Details Of Killing Revealed In Signed Statement Made At San Antonio; Man Breaks Down And Confesses

Bloody Trail Shows Body Was Dragged From Highway Into Field; Car Crank Smeared With Blood And Hair

(By The Associated Press)

GONZALES, Aug. 18. — A crowd which had gathered in corridors of the jail here was ejected late today and the jail doors were locked as officers returned here from San Antonio with Frank Wick, 27, army deserter who broke down under questioning and told how Mrs. Clara Ploeger, wealthy Yoakum widow, was beaten to death early today on a lonely country road.

Details of the killing were revealed in a signed statement Wick made at San Antonio and signed in the presence of W. W. Ellison, Gonzales county attorney; Denver Perkins, county attorney-elect; and Sam Tate, Gonzales county chief deputy sheriff.

Beaten To Death

The statement told how Mrs. Ploeger was beaten to death with an automobile crank after she and Wick had been riding around and drinking together for several hours. Wick, deserter from Randolph field, army flying post at San Antonio, refused to discuss the case with newsmen after he was returned here.

Officers said tonight they believed they had discovered the scene of the actual killing, with the finding of locks of blood-soaked grey hair and a piece of a metal automobile crank on a road a mile and a half north of Yoakum. They also said that a filling station operator at Hochheim, 12 miles south of Gonzales, told them he was awakened at 2 a. m. today by a man who traded him a diamond ring for some gasoline.

Bundle In Car

The filling station operator told them, officers said, that the man was alone but that he noticed a large bundle in the rumble seat of the car and saw something dripping from the rear of the machine. Further inspection showed blood on the ground near the filling station, late

Fiend Kills Girl After An Assault

Fifth Murder To Involve Girls Or Women Startles San Diego; Victim Was Choked

(By The Associated Press)

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 18. — A fiendish murder, the fifth in recent years involving young girls or women, startled San Diego today with the finding of the body of attractive Celia Cota, 16, in the backyard of her home.

An autopsy this afternoon disclosed that the girl was criminally attacked and choked to death. Several gray hairs, found clutched in her hands, proved to be from rabbits, kept near where the body was found. Police had hoped the hairs would prove a clue to the slayer.

Finding of the body ended a frantic night's search for the girl, daughter of Edward Cota, customs broker. She told her parents she was going for a few minutes' walk about 8 o'clock last night. A younger sister, Esther, remained behind, explaining she was too tired to go.

At midnight, she had not returned and police were notified.

Through the long hours before dawn they searched for Celia. Not a vacant lot was overlooked. Then after daylight, about 6:40 a. m. they found her where they probably never expected to look—in the back-

Safe Robbers Loot Village

Watchman Trussed Up As Bandits Stage Raids On Business Firms; Explosives Are Used By Gang

(By The Associated Press)

MOUNT CALM, Tex., Aug. 18.—A gang of safe robbers waylaid Night Watchman H. Lunday here early today and then took more than $420 in a perfectly-executed raid on six business houses.

Four men, armed with pistols, attacked the night watchman as he was making his rounds at 2 a. m. Hastily tying him hand and foot and binding his mouth and eyes with adhesive tape, they dumped him behind a building. They then proceeded systematically to loot business concerns.

Using Explosives

Using explosives, they blasted open the safe in McKinney Brothers' drug store and took $300. They battered open the safe in the City Market and got between $50 and $75 more.

In the cash till at Cantrell and Saunders grocery store they found $30 and at Jim Miller's dry goods store they smashed the safe door and stole $40.

Safes also were broken open in the V. T. McIntyre store and Frank Davis' hamburger stand but no money was in either strong box.

Hears Groaning

At 3:30 a. m. a negro barbecue stand proprietor heard groaning behind a building and, when he went to investigate, found the night watchman trussed up. The robbers had not injured Lunday.

Hill county officers investigating the raid expressed the opinion the gang came here from some large city.

Youth Is Caught At Slaton; To Face Murder Charge

ELMER Vancleve, about 23, suspect in the murder of an Eastland county ranchman Wednesday, was arrested Saturday afternoon at Slaton.

Three Cisco and Eastland county officers took Vancleve into custody here last night. They told Deputy Sheriff Parum Posey they had a warrant for the arrest of Vancleve on a murder charge.

Found In Pasture

L. F. Threet was found fatally wounded Wednesday in his pasture 9 miles west of Cisco. Miss Mary Lou Howell, who said bandits held up Threet and shot him, was charged with murder.

Miss Howell, in a signed statement, said the 67-year-old victim was shot by two masked robbers shortly after she and Threet entered the pasture about 10 a. m. Wednesday. From the time he was shot until searching parties found him at 5 p. m. Wednesday, Threet lay in the sun. He died at Cisco Thursday.

Connection Not Clear

Vancleve's connection with the case was not made clear here. R. L. Wicker, Slaton peace officer, was instructed by Eastland county authorities arrest Vancleve. He made the arrest about 12:10 p. m. and brought Vancleve to Lubbock county jail.

Reported As Nervous

Wicker, Slaton police chief, said Vancleve seemed nervous. The suspect was arrested at the home of a brother. Without being questioned, Vancleve told Wicker he was in Slaton Wednesday. It was that day Threet was slain.

Chief of Police M. L. Perdue of Cisco telephoned Wicker to arrest Vancleve. After Wicker notified the Ciscoan of the arrest, he received a telegram in which the Eastland county officer instructed that Vancleve be held for "we want him bad."

The suspect, it was said, was reared in Eastland county.

Miss Howell, the Associated Press said, met Threet in a Cisco resort, and she told him she wanted to go

Tulsa Banks Are Closely Guarded

TULSA, Aug. 18. (AP)—Tulsa police manned machine guns at each of the four Tulsa banks for a time today after receiving a report that two carloads of bandits were en route from Texas to rob a bank here.

The lobbies of the banks resembled armories as the officers stood about with machine guns, rifles and pistols at the ready.

Police Chief Charles Carr declined to reveal the source of his tip and the bankers were reticent. The guard moved in about 7 a. m., however, on the belief that if an attempt were made to rob one of the banks it would come near the opening hour of 9.

When nothing developed by 10 most of the officers were withdrawn.

One Man Faced Sentences Totaling 254 Years; Defiant At Olton And Told Judge He Would Make Escape

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

DICKENS, Aug. 18. — Two desperadoes who escaped jail here this morning after menacing Mrs. Faye Arthur, daughter-in-law of the sheriff, with a knife still were at large tonight.

The fugitives were Clarence Brown and Virgil Stalcup, awaiting trial for robbing a bottling company's truck driver of about $100 near here three months ago.

Had Heavy Sentences

Stalcup, sentenced to 10 years imprisonment at Olton last week for burglary of Hewitt Motor company at Littlefield, had sentences totaling 254 years.

When sentenced at Olton he defiantly told Judge Chas. Clements he had no intention of serving the time, and that he would escape when he had the first chance.

Captured at Lawton, Okla., the men were brought here, then carried to Littlefield. They were returned here last Wednesday night. Brown also is under sentence in robbery cases. They were to be tried Monday.

Doors Are Unlocked

Sheriff W. B. (Bill) Arthur had been gone from the Dickens county jail only a few minutes this morning when the break occurred. In some manner, the two convicts unlocked three of the four jail doors between them and liberty.

Mrs. Arthur opened the other door to go to a supply room and the prisoners jumped into sight from behind a door. One of them threatened her with a long knife and ordered her to keep quiet.

Then the prisoners ran into the street and took an automobile owned by Frank Speer. They drove toward Lubbock. Sheriff Arthur im-

Minister Safe In Home After 4-Day Absence

Officers Insinuate That Askew Had Imagined That He Was Kidnaped; Might Have Suffered Breakdown

(By The Associated Press)

NASHVILLE, Aug. 18.—Questions insinuating that R. H. Askew, "Four-Square Gospel" evangelist from Goldsboro, N. C., had "imagined" he was kidnaped by three men at Raleigh and held captive for four days were asked him late today.

While insisting in reply to one question that he had been kidnaped, Askew agreed in response to another that he might have suffered a nervous breakdown.

Declines Comment

It was the opinion of Chief of Detectives Elkin Lewis that Askew has had a nervous breakdown. He declined, however, to comment on the story told by the 28-year-old minister.

W. A. Rorer, special agent of the department of justice in charge of the Nashville office, also withheld comment.

After Askew had been questioned throughout the day by Rorer, he was taken to detective headquarters.

Just Imagination

"Don't you think this whole thing is just imagination on your part?" Chief Lewis asked.

"No, sir."

"You still maintain that all these things you say happened actually happened?"

"It's all so strange to me."

"Don't you feel that you have had a little nervous breakdown and don't know what happened?"

"Yes."

"You don't know for sure just what happened?"

"I don't know all of it."

Knows No Reason

Asked why anyone would kidnap him when he admittedly had no money, he replied:

"I don't know. I'm just as poor as I can be."

He related that he was en route from Goldsboro to Smithfield Thursday in his car when he was stopped at a crossroads by a man who asked to be driven to Raleigh so that he could visit a sick child in

Jack Reed Urges Taking Relief Administration From Present Commission

Solons Urged To Back Plan

Resignation Of Official Remains Unaccepted; Collusion On Part Of Members Charged In July Meeting

(Special To Avalanche-Journal)

AUSTIN, Aug. 18.—Jack F. Reed, whose resignation from the State Relief commission remains unaccepted and who is working in the Hunter-for-governor headquarters, recently has urged legislators to take the relief administration out of hands of the present commission, it was divulged here Saturday.

Reed, July 9, wrote Speaker Coke Stevenson, who appointed him, that "I take this opportunity to urge you as representative of my district to strongly support any legislation having as its purpose displacement of the personnel now constituting the relief commission and setting up in its stead somebody willing to administer these funds for the sole sacred purpose for which the people voted them."

Records Are Cited

Records of the Texas Relief commission show that Reed was nominated one of a committee of three to urge upon federal relief administrator Harry L. Hopkins execution of the original $8,900,000 drouth relief grant for the Texas Panhandle but that on motion of M. N. Chrestman, Dallas, Mr. Reed was replaced because he had taken the stand the state should match the drouth relief funds out of its bond issue on Chrestman's motion.

Member Earle P. Adams was substituted for Reed and this committee, meeting director Hopkins in Kansas City, won an agreement that the federal government would bear the whole drouth work relief cost and spend $400,000 a month, assuming the whole work cost in Texas drouth areas as in all other drouth counties.

Collusion Is Charged

Mr. Adams, though from East Texas, has worked consistently to get the federal government to carry through drouth relief in the Panhandle section and in West Texas counties later added the the drouth area.

Mr. Reed, in his letter urging the legislature to remove the present relief commission, told Speaker Stevenson the majority group had entered int oa collusion" to prevent the appearance of a quoruf at the July meeting.

Mr. Reed was assistant director of state relief until Adam R. Johnson was elected successor to Lawrence Westbrook, then resigned and was appointed by Speaker Stevenson a member of the commission. He was made a member of an investigation committee of the commission, and was maker of a motion that attempted to oust Johnson, with the vote of Col. Julius Dorenfield, Amarillo, whose appointment the courts held illegal. While Johnson was out, awaiting the court action, Reed, in his investigating work, occupied an office in the state relief headquarters for several weeks.

Examination For Post Is Staged

The first examination ever held in Texas for the post of state inspector, under the new hatchery code, was held here Saturday following a two-day school conducted by Dr. D. H. Reid, poultry husbandman at Texas A. and M. and head of the poultry department there. He was assisted by Ray C. Mowery head of the poultry work at Texas Tech and C. Luker, vocational agriculture instructor at Tech.

"We had 35 hatchery men from Texas and two from New Mexico taking the examination," Dr. Reid said. "They were examined in the government code for the industry."

It was explained the hatcherymen were to qualify before the Texas Baby Chick association board of directors. They were qualified in three grades of work; 1—U. S. approved; 2—U. S. Certified; 3—U. S. record of production.

Ray Mowery said that most flocks in Texas could quafily under the first grade this year and a few under the second grade. The third grade qualification will take time, he added.

The following took the examination: Otes Wheat, Belton; F. D. Allen, Temple; W. E. Fredemak, Belton; H. S. Stevenson, Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Akers, Lubbock; Frank Lehman, Littlefield; H. E. Lubbock Youth Describes Bicycle Trip Through North Wales In Letter; Old English Scenery Is Most Impressive

A bicycle tour of North Wales was made recently by Hubert L. Allensworth, a graduate of Texas Technological college, where he was an honor student.

In a letter to his mother, Mrs. J. C. Allensworth, 1631 Eighteenth street, and other members of his family, young Allensworth told of the historical richness and countryside beauty of North Wales.

He described the region as "quite hilly, almost mountainous." Mount Snowden, the highest point in the British isles, is there. Its elevation is 3,590 feet.

Witnesses "Superb" Scene

Soon after entering Wales, he was in a "superb" scene, he wrote.

"Trees are everywhere and blend in beautifully with the little mountain brooks and the terraced farm houses," said.

"The rural dwellings here are all stone and really fine homes. Most of the crops have been harvested and everyone seems content with a good year. Wheat, barley, corn and cattle raising constitute the chief industries."

Sees Fine Castles

Cycling from Liverpool to Chester, England, and then to Caernarvon, on the northeast coast of Wales, young Allensworth saw fine castles of another age and scenery he termed "beyond description."

Returning, he went over Llanberis pass to Llangollen, and from there on to Chester and Liverpool again.

The letter was written July 28 from Liverpool. The traveling Texan was to leave the next day for the English lake district and intended to go from there to Edinburg, Scotland.

Sees Old Cathedral

At Chester, young Allensworth saw a cathedral, which although 850 years old was in an "amazingly excellent state of preservation." Roman walls, built in 61 A. D., completely surround the city.

"Also there is an old Norman tower," he wrote, "from which Charles I saw his army defeated and routed at Rawthon moor in 1643. It was principally due to the loss of that battle that he lost his head and that we came to America."

At Caernarvon is the castle in which the first Prince of Wales, who became Edward I, was born.

Caernarvon is the home constituency of David Lloyd George, former prime minister.

Railroad Taxes Shown In Report

Franchise and intangible valuations for two railroads operating in Lubbock county have been received by W. H. Meador county tax assessor from the state tax board. The figures came from the office of the state comptroller at Austin.

Pecos and North Texas railroad property in the county has an asserted valuation of $169,240, Mr. Meador said, fhile the Fort Worth and Denver South Plains railroad property is valued $141,250.

These figures represent franchise and intangible valuations and not property valuations. The South Plains and Santa Fe railroad does not handle its renditions of intangibles through the state tax board but direct, the assessor added. The P. and N. T. and the S. P. and S. F. are sursidiaries of the Santa Fe system and the F. W. D. C. and S. P. is a subsidiary of the Fort Worth and Denver, a part of the Burlington system.

Former Crosby Sheriff Owns Bronc Nemesis Of "Busters"

By Staff Correspondent

CROSBYTON, Aug. 18—Elmer Reed, former Crosby county sheriff is out after the "goats" of the boys who think they can ride a bucking horse. So for he has been successful and he hopes to continue.

Elmer is now the sole owner of a big black wild-eyed horse that came from Wyoming and so far has not permitted any one to remain on his back, even a quarter of a minute.

"Five seconds is the limit so far," Elmer said. One boy from Hobbs stayed that long. None of the rest have done as well."

The black horse came to this section some months ago. He has been used in entertaining the crowds at the First Monday program staged by the Crosbyton Chamber of Commerce. No one has been able to ride him although 25 or more have tried to do so.

Pneumonia Vaccine Is Next On List Of Philadelphia Man Who Claims To Have Discovered Infantile Paralysis Aid

(By The Associated Press)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 18. — Pneumonia is next on the "public enemy" list of Dr. John A. Kolmer, the modest Philadelphia medical professor who claims discovery of the first preventative for infantile paralysis.

Even in the excitement of announcing development of his anti-paralysis vaccine late yesterday, the professor's future research plans and hopes were in the background of his thoughts.

To Work On Vaccine

Now that a way has been found to prevent the dread paralysis, he declared, there will be more time for his work on a vaccine to forestall pneumonia.

He already has developed a fluid, he disclosed, which has been used effectively in immunizing rabbits from the lung inflamtion, and the same vaccine has meet with "a large degree of success' in experiments in humans.

While carrying on the pneumonia work ,he said, he will attempt to supplement his infantile paralysis vaccine with a serum to "cure" that disease after infection sets in.

The 48-year-old professor who divides his time between Temple university and the Indepent Research institute where the vaccine was developed, risked his life to test his discovery before publicly claiming success yesterday.

Three doses of the vaccine at weekly intervals are considered sufficient by Doctor Kolmer for human immunization. Doses range from one half to three cubic centimeters of the vaccine, which is treated with sodium ricinoleate, a chemical substance from castor beans. The virus is not killed in the fluid, but changed enough to make it safe for humans.

The Gulf States Security Life Insurance Company is a progressive Texas institution, officered by men of insurance and financial experience. An outstanding record has been made by this Company for its insurance service in Texas.

The "Gulf States Security" operates only in Texas. Its assets are represented in Texas investments of more than two and one-quarter million dollars. Its funds are kept in Texas banks, and all money paid out is paid to Texans, keeping Texas money in Texas.

While it is optional with the life insurance companies of Texas the "Gulf States Security" elected to register its policies with the State Insurance Department. A company so electing must under the law, continue ever after. If a full realization was had of the value, security, and further safety provided through policy registration, every Texan would want a Texas registered life insurance policy. Such registration means that the reserve funds in security investments backing up the life insurance policy must not only be approved by the Commissioner of Insurance, but kept in the custody of the State. It means further that such securities cannot be touched by even the insurance company itself except on approval of and in the presence of the Commissioner of Insurance or his representative, AND THAT ISN'T ALL. Registration means that once deposited these securities cannot be altered or exchanged without the consent of the State through the Insurance Department. The registration of life insurance policies to this degree means the soundness of the State itself.

Judge Ponders Insull's Case

Decision Expected Monday On Whether Former Utilities Magnate Will Be Tried With Other Defendants In Case

(By The Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Aug. 18—Samuel Insull's plea for a separate trial in the mail fraud case against himself and 15 others has been under advisement by Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson.

The jurist said he would rule Monday.

Insull's plea to be tried by himself, and not with his many co-defendants, was opposed vigorously by U. S. District Attorney Dwight H. Green.

Health Won't Permit It

The power magnate's attorney argued that his client's health would not stand up under a long trial.

"To try all the defendants might take six months," Defense Counsel Floyd E. Thompson told Judge Wilkerson.

But Green remarked that Insull reported to spend much time at the World's fair, which he took as indicating that his health is improved.

"The government won't take longer than six weeks to present its case against all the defendants," Green declared.

Unless the judge rules in Insull's favor, the trial will open Sept. 17. Insull as not in court room at the hearing.

U. S. "Purchasing Money," $15,000 For Each Family, Goal Of Utopian Society

By L. B. DILLBECK

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 18. (AP) — Breeding ground of many unusual movements whose ballyhoo often has been heard around the world, the Los Angeles area now presents a new one which within a few months has claimed more than 300,000 dues-paying members.

Its name and aim are frankly utopian. Its announced purpose is to abolish poverty. At a buzzing, breezy, optimistic headquarters 125 persons are employed turning out pamphlets, bulletins and a news- and proclaiming how poverty, taxes, mortgages and debts can be abolished and a virually worriless world substituted.

The "Utopian Society of America" promises a utopia not unlike the dreams recorded by sociological visionaries picturing a world of brotherly love. But there is to be no revolution and most distinctly not a revolt involving violence or disregard of the constitution of the United States.

Violence Is Barred

"There is no remedy in violence," Johnathan F. Glendon, president of the society explains. "The Utopian society today is the greatest instrument in the hands of the American people for circumventing and preventing any attempt at an armed revolt, or any other destructive movement. It is not interested in any political candidate; has made no poltical endorsements and will not make any."

Every member must take the oath of allegiance to the United States flag and constitution and recruit two new members before becoming eligible to be a "full-fledged" member of the Utopian society, or make a report showing effort exerted on behalf of the organization. It costs $3 to join and the dues are 10 cents a month on the pay-if-you-have-it plan.

Would Force Spending

Having mushroomed throughout Southern California, its spread to other parts has begun, an executive of the organization said. Six thousand prospective utopians have been organized tentatively at Denver and a representative sent to complete the organization.

How universal security, even opulence, ould be attained for everybody is assertedly explained in a formal program,one of the chief provisions of which is that money would be eliminated as a circulating medium and "purchasing money" would be substituted. It would be distributed by the government yearly to all of the people.

This money would have to be spent. No hoarding would be permitted. It would be issued in sums whose total would equal the actual cost of each year's total production and delivery to the consumers of the country of all commodities needed. Unofficially the purchasing money that would be distributed is estimated at the equivalent of about $15,000 for each family in the country.

Hit Profit Motive

No constitutional amendment would be necessary to institute this new form of financial economy, say the officials of the society, since the constitution gives congress the power to coin and regulate the value of money.

Production would be for consumption only and the profit consideration" would be eliminated.

Crowds of more than 20,000 have heard Glendon, former actor and accomplished orator, expound the doctrines of the Utopian Society.

The genesis of the idea is generally credited to Eugene J. Reed, former college teacher of economics, a be-spectacled man of intellectual, semi-ascetic type who is chairman of the board of directors. Reed, Glendon and three others are the incorporators.

ONE DORMITORY FILLED

AUSTIN, Aug. 18. (Special) —Although the Littlefield dormitory for girls at the University of Texas is already filled to capacity, applications may still be accepted for rooms in the Woman's building, according to Miss Martha Lockett, director of the former hall. These two dormitories are owned and operated by the university itself, the Woman's building being situated on actual campus only a few steps from the central buildings of the campus, the Union Building, the auditorium and the new library.

HOUSTON GETS MEET

CORPUS CHRISTI, Aug. 18. (AP)—Houston was selected as the next convention city by the Southern Atlantic and Gulf Coast district of the International Longshoremen's union Friday and three officers were re-elected.

The officers returned to their posts were H. J. Dwyer, president; D. H. Hamilton, vice president; Albert E. Anderson, secretary-treasurer. All are from Galveston.

OWNER OF FOUR-YEAR-OLD CAR TELLS OF A NEW THRILL IN MOTORING

"I had the biggest surprise of my life when I drove the Ford V-8"

"I'd been driving my car for nearly four years and I had put more than 75,000 miles on it. Then things got a little better with me and I figured I could afford a new car. 'Let's look over the Ford V-8,' I said to my wife.

"So we took it out on the road and gave it a good, stiff work-out. Tried it in traffic, on hills, and the roughest roads we could find. Put it to every test I knew. Even went so far as to drain the tank and see how many miles it would go on a gallon of gasoline.

"I want to tell you I had the biggest surprise of my life. I knew the Ford V-8 was better than my former car, but I hadn't any idea it was so much better.

"The Ford name is on it and it has the same reliability and economy that you always expect in a Ford. But what a difference that V-8 engine makes! It's so smooth and powerful that you just glide along. After you drive a V-8 you just can't be satisfied with anything less.

"My wife was in the back seat and she said it was the quietest, most restful ride she'd ever had. And was she delighted with the finish of the car! Before we got home she'd decided on that green body with cream wheels and mohair upholstery. And then could hardly wait until she could show it off to her friends.

"I'll tell you frankly we've had more real fun driving this Ford V-8 than any other car we've ever owned—and we've had a good many makes in the last fifteen years.

"As for economy—I'm finding that this Ford V-8 costs less to run than a four-cylinder car. No guessing about that, either, because I'm one of those bookkeeping fellows who keeps a careful record. Henry Ford was right when he said the V-8 is the most economical Ford car ever built."

SOUTH PLAINS GOLF tournament today at Meadowbrook. Also qualifying for Lubbock city open. You may play in the South Plains event and at the same time qualify for the city open.

Or you may qualify Monday. Match play begins Tuesday, and continues through next Sunday. Lubbock Country club gets the first round matches Tuesday and Wednesday. Play reverts to Meadowbrook Thursday, Friday and Saturday for second and third rounds. Finals at Country club Aug. 26.

If you tire of golf, remember the softball tournament, the first event of its kind staged here, at College Avenue park every day this week.

LOCAL NIMRODS are cocking an optic at the calendar and bringing the muskets out of the cupboard these days. Reports of a plentiful crop of prairie chicken and dove in certain sections are causing trigger fingers to itch. We hear that the chicken crop is good this year in Gaines county. It's not so good in certain other places because of the droughth, (or drout, Mr. Weaver).

The season opens Saturday, September 1, and extends through September 4. But a lot of guns will bark during those four days. The dove season opens then, too, and continues for two months. Doves are not so plentiful in the immediate vicinity, but further east, along the Crosbyton-to-Guthrie road, for instance, we notice a good number.

Chicks are not so plentiful over in the Lamesa provinces, either, unless you know just where to get them. However, we intend to call up, or call on our good friend Coach Ted McCollum and see if he doesn't have a flock staked out somewhere. If he doesn't then Murray McWhorter or Gus Ragsdale should.

SEVERAL INQUIRIES have come to this desk regarding the new federal stamp that goes into effect this year. The stamp is not necessary for chicken, dove, snipe, or quail hunters, but specially for waterfowl. Before you go duck or goose hunting this winter you'd better drop by the post office and purchase one of the nice, new stamps, whether you're a stamp collector or not. They'll cost a dollar per each, and if you're caught without one, it's a lot worse than being without a hunting license.

No sportsman should begrudge the one buck federal tax for waterfowl hunting. The fund thus derived goes to the government for the purpose of increasing the supply of ducks, geese, etc. Of the total proceeds, 90 per cent will be spent in buying or leasing and administering marsh and water areas to be set aside forever as migratory waterfowl sanctuaries. The first of these refuges will be set up along the flight lines from the breeding grounds to the gulf coast. The remaining 10 per cent of the proceeds will be used in issuing the stamps and enforcing the act.

For the information of gunners who, in the past, have been forced to ship their firearms out of town for repairs and replacements, this may not be necessary this year. We are authorized to announce the establishment of a gunsmith shop in town, operated by an expert. He is Walt Shields, formerly of Dallas, who has opened a shop in Lee's and Jay's store. (Note: We get a discount on amunition for this).

THE NEW FOOTBALL RULES BOOK is off the press and in circulation. Its a lot of book for 35 cents, and if you're a football fan as who isn't, it's worth the price. It contains complete records of the 1933 season, including pictures of nearly all teams and brief accounts of outstanding players. It offers the 1934 schedule, lists all coaches and registered football officials. It also contains the rules. To get the most out of any game one should be familiar with rules. We recommend the book especially to husbands and escorts who are just as worn out after a game as the gridder who plays the full 60 minutes.

Speaking of record books and football we have a giant volume down here now that really answers the questions. We're not afraid of almost any football question you might ask now. This big book, larger than a college annual and considerably better prepared and printed, contains the history of football from its earliest days to the present time.

All of Walter Camp's all-America selections appear in this new book, prepared by Intercollegiate Football, Inc., edited by Christy Walsh, founder of the All-America Board of Football, published by Doubleday, Doran and company, price $7.50, no copies available except by advance order. Contributing editors are Howard Jones, Gilmour Dobie, Glenn S. Warner, Andy Kerr, Lou Little, Dick Hanley, Wallace Wade, Harry Kipke, Jock Sutherland, Fritz Chrisler, Jim Crowley and other leaders in the coaching world.

Scores of every game played by a ranking college team since 1869, and records of every season are included in the big book. Names of letter men since football players first received letters are given in most cases. In a word, it's a complete pictorial and statistical review from 1869 to 1934.

Austrian Woman Sets New Channel Swimming Record

DOVER, England, Aug. 18. (AP) — Emma Faber, Austrian woman, was given credit for a short time today with having broken all records for swimming the English channel, but a re-check of the time she left the French shore at Gris Nez for the chalk cliffs of Dover quickly set the situation aright.

It was announced that the sturdy Austrian had plunged into the channel at 6:30 a. m. on one side, and climbed out at 3:15 p. m. on the other, an all but unbelievable elapsed time of 8 hours, 45 minutes. This was amended later, however, to 12:45 a. m. for the starting time, 5 hours and 45 minutes earlier, giving her a total time of 14 hours, 30 minutes, but still the fastest time by one minute ever made by a woman.

Denny Shute, former British open golf champion, met his wife when she was a waitress at the Indi Springs Golf club in Columbus, O., and took her last year to England, where she was presented to Queen Mary.

Golfers Face Busy Week In 2 Tournaments

South Plains Invitation And City Open Start This Morning At Meadowbrook; Clovis Golfers To Play Here

Siege guns of golf will reverberate again over Meadowbrook and Lubbock Country club battlegrounds this week in a couple of the most important local tournaments of the season.

The annual city open, a six-day affair, and the third annual South Plains Invitation, a one-day event, both get under way at Meadowbrook Golf club this morning.

In an extra, unscheduled event, a squad of 20 golfers from Clovis, N. M., led by Shorty Hornbuckle, one of the sunshine state's most prominent linksmen, will invade Lubbock today for a series of matches against Lubbock Country club players.

All golfers of the South Plains, particularly those who participated in the South Palins Golf league season, are invited to play in the 36-hole medal event at Meadowbrook today.

Slaton Gets Trophy

Entries in the South Plains tournament are to play 18 holes this morning for a qualifying score and to determine into which flight they fall for an additional 18 holes this afternoon. Scores wil be totaled to determine winners. Prizes will be awarded winners in each flight, also to the youngest golfer registered, and to the oldest golfer. Medalist in the morning round will receive a prize.

A four-man team trophy also will be awarded. To qualify for this, a club must indicate its quartet before the morning round.

There is no entry fee in the South Plains tournament. Payment of the regular Sunday green fee will qualify all players to enter.

The big silver loving cup, emblematic of the South Plains league championship, will be awarded to the Slaton club today. Slaton defeated Meadowbrook in the last league match to win the cup, replacing the Lubbock Country club team as league champion.

Local golfers who enter the South Plains tournament today may at the same time qualify for the city open, match play in which begins Tuesday. Two days are allowed for qualifying, but the score must be shot at Meadowbrook. Match play goes to Lubbock Country club Tuesday and Wednesday, reverts to Meadowbrook for second and third rounds Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and moves back to the country club for finals Sunday.

Two days will be allowed for each round up to the third round, making for players to arrange their matches to suit their time requirements. Officials of both clubs look for a spirited tournament.

The title is open in both tournaments. John D. Munn, Amarillo youth who lived at Lubbock last year, won both the South Plains invitation and the city open. He will not return to defend his championships.

The delegation of Clovis golfers will play at Meadowbrook this morning, according to announcement yesterday, and at Lubbock Country club this afternoon.

FAVORITES ADVANCE

WACO, Tex., Aug. 18. (AP)—Two pre-tournament favorites, Sterling Williams of Austin and Carl Smalley of Palestine, slipped into the finals of the men's singles of the Texas Municipal tennis tournament today and will meet tomorrow for the title.

Williams defeated Jesse Pfeiffer of San Antonio, 8-6, 6-4, while Smalley eliminated Leo Brady, Abilene, 2-6, 6-1, 8-6.

Harry Danning, young understudy to Gus Mancuso in the catching box for the New York Giants, has been the receiver in two of Carl Hubbell's shutout performances this year though he works relatively few games.

Scotty Campbell Beats Somerville To Win Honors In Canada Amateur Tilt

Seattle Youngster Overtakes Lead To Win, 1 Up

(By The Associated Press)

LAVAL-SUR-LE-LAC, Que., Aug. 18.—Albert (Scotty) Campbell, 26-year-old public links player from Seattle, whipped the dominion's greatest shot-maker, Ross (Sandy) Somerville of London, Ont., in a thrilling 36-hole battle today to win the Canadian amateur golf championship for the second year in succession.

Fighting an uphill struggle all the way—he was three down and only 12 to play at one stage—Campbell rallied to square the match at the 28th hole and then won out in as sensational a finish as this tournament ever has seen.

They were all square as they came to the home hole. They had halved seven consecutive holes.

Ab Jenkins Breaks Speed Record For 24-Hour Run

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, Aug. 18. (AP)—Ab Jenkins, Salt Lake City racing car driver, claimed at least a score of the world's speed records today.

After posting a mark of 3,053 miles in 24 hours—an average speed of 127.208 miles an hour—Jenkins set out again in his 238-horsepower car in an effort to drive 30,000 miles in 15 days. A burned out clutch, however, forced him to abandon the attempt last night.

The records Jenkins believed he had broken included the 24-hour mark for 3,053 miles and others for shorter distances.

Dory Detton To Take On Martino Angelo Of Buffalo In Main Event; Jack Van Bebber Tangles With Charley Carr

Lubbock mat fans are in for a change of facial scenery this week when Promoter Sled Allen brings in a couple of husky, hard driving newcomers to meet a pair of local favorites.

The one is Martine Angelo, a rowdy lad of Italian extraction, from Buffalo, N. Y. He fights Dory Detton, clean-limbed, clean-lived youngster from Salt Lake City, who has made his home here, in the main event.

The other is Charley Carr, another roughneck who brings an enviable record with him. Carr hails from Fort Wayne, Indiana, and has clippings to show that he's undefeated, untied and untamed. Whether he shows all the records or not is a matter of conjecture, but Jack Van Bebber, another local son, faces the job of taming him for the first time in West Texas.

Angelo also bears papers showing him worthy of tough competition. Whether the competition in Indiana compares in ruggedness with that of the Southwestern circuit also remains to be seen, but 'tis said of him that Angelo is something along the lines of Danny McShain at his worst, which is something.

There'll be a 20-minute preliminary, participants in which will be named later.

Softball Tourney To Start Monday; 2 Games Each Day

Schedule And Rules Made; Play Is To Start At 4:30

With starting places and opponents drawn for twelve teams, the first South Plains softball tournament will get underway at 4:30 o'clock Monday afternoon at the College Avenue park here.

Only eight clubs were represented at yesterday's meeting of managers and delegates, but four of them drew byes in anticipation of four teams expected to enter at the last minute.

Monday's schedule was perfected.

Tahoka plays the Dryer and Lee Oil company team of Lubbock at 4:30 Monday afternoon in the first game. Abernathy, which sends only one team to the tournament, plays Sam Rosenthal's Hub Clothiers in the second game of the double header.

HUB VS. SWIFT

In a pre-tournament warm-up game, the Swift & Company Packers will play Sam Rosenthal's Hub Clothiers this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock at the College Avenue park. Both clubs are entered in the South Plains softball tournament which starts tomorrow.

The public is invited to today's contest.

Two games will be played daily through next Sunday if additional teams do not enter. In the event one or more teams enter, three games will be necessary on certain days.

Four Low Teams

Other clubs definitely entered are Ralls, Crosbyton, Swift and company of Lubbock and Magnolia Oil company of Lubbock. Each of these teams drew byes in the first drawing, but will move up to play each other in the event no other teams enter.

It is thought that teams from Levelland, Slaton, Littlefield and possibly one from another town will enter. These clubs will be given through Monday to make definite approaches. Inasmuch as teams from these towns had signified earlier they would enter, the tournament committee agreed to extend the deadline until Monday night. In order to qualify for tournament play, tardy teams are urged to make application before 8 o'clock Monday evening.

At the meeting yesterday it was decided that at least two games would be played daily, with a two-game elimination process governing the tournament. In other words, before a team is eliminated, it must have lost two games. Should a team lose its first game, it remains in the play-off. The championship will be decided Sunday, August 26.

Prize money will be proportionately divided between first, second and third place teams. Gate receipts will go into the prize fund.

Each club will be given 17 player passes, which will constitute the only "free tickets" given. Managers of teams entered may call for player passes any time Monday at the J. and J. Sporting goods store. Each club is allowed 16 players, including the manager if he is a playing manager. Player lists must be certified and turned in to the tournament committee before a team plays its first game. Thereafter it may not be changed, a player who starts the tournament with one team being required to finish with the same team. There may be no additions after the first game.

12-Inch Ball Used

The official ball will be the regulation 12-inch, inseam pellet. Game balls will be provided by the tournament committee. Practice ball must be furnished by teams. No tournament balls may be kept by players.

Regular softball rules will prevail. The field will be of regulation dimensions, 60-feet base lines, etc. Experienced umpires will be employed, and their decisions will be final. There may be no appeal from umpires' decisions. Two officials will work in each game.

While standard uniforms are not required, although encouraged, players must observe softball rules so far as footwear is concerned. In other words, no shoes containing spikes, calks, hobnails, cleats or other rough or irregular soles may be used. Plain, rubber-soled tennis shoes are encouraged. Plain street shoes or golf shoes will not be barred if they contain no calks or cleats. Baseball, football, or track shoes will not be permitted if cleats or spikes are retained.

Small Admission Price

Umpires will be instructed to enforce rules as strictly as possible, calling offensive players out or safe if rules are violated.

A nominal price of admission has been agreed upon. If two games are played, admission will be 20 cents for both games, or 10 cents for the last game. If three games are played, the admission will be 25 cents for all three, 20 cents for the last two or a dime for the final. Children under 12 years of age will be admitted for 10 cents any time.

There will be no discrimination as regards teams or playing hours. A regular schedule will be followed. All teams are expected to be on the field and ready to play the minute the game is called. A team whose players have not all arrived must start the game, or default. A ten-minute intermission will be allowed between games.

He plays for the Boston Red Sox, but Carl Reynolds, above, was a big help to the struggling Yankees yesterday when he drove in four runs to help beat Detroit, 8 to 7. The Yanks picked up a full game on their rivals for the American league lead.

Allison Takes Newport Title

Texas Netter Defeats Frankie Parker To Break Through To Win After Losing Previous Finals To Stars

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 18. (AP)—Wilmer Allison of Austin, Tex., gained a tennis title he has been seeking for five years today when he turned back Frankie Parker of Spring Lake, N. J., in the final round of the historic Newport Casino tennis tournamnt, 6-1, 6-4, 4-6, 7-5.

Allison, who was seeded behind the Davis Cup singles combination of Francis X. Shields, the defending champion, and Sidney Wood, battered down the sound backhand of Parker.

Parker, one of the most methodical players in the game, proved to be exceptionally vulnerable to the Texan's strokes to the far left corner. Allison played against the youngster's only weakness, a deep shot to his backhand.

In runaway fashion, he took the first two sets with seeming ease, so effective were his long drives to the Jersey youngster's left side. This stroke stayed up during the entire match but in the third set Allison, who left half his court open when he rushed to the net, found himself being passed by Parker.

Loses Five Straight

Allison lost five straight games in the third set. Just when Parker was "hot," Allison recovered and whipped off four games in a row, only to drop a 8-6 service game after Parker reached set point for the fifth time.

Although Parker is one of the steadiest players in the world, Allison's attack against his back hand caused 10 breaks through his soft service.

In his previous Casino finals, Allison, in the past four years, has bowed to Bill Tilden, Ellsworth Vines and Francis X. Shields.

Allison and Van Ryn qualified for the doubles final by defeating Berkeley Bell and Gregory Mangin of Newark, N. J., 6-3, 6-3, 13-11, in a semi-final match. The victors will oppose George Lott and Lester Stoefen, the national doubles champions and U. S. Davis Cup heroes, in tomorrow morning's final.

LOTT-STOEFEN

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 18. (AP) — George Lott and Lester Stoefen, defending champions, today were placed at the top of the American seeded list for the national doubles tennis championship tournament beginning Monday at the Germantown Cricket club.

Fred Perry and F. D. Wilde of England, were placed first on the foreign seeded list and Vernon Kirby of South Africa and Roderick Menzel of Zechoslovakia drew second position.

Terry did some heavy hitting to get the better of Paul Waner of Pittsburgh by a wide margin in the seven-day period which ended with yesterday's games.

Jacobs, Palfrey Play In Finals

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 18. (AP)—Helen Hull Jacobs and Sarah Palfrey—the stars who combined successfully to defend the international Wightman Cup against Great Britain last June—today won their way to the championship round in the 47th national women's tennis tournament. They will play for the title tomorrow.

Lifting her game to great heights after a gruelling first set, Miss Jacobs, the defending titleholder, quickly raced through the second set to conquer Carolin Babcock of Los Angeles, 7-5, 6-0.

In command of the play most of the way, little Miss Palfrey, who hails from Brookline, Mass., and is on the crest of her biggest year in the game, disposed of husky Dorothy Andrus of Stamford, Conn., in straight sets, 6-3, 6-4.

An upset was scored in the semi-finals of the doubles championship when Miss Babcock and Miss Andrus combined to defeat the defending champions, Betty Huthall and Freda James of England, 4-6, 6-4, 6-2.

The Misses Babcock and Andrus will meet Miss Jacobs and Miss Palfrey for the doubles championship tomorrow. The winners of the singles semi-finals paired to eliminate Elizabeth Ryan of Santa Monica, Calif., and Muriel Thomas of England, 6-3, 6-1.

DAWSON WINS JOUST

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 18. (AP) — Continuing the barrage of sub-par golf he has fired at every opponent during the tourney, John Dawson, veteran Chicago linksman, smothered youthful Howard F. Crocker, jr. of Denver, 9 and 8, today to win the Colorado amateur golf championship. It was almost a walkaway for the visitor, who closed the match on the 28th green.

He Has Dodged Many Revolutions

Dan Wooten Possibly Has Witnessed More Rebellions Than Any Other White Man And Is Not A Soldier Of Fortune

Dan Wooten, manager of the Santa Clara ranch in the state of Chihuahua, Mexico, has spent his life dodging revolutions and yet he has possibly witnessed more rebellions than any living white man.

He was in Lubbock Saturday. He is visiting an old friend William Nevels of Tahoka and he is back in the states for the first time in eight years.

He is not and has never been a soldier of fortune. He is just an old cowman who has followed the cattle trails all over the western hemisphere—and sometimes these have been trails of danger.

He wears a round brimmed Stetson hat—the sort of hat Francisco "Pancho" Villa once wore—and his body is browned and burned and trimmed down like a clipper ship. About his eyes are seams made by squinting for a half century into the hot suns and winds of southern lands.

Friend Of Madero

With these eyes he has seen President Portifirio Diaz heading parades down the streets of Mexico City while the peons mutter: "No frijoles, no dinero, mucho trabajo, pero viva Diaz!"

He has seen Villa and his guerrillas galloping on stolen horses through the streets of northern Mexico villages. And he knew Francisco Madero when the martyred president of Mexico was a young man.

From the 80's to the present day he has lived in Mexico, Brazil, Nicaragua, Columbia and he has watched the little Latin nations playing their war games, games which he believes they will play no longer.

Captured By Rebels

Only a few years ago, in 1929, a revolution broke out in the three northernmost states of Mexico, and much of the fighting was in the vicinity of Santa Clara ranch which is 200 miles south of El Paso.

"I was driving home one evening. A gang of rebels stopped my car at a bend in the road. The soldiers held the nozzles of high-powered rifles in my face while their leaders held a sort of caucus.

"I heard them say that they were going to hold me for ransom. I yelled that nobody would pay 10c for my hide. Then they went into another pow-wow, and after a while a big Mexican walked over and said, "Gringo, go before we kill you."

"There will be no more revolution in Mexico," Mr. Wooten says. "Since 1929 the people have begun to realize the futility of revolutions. That is, all except the Yaquis. If there is any trouble, the Yaqui sare usually mixed up in it."

Villa Murdered Rancher

One of Villas old headquarters was in the mountains near the Santa Clara ranch. Now there are only rotting brush breastworks and mangy torn sod to mark the spot. But once the place was alive with ragged and heavily armed Villistas.

The Santa Clara Ranch suffered much of Villa. The founder of the ranch, an Englishman named Benton went to Juarez during the Villa-Carranza revolution to ask a favor of Pancho. He went to the office of the half-breed general. Villa was sitting at a desk.

"May I drive a herd of cattle through the town to the United States?" Benton asked.

"No," said Pancho.

Benton continued to press his request. A look of annoyance appeared on Villa's swart face. He shot Benton neatly through the head.

This little incident almost embroiled Mexico in a war with Great Britain, Mr. Wooten said

At Jail Delivery

Wooten was in Saltillo, Coahuila the day Villa was delivered from the Saltillo jail and the clutches of his enemy, Victoriono Huerta, chief general of Madero's army, by a gang of 'Dorados." Madero was later assassinated, supposedly by Huerta or his supporters.

Of Villa Mr. Wooten has a poor opinion.

"He looked like an Indian. He dressed like a vaquero. And he was always loaded down with cartridge belts. More cartridges than a man should use in a life time."

Mr. Wooten was working on a railroad between Tampico and San Luis Potosi during the years 1888 and 1889. He often visited at the rancho of Francisco Madero at San Pedro, Durango.

About any friendship or alliance between Pancho and Madero, Mr. Wooten is very vague. Pancho joined the main body of the revolutionists in 1910 in order to secure pardons from Madero.

Worked In Brazil

After a half dosen years in Mexico, Wooten drifted southward to Central America and into the swirl of a Nicaraguan revolution. President Theodore Roosevelt broke up the revolution, and Wooten got a job on the Panama canal construction. The French were working on the canal then. The dates?

"Holy smoke, I can't remember dates," Mr. Wooten will say. "Look in the almanac if you want dates."

From 1912 to 1922 he was manager of a ranch owned by the Brazil Land and Cattle company in the interior of Brazil. His nearest neighbor was John Ramsey, one-time sheriff of Roberts county, Tex. There were 1,400,000 acres of ranch and the cattle were "wild an ornery as antelope."

Mr. Wooten has not changed his life much to suit the tempo of advancing age. He still does a cowhand's work each day. At night he reads his favorite magazine, Time. Recently there was something in Time that offended Mexican authorities, and the red-covered magazine no longer comes to Santa Clara ranch or any other rancho in all Mexico.

Improved business conditions in Australia is causing a marked stimulation of clock and watch imports into the commonwealth.

yard of her home.

The gray hairs clutched in death were taken to coroner's chemists for examination. An old trunk, about ten feet from the spot where the body was found, was to be examined for finger prints.

First to be questioned by the police was Steve Rivera, an acquaintance of the girl. Officials said he was not officially a suspect but they hoped to gain information from him. He had not seen Celia for two days he told police.

The Cota family came to San Diego about ten years ago. Formerly they had lived in Los Angeles and Pasadena.

Other violent deaths which have baffled criminal experts here were:

Virginia Brooks, 10-year-old school girl, whose mutilated body was found in the spring of 1931, the first of the series.

Louise Teuber, 17, whose nude body was found swinging to an oak tree on black mountain, near here.

Hazel Bradshaw, pretty telephone operator, who was stabbed to death.

Mrs. W. D. (Diamond Dolly) Bibbens, found strangled to death.

Police sought a middle-aged man who has been molesting women in outlying theaters during the last two weeks.

They aslo were looking for a man about 50 years old who attracted attention downtown this morning by muttering: "there are too many girls in San Diego anyway. A few of them should be killed."

Engineers Probing Sudden Settling Of Houses In Council Bluffs, Iowa

COUNCIL BLUFFS, Ia., Aug. 18. (AP)—Engineers dug into mother earth today to find the cause for the sudden settling of houses in the south central and south western sections of the city.

Many of the houses have stood for 40 years or more and never before has such an underground mystery popped up. City Engineer Jack Boyne probed through the soil in an attempt to solve the mystery. Much of the soil in the area is like clay and residents point out that the extreme heat, together with the long absence of rain, has resulted in the soil crystalizing into a fine dust-like sand.

Four dwellings, all of which were built about 40 years ago; were examined yesterday but no definite conclusion was reached. In these dwellings doors no longer close, windows no longer slide up and down and plaster has fallen from the walls and ceilings. However, city officials see no danger or damage great enough to cause the homes to be condemned or to make them uninhabitable.

Damage from the settling process thus far is estimated at around $100,000 but no definite figures are available.

The possibility of underground cavities formed as a result of the drouth and the lack of moisture and the possibility that the trouble might be due to the constant night traffic of heavily loaded livestock trucks are both under investigation.

Geology Graduate At Tech Chosen As Research Associate At California U

Dr. Eldon M. Thorpe first graduate of Texas Technological college with a major in geology, has recently been appointed research associate in geology oceanography at the University of California, it has been announced.

Dr. Thorpe received a degree of doctor of philosophy in geology at the University of California last May. He is also the first Tech graduate to receive a Ph. D degree in geology. A graduate of Lubbock High school, Dr. Thorpe took his bachelor's degree from Tech in 1927 and his master's degree from California in 1930.

He was recommended for a position as graduate assistant at the University of California by Dr. Wayland Vaughn, director of the Scripps Institute of Oceanography, a division of the university. This position permitted him to do graduate work and gave him opportunities for independent research.

He is, already, the author of a list of scientific articles, on the oceanography of the Caribbean Sea, the North Atlantic, and the South Seas. His doctor's thesis, dealing with the origin of calcerous marine sediments, will be published as a report of the Carnagie Institute.

Dr. Thorpe is at present doing research work on the marine erosion of cliffs and expects soon to go to the Hawaiian Islands to work on problems connected with the calcerous sediments of these islands.

Woman Slain

today.

The filling station operator also identified the car Wick was driving when arrested in San Antonio as the one which he had serviced last night with gasoline in exchange for the ring.

The body of the 40-year-old woman was found in a corn field five miles south of Gonzales. A bloody trail showed where it had been dragged from the highway. An automobile crank, with one end broken and smeared with blood and matted hair, lay beside the highway. Officers also found blood-stained handkerchiefs, apparently used by someone to wipe blood from the hands.

Working At Yoakum

Wick recently had been working at a Yoakum clinic and said he had lived there about three years.

His statement to the San Antonio and Gonzales officers repudiated an earlier story he had told of the woman's death. In the previous version he had said she was beaten fatally in a brawl at a Gonzales bootlegging establishment and that he had taken her body out to the field.

Wick, in the signed statement, related how oe went to Mrs. Ploegers home about 9 o'clock last night and "sat around and talked awhile."

About midnight they left the house to get some beer. They left Yoakum and, about four miles from that town, obtained a pint of whisky, which they started drinking at once, the statement said. Then they drove to Gonzales and got some beer. About 3 a. m. the statement continued, they started back toward Yoakum. However, they stopped at the side of a lane before reaching Yoakum and, turning around, decided to drive to San Antonio.

Argument Is Held

But before reaching Gonzales, they again stopped and, the statement said, became involved in an argument which led to a fight.

"Then we had a fight," the statement quoted Wick as saying. "It started in the car. Then we got out by the side of the car and fought some more. After the fight I discovered she was dead. So I pulled her under the fence and dragged her by the side of the fence about 25 or 30 feet from the highway. Then I came back to the car and threw the car crank over the fence in the direction in which she was lying.

"I don't remember whether I hit her with the car crank. Then I got in the car and tried to start it, but I couldn't get it started so I sat down on the running board and passed out."

Mexican Gives Aid

The statement said that about daylight today a Mexican came along and helped Wick push the car on the highway, starting it.

Mrs. Ploeger lived alone at Yoakum and officers learned, had on several occasions recently gone out with Wick.

Wick was arrested in San Antonio about noon when he drove into that city in a coupe stained with blood. In the car were a pair of woman's shoes and a ring.

In his statement, Wick told of taking two diamond rings from the woman's hand before leaving her body. He said he pawned one of the rings to obtain money for gasoline.

Attempted To Escape

While held at Littlefield, the pair and Lacy Wingfield, charged with armed robbery in Wichita county and at Littlefield with car theft, three times attempted to break jail. Last Tuesday night they sawed six bars and escaped from their cell into the run-around, said Sheriff Len Irwin.

"They cut my jail all to pieces," Irwin said. "They carried saw blades which had been built into the soles of their shoes."

The stolen automobile was a 1933 Chevrolet sedan or coach. It bore license plates 307-039 and motor number 3-850-976.

Applications Must Be In Hands Of Committee Aug. 21

All Bankhead exemption certificate applications must be in the hands of the community committee by midnight, August 21, P. T. Montfort, county agent, pointed out yesterday.

"It is important that community committees have all applications from producers, whether signers of the voluntary cotton contracts or not," he declared. "These applications must be signed and in the hands of the community committee by midnight, Tuesday. After that hour it will be too late."

Committees have been asked to send in applications in bunches of 12 to 15 each. Some of the committees have not sent thier applications, in but they are expected to Monday.

Mr. Montfort said he would have a force of clerks working on applications to get them ready to forward to Washington as soon as possible.

Certificates For Cotton Available

Interim certificates, a "gap filler" between the time the 1934 cotton crop is ginned and the time exemption certificates are available under the Bankhead act, may be secured from the county agent's office, Jason O. Gordon, administrative assistant, said late yesterday. Cotton with these certificates may be sold.

"A farmer or producer who has ginned this year's crop may secure the interim certificates from this office," Mr Gordon explained. "He presents them to his ginner, who makes a proper record. When the certificates arrive, the temporary ones are deducted from the allotment.

"Any amount up to 50 per cent of a producer's allotment under the Bankhead bill may be secured. In other words, if a producer has an allotment of 10,000 pounds, he may secure interim certificates up to 5,000 pounds. Bankhead allotments are made on a pound basis."

The local office has a supply of interim certificates.

Producers must pay a tax of 5.67 cents per pound on all cotton over their allotment. This is 50 per cent of the price of cotton as fixed by the secretary of agriculture about two months ago, when it was 11.34 cents net, on line cotton.

F. E. Lichte, field man of the cotton production section of the AAA was here Saturday conferring with P. T. Montfort, county agent and Jason O. Gordon, administrative assistant, on the interim plan.

a hospital. Upon stopping near a city park in Raleigh, the evangelist declared, a "big green automobile" drove alongside.

One of the three men in the car gave his passenger "some money," Askew said. He related that one of the men, at pistol point, then forced him into the car and that he had been driven around in it since.

Wife Is Happy

Notified at her home in Goldsboro that Askew was safe in Nashville, his wife raised her hands above her said, looked upward and said, "glory be!"

Two ransom demands for $25,000 had been made, one to his wife, the other to Aimee Semple McPherson of the Angelus Temple, headquarters of the "Four Square Gospel" movement with which Askew is affiliated. Today was the deadline in the note to Mrs. Askew for her to meet the demand.

Tom Hunter NOT A Wealthy Man

The TOTAL net income for Tom Hunter for 1931, 1932 and 1933 amounted to $13,664.64 for the THREE YEAR PERIOD.

Copies of his sworn Income Tax reports are available in the Wichita Falls office and may be examined by anyone who desires to see them.

False reports are being circulated that Tom Hunter is a multi-millionaire. Allred's statement is easily 400% false and I now offer that he may, with his hot oil merchants, utilities and pipeline friends, buy my entire holdings including my personal effects and clothing on the basis that he is FOUR HUNDRED PER CENT WRONG.

WALL STREET REPORT

BY FREDERICK GARDNER

Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. (AP) — The stock market shriveled to a mere shadow of its erstwhile dimensions today as turnover barely reached 164,000 shares, the smallest for a two-hour Saturday session in eleven years.

The volume was too scant to influence prices appreciably. The market as a whole drifted a trifle lower but remained within the recent narrow zone of fluctuations.

A brisk rally in wheat and further recovery in bonds, which moved higher for the fifth consecutive day, failed to stir speculation in stocks.

Attendance in Wall street was small. Traders who followed the market's tedious drift were content to stay on the sidelines pending the advent of stimulating news, and for a better sight on the autumn business trend.

The day's transfers compared with 310,190 shares last Saturday and 182,050 on July 7, the previous low record of the year. The new record went back to Aug. 11, 1923, when the turnover on the stock exchange was only 158,000 shares.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 18. (AP)—The cotton market, after a tame opening despite Liverpool coming in better than due, became active later in the short week-end session, mainly owing to hedge selling. The market closed barely steady, showing net declines for the day of 15 points on the active months.

The opening was quiet and steady with initial trades showing no change from the previous close. October closed at 13.31 and December at 13.36. These opening figures proved the highs of the day.

The market became quite active after the first half hour. There was more or less liquidation for over the week-end and considerable hedge selling with the increasing movement of the new crop. Prices declined steadily, reaching the lows of the day right at the end, with October at 13.05 and December a 13.21, or 15-16 points under the opening highs. The close was at or near the bottom with both October and December showing net declines for the day of 15 points.

Port receipts 7,120 for season 135,501, last season 233,745. Exports 8,681, for season 142,784, last season 362,697. Port stock 2,366,301, last year 2,505,230. Combined shipboard stocks at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 31,000, last year 58,332. Spot sales at southern markets 8,171, last year 16,639.

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, Aug. 18. (AP)—Cotton was generally lower today under continued liquidation and scattered selling. Offerings were absorbed by scale-down buying from the trade or covering, but prices worked off gradually from 13.39@13.21 for December, and the close was at the low-est of the day. The final tone of the market was easy at new declines of 13 to 16 points.

There was some buying early on the relatively firm showing of Liverpool and reports of continued unfavorable weather in the southwest, but selling pressure exceeded demand and reactionary sentiment was strengthened by the failure of the continued dry hot weather in the west to inspire bullish sentiment.

October worked off to 13.06 in the late trading while May declined to 13.47. There appeared to be a little more southern selling here near the close.

With December at 13.21 at the close, the market showed a decline of about $3.85 a bale from the highs of the previous week.

The amount of cotton on shipboard at the end of the week was estimated at 43,000 bales against 64,000 last year.

MIDWESTERN REPORT

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 18. (AP)—Livestock trade at midwestern markets this week was featured by a sharp price advance on hogs, while killing classes of cattle and fat lambs were tendered material price declines. Buying interests early in the week were out to enforce a general decline of 25 to 50 on killing classes of cattle and at several points were successful. At some centers, however, packers encountered considerable competition from country buyers on western grass steers and were unable to obtain any material concession on such offerings. From mid-week on there was a reaction on the better grades of grainfed steers and part of the early losses were recovered. Copious several of the larger operators with cattle rains were received in some sections and on Kansas pastures have shown a deposition to hold for an upturn in the market. There was a fair demand for stockers and feeders at values unevenly steady to 25 higher. Aggregate receipts of commercial cattle at eleven markets totaled around 204,000 against 232,378 last week and 195,500 a year ago. In addition 278,600 cattle and 94,800 calves were received from the drouth areas on government account.

Hog prices are 90 to 1.30 higher than last Saturday with a late top of 6.75 at St. Louis. Total offerings for the week were around 276,000, a decrease of 52,500 from last week and 94,500 short of a year ago.

The week's supply of sheep approximated 291,000 as compared with 234,691 last week and 294,042 a year ago. Fat lambs and yearlings slumped 50 to 1.00 while aged sheep held fully steady.

Texture and structure of bread found in excavations in the ruins of ancient Pompeii was the same as that of bread baked in modern times.

Grains

FORT WORTH REPORT

FORT WORTH, Aug. 18. (AP)—Good demand continued to the close of the week for all offerings on the Fort Worth grain market.

Prices quoted: Delivered Texas gulf ports, export rate, or Texas common points:

Wheat No. 1 hard 1.12 3-4@1.15 3-4.

Barley No. 2 nominally 80@81; No. 3 nominally 78@80.

No. 2 kafir nominally 1.76@1.78; No. 3 kafir nominally 1.73@1.76.

Delivered Texas common points or group three: corn No. 2 white 98 1-2@99 1-2; No. 2 yellow 95 1-2@96 1-2. Oats No. 2 red 58 1-2@59 1-2; No. 3 red 57 1-2@58 1-2.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Aug. 18. (AP)—Brisk jumps of prices carried the wheat market up 2 1-2 cents a bushel today, largely because of efforts of mills to supply immediate breadstuff needs.

Fears of sudden frost in Canada likely to injure wheat crops of the prairie provinces did much also to stimulate buying. It was reported domestic millers southwest had disposed of 300,000 barrels of flour the last two days, mainly to eastern bakery interests.

In a general upturn of grain values today, barley excelled the high price record for the year.

Wheat closed firm 1 1-4 to 2 1-4 above yesterday's finish, corn 1-4 to 1 cent advanced, oats 1-8 to 1-2 up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 8 cents.

Moscow Calls Reds Congress

Third Internationale To Have Meeting In Russia Late In September; Secrecy Guards Plans Of Session

By CHAS. STEPHENSON SMITH

MOSCOW, Aug. 18. (AP)—The Third Internationale, the communist body created by Lenin to coordinate party members of all lands in the movement for world revolution, is to have another congress here in late September.

Great secrecy surrounds the plans for the meeting. At the headquarters of the Third Internationale all inquiries for information meet the terse reply:

"We give out no information about congresses in advance. A report will be made after it is finished."

Party Undergoes Purge

The Third Internationale was organized in 1919. It has held six congresses. The last was in 1928. In the meantime there has been reorganization of the communist party throughout the world. Communists who stood either to the right or left of the Lenin program have been eliminated.

Trotzky, Zinoviev, Kamenev and other Russians have fallen and changes have taken place in the party leadership in other lands.

Men and women eager for too speedy a realization of world revolution by direct agitation have been displaced by those who believe the creation of a perfect workers' government along socialistic lines in Russia is the best means of creating unrest in capitalistic countries.

The impression prevails in diplomatic circles that the Soviet Union put a soft pedal on the Third Internationale because of the hostility it provoked in other nations. There is much speculation among foreign envoys as to what character the coming congress will take.

See Pacts Endangered

Maxim Litvinoff, soviet commissar for foreign affairs, has negotiations on with several nations for pacts to stabilize eastern Europe and eruptions from the congress in support of world revolution might hinder the completion of these agreements.

The Third Internationale, or "Comintern," as it is called in Russia, has been a relatively mild organization, so far as the non-communist public could judge, since Gregory Zinoviev was deposed from its presidency and read out of the party in 1926.

Scotland Sees "United Front" On Home Rule

BY OSCAR LEIDING

EDINBURGH, Aug. 18 (AP)—Scotland's home rule advocates are marshaling their forces to win self-government.

A united front has been formed by the fusion into a single Scottish nationalist party of the fighting youth of the national party of Scotland and the more moderate Scottish party.

Campaign material has been sought by a party delegation which visited Northern Ireland, the Irish Free State and the Isle of Man for a first-hand study of their parliaments.

Nationalists leaders — whose goal is a Scottish parliament for purely Scottish affairs—believe their cause so far advanced that they are already discussing not how to win government but what to do when they have it.

Scotland To Be Different

"We have not made up our minds exactly what kind of parliament we are going to have," said the Duke of Montrose, one of the leaders in the home rule campaign, "but as the Northern, Free State and Isle of Man parliaments differ from each other, so we expect our Scottish parliament will differ from them all."

Tech Archeologists Still Revel In Romance Of Mexico; Contrasts Of Old And New Of Republic Most Striking

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another of a series of articles being written in Mexico, D. F. by Elizabeth Dryden, member of the Texas Tech archeological expedition into Mexico.

BY ELIZABETH DRYDEN
Special Correspondent

MEXICO, D. F., Aug. 17—Spanish churches built in Mexico became Indian, because they were built by brown hands," said Senor Beteta, director general of Statistics of the Federal Government of Mexico to Texas Technological archeologists in his first of a series of lectures to them.

Thus is Mexico—a Spanish foundation with the Indian hand which built it under the direction of the proud Conquistadores from Spain. The language, the food, the buildings, and the people are shadowed with the Indian. Mexico is the boiling melting pot of the world.

Markets Visited

Toluco, two hour's drive from Mexico City, has an Indian market on Fridays, which the Techsters studied last week. Here may be seen the people who are laying the foundation for a new Mexico. For almost a solid six blocks people set up their wares under tents or out in the open with entreating shouts to buy. The money taken in is always counted in centavos, not pesos. Such a sad race of people with their urges to buy of the pitiful array of clothes, green peaches, big loaves of bread, stale fish, shoe laces, flyfly covered watermelon, and sticky pastries. Many of them may be seen gambling at a game like the American bingo using shelled corn ... and chips, with a look in their ... like a faithful dog, who has ... kicked by its master. Total Of 4,775 Head Of Cattle Sold To Government In Crosby

By Staff Correspondent

CROSBYTON, Aug. 18—A total of 4,775 head of cattle had been sold by 560 farmers in Crosby county to the federal government up to the time purchasing closed under the federal relief program according to Assistant County Agent Evans. The program closed August 10, but orders to buy again are expected shortly.

From these farms, 2,636 head were condemned as unfit for human consumption and killed; 2,119 head were accepted for shipment to canning plants and markets. Not all have been shipped as plans and markets have been glutted.

As many more farms are expected to be visited by an inspector and an appraiser and animals purchased. The total is believe to be between 6,000 and 7,000 head. It is pointed out, however, that if a rain comes in late August or early September additional pastures will be available and some farmers may attempt to carry over their animals.

Nearly three-fourths of the animals condemned were calves, it was said, while the greater portion of the animals purchased and ordered shipped were cows.

Tech Folk Are To Leave Soon For Vacations

Many Families Are Planning To Take Trips East, South, North And West; "School Is Out" Next Friday

FOR the faculty folk of Texas Tech who thought this long hot summer of teaching would never end there is to be, at last, a reward. School is out Friday and already the professors and their families are getting excited over the prospects of a vacation. For about six weeks they will be free to see the world's fair, go back to the old home town, join a scientific expedition or enjoy whatever it is that school marms and masters do whenever school is out.

Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Evans are leaving Monday to attend a curriculum conference in Nashville, Tenn., and one in Charlottesville, Va. These are state conferences ending a three year reconstruction period in each of the two states. They will meet several other prominent educators from Texas in Nashville. The Evans are going by automobile via Washington, D. C.

Dean A. H. Leidigh of the division of agriculture said that most of the teachers of his department are "too poor" to think about a vacation. Most of them, however will take short trips to the mountains or "back home".

Kenneth Oberholtzer, who has been teaching summer school in the department of education, will remain in Lubbock to begin his duties as superintendent of public instruction early in September.

J. T. Shaver of the department of education is going to leave town but he doesn't know yet just where he is going.

Professor and Mrs. F. A. Kleinschmidt and family are spending the summer in St. Paul, Minn.

The H. F. Godekes have returned from a week's vacation in Ruidoso, N. M.

In New Mexico

Miss Edna Houghton and Miss Georgina Conner are vacationing at Adams ranch, near Las Vegas, N. M. Other young women assisting at the college, Misses Dorothy Rylander, Alice Muse Rogers, Evelyn Clewell and Mrs. Jane Nuell Rogers, returned Saturday from a two weeks' outing in Evergreen valley in New Mexico. They stayed at a cabin, owned by Miss Clewell and Mrs. Rogers, near El Porvenir.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Eaves are going to Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Heard and family are visiting home folk in Alabama.

Professor Carl D. Brandt and family are in Ruidoso, N. M., now and the C. V. Bullens are in Wichita Falls. Professor and Mrs. J. H. Murdough and family are vacationing in New Mexico. Mr. and Mrs. O. A. St. Clair of the division of engineering are in New Rochelle, New York. They will return here about October 1.

Mrs. Duke Buster plans to spend the summer here. Miss Vivian Johnson will go to her home in San Marcos.

Miss Carrie Hodges will visit in New Mexico and Mrs. Anna Bert Gibson will go to her home in Amarillo.

Miss Maraget Weeks, dean of the division home economics, and Miss Mabel Erwin plan to remain here. It is possible that they will go to Colorado for a brief vacation before school opens in October.

PLAINVIEW, Aug. 18.—(Special)—Miss Hazel O'Gwyn and S. McCollum, both of Dallas, were married here Wednesday afternoon by J. P. Siler, justice of the peace. Mr. and Mrs. McCollum plan to live in Lubbock.

Our Libraries Are Neglected, Eleanor Roosevelt Declares

AN ITEM appeared in a New York daily recently heralding the inaugration of a travelling library, going out from the New York Public Library to the outlying districts of our largest city. It reminded me of the fact which I think many of us forget, namely, that even today one of the greatest factors in education and one of the greatest sources of recreation lies in the ability to read books. We have curtailed greatly in many places in the amount spent on existing libraries, not only for salaries of competent librarians but for the purchase of books, and we have never adequately provided for travelling libraries.

This country is well settled today, but there are many areas still where people live very far apart, where even with the automobile it is a long trek to the nearest library, and where to take out a book and return it within the given time, would be almost impossible in the busy season of the year. Even when people are not busy and books could be read, the roads by which they would have to travel are often impassable. The travelling library and a circulating library therefore, where books can be taken from door to door or sent out by mail during bad weather, should receive more thoughtful attention.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt

MANY of the greatest men in history had little or no schooling, but they were well educated because they read really good books, not only once, but many times. In acquiring the habit of reading, several factors are involved: first, we must have the library and have the books accessible to our people, then our children must learn to read in the right way. I do not mean a certain number of words, but that they must have been given sufficient power of concentration to sit down with a book and enjoy it, even though it does not give them a murder on every page. They must have acquired a taste as early as possible for the best books so that they will not spend all their time reading trash.

WE sadly neglect one of the greatest books of literature—the Bible. If we study the list which Lincoln, Washington and Jefferson had at hand, we would find that the Bible, Plutarch's Lives and the classics in general formed the basis of all their reading and I still believe that at this time when we are looking forward to greater leisure we cannot do better than insist that our children start with this same list so that they will recognize, when they come to modern literature, what is really good. They could not have a better background for general education, and the power to read a variety of books will provide them with entertainment as well for leisure hours. I hope that in every community, large or small we will do what we can to encourage the establishment and improvement of libraries.

Long Absence From Fashions Is Blamed By Designer On Failure To Avoid Use For Sombre Lines

Lace Dresses Should Be In Wardrobe Year Around

BY JEAN PATOU
Written for NEA Service

PARIS, Aug. 18—Of all fabrics, lace is the one which unites femininity, richness and discretion. It lends itself better than any other to the creation of elegant dresses which are destined to the woman of distinction. No wardrobe is complete without a lace dress, and this applies to both summer and winter.

The mode is essentially capricious. Some mediums which might be considered as basic elements of the mode are nevertheless subject to disfavor and even complete abandon, just because they happen to be out of style.

Fault of Creators

As a matter of fact, I believe that no element of fashions ever completely disappears and that even the most abused mediums invariably return to favor after a more or less lengthy period of neglect.

The almost total disappearance of lace from the fashion field a few years ago is perhaps one of the most striking examples of the fickleness of the mode. Creators seemed to get no inspiration at all in the handling of lace—most lace models were somber and sadlooking. Another factor was that it was never possible to be assured of the necessary supply, supposing a lace dress did meet with a certain amount of success.

Conditions Altered

Things have changed considerably since then. Lace has resumed its old place as a classic fabric and it is reasonably safe to forecast a long and continued success for it. The modernistic patterns and treatment of lace by the producers have inspired the couturiers to a correspondingly modern utilization.

Personally I think that lace and Among Lubbock homes which continue to have well-kept lawns and shrubbery, regardless of the withering sun, are the Colonial residence of Dr. and Mrs. R. T. Canon, 2613 Nineteenth street, and the contrasting English home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Parsons, 2523 Nineteenth street.

A rustic atmosphere pervades the home and grounds of the Canon home. From the entrance one sees a huge bank of trumpet vines, with their orange colored blossoms, a number of trees and profuse shrubbery, with the white green-shuttered home set far back, consistent with its surroundings.

The bank of trumpet vines is against the garage and forms one of the three sides of enclosing shrubbery for the lawn at the front. This shrubbery on the south side includes crepe myrtle, hedge bushes, cedars and a silver leafed maple. In the front are blooming mesquite trees, cedar, paradise bushes and other shrubbery.

Two weeping willows and a huge apricot tree form a background for the trumpet vines.

Hedges Are Growing

To the right of this is the driveway and walk with a lilac and a privet hedge at the edge of the property to the right of the drive. The walk leads to the entrance of the home. On each side of the entrance are spiraea and other low shrubbery.

Around the east side of the home, a walk leads to where trees form a shade for table and chairs. There

The Woman's Angle

BY MARGARET TURNER
Woman's Editor

MRS. Anna Dall, daughter of the President, tells this one on herself.

It happened at a White House dance. She had been talking to one young man for some time when she beckoned to a friend to break in. He did immediately and asked for a dance. They had gone only a few steps when the first man cut in. He explained quite seriously: "That fellow just cut in because he thought I was stuck with you and I came back to show him I wasn't—I like you very much."

SHE'S BACK AGAIN

SIGN-of-the-times department: The return of the gold-digger. It seems that the depression more or less awoke the parasite type of woman to the advantages of doing for herself if she wanted to impress her man. Slowly but surely the heartless little creature seems to be coming into her own again as she begins to bum everything from cigarets to vanity cases and perfume—even to spare change from the boy friend.

DOTS AND DASHES

A CERTAIN Tech football player, who for three years carried the mail for his dear old mater, wanted to know what the school colors were . . . Suppose he's color blind to those brilliant scarlet sweaters? . . . Juanita Mills, of Levine's, looks fresher at the end of a hot day than most of us do when we first begin the day's work. . . Mrs. Kenneth Oberholtzer, wife of the Lubbock High school superintendent, remembers names and faces to a marked degree . . . This memory trait must come in handy when one moves to a new town as she has done . . . One of the younger members of the younger generation startled her mother by requesting that an evening dress be made wide enough at the hem "so'es I can run in it" . . . The high school set went on a Louisiana hayride the other night . . . We don't know how that differs from a Texas hayride but it strikes us that hay is getting to be rather expensive to use as upholstering for a wagon bed . . .

SIGNS OF FALL

NOT since we were a child in the grade school and our mother started sewing on the black bloomers and plaid woolen skirts and white middy blouses about this time of the year have we been so filled with enthusiasm for fall and the re-opening of the schools.

Out at Tech college two graceful dormitories will house eds and co-eds who come from far and near and changes in the curricula and extra-curricula are promised. Lubbock public schools have a new superintendent, who will bring new methods and ideas to hundreds of children.

While we haven't had the much needed rain and the summer has been disappointing in some ways, already there are signs of fall. The leaves on the trees outside our bedroom window are turning a bit yellow. Show windows have blossomed forth in full splendor with what mllady is to wear this fall and early winter.

Our white shoes are wearing out and we are tired of our too much laundered and sadly faded summer cottons. The days may be too warm for comfort but have you noticed the chill of the early dawn?

Collegians are arriving already. We've seen signs of football season in early advertising material and magazines. We are getting the spirit of Indian summer. A sure sign is the ripening of late peaches in the back yard.

NO department of a city paper reveals more human misery than does the personal column set in the classified advertising pages. Letters from the love-lorn may be faked, but one would hardly pay to see a sentence facetiously placed in a paid section of the news columns.

Some of the requests are strange and some are humorous. If a good writer could ascertain the misery that lies back of some of those jerky sentences he could make a fortune writing short stories of the O. Henry type. Mark Hellinger's tales are somewhat of this nature.

Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Williamson, 712 Avenue L, have as their guests their daughter-in-law, Mrs. J. B. Ward, and her three children, J. B. Madeline and Yvonne Williamson, and Mr. Cross, all of Colorado City.

Lubbock Homes

is also a summer house here.

An ususual plot is formed at the back. There is a rock wall fence at the back of the property and behind it are poplars and other trees and cane. An outstanding feature here of the place is a rock fireplace in the center of the rock fence. An iron pot usually hangs here.

Rock Garden Grows

To the right of the fireplace is a rock garden, with spruce trees and small plants planted among the rocks. Many of the rocks were brought here from other places. A low silver colored plant forms a border for the lawn.

In the plots there are several trees. In the shade of one tree is a cement bench. Against the house are blue daisy bushes.

A gardener takes care of Mrs. Canon's plants part of the time. She said her lawn and plants must be watered continually. Most of her plants are green throughout the winter.

Forming a contrast to the rustic colonial atmosphere of the Canon home is the English home and grounds of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Parsons.

Have Lily Pond

A refreshing spot at the Parson home is a lily pond in front of the brick garage at the back. The water in the pond keeps the surrounding plants green and luxurious. These plants include juniper, a red cedar tree, nandinia, marigolds, honeysuckle, hedge bushes and a blackberry bush. Among the plants are unusual flowers which were shipped from South Texas. On the pond are many lilies. Gold fish swim in and out.

On the east side of a brick terrace is a yellow rose and spiraea hedge. An outdoor living room suite and a a croquet set are placed on the lawn. Many hours are spent here, Mrs. Parsons said. Two spot lights illuminate the place at night.

Myrtle Is Blooming

Against the back of the home are pink and lavender crepe myrtle, a pussy willow and other shrubbery. At the edge of the lawn on the west is a Russian olive hedge and vitex and butterfly bush.

At the side of the garage is a weeping willow and back of it is a rose garden. A row of poplar trees grows at the back.

Mrs. Parsons prefers shrubbery rather than flowers at the front of her home, she said. On each side of the entrance are pfitzer juniper. There are four cedar trees in the bed at the front, and several Chinese junipers. An English ivy vine is climbing the side of the house.

A bed at the side of the front of the lawn contains cedars, Colorado blue spruce and an odd tree.

The lawn is watered by stationary sprinklers which were or originally level with the grass. The sand has drifted in and raised the lawn several inches until it is almost a foot above the sprinklers. Mrs. Parsons said they intended to have lawn dug up and replanted on a level with the sprinklers next year.

Premiere Will Resemble That Of Hollywood

Local Talent Is To Be Seen In Colorful Presentation Arranged For Next Friday Evening At Palace

Local talent will impersonate Hollywood movie stars at a premiere to be staged Friday evening at the Palace theater.

Impersonations of stars of all ages will be given, according to C. B. Akers, who is to officiate as master of ceremonies.

Those participating will be driven to the Palace theater, where under brilliant lights they will be introduced over a microphone. It is planned to have the entertainment resemble the famous Hollywood premieres staged by Sid Grauman.

After the presentation the "actors" will be seen on the stage in the theater. Singing, dancing, wisecracking and skits have been planned as features.

"We have some really remarkable resemblances," said Mr. Akers. "Little or no make-up will be needed by some contestants while others, with more make-up, will look like the stars to a marked degree."

the corresponding effects it is possible to achive with it should never be overdone.

Must Be Combined

I have invariably found it necessary to combine it with some other fabric, either much lighter or more substantial.

The most harmonious combination is undoubtedly chiffon and lace. Both are transparent but give different effects. The natural decorative quality of the lace is enhanced by the plain fabric. The gown's attraction is made of halftones, an effect impossible to obtain with any other medium. A high-surfaced satin also provides an excellent foil or background for the finer laces.

WATERMELON APPETIZER

Prepare balls of watermelon and arrange on glass plates. Garnish with sprigs of mint and put a green maraschino cherry in the center of the melon balls. Pour over some of the juice from the cherries and serve.

Work To Begin On New Route

Ralls To Floydada Highway Is To Receive Attention In Construction; Route Is Changed Slightly

By Staff Correspondent

CROSBYTON, Aug. 18—Surveying of the recently designated state highway between Ralls and Floydada was started this week by a county crew, according to R. L. Travis, commissioner. As soon as the survey is completed the court will begin securing land for a 100-foot right-of-way.

"We will use the same route we have from Ralls to Cone," Mr. Travis said. "From there north to the county line will angle off a little to the east. The only change in the right-of-way will be north of Cone."

To Secure Right-of-way

Cone is eight miles north of Ralls and is the only community through which the highway passes. The county line is about six miles north of Cone.

It is understood here that Floyd county will likewise secure the necessary right-of-way for its part of the 25-mile road between the two towns. Last year the two counties worked over the present road, graded up the shoulders, widened the barrow pits and built a new road down the south caprock of Blanco Canyon. The north caprock road also was widened.

At the present time there is a tentative designation of a state road from Ralls south to Post. An attemp is being made in some quarters to secure further designation from Floydada north to Silverton, in Briscoe county.

The Chessboard

The Chessboard challenges local players to a match.

If the challenge is accepted, we will take the white; the readers the black. Do you have any particular opening you'd like to play?

There will be one move each week, the majority choice to be black's selection. Suggested moves must be in by Thursday nights.

Breyer Brilliancy

Julius Breyer was a chess player of world-championship caliber. He gave his name to a variation of the king's gambit. He suggested, that since the idea of White's attack is to be made on the KBP, he would do well to seize the file immediately and not obstruct the queen by N-KB3. So he moved 3 Q-B3. This game does not illustrate that point, but it does show Breyer's ability.

Only Three Of Five Gins In Crosbyton Area Will Operate

CROSBYTON, Aug. 18 — Only three of the five cotton gins located here will operate this year, it was said as gin owners agreed upon a program that would meet conditions here.

West Texas gin, the McDaniel-Carter gin and the Cooperative Gin No. 2 will operate. The latter has ginned its first bale.

Closed will be the Fuller gin and the Farmers gin.

Ed Wren, local ginner, has estimated Crosbyton will gin 1,000 bales this year and the county as a whole, 3,000 bales. The south part of the county will gin more as it has the best prospects.

Several farmers place the total as low as 2,500 bales, but the majority see 3,000 bales and more. Late August rains would increase the possibilities of a larger crop.

Joe Gerrity, Dallas, campaign manager for John Pundt, candidate for Texas railroad commissioner, is to be in Lubbock Monday and will make a speech in behalf of Pundt's candidacy in the street just east of Hotel Lubbock Monday night at 8:30, it was announced from Pundt headquarters in Hotel Lubbock Saturday.

Mr. Pundt collapsed while making a speech in San Antonio Thursday night and will be unable to continue his tour of the state. His collapse was due to injuries suffered in an automobile wreck near Victoria about a month ago in which his publicity director, Preston Sneed of Dallas, was fatally injured.

R. C. (Sport) Wooldridge of Dallas, former Lubbock resident, has been handling Pundt's campaign in northwest Texas.

Boy From "'Tother Side Of The Ridge" Heads World Baptists, Hill Folk Learn

SHOOTING CREEK, N. C., Aug. 18 (AP)—"And they say C. L. Truett's boy, George, who was raised in the farmhouse 'tother side of the ridge, is now headman of all the Baptists in the world."

That, in substance, is the talk going the rounds in the mountains of Clay county since word filtered in from "out yander" that Dr. George W. Truett, pastor of the First Baptist church in Dallas, Texas, has been elected president of the Baptist World Alliance meeting in Berlin, Germany.

GEORGE TRUETT

Older folks remember the day George as born in the crude farmhouse over the ridge. It was May 6, 1867. And they recall, too, how the youngster spent his boyhood working long nours in his father's rocky, stumpy fields.

Founds High School

There wasn't much chance for schooling, and although his education was limited, he started teaching the neighborhood children at the age of 18. A year or two later he founded the high school at Hiasse, Ga., and was its principal three years. Then he journeyed to Texas.

Baylor university at Waco, Texas, was having financial trouble. Somebody told the trustees of "a young fellow named Truett who has a way of getting people to do what he wants them to do."

Graduated With Honors

On the recommendation they elected him financial secretary of the university. And a year or two later he had the school free of debt.

Truett became a student in the university he had pulled out of the red, and four years later he was graduated with high honors.

After serving as pastor of a church in East Waco for a year, he was called to the First Baptist church in Dallas in 1897 at the age of 30.

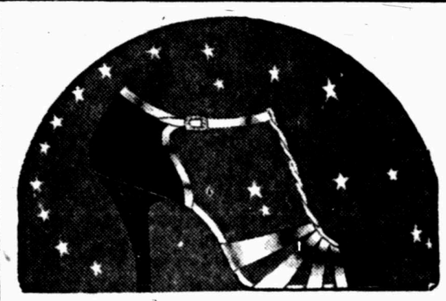

He has held that pastorate without interruption for 37 years.

Marlene Dietrich And Mate Use "Please Yourself" System In Marriage

BY DAN THOMAS
NEA Service Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 18 — Ever since Marlene Dietrich came to Hollywood, people have wondered how she and her husband managed to get along so well in spite of their long separations and Marlene's frequent appearances with other men.

MARLENE DIETRICH

Well, here's the answer. Regardless of whether hubby Rudolph Sieber is in Germany or here, both he and Marlene do just as they please.

The other night they entertained Maurice Chevalier at dinner and planned to attend a theater afterward. Just as they were about to leave, Sieber decided he wanted to see a movie at a neighborhood theater. He went—alone. And Marlene and Maurice proceeded to the theater.

Blind Boy Makes Friends On The Air With Short Wave Radio Set He Built

MOHNTON, Pa., Aug. 18 (AP)—Amateur radio operators in various parts of the country have "talked" on the air with station WSCKD in this little town near Reading, but few of them know the station was built and is operated by a youth blind since birth.

James C. Mohn—"Sunshine Jimmy" they call him—has been working on the station in his home since 1930. He's 22 years old and hopes to spend the rest of his days in his workshop, because he "gets so much pleasure out of communicating with boys, many of them shut-ins," and because of the friends he makes.

In Touch With Others

Jimmy built his first short wave receiver shortly after taking up the study of radio.

"I was fascinated with the idea of being able to listen to boys in different parts of the country talking to each other," he says. "I wrote to several, reporting on the reception of their signals, and they began keeping regular schedules with me. I received my temporary license in 1932 and an unlimited amateur radio phone operator's license in 1933.

Forwards Parents' Notes

"Because of the struggle I have had in the past, I am better able to appreciate what many people have to face and so it has always been my desire to try to spread a little sunshine on the air."

Mohn sends messages from parents to boys in camps and schools. He even aids business people, and his station has become an institution in the community. His fan mail is heavy.

Jimmy answers all his mail on a typewriter. His mother and friends read the letters to him, just as they did his course of instructions on radio.

State Department Of Health Advocates Early Vaccination Of Children Of School Age

AUSTIN, Aug. 18 (Special)—The schools throughout Texas will soon be opening for another term and the Texas State Department of Health urges the parents of school children to see that they are protected against disease in so far as possible. Vaccination against typhoid, diphtheria and smallpox should be done at once.

School children are exposed to much infection so that where a definite preventive is known, parents should take advantage of it. These vaccinations may save many days out of school, doctors fees, and maybe life itself. More than six hundred children die each year in Texas from diphtheria.

The child should be taken to his family physician at this time for a physical examination to determine f he has any remedial defects. A child with subnormal eyesight or hearing cannot be expected to do as well in his studies as one that has normal sight and hearing. A dentist should be consulted in regard to the teeth. Any defect found and corrected before school opens will mean much to the child and will have its effect on his school work as well as his physical well being.

Some physical defects of children, such as underweight or mal-nourishment, show no appreciable present effect. If such a condition is not corrected it may result seriously in later years. No hard and fast rules as to a child's weight at a certain age are available, but parents should see whether or not the child shows some gain each month.

Federal Home Renovating, Building Campaign Seen As Rescue To Construction

Increase Seen In Contracts

Campaign Comes At Right Time To Offset Decline In Residential Building, Official Of Dodge Corp. Says

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Aug. 18—The federal home renovating and building campaign comes at a time when it is needed to rescue the residential building industry.

This is indicated by the statistics just issued on the volume of contracts let for July.

Total residential building contracts let in the 37 states east of the Rockies in July, according to F. W. Dodge corp., amount to $19,379,100, compared with $26,565,200 in June and $23,630,400 in July of last year.

Have Seen Lower

L. Seth Schnitman, chief statistician of the Dodge corp., said in an interview:

"Since April, residential building contracts have been running consistently lower than in the same months in 1933. A decline in the last three months especially accentuates a necessity for speeding the program of the federal housing administration as to modernizing and home building, for unless the plan takes hold quickly, we must resign ourselves to a residential building contract volume for the remainder of the year below the comparative totals of 1933."

Banks Cooperating

Statistics are not yet available as to the initial response of the home modernizing campaign launched this week, but the widely expressed willingness of banks to co-operate in making the partly guaranteed loans has led to high hopes of a substantial pickup in building during the autumn. Stagnation of building still represents one of the major problems of restoring employment.

For the year to Aug. 1 residential building contracts are still above 1933, woing to the relatively better comparisons with the preceding year in the early months. The total for non-residential building is more encouraging, aggregating for July $60,753,000, against $43,141,900 for June, and $39,983,000 in July of 1933.

was in the projection room looking at rushes, she slipped quietly into the darkened room to wait for him. The scene which they were viewing was of Francis Lederer and Joan Bennett, surprised in a room together by a stiff-necked minister.

JOAN BENNETT

As the scene ended, Lederer dashed for the window and made his escape. But before the "take" was cut, Hall's voice from behind the camera was heard to wise-crack, "I escaped down a fire- escape that way once myself."

Then the lights went on and he found Lola staring at him. Was his face red!

Movie Inflation

IN an advertising "trailer" for "Cleopatra" there is a scene in which Cecil B. DeMille asks his assistant how many sheilds were bought for the soldiers in the picture and the assistant truthfully replies, "Three hundred."

After the picture got a big response at a preview, DeMille looked at the "trailer" again. "Better change that 300 to 3000," he ordered.

AND now we have it from W. C. Fields' own lips that the only reason he is alive today is because he didn't have a bed to sleep in when he was a boy. After running away from home, he had no place to sleep. Finally he found a vacant club room and moved in. Each night he would take the door off its hinges and lay it across two boards for a bed. During the winter months it wasn't at all unusual for him to awaken under several inches of snow. And just a few weeks ago he learned that during that time he had tuberculosis.

City Canning Plant Is Being Started For Crosbyton Area

By Staff Correspondent

CROSBYTON, Aug. 18—Remodeling of a building recently purchased by the city from Paudler and Lamar, for establishment of a city canning plant, has been started and as soon as the structure is ready, equipment will be installed, says Albert Crandall, a relief official.

A project was recently approved by the state relief commission with the understanding the city would furnish the building; the structure to revert to it when the work is finished. The state commission authorized purchase of $750 worth of equipment, to be bought locally.

Gas, water and sewer connections are being made. When in operation the plant is expected to employ 30 to 35 people daily.

Primarily, it was explained, the plant is being established for the producer who wants to can on a 50-50 basis, the commission keeping half of the cans for doing the work.

Dust Storms Made Iowa State Of Greater Fertility—Belief

IOWA CITY, Ia., Aug. 18. (AP) — Dust storms, which reddened the eyes of Iowans during the spring drouth this year, are believed by geologists to be largely responsible for the fact that Iowa is a rich agricultural region.

Dr. George F. Kay, geologist at the University of Iowa, explains how it happened.

"Fifty thousand years ago," he says, "there were dust storms which covered Iowa with the fine, pebbleless soil the farmer is now plowing. The dust brought in by those windstorms covered the less valuable or worthless 'drift' left Iowa by the glaciers with a soil which has made the state famous."

The wind-blown soils cover three-fourths of the state, he adds—the best farming and dairying areas.

We're Flocking To Mexico

MEXICO is drawing tourists from Texas. From Lubbock, from Dallas, from Waco, Ft. Worth and everywhere else, vacationists are flocking to Mexico City and much of the money which once was spent in France, England and Switzerland is being spent with our sister republic.

The greatest influx of visitors in all history is flocking Southward by train, by automobile and by air and the capital to the South of us is being called upon to entertain our people in ever-growing numbers. In fact, our people are storming the land of Popocatepl.

So great has been the American tourist business this summer, that the federal government has taken notice of it and has interested itself in trying to make available more accommodations. A census of private homes whose owners are willing to rent a few rooms to tourists is being taken by the department of commerce. Hotel accommodations are inadequate. Many Americans arriving in Mexico last month found it impossible to obtain rooms in hotels. Some had to call upon acquaintances while others were taken care of by the Pullman company in sleeping cars lying idle in railroad yards.

Indications are said to be that next year's rush will be greater than this year's. The Rotary and the Lions clubs have selected Mexico City for their international conventions. The international highway from Laredo to the capital is nearing completion. This is expected to draw thousands of motorists.

This turning of Americans to Mexico should have in it advantages to both countries. The peoples of the two nations will become better acquainted, which will mean a strengthening of the ties between the two countries.

There is every reason why the United States and Mexico should be as close and as friendly in their relations as the United States and Canada. The increased tourist travel to the southern republic should tend to bring this about.

THE TAXPAYER'S BURDEN

Official Washington figures reveal that at least 15 per cent of the nation's population are getting their living in part or in whole from the federal government.

The percentage is arrived at by doubling the 7,539,936 persons officially listed as receiving government money, in order to include their dependents. The recipients include government employees and members of the army and navy, and of the civilian conservation corps, war veterans, persons engaged on emergency work projects and those receiving emergency relief.

There are, of course, a great number of persons who must be aided by the government if they are to be saved from starvation. Their cases represent an emergency that has to be met and taken care of in some form.

But what about that huge army of federal employees that continues to grow as politicians fatten at the patronage trough? That many of these fill unessential posts is a commonly known fact.

It is time for public opinion to express itself and in a way that it can not be misunderstood. Otherwise, many present taxpayers soon have to go on relief rolls.

LOWER BUILDING COSTS

Building has lagged behind other industries in the slow, tedious climb out of stagnation and the reasons are restricted credit and high prices. People have been unable to borrow for construction purposes and if they could building costs have been exorbitant measured on a basis of sound financing.

There had to be a break sometime and it has come; the lumber industry taking the first step. The Lumber Code Authority has approved of price cuts by manufacturers and retailers which mean a 15 per cent saving for the builder.

Construction will find in this a real impetus, since lumber is a major item in all house construction and in most other building. A 15 per cent saving on his lumber bill is an almost irresistible incentive for the prospective home builder to point his stakes for the surveyors.

Now if the building trades would agree to reasonable wages the country would witness a rapid recovery for the entire building industry. Labor costs, especially in the larger communities, have continued prohibitive in comparison with other costs. Some trades could accept a 50 per cent reduction in their wage scales and still draw a larger hourly wage than most professional men.

Today's One-Minute Sermon

It is an honor for a man to cease from strife; but every fool will be meddling.

The sluggard will not plough by reason of the cold; therefore shall he beg in harvest and have nothing.

Counsel in the heart of a man is like deep water; but a man of understanding will draw it out.—Proverbs, 20:3, 4 and 5.

The National Whirligig

The News Behind The News

WASHINGTON
By George Durno

ANOTHER sweet head-hunting expedition is under way in the Department of Commerce.

"Practical politicians" are gunning for 'Gene Vidal, former West Point All-American footballer and World War aviator, who is now Director of the Bureau of Air commerce. Vidal is the young man whose great ambition is to prove that a "flivver" airplane can be produced with profit.

Bolos are zinging around his official head daily and getting closer and closer. More lethal weapons would be brought into play were it not for fear on the opposition's part that Vidal has a White House stand-in.

Those trying to ease out the federal air boss whisper one principal complaint.

From their viewpoint Vidal has failed to clean house sufficiently in his government bureau to make way for deserving Democrats in need of jobs. That Lindbergh and other leaders utterly condemn all plans to let tyros flivver around in the air isn't being talked about.

A second public complaint concerns a nationally-known aviator who violated some Department of Commerce rule recently in landing at New York. A subordinate set the flier down for 30 days but Vidal, a good friend of the flier's, lightened the penalty to a $25 fine.

TREASON: The cry over waste of taxpayer's money is ages old but every so often a situation crops up that merits particular attention, even though the amount involved be comparatively small.

Consider the case of the red-hot Republican whose home town is next door to President Roosevelt's Hyde Park residence, but who spends his winters in Florida.

The authorities of a popular Florida resort city have been pulling every wire to extradite this man from New York for trial on the grave charge of threatening the life of the President of the United States.

Three witnesses have been sent from Florida to New York State to swear to the utterance of the threat. All had their expenses paid of course, as did the Florida legal representative. One of the witnesses was a man in his eighties who overhead the dire remarks with the aid of an ear trumpet.

It seems that last winter the New Yorker got involved in a political argument at a dinner in the Florida town. His G. O. P. convictions bubbled to the surface so strongly that finally he inferred the New Deal was all wet, that Franklin D. Roosevelt was leading the country straight to ruin, that FDR was no superman and ought to be strung up—and that he, the New Yorker, would just as soon tackle the job.

If President Roosevelt heard about this he unquestionably would get a hearty laugh and have the charges dismissed. His mind would conjure up a vision of how full our jails would be if punishment had been meted out to every citizen who made similar statements regarding the Chief Executive in the heat of private argument between 1922 and 1932—to say nothing of 1934!

GADFLY: Democratic alchemists are busy in their laboratories concocting a political potion that will eliminate Senator William E. Borah of Idaho from public life in 1936.

Recognizing the nationwide attention their potential victim commands the plotters are building their recipe for extermination with care. In two years they hope to have one so deadly that Borah's toes will curl up decisively.

And right at this minute you can get bets among the Democrats that Idaho's Lone Wolf will be beaten for reelection when he runs two years hence.

Borah is a source of considerable annoyance to the New Deal. At the moment he is conducting a one-man campaign against the iniquities of NRA and AAA. What hurts is that everything he says gets big space in the newspapers. Calvin Coolidge once said that the only thing Borah really knows is publicity.

During the next two years you will hear again and again what a destructionist Borah is. You will be reminded that—outside of the Constitution—he has rarely ever defended anything publicly. It will be pointed out through a hundred indirect channels that in all his long Senate career his name has never appeared on a piece of important legislation.

In 1936 Borah will be 71 years old. It may be that his ill-wishers count on the years slowing him up as a campaigner. It may even be that those forces outside of Idaho whose champion Borah has long been have another man in grooming to be their spokesman. A man who works with and is respected by the nation's leaders might be more valuable than the lone wolf has ever been.

NOTES: A Washington pessimist predicts that the New Deal's next step will be nationalization of copper. "Our pennies are the only things they haven't got at yet," he explains. . . . White House reporters couldn't believe their eyes the other day when Comptroller General J. R. McCarl walked out of the Presidential offices . . . McCarl is the villain who watches legality of federal expenditures and the expense accounts of traveling government employes. . . . He is rounding out a 15-year term but it was the first time in many a day he'd been seen around the White House. . . . Local observers are betting that Ferdinand Pecora, despite his crusading background as Senate prosecutor of the New York Stock Exchange, won't hold out for any really tough regulations by the Securities and Exchange commission. . . . His friends say he was boxed out of the commission's chairmanship and he doesn't aim to stick his neck out unduly.

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

THE investment bankers are about to police their own back yard.

Members of the code authority for the business were intensely annoyed to find that several dealers had flagrantly violated the code in marketing the recent Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio issues. The violations were of a nature the public wouldn't notice but the informed call them old-fashioned chiselling.

Some of the offenders are scheduled to be cast into outer darkness. This evidence of self-discipline will be widely and forcefully announced. The investment firms aim to show the world they can clean their own house as effectively as the SEC or any other agency could do it for them.

FRICTION: About two hundred banks are members of the Investment Bankers' association and they don't like the way things are working out at all. The code abolished their long-held privileged status as securities buyers.

Banks as such used to rate special concessions on a new issue—even when they were buying only for their own account. Now they're on the same footing as any other buyer unless they participate in the underwriting risk. The situation has caused plenty of friction between banks and dealers. Strenuous private complaints by the banks have fallen on deaf ears.

BONDS: Well-posted New Yorkers say the recent decline in the bond market is nothing to lose sleep about. They describe it as due to a dealers' panic. Dealers have been dumping everything off their shelves that showed the slightest signs of stickiness—but the public hasn't caught the contagion. As long as that's true there's no cause for agitation.

The only real harm the slump has done has been to blackjack plans for new financing. Recently there were about 100 callable issues on the New York Stock and Curb exchanges selling above their redemption price—and many corporations were talking happily about new bond at lower interest. But now they'll have to wait until buyers recover from their current attack of nerves.

THE NEW BOOKS

"Brain Guy" Reveals Descent Into Life Of Crime; Biography Of John Hunt Morgan Among New Books; Damon Runyon Gives Collection Of His Wise-Cracking Yarns In New Book

"BRAIN GUY," by Benjamin Appel; (Alfred A. Knopf, New York).

"BRAIN GUY," by Benjamin Appel, is the story of how an ordinary young man turns from law-abiding citizen into a gangster.

It tells about a young chap in New York who collects rents for a real estate outfit. His job takes him down along the fringes of gangland, for his firm owns many tenements; and while he isn't averse to shaking the tenants down for his own benefit, when he finds them conducting illegal businesses in the company's property, he is still a more or less well-intentioned and upright lad—until, suddenly, he loses his job.

Drifts Into Underworld

Then, almost without meaning to, he drifts into the underworld. It's hard to find a job, and the lure of easy money is strong. So he uses his knowledge of the neighborhood storekeepers' financial arrangements to tip off a local stick-up artist. A series of corner holdups follows, and he takes his cut.

At first he refuses to look on himself as a member of the underworld. He will collect a stake and then quit, go somewhere else and get into an honest business. . . . But he keeps getting in deeper and deeper. He finds himself looked up to as the "brain guy" for a growing neighborhood gang; he gets involved at last, in a murder—and finds that the only direction he can go is forward.

At Head of Gang

So, at the end, we find him the head of a minor gang, up to his neck in it. He will become, very soon, either a big shot or a corpse. There's no other alternative.

It makes an interesting story; a little slow in its pace, perhaps, but exceedingly readable, nevertheless.

John Hunt Morgan

"THE REBEL RAIDER," by Howard Swiggett; (Bobbs-Merrill, Indianapolis).

THEY still frighten children down in the Ohio river country with the name of John Hunt Morgan. This Confederate cavalry leader, who led his brigade on a raid up through Indiana and Ohio in the summer of 1863, achieved one of the most sensational stunts of the Civil war and scared the good burghers of the Ohio valley worse than Lee himself did.

Now he finds a biographer, and a good one, in Howard Swiggett, whose "The Rebel Raider" subjects his career to an intelligent analysis.

Design Behind Raid

Morgan's famous raid, says Mr. Swiggett, looks like wasted effort, from a military viewpoint. But back of it, he believes—and he assembles a lot of facts to support his theory—there was a far-reaching design on the part of the government at Richmond which made it a political, rather than a military, adventure.

This design, as Mr. Swiggett sees it, was simply this: To provide a rallying point for the great Copperhead conspiracy in the northwestern states, help the malcontents in Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois seize their state governments, pull those states out of the war entirely and thus bring southern victory.

Couldn't Produce

The scheme failed, he believes, because the Copperhead leaders were better at talk than at action. When the crucial moment came, they simply couldn't produce.

Morgan's men alienated their sympathies, too, by their unrestrained conduct, Mr. Swiggett adds. They got jittery and the great plan for a northern rebellion fell flat.

This makes a very readable biography, and it gives an interesting new slant on the subterranean politics of the Civil War.

Runyon Stories

"BLUE PLATE SPECIAL," by Damon Runyon; (Stokes, N. Y.)

IN every great American city there is an odd twilight zone, peopled by a queer and racy tribe—the gangsters, the gamblers, the touts, the hangers-on and the thousand and one varieties of big and little racketeers.

You can find much to be frightened at, in this zone, or you can find much to amuse you. It all depends on how you look at it.

Good Collection

Damon Runyon finds amusement there, and he knows how to communicate it. His newest book of short stories, "Blue Plate Special," is a jovial, cynically-sentimental collection of tales which make astonishingly entertaining reading.

You'll find here such favorities as "Little Miss Marker," the story of the little girl who was adopted by a bunch of Broadway hard guys, and "Dancing Dan's Christmas," which tells how a jewel robber drank too much Tom and Jerry one Christmas eve and went out and stuffed a quarter million dollars' worth of "hot" diamonds in the stocking of a nice old lady, thereby confirming her in her belief in Santa Claus.

Relieved By Wisecracks

Most of the yarns are in that vein—sentiment relieved by wisecracks. They don't cut very deep, but they will fill in a few evenings for you acceptably.

Don't read too many of them at one sitting. If you do, you'll find the Broadwayese jargon in which they are told rather tiring and affected. In small doses, however, these stories will provide a good deal of amusement.

On A Handsome Chauffeur

"HEIRS OF MRS. WILLINGDON," by Mathilde Eiker; (Doubleday, Doran, N. Y.)

WHEN a rich old woman dies, childless, the surviving relatives are more or less likely to leap upon the estate with well-sharpened knives.

But if, in addition, she was a scandalous old dame who carried on flagrantly with her chauffeur and heaped rich gifts upon him throughout a decade of zestful but sinful living, then the relatives will advance to the attack like an army with banners, full of righteousness and covetousness.

Dates Chauffeur

This is the situation you get in Mathilde Eiker's satiric novel, "Heirs of Mrs. Willingdon."

Mrs. Willingdon was the widow of a rich New Yorker. She solaced her declining years with her handsome chauffeur, and her adult stepchildren all gave her the cold shoulder. When she died, her estate, under her husband's will, reverted to these stepchildren; but she had loaded the chauffeur with so many gifts that the heirs felt they had been gypped. So they set out to make him disgorge.

Situation Complicated

Two factors complicated the situation. One of the heirs, not joining in the scramble, promptly hired the chauffeur for herself; and the son of another heir fell violently in love with the chauffeur's lovely daughter.

Out of all this Mrs. Eiker has constructed a sardonic and entertaining book.

The Foreign Situation

Austrian Coup Which Cost Dollfuss His Life Explained

Austria

FEW know how nearly the attempted Nazi coup in Vienna came to success. The seemingly crack-brained conspiracy was based on facts that have not appeared in the papers.

A harmless looking telegram announcing a "summer party on July 25th" dispatched from a Bavarian town to Vienna—set in motion a plan which was to cost the Little Chancellor his life and brought Austria to the verge of civil war. It was the same plan which a Franciscan monk had reported to Dollfuss two months previously and which now has been found in the possession of a Nazi agent.

Mobilization Planned

During a cabinet meeting the entire government was to be arrested by an Austrian Schutzstaffel Standard and forced to resign. The news was to be broadcast by the state radio station which was to be taken simultaneously with the Chancellor's palace, whereupon all Nazis were to mobilize nationally. The leaderless army and police would wait for orders. Saturated with Nazi sympathizers they would swing over as soon as Dr. Anton Rinteien, Minister to Rome, was proclaimed Chancellor and his men had taken up the vacant commands. The rivalry between the semi-military organizations—the aristocratic Fascist Heimwehr (Home Guard), led by Major Fey, and the Sturmscharen (a Catholic private army founded by Kurt Schuschnigg)—would make concerted action by the Chancellor's supporters impossible once Dollfuss' unitiug personality was removed. Fey and the radical Heimwehr men, who hated Dollfuss, were regarded by the Nazis as especially easy converts.

The broad masses of the population, which are against a union with Germany, were to be calmed by an immediate proclamation of Austria's independence "from all Powers." In fact the whole coup was to be pulled off as a purely Austrian rising in favor of a strictly Austrian Nazi government. No "invasion" from Germany was to be allowed to give Mussolini an excuse for military intervention. A general election was to prove to the world that Austria was at last really free.

Dollfuss Tricked

Dollfuss didn't believe the Padre's story since Rintelen was practically a prisoner in the Austrian legation in Rome, and because four weeks' watching the men supposed to be slated for a Nazi cabinet brought no results, Dollfuss widn't know that the gumshoes themselves belonged to the Party.

The calculations for the "summer party" missed by the sheerest chance and half an hour. It the police officer who notified Major Fey of the ominous looking street gathering had telephoned to Headquarters, as is customary, instead of to the cabinet meeting, his message would have been intercepted by Nazi agents. When the 69th S. S. Standard—144 men strong, disguised as police and soldiers—drove into the Chancellor's palace the Nazi goose was already cooked. Dollfuss had adjourned the cabinet meeting and sent the ministers home, keeping with him only the members of the Public Security Committee, Fey and Karwinski.

As soon as the news of Dollfuss' arrest by the Nazis came out, and the report of the government's resignation was broadcast at pistol's point, the ministers who had escaped the trap met as a rump cabinet and supplied the police and army with the orders that the Nazis hoped would be lacking. The forces obeyed Schuschnigg as they would have obeyed Rintelen had the entire government been penned up in the Ballhausplatz. With the regulars the semi-military also responded as one to Schuschnigg's orders. The coup had failed. Impressed by the show of force the Viennese Nazis saw that the cause was lost and stayed quietly at home. The revolutionists in the provinces, stronger in numbers and of sterner stuff, carried out their program but, lacking a central leadership, were quickly crushed.

Arrests Are Made

How close a shave it was can be gathered from what the papers are not allowed to publish. Twelve active policemen were among the Nazis who took the Chancellor's palace—that's one of the reasons it was so easy. Fifteen arrests have been made among superior police officers at Headquarters and more are to follow. One of the first acts of the rump cabinet was to remove Fey from his Ministership, as he was suspected of sympathizing with the insurgents. His reinstatement in the insignificant post of Minister of the Interior followed a threat by the Heimwehr, whose favorite he is, to seize the entire police power of Vienna. A high government official remarked to your correspondent that if all the people who had Nazi connections were to be arrested one wouldn't know where to start.

TO honest insiders it is clear that the assassination of Dollfuss was not intended by Rintelen and the leaders of the revolt. They had no intention of beginning their regime with a murder and antagonizing the conservative elements of the country. The Austrian Nazis are different from their German brethren in this regard. Fanatic hatred, nervousness and the hope of fame and glory pulled the trigger of Planetta's gun. Dollfuss was left to die because to announce his shooting by sending for a doctor would have lost the conspirators their trump card for negotiating their safe conduct to the border. They soon realized that their own game was up when soldiers and police appeared to storm the Chancellor's office.

With Dollfuss' death his system undergoes a change. Whether Chancellor Schuschnigg has the political ability to meet the enormous task ahead only the future can tell. He himself is a Christian Socialist, a churchman and leader of the Sturmscharen which he established as a military force to counterbalance the Heimwehr formations. The concentration of the entire police power of the state in the hands of Starhemberg now gives the Heimwehr the front row. Starhemberg is supported by capitalistic interests and wants to deprive the Austrian workers of the extensive privileges which they gained under Socialist rule and which Dollfuss left them even after the February revolt to prevent their joining the Nazis. The Reds are arming again and make it clear that they will resist with violence. Schuschnigg plans a Heimwehr-Sturmschar-Red coalition which—including two-thirds of the Austrian population—would form a "solid" front against the Nazis. But the prospects aren't good and it seems that plenty of trouble is still ahead for Austria. Dollfuss' death and the failure of the coup have made remarkably little impression on the Nazi ranks.

Germany

EUROPEAN public opinion indicts Hitler as murderer of the Austrian Chancellor, but the connection between Berlin and the Vienna insurgents is not so clear as the great anti-Nazi press would have one believe. Although Hitler's plan for the annexation of Austria had become almost a mania with him, Mussolini's violently emphatic no during their conversation in Venice showed the Nazi Chancellor that Italy would stop at nothing to prevent a brown-shirted Vienna, convinced him that a Nazi Austria was out of the question for the time being and even moved him to promise the Duce to stop agitating in Austria. But he had figured without the Austrian Legion.

These fugitives from Dollfuss' dictatorship were encamped on the German frontier awaiting the day of revolution when they were to march on Vienna and become the elite of the new regime. Hitler had solemnly given them his word. When he told their leaders, after his return from Venice, that the Nazi terror in Austria would have to stop, they threatened to expose him as a traitor to his own cause. Fearing this blow to his prestige Hitler let them have their way and the Legion launched a final drive of bombings and sabotage.

Code Word Sent

With the coming of the conservatives to power in Germany, after the suppression of the Storm Troops, strong pressure was brought to bear on Hitler to keep his promise to the Duce and prevent the diplomatic isolation of the country. When black shirt detachments began hemming in the camp of the Austrian Legion in Bavaria and the liberal appropriations for bombs and rifles suddenly stopped, the Legion leaders saw the handwriting on the wall, knew that it was do or die and sent the code word "summer party" to their supporters in Vienna.

According to a reliable insider who was present, the news of the events in Vienna burst on Hitler like a bomb. He was on vacation at his summer villa. With a strong Schutzstaffel detachment he drove to the Legion camp and announced that anyone crossing into Austria would be shot. News of Mussolini's troop concentrations had already come, the coup in Vienna was obviously doomed to failure and now it was a question of getting Germany out of the mess as gracefully as possible. Then came word that the Vienna insurgents had asked for safe conduct to the German border and the German ambassador had intervened in their favor. Hitler replied by saying that they would be arrested on entering Germany, immediately ordered Ambassador Rieth's recall and sent his sensational letter to von Papen. None of these maneuvers did much good. A horrified world pointed the finger of accusation at the man whose policy of brutal violence caused the death of the Little Chancellor.

Whether von Papen will be able to straighten out the Austro-German difficulties and whether Hitler will really give up his annexation plan remain to be seen. For the present a complete retreat is planned to give the German diplomats a chance to mollify the Powers. The German position, financial and diplomatic is becoming more and more desperate and internal discontent is going with great rapidity. Hitler feels that the support of England and Italy, who are both interested in preserving Germany as a counterweight to France's mastery of Europe, will return as soon as public opinion, which forgets so quickly, has gotten over the shock of the Dollfuss murder. Whether Hitler will remain that long is questioned by many insiders.

Italy

MUSSOLINI'S personal pride is a dangerous thing and never has it received so rude a blow as when his ward, the Austrian Chancellor, was murdered on the day before he was to leave for Italy to join his family and the Duce for a summer holiday. The meeting was planned as a particular gesture to show Germany the strength of Austro-Italian friendship. England and France established Italy's protectorate over

South Plains Farmers Receiving Flow Of Cotton Reduction Program Checks

Payments Are Received For Other Benefits

Eighteen Counties To Receive Approximately $3,000,000 In Program; Lubbock's Checks Coming In Now

BY J. SAM LEWIS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

A GOLDEN flow of government checks, in payment for cotton and leased to Uncle Sam, is coming into the South Plains, almost daily, as first payments are being made on more than half a million acres sold.

Some counties have received nearly complete payments, while others had not received their first checks. The delay was due largely to failure of farmers to get a corn-hog contract accepted.

Total Is $2,872,000

Eighteen counties, not including three of the largest, will receive a total of $2,872,000 from this source. This amount includes $2,200,000 in rental payments and a minimum of $670,000 parity payments.

The additional counties, including Crosby, Dickens and Terry, all cotton producing counties, and Bailey should add more than half a million dollars to the lease totals and over $100,000 to the parity totals.

County Gets $160,000

Lubbock county checks so far amount to approximately $160,000, including 36 of $1,600 received Friday. An additional $15,000 is expected, according to Jason Gordon, administrative assistant county agent.

Dickens county has received checks amounting to $53,865, although the total amount of money to be received by the county is available. Grady Lane, county agent, distributed the checks.

Additional checks, received recently in Garza county brought the total to 756 and the amount to $38,-730. Several thousand more dollars will be received soon.

Dawson Gets $93,034

First distribution in Dawson county amounted to $93,034. The county is due about $30,000 more on the first payment.

Hockley county's first payment was $83,527. In all, the county will receive $270,000 for leased acres and $80,000 for parity payments.

Lynn county checks, 2,300 in all, exceed $109,000. The county is due $39,000 in lease payments and $81,000 in parity.

Most of the other counties have received payments.

Lamb county has received substantial payments, as have a number of other counties.

Wheat Checks Received

Besides the cotton checks, some of the counties will begin to receive wheat checks. According to reports

Second payment of 1933 wheat crop is due soon, with the first payment for the 1934 crop shortly afterwards. Both should be made before December, although a slight delay may come in paying the 1934 first payment.

Lubbock's trade territory should receive over a million dollars for the first 1934 payment and $400,000 for the second 1933 payment.

Hale county farmers have due $71,000 as second 1933 payments and $204,000 for 1934 first payments; Floyd $57,000 and $104,000; Castro, $78,000 and $225,000; Crosby, $12,000 and $35,000; Lubbock, $6,500 and $18,000; Swisher, $100,000 and $287,-000; Lamb, $12,000 and $36,000; Briscoe, $19,000 and $54,000; Bailey, $2,500 and $6,400; Hockley, $1,000 and $2,500.

Dakota Farmer Cheats The Drouth

In the center of the drouth country, Knute Oss, farmer living on a 20-acre farm near Mandan, N. D., is beating the drouth with a home-made irrigation system. He is shown here with a ten-pound head of cabbage raised while neighboring crops were withering. Oss lives in the Missouri river bottom and uses a pump and tractor to water his acres. Hockley Dairy Meeting Set

Farmers Of County Are To Gather Tuesday, August 28, For Discussion Of Plans For Industry's Future

By Staff Correspondent

LEVELLAND, Aug. 18.—Farmers and dairymen of Hockley county have been invited to meet here Tuesday, August 28, to discuss the future of dairying in the county. The meeting will be at night in the court room.

W. L. Stangel, head of the animal husbandry department, division of agriculture at Texas Tech, will give the principal talk to the dairymen and others interested.

"We feel that farmers who have dairy cows and dairymen should discuss the present situation, with the sale of so many dairy cattle to the government and the feed crop shortage," C. M. Elder, secretary of the chamber of commerce here, said in discussing the meeting. The local civic group called the meeting.

"There seems to be a tendency to let down in the matter of feeding dairy animals, with the present feed shortage," he added. "Some of us believe this is a mistake. It is better to feed the producing dairy animals we keep and get an income from them, than to let down and when we do have a feed crop, have to spend several more months in building up the herd.

"We know of no better man to talk to our people than Mr. Stangel and we have asked him to discuss feeding problems with us."

The dairy industry in Hockley county is growing or rather has grown in the past several years. More farmers have high grade dairy cattle than ever before; there are many registered animals and a local cheese factory is providing an outlet for butterfat and milk.

Dates Set And Preliminary Plans For 1935 Panhandle-Plains Show Laid

(By Staff Correspondent)

PLAINVIEW, Aug. 18.—Dates for the eighth annual Panhandle-Plains dairy show were set by directors of the organization at a meeting here as April 15-18, 1935. The place is the association's grounds south of the city along Running-water draw.

Joe E. Vaughn, Tulia, president, was in charge of the meeting. It was well attended and considerable interest shown in the annual show in spite of rather dark prospects for the immediate future of the dairy industry in this section.

Shipp Renamed Manager

Grady Shipp, secretary-manager of the Plainview Board of City Development and Chamber of Commerce, was renamed general manager of the show. He announced the following department heads for the eighth show:

Walter W. Evans, Plainview, county agent of Hale county, general superintendent; Rufus N. McClain, Lubbock, assistant county agent Lubbock county, superintendent of Jersey department; D. A. Adam, Amherst, county agent Lamb county, superintendent Holstein department; William T. Magee, Levelland, county agent Hockley county, superintendent Guernsey department; E. Wayne Thomas, Dimmitt, county agent Castro county, superintendent Production department; Charles B. Martin, Tulia, county agent Swisher county, superintendent calf club department; Ray C. Mowery, Lubbock, associate professor of animal husbandry, Texas Tech, superintendent vocational and 4-H judging; Mrs. Julia Kelley, Plainview, home demonstration agent Hale county, superintendent dairy products department; and Frank P. Phillips, Canyon, head department of agriculture, W. T. S. T. C., superintendent educational program.

Executive Group Named

President Vaughn named on the executive committee to serve with him: Roy B. Davis, Plainview; Oscar L. Stansell, Floydada; Lee McSpadden, Amarillo; Dr. Smith J. Underwood, Hale Center, and Charles A. Guy, Lubbock.

It was voted to include in the 1935 premium list showmanship prizes. A page in the program also will be given over to the horse show program.

To Give Medals

The 1934 show list was retained, except that gold medals were substituted for the customary banners as grand championship prizes.

A rule permitting the judge to award ribbons and prize money as he sees fit in classes which have less animals entered than the premium list calls for. This obviates the former rule which gave second money to first place animal in case there were not enough entered to fill the class.

The president named committees as follows:

IMPROVED MAIL SERVICE

LAMESA, Aug. 18 (Special)—Registered mail matter is now being handled into and out of Lamesa via the star route from Snyder to Lamesa, J. D. Dyer, postmaster, states. The mail arrived early in the morning and registered parcels and letters are delivered by carriers on their morning delivery. Outgoing mail, placed in the post-office in the afternoon is sent out at 7 p. m. for Snyder.

Hen Stamps Eggs
Numeral 6 Found On Freak Eggs

HARTSVILLE, Tenn. Aug. 18 (AP)—A hen that lays eggs with the numeral 6 on each shell has become a sensation in this town.

For 12 days in succession she laid eggs thus marked. The number always appears on the blunt end, and no rubbing will wipe it out.

Otherwise the eggs are normal in every respect.

Hereford Cattle Not To Be Killed

Herefords and other registered beef cattle, purchased through the federal drouth relief program, will not be slaughtered but will be placed on Indian reservations and used for breeding purposes, according to a plan worked out by the American Hereford Cattle Breeders association of Kansas City, Mo.

Through an agreement with the department of agriculture at Washington, secured by the Hereford association, the following prices will likely be made by appraisers in the drouth program:

Bulls, two to five years, $50 to $75; 12 to 24 months, $30 to $45; under 12 months, $15 to $25.

Cows, under eight years, with calf at foot, $50 to $75; dry cows under eight, without calf, $40 to $60; heifers, 12 to 24 month, $30 to $45; heifers, under 12 months, $15 to $25.

SMOKY PARK POPULAR

GATLINBURG, Tenn. (AP) — A check made by highway authorities shows 70,035 tourists visited the Great Smoky Mountains national park during July. Automobiles from 41 states and a number of the Canadian provinces were counted.

Brownfield May Get Another Big Feeding Concern

BROWNFIELD, Aug. 18 (Special)—A large feeding company is reported negotiating for location for pens in Terry county, probably at Lahey, first station southwest of here on the Santa Fe.

Promoters who were here declined to state whether the plan was for themselves or for a concern they represented. They also would not state whether they owned the cattle or would feed on contract.

It is the plan, it was said, to drill wells and supply the water for the feeding. Grinding machinery would be installed. Lahey is six miles from here and has only one store, several filling stations and a dozen or more houses.

Any increased activity would be centered in Brownfield as the community would be unable under present conditions to take care of a large increase in population.

Hockley County Farm Tract Is Being Improved By New Owner

LEVELLAND, Aug. 18. (Special)—Aubrey L. Lockett, who recently bought the 6,000-acre farm formerly known as the Woodley farm, formerly operated by the Beasley brothers of Lubbock, is adding two new sets of improvements. It is located west of Ropesville in the south part of the county.

He is erecting a five-room residence, with a full set of improvements and also a 4-room residence.

Early this year six sets of improvements, including houses, were added. Formerly the tract was operated as a unit. It is believed the tract will be cut up into farms.

D. L. Harris is the farm manager in charge of the tract. It was formerly owned by the Grissoms of Abilene.

Improvements are being made to the gin on the tract.

ELECTRICITY
● Will Bring You Happiness
HAPPINESS
● Will Permit You To Smile

When the spotlight is turned on happy people today, the cause for their happiness is found closely related to the conveniences they enjoy. And in 1934 this doesn't mean a privileged few, for electricity is within the reach of everyone. It is not a high-priced luxury, but an economical necessity, accepted and used by the whole civilized world. Probably more important to the average individual, is the fact that ELECTRIC APPLIANCES are both economical and durable. It doesn't take much money to enjoy the uses of electricity . . . which means the elimination of drudgery . . . increased happiness . . . smiles!

Grandson Of T. R. In Russian Garb At Soviet School

MOSCOW, Aug. 18 (AP)—Kermit Roosevelt, Jr., grandson of the Rough Rider President, and other American students of the summer school at Moscow University have bought themselves gayly embroidered Russian blouses.

KERMIT ROOSEVELT, JR.

They are not distinguishable from Muscovites as they wander through local museums or join "comrades" at the recreation parks and theaters.

The "third soviet house," in which the 200 Americans live, is a rambling three-storied building with a shaded garden. Lecture rooms, dormitories and dining rooms are all under one roof.

Rooms Large, Airy

Large, airy rooms containing from five to fifteen hospital beds each have been provided for the visitors. There are also study rooms and a library.

On each floor there are shops which supply Russian clothing, postcards, stationery, curios and sweets.

The Americans are taking chiefly courses in Russian history, literature, art and politics. Lectures on the soviet system are supplemented by visits to various institutions in Moscow and the immediate vicinity.

To Travel Over Union

After four weeks in Moscow the Americans will travel for two weeks to various parts of the Soviet Union.

Krupskaya, the widow of Nikolai Lenin; Karl Radek, the fieriest of bolshevist journalists; George G. McDowell, agricultural expert, and many other Russian specialists lecture to the Americans, supplementing the regular courses.

Foreign Situation

Austria by allowing the Duce to mass troops on the Austrian border and threaten invasion should the Austrian government be unable to cope with the Nazi insurgents. Italy has lost no prestige and gained security in a much desired sphere of influence, but the Duce never forgets a personal affront and the Italian policy toward Germany under his control will do little to break the iron cords that paralyze the Reich. By giving the press free rein he has allowed the Italian people to express their real sentiments toward Germany, which have been kept under the cover of "friendship" for so long. The results went beyond his expectations. History has few parallels to the tirade of hate that the Fascisti levelled at Berlin. "They have dragged our glorious ideals in the mud" was one of the statements that bothered the German government most.

Austria will remain what amounts to an Italian province. The shot that cost Dollfuss his life cost Hitler his only remaining supporter.

TARZAN AND THE JEWELS OF OPAR, No 79

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

The ape watched his opportunity; soon it came. Feeling safe within his thorny enclosure, Mugambi was wont to stretch himself in the shade of his shelter during the heat of the day and sleep in peaceful security until the declining sun carried with it the enervating temperature of midday. Watching from above, Chulk saw the black warrior stretched thus in the unconsciousness of sleep one sultry afternoon. Creeping out from an overhanging branch, the anthropoid dropped to the ground within the boma.

He approached the sleeper upon padded feet which gave no sound, and with an uncanny woodcraft that rustled not a leaf of a grass blade. Pausing beside the man, the ape bent over and examined his belongings. Great as was the strength of Chulk, there lay in the back of his little brain something which deterred him from arousing the man to combat—a strange fear of man that rules even the most powerful of the jungle creatures at times. Beside the sleeping black lay his knobstick and the pouch. These Chulk grabbed.

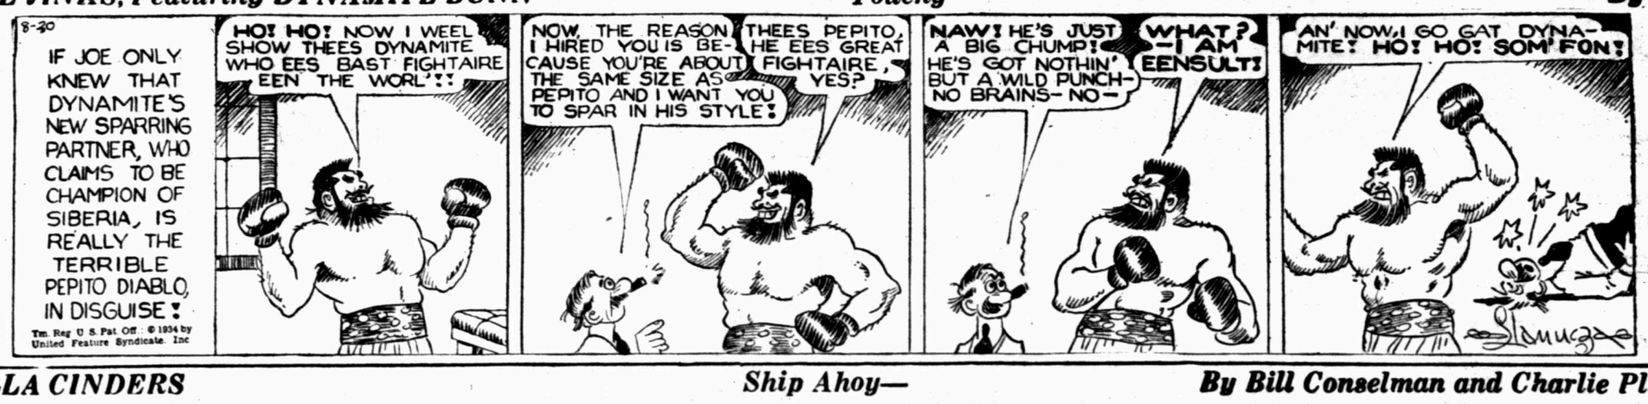

Then he retreated with haste to the safety of the tree from which he had dropped and fled through the jungle... It was sometime after Mugambi awoke that he missed the pouch. Instantly he was all excitement. What could have become of it? He was sure it had been there—that precious pouch—when he had laid down to sleep. How then had it vanished? Mugambi's savage imagination began to get busy; perhaps the spirit of some departed enemy had taken it! Then he missed his knob-stick and began a careful investigation.

In the trampled turf beside him was the faint imprint of huge, manlike feet. Mugambi raised his brows as the truth dawned upon him. Hastily leaving his boma, he searched in all directions for some further sign of the tell-tale spoor. He climbed trees and searched for evidence of the direction of the thief's flight; but the faint signs left by a wary ape who elects to travel through the trees eluded the woodcraft of Mugambi. Tarzan might have followed them; but no ordinary mortal could perceive them, or, perceiving, translate.

THIS CURIOUS WORLD

by Jimmie Ferguson

PENGUINS

ARE FOUND ONLY AT THE BOTTOM OF THE WORLD, IN THE REGIONS SURROUNDING THE SOUTH POLE! THEY HAVE NO NEAR RELATIVES AMONG LIVING BIRDS, BUT ARE DISTANT RELATIVES OF THE LOONS.

ONCE A LAND BIRD, THE PENGUIN TOOK TO A LIFE IN THE SEA, AND LOST THE ABILITY TO FLY! NOW IT IS AT HOME ONLY IN THE WATER.

THE LARGEST OF PRESENT-DAY PENGUINS IS THE EMPEROR, A BIRD ALMOST FOUR FEET TALL! IN ANCIENT TIMES THERE WERE SPECIMENS THAT GREW TO A HEIGHT OF SIX FEET.

KING PENGUINS MAKE NO NEST! THE SINGLE EGG IS HATCHED BY BEING CARRIED ABOUT, IN ZERO WEATHER, ON THE FEET OF THE MOTHER BIRD.

WHEN A PENGUIN FINDS A MATE TO HIS LIKING, HE PROPOSES, BY OFFERING HER A SMALL STONE.

AS YET, THE PENGUIN HAS NOT LEARNED TO FEAR MAN! ANTARCTIC EXPLORERS AND THEIR DOGS AROUSE ONLY CURIOSITY IN THESE SIMPLE CREATURES.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

By Ahern

HOW DO YOU FIGURE THIS SEA SERPENT STUFF? DO YOU THINK IT IS ON TH' LEVEL, OR JUST A LOT OF PICKLE-CAKE?

SEA SERPENTS? EGAD, SIR, THEY ARE A REALITY! INDEED!

T. M. REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

FACT IS, I CAN VERIFY TO THE EXISTENCE OF SEA SERPENTS, AS I SAW TWO DIFFERENT TYPES OF THEM, MYSELF!—ONE IN THE CHINA SEA, AND ANOTHER OFF THE COAST OF SOUTH AFRICA!

YOU DID?

I WAS ABOARD A CHINESE JUNK WHEN, SUDDENLY, A SEA SERPENT, FULLY 400 YARDS LONG, EMERGED FROM THE WATER IN TWO GREAT ARCHES, ALLOWING THE BOAT TO SAIL, UNHARMED, THRU ONE OF ITS ARCHES!

MY NEXT EXPERIENCE WITH A SEA SERPENT WAS ONCE, WHEN I SWAM OUT TO A BUOY, OFF THE HARBOR OF CARLOPUS! THE MONSTER CAME UP UNDER ME, HOISTING ME ASTRADDLE ITS BACK—THE CREATURE WAS UNAWARE OF MY BEING ON IT, AND A FEW MOMENTS LATER SUBMERGED, LEAVING ME QUITE AMAZED, BUT NOT FRIGHTENED!

I BROUGHT THIS ON MYSELF, BUT THAT GUY IS NUTTY!

-AND I TURNED IN A DETAILED ACCOUNT OF BOTH MONSTERS TO THE ROYAL HISTORICAL SOCIETY, OF WHICH I AM A MEMBER!

YOU WANT TO WATCH THAT GUY, OFFICER! I THINK HE'S DAFFY!—TOLD ME HE SAW SEA SERPENTS!

HIM?—OH, THAT'S HOOPLE! HE'LL DRINK ANYTHING UNDER A CORK—SO I WOULDN'T BE SURPRISED, TH' THINGS HE'S SEEN!

YES, LADS—MY RIGHT ARM WAS IN A SLING, AND WITH MY WEAK LEFT I KNOCKED THE CHAMP OUT WITH ONE BLOW!

THAT AIN'T MUCH MUSKLE! YOUGHT TO SEE MY UNCLE CLAUDE!
