NO INQUEST IN TRAGEDY

Just Mr. Tifft, And That's All

HERE'S WHAT IT IS LIKE TO HAVE ONLY A LAST NAME; COMPLICATIONS ARE MANY

BY DEXTER H. TEED
NEA Service Writer

BROOKLYN, July 21—He has never been called by his first name. Nobody has ever said: "Hello, Bill!" or "Good morning, Charlie!" Even his wife hasn't familiarly used anything but his family name. His most intimate friends are bound by the same restrictions.

And there is a reason. The reason is this: he has only one name—Tifft!

Just . . . Tifft. Not George nor Jim Tifft. Just—Tifft. For during his life time he has never had another name.

Because he is Tifft he has all kinds of unexpected experiences. Complications have developed, arguments have started, legal tangles have resulted. He has been explaining all his life, but he has steadfastly refused to take a given name. And here's his story:

Dad Didn't Like It

His father's name was Alanson Hubert Tifft. When Tifft, senior, grew to manhood he was known as A. Hubert Tifft. This irked him. He didn't want to be known as A. Hubert Tifft; he desired to be called Alanson H. Tifft.

But the force of habit is strong. He couldn't change his name. Do what he would he was constantly receiving letters addressed to A. Hubert Tifft. Men referred to him as A. Hubert Tifft. And when a son was born he declared:

"All my life I have been forced to have a name I didn't want. My son shall not be made unhappy by such an experience. Let him choose his own name!"

So it was. Mrs. Tifft objected at first, but he over-ruled her objections.

Didn't Choose to Choose

Years passed. The son grew up. He was called Tifft. Schoolmates said: "Hello, Tifft." And when he was urged to choose his given name—he did not choose to choose. One name was enough.

He entered the box-making business. The firm was known as Tifft Brothers—" although there was no brother. The Tifft alone didn't look well, and besides his father and uncle had been in the business before him.

Tifft bought a home at 679 East 18th street. Affidavits, testimony of

GUNMAN SLAIN BY OFFICERS IN A RAID

TWO FEDERAL AGENTS, CITY DETECTIVE ARE WOUNDED

(By The Associated Press)

KANSAS CITY, July 21—John Callo, 23-year-old gunman, was slain in a raid on an alleged bootlegger rendezvous here last night after he shot and wounded two federal prohibition agents and a city detective.

Curtis Burke, 35, an agent was struck by two bullets which paralyzed him from the waist down. He was reported in a critical condition at a hospital. A fellow officer, E. C. Anderson, and Clarence Reedy, the detective, were wounded less seriously.

Lieut. E. C. Nelson, also a detective, shot Callo to death in a fight for possession of the officer's sawed-off shotgun.

The raiding party was composed of 10 agents and six police officers. Burke, with two other agents found Callo lying on a cot in a dimly lighted room on the second floor of the place. He was deprived of one pistol, but as one of the officers turned to lay it aside he drew another and fired twice, both bullets striking Burke in the abdomen.

The gunman dashed down the stairs and shot Reedy through the jaw. Then he turned on Anderson, who was pursuing and wounded him in the abdomen. Lieutenant Nelson, called to the scene by police radio, found Callo hiding in a box. Their battle was brief.

Use Of Noxious Gas By Rum Runner Told

WASHINGTON, July 21 (AP)—Use of a noxious gas by an alleged Nova Scotian rum runner in evading capture by a coast guard boat was the basis of a complaint forwarded to the Canadian government by the state department.

The complaint was dispatched last night with instructions to Minister MacNider at Ottawa to submit it to Canadian authorities "for such action as they may find it possible to take."

The gas was reported in the protest as having been used by the vessel Cadet of Weymouth, Nova Scotia, in eluding the CG-149 off Nantucket, Massachusetts, on June 18. Members of the coast guard boat crew were made violently ill when the gas, coming from the Cadet's exhaust, enveloped the rum chaser.

FLAT PRICE OF FORTY CENTS IS POSTED

AVERAGE FOR THREE STATES IS ALMOST DOUBLED TODAY

(By The Associated Press)

WICHITA FALLS, July 21—The first break through the dark clouds that has hovered over the district petroleum market for sometime came Tuesday when the Continental Oil company, from its offices in Wichita Falls announced a new schedule of prices for Oklahoma, Kansas, and North Texas crude that will mean a boost of from 18 to 22 cents per barrel for the greater part of the district's output.

Effective Tuesday at 7 a. m. and until further notice the Continental will pay 40 cents per barrel for all gravities purchased by the company in Oklahoma, Kansas, and North Texas fields.

PONCA CITY, Okla., July 21 (AP)—A flat price of 40 cents per barrel for all grades of crude oil in the Kansas, Oklahoma and North Texas field was posted by the Continental Oil company here today, effective at 7 a. m. tomorrow. The company, one of the major purchasers of oil in this area, has been paying the prevailing scale of 10 to 22 cents.

The Continental price is the highest posted in the mid-continent area in months and is three cents higher for the flat rate than the 37 cent maximum that prevailed before the Sinclair and Stanolind companies led in cutting the price on July 8 to ten cents minimum and 22 cents maximum.

Rate Maintained

On June 20 the Magnolia company posted a 35 cent flat rate for Oklahoma City oil and has maintained that price despite the new low schedules.

Oil men throughout the state and especially at Oklahoma City, who have led the fight to shut down the flush pools of Oklahoma because of the price, were cheered by the Continental's announce-

(By The Associated Press)

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, July 21—United States marine corps airplane patrols today reinforced national guard troops delegated to put down insurgent uprisings which have occurred in several places in Nicaragua during the last few days, resulting in eight deaths.

A large party armed with pistols and machetes entered the town of Rama on the Escondido river Sunday and, after sharp fighting, was driven back by national guardsmen. Three of the invaders and one guardsman were killed.

Mining Town Sacked

About the same time 250 men under Pedro Altamirano, Sandinista chieftain, sacked the small mining town of Santo Domingo in Chontales department, according to official reports. Police killed one of the insurgents.

On Saturday a national guard patrol was ambushed on both sides of the Chico river at Kisalaya by 40 insurgents, the government has been informed. Three of the insurgents were killed and one guardsman was wounded.

Marine corps airplane patrols were dispatched from Managua last night.

Alphonse Capone Is Pictured As "Broke"

CHICAGO, July 21 (AP)—The Chicago Herald and Examiner said today that Alphonse Capone, who soon will go to prison, is either "Broke" or has successfully concealed his assets.

The newspaper said this was indicated last night by Assistant United States Attorney Dwight Green, in charge of income tax evasions, who said the government was having a hard time finding anything of Capone's to attach to satisfy its income tax bill.

Capone pleaded guilty to owing the government $215,080 in taxes. He is to have a hearing July 30 before sentence is passed.

BELGIAN COMMISSIONER IS KILLED AND EATEN BY TRIBE OF CANNIBALS

CAPE TOWN, Union of So. Africa, July 21 (AP)—Dispatches to the newspaper Dis Burger by way of Johannesburg and Elizabethville today said a cannibal tribe near Leopoldville had killed and eaten M. Mallot, the Belgian district commissioner of Leopoldville.

Mallot, the dispatches said, protested against an assault on the storekeeper at a village near Leopoldville and natives said to be of the Bapendi tribe captured him. Later they attacked the Kikwi administrator, who was saved only by the arrival of police who killed seven natives before driving them off. In subsequent encounters fifty were killed by machine gun fire.

EIGHT SONORA RANCHES ARE ROBBED

MOB OF 100 MEN LOOT PLACES IF CHINESE ARE EMPLOYED

(By The Associated Press)

NOGALES, Sonora, Mexico, July 21—A report on the robbery of eight Sonora ranches by a mob of more than 100 men was before authorities here today.

Guillermo Mascarenas, rancher, who appealed for protection yesterday, attributed the outbreak to the employment of Chinese as workers. Observers said they believed it was an outgrowth of the Mexican labor law which requires all employers to use at least 80 per cent Mexican labor.

Mascarenas reported that his loss in an attack Sunday amounted to 12,000 pesos (approximately $5,000). The losses included money, supplies and ranch products. Chinese employes fled at the approach of the armed mob.

Yao Hsiang Peng, Chinese consul here, said that five of the eight ranches looted employed some Chinese farmers.

"The time has come," said the Chinese consul, "when we must appeal to authorities for protection on Chinese citizens. Our taxes have increased from 50 to 300 per cent which is confiscatory and is without legal sanction."

The consul added that Mexican anti-Chinese organizations have caused Chinese citizens much trouble in various cities in Sonora.

TO DENY ENTRANCE

NOGALES, Ariz., July 21 (AP)—Dispatches received here by the Herald from Mexico City said many foreign workmen will be denied entrance to Mexico under a new labor code to be placed in effect September 14.

Laborers and immigrant workers not having 10,000 pesos (approximately $4,000) to invest in some industry, are placed in the class to be denied entrance.

The new code defines immigrant workers as those who enter Mexico to perform manual labor for which a salary or a daily stipend is paid.

The charge against Crawford this morning was transferred from justice to county court.

McGhee, charged before Justice of the Peace John F. Onion, was at liberty under bond of $1,000.

The trouble was said to have started Sunday when McGhee and his nephew, Carl McGhee, went to Gray's home to play dominoes.

Albert B. Fall Becomes Number 6991; Stripped Of Citizenship Rights

FORMER SECRETARY OF INTERIOR BEGINS HIS YEAR'S TERM IN NEW MEXICO PENITENTIARY

(By The Associated Press)

SANTA FE, N. M., July 21.—Albert B. Fall today became number 6991 in the New Mexico state penitentiary—stripped of his citizenship rights in the state which had heaped honors upon him.

The 70-year-old former secretary of the interior was committed last night to serve a sentence of a year and a day on conviction of accepting $100,000 to negotiate a lease on federal oil naval reserves while he was a cabinet member. The commitment marked the end of an eight year legal battle.

Bolstered by two heart stimulants administered by his physician while en route by ambulance from his ranch at Three Rivers, Fall was immediately taken to a private room in the prison hospital. Dr. J. H. Gambrell, his personal physician, said Fall was in "no condition to be confined." "He is unable to take care of himself," Dr. Gambrell said, "is not certain of his feet and requires constant attention."

In response to a telegraphic request from Pardon Attorney Finch in the department of justice at Washington, U. S. Marshall Joseph F. Tondre, dispatched a telegram notifying him that Fall had been committed, some speculation was aroused by the exchange of messages.

President Hoover and department of justice officials have been urged by Fall's friends to grant him a pardon. Officers said a pardon is not granted until after commitment of the prisoner.

Fall left El Paso, Texas, Saturday and went to his Tres Rios ranch. He stayed there two days and yesterday afternoon began the 327-mile trip to the prison here, arriving shortly after 10 p. m. Although several stops were made, the trip required only seven and a half hours.

In his only talk with newspapermen, shortly before the party reached Santa Fe, Fall told the reporters he felt weak.

Newspapermen were barred from

Bridge Opening Still In Doubt

OIL LAWS HELD INADEQUATE

PRORATION ORDER IS NEEDED, HOUSE IS TOLD TODAY

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, July 21—A good proration order backed by an adequate enforcement agency would be of material aid to operators, would conserve resources and increase the price of crude oil by stabilizing the national market, T. F. Hunter of Wichita Falls, today told the house committee investigating the oil industry.

Present laws are not adequate or the enforcement machinery sufficient to insure observations of the proration orders, Hunter said, recommending changes in court procedure to prevent delay in trial of suits against the proration enforcement agency.

Profits Cited

Hunter charged major oil companies were taking advantage of East Texas independent operators and were buying up production at sacrifice prices. One oil company, the Humble Oil and Refining company, has made $300,000,000 in the East Texas field, Hunter stated.

That the majors have maliciously depressed the prices of crude as a part of their scheme to force the independents out of business was charged by Hunter, who reiterated statements made yesterday that "overproduction" was a myth of the majors.

Gambling Proposal Made For Mexico

MEXICO CITY, July 21 (AP)—A proposal that gambling be allowed in all Mexico—especially along the border—was submitted today to President Ortiz Rubio by Senator Rodolfo T. Loaiza.

The president turned the suggestion over to the department of interior for study.

Senator Loaiza proposed that a commission be appointed to regulate gambling places and that heavy taxes be imposed. He emphasized that there would be money in attracting Americans to the resorts.

CONFERENCE CALLED BY STERLING OF LITTLE AVAIL

AUSTIN, July 21.—Texans today wondered what would be the next official step towards opening the new free bridge across the Red River between Denison, Texas, and Durant, Okla.

A conference called by Governor Ross S. Sterling for the purpose of attempting to arrive at an agreement with the Denison toll bridge company whereby the free span might be opened apparently had been of little avail.

Senator J. J. Loy of Sherman, who took part in the conference, issued a statement yesterday asserting that Governor Sterling and Cone Johnson and D. K. Martin, highway commissioners, wanted to pay the toll bridge company as per contract with the highway commission and that W. R. Ely, chairman of the commission, and James V. Allred, attorney general, did not want to do so.

Loy said Allred believed he could get immediate action in the courts and hoped to get the bridge open in a few days. The nature of this contemplated action was not revealed. Allred believed the contract invalid.

Knife Wounds Fatal In Sanford Affray

BORGER, July 21 (AP)—Knife wounds received in an affray at Sanford last night were fatal to Ted Keck, 26.

Officers arrested a man who was cut over the eye in the altercation.

Preliminary investigation revealed that an argument had preceded the knifing, but officers had not learned its cause.

BURY VICTIMS OF PORTALES SLAYINGS

MAN KILLS WIFE AND STEPSON AND THEN TAKES OWN LIFE

(Special To The Journal)

PORTALES, N. M., July 21—Three graves in a row yesterday afternoon received the bodies of T. E. Sartor, who committed suicide, and his wife and blind 18-year-old stepson, shot and beaten to death by Sartor. Authorities did not consider an inquest necessary. Neighbors took charge of the bodies. Burial was in little Ines cemetery, 28 miles from Portales.

Roosevelt county officers found the kerosene-drenched bodies of Mrs. Sartor, 45, married to the 55-year-old farmer 20 days earlier, and her son, Ralph Hammond Potter, in a cellar at the Sartor farm, 30 miles southeast of here. Their heads had been mutilated by blows from an iron pipe with which neighbor girls said they saw Sartor beat his stepson. A bullet wound was believed to have caused the woman's death, however.

The girls summoned Sheriff Tom Jernigan and three other officers. Arriving at 3 p. m., they found the bodies in a cellar, covered with old clothes on which kerosene had been poured. Sartor appeared at a window of the house, which the officers had not entered, with a gun in his hands when Sheriff Jernigan and an aide approached.

"I told the man to drop the gun and come outside," the sheriff said. "He made no move other than raise the gun to his shoulders and aim at us. As we retreated to our automobiles he fired."

The officers took refuge behind a barn while word was sent to Portales for more men and tear bombs and explosives.

Sheriff Jernigan said he heard a shot as he was hiding behind the barn.

Shortly after dark the officers entered the house and found Sartor sprawled on the floor with a bullet wound in his head. A rifle was found on the floor near the body.

Neighbors said Sartor was a respected citizen. They attributed the double slaying and suicide to a fit of insanity.

Negro Woman Fails To Post Her Bond

Failing to post a $500-bond, Betty Herron, 32, was in city jail today on a charge of murdering Bertie Robinson, another negro woman, whose jugular vein was severed in a stabbing recently at Merrill park.

The Herron woman was arrested yesterday when attending physicians said she had recovered sufficiently from knife wounds suffered in the altercation with the Robinson woman, who died on an operating table.

The murder complaint was filed two weeks ago.

PROPRIETORS OF NIGHT CLUBS AND DANCE HALLS TO BE FINGERPRINTED

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, July 21—Proprietors of night clubs and dance halls are to be fingerprinted by the police.

Commissioner Mulrooney summoned 300 proprietors to police headquarters yesterday, and gave them notice. He also informed them:

All night clubs and dance halls must close at 3 a. m.

Buzzers, peep holes, closed booths and private rooms are forbidden.

Entertainers must not mingle with patrons.

"This is to aid you to conduct your place on a high plane," the commissioner said.

"There will be no more scenery to dress up the places, no more pointing out 'this is Tough Jake,' and 'this is Irish Paddy.'

"Gangsters and racketeers must be kept out and there must be no ink eradicator on the premises. I want no $30 checks raised to $300."

Any violation would mean a forfeiture of licenses, Mr. Mulrooney warned.

CREDIT OFFER IS MADE BY AMERICA

WORLD BANKERS ASKED TO KEEP GERMANY'S CREDIT VOLUME

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, July 21.—A proposal by the American government that the bankers of the world maintain their present volume of credits to Germany has been laid before the interested powers at the London ministers' conference.

Acting Secretary Castle of the state department made known today the details of the formal suggestions approved by President Hoover for relieving Germany.

At the outset the American proposals placed entirely in Europe's hands the solution of their political problems.

The American proposals were confined to banking operations. It was suggested that the maintenance of the present levels of credits be supplemented with continued measures by Germany to stem the internal tide within that country. It proposed the establishment of a committee of the bank for international settlements or through other means to secure co-operation in consulting world banking interests for renewal of short term credits; co-operation in an inquiry to determine Germany's further economic needs and the study for the conversion within six or eight months of a part of the short term credits into long term credits.

Castle estimated the total of the short term credits at $1,200,000,000, one half of which is held by American banks.

The American proposals pointed out that the strain on Germany's economic structure had come from the "flight from the mark" in Germany and the withdrawals of foreign credits. It cited the restoration of confidence in Germany's economic life as the actual purpose of the proposal through economic measures.

The plan had already been submitted by Secretary Stimson to the French and Germans Saturday. He said it had been received in a friendly spirit by the British.

The acreage is a part of the Cliffside structure from which the government's helium plant near Amarillo gets its gas supply, and the last tract in more than 50,000 acres to be leased. The government values the lease at $40,827, but the owners have refused to accept.

New Sports Suit

WOOLEN FROCKS are summering at all the smartest resorts this year. Of course that is because new woolens are so very sheer, so soft, so lovely in their coloring. Brand new and jaunty is this combination of kingfisher blue flannel and chalk white pique in a two-piece sports costume from Bonwit Teller, New York. The skirt is one of the new gored ones that knows how to give room at the bottom but is flatteringly snug and slim-line from the hips up. There is a smart jacket top featuring the wide-shoulder cut that lets a woman's waist look small. The white pique vest makes a little V dickey, notched and pointed lapels, and pipes the pointed lower edge. It conveniently buttons right along with the jacket so it can be removed for its daily washing. One of the new line hats, in white baku with kingfisher blue touches, tilts down on one side of the forehead in a manner to forecast autumn's promise of over-the-eye types.

Doctor Myers' Daily Column On Child Welfare

DR. MYERS

BY GARRY C. MYERS, PH. D.
Head Division Parental Education Cleveland College, Western Reserve University

RESPONSIBILITIES FOR YOUTH

In these columns I have rarely written about our older two children of 18 and 16, because they do not want me to do so. Anyway, to write about them seems to be breaking into their private affairs. They appear grown-up and their parents have, for a number of years tried to treat them so.

For the encouragement of those parents whose children are forever quarreling in the earlier years, let me note that while these children once had their good share of controversies, and used to say the meanest sort of things to each other, they have become in the past fews years exceptionally fine pals.

With their mother attending Columbia university for the summer, and with the rest of us about a hundred miles away, on an uncultivated farm, these older children have assumed responsibility, doing the marketing together, she cooking and caring for the house, he helping her, for the first few weeks until he found himself a job for the summer on a farm near by.

What rhubarb pie that daughter could bake! And apple pie! And strawberry shortcake! Pancakes too! She put the store brands in the shade and mixed her own. And she could fry the fish well, too, that her Dad and brothers caught. She did not guess at cooking. She studied the cookbook.

During three weeks there was no one to boss her or to tell her how to do things. The way she measured up was, indeed, most gratifying. I note this fact because during the winter in the city, since we have a maid, this daughter has rather limited responsibilities for domestic affairs. More and more I am convinced that it is not the number of hours and weeks and months a child carries responsibilities in the home that counts most, but the degree to which she feels such responsibilities wholly her own.

I wish mothers would more often give their adolescents opportunities to undertake household programs occasionally, in which no directions are given and no advice, except when requested. Suppose you plan to let your daughter do the marketing next Saturday, buying what she thinks she should within the budget announced to her. Let her also plan, market for, and prepare entirely alone, a meal occasionally. Those families who have maids can find such opportunity on her day off. Some parents would do well to go off for a week-end, leaving the home and its care to the children.

It is also very desirable for the children to spend some time away from home, particularly at a good camp. Of course we like to have them home with us. I surely missed my daughter while she spent two weeks of July in a summer camp.

We dads are proud of our daughters, and we who have only one have wished over and over that she might have been twins.

Circle Members In Aid Lead Program

Women in Circle 3 of the First Christian General Aid society were in charge of a program Monday afternoon at a meeting in the church and Mrs. L. W. Squyres talked on the eighth chapter of the book, "On Being Towed In."

A feature for the afternoon was a series of reports on summer encampments for young people. Benton Teal and Earl Walker talked on the Ceta Canyon conference, which they recently attended and Paul Squyres talked on the Christian Endeavor convention that he attended in El Paso.

A theme for the day was "Grace" and Mrs. N. L. Benson conducted the devotional. Prayers were led by Mrs. D. W. Robertson and Mrs. R. A. Mills, General Aid president. Following the program, there was a short business session with a social following.

Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Snodgrass, 1624A, 10th street, left today for a vacation trip to Colorado.

Mrs. W. H. French and son, Carlton, who have been visiting with the Claude Wilsons, have started for their home in Los Angeles, Calif. They were accompanied to Carlsbad, N. M., by Mr. and Mrs. Wilson and son, Roger. After visiting the caverns near Carlsbad, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will return to Lubbock. Roger will accompany the Frenchs on to California for an extended visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Halsey have returned from a visit in New Mexico and points in Texas.

J. W. Gamel, of the Minter-Gamel store, and H. J. Jarrett of the Cinderella shop, have gone to New York on market trips.

Mrs. A. E. Thomas Dies Near Lubbock

Although Mrs. Thomas was in ill health, she died unexpectedly. Funeral services probably will be Wednesday afternoon. Burial will be in Lubbock cemetery by Rix Funeral home.

Survivors are a son, J. D. Thomas of Presidio, and four daughters, Mrs. Goodnight, Mrs. T. B. Lee of Idalou, Mrs. G. H. Gooly of Thrall, and Mrs. F. R. Stovall of Hamlin.

Furs And Feathers Are Fall Mode

friends and members of his family were necessary before he could make officials believe that the "Tifft" signed to the deed was his real and only name.

Complications

Naturally he wanted a telephone. It took a long time to convince telephone company officials that his name was merely Tifft, but at last it was entered in the book, Tifft, 67 East 18th, Mansfield 6-5646.

When he entered a hotel and registered, there was invariably a question: "Why don't you sign your first name?" And of course he had to explain. Sometimes he wasn't believed. The hotel manager was called and a detailed explanation was repeated. The matter was usually adjusted.

Voting has brought difficulties. Once, although he had registered as "Tifft," he was challenged when he went to vote. An argument developed and before he could get the matter straightened out it was too late to cast a ballot. He lost his vote.

An Advantage—Maybe?

In buying a car and obtaining licenses he confronted more trouble. Patiently he went through the same experience again, signing affidavits, bringing in friends to testify and so on.

In business the name has probably been an advantage. Those who have known him have eventually heard the story and consequently he has often been discussed. He has become well-known among those interested in buying or selling to his firm. "Tifft" means something.

During his lifetime—and he is now past middle age—he has explained so often he is no longer at all irritated. If he finds, for example, that a certain person has known him for years merely as "Mr. Tifft" and that closer acquaintance brings a desire to know his first name, it is simply a surprise when he says:

"That's all there is. There isn't any more."

Not long ago Tifft sold his house in Brooklyn—after the usual legal difficulties—and left with his wife for a trip to the Pacific coast. He is somewhere in the far west now, meeting continual new experiences because he is just "Tifft."

ATHLETICS, CARDINALS ARE LOOKING TOWARD WORLD SERIES

BOTH IN LEAD BY A HEAVY MAJORITY

PHILADELPHIA TAKES SEVENTH GAME IN A ROW ON MONDAY

BY HERBERT W. BARKER,
Associated Press Sports Writer

Those sighs of contentment you hear from St. Louis and Philadelphia probably are emitted by Gabby Street and Connie Mack, managerial rivals of the 1930 world series.

You needn't bet on it unless you feel so inclined but it looks suspiciously as though Street's Cardinals and Mack's Athletics, again will square off in the October classic. For the Cardinals today led the National league parade by six games while the Athletics had a seven-game margin over their nearest American league rivals.

A's Set Pace

Most of yesterday's action was concentrated in the American league, the A's setting the pace for the rest with a 12-7 triumph over the Chicago White Sox for their seventh victory in a row.

Hank McDonald started off for the champions but decided to call it a day after the first inning when the Sox scored six runs. Roy Mahaffey came in and held Donie Bush's crew to four hits and one run for the last eight innings while the A's slugged four Chicago pitchers for 16 hits to tie the score in the second inning and win out easily in the later innings. The white Sox had the satisfaction of engineering a triple steal in the opening frame while McDonald was winding up, much to young Hank's embarrassment. Jimmy Foxx hit his 19th homer for the A's.

Senators Keep Step

The Washington Senators kept step with the champions by beating the Detroit Tigers, 7-3 for their fifth straight win. The Senators won out by scoring six runs in the second inning.

The New York Yankees made it three in a row over the St. Louis Browns as Ed Wells, slightly outpitching Walter Stewart, drove in two runs with a double and single and scored one himself, to win 8-5.

Clint Brown held the Boston Red Sox to four hits, two in the first inning, as the Cleveland Indians smashed out 14 hits to win, 8-2.

SHIRES TO BE PURCHASED

CUBS ARE PREPARING TO BID $50,000 FOR FIRST SACKER

CHICAGO, July 21. (AP)—The Chicago Tribune said today that William Wrigley, jr., owner of the Chicago Cubs, is preparing to bid in the neighborhood of $50,000 for Arthur "The Great" Shires, first baseman of the Milwaukee Brewers of the American association.

The Texan, who has kept his batting mark above .400 most of the current season, would come back to a big league line-up after a stormy career which began in 1928 when he was purchased by the Chicago American league club from Waco, and ended after he painted a black eye on the manager season before last. Shires was traded to Washington early last season, and was, in turn, sold to Milwaukee for $10,000 last winter.

The Milwaukee club hopes to receive at least $75,000 for Shires, the Tribune said. Not only is the Cub owner anxious to obtain him, the newspaper continued, but the Cleveland Indians, Pittsburgh Pirates, and Boston Braves are ready to place bids.

Wrigley's bidding depends, the Tribune said, largely upon the report of a Cub scout who is now trailing the first baseman. In case he is purchased, he will probably not join the cub lineup before next season.

Jim Londos Winner Over Sandor Szabo

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 21 (AP)—Jim Londos, Greece, claimant of the world heavyweight wrestling title, threw Sandor Szabo, Hungary with an airplane twirl n 35 minutes and 42 seconds here last night.

Gene Bruce, Finland, 200, pinned Casey Berger, Texas, 210, in 21:12 by using the reverse flying mare.

France Not To Have An Olympics Team

PARIS, July 21. (AP)—The executive committee of the French Olympic association decided today that insufficient funds were available to permit sending a French team to the 1932 Olympics at Los Angeles.

This decision, however, is subject to the action of the association as a whole. A general meeting is scheduled this Thursday for consideration of the problem of raising additional funds.

New laws, passed by the North Carolina legislature this year, reduced government costs in the state $8,000,000 a year.

Collier Parris

SPYING ON SPORTS

We can all get a giggle out of the dispatch from London in which Phil Scott, the British boxer, hands English fans a hearty laugh. "I'm going to give it all up," Scott announced the other day. "After fifteen years of strenuous boxing I have had enough. I cannot expect to be in championship form forever."

Can it be possible that Phainting Phil was serious in that remark? If so, what, prithee, has he to give up? He has given up the ghost in so many so-called important fights that he doesn't even have that to toss away now. The only reason why American fighters cannot be wholly blamed for the present "fight depression" is, or was, Phil Scott, the bashful Briton.

Maybe you don't believe in this psychology stuff about football, baseball or anything else connected with winning athletic games. Maybe we don't put so much faith in it, either, or eyether. Notre Dame's present and future condition may have some bearing on the subject, but when they begin that "carry on" football season this fall they'll have plenty to mix with the Rockne spirit and tradition and don't forget it. Frank Wallace, Knute Rockne's press representative and special friend for many years has something to say that is interesting to all of us. Says Wallace:

"I watched the Rockne system being built—in a sense was a part of it. It was always my opinion that Notre Dame football was essentially a personality, just as any football system is. Often I wondered what Notre Dame would do without Rock, just as the football public is wondering now.

"The present arrangement is a stop-gap. Jesse Harper, Rock's coach, was drafted from his Kansas ranch. Heartley Anderson was Rock's trusted and loyal line coach. It was a wise move on the part of the university to bring Harper back as the athletic director;, it was a sporting and sensible gesture to let Anderson carry on.

"They can do it this year because this 1931 team is Rock's team. He has coached it. His memory will be even more powerful than his physical presence might be. Anderson and Chevigny can teach the new men what they need to know. It will be a strong team. It will have two good lines and be a difficult outfit to score against. It has sterling backfield men in Schwartz and Lukats.

"If Carideo were still its field general, I would think it possible that the 1931 squad might again come sailing through without a defeat—but Carideo is gone, and Brill is gone. The replacements at quarter and right half are not up to the Notre Dame standard. These are the only important weaknesses on the 1931 team. It will hardly come through undefeated. It may lose two, possibly three games — to Northwestern, Southern California, Army or Carnegie Tech.

"Notre Dame cannot go on calling on the memory of Knute Rockne. This will be a dangerous thing for his successors. In 1931 it will be a beautiful and inspiring devotion his boys will offer to him on the gridiron altar, but as time goes on, and I think this phase will begin to be felt in 1932. Notre Dame football must gon on without Rock—and its success will depend on the man who succeeds him."

Well, look where our Brooklyn Birdies are now. A glance at the standing will show them in second place, where they have been resting since Saturday. Lost a game yesterday to the Cubs but they're still in possession of second place. And to think that they came up from the deep, dank cellar to that position in about six weeks! Maybe we were not so haywire after all, and maybe we don't mind being called "Uncle Wilbert." Our Senators from out Washington way are having a tough time but it isn't their fault. If the Athletics would calm down a bit and quit winning games the Senators might have a chance.

At this writing we have not been informed of any steps made to schedule games for the Hubbers this week. If some games are not played very soon and if money doesn't begin to trickle through the box office we're going to lose the Merrill Park lights. They must be paid for, you know, and gate receipts are relied upon to furnish the necessary kale. This is no time to quit; it's the time to get busy Some of the team members are thinking of packing their duds and pulling out, maybe for good reasons, but it would be quite a ruthless sort of thing to do, also unethical, perhaps cowardly, to stop activities just because a tournament was lost. To those who have good reasons for leaving, we wave a cherry so-long and good luck, but just to haul out because they failed to win a tournament is no reason at all.

PLAYERS, UMPS ARE AT ODDS

EIGHT PUNISHED FOR DISAGREEMENT WITH LEAGUE UMPIRES

NEW YORK, July 21. (AP)—Maybe it's the heat or the torrid scramble for advantageous positions in the standings but the battle between the umpires and the players in the major leagues gets hotter and hotter.

Within the last three days, two managers, two coaches and four players either have been suspended, fined or chased out of the ball park for the duration of the game. Manager John McGraw of the New York Giants heads the list with a three-day suspension imposed after McGraw's heated altercation with Umpire Clark at St. Louis. Coach George Burns was chased from the same game Saturday but escaped suspension.

Yesterday John Arnold Heydler, president of the National league, announced that Manager Rogers Hornsby and Coach Ray Schalk of the Chicago Cubs and Frank O'Doul of the Brooklyn Robins had been fined $50 each for their disagreement with the umpires in Saturday's game.

In the American league, Umpire Brick Owens had his troubles with the Browns at the Yankee stadium yesterday. Before an argument over whether a ball was fair or foul had ended, Owens ordered Ralph Kress to the showers and then chased Jim Levey and Sam Gray who had continued the argument from the bench.

MOTORISTS GIVEN LIGHTS WARNINGS

Motorists failing to correct automobile lighting defects to which their attention was called last week by motorcycle policemen and state highway patrolmen will be given traffic summonses to corporation court, Chief of Police John Lemond said.

A total of 542 drivers was warned by city and state traffic officers last week to correct such defects, he said. Police Chief Lemond asked that garage and service station operators aid in the campaign for proper automobile lights.

"Attendants at service stations may do a great deal of good, and at the same time stimulate their business, by calling the attention of drivers of automobiles to any lights on their machines which may not be working properly," he said.

"Many of the automobile drivers stopped last week said they were not aware that their lights were not burning. Most of them, after being informed that their lights were not working, took steps to have them repaired."

MICKEY SENTIMENTAL FAVORITE TO WIN OVER SAILOR

NEW YORK, July 21 (AP)—Close to $200,000 worth of customers, the promoters hope, will pile into Ebbets field tomorrow night for the 15-round heavyweight battle between Mickey Walker and Jack Sharkey.

If the gate really gets up to that figure—and advance indications are that it will—Jimmy Johnston and the Hearst milk fund can point with approval to Walker as the chief contributing cause.

Always Popular

Most of the ballyhoo has been built around the 30-year-old Mickey who has won two world's titles in his long career and now aspires to a third. Always a popular fighter in this district, the Rumson bulldog's apparently unequal struggle against a foe of vast physical superiority has caught the public's fancy. Much of Sharkey's drawing power in the past has been based on the fistic populace's hope that he would be beaten.

It probably will be the same tomorrow night. Certainly Walker who must give away inches in height and reach and about 30 pounds in weight, will be the sentimental favorite although expert opinion concedes him only an outside chance of beating the burly Boston sailor.

In Good Condition

Both fighters have wound up their training grind in excellent condition. Walker, the one-time welterweight and middleweight champion, seldom has taken training very seriously but he has worked out faithfully for the Sharkey bout, probably the most important of his career. Walker and his astute manager, Jack Kearns, think the heavyweight crown can be won but Sharkey must be blasted out of the way if Mickey is to realize his ambition.

Sharkey, the 2 to 1 favorite, will have every physical advantage. At 198 pounds he will outweight Walker by almost 30 pounds for Mickey does not expect to scale much over 170. Sharkey is a whole head taller and with a corresponding advantage in reach. He is big, fast and strong and a dangerous hitter.

Walker's only chance of cutting down the sailor man to his own size seems to lie in his punching power, especially with his left hand, his endurance and his unquestioned courage.

BUFFALOES ON TOP DESPITE DEFEAT

BEAUMONT PRESSING LEAGUE LEADERS FOR PINNACLE

BY BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Four Monday Texas league games provided one change in the pennant calendar. The Fort Worth Cats moved into fourth place, replacing the Wichita Falls Spudders who dropped into fifth position. Although the league-leading Houston Buffaloes suffered defeat, they retained their flag advantage with Beaumont pressing them for the pinnacle.

Beaumont gained valuable pennant points Monday afternoon in its ball orchard, trimming Wichita Falls 8 to 3. It was Beaumont's second consecutive triumph over Wichita Falls, Manager Baker's Exporters pounded the ball hard, collecting thirteen hits—most of them with runners aboard.

Spuds Lose Lead

The Spudders jumped into a 3 to 2 lead in the first half of the third, but Beaumont forged to the front 6 to 3 in the last of the third when Tom Holley connected for a home run with two runners aboard. Beaumont's crew closed the third chapter with four runs which kept them in front throughout.

Izzy Goldstein, winning his 11th game this season, held Wichita Falls to five hits. Goldstein fanned five, and in five innings retired the Spudders in order. Pressnell weathered Beaumont's hitting rampage. Joyner White, Beaumont's flashy rookie outfielder, increased his lead in runs scored when he counted once to bring his total to 62.

Stoner Wins Again

The baffling pitching arm of Lil Stoner elevated the Fort Worth Cats to fourth place with an even .500 percentage when he stopped Houston 4 to 1. It was Stoner's 7th victory in eight starts since his return to the Texas league from the Philadelphia Nationals.

Hansen and Carleton opposed Stoner. Between them they limited the Cats to seven hits while Houston nicked Stoner for eight, but Lil was very stingy with hits in the pinches.

It was Stoner's first mound appearance in Houston this year. In his last game before a Houston audience last year, he beat Tony Kauffman in a 14-inning mound duel that meant much in the second half race which Fort Worth won. Monday night. Stoner had his tough spots to pitch out of, but he delivered to retain his jinx over the Buffaloes.

Bucs Down Steers

Hap Morse's Dallas Steers, who until Monday night had won four of their five current road trip games, went down before Galveston's batting attack, 5 to 2. Larry Cox, traded by Fort Worth to Galveston last Saturday, stepped into the heart of the Island City fans when he tripled in the fifth inning with the bases full. His timely hit erased Dallas' 1 to 0 lead, and gave the Bucs a 4 to 1 advantage when Cox scored and Bene's bad throw to third. Bednar, secured by Galveston in the same deal that gave them Cox, pitched his first game for Galveston and turned in a sweet job, beating Lou Garland, husky Dallas right hander. It was Garland's 8th defeat this season.

Shreveport and San Antonio could not settle their game in nine innings, but in the tenth, San Antonio obtained a run to annex the game 2 to 1.

In the first inning Pinkie Higgins trippled to score Stebbins. This was all the scoring until the first of the eighth. Shreveport tied the count when Winegarner bounced a single over Hamilton's head after Wade and Solters had walked. In the last of the tenth, the Indians won when Stebbins beat out a hit and scored on Hamilton's double.

Chief Moore deserved his victory He held Shreveport to five hits, fanning five. Oscar Tuero, spitballer, toiled for Shreveport and allowed eight hits.

MATE AND TWENTY GRAND MAY RENEW BATTLE FOR SUPREMACY NEXT MONTH

NEW YORK, July 21. (AP)—Hailed as two of the greatest thoroughbreds of recent American turf history, Mate and Twenty Grand probably will renew their battle for three-year-old supremacy in the historic Travers at fashionable Saratoga, Aug. 22.

Right now Mate, boasting of two victories in three starts over Twenty Grand, holds the upper hand but the Travers may again throw the question of the championship of the division into a turmoil and leave it to be decided in the Lawrence realization during Belmont park's September meeting.

Prior to the running of the Arlington classic last Saturday, many rated Twenty Grand as a superhorse and his followers are slow to admit that he is inferior to any 1931 three-year-old. They point to his recent injury, which in all probability took some of the edge off the speed that hung up a new record of 2:01 4-5 for the mile and a quarter in winning the Kentucky Derby.

The Travers will be decided over a mile and a quarter. The same distance as the Kentucky Derby and the classic and a distance that favors Mate. Twenty Grand showed in the Belmont stakes at one and one-half miles that he likes plenty of distance but his victory in the Kentucky derby was over a quarter of a mile less ground. If the big bay from the Greentree stable succeeds in reversing the classic decision in the Travers, then he will have all the advantage as the Lawrence realization is decided over one and five-eighths miles.

CITY LEAGUE TO RESUME PLAY IN CONTEST TODAY

City League hostilities will be renewed this afternoon when the Texas Utilities and Wholesaler clubs meet in the first game since last Monday at Merrill Park. The game is set for 6 o'clock today.

With only five clubs in the running for the second half title, not more than five games may be played each week, though changes in the old schedule have not been announced. With the dropping out of the Advertiser club, fifth placers in the first half, and the strengthening of the Wholesaler team, which went through the 15-game first half without a victory, the five-team loop promises to furnish warm competition and fair baseball games for the remainder of the summer.

All games scheduled for last week were postponed on account of the absence of the Hubbers, members of which team play with various City League teams as well. President Leuenberger has not announced the course that will be taken in playing the postponed games but there probably will be an effort to get as many of them out of the way this week as possible. Dates on which the Advertisers were to have appeared, according to the old schedule, will be used to play off postponed games.

A schedule for the playoff series between the Avalanche-Journal and Texas Utilities teams for the first half title has not been announced, though it is likely that a three-game series under the Merrill Park lights will be held no later than next week.

Tuffy Griffity Is Winner In Battle

CHICAGO, July 21. (AP)—Tuffy Griffith, Sioux City, Iowa, heavy weight, defeated Paul Pantaleo, former Chicago prep football star, in their ten round battle in the White City outdoor arena last night. Pantaleo was floored four times and wobbled to his corner half a dozen times under Griffith's terrific battering.

Eighty-seven per cent of the street accidents in Greater London last year were due to "want of forethought or alertness," says a recent official report.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY
NEA Service Writer

Too often the aftermath of a picnic is so unpleasant for children that mothers dread that particular form of entertainment for their small folk.

Excitement usually runs high at such a time, and freedom from restraining table manners as well as the stimulus of fresh air induces a thoughtless stuffing of foods. Children love to eat out-of-doors and if the picnic menu is carefully planned, there is no reason to deprive them of the pleasure.

In the first place, avoid too great a variety in foods. Children are apt to be confused and lose their appetites if confronted by an array of different viands. The package picnic is excellent for small children. All articles of food are wrapped separately in individual servings. They are then packed in a pastry box or on a picnic plate and wrapped in heavy brown paper and firmly tied with stout cord. When lunch time comes each child receives his package and there is no tedious passing.

Sandwich Fillings

Use as much whole wheat bread as possible for sandwiches, and choose the fillings with care. chopped raw vegetables, jellies, cream cheese, cottage cheese, dried fruits and nuts run through the food chopper all make acceptable fillings.

Plain, hard-cooked eggs, or those stuffed with finely chopped vegetables when vegetable sandwiches are not included, are wholesome and filling. They help to supply the vitamins so often lacking in the average picnic lunch.

A thermos bottle of milk and a small can of home-made chocolate syrup or a can of one of the many good prepared cocoas on the market makes it possible to produce a festive milk shake in the easiest and quickest way imaginable.

Keep the dessert simple. Ice cream is always a treat but requires special equipment for carrying. Well-washed fruit and simple cup cakes or cookies are suitable and adequate. Pie is difficult to pack and serve and is not desirable for a child's picnic meal.

MONDAY'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Peaches and cream with ready-to-serve cereal, stewed kidneys on toast milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Creamed calf's tongue, baked potatoes, sliced tomatoes, rye bread, lemonade.

DINNER: Jellied lamb loaf, buttered new peas, frozen apricot and cheese salad, red raspberry shortcake, milk, coffee.

Simple Camp Cookery

If hot food is wanted, eggs can be scrambled over a campfire and bacon can be frizzled, using long green sticks on which to fasten the bacon. A soup or stew made at home and carried in a vacuum container can be reheated over a small fire.

Even little children should be taught that a picnic is a co-operative affair and should be allowed to do their share of the work. The responsibility of being certain that no bit of the campfire is left burning and that no scraps of paper or food are left about the picnic should be impressed on children as soon as they are old enough to take part in such outings.

Perhaps these suggestions for sandwich fillings will prove helpful to you and suggest other possibilities:

Finely minced cabbage, carrot and celery moistened slightly with lemon juice.

Cottage cheese combined with jelly and put between graham bread.

Finely chopped prunes combined with peanut butter.

Chopped hard-cooked eggs and lettuce.

Cold roast lamb and lettuce.

Cold boiled or roast chicken and lettuce.

Butter Is Necessary

These fillings are easily packed, and are easily digested and nourishing.

A thin coating of butter always should be evenly spread on one side of each slice of bread used for sandwiches. Butter materially increases the food value of the sandwich and also aids in preventing the bread from absorbing the filling. Crisp lettuce leaves are another aid in keeping the filling from soaking into the bread, making it soggy.

Meat sandwiches need lettuce for another reason. The lettuce furnishes the green vegetable so necessary and adds bulk to the diet. Trim lettuce so that it just fits the bread, and there will be no unappetizing, wilted edges. The same treatment that keeps sandwiches moist keeps lettuce crisp—careful wrapping to exclude air.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

©1931 BY NEA SERVICE INC.

After 2 years of age a child makes rapid progress in his own development.

Before this time he will depend largely upon other people for his amusement, preferably his mother, but now he is capable of interesting himself in things about him. This is the reason that we sympathize with his mother and express ourselves some way like this: "He's into everything? Don't tell us. We know he's at his very hardest age."

He is too little to have any judgment, and yet his spirit of independence and investigation knows no limits. This is the time that vases go bang, the cat yells, he falls off chairs and his parents feel like caging him up with the canary most of his waking hours.

He must be kept safe: so must the cat, and the vases. It is just a case of making everything as far out of reach as possible until this period is past. It is not wise to smack into him the fear of his own shadow, and shout him down until he is one vast inhibition of every natural impulse, but to provide him with enough room and safe places to play so that everybody is happy.

I am afraid the vases and low tables will have to go into retreat if he is to have the run of the house. Table covers may not hang over edges, and stairs will have to have gates. As to cat, he will take intense interest in learning to be kind to it.

Free Rein Better

To give the 2-year-old free rein in a small world of playroom, porch, and garden (a shut-in one) is far better than to constantly prohibit the things that he is doing. Many people are ruined as to initiative and confidence at this early period.

Moreover, concentration is in the bud now and continual interference on the part of others is known to be the death of this important thing. People wonder in later life why they cannot concentrate. Too often it is because they never had a chance to cultivate it when they were tiny children.

Probably this idea of freedom gave rise to the now unpopular "self-expression" method. Parents went to the other extreme at first and allowed their 2 and 3-year-olds to do precisely as they pleased. This could not and cannot be. Along with development must go discipline always. The child must be taught to obey.

But the two things can be reconciled by fixing a child's daily surroundings so that he need not be bossed and punished every second. That is ruinous. One of the chief pastimes of an otherwise intelligent woman whom I know is to indulge a grim determination to "break" her little son of his destructive habits. "I won't put a thing away," she declares. "He's got to learn not to touch things, if I have to kill him."

He will learn—but in that learning something that he will need enormously later on in life will be lacking. People will say, "George is such a nice boy, but he can't succeed at anything he does."

Just Among Us Girls!

Men Are Unfair In Treatment Of Women, Virginia Lee Told

By VIRGINIA LEE

A GIRL signing herself T. D. L. F. has written me a letter in which she asserts that men are unfair to women. She says if a girl is not just the type men like they make fun of her and allow her to be a wallflower instead of trying to give her a good time—as girls do boys who aren't so hot.

● Virginia Lee

She experimented by going out with four types of boys and acting a different type of girl each time. With the first she acted the "crazy fool." With the second she was snooty to all she met. With the third she was the quiet, shy type, with hardly a word to say for herself. And with the fourth she acted the dumb bell.

Men are humans just like women, T. D. L. F. They have undoubtedly been spoiled through the generations that they have bossed things so that they demand more of women than women do of them. Occasionally even the best of them will seem selfish and inconsiderate, I acknowledge.

But take them by and large, the majority are pretty good. I cannot say I think they are any more cruel to girls than girls are to them. I have seen a group of young females tittering and whispering over the crudities of some young male who was suffering agonies of adolescent bashfulness.

And as to the tests you tell about, was it quite fair to those boys who took you out to act as you did? And mayn't you have overdone the matter so that your escort on each occasion felt he was made conspicuous and ridiculous?

How would you have felt about it if you had accepted the invitation of a boy who seemed a very charming and desirable companion, and he had acted as you did? Would you have given him another chance? And if you had later found out it was a trick to try you out, would you have thought it a very clever one?

You have to look at two sides of the question, you see. As you have brothers I should think you would have a chance to see that boys are, after all, not so very different from girls, although I'll admit brothers very often don't prove the best sources of information concerning their sex, as they are quite apt to tyrannize over their sister, or pet her to death—both courses being bad for her.

Simple friendliness and a desire to please will make you popular with anyone of either sex and any age. And, after all, isn't it so much better to be a good pal and win friends than to put companions to such freakish tests and then condemn them if they fall down in them?

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: I am leaving for my vacation soon. I have a boy friend who, I think, would like to write but is too bashful. Must I wait for him to ask me or bring the subject up myself?

"JULIET."

No harm in casually mentioning to the boy friend the fact that you would like to hear from him, Juliet.

Recipes

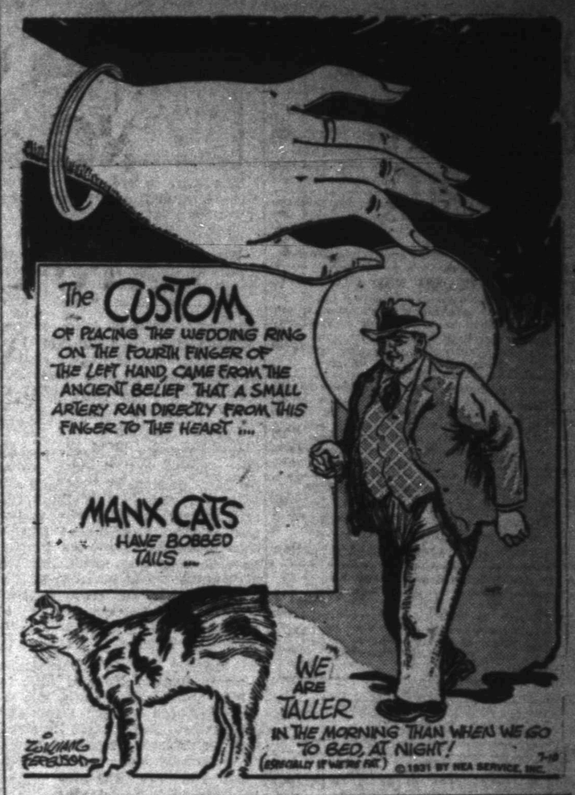

Roast Stuffed Shoulder of Lamb—Select a shoulder of lamb weighing from 3 to 4 pounds. Have the butcher remove all the bones and the fell. Save the bones for making soup. A lamb shoulder may be stuffed and either left flat or rolled. The flat shoulder is easier to sew up than the rolled, and the pocket holds twice as much stuffing. Either of these completely boned, stuffed shoulders can be carved straight through in attractive slices of part meat and part stuffing. Wipe the meat with a damp cloth. Sprinkle the inside of the pocket with salt and pepper, pile the hot stuffing in lightly, and sew the edges together. Rub salt, pepper and flour over the outside. If the shoulder has only a very thin covering of fat, lay several strips of bacon over the top. Place the roast on a rack in an open pan without water. Sear for 30 minutes in a hot oven (480 degrees F.) If bacon is laid over the roast, shorten the time of searing so as to avoid overbrowning. Reduce the temperature of the oven to 300 degrees F. and cook the meat at this temperature until tender. From two and one-half to three hours will be required to cook a medium-sized stuffed shoulder at these oven temperatures. Serve hot, with brown gravy.

IRONING RIBBONS

The right way to iron ribbons is to stand your hot iron on end, hold one end of the ribbon in each hand and slide the ribbon across the iron, instead of laying it flat and pressing down on it. This process keeps it looking like new.

Glorifying Yourself

By Alicia Hart

©1931 BY NEA SERVICE INC.

Fashion Plaque

The long wide sleeves with rows of pinked ruffles and the biege bow of this white taffetta jacket are notable.

Think twice before you pack up your beauty makings in the old kit bag and start on vacation.

If you are a good spender, you may saunter down and buy the most delectable outfits, all packed and ready to put the bloom on your cheeks, the silkiness into your skin, the sheen on your hair.

If you aren't a good spender, tuck a jar of cold cream, a tube of vanishing cream and a little hair tonic into your kit and call it a day.

Personally, I hold with the woman who says valiantly, "What's a vacation for, if not to make me bloom and be enchanting?" That woman will make a careful compilation of her beauty needs, put some of her leisure moments into glorifying herself and get the maximum of benefit from her trip. She stands more than a fair chance of capturing romance en route.

Right Time and Place

There's a reason for these going-away beauty kits. And it isn't just vanity, either. It is an intelligent desire to make a vacation pay dividends in charm. Given leisure and new scenes and new people, your psychology determines the kind of time you will have and the hit you make.

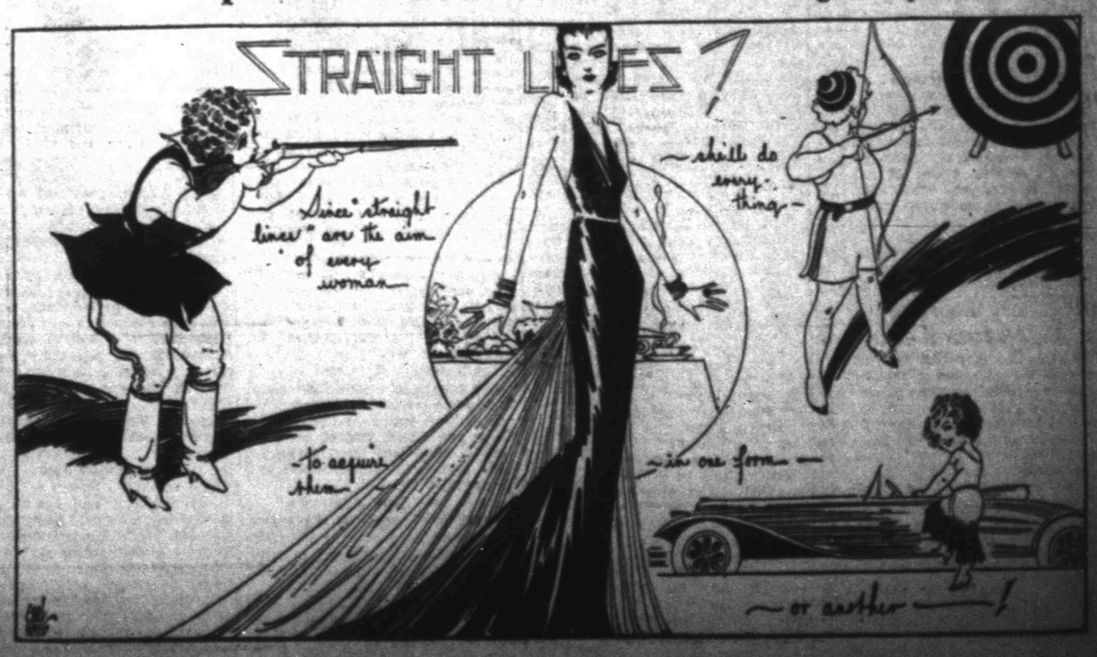

What you wear is important, yes. But how you carry the things you have is equally important. If you know you look nice, if you are exhilarated, your clothes, honestly do not make the difference you may think they do.

And for a good little old exhilarator, there is nothing on earth so good as perfect grooming, real care of the face, hair, hands, body. Until you meet some gallant gentleman who actually goes to your head, care of your beauty is a good substitute.

Therefore, don't begrudge yourself expenditures on beauty equipment before you start. I don't mean to advocate going out and buying up the town. But you can make a canvas of the situation and have a good time picking just the right lotions and oils and creams. Having a good stock is an impetus to use them. You shouldn't mind a little money spent on beauty.

Thought For Today

A woman when she is in travail hath sorrow, because her hour is come; but as soon as she is delivered of the child, she remembereth no more the anguish, for joy that a man is born into the world.—St. John 16:21.

A mother has, perhaps, the hardest earthly lot; and yet no mother worthy of the name ever gave herself thoroughly for her child who did not feel that, after all, she reaped what she had sown.—Henry Ward Beecher.

A Good Job

One of the very finest jobs that the federal government is doing is one that gets very little recognition from the ordinary citizen.

By establishing recently a new "primitive area" in Idaho, the government raised to more than 4,000,000 the number of acres of undeveloped land that are to be preserved forever in their primeval condition. The work has been done so quietly that most people have not even heard of it; yet few governmental actions have ever been more thoroughly wise and beneficial.

All over the far west, from the Canadian border to the edge of Mexico, are vast tracts of land that will never be disturbed by "civilization." These tracts, known as primitive areas, cannot be exploited. No roads can be built through them. No hotel can be put up in them. No hunting will be permitted in their confines.

Through centuries to come they will remain precisely as they were when the first white man came. They will be, in effect, enormous parks for all the people.

Those who wish to visit them will have to rough it; travel by packhorse or canoe, camp in the open, endure life in the wilderness much as the pioneers endured it. The motorist will have to leave his car outside. There will be no "improvements" to spoil the beauty of nature.

All of this is a matter for loud cheers. Will it not mean much to all generations of Americans to be able to get back to the frontier? Will it not be a magnificent tonic to inhabitants of a machine civilization?

Automobiles, good roads and (we trust) a steadily rising scale of prosperity will make these tremendous parks accessible to everyone. The good that they will do is simply incalculable. Someone down at Washington has set in motion a program for which his fellow citizens will bless him as long as the nation lasts.

Personal Journalism

The decline of "personal journalism" is a phenomenon that students of American newspapers have repeatedly commented on in recent years. In the old days a newspaper would jump into a political campaign with all four feet, calling its opponents all kinds of infamous scoundrels. Today it is usually much more urbane, ready to admit that the man it is opposing may have at least one or two redeeming qualities in private life.

But personal journalism is not entirely extinct. A prominent Mississippi daily recently proved it by carrying a front page editorial assailing a gubernatorial candidate as "a malicious liar" and declaring, in describing one of his political rallies, that "not even his ancient jokes or cheap witticisms could evoke a smile from his audience."

Judged by the standards of half a century ago, that is very mild; but it smacks of the old days, nevertheless.

A Mistaken Move

Corporal punishment for convicts at the Colorado state penitentiary has been revived recently, according to a current United Press dispatch, because penitentiary officials "have become desperate due to the increasing spirit of rebellion among the convicts."

If this is the case, the prison officials seem to have lost their heads in their desperation. Trying to flog the spirit of rebellion out of a convict is an extremely risky proposition. You may succeed, if you flog hard enough; but if you fail, you have only added several gallons of oil to the flame you were trying to quench.

That Girl on Broadway says some women think the only way to keep a husband is in hot water.

THE PLAINSMAN is in receipt of a telegram from the special features division of the National Broadcasting company, New York, to the effect that Messrs. Post and Gatty, the world-girdling airmen, crave to visit Lubbock and the city's municipal airport.

The NBC, the telegram declares, has "placed our services without profit at disposal of Post and Gatty" . . . and that "gallant fliers are undertaking the tour at their own expense, therefore must be self-supporting. They are prepared to visit your city about the week of August 20th, landing at your airport, attending public functions and making appearances for you for fee of twelve hundred dollars."

Frankly, The Plainsman would like to see and talk to Post and Gatty, would like to see Lubbock get the attendant publicity. But twelve hundred bucks is twelve hundred bucks—and not to be sneezed at in this day and time.

ANYBODY interested in sponsoring Messrs. Post and Gatty (for twelve hundred berries on the barrel head) should immediately rush over to The Journal office and get the details from The Plainsman.

Others, like this writer, who haven't got twelve hundred slugs to toss into the creek, are invited to come over and look at a nice collection of pictures of the birdmen.

Of course, looking at the pictures isn't quite as good as seeing the fliers in person—but it's twelve hundred slugs cheaper on the pocketbook!

But foolishment to one side, it would be nice if Post and Gatty could include Lubbock in their itinerary—or rather, it would be nice if someone or some agency in Lubbock could afford to put twelve hundred dollars on the line to bring them here.

But in times like these there are many places one can put twelve hundred dollars to react to greater advantage than in bringing the birdmen to the city. The proposition is a good one, no doubt, but a little too expensive.

That Man on Avenue Q says a brief is a legal document that makes a short story long.

"You look tired," said one Lubbock business man to another this morning.

"I am," returned the other. "I get no sleep. My wife has been waking me up every time she hears a noise at night in case it may be burglars."

"But burglars make no noise," his friend reminded.

"I told her so and now she wakes me up every time she doesn't hear a noise!"

COLONEL THOMAS M. WORTHINGTON, who has been in Lubbock for the past several days greeting old friends and looking after business, reports that business in the East Texas oil belt is not what it's cracked up to be.

Further than that, he believes the boom is on the wane, due to the low price of oil.

During his eight months in the East Texas territory, Mr. Worthington reports that he has met no less than 30 former Lubbock citizens and they all have the same report to make.

"Just as soon as times get back to normal," is the comment, "believe me, I'm going back to Lubbock!"

That's a pretty good indication of this city's hold on people who at some time or another lived here.

NOT long ago a group of fellows from West Texas were conversing in front of a lumber yard in Marshall. Talk veered around until it reached a comperison of East and West Texas.

Somebody asked a little fellow what he thought about the two sections as a place to live.

"Gee," he said, "I sure would like to see a good sandstorm!"

A lot of East Texas leases, the report goes, will soon be abandoned by independents and small operators—probably to be gobbled up by the big fellows. The reason is advanced that the little fellows can't afford to drill and will have to let their leases go unless they do.

The average small operator who 'got in on the ground floor' grabbed himself a small lease.

Since that time the big fellows have gotten in around him and have drilled in gushers, making it mandatory on the little fellow to drill offsets.

With oil cheaper than cigarets he can't do it.

There are so many conveniences now-a-days that a woman finds it inconvenient to use them all.

* * *

EVIDENTLY one cannot believe everything one sees in the moving pictures. As proof of the pudding, consider the divorce proceedings filed by Ina Claire against her husband, John Gilbert—sometimes called "The Perfect Lover of the Silver Screen."

If Miss Claire's petition can be taken verbatim, Handsome John was better as the great lover of Greta Garbo, in the old silents, than he was about the house. 'Mental cruelty' is charged in the suit.

MANY a flapper who has sighed while the romantic Mr. Gilbert so deftly 'mugged' Miss Garbo, will hear of the Claire-Gilbert split-up with a catch in her throat.

But it's good to recollect that "all is not gold that glitters"—or words to that effect.

Unless Hoover Debt Plan Brings Along Better Times, Its Political Value To Republicans May Prove Rather Slight

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

DUTCHER

WASHINGTON, July 21. — Although Republican politicians were thrown into a state of high jubilee and Democratic politicians into a fit of temporary despondency when President Hoover called for the debt moratorium, the political situation as regards 1932 may be broadly expressed in about the same terms as have been applied for a year and more.

The Republicans are betting on a rift in the economic clouds and the Democrats doubt whether there will be anything of the sort.

Political forecasting is considerably less of an exact science than weather forecasting and the best of the political forecasters make some rotten guesses. But they all subscribe to the maxim that "Prosperity absorbs all criticism" and since the big Democratic gains in the 1930 Congressional elections it has become an increasingly common theory among politicians and journalists that, in accordance with the converse of that rule, Mr. Hoover was likely to be defeated for re-election if there came no upturn in business and industry.

It is obvious enough that the moratorium will be the best thing in the world that could have happened to the Republicans if it results—or seems to result—in a real improvement. During the early hullaballoo after the Hoover announcement leaders of both parties seemed to be under the impression that the improvement was a sure thing.

It is not so obvious that Hoover's action can become an indirect but decisive political factor in case there is no economic revival. The president undoubtedly reaps prestige in any event, but depression is depression. And while the administration has left little undone to convince the country that the moratorium was conceived and executed by Mr. Hoover alone and while it is still happy about the great favorable response, it still shares with the governments of Europe an anxiety over the future both abroad and at home.

The Democrats, meanwhile, have picked themselves up and decided that it is quite worthwhile to resume their preliminary campaign for 1932. They do not hope for a continued depression, but they do hope for a national victory. They realize victory is not very likely if the depression lifts. It is good patriotism and good politics to act according to their best lights in combatting depression, but it is also good sense, many of them now argue, to bear in mind what is at least a possibility that conditions will get no better.

Slow Recovery Seen

Those leaders who argue thus—and most of the important ones seem to share the tacit attitude—explain that the factors behind the depression are too numerous, too deep-seated and too widespread to permit any great hope of quick recovery. The condition of Germany was only one of several such factors, they explain, adding that even that one has not yet been eliminated as a disturbing element in the worldwide slump.

Naturally, these are private expressions of opinion. It wouldn't do for them to be made publicly. But it is obvious in any event that Democrats who believe voters act in accordance with their prosperity or poverty—as almost everyone does believe—are going on the theory that if the country wants to take the White House away from the Republicans their best bet is to keep on beating the drum and holding their arms wide open.

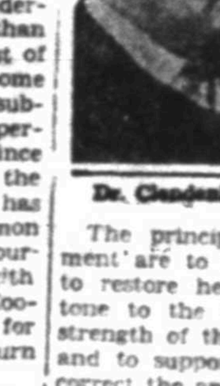

The uncertain future of international relations and its effect on politics in the next 15 months makes political prediction so perilous as to seem almost ridiculous. Anyone who wants to guess as to the domestic political effect of whatever may happen to Europe—her reparations, debts, armaments and economic stability—is welcome to the job.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six pamphlets and six articles by Dr. Clendening can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin for each pamphlet and 3 cents in coin for each article, with a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Reducing and Gaining," "Feminine Hygiene," "Indigestion and Constipation," "The Care of the Hair and Skin," "Infant Feeding" and "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes." The articles are: "Normal Diet," "List of Books for Mothers," "Bed Wetting," "Diet of the Expectant Mother," "Ear Troubles" and "Tuberculosis."

WEAK FEET

Dr. Clendening

FLAT FOOT is a painful foot, due to weakening, or actual breaking, of the arches of the foot. There are two of these arches, one from heel to toe and one across the base of the toes. There are all degrees of flat foot, from weakening of the tendons and muscles and ligaments to complete rupture of the arch with displacement of the bones. Often the earlier stages are more painful than the fully developed form.

The principal method of treatment are to teach proper walking, to restore healthy circulation and tone to the foot, to increase the strength of the supporting muscles, and to support the flattening and correct the arch. The means of doing these things are by exercises, proper shoes, massage, contrast baths (to be described tomorrow) and felt pads.

The exercises are good for any tired feet, or feet with a tendency to weakening. They should be carried out twice daily in bare feet.

1. Stand barefooted with the feet parallel, about two inches apart, with the feet on either side of a line on the floor. Since the feet should be parallel the inside of each foot is parallel to this line. Roll the feet outward as if you were going to stand on the outside border of your feet, but without raising the inner border of the feet from the floor. You should feel this in the muscles in the front and outer side of your forelegs. Repeat 20 times or more.

2. Same as the first exercise, except that the two big toes are held together. This exercises the large muscle of the foreleg, the tibialis anticus, and as you do the exercise you can see the tension on its tendon which rides over the arch of the foot to be inserted beneath. It is the key muscle for the maintenance of the longitudinal arch.

3. Straddling a seam in the rug, or a line on the floor, with toes turned in and inner border of the feet parallel, walk across the room with all the weight of the body on the outer border of the feet. Make the round trip several times.

4. Rise on the toes, tilt the weight to the outer borders of the feet and come down. Repeat 25 times.

5. Walk across the room on your heels five times.

6. Sit in a chair holding the feet straight out before you. Rotate the big toes in the largest circle you can make without moving the leg at all. Do this 25 times.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

Mrs. F. H. M.: "I am bothered with ridges on my finger nails, crosswise on the nails. They are small dents and are most prominent on the thumbs. When the nail grows out these ridges are so pressed down that the end of the finger is quite sore and it is hard to file or cut the nail. Can you give me any advice?"

Answer: These conditions are often due to focal infection or general bad health. Examination of the teeth and tonsils and other parts of the body for infection, as well as a general examination for chronic disease, is indicated.

Scout Committee To Meet Here Thursday

The Lubbock Boy Scout committee will meet Thursday night at scout headquarters in City hall, D. T. Jennings, South Plains Area council executive, has announced. R. D. Moxley is chairman of the Lubbock district.

Conflicting events necessitated postponement of the last session of the Texas Technological college Boy Scout leadership class from last night to Saturday night, Jennings said. The class will assemble for an overnight outing at Johnston's ranch, 12 miles southeast of Lubbock.

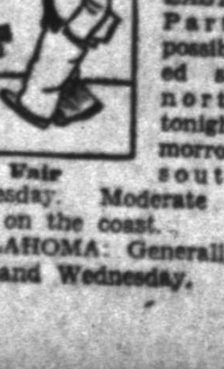

BODIES FOUND

LA GRANDE, Ore., July 21. (AP)—Dead from three weeks to a month, Mr. and Mrs. William Ross of Union were found in their closed automobile last night by sheepmen near Pondosa. It was believed they had stopped their car in the timber, neglecting to shut off the engine and were asphyxiated by exhaust gas.

Time was when a man boasted of the miles he covered driving on Sunday, but with golf, he's content to make a drive of 200 yards.

In New York With Gilbert Swan

SWAN

NEW YORK, July 21.—The aristocrats of the sidewalk ballyhoo business boast a new headliner.

To the fantastic assortment of mummers who march in the Manhattan parade for their daily bread has been added a "robot," whose name is Jose Lisso, but who is known in the "profesh" as "Tiny Dunn."

It has been Mons. Lisso's occupation for many a year to play the role of mechanical dolls or mechanical men. His particular gift lies in the immobility of his face. He boasts that no medico, flashing one of those trick little lights in his eyes, can get the usual reaction. To be successful in his act, he must appear not to be alive, but rather some mechanical device requiring rewinding and direction.

Thus, as he goes clicking through the mid-town crowds, the passers-by wonder whether he is actually real. To find out, they follow him for a block or two. And Manhattanites always seem to have time for watching steel workers, pitchmen and derrick operators, or for other forms of idling away the hours. Lisso, the "robot man," gathers a crowd in his wake and leads them to the front of the burlesque house that pays his salary.

There he relaxes behind the scenes, becomes a man again and prepares for another expedition in the role of a robot.

His companion in such expeditions is another member of the ballyhoo aristocracy — the gent known as "the duke of Broadway." "The duke" has been on and off the Manhattan thoroughfares since Fourteenth Street was the center of theatrical activities. His particular forte is playing the role of a gentleman of the old school. His Van Dyke beard is carefully trimmed and his mustache is carefully waxed and pointed. He wears a slick looking top hat. In winter season his evening attire includes even the ancient opera capes, so rarely seen in these days. In summer, he affects an immaculate evening suit of some white material.

Visitors, to whom the familiar street figures of Manhattan are unknown, stop to watch him; and even those Manhattanites, who know that he will turn out to be a glorified sandwich man, cast admiring glances. His make-up has that over-perfection of a movie hero.

But when he finds many eyes centered upon him, "the duke's" shirt front lights up and some advertisement appears. Wherewith he wanders on. Thus he has been performing since those ancient days when the Pepper whisky people gave him one of his first jobs.

As might be expected, the brilliant idea of having an illuminated shirt front came from the Bowery, cradle of the show and carnival world. There, in a bygone shooting gallery, came the invention that has been his meal ticket ever since. Before that he had been a cow puncher on the western plains, a circus and carnival man and a prizefight promoter.

It is "the duke" who now "works" with the robot. Taken alone, they are alluring aristocrats of mummery; working together, they are Broadway's most intriguing sidewalk team.

The "robot man," by the way, will tell you of the time that the movies hired him to play the part of a statue; of stage experiences as a mechanical doll and how he once worked with a papier-mache dog.

But, arousing the curiosity of a Manhattan throng has its handicaps. Cynics and doubters that they are, the curious prod him with pins to see if he will react. And it isn't simple to remain immobile under such circumstances.

Three burglars were caught in a Chicago apartment recently when one of them made a noise. Too many crooks can also spoil the broth.

A serum has been invented that will make a person feel bold and courageous. A "big shot", as it were.

"Take a tip from me," as John D. would say handing out a dime.

The man then threw the net far out and shortly heard wee Clowny shout, "That surely was a dandy toss. I guess you're pretty good. I wish that I could throw like that, but if I tried, I'd fall down flat. Please haul it in and throw it out once more. I wish you would."

"Now, wait," replied the friendly man. "I'll work as quickly as I can, but it takes time to drag my net up on the sandy shore. If I should pull it too fast, 'twould scare the fish and they'd whiz past. You see, I take it easy and I catch that many more."

"Oh, can't we help you?" Scouty cried. And then they all rushed up and tried to lend a hand. The man said, "Thanks, but there's a trick to this. You lads just stand and watch the fun and I will show you how it's done. I'll shortly show you all a sight that you would hate to miss."

And, when he pulled the net to shore, the Tinymites let out a ro[ar]. The net was flopping all around [be]cause it was so full of dandy f[ish] of every size. "Oh, gee, I did[n't] realize that you would catch [so] many," Coppy said. "That was so[me] pull!"

Just then the Travel Man turned and, with the Tinymites, learned that they were all to h[ave] a dandy fish meal as a gift. T[he] Travel Man said, "Well, that's fi[ne]. I know that I will relish mine. [I'm] going to show these lads a sig[ht]. Then we'll give you a lift."

He led the Tinies to a shack a[nd] said, "Before we all go back I w[ant] you lads to see a shark that som[e]one caught today. Just look ins[ide] and there you'll see that it's as big as big can be." When Scouty loo[ked], he said, "Oh my, how mu[ch] does that thing weigh?"

HOUSTON—Judge Fowler in Curration Court was offered an interesting case to solve. A man arrested in a speakeasy raid was brought before him and told to tell why he was in the "whisperlow." The man replied he had a violent headache and that he went into the booze palace to buy a pint. He explained that the pint wasn't for internal use, but to rub on his head. "Dismissed!" the judge said, hiding a smile behind his hand.

For stealing Mrs. M. Shields' umbrella while the two were in a waiting room in a Londonderry, Ireland, hospital, Minnie Huey has been sentenced to seven days in jail.

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, July 21. (AP)—Cotton opened steady, 7 to 10 points lower under selling by commission houses and foreign sources owing to relatively lower Liverpool cables and a somewhat easier technical position following yesterday's late sharp advance.

The decline extended to 9.70 for October but this month later reached 9.76 when the weather map showed a continuation to heavy showers scattered over the belt which it was believed would promote insect infestation. At the end of the first half hour the market was ruling about 2 to 8 points net lower. Some July liquidation was reported possibly due to issuance of notices representing 3,800 bales this morning.

Liverpool cables said there had been continental buying in that market which was offset by profit-taking. Cloth sales to India and China were restricted with demand for yarns slow.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, July 21. (AP)—Cotton had a quiet and easier opening today. Liverpool cables were unfavorable and advices from the London financial conference were less reassuring. First trades here showed losses of 10 to 11 points, and the market eased off a little further after the start, October dropping to 9.67 and December to 9.89, or 11 points on both months below yesterday's close.

This early drop attracted some trade buying and also covering by ring traders, and prices rallied 8 points from the lows. Near the end of the first hour, the market showed a tendency to ease off again.

The market ruled very quiet all morning. Prices rallied during the second hour on shorts covering and some trade buying, helped by more or less talk of boll weevil due to recent rainy weather. October advanced to 9.80 and December to 10.03, or 13 to 14 points up from the earlier lows.

As the weather forecast promised fair weather for Oklahoma and North Texas, the market near midsession eased off 8 points from the highs to 9.72 for October and 9.95 for December.

At mid-session the market was very quiet with narrow price fluctuations.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, July 21. (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady. July 9.38-asked; Oct. 9.67; Dec. 9.89; Jan. 10.00; March 10.20; May 10.36-bid.

NEW YORK OPEN

NEW YORK, July 21 (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady. July 9.37; Oct. 9.72; Dec. 9.92; Jan. 10.04; March 10.25; May 10.40.

Grain Market

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, July 21. (AP)—Awaiting news of definite developments at the international financial conference in London, grain prices marked time early today. Fluctuations kept within extremely narrow limits, and showed no pronounced trend either up or down.

Starting 3-8 cent off to 1-2 up, wheat later held near the initial range. Corn opened unchanged to 1-2 down and later fluctuated but little.

COMMITTEE TO STUDY TAXES

CITY EXPENSE CUT IS DISCUSSED HERE AT MONDAY MEETING

Action toward curtailment of the expenses of city, county and school governments will be sought by a committee of taxpayers within the near future as the result of a meeting held Monday night in the district courtroom of the courthouse. The committee of seven men to be named by J. H. Hankins, last night's chairman, was authorized by action of the 150 or more taxpayers present.

Last night's meeting was called for the purpose of discussing possible curtailment of the expenses of the three governmental branches. It was ordered by a petition signed by 31 citizens Saturday.

Action Not Clear

Just what action will be taken by the committee was not made clear last night after several speakers entered into a discussion over the various methods of reducing expenses. Reduction of salaries was given the most prominence in talks. Tax assessments and equalization were also discussed.

The meeting was called to order by J. F. Hankins who presided until his brother, J. H., arrived.

Short talks were made during the evening by J. H. Goodman, J. H. Bryan, J. H. Goodrich, Dr. J. G. Hall, L. B. Wright, Hill Stewart, George Foster, F. E. Wheelock and P. F. Brown.

GERMAN RELIEF

many's financial distress.

A communique issued after the morning session adjourned said the conferees had considered "methods of international cooperation whereby confidence in Germany's economic stability may be restored in the immediate future."

Difficulties Met

It was said in well informed quarters that the conference has been encountering severe and disturbing difficulties, attributed by some to the insistence of France that Germany pay for outside aid with political concessions.

At the same time it was said the United States and Great Britain are agreed Germany must have help and are prepared to see that she gets it whether France participates or not.

It is understood the American and British views are in complete accord, that they regard immediate relief as imperative, but they do not approve of a long term loan at this time.

Rather, it was said, they favor short term credits which would bridge over the immediate desperate need and give Germany and her creditors time to discuss what further measures of relief could be extended in the fall.

Credit Not Withdrawn

In a long talk just before the session adjourned, Mr. Stimson told the meeting the larger American banks on which the government has been able to keep tab, have not withdrawn credits from Germany in this time of her distress.

On the contrary, he said, there have been some increases of American capital in Germany. He assured the conference that the American banks will cooperate in relief, provided aid comes from other countries also.

It was learned that no concrete proposals have yet been advanced formally and the conversations thus far have been along general lines, providing an opportunity for exposition of the positions of the participating powers.

HUSBAND FACES ASSAULT CHARGE

HOUSTON, July 21. (AP)—Bryan Trimble, accused of shooting B. S. Yeajon as Yeaton appeared at the Baptist hospital to see Trimble's wife, will be given an examining trial Wednesday on a charge of assault to murder.

Trimble was released on $500 bail. He made no statement except to say to a police lieutenant it was "family trouble."

Yeaton in a signed statement said he went to the hospital with the understanding Mrs. Trimble was dying and wanted to see him. She had told ambulance attendants she had taken poison.

Yeaton was not seriously wounded and Mrs. Trimble was not believed to be in danger.

JURIES ARE TO HEAR CASES

JUDGE REFUSES MOVE FOR DISMISSAL OF TWO CHARGES

ARDMORE, Okla., July 21 (AP)—Juries, it appeared from rulings of two district judges Monday, will be asked again to decide if Bill Guess and Cecil Crosby, erstwhile deputy sheriffs, are liable for murder in the killing of two boys from high families of Mexico.

Trial of both men for the slaying of Manuel Garcia Gomez, or of Crosby for the slaying of Emilio Cortes Rubio, are not likely, however until September. A jury already has acquitted Guess, who took sole responsibility for the actual slayings, of the Cortes Rubio killing.

Case Not Dismissed

Judge John B. Ogden decided he would not dismiss the case against Crosby and indicated no trial would be possible until the regular term of court two months hence. He refused to grant a defense motion for waiver of a jury trial after M. C. Gonzales, attorney for the Mexican consul general had said the youths' families desired a trial by jury.

A short time previous Judge Asa E. Walden refused a defense demand for an immediate trial of both former officers and said they would be tried at the September term.

Cortes Rubio was a kinsman of President Ortiz Rubio of Mexico and the incident stirred international complications.

LIQUOR DRIVE IS CLIMAXED

FIFTY-THREE PERSONS AND CORPORATIONS ARE INDICTED

BALTIMORE, July 21 (AP)—Climaxing the largest and costliest prohibition investigation ever undertaken, a federal grand jury here Monday returned three indictments charging 53 corporations and individuals with conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws.

Return of indictments, naming persons in New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Michigan, and Ohio, brought to an end the investigation started in August, 1929, after the seizure here of three huge stills, used for cracking and redistilling commercial alcohol for beverage purposes.

Cost Half Million

More than 130 witnesses, including Prohibition Director Amos W. W. Woodcock, Dr. James M. Doran, former director, and officials of the attorney general's office appeared before the inquiry, which was reported to have cost the government $500,000.

Included in those indicted were the U. S. Industrial Alcohol company, and its subsidiary, the U. S. Industrial Chemical company, of West Virginia, and Maryland, said to be the largest industrial alcohol company in the country.

The indictments charged a vast conspiracy started in 1927 which went to the length of forming corporations for the purchase of industrial alcohol, so it could resell the product to other companies and individuals for conversion into beverage channels.

ment. Most of them expect other oil companies to follow the Ponca City company's lead in posting higher rates.

The Continental was taking about ten thousand barrels of oil daily from the Oklahoma City field prior to the shut down recently. It has only a small allowable from its own properties in the field.

Movement Begun

A movement to force a higher price began when producers and royalty owners of the Oklahoma City area met ten days ago and started a movement for a shut down until oil went to $1 per barrel. Petitions were sent to governors and public service commissions of six mid continent oil states asking they take action to aid the distressed industry.

Kansas independent operators met and voted to shut down their wells July 15. A dozen Oklahoma City operators voluntarily ceased operation, daily averages from the field dropping 115,000 barrels during the week ended Saturday. KELVINATOR ANNOUNCES HUGE PRIZE CONTEST; LOCAL DISTRIBUTORS HAVE SCORE CARDS FOR CONTESTANTS HERE

Offering thirty-seven prizes totaling more than $20,000 in cash and electric refrigerators, the Kelvinator corporation through its Northwest Texas distributors the Kelvinator Electric company of Lubbock is announcing the Kelvinator Comparison contest today. The contest, open to every person in the United States with the exception of the company's representatives, offers $5,000 as first prize.

N. A. Baker, manager of the local company, announces standard scale score cards for use in the contest are available at the company's office, 1110 Main street, and contestants may call for them at any time. The contest is to close on August 31, 1931.

Must Write Letter

The contest regulations require that a contestant visit a dealer, inspect one of the models of the refrigerator, check in on a score card and write a letter of not more than two hundred words on "What I Have Learned About Kelvinator".

After three years of successful business in this territory which comprises fifty-three counties in the area from the Texas & Pacific railroad at Sweetwater to Midland and the entire north Panhandle, officials of the Kelvinator Electric company say the corporation is planning greater business activity for the section. The local company is the only factory distribution point in West Texas for electric refrigerators, distribution points for other makes being located at Dallas, Fort Worth, Oklahoma City and other large centers.

One Of Pioneers

Establishing a factory at Detroit in 1914, the corporation is one of the pioneers in the industry, claiming to be the oldest and largest manufacturer of both ice and electric refrigerators. In 1927 a new factory was built with a capacity of a million machines a year. In 1930, the company's sales was the largest in history and officials plan a greater business for this year.

During the three years, more than twenty-seven car loads of the refrigerators have been sold in this area.

The corporation is the only factory manufacturing what is known as the dry system of electric refrigeration, both in domestic and commercial units, Mr. Baker declares. They also make the flooded system and users have the choice of either that is best adapted to their particular requirements, he says.

Besides Mr. Baker, who not only manages the local office but travels over the territory, the company has another representative, H. F. Hinely of Amarillo, in the field.

Discovery by Lord Hastings of a Russian tick in a pat of butter has started a new campaign in England against the importation of the Soviet product.

UNEARTH BONES OF FOSSIL IN AMARILLO PIT

AMARILLO, July 21. (AP)—The bones of a prehistoric animal estimated by scientists to have roamed the Texas plains thousands of years ago, was unearthed in a local gravel pit.

One tusk measured eight feet and seven inches, although part of it was broken off in the excavation. The skull was four feet across. Floyd Studer, Amarillo business man and archeology enthusiast, is in charge of further excavations, and the grounds have been barricaded against visitors.

The bones were found in a pliestocene river bed, six or seven feet below the surface, and are said to closely resemble a fossil unearthed near Clarendon last year by Floyd Johnson, noted paleontologist for the American museum of natural history.

THERE'S $20,000 WORTH OF WHISKY, WINE AWAITING IRISHMAN IN U. S.

CHICAGO, July 21. (AP)—There's $20,000 worth of old whisky and wine in a cellar in Chicago waiting for Patrick Mahoney of County Tipperary, Ireland, in case he wants to come over to America to help himself.

The presence of the liquor was revealed in probate court when attorney Walter Murphy, acting for the administrators of the estate of John J. Mahoney, former assistant deputy collector in the internal revenue department, asked Probate Judge Henry Horner for advice as to its disposition. The former collector, who was a liquor dealer before prohibition, died last April, leaving a $50,000 estate, including the liquor to his sole heir, Patrick.

"What," asked Attorney Murphy, "Am I going to do? This liquor is valued at $20,000. We can't ship it to Ireland; the cost would be too much. We can't sell it under the law. Evidently Patrick will have to come here to drink it."

"That should be a hardship for him," said the judge, "but really your problem is simple. Send an inventory of the estate to Patrick, get a receipt, nd let him worry about his liquor."

ARTIST COURSE NUMBER OFFERED BY GAY McLAREN

Lampooning parlor radicals and the younger generation's allegedly advanced thought, Gay McLaren, dramatic reader, presented "Helena's Boys" last night in the new high school auditorium. It was the third and last number of the 1931 summer Texas Technological college artist course.

An imitation of Minnie Maddern Fiske, one of America's foremost dramatists, was presented by the visiting artist. Members of the audience, comfortably filling the lower floor of the new auditorium, credited Miss McLaren with much of Mrs. Fiske's genius in recreating "Helena's Boys."

"Her presentation was the highlight of the summer course," Dr. J. M. Gordon, liberal arts dean, said.

Miss McLaren will appear tonight at Canyon, home of West Texas State Teachers college.

FURNITURE SALES ARE LOWER THAN AVERAGE IN CITY

Furniture sales in Lubbock are below average for a city of this size and location, Malcolm A. George, market specialist of the United States bureau of foreign and domestic commerce, said here yesterday.

The government trade analyst will compile figures here as part of a general survey of the wholesale and retail furniture industry in the Gulf Southwest, including Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Missouri, and western Tennessee.

All Lubbock business houses dealing in furniture will be visited by the commerce department representative. Problems of profitable furniture distribution will receive particular attention in the survey, George said.

Means employed to facilitate purchases through credit extension, and the degree of promptness with which payments are made, will be studied, the market specialist explained.

Although similar surveys of hardware and drygoods businesses have been made here by department of commerce representatives, this is the first such furniture survey, he said.

CECIL HART, HURLWOOD FOUR-H CLUB PRESIDENT, CITED FOR ACTIVITIES

The president of the Hurlwood Four-H club, Cecil Hart, is cited in the July 18 Farm & Ranch magazine as a farm boy who has made creditable use of a Hampshire gilt given him by the Lubbock Kiwanis club.

A picture of Hart, standing in front of a display of cured meats, accompanies the article, which was written by D. F. Eaton, Lubbock county farm agent. Hart has been president of the Hurlwood club since its organization.

Several years ago, the Kiwanis club here placed purebred Hampshire gilts with Four-H club boys to introduce the breed to this section and to encourage boys in hog raising, Eaton said.

His hogs since have received awards in Lubbock county fairs and shows. He exhibited a champion litter in the spring calf-pig-cured meat show here. Hampshires have become the basis of his father's herd as well as his own.

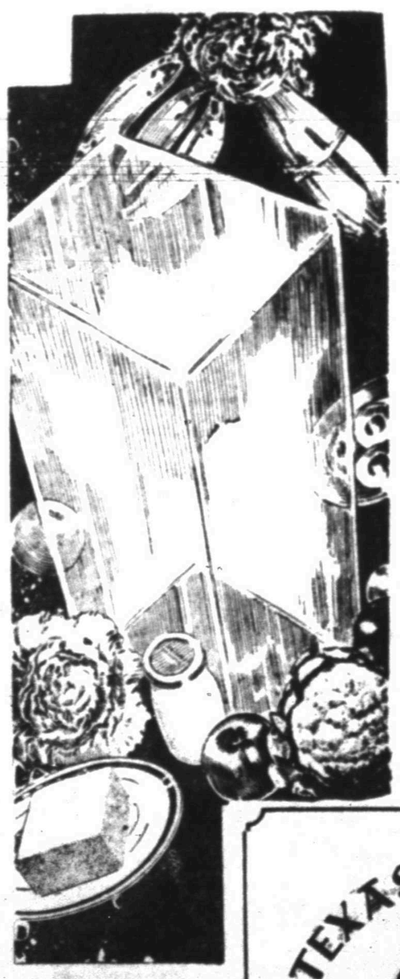

The four-H club youth has realized a net profit of $111.26 from sale of a litter of five pigs, a gilt, cured meat, and a sow and litter of pigs now on hand, Eaton said.
