GOV. DAVEY DEFIES PERKINS AS 'DICTATOR'

REBELS PLOT NEW DRIVE TO TAKE MADRID

MUSSOLINI PREDICTS VICTORY FOR INSURGENTS

ROME, June 26 (AP)—Premier Benito Mussolini's newspaper, Il Popolo D'Italia, tonight promised the Italian people that Europe's present crisis would be solved shortly by the fall of Madrid and a complete insurgent victory in Spain.

Diplomats and others who read the prominently displayed article believed they recognized its forceful style as that of Il Duce himself.

It declared that a clean-up of the Basque territory was all that remained to be done before Generalissimo Francisco Franco could throw the whole of Spain into the hands of the insurgent forces.

The article was placed before the main editorial, devoted to a general Fascist complaint that Communists and "democratic" newspapers are indulging in "lying" accusations concerning Italy's actions in Spain.

Those newspapers, the article said, predicted Spain would be the grave of Fascism. On the contrary, it asserted, Spain will be the "tomb of Bolshevism."

This, Il Popolo continued, would bring peace to western Europe. The article was titled "Cry and Avallanche," interpreted as a take-off on Prime Minister Chamberlain's speech in the House of Commons yesterday. Chamberlain compared the situation to mountains where a "sudden exclamation may start an avalanche."

(By The Associated Press.)

A new drive to capture Madrid and the Spanish war appeared imminent last night (Saturday) as insurgents launched heavy attacks against the capital's defenders. The offensive, preceded by shelling, came almost simultaneously with a prediction by Premier Benito Mussolini's newspaper, The Pop-

ALLIED ATTACKS STATE SENATOR IN ADDRESS

SILSBEE, June 26 (AP)—Governor James V. Allred took the occasion of Santa Fe day here today to defend his calling of a special session to outlaw horse race gambling, striking back at his critics in the Senate.

He centered his attack on Senator Allan Shivers of Port Arthur. "I was elected on this platform of repealing horse racing," Allred said. "Senator Shivers said a platform is to get elected on, not to carry out, which is contrary to my idea."

The governor said Shivers changed his vote on the question of horse race gambling repeal between March 4 and March 10.

Turning to the celebration of Santa Fe day, a civic-railroad occasion, Allred said:

"The state has made progress in transportation, in science, in medicine, and in everything except government. Our government has failed to keep step with the needs of time."

Allred said he would call a special session if necessary to carry out the remainder of his platform.

"Regular sessions are made for filibustering," he asserted. "It took 60 days to introduce the bill 60 days to get a hearing, and 60 days to get it passed."

A crowd estimated at 22,000 heard Allred and witnessed a pageant depicting progress in railroad transportation.

HOT SPELL LESSENED BY DUSTER-NORTHER

Warm weather continued in Pampa over the week end, although Saturday was not so hot as other days of the past week.

The maximum temperature Saturday at 9:15 a. m. was 91°. The temperature readings ranged from 95 to 99 on other days of the week. Saturday's minimum reading was 66 degrees.

A slight duster early Saturday morning was considered unusual for this time of the year. The weatherman forecast fair and warm for Sunday.

22 New Wells Completed In Plains Field

SOUTH PLAINS HAS BUMPER WHEAT CROP

FLOYD COUNTY CLAIMS FIVE MILLION BUSHELS

AMARILLO, June 26 (AP)—The bread basket of the southern part of the Great Plains once again flows over.

Farmers in the great flat expanse are sweeping in the best wheat harvest season that has been known in seven years.

Deep in the area is Floyd county where 5,000,000 bushels of golden grain will be taken from 203,000 acres, said County Agent D. P. Bredthauer. Combines, working in full blast, are gathering so much grain that every conceivable contrivance is being used to carry grain to elevators. Every Floyd county elevator is a scene of congestion of peculiar vehicles.

Old automobiles, long lying idle near farm homes, have been oiled and hitched to rickety trailers; commercial trucks have had high board beds added to the back; mammoth trucks that hold tons and good passenger cars with improvised trailers all have their place in the hauling.

"We haven't used the little red wagons yet," grinned Bredthauer. "Dry weather is making more than 30 bushels to the acre while irrigated wheat, to be cut just following the dry land yield—which ripened earlier—will yield up to 60 bushels to the acre authorities said."

The last great crop of wheat, which brought a fine yield and a good price at the elevator, was in 1926. This crop, because it is general over the Texas South Plains, surpasses that bumper year, said Fred Zimmerman, big planter.

"We may never see it this good again," M. H. Martin, his partner, said.

The picture is not alone in Floyd county. All over the plains a crop is being made that will pour cash into the pockets of farmers who have been without crops for six years.

Hale county, which adjoins Floyd, will make 1,750,000 bushels, despite a damaging hailstorm that ruined 250,000 bushels County Agent C. B. Martin said. In Castro county, where a year ago wind erosion cut a swath, the yield will reach 2,000,000 bushels, County Agent Wayne Thomas estimated.

Political Fat Not Fried, Say Jovial Demos

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 26 (AP)—Democratic senators and congressmen brought back tonight from their picnic with President Roosevelt a more detailed description of a softball game than of legislative prospects.

Like the contingent which preceded them to Jefferson Island yesterday, they reported virtually no serious discussion of national or congressional affairs. One house members said every time somebody edged up to the President for what might be pointed discussion, Speaker Bankhead or Rep. Rayburn, house majority leader, elbowed in or somebody started a song.

Returning from the island, Bankhead remarked: "There really was no inside stuff at all."

He said there was no talk of adjournment and that "no one knows when we can adjourn."

"We had a soft ball game," he added, "and tried to get young, but we made a bust of it."

Photographers who were permitted on the island today said they saw a few poker games, some horse-pitching, swimming and fishing, a bar, and the President sitting under an apple tree chatting.

Senator McCarran, of Nevada, a leading foe of the Roosevelt court reorganization bill, said he did not hear that controversial measure mentioned. He agreed with others

Twenty-two new oil wells were given potentials in the Panhandle field last week, the greatest number of completions in any one week this year. New oil amounted to 11,816 barrels.

The past week was a comparatively quiet one for new locations, only 12 being filed at the local office of the Texas Railroad commission. Hutchinson county was the most attractive with six, followed by Gray with four and Moore and Carson with one each.

Most interesting location of the week was the Smith Brothers Refining company's No. 1 Castleberry in section 155, block 3, I&GN survey in Gray county. The test will be drilled about 500 yards northwest of the city limits of Pampa and about a half mile east of production. It will be a test for oil in a northerly direction from Pampa.

Hutchinson county reported 14 completions with an open flow potential of 6,811 barrels. Gray county's six new wells tested 3,451 barrels, open flow. The other two new wells were in Carson county.

The area east of Borger in Hutchinson county continued to be the most active in the field. Seven of the county's completions were in that particular area and were good for 2,984 barrels of new production.

Best producer of the week was the W. C. Jones No. 6 A. J. Culler in section 173, block 3, I&GN survey, Gray county, about six miles northwest of Pampa which was given a potential of 1,000 barrels. The well was drilled in proven territory and was considered an excellent producer in a section where production has been steady for years.

The Turman Oil Company brought in two excellent producers in Hutchinson county with the No. B-6 Wittenburg gauging 801 barrels and the No. A-12 being good for 806 barrels.

Although registering only two completions, Carson county had another good well in the Empire Oil & Refining company's No. E-3, Magnolia, good for 907 barrels.

Shavrock Oil & Gas company brought in a giant sweet gas well in the east Moore county field when it's No. 3 Sneed in section 47, block M-16, T&NO survey, tested 110,707,000 cubic feet.

Allowable of the Panhandle field was upped only 969 barrels by order of the Texas Railroad commission on Thursday. The increase will become effective on July 1. A new schedule is now being prepared at the local office of the commission.

The field allowable will be 77,017 barrels when the new schedule becomes effective. No change was made in the output of the Moore county and Osborne area in Wheeler county.

Completions by counties:

HUTCHINSON COUNTY
The Texas Co., No. 9 Pond, section 1, block M-21, TORR survey, gauged 504 barrels with pay in line from 2,891 to 2,975 feet and

LEGION PLANS 'FIFTH' DANCES

Practically every business place in Pampa had agreed to close July 5 because the famous "Fourth" comes on Sunday, American Legion officials announced last night. The Legion is sponsoring the move.

Among the last to be interviewed were local lumber companies which signed the agreement to close. Local cleaning establishments Friday decided to close.

The Legion is pushing a "personal" celebration of the anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence by urging all Pampans to read the famous document which will be published in the NEWS.

Commander Charlie Maisei announced that Howard Brown and the Twelve Brownies will furnish music for the two dances which will be sponsored by the Legion July 5. The first ball will be a "sunrise" dance July 4 at the Southern club. The Legion's "Firecracker" dance will be in the evening at the Southern club after a gigantic fireworks display to which children will be ad-

BUDDY ROGER'S VOICE BREAKS IN CEREMONY

MARY PICKFORD WEDS IN EXCLUSIVE SETTING

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., June 26

(AP)—Mary Pickford and Charles "Buddy" Rogers were quietly married this afternoon on a hill overlooking the town that made them famous.

It was a ceremony with a setting of complete intimacy.

Never in all the history of Hollywood has an event been guarded with such rigid attention to detail. The estate where it took place is tucked away in the foothills on a lonely, one-way road. The garden where they stood is ringed with high fences and a barrier of trees. Police were outside and inside.

Only 14 persons, the two families and a few friends, were in attendance.

Mary and "Buddy" knelt on a pillow covered with white satin, beneath a spreading sycamore tree. Far beneath them, they could see the streets of Hollywood, and even the bull-chested movie studios where they worked and met two years ago.

Directly behind them were the groom's parents, Judge and Mrs. B. H. Rogers, of Olathe, Kas.

Newspapermen were kept outside the garden until after the ceremony. Judge Rogers, who has officiated at more than 5,000 weddings in his home county, described the ceremony.

"Mary looked a little nervous, but not much. Say, she's a honey, isn't she? Buddy smoked three cigarettes in a row before they started the wedding march, but when the ceremony really began, he was fine."

"I guess I got a lump in my throat when I saw my two boys standing there." The groom's brother, B. H., accompanied him to the altar. The judge said Mrs. Rogers, tall, white-haired, distinguished in manner, wept a little.

"I never heard a more wonderful ceremony. Buddy's voice quivered a little, but he didn't. They exchanged rings, you know. She put hers on his little finger. And of course his went on the usual finger."

"She squeezed her hand tight as soon as the ring slipped on."

The ceremony in the congregational church rites, was performed by the Rev. James Hamilton Lash.

Selmer Chalf, cousin of Miss Pickford, gave away the bride.

Mrs. Louis Lighton, wife of Producer Louis D. Lighton, at whose home the wedding took place, was matron of honor.

Workmen Monday will begin installation of two new sections of telephone switchboard here. W. G. Riddle, district manager of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, announced Saturday about two months will be required to complete the installation. Riddle said.

One of the new switchboard sections will be used for long distance calls, while the other will add 200 lines to the city's telephone system. A 30-foot extension to the telephone building, to be completed about the middle of July, will provide space for the new equipment and an expansion of the company's business office, Riddle said.

"There are now more telephones in service in Pampa than ever before," Riddle commented. "Since the first of the year, the gain has been almost 2,300. This is approximately 50 per cent more telephones than were in use here four years ago."

600 CHILDREN ENJOY POOL, WATER CHANGED

More than 600 children of 12 years of age and under enjoyed the free swim at the municipal swimming pool Friday morning, according to W. Postma, director of the recreational program, who conducted the children to the pool.

The pool was scrubbed Friday night and the water changed. The water was so clear and clean last night that the black lines on the bottom of the pool were plainly visible.

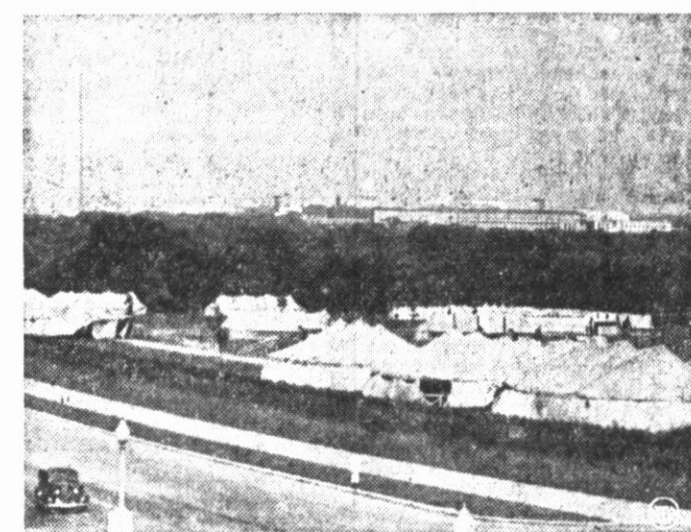

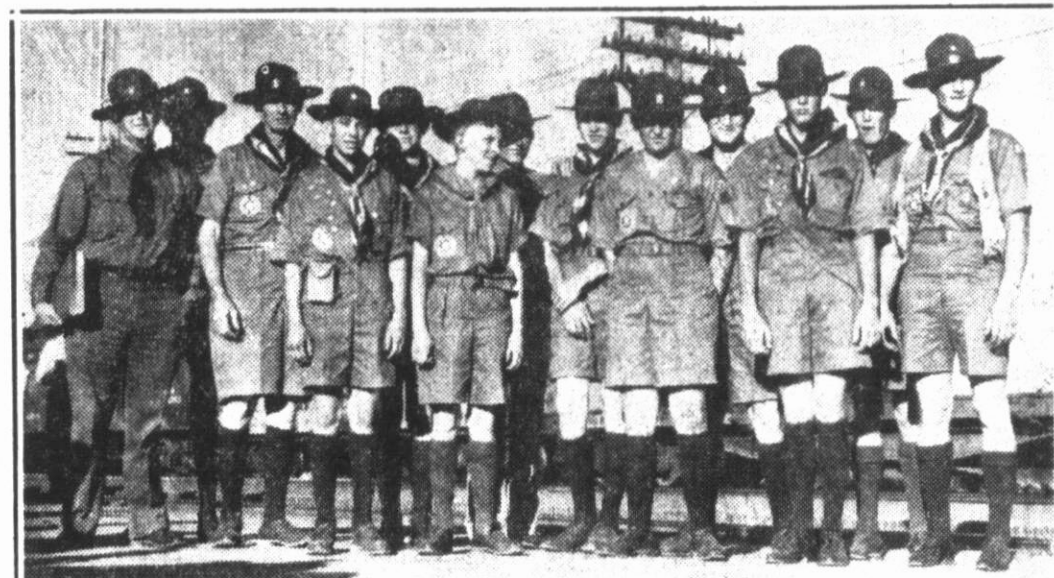

A total of 13 life guards had their eyes glued on the pool for two and one-half hours as the children almost filled the pool to overflowing. Each life guard was assigned a certain spot in the pool to guard. Only one child "drank" too much water when it went under one time, and he was immediately spotted and rescued by the life guards.

One of the men was believed to have been Bybee who formerly resided in Pampa and LeFors.

It was learned Saturday that Bybee once escaped from the Gray county jail and that he held officers at bay and fled when they came upon him in a South side rooming house.

Play Program Participation Sets New High

2 BANDS WILL GIVE CONCERT MONDAY NIGHT

A thousand more children participated last week in the summer recreation program than in the previous week. W. Postma, director, announced last night. A new all-time high of 3,400 children enjoyed the planned recreational activities held in various portions of the city.

Every week day from Monday through Friday, the wading pool in the city park will be supervised and mothers are requested to bring their children of eight years old and under, between the hours of 2:30 and 5 p. m.

Tap dancing classes are being held from 2:30 until 3:30 each Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. Picnics are being held in the city park from 5 until 6:30 the same days. Mr. Postma announced that the attendance was nearly doubled in each district with the exception of the Woodrow Wilson area.

"We know that there are lots more children in that neighborhood who would enjoy attending if their parents would only send them over," he said. Mrs. Eugene Seastrand is the instructor at the Woodrow Wilson playgrounds.

The program will be as follows: Activity march, Bennett, directed by Mr. Seastrand; Mutual March, Bennett; Seastrand; Norman's Dream, waltz, Bennett, Postma; Project march, Bennett, Postma; Chant, Bennett, Seastrand; Summit March, Bennett, Postma; Zenith Overture, Bennett, Seastrand.

All members of the Baker and Woodrow Wilson bands are asked to be in uniform and be at the city park by 7 p. m., tomorrow evening.

SEARCH HERE FAILS TO UNCOVER FUGITIVE

No further trace of W. H. Bybee, leader of the Eastham prison farm break last Tuesday, who was believed to have returned early Friday to old haunts in Pampa, had been found by local sheriff's officers last night.

A tip went to authorities here at 3:30 a. m. Friday that three men, answering descriptions of three of the eight convicts who have not been recaptured, had stopped in a S. Cuyler street cafe to get food.

One of the men was believed to have been Bybee who formerly resided in Pampa and LeFors.

It was learned Saturday that Bybee once escaped from the Gray county jail and that he held officers at bay and fled when they came upon him in a South side rooming house.

B. M. Baker and Woodrow Wilson bands will give a concert Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the city park.

The ward school band concert given in the city park will feature the combined bands of the two schools. W. Postma, B. M. Baker, director, and Eugene Seastrand, Woodrow Wilson director, will alternate directing.

TEXAS TROOPS ARRIVE AT SCOUT JAMBOREE

WASHINGTON, June 26 (AP)—Many-colored tent towns housed more than 5,000 Boy Scouts tonight as the first contingent of 27,000 boys came to the capital for a 10-day Jamboree starting Tuesday.

The first Jamboree meal was served tonight in eight mess tents and brought the first major test of elaborate preparations scout officials had made to feed the hungry youngsters.

The Jamboree commissary planned to serve the first official meal Monday night when about 20,000 Scouts will be in camp.

A Scout who traveled half way around the world by air led today's comers to camp. Exequiel Villacorta, chief scout representing 17,000 Scouts in the Philippine Islands, came by plane from Chicago. He left Manila a week ago. Delegations also were in camp from New Zealand, Lithuania and Venezuela.

BUS CATCHES FIRE
FLINT, Mich., June 26 (AP)—State police said a Saginaw-Detroit bus caught fire at Mt. Morris, north of here, tonight after colliding with a gasoline truck. The number of casualties was unknown. The state police post here said it had no report from the officers it sent to the scene. An officer said several ambulances with victims had passed the post.

'SUGGESTION' TO BRING IN OWNERS FAILS

LABOR LEADERS WRITE CONDEMNATION OF GOVERNOR

(By The Associated Press)

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 26 (AP)—While the steel strike front rumbled with threats of new strife, Gov. Martin L. Davey of Ohio told labor leaders tonight he had turned down flatly Labor Secretary Perkins' "autocratic and dictatorial" plan for forcing a settlement.

Since the failure of her mediation board's peace efforts, Davey said, Miss Perkins had asked him to keep the steel plants closed and to bring steel makers Tom Girdler and Frank Furness to the state capital—and keep them there until they signed an agreement.

Miss Perkins, he added, had suggested by long distance telephone from Washington that he use the subpoena power of the State Industrial Commission to bring the steel men to Columbus.

"Miss Perkins, in reply, said she 'merely suggested' to Gov. Davey that he use the state commission's subpoena power to bring the steel men into a peace conference with strike leaders here in this city," she recalled, had suggested the conference method of settling the strike.

"I have no right to keep plants closed except in case of riot," said the governor whose order to national guardsmen to protect those employees wanting to work was responsible for the reopening of Youngstown plants yesterday.

"In private life it would be kidnapping. Until the courts have decided that the companies have to sign contracts or agreements I have no right to take anyone and hold them."

"That might be all right in Germany or Italy. I am not going to abuse my constitutional power for Mr. Girdler or anyone else. . . . I recognize that I may have committed political suicide. I know from the outset that the situation was loaded with dynamite, but I have put politics out of consideration."

Davey refused to remove the national guard from the mill towns. The labor delegation, informed of Davey's decision, then adopted resolution to "vigorously condemn Governor Davey for his alignment with the steel autocrats."

Claims and counter-claims echoed along the strike-embroiled region from Johnstown, Pa., to Warren, O., with leaders of steel flatly asserting:

"The strike is over. The mills are going. The men are coming back." C. I. O. chiefs retorted: "We have just begun to fight."

At two o'clock end of the salient, at Johnstown, union officials mapped plans for a huge Sunday mass meeting of coal miners and striking steel workers.

Mass "Invasion"
James Mark, white-haired C. I. O. leader, called for a mass "invasion" of the city by coal miners from all over Western Pennsylvania. Union officials said they expected "between 50,000 and 100,000 men."

In contrast to the steel executive's claims that the strike was "broken" by concerted back-to-work movement in Ohio, and Pennsylvania, Philip Murray, Chairman of the steel workers organizing committee, declared:

"We have every reason to believe that the strike in four of the nation's big independent steel mills is being won."

Murray also wired Eugene Grace, president of Bethlehem Steel, urging him to hold employees' elections under supervision of the National Labor Relations board "to determine."

Yesterday, The Blake-Colter difficulty is settled; Stuart and Carolee both apologize. Both families start up toward Superstition Mountain and Fred Puffer recalls the curse that follows it.

Chapter III

At Apache Junction 36 miles from Phoenix, the Colters took the left and moved along the road that skirts the north base of Superstition Mountain. The father had made some inquiries, learning that squatters would be tolerated for a time almost anywhere along the mountain slopes. This was part of a national forest. They pulled off the main road and drove nearly six miles across the gently sloping desert.

When they made camp for the night they were at the foot of a cliff that must have been 1000 feet straight up. It somehow awed them, shrinking them to animated minnows and making their khaki tent a mere brown speck in the forest.

Carolee threw back her head and shouted "HELLO-O-O" but they were too close for an echo.

"Can't you help cook no supper?"

Her father demanded. They stayed there three days, while the men searched for a more permanent campsite. They wanted to get in deeper, and they eventually decided to hide the car along the shrubbery, buy horses which they would need anyway, and pack everything up to a high, flat, green mesa which they had discovered. It would save much climbing on their daily trips and, incidentally, get them away from possible snooters; the Colters, save for Carolee, were never sociable, least of all were they likely to be so when hunting for gold.

Toward evening of their third day in the temporary camp, however they had a visitor. He came unannounced and uninvited. Over his hunched shoulders draped a colorful blanket. He was hatless, his hair exceedingly long. Carolee knew him at once to be an Indian.

He grinned over so little, took rather elaborate notice of the food that was cooking, and sat down near the campfire without saying a word. "How do you do?" greeted Carolee, staring at him uneasily.

"Oh."

His grunt indicated that formalities were over. The Colter men arrived soon after, but they had no suggestion to offer about their guest. To be sure, they could have thrown him out, but that didn't seem advisable for a number of reasons. He only grinned meagerly at any attempts to converse with him.

In time the meal was ready, and the Indian didn't wait. He reached his fingers into every pot and helped himself generously, before the Colters had served themselves. No body said anything, but Carolee was obviously enjoying the little comedy immensely, especially the obvious discomfiture of her father and brothers. Neither she nor they knew what was going on, but she wasn't taking it seriously. She felt safe with her folks there.

When he had eaten—or rather gorged—the Indian announced himself officially.

"My name... Percy," said he, haltingly.

All the Colter laughed a little at that, and Carolee asked how he got that name.

"White man in store," he said. "He like 'How-With-Crooked-Tail. What you do here?"

This took a moment of thinking. Evidently he had another name, and some American trader had tackled Percy onto it, Carolee decided. She elected to answer for her family.

"We are camping here, but we will move tomorrow, Mr.—er—Percy."

"Where you go?"

"Away up there—see?—up in the mountain."

Percy shook his head ominously. "Bad," he declared.

"Bad? How so?"

"Ummh." He pointed dramatically at the skyline to the westward. It was silhouetted then in the sunset, jagged with thousands of small boulders, fantastically shaped, like solders draped a colorful blanket. He was hatless, his hair exceedingly long. Carolee knew him at once to be an Indian.

Everyone studied the formations.

"By George, they do look like people!" agreed old man Colter. Some of them had faces, some wore hats, some were humped and some were leaning, but they were aptly named. "You mean—they were white people and were turned to stone?" Carolee asked him.

"Uhh." His grunt was affirmative this time. He arose slowly as if to go, eyeing the last of the food longingly. They all looked at him.

Suddenly Carolee entered the tent and came back with her box of candy, politely offering it to him. It was the large box from Stewart Blake, still more than half full.

Percy eyed it a moment, then his face shone. He reached out for a piece or two, but childishly took the entire box.

Carolee was taken aback, and the cussings of her two brothers didn't help any; but she didn't try to retrieve her candy Percy sat down for another gastronomic orgy.

Carolee had been lonely for almost any sort of company, and Percy was amusing. He seemed to visit strangers; he might—maybe—he'd visited some other white people. She set in to question him. She didn't know it, but she couldn't have made friends better with Percy had she deeded him a whole ranch. The average Indian will sell anything for candy.

"Have you been to other white people's camps?" she asked.

He nodded, still eating.

"Do you know some people named—named Blake? Two men? A father and son? Where are they?"

He appeared bewildered at this. "One white man has big shoulders—so," she measured generously. "and has deep brown eyes. He—" Carolee remembered her audience and stopped abruptly. She even blushed a trifle. Percy didn't notice, but after a bit he spoke again.

"You wantum gold?" he asked.

"Er?" Old man Colter perked up at this.

"You like get gold?" he motioned in suggestion to the mountain.

"Yas, yas we do," said Mr. Colter. "The gold up here, aint long. Carolee knew him at once to be an Indian.

the? You know anything about it?"

"Uhh." Percy appeared totally ignorant. Mr. Colter tried several more tactics, doing his best to get information from Percy, but enjoyed no success. Once Percy pointed again to the Little Men, and finally he arose again to leave them. He didn't bother to say goodbye, he departed as unceremoniously as he had arrived.

"That redskin mighta knowed something," commented old man Colter, "but dang his tight hide, he won't tell."

"Acts like he's dumb, to me," said Paul, and Silas nodded. Mrs. Colter took no part in the conversation. She rarely said anything in fact; she was a dutiful nonentity, long since squelched by circumstance.

"He didn't know nothin'," Silas guessed. There was Redskins in these mountains, but not lately. I asked about it at that filling station. The Reds massacred a big gang of Spaniards in here once. The Spaniards worked in a mine. But that was a hundred years or so ago, the man said. This Percy wouldn'ta been born. He's just full of superstition. That's how come the mountain got its name, likely."

This seemed to be a logical summary of the situation. The three turned their conversation to Carolee. "First time I ever see a man call on a gal and take candy away from her," Silas teased. All three of them laughed at and with her.

Then Paul Colter put in a sour note. He was the most sullen member of the family.

"Seems like you're plenty interested in this fellow Blake, sis. Couldn't you think of no more questions to ask about him?"

Her temper flashed quickly then. "What if I did ask about him?" she challenged. "He's the only man who's been decent to me since I left school. And you even tried to kill him. You've dragged mother and me a thousand miles from home and stuck us up on a mountain. Do you think I want to be a hermit?"

Nobody answered immediately. None of the other Colters could keep conversational pace with Carolee, whom they loved in a strange fashion, enough to have sent her through a junior college, and who had grown too far away from them. Old man Colter renewed a chew of tobacco, labored at it and spat.

"We are up here after gold," he reminded her, laconically. "Courtin' don't figger in this."

FARMER HOLDS PAIR CAPTIVE ALL NIGHT

COTULLA, La Salle county, Texas, June 26 (AP)—A tenant farmer who said had held the wife and son of J. F. Offield, 58, farmer, captive all night was jailed on a kidnapping charge here tonight after a gun battle with officers.

Wildenthal said the man gave his name as T. A. Murphy. He said Murphy had lived in this vicinity about two years and had come here from the vicinity of Cicero, Ill.

He was captured after Wildenthal, Offield, and B. Wildenthal, a brother of the officer, had exchanged over a score of shots at Offield's secluded farm home south of here.

Offield's seven-year-old son was used as a shield during part of the battle, Wildenthal said, and Murphy was not captured until his rifle jammed. All four men were armed with rifles, but no one was wounded.

Offield told Wildenthal that Murphy came to his home late last night, held him up with the rifle and demanded $500.

POST OFFICE CLERK KEEPS POSTED ON SOCIETY

AUGUSTA, Ga.—It is the duty of one of the clerks at the Augusta post office to see that wedding gifts reach the right bride.

Such gift parcels, postal authorities say, fall in the class or articles frequently misdirected. For this reason, a clerk is designated to spend a portion of his time scanning society pages, keeping up with who's marrying who. The policy, post office officials say, sometimes facilitates the delivery of wedding gifts.

'Bigfoot' Meets Automatic Snitch; Finds Alcatraz Guards Practice Shooting Daily

(This is the second of four stories on life "Inside Alcatraz," related by the first convict ever to be paroled from the federal prison for inerrigibles.)

By A. W. "BIG FOOT" DAVIS.

(As told to Douglas Hicks.)

(Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.)

I met "Machine Gun" Kelly and the automatic snitch my fourth day in Alcatraz.

That was the day I took my place in the lockstep of the prison routine. It was the day I went to work in the laundry.

The man I had spotted in the dining room as Kelly was wrapping laundry a few feet from me.

He is gray at the temples, 42 years old, laughing and talking all the time he can.

When he turned I got a look at a canvas belt he was wearing. It had "George Kelly" written on it in pencil.

He was easy to get acquainted with, didn't make any bones about his past. He seemed to like to talk about some of the things he had done, particularly the kidnapping of Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma oil millionaire.

"Urschel was nervous and scared when we were taking him out to the Shannon place," Kelly said. "He said to us:

"You ought to think about my wife and family."

"He said, 'I've got $2,000 on me I'll give you. Why not take it and turn me loose?'"

Brings Back Memories.

Machine Gun laughed when he told what he said in reply.

"I told Urschel, 'Why, I've got more than that in my pockets for change right now.'"

But I guess the joke was sort of on Machine Gun, for right then Urschel was noticing the things which would put the finger on Kelly and finally cause his capture after Urschel was freed on payment of the ransom.

Kelly would say, "I like to talk about old times. It brings back sweet memories."

"I hope I get out some time. I will have some more good times. I think he is being cured of violating the law, however, if he isn't already."

"Machine Gun" once came over laughing about a letter his wife, Katherine Kelly, had written to him.

"She says, 'George, darling, you thought I was tough.'"

"You ought to see mama now. She's tough as a boot and twice as tall since she got in this place (prison)."

It Gives You Away.

The automatic snitch is quite a device.

Every time you leave the cell house you go through one of the things.

Every time you leave the recreation yard to go into the bigger enclosure where the work buildings are you go through another one.

If you have any metal on you, the snitch gives you away.

"Buzz, buzz," says the snitch, and the guards shake you down and find out what kind of metal you have.

Each snitch has two steel boxes about two and one-half feet apart. You walk between them.

A hookup of magnetism and electricity sets off the buzzer when any metal comes along.

I have seen them strip a man to his skin when a buzz sounds as he goes through. They keep searching him, working on the machine and sending him through until the buzzing stops.

It took them three days to get things lined up for me to go to work.

'Clean' Means Just That.

The first of the three was my first dull day on "The Rock." It began at 6:30 a. m. when the bell rang.

It was 20 minutes until breakfast.

George "Machine Gun" Kelly, in-set, kidnaper and bad man, was one of the first prisoners "Bigfoot" Davis met when he entered Alcatraz.

The upper pictures show the laundry, where Davis worked, and the prison dining room. At lower left is an Alcatraz cell.

In that time I washed up, dressed, made my bed, cleaned my cell.

And speaking of cleaning up, Alcatraz is the cleanest prison I ever saw. They make you keep yourself and the cell clean, and when they say clean they mean without any spots.

Breakfast that first day was at 6:50 a. m. We were out at 7:10 a. m. and I returned to my cell.

I was there all day except for a trip to the hospital for a complete physical examination and blood test. A guard brought around a questionnaire which I filled out.

The second day I got taken down to the issue room and I got my first real introduction to the warden.

"If any of your clothes don't fit, say so now," he said. "You are the one who must wear them."

"Your cell will be No. 355, and you will do laundry sorting work."

And then came the fourth day, the one I went to work.

Kick Out of Talking.

After breakfast, instead of falling out of line and going back to my cell, I marched out through the snitch into the recreation yard with the others.

We were lined up in six main lines, but some of the lines had several divisions.

As soon as we stepped out of the building, until the whistle blew, we could smoke and talk.

It had been four days since I had been able to talk to anybody but a guard or official; it seems nutty that a man would get a kick out of just talking, but I did.

One division takes in the dock workers. They load and unload cargo at the docks, search the laundry, haul the laundry to the laundry building.

A second is the garbage detail. It picks up all trash and garbage from the different residences and kitchen.

The cleanup gang takes care of the flowers, sweeps the streets, maintains cleanliness, does the janitor work in the administration building.

The mat shop workers make rubber mats from old auto tires for government use.

The laundry detail employs as many men as all the other jobs put together. It does all the laundry work on the island, the work for the army posts in San Francisco, for army transport ships, some of which bring us about 5,000 pieces of work each time.

The machine or blacksmith shop does iron work, remodels bars, repairs trucks. The model shop makes furniture, a good deal of it.

The tailor shop makes prison clothes, guard uniforms, release suits or prison clothes—you can tell they are prison-made as far as you can see them.

Check Off Each Man.

Those are the main work divisions. When the whistle blew, the line nearest the gate went out first.

Every man called his number as he went out, and it was checked against a list.

We went through a second snitch and marched into the building. We were turned over to a foreman, a man with the power of a guard but no uniform. Every 30 minutes the guards checked us.

The foreman put me to sorting laundry. At 9:30 we had a 10-minute smoke period. We got together in bunches, told jokes, scuffled, anything to relieve the monotony.

About 11, or a little before, we quit work, washed up, and at 11:15 began the march back.

We went into our cells and at 11:30 we marched in to dinner. It was over in 11:50, we rested in the cells until 12:30, were back on the job a few minutes later.

Firing, Firing, Firing.

The guards don't go around with their heavy artillery just for fun, I found out.

Some of them can make a gun stand on its hind legs and beg.

A boat floated into the forbidden zone, and a guard put a cluster of bullets into the water ahead of it.

The men in the boat had engine trouble, probably, or they wouldn't have got in where they were. They broke out a pair of oars and really bent their backs getting out.

Then I saw the gun range down on a level with the laundry building. And after we had had supper and were back in our cells we could hear the guards in that night and others, firing, firing, firing.

Sometimes the splutter and roll of the machine guns, the crackle of the rifles and the pistol fire like hands clapped together went on for hour after hour until nearly midnight.

It was hard to go to sleep with that going on.

You knew they were practicing, perfecting their aim, so if they had to shoot at you the bullets would tear your life out.

NEXT: Bigfoot gets acquainted with Al Capone and tells of attempt on life of former Chicago vice lord, who is, Bigfoot says, the most hated man in Alcatraz.

GRASSHOPPER POISON WILL BE AVAILABLE

Grasshopper poison will be available at the vocational agricultural building on the high school campus, corner of Frost and Browning, between the hours of 4 and 8 p. m. Someone from the county agent's office or the vocational agricultural department of the high school will be in attendance.

More than 100 Pampans and a few farmers purchased nearly a ton of mixture in four hours yesterday. The poison is only about two cents a pound and anyone wanting it must take their own containers—either sacks or buckets.

Best method of using the poison, which is an approved government formula, is to spread it thinly over lawns and flower beds.

The poison was made up at the request of Mayor W. A. Bratton who urges everybody to secure some and try to kill out the pests in the city.

NAZIS HAPPY OVER END OF WAR TREATY

BERLIN, June 26 (P)—Germans today regarded the approach of June 28, birthday of the Treaty of Versailles, with less sense of national humiliation than at any time since the end of World War.

For the German press, which in other years made June 28 the occasion for dolefully recounting the Reich's war losses, it became instead an excuse for surveying the extent to which Germany's steady attrition has destroyed the treaty.

Formerly the admission of Germany's war guilt incorporated in the treaty was favorite editorial topic. Now Germans consider that stain on their honor was wiped out by Reichsfuehrer Hitler's declaration of last January 30:

"I hereby most solemnly withdraw the German signature from that declaration forced on a weak government against its better knowledge, to the effect that Germany was guilty of starting the war."

During its 18 years the Versailles Treaty has been steadily nullified until little remains but its territorial and colonial clauses. Whether Hitler dreams of regaining all the lost territory no one but himself knows, but certainly he is working for the return of overseas colonies and of Danzig to the Reich.

The attrition began in 1921 when Germany rejected the Allies' Paris decisions on reparations. This led to the Ruhr occupation, but also to the eventual removal of preparations from the political field by the Dawes and Young plans.

In 1925 the Locarno pact was signed, Germany was admitted to the status of an equal with other powers, invited to join the League of Nations and was no longer a Pariah. Locarno also provided for evacuation of the Rhineland, which became a fact in 1930.

In 1931 and 1932 the depression and the Hoover moratorium practically put an end to reparations.

Hitler's repudiation of the military clauses of Versailles followed on March 16, 1935.

Less than year later, March 7, 1936, Der Fuehrer discarded the ban on militarization of the Rhineland, and German troops after 17 years resumed the watch on the Rhine.

SISTERS SHOT BY EX-CONVICT AT LORDSBURG

LORDSBURG, N. M., June 26 (AP)—Two widowed sisters were shot down before four of their children today and a wide search was launched for Jesus Romero, who Sheriff John Cavin said, served time for slayings in Arizona and New Mexico.

Mrs. Martina Navarro, 30, was instantly killed and her sister, Mrs. Lolo Mesa, was shot through the head and twice through the body. She was near death.

Sheriff Cavin of Hidalgo county quoted the children as saying Romero entered the Mesa home early today and shot down Mrs. Navarro who had rejected his attentions and then turned the gun on Mrs. Mesa, 40.

Andres Martinez was placed under technical arrest after he reported to Cavin that he drove Romero to nearby Deming and the deliberately wrecked his automobile rather than continue to the border at Columbus.

They returned to Deming, where Martinez said Romero got on a train bound for El Paso.

A posse of Luna county deputies searched the area around Deming and agents at border point maintained a sharp watch tonight for the suspect.

Sheriff Cavin said Mrs. Navarro told him two weeks ago she was forced to leave her home and live with her sister to avoid Romero. Later she complained of being molested and Sheriff Cavin said he warned Romero to stay away from her.

Mrs. Navarro was the mother of two children. Her sister is the mother of four.

Romero, 41 years old, was employed here as a miner. Sheriff Cavin said his criminal record showed convictions for slayings in Arizona and New Mexico.

Disappointment Is Germany's Trouble

BERLIN, June 26 (AP)—Disappointment over the refusal of Britain and France to join her in a naval demonstration against Valencia still is a powerful factor in Berlin's attitude toward the Spanish crisis, a foreign office spokesman said tonight.

He said the conciliator references to Germany in the speeches of British leaders in the House of Commons yesterday were gratefully appreciated, but these could not offset the feeling of chagrin over Britain's reaction to the Leipzig incident.

The foreign office mouthpiece, Diplomaticche Politische Korrespondenz, declared that responsibility for future development of the European crisis "rests with those powers which did not desire a logical and healthy settlement of the Leipzig incident and declined to join in an act of solidarity of a defensive, preventive nature."

The foreign office spokesman said Germany wishes to do nothing to aggravate the Spanish situation. On the other hand she considers it "self evident that no threat can keep her from protecting to the full her legitimate mercantile shipping in endangered waters."

Such protection, the spokesman insisted, does not constitute an international menace.

5,000 PENSIONS TO BE ELIMINATED SOON

AUSTIN, June 26 (AP)—Approximately 15,000 persons might be eliminated from old age pension rolls by August.

John Wallace member of the board of control, said today that investigations to determine the eligibility of recipients might reduce the number by about 5,000 when July payments were made and an additional 10,000 might be cut off in August.

The figures, he said, were estimates based on past experience in the re-investigation program instituted with passage last year of a law placing eligibility strictly on the basis of need.

He reiterated statements made at a recent inquiry by the House of Representatives that state authorities had not issued an order to cut 30,000 from the assistance rolls.

Pension officials said social security board representatives had urged a close check of Texas rolls which, based on population, were comparatively large.

Wallace said pension fund revenue estimates indicated average July and August payments would be $13.50 compared with $13.74 in June when 127,758 checks were issued.

Officials recently expressed an opinion that May rolls with 129,805 recipients would be a peak. Estimates of July and August recipients were 122,000 and 112,000, respectively.

The need for additional revenue was apparent, Wallace said, pointing out that average monthly income since November had been $669.690 whereas July and August requirements would be $725,000 each.

MODERN MENUS

BY MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX, NEA Service Staff Writer

It may be good for the overproud spirit to limit yourself to just three meals a day. But the experienced dietitian knows that a meal between luncheon and dinner, if not too heavy, keeps the energy regular and does not upset the appetite or digestion. It's just an outworn myth that the stomach needs a long resting spell. Some optimists must have thought up that one during a famine.

A glass of milk and a few cookies after the tennis match will increase your efficiency and decrease fatigue. Here is a plain chocolate cookie recipe you might use.

Tennis Cookies Two squares unsweetened chocolate, 1/2 cup butter, 1 cup sugar, 1 egg, 1-2 cup milk, 1 1-2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1 cup chopped walnuts, 1-2 teaspoon almond extract.

Tomorrow's Menu. BREAKFAST: Bowl of dry cereal and raspberries, heavy cream, crisp bacon, toasted rolls, marmalade, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Popovers filled with creamed ham and peas, chopped cabbage, and apple salad, idiotic cookies, tea, milk.

DINNER: Sliced tomatoes with chives, liver and bacon, creamed potatoes, buttered new carrots, radish roses, lattice cherry pie, coffee, milk.

Melt chocolate, add unbeaten egg, then milk. Sift dry ingredients into nuts and mix well. Add almond extract. Drop the batter by teaspoons one inch apart on buttered cookie sheet. Bake in moderately hot oven (370 degrees F.) for about 10 minutes.

Sun Fruit Caramels. (6 to 8 servings) One cup figs, 1 cup stoned dates, 1 cup nut meats, 1 cup seeded raisins, 1-2 cup candied orange peel, 3 tablespoons orange juice.

Put all ingredients through food chopper. Moisten with orange juice. Form into balls or cubes. Roll in powdered sugar. This makes a healthful and energizing bit to eat with the afternoon "pick-me-up" snack. Here's another easy recipe.

Idiotic Cookies One cup sugar, 1-2 cup butter (1-4 pound), 1 egg, 1 extra egg yolk, 2 1-4 cups flour, 1-2 teaspoon baking powder, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla.

Cream butter, then add egg, egg yolk, then sift in flour and baking powder. Add vanilla. Chill. Roll

HERALD CLAIMS SURRENDER OF TRIPLE SLAYER

CHICAGO, June 26 (AP)—The Herald and Examiner in a copyrighted story said tonight Robert Irwin, sculptor hunted throughout the country for New York's triple Easter Sunday slayings, had surrendered in the Herald and Examiner office.

Detective headquarters and the central police station reported they had received no word of the man's capture.

The paper said Irwin confessed the slaying of Veronica Gedeon, artist's model, her mother and Frank Byrnes, a roomer in their New York City apartment.

In additional statement, the paper quoted Irwin, his original purpose was to kill Veronica's sister, Ethel, whom he said he loved, but had married another man.

"I wanted to kill Ethel," the paper quoted Irwin as saying, "because she was the dearest object in the world to me. I loved her and hated her. I dreamed of modeling her as if beheaded, with her head far back and the mouth open."

"If my plans had carried out as they were made I would have killed her only. I did not wish to kill anybody else. The fact that I killed the others was accidental."

The paper said Irwin related that Veronica's mother was the first to die. It said he told them he went to the Gedeon apartment to wait for Ethel. Mrs. Gedeon came in and finally ordered him from the apartment, the paper continued, when he told her why he was there.

He confessed, the paper added, that he hit her and strangled her. She put up a terrific fight, the paper quoted him.

The Herald and Examiner added that Irwin said Veronica came in a short time later, he held her for nearly two hours on a bed before he killed her, and then killed Byrnes before he left.

MARKET BRIEFS

NEW YORK, June 26. (AP)—Prices slipped downward in a sluggish stock market today.

Shares lost from fractions to 1/8 point or more, with a few issues sagging even more. Bulls were under the most crushing pressure and some finished at new lows for the year.

At the close the Associated Press average of 15 carrier stocks was down 1.1 points at 37, a new minimum level since Dec. 23, 1936. For sixty stocks the figure was 63.6, off .7 of a point.

What was regarded as more favorable news of the steel strikes was apparently ignored and steel shares sagged, although to a lesser degree than the rails. Reports from the Mediterranean trouble area were looked upon as unfavorable, though they failed to stimulate the trading pace.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, June 26. (AP)—The buying momentum that lifted wheat prices almost four cents yesterday evaporated today.

The market had a day of erratic price fluctuations. Profit takers rushed to sell at the opening bell to take advantage of gains of 12 to 13 cents a bushel since the market touched its low early this month. Then, when this liquidation dried up, rallies took values fractionally above Friday's close but another surge of sales carried the market down about two cents from the day's high.

Wheat closed with a net loss of 3/4 cent for the day, July 1.15 1/2, September 1.16 1/2, December 1.18 1/2, and corn was 3/4 off to 1 cent up, July new 1.23 1/2, September 1.25 1/2, December 1.27 1/2. Oats were unchanged to 1/4 off, July 87 1/2; and land earned 5 to 10 cents.

SUNRAY CAVALCADE TO BE HERE ON WEDNESDAY

Sunray will have a Fourth of July celebration and citizens of that thriving community will tell Pampans about it on Wednesday afternoon when a cavalcade will parade here, at 2 o'clock. The visitors will be given a typical Pampa welcome by Frank Cuberson and his chamber of commerce inter-city relations committee.

The Sunray event will begin on Saturday with a monster parade at 9 a. m. Texoma and Sunray baseball teams will clash at 10 o'clock and an hour later there will be greased pole climbing, terrapin race and other entertainment.

Texline and Sunray polo teams will meet at 1 o'clock and at 3 o'clock there will be horse races. A big dance will end the day of fun. The Sunday program will include a baseball game between Perryton and Sunray at 12:30 o'clock and a polo game between the Pampa Rough Riders and the winner of Saturday's game. Horse races will be at 4 o'clock. The celebration will close with a mammoth fireworks display at the polo field at 9 o'clock.

Sunray's Lions club is sponsor of the big event and Pampa Lions will join in welcoming the visitors Tuesday. Many local Lions plan to attend the celebration.

Persons with good eyes can see 11 or 12 stars in the bowl of the Big Dipper.

Stud books recognize gray, roan, dun, bay, brown, black and chestnut as colors in horses. Variations of these colors are not usually recorded.

CANADIAN COMPLETES DETAILS FOR PANHANDLE'S 'BEST RODEO'

CANADIAN, June 26.—With the opening of the 15th annual Anvil Park rodeo just a few days away, the directors of the various features were working feverishly to complete final details during the coming week and expressed confidence this celebration would be the "greatest in the Panhandle this year."

Canadian will cinch its belt and buckle on its spurs this week for the biggest celebration in its history.

Ten gallon hats and garish shirts will be in evidence aplenty; high-heeled boots will clump and scrape in staccato accompaniment to the whirlwind of exciting events that will make the three days of untrammelled jubilee.

Rodeo champions of the nation are working their way toward Canadian to "dust 'em off" in the arena here July 2, 3 and 5, for purses expected to exceed $2,000. The big three of the rodeo—broncs, beef-steaks and cowboys—each will be the best obtainable.

Marion McLain, arena director for the three afternoon rodeos, expresses confidence "the three days of rodeo will provide more thrills and entertainment than any show in the country this year."

The Anvil Park rodeo one year ago was considered the best show in the Panhandle by rodeo contestants and others, and the crowds extending a reception that will make it necessary to present even a greater celebration this year.

The country has been scoured for the best horses and best cattle that can be found. The horses to be used in the rodeo this year all have excellent reputations and are proven buckers. The Brahmas cattle all have had preliminary trials, and have proven their mettle.

The nocturnal amusements of the cowboy will have a place in the nightly round of entertainment, too. The Northeastern Panhandle Feeders Association will sponsor a dance nightly at Canadian's spacious city auditorium to the music of Anvil Schneider and his orchestra.

A new feature of this year's show will be calf roping by the diminutive cowgirl, Sydna York. Sydna, a mere slip of a high school girl, has been riding a horse for years on her daddy's ranch, and will attempt for the first time in the Anvil Park arena to rope and tie a calf in cowboy fashion each day.

Billy Spivey, juvenile calf roper and steer rider from Graham, Texas, will rope a calf and ride a steer each afternoon. Billy has just turned ten years of age, and only weighs 65 pounds.

NOTICE TO STOCKHOLDERS. Notice is hereby given that on July 20, 1937, at 10 a. m. a meeting of all the lot owners in the Fairview Cemetery of Pampa, Gray county, Texas, will be held at the White Deer Land Company's building No. 116 South Cuyler street, Pampa, Texas, for the purpose of forming a corporation as provided for in title 26 of the Revised Civil Statutes of 1925 of the State of Texas.

GROVER SEITZ TO PLAY IN CENTERFIELD FOR CEMENTERS HERE TODAY

LUTE ROY TO BE ON MOUND FOR DUNCANS

SPORTS

JOE LOUIS TO FIGHT ABROAD THIS SUMMER

3 Americans Left In Wimbledon Tournament

When the Halliburton Cementers of Duncan, Okla., take the field at Road Runner park this afternoon for a game with the Pampa Oilers, they will present Grover Seitz, former Pampian, in centerfield. Seitz joined the club last week and will replace "Sand Sam" Jones.

Ladies will be given an opportunity to see the game for 25 cents with men being admitted for 40 cents. The same prices will prevail when the two teams meet again tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock. Should the fair sex show enough interest during the two-game stay of the Cementers the price will not be hiked back to 40 cents, the team management announced yesterday.

With 20 wins against 5 losses and an average of 10 runs per game against the strongest semi-pro teams in the southwest, the Oklahomaans will come to Pampa loaded with power, pitching and everything it takes for a winning club.

In a telephone conversation with the Halliburton manager yesterday morning, Business Manager Harold Miller of the Oilers was told that Lute Roy would be on the mound this afternoon. Roy played ball with Cleveland in the American league, Chicago in the National league, New Orleans, and other clubs. He is a fastball pitcher with a nice curve and is coolest when the going gets tough.

On the hill for the Oilers will be Dale Mills who recently joined the club from Portland in the Pacific coast league. The tall right-hander didn't have much luck under the lights the other night so Manager Fred Brickell will give him an opportunity to show his stuff under the sun.

After their win over Huber of Borger last week, the Oilers should be in fine form. They went through a stiff workout Friday afternoon.

Led by Manager Eddie Lowell, first baseman with experience in the American association, Southern association and Texas league, voted most valuable player of the last two Wichita tournaments, the Cementers pack plenty of power and pitching.

The other infielders, all good hitters, are Tom Holley, second baseman formerly with the Detroit Tigers, Hollywood and Fort Worth; shortstop Joe Hassler, who played with the Philadelphia Athletics, Oklahoma City and Tulsa, and Cecil Smith, third baseman recently with Fort Worth in the Texas league.

Their outfield is touted as the most powerful trio ever to adorn the outer garden of a team. There's Frank Clift, a fence-buster on a southwest club of a few years back. There's Bruce Sloan, formerly with Oklahoma City in the Texas league, a swift baserunner and dangerous slacker. There's Sam Jones, the cleanup batter who hails from Syracuse in the International league.

The catching staff has two former Class A league receivers. Mack Coppack from Beaumont touted as the team's "sparkplug," and Otto Utt, the masted-on town-to-town clouter, who hails from Fort Worth.

Pitching is Duncan's forte. The Oklahomaans will bring six pitchers and every one has been either in the big leagues or one of the top-hole minors. Look over this staff: Harry White, the ace right-hander from Fort Worth, who pitched the championship game in the World Series with Jimmy Walkup, southpaw, who was up with Detroit, Fort Worth and Beaumont; Leslie Munns, fastball right-hander from the Brooklyn Dodgers; St. Louis Cardinals and Houston Texas club; Lute Roy, a smart right-hander with service stripes from the Cleveland Indians and Chicago Cubs; John Paul Jones, a 6-foot-6-inch right-hander, once with Indianapolis in the Association and Oklahoma City in the Texas league, and Mike Pruitt, curve ball left-hander from Oklahoma City.

Dizzy and Hubbell Will Duel Again

ST. LOUIS, June 26 (AP)—There may be only one "battle of the century," but the magic of another Dizzy Dean-Carl Hubbell duel will attract a near-record crowd to Sportsman's park tomorrow when the St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Giants wind up their three game series.

Glenn Cunningham Annexes 2 Records

NEW YORK, June 26 (AP)—Glenn Cunningham, holder of the world mile record, succeeded in half of his campaign to annex two more records today when he ran a mile and one-half in 6:34 at the All-Sports Carnival at Randall's Island stadium. Cunningham bettered the previous record of 6:42.9, made by Pavo Nurmi of Finland in 1925, by more than eight seconds. The mile and a half standard is not accepted as an official world record, however, being listed with other odd-distance races as "noteworthy performances."

GET IN THE SWIM!

By JACK PUBOK
Increase your enjoyment at the beach by playing games. Young or old, it's good exercise for you to cavort on the sands in the health-giving sun and fresh air.

You'll be delightfully surprised how much fun you can have if you are an adult playing youthful games such as follow the leader, bat ball, tag, and brothers.

Brothers is a lot of amusement, but it requires about 21 players, one of whom is designated the leader.

The players line up facing each other, 10 on each side. The player opposite you is your brother and all sitting down, you hold hands until the leader shouts, "Brothers."

SUMMERS LEADING OILERS IN BATTING WITH .391 AVERAGE

Hitting the ball harder than at any time since he joined the Pampa baseball club, Al Summers, second baseman, is leading the Pampa Oilers in stick work with an average of .391. Next in line at the plate is Sam Scaling, right-fielder, with an average of .380 while Catcher Eddie Sain is hitting at a .369 clip for third honors.

The batting averages do not include four games—Amherst, Littlefield, Elk City and one game with Phillips of Borger—which will be figured in upon arrival of box scores from these places. They are expected to boost averages.

Sam Dailey is the leader in pitching percentage with four wins and one loss. Harvey Hutton has won five and lost two.

Dean vs Hubbell Today
ST. LOUIS, June 26 (AP)—The New York Giants today set the stage for tomorrow's Dizzy Dean-Carl Hubbell duel by whipping the Cardinals 5 to 3 to even the series at one-all.

They tied off on Mike Ryba in the second and third to score their runs and then coasted in behind the effective pitching of Cliff Melton and Dick Coffman despite a three-run rally by the Cards in the sixth.

The victory left the Cards a game back of the league leading Chicago Cubs, and the Giants in third place, another game behind.

Coffman's effective relief pitching, however, saved the game. He allowed only one hit in 3 1-3 innings.

NEW YORK, June 26 (AP)—Mike Jacobs, the man at the throttle of the heavyweight parade, definitely announced his newly-crowned heavyweight champion, Joe Louis, will fight abroad this summer, probably in the Wembley arena, London.

Mike ordered his attorney, Sol Strauss, to sail on the S. S. New York at midnight to close for an August bout between Louis and either Ben Ford, the South African; Jack Doyle, the Irish Thrush, or Len Harvey.

Farr, conquerer of Maxie Baer, already has signed to fight Max Schmeling for promoters of the Harrington stadium.

Jacobs, who Louis signed to a new contract covering five years, plans to keep the negro busy. He expects to have him back here for a title shot with Schmeling in New York, Chicago or Detroit in September.

Plans are for Louis to go to England in mid-July to complete training for his first start since his smashing knockout of James J. Braddock in Chicago last Tuesday night.

Ernest Sutter Retains Title

HAVERFORD, Pa., June 26 (AP)—Ernest Sutter, national intercollegiate tennis champion, swept through Gerin Cameron, Tulsa University, 6-2, 6-2, 6-0.

The House of Sutter now can place the fourth college title trophy on its mantle. Ernest's brother, the 24-year-old Oklahoman, won the same tour in 1935 and 1932. Ernest captured his first title last year on the clay courts of Northwestern University.

The doubles championship was won by the University of California team of Richard Blumberg and Paul Newton. They defeated Norman Bickell and Norbert Burgess, University of Chicago, 6-3, 3-6, 6-1, 9-7.

Cameron was able to offer sustained resistance only at the start of the second set when he carried his service twice to square the set at 2-all.

The 24-year-old Oklahoman was armed with none of the weapons that enabled him to upset Robert Kramarth, of Texas, in the quarter-finals, and Julius Heldman, of the University of California at Los Angeles in the semi-finals.

TIGER WINS CHICAGO PARK FUTURITY RACE

CHICAGO, June 26 (AP)—A brown streak of horseflesh named Tiger took the lead in the battle for the two-year-old championship of the American turf today by winning the Washington Park futurity.

The colt, purchased a year ago by Mrs. Ethel V. Mars of Chicago, for $4,500 defeated Nemow, coupled with Bourbon King as the entry of Hal Price Headley of Lexington, Ky., by two lengths with Bourbon King third.

The race was the highest juvenile run in America this year and had a gross value of $38,730, with $26,135 going to Mrs. Mars, owner of the famed Milky Way farm stable.

The winner, going to the post with Mountain Ridge as an entry, was a heavily played favorite, returning $5.20 to win, $2.60 to place and $2.40 to show. The place price on Menow was $2.60, with $3.20 to show.

Fifteen thousand witnessed the race, which closed the 30 day Washington Park meeting. The thoroughbreds start running at fashionable Arlington Park Monday.

College Golf Meet Will Begin Monday

OKAMONT, Pa., June 26 (AP)—The country's rah-rah golfers go after the national inter-collegiate championship here Monday over the same course where the professionals ranted and scored ridiculously high in the national open two years ago.

A couple of the boys have puffed and perspired around Okamont's long and well bunkered par 72, in 73's but most of the players considered it a moral victory when they broke 80.

By GAYLE TALBOT
WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 26 (AP)—A crowd of 25,000 swarmed over Wimbledon, filling every stand and choking passageways today as the decks finally were cleared for the second week's vital play in the All England tennis championship.

Completion of the fourth round of men's singles found three Americans, two Germans, two Australians and one Englishman qualified to play the quarter-finals Monday. There seemed nothing much more certain in the world than that America's red-haired Don Budge would meet Baron Gottfried von Cramm of Germany next Friday for the championship relinquished by Fred Perry.

Von Cramm, in overwhelming Gene Mako of Los Angeles, 6-0, 6-2, 6-3, in a fourth round match looked just about as impressive as did Budge yesterday in trimming Ladislav Hecht of Czechoslovakia.

Henry Wilfred (Bunny) Austin of England and Jack Crawford of Australia gained ridiculously easy passage into the quarter-finals but Heinrich Henkel, second-ranking German, had a four struggle on his hands before he could subdue the rising young British southpaw, Charles Hare, 6-4, 3-6, 3-6, 6-2, 6-3.

British tennis fans feel somewhat heartened about their chances of keeping the Davis cup after watching Hare launch a ferocious net attack to win two of the first three sets.

In strong contrast to Henkel's troublesome day, Austin crushed Andre Lacroix of Belgium, 6-2, 6-1, 6-0, and Crawford, the only unseeded player to qualify for the last eight, disposed of L. Shaffi of Great Britain, 6-4, 6-3, 8-6.

Monday's quarter-final round pairings will send Budge against Vivian McGrath of Australia, and Frankie Parker of Milwaukee, against Henkel in a pair of duels on the No. 1 court.

The center court attractions will be Bryan M. (Bitsy) Grant of Atlanta, against Austin, and Von Cramm against Crawford.

Meanwhile play in the women's singles division moved ahead in halting fashion with three of the favorites, Alice Marble, the United States champion, Dorothy Round of England and the Countess De La Valdene, the former Lili de Alvaraz, qualifying for the fourth round.

Men's doubles competition saw the elimination of Grant and Wayne Sablin of Hollywood, Calif., after a spectacular duel with the crack Czechoslovakian combination of Hecht and Roderich Menzel, 517, 9-7, 6-4, 6-1. Parker and his Italian partner, Giorgio de Stefani, won from E. D. Andrews of New Zealand and F. Quinlan of Italy, 6-4, 1-6, 6-3, 6-3 and qualified for the third round.

In mixed doubles, Budge and Miss

Marble won a third round match from D. W. Butler and Miss Round, 6-2, 4-6, 6-1.

Five Points to Remember When Selecting a Refrigerator

There are really only five points of great importance to the homemaker in selecting her refrigerator:

1. She buys an electric refrigerator for the primary purpose of PROTECTING HER FOOD for the year 'round.
2. She wants PLENTY OF STORAGE SPACE for every type of perishable food; deep shelves and shallow spaces are needed as well as dry cold, moist cold, normal cold and extra cold. All are essential in storing the various types and quantities of food she may purchase. She should buy a refrigerator that is large enough. Many women under-estimate their requirements and regret it later.
3. She is interested in the quick freezing of QUANTITIES OF ICE CUBES and in frozen desserts.
4. She wants to feel confident that the refrigerator she buys is DEPENDABLE throughout the entire year.
5. The refrigerator she buys must operate economically and effect a DAILY SAVING ON HER FOOD BUDGET.

These are the five basic services, or we may say the major points for scoring an electric refrigerator. But there are many minor conveniences that add new interest and joy to the task of preparing and serving three meals a day.

'DUST BOWL' PROGRAM WILL BE COMPULSORY

GUYMONT, Okla., June 26 (AP)—Drought-bitten farmers of the nation's "dust bowl" area had the assurance today of R. I. Kimmel of Amarillo, Tex., co-ordinator for the federal dust bowl authority, that a program of compulsory rehabilitation would be worked out by the government.

Meeting with 100 members of the Southwest Agricultural association here yesterday, Kimmel said the government was now laying ground-work for an intensive long-time program to remove the blight of wind and dust erosion in the southwest.

"At the present time, we are only feeling the pulse of the farmers," he said. "We are using their opinions as the basis for a compulsory program which will return the dust bowl to its former status as a grain-producing area."

Kimmel said he was confident the "dust bowl" could "come back fast" if the proper steps were taken. The co-ordinator said he personally favored government purchase at a total cost of about $3,500,000 of the worst-eroded sections in the five-state area.

"I believe we could buy options on this land at $1.50 an acre, place it in temporary retirement and soon put it in condition for crop-producing."

Farmers from the corners of Colorado, Kansas, Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico attended the meeting. Kimmel said he would return in eight or ten days for another meeting, at which time he would have more definite information on the government's proposed program.

Rodeo Gets Ready For Big Season

CHEYENNE, Wyo., June 26 (AP)—The raucous yips of cowboys will be heard in 10 states this summer as the west prepares one of its greatest man-made attractions—the rodeo.

Thousands of tourists and home folk, too, will thrill to the gyrations of twisting horseflesh, swishing lariat and belching bulls at more than 30 rodeos to be held in Wyoming, Colorado, Montana, Idaho, Oregon, Nevada, California, Arizona and New Mexico during July and August.

The season will include nine rodeos in Wyoming, three in Oregon, Utah and Colorado; six in New Mexico; two each in Idaho, Montana and Nevada; and five each in California and Arizona—the latter featuring the 50th rodeo to be staged at Prescott, July 2 to 5.

MARBERRY TO REPLACE ALEX GASTON AS STEERS' MANNAGER

DALLAS, June 26 (AP)—Resignation of Alex Gaston, manager of the Dallas Steers, Texas league baseball club, and appointment of Fred (Pirpo) Marberry in his place was announced tonight by Business Manager Bob Tarleton.

Marberry, veteran of the major leagues and member of the Dallas hurling staff since last season, assumed the helm with tonight's game against Houston here. The Steers currently are in next to last place in the league standings with Houston in the cellar.

Tarleton said the change involved a salary increase for the big right-hander.

"He felt that he might be partly responsible for the poor showing of the team and expressed belief that the whole organization was suffering and that a change might be for the better," he said.

Gaston had no statement to make, except that he planned to go fishing. He had served two years at the head of the Dallas club, coming here from the Kansas City Blues of the American association as playing manager. The team led the league over the full season last year and lost to Tulsa in the play-off.

Marberry, 37, is a Streetman, Texas product, and is Dallas' 15th manager since 1921.

Tarleton said the club is due for a shake-up. He said plans are to bring Catcher Steinbeck and Pitcher Lefty Uhle in from the Long-view farm.

South America will be in the group. Six trackmen from Colombia will land at New Orleans next week.

Uncle Sam's track and field squad, which will be selected after the National A. A. U. championships at Milwaukee next Friday and Saturday, will arrive several days before the games start. Other top-ranking stars have been invited.

The Highlander club of Trenton, N. J., will represent the United States in the soccer tourney, which also lists Argentina, Mexico and Peru.

SPANISH GOVERNMENT SHIP SUNK BY SUB

VALENCIA, Spain, June 26 (AP)—The Spanish merchant vessel Cabo Palos, laden with foodstuffs, was reported tonight to have been sunk by a submarine off Point Itach with the loss of five members of the crew.

Forty-four survivors, including a woman who was aboard as a nurse, were taken to Alicante by another ship after they drifted for six hours in lifeboats.

Capt. Manuel Hoyds reported the submarine appeared suddenly between his ship and the coast and, despite his efforts to get away, launched a torpedo which struck the vessel.

CENSUS CHIEF PRAISES CS-C OVER NATION

A tribute to the cooperation of chambers of commerce in connection with the 1935 census of business is voiced in a letter to the Pampa Chamber of Commerce from F. A. Gosnell, Philadelphia, Pa. chief statistician of the census bureau.

"I want you to know that the Bureau of the Census has a genuine appreciation of the splendid cooperation which chambers of commerce, trade associations and business men have given, without which it would have been impossible to accomplish satisfactory results," Gosnell writes. "It was this spirit of cooperation which enabled us to obtain reports from more than 3,000,000 business concerns, with a minimum of difficulty."

The Pampa Chamber of Commerce now has on hand 33 complete booklets giving detailed figures on the 1935 business census. These figures are available to the public along with the use of the city directory library and other information that is available at the office in the City Hall.

The census publications include: seven booklets on detail trade, including distribution, credits, payrolls and employment, independents and chain stores, by areas and kinds of businesses and other comparisons; seven booklets on wholesale trade giving similar information; distribution of manufacturers sales; as well as business records on motor bus transportation, motor trucking, places of amusements, warehousing, radio broadcasting, banking, real estate agencies, and other businesses.

"As you are probably already aware, another census of business is authorized by law covering the calendar year 1939," Gosnell wrote. "This will give the business census division the necessary time to improve the methods of collecting, compiling and publishing the data. It will also give us the opportunity of personally contracting a much larger number of representatives of chambers of commerce, trade associations and individual businesses than heretofore."

FORD COMPANY FACES CHARGES OF ASSAULT

DETROIT, June 26 (AP)—The national labor relations board, charging the Ford Motor company with responsibility for "malicious and brutal assaults" on United Automobile Workers organizers, issued a complaint against the company today and set July 6 for a hearing.

The complaint contended that the Ford company is "interfering with, restraining and coercing" its employees for the purpose of discouraging membership in a labor organization.

Referring to the beating of union organizers attempting to distribute union literature outside gates of the huge Ford Rouge plant in suburban Dearborn May 26, the NLRB listed fourteen persons including three women as having been "maliciously assaulted, attacked and beaten."

It charged that the Ford company "by its officers, agent, employees and representatives, instigated, encouraged, committed and acquiesced, in the assaults."

Other charges included: "Threats, warnings, and acts of violence and intimidation" against UAWA members.

Circulation among Rouge plant employees of a paper entitled "A Voice of Confidence" during "working hours and otherwise under circumstances calculated to intimidate and coerce" the employees into signing it.

Solicitation of memberships in the "Ford brotherhood of America, inc.," which the NLRB said "occurred with the knowledge and consent" of the company, using working hours.

olo D'Italia of Milan, that insurgents shortly would break Madrid's "Iron Ring" defenses and win the war.

It asserted a clean-up of the Basque territory was all that remained before Generalissimo Francisco Franco could throw the whole weight of his forces against Madrid.

Government commander said insurgent attacks on Madrid, apparently in an effort to cut the highway to Valencia, temporary capital on the Mediterranean, were repulsed with heavy insurgent losses.

Basque army leaders entrenched 55,000 men in the Somorostro Heights, 12 miles from Bilbao, in an effort to halt the insurgent columns.

In London, British statesmen studied their next move in an attempt to gain full cooperation of Germany and Italy in the non-intervention committee and the International Naval patrol to prevent arms and men from reaching either side in the Spanish conflict.

Informed sources said the British leaders would try to convince Italy and Germany that those two nations would be aiding the Valencia government and prolonging the civil war if they remained outside the naval patrol.

Oldham county, replete with soil conservation work, will harvest a third of a normal crop, its best since 1931, of 300,000 bushels.

The plains presents a peculiar contrast as the scene shifts into northern Texas and Oklahoma. Farmers there are fighting with desperate tenacity to save their soil, where dust storms still rage and where the soil has barely enough moisture to support even the most conservative of plants.

Five years of hot winds, insufficient rainfall and shifting top soil have reduced the plight of the North Plains farmers to one of desperation. Farmers of Sherman and Dallam counties in Texas and Cimarron county in Oklahoma, are planting grain sorghum row crops in soil that has been materially benefited by increasing rainfall this year. It is a cover crop, and may stop the black dusts and hold the soil so that the season's next rains will fall on soil that can respond.

As Steel 'Peace Parley' Heard Effort Called 'Futile'

Far from their goal of settlement of the seven-state steel strike were these steel operators, union representatives and federal mediators when they were photographed singly for this composite picture as they appeared at the federal mediation board's deliberations in Cleveland. How divergent were operators' and strikers' viewpoints was evident in the blunt statement of Republic Steel President Tom M. Girdler that his company "will not enter into an agreement, oral or written, with an irresponsible organization" and that "the C. I. O. as presently constituted is utterly irresponsible." He added that discussion of such a contract would be "futile."

Japan Has a Hitler, Too!

Was there something portentous in the jest of fun loving Prince Fumimaro Konoye at the masquerade party in Tokyo for his newly married daughter? Konoye appears in the group above made up as Adolf Hitler, tiny mustache, swastika armband, cowlick and all. A few days later he was designated Premier of Japan.

that there was nothing but fun and foolishness at the party.

But Joseph B. Keenan, assistant attorney general, as he left the boat that the court vote would come "much earlier" than expected, and that the administration strength would be "greater than has been prophesied."

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 26 (AP)—President Roosevelt and a swarm of Democrats found today that, however wide and deep might be their differences on serious subjects, they could agree upon the merits of food and swimming, fishing and shooting.

Even one Progressive was lured into the procession of merry-makers that traveled to sun-splashed Jefferson Island, a dot in Chesapeake Bay, fifteen miles from Maryland's capital, for a second day of fun and frolic with the President.

Rep. Haverne of California, a Progressive elected with Democratic backing, was one of those who piled into four submarine chasers with twenty-one Senators and more than 80 Representative for the trip to the island. Those who checked the guest list said he had an invitation.

Thus far, however, the two days of frolicking on the island had produced little indication of any serious discussion of party policies.

Rep. Maverick (D., Tex.), speaking for the House Liberal bloc, had urged that Congress not adjourn until the administration's legislative program was enacted and quoted Mr. Roosevelt as saying cryptically: "We're going through."

The accounts of the jollity which marked the first day of the outing had permeated most of the Democrats with the idea there would be little, if any, serious discussion. They agreed with Senator Connally of Texas, one of the leading opponents of the President's court bill, that they were just going on a delightful trip.

But they agreed also that a spirit of fun and good will in itself might be instrumental in soothing sore spots and wiping away some of the discord in party ranks.

There was one "business" aspect to the gathering.

Connally bought from Washington a huge state department envelope, closed with big red seals, addressed to Secretary Hull.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Senate floor leader, returned to the island today. Speaker Bankhead and Rep. Rayburn of Texas, House leader, had spent the night there.

Jokingly, Robinson told reporters he was going to be busy with fishing paraphernalia before the "serious" conferences.

TALKS WITH ALLIED
FORT WORTH, June 26 (AP)—Jimmy Mattern, ocean flier, and Governor James V. Allred conferred here today concerning Mattern's proposed flight from Oakland, Cal., to Moscow over the North Pole. "We're going to christen the ship 'The Texan' and she'll carry a map of the state on her side," he said after the conference.

A 20-member C. I. O. committee representing steel men and mine workers called on Gov. Martin L. Davey at Columbus, O., and bitterly protested the use of national guardsmen for what they described as "strike-breaking" purposes in protecting the reopening of Mahoning Valley steel mills.

C. I. O. leaders tonight counted on legal action to halt the troop-guarded "back-to-work" movement in Ohio. In the event Gov. Davey should turn a deaf ear to the 20-man committee's protests.

Before calling on the governor, the union filed suit in federal court to enjoin him from using national guardsmen to protect men returning to their jobs in the strike area.

Meanwhile, a "back-to-work" movement in Chicago—scene of the bloody Memorial day riot at the Republic steel plant there, in which 10 men died—gained in strength while strike leaders echoed defiance.

Clarence B. Randall, vice president of the Inland Steel Corporation—one of the four strike-affected companies of the so-called "Little Steel" group—said:

"Public demand for re-opening our plant in Indiana Harbor (Ind.) is becoming overpowering. We have the question of reopening under active consideration, but have not yet decided.

ENGAGEMENT OF MISS GILBERT TO MR. HARTMAN ANNOUNCED

KITCHENS WILL BE OPENED FOR AN EXHIBITION

A schedule of open programs at which achievements in kitchen improvement will be shown by Home Demonstration club women of the county has been announced by Mrs. Julia E. Kelley, county agent. These open meetings and an all-day exhibition of one-act plays will feature the club program for July.

Kitchen achievement days begin on July 16, when Laketon club will meet at the home of Mrs. J. C. Terry. The kitchen of Mrs. Chester Nicholson at Kingsmill will be open on July 19, that of Mrs. Gus Davis, Bluebonnet club, July 20.

Merton club's achievement day will be July 21, when Mrs. M. Rake's kitchen will be shown. McLean club will meet with Mrs. Charles Rudy July 22, Priscilla club with Mrs. C. A. Tignor July 26, Hopkins club with Mrs. R. I. Davis July 27, Bell club with Mrs. Clyde King July 28, and Wayside club with Mrs. E. Seitz July 30.

The play contest will be on July 29, and the place has not yet been selected. Each club in the county is conducting a contest to choose its best actors, who will present a short one-act play in the county contest. Four-H club girls will also display clothing they have made this year as a part of the program. The exhibition will begin at 10:30, and a covered dish lunch will be served at noon.

Women in the McLean and Merton clubs are looking forward to July 17, when they will present a radio program from station KGNC in Amarillo, one of the series of Home Demonstration club broadcasts. Bennie Mae Wade of McLean 4-H club will assist on this program.

Mrs. Kelley will instruct food demonstrators from all county clubs on preparation of casserole dishes at a meeting next Thursday. The demonstrators will in turn present this demonstration to their clubs. On July 10 Mrs. Kelley will give a demonstration on small kitchen utensils, and Mrs. George Wirtz of Bell club on cold soap making, at the county agent's office. All club women are invited.

Society Women Break Into Prints as Style Leaders

Prints are winners in the fashion race that goes on day after day among the society women who crowd the club house and lawn at the Belmont Park. L. L. track. Dorothy Fell, for instance, puts the monochrome frocks in the shade with a parasol print.

Mrs. John H. G. Fell goes to the races in a two-piece silk print. The all-over floral pattern is white on a dark ground, and the round neckline is finished with a cluster of white flowers, which match her hat and other accessories.

Mrs. Eugene L. Maxwell's twin print ensemble includes a simple silk dress and a chiffon redingote. This is the type of costume which one sees on the very smartest mature figures at Belmont. The other outfit (right), worn by Mrs. Ira Richards, consists of light frock, matching jacket, a wide-brimmed hat. The style-right print influence is found in the scarf.

They aren't supposed to fit like the paper on the wall, but wall-paper prints are very conspicuous in the wardrobes of fashionables. Debutante Margaret L. Wing sets the style pace in a chic frock which has bright flowers on a white ground.

Charming as a new daisy is Nancy C. Blagden's printed bolero outfit. Crossing rows of little white daisies contrast with the dark ground. A white straw hat with a medium brim, white bag, navy and white sports pumps, complete her outfit.

JULY WEDDING DATE REVEALED WITH A DINNER

Announcement of Miss Myrtle Faye Gilbert's engagement to D. C. Hartman, with July 8 as the wedding date, was made when Mrs. J. E. Gilbert entertained with a dinner at her home, 520 N. Hazel, Thursday evening.

Crystal balls and astrological figures were used in the decorations to stress the theme, a peep into the future. One table had a centerpiece of scabiosa, green daisies, and fern, the other of purple delphiniums and white carnations. Corsages of gladioli and feverfew at each place repeated the orchid, green and white shades.

Large crystal balls were on the tables and a tiny crystal ball at each plate with the star-spinked place card. Attached to the card with a silver star was a rhyme telling the fortune of the guest. Miss Gilbert's rhyme, read last, revealed the wedding date.

Guests were Meses. L. P. Ward, Orville Ward, Miles Weston, Roy L. Kay, and Mark Fahle; Misses Marie Tucker, Josephine Lane, Minnie Olive Montgomery, Lorene Nicholson, Dee Polson, Frances Stark, Johnnie Hodge, Lois Martin, Anne Johnson, Maxine Burris, Lois Hinton, Clotilde McCallister, Jessie Marie and Edwina Gilbert.

Miss Gilbert, a graduate of Pampa high school, has been secretary in the county agent's office the past few years. She is a member of Beta Sigma Phi, social sorority here. Mr. Hartman, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Hartman of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., has been manager of the Woolworth store here for four years.

By Mrs. W. W. Hughes. SKELLYTOWN, June 26.—The lull in social activities during the sultry days was broken Thursday evening when Mr. and Mrs. Ray Chastain entertained the "Three Ace" bridge club at their home.

A gay theme of spring was employed for table appointments and refreshments. High prizes went to Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Gallaher, and second high to Mr. and Mrs. Emil Stuebgen. Mrs. Gallaher also held the floating prize.

Among the three tables were: Messrs. and Meses. Buddy Childress, Chester Johnson, Gallaher, Stuebgen, H. E. Patton and the hosts.

Ladies Aid Meets. The Ladies Aid of the Community church met at the church Thursday afternoon. Mrs. J. C. Jarvis, president, conducted a short business meeting at which time plans were made for an ice cream supper to be held June 30, across the street in front of the business houses of Skellytown. Music and horse-shoe pitching will furnish entertainment. Ice cream and cake will be sold for the benefit of the Aid. Everyone is invited.

A new member, Mrs. T. B. Barron, was welcomed. Others present were: Mesdames Lee, Jarvis, S. C. Dickey, Ray Hawkins, H. C. Boyd, McMicken and Hughes.

Girl Scout Troop. The Skellytown Girl Scout troop met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. H. W. Sherrie, Scout captain, for their regular meeting and to enjoy a social hour.

At a short business meeting, plans were made to go toward a trip to Palo Duro canyon in August.

A social hour playing anagrams was enjoyed.

Present were Dorothy Bowsher, Gloria Stanley, Maybelle Tomlin, Dorothy McDonald and Irene and Lorene Pike.

Personals. Mr. and Mrs. Clint Freeman are the parents of a baby girl, born Tuesday at a Pampa hospital. She weighed nine pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Donaldson left Thursday for Hot Springs, Ark., where they will spend a vacation.

Mrs. Don Stephens and daughter, Mrs. Ed Hughes, will leave Sunday for a weeks visit in Albuquerque, N. M.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Blom and daughters, of Sioux Falls, S. D., are visiting in the home of his sister, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Herd.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wingett and son of Oklahoma City, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Wingett of White Deer visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Bowsher and family Thursday.

Bible Lecture To Be Heard Tonight

The third of a series of Bible lectures will be given in the commissioners' room at the city hall this evening at 8 o'clock, under auspices of the local branch of Jehovah's Witnesses. The public is invited to hear the lectures.

Talks cover numerous subjects, and discuss such disputed questions as "Who is the true God?" "Does the Bible teach a 'trinity' of Gods?" "Which is the true church?" "What hope does the Bible hold for many honest people who have been turned from God by conflicting creeds and false doctrines?"

HOMELY MODERNISM

Considering the enormous amount of building promised for the nation in the next five years, it is extremely fortunate that at least one influential figure has taken a stand to safeguard the great American home from the flourishing genius of modernistic art.

Harvey Wiley Corbett, noted New York architect, says that in the coming building revival, the current highly styled character of planning will settle down to a rational basis as a result of a saner approach by architects.

At the risk of creating an irreparable breach between radical and reactionary schools of art, many persons will applaud Architect Corbett. For, judging by the delight which the average citizen does not get from the modernism flooding the art galleries, he is not quite ready to let this genius however haggard and hungry, sleep on his doormat.

CONQUERING DISEASE

Although medical science still has many knotty problems to solve, it has at least freed us from some of the perils which beset former generations. An illustration is provided in figures on the death rate from typhoid fever, as compiled currently by the Journal of the American Medical Association.

In 78 American cities last year, the death rate from typhoid fever was 94 per 100,000 of population. This compares with a death rate of 2054 per 100,000 of population in 1910.

Here in other words, we have the record of one dreaded disease which has been conquered. Doctors know exactly what causes typhoid fever and they know exactly how to prevent it. A malady that took thousands of lives yearly, a quarter of a century ago, is now reduced to comparative insignificance.

The figures are a striking testimonial to the advance of medical science.

GOOD PLACE TO RELAX

There must be advantages to life in a backward and isolated community. You might miss some of the conveniences of this modern world, but you would also miss a lot of grief.

Consider, for instance, the Guatemalan village of Agua Escondida, recently visited by Dr. Robert Redfield, dean of the division of social sciences of the University of Chicago. Dr. Redfield says that the villagers of Agua Escondida know nothing of the world's news; they have never even heard of the Dionne quintuplets, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, or the romance and marriage of Wallis Warfield and the Duke of Windsor.

It must follow, logically, that they know nothing of sitdown strikes, an unbalanced budget, the Supreme Court revision plan or the civil war in Spain.

How peaceful and uncomplicated life in Agua Escondida must be!

WASHINGTON LETTER

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—First impressions of huddles of congressmen were that the treasury was serving them a dish of cold gravy as part of the supposed-to-be exciting tax evasion investigation.

It is true they expected to hit the headlines with the incorporation of a yacht and those families who arranged to pay each other salaries for "services" which might be deducted as offsets against the income tax.

But the question of the depletion allowance for oil wells, mines and the like has been threshed and winnowed ever since the income tax was set up in 1913. So too, had been the question of division of income between husband and wife in certain "communal property states," and the business of personal holding companies was another old timer.

It is a fact that some of the lads on the hill would have liked whooping it up about certain slick schemes for escaping taxation, such as incorporating yachts, and founding new insurance companies as fences for hiding earnings. But the house members, at any rate, had somewhat of a bad conscience. Only a day or two before the hearings opened the house had committed one of the neatest pieces of tax evasion on the calendar. If the treasury had dared, it could have set up the house as horrible example 1.

Just like other growing cities, Washington has its trouble raising revenue and this year was no exception. So it arranged with a congressional committee, which acts as sort of town council for the district, to impose an income tax.

A day was set apart for considering the new district tax bill in the house and no particular fuss had been raised until somebody brought it squarely home that members of congress—the very members who were getting ready for a routine vote on the bill—were subject to the tax.

They voted 227 to 75 against giving consideration to such a bill and it was sent back to the committee with instructions to knock out the income tax and put a heavier duty on real estate.

So if your congressman doesn't shout against the evasive millionaires as loudly as you think he should, just keep in mind he is a trifle embarrassed. He found a loophole, himself.

TEX'S TOPICS

Fishing in the middle of the wide open spaces is an experience decidedly new to this department, but it was tried out Friday evening and found to be highly diverting. . . For instance, we never knew that there is a spot only 15 miles from Pampa where you can go and angle to your heart's content (providing you have a permit from the ranch owner and all the other legal requirements).

We accepted an invitation to go to the 15,000-acre O'Loughlin Ranch and there join in a fishing party, fish fry and picnic supper which proved to be just a bit more than ultra, ultra. . . In boyhood days we always fished from the bank under a shady willow tree. . . But there we were, some 30 in the party, having more fun than a barrel full of monkeys, getting the job done right smack under the desert sun in a lake so full of catfish that they were bumping into each other. . . A dozen or so men caught upwards of 100 ten to 12-inch catfish in less than 45 minutes, and soon they were rolling in corn meal and sizzling in deep lard while women in the party busied themselves spreading out a chuck-wagon picnic lunch in the rear-end of a pick-up.

Unaccustomed as we are to prairie fishing, we found it to be great sport. . . Then too, came the pleasure of meeting a number of grand people we never had met before. . . These included Mr. and Mrs. Milo O'Loughlin and their son, Tommy, who was there with Mrs. O'Loughlin and Little Tommy. . . Milo O'Loughlin, now 66, came to the plains with his father and mother back in 1875 when he was only four. . . Milo's father, great grandfather of Little Tommy O'Loughlin who played around the plains' tank lake while the others ate and fished Friday night, came out here with General Miles back in the '70s to clean out the Indians. . . Milo, named after General Miles, recalls those early days at Old Mobette.

The O'Loughlins, pioneer cattlemen of this area, now live in Miami, not far from their expansive ranch in Gray and Roberts counties. . . Principally, the O'Loughlins were interested Friday night in seeing to it that all present enjoyed themselves. . . Talk about hospitality. . . There is none finer than the O'Loughlin brand. . . There we were, back in the breaks from two hours before sundown—and it was a typical western sunset—until perhaps an hour after sunset. . . As the fishing party broke up a golden Top O' Texas, two-days old, full moon was making ready to shed its shimmering silver over cactus-spread plains where prairie dogs long since had scoted to "roost" in countless dugouts.

We learned many things on this bald prairie fishing trip. . . For instance, we know now, how to build a campfire with prairie anthracite and keep it going in a spot entirely barren of trees or artificial fuel of any kind. . . It is very simple in cattle country. . . We learned, too, that Judge W. R. Ewing, of the 31st judicial district, is an expert fish-catcher—even better than the two Negro boys taken along to do that part of the work. . . He does not cut off a catfish head. . . He has a knack of breaking the fish's neck, if any, and off it comes with a twist of the wrist.

Likewise we know that Judge B. S. Via is a good hand to have along on fishing trips. . . He is probably one of the world's best straw bosses. . . Judge Via keeps things moving and sees to it that what is supposed to be done—really gets done. . . We learned, too, that Judge Newton P. Willis and Fred Cullum are little short of uncanny in their knowledge of the habits of fish. . . And that Mrs. Fred Cullum makes a delicious apple cobbler and that Mrs. Via manufactures baked beans to the king's taste. . . And that W. R. Fraze, the rapid-fire court stenographer and lawyer, is plenty handy on picnics, fishing trips and such.

Probably most of this is very uninteresting to the average reader, but to one who rarely gets the opportunity to enjoy such thorough hospitality and such wholesome diversion it becomes a red letter event. . . And it seems fitting that an apology be inserted here to many of those on the Friday fishing party for our negligence in residing out here for a full year without having met them before this time.

Aside from the subject:

A resident of the Wynne-Lea addition complains of cows being staked out too near her house just inside the city limits. . . She wishes city officers would get out the city ordinance covering the matter, and see to it that it is enforced. . . The woman says she has put up with what she calls a nuisance for four years, now, and that her patience has become exhausted.

WHERE DOES THIS SORT OF THING LEAD?

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—We were crowded about one of the telephone operators in the sports department, getting the play-by-play of the Yankee-Detroit game, when the instrument sputtered and then began to bark in a sharp staccato. The operator jerked up his head as if he had been slapped!

"What was that?" I asked. "Did Greenberg hit another home run?" The operator turned with a look of startled disbelief on his face. "No," he said incredulously, "that was a flash from Los Angeles. Jean Harlow just died!"

That's how the news came to us—one of those sharp, startling stabs that leave you momentarily stunned and incredulous. . . There has been a notable series of those sudden flashes in recent years. . . Rochelle, Paul Bern, Will Rogers and Wiley Post. . . John Gilbert, Richard Boleslavsky, Irving Thalberg. . . And Tex Guinan and Lilyan Tashman. . . There have been others.

After the word came, I went back to the "morque" and got out a picture that was published in the newspapers everywhere back sometime in 1932. It was the scene of a Hollywood wedding, and there were four people in it. . . If you recall the one I mean, you'll remember Harlow, the radiant bride, cutting a wedding cake. . . To the left stood the groom, Paul Bern, and near him was John Gilbert, come to stand up as best man for his friend. . . The fourth person, and looking somewhat like Bern, was Irving Thalberg.

There was a story with a happy beginning, but you could ransack the fiction shelves of the world without finding one with a more macabre ending.

Bern was the first to go. Known as the "Father Confessor" of Hollywood, he was found dead, a suicide, in one of the most inexplicable tragedies in Hollywood history. . . This man was the man whom Barbara LaMarr had called "the understanding heart." Then Gilbert, the restless and impetuous. . . unable to live without the world's adulation to feed on, he died, ironically, alone and unattended, save by a paid nurse. It was a drab ending for the screen's greatest lover who perhaps had captured the imagination of more people than any other star.

The surprise, however, in the passing of this trio of men, all financial successes, was the death of Thalberg, although a few friends had long realized his failing health. He was "the boy genius of the industry," and he was outward bound before most people had any inclination that he was ill.

And finally Harlow herself, the platinum-haired kid who brought a new type of blond beauty to Hollywood and became a star.

It would be interesting to note the emotions of the man who caught those four within the scope of his camera on that night five years ago. But photographers, like extras in the Hollywood mill, come and go. I could not find a soul who remembered his name.

MEXICAN SPURN MACHINE-MADE TORTILLAS

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A tortilla machine that turns out 700 of the little Mexican corn cakes an hour has not made a big hit with the Latin population. "Tortillas de mano"—those patted out by hand—command a higher price.

Steella Ojeda, who makes tortillas in the primitive Mexican fashion, claims that the hand-made variety will not "crack, break or leak."

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM

This is about two little girls and their mother who are visiting in Pampa. They are Mrs. Eugene Jemison, Mary Jean, 7, and Betty, 4, and they are visiting in the home of their aunt, Mrs. W. H. Davis on Mary Ellen.

But for the fact that they are from Mobile, Ala., and can do a lot of extraordinary things, they would be ordinary visitors. First, they have a Southern accent that is astounding but pleasant, and that is not so unusual, but these little girls use it when they sing. And strange to say, it has been two days since this one heard Mary Jean sing and the song she sang is still running through this mind. Then, too, the sisters sing together, and they appeared as sweet success from the devastating boredom of Shirley Temple imitators—and Mr. Davis (Hans to many) sits and watches and marvels at the two little girls (One is a blonde and the other is a brunette). The other night Hans stayed with them while their mother and Mrs. Davis went out. He waited a long time after the hour came for them to go to sleep, and then he looked through his fingers at them and they were noiselessly making shadow pictures on the wallpaper, carefully refraining from whispering so that would not wake him up!

AROUND HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD—Comedy relief—meaning relief from comedy—is provided by a beautiful spectacle in the new Marx Brothers picture. . . The water carnival sequence gets my vote as one of the loveliest interludes ever provided in a picture. . . Beautiful set, beautiful dancing, and a beautiful photographic effect which suggests glints of color, most amazing in a "black and white" film. . . It's done with that developing process Metro used to give a sepia tone to "The Good Earth" and pinkness to "Maytime."

Riotous Comedy

They rather needed relief from comedy in "A Day at the Races" . . . The three Marxes score again, and the preview audience said a decided "yes" to the whole picture. . . It's a cinematic madhouse, with a liberal dash of cinematic art, reaching a climax in the musical number wherein Harpo, piped pipper fashion, leads a negro chorus to rhythm in scenes that in themselves have rhythm and swing. . . Allan Jones, singing, and Maureen O'Sullivan are the love interest, with long-suffering Margaret Dumont taking her usual punishment.

It was life-saving to have the Marxes previewed between the grim drama of "They Won't Forget" and the somber, ponderous "Slave Ship."

Pictures like those two are going to make me a seeker after sweetness and light in my movies. . . "They Won't Forget" is a picture you can't miss if you're interested in Hollywood's coming of age and courage—even if you don't agree that death in the deep south is like that. . . But "Slave Ship"—well, here's a good example of a misguided "epic."

All The Ingredients

It's a thrilling, dramatic story. Take Warner Baxter as skipper of a windjammer plying between Africa and America in the out-lawed slave trade; add Wallace Beery as his gruff, double-crossing partner in crime, and Mickey Rooney as the kid who wants to be a slaver too. . .

How's Your Health?

Edited by DR. IAGO CALDSTON for the New York Academy of Medicine

WHEN IT'S HOT

One can do a good deal more than merely complain about the heat. One can, so to say, minimize its taxing effects. This may be achieved by wearing "sensible clothes," light in weight and color. Suitable headgear will serve to protect the head against the sun's direct rays.

On hot days, and especially when the atmosphere is humid, avoid hard physical labor as much as possible. Work engenders heat and hard physical work on a hot day is doubly taxing. If hard physical labor is unavoidable, try to keep the air in circulation by means of fans and by keeping windows and doors open, though shaded, so as to encourage air currents.

A cool or cold shower and wetting the head and hair with cold water will help. The oriental midday siesta is a hygienic necessity in the tropics and a desirable practice during the hot seasons.

One's diet during hot weather should be light. Proteins (meats and fish) should be consumed in smaller than habitual quantities. Milk, fruits and vegetables should form the larger part of the daily food intake. Water should be drunk generously. Those who perspire copiously should add salt to their drinking water—about a level teaspoonful to each quart.

Avoid alcoholic beverages and use tea and coffee as little as possible. These beverages stimulate circulation and have a tendency to derange the operations of the body's heat regulating mechanism.

If you must walk about out-of-doors when the sun is high, choose the shady side of the street. Otherwise stay indoors when the sun is hot. If you can manage it, work during the cooler parts of the day.

If you must work about heat-producing machinery, dress appropriately, that is, as lightly as possible. Take a short rest in a cool place as frequently as you can. A 5-minute rest from one's labors taken in a cool spot will go far in making the heat sufferable.

Watch out for the signs of oncoming heat exhaustion or sun-stroke. Should they appear, quit promptly and call for help.

CRIME RATE IN U. S. SHOWS SHARP INCREASE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Police statistics received at the justice department show a marked increase in crime throughout the country as compared with 1936. Increases have occurred in the following crimes as compared with the first four months of last year. Murder, 395, an increase of 73; burglary, 22,207, an increase of 2,890; rape, 573, an increase of 152; auto thefts, 16,553, an increase of 1,902; aggravated assault cases, 3,053, an increase of 356; manslaughter by negligence, 347, an increase of 142; and larcenies, 55,804, an increase of 8,932.

Throw in Elizabeth Allan as the girl whose love causes Baxter to reform. . . Put them all together on the ship, with a mutinous crew that doesn't like the reform idea, and let them fight it out, emotionally and physically.

Ought to make a humdinger, you think? . . . Me too. . . But somewhere en route "Slave Ship" seemed to me to fall victim to malignants "epicisms." . . Visions of a road-show sugar plum danced in Zanuck's head. . . That's always fatal.

ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS

A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing The Pampa Daily News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C. Please enclose three (3) cents for reply.

Q. What is meant by saying that a race horse is on the schooling list? P. H.

A. It means that because the horse is fractious and nervous at the post, it must attend daily practice at the starting gate until the horse has convinced the assistant starters that it is not dangerous and will stand in the stalls. A horse placed on the schooling list may not race again until an improvement in starting etiquette has been shown.

Q. How many ships are there in the Spanish Navy? M. L.

This, That and Everything

BY WILLIAM HUSLEY CLARK

"Learning, undigested by thought, is labor lost; thought undigested by learning, is perilous." This old Chinese proverb was taught to the world by Confucius. Although this teaching is 2500 years old, it is still true as applied to our modern age. Perhaps "learning undigested by thought," referred to in this old saying would correspond to what people today call, "book learning." "Learning" one thing; but to allow that learning to identify itself with our personalities is quite another thing. Knowledge of any kind becomes useful when it reflects in action.

Man seems to have advanced little in his thinking ability. By careful study and research, he adds to his store of fact, but the thought processes in dealing with these gathered facts are no great improvement over the manner in which our earliest forefathers dealt with them. Some one has said that digestion is to eating what thinking is to learning. We perspire during the digestive processes do not keep up with his eating he will become dyspeptic. Most everybody admits that something serious is wrong with present world affairs. In view of the fact that our knowledge has greatly increased during the past century, yet our ability to think things through shows no improvement; I wonder if our generation is afflicted by a severe case of intellectual dyspepsia.

BOOK A DAY

By BRUCE CATTON

"Time Piece." by Naomi Jacobs (Macmillan; $2.50). is a robust story, full-blooded and vital. It is made so by its heroine, Claudia Marsden, a strong if somewhat theatrically resourceful woman.

Even in her very young girlhood Claudia had a definite mind and will of her own. She knew what she wanted and was able and willing to battle for it. Her character was strengthened by the struggle against deterioration of the family home, against her father's gambling and profligacy.

When she marries Francis Coster, wealthy son of a rich wine merchant, her struggles continue as her knowledge of his wildness and untrustworthiness increases. She finds compensation in her daughter, and in her love for her parents-in-law. After Francis' death, Claudia takes over the management of the wine farm. Her life there makes up the most interesting and vivid part of the book.

Then comes her second marriage with Edward Bower, a girl-hood lover, and her tragic love for David Betterton, and her complete adjustment with herself. "Time Piece" is well, if not spectacularly, written. Its characters, from the greatest to the least important, have stature and reality. There is a likeable solidity and surety about the book—a sort of self-confidence on the part of the author and her protagonists which makes it worthwhile and pleasant reading.

"Time Piece" is a good story, well told, which should be enough for anyone.

So They Say:

Hot dog, now I can take that machine shop course I've always wanted. Thanks a lot, judge—Emerson Mosley, 19, of Clarksville, Tenn., when sentenced to a year in the penitentiary.

It's been dithering over my head for two years now and I'm tired of hearing about it. —Charles Laughon, commenting on his inclusion in the list of alleged tax avoiders.

There's more to fighting than throwing fists. And that's all that Louis can do. —Walter Monahan, former trainer, before the Louis-Braddock fight.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD By William Ferguson

ABOUT 350,000 SQUARE MILES OF THE UNITED STATES ARE UNDERLAIN WITH ONE OR MORE VEINS OF WORKABLE COAL.

THE NAME "DINOSAUR" MEANS "TERRIBLE LIZARD," AND EACH DINOSAUR HAS A NAME (USUALLY LATIN) WHICH IS DESCRIPTIVE OF THAT PARTICULAR CREATURE.

AS is the case with the animals of today, the prehistoric animals all bear scientific names that are descriptive of themselves. The name of the gigantic, lumbering Brontosaurus is translated as "Thunder Lizard," while the creature known as Monoclonius, or "Single Horn," had, as its name suggests, a single spike on its head.

MANY ATTEND LAST RITES OF MRS. STRUBLE

McLEAN, June 26 — Friends and relatives gathered in the First Baptist church Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock to pay last respects to the body of Mrs. Maud Struble, victim of a car-bus crash on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Struble was born Oct. 12, 1886. She came with her father, L. O. Floyd, to McLean in 1904 where she grew into womanhood. During this time she had been away from McLean at various periods but always called this home. At the time of her death she was living at her home on the Pampa highway in the west part of town. Mrs. Struble was an artist of outstanding ability, having painted a number of pictures lately. She taught art in McLean several years ago. She was a member of the Pentecostal church, being a minister of that faith, having done evangelistic work with her late husband in many parts of the Panhandle.

Rev. McLain, Pentecostal minister of Canadian, preached the funeral sermon. He was assisted by the Rev. Manning, local Pentecostal minister, and Rev. Cecil G. Goff and Rev. W. A. Erwin.

The deceased is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Frank Price; her granddaughter; her father, L. O. Floyd; one brother, W. H. Floyd of McLean; three sisters, Mrs. J. W. Kolb of Lubbock; Mrs. W. D. Biggers of Sudan, and Mrs. Eunice Kennedy of Hot Springs, N. M. All but Mrs. Kennedy were present at the funeral.

Other out of town relatives present were: Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jones of Vinson, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. MacRussell, Mrs. Mont Hendricks, and Miss Josephine Russell, all of Wichita Falls.

Among the out of town friends were Mrs. Maude Pulliam, a very close friend, of Dallas, and Judge and Mrs. Sherman White of Pampa. Pall bearers were: Geo. Colebank, Bob Appling, Carl Greene, Johnnie Back, Amos Williams, and Alvah Christian.

Flowers were carried by Mrs. Lee Wilson, Mrs. Boyd Meador, Mrs. R. L. Sitter, Mrs. Alvah Christian, Mrs. Wheeler Foster, and Mrs. Chas. Cooke.

Interment was in Hillcrest cemetery with Mortician Rice in charge.

ONLY 50 PER CENT OF BRAINY COEDS MARRY

GRINNELL, Ia. (AP) — Super-intelligent coeds are estimated to have about a 50 per cent chance of getting married.

Records of a Grinnell college scholastic honor society show that since 1918 only 75 of 145 members were married. None of the coeds married during the last two years belonging to the organization.

Adobe Walls Scouts

TROOP 80.

Boy Scouts of Troop 80 held Board of Review Monday night, regular Scout meeting Thursday night, both at the Methodist church, and went on an overnight camping trip to the Hay Hook ranch Thursday night.

Fifteen boys who have passed merit badge tests appeared before the Board of Review. Chairman R. S. McConnell of the troop committee presided. Although the troop did not set a record in merit badges, it did have the greatest number of Scouts it has ever had to appear before the board. Every member of Troop 80 should attend the Court of Honor tomorrow night in the district court room in the court house whether or not he appeared before the June Board of Review. Scouts should attend the Court of Honor whether or not they are coming up for advancement.

Senior Patrol Leader Keeton Rhoades presided at the regular meeting. A review of Life merit badges and other merit badges was conducted by Keeton, Omer Harrell, Jimmie Shofner and Billy Mounts. J. G. McConnell instructed the boys in the correct manner of saluting. Next Thursday night he will drill the boys briefly in marching.

After the business meeting, a boxing match between Aubrey C. Green Jr. and L. V. McDonald created a great deal of interest. The bout was hard-fought and close. L. V. was announced as the winner.

Omer Harrell was manager for L. V. and James Archer, manager for Aubrey. J. G. McConnell was referee, and Roy Lee Jones, timekeeper. The match was a friendly one.

The Scouts who went to the Hay Hook ranch found it prettier than ever, and also found many deep swimming holes, some of them 20 feet deep.

Those present, by patrols: Razorback—James Archer, Jack Smith, Billy Mounts, Jack Baker, Max Brewer, Jimmy Shofner, L. V. McDonald.

Wildcat—Earl McKinney, Bill Arthur, Soren Jensen, Earle Kotler, Ira Van Houten, J. G. McConnell, June Roland.

Dan Beard—Jack Crout, Aubrey Green, Edward Wilkins, Archie Brown, Delbert Hughes, Max Roland.

Flaming Arrow—Omer Harrell, Keeton Rhoades, Glenn Roberts, Wyndall La Casse. There were four visitors present. The scoutmaster was also present.

U. S. WARS ON BEETLES ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—The bureau of entomology and plant quarantine of the U. S. department of agriculture is warring against Japanese beetle, which feed on the flowers, fruit and foliage of many plants. Traps to ensnare the beetles are being placed throughout this section.

ARTIST CASTS UNCLE SAM IN RANGE ROLE

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Roosevelt has accepted on behalf of the government a painting by James Montgomery Flagg, showing Uncle Sam in the uniform of a forest ranger.

Flagg donated the painting and thousands of posters will be made from it in the campaign to prevent forest fire losses to 40,000,000 acres annually. The new poster shows Uncle Sam in ranger uniform pointing to a burning forest and titled "Your forest—Your fault—Your loss."
