

Mitchell County voting strength at 5,132

With added interest in the upcoming presidential election and efforts of a local voter registration campaign, the voting strength of Mitchell County has increased to 5,132.

County Tax Assessor-Collector Mike Burt this week released the following breakdown of registered voters by precinct, as compared to the previous count earlier in the year:

Current	Previous
Prec. #1—1817	1684
Prec. #2—532	533
Prec. #3—1628	1518
Prec. #4—819	799
Prec. #7—336	264
Totals 5132	4798

Actually the increase in voter strength is greater than it appears. For the primaries, city, school, hospital and special elections held earlier in the year, the total registered voters included over 300 registrations that had been returned to the Tax Office as undeliverable. So at the time, the voting strength was closer to about 4,500.

On August 15, after the special Senatorial Election, the local tax office "struck" or deleted 316 of the undeliverable registration cards from the poll lists.

During the past couple of months, through the efforts of a Mitchell County Voter Registration Education group, headed by Julian Mendoza, more than 500 voters were registered, prior to the October 8 deadline.

The presidential election, some locally contested races, and local write-in campaigns have prompted others to register.

So after the voting list was cleaned up and new voters registered, the voting strength in Mitchell County will be about 600 more than for previous elections this year.

Prec. #1 showed the greatest gain of 133 over the previous total. Precinct 3, where there is a write-in contest for County Commissioner, gained 110.

Interest in the upcoming general election, scheduled November 8, is apparent with more than 100 absentee votes cast the first day, Wednesday, at the County Clerk's Office.

OLD BUILDINGS DEMOLISHED—This old residence at Paris and College Streets was the first of seven buildings torn down last week in a cleanup drive by the City, one of several improvement projects being undertaken by the City.

City begins improvement projects

Old buildings being demolished

Several new improvement projects have gotten underway this past week by the City of Colorado City.

Two of the buildings that have been condemned by the City were torn down Wednesday after owners agreed to the demolition. They were located at Paris and College Streets. Demolition work on five other structures on Erie Street behind Wallace Center was also started Thursday. These buildings had not yet been condemned but owners had asked that they be razed and cleared while the City was at it.

Also a new chlorination system is being installed at the East Water Works near the old Standpipe. The new system will provide higher chlorine residuals in that part of the system in the southeast part of town which is the farthest from the main chlorinator.

Earlier this month the City crews also completed laying the new water line along south 120 service road, which eliminated a deadline and looped back into the

...moving to Marshall

Game warden Ronnie Aston being transferred

Ronnie Aston, game warden here for the past 15½ years, announced this week that he is being transferred to Marshall, in East Texas by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Unless a replacement is named earlier, he will probably be leaving around the first of the year.

Aston is a member of the CISD Board of Trustees, a past-president of Colorado City Lions Club and Chamber of Commerce, a businessman and has been active in community affairs during his stay here. He said his family would probably be moving by December 1.

Mitchell County has been Aston's first and only assignment with the department. Aston said "I have appreciated the local landowners and others I've worked with. Your support and cooperation has made my job here more effective. It is with regret that I am leaving here."

For The Record...

by M. Gene Dow, GM

FROM THE SCRIPTURES—"Happy is the man who is always reverent, But he who hardens his heart will fall into calamity." Proverbs 28:14

Local resident Buck Buchanan rode his bicycle up to The Record office recently for a visit with me. He said he was tired of seeing so many unsmiling faces about town. He had a young stepdaughter, Maria Rico, who served in the U. S. Marines some time ago. Among the souvenirs of her training, which included personality development, was the following article on "The Value of a Smile":

It costs nothing, but creates much. It enriches those who receive without impoverishing those who give.

It happens in a flash, and the memory of it sometimes lasts forever.

None are so rich they can get along without it, and none so poor but are richer for its benefits.

It creates happiness in the home, fosters goodwill in a business, and is the countersign of friends.

It is rest to the weary, daylight to the discouraged, sunshine to the sad, and nature's best antidote for trouble.

Yet it cannot be bought, begged, borrowed, or stolen, for it is something that is no earthly good to anyone until it is given away.

And if in the course of the day some of your friends should be too tired to give you a smile, why don't you give them one of yours?

For nobody needs a smile so much as those who have none left to give!

SMILE!

THE LONE WOLF SAYS, "A smile is a gently curved line that has a way of setting things straight."

Mary Womack clipped the following out of the Texas Retired Teachers Association Bulletin, which is appropriate for the times:

"How many in your family?" the poll taker asked. "Me, the old man, the kid, the cow, and the cat," a harried housewife replied.

"And the politics of your family?" was the next question.

"Mixed," was the answer, "I'm Republican, the old man's a Democrat, the kid's wet, the cow's dry and the cat's on the fence."

DID YOU KNOW? The first book ever written about Texas was "La Relacion & Comentarios" by Cabeza de Vaca, published in 1565. The book, now in the Barker History Center at The University of Texas, Austin, was an account of the explorer's shipwreck near Galveston Island in 1527 and his trek across Texas on foot after that disaster.

The only other business of the Board was to approve some accounts payable bills and make amendments to the current budget, without any overall increase.

Four get probated prison sentences

Four probated prison sentences were handed down in 32nd District Court here last Friday, including one involving cattle theft and another for aggravated assault on a police officer.

Charles Deweyne Davis, of Sterling City, entered a plea of guilty to a lesser charge of theft over $750, in connection with a cattle theft investigation in Mitchell County.

Davis was indicted Feb. 19 in connection with a cattle theft from a Mitchell County ranch on Jan. 14, and indicted again March 18 for incidents on Oct. 30, 1987, and Jan. 16.

Davis was fined $1,500, ordered to pay restitution in the amount of $13,092.27 to Deweyne Farmer of Veribest; $200 to Tommy Scott; and $10,538.90 to Doug Miller and Security State Bank of Pecos. Judge Weldon Kirk imposed a sentence of 8 years in TDC, which was probated 8 years.

Samuel Willis, 25, received a ten year probated sentence in TDC after pleading guilty to a charge of aggravated assault on a peace officer. Willis was indicted after a June 19 incident when he resisted arrest by City Police Sgt. Tim Atkins. Willis was holding a small 10-month-old child in his arms when the scuffle occurred at the Police Station.

Willis was fined $2,000 plus court costs and $350 attorney fee, and restitution in the amount of $632.87 for damages at the Police Station.

Two other probated sentences were given after pleas of guilty in cases of unauthorized use of motor vehicle. Reynaldo Garcia, Jr. was given a three year probated sentence in TDC, fined $750 plus court costs and appointed attorney fee and ordered to pay $2,000 restitution to Floyd Giles of Odessa. The second man, Israel Davila received a 4 year probated sentence, fined $750 plus costs and attorney, and $2,500 restitution to George Hardegree.

Jail terms and fines for several other criminal cases handled last Friday were also given and are listed in the Public Records elsewhere in this issue.

Buy domestic, women urged

Rosemary Bowers of Seminole, wife a cotton farmer, told the Mitchell County Extension Homemakers Thursday that the family farm is being threatened because of imported textiles and apparel.

Mrs. Bowers is president of the Grown and Made in the U.S.A. campaign, sponsored by the National Cotton Council. She spoke a noon luncheon meeting of the homemakers in the fellowship hall of the First United Methodist Church.

She said that escalating imports of foreign-made textiles and apparel pose one of the most serious threats in recent years to U.S. farmers, ginners and other cotton industry members. Jobs are being lost, and U.S. textile and apparel firms are being forced out of business, resulting in a sharply reduced demand for U.S. cotton.

On the bright side, Mrs. Bowers said that "cotton is on the roll". The demand for cotton is up and presents "a golden opportunity for American farmers to fill that need."

However, she said if the present trend continues, by the year 2,000, there will be more cotton imported than domestic.

"It is time that something is done," she said. "We as wives, mothers and grandmothers need to do something to turn things around."

She said consumers need to be persuaded to ask for American cotton and retailers should be convinced to give consumers a choice of either domestic or imported products.

She said that since 1980, textile and apparel imports have doubled and that 1,000 textile and apparel plants have closed in the United States, resulting in a loss of some 300,000 jobs.

"Imports have hurt so many of us," she said, noting that in 1986, six million bales of cotton were imported to the United States.

For every five bales of cotton shipped into the United States in the form of textile and apparel imports, only one bale is U.S. grown, she said.

In 1984, cotton textile imports increased over 28 percent, reducing the price of U.S. cotton by an estimated 12 cents a pound in the 1984-85 crop year. Combined with lost markets, this resulted in more than a billion dollar loss for U.S. producers in a single year, she noted.

"The secret to the solution is in your hands when you go to shop," she said, urging the women to look for labels that show the textile and apparel items are made in the U.S. of U.S.-grown cotton and asking retailers to stock, promote and identify them.

What always has been of my favorite holidays seems to be turning into a least favorite for others.

As a youngster, I always looked forward to Halloween because it was the one time of the year my friends and I were able to get dressed in costumes - anything from monsters to storybook characters. Although I wasn't one much to dress in costumes, I did enjoy trick-or-treating and the Halloween carnival at school.

Halloween is always observed on Oct. 31. Its name means hallowed or holy evening because it takes place the day before All Saint's Day. As a youngster growing up in Silver, I always looked forward to the school Halloween carnival and going trick or treating in the oil field camps and ranch houses.

My favorite part of the carnival was the "spook" house where an adult would lead us "frightened" kids through a maze of horror which usually included having our hands stuck in a bowl of jello so we could "feel" the brains of some poor departed soul or in a bowl of spaghetti so we could experience the "blood and guts" of the same poor departed soul.

I never knew of many tricks being played during trick or treating because just about every house we went to had plenty of treats for us.

One of my favorite stops during trick or treating was the Jameson house in Silver. Wyone Jameson, who now lives in Colorado City, would sometimes have freshly-made popcorn balls. I can still taste them.

Now, things are different. People don't want their children to go trick or treating because they're afraid their children might be poisoned. What's sad is that people should be afraid of their children getting poisoned, or even kidnapped for that matter, while trick or treating.

Halloween carnivals are getting a bad name, too, because of the satanic element some people have now associated with Halloween. I can only guess that's why Kelley Elementary won't be having a Halloween carnival this year. Instead, the mothers are going to have a fall festival later in the year.

Several churches will have fall festival-type events on Halloween night so at least some kids will have a place to go for fun and games.

Call me an uneducated idiot if you want to, but I think Halloween has gotten a bad rap. I just hope the same thing doesn't happen to Santa Claus.

Great reunion

TO THE EDITOR:

It's hard to say "thank you" to so many people for so much thought, care, planning and work. Everyone seemed to enjoy it so much!

What could be more fun than to be able to reminisce and laugh with old classmates and friends of 41 years? I had forgotten how much I cared about my classmates.

We were fortunate to grow up in a small town, where the teachers cared about the students and the students cared about each other! It brought back so many memories.

My heartfelt thanks to everyone who worked on the reunion. It was fabulous. The decorations were just great—red and black and a special mirrored ball over the dance floor.

Thanks so much.

Be sure!

TO THE EDITOR:

I am writing this in response to Pearl Watson's letter of the 16th.

While I am not now, nor have I ever been a member of the ACLU, I think something should be said in their behalf.

Firstly, the quote from Jefferson was just one of his many quotes on government. Jefferson's most famous quote on the subject was "The government that governs best, governs least." Is this not the purpose of the ACLU? To take some of the decision-making power out of the hands of the government and place it back in the hands of the people.

With our system of checks and balances, our right to vote, and our freedom to speak out against what we deem as unfair or wrong. I think we're in no danger of the Supreme Court welding too much power.

What really bothers me is people who say in a derogatory way, that Mike Dukakis or another other American is a "card-carrying" anything.

This is, to me, a safe form of prejudice. People, who wouldn't dare say the words "nigger" or "wet back" in public, feel that it's perfectly all right to wrap themselves in the flag, climb on their little soapboxes, and question the patriotism of another American by saying he's a "card-carrying" member of whatever.

I would, now, like to take some of the ACLU policies found so offensive and play "Devil's Advocate" for a moment.

1. Pornographic Books and Movies—Who is to decide what is obscene and/or pornographic? If you asked five different people what they believe to be obscene, you will be met with five different answers. While I find nothing obscene in photos of nude women, I find all of the horror/slasher movies (Halloween, Friday the 13th) most obscene, and there are mothers and fathers that will expose their children to the latter while protesting nudity.

2. Right for Homosexuals—While not one myself, I believe, foremost, that despite their sexual leaning, these people are Americans, and as such entitled to the same rights and privileges as anyone else. What two consenting adults do in the privacy of their bedrooms is no one else's concern.

3. Abortion—Women who do not wish to carry a child to full term will find a way to abort this child, legally or otherwise. I would rather see safe, legalized abortion clinics than see women have to resort to the dangerous unsafe ways they had before legalized abortions.

4. Drug Testing and Drug Usage—I feel that being forced to urinate in a cup in front of witnesses, just to save my job, is demeaning to me as a person. And where will it stop? Will I have to take a test to get a job? To quit a job? To get a Raise? Will the drug urine test be given along with a breath test when the police stop your car? Will I have to fill a Sometime up the road - after all the noise has faded - the head shrinkers will begin to assess the eighties in America.

What they'll decide, I think, is that we endured a decade of denial. A decade when liberals passed themselves off as conservatives.

The sixties and seventies were too traumatic, they'll say. They saw the reflection of themselves on the six-o'clock news and it frightened them.

By the time the eighties got here, it was just easier to deny what they were becoming than to try to fix it.

They will conclude that we were, right down to the core, a liberal society. Never mind the rhetoric and hysterical denials to the contrary.

We were the first decaders in the history of the country to accept being a debtor nation. No honest conservative would run up the national debt a trillion dollars. But we did. If a politician tried to make cuts, the so-called conservatives who were electing everybody, would cut him. If he didn't make them, the people of the eighties would shout, "Congress has no guts."

They'll note, when our presidential candidates said they were pro-family, pro-life, pro-flag and anti-taxes, that we put 'em in office, often by landslide votes. By doing that, the analysts will say, we were able to put up a conservative front.

But since when do conservatives not pay their bills? Since when do they outspend the liberals?

Even as we elected candidates who were against pro-choice on abortion, it's not likely to escape the shrinks attention that we continued to have abortions in record numbers.

They'll see that we elected men who said they were pro-prayer - especially in the classroom. But they'll also note that more than half of us never went to church. That millions who did, had their faith burned by evangelists who couldn't keep their pants pulled up.

When they look at the eighties, they'll notice that not one candidate ever made a serious attempt to get prayer back in the schools. They'll notice it was a once-every-four-years-issue that died by the middle of November.

Taxes: Somehow the idea caught on that if you never raise taxes, the economy will straighten itself out. It didn't. The people of the eighties, simply passed it off to the people of the ninties, and to the youngsters of the 21st century. A true conservative couldn't have gone to his grave knowing he'd done that.

The people in the eighties could have cut government entitlement programs and saved a bunch, they'll discover. But they didn't want to.

The shrinks will say they wanted a strong national defense, so they charged one. They wanted comfortable retirements, medical care, and college educations, too, so they put that on their tab as well.

The thing that really ticked them off, though, was that the weak-kneed, spineless congress kept giving them what they wanted.

You couldn't even trust a senator or congressman to lie to you in the eighties.

What really floored the people of the eighties, they'll say, was looking at Daniel Quayle - a product of special privilege, who stood before them and sowed them just exactly what kind of people Americans were starting to become. The reason Quayle was so poorly received as George Bush's vice-presidential candidate, they'll conclude, is that he was too much like everybody else, though of course, everybody else denied it.

Let somebody else fight the wars. Let somebody else pay the bills. Force kids to pray, or pledge, even if we don't.

Somewhere along the way, Americans will have to acknowledge themselves - as they have in the past. The bills will have to be paid. And religion and patriotism will have to be inspired, not coerced. Single mothers and their infants, will have to be pulled out of poverty, lest the society rots from the inside out.

In a nutshell, somebody, sometime, will have to take a healthy dose of liberal responsibility to overcome the denials of the distorted and irresponsible closet liberals of the eighties.

As for usage. You can't legislate a bad habit out of existence. If you could the Prohibition Act of the 1920's would have been a smashing success. Education, not legislation, changes habits.

Frosh overrun Wylie 50-0

The Colorado High School freshman football team, winless in the first two games, won for the fifth consecutive time by pulverizing the Wylie Bulldogs 50-0 at Wolf Stadium Thursday.

The Wolves, 5-2, exploded for seven big touchdowns with the shortest score covering 30 yards.

Kevin Green returned Wylie's first punt 67 yards for the Wolves' first score with 5:00 left in the opening quarter. Quarterback Greg Parker pitched left to Green on the extra points attempt to make it 8-0.

A fumble recovery by Robert Sadler on the next play from scrimmage gave the ball back to Colorado City but the Wolves punted away on their first drive.

The Wolves began their second drive at the start of the second period on their own 49 yard line. On first down Green ran around left end for a 51 yard score that made it 14-0 with 7:44 left in the first half.

Wylie then reached the CHS 11 yard line but tackles by Rudy Melendez and Sadler gave possession back to the Wolves.

It took the Wolves two plays to score again. After Cade Proctor broke for a 7 yard gain Green took a pitch from Parker and raced down the left sideline for a 79 yard touchdown to make it 20-0 with 1:11 left in the half.

The last two Wylie plays of the first half resulted in interceptions by Wolves Parker and Green. Green returned his interception for a 50 yard touchdown as the half ended but a clipping penalty gave the Wolves possession at the Wylie 32.

With :00 showing on the clock Parker passed deep left and Marcus Monroe made a leaping catch at the 3 yard line then stepped into the endzone. Green ran around right end for the points after for a 28-0 Wolves halftime lead.

The second half was more of the same. On the first play from scrimmage in the third quarter Proctor busted through the middle then cut down the left sideline for a 67 yard score to make it 34-0 with 6:43 showing on the clock.

5, 4 and 9 yard runs by Proctor set the Wolves up for another score. After Monroe ran for 4 and 5 yard gains Michael Diaz zig-zagged up the middle for a 35 yard touchdown run. Monroe ran for the extra points to make it 42-

0 with 4:40 left in the game.

An interception by Diaz led to the Wolves last score. Diaz returned his interception to the CHS 46. A 5 yard run by Monroe and a 19 yard run by Diaz made it first and 10 at the Wylie 30. Monroe then ran up the middle, cut left and scored with :49 left in the game. Diaz made a dive for the extra points and a final 50-0 count.

Wylie reached the Wolves' 19 on the last play of the game but a tackle by Melendez preserved the shutout.

Rushing yards for the Wolves were Monroe 141, Proctor 97, Diaz 54 and Monroe 44. Diaz, Proctor, Green, Sadler, Melendez and Oliver Sosa led defensively.

Middle School gridders split games with Wylie

Colorado Middle School football teams split a pair of games at Abilene Wylie Thursday. The Wolves took a 14-8 win in the seventh grade game and lost 22-6 in the eighth grade contest.

Seventh Richard Gomez rushed for 212 yards and scored from 80 yards out on the first play of the game.

Wylie scored for an 8-6 lead. Gomez ran 50 yards in the last minute of the ballgame to give the Wolves a first and goal at the Wylie 1 but the Wolves fumbled on a quarterback sneak.

Wylie in turn fumbled and Corey Beavers recovered the ball in the endzone for a Wolves touchdown.

Zach Findley added 40 yards rushing for the Wolves. Laston Stephens also made a fumble recovery.

The Wolves improved to 4-2 with the win while the eighth graders lost for the first time for a 4-1-1 record.

Defense saves 21-10 win over Wylie

Russell returns interception 100 yards to preserve victory

ABILENE—"I'm so happy," said Wolves Coach Tom Ramsey.

Ramsey, the Colorado Wolves and Wolf fans shared the feeling here Friday night after an electrifying interception return by Mark Russell sealed a 21-10 victory for the Wolves over the Abilene Wylie Bulldogs.

The Wolves improved to 3-0 with the win and jumped into the District 7-3A driver's seat. Colorado City stands at 7-1 for the year while Wylie dropped to 4-3-1 and 2-1 in district play.

Colorado City missed a field goal late in the first half and went into the locker room trailing 10-7. A tough Wolf defense lead by Raymond Sutton, kept Wylie out of the endzone in the second half.

"It was a classic matchup," said Ramsey. "It was their passing game against our defense."

Russell's interception capped the second half defensive effort. The Wolves offense dominated the first half, but little things like penalties and interceptions kept them out of the endzone.

The entire game was one of big plays.

The Wolves got the first break when linebacker Jerry Hulme recovered a fumble by Wylie's Mike Chapman. It ended Wylie's second drive at the Bulldog 40 yard line.

After losing five yards on a sack, quarterback Chris Perkin scrambled right and then threw deep left to Pat Tillis for a 44-yard gain to the Wylie 4-yard line. Two plays later Tillis ran right, peaked inside and then raced wide for a touchdown on the first play of the second quarter. Dane Hoover kicked the point-after with 11:54 remaining in the first half.

Wylie answered with a 58-yard, 10-play score. A quick 26-yard pass from David Blackburn to Kevin Schulle put the Bulldogs at the Colorado City 15, but Wylie settled for a 27-yard field goal by Chapman. It made it 7-3 for the Wolves with 8:11 left in the first half.

Back-to-back illegal procedure calls backed Colorado City into a first and 20 at its own 11. Perkin overthrew a pass over the middle and Wylie's Derick Price returned it 20 yards for a Bulldog touchdown. That made it 10-7 for Wylie with 7:51 left in the first half. Chapman kicked the PAT.

Wylie's Eddie Parker intercepted Perkin at the Bulldog 9-yard line to stop the Wolves next drive, but three plays later a fumble recovery by Russell gave the ball back to Colorado City.

The Wolves got to the Wylie 6-yard line but an illegal forward pass from Perkin to Tillis nullified a touchdown and put the Wolves out of reach. Hoover missed wide left on a 27-yard field goal with :03 left in the first half. Colorado City trailed at halftime despite a 161-88 yard advantage.

Pat Ridge got Colorado City off to a good start in the second half by intercepting a pass tipped by Wylie's Ken Blackburn.

MARK RUSSELL
...100-yard interception

Two plays later Perkin threw deep left and connected with a streaking Russell for an 86-yard score with 6:34 left in the third quarter. Hoover kicked the PAT to put Colorado City up 14-10.

Hulme made another fumble recovery on the next Wylie drive, but the Wolves fumbled it right back at the Wylie 42.

The fourth quarter saw the Colorado City defense withstand every Wylie threat with big help from tackles and sacks by Sutton.

Cornerback George Rivera broke up a pass in the endzone from Blackburn to Richard Richardson with 7:19 left in the game.

Wylie started a drive at the Colorado 37 for the second consecutive time.

RAYMOND SUTTON
...defensive standout

Russell saved a sure Wylie touchdown by tackling Chapman at the 22. Chapman broke for 14 yards on a draw for a first down at the Colorado City 11 after Sutton had dropped him for a three yard loss.

That gave Wylie four more tries to score with time running out. Blackburn threw to the left side of the endzone on fourth and 9 at the 10, but Russell intercepted and outran Blackburn for a 100-yard touchdown return with 1:10 left in the game.

Sutton made two more sacks to finish off the Bulldogs. "The defensive coaches and players did an excellent job," said Ramsey. "It was exciting, just a great game. The kids showed a lot of character at halftime. The touchdown we got called back just before halftime, keyed us up. We were ready to go back and didn't change a thing."

Rees ran for 111 yards. Blackburn ran for 99 for Wylie. Colorado City had 12 first down, 161 rushing yards, 146 passing yards, punted 4 times for an average of 32.5, lost 1 of 1 fumble, completed 3 of 11 passes with 2 interceptions, and was penalized 8 times for 45 yards.

Wylie made 11 first downs, 148 yards rushing, 76 yards passing, punted twice for an average of 37.5, lost 3 of 4 fumbles, completed 5 of 15 passes with two interceptions and was penalized 3 times for 30 yards.

JV rallies to beat Wylie 38-20

The Wylie Bulldogs crossed midfield only once in second half action here at Wolf Stadium Thursday, as the Colorado High School junior varsity football team overcame a 20-12 halftime deficit to win 38-20.

The win was the sixth in a row for the 6-1 Wolves.

CHS opened the scoring with a 66 yard, 11 play drive on its first possession. Bobby Silva and Mike Boatwright got all the yards on rushing attempts. Included were 12 and 8 yard runs by Silva and a 14 yard gain by Boatwright. Silva got the score on a pitch from Jeremy Strain around left end with 5:55 left in the first period. The extra points pass was overthrown.

Wylie stormed right back to score on a 57 yard, 4 play drive. A tackle by Strain saved a Wylie touchdown at the Wolves' 12 yard line but the Bulldogs used a pass to score on the next play. A pass on the extra points attempt made it 8-6 for Wylie with 5:15 left in the first quarter.

Strain fumbled Colorado City's next possession but an interception by Rene Rivera gave the Wolves the ball at their own 37. Three plays later Scott Galey passed to Tracy Molina in the left corner of the endzone for a 35 yard touchdown and a 12-8 Wolves lead with :51 left in the first quarter.

Again Wylie came right back. The Bulldogs scored three plays later-throwing to a running back for a 68 yard score and a 14-12 lead with 9:46 left in the first half.

A quarterback sack by Wendell Iglehart caused a fumbled recovered by Colorado City's Jason Lawson for the Wolves' last possession of the first half.

Wylie stopped the Wolves then went 80 yards in 10 plays for a 20-12 halftime lead. The Bulldogs almost scored on the first play-gaining 21 yards on a pass-but a tackle by Rivera saved the Wolves.

25 and 20 yard passes set the Bulldogs up for a 1 yard touchdown run with 1:00 left in the first half.

The second half was all CHS. The Wolves marched 80 yards on a 10 play, third quarter drive and never trailed again. Silva ran for most of the 80 yards-including two 11 yard gains. The Wolves scored on a 33 yard touchdown pass from Galey to Molina. A Strain pass to Rivera for the extra points made it 20-20 with 3:10 left in the third quarter. A fumble recovery by Rivera ended the next Wylie drive and led to a Wolves score. A 23 yard reception by Iglehart made it first and 10 at the Wylie 48. A 32 yard halfback pass from Molina to Rivera carried to the Wylie 15. An 8 yard run by Silva made it first and goal at the 4 and Silva scored on the next play to make it 26-20 for the Wolves with 8:18 left in the game.

Galey intercepted for the Wolves and returned the theft 25 yards for a 32-20 score with 2:55 left in the game. Rivera intercepted Wylie again on the very next play.

It led to a 1 yard score by Boatwright with :05 left in the game. The score followed a 35 yard halfback pass from Molina to Rivera.

Rivera, Silva, Iglehart and Boatwright were among the defensive leaders. Silva gained 143 yards on 27 rushes. Boatwright added 42 yards on 13 carries.

There seems to be some confusion about the write in procedure. Democrats can check the square for a straight democratic ticket at the top of the ballot and write in Roy Beach on the bottom line and the vote will count for Roy Beach. Republicans can check the square at the top of the ballot for a straight republican ticket and write in Roy Beach on the bottom line and the vote will count for Roy Beach in the local commissioners race. The main point is write in Roy Beach on the bottom line in the Precinct 3 commissioner's race.

Patel earns state honors

Colorado High School senior Bhavesh Patel has already garnered two state-wide honors this year.

Patel won third place in a recent speech tournament in Midland to earn him a spot in state competition in March.

In addition, as state parliamentarian for the Future Teachers of America, he submitted the motto the state organization is using this year. The motto is "The Eyes of Today With a Vision of Tomorrow".

Patel said the FTA chooses a theme each year when the state officers meet. When the officers met in Fort Worth, his suggestion was chosen as the 1988-89 theme.

The recent Midland speech meet was sponsored by the Texas Forensic Association which is composed of speech, debate and drama teachers across the state. Membership is limited primarily to 5-A schools and Patel was the only student from a non 5-A school to advance to the state finals.

Patel was competing in domestic extemporaneous speaking.

Carl Moore, CHS speech and drama coach, said Patel is the first from CHS to ever qualify for state in speech. Moore said he hopes to have more students qualify as the speech team participates in more tournaments throughout the year.

Christ taught that all who believe in Him as their Creator and Redeemer, and in His teaching that He came into the world to reveal God unto man, and reconcile man unto God, and accept Him as their substitutionary sacrifice, have the beginning of eternal life in the their hearts the moment they begin to believe; they have already passed from the state of eternal separation from God to eternal life with Him, and will not be required to stand with the unbeliever and the wicked in the final judgment at the end of the age.

God's law and justice were satisfied at the Cross of Calvary, and justification has been eternally secured for the believer in every generation, as long as the Church Age continues.

"There is, therefore, now no condemnation to them who are in Christ Jesus..." (Romans 8:1)

Organizational meeting set for computer user group here

Local citizens will have another opportunity to form a computer user group Tuesday evening, Oct. 25, at 7:30 p.m. at the Lone Wolf Electric Medallion Room.

Anyone who owns, operates or who is interested in the personal computer is strongly urged to attend the meeting.

A computer user group is a member-run association of individuals who have or use microcomputers and gather once a month to share their knowledge and experience. The user group is able to draw on the support of the large computer hardware and software companies to provide information and assistance. Also, the user group is able to attract computer professionals to speak and instruct at the meetings.

Mark Stingley, a consultant, programmer and owner of Morgan Creek Computing, is interested in forming such a group. Two prior meetings have been held, but too few people attended to be able to satisfy the criteria for forming such a club, he said.

"It will be a sad day for the local area if apathy causes folks to miss out on this opportunity," he said. "Computer user groups are vital to the communities that they serve, since they help the individual gain knowledge about computers and avoid costly mistakes."
