

Nine Moslem Women Are Slain By OAS

2-Day Toll Reaches 27

ORAN, Algeria (AP) — Secret army terrorists lashed out at Moslem women on the streets of Oran and Algiers today, killing nine of them by noon. In addition, a Moslem woman and a 12-year-old Moslem girl were injured.

The toll of European secret army gunmen in the two cities stood at 27 persons killed and 17 injured. With the exceptions of one European killed and another injured, all the victims were Moslems.

Oran's prefect of police issued an order forbidding vehicles occupied by Europeans from driving in streets leading to the city's Moslem neighborhoods. He complied this with advice to the Moslems to remain away from the European neighborhoods. Heavily armed police stood guard to enforce the orders against European motor cars.

The killing of the Moslem women was clearly in reprisal for the death of a young European woman Wednesday. Europeans said she was shot by a Moslem disguised as a woman in robe and veil.

One by one, the European terrorists shot down Moslem women as they shuffled fearfully along the streets of Algeria's second city.

The terrorists paid no heed to a broadcast warning from Premier Ben Youssef, Ben Khedda of the Algerian provisional government that they risk their future in the country if they keep up their attacks on the Moslem population.

Speaking from his headquarters in neighboring Tunis in a broadcast beamed to Algeria, Ben Khedda called on the Europeans "to open your eyes to the new Algerian reality."

"The Europeans have their place in the Algeria of tomorrow," he declared, "but it is up to them to decide if they merit it."

The cease-fire pact reached by the nationalist rebels and France provides for equal rights for Europeans vis-a-vis the Moslems but over the government.

Ben Khedda charged ultranationalists and the underground Secret Army with the help of certain French military authorities were undermining the peace agreement with the campaign of terrorism.

"As he spoke, the terrorism raged on in Algeria. Wednesday's toll was 27 dead, 23 of them Moslems, and 3 wounded, 24 of them Moslems.

The Moslems, who outnumber the Europeans 9 million to 1 million, have been kept almost completely in check by their leaders, but Ben Khedda warned, "Anger of the Algerian masses is growing. This situation cannot continue."

Ben Khedda, regarded as a moderate, appealed to his people to hold their tempers and not be provoked into the civil war that the Secret Army is trying to stir up in a desperate attempt to block Algerian independence.

French authorities, responsible for law and order until the country is handed over to the Moslem leaders, ordered European civilians to turn in all their weapons before May 20 or face automatic three-year prison sentences.

Reds Ordered To Withdraw

By ANTOINE YARED VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Prince Souvanna Phouma has ordered pro-Communist Prince Souphanouvong to withdraw his Pathet Lao troops from Nam Tha and Muong Sing to behind the original cease-fire line, informed diplomatic sources said today.

The informants said the neutralist leader sent a cable from France to Souphanouvong, his half-brother and ally, denouncing the seizure of the two government outposts in northwest Laos as a violation of the year-old cease-fire.

Souvanna, the Soviet and American choice to head a neutralist regime in the jungle kingdom, reportedly also cabled his acting premier, Phagna Khamsoukoola, at rebel headquarters at Khang Kay to arrange for the withdrawal of the pro-Communist troops.

Souvanna left for Paris five weeks ago to stay until June 1 for medical treatment and the wedding of a daughter. He told French newsmen Wednesday night he was prepared to return to Laos any time Prince Boun Oum's right-wing regime formally requests resumption of talks on formation of a coalition government of Communists, conservatives and neutralists.

Souphanouvong's pro-Communist rebels also were reported ready to return to unity talks, Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, deputy premier and strongman of the royal Laotian government, said despite the Pathet Lao attacks, he still was ready to negotiate.

But Kennedy deplored the public airing of differences. He said open debate "makes it very difficult to carry on any negotiations with the Soviet Union because all of our proposals are on the table and fought out in public even before they become our official position." He questioned whether this is the best way to carry on negotiations.

believed Nam Tha "was not attacked deliberately" but that rebel government forces in trying to break the rebel siege of the provincial capital might have provoked the assault last weekend.

Souvanna has the support of the United States, the Soviet Union and other big powers at the 14-nation Geneva conference on Laos. But Boun Oum and Phoumi have balked at joining a government under Souvanna, contending he is not strong enough to prevent the pro-Communists from leading Laos into the Red orbit.

President Kennedy told his news conference in Washington Wednesday that the rebel advances were "a clear break of the cease-fire." But he said such incidents can be expected to continue as long as the political talks drag on inconclusively.

Seek Clarification Of W. German Stand

By JOHN M. NIGHTOWER WASHINGTON (AP) — In an effort to restore allied harmony, the United States is reported seeking full clarification from the West German government of its stand on exploratory talks with the Soviet Union about terms of an East-West agreement on Berlin.

President Kennedy also made clear at a news conference Wednesday that he wants to see secrecy restored to allied consultations on proposals put to the Soviet government during the talks. He seemed to be asking Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in a diplomatic way to stop debating the issues in public.

Other officials said there is considerable confusion here over what Adenauer is driving at. His public criticism of the U.S. Soviet discussions is out of line with West German views communicated through official channels, they said.

Kennedy undertook at his news conference to play down reports of allied differences over the talks.

He noted that Adenauer had said in Berlin earlier this week that he was not optimistic about the outcome.

The United States has never been unduly optimistic about achieving an East-West agreement, the President said, but "we believe there should be a continuation of these talks." And the West German government, he added, has supported continuation.

Kennedy said further that the U.S. proposal to Moscow for an international authority to operate the Berlin supply lines across East German territory has not been opposed by West Germany.

He conceded differences over details of how such an organization could be set up, but said such differences are quite natural.

Adenauer said in Berlin this week that the authority proposal is unworkable. He also said he thought the talks would come to nothing, and he suggested it was dangerous for them to go on indefinitely without results.

The chancellor is known to object to a provision in the authority proposal that would give East Berlin and East Germans membership on the 13-nation authority.

He is strenuously opposed to any agreement with the Soviet Union which in his view would afford a degree of recognition to the East German communist regime.

Kennedy was told by a quick-tongued aide at his news conference that West Germans generally fear some kind of U.S. move toward East German recognition. He denied there is any basis for such fears.

Kennedy appeared confident that the Washington-Bonn split could be overcome. He recalled that in a speech last Monday Adenauer had stressed the Allied unity resulting from the recent meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization council at Athens, Greece.

But Kennedy deplored the public airing of differences. He said open debate "makes it very difficult to carry on any negotiations with the Soviet Union because all of our proposals are on the table and fought out in public even before they become our official position." He questioned whether this is the best way to carry on negotiations.

Flashing Light Shot Fails To Make Orbit

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — An attempt to launch a flashing light geodesic satellite into orbit failed today when the second stage of the launching vehicle did not ignite.

If successful, the satellite would have helped make more accurate maps of the world.

The 355-pound payload was propelled aloft at 7:06 a.m. by a Thor-Able-Star rocket. The early portion of flight appeared normal as the 7-foot-tall booster streaked swiftly from sight.

However, the Defense Department announced about 20 minutes later that preliminary telemetry reports indicate that the Anna satellite had failed to go into orbit. The second-stage ignition was not achieved, it said.

The announcement said records of radio signals from the vehicle were being studied to determine the exact cause of the failure.

The $3.5-million booster rocket and satellite presumably burned in the atmosphere over the Atlantic several hundred miles northeast of Cape Canaveral.

By giving scientists a known point in space to be photographed against a background of stars, the satellite would have allowed them to make better measurements of the earth's surface.

The Defense Department has a backup payload prepared and is expected to launch it within a few months after today's rocket trouble has been analyzed and corrected.

The "flashing beacons—difficult to locate with the naked eye—plus other precise radio, navigation and tracking gear, were to help ground stations calculate with high precision distances on the globe and the general shape of the earth's surface.

The "blinking lights" with a brilliance of eight million candle power, were not intended to be triggered initially, until about three days after launching. This would give trackers time to determine the satellite's orbital path before conducting any experiments.

The Defense Department took the unusual move Wednesday of announcing that the attempt to launch the satellite would be made today. This was to allow scientists around the world to make observations of the flashing beacons and share in the satellite's measuring.

2 Americans Hit By Reds

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two Americans were injured by Communist fire and four helicopters were hit in military operations in South Viet Nam on Wednesday night.

The copilot of a helicopter was wounded while on a support mission for South Vietnamese soldiers about 200 miles north of Saigon.

The pilot landed safely and the copilot was evacuated by air to a field hospital at Nha Trang, a U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara visited today.

The wounded man underwent surgery and was reported comatose. His name was withheld. He is with the 8th Helicopter Co., U.S. Marine Corps helicopter.

In another airlift of attacking Vietnamese to the southern tip of the country, ran into stiff guerrilla resistance Wednesday.

Li Charles Wimmer of Cleveland, Wis., suffered minor cuts when a bullet shattered a windshield.

He remembered seeing the original movie about "Mutiny on the Bounty" while visiting aboard a ship in Pitcairn harbor in the late 1950s and recalled, "It was enjoyable."

"Actually, I don't know much about the true story of it—we have only the legend handed down from generation to generation," he said.

"When I was a young man, I would have studied navigation had it been possible."

Pitcairn Chief Enjoys Solitude

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Fletcher John Christian, whose great-great-grandfather led the infamous "Mutiny on the Bounty" in 1789, sailed happily toward Holland today, enjoying the solitude of the ship's bridge.

"So many people, so many questions, and I do not know what to say," said the wrinkled, weather-beaten 64-year-old man at his first sight of modern civilization during a 24-hour stop before his ship sailed Wednesday.

Fletcher John received a real American welcome when he arrived aboard the Dutch cruise ship, Willem Ruys. Newsmen, grade school children and members of the Seventh Day Adventist Church greeted him.

Fletcher John was astonished at the size of buildings in this city, and he wanted to see color-television.

while," he said of his first journey beyond the Fiji Islands. "But to go away and leave it forever—no, I don't want to do it."

He declined to compare modern civilization with life on his tiny island of Pitcairn, where he is chief magistrate.

"Well, I just don't know about that," he said. "We were born there and get accustomed to it."

There is a lively tourist trade with ship calling at Pitcairn and staying there. Christian went aboard to talk with the captain. Once he said he'd like to make a voyage.

So when the Willem Ruys left Pitcairn on April 26, Fletcher John was aboard for a 10-week cruise as a guest of the Royal Netherlands-Indies Shipping Line. This was his final stop on route to Holland.

A religious man, Christian neither drinks nor smokes. The 120 persons on Pitcairn are members of the Seventh Day Adventist Church.

He said fishing and gardening are the chief occupations and selling souvenirs to tourists earns the average resident about $350 a year.

Railroad Mishap Kills Slaton Man

Davis Callaway Robinson, 35, the brakeman for the Santa Fe Railroad, was killed instantly in a mishap at 2:04 a.m. this morning.

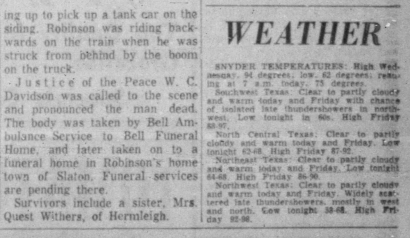

The accident occurred in the Santa Fe yard in North Snyder. A work crew from North had been called to Snyder yesterday to return a derailed car to the track.

A truck used by this crew had been parked well off the main line, and later taken on to a right-of-way, but with the boom of the truck extending out over a spur track.

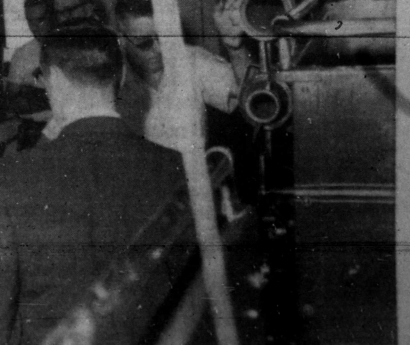

A Santa Fe freight train had stopped in Snyder and was backing up to pick up a tank car on the siding. Robinson was riding backwards on the train when he was struck from behind by the boom on the truck.

Justice of the Peace W. C. Davidson was called to the scene and pronounced the man dead. The body was taken by Bell Ambulance Service to Bell Funeral Home, and later taken on to a funeral home in Robinson's home town of Slaton. Funeral services are pending there.

Survivors include a sister, Mrs. Quest Withers, of Hermleigh.

The Snyder (Texas) Daily News, Thurs., May 10, 1962

Miss Saravia Speaker For Club

The woman's Culture Club met at the Nurses Home, with Mrs. W. E. Doak as leader. This being 'Friendship Day' each member invited a guest.

Isabel Saravia, exchange student from Chile, showed slides of her native land and told of many customs there. She compared her country especially the southern part with the northern most part of the United States, where it is cold and has a short summer. Mining is the chief industry in this region and it is sparsely populated.

The northern part of Chile is a hot, dry region.

The central part of this country has an ideal climate of not below 32 degrees in the winter and 80 degrees in the summer. This part of the country is densely populated and has many industrial and agricultural products.

Miss Saravia lives in the region of Santiago, the capital of Chile. The population of this city is 200,000 inhabitants and is the home of three colleges.

School is different in Chile than here. "The buildings are not heated and are very old, but we get a good education," she said.

"We do not choose our own subjects, but we have to take thirteen subjects, consisting of chemistry, philosophy, biology, French, English and math."

"Our first meal of the day is comparable to our breakfast over here. Then lunch at 12 o'clock and about 5 o'clock they have tea or coffee. The last meal of the day, dinner, at 9 o'clock at night."

"Stores are closed from noon until 3 o'clock, then remain open until 8 or 8:30 at night."

"The girls are required to wear blue uniforms to school all week, so they wear heels and gloves on dates and shopping. Boys and girls go to school together and know each other well before they are allowed to date which is around the age of 15. Young people are not allowed to drive cars or own one. Dating is done by bus."

"Labor is very cheap and most people of average income have saids, and many women work."

Refreshments were served to 16 members and their guests with Mrs. Annie Bailey, Mrs. Lora Miller and Mrs. Claude Tucker as hostesses.

Mrs. Doak read a letter from Rich Miller of Calle de Santa Proxider, San Augustine, Majorca, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Miller of Ft. Wynn. He is an artist painting pictures in that country. The letter described the holiday of Easter, with the procession of Our Lord, with the great processions of 5,000 to herald the pases of The Last Supper.

Par-Busters Open Colonial Assault

By MIKE COCHRAN
FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—With visions of conquering Colonial's sprawling endurance test, Arnold Palmer and 57 members of goldfom's elite set forth today in the first round of the $40,000 tournament.

In the minds of most of the star-studded field is a pay-window appointment for $7,000, but for Palmer the 7,112-yard, par 70 course offers a special challenge.

The 41-year-old, Pa. native already has five tournament championships tucked away this year and 21 during his illustrious career, but none bear the Colonial stamp.

The tour's leading money winner, skyrrocketed to a 78 in the final round here last year to eliminate himself from contention and help pave the way for Doug Sanders to tuck away the title with a one-over-par 261.

Palmer skipped Wednesday's pro-amateur but showed up in time to play a practice nine, which he termed "pretty good." He said he played well but was just generally dead tired.

The pro-amateur wound up in a five-way tie for low pro, with Dow Finsterwald, Don Fairfield, Joe Campbell, Bruce Crampton and Jacky Cupit shooting 68s and sharing $264 each.

Ben Hogan, making one of his rare appearances on the pro circuit, also bypassed the pro-amateur. He toured the course earlier this week but decided to forego a practice round Wednesday.

The only player to win more than one Colonial title, Hogan hit the course today in quest of his sixth championship here.

Green's Bat Helps Trojans To 5-3 Win

HAMLIN — Shortstop Ronald Green blasted a grand slam home with two away in the seventh inning here Wednesday to propel the Lincoln High Trojans of Snyder to a 5-3 triumph over Hamlin.

The Trojans entered the final frame with their backs to the wall after Hamlin had pushed over a pair of go-ahead tumbles in the sixth. Cornelius Davis walked to lead off the inning and was moved to third on a double by Kenneth McClain. John Choyce then drew a pass to lead the bases with nobody gone.

Hamlin hurler J. W. Owens, who whiffed 15 for the day, buckled down at that point to send both Linwood Dural and Vernon Gray down springing, but failed to close so well against the hard-hitting Green, who followed up a bases-empty circuit smash in the fifth with the deciding grand slammer.

Burford Thomas went all the way for Lincoln, giving up six safeties and striking out seven. Owens also gave up six hits, with four going for extra bases.

Joe Bass landed two doubles and a single to lead Hamlin at the plate.

The same two teams meet again this afternoon in a 4 p.m. contest at Snyder's Winston Field. Lincoln mentor Albert Lewis will send either Thomas Davis (0-2) or Ronald Green (0-2) to the mound.

Texas Edges Aggies; Title Game Today

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas Aggies get their final grab for glory in 1962 Southwest Conference baseball here today.

The Aggies — a half game behind the University of Texas for the first time this season — must win their game from the Longhorn today to gain a conference co-championship.

Should Texas prevail, the Longhorns would have the conference crown and would represent their conference in NCAA eliminations.

An Aggie victory here would give them a 2-1 record against Texas and because of the one-victory season margin against the Longhorns, A&M would go to the NCAA playoffs.

Texas goes into today's battle with a 12-2 record. A&M has a 12-3 mark.

Shortstop Bill Bertha blasted a double with two out in the eighth inning to score Texas' winning run Wednesday. The Aggies had led 3-1 from the fifth to the eighth on Bill Hancock's home run. They faltered in the final innings and lost 3-2.

Howard Vows To Hike Puny Percentage

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—Eliot Howard normally is a contented, pleasant-mannered, easy-going guy but Wednesday he was singing the blues as he sat slumped in front of his locker in the Yankee clubhouse before the game with the Boston Red Sox.

"Look at me!" he moaned. "I'm a .245 hitter, a lousy .245 hitter. I'm ashamed of myself. I should be hitting 100 points higher but I don't know why? Because I let a few home runs go to my head. That's why."

"No more of that swinging for the fences for me. I'm just going back to meeting the ball. And I'm going to start today. Just wait and see."

Howard was true to his word although the return to his old style of hitting didn't pay off until the seventh inning. Boston's Bill Monbouquette, after pitching six hitless innings, finally gave up a hit, a bunt single by Tom Tresh with one out in the seventh. It was a little pop over Monbo's head.

But Gary Geiger dropped Roger Maris' liner and, after Mickey Mantle struck out, the Red Sox right-hander walked Yogi Berra, filling the bases. Up stepped Howard and drove a base-clearing double over left fielder Carl Yastrzemski's head to break a scoreless deadlock between Monbo and Whitey Ford. Bill Skowron singled Howard home and the Yankees went on to win 4-1.

Ellie was all smiles after the game.

"I hit it good," he said, "but I wasn't going for the long ball. I didn't swing hard. I was just out to meet the ball. Just like last year. Yes sir, I don't need them home runs. Just base hits, that's all."

The hit, his only one in three times at bat, boosted Howard's average to .289, far below his .348 finish of last year. In justice to Howard, he has been playing with a painful right wrist, injured in the fourth game of the season.

GOES ROUTE FOR 7-3 WIN

Simmons Derails Frisco Express

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
A comeback pitcher who has again found the victory touch, a reserve catcher with a hot bat, and an aging marvel who's simply one of the greatest hitters in baseball annals.

That was the vital combination of the St. Louis Cardinals threw a roadblock at San Francisco's streaking Giants in the National League's feature attraction Wednesday night.

Left-hander Curt Simmons, an almost-plagued reject by Philadelphia when he was picked up by the Cards two years ago, maintained his perfect season's record in the 7-3 win.

Simmons became the first pitcher to go the distance against the Giants this year in their 20 games, throwing a nine-inning in his fifth victory and fifth complete game in as many starts. Carl Sawatski drove in four runs with a homer and two singles, zooming his average to .389. And Stan Musial, 41, inched to within one hit of Home Wagner's NL record of 3,420.

Los Angeles moved into third place in the NL with a handy 9-2 romp against Houston. Cincinnati clouted Philadelphia 7-4 and Milwaukee outlasted Pittsburgh 4-2. Cold weather at Chicago forced postponement of the New York-Cubs game.

In the American League, Detroit beat Los Angeles 6-3, New York scored over Boston 4-1, Minnesota shaded Cleveland 2-1, Baltimore tripped Kansas City 6-3 and Chicago divided a pair with Washington, winning the second game 7-6 after a 9-3 loss.

Simmons was rapped for three homers among the nine hits he allowed but kept the league leaders in check. San Francisco's Orlando Cepeda hit homer No. 9 against the lefty in the fourth,

COLLISION AT FIRST BASE—Don Dillard, right, Cleveland Indians, ends up on his knees and Don Mincher, Minnesota Twins' first baseman, lies prone on the ground after their collision at first base in the ninth inning of the game in the Twin Cities. Mincher reportedly suffered a concussion and was taken to a hospital. The players collided when Mincher went behind the bag for a bad throw as Dillard was crossing. The Indians won 6-3. Facilities At Lake Better Than Ever

The approach of the summer season finds Lake J. B. Thomas with additional recreational facilities for the public.

During the winter, 15 new picnic units have been added at various points around the lake, according to R. A. Schooling. This brings to 36 the total number of such facilities which include tables, benches and shade.

Two of the units were installed on the west end near the river bridge, two on the north side recreational area, and the balance on the peninsula at the southeast section of the lake.

Since last fall, 400 trees have been transplanted around the lake, most of them cottonwood and catalpa. Schooling said that these were planted behind terraces and that it increased the amount of rainfall available to them, as well as making it easier to water the trees. At latest count, all but three of the saplings were alive and growing.

The trees were raised from switches or seedlings on a nursery plot near the Colorado River Municipal Water District's boat basin.

Another improvement effected during the winter months has been re-grading and re-graveling of 2 1/2 miles of the road along the south side of Lake Thomas. Some of the outside toilets also have been replaced with newer and larger facilities. These projects have been financed out of proceeds from recreational permits, lease charges, and concessions.

Hurlers Hurt In Final Cut

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
May 9 was a bad day for pitchers. This time, however, it was opposing batters who were the dispensers of gloom and woe. It was the culminating event of the National League pennant and a world series victory, was dealt to the Houston Colts in an outright sale. The others drifted back to the minors. Nuxhall, once a steady pitcher with the Cincinnati Reds, was given his outright release by the Los Angeles Angels. Earlier, he had failed in a trial with Baltimore.

Jones, expected to be one of the New York Mets' starters, was 0-4 and relegated to the bench when the new NL club decided to option him to Syracuse. Both Cicotte and Umbrecht were optioned by the Colts to Oklahoma City of the American Association, which also will get outfielders Al Heist and Don Tausig from the new Houston club.

McMahon, a big right-hander who had three big years with Milwaukee, tailed off to 6-1 last season and was 0-1 this year after a long spring holdout.

The Braves also optioned utility infielder Lou Klimchock to Louisville of the American Association. Baltimore optioned pitcher Bill Short and utilityman Orzie Virgil to Rochester, and made room for the return of pitcher Jack Fisher from the disabled list by selling first baseman-outfielder Marv Throneberry to the New York Mets. The Mets will cut one more player when Throneberry reports Friday.

Golf, Tennis Players See First Action

WACO (AP)—Nineteen tennis players and 15 golfers got the Southwest Conference spring meet started today.

Track squads see first action Friday.

Meetings of the coaches and athletics directors were on today will go to the faculty committee, governing body of the conference, which opens its session Friday.

Most interest centered around a meeting of the basketball coaches and athletics directors at 3 p.m. when an alleged fix scandal is due to be aired.

The faculty committee apparently has little business to transact although conference Sec. Howard Grubbs said there would be a detailed report on investigations of recruiting.

Rice is favored to win the tennis singles and doubles, with its unbeaten Neal Marcus and Frank Bertram, Fritz Schuck and Deardard Greer.

The only returning champion in tennis is Tom Howorth of SMU, who has been on the winning doubles team two years in a row.

Texas A&M won the team championship in golf but may not have the singles winner, Gary Cross of Arkansas is unbeaten in match play this season.

Chris Blocker of Texas Tech, the 1961 golf singles champion, has graduated.

Baylor is a mild favorite in track with Texas the chief contender. Texas A&M looks best in the freshman division.

Preliminaries in track will be held Friday starting at 1:30 p.m. with finals Saturday.

Giants Snare Guglielmi In Player Swap

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Giants, Eastern Conference champions of the National Football League, today obtained veteran quarterback Ralph Guglielmi from the St. Louis Cardinals in exchange for rookie back Bill Triplett and a high 1963 draft choice.

Guglielmi, a 4-year NFL veteran, will back up NFL veteran A. Tittle for the Giants, who also have holdover Lee Grosscup.

Triplett, whose brother Mel plays for the Minnesota Vikings after being traded last year by the Giants, was New York's No. 6 draft choice this year after starting at Miami, Ohio, University.

Oklahoma City Wins Slugfest

By The Associated Press
Oklahoma City defeated Dallas-Fort Worth 17-16 with a tie-breaking run in the bottom of the ninth at Oklahoma City Wednesday night during a 42-hit American Association slugfest.

The Stars trailed all the way, but came from behind 9-0 after three-and-one-half innings to 16-13 at the start of the ninth. The winning run came on a single into centerfield by Wayne Conally which sent Von McDaniel in with the clincher. He had gotten on base with a double.

In other American Association action Omaha edged out Denver 4-3 and Indianapolis smothered Louisville 12-4.

The victory over the Colonels went to Herb Score—his first triumph in the 1962 season. Score went seven innings, giving up five hits, striking out seven, walking two and throwing two third-strike wild pitches. He was nailed in the seventh by a three-run homer from Mickey Sinnerud.

In Denver, southpaw Nick Willhite, a 22-year-old product of the Denver school system, showed the homefolks how it's done—even if he did pitch for visiting Omaha.

NOT-SO-SWEET MYSTERY OF LIFE

Too Many Homes Withhold Discipline For Children

By INEZ ROBB

My theory that juvenile delinquents don't get that way without an adult in the wood pile was unhappily confirmed recently when I spoke at a meeting of deans and counselors of girls, at both the college and high-school level.

There were fine women, dedicated to seeing that the twig grows into an admirable, straight tree. And their main battle, as anyone could perceive, is not with the girls but with the girl's parents.

"We are no longer paid to be teachers—but to be baby-sitters," one high-school counselor said. "We are not hired to 'learn' children the wisdom and knowledge that is man's guide to life. Today we are expected to instill in a child the discipline, deportment and social niceties that were once the first duty of the home."

"Parents find that disciplining children is an enormous and often distasteful task, and one that calls for hard and constant work. In the past," this teacher went on, "there was no doubt to whom this primary job belonged—it was the duty of parents and they didn't shrink it."

"But today too many parents shrug off this task and say, in effect, to the schools, 'You bring Johnny up and then, if he learns to read, okay.'"

"Yes, that's true," said a second counselor of high-school girls. "But the parent that doesn't have the inclination to discipline Mary and expects you to stand in loco parentis is the first to come rushing to the school to protest and make a big scene if Mary gets at school the discipline she so sadly lacks and needs."

"Beware the parent who asks you to discipline his child, if you really do," ruefully remarked a third counselor.

"Parents have abdicated the home to children," said a wise dean of women at a large college. "They have abdicated their responsibility and it never ceases to shock and amaze me."

"Now, my college is about 450 miles from one of the largest and surely one of the most sophisticated cities in the United States," she continued. "I will not allow my girls to go there unless they have the permission of their parents."

"But in all my experience I have yet to call a parent to ask if Mary or Sue or Beth has his or her permission to go to this city that permission has been refused. I keep hoping that, just once, some

Middle-Age Boasts Its Own Reward

By KAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Every age in life has its rewards.

Sometimes the truth of this is pretty hard to see—but it is there. The age that many people seem to fear or resent the most is middle age. Its onset brings a kind of panic to them.

"I didn't mind being young, and I'm not afraid of being old," a friend wailed recently. "But I hate the thought of being caught in between. What possible advantage can there be in being middle-aged?"

Well, if a fellow really puts his mind to it, he can find a number of blessings in the mid-span of life. Such as:

As your hair gets thinner, you find it takes less and less muscle to comb it. This enables you to conserve your strength for more important tasks.

You also find out that the shiner your scalp grows the less danger you have. There is no longer much for it to hold on to—or hide behind.

Your wife and you get along better—and have fewer violent word storms. After all, if you no longer can hear her—and after 45 few men do hear their wives very clearly—how can you disagree with what she says? Her advice comes to have the pleasantly vague sound of ocean surf, endlessly beating on the same old shore.

At the office the boss picks on you less and less after you start sporting that 25-year pin in your lapel. When you pull a blooper, he simply sighs and says, "Well, I guess you can't really teach an old dog new tricks."

You may not sleep as well as you used to, but you find it easier to get a little rest during the day. As a matter of fact, just being middle-aged makes a man feel so worn out he can take a nap in any posture—even while standing on his head.

Medically speaking, you become more and more fascinating to doctor. He dismisses the aches of the young as growing pains and the aches of the elderly as incurable, but any symptom of the middle-aged stirs his active professional interest and sympathy—probably because he is middle-aged himself. Most doctors are.

You can now carry an umbrella or don your rubbers on a day of potential showers without feeling cowardly. A sense of proper protective self-care is becoming in you at your time of life.

Teen-agers pay no attention to you, but then teen-agers don't really pay attention to anybody or anything except another teen-ager of the opposite sex.

On the other hand, people over 70 still regard you as young and full of promise. They even envy you.

In middle age you abandon all the useless dreams that cluttered your earlier life. You have only one goal left—to grow as old as you can.

But there's no hurry about it. You're perfectly willing to take all the time there is in the world.

Junior Editors Quiz on YEAST

ANSWER: Yeast is a rather simple fungus. It has the ability to change sugar into carbon dioxide. When it is put into another batch of material, such as bread dough, we call the process that results, "yeast rising." This is what happens. The yeast is put into the dough. Carbon dioxide forms in pockets from the yeast, and this gas rises, through the heating doughy mass. Soon the bread dough is much larger than it had been before, because there are bubbles of carbon dioxide throughout it. Instead of being heavy dough, it is airy and porous. Most of the bread we eat is light and buoyant because it has been made with yeast. Yeast is called a "leavening agent," because it seems to raise materials. Yeast is sold in the stores in small, moist cakes. Many people make their own bread. This is quite common in the country and seems to be gaining in popularity in the city as well. Yeast is also used for brewing, because it also can change sugar into alcohol.

FOR YOU TO DO: Bake a loaf of bread. Any large cookbook will have a recipe for bread, either plain or with raisins or bananas or nuts. Be sure to start your bread from the beginning, so that you can see the yeast working. Follow the recipe very carefully. If you can't bake your own bread, see if a neighborhood bakery will let you watch while they bake.

Scenes In Mussolini Film Get Approval

ROME (AP)—An Italian court ruled Wednesday Benito Mussolini's relations with his mistress, Claretta Petacci can be described in a documentary film about the duke.

The court handed down the ruling in rejecting a suit by Miss Petacci's parents and sister seeking deletion of scenes about her in a feature-length documentary about the Italian dictator.

LIGHTEST MEXICO

BY JOHN ABNEY

MEXICO CITY—The hottest thing around this neck of the woods is the mineral bath industry. About 100 degrees F., to be exact.

The curing of all ailments in mineral springs is a very ancient custom in Arcteland, having first been indulged in (according to the records during the Bronze Age, which was 4,000 years ago. Bronze time is a very popular item of the time.

AMAZON, the bubble bath has always had a goodly number of clients. And the Mexicans call their Spas the Fountains of Youth. Which shows you which direction Mr. Ponce de Leon's compass was pointing while he dashed around the Florida woods looking for his magic fountain.

It is a known fact that the Aztec leaders of centuries gone by spent many an hour in the sizzling waters curing lumps from war clubs and other occupational aids. For the scientists claim these hot mineral pools will scare away everything from nightmares to soggy livers.

Several of Mexico's presidents have cogitated the affairs of state while relaxing and getting themselves boiled.

In the early days, these springs were merely backwoods creeks where you removed your loin cloth and dived in while the missis whipped up a hasty platter of frijoles and tortillas.

Today, they have been converted into elegant resorts. Istapan de la Sal, for example, looks like a modern Roman bath. Big outdoor swimming pool (full of 100 degree F. water with 29 minerals, for which I accept the word of science not having counted them personally) and a number of indoor jobs (family size bathing).

Also, in case you wish to get well plastered, there are many restaurants with chefs of scientific mind in which you can languish for the cure.

In all, there are 84 listed hot water resorts around the country. And probably hundreds of others known only to Indians who live in the neighborhood.

Tehuacan, in the State of Puebla, has been famous for its curative springs for many a year. And the people who operate these waters got to thinking things over. "If it is good for your outside," they said, "it ought to be good for your inside."

Somebody bottled down a glass full and said he felt better. So they developed a major industry of bottling the mineral waters of Penafiel and Garcí-Crespo.

And everyone drank the water all over Mexico and felt better and the people who sold it looked at their bank statements and felt much better, too.

The bottled water is not served at 100 degrees but it mixes well with other chemicals such as Scotch, which are known to have great curative powers.

Many of the larger spas have put in golf courses, tennis courts, bowling alleys, dance halls and other devices that enable the clients to work off the excess energy. Which is a way of saying that the radioactive waters seem to make you very active and you step out of the pool looking like a Christmas flower in full bloom. Feeling like a cat that has just eaten a pound of catnip at one sitting.

There are less elite places, where the thermal waters are said to be just as effective, that are not cluttered up with gymnastic equipment. These are merely rest resorts.

The customers take a hot dip, get in the hammock and let nature take its course.

A highly relaxing course any way you take it.

Everybody But Hoover Celebrating

By LOUIS G. PANOS
WASHINGTON (AP)—J. Edgar Hoover's 58th anniversary as director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation was widely observed today. But not by Hoover.

"He refuses to treat it differently from any other working day," said an FBI spokesman.

Hoover, 67, steadfastly resisted suggestions of any special gathering to mark the latest milestone in his career.

No special luncheon, no dinner party, no interviews, said the spokesman.

But others insisted on taking note of the occasion.

President Kennedy sent a letter of congratulations.

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy ordered up a cake.

As the day dawned, no one was really sure about how and when the cake would be presented to Hoover.

In Baltimore, Mayor J. Harold Grady, a former FBI agent, proclaimed, "J. Edgar Hoover Day."

So did Mayors Ivan Allen Jr. in Atlanta and Anthony J. Celebrezze in Cleveland.

Gov. J. Millard Tamm of Maryland and Michael V. DiSalle of Ohio, also issued proclamations honoring the FBI director.

The FBI spokesman said the director expected to follow his usual routine, which calls for a drive from his northwest Washington home to a point about five blocks from the Justice Department building offices of the FBI, then a brisk walk to the building with Clyde A. Tolson, his longtime friend and FBI associate director.

After working until about noon, the director usually leaves the building for lunch.

Then comes more work in the afternoon until about 6, when he departs for home and two of his favorite sources of relaxation, gardening and his two Cairn terriers, Chi-Boy and Tucker.

And if this is like many other days, there may be another report that Hoover's retirement is imminent. Then the report will be emphatically denied, if it has been by FBI officials or Robert Kennedy himself.

Says Control Inevitable

HOBBS, N.M. (AP)—The retiring president of the New Mexico Medical Society says controls in medicine can no longer be considered an infringement on the freedom of practice.

Dr. William E. Badger of Hobbs made the remarks at the 80th annual meeting of the society Wednesday.

"We must be willing to criticize and sit in judgment on our fellow practitioners when we have to," he said.

He said the medical profession has possibly viewed itself as an organization within whose ranks behavior and methods were to be kept a secret.

"Let me assure you that those days, if they ever existed, are gone forever," Dr. Badger said.

"Controls cannot be considered undesirable or an infringement on the freedom of practice."

There are four million vending machines in operation in the United States.

And if this is like many other days, there may be another report that Hoover's retirement is imminent. Then the report will be emphatically denied, if it has been by FBI officials or Robert Kennedy himself.
