Nixon Promises To Carry Peace Issue Into 50 States

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon officially kicked off his presidential campaign today by promising to carry the "peace issue" to the voters in all 50 states.

"The overriding issue" the GOP nominee told a cheering crowd at Baltimore's Friendship Airport, "is keeping the peace without surrender and extending freedom throughout the world."

Nixon's plane took off at 11:12 a.m. EDT.

Nixon, with President Eisenhower and other top Republicans, joined in launching a 9,000-mile, first-lap campaign carrying him to Indianapolis, Dallas and San Francisco, spoke inside a hall of the airport because of the heavy rains from the fringes of Hurricane Donna.

President Eisenhower said that to his mind the hurricane "is a good omen." He recalled a rainstorm at Abilene, Kan., where he launched his own campaign in 1952.

"You have a record," he told the Republican rally, "for launching champions."

Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., the GOP national chairman, asserted it was the first time he had "launched a campaign in the middle of a hurricane." He applauded the hardy crowd, who, like Eisenhower, drove through the heavy rains to attend the meeting. Airport police estimated the enthusiastic, sign-waving turn-out at in excess of 700, with one policeman estimating 1,500.

Eisenhower dedicated Nixon and Henry Cabot Lodge, his vice presidential running mate, to fight for disarmament and world peace.

Morton told the applauding crowd that in Nixon, "you are going to have the tested leadership the country needs and the world wants."

Strange Group To Accompany Krush

Editor's Note: Who are the Communist leaders accompanying Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev to the U.N. General Assembly meeting in New York? The following interpretive background article was written by Endre Marton, who came to this country after many years of AP reporting from Hungary, including news of that country's abortive 1956 revolution.

By ENDRE MARTON
WASHINGTON (AP) — When Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev arrives next week to lead the Soviet Union's delegation to the United Nations, there will be a strange six-man group in his retinue.

The six European satellite members of the world organization are sending their undisputed leaders to the session. They are Poland's Wladyslaw Gomulka, Hungary's János Kadar, Romania's Gheorghe Gheorghiu-Dej, Czechoslovakia's Antonin Novotny, Bulgaria's Todor Zhivkov, and Albania's Mehmet Shehu.

All of them except Shehu are first secretaries of their respective parties, the highest rank a man can reach in the Communist hierarchy. Shehu is Albania's prime minister. Novotny, beside being the party boss, also is Czechoslovakia's president.

State Department officials tersely call this Red-star studied parade of Communist chieftains "most interesting."

Khrushchev made it clear some time ago that he wanted a summit meeting at the U.N. headquarters. The free world's leaders generally ignored his overtures, but a growing list of top officials from other countries is planning to attend.

No one professes to know what Khrushchev had in mind in bringing along the satellite leaders. Specialists on Soviet affairs speculate on these as possible reasons:

1. Khrushchev wants to impress the free world with this unprecedented parade, demonstrating undisputed leadership in the Communist orbit. The West, the same officials maintain, will not be impressed. They say the show will prove once again what the free world knows and what Moscow indignantly denies: that the satellites are not free countries and their leaders get their cues from the Kremlin.

2. Khrushchev might want to impress someone else, too: Red China's Mao Tse-tung, the man who most openly questions leadership in the Communist world.
3. Summery was invented by the Russians and despite the fact in Paris last May, Khrushchev insists that only a meeting of top leaders can remedy the world's headaches. He now wants to prove that though cold-shouldered by the West, the General Assembly meeting will be some kind of a summit, however limited in scope.

Plot Nipped In Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — A military plot against the regime of President Romulo Betancourt was put down early today, an official government announcement said.

The announcement said a lieutenant named Saldivia and a group of about 20 men seized the radio station "Continente" and held it for about an hour. They were arrested and the government said the situation had returned to normal.

Betancourt's moderate Socialist coalition has been harassed by plots of both domestic and foreign origin during his more than a year as president.

Last June 24, he was badly burned when a cache of dynamite exploded as he rode by in an automobile. The Venezuelan government has charged that the assassination attempt was the work of a group of military officers who have tried to bring about a military dictatorship.

Congo Chief Asks U. N. To Train Army

By MAX HARRISON
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Congo President Joseph Kasavubu today called on the United Nations to reorganize and train the "national" army under his supreme command as chief of state.

The latest communication on the chaotic Congo situation arrived at U.N. headquarters from the Security Council, which is confronted with the question of deciding whether to deal with Kasavubu or Patrice Lumumba, who claims to be still running the turbulent African country as premier.

Delegations from both Kasavubu and Lumumba were flying to New York, but it appeared unlikely either would arrive in time for a council meeting this afternoon. There was talk of postponing the meeting, but some delegates wanted to push ahead even without Congo representation.

The Kasavubu proposal on the armed forces was transmitted to the council as one part of a four-point program. The other three proposals included:

1. Speedy formation of police units.
2. U.N. assistance in reactivating the judicial system of the Congo.
3. U.N. transportation and protection for anti-Lumumba leaders.

Morton told the applauding crowd that in Nixon, "you are going to have the tested leadership the country needs and the world wants."

Western Powers Hit Back In East Berlin Travel Squabble

Girls, Want A Job With Pull?

By NORMA GAUGH

NEW YORK, AP — The painless dentistry may soon become a fact.
It won't depend on high speed drills, dental chairs that look like space ships or similar mechanical marvels.
It involves a quiet campaign by the American Dental Assn. to enlist more women as dentists.
There's little doubt the ladies would be good for the profession.

Little Angels Terrors On School Bus

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—Is a school bus ride a learning experience? Now there's a question that begs for an answer, and maybe one of the big foundations could sponsor some nation-wide research. Until then, we'll have to go along with about 100 school superintendents who hatted the question around at an education convention earlier this week.
"It's a basic extension of the school program," they said. "It develops the democratic processes. Children learn certain arts on a school bus, like the art of conversation."
To one bemused observer on the sidelines, the discussion didn't seem realistic. As the educators themselves might put it, their judgments were not based on a life experience within their peer group. Trouble is, these folks never drove a school bus. I did, for three, never-to-be-forgotten weeks, round here, to see some statements made during the discussion, and some balancing comment from one who knows.
Statement—Children learn respect for adults in their dealings with the bus driver.
Comment—Like the time I flung open the bus door with a cheery "good morning, kiddies." And caught a frozen snowball right on the kisser.
Statement—The monitors are democratically chosen by the children from among their peers on the bus.
Comment—The democratic way to do it is for the driver to pick out the biggest bully on the bus and threaten to make him walk home.

Statement—The bus ride gives the children an opportunity to talk to each other, and they learn the art of conversation.
Comment—A more humble of words, of which 40 per cent are "fabulous" and 51 per cent are "fabian."
Statement—In some schools, the teachers develop units of training with the children, role-playing such as getting off and on the bus, monitoring it, etc.
Comment—And there are such untaught roles to be played as ponytail pulling, luncheon throwing, paper bag bursting, chewing gum in the hair of the kid ahead of you putting, and notebook hurling.
Statement—Riding a school bus to a seminar in human relations is a good experience. Kids as they had any human relations.

D&D Club Will Hear Shell Man

Percentage depletion will be the subject of a talk before the Snyder D&D and Derrick Club at the monthly meeting of the club Tuesday at the Martha Ann Women's Club.
John S. Thomason, Training representative in the Personnel and Industrial Relations Department of Shell Oil Company in Midland, will be guest speaker for the evening meeting.
Thomason, who is a graduate of Arkansas State Teachers College with a degree in economics and sociology, recently completed a series of presentations on the subject of percentage depletion. These programs were directed to Shell employees in the Midland Exploration and Production Area.
"My talk will be an explanation and discussion of how percentage depletion applies to the petroleum industry," Thomason said. "The depletion provision is a difficult to understand and controversial tax law, but it is necessary to maintain a healthy petroleum industry, which, in turn, plays a vital role in our national security and present standard of living."
Thomason, who is married and the father of two children, has been a resident of Midland and employee of Shell Oil Company for the past five years. During this time he has served in various capacities in the Personnel and Industrial Relations Department of the Company.
There are about 4½ million golfers in the United States, and in increase of more than 30 per cent in the last 10 years.

Hamburgers, Hot Dogs Find Little Demand In Mexico

BY JACK RUTLEDGE
MEXICO CITY (AP)—Hamburgers and hot dogs are sold in Mexico's major cities, but sales are only so-so. The native tortas, tacos and burritos are just as good. And much cheaper.
Mexico City's side streets are jammed with "puestos" or stands selling an amazing variety of savory items you can eat while standing on the sidewalk or on the run.
And on the sidewalks themselves are other vendors also selling edible specialties.
The average tourist shudders and visualizes instant dysentery, passes up these bargains. Look what they're missing:
TORTAS. These have been called Mexican Dagwoods and are a good description. A zeppelin-shaped roll is packed with mashed frijoles (beans), a choice of shredded chicken, pork, beef or red sausage, avocado, fresh white cheese, lettuce, tomato, onion and any one of a variety of sauces. All for about 10 cents.
TACOS. Tortillas packed with any one of a dozen ingredients, folded and eaten in a hurry before the juice rolls down your shirt.
TOSTADAS. Generous-sized toast ed tortillas filled with about the same ingredients as a torta, and even cheaper.
CARNITAS. Crispy fried pieces of pork wrapped in hot tortillas.
PAMBAXOS. A special kind of hot roll filled with country fried potatoes and red sausage.
QUESADILLAS. Raw corn dough patted into a circle, one side filled with any preferred filling and folded down the middle and quickly fried.
CHICKARRON. A wrinkly-looking thing, a sort of synthetic pork crackling, spiced with lemon, chile sauce or both. Good for a snack while standing in line to buy a movie ticket.
Sidewalk vendors sell hot boiled or roasted corn which you sprinkle with rock salt or a sauce, eat on the cob, steaming hot sweet potatoes, usually from a cart with a steam whistle advertising the wares, hot chestnuts in season (they're called castanas here).
Then there is a native soup called caldo de indiana. It's said to be the best for the stomach-ache. It's a rich chicken broth with garbanzo (chickpeas) and spiced with garlic, coriander, chile piquin, lemon and chopped raw onion.
Another hamburger-specialty, popular on the border, is called menudo, its major ingredient being tripe.
Is it any wonder the American hamburger and hot dogs are having a hard time invading the Mexican market? Sure, the tourists buy them and then complain they don't taste like those made by old Smilin' Jack back home.
But the natives, and the Americans in the know, prefer those old tortas, tacos and tostados.

'Ghost Marks' Haunt Even Newest Homes

A house haunted by "ghost marks" is a house haunted by discomfort, especially in winter.
Ghost marks are wide shadowy lines of dirt that cling to walls and ceilings between joist and stud spaces. They are caused by dust in warm air drawn to these areas in homes that are improperly insulated.
Mineral wool insulation, properly installed, not only eliminates "ghost marks," but cuts down on fuel bills and makes a house more comfortable by equalizing interior temperatures.

Panel Doors Can Fit Any Era Of Design

Doors are functional facets of the personality of a home. Carefully chosen, they can give a house the warm look of Colonial architecture or the cool air of contemporary design.
Interior and exterior panel doors of ponderosa pine come in designs to fit all periods of decor. For example, a door with six panels, two small and four large—is one of many authentic reproductions of Colonial doors. Another with three large horizontal panels suggests contemporary architecture.
Whatever the period of a house, panel doors to accent its character are available in stock from building material dealers.

Nathan Hale's Statue Gets More Attention These Days

BY INEZ ROBB

On the Broadway side of the little park that frames New York City's architecturally exquisite City Hall stands a bronze statue of heroic size depicting a young man in colonial costume.

The young man's arms are bound at the elbows, and his hands hang helplessly at his side. His feet, too, are bound. But he stands proudly and defiantly, head up and eyes level and calm. His shirt is open at the throat, and his neck bare for the noose.

He has stood there since Nov. 25, 1893, hard by the City Hall station of the subsequently constructed BMT subway. He has been part of the scenery for four generations. But in the past 10 days an increasing number of persons have paused for a longer look at the statue and to read, perhaps for the first time, its legend, which says:

"A captain in the regular army of the United States who gave his life for his country in the City of New York on Sept. 22, 1776."

"I regret that I have but one life to give for my country."

The injection of the name of Nathan Hale into discussions of the Francis Gary Powers' spy trial in Moscow has at least caused many New Yorkers and visitors alike to pause in their eternal hurry. They are taking time to look at the bronze statue of the youth whose claim to enduring fame is his statement on the scaffold when the British hanged him as a spy, three months after he had reached his 21st birthday.

At that point, he enters and fades from American history. Yet, by that one sentence, Hale is assured of immortality as long as Americans are proud of their history.

Claims LBJ Is Concealed

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Republican National Chairman says Democrats in the North are trying to conceal that Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas is the Democratic vice presidential nominee.

"Sen. Thorton Morton of Kentucky told a picnic Sunday that this was a headquarters of Citizens for Kennedy. 'No mention of Johnson,'" he said.

He said he put on his "best Southern accent" and asked the Citizens for Kennedy people whether they had done campaign literature on Lyndon Johnson. He continued:

"They said: 'No, we've got nothing to do with him, no literature whatsoever.'"

At a news conference, Morton said the move to put Johnson on the national ticket "was obviously dreamed up as a great political maneuver but has not worked out that way." The Kentucky senator said Johnson has "not proved popular in the North" and that in the South there was a feeling he was a "traitor" to that section.

Columnist Delves Into Mail Again

BY HAL ROYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might desire, know if he didn't open his mail.

Husbands often complain their wives get upset over trifles, and this may be the medical reason: High blood pressure affects more than twice as many women as men.

If you were born in September, your birthstone is the sapphire, a symbol of truth, constancy, sincerity and good luck. The sapphire once was believed to cure insanity and protect the wearer from poisons.

Time really does go faster as you grow older. Studies show time passes five times as swiftly for a man of 85 as for a teen-ager, except when the man of 85 is waiting for the teen-ager to get off the telephone.

The good old days. Postage was high back in 1880. It cost six cents to send a one-sheet letter 60 miles. On the other hand, you could buy a full-course dinner for 12 cents.

Science is mushrooming at such a rate that the world's knowledge now doubles every nine years. And 90 per cent of all the trained scientists who ever lived are alive right now.

Our quotable notables: "When man knows how to live dangerously, he is not afraid to die," says Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas. "When he is not afraid to die, he is, strangely, free to live."

Which are smarter cats or dogs? They are rated about equal in intelligence, but cats score better on tests involving vision because they have better eyesight than dogs.

Some dogs can understand up to 350 words. My cat responds to only three words: here, kitty and scat.

Memo to Harry S. Truman: Did you know that if Richard Milhous Nixon is elected, we'll have another piano player in the White House?

Apert definitions: Robert Q. Lewis defines a bachelor as a man who can eat at home any night he pleases.

The population explosion: In 1960 the world had 10 cities with a million or more population. Now there are 61 such cities.

Odd superstition: In the British Isles it was once thought a bride and bridegroom could stave off unhappiness for a year if they shared a piece of bacon after the wedding ceremony.

Leprosy, a disease now known to be less contagious than tuberculosis, still afflicts 12 million people throughout the world. In the Middle Ages its victims were cast out of society with these dread words: "Dead to the world henceforth, now place your hope in God."

It was Marital who observed, "The good man prolongs his life: to be able to enjoy one's past life is to live twice."

Squirrels Attack Savannah Children

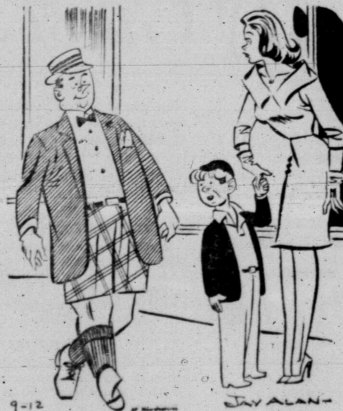

SAVANNAH, Ga. (AP) — This coastal city is at war with squirrels who attack children.

The usually shy little rodents have bitten three girls—aged 2 to 12—in recent days.

Police killed one that bit and scratched two children. The father of the third victim used a club on another.

Between You And Me

By Jerry Jackson

Dr. Carl A. Dillaha, M.D., was in attendance. So was Dr. B. J. Weaver, noted chiropractor. It was evident that this was no run-of-the-mill case, but one to tax the medical brains of both physicians. It was even being rumored that Dr. Thomas Hartley might have to be called into the case for consultation, and he had assured them that he would be available on a mere snap of the fingers.

The crisis had arrived, and...

Push-Pull, Click-Click

DILLAHA CAREFULLY pulled the shiny blade from its housing and made the first incision, acting with the air of a master. Then another, and another. Thirty minutes lapsed into forty-five. And forty-five into a full hour. Doctors Dillaha and Weaver conferred at ten in muffled tones as Sam leaned over in a desperate attempt to catch a few phrases which might in some way relay the progress of the operation.

One thing was evident even to the layman. Things weren't coming off as well as had been hoped. T. D. Wiman, understandably concerned with the goings-on, looked first at Weaver, then at Dillaha.

Weaver gave Mr. Wiman a reassuring pat on the shoulder, smiled wanly, shook his head, and whispered, "We're doing everything in our power, but..."

Wiman answered with a thin-lipped, courageous nod. Nothing more.

"Quick, oxygen," Dillaha rasped, sensing a turn for the worse. Wiman spun on his heel and beelined his way in quest of the needed item. He returned within minutes, the oxygen tank in tow. Another attendant, Mr. J. C. Mapes, saw to it that it was rigged up correctly and operated as it should.

Somewhere in the neighborhood of four thousand people were witnessing the intricate operation at intervals. You see, it all took place Friday night during the Snyder-Borger football game with full view of the gathered assemblage. But to deliver a little further into the "operation."

Not One "For The Books"

IT IS CONCEDED that this "operation" will never make the medical journals. For the "patient" in question was a patch of grass about a yard square, containing—of all things—a single lost contact lens.

Early in the game Wiman's son, David, had been having trouble with a lens that kept slipping to one side of his eye as he played his linchback position for the Tigers. Having been relieved temporarily when the attentive unit took the field, he proceeded to pop out the lens and tried to replace it so that it would be less irritating.

He never accomplished the objective, however, in that a brisk north wind whisked it from his hand. With the result that it landed in a grassy area between Tiger bench. He could tell the approximate area where it landed, though, and so began the search for the little object.

Ever tried to locate a...

So There You Are, SURE ENOUGH, the wayward, restless lens was found Saturday morning as Mr. Wiman painstakingly extracted each blade of grass from the first of the three bags he brought home—the other two he panned off on Weaver, who claims to have dreamed about lost lenses all night Friday before finally dreaming that he found it at an unearthly five o'clock in the morning. It was more of an obsession with him than a fantasy, however, and consequently a real relief when Wiman phoned him the good news. As the old Chinese philosopher Confucius once said, "He who inspects grass for hours on end is flirting with the head shrinker."

And what about young Wiman, who found himself in a hazy, fuzzy world for the rest of the game following the loss?

"I was 'in the dark' that last half," he mused. "Anytime I saw anything red, I'd just hit my head."

And he did see enough...

contact lens, even when you know where it's supposed to be? Not a whole lot of fun. Downright needle-in-the-haystackish.

So that explained the good doctors' presence on their knees, searching madly for the lost tidbit. Oh, and before I forget it, that wasn't really a scalpel at all, but the next thing to it—a pocketknife. It was used to shred the grass and re-shed the grass until it became as fine as cat whiskers. But still no lens.

Was kidding about the oxygen, too. The "oxygen tank" which the elder Wiman was seen to tote to the restricted area was actually an electrostatic vacuum cleaner.

Mapes, who is "Mr. Electrostatic" in Snyder, lent a helping hand in this phase of the operation, which resulted in every "unit" of grass within the bare square being sucked up into the mechanical inhaler. Five bags full altogether, goateads and you.

You Little Rascal! "red" to play a hangup defensive game against the crimson-clad Bulldogs, too.

Broken Leg Fells "B" Team Griddler

Johnny Mitchell, Snyder "B" team griddler who suffered a broken leg during the second quarter of Saturday night's game against Sweetwater, was returned home yesterday by Bolger Funeral Home ambulance following treatment of the injury and an overnight stay in the hospital at Sweetwater.

The break was sustained just above the ankle of the left leg, and will keep him out of action indefinitely.

Mitchell is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Walter A. Mitchell of the First Baptist Church here.

Will Mullins Start At Tech Tackle Slot?

The "Battle of the Giants"—a scrap for starting tackle berths—is one of the highlights of Texas Tech's early football drills.

At one time or another, five different tackles have been listed as starters.

One tackle slot shows Larry Mullins, 6-3, 196, of Snyder; Robert Meyer, 6-2, 215, of San Antonio; and Richard Stafford, 6-4, 230, of Matador, leading the fight.

For the other tackle post, the leading candidates are Bobby Cline, 6-1, 208, of Belton; Tommy Pace, 6-4, 205, of Amarillo; and Pat Holmes, 6-5, 240, of Del Rio. As long as the shuffling in rank results from superior performance by one or more of the big men, Coach DeWitt Weaver hopes the situation can remain unsettled.

Texas Tech opens its schedule against West Texas State Saturday (Sept. 17) night in Lubbock.

BC Opening New Season

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Border Conference opens its football campaign this week.

New Mexico State will be playing its second game after blasting the University of Mexico 41-0 in an early start.

Arizona State University, the defending champion, will even brighter prospects for 1960, plays Colorado State at Tempe, Texas. Western meets Utah at El Paso, Hardin-Simmons tries Cincinnati there and West Texas State tests Texas Tech at Lubbock.

Arizona was another week to begin the race. The Wildcats open with Utah Sept. 24.

The fight for the championship appears to be a 2-way affair—Arizona State and New Mexico State, although all the other members of the league except possibly Hardin-Simmons should be improved.

Hardin-Simmons has a new coach, Howard McChesney, because Sam Baugh now is pilot of the New York Titans of the American Football League. There also will be a great newness about the entire squad since only 14 lettermen return. Texas Western, which, like Hardin-Simmons had a 3-7 record last season, figures to be greatly improved under its quarterback John Furrman. There are 21 lettermen back.

West Texas State, which won only one game last season, can't go any way much except up.

Martin Faced With Tough Assignment

FORT WORTH (AP)—With the toughest schedule in the school's history and his most experienced starting lineup ever, Coach Joe Martin of Texas Christian will try to overcome many odds during the 1960 season.

After being in the Southwest Conference throne room for the past two seasons, the Martinmen will try to become the second team ever to share in three straight championships. Texas A & M accomplished the feat in 1959-60-61.

But Martin knows the other conference teams will be taking dead aim.

"We were fortunate in tying for the title last year with Texas and Arkansas," Martin reminded. "We probably won't be as fortunate in 1960. The experience just isn't there. Thus, some kids who haven't played much football yet but come through for us in possibly be applier winner."

TCU started work this fall with 18 lettermen. Only two were regulars last fall—center Arvie Martin and right tackle Robert Lilly, Martin, the 6-2, 220-pound senior, should be quite an instrumental figure in Martin's plans—he's captain of the team and...

Chargers Deal Texans Defeat

By MIKE RATHER

Associated Press Sports Writer
Boo! Ben Agajanian, 40, a journeyman pro who kicks 'em through the uprights with only one toe, has reactivated his career as one of the veteran retradees playing prominent roles in the new American Football League.

The former New Mexico stand-out, who has the brine-toughened stump of his right foot encased in a special shoe for his kicking chores, booted the Los Angeles Chargers to a 21-20 victory over the Dallas Texans in the key clash on the AFL's inaugural weekend program.

Agajanian, a star in the old All-American Conference and later the top scorer for the New York Giants of the National League, lost four toes on his foot in an elevator accident while still attending college.

It was Agajanian's third conversion with 2:15 remaining that gave the Chargers, Western Division pre-season favorites, a successful opening.

In other AFL regular season debuts, the Houston Oilers beat the Oakland Raiders, 37-22, and the New York Titans rapped Buffalo Bills, 27-3.

In the National League—where the regular season opens Sept. 23—Bobby Mitchell barreled 11 and 64 yards for touchdowns in Cleveland's 16-10 exhibition triumph over the Chicago Bears. Nick Pietrosante dove over from the 1-yard line in the fourth quarter as Detroit tied New York's Eastern Division champs, 16-16. Green Bay edged the Dallas Cowboys, 28-23, on a last quarter 12-yard pass from Bart Starr to Paul Hornung.

The struggle between the Chargers and Texans revolved around a missed extra point by Dallas' Jack Spikes. The Chargers, trailing 30-7 in the fourth quarter, tied it on a 7-yard touchdown run by quarterback Jack Kemp and his 4-yard TD toss to Howie Ferguson. Agajanian then booted the clincher.

George Blanda, 35-year-old NFL veteran, passed for four touchdowns—including the go-ahead 3-yarder to Johnny Carson in the third period—kicked four conversions and a field goal for Houston.

Buffalo took a 30-lead over New York in the opening period on Darrell Harper's field goal, but that was it for the Bills. The first of Bill Shockley's two field goals and touchdown runs of 2 and 15 yards by quarterback Al Dorow put the Titans out of reach.

SMALL SQUAD, BIG HOPES

Bright Horizons Seen At Lincoln
The Lincoln High Trojans, although handicapped to a certain degree by lack of experience in some areas, nevertheless look to be a stronger outfit this season than was fielded last year.

Coach Calvin Edwards' eleven is hoping to improve upon last year's dismal 1-5 mark, and got started in that direction this past Friday in winning their first game played, a 22-0 conquering of Big Spring.

Several boys have been lost to the squad this year—four by graduation, one due to being over age, and the remaining two having dropped out of school. Five starters are returning to the club, however, Williams, who line the scale at...

Buford Thompson, 140, halfback Joe Phillips, 135, and guard Kenneth McClain, 135.

Others making up the 47-man squad include tackle Mack Taylor, 150; tackle Willie Daniels, 200; halfback Roger Huntman, 120; halfback Joseph Crayton, 100; halfback and end Ronald Green, 160; Samuel Stephen, 145; Joe Sanders, 150; halfback Bonnie McLoughlin, 110; quarterback Linwood Durst, 110; center Billy Hardiman, 115; guard Robert Riley, 130; and halfback John Austin, 120.

Williams and Choyce are both two-letter men, while Taylor, Greene, and Phillips have each earned one numeral.

Edwards is especially high on the passing potential as is evident in quarterback Williams and receiver Greer. His faith was justified in Friday's opener, too, as that combination proved to be the backbone of the Trojan offense.

It's an extremely young team with which Edwards has to work. Included on the squad are only one senior—McLoughlin—and four juniors, a like number of sophomores, six freshmen, and two eighth graders—Huntman and Daniels.

The Trojans have scheduled five more contests, with the next actum for the team being a home game against Lubbock on Friday, September 23. Following that contest will be: Oct. 15—Vernon home; Oct. 22—Odessa home; Oct. 29—Plainview away; and Nov. 4—Big Spring home.

All of the contests, both home and away, will have kickoff times of 8 p.m., and the home encounters will be reeled off on the junior high gridiron located near Travis Junior High School.

Curtain Falls On Olympiad
About 8,000 athletes from 87 countries came to Rome for the Olympic games. Aug. 25 Some started trickling out of the Eternal City even before Sunday's closing ceremony.

A few minutes earlier the German horse riding team of Hans Winkler, Alwin Schockemuehle, and Fritz Thiedemann had successfully defended the team title won by Germany in 1956.

The scarlet-coated Germans won the gold medal with a team score of 47 1/2 penalty points.

The American squad of George Morris, New Caanan, Conn., Frank Chapot, Wallkill, N. J., and Bill Steinkraus of Westport, Conn. came second with a score of 66 penalty points. Italy finished third with 80 1/2 points.

The Snyder (Texas) Daily News

Mon., Sept. 12, 1960

THE RADIATOR MAN at Snyder Radiator Service, 1105 Avenue T, has a word to the wise in these first cool days of fall about their radiator checkup for cool winter driving. That word is to come in early for their checkup and not wait till the first cold day because on that day come rain or shine, he's "snowed." Above, Frank Stephenson, owner of the shop, pressure tests his own radiator to get ahead of the crowd. His new Truckstell SafeT Cap is shown in the insert.

'Radiator Man' Introduces Revolutionary Pressure Cap

A "HOT" number made safe is the new Truckstell SafeT Cap for radiators now available in Snyder from Frank Stephenson "The Radiator Man," at Snyder Radiator Service, 1105 Avenue T. He's the distributor, wholesale or retail.

This revolutionary new radiator cap, described as the first improvement in radiator caps in 20 years, takes the scald out of looking in the radiator. A car's cooling system remains pressurized until the engine cools and when the ordinary pressure cap is loosened, the super-heated steam and coolants spurt out and seriously scald any parts of the body they hit.

Not so with the new SafeT Cap with the green button. When you need to remove the radiator cap before the motor cools, just press the green button and the steam goes out the overflow, not up in your face.

"Radiators need caps of the exact pressure needed for all the accessories in the car and also to have the thermostats working properly and set exactly right," Stephenson says. He added that most people do not realize that all cars need special attention for their radiators the entire year, for air conditioners in the summer and heaters in the winter.

Stephenson has distributed SafeT Caps to several service stations and urges everyone to stop in and look for the cap with the little green button on top.

"Don't buy your radiator cap blind," Stephenson urges, emphasizing that each car is special and

Man Leaves Note Denying Jewel Theft

DALLAS (AP) — Herbert Dean Brundage, 32, denied knowledge of a hotel jewelry theft, but blamed embarrassment of the investigation for his death in a note to his wife.

The Chrysler Corp. assistant regional manager was found dead in his car Sunday morning. A bullet had passed through his head. Justice of Peace Lem Brotherton ruled suicide.

Police had sought Brundage all day Saturday for questioning in the $4,000 theft of jewels taken from a Sheraton-Dallas Hotel room Thursday. The jewelry has not been recovered, police said.

A man, identified by several hotel employees as Brundage, had been seen in the room. He was at the hotel arranging a meeting of Chrysler personnel. Brundage told hotel detectives he was drunk and got into the wrong room. The loss of jewelry had not been discovered at the time. The room was occupied by two Midland women in Dallas for a ballet performance.

Brundage, known to hotel officials, was allowed to leave and the police were not notified of the theft until Friday afternoon. They tried to reach Brundage but had not been able to find him.

The note to his wife from the dead man was found with four others and a will in the car.

The hotel had been notified late Thursday of the theft when the Midland women returned and found their room ransacked. Besides the jewelry, some furs were missing, an evening dress had been ripped and a photograph damaged.

Earlier a hotel maid had seen a man walk in the room. She had notified the assistant manager, J.A. Pedergress, and he and the house detective, J.F. Wright, had found the man still in the room. The intruder gave them a name and address and disappeared when they went downstairs to make a phone call.

Sinatra's Daughter Weds Tommy Sands

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Frank Sinatra today has a son-in-law, crooner Tommy Sands.

Sands, 23, and Sinatra's daughter, Nancy, 20, were married Sunday in a quiet, civil ceremony attended by members of the immediate families.

A small reception followed at the Sands hotel, where a year ago the romance began between the singer and the singer's daughter.

Sands was dressed in his Air Force uniform. He is serving a six-month reserve tour and reports back to his station at Long Beach, Calif., Tuesday.

The bride, given away by her father, wore a street length gown of white lace. She carried a white orchid bouquet. The double-ring ceremony was performed by District Court Judge David Zenoff.

Dr. Finch To Face Cross Examination

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dr. R. Bernard Finch faces cross examination today as the prosecution tries to shake his testimony that his estranged wife was shot accidentally.

The surgeon and his red-haired mistress, Carol Tregoff, are being retried on murder charges. Finch testified that he had taken a revolver away from Barbara Finch and was attempting to throw the weapon away when it accidentally discharged in his hands.

Before the trial adjourned for the weekend, Finch repeated the story he told at the first trial about his wife's death on July 18, 1959. He testified that he had taken a revolver away from Barbara Finch and was attempting to throw the weapon away when it accidentally discharged in his hands.

Hybrid Sorghums Gain Acceptance

WASHINGTON (AP) — Farmers have been quicker to adopt the new high-yielding hybrid sorghum grains than they were to accept hybrid seed corn.

Little hybrid sorghum seed was used in 1954. Four years later, it was used to plant about two-thirds of the sorghum acreage.

This is in sharp contrast to hybrid corn, which was introduced about 25 years ago. Before the same proportion of corn acreage was planted to hybrid seed, 13 years had passed.

The store valued the rings at $9,758.

Douglas H. Jr., told police he saw a stocky, Latin-American man hurt a brick through the store's plate glass display window at about 1 p.m. and set up the display rings.

Jewel Thief Is Sought In Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — Police looked for a man who had stolen a badly cut burglar today after a smash-and-grab raid was staged on Everts Jewelers downtown.

The store valued the rings at $9,758.

Douglas H. Jr., told police he saw a stocky, Latin-American man hurt a brick through the store's plate glass display window at about 1 p.m. and set up the display rings.

On Goodwill Trip

MEXICO CITY (AP) — California Gov. Edmund Brown will arrive here Sept. 25 on an invitation from the Mexico-California goodwill committee.

Aid Offered To Children

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Offers of aid and pleas to help some 22,000 children recently dropped from welfare rolls rang out today as the state laws on welfare fell under attack.

Welfare of food, clothing and money camp from as far as England. Latest requests for help, came from church groups. A law suit is attacking constitutionality of two laws which caused the welfare cut.

Recently enacted laws changing welfare payments were aimed at tax support of illegitimate children. But all children of any mother who had an illegitimate child after drawing a welfare check were dropped from relief.

This affected an estimated 5,000 New Orleans area children and about 18,000 elsewhere in the state, more than 95 per cent of them Negroes.

Gladson Rites Held In Rotan

ROTAN — Funeral services were conducted here Wednesday for Rex Gladson, 47, local businessman and land owner. Mr. Gladson, a native of Snyder, died Monday of a heart attack. He had lived in Rotan since 1935.

The funeral was held in the Rotan Church of Christ, with Martin Kamstra officiating. Burial was in the Snyder cemetery.

Mr. Gladson is survived by his wife, a son, Billy Jack of the home, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Gladson of Snyder, and a brother, Eugene Gladson of Snyder.

Longevity Club In Annual Session

CHICAGO (AP) — A group dedicated to long life, calling itself the Longevity Club, held its ninth annual meeting Sunday in a downtown hotel.

Before they listened to several speakers extol the merits of good eating and good living the members partook of sunflower loaf with mushroom sauce, beet "a la folk medicine" which never was explained to the eaters, a carrot-raisin salad, baked potatoes, sweet butter, coffee or bouquet herb tea, spring water and a raisin-sunflower nut mixture for dessert.

There were no smokers and no drinkers.

Two More Negroes Enroll In Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — Two more Negro first graders started attending classes today at a one-time all-white elementary school.

This made a total of eight Negroes in the previously all-white schools.

Supt. John McFarland said no more Negro pupils are expected this term.

Those admitted to Betsy Ross elementary school today are Elaine Ross and Susan Ross, sisters.

Integration began last week in Houston schools, under federal court orders calling for grade-year integration. No incidents have occurred.

Prince Leads Campaign To Save Treasure

PARIS (AP)—Prince Sadruddin Aga Khan, serious-minded scion of a famous family, has taken a key role in the drive to save the ancient Egyptian treasures of the Nubian Desert.

Sadruddin, 27, tweedy Harvard man and son of the late Aga Khan III, has enthusiastically taken on the job of helping raise funds to keep the priceless art treasures from being flooded by the muddy Nile River waters that will back up behind the Aswan Dam.

The prince was called in by the U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization as a special consultant for the campaign.

"I have long had a close interest in the Nubian monuments," the prince said in an interview. "My father always insisted we have a knowledge of the monuments, and we visited them as schoolchildren."

Sadruddin, half-brother of the late Prince Aly Khan and uncle of the present Aga Khan IV, shares his family's love for a combination of high life and serious pursuits.

A prince of the Ismaili Muslim sect, he specialized in Middle Eastern studies at Harvard. He is a collector of Moslem art and patron of the Paris Review, an American avant-garde magazine.

A trip to the United States and Britain has been set up so the prince can contact cultural and government leaders "to find out what we can expect." Among his friends is the wealthy family of Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee.

More than 30 private organizations or governments have in formed UNESCO they are prepared to help remove the Nubian monuments or build dikes around them. But the job almost escapes imagination in scope, complexity and cost. Rough estimates of the cost to save only the two most famous Nubian monuments—the Abu Simel and Philae temples—run to $64 million.

Man Who Wed Child Bride Changes Tune

SNEEDVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The man who took a child bride a generation ago has brought abduction charges against the husband of his 17-year-old daughter. Charlie Johns, who attracted national attention in 1937 when he married Eunice Winstead, 9, has charged John Henry Antrean, 30, abducted Evelyn Johns from the family's farm home near here last Thursday against his wishes.

The young couple was married Friday in this small upper east Tennessee community, about 60 miles northeast of Knoxville. Johns also charged Antrean and his mother with falsely giving Evelyn's age as 21 when they obtained a marriage license at near-by Rutledge.

Antrean said Johns objected to his dating Evelyn, oldest of the Johns' seven children. The bride said her mother had no objection to the marriage. The couple had been going together for about a year.

Antrean and his bride said Johns opposed the marriage because he wanted Evelyn to marry "another boy who was better off financially." The groom added that his father-in-law was "just plain hard to get along with."

Johns, a strapping six-footer, and Eunice, a shy little blonde, were married Jan. 19, 1937. Their marriage touched off a storm of protests from clubwomen and clergymen. The Legislature, then in session, immediately enacted a law fixing 16 as the minimum age for marriage in Tennessee.

Bosque Rancher Is Dragged To Death

MERIDIAN, Tex. (AP)—B. F. Strong, 60, a prominent Bosque County rancher, was dragged to death by a horse Sunday night on his 1,500-acre ranch seven miles northwest of Inndale.

Sheriff Clark Howell said Strong probably went to the pasture because of a sick calf. He then roped a horse he had just purchased.

A son, B. N. Strong, discovered the tragedy. The elder Strong had become entangled in a lariat and was being dragged by the frightened horse.

Base Near Tokyo Gets AF Award

TOKYO (AP)—The 38th Air Force Rescue Squadron at Tachikawa Air Base outside Tokyo received the Air Force's outstanding unit award today for hazardous rescue missions.

Maj. Gen. Robert Tate, acting 8th Air Force commander, presented the award to Lt. Col. George Abernathy, of San Angelo, Tex., commander of the unit.

From July 1, 1958 to Dec. 1, 1959, the unit saved 24 Japanese and American lives and picked up 33 other persons in typhoon, flood and other dangerous situations.
