Viet Police Alerted For Anti-USDemonstrations

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Mock bombing runs over Saigon by air force skyraiders stirred rumors of a coup today and bolstered reports of possible anti-American demonstrations during the weekend.

Saigon police had gone on full alert after receiving reports that some neutralist groups would stage demonstrations. None had developed by evening.

Some officials felt air force pilots may have spotted a force of Marines detailed to a downtown park in case of a demonstration and sounded a coup alarm.

One high ranking source said, "I think we'll all be able to sleep in peace tonight. But it seems there might be some young army colonels and other officers around who might be kicking up their heels. They've been making unhappy noises about the generals not yet being back with the troops."

Vietnamese military brass have been concentrated in the capital since the ouster of Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh Feb. 21.

The quickened pace of battle in the area around Da Nang Air Base about 380 miles north of here showed no let up, as the Viet Cong ambushed a government armored patrol Friday night and killed the commander of the Vietnamese army's first regiment.

Lt. Col. Ho Dac Hanh's body and the bodies of five others were found today burned inside a destroyed armored personnel carrier.

In the Quang Nam-Quang Tin border area, eight F100 jet fighter-bombers struck in support of a ground operation Friday. Unconfirmed accounts said 50 Viet Cong were killed.

A U.S. Army officer was wounded today while accompanying a Vietnamese army unit on an operation about 70 miles southwest of Saigon. The officer suffered fragment wounds in the right arm and leg from a grenade trap. His condition was not believed serious.

Three companies of fresh Vietnamese rangers airlifted from Da Nang have gone into action against the Communist guerrillas in a major battle zone in the mountains near Viet An, 40 miles southwest of the air base.

A first corps officer said fighting there the past two days has claimed the lives of 60 Vietnamese soldiers and more than 60-Viet Cong, while 20 Vietnamese were wounded.

One U.S. Army captain also was wounded.

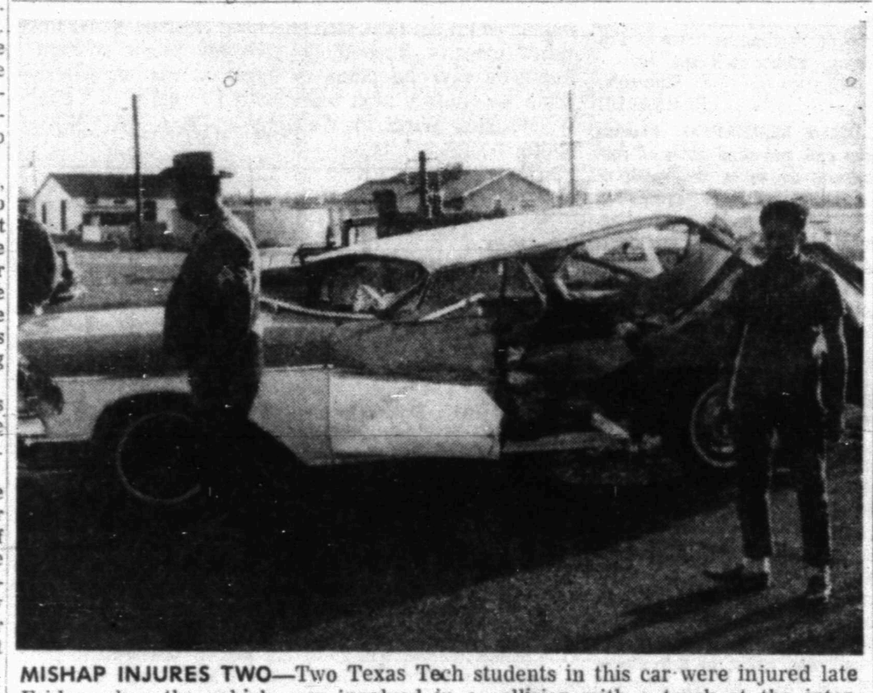
Four U.S. Air Force F100 jet fighter-bombers made strikes in the area to help break up the Communist attack.

Col. Hanh had led a patrol with four armored troop carriers and about two platoons of infantry to search for a Viet Cong mortar site which began bombarding Quang Tri City, about 20 miles from the North Viet Nam border.

Viet Cong ambushed the column outside Quang Tri City and 57mm recoilless rifle fire disabled two of the armored vehicles.

Meanwhile, a ranking Communist Chinese official pledged Peking's support for counter-attacks by North Viet Nam to stop U.S. air strikes.

There was little elaboration of Peng Chen's promise of support, made at a rally welcoming Pakistani President Mohammed Ayub Khan to the Red Chinese capital.



MISHAP INJURES TWO—Two Texas Tech students in this car were injured late Friday when the vehicle was involved in a collision with a truck at the intersection of U. S. 84 and Huffman Avenue. Elaine Walter of Abilene was taken to Cogdell Hospital by Bolger Ambulance, and William W. Dunn of Sanderson was taken to the hospital by Bell-Seale Ambulance. Miss Walter suffered back and neck injuries, and Dunn had facial cuts. Patty DeJohn of Houston, another Tech student in the car, and Joe Waller of Snyder, driver of the truck, were not injured.

White Marchers Join In Alabama Protest

By STAN ATKINS

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Members of a group called the "Concerned White Citizens of Alabama" converged on Selma today for a march protesting what they described as intimidation of Negro voter applicants.

The group planned an afternoon procession to the Dallas County courthouse. The leader is the Rev. Joseph Ellwanger, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church of Birmingham and a former resident of Selma.

Rev. Ellwanger said it was a spontaneous movement with members coming mainly from Birmingham, Huntsville, Tuscaloosa, Auburn and Montgomery.

Its purpose he said, is to show "there are good, respectable white people in Alabama who really are very much concerned with the injustices here in Alabama."

At Marion, two white men pleaded guilty to charges of assaulting newsmen during an outbreak of violence two weeks ago. Both were fined.

Mayor R. L. Pegues, who also serves as city judge, fined lumber salesman Sam Dozier $78.75 and service station operator Woodfin Nichols $53.75. Dozier was charged with hitting Richard Valeriani, NBC correspondent from Washington, on the head with a club. Several stitches were required to close the wound.

Nichols was charged with hitting Pete Fisher of New Orleans with his fist. Fisher is a United Press International photographer.

The case of Redge Bearden, an insurance salesman, was postponed until next week. He is free under $100 bond on charges of defacing property by spraying paint on photographers' camera lenses.

Meanwhile, Negro civil rights leaders stepped up recruiting and organization work for an announced 50-mile march from Selma along busy U.S. 80 to Montgomery.

The Rev. James Bevel, a top aide of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., said King will return to Selma Sunday afternoon to lead the start of the march to Montgomery, capital of the Confederacy a century ago.

King said the march is to dramatize Negro demands for more liberal voter registration laws.

The goal, he said, is to have 500 to 800 Negroes in the line of march, which will continue three to four days.

Bids Opened On CRMWD Water Lines

R. B. Hodgson Company, Midland, is the apparent low bidder on installation of 11,106 feet of collecting lines for the Colorado River municipal Water District.

The Hodgson proposal, opened Friday at district headquarters in Big Spring, was for $11,383. Two other bids ranged to a top of $13,759. The low bid was better than $1,500 under the second low.

Contract calls for laying 8,006 feet of 18-in. concrete cylinder pipe and 3,100 feet of 10-in cast iron pipe in the district's well field in Martin County. The lines will be laid to half a dozen wells being drilled on the J. C. Sale ranch north of the district's pump station. These will be used for summer peaking and for recharge with lake water during winter months.

Meanwhile, the district's recharge project in the well field is progressing ahead of schedule. Within another week the goal of 60,000,000 gallons injected into the well field will be reached, O. H. Ivie, assistant general manager of CRMWD, said that a close study would be made at that point to determine if additional lake water will be injected this season.

Chinese Students Stage Demonstration

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — About 300 Chinese and foreign students demonstrated today in front of the Russian Embassy in Peking in the first anti-Soviet street demonstration in the Chinese capital, the official Yugoslav news agency Tanjug reported.

The Tanjug correspondent in Peking cabled this account:

"Small groups of demonstrators, among whom were chiefly Chinese pupils and students, as well as a certain number of foreign students in Peking, gathered today in front of the Soviet Embassy in Peking, shouting slogans against American imperialism, in favor of the Viet Nam people, and particularly against alleged brutal prevention of demonstrations in Moscow by Soviet authorities.

Marines In Large-Scale War Games

CAMP PENDLETON, Calif. (AP) — Twenty thousand Marines were moving inland today in large-scale war games designed to point up any weaknesses in technique and equipment.

The Marines stormed ashore under simulated battle conditions Friday. Top officers said the maneuver showed several areas of weakness in U.S. equipment.

It was part of exercise Silver Lance, being conducted jointly by the Navy and Marines. The exercise involves 58 ships and 65,000 men.

Gen. W. M. Greene Jr., Marine Corps commandant, said at a news conference that the landing operation disclosed a need for faster assault ships, missiles to clear the skies of low-flying planes and helicopters, and new craft such as hydrofoils.

West Blasted By Sukarno

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesian President Sukarno declared today that the spirit of Islam can flourish only if Asia and Africa are free from "imperialism and colonialism."

Sukarno blasted the West in an address at the opening of the Afro-Asian Islamic Conference in Bandung, West Java. Most of his hour-long speech, however, was devoted to an account of Indonesia's achievements under his leadership.

Sukarno told delegates from 21 nations that the guided democracy which he proclaimed in 1959 and which put virtually all power in his hands is not a "dictatorship, but is a democracy with leadership."

The president claimed that Indonesia was becoming constantly stronger despite "imperialist" attempts to crush it.

"Let us unite against imperialism and colonialism," he said. "Only when Asia and Africa are free can our religion flourish."

Nations attending the conference include Red China, which sent the largest delegation — 17 members.

Some delegations, notably from the Arab countries, have recommended that the conference stick to the Islam theme and steer clear of politics. This was considered unlikely.

A. M. Azahari, leader of an abortive revolt in Brunei three years ago, already has sent a telegram urging the conference to adopt a resolution condemning "the British neo-colonialist project of Malaysia and firmly adhere to Indonesia's present confrontation policy."

Indonesian Communist party boss D. N. Aidit also sent a telegram expressing hope that the conference would "sound louder the death knell for the imperialists."

Joint US, Soviet Ventures Proposed By Sen. Fulbright

By ERNEST B. VACCARO

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright has proposed joint U.S.-Soviet ventures in foreign aid and in operation of Central American canal.

The Arkansas Democrat, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said joint aid could "convert assistance to the under-developed countries from an investment of rivalry to an instrument of reconciliation."

He said any reasonable arrangement would leave no threat to canal security because of Soviet participation.

Fulbright's proposals were in a speech he planned to give at Pennsylvania State University Friday night. Bad weather forced cancellation of the trip.

Fulbright said a cooperative [illegible] and [illegible] and Soviet refusal to pay U.N. assessments for peace-keeping operations in the Middle East and the Congo.

In a divided world, Fulbright said, there is little promise and considerable risk in trying to force a settlement of major issues dividing the two countries. But he said, the advancement of a great many projects of practical cooperation could, when taken together, "have the effect of shaping revolutionary new attitudes in the world."

Fulbright's proposals followed by a day demands of the Senate-House Republican leadership for a harder line toward the Soviet Union — described by GOP spokesmen Thursday as a "no-concession, no-deal policy."

Fulbright said Soviet-Western cooperation on a scale beyond limited projects appears unrealistic for the foreseeable future, but that "an initial, tentative venture," and in turn to Communist involvement in a Central [illegible] tional lending agency and a "globalization" of aid.

Fulbright suggested the United States propose as an initial step that the two countries cooperate under the auspices of an international agency "in a particular development project that both favor, in India or another country."

"There is no overriding reason why the Soviet Union, as a user, should not be encouraged to participate in a Central American canal consortium," he said.

And, the senator said, establishment of normal trade with the Soviet Union in nonstrategic goods would have "political and psychological effects in reducing tensions, improving the general atmosphere of international relations, and opening up one or more areas of practical East-West cooperation."

Fulbright first proposed Soviet participation in a Central American canal a year ago.

Hungry Eagle Gives Up Fight

LONDON (AP) — Goldie the wayward eagle has ended its fast and gobbled up a duck — to the relief of small dog owners in the area.

The giant bird from Finland had declined food offered by zoo keepers trying to lure him back into the cage he fled eight days ago.

But hunger prevailed and Friday Goldie swooped down in Regent's Park and scooped up a duck.

Twice in recent days Goldie had attacked small dogs being walked in the park but was driven off.

Texas Dockmen To End Walkout

GALVESTON, Tex. (AP) — Some 7,000 West Gulf Coast dock workers were expected to start going back to their jobs today to end the second-longest strike in the history of the International Longshoremen's Association.

Ralph A. Massey, ILA district president, said work on the docks likely would resume after an expected ratification vote this morning by the union membership.

James J. Reynolds, assistant secretary of labor, announced Friday night that the last round of negotiations in the multibillion dollar walk-out had been successful. Final bargaining was between shippers, and the clerks and checkers local here.

Earlier in the day, dockers began loading grain in vessels bound for India.

Contract agreement had been reached Friday for the South Atlantic district at Miami Beach, the last major hold-out district in the dispute.

Major agreement for the West Gulf district was reached a week ago at Galveston.

The 54-day-long strike began Jan. 11 and idled ports from Maine to Texas. Agreement was reached in the Northeast several weeks ago, sending all dockers back to work but those in the South Atlantic and West Gulf areas.

Longshoremen at the Texas ports of Beaumont, Port Arthur and Orange ratified the new four-year contract Friday night.

The longshoremen have been granted an 80-cent pay raise package, a minimum size of work gangs and a seniority system in the West Gulf Union officials said the agreement compares favorably with the new contract negotiated earlier at New York.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I keep looking to you to take up the fight against the topless bathing suits. I speak for mothers who are worried about their youngsters growing up in a society where people want to see males and females incited to a high degree of "desire" with no thought of the consequences. I recently read where there is a restaurant in Los Angeles which features a bare bosom fashion show during the lunch hour! Many businessmen lunch there and it is open to the public for men and women. All this started with the topless bathing suit. Can't you start a campaign against this sort of thing before it gets out of hand?

FOR DECENCY

DEAR FOR: I don't know where one finds this restaurant which features bare bosoms for lunch, but I'll be glad to investigate it if you'll tell me. As for the topless bathing suits, although a few were sold, fewer were worn, and the wearers were arrested. So I'd say the whole scheme was a bust.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: Recently we buried our infant granddaughter. The doctor said she was normal and perfect in every way, but was strangled during birth by the cord. We were shocked and saddened to lose her, and her parents were heartbroken and wanted this little girl so much. We received some calls and notes from friends who said, "It was all for the best."

Abby, why are some people so cruel? How do they know it was "all for the best"? Who knows what joy that child might have brought into the world? Please print this for others who use that inappropriate expression of "sympathy." Or if I'm wrong, please tell me so.

Sincerely,
BEREAVED

DEAR BEREAVED: Friends who call and send notes of condolence do so in the spirit of thoughtfulness and sympathy. They mean to be comforting. Appreciate their good intentions and overlook their unfortunate choice of words. I shall print this for the benefit of those who do not know better.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: I have been dating this boy for three months. He says he doesn't want to go steady. He just wants to play the field for a while. I am really crazy about him and have turned down lots of other dates because of him. There's this big dance coming up and I have already had two invitations to go, but I've turned them down hoping "he" will ask me. One of his friends said he heard that "he" was going to ask me — but he hasn't as yet. Should I wait? Or should I accept a date with someone else? All my friends think I am crazy for waiting, but they don't realize how much I like this guy.

WAITING

DEAR WAITING: Wait. If "he" doesn't ask you, you'll probably kick yourself for not having accepted one of the others. But if you accept another date and "he" asks you later, I'm sure you'll kick yourself much harder.

• • •

CONFIDENTIAL TO "D" IN PHILADELPHIA: If your child were suffering from a physical handicap, you'd spend your last dollar searching for a cure. So why, when your child is obviously suffering from an emotional handicap, do you prefer to "sweep it under the carpet" in hopes that nobody will notice? OR trust to luck that it will "disappear"? I urge you to take your child to a psychiatrist. Emotional illness CAN be cured. But sometimes it takes a little longer.

Sunbathers Scanned For Train Robbers

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP) — Uruguyan police fanned out today among well-heeled sunbathers as they ran down a tip that four suspects in Britain's great train robbery may be in their midst.

Working with the international police organization — Interpol — the police detained one 40-year-old British subject changing pounds into pesos. He was released later when it was determined he works in Buenos Aires and was in Chile at the time of the robbery.

Police of Uruguay and Argentina entered the great train robbery case after receiving an alert from Britain that the men may be at Punta del Este or at Argentina's seaside gambling resort — Mar del Plata.

A British gang held up a Scottish mail train in August 1963 and got away with the equivalent of around $7 million in old British pounds. More than $5 million still is missing.

The four hunted Britons are Charles Frederick Wilson, who escaped prison while serving a 30-year term; Ronald Edwards, 34, Bruce Reynolds, 33, and John Edward White, 32.

IN RARE VISIT

Harold Wilson Arrives In Berlin

BERLIN (AP) British Prime Minister Harold Wilson arrived in Berlin today for the first visit a British government head has paid to this divided city in 16 years.

Wilson was welcomed at the airport by West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt, British Ambassador Sir Frank Roberts and other officials.

The prime minister will go on to the West German Capital of Bonn Sunday for talks with Chancellor Ludwig Erhard that could trigger a clash over upkeep costs of the British Army of the Rhine.

Wilson was accompanied from London by Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart.

Wilson is under leftwing pressure to cut defense spending and was expected to bring up the question of Britain's 51,000-man Rhine army. He has said its maintenance in Germany was posing an "impossible and appalling" burden on Britain's sick economy.

It costs about $250 million a year in foreign currency. In return, the Germans spend about $70 million annually on British military goods.

Erhard was expected to counter that the Rhine army is there to defend Britain as much as West Germany and Wilson's complaints should go to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and not to Bonn.

Withdrawal of troops is a touchy political subject in West Germany where Erhard faces an election in September.

Wilson is likely to call an election in a year or so. He has governed with a narrow margin in parliament and has said a cut in defense spending is necessary if Britain's economy is to recover.

Erhard was expected to point out that West Germany joined other friendly nations recently to guard the pound from devaluation.

Wilson may tell Erhard that the Rhine army went to West Germany not primarily to defend Europe, but to reassure the French against the possibility of runaway German rearmament.

He might also point out that the French have pulled troops from Germany without criticism from the Germans.

Post Man Decides To Try Job Again

POST, Tex. (AP)—A. C. Cash, who was inadvertently elected to the Post School Board 28 years ago while still a pupil in high school, has filed as a bona fide candidate for the position in this year's school trustee election.

Cash was elected in 1928 when his name appeared on the ballot through error instead of that of his father, A. W. Cash.

"They made me resign," Cash recalled, "and then appointed my father to serve out my unexpired term."

Cash is unopposed in the April 3 election.

Says Israel Spies Held Wild Parties

By ROY ESSOYAN

CAIRO (AP) — An Egyptian intelligence spokesman claims a West German couple held here on espionage charges staged wild parties and orgies to obtain military, political and economic information for Israel.

The spokesman brought up the case of Johann Sigmund Lotz and his wife Waldrud at a news conference Friday. He charged the couple spied for the Israelis for four years. Their trial will start in about 10 days, he said.

In the course of the news conference, the spokesman displayed photographs purporting to show Lotz demonstrating a clandestine radio transmitter in bathroom scales.

The spokesman said Lotz confessed to using the bombs secreted in fountain pens, explosives hidden in cakes of soap, and transmitters built into the heel of a riding boot while spying on Egyptian military activities and conducting a campaign of terror against West German scientists working on Egyptian scientific projects.

Lotz was a horse breeder in Cairo.

The spokesman said Lotz was hired in West Berlin in 1960 by an Israeli agent named Elie Gordon. Another Israeli agent identified as Rubi Bernstein was placed in charge of Lotz, the spokesman said. The spokesman also identified the alleged head of the Israeli intelligence organization as "Joseph."

Lotz underwent extensive training in Paris and Munich, the spokesman said, in the use of wireless equipment, invisible ink and time bombs, coding, photography, concealment of documents and use of small arms.

The spokesman reiterated official charges — announced Thursday — accusing Lotz of sabotaging the work of West German scientists in Egypt by sending them packages containing explosives.

Democrats Install Electronic Aids

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democrats have set up a personalized electronic information service to help their lopsided congressional majority weather the 1966 off-year election.

Getting special attention are the 71 freshmen members of the House. Most of them are from closely divided or normally Republican districts and they are likely to be the chief targets of the GOP.

Using a relatively small staff and a few telephones and tape recorders, the Democratic National Committee has left the Republicans far behind in political communications.

The Democrats can get comments from representatives and senators into the hands of radio and television stations in their districts almost simultaneously with the passage of legislation or the announcement of government contracts.

Recordings of comments by President Johnson and other top administration officials are available daily.

In contrast, the Republican National Committee has just started a weekly five-minute broadcast, available thus far only through state and county GOP chairmen. The GOP has no service at all to compare with Democratic efforts on behalf of individual congressmen.

Dictating the Democratic drive is the history of midterm elections.

In 1938, two years after President Franklin D. Roosevelt's landslide victory, the Democrats dropped 75 House seats. Other midterm declines have been less severe, but 1934 is the only time in the last half century that the party in power gained.

Of the 295 Democrats in the House — there are 140 Republicans — 45 may be especially vulnerable in 1966, running, as they will have to, without the benefit of Johnson's coattails.

To keep the congressmen in touch with their districts, the Democratic committee supplies radio and television scripts and material for newsletters, transmits statements by teletype to newspapers and distributes recorded events to radio and television stations.

Five contact men at party headquarters have been assigned specifically to the 71 House freshmen to give them ideas and show them what services are available. One of them, John Meek, said his main job is "to save them a lot of time."

The biggest innovation is the actuality service, directed by Jerry Huard, the National Committee's radio-television chief.

"People have been sending stuff to radio stations from mimeograph machines," Huard said. "That's of no use to them at all."

A congressman need only call the National Committee and have his statement taken over the telephone. Huard, or one of his two assistants, then calls the radio and television stations in the district, offering the recorded statement.

Huard says the service has been useful especially to congressmen from sprawling, rural districts.

"What better way has he got of reaching his constituency?" he asked.

It was the fifth marriage for Barker, 45, whose former wives included film stars Arlene Dahl and Lana Turner.

Hawaiian Crater Has Experts Baffled

HILO, Hawaii (AP) — Even though the eruption in the Makaopuhi crater quit Friday night, scientists would make no forecast as to whether the eruption was over or just playing possum.

The eruption, which died 9½ hours after leaping into livid life is now only a red glow on the side of the crater.

Hawaii Island residents and tourists refused to believe the eruption ended and cars still line the route to the crater.

Only two small lava fountains were reported still functioning — and they were only about 15 feet, compared to 100-foot fountains earlier.

Instruments at the volcano observatory indicated that the eruption was dying.

Hale Will Head Cancer Crusade

Cliff Hale has been appointed 1965 Crusade Chairman for the Scurry County Unit of the American Cancer Society.

The appointment was announced by H. A. Johnson, president of the Scurry County Unit at a meeting of the local organization this week.

Hale has been active in the Lions Club. He is a department manager at Rogers Inc.

The Scurry County Cancer Crusade, the combination education and fund - raising drive held annually by the society, will begin on April 1 with the solicitation of special gifts. The house-to-house campaign will be held the night of April 27.

CLIFF HALE

"It is a pleasure to work in this Crusade," said Hale. "And it is a big job. We must reach every home with out educational material because it is through education that we hope to save many of the lives that are lost to cancer each year needlessiy.

"And we must raise money to provide more research. The American Cancer Society through its flexible research program is spending millions of dollars annually on research, but there are still worthwhile projects that cannot be supported," Hale concluded.

R. C. Taylor, field representative from Midland, presented the program at the local unit's formative Crusade film and distributed leaflets showing how American Cancer Society funds are used in Texas.

Eleven members attended the meeting.

Skaters Are Confident Of Winning

By LOUDON KELLY
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — Both of the top young challengers for the world figure skating title seemed quietly confident before tonight's big showdown at the Broadmoor World Arena.

Alain Calmat, 24, of France, competing in the World Figure Skating championships for the eleventh year, won the compulsory figures division, which ended Friday.

The European champion, 20-year-old Emmerich Danzer of Austria, smiled in anticipation as he said, "it should be a hard fight."

"I am a good free skater," Danzer said. "So is Calmat. But I feel sure I will do well."

Calmat was runner-up last year to West Germany's Manfred Schnelldorfer, who has given up competitive skating.

"I feel quite confident," the Frenchman said, "although you never know what might happen in any free-skating performance. You can always fall."

Calmat collected 1135.2 points from nine judges for his work in the six school figures despite a wobbly start Thursday. Donald Knight, 17-year-old contestant from Dundas, Ontario, was second with 1112.2, Danzer third with 1110.8, and Scott Ethan Allen, 16, of Smoke Rise, N.J., fourth with 1102.3.

The 20 entrants represent 11 nations. The poised, airy skating of the Czechoslovakians — Eva Romanova, 19, and her brother, Pavel Roman, 22 — swept them easily to their fourth straight championship in the ice dance Friday night.

Golf Leader Attracts Small Crowd

By ROBERT SANDLER
Associated Press Writer

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—Arnold Palmer has Arnie's Army, Bobby Nichols has Bobby's Bunch and Gary Player has Gary's Gang following them around the golf course.

Bill Martindale, the second round leader in the $65,000 Pensacola Open, had eight people—two of whom where his golfing partners.

'I've drawn more people than that," said the young Texan who is just two years out of college. "I once had 10 people follow me."

Martindale did attract a crowd — all reporters — after he holed a 40-foot birdie putt on the 18th for a four-under-par 68, a total 137 and a two-stroke advantage over the field Friday.

He said the wind and cold, which were playing havoc with some of the best-known names in professional golf, didn't bother him a bit.

Jack Nicklaus and Doug Sanders, two of the first round leaders, shot one-under 71s for second place at 139.

Player, the defending champion, stayed in good position with a 70 for 142 and a five-way tie for fifth place, but Palmer was far back in the pack with 144.

Nichols failed to make the 148 cutoff as did Mason Rudolph, Mike Souchak, Jay Hebert and Bob Rosburg.

Oilmen Say Indonesia May Allow Plants To Continue

By ADREN COOPER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Informed sources said today there has been no indication that Indonesia plans to take over the operation of U.S. oil companies.

The three American companies with substantial oil investments in Indonesia — Standard Vacuum, Caltex and Pan-American Indonesia — have a profit-sharing arrangement with the government. It is this built-in safeguard that may be protecting them against seizure.

The Indonesian government was paid $100 million in royalties last year under this arrangement.

Authorities at the Commerce and State Departments said it is difficult to estimate the U.S. investment in the stormy Southeast Asian country because of fluctuations in Indonesian currency and the nature of the oil enterprises.

For instance, a State Department official said, total U.S. investment may be as much as $500 million, with petroleum enterprises accounting for $375 million or more. On the other hand, the Commerce Department listed U.S. investment at $167 million in "book value" at the end of 1963.

The "book value" is the amount the company lists for its properties and in many cases is far below the market value.

The Commerce Department listed only $19 million worth of investment in manufacturing industries.

The Indonesian government said last week that U.S.- operated rubber plantations valued at $80 million to $110 million would have to be operated by Indonesians, although it denied government confiscation.

The government moved in similar fashion some years ago when it took over British rubber operations. The estates were never returned.

The U.S. rubber operations in Indonesia have been declining, while oil enterprises have been expanding.

Goodyear Rubber Co. said rubber it produced in Indonesia was sold to other countries and that none of it was consumed by its U.S. plants. Synthetic rubber rapidly has been replacing natural rubber in the United States since World War II.

The U.S. Rubber Co., the other major rubber firm operating in Indonesa, said there has been no profit from its operations in the country for several years.

Standard Vacuum (Esso Standard Eastern Inc.) and Caltex, which is a subsidiary of California Texas Oil Corp., own most of the American-operated oil enterprises in Indonesia. The operations of Pan-American, a subsidiary of American International Oil Co., are primarily exploratory.

The Shell Oil Co. also is believed to have extensive holdings in Indonesia. It is primarily a Dutch and British company, although its operations extend over the world and it has many U.S. investors.

Reds Reap Profit By Aiding India

By CONRAD FINK

NEW DELHI (AP) — The Soviet Union is learning it can be an expensive proposition to help out India. Even so, it seems to be getting value received.

The Soviet assistance program for India has passed the billion-dollar mark, making it the largest Moscow has undertaken outside the Communist bloc.

It probably is one of Moscow's most successful ventures.

The Soviet Union has established a firm foothold in India — a foothold increasingly important to Moscow as Communist China's influence spreads elsewhere in Asia.

Moscow is getting extraordinary propaganda out of its program. It is extremely careful in the projects selected for assistance, aiming at basic industries crucial to national development and striving hard to keep them in the government-owned sector of India's socialistic economy.

The Russians make no grants but insist on across-the-board credit terms of 2.5 per cent annual interest and 12 years to repay.

More than half the U.S. assistance program of $6 billion has gone for massive food imports to feed the nation's hungry 480 millions. Millions of dollars have been granted in outright gifts. Loans carry a fantastically low ¾ of 1 per cent "service charge" and India has up to 40 years to repay — with the understanding that credits can be renegotiated if New Delhi cannot come up with the cash in that time.

How is it, then, that Moscow scores propaganda successes? Mostly it's a matter of timing.

Twice, the Soviets announced they would step in and back major projects the United States spurned.

When Washington announces a new aid agreement, Moscow almost without exception counters with an announcement of its own. Both get equal headline space, though the American aid pact may be 10 times larger than Moscow's. Indians who can read are deluged with newspapers, pamphlets and books singing praise of the Russian way.

In the decade they have been in business in India, the Russians have demonstrated ability to commit themselves to projects and then withdraw or drag their feet without incurring bad publicity.

After promising to build a MIG jet fighter plant, the Russians apparently had second thoughts about offending India's No. 1 enemy, Communist China. Now, it's anybody's guess when the first MIG will be produced.

Indian officials say 4 to 10

After Moscow agreed to build a drug plant in Kerala State, economists decided it was economically unfeasible so the Russians canceled the entire project. If they were disappointed, the Indian government concealed it very well.

Letters To The Editor

To the Daily News:

The citizens of our city, county, state and nation are waging campaigns and giving money to find cures for heart disease, cancer and mental illness. Alcoholism ranks with these as the four greatest public health problems, according to the U. S. Public Health Service.

Dr. Arthur H. Cain gave the following information in his book, "Young People and Drinking." One out of every fifteen persons who drink at all will become ill of the disease we call alcoholism.

There are about five million people in our country in some stage of this disease. It is estimated that alcoholism cost industry and taxpayers ever a billion dollars a year in accidents, hospitalization, crime and many other by - products of the disease.

I ask that you give notice to "moist" Lubbock compared to "dry" Lubbock. The figures compare the years 1957-60 with 1961-62. Since Jan. 1, 1961, Lubboek has had a "wet" precinct. Results are indicated by these percentages from TANE (Texas Alcohol Narcotics Education), and the FBI's Uniform Crime Reports. All figures show percentage of increase as follows: Fatal accidents 30 per cent; disorderly conduct 85 per cent; murder and manslaughter 30 percent; forcible rape 44 per cent; robbery 22 per cent; aggravated assault 27 per cent; grand larceny 49 per cent; auto theft 24 per cent.

We cannot and must not vote this disastrous destruction into our community.

Defense Dept. Ups Draft Quota For May

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has announced its largest draft call in more than a year.

A quota of 15,100 men was set Friday for May. That's 1,400 more than the April quota, and the largest since the 16,100 in January 1964. The lowest quota last year was 3,300 in August.

Enlistments have decreased amid speculation the draft system may be ended.

Two Share Lead In Maracaibo Open

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (AP) — Art Wall Jr., defending his Caribbean golf championship, and John Barnum, a first-time starter on the winter circuit, shared the lead going into today's third round of the Maracaibo Open, next-to-last stop on the five-tourney swing.

Wall, the Pocono Manor, Pa., veteran who captured the overall point title on last year's tour, fired a two-under-par 70 Friday after setting a course record of 65 in Thursday's opening round.

Terrell Is WBA Heavyweight Champ

By MURRAY ROSE
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—Ernie Terrell is the World Boxing Association's heavyweight champion today but whether the title means anything after his lustily booed tug-of-war with Eddie Machen Friday night remains a big question mark.

Terrell wants to fight the winner of the Cassius Clay-Sonny Liston title fight, set for Boston May 25. The WBA, which dethroned Clay for signing for the return with Liston, wants him to fight Floyd Patterson, the ex-champion, next.

But the towering Terrell, prompted by Manager Julie Isaacson, said he won't fight Patterson because "he never gave anyone a chance."

And sources close to Patterson said he's just going to wait on the Clay-Liston outcome hoping that Clay will win again.

Terrell and Isaacson were scheduled to meet with the WBA's executive committee today to discuss the next step.

"We hope to straighten out the mess," said Merv McKenzie of Toronto, the WBA president. Pitching for the home town, he suggested a Terrell scrap with Canadian champion George Chuvalo in Toronto might be the answer. Chuvalo was beaten by Patterson in a thriller in New York, Feb. 1.

As for the fight, Joe Louis, the old champion who was brought to help the 6-foot-6, guitar-strumming Terrell polish up his skills, summed it up in his usual terse and honest manner:

"It wasn't a good fight. Terrell looked like an amateur and Machen didn't help any."

Terrell's snapping left jabs piled up enough points to earn him the unanimous, if unpopular, decision in the 15-rounder at the International Amphitheatre. Ringside writers voted 12-3 for the towering, 25-year-old Chicagoan over the 6-foot, 32-year-old veteran from Redding, Calif.

The boos rolled out long and loudly after the verdict was announced. Referee Sonny Weisman had it 72-67 on the five-point a round must system. Judge William Doty had it 70-67 and Judge Dr. A. Duxler had it 72-66. The Associated Press had Terrell in front 71-67 on points and 8-4 with three even in rounds. On rounds Weisman had it 8-3-4, Doty, 8-5-2, and Duxler 9-3-3.

Their styles, the six-inch difference in height and the seven-inch spread in reach, helped make it a miserable show, constantly marred by holding and spinning. Both were on the deck from shoves, pushes and slips but there were no knockdowns and nothing close to one.

Machen, on the verge of being stabbed blind by Terrell's stinging, fast-firing left jabs to the face in the early rounds, kept bending low to avoid the punches and tried to get inside.

Terrell simply smothered Machen with his long arms and then popped him on the side of his body. This was perfectly legal, said referee Weisman, but the fans booed the big man and cheered the 9-5 underdog constantly. When Terrell hit the spinning Machen on the back, the fans reered and the referee warned Terrell.

It was the 13th straight victory for Terrell whose record is 37-4. Machen, blowing a big chance for at least the third time, now has a 47-6-2 record.

Terrell weighed 199 pounds to Machen's 192.

Machen, who said he thought he won, mentioned the possibility of a return bout. Most everyone shuddered.

Billy Foster Is Major Attraction At Fort Worth

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Fleet Billy Foster of Southern Methodist and a couple of field event champions send the southwestern recreation track meet into full swing today.

Foster, the 1963 sprint champion who already has done a 9.6-second 100 this year, was to be among the featured attractions of the 42nd recreation show.

Roger Orrell of Abilene Christian and Jim Lancaster of Baylor returned to defend their respective discus and shot put triumphs, although neither appears capable of upsetting the other in his specialty.

The two-day track and field meet got off to a wind blown start Friday with high school entrants virtually baffled by gusts up to 40 miles per hour.

Ronnie Lightfoot of Copperas Cove and Larry Smith of Abilene shared the record breaking honors, with Smith struggling into the night to win the pole vault.

He clinched first with a record vault of 14 feet 1½ inches and then attempted three times unsuccessfully to clear 15-2½.

The stands at Farrington Field had emptied two hours earlier. His reading cracked the 14-¼ mark set by Warren Brattlof of Galena Park in 1961.

Lightfoot sent the discus spiraling 181 feet 10 inches to bury the 161-4 record set in 1942 by Keith Vineyard of Edgewood.

Track officials were at a loss to determine immediately if Vinyard's mark was set with a heavier discus and conceded that Lightfoot's effort was apparently unchallengable.

Lightfoot also finished third in the shot put to pick up a total of eight points for Copperas Cove. Mike Ryles of Ada, Okla., won the event with a heave of 59 feet ¼ inch.

Another Oklahoman, Bobby Preston of Walters, won the high jump at 6 feet 2¼ inches and Lonnie Speck of Dallas Oak Cliff sailed 22 feet 8¼ inches to win the broad jump.

George Aldredge of Dallas Highland Park sped through the crisp, chilly wind to lead the qualifiers in both the 100 and 220-yard dashes.

The scribes' choice as outstanding performer here last year, Aldredge raced to a 10.2 in the 100 and a 21.6 in the 220 in his preliminary tests.

SWC Nines Win 4 Of 6

By The Associated Press

Four of six Southwest Conference baseball teams won their games Friday, featured by the first intersectional triumph of the season—Texas' 16-6 decision over Oklahoma.

Baylor edged Pan American 6-4 in 10 innings, Texas A&M downed St. Mary's 10-8 and Texas Christian beat Dallas University 10-8.

Rice took an 8-2 drubbing from Texas Lutheran and Southern Methodist was beaten 3-0 by Sam Houston State in Bob Finley's debut as baseball coach of SMU.

Finley took over when Alex Hooks resigned Thursday.

Five games are scheduled today with Southern Methodist again playing Sam Houston at Huntsville, Baylor tangling with Pan American at Edinburg again, Texas Christian hosting Dallas University, Rice and St. Mary's battling at San Antonio and Texas meeting Oklahoma in the second game of the series at Austin.

Texas, showing awesome power at the plate, pounded 16 hits in battering Oklahoma Friday. Among the hits were five homers and five doubles. Butch Thompson, Joe Hague and Forrest Boyd hit homers in an eighth inning outburst that brought in six runs.

Texas Relays To Be Dedicated To Olle

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—The annual Texas Relays April 2-3 will be dedicated to Ed Olle, business manager and assistant athletic director at the time of his death last April.

Queen Empress, the 2-year-old filly champion, is owned jointly by Mrs. Henry Carnegie Phipps and her grandson, Ogden Mills (Dinny) Phipps. The filly races in the Wheatley Stable colors.

Bill Russell Named Player Of Year

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Bill Russell of the Boston Celtics was named the Player of the Year today in the annual National Basketball Association players' all-star team balloting.

In addition to Russell, those named to the all-star team were Bob Pettit of the St. Louis Hawks, Elgin Baylor and Jerry West, both of the Los Angeles Lakers, Oscar Robertson of the Cincinnati Royals.

Lucious Jackson of the Philadelphia 76ers was named the Rookie of the Year in the players' poll. He defeated Willis Reed of the New York Knickerbockers by only one vote, 46-45.

Players would not vote for teammates in the poll, which was conducted by The Sporting News. Russell was the choice of 34 NBA players for Player of the Year. Robertson and West each received 27 votes for the Player of the Year designation.

3-Year-Olds Nominated For Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Jacinto, Kentucky-bred pride of California; Flamingo winner Native Charger; 1964 juvenile champion Bold Lad and 127 other 3-year-olds have been nominated for the 91st running of the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs May 1.

The list, announced today, includes all of the 2-year-olds standouts of last year except Sadair and Royal Gunner. Both were injured during the winter season. Sadair has been retired to the stud but Royal Gunner is expected to make it back to the races later in the year.

Only a dozen or so of the 130, however, are expected to be in the Derby starting line-up. The first of the Triple Crown series, which also includes the Preakness and the Belmont Stakes, carries a purse of $125,000 in added money. The winner of the 1¼-mile race is guaranteed $100,000.

Although no filly has won the Derby since Regret in 1915 two were nominated for this year's run for the roses. They are J. Graham Brown's Marry the Prince, an impressive winner in Florida, and Mrs. H. F. Becker's Miss Faila, which never has raced.

Matson Has Busy 8-Day Schedule

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., (AP)—Randy Matson, sophomore weightman of Texas A&M, has mapped himself a busy eight days.

Today he competes in a triangular meet at Houston, next Friday he flies to Detroit for the NCAA indoor meet and next Saturday he flies back to Texas to compete in the Border Olympics at Laredo.

Matson won't throw the discus at Laredo because it is on Friday. He will throw the shot Saturday night.

Matson only recently decided to compete in the NCAA. Coach Charley Thomas of A&M said the NCAA strongly urged that the big athlete compete in its first indoor meet.

Blue Devils In Tourney Finals

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

"We're going to be all right now," said Duke Coach Vic Bubas after his eighth-ranked Blue Devils barely escaped disaster at the hands of South Carolina in the first round of the Atlantic Coast Conference championship tournament.

He was right. The Blue Devils rebounded to crush Wake Forest 101-81 in the semifinals Friday night and need only to beat N.C. State in tonight's final at Raleigh to wrap up their third straight ACC title and an automatic berth in the NCAA postseason tournament. N.C. State reached the final by defeating Maryland 76-67.

UCLA, second-ranked in the Associated Press poll, beat Southern California 77-71, fourth-ranked Providence walloped Brown 90-65 and 10th-ranked Brigham Young won the Western Athletic Conference title and an NCAA berth by defeating Wyoming 102-87.

The New Mexico Lobos, seeded second in the NIT tournament opening next week in New York, lost their third straight game, 78-76 to Utah while in other Friday games Harvard beat Yale 85-83, Florida took Georgia 90-66, Stanford downed California 86-79, Oregon State humbled Oregon 69-50 and Washington State went two overtimes to beat Washington 78-74.

Unbeaten Evansville opened defense of its national NCAA small college championship by crushing Bethune-Cookman 116-77 in one of 16 regional games.

"I think the boys believe they've got the toughest one out of the way," Bubas said after Duke's 62-60 squeaker over South Carolina Thursday. The Blue Devils made his comment stand up by exploding for an 18-point lead in the second half at 77-59 and drubbing Wake Forest. Steve Vacendak led the onslaught with 25 points followed by Jack Marin's 20.

A crowd of 14,571, the largest collegiate turnout in Los Angeles history, saw UCLA whip the Trojans for their 32nd straight in Pacific Athletic Conference play.

John Fairchild's 28 points paced BYU over Wyoming at Provo. Flynn Robinson's 31 points helped the Cowboys lead briefly at 59-58.

St. Michael's of Vermont, Bellarmine, Buffalo, Akron, Assumption of Massachusetts, Long Island, Philadelphia Textile, Moorhead, North Dakota, Fresho State, Abilene Christian, Washington of St. Louis, Central Michigan, Southern Illinois and Seattle Pacific advanced, along with Evansville, to tonight's second round play in the NCAA small college tournament.

Tiger Cagers Selected For All-District

Four members of the Tiger basketball team have been mentioned by opposing coaches in the voting for all - district 3-AAA honors. Leading Snyder scorer Leslie Anderson was named to the select first team; Leslie Brown and Drew Bullard were chosen for the second team, and Jerry Vestal received honorable mention.

The "dream" team was chosen by the seven district 3-AAA coaches who sent their selections to the Snyder Daily News where the votes were tabulated and the teams compiled. Each coach selected a first and second team, with a first - team vote counting 5 points and a second-team vote counting 3 points. No coach could vote for members of his own team.

The five boys with the most votes were named to the first team. Six players made the second team, due to a two-way tie for 5th place on that team. All other players who received any votes were given honorable mention.

Altogether 22 boys from district schools were mentioned by the coaches. Only one, Henry Willis of Levelland, was a unanimous selection. All of those on the first team are seniors except Buzz Timmons of Brownfield, who is a junior.

The four Snyder players, all seniors, were instrumental in helping Coach Ned Underwood's team to a 22-5 record, and a tie for second place in the district standings.

Lakers Can Get Closer To Title

By The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Lakers can move two steps closer to the Western Division title in the National Basketball Association tonight, but Rookie Willis Reed of the New York Knicks wishes he had moved just one step closer against the Lakers.

Reed scored 46 points Friday night in the Knicks' 105-103 loss to Los Angeles. In other games, Baltimore edged Boston 128-124 and Philadelphia nipped Cincinnati 110-109.

Despite his performance, including 19 points in the final quarter, Reed was upset by a shot he missed with six seconds left.

"I'd rather have scored only 20 points and made that last one," the rookie said following the game. "Maybe I should have tried to dribble and get in closer to the basket."

But New York Coach Harry Gallatin defended Reed, saying the Lakers forced him into shooting from where he did.

The victory, gained on Rudy LaRusso's basket with 24 seconds left, was the fifth straight for the Lakers over-all and their eighth in a row on the road.

A triumph over the St. Louis Hawks tonight would move the Lakers two points closer to the division title.

The Knicks, meanwhile, were eliminated from the playoffs for the sixth consecutive year and ninth in the last 10.

Two free throws by rookie Wally Jones with 43 seconds to play in overtime led Baltimore past Boston, which already has won the Eastern title. The Bullets forced the game into overtime with three points in the final minute of regulation play. Don Ohl's free throw tied it 114-114.

Wilt Chamberlain scored 48 points, including the winning basket with 1:04 to go, sparking Philadelphia past Cincinnati. The 76ers' ace also blocked two Royal shots in the final 18 seconds. Oscar Robertson topped Cincinnati with 36 points.

Records Set In State Tourney

By JACK KEEVER

AUSTIN (AP)—Houston Jones coach Robert Bradford's semi-finals game plan flopped Friday night, but only because his team wouldn't stop scoring.

Bradford wanted the Falcons to grab an early lead against Kingsville so he could rest his starters for the Class AAAA state schoolboy basketball finals against Dallas Thomas Jefferson this afternoon.

Jefferson had whipped El Paso 73-55 earlier in the day.

But the Houston team was so flawless, hitting their first eight shots from the floor and 3 of 3 free throws, he left them in longer than he would have liked as the score mounted 30-13 at the end of the first period, 47-28 at the half and 74-52 at the conclusion of three quarters.

Two big records were then in reach—Sweeney's previous high one-game total of 92 set in 1954, and the aggregate, or two-team total of 165, established by Webster and Phillips in a 1956 AA tilt. The Falcons, running their season record to 36-3, passed those marks with some to spare, routing the Brahmas 106-71 and becoming the first team in the tournament's 45-year history to run up more than 100 points.

That set Jones up for the title game today (2:05 p.m.), one of five championships to be determined.

Snook, seeking its 50th victory of the season and first state crown, was to play Deweyville at 9 a.m. fo rthe Class B title, followed by Port Acres and Lake Worth (Fort Worth) in the Class AA championship contest at 10:10 a.m.

Tonight's schedule matches San Marcos and Waxahachie for the AAA title (7:30 p.m.) and Woodsboro and Woodsboro and West Sabine (Pineland) in A (8:35 p.m.).

All but the B and AAAA championship pairings were settled Thursday, the first day of the meet.

Snook, Deweyville, Jefferson and Jones gained the finals Friday.

Snook approached the record Jones wrecked, trouncing Meadow 89-39 with Joe Adamek scoring 30 points and the team hitting 64 per cent of their field goal attempts.

Snook's opponent in the finals, Deweyville, beat a steady Graford squad 43-37, outscoring the North Texas school 14-8 in the final quarter. Dick Davis, a stubby guard, scored 16 for Deweyville, in the tournament for the first time. Ronnie Lemley with 14 was high for Graford, which later slipped past Meadow, 61-58, for third place in Class B. Lemley got 33 points in that game, but Paul Pendergrass hit the single game high for the tournament with 38 points for Meadow.

In other consolation games, the Panhandle team of Gruver defeated Whitesboro 43-39 for third place in A; Phillips raced past San Antonio Randolph 74-65 in AA, and West Orange took a surprising 71-56 triumph over Brownwood in AAA.

Post Season Tournaments Get Underway Monday

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Some of the season's longest winning streaks in college basketball go on the line Monday when the major teams get down to the serious business of playing post-season tournaments.

Five teams which can boast winning streaks ranging from 10 to 19 games are scheduled to appear on the same court in one section of the first-round National Collegiate Athletic Association playoffs.

The NCAA tournament was reduced to 23 teams this year due to a shortage of qualified teams for at-large selection in some areas. As a result, three first-round games will be played at Philadelphia and two at Texas Tech Monday, and two more at Western Kentucky Tuesday.

The winners of these games will go into four regional tournaments Friday and Saturday, from which will emerge four teams to fight it out for the NCAA title at Portland, Ore., March 19-20.

The National Invitation Tournament, which no longer gets the champions—except its own—opens its 28th stand in Madison Square Garden Thursday with a field increased from 12 to 14 teams. It also ends March 20.

Also on this week's schedule are the two small college tournaments—the NCAA College Division finals at Evansville, Ind., Wednesday through Friday and the NAIA championship at Kansas City all week. District and regional playoffs during the past week have reduced the field to 32 for the NAIA and eight for the NCAA.

The match-up of winning streaks takes place in the NCAA first round tripleheader at Philadelphia. Princeton, which won its last 10 games en route to the Ivy League championship, meets Penn State, 13 straight, in the opener. St. Joseph's, 15 straight and 25-1 for the season, meets Connecticut, 14 straight and 22-2, in the second game. For the windup it's Providence, which won its first 19 games in a 21-1 season, against late-starting West Virginia, winner of the Southern Conference tournament.

The doubleheader at Texas Tech, combining the first-round games for two regionals, sends Oklahoma City against Colorado State University and Notre Dame against Houston. The first game winner moves into the Far West regional and the second winner into the Midwest regional.

Tuesday's games at Western Kentucky, qualifying two teams for the Mid-East regional, are DePaul vs. Eastern Kentucky, the Ohio Valley Conference champion, and Dayton vs. the winner of the Mid American Conference title—either Ohio University of Miami of Ohio.

Sites of the four regional next weekend are the University of Maryland, Kentucky, Kansas State and Brighton Young.

The NCAA tournament automatically takes the champions of 15 conferences an', as usual, several of these races weren't settled before the final weekend of the regular season.

Iowa State scored only five touchdowns in its last eight games.

CARRY NATION

(Nee Carry Amelia Moore)

When I was young I carried in my mind an image of this valiant woman and I believed all the great stories and tales of this fearless, courageous, young and beautiful woman in her crusade to destroy the saloons that existed in her time. I had the deepest of admiration for her and at that time I believed in her cause.

When I grew up and was able to buy some books I discovered to my amazement that a great gap exists between fact and fiction. I found out that this American temperance agitator was born in Jarrand County, Ky., November 25, 1846 and died in Leavenworth, Kan., June 9, 1911; that she was married to Dr. Charles Gloyd in 1877. He was a lawyer and minister.

In 1890 she began her famous campaign against saloons in Medicine Lodge, Kan. She eventually resorted to violent tactics, destroying everything in her path. She first used a hatchet in her destruction of other people's property, and this hatchet became her symbol. In 1901 her husband divorced her on the grounds of desertion, she traveled between San Francisco, Washington and New York and was arrested 30 times. She traveled mostly with carnivals selling souvenir hatchets to pay her fines.

She was a very tall woman with unusual strength and energy; she was given to mystic seizures and appeared to have suffered from hereditary paranoia. Her mother was a psychotic who believed herself to be Queen Victoria.

While some of Mrs. Carry's wrath was directed at alcohol, lots more of it was directed against corsets, short skirts and smoking and in general trying to get up her own code of morals. She received little, if any, support from National Women's organizations and if she were alive today and started her great crusade, she would be confined to a mental hospital, and if one-half of the things are true in this pamphlet that is being circulated here in Snyder regarding legal sales in Post, we ought to call the Texas Rangers, the F. B. I. and Justice Department as well as the National Guard and the United Nations and get this condition cleared up at once.

I carried this pamphlet to Post and showed it to some people on the streets and they glanced at it and laughed and handed it back to me. The hotel mentioned in this pamphlet has been burned down for several years.

We need a hundred or so more signers!

Writer Takes A Long Look At Redshirting

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Is 'redshirt" a nasty word?

Is it fair to a college athlete to keep his nose to the academic grindstone so his grades will remain at the proper level and he'll get his degree at the end of the normal four years?

Or is it better for him to pursue a more leisurely course in the classrooms, skip one year of competition, and take an extra year to complete both the requirements for a degree and his three seasons of varsity competition?

Or, in view of developments, wouldn't it be smart to continue the practice but give it a new name — such as a five-year plan?

You can get all kinds of answers.

Redshirting in football is a practice almost as old as the rule limiting collegians to three years of varsity competition. Some coaches found it practical to hold back athletes one year to reach physical maturity and to reduce the risk of academic dropouts. Many schools considered it somewhat unethical.

The players — usually sophomores — who were being held back often wore red jerseys when they scrimmaged against the regulars. Hence the name.

The word was added to the average fan's vocabulary this winter during a college vs. pro hassle about the premature signing of football players. The pros and the public were inclined to lump all fifth-year players as redshirts.

'Why should we pass up a good prospect because some college coach wants to stockpile a lot of players?" the pro clubs asked.

One official who acted for the National Collegiate A.A. in discussions with the major pro leagues commented: "Everyone said we shouldn't make an issue of signing redshirts. They said it wasn't a sound practice. It wasn't considered defensible."

Connally Seeks Board To Coordinate War On Waste

By ERNEST STROMBERGER

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. John Connally's next move against college waste will be a search for the 18 members of the new College Coordinating Board.

Connally signed into law Thursday a bill setting up the board Sept. 1.

The nine-year history of the Texas Commission on Higher Education indicates his battle is only half won—educational excellence sought in the law depends on how tough the people are who administer it.

Some colleges may have overlooked this point in viewing the new board as more of the same—and foreseeing little chance that 18 people could effectively screen 25,000 college courses at one sitting as proposed in the bill.

College opposition to the proposal, which was high when it was recommended by Connally's study committee last summer, had almost totally vanished when votes were counted in the legislature. Colleges apparently were willing to take a chance on the board to get promised higher appropriations.

But the "coordinating board, Texas college and university system" will shift much power from the board to the staff, a shift which has been taking place with the present commission.

And it is through a strong staff that the new board will be able to make noticeable alteration in the 22 colleges' headlong plunge toward uncoordinated growth.

This is true because of a basic weakness of the 15-member commission, as with all laymen, part-time boards: most members are busy executives with little time to probe the background of decisions they are asked to make. They see their staff less than one day a month.

One senator was astonished to discover how the commission handles this difficulty: It meets privately on the nights before a public meeting to hash out problems, then votes formally at serene meetings the next day.

Some private decision-making meetings left the commission open to charges of politics when controversial rulings were made on creating new state colleges.

Politics found an easy entry into some commission affairs because colleges can plead with board members about a specific project for weeks before it is voted on —and this pressure often cannot be neutralized by a five-minute staff presentation.

No one knows this better than several members of Connally's study committee, who ironically attacked duplication in such minor areas as library science as members of Connally's committee while having helped create more serious duplication by lobbying for new degree programs before the commission.

Connally's study committee also said the commission lacked authority—but there were whole sections of the law creating the commission which were never used, such as a provision giving it authority "to designate the institutions to carry out research, extension and public service."

Although the commission was vulnerable to politics and failed to exert all of its power, its most important early problems related to the staff. The early turnover rate was high, salaries were low, and the important program director's post was vacant for three years.

Worst of all, staff recommendations were ignored on the most controversial items—addition of the Univesity of Houston, San Angelo College and Pan American College at Edinburg to the state system.

In recent years, under direction of Dr. Lester Harrell, the commission staff has taken more initiative and won more support from commission members.

The commission continues to grant all but the most needless new programs. Last year it overrode staff recommendations against doctoral programs in business at Texas Tech and in radiation at Texas Woman's University at Denton.

It is likely the colleges expect such favorable treatment to continue under the new board despite the strong staff authority included in the new law.

If it develops that the colleges acted under false expectations, they may find that the higher appropriations they won for not opposing Connally cannot be spent where the colleges want.

Nightwatchman Gets Sizeable Inheritance

DALLAS (AP)—A 78-year-old widow has bequeathed a sizable part of her estate to a night watchman whom she called "my loyal friend" in her will.

Mrs. Ann B. Cochran, who died in January, left Hubert Hale three parcels of land and about $8,000 in cash.

Neighbors said Hale used to look after the semi-invalid woman at her fashionable Highland Park home in Dallas.

Other portions of her estate go to Boys Ranch near Amarillo and to the Salvation Army. She left her jewelry, some cash and her dogs to friends.

Mrs. Cochran's lands are located in Cass and Wood counties. Her will was executed recently.

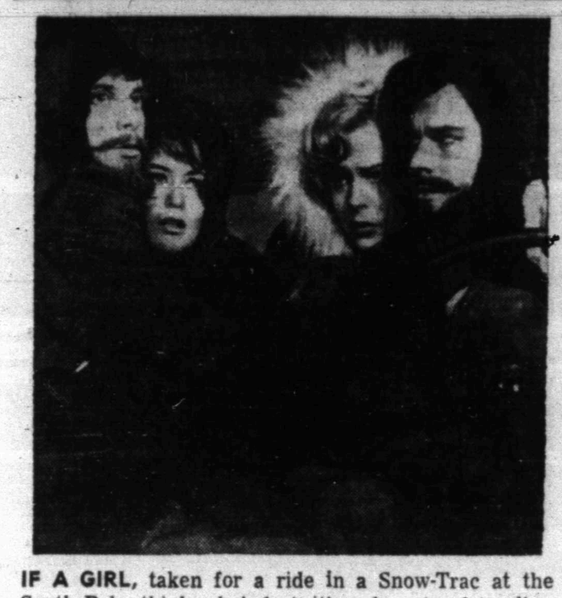
AMUSEMENT



IF A GIRL, taken for a ride in a Snow-Trac at the South Pole, thinks she's lost, it's only natural to cling to the man of her heart. It is coming to the Canyon Drive In Theater here March 15.

More Musicals Could Be Used

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — With "The Sound of Music," 20th Century-Fox has a musical hit to match the three contenders for top honors in this year's Academy race — "Mary Poppins," "My Fair Lady" and "The Unsinkable Molly Brown."

It's a wonder Hollywood doesn't make more musicals — as of this week, not one of the 37 films in production is a tune-film. The argument has been that musicals don't sell in foreign markets; but "West Side Story" disproved that.

With successes like the Oscar trio, a musical can justify its investment in this country alone. Further, the movie musical (as well as the Western) is something the American industry can make so superlatively that film makers of other countries don't even try to compete.

"The Sound of Music" is a perfect example. Although the story is located in Austria and the stars are English and Canadian the film is essentially American in concept and execution. It was created by the same team, headed by producer-director Robert Wise, that made "West Side Story."

The last of the Rodgers-Hammerstein collaborations, "The Sound of Music" is the best screen version of their works. Although commercially successful, the others were marred by miscastings and overproduction. Wise carefully avoided those two pitfalls. His film is impeccably cast.

The story, which Lindsay and Crouse wrote for the stage and Ernest Lehmann adapted for the screen, concerns the Trapp family of singers. It divides neatly into two sections: The efforts of a wealthy naval hero to find a governess — and mother — for his seven children; the family's flight from Austria after the Nazi takeover.

The first part offers enough sentiment to warm everyone except haters of Christmas and children. Indeed, the film could have been a marshmallow mass except for Wise's firm hand and the sharp instincts of the players.

PICK ME A WINNER — James Stewart, Fabian, Glynis Johns, Billy Mumy and Cindy Carol try to pick a winning horse from the racing form in this scene from "Dear Brigitte," 20th Century Fox comedy in CinemaScope and DeLuxe Color. A special advance showing is set for Saturday, March 20, at the Palace Theater here.

Scott Continues Unreconstructed

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The man who shook up the Motion Picture Academy is in town at the awards season, and he remains unreconstructed where Oscar is concerned.

Dynamic George C. Scott paid a rare visit to Hollywood to perform in a Bob Hope-Chrysler Theater show. Several obervers believed Scott would be nominated last week for his role as Gen. Buck Turgidson in "Dr. Strangelove."

Scott didn't think so, and it turned out he was right.

"I don't believe I will ever be nominated again," he said flatly. He thinks Academy voters still resent his blast three years ago, when he was nominated as best supporting actor for "The Hustler." He asked that his name be withdrawn on grounds that the Oscar race was a meaningless popularity contest.

Does he regret his action?

"Not in the least," he snapped. "My only regret is that I wasn't able to shock the Academy into doing something constructive to clean up the awards structure. The same orgy of trade paper advertisements goes on.

"And the awards are still voted by all the Academy members, which perpetuates the block voting. The acting awards should be voted by actors alone. If the Oscar were selected by my peers, I would treasure it. But I can't have any respect for an award that is voted on by everyone from grips to press agents."

Scott, one of the screen's best actors, will likely be nominated again, despite his wishes. He will be seen this year in two new films, both episodic and made in Europe. The modern "Yellow Rolls-Royce" required four weeks; "The Bible" took four and a half months.

Servicemen Complain Of Shoddy Arms

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — American servicemen in South Viet Nam are voicing new complaints of ammunition shortages, shoddy weapons and lack of equipment. They say some of the equipment is available on the Saigon black market.

"I was better equipped in World War II," said a grizzled U.S. Army engineer, holding up a World War I pistol belt and some rusty cartridge magazines.

Four weeks ago, a secret Senate hearing in Washington upheld the critical report of a U.S. captain — later killed by the Viet Cong — that U.S. arms issued to a Vietnamese battalion had been poorly maintained.

The new round of complaints come from U.S. Army, Navy, Marine and Air Force advisers.

None of the men would be quoted by name but their complaints, offered at random in recent days, include:

A Navy adviser — "Some of the ammunition for our cannons is in pretty bad shape when it gets here. The guns on one ship jammed every 20 or 30 rounds."

Another Navy adviser — "The skin (hull) of one of the Navy ships sent over here from the States was so rusted you could punch a hole through its armor with a pencil."

A Marine adviser — "I was issued iodine tablets in the states for water purification. When I tried to use them out here in the jungle, I found they had deteriorated into powder."

An Army spotter plane pilot — "We can't get chamois leather to strain gasoline at the tiny airstrips we refuel from. But this chamois can be bought on the Saigon black markets without any trouble."

Gloria Swanson, At 66, Is Defiant To Aging Process

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Like the comedian who is finally cast as Hamlet, or the dancer in the non-dancing role, Gloria Swanson gets her acting kicks playing any character other than the one she calls "a you-know-what."

Miss Swanson, a tiny, vivid, articulate woman of impeccable taste, who at 66 seems impervious to the aging processes, is one of the few really glamorous stars who has made a professional bridge from Hollywood's pioneer days through the golden age of the love goddesses to today's production-line television series.

In 1948, after all the exciting successful years, Miss Swanson emerged in her greatest acting triumph. She played a mad, tragic figure, an ex-movie star, in a fine film, "Sunset Boulevard." That was all very well, but for the past 17 years, when any film or television producer has a role of fading, aging film queen, he immediately thinks of Miss Swanson's definitive performance. The role is the one she ruefully refers to as "you-know-what" and "guess what?"

She has played guess-what on recent series ranging from "Dr. Kildare," in which she was both fading and ailing, to next Thursday night's episode of "My Three Sons," on ABC when the emphasis will be on comedy.

She also occasionally emerges in other roles — a nutty lady in a blonde wig in a "Burke's Law" show and an unfortunate victim in a Hitchcock show. On March 15, she will play a flashy, rather unsympathetic stepmother with no theatrical background in a "Ben Casey" episode.

The actress, who in person is far from fading or desperate, takes all this with a philosophic sigh born of years of association with the studios and stereotype thinking.

"One is constantly reminded of the old days when working out there," she reflected comfortably the other day. "Years ago Adolph Menjou and I were making a movie in the RKO studios on Gower Street. Another member of the cast was a young, Latin-type fellow and neither Adolph nor I thought he was any great talent. But the next time I worked there, he owned the studio. His name was Arnaz."

Gloria Swanson has lived in New York since 1938, in a beautiful spacious Fifth Avenue apartment, but makes frequent trips west to work — and visit one of her married daughters and her mother. She was an early experimenter in television — with a local daytime talk show in the late 1940s, and believes that television today is in danger of falling into the same trap that once caught the motion picture industry.

"The people who built motion pictures were the women who went to the theaters, the ones who begged George or Harry to take them to the Bijou to see Garbo and Gilbert or the other great ones. Those were the days of the big women stars — stars who looked and acted the way women would like to look and act. After all, the sirens, even if they appealed to men in the audience, didn't last long, because the women didn't go."

Miss Swanson watches a lot of television and has concluded that it is primarily programmed by men who are g u essing what women like to see. The result seems to be a long string of shows which appeal first to men — particularly war shows, Westerns and action-adventure — or the young.

"It is quite hard to find in evening television any women with whom the adult woman viewer would like to identify."

Miss Swanson stayed in New York just long enough to appear as "What's My Line's" mystery guest on its birthday program, then fly off for a week's visit with another daughter and grandchildren who live in Paris. Then back to the coast. In addition to an occasional acting flyer, she has an interest in a dress company, campaigns for causes and generally leads a busy life.

She was fuming mildly because a Hollywood columnist had printed an item to the effect that she recently held up shooting while being attended by a hairdresser.

"What infernal nonsense," she sputtered. "I take complete care of my own hair — I never have had a hairdresser do it — and I've always put on my own makeup at home. I show up about 20 minutes before we are due to start shooting, and I don't think I've ever held up a schedule in my life."

Would she like to do a television series of her own?

"I'd like to do a daytime program on an informal basis — not a dramatic series," she said. "It would be fun to explore ideas and news of real interest to real women."

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY — A lady reader from Amarillo, Texas, writes that she has heard so much about Lake Chapala and the American Colony there that she would like to know a few things. And she says a column of ours in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram (Amarillo editors take note) got her all excited about maybe moving down.

Well, there are a lot of U.S. people living in the Chapala area. The little town of Chapala is as quiet and easy moving as it was when the Spaniards marched in a few centuries ago. But now they have a modern supermarket, a U.S. library and a paved highway 45 minutes from Guadalajara.

Chapala is around 5,000 feet high and has Spring the year around. People who have moved in say you couldn't blast them out now. The cost of living is very moderate. As to your papers, ma'am, I'd suggest you come down on a tourist card and look the place over. If you like it you can go to the immigration office in Mexico City and apply for resident papers (non-working). And bring along evidence of an income.

Am contemplating a fishing trip to Tampico and would like information on flying my light plane down, facilities, etc.

Simplest way is fly to Brownsville, then straight down the coast to Tampico. There is a modern airport with all facilities. However, DO NOT try to beat weather in. Morning flying during this time of the year is best. You often get sudden thunderstorms in the afternoon so watch for indications. First sign of a front moving in, turn back because they build up fast down here.

Any motor clubs in Mexico that handle insurance, bonding, legal fees, etc. in case of accident or traffic violations?

The two big ones are the National Automobile Association (ANA) and the Mexican Automobile Association (AMA). They are hooked up with top insurance companies and take care of details for members. If you get clobbered at an intersection, call the company and an adjusting gentleman will be there in 10 minutes. Twenty-four hour service.

Can you recommend a place to buy wood carvings in Mexico City?

You might try Arte En Madera at Londres 106. They have a good selection of just about everything. There are scads of shops all over town and the best way to find them is charter a guide through your hotel. Licensed guides, incidentally, are bonded and carefully processed by the Government Turista Department.

Information of climate and hotels in Cordoba?

Cordoba is in the "high tropics" of Veracruz State. A nice spot built on a jungle mountain about 3,700 feet high and the climate is warm — but not down right hot — all the time. There are a number of colonial points of interest in the old colonial city. I like the Hotel Palacio. $5 a day single and $10 double, meals included.

Women Try Hand At Harvesting

SALINAS, Calif. (AP) — Women are working in the Salinas Valley broccoli harvest in a champagne version of the back-breaking field work formerly done by Mexican braceros.

The women ride, sitting down, through the fields. They work to the accompaniment of radio music. Four drinking fountains travel with them.

And, of course, they get coffee breaks—two a day, with doughnuts.

So far there is just one crew of 25 women on the job for the Mann Packing Co. The company is trying to recruit another feminine crew.

It is an experimental approach in the hunt by California farmers for replacements for Mexican workers formerly imported under the bracero program. That program was discontinued Dec. 31.

"We believe we exhausted every avenue of approach in recruiting domestic workers," Ramsey said. "We had tried everything but women, so we decided, let's try them."

The packing company hired farm women, capable of working with the short-handled hoes used for weeding and thinning.

They form one of three crews on the company's lands. They've been on the job two weeks. Their production equals that of either of the two all-male crews, Ramsey said. And there are some advantages.

With the women, he said, "nobody pulls a knife on you if you tell them you have to let them go." They will wait until the end of the week before getting paid — at $1.25 an hour — instead of insisting on being paid each day as the men often do.

Before hiring the feminine crew the company modified its mechanized labor savers that crawl through the field at a mile an hour. Harvesting crewmen had walked behind the $20,000 labor savers cutting broccoli.

Mann added adjustable, reversible, contoured seats, fore and aft, so the women employes could sit down while they work.

The county's farmers estimate they will need 20,000 supplemental workers to cultivate and handle such crops, including lettuce, strawberries and celery.

Charged With Bookmaking

DALLAS (AP) — John W. Clark, 54, was charged with federal gambling violations Friday after Internal Revenue Service agents claimed they uncovered a $35,000 per week sports betting business working out of his Highland Park apartment.

Agents said that in addition to $13,302 in cash, they seized a list of "very select clientele" and information of betting on nationwide football and basketball games.

They raided the apartment Wednesday and found money, six betting "lines" on basketball games, settlement sheets and "book" records showing a $35,256 payoff "kitty," they said.

While agents searched the apartment, they answered several phone calls asking the basketball odds, agent Edd Haskins said.

They also seized two transoceanic radios capable of receiving sportscasts from anywhere in the nation, Haskins added.

Mummified Woman Found In Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The mummified body of a woman believed buried a century ago has been found in a Cuban cemetery, Havana radio reported.

The broadcast, monitored here Friday, said the woman wore a white blouse, black skirt and high shoes typical of dress 100 years ago. The body was perfectly preserved, it added.

The discovery, in Matanzas Municipal Cemetery, was reported to the Cuban Academy of Sciences, the broadcast said.

If you are planning to serve creamed chicken over rice, you might give the rice extra flvor by adding curry powder to it. For a cup of rice that is to be boiled, add a teaspoon of the curry powder.

Engine Falls As Plane Sets Down

Door Barred Behind Estes

LEAVENWORTH, Kan. (AP) — The barred doors of the federal penitentiary shut behind Billie Sol Estes Friday and he became just another number among the 2,250 inmates there.

Estes spent two years fighting his conviction for mail fraud and conspiracy in a deal that involved about $24 million worth of mortgages on fertilizer tanks that did not exist. He was sentenced to 15 years.

The United States Supreme Court in January refused to hear his appeal from the conviction that was handed down by a federal jury in El Paso, Tex., March 23, 1963.

Estes also was convicted in a Tyler, Tex., court on state charges of swindling. His eight-year sentence on that conviction is being appealed.

On Wednesday, a jury in Dallas acquitted him in a third trial of lying in his financial statements to procure government grain storage contracts.

2 Employes Of Humble Retire

Retirement of Currie A. Skains and Gordon A. Warner has been announced by Humble Oil and Refining Company, effective March 1.

Warner completed over 40 years of service with Humble. A native of East Texas, he plans to move to Wells in Nacogdoches County and do some farming and fishing.

At present Warner and his wife live at 3701 Galveston Avenue. During his 40 years of service with Humble he has worked in Baytown, New London, Hobbs, Andrews and Denver City.

In 1943 he transferred to the Stratton District in the Corpus Christi area, and on Sept. 1, 1946, he was transferred to Scott and Harper District and promoted to field maintenance foreman. After working in the Greta District for a year, he was transferred back to West Texas to the Snyder District.

Skains began his career with Humble in 1933 as a roustabout at Tomball. Since that time he has worked at various occupations at Pledger, Pledger Gas System, Tomball, Racoon Bend, Devers, Livingston and Baytown Refinery.

In 1947 Skains was transferred to West Texas in the McCamey District. At McCamey he was promoted to field maintenance foreman. In 1958 he was transferred to Snyder, where he and his wife and son make their home at 3803 Galveston.

Skains plans to take an insurance adjuster course at the University of Houston and to continue his active work with Boy Scouts. He plans to make Snyder his permanent home.

Area and district management recently attended a luncheon in honor of Skains. At that time several retirement items usually given by Humble were presented.

Belli Seeks Sanity Test For Simmons

By BOB M. GASSAWAY

MONTERREY, Mexico (AP) —Attorney Melvin Belli is seeking a sanity examination for accused slayer Dykes Askew Simmons as a first step in an effort to free the Texan from a Mexican prison.

Belli, who arrived here Friday, said he hoped to have a psychiatrist and a psychologist examine Simmons this weekend.

"We have a man sentenced to death whose sanity never has been established," said the San Francisco attorney who defended Jack Ruby.

Belli said he believes Simmons is insane, and therefore incapable of the 1959 triple slaying he is convicted of having committed.

"No sane man pumps 22 bullets into three people," Belli said.

The former Fort Worth, Tex., resident is under a death sentence for the killings of three members of Monterrey's Perez Villagomez family—Martha, 21; Hilda, 18, and Juan, 14.

Gov. Eduardo Livas Villarreal has stated publicly his intention of commuting Simmons' death sentence to a prison term.

Belli said his ultimate goal will be proving who killed the trio, if Simmons didn't.

Belli met with McHenry Tichenor, owner of television station KGBT in Harlingen, Tex., who is footing expenses for investigation of the case.

Belli is working free.

Texas Late In Adopting Compulsory Pooling Bill

HOUSTON (AP)— Texas oil and gas conservation statutes date back to 1899 but final action on a compulsory pooling statute was not taken until this week.

Gov. John Connally signed a bill Thursday authorizing the Texas Railroad Commission to require pooling of the operation of a drilling tract when voluntary efforts fail.

In effect, the bill was designed to prevent tracts of only townlot size from receiving more than a fair share of production.

While Texas pioneered many an oil and gas conservation measure, 31 other states were ahead of Texas in adopting such pooling authority in one form or another. Kansas now is the only major oil state without such authority.

Until a year ago, a compulsory pooling bill was too controversial for Texas legislatures to handle.

But Connally's signature Thursday was something of a personal triumph for Michel T. Halbouty, a Houston independent who launched on Dec. 1, 1959, a one-man crusade that eventually led to the new bill sailing through the Texas Legislature this year with ease.

"It's not a perfect pooling bill but it is what I wanted," Halbouty said. "It protects the big operator and the little man. No one can hurt anyone. It means adding teeth to our state's conservation program."

Halbouty ran into the small tract problem in the Port Acres Field in the southeast corner of Texas and launched the crusade aimed at breaking up a Texas tradition in which anyone had a right to drill for oil or gas regardless how small a tract or lease he owned.

Both the Railroad Commission and the 7,000-member Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Association long had championed such a tradition.

The Port Acres Field sprawled across two small-lot sibdivisions and included more than 500 leases involving tracts of only townlot size.

Halbouty went to court—and eventually won—with an argument that drilling permits for 35 wells involving a total of only 25 acres would mean the 35 wells could ultimately produce from 20 to 25 per cent of all the reserves beneath the 4,000-acre field.

He also began stumping the state to tell anyone who would listen that hundreds of unnecessary wells were being drilled across the state.

"I ignored my own business affairs and health and during that one-man crusade that lasted 19 or 20 months," Halbouty said "I was threatened to be whipped in Midland Victoria."

Two rulings by the Texas Supreme Court were to turn Halbouty's crusade into a statewide campaign. Halbouty remained active but his crusade was over.

Canada Still Working On Longest Road

OTTAWA (AP)— The Trans-Canada highway was officially opened over two years ago.

Today they're still building it, with completion likely in 1967.

The mileage, from Newfoundland to British Columbia, is 4,860. It's called the longest paved road in the world, but 400 miles remain to be paved, and other miles must be raised to Trans-Canada specifications.

The minimum standard is a roadway 24 feet wide with 10-foot shoulders. In many places it is wider—up to 12 lanes in Montreal. Nova Scotia's mileage is one-third complete and Quebec's one-fourth. Other provinces have ended the job or nearly so.

The cost of approved work so far is $890 million. When the highway was projected in 1949 the route had only 750 miles of paved roads. Canadians motoring from Atlantic to Pacific used U.S. routes part of the way.

F111 Makes First Supersonic Flight

FORT WORTH (AP) — The new F111 tactical fighter tucked back its wings and made its first supersonic flight Friday, General Dynamics Corp. officials said.

Making its ninth test flight, the plane took off from Carswell Air Force Base and accelerated to mach 1.2 (about 815 miles an hour).

Champion Steer Brings Good Price

HOUSTON (AP) — Junior dairy judging contests and three performances of the rodeo highlighted activities Saturday at the Houston Livestock Show.

The champion livestock of the 1965 show were sold at auction Friday.

The grand champion steer, a Hereford shown by Rhonda Cook, 14, of Mills County, sold for $14,600. A group of Houston beer (Pearl) distributors made the winning bid.

The champion brought an average $18.13 a pound but was far short of the show's record price of $20,500 paid for last year's champion.

Object of the search was the Mooney Mark 20 flown by C. C. Foster of Oklahoma City. Foster and the aircraft have been missing since Monday.

The CAP called off its search emporarily Friday because of high winds.

Study Of New Math Is As Puzzling As Trip With Alice In Wonderland

Editor's note: A discipline called the "new math" is sweeping through the American public classroom, leaving many parents in a state of baffled amazement. Grown-ups who used to help their children now find grammer-school youngsters using teminology here-to-fore reserved for the ivory tower. Here is a look at the situation, with some background.

By TOM JOHNSON

DALLAS (AP) — "Can you do addition?" the White Queen asked. "What's one and one and one and one and one and one and one and one and one and one?"

"I don't know," said Alice. "I lost count."

"She can't do additon," the Red Queen interrupted. "Can you do Subtraction? Take nine from eight."

"Nine from eight I can't, you know," Alice replied very readily: "but—"

"She can't do subtraction," said the White Queen. "Can you do Division? Divide a loaf by a knife — what's the answer to that?"

Many American parents are as bewildered by the "new math" as Lewis Carroll's legenday Alice was by the Queens in "Through the Looking-Glass."

That shouldn't be too surprising, because Carroll was actually Charles Dodgson, a first-rate English mathematician. He did some of the basic work in math that has resulted in today's improved, though sometimes controversial, method of teaching the subject.

Many are the fathers who who have found they not only can't help their ninth-graders with their homework, they don't even know what the pupils are talking about when he uses such terms as:

"The theory of sets...a one-to-one correspondence . . ordered paris . . modular arithmetic. . cardinality . . the distributive property . . binary system . . additive inverse. . ."

But youngsters are being taught to feel as much at home with them as their parents were with such old work horses as square roots, fractions and long division.

The big difference is:

Whereas the new method still teacfies the "how" of all the standard operations, it also teaches the "why."

Joe J. Lancaster, mathematics consultant with the Dallas school system, has this to say about the new math:

"You might say it lets the child go through and discover for himself all the steps that mankind went through in developing math."

One striking difference is simply language itself.

"We introduce the vocabulary —and it's a very precise vocabular — early, some of it even in the primary grades," Lancaster said.

"And with the vocabulary, we introduce the pupil to basic concepts about numbers and logic, on which all the rest of math is based."

Another hallmark of the new math is that each element encountered is strictly defined.

For example: There is an important difference between a "number" and a "numeral." This difference is easy to grasp but the chances are that people taught conventionally never understood it.

A "number" is an idea. It exists only in the mind. All we can do with numbers is think about them.

A "Numeral" is a name or a symbol for a number. We write numerals that represent numbers.

If we want to represent the number "five," we can write various numerals, all of which name "five": 5; the Roman numeral "V"; and so forth.

An important idea of the new math is the concept of a set. Many school systems, introduce it in the first grade.

This "basic, unifying concept," as Lancaster calls it, is defined like this:

"A set is a collection of objects which are called elements or numbers of the set." That's all there is to it.

There is the "Set of letters in the English alphabet;" that set contains 26 elements. There is the "Set of numbers in the U. S. Senate" (100 elements); and the "Set of pennies having the value of a dollar" (100 elements.)

Teachers say it's important that youngsters get the notion of a set early because much of mathematics — arithmetic, algebra, geometry, calculus—can be defined in terms of the set theory.

Instruction in the new math became intense and widespread in the United States after the Soviet Union shocked the world with Sputnik in 1957.

But a radical change was in the wind even before Sputnik, growing out of revolutionary developments in mathematical philosophy since the second half of the 19th Century.

Men such as Frege in Germany and Russell in England formulated basic new concepts.

Typical was the notion that the whole of mathematics is an invention of human thought rather than a natural phenomenon to be "discovered."

Both the theoretical and applied aspects of mathematical development underwent an abrupt transformation in the light of such ideas. One result is the new math.

Some parents charge that the new math is impractical.

To meet such criticism, one need only consider the growing use of computers.

Most digital computers are based on the "Binary system" or "base 2."

Pupils learn fairly early in the new math that the base of any numeration system is arbitrary.

The decimal system is based on the number 10. But the numbers that such numerals represent — 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, etc— can be represented just as well by a system based on 2, or 5 or 7 or any whole number.

For example, 10 plus 10 equals 100 in the base 2 system. And 2 plus 2 equals 11 in the base 3 system.

But in both cases, the quations correspond to 2 plus 2 equals 4 in the base 10 system. That is, the numeral "100" in base 2 and the numeral "11" in base 3 represent the same number: "4" in the base 10 system.

A pupil who has learned this in new math would tend not to be over-awed later should he decide to become a computer programmer and learn that the binary system is the key to the machine.

Dr. William T. Guy Jr., chairman of the mathematics department at the University of Texas said, "It is important to teach the mechanics of different bases of numeration "to facilitate understanding of the base (10) we use."

Mrs. Irene St. Clair, chief math consultant for the Texas Education Agency, said, "We don't know what positions they (students) are going to be entering — many of their jobs haven't been invented yet. We need to teach them to think."

Three Children Die As Home Burns

CADDO MILLS (AP) — Three children died Friday night as fire swept through their frame home in this East Texas town.

The victims were identified as Bobby Wayne Wrinkle, 2, and his two sisters, Durell Lynn Wrinkle, 4, and Cheryl Janice Wrinkle, 9 months.

They were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Wrinkle.

Mrs. Wrinkle was at home at the time of the blaze but was able to get out of the house. Authorities said the youngsters apparently were in a second-story bedroom.

Study Begun By WSCS

Spanish Americans is the theme for the study begun by the Ruth Circle of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of First Methodist Church.

Mrs. John Kaplan, as leader, introduced the study Wednesday morning in the church parlor. The text used by the group is "Death of a Myth," by Kyle Haselden. The dying myth is the popular misconception that the Spanish American spirit is receptive to Roman Catholicism and not to Protestantism, the study pointed out.

One of the highlights of the meeting was a skit presenting the heritage of Puerto Ricans, Cubans and Mexican Americans. Members taking part in the skit were Mrs. Marvin Dozier, Mrs. R. L. Scarbrough, Mrs. H. G. Snyder and Mrs. R. L. Gray.

The study will continue on March 10-17 and 24 from 9:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. Any interested persons is invited to attend.

The size of a bathroom often has little relation to the dimensions of the rooms in the rest of the house.

Bathroom sizes run in cycles. Therefore, the size of your bathroom depends not on how large your house is, but when that house was built. But whether it's large or small, the bathroom can yield additional storage space by utilizing the area under the sink or, as it's more formally called, the lavatory.

By placing a cabinet under the sink, a double purpose is served. One is concealment of the plumbing lines. The other—and primary purpose — is to provide a place for the storage or towels, hand cloths, soap, cleansers, brushes, etc. A big advantage of using this space is that it ordinarily is wasted and that utilization of it in no way cuts down the size of the room by filling any useful wall area.

Construction of the cabinet is simple, since you are building little more than a box, except that there will be no back to it. By leaving off the back, the cabinet can be made in your workshop or some other part of the house and then slid into place without interfering either with legs of the lavatory or the pipe lines. Shelves can be placed in the cabinet easily by using special shelf brackets. Be sure to place the shelves in such position that they can be easily removed in the event that it is necessary at some later date to make a repair under the sink.

You can use lumber, hardboard or plywood for the front door and sides of the cabinet, attaching it to a simple framework 1 by 2's. I used perforated hardboard for the front and sides of one which I made, because I felt it necessary to provide ventilation. If you wish to use lumber or plywood, drill some holes in it for the same reason.

Because of the possibility that the bottom of the cabinet might get kicked every once in a while by someone washing or shaving at the sink, it's a good idea to set the cabinet on a base about an inch or two less in depth. This will give the necessary "toe room." The base is merely three pieces of one-inch lumber butted at the corners to form three sides of a rectangle.

Instead of using a pull handle for the front door, get one of the touch latches which requires only fingertip pressure to open. This will prevent anyone from bumping into the handle.

QUESTION: I had some important documents stored in our basement. Recently, when I took them upstairs, I discovered that they had a mildewed appearance and a musty odor. What can I do about this without runining the documents altogether?

ANSWER: There are a few companies which make a business of restoring old and valuable documents and books, but the cost is rather high. If it is vital that the documents be returned to something approximating their original condition, and you wish to spend the money, you might try one of them. If not, you can make an effort to do the job yourself, recognizing that if the documents are in very poor condition, you may not achieve the results you desire.

If there is actual visible mildew, try rubbing gently with a dry cloth. Then spread out the papers and leave them someplace where there is a movement of air, but not where they might be damaged by rain. Once you are satisfied that you have done everything possible, take steps to prevent any further damage to the documents: Place them in one of the airtight, transparent coverings sold for that purpose. Added protection can be given by first giving them a spraying with a chemical used for preserving papers and photos. It leaves a hardened film that in no way damages the article sprayed. Commercial artists, photographers and advertising men often make use of this spray.

Holland Industry Challenges Tulips

By PRESTON GROVER

HAARLEM, Holland (AP) — Tulips are fighting for survival in Holland against rapidly expanding manufacturing industries. So far they are holding their own.

Among their closest friends are the Germans, who come to see them bloom. Tulip trade with Germany has become greater than the combined tulip trade with France, England and the United States.

Tulips have become so closely associated with Holland that it is hard to think of one without the other. Industrially they represent a rather small part of Dutch business b ut it is a pretty part and it contributes to another industry which is both important and profitable — the tourist business.

Fifteen years ago about 100,000 visitors a year came to Holland to see the tulips bloom. Now 700,000 come in the peak three or four weeks of the season in April and May.

An airplane company flying out of England has 20,000 reservations for the 1965 season. It charges $20 a day, covering transportation to the tulip beds, a tour around the area, and back to England.

The big tulip fair each spring is at Keukenhof at Lisse, where 80 tulip companies have placed 70 acres of flowers in graded groupings to make a spectacular display. In a single day as many as 600 bus loads of Germans flock in from the Ruhr, 2½ hours away.

Months earlier these Germans have bought tons and tons of tulip bulbs from Holland. The bulbs are planted in September, October or November because they must go through a chilling period in the winter efore they will blossom in the spring.

Tulip exports bring $85 million into the country each year, apart from spending by tourists. This stacks up fairly small against total Dutch exports of over $5 billion.

Tulips didn't originate in Holland, but probably in southern Russia or the Middle East. It takes seven years to raise a useful tulip bulb from the seed, and the culling and cross-breeding that go on would tax a calculating machine.

Many fields around here are in tulips, but big industry is closing in and taking a lot of land and skilled labor from the tulip fields.

Walter Roozen, president of the Associated Bulb growers of Holland, lives in a village just outside Haarlem.

He commented: "A new plastics plant has opened just down the road, and one little contractor who has worked in tulips for years lost three of his technicians. They went for the higher pay and easier hours. That has been going on for a long time so that tulip growers increasingly are relying on machines to plant their crops, grade and pack them.

"We don't resent the industry. But you can see what is happening on any drive around the country."

HD Council Plans Painting School

Like to make things for your home? The Scurry County Home Demonstration Council is sponsoring an all day painting school in the Towle Park Barn on Monday, beginning at 10 a.m.

Items for the home molded from plaster, such as plaques, figurines, and flower bowls, will be available at the painting school. The price of the item includes the paint to finish it. The prices are about half as much as similar items finished, and you have the satisfaction of owning things you have done.

Experience is not necessary; there will be someone there to give guidance and to put on finishing touches if needed.

Everyone is invited to bring a sack lunch and join the group, or come either in the morning or afternoon.

Art Talent Contest Near Deadline

The deadline for the art talent contest for high school seniors sponsored by the Texas Federated Women's clubs is March 15, Mrs. Camp Ezell, Beeville, state art chairman, has announced.

The state winner will compete for one of three national scholarships offered by Hallmark Cards, Inc., Kansas City, No. First, second and third place winners in the national contest will receive $1,000, $750 and $600 scholarships from the greeting card publisher, and four alternate winners will also be selected. In the event any of the top three winners cannot take advantage of their scholarships, the alternates will move up.

The Hallmark scholarships are for tuition and fees at an accredited art school or university selected by the winning student.

Mrs. Ezell said students throughout the state are eligible to enter. Every effort should be made for the student to enter the contest through an affiliated club in his hometown or school district. If that is impossible, entries will be received by state officials.

Only senior high, academy, or private school students who will graduate in 1965 are eligible to enter. A jury of qualified judges will select a winning painting or drawing for the state to submit to the national competition.

New Officers Elected By City Council P-TA

The Snyder City Council P-TA elected officers for the 1965-66 year at its meeting Thursday in the school administration building.

Mrs. Bob Mahood was elected president. Other new officers will be Mrs. Marvin Dozier, vice president; Mrs. Billy Campbell, secretary; and Mrs. Bob Morgan, treasurer.

The National P-TA project of one million books for Appalachia's children was brought before the local units to be discussed at the local level.

Herman Trigg, principal of Central Elementary School, presented the program on the "Flexible Grouping Program" now under observation at the school.

The principals of the program are that an administrative organization which structures the elementary school in this type of program can be most effective in meeting the needs of children by:

Providing for individual differences in children through flexible continuity in the program.

Providing an atmosphere in which children, parents and teacher are happier because of reduced tensions.

Providing an opportunity for more effective developmental teaching and learning.

Providing a possible answer to the problem of retention and acceleration.

Providing for the appropriate placement of children who have been absent for a long period of time, or entrants from other schools.

Providing for the immature children who eventually make the desired progress as well as those who move ahead readily.

Oven-Cooked Rice

Easy recipe for cooking rice. To make it, grease a 1½ quart casserole, add 1¼ cups coverted long grain rice, 1 teaspoon salt, 2½ cups boiling water and 2 tablespoons butter. Cover casserole and bake in preheated oven at 350 degrees for an hour and 15 minutes. Serves 6 to 8.

Packing leftover turkey for the freezer is an art! Put those large slices together in one container, bits and pieces in another; then each kind will be ready to use appropriately.

GIRL SCOUT WEEK—Mayor M. L. Broman signs a proclamation designating the week of Mar. 7 as Girl Scout Week in Snyder as representatives of Brownie, Junior, and Cadette Girl Scouts watch. The Scouts are Patricia Mahood, Sammye McDaniel and Marsha McGlaun.

Proclamation Issued For Girl Scout Week

Girl Scouts are preparing to celebrate the 53rd anniversary of the founding of Girl Scouting in the USA, and in connection with local observance of the event Mayor M. L. Broman has issued a proclamation designating March 7-13 as Girl Scout Week in Snyder.

March 12 is the anniversary date, and the week embracing that date is observed as Girl Scout Week each year.

Mayor Broman's proclamation follows:

WHEREAS Girl Scouts throughout the United States of America have rendered continuous service to their country and communities since the founding of their organization on March 12, 1912, by Juliette Gordon Low in Savannah, Georgia; and

WHEREAS we the people of Snyder are aware of the important contribution to community welfare being made by Girl Scout volunteers through their work with the youth of the nation; and

WHEREAS the Girl Scout organizations has grown to more than three million girl members and almost a million adult members, both men and women, who are each day living up to their Promise to do Their Duty to God and Country, to Help Other People at All Times, and To Obey the Girl Scout Laws of loyalty, honesty, courtesy, cheerfulness, usefullness, kindness, and thrift; and

WHEREAS Girl Scouts of the United States of America has set as its theme for its 53rd Birthday Year "Girl Scouting—A Promise in Action", with a secondary theme of "Girl Scouting — A Bridge to the Future." indicating continuity in the Girl Scout program for girls ages seven through seventeen;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, M. L. Broman, by virtue of the authority vested in me as Mayor of Snyder, hereby proclaim March 7 through 13 of this year 19656 as GIRL SCOUT WEEK and March 12 as the 53rd anniversary of the founding of Girl Scouting in the United States of America. I, therefore, call upon all citizens to give the Girl Scouts now and in the coming year their continued interest, cooperation, and support so that increasing numbers of girls may benefit from the splendid program of training in citizenship which the Girl Scout organization offers.

ALL ABOUT BABIES

A Public Service of the National Baby Care Council

By Dr. Louis B. Wexler
Attending Dermatologist
Beekman Downtown Hospital and Fordham Hospital, New York.

A baby's skin differs from that of an adult and requires special care. It is more sensitive and easily affected.

Not only is baby's skin thinner, it has less keratin, a protein substance which forms the base of the skin, and less pigment, the skin's coloring matter. With both of these substances in short supply, the ability of baby's skin to protect itself against sunlight, friction and changes in temperature is not as great as that of adults.

What is more, many of the sebaceous (oil) glands found in the skin of adults are not fully developed in the baby's skin. The baby's skin for example, as underdeveloped sebaceous glands in the diaper area; that is, in the groin and the anal regions. Thus, the protective oils secreted by the sebaceous glands are not present in the natural folds of skin in this area making these folds vulnerable to infection and disease.

Perhaps the most important element in the proper care of a baby's skin is the changing of the diaper as soon as it is wet or soiled. For three of the principal causes of diaper rash are contained in a wet diaper.

It is the natural decomposition of the urine in the diaper by certain bacteria that results in the foundation of ammonia, a powerful skin irritant. The wet diaper also seems to emphasize the presence of any traces of irritating soap and detergent which have not been completely rinsed away after washing. It also seems to be a suitable environment for the skin - irritating bacteria that have survived the diaper's washing because washing is not sterilizing.

Most doctors as well as the American Medical Association are agreed that the processing of diapers by a professional diaper service is far more effective in restraining the growth of ammonia - forming bacteria and in removing irritating soaps and detergents than any home laundering.

Changing the diaper as soon as it becomes wet also prevents the softening of the baby's skin. Softened skin will often permit the entry of bacteria and the development of skin rashes.

Library Notes

It is only human to fear the unknown, and the average American fears communism because his knowledge of it is vague. It becomes in his mind a great, hideous monster blowing its foul, torrid breath over the face of the earth. To know communism's strengths and its weaknesses puts it into truer perspective, and gives average citizens clearer reasoning, which is so important in knowing how to cope with any enemy. Scurry County Library has many books on its shelves written by many prominent people who have had experience with and made studies of the menace to world peace.

J. Edgar Hoover, who has coped with communist infiltration in the U.S. for 40 years gives this objective definition of communism: "Communism is the revolutionary, materialistic ideology used by its adherents to justify their efforts to seize power by any and all means for the forcible establishment of a world-wide totalitarian social order." Hoover says, "Knowledge of communism — the challenge to our age — and an appreciation of our American heritage will enable us to discipline ourselves for the hard decisions, the responsible judgments, the dedication, and the sacrifices which will have to be made to insure the continued existence of our nation and the perpetuation of freedom itself."

Several new books have been added to library shelves to supplement the already voluminous quantity of material on this subject.

Thomas W. Wolfe's book, "Soviet Strategy at the Crossroads," is a book to meet the need for a clear, thorough, up-to-date study of the varieties of contemporary Soviet thinking on problems of war and strategy in the nuclear age. Based on examination in depth of Soviet source material, it provides what is probably the first intensive book - length study of the effects of the Cuban missile crisis of October 1962 upon the strategic thinking of Soviet political and military leaders. As such, it furnishes new insight into factors which, since the Cuban episode, have led the Soviet leadership to seek some form of limited detente with the West. Wolfe believes Soviet leaders are now faced with a choice between two major decisions: whether to abandon the present easing of strained relations and political tensions with the West and resume more provocative and risky policies, or to encourage the further growth of still tentative habits of limited cooperation and better communication which could lead to some more manageable form of adversary relationship. Their problem is not eased by constant barbs from the Chinese "left flank" charging that Soviet leaders have been awed into "capitulationism" by the West and have failed to expolit their military power for support of revolutionary movements throughout the world.

In his book, "In pursuit of World Order," Richard N. Gardner takes up the general problems of peace and security in the 1960's; analyzes the respective interests of the United States and the Soviet Union in the United Nations; the job of the U.N. has done in two great crisis in this decade, Cuba and the Congo; and possible ways in which the U.N. can improve its capacity for peacekeeping. Mr. Gardner also has new and important things to say about economic development; the promotion of better arrangements for international trade and finance; the population explosion; cooperation in outer space; and, perhaps most important of all, the international promotion and protection of basic human rights. In a summary of U.S. foreign policy this book assesses the international problems that thwart progress to peace and welfare, and shows how the U.S. has tried to deal with them in the concert of nations. This book calls attention to the process of achieving peace — the practical politics of how to adjust the relations of states without war. It provides fresh insight into how the United Nations system is developing and on what lines it is evolving. Gardner's common - sense approach, based on first - hand experience, makes his book of special value.

A fascinating book, "The Strategy of Subversion," by Paul W. Blackstock was cleared by security agencies after ten years and is now on the library's shelves. The dark and obscure field of "undercover political warfare" forms one of the greatest dangers to the peace of an age of international tensions and nuclear deterrence, Blackstock asserts. Today, nations throughout the world place increasing reliance on subversive techniques to influence the internal affairs of other countries. Little information about this web of intrigue reaches the people so state the author. Here is the first analysis of the complex problems and dangers inherent in the policy, management, and control of programmed subversion; of spies, agents, guerrillas, and "modern mercenaries" who provoke revolutionary or counter - insurgency movements in crisis areas; of the whole range of undercover operations which can lead to open intervention and even to war. The author's purpose is not to sensationalize, not merely to judge the effectiveness of covert operations, but to scrutinize the problems which must be faced by any government making use of clandestine means to weaken or overthrow other governments. Blackstock combines analysis with historical examples culled from U. S., German, and both Czarist and Soviet Russian experiences. This book also digs deep into the tangle of delegated responsibilities among U. S. governmental agencies. The author concludes: "The Great Powers have opened a Pandora's Box of explosive techniques which threaten the peace. All nations must better understand the role of covert political warfare in the struggle for international security."

Max Eastman was one of the first Americans to make the pilgrimage to the new Soviet paradise. What he found there, in his early disillusionment with Stalin and in his complex friendship with Trotsky, foreshadowed and profoundly affected the course of radical politics in America to the present day. Eastman was one of the first Americans to acclaim the Bolshevik revolution, and he was also among the first to see the nightmare that would follow. His new book, "Love and Revolution," crisscrosses from New York to Moscow, from Hollywood to Paris, from Marth's Vineyard to the Riviera, revealing the public and private life of a man who was closely involved with many of the events which made today's world. The author's use of prose has a clarity and terseness of form, and intellectual edge, which is hard to match elsewhere today in American literature. He presents himself to his contemporaries today as primarily a writer to be read. His earlier writings on the politics of the Left, inspired by considered by many as the most valuable of the commentaries in English on this subject.

Communism cannot be ignored, it will not "just go away." Scurry County Citizens owe it to themselves to read extensively on this all important subject. In any struggle, it is essential to know two things: what you are fighting for and what you are fighting against. No Scurry Countian need be uninformed on this subject.

SPECIAL WEEK PROCLAIMED—A proclamation of National Business Women's Week is signed by City Councilman Bobby McCormick as Mrs. Florence Leftwich, Ethel Mae Sturdivant and Lida Rhoades look on. A series of breakfast meetings throughout the week will highlight the observance here by the B&PW Club.

Anyone Can Grow House Plants

Whether you live in the North or South — or East or West —indoor gardening is in order now and all year round. If you live in the deep south, you will likely garden in a "Florida room;" elsewhere it is most likely in the living room but don't be afraid of using the bedroom. The old idea that plants where you sleep are harmful has now been proved sheer fallacy, say the indoor garden experts. The only thing to keep in mind is that in the North you should move the plants to a safer place each night, if you are a fresh air friend.

It doesn't make much difference whether you use clay pots or fancy glazed ones. The thing to remember is that glazed pots do not evaporate water through their sides as do clay ones. Therefore, they need less frequent watering and less at a time. Also, put a ½-inch, or more of gravel in the bottom of each pot for a drainage area, a safty valve against over - watering.

Watering Tips

When watering, try not to use cold water fresh from the pipe. It is noticeably colder than the air at all seasons and may shock some plants. Better fill your watering can immediately after watering and let it stand in the room until next time. By then, it will be room temperature. Also, if the water is heavily chlorinated, most of it will escape into the air while standing.

Another point to bear in mind: the old advice about never letting water stand in drops on the leaves in the sun has been proved completely false. Water is not only a cooling agent and makes burning impossible but it cannot act like a magnifying glass. To burn, the lens would have to be held an inch or two away from the leaf, not on it.

Temperature Factors

Another factor is temperature. The average house is on the warm side for most plants. But, if it is allowed to cool down at least 10 degrees at night, the plants take it much better.

Drafts are also important. Most plants do better if a little fresh air enters the house. But, don't let it blow directly on the plants. Drafts or sudden temperature changes shock the plants. They are one of the chief causes of the red bracts falling from poinsettias.

Do not let the soil get hard. Loosen it periodically with one of those small hand tools made especially for patio and indoor gardening.

Finally, bear in mind that all plants must rest some time. They may not lose their leaves but growth does stop. With many plants this is during the short days of winter. During such periods water less frequently and, if possible, put the plants into a lightly cooler place.

How Fit Are You?

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

So you think you are physically fit?

A glance at a new book, Bonnie Prodden's "Teenage Fitness" might dispel the notion. It's full of tests, charts, exercises and plenty of advice on the subject. Reading it you may decide that you are really soft as a grape.

As the exercise specialist points out, "You can really be a 90-pound, round - shouldered, flat - chested, spindly - legged, pot - bellied mess." Or you can build yourself into a type worthy of competing with Brigitte Bardot.

Habits affect muscle, she says, pointing out that some of those cozy postures we affect — sitting on one foot, for example — can result in curvature of the spine.

Work and stress, play, drugs, alcohol heat and cold all affect muscles, she explains.

"A warm muscle is 20 per cent more efficient than a cold one." She advises that on cold days we should be warm before we get to the skating pond or ski grounds for sports.

She suggests a warm-up plan of exercises, and makes them interesting. There's The Swim, using a swim stroke, another that employs rhumba rhythm, and one that involves an edging motion of feet, the one used in skiing.

Exercises designed for special areas of the body include Cat Back and Old Horse:

Get down on hands and knees with the back level. Arch the back upward like a cat. Drop your head, pull in the abdominal area. Make the arch extreme, hold for three seconds. You should feel the pull across the upper back and shoulders.

Like the old horse, let the back sag, keeping the arms straight. Bring the head up. Hold for three seconds.

The Peanut Push is begun on hands and knees with instep flat on the floor, seat as close to heels as possible, chest close to floor. This position helps stretch arm, chest and ankle muscles, Miss Prudden says.

Keeping chin close to floor as though you were pushing a peanut, press the body forward as far as possible. This arches and stretches the back and puts considerable strain on the chest, arm and shoulder muscles. At full stretch straighten your arms and lift your head, allowing the pelvis to drop and arching the whole back. You should feel the strain in the small of your back.

Nothing will make a young person exercise if she doesn't want to, observes Miss Prudden. But for those who have the excuse that their home space is small, she offers a series of indoor exercises that may be done in the tinest space.

One is a drop walk, heels down with very step as you drag fingers along floor (a whale of a workout for the back.)

Leap-frog in a squatting position — place hands on the floor as far ahead of feet as you can reach. Jump feet toward them and outside of them. When you get good, you may be able to jump feet ahead of hands.

Business Women's Week Observance Slated Here

A series of daily breakfasts next week will highlight the Snyder Business and Professional Women's Club's observance of National Business Women's Week.

First of the breakfasts, all at Sallie's Cafeteria, will be held at 7:30 a.m. Sunday.

On Monday through Friday, the daily breakfast sessions will be held at 7 a.m.

A proclamation has been signed officially designating next week's local observance of National Business Women's Week. The proclamation was issued by City Councilman Bobby McCormick, in behalf of Mayor M. L. Broman.

The proclamation follows:

Whereas working women constitute 25.9 million of the nation's working force, and are constantly striving to serve their communities, their states and their nation in civic and cultural program, and

Whereas a major goal of business and professional women is to help create better conditions for men and women through the study of social, educational, economic and political problems; to help them be of greater service to their community; to promote "full partnership" in all phases of daily living; to further friendship with women through the world, and

Whereas all of us are proud of their leadership in many fields of endeavor and their acceptance of "The responsibility of full partnership,"

Now, therefore, I, Bobby McCormick, acting in behalf of the Mayor of Snyder, do hereby proclaim March 7-13 as National Business Women's week and urge all citizens to join in this springtime salute to working women.

Gardener's Corner

HOW DO YOU observe the activities of honey bees in the winter in a region of deep snow and subzero cold? You build a special room, with summer temperatures and flowers, as did researchers at the New York State College of Agriculture, Cornell University.

A main purpose was to permit study of the communication systems of bees, particularly communication by chemical secretions.

If you bought your seeds early and if the 1965 planting season should be late, don't be concerned about the seeds spoiling. Most seeds, kept under proper conditions, will last longer than a year (a few varieties will not.)

The seeds should be stored in a cool, dry place. Be sure to keep them safe from moisture.

Most nursery companies know just when to ship their products to a given area.

We've read that there is a bounty of $5 an acre on up to 10 acres each year up to five years for planting fruit trees in South Dakota. The Board of County Commissioners pays the bounty on apple, pear, plum, apricot, cherry or black walnut trees.

A minimum of 50 fruit trees must be planted to the acre and the trees must be planted not farther than 30 feet apart.

One maker of power lawn equipment recently joined forces with a fashion designer in production of a line of gardening clothes. Jim Briggs, an official of the equipment company, reasoned:

"Although the company now has a real easy-to-operate mower, with modern design and colors to help us at the point of sale, we've still got to find a way to get the woman to the point of sale."

Some of the items of clothing have waterproof cloth, gaily colored pullovers with knee pads, stretch pants — all easy to maintain.

There are about 2 million seeds in a pound of natural Kentucky bluegrass, according to the Lawn Institute. Seeds of good quality grass are smaller than those of coarse grasses. A pound of Highland bentgrass contains about 7 million seeds, which at average retail price means that you will get some 70,000 seeds for a penny.

When the forsythia blossoms begin to fade is a good time to apply pre-emergence herbicide crabgrass killers. In most parts of the country, one application should be sufficient for the season.

Lawn seeding should be deferred for two months after application of crabgrass killers as a general rule, otherwise the amount of grass seed should be doubled to improve the survival percentage of desirable grass seedlings.

An effective weed control for use with a large variety of nursery stock is Dacthal.

Two true dwarf nectarines have been developed by Loren E. Cooke of San Gabriel, Calif. He named them Golden Prolific and Silver Prolific.

The trees may be expected to remain close to 6 feet tall at maturity. They should bear in the second year after planting. Both varieties are freestone.

Cooke also has developed two dwarf peach trees. Golden Glory and Empress.

If you are using white sauce in a make - ahead casserole that is to be refrigerated one day and reheated the next, it might be well to make that sauce just a little thinner than usual. We suggest this because freezing and reheating gives extra thickness to a sauce made with flour.

Early TOPS In Session

The Snyder Early TOPS met Tuesday at the Scurry County Boys' Club.

The meeting opened with members reciting the TOPS pledge. A discussion was held on raising money so that as many as possible might attend the State Recognition Day in Dallas in April.

Group 3 had the most points for the week. Faye Bond was TOP loser. There were 2 TOPS, 6 "pigs" and one new member present.

Texas Day Meeting Held

Mrs. Ophelia Blackard welcomed Altrurian Daughters to her Borden County ranch home Wednesday for their annual Texas Day meeting.

The house, renovated and furnished in authentic "old timey" style, was an appropriate setting for the hearty noon meal of fried chicken, red beans, potato salad and all the fixin's.

Mrs. Nina Lee Cooper reviewed James Q. Anderson's book, "And Horns on the Toad," an entertaining and informative study of the horned toad.

During the day, hiking parties explored the area, games were played and early ranch experiences were related.

Dutch Apple Beans

1 pound snap beans
1 cup boiling water
1¼ teaspoons salt
3 medium greening apples (about 1 pound), pared and cut into ½-inch squares
2 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon (or more) lemon juice

Tip and wash beans; cut into 1inch slanted lengths. In a medium covered saucepan, gently boil the beans with the boiling water and 1 teaspoon salt just until tender — about 8 minutes. Drain and add enough cold water to bean liquid to make 1¼ cups; reserve; return beans to saucepan. Meanwhile in a 10-inch skillet, melt 2 tablespoons butter; stir in the apples; cover and cook over low heat, shaking pan often, until tender — about 5 minutes. Turn apples over beans. In the skillet, melt the remaining 1 tablespoon butter; stir in flour; add the reserved bean liquid and water mixture; cook and stir over moderately low heat until boiling; cover and simmer 5 minutes; stir in sugar and lemon juice; sauce will be thin. Add apples and beans and the remaining ¼ teaspoon salt; mix gently but don't worry if apples break up. Makes 6 servings.

Sorority In Session

Lambda Kappa Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met Tuesday in the community room of Snyder Savings and Loan.

The sorority raised $175 by sponsoring a Barbie Vardy Bowling Tournament. Plans were discussed for giving the money to a needy child in Snyder in memory of Barbie.

The nominating committee submitted the following names as candidates for next year's offices: Mary Lou Scott, president; Jeanne Rigsby, vice president; Martha Baker, recording secretary; Pat Allen, corresponding secretary; Eilene Snyder, reporter; Frances Shamburger, parliamentarian.

The officers will be voted on next week with nominations open from the floor.

Gifts were presented to Judy Hardin and Pam Mengwasser who will be leaving the city soon. A program on paintings and art was given by Judy Hardin. She described the many styles of the artists.

Members present were Pat Allen, Helen Gilbert, Judy Hardin, Bettie Huddleston, Pat Pate, Frances Shamburger, Patty Slater, Juanita Tucker, Betty Winkles, Barbara McClub, Pat Shaw, Jeanne Rigsby, and the hostesses Ann Yielding and Linda Salley.

Recent Events Have Chilled US, Philippine Friendship

EDITOR'S NOTE — A Japanese shell that never went off has exploded into a crisis in American-Philippine relations. The "Yankee go home" signs are up, but cooler heads on both sides are attempting to repair the breach between the United States and its oldest ally in Asia.

By GEORGE MCARTHUR

MANILA (AP) — The rich Philippine soil of Luzon is dangerously imbedded with corroding shells of World War II, just waiting to go off.

Last December one of them, about the size of a beer can, finally "exploded" in a manner beyond its Japanese manufacturer's wildest dreams. Its echoes still reverberate in Manila, Washington and Peking.

The shell was found the morning of Dec. 17 a few feet from a Quonset hut classroom of the Wurtsmith School at Clarkfield, a United States base 60 miles north of Manila.

The slim, neat Filipino guard who reported it, Victorio Doria, set off a chain of events that seriously clouded the friendship between the United States and the Philippines, its staunchest Asian ally.

In the country where Gen. Douglas MacArthur has been revered as a liberating national hero, Uncle Sam was burned in effigy. A handful of youthful demonstrators raised the cry "Yankee go home" although, as Finance Secretary Rufino Hechanova said, "The demonstrations here tended to be magnified when printed abroad."

That shell and the demonstrations it caused, altered, perhaps forever, what one longtime American resident called "the easygoing and probably overcomplacent friendship of the past."

The change has been 20 years arriving. Responsible Philippine and American officials agree that it surfaced at a critical time — with the islands embroiled in a bitter election and beset by financial worries, government corruption and unstable Asian neighbors.

There is no possibility the Philippine government will ask for removal of the American bases — only a handful of the Filipinos want that. Both President Diosdado Macapagal and his opponent, Senate President Ferdinand Marcos, are aware their country is deeply sympathetic to the United States — and they ask no more than revision of the treaty governing United States bases in the Philippines.

Against this complex background, 21-year-old Airman 1C. Larry Cole borrowed a .22 rifle last Nov. 25 and went bird hunting on the Crow Valley gunnery range of Clark Air Base. It was late in the afternoon and he was off duty. He said he saw several Filipinos scavenging scrap metal and fired some shots to frighten them. One of those shots killed Rogelio Balagtas, 16.

Late in February Cole was convicted of unpremeditated murder by an American court-martial and sentenced to three years at hard labor. During the trial, Cole's counsel described him as "a helpless pawn in an international situation."

A few weeks after the shooting of Balagtas, two marine guards at Subic Bay, a U.S. Navy base, spotted a small boat edging toward a beach near an ammunition dump. A warning shot fired into the shallow water evidently splintered and a fragment which ricocheted killed Gonzalo Villedo.

Immediately there were editorial demands that Philippine courts be granted jurisdiction over the two cases — although the Philippine government has never officially asked for it.

To calm the outcry raised by the shootings, U.S. ambassador William McCormick Blair Jr., a suave, soft-spoken onetime aide to Adlai E. Stevenson, called in eight Philippine newsmen for a private briefing — which they were told they could use without citing Blair as the source.

He emphasized the immense security problem at the sprawling bases. Thieves have made off with a mountain of loot ranging from cigarettes to airport runway lights. More dangerous, the devil-may-care robbers value explosives which are used, among other things, for fishing. They frequently have carted off whole 1,000-pound bombs.

Almost casually, as Blair recalls, he mentioned also that an investigation was under way at Clark Air Base. A Filipino guard had reported that two unidentified Filipinos had tossed an unexploded shell over a wire fence into a schoolyard the day before.

Blair has been criticized for not recognizing that his audience, at that time, was about as sensitive as one can be. Be that as it may, few men have been as badly misquoted as Blair soon was. The .58 mm Japanese mortar shell became a "bomb." Blair was pilloried for picturing Filipinos as a race of mass-murders of schoolchildren. He was accused of manufacturing the "bomb" story as a hoax to cover up the earlier shootings.

Negotiations are now under way to revise the military bases agreement. Most if not all Philippine desires will be met.

Similarly, a dynamic Philippine government could probably win greater economic concessions from the United States.

But such measures, in the private view of many American officials and businessmen, will not get at the root of present difficulties.

These people see a gradual eroding of the now overwhelmingly anti-Communist sentiments of the Filipinos. There will be an increase in the anti-American content of Philippine nationalism.

TTA May Get Route

WASHINGTON (AP) — The designation of Trans-Texas Airways to take over the local-service route of Eastern Airlines between Houston and New Orleans was recommended Thursday by a Civil Aeronautics Board examiner.

The examiner, Thomas L. Wrenn, also recommended that the application of Southern Airways for a somewhat similar route be denied.

Wrenn said that Trans-Texas should be given a Houston-New Orleans route by way of Beaumont-Port Arthur, Tex., and Lake Charles and Baton Rouge, La., now served by Eastern, on condition that no subsidy be paid for the services involved in the transfer.

At the present time Trans-Texas serves all of the cities mentioned except Baton Rouge but on different and less direct routes used by Eastern in its local service.

Junior Editors Quiz on PEARLS

QUESTION: How do pearls form?

• • •

ANSWER: Although classed as a gem, the pearl is different from other precious stones in that it is not mined in mineral form but is produced inside the body of an animal, the pearl oyster. The peculiar beauty of the pearl is that, instead of being hard like other gems and reflecting the light away in brilliant sparkles, the softer pearl absorbs some of the light. This gives it a wonderful sheen or luster which adds depth and apparent mystery.

Pearl oysters line their shells with a substance called nacre, which is very smooth and protects their soft bodies. If a grain of sand or other foreign matter works inside the oyster's shell, it is coated with the protective nacre and coat after coat is laid on until it becomes a pearl. Other oysters and clams coat objects this way; but their nacre does not have the beautiful luster of that of the pearl oyster — hence their stones have no value. Pearl fishing is carried on in various parts of the Far East, divers bringing up the oysters in baskets. The oysters are opened on shipboard. Large numbers are often examined before a fine pearl is found, but what a thrill it must be when this happens!

• • •

FOR YOU TO DO: Look in a jeweler's window at the pearls he has on display to see if you can detect the difference in luster between the fine high-priced ones and the inexpensive imitations. 3/6

THE CITY OF SNYDER, TEXAS

To The People of The City of Snyder, Texas

Your City Council takes great pleasure in presenting this series of reports to the citizens of Snyder. The purpose of the Annual Report is to summarize some of the activities and accomplishments of your city government during the fiscal year 1964.

The City administration feels a responsibility to the citizens of Snyder in reporting what status your tax dollar has taken in terms of service performed by the various departments which comprise your city organization. The administration also feels that since you are, in fact, the stockholders in our municipal corporation you should be kept abreast of the activities and financial condition of your corporation.

During the year 1964 your city government moved progressively ahead with the opening of the new Police-Fire-Civil Defense Building; the installation of 100 new Dempster Dumpmaster garbage containers for better collection, storage and disposal of commercial garbage; the seal coating of an additional 200 blocks of paved streets in our continuing street improvements program; the addition of two new pieces of modern fire fighting equipment and record breaking water sales which exceeded any year in Snyder's history.

Progress is not the result of wishful thinking, but rather the product of vision, hard work, and community effort. Your City Council pledges to the citizens of Snyder our best efforts in behalf of continued progress in 1965.

CITY MANAGER—George Patterson is the chief administrative official under the City Council and carries out and enforces the policies established by the Council; prepares and administers the budget; appoints department heads other than those appointed by the Council, (City Attorney, City Judge, City Secretary) and supervises day to day operations of your municipal government. Behind Patterson is a board on which progress of the Clean-Up Campaign is charted. At left are seen "before and after" pictures of completed projects. At right are "before" pictures only of planned or in-progress clean-up activities.

Investments Yield Profit To City

Last year, the City of Snyder earned $10,118.86 through a well managed investment program which put cash reserves to work instead of permitting them to lie dormant in the bank.

The City rarely ever has any "surplus" money, but it is required by law to protect its bonded indebtedness with substantial cash reserves. In addition, the City often has bond money being held until certain projects are completed.

This money is available for short term investment, within limits prescribed by law. U. S. Securities and time deposits in local banks are approved investments. It is good management of public business to invest surplus funds in short term investments instead of permitting to lie dormant in non-interest bearing accounts.

Fostering an investment program reduces the cost to the tax payers and results in a substantial benefit as a painless source of revenue. By comparison, it would take the evaluation of 153 $10,000.00 homes to render this amount of revenue in taxes.

Franchise Income At Record High

Franchise and Gross receipts collections reached an all time high in Snyder last year.

Total collections from the companies which operate under franchise was $32,847.27. The amount collected in 1960 by comparison was $26,230.00.

Texas Electric Service Company, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, Lone Star Gas Company, Snyder Community Antenna Television and the Taxi Cab Companies all pay 2 per cent of their gross receipts to the City for the use of public streets and alleys.

This is the first in a series of special pages to be published over the coming weeks which will be devoted to information on various phases of the activities of your City government.

Functions of the City Government itself are considered here.

Snyder has the Council-Manager form of municipal government voted by its citizens Oct. 21, 1952. This form of government is one of three forms of local government; the other two forms are the mayor-council, and the commission forms.

The chief features of the council-manager plan are the unification of authority and political responsibility in the elected council, and centralization of administrative responsibility in an administrator appointed by the council.

The council-manager form of government can best be illustrated by comparison with the organizational structure of any of our larger corporations. The stockholders of our municipal corporation are the citizens of Snyder who in turn elect a Board of Directors — the City Council. The Council in turn selects a City Manager to serve in a like capacity of a president of a corporation and who serves at the will of the City Council.

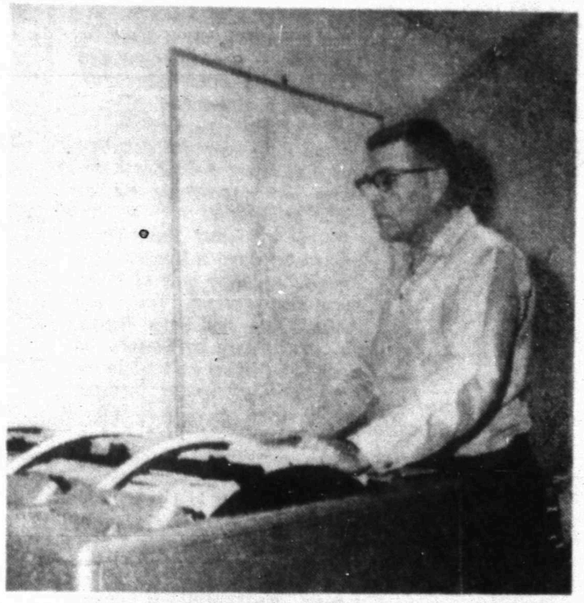
CITY SECRETARY—K. O. Pitner, City Secretary is shown at his desk with the radio which he uses for instant communication with the city's service vehicles, in the background. The City Secretary's office is responsible for the recording of the proceedings of all meetings of the City Council and the maintaining of official records of the City, including ordinances and resolutions passed and approved. This department also conducts city elections, issues copies of ordinances, and issues permits for peddlers, solicitors and other miscellaneous items.

Most Taxes Paid On Time

The City Tax Department collected 91.66 per cent of the 1963 Real and Personal Advalorem property taxes in the fiscal year which closed September 30, 1964.

The total 1963 levy was $324,957.00. Of that amount, $297,865.00 was collected. Taxes still unpaid are referred to the City's special delinquent tax collector for collection.

During the past year, the tax department also collected $20,821.58 in delinquent City taxes, for a total combined collection of 98.07 per cent of the current levy, plus $2,873.90 penalty and interest.



TAX DEPARTMENT—City Tax Assessor - Collector Leighton Griffin is shown at the drum-type files in which are records of every piece of taxable property in the City. The record card has a sketch of the property, date of construction, construction details and other information. The Tax Department assesses and collects ad valorem taxes for the City of Snyder and also issues dog licenses. A continuous tax equalization program is conducted by the department under which one section of the city is reappraised each year — covering the entire city within five years.
