in the Saddle? Cold on the Winter Range? Try Mink Jeans

By JULIUS GOLDEN

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — Davey, as any red-blooded American knows, had his fur cap on a hard-working spouse who's a fur coat.

Men, your day has come! The little woman shouts fur and the young 'un for a genuine Davey conkskin cap, draw your proud, give 'em a stoney-stare, and proclaim:

Look here! I haven't even the first installment on my blue jeans. My jeweled cow-belle is being readied and good would that be without a pair of cowboy boots — a $1,000 pair."

$10,000 Wardrobe

Year, at the State Fair, men will have a chance to see a $10,000 wardrobe for the year (at least they're billed so). The mink jeans have making the rounds of the fair, at the biggest State Fair, when Goldman, who sets up display in the dairy building, added the rest for a complete ensemble.

Wanted something real un-derstandable. Goldman said "I was going to display them in a window but I decided to take them out to the fair. I'll probably hire a couple of

Jeans For $3,500

Blue jeans, costing $3,500, complete with pockets (what a cowboy be without pockets) made of course, of silk. The those tired of coarse material against the skin on those rides, well, it's lined with the inside.

None of the pieces is really new. They make the rounds of the country at the fairs and pretty to look at.

Most men probably will have a gussy horse laugh when they see them.

Young Davey Crockett probably tolerate them as long as no traps his conskin and the they hurries up and finishes the and gets to the amuse-

Legal Status Of Lawmakers Put in Doubt

By JOHN B. CURTIS

SANTA FE (AP) — A serious question over the legal status of the present membership of the House of Representatives as a result of Tuesday's election sent Statehouse lawyers into a huddle today.

The attorney general's office confirmed it was studying the situation posed by the voters' approval of a constitutional amendment raising membership of the House by 11 seats and abolishing multi-county districts.

The issue was accompanied by a note of urgency because a special session of the assembly is due to be called to order here Monday noon. And there was one report at the capitol that county commissioners in some areas already

Lions Club Plans Big Pancake Sale For Benefit Fund

"Strip a stack and draw one," is the cry that will resound throughout the day at the Drillers Cafe Oct. 1 as the Artesia Lions Club holds its annual Pancake Sale.

Beginning at 5 a.m. and continuing throughout the day, the club will be offering a special of all the cakes a person can eat, plus a side order of bacon or sausage and coffee or milk. All this and for charity, too, for just 75 cents.

The occasion is one of the several fund-raising activities of the club for their program to assist the visually handicapped. Last year, the Artesia club spent more than $1,100 in aiding sight-handicapped Artesians, Pancake program chairman James Elliott said.

Everything is being donated with the exception of the waiters and the Lions members will be doing the cooking.

Frank Lane Quits As Club Manager

CHICAGO (AP) — Frank Lane, general manager of the Chicago White Sox, sent in his resignation today and asked to be released from his contract Oct. 15.

Lane, whose contract with the club does not expire for more than five years sent his request to Mrs. Grace Comiskey, president of the White Sox organization.

WHERE DID IT GO?—Whatever goes up... But Jack Frost, Maurice Phillips, Bert Jones, and Glen Clem are beginning to doubt if the flapjack will ever come down as they practice for the Lions Club Pancake Sale to be held at the Drillers Cafe all day Oct. 1.

New Argentina Chief Lonardi Orders Peronista - Riddled Congress Dissolved

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Provisional President Eduardo Lonardi issued a decree today dissolving the Argentine Congress.

All 34 members of the Senate were members of the Peronista

Party, while there were eight members of the opposition Radical party in the lower house out of a membership of 166.

Gen. Lonardi's new government hit the airwaves with a concentrated campaign intended to calm the troubled nation and urging rebuilding of the split country through "peace and work . . . in the pious light of forgetfulness."

Jail doors sprung open for men imprisoned by the overthrown Peronista regime, schools reopened, the name of deposed President Juan D. Peron and his late wife, Eva Peron, were rapidly being erased from the national scene, and members of the Perone brown-shirt organization including the leader Guillermo Patricio Kelly, were reported to have been arrested.

Lonardi, 59-year-old commander of the brief revolt which toppled Juan Peron after a decade of dictatorship, was scheduled to fly to Buenos Aires from his native Cordoba tomorrow to be installed formally as provisional president.

The installation originally had been set for today but an official announcement said "joyful celebrations" in Cordoba delayed Lonardi's departure.

The appeal for peace came from Cordoba's radio "Voice of Liberty," which said, "It is bet-

North Eddy County Cotton Ginning Trails '54 Figure

Cotton ginning operations in North Eddy County were nearly 2,600 bales behind last year's schedule this week with but 494 bales produced by six gins in the north end of the county. Throughout the county, production trailed last year by some 4,500 bales, County Agent Richard Marek said late Wednesday.

Marek attributed the difference to poor spring weather this year which has delayed harvesting of the big county cotton crop but he said that the overall production would be good — though later this year.

Cottonwood Gin has produced 85 bales, Valley Cooperative 24, Artesia Farmers Gin 47, Alfalfa Growers Atoka Gin 185, AGA Espeulla gin 37, and AGA Mill gin 116 for the 494 bale north end total.

In Southern Eddy County, five gins have turned out 1,076

Disabled State Vet Is Held New York on Dope Charges

NEW YORK (AP) — A disabled New Mexico veteran, facing bad check in his home state, was seized here last night and disarmed by police squad detectives, who said he pulled a gun when they found him worth $25,000 in his room.

The man, identified as Marvin L. Kominer, of 605 N. Fifth St., Belen, N. M., was booked on charges of possession of 20 pounds of marijuana with intent to sell and violation of the Sullivan anti-weapons law.

Sgt. Matthew Conlon of the narcotics squad said the 22-year-old Kominer was an Air Force veteran turned public relations man, and that he admitted having narcotics contacts in the Mexican border city of Juarez.

In Albuquerque, K. H. Ferguson, state adjutant of the Disabled American Veterans said Kominer was not a publicity man for the DAV, but a commission advertising salesman for the DAV year-book for "three or four months, off and on."

Ferguson said charges were filed against Kominer after he forged a $20 check from a Lovington

Runaway Boys Pick Middle of Highway for Nap

Two young runaway boys from Midland, Texas, who picked the middle of a busy highway to take a nap early this morning, were being held here for their parents.

City police officers said the two Jerry Wayne Henry, 14, and William Archie Rowlett, 16, were nearly struck by a truck on Highway 83 west of here about 2 a. m. this morning. The truck driver told officers that both boys were lying on the highway, one of them almost on the center line. They were opposite the Circle B Drive-In.

Questioned by officers, the two boys first gave phony names and finally admitted their true identities. They said that they were on their way to Colorado "to work on a ranch—any old ranch" when

U.S.-Asiatic Relationship Said Improved

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.

(AP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles today declared the world may be entering a decade of peaceful change which will spell the end of the cold war.

In a general policy declaration before the U. N. General Assembly he stated that the international atmosphere had improved substantially since the 1954 assembly session and that there was a good chance for constructive decisions during the coming months.

He expressed the belief that the situation was ripe for a solution of the German unification problem and that European security was now better than at any time in history.

The situation in the Far East, he said, also was following a "favorable trend" thanks to the efforts of the U. N. and other governments and individuals to

Two City Bankers To Attend Meet Of National Group

The First National Bank of Artesia will be represented by its two vice presidents at the American Bankers Assn. in Chicago next week. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cole will leave Artesia Friday by rail for the annual sessions. They will be joined by many New Mexico bankers and a large number of bankers from Arizona and California at Clovis on the "Banker's Special," arriving in Chicago Saturday for the early festivities that begin Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Feather, who are now visiting in Sharon, Pa., will join them in Chicago Monday, when the regular sessions of the conclave begin, with an expected attendance of 15,000 bankers and their wives.

Cole is president of the New Mexico Bankers Assn. and will attend a special conference of state association presidents and secretaries Monday morning of next week. Feather is a member of the New Mexico Assn. Savings Bond Committee and will also attend conferences in that capacity.

Mr. and Mrs. Cole will fly by commercial plane to Santa Fe Wednesday so Cole can attend the special session of the State Legislature, as the representative from Eddy county. Mr. and Mrs. Feather will return to Artesia by auto, which will end their vacation trip that began Sept. 11. They were accompanied on their vacation by their daughter Miss Shirley Feather of Denver, Colo.

Clint Anderson Throws Support Again to Adlai

ALBUQUERQUE (AP) — Sen. Clinton Anderson (D-NM) has thrown his support behind Adlai Stevenson who he says can have the Democratic presidential nomination of he wants it.

Anderson supported Stevenson in the last convention, after switching from Sen. Robert Kerr (D-Okla.)

He said yesterday the Democrats can win, but he said they should really bear down on the farm-price issue.

Many leading Democrats are "missing the boat" by talking about parity and price support system, Anderson said. He said they should strike at the "crux of the issue: surpluses."

The veteran Democrat declared the Eisenhower Administration has 11 million bushels of surplus cotton, a million bushels of surplus wheat and "more tobacco than we know what to do with."

"Under these conditions, is it strange that agriculture prices are falling?" he asked.

He said he would not support any candidate, including Stevenson, who advocates a farm policy he's against.

Hagerman-Dexter Soil Conservation Dinner Meet Gets Report on Year of Activities

The third annual dinner-meeting of the Hagerman-Dexter Soil Conservation District met Tuesday evening at 7:15 at the American Legion Hut in Hagerman, with a fried chicken menu being served by the members of the Legion and the Auxiliary.

The meeting was opened with prayer by the chairman of this district, Ernest Greer, followed by a welcome address, by A. G. Greer. He introduced G. L. Bean of Artesia, Al Woodburn of Roswell, Howard Menefee of Hagerman and O. E. Moore of Dexter.

Mark McMillan, United Conservationist, made a report of the work being done in this area, as follows: 10 farms were planned in the year 1954-55, with 197 farms planned to date; 1,677 acres were included in the 1954-55 program, with 162,408 acres having been planned in the district to date; soil surveys for the year included 470 acres, 38,111 acres to date; land leveled for the year was 2,641 acres, 12,893 acres to date; land re-leveled, 750 acres, with 1,137 acres to date; ditches lined, 51,795 linear feet for the year, and 81,824 l. f. to date; concrete structures for the year 51, with 809 to date; ditch grades 24.9 miles for the year, 168.6 to date; and pipe lines, 3,978 linear feet for the year and 8,678 to date.

Carl Nicholas, A. S. C. Committeeman, spoke on the value of having concrete ditches in financial gains, and saving the time. He reported that funds were available from the Federal Government to install concrete ditches.

Al Woodburn, County Agent, told of the farm budget program. He also spoke on the control of various pests, diseases of crops, and control of harmful weeds. He brought out the fact that a study was being made of the reaction of fertilizer to various crops, and the right amounts to use under observation.

The Bankers Awardees were introduced. These awardees must have completed 90 per cent of the work outlined on his general farm plan, including leveling, fertilizing and other improving. They were as follows: Richard Harshey, who leveled some land and gave the comparison of 84 bushels per acre of barley grown on leveled land as compared to 30 bushels per acre on non-leveled land. Hay increased to 6 1/2 tons per acre, and cotton to 2 1/2 bales per acre.

Glenn Marshall, another Bankers Awardee, told of land leveling and fertilizing done on some very sloping land, enabling the land to hold moisture better, 20 per cent fewer ditches, much more profit with less effort involved; Mrs. Edith Stine also did some leveling last spring which, she said, showed much improvement; Mr. C. R. Williamson, who was not present was the fourth awardee.

Oldham E. Moore introduced the principal speaker of the evening, Bill Williams, a district official, Director of the National Association and Chairman of the Soil Conservation Committee of the State of New Mexico. Williams complimented this district on the fine job the farmers and ranchers were doing in improving their land, and the manner of farming. Mr. Williams told of working closely with the Indian Service in the northern part of the state, and of areas so sloping that there was considerable soil erosion. He said experiments were made to see if soil conservation was practical and feasible in that area and in less than four years considerable improvement was noticeable. He described soil conservation as "a way for the people to work together to solve their own soil conservation problems."

A Bankers Awardee Program and banquet will be held in Roswell at the Ingalls Memorial Home Tuesday, Sept. 27, at 7:15 o'clock P. M. at which time some interesting speakers and an interesting program will be presented.

Hong Kong Adventure Film At Landsun Features Gable

"Soldier of Fortune" a red-blooded adventure tale plucked from the seething cauldron of today's Orient, will open Thursday at the Landsun Theatre, starring Clark Gable in the title role, Susan Hayward, Michael Rennie, and Gene Barry. All the tremendous emotional punch of the best-selling novel has been delivered in toto to the screen script by its author, Ernest K. Gann, who has already chalked two screen successes—"Island in the Sky" and "The High and the Mighty"—from other of his recent books.

Filmed in China The film produced in Cinemascope with DeLuxe color by Buddy Adler and directed by Edward Dmytryk for Twentieth Century-Fox, is set against the flaming background of tension-ridden Hong Kong. It shows the ruffraff of its waterfront, pleasure-seekers, opportunists, tourists and spies—all intermingling in the teeming age-old world-wide streets. Known to all of them is a Yank in exile who has learned to plunder and profit, smuggling munitions to the Chinese Reds and it is with him that a young American woman must bargain to learn the whereabouts of her missing husband.

Natural for Gable Clark Gable has a made-to-order assignment as the rough, cynical "Soldier of Fortune," who finally learns that there are some things worth fighting for and then "goes to" with two-fisted action.

Red-haired Susan Hayward, a beautiful challenge to even the most cynical, invades the murky, male-dominated habitues of Hong Kong to find a way behind the bamboo curtain where her photographer husband is held captive, and always, the path leads to the "Soldier of Fortune." She's in danger and dangerous as Gable's protagonist, with Michael Rennie as the "law" in Hong Kong and Gene Barry as the object of Susan's desperate mission.

East-West Cast The film features a strong featured cast of occidental and oriental players and marks the professional reappearance of Anna Sten, the exotic White Russian beauty who was first seen in the United States in her film portrayal of "Nana."

Alex D'Arcy, who is rapidly gaining international fame with a wide variety of roles both here and abroad, most recently having completed "The Racers" for Twentieth Century-Fox and a French production "The Clansman," appears in the role of an ex-pilot who readily responds to the lure of adventure in "Soldier of Fortune."

Tom Tully, Russell Collins, Leo Gordon, Richard Loo and Soo Yong hold other important parts in the film skillfully photographed by Leo Tower, A.S.C., who recorded the joyful "Three Coins in the Fountain" against lush Italian backgrounds.

In "Soldier of Fortune," Tower brings the Cinemascope camera into play on the panoramic beauties of the mountains that shadow Hong Kong, its bizarre street scenes and its harbor, dotted with hundreds of tiny Chinese sailing vessels, for a penetrating focus of today's Orient. The exotic atmosphere of this world port clearly defines the mood of the rugged action, the intrigue and exciting romance that makes "Soldier of Fortune" a definitely different kind of movie entertainment.

Yankees Can Wrap Up Flag In 3 Games

By ED WILKS The Associated Press

Just a few days ago Manager Casey Stengel said the New York Yankees had to win all their remaining 10 games to cop the American League pennant. Now they can wrap it up by winning three out of five.

It might not take even that much effort by the Yanks. Any combination of New York victories and— or defeats by second— place Cleveland totaling three will do it. Still, the Yankees don't have it hands down. They've won seven straight, matching their longest success streak of the season, and have gained three games on the Indians in the important "lost" column—but they still have five games left, one more at Washington tonight and four in Boston beginning with a Friday double-header.

The Senators, beaten 6-3 in the afternoon half of a day-night double-header yesterday, gave the Yankees a fit before bowing 9-7 in the nightcap. Four New York relievers paraded to the mound to save starter Whitey Ford's 18th victory as the Nats scored six times in the last two innings.

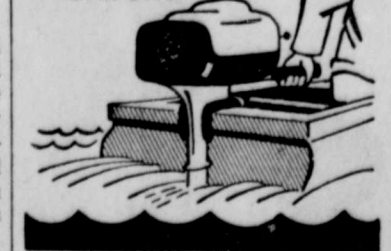

Cleveland, which went into a four-game tailspin after sweeping a pair from Washington, finally shook the slump with a 3-2 decision over Chicago as the White Sox officially fell out of the race. The Indians, with four games left—another at Chicago tonight, then three at Detroit—have to win 'em all and hope.

Washington caught Ford by surprise in the eighth inning. The stubby southpaw had a four-hitter going and had retired 13 in order. Then he walked a man, and pinch-hitter Jim Lemon, just up from Chattanooga, walloped a home run. It took Gary Coleman, Jim Konstanty, Gerry Staley and finally Tommy Byrne to get 'em back on the leach.

The first game was easier for the Yanks, although starter Don Larsen didn't last through the second inning. Reliever Tom Morgan, with help from Konstanty, got the decision. The Yanks scored three in the first off Maury McDermott, then scored the clincher in the third as Hank Bauer doubled and moved across on two long flies.

Entitled to the Service

EVERY now and then an effort seemingly is made to establish the fact in trying to create goodwill for some individual, to leave the impression this person was doing the public a service and a courtesy as well as a favor while working for some business concern or local institution.

The person, of course, may be seeking business or a favor or so they remind others how good they were to them or what they did for them when they were working or employed by such and such a firm or concern.

This, of course, is a deliberate and intentional misrepresentation. The individual who employs such misrepresentation does not deserve much consideration.

You can be sure that the individual while working for the business firm or the business institution was being paid to do his or her job. They likewise were there to serve the public; to extend courtesies and to do everything possible to please the customer. As we pointed out above — they were paid to do just that.

Whatever they may have done or provided they did at the expense of the firm paying their salaries just as they should have done.

There are a good many institutions right here in Artesia that have had employees paid to render service that have sought to capitalize on their former employment and who have emphasized just how good they were to the customer at some other place or business.

If the customer had been mistreated or had not received service, he or she would have registered their complaints with the owners or those who actually operated the business. That is just as they should have done. It follows then when they did receive the service which the owner or employer was paying to have provided for them, they should receive the credit for that.

The average person isn't being kidded into believing he received any special consideration because of the person rendering the service but rather because his business was appreciated and because that was the policy of the business firm.

And we should remember our local business firms and concerns and remember they provided the service we enjoyed or received; it was their money that paid employees to provide this service; or purchased the merchandise that made it possible for the service even with a little extra to be provided.

bales, with Loving Gin Co., producing the high total of 510 bales to date. Last year at this time the south end of the county had produced 3,954 bales, Marek said.

Marek also announced that a delegation from Eddy County will leave Friday for the State Fair in Albuquerque, taking with them the county exhibit booth and the County 4-H Clubs booth, as well as a range sheep exhibit of 21 animals. Ross Sears farms are contributing five yearling ewes to the exhibit while Munson-Hepler farms of Carlsbad will have five yearling ewes and three yearling rams. Frank McWilliams of Carlsbad will contribute five ewes and three rams. The exhibit will compete against other county groups and the sheep will then be placed in individual competition.

Accompanying the county delegation will be 4-H members Norma Jo Thigpen, Jackie McNeil, and Abbie Pearson of Cottonwood and FFA member Larry McCaw who will exhibit a calf and three sheep.

Referring to ousted President Juan D. Peron, the broadcast lashed out at the "insane egotism of a man who did not control his ambition and tried to throw down what was dearest to the Argentine people."

The radio said the revolution was born in Cordoba, provincial capital 400 miles northwest of Buenos Aires, to "defend the constitution, the freedom of men, the freedom of the press and the freedom of worship."

The peace agreement concluded yesterday provided for Lonardi and other rebel leaders to take over from the junta of pro-Peron generals which took control of the central government after Peron's resignation.

Peron was reported to be still aboard the Paraguayan gunboat in Buenos Aires harbor where he found refuge Tuesday. The new government did not indicate whether it would persist in previous rebel demands that he be surrendered or let him escape into exile.

The announcement that a peace agreement had been reached said the junta "has reached a complete accord with the command of the opposition and has accepted the points stipulated by its representatives." There was no mention of Peron's fate.

An officer of the gunboat told a reporter Peron "talks and even jokes with us but he never says anything about the situation—except about not wanting anything more to do with it."

"The will of the world community may have operated to avert another war, the scope of which could not surely be limited," Dulles said.

Makes Appeal

He appealed to the Assembly to endorse President Eisenhower's proposal for an exchange of military blueprints between the United States and Russia and for aerial inspection on a mutual basis.

This, he said, would provide a basis for a solid advance toward the goal of world arms reduction.

Dulles spoke of the ten years of cold war conflict in which the world was beset by limited wars, subversion, arms races and inflexible attitudes.

"That phase may now be ending," he said.

"I believe that all four of the heads of government, who were at Geneva, wanted that result and that each contributed to it. In consequence, a new spirit does indeed prevail, with greater flexibility and less brittleness in international relations."

All Have Gained

He declared to say which country had gained most at Geneva, but declared that if the improved atmosphere is to be permanent all must gain.

"The summit meeting, if it is to be historic, rather than episodic," he said, "must usher in an era of peaceful change."

He said this era should be one in which governments would renounce the use of war and subversion, accept orderly evolution toward their goals and develop friendly economic intercourse among themselves.

"Let us strive together," he said, "that the next decade shall be known as the healing decade of true peace."

were beginning to give thought to naming the members provided for by the new amendment.

Fred M. Stanley, first assistant attorney general, told a questioner that while the Canvassing Board, which meets soon, will have to make the results official, "there is no question, apparently, that the amendments became effective at the time of adoption—in other words as of 7 p.m. Tuesday night."

Stanley said the attorney general's office is checking into the situation and also into the question of whether a constitutional amendment has the power to abolish immediately a constitutional officer. A legislator is a constitutional officer.

One official, who asked not to be named, said the possibility is not being overlooked that there "is a question of whether or not we have a House of Representatives for the special session."

This official said there is no question about validity of the Senate's status, since all the amendment did was to re-enact the Senate's former makeup. But there is, he said, a quandary over the status of the House.

The questions for which there were no ready answers included some like this:

1—What is to be done in the case of Mora County, which now has two duly elected and certified representatives who are constitutional officers? The amendment just passed reduces Mora County one. Which member, if either, is to be eliminated?

2—The status of Rep. Anderson Carter of Portales, who has represented the Roosevelt De Baca multi-county district. Elected by voters from both counties, to which county should he be assigned?

Attorneys acknowledged some of the questions are sticky. Stanley indicated the attorney general's office hoped to issue some sort of clarifying statement within a few days, perhaps later in the month.

In Belen, Mrs. Kominer was tearful and reluctant to talk to reporters who informed her of her husband's arrest. She is the mother of two girls, 4 and 16 months.

Mrs. Kominer said her husband left for New York by plane about five days ago and that he "frequently takes business trips." She disclaimed any knowledge of wrongdoing on her husband's part in connection with the trip.

She said her husband had been working with carnivals running what she called a "bucket game." He came back from Minneapolis where he had been working with a carnival only recently, she said. State Adjutant Ferguson said Kominer "could have been a cracker-jack salesman if he settled down."

The arrest climaxed a week of investigation for three narcotics squad detectives under Sgt. Conlon, who said Kominer flew here two months ago from New Mexico with the narcotics.

Conlon said Kominer had been under observation for a week, and that last night he was picked up on the west side in possession of a pound of marijuana. The sergeant said he and the detectives went with Kominer to his room in a mid-town hotel and found 19 more pounds of marijuana in cellophane bags.

In the hotel room, Conlon said, Kominer pulled a 25 caliber Belgian automatic from a valise but was disarmed by the detectives.

Conlon said the detectives also found paraphernalia for weighing the marijuana in Kominer's room. He said the suspect was a member of the Disabled American Veterans in New Mexico and had

15 Are Killed In Crash of British Plane

TRIPOLI, Libya, (AP)—Fifteen persons were killed early today in the flaming wreckage of a British airliner which clipped tree-tops and crashed as it was landing at Tripoli's Idris Airport.

The British Overseas Airways Corp. announced in London that the dead included 13 passengers and 2 crew members, while 27 passengers and 5 of the crew escaped.

A BOAC spokesman declined to give the nationality of the passengers until next of kin were notified.

The plane, a four-engine Argonaut, left London yesterday afternoon for Lagos, Nigeria, in West Africa. Tripoli, the Libyan capital, is on the Mediterranean coast of North Africa.

The wreckage of the plane was spread over 100 yards. Ten hours after the crash it was still smoldering.

It was believed that some passengers fell out and that others jumped to the ground as the plane crashed.

Clyde Tingley Fails to File For Election

ALBUQUERQUE, (AP)—Former Gov. Clyde Tingley, who romped through 40 years of New Mexico politics with a booming voice and at times a fierce scowl, today for the first time in many a political year is not seeking an office.

"But I'm not out of politics by a long shot," declared the 72-year-old Tingley from his Albuquerque home, after being asked specifically if his stormy career was at an end.

Tingley failed to file by the deadline for re-election as city commissioner following almost a year in which he was continuously absent from meetings because of "trouble with my eyes."

He let loose a booming laugh when asked if he was out of politics for good.

"I'm more in than out! I always look over the boys and girls! It's wonderful recreation if you can afford it!"

"Can you afford it, governor?" he was asked.

Again the laugh ran out. Then he turned serious.

"I've been in for a long time and I've had to drop out for a while, but my eyes are better now."

Tingley said that about a year ago he was smitten with double and triple vision and has been under constant care since.

The aging Tingley, who used strong words as weapons during his career, began as an Albuquerque alderman in 1915 when the city had 17,000 people. He moved to Santa Fe, the state capital, in 1922 with the State Highway Department and stayed there until 1925.

From 1935 to 1938, Tingley was governor and began the first major state drive to attract tourists to New Mexico. He returned to Albuquerque in 1939 and successfully sought the city commission post. He has been on the commission since.

Tingley failed to file for re-election yesterday, the last day for filing and a special election date on constitutional amendments in New Mexico. The interview on whether he was through with politics, ended with Tingley asking the questions.

"How's the election going, boy?" he asked.

Able But Ancient Archie Moore Rocked To Sleep In Ninth Round

NEW YORK, AP—Heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano's awesome, meat-grinder destruction of gallant, ancient Archie Moore in one of boxing's great battles may have been the invincible Brockton Blaster's last fight.

This was the one the indomitable Rock of Brockton wanted to win more than any other since he knocked the crown off Jersey Joe Walcott's brow three years ago in Philadelphia. And he won it in typical fashion with a relentless, bulldozing attack that smashed Archie's crumbling defenses with a knockout in 1:19 of the ninth round.

Now, with the light heavyweight king out of the way, there were no more worlds for boxing's Caesar to conquer and he mulled over retirement.

"There is a lot of pressure from my family for me to retire," said the 31-year-old victor in his dressing room. "My mother wants me to quit. So does my dad and my wife. It has been a pretty bad ordeal for them. I don't know what I should do."

Then Rocky added: "Personally, at this point, I don't feel I should retire."

Last night Rocky came off the floor like he did in the memorable first fight with Walcott, and ground down the crafty, cocky Moore with a relentless assault.

A smashing left hook to the jaw ended the 38-year-old master craftsman's fierce resistance, leaving him a collapsed heap in his own corner.

Out to become the first light

SPORTS

heavyweight champion ever to ascend to the heavyweight throne, Archie gave it all he had in the beginning when he floored Marciano for a four count in the second round with a right to the jaw.

"I blacked out just a second," said Rocky. "But I snapped out of it."

For a while it looked as if the crowd of 61,574, which contributed handsome $948,117 gate in the Yankee Stadium, was going to see an astonishing upset.

Rocky blinked his eyes. It was only the second time in his career that he had been floored, and a worried expression appeared on his face, just as it did when Walcott decked him in their first fight.

Archie went after the champ with another right to the jaw but Rocky's head was clearing up now and he moved in close. Archie's big moment was gone even though he had Rocky bleeding from the nose and bruised under the left eye before the hectic round was over.

In the third Rocky established his pattern of victory. He started maneuvering the crafty Moore to the ropes and ripped him in close with both hands.

There was a slight cut over Rocky's left eye and blood dripped from his nose, but that only served to spur him on. Try as he would from then on, Archie couldn't get away from the rope traps Rocky set for him with his bullying drives.

The pressure was hot on Archie in the fourth and fifth rounds and in the sixth his aging legs betrayed him. Rocky's old "Suzy Q" overhand right shook him all over, buckling his knees. Another long right dropped him for a count of four. Rocky swarmed all over his stricken foe, smashing him down for eight.

For one minute of the seventh,

Archie seemed to have dipped into his fountain of youth. He smashed over two rights to the jaw that momentarily stopped Rocky's furious drive and brought roars from the fans. But midway in the round, time and Rocky caught up with Archie again. By the end of the round, Archie's right eye was almost shut.

The 19 years of fighting caught up with the poised craftsman in the eighth. Rocky bullied Archie to the ropes and whaled away to head and body. A right to the jaw dropped the dead-tired Moore on the seat of his pants. The bell saved him as Referee Harry Kessler tolled seven.

Rocky was ready for the kill in the ninth and everyone in the park, including Moore, knew it had to happen. Rocky forced his game foe to the ropes and let loose with everything he had. Moore, his back to the ropes in his own corner, somehow found strength to fire two hard shots to Rocky's jaw. Then it happened. A short, perfectly timed left hook thudded against Archie's corner, a soggy left mitten over one rope.

It was all over. Archie went the way he wanted to if he had to go—counted out. He said:

"When the doctor, Dr. Vincent Nardiello, asked me if I wanted to quit after the eighth round I said no champion should lose except in the center of the ring. I'm happy it ended the way it did. I wouldn't want to lose sitting in a corner."

Only a Miracle Can Stop Yanks' Pennant Victory

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Cleveland's wonderful one-hoss Shay, falling apart all at once, was piling on the American League junk heap today with only a miracle capable of pushing it any farther along the pennant road.

And it will take a large, once-in-a-lifetime miracle to bar the New York Yankees, more than ever the old pros, from their sixth championship in seven years. With four games remaining, starting with a twin bill at Boston tomorrow, the Yanks need win but one more to clinch it.

Can Lose All Four

They can drop all four and still win it should the Indians, new four games back on the "lost" side, drop even one of their three remaining games.

The once-frantic pennant scramble practically came to a close last night as New York pounded Washington 7-3 and the Tribe took a 7-2 lashing from the Chicago White Sox—who became official also-rans 24 hours earlier.

At worst, New York can tie for the flag. They have won eight straight—their longest streak this season. Cleveland, two games ahead only a week ago, has lost five of six.

The 3½-game edge New York now holds is the biggest bulge any leader has had since July 15 when the Yanks led by four.

Held to Five

The Indians got just five safe throws off Jack Harshman last night. The Sox, meanwhile, shelled Bob Lemon, who lost his second straight.

Manager Al Lopez has started his aces—Lemon, Early Wynn and Mike Garcia—in each of the last six games and they've crumpled along with the hitters. "An error by rookie shortstop Bill Harrell, injected by Lopez in a try for more hits, opened the way to a five-run eighth inning for the White Sox as Lemon lost his 10th. He's won 18."

New York packaged the Nats in three innings, tagging Chuck Stobbs for six hits—four of them for extra bases—and a 4-0 lead. Billy Martin iced it with an inside-the-park homer with two on off rookie Ted Abernathy in the fifth.

Bob Turley won his 17th, but walked eight and Rip Coleman and Bob Grim mopped up after Washington scored three in the seventh.

Daring Dopester Picks UCLA As Underdog Over Maryland

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK, AP—Know just exactly how Archie Moore feels. This pigskin picker got slapped around something terrible last week when only 17 of his 25 forecasts came out correctly. This could be even worse.

Maryland over UCLA—Coach Jim Tatum says neither he nor his Maryland squad have done anything right this week. That's a new tune for him. He must be brewing something new under his helmet. UCLA having difficulty finding a healthy right guard.

Georgia Tech over Florida—It will be a squeaker for Tech. Notre Dame over Southern Methodist—The Irish have back only one line veteran from a year ago but quarterback Paul Hornung supposedly is a whiz. Oklahoma over North Carolina—Coach Bud Wilkinson took his only returning starting backfielder and transformed him into a lineman—not because of a scarcity of line material but because he had so many good backs.

Michigan over Missouri—The Wolverines are solid all the way. Illinois over California—Remember when these were two of the greatest? Neither has too much this year but the Illini look a little the stronger.

Pittsburgh over Syracuse—Dick Bowen is a very speedy Panther. He could make Pittsburgh the East's best.

Unbeaten Ruidoso, Corona Put Marks On Weekend Block

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A battle of the tailenders and the rising of two enviable records heads the schedule for New Mexico's Class C high school football teams this week.

Ruidoso and Corona, unbeaten, untied and unscored on in two starts, will risk those marks in games this week: Ruidoso, in a Dist. 3-C contest and Corona against a cross-district foe that could be tough.

On the other end, there is the Dist. 4-C match between Melrose and Vaughn. Barring a scoreless tie that game should bring some light to a season that so far has been pretty dim. Neither team has scored in two previous outings.

Ruidoso has rolled up 41-0 and 40-0 routs of the "B" team from Roswell and Hobbs. But the Warriors may find the going rougher against Carrizozo in Dist. 3-C. The Grizzlies, though beaten 34-14 by Jal, are leading the district.

Corona, unscored on in two games, goes against Estancia, a team that showed scoring power in a 26-0 victory over Vaughn early in the season. It's a non-district game.

Two teams will open their schedules with league battles. Navajo Mission will open against unbeaten Chama in Dist. 1-C, while McCurdy Mission will open at Mountainair in 2-C.

The rest of the schedule has Aztec at Central of Kirtland, Tierra Amarilla at Menaul, Capitan at Tatum, and Roy at Immaculate Conception.

Corpus Christi Holds 2-0 Lead In Little Dixie

PAMPA (AP)—Corpus Christi and Pampa play the next game of the Little Dixie Series at Corpus Christi Saturday, with the Clippers taking a 2-0 lead to their home field.

The Clippers, Big State League champs, knocked off the Pampa Oilers of the West Texas-New Mexico League 14-4 last night with homers by Ev Charles and Don Leppert doing most of the damage.

The Corpus Christi club overcame a 4-3 lead in the seventh when Charles put one over the fence with a man on.

Then the West Texas champions fell apart. Corpus got four more in the eighth and five in the ninth. Don Leppert capped the night with a grand-slam homer in the final inning for the Clippers.

Noel Orquendo went the distance for Corpus Christi while Andy Bush, first of three Pampa pitchers, absorbed the loss. Bush struck out 12 men before losing control.

STATE TEAM ELIMINATED

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—The Macs of Albuquerque are on their way home after two straight defeats eliminated them from the World Softball Tournament here. Houston defeated Albuquerque 5-4 last night, the day after Bloomington squeezed past the Duke City nine 1-0.

Lancaster Smith, football coach at Jesuit High School in Dallas, spends his summers as an assistant district attorney, prosecuting criminal cases.
