Local state park in jeopardy

(Includes wire reports)

Big Spring State Park is among 21 state parks in danger of being closed if the Texas House approves budget cuts proposed by its Appropriations Committee.

Charles D. Travis, executive director of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, said Tuesday, "If lawmakers choose to cut funds by $25 million, the gates would close on state parks all over Texas and 142 employees would be looking for new jobs."

Travis said 2 million persons visited the 21 parks under consideration for closure, bringing the state about $1 million.

Big Spring State Park Superintendent Bill Armstrong said this morning 119,000 persons visited Big Spring's park last year. He did not have a revenue figure.

Joseph Dawes, 2510 Broadway St., a botanist enthusiast who visits Big Spring State Park frequently, said this morning whatever the final outcome is regarding the park's future, he hopes it will be maintained.

Dawes said before the state maintained the park's physical structures such as roadways, the ranger's house, and public restrooms were the targets of "casual, mindless vandalism."

He said the largest positive effect of the state maintaining the facility was minimizing the vandalism.

Big Spring State Park was acquired in 1934 by deed from private landowners and the City of Big Spring. In the mid 1930s, Civilian Conservation Corps workers built the park's facilities.

The 200-foot high limestone capped mesa had been served as a lookout point for the Comanche Indians.

Closing natural attractions hurts tourism all over Texas.

— Elizabeth Taylor, Convention and Visitors Bureau

The latest renovation to Big Spring's state park was the installation of a new water system in January, Armstrong said.

He said no future upkeep projects had been scheduled.

Elizabeth Taylor, director of the Chamber of Commerce Convention and Visitors Bureau, said this morning a committee headed by Clyde MacMahon Jr. had been working on brochures that name and describe park vegetation.

"Visitors to the park could use it as an interest or educational tool," Taylor said.

She said closing the park would hurt the tourism industry in Big Spring.

"Closing natural attractions hurts tourism all over Texas," Taylor said.

Assistant City Manager Hal Boyd said this morning the park's role in the community is "viable and valuable." Besides serving as a picnic area, playground and children, Boyd said, the park "is certainly a scenic spot of Big Spring."

The park also offers a nature trail that includes a prairie dog village.

Boyd said the possibility of the city upkeeping the park if the state pulls out would depend largely on legal issues worked out with the state.

County Judge Milton Kirby said this morning he was "afraid to make a statement" without consulting other county commissioners regarding the county's interest in maintaining the park if the state is forced to close it.

He did say, however, if the county became involved in upkeep, maintenance and management of the park, commissioners would look into other developments such as installing camping facilities.

Travis said other parks being scrutinized are: Caprock Canyons, Choke Canyon-South Shore, Fort Parker, near Mexia, Gov. Hogg

Council may file suit on right-of-way

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

A lawsuit may be the only recourse to regain right-of-way on Franklin Street between Third and Fourth Streets, City Manager Mack Wofford told City Council at its meeting Tuesday night.

A motion was passed to have an attorney present at the next meeting for advice on the matter.

Councilmen also tabled a decision on banning alcohol in city parcs, instead approving a citizen's committee to study the issue.

Franklin Street was closed by E.F. Henderson after he bought land there as an investment. Henderson told the council in June that he didn't want people driving over his property.

Corky Harris, owner of Harris Lumber, located near the disputed street, presented the council with a 494-signature petition in June seeking council action to reopen the street.

Harris told the council then that closing the road has created a large inconvenience for motorists.

Wofford said the city's mediation in the dispute has not resolved the problem, so redress in court may be the only answer.

He said Henderson plans to resort to legal means to "vigorously pursue" his right to close the street.

On the matter of banning alcohol in parks, the council asked Pat Deanda to organize a committee of interested citizens to recommend a measure the council could take to remove the problem of drunks annoying people in Comanche Trail Park.

Deanda is former president of the League of United Latin American Citizens.

Deanda voiced her opposition to a proposed ordinance banning alcohol from the parks at the council work session Monday. She agreed then to organize the committee.

Alternatives discussed at the work session included restricting alcohol instead of banning it outright and banning it only around the swimming pool area.

Deanda said anyone interested in serving on the committee should contact her. Work should begin by

Reagan optimistic about summit

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan says problems gripping the Soviet Union bolster chances that Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev will be interested in making progress at the next super-power summit.

Reagan, who flew home from Chicago late Tuesday after a rare, out-of-town news conference, also expressed interest in South Africa President P.W. Botha's offer for limited talks with Western allies and neighboring countries.

He said such a meeting might determine "if we couldn't bring about some coming together of these responsible leaders of the black community" in South Africa.

Fielding a wide array of questions from White House and Chicago reporters, Reagan defended his call for voluntary drug tests as a step that poses no threat of punishment or job loss for drug users.

And, he said the United States has believed many times that the release of the American hostages in Lebanon was imminent, only to have hopes dashed. "We've had some broken hearts," the president added.

The news conference came as a top-level team of American negotiators flew home from two days of talks in the Soviet Union on key arms control issues.

While saying he had not received any report from his negotiators, Reagan said he was hopeful about a summit.

"Yes, I am optimistic," Reagan said. "And I'm optimistic that we're going to make more progress than probably has been made in a number of years because of some of the problems that are concerning the general secretary at this time."

He did not elaborate. Gorbachev has been struggling with a faltering economy and the political and environmental damage from the world's worst nuclear accident, at Chernobyl.

Discussing South Africa, Reagan said "some of the most prominent of the black leaders" are "all solidly opposed to sanctions" designed to punish the white-minority government for its system of racial segregation, known as apartheid.

He said the one group in South Africa that supports imposition of sanctions — the outlawed African National Congress — was "the most radical" and had been in-

Coahoma still lacks insurance

By EDDIE CURRAN
Staff Writer

COAHOMA — The City Council Tuesday night rejected Hugh Boren & Son Insurance Agency's bid of $13,604 for $300,000 worth of liability insurance, leaving the city without liability coverage.

The city has been without a liability policy since January, said City Clerk Karen Bell.

"I feel like I'm being sued just by paying that," said Councilman Charles Seals, referring to the $13,604 bid.

Seals recommended that Coahoma seek lower bids, and the council voted unanimously to table consideration of Boren & Son's bid until other bids could be heard.

The council also heard complaints from residents Jennie Womack and Susan Barber, both of whom claimed excessive water bills. Council members voted unanimously to give Womack $37 credit on her next bill, and instructed Water and Wastewater Superintendent Robert Helm to make a pressure test on Womack's water meter. The $37 award was calculated by applying the leak rate of $1 for every 1,000 gallons leaked.

Barber was awarded an $81 credit, as the council again applied the leak rate. She presented her last three water bills of $67, $152 and $219.50, and complained that the last two months' bills were excessive. She reported that in one

Public hearing set for school budget

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

A public hearing on next year's school budget and a protest by two teachers of their placement on the career ladder will top the agenda when the Big Spring school board meets Thursday.

The meeting will begin at 5:15 p.m. in the high school board room.

Details of the proposed 1986-87 budget will be revealed at the meeting, said Superintendent Lynn Hise.

The proposed budget totals $14,101,628, compared to $13,962,872.62 for last year, said

Ron Logback, assistant business manager and athletic coordinator. He said most of the increase is in salaries and is dictated by the state.

Also, the board will take action on the career ladder placement of two teachers, who are contesting placement policy, Hise said.

Special education teachers Susie Craig of Washington Elementary School and Marianne Heffington of Marcy Elementary School asked in July for a hearing to appeal their placement on the ladder.

The two were not moved up to Level II, and they contend that was because they were not evaluated properly.

They have another career ladder-related case before the Texas Education Association in Austin filed last year.

If the board decides against them, they can ask the TEA to arbitrate the case.

In other business, the board will consider a contract with Narcotics Consultants Inc. for a drug-sniffing dog which would make unannounced visits to the schools during the year. He said the service is planned in the proposed budget.

Although approval for an ordinance setting the tax rate for the next school year is on the agenda, Hise said the board probably will postpone a decision.

With the Legislature in special session, "we don't know how any action they might take may affect us," he said.

Once the tax rate is set, it cannot be changed for that school year, Hise said, so "it might not be wise" to act prematurely.

The board also will consider a designated radio station for district athletic contests. Hise said in the past, the board has alternated between KBST and KBYG, but one of the stations

Names in the news

By The Associated Press
LOS ANGELES — CLINT EASTWOOD'S decision to alter the film "Heartbreak Ridge" was praised by Korean War veterans and others who had protested its portrayal of a Marine as a hero in a battle fought by the Army.

A line in the Warner Bros. film has been dubbed to show Eastwood's character, a Marine gunnery sergeant, was in the Army when he won a medal for a bloody 1951 battle.

"I certainly am satisfied," Bill Temple, coordinator of the Veterans for a National Korean War Memorial, said Tuesday.

Some veterans of the 23rd Infantry Regiment of the 2nd Army Division had protested that the original script rewrote history. They said no Marine units fought in the bloody 1951 battle for Heartbreak Ridge.

Eastwood, who produced, directed and stars in the film, declined to change its title or plot. Joe Hyams, a Warner Bros. vice president, said the battle of Heartbreak Ridge was only remotely connected to the film story, which is about a Marine sergeant and his marital problems.

in Majorca, Spain, where they have been guests of the Spanish royal family since Thursday.

Charles had a longstanding arrangement to return to Britain before his wife and children, Buckingham Palace said Tuesday.

Among those on board the royal yacht Britannia were Charles' brother Andrew and his wife, the newlywed Duke and Duchess of York, as well as Prince Edward, youngest of the queen's children.

CHICAGO — Although it took two months, columnist BOB GREENE didn't have to search too far to find the woman most resembling General Mills' newest Betty Crocker.

The Chicago Tribune columnist wrote Tuesday he was just about to give up the quest he began in June when he found Randi Morgan, a 39-year-old assistant director of a downtown art gallery.

"There was no doubt about it," Greene wrote. "All of those would-be Betty Crockers, sending their photographs from all those distant places, and it turns out that Betty Crocker — Randi Morgan — works less than a mile from my office."

Ms. Morgan said a friend told her to enter the contest about two weeks ago.

PLATTEVILLE, Wis. — Now that WILLIAM "THE REFRIGERATOR" PERRY has slimmed down to 225 pounds. Chicago Bears Coach MIKE DITKA is worried about quarterback JIM McMAHON'S weight, among other things.

"I don't know exactly what Jim weighs now, but he's overweight," Ditka said at the National Football League team's training camp Monday. "Jim came to camp in great shape last year and could do all the things he tries to do ...

"He could run, roll out, twist," Ditka said. "This year he wasn't in as good a shape, and when he did some of those things that he tried to do a year ago, I think that was the difference."

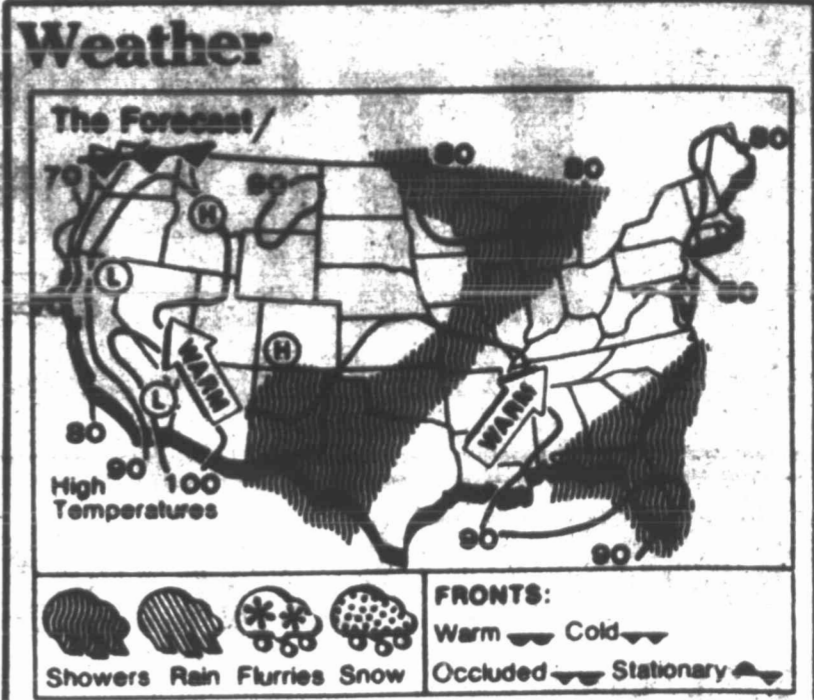

McMahon is officially listed at 190 pounds.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — For the first time since he underwent surgery for a malignant brain tumor, Kansas City Royals Manager DICK HOWSER visited players and team officials at Royals Stadium.

"He went right down the clubhouse, shaking everyone's hand," interim manager MIKE FERRARO said of Tuesday's visit. "He kidded with them like he's always done in the past."

The 50-year-old Howser went to the stadium before a scheduled doubleheader with the Boston Red Sox and then left for his daily radiation treatment.

He was hospitalized July 17, two days after leading the American League to a victory in the All-Star Game.

Man surrenders to deputies

A 31-year-old Big Spring man surrendered to sheriff's deputies Tuesday afternoon after he was informed a warrant for his arrest had been issued by the governor of Louisiana.

Michael L. McDermel of 1612 State St. is charged in that state with driving while intoxicated. He remained in county jail this morning with a hearing for his case pending.

Sam English, P.O. Box 2381, told sheriff's deputies this morning that someone rammed a motor vehicle into a door at Pinkies Liquor Store on Highway 87, north of Big Spring, causing an alarm to go off. English said he saw the vehicle back away and flee the scene, according to the complaint. No other damage was reported.

Lynn Richard Raines, 26, and John Richard Danko, 25, both of 504 1/2 Goliad St., were transferred to county jail Tuesday morning after they were arrested July 10 on possession of a controlled substance and possession of marijuana.

Sales tax refunds drop

Sales tax refunds in Howard County are down 4.09 percent for the year, with Coahoma and Forsan taking the brunt of the decrease, according to a report from the office of Comptroller Bob Bullock.

Big Spring's year-to-date rebate is down 3.52 percent for the year, but Coahoma and Forsan are each down by more than 19 percent. Martin County's rebate increased by 18.81 percent, while Mitchell County's rebate decreased by 1.59 percent.

Bullock said the monthly allocations were down 0.14 percent statewide from last August. Smaller checks to some cities reflect a downturn in the Texas economy, he said.

In Howard County, Big Spring received a check for $187,199.33, bringing the yearly total to $1,042,948.59. Last year's total to date was $1,080,979.68.

Coahoma received $2,992.08, bringing the yearly total to $19,529.09, down 19.25 percent from last year's total of $24,185.38.

Forsan's check was for $738.30, bringing the 1986 total to $9,685, down 24.09 percent from last year's total of $12,758.27.

August checks represent taxes collected on sales in June during the second quarter and reported to the comptroller by July 20.

In the area: Martin County's rebate was up 18.81 percent over the same period last year. Stanton received $7,762.35, bringing the yearly total to $43,021.95, up from $36,209.42 in 1985.

Mitchell County tax refunds are down 1.59 percent for the year. Colorado City's refund of $29,113.83 brings the yearly total to $178,831.09, down 1.10 percent from last year's total of $180,817.69 at this time last year. Lorraine received a check for $962.50, bringing the 1986 total to $4,771.50, a 30.15 percent increase over last year's to date total of $3,666.14. Westbrook's refund of $1,017.02 brings the yearly total to $8,677.72, down 20.36 percent from last year's total of $10,896.60.

He was placed on two years probation and ordered to pay court costs, attorney fees and monthly probation fees.

Linda Loya, 25, of 507 N. Main St. pleaded guilty to delivery of marijuana. She was arrested by police in February and indicted by the grand jury in April.

She was placed on five years probation and ordered to pay fines totaling $1,500 over the next 30 months.

Reagan

empted Bishop Desmond Tutu, the black South African cleric who won the Nobel Peace Prize and has been outspoken in his criticism of Reagan's policy toward South Africa.

While expressing continued opposition to sanctions, Reagan noted Botha's suggestion for meetings involving the United States, West Germany, Britain and France, along with countries bordering South Africa.

But in his speech Tuesday in Durban, South Africa, Botha said the Pretoria government would not be forced into negotiations with radical elements, a reference to calls from the Commonwealth and the European Community to lift the ban on the African National Congress, the main guerrilla group fighting to overthrow the government.

Several people at the meeting volunteered to serve on the committee, including Councilmen Johnny Rutherford and D.W. Overman.

In other business, the council: Voted to remove speed barricades from Comanche Trail Park and to repair and maintain speed bumps, on the recommendation of the Parks Board.

Appointed Hardy Wilkerson, Craig Olson and Steve Herren to the Zoning Board of Adjustment.

Granted a one-year mobile home permit for 2106 Warren Street.

In other business, the council: Voted unanimously to have the letter drop at City Hall modified to prevent theft.

Voted unanimously to request $11,762 of interest from M-Bank in Dallas, which had accumulated from a 1958 sewer and revenue bond. Because of the accumulated interest, Coahoma can stop paying M-Bank $700 a month to pay off the bond. Council members instructed that the $11,762 be put in the bank in the sewer fund.

Agreed unanimously to provide schooling in landfill operations for Michael Nixon, landfill operator. The schooling would comply with Department of Health regulations for supervisors of waste disposal facilities. Until schooling can be provided, the council instructed Shorty Hernandez, assistant superintendent of water and wastewater, to teach Nixon landfill equipment operations.

Voted unanimously to restrict city trash haulers from picking up uncontained garbage.

Agreed that the cemetery needs to be surveyed. Councilmen Seals and David Elmore volunteered to survey the cemetery.

Tabled the final adoption of rules for overtime compensation until Councilwoman Barbara Robertson could be present. Robertson, who was out of town at a funeral, will work with city employees on overtime compensation.

Paid current bills, except for a bill for a $159 charge from Larry Kerr. Kerr billed the city for painting done to the community center that the council did not ask for.

Other state park closings could follow because of budget cuts to the repair program, Travis said. Some $3 million had been budgeted for road upkeep and maintenance on buildings, water systems and electrical systems.

"Without maintenance, the quality of our park system would be lost quickly," he said.

"We're reviewing all 96 state parks for possible closing. At the rate budget plans are changing at the Capitol, any park in Texas could find itself being boarded up," Travis said.

Three parks nearing completion — Lake Bob Sandlin near Mount Pleasant, Fanthorp Inn at Anderson and Choke Canyone at Calliham — would not be opened, Travis said.

Reopening closed parks would be expensive, Travis said, because of deterioration of facilities, vandalism and remedial maintenance.

"Texans have a deep and abiding love for the land. Closing the gates of our parks will deprive millions of citizens of their natural heritage," Travis said.

Student shoots five

NEW YORK — A trade school work-study student angered over money went on a shooting rampage, killing his boss and wounding four other people in a half-hour of terror, police said.

Authorities said Van Anthony Hull, a 29-year-old civil technology student at New York Technical College in Brooklyn, kept police and rescue workers at bay for 30 minutes Tuesday while his victims lay bleeding.

When finally captured, he was carrying an empty .38-caliber handgun and a Rem-um automatic when he was arrested, police said.

Hull was charged early today with four counts each of attempted murder and first-degree assault and two counts each of felony and misdemeanor criminal possession of a weapon, said Sgt. John Venetucci, a police spokesman.

Derelict carried $80,000

SAN FRANCISCO — A man in smelly, tattered clothing but carrying $80,000 and 28 bankbooks when he collapsed on the street is typical of elderly people who live in fear of losing their money, social workers say.

Chester Louie's cash and bankbooks were found by workers at San Francisco General Hospital after he collapsed outside a police station, said hospital spokeswoman Ruth Rankin. The money took hours to count and was placed in a hospital safe.

A hospital source had said Louie underwent surgery for an accumulation of blood inside the skull, a condition that can be caused by a stroke or a blow to the head.

Lewis: Rule too tough

AUSTIN — Saying the controversial no pass, no play rule is too tough, House Speaker Gib Lewis is calling on lawmakers to shorten the suspension period for first-time offenders.

Lewis said he asked Gov. Mark White on Tuesday to open the special legislative session to consider such a change.

If White won't, and the governor's spokeswoman said that looks doubtful, Lewis said the plan would be introduced when lawmakers convene in January for their regular session.

"I'll be honest with you. I've even flaked off and I'm supporting some revisions in no pass, no play," Lewis told a meeting of teachers and school administrators. "Nothing's perfect. And we will be making some changes."

Tax fighter dead at 82

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Howard Jarvis, the acerbic conservative whose Proposition 13 slashed billions of dollars in California property taxes and sparked similar revolts around the country, has died at age 82.

Jarvis died Tuesday night at Midway Hospital, where he had been admitted Aug. 5 for a blood disorder, said Joel Fox, executive director of the California Tax Reduction Movement.

Jarvis, a retired businessman, often shocked his critics with his acid tongue, often sprinkling his language with four-letter words and labeling politicians "popcorn-ball legislators" and "marinated bureaucrats."

29-mile concrete barrier turns 25 today

BERLIN (AP) — The Berlin Wall, scorned as a violation of human rights in the West but lauded as a bulwark of peace in the East, turned 25 today, a date marked on both sides of the 29-mile concrete ribbon that now divides the former German capital.

A quarter-century ago, on Aug. 13, 1961, East German soldiers laid out barbed wire and erected barriers, dividing East and West Berlin and staunching the flow of East Germans westward.

The West says Communist East Germany moved to stop the flight of its own citizens, while the East says it constructed an "anti-fascist protection barrier" to ward off attacks from the West.

A commentary in the official East German Communist Party newspaper, Neues Deutschland, today called the building of the wall "an act for peace."

On the western side, the Berliner Morgenpost newspaper featured a photograph of the wall with a headline reading "Reagan: One Day the Wall Will Collapse."

That was a reference to a statement issued by President Reagan Tuesday that said of the wall: "One day it — and all those like it — will come down."

The U.S. diplomatic mission in Berlin on Tuesday issued a "higher state of alert" because of a possible attack on American companies and soldiers in West Berlin, said a mission official who asked not to be identified.

It was not known if the alert was related to the wall's 25th anniversary.

In ceremonies in West Berlin marking the wall's construction, West German Chancellor Helmut Kohl and Willy Brandt are to speak at the Reichstag, the former German parliament building that stands about eight feet from the barrier.

Brandt, now the head of the opposition Social Democratic Party, was the mayor of West Berlin 25 years ago and was hailed for his spirited stand against the Soviets.

A wreath-laying ceremony also took place in the western sector near the spot where Peter Fechter, an 18-year-old East German, was shot to death by East German border guards during an escape attempt on Aug. 17, 1962.

Fechter lay bleeding on the ground for nearly an hour before he was carried back by the East Germans.

Conrad Schumann, a former East German soldier who escaped into the West two days after the wall's construction began, took part in the wreath-laying ceremony about 200 yards from the Checkpoint Charlie boundary crossing.

"You must always remember that the wall is there," said Schumann, whose leap to freedom over barbed wire was captured in a now-famous photograph. "I hope there are still people in the GDR (East Germany) who also hope the wall comes down."

On the eastern side, Erich Honecker, leader of the East German Communist Party, was scheduled to address a rally and military parade along the Karl-Marx-Allee.

Bright red banners hung along the parade route and from nearby buildings Tuesday while a red-trimmed platform was set up.

posters commemorating the wall were hung up along East Berlin streets. They showed a color photograph of an East German soldier in uniform and helmet, and read, "Aug. 13, 1961-1986: An example for the workplace and the armed forces."

Boat people admitted

ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland — Canada has granted entry to 162 Sri Lankans rescued from two open lifeboats off Newfoundland, but one police official expressed skepticism at accounts given by the refugees of their odyssey.

Groggy but well-dressed, the Sri Lankans, including 144 men, three women and five children, arrived in St. John's Tuesday aboard a Canadian fisheries patrol vessel after being rescued by fishing boats 6 miles from Newfoundland's southeastern coast.

They said they had paid the equivalent of $3,000 to $5,000 in cash and jewels to an Indian agency that promised to smuggle them into Canada, and had been put into lifeboats after voyaging halfway around the world in a freighter to waters off eastern Canada.

Black elections proposed

DURBAN, South Africa — Dozens of political detainees were reported freed around South Africa today, and the governing National Party debated ways to preserve white power and meet black demands for social change.

Today, Chris Heunis, minister of constitutional development and planning, announced at the party congress that the government may allow the country's first nationwide black elections. The balloting would choose members of a proposed advisory council to work out changes in the constitution.

Business Day, a Johannesburg newspaper, said Justice Frank Smuts confirmed the release of 42 detainees held in the Orange Free State town of Frankfort, following a ruling Monday by Natal Province Supreme Court that the government exceeded its powers in parts of emergency regulations since which thousands of people have been held since June 12.

Finland denies asylum

HELSINKI, Finland — The Interior Ministry denied political asylum Tuesday to a Soviet soldier who defected June 19, but said Finland would send him to a third country rather than return him to the Soviet Union.

An Interior Ministry announcement released through the national news agency STT said the decision was made after 22-year-old Igor Azhevsky was found guilty of crossing the border illegally and committing crimes as he tried to evade capture.

The Imatra city court gave him a five-month suspended jail sentence and ordered him to pay a fine of about $940, the statement said.

Castro gets decoration

MEXICO CITY — Cuban President Fidel Castro received the Order of Lenin from the Soviet Union to mark his 60th birthday, the official Cuban news agency Prensa Latina said Tuesday night.

Castro, whose birthday is Wednesday, received the high Soviet award "for his contribution and consolidation of peace and socialism."

The news agency said Castro also received numerous other awards and messages of congratulations to mark his birthday from the Soviet bloc nations of Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Mongolia, Hungary and Poland.

11 states show higher unemployment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Looking for work?

If so, states to avoid might include Alaska, Idaho, Illinois, Louisiana, Montana, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, Texas, West Virginia and Wyoming.

Leading the nation in creating new jobs are New Hampshire, Arizona, California, New York, Florida and Ohio, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said Tuesday in releasing June unemployment figures for the 50 states.

New Hampshire, with the lowest rate of unemployment — 3.2 percent — has created 23,000 new jobs in the past year and Arizona has added nearly 62,000, increases of just under 5 percent for each state.

The largest jumps in people working, in absolute numbers, occurred in California, 200,000; New York, 150,000; and in Florida and Ohio, more than 130,000 each.

Of the 11 states reporting job losses, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Wyoming all had decreases of 2 percent or more. Collapsing oil prices alone are responsible for nearly 90,000 job losses in the oil and gas industry in Texas, Oklahoma and Louisiana. Louisiana again in June also had the nation's highest rate of unemployment, 13.6 percent, up from 13.2 percent in May.

Congress must plug gap in bills

Would that it were true that crime does not pay in this country. Unfortunately, the sordid fact is that some of this nation's most notorious felons are able to parlay their crimes into lucrative book and film deals.

A case in point concerns the infamous John Walker. The retired Navy chief warrant officer, who was convicted of selling military secrets to the Soviets during the last 17 years, has sold exclusive rights to his story. The package deal also includes the rights to books concerning his son Michael and his brother Arthur, who were recruited by Mr. Walker into his spy ring and subsequently convicted of espionage.

Although the financial arrangements have not been made public, we can assume that the Walkers will profit handsomely for their treachery.

This outrage has prompted Congress members to move to close loopholes that permit espionage agents to make a quick buck at their country's expense.

Last month, Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska, amended a House anti-terrorist bill to require forfeiture of "any property used, or intended for use" in the harmful disclosure of secrets. Two weeks ago, Rep. George W. Gekas, R-Pa., introduced a bill that would prohibit a convicted spy from profiting from his crime.

Both bills would assign any such profits to a crime victims' assistance fund. Current federal law applies only to those felons who commit violent crimes against individuals.

The Gekas bill is the better of the two because it would limit the federal government's power of prior restraint. Indeed, Sen. Stevens's measure could conceivably be used by the government to threaten book publishers or television networks with the partial confiscation of their properties.

Inasmuch as the government is the victim in espionage cases, both bills would ensure that the convicted spy's profits were returned to the federal treasury.

The congressional judiciary committees are trying to reconcile the differences between the two bills. Although the Reagan administration supports the Stevens measure, we believe the president will sign federal legislation that prevents spies from profiting from the sale of their stories. Whatever, it is unlikely that any new federal statute would apply retroactively to the Walkers.

Congress must put a stop to such future ill-gotten gains, yet preserve First Amendment freedoms. Accordingly, we hope the Gekas bill emerges from committee and is signed into law by the president.

Dumpster overflow creates problem

To the editor:

Recently, I read a comment by Tom Decell, our director of public works, saying he was unaware that Big Spring had a litter problem. I hope our City Council will wake this man up.

My daughter lives on Lincoln Street, south of 15th, and for the past four weeks, residents have had to call the sanitation department to empty their dumpsters.

Between 15th and 16th Streets, there are 14 duplexes on Lincoln and 14 on Lexington — 28 families being served by four dumpsters.

By the fourth or fifth day, the overflow must be set on the ground. So, guess where the litter blows, Mr. Decell? All over the alleys and the yards.

Most of these families have two or more babies, which means lots of diapers, baby jars and cereal boxes scattered all over the area, not to mention the flies in swarms. Someone please help, since the department of sanitation is turning a deaf ear.

Drug traffickers should be punished

To the editor:

Recently a young mother told me that in her daughter's school they had drug education in which they were taught that people who snort cocaine and people who drink coffee will become drug addicts. That's true, but the subtle message was that in the secular humanist atmosphere of the government school it is no worse morally to snort coke than to drink coffee. Kolb & Brodie's authoritative psychiatry book states that cocaine gives more moral deterioration than morphine addiction and the prospects for cure is less than morphine addiction.

Recently I talked to Captain Ryan, chief of the state narcotics enforcement, and he told me that cocaine is replacing much of the marijuana traffic in public schools, and that his puny force of 169 men were no match for the marijuana and especially the cocaine traffic that is flown across our borders.

Cocaine traffickers, in particular, have the nasty habit of killing the narcotics officer that tries to make the bust. So the narcotics officers need to overwhelm the trafficker to make an arrest.

I then called the narcotics officer in Dallas and asked when they would take a dope dog into the schools and he said they had never been asked to take them into the schools. In short, the schools of Dallas are privileged sanctuaries for dope traffic.

This, then, is the quality education that Gov. White, Jim Mattox, Ross Perot and Nancy Reagan want the Texas middle class to go broke supporting.

In Bryan, school board members finally has decided to let the dope dogs into the schools but assured students that they will not be punished, but rather will be subject to long, expensive and futile drug counseling. Personally, I think they should be subject to a felony indictment and get five years at hard labor.

I call upon all preachers, priests, rabbis, physicians and community leaders to demand that Captain Ryan's force be augmented with well-armed volunteers so they can capture and bring to trial the traffickers in both marijuana and cocaine. These traffickers then should receive appropriate punishment, which should include the death penalty.

Contras victory unleashes league's funds for weapons

By JACK ANDERSON and JOSEPH SPEAR

WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration's victory in the fight for $100 million in aid to the Nicaraguan contras is bad news for Marxist regimes in Angola, Mozambique, Ethiopia, Afghanistan, Laos and Cambodia.

Why? It "unleashes" the privately collected resources of the World Anti-Communist League, which had been the financial mainstay of the anti-Sandinista forces during the two-year period when U.S. aid money was suspended by Congress. Now the WAFL, headed by retired U.S. Army Maj. Gen. John Singlaub, can redirect its considerable talents for fundraising and weapons supply to the benefit of other anti-communist "freedom fighters" around the globe.

We first intimated two years ago that the international web of complexity that linked the World Anti-Communist League with organizations in Latin America that were connected with right-wing death squads. In the long controversy over aid to the Nicaraguan contras, the extremist groups' activities in Mexico, Guatemala, Honduras and El Salvador largely disappeared from view in this country.

Unfortunately, their activities have not disappeared in Latin America. Our associate Jon Lee Anderson, who delved into the league for us two years ago, has recently co-authored (with his brother Scott) a book on the subject, "Inside the League." He has also kept close track of the operations of the affiliates in the meantime. Here's what they've been up to:

• In Mexico, the Tecos — a neo-Nazi secret society that had led the league's affiliate since the 1970s — were exposed as fascists and anti-Semites in 1984 and were purged by clearly embarrassed World Anti-Communist League officials, who had intimate knowledge of the Tecos' tendencies for years. The Tecos have screamed about the exposure of their hate-filled background, but we're told that Mexican authorities have plans to look into the extremist group.

• In Honduras, the killings of suspected leftists have abated somewhat, but the potential for renewed bloodletting is still there. The death squad known as ELA, or Anti-Communist Combat Army, remains armed and dangerous, according to our sources. The main reason for the slacking off of the assassinations is that the group's main goal, eliminating "Marxist domination" of the state university, has been achieved. Campus politics are now firmly controlled by the right wing.

• In Guatemala, the death squad murders continue to this day. The World Anti-Communist League's point man, Mario Sandoval Alarcon, remains a league member in good standing, even after we exposed him as the death squads' patriarch and revealed that he was on the CIA's payroll.

Sandoval and his Party of Organized Violence lost a bid for the Guatemala presidency last year. But much of Guatemala's organized crime, including drug trafficking, robberies and abductions for ransom, has been attributed to right-wing parties. Their depredations include a wave of gang rapes and robberies in Guatemala City nightclubs in late 1984.

• In El Salvador, former National Guard Maj. Roberto D'Aubuisson, long believed to have been a driving force behind the country's notorious right-wing death squads, apparently has high hopes of reviving the World Anti-Communist League's discredited Central American affiliate.

Close D'Aubuisson associates — including his driver and bodyguard — were implicated several months ago in a kidnap-for-ransom ring that had been preying on wealthy Salvadorans for two years. The case was broken by Salvadoran police working with CIA and FBI agents. D'Aubuisson himself wasn't implicated because, according to sources, "He has covered his tracks too well."

SPARES TO SPARE: Here's a new twist on the Pentagon's apparently incurable spare parts problem: The Air Force Logistics Center at San Antonio reported 540 unfilled requisitions for F-100 engine seals, which had been listed as a critical item for 10 months. One reason the seal had achieved this status was "unavailability," according to a General Accounting Office study. But two months after San Antonio reported the backlog of orders — one year after the F-100 engine seal was designated as a critical case, that is — logistics center personnel found 623 repairable seals in a warehouse. They hadn't been recorded on supply inventories. And a year later, 1,200 additional spares were discovered in the same warehouse.

Jack Anderson's investigative report from Washington is distributed by United Feature Syndicate.

Symmetry of Roy Cohn's wasted life

It is a canon of American journalism that anyone who dies acquires immunity from criticism, no matter how justified, until an interval of weeks or months has elapsed. But exceptions have to be made for some people, one of whom is Roy Cohn.

The career of Cohn, who died recently at the age of 59, attained a rare symmetry. He began it in Manhattan as an assistant U.S. attorney who, among other achievements, helped send Julius and Ethel Rosenberg to the electric chair for passing atomic secrets to the Soviets — though, as it eventually became clear, Ethel was probably innocent. He ended it, just six weeks before his death, in disbarment for unethical conduct.

If he began and ended his life as a lawyer in deserved notoriety, nothing in between redeemed him. Cohn was most famous for his key role in Sen. Joseph McCarthy's campaign of character assassination against purported communists. In that role, he helped damage or ruin the careers of any number of innocent people.

McCarthy, eventually exposed as a reckless demagogue with little regard for the truth, was censured by the Senate, but Roy Cohn never acknowledged any error. His former boss, he said last year,

Steve Chapman

"performed a substantial service to the country by alerting the country to the menace of communism."

After leaving McCarthy's service, Cohn returned to his native New York to enter private legal practice. His specialty was exploiting innumerable connections for the benefit of his clients. Cohn, the son of a politically powerful judge, valued nothing more than the cultivation of those with power.

He was recognized as a brilliantly amoral courtroom advocate, whose feats included winning an acquittal for Mafia kingpin Tony Salerno on charges of income tax violations. Afterward, Cohn conceded his client was "technically guilty" but insisted, "Truth is hardly ever an absolute. There are so many elements." This reverence for moral complexity, however, never surfaced during his time with McCarthy.

Tax law complexity was more to his taste, though he had mixed success in trying to outwit the Internal Revenue Service. It audited his returns for 20 straight years and collected more than $300,000 in unpaid taxes. Its liens against his assets added up to nearly $3.2 million, and in April he was charged with owing a total of $7 million.

His protection was legal tax evasion — placing all his assets in his law firm, paying himself a comparatively modest salary of $100,000, living in a company-owned apartment and running up expense-account bills — for such sterile luxuries as lunches at "21" and chauffeur-driven cars — totaling an estimated $1 million a year.

He finally was stripped of his law license for a variety of offenses, including duping a drugged, dying man into signing a document making Cohn the executor of his estate. Though the New York state bar may be criticized for hounding Cohn on his deathbed, its cruelty doesn't obscure what he did, which a state supreme court found "unethical," "unprofessional" and, in one instance, "reprehensible."

His dishonesty permeated other elements of his life. Even his fawn-

Today is Wednesday, Aug. 13, the 225th day of 1986. There are 140 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
Twenty-five years ago — on Aug. 13, 1961 — Berlin was a city completely divided as East Germany sealed off the border between the eastern and western sectors. East German police and troops used barbed wire and barricades to block crossing points to halt the flight of refugees. Two days later, work began on the Berlin Wall.

On this date:
In 1521, Spanish conqueror Hernando Cortez captured present-day Mexico City from the Aztec Indians.

In 1624, French King Louis XIII named Cardinal Richelieu his first minister.

In 1792, French revolutionaries imprisoned the royal family.

In 1818, suffragist Lucy Stone was born in West Brookfield, Mass.

In 1846, the American flag was raised for the first time in Los Angeles.

In 1889, William Gray of Hartford, Conn., received a patent for a coin-operated telephone.

In 1899, director Alfred Hitchcock was born in London.

In 1960, the first two-way telephone conversation by satellite took place with the help of Echo I.

Ten years ago: President Gerald Ford's 6th help of Echo I.

Ten years ago: President Gerald Ford's 7th help of Echo I.

Ten years ago: President Gerald Ford's campaign managers claimed to have enough delegate votes for a first-ballot victory over former California Gov. Ronald Reagan at the Republican Convention in Kansas City.

Five years ago: President Reagan signed a package of tax and budget reductions, but warned that changes Congress had made in his original plan could lead to higher federal deficits.

One year ago: The home of South African anti-apartheid leader Winnie Mandela and an adjacent clinic she ran in a black township outside Bradford, South Africa, were badly damaged by fire. She charged that the fire was the work of the government's security branch.

Other news: Actor Pat Hingle is 60. Singer Don Ho is 56. Singer Dan Fogelberg is 35. Actress Quinn Cummings is 19.

Herschel becomes a Cowboy

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Running back Herschel Walker became the highest-paid player in Dallas Cowboys' history today when he reached agreement on a multi-year contract that will pay him nearly $1 million annually.

Walker, 24, the 1983 Heisman Trophy winner who set a professional football rushing record for one season, signed a contract at dawn with the Cowboys after an all-night bargaining session between agent Peter Johnson and club President Tex Schramm.

Walker, who said he was eager to get his NFL career started, planned to fly to New Jersey to wrap up personal business before returning to training camp on Friday. Team officials said he would be in uniform for Saturday night's preseason game against the Los Angeles Raiders, but would not play.

Perhaps the best-known star of the struggling USFL, Walker earlier said he didn't feel he would have any problems playing in the same backfield with running back Tony Dorsett, the NFL's third all-time leading rusher.

"It would be an honor to play with him because Tony has a lot of class," Walker said earlier.

Dorsett returned the compliment, saying, "This is a dream come true. This could be the best backfield of all time."

player at $650,000 a season.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry said, "Nobody has ever had two superstars like this in the same backfield. I'm real excited. The best way to extend my career is to get a great player like Herschel."

"I am very, very pleased. This is one of the biggest steps in the history of our franchise," Schramm said. "It will be a major step in insuring our future."

World swim championships gets started today in Spain

MADRID, Spain (AP) — The fifth World Swimming, Water Polo, Diving and Synchronized Swimming Championships started today in Madrid.

The competitors in the solo, duet and team events began the execution of aquatic figures with names such as the Heron and Catalina reverse today. All the swimmers will perform six figures in front of three panels of five judges today and Thursday at Madrid's new swimming complex.

The synchronized swimmers were the only ones in competition today. On Thursday, at the same time the synchronized swimmers are quietly doing their figures, the water polo players will begin their non-stop action across town.

At the El Pilar Swimming Pool, the men will begin their first round of competition while the women begin play at the Casa de Campo pool, outside of Madrid.

That's right, women's water polo.

For the first time in the World Championships, the women will be competing with nine teams, including the United States, battling for the title.

The diving competition, with World and Olympic champion Greg Louganis of the United States heading the field, begins Friday.

Then, on Sunday, the women's 100-meter freestyle heats begin the swimming competition. Five events have eliminations in the mornings and come back in the evening for the finals. A total of 13 individual events and three relays will be decided over the next six days, including a new 50-meter freestyle for both men and women.

Boycotts have diminished the impact of the swimming events in the last two Summer Olympics. Thus, the United States, the Soviet Union, East Germany and West Germany have not had a chance to meet in one pool since the 1982 World Championships in Ecuador.

But this year, new world record-holders such as Betsy Mitchell of the United States will have a chance to meet Cornelia Sirch of East Germany. Sirch is the 1982 World Champion in the 200-meter backstroke and held the record in that event until Mitchell broke it last June in the U.S. trials for the World Championships.

Another record-breaker from that meet will also be competing against a former record-holder. Pablo Morales will meet West Germany's Michael Gross in the 100-meter butterfly. Morales and Gross will also meet in the 200-meter butterfly where Gross is fresh from breaking his own world record in the West German championships.

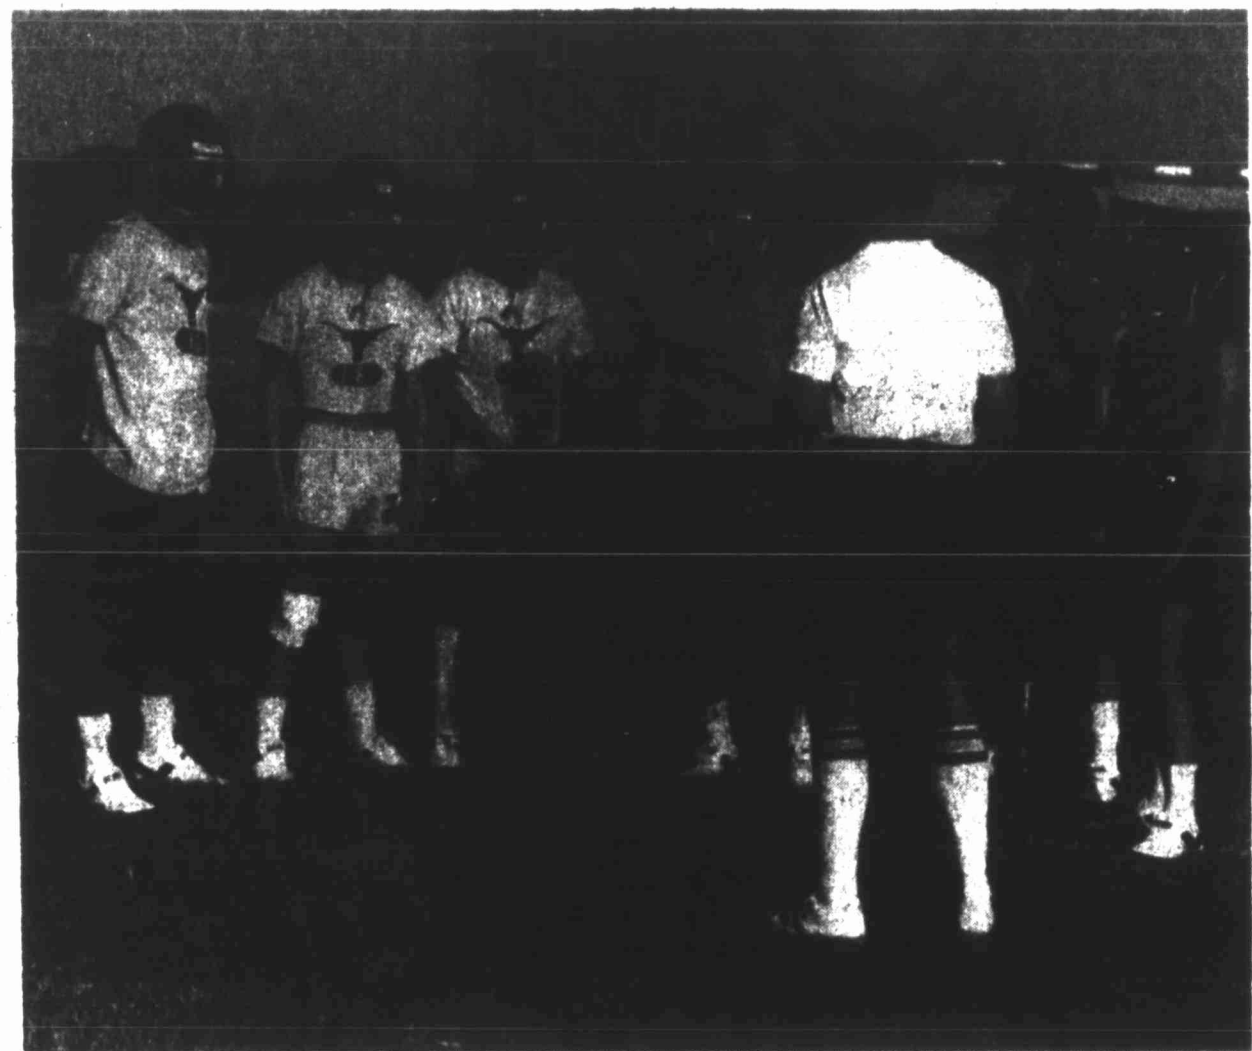

But all the swimming competition will have to wait until Sunday as the synchronized swimmers are in action over the next four days before concluding with a team event next Wednesday.

Similar to figure skating, the compulsory section of the synchronized swimming event is almost as boring to watch. However it is necessary to do well in this section to have a chance in the free routine, when the swimmers perform to music.

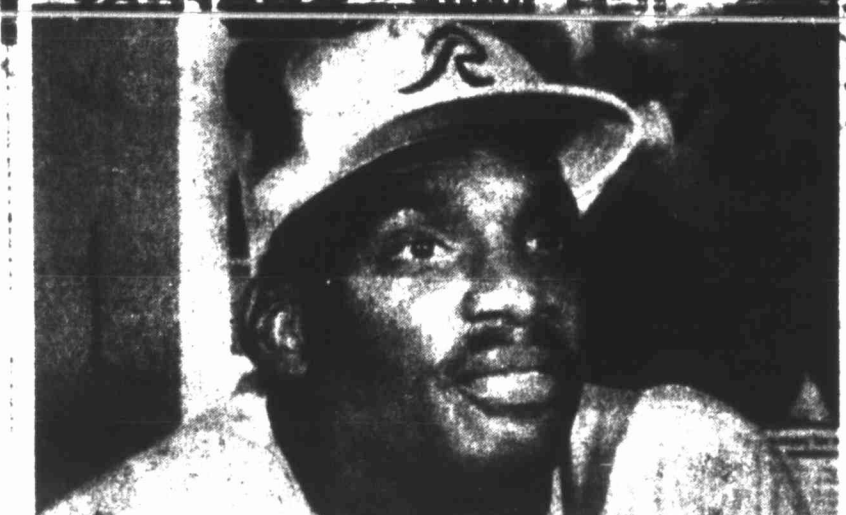

From there, the scores of the top eight individuals, duets and teams will qualify for the finals later in the championships.

In the men's water polo competition, 16 teams will start in four-team groups. From there, the top eight teams will advance to a semifinal round.

That will determine the four semifinalists who have a straight elimination to a world champion. The 1982 titlist and 1985 European champion, the Soviet Union, will be out to beat Yugoslavia, the 1984 Olympic Champion in the Soviet Union's absence.

Morning workout
Big Spring Steers coach Thomas Posey gives instructions to football players during the morning workout of the Steers two-a-day practices. The Steers are working out at 8:30 in the morning and 6 in the afternoons.

Doug Williams, former quarterback of the Arizona Outlaws of the United States Football League, announced that he plans to sign a three year contract with the Washington Redskins of the National Football League.

Williams plans on signing with 'Skins

By The Associated Press

Entering the Washington Redskins training camp this season, Jay Schroeder was the only quarterback who had ever thrown a pass in a regular-season NFL game. Now they've got two, the latest having come the way of the beleaguered USFL.

"It's obvious that I'm elated to be here," Doug Williams said Tuesday. "But let me set the record straight. Jay Schroeder is the starting quarterback of the Washington Redskins. I know that, Coach (Joe) Gibbs knows it, and everyone else knows it."

Vikings
The Vikings signed kicker Dave Trout from the Baltimore Stars as they continued to pursue former USFL players who have been turned loose by that troubled league.

Falcons
Atlanta signed former USFL linebacker Ed Smith. Smith, a 1979 draft choice of the Pittsburgh Steelers, also played with the Baltimore Colts before going to the USFL's Arizona Outlaws.

Browns
Former USFL linebacker Mike Johnson, wide receiver Gerald McNeil and offensive lineman Bob Gruber signed contracts.

Johnson played for the Philadelphia and Baltimore Stars in 1984 and 1985. Cleveland obtained his NFL rights in the first round of the 1984 supplemental draft. McNeil was with the Gamblers in 1984 and 1985, catching 91 passes over two seasons. Gruber spent one year with the USFL's Jacksonville Bulls.

Bengals
Safety Barney Bussey, another former USFL player, signed with Cincinnati. Bussey played the last two years with the Memphis Showboats. The Bengals drafted Bussey in the fifth round in 1984, but he was signed by the Showboats.

Dolphins
Miami signed two former USFL offensive linemen, Rick Kehr and Dan Rosado. Both of them played last year for the Houston Gamblers.

Chiefs
Another USFL veteran, safety Lupe Sanchez of the Orlando Renegades, officially joined the Chiefs earlier Tuesday when he signed a one-year contract.

Chargers
The Chargers signed defensive lineman John Walker, who played a season for the Stars, and said they are interested in New Jersey General's linebacker Mike Wedington as well as linebacker Gary Plummer and defensive back Vito McKeever, who played for the Oakland Invaders.

49ers
Wide receiver Derrick Crawford of the USFL Memphis Showboats signed a one-year contract, and linebacker Alonzo Johnson of the Tampa Bay Bandits was scheduled to take a physical before signing his agreement.

Packers
The arrival in training camp of the first USFL players was marked by a brief fight between a former member of the Denver Gold and Green Bay veteran defensive end Ezra Johnson.

Metcalf sentenced for cocaine
ARLINGTON, Va. (AP) — Former NFL star player Terry Metcalf pleaded guilty Tuesday to cocaine possession and disorderly conduct in Arlington County Circuit Court and was given a two-year suspended sentence.

In addition, Circuit Court Judge Paul F. Sheridan ordered Metcalf to perform 100 hours of community service in an alcohol safety program, according to the Washington Post.

The charges stem from a March 26 incident in which an Arlington policewoman, Officer Debbie Altman, stopped the former running back for driving 56 miles per hour in a 30 mile per hour zone.

Grady track star signs scholarship

Grady High School graduate Shanna Hale recently signed a scholarship agreement with Pan American University to run track.

Hale, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hale, chose the school in Edinburg over 50 other offers. For the past four seasons she has been the top distance runner in the Crossroads Country area and one of the best in the state. This year at the state meet in Austin she won the 3200 meters in a career best of 11:12.00. She also finished second in the 1600 in 5:15.00.

This past fall she won the cross country title in the Class A-AA division and was ranked as the second best cross country runner in the state. Her sophomore year at the state meet in Austin she finished second in the 1600, and finished second in the 3200 her junior season.

Pan American coach Reid Harter calls Hale "a highly promising all-around athlete. She might be the first five-sport letterman from high school to ever compete for Pan American University."

This dates back 59 years, to 1927.

SHANNA HALE ...taking services to Pan American in high school, under the direction of coach Ted Bedwell, Hale lettered in basketball (4), track (4), volleyball (2), tennis (1) and cross country (1). She was All-District in volleyball and basketball and All-State in track and cross country.

Martina easy winner in Virginia Slims opener

MANHATTAN BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Not surprisingly, top-seeded Martina Navratilova had an easy time in her first action at the $250,000 Virginia Slims of Los Angeles women's tennis tournament.

But afterwards, the world's top-ranked player expressed the opinion that such a development isn't necessarily an indication of what's ahead.

"This tournament is not a drag," Navratilova said Tuesday night after disposing of Debbie Spence 6-0, 6-1 in just 47 minutes. "This field is loaded, it's too tough to walk over. I'll have good preparation for the U.S. Open."

Navratilova, second-seeded Chris Evert Lloyd, third-seeded Claudia Kohde-Kilsch of West Germany, fourth-seeded Pam Shriver, and fifth-seeded Helena Sukova of Czechoslovakia all were straight-set winners in their second-round matches Tuesday at the Manhattan Country Club.

Navratilova will meet ninth-seeded Stephanie Rehe in a third-round match tonight. Rehe struggled past Kate Gompert 7-6, 3-6, 7-6 in a 3-hour, 22-minute marathon in her second-round match.

Lloyd, who topped Elise Burgin 6-4, 6-2, won't play her third-round match until Thursday.

Lloyd agreed with Navratilova about the tournament, calling the field "one of the toughest on the tour."

Kohde-Kilsch downed Sabrina Goles of Yugoslavia 7-5, 6-2; Shriver whipped Wendy White 6-2, 6-2, and Sukova eliminated Jo Durie of Great Britain 6-4, 6-3.

In the other second-round action, seventh-seeded Gabriella Sabatini of Argentina needed only 50 minutes to overwhelm Ann Henricksson 6-2, 6-1; eighth-seeded Zina Garrison downed Grace Kim 7-5, 6-2, and Patty Fendick topped Tina Mochizuki 6-2, 6-3.

In first-round matches Tuesday, 11th-seeded Carling Bassett of Canada eliminated Mercedes Paz 6-4, 2-6, 6-1; 12th-seeded Kathy Jordan topped Regina Maraskova of Czechoslovakia 7-6, 7-6; Lisa Bender downed Michelle Torres 7-6, 6-1.

Carlton flops in AL debut

By The Associated Press
Steve Carlton's American League debut wound up a loss as Mike Heath and Chet Lemon homered and the Detroit Tigers defeated the Chicago White Sox 7-3 Tuesday night.

Carlton, 41, was signed off waivers about three hours before the game. But the Tigers hammered him, scoring six runs on seven hits in his three innings.

Carlton's start overshadowed the work of Mark Thurmond, 3-1, who checked the White Sox on five hits over eight innings.

Carlton, who came into the game with 4,000 career strikeouts, fanned four, making Darnell Coles his first AL victim. Carlton walked two and made one wild pitch.

Heath hit his first home run

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Jorge Orta hit a two-run homer in a three-run sixth inning that lifted the Kansas City Royals to a 6-5 victory over the Boston Red Sox and a sweep of a two-night doubleheader.

Frank White doubled in three runs and Darryl Motley doubled in two as the Royals took the opener 5-1. The start of the doubleheader was delayed one hour and 12 minutes by rain.

Boston's lead in the AL East was cut to 3 1/2 games.

Mark Gubicza, 6-5, allowed seven hits in 7 2/3 innings, as Kansas City won three straight for the first time since mid-June. Dan Quisenberry finished for his 10th save.

The Royals trailed 3-1 in the sixth before George Brett lined an RBI single, then scored on Orta's home run against Bob Stanley, 5-4, who was making his first start in five years.

Blue Jays 3, Orioles 0
BALTIMORE (AP) — Jesse Barfield took the American League lead with his 29th homer while driving in three runs and Jim Clancy pitched a four-hitter as the Toronto Blue Jays defeated the Baltimore Orioles 3-0.

Clancy, 13-6, allowed only singles, did not walk a batter and struck out five as the Orioles lost for the sixth time in seven games.

A's 3, Mariners 2
OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Mike Davis homered on the first pitch of the bottom of the 10th inning to give the Oakland A's a 3-2 victory over the Seattle Mariners, who turned a triple play in the ninth inning.

Davis' 12th homer of the season was off Pete Ladd, 7-4. It made a winner of Jay Howell, 2-4.

Yankees 6, Indians 4
NEW YORK (AP) — Rickey Henderson, Don Mattingly and Mike Easler hit solo home runs, powering the New York Yankees past the Cleveland Indians 6-4.

Henderson led off the Yankees' first inning with his 21st homer of the season, the sixth time he has started a game with a home run. One out later, Mattingly homered, also his 21st.

Easler, whose RBI double capped a three-run first against Ken Schrom, hit his 11th homer in the fifth against Rich Yet, giving the Yankees a 6-4 lead.

Tim Stoddard, after relieving Joe Niekro in the third, pitched two-hit, shutout ball for 4 2/3 innings and won his first decision as a Yankee. Dave Righetti got his 26th save.

Brewers 7, Rangers 2
ARLINGTON (AP) — Glenn Braggs homered twice and Robin Yount's two-run single highlighted a five-run second inning as the Milwaukee Brewers beat the Texas Rangers 7-2 Tuesday night.

Ryan keeps Astros on winning track

By The Associated Press
Nolan Ryan, somewhat apprehensive about his first start since coming off the disabled list, showed the Los Angeles Dodgers on Tuesday night that he is ready to help the Houston Astros in their quest for the National League West crown.

Ryan pitched 5 1/3 innings of no-hit baseball, and Jose Cruz hit a two-run second-inning triple to lead the Astros to a 3-0 victory over the Dodgers.

Ryan, 8-7, who has pitched five career no-hitters, didn't allow a hit until Steve Sax looped a single to shallow left field with one out in the sixth.

Ryan also gave up a hit to Bill Madlock in the sixth, but struck out Len Matuszek to end the inning. Ryan struck out six in six innings, and did not allow a baserunner until he walked Mike Scioscia in the fourth. Charlie Kerfeld pitched the final three innings for his fifth save.

Phillies 3, Mets 1
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A two-run third-inning triple by Von Hayes and the six-hit pitching of Kevin Gross led the Philadelphia Phillies to a 3-1 victory over the New York Mets.

Expos 10, Cardinals 3
MONTREAL (AP) — Expos rookie Bob Sebra pitched his first career complete game, and Andre Dawson and Tim Lincecum drove in four runs each as Montreal routed the St. Louis Cardinals 10-3.

Padres 4, Braves 3
ATLANTA (AP) — Bruce Bochy hit a two-run double in a three-run seventh inning to break up a scoreless pitching duel between LaMarr Hoyt and Zane Smith, and the San Diego Padres held on to defeat the Atlanta Braves 4-3.

Hoyt, 6-8, had lost four straight decisions and had not won since July 13. He allowed five hits in six inings as the Padres won for only the second time in their last eight games and for just the third time in 12 against Atlanta. Hoyt walked three and struck out two. Rich Gossage worked the last two innings for his 20th save.

Giants 2, Reds 1
CINCINNATI (AP) — An error by rookie shortstop Kurt Stillwell on Dan Gladden's bases-loaded grounder let in the go-ahead run in the sixth inning, and the San Francisco Giants made it stand up for a 2-1 victory over the Cincinnati Reds 2-1.

Vida Blue, 9-6, pitched the first five innings, giving up four hits while striking out two and walking three. Scott Garretts worked the final 2 1/3 for his fourth save.

Bill Gullickson, 8-8, blanked the Giants on five hits until the sixth, when Bob Brenly and Bob Melvin singled with two outs. Mike Aldrete, riding a 7-for-15 hitting streak, came off the bench to double home Brenly with the tying run. Luis Quinones was intentionally walked to load the bases before Stillwell failed to glove Gladden's grounder up the middle.

Cubs 3, Pirates 1
CHICAGO (AP) — Leon Durham hit his 12th homer to break a five-inning tie and drove in the insurance run an inning later, and Lee Smith picked up his 22nd save with two innings of shutout relief as the Chicago Cubs beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-1.

Scott Sanderson, 6-0, went seven innings, allowed six hits, walked none and struck out six in recording his first victory since July 18, breaking a personal three-game losing streak.

Pittsburgh's Larry McWilliams, 2-4, gave up eight hits and three runs in 5 1/3 innings. Barry Bonds led off the game with his 12th home run of the year for Pittsburgh.

Driver leaves passenger at scene of accident

A Big Spring man was injured in a one-car accident at the Veterans Administration Medical Center Saturday night.

Ronald L. Porter, 24, of 2102 Runnels St., a passenger and owner of the car, was treated and released from Scenic Mountain Medical Center, a hospital spokeswoman said.

The driver of the car, whose identity was not revealed, left the scene before police arrived, according to the accident report.

Police said Porter was found "wounded and helpless" in a 1972 Pontiac sedan.

According to witnesses, the car was southbound in the inner lane of the 2100 block of Gregg Street at 11:40 p.m. Saturday. The driver swerved to avoid hitting another vehicle, lost control and skidded onto the grounds of the VA hospital, where the car hit an elm tree, witnesses said.

Car falls 30 feet off embankment; local man killed

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

A Big Spring man was killed early this morning when his car fell more than 30 feet off an embankment, landing upside down.

Thomas Wythe Poyner, 40, of Box 3179 was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace China Long.

Acting Police Chief Lonnie Smith said an autopsy has been ordered to determine if alcohol was a factor.

Smith said police are investigating the incident, but there is no reason to suspect foul play.

The accident occurred in the parking lot of Gill's Fried Chicken, 1100 S. Gregg St., at 1:30 this morning after Poyner left The Greenhouse club, according to the police report.

Police said Poyner drove his black 1984 Chevrolet Blazer west from The Greenhouse parking lot, through a cable fence and off the embankment. The vehicle dropped 30 to 35 feet onto the pavement below, police said.

A diner at Gill's saw the upside-down vehicle and reported the accident to police, Smith said.

Services for Poyner are pending at Myers & Smith Funeral Home.

Alcohol ban on city agenda

City Council will vote on a proposal to ban alcoholic beverages and glass beverage containers from city parks and Moss Creek Lake at its regular meeting Tuesday.

The meeting will begin at 6:30 p.m. in the council chambers at City Hall.

Council members also are expected to approve the removal of speed bumps and barricades at Comanche Trail Park.

Other agenda items include the repair and maintenance of speed bumps; acquisition of the right-of-way between Third and Fourth Streets east of Harris Lumber; and an appointment to the Zoning Board of Adjustment, which was previously tabled.

Also scheduled are first readings of resolutions confirming the city manager's appointment of an assistant city manager and appointing Gwen Fair as relief municipal judge.

A bid will be awarded for a fire truck/pumper. Specifications will be approved to advertise for bids on improvements to Runway 7-25, gasoline and diesel fuel, and employee uniforms.

SOME PEOPLE BUY AIR CONDITIONERS LIKE THERE'S NO TOMORROW.

When it's time to replace your old air conditioner, it'll probably only take you a little while to find a new one that looks pretty good and doesn't cost much. But it'll take a lot longer to realize a quick bargain is likely to cause a slow burn on your wallet every month.

A high-efficiency air conditioner could make a difference in your cooling costs this summer and every summer. A high-efficiency choice means steady savings because you're getting the same amount of cooling using less electricity than with a low-efficiency unit. On top of this, you'll get a valuable rebate from your electric company if your central air conditioner or window unit meets our Energy Action standards.

See your recognized Energy Action air conditioning contractor or dealer for help in choosing a high-efficiency air conditioner or heat pump. Tomorrow, you'll be way ahead of the game.

County acts on indigent care

By SCOTT FITZGERALD
Staff Writer

The county took another step today toward implementing a required indigent health care program when commissioners unanimously approved the hiring of a certified nurse practitioner for the program.

The nurse will be paid $22,000 a year from county funds and will handle other duties in the Howard County Health Unit besides examining indigent patients, Dr. Jack Woodall, director of the unit, told commissioners.

The request was one of a list of line items included on the health

Commissioners approve hiring nurse unit's 1986-87 budget, which commissioners reviewed with Woodall and County Sanitarian James Luck.

The budget included state and city fund proposals.

According to the proposed budget, Luck would be paid $10,284 annually in county funds in his capacity as head administrator of the indigent health care program.

A screening officer would be paid $16,000 annually to determine which persons qualify for indigent or other financial assistance health care programs, such as the Mother Infant Health Improvement Act (MIHIA).

County Judge Milton Kirby told Luck that commissioners were in favor of hiring Kathy Hise to fill the screening officer's position. Hise presently is the county director of welfare.

Other line expense items requested from the county included $12,560 in fringe benefits for new indigent health care employees, $805 remodeling costs in the health unit, and $4,000 for computer service fees.

The health unit's budget totaled $772,767. The county's portion for indigent health care was $360,000 of that.

Before the indigent health care program begins on Sept. 1, the county must contract for emergency health care and hospital services.

Commissioner O.L. Brown told Luck he recently visited with Dawson County Judge Glenn White, who told Brown a health care facility in Dawson County wanted to contract with Howard County for indigent care.

Kevin King, acting administrator at Scenic Mountain Medical Center, also presented commissioners with the hospital's proposal for handling indigents, which calls for a 30 percent reduction on outpatient diagnostic fees.

For in-patient care, Scenic Mountain would use federal government rates established for Medicare patients. The in-patient care would not include physician fees, according to the proposal.

Convention/bureau manager attends seminar

More than 17 cities and attractions were represented at the West Texas Travel Council Seminar in Odessa last week, including Elizabeth Taylor, manager of the Big Spring Convention & Visitors Bureau.

The West Texas Travel Council was organized several years ago to provide an alliance of all West Texas cities to work toward their own promotion, Taylor said.

"The idea is that once we get the people into West Texas, each individual city can work from there to bring that business into their own community." Projects discussed at the meeting were the West Texas travel guide, statewide and national travel shows, familiarization tours, the marketing and packaging of individual cities, and a Research Center for West Texas Tourism Development at Texas Tech University at Lubbock, Taylor explained.

"It was really a good meeting...there was a lot of enthusiasm from everyone at the meeting," Taylor said.

How's that?

Telltale fingernail may be misunderstood

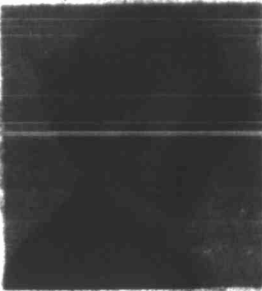

DEAR ABBY: This is for "His Wife in Raytown, Mo.," who found a fake red fingernail clinging to her husband's shorts.

Dear Wife: I'll not try to convince you that your husband could be innocent, but I want to return an incident that I know is true because it happened to me.

I have long fingernails and occasionally one breaks, so I replace it with a "temporary," using superglue. One afternoon I had just finished a false fingernail when a young male co-worker stopped by my office to chat. As we were talking, I noticed there were streaks on the waistband of his new slacks where the price tag had been stitched. When it looked tacky, I offered to undo the threads off with my scissors. He was most appreciative.

After he left, I noticed my false fingernail was no longer on my finger! I searched my office, under my desk, etc., and finally gave up. About 30 minutes later my coworker returned red-faced. Holding my pink fingernail in his hand, he said, "Look what I've found in my underwear!"

So, you see, even when things look suspicious and there doesn't appear to be a reasonable explanation, don't jump to conclusions. You could be wrong. Trust me on this one. If it isn't something totally innocent, there will be more telltale signs than a false fingernail. (I've been there, too.)

Dear Abby

S.C. IN ATLANTA

DEAR S.C.: I hope "His Wife in Raytown" doesn't miss this column. It could make her day — not to mention what it will do for her husband's.

DEAR ABBY: I read in one of your articles a short while ago about a reader's concern for a military hand grenade that her husband was keeping on the fireplace at home as a war souvenir.

Please inform your readers that assistance is available through their local city, county or state, fire or police forces. The International Association of Bomb Technicians and Investigators has members throughout the free Western world. Although the most publicized calls our members respond to are terrorist attacks, criminal bombings and unexploded household bombs, the majority of bomb disposal calls received by our members are regarding found military explosives or commercially manufactured explosives such as dynamite and blasting caps.

Due to the location of the past two world wars, our members recover large amounts of military ordnance in the Middle East and Europe.

In the United States, Canada and Australia, in addition to war souvenirs, we recover large amounts of dynamite and blasting caps found by children while camping near old mining claims.

As a member of the Arizona Department of Public Safety Explosive Unit, I have just recently recovered military hand grenades and dynamite found by three widows while going through their deceased husbands' personal effects and belongings. We also just completed an investigation where two boys, 8 and 10 years old, were severely injured by a piece of military ordnance found on an Arizona National Guard range.

In the interest of public safety, police and fire bomb-disposal technicians, assisted by military explosive ordnance disposal personnel, are available 24 hours a day to respond to a citizen's request for assistance.

DAVID L. AUDSLEY,
DIRECTOR, I.A.B.T.I.

F.A. BOX 888, COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO. 80901

DEAR ABBY: For a columnist who is usually fairly objective, you misinterpreted the popular stereotype of the chess player as an intellectual drunk. You made the sweeping generalization that most chess players are "quiet, passive, more introverted than extroverted, highly competitive, and slow to make decisions." Thus you cap it with, "And they're not exactly a breed of angels!" That's like saying most sports fans are aggressive, beer-guzzling loudmouths.

This may come as a shock to you, Abby, but chess is enjoyed by college professors, farmers, factory laborers, artists, doctors, lawyers, children, salesman and people on welfare!

I think you owe chess players an apology.

CHESS PLAYER
DEAR CHESS PLAYER: Give me a break. In the last month I've managed to alternate the Texas oil tycoons, smokers, the American Denary and Bible Society, Alaska, Canada and the Mormon Church. My apologies.

Rheumatoid arthritis can affect lungs

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have heard that rheumatoid arthritis can cause fluid to build around the lungs. If so, could you explain why and how it happens? In the past, you have explained the causes of many illnesses and said if there is any relief. Our paper would not be complete without you. — A.H.

Thanks for the nice compliment, A.H.

Most people think of rheumatoid arthritis as a joint disease. It's a systemic problem. That means it's all-invasive, affecting many body parts and organs, and the lungs are potential targets. Blood vessels and even the heart can be involved in the general inflammation process.

Let's look at the lungs. One of the more common RA-related problems is the fluid buildup you mention. Lungs, as you know, are wrapped in a double layer of tissue (the pleura). A paper-thin space separates the layers. Lubrication permits the layers to glide against each other to facilitate the expansion and contraction of the underlying lungs as you breathe.

Now as it turns out, the cells lining the inner surfaces of these pleural sheets resemble joint cells. And they may become inflamed by the same process that causes inflammation in other joint cells. With inflammation comes an outpouring of fluid. In the lungs, this is called pleural effusion.

If this gets out of control, the fluid has to be removed. But generally, controlling the general inflammation problem (the arthritis) controls the pleural aspects of it. You're the first reader to ask me about this.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: My son was a victim of a motorcycle accident. He has been in a coma for more than two months now. Each day is a heartbreak for us. I don't have any questions for you. I am writing to beg you to use your good offices to urge your readers who ride cycles to wear helmets. —

Dr. Donohue

Mrs. I.G.

Your letter will strike a familiar chord for many saddened by similar circumstances. I have another reason for letting you borrow this forum. I have had communication with a group with direct interest in the kind of injuries your son apparently had. It's the National Head Injury Foundation. They can help people like yourself find support programs in their areas. They tell me that more than 350,000 vehicle-related head injuries occur annually. Readers can get further information by writing to the foundation at P.O. Box 567, Framingham, MA 01701.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: What exactly is Cushing's disease? Can it affect the brain? Is it inherited? Is there a cure? Any information will be very helpful and important to me. — Mrs. H.M.

Cushing's disease results from the body's overproduction of cortisone. Yes, it's the same drug that is given for so many illnesses.

With too much cortisone in the body, you have abnormal fat distribution. The face becomes quite full. The trunk thickens and arms and legs appear quite thin. Skin bruises easily and purple stretch marks appear. Undue facial and body hair appears. Blood pressure rises, and quite often emotional instability becomes a part of the picture.

All of these signs and symptoms stem from the cortisone over-supply. They reflect the multifaceted role of normal cortisone levels in the body. The production problem may start with disturbance in either the pituitary or adrenal gland. But I don't think we need go into that here.

Cushing's disease, since it does sometimes affect the emotions, can be said to involve the brain. It is usually not inherited. Most often it comes, on later in life from some disturbance of the glands involved. Whatever the cause, there is a cure for Cushing's: correction of glandular overproduction by surgery or drugs.

FOR M.M. — You ask about the role of coffee in elevating cholesterol levels. There is some difference of opinion about this. The general feeling is that heavy caffeine consumption does elevate cholesterol. More than two cups a day is said to raise the LDL cholesterol. Let me just say for the sake of brevity here that this is the "bad" cholesterol, the kind that clogs arteries.

Arthritis sufferers can be helped. For a copy of the booklet, "How You Can Control Arthritis," which discusses many types of arthritis and related joint diseases as well as effective treatments and medications, write to Dr. Donohue, P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611. Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY REVIEW

Crystal Vend machines offer purified water 24 hours a day

Crystal Vend brings new meaning to the words "convenience" and "affordability." Twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week, you can get delicious, crystal clear drinking water for 30 cents a gallon at three convenient locations in Big Spring.

Crystal Vend features purified water for salt-free diets, along with their Crystal Clear drinking water.

Advance technology is Crystal Vend's secret to clear drinking water. The blue cabinet houses a miniature, precision water purification system. Municipal water is first filtered to remove sediment particles and suspended dirt and sand followed by carbon filtration which removes unpalatable chlorine and dissolved organic impurities.

The filtered water is then demineralized to remove harsh dissolved metallic salts and then exposed to ultraviolet light for bacteriostatic control producing a purified water (99.9 percent pure) for doctor ordered salt-free diets and all distilled water uses.

A trace of the minerals are retained in the Crystal Clear drinking water for taste.

The Crystal Vend machines are based on state-of-the-art technology and as such, exceed capabilities of all other machines of this type.

Whether your need is for Purified Water for a salt-free diet or Crystal Clear drinking water, you will enjoy the convenience of Crystal Vend. All you have to do is take your container by one of the convenient locations: Safeway at 1300 S. Gregg, Safeway at College Park Shopping Center, or Don Newsom's at 1910 S. Gregg.

Each machine is coin operated and is designed to accommodate containers of any size from one gallon to five gallons. All you have to do is position your container on the adjustable shelf, insert your coins and push the green button for Crystal Clear drinking water or the blue button for purified water for salt-free diets and distilled water uses.

Crystal clear water doesn't have to be expensive, so try Crystal Vend this week for 30 cents a gallon.
