FDR Victorious Over Garner In Bill's Passage

Measure Sent To White House For President's Okay

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 5 — The Senate, by a vote of 42 to 37, passed a three-year extension of the trade agreements program today, thereby giving President Roosevelt a major victory over Vice President Garner, who had striven to limit the bill to one year.

The Senate's action sent the key administration legislation to the White House, the House having previously approved an identical measure. Besides being a triumph for the president in what had been heralded as perhaps this congressional session's biggest test, the result also elated Secretary of State Hull, because the program of reducing tariffs and other trade barriers in return for concessions from other nations is the cornerstone of his foreign policy.

Might Hurt Chance

Some considered the result might enhance his chance for the Democratic presidential nomination, although others thought the sharp divisions of opinion within the Democratic party on the trade issue might have the opposite effect.

On the final roll call all Republicans present voted against continuation of the program and were joined by 15 Democrats, mostly from the West.

The Garner-Roosevelt skirmish, resulting in a 46-to-34 administration victory came on an amendment offered by Senator Walsh (D-Mass.) to limit extension of the program to one year.

Proposal Favored

Fourteen Democrats and twenty Republicans voted for the proposal, while forty-three Democrats were joined by Senator Danaher (R-Conn), Lundeen (FL-Minn) and Norris (Ind-Neb) in opposing it.

Garner was actively engaged in behind-the-scenes efforts on behalf of the limitation. The chief executive, on the other hand, opposed it.

At his press conference a few hours before the amendment came to a vote, the president told newspapermen he believed its enactment would be very harmful to the nation.

He said it was not good for the country to have a congressional scrap over tariffs every year, and that this could be true next year regardless

Lewis' Third Party Rapped By Aspirant

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—Norman Thomas, apparently about to undertake another presidential campaign as the candidate of the socialist party, criticized John L. Lewis' third party threat today as "political romanticism."

Thomas came to Washington to attend the biennial socialist party convention, which begins tomorrow and, at a press conference, made it plain the socialists would have nothing to do with such an effort by the CIO leader.

Lewis said several days ago that unless the nominee and platform of the Democratic party were suitable he probably would call a convention of youth, negro, old age, and labor groups to take appropriate action.

Burning Of Judas Is Admitted By Suspect

LOS ANGELES, April 5. (AP)—Joe Godrinez pleaded guilty in Belvedere justice of the peace court today to malicious mischief.

It seems that Theodore Prieto set out to revive an old Spanish custom of burning Judas in effigy at the stake on Easter Eve. He hired an orchestra, prepared the effigy and some firecrackers and hundreds gathered to view the spectacle.

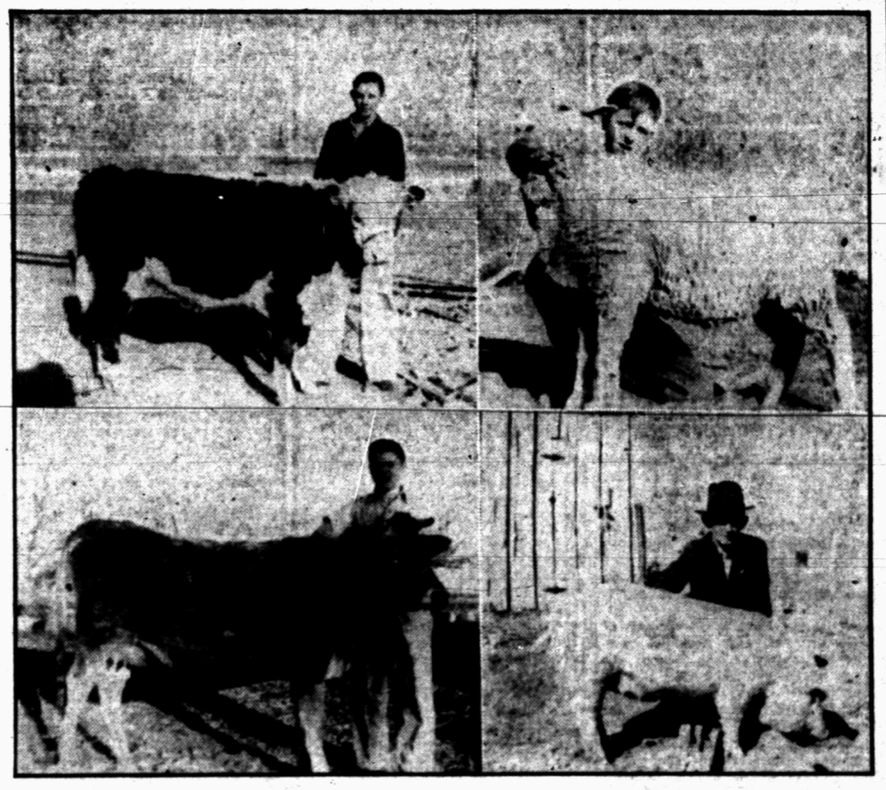

Then along came Godrinez and set fire to Judas before the ceremonies had even started. He was ordered to appear for a probation hearing and sentenc April 19.

Girl Refuses To Change Her Story About Hammer Deaths

(By The Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, April 5 — Blue-eyed, 11-year-old Chloe Davis startled police officials and a psychiatrist today while they were questioning her about the fantastic deaths of her mother, her two sisters and her infant brother with this volunteered statement:

"Oh, yes, there is something I forgot to tell you yesterday — while mother was begging me to hit her with the hammer she asked me for a razor blade. I got one and gave it to her and watched her slash her wrists."

Had Received Report

The officers had just received a report from an autopsy surgeon that Mrs. Lolita Davis, the child's mother, had bled to death because arteries in both arms had been cut, apparently with a razor. There was no evidence, the report added, of skull fracture.

Chloe had not been told of the autopsy finding.

The police had believed that the mother as well as the children had been beaten to death with a hammer.

Innocence Believed

Meanwhile the husband and father, F. Barton Davis, insistently maintained his belief in the innocence of his only surviving daughter who calmly telephoned him yesterday morning to come home from work because "something is wrong."

"Chloe couldn't have done anything like that," the 51-year-old father cried repeatedly. "If she did, her mother made her do it."

"There are so many things about my wife that people don't understand," Davis declared. "She believed she had the power of demons."

Asked About Chloroform

Davis declared an attorney friend of the family told him today that Mrs. Davis asked him three weeks ago how to purchase enough chloroform to kill people.

"She asked him too where was the best place to hit people on the head if you wanted to kill them," the father added.

"They can't blame this on Chloe just because she can't remember everything. She loved her mother. She was an obedient child. If she did anything she did it because her mother told her to."

Taken to her blood-spattered home, the child calmly told her story of how her mother, declaring "de-

Warrants Issued For Dies Agents

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 5—Chairman Dies (D-Tex) of the House committee on un-American activities, two of whose agents were ordered arrested today because of their raid of Philadelphia communist headquarters, appealed to "the people of this country" tonight to decide whether his anti-communist drive was right.

Federal District Judge George A. Welch of Philadelphia ordered the issuance of warrants for Agents George F. Hurley and Chester Howe and Lieut. Albert Granitz of the Philadelphia police after Carle Reeve, communist candidate for the United States Senate, complained that his civil rights were violated in the raid.

Statement Released

Dies, who has said he would try to send every communist leader to jail unless they revealed their party membership lists, issued a statement saying that "according to the press," Judge Welsh has assigned as his reason for the issuance of the warrants his belief that this issue should be passed upon by the higher courts."

"I think," Dies added, "that the entire question as to whether or not agents of foreign dictators who claim constitutional rights and shirk constitutional duties can legally conceal from the Congress and the American people their true names and un-American activities must be immediately decided by the

Honolulu Borrows For More Texas Drilling

SAN FRANCISCO, April 5 (AP) — Honolulu Oil corporation reports borrowing $400,000 additional bank funds for drilling in Texas, making its total a half million dollars.

The drilling is "defensive," officials told the securities commission.

Six new wells will be sunk monthly to protect reserves from drainage by competitors on adjoining lands, until 25 holes have been bored as offsets. The company will then have 60 wells in Texas.

The Honolulu Oil corporation, with headquarters at Midland, has holdings in the Bennett, Harper, Parker and Slaughter pools of West Texas.

Arbitration Of Oil Proposed

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 5.—In an attempt to break a two-year-old impasse, the state department has proposed arbitration of the controversy over Mexico's expropriation of American oil properties.

Secretary of State Hull disclosed today he had got note containing the proposal to the Mexican ambassador, Castillo Najera, Wednesday. Hull refused to give details of the proposal.

The arbitration was suggested when it appeared direct negotiations conducted by the American oil companies were destined to failure.

The negotiations have been carried on by two groups, Standard Oil of New Jersey and the Sinclair interests. Their recourse to the Mexican courts has also met with failure.

No Political Issue

It is understood the American note again calls the Mexican government's attention to the traditional view of the United States. As contained in previous notes to Mexico on the subject of that country's expropriation of American-owned Agarian lands, the view is:

"The government of the United States cannot admit that a foreign government may take the property of American nationals in disregard of the universally recognized rule of compensation under international law or admit that the rule of compensation can be nullified by any country through its own local legislation."

The dispatch of the note at this time is regarded as significant, coming as it does in the midst of Mexico's presidential campaign. No desire was manifested here, however, to make a political issue of the oil dispute.

Flood Danger Drops In Susquehanna Area

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 5. (AP)—A second flood crest spread out harmlessly tonight down the widening valley of the Susquehanna.

After abrupt rises, rain and snow fed headwaters in highlands of upper Pennsylvania and lower New York began dropping steadily. No more rain was expected immediately, and a forecast of colder weather indicated the runoff would be checked. There was little new damage.

Twins Roll Their Tongues At Waco All For Science

(By The Associated Press)

WACO, April 5—Twins and tripiets by the score practiced rolling their tongues in tubes today—all for the sake of science—at Baylor university's second annual Texas college twin convention.

Dr. D. C. Rife, professor of biology at Ohio State university, set up elaborate apparatus to measure the tongue twisting, remarking it isn't everybody who can do it. Tongue rolling is not easy, something like simultaneously patting your head with one hand and rubbing your stomach with the other.

The idea is, he explained, to determine whether both individuals in a pair of identicals can do it, or just one, or neither, and perhaps why. Dr. Rife and Dr. Iva Cox Gardner of Baylor are testing a theory that

British Conduct Bomb Raids On Nazi Warships

Moves Are Made To Tighten Economic Grip On Germany

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, April 5 — British warplanes were disclosed tonight to have carried the air war to the gun-studded nazi Seaxase of Wilhelmshaven, spattering four destroyers and another warship with bombs.

The news gave edge to less spectacular but vastly more important moves by Great Britain and France to close their economic stranglehold on Germany and to weld their own economic, political and cultural relations.

Conference Started

Georges Monnet, French minister of blockade, flew to London and plunged immediately into a prolonged conference with Britain's economic warfare minister, Ronald Cross.

These men, who direct the Allied drive to throttle German economy and drain the lifeblood from the nazi war machine, turned attention on the Balkans, main source and storehouse of German supplies.

Monnet said tonight: "We are very satisfied with the result of the measures taken up to the present and the Allies are going to take new measures to choke Germany more and more."

Causes Unemployment

The blockade, he added, is creating unemployment in German heavy industries because of the lack of essential material.

The British press echoed suggestions that Britain and France form a joint Parliament to consolidate their cooperation both during and after the war.

Britain's own cupboard is well stocked with food, Lord Woolton said in his first interview as food minister.

The game of taunting Chancellor Hitler over his failure to launch a "blitzkreig" (lighting blow) at the outset of hostilities, highlighted by Prime Minister Chamberlain in a speech yesterday, was picked up today by General Sir Edmund Ironside, chief of the imperial general staff.

Ready For Anything

He said Britain now was ready for anything Germany started.

Official quarters today said that one of five British trawlers attacked was sunk but no lives lost in German aerial attacks in the North Sea Wednesday.

The Netherlands tugboat Hoek Van Holland and three sand dredges were reported "afloat but lost" in a German mine field off the southern tip of Sweden.

The Norwegian passenger ship Mira reached Oslo after a voyage from Newcastle during which the ship's captain said his vessel was bombed eight times by German planes.

A Portuguese steamer radioed she was standing by an unidentified and abandoned French tanker which was adrift in the Atlantic between the Azores and Maderia after apparently being torpedoed.

German Officer Taken By French Soldiers

PARIS, April 5. (AP)—The German officer commanding a sharp raid against a French outpost was captured today, the French high command reported, as the defenders threw back the assault.

Details of the fight were not made available, but it was reported to have resulted from an attack by reinforced German patrols of French outposts between the Nied and Saar rivers.

These lively clashes between scouting parties deploying in no-man's land continued into the second successive day while at many points German and French artillery sent shells screaming overhead against opposing positions.

About 15 French soldiers were killed by German shock troops in a read near Saarlauten, between the Nied and Saar, the German high command reported.

Census Taker Offered Bath

(By The Associated Press)

BISMARCK, N. D., April 5.—Mrs. Myrtle Frazier, Bismarck census enumerator, peered into the door of a south side home.

Outside the hot sun beat down on the snow-laden roof, sending water trickling off the eaves.

"Have you a bath?" Mrs. Frazier inquired.

"Move over a bit, lady, and you can have a free shower," came the reply.

Damage From Cold Is Expected To Be Light; Break Due

WINTER emerged from temporary retirement on the northern and western fringes of the South Plains Friday as rain threw a protective and welcome blanket over other portions.

Snow was reported as far south as Plainview and Santa Fe dispatchers said an inch of fluff had fallen at Canyon. Across the New Mexico border at Texico snowfall was measured at four inches and extended over three Texas counties east to Amherst.

Rains All Day

Chilling rain fell in Lubbock throughout Friday and continued to midnight when 1.88 inches were reported at Municipal airport. The precipitation spreadeagled the area in like amounts.

Rainfall started here at 7 o'clock Friday morning, pushing the mercury far below the premature summery average of the last few days. A steady fall in temperature was recorded during most of the day.

Not since mid-February had the South Plains been dampened to the present extent.

Benefit Not Known

There was nothing, however, unusual in inclement weather conditions of the section, two-year records show. Snow fell here a year ago today and a minimum temperature of 20 degrees was registered April 7.

That, too, was repititious of 1938 conditions. Temperature dropped to 21 degrees April 7, 1938, after two days of blustery weather that had followed spring temperatures.

Extent of benefit to spring planting conditions had not been ascertained Friday night. Don L. Jones, superintendent of the state experiment station east of town, said moisture undoubtedly would be beneficial if it does not soak too deep in the soil before late April and early May cotton planting time.

Need For Rain Cited

There was, he added, a pronounced need for precipitation because of dry weather during the last two months.

Dr. A. W. Young, head of the plant industry department at Texas Technological college, said top soil moisture on the college farm had been below normal. Sub-soil had even lower moisture content than top soil, he reported.

Fully 90 per cent of cultivated crop land of the section has been prepared for planting, it was estimated. Only a few instances of cotton seeding in Dawson county have been reported and a small amount of posture sudan has been sown. Otherwise there has been no planting of cotton or grain sorghums.

No Damage Expected

Generally cotton planting is not started until late in April. Experiment station records for a quarter century show best results are had from May planting.

Observers said there was little reason to expect damage for fruit trees and early greenstuff by freezing. A forecast given to West Texas Gas company's main line station called for fair and warmer weather today.

The gas company thermometer remained steadily at 33 degrees from 2 o'clock Friday night to 10

Resident Of Lubbock 14 Years Dies Friday

J. J. Chambless, 58, of 2205-B Eighteenth street died at 9 o'clock Friday night at the residence after a long illness.

Funeral services had not been arranged at midnight. The body was taken to Sanders Funeral home.

Mr. Chambless, a floor finisher, came to Lubbock 14 years ago from Waco.

Surviving are the wife; a brother, Zack Chambless of Waco; and three sisters, Mrs. Walter Scott of Graham, Mrs. George Lindille of Lorena and Mrs. Lillie Duncan of Waco.

Lubbock Man Escapes Death In Accident

ABILENE, April 5. (AP) — Three men escaped death as a big truck-trailer combination overturned in a ditch eight miles east of Abilene on highway 80 early tonight.

The trio was pinned beneath the truck for 40 minutes while rescuers sought to extricate them. Finally, a group of 20 men lifted the truck from the injured men.

Only James H. Phillips, 21, of Mineola, was injured seriously. He received neck and back injuries of undetermined extent. He is being held in an Abilene hospital.

John Shivy, also of Mineola, was uninjured, and William Bull, a hitch-hiker, of Lubbock, received leg and face lacerations.

A William Bull is listed in the city directory as living at 818 Avenue B in Lubbock.

Rail Officials Pay Visit To Plains Section

The "partnership between this area and Old John Santa Fe," which has continued to date since 1909, was recalled and acclaimed here last night when a party of officials of the Atcheson, Topeka and Santa Fe rail lines and a group of Lubbock business men met at an informal dinner at Hotel Hilton.

The rail executives, headed by President E. J. Engel, of Chicago, spent several hours here as a part of a two-week tour of inspection over the company's lines in Texas and Eastern New Mexico. They arrived on the South Plains early Friday, leaving their special train at Slaton, division point on the Panhandle & Santa Fe, and, after an automobile tour covering the Tahoka, Lamesa, Seagraves, Seminole, Brownfield and Levelland properties, they were met here by their train late in the day.

Interested In Oil Play

Particularly interested in the oil development in the Wasson areas of Gaines and Yoakum counties, the men originally planned to visit the fields in the Denver City sector, as well as in Hockley county. Inclement weather, which included both rain and sleet, caused a cancellation of the plan.

With Walter S. Posey, Lubbock banker and secretary of the South Plains & Santa Fe subsidiary lines, as toastmaster, last night's dinner featured only one speech, that of President Engel, who also serves the Santa Fe system as chairman of the executive committee. President of the road since March, 1939, Mr. Engel has been a Santa Fe executive for three decades and has made frequent visits here and over this territory. In his remarks he evidenced considerable knowledge of Lubbock and the surrounding country. At the conclusion of his talk he peppered the local contingent with questions concerning the city's phenomenal building record, its population growth, the progress of

Mrs. Ferguson Will Announce Plans Soon

AUSTIN, April 5. (AP)—Former Governor Miriam A. "Ma" Ferguson probably will decide by the end of next week whether she will make another race for governor, her husband, James E. Ferguson, said today.

Ferguson, also a former governor, asserted the situation looked "most favorable" for her entering the 1940 campaign. He said:

"We are receiving many letters and telegrams urging my wife to run. Before making a final decision, we want to analyze the speeches and platforms of the various candidates for the position."

Weather

WEST TEXAS: Mostly cloudy Saturday with intermittent light rains, becoming partly cloudy Saturday. Continued cold Saturday with rising temperatures Sunday.

NEW MEXICO: Partly cloudy west portion, cloudy with occasional light snow east portion Saturday; Sunday fair, warmer east portion Saturday night.

Mature Women Can Dress As Smartly As Glamorous Hollywood Sta

The Woman's Angle
by Margaret Turner

LUBBOCK county club women feel honored today that they are entertaining charming Mrs. Joseph M. Perkins of Eastland, president of the Texas Federation of Women's clubs. Of the columns and columns of praise we have read concerning Mrs. Perkins since she took office a little over a year ago, none is better than that written by Mrs. Edith A. Guedry, a Fort Worth newspaper woman.

We quote: Mrs. Perkins is not a "tea sipper" or a "lorgnette looker" but a practical minded club woman with a constructive program.

She thinks receptions are lovely but she doesn't accept too many invitations to stand in receiving lines, unless there is something constructive to be gained.

She thinks it is better to help one crippled child in a community than to pass a resolution for all crippled children. In other words, she believes individual responsibility goes with group pressure.

She feels that the radio has taught us the value of time and that we have to dispense with formality.

She believes that club women should be more group conscious and not too self-ambitious. Here she quotes the club colleet: 'Let us be done with fault-finding and self-seeking.'

She has learned speed and precision for in her line of duty she has traveled thousands of miles by bus, by automobile and by train.

HAS THREE CHILDREN

MRS. PERKINS is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music and of Boston university. She is the mother of three children: Betty, who is Mrs. Keith Beyette of Fort Worth; Robert, a freshman student at Texas Technological college, and Dorothy, a high school student. The Perkins children in their very young days got in on a certain amount of their mother's club activity.

Once during the Coolidge administration delegates to a session of the General Federation of Women's clubs were honored with a reception at the White House and Mrs. Perkins took along Betty, Bob and Dorothy. President Coolidge stopped the procession when the children came along.

"They are all yours?" he asked.

Mrs. Perkins admitted they were.

"Did you say you're from Texas?"

Again an affirmative answer.

"How'd you get the nerve to bring them!"

MRS. WALKER VISITS

ANOTHER distinguished visitor at the federation meeting today will be Mrs. J. W. Walker of Plainview, candidate to succeed Mrs. Perkins. An editorial in Thursday's Amarillo Daily News points out that Mrs. Walker is a modern clubwoman in every sense. She is charming, capable, cultured and well-grounded in federation work. Although Mrs. Walker joined her first federated club 20 years ago, she is still young since she was in college at the time.

She was graduated from Texas State College for Women in 1921 and has done graduate work at the institution.

Mrs. Walker is a successful homemaker as well as a capable club official. She is the mother of a 13-year-old boy and her husband, Jack Walker, Plainview merchant, is one of her most ardent supporters. It's something to speak about when a man is enthusiastic over his wife's club career!

As president of seventh district, Mrs. Walker's brilliant record was known over the state, and she has been most successful in her office as State Federation treasurer. Thus far Mrs. Walker has only one rival for the job of state president—Mrs. O. H. Carlisle of Houston, wife of an oil executive. No other candidates have announced.

MRS. EVANS, PIONEER

FRIDAY'S column mentioned the Pioneer Woman contest that is being conducted in the Federation. We discovered that Mrs. A. W. Evans has been a member of El Progreso club of Uvalde since 1905, the year after it was organized. After 30 years work in the club she was granted an honorary membership.

Mrs. John Garner, wife of the vice-president, is a charter member of the Uvalde club.

Flattering Lines Should Be Used

By LUCIE NEVILLE
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD.—A reader wrote to ask despairingly, "Aren't there any women in Hollywood except cuties? No movie stars over 40 or mature actresses who dress well and will pose for fashion pictures?"

Well, sir—there's Spring Byington. She has two grown daughters, and acts her age on the screen as mother of the Jones Family. With a practical mind under her frivolous Shetland pony bangs, Miss Byington knows her figure problems and builds her costumes around them, not around her best points.

Not All Ready-Made

"Some women's figures deviate so much from any standard that clothes can't be bought ready-made and altered for them," Miss Byington said.

"It's almost impossible to buy the most useful dress I own—a plain black one with not a single bit of trimming or color on it. Princess Anna Eristoff has made me one of Black Bagheera jersey. That's an all-year fabric, between wool and silk jersey in wrmth, and easier for mature figures than the shiny silk jersey. To this I add all sorts of neckwear.

"I has a high round neckline but doesn't smother me, and thick shirring on the upper sleeves gives shoulder padding — you have to have a young neck for that."

Heartening to women whose figures aren't young enough to wear every season's styles, is Miss Byington's opinion: "I don't believe in the current vogue of trying to change your type every time a new waistline comes in. Start from where and what you are, and make it better.

Beware Of High Necklines

"Necklines are important for mature women and the high, plain ones of this season may make you look dowdy. Best trick I know to counteract this is to nick a collar front and back, about an inch and a half deep—a heart-shaped cut to give the effect of a slimmer neck and face. The right necklace will do wonders, too—not a long string of beads or a chain, but one of the new choker necklaces that has pendants or tassels.

"And I know high heels are the most flattering kind but you can't be charming if your feet hurt. There is a height of heel that is graceful but not too high. Judge for yourself from the shoe that has been the most satisfactory to you."

Boy Scout Court Of Honor Is Conducted

Record number of advancements were made Friday night in the Boy Scout court of honor attended by approximately 250 persons in 99th district courtroom.

J. C. Reynolds, court of honor chairman, was in charge. Dr. E. L. Reed offered invocation.

General attendance banner went to troop 4, mother's attendance to troop 9, and troop 5 went to the top of the ladder shakeup.

Awards were made by Frank White, Jack O. Stone, Grady West, Ralph Brock, Charles Day, George Brewer, John Wilson, Watson Wilson and Reynolds.

Kelso Vernor Speaks To Reserve Officers

Addressing a group school for reserve officers of the area, Lieut. Kelso D. Vernor spoke Friday night on "Flank Guard Action." The meeting was attended by 20 officers in the military building of Texas Technological college.

A four-reel motion picture on bayonet practice was shown.

During a business meeting, tentative plans were laid for an annual luncheon May 17 honoring Col. E. A. Keyes who will be here to inspect the Tech ROTC then, and plans were made to attend the state convention in El Paso May 3, 4, and 5.

The flour in the wedding cake of gypsies is mixed with blood taken from the wrists of the bride and bridegroom.

Miss Dickinson Is Guest Speaker

"The old-time negroes of the South represent the last leaves on the tree of a civilization that is fast passing away," Miss Viola Dickinson of San Antonio told members of the Beta Sigma Phi sorority at a meeting in the Hilton hotel Thursday night.

"Negro Dialect Stories of the Old South," was the topic given by Miss Dickinson. "It is unfortunate that the southern negro is often portrayed in an artificial and ridiculous light in many movies and entertainments," Miss Dickinson said.

Actual human interest incidents featuring the southern negro were related by the speaker. She is visiting in the home of her sister, Mrs. C. B. Powell, 2306 Sixteenth street.

At the business meeting plans were made for the Founders' Day banquet, May 2. Miss Lee Blundell is to have charge of the song program. The state convention is to be in Wichita Falls, May 4 and 5.

Mrs. William A. Wilbanks, program chairman, directed a questionnaire on the program for the coming club year. Members gave suggestions for program topics. Mrs. Dayle Vannoy presented a gift from the chapter to Mrs. P. T. Glazner.

Complaints Are Sent Wallace

Complaints have been made to Secretary Henry Wallace of the U. S. department of agriculture in Washington that Lubbock county landlords have been forcing tenants to pay a bonus rent and making other charges for the purpose of securing a share of government soil payments for tenants, it was learned Friday.

Members of the county Agricultural Adjustment administration committee issued a statement warning against the practice that had been rumored as being under way in the county. At the same time it was said that government inspectors might be expected shortly here to make an investigation.

Statement Issued

The committee prepared and issued a statement pointing out the regulations governing rental collections. The group said that in the event complaints were filed with it regarding alleged violations, a thorough investigation would be made.

"It has been rumored that some landlords and operators are charging bonus rent and making other charges for purposes of securing for themselves a share of the Agricultural Conservation payments to which tenants and sharecroppers are rightfully entitled," said the statement signed by C. E. Lilley. "The devices employed are varied. In some cases the charges take the form of a cash payment for the same acreage on which a share rent is charged; in other cases they take the form of a payment for each acre not planted to cotton, including rented land.

Practices Listed

"Other arrangements call for one half or all of the government payments. A rental is sometimes charged for the house in which the tenant must live, or for the use of the pasture land, and in some instances the tenants are required to pay taxes on the farm for the current year. In other cases all tenants are being rented out and replaced with hired labor.

"According to form SRV-401-Texas, page 23, section G, 1940 regulations on the agricultural conservation program, the landlords and operators employing such devices as listed above, will have all government payments withheld in 1940.

County committeemen of Lubbock county were elected by farmers of this county to administer the farm program according to regulations. Therefore, if any one files a complaint relative to the above mentioned devices, it will become our duty to carry out the 1940 regulations as prescribed by the AAA."

Alaskans Start Their Chief Indoor Sport

NENANA, Alaska, April 5 (AP) — A tripod, carrying the wire to a guarded electric clock, stood on the Tanana river ice here today, challenging all Alaskans to fatten their purses by guessing what day, hour and minute the clock will stop.

When the ice moves, the wire will draw taut and trip a mechanism stopping the clock. The prize money in the 23-year-old contest will go to the persons whose guesses most nearly approximately the time of the spring breakup.

The ice is thick, but riddled by cracks, and the thousands of guessers from all over the territory are using everything from just simple, unscientific "hunches" to elaborate mathematical and meteorological formulae in Alaska's most popular indoor winter sport.

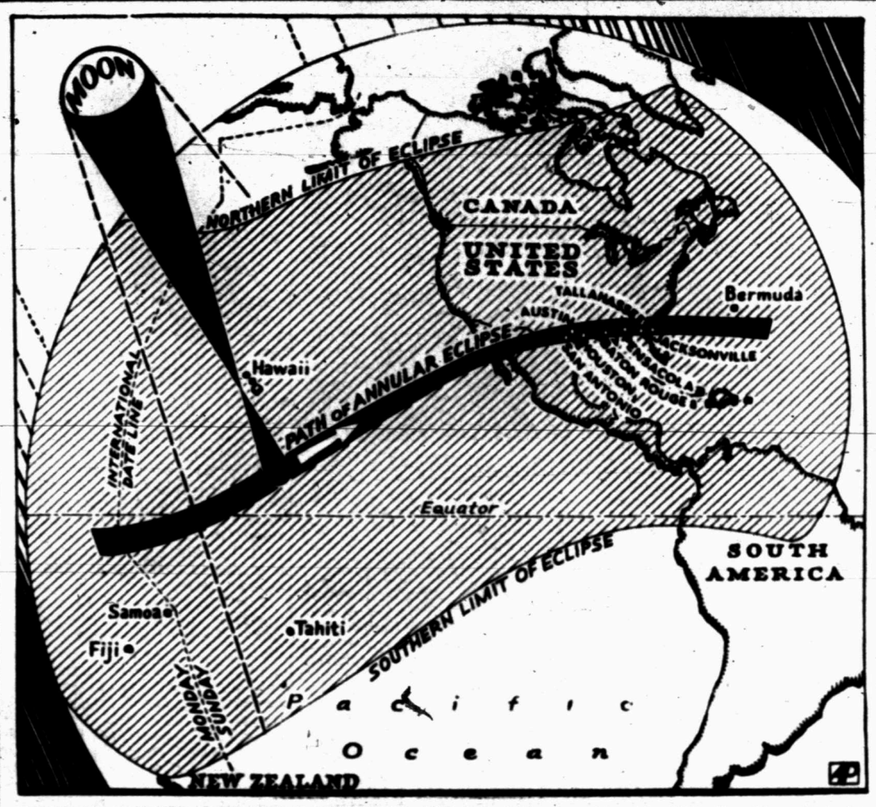

Mother Finds Child On Street, Mishap Victim

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., April 5. (AP)—When Mrs. H. P. Hughes of Albuquerque saw her two-year-old Carol Jean lying at the curb, she thought the baby was playing a prank.

"'I'm going to spank you for getting dirty,'" she recalled gaily jesting when Carol Jean didn't answer her summons.

But when Mrs. Hughes reached the still little form yesterday, she found her fatally injured by an automobile.

Police said they believed she had fallen under a pastry truck as the driver left after making a sale.

ANNULAR ECLIPSE WILL MOVE EASTWARD APRIL 7—This map shows the 150-mile wide path to be taken by the annular eclipse of the sun April 7, crossing the Gulf states and the southwest in the United States along the black band shown on the map. Shaded area indicated the northern and southern limits of the eclipse, an unusual type with the moon covering a space 93 per cent of the sun's diameter and allowing enough light to spill over so that there will be no temporary night. Moon mountains and Bailey's Beads—brilliant spots of fire—are phenomena associated with the event. In this eclipse, the earth actually is behind the tip of the black shadow cone cast by the moon. Astronomers call the spot which will obscure the central part of the sun the moon's negative shadow. They diagram it, as above, with a drawing of the moon's shadow which is shaped like an hour glass. The annular eclipse begins in the Pacific ocean, west of the international time line and ends near Bermuda.

America Eyes Japs In China

By ANDRUE BERDING
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, April 5—United States officials are watching the Japanese-sponsored government of Wang Ching-Wei at Nanking with an eagle eye, determined to hold Tokyo rather than Nanking responsible for any action which infringes on American rights.

Persons close to the state department believe that Wang Ching-Wei's government must strive to make itself accepted not only by China but also by third powers. Toward this latter end the Nanking authorities may take one or both of two steps:

Concessions Offered

1. Offer concessions to third powers which recognize it as the government of China. Secretary Hull has refused recognition, declaring that the new regime "has the appearance of a further step in a program of one country by armed force to impose its will upon a neighboring country."

2. Discriminate against the citizens of countries which refuse recognition. State department notes to Tokyo charge that Japan has discriminated against Americans in the Japanese-occupied areas of China.

A Direct Line

Officials here contend that the new government at Nanking is based on Japanese bayonets rather than Chinese consent, that Wang Ching-Wei is a tool of Japan, and that the measures he may take in administering his government will have been inspired by Tokyo.

Consequently, the line of responsibility for developments there affecting Americans will be a direct one from Washington to Tokyo. It will not be a triangle with Nanking as the third point.

Men Prayed For Seaplane But They Rode In Hearse

By RONALD DODDS
United Press Staff Correspondent

ZEBALLOS, B. C., April 5—The scarlet seaplane for which James Ryckman, 56, and Lloyd Coombs, 27, had prayed for months today was the hearse that had brought their bodies to civilization.

Shrouded in burlap, the bodies crossed in 25 minutes the 20 miles of wilderness that had separated them from food and life. Ryckman had starved to death on March 17; Coombs suicided rather than die the same death.

Distress Flags Seen

I accompanied Constable N. J. Winegarden and Coroner Ralph Thistle to the cabin on Vernon lake in the interior of Vancouver island where the trappers died.

The lake, with a rough jetty extending into it some 20 feet, was a dozen paces from the cabin. Two distress flags, fashioned from sheets, flapped forlornly in the breeze.

In a canoe was discovered a rough cedar board, eight inches wide and a yard long, on which was scrawled in red chalk:

"SOS—south end of lake—fishing—been out of food for two months—for God's sake pick us up."

Magazines Found

There were three bunks in the cabin. The body of Ryckman was in one bunk on the north side of the room; the body of Coombs occupied the bunk on the south side. A third bunk was piled high with magazines. Frayed and dirty playing cards, a cribbage board, a few pipes, empty tobacco tins and spare cartridges were piled on a crude table.

Several pails of remains of broth and stews made from small birds, animals and fish were sitting by the door. A pint bottle crammed with the bodies of birds was hanging on a peg outside the door. Apparently they had forgotten about the bottle until they were too weak to crawl from their bunks.

They had checked off the days since their arrival (July 30) on a calendar drawn on the wall.

Wild canaries flew from the cabin in swarms when we entered.

Besides the diary kept by Coombs both had left letters to their relatives. They had been written after their hope of being rescued faded.

Ryckman's letter was addressed to his son, Albert, in Vancouver. Coombs left a letter for his parents.

King Henry VIII, in 1533, ordered flax grown in England.

Regulations Are Said Needed

WASHINGTON, April 5 (U.P.) — George C. Mathews, member of the securities and exchange commission, told a Senate banking and currency subcommittee today that "far reaching regulations" are necessary to prevent the investment trust industry from attracting the same type of speculators that "have brought it into disrepute in the past."

The bill is sponsored by Senator Robert F. Wagner, D., N. Y., and would provide for SEC regulation of the trusts. Wagner is chairman of the subcommittee holding hearings on the measure.

The SEC, Mathews said, would not be "doing its duty to Congress" if it recommended legislation substantially less stringent than the Wagner measure. He added, however, that "I would be opposed to any bill which would seek to do more than impose those restraints to safeguard the public in the functions of the industry."

Three Charged In Smuggling

HARLINGEN, April 5. (AP)—Three men faced charges of smuggling today in connection with a gun-battle near Sebastian in which two United States custom border patrolmen were wounded.

Patrolman Joseph T. Brown was in a critical condition. Patrolman C. B. Sills, who received a bullet crease in the scalp, was not seriously wounded.

Charges were filed against Emeterio Chaso Corona, who is in a hospital with bullet wounds and cuts; Isador Cruz and Maximiliano Garcia. The charges were filed at Brownsville.

The shooting occurred early Wednesday.

Efficiency By Army Is Said Essential

DETROIT, April 5 (U.P.) — The United States, with its policy of a small army, must make its fighting force as efficient as any in the world, Senator Elbert D. Thomas of Utah said today in an army day address.

Thomas, a member of the military affairs committee, said that China, Poland and Finland suffered loss of lives because their leaders failed to realize that modern warfare is swift and destructive.

"We in the United States have escaped disaster in warfare because we have never been brought suddenly face to face with a well organized and efficient opponent," he said. "I think goodness that the men now in charge of our army and those who are planning that our army may be even greater are conscious of the fact that in 1917 we probably lost more men attempting to learn how to go to war than we lost facing bullets."

Rural Board Members Named

Trustees will be named today in all Lubbock county rural schools in elections in each of the school buildings.

Interest in races at several of the schools has been shown in names certified to County Judge J. J. Dillard. Eight names were listed on petitions from voters in both Shallowater and Cooper districts. Shallowater will choose three trustees, Cooper two.

With the exception of Idalou, each of the other schools will elect three. Only two places are open at Idalou.

Davis Is Candidate

Officials reminded Lubbock voters in precincts 3 and 4 they may cast ballots for candidates for the county school board in the office of Walter Davies, justice of peace.

E. R. Davis is candidate at large to the county board and will be considered by all voters of the county. He is a present member of the board.

Bailey Guess is candidate for reelection in precinct 3 and W. O. Sheely, incumbent in precinct 4, is opposed by W. C. Gardner.

More Permits For Building Issued

Building permits were not washed out by rain Friday when $18,775 worth of construction was authorized in the office of Jim E. Reid, city building inspector.

The business buildings and two residences contributed to the total of $74,685 for the week and month and $1,246,201 for the year.

L. D. Casey and Jack Dudley are owners of two brick and tile buildings to be constructed at costs of $4,500 each at 1620 Broadway and 910 Avenue J, respectively. George W. Gray is contractor for both.

Permit also was issued to S. V. Champlin for construction of a brick building at 2122-A Twenty-fourth street at a cost of $3,500.

Bobcat Keeps Apes From Going Wild

EL PASO, April 5 (U.P.) — If it hadn't been for a bobcat at the zoo today, the police department probably would still be chasing monkeys.

The monkeys—five of them—had escaped from their cages last night and made for the tallest timber in the park surrounding the zoo.

An excited resident nearby called in and the radio dispatcher sent patrolman Mike (bring 'em back alive) Devlin to the scene. The dispatcher figured Devlin would be the best man, since he knew something about cages from his past experience as turnkey at the city jail.

Accompanied by a fellow officers, Devlin arrived at the scene, surveyed the monkeys, high in the trees, and chattering excitedly at their new-found freedom.

Others March Back

"Better leave 'em alone for the night," he reported back to headquarters. "And anyway I can't climb these trees."

This morning, with five zoo attendants who could climb, Devlin went back. For several hours, the attendants climbed. They had no success, however, until one monkey jumped to the top of the bobcat's cage.

"From then on," reported George Lay, one of the tree-climbing attendants, "it was an easy matter. The big cat just reached out his two front paws and held the monkey by his tail until we could get him. After that, the other monkeys meekly marched back in."

Queen-Elect Of Class Is Taken By Death

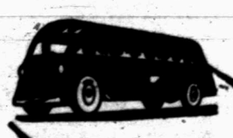

FORT WORTH, April 5. (AP) — Miss Louise Murray, 18, who was to have been crowned queen of the freshman class at Texas Wesleyan college here last Monday night, died early today of a disease diagnosed after an autopsy as thrombocytopenic purpura.

The attractive young Fort Worth woman's illness caused the cancellation of stunts usually carried out on "fish day" at the college.

A hush fell over the campus of T. W. C. when announcement was made of Miss Murray's death.

Darkened Skies May Hamper Chances For Records In Texas Relays Today

Century Feature Of Austin Event

By FELIX R. McKNIGHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUSTIN, April 5. — Dull skies threatened rain and a slow track on the eve of the thirteenth annual Texas Relays tonight, but performers from 11 states will be shooting at records when the country's first major outdoor meet starts tomorrow.

Vast Memorial Stadium will be cluttered with some 1,150 youngsters, representing more than 100 colleges, universities, prep schools and high schools.

Oklahoman In Spotlight

From California, Louisiana, Kansas, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Illinois, Michigan, Iowa, Ohio, Indiana and Texas they poured in tonight.

Out of that collection no individual held more prominence than a curly-haired, slingbean Oklahoman who will attempt to float his six feet, four inches to a new world high jump record.

Has Threatened Record

He's Don Boydston of Oklahoma A. and M., a skinny boy with a tremendous spring who needs only a couple of steps before shooting skyward. Boydston has already cleared six feet, 8 1-4 inches this season and has set tomorrow as the day for his shot at six feet, ten inches—the height needed for a world mark.

One of the track's old feuds will be the special event—Wayne Rideout of North Texas State Teachers college once more testing his stamina against the veteran Don Lash, Indiana State highway policeman.

Chance At Lash

Back in 1936 at the New Orleans Sugar Bowl meet Rideout sent track critics into a tailspin when he snaked past Lash in the two-mile run. Tomorrow they met up again in a special 3,000-meter race. Lash, only a week ago, broke the world three-mile record in New York—but he ran second to Greg Rice.

Threatened rain could wreck chances at track records but it hadn't taken any of the punch out of the 100-yard sprint event that has been boomed as "the" race of the day.

Welby's The Man

They all wanted to see Welby Williams, the tiny North Texas State Teachers college lad, try and beat Lonnie Hill of Texas, Freddie Wolcott Rice, Billy Brown of Louisiana State and the real dark horse of Southwest track—Freddie Ramsdell of Texas.

Ramsdell whipped past Hill in a dual meet last week-end but has been hospitalized this week with a threatened attack of appendicitis. Coach Clyde Littlefield said he had left the hospital and probably would run.

WILL WOLCOTT BE NEXT?—These three smiling tracksters, among the greatest dashmen in the nation, will compete on the cinder track at the Texas Relays—the third time they've met this year. Top to bottom, Welby "Thunderbolt" Williams, North Texas State Teachers; Lonnie Hill, Texas university, and Flying Freddie Wolcott, Rice—all, are entered in the 100-meter feature today at Austin. Each of the trio has flashed through the century in 9.6 or better. The three-way clash may produce a new record today.

Darkhorse Wins Grand National

By DREW MIDDLETON
Associated Press Sports Writer

AINTREE, Eng., April 5. — On flying feet whose running rhythm defied favorites and tortuous turf, Bogskar, "a horse from across the railroad tracks" captured the 102nd Grand National steeplechase today before 125,000 spectators.

A rank outsider at odds that shifted from 33 to 1 to 25 to 1 in the last half-hour, ridden by Sergt. Marvin Michael Jones, Royal Air Force pilot on leave, and bumped hard twice, the little known seven-year old owned and trained by Lord Stalbridge soundly whipped 29 other jumpers, two of them American-owned.

Close To Record

Carrying 144 pounds, this Merriwell of horses not only slammed down the stretch to lick L. Scott Briggs' highly regarded MacMoffat by four lengths but came within one-fifth of a second of equalling the record of nine minutes, 20 2-5 seconds set by Dorothy Paget's Golden Miller in 1934.

The triumph brought $20,000 to Bogskar's owner, chicken feed compared with the thousands won by holders of lucky tickets in the Irish hospital sweepstakes. MacMoffat, held at 8 to 1 and runner-up for the second straight year, got $2,000. J. R. Neill's Gold Arrow, priced at 50 to 1 and six lengths back of MacMoffat in third place, won $800.

More Than A Race

Pounding along behind at the finish were 14 others, who managed to stay on four feet for the four miles, 856 yards. Ahead, running wild, was John Hay Whitney's National Night, who after tossing his rider at the 12th jump, kept on to complete the second circuit ahead of the winner.

Mrs. Louis E. Stoddard's Milano, the only other American entry, survived the first circuit but was out of it by the time the field reached the canal turn for the second time.

Scene Colorful

English peers, beautifully dressed, bet two shillings. Irish farmers in tweeds bet greasy rolls of banknotes. Pretty ladies from Mayfair and the hunting country eyed each other more than they eyed the horses.

Navy and army airforce officers looked over the winner and what they hoped would be the winner in the paddock. Privates in uniform munched sausages and rolls, and drank incredibly bad beer on the back stretch. It was the Grand National all right despite the obvious air raid precautions and other signs of war.

LOST ITS MAGIC? — That likely is what Mrs. Ben Hogan, above, wife of the Texas golfing ace who won the last three major tournaments on the winter links gold trail, is wondering as she examines hubby's golf clubs. Ben is trailing far behind in the current Augusta Masters' which finds two of his fellow Texans in the lead—smiling Jimmy Demaret and Lloyd Mangrum. See story column eight.

RED NIP RED SOX, 12-10

GREENSBORO, N. C., April 5 (AP)—The law of supply and demand cut short a heavy-hitting exhibition game between Cincinnati and the Red Sox today when Boston's right-fielder, Leo Nonnenkamp, fouled the last of eight dozen balls from Memorial Park.

The Reds won 12 to 10.

The same situation ended a game between the same two teams during a dust storm in Florence, S. C., just a year ago.

BOSTON BEES TRIUMPH, 6-5

VALDOSTA, Ga., April 5. (AP)—Chet Ross' eighth inning homer proved the tying run, and his single brought in the winning counter today when the Boston Bees regained their winning stride by eking out a 10-inning 6-5 victory over the Knoxville Smokies of the Southern Association.

GABBY IRRITATED

SAN ANTONIO, April 5 (AP) — Manager Gabby Hartnett read the "riot act" today to his Chicago Cubs after their game with the St. Louis Browns was washed out.

Hartnett, irked at the recent poor showing of the team, warned against future training violations. He said such infractions would lead to fines and suspensions.

TIGERS THUMP DODGERS

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 5. (AP) —Pounding Fred Fitzsimmons, Wes Ferrell and Newell Kimball for 18 hits, good for 35 total bases, the Detroit Tigers overwhelmed the Brooklyn Dodgers, 15 to 5 today.

PHILS WIN ONE, 9-3

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 5. (AP) —Home runs by Little Heinie Mueller, Chuck Klein and Gus Suhr gave the Phillies a 9 to 3 victory over Jacksonville of the Sally league today.

TRIBE LOSES TO GIANTS

CORDELE, Ga., April 5. (AP) — The New York Giants hammered Don Pulford, Harry Eisenstat and Joe Dobson for 13 hits today to defeat the Cleveland Indians 15 to 5 in the seventh game of their spring exhibition series. It was the Giants' biggest score of the year.

Downpour Hampers Sports Events Over Area; Golfers In Oklahoma

Dripping skies that brought smiles to South Plains countenances Friday caused an abrupt halt of all sports activities over the area, nevertheless.

Two invitation track meets scheduled for the high school and junior high school teams here were called off and postponed, respectively.

Tennis Matches Postponed

A scheduled tennis engagement between the Red Raider varsity netters of Coach J. G. Allen and the Hardin-Simmons racquetteers—planned for Texas Tech's courts today—was postponed until later in the season.

Tech's golfing brigade—headed by Coach J. W. Jackson—missed the local angle on the weather when they left early Friday morning for Oklahoma where they will meet the University of Oklahoma and Oklahoma A. and M.

The Raider niblic swingers tangle with the Sooners at Norman today, then take a day of rest and challenge the Aggies in Stillwater Monday.

Eight South Plains schoolboy track and field aggregations—representing some of the best talent amassed in this area in several seasons—were primed for an invasion of the city Friday afternoon to vie with Coach "Goober" Keyes and Coach Walker Nichol's Lubbock High Westerners in an invitation affair at Chapman Field.

Junior Meet Advanced

But nobody felt like rowing their boats, so the event was definitely called off — leaving the various teams until next week-end to prepare for their shot at toppling the Westerners from the District 3 Interscholastic league crown they have worn for three consecutive seasons.

Coach Mule Davis had made arrangements to take care of approximately 15 junior high teams from over West Texas here today for the sixth annual invitation, but leaden skies that continued to pour moisture last night prompted the mentor to move the event up two weeks from today. It will be conducted Saturday, April 20. Any team in the area which wishes to participate in the event is urged to contact Coach Davis.

Play Canyon Saturday

Coach Allen said that his squad, which returned from a more or less unsuccessful downstate road trip last Saturday night, would journey to Canyon one week from today to tangle with West Texas State Teachers college netters. Abilene's Cowboy delegation may come here some time next week, details not having been worked out late last night.

White Sox Get Revenge, 4-2

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, April 5. The Chicago White Sox defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates today, 4 to 2, in a five inning exhibition game. Rain and cold weather prevented further play.

Bauer Meets Cothran For Charlotte Crown

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 5 (AP)—Jean Bauer of Providence, R. I., a veteran of southern tournaments, and Jane Cothran of Greenville, S. C., the defending champion, will fight it out tomorrow for the championship of the 1940 Charlotte Country club women's invitation golf tournament.

Miss Bauer, the medalist, won her semi-final match today overwhelmingly in eliminating 17-year old Georgia Tainter, the Fargo (ND) sensation, 7 and 5.

Miss Cothran defeating Jane Crum, South Carolina university student, 4 and 3.

SCHAEFER CLINCHES SECOND

CHICAGO, April 5. (AP)—Jake Schaefer, Cleveland, clinched second place in the world's three cushion billiard tournament today with a 50 to 36 victory over Johnny Layton of Sedalia, Mo., in 54 innings.

YANKS BURY TRAVELERS, 11-2

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 5. (AP) —The New York Yankees buried the Little Rock Travelers of the Southern Association under an 11 to 2 score today before 2,800 shivering fans.

Junior Baseball School Will Resume Monday

No junior baseball activity until Monday!

That was the announcement last night by Clarence Fox, one of the instructors in the first annual school which boasts a registeration near the 200 mark, and at whose park the 10-day course will be offered.

Even though the weather should happen to change today, the field would be too damp for any play. All instructors will be on hand Monday to start teaching the fundamentals of the game, Fox said.

BUFFS WHIP EXPORTERS, 6-2

BEAUMONT, April 5. (AP)—Hank Nowak and Les Mueller went the nine inning route today with the former gaining a 6-2 decision as the Houston Buffs made it two straight over the Exporters in their spring exhibition series. The visitors' 10-hit attack included five doubles, two by Antonelli. Both Beaumont runs were unearned.

Hale Center Planning Boxing Tourney Soon

HALE CENTER, April 5. (Special) —Hale Center Lions club first annual amateur boxing tournament, scheduled for a three-day showing April 23-26—an event which finds merchandise and medal awards for first and second places totaling $75 being offered in 10 weight divisions—promises to furnish central Hale county ring fans with action aplenty.

Entries from Tahoka, Slaton, Abernathy, Lubbock, Plainview, Hale Center, Cotton Center and other South Plains towns are expected. At least 60 bouts will be held, featuring approximately 75 young leather slingers.

Seats On Sale

Ringside reserved seats have been put on sale here, and entries are being received every day in the various divisions.

Walt Larson and Al LeMond have been named as arrangements committee by the Lions club for the affair. Tickets and publicity are being handled by Earl Beard and Vic Lamb, and entries are being received by Dr. R. S. Knapp and D. L. French.

Six-Man Football Has 129 Teams For Year

AUSTIN, April 5. (AP)—Texas' fastest growing schoolboy sport—six-man football—will have 129 teams in 19 districts next fall.

R. J. Kidd, athletic director of the Interscholastic league, today announced the 1940 lineup.

It will be the third season for six-man football in Texas which already has the largest enrollment for the sport of any state in the nation.

The district arrangement for next fall:

District 9 — Ackerly, Dawson, (Welch), Klondike (Lamesa), Sparenberg, (Lamesa), Union (Lamesa).

Thorpe Hopes Sons Will Play Baseball, But Pigskin Thrill Still Governs Famous Frame

(By The Associated Press)

HOLLYWOOD, April 5. — Big Jim Thorpe sat on the sidelines and watched his two young sons play football while a movie camera ground away.

A youthful backfield hero slanted off guard on a spinner and started downfield. Suddenly he was cut down by a beautiful tackle. It was executed by the older of the Thorpe youngsters, Phil, who is 13, broadshouldered and brown.

Big Jim beamed from ear to ear, but abruptly muttered:

"I want my boys to play baseball, not football."

Note Of Finality

There was a note of finality in the ponderous Indian's tone. Recognized as one of the all-time greats on the gridiron, as well as being a track and field champion Jim Thorpe has definite ideas about a career in sports.

"My boys," Thorpe resumed, "can play football in high school if they want to, but after that, if they want to follow athletics, I want them to play baseball.

It Lasts Longer

"Baseball pays money. Football is fine, but all you get out of it are newspaper clippings. You can't eat them. In track you get press notices, too, but they won't pay your bills. Baseball lasts longer and pays better."

Thorpe's boys are acting in a film based on the life of Knute Rockne, Notre Dame's immortal football coach.

But He's Still There

Assistant Director Jesse Hibbs, former University of Southern California star, got ready for another scene. The backs shifted, the ball was snapped, and the youngest Thorpe, Billy, a wiry 11-year-old, skirted toward right end, sidestepped a rival wingman, cut back and was headed—

Old Jim jumped to his feet, cupped his hands and bawled, "Look out for that halfback! Go on!"

Jim Thorpe may not want his boys to be football players, but something seems to indicate they will be—and Jim Thorpe will love it.

Olympic Trials Are Planned For Summer

AUSTIN, April 5 (AP)—Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, member of the Olympic Games committee, tonight said plans were being laid to hold American Olympic track and field trials at Los Angeles early in July, despite possible cancellation of the Olympic Games.

Wilson said present, incomplete plans called for holding the trials at Los Angeles the week-end following the National A. A. U. meet at Fresno, Calif., June 28-29.

Abandonment of the proposed Pan-American games was reported by Wilson, also athletic director of Northwestern university at Evanston, Ill.

Bears Set SMU Down With Two Hits, 6-1

WACO, April 5. (AP)—Sherman Barnes and Franklin Golden set the Southern Methodist Mustangs down with two hits today as Baylor came back strong in the last three innings to win, 6 to 1, their first Southwest conference game of the season.

Barnes started for the Bears, pitching five innings and was nicked for both hits and the SMU run. Golden finished the game without permitting a hit.

LOWRY TO TULSA

LOS ANGELES, April 5 (AP) — Manager Jigger Statz of the Los Angeles baseball club said today that Peanuts Lowry, peppery young infielder, had been sent to Tulsa of the Texas league on option, subject to 24-hour recall.

Raiders Hoping For Dry Field

Providing the weather allows, the 1940 Texas Tech football prospects will scrimmage today on their gridiron at 2:30 o'clock.

This was the statement handed out last night by Coach Pete Cawthon who is anxious to see his candidates under fire. Yesterday's inclement weather left the playing field covered with water but it has a quick drainage and unless there is additional rain today the head-bumping affair will go on as scheduled.

In High Spirits

Just to prove they are on edge for the first scrimmage of their spring training maneuvers the Red Raiders staged a sing-song yesterday after Coaches Cawthon and Smith had conducted a skull practice. Elbert "Hi-Pockets" Overton and his gang furnished the music while the entire squad of 76 joined

Nelson Annexes Second Place

By BILL BONI
Associated Press Sports Writer

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 5.—The man who cuts the pins down there'd be no more 64's shot at the Augusta National golf club today. As a result there was only one round under 70 in the second holes of the Master's tournament and the two Texans who tied the 36-hole lead got there by shooting no better than average golf.

One was Jimmy Demaret, smiling kid from Houston who carded a 72 to his opening 67 for 139. The other was Lloyd Mangrum, who was born in Texas but works in Park, Ill.

Mangrum Had 75

Lloyd gave one of the best demonstrations of the ancient and honorable game's ups and downs going up from the record-breaking 64 he shot yesterday to a 75 that was three over par for this beautiful golf course, but a respectable round under the circumstances.

This was, in fact, a great day for the Texans and an even better one for the man who cut the pins. Texas dominated the show by contributing not only the co-leaders, but also the next man to them—Open Champion Byron Nelson who, with Demaret's partner for the afternoon, had another 72 and thereby acquired a 141 total.

Ward Gets Hot

The pin-cutter did his share in driving the boys crazy on some holes, notably the 14th. Here the pin was set at the back of the green, with a mound between it and the fairway portion. Some of the lads stood over their putts and then watched the ball hesitate at the top of the slope and then roll down again. In some cases leaving them farther from the pin than they had been at the start with.

Besides the Texans and the pin-cutter, the day's other outstanding performer undoubtedly was Lloyd (Bud) Ward of Spokane, Wash., U. S. amateur champion, who had four-under-par 68 that none of the others could match. This gave him a chance for a fourth-place tie with Henry Picard, the P. G. A. titleholder.

Jones Withdraws

Ward, Picard, who had his name on straight 71; Jug McSpadden, Watrous, amateur Wilford Wehrle and Gene Sarazen were the only ones to break par, whereas ten players

Unemployed Printer Sweepstakes Winner

NEW YORK, April 5. (U.P.)—Anthony Ruggiere, 30-year-old printer, who has been out of work two years, was awakened today by a telephone caller who notified him that he just had won $100,000 in the sweepstakes.

The unruffled Ruggiere, who took the call on a neighbor's telephone since he has none in his furnished room, was in bed while the grand national was being run.

"Thanks," he said, "I think I'll go and hear what they say about it on the radio."

Ruggiere was the only ticket-holder in the United States to win on Bogskar, who ran first.

Foggy Glasses Help For Eyes

WASHINGTON, April 5. (AP)—Correction of eye squinting and crossed eyes in young children by using foggy glasses was described today to the American Academy of Pediatrics.

The process consists of training the eye while "retiring" the good one from full use for a time, explained Dr. William T. Davis of George Washington university.

No two eyes are the same, and some children develop a permanent squint or an involuntary turning of the weaker eye toward the other in order to see properly. Some children instinctively close one eye for distance vision and the other for reading.

Many such cases can be corrected, even at four years of age, Dr. Davis said, by reducing the vision of the good eye to the level of the faulty one with opague glass which gives light but not vision.

people of this country."

The judge declared the "fundamental principle" involved in the way the raid was conducted made it necessary to send the case to the federal grand jury as the first step toward having the supreme court decide how far raiders seeking evidence of "un-American activities" may go.

Earlier Philip Frankfeld and Thomas F. O'Dea, Boston communists, were jailed here in default of $1,000 bond each after warrants were issued by U. S. Commissioner Needham Turnage charging them with contempt of the House for refusing to answer questions put to them by the Dies committee.

At an open hearing, Reeve contended that during the raid he was refused the right to summon a lawyer.

Judge Welsh refused to approve a warrant for David E. Jamieson, state deputy secretary of revenue whom Reeve charges participated in the raid, because of lack of evidence.

Suggestion Rejected

The communist candidate asserted none of the papers and records confiscated in the party headquarters were subversive to the government.

Judge Welsh rejected a suggestion from counsel for Reeve that some action be taken against Rep. Martin Dies and members of his committee.

"Disciplining of Mr. Dies, if that be necessary, lies elsewhere," he commented.

Meantime, Chairman Dies (D-Tex) of the committee was busy with two other legal proceedings.

Calling Of Dies Sought

Counsel for William Dudley Pelley, Silver Shirt leader and one time committee witness, had demanded that Dies be called as a witness at a hearing on extradition of Pelley to North Carolina. Authorities in that state want Pelley in connection with a case in which he was convicted six years ago of violating the blue sky law and placed on probation.

T. Edward O'Connell, Pelley's lawyer, said he wanted to show that "mysterious forces" were conspiring to "railroad" Pelley to the chain gang. Justice Jesse C. Adkins refused, however, to permit Dies to be called and ordered Pelley delivered to North Carolina authorities. An appeal was noted and the Silver Shirt leader allowed his freedom on $5,000 bond.

Dies and other committee officials then went before a grand jury which was presented with House citations for contempt against James H. Dolsen and George Powers, Pittsburgh communists, who also refused to answer committee questions.

The warrants against Frankfeld and O'Dea were the first obtained by the committee directly from the commissioner, and the procedure represented a short cut to court action against recalcitrant witnesses.

Aggie Nine Measures Frogs Again, 5 To 2

COLLEGE STATION, April 5. (AP)—The Texas Aggies made it two straight, defeating TCU 4-2, here today when Woody Duckwork, hurt by six errors, and five walks could not keep out of trouble.

Lefty Bumpers was little better, giving 12 walks but tightened up when the going got rough to fan nine. Twice he got two men on strikes when runners were on.

Duckworth went out in the seventh for pinch hitter Crawford who fanned. Bumpers lasted until the ninth and with none gone and three on he gave way to Peden.

Drug Stores Are Rapped

WASHINGTON, April 5. (U.P.) — Members of a House ways and means sub-committee talked about the modern drug store today, offering observation that it is a "vest pocket bazaar" where buyers need "a search warrant to find the prescription counter."

Their remarks came during testimony of Rowland Jones, jr., Washington representative of the National Association of Retail Druggists, in support of the Patman chain store tax bill.

Search Warrant Needed

When the talk turned to modern drug stores, Jones said it "is one of the most indispensible retail outlets there is."

"It's a vest pocket bazaar," countered Rep. John D. Dingell, D., Mich.

"It's a place where you need a search warrant to find the prescription counter," interposed Harold Knutson, R., Minn.

"Oh, I know what you are talking about," Jones replied. "You are thinking about the drug store that sells automobile tires and silk stockings."

Savings Are Offset

In a more serious vein, Jones contended that the "hidden losses" resulting from unemployment created by the efficiency of chain stores may more than make up the savings they pass on to the consumers.

"Wide diversification of ownership is the one sure hope of democracy in America today," he said.

He urged an attack on the problem through taxation, as proposed in the bill, because he declared that he had no confidence in the anti-trust laws.

Sticks To Story

mons" were after her, killed the three children with the hammer and then, after setting fire to her own hair, commanded Chloe to beat her. Later, Chloe said she also killed her young brother.

Devoted To Children

Dr. V. J. Stack told Captain Edwards Davis telephoned him two weeks ago and said he feared Mrs. Davis was losing her mind.

"I have known the Davis family for years," Dr. Stack said, "and know the parents to be devoted to their four children."

He added Mrs. Davis and the children were in his office last Wednesday to confer with an associate about treatments she had been undergoing for anemia.

"Chloe didn't do it, no matter what the police think," he declared.

Police Convinced

Police Captain Edgar Edwards earlier had said he was convinced the flippant sixth grade girl fatally beat her mother after mortally wounding her sisters, Daphne, 10, and Deborah Ann, 7, and her brother Marquis, 3.

"We will either verify her story or disprove it," said Homer B. Cross, deputy chief of police, as officers continued questioning the girl who spent the night in juvenile hall, where she was booked on suspicion of murder.

Dr. Paul De River, police department psychiatrist, described her as "the cruelest-blooded, coolest individual I ever met."

"She is cool, and has no depth of feeling, has great powers of imagination for fantasy and is distinctly capable of planning and committing the murders," he added. "But so far, I believe her story more than I disbelieve it."

The latest of several somewhat varied accounts of the killings told by the slangy youngster was that her mother killed the two girls, that she bludgeoned her mother to death with the hammer at the mother's command, and then struck her brother three times and beat him to death "to put him out of his misery."

Under California law, a child under 14 found guilty of murder is incarcerated in a correctional institution until he reaches the age of 21, when he would be released.

McMurry Observance Is Conducted Here

Participating in the state-wide observance of Founder's day in honor of the late Dr. James Winfred Hunt of McMurry college at Abilene, ex-students of the school met Friday night at the First Methodist church.

A covered dish supper was served and a program given. The group listened to a speech by Dr. Frank L. Turner, president, over a Texas-wide radio broadcast. A story of the life of Dr. Hunt was told.

Rev. R. L. Kirk, pastor of St. John's Methodist church and Mrs. Kirk were in charge.

Two Senators Endorse Colleague Vandenberg

WASHINGTON, April 5. (AP)—Two senators, Capper of Kansas and McNary of Oregon, endorsed Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) as a friend of agriculture today as the Vandenberg forces launched a last-minute drive for votes in the Nebraska presidential preference primary next Tuesday.

The Michigan senator will be on the ballot with Thomas E. Dewey, New York district attorney, to whom he lost all of Wisconsin's 24 Republican delegates in a contest last Tuesday. Vandenberg's friends made no secret of the fact that the possible influence of the Wisconsin results on other states had caused them to step up the tempo of their Nebraska campaign.

No Hope Is Held For Amateur Prospector

MEXICALI, April 5. (U.P.) — Mexican territorial officials despaired today of finding a 77-year-old woman and an amateur prospector lost in the desert south of here for five days.

Searchers in automobiles, on donkeys and afoot combed the area while an airplane cruised over the wasteland for five hours yesterday looked for Mrs. Bessie Bowman and Ed Pruett, a Santa Monica police officer whose hobby is prospecting.

Their disappearance was reported two days ago by Luis Selby and Mrs. Elizabeth Dietrich of Los Angeles. They said they walked into Mexicali from the desert 35 miles south when their automobile ran out of gas, leaving Mrs. Bowman and Pruett there.

When they returned, they found that the couple had gone and left a note saying they went in search of food and water.

Rains Fall In Area

p. m.

The coating of rain on fruit trees would act as a protective coating for fruit trees, it was explained, and in case of freezing early today would permit little damage.

Reports By Cities:

A cross-section of the general precipitation over the South Plains is shown in the following telephone reports:

Brownfield, fall estimated between two and three inches, stopped raining about 8 p. m.; sleet covered ground during afternoon.

Crosbyton, rainfall, about one and a half inches.

Lamesa, fall measured at 1.43 inches, stopped about 7 p. m.; sleet in afternoon.

Levelland, rainfall, one inch.

Railway Reports

Littlefield, about one and a half inches rain, flurry of snow in afternoon, rain continuing late at night.

Muleshoe, snowfall, two inches, started about 3 p. m., turned into light mist at night; sleeted in afternoon.

Post, about one and half inches rain, sleet during afternoon, with accompanying high wind; rain general over Garza county.

Seagraves, 1.5 inches rain, light hail; temperature 35 degrees at 11 o'clock.

Tahoka, 1.51 inches rain, stopped about dark, sleet in afternoon stayed on ground two hours.

Snow Falls North

Santa Fe dispatchers late Friday afternoon said following reports were received from station agents:

Abernathy, one-half; Sudan, one inch; Amherst, half-inch rain and snow; Anton, half-inch; Ralls, half-inch; Lorenzo, half-inch; Idalou, half-inch; Bledsoe, inch; Lehman, inch; Whiteface, inch; Seagraves, one and a half inch; Meadow, inch; Ropesville, inch; O'Donnell, inch; Wilson, three-quarters inch and Slaton, half inch.

Snow in the northwest section of the Plains was reported to have made roads hazardous. Temperatures were not low enough to cause freezing but slippery condition made travel dangerous.

Most Of State Soaked

The Associated Press said most of the state was soaked with rain.

Around Pecos, wind and lightning storms snapped communication lines. The wind reached 60 miles an hour around El Paso.

From Odessa came a report of heavy rains all through the Pecos region to the north edge of the Davis mountains and to Van Horn and Sierra Blanca on the west.

Farther south, clouds and strong winds held temperatures far below the sweltering highs of Thursday, when marks in the nineties were registered.

Water Supply Provided

Foard county received its second rain of the year, when .94 of an inch fell. Crops had begun to suffer there. Crowell was spared a water supply program, the rain replenishing the city lake which had fallen to its lowest level in years.

A severe hailstorm near Tyler damaged roofs and destroyed vegetation. It was described as the heaviest in the 11-year history of the Tyler airport weather bureau. It covered an area three miles wide and probably about 15 miles long to the west of Tyler.

Damage to roses and truck and orchard crops was estimated at $3,000. Hail, which piled up an estimated thickness of 4½ inches, followed a three-inch rain, all within a 40-minute period.

Hail, accompanied by severe electrical storms and high winds, struck in some portions of Navarro county, where rain ranged from .84 to an estimated two or three inches.

Rain was reported at Dallas, San Antonio, Matador, Olney, Midland, Electra, Frost and Blooming Grove. Fall was expected at Fort Worth, Houston and other cities to the south.

Near Frankston, in the east Texas tomato belt, rain, accompanied by heavy hail, damaged the tomato crop.

Aid Is Sent To British Liner

(By The Associated Press)

BOSTON, April 5. — The coast guard cutter Spencer raced through battering seas tonight to the assistance of the disabled British steamer King Edward, reported drifting helplessly in a southerly gale far out in the Atlantic.

Because the King Edward flies the flag of a belligerent nation, coast guard authorities declined details, but it was known the Britisher lost the use of her rudder March 30, when she was about 550 miles from the Azores.

Presumably she has drifted a considerable distance from that position since she first called for assistance.

Embarrassment Seen

At that time the King Edward declined an offer of aid from the Spencer, saying she would await the arrival of a salvage tug from Nova Scotia. Today the tug was reported hove-to in a gale and the steamer issued an urgent call for assistance. The cutter, on weather bureau duty, left her station and began a 400-mile mercy dash.

A coast guard officer, in declining information, spoke of the possible embarrassment "if we had her in tow and one of the other fellows popped up and said 'Let us have her.'"

The King Edward, a 5,224 ton vessel, left New York March 20 with a cargo of scrap iron for Swansea, Wales. She carries a crew of 38.

Rail Officials Here

Texas Technological college and other subjects peculiarly sectional.

Expansion Is Noted

Mr. Engel particularly pointed out that while Lubbock and the Santa Fe are "young in Texas as Texas history and development go," he has "yet to see a section—in Texas or elsewhere—which has shown the progress shown here in the last 35 years." He also characterized the Santa Fe's South Plains extension and expansion program during the period as the greatest railroad program of its kind in any section during the same period of time.

Officials accompanying Mr. Engel on the inspection trip included:

W. K. Etter, vice-president in charge of operations; F. G. Gurley, executive vice-president, both of Chicago; J. A. Gillies, general manager of western lines; G. H. Minchin, assistant general manager of western lines; T. A. Blair, chief engineer of western lines, and H. C. Vincent, general freight and passenger agent, all of Amarillo; C. M. Wooley, member of the directorate of the Santa Fe lines, of Santa Fe, N. M.; and H. R. McKee, division superintendent, of Slaton.

To Carlsbad Next

The men left Lubbock on the Engel special shortly after 9 p. m., bound for a morning stop at Pecos, Tex., and a later stop at Carlsbad, N. M., where they will inspect the potash fields.

Included in the Lubbock group at the dinner were:

Davis, manager of Lubbock Chamber of Commerce; Mark Halsey, president Lubbock Chamber of Commerce; Roy Riddel, Sam C. Arnett, Wade Cooper, representing the First, Citizens and Lubbock National banks; H. L. Allen, Texas-New Mexico Utilities Co.; J. D. Hassell, jr., Hemphill-Wells Co.; J. I. Convict Is Sentenced To Be Electrocuted

VALPARAISO, Ind., April 5. (AP)—Richard Sweet, 26, one of three convicts who tried unsuccessfully to bargain a woman welfare worker's safety for their delivery from Indiana state prison at Michigan city last June 27, was condemned today to death in the electric chair.

He was convicted of kidnaping for ransom in connection with the seizure of Mrs. Ruth Joiner in the prison yard.

Mrs. Joiner, who was touring the prison, and six other persons were wounded as state police and prison guards poured gunfire into the prison doctor's office to frustrate the plot.

Meanwhile Cassius and Claudius, twin goats from the farm of President Pat M. Neff of Baylor were inducted as assistant mascots as the convention was formally opened.

The Lisakar twins from Palestine, Tex.—two sets in the same family — were bragging about how all four had had measles at the same time.

Orville and Orren Hardie and Alden and Walden Huddleston hitch-hiked from Arlington, where they are students at North Texas Agriculture college. They stood four abreast on the highway, and their four thumbs hooked a ride with a man who said he was the father of twins.

Bill and Bob Allred, sophomores from Marrs Hill college in North Carolina, half of their Tar Heel state's delegation, were wearing red ties. When asked their names, they simultaneously fingered their neckwear and quipped: "See, All—Red."

Margaret and Marjorie Dennis, Abilene high school students, said they were here to meet some twin boys.

"We've never seen but two sets of boy twins in our life before. Oh, but this is fun," they chorused.

Jones Bill To Hurt Banking

WASHINGTON, April 5. (U.P.) — Charles H. Mylander, vice president of the Huntington National bank, Columbus, Ohio, told the House agriculture committee today that enactment of the Jones farm credit bill would "destroy completely" the federal land bank system.

Mylander asserted that if the committee felt it was time to abolish the federal land bank system "it ought to repeal the laws which established it—openly, bravely, and confidently."

"It ought not to accomplish the same thing by the indirection contained in this bill," he said.

Run Out Of Business

Mylander and A. L. M. Wiggins, president of the bank of Hartsville, Hartsville, S. C., appeared in opposition to the bill as representatives of the legislative committee of the American Bankers association, of which Wiggins is chairman.

Mylander, and FCA director in the Louisville, Ky., district, opposed provisions for a scaling down of mortgage indebetedness and its refinancing through new loans by the federal farm mortgage corporations.

"I object to these sections," he said, "because of the effect which they will have on the entire field of farm mortgage credit.

"The country bank, the insurance company, the individual who now is lending money upon the security of farm mortgages will be forced out of that business."

U.S. Trade Program

of what administration came into power.

Under the trade agreements act, initiated in 1934 and renewed for three years in 1937, the president is empowered to enter into agreements with foreign countries for reciprocal reduction of tariff rates. He can lower (or raise) tariffs as much as 50 per cent.

Since the act was passed 22 such agreements have become effective. Under the law, they do not require Senate ratification.

Opponents of the pacts had two principal arguments. They said the tariff changes were damaging American industry and workers and that the agreements were really treaties which, under the constitution, must be subject to Senate ratification.

Election Mentioned

The other side replied that world prosperity and, ultimately, stable world peace, depends on a freer exchange of goods. They denied the constitutional argument of the opposition.

Senate debate on the Walsh amendment was spiced with frequent references to the forthcoming national election, with Walsh declaring:

"I think it would be a catastrophe, to say on the eve of the forthcoming national election that the Democratic party is unwilling to make any changes or modifications to take care of the objections that have been raised in its own party against the reciprocal trade program.

Replying he would prefer to see the program killed at once rather than extended for a single year, Chairman Harrison (D-Miss) scoffed at any idea of a Republican victory in November.

County Judge May Run For Office Again

AUSTIN, April 5. (AP) — County Judge R. N. Stripling of San Augustine county is considering running again for that office.

Surprise! Surprise!

If ever there was a political announcement wholly devoid of the element of surprise, it was that of Gov. O'Daniel Wednesday night that he will be a candidate for a second term.

In the best tradition of the professional politician he soulfully berates, he has been waging an active campaign for months. All the while he pretended to be lingering in a state of indecision, although he has made the pointed effort to tell all who would listen at every conceivable opportunity that his "reluctance" gradually was weakening under the demand that he offer himself once more as a sacrifice on the altar of the state's welfare.

He even pretended uncertainty as to his future plans while announcing the forthcoming publication of his personal propaganda sheet, for which there could be no earthly reason except the personal desire to solicit political support.

His attitude was, of course, one of political hypocrisy, for which there is no reason to criticise him alone. All the politicians do it.

Now that the governor admits he is in the race, one guess is as good as another as to what may happen. He, without question, looms as a very powerful candidate, and all who may oppose him will admit—privately if not publicly—that he is the man to beat if anyone else is to win.

However, it would be strange indeed if Mr. O'Daniel were not a powerful candidate. It would be a sad commentary upon his administration if it were not the case. Ordinarily in Texas history, the reelection of a governor seeking a second term has been considered foregone.

That, however, cannot honestly be said of Mr. O'Daniel. He faces a hard fight and—to his credit—he obviously possesses the political sagacity to know it.

Chamberlain Loses Face

ALTHOUGH Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain continues as the titular head of the British government because of his position, his personal prestige has suffered tremendously before the world and perhaps before his countrymen because of the elevation of Winston Churchill to the position of "man of battle."

While the full import of the cabinet shake-up is veiled in uncertainty, it is not at all improbable that the No. 1 man in the British government now is Churchill. In all probability it will be Churchill and not Chamberlain, henceforth, who will decide what the policies of the allies are to be.

Chamberlain will, of course, give the appearance of having the last word but, considering the circumstance of the shakeup, it is inconceivable that he would attempt any interference with Churchill policies. If that should happen, it would mean an open break which Chamberlain could not survive. It is entirely possible that Chamberlain holds his title now solely because the British are attempting to avoid, as a matter of policy, a collapse of the cabinet with its implications of discord in the government.

However, regardless how Chamberlain's powers may be affected, those of Churchill have been increased incalculably. That means, judging from his entire career, that there will be a more positive handling of British problems than has been true under the vacillating Chamberlain. He isn't the kind of individual who will wait, as Chamberlain has done repeatedly, until the horse has been stolen to lock the stable door.

It must be admitted, of course, that Churchill may be responsible for catastrophic mistakes which Chamberlain caution would prevent. But certainly, the British seem to have gone from bad to worse under the Chamberlain guidance.

It is difficult to see how Churchill can make matters much worse. It is easy to believe that conditions affecting Britain and France may improve immeasurably.

ANN BROWN—orphan daughter of a gambler, alone in an unfriendly city.

PAUL HAYDEN—stock room boy with ambition.

STEVE CLAYBOURNE—wealthy playboy.

CLARA BROOKS — dime store counter girl.

IRENE TEMPLE—society debutante.

YESTERDAY: Ann returns the stolen jewels, asks for a job instead of a reward. Temple hires her as housekeeper, warns her that the house is badly managed. Ann finds the servants non-cooperative. After a trying day, she is going upstairs when Steven Claybourne enters.

CHAPTER XXV

Hi, old timer," Steven said pleasantly. "Tell the fair damsel that her swain has arrived—" He gasped, "Ann—" as if only half believing his eyes.

"Hello, Steve."

"Is that you, Ann? I only took one drink—I swear I did." Shutting his eyes, he shook his head violently, then stared again. It's true. For a minute I thought I'd conjured you out of thin air."

"I'm here all right," she admitted, sitting down on the second step. "That is, what's left of me."

Steve sat down beside her. "Swell to see you, Ann.

She nodded, resting her chin on both fists. "I'm the new housekeeper."

His laugh was explosive. "You're what?"

"The new housekeeper," she repeated. "Mr. Temple hired me to bring order out of chaos in this house." She set her teeth. "And I'll do it—if it kills me."

"Well, I'll be— Look, Ann, I thought you were married by now."

"No."

"I thought—you said—"

"Paul went away." Saying it, she felt the sting of tears. She got to her feet and Steve also rose, looking up at her.

"He isn't coming back?"

She shook her head, fingering the little silver bracelet.

"I've never forgotten you, Ann. You pop out of my thoughts at every turn."

She smiled vaguely, her mind on household troubles. She and Plunket would have a showdown in the morning. Plunket and all her relatives couldn't lick her.

Steve still gazed at her. "Guess I'm in love with you," he said. "Guess I fell in love with you that night at Clancy's—"

"You're being very silly, Steve."

"It doesn't seem silly to me." He kept looking at her, a half frightened expression on his reckless young face. "I never intended to fall in love with anyone," he went on as if to himself. "Seeing you again—well, I've gone off the deep end."

Ann moved up a step. "We'll just scratch the last few remarks from the records," she said lightly. "Keep it in mind that I'm an upper servant in this house—"

"I'll keep you in mind. If I found you scrubbing down the back stairs it wouldn't change the way I feel."

Irene floated down the stairs in white tulle. She touched Ann's arm with a friendly little gesture as they passed. She called, "Evening, mister."

"Hy'a, beautiful," Steve responded in an absent-minded tone.

Ann went to bed and she did not plan. She slept. Refreshed the next morning, she took a firmer grip on the management of Mr. Temple's difficult household. She breakfasted alone with her employer, sitting demurely behind the coffee service.

"Everything all right?" Mr. Temple asked.

She nodded. "It will take a little time."

"My top sheet was fine."

Ann smiled. She had seen to that herself. "Highball all right?"

"Just right. The house feels different, Ann. I feel guilty in dumping my problems on your shoulders, but I actually relaxed and enjoyed myself last night. You'll be good for the kids. I'm glad you're here."

"Thank you," she said with a little warm glow. When the chauffeur had driven him to the city, she attacked her duties with new fortitude. She went first to the kitchen.

"I'll do the ordering and planning from now on, Plunket," she said firmly.

The woman's beady eyes narrowed.

"After this, don't make the toast until Mr. Temple is eating his fruit. It was cold this morning."

Plunket grunted.

"What food market have you been patronizing?"

"The Superior."

"May I see yesterday's order slip?"

"I don't know where it is." Plunket spoke hastily.

"Give it to me at once."

"Find it if you can," the woman grumbled.

"Plunket—you will speak courteously to me or I will find another cook."

"I keep the slips in this drawer," Plunket nodded her small, round head.

Ann opened the drawer and scanned the dates on a number of market slips. She chose one. "Hm-m—four dozen boxes of soap flakes. Where are they, Plunket?"

"In the laundry—where do you suppose?"

"Plunket—" Ann's sweet voice had a steely ring.

"Well—"

"Six dozen limes. Why six dozen?"

"Mr. Temple likes 'em in his highballs."

Ann opened the huge refrigerator. Five limes reposed in a little wooden basket. "Where are the other five and a half dozen?" she asked crisply.

Plunket's face was scarlet: "I run that refrigerator," she fumed. "You keep out of it."

"Where are limes?"

Plunket whined, "Me and the girls like limeade—"

Ann turned away. "Beginning now, Mr. Temple will pay only the market bills which I have okayed," she said.

Plunket was washing dishes. She splashed the suds and clattered the silver.

Ann took down draperies and sent them to the cleaners. She superintended the cleaning of the bedroom, feeling like nothing so much as a pitiless slave driver. Dinner was served that night with flowers and lighted candles on the table. It was a simple, well-balanced meal and brought forth a compliment from Mr. Temple. "I don't like fluh-dubbery," he said.

Ann knew that an uprising was well underway in the kitchen. The servants whispered behind her back, they glowered and were sullenly perverse when she came upon them. With a little tactful inquiry Ann had learned that the Superior market was owned and operated by Plunket's uncle. And she knew that war would be declared when the Temple account was taken elsewhere.

Ann was in her room that second evening when Irene knocked on the door. "May I come in, Ann?" she called.

"Oh, yes—come in." It had occurred to her that she was well on the way to being as lonely as she had been in her first working days. She welcomed Irene eagerly. Ann had been packing her father's watch, the silver spoons and a few other treasures in the lower drawer of her dresser. She closed the drawer and stood up as Irene dropped to the bed.

"I'm glad to note that Plunket hasn't slit your throat yet," she said cheerfully.

"Just give her time," Ann laughed.

"She's talking to Dad in the library."

Ann frowned. "I'm sorry. I want to relieve him of all that."

"Dad'll get rid of her if he doesn't want to be bothered." Irene lighted a cigaret and lay back comfortably on the pillows. "It's fun having another girl in the house," she said.

"It's fun being here." Considering her day, it was quite a thing for Ann to say.

"What's it like to earn your own living, Ann?"

"Ghastly." They both laughed. Ann stretched herself luxuriously on the satin brocade chaise longue, crossing her slender ankles. The two girls looked at each other, smiling a little.

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

TOM DEWEY'S brashness amazes veteran politicos. The young man may crash through the big political gates, but if he does, it will be in defiance of all the laws of orthodox politics. Here is a sample of the literature which his promoters are distributing sub rosa throughout the country:

"Supporters of other Presidential candidates who can find no effective arguments in favor of their choice are ganging up on Dewey, misrepresenting him and his qualifications and achievements. In this questionable enterprise they have the cooperation of certain newspaper columnists whose opinions are made to order 'for a price.' Mr. Dewey has not 'shot his bolt', and he is not losing ground."

Tom's Presidential rivals—Messrs. Taft, Vandenberg, Gannett, McNary, etc.—will soon demand that he, as a prosecutor de luxe, itemize his indictment. They will insist on the Senate floor that he name the rival candidates who are engaging in a "questionable enterprise." And, for good measure, they will demand that he identify the "newspaper columnists" (not including his own large staff of ex-newspapermen) who are selling their opinions to the opposition "for a price." Tom may win the White House (he seems to have a way with people) but it won't be worth a nickel in view of the enmities he is making by these methods.

QUESTION: American diplomats and economists are highly skeptical about Germany's ability to organize economically the various nations which she has brought within her political and diplomatic orbit—Austria, Czechoslovakia, Poland and Russia. On the basis of superficial knowledge, such a combination seems unbeatable, and it has aroused fear of a dictatorial triumph in Paris, London, and Washington.

But our most expert scouts abroad and at home have a detailed analysis of the problem of the White House and the State department, and they express grave doubt of Hitler's digestive capacity. Russia, they maintain, is still in too chaotic a state to provide Germany with agricultural or industrial materials in volume. For some months the only product exported by the Soviet through the now blockaded port of Istanbul has been manganese, not wheat or iron ore or oil. Our people doubt whether the suspicious Stalin will permit the importation of sufficient German technicians to put his production plant in smooth-running shape.

Austria, Poland and Czechoslovakia have not been self-sufficient since the World war; they represent liabilities rather than assets to Berlin. Even if Japan joins the Rome-Berlin-Moscow Axis, she is so strained by her Chinese venture that she can furnish scant or no assistance. So, although the Central Powers' empire looks strong on paper, it has yet to demonstrate its staying power.

VETOED: Paul V. McNutt's undelivered speech advocating a broadening of the Social Security act along Townsendite lines constitutes one of Washington's politico-economic mysteries. Here is what happened:

Ten days ago the Social Security administrator sent to Washington newspapers and press associations an address in which he advocated an increase in payments and the inclusion of hundreds of thousands of people now outside the circle of social security benefits. It was such a sensational pronouncement that the press associations, contrary to their custom, relayed it on their day wire as a "hold for delivery" piece. Paul was going to town, politically and economically. But after they had made all preparations for elaborate handling, they got word that the original address had been "killed" by Mr. McNutt. In its place they received a mild and innocuous statement.

Paul's explanation is that, on second thought, he figured the original address (with its promise of richer payments and a heavier dent in the Treasury) was "inappropriate at this particular time," even though it might have won him a few Presidential delegates. The inside story appears to be that he was called off by somebody close to the Treasury (Henry Morgenthau) or the White House.

GODFATHER: Washington officialdom gets a belated thrill from the discovery that Jimmie Cromwell's political sponsor was Supreme Court Justice Frank Murphy. The justice is a close friend of the Stotesbury-Duke-Cromwell family (he spent a week in Florida as Mrs. Stotesbury's guest), and he talked FDR's into naming "Golden Boy" to the Ottawa post.

NOTES: The FBI gets in the neighborhood of 200 allegations daily in response to its request for popular assistance—naming individuals whom the complainants suspect of subversive activities . . . Most veteran Capitol Hill observers expect no more than sound and fury from the Patman Chain Store Tax bill. . . . Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands are pleading for more American ships to serve their ports; they hope cruise trade will run as high as 50,000 visitors during 1940.

NEW YORK

STORIES placing Nazi agitators in the background of Irish Republican army mischief seem to be strictly of American origin. The Ulsterites disclaim them, the sons of Eire grow rabid at the mention, and the British officials dismiss them as absurd. The basis of the tale probably lies in the foot that German agents have tried repeatedly to fan the three-cornered fight within the British Isles—and failed.

The failure heads up to precautions taken by President de Valera about the time that Britain and Germany went to war. The Catholic minority in Protestant Northern Ireland is the principal peg upon which de Valera argues the case for Irish unity. The Ulster Catholics reciprocate—the more ambitious with the occasional bundles of dynamite which inspired some German ideas. But de Valera's representatives got there first with a message amounting to a papal injunction not to give comfort to the Godless Aryans. The Catholic clergy, powerless to dissuade the Irish from tossing bricks at the British, was quite able to convince the hottest members of the IRA not to take up with England's enemies.

This natural inclination to keep the fight within the family, plus some sober counseling from the Vatican, has made Eire the one neutral in Europe where Germany has scored zero.

CONTAGIOUS: In the light of new disclosures the fall of Premier Daladier was a bad political drubbing for England's Chamberlain. The diplomatic quietus carefully covered the story of Neville's sweating to keep his French colleague in the chair. Chamberlain's object, the French issues that licked him, hasn't made the British Premier any more popular with his public.

The Daladier crisis was not the parliamentary mushroom advertised. The Finnish debacle was merely the straw that broke the camel's back. The issue that had been maturing for weeks, and which Chamberlain wanted to forestall, was the rising discontent of French labor. So long as war conduct had the appearance of success, French rank and file lumped the rigorous decrees of the Daladier ministry. But when the Finnish fiasco made a joke of the "iron man", labor put in its oar, took the occasion to demand more representation in the cabinet. The change is more apparent than real—since the general staff will see to it that any cabinet will be a rubber stamp for the judgment of the generals.

But on the British side of the channel, the changing of the guard in Paris set the example that Chamberlain sought to avoid. Chamberlain has been waging an uphill fight to assure labor that the French worker is making an equal sacrifice, that British wages aren't below those of the French partner, that food rations, taxes, hours aren't top-heavy on the British side. English Laborites already complain that the war effort is unequal — with 50 drowned Britons per poilu killed—and they now are clamoring to follow the French lead in "democratizing the war."

AUSTIN, April 5 (U.P.)—Texas first big political convention of the year will take place more than a month before the May 28 Democratic State convention when Texas' 46 delegates to the National Democratic convention will be named.

On April 19-20 the Texas Young Democrats will hold their eighth annual convention at Beaumont. The organization, of course, has no official power so far as selection of delegates goes, nor so far as nomination of state candidates is concerned. But the power of its individual membership exerted in the party conventions and primary elections may be extremely important in deciding both the Garner-Roosevelt rivalry and the races for state office.

Kimbrough Signs Up

Leaders in the presidential nomination fight and all the candidates for state offices are expected to be at the Beaumont convention to make political medicine.

Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel will be there, he has advised the Beaumont committee. Congressman Martin Dies is expected to deliver the keynote address if sessions of his committee at Washington do not make it impossible. U. S. Sen. Tom Connally is also down for one of the addresses.

Proudest announcement of the Young Democrats is that they now number among them America's No. 1 football star, "Jarrin' Jawn" Kimbrough. The Texas A. & M. rammer is enrolled in the Haskell county Young Democrats.

Wall Street . .

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—The rallying tide in the stock market was stemmed by week-end profit selling today and early gains turning to a point or so for leaders were reduced or converted into losses at the close.

In a lively first hour the trend was upward, with new highs for the year or longer being posted for an assortment of favorites. Offerings began to creep into the list after the early upturn and from then on trends were somewhat irregular.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was off .1 of a point at 51.1 after two successive advances aggregating 1.1 points in the most active sessions since the war boom of last September. Today's turnover dwindled to 1,255,440 shares from 1,904,360 the day before.

The financial sector continued optimistic reading the political outlook and business but many traders were unable to resist the urge to cash in.

European war news was negligible, but some of the aviation manufacturing stocks responded to talk of bigger Allied plane purchases.

Motors were sluggish all day and slipped at the finish as this week's automotive output dipped moderately. At the same time, first quarter sales were said to have been reminiscent of the 1929 and 1937 upswing. Steels were bolstered most of the time by reports of expanding domestic demand.

Shares retaining modest advances included Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Consolidated Aircraft, Montgomery Ward, Woolworth, Sears Roebuck, Bethlehem Steel, Westinghouse, Eastman Kodak, Loft, Standard Brands, N. Y. Shipbuilding and Santa Fe.

Among losers were U. S. Steel, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, United Aircraft, Lockheed, Anaconda, Du Pont, Union Carbide, Dow Chemical, Western Union, Southern Railway, Consolidated Edison and Standard Oil of N. J.

Bonds held better than stocks.

Up as much as a point or more in the curb were Dobeckmun, Take Shore, and Phoenix Securities. Transfers amounted to around 201,000 shares compared with 352,000 yesterday.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—Buying by mill accounts put the cotton futures market on its feet today. The list showed little inclination to stray, however, and final prices were up only 1 to 2 points.

Highlight of dealings was the active bidding for the July delivery by brokers with both domestic and foreign mill connections.

The market reported declines at Liverpool, which cotton dealers explained as due to the feeling here the foreign market was much more concerned with purely local problems than the domestic market.

Of more importance to New York traders was the movement of textiles in Worth street. While sales over the past few days have been ample, actual cotton in southern spot markets is going into mill hands at a slow rate.

Heavy overnight rains in parts of the central and eastern belt caused concern among some observers, who saw the possibility of delay in planting and new crop preparation.

Worth street reported moderate sales at steady prices. Recent increases in quotations have met with some opposition by converters believed to be amply covered for immediate needs.

Exports Thursday 42,844 bales; season so far 5,838,317. Port receipts 20,081; port stocks 2,860,676.

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, April 5 (AP)—The average price of middling 15-16ths-inch cotton at ten designated southern spot markets today was one higher at 10.58 cents a pound; average for the past 30 market days was 10.55. Middling ⅞ths-inch average was 10.40.

Fictitious Outlaws "Two Young Punks"

TULSA, Okla., April 5 (UP)—Police suspected today that "two young punks" were spreading stories that they were Ralph Roe and Ted Cole, only convicts who ever escaped Alcatraz prison, to fabricate a reputation.

Interest in a widespread hunt for three men who shot Don Calvin, taxi driver, in the back Wednesday night before they took his automobile and $3 had subsided. Calvin at first had identified pictures of Roe and Cole as those of two of his attackers and said they ostensibly referred to each other as "Ted" and "Ralph". Later, he could not identify their pictures.

Just Hanging On

Three youths arrested near Sallisaw for stealing an automobile in Tulsa were brought before Calvin last night.

"If those are the men, they've changed clothes," he said.

Calvin's taxi was abandoned, and fingerprints taken from it did not match those of the three youths or Cole and Roe. Police doubted that the youths knew anything of the crime.

Calvin was "barely hanging on," physicians said.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, April 5 (AP)—July wheat contracts, representing the new 1940 crop, advanced as much as 1⅝ cents at one stage today to $1.06⅝, highest since last December and within 2½ cents of the season's peak established then.

Buying inspired by continued dry weather in the southwest, where the surplus hard winter wheat crop is produced, caused the upturn. September contracts rose 1⅝ to $1.06⅝, within ½ of the season's high, while May, an old crop delivery, advanced a cent to $1.08⅝.

Despite heavy profit-taking and some hedging of loan wheat, which reduced extreme gains at times, wheat closed ⅛ to 1⅛ higher than yesterday, May $1.08⅝-$1.06, July 1.05⅝-⅛@1.06⅛, September $1.05⅝@1.06⅛. Corn was ⅛ to ⅛ up, May 57⅝@57½, July 58⅛; oats ⅛ to ⅛ higher; rye ⅛ to 1⅛ up and lard unchanged to 3 lower.

Registered Jack Is Leased By College

A registered jack has been leased by the Texas Technological college animal husbandry department for the 1940 season, for use in crossing with college mares in the production of mules. The jack will also be available for public service, W. L. Stangel, head professor of animal husbandry, said today.

M. G. Michaelis of Kyle, one of the oldest breeders of jacks and jennets in Texas, owns the animal, which was selected for lease by Stangel and W. T. Gaston, college business manager.

Highway Group To Wage Fight

The Texas Good Roads association is preparing to wage a vigorous fight against the diversion of gasoline taxes for any purpose other than the building and the maintenance of highways.

This was the statement this morning of J. H. Briggs of San Antonio, field secretary of the association.

He came to the South Plains, he explained, to confer with the three directors of the organization who reside in this area. They are J. E. Shelton, secretary of the Brownfield Chamber of Commerce; P. B. Ralls of Ralls, and A. B. Davis, manager of Lubbock chamber.

While here he also conferred at length with George M. Garrett, division engineer of the state highway department.

Should Come Back

At the present time, he explained, efforts are in progress in various places seeking some of the revenue produced by the state gasoline tax, which now is 4 cents per gallon.

"If those efforts meet with any success," he declared, "all of the money from gasoline taxes is liable to be used for almost every other purpose except he building and maintenance of highways."

He said also that the association is joining in a fight against the diversion from highway purposes of revenues derived from the federal gasoline tax of 1 cent per gallon. Of the approximately $350,000,000 paid in such taxes last year, he declared, only about $200,000,000 was used for highway purposes. The association is joining in the insistence, he said that all of the money paid in federal gasoline taxes should come back to the states for highway construction and maintenance.
