200 Officers Hunt 'Killers' Of Patrolman

WAXAHACHIE, Tex. (AP) — A Texas highway patrolman was shot to death near here just before midnight Sunday and some 200 law enforcement officers continued to comb the area early today for two men wanted in connection with his death.

The officer, Travis Locker, 37, of Waxahachie, died at a local hospital at 11:30 p.m.

Officers said Locker stopped a car about 10 p.m. carrying five males. They said it was believed the car was stolen in Dallas, but did not know if this was the reason Locker had stopped it.

When he asked the driver for his license and the driver could not produce one, a scuffle broke out, officers said. In addition to the patrolman, a 15-year-old youth was wounded in that scuffle and remained in serious condition at Parkland Hospital in Dallas early today.

He was identified as Ernest Guzman of San Antonio. The two men being sought also are believed to be from San Antonio. The other two occupants of the car were soldiers hitchhiking from Ft. Hood. None was immediately identified.

Officers said Guzman's two companions fled the scene of the shooting in their car, but later wrecked it, and fled once again, this time on foot. They said the two soldiers, who had remained at the scene of the shooting, were taken to the Waxahachie sheriff's office for questioning.

One soldier was later taken to Arlington in an attempt to identify a man arrested while trying to steal a car. Arlington police said the soldier was returned to Waxahachie after he told them the man did not resemble any occupants of the car.

Authorities pressed tracking dogs and a helicopter into the manhunt for the pair at large.

Israeli Jets Hit Egyptian Targets

Break The 'Silence'

(AN EDITORIAL)

Tuesday is Veterans Day.

Once, this was a notable anniversary to the people of this nation, a time when they re-affirmed their loyalties to their beloved country while paying tribute to those who gave the "last full measure of devotion."

At a time when an element threatens the very foundations of a government as we know it and which has stood the tests for 193 years — at such a time, should not the honest, hard-working, God-fearing American stand up for his country?

Later in the week, we shall see the "Moratorium" demonstrators at work. They will, under the best of circumstances, create more devisiveness in a time when the need is for solidarity.

Are there those who wish to stand up in opposite view? Are there those, whom our President has called the "silent majority," who wish to break their silence?

The Herald suggests that the citizens of our community could do this, if they would by simply appearing at the Veterans Day ceremony (hopefully in throngs) as an expression of their stand.

They could fly their flags November 11-15. They could utter personal prayers for a new courage for the people, under God, to stand together.

We would like to think that young people in the High School and in the Junior College would want to have assemblies, not with drama, not with fanfare, but in serious consideration of what the stability of this country means to them and their future. Of course they are concerned about a distant war, as are we all. But they must also be convinced that what is to be done for a solution must be done with honor.

Yes, the people here, very simply, could break this "silence." Their actions would not be on national television, or make headlines in the Eastern press. But we, ourselves, would know that the people of Big Spring, Texas, are not among those who join in disruption of every orderly process of government which, gaining momentum, can mean our destruction.

After Fresh Naval Attack On Land Units

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli planes attacked Egyptian targets Sunday and today in the wake of the first Egyptian naval strike against Israeli land forces since the 1967 war.

The Israeli planes hit military targets on the western shore of the Gulf of Suez today, south of the Suez Canal, and all planes returned safely, a spokesman said.

On Sunday, the Israeli planes attacked along the central section of the canal, and all planes reportedly came back.

There was no report of the damage done in either raid.

AREA ABLAZE

Israel denied that its forces suffered any damage in the naval bombardment Saturday night of an Israeli base in the Sinai Desert 20 miles east of the entrance to the Suez Canal. Newsmen taken to the area found shell fragments and shell marks in the sand but no other evidence of the shelling.

Egyptian military spokesmen reported that "a number of Egyptian destroyers" bombarded an Israeli command post, tanks, artillery, ammunition dumps and troops for about an hour Saturday night and left the area ablaze.

As the ships were sailing away, the Egyptians said, they shot down two Israeli jets trying to attack them.

The Israelis denied that the Egyptian bombardment caused any damage or casualties or that any planes were shot down.

Meanwhile Al Ahram, the semiofficial Cairo newspaper that usually reflects the views of President Gamal Abdel Nasser, rejected the latest U.S. proposal for a peace settlement in the Middle East. It quoted an "official source" as saying: "A first look at the new American proposals shows at once a complete vias in favor of Israel and against the Arabs."

NO DETAILS

Al Ahram gave no details of the plan, which has not been made public, but Egyptian sources have indicated that it proposes a bilateral settlement between Israel and Egypt followed by an attempt to reach agreement between Israel and Jordan.

Egypt has rejected such an approach before. U.S. Assistant Secretary of State Joseph J. Sisco submitted the proposed formula to Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin in Washington Oct. 30.

Arab political military leaders continued a meeting of the joint Arab Defense Council in Cairo to map military strategy against Israel.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad urged the delegates over the weekend to mobilize for "a battle of destiny."

He said there can be no peaceful settlement as long as "Israel is enjoying U.S. financial, political and military support," and he claimed that all American proposals to settle the crisis are designed "to consolidate Israeli agression against the Arabs."

'WALL-TO-WALL'

On the political front, Israeli President Zalman Shazar formally asked Premier Golda Meir to form a new government. She said she would "do all in my power to form a government as broad as possible in composition." This was interpreted to mean another "wall-to-wall" cabinet, taking in all major political parties including the right wing opposition Gahal party.

Rains Hold Up Sunday For Forsan Dedication

By TERRY HOPKINS

Sunday's threatening skies held off a downpour just long enough for the dedication of the new post office building in Forsan; for as the "Amen" of the benediction was pronounced, down came the rains and nearly 30 spectators made a dash for the coffee and cookies inside the post office.

The ceremony lasted about 20 minutes with the main speaker, E. I. Fisher, postal representative from Abilene, commending Forsan residents for the progress they have made in their community to warrant a new building. He said it was built with an eye to the future and would be able to accommodate any expansion in Forsan within the next 20 years.

Superintendent of Schools H. D. Smith was master of ceremonies at the dedication, and he introduced the past postmaster, Mrs. Vera Harris, who served in an annex to her home from 1933-1968; Edward L. Engel, current officer in charge; and Mrs. Nola Story, postmaster at Otis Chalk who will be taking over in Forsan as officer in charge in December.

Engel accepted an American flag from postal representative Fisher, explaining to the visitors that it had been flown over the capitol building in Washington, D.C., and sent by Sen. John Tower. Two Forsan Boy Scouts, Brad Stevens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Stevens, and Steve Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Murphy; and cub scout Gerald Yarbrough, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Yarbrough, raised the flag for the first time over the new Forsan post office.

Frank L. Hardesty, postmaster from Big Spring, also attended the dedication, and he complimented Forsan residents on their new brick-front building which has 144 key-lock type mail boxes.

The building itself is owned by Wallace L. Boult and leased to the federal government as part of the postal department's lease construction program which allows facilities to remain under private ownership, thus reducing the need for large Federal money outlays.

Boult built the post office at a cost of $11,000 on a 35 by 70-foot lot which cost about $400. The building has 768 square feet of work space and has been approved for three employes, although only two are working there now; Engel and Mrs. Alma Rose Murphy, Forsan, post office clerk.

The old post office building, donned in white curtained shrouds Sunday, still belongs to Mrs. Vera Harris. It was opened in 1929 with Mrs. Gladys Arnold as postmaster. Mrs. Harris took over the post in 1933 and served until her retirement in 1968. Mrs. Audry Bardwell was postmaster until April of this year when Engel, from the Big Spring Post Office, took over as officer in charge. Mrs. Story will take over in December when the Otis Chalk post office closes.

ROCKEFELLER

To Outline Latin Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller was called to the White House today to make public his Latin America policy proposals which reportedly include more military aid to fght Communist subversion.

The New York governor reportedly urged the President to set up a "Western Hemisphere Security Council" which would be headquartered outside the United States. It would coordinate efforts to cope with threats of subversion.

The Miami Herald, reporting these key recommendations in its Sunday editions, said the 137-page report is in line with President Nixon's Oct. 31 Latin American policy speech.

Nixon scheduled a meeting with Rockefeller this morning; then the governor was to brief newsmen on the report.

Odessa Children Denied Injunction

PECOS, Tex. (AP) — Three Odessa school children were denied an injunction today which would allow them to skip physical education classes for religious reasons.

U.S. Dist. Judge Ernest Guinn refused their request.

The suit had been brought by Charles W. Hunt and Robert L. Moore, both of Odessa. They said their children "are thrown in with and are placed in the same class with children who are in shorts, bloomers and other abbreviated pants which is contrary to the plaintiff's religious beliefs."

Guinn said the constitutional rights of the children had not been violated and that state laws relating to physical education in public schools is valid and violates no constitutional rights.

He said parents had failed to exhaust administrative remedies under the law.

VETERANS DAY

Residents Are Invited To Tuesday Ceremonies

The community is invited to join with VA Hospital patients and staff Veterans' Day Tuesday, on the hospital lawn to commemorate the World War I armistice and to honor the 38 million veterans living and dead of all wars involving Americans.

Jack Cook, local businessman, who flew the "hump" between India, Burma and China during World War II, will deliver the Veterans' Day address at 10:30 a.m.

Special guest visitors for the day will be George H. O'Brien Jr. and members of the Midland Rufneks professional football team. O'Brien, a Big Spring native, is a recipient of the Congressional Medal of Honor for heroism in the Korean War. He and the Rufneks will visit under a nation-wide program of VIPs to visit patients inaugurated this Veterans' Day.

VIPs — very interested personalities — will visit VIPs — very important patients.

President Richard Nixon and former presidents Harry S. Truman and Lyndon B. Johnson are supporting the program. The VA Hospital here hopes to have many VIPs visit the patients in the near future, said C. E. McDonnell, administration officer at VA Hospital.

The Big Spring High School band, under the direction of Bill Bradley, will play patriotic music, beginning at 10 a.m. Taps will be played by Robert Campbell and Kent Fish. Carl Reynolds will sing "America The Beautful."

Participating in the ceremonies will be Jack Powell, hospital director, serving as master of ceremonies; a color guard from Webb AFB will raise the flag; VA Hospital Chaplain A. G. Hicks will lead the invocation; and Rev. Robert Knutson, part-time VA chaplain, will lead the benediction.

Retiring the colors will be commanders of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans, and World War I Barracks. Taps will be sounded following the traditional moment of silence honoring the

Theater Exec Calls Rating System Flop

WASHINGTON (AP) — The film industry's self-imposed rating system has resulted in a rash of pornographic movies, says the president of the 75-theater Walter Reade Organization.

"This pornography has not gone begging," said Walter Reade Jr. "Exhibitors all over the country, hiding behind the implied shield of the X rating have renounced their personal responsibility for the films they choose and play."

Reade's told the National Association of Theater Owners' board of directors Sunday that the year-old code is a failure.

He said newspapers and radio and television stations have imposed a form of advertising and editorial censorship based on the rating of a film.

"Newspapers all over the country—San Diego, Reno, Oklahoma City, Phoenix, Indianapolis, Miami, in several Illinois towns, to name a few—have decided that X-rated films can no longer be advertised on their pages. In some cases they have also refused any editorial space to these films.

"Now in the past we've run into cases where specific ads or titles were unacceptable but never before this blanket blackball and never before has the ban been extended to cover the news columns as well as the advertising space.

"This, I suggest, is the direct result of the code and rating system that was to save us from censorship," Reade said. "It should also be noted that this ban . . . is practiced by a growing number of TV and radio stations across the country."

The X rating means youngsters—the age limit varies from 16 to 18 depending on the community—are not to be admitted to see a film.

But, said Reade, "we all know how few youngsters get turned away from X pictures. We all know how many times the X has been used to add to, rather than to restrict the potential audience.

"This is not a proud position for we exhibitors to enjoy, considering the many years of service to our communities and the good will we have sought to establish," he said.

Lester Morton Resigns As First Natl. Bank President

Lester W. Morton today announced his resignation as president and a director of the First National Bank. He has asked that this take effect immediately, with formal board acceptance due at a meeting Tuesday.

Morton has been with the local institution since Feb. 1, 1961, coming here from Odessa, and has spent all his business career in banking.

He said he is considering some other positions, and would announce soon his future plans.

NOT EASY

Morton told bank employes today, "this decision to leave First National Bank and Big Spring has not been an easy one to make. I must emphasize that I have enjoyed a fine relationship with officers and directors, am greatly indebted to all the fine people in the bank who have supported me, loyally and faithfully, and certainly my family and I have appreciated the wonderful friendships we have made in Big Spring.

"I am leaving this position with nothing but good will toward all."

CIVIC LEADER

In addition to directing the bank's operations, including the planning and construction of the building occupied in July, 1964, Morton has been a leader in a host of civic and church activities in the city.

Morton started in banking as an employe of the F&M National at Hamlin, his home town. This was after he had completed high school, obtained

In 1956, he moved to Odessa to become president of the American Bank of Commerce, a position he held until coming to Big Spring.

C-C VICE PRESIDENT

Morton's affiliations with civic organizations are numerous. He currently is vice president of the Chamber of Commerce, and has several times been a director and on numerous committees, including the present special priority-program task group.

He was chairman of the United Fund campaign in 1964, was UF president the following year. He has been a member of the Dora Roberts Foundation board of trustees, has been on the board of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, as well as on the YMCA board and on the State Hospital Volunteer Council.

AFA ORGANIZER

He was one of the organizers of the local chapter of the Air Force Association, its first president, and helped bring it to the stature of being named the state's outstanding squadron. He also has been on the Base-Community Council, and active in community-military relations. He has served as a state vice president of the AFA.

Morton is a Big Spring director for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, is serving as a trustee of his alma mater, Hardin-Simmons University.

ACTIVE IN CHURCH

He has ated as treasurer for Howard County Junior College, was a leader in major developments carried on by the Downtown Big Spring development group. He is a director of the Big Spring Country Club.

Morton was married March 15, 1943, to Miss Nita Fielder, and they have two children, Bill and Ann. The family resides at 701 Capri.

Pentagon Getting On Shaky Ground?

WASHINGTON (AP) —Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield says the Pentagon can no longer serve as "a grand patron" of assorted scientific research projects with only tenuous links to national defense.

The Montana Democrat complained that more than $400 million was spent by the Defense Department last year on research with no evident military tie.

Mansfield said if the government wants to finance research on "the life habits of the auk," the proper agency to dole out the funds is the Smithsonian Institution.

"And they couldn't get the funds," he said.

Mansfield sponsored an amendment to clamp down on Pentagon research, and it was one of the few restrictions to survive intact in a compromise bill authorizing $20.7 billion in weapons purchases.

The amendment bans Pentagon spending for research without a direct and apparent relationship to a specific military function.

He warned if the Defense Department does not heed this directive he will move to cut its research budget.

Mansfield said henceforth Pentagon administrators should produce a written justification for every research project.

The Montana senator said if the Defense Department went ahead with the research planned in its initial budget request, it would spend $311 million on "basic research of the kind traditionally carried out in universities," while the National Science Foundation had $277 million to use for similar projects.

"The Defense Department is getting on shaky ground," Mansfield said in an interview. "The days of just asking and receiving are in the past, despite what happened."

What happened was that a compromise version of the bill authorizing defense purchases eased virtually every restriction written in by the Senate, and approved every weapon project the Pentagon sought.

Barnes Calling For Towns To Increase Industry Bids

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and the dean of the Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs are among the speakers today at the 57th annual Texas Municipal League Conference.

Dr. John A. Gronouski, former U. S. postmaster general and now dean of the LBJ School at Austin, was expected to discuss his observations on the new school's implications for municipal government.

In prepared remarks, Barnes called for small cities and towns to increase their efforts to attract industry to alleviate the over-crowded conditions of the cities.

Gov. Preston Smith will address the conference at a luncheon Tuesday.

Other speakers today included Roger Mudd, Columbia Broadcasting System Newscaster.

More than 2,500 city officials and delegates from cities throughout Texas are expected to attend the three-day conference, which opened Sunday.

Operational developments, physicial and social requirements, intergovernmental coordination and financing are among the agenda topics.

About 60 speakers representing the three levels of government, business and education will address the conference.

In remarks prepared for delivery at today's session, Barnes said industry must be attracted to small cities and towns "to avoid an urban disaster in this country."

Cities already are overcrowded and still more people are migrating to them from rural areas, the lieutenant governor said.

In addition to attracting industry to smaller cities, Barnes called for the creation of new cities and towns to handle an expected U.S. population of 300 million by the end of the century.

Even if new cities were built, he said, "we must look to the existing smaller cities and towns to absorb most of this growth and keep it from strangling our big cities."

"The best way to encourage the growth of these smaller cities is through industrial development," he said.

He noted that Texas last year led the nation in attracting new industry.

At least 250 Texas cities and towns have local industrial foundations or development corporations, Barnes said, adding that still more are needed.

"Adequate financing is essential to attract industry, and attracting industry to smaller cities and towns is essential if we are going to avoid an urban disaster in this country," he said.

Witness: "Black shirt, green coat and hat."

Defendant: "What color trousers?"

Witness: "I can't remember."

Defendant: "Does that mean I wasn't wearing any trousers?"

Judge: "No. He said he cannot remember what color trousers you were wearing. If you were not wearing any trousers it is probable he would have remembered that fact."

Tennessee City Facing Trouble

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The atmosphere in this west Tennessee city is tense today as a major confrontation looms between police and civil rights demonstrators.

Negroes say they will conduct a mass march, led by the Rev. Ralph Abernathy, through downtown streets during rush hour.

Police say they will stop it if the blacks try.

Last week, nearly 4,000 Negroes paraded during rush hour to back up demands a black coalition is making on the city school board and a Catholic-operated Memphis hospital.

1969 Cotton Crop Guess For America

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department estimated today the 1969 cotton crop at 10,036,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight each, compared with 10,528,000 forecast in October and 10,948,000 produced last year.

The yield per acre was estimated at 429 pounds, compared with 450 predicted last month and the average of 516 harvested in 1968.

The Crop Reporting Board estimates were made of the basis of field conditions on Nov. 1.

The estimated yield per acre and production, respectively, of major producing states, included:

North Carolina 293 pounds per acre and production 110,000 bales; South Carolina 322 and 200,000; Georgia 298 and 245,000; Tennessee 492 and 410,000; Alabama 383 and 435,000; Missouri 513 and 310,000; Mississippi 534 and 1,325,000; Arkansas 524 and 1,135,000; Louisiana 519 and 465,000; Oklahoma 300 and 275,000; Texas 293 and 2,950,000; New Mexico 523 and 17,000; Arizona 1,068 and 685,000 and California 891 and 1,300,000.

In an accompanying report, the Census Bureau said 5,789,167 running bales of 1969-crop cotton had been ginned prior to Nov. 1, compared with 5,950,021 bales a year earlier.

Officials said the indicated yield of 429 pounds of lint per acre was the smallest since 1957.

Most of the decline of 492,000 bales from the October forecast occurred in west Texas, where an early freeze and continued rainy weather reduced prospects. Additional losses also were reported in California, the board said.

This year's cotton crop estimates have declined nearly 1.75 million bales since Aug. 1 because of the poor growing conditions and reduced yields.

The department has announced an increase of one million acres for the 1970 acreage allotment program in an attempt to rebuild stockpiles and provide a wider selection of cotton for the 1970-71 marketing season.

Jailed In Snyder After Body Found

SNYDER, Tex. (AP)—An 18-year-old AWOL Marine was charged with murder Sunday after he led authorities to the body of a man he told Houston police he killed.

Thomas Wesley Matthews was charged before Justice of the Peace J. P. Billingsley with the murder of Jake Sellers, 70, of Abilene.

Officers in Houston said the youth told them Saturday that he killed Sellers and dumped his body near a rural road between Post and Snyder in West Texas.

Matthews had been held in Houston on a forgery charge, but was taken to the Snyder area Sunday to help officers look for Sellers' body.

After the body was found, Matthews was jailed in Snyder without bond.

Marine Corps officials said Matthews went AWOL from the Olathe Naval Air Station and Automated Service Center in Kansas City last week.

He had been confined to quarters at Olathe pending investigation of theft from the Olathe library.

Matthews told Houston police he sneaked off the base, but returned and stole pistols and a check he later forged.

Officers in Houston said the youth told them he believed he got off a train in Pampa, and being without money, hitchhiked to Lubbock.

They said he told them he caught a ride with Sellers outside Lubbock en route to Abilene Wednesday. When they drove into a range of mountains, the youth asked Sellers to stop so he could take a picture; when they did he allegedly shot Sellers three times with one of several pistols he had taken from the Marine base, police quoted him as saying.

Police said they found a pistol on him. They said he told them after shooting Sellers, he drove the car to a side road, dumped the body, and took Sellers' wallet containing credit cards and $22. He told them he used a credit card to buy some articles from a Sears and Roebuck store in Abilene and then drove toward Corpus Christi, where he arrived early Thursday.

He drove around until daylight and wound up in Robstown, he told police. There he parked the car, wiped his finger prints from it and boarded a bus for Houston, according to his account. The car has been found in Robstown.

Houston police said Matthews told them he arrived in Houston late Thursday, spent Friday looking for work, and on Saturday went to a Sears store and tried to purchase a television set which he planned on pawning.

Sears personnel became suspicious and ran a check on the credit card. They notified police and held him until they arrived.

'They Took Real Good Care Of Me,' Ex-Prisoner Says

SAIGON (AP) — One of the three GIs released by the Viet Cong last week says he would hesitate to fight them again because they treated him well, and the other two say the South Vietnamese army should take over the bulk of the fighting.

"I'd have to think twice" before fighting Viet Cong again, Pfc. Coy R. Tinsley of Cleveland, Tenn., said Sunday. "I was wounded. They took real good care of me."

But under questioning by newsmen, Tinsley said his attitude toward the war had not changed: "Our government thinks it's right—I think it's right."

Tinsley, Spec. 4 Willie A. Watkins of Sumter, S.C., and Spec. 4 James H. Strickland of Dunn, S.C., left Saigon Sunday for Japan. After spending the night at Yokota Air Base, the three 22-year-olds will arrive in the United States Tuesday.

The course is limited to 25, and Roach applied some months ago. The workshop will cover computor application to library operation. At HCJC, the system analysis course of electronic data processing, under the instruction of Dallas Nash II, is presently making a study of the college library and will prepare a paper on a suggested program to transfer the library operation over to computers.

When Roach returns from the five-day seminar, he will apply the recommendations of the study to the local library.

Plead Guilty To DWI Charges

Two persons pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated charges during the weekend, including Jerry Gordon Vincent, 30, Lamesa, who was returned Friday from Dallas on a Howard County warrant by Sheriff's Deputy Sam Roberts. Vincent pleaded guilty Friday afternoon and was fined $50 plus court costs by Judge Lee Porter.

Billy Joe Lindsey, 53, Colorado City, also pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated and was fined $50 plus court costs. He was arrested Wednesday and spent three days in jail before entering his plea in Howard County Court.

Union Negotiators Agree To Extend New Deadline

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Union negotiators agreed to extend the deadline for a strike against Westinghouse Electric Corp. but within hours a walkout and disorder developed today at a plant in Columbus, Ohio.

About 4,000 members of the International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE) left their jobs in Columbus in a dispute over local issues.

Police said men identified as pickets later smashed windows in the plant and burned a security guard's car. A company spokesman said some equipment also was damaged.

Agreement to extend a Sunday midnight strike deadline had been reached Saturday by Westinghouse and all but one of the unions representing 80,000 employes seeking higher wages, pensions and hospitalization benefits.

The executive board of the remaining union, the United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America, agreed Sunday to go along with the others.

Air Filters Aid Patients

In two rooms at the University of Texas-M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute in Houston, 86 per cent of the leukemia patients survive; 62 per cent lead relatively normal lives after treatment. Outside the room, only half the leukemia victims survive; the "normal life" rate drops to 40 per cent.

The difference, doctors believe, is a special air filtration system initially developed for industry by the Bell system.

This system, called "laminar flow," reduces the patient's chances for infection — the killer of more than two-thirds of all victims of leukemia because the disease destroys the white blood cell's ability to combat infection.

Devised by the Sandia Corporation, a subsidiary of Western Electric, the Bell System's manufacturing and supply arm, the filtering systems are mounted at the head of each bed in the cleanrooms which are reserved for patients with leukemia in acute stages.

Air is filtered and distributed in parallel lines across the rooms, up the ceilings and through return ducts in a flow cycle difficult for a visitor to discern.

"I think there is a wide application for this kind of room . . . for patients undergoing extensive surgery . . . for heart transplantation — a field where patients are highly susceptible to infections," said Dr. Gerald Bodey of the hospital's department of developmental therapeutics.

Martin County Farmers Union Elects Officers

LENORAH — Officers were elected at the annual meeting of the Martin County Farmers Union at Grady school Saturday, and delegates were named to the state convention in Abilene Dec. 5-6.

Newell Tate was elected president of the Martin County unit; Charles Hale, vice president; and H. D. Howard, secretary. Directors named were Ronnie Deathridge and Buster Haggard, two-year terms; and Mike Holcomb and Mund McKaskle, one-year terms.

Buster Haggard and H. D. Howard were selected as delegates to the state parley.

Resolutions adopted, and which will be presented to the state meeting, were: Continuation and improvement of the present farm program and make it permanent; opposition to any payment limitations; curtail powers of secretary of agriculture to interpret laws.

The chapter also took note that this is Texas Farmers Union Week in Texas, as proclaimed by Gov. Preston Smith. The Farmers Union is the oldest farmers organization in Texas, having been founded in 1902. It also is rated the fastest growing state affiliate among the National Farmers Union. During this week emphasis will be placed on membership enlistment with an objective of at least 1,000 in the state.

Vandals Set Fire, Ransack Bauer School

Burglars set fire to a janitor's supply room in Bauer School, 108 NW 9th, after ransacking the school sometime late Saturday night and early Sunday morning. Harlan Huibregtse, principal, said the cafeteria was the only room not touched by the burglars, though only two tape recorders were missing.

The miscreants broke several windows in the buildings and rifled desks, machines, lockers, and storage rooms. Police said they apparently entered the main building through an east window, inside the courtyard. No estimate of the damage has been made.

Firemen answered a call to the school at 12:15 a.m. and had the fire in the supply room out within an hour. They said the room was heavily damaged and the contents a complete loss. The fire led to the discovery of the rest of the damage.

Huibregtse said wires leading to six classrooms were severed by the fire, but there was no damage to other rooms. He said everything was cleaned up Sunday, and classes were held this morning as usual.

Rap Of Four Solons Hailed

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—The head of the Southern Baptist Convention's Radio and Television Commission criticized four senators for anti-war observances and received the praise of his superior.

Dr. Paul M. Stevens said Saturday he sent telegrams to the senators, telling them "you reveal weakness and cowardice" in supporting such objectives.

Dr. W. A. Criswell, president of the Southern Baptist Convention, said Sunday he admires the courage of Dr. Stevens.

"He's a very courageous and upright man. I admire his courage and his devotion to the efforts on the part of our President and those who support him for the cause of peace," Dr. Criswell said.

Dr. Stevens said he sent the telegrams to Sens. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark.; George McGovern, D-S.D.; Fred Harris, D-Okla.; and Mike Mansfield, D-Mont.

He said the telegrams read, in part, "If America's problems are too big for you, why don't you go to a country where the problems are your size?"

None of the senators had any immediate replies.

The janitor at the Highland Shopping Center told police burglars stole an undetermined amount of change from a photo machine there. Police found 4-4½ cases of beer missing from the Park Inn, Old San Angelo Highway, after noticing the lock on the door broken.

Two thefts of stereos and tapes from cars parked at HCJC were reported; both thefts occurred more than a week ago. Gary Riddle, Knott, said nine tapes were taken from his car on Oct. 18, and Thomas Land, 605 E. 18th, said his stereo was taken on Nov. 3. Police have since questioned a suspect in the case, and the investigation is continuing.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Readers Find Fault With Movie, TV Offerings

To the Editor:

I am not alone in the feelings I intend expressing in this letter. So many of the movies offered for public viewing are now restricted, or are limited to mature audiences, limits the recreation for our sons and daughters to almost nothing, especially on weekends when most of the youth date. Offerings for this weekend and for the coming week included; one show held over for the third week with the X rating; another rated M. How can our sons and daughters select movies which are decent? What choice is available?

We now have a newly opened theater which could serve the area so well. Please, if you are interested, contact your local theater manager with the earnest plea to make this one show available for entertainment for our young people and for families who prefer attending decent shows. Parents must make this plea; but I am sure the young people of our city will join us.

MRS. ROSS CALLIHAN
Sterling City Route, Box 4

To the Editor:

On one of the late shows this week there were several women from Las Vegas who were almost naked. This is the fault of us adults. How can the young people respect our teachings when we let the very things we teach against come to our homes on television.

The young people today are not bad when they enter the world. They know nothing. They do the things we teach, and the things they see. Are we just going to sit by and let this thing happen?

Traffic Deaths Take Dip To Nine In Texas

By The Associated Press

Violent deaths were considerably fewer in Texas this weekend than in previous weeks. Sixteen were counted dead at midnight Sunday, compared with 46 the weekend before.

Of the 16, nine were traffic fatalities, five were victims of shootings, one was beaten to death and one fatally stabbed.

The Associated Press began its tabulation at 6 p.m. Friday. The dead included these:

Felix C. Garza, 64, was fatally stabbed Friday night in a Corpus Christi bar.

George Lester Adams, 56, was killed when his car and another vehicle collided Friday night on Texas 146 two miles north of Rye.

Mrs. Berly Ann Bryn, 30, was found dead Saturday after her car veered off Spencer Highway near Pasadena and smashed into a culvert. Police quoted a grocer as saying Mrs. Bryn had earlier fainted on the parking lot of his Pasadena store.

A collision of a car and truck in Beaumont Saturday killed Mr. and Mrs. Andrew C. Anderson of Logansport, La. The victims were both in their 70s.

Jerome Jansky, 21, of Houston was shot to death in what officers called a hunting accident early Saturday. Jansky was in a deer stand about 13 miles southeast of Hallettsville.

Mrs. Cecilia Baeza, 29, of El Paso was the victim of a hit-and-run accident in El Paso Saturday. She died after the car she was riding in was struck by another car, police said. They said the driver of the second vehicle, Raymundo Marquez, was captured by an officer after the accident, and again when he tried to escape from a hospital treatment room. He was charged with murder with a motor vehicle in the justice court of Judge Bob Lewis. Antonio A. Baca Jr., 24, who was driving the car in which Mrs. Baeza rode, was in serious condition from the accident.

Arthur Michael Dushane, 44, of Alvin, was killed Saturday when his tractor overturned and pinned him beneath it.

Roy B. Hernandez Jr., 12, of San Antonio was killed in a hunting accident in the canyon lake area north of San Antonio Saturday. Comal County Deputy Sheriff Brinkkoeter said the youth was shot in the head with a rifle.

The battered body of Carrie Auzean Williams, 37, was found Saturday in a car parked on a Beaumont street. Police, who said she was beaten to death, held a man in connection with the incident.

Elijah Jason, 26, was shot to death Friday night by a charge from a 16-gauge shotgun. Police were holding a male suspect.

Eddie Brown Jr., 40, of Houston was killed Saturday night when a car struck him as he ran across a street.

Man Maimed By Grenade

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A 22-year-old man was maimed when he caught a live hand grenade playfully tossed during a party into a crowd gathered round a living room bar, police said.

The grenade, believed to be phosphorus, apparently went off as Irving Foster caught it. Doctors say he lost several fingers and may lose his right hand.

Seven others were hurt in the explosion Sunday night, five of them hospitalized with multiple body burns and eye injuries from sprayed fragments and the chemical.

Witnesses told police they heard the host, Ralph Greenwald call: "Here buddy, catch," just before an explosion rocked the third floor apartment.

Immediately after the blast, police said, Greenwald took Foster and another injured person to the hospital, then disappeared.

He was being sought for questioning.

Vietnam Demonstrations To Focus On U. S. Capital

By The Associated Press

Supporters and opponents of President Nixon's Vietnam policy hold new demonstrations this week in the continuing controversy over the nation's involvement in the war.

A week of activities by groups backing the President will be highlighted by Veterans Day ceremonies Tuesday in Washington. The focus returns to the nation's capital Saturday when critics plan a massive antiwar march and rally.

As signs of support through the week for Nixon's Vietnam policies, administration backers called for participation in parades, burning of car headlights, waving flags and the wearing of buttons that say "I Love America."

'TELL IT TO HANOI'

"Tell It To Hanoi," "Operation Speakout," "Freedom Rally," "Honor America Week" and "National Confidence Week" are among the titles given the pro-administration demonstrations.

Activities by supporters and critics began early. A Veterans Day parade was held Saturday in Midland Park, N.J., a town of 8,000 that has lost eight sons in Vietnam. Police estimated there were 8,000 marchers and 25,000 spectators.

Sponsors of the parade said they wanted to dramatize their support of the President's policies and opposition to antiwar demonstrators.

In Houston, Tex., a "march for peace" covered 36 blocks Sunday. Police estimated there were 900 marchers and put the total attendance at a rally afterward at 1,900.

About 75 of the demonstrators identified themselves as soldiers from Ft. Hood, Tex. Dr. Howard Levy, a former Army physician who was court-martialed for refusing to train Green Beret medics, told the rally, "Mr. Nixon shouldn't worry about being the first president to lose a war—but should be worried about being the first president to lose the Army."

PRAYERS

Prayers were offered in many churches throughout the nation Sunday for the estimated 1,300 American servicemen missing or held captive in Southeast Asia.

President Nixon had declared the day a National Day of Prayer and Concern. He did not attend church services in Key Biscayne, Fla., to join publicly in the observance.

A spokesman for the Washington Cathedral said services there were conducted as usual with "nothing" to commemorate the National Day of Prayer. In Newport News, Va., a prayer program at Todd Stadium drew crowds despite rain.

Today negotiations continue for the route to be followed by the antiwar demonstrators in Washington amid government warnings of violence and assurances from protesters that they plan only peaceful dissent.

Bryce Harlow, counselor to the President, repeated Sunday the government's contention "that there is an active possibility of violence."

SCARE CHARGE

Protest planners denied the predictions of violence. Dr. Benjamin Spock accused the administration of trying to frighten away demonstrators.

"It's perfectly clear that the talk of violence is all coming from the government," Spock said. "The government is trying in every way to intimidate people who are coming to protest against the war. President Nixon is desperately trying to make it appear the American people are behind him when in fact they are not."

The week's first demonstrations in Washington will come from the pro-administration side with two major events on Veterans Day.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, gospel singer Mahalia Jackson and Medal of Honor winner Rodolfo C. Hernandez will headline the official program Tuesday in Arlington National Cemetery.

This will be followed by a rally at Washington Monument being sponsored by the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars. The rally is designed to provide those persons the President called the "silent majority" a chance to show their opposition to the war critics.

'MARCH AGAINST DEATH'

At 6 p.m. Thursday, antiwar group plan to begin a 36-hour "March Against Death" from Arlington National Cemetery to the Capitol with each of the expected 45,000 participants representing an American killed in Vietnam or a Vietnamese village destroyed in the war.

Friday a Youth International Party (Yippie) group will march with Spock to the Justice Department to present petitions demanding an end to the Chicago trial of seven persons on conspiracy charges in connection with disorders at the time of the 1968 Democratic National Convention.

The "March Against Death" will conclude at 10 a.m. Saturday, and a memorial service will mark a transition to the mass march.

The route of that march has been a matter of dispute with the organizers seeking a permit to go down Pennsylvania Avenue past the White House. The Justice Department turned down the request.

The protesters have agreed to settle for a route down Constitution Avenue but government officials say they can't come any closer to the White House than a distant view from the south side.

After the parade, a last major rally will be held on the Washington Monument grounds in sight of the White House. It will feature speeches by Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr. and Dr. George Wald, Nobel Prize winning Harvard biologist.

Entertainment will include performances by cast members of the musical "Hair" drawn from three national companies, comedian Dick Gregory and folk singers Arlo Guthrie, Pete Seeger, and Peter, Paul and Mary.

Pro-administration activities that will take place through the week include "Operation Speakout," sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars. It calls on all citizens to join "in a civic or patriotic program in their communities.

The National Committee for Responsible Patriotism, based in New York, has distributed lapel buttons and bumper stickers reading "Honor America" for its "Honor America Week." It also urges burning car headlights.

One of the first pro—U.S. policy demonstrations to be organized was "National Confidence Week," conceived by Mrs. Barbara Crane, a 44-year-old housewife in Clinton, N.Y.

LIGHT THE LIGHT

Displeased at last month's Moratorium Day antiwar demonstrations, she and her husband and their 18-year-old daughter sent letters across the country urging people to "light the light for America during the week of Nov. 10-17" by keeping porch lights on 24 hours a day, by driving with headlights on and by wearing a sign reading "I Love America."

The Committee for a Week of National Unity, based in Washington, claims comedian Bob Hope as its chairman. Sunday it issued a statement over Hope's name inviting Congress members, governors and more than 500 mayors to join as co-chairmen in observances this week.

The committee said thousands of events are planned for the week with activities beginning today in Charleston, W.Va., Redlands, Calif., and Miami Beach, Fla.

November 10, 1969

Dear Member of the 'Silent Majority':

In his speech Monday night, President Nixon stated he had two choices to end the war in Vietnam. "I can order an immediate precipitate withdrawal of all Americans from Vietnam without regard to the effects of that action, or we can persist in our search for a just peace through a negotiated settlement if possible, or through continued implementation if necessary—a plan in which we will withdraw all our forces from Vietnam on a schedule in accordance with our program, as the South Vietnamese become strong enough to defend their own freedom."

The President chose the second course and the Howard County Republican Party stands firmly behind him in this highly important decision. Therefore, we are asking you to become a united force of the silent majority during "National Confidence Week" scheduled for November 10-16.

Regardless of your method of expression, we urge you to openly exhibit your support by one or more of the following methods:

1. Flying the American flag
2. Wearing a red, white and blue arm band
3. Driving with your headlights on
4. Sending a telegram to the President
5. Participating in Veterans' Day ceremonies
6. Burning your porch light

Let's "Tell It to Hanoi."

Sincerely

Republican Party of Howard County

Light Sleeper Is Locked In

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — Carol Brown, 17, an employe in the cosmetics department of a local store, became ill and decided to lie down in the employes' lounge.

"Everyone kept warning me that I'd better wake up by 9 o'clock but I told them not to worry because I'm a light sleeper," she said.

When Carol awoke, the time was 9:55 p.m. The store was dark and "everything was quiet."

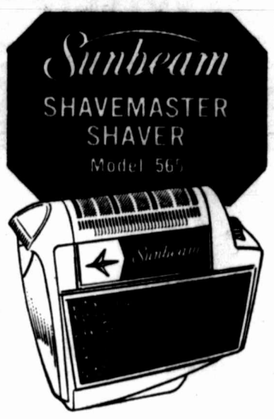

"I ran up and down the aisles screaming for anyone," she said. "I didn't want to spend the night in there!"

Carol called her boyfriend who, with the aid of police and an assistant manager, freed her in about 15 minutes.

THE WOMEN BEHIND THE MEN — These three women will worry most during the 11 days that the Apollo 12 astronauts travel to the moon and back. They are the moon explorers' wives who will wait and watch during the second journey by American astronauts to the lumar surface. From left, they are Barbara Gordon, wife of command module pilot Richard F. Gordon Jr.; Sue Bean, wife of Alan L. Bean, the lunar module pilot; and Jane Conrad, wife of Apollo 12 commander Charles Conrad Jr.

Patrolman Is Gunned During Jail Scuffle

CORSICANA, Tex. (AP) — Highway patrolman Robert Parrish suffered a .22 caliber gunshot wound in the face Sunday night when a scuffle broke out in the Navarro County Jail, officers said.

The incident was reported to have occurred as jailer Frank Chapman put a suspect into a cell on the second floor of the jail. Officers said the patrolman heard noise from the direction of the cell and went to Chapman's aid.

Chapman suffered eye injuries from being hit with an object, and both he and Parrish were in satisfactory condition at a Corsicana hospital according to officials there.

Officer Bobby Owen of the sheriff's office said six Negroes in the cell were apparently attempting escape. He said officers believe the men obtained the gun from a visitor earlier.

Owen said charges were pending an investigation.

Former Midland Police Officer Shot To Death

DALLAS (AP)—Dallas County authorities arrested one man Sunday in connection with the shooting death of an off-duty sheriff, but a second man was still sought in connection with the case.

Sheriff Bill Decker said the man arrested was carrying a pistol of the same caliber as the one used to shoot Larry E. Thompson, 29, of Mesquite Saturday.

Thompson was the lone attendant at a service station on U.S. 80 at the time of the shooting.

Two young boys who were working on their car in the station's garage gave officers the following account of the incident:

Two unidentified men came in and asked Thompson for change for a quarter to buy soft drinks. When Thompson turned to open the cash register, the men shot him. They then fled by car north toward U.S. 67.

Thompson, shot twice in the abdomen, appeared to have followed them as far as the driveway in front of the office where he was found lying.

The boys, who remain unidentified, said they hid behind a half - wall in the garage when they heard shooting. They said they came out when they heard the assailants' burn rubber from their tires in leaving.

Thompson had been a deputy since June of 1966 and was formerly a Midland police officer. He was unarmed when felled at the service station.

Lady Bird Award For Foremen

AUSTIN — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson Saturday established an award to salute the Texas Highway Department maintenance foreman who has done the most outstanding job in highway beautification.

The Lady Bird Johnson Award will consist of a $1,500 cash prize and an appropriate plaque to the foreman who is judged to have contributed most in the preservation and establishment of wild flowers; the preservation, planting and maintenance of highway landscaping and the construction and maintenance of roadside parks and safety rest areas. State Highway Engineer J. C. Dingwall said the Highway Department is deeply grateful to Mrs. Johnson for initiating the award.

Tech Carol Of Lights Dec. 2

LUBBOCK — Workmen have begun installing strings of lights at Texas Tech in preparation for the university's annual Carol of Lights, the traditional ceremony which ushers in Tech's observance of the Christmas season.

"Joy is the Light of the World" will be the theme of this year's program set for 7 p.m. Dec. 2 in the Science Quadrangle, according to Gayle Snure of Midland, general chairman.

The dramatic "flash on" of more than 20,000 colored lights outlining campus buildings and archways will — as in the past — climax the program of Christmas music and songs presented by a massed chorus of dormitory choirs.

VA Again Offers Post Grad Study

The Big Spring VA Hospital is offering again this year a series of post-graduate medical education programs by means of videotape to community physicians, dentists and the hospital staff.

The programs are produced by the California Medical Television Network, under contract with the Veterans Administration, and will span a period of 36 weeks with noted guest lecturers attending and speaking at four of the sessions. The programs are primarily physician and nurse oriented, and the general aim is to provide the physicians and allied health personnel with a broad cross-section of current information with improved patient care being the specific goal.

The first will be presented Thursday, in Room 232 of the VA hospital. Entitled "The Nurse and the Health Continuum," the program stresses the responsibilities of the visiting nurse and the hospital nurse in conditioning and caring for patients before, during and after cardiac surgery.

Community health personnel desiring further information on the education program may contact Dr. H. C. Ernsting, chief of staff or C. E. McDonnell, chief, medical administration service, at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

Astronauts Practicing Emergency Procedures

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —The Apollo 12 astronauts today practice emergency procedures required if they have to abort the attempt to land on the moon.

Charles Conrad Jr. and Alan L. Bean planned to rehearse in the lunar lander trainer vehicle. Richard F. Gordon Jr. was to work in the command ship simulator.

At the launch pad, the countdown moved smoothly toward the scheduled blastoff of a Saturn 5 rocket at 11:22 a.m. EST Friday.

Conrad and Bean are to fly the landing craft they call Intrepid to a touchdown in the moon's Ocean of Storms Nov. 19. They can abort the attempt at any time after they separate from Gordon and the command ship until the moment of touchdown. They also can make a quick takeoff in case something goes wrong after the landing.

The two ships are to undock at an altitude of 65 miles. Intrepid is to land 2 hours and 27 minutes later. The most critical period is the last 12 minutes when the astronauts trigger their descent engine to drop the final 49,200 feet.

Apollo 11, man's first lunar landing, came within 14 seconds of being aborted last July as astronauts Neil A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. hovered 150 feet above the surface, their fuel running dangerously low as they sought a smooth parking spot.

Gordon will be ready to fly a rescue mission if Conrad and Bean have to abort and cannot perform a successful rendezvous.

A five-man medical team examined Conrad, Gordon and Bean for 2½ hours Sunday and pronounced them physically fit.

Dr. Charles Berry, the astronauts' chief physician, reported: "The three crewmen are in good physical condition. They are in excellent spirits and eager to fly."

Oil Trade Group Eyes Pollution

HOUSTON (AP)—Air and water pollution control research projects were expected to receive renewed emphasis today by the American Petroleum Institute.

Directors of the nation's largest petroleum trade group were expected to earmark additional funds for projects aimed particularly at further reduction of pollution caused by automobile emissions.

The directors met preliminary to an afternoon general session opening the institute's golden anniversary meeting. Secy. of the Treasury David M. Kennedy, Gov. Preston Smith of Texas, and Frank N. Ikard, president of the institute, were to speak at the afternoon session.

A year ago the institute appropriated $3 million for 1969 research projects on air and water pollution controls. Almost two-thirds of the amount was pledged for automobile emission research.

A $10 million, three-year automotive research program is being sponsored jointly by the institute, the Automobile Manufacturers Association, and the federal Air Pollution Control Administration.

Ikard, a former Texas congressman, said the financial support from the institute supplements a variety of air and water conservation projects that now are costing the industry more than $1 million a day.

The directors also were to select a successor to Michael L. Haider, the institute's board chairman the past two years. Haider retired Oct. 1 as the chief executive officer of the Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey).

Such problems as taxes and oil import controls are to figure prominently in the general sessions Monday and Tuesday.

"Foremost in our thoughts, however, will be the necessity for maintaining a strong domestic petroleum industry capable of facing the challenges of the years just ahead," Ikard said.

Ikard said both the world's population and the demand for petroleum products are expected to double within the next 30 years.

H-SU Still Has Grad Program

ABILENE — Hardin-Simmons University's graduate program in music has not been discontinued.

"Our master's degree in music is stronger now than it has ever been in the history of the school," commented Dr. Andy J. Patterson, professor of music and chairman of the graduate studies in music at Hardin-Simmons University.

Patterson's comments came following a report in the Dallas News Thursday, saying that the Hardin-Simmons University master's degree program in music had been discontinued.

A Devotion For Today . . .

The eternal God is thy refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms. (Deuteronomy, 33:27)

PRAYER: Dear Lord, bless all nurses, doctors, and orderlies. Grant them that happiness of heart that can smile at difficulties and cheerfully disregard grumpiness and lack of appreciation. Help us this day to relax in body and mind and to have faith that, with Your help, we can cope with any difficulty that the day may bring. Amen.

Where It Seems To Hurt Most

If some catastrophe completely wiped out the Central Texas town of Comanche (population 3,415), the mass burial of these people would rock Texas to its heels.

Or if every person in Corpus Christi (population 202,000) had to go to the hospital for treatment or for a stay of days, weeks or months) sometime during the year, you can bet your bottom dollar Texas would get busy to do something about this.

But this is exactly what is happening to our state each year as a result of automobile mishaps. Last year 3,481 people met death on Texas highways and streets. There were 216,972 who required some medical attention or hospitalization.

This is why the Insurance Information Institute dramatizes this tremendous loss which is accepted year in and year out. And, as the Institute properly points out, this is reflected in rising costs and in rising insurance rates — not to mention personal suffering and loss of loved ones, many of whom were breadwinners or heads of families.

Coupled with this rising list of casualties has been a sharp rise in cost of materials, replacements and in medical services (which alone have gone up 40 per cent in the last decade).

The average property damage claim has grown from $180 four years ago to 233 last year; liability (injury, etc.) claims jumped from $737 average to $846 average in the same period. Perhaps these are the more significant figures, because the average Texan can get wrought up over his insurance where he only looks at casualty statistics and says "tsk, tsk."

Environmental Protection

As the legislative and executive branches of government lag in the effort to preserve the national environment from deterioration through pollution and other marring forces, it seems likely that the courts will take a stronger hand in protecting the public interest.

That historically plausible expectation — note experience in the civil rights movement — motivated what may prove to be a landmark conference of attorneys and conservationists. That was the "Law and the Environment" conference Sept. 11-12 at Warrenton, Va.

The conference urged accelerated progress in all aspects of what is becoming known as environmental law. It suggested an environmental, law center as a national clearinghouse for conservationist legal action, a new national journal in that field, compulsory environmental courses in law schools, and sections or committees in bar associations to deal with that speciality.

One of the major roadblocks to environmental protection is for an aggrieved party to show a justifiable interest to get a case into court. Conservation groups have been aided by a 1965 case, challenging a Federal Power Commission permit for a power plant on the Hudson River that threatened thermal pollution, and a 1967 case, challenging a U.S. Bureau of Public Roads highway location decision. In both federal cases, conservation groups were allowed into court by reason of a valid public interest rather than the usual justification of actual individual damages. It is still extremely difficult for an individual to get into court against a threat to the public environment.

But the law is changing, and probably will change faster and more significantly in the near future.

On Being Rich And Not So Rich

One thing and another:

One pundit says there's not much difference between being rich and not so-rich.

Wealth, he points out, is (1) not making excuses to the paper boy when he comes around to collect; (2) not making the kids split a banana split at the ice cream window; (3) buying more than a $1 worth of gas at one time; (4) letting everyone be his own age at the drive-in theater; (5) using your clothes dryer on sunny days; and (6) two bathrooms.

It also causes one to be called eccentric rather than nutty.

HUMAN BEINGS may reason they can resist the health threat smog offers in metropolitan areas but smog generated in the Los Angeles area is killing nearly 1.3 million trees in a national forest located at least 60 miles away.

The trees are scattered over 161,000 acres in the San Bernardino mountains northeast of Los Angeles. Three per cent of the trees are already dead and 82 per cent of the others have been damaged.

Much of the smog originating in the basin formed by the mountains is trapped there by winds from the Pacific Ocean. In effect, the smog is "suffocating' the trees.

Consumer Irritations Mount

NEW YORK (AP) — After a decade of rising friction between consumers and producers, many of the issues seem to remain unresolved. Irritations have grown deeper and more painful, and many scars have appeared.

Instead of being quieted, consumer complaints seem to have grown louder. And where once the shouts seemed to fall on plugged ears, even whispered complaints now seem to be picked up in Washington. It's good politics.

In the past five years more than 20 important consumer bills have been passed by Congress, including laws on automobile safety, packaging and credit. And more than 100 bills are in the Congressional hopper.

At the White House there is more action. The President has proposed a permanent consumer office there. And he seeks also a new division of consumer protection at the Justice Department.

In fact, the evidence seems to add up to a defeat for business in its quest to handle the problem in its own way. Self-regulation does not appear to be winning in the battle to please the consumer.

One of the major reasons for the friction, ironically, is the growing financial well being of Americans, who once bought to satisfy needs but who now have the funds with which to be choosey. They are discretionary spenders.

This affluence is directly tied to the output of America's enormous production machinery, which puts so many complex products on the market that it has become almost impossible to choose either wisely or easily.

Hal Boyle

The Agony Of Reducing

By ROBERT R. SIDMAN
(Substituting for Hal Boyle)

CHICAGO (AP) — Like many men around the country, I'm overweight. My wife recently decided to take some action about this, so now I'm attending physical fitness classes.

What goes on at those classes is enough to make a man cry—even a man who's 6-6 and weighs 270.

Attendance varies from class to class, but no matter how many show up, my prejudiced view is that one-half of them don't need the workout and the other half, including me, are beyond all human help.

Those who will risk life and limb for these twice-a-week 45-minute sessions begin gathering in the gym up to 15 minutes before the session starts. Most of us stand silently, perhaps praying inwardly that we can make it through the coming torture session. Others stand in small groups, talking quietly.

Then comes our instructor—young, athletic, well-built, a perpetual smile highlighting pearly white teeth. And he starts to run, and run, and run, smiling and joking all the way and never working up a sweat, which absolutely disgusts me.

Now the exercises begin, wave after wave of jumping jacks, pushups, situps, squat thrusts, isometrics, jogging. The heart pounds, the breath comes in gasps and my perpetual question is, "Why can't I become thin overnight?"

Some 45 minutes after the session starts, it comes to a merciful halt. I'm exhausted, gasping for breath, soaking with sweat, and what's left of my hair is going in every imaginable direction.

I sit on the floor and catch my breath and say to myself that in just a few days, I'll do it again. Then I say I should get a mental examination if I do it again. Then I think of my wife and rationalize the 45-minute sessions are easier than facing her ire.

And, as I'm sitting there, a quivering mass of exhausted humanity, every muscle screaming in torture, my instructor starts to get a volley ball game under way.

Volley ball after 45 minutes of this stuff? Good grief, man, you must be crazy. There's a ball game on television and if I hurry, I can shower, dress, drive home and collapse in front of the screen, with a tall, iced (diet) drink in my hand.

That's living.

But that 45-minute session isn't.

Burleson Reports

No Place For Apologists

WASHINGTON — There seems to be good reason to distinguish between critics and apologists. Our system of government would not be what it is if the right of criticism on issues and policy, and of those who make them, were limited in the least.

Apologists are all critics but not all critics are apologists.

There are those in prominent positions in all walks of life, including some members of Congress, publications and organizations, acting as apologists to the world for just about everything our country does, even to the extent of appearing ashamed of its very existence.

WE ARE A divided people on our position in Vietnam. Every opinion carries its legitimacy and respect. It is our right to oppose or support the whole mess in part, or in its entirety, but hardly a right to apologize to the enemies of our fighting men who are there.

It is our right to question our activities in Laos but to have an apologetic attitude toward Red China because of our secrets there is no right at all.

We joined the radicals in the United Nations in condemning Rhodesia for her struggle to run her own affairs. There are the apologists to Russia for our defense preparations.

IT IS NOTABLE, too, that by and large present-day apologists had nothing to say when Russia crashed Hungary in 1956 and more recently when the cries of Czechoslovakia were heard beneath her Soviet oppressor.

Seemingly some of our apologists have a guilt complex because of the strength and power of our nation. Maybe they are somewhat like a great many wealthy liberals who appear to feel guilty because of their plenty in the midst of want. There are cases of those doing what the rich young ruler declined to do but mostly they are for the government doing it for them.

PERHAPS THE MEEK will eventually inherit the earth but a comparison of events in the world could leave one to conclude that only a brutal hard-nosed show of power guarantees safety under prevailing conditions. It was not meant that the meek be vassals and slaves. Neither does it mean that we as a people should, or can be, oblivious in the opinions of neighbors in this small world but to apologize for every action lends encouragement to those who would destroy us.

IN 1816, Stephen Decatur gave a toast at a dinner in Norfolk, Va. "Our Country," he said "in her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be right; but our Country right or wrong!"

In 1847 in debate in the Congress on the great domestic issue of slavery, John Quincy Adams said "And say not thou 'My Country right or wrong' nor shed thy blood for an unhallowed cause."

The difference — foreign and domestic.

This nation has plenty of room to wash our own "dirty linen" without apologizing to those to wrom we have done no wrong.

The Elections–Is There A Trend?

WASHINGTON — What America witnessed in the elections last Tuesday was, in a national sense, not a victory for either the Republican or the Democratic party. The outcome of the contests was influenced largely by local conditions rather than broad issues like the Vietnam war or the draft or the cost of living.

There was, however, a definite trend — a measure of discontent with Democratic incumbents which enabled the Republican party to win the governorships in New Jersey and in Virginia. In each case, the Democrats were divided, and the nominee did not have the normal support of the party.

SEN. HARRISON WILLIAMS, Democrat of New Jersey, said that the results in his state "offer clear evidence of a voter upheaval, running from the smallest village to the largest city," and that "the vote is an unmistakable outcry against burdensome property taxes and city decay."

In the mayoralty elections, especially where Negroes were candidates, there were signs that racial consciousness played a vital part in winning victories for some of the Negro nominees and in bringing defeat to others. But even such a generalization is risky, because there were Negro candidates who had demonsrtated their capability, and many people felt it was desirable to give them support without regard to party or race.

THE MEANING of municipal elections is never easy to relate to national trends because local conditions vary. But the success of Mayor Lindsay in New York City as an independent candidate is significant. He was defeated in the Republican party primary, but received substantial support from both parties. The New York city election, however, was not unlike those which occurred in many of the other cities — local issues prevailed.

THIS WAS NOT a year of congressional elections, so there was no test as to which party has the backing of a majority of the voters today One year hence, however, things will be different, as the contest will be clear-cut between the Republican and the Democratic party in the battle to win a majority in both houses of Congress.

The Republican campaign probably will be based on a plea that the President of the United States deserves to have in Congress a majority from his own party in order to get better coordination than has been the case this year between the two branches of government.

THE AMERICAN people are confronted with many frustrations as a result of the existing situation in Congress. The House passed a so-called "tax reform" bill, and the Senate is making numerous modifications. It is going to be difficult to fix responsibility for the number of perplexing problems which will face the taxpayers next year. Long-range planning will be somewhat impaired, not only for individuals but for businesses.

THE REPUBLICAN party is better organized than it has been in years, and undoubtedly a campaign will be started early to gain a majority in Congress. The administration is bound to play an influential role. Some of the Republicans in Congress who have been consistently fighting the administration are likely to have opposition in the primaries. Nixon supporters on the local level will be exerting every effort to get middle-of-the-road candidates nominated rather than those of leftist or pacifist inclination.

A Number To Dial For Victory

"Here once the imbattled farmer stood,
And fired the shot heard round the world." — Emerson.

WASHINGTON — The Reds, not the redcoats, are coming Nov. 14 and 15, and the New Mobe will try to demoralize the U.S. Government and American community by the mixed revolutionary methods of Attila, Rasputin and Ghandi.

You can say that "everybody" in official Washington knows this, and that "nobody" officially will do much about it unless The Mobe goes Attila and tries to sack this and other cities. In that case the aggressors' violence will beget "brutality" on the part of the defenders.

HOWEVER, if treacherous priests and professors manage to go the Rasputin route and seduce a considerable number of impressionable insiders, we could find some of our academic and local elders taking this outrage lying down. The "non-violent" Ghandi tactics, of course, also go to mesmerized prostitution in public boulevards and buildings, and this could reduce the constabulary and militia to do-nothingness.

SOMETHING can be done, however, and is being done, by the same sort of citizen-activists who stood their ground against the redcoats and earned themselves the monument at Concord, where the Emerson hymn was sung. It's now out of fashion and unlawful for citizens to grab their guns and shoot it out with invaders. But there are other ways that are modish and legal, ruinous and organized.

Dial 202-293-7535 (or 7536). This will get you Headquarters, National Unity Week, 9-16 November, 1969. General inquiries will be answered by the girl-volunteers. Special questions will be swtichboarded to one of five regional directors on the upper floor of Headquarters, 1721 De Sales Street, N.W., Washington, D.C.

YOU WILL BE joining a mighty company of defenders. Bob Hope, National Unity Week chairman, is general-in-chief of the largest citizen-army ever assembled for street battles. The units will include the clubs of Rotary, Elks and Kiwanis, Boy Scouts of America and Sons of the American Revolution, Jewish War Veterans and United Jewish Appeal, leadership groups of the Democratic and Republican National Committees, chapters from youth, nationalities, racial and university organizations, and others which are being registered too fast to catalogue here.

VETERANS DAY, Nov. 11, will fall during Unity Week. So does the scheduled launch of Apollo Twelve on Nov. 14. Both these events will be celebrated by flying the flag, ringing the church bells, driving with headlights on, telegraphing support to President Nixon, holding ceremonies.

The battle joins on Nov. 15 and 15 when The New Mobe hits the streets under acknowledged Communists, radicals of the SDS — called weatherman — members of the Chicago eight, clerics a la Rasputin and civil disobedients in the Ghandi mode.

IN HANOI, in Peking, in Moscow, the Reds have planned to defeat the United States in our home cities. But the opportunity now offers for a victory which we could hail for a century to come.

Billy Graham

Have I sinned because I said things against the Bible? F.S.

The Apostle Paul, in his zeal for his faith, was even responsible for the death of Christians, and yet, not only was he forgiven but he became the greatest Christian writer and missionary the church has ever known. The Bible is the written Word, Christ is the living Word. We may sin against both, and often do, but true repentance brings sure forgiveness. It has been the experience of tens of thousands of people that once they ignored, resented, or even hated the Bible; but after they accepted Christ as Savior, they found the reading and studying of His Word as the most enlightening and delightful experience of daily life. When you read it there will be many places which you do not understand, others which seem hard to explain, but, as time goes on its meaning becomes clearer and clearer and the difficulties disappear and new truths appear each day. With the Psalmist you will say: "I have chosen the way of truth: They judgments have I laid before me."

To Your Good Health

That Desperate Cry For Help

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My sister has been in a state of depression over the loss of a child. I don't think she wants to harm herself actually, but she did take about 30 grains of phenobarb with about six ounces of whisky two weeks ago, which we discovered quickly, as I'm sure she meant us to do.

I tried to stop her husband from calling an ambulance. I'm almost positive that black coffee and keeping her awake would have sufficed.

Now the fact that the neighbors know about this has put her deeper into herself, and I think she should have some kind of help now.

Her husband is angry with me for not wanting to get help when she did this. Was I wrong? What would you advise that we do now? — M.B.

Yes, I think you were wrong. It used to be believed that suicidal attempts which could be readily detected were undertaken to gain attention and were not serious.

This attitude — on the basis of a great deal of intensive study — has changed.

One book very highly regarded by experts is vividly titled "The Cry for Help!" (edited by Norman L. Farberow and Edwin S. Shneidman). That is what a suicide attempt usually is — a desperate means of saying, "Won't somebody help me in my misery?"

The potential suicide isn't likely to know just what kind of help he (or she) needs. Otherwise he would go get it. He knows only that life is flat and hopeless to him.

It is true that many suicidal attempts are contrived to make it probable that they will be quickly discovered. Why not? Why cry for help unless you expect the cry to be heard?

But implicit in these same attempts is an overtown which says, "But if I don't get help, I'm willing to take the chance of dying."

Another thing has been learned: that a suicide attempt which fails, perhaps fails intentionally, does not mean that subsequent attempts will not be made, nor that they will not succeed.

If the first "cry for help" brings no response, the subsequent "cries" may be repeated, but more loudly — that is, more dangerously. And then — death.

Your sister's cry for help has been heard, but there has been no response. She needs prompt psychiatric care. See that she gets it.

As to calling the ambulance, that is what I would have done. You may feel "almost positive" that black coffee and wakefulness would have brought her around. Perhaps so.

But can you ever be "almost positive" that a person hasn't taken more than you thought? Or be unusually sensitive to it? Or have taken something else besides?

* * *

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I drink bottled water because I like it, not under any doctor's orders. Many people tell me to drink spring water instead because it has minerals in it and the distilled water does not. Would you explain the difference? — Mrs. H.B.

Minerals in water usually are not the kind that can be absorbed readily by the body, so for the average healthy person it doesn't make any difference which you drink. Use whichever you prefer.

* * *

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have heard that exercise before one has completed a reducing diet is bad because it builds muscle on top of the fat. If this is so, why would fat under the muscle be harder to lose that fat above muscle? — A.J.

That evidently is a theory dreamed up by somebody who didn't know the facts, because the basic premise is not so. Fat layers are outside the muscles.

* * *

You can lose weight if you really want to! Dr. Thosteson's booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing," tells you how — naturally and with no gimmicks — to the level best suited to your individual needs. For a copy, write to Dr. Thosteson, care of The Herald, enclosing 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

What Others Say

After reviewing the charges of improper financial conduct that have been leveled against Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., nominated to the Supreme Court by President Nixon, the American Bar Association's committee on the federal judiciary has stuck by its earlier endorsement of Mr. Haynsworth.

Although its earlier unanimous approval has now become approval by a substantial but undisclosed majority, the ABA reaffirmation is really important only in that it probably keeps the Haynsworth nomination alive.

Republican Sen. Robert Griffin, a Haynsworth critic, is at least correct in pointing out that "the Constitution calls for the advice and consent of the Senate, not the American Bar Association."

Such appointments far transcend the interests of professional groups in the field involved. The latter, while their advice is helpful, surely have some small conflict of interest.

Miss Teenage America Competition Under Way

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Girl watchers in downtown Fort Worth shouldn't have any trouble locating their delight this week. The city has made it easy by laying 35 square yards of red carpet upon which 45 of the lovliest young girls in the nation will tred from their hotel to the Tarrant County Convention Center where one of them will become Miss Teenage America Saturday night.

The girls, ages 13 to 17, will be judged throughout the week on intelligence, talent, poise and appearance—and one of them will be the lucky recipient of a $10,000 four-year college scholarship for portraying the most capacity in those categories.

The winner also receives shares of stock in Dr. Pepper Co., pageant sponsor, a complete wardrobe of fashions and a year of travel throughout the country.

All have the privilege of spending the week with current singing star Oliver, dancer Bobby Van and television personalities Dick Clark and Marilyn Van Derbur.

The celebrities are on hand for rehearsals leading up to Saturday night's finale which will be telecast live and in color over CBS at 9 p.m. Miss Teenage America 1969, Melissa Babish of Cuddy, Pa., will relinquish her title at that time.

The contestants are all celebrities in their own right and are being so treated by Texans hosting the event. They were transported from the airport to downtown Fort Worth via stagecoach and surrey upon their arrival, and were honored at a ranch party and horse show at the Rex Cauble Ranch near Denton Sunday.

Chess Helps Kids

CHICAGO (AP) — Chess, as a game, is for youngsters and oldsters alike.

A manufacturer says it has been used in many elementary schools not only to teach arithmetic, but drawing, spelling, history and early social science.

A child between four and eight years old is ready to learn to play chess.

The game, which once required 150 to 200 moves, now can be played in about 60 moves. It helps to lengthen the child's attention span through concentration as well as develop perception through move relationships.

Nixon Gets Annual Physical Checkup

WASHINGTON (AP) — Back in Washington after his most restful vacation since summer, President Nixon gets his annual physical checkup today.

A two-hour, head-to-toe examination was set at the Naval Medical Center in suburban Bethesda, Md.

The brief visit to the sprawling hospital was described as routine and Nixon was said to be "in good spirits and good health."

The President returned to the White House late Sunday after a long weekend in Florida and the Bahamas. From all accounts, Nixon kept official business to a minimum during the holiday that began Thursday evening.

Three key Cabinet members —Secretary of State William P. Rogers, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird and Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell—spent the weekend at a hotel near Nixon's waterfront bungalow in Key Biscayne, Fla.

The White House had announced in advance they were on hand to confer with the chief executive on Vietnam and the Strategic Arms Limitation talks with the Soviets, which begin Nov. 17 in Helsinki. They did some conferring among themselves but did not meet with Nixon in Florida.

The President and the Cabinet members finally talked during the flight back to Washington aboard Air Force One.

Sunday was designated by Nixon as a national day of prayer and concern for American servicemen held as prisoners of war by the North Vietnamese. The President did not attend church services, however.

Nixon will return to Florida Friday to witness the launch of the Apollo 12 moonship at Cape Kennedy. That will come in the middle of three days of planned antiwar demonstrations in Washington and across the country.

The big Washington demonstration is scheduled for Saturday and Nixon's plans for the day have not yet been announced.

It seemed likely he would be absent from the White House then, spending the day either at his Camp David retreat in Maryland's Catoctin Mountains or returning for a second weekend at Key Biscayne.

Vikings Romp Over Cleveland, 51-3

By The Associated Press

An emotional binge—helped along by Joe Kapp and Gene Washington—sent the Minnesota Vikings storming to a 51-3 romp over the Cleveland Browns in a match-up of National Football League Century and Central division leaders Sunday.

The Browns, of course, know all about these emotional things. They enjoyed one of their own last Sunday when they ran over the Dallas Cowboys 42-10.

Coach Blanton Collier can only hope that Cleveland bounces back as well as the Cowboys did. Dallas showed little effect Sunday of last week's Browns binge. The Cowboys knocked off New Orleans 33-17 to remain comfortably in front of the NFL's Capitol Division.

In other NFL games Sunday, St. Louis walloped New York 42-17, Philadelphia and Washington battled to a 28-28 tie, Los Angeles ripped San Francisco 41-30, Detroit took Atlanta 27-21, Baltimore dumped Green Bay 14-6 and Chicago defeated Pittsburgh 38-7.

Kapp and Washington teamed for three touchdown passes—one of them on a play changed at the line of scrimmage which surprised not only the Browns, but the Vikings as well. Kapp finished with 116 completions in 24 attempts for 223 yards.

Kapp capped a sensational first half performance with his third TD pass to Washington—a one-yard scoring flip which only the quarterback and his wide receiver knew was coming.

There were 16 seconds left in the half and the Browns threw an 11-man rush-line at Kapp. The quarterback looked over to Washington, who was flanked wide, waved to let him in on the plan and hit him easily.

The Viking signal caller didn't bother alerting the rest of his offensive unit but it hardly mattered.

The Packers fell two games off Minnesota's pace when they were beaten by undermanned Baltimore.

Chicago had to make adjustments, too. For the first time all season, the Bears won and found themselves for the first time with the pleasant problem of giving out game balls.

Gale Sayers scored a pair of TDs and carried 28 times for 112 yards—his third straight 100-yard game. Rookie quarterback Bob Douglass passed for two scores and completed nine of 16 for 123 yards.

Dallas tagged New Orleans in a game marked by a couple of squabbles involving Calvin Hill, the Cowboys' prized rookie running back.

Hill punched one Saint lineman after being tackled, threw the ball at another and then engaged in a pushing match with linebacker Les Kelley in the runway leading to the dressing room after the game.

"I got excited and lost my poise," said Hill. "I think I was just a little too high for the game." Hill's tackle-shattering runs produced 109 yards in 13 carries and Craig Morton completed 13 passes for 292 yards.

Johnny Roland scored three touchdowns and combined with Cid Edwards to shred New York's running defense and lead the Cardinals past the Giants. Roland gained 86 yards and Edwards 76 before both left the game with slight injuries in the third period.

A pass interference penalty in the final minute set up Philadelphia's tying TD as the Eagles battled Washington to a standoff. Mike Bass was saddled with the infraction when he went up against the Eagles' Ben Hawkins for the pass.

That set the Eagles up on the Redskins' one-yard line and quarterback's Norm Snead went in on the next play.

Detroit scored 17 points in the second period including one TD on a 96-yard kickoff return by Bobby Williams to whip Atlanta.

Unbeaten Los Angeles stung San Francisco on a 93-yard scoring pass from Roman Gabriel to Wendell Tucker on the first play from scrimmage then held off a furious 49er rally in the fourth quarter to gain their eighth straight.

Jets Struggle To Hang Up Seventh Win

By The Associated Press

What's wrong with the New York Jets?

"Not a thing," replied quarterback Joe Namath. "We're 7-2, aren't we?"

True, Sunday's 16-6 conquest of Buffalo was a club-record sixth straight triumph for the New Yorkers, boosting them into a comfortable 2½-game lead in the American Football League's Eastern Division.

But, in five of those victories, the Jets didn't even display a shadow of last year's explosive ability that carried them to the Super Bowl championship. And, in their last four triumphs, the Jets really weren't assured of victory until the closing minutes.

Meanwhile, while the Jets were struggling to hand the Bills their seventh loss in nine games, Kansas City maintained its half-game edge in the Western Division by dumping San Diego 27-3; second-place Oakland ripped Denver 41-10; Cincinnati tied Houston 31-31 on Horse Muhlmann's 18-yard field goal with 22 seconds left, and Miami nipped Boston 17-16.

The Bills' super-rookie, O. J. Simpson, who picked up 70 yards in 14 carries, had a three-yard first period TD called back because he was in motion before the snap. Bruce Alford's 13-yard field goal try then was blocked by Paul Crane.

Halfback Warren McVea surprised San Diego with a left-handed 50-yard scoring strike to Frank Pitts in the third quarter, then scored on a two-yard plunge early in the final period to break open a tight game as the Chiefs, 8-1, all but eliminated San Diego, 4-5, from the Western Division race.

Daryle Lamonica and Fred Biletnikoff teamed up for three touchdown passes—covering 52 28 and 15 yards—as Oakland turned back Denver to raise its record to 7-1-1.

It gave Lamonica a league-leading 25 touchdown tosses this season, while Biletnikoff's catches gave him 10 for the year, also tops in the AFL.

Cincinnati's sensational quarterback, Greg Cook, fired four touchdown passes, then guided the Bengals 69 yards in 10 plays to set up Muhlmann's tying boot.

Don Trull, making his first start at quarterback for the Oilers, fired TD passes of 34 and 38 yards to Jim Beirne and ran one and four yards for two more in the offensive battle.

Larry Csonka's 54-yard touchdown run with 2½ minutes left and Karl Kremser's conversion earned Miami a rain-soaked victory over Boston when a Patriots' two-point conversion attempt failed in the last minute.

Crampton Finally Puts It All Together Again

HONOLULU (AP)—It was a long, tough struggle for Bruce Crampton, five years of frustration that came to an end with his victory in the $125,000 Hawaiian Open Golf Tournament.

"It's been a long time since I've been here, in the winner's circle," the 34-year-old Australian said after a four-stroke victory over Jack Nicklaus for the top prize Sunday.

"It's been such a long time. I had a good year in 1965, won three tournaments. But I have not won since the passing of my father, very suddenly, late that year.

"It's been a long, hard thing to do to get things glued back together."

But Crampton, a tour regular since 1957, had it all glued together Sunday. He had come from eight strokes off the pace to establish a one-stroke lead over Nicklaus at the end of three rounds Saturday.

Then he birdied his first two and won it going away. It really wasn't close. Bruce had a final 67, five under par on the 7,020 yard, par 72 Waialae Country Club course, and finished with a 274 total.

Nicklaus closed with a 70—never really getting untracked—and finished second at 278. He was followed by rookie John Schroeder and Chi Chi Rodriguez, tied at 280, with Jack McGowan and Tom Weiskopf at 281.

Crampton, who pushed his earnings for the year to $118,527, hadn't won an official tour event since the 500 Festival in Indianapolis and has finished second six times in the last two years.

Crampton, who now lives in Dallas, birdied the par five opening hole when he reached the green in two and then pitched to within five feet and canned the putt on the next hole.

He took his only bogey when he missed the green on the fifth hole, but got it back with another bird on the ninth, another par five that he two-putted.

He chipped to within three feet on the 13th, put it out of reach with a 14 - foot putt on the next hole and iced it all when he put a four iron shot two feet from the pin on the 16th.

"I just didn't play very well," said Nicklaus, winner of his last two starts. He had only two birds, both on par fives. But big Jack pushed his season's earnings to $136,867, third on the money list.

Lee Trevino, the 1968 Hawaiian Open champion, had a final 71 and was one of several at 283. Arnold Palmer closed with a 73 and was far back at 286.

DALLAS WINS 33-17

Calvin Embroiled In Game Flareups

DDALAS, Tex., (AP) — Calvin Hill is a divinity student when he isn't making touchdowns for the Dallas Cowboys, but the New Orleans Saints discovered Sunday the rugged Yale rookie won't turn the other cheek if he feels he's getting slapped around.

The 6-foot-4, 227-pound Hill rambled 30 yards for a touchdown, set up another with a 55-yard romp, and kept his National Football League rushing leadership with 109 yards in 13 carries as Dallas rebounded with a 33-17 victory.

Hill also was embroiled in several flareups with the fiesty Saints who seemed to be testing him, including a post-game run-in with New Orleans linebacker Les Kelley in the tunnel leading to the dressing room after the game.

It all started at the end of Hill's 55-yard gallop in the third period when a Saint piled on, knocking Hill out of the game briefly. Danny Reeves' dashed seven yards for a touchdown to give Dallas a 23-17 lead.

In the fourth period, Hill drew a 15-yard penalty for punching one of the Saints after being tackled.

"I'm not sorry for that," Hill said. "He (the Saint lineman) started saying something and I got excited and lost my poise. I just thought some of the things they were saying were too much and I got ticked off."

Hill later scored on a four-yard burst that was called back by a penalty. He threw the ball back at Elijah Nevetts.

Hill said "I was sorry about that. . .a player shouldn't do those things."

That's exactly what Kelley thought because after the game he came up and shoved Hill. And Hill retaliated with a hard shove of his own. It ended there.

"I think I was just a little too high for the game," Hill said. "I just . . . Oh, I'm not going to say anymore about it. We played a great game and I'm glad we won."

The win gave Dallas a capitol Division record of 7-1, putting the 'Pokes two games ahead of Washington which is 4-2-2. It came a week after Dallas was humiliated 42-10 by Cleveland. New Orleans is 1-7.

Dallas quarterback Craig Morton threw touchdown passes of 23 yards to Bob Hayes and 16 yards to tight end Mike Ditka to offset scoring shots of 14 and 17 yards from Bill Kilmer to Dave Abramowicz.

The Cowboys suffered a blow when All-pro offensive tackle Ralph Neely suffered what was later described as "hyper-extension of the right knee."

Neely escaped ligament damage and doctors said he may miss next week's game with Washington.

AS ACC HALFBACK IN 1961
Coach Bill Bryant

Coach Bill Bryant Still Noted For His Quickness

Editor's Note: Big Spring Mayor Arnold Marshall has proclaimed this to be Coaches' Week. One of the men who has done so much to promote athletics locally is herewith profiled:

In the Big Spring coaching fraternity, they say that Bill Bryant is still the fastest individual — be he man or boy — in camp.

Bryant now coaches the defensive secondary on the varsity squad and has made a tremendous contribution toward the Steers' success. Much of the team's improvement can be attributed to an improved defense.

Born in Temple, Bryant was a brilliant back in high school, in freshman ball at Texas A&M, at Sul Ross for one season and ultimately at Abilene Christian College.

He played for two district winners at Temple and captained the team his senior year. Bill was all-district there two straight years and was named to the Super Cen-Tex team. He gained 103 yards rushing the ball in one game against rugged Cleburne.

Bryant was a starter for two seasons at ACC and captained the Wildcats his senior year.

He coached at Winters, Levelland, Vidor and Elgin prior to coming to Big Spring. At Elgin, he was head coach.

The speedy Bryant was also a baseball star, having been named to all-district twice as a catcher while in high school.

The Bryant family makes its home here at 1740 Purdue. He is married to the former Joyce Farley, one-time Temple cheerleader who was crowned Queen of Sports while in high school. They have three children.

Frogs End Tech's SWC Title Hopes

By The Associated Press

Texas Christian with its quarterback named Judy, flanker Linzy Cole and a healthy Norman Bulaich, has disposed of Texas Tech's Southwest Conference dreams and now its on to a bigger game—Texas, the SWC co-leader and No. 2 ranked team in the nation.

TCU's sterling 35-26 victory over Tech Saturday gave an added measure of respect to the Horned Frogs and casts them as more than just another slaughter victim for the Longhorns in this week's match at Austin.

Tech's defeat dropped the Raiders to a 3-2 SWC standing and axed their league hopes. Arkansas and Texas have perfect 4-0 standards.

The Frogs' sophomore quarterback Steve Judy, Cole and Bulaich — apparently by his mere presence — made the big difference.

"With 'Boo in there," says offensive guard James Ray, "you know if there's no hole, he'll make one." Bulaich, out most of the season with an injury, rushed 62 yards in 13 carries in playing about half the game.

Cole contributed two trailblazing runs to spark the Frogs. He took the game's opening kickoff and raced 66 yards down the left sideline to set up TCU's first score, which Cole made on an 11-yard pass from Judy.

In the second quarter Cole took a Tech punt back 81 yards for another touchdown, using the same path as his 66-yard burst down the left sideline.

Texas' monstrous offense pushed forth with five touchdowns in the first 21½ minutes of play and most of the regulars had retired by halftime with with a 42-7 lead.

"Texas, without doubt, is the finest offensive football team we've faced this year," Baylor head coach Bil lBeall said. "Their overall backfield is probably the best in the nation."

C-City Is Winner

LUBBOCK — Colorado City upset the Lubbock Dunbar Panthers here Saturday night, 6-3.

Ship Maines scored the lone touchdown of the game on a one-yard run in the third. Dunbar had fumbled on the 21 and Alfred Guerrero recovered it for Colorado City.

R. B. Young kicked a field goal for Dunbar in the second.

Colorado City plays Estacado at home Friday. A win there would send the Wolves into the zone playoffs in 3-AAA.

Forsan QB Club Meets Tonight

The Forsan Quarterback Club has two formidable matters before it at the 7:30 p.m. meeting today in the school gym.

The first will be the film of the game with Bronte, in which the Buffaloes were finally overpowered. The other will be a report on the upcoming Friday game with Jim Ned. Coach Don Stevens watched Jim Ned wallop Loraine 55-0 Saturday. Where Bronte used some finesse, Jim Ned just bulls it over, he said.

MIDLAND — Wichita Falls High School toyed with Midland Lee here Saturday night, winning by a score of 49-0.

WHOA THERE!—Perry Gillespie, Sands end, grabbed a pass and took off Saturday night against Jayton. He had help coming up from Kelly Gaskins (62), guard, but alas, Ricky Hull (36) of Jayton got there first, then had help in hauling in Gillespie.

ACKERLY — Sands carried the fight to Jayton for a half but lost its annual Homecoming game here Saturday night before a full house, 33-6.

Martin Garcia scored on an off tackle play for the Jaybirds in the opening period, going 18 yards

In the second, Garcia broke loose again for 28 yards and a score and Kim Nichols kicked the PAT.

Late in the periods, Sands advanced to Jayton's 11 on passes by Steve Herm but had one picked off by Jayton.

Jayton iced the decision with three touchdowns in the third. The first came on a two-yard plunge by Ricky Hall, after which Nichols booted the PAT.

Sands then fumbled deep in its own territory and Garcia scored shortly thereafter on a three-yard jaunt. Nichols again kicked the PAT.

Tommy Davis counted the Jaybirds' final touchdown on a two-yard run.

Sands waited until the fourth to score and took to the air ways to do it, Herm hurling to Robert Herren. The play covered four yards.

On offense, Steve Herren, Ricky Oaks, Kerry Lewellen, Ronnie Oaks and Perry Gillespie were outstanding for Sands while Kelly Gaskins, Randy Clemens, Reggi Hambrick, Felix Robles, Paul Hopper and Marcy Robles impressed on defense.

Shara Dee Hambrick was crowned Football Sweetheart at half time while Caroline Mahanney was recognized as Homecoming Queen.

Brown Orders A Field Goal

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Coach Paul Brown of the Cincinnati Bengals says he ordered his team to go for a game-tying field goal in the final seconds against Houston because "our guys deserved a tie."

The Bengals tied the favored oilers 31-31 Sunday in an American Football League game in the Astrodome when Horst Muhlmann kicked an 18-yard field goal with only 22 seconds remaining.

Brown ordered the field goal team on the field after Cincinnati's drive reached the Houston 11-yard line and the Bengals faced fourth down with five yards to go for a first.

Some three minutes earlier Houston had taken the lead 31-28 on Roy Gerela's 50-yard field goal.

The two late field goals to a degree overshadowed a great performance by quarterbacks Greg Cook of Cincinnati and Don Trull of Houston and several fine receivers, particularly Bob Trumpy and Eric Crabtree of the Bengals and Jim Beirne of the Oilers.

San Antonio Is Western Champ

SAN ANTONIO — The San Antonio Toros won the Texas Conference Western division crown by defeating the West Texas Rufneks, 42-20, here Saturday night.

The success was the seventh in 10 league starts for San Antonio. The Rufneks are 6-4, with one game still to play.

Jacob Henry returned a punt 77 yards for a score for the Toros. A pass from Sal Olivas to R. A. Johnson also went for a score, the play covering 74 yards.

The Rufneks could make only 40 yards rushing and just 130 yards in the air.

Steers Fatten Statistics At Expense Of Abilene

The Big Spring Steers, riding the crest of an inspired performance against the Abilene Eagles, fattened their statistical margin last week. With a lead of almost 600 yards gained, they have clinched an advantage over opponents for the season. They lack just 16 yards having a 600-yard bulge in rushing, and are only 27 below the combined enemy in passing. They have grabbed off more enemy passes than they have lost, but they also have fumbled the ball away one more time than the opposition. The punting margin, once considerable, shrunk to half a yard on the average.

Here's the way it stacks up:

SKYLINES OF TEXAS—1

Houston Soaring Up, Up And Out

Editor's Note: One thing you can be sure about is that the skylines of Texas cities never retain the same look very long. What is the look now compared with 10 years ago? An inspection of five of the cities shows what is taking place. Today Houston, tomorrow San Antonio.

HOUSTON (AP) — The late Jesse H. Jones, who built one Houston skyline through his faith that the community had an unlimited growth potential, would be proud of the view a decade or so after his death.

That skyline has changed dramatically and a downtown construction boom that could break the billion dollar mark is under way.

Additionally, hundreds of millions are being invested in projects in outlying areas in all directions.

PLENTY OF ROOM

The $56 million Astrodome and its adjacent Astrohall, Astroworld and motel-hotel complex dominate the deep south side.

Between the Astrodomain and downtown, the $150 million Texas Medical Center and a maze of office buildings and high-rise apartments continue to mushroom in an area where the 18-story Shamrock Hotel stood out like a sore thumb 20 years ago. St. Luke's Episcopal and Texas Children's Hospitals are building a 27-story tower to boost their combined bed capacity from 400 to 1,063.

The Magic Circle Southwest of the business district includes the $100 million Greenway Plaza and the $30 million Post Oak Galleria projects with sky-scraper office facilities.

Skyscrapers also are emerging in Smith Office Park, Office City, Brookhollow Business Park, and Executive Plaza.

Investors still have plenty of room in which to expand.

The Manned Spacecraft Center prompted mushroom activity 26 miles to the east of the central business district and the new $100 million Houston Intercontinental Airport 26 miles to the north is expected to swing new activity in that direction.

JUST THE START

But the heart of the construction boom, unlike many other major cities, is downtown where the 43-story Humble Building soon will have a companion that will be a bit taller.

Under construction are the 50-story Shell building, a companion 29-story office structure, and a 22-story home for the Cullen Center Bank & Trust. Plans for the 37-story Southwest Plaza are being finalized.

And this is just the start of the boom.

Plans for two office structures and a hotel—all three in the 30-story range—are being developed in a $125 to $150 million joint project by the Houston National Co. and a Prudential Insurance Co. of America subsidiary.

And a long rumored office-hotel - apartment - retail complex that could approach $500 million began emerging into reality with the recent court confirmation that Dallas and Atlanta investment builders had acquired a 10-block downtown tract.

The 10 blocks cover 18 acres on the business district's southwest edge, just to the north of Cullen Center, a long range six-block project that already has a hotel and office skyscraper.

The downtown boom has prompted Mayor Louie Welch to initiate a comprehensive study plan for public improvements, transportation, underground walkways and underground parking for the area.

The last such study, in 1961, concentrated on Civic Center, which since then has received the $11 million Albert Thomas Convention Center, the $6 million Jesse H. Jones Hall for the Performing Arts and the $4 million Alley Theatre.

NO FEAR

"When that study was conducted, we didn't know how the rest of the central business district would go," Welch said. "Now the patterns are beginning to emerge."

Oil companies have paced the scramble for prime office space. Humble, Texaco, Gulf, Shell and Continental, among others, have or are concentrating more and more of their operational controls in Houston.

There is no fear of over-building.

A recent survey indicates the average occupancy in major buildings is 94 per cent with an annual absorption rate in excess of 600,000 square feet.

The central business district now has 15 million square feet of prime office space compared to 10 million at the start of the decade. Another 6 million is to be added by the mid-1970s.

Exclusive of the Space Center area where the occupancy rate is in excess of 96 per cent, the outlying areas have 9.5 million square feet of prime space.

The 50-story, 850-foot One Shell Plaza is the tallest structure being built at the moment but Gerald D. Hines, one of the largest participants in the current boom, believes taller structures will follow.

100 FLOORS?

Hines' current projects include than 100 buildings in Houston. He turned to the investment building field after having controlled more than 30 office and warehouse combinations.

Hines current projects include the $90 million One Shell Plaza and the 29-story Two Shell Plaza combination and the $30 million Galleria Post Oak where he is adding a 21-story hotel to a complex that already includes a $10 million Neiman - Marcus store and a fully occupied 23-story office structure.

One Shell Plaza has been earmarked as the world's tallest reinforced concrete building. It also is being built on a reinforced concrete "flotation foundation" which Hines says overcomes Houston's soil peculiarities and prevents any one section of the building from sinking where a soft soil spot occurs.

Hines foresees the day when this process, combined with Houston's growth, will prompt construction of a building with 100 floors.

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠Q103 ♡54 ◇A10942 ♣854
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	2 ♡	Pass	Pass
Dble.	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Three spades. An effort should be made to reach game, and a mere return to two spades or a call of three diamonds will sound forced to partner, and he may be reluctant to take further action. A jump bid cannot be considered drastic in light of your failure to bid freely on the previous round.

Q. 2—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠Q107 ♡QJ9874 ◇5 ♣532
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ◇	Pass	1 ♡	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 ♡	Pass
3 NT	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Hearts, it must be with this hand, and you must, therefore, dutifully continue to four. This does not show any additional values, for you bid each time at the lowest level that it was possible for you to do so.

Q. 3—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠K7653 ♡AQ8 ◇AK82 ♣8
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	3 ◇	Pass
3 ♡	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—We would be willing to assume at this time that your major suits were solid and consequently are concerned primarily with the number of aces. We would, therefore, bid four no trump [Blackwood] and, if partner showed two aces, we would risk a grand slam in spades.

Q. 4—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠A2 ♡K9 ◇K9532 ♣8543
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	1 ♠	2 ♣	2 ♠
3 ♠	Pass	3 NT	Pass
4 ♣	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—The you had a very sound raise to start with, we recommend a mere return to five clubs. The bidding has made it clear that your ace of spades is not as impressive a card as you thought it would be from the beginning, inasmuch as it duplicates partner's void.

Q. 5—Neither vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠K6 ♡AQ763 ◇AQ73 ♣96
The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1 ♡	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ◇	Pass	2 ♠	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—You have more values than you have previously shown and, since partner has rebid spades, you have normal support for that suit. One more try is recommended in the form of a raise to three spades.

Q. 6—Both vulnerable, as South you hold:
♠AJ95 ♡K5 ◇9852 ♣AQJ
What is your opening bid?

A.—This hand is just a shade light for an opening bid of one no trump, and it might be found convenient to open it with one club. The objection to bidding a spade is that a somewhat awkward rebid situation develops if partner responds with two hearts.

Q. 7—As South, vulnerable, you hold:
♠982 ♡J ◇AJ6 ♣AK8542
The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♣	Pass
2 ♡	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—No very convenient rebid is available at the moment. A mere return to two spades could not be considered on grounds of inadequacy. A jump to three spades is certainly not to be entertained with such a meager trump holding. We would temporize with a bid of three diamonds. If partner proceeds to three no trump, we relax. If he rebids hearts, we return to three spades. If he rebids spades, we take him to four.

Q. 8—As dealer you hold:
♠A85 ♡AQ103 ◇AQ542 ♣3
What is your opening bid?

A.—The better strategic call is one heart rather than one diamond. If you open with one diamond and partner responds two clubs, your hand is not quite strong enough for the reverse bid of two hearts. Therefore, it is better to treat those suits as tho they were the same length so that a convenient rebid is provided over partner's expected response.

Reds Keep Up Their Pressure

SAIGON (AP) — A Viet Cong document found 30 miles east of Saigon calls for intensive attacks in that region this weekend to support the antiwar protest march on Washington Saturday, official sources said Monday.

The sources said the document was taken last Tuesday from the body of either a courier or a liaison officer who was killed in a firefight with Australian forces.

The directive, believed to have been issued by the Viet Cong's local headquarters at Vung Tau, was dated Oct. 27.

It said: "In support of the upcoming struggle of the American people for peace of South Vietnam and the withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Vietnam, we are to launch intensive attacks in all aspects on the enemy on Nov. 14-15."

The allied sources said the directive may have been issued only for propaganda and psychological purposes to boost the morale of the Viet Cong and that the attacks may not be made.

Meanwhile, North Vietnamese troops kept up their pressure in the Mekong Delta and in the Central Highlands. In the delta they ambushed a South Vietnamese convoy and mauled a platoon of militiamen. In the highlands they attacked an American airfield.

Nine militiamen were killed and seven wounded when a North Vietnamese force overran an outpost manned by 35 men near the district town of Tri Ton in the Seven Mountains region. There was no word of enemy casualties.

The North Vietnamese at the same time shelled Tri Ton and another militia position nearby wounding 11 civilians and three militiamen.

South Vietnamese headquarters said 51 of the enemy were killed in the ambush, which occurred Sunday in the same general area near the Cambodian border 125 miles southwest of Saigon. Damage to the convoy included three soldiers killed, seven wounded and six trucks destroyed.

Two North Vietnamese regiments which infiltrated deep into the delta last summer have had 221 men killed in five days of fighting in the Seven mountains area and farther south at the edge of the forbidding U Minh Forest.

Government casualties total 52 killed and 178 wounded in the two areas since Thursday.

The truck convoy was shifting 155mm howitzers in the Seven Mountains region six miles east of the Cambodian border when the North Vietnamese set off mines and then attacked with rocket grenades and machine guns.

About a dozen North Vietnamese commandos firing rockets and grenades broke into the big American helicopter strip at Ban Me Thuot, a major military operations center in the southern part of the Central Highlands 160 miles northeast of Saigon.

Eight Americans were wounded, and one truck was destroyed. But 30 helicopters parked along the asphalt runway escaped damage when U.S. security forces quickly drove off the enemy sappers.

Elsewhere, only small clashes were reported.

The U.S. Command said there were 16 enemy rocket and mortar attacks Sunday night, and nine caused casualties or damage.

In Saigon, police sources said police had raided a house in Cholon, Saigon's Chinese quarter, and arrested 13 members of a Viet Cong sapper squad who were planning to assassinate Army Chief of Staff Gen. Cao Van Vien and his family.

Officials in Saigon said Viet Cong terrorists killed 64 persons last week, wounded 143 and kidnaped 37 others in increased attacks across South Vietnam. Twenty-three of the dead were reported to have been national police, village militia or village officials.

The U.S. Command said American troop strength has been cut to 490,700—only 6,700 over the goal of 484,000 to be reached by Dec. 15 under the current withdrawal timetable. It is the lowest U.S. troop strength since Dec. 31, 1967, when there were 485,000 Americans in Vietnam.

Change In Planting Of Cotton

A revolutionary change in cotton production is now undergoing close examination by farmers, agricultural researchers and county agricultural agents on the Texas High Plains.

This change involves planting cotton in narrow rows, usually with a wheat drill. Since the narrow rows preclude inter-row tillage, this type of production is often referred to as "broadcast" cotton.

Fifteen cotton farmers from throughout the area are presently growing five to 20-acre blocks of broadcast cotton in cooperation with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Lubbock.

"Yields, for instance, have generally exceeded those of 40-inch rows and by as much as 25 per cent," researchers point out. "Further encouragement stems from the fact that cotton planted broadcast fashion in mid-May had 90 per cent open bolls by Oct. 1.

"A reduction in field operations is another benefit. This year one particular farmer grew a plot of broadcast cotton with eight less field operations. However, producing broadcast cotton demands more precise managerial skills in variety selection, weed control and irrigation," emphasize Dr. Bob Metzer, agronomist. "There is indeed much to learn about producing broadcast cotton. At this time broadcast cotton production cannot be generally recommended. Certainly, a producer doing an inadequate job on 40-inch row production cannot expect miracles from the narrow-row method and should not attempt it until his present production deficiencies are corrected."

Human Relations Pro 'Surprised'

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Human Relations Commissioner Andrew Brown said today he'll inform city Assessor Joseph Sansone it doesn't pay to advertise—especially if you're selling a house.

Brown said an "open" sign on the lawn of Sansone's home is a violation of an ordinance to discourage real estate "blockbusting."

"I didn't know that 'open' signs were illegal," Sansone told reporters. "I just thought 'for Sale' signs were illegal."

"I was surprised," he added.

Agnew's Mail Favors 5 To 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew says more than 80 per cent of the messages he has received approve of his stinging verbal attacks on some participants in Vietnam war protest demonstrations.

And, the vice president said: "I'm going to continue to say what I think is proper to say and in the way I want to say it."

The latest tally by his office, Agnew said Sunday in a copyrighted interview with U.S. News & World Report, showed he had received 7,122 communications backing his speeches and 1,587 opposing his remarks.

"That's about 4½—almost 5 to 1," the vice president said.

Agnew has made several strong-worded speeches since the Oct. 15 Vietnam Moratorium Day.

In New Orleans only four days after the big nationwide demonstration, Agnew said the protest was encouraged by "an effete corps of impudent snobs."

Agnew said then that thousands of well-motivated young people were taking part without considering the consequences to their country. At that time he also criticized plans for the second Vietnam war protest which is scheduled for later this week.

Agnew said Sunday his mail indicated that his speeches are reflecting the views of the electorate.

"And you'd be surprised at how many on the other side of the political fence in high public office privately are laudatory about what I've been doing," Agnew said in the interview.

He charged that the news media had deliberately distorted his remarks, but the vice president did not name any individuals or names.

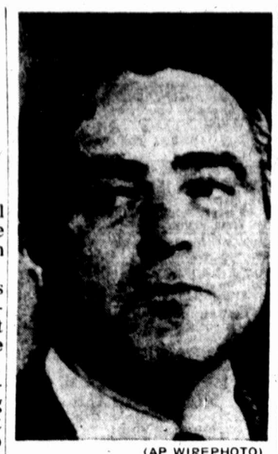

Agnew was asked if he feels the disparity between editorial views and the response of his correspondents indicates a disagreement between the nation's intellectual elite and the mass of people.

"I don't consider the people who write for the news media intellectual elite," Agnew said. "Sometimes I think they are about the most superficial thinkers I know."

Few Cotton Samples Sent

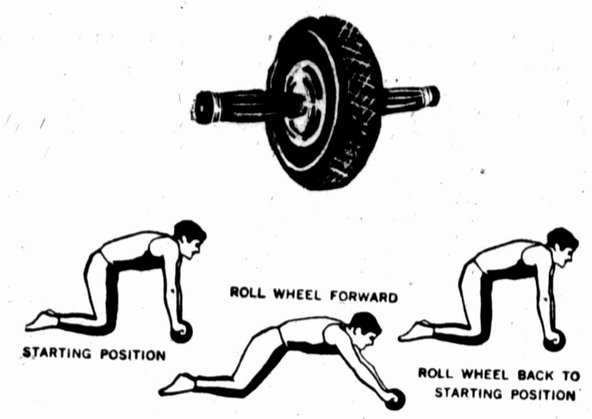

The U.S.D.A. Cotton Classing Office at Abilene reports that although the weather was clear, fields were very slow in drying last week. As a result, receipts were practically nil. B. B. Manly Jr., officer in charge, reports that only 1,100 samples were classed for the week ending Nov. 7, 1969, compared to 49,000 samples for this same week last year. The season's total now stands at 24,000 samples classed compared to 159,000 for a season's total a year ago.

There was little change in grades for the week. Eighteen per cent was in the white category, 77 per cent was light spotted, and 12 per cent was spotted.

In staple lengths, 11 per cent was 28; 42 per cent, 29; 34 per cent, 30; and 12 per cent, 31 and longer.

Micronaire readings were about the same with 88 per cent, 3.5-4.9; 1 per cent, 3.3-3.4; 10 per cent, 5.0-5.2; and 1 per cent 5.3 and above.

These prices were about 300 to 325 points above the government loan.

DEAR ABBY: About three months ago I met a very pretty Christian girl. She's 29 years old and still unmarried. I am 33 and divorced my wife three years ago when she ran out on me for another guy.

Well, I informed this lovely Christian girl of my past, explaining to her that I had accepted Jesus Christ as my personal Savior three years ago, but prior to that time I could have said with the Apostle Paul that I was the "Chief Sinner."

I asked her to marry me and she said she would think it over.

The next day she handed me a piece of paper that looked like an application for a job with the FBI. She requested that I fill it out right then and there with a carbon copy, too! There were questions like, "Where have you been employed the past 10 years? Have you ever been fired? If so, state reasons. Where did you obtain your divorce? Have you ever had any communicable diseases? Do you have a police record? Do you owe any money?"

I felt like telling her to take her piece of paper and get lost, but instead I filled it out and signed it because I really cared for her. Now I feel like a fool. What is your opinion of this girl? CARY

DEAR CARY: One thing for certain, she is not stupid. Perhaps she was frightened by your confession of having been the "Chief Sinner" and wanted to know precisely what that involved.

DEAR ABBY: I am 23 years old and will be married very soon. I have had dentures for nearly four years and not even my closest friends suspect. My problem: Should I tell my fiance before we are married? Or should I wait until after? Or do you think it would be all right if I just didn't offer this information at all? I am absolutely positive that he doesn't know. UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: This is a decision which YOU must make for yourself. But since it's highly likely that he will learn the truth, eventually, he'll probably think you're more "real" if you tell him now that your teeth aren't.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: This is a VERY small town, and everybody I know reads DEAR ABBY. Now, here is something I have to know. Are all the letters people write to you delivered to you UNOPENED: This is important because I have a problem I would just love to write you about, but I have heard that our postmaster opens all the letters addressed to DEAR ABBY and he has the best time reading them.

I am a married woman and my problem concerns a married man in this town and I am sure if I wrote the facts, the postmaster would know who he was, and I sure don't want that!

Please answer in your column. If a letter came to me from DEAR ABBY, he'd open it for sure. I am taking this to another town to be mailed because I don't want to take any chances. CAREFUL

DEAR CAREFUL: All my mail comes to me UNOPENED. Opening mail addressed to another is a federal offense. Your postmaster knows this, and he of all people would not want to be found guilty.

CONFIDENTIAL TO P. IN PENDLETON, ORE.: If you haven't charity in your heart, you have the worst kind of heart trouble. Give a little.

Skies Cloudy Around Texas

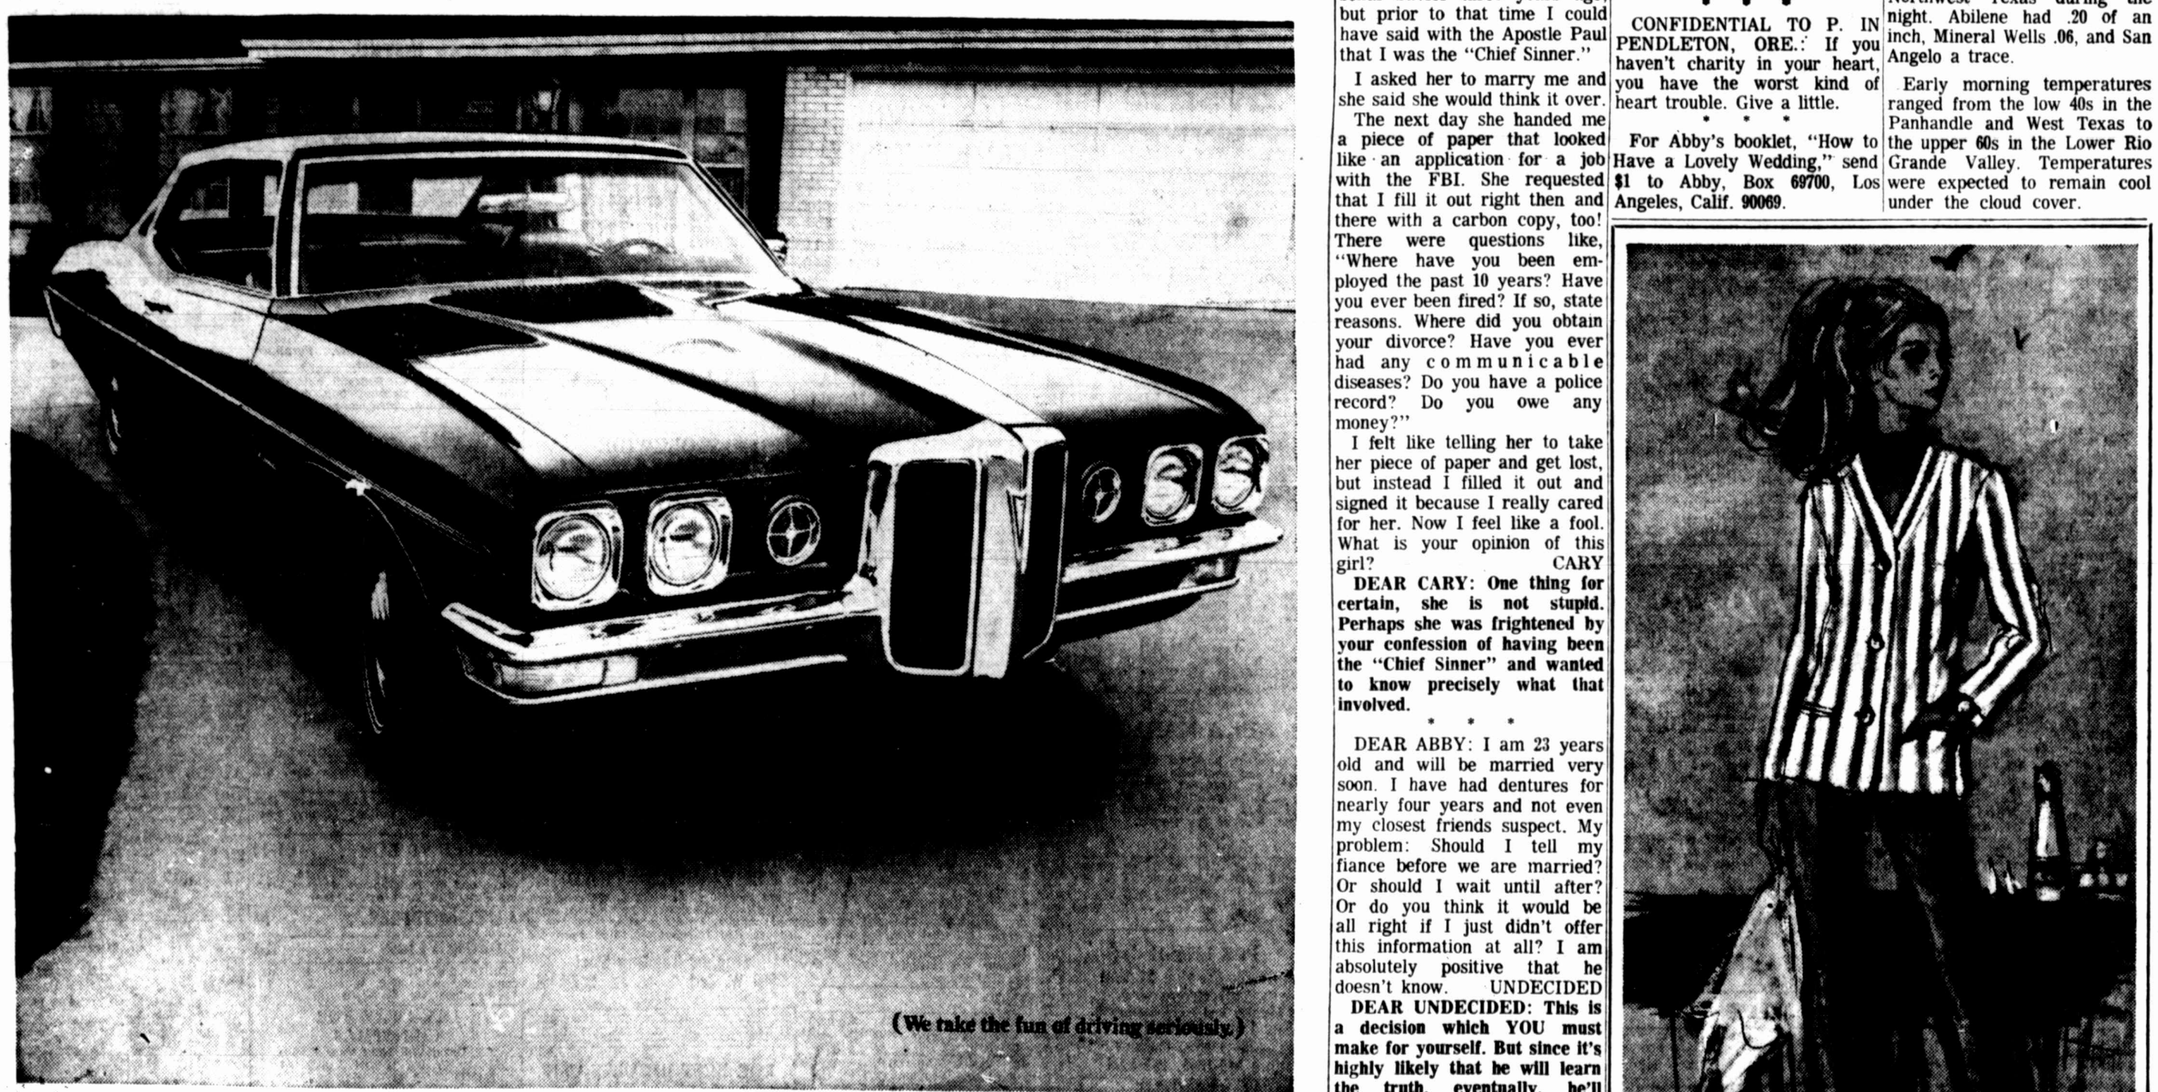

By The Associated Press

Skies were partly cloudy over most of Texas as today dawned, and the Weather Bureau predicted considerable cloudiness would continue into evening.

Numerous points had heavy fog during the early morning hours, among them Galveston, Lufkin, Corpus Christi, McAllen and Palacios.

Light rain fell over scattered portions of North Central and Northwest Texas during the night. Abilene had .20 of an inch, Mineral Wells .06, and San Angelo a trace.

Early morning temperatures ranged from the low 40s in the Panhandle and West Texas to the upper 60s in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Temperatures were expected to remain cool under the cloud cover.
