Wednesday. More than three inches of rain pelted the area in a 24-hour period, with more expected during the next several days.

Rainfall problems mount

By HANK MURPHY
Staff Writer

The monsoon-like rains that have lingered in West Texas since Saturday have posed a myriad of problems for the area and its people — and forecasters say more rain is on the way.

A flash flood watch was in effect for the area today, with more thunder showers likely. The extended forecast calls for more rain through the weekend.

Homeowners who sustained flood damage Saturday night got some welcome news from several area lenders. Citizens Federal Credit Union loan officer Debbie Smith said the credit union is offering a special 6.49 percent home improvement loans for flood victims. The normal rate for such loans is 12.5 percent, she said.

Bruce Hoganmiller, Western Division Manager of Big Springs Savings and Loan Association, said that company probably will match that rate or offer special rates for improvements that go beyond flood damage repair.

Security State Bank President J.D. Nelson said this morning that his bank also would explore providing less expensive loans for homeowners whose property sustained water damage.

A heavy downpour Wednesday afternoon again made streams out of the city's streets. More than 2 inches of rain fell within a short time forcing police to temporarily close Highway 87 south of town, where water rushing through damaged Comanche Dam threatened to pour over the highway.

Workers on South Goliad Street watched nervously as rising water in Big Spring Draw fed by Comanche Lake washed away more base supporting the damaged section of road — partially destroyed by a torrent of water Saturday night.

In addition, police dispatches cited more reports of motorists stranded by high water at Comanche Trail Park.

Comanche Trail Park resembled a river Wednesday afternoon as heavy runoff flowed through the park, taking with it garbage cans, brush and picnic tables.

Two die in Alpine area flooding

By The Associated Press

Two women died in flood waters that swept over West Texas after more than three inches of rain fell near Alpine and water rushed down a normally dry creek, authorities said today.

The body of a 62-year-old woman was discovered in Alpine Creek Wednesday and the body of a second woman, who was not identified, was recovered along the same creek today, authorities said.

"(The body of the second woman) was found about 8:10 a.m. along the creek in a subdivision north of town," said Brewster County sheriff's dispatcher Jere Madison. He said the woman's identity was being withheld pending notification of relatives.

On Wednesday, an Alpine police dispatcher said 62-year-old Jesusita Reyes and her car were swept down Alpine Creek inside the city limits shortly before 9 p.m.

A Texas Department of Public Safety helicopter from Midland had been summoned to aid in the search for the second woman after police had received unconfirmed reports of a body seen in Alpine Creek.

The National Weather Service posted a flash flood watch for a large part of West Texas. Thunderstorms and heavy rains continued over portions of the South Plains, Permian Basin, Southwest Texas and the southeast corner of New Mexico.

Heaviest rains were reported between Marathon and Alpine, the weather service said.

In Alpine, just over three inches of rain has fallen since early yesterday, with more than two inches during a two-hour period Wednesday night.

Authorities say flooding damaged several buildings, streets, waterworks and railroad tracks. Several low-water crossings in the area were closed due to high water.

Highway crews were working to repair damage as water lapped at some bridges along U.S. Highway 90 and other locations.

Alpine is 104 miles north of Big Bend National Park in far West Texas.

Luncheon unveils local events

By SPENCER SANDOW
Staff Writer

The United Way of Big Spring, Howard County opened its annual campaign at Wednesday's quarterly Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce community luncheon, at which a long list of local events were unveiled.

The United Way goal for 1986-87 is $215,000 — $5,000 more than last year's.

United Way funds go to local chapters of the American Red Cross, Boys' Club of Big Spring, Northside Community Center, the Boy Scouts, Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, the Girl Scouts, the Salvation Army, West Side Community Center, the YM-CA and West Side Day Care Center, which is a non-profit care center serving children from low-income families.

Six former Big Spring High School cheerleaders appeared in uniform at the luncheon, including three men comically dressed in women's short skirts and wigs.

Athletic director Ron Logback, football coach Quinn Eudy, volleyball coach Elaine Stone and cross-country coach Randy Britton spoke.

Logback said he believes Big Spring athletes are going to have "an excellent year."

Eudy said the big difference in the football scene this year is the depth of the district. He said district 2-4A, into which Big Spring High School was moved, has fewer players than 4-5A, where it previously was.

"The kids look real good," he said, adding that the Steers have won both pre-season scrimmages.

Britton said his cross-country season starts next Saturday.

He said he could see a great difference in students' attitudes because of the change.

Stone said her team's opponents this season are going to be tough, but that the Big Spring volleyball team would win. The team starts district play Saturday.

It was noted that the community pep rally again was rescheduled because of widespread complaints about the time.

The rally originally was set for Tuesday, but was postponed because of rain. It was then moved to Friday afternoon.

Now, it will be at 8:30 p.m. today at Blankenship field. If it rains, the rally will be moved to the high school gym.

Other events announced at the luncheon were:

• The Howard County Fair begins Sept. 15 at the fair grounds. New items this year are a country store where people can buy and sell homemade goods, the battle of the cheerleaders, and a pig show, George Weeks said.

He said Clyde Foley Cummins, grandson of Red Foley and nephew of Pat Boone, will appear again this year.

• The Lone Star Wagon Train will ride into Big Spring Sept. 14 and will stay for the first day of the fair, said Elizabeth Taylor, manager of the chamber's Convention and Visitors Bureau. The train will be camped near the fairgrounds for passers-by to see, she said.

• The Big Spring Evening Lions Club will have its 17th annual Big Spring High School football barbecue Friday from 5 to 7:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria. The menu includes ham, sausage and beef barbecue. Food is $4 per plate. Tickets are available from any member.

• The Leadership Big Spring program, sponsored annually by the chamber, has eight spaces still open, said Bob Coltrane. Classes meet once a month from September to May. For more information, contact the chamber.

Legislature to try again on Monday

AUSTIN (AP) — State legislators, unable to balance the budget during the 30-day special session that ends today, will get another chance beginning Monday, says House Speaker Gib Lewis.

After a meeting with Gov. Mark White and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby on Wednesday, Lewis said White had chosen a date for the next session.

"We discussed when we will be coming back and that will be Monday," Lewis said.

The speaker's press secretary, Tim Conger, said White also told the leaders he would like to address a joint House-Senate meeting on Monday, as he did to open the first special session.

In his first speech, White urged lawmakers to approve a one-year, 1½-cent sales tax increase to help wipe out the $3.5 billion state deficit.

A majority of House members said they opposed new taxes. Since tax bills must start in the House, White's plan went nowhere.

The Senate approved $418 million in spending cuts, while the House cuts totaled $740 million. The conference committee trying to resolve that difference continued meeting into the final day.

Lewis, who led tax opponents during the first special session, said he will support a tax hike only if all other key budget-balancing steps are taken first and still prove inadequate.

"I haven't changed in any way. Our first priority is to try to make cuts in state spending. And try to bring that (deficit) figure down as low as we possibly can," Lewis said.

"If we get the opportunity to do what we want to do in the House — the follow-through on various budget cuts, transferability of (state) funds, to run state government in a businesslike way — if that doesn't bridge the gap (then) sure, I'll vote for a tax bill."

Firefighters name city in benefits suit

By HANK MURPHY
Staff Writer

The Big Spring Firefighters Retirement Board filed suit against the city Tuesday, claiming City Hall violated the Texas Revised Civil Statute in regards to firemen retirement benefits.

The action is boiling over of a feud that had simmered for many months between the city and firefighters over how much money the city should put into the firefighters' retirement kitty.

Firemen say the city is obligated by state law to match as much as 9 percent of salary deductions assigned to retirement. The city matched that amount, but only after the city decreased base salaries to do so.

The city had argued earlier this year, during mid-year budget deliberations, that it intended an across-the-board municipal employee pay increase of 3 percent. To give firefighters a salary boost plus an additional 3 percent for their retirement fund amounted to a 6 percent pay raise.

The city had been matching a 6 percent salary deduction for retirement. But in April, firefighters voted to increase that deduction to 9 percent, the maximum matching percentage allowed by state law.

The city responded by trimming firefighters' pay by 3 percent, in line with a city ordinance drafted earlier to specifically deal with such a scenario. The ordinance was passed April 22 along with the mid-year budget.

Firefighters' attorney Craig Deats of the Austin firm Flickma, Van Os, Waterman, Moore and Dean, contends that in actuality, the city is making firefighters pay 12 percent of their salary while it pays only 6 percent — a violation of state statutes, Deats said.

The suit asks the city to make retroactive lost pay and benefits to firefighters. Furthermore, it asks that the city be ordered to rescind the disputed ordinance.

City officials and retirement board members were not available and did not respond to messages this morning.

Dallas zoo plans embryo transplant

DALLAS (AP) — No one is expecting a giraffe with stripes, but zoo officials say the implantation of a zebra-like animal into the womb of a giraffe will be a historic experiment.

Dallas Zoo officials plan to implant the embryo of an okapi, an animal which has disappeared from some of its native jungles in Zaire, Africa, although it is less threatened than some species.

Dr. Bonnie Rafael, zoo veterinarian and coordinator of the project, said the zoo hopes to transfer the embryo within two to six months.

If the implantation is successful, it will produce a newborn okapi delivered from a giraffe within 15 months. Officials say that the Dallas experiment, combined with research that other zoos have done in similar efforts, could lead to a nationwide embryo implantation program for endangered species.

"It can be very significant," said Ron Kagan, the zoo's director of mammals.

"That's if everything works, which is a big if," Kagan said.

Embryo transfers have ignited protest from religious groups in at least one U.S. city with complaints that the procedure is unnatural, said zoo spokeswoman Victoria Furber.

But some conservation groups say the procedure is a promising way to increase the number of births of endangered animals.

In the case of the okapi, possibly only a few hundred or few thousand of the mammals remain in Zaire. The okapi is chestnut-colored with partially striped legs and hind quarters.

Wildlife experts say there are only about 60 okapis in captivity, with about 21 in the United States. There are seven apiece in the Dallas Zoo and Chicago's Brookfield Zoo. The rest are in zoos in San Diego, Oklahoma City and Colorado Springs.

In recent years, embryo transfers have been accomplished several times with endangered species and domestic animals at U.S. zoos, but it's only been done on a very few animals, Kagan said.

About five years ago, a Holstein cow implanted with the embryo of a Gaur cow, a species of Indian wild cattle, successfully gave birth at the Bronx Zoo in New York, officials said.

"If this project can eventually work, we can avoid having to take animals out of the wild in order to save them," Kagan said.

Rainfall

This morning, weather-related power failures affected about 7,000 Texas Electric Service Co. customers in west Big Spring between 5:30 and 5:35, said Jan Hansen of TESCO.

Hansen said the failure involved a problem with a Cap Rock Electric Co-op main transmission line from Stanton to Midland.

A dispatcher for Cap Rock, which services Grady School where a morning-long blackout caused school to be canceled, said Cap Rock's transmission line sustained damage along with a few switching stations.

Meanwhile, vast amounts of rain continued to swell area creeks, rivers and lakes.

According to Joe Pickle, secretary/treasurer at the Colorado River Municipal Water District, the Colorado River is "flowing pretty good," as are the Tobacco and Bull Creek tributaries.

Area lakes, he said, are brimming with water, although changes in levels have not been drastic.

Lake Spence, he said, has risen about 3.2 feet and holds 235,790 acre feet of water — a gain of 28,000 acre feet.

Lake Thomas has gained 4 feet and contains 34,500 acre feet of water — a jump of about 10,000 acre feet, he said.

Pickle said the rain has diluted the salt and mineral content of the water diverted to the city, making the taste of it a little better.

As of 8 a.m. this morning, Big Spring received 2.17 inches of rain in a 24-hour period, according to the Agricultural Research Service, located on the north service road of Interstate 20. That brings the area's official rainfall so far this year to 22.49 — more than 9 inches above normal.

Boyce Hale of Sterling City Route, a few miles south of Big Spring, recorded 3.03 inches — bringing his year's total to 26.06 inches.

Lucille Burns of Route 1 Ackerly reported 4.5 inches of rain as of 8 a.m. this morning. And Tommy Hart, 1750 Purdue St., measured .85 of an inch of rain since yesterday, and 2.85 in the last two days.

The trials of a patron suing a local tavern and a former Cosden employee seeking payment of workman's compensation will be heard in 118th District Court next week, said District Judge James Gregg.

Juries for each case will be picked Monday morning, Gregg said.

Charles C. Briggs, 501 N. Birdwell, names the Green House Tavern, 1102 Scurry St., in addition to a general partnership composed of Lee Harris and Dan Lusk, as defendants in a personal injury suit filed in June, 1982.

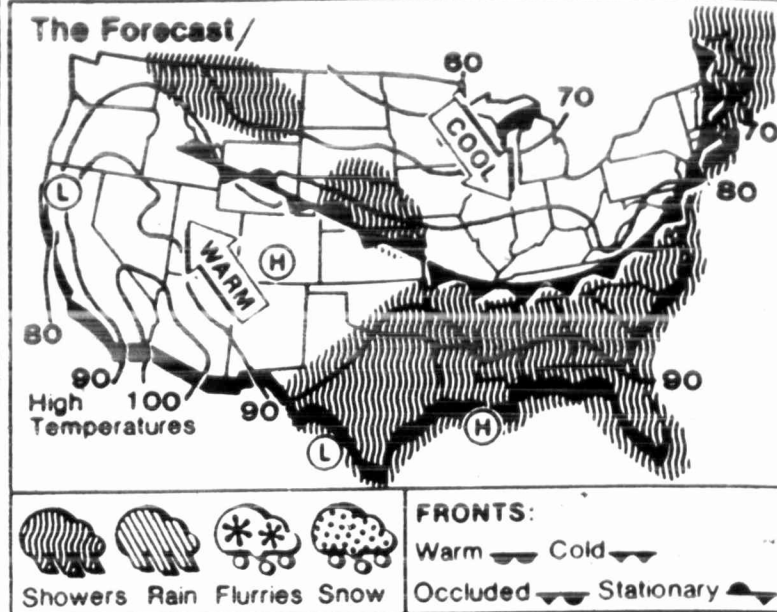

He claims he suffered permanent injuries as a result of being shoved by Harris over the porch railing at the tavern in December 1981.

Briggs seeks $321,215 in damages.

Heavy thunderstorms drenched sections of the Midwest and South today, and Texas authorities said a woman and her car were swept away by flood waters.

A cold front pushing into the central Plains and Great Lakes region produced heavy thunderstorms across eastern and southern Iowa and sections of Wisconsin and Michigan.

Tropical moisture and a weak low pressure system caused heavy rain and thunderstorms in western and southwestern Texas, prompting widespread flash flood watches.

A 62-year-old woman and her car were swept down normally dry Alpine Creek inside the city limits of Alpine in West Texas Wednesday evening, police said, blaming the death on flooding from more than three inches of rain that also damaged several buildings, streets, waterworks and railroad tracks.

Showers and thunderstorms also were scattered across the Southeast, Florida and the lower Mississippi and Ohio valleys.

A flash flood warning was posted in sections of central Tennessee as slow-moving thunderstorms soaked sections of the Tennessee Valley.

A high pressure over the western third of the nation provided fair weather for the intermountain region, Pacific Northwest and California.

Today's forecast called for showers and thunderstorms scattered from the Great Lakes across the Ohio Valley to the southern Appalachians; from west Texas across Oklahoma into southwest Missouri; across the rest of Texas, the lower Mississippi Valley and the Tennessee Valley into Georgia and Florida; and across the southern Rockies; and a few rain showers in the northern Rockies.

Highs will be in the 60s along the central Pacific Coast, from northern Montana to northern Michigan and across much of New England; 90s from Florida across the lower Mississippi Valley to eastern and southern Texas; 90s to 110 in southwest Oregon, interior California and the desert Southwest; and 70s to 80s across most of the rest of the nation.

"None of above" wins

CARSON CITY, Nev. — Nevada voters often would rather have nobody representing them, and some of the other candidates don't like it.

"None of the above" finished first in a five-candidate field in Tuesday's Democratic primary for state treasurer and second in the Democratic and Republican senatorial primaries.

"No preference" votes also finished second in the five-candidate GOP gubernatorial race, second in the Democratic secretary of state primary and second in the Republican treasurer's race.

Plan may free reporter

WASHINGTON — The United States was awaiting a response today from Moscow on a plan that would free an American journalist accused of spying in exchange for an understanding that a Soviet physicist could be sent home after he stands trial on espionage charges.

The deal to liberate U.S. News & World Report correspondent Nicholas Daniloff would involve temporarily releasing Gennady F. Zakharov, the physicist who was assigned to the United Nations Secretariat, to the Soviet ambassador, U.S. officials said Wednesday.

Blacks' earnings rise

WASHINGTON — The real earnings of black men increased much faster than the pay of whites from 1940 through 1980, but other economic comparisons for black males are unfavorable, a report says.

Real earnings of black males increased 300 percent compared to 163 percent for white men during the 40 years, the staff of the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights reported Wednesday.

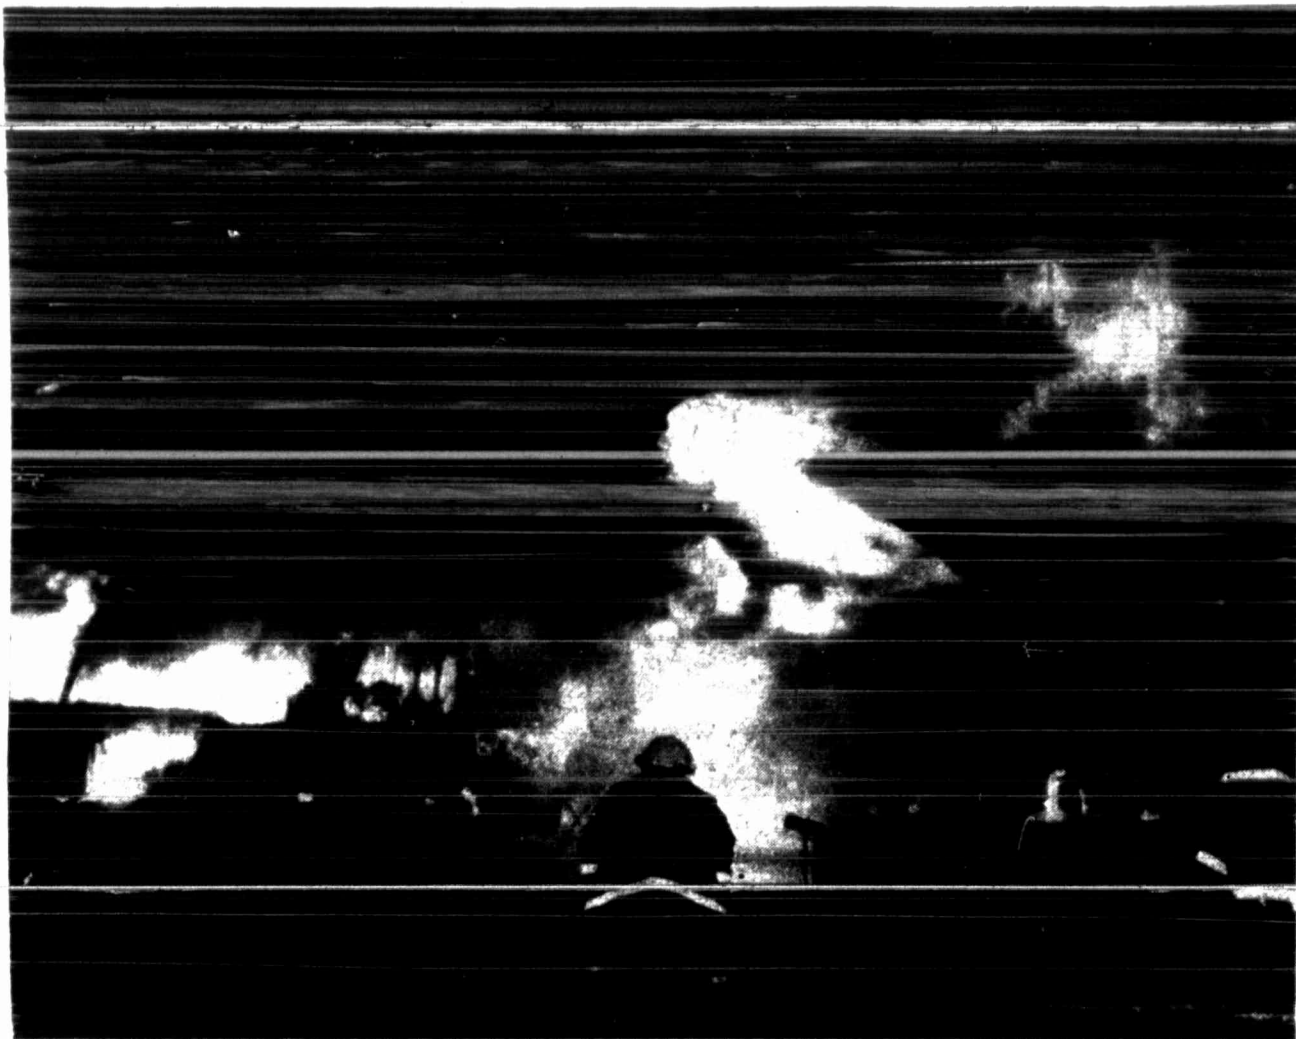

But during the same period, there was a relative decline in the employment of black men, and a rise in unemployment as large numbers of black males stopped participating in the labor force.

Aid to Nicaragua barred

WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration is blocking a private relief agency from sending farm tools and other supplies to leftist-ruled Nicaragua, a decision denounced by one critic as "the politics of hunger."

The administration refused an application from Oxfam America, a Boston-based relief agency, to ship to Nicaragua $41,000 of donated and purchased supplies, including rakes, seeds, shovels, agricultural books, wrenches, chain saws, hammers and water pipes, Oxfam officials said.

"We are dealing with the politics of hunger," Hammock said in an interview Wednesday. "This is a clear example of the government playing politics with the poor overseas."

Authorities evacuated nearly 1,000 residents early this morning after hazardous chemicals caught fire in an Elkhart, Ind., warehouse. Six firefighters were treated for minor respiratory problems, and no injuries were reported among the evacuees. Firefighters stopped using water to control the blaze, fearing groundwater contamination.

1,000 evacuated in Northern Indiana

ELKHART, Ind. (AP) — A fire that caused 55-gallon barrels of chemicals to explode burned early today at a chemical supply plant, and authorities fearing toxic fumes ordered evacuation of about 1,000 people from a 2 1/4-square-mile area.

Six firefighters were taken to a hospital for treatment of chest pains and shortness of breath, said Baugo Township Fire Chief James Ferro. No injuries were reported among the evacuees, Elkhart County Sheriff's Major R.T. Snyder said.

Police lifted roadblocks around the Superior Chemical Co. warehouse shortly after daybreak, allowing residents to return home shortly after 7 a.m.

The cause of the blaze was under investigation. Scientists from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency conducted preliminary tests of air quality and concluded the smoke presented no danger.

"I'm sure there's no health problem involved with what's remaining in the air," said Harry Allen, an EPA environmental scientist.

Firefighters allowed the blaze to burn through the night on the advice of hazardous chemical specialists, who said dousing the flames with water might contaminate groundwater supplies.

"Chemtree has told us our best bet is to let the stuff burn, so that's what we're doing," said Snyder. Chemtree is a national clearing house on hazardous materials established by the Chemical Manufacturers Association.

Elkhart County Sheriff Dick Bowman said foam would be used to extinguish the fire.

Ten fire departments were called shortly after 10 p.m. Wednesday and faced exploding 55-gallon barrels of resin, acetone, dichloromethane, and organic peroxide in the warehouse.

"We had heavy explosions," said assistant fire chief Ray Gamble.

"When I got there just a little bit of smoke was coming out of the eaves. In 10 to 15 minutes the whole building was involved," said Patrolman Milt Montandon. "We didn't know what we had at first. We had to wait for someone from the company to get here."

The fire was reported by two Conrail workers who smelled smoke, Montandon said.

Charge threatened

MOSCOW — The wife of an imprisoned American reporter accused of spying said Soviet authorities threatened to file smuggling charges over undeclared family jewelry and summoned her to a customs house.

"My instinct is just to ignore it," Ruth Daniloff said of the summons Wednesday.

"They're saying we have smuggled our own things into the country and now we're trying to smuggle them out again," she said. "It's all just so stupid. It may just be part of the harassment against us."

Nicholas Daniloff, correspondent for U.S. News & World Report, has been held without formal charges in east Moscow's Lefortovo Prison since Saturday.

U.N. soldiers killed

BEIRUT, Lebanon — A roadside bomb exploded in south Lebanon today, killing three French soldiers serving with the United Nations peacekeeping force and slightly wounding one other, a U.N. spokesman said.

Nine previous attacks on the U.N. Interim Force in Lebanon since Aug. 11 killed an Irish lieutenant and injured two Irishmen and 20 Frenchmen.

Spokesman Timur Goksel said two of the Frenchmen died instantly in the 7:30 a.m. explosion near the village of Jwaya, eight miles east of the port city of Tyre. The third died as he was undergoing surgery at a field hospital in the border town of Naqoura, the spokesman said.

Soviet ship released

MANAMA, Bahrain — Iran today released the Soviet freighter which it had stopped in the Persian Gulf and forced to port in a search for material aiding Iraq's war effort, shipping executives said.

A second Soviet freighter, the Tutov, on Wednesday was allowed to continue its trip to an undisclosed Arab port in the gulf after it was detained briefly by Iranian warships, the executives said.

The Pyotr Yemstov was intercepted Tuesday and taken at gunpoint to Bandar Abbas, 120 miles east of the United Arab Emirates, where it was unloaded, said the executives, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

Jet stranded on island

MIDWAY — Passengers aboard a jumbo jet that was stranded for lack of a fire extinguisher after an emergency landing on this remote Pacific island swam in the ocean, took pictures and bought souvenirs as they waited for an airlift.

The Northwest Airlines jetliner carrying 338 people from Tokyo to Honolulu on Wednesday landed on the 2-square-mile island operated by the U.S. Navy after a cockpit warning light erroneously indicated a fire in the cargo hold.

Pakistan regime put to the test

The United States, you might assume, supports and promotes democracy around the world. But in reality, some countries get more pressure than others.

Take Pakistan, for instance. There, the United States supports the heavy-handed military regime of Gen. Mohammad Zia ul-Haq and his handpicked prime minister, Khan Junejo. The U.S. government views Pakistan as strategically important — enough so that the country is to get $600 million in American military and economic aid this year.

Pakistan is next to Soviet-occupied Afghanistan and allows millions of Afghan refugees to take shelter along its border. Perhaps that helps explain why Washington seems so silent in the face of Pakistan's latest bout of political repression.

Zia has been promising a gradual return to democracy and, in fact, lifted martial law last year. But Benazir Bhutto, the charismatic woman who's trying to galvanize the political opposition and force the regime to hold elections, has tested the regime's true intentions.

Zia and Junejo responded by jailing her and hundreds of other government opponents. That doesn't augur well for restoring democracy in the immediate future.

Bhutto is the daughter of former Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto, Pakistan's first freely elected prime minister. Zia overthrew him in 1977, and Bhutto was hanged two years later.

Now, his daughter has returned to Pakistan to lead his followers.

U.S. officials probably fear that if Benazir Bhutto comes to power in Pakistan, she'll reduce ties with the American military. But she's not the only opposition leader, and the repression of internal dissent is likely to cause more mischief in the long run.

The U.S. government should condition its foreign aid on a promise that Zia will schedule elections soon.

Cartoon considered narrow-minded

To the editor:

The editorial statement made in the cartoon on the opinion page of the Aug. 28th edition of the Herald was as narrow-minded and uninformed as the individual depicted in the cartoon.

The illustration involved a fat woman with a Bible under her arm dragging her innocent-looking child down the front steps of a public school. The caption read, "As far as I'm concerned, these people who teach evolution can go take a leap off the edge of the earth."

As a Christian who strongly believes that the Bible is without doubt the inerrant, infallible Word of God, I do not want my children taught evolution in school.

I am not from the Middle Ages, nor am I an uninformed moralist with head stuck in the sand. Instead, I believe the teachings of many public schools, especially where evolution and prayer is involved, are out of touch with reality. In actuality, the final reality is a living and personal God, who is the Lord Jesus Christ.

This cartoon depicted parents who have an eternal and divine concern for their children as being stupid and "behind the times". On the contrary, the Word of God admonishes parents to "bring them (children) up in the training and instruction of the Lord." (Eph. 6:4).

Whether those who choose to teach and believe evolution want to believe it or not, the Bible states that every knee shall bow and every tongue shall confess that Jesus Christ is Lord. How can anyone go wrong in centering a child's learning on that?

New leaders committed to peace along border

By JACK ANDERSON

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti — Peace has been promised along the Western Hemisphere's most turbulent border. This is the boundary that separates Haiti and the Dominican Republic — a dividing line that has spawned invasions, incursions and massacres, a violent frontier that introduced the word "genocide" into the language.

Both countries have just installed new heads of state — Lt. Gen. Henri Namphy in Haiti and President Joaquin Balaguer in the Dominican Republic. They could go down in history and set an example to the world, I suggested, if they would bury the past and bring peace to their border. Both leaders agreed to cooperate with each other.

It will take some tall statesmanship to stop the bloodshed that has soaked this boundary for centuries. For it divides two disparate nations that occupy the same piece of geography — the doorstep to America that Columbus discovered in 1492.

Not long after Columbus planted the Spanish flag and named the island Hispaniola, the violence began. First the Spanish and Indians clashed, then the Spanish and French, then black slaves and their French masters. Freebooting pirates contributed to the bloodshed.

A revolt of the slaves established the world's first black republic in 1804. Adopting the language of the French who enslaved them, the blacks settled Haiti. Forty years later, the descendants of the Spanish conquistadors, their bloodlines thick with Indian and black mixtures, formed the Dominican Republic.

Catastrophe and war and death continued to haunt the border. The worst recorded event occurred in 1937-38. Dominican Republic dictator Rafael Trujillo ordered the killing of all Haitians who had crossed into his country to work.

To separate Haitian from Dominican blacks, they were asked to pronounce the Spanish word "perejil" (parsley). If they pronounced it with an accent, they were assumed to be Haitians and were shot on the spot. No count was kept of the number who were slaughtered, but the estimates ran as high as 30,000. From this horror came the word "genocide."

There have been at least 20 skirmishes between Haiti and the Dominican Republic. No other border has been watched more intently by the Organization of American States, which has intervened repeatedly to stop the fighting. Yet shootings still occur.

Namphy, the Haitian strongman, said he would do his best to reduce tensions between Haiti and its neighbor. The people who live along the border, he said, have already learned to get along. They crisscross the border freely, and on both sides, Dominican and Haitian children often sit together in the same schoolrooms, he said. The governments, he suggested, should learn from the children.

When I asked Namphy whether he would work for better relations with the Dominican Republic, he caught his breath. But he hesitated no more than a second, then he smiled. "We are neighbors," he said. "We want to be at peace with our neighbor."

On the Dominican side, Balaguer was even more responsive. "I would be willing to enter into an agreement for mutual cooperation," he said. "The two countries should work jointly to normalize the border. This must be done for the sake of peace and harmony."

Specifically, Balaguer offered to begin by lowering trade barriers. Goods are already smuggled back and forth across the border. So why not legalize it, he asked. "Only the smugglers now profit," he said.

Balaguer is also willing to share water with Haiti, to oppose any exploitation of Haitian labor and to stop discrimination against Haitians in his country.

I hope these two rulers, both of them honorable men, will display the imagination and boldness, the surging hope born of idealism, the toughness and courage to act on their better impulses.

PRESIDENTIAL GARAGE: I visited with President Joaquin Balaguer in his home, which turned out to be a remodeled garage. He gave up the house to his elderly sisters and moved into more modest quarters in the garage. His living space is cozy but small. For he has converted half the garage into a library — probably one of the finest private libraries in the Caribbean.

DRUG STORY: Haiti's Henri Namphy and the Dominican Republic's Joaquin Balaguer, in response to my questions, said they were cracking down on smugglers who are trying to sneak drugs into the United States. "Every time a new drug smuggling method is identified," Namphy said, "we crack down. But the smugglers always find a new method."

The only way to stop the drug traffic, he suggested, is to persuade the people to stop using drugs. Meanwhile, drug usage supports organized crime, whose leaders pay off government officials out of the illicit profits, thus undermining the democratic system.

U.S. trend: oilmen poor, realtors rich

A report of the Joint Economic Committee of Congress indicates that the concentration of wealth in this country is falling into the hands of fewer and fewer people. The conclusion is that the rich are getting richer and the poor are getting poorer.

I don't know why this should come as such a big surprise to anybody. A recent survey I took shows most of the wealth in the U.S.A. is now in the hands of real estate tycoons, and for the last few years, poverty has spread to Texas and Oklahoma oil men. It is this disparity in earnings between real estate and oil that is leading to class warfare in the country.

A crude-oil wildcatter, who was living in the Dallas Greyhound Bus Terminal, told me, "It's not right that the real estate people should have it all, and the rest of us be on our knees. If you don't spread the wealth around, the oil people at the bottom of the pile are going to rise up and take their share by force."

"But didn't you oil fellows have all the money a short time ago?"

"We had some, but that was only because oil was selling for $32 a barrel. At those prices we could afford to buy whatever was for sale. But when the oil plunged to $11 a barrel they took away our Mastercards."

"So from being rich you became poor overnight."

"What else? Don't let anyone tell you the rich always get richer. In the oil business the rich get poorer. There's nothing as sad in this world as yesterday's millionaire."

"And to think that at one time you had it all."

"I don't know if I had it all, but I had whatever was out there. We were such good customers at Neiman Marcus that when my wife told them she couldn't afford to shop there any more, they retired her Adolfo jersey so that no one could ever wear it again."

"I said, 'But one thing nice about being a poor oil man is that overnight you could become rich again.'"

"Not with those OPEC bums glutting the market. Every time one of them lowers the price, another American oil producer goes on food stamps."

I decided to seek out a real estate mogul who is getting richer. I found him looking out of his new tower office building which took up 20 acres of Central Park (he had gotten a variance from the zoning board).

"Is it true that people of your ilk are up to your eyeballs in hard cash?"

"We make a living."

"The oil people say you're filthy rich."

"What would you expect them to say? They're all poor."

"They were once rich. They say it's an outrage that people like you are gobbling up the wealth in the country."

"Do you believe it's good for society that millionaires like yourself have three houses, a yacht and an airplane, while Texas oil men are capping their wells?"

"I don't know why real estate people should have to do without the necessities just because oil men don't know how the system works. Maybe we're rich, but did anyone ever ask how we got that way?"

"How did you get that way?"

"We did it the old-fashioned way — by using other people's money."

Bride-to-be can't choose maid of honor

DEAR ABBY: I recently became engaged and am now in the process of planning my wedding. After my official engagement, I hinted very strongly to my best friend that she would be my maid of honor. My mother heard about it and said that my sister, who is close to me in age, would be very hurt if she were not asked to be my maid of honor. I am very close to both girls; however, I did not consider asking my sister because I thought it was customary for the bride's unrelated best friend to be the maid of honor. I think both of them are expecting to be asked.

I want to avoid hurting any feelings. What should I do?

UNDECIDED BRIDE
DEAR UNDECIDED: Choose your sister. Friends come and go, but sisters are forever.

DEAR ABBY: In reference to "Unexpressive Mother," who offered to pay you well to compose a beautiful two-page letter for her to send to her 17-year-old daughter, telling her how much she loved her and how proud she was of her: You were correct when you told her, "A single sentence straight from the heart will be far more meaningful than two pages filled with fancy phrases from a stranger."

My father was never one to write letters. In fact, I had never seen a letter that he had written until I was in college and received an award for some special achievement. Much to my surprise, I received the following letter from my father.

Dear Son,
I am proud of you. Keep up the good work. — Dad.

Abby, I still have that letter. It wasn't two pages long, and it wasn't written by Shakespeare, but it meant the world to me. I still keep it in my desk drawer, and if I ever become discouraged, I take it out and read it.

So, as the old saying goes, it's not the quantity but the quality that counts.

KEVIN M. PADILLA,
ALBUQUERQUE, N.M.

DEAR ABBY: This is in regard to the letter from "Unexpressive Mother": One recent holiday season I was feeling very depressed and had that "nobody loves me" feeling. I live 2,800 miles from my family and was not looking forward to another Christmas alone. While opening Christmas greetings, I found a note from my mother. Simply written were these words:

I love you — Mom.
I tell you, this brought tears to my eyes. You see, my mother never learned to read or write English, except to sign her name. So, "Unexpressive Mother," write your own letter. It will be something your daughter will always treasure.

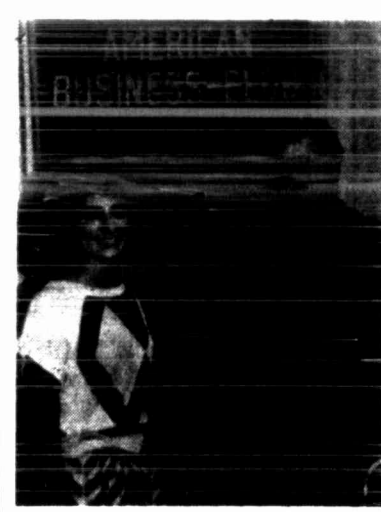

REBECCA IN LAS VEGAS

DEAR ABBY: I don't know the title of the booklet my son sent away for when he was 19, but he is 27 now, and I remember that he and his friends wore it out passing it around. It had some very good tips for people of all ages on how to make interesting conversation and be popular. My teen-age daughter wants one as she has heard how useful it was. Please list the titles of your booklets and how to get them. The one I saw was not only great, but it was priced so that almost anyone could afford it. Thank you.

PAT MILLER, FORT WORTH
DEAR PAT: I have four: "How to Be Popular: You're Never Too Young or Too Old," "What Every Teen-ager Ought to Know," "How to Have a Lovely Wedding" and "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Each one is $2.50 (check or money order) and can be obtained by sending a long, self-addressed, stamped (39 cents) envelope with your check to: Dear Abby, (Book Title), P.O. Box 38923, Hollywood, Calif. 90038.

Entry forms available for county pageant

Now is the time for young women in the Howard County area to enter the Miss Howard County pageant.

Eligibility requirements to enter the pageant are: a young woman must be between the ages of 17 and 26 on the Labor Day holiday 1987, must be a high school graduate by Labor Day and must never have been married.

"Talent will be considered in the judging and each contestant should possess some quality of talent, either trained or potential," Linda Woodley, pageant director, said.

"Any potential entrant may also have a talent unrealized. A young woman might be a delightful singer, without ever having exhibited her singing ability before an audience."

Judging of the candidates will be based on the same values considered at the Miss Texas Pageant and at the national Miss America Pageant.

Personality, poise and talent are the major requirements. Each contestant will be judged in a private interview, in an evening gown, in a swimsuit and in the presentation of her talent.

The pageant will be Saturday, Nov. 1 at 7 p.m. at the Howard College auditorium.

Entry forms may be obtained at Howard College in the student life office. All entries must be turned in by Oct. 1.

Stapedectomy is a rewarding step

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am a 12-year-old woman with very little hearing in my right ear. I have been advised that this is otosclerosis. The doctor suggested having stapedectomy. Is this a common and successful procedure? Please explain. More than 10 years ago I had a successful cornea transplant in my right eye (treatment for keratoconus). — G.S.

Stapedectomy, like your earlier corneal transplant, is one of the most gratifying remedies the doctor can provide for a patient. To restore or preserve a vital sense is thrilling for both patient and doctor.

I should not leave the impression that all deafness is curable with the surgery your doctor is suggesting. Otosclerosis is not the most common cause of hearing loss. But it is sufficiently common that all should be aware of it, and this surgery for it.

When sound waves strike the ear drum, they're transmitted through the middle ear to the hearing nerve by a chain of three small bones. In otosclerosis, that chain of bones becomes rigid and no longer transmits waves. You do not hear in that ear.

Stapedectomy gets its name from the stapes (STAY-pees), the bone of the three most often affected. In the surgery, flexibility is restored to the stapes. Sometimes artificial parts are used. The operation is commonly successful. It's a step you should seriously consider if your doctor feels you are a good candidate.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Does smoking through life advance the time of a woman's change of life? — Mrs. L.L.

Some have said that smoking may advance the time of a woman's menopause by as much as five years. It's one reason we say that smoking increases the woman's odds of developing osteoporosis. Why so? Because estrogen production is thought to protect bones against the thinning of osteoporosis. The earlier menopause thus might deprive the woman of this hormone supply five years earlier than normal. I've discussed the other menopause-related subjects of your letter (edited), so I'll refer you to the enclosed booklet, "Make Menopause Easier." Other readers may order by writing me in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have been experiencing body soreness, which my doctor is investigating for possible Weber-Christian disease. I don't have arthritis. I am a 28-year-old woman. The doctor was suspicious of little lumps under my skin, which he learned was fat, no cancer. Please touch on Weber-Christian disease soon. — Mrs. N.A.J.

Weber-Christian disease is an illness chiefly of young white women. Nodules form under the skin (they consist of fat) and temperature rises along with aching in muscles and joints.

The fat nodules are inflamed from no traceable cause. Sometimes Weber-Christian disease is associated with certain pancreas problems. Steroids are sometimes used in controlling the inflammation. If you have other specific questions, write back.

FOR MRS. G.N. — Many jewelry items contain nickel. Perspiration may corrode the metal and the nickel will be released. That is what causes the rash. Some people have suggested coating the metal with a clear nail polish. That is an answer for some who have the contact allergy. Many people are allergic to nickel.

Emphysema can be controlled. To learn how to live with this serious lung problem, write to Dr. Donohue for a copy of his new booklet, "Emphysema-Bronchitis: The Twin Problems," P.O. Box 11210, Chicago, IL 60611, send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and $1.00. Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Education report faults grammar schools in science, art, history

Education Secretary William Bennett, along with the class of a local Washington grammar school, Amidon Elementary, get the full attention of the news media Tuesday as Bennett with the young students.

BY LEE MITGANG
AP Education Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Elementary education in the United States is "in pretty good shape," concludes a much-awaited report by Education Secretary William J. Bennett.

Pretty good, except that children typically leave grade school preferring "Charlie's Angels" to "Charlotte's Web."

But somewhere around fourth grade, about the time when youngsters should be moving beyond basic reading and computation skills to critical thinking, many children begin to falter. The seeds of boredom and failure are sown.

The explanation for this may lie between the lines of this report: many grade schools are sending children the message that learning is as flat, gray and boring as a chalkboard.

Elementary schools, the report says, have taken the "story" out of history, the joy of discovery out of science. Art and music have been trivialized. Geography has been so neglected that children literally don't know where in the world they are.

"Many of today's schools make paper turkeys at Thanksgiving and do reports on Columbus," it says. "But an elementary history curriculum in the late 20th century should consist of more than commemoration; it should develop rigorous knowledge based in a basic skills. It points to test scores that on the surface show students age 9-13 reading better than their peers in the early 1970s.

And it cites several grade schools that capture the attention and imagination of their young charges.

But somewhere around fourth grade, about the time when youngsters should be moving beyond basic reading and computation skills to critical thinking, many children begin to falter. The seeds of boredom and failure are sown.

The explanation for this may lie between the lines of this report: many grade schools are sending children the message that learning is as flat, gray and boring as a chalkboard.

Elementary schools, the report says, have taken the "story" out of history, the joy of discovery out of science. Art and music have been trivialized. Geography has been so neglected that children literally don't know where in the world they are.

"Many of today's schools make paper turkeys at Thanksgiving and do reports on Columbus," it says. "But an elementary history curriculum in the late 20th century should consist of more than commemoration; it should develop rigorous knowledge based in a celebration of our own heritage.

"All year long," it continues, "children should experience legends such as Paul Bunyan and Johnny Appleseed, should hear true stories of Revolutionary era heroes like Benjamin Banneker and Nathan Hale, should learn how women like Harriet Beecher Stowe and Emily Dickinson shaped the sensibilities of our young republic. Having acquired a clear sense of our own national traditions, students will possess the knowledge with which to compare our progress as a nation with that of other societies."

Grade schools too often neglect the teaching of American civics, Bennett's report says. By the time they reach high school, children should know a good deal about the Constitution and the Magna Carta. They should have some idea what the American economic and political system is about.

But perhaps nowhere have elementary schools failed so badly as in the teaching of science.

"There is probably no other subject whose teaching is so at odds with its true nature," says the report.

Instead of a "hands-on adventure guided by a knowledgeable teacher," the report says elementary science is typically frog guts, periodic tables, and the study of arcane material gleaned from textbooks.

The report cites this damning statistic: fourth graders get an average of 28 minutes a day devoted to science, if they're lucky.

How can we expect grade schools to suddenly squeeze genuine history, art, science and civics into an already crammed school day?

Spend the day more profitably, for starters.

According to one study cited by Bennett, American fifth graders spend an average of 64.5 percent of their school time on academic activities. By contrast, Chinese youngsters spent 91.5 percent of their school day on academics, while Japanese spent 87.4 percent.

Bennett has other suggestions. Give more homework, free teachers from paperwork so they can spend more time instructing, and consider a longer school year.

Quite a few flaws, then, in these schools that are "in pretty good shape."

New stamps to be issued soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service says the designs on new stamps it will issue in the next several months will range from a portrait of philanthropist John Harvard to a design with the greeting, "Love You, Mother!"

The service said Tuesday that for this year's Christmas stamps, pictured will be a snowy winter village scene and the "Perugini Madonna."

Each will be regular 22-cent, small stamps. They will be issued officially on Oct. 24 and be available nationwide the next day.

The contemporary Christmas drawing, designed by Dolli Tingle of Westport, Conn., will be issued at Snow Hill, Md., the artist's ancestral home.

The Madonna and Christ child design was taken from an oil-on-wood painting that hangs in the National Gallery in Washington, where the issuing ceremony will be held.

The original was painted by

Pietro Di Christoforo Di Vannucci, who, born near Perugia, Italy, was better known as "Il Perugino."

Today, at a Cambridge, Mass., ceremony on the campus of the university he endowed and which bears his name, the Postal Service issues a 56-cent stamp bearing a portrait of 17th century American colonist and philanthropist John Harvard. That stamp will pay for 3 ounces of first-class mail.

"Love You, Mother!" is the legend that appears on a 22-cent stamp to be issued next year as part of a booklet of 20 "Special Occasions" stamps.

There will be eight different designs, including special stamp for fathers, birthdays and general greetings, such as "Congratulations" and "Thank You."

Navajo blanket designs will be featured on a block of four stamps being issued Thursday at the Navajo Nation Fair in Window Rock, Ariz.

The blankets pictured on the stamps hang in the Museum of the American Indian in New York City and the Lowe Art Museum in Coral Gables, Fla.

A 3-cent stamp honoring cardiologist Dr. Paul Dudley White will be issued Sept. 15 in Washington during the Tenth World Congress of Cardiology.

White was born in Roxbury, Mass., in 1886. He embarked on a lifelong study of the heart and circulatory system following the death of his sister from rheumatic fever.

White is recognized as "The Father of American Cardiology," and the Washington conference is dedicated to his honor.

He gained public prominence in 1955, following President Eisenhower's collapse from a heart attack when White became spokesman for the medical team treating the president and used the opportunity to educate the nation on the risks of heart disease.

Suspect held in slaying of couple

RALEIGH — A 44-year old man has been arrested on charges of capital murder in connection with the slaying of a couple in this small community about 15 miles west of Corsicana.

Ernest Orville Baldree, 44, was arrested at an Arlington motel Wednesday by Navarro County Sheriff's Department deputies working with Arlington police, authorities said.

He was arraigned before an Arlington magistrate on the two capital murder warrants issued Aug. 28 after the bodies of Homer Howard, 68, and Nancy Howard, 53, were found on their property in Raleigh.

Sheriff Jim Hodge said Baldree will be transferred to Navarro County Jail in Corsicana, some 80 miles southeast from Arlington.

"I knew we'd get him," said Bryan Dunagan, the sheriff's chief deputy, who has been devoting most of his time assisting other investigators in the case.

Authorities learned Tuesday that Baldree was in Arlington, said Lt. Michael Heidingsfield, commander of the police special investigations division in the Dallas-Fort Worth area suburb.

Motorist wore only cowboy boots

COTULLA — Authorities in this South Texas city say a motorist injured in a one-car rollover was wearing only his cowboy boots.

The 62-year-old man suffered a broken leg on Wednesday after his late-model car overturned about two miles south of Cotulla on Interstate 35, state troopers said.

"His explanation was that he was on his way to take a shower. So, I asked him where he planned to find water, and he told me that he figured he would just come up on some," Earl Heath, Texas Department of Public Safety trooper, told the Laredo News.

DPS officers and LaSalle County

Sheriff's deputies, who arrived at the accident site shortly before 8 a.m., found the man "in a good state of coherence" sitting in his car that had rolled onto the median.

The man was driving northbound on the interstate when he lost control of his car and it flipped completely over, landing upright in the median, officers said.

Heath said the motorist gave no permanent address, basing claim on a statement that he was a "world traveler." His car bore Canadian plates, but he may have been living in Guadalajara, Mexico, authorities said.

Four enter first AIDS hospital

HOUSTON — Four patients have checked into the nation's first AIDS hospital by its second day of operation, hospital spokesmen said.

"All four are fairly ill," said Lynne Walters, a spokeswoman for the Institute for Immunological Disorders which opened Tuesday.

The first patient was admitted late Tuesday afternoon and was in fair condition, she said. Ms. Walters declined to give any further information on the four patients.

About 30 patients were seen at the institute's outpatient clinic during its first two days of operations, she said.

"Things are beginning to flow smoothly," Ms. Walters said. "Everybody is more relaxed. We're beginning to get a handle on all this."

Propositions for Nov. 4 ballot listed

AUSTIN (AP) — The proposed constitutional amendment that would legalize branch banking will be the final proposition listed on the Nov. 4 general election ballot, Secretary of State Myra McDaniel announced Wednesday.

The branch banking proposal was approved by lawmakers during the current special session. Three other proposed changes in the Texas Constitution were approved during the regular 1985 session.

Here are the four proposed amendments, in the order they will appear on the ballot:

— Allowing lawmakers to provide for the apportionment of the value of railroad rolling stock among counties for property tax purposes.

— Requiring the House and Senate to pass a rule mandating that each bill carry a title expressing the legislation's subject.

— Allowing political subdivisions to transact business with authorized mutual insurance companies.

— Allowing branch banking.

Hunting leases could help farmers

By MICHAEL HOLMES

Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — State agriculture and wildlife officials say a new program to match farmers with available land and sportsmen who need places to hunt could mean the difference between profit and loss for some hard-pressed farmers.

The lease-matching clearing house is a joint effort of the Texas Department of Agriculture and the state Parks and Wildlife Department.

"If we save just one farm by this program that otherwise would have gone back to a creditor, then the whole thing would have been worthwhile. I think we're going to help a lot of farmers," Bob Armstrong, parks and wildlife commissioner, said Tuesday.

"This is an economic boost that allows farmers to put a little money in their pockets and in their communities and begin to make a difference in whether the family farm system survives or not," Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower said.

Under the new program, both departments are collecting information from farmers and ranchers who are interested in leasing their lands for hunting.

That information will be matched with requests to the Parks and Wildlife Department from hunters looking for available land. Neither department will be involved with the financial negotiations.

Hightower said more than 3.4 million acres have been listed with the clearinghouse program already.

Landowners are providing names, addresses, phone numbers, the number of acres available, proximity to airports, availability of recreational vehicle hookups and other information needed by prospective hunters, Hightower said.

Armstrong said hunters could begin contacting the Parks and Wildlife Department on Oct. 1.

By The Associated Press
MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Artist ROY TAMBOLI has received a commission to create a life-size bronze statue of former sprinter WILMA RUDOLPH, the first American woman to win three Olympic gold medals.

Miss Rudolph, 46, a Clarksville native who overcame polio, won her medals at the 1960 Olympics in Rome.

The statue was commissioned by First Tennessee, a bank holding company that plans to place it in a gallery at its corporate headquarters here.

*** LOS ANGELES — Actress RUTA LEE has persuaded Soviet officials to allow a relative to emigrate, her spokesman said.

Miss Lee received permission last week for an adopted niece, MARYTE KOSHETA, to come to America after she turns 18 in February, said spokesman Dale Olson. The girl's alcoholic mother is unable to care for her, he said.

Miss Lee, however, was unable to obtain permission for another niece and a nephew, whose parents have been jailed in the Soviet republic of Lithuania, to leave, Olson said.

The actress left Aug. 15 for the Lithuanian capital of Vilnius in an attempt to bring back the three teen-agers after being informed about the arrests. The government reportedly has confiscated their home.

Artist Roy Tamboli ... to create bronze statue

The family is pooling its resources to buy back the house so the family will have somewhere to stay when the parents are released, said Olson.

The publicist said Miss Lee called him from London as she was about to board a ship for New York, telling him she hadn't been able to place a call to the United States from her hotel in Vilnius.

Senate approves bill to lower 'vanity' license fee

AUSTIN (AP) — The Senate has approved a bill that would push back next August's state pay day to Sept. 1, saving $291.1 million this fiscal year, which ends Aug. 31.

Senators on Tuesday also approved, and returned to the House with amendments, a proposal to reduce from $75 to $40 the fee for personalized license plates, effective Jan. 1.

The Legislative Budget Board said "it is anticipated that demand for personalized plates will increase by an amount that will result in an actual gain in the total revenue generated by the fee" but the "amount of gain cannot be accurately determined."

The bill changing the pay day for state employees to the first "working day" of the month, rather than the last working day of the previous month, would cut out one pay period during the current fiscal year. This would result in a one-time savings from general revenue of $197.1 million and of $94 million from special funds.

Also, by leaving the money in the state treasury longer, the state would make $1 million in additional interest this year.

A Senate amendment provides that, "If the first working day of the month following the payroll period falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or state holiday, the treasurer shall pay the salary on the last working day of the payroll period."

The amendment would require another House vote on the bill, which cleared that chamber earlier.

"Two bills passed by the Senate and sent to the governor would eliminate a requirement that the state pay interest when refunding taxes paid in error and would appropriate $2.5 million from the crime compensation fund — not general revenue — to pay claims against the state and the Texas School for the Deaf.

Repealing the interest requirement would save the state $1.12 million this fiscal year.

Nebraska game in doubt

NCAA suspends 53 Cornhuskers for a game

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Nebraska football coach Tom Osborne today said his team may forfeit its opener against Florida State because the NCAA suspended 53 Cornhuskers' players for one game and seven other players for two games.

"We may have to bite the bullet and forfeit one game and hold everybody out," Osborne said at a breakfast.

The suspensions stem mostly from the misuse of complimentary tickets and involve about 30 of Nebraska's top 40 players, Osborne said.

The eighth-ranked Cornhuskers are scheduled to play No. 11

Florida State on ABC-TV Saturday night.

"It wouldn't be a game. It'd be a joke and an embarrassment to college football," Osborne said. "We have no quarterback, no I-back ...

"In order to field a team Saturday, we'd have to un-redshirt about 10 guys and play freshmen that are in no way prepared to play Florida State and face humiliation on national TV. So what do we do? I don't know."

Osborne said the school would seek a stay from the NCAA to give Nebraska officials time to prepare an appeal.

"We're going to try to get a hold put on things until Monday because of the short notice," Osborne said.

He said the university has considered seeking a district court injunction.

"I think we'd have a fair chance there," he said.

Osborne announced the penalties after practice Wednesday. He said most of the suspended players gave tickets to people not authorized to use them.

Family members and students are the only people allowed to use players' passes, according to National Collegiate Athletic Association rules.

Fiancées, girlfriends and friends were identified on pass lists as being family members and students, said Tom Simons, Nebraska associate sports information director.

Each player receives four complimentary tickets per game. About 20 percent of the passes weren't used last year, Osborne said.

"Everybody likes to have somebody up there in the stands who cares about them. In a lot of cases the players said these people (receiving passes) were closer to them than blood relatives," Osborne said Wednesday.

Crowd favorite loses at Open

NEW YORK (AP) — Tim Wilkison's dream is over, and with it went America's chances for keeping its men's tennis championship at home.

Either a Swede, a Czechoslovak or a German will wear the U.S. Open singles crown on Sunday. The unseeded Wilkison, the last American remaining in the tournament, was routed by No. 4 Stefan Edberg of Sweden 6-3, 6-3, 6-3 Wednesday night.

"I know how much fun it is to do well and what is available for you," Wilkison said. "And I don't want to be the kind of guy who did well and then is never heard of again."

Edberg plays top-seeded Ivan Lendl of Czechoslovakia in a semifinal match on Saturday. Lendl beat No. 8 Henri Leconte of France 7-6, 6-1, 1-6, 6-1 Wednesday.

In women's play, Chris Evert Lloyd, seeking her seventh Open title, moved into the semifinals for a record 16th straight year by romping past No. 9 Manuela Maleeva of Bulgaria. She'll play No. 7 Helena Sukova of Czechoslovakia, who downed Wendy Turnbull of Australia 6-4, 6-0, in one of Friday's semifinals while top-seeded Martina Navratilova will meet No. 3 Steffi Graf in the other.

Today's men's quarterfinals had No. 7 Joakim Nystrom of Sweden against No. 16 Miloslav Mecir of Czechoslovakia, and Boris Becker, the two-time Wimbledon champion from West Germany who is seeded third, against unseeded Milan Srejber, also of Czechoslovakia.

Wilkison took the tournament spotlight with his attacking style, celebratory manner and unorthodox baseball cap planted atop his head. The 27-year-old left-hander from Asheville, N.C., upset No. 5 Yannick Noah in a sensational five-setter earlier in the tournament, then swept Andrei Chesnokov of the Soviet Union in the fourth round.

With American stars John McEnroe and Jimmy Connors eliminated early, Wilkison became the fans' hero, their hope against the powerful Europeans.

But Edberg, seeking his second Grand Slam championship — he won the 1985 Australian Open — took care of that in devastating fashion. He simply never let Wilkison get going, keeping the crowd out of the match as well.

"I felt I sort of let the people down," Wilkison said. "They came to see me win. At the end, when they left, it was quiet and cold and wet."

Steers face tough opener Friday

By STEVE BELVIN
Sports Editor

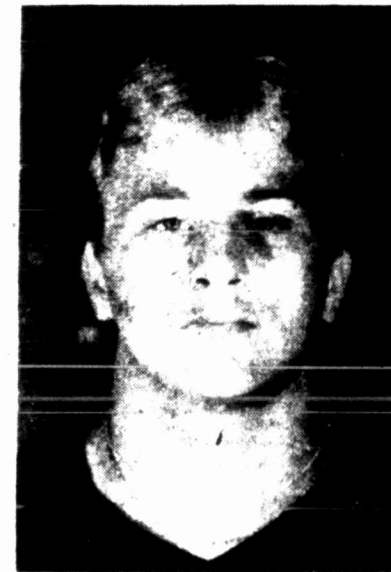

The Big Spring Steers will kick off their 1986 football season with a very formidable opponent in the El Paso Riverside Rangers.

It is the first of a grueling four-week span in which coach Quinn Eudy's Steers will play four teams that competed in the '85 state playoffs. The Rangers, coached by Lou James, were runner-up in District 2-5A with a 7-4 record.

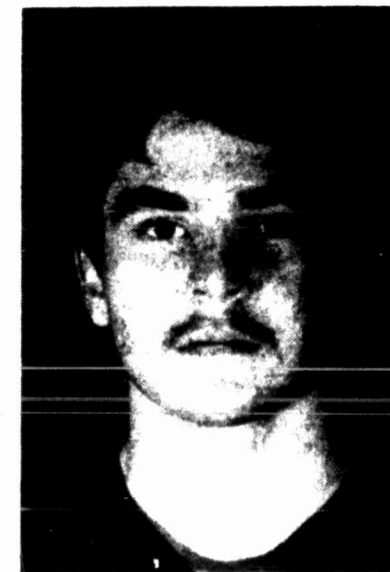

Things won't get any easier for the Steers the next three weeks. Lubbock Estacado, a class 4-A quarter-finalist last season, comes to town next Friday. The following week the Steers begin district play with 2-4A runner-up San Angelo Lake View, followed by defending state champion Sweetwater.

"No, we didn't try to set up the schedule where we would be playing four playoff teams in-a-row," laughed Eudy. "It just worked out that way. At the time schedules were being made, we didn't know if we would be in 4-A or 5-A, so we had to schedule whoever we could get."

But the Big Spring mentor likes the idea of playing such high-caliber teams. "I think it's an advantage to play two playoff teams in non-district. It helps prepare you better for district play."

The Riverside Rangers will field a team that has 20 lettermen, including six offensive and five defensive starters. According to Riverside offensive coordinator Tom Work, the Rangers have the highest respect for Big Spring.

"To be truthful, we think this might one of our toughest games of the year. Offensively, Big Spring seems to have some fast running backs that can break the big play. Defensively, they have two quick

Forsan experience should be the difference

By EDDIE CURRAN
Staff Writer

The Forsan Buffaloes are climbing the ladder to Class AA football this year, but they'll face old Class A foe Roscoe before testing AA waters.

Before last year, when Forsan whipped Roscoe 23-8 for the district title, the Buffaloes had never beaten Roscoe. With Forsan returning a powerful squad and Roscoe rebuilding, last year's game may have started a trend. Even Roscoe coach Troy Kennedy admits "the tide has turned."

Forsan Coach Jan East said he expects Roscoe to run a split six defense, with only four down linemen and two linebackers.

Though the split six seems suited for defending the pass, East said Forsan will come out throwing the ball against Roscoe, for five good reasons.

Reason number one is junior quarterback Brant Nichols, who guided the Buffaloes to eleven wins last year. East said Nichols has been throwing the ball well during August practices and scrimmages.

The other four reasons are receivers Lee Morris and Randy Bryan, wingback Lance Soles, and halfback Wayne Wright.

Morris and Bryan line up at 6'5 and 6'3 respectively, and provide Nichols with big targets. Soles played tight end last year, so he's a veteran pass catcher. Wright, who ran for over 1,200 yards last year, will keep the defense honest, and will also be used as a receiver.

Still, East said he expects his defense to be the team's strength. Last year, Forsan shut-out seven teams. In two scrimmages against Sterling and Odonnell in August, the defense allowed just one touchdown.

"From what we've seen of 'em, they'll run a split backfield and run the veer out of it. They'll run a pro set and try to spread us out," East said about the Roscoe offense.

With eight returning starters on offense and seven of defense from last year's district champ squad, East sounded confident about his team's chances on Friday.

"We have more kids since I've been here in seven years — we have more depth for a change. And we need to come out and have a good first four or five games to give us a push," he said.

Coach Kennedy has many worries about tomorrow's game. Primarily, he's worried about his team, which is young, and his lack of quality practice time this week.

"We've worked out in the gym every day but Monday (because of the rains), and even then the field was soggy. The gym certainly confines your workouts — you can only work on short passes and running through plays. We don't tackle, and it limits our blocking practice," he

Astros pad lead with Cub sweep

By JOHN NELSON
AP Baseball Writer

The Houston Astros may have turned the final corner in their division race, while the New York Mets have moved into the homestretch of a runaway.

With a pair of victories over the Chicago Cubs Wednesday, including the 18-inning conclusion of a suspended game from the day before, the Astros took an eight-game lead over Cincinnati in the National League West.

The Mets, meanwhile, reduced their magic number to 10 over Philadelphia with a 4-2 victory over the San Francisco Giants while the Phillies were losing 7-5 to the San Diego Padres. Bob Ojeda's three-hitter, matching a career best, helped the Mets take a 20-game lead over the Phillies in the NL East.

Astros 3, Cubs 7
Astros 3, Cubs 2

Mike Scott won his 15th game of the season, striking out 12 and allowing three hits in seven innings as the Astros won the regularly scheduled game. Scott leads the majors with 253 strikeouts.

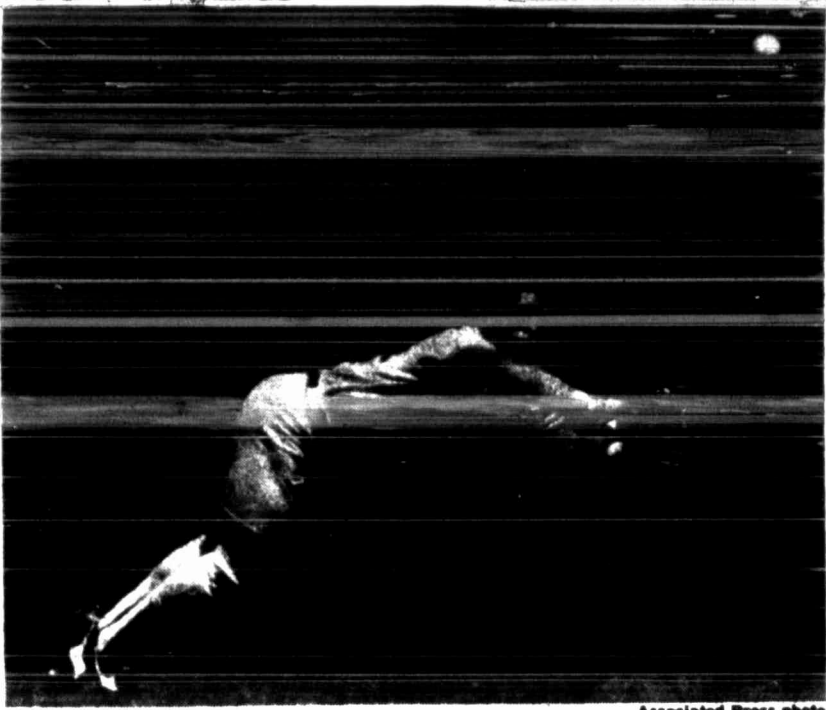

The first game was resumed in the top of the 15th inning. The two teams played 14 innings before the game was suspended Tuesday because of darkness with the score tied 4-4.

Pirates 5, Reds 3

Sid Bream hit a two-out, two-run double in the 10th inning to boost the Pirates over the Reds. With John Franco pitching, Johnny Ray singled and one out later was forced at second on a grounder by R.J. Reynolds. After Tony Pena walked, Bream doubled to right-center field to score both runners.

Mets 4, Giants 2

Ojeda struck out seven and walked just one in his seventh complete game. He had thrown four previous three-hitters, all as a member of the Boston Red Sox. Ray Knight had two singles and drove in a run for the Mets.

New York Yankees' left fielder Rickey Henderson dives for a ball hit by Oakland A's Michael Davis during the fifth inning of the A's 5-3 win over the Yankees Wednesday in Oakland. Henderson injured his right hand on the attempt which resulted in a triple for Davis.

Padres 7, Phillies 5

San Diego scored six unearned runs with two out in the top of the ninth inning to beat Philadelphia. Terry Kennedy's double drove in the final three runs of the inning.

Mike Schmidt hit a three-run homer in the first inning, and the Phillies got their other two runs in the eighth on RBI singles by Von Hayes and Glenn Wilson. The homer was Schmidt's 30th, No. 488 of his career.

Dodgers 5, Expos 3

Bill Madlock drove in three runs with a pair of hits, and Ralph Bryant hit his second major league homer, a two-run shot, helping Los Angeles beat the Expos for the first time in six games in Montreal this season.

Cardinals 5, Braves 3

Rick Honeycutt scattered seven hits over seven innings before getting help from Ken Howell.

Terry Pendelton had four hits, including an RBI single in St. Louis' three-run first inning, and Todd Worrell earned a league-leading 31st save with 2 1-3 innings of relief work, leading the Cardinals over Atlanta.

American League

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer

In the American League East, Dave Stieb and Bob Stanley are at the 100 mark and still counting. In the American League West, the California Angels' magic number is 22 and dropping.

"It feels very good, but you try not to get caught up in it," Kirk McCaskill said Wednesday night after pitching a five-hitter that led California past Baltimore 5-2.

The victory gave the Angels a 7 1/2-game lead over second-place Texas. California now holds its biggest margin of the season and its magic number for clinching the division is down to 22.

Stieb and Stanley both won their 100th career games Wednesday night. Stieb pitched seven-hit ball for 7 2-3 innings as Toronto beat Cleveland 3-1, while Stanley won in relief as Boston took its fifth straight by defeating Texas 4-3.

Red Sox 4, Rangers 3

Wade Boggs, the leading hitter in the major leagues, went 3-for-5, including a solo home run and a game-winning, RBI double in the ninth inning at Fenway Park.

Blue Jays 3, Indians 1

Stieb allowed seven singles in 7 2-3 innings, his longest outing in nine starts since July 9, as Toronto beat visiting Cleveland.

A's 5, Yankees 3

Mike Davis' second triple of the game, a two-run shot during a four-run rally in the sixth inning, led Oakland over visiting New York.

Mariners 3, Tigers 2

Pinch-hitter Ken Phelps hit a solo homer with two outs in the bottom of the ninth inning, lifting Seattle over Detroit.

Royals 2, White Sox 1

Willie Wilson sped home from third base on rookie Kevin Seitzer's infield singles with one out in the bottom of the 10th inning, leading Kansas City over Chicago.

Twins 11, Brewers 5

Kirby Puckett and Tom Brunansky hit two-run homers off Ted Higuera and Al Woods later added a three-run shot as Minnesota pounded Milwaukee.

Steers

linebackers and a tough noseguard, and the secondary comes up to support well," he said.

The Rangers split back offense will give the Steers many different looks, especially up front where they'll run an unbalanced line. "They have about 19 different formations. I'm really impressed with their line's size and quickness," said Eudy.

Work, whose offensive line averages 210-pounds per man, says depth is his main concern. "We have some pretty good linemen, but we just don't have any depth. We have three linemen starting both ways."

The Rangers field one of the top running backs in the state in David Samaniego, a 6-1, 190-pound senior. Last season Samaniego rushed for 1,100 yards and caught passes for 500 more. "He's a good college prospect," said Work.

The Steers will be missing two defensive starters this game. Tackle Jay Burcham and linebacker Robert Sumner are recovering from broken hands. Linebacker James Weaver has been battling a "flu-bug" this week. He and wide receiver Cedrick Banks, nursing a sprained ankle, are listed as questionable for the game.

Eudy says the tempo of practices has picked up since the season opener. "You can tell the kids are ready to play. Practices have been great this week. They're ready to play someone else. They're tired of hitting each other."

Eudy expects the game to be a defensive one, and he hopes his defense can pick up where it left off in last week's scrimmage romp over Frenship. "Once we settled down against Frenship we played very good defense. We ran to the football well and used good technique."

"I really think it will be a good defensive game. With these rainy conditions, the team that wins might be the team that takes care of the ball the best. We had one interception and lost one fumble against Frenship. I hope we see more improvements on our turnovers."

So Eudy and his Steers are set for the first of what looks to be a very rough four weeks. "It's going to be a good test. Anytime you play a playoff team it's a good test," said Eudy.

He could say that the next three weeks.

Let every person read the Bible for themselves and search it's truth for themselves, and be admonished to eliminate from your religious faith and practice in religion what you cannot find in the Word of God for it is the only authority from God. And whenever any theory leads us to disregard the written Word of God, or to neglect the constant reading and examination of it, and the practice of it's plain teaching, that theory is erroneous and dangerous to your soul. It is essential for each person to read, examine and determine what is right to do and be from the Bible itself and it alone. Espouse the cause of no religious group that has doctrine or practice contrary to, more than or less than the Bible truth because it has no God-given authority, but seek only to maintain the doctrines set forth in Bible scripture. Prior to the proclamation of any doctrine it must be determined what doctrines the Bible teaches. A thorough personal study of the scriptures is the only way to determine that. Any person of sound mind can know the Bible for themselves and can recognize error.

said. If there's a silver lining for Roscoe, the coach said it may be that frustrations pent up in the gym will surface Friday in the form of hard hitting.

Kennedy is also concerned about his offensive line and defense, both of which he called question marks. The offensive line is full of first time starters, and the defense includes two sophomore defensive ends.

"They will make sophomore mistakes. Hopefully, they'll be aggressive mistakes. We're young, and I feel like we had to go slower, to get the basics."

Junior quarterback Sammy Herrera will lead the attack, though Kennedy is worried about his lack of experience as well. Herrera's twin brother Danny will lead the Roscoe running attack.

In August scrimmages, Roscoe tied DeLeon 1-1, and lost 4-3 to Baird.

"I think we'll get a baptism against Forsan. They're a heckuva team, year end, year out. We have a healthy rivalry. We like to play each other, and we do a lot of things similar," he said.
