although the committee declared it was pursuing leads which indicated a tie-up of all atomic spying at the top.

The committee also said it had indications of "other acts of apparent treachery" that require further investigation.

Floydada Man Injured In Auto Accident Reported 'Improved'

FLOYDADA, Sept. 27 (Special) —Alvie L. Jackson, 38, of Floydada, who was critically injured in a highway crash Saturday morning on the eastern edge of Floydada, was reported to be "somewhat improved" Monday night by attendants at Floydada hospital.

Orvid Stanton, 25, driver of the car in which Jackson was riding, also suffered head injuries. He was released from the hospital Monday.

Stanton's car struck the guard rail of a culvert and careened into a railroad signal post. The vehicle was demolished, the motor being hurled several feet from the point of the collision.

HST Rejects 'Unity'

"has shown that the Republican party is still the high-tariff party of Smoot and Hawley and Joe Grundy.

"And you can't expect anyone under an obligation to Joe Grundy to change it into some other kind of party."

He was speaking of former Senator Joseph P. Grundy, a power in Pennsylvania Republican politics for years. The Grundy wing of the party in the state was credited with wielding a major influence in swinging the presidential nomination to Dewey.

Urges Straight Vote

Swinging on the GOP, the President said that "you can't expect the Republican spokesmen to come out in the open and speak clearly —who it is the Republican party is working for—you'd take them out and hang them if they did."

En route from Dallas to Bonham, the train stopped at Greenville where Mr. Truman made speech No. 80 of the trip. He told several hundred people at the depot to vote the Democratic ticket straight, from president to constable.

Bonham is the home of Sam Rayburn, House Democratic leader and former speaker. As he did at San Antonio last night, Rayburn in introducing the President here, said he feared the effect of a change in United States leaders on its foreign policy throughout the world.

The President drove to Rayburn's home after the speech and met several hundred people who filed by a receiving line.

Police Chief O. R. McKissack estimated at 25,000 the crowd that overflowed onto the fields of a high school stadium to greet the President.

Johnson Gets "Plug"

Mr. Truman put in a plug again for Lyndon Johnson, the certified Democratic nominee for senator, and anticipating his visit to Oklahoma tomorrow, called for the election of former Gov. Robert Kerr, to the Senate from that state.

With those two in the Senate, he said, "they'll make those Republicans dance."

At Bells, introduced by Rep. Rayburn, the President "made a deal" with the crowd to "come over to Bonham" to hear his speech, keeping his talk there brief.

"Texas," he said, "has given me the heartiest welcome I've received on this trip."

He asked them to vote the Democratic ticket "from president to constable."

At Bonham, the President said of Rayburn:

"The Democratic party will give you the kind of government that Sam Rayburn stands for—government in the interest of the farmer and the workingman and all the people."

Earlier, at Waco, in a state where civil rights and racial issues have split States' Rights Democrats from the regular party, there was a bit of booing just after a negro woman, Mrs. E. L. Harrison, shook hands with the President.

Mrs. Harrison told reporters she is a member of the Inter-Racial League.

Applause quickly blanketed some booing from perhaps a score of boys when Mr. Truman gave Lyndon Johnson a boost for the Senate.

Somebody near the train held a Confederate flag aloft.

As he cut across Texas today from south to north, the President made speech number 73 of the current stumping trip at Georgetown. That equalled the record for his entire cross-country tour last June. He raised the mark to 74 at Temple and 75 at Waco before moving on to Fort Worth, Dallas and then Bonham.

He was up early for a talk at San Marcos and got in another soon after at Austin.

In an unscheduled speech at Hillsboro, Mr. Truman told a trainside crowd 90 per cent of the press is against the President because he is for the people. And he said 90 per cent of radio commentators are against him too.

So, he said once more, he has to come out and tell the people about the issues.

Johnson Hearing

It added that under the federal constitution jurisdiction over the entire case rests with the United States Senate.

Former Texas Governor Dan Moody appeared at the court on behalf of Stevenson. He said he would represent Stevenson tomorrow when the case comes up for consideration, and that he was the only attorney here for him.

Growing Military Might Ready To Back Up U.S. Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. (U.P.)—Steadily growing American military might is backing up the nation's foreign policy, a survey showed today.

From a post-war low of 1,266,000 officers and men, the armed forces have jumped recently to 1,518,000. These first line combat forces of the Army, Navy, Air Force and marines are backed up by 2,188,619 reserves in various stages of organization.

The Air Force shook off its post-war slump and now reports that it has 5,000 first line planes ready for combat out of a total force of 23,000 planes.

Superforts In Shape

This force probably includes at least 1800 fighters and 800 B-29 superforts. Four hundred of the Superfort bombers are in combat outfits and 400 in a ready reserve.

Air Force manpower is up from a postwar low of 300,000 to a strength of 400,000 officers and men. It will go to 444,500 by June 30, 1949 and 502,000 by June 30, 1950.

Army strength has risen from a postwar low in April of this year of 537,084 to a present strength of 623,806. It will rise to 790,000 by June 30 of next year and 837,000 by the end of the next fiscal year.

The Navy low was April 30, 1948 when the Navy went down to 385,000, it is up to 409,200 out of its 460,000 budgetary ceiling for fiscal 1949. Its authorized strength to be reached by June 30, 1950 is 556,000.

Marine strength is up to 85,000 from a low of 81,000 and it is building steadily toward a budget-allowed strength of 92,000. Eventually, it will reach 108,200 by June 30, 1950.

Topping the list of reserves is the National Guard with 307,619 officers and men organized into combat type units, ready to move almost immediately. The Air National Guard has more than 1,000 combat type planes ready.

Mexican Publisher Purchases Luxurious Private Railway Car

OAKLAND, Cal., Sept. 27. (U.P.)—A $52,000 private railroad car will roll out of Oakland Wednesday bound for Mexico City and delivery to Col. Jose Garcia Valseca, wealthy newspaper publisher.

The car, christened "El Sol," (the sun,) features a stainless steel kitchen, an all-nickel observation platform, a radio-telephone, indirect lighting, equipment for sound motion uictures, and a 360-gallon water tank. The five roomettes and one stateroom are radiant-heated and air-conditioned.

Robert C. Palmer, Oakland mining engineer who designed the car, planned to exhibit it at stops in Los Angeles and El Paso, Texas.

Palmer said the publisher would use the car to visit his 37 Spanish language newspapers throughout Mexico and Southwestern United States.

Stunt Flier Plunges To His Death In Milwaukee Show

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 27. (AP)—Stunt flier Dick Powell plunged to death yesterday when he slipped while hanging by his feet from the bottom wing of a plane.

As his wife, Margaret, and a crowd of 5,080 watched, the Waukesha, Wis., daredevil crawled out on the wing, hooked his feet in guy wires and hung head down after the plane completed a low pass over the field.

As the plane climbed, Powell reached for the wing, slipped and plunged from a 250-foot altitude.

Daylight Time Shift Scarcely Compares With 'Old Days' When Nation Had 100 Time Zones

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27—We've got standard time again and now the clocks in Bloomington are the same as they are in Farmer City.

Granted, it was confusing during the hot weather in spots where the tickers ran on local option.

But if you think we have tumult in these times, listen to the report compiled by the Association of American Railroads about the long ago:

Before the year 1883, there were nearly 100 different time zones in the United States. It wasn't until Nov. 18 of that year that, through the efforts of the rail lines, a system of standard time was adopted here and in Canada.

"Solar" Time Used

Before then, heavens!!! There was nothing but local or "solar" time. "Solar" time, was based on the passage of the sun across the meridian and which varied in the latitude of Chicago about one minute for every 13 miles or one second for every 1,140 feet.

An example:

Prior to 1883, if a fella was standing at the end of the Municipal pier in Chicago and had a pal in the north western station on Madison street, their watches —by sun time—would be 10 seconds apart.

And from one end of the Windy City to the other represented as much as 67 seconds difference in time. From one end of the Brooklyn bridge to the other in New York—five seconds. From the capitol dome in Washington to the Lincoln memorial—seven seconds.

People Missed Trains'

It isn't hard to figure that people were always missing trains.

The Pennsylvania railroad in the east used Philadelphia time, which was five minutes slower than New York time and five minutes faster than Baltimore time.

The Baltimore and Ohio used Baltimore time for trains running out of Baltimore, Columbus time for Ohio, Vincennes, Ind., time for those going out of Cincinnati. Other trains on the same line ran on New York, Philadelphia and Chicago time The engineer who wasn't both a Philadelphia lawyer and a Casey Jones at the same time was a lost goose.

When it was noon in Chicago, it was 12:31 in Pittsburgh; 12:24 in Cleveland; 12:17 in Toledo; 12:13 in Cincinnati; 12:09 in Louisville, 12:07 in Indianapolis; 11:50 in St. Louis; 11:48 in Dubuque; 11:39 in St. Paul; and 11:27 in Omaha.

At the time there were 27 different local time zones in Michigan, alone. And in the city of Pittsburgh, there were six different time standards for incoming and outgoing trains at the station.

A person traveling from Eastport, Me., to San Francisco, if he wanted always to have the right railroad time and get off at the right place, had to twist the hands of his watch 20 times enroute.

It was so bad that in Kansas City the jewelers got mad and busted up their association. Each one of the leading watch-makers furnished his own "standard time," and it varied from block to block, and shop to shop.

Grain Exports May Top 1947 Record By Four Million Tons

WASHINGTON, Sept. 27. (U.P.)—Grain exports during the current crop year may top last year's record by nearly 4,000,000 tons, according to the Agriculture department.

In a summary of world crops and markets, the department said the world's big exporting countries probably will have about 10 per cent more grain to spare this year than in 1947-48 when exports topped 34,600,000 tons. This would mean total world exports of about 38,000,000 tons.

The department's estimate was expected to renew the squabble within President Truman's cabinet over how much grain should be shipped abroad.

Pipeline In Pampa-Borger Area To Be Sold By WAA

DALLAS, Sept. 27 (AP)—The War Assets administration today announced that a pipeline in the Pampa-Borger area is for sale.

The line is 45 miles long and has a maximum capacity of 214,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas daily. It comprises 32 miles of 22-inch line, 12 miles of 12-inch and about a mile of six and eight-inch pipes. Completed Feb. 1, 1945, the installation cost the government $750,000.

Bids must be received by Nov. 15 and are subject to a lease for continued use held by Phillips Petroleum company.

Five Numbers, Including Widely Known Talent, Is Announced For Tech Artist Course

Five numbers to be presented on Texas Technological college artist course for the year were announced Saturday, including widely recognized artists, among which is a tenor, violinist, pianist, soprano, and a presentation of "The Barber of Seville."

James Melton, leading tenor of the Metropolitan Opera Association, will be presented in a concert Oct. 7. Melton studied under the direction of the famous teacher, Gaetano de Luca, and has appeared in the role of "Pinkerton" in Madame Butterfly, and in "The Magic Flute" at the Metropolitan Opera house

French Violinist To Appear

Appearing January 12 will be Ginette Neveu, spectacular young French violinist, who is the niece of Charles Widor, the great composer and organist. Her appearance with the Boston Symphony and the New York Philharmonic Symphony in the Beethoven and Brahms concerti won for her high praise from the top critics of the world in 1947.

Eugene List, pianist, who appeared before the American public in the motion picture, "Bachelor's Daughters," will perform February 16. Among many impressive appearances, List entertained the Big Three at Potsdam.

One of America's most colorful sopranos, Eileen Farrell, billed as the American Colleen, will be presented March 2. She is the daughter of "The O'Farrells," favorites of the Vaudeville circuit, and began learning Irish ballads before she learned her ABC's.

Comic-Opera Slated

Rossini's sparkling opera-comique, the ever popular "Barber of Seville," will be produced as the fifth number on the schedule, March 24. The production will be an itenerant troupe organized in New York City, by veteran impresario, Charles L. Wagner, who, during the past ten years has come to be one of the country's most important producers of operas on tour

All presentations will begin at 8 p.m. in the Lubbock High school auditorium, and tickets will go on sale Monday at the B. E. Adair music company, 1012 Main street Season tickets for townspeople will be $6. Single admission will be $1.50 for children and students in high school, $1.80 for adults, all including federal tax. Students of Texas Tech may purchase tickets good for the Fall semester at $1.80 in room 209, Journalism building, from 9-12 o'clock each morning.

Professor R. A. Mills, chairman of the artist course committee, explained that students of Tech will be given first preference on seats at the performances, and only about 200 season tickets will be sold to townspeople. Single admission tickets will be on sale at the door of the auditorium on a first come first serve basis.

Eighteen Persons Killed When Theater Roof Falls In Berlin

BERLIN, Sept. 27 (AP)—Eighteen Germans were killed last night and nine others were injured when the roof of a Berlin motion picture theater collapsed.

Tons of plaster crashed into a block of about 80 seats in the Pamet Kino in downtown Schoeneberg in the U. S. sector of Berlin.

The area was bombed heavily during the war and the roof may have been weakened then.

Agriculture Exhibits At Fair Outstanding

Displays Hailed As Among Best Yet Shown; Area Counties Enter

A wealth of agricultural exhibits, described in all sources as the best in history of the fair in quality and variety, was viewed by thousands who visited the Agricultural building yesterday on opening day of the 31st annual Panhandle South Plains fair here.

And the products themselves were not the whole story, as exhibitors and those responsible for placement of the exhibits sought to drive home the oft-repeated story of soil conservation and improved varieties of crops.

Progressive Ideas Offered

For instance, in the section devoted to the Veterans Vocational schools, of which Earl Fine, county coordinator of veterans education, is superintendent, the products, in neat array on the floor of the booth, are flanked by a background of facts, figures and illustrations pointing out ways to better and more profitable farming.

The public school vocational agriculture section is similar, but products are not displayed. Rather the entire booth, floor and background, tells a collective word and figure picture, which if heeded by producers would mean not only dollars and cents in their pockets now and year after year, but would go far toward assuring a fertile and high-producing soil for future generations.

Five booths are placed in the Veterans Vocational school section, and 12 are in the public school vocational agriculture section, all along the east side of the building. L. M. Hargrave, associate professor of agricultural education at Texas Tech college, is superintendent.

Along the well-filled west side are county exhibits from this portion of West Texas and eastern New Mexico, along with three educational booths in the northwest corner which are arranged for information and are not in competition for prizes.

Exhibits Among Best

Fourteen counties have arranged booths for competitive judging, displaying an array of products "that would do justice to any fair, any place."

One visitor pointed to this section of the building as about the best display he had ever seen of such a wide variety of products—almost everything, either in the finished or raw products stage, that is used in human food.

Counties placing competitive booths are Scurry, Lamb, Lynn, Parmer, Briscoe, Terry, Castro, Swisher, Floyd, Hale, Bailey, Garza; all in Texas; and Lea county, N. M. (not placed yesterday), and Roosevelt county, N. M.

Educational exhibits are placed by Roosevelt county (Portales), N. M., the South Plains Bee Keepers association, and a showing of 24 varieties of South Plains grasses.

In the bee exhibit are shown various types of equipment needed for successful operation, and a hive of bees at work, under glass so their actions can be observed.

Educational Exhibit Shown

In the South Plains grass exhibit are 24 native to the area. Grass has been described as "man's bread and meat; many things good and most things sweet," and a product which directly feeds and clothes people of the earth.

One source said of grass: "The steer converts it to meat for man to eat; his hide, a product of grass, becomes leather with a thousand uses. A piece of woolen cloth is just another form of grass processed by a sheep. A dish of ice cream is pure grass, because a cow changed grass into milk and cream. The sweetening came from a grass, sugar cane. A hen was the factory that turned grain, which is grass seed, into an egg."

On that basis, then, grass must be accepted as an indispensable commodity to man. The 24 varieties exhibited in the South Plains booth are:

Fluff grass, hairy grama, Tobosa, curly mesquite, buffalo, six weeks grama, crested wheat, white triodia, love grass (annual), windmill grass, plains bristlegrass, sand bluestem, needle grass, crowfoot grama, black grama, sand dropseed, vine mesquite, love grass (different to above), feather bluestem, sand love grass, blue grama, weeping love grass, sideoats grama, and Canadian wild rye.

Cotton Display Shown

The grass display was placed through co-operation of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Texas Extension service.

Roosevelt county's educational booth depicts not only a wide variety of products in the raw, but finished foods processed by a large number of small industries at Portales. The display leads "from field to factory" and on to the consumer. B. W. McGinnis, retired soil conservation service specialist, who now farms on a small scale at Portales, is in charge of the Portales booths.

Marshall W. Howard, U. S. Soil conservation service specialist here, is superintendent of the county exhibit section. David W Sherrill, Lubbock county farm

President Urges Congressman's Election In Waco Talk

HST Backs Johnson For Senate

(By The Associated Press)

WACO, Sept. 27.— President Truman today told a cheering Waco crowd to go to the polls on election day "and send Lyndon Johnson to the Senate."

Johnson's certification as Democratic nominee is under fire by Coke Stevenson, Texas' wartime governor, who is trying to keep the congressman's name off the November ballot on charges of fraudulent voting in three South Texas counties.

Jester Is Praised

Stevenson told a reporter at Alice after he had heard of the endorsement:

"It's not to be wondered at that a candidate of the Kansas City machine endorses a candidate of the Parr machine."

The 40-year-old Johnson boarded the President's campaign train at San Antonio last night.

He made a platform appearance with the President at Austin, and at Temple and Waco he got verbal support from Mr. Truman.

At Temple, Mr. Truman came out for Johnson by urging Texans to vote the Democratic ticket "and a Democratic senator in the form of Lyndon Johnson."

The Chief Eexutive told listeners here that if they wanted a Democratic Congress "my advice to you is to go to the polls on election day and send Lyndon Johnson to the Senate, elect your able congressman again, and be sure to keep the good governor in the same place where he is."

"I know you are going to do that?" he added.

Other Texans Lauded

Both Congressman Rayburn and Gov. Beauford Jester were on the campaign train.

At Austin, Mr. Truman had described Johnson as one of "the Texas statesmen who have worked with me," for U. S. prosperity and world peace.

Johnson's name was the top of the list of four Texans he named "as competent to handle national and international problems as they have been in handling the affairs of your own state."

Others were:

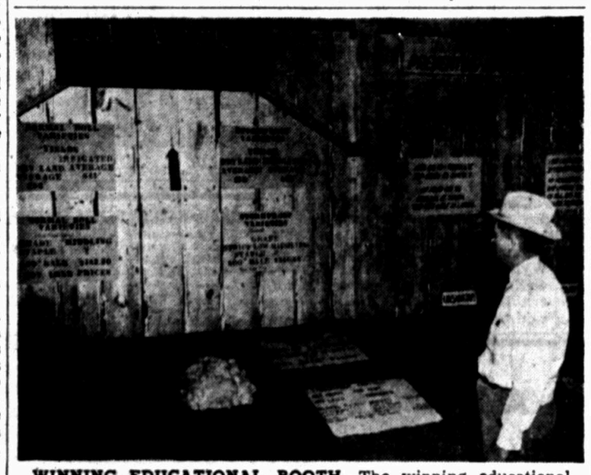

Tom Connally, "one of the founders of the United Nations, and one of the architects of the foreign policy of the United States of America.

Wright Patman the friend of small business and of farm co-operatives."

U. S. Attorney General Tom Clark, of whom he said "I think will go down in history as one of the great attorney generals of the United States."

The Truman train stopped off here en route to Fort Worth and Dallas, where the President spoke. His last appearance for the night was at Bonham, home of Rayburn.

WINNING EDUCATIONAL BOOTH—The winning educational booth at the Panhandle-South Plains fair was prepared by Truett Babb, vocational agriculture teacher at Meadow High school, and his F. F. A. boys. AEC Reports New Research Materials

CHICAGO, Sept. 27. (INS)—The Atomic Energy commission announced today that limited quantities of two important new research materials have been added to the list of research tools made available to science.

The materials are hydrogen 3 and helium 3.

Hydrogen 3—also called tritium—is a radioactive gas. AEC spokesmen said it is the only isotope of hydrogen and should prove of special value in medical research.

Helium 3 is expected to yield valuable clues on the still largely unknown nature of the helium nucleus.

Distribution of the two new isotopes to universities and other research bodies will be handled through the isotope division of the AEC, Oak Ridge, Tenn.

$5,000,000 Program To Aid Israel Is Launched In U. S.

NEW YORK, Sept. 27. (INS) — Abraham Mokotovski, Jerusalem newspaper editor, announced today a campaign to raise $5,000,000 in the United States for development of Israel.

Mokotovski is a director of the Pagi Financial Corp., sponsors of the plan. He said the corporation, formed to aid Israel construction, will sell stocks, bonds and land to Jews in the United States.

NEW LOW IN THIEVERY

PORTLAND, Me. (U.P.)—A giant hubbard squash was the pride of the youngsters at the Children's Hospital who tended their garden all summer from cots, wheel chairs and crutches. Just before the harvest, thieves went through the garden helping themselves to the fruits of the summer's labor, including the prize squash.

First Aid Hospital Is Opened At Fair

A first aid hospital will be in operation each day this week at the Panhandle-South Plains fairgrounds under auspices of Lubbock county chapter of the American Red Cross.

Mrs. L. R. Rampy, a graduate nurse, made arrangements for the project. She is an assistant in the blood bank and co-chairman of disaster nursing activities in the Lubbock county chapter.

A registered nurse and a student nurse will be on duty from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily and a first aid instructor and assistant will be on duty from 6 p.m. to midnight.

Four funeral homes in the city, Sanders, Plains, Rix and Bryan McDonald & Son, will furnish ambulances, with each providing an ambulance for one and one-half days so that one will be available at all times. Patients would be sent into the city to hospitals if more than first aid should be needed.

Police Continue Investigation Of Burglaries Over Weekend

Two reported burglaries were among a variety of cases under investigation Monday by city and county law enforcement authorities.

The Sunday burglary of Thomas Watch Repairing shop at 1301 College was reported to the police department, but no estimate of loss had been announced to them.

Truett Tyler, a student of Texas Tech, called police at 1:45 a. m. Sunday to inform that he had heard the noise of smashed glass and had traced it to the Thomas place. He gave officials a partial description of a car that left the general vicinity immediately thereafter.

The sheriff's department was informed of the burglary of the route 5 residence of Berlin Haught. A radio, a suit of khaki clothing and other properties were reported taken.

Assault Cases Studied

Three assault cases also were under study.

A woman living in 1200-block Ave. L reported that "some boys" assaulted her early Sunday after taking her outside the city. She had a "knot on her head." A purse that she complained was missing was found in a car, police said. Officials further said they arrested two youths, but released them after questioning them briefly.

Gladys Smith, described as a negro woman, was taken to Lubbock Memorial hospital early Monday for treatment of a "shot in the hip from some kind of rifle."

Ernest Ward, Slaton deputy sheriff, who brought the woman here, said she "got in line of fire" when two negro men struggled over the weapon.

Negro Man Is Held

A negro man who, police said, had been discharged from the Army "under section 8" was held for investigation into aggravated assault upon a negro woman. Police said when they went to a hotel to arrest him he met them at a door with a "long open knife in his hand." He ran again, shoes in hand, but was arrested after leaving the shoes in the woman's residence, officials said.

Roy Lee Burch of Lubbock, route 2, said a bike had been stolen from him in 1200-block Ave. H.

Henry W. Buell, of 303 Ave. R., said his car had been stripped.

Radio Is Stolen

S. J. Miller of Lubbock route 1 informed the sheriff's department that a radio had been stolen from his car.

A two-wheel trailer was reported stolen from J. H. Webb of Lubbock route 4.

Buster Long of a mile south of Five-Points drive-in theater informed the sheriff's department that several youths had caused a disturbance there. He said circumstances indicated that they possibly had planned to rob him and tie up his family. A relative fired a shot into the air and the youths dispersed, but returned to pick up what appeared in the darkness to be a quantity of rope they apparently had abandoned, Long said.

Police said they had made 32 weekend arrests, for vagrancy, drunkenness, prowling, disturbance, drunk driving, liquor law violation, driving while operator's license was suspended, and violation of liquor curfew laws.

They said there was only one

Socialist Offers Plan To South

AUSTIN, Sept. 27 (AP) — Socialist presidential candidate Norman Thomas today offered the south a program directed toward the "... general winning of plenty, peace and freedom."

In a speech prepared for delivery at Woolridge park here tonight, the candidate said that such a program "necessarily means an end of discriminations which have adversely affected the South and a profound change in the system of capitalist exploitation of which the South in certain respects has been peculiarly the victim."

Hears Truman Speak

Thomas and President Truman crossed paths here today, but they did not meet. The Socialist candidate stood with a small group of party members in the crowd that heard Mr. Truman speak from the rear platform of his campaign special train this morning.

He said he thought the reception accorded the President was friendly but not enthusiastic. Thomas' appearance here was the only one he plans in Texas during the campaign.

Thomas said the fact he had chosen a southern city to speak on "the meaning of true liberty" should not be taken as a sign that he thought it a sectional issue.

"By no means is prejudice, racial or otherwise, confined to the south," Thomas said.

Favors Civil Rights

"The infamous chattel slavery which has left so difficult a heritage to the South was brought to this new continent in colonial times by nations of 'Christian' Europe. It was tolerated by the authors of the magnificent Declaration of Independence and given legal sanction under the Constitution. It was not a southern, but national failure of mind and conscience which brought it to pass that in the United States alone of western nations did it take the clumsy and brutal surgery of war to remove the cancer of chattel slavery."

Thomas said that American racial prejudice and discrimination play into the hands of Communism. He said the conquest of "an ugly racism" requires something deeper than law.

"What we need is a sense of fraternity—yes, let me say it—of love, which is deeper than law, but which must include law," the candidate said.

He endorsed the proposals of President Truman's civil rights committee and said he believed the President deserves credit for standing by his committee. The proposals have been "long advocated by Socialists," Thomas said, adding also that the President has not "exercised powers he has to end certain evils of race discrimination."

DOVE ON MENU

President Lauds Garner Breakfast

UVALDE, Sept. 27 (U.P.) — President Truman breakfasted heartily Sunday with former vice-president Jack Garner at the Garner home and said, "I haven't had such a breakfast in 40 years."

The menu:

Broiled white-wing dove, fried chicken, ham, bacon, scrambled eggs, rice and gravy, three kinds of jam, hot biscuits with Uvalde honey, orange juice and coffee.

Others sharing in the feast were Mrs. Truman, Miss Margaret Truman, Gov. Beauford Jester of Texas, U. S. Attorney General Tom C. Clark, of Dallas, Rep. Sam Rayburn of Bonham, and Mrs. Tully Garner, daughter-in-law of the former vice-president.

CIRCUS PERFORMER—Rudolph Mathies and one of his Royal Bengal tigers is shown above. A European wild animal trainer, Mathies comes to Lubbock Wednesday with the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus that will give an afternoon and night performance on the South Plains Fairgrounds. Mr. Mathies gives his performance in one of the new steel mesh-chain arenas and is one of three wild animal acts that will be seen with the Big Show.

Preparations To Get Underway For Arrival Of Ringling Bros.-Barnum & Bailey Show

Wednesday is circus day, and while numbers of Lubbock children eagerly anticipate the coming of the "Big Top," it means worries today for the "24-hour man" of Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey forces.

It is he whose duty it is to expediate the unloading early Wednesday of the four railroad trains of silver-enameled stock cars, sleeping cars, and flat cars at the Fort Worth & Denver tracks, and to make sure that the route to the Panhandle-South Plains fairgrounds, where the circus will play, is practicable.

The "24-hour man" must, in addition, have the lot itself and its approaches and ground layout plot of 42 tents, including the recently reconstructed world's largest big top, in workable readiness for the arrival of the circus from Childress.

Must Have Everything Set

Today on the lot, this circus agent must have the huge oval plot for the big top on firm stake ground, for the heaviest assemblage of aerial rigging the circus has ever hoisted. He must also see that the railway crossings are in smooth order, even to the point of rebuilding them, and in many cities he has to fill in, grade, reinforce, and generally "make" circus lots.

The agent's duties do not end even here, however. In order that performers and other personnel, including numbers of animal performers, are fit for the opening fanfares at 2:15 and 8:15 p. m. tomorrow, with doors opening at 1 and 7 p. m., he must expedite deliveries of all supplies— fuel oil, stock feed, fruits, bread, vegetables, eggs, water, and meats.

These supplies must be on the lot and ready for the cookhouse and dining department, which feeds approximately 1,450 people, when these units arrive. Items such as hay, straw, smithy coal, and coke will be delivered to the lot today. The bulk of the supplies, however, will be delivered early Wednesday.

The supplies, of course, are contracted weks ahead of time by circus "local" contracting agents, who are local only in the sense that they buy locally. All supplies are purchased in the towns played, day by day. It is only in the event of an extraordinary railroad run, compelling a full day's travel, that supplies are bought for it in the preceding stand.

Featured performers and animals will arrive here Wednesday morning. Well-known performers including Rose Gould, aerial sensationalist; the Alzanas, reknowned high wire family; the Flying Behees; Unus, the wonder equilibrist; the famous Italian riding Zoeppes, Europe's leading bareback equestrain troupe; Cucciola, midget clown; and the Mandos sisters, aerial novelty artists, in addition to the world famous gorilla, Gargantua, and his bride Toto; the Kentucky thoroughbred horse troupes; and Christian's famed dogs.

Circus officials announced Monday that reserved seat tickets for cushioned chairs will be available beginning at 9 a.m. Wednesday at Wylie's Drug, 1106 Texas Ave., as well as at the circus grounds. General admission tickets will be on sale only at the show grounds.

Photographic Group At Tech Holds Meet

Eta chapter of Kappa Alpha Mu, national photographic fraternity, Texas Technological college, discussed plans for the print salon which it will hold next spring in connection with the Southwestern Journalism congress when it met for the first time this year Monday afternoon under the direction of Joe France, of Sulphur Springs president.

A salon print committee was appointed, composed of Jayne Thompson, of Vernon, chairman; A. J. Bishop, of Winters; and Carol Sherrod, of Lubbock. The duties of the committee will be to work with individuals on print proofs in an attempt to attain the best possible prints for the salon. All prints will be by members of KAM, and the rules for the Photographic Society of America will be followed in so far as is possible.

A committee was appointed by France to contact merchants of Lubbock for donations of either cash or merchandise to serve as prizes for the salon. Prizes will be displayed throughout the print contest, and recognition will be given the donating merchants on a slip attached to the prizes. On this committee are Earl Woocheck, chairman; Ray Cook, of Childress; Carol Sherrod, and James Bein, of Lubbock.

Ray Cook was appointed chairman of a committee to decide the when, where, and how, of initiation for new pledges. Others on the committee are Vernon Bevis, Sulphur Springs, and Anita Oliver, of Lamesa.

The next meeting of the club will be at 5 p.m., Oct. 4, in the press building.

Through the center of the building individual exhibits comparable to the group displays have been aranged under supervision of Walter Y. Wells, Lubbock county PMA administrator, department superintendent.

Flanking these at the north end, one facing one aisle and another the other aisle, are exhibits by the Texas Employment commission, and the County Cotton committee.

The cotton display revolves around safeguards for the industry, and illustrates graphically through word and sample, the eight principal fibers with which cotton fibers are now forced to compete in world fabric and other markets.

Fair officials suggest to those visiting the agriculture building that they will be well repaid if they make the visit prepared to spend two or three hours viewing the exhibits and studying the warnings, stated and implied, in the displays throughout the building.

Tension Mounts As Kansas Nears Vote On Wet-Dry Issue

By CHARLES NETHAWAY
United Press Staff Writer

TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 27 — Tension heightened today in Kansas' wet-dry battle.

As the state neared its first vote test since 1934 on the 68-year-old Kansas constitution prohibition, the dry forces talked about slipping morals.

Bootleggers admitted sorrowfully that they would have to go back to work if the wets win the fight for repeal in the November election.

The Women's Christian Temperance union said the Kansas result would influence its plans to have another try at reviving national prohibition.

An editorial in the Daily Kansan at the University of Kansas said the coming election was a threat to students who are "peddling hootch instead of magazines" to work their way through college.

The editorial said all a student needs is a suitcase, a bus ticket to Kansas City, Mo., "and credit with a liquor dealer" to set up a profitable business.

"From that modest beginning," it said, "you can develop into a wealthy, influential, and respected citizen of Kansas."

That legally-dry Kansas is about as wet already as any other state was claimed by some sources. Assistant Atty. Gen. Clay Carper told a meeting of municipal officials that Kansas currently is going through the wettest period in her history.

Carper said he knew of no way of ending the flow of liquor into the state unless police "stop every automobile and truck entering the state, invade the sanctity of every private home, and search every train and bus."

Dr. R. Leigh Colvin of Chicago, president of the World Prohibition federation and husband of Mrs. Minnie Colvin, national WCTU president, is on a 30-day state tour for the drys. Colvin told listeners Kansas morals were lower now than in the early days "because you have let beer come into the state." He said America was at the brink of "alcoholic degeneration."

Numerous surveys disclosed the urban areas were almost certain to vote wet. That's what they did when the repeal issue came up 14 years ago. The rural areas, according to the surveys, are ready to vote dry again.

The dry margin of victory in 1934 was 9,000 of the 884,332 votes cast. The wet forces, however, claim that the population shift from farm to city since that time has been big enough to give them victory.

FEELS LIKE ENTIRELY DIFFERENT PERSON; THANKS TO RETONGA

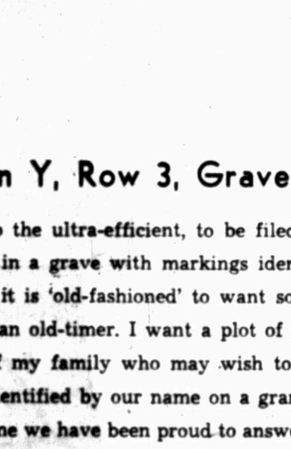

Colorado Housewife Suffered For Over Two Years before Finding Relief From Discomforts of Acid Indigestion, Gas Pains, Constipation and Lack of Appetite.

"Retonga deserves all the praise I can give it" rejoices Mrs. Mercedes Castle, highly respected housewife and resident of 1310 Syracus St., Denver, Colo., in telling of her gratifying experience with this herbal medicine.

"For over two years I felt miserable," continues Mrs. Castle. "My food didn't seem to digest properly and I suffered terribly from gas pains in my stomach. I seemed to have no appetite at all, and then, too, knowing the tortures that followed my meals, I was afraid to eat. I scarcely ever slept restfully at night, I felt so jittery and on edge. Strong laxatives were constantly necessary to relieve my constipation.

"The relief Retonga brought me was a most pleasant surprise. I had been hopeful that it would bring me some relief, but it exceeded my fondest expectations. Why, I feel like a different person entirely! I have a wonderful appetite and am no longer bothered with gas pains and acid indigestion. I sleep fine every night and have left off harsh laxatives. I can surely say that in my case, Retonga has certainly more than proved its worth."

The active ingredients of Retonga are purely herbal combined with Vitamin B-1. Retonga is intended to relieve distress due to insufficient flow of digestive juices in the stomach, loss of appetite, borderline Vitamin B-1 deficiency and constipation. Accept no substitute—insist on the original. You can get Retonga at all good drug stores. Adv.

ELECTION FIVE WEEKS AWAY

Dewey Backs Capable Handling Of Water Power Development

(By The Associated Press)

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey carried his presidential campaign to the Pacific Northwest yesterday with a pledge of government by "capable men and women." President Truman, in the Southwest, accused Republicans of trying to "tear up the Bill of Rights."

Thus the Republican and Democratic candidates carried along the skirmishes leading up to the decisive political battle five weeks from today—election day, Nov. 2.

Dewey's pledge of capable administration was given at Salem, Ore., in a discussion of water power development. It was an apparent—but not direct—reply to the oft-raised cry by Mr. Truman that the Republicans have tried to "sabotage" the West.

Wouldn't Change TVA

Dewey aides made public a nine-point program on river development which included:

"We shall develop our rivers on a regional basis with broad participation by the people of the area affected in the planning and operation of the projects."

This was in line with Dewey's expressed belief that the federally-administered Tennessee Valley authority must not be altered, but future similar projects should not be in the full control of a presidentially appointed board.

"Your next administration," Dewey's program continued, "will see to it that gover[illegible] sibility is placed in charge of capable men and women who will act without bureaucratic red tape in the interest of the greatest good for the greatest number."

President Truman, in Texas en route to the major speech on Communism at Oklahoma City today talked as confidently.

"We are going to win," he told trainside crowds of Texans, "for the simple reason that the Democrats are right."

Wallace Challenge Ignored

Mr. Truman showed no disposition to pay any attention to a challenge from Henry A. Wallace, Progressive Party candidate for the Presidency, to refuse to address race-segregated audiences.

Wallace, flying into Texas also, said: "I am hoping that when we arrive in Dallas we shall hear that he has thrown the weight of his office behind the progressive party practice of refusing to participate in Un-American meetings—in segregated meetings."

The Republican vice presidential nominee, Gov. Earl Warren of California, traveled yesterday across New York state to carry his message of "unity for Americans" to New England.

Warren told a gathering at Rochester, N. Y., that Dewey has the "firm hand" necessary to deal with the troubles this country is having with Russia.

First White Child Born In Fort Worth Taken By Death

FORT WORTH, Sept. 27. (U.P.)—Alzenth H. Conner, 98, first white child born in Fort Worth, died yesterday at his home in Brady after a brief illness.

Conner moved from Fort Worth in 1876, but frequently recalled his boyhood here. He volunteered as a Texas Ranger when he was "near 17," and was sent to Jacksboro and old Fort Belknap.

Conner remembered vividly the election in Fort Worth to determine if the county seat should remain at Birdville or be moved to Fort Worth.

He was six years old at the time and often recalled that the occasion was the first time he ever saw a drunk. He told about tagging along behind a drunk Irishman, who kept shouting, "Fort Worth water tastes like whiskey. Fort Worth's salt tastes like sugar. Hooray for Fort Worth."

Funeral Services Held Here For Resident Of Levelland

Last rites were held at 3 p.m. Monday in Plains Funeral home chapel for C. W. Henderson, 59, of Levelland, who died Sunday night in West Texas hospital, where he had been a patient since Sept. 17. He had been a resident of Levelland two years.

Rev. H. P. Watkins of Lubbock was officiating pastor.

The body will be sent by train tonight to Paris, where Rhoden Brown Funeral home will direct burial. Another service is to be conducted at Paris.

Survivors include his wife; two sisters, Mrs. Mattie V. Williams and Mrs. J. E. Long, both of Paris, and two brothers, Arthur Henderson of Paris and Eddie H. Henderson of an Arkansas address.

Bodies Of Five Men From Area Returned For Reburial Rites

The bodies of five men from the South Plains and surrounding area who lost their lives in World War II are among the 388 dead being returned to this country aboard the U. S. Army Transport Sergeant Morris E. Crain, the Army announced today.

Of the 388 total, 17 are from Texas. The remains were taken aboard the vessel at Honolulu and are in addition to the 3,536 remains from Manila and Saipan which also are aboard the transport.

From this area, with next of kin as designated by the Army, are:

Pfc. Marvin H. Clark, Army, next of kin, Ellsworth W. Clark, Snyder; S/2c Caroll J. Estes, Navy, William P. Estes, Star route, South Monahans; Pvt. Gilbert C. Morris, Army, Mrs. Elizabeth Cardwell, Denver City; Cpl. Bobby B. Towles, Marines, Mary Towles, Levelland.

Powerful New Tuberculosis Vaccine Rushed To Alaska

CHICAGO, Sept. 27. (INS)—Three flasks of a powerful new tuberculosis vaccine, BCG, were shipped from Chicago to Alaska tonight by plane for use in checking the dread disease among the natives in the far north.

The vaccine, in sufficient quantity to treat several thousand people, was rushed from Tice laboratories, which manufactures it, to a Northwest Airlines plane.

The vaccine was ordered by the Alaska Territorial Health department for use in its drive to stamp out tuberculosis among the Eskimos.

It was placed aboard the plane due in Minneapolis at midnight. There the vaccine will be transferred to another plane which will carry the precious packet to Fairbanks.

From Fairbanks, a chartered plane will fly the BCG to remote Tyonek, a village on Cook inlet.

Waiting at Tyonek for the vaccine are Dr. Florence Marcus and nurse Ruth Grover, of the territorial health department.

Officials at the Tice laboratory explained that it is necessary to ship the vaccine by air because it loses its potency if it is not injected within seven days after it is made.

Hopes For Lasting Peace Given Jolt By Developments In Paris

By J. M. ROBERTS JR.
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS, Sept. 27. — Western diplomats and delegates to the United Nations faced up tonight to the full realization that there is no ground for compromise in the conflict with Russia.

Ernest Bevin, touching for the second time within a week on the possibility of war, was acting as a mouthpiece for the forebodings of all Europe.

Not that war is a prospect of the immediate future, but that the hope of a lasting peace has been dimmed almost to the point of invisibility.

The Allied diplomats have been frustrated by an almost unbelieveable run-around by Russian officials, who have agreed in principle time after time to measures of comprimise which were immediately sabotaged by other Russian officials.

With hope of agreement gone, with the Berlin issue growing more explosive each day, the situation has boiled down now to where there seems nothing to do but fix the blame and wait for developments.

The only real hope in laying the Berlin situation before the UN is that Russia, faced with a wave of world disapproval, will be very careful about creating incidents which might lead to war.

In the chancelleries of Europe which I have visited there is a growing feeling that war is inevitable. The chance of avoiding it for any great length of time lies in the ability of the Marshall Plan and the Western European union agreement to present Russia quickly with an array of power which will make war unprofitable.

Suitors Flock To Chicago Widow With Five Children

CHICAGO, Sept. 27. (INS)—A 34-year-old Chicago widow who is looking for a husband to support herself and her five children has received 50 offers from suitors to date.

Mrs. Marie Kerwin has been interviewing prospective husbands day and night.

Mrs. Kerwin was evicted from her home when she was unable to pay a rent increase. She said she was sure she would accept one of the offers.

The applicant's average earnings are $100 a week and none objects to the children, according to the widow whose husband was killed in an auto crash.

Federal Judge Hands Out Small Fines In False Swearing Cases

DALLAS, Sept. 27. (U.P.)—Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson continued to hand out small fines in court today in cases involving "false swearing" to the Veterans administration to obtain GI home loan certificates.

But it was apparent that the sentences were given on technical grounds under statutes passed by the government, rather than on the intent to defraud anyone, including the government or the veteran.

In hearing one case this morning, federal district attorneys admitted that in most cases of false swearing, the veteran was as guilty, technically, as the person who made the sale of a house or his agents.

Three Receive Fines

After hearing evidence in the housing case, Judge Davidson fined E. T. Swango $1, but assessed $200 each from two real estate agents involved in the same sale.

Both Swango and the agents, A. H. Little and L. M. Dabney pleaded "no contest" in the government case. This meant that they were aware of the government charges and did not want to contest them.

The trio were charged with making a false statement to the VA in which they stated that Swango's house was being sold to veteran J. C. Jackson for $6,000. Actually, the government claimed, the sale was made for $7,350.

The government claimed, that, under existing laws pertaining to GI loans, the VA could not have insured a loan for $3,000, 50 per cent of the houses assessed value of the property, had they known that Jackson was paying $1,350 "on the side."

Agents Approached Owners

Evidence presented to Judge Davidson showed that Swango had advertised his house for sale at $7,000 in a Dallas daily newspaper.

Two days after the advertisement, he was approached by the real estate agents who asked him "if he had any objection to their selling the house and making a small commission on it." Swango told them "no."

Jackson was brought to see the house by the two agents, and a sale price of $7,350 was agreed upon, and a contract signed.

But, evidence showed, a representative of the VA assessed the value of the property at $6,000, and a new contract was signed and forwarded to the VA to back Johnson's request for a loan.

Federal attorneys explained at Judge Davidson's request that "the VA must know how much the veteran pays, and his ability to pay may depend on these so called side payments."

Owner Call "Honorable Man"

Judge Davidson in handing out the court's sentence said, "in this case the veteran got what he wanted; he went into the affair with his eyes wide open."

The judge then stated he felt certain that Swango had not pushed the issue, could have sold his home for more money than he received, but "being an honorable man he stuck to his contract with the veteran."

It had been pointed out by Swango's attorneys that other buyers had offered him $7,500 but he had stuck by the contract signed with Jackson.

Whereupon, Judge Davidson adjudged Swango guilty, technically, and fined him $1.

The agents, Judge Davidson said, were in a "better position to know what the VA required," and they received heavier fines.

Although a jury was present, they did not enter into this "no contest" case.

Judge Davidson adjourned the court at noon until tomorrow morning "out of deference to the President who will be in Dallas this afternoon."

Supervisory Personnel Gets Out New York Financial Paper

NEW YORK, Sept. 27. (AP)—Top executives of The Journal of Commerce worked throughout last night in the press room to get out today's issue. At 9 a. m. the press run started, over 13 hours late.

The regular press crew of the 121-year-old financial newspaper stayed away from their jobs last night. Managers and editors put on overalls and announced they would operate the presses themselves.

The press crew of nine men refused to work after some claimed their families had received telephone threats. The nine belong to the AFL International Printing Pressmen's union.

Others said they were in sympathy with 82 printers and mailers of the paper who have been idle since Sept. 12.

The printers and mailers are members of the AFL International Typographical union.

LOWER PRICES:

Let 'em Come Easy!

AS MUCH as most people would like to see a decline in living costs, they will recognize the wisdom of remarks before the American Meat Institute the other day by Alan H. Temple, vice president of the National City bank of New York.

Mr. Temple expressed the hope that when the price decline starts, it will proceed in an "orderly" manner. It was encouraging that Mr. Temple and his audience, consisting largely of meat packers, seemed to accept for granted that declines must come eventually.

A sudden, large drop in living costs might look good to many consumers at the time. But it might be the worst thing that could happen in an economic sense. It would be indicative of panicky fear like that which aggravated and prolonged the depression. Manufacturers almost certainly would apply the brakes to production, causing unemployment. Many retailers could not survive their losses if a sudden decline should force retail levels below the prices they paid for stocks on hand. They and manufacturers probably could adjust to an orderly drop.

Reduced prices aren't going to help if large numbers of people cannot pay them. Their best assurance of being able to pay, with possibly an increasing margin from their regular earnings to apply to other uses would be a decline sufficiently slow and orderly to minimize the risks that it might become an uncontrolled plunge.

TCU's Fine Record

NONE OF the many great colleges and universities in the Southwest has had time to acquire the ivy-clad traditions which can be supplied only by many passing years. They still are youthful as measured by such schools as Harvard, founded in 1636, and many others.

But the fact they are acquiring whatever maturity goes with time is emphasized by the celebration this year of the 75th anniversary of the founding of Texas Christian university, of Fort Worth. Established as AddRan college at Thorp Spring in 1873 with 117 students, TCU anticipated an enrollment of nearly 6,000 this year. By the scholastic and ethical standards—which are far more important than sheer bigness—Texas Christian holds a place of deserved distinction among the institutions of higher learning in the nation.

TCU has gained in vigor as it has grown in maturity—a statement which would apply with equal accuracy to practically all the other colleges and universities of the Southwest. All have years of magnificent achievement behind them. But their greatest years are ahead, extending further into the future than the limited vision of men can perceive.

Texas and the Southwest share with Fort Worth and everyone connected with TCU—past, present or future—the pride inspired by this magnificent living monument to Christian education.

It is often said of the world, "Well, you can't take it with you." Such a thought is particularly comforting in times like these.

Job had patience but of course he never tried to enjoy a football game while seated next to a drunk who thought he was funny.

Down Memory Lane

(From the files of The Lubbock Morning Avalanche of Sept. 28, 1928.)

In a light ballot Lubbock citizens gave a 21 to 1 majority approval to a $350,000 public improvement program, including construction of two underpasses and extension of water, light and sewer lines. In a total of 458 votes, only 21 opposed the proposals. The count showed 437 for, and 20 against the $225,000 street improvement program; 433 for and 20 against $85,000 in sewer extensions; and 432 for and 21 against $40,000 in water extensions.

SABRINA had never picked a lock in her life, but it was done every day in books. She tiptoed along the carpeted upper passage and whisked round the corner to the second flight of stairs leading to the top floor of the house. Gripped tightly in one hand she carried her burglar tools—nail-scissors with curved points, a button-hook, and some wire hairpins stolen from Aunt Effie's dressing-table.

She climbed the stairs stealthily, step by step, and the fine old oak never creaked once under her scant 90 pounds. Sabrina at 17 had lost her baby fat, but had not yet begun, as Aunt Effie was fond of remarking, to fill out.

At the top of the stairs she stopped to listen, bending perilously double over the bannisters. Not a sound from below. They would think she was reading in her room, which was only natural because it was raining. She was free, reasonably so, till tea time. With a long-drawn breath she faced the locked door, dropped to her knees in front of the keyhole, and set to work.

She bent the hairpins in various ways, patiently. She tried the button-hook from all angles. Then she tried both hairpin and button-hook together. Nothing happened at all, and the small scraping noises she made seemed to reverberate through the tranquil silence of the house. Just as she was about to give up, the hairpin caught and lodged. She exerted cautious pressure with the button-hook. Something gave. Something clicked. She had done it. The lock had turned.

She knelt there, staring at the door, wide-eyed and shaken. The first thing that occurred to her was that now she could never get it locked again. And then she didn't care, for the knob had turned easily under her hand, and the door moved two inches inward. The crack went on widening before her fascinated gaze until, still kneeling, she beheld the forbidden room. With a quick glance behind her at the empty stairs, she snatched up her tools and got to her feet—stepped across the threshold swiftly and closed the door, shutting herself inside.

THE DAY they had arrived to take possession of the house, a month ago at the end of March, Sabrina on her early explorations had run up the last flight of stairs because there was that closed door at the top and she naturally wondered what was behind it. To her surprise, when she laid her hand on the knob the door would not open.

A locked room. How mysterious. Sabrina at once tried to see through the keyhole, but Aunt Effie called to her from below and told her to come away. There was something in the lease about their not having the use of that room, she said.

Sabrina was asking excited questions over the bannisters such as Why not, and What was in it, and Whose room was it, when she became aware of the housekeeper—a dour middle-aged woman who went with the house, like the furniture, when you let it—standing at the bottom of the stairs looking up at her. Somehow at sight of the woman's still, watchful face the questions died on Sabrina's lips and she came back down the stairs, one foot slowly at a time, towards where Mrs. Pilton stood. And as she reached the bottom—

"That room is kept locked when he's not at home," said Mrs. Pilton in her quiet country voice, and she turned without smiling and went away down the back stairs toward the kitchen. She held herself erect and walked well, a self-respecting woman. More like a governess than a housekeeper, thought Sabrina, making you feel in the wrong when you had done whatever it was quite innocently. With a long, backward look up the stairs, she returned to her own room midway of the passage, to unpack.

After that, Sabrina had gone round calling it the Bluebeard Chamber until Father heard and said Nonsense, and explained irritably that the locked room merely belonged to one of the sons who was not available to clear out his possessions from the cupboards and drawers and empty the place for the use of a tenant. Father pointed out that they didn't need the room, just the three of them. Aunt Effie said Mercy, no, the house was too big anyhow. And they both regarded the subject as closed.

FATHER had retired that winter from his professorship in London, in order to write a book about prehistoric England and those of its inhabitants who were responsible for the long barrows, and the mysterious hilltop camps, and the stone circles. The Mendip Hills and surrounding country abound in barrows and stones and ancient mines and encampments, and Father's intention was to live amongst them while he wrote, making excursions by car to neighboring sites when he felt like it, or when the weather was particularly fine, or his desk work palled, or his womenfolk obtruded themselves too much on his notice. Having been without a wife ever since Sabrina was born, Father was not well broken in as regards womenfolk. Aunt Effie and Sabrina bored him, and kept out of his way as much as possible, which only spoilt him and made him more incompetent to deal with such domestic situations as arose from time to time. But Aunt Effie, who had never been married, believed that all men were pretty much alike. Unless, of course, they were Rakes, she would add. Father wasn't a Rake.

Sabrina's ideas of life were necessarily, in these circumstances, rather constricted, and her experience, compared to that of most girls of her enlightened generation, was calamitously small. Once she had been sent to a fashionable school in Sussex; a very good school, which Aunt Effie chose by an obscure mental process similar to flipping a coin. The fees were high, the personnel prepossessing, the location healthful and picturesque, and the daily regime quite the thing in girls' schools.

To Sabrina, an only child accustomed either to solitude or to adult society, it was a captivity full of horror.

She could not fit in, she did everything out of turn, she was stricken dumb in the classrooms, and failed miserably at games. Every now and then she cried herself sick and begged to go home.

Eventually Aunt Effie came and had a mutually confusing interview with the headmistress, who seemed unable to comprehend that Sabrina was only shy, and used to being by herself, and hated gongs, and public ablutions and prayers, and most of all hated competitive games. Then she took Sabrina away—when a whole new term had just been paid for, too—and there was another governess. But governesses, said Aunt Effie, were not what they had been in her day.

THE governess was let go when they came to Nuns Farthing, as it would soon be Easter anyhow, and time for a holiday. They had never lived in the country before, because Father needed to be near the British Museum Reading-Room and the University, but in her youth Aunt Effie had been a fervid gardener, and Sabrina was hoping to own a kitten. She did not want a dog, on account of Aunt Effie's Bella, a jealous barrel-shaped fox terrier who got older and crosser and fatter each year, and who in Aunt Effie's eyes could do no wrong.

It was typical of the way Father did things that neither Aunt Effie nor Sabrina had seen the house before they arrived from London prepared to stay in it for an indefinite period of time.

"I have taken a house in the Mendip Hills," said Father one night in London at the end of din-

Looking At Life -- By Erich Brandeis

ACCORDING to publishers' surveys, biographies are one of the most popular types of books at the present time.

Biographies of statesmen, military leaders, historical figures, baseball players and confidence men are published every day and sell all the way from two to ten dollars.

I shall now give you a very brief biography that will never come out in book form but is, nevertheless, significant as a social document.

BRANDEIS

To paraphrase a famous saying—there for the grace of God goe my own child. Name: Robert Brown. Age: 20. Address: Tombs Prison, New York. Name and Address of Parents: Prison never knew his parents. Was abandoned by them as an infant.

That is all there is to Robert Brown's biography so far. As it looks to-day, a few more paragraphs will take care of the rest of it.

Those sentences will probably show that the boy was duly tried, that he was found guilty of murder in the first degree, sentenced to death and executed in Sing Sing Prison sometime before Christmas 1948.

Or perhaps the jury will recommend clemency and Robert Brown will spend the rest of his life in prison.

That's all. A very brief biography and certainly not worth the publishing in book form.

This kid, who never knew a father or mother, who never had anybody to lead him to the proper path, who was kicked around in all kinds of instutions and in whom nobody took any interest, was yet a human being—just as you and I.

LIKE all human beings he had the lusts and desires of the human being—but nobody to tell him which to indulge, which to suppress.

"A pale, nervous, slight youth, who chain-smoked cigarettes", says the report, "Brown was regarded as a free spender and a flashy dresser, with many women acquaintances."

Well, as we know, there are many pale, nervous, slight youths who are free spenders and flashy dressers and have many women acquaintances. Having had the proper education and surroundings a lot of that type are not in prison but you can find them in the best night clubs and resorts all over the country.

But nobody told Robert Brown what not to do and nobody gave him any money.

So Robert Brown thought it was all right to steal and to rob stores and hold up people and to run away from the Marines when he didn't like discipline any longer.

But Robert Brown wanted cigarets and clothes and women, like many others do. So he committed several hold-ups, after getting out of the reformatory.

And when that hotel-clerk didn't want to give him the money, Robert just pulled his gun and shot the fellow.

That's all. Not worth a book. Or is it?

FOR LOSS OF OFFICIALS

White House Blamed

By RAY TUCKER
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—A partial explanation for President Truman's periodical complaints about his inability to tap good men, including scientists, for federal service may be found in a letter now in the files of Herbert Hoover's Commission for reorganization and strengthening of the national government. It throws the blame directly on the White House.

TUCKER

The indictment was written by John M. Carmody, who was not reappointed to the Maritime Commission by Mr. Truman because he was, as the President said in an off-hand remark, "too mean."

Mr. Carmody was requested by Robert R. Bowie, executive secretary of the Hoover body, to comment on an analysis of the Maritime Commission setup made by the commission's technical experts.

ATTITUDE: As background of the Truman-Carmody incident, it should be noted that Mr. Carmody has always had the support and confidence of Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York, former Senator Robert F. La Follette of Wisconsin, the Railway Brotherhoods and other union organizations. As a labor, engineering and production expert, he had served with such varied agencies as the N.R.A., the C.W.A., the R.E.A., the N.L.R.B., and the Maritime Commission.

On the latter outfit, he was credited with an important part in building the "bridge of ships" so vital in the winning of World War II. He settled many tough strikes when they threatened shipping production.

He fought the faction on the Commission which, in his opinion, cost the government millions of dollars through their generosity to contractors. His friends believe that it was this attitude which accounted for Mr. Truman's failure to reappoint him.

UNCERTAINTY: The Carmody letter's discussion of President Truman's hiring-and-firing troubles may have current significance because he had to deal with scientific personnel on many of his federal assignments. While they were willing to assist the government in wartime, they shied away from a permanent job for various reasons.

The principal factor, as the Hoover document reveals, is not so much fear of a Congresional investigation or "smear" as the employment uncertainty and lack of security caused, in part at least, by the Roosevelt-Truman Administration's harsh handling of numerous distinguished public servants.

Mr. Carmody calls the roll of an impressive list of former officials who were summarily discharged or doghoused by the White House without any explanation. To wit:

DOGHOUSE: "John Fahey, than whom there was never in any department of government under any Administration a more thoroughly competent public official, and whose integrity was never questioned, got short rift from Mr. Truman.

"The Marriner Eccles debacle is fresh in our minds. I doubt if anybody has been told precisely what happened to Jim Landis. I know that modest Eddie Macauley, former member of Maritime, was deeply hurt by the treatment he got from the President, operating through John Snyder.

"Tom Woodward, the one member of the Maritime Commission who had made a special study of regulation of transportation by rail and water, was dropped without one word of commendation or condemnation.

Ribbon clerks are treated with more respect. The doghouse is crowded; will there be room for more tenants!"

Mr. Carmody might have noted F.D.R.'s supplanting of Jesse H. Jones by Henry A. Wallace as Secretary of Commerce for the simple reason that the Third Party candidate had been a good political soldier, even after he was fired of. the 1944 ticket in favor of Mr. Truman.

PLAINT: Mr. Carmody then questions the efficacy and methods of preparation of the heralded Hoover report and recommendations. He asks whether the commission's technical experts have interviewed the former officials who were dismissed without any satisfactory explanation, and for possibly political reasons.

"All this, of course," he continues, "is not the fault of the young men who write your reports, but it might well be part of their overall study of how to achieve efficiency in the executive branch of the government.

"Must it become a shambles and a roost for sycophants when an accidental Commander-in-chief appears on the scene?

If that is what your top report is about, I wonder if the John Faheys and the Marriner Eccleses and the Jim Landises have been asked for their views. We may have in this situation one answer to Truman's constant plaint that he 'can't get good men to take government jobs!

MEANEST: "Some people are inclined to blame some of this fumbling on the loss of Foerster and Latta, long-time, faithful White House secretaries, who knew everybody and everything, and who never 'slipped a cog.' I am inclined to blame some of it on the loss of Fala.

"If there is any other reason for not reappointing me to the Maritime Commission, the President has never told me. I think it may interest Young Bob La Follette. I wonder what Truman would have said about Bob's father, old, fighting Bob La Follette!"

This reference recalls the days when "Old Bob" was known as the "meanest man on Capitol Hill" because of his unceasing war on the so-called "interests."

REPORTERS: Another anti-Truman straw in the wind now worries and discourages White House political strategists.

On the last count, only thirty-six newspaper correspondents accompany President Truman on his first major campaign trip, while about 150 are trouping with Governor Thomas E. Dewey. Indeed, when Governor Earl Warren reaches the East, the Republicans' vice-presidential nominee will have as large a journalistic train as the Chief Executive.

And while this statement may earn me the ill will of those of my newspaper friends on the Truman train, the topflight reporters have been assigned to Dewey.

An expert says the person with normal color vision can distinguish 160 hues. But more pay attention to the long green.

An authority says the nose has much to do with life span. You can live longer by keeping it out of the business of other people.

Self-control is when you are able to cooly deliberate over some heated remark made by another.

It was different in the old days. The family doctor wasn't perplexed by one of the family being an authority on magazine medicine.

The social life of the modern young couple depends uopn whether or not the baby-sitter will show up.

CONGRESS TARGET FOR ATTACKS

Truman Blasts GOP Leadership

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN—As he warmed up in his transcontinental campaign tour, President Truman selected for a vigorous attack the most vulnerable point in the Republican defense, of which his rival, Governor Thomas E. Dewey, is particularly conscious.

The Republican Achilles heel is the GOP leadership in Congress that made party policy for the last two years and which, the President constantly intimates, will continue to make it if Republicans assume control of the government in the November election.

STOKES

This powerful group is described by Mr. Truman as "a bunch of old mossbacks" who, he says, are living back in 1890 and tried to make Congress act like 1890 — and I think they succeeded pretty well."

Conservatives In Control

Charitably, the President draws a distinction between that element of the party that controlled the 80th Congress, on one hand, and what he calls good, individual, forward-looking Republicans, on the other. But he hints that the latter won't have much to say if the party wins because of the setup in Congress.

Here the President posed the problem that faces Governor Dewey and the internationalist-moderately Progressive wing of the party with which he is affiliated, not only for the campaign, but in his administration if he is elected.

Governor Dewey and his wing of the party won a victory at the Philadelphia convention, both in nomination of the Dewey-Warren ticket and in the platform. They must make it stick if the party gets into power.

What they are up against in the nationalist-conservative wing of the party that is strongly entrenched in Congress was plainly demonstrated on the eve of the convention when the Republican house negated both the spirit and the letter of the platform adopted not long afterward by slashing the European recovery program appropriations; nearly destroying the Reciprocal Trade act, so important in foreign policy; and blocking such social reforms, promised also in the 1944 platform, as a long-range housing bill, education and health legislation. After the convention in the special session called by President Truman the GOP House leadership again blocked housing legislation as advocated by its platform, on which the ink hardly was dry, and did nothing about other reform pledges made at Philadelphia.

President Truman continually touches up the Republican party's dilemma by referring to "double talk" by his opponents, which is aimed directly at the more youthful Republican candidate who trailed him so closely in the trip to the Pacific coast.

To reinforce his indictment of the Republican Congress, the President gives a primary course in the legislative process to show how it was that what the Republican platform advocated did not get done in Congress. He tells how members come to the top to occupy key posts and committee chairmanships through long service and the seniority rule and so, when Republicans gained control two years ago, the "mossbacks," he says, assumed direction of policy. He explains how powerful are party leaders and committee chairmen in dictating what legislation Congress may consider, citing his own experience from which he says he learned that "about the only things you can vote on in the Senate—and I was there for ten years—without a committee's approval is a motion to adjourn."

Housing Bill Noted

Citing cases in the recent Republican Congress, he refers to the Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing bill which, though passed by the Senate twice and approved finally by the appropriate House legislative committee, was never permitted to go to the House floor for a vote because House leaders ordered it bottled up in the House Rules committee. He mentions also some of his proposals for anti-inflation legislation on which, he says, committee chairmen would not even let committees act.

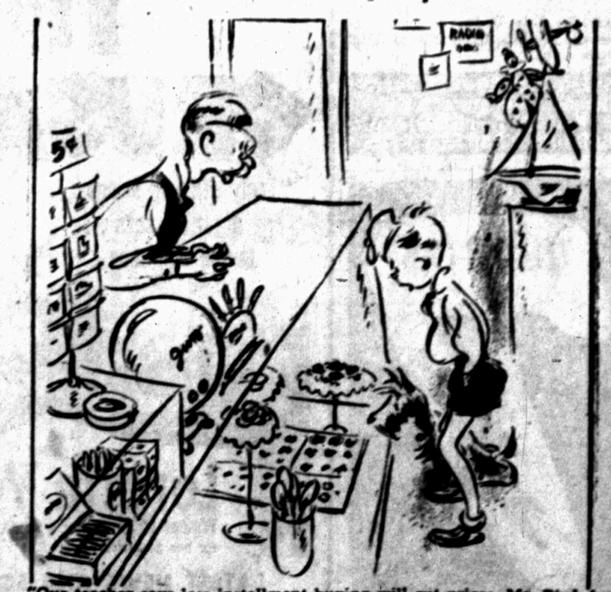

Also, he names names—Speaker of the House Joseph W. Martin, Jr. (Mass.) Representatives Leo Allen (Ill.), chairman of the Banking and Currency committee, foe of the Taft-Ellender-Wagner bill—"those men who roost on progressive legislation that should have been passed by the Congress.

Mr. Truman, of course, has had the same troubles in his own party, as Republicans have been quick to point out, most recently by Governor Earl Warren of California, vice presidential candidate. So did President Roosevelt. It comes from the southern wing of the party, now so rambunctious. When Democrats controlled Congress the same seniority system gave influence to conservative members from the South who effected a coalition with Republicans to block measures sought by President Roosevelt and, after him, President Truman, who had a Democratic Congress his first year in office.

Both parties suffer from the dilemma though the prospect of a Republican victory makes its application there more to the point now. It all emphasizes the need of further reforms in congressional procedure beyond those achieved in the Congressional Reorganization Act of three years ago.

ner. "Not far from Dolebury Camp," he added, as though that explained everything.

"To live in?" exclaimed Aunt Effie, pardonably surprised, for she had had absolutely no warning.

Father said, though it was really beneath him, that he had no intention of dying in it.

"Well, really, Alan, you might have told me! That is, I'd like to have known!" Aunt Effie remonstrated.

Father looked at her patiently over his spectacles and pointed out with great reasonableness that she knew now.

"Has it got a garden?" she demanded at once.

Father said Yes, he believed things grew.

"And has it got bathrooms?" persisted Aunt Effie in the order of their importance.

Father set down his after-dinner coffee cup with a small irritable clink.

"My dear Effie," he said, for she was after all his own sister, "there is no reason for you to suppose that I would take a lease on Dolebury Camp itself for a home. The house has three bathrooms, and is otherwise adequately furnished. It is called Nuns Farthing. And don't ask me why," he continued hastily as both their mouths came open, "because I don't know. Wells is the nearest town of any size. I shall be able to use the museum there."

He rose then, and left them, disappearing behind the closed door of his den.

"Men!" said Aunt Effie hopelessly, to the astonished air.

Sabrina was delighted, and began at once to pack.

They arrived at Nuns Farthing by motor with their hand luggage, on a late afternoon in March, with a damp, chilly wind blowing off the Hills.

MARKETS IN SHARP DROP

NEW YORK, Sept. 27. (AP)—Losses ranging from 1 to greater than 4 points pushed the stock market to its lowest level in more than five months today as an echo of the Berlin crisis.

The three western powers consider Russia's blockade of Berlin a threat to peace and intend to ask emergency action by the Security Council of the United Nations in Paris.

The volume of stock trading was 1,310,000 shares and was the highest since Aug. 11 with the exception of last Monday when the total was 1,360,000 on a declining market. The heaviest trading was in the first and final hours when the dip in prices was the most pronounced.

Brief rallies were attempted during the day but business dried up until the appearance of the next selling wave.

The Associated Press average on 60 stocks declined 1.6, the largest loss since July 19, was closed at 65.8, the lowest point since April 14. Rails suffered the stiffest set-back with a loss of 1.9 while industrials were off 1.7 and utilities .6 of a point.

There were 1,974 issues traded in the broadest market since Aug. 11 with 851 declining and only 79 advancing.

During the downward movement there were 118 new lows for the year uncovered. Pepsi-Cola was the most active stock in the list at a new low of 9⅛, off ⅝.

Rails took the leading part in the early decline and continued steadily lower with only a brief pause here and there.

Some of the widest losses were made by leaders in this group. Santa Fe fell 4¾ to 115⅛. Nickel Plate was off 4¼ at 77¼. Southern Railway lost 3¼ at 41½ and others dropped 1 to more than 2 points included Southern Pacific, Great Northern preferred, Northern Pacific, Union Pacific, Atlantic Coast line, and Illinois Central.

Steels, oils, metals and motors joined the fall with chemicals taking a delayed part.

$300,000 Fire Razes Penney's At Waco

WACO, Sept. 27. (AP)—Fire of unknown origin gutted J. C. Penney's downtown department store here this morning. Loss was estimated between $300,000 and $400,000.

No one was injured.

It was the second fire to destroy the interior of the store in the past six years. A fire which began in a trash box the night of Aug. 6, 1942, damaged the building and stocks an estimated $175,000.

The first alarm of today's fire was turned in at 6:10 a.m. After a second alarm six pumpers and two ladder trucks reached the scene and thousands of feet of fire hose webbed nearby streets.

Tons of water poured onto the blazing building flooded into the Elite cafe and a dress shop in adjoining buildings. The cafe had been remodeled within the past two months.

Fast work of the firemen halted the spread of the blaze to the center of downtown Waco.

The entire retail stock was destroyed. George Loop, Penney manager, estimated the stock loss at $200,000.
