Scurry County Should Raise More Than 20,000 Bales of Cotton This Year Experts Say

VOLUME TWO — SNYDER, TEXAS, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 25, 1929. — NUMBER ELEVEN

Scurryly Speakin'---

BEFORE this old world was a generation young Mother Eve made a mistake that cost the human race its perfection.

If there had been newspaper in those days, they would have headlined the greatest news story in history something like this: "First Woman Eats Apple; Psychologists See International Ruin Ahead."

After that one big mistake, men had to grub among the bramble bushes for their food and their wives' and children's food. Women had to find substitutes for fig leaves, and doctors and lawyers came onto the world's stage.

Try as he might, man has not lost the capacity to make innumerable mistakes. H makes them from the time he is a tiny baby, when he experiments with a red-hot stove, to the time he becomes a business man or a professional man—or a newspaper man.

NOT so many days ago The News made two mistakes in a single issue. That, of course, is nothing rare. But the painful part about these two mistakes was that they were called to our attention by several persons.

One of the alleged mistakes cited that Fluvanna community had won first prize at the County Fair every year except one. A good Union Chapel man called attention to the fact that his community had been in the blue ribbon column two years.

For this mistake there was a semblance of excuse, for "we told it as 'twas told to us."

For the other one, too, there was an excuse—until several cotton authorities convinced us that the mistake was ignorance.

Ordinarily, ten-sixteenths of an inch makes very little difference, but in cotton staple it is a whale of a lot. So, when I wrote that a certain staple varied from seven-eighths to three-sixteenths of an inch, it sounded kinda funny, I'll have to admit.

Like any other fellow who likes to have a bagful of alibis handy, I insisted that I wrote a "three" instead of a "thirteen." In fact, I'm not so sure that I know yet what I meant. At least, such a mistake as I made was not much worse than some of the fellows who have studied cotton all their lives and then don't know how to make a living raising it.

But my point is that we all make mistakes. I knew I needed some more argument to keep from being kidded to death about that cotton proposition, so I determined to search for mistakes hither and yon.

And what do you think? The very first word in the first headline on the front page of the Dallas News one day that week was spelled thusly: "Atheletics." Now that may be the way a bunch of folks pronounce the name of the world champion baseball club, but that's not the way Webster's dictionary taught me to spell it back in the "three R" days.

And to make it worse, the quotation for the day on the same page of The Dallas News was something to the effect that ignorance is some sort of devotion. If that were the case, most of us would be devout from morn till night.

I WONDER what old Scurry County would be if she were to stop making even half of her mistakes for a year . . . what she would be if—

Every man would follow the Golden Rule, instead of the "eye for an eye" commandment of the ancients.

Every man, woman and child were to go to church every Sunday.

I would think of my every neighbor as a friend instead of a dollar chaser.

I would try first to see the good in my associates; the bad, last.

Every man would give every other man the right to think as he pleases, provided his thinking does not interfere with anyone else.

We would seek first to fill up the sink holes in our own lives.

We would use four-wheel brakes on our passions and our appetites.

We would listen to the advice of those who have more experience than ourselves.

We would apply business methods to every new proposition we attack as well as to the old ones; if we wouldn't farm, dairy or conduct a business in a slipshod fashion.

I, if I were a farmer, were to consider Snyder business men and farm owners as square shooters until they proved themselves otherwise.

I, if I were a merchant, would protect my own interests no more than I would protect those of every customer and every prospective customer.

AS I glance back over the three typewritten pages which makenp this column, I find that the keys have fallen in the wrong place several times. Is there no end to this mistake-making inheritance of man? At least, I can attempt to erase all the mistakes I have made, and determine to make no more than possible in the future.

Even at that, I won't pay you for every mistake in the paper this week!

Fred Merrell attended the T. C. U.-A. & M. game at Dallas last weekend.

LOCAL TIGERS LOOK TOWARD ROSCOE GAME

When Snyder and Roscoe, the only two teams undefeated in conference competition in the west end of section 9, class B, meet on the latter's field Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, fans will probably witness the greatest battle in which either club has engaged this year.

It will be a battle between two teams which have each won two conference games and lost none. Further, it will no doubt be a battle which will decide the wearer of the Interscholastic League crown in this district. Rotan and Loraine have been defeated too many times to be considered in the running. Colorado, the remaining member of the section, has a possible chance at a tie for the championship, for if Snyder wins from Roscoe and then Colorado wins from Snyder in a later game, the three teams will be in a tie for the lead.

The 60 members of Snyder High's pep squad and her 25-piece band will leave the school house at 2 o'clock as official rooters for the purple and gold. But there will be many unofficial rooters—business men, school children and others from Snyder who believe that Coach "Red" Moore has built a team that will be content with nothing less than a championship.

Snyder, according to the various ways in which a football team is judged, will be a slight underdog in the classic. One reason is that the game is played at Roscoe. Another is that the Big Spring Steers beat the Tigers last week 19-7. Still another is that Roscoe won from the strong Colorado eleven 15-0 two weeks ago. An early-season point favoring the locals is that they beat Loraine 37-0, while Roscoe piled up only a count of 24-6 against the same squad. Both teams have improved a lot since then, so comparative figures fail to mean much.

Roscoe will enter the game considerably crippled, according to a dispatch from the Plowboys' town Wednesday. But Coach Moore's eleven is not in the pink of condition by any means, for Martin has a bad leg, Jenkins has a bad eye, and some minor injuries came as a result of the Big Spring tussle.

Kelly, Roscoe quarterback, is said to be suffering a broken collar bone, while Harkins, Terry and Duncan will also be out of the game because of injuries and ineligibility, says the Roscoe correspondent.

Roscoe is planning to entertain one of the largest football crowds in her history. Colorado will be there in force, probably with her band, backing a Tiger win, which will give them their only chance at the championship.

MANY FEEDER ANIMALS SOLD

Twenty-eight pens of calves and yearlings, averaging 20 animals each, were bought for feed-lot raising at the Feeder-Breeder Association sale at the Dallas Fair Friday. Harrie Winston, Scurry county rancher, director in the association, and County Agent W. O. Logan, attended the two-day session of the state body. Thursday was called Feeder-Breeder day, and was devoted to discussions of policies adopted at the organization meeting in Midland several weeks ago. The chief purpose of the organization is to encourage farmers and ranchers in Texas to become their own feeders, thus saving the expense of shipping to market before the stock is ready to market.

The next meeting of the association will be held at Ft. Worth March 12, during the Fat Stock Show.

The Scurry County Club boys who win trips to the fair returned Friday of last week, after having received free trips for a week stay at the state exhibition.

Gasoline Price Down Three Cents in City

Motorists in Snyder and adjoining communities are thanking those who control gas prices for reducing local car-feed from 23 to as low as 18 cents a gallon. All stations in town are now selling regular gas at 18, 19 or 20 cents a gallon. The price in practically all stations has been 23 cents for some time.

Those who have traveled in various parts of the state recently state that they found 19 and 20 cents per gallon the average gas price.

County's Surveyor Is Great Granddad

October's chilling days were cutting deep into W. L. Gross' bones until a message came from Ft. Worth.

Now the man who has been surveyor in Scurry County for years and years is scampering around the square like a youngster, for he has stepped up a notch in the kinsfolkiness of things.

From grandfather to great grandfather has been Mr. Gross' most helpful tonic of the year, and he is telling folks how it feels.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stokes of Ft. Worth are the happy parents of a baby girl, born Sunday evening. Mrs. Stokes, formerly Miss Dimple Gross of Snyder, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Gross of this city.

CITY ENGINEER MAKING PLANS

Billy Wilkerson, engineer in charge of Snyder's paving, street numbering and marking projects, worked here three days last week and again all day Wednesday, with Mayor H. G. Towle, and returned to Dallas with complete data. He is expected to submit full reports in the near future, although no definite time has been set.

Mayor Towle points out that the city is getting the services of the engineer for a small amount as long as he makes his surveys at odd times, while a hurried job would cost hundreds of dollars. The city will probably take action on the engineer's reports as soon as they are finished.

MOTORCADE TO STOP IN SNYDER

United States Senators Morris Sheppard and Tom Connally, Attorney General Lee Bobbitt, Highway Commissioner W. R. Ely and Ernest Cox, state commander of the American Legion, will be Snyder guests Tuesday night, November 5, according to Monday's Sweetwater Reporter. These prominent Texans will be here in connection with the Texas Goodwill Motorcade, en route from San Antonio to Amarillo.

It was recided at the Lions-Business Men's Club here Wednesday that Snyder would give its distinguished visitors a special reception if their plans are carried out. A special committee will be appointed at next week's meeting to arrange the reception.

Sweetwater, through V. Earl Earp, district commander of the American Legion, is arranging a program for that city's hour reception of the motorcade Tuesday at noon.

In addition to the prominent officials already mentioned, many leaders in South Texas business life will be included in the motorcade in which several hundred persons are expected to join.

The group, which will leave San Antonio on the morning of November 4, will get to Sweetwater shortly after noon on the following day. It will make an all night stopover at Brownwood before reaching Sweetwater. Tuesday night will be spent in Snyder, and Amarillo will be reached late on the third day. The motorcade is sponsored by the American Legion and Lions, Rotary, Kiwanis and Women's clubs.

Mrs. L. D. Sturgeon, 47 years of age, died Monday at the Lubbock sanitarium following an illness which became critical Sunday. She passed away three hours after being taken to the sanitarium in an Odom Funeral Home ambulance.

Funeral services for Mrs. Sturgeon were held Tuesday at the local Church of Christ, with Bro. W. M. Speck conducting. She is survived by her husband, one son and three daughters, with whom she lived in the Plainview community. Interment was in Snyder cemetery.

Mrs. Sturgeon died only two days before her birthday, October 23.

MORE SCHOOLS OPEN MONDAY

Two Scurry County rural schools will open their doors Monday morning, according to County Superintendent A. A. Bullock. These are Plainview, three-teacher school, and Canyon, four-teacher school.

The remaining rural schools of the county, with one or two exceptions, will open Monday, November 4.

A program, which includes an address by the superintendent, has been arranged for the Canyon opening. C. S. Harris, principal, is assisted by Mrs. C. S. Harris, Miss Tommie Stark, and Miss Lois Scott.

Loran Cotton is principal of the Plainview school. He will be assisted by Miss Beulah Stark and Erdice Gilmore.

Mr. Bullock reports that the Camp Springs school, under the principalship of Earl Horton, is progressing nicely. He was a visitor there early this week.

C. W. Harless and Tom Carr were business visitors in Odessa Sunday.

EASTERWOOD IS TO BE SPEAKER AT VETS MEET

Col. W. E. Easterwood of Dallas, nationally known American Legion backer and aeronautic authority, will be chief speaker at a re-organization meeting of Scurry County World War veterans Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock. The district court room will be the scene of meeting.

Roy Hendryx, who has been placed in charge of enlisting county vets for Legion membership, states that he has tried to notify each of the more than 200 Scurry County World War men of the meeting, and a packed court room is expected to greet the distinguished speaker of the day.

Officers will be selected at the session, and a continuously meeting group is expected to be organized, a regular meeting place chosen, and other details arranged.

Col. Easterwood achieved his latest nation-wide publicity as a backer of Bill Irwin's Pacific ocean hop in the spring of this year. It will be remembered that the pilot, his mechanic, and their woman companion perished during the flight.

The colonel is state distributor for Orbit Listerated chewing gum, national aeronautic committee man for the American Legion, member of the nation advisory board of American air cadets, and officer in a half dozen banks and other businesses.

LOCAL MEN GO TO SCOUT MEET

Four representatives from Snyder attended the meeting of the Buffalo Trail Area, Boy Scouts of America, in session at the Colorado Hotel, Colorado, Thursday evening of last week. Big Spring was selected for the annual meeting and a 1930 budget of $9,100 adopted. Local attendants were A. A. Bullock, executive for the Snyder district; Judge Horace Holley, Abe Rogers and Ralph Hicks.

The budget for next year provides $1,800 for employment and expenses of a field executive who will spend all of his time in the western section of the area, which includes 15 counties. This will eliminate a condition that has materially retarded progress of scout work in the area since the area executive, whose headquarters are at Sweetwater, has been unable to cover the large territory, thus depriving Big Spring, Stanton, Midland, Odessa, Pecos and other towns of sufficient benefit from funds raised for the area treasury.

It also was decided to conduct the financial campaigns in all cities in the autumn to raise funds for the year beginning in January following. This will make it possible for the entire area to know how much can be done during the year, whereas the existing condition, with different towns holding campaigns at various times of the year, seriously muddles the affairs of the area.

The council, which is headed by the Rev. W. M. Elliott of Colorado, voted to meet quarterly, the January

Scurry County Girls Win at State Fair

Incomplete returns from 4-H Club work exhibits at the Dallas Fair indicate that Scurry County girls won several first and second places. A complete list of the prizes they won will be available next week, for the girls return this week-end, after an encampment lasting since Sunday.

Here are the four girls who made the trip: Jessie Dowden and Lucile Hardin of Hud, Eloise Lewis of Ira and Mildred Davis of Ennis Creek. They won free Fair trips through Four-H club work done under direction of Miss Jessie Lee Davis, home demonstration agent.

A. P. Morris Doesn't Forget A Dream of His Yesterdays

A 28-year period in the lives of most people sees hundreds of ambitions replaced by other ambitions; hundreds of plans replaced by other other plans; hundreds of tasks replaced by other tasks. We forget, as a rule, the resolutions and the goals of yesterday as the shadows of today lengthen.

But A. P. Morris, Snyder resident, has not forgotten one of yesterday's dreams.

More than a quarter century ago, when Mr. Morris was a traveling salesman in West Texas, he was bitten by a thought germ the effect of which has not been lost. Jogging along with a hack and team between towns often stretching 30 and 40 miles apart, he had plenty of time for thought. Then he revamped his thoughts into ideas, his ideas into action, his action into an invention.

He is hoping now that he may revamp his invention into at least enough money to repay him for the time and expense of perfecting it, placing it on the market and manufacturing it.

Works for Years on Invention.

From 1901 until 1910 Mr. Morris harbored his idea, and finally invented a workable double action windmill pump. But the pump lacked practicality, in a field of heavy competition. So the inventor made some improvements, never forsaking his brainchild even when it seemed destined to die the death of countless unheralded inventions.

Now the Snyder man believes he has a pump that will get 75 per cent more liquid in the same length of time as the older pumps, using the same power and the same sucker rods and piping that were required in operating the old single action pump. He has been working for some time

Many Corrections For Puzzle Picture

You'd be surprised. And so were we—at the way folks turned in corrections to the "What's Wrong and Where" picture in last week's Snyder News.

Just as we opened the office door Friday morning Brandon Moffett rushed in with the first list of corrections, so he received the first two passes to see "Where East Is East" at the Palace. In a little while Pat Bullock brought in a neatly typewritten solution. The remaining tickets went to R. S. Moore and Miss Winnie Garner.

Before Saturday had passed the replies were stacked up on the society editor's desk.

This week's picture will be found on an inside page.

BUSINESS MEN TO FETE LADIES

A cleverly arranged entertainment program featured the regular Wednesday meeting of the Business Men's Luncheon-Lions Club. W. O. Logan, J. N. Blakey, A. A. Bullock, Munger Lewis and Warren Dodson wisecracked their way out of several tight places before hostilities ceased and the serious features of the hour were introduced.

J. E. Sentell invited each member of the club to assist in making the visit of Col. Bill Easterwood, nationally known Legion man, to this city Sunday afternoon a successful one.

The club members indicated that they would be in Roscoe Friday almost 100 per cent. A transportation committee, appointed by President C. Wedgeworth to arrange ways of carrying the band and pep squad members to the game, began its work by receiving several offers of cars by the membership. Superintendent Wedgeworth pointed out that the game would probably be not only the best of the season but the one on which most depends as far as the district championship is concerned.

The chairman also urged the club members to support the 1929 Follies, produced by Homer Springfield and 75 high school girls, which was scheduled for Thursday night. Jimmie Smith called attention to the goodwill tour which will make Snyder its stopping place the night of November 5. Action was delayed on this matter until next meeting time, when a program and entertainment committee will probably be appointed.

Abe Rogers, Warren Dodson and A. A. Bullock were appointed as a committee to arrange for entertainment of "the ladies" between Hallowe'en and Thanksgiving, after the club voted unanimously to entertain them.

HIGHWAY MEN PLAN TO PAVE

The two-mile strip of Shackelford County highway, which has been a hindrance to east-west travelers several years, will be paved as soon as possible, according to the highway commission's promise to a delegation of six West Texans who met with the state body Tuesday.

The delegation, of which Judge Horace Holley of Scurry County was a member, submitted three resolutions from this section asking that improvements be made in highways No. 83 and 18. Carl Roundtree, representative from Lamesa, Richard Deys of Albany, the secretary of the Mineral Wells Chamber of Commerce, and two Stamford delegates were in the party.

The commission also promised to make surveys looking toward a better routing between Weatherford and Mineral Wells. Should such a project be attempted, much traffic would be thrown toward Scurry County which now goes on the lower section of the Bankhead. When the two-mile strip in Shackelford County is paved, many tourists will also be directed along the shorter route over highway No. 83, or the Dal-Paso Cavern line.

One of the three resolutions was turned down by the commission—that asking for designation of the north loop of highway No. 1, or the Bankhead, with federal markers, like the south loop.

Judge Holley states that he is well pleased with the results of the trip, and he thinks that the commission will henceforth consider this section in a more favorable light.

Work Is Started on New Lumber Yard

Lines have been run and excavations have started for the new Burton-Lingo Company lumber yard, which is to be erected just east of the R. S. & P. depot. Announcement that an up-to-date yard would be built was made several weeks ago by C. W. Harless, manager of the concern.

January 1 has been set as the time for opening in the new yard. In the meantime, the company continues at its location just to the northeast of the square.

SCHOOL OPENS FIRST OF WEEK IN IRA SECTION

An auditorium packed with children from Ira and Sharon districts, and with a number of parents from both communities, greeted Elmer Taylor, principal, and his corps of five teachers when the Ira school had its opening Monday morning.

In one of Scurry County's most modern buildings, which was erected early in 1928, the Sharon children gathered for the first time, their district having been consolidated with the Ira district during the past year. They came in two new Ford school busses, which were driven by Principal Taylor and Clyde Key. The outlying district has an official scholastic roll of 62, and about 50 of that number were present for the first day of school.

Enrollment in the Ira school will probably be between 225 and 250 for the year.

County Superintendent A. A. Bullock and Snyder's superintendent, C. Wedgeworth, were speakers at the opening exercises. Mr. Bullock congratulated the progressive district on its consolidation step, telling the patrons that in such unity there was strength. He urged that every Sharon student and parent would consider themselves parts of the Ira school system, forgetting in a school way that they came from Sharon. He told the students to never forget, even if they were told many times, that their early school years were the basis of their future, and as such should be used to the best advantage.

Preceding the superintendent's talk Principal Taylor extended a welcome to the new Sharon people and to the Ira patrons, insisting that they consider themselves as one united group working for the good of the children of both communities.

Mr. Wedgeworth, who was a leader in the organization of one of Texas' first consolidated schools, extended warm congratulations to everyone in any way connected with the school. He stated that consolidation was no longer an experiment—that it had proven its worth over a period of years and that in no case had it proven impractical when given the proper leeway. He urged that patrons would not cast their opinions against the proposition of consolidation until they had given it a trial.

Using service as the keynote of his address to the students, Mr. Wedgeworth told the beautiful story of a brilliant doctor who submerged his money-making ambitions beneath a promise of service to his home-town people.

J. C. Smyth, editor of The Snyder News, also a visitor at the opening exercises, spoke briefly in congratulation of the progressive spirit which made such a rural school possible.

The trustees of the Ira independent district, O. H. Holladaay, J. A. Thompson, Tom Hailey and Mr. Davenport, were introduced by the principal. E. A. Crowder, speaking for the Sharon people, pledged co-operation in every way possible from his community.

Last year the faculty numbered only six. An addition was made necessary this session due to the consolidation. The faculty now includes: Elmer Taylor, principal and teacher in the high school; Mrs. Elmer Taylor, grade teacher; Clyde

Snyder Represented At C. of C. Meeting

Mr. Thrane was named as one of a committee of five to arrange overnight a plan to wipe out the organization's indebtedness and to finance the chamber's work for 1930, according to an Associated Press report Thursday morning. The debt is between $18,000 and $25,000.

Two Snyder delegates to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention at El Paso left this city early in the week for the border gathering. They are O. P. Thrane, director in the sectional body, and J. W. Scott, secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Thrane accompanied the delegates.

Early reports from the convention indicate that it will be the greatest ever held in the young body's history. The two local delegates are expected to return with glowing reports of regional plans for the coming year.

107 Pounds Pulled By Girl Aged Four

Four miles southeast of Snyder lives a four-year-old girl who gives Scurry County cotton pickers a new mark at which to shoot.

Little Miss Juanita Patrick, daughter of J. E. Patrick, perhaps is not the champion boll puller in this section, but she at least has set a record of which any girl her age might be proud.

Dock Kelley tells that the young lady pulled 54 pounds in a half day and 107 pounds in a full day.

This county has many things of which to be proud even if cotton doesn't bring 25 cents a pound.

Miss Helen Reagan and Tracy Smith United in Beautiful Home Wedding

Miss Helen Reagan, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. Reagan of Big Spring, and Tracy T. Smith, son of Judge and Mrs. Fritz R. Smith of Snyder, were united in marriage Saturday afternoon at a beautiful wedding ceremony performed at the home of the parents of the bride.

Rev. Dow H. Heard, pastor of the First Baptist church, read an original wedding ceremony, written by him especially for the occasion.

Cut flowers of rose orchid and blue were set in floor baskets and handsome low bowls.

The reception room was made into a festive scene with large baskets of tea roses which accented the draperies and the embellishments of the room.

Queen's wreath, October daisies and plumbago centered the table in the dining room and were mirrored in a handsome tray and flanked by four tall rose orchid tapers in silver candelabra. The silver service and silver appointments of the table added the gilt touch. The table was laid with an imported all-lace ecru banquet cloth.

The wedding party entered to the strains of the Wedding March from "Lohengrin" (Wagner), played by W. R. Dawes. The bride was especially attractive in a gown of rose orchid lace with uneven hem and worn with the transparent lace jacket. She wore silver slippers and carried a shower bouquet of white sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Fritz R. Smith and Miss Elizabeth Smith of Snyder were among those in the receiving line and throngs of friends attended the reception following the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith are members of families long prominent in West Texas. Mrs. Smith was born and reared in Big Spring and was educated in Big Spring High School and Baylor University. Mr. Smith, formerly of Snyder, is a practicing attorney in Big Spring and is corporation counsel of that city. He was educated in Texas Christian University, Simmons University and Cumberland, Tennessee, Law School.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith left immediately following the wedding trip for a brief wedding trip, after which they will return to Big Spring and make their home there.

Birthday Party for E. J. Richardson.

On Saturday afternoon Mrs. E. J. Richardson complimented her little son, E. J. Jr., with a party honoring him on his eighth birthday.

The Hallowe'en color scheme of black and yellow was carried out in the home decorations and unique Hallowe'en favors were given to the guests.

Various games were played, after which a delicious ice course was served to the following guests: Misses Juaese Burt, Wynona Keller, Katherine King, Milton Louise Joyce, Mary Curnutte, Vivian Chenault, Virginia Preuitt and Alice Caskey; Messrs. INCREASE SEEN IN DAIRY COWS

From 1925 to 1929 the number of dairy cows on Texas farms increased from 731,491 to 955,000, or 30.6 per cent.

Striking as are these figures, the improvement in the quality of dairy animals was probably even more marked, for in the last three years 196 bull circles have been organized in 84 Texas counties, and 814 pure-bred bulls. These bull circles, together with the importation of considerable "she" stuff, have done wonders at increasing milk production.

The development in dairying has not been one-sided. There has been an industrial advancement along with progress on the farms. New home markets have been created, affording good prices for all the milk that can be produced.

The state's first cheese plant was built some two years ago at Round Rock, and from the very first it has enjoyed exceptional success, having to add to the size of its building and to its facilities for manufacturing.

Other cheese plants have been established and put in operation at Buda, Cameron, Valley Mills, Denton, Hamilton, Denison and Wichita Falls.

The most famous names known to the trade—Borden, Carnation, Douthitt—henceforth will carry Texas milk to the kitchens and tables of America in convenient packages of tin, glass and paper. Condensed and powdered milks are offering market advantages for thousands of gallons of milk produced on Texas farms.

Fashion Show Given In Fox Follies Film

A beautiful array of gowns is displayed in the William Fox Movietone Follies of 1929, which is to have its local premier next week at the Palace Theatre Wednesday, and continues through Thursday.

One number serves to introduce Miss Dixie Lee, until recently featured in the Broadway production of "Good News," in which she danced and sang the "Varsity Drag." The Fox Follies number she sings is "Why Can't I Be Like You?" Strolling down Fifth Avenue, she is struck by a marvelous display of gowns on models in a modiste's window. She stops to inspect them, wondering why she never can get clothes like those she sees in the window. She sings, "Why Can't I Be Like You?" based on this theme, and is astounded when the models come to life and parade for her inspection.

The song was written by Con Conrad, Sidney D. Mitchell and Archie Gottler, who also staged the number, assisting the revue director, Marcel Silver.

The show girls who serve as models are Youda Hay, Sue Rainey, Lucile Jacques, Irish Ashton, Katherine Irving, Lita Chevret, Melva Cornell, Dorothy Cecil, Mildred Myrnie, Sugar Adair, Betty Becklaw and Marie Cooper.

The Fox Follies were directed by David Butler, who also provided the story. William K. Wells supplied the dialog. Sue Carol, Sharon Lynn and Lola Lane are other girl principals. In all, there are 200 performers.

The Weekly Dozen.

Not so cold to an old-time West Texan, perhaps; but my fingers are half-numb, even if several coatless fellows are passing the door.

The main thing the matter with this world is that too many men are neglecting their business and eyeing shapely calves.

The chief difference between a farmer and a merchant, says one observer, is that the farmer tills the soil while the merchant soils the till.

One of the Tiger boosters who attended the Big Spring game insists that the Steers were not all bull; that fellow Bell made a lot of noise, too.

A fellow has to get away from home to appreciate the beauty of Scurry's court house and its lawn. Even the sparrows don't like the Howard County temple of justice.

Pessimism Pete is convinced that women who wear furs while blue northers are whistling are as scarce as Eskimos who wear negligees; "it takes the sun to make the fur fly," says the sage.

What's the use of having a dictionary when the sedate Dallas News spells "athletics" with two "e's" on the front page? The world's spelling ability has assuredly been drowned beneath the deluge of newspapers.

No one stops to see whether the cars are going to stop at "stop" signs in the cities. In Snyder we not only stop; we wait, wonder, smile at the careful driver, and scurry across the white marker in double quick time.

Our business neighbor to the north is certain that there's nothing like it. We sometimes wondered if he did not have indirect reference to this weekly column. Latterly we have found that he thinks the weekly dozen is just another name for radio exercises.

Roscoe things just because she's on the Bankhead Highway the Tigers will be humbled before her pigskin artists. The chief highway through town after the Snyder bunch gets through, we are hoping, will be from the center of the field to the purple-and-gold goal line.

It's funny about the Dallas Fair. Half the folks who go say it's bigger and better than ever. The other half say it's the same old thing. But they go just the same, and they'll go next year. "The same old thing" is what half the folks want, anyway. That's the reason Scurry is such an overwhelming cotton county.

The Difference.

A certain Colorado young lady found a package of love letters recently that had been written to her mother by her father, before they were married. The daughter saw that she could have a little sport, read them to her mother, substituting her own name for that of her mother and a fine young man for that of her father.

The mother jumped up and down in her chair, shifting her feet and seemed terribly disgusted, and forbid her daughter to have anything to do with a man who would write such sickening and nonsensical stuff to a young lady.

When the young lady handed the letters to her mother to read, the house became so still that one could hear the grass grow in the back yard and the bedticks tick in the next room.—Colorado Record.

Carelessness, Great Destroyer.

Today, if this is an average 24 hours, several score people will be killed and thousands injured in automobile accidents. It happened yesterday, and it will happen again tomorrow.

Somebody turned without giving a signal; somebody was driving too fast; somebody didn't stop at a school district or through a boulevard; somebody insisted too much on right-of-way or what he conceived to be his privilege; somebody lost his head in a crisis. The result: Casualties and waste, in lives and property, that knowledge, caution and fairness toward others would have prevented.

It should be a reasonably simple thing to observe traffic laws, to keep a machine under control, to learn the written and unwritten rules of the road, and to keep one's eyes open for the mistakes of others as well as one's own. Yet millions of motorists fail to do so.

It should be remembered that every accident is caused because someone was reckless, incompetent, careless or ignorant. Unpreventable accidents are rare. And in this day of fast cars and congested traffic, the poor driver is a menace to the life and property of every citizen.—Webster (La.) Sentinel.

Guessing As to Governor.

Men—and possibly the ladies, too—are asking why Dan Moody is filling important places with prospective gubernatorial candidates.

There is Lee Bobbitt, who had been speaker of the House and is understood to have a desire to move into the governor's mansion, where rent is free; Dan Moody plumps him into the place made vacant by Attorney General Pollard.

There is Pat Neff, who stood ready as the public believes, to enter for governor in the event Earle Mayfield shied his castor in the ring; Dan Moody hurries to hand him the chairmanship of the Texas Railroad Commission, a body that has practically ceased to function.

There is a suspicion abroad in the land that Dan is seeking to remove all obstructions in the political highway for his good friend, Ross Sterling.—Hico News Review.

Washington Letter

By Helm News Service, Inc.

Washington.—The tireless seeker for news and chronicler of happenings at the national capital last week was cloyed with monotony to the point of extinction. With whatever station he attempted to tune in—who, why, when or where—all he could get was a bed-time story on lobbyism.

Of course, Premier MacDonald has come and gone, and his visit was epochal, but no one seems to know just what Mr. MacDonald said to Mr. Hoover and what Mr Hoover replied to Mr. MacDonald when they sat together on the log out at the presidential camp and whittled wooden whistles from willow twigs.

Of course, Mr. Shearer was recalled before the Senate investigating committee to explain his possession of certain supposedly secret governmental documents, but about all anyone could get on that wave-length was static.

Of course, the defense of Albert B. Fall has just suffered a blow with Associate Justice Hitz ruling that evidence of Harry F. Sinclair's payments to Mr. Fall might be placed before the jury, now trying the latter on a charge of accepting, while Secretary of the Interior, a $100,000 bribe, the consideration of which, the government charges, was the lease to Edward L. Doheny of the Elk Hills naval oil reserve. But it still remains for the defense to be heard from, wherefore any comment would be premature.

Of course, Great Britain's naval parley bids have been accepted—tentatively, at least—by Italy, France and Japan, but with what conditions and qualifications these acceptances have been saddled has not yet been made public. So there is nothing to do except pull through the brief pause for station announcement.

Of course, railroad projects in the east have been thrown into fresh confusion—perhaps completely out of joint—through the creation of a group of gigantic holding corporations by rival trunk lines, beyond the power of regulation by the Interstate Commerce Commission, but at this writing no human is capable of fathoming the ultimate outcome.

Of course, the cries sent up by the regular Republicans of the Senate imploring the Democrats and progressive Republicans to come to their assistance in pushing through their tariff bill availed them nothing, and today they continue wallowing along helplessly in the slough of despondency, without immediate hope of vicarious aid from their opponents and forced, much against their will, to incorporate in their bill certain provisions suggested by the Democrats and progressives. So the Senate continues to shout into the microphone, oblivious of the fact that its audience of the air is listening in elsewhere.

Of course, Gen. Charles G. Dawes, ambassador to the Court of St. James, wearing a cloak and white pin-stripe suit and smoking his inevitable underslung pipe, stepped off the Ile de France a few days ago, with many things under his hat which an army of correspondents wanted to know all about, but Mr. Dawes not only scrupulously avoided all discussion of naval limitations but sidetracked anything which concerned British diplomacy and what he termed "shop talk."

Of course, President Hoover's law enforcement commission met after a long recess and, first by instructions to do something about prohibition, appointed two experts to conduct a joint inquiry into the lawlessness of government enforcement officers, but apart from the fact that the two experts who will aid the Wickersham commission are Walter H. Pollak of New York, who aided the United States attorney general in prosecuting Nicky Arnstein of the bond theft ring, and Prof. Zecharoah Chafee of the Harvard law school, developments must be patiently awaited.

Of course, the tariff situation became more complicated than ever with expressions of confidence by Democrats and western Republicans that they had enough votes to insert the export debenture plan in the Hawley-Smoot bill. Leaders of the same coalition which placed the debenture in the farm relief measure over the protest of President Hoover, only to have it eliminated after the House went on record overwhelmingly against it, said they were ready for a vote on the proposition now and claimed it would pass with a comfortable majority. But what will happen should the bill go to the House with the debenture in it?

Of course, the Senate put on a show of verbal warfare against the confirmation of Legge, Williams and McKelvie as members of the farm board, but it turned out to be nothing more than the usual senatorial gesture. True, there were some fireworks, particularly when Senator Brookhart, in answer to a bitter challenge from Senator Wheeler, said that he would not have supported Herbert Hoover in the late campaign had he known that "this would be what the farmers would get," and when Senator Norris stormed "I told you so," and emphatically declared that he would again bolt the Republican ticket on account of this effort toward relief which did not relieve. But no one doubted the ultimate confirmation of the whole board.

But so far as lobby dissertations were concerned, the reception was wonderful and the amperage far too high for successful attempt to cut out any station broadcasting on this subject. The wheels of the anti-lobby machine are grinding. The grist appears at first glance to be a heterogeneous mass, but upon careful analysis it is noted that under the Senate resolution to investigate the activities of the lobby at Washington, there was no attempt to separate the sheep from the goats. Lobbying is something of a generic term. It may cover open and honorable attempts unselfishly to influence the action of Congress, as well as hidden and sordid efforts to extract personal advantages from legislation.

Heretofore, in this column, your correspondent has called attention to the fact that lobbying is most suspicious and offensive and only really dangerous when it is conducted in secret. No one can object to the appearance of witnesses before congressional committees, either voluntarily or by request, to state their views and to request that action be taken in accordance with such views. But when there are pussy-wants-a-corner proceedings, when political periscopes are essential to observance, when the powers behind the thrones must be sought, when money from undeterminable sources of supply is being lavishly spent, when individuals with a direct pecuniary interest in a pending bill seek by fair means or foul to attain their ends, there is room for scandal and ground for inquiry.

When uncovering of the Shearer mess evoked a blast of protest from the white house, with demand that the paid activities of Shearer be looked into, your correspondent stated in this column that tariff lobbyists were just as obnoxious as those working for or against naval measures and shipping bills. The very first hearing before the Senate committee justified this statement. Not only did this hearing uncover certain men who, while professing to give expert advice to the committee, were working for their own pockets, but it brought out an extraordinary shifting of characters in the tariff extravaganza.

At one performance, an actor appeared as an avowed lobbyist. At the next, you found him on the program as an official member of the tariff commission. Then he went back and assumed the lobbyist role. In view of such a display of versatility, it is not surprising to find him turning up with a demand that a bona fide expert should be dismissed because he submitted figures to the Senate finance committee which, while correct, were not the ones which the highly protected manufacturers desired. No wonder it is called "the American system."

During the recent Senate session, when the subject of cotton prices was under discussion, Seantor Heflin injected his usual characteristic humorous touch. Said Mr. Heflin: "Two farmers up in Ohio were talking about the tariff bill, and one of them said, 'I remember very well that when women wore more clothes and longer dresses it took two sheep 365 days in the year, working all of the time, to grow enough wool for one woman's wardrobe, but now,' he says, 'in this flapper age two silkworms working Sunday afternoon can do the job.'"

D. 1929, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said court as No. 2531, wherein Myrtle Hopper is plaintiff, and Homer Hopper is defendant, and said petition alleging that the plaintiff has been an actual bonafide inhabitant in the state of Texas, for a period of 12 months and has resided in the County of Scurry, where this suit is filed, for a period of six months, next preceding the filing thereof.

That plaintiff has at all times conducted herself with propriety, doing her duty as a wife and treating defendant with kindness and forbearance. GAS AVAILABLE IN EVERY HOME

Natural gas is now available to everyone in and near Snyder as well as generally over the state due to the development of a new method of transporting this fuel.

Stargas, a natural gas in cylinders, is the name of the new product which makes it possible for those who do not live near gas mains to have this convenience.

The pictures herewith exemplify the two types of natural gas service now in use. The gas meter on the right is familiar to all those who have enjoyed natural gas service from main lines for these many years. To those who do not have gas mains near, the Stargas installation shown in the picture on the left has the same meaning as the time tried gas meter has to the city neighbor.

In the latest natural gas service, the gas in transported in cylinders instead of pipe lines and in place of the gas meter, the cylinders are connected to the housepiping. The same appliances with slight adjustments are used on both systems, thus rendering natural gas for cooking, lighting, hot water heating, ironing, and gas refrigeration available to everyone whether they are near a gas man or many miles from one. Each cylinder contains sufficient gas to supply a family of five about two months for cooking. Two cylinders are included in each installation, one being in service and the other as a reserve. As one cylinder becomes empty it is cut off and the other is turned on; the empty one can then be replaced without interrupting service.

Stargas is produced by the Lone Star Gas Company and is introduced by the local gas agency.

"THE RIGHT PRICE IS THE THING" SNYDER, TEXAS

CLASS A TEAM TOO MUCH FOR TIGER ELEVEN

Battling the Class A Big Spring Steers on almost even terms for the last half on the Howard County capital's grid last Friday, Snyder Tigers emerged on the small end of a 19-7 score in their fifth game of the season, following a disastrous first half.

After the Big Spring eleven had marched two-thirds of the distance down the field on straight line plays following the initial kick-off, Rogers carried the ball over for the first counter before Snyder had her hands on it.

Again the host city's team threatened before the half ended when they recovered a pass over Clark's head and started a drive from Snyder's 20-yard line. They failed to make the grade by inches, and Huestis kicked out of danger.

Fumbles contributed largely to the Big Spring victory, even in the face of their 16 to five first-down advantage. Three times in succession when a touchdown seemed certain the local backfield booted the ball and a Steer was always there to recover. In the third quarter Snyder made three first downs to their opponents' two, and at the third rest period hopes for a Snyder lead were brighter than at any time during the tilt. Then the costly fumbles began, and Big Spring's total mounted from 6-0 at the half to 19-0, after a series of passes and line plays.

The locals' lone touchdown came in the last period, when three consecutive passes put the oval across from the 50-yard line. With Huestis on the throwing end each time, Erwin snagged one for 13 yards, McClinton for the same distance, and Jones crossed the entire Big Spring eleven by receiving a 5-yard pass across center and trotting the remaining 12 yards for the counter.

Stanley Norman, Big Spring Herald sports editor, writes that his home towners displayed by far the best form of the season, even in face of their 6-6 tie with the strong Mineral Wells squad two weeks ago. Until the Mineral Wells game the Howard County eleven had found the going exceedingly tough in their newly-acquired Class A rating.

The first half was so one-sided, even if Coach Red Moore's charges did battle royally, that the host fans looked for a walk-away after the half. Nine first downs were made during those first 30 minutes by the Steers, while the Tigers failed to get going for 10 yards at any time.

To start the third quarter Huestis kicked out on the 32-yard line. From there Big Spring made only four yards in two downs, and McClinton returned the punt that followed—five yards to the 26-yard line. Martin made Snyder's biggest gain up to that time when he went through a big hole for nine yards. He followed with a two-yard burrow for Snyder's initial first down. Erwin made three through the line, a pass failed, and Huestis gave Snyder her second first down with a 26-yard dash around right end on a fake play.

McClinton made five yards off tackle, Martin following with three through center and then one through center. Erwin made the third consecutive first down on a two-yard buck. Then McClinton fumbled for a Big Spring recovery. The backing-up Steers promptly punted, but Snyder again fumbled after two line plays.

Big Spring opened with a brilliant passing attack, aided principally by well-aimed punches at the line by the fleet-footed Bell. Twenty-five yards, 21 yards and five yards were made consecutively by the air route. After one exchange of the ball and an unsuccessful line play, Bell passed to Edwards, who accidentally received the ball, for the second touchdown.

A series of line plays accounted for the third Big Spring counter, which hoisted the score to 19-0. Shortly after this event came the three Snyder passes which accounted for six points, with Erwin kicking a left-footed goal. The remaining few minutes of the game were without threats for either squad, save for Bell's 30-yard return of Snyder's last kick-off.

This County Second In Section Ginnings

Scurry County had ginned more cotton up to October 1 than any other county in this section, with the exception of Mitchell County, according to the department of agriculture report. Nine counties in this portion of West Texas had ginned 29,722 bales of the 1929 crop when the tabulation was taken.

Nolan was third on the list with 3,712 bales, as compared to Mitchell's 6,437 bales and Scurry's 3,744 bales. Ginnings in all these counties are much earlier than last year, as the following comparative table will show:

County—	1929	1928
Mitchell	6,437	941
Scurry	3,744	308
Nolan	3,712	499

MORRIS—

in San Antonio, attempting to get the ear of a manufacturer. One of the South Texas city's leading machinery makers has taken the patent in hand, and is making the pumps to order.

Scurry County farmers who want one of the pumps can get it by seeing Mr. Morris. Several in this and other sections have found that it measures up to every claim of the inventor.

Mr. Morris believes that the pump could be manufactured right here in Snyder in quantities that would make it a profitable investment and an asset to the town. . . But this talkative writer is taking the story from the inventor's pen. Hear it as he writes in his own words:

How the Idea Started.

"I have been asked the question, 'How did you become interested in such an invention as a double action pump?' Well, it is a little unusual for one to make discoveries outside the line of business in which he is engaged. In my case, it was like this: In 1901 to 1903 I was engaged as traveling salesman over the western part of Texas. It was before the automobile's day. We drove over the country by hack and team. There were not so many towns then as now. 30 to 40 miles was a good day's travel for a team of horses.

"Traveling alone with nothing but cattle, windmills and grass as scenery, it is easy to say that one would get just a little lonely; so one day while traveling across the plains of Western Texas, where there was nothing but barbed wire fences to obstruct the view, my mind was arrested on a windmill that was running wild. Knowing, theoretically, the construction of the pump that was being operated by this mill, I said, 'Why this waste of time and energy as well as wear of machinery?'

Gets Patent in 1910.

"The plunger of this pump bringing water on the up stroke did nothing going down but pound the bearings in the pump jack or windmill head. Well, this was a good suggestion, so I was not lonesome any more, but was busy constructing double action pumps in my mind when I had nothing else to think on. In 1910 I patented a double action pump as a result of this thinking.

"I found, however, after sufficient test, that my pump was not as practical as it should be to take its place in the field of competition with other pumps. It pumped the water all right, but I could not pull the plunger from the cylinder if a new leather had to be installed, so I abandoned the pump and later on I made some improvements on this principal which resulted in a practical pump which I am now having manufactured in San Antonio. We have them working under windmills, gas engines and steam engines, and find that we have a pump with which we can get 75 more liquid in the same time, using the same power and the same sucker rods and piping that are required in operating the old single action pump.

Can Convert Old Pump.

"Not only is it possible to pump more water, but we can take your old single action pump and put our attachments onto the barrel and convert it into a double action pump without discarding anything except the sleeve off the upper end of the barrel and the check valve off the sucker rod.

"We think the entire country needs such a pump, so we are going to offer this pump for sale in this country. If you want one you will have a chance to get it."

FORMER LOCAL YOUTH IS HURT

James Morrow, 22 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Morrow, residents of Snyder from 1919 until 1925, who was found unconscious beside highway No. 30, near Stamford, Monday morning, is improving, according to latest reports from his bedside. It was at first thought that young Morrow had been slugged, and his condition was thought critical, but high hopes are now held for his recovery. The opinion of the Stamford chief of police is that the slight concussion of the brain was accidental.

Marvin Morrow, the boy's father was owner of the Grayum Drug Company, now Warren Brothers, from 1919 until 1925. James Morrow attended school here during those years. Both parents were at the bedside in the Stamford sanitarium until Wednesday, when the father returned to his present home in Dallas. The Morrows lived at Abilene a short while before moving to Dallas.

Young Morrow, a student in the West Point preparatory school, Fort Sill, Oklahoma, was found at 10:00 o'clock Monday morning, two and one-half miles north of Stamford, in Haskell County, by two Hobbs brothers of Merkel who took him the sanitarium.

In a conscious moment Monday, the young man told G. G. Flournoy, Stamford chief of police, that he left Abilene, where he had been visiting, about 4:00 a. m. with a man about 35 years old, wearing a dark suit and driving a Dodge roadster, bearing Oklahoma license plates. He also stated about his money—$15. There was no money in his purse when he was found.

The youth came to Abilene last Thursday by airplane, having left Fort Sill Wednesday on leave from the school.

The minister becomes more and more of the conviction daily that the present aloofness from the church both by churchmen and non churchmen, is positive proof of the deep seated honesty and integrity of men and women who seek a positive Christianity, and therefore are in rebellion against a negative or trashy Christianity as for large part, is revealed in much of our modern-day teaching and application of the gospel message to real life. Therefore, he seeks to meet the problem face to face with a positive gospel positively declared, but with love to all. In this he is confident of the greatest possible assurance of eternal salvation to all who obey the covenant in its very strictest sense. In this, he charges no other ministers and no other churches more than his own.

We all have been cowards to present truth as it has been found, lest we trample on the toes of some who have not lived it. If we all feared God like we fear men, we might have less of bread and butter in our leaders, but more stars in our crowns. For the very heart of Christian living, but without condemnation, except the Scriptures condemn us. The endeavor shall be, however, to make these hours veritable love feasts.

Let us be like the prophet of old who, when looking down through the centuries to the time of the coming of our Lord, could say: "I was glad when they said unto me, Let us go into the house of the Lord."

Thos. M. Broadfoot, Minister.

Cold Wave Strikes Scurry County Folk

Scurry County people jerked their noses back under the cover when they awoke Tuesday morning, for old Man Cold Weather had sent his first real threat of the season to warn them that Winter is just around the corner.

The low temperature has continued through most of the week, and a few of the thin-blooded ones have sought solace beneath the heavy folds of overcoats.

Of course, comparatively speaking, the weather isn't cold, but it is such a sudden change from the mild temperatures which have held sway for several weeks that folks feel the sting down to their marrow.

The chilling wave has slowed up cotton picking to a noticeable extent, but reports from all parts of the county indicate that new blooms and new bolls continue to predict that the county's total yield will reach near 20,000 bales.

session each year being designated the annual meeting. It will be more elaborate than the other quarterly business sessions, entertainment and educational features being added to the program.

A nominating committee, which will make its report at the January convention at Big Spring, was named at the Colorado meeting. It held a short business session following the council meeting. The committee is headed by Prof. B. H. McLain of Sweetwater. Abe Rogers of Snyder, Gerald Riordan of Colorado, Wendel Bedichek of Big Spring and B. G. Graffa of Midland.

A banquet was served at 6:30 p. m. preceding the business session. Each man introduced himself, giving his address and connection with scouting.

A feature of the meeting was presentation by Chairman Elliott to Weldon Skinner of Colorado of an Eagle Scout badge. Mr. Skinner, 22 years old, now an assistant scoutmaster in Colorado, has been in scout work 11 years and has more than 40 merit badges. He filled requirements for the Eagle award two years ago but because certain correspondence with national headquarters was necessary before award was approved there, he had not received the badge.

Mr. Elliott formerly was Mr. Skinner's scoutmaster.

In accepting the medal Mr. Skinner declared he felt that if he could become the sort of man his scout leaders in Colorado had proven themselves to be he would feel the medal meant much but that if he could not it would be "just a medal."

Clyde Payne of Sweetwater, area treasurer, made his report, which was approved. It showed a total of $4,409.05 received in subscriptions from various towns and other receipts. Big Spring had paid $345 into the area treasury during the year, it was shown. Sweetwater had paid $1,466; Roscoe had paid in $47.75; Midland, $930.51; Colorado, $1,025.75; and Snyder, $276.

Expenditures have totaled $3,900.

On motion by K. Ambrose of Midland the council voted to have an auditing committee appointed to examine the books, strike a balance and fix the financial records of the area so that the new executive, A. C. Williamson, can have accurate basis on which to work in the future.

Past due pledges total $1,036.75. Collections on these are expected to be sufficient to conduct the area's business for the remainder of the year.

Items in the budget for 1930 include: Executive's salary, $3,000; office salary, $600; telephone and telegraph, $60; office supplies, $150; postage, $150; publicity, $300; transportation, $1,300; camps and hikes, $500; leadership training conference, $300; rallies and field days, $200; national quota and charter fee, $150; badges, $75; miscellaneous, $115; office equipment, $100; camp properties, $200; salary of field executive for west end of area, $1,800; expenses of field executive, $300.

Suggested quotas for various towns were fixed. They are: Sweetwater and Big Spring, $2,500 each; Midland, $2,000; Colorado, $1,500; Snyder, $1,000; Rotan, $400; Odessa, $250; Jayton, $100; Stanton, $200; Roscoe, $200.

LEAGUES PLAN DISTRICT MEET

Epworth Leaguers of the Sweetwater district will gather at Roscoe this week-end to hold the second district meeting of the current year 1929-30. At least 200 delegates are expected to be on hand for the meeting. The last meeting, which was held in Snyder, had an attendance of approximately 200 Leaguers, and this meeting is expected to even exceed the record-breaking meeting held in the local Methodist church.

Sheriff Misses Out On Bold Jail Break

While Sheriff F. M. Brownfield was up at Lubbock last week he came within a few minutes of witnessing one of the most unusual jail breaks on record.

Mr. Brownfield and one of his friends had gone from the jail a short while, leaving the jailer alone with the prisoners. When the pair returned the jailer was breaking out with cold sweat and was so excited he hardly remembered how to talk.

It seems that an ambitious young two-year man had been furnished with a six-shooter in some mysterious fashion and that he stuck it into the jailer's short ribs when the time was ripe. An ambitious young lady in an adjoining cell was released, at the revolters' orders, and she, in turn, was told to bind and gag the perspiring keeper, which she did.

The two promenaded forth on the roadway, but the jailer wormed himself out of his bonds and obtained help, chased after the duo, who had failed to obtain a ride, and escorted them back to the jail-house.

All-Star Cast in All-Talkie Film at Palace

When "The Fox," genius of the underworld, decides to take the lovely Madame Mystera, his accomplice in fake spiritualism and crime, to a night club he chooses the most lavish one in New York. They sit then at a table in one of the most exquisite "whoopee parlors" yet constructed for an all-talking picture.

Gamby-Hale girls from Boris Petroff's "Blue Revue" pirouette before them, and were the Madame played by Claudette Colbert, to fall for "The Fox" played by Edward G. Robinson, she would surely submit to his wiles amid such splendor. But she doesn't, and the mystery continues in "The Hole in the Wall," a Paramount all-talking picture with an all-star Broadway cast, which comes to the Palace Theatre on Monday and Tuesday.
