Federal Farm Plans Now "Up In Air"

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 22—Congressional leaders agreed today with Secretary Wallace in predicting that President Roosevelt's economy plea may force postponement of major farm legislation.

Chairman Jones (D-Tex) of the house agriculture committee said the whole program was "up in the air" as a result of the president's request.

Measures Threatened

Farm measures which may be delayed or modified, Wallace said at a press conference, are tenancy aids, crop insurance and the "ever-normal granary."

A house sub-committee delayed consideration of the $100,000,000 crop insurance bill passed by the senate. Jones said it was not known yet whether government finances would permit this legislation.

The Texan indicated the $135,000,000 farm tenancy appropriation for 1938 recently approved by his committee would be pared considerably.

Other Funds Considered

Jones said other phases of the tenancy measure — rehabilitation loans and retirement of submarginal land—might be financed from the $1,500,000,000 relief appropriation recommended by the president.

Jones said his committee probably would agree to a slight increase of the interest rate on federal land bank farm loans.

The regular agriculture appropriation bill was before the house today. Democratic leaders said they would combat every attempt to boost the $927,000,000 total.

Death Penalty Being Upheld

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, April 22—The court of criminal appeals today denied a rehearing for Dwight Beard, assessed the death penalty in Dallas county for killing John R. Roberts, a former policeman, during a filling station holdup, Dec. 23, 1935. The court said it failed to find new evidence on which Beard based his plea for a new trial.

The court affirmed a 25-year sentence against Charles S. Richardson, convicted in Taylor county for shooting his son, Elga Richardson, Jan. 1, 1934, in Young county. The appellate tribunal said it found no error in the trial record.

Reversed And Remanded

Reversed and remanded was the conviction of Mrs. Nellie Harvey, alias Mrs. Thomas McNeal, assessed two years for conviction in Red River county for forgery. The case was reversed because the trial court refused a continuance asked by the defendant due to absence of a witness by whom she expected to prove she was not in Clarksville when the alleged offense occurred.

Also reversed and remanded was the case of Arvie Webb of Newton county, given 10 years for murder with malice. Trial court errors caused the reversal.

Building Permit Totals For City Are Boosted Higher

Building permit totals for April were shoved beyond the $90,000 mark by two issued today at the office of D. J. Schlag, city building inspector.

The unofficial total of $91,130 for the month is within less than $500 of the mark for the whole of March, when construction costing $91,602 was authorized. The total for the year thus far is $316,854.

One of the permits issued today was to F. B. Shropshire, owner, and M. G. Bowles, contractor, for a one-story frame store building costing $1,700 at 2107 Nineteenth street. The other was to S. D. Stewart, as owner and contractor, for a garage and residence repairs costing $315 at 1920 Ninth street.

Witnesses Are Threatened

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Senate civil liberties investigators said today they were considering measures to protect their witnesses as a result of testimony that two of them were threatened.

Lawrence Howard, swarthy young grocery clerk from Harlan county, Ky., told the committee yesterday he received an anonymous telephone call warning him to leave town or "they may bury you in Arlington cemetery instead of Resthaven"—a Harlan burying ground.

The curly-haired youth had testified a few days earlier that deputy sheriffs paid by Harlan county coal companies had offered him $100 to "shoot up" the home of William Klontz, a United Mine Workers' organizer.

Another committee witness, Richard C. Tackett, testified he had been intimidated by Ted Creech, a Kentucky mine superintendent. He said Creech threatened to send him to the penitentiary for his statements to investigators.

England Ready For Debt Discussion

Texas Extends Oil Compact

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, April 22—The senate today sent Governor James V. Allred a bill extending for two years Texas participation in the interstate oil and gas conservation compact. The governor's approval was certain.

By one vote, the upper chamber rejected an amendment which would have requested the governor to terminate the compact whenever any other state was producing more than its share of the nation's oil allowable. Sponsors of the amendment expressed the opinion Texas had not been receiving the allowable to which it was entitled by reason of its producing potentialities.

School Bill Is Up

After unanimously approving the compact bill, the senate began discussion of a house proposal appropriating $1,080,000 for rural school aid during the remainder of the current biennium.

The house heard long debate on a motion to override Governor Allred's veto of a bill remitting taxes to Harris county for flood control. The senate previously had voted to override.

Sponsors of a senate bill imposing heavy penalties on sit-down strikers expressed the hope the house would reach consideration of the proposal late today.

LONDON, April 22.—British officials said in the house of commons today that the British government was willing both to re-open discussions for settlement of its war debt to the United States and to attend an international economic conference.

On war debts, Chancellor of the Exchequer Neville Chamberlain told the members:

Seek Satisfactory Result

"As stated in the note addressed to the United States on Oct. 13, 1936, his majesty's government would be ready to re-open discussions on the question of settlement of the British war debt whenever circumstances are such as to warrant the hope that a satisfactory result might be reached.

"I am not prepared to express an opinion at the present time with regard to the methods of settlement."

Willing To Participate

On international economic cooperation, Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin said the government is willing to participate "provided a comprehensive investigation showed it was likely to succeed and provided there had been adequate preparation."

Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler Monday told Laborite George Lansbury in Berlin that the reich would be "very willing" to attend an international conference for "economic cooperation and mutual understanding" if President Roosevelt or the head of another major power would call the session.

Final Plans To Make Wally June Bride Are Complete

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, April 22. — Final plans are being completed to make Wallis Warfield Simpson the June bride of the Duke of Windsor, their friends here declared today.

The date for the wedding of former King Edward VIII of England and the woman for whose love he renounced his thrown was expected to be either June 19, Mrs. Simpson's birthday, or June 23, which is Windsor's.

The ceremony, which their friends say will be attended by his sister Mary, the princess royal, and the Duke of Kent, who will be best man, is likely to be at the Chateau De Cande at Tours, France, where Mrs. Simpson is now in residence.

Definite fixing of a date, however, was said to await the duke's arrival at the chateau after Mrs. Simpson's divorce decree is made final soon after April 27.

Despite reports of a last minute intervention to stop the divorce, legal authorities considered the case finished except for the technical application for the final decree which can be made absolute anytime after next Tuesday.

Another Oil Field Assured For Texas University

SAN ANGELO, April 22. (AP)—Another oil field appeared assured for the University of Texas today.

In its northern Crane county holdings a well which swabbed 117 barrels of oil in 18 hours opened a field which seemed certain to add to the millions of dollars the university has realized from oil in five West Texas counties. The well was the Sinclair-Prairie Oil company's No. 1-24 University.

REFUSE TO OVERRIDE

AUSTIN, April 22. (AP)—The house refused today by a wide margin to override Governor James V. Allred's veto of a bill remitting taxes to Harris county for flood control. The vote was 66 ayes and 68 nays whereas a two-thirds favorable vote would have been necessary to override.

Human Hearts Revived After Death; New Machine Being Exhibited To Physicians

(By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, April 22.—A new machine in which human hearts are revived after death and made to resume their normal blood-pumping function was demonstrated today before the American College of Physicians.

Dr. William B. Kountz of Washington university described how he had brought more than 100 hearts back to normal functioning after they had ceased beating in the human body for as long as six hours and induced them to again take up their rhythmic beating.

He described the device as different from the "glass heart" developed by Dr. Alexis Carrel, Rockefeller institute Nobel prize winner, and Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. The Carrel-Lindbergh device acts as a pump to carry nutrient solutions to a piece of tissue to make it continue living, Dr. Kountz declared.

In the Washington university apparatus, however, the heart itself is the pump which forces blood through a system of pipes and reservoirs similar to those of the body and a recent modification makes it possible for an entire liver, kidney or other human organ to be connected to the artificial circulation so that its behavior may be studied in ways not possible within the body.

No effort has been made, the Washington university scientist said, to determine how long a revived human heart would continue to beat after it has been started. "We generally stop them after about six or seven hours, at the

Defiant Fleet Will Attempt Risky Task

Government Shore Batteries Start Booming To Clear The Waters Of Rebel Ships

(By The Associated Press)

ST. JEAN DELUZ, Franco - Spanish Border, April 22—A defiant fleet of British food ships, under guard of British men-of-war, determined today to smash the Spanish insurgent blockade of Bilbao and provision the near-starving Basque capital.

While three of the five freighters, driven to cover here by attacks from insurgent vessles, put up steam for the attempt to run the blockade, government shore batteries along the Bay of Biscay coast started booming at dawn to sweep the turbulent waters of insurgent warships.

The food-laden British vessels were reported authorized by their owners to run the gauntlet, despite a warning from the British government, and were promised an escort of British warships to the three-mile limit.

At that point, the government shore batteries and fleet of small armed craft will take over the job of fighting off insurgent attacks.

The first victims of the effort to prove the way was open to Bilbao and its refugee-swollen population of 400,000 were three insurgent trawlers who came within range of the guns at Santander just after dawn.

They Are Driven Back

Attempting to raid a fleet of fishing vessels anchored off Lequietio they were driven back by the long range coast artillery of the Basques.

Insurgent sources reported their ships ready to swoop down on any defying their blockade. Basque quarters said, however, the fire of land batteries had forced them to keep ten miles offshore.

The insurgent fleet was estimated to number ten warships.

Just outside St. Jean Deluz, ready to escort the fleet of little food ships to the three-mile limit, the world's mightiest warship, the battle cruiser Hood, rode at anchor.

Despite the preparations aboard the blockade runners and the general surge of excitement through the harbor, secrecy shrouded the activities of the departing ships.

"I don't know when they are going," the port captain said, "but they say they are ready to up anchor for Bilbao."

Cities Hit By Wage Ruling

(By The Associated Press)

Texas municipalities scratched in their treasuries Thursday to find funds to comply with the recently enacted minimum wage law for policemen and firemen or joined in a direct attack on the legislation.

Fort Worth led off with a fight against the law itself, while other cities sought ways and means of paying. City officials at Fort Worth sent representatives to Austin to seek an amendment to the law exempting that municipality. They said compliance with the law, which became effective Monday with Gov. James V. Allred's signature, would leave no alternative but to reduce police and fire personnel 20 per cent to avoid increased salary costs of $140,000 to $226,000.

Under the law, cities of 75,000 must pay policemen and firemen a minimum of $150 a month. Policemen and firemen could not be worked more than 12 hours a day or 72 hours a week without time and a half overtime pay. A six-day week in all cities of more than 25,000 was provided. The law required a two-week vacation with pay in cities of more than 30,000.

Kitchen Chautauqua Continues To Attract Record Breaking Audiences

Friday Will Be Closing Day

Informality continues to be the keynote of the lectures given by Mrs. Martha McDonald at the Kitchen Chautauqua conducted daily at 2 o'clock at the Auditorium, 801 Texas avenue. Wednesday afternoon she invited an audience of over 700 women to remove hats and coats and make themselves comfortable for the two-hour demonstration.

The school will be brought to a close Friday afternoon. The program for the last day will include preparation of salmon ring, sweetbreads in casserole, potato souffle, coffee punch, caramel crisp, peach waffle dessert, cherry pudding, uncooked fruit cake, grapenut pudding, chocolate cake, KC jelly roll, burnt sugar cake and fruit filled cake.

One of the most interesting things women learn at the chautauqua is how to shorten hours of kitchen cleaning and how to do it without tedious rubbing and scrubbing. "However proud one may be of one's cooking," said Mrs. McDonald, "the woman doesn't live who wouldn't like to dodge the time and effort spent in cleaning up."

In Clorox Mrs. McDonald feels women have a help which is invaluable not only because it makes cleaning-up easier, but also because when a Clorox rinse is used after cleansing, it removes numerous stains, deodorizes and disinfects. She has used the product daily in the school, showing how it removes fruit stains from linens and kitchen utensils.

British Taxes To Be Fought

LONDON, April 22 (AP)—Chancellor Neville Chamberlain's "prosperity profits tax" to bolster the 1937-38 fiscal budget appeared headed for a hard fight today with growing disaffection in commons and a split threatened in conservative ranks.

Leaders in commons declared they were "perturbed" over the scope of the new tax levies, while in the London financial district the proposal was termed an attempt to "soak" the nation's business enterprises.

Might Hinder Chances

Legislative circles discussed a possibility that conservative adherents of the government might turn against Chamberlain and thereby hinder his future political chances, as a posible successor to Stanley Baldwin, who is expected to quit shortly as prime minister.

Rumors that a large bloc of conservative members were angered by the new tax proposals gained strength as the staunch Tory, Sir Robert Horne, attacked the $4,315,500,000 budget.

Designed to help bear the cost of Britain's $7,500,000,000, five-year rearmament and defense program, the new "prosperity profits tax" would permit the government to collect up to one-third of a business man's net profits. The new budget also increases the income tax levy by 1.25 per cent to 25 per cent.

Pay High Levies

Sir Robert told commons that "taking both the income tax and the national defense contribution (new profits tax) together, many companies will have to pay as high as 45 per cent. In some cases there would be a surtax and the sum might run to 75 per cent."

He added he had talked with many people since the new profits tax proposal was offered, and "there are great perturbations. Unless these are abated in some way I fear some check upon the enterprise of our country."

BACK SO SORE HE FELT LIKE CRYING ALOUD!

Sluggish Kidneys Made Him Rise At Night; Stomach Swelled Twice Normal Size From Gas And Bloat; But Now Van-Tage Relieved Him And He Feels Fine!

Mr. Andrew Kirk, of 1806 Fourth Ave., Dallas, Tex., is the latest Widely-Known Texas Resident to come out with his statement publicly endorsing the "Amazing New Medicine," known as VAN-TAGE, which is now being introduced to the local public at Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1219 Broadway. Mr. Kirk was a Great Victim of sluggish kidneys and gassy stomach. Read how he got relief by taking Van-Tage. His statement follows:

MR. ANDREW KIRK

Could Hardly Bend His Back Without Flinching

"Every time I ate a meal I would suffer with gas and bloating and my stomach would swell up until it felt twice its normal size. My sluggish kidneys would break my sleep 3 or 4 times in the night, and I had an awful burning, irritated sensation so bad it was all I could do to keep from crying out with pain. I was so sore across the small of my back that I could hardly bend over without flinching from the awful agony. A friend of mine told me about Van-Tage, so I decided to try it. From the very first I could feel this medicine working and now it has cleared out so much gas and bloat that my stomach is down to its natural size again. It flushed my kidneys and now I can sleep soundly without being disturbed, and the pains in my back have been so greatly relieved that I can bend over and touch my toes and never feel a bit of pain. I consider it a privilege to tell others how Van-Tage helped me."

Over 30 Ingredients In This Great Compound

VAN-TAGE contains over 30 Ingredients (including 21 Great Herbs) which help cleanse bowels, bring forth gas from stomach and invigorate kidney action. People declare it has made them feel like different men and women. Another thing—due to large sales, the price of Van-Tage is reasonable. Get it — TODAY — at Mark Halsey Drug Store, 1219 Broadway. — Adv.

Wells To Speak At Press Session In Panhandle City

JOE K. WELLS

AMARILLO, April 22, (Special)—Joe K. Wells, state field supervisor for the Texas Unemployment Compensation Commission, will address the annual convention of the West Texas Press association here on Saturday, April 24, Clyde Warwick of Canyon, secretary of the association, announced today.

Wells will discuss the provisions and administration of the Texas unemployment compensation act, outlining its relation to the federal social security act and explaining the amendments to the Texas act recently passed by the Texas legislature.

To Aid Delegates

He will attend both days of the convention and will be available to help all delegates who have problems arising under the Texas act, Warwick declared.

Wells, who has served as state field supervisor for the Texas commission since its organization last November, is a graduate of the University of Texas law school. For two terms he represented the Corsicana district in the Texas legislature before joining the commission.

The phrase, "to point a fur," used in the fur garment industry, in making artificial silver fox fur, means to add white hairs to a pelt to give it the frosty effect of a genuine skin. These pelts are always labeled "pointed fox" by reliable dealers.

Sales Of Lots Start Today

Auction of lots in Meadowbrook Villa, residential addition, will begin this afternoon and continue through Friday and Saturday, according to Mrs. Mollie D. Abernathy, owner.

"There is only one canyon around which residences may be built adjacent to Lubbock," Mrs. Abernathy said. "The location of the addition is such that there is no likelihood of any sort of objectionable commercial enterprises being attempted. From a standpoint of native beauty, the addition is different to anything afforded here."

Lots Face Park

Lots face Mackenzie State park, thus offering unusual scenic advantages, as well as affording protection from southwest winds, said C. H. McCall of Los Angeles, auctioneer.

There is "seclusion, as well as exclusion," he said.

At a presale inspection Sunday, more than 800 automobiles visited the site.

The sale will be conducted in a tent on the grounds. It begins at 2 p. m. daily.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, lumbago, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Man Missing For 16 Days Is Found In Frisco Bay

SAN FRANCISCO, April 22 (AP)—The body of Roland D. Fontana, 52, wealthy president of a food products company, was found today in San Francisco bay. He had been missing for 16 days.

After an autopsy, Dr. Sherman Leland of the coroner's staff announced he could find no evidence of foul play.

Since his disappearance April 5, members of Fontana's family have expressed the belief the capitalist's dropping from sight was due to his brooding over the death of his brother, Mark Fontana. The later was killed in an airliner crash Feb. 9 in San Francisco bay.

Young Hula Dancer Is Dead After Skirt Is Fired

LOS ANGELES, April 22 (AP)—A 22-year-old hula dancer, Miss May Perdue of Portland, Ore., died today from burns after her grass skirt caught fire in a San Pedro waterfront cafe.

Matthew Donahue, 37, a mechanic, accused by police of applying a lighted match to the dancer's costume, was charged with suspicion of murder.

Detective Lieut. Edward Evans said the officers had talked to a diner in the cafe who he said saw Donahue set the skirt afire as Miss Perdue passed a table. Oscar O'Reilly, a boat builder held in jail as a material witness, told police Donahue did not put the match to the grass skirt.

Body Of Mathis Man Given Up By Waters Of Lake

SAN ANTONIO, April 22. (AP)—The body of James J. Stone, Mathis railroad man, one of six who were drowned in Medina lake April 4, came to the surface late yesterday.

W. H. Lentz of Harlingen, Stone's brother-in-law, who has kept a constant vigil at the lake since the morning after the accident, standing on Masterson's point as the sun sank, noticed the body about 250 feet off shore.

He rowed out to the body, and with the help of George Swager, got it into the boat and brought it to shore.

Three other bodies still are claimed by the depths of the lake: Those of Henry L. "Sunny" Lamkin, Leslie A. Bowers, and Sam Johnston.

A frog does not use his lungs in breathing under water. The nostrils are kept closed, and the skin of the entire body serves the purpose of a gill.

Deadwood Will Be The Same Wild City Of Other Days

DEADWOOD, S. D., April 22. (AP)—Deadwood—famed for the feats of "Wild Bill" Hickok, Calamity Jane and Poker Alice back in the old frontier days—aims to resume its "wide open" ways.

A year ago it was termed the "wildest town in the state." Then F. S. Howes was elected mayor on a reform ticket and the lid was put in place. But yesterday the townsfolk elected a majority of anti-reformists to the city council.

"Deadwood will be Deadwood again," said the Morning Times commenting editorially on the election result. Four anti-reform aldermen were elected.

After Howes was elected last May state officers raided eight liquor dealers and all were fined. Gamblers also were warned to "close up shop" or face prosecution.

Annual Meeting Of Bankers Is Closed On Wednesday

South Plains Bankers association, its representatives basking in the possibilities of important business changes, concluded an annual meeting Wednesday at Lubbock and disbanded after electing officers and determining to be guest next year of Plainview.

A round of entertainment Wednesday afternoon capped the day's program. There were golf, theater parties, a tea and other features.

The greatest attendance ever to be attracted by the association elected John K. Crews, Plainview banker, to presidency and named M. C. Ulmer of Midland vice-president. Paul Hardwick, cashier of the Citizens National bank of Lubbock, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

All addresses reflected a rising tide of confidence and optimism in business.

SERVICES ARE HELD

RALLS, April 22. (Special)—Funeral services were held at Will Marr chapel this morning for Cornelius Collins, 66, who died Wednesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. W. C. Snow, after several months of ill health. Rev. Fr. Gabriel Diamante of St. Elizabeth's Catholic church of Lubbock officiated. The body was forwarded to Bailey's Harbor, Wis., for burial.

Southpaw Gunner Takes Aim And Family Goes To Sleep

SIOUX FALLS, S. D., April 22. (AP)—Cal Coolidge, a southpaw gunner, took aim and fired.

And then the Ferdinand Lieb family went back to sleep, for Cal's aim was true and his target—an industrious woodpecker—toppled over dead.

For a week the bird awakened the Liebs around 5:30 o'clock each morning with its trip-hammer blows on the roof of the Lieb domicile.

Cal got his shooting assignment from the police after the Liebs appealed for help.

Varicose Veins
Reduced At Home
This Safe Easy Way
No sensible person should continue to suffer from disfiguring and often painful swollen veins or bunches without trying the new powerful, yet harmless penetrative treatment, called Emerald Oil, which relieves so many.
Ask Mark Halsey Drug or any good druggist for an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil and refuse substitutes. Use as directed and in a short time note improvement. Then continue until the swollen veins are further reduced. Money returned if not satisfied.—Adv.

New Comfort for Those Who Wear False Teeth
No longer need you feel uncomfortable wearing false teeth. Pasteeth, a great improved powder, sprinkled on your plates holds them tight and comfortable. No gummy, pasty taste or feeling. Deodorizes. Get Pasteeth at Mark Halsey Drug or your druggist. Three sizes.—Adv.

REFRIGERATORS!
I make 'em "Sweet" and Sanitary!
MODERN REFRIGERATORS offer greatly improved methods of food preservation but, according to science, health is made still safer when they are cleansed hygienically. Regular washing with a Clorox solution is an effective guard against bacterial contamination in refrigerators, pantries and food containers—for Clorox has positive disinfecting power. It also deodorizes and removes many stains without extra effort.
There are many other household "danger zones" where you need the health protection Clorox provides—dishes, glassware, drainboards, sinks, garbage cans, bathtubs, toilet bowls, towels, handkerchiefs, table and bed linens. Also Clorox removes dinginess and many household stains from white cottons and linens in the regular laundering process. In a slightly stronger solution it banishes many stubborn stains—even scorch and mildew.
Like Clorox itself, the Clorox label is a revelation of safer and easier housekeeping. It also lists many personal uses. Clorox is concentrated for economy. Order by name—there is only one Clorox.

Judge Blair Prepares Judgment In Suit In Cochran County

Judge Daniel A. Blair of 72nd district court prepared a formal judgment Wednesday expected to bring to an end prolonged, intricate and bitterly contested litigation involving five sections of land south of Morton in Cochran county in an area closely watched because of oil possibilities.

The suit, tried before the judge at Morton Tuesday, was that brought by S. H. Reid and Joe Telford against the Texas company and more than a dozen other defendants seeking to foreclose five notes for $1,240 each for which the land had been given as security. The suit also sought cancellation of mineral leases held by the Texas company on the 3,200 acres of land involved.

Company Had Paid Rentals

Judge Blair granted the order to foreclose subject, however, to the Texas company leases after testimony had been offered that the company had paid rentals regularly in keeping with lease contracts.

The judge and Charles Smith, court reporter, are to return to Morton today where the trial of a suit brought by Joe Telford Lumber company against S. J. Crockett, former sheriff, on an account is set for trial.

The court term at Morton will be closed Saturday for the opening Monday of a four weeks' term at Crosbyton. Judge Blair will empanel a grand jury at that time. Criminal cases are set for trial during the week of May 10.

THE BIG MISTAKE was in giving Vic Weber a main event job first time he was in town after nearly two years in other climes. Promoter Sled Allen, whose rule is to try out all newcomers, and all old faithfuls who have been away for some length of time, on the supporting card, admits that he slipped a cog when he tossed Vic in there with Kopecky last night for the main event.

Not that it wasn't a good show, a good card; Weber and Kopecky kept the fans entertained for the better part of an hour and a half—but Weber was in no condition, it developed, to show his best form.

There's more to this altitude business than an alibi for football teams. Visiting gridders, if they come from a distance, always bring their altitude alibi with them, and when the local teams go a-visiting, they carry the same with them.

One reason Texas Tech doesn't clamor more loudly for a place in the Southwest conference lies in the difference in altitude. Dropping from Lubbock's 3,200 feet, for instance, to Houston's sea level or the low pressure at Austin, Waco or even Dallas, makes a difference that West Texas trained athletes, no matter how vigorous, can't overcome with ease. The difference is one reason why conference teams dislike to play Texas Tech.

The same holds good in wrestling and before you condemn or criticize a grappler too severely, remember that he may have come direct to this circuit from some lower or higher clime.

This isn't intended as an alibi for Vic Weber, who, when he gets strung out, needs no alibi. We blame him as much as the promoter for taking the chance he did, and we are not overly sympathetic toward him for losing to Kopecky last night. He came here direct from Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, a distance of about 2,000 miles. There's quite a difference in altitude and temperature. He was worried about this when he hit town Tuesday, but hoped for the best. After 20 minutes of the one hour and 8 minute first fall last night, Weber was plumb petered out, gasping for breath, panting like cross country bunion burner. When he came to the dressing room, with assistance he was worse than that.

Kopecky is a good wrestler, no one will deny, and for his aggressiveness and willingness last night he deserved the victory We take nothing from him. Weber, after a week or two of life on the Plains, will be much improved.

Vic didn't ask us to say this. He didn't even cuss the weather or the altitude, but it was most evident that he was effected by both. It is because the fans who were there and this department know that he possesses greater "staying" powers than demonstrated last night that we offer this.

SO LET'S NOT WORRY ABOUT OUR FAIRWAYS

Local golfers don't know how lucky they are after all. There was the cry for grass greens. Lubbock Country club put 'em in, thanks to goodness. It was about time. Before and since grass greens came into being here there was and is grumbling about the fairways, the dry, dusty, crying spaces with a dearth of grass and moisture.

How swell it would be to have grass fairways, well irrigated and beautiful. Winter rules, except in winter, could be dispensed with, and golfers could "play 'em as they lie" in the fairways.

But here's a champion for our present fairways, a Texan who has made good in the big show. Let Wild Bill Mehlhorn give you his ideas of fairways.

Mehlhorn contends, according to a recent interview with Harry Grayson of the NEA, that watering systems practically have ruined golf in America for the scientific player. The renowned Texas professional says that Gene Sarazen and other foremost stars will tell you the same thing.

"Give me a hard baked cuppy fairway any time in place of an artificially watered surface where the ball snuggles down in thick nap turf," asserts Mehlhorn.

Watering breeds clover. That juicy weed raises old Ned with a well-hit shot. Clover juice crushed by the blade of an iron squirts onto the ball and causes it to cut queer capers. It skids off the club face like an automobile on greasy asphalt. Only clover juice acts just like a splash lubricant.

"Few amateurs know that this juice reverses the ordinary reaction of a particular shot. If you take an open stance and cut across the ball expecting to get a slice, the ball is apt to hook and vice versa. When I want to slice off clover I deliberately play for a hook.

"The entire theory of golf is topsy turvy on heavy clover fairways. Irrigation systems are a useless expense. Green blades of grass look pretty, but they make the ball act like a Burleigh Grimes spitter.

"I've heard people say 'the course is baked so hard that you can't hit a mashie off it.' That's the bunk. I can hit a better pitch shot off a cement floor than from a close lie in soft grass. I'd like to carry a block of cement and tee the ball on it whenever the fairway is mushy and thick with clover.

"You can get stop spin on a pitch without taking any divot if you hit the lower segment of the ball. A good player can put plenty of stuff on shots from a firm, solid surface. I'll make a mashie spin from off a locker room floor.

"The more burned up a fairway is, the better I like it. We Texans want to see the dust fly when we lay into an iron shot. Down in the alkali belt we call it 'watching the moon scatter.'"

Well, old Wild Bill surely ought to have a good time playing on our courses. He wouldn't need the concrete blocks, because, in ordinary times, our fairways are about that hard anyway. Of course, we play by "winter rules" here and improve our lies, teeing the ball on the nearest convenient growth or stubble. Even so, we're not bothered with squishy, squashy clover leaves; we just don't appreciate how fortunate we are around here.

Kopecky Wins Weber Match

There's life in the old man yet!

Venerable Joe Kopecky, one of Texas chiefest contributions to middleweight wrestling, showed his life and his durability by taking Vic Weber popular ace from New York, in the main event of Sled Allen's weekly show at the Auditorium last night.

Kopecky earned the fight all the way in one of the longest single falls matches on record here to win straight falls from the Gotham German who hasn't yet caught his breath after a swift 2,000 mile trek from Canada. And old Panther Joe looked good doing it, too. He needed an hour and 8 minutes to win the first fall, and folks were beginning to think the bout would go the 2-hour limit.

The crafty resident of Taylor, Texas, knocked the gasping Weber from between his ears and won the first fall with a Japanese crab hold. He was a long time getting around to it. He won the second fall with the same hold in eight minutes.

Vic Gives Out

Weber was blowed after half an hour of fighting last night. A change in climate and altitude fixed him up. He has been wrestling heavyweights in New York, middleweights and light heavyweights in Canada. He came here straight from Canada to engage one of the toughest examples of wrestling lore and fortitude Texas has even produced, in a main event. It was simply too much for him.

It was partly Vic's fault, for accepting a main go in his new debut here. It was partly the promoter's fault for booking him on the main before giving him a chance to acclimate himself—but mostly it was Joseph Kopecky's fault that Weber lost the main go. Kopecky, wrestling like he did ten years ago, merely kept after the puffing and huffing Weber until he had all the wind and all the life out of him. It was a simple matter then to grab his legs for the Japanese crab.

It was not a spectacular, rough match. Weber rarely got rough, choosing to wrestle. It isn't done, against Kopecky. Only a few times did the well known Weber fists fly into action, and each time Kopecky would retire behind the ropes while the panting Weber, on the other side of the ring, also regained his breath. It started fast, and was fast for the better of the first hour. The fans never gave up hope, and stayed to the end. There was a goodly bunch of them on hand.

But Kopecky's inborn wrestling knowledge, plus his good condition and killer instinct, served him well against Weber, who has wrestled, and defeated, the best of them. It

Merry Maker Makes Merry In Glen Oaks, Derby Try-Out

HAVRE DE GRACE, Md., April 22 (AP)—Mrs. Myrtle Shea's Merry Maker qualified for his engagements in the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness by galloping to victory over a muddy track in the Glen Oaks, a mile and 70 yards contest that featured the mid-week program here. In the wake of the gelded son of Cynic were Sunphantom, Court Scandal and Matey. Merry Maker not only disposed of this highly touted opposition but was under a strong retaining grip in the final sixteenth of a mile.

A slight favorite over Matey, Merry Maker brought his backers a $4.90 mutuel and ran the distance in 1.46 1-5, creditable time under the conditions.

First Division Clubs Remain In Places

(By The Associated Press)

Where they play today:
Dallas at Oklahoma City (night).
Beaumont at Houston (night).
Fort Worth at Tulsa.
San Antonio at Galveston (night).

The first division clubs had a firmer hold on their Texas league perches today.

Beaumont, Tulsa, Houston and Fort Worth, leading the circuit in that order, laid to with their bats yesterday to batter their second division opponents into defeat.

Dallas Is Blasted

The champion Tulsa Oilers dynamited four Dallas pitchers for 19 hits and a 13-to-4 win over the team which paced the league most of last season. Stan Schino showed the way with three doubles and a single for Tulsa, while errors by Connors, Houska and Pavlovic added to the discomfiture of the Steers.

Max Thomas pitched for Tulsa, the Steers getting 11 hits.

Fort Worth proved the power of its bats with a 12-hit assault on Oklahoma City. Chick Autrey doubled with the bags loaded in the fifth to drive in three Fort Worth runs. Two more runs followed when Shelley tripled scoring Autrey and then scoring himself on a wild throw to home. The score was 9 to 2.

Jackie Reid held the Indians to six hits.

Galveston Beds Down

Galveston bedded down more firmly in the cellar after swinging lustily at the four-hit pitching of John Grodzicki. The Buffs meanwhile were demonstrating how their hits could be converted into runs. Three Galveston hurlers were unable to stem the tide and the score against them was 11 to 0.

The coltish Beaumont Exporters, breaking into Texas league competition by pacing it, again demonstrated their new-found prowess with a 6 to 4 win over the San Antonio Missions. Every Beaumont batter got a hit, falling on the offerings of Leidhardt and Sams to quickly overhaul a 4-0 San Antonio lead. Ehrensberger allowed six hits.

East Texas Baseball League Season Opens Wednesday

TYLER, April 22 (AP)—The eight East Texas baseball league teams were launched today on their 140-game schedule.

Opening games yesterday produced three close games, including an 11-inning battle, while the fourth contest was fought by the pitchers.

Longview scored two runs on Catcher Steinbock's homer in the eleventh to defeat Tyler. Jacksonville batters thumped two pitchers for 20 hits to defeat Palestine 16 to 9.

Henderson put most of the burden on Pitcher Walter Schaffer, who struck out 13 men and hit a double and single to defeat Kilgore 3 to 2. Texarkana, newcomer in the circuit, shut out Marshall 2 to 0. Frierson and Burrage contributed homers for the victors.

Negroes operate more than 25,700 retail stores in the United States.

Rains by foxes in Scotland are the worst in 30 years, hundreds of lambs being killed or wounded.

Dangerous Track At Dallas Is Planned

BY FELIX R. McKNIGHT

DALLAS, April 22. (AP)—Pretzel-like and patterned after the Nuremburg, Germany, course, the two-mile track for the $17,500 auto race at the Greater Texas and Pan-American exposition in July will be one of the world's most dangerous tracks, say officials. . . The course, in the heart of the exposition grounds, will have 45 degree turns, "U" turns and crash ramparts made from bales of cotton . . . Topnotchers of the racing game will be entered, coming here after the Indianapolis classic.

Emptying the college mail bag: Publicist J. Willard Ridings of Texas Christian says reports have it Sammy Baugh will forsake his T. C. U. freshman coaching job to accept a $7,000 professional football offer . . . Watch for Texas Christian to book one of the Pacific slope's leading grid teams for 1940. . . . The Christians will travel 7,000 miles and play in five states next fall, opening against Ohio State at Columbus, Ohio . . . And Coach Dutch Meyer predicts Ward Wilkinson and Johnny Hall, juniors, will turn up as two of the best wingbacks in Christian history.

Sounds Like Football

From Baylor: The baseball statistics research department reveals that in the 32-13 licking Baylor gave Rice, 22 Bruins came to the plate in one inning; Rice used three pitchers in the same frame. 72 Baylors came to the plate in eight innings; each Bruin batted eight times in as many innings; nineteen of Baylor's 32 runs were earned, and, despite the amazing run total, 14 Baylors died on the sacks and 11 Owls were left parked.

Football is looking up at Texas School of Mines. . . . The largest squad in history, about 35, has completed spring training and will be taken to Texas Tech for the fiesta game April 30. . . . Last year the squad was so small Coaches Mack Saxon and Harry Phillips had to join in scrimmages to fill out two elevens.

Racing notes: The Three D's stock farms chief refiances including Heelfly, Kentucky derby nominee, Gin Daisy, Liberty Scout, Top Billing, Caca Manana and others, leave Friday for Churchill downs. . . . Liberty Scout, the stable's best juvenile, has been named for the Albany, Flash and Sanford stakes at Saratoga; Narragansett, Washington park, Arlington park and Southwest futurities and the Mayflower and Paneuil stakes at Suffolk Downs . . . He is tagged as the stable's new hope . . . Also a "rodeo" performer like Heelfly, the speedster broke away on his last appearance, ran nearly a mile before caught, came back to win the race handily.

Drake Relays Open Friday

DES MOINES, Iowa, April 22. (AP)—Track and field stars from all parts of the country moved into Des Moines today for the opening of the twenty-eighth annual Drake relays tomorrow.

Some 2,000 university, college and high school competitors will be here. One hundred and eighty four schools, second largest entry list on record, are entered in the mid-west's greatest track carnival.

Texans On Hand

Sun-bronzed young men from California and Texas were among the first to get the "feel" of the Drake cinders. The University of Texas' crack sprinters, Whittier college's relay team, and Fresno State college entries were among the squads working out.

Archie San Romani, who breezed by Glenn Cunningham at the Kansas relays last week, will go after a new world mark for the mile and a half against the Rideout twins, Wayne and Blaine.

Six athletes who competed in the 1936 Olympics will be here. They are Sam Francis of Nebraska, Mack Robinson of Pasadena junior college, Alton Terry of Hardin-Simmons, Lee Orr of Washington State, Harold Cagle of the Oklahoma Baptists and San Romani.

GROUND IS BROKEN

ANDREWS, (Special)—Ground for Andrews' new theater has been broken. It will have a seating capacity of between 350 and 400. Wallace Blankenship, Levelland, and Jimmie Thornhill, Lubbock, are owners.

Better Cooked Food WITH GREATER SPEED AND ECONOMY
As a modern woman, you can't afford to waste time or money in meal preparation. You need both for the pursuit of many other interests. But naturally you don't wish to sacrifice perfect cooking results. That's why we suggest Magic Chef, the gas range that assures better food, cooked with less time and trouble and at less cost. Come in and see for yourself.
HIGH-SPEED OVEN
The Magic Chef High-Speed Oven operates on a new principle which greatly intensifies heat. This radically reduces preheating time. Oven can reach 500 degrees in less than 10 minutes.
Low Temperature Cooking
Slow oven cooking and canning have not been neglected in the achievement of high speed baking. As low as 225 degrees can be maintained in this highly desirable oven for as long as you wish.
SWING-OUT BROILER
Here's an exclusive Magic Chef innovation. Smokeless broiler is attached to door. Swings out when door is pulled open. You can turn food quickly without touching any part of hot broiler. Door protects you from heat and spattering grease. Uncomfortable stooping eliminated. The broiler burner, which is separate from the oven burner, permits broiling and baking at different temperatures at same time.

Wrestling

was an upset in nearly everybody's book, but everybody went away with a lot of respect for the aging Kopecky.

The supporting card was as good as advertised. In the semi-final Gorilla Pogi, playing his usual game, vanquished George Bennett in 17 minutes, using a couple of overboard heaves and a "stomping" to do the job. Bennett failed the fans again in refusing to get rough, although he had little opportunity, it is true, against the always charging ape-man from the Argentine. Pogi carried the fight, whipped Bennett rather thoroughly, then threw him outside the ring twice. The second time overboard Bennett was hurt. He clambered back in, fell a victim of a body slam. Flat on the floor, Bennett received Pogi, who landed hard on the Bennett middle. Then he fell across George's figure, pinned him flat.

Klem Kusek, the "Tacoma Tornado," was much less than a tornado, but he succeeded in holding Ace Freeman of New York to a 20-minute preliminary draw. It was a fairly rough match, with Kusek doing most of the roughing.

That Girl on Broadway says the war cycle completes itself so swiftly in Europe today that it's hard to figure out whether history is repeating itself—or stuttering.

The Amarillo News informs us that the average American is not tax-conscious.

Of course not. As soon as he begins coming to from the last one, he is struck by another.

A THOROUGH man is U. Brown, deputy district clerk. He is writing a history of Lubbock county courts and already has gotten back to 1820.

Don't be too sure that such a thing is impossible.

Of course, there was no Lubbock county in 1820, but that doesn't mean that there was not some litigation then covering what now is Lubbock county.

If Mr. Brown's history is as thorough as it appears it's going to be, it should be worth something.

That Man on Avenue Q says New York City relief costs are up 50 per cent, but of course it costs more to starve there than in a small town.

A Tech kid came into his dormitory room chuckling.

"What's the joke?" asked his roommate.

"I sure pulled a good one on Dean Gordon," came the explanation. "He told the class no one in it could ask him a question he couldn't answer by either 'yes' or 'no', and I asked him if he'd quit drinking!"

IF a Lubbock school teacher happened to be confronted with questions by students concerning basic economic, biological, governmental or religious problems and if she were to attempt an honest discussion as a result, would the city's "conservative element" rise up and insist that she be relieved of her job?

Do our people refuse to look unpleasant situations in the face? If we had a cancerous social sore in our midst, would we dust over it and go merrily along, playing like it wasn't there at all?

Are we, in short, a conglomeration of "Pollyannas"—humans who refuse to see whatever bad there is among us and insist upon believing, despite proof to the otherwise, that "everything is lovely and the goose is hanging high"?

The average citizens of the average American city must plead guilty to all those indictments, according to a second volume of a scientific "Main Street" without "the Sinclair Lewis bias".

According to News Week, one of the nation's leading news magazines, that is what has been found and is presented in two volumes by Robert S. and Helen Merrell Lynd who, upon two separate occasions, have put Muncie, Ind., under the microscope as America's "Middletown"—a typical American city, peopled by typical Americans.

NEWS Week's dissertation is so interesting that The Plainsman is reproducing most of it. Doctor and Mrs. Lynd have, in their books, struck deeply into the lives of our people—note, we say "deeply", not accurately, because we do not believe findings in Muncie apply, in the whole, to life in Lubbock, or elsewhere in West Texas.

Quoting News Week:

"In 1924, five serious students invaded Muncie, selected as representative of contemporary America. They questioned politicians, school children, housewives, professional men, day laborers, and grubbed in newspaper and courthouse files. They became public nuisances, but they unearthed the facts about small-town American life.

"Published in 1929, their findings constituted one of the most important surveys ever made of this country. The study withheld all personal identifications and substituted for Muncie the appropriate sobriquet, 'Middletown,' a typical American community.

"In June, 1935, Dr. Robert Lynd—who directed the first survey—returned to Muncie with five assistants. His purpose: to measure the depression's effects and bring 'Middletown' up to date. Although the first portrait had been painted 'wart and all,' Muncie willingly cooperated for a second sitting. The result is 'Middletown in Transition', By Robert S. and Helen Merrell Lynd.

"As far as civic improvement went, the average town stood still during boom years, thanks to crooked politics, incompetent public officials, and voters' inertia. When government relief agencies began playing Santa Claus, Middletown had its face lifted and put through a list of improvements that probably would not have been considered if the last five years had been 'prosperous'.

"IF one of Middletown's teachers tries honestly to discuss questions raised by inquiring minds on economics, politics, religion, and biology, the town's powerful conservatives may relieve her of her job.

"Middletown people refuse to look unpleasant facts in the face. Lecturing a woman's club on local morals, a judge declared: 'The automobile is becoming a house of prostitution on wheels.' The club member who summarized the speech for the paper reported the judge as saying: 'The automobile is a house on wheels.'

"An autopsy of Middletown's two daily papers makes it apparent that nobody gets much information through the Fourth Estate. A preponderance of canned news from the East, plus suppression of local political deals and discussions likely to offend advertisers, adds up to this: The press has sold out to business interests.

"The most interesting chapter in the book, 'The Middletown Spirit,' attempts to sum up Middletown's values: By and large, Middletown believes that: 'American Ways' are better than 'foreign ways'; 'big-city life' is inferior to Middletown life and undesirable: Middletown will always grow bigger and better; American business will always lead the world; the small businessman is the backbone of American business; business can run its affairs best, and the government should keep its hands off business; the poor-boy-to-president way is the American way to get ahead; the reason wages are not higher is because industry cannot afford to pay them: Captains of industry are social benefactors because they create employment; and labor organization is unwise and un-American.'"

"Middletown also believes that the voters, in the main, really control the government; pacificism is disreputable and un-American; and national problems can be solved by 'letting nature take its course'."

THERE, in the opinions of Doctor and Mrs. Lynd, is a word picture of "life as she is lived", at least in Muncie, Ind.

Is it that way here?

Is the Lynd picture applicable to Lubbock and West Texas?

The Plainsman says: "In part, yes. Entirely, by no means."

Your opinion is as good as ours, of course.

'Eve's Orchard'

BY MARGARET WIDDEMER
Copyright, 1937, NEA Service, Inc.

SYNOPSIS: After five working years in New York, Eve Mannersfield goes back to her 200-year-old house and orchard in Connecticut. Uncle Henry, an old family friend, moves in to help run the place. The penniless Featherstones come to board, stay several weeks and leave without paying Eve, deserting their serious young son Judge. George Cleveland, Eve's calm, practical neighbor, loves her though she is engaged to gay city-loving Denny. Returning from a trip to the city, accompanied by Denny and Judge, Eve finds Marylin Featherstone's farewell note.

Chapter 31
Denny Walks Out

"Well, the worthless panhandlers!" Denny, tall and furious, the sun shining across his tossed fair hair, took Eve in his arms. "My poor darling little idiot, to think of your letting them gyp you that way! How far back were they on board?"

Eve laughed a little hysterically against his shoulders. "All the way! And she didn't even put away the butter."

Denny released her, and whistled as they took in the wrecked dining room Marylin's hospitality had left in its wake. A spilt glass of Eve's precious wine dripping across a big dish of limp lettuce. A vegetable dish with the remains of the peas. The big gray coffeepot in the middle of a big stain that spread across Aunt Lina's best damask tablecloth, meeting Jimmy Katz's usual cigarette hole. A slop of red-and-white that had been ice cream; a wooden dish with the butter melted by the warmth of the day. Marylin had fried both the chickens. Uncle Henry had killed for Sunday, and the remains were on one end of the biggest platter. Jimmy Katz had been hospitably given of Eve's best.

Denny followed Eve in as she began mechanically to tidy the table. He laughed, too, though he swore.

"Hollywood orgy!" he said, and reached for a chicken leg as he perched on a chair arm. Then he frowned. Eve felt better. Denny's anger for her was comforting.

"Hollywood orgy" she agreed, piling plates.

"Precious, this leaves you in a hell of a hole."

She realized as he spoke just how deep the hole was. Her own savings nearly gone, and no Featherstone money till goodness knew when—if ever—for repayment or expenses ahead. She couldn't expect Denny to pay everything for this big house even if they married on the spot. Taxes — repairs — well, thank goodness, she had Denny behind her, gnawing his chicken bone gaily in his white shirt and gray trousers on the chair arm in the sunset light. As she passed, piling the dirty plates, making the table a little less dreadful, he put his unoccupied arm around her again.

'Judge Is The Bother'

"Uncle Henry can be given back to the Indians any time, of course. Judge is the bother," he said, frowning in thought. "I wonder if there's anybody who would advance the kid's carfare to Hollywood? Trouble is everybody knows the Featherstones never pay their debts."

"But, Denny, I can't turn an invalid child out like a cat."

"Sweet, you talk as if he wasn't a Featherstone! That kid has been checked around and left on people's hands all his life. He's led the life of a library book! He doesn't know anything else."

"But that's why, the doctor said, he's in the condition he is."

"His condition isn't your affair, Eve. Your affair is to get married to a fine young man who has a swell job, and come live in New York with him, and have weekends at Southampton, and a nice little honeymoon at Nassau." He laid down his bone and finished the claret in the bottle and smiled up at her.

She leaned against him, feeling suddenly tired and confused.

"But I can't break my promise to him."

He looked at her in surprise.

"Darling, you don't care more for Judge than you do for me, do you?"

"Of course not. But throwing him out now might smash him for good. The doctor said—"

"It would mean postponing our marriage again!"

"I don't see why at all!"

"Well, but, my crazy lamb, we can't start married life with a ready-made nervously-smashed son. Be reasonable. I promised Mitzi maybe I'd sweep you off with me to her place even today. Let's drive back now. There's a regatta tomorrow night and a big dance tonight. We'll pick a few more bones and leave a note for Uncle Henry and drive till about nine, landing on Long Island in the excellent moonlight. I'll get Mitz to send the kid out—by Jove, bright thought! And Monday, what do you say we get all married?"

She could only say helplessly again, "But I promised him I'd keep him. A child who trusts me, Denny—"

"For the matter of that, I promised Mitz you and I would turn up for the old regatta. I thought you could pack what you wanted and tie up some strings. I like my promise best."

He was smiling at her winningly, Denny's own flashing smile of happiness over a good party.

'You Don't Love Me Enough'

"Den, can't you see it's different?"

"Well, I don't know what to do," he said despairingly. "You mean you won't go to Mitzi's and get rid of the child, after I made these arrangements for us?"

"But how can I?"

He stiffened. "All I see for it then is to go back without you."

"Denny—just because I can't put that poor little child out?"

"I never saw anyone so stubborn!" Denny said angrily. "Once for all, Eve, it's the only thing to do—unless you feel he's more to you than I am."

"That isn't the point, Denny!"

"It is the point." Denny had suddenly flared up into one of his moments of resentful anger. He came close to her. "If you don't love me enough to turn the boy over to his parents so you can marry me, the only thing I see for me to do is to go to Mitzi's alone, and give you a chance to decide about it. I didn't think it of you, Eve."

"But, Denny, of course I'll go to Mitzi's if you like. Only I can't send Judge away."

"That's your decision?"

"It isn't a decision!"

"Sounds like it to me." He stood up, flinging his coat across his shoulder. "Once and for all, Eve—"

"Denny, don't you see that I can't?"

"All right. I have your answer. Telephone me if you change your mind."

He picked up his bag and walked out. Before she could run after him or cry out he was whirling down the road in the old car. Aghast, she stood watching him from the doorway.

Eve decides to sell the lacquer cabinet and resume Aunt Lina's baking business, tomorrow.

FLAPPER FANNY By Sylvia

"Well, did you get your money's worth?"
"I suppose so, except she told me more misfortune than fortune."

Today's Journal Editorial . . .

PSYCHOLOGY IN OUR REFORM SCHOOLS

Psychologists long have realized that the best way to discredit a public figure or a questionable public problem is by poking fun at him or it. Doubtless realizing the fact, the superintendent of the Oklahoma reformatory for boys has adopted a policy of ridicule in an effort to improve discipline among the inmates of his institution.

When Oklahoma reform school boys attempt to escape, or when they enter into infractions of other important rules of the institution, the superintendent doesn't apply the strap or consign them to a dungeon cell on a bread and water diet, as was the case until recently. Instead, he dresses the miscreants in poke bonnets and Mother Hubbard dresses, rouges their lips and cheeks and makes them go through their regular school and work routine thus attired. The guffaws, chuckles, grins and wisecracks from fellow inmates do the rest—and rules-breakers become quickly chastened as a result.

The Journal doesn't know just how long the Oklahoma plan will work.

It may be that it will "lose its rabbit's foot" and authorities will have to go back to sterner measures—even those involving physical punishment.

The experiment, however, will be worth watching by reformatory and prison officials in Texas and other states and if it continues to succeed in Oklahoma, can "give it a whirl".

The idea has one thing on its side, namely, if there's anything a reform school or prison inmate hates its implication that he's a "sissie".

Oklahoma's reform school superintendent may have hit upon something that will revolutionize prison discipline, especially among youngsters.

BY PAUL HARRISON
Journal Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, April 22 — There are a lot of old voices in "New Faces". Old, familiar voices, I mean. RKO has solved the problem of getting big names into a picture about movie novices by raiding radio.

Most of them are screen novices, too, except for Joe Penner and Parkyakarkus. And even they are best known on the air. Harriet Hilliard played in "Follow the Fleet," but in no such leading feminine role as she has now.

And Milton Berle — well, in 1934 he made a short called "Poppin' the Cork" for the company that is whimsically known as "Educational." Mr. Berle is willing to forget all about that little incident if you are.

When he came to Hollywood this time, he was taken aside by Jack Oakie, who spoke as follows: "Milton, you are a great fellow on the air and you have been doing all right on Broadway revue stages, but this movie racket is the toughest thing yet.

"You are going into a picture with the two most expert scene stealers in town. I mean Penner and Parkyakarkus. You may not notice it at the time, but when you see the finished picture you will find that while you are speaking in a scene they will be hogging the camera or doing extra little pieces of business to attract the audience's attention to them. I just though I'd warn you."

All this was intended as a joke, because the two funnymen are no more addicted to scene-stealing than any other comedians in Hollywood, including Oakie himself, and much less than Hugh Herbert.

But the joke worked. Berle went in there to fight for his professional honor. He mugged, with gestures. He walked around making faces while Penner and Parky were speaking. He waved his arms. He moved in front of them. He did this for three days.

It was a very trying time for everybody, and well might have been the end of Berle's screen career except that somebody learned the reason for his weird behavior. So they shot the scenes over again, and at this writing things are going along fairly smoothly.

Composite Actor

What Berle doesn't know about scene stealing he knows about joke lifting. For years on Broadway he was notorious as a purloiner of other people's gags, and occasionally made little quips about his acquisitive talants, such as, "When I turn over a new leaf, it'll be a page in Joe Miller's joke book."

On the "New Faces" set, he endured a long scrutiny from Parkyakarkus and finally asked: "What are you looking at?"

"At every actor in the country," replied the comedian.

Fishy Stunt

Penner has a scene in which he pulls many yards of silk flags, all tied together, from his sleeve. This simple piece of magic is faked by having a property man squat on the floor beside Penner, out of camera range, and feed the flags under his coat.

It went all right for a couple of rehearsals, then Parky sent over to the commissary for a dead fish. The fish secretly was tied to the end of the last flag.

The camera began to grind, and Penner assumed his most fatuous smirk as the flag trick progressed. His expression when the fish appeared should make cinematic history.

No Time Wasted

One more item from that set, though it has nothing to do with the picture. Parky told me that he visited a friend at an independent studio the other evening, and was invited to go to the projection room to view the day's rushes. On the screen appeared some mountain scenery, just the locale for a western.

This went on and on — nothing but scenery. After 15 uneventful minutes, the mystified visitor asked his host, "What is this, anyway?"

"Efficiency!" replied the executive. "Actors or no actors, at dis studio we start from 8:30 in the morning!"

School Program Is Heard By Large Group Here

A large audience last night heard the presentation of Senior and Junior High school choral and mass singing at the Senior High school auditorium.

First program of the series, a musical exhibit of work done in Lubbock Public schools, was given Tuesday night by elementary schools.

The Senior High school orchestra, directed by Miss Beulah Dunn opened last night's concert. Negro spirituals, Italian, American and French songs were offered by the 212-voice Junior High school mass chorus.

Mrs. Elois Allison Elliot, Miss Ruth Rylander, Miss Frances Clark, and Mrs. M. E. Ware directed the chorus in different numbers.

A cantata, "Spring Cometh," by Kountz, was sung by the Senior High school chorus. Solo parts were taken by Marilyn Riggs, Mary Grace Ellison, Jack Delahunty, and Neil Armstrong. Mrs. Ann Alden Trotter directed.

Miss Stella Thurman was program chairman.

The Nice Thing About Having a National Sp

Federal Anti-Lynching Law May Pass Unless Filibuster By Southerners Saves The Day

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 22.—Chances for a federal filibuster of a few Southern senators is supported by obstruction from the Senate leadership and apathy among the measure's friends.

Assuming passage, there will be one deficiency in the law if it follows the model of the Gavagan bill passed by the House. For the Gavagan bill applies its penalties only in cases where a prisoner has been taken into custody before being seized by a mob.

Dutcher

It carries an obvious incentive for local officers, discovering the possibility of mob action and fearing federal prosecution, to refrain from arresting suspects and then leave them to the mob.

The Wagner-Van Nuys bill, now with the Senate Judiciary committee, extends to cover all cases of persons accused, suspected or convicted of crime, who are lynched or injured by mobs in denial of trial by the regular process of law.

The Gavagan bill, on the other hand, provides—as the Senate bill does not—for federal prosecution of members of lynching mobs in cases where local or state authorities have not acted within 30 days.

Supporters of the Wagner-Van Nuys bill think they can bring enough pressure on the majority leaders, Senators Joe Robinson of Arkansas, and Pat Harrison of Mississippi, to give the measure a place on the calendar sooner or later. They will then be faced by a filibuster which will be led by "Cotton Ed" Smith of South Carolina. Smith, Tom Connally of Texas, and Josiah Bailey of North Carolina, headed the filibuster which two years ago was used to sidetrack the Costigan anti-lynching bill. Smith is given to repeating that such legislation is a crime against Southern womanhood. His vehemence is counted as an asset by supporters of the bill.

Want Negro Vote

In the background will be the desire of Northern Democratic leaders to hold the negro vote, which deserted the Republican party almost en masse in the last election. Most opposition speeches in the House were based on the Gavagan bill's alleged unconstitutionality, violation of state rights and interference with a purely Southern problem.

Aside from the difference previously noted, the House and Senate bills provide that officers who fail to make diligent efforts to prevent prisoners from being lynched shall be subject to a $5000 fine and five years in prison; that officers who conspire with mobs may be imprisoned from five to 20 years; and that any county in which a prisoner is injured or killed by a mob may be sued by the victim's family for from $2000 to $10,000.

A who's who of the House leadership can be found in the list of

DEFENDS PREACHER

Dear Plainsman: Will you please give me space to speak a few words in behalf of Albert Smith and others of like faith who have the courage to preach the truth of their convictions.

Just why do denominational preachers think it all right to throw slurs at what Albert Smith preaches and to compare him to a barking dog? Just why will they say, "Baptism has nothing to do with a person's salvation", then when he preaches that it does they want to get him off the air. He is not trying to get them off the air. He is great enough that he pays no attention to personal slurs, and as to the slurs against his preaching all he wants is a chance to show the difference between truth and error. Why is it wrong for him to exemplify the spirit of the Master by denouncing what he believes to be wrong? The Master denounced false doctrines, and even called people hypocrites. I have never heard Smith call people hypocrites. The Savior was loving, tender, kind and yet he was stern when duty demanded it.

You might want to say, "Well the Savior knew he was right, Albert Smith just thinks he is right". For argument's sake we will grant that since he is human he might be mistaken and since denominational leaders are human, it is possible they are mistaken. Someone is certainly mistaken. Suppose that it is Smith, you still must admit he is a man of strong conviction and has courage equal to that of the Apostle Paul. Think what he would be worth to the denominations if they had him on their side. Why don't they show him where he is wrong? He sincerely believes they are wrong and has the love of the souls of men enough that he wants to teach them the truth, but suppose when we get to the judgment we find it is the denominations who are wrong. How are people going to feel who have tried to get Smith and his kind off the air or flipped off their radios to keep from hearing them? I listen to all of them and am not afraid for my children to listen to all of them. It cannot be said of me at the judgment, you would not listen to see who was right.

I am a poor ignorant woman, have never had much in this life and I surely do not want to miss the Home of the Soul.

There are some people who have been in spiritual darkness so long that they cannot stand much of the sunlight of God's truth at one dose. They will flip it off and then next time try a little more of it and on that way until finally it makes them feel so good they just can't get enough. I could tell you of people like that who are so happy now over what the light of the Gospel has done for them and more than one of them has had it shed on them by Albert Smith's preaching.

Just why do people not w
give him a fair deal? Is he n of God's servants? Some peop

It seems a little strange tha

Cotton Market

NEW YORK REPORT

NEW YORK, April 22. (AP)—Cotton futures opened steady, 2 higher to 4 lower; on trade buying of near months and liquidation in distant positions. May 13.48; Jly 13.48; Oct 13.22; Dec 13.16; Jan 13.21; Mch 13.23.

Although trading was in fair volume price changes were narrow and irregular, reflecting similar action at Liverpool. Spot houses in Liverpool were a little more active buyers while the selling included commission houses, local and New Orleans offerings.

July sold off from 13.48 to 13.38 and late in the first hour the market showed net losses of 5 to 8 points.

The market eased early under scattered selling and further May liquidation while there was absence of anything more than a moderate demand. Business was small on the decline which carried July off to 13.37 and the general market for net losses of 9 to 11 points. At midday prices were within 2 or 3 points of the lows.

NEW ORLEANS REPORT

NEW ORLEANS, April 22. (AP)—Cotton opened irregular today 2 points higher to 2 lower under light purchasing in near positions. Foreign markets were better.

May opened at 13.32, July at 13.39, Oct at 13.20, Dec at 13.23, and March at 13.32.

During the first half hour business was dull and most traders preferred to hold the side lines position pending crop and monetary developments. Favorable weather conditions over the belt probably induced the selling in new crop positions.

Additional offerings entered the market toward the end of the first half hour and prices generally were 3 to 7 points lower. May held steady at the opening figure.

Worth street reported a good demand for print cloths but said that bids were too low.

Additional selling flurries were encountered during the morning and near midday prices were trading listlessly 2 to 9 points lower.

Trading was dull throughout the morning. The decline carried May off to 13.24. Jly to 13.32 and Oct to 13.13 and Dec to 13.16. Jan and Mch options were comparatively steady 2 to 5 points net lower.

FLASHES OF LIFE

Suits—In Black And Blue

NEW YORK—Two men, who stressed they were "lawfully riding in a police patrol wagon," have sued the city for a total of $100,000 damages for injuries allegedly received when the patrol crashed into a truck.

The plaintiffs, William Koster and Americo De Prospo, were prisoners on their way to the police station.

Dawn Alarm

INDIANAPOLIS — Neighbors complained that Homer H. French, 47, made too much noise when he awakened his son every morning. The judge imposed a fine and advised him to try another technique if the young man was too hard to rouse.

French's technique was sounding his car's horn.

Personal Ordnance

BUFFALO, N. Y.—Emergency hospital reported it was treating a gunshot victim. Patrolmen raced in. The patient, William Gilbert, 43, had a burned thumb, no more. He had been demonstrating a pistol to his son, he said.

It hung from a watch fob and was 1 1-4 inches long.

A Modern Detective

BURLEY, Idaho — A glass curio showcase, displaying a butcher knife, in the courthouse corridor bears this inscription:

"Owner may have this knife by claiming same."

And Sheriff Presley D. Page hopes the owner will make an early visit.

The sheriff says the knife is owned by the unidentified killer of Omer P. Simpson, a recluse, three weeks ago.

Brief Bits Of News . .

Condition Unchanged — Condition of Mrs. William Curry Holden, assistant librarian at Texas Technological college, was reported unchanged today at West Texas hospital, where she underwent a major operation Monday. Arrives In City — Mrs. M. W. Liddell, of Dallas, in charge of advance ticket sales for the Greater Texas and Pan-American exposition in Lubbock and 65 adjacent communities, has arrived here and will spend several weeks in the city and the surrounding territory. McClure, council executive.

Copeland Named Head — W. R. Copeland, well-known resident of the south part of the county, was elected chairman of the Cooper Rural High school board of trustees at the organization meeting Wednesday night. D. W. Huckabee was named secretary. The board heard reports of progress of the school.

Aurelia Aragon, complaining witness, will appear. The complaint was filed Monday.

It's Bluebonnet Time — Sheriff Tom Abel understands for the first time why the bluebonnet is Texas' most famous flower, he said after his return with Ed D. Allen, county clerk, and Hurley Carpenter, county assessor-collector, from Austin. From south of Abilene all the way and beyond, the hills and valleys are carpeted with the fragilely beautiful flowers, he said, and Mother Neff park, between Gatesville and Temple, literally is banked with them. Rain had fallen almost all the way to Austin from Lubbock, said the sheriff, who drove to Gatesville before going to Austin, to deliver a juvenile forger for a correctional term.

To Accept Bids—Bids for purchase of two automobiles and an air compressor, and routine business, will come up for attention when city commissioners go into regular semi-monthly session at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. The cars would be used by the police department, concededly deficient in automotive equipment.

Quarantine Halts Action — When smallpox struck a complaining witness machinery of justice court so far as the W. E. Davis traffic law violation case was concerned was stopped. W. E. Renfrow, member of the state highway patrol force here, has been quarantined. Davis, charged with overloading his truck with cotton, had been tried March 31, but a mistrial resulted when the jury was hung. Lying behind the case for the defense is an injunction issued by a district court judge in another county restraining authorities from arresting members of the trucking concern Davis represents.

Hospital Leaders

nating, E. M. Collier of Abilene, O. F. Priest of Big Spring and C. J. Hollingsworth of Lubbock; and auditing, J. H. Felton of Lubbock and Floyd Coffman of Littlefield.

While the next convention city will not be selected until later, Mr. Adcock invited the association to hold its 1938 meeting in San Angelo.

Discussions at the forenoon session today concerned themselves wholly with problems of hospitals and clinics, the round table on hospitals being led by Mr. Collier, superintendent of Hendrick Memorial hospital of Abilene and that on clinics by Mr. Felton, business manager of Lubbock sanitarium.

High Spots Of Session

High spots of the discussions were that although many hospitals only last year considered discontinuing their nurses' training schools, only one in the district actually has done so and it probably will be reestablished; that there is a shortage of graduate nurses as contrasted with comparatively recent conditions of unemployment; that hospitals are finding it increasingly advantageous to employ "subsidiary" workers who are, in some cases, given the title of "nurse's aide" and that hospitals have found it much cheaper to do their own laundering than to send it out.

Another feature was a statement by Robert Jolly, past president of the American and state associations, that Memorial hospital at Houston, of which he is administrator, has adopted a rule to which no exceptions are made that no children under 12 years of age are admitted to the maternity floor as a precaution against possibilities of infections. Mothers, he said, have proved the most enthusiastic boosters of the plan.

License number is A71-415.

Police were informed a Canadian man, 46, in an automobile the license number of which was known had been reported missing en route to this section. No fear for his safety was expressed.

Students were blamed for frightening a "rather old lady" in 2300-block Eighth street.

Investigation directed into the finding of an open window and piled up boxes nearby, at the back of Watson's Furniture company warehouse, continued.

No reports established whereabouts of Loyd Jennings, 15, missing Lubbock boy.

Jess Colquitt, contractor, reported clothing, a trunk and a pistol had been stolen from his 1810 Avenue A residence. Description of a negro suspect was given police.

Lubbock Delegation Attends Plainview Show Today

With 31 cars definitely pledged and nine or ten more tentatively pledged, a large delegation of Lubbock residents was to leave the chamber of commerce office this afternoon after 1 o'clock for Plainview to attend the tenth annual Panhandle-Plains dairy show.

O. W. Ribble is chairman of the trip committee. The high school band, 43 strong, with H. A. Anderson, director, in charge, is to head the group. On arrival in Plainview a parade will be formed to go through the downtown section and then to the fair grounds.

Return is to be late in the afternoon. The trip is an annual visit to the show.

Interest in the show is heightened this time by the fact a Lubbock girl, Miss Betty Lee Lindsey, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest L. Lindsey, is the queen. She was crowned Wednesday night.

Amazed At New Gly-Cas' Action

Mrs. Ethel Davis Given Good Health After Nine Years Suffering With Indigestion, Kidney Trouble And Extreme Nervousness; Says Gly-Cas Deserves All The Credit

"I did not realize there was a medicine as remarkable as this new Gly-Cas," said Mrs. Ethel Davis, 159 North 17th St., Paris, Tex. "For more than nine years I had suffered with a severe case of indigestion. It seemed all the foods I ate soured on my stomach causing a terrible gas to form which crowded my heart. Smothering spells were too frequent and at times I thought I could not get my breath. Constipation added to my miserable condition and the poisons in my system soon affected my kidneys. My back pained, had dizzy spells, was forced to get up three and four times each night. My sleep and rest were broken and I felt as if my entire system was wearing out for I was tired all of the time. My nerves were a "wreck", too the least noise made me frantic at times. As I had tried medicine after medicine and for the past two years been under medical care without any real satisfactory results I had become greatly discouraged and did not know where to turn next when I began to hear so much praise for this new Gly-Cas that I put it to a severe test on my case and found it WONDERFUL.

"Never have I seen a medicine do its work as well as this new Gly-Cas," she continued. "Within ten days time this new herbal remedy had brought about a remarkable change in my condition. I am now enjoying the best health I have had in years. My nerves have been quieted, stomach and kidneys regulated and those awful poisons removed in a most natural manner. I sleep well, have a splendid appetite, gas and bloating gone entirely, back pains have left me and I cannot say half enough in praising this new Gly-Cas — it is one medicine that does not disappoint with the results it gives."

Gly-Cas is sold by Mark Halsey Drug, 1219 Broadway, and by all leading drug stores in surrounding towns.—Adv.

those who voted against the Gavagan bill, which passed by 277 to 119. Among those voting nay were Speaker Bankhead, Majority Leader Sam Rayburn, Chairman Bob Doughton of the Ways and Means committee, Chairman Marvin Jones of the House Agriculture committee, Chairman Sam McReynolds of the Foreign Affairs committee, Chairman Hatton Sumners of the Judiciary committee and other Southern leaders.

Representatives of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People say 64 senators have promised to vote for the Wagner-Van Nuys measure, and that sentiment for an anti-lynching law has vastly increased, especially in the South and among Southern women's organizations.

Among congressmen voting against the Gavagan bill were the three wealthy land owners who, as members of the House Agriculture committee, were instrumental in burying the administration program to aid tenant farmers and share croppers—Kleberg of Texas, Coffee of Nebraska, and Fulmer of South Carolina.

This coincidence is noteworthy because the N. A. A. C. P. recently showed that eight of the lynching victims of 1935 and 1936 had been accused solely of union activity in the organization of sharecroppers and tenants. Others were lynched for fighting with white men, drunkenness or disrespect.
