BIGGEST YET — Don Hinton, 1813 N. Banks, proudly displays the white-tail deer shot yesterday on the Canadian River, 36 miles north of Pampa. The eight-point buck dressed at 144 pounds and was the largest deer reported shot since deer season opened Saturday. Hinton said he shot the animal during the heavy rainstorm which ran many hunters from the area yesterday morning. Deer hunting is becoming an increasingly popular sport in the Panhandle and attracts hundreds of sportsmen to the field each year. Season closes Nov. 29.

Rebels in Congo Threaten to Kill U.S. Missionary

Red-Backed Group Accuses American of Spying, Fighting

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UPI) — The Communist-backed Congolese rebels threatened to execute an American missionary doctor today, alleging he was a "U.S. spy and major fighting the revolutionary forces."

The threat to execute Paul Carlson, 36, was made in a Stanleyville rebel radio broadcast heard here.

(But another Stanleyville radio broadcast monitored in London said the leftist rebels had agreed to negotiate on Carlson's fate with the U.S. consul in that insurgent capital.

The broadcast, heard by British Broadcasting Corp (BBC) monitors, said the rebel "people's government" had assigned its foreign minister, identified only as Kanza, to meet with the U.S. consul.)

The rebel radio at Stanleyville, in the original broadcast heard in Leopoldville, said Carlson, would be executed at noon (5 a.m. EST) following sentence by a rebel military tribunal.

Stanleyville is the headquarters of the so-called "Peoples Republic of the Congo," the leftist group which has been fighting an anti-government war against Premier Moise Tshombe and Congolese troops.

The rebels charged that Carlson was a mercenary fighting with government forces.

The U.S. embassy here denied a month ago that Carlson was a major or even a member of the U.S. Army Reserve. His only military service was as an enlisted man in the U.S. Navy in the 1940s, the embassy said.

Carlson worked in the northern Congo from a jungle mission station at Wasolo, near Yakoma. The rebels arrested him at Yakoma about Sept. 20.

Carlson's wife and two children were evacuated with all other American missionaries before the rebels arrived. Carlson, the only American remaining in the area, refused to follow urgent recommendations that he also leave.

After the rebels overran the district, Carlson was allowed to carry on his medical work for a time. In sporadic radio messages to Bangui, capital of the neighboring Central African Republic, he said he was giving medical care to wounded rebel soldiers.

Carlson's arrest became officially known only when Radio Stanleyville broadcast on Oct. 25 that "U.S. Major Carlson, captured in the Yakoma fighting on September 20, is in good health and is awaiting trial by a military tribunal."

The U.S. Embassy here asked the International Red Cross delegate in the Burundi capital of Bujumbura to inform rebel authorities that Carlson was not a military man. He is a member of the Mission Evangelique de l'Ubangi, whose headquarters are the Covenant World Missions in Chicago, Ill.

Old 'Shell Game' Used by Cashier To Outwit Bandit

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Leona Wisneski, 24, a cashier at the Follies theater in downtown Los Angeles, outwitted a bandit twice in one night Saturday.

Police said Miss Wisneski told them a man walked up to her booth, pointed at three bags on the floor and told her:

"All right, babe. I want your money. This is a stickup and I mean it."

She handed him a paper sack — full of grapes.

Minutes later, the man returned and said:

"I don't want this. I want the money down there."

Miss Wisneski handed him the second bag — full of rubber bands.

By this time another theater employe had flagged a police car and officers arrested Cecil Harrison, 49, Los Angeles, on suspicion of robbery.

The third bag contained the theater's money, police said.

Storm Slows Hunt Near Las Vegas

By ROBERT W. FLICK

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI) — Wreckage of a Bonanza airliner with 25 passengers and a crew of three was found today on the snowbound outskirts of this gambling city.

There was no immediate word whether there were survivors.

Authorities said the wreckage was sighted from the air about five miles southwest of McCarran Field.

The downed plane was sighted on top of a mountain between Sloan and Arden. The site is near Interstate 15, the main highway connecting Las Vegas and Los Angeles. The highway was closed Sunday night by highway patrolmen because of snow.

Two light planes and two helicopters took off at dawn today as fog lifted and snow stopped falling, enabling air and ground searchers to launch a successful, all-out hunt for the plane.

A varied 3-10 inches of snow blanketed this gambling center and the surrounding desert and mountains as the aircraft joined the search for the plane reported missing Sunday night.

A ground force of about 100 persons spent a cold, fruitless night trying to find the plane with its 25 passengers and crew of three.

Efforts to find the airliner Sunday night were hampered by a blinding snowstorm, darkness and disrupted communications.

The fact the plane was silver and white further frustrated searchers.

Ironically, the plane was believed down just beyond the fringes of this desert city of 225,000 persons.

The race against time and freezing weather began shortly after 8:37 p.m., PST, Sunday when Flight 114 from Phoenix, Ariz., to McCarran Field here disappeared from the airport's radar screen during a blinding snowstorm — the worst here since 1949.

Authorities said the plane was 8-9 miles from the airport when radar contact was lost and was on its final approach for landing. The plane's path would have taken it over Arden, Nev., and across the snowbound Las Vegas strip.

The aircraft would have run out of fuel by 10:35 p.m., PST, authorities said.

Power Fails

Simultaneously, a power failure from the airport south toward the California-Nevada border led authorities to believe the plane might have gone down in the Arden-Henderson-Blue Diamond area, ranging 12-20 miles from here.

Shortly after Flight 114 disappeared, another Bonanza plane, Flight 104, also bound for this gambling city from Phoenix, ran into the storm and had to land at nearby Nellis Air Force Base instead of McCarran Field. No emergency was involved and the passengers were taken to the airport by Air Force ground personnel.

Searchers using jeeps, Clark County sheriff's squad cars and a helicopter fanned out through the area during the night looking for the missing plane.

"We could have passed the airplane from the road and not seen it," said one searcher.

Visibility Near Zero

Visibility was near zero at the airport and ground units in the search reported they often could not see more than 100 feet from the highway, made hazardous by an accumulation of 3-4 inches of snow. Driving conditions also worsened at times as the powder turned to freezing rain.

Flight 114, an F27, had been scheduled to stop at Prescott and Kingman in Arizona before arriving here. But storms in Arizona forced the twin-engined plane to by-pass those two cities.

Shortly after radar contact was lost, the sheriff's office said that citizens telephoned reports of flares in the area near the industrial town of Henderson, Nev., near the Arizona-Nevada border.

Bonanza, with headquarters here, identified the crew of Flight 114 as pilot Capt. Hank Fitzpatrick, co-pilot Reimer Schulze, and stewardess Mary Tavis, all of Las Vegas.

Bonanza has had no previous flight fatalities, in its 18 years of operation, authorities said.

Barry Says Burch Will Stay as Chief

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Defeated GOP presidential nominee Barry M. Goldwater says Dean Burch will remain as Republican national chairman because "he has a four year contract with the party."

Returning from a post-election vacation in Jamaica, Goldwater said Sunday that Burch was not involved in the dispute over the party leadership despite demands for his ouster in the wake of the GOP's disastrous defeat Nov. 3.

Goldwater made his statement as New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller registered the opposing view that it was a "reasonable position" to call for Burch to step down.

In pledging to keep Burch on as chairman, the Arizona senator told newsmen that leadership of the party was in the hands of Senate Leader Everett M. Dirksen, Ill., and House Leader Charles A. Halleck, Ind.

"I've always maintained the leadership is in Congress, and that's the way it's going to continue with Mr. Burch remaining as chairman," Goldwater said.

He added that Burch "doesn't figure at all (in the leadership dispute). He has a four year contract with the party."

Man Withstands Beating, Threats As 20 Look on

CHICAGO (UPI) — It was a quiet Sunday afternoon. The Chicago Transit Authority bus moved slowly through the rain down a West Side street.

Inside the bus, a thin 44-year-old man — his jaw wired shut since an auto accident last month — clung desperately to the steel coin changer.

Three young men stood over him. They slapped him in the face. They punched him. They taunted him. They threatened to throw him into the Chicago River.

Twenty other passengers were on the bus. They did nothing.

The victim was Tommy Rembarz, a vendor at sporting events. The assailants, arrested after the bus driver notified police, were Negro employes of a car washing establishment.

Police identified the men as James Walker, 28, Henry Knox, 31, and David Hunt, 26.

Rembarz told police he encountered the three men when he boarded the bus. He quoted one as saying, "here comes a segregationist."

Police said the men slapped Rembarz across the face and punched him in the stomach. They knocked him to the floor and threatened to throw him in the Chicago River. Rembarz grabbed the metal coin box.

"Where's your white friends now?" one of the assailants asked him.

Rembarz pleaded through clenched teeth: "Someone help me, please." The other passengers ignored him and his assailants laughed.

When the three men left the bus, the driver, Frank Kifiazek, notified police, who arrested the assailants as they walked down the street. In the lockup, one of the three told police, "we did it because it seemed like a good idea."

Rembarz was taken to a hospital where he was reported in satisfactory condition.

Chinese Claim US Plane Hit

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China claimed today it had shot down a U.S. high - altitude reconnaissance plane over south central China Sunday.

Radio Peking, in a Japanese language broadcast heard here, said the plane was "unmanned."

It gave no further details except to say the plane was shot down by the "people's liberation army" of Communist China.

Indian Killed Integrating Negro Tavern

LILLINGTON, N. C. (UPI)— An Indian was stabbed to death early Sunday in a melee that broke out when he tried to integrate a Negro night spot.

The victim was James Carl Dunn, 27, of Angier, N.C. Authorities said he was stabbed when he and his wife, Dovie, and another Indian couple, refused to leave a combination tavern - pool room two miles from here.

Coroner Bill Warren called the stabbing a "purely racial matter." It was the first reported racial violence between Indians and Negroes in Harnett County.

Dunn, a farm laborer, was a member of the Lumbee tribe, which two years ago integrated an all-white high school. Members of the tribe have since been admitted to Harnett County without violence.

Mrs. Leola Johnson, Negro operator of a tourist court, was being held in jail in connection with the slaying but deputies said the man who stabbed Dunn twice during the melee had not been identified.

Sheriff Wade Stewart rounded up suspects for possible identification by Mrs. Dunn and the two other Indians, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Barnes, but said that none of the three remembered seeing who stabbed Dunn.

Mrs. Johnson denied that she knew who stabbed the Indian, who staggered from the tavern across a highway and fell dead.

The owners said she asked the Indians to leave because she was following the policy of the former owners of no race mixing at the place.

The Indians refused to leave, officers said, and a fight with Negro customers broke out. Mrs. Dunn and the Barneses also were roughed up.

Israeli-Syrian Border Now Quiet

TEL AVIV, Israel (UPI) —Israeli troops today conducted a motorized patrol along the border track where Syrian and Israeli troops clashed Friday. The border was reported quiet.

Israeli officials said Syrian soldiers were seen rebuilding fortifications reported to have been almost destroyed Friday by Israeli air force jets.

Israel charged that Syrian troops opened fire first at the Dan settlement near the Tel el Kadi border district.

Syria's casualties were believed to have been much higher than the 7 killed and 26 wounded reported by Damascus, Israeli sources said.

Race Starts to Settle Strikes

By United Press International

A race against time began today in an effort to settle or head off strikes that could paralyze Ford Motor Co. operations and the nation's railroads by the end of the week.

Efforts continued to end strikes against Allis - Chalmers Manufacturing Co. plants in four cities, the Detroit newspaper walkout, a strike against Corn Products Refining Co. and the West Coast pulp and paper company strikes. A total of more than 32,000 workers are involved.

Ford, its production of 1965 cars and trucks dwindling under the impact of scattered local strikes by the United Auto Workers union (UAW), was expected to shut down its major assembly centers by Friday if the disputes are not resolved.

Nearly half of Ford's 130,000 hourly rated workers were on strike or idled because of the walkouts, some of them at key plans manufacturing parts without which production eventually will have to come to a halt.

Five of the original nine locals that went on strike Nov. 6 despite a national agreement between Ford and the UAW, still were out today.

Schedule Meeting

Negotiators for six railroad shopcraft unions were scheduled to meet today with federal mediators in a last-ditch effort to head off a possible nationwide rail tie-up. The six AFL-CIO unions could walk out Friday.

Union official Michael Fox announced a news conference for this afternoon in Chicago. He was expected to formally announce the strike plans.

J.E. Wolfe, chief railroad negotiator, also was in Chicago in case the unions decide to renew talks directly with the carriers.

The dissident unions include machinists, boilermakers, sheet-metal workers, oilers and electrical workers. The chief issue in the dispute is the union demand for a wage increase in excess of the 27 cents an hour over a three year period. The 27-cents pay boost was approved by a presidential emergency board earlier this year.

One strike was technically over today but production was unlikely to resume.

Parley Set on Space Hazards

SAN ANTONIO (UPI)—Some 500 physicians and space scientists gathered in San Antonio today to talk about ways man will protect himself in the hostile environment of outer space.

The third international symposium on bioastronautics and the exploration of space is sponsored by the Aerospace Medical Division, Air Force Systems Command, Brooks Air Force Base.

The first two sessions were scheduled to deal with space hazards ike radiation. Dr. James A. Van Allen of the State University of Iowa and Dr. Fred L. Whipple of the Smithsonian Institution's Astrophysical Observatory were to deliver papers at these opening meetings.

Astronaut L. Gordon Cooper was scheduled to lead off the third session, which was to deal with personal experiences in spaceflight.

The fourth session will handle specific problems that early flights have revealed, including inner ear disturbances and the psychological shake-ups encountered in an environment where night and day really do not exist.

Emergency Meet Of UN Set on Israel and Syria

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson arranged an emergency meeting of the U. N. Security Council today to deal with border fighting between Israel and Syria.

The meeting was first requested by Syria, which charges Israel with an unprovoked attack on its frontier posts near the Sea of Galilee Friday. Israel later joined in the request.

Seven Syrians and three Israelis were reported killed in the fighting Friday and Saturday. The border area was reported to be quiet Sunday.

Stevenson acted in his capacity of Security Council president for November. The council presidency rotates each month.

Syria accused Israel of aggression in its call for the council meeting Saturday. It considered the matter so urgent that Syrian Ambassador Rafik Asha tried to get a weekend session of the council.

But Stevenson was in Washington conferring on the U.N. financial crisis and today was the earliest time possible for the council to convene.

Dear Abby....

Don't Quibble, You Were Freed, Not Dropped

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 21 and a college senior. I could have had many dates last year but a boy on campus monopolized all my time and ruined my chances with everyone else. At the end of the semester I told him I wasn't sure I cared enough about him to continue dating him in the fall. I said we shouldn't see each other over the summer, but should think it over, and talk about it again when school resumed. He said he loved me and always would but he'd abide by my wishes.

When we returned to school he immediately started dating another girl. I called him and told him I wanted to talk to him. (I was going to tell him I did love him.) When he came to see me, he brought the other girl along. I knew then that it was all over between us. Now everyone is saying that he dropped me for her. This is hurting my reputation and I think it's his place to tell our fiends that I dropped him. What do you think?

NOT DROPPED

DEAR NOT: All right, so you weren't "dropped" — you were freed. But don't expect him to put an ad in the paper. Your pride may be bruised but your reputation won't suffer.

DEAR ABBY: Six months ago I took a course in "scientific massaging" and I passed the examination without any trouble. I massage as a side line to earn extra money. I enjoy massaging because it brings relaxation to many. I massage men, women and even children. I carry my own table and go to their homes by appointment. My problem is my wife. She does not want me massaging ladies. I say that my work is like a doctor's and there is no reason why I shouldn't massage ladies. What is your opinion?

DEAR MASSEUR: Your wife apparently fears that your lady clients may be getting a treat instead of a treatment. Such fears could be caused by her feelings of inadequacy. Keep assuring her that she has absolutely nothing to worry about. (P.S. The little woman is jealous — But don't rub it in.)

DEAR ABBY: That lady who wrote about the "Open House" shower, where an ad was placed in the newspaper and anyone who wanted to come was welcome, was a piker compared to someone in my husband's family. Listen to this: One of the girls had to get married, so all her aunts got together and gave her a combination bridal and baby shower! Practical, I suppose, but wasn't that the absolute limit?

OWOSSO, MICHIGAN

DEAR OWOSSO: I'd say they exceeded the limit. Speed and otherwise.

Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A featherstitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem.

The girdle itself is of a "wonder" Lycra spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It feels like nothing on but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim," in both girdle and panty versions, is the peak achievement of the California designer-genius, Olga. They are available in our area at

City Manager Proud of Letter

City Manager Harold Schmitzer was appreciative of a letter he got in the morning mail.

It was a "pat on the back" letter from the Civic Culture Club of Pampa.

Letters of complaint far outnumber letters of approval in City Hall mail. That's true in all cities.

And that's the reason the city manager was proud of the one he received today.

It read:

"Civic Culture Club would like to thank you for improvements made on keeping downtown and our streets clean. We realize you have a long way to go, but you are doing a nice job and we are proud of the effort you are making. So, thank you again."

The letter was signed by Mrs. A. C. Houchin, the club's recording secretary.

The storm isolated seven persons for hours in Palo Duro Canyon near Amarillo. They were trapped when the party left a paved road to explore Timber Creek Canyon. The storm caused their automobile to slide into a creek. One man in the car went for help and found it about four hours after the storm struck. All the party was rescued without injury.

Up to 15 inches of snow piled up in the mountains of Montana and Colorado. The Weather Bureau issued warnings to motorists and stockmen from the New Mexico border to Canada. The snow storm — decribed as the worst in Nevada since 1949 — was blamed on numerous deaths on highways.

Early today State Police said it was snowing at Gallup, on U. S. 66, and said two inches of new snow was on the ground.

State Police said all highways in New Mexico were open and said U. S. 66 through Arizona was open despite snows of eight inches at Prescott and nine inches at Flagstaff. Northeastern New Mexico roads were reported slick.

Snow was expected to continue today over northern and eastern New Mexico and over much of western New Mexico.

The forecast for Pampa and vicinity — Continued cloudy through tomorrow with showers and drizzle and some freezing drizzle affecting 60 to 80 per cent of the Panhandle. Harvesters Open Cage Play Soon

The Pampa Green 'n Gold basketball team gets off to one of its earliest starts in history this year, tangling with Dumas at Dumas Saturday night.

Coach Terry Culley, in his fifth year as head man of the striped - sox cagers, explains that due to a new district play-off setup, loop play will start earlier than ever in district 3-4A, allowing the Harvesters only five non - district games and their annual trip to the Plainview Tournament prior to loop action Dec. 11.

The Harvesters go into this year's campaign with assets of balance, speed and overall height, but deficits of four graduated starters and lack of a really big man.

Almost all the district teams this season are featuring one or more skyscrapers of 6-6 plus. The Harvesters' sole big man is 6-5½ junior David "Sugar" Cain who alternated between varsity and B team action last year.

Following him in the height chart is 6'3½" senior Kerry "Ropes" Roper, the only returning starter. Roper, the team's ace bounder last year, had a high of 18 grabs off the backboards in one game, and averaged 12.5 per game from the floor, third leading scorer on the squad.

One advantage the Pampans will have this year is overall height however, as all the seniors on the squad but one are over the six - foot mark.

Culley points out however, that although Pampa can field a team averaging 6-2½, they will be several inches short, in most cases, when it comes to the center and forward positions.

"We'll have to use the same things that helped gain us a tie for third last year . . . hustle, desire and defense. If our boys can hold the other team's big boys and we can defense and fight all the way as we did last year, then we deserve to be considered in the top four in district, where most of the coaches rate us."

Four more lettermen join Roper and Cain, all seniors. Davy McDaniel, 6-2, Robert Howard, 6-1½, Carl Harnsberger, 6-1, Lanny Lewis, 6-0. Two other returning seniors are Ronnie Curlee, 6-1½ and Richard Fatheree, 5-9.

Eight promising juniors come up from last year's district champion Shocker team, including 5-11 Doug Altom, 5-9 Gary "Little Butch" Crossland, 6 - 3 David Frashier, 6 - 2½ Mike Wise, 6-1 Billy Turner, 6-3 Mark Johnson, 6-0 Roy Harper, 6-2½ Mac McWilliams. Only Harper, out for football, will be missing from the lineup for the opening game.

Roper, Cain and the returning lettermen are all good bets for starting berths. McDaniels or Harnsberger appear the best possibilities to team up with Rope at the forward spots, with Howard coming in if Ropes switches to center.

Lewis, who led the team to several victories late in the season with fine ball - handling and deadly free throw shooting, is the best bet for a guard slot. Curlee, ineligible the first semester, also saw some starting action late in the year.

Plenty of competition for both forward and guard slots will come out of the juniors however. Best bet to break into the lineup will be McWilliams, a versatile type who can rebound, handle the ball and shoot from any position on the floor.

Assistant coach Gary Griffin, in his first year of coaching at the school where he gained all-state fame, literally has an overwhelming choice of Shocker material. Fourteen boys are already out for the squad and 10 or 11 more are expected after football season, he said.

Culley confirmed that due to the abundance of material out this season, Pampa would also have a C basketball team. We have too many good boys to sit on the bench, he explained, so while the Shockers will play their regular slate of games prior to varsity clashes and enter the Phillips Tournament while the Harvesters are at Plainview, the Thrashers will also see regular action. Games have been scheduled with area Class A and B varsities and with AAA and AA B teams, and more will be slated, the complete schedule not being ready yet.

Pats Close Behind Buffalo Bills

By JOHN EVANS
UPI Sports Writer

One thing is certain—it's far too early to eliminate the Boston Patriots from the American Football League's Eastern Division race.

The Patriots, who were elated after Sunday's 36-28 victory over pace-setting Buffalo, may get another shot at the title when the Bills invade Boston's Fenway Park Dec. 20.

The Patriots, who are only a game and a half off the pace, were led by the passing of veteran Babe Parilli and catching of Gino Cappelletti.

Parilli tossed five touchdown passes and Cappelletti scored 24 points as the Pats handed the Bills their first defeat in 10 games. Previously the Bills were pro football's only unbeaten, untied team.

Cappelletti's 24-point scoring spree gave him 122 points for the season, his third straight 100-point campaign, and virtually clinched his third successive scoring title.

In other games, the Oakland Raiders defeated the Houston Oilers, 20-10, the Denver Broncos topped the New York Jets, 20-16, and the San Diego Chargers edged the Kansas Chiefs, 28-14.

Cotton Davidson tossed scoring passes of 26 and 20 yards to Art Powell as the Raiders handed the Oilers their seventh straight defeat while picking up their second victory in 10 outings.

Willie Brown tied an AFL record by picking off four Jet passes to lead the Broncos to their second victory in 10 starts.

But the real hero of the game was Odell Barry, a sprinter from Toledo, Ohio, who took a New York punt and scampered 48 yards in spectacular fashion to score the winning touchdown.

The Chargers scored twice within a 44-second span and twice more within a 54-second period in the second period and increased their Western Division lead to three games.

Quarterback John Hadl, halfback Paul Lowe and flanker back Lance Alworth triggered the sudden second-period spurt which was aided by three Kansas City fumbles.

Area Deer Kill Reported Slow

AUSTIN (Spl) — Texas "greatest wildlife show on earth" — the annual big game harvest — swung into full scale motion Saturday and got a quick extra thrust Monday.

It's another Number One for the Lone Star State since both the deer herd and wild turkey flocks are the largest in the nation.

The Saturday opener involved the counties where deer hunting is regulated directly by the Department. The Monday opener involved most of the remaining counties where wildlife is regulated under state law. A few counties previously began deer hunting.

Game Warden Buck Williams of Pampa said he estimated 150-200 hunters walked up and down the Canadian River Saturday and Sunday in search of deer.

Only four deer were reportedly killed in the river bed during the two days.

Don Hinton of 1813 N. Banks killed an eight point buck Saturday on the river for the largest deer reported killed so far. The whitetail field dressed at 144 pounds.

Watson said the actual number of persons invading the big game habitat "is hard to estimate" but calculated that upwards of 600,000 persons will be qualified to participate. Hunter success ratio, in the last fall recorded, was 1960 when it was set at approximately fifty per cent.

Hunters, in both the regulatory authority counties and in the others, will have through December 31 to bag their limits in most counties. This means, Watson said, that the combined kill may reach a quarter of a million deer.

Watson cautioned hunters that antlerless deer are taken only under a special permit system whereby the landowners issue the permits direct to the hunters. The third or bonus deer tag on the hunting license may be used only on antlerless deer and must be accompanied by an antlerless deer permit.

In any event, Watson said, a successful harvest is hoped for by the Department's technicians because the ranges in many areas are actually overpopulated with deer. That, he added, means short rations and a potentially dangerous winter die off situation.

The season's limit is two buck deer, unless otherwise specified. Watson invited hunters to contact local game wardens about local bag and possession limits.

Turkeys reportedly are plentiful in most areas. And this fall, in the regulatory counties, bearded hens are legal game for the first time. Hens are fully protected under general law. The season's limit ranges upward to three gobblers under the general law.

Colts, Cleveland Close to Clinch

by TIM MORIARTY
UPI Sports Writer

Make it one for the Colts . . . two for the Browns

Those are the magic numbers needed to bring together Baltimore and Cleveland for the first time in a National Football League championship game.

The Colts can clinch their first Western Division crown in five years by beating the Rams next Sunday at Los Angeles while the Browns need only two victories in their remaining four games to wrap up the Eastern Division pennant and the host team berth in the playoff, Dec. 27.

A 17-14 revenge victory over the Minnesota Vikings Sunday enabled the Colts to open a 3½ game lead in the western sector with only four left to play. It gave Baltimore a 9-1 log for the season while the Detroit Lions and the Los Angeles Rams, who both lost, remained tied for second with 5-4-1 records.

The Browns (8-1-1) pulled 2½ games ahead of second place St. Louis (5-3-2) in the East when they whipped Detroit, 37-21, while the Cardinals settled for a 10-10 standoff against the New York Giants.

Old pros Johnny Unitas and Lenny Moore and substitute end Alex Hawkins teamed up to help the Colts avenge their lone loss of the season to the Vikings.

Unitas pegged a third period touchdown pass to Moore that covered 74 yards and put Baltimore ahead, 10-0. It was the 13th straight game in which Moore had scored at least one TD — an NFL record. Then, after Minnesota had barged ahead, 14-10, the Colts pulled it out on a 27-yard strike from Unitas to Hawkins, who was filling in for injured Ray Berry.

Jim Brown was practically the whole show in Cleveland's first regular season victory over the Lions in seven meetings. The veteran fullback scored twice to boost his career TD total to 103, just two short of the NFL record held by Don Hutson.

Top Ten Racks Up Bowl Bids

By United Press International

The nation's top-ranked undefeated college football teams seem almost oblivious to the building bowl bid pressure as they keep on extending their victory strings.

Notre Dame, which isn't expected to compete in a bowl anyway, took last weekend in stride by thrashing Michigan State, 34-7, to run its record to 8-0.

The next three teams in the ratings — Alabama, Arkansas, and Nebraska — won't have bowl pressure bothering them any more either. They all ran their records to 9-0 and clinched major bowl berths.

Second-ranked Alabama defeated ninth-rated Georgia Tech, 24-7, to assure itself a spot in the Orange Bowl even if it loses to Auburn in its last game.

Ailing Joe Namath came off the bench in the second period to throw two long touchdown passes and put the Tide ahead, 14-0, at halftime. The lead bulged to 24-0 before Tech's lone score in the last period. The Yellow Jackets might still get a Sugar Bowl bid, however.

Put the War in Proper Arena

A Colorado Springs, Colo., salesman has penned a moving letter to the editor of his hometown newspaper.

He asks, in view of the outcome of the recent election: "Should I now give up my dreams, get on my knees and surrender to socialism?" He says his spirits are at a low ebb and he leaves the editor there.

Doubtless it is where many are, in the debacle accompanying their hopes that somehow the problem posed by socialism could be met at the polls.

Our heart and hand go out to the Colorado salesman. We know how he feels.

But the effort to stop the onward march of socialism at the polls was doomed at the outset.

Socialism (or communism) in its inescapable methodology is nothing in the world but total politics. To oppose socialism (total politics) by relying upon what is called conservatism (partial politics) is to play the game of the socialists, in their ball park, using their equipment and abiding by their rules. Even if we win, we lose.

We cannot speak for the salesman nor for others who feel as he does. But we can say that we are not on our knees and that we do not propose to halt our fight against socialism and communism which has now gone on for many, many years and will continue with renewed vigor.

We will endeavor to do our best to assist those who feel as he does. The truth is, these people have not yet begun to fight.

The reason is that they have an arena wherein they could be effective and one in which a victory is possible.

You cannot stem the ravages of a disease without at first understanding the nature of the disease. To "oppose" scarlet fever, however one may "hate" its effect upon the body, does not require hot vapor baths and an elaborately accoutered shaman, pounding on an Indian drum. Once the nature of the germ is clearly understood, then inoculation and protection can ensue.

Socialism is scarlet fever of the intellect. To protect ourselves from intellectual scarlet fever requires an intellectual inoculation. Brass bands and a big turn-out at the medicine man's showroom do not provide this inoculation. A political "cure" for this malady is nothing but a patent medicine, "pitched" by a barker with all the fanfare and excitement of a hula dance by "Little Egypt."

The war between socialism and its opposite begins when we discover what socialism is and what its opposite is. Socialism isn't the Democratic Party, nor is the opposite of socialism the Republican Party. Socialism isn't the opposite of conservatism. Socialism isn't the opposite of religion, nor of prosperity, nor of good.

Socialism is a theory (intellectual) respecting the best way to obtain maximum production and distribution for the people of the world. The theory is in error and can be shown (intellectually) to be in error.

This process requires a battle of the mind and for the minds of men. For the truth is that men will always act upon their deepest convictions. We need not concern ourselves, then, with the actions that men take, but rather we must concern ourselves with the thoughts men have.

If their thoughts are correct, their actions which follow will be right. And by right action is not meant a ballot at the polls marked in a particular way. Taking "action" at the polls is essentially to provide one's self with an alibi for not taking real and effective action where it would truly count.

The problem of our time is more than a mere opposition to socialist concepts. Our first task is to prepare and equip men to fight an intellectual contest.

And the difficulty is that this intellectual war, made necessary by the nature of socialism, is still being opposed at the physical level as though it were identical to all the other wars and contests we have had in the last 6,000 years.

You cannot kill an idea, however wrong it may be, by using either a ballot or a bullet. The ballot may change the direction of socialist flow, but it will not remove or eliminate the flow. A bullet may kill a man but it will not destroy what he stands for.

Winston Churchill, at the darkest hour of World War II, called upon his people to prepare themselves for "blood, sweat and tears." Our own people are prepared for this same kind of offering. But it will not suffice. You cannot defeat socialism by bleeding, perspiring or crying. The defeat of this concept calls for the enlistment and training of your MIND. And that is an infinitely more difficult and arduous chore than mere physical resistance.

Court Test for Pay TV

Now that the people out in California have voted to deny a company the right to go into the pay television business, the issue is not likely to be settled until it has been taken to court.

Sylvster L. (Pat) Weaver, the former National Boradcasting Co. official, whose company organized Subscription Television, Inc., says his company "intends not only to go to court, but also to seek redress through the Department of Justice, the Federal Communications Commission, and the Congress, so as to protect not only our stockholders, but also the public, both of whom are victims of this vicious conspiracy."

There is no doubt that the massive advertising campaign of the opponents of pay television had much to do with the outcome in California. The people were bombarded from all angles with statements that they would lose their "free" television programs.

Opposition to pay television was primarily from the theater people, who feared loss of business from persons who might stay home instead of going to the movies. Some of those in the advertiser - supported television business also lent their names to the campaign.

It is quite obvious that their claims that pay television would eliminate advertiser - financed programs was false. However, it excited a great many fears among the unthinking persons. Weaver's company to start operating under the new law, has been presenting programs which are not available generally to the public on the three additional channels supplied to subscribers.

There never should have been any question of whether this company or any other company had a right to go into business and to attempt to sell its services. Since there was a vote and the issue carried, we hope the courts will uphold the constitutional right of anyone to go into business.

National Outlook

By GEORGE HAGEDORN

End of a New Era?

Only a couple of years ago it looked as though the world, at least the part of it on this side of the iron curtain, had entered a "new era" of international economic cooperation. Although it was recognized that tough problems remained, the prevailing spirit suggested that solutions would be worked out on mutually advantageous lines. It seemed that the bad old days of the interwar period, when each nation tried to solve its own problems at the expense of its neighbors, were gone forever.

It would be an exaggeration to say that this new spirit of cooperation in economic affairs is dead. But it has suffered severe blows and is badly weakened.

Part of the trouble is the development of some divergence in the international political objectives of the Western nations. General deGaulle doesn't want to see an internationally - manned nuclear fleet established, and one of his reasons for putting economic pressures on his Common Market partners is to prevent them from participating.

Internal Problems

More basic is the fact that some of the Western nations are coming up against hard internal problems with connotations both for their domestic politics and their freedom of action internationally. Chancellor Erhard wants to protect the relatively inefficient West German farmers and resists the desire of France to establish a common price for grains in the European Economic Community — a price which would seriously depress the income of German farmers. Britain finds that the high level of internal incomes has led to a flood of imports and the new Labor Government is imposing a temporary 15 percent surcharge on top of present tariffs —to the consternation of Britain's partners in the European Free Trade Association as well as other countries. The United States has been trying to encourage domestic economic growth with low long - term interest rates but, to prevent a resulting outflow of capital, has imposed an Interest Equalization Tax, also labeled "temporary."

A Dead Letter?

The American "Trade Expansion Act of 1962" was intended to encourage the growth of world trade and to enable this country to participate in it. The immediate occasion for passing it was the desire that the Common Market not be used as a device for putting us at a serious disadvantage in selling our products in Europe. With all the problems which have arisen, one wonders whether that law will be anything but a dead letter.

As one observes all this, it can't help but create a feeling of nervousness in another, but related, area — the structure of international currency reserves. The U.S. holds gold as a reserve against its dollars abroad, but those same dollars are part of the reserves of the countries which hold them. In fact the chief source of growth in world reserves has been the deficit in the U.S. balance of payments—the outflow of dollars.

Presumably, nobody wants to precipitate the common crisis that would result from pushing over this inverted pyramid of reserves. Even so, a high degree of mutual trust and understanding among governments and central banks is necessary to keep it balanced.

Borrowing Billions in Private Pension Funds Proposed to Finance 'Great Society' Programs

ROBERT ALLEN PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The nearly 66 billion in private pension funds are being eyed as a means of assisting in financing the costly health, welfare and other programs of President Johnson's much - touted "great society."

Another key aspect of this revolutionary financing concept is the establishment of a new government agency with extensive powers to supervise and regulate private pension funds — now accumulating at the rate of $4 to $5 billion annually.

In tapping private pension funds for "great society" projects, the government would pay the going interest rate and guarantee such investments against loss.

A leading exponent of this far-reaching plan is Walter Reuther, United Auto Workers president, who has discussed it with the President, Cabinet members and congressional leaders.

Various proposals for raising the huge sums that would be required for the projects contemplated under the "great society" are being deliberated by a backstage task force set up by the President especially for this purpose. It includes government officials and private authorities.

No decisions have been reached, and there is no indication when a report will be sent to the White House.

Among his close assistants the President is described as "definitely interested" in the Reuther formula because of the possibilities it opens of nominally holding down the federal budget.

Reuther contends this could be done by channeling billions of private pension funds into a variety of costly welfare projects instead of drawing the money directly from the Treasury. Except for interest charges, such large - scale "backdoor spending" would avoid the necessity of appropriating tax funds and thus being included in the budget that must be submitted to and voted on by Congress.

THE PROS AND CONS—Legislation would be required to put the Reuther plan into effect.

At present the government exercises little supervision and control over private pension funds.

Two federal agencies do have a degree of overseer authority.

The Labor Department's Office of Welfare Pension Reports can investigate complaints of irregularities and other violations, such as embezzlement, fraud, etc. But beyond this the Department has no power to regulate or in any other way control the operation of these pension funds. All it can do is to report its findings to the Justice Department for possible prosecution.

The Internal Revenue Service has the function of examining private pension funds to ensure that they qualify for tax - free status. If they meet stipulated conditions, the IRS must grant tax exemption.

Beyond these nominal powers, the government has no authority over private pension funds and how they are administered.

A Senate Labor Committee study disclosed that around 23 million Americans are covered by private pension funds with nearly $66 billion in assets. More than 2.3 million individuals are receiving pensions from these funds.

Organized labor, chief beneficiary of these funds, is split on the Reuther plan.

The legislative representative of one major union has submitted a detailed study to its executive board charging the proposal would lead to a "socialistic government as it would inevitably extend federal control over vast private funds."

Other union officials favor it, principally as a protective measure against the looting of pension funds by management or labor leaders.

Partisans of Reuther's scheme are preparing to launch a drive to rally public support for government control of private pension funds. Newspaper and broadcasting media are to be used.

STILL ON THE PAYROLL—Those two State Department officials involved in the tapping of the telephone of veteran security officer Otto Otepka have new government jobs.

John Reilly, deputy assistant secretary for security who was permitted to resign, is now a trial attorney of the Federal Communications Commission. His salary is $17,000 as against $18,000 while on the State Department payroll.

David Belisle, Reilly's former lieutenant, is in West Germany — for the State Department. In other words, he was merely shifted out of sight.

That's what has been uncovered by the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, investigating the long - sputtering Otepka case. The probers have asked both the State Department and FCC for a full report on why Reilly and Belisle were given their new jobs.

In testimony before the subcommittee early this year, Reilly and Belisle denied they had bugged Otepka's phone. Later they admitted they had installed a tapping device.

The Senate committee's long-delayed hearing on Otepka is now scheduled for December 16. It plans to begin publishing its previous voluminous testimony around December 1.

While Otepka is still on the State Department payroll, Secretary Rusk is continuing to try to oust him.

STILL ANOTHER SURVEY—The frequently studied Agency for International Development (foreign aid administration) is undergoing still another expensive scrutiny. This latest examination is being made by a private consulting firm at the direct behest of the White House. The survey is to be completed by early next month, in time to enable President Johnson to decide how much money he will seek from Congress next year for foreign aid. Another purpose of the study is to advise Foreign Aid Director Bell on whether to again ask Congress for authority to fire employes regardless of civil service regulations. He wants to get rid of around 500 on the ground they are dead wood. The recent Congress refused to give him this power .... Jesse ("Big Daddy") Unruh, Southern California Democratic leader, is in the doghouse in inner Administration circles for the loss of the late Senator Clair Engle's seat. Unruh masterminded Pierre Salinger's primary victory, only to lose out to Republican George Murphy. White House insiders are blaming Unruh for this setback. Also not being forgotten is that former Attorney General "Bobby" Kennedy, now Senator - elect from New York, played an important backstage role in Salinger's last - minute sortie into the primary scramble — despite the fact that he was a voting resident of Virginia and hadn't lived in California for nearly ten years.

The American Way of Death Revisited

NEW YORK (NEA) — We came home from a funeral the other afternoon, which is more than you can say for a lot of people. And all things considered, we are just as glad it worked out that way.

Biologically speaking, there is a very thin line between being dead and alive. And it is getting harder all the time to tell the difference except on rare occasions, such as returning from funerals.

That is why the widows of U. S. Senators are often appointed to fill out unexpired terms. It is also why the legitimate sons are qualified to hold high office.

The theory seems to be that the line between the living and the dead is not only very thin, but in addition, if certain rules are obeyed, it can be crossed in either direction.

In that regard, it has been a jubilee year.

And as the obsequies have been so varied and so long, it is almost impossible to tell who is going and who is coming back.

We ran into an old friend yesterday who has taken a job with the Mortuary Establishment, which is still fighting a best-selling book of several seasons ago, "The American Way of Death."

On television this season there are three comedies about nonhumans. And there will presently be a full - length hilarious movie about American burial rites, "The Loved One."

By our count, there are 18 books in hard cover on the subject of John F. Kennedy—seven of them specifically about his assassination. In that vein, there are also five record albums, including one with sound effects of shots and screams.

In addition to the Kennedy medallions, key chains, charms, chocolates, cups, plates, plaster busts, mugs, photos, etchings, plaques, bookends, salt - and-pepper shakers and Halloween masks, there is for sale a replica of the building from which he was shot, and a memorial Kennedy half dollar embalmed in plastic.

(We could also quote a poem called "A Message Fom Heaven," supposedly written postmortem by Mr. Kennedy. But that would be an infringement of the copyright laws. However, if you wish a large copy, suitable for whoopee room or restaurant window,, we will be happy to send you the publisher's name and address.)

The three major television networks have announced their scheduled tributes commemorsting the first anniversary of the assassination. But as it is so hard to build viewer ratings, one network will deliver its eulogy on Nov. 18 — four days early.

That is not a real scoop, however, because a national magazine has been on the stands for nearly a month with a $1 anniversary issue.

Now, we would prefer not to get any angry mail on what we have said here. It was not meant as a disrespect for bereavement. On the contrary, we hold the inexorable in very high esteem and are certainly as adoring of death as the next fellow.

It is just that we were surprised at finding the year gone by so soon, although we probably would have seen it in the paper, or maybe even have remembered it without any help.

In any case, we are quite sure we would have observed the day. And the year, too. That, of course, is our own personal belief. We cannot speak for anybody else. Especially if they have not yet come back from the funeral.

If we understand biology rightly, you have to know you're alive before you can mourn the dead.

THE SOVIET DESPOTS COME AND GO
(Chicago Tribune)

One of the reasons given in Moscow for the ouster of Nikita Khrushchev is that his enemies charged him with creating a personality cult around himself. It is a familiar charge in Russia. Khrushchev himself made it against his predecessor, Joseph Stalin, in a famous address to the Community party congress. The cult of the individual, he said, is incompatable with Marxist doctrine.

In Pravda's denunciation of Khrushchev in behalf of the party, the fallen dictator is accused of "harebrained scheming, immature conclusions and hasty decisions and actions, individualistic braggings commandism, and unwillingness to take into account the achievements of science and practical experience." The editorial said the party was "irreconcilably and consistently opposing and continues to oppose the ideology and practice of the personality cult."

Now we can expect another struggle for power, out of which will merge a new despot who, in turn, will be blamed for failure to make the Soviet system work and will be deposed for creating a personality cult around himself.

The latest crisis in Russia is being seized by President Johnson's speech writer as an occasion to say that his experienced and steady hand is needed at the controls of our nation's foreign policy. But this policy, under the present administration, has been geared to dealing with Mr. Khrushchev. When he smiled, we fawned. If his successor fails to smile, who in Washington knows what to do?

Our best chance for peace with Russia lies in having in the Presidency a man who understands that the despots come and go, but that the communist menace remains. It may be doubted that Mr. Johnson understands this.

WASHINGTON: A Look Into Auto Plant Techniques

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent

DETROIT (NEA) — Future recessions could be milder as the result of new techniques now being adopted by important segments of U. S. industry. The automobile companies provide the best example.

The large contract gains now being won by the United Auto Workers may speed up introduction of these techniques which are designed to cut costs. Among the new developments are:

— Long-range forecasting by computer may take some humps out of capital expansion.

Such forecasting is now in its infancy. But automobile makers have developed some guidelines — population growth, population shifts from cities to suburbs, family income, number of babies born, size of families and the age mixture of the population — which seem to affect the number of cars to be sold in a given year "X" years hence.

—Extensive use of building-block machines, which can be put together and taken apart like Tinkertoys as requirements change, means quick changeovers from one model to the next without long shutdowns.

Us of these Tinker-toy - type machines makes it possible to introduce new models in the middle of a model year, thus smoothing out production ups and downs and cutting back on "between model year" layoffs.

More and more of these machines have complicated "heads" which can be modified to handle components of a variety of automobile models. Shifts in such machine heads can frequently be made overnight between runs.

— Instantaneous electronic processing of automobile orders from dealers, and electronic breakdown of those future auto sales into requirements for materials, parts and components needed from suppliers, may reduce the size of inventories the auto industry must carry and even out the flow of materials, parts and components.

Economists say less inventory fluctuation by major industries would do much to smooth out ups and downs in the economy.

— More production lines are being made "interchangeable," so that lines producing models not in demand can be shifted to the output of hot sales models — thus keeping the lines busy, reducing worker layoffs and speeding deliveries.

— More parts of different models are being made interchangeable.

—New mathematical techniques for translating body style concepts into component parts for the new model cars may cut sharply into the time it takes to move a "drawing board" idea into production. This will make possible more rapid introduction of new models to meet sales slumps and thus help level production peaks and valleys.

— Some automobile companies are beginning to use computers to make better use of the men on a production line, which must flow at the speed of the slowest operator. The "mix" of cars going down a production line is figured by computer in a way that the men on that production line can be used to optimum capacity without overworking some men, leaving others idle.

In one way or another variations of automotive techniques are being tried in other major industries.

In time, the cumulative effects should tend to shave off peaks and valleys of production and sales and thus help to level booms and busts. But this overall nationwide result will be years in coming.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

National Window

By LYLE WILSON
United Press International

A slow signal went up Nov. 3 for those politicians who have been making a good thing out of the more-law-and - tougher-enforcement sie of the civil rights dispute. There have been enormous vote rewards for that get - tough side.

The signal showed in several areas but most emphastieally in California. Citizens of that state voted Nov. 3 to nullify state laws forbidding racial discrimination in the field of housing. The proposition was in the form of an amendment to the state constitution. The amendment was sponsored by the California Real Estate Association. It was aimed at California's 1963 Rumford Fair Housing Act.

The Rumford Act forbade discrimination on the basis of color, race, religion, national origin or ancestry in the sale or rental of about 70 per cent of California housing. The act applied to 25 to 30 per cent of single family dwellings.

Untouchable Authority

Opponents of the amendment objected that it would write into the California constitution a virtually untouchable authority to practice racial or religious bigotry in real estate transactions. And what did the California voters do on Nov. 3? They wrote it right into the California constitution by a lopsided majority. The vote was 4.1 million for the amendment; 2.2 million against. Emphatic!

Moreover, the amendment was approved in every California county barring, possibly, Modoc where an unofficial tally reported 1,536 for and 1,555 against. Los Angeles approved the amendment 1.4 million to 736 thousand. San Francisco approved 159 thousand to 134 thousand. Sacramento voted 132 thousand for the amendment, 83 thousand against.

California voters repudiated the Rumford Act by an enormously greater margin than that by which Lyndon Johnson licked Barry M. Goldwater. The California vote is a good example of where white voters may seek to draw a line against laws imposing regulations on the relationship of American citizens of varying colors, races and religions. This California vote had nothing to do with voting rights, nor with the right of any citizen, white or black, to expect a courteous welcome in restaurants, hotels, public conveyances and such. The California vote dealt with the sale of real property, homes.

Eye-Brow Raiser

Gov. Edmund G. Brown of California, a notable battler for civil rights, came out slugging when the amendment vote returns were in. He and other Democratic leaders had been active in opposing the amendment. Brown said the vote would not end California's fight against segregation and discrimination in housing. The governor's repudiation of the expressed will of his fellow Californians was an eye-brow raiser of sports.

The governor had time for second thoughts, however, and they must have been quite impressive. At a subsequent news conference, Brown assumed the role of governor of all of the people. As such, he said, he could not in good conscience oppose the wishes of the people as expressed in such an overwhelming majority for the constitutional amendment. Remarking that the amendment had become a part of the state constitution, the governor got himself off a hot spot.

Civil rights organizations in California, of course, do not accept the election verdict. The various activist racist organizations began planning parades and other protestant maneuvers. The politicians may go along, but cautiously. For them the slow sign is up. Way up!

MUNI UNCHANGED

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (UPI)—Attendants at Cottage Hospital reported Saturday that actor Paul Muni's condition was unchanged.

The 66-year-old star has been in serious condition with a heart ailment. He was admitted to the hospital Oct. 30 for pneumonia, which has cleared up, attendants said.

FRIGHTENING THOUGHT

LONDON (UPI) — British automation expert Sir Leon Bagrit said the use of computers in military strategy is a frightening and dangerous game because it could lead to a false feeling of victory.

"Anyone," he said, "who is foolish enough to believe that he has conquered the secrets of winning a nuclear war because he has discovered the tricks of winning a battle on a computer is a most dangerous man."

Western Motel Has Top Display of Guns

The Western Motel and Gun Museum at 821 E. Frederic is the place to buy, sell or trade guns. . . .old or new.

Some of the old guns on display are over 200 years old and some of the newer guns are less than a week old. Anyone that wants a gun should find what they are looking for at The Western Motel. If it isn't in stock they can get it for you in a very short time. Most new guns can be delivered in 24 hours. Unusual orders may take ten days.

The Western Motel Gun Museum is visited often by those persons collecting guns. There is usually something different in stock every day. Most collectors trade guns often. That way they get the pleasure of owning and using several different and unusual guns without a lot of money invested.

For the budget minded, terms can be arranged at The Western Motel, with up to one year to pay.

Th guns pictured above ar only a part of the display you will find when you visit the Western Motel. A quick count in the store will show over 100 guns on hand, about half antiques and the remainder good, used modern guns and a few new ones.

Here is the largest display of antique guns on display in Pampa. This collection represents over 10 years of work by the owner, Fred Carothers. This is a good representative collection of many firearms but is not complete in any make or type. Such a collection would to complete. Even the famous collection of the Winchester factory is not complete. Some models are very rare and the value of these could be several thousand dollars.

That old gun in the closet may be worth more than you think. One gun that sold at a charity auction for $5 was later sold to a wealthy collector for $30,000.

This is one of the reasons that collectors keep looking at old guns. Fred has examined hundreds of old guns and hasn't found a great rarity yet, but he still keeps looking, and maybe some day he will find one.

If your interest in guns is collecting, hunting or just looking the place to go is Western Motel Gun Museum at 821 E. Frederic in Pampa. And remember, if you have a gun to sell, take it there, it may be worth more than you think!

CONGRATULATIONS:

To Mr. and Mrs. George W. Morgan, 515 Oklahoma, on the birth of a girl at 5:29 a.m., weighing 7 lbs. 8 ozs.

SHAVER GIFTS

NEW YORK (UPI — This Christmas, about 1.5 million men will find an electric shaver under the tree, compliments of the women in their lives.

Gift purchases by women account for about 65 per cent of the men's electric shavers sold during the Yuletide season, according to Norelco, electric shaver marketers. More than 30 million American men — slightly less than half of those who shave — use an electric shaver, the company said.

EXPORT RECORD

DETROIT (UPI) — United States passenger car exports are expected to reach a 9-year high of more than 200,000 in 1964, according to American Motors. Compacts lead, accounting for two - thirds of overseas shipments.

PARKING IS BIG BIZ

NEW YORK (UPI) — If parking one car is a problem to you, consider the job of one parking space operator (Kinney Service Corporation) which parked 7 million vehicles last year. Parking revenues throughout the country now run to about half a billion dollars a year.
