War Cabinet Convened...

Thatcher Vows No More Concessions

By The Associated Press
A Sea King helicopter with Britain's Falkland Islands war fleet ditched in the stormy South Atlantic today because of technical problems, but the Defense Ministry said its four-man crew bailed out and was rescued by another chopper.

No other incidents were reported today around the islands. But British warplanes bombed Argentine troop positions around the capital of Stanley on Monday, and Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher said she will make no more concessions at U.N. peace talks to settle the six-week crisis.

Mrs. Thatcher held more talks with her inner "War Cabinet" today on military options in case this week's U.N. talks fail. On Monday she reportedly gave Argentina 48 hours to make peace.

"Negotiations cannot continue indefinitely," said "War Cabinet" member Cecil Parkinson, chairman of the ruling Conservative Party. "We now have the seventh draft of the different proposals we have put to the Argentines and I believe the time has come for decisions." He also said Britain was disappointed at the failure of its nine European Economic Community partners to fully renew the one-month trade sanctions against Argentina. Seven nations renewed sanctions for a week Monday night but Italy and Ireland declined.

But in Luxembourg today, Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. said the United States stands fully behind Britain in the crisis and intends to "abide fully by commitments made."

Haig spoke after the North Atlantic Treaty Organization foreign minister conference renewed support for Britain's position in the conflict and condemned what they called Argentine "aggression."

War correspondent John Witherow of the London Times reported from the aircraft carrier Invincible that Sea Harrier jets in Monday's raids dropped 1,000-pound bombs fused to explode 50 feet above ground. He said they were effective against many targets, including parked planes.

There were no reports on results. But naval briefing officers said planes dropped bombs near troop emplacements, Witherow reported.

The British Defense Ministry said the Sea King helicopter forced to ditch "was not the result of any action involving Argentine forces." It said the none of the rescued crew was hurt.

The Sea King was the fifth helicopter the British have admitted losing through bad weather or accidents since the fleet sailed from Britain April 5. The Defense Ministry says none has been shot down.

In Buenos Aires, the Argentine air force's commander and member of the ruling junta, Gen. Basilio Lami Dozo, said his forces will stage "a massive attack" as soon as British targets "are perfectly spotted and at a distance within reach of our whole arms system."

Mrs. Thatcher warned the Argentines in London radio interview Monday: "We have gone as far as we can. They are the invader. They are the aggressor. We are the aggrieved. It is up to them."

The prime minister said if Gen. Leopoldo Galtieri, the Argentine president, does not withdraw his forces from the islands, Britain will "make him go."

"After all, we have been negotiating now for six weeks," she said. "I have looked at six sets of proposals. They have got nowhere."

But Argentine Foreign Minister Nicanor Costa Mendez said "there's no more news" about the Argentine position. "No further comment," he told newsmen in Buenos Aires.

Press Association, Britain's domestic news agency, said military sources reported Mrs. Thatcher told U.N. Ambassador Anthony Parsons to warn the Argentine negotiators at U.N. headquarters they must reach a settlement in 48 hours or she would order an invasion to retake the rocky, wind-swept islands Argentina seized from Britain April 2.

"Unless there is an unexpected breakthrough at the United Nations, the invasion now appears certain," Press Association said.

U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar said the next few days "will be decisive."

Begin Loses Majority

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Prime Minister Menachem Begin lost his majority in Parliament today with the defection of two members of his party and faced possible defeat in a parliamentary no-confidence vote set for Wednesday.

The defection of deputies Amnon Linn and Yitzhak Peretz to the opposition Labor Party threw the political picture into confusion and provoked angry reactions in Begin's ruling Likud bloc.

The fate of the government hung on the five votes of two independent splinter parties. Victory by Labor in Wednesday's vote would automatically bring down the government, in which case Israel either would have an election, or the Labor Party would try to form a coalition.

The no-confidence motion was presented by the Labor Party to protest rising inflation.

Peretz said his political colleagues had approved the switch, and the Labor Party scheduled a news conference to announce it officially.

More Fire Deaths

BALTIMORE (AP) — The second major row house fire in this city in four days swept through a two-story home today, killing seven people and injuring another, officials reported.

The 4 a.m. fire that left four children and three adults dead in northwest Baltimore was blamed on careless smoking, said fire department Lt. Donald Crouch.

Crouch said the blaze apparently started on a living room sofa and quickly spread up a stairwell.

"The house is pretty much wiped out," he said. The victims were identified as Jean Moore, 36, her five children: Alicia Brand, 1; Duke Brown, 6; Renee Moore, 8; Rosetta Brand, 11; Darlene Moore, 21, and a visiting friend Jerome Dotsun, 35.

"The victims were sleeping but had awakened and were trying to escape but were overcome by smoke," fire department Capt. Patrick Flynn said.

Creditors Start Meetings

DALLAS (AP) — Braniff International's creditors have arrived in Dallas to work with officers of the grounded airline, saying they will not force the carrier to sell off its assets right now.

About 60 representatives of Braniff's unsecured creditors traveled to Dallas Monday.

"This debtor will be given an opportunity to reorganize," said Michael Crammes of the New York firm of Levin & Weintraub, Braniff's main bankruptcy adviser.

"The creditors are intelligent enough to realize that if they sought a liquidation now, they wouldn't get it. If they sought their collateral now, they wouldn't get that either," he said.

A lawyer representing some of the large banks with claims against Braniff agreed.

Brezhnev Favors Freeze

MOSCOW (AP) — President Leonid I. Brezhnev today welcomed President Reagan's offer to open talks on limiting strategic nuclear weapons, but he rejected Reagan's proposal for a one-third cut in ballistic missile warheads as "one-sided."

The Soviet leader also took up the call for a freeze on nuclear weapons deployment while talks are in progress, saying the Soviets are ready for a freeze as soon as negotiations begin. Reagan has rejected the freeze proposal.

Brezhnev, 75 and recently reported to be ailing, delivered his 38-minute speech over national television in a strong voice, but slurred his words and stumbled as he walked back to his seat. An aide grabbed his arm and helped him climb the two steps to the dias.

SNYDER TEMPERATURES: High Monday, 76 degrees; low, 56 degrees; reading at 7 a. m. today, 64 degrees; precipitation, .90; total precipitation for 1982 to date, 8.59.

WEST TEXAS: Fair far west, partly cloudy with widely scattered thunderstorms east of the mountains today and tonight. A little warmer most sections today. Partly cloudy and a little warmer Wednesday. Highs near 80 Panhandle to upper 90s Big Bend valleys. Lows low 50s Panhandle and mountains to mid 60s south. Highs Wednesday mid 80s Panhandle and mountains to near 100 Big Bend valleys.

WATER TRAFFIC—Thanks to recent heavy rains, Deep Creek came close to spilling its banks Monday. Taking advantage of the situation were Guy Ybarra and Steve Link who decided to travel by raft from 25th Street to 37th Street. After the initial adventure they tethered their raft to the bridge for a brief rest. This picture was taken at 2:30 p.m. Monday. Ybarra said the water had gone down four inches in 10 minutes. (SDN Staff Photo By Shirley A. Gorman)

Thunderstorms Linger In Area

A booming thunderstorm produced more moisture and created a spectacular display of lightning early today in Snyder as a siege of springtime weather continued.

Reports indicated that rainfall varied from about half an inch to an inch. Showers were mostly less than three-quarters of an inch on the Deep Creek watershed, according to reports this morning. However, Deep Creek went on another brief rise, cresting at about eight feet around 7 a. m. at the city police station.

Last night's showers brought moisture to the southwest part of the county which got little or none Monday night and Tuesday while storm activity was in progress in and north of Snyder. Measurements of .70 or more were recorded overnight around Ira, and good showers were reported at Dunn.

Snyder had .90 in the official gauge at the city water plant, making a two-day total of 2.35 inches.

Officials of the Colorado River Municipal Water District reported that rains of the past few days apparently were east of the Lake J. B. Thomas watershed. Only light showers and sprinkles had been reported at the lake, and there had been no inflow. Some creeks on the upper reaches of the watershed were reported flowing, but no water from that source had reached the lake.

Although lightning bolts peppered the Snyder area for half an hour or more around 1 a. m. today, Texas Electric Service Co. reported interruptions to service were kept to a minimum.

Two transformers were out of commission temporarily, but there was no prolonged power outage, said Henry Clark, local TESCO manager.

Some street flooding was reported early today at Paducah in the Texas Panhandle where a few thundershowers were reported.

Heavy thunderstorms were reported at dawn in the Wichita Falls area and in Young County.

Thundershowers were also reported in far South Texas while skies were partly cloudy elsewhere around the state.

Early morning temperatures were in the 50s and 60s across northern and central sections of the state and in the 70s in South Texas and along the coast.

Forecasts called for clear to partly cloudy skies with widely scattered thundershowers statewide.

Highs were to be mostly in the 80s except in the Big Bend area of Southwest Texas where readings were to reach into the upper 90s.

Lows tonight will be in the 50s in the Panhandle and the 60s and 70s elsewhere. Highs Wednesday will again be mostly in the 80s.

Nunley Is Named Snyder Nat'l VP

Mickey Nunley, former manager of the Snyder Chamber of Commerce, today was named a vice president of Snyder National Bank.

Announcement of his appointment was made by Roger B. Mize, Snyder National president, following a meeting of the bank's board of directors.

At the same time, Mize and Nunley announced the sale of their interests in National Rail Car Co., a railroad car repair firm at Roscoe, to the Tecon Corp., a Dallas-based firm owned by Murchison interests.

Nunley also resigned his position as president of the Roscoe, Snyder and Pacific Railroad, although Mize, chairman of the RS&P board, retained his interest in the railroad.

Ask Us

Q.—Could it be that Snyder's sales tax rebates are so much higher than other towns its size because prices are higher here?

A.—Based on advertisements in newspapers in the various towns, and the fact that Snyder's sales taxes are so much greater, it appears highly unlikely that price variations are a significant factor. In fact, it could be the reverse, because it is obvious that some of the retail sales here are to people who live outside far enough that they could drive to one of the other cities as easily as they do to shop in Snyder. If there was as great a difference in prices as there is in the retail sales, it is doubtful that the sales totals would hold up month after month.

MICKEY NUNLEY

Nunley is scheduled to become an active member of Snyder National Bank's executive staff June 1. Mize said Nunley will be See Nunley, Page 9

Several Shelters Located In City

Several buildings in Snyder are officially listed by Civil Defense as suitable for serving as shelters during stormy weather.

Those designated as storm shelters have basements and/or other protected areas that are regarded as safe during storms.

Four of the approved shelters are on the campus of Western Texas College. They are the Scurry County Museum building, the academic science building, the general classroom building and the electro-mechanical technology building.

Others located in and around the downtown area are the Scurry County Courthouse, Hugh Boren and Son Insurance offices, the city water treatment plant at 32nd St. and Ave. M, the C. R. Anthony Store, First Baptist Church educational building and sanctuary; Snyder National Bank, Central Elementary School, Snyder City Hall, Thompson's Shoe Store, First Presbyterian Church, city police and fire building, and Snyder Savings and Loan.

These are days when people are recalling experiences with Braniff International Airways. A few months ago, this commercial air carrier was just one of many whose planes you saw, or boarded, in places like D-FW Airport. But now that Braniff, one of the fixtures in the airline business for more than half a century, has fallen out of the picture, a lot of people suddenly conjure up some nostalgic memories of Braniff.

And so it is that we recall our first and only Braniff flight. It was a relatively young organization at the time, but we remember it well, because our ride with Braniff—from Dallas to San Antonio—was the last leg of an unlikely journey that began in Charleston, S.C.

We were employed by Uncle Sam at the time, and unexpectedly got 10 days off. Our family was in San Antonio, while we were in Charleston. Now, in 1944, a round trip from Charleston to San Antonio required about six days by land travel, which took up most of a 10-day leave. But, there were commercial airplanes flying, even in those early days, although a priority was required before you could buy a ticket.

We persuaded a fellow officer in the Charleston Navy Yard to sign a Class IV priority (that was the lowest priority and any commissioned officer in the military service could sign one), borrowed $100 from the owner of a uniform shop, and headed for the airport. We barely made a Delta Airlines midnight flight for Dallas, via Columbia, Atlanta, Birmingham, Jackson and Shreveport. It was a DC3 and we got the last of the 23 seats. But our luck fizzled in Atlanta. Eight majors in the Army Air Corps (it's the U. S. Air Force now), with higher priorities bumped us off. But fortunately, there was another flight a couple of hours later, and we got on it.

All was well, until we left Jackson, Miss. Heavy fog set in, and by the time we approached Shreveport, you could hardly see the wingtips of the DC3. We knew there was lots of military air traffic around there from Barksdale Field, but the Delta pilot pushed on and we were never certain how he found the airport in Shreveport. After we landed, we learned there was never any danger of a mid-air collision—ours was the only plane up there in that fog.

So, we finally made it to Dallas, boarded a Braniff plane for San Antonio and concluded our journey at about 1:30 p. m., a total of 13½ hours from Charleston. That was pretty fair time in 1943, and much faster than train or bus. It was our first encounter with commercial air service and our only experience with Braniff, but we will never forget it.

Two-Legged 'Junkyard Dog' Manages Well

SAN ANGELO, Texas (AP)—Life hasn't exactly been kind to Shorty, a "full-bred junkyard dog," as his master calls him.

He is a normal enough dog in most ways. He likes beef. And most of the time he obeys his master.

James Green first met Shorty six years ago when Shorty escaped from an animal shelter with several other dogs and made his way to Green's machine shop. The others left but Shorty stayed.

He had four legs then. Now he has just two—both on the same side. But to hear Green tell it, Shorty's still normal enough.

Three years after Shorty first came to the shop he caught his left hind leg in a trap and had to have it amputated. He walked on just those three legs and got used to it, Green recalls.

"When he lost the back leg, it took him a while to get adjusted," Green said, adding, however, that Shorty managed well.

But then, two years later, Green noticed that Shorty was carrying his left front leg, walking on his two right ones.

"Some vandals or someone had shot his front leg with pellets," Green said.

The veterinarian recommended Green have Shorty be put to sleep. Green wasn't ready to go along.

"I went to lunch and told him I'd be back and look at him one last time and then they could put him to sleep," Green said.

After lunch, Green went back to the veterinarian and when Shorty's cage was opened, the little dog hopped out on his two remaining legs.

"He was happy to see me," Green said. "I told them to patch him up and send him home."

Shorty is one of four dogs, a cat and a litter of kittens at Green's shop.

"Come on, Shorty. Come here," Green called.

Shorty hesitated, yawned and then slowly got up and began to walk—hopping and bouncing his way outside as a photographer snapped several pictures.

Shorty stopped and stood as the camera clicked on. Then he lay down. He looked at the camera. And yawned. A few minutes later, he struggled to his feet and hobbled back into the shop.

"He knows we're showing him off," Green said.

Save your money and eat

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—Are there any exercises for bust development? I have tried weight lifting for one quarter. Now I have learned about a breast development preparation made from protein formula powder. I would like to try this. I can afford the 12-day supply but I would like to ask your advice as to whether it is safe and is it worth my money.

DEAR READER—I would recommend saving your money and using it for good food you can buy at the grocery store.

There is no way that protein powders can increase your breast size unless you are on a protein-deficient diet. If that is the case you should improve your diet to include more of the protein foods found in the dairy and meat food groups. Additional protein that your body doesn't need is merely converted to fat and increases body fat stores. You might not like that.

It is true that many lean women tend to have small breasts. By fattening your body you may increase the fat in the breasts but the overall effect of generalized fattening is not always an improvement. And you run the risk of having fat in the hips and face and not gaining fat in the breasts.

Yes, there are exercises that increase the size of muscles behind the breast. That is what a properly done weight-training program for breast enlargement should do for you. That and posture training often enhance a woman's figure. But make no mistake, exercise will not increase the size of the breast itself, only the chest muscles underneath the breast.

In some women hormones do influence the size of breasts. Breast size is dependent upon inherited characteristics, hormones and general good health. Birth control pills may cause a woman to retain sodium and because of that to retain water which will make the breasts fuller.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 18-12, Breast Basics, to give you a better understanding of the problem and what works and what does not work so you can avoid being ripped off. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB—A close friend recently told me that his doctor suspected he was a victim of a little known disease called Ondine's curse, a breathing ailment. The doctor indicated that the very rare disease was something medical students were told about but few cases were documented. I can find no reference to this ailment in any reference. Can you comment?

DEAR READER—We breathe automatically and think nothing about it. But sometimes the nervous system that regulates breathing fails and automatic breathing diminishes or fails. It is sometimes called Ondine's curse after the fairy tale of the river nymph who was jilted by a mortal lover. The curse she gave him was to have to consciously do all his automatic functions, including breathing. Thus when he fell asleep he would stop breathing and die.

This term is also used by some for sleep apnea, where a person stops breathing at night. Usually these are overweight men who snore heavily. But it can affect women, and it is usually associated with an upper airway obstruction. In these cases a tracheostomy, an opening in the trachea, allows normal breathing and stops the episodes. One of the prime concerns of parents everywhere is at what age will their children develop a sense of humor...if indeed it develops at all.

Some parents, anxious for their children to smile, have recorded little sounds with their lips curled upward as early as two weeks. This is gas.

Children laugh, of course, but the average age for a child to see humor on the same level as his parents is 34. (Some who are quite latent will not get a joke until age 53 or 54.)

Up until that time a child will find humor only in another person's misfortune. Their laughter has a narrow base and is limited to less than a half-dozen areas.

Biological function, for some reason, captures the imagination of a child. A naked baby carrying his own diaper into a room will send him into convulsions. A fellow second-grader who wet his pants will make him hysterical. Training a flashlight on a toilet and flushing will make him sick with laughter. Our children once smuggled a cat into the back seat of our car who thought it had gone to that big kitty litter box in the sky. The more their father said, "That couldn't be the bakery we just passed, could it?" the harder they laughed.

Exhaustion in parents is a real delight to kids. Nothing amuses them more than to see their parents on the brink of a major breakdown. The more the parents beg them to knock it off, the funnier it becomes. The phrase, "If you don't quiet down up there I'm going to rearrange your legs," is a one-liner that never fails. Some kids laugh all night in their sleep over it.

The telephone is also a catalyst. They don't even have to know who's on the other end. Laughing fits occur from the moment they say hello until the receiver is ripped out of their hands. We once paid $2.10 a minute to have our sons giggle out of control long distance to Grandma.

Torn trousers are a real turn-on. So is food in their mouth and school closing brought on by flood, fire, hurricane or tornado. Any tragedy, no matter how small, will set them off. One of the "funniest times" our kids ever had was on a camping trip when a counselor got caught in the bus door and they had to get her out with a blowtorch.

Given a choice, I'll take a child who is depressed any day.

Legalities Are Discussed

DENVER (AP)—Representatives of more than a dozen Indian tribes, including tribal officials and attorneys, discussed legal issues concerning energy resources on tribal lands during an Indian Tax Forum here Monday.

Included in the closed-door informational session was a discussion of ways to tax energy resources on reservations as a result of a Supreme Court decision in January.

Your electricity is costing more in 1982 mainly because the fuel to make it is costing more.

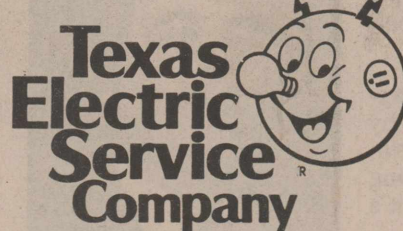

This year, we're paying more for fuels we use to make your electricity. This is partly because another low-cost natural gas contract has expired. But mainly it's because the price of all fuels keeps rising.

We don't make a profit on fuel; we charge our customers exactly what we have to pay for fuel. And we show the amount for "fuel" on your bill each month. The chart below shows an approximate increase in your bill this year compared to last year as a result of increasing fuel costs.

If you use (Kilowatt Hours Per Month)	Then your bill will increase about

750 KWH	$ 7.50

On Kremlin Role In Arms Race... Soviets Are Uninformed

MOSCOW (AP) — Despite a roar of Kremlin rhetoric on the dangers of nuclear war, Soviet leaders give their citizens little information on Moscow's role in the arms race or how a nuclear war would affect them.

Soviet newspapers and radio and television reports are filled with accounts about anti-nuclear demonstrations in the United States, western Europe and Japan, but public debate and demonstrations on arms are tightly controlled here.

The Kremlin has given generous encouragement to the pacifist movement outside the socialist bloc, a role that Western leaders charge is designed not to bring peace to the world, but to advance Soviet strategic interests.

The most recent example of Soviet support for the "peace movement" was the World Conference of "Religious Workers for Saving the Gift of Life from Nuclear Catastrophe," held in Moscow May 10-14.

The Russian Orthodox organizers and delegates from countries friendly to the Soviet Union have steered the conference close to the Soviet line, laying sole blame for the nuclear build-up on the United States.

U.S. clergymen at the gathering expressed concern over its anti-American tone, but their remarks were ignored by Soviet news media.

Westerners at the conference also criticized a Soviet decision to bar Dutch delegate Wim Bartels from delivering a speech condemning the nuclear policies of both Moscow and Washington.

Westerners taking part in the conference, unaccustomed to the workings of Soviet society, were apparently surprised by Kremlin tactics at the conference.

Soviet leaders debate their nuclear strategy behind closed doors, with virtually no information leaked to the public.

The names and numbers of Soviet nuclear weapons go unmentioned in the Soviet press. The exception came last fall in an interview given by President Leonid I. Brezhnev. He disclosed estimated levels of Soviet medium range nuclear weapons deployed against western Europe.

The Soviet names of nuclear armaments are not used publicly. Western arms control negotiators have reported that the Kremlin penchant for secrecy is so pervasive that Soviet military leaders will not discuss their own force levels with civilian Soviets present.

Although Brezhnev regularly advocates reducing the nuclear stockpiles of the two superpowers, no one in the country has dared to call publicly for unilateral disarmament.

Custom Oilfield Fabrication Is Important Aspect Of I&R

Custom oilfield fabrication is an important aspect of I&R Industries services and they are kept busy building custom rigging for many different applications.

I&R Industries, located at 2507 25th St. here in Snyder, has been able to double the size of their fabrication shop due to recent plant expansion. This has also resulted in increased employees and equipment to better serve the oil industry.

I&R takes pride in doing specialty design type fabrication work as well as the construction of standardized oil field vessels, etc.

It is common for the shop to design and build such things as free water knock-outs, LACT units, separators, heater treaters, etc. Vessels build by I&R are in use all over the country.

If your application calls for a special design, the firm has experienced engineering, design and drafting departments to carry your idea to the finished product.

Remember also that I&R is also the place to go for oil field pumps, control panels, motors, etc. Just about anything that relates to the oil patch relates to I&R Industries. If oil is your business, then your business is their business.

SCROD STEW

For tang, add lots of pepper.

2 medium potatoes (scant 12 ounces), pared and sliced fairly thin

2 medium-small onions (generous 4 ounces), peeled and sliced fairly thin

2 medium carrots (6 ounces), pared and sliced fairly thin

16-ounce can whole tomatoes, undrained

1 teaspoon dried finely crushed thyme

1 large bay leaf

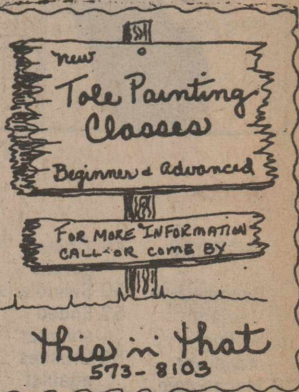

2 cups water

3 skinless scrod fillets (each a scant half-pound) or similar white-flesh fish

Salt and pepper to taste

In a 3-quart saucepan bring all the ingredients (except the scrod) to a boil, breaking up the tomatoes; simmer, covered, until potatoes are tender — about 30 minutes. Quarter each scrod fillet (cutting both lengthwise and crosswise) and add; simmer, covered, until fish flakes and is opaque through — about 10 minutes. Gently stir in the salt and pepper. Serve in wide soup bowls with soup spoons. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Colonial Daughters Go To Jamestown Meeting

Among members of the National Society Colonial Daughters of the Seventeenth Century attending a special meeting in Jamestown, Va. in April were six members of the Texas chapter. The group left the Mayflower Hotel in Washington, D.C. at 7:30 a.m. and proceeded to Jamestown for the unveiling and dedication of the portrait of King James I which was the project of the president general, Mrs. Louis W. Patterson of Oklahoma City.

The occasion was in commemoration of the 375th anniversary of the founding of Jamestown, the first permanent English settlement in the new world. The portrait, approved by the Jamestown Festival Park administration, is now hanging in the Old World Pavilion at the park.

Following the dedication ceremony the group enjoyed a box lunch in the Mermaid Tavern, visited the Old World and New World pavilions, and toured the grounds where restoration of the historic settlement gave a feeling of going back in time to the founding and the early years of the seventeenth century. Going aboard the authentic replicas of the small ships that brought the first settlers to Jamestown, one is astounded that they arrived at all.

The visit to Jamestown was in keeping with the patriotic, philanthropic, and educational objectives of the national society. It set the mood for the National Council meeting and general assembly which followed.

On the pilgrimage to Jamestown, and attending the subsequent meetings in Washington, D.C. were Connie Tutt, Joe Clark, Bernie C. McCrea, Josie Baird, Vera Morrow, and Delila Baird. The latter three trace their ancestry to Captain Thomas Graves who came on the second voyage to Jamestown, traveling on the ship "The Mary Margrett" and arriving in January, 1608. Captain Graves was a Burgess in America's first legislature which convened in 1619.

LUNCH TIME—Pictured are the members of the Colonial Daughters who made the trip to Jamestown as they pause for lunch at Mermaid Tavern. They are seated, Josie Baird, Bernie McCrea, and Joe Clark and standing, Delila Baird, Connie Tutt, and Vera Morrow.

Don't try to guess when you can give your partner a chance to tell you what to do. He may not help you, but we repeat. Give him a chance.

You open the six of clubs after South reaches three no-trump after a Stayman sequence.

Your partner produces the king and South promptly grabs the trick with the ace. Then South plays ace and nine of diamonds. The singles player takes his king right away and must then decide whether or not to continue clubs. Give East the 10. In that case, a low club lead will bring in four club tricks and a nice plus score. This time it will just produce a headache since South will produce the 10 and run off the rest of the tricks.

Your partner may explain that had you led a heart your side would have collected two hearts and four clubs plus 300 instead of seeing game and rubber go away.

You had a simple way to get your partner to tell you about his ace of hearts. Just duck the nine of diamonds. South will overtake in dummy and lead a third one whereupon your partner will have a chance to tell you about the ace of hearts.

He can and should chuck the 10 of that suit. The highest heart he can spare. You will lead a heart and the club suit will be yours. (NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Texas Rangers Are In One Of Those Ruts

CHICAGO (AP) - The Texas Rangers are in one of those ruts where it seems they can't do anything right.

Manager Don Zimmer played the percentages only to have them backfire, and when the Rangers finally enjoyed their biggest inning of the season - it wasn't enough.

Carlton Fisk made the percentages backfire by knocking in four runs with a homer and a single Monday night to lead the Chicago White Sox to an 8-6 victory over Texas.

The Rangers had their biggest inning of the season in the ninth, when they scored five runs, only to fall short after having trailed 8-1.

"I can't tell you the last time we scored more than two runs in one inning," said Zimmer. "Every error or misplay we make becomes costly."

Even discussions with his scouts aren't paying off for Zimmer. "My scout told me (Tom) Paciorek is hotter than a firecracker and that Fisk is not swinging a good bat, and you saw what happened," said Zimmer.

With the Sox leading 2-1 in the third inning and runners on second and third with two outs, Zimmer had Paciorek walked intentionally to get at Fisk. Fisk responded with a two-run single. Two innings later he hit his second homer with a man on.

"It wasn't a bad gamble," said Fisk. "They can see Paciorek is hitting a lot better than I am. It just didn't work out for them." Zimmer even talked to Fisk. He said: "Before the game, I told Fisk we need a couple of bloop hits, and he told me 'I could use a couple myself.' He got them. But that's the way it's been going with us."

Harold Baines knocked in three runs with a two-run single in the second inning and a single in the eighth, when the Sox picked up two insurance runs. They turned out to be vital because of Texas' ninth-inning rally.

"Very frustrating," said winning pitcher Dennis Lamp, who went into the ninth with an 8-1 lead, but needed help for the final out from Salome Barojas, who earned his tenth save. "I wanted to finish, but I just couldn't get that last out," said Lamp.

Lamp retired the first batter, but Jim Sundberg doubled and scored on a single by Lamar Johnson. Leon Roberts popped out, but Lamp walked the next two batters and George Wright cleared the bases with a triple.

Barojas came in and yielded a run-scoring double to Lee Mazzilli before getting Buddy Bell on a called third strike to end the game.

Lamp, 4-0, said "I felt strong the whole game, but I was little stiff and struggled a lot. Still, I was in the strike zone and kept the ball down."

Sixth Time...

Tigers Win District

By BILL McCLELLAN
It began with allegations but ended in celebration and in between Snyder's Tigers rolled to their sixth straight district baseball championship here yesterday.

The Tigers got three-hit pitching from right hander John Wilson to handcuff the Eagles 6-2 and earn the District 2-AAAA representation rights. Snyder, which will meet Lubbock Estacado in bi-district playoff action next week, is to conclude its regular season by hosting Fort Stockton today at 4.

Yesterday's game got underway almost 30 minutes late as Pecos filed a protest at the outset, claiming the distance between the pitcher's mound and home plate was non-regulation. A measure of the tape showed the distance to be 59.5. Regulation is 60.6. A Snyder contingent immediately relocated the pitching rubber, moving it back a foot and an inch, and the protest evaporated.

Both Wilson and Pecos left-hander Bobby Rayos faced only seven batters apiece through the first two innings, but the fireworks were set off in the third.

Pecos got its only runs of the game - both unearned - in the top of the stanza. David Michaelis singled and Dennis Moseley sacrificed him to second. Sonny Orona then executed a bunt down the third baseline and Pecos had runners on the corners.

Next up Erasma Acosta grounded out to Wilson for the second out, but the Eagles were to score without a hit. Orona took off to steal second and the pickoff throw was wide. Pecos realized the advantage and Michaelis came in to score. Jimmy Galindo then walked and later got involved in a run-down between first and second base. An error on the play scored Orona and made it a 2-0 game in favor of Pecos. Wilson struckout Jamie Rodriguez to end the inning.

Snyder went in front to stay in the bottom of the inning, first tying the score - ironically - on unearned runs.

Casey Peterson led off with a single to get the 'Cats rolling and he scored on the next play. Curtis Gafford taped a bunt down the third base line and catcher Rodriguez threw the ball away on the attempted toss out. Peterson scored from first and Gafford made it to third before the Eagles regained composure.

Next up Brent Roemisch grounded out, and Wilson drew a walk to set Snyder up once more. Minutes later Rayos was charged with a balk which pushed Wilson to second and scored Gafford - tying the game at 2-2.

Hernandez then put the Tigers in front for good when he cracked an 0-0 pitch over the left field fence for his second home run of the season; 4-2.

Pecos managed only 14 batters over the final four innings as Snyder's defense and pitching grew tougher as the game wore on. The Eagles put a baserunner on in both the fifth and sixth innings but could not get anyone past second base. Wilson, who had seven strikeouts for the evening, fanned the final two Pecos batters in the seventh to chalk his 10th victory in 11 decisions.

Meanwhile, Snyder managed two more runs. With two out in the fourth, Casey Peterson walked, stole second and reached third on an overthrow. He later scored on a passed ball. Brother Chad Peterson got Snyder's final run in the fifth inning. As a pinch runner for Barry Davis - who got aboard via a walk - he stole second and later scored on a single from Britt Vincent.

Snyder collected five hits on the evening, two singles each from Casey Peterson and Britt Vincent and the homer from Hernandez. Rayos, 7-3, also walked five batters. He struck out five.

The victory was Snyder's 15th straight, bringing the season record to 23-5. Pecos, scheduled to wind up its season at Andrews today, falls to 13-11.

There was no doubt that a sixth straight district championship was something special for Coach Albert Lewis.

"I've been pleased with all of them. The first one was kind of special because it was the first, but this group of kids has been more like a family affair," Lewis said. "We're not blessed with an over abundance of talent, but the kids work very hard and they have a great attitude. They know they've got a job to do and they have the attitude that they are going to do it the best they can.

"This bunch has made a lot of progress this year. They're dedicated and that's what has made us the team we are," he added.

Last night's rains were not expected to derail today's game with Fort Stockton - provided the weather holds until gametime. Snyder will be slated to start Tommy Gressett and also plans to pitch Gerald Don Hicks.

Charles Bollinger and Monte Gambol may also get some work as the Tigers prepare for bi-district play.

Snyder officials will meet with those of Lubbock Estacado in Post at a.m. Wednesday morning to set up next week's best-of-three playoff series.

For Fight...

Hagler Doesn't Like Date

DETROIT (AP) - Middleweight boxing champion Marvin Hagler doesn't like it, but he now will fight Thomas Hearns on July 15 at the Windsor Arena, across the river from Hearns' hometown of Detroit.

Promoter Bob Arum, who announced the new fight date Monday, said problems securing television time on satellites blocked earlier rescheduling of the bout.

Hagler was to defend his title against Hearns on May 24. But Hearns, the former World Boxing Association welterweight champion, injured the little finger of his right hand while training and said two weeks ago he would not be ready for the original date.

"You have to understand Marvin and his philosophy," Arum said at a news conference. "It's total dedication. He forgets about family, friends, everything. He gets mean and surly. He claims that because of the delay, he might not be able to be at the optimum against Thomas."

Hagler was "very, very unhappy" about the delay and asked Arum to find him another opponent, the promoter said at a Detroit news conference. "Marvin could have pulled out of this fight," Arum said. "He has decided not to."

But money may have pacified Hagler's ire. Arum said dollar guarantees - which he refused to identify - have been boosted for both fighters.

The postponement came amid a flurry of delays in recent title fights.

WTC Recruits Eric McGraw

Eric McGraw, three time All-District Team golfer from Abilene Cooper High School, has been recruited to the Western Texas College for the 1982-83 season, WTC golf coach Dave Foster has announced.

McGraw played in the schoolboy state tournament one year and in regional two years. He finished fifth in the Fairway Oaks Junior Classic, 12th in the Doug Sanders International, won the Odessa Invitational two years in a row, and played in the Future Legends Tournament in Austin and Future Masters Tournament two years.

"We are very pleased to have Eric coming to WTC," said Foster. "He is a very good golfer and a hard worker. He comes to us from the best high school golf team in the state and we are looking forward to his help here."

The WTC Westerners were the Region V champions this year and will be playing in the NJCAA National Tournament from June 7-11 in Scottsdale, Ariz.

Garner Not Happy To Be Traded To Astros

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Phil Garner wasn't exactly thrilled last season when the Pittsburgh Pirates dealt him to the Houston Astros for three players.

Garner talked about his departure Monday night after lashing four hits, including a double, and scoring three runs in an 8-1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

The Astros reached four Phillies pitchers, including starter Ron Reed (1-1), for 14 hits as they snapped Philadelphia's seven-game winning streak.

Garner has hit safely at least once in 13 of his last 15 games. He has 24 hits in 59 at bats during the span for a .406 batting average. He also has a hit in 15 of the last 18 games.

"Four hits. That's usually my quota for a week," Garner said, adding that he was disappointed about leaving Pittsburgh.

"I liked the city. I would like to have stayed there," he said. "That's nothing against Houston. It's a great city."

"But I spent a lot of time in the off season (in Pittsburgh) becoming involved in the community. I became ingrained with the city. I felt like a part of it."

The Astros fell behind in the second when Bo Diaz doubled and scored on Manny Trillo's single.

In the fifth, however, they routed Reed, who was making his second start in less than a week after five years in the bullpen.

Houston put together seven singles for five runs. Garner started it. He moved to third on a single by Alan Ashby and scored on Craig Reynolds' base hit.

Pitcher Vern Ruhle (2-2) sacrificed. Terry Puhl singled home Ashby, and Reynolds. Ray Knight extended his hitting streak through 14 games with a run scoring single, and Jose Cruz knocked in the fifth run.

The Astros added one in the sixth when Garner singled, stole second, continued to third on a throwing error by Diaz and scored on a fielder's choice.

It became 7-1 in the seventh on a Knight double and Cruz' second RBI single. The final run came in the eighth as Garner singled, moved to second on a wild pitch and scored on Ashby's single.

Bi-District Playoff
May 24-29, best of three

In the first minute of Saturday's 99-97 loss to the Philadelphia 76ers, Boston's top playmaker, Nate "Tiny" Archibald, dislocated his left shoulder and was replaced by Gerald Henderson.

With Henderson starting the next afternoon, the 76ers rolled to a 119-94 triumph to grab a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven National Basketball Association Eastern Conference playoff final.

Boston was 9-1 in the 10 games Henderson started in late February and early March when Archibald didn't suit up because of an injury. But the competition in those regular-season games wasn't as stiff as the 76ers present in the playoffs, said Boston forward Cedric Maxwell.

"We have confidence but still we're pessimists because we have a major injury," Maxwell said.
