Court Delays Hearing In Book Suit

NEW YORK- (AP) — A Supreme Court justice today set a hearing for Thursday at the request of the publishers of 'The Death of a President" in Mrs. John F. Kennedy's suit to block its publication.

Counsel for the ailing author, William Manchester, asked that the hearing, as it applies to him, be put off until Jan. 16.

Justice Saul Streit granted both requests.

Edward S. Greenbaum, counsel for the publishers, Harper & Row, demanded the Thursday hearing date.

Outside the court, Greenbaum said no hitch has developed in the negotiations with Mrs. Kennedy's representatives. Negotiations were canceled Monday when Manchester was taken to a hospital in Connecticut suffering from pneumonia.

Simon H. Rifkind, Mrs. Kennedy's chief counsel, asked about the publisher's insistence on a Thursday hearing, said: "I don't quite understand it, but I won't comment."

Asked how close the parties were to an out-of-court agreement, he replied: "The solution has not been found."

Greenbaum, Rifkind and Carleton Eldridge, attorney for Manchester, conferred with Streit in his chambers for more than an hour before they went to an open courtroom where the motions for delays were heard.

The defendants had been ordered to show cause today why they should not be barred from bringing out Manchester's 300,000-word account of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Earlier, Rifkind had said: "I have no grave objections to putting the matter over as long as necessary. I'll make that very clear. Counsel for Manchester needs the views of his client and that's not possible now."

Kosygin Ends Visit To Turkey

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin flew home today after a precedent-breaking official visit and an agreement to continue to improve Turkish- Soviet relations.

Kosygin was the first Soviet premier to visit Turkey. The tightest security guard seen here in recent years protected him.

Talks during the visit centered mainly around economic and cultural projects. At a state banquet Monday night, both the Soviet leader and Turkish Premier Suleyman Demirel expressed satisfaction with the exchanges.

It was Kosygin's fourth trip outside the Eastern Communist bloc this year. Unlike his trips to Egypt, Finland and France, the American presence in Turkey was obvious throughout his stay.

The Turkish air force transport that carried him around Turkey was American-made, and the nattily uniformed honor guards which greeted him wherever he went were American-trained.

American officials said they were not perturbed by the thaw in Soviet-Turkish relations.

Reds Inflict Big Losses

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — A battalion of North Vietnamese regulars overran positions of about 170 U.S. cavalrymen in the Crow's Foot area near the central coast before dawn today and inflicted heavy casualties, but finally broke and fled under intensive American fire.

Cavalrymen sweeping the battlefield at dawn found 52 enemy bodies and 44 fresh graves. Some of these men of Hanoi's 22nd Regiment, 610th Division, evidently were killed by Communist fire when they ran into a trap set in the hope that Americans would do the running.

The Americans were about 60 troopers of C Company, 1st Battalion, 12th Cavalry, 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division, and 110 artillerymen from two batteries totaling 10 howitzers. The artillerymen fired at point-blank range to help stem the onslaught.

About 250 of the estimated 600 enemy regulars — apparently positioned during the two-day Christmas truce — slashed into American at two points in the the egg-shaped American perimeter at two points in the initial attack. They knocked out one 105mm Howitzer with mortar fire and damaged two others with satchel charges. They dropped a grenade down the barrel of a 155m piece, but it was a dud. The Americans were driven into a ring only 30 yards wide.

"I felt like Custer," said one of the artillery officers, Lt. Michael C. Livergood of Billings, Mont.

Air strikes, fire from a cavalry platoon on high ground nearby and shells from artillery at a landing zone 3½ miles away helped to break the attacks.

Author Off Critical List

MIDDLETOWN, Conn. (AP) — Author William Manchester, in the hospital with an attack of pneumonia, was off the critical list today. He had received get-well telegrams from Mrs. John F. Kennedy and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Both wished a speedy recovery to the 44-year-old author of "The Death of a President," the book they charged in a law suit represented a breach of contract and an invasion of the former first lady's privacy.

Manchester's physician, Dr. F. Erwin Tracy, said his patient was in good spirits after a comfortable night. He said Manchester will be hospitalized about a week.

The doctor said Manchester was suffering the most discomfort from a scratch on his right eye he received while decorating the family Christmas tree Otherwise, the author was "more like himself again," Tracy said.

Road Toll Breaks Trend Of Highs

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation's Christmas weekend traffic death toll fell far below the all-time high mark set a year ago—and broke a trend of nine successive holiday records.

Tabulations today showed the total for the three-day yuletide celebration was 570. This compared with a nonholiday count of 391.

The Christmas holiday count didn't come close to the National Safety Council's advance estimate that between 650 and 750 Americans might die in motor vehicle accidents.

A total of 720 fatalities was recorded during the Christmas weekend in 1965.

A safety council spokesman said a weekend snowstorm which covered a broad swath of the nation from Oklahoma to New England kept perhaps a million motorists at home, cutting travel and accidents.

Nevertheless, fatalities far outstripped those of a nonholiday period of similar length. The Associated Press surveyed traffic accident death from 6 p.m. (local time), Friday, Dec. 9, to midnight Monday, Dec. 12. The count of deaths then was 391.

The safety council issued an estimate for next weekend's three-day New Year observance when, it said, accidents probably would kill 10 to 90 more persons than on a nonholiday winter weekend.

The New Year traffic toll estimate by the council was 460 to 540 for the period from 6 p.m. (local time) Friday, Dec. 30 to midnight Monday, Jan. 2.

The relatively low count for the holiday just ended broke the chain of holiday records. Each holiday death toll since that of Memorial Day 1965 has set a record.

Thanksgiving weekend, a four-day, or 102-hour period, brought 748 traffic deaths, a record for any holiday.

Earlier holiday tolls this year, all for three-day periods, were New Year 546, Memorial Day 542, July 4, 576, and Labor Day 636.

Icy Blizzard Dumps Snow In Panhandle

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A blizzard spilled into the Texas Panhandle today, dumping up to 8 inches of snow along the Texas-New Mexico line and putting an icy sheen on highways.

A deadly pattern of weather held Texas in its grasp, with snow and ice coating highways in the Panhandle and rain, fog and drizzle holding sway in the rest of the state.

Rain slicked highways in South Texas accounted for several traffic deaths Monday and fog was a factor in at least one.

More than four inches of snow piled up in Dalhart and school children, on their Christmas vacation, took to their yards and play areas to build Texas' first snowmen of the winter season.

The Weather Bureau extended the blizzard warnings to encompass the Red River Valley area.

Strong northerly winds piled up drifts in the upper Panhandle. Amounts of more than 8 inches were reported between Dalhart and Clayton, N.M., some 45 miles to the west. Overnight low temperatures ranged from Dalhart's icy 16 degrees to a warm 64 at Brownsville.

Light snow fell at El Paso before dawn and thundershowers roamed the extreme northeastern section of the state.

Tyler had the most rainfall overnight with .44 inches.

The Department of Public Safety at Amarillo reported all highways still passable during the early morning hours, but warned that driving was a hazardous proposition.

Amarillo had 1.5 inches of snow on the ground with a mixture of rain, snow and drizzle cloaking a wide area around the Panhandle city.

The U.S. Weather Bureau warned of near blizzard conditions and heavy snow for the Panhandle through tonight, with the snow expected to spread south across Northwest Texas.

The fog cloaked airports, but there was no disruption of air travel at the end of the busy holiday travel season.

Forecasters said rain would continue across the rest of the state tonight, with skies beginning to clear from the west Wednesday.

The Weather Bureau said low temperatures would range from one-digit readings in the Panhandle tonight to the 40s along the coast. The southern portion of the state was expected to escape the bite of the new cold air mass.

Fog and drizzle were reported in a bank of murky weather spreading from Wichita Falls to Lufkin and to Houston.

Childress had fog mixed with freezing drizzle, creating twin hazards to driving.

The storm, the worst of the winter to date for Texas, piled up 10 inches of snow before midnight Monday at lines Corner, N.M., west of Amarillo.

The DPS reported almost all traffic stopped from New Mexico into Texas.

The unsettled conditions were a mixed blessing to Central Texas farmers, however. The light drizzle brought much-needed moisture to drought-stricken ranch and farm lands in the state's midsection.

Americans' Easy Pickin' For Crooks

WASHINGTON, (AP) — America's increasingly affluent society has produced the "Careless American" and made easy pickings for an overlooked, "normal" type of crook, a New York criminologist said today.

Michael Fooner, chairman of the metropolitan crime prevention project of the American Society of Criminology, offered the view in a report to the 133rd meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

He said that while it has always been assumed that poverty is a primary cause of crime, the facts are that crime is growing at an unprecedented rate in the United States where "prosperity has reached unprecedented heights, and poverty is decreasing."

There is growing evidence to suggest, Fooner said, that there is a pattern of criminality "that seems to correspond to affluence rather than poverty."

Specifically, he indicated, the victims and potential victims have been lulled into carelessness as regards guarding their growing bounty—such as carrying a lot of cash negligently in a handbag or leaving keys in their automobile — and are increasingly offering temptation and opportunity to thieves.

Moreover, he said, most of the persons taking advantage of this appear to be a largely over looked breed of seemingly nor mal citizens who themselves are motivated to crime by their own past experience "in substantially sharing the rewards of our national economic progress."

Burglary and thefts of various types constitute some 90 percent of all crime on the national index, Fooner said.

HOW NOW, CHARLIE? — Charlie, a 550-pound calf, gazes up from bottom of a silo on the Henry Beachy farm at Kalona, Iowa. He has lived there since he hopped into the pit on Dec. 18 after escaping from Beachy's neighbor, Dr. Paul J. McAndrew, a veterinarian. McAndrew said an attempt may be made soon to feed Charlie a tranquilizer and get him out with a winch, "or he might build some kind of a temporary ramp. We really haven't decided what." Mansfield Asks Restudy Of Laws

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield set wheels in motion today for a suggested "major re-examination" by the Senate of "Great Society" program and older controversial laws such as the draft, income tax and foreign aid.

Mansfield issued his recommendations for a "thoroughgoing, second look" at major programs from medicare and civil rights to farm subsidies in a letter to the Senate's 17 committee chairmen.

Such studies, the Montanan said, could find rough edges, overextensions and gaps in newer programs, and update and check equity of administration handling of older laws such as Selective Service.

Mansfield said his recommendations were not in response to Democratic election losses or complaints by Democratic governors about administration of some programs.

He noted that he had been saying for more than a year that it was time for Congress to "stop, look and listen."

Nor, he said, were Vietnam war costs the reason for Congress to pause and re-examine.

"With or without Vietnam, in my judgment, the Senate of the United States, through its committees, would have a responsibility for beginning the kind of top-to-bottom oversight which is suggested herein," he said.

Mansfield said the 90th Congress, opening Jan. 10, would have a unique opportunity to fill the needs for "dispassionate restudy" because he didn't expect it to receive a heavy load of new legislation.

The Democratic leader left it up to the committees to determine what laws most needed restudy.

But he called attention to all the new programs "designed to correspond to the nation's changing needs." He mentioned medicare, civil rights, curbs on air and water pollution, and those dealing with education, urban and rural problems.

Citing legislation passed in the last two busy Congresses, Mansfield said "considering the vast scope of this work and the unprecedented nature of much of it, it is to be expected that there exists a number of rough edges, overextensions and overlaps and, perhaps, even significant gaps."

Photographers Are Rescued From Peak

ESTES PARK, Colo. (AP) — Three stranded Boulder, Colo., photographers were rescued from 14,255-foot Longs Peak, south of here, Monday just before a blizzard pounded the mountain.

The three — Gerald Brown, 17, John Squires, 19, and Bill Prather, 19 — spent a day and a night on the mountain in subzero cold.

They had traveled to the area Sunday in hopes of photographing two other men who were scheduled to climb the sheer 1,000-foot east face of Longs Peak.

The climb was postponed because of poor weather.

Russians Boast Bumper Harvest

MOSCOW (AP) — Agriculture Minister Vladimir V. Matskevich announced today a record grain crop of 171 million metric tons for 1966. But he said some wheat purchases in the West are still likely.

The figure topped an earlier Soviet estimate for this year of a record grain crop totaling between 160 million and 165 million tons.

Matskevich told a news conference that good weather played a role in the crop this year. But he said that increased yields per acre of farmland helped produce the record crop.

Matskevich said that until two years ago the Russians had stressed opening up new farmland and put only minor emphasis on increased yields on existing farmland.

He said increased supplies of farm equipment and mineral fertilizer made the increased yields possible.

Despite the record grain crop, Matskevich said in answer to questions, the Soviet Union is likely to buy wheat for the next two years at least.

He said this is because it is cheaper to ship Canadian wheat across the Pacific to the Soviet Far East than to ship Ukrainian wheat there from European Russia.

He said such purchases in Canada would free wheat grown in European Russia for Soviet needs at home and export commitments abroad.

The Soviets are committed to additional purchases of Canadian wheat over the next two years under a long-term agreement.

The Soviet Union was long an exporter of wheat. But a series of bad harvests, beginning with the disastrous crop in 1963, forced the Russians to make huge wheat purchases in the West.

The Soviet Union has recently undertaken commitments to ship wheat to India, Algeria and Egypt.

Matskevich refused to say whether the Soviet Union would make large wheat purchases in the West next year or whether it was now set to become a wheat exporter again. He said this was a question for trade officials. But he said he believed the country would both import and export wheat.

Dear Abby...

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What is your opinion of a young mother who would rather go to work than stay home and take care of her 4-year-old son? I think it's terrible the way she drops the child off at a nursery every morning, just like you would put a dog in a kennel. She doesn't have to work as her husband makes good money.

And do you think a husband who really loved his wife would let her go out to work? Your opinion of such people will be appreciated. Don't reveal the town this letter is from. And please sign it.

"A FRIEND"

DEAR "FRIEND:" My opinion of "a friend" who appears to be inordinately concerned with somebody else's business is what comes to my mind at the moment. Would you like it?

* * *

DEAR ABBY: A little over 5 months ago my wife passed away after 42 years of married life. It was a very happy marraige. I only mention this so you will know that what follows indicates no lack of love or respect for her.

Recently I have been seeing a neighbor. I have taken her out for dinner a few times. She is single, and I have known her for many years. She is 60 and I am 64, but we could both pass for much younger as we are young in heart and mind. She has gone with me reluctantly because she is sensitive about what people might say. She thinks it is too soon for me to be taking anyone out.

To be honest, we are in love. Naturally, I wouldn't consider marriage until a full year has passed, but is there anything wrong with our seeing each other and making plans?

MR. X.

DEAR MR. X: No. Providing your aren't silly about it and go out kicking up your heels in the bright lights.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: You might think this is a stupid question, but we have been discussing it for a long time and would like an answer. When a girl bends her leg at the knee while being kissed, what meaning is she trying to put across?

You see it in the movies and on TV quite often. We have heard many different versions and would like your opinion.

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: I don't know that the girl being kissed is trying to "put across" any particular idea, but from an observer's point of view, I would say that's the time she should keep both her feet on the ground.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "IN TROUBLE" IN EUGENE, ORE: Tell your parents at once. They are your best friends in time of trouble. The alternatives you mention are foolish and extremely dangerous. I promise you your parents will be "on your side."

Admits To Slaying Of Three Boys

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Authorities said today a service station employe has admitted the sex slayings of three teenage boys.

Sheriff Mel Bailey of Jefferson County and Sheriff C. P. Walker of Shelby County said David McCarther Jr., 25, admitted the killings in an oral statement.

McCarter was charged with three counts of murder and transferred to the jail at Columbiana.

The bodies of Steve Murphy, 13, his brother, Vaughn, 15, and Will Binzel, 14, were found Monday, about 10 miles south of Birmingham.

The youngsters lived in the same neighborhood as McCarter and had been seen with him on occasions, officers said.

Authorities said the oldest Murphy boy and Binzel were shot behind the ear and the youngest victim was choked.

Officers returned today to the area where the bodies were found in an attempt to determine the slaying scene, believed to be a campsite, and to gather evidence. Evidence was sent to the FBI laboratory in Washington for lab tests.

Sheriff Roy Bridges of Mobile County and Baldwin County Sheriff Taylor Wilkins, said they would come to Birmingham today to see if there is any connection between the triple slayings and a similar case recently in which two Mobile boys were killed.

Market Chart Resembled Course Of Bouncing Ball

By ED MORSE
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The 1966 stock market climbed to historic peaks as it topped out a 3½-year Bull Market and then nosed down to erase more than half the gains scored during that period. Trading topped a billion shares, a record.

Stocks had one of their sharpest declines in Wall Street annals, reaching a low in October and then staging a partial recovery.

The market had climbed so high that some kind of correction was expected by analysts even before the year began, purely on a technical basis.

The stock market was cooled down additionally by high interest rates and tighter credit, by a slowing down in the business boom, by concern over the Vietnam fighting and worry over the possibility of a rise in income taxes.

As the year ended there was fear of an economic recession in 1967 but also a question in many minds as to whether the big stock market shakeout hadn't already anticipated this to a great extent.

Another worry was about the situation in Vietnam. Would the fighting escalate to the point where the United States would be put more on a war footing? If so, how severely would this affect business and profits? What if peace were restored?

Nobody could pretend to have a conclusive answer to these questions. Nevertheless, Wall Street was continuing the slow job of rebuilding stock market confidence which had been badly battered.

The market made peaks early in the year as it continued the powerful upward push of 1965. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks hit a record closing high of 369.7 on Jan. 18. But by Oct. 7 it had sunk 100.3 to 269.4, its lowest level since Aug. 2, 1963.

The Dow Jones industrial average made a record closing high of 995.15 on Feb. 9. Then it plunged 250.83 to a low of 744.32 on Oct. 7.

At their Feb. 9 high, the Dow industrials were within a hair of the "Dow 1,000" objective, which was forecast many years ago as a kind of Wall Street millenium.

In early February, few doubted that the Dow would reach 1,000. As the average hesitated just below 1,000, however, fear grew that crossing the Dow 1,000 would trigger a great wave of profit taking. The "smart money" began to sell in advance of that.

The turnabout was signaled by a fairly sharp drop on Feb. 15, a larger one Feb. 17 and an even bigger one Feb. 21. Greater losses came on Feb. 23 and 24. A thumping setback came on March 1.

In less than three weeks the trend reversal was clearcut. Wall Street was in a Bear Market. Despite occasional recoveries, the market never again came near its record high.

The 1966 stock market chart looked like the course a rubber ball might take bouncing downstairs. A series of small bounces on each step would be followed by a larger fall to the next step —each step representing a hoped-for support level.

How big was the 1966 drop? The decline of 250.83 in the Dow industrials exceeded the 1962 loss of 199.15. The percentage loss in 1966 was 25 per cent whereas it was 27 per cent in 1962 because the market dropped from a lower level.

On the basis of the point loss in the Dow Industrials, 1966 overshadowed 1962 as the worst since 1929. The 1929-1932 crash wiped off some 340 points but it was an 80 per cent drop in values because of the much lower level from which the market fell.

Consequently, neither the 1966 nor 1962 shakeouts were regarded by Wall Street researchers as being in the same league as 1929.

High interest rates and tight credit hurt stocks because they offered the competition of better yields in debt securities than in equities and a safer refuge for cash.

The prime rate was increased in March to 5½ per cent from 5 per cent, to 5¾ per cent in June and to 6 per cent in August. This is the basic interest rate charged by the top commercial banks to their biggest and best credit risks.

In late July the U.S. Treasury paid 5¼ per cent interest in refunding federal securities, the highest rate paid since the administration of President Warren G. Harding in the early 1920s.

The money squeeze put a crimp on business expansion at the same time that inflation was eroding purchasing power and pushing wages up, thus trimming profit margins.

Profits were pared further by cancellation of the 7 per cent investment tax credit.

Jitters about Vietnam were accentuated by bombing of the oil depots in North Vietnam in June, conflicting reports about bombing Hanoi in December and other news from Asia.

A drop in auto sales combined with production cutbacks by General Motors and other manufacturers heightened uncertainty.

President Johnson's health, underlined by suspense about whether his surgery would be successful, was another news situation which made Wall Street nervous. Republican election gains stiffened prices.

Uncertainty about a possible tax boost was increased by a series of statements about it — often conflicting — from members of the national administration.

Lower earnings reported by such giants as GM, U.S. Steel and Bethlehem undermined stock values.

Among the biggest blue chips, American Telephone sagged from a high of 63½ to a low of 49¾; GM from a top of 108¼ to a bottom of 65⅞; Standard Oil (New Jersey) from 84⅛ to 59¾.

Among the higher-priced stocks, IBM fell from 386 to 289½; Xerox from 267¾ to 125¼; and Fairchild Camera from 216¾ to 97⅛.

Little People Suffer Most

THIS JANUARY TALE. By Bryher.

In the universality of warfare in whatever age, it is always "the little people" who suffer the most.

Just 900 years ago, in 1066, there was the Norman Conquest of England, a time when (technologically) the battle-axe was losing out to the archer's bow; a time which many historians treat as an advance of civilization.

But the experienced historical novelist Bryher sees it in this novel as a time of pathetic loss, when crude, military Normandy stamped out a better Anglo-Saxon culture.

The story is told through an account of the life of one Eldred, who in his youth joined the border forces against the rebellious Welsh; who was wounded, and then settled at Exeter in the west of England as a smithy at a small forge. The middle class businessman was loyal to his lords, and when the Normans besieged Exeter he could not stomach the capitulation of the local citizens.

With his family he joins an exodus, across January seas, to Ireland, a remote haven where the last hopes of the exiles fade out into tragedy.

There is no hint in this narrative of a possible parallel between 1066 and 1940, but the reader cannot help but be conscious of it.

Bryher is a writer of great descriptive powers and lyrical sensitivity, with a great porse gift. Somehow she manages, through all her delicate subtlety of expression, to capture primitive emotions in a gutsy, elementary life around a smoking hearth and the wildly bloody, instinctively embattled allegiance of dedicated warriors.

On the surface this may seem to be a far-away drama of remote combat. But even now it carries a significance. The primitive people of this story, faced with fear and mortal hardships, have a moral integrity that might be hard to match in these days.

Ten different versions of New Testament and eleven translations of Bible. Bible Book Store, 1403 Lubbock Highway.

TO THE PHILIPPINES WITH LOVE, by Lorraine Carr (Sherbourne Press, Los Angeles, $4.95.)

Lorraine Carr, whose chief roots are in New Mexico, spent a great amount of time in the Philippines, where her late husband, Dr. W. E. Huddleston, was on assignment with the Veterans Administration.

Miss Carr, a newswoman, is an observant woman and filled notebooks with incidents and description. She moved about the countryside more than most Americans are expected to, and this was facilitated by the travels demanded of her husband. She reached Manila when it still was badly scarred by war.

Her views of the Philippines are extremely interesting, although they may differ considerably from what others have seen there — The AP.

SHORTHAND WITH CHAMPAGNE, By Edma Ruby (World Publishing, Cleveland)

Edna Ruby has spent most of her career as a public stenographer in California hotels. Thus she has viewed more of the human scene than most, particularly when persons are not inhibited by hometown morals.

The book tells the inside of hotel operation, the status divisions among the gals who hang around the best hotels and scores of incidents that tell a lot about the human race.

Very interesting is her opinion of why businessmen don't bring their wives when they go out of town for a business deal. It is not that they play around. In Miss Ruby's opinion, nothing can wipe out a business agreement as quickly as a wrong twitch of an eyebrow by a wife at a dinner party, and husbands have learned this.

She is particularly fascinated by Texans. At home, many try to efface themselves. But get them out of town, and many turn loose of all their inhibitions and great wads of money.

At one point Miss Ruby quotes an acquaintance as saying there are "men and Texans." We still are puzzling about that one. — —The AP.

IN SEARCH OF SOMETHING, by Herbert Cerwin Sherbourne Press, ($5.95.)

The autobiography of Herbert Cerwin, a virtual unknown, is well written and fast paced. It's most interest portion in this part of the country is Cerwin's assignment during World War II to counter the Nazi propaganda and influence in Mexico. His insight into the Mexican mind during this period is very revealing. He finally was able to put the Allies in a better light and bring support to them from the Mexicans. — The AP.

GREEN RUSSELL AND GOLD, By Elma Dill Russell Spencer The University of Texas Press,($6)

The author of "Green Russell and Gold" is Mrs. Elma Dill Russell Spencer, head of a foundation bearing her name which has sponsored the earlier publication of three University of Texas Press books.

Her latest offering is largely the story of her family, although it may be applicable to an entire group of men and women.

The Russells resided in Georgia, but some of their men headed for the Colorado gold fields, and much of the book is about that locality in considerable detail.

Then came the Civil War, and as Confederates they found their former way of life in Georgia wiped out by the Union victory. They moved to Texas to become an established family. — The AP.

Kilgore Area Is 'World's Richest'

KILGORE, Tex. (AP)—Main and Commerce has been designated the most densely drilled oil tract known. The Texas State Historica' Survey Committee describes the site as the "world's richest acre."

The tract supports 24 wells on 10 lots and has produced 2.5 million barrels of oil. The wells were drilled before spacing rules.

Roasting turkey? Be sure to cut the string, holding the legs together, about an hour before the bird is ready. Or if the legs are held together by a band of skin at the tail, just snip the skin to release the legs. If you use this method, the entire surface of the turkey should be an attractive brown.

O'Hara Does It Again

WAITING FOR WINTER. By John O'Hara.

Now there are three things a person can count on - death, taxes and a book of good short stories each fall by John O'Hara.

The prolific O'Hara, easily one of the best fiction writers working in this country today, has been producing first - rate novels and short stories consistently since the early 1930s. His latest volume shows once again that he has not faltered in either quality or quantity.

There are 21 stories in this book. Of these, 10 previously appeared in magazines, the bulk of them in The New Yorker. But, even if read before, they're just as good and sometimes better the second time around.

Take "The Neighborhood." A powerful, moving story of murder done in quiet desperation when read the first time, it gains broader and more meaningful dimensions when read once again. The same is true of "Fatimas and Kisses," by far one of O'Hara's very best stories. It also deals with murder by a quiet man driven too far. But its major motif is not the crime nor the man who killed, but the assumption of manhood by the youth who shared a friendship of sorts with the murderer.

Not all of the stories achieve the excellence of these two. "Andres," for example, is a very long, beautifully written story in which O'Hara again demonstrates his unique power of capturing everyday speech and turning it into something that means more than is on the surface. The reader is caught up and swept along by this telling of a very long love affair. Until the very last paragraph. Then he is let down with a jolt. The ending is alien to what has gone before. It just isn't right and the reader feels cheated. But the story still is well worth reading - just ignore the last paragraph.

Pentagon Says Damage Unavoidable

By SEYMOUR M. HERSH

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon has acknowledged that civilian areas in North Vietnam have been damaged during U.S. air raids but declares that only military targets have been scheduled for attack.

The Defense Department statement said, in part:

"It is impossible to avoid all damage to civilian areas, especially when the North Vietnamese deliberately emplace their air defense sites, their dispersed POL — petroleum, oil and lubricants — sites, their radar and other military facilities in populated areas, and indeed sometimes on the roofs of government buildings."

Pentagon officials said the statement was issued in response to questions from the New York Times.

The U.S. statement emphasized that American "policy is to target North Vietnamese military targets only, particularly those which have a direct impact on the movement of men and supplies into South Vietnam.

"These targets include roads, railroads, bridges, railroad junctions, POL facilities, military barracks and supply depots.

"They also include those antiaircraft and SAM — surface-to-air missile — sites which endanger the lives of American pilots."

The Air defenses surrounding Hanoi, the North Vietnamese capital, are considered by U.S. military men to be the most sophisticated ever faced by American fliers. Some pilots call Hanoi "Dodge City."

U.S. intelligence experts credit the North Vietnamese with more than 70 SAM sites, most of them ringed about Hanoi, and thousands of antiaircraft batteries, many of them scattered throughout that city.

The Pentagon statement did not mention Hanoi, where Communists claim more than 100 civilians were killed or wounded by U.S. bombs falling inside the city limits Dec. 13-14.

Pentagon officials Dec. 15 denied those charges.

A New York Times story published Sunday and written from Hanoi by Harrison E. Salisbury, assistant managing editor, said that "on-the-spot inspection indicates that American bombing has been inflicting considerable civilian casualties in Hanoi and its environs for some time past."

Check Shows Farm Census Accurate

WASHINGTON (AP)—A check of the agriculture census of 1964 today showed farmers have been doing a remarkably accurate job in serving as monthly crop reporters for the Agriculture Department.

More than 100,000 farmers assist the department in making periodical forecasts and reports on crop and livestock production. These reports serve as backbone data for farm markets. Prices go up and down in relation to forecasts made in these reports.

These reports are checked periodically against figures gathered by the Census Bureau in its farm census, taken every five years.

In the case of pig production for example, farmers' figures on production, made several times a year, for the 1960-64 period were less than one half per cent a year off the actual figures as determined by census takers.

Each farm reporter passes along to the department his best judgment of what he and his neighbors have done and are doing in regard to production of various crops and livestock. Trained government statisticians take these thousands of reports and come up with the government's forecasts and reports on production

In the case of wheat, the 1964 census figures show department estimates were off less than one half per cent.

Snow Greets Packer Team

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Green Bay Packer Coach Vince Lombardi could hardly be blamed if he declined the next time somebody suggests Tulsa's Skelly Stadium as a December training site.

It wasn't even certain the Packers would finish their final week of drills here for their Jan. 1 encounter with the Dallas Cowboys for the National Football League championship.

Lombardi was perturbed when the Packers arrived Monday to find Skelly Stadium's turf still covered with a thin layer of snow which fell last Thursday.

The Packers worked out in the snow and scheduled another drill for today after obtaining assurance the snow would be scraped off and the field covered.

Workers cleared the field and put down a plastic cover, but the weather bureau forecast heavy snow today, possibly extending into Wednesday.

Lombardi said the Packers would stay as planned if the field condition did not get worse.

Most embarrassed by the awkward chain of events was the Skelly Stadium Corp., which lured the Packers to Tulsa in hopes they would like conditions well enough to play an exhibition game next summer.

Australian Netmen Fall!

By GORDON TAIT

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — The Indian pair of Ramathan Krishnan and Jaideep Mukerjea defeated Australians John Newcombe and Tony Roche 4-6, 7-5, 6-4, 6-4 Tuesday in one of the greatest upsets of Davis Cup challenges.

The victory means India's challenge for amateur tennis' most prized trophy remains alive into the third day, with Australia holding a 2-1 lead and two singles matches to go.

When Roche outed the final point, the Indians, grinning broadly, put their arms about each other as they hurried to the net to shake hands with the shocked Australians.

The crowd of 10,000 stood and applauded the Indians as they left the court after a gallant fight which they won by brilliant tennis that nobody expected.

In Wednesday's singles matches, Krishnan plays Roy Emerson and Mukerjea battles Fred Stolle.

The dramatic Indian comeback had the crowd gripping their seats in excitement and yelling and cheering.

After tying the match at one set apiece, the Indians easily won the third set, never losing more than a single point in a game.

The fourth set was tied 2-2, but Mukerjea put his team ahead by smashing a game point between Newcombe and Roche.

The Australians had a chance to even the match in the eighth game, but they lost a 30-0 lead, then committed two errors and lost the game

It was downhill for the Indians the rest of the way.

As far as the over-all play is concerned, though, it's still uphill for the visitors.

Rain Is Impartial?

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Just about everybody in the sports world has heard the rumor that Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant of Alabama can walk on water and control the elements.

If the legendary Bryant has such powers, they apparently don't work in New Orleans. The last time Bryant brought his Red Elephants to town — for the 1963 Sugar Bowl — it snowed. Real, honest-to-goodness snow. Six inches of it. The only deep snowfall here this century.

When Alabama held its first practice here Monday for its 1967 Sugar Bowl clash with Nebraska, it rained.

Even if the elements don't obey Bryant in New Orleans it's a town he likes to visit. He never has lost a Sugar Bowl game.

Alabama has been to more bowls than any other college team. This marks the Tide's 20th post-season appearance. And it's Bryant's 12th bowl game. Over-all, he has a 7-4-1 record in bowls.

Next Monday's Sugar Bowl, an 82,000-sellout, will be televised by NBC. Kickoff is at 2 p.m., EST.

Tough Defense Leads North Over South

By BEN FUNK

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A team of Yankee stars, eager to impress a flock of pro scouts in the stands, rolled to a 27-14 victory over the Rebels Monday night in the North-South college football game.

Eugene Trosch, 6-foot-6, 247-pound defensive tackle from the University of Miami, was voted the most valuable player for the South, and another defensive tackle, Pete Duranko, 6-2, 235-pounder from Notre Dame, was picked for the North.

The North team, winning only for the seventh time in the 18-year series, powered to a 20-0 halftime lead, then coasted home behind a rugged defense.

Donald Cockroft, the nation's leading punter from Adams State College in Colorado, boosted the Yanks into a 6-0 first quarter lead with field goals of 31 and 38 yards.

Then, in one minute, 12 seconds of the second period, the Yanks scored twice on a nine-yard pass from Colorado's Bernie McCall to Tulsa's Neal Sweeney and a 20-yard dash with an intercepted pass by Duranko.

Houston's Bo Burris finally found the range for the South in the last quarter with scoring shots of 15 and 11 yards to Gary Rowe of North Carolina State

But the South never got in close shooting distance as the North also scored in the fourth on a nine-yard run by Bo Rein of Ohio State.

Chiefs Prep For Playoffs

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs ended a three-day holiday and began their final week of drills today for the American Football League championship game at Buffalo New Year's Day.

Snow was forecast, but Coach Hank Stram has said that unless the weather gets unreasonable the Chiefs will continue their practice in Kansas City.

The Bills left Buffalo for five days of practice in Winston-Salem, N.C., where the climate is mild.

The Chiefs are looking for cold weather with possibly snow and a slippery field when the division titlists play for the league championship.

But Stram is undaunted by the weather predictions

"Contrary to what most football fans think," Stram said, "a slippery field favors the passing game.

"Look at it this way: The offensive players know where they are going, the defensive players have to react. It's tougher to get traction for the pass rush and the defensive backs have to be cautious because they are afraid they will slip."

The Chiefs, with the most potent offense in the AFL this season, will go into the game as slight favorites although they will have to contend with the heralded Buffalo defense.

The Chiefs began their regular season last September by whacking the defending champion Bills 42-20. Then Buffalo came back to spoil Kansas City's home opener in October by beating the Chiefs 29-14.

RALSTON JOINS RANKS OF NET PROS

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — America's top amateur tennis player, Dennis Ralston, made official today what had long been rumored. He has turned professional.

"Professional tennis offers me a future while amateur tennis in the United States offers a player nothing," Ralston told The Associated Press.

Thus ends the amateur career after seven years of the still at 24 boyish, strawberry blond Californian who has played all over the world and won everything in sight except for the two big ones.

"Any regrets?" he was asked.

"Yes," said Denny, as his intimates know him, and he named the two big ones — Wimbledon and the U.S. National at Forest Hills.

Ralston said he preferred not to divulge the financial terms of his pro contract but he reportedly signed for three years for $100,000.

The contract was signed with Wallace M. Dill of the International Professional Tennis Association. Dill announced the contract Monday.

Ralston said he has thought about turning pro for over a year.

"I've got a family and I do have to start looking toward the future," he said.

Ralston's pro career will get under way next month in Australia, followed by competition in the U.S., Europe and South Africa.

The opposition will include veteran Pancho Gonzales of the U.S. and Australians Rod Laver, Ken Rosewall and Lew Hoad.

Dapper Don Says Cowboys Have A Very Good Chance

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — "We have a very good chance of beating Green Bay and winning the National Football League championship," said Dandy Don Meredith Tuesday.

The Cowboys quarterback, who has become a Dallas institution—he has played football here for 11 years—wasn't speaking in a tone of braggadcio.

"There are a lot of reasons why Dallas can beat Green Bay," he said. "First we have a good team—good enough to win. Green Bay has the type team for us to play — they execute very well, rely on coordination, and we are the same. So it is a matter of execution and if we do it properly—which I believe we will—we will win."

It couldn't come sooner either, Meredith mused.

"I never have played on a championship team and I started in the sixth grade," he declared.

"I am now in my seventh year with the Cowboys and we still have that championship to win. Just think: 22 years of football. It ought to make me tired but I still have a lot of zest for it.

"Football gets better and better, even when I'm hit by Sam Huff (Huff knocked him out when he played against Washington two weeks ago). I love it and I want to win that championship."

Meredith said he guessed this was the biggest test he ever faced.

"There couldn't be any greater—this one means the most, it has the highest stakes, not necessarily in money but in prestige. I welcome it and I know my teammates welcome it. We feel we are prepard to met the challenge.

"This kind of opportunity doesn't come for many people. It is the chance of a lifetime. We don't intend to let it pass."

Northwestern Upsets St. Johns, 62 To 60

By MURRAY CHASS

NEW YORK (AP) — Northwestern is in the semifinals of the Holiday Festival basketball tournament because Dan Davis was in the right place at the right time. Providence is there because Jim Walker makes the right place and the right time.

Davis was under the basket with one second to play and converted a rebound into a three-point play that gave Northwestern a 62-60 upset over eighth-ranked St. John's, N.Y., Monday.

The Wildcats later learned they will play defending champion Providence in Wednesday night's semifinal. The Friars, with Walker dribbling, faking and shooting his way to 37 points, walloped Duquesne 82-55.

In the other games Rhode Island crushed St. Bonaventure 109-79 and St. Joseph's, Pa., upset Brigham Young 67-61.

Rhode Island and St. Joseph's will meet in the other semifinal contest.

Walker put on a performance reminiscent of the 50-point show he gave last year in leading Providence to a 91-86 victory over Boston College in the title game and in winning the tournament's most valuable player award.

Against Duquesne, the 6-foot-3 senior scored the Friars' first nine points, 16 of the first 19 and 21 of the first 27. He added 16 more points to the shouts from the 14,636 fans of "Walker, Walker, Walker."

What Walker does is dribble, dribble and dribble some more until the man guarding him makes a mistake. Then, even before the defender realizes what he's done wrong, Walker takes another dribble and is up in the air, firing the ball into the basket.

Against St. John's Northwestern's Davis had his best one second of this, his first varsity season.

St. John's led 60-59 with 23 seconds to go. The Wildcats had the ball, but no one could get clear for a shot. Finally, with four seconds left, Terry Gamber fired a desparation shot.

It fell short, but Davis leaped, grabbed it and put in a two-pointer. He was fouled and added the free throw.

Davis, who had entered the game for the first time only 3½ minutes before, explained how he happened to be in the right place.

"The odds are that when a man shoots from the right side the ball will come over to the left," he said. "I moved two steps to get there and jumped."

Miners Ranked No. 4 In Poll

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

St. John's of New York shook up the Associated Press college basketball poll by knocking off Kansas last week and now Northwestern has shaken up St. John's.

The Redmen dropped the Jayhawks right out of the poll with a 62-44 licking a week ago and earned themselves eighth place in this week's ranking.

But in the opening round of New York's Holiday Basketball Festival Monday, Northwestern nipped St. John's 62-60 and that means the Redmens' stay among the Top Ten could be as short as Kansas' was

The panel of sports writers and broadcasters left the top four rankings unchanged. UCLA remained No. 1, Louisville second, North Carolina third and Texas Western fourth. Three of those teams play in tournaments this week.

Texas Western hosts the four-team Sun Carnival opening at El Paso Thursday. North Carolina is not entered in any tourney but will stay busy, playing Furman tonight and Ohio State Friday.

Michigan State, also entered in the Quaker City tournament. slipped five notches from fifth to 10th after losing to New Orleans Loyola last week.

The Spartans' No. 5 slot went to New Mexico, who moved up one notch from No. 6. New Mexico hosts the Lobo Invitational with three other teams entered. It opens Thursday.

Houston moved up two spots to No. 6 and is entered in the Arkansas State Invitational beginning Wednesday. Cincinnati, No. 7, plays St. Joseph's of Indiana Wednesday and Iowa Friday. Vanderbilt, which moved up to ninth, is off this week.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses, and points on a 10-9 etc. basis:

1.	UCLA (31)	319
2.	Louisville	272
3.	North Carolina (1)	246
4.	Texas Western	198
5.	New Mexico	134
6.	Houston	116
7.	Cincinnati	99
8.	St. John's, N.Y.	76
9.	Vanderbilt	65
10.	Michigan State	53

COTTON BOWL FOES HAVE TALENTED TOES

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)— If the Cotton Bowl football game next Saturday should get down to a matter of place-kicking — and with Georgia and Southern Methodist boasting defenses that could put a premium on field goals—there are a couple of guys who ought to meet the issue.

Bob Etter of Georgia has done more of it than his counterpart, Dennis Partee of Southern Methodist, but the results haven't been more successful.

Partee is the fellow who won two games in a combined 33 seconds. He kicked a field goal to pull Southern Methodist within two points of Texas, then booted a 32-yarder with 18 seconds left to win the game 13-12.

Partee's 10-yard field goal with 15 seconds remaining knocked down Baylor 24-22.

Etter kicked three field goals against Georgia Tech. His field goal tied the score and another won the game against Mississippi State.

His point after touchdown put Georgia ahead to stay against Auburn. He kicked two field goals against Miami, might have gotten another but for a bad center snap. Miami won the only game Georgia lost, 7-6.

Partee booted 21 of 23 extra points and landed on four of nine field goal attempts. He also punted 47 times for an average of 36 yards.

Etter was about the most accurate and busiest kicker in the country. He sent 12 of 15 field goal tries through the crossbars, he kicked 2 1of 22 extra point attempts.

Etter led the Southeastern Conference in scoring with 57 points. It was the first time a place-kicker ever turned this trick.

Powell's Seat In Congress Is Actually In Little Danger

By JOHN BECKLER

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell's pride appears to be in greater danger than his seat in Congress from the challenge being readied to bar him from the House when Congress convenes Jan. 10.

Even if he is denied the right to be sworn in with his 434 colleagues — as seems most likely — there is almost no chance he will actually be excluded from membership at that time and his Harlem district declared vacant.

Not since the Civil War, when three border state representatives were expelled for treason, has a member been kicked out of Congress. In 1900 a polygamous member-elect from Utah was denied a seat and in 1919 a member charged with favoring Germany in World War I was excluded, but eventually seated when his district twice re-elected him. And that is about the extent to which Congress has used its power to judge the fitness of its members.

What is expected to happen Jan. 10 is that Powell will be asked to stand aside until a special committee investigates the case against him and makes a recommendation. That's what was done in the case of the much-married Mormon, and Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-Calif., who plans to make the Jan. 10 challenge, says he is thinking of following the same course.

It could take six months or a year for such a committee to complete its work. Meantime Powell would be legally a member of the 90th Congress, entitled to his $30,000-a-year salary, his office staff and his free mailing privileges.

All he would lose is his right to vote.

If the committee should recommend that Powell be barred, approval by the House would cut off his salary and vacate his seat. But by that time Powell may have purged himself of the contempt of court in New York that is largely responsible for his current difficulties.

Because history, tradition and precedent all tend to blunt the effectiveness of the challenge to Powell's seat, some of his opponents also plan to try to take away his chairmanship of the Education and Labor Committee.

This could be accomplished by a majority of the Democratic members at their caucus Jan. 9. Rep. Sam Gibbons, D- Fla., who led the fight to reduce Powell's powers as chairman last session, is planning the strategy for having him ousted.

A major weapon in the move will be the forthcoming report of a House Administration subcommittee that investigated the payroll and travel expenditures of Powell's committee and found that somewhere between 75 and 100 airline trips, paid for as official trips by staff members, were taken by someone else.

Powell's preference for lolling in the sun in the Bahamas instead of facing the subcommittee's questioning will be used to support the charge that he is unfit to continue as chairman.

Precedent is also against deposing committee chairmen, and the success of this effort, as well as that of the seating challenge, lies almost entirely with Speaker John W. McCormack. Although the speaker has kept out of the fight up until now, his past record of kindness and compassion toward erring members and his love of the House and its traditions would indicate he will seek the softest possible solution for the Powell problem.

Britons Watch Coroner's Half Hour

By EDDY GILMORE

MANCHESTER, England (AP) — "Just watch," said John Ridley, "and you'll see why it's called the coroner's half hour."

The time was 10:25 in the evening.

The place was a pleasant Manchester pub, one of more than 72,000 pubs in Britain.

"Time, gentlemen, please," sang out the pubkeeper. "If you please, gentlemen, time."

Five men standing in a group in front of the bar ordered another round of drinks, and while the barman was making them, they gulped the contents of the glasses before them

"Still time for another," sang out one of the five men. "The same as before, Bert, and this one's on me."

Behind the bar, bartender Bert handed out another round, and these five glasses of straight whisky — like those before them — were downed almost instantly.

Then, as the clock hands showed 10:30 p.m., the five men, and all the other customers, filed out into the night.

By British law the pub had to close and they had to leave.

Separating outside the pub, the five men drove off in three different cars.

"The coroner's half hour," explained Ridley, "is the 30 minutes from the moment those men began downing their drinks, to the moment, God willing, they reach their homes."

He looked grim.

"All over the country some men won't reach their homes," he said. "Some will be hauled from their wrecked cars and taken to hospitals, broken and bleeding.

"Others will end up on a cold slab down at the morgue. Customers for the coroner."

Ridley, who owns a hotel and a pub in two different parts of the country, is trying to get the law changed so those five men would not feel forced to drink two or three hurried rounds of drinks.

"If those men were allowed to take their time they probably would not have ordered those last two rounds of drinks. I think they would have quietly finished the drink that was before them when the publican had to call time.

"The volume of going-home traffic would be spread over a greater period of time. This is the main point of our campaign. We want to eliminate that last wild 10 minutes or so of wild drinking.

"I'm sure it'll bring down the accident rate. Discuss this question with any policeman who knows anything about traffic and he'll tell you the coroner's half hour is the worst time of the day for the police"

An inn keeper, and one who likes to drink, Ridley added:

"Drunken driving is a terrible crime, and let me say this, I'm convinced the punishment isn't as tough as it should be. Eliminate the coroner's half hour and tighten up the punishment. That's what I say."

Ridley and his friends are trying to get one million signatures of British subjects on a petition to change the nation's drinking laws.

Oak Ridge's famous X-10 reactor, which produced fissionable plutonium for the first atomic bomb, will be preserved as a national historic landmark.

Junior Editors Quiz on U.S. SCULPTURE

QUESTION: How were the first American sculptures made?

• • •

ANSWER: The art of sculpture, as we practice it today, came to us from the old world, where it reached great heights in ancient Greece and Renaissance Italy. But the first American settlers had little contact with the old world, and so could not carry on European traditions of sculpture. There was, however, a demand for certain kinds of sculptured figures. The early American craftsmen met this in their own way, by carving in wood. These sculptors knew nothing of carving in marble, which would have been difficult for them to obtain and work with at that time. We illustrate two types of wood sculpture for which there was a steady demand — a figurehead on a sailing ship and an Indian figure to use in front of cigar stores. Notice how well the lady in our figurehead carries out the feeling of the movement of the ship. If carvings of this kind are a bit stiff and unrealistic, they have a liveliness and charm which has made them highly appreciated by art critics of today. Other objects made by these folk artists were weathervanes, various kinds of trade signs, toys and carvings used by circuses.

TAX ANSWERS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

* * *

Question — I was hurt in a car accident and was compensated for my injuries by an insurance company. Is that money taxable?

Answer — Damages for injuries suffered in an accident are tax free.

Question — I rent a car for business use. Can I use the mileage rate for expenses instead of adding up the rental fees?

Answer — On a rental car, use the rental expenses plus what you pay for tolls, parking fees and gasoline and oil as the expense figure. These costs, when incurred for business purposes, are deductible to the extent they are not reimbursed by your employer.

If a rental car is also driven for personal or family use then the costs have to be allocated between business and personal use. In this case, only the business portion of the expenses qualify as a tax deduction.

Question — I understand that farmers can now take gas tax refunds as a credit against income tax. Can this credit just be taken on gas used in 1966?

Answer — The credit can be taken for a period stretching back to July 1, 1965, on the return filed for the first tax year beginning after June 30, 1965.

For most taxpayers, this will be the return filed for calendar year 1966. Be sure to file your tax return on time however. The credit is lost if the return is late.

Question — Do you have to support a person all year to be able to claim his or her dependency exemption? My mother moved in with us several months ago and I have been providing her full support ever since.

Answer — The support test is not concerned with how long long you have supported a person but whether you provided more than half the support required by the person for the calendar year. If you provided this support for your mother and the other tests are met, then you may claim her as a dependent.

Question — How do you handle a year end taxable dividend on stock. Do you report it the year declared or the year received?

Answer — Report it in the year it is constructively received. This means that if you received the dividend or had it credited to your account in 1966, then it must be reported on your 1966 return.

Question — I'm considering a job being offered me in Europe If I take it will my salary be subject to U. S. Tax?

Answer — Your salary is taxable if you take a job with the U. S. government overseas. You may be entitled to exclude all or part of your income from U. S. tax if you work for a private concern overseas.

The IRS booklet, "Tax Guide for U. S. Citizens Abroad," explains this subject in detail. Drop a post card to your district office asking for a free copy.

Clash Costly To Rebels

TEIXEIRA DE SOUSA, Angola (AP) — More than 300 of a 500-man rebel force were killed Christmas Day when they crossed from the Congo — Kinshasa — and attacked this town on Angola's eastern border Portuguese military authorities said today.

Portugal closed the Angola-Congo border this month after rebels killed 25 soldiers in an ambush near the frontier.

This town of fewer than 1,000 persons is a main stop on the British-owned Benguela railway over which the Congo exports more than 70 per cent of its copper ore. Portuguese authorities have threatened to halt the ore movement in reprisal for raids by rebels who hit and run back across the border.

Thieves Strip Copper From Six Homes

BEAUMONT (AP) — The shortage of copper on the world market has put a premium price of scrap copper — and homes under construction are suffering for it.

In one night recently thieves completely stripped the copper pipe from six homes being built —all in one block.

Tragedies Won't Separate Youngsters

RACINE, Wis. (AP) — First their parents died in an auto accident, and then their house burned down in a Christmas weekend fire, but the five Rogers girls, ages 2 to 15, and their big brother are sticking together.

Temporarily, they'll live with neighbors and grandparents. But that's only until Richard Rogers, 19, the head of the family, finds a new place they can turn into home.

As flames swept through their frame dwelling in nearby Caledonia, Richard stood barefoot in the snow and said, "The kids had a good Christmas—up until last night."

Just two weeks earlier their father, Richard Sr., 47, and mother, Vivian, 38, died in a two-car crash. Richard Jr. insisted on keeping the girls together.

"I thought it would be best. I didn't want them to split up," he said.

Barbara, 15; Patricia, 11, Deborah, 8, Lisa, 5 and Sue Lynn 2 wore only their pajamas when fire drove them from the house. Some Christmas gifts a Christmas tree, two beds and a chair were saved, but many other belongings including most of their clothing and $200 in cash burned.

"We still haven't got the bills straightened out since my parents got killed," Richard said. "I guess we'll just have to go on day to day now until I know what's what."

Richard had earned $100 a week as a laborer at a metals firm while attending high school in Racine. He generally cared for the younger children for part of the day until his sisters could take over.

Richard said the youngsters would have to rely heavily for a while on their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Murray, until things are straightened out.

Ruby's Condition Reported Unchanged

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Parkland Hospital reported late Monday that Jack Ruby's condition was unchanged and that he was resting easily, the Dallas County sheriff's department said.

Ruby, suffering from widespread cancer, has been in the hospital since Dec. 9 when he was transferred from the county jail.

Bureau Supports Plan

WACO, Tex. (AP)—The Texas Farm Bureau is lending its support to a nationwide broiler promotion campaign seeking to sell more broilers during a period of oversupply in the next several months.

Communist Critics Flay Cardinal

MOSCOW (AP) — Communist commentators are aiming heavy barrages at Francis Cardinal Spellman, accusing him of contradicting the words of Pope Paul VI by the statements he has been making to U.S. troops in South Vietnam.

Cardinal Spellman, the Roman Catholic vicar of the U.S. armed forces and archbishop of New York, was traveling in South Vietnam today and could not be reached for comment on the accusations.

A taped recording of the cardinal's sermon at a Mass at Tan Son Nhut airbase near Saigon Saturday called the Vietnam conflict a "war for civilization."

"We do hope and pray," the sermon continued, "through the valor, the dedication, the service of our men and women of our armed forces, we shall soon have the victory for which all of us in Vietnam and all over the world are praying and hoping, for less than victory is inconceivable."

The Soviet government paper Izvestia said Monday he cardinal was neglecting the Biblical commandment, "Thou shalt not kill." It added that "militant sermons" by the cardinal to U.S. troops were "in sharp dissonance with recent statements of Pope Paul VI, who appealed for an end to the bloody killing."

In the same tone, Communist North Vietnam followed up today with an attack on the cardinal, calling him "a reactionary under a priest's cloak." The Hanoi paper Nhan Dan accused him of having "loudly clamored for the intensification of the U.S. aggressive war."

Education Costs Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The magazine School Management says that average cost of educating a child in the public schools of the United States jumped 8 per cent in the last year.

The publication for school administrators will say in the January issue that average school district is spending $435 on each elementary pupil against only $402 a year ago.

Average cost per high school student during the same period, the magazine says, rose from $523 to $566.

In Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas, the magazine said the cost per elementary pupil was $427 and for high school students $555, both below the national average.

Leukemia Victim To Visit Disneyland

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Suzy Dewey is going to Disneyland — a special Christmas wish fulfilled.

Doctors say that 6-year-old Suzy may die within a year of leukemia.

A Los Angeles woman, who asked to remain anonymous, financed the trip to California for Suzy, her parents and her sister.

The family left for the West Coast.

Some modern collectors are now collecting barbed wire.

Convicts Stage Rush At Christmas

By RONALD THOMSON

LONDON (AP) — Eight more convicts have escaped from British prisons, bringing the total for the Christmas weekend to 23. Only four have been recaptured.

Nearly 1,000 police with tracker dogs searched the bleak moorland for five convicts who overpowered two guards Monday at Dartmoor Prison and scaled the 30-foot wall.

Three other convicts slipped away from Leyhill Open Prison late Monday night and vanished into the rainy, misty countryside.

Two men were recaptured Monday who had escaped from another open prison in Derbyshire Christmas Eve.

The start of the convicts' Christmas rush coincided with the publication last week of a report from Earl Mountbatten that Britain has not a single secure jail. Mountbatten was commissioned to investigate the prison situation after master spy George Blake escaped from Wormwood Scrubs, in London, in October. Blake has not been recaptured.

The five Dartmoor fugitives, all robbers serving terms ranging from 4 to 15 years, brought the number of escapes from the forbidding old prison to 15 this year.

There are about 600 prisoners in Dartmoor, which is located near the lonely village of Princetown in the far west of England. All but 50 are serving long terms. The rest were put there to relieve overcrowding in other jails.

In the first escape Monday six prisoners grabbed two officers, took their keys and let themselves out of the gymnasium where about 24 men were playing games.

Police are still looking for Frank Mitchell, "The Mad Axman" who walked away from a Dartmoor working party Dec. 12.

Mountbatten criticized Dartmoor authorities for allowing a man like Mitchell outside the walls. He conceded that the jail, built in 1806 for French prisoners captured in the Napoleoenic wars, was inadequate for modern requirements.

The giraffe's small cousin, the okapi, was almost unknown to science before 1900. Since then, this shy native of dense African forests has become a familiar sight in zoos.

Red Guards On Move In Cuba

By THEODORE A. EDIGER

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Recently created shock troops described by exiles as similar to China's Red Guards are reported on the move in Cuba.

The units, officially called Youth Technical Brigades, reportedly have the dual role of serving as technicians in industries and on farms and making certain the workers are good producers and good Communists.

The official Havana newspaper Granma, which reaches some exiles, quoted Cuban Labor Confederation Secretary-General Miguel Martin as describing the brigades as "a shock troop against indolence, disorganization and lack of discipline."

Mario Fontela, secretary general of the Miami-based Democratic Revolutionary Labor Front, an anti-Castro labor organization, said brigade members wear blue shirts, work trousers and a holster with a revolver.

"Fidel (Castro) imitated the Chinese in forming the same type of groups as the Red Guards," Fontela said. "The functions are the same — overcome the rebellion of the worker."

Castro said in a speech monitored here Dec. 18 that young farm technicians receive military training. He told a graduating class in Havana: "This is a youth group that has received military instruction, that constitutes units for defense of the country." Castro did not mention the brigades by name.

A Havana radio broadcast monitored Nov. 14 quoted Martin as listing 761 brigades in Cuba, with more being formed. The membership was placed at 8,103. Brigades were reported functioning at industrial, farm and other centers.

Suicide Of Indians Is Averted

By R. SATAKOPAN

AMRITSAR, India (AP) — A last-minute agreement by Prime Minister Indira Gandhi averted the suicides by fire Monday of six Sikhs, ended the 10-day fast of Sikh leader Sant Fateh Singh and removed a grave threat of communal violence.

Fateh Singh sipped orange juice offered by Hukam Singh, Mrs. Gandhi's emissary, after they conferred on Sikh state of Punjabi Suba.

"Everything has been amicably settled," Fateh Singh said.

Hukam Singh, speaker of the lower house of Parliament and a Sikh, came to this walled city in northwestern India only two hours before the Sikhs planned to set themselves afire. The six waited nearby as the talks went on past the deadline.

Fateh Singh had threatened to burn himself today.

Mrs. Gandhi agreed to arbitrate the disposition of Chandigarh, now the capital of both Punjabi Suba and the adjacent Hindu state of Hariana. Both states were formed from the old state of Punjab. The Sikhs want Chandigarh all to themselves.

Hukam Singh said after his return to New Delhi he had assured Fateh Singh that the city ultimately will go to the Sikhs.

The prime minister will also determine which state owns Bhakra Dam, a hydroelectric-irrigation facility north of Chandigarh. Under a previous agreement, each state will have its own governor and high court to replace the present joint governor and court.

Eisenhower To Leave Hospital Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower is scheduled to leave the hospital this afternoon following his Dec. 12 gall bladder operation.

There has been no report from Walter Reed Army Hospital on his condition since Thursday, when he was said to be recuperating rapidly.

Eisenhower, 76, plans to go to Palm Desert, Calif., early in January from his Gettyburg, Pa., home.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

Mexico City — The winter winds are sifting through us like all doors and windows were open. Leaves withered and floated to the ground long ago leaving the trees with bare arms thrust toward the grey skies.

And today I had watermellon for lunch. A big red, ripe chunk. The chilly breezes doesn't hit the tropics and farmers go right on growing summer fruits the year around.

That is one of the interesting things about living a mile and a half up in the altitude.

Let a rain storm hit Florida and we get weather up here. The Aztec storm gods slice the tops of all disturbances. Freeze the air and blow it all around us, complete with sagging clouds.

This year it came early. But let it be said the weather bureau gentlemen put out a warning. "Storms this fall and frequent cold spells for the central plateau."

Go to Cuernavaca, 50 miles on the other side of the mountains and 5,000 feet up on the slopes and they are complaining about the cold. Some of the citizens have even put on long sleeve sport shirts.

For me, it is basking in the summer sun. But the thermometer there has dropped to about 70 degrees F.

Here in the city the ladies bundle up in sweaters and coats to go to the market. Pick out fresh watermellons and pineapples plucked from the tropical fields.

And while the fireplace roars at home, we sit at the table munching on hotland fruits.

A lot of this unseasonable merchandise comes from federal projects started a few years ago. The government began draining swamp lands in the tropics and carving it up for farmers who were short on real estate.

Whole families picked up and moved to the new, fertile areas. It was a boon for those who lived in the drouth country and the exploding rural population.

Something like 75 per cent of Mexico's population had always lived at altitudes of 5,000 feet and above.

This was a tradition. For in olden times, the tropics were loaded with malaria and all sorts of undesirable things.

The federals got out their machinery and sprayed the lowland rivers and bogs. Drained the swamps and converted them into fresh farmland. Malaria was stamped out.

And farmers and ranchers began migrating back to the tropics where two or three crops a year is a regular procedure.

Dams were built on wild rivers and levees piled up on the banks to keep low spots from being flooded. With the dams came new hydro-electric projects and backwoods villages that never had more than a candle now shimmer with electric lights.

If we want to eat more, we have to grow more, the government said. A big slice of the population turned agricultural and began growing on a large scale.

All of which is fine with me. It keeps the city from falling over on its side from a top heavy population. And the tropical farmers grow more watermellons for my Thanksgiving dinner. While the wind blows cold from the north up here in the mountains.

Divers Search For Slaying Weapon

HOUSTON (AP) — Volunteer skindivers probed murky Buffalo Bayou Monday for the rifle in the Dec. 9 sniper slaying of Dr. Robert E. Pendleton, but all they found was two hubcaps.

An anonymous tipster had told police a week earlier that the murder rifle was in the bayou. The divers from the Harris County sheriff's department groped along the bottom of the chilly bayou, assisted by a boat equipped with a large magnet.

The physician was gunned down outside his Red Bluff General Hospital by a sniper police believe had waited in a nearby pasture and was driven away from the scene by an accomplice.

Service Set For Former Texas Ranger

TERRELL, Tex. (AP) — Funeral services were scheduled at a Terrell funeral home today at 2 p.m. for Walter Roy Vinson, veteran Texas peace officer.

Vinson, 68, died yesterday. He had lived at Dickson Cove on nearby Lake Tawakoni since his retirement several years ago.

Vinson started his career as a law officer in Corsicana and was a policeman at Waxahachie and served with the Texas Rangers before serving 20 years as chief of the El Paso police.

Scientists Make Protein From Crude

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Promising prospects for a major new protein food made by mixing living bacteria with crude oil products were reported by scientists today.

A team working on the project said it could be a significant food source for developing countries which might be competitive in price with skim milk powder.

For folks who could be squeamish about eating food derived with the help of bacteria, the researchers pointed to yogurt, vinegar, cheese, sauerkraut, curd meats, soy sauce and other foods already in this category.

Living yeasts might also be used instead of the bacteria in producing the protein, Dr. John G. McNab of the Esso Research and Engineering Co., New York, and Prof. Louis R. Rey of Nestle Alimentana, South America, said in a report prepared for the 133rd meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

With yeast or bacteria, the living micro-organisms would, in effect, be weaned on, and caused to multiply, by feeding them high-quality hydrocarbons derived from the distillation of crude petroleum oil.

Out of this brew, featuring a constant fermentation process, would eventually come a dried, powdery protein substance called single cell protein.

Special heat treatment prior to final processing would be designed to kill all bacteria or yeast organisms after their job was done.

McNab and Rey said that a number of technical and economic problems remain to be solved but "we are confident that all of these problems can be solved and that single cell protein can represent a major new soure of protein," possibly within the next decade.

Girl Names Attacker

HOUSTON (AP) — Harris County authorities asked a two-state lookout today for the 28-year-old drifter named by a 16-year-old girl as the man who raped her, choked her, slashed her throat and left her for dead last Thursday night.

She identified James Oscar Sayres as her attacker when she looked at a picture of him. Charges of rape and assault to murder were filed against the missing Sayres Monday in the court of Justice of the Peace J. W. Mahan of Tomball.

The sheriff office said Sayres was last seen some 24 hours after the attack, checking out of a downtown hotel and walking toward a bus station. He has served time in Tampa, Fla.; Farmington, N.M.; Miami Beach and San Francisco.

The 16-year-old attack victim was released from the hospital Saturday.
