Volunteer Ambulance Association Answers 100 Calls First Year

After one full year of service, Olton Ambulance Association reports that response has been made to 100 calls for assistance.

The first call of the Association was answered Apr. 2, 1979 at 6 a.m. The 100th call was answered Apr. 10, 1980.

At a regular meeting of the Ambulance Association Tuesday night, directed by Gene Chaney chairman, plans were made to assign Lois Brimhall to work with Leon Noack. This will enable the program to continue as started, with as many day crews as night crews. This will fill a great need, since the loss of two qualified workers had brought about the shortage of one team.

Mrs. Brimhall, Rusty Powers and Scott Parker have just finished as Emergency Care Attendant course taught at Earth, qualifying them as attendants. Powers and Parker will be assigned to work with existing teams as soon as arrangements can be made and their schedule permits.

A review of past due accounts was made by the organization to determine what action should be taken in the matter of collection.

All attendants serving presently paid their own expenses for training received, which is not a small item. But upon a vote of the Association in this meeting, decision was made to offer to re-imburse expenses to any attendant in the future who passes either Emergency Medical Technician (EMT) or Emergency Care Attendant (ECA) and agrees to work with the Association. Such attendant would be subject to a review of the Board of Directors, before such re-payment could be made.

Bobbye Hutson, program director, presented a lesson in bandaging and splinting. Each attendant was assigned a "situation" in which bandage and splints were applied as the injury would demand.

At the next meeting Mrs. Hutson will direct a study concerning the use of oxygen equipment.

Daylight Time Begins Sunday For Residents

Daybreak didn't really come early this morning - it just seemed that way because of the advent of daylight savings time again. Popular with many, hated by others, DST compels residents across the nation to run clocks forward an hour each final Sunday in April.

Residents who failed to set clocks up an hour when they retired Saturday night may have found themselves missing morning Worship services April 27.

Enterprise Wins Awards In Panhandle Press Assn.

The Olton Enterprise found itself in a runner-up roll last weekend in the annual Panhandle Press Association Convention in Amarillo. The Enterprise captured one second place and two third place showings in the annual newspaper contest.

Recipe Revue took the second place win in woman's page feature. "The writing style of the 'Recipe Revue' is outstanding," commented the judges. "And in a weekly of this size it's unusual....so, who writes it?" (Answer -- Mozelle Trotter.)

The sought for category, General Excellence, gave the Enterprise third back of the State Line Tribune and McLean News. Judges commented, "The attention to local news reporting is highly commendable. The use of large photos is attractive and fits in with out thinking - if a photo is good enough to use, it's good enough to run big so you can tell what it is."

Freddy Stockdale's column, "Say What" also took third place win. "Stockdale's creativity with a simple situation is great...such as with the "Two Little Hurricanes'."

Attending the awards breakfast were Sue Cannon, editor, and Audie Thomas.

HI HO, SILVER (HAIRED COWBOY) -- Getting set for the races, Olton Olympics' stick horse races for cowboys over 35, that is, are Owen Norfleet, Charlie Koontz and Ross Bryant. The stick horse races are just a part of the fun events to be found in the Olympics Saturday, May 10 in Olton Memorial Stadium. There are events for everyone three years and older.

'Clean Up Campaign' In Spotlight

Olton State Bank this week places the "Community Spotlight" upon the annual Month-of-May Clean-Up Campaign.

The glare of the "Spotlight"...reveals that almost every block in the city has some tremendous need for clean-up activity.

May has been declared Clean-Up - Fix-Up Week. But the time for action has been shortened considerably. City trash trucks will begin their runs May 1.

For the purpose of City clean-up, city trucks will haul tree limbs and other refuse placed conveniently in the alley - at no charge.

But, because of the gasoline situation and other increased costs, these trucks will not be making repeated stops nor return trips this year.

Residents need to make a concerted effort to have all limbs and other trash placed in alleys before the truck makes its call. Charges will have to be made for any hauling done after that date.

The Olton Enterprise joins the Bank in urging that everyone join in to do his part in "making Olton a clean town that we can be proud of."

Weekend Athlete

BY FREDDY STOCKDALE

Basically, there are three types of athletes; amateur, professional and weekend. Count me as one of the latter.

Amateur athletes like to point out the fact they are participating in the sport they love without succumbing to the temptations of megabucks that their professional counterparts are enjoying. Of course, some amateurs are amateurs simply because they are not good enough to be professionals.

Nowadays it is almost like using a dirty word to label someone a "professional". Instead of looking upon a professional athlete as a person, who has acquired a complete competence in a certain sport, most people see a pro as a money, grabbing hot dog.

I keep hearing people on the street complaining that there are too many "professional politicians" in Washington. But there are more than enough amateur politicians. Those are the guys we need to get rid of.

As for me, I am neither amateur nor professional. I am one of the millions of weekend athletes.

We are the people who have neither the time or the money to afford a 3:30 tee off time everyday.

We seldom spend our hard earned worthless bucks on fancy equipment. Give us an old volleyball or basketball and a little space and we'll have ourselves a grand old time.

We are a special breed.

We are proud. We are tough. We are competitive. We are cheap.

We are weekend athletes because of our backgrounds. We were participating in every kind of sport year-round as high schoolers. When we graduated we went back to watch our former teammates, still in high school, do further battles on the various playing fields.

Some weekend athletes have told me that after they graduated they actually rooted against their alma maters. They said it made them feel that the team couldn't win without them.

I felt that way, too, but not for very long, because I realized that even when I was playing, the team won without me. Such was the life of a lonely flanker.

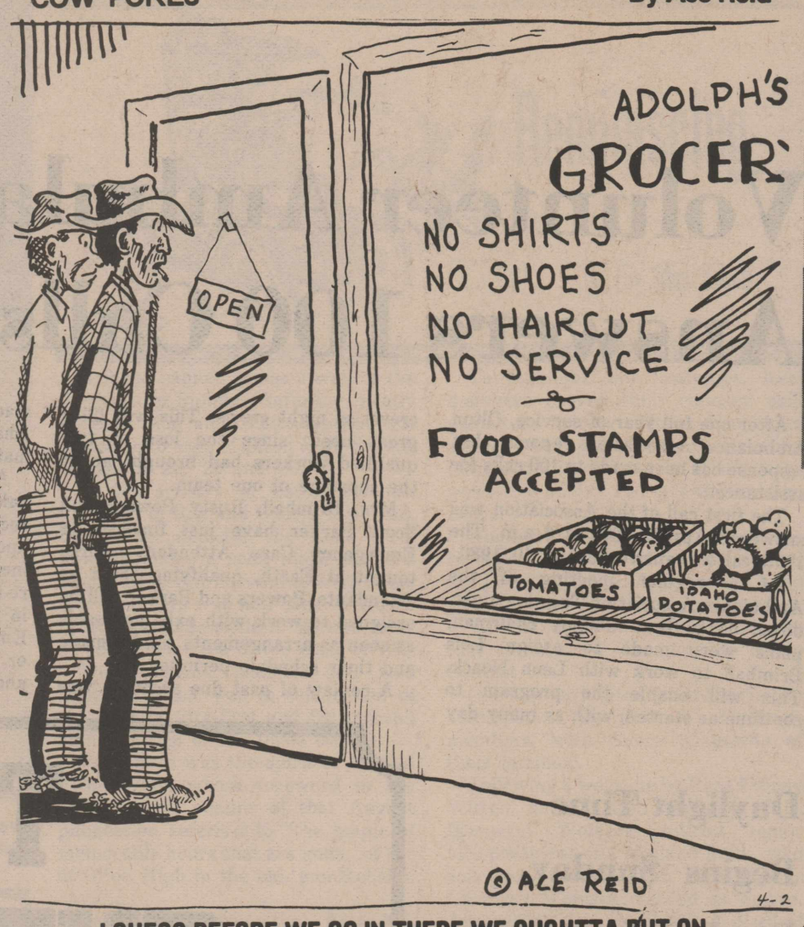

Weekend athletes realize that we can never return to the glory of our high school days, so we manufacture a little bit of our own on weekends.

The particular group of gangsters I hang around with get together every Sunday for a lively few games of volleyball. None of us are very good spiking the ball, but our put-downs of each other (all in fun) could be made into a fairly hilarious book.

The games are very competitive, but no is able to remember the scores five minutes after we leave. Maybe that is why being a weekend athlete is so much fun.

And besides, if we lose, nobody makes us run laps the next day.

Is There Cost Efficiency In Dealing With Youth Problem?

In this day of high costs and skyrocketing inflation, all of us have focused our attention on ways to cut expenses. Many have reduced the family travel and entertainment. Some have traded the gas guzzler for a gas mizer. The nation as a whole has realized that each must de his part in this moment of national crisis.

This personal philosophy has carried over into the business community and, all too slowly, into a few governmental organizations. Proprietors, board chairpersons, and heads of management are becoming increasingly more conscious of "COST EFFICIENCY", the actual cost per product or service. It has taken some time, much longer than that of the business community, for agencies dealing with youth problems to begin to think of cost efficiency. Once the evaluation took place, it was shown over and over that it cost considerably less for youth problems to be dealt with at the local level than at a state or national level.

This began a drive to establish programs and agencies on the local level to deal with youth problems. This drive brought agencies like Big Brother/Big Sister of America into the limelight. Let me give you some figures from fiscal year 1979 and let's consider them within the context of cost efficiency.

The average cost for institutional care (children's homes) for one youth in Texas was between $16,000 and $18,000 per year. The average cost for one youth committed in to reform school (Texas Youth Council) was approximately $15,000 per year. The Lamb County Juvenile Probation Department had a cost of $542.00 per youth. Big Brother/Big Sister of America, now having 395 agencies nation wide serving 150,000 youth, experienced an average annual cost of $250 to $280 per youth.

It may be slightly unfair to compare these four figures, for all the youth in Big Brother/Big Sister are not candidates for children's homes or reform school, nor are they expected to be youths referred to probation departments. But it is a fact that the majority of the youth in children's homes, reform schools, and youth referred to probation departments are from single parent families. I think the old adage bears repeating, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure". Next week, "How successful is Big Brother/Big Sister with troubled youth?"

Teachers' Society Meets, Jane Spain Presents Program

Epsilon Delta Kappa Gamma, organization of women educators, met Saturday at 10 a.m. in the Muleshoe Church of Christ. A spring theme was carried out in the morning coffee.

Though for the meeting was "Great minds have purpose; others have wishes."

Jane Spain, chairman of the research committee, directed the program, "Agenda For Tomorrow". She stated that there will be a teacher shortage in 1980, especially in the fields of math and science. The shortage is expected because of a pay scale inconsistency with industry, discipline problems and stress. It has been observed that teacher stress is second only to that of a flight controller.

Interaction thought was "What would you tell a young person considering a teaching profession?" Group members agreed that the benefits and joys of teaching out-weigh the disadvantages.

Attending from Olton were Jane Spain, Susie Spain, Esther Graham, Nancy Nafzger and Lillian Rape.

Olton members will host the next meeting. Held in fellowship hall of First United Methodist Church, it will include installation of officers by Esther Graham and presentation of an Achievement Award.

A LOVELY DAY

Actually I couldn't say what made this such a lovely day.
The air was chill, the clouds hung low,
Yet it was lovely this I know.
Perhaps it was because
Someone smiled my way and brought the sun;
Maybe it was only that a friend stopped for a little chat;
Or that a neighbor passing by called a warm and friendly, "Hi"
Possibly its special glow came from helping one I know.
Not much really -- just a hand
To let him know I understand.
Nothing happened actually,
To set this day apart for me.
Things went along the usual way,
But oh, it's been a lovely day!

This past week we have added two new business memberships plus one individual.

Kennedy-Sluder Insurance Agency is an independent insurance agency representing about six different insurance companies. It was formerly Hall's Insurance Agency. Floy went to work there in 1958. After Howard Hall died in 1970, she and Tom bought the agency.

Shortly thereafter, Gloria Kennedy, who had also worked for Hall years before, went to work in the office. In 1976, Gloria and Leslie bought an interest in the business. They cordially invite everyone to stop by for a chat anytime.

The Country Lad, owned and operated by Glenda Goen, has been in business since 1974. The store carries a full line of men's and boys' clothing plus some toddler lines. In addition, they have a nice selection of boots and tennis shoes, gifts for the man in your life, and men's and women's gold chains and charms. Even if you don't need anything, drop in for a friendly smile from Glenda or Jolene Givens - it's worth the trip.

To both businesses, and to Stephen Smith, we really appreciate your membership in the Chamber of Commerce.

Have you noticed how much better downtown looks since the burned out building has been cleaned up? Thanks, Andy, we really appreciate your efforts.

We would like to welcome Larry Digby, manager of Pay-n-Save, as our new director. He was elected to replace Dale Williams who was unable to serve the remainder of his term.

I have 23 businesses signed up to participate in our Welcome Wagon program. They are Carmen's, Duncan's, Olton Drug and Gifts, Northside Gift, Bizzell's, Mini Mall, Hall's Lumber Co., Anita's Kountry Kitchen, Dorothy's, Leon's Grocery, Pay-n-Save, Roberson's Exxon, Givens Texaco, White Auto, Howell's Flowers, Olton Cleaners, Olton Enterprise, Enterprise Studio, Kennedy-Sluder Insurance Agency, Country Lad, Olton Farm Supply, Thompson Chevrolet and Parsons Funeral Home.

All of these businesses have nice free gifts plus a warm wlecome for the new comer when he calls in person with the certificates I will take to them. Other businesses have indicated they will participate when they can arrange for a gift to give. Anyone who knows of new residents to our community, please contact my office.

There are still some people who have not picked up their history books. We are working on the list of people who have signed up for the extra books so if you are on the list and we have not contacted you yet, please call the office. Remember, I am always in the office between 9 and 10 a.m. and in and out of the office between 10 and 12 noon.

Tornado Warnings Explained By Lubbock Weather Office

(Editor's Note: This letter was received by Lois Brimhall in answer to her inquiry as to why the tornado recently spotted near Olton was not reported on radio or television.)

Dear Ms. Brimhall:

Thank you for the opportunity to explain how the National Weather Warning System operates. Let me explain it in three phases - preparedness, detection and warning.

Preparedness - We assist communities in organizing their warning systems, training community spotters and teaching safety rules to use in responding to weather warnings. Mr. Eblen, from our office, held a training program for the Olton spotters (38 persons) in March of 1979 and again this year on April 1st. This spotter group had also received training in prior years.

Detection - Our primary detection methods are trained spotters and radar. Spotters are the most reliable, as radar detects only 50 percent of tornadoes and sometimes gives indications of a tornado where there is none.

Warnings - When we receive word of a tornado sighting or detect a possible tornado on radar, we issue a Warning, usually for one or more counties the tornado may affect during the coming hour. Warnings are broadcast on WXK79 and sent to commercial radio and TV stations on a teletype circuit. Some radio and TV stations use WXK79 as a source of warnings also.

On March 27, a trained spotter from Olton reported a tornado northeast of Olton moving into Castro County. Radar indicated the storm was moving to the northeast about 30 miles per hour. Therefore, we did not issue a needless warning for Lamb County. In fact, the tornado had also been seen by Castro County spotters and warnings had already been issued for Castro and Swisher Counties.

Perhaps we should have broadcast some statement about the sightings but we hesitate to needlessly alarm people.

Lamb County is in our coverage area for warnings and the radio alarm will be sounded on WXK79 when warnings are issued. We are pleased that WXK79 is being received in your area since you are near the limit of the radio's range. Incidentally, Castro and Swisher Counties are under the coverage of the Amarillo Weather Office. I doubt that a reliable signal from either WXK79 or the weather radio in Amarillo can be received in those counties. We depend on radio and TV to provide warnings to a major portion of the South Plains and Panhandle and they do an excellent job.

Our Tornado Spotter Training is available to the general public, and we will arrange to present it to interested groups. They may contact our office by calling 762-4647.

Sincerely yours,
s/Billy J. Crouch

Never needs greasing!

Valmont has developed a new kind of U-joint that's tougher and lasts longer. And it saves you time and money because it never needs greasing. Ever!

Especially developed for center pivot and linear irrigation power trains, this new, no-grease U-Joint puts an end to the bother and expense of periodic center pivot maintenance.

No longer will you have to walk the line, greasing dozens of U-Joints along your system. Yet Valmont tests show that the new U-Joint easily outlasts the conventional metal-on-metal variety.

The Valley U-Joint consists of a tough urethane insert firmly anchored between cast aluminum yokes. It bolts together for tight fit and ease of assembly.

As your system moves across the field, the flexible, shock-absorbing urethane insert does a better job of reducing stress and preserving costly power train parts.

The urethane U-Joint is standard equipment on all new, non-towable Valley systems and is available as a replacement part for Valley pivots already in the field. The new U-Joint can be adapted to other makes of center pivots, too.

The $300 Federal tax credit, aimed at encouraging homeowners to make their homes more energy efficient, may not be effective. A recent public opinion poll indicated that many homeowners feel the incentive is inadequate.

The same survey, commissioned by Union Carbide Corporation, shows that 40% of American homeowners will accept a $750 government cash grant as sufficient motivation to undertake home energy conservation projects.

One hundred sixteen billion, four hundred eighty-four million, three hundred thousand, six hundred . . . or putting it all together numerically 116,484,300,600. That's the number of sandwiches (standard slicing, one-pound loaves) which could be made from the food stocks DONATED by the United States during the past year to countries designated by the World Food Conference as MSA (Most Seriously Affected). Enough for a pretty impressive picnic. Also a good example of the importance of American production to world food supply. Donations to the MSA, although impressive in terms of sandwich counting, are only a small part of the total exports of American grain crops since over twenty-five times as much grain as that given away was sold on the world market. Now to figure out the importance of world trade use your own calculator . . . this one doesn't go that high.

Reminiscing

By Lily May Silcott

A large banner across a wall of the Agriculture Building Saturday, neatly done in Blue and White, spelled out Welcome to exes of Olton High School, classes of '28, '29 and '30.

In the artistry of Caren Thomas, daughter of Ray and Gladys Copeland, the banner depicted the 'Lone Wolf' howling under a cold, bleak winter's moon. Gathered in reunion were some four members who hail back to '28; 10 others were the pride of '29 and some 21 returnees were of the class of '30.

The carefully planned and well attended event was in celebration of the fiftieth, fifty-first and fifty-second anniversaries of the three classes.

Perhaps it was the spirit of the old 'Lone Wolf'...whose foreword in the 1928 (fourth) volume of that August publication referred to "the magic of memorable hours that are gone...of life at Olton High in the old, unmatchable days".....

Perhaps it was the fiesta-like atmosphere produced by the blue and white streamers and colorful balloons swingin' from the rafters...

Or perhaps it was just the nostalgic meeting of old friends that caused those assembled to drop inhibitions... and revert to the fantasy of memory...And thus, the day was spent.

Jim Kennedy and his wife, from their retirement home in Rockport, arrived a day early; and Jim, with his experience in display gained from long years of management of Kress Stores along the southern borders of the nation, was pressed into service with the local decoration committee.

To highlight the festivities, local members proved their culinary skill gained in long-ago Home Economics classes by preparing a bountiful buffet...from which tasty treats were accessible all day and into the evening hours.

Display shelves on one wall of the building were filled with mementoes of the Lone Wolf Era. Prominently hung was "the dress" fashioned so carefully by the hands of Inez Kennedy Yates that it won for her trip to State Contest.

One table exhibited letters of regret, accompanied by pictures of absent members, with choice snapshots of their families.

Following a welcome by Rena Finney Witten, at the noon luncheon, R.E. (Elneece) Womack retired senior vice-president of a Midland Bank, who was accompanied by his wife, Gladys Gallaway Womack, served as emcee. Apologizing for his attire...typical of Elneece...he carefully explained that he "had worked all of these years to accumulate a wardrobe. Now that he had done so...BOTH suits had wide lapels, but he intended to keep them....and wear them until they came back into style."

In his keynote address, Womack reminded his fellow-celebrants "We have probably lived through the greatest era in history...." And he contrasted the frontier type days in which they had earned their schooling, with the advanced technology of this electronic age.

D.M. Granbery, local retired banker, solemnly responded with "I'm sure most of us have more than we would ever have dreamed of...back in those days."

Traveling the greatest number of miles to attend the function was Luther L. Fisher, retired automobile salesman of Modesto, Calif., whose speedometer registered 1,384 miles to the door.

Possibly second in line for this distinction was Otis Hively, Best All-round Sport of '30, whose retirement from service with Santa Fe Railway finds him living comfortably (and youthfully) in a Fresno, Calif., condominium.

Neva Moody Davis, a retired school teacher, who traveled the 750 miles from her home in Tempe, Ariz., had as much fun as anyone present as she determined to meet and know everyone present.

Traveling over 600 miles each were Jack Webb of Pasadena, Texas, retired from a position with Social Security Administration; Bennett Ogden, retired from legal services with Cameron Iron Works of Houston; and Kennedy of Rockport.

Also making more than a 600 mile jaunt was the "prettiest girl" of '28, Beula Hammer Newell of Joplin, Mo., and with her a sister, Eula Mae Crosswhite of Oklahoma City. Meeting at the reunion were two other sisters, Marie Ogden Spencer of Houston and Opal Ogden Nixon of Seminole, Okla.

Coming from a somewhat lesser distance, the city of Albuquerque, N.M. were Glenn (Buddy) Dennis, member of the Lamb County Championship basketball team of '28, and Dee (Spot) Dodson, best all-round Sport of '29.

From Dalhart was X.A. Austin, senior class favorite of '28; and from Sunray, Ruth Phillips Garrett, who attended Olton schools but was whisked away to be graduated from Plainview High School.

Nearer home, from Friona, came Steve Struve who claims that eating all the broken cookies of the concessions stand was responsible for earning for him the name "Stuffy".

Esther Nafzger Springer came from Hereford; and Lee McGill Stevenson from Bovina.

From the Lubbock area was Winnie Sluder Flynt, although retired, she is doing substitute teaching in the Lubbock system; and Wilbur Smith of New Home, senior class favorite of '29, who classifies himself as a farmer, but who has many other business and political interests.

Hometown members who assisted in hosting the event were Frank and Ruth Brigance Cornelius, Walter and Novia Wilks Malone, D.M. and Charlie Fay Owen Granbery, Elbert and Lavesta Hyman, Inez Kennedy Yates, Frank (Curley) Daugherty, Opal Flournoy Bowers, Gladys Malone Copeland, Nadine Malone Weaver, Mary Kyle Smith, Rena Finney Witten, and Madeline Eby Allcorn. They were joined in the effort by their spouses and interested (but not registered) friends of the groups.

As is customary at reunions...talk turned to 'Remember When?' incidents, some of which proved beyond a shadow of a doubt that today's younger generation...is not so bad after all.

A lot of people remembered the "Gymdandies" who formed the highly celebrated girls basketball teams of those years; and the volleyball teams of '29 and '30 that gained a crown in district play. Others recalled the Pep Squad..."known for both quality and quantity of noise rendered at games."

Prideful statements were made about the literary Cup of Class A...won by a fair margin...and about one of the greatest projects of OHS, the publication of a school magazine, "The Lasso"...distributed without cost to school or readers. Esther Nafzger '29 editor was followed in '30 by "Totsy" Owen.

Mention was made of the entertainment of that day...furnished by "The Fiddlers Three", Jack Dye, Otis Hively and Frank (Pistol) Cornelius.

Somebody went back in memory all the way to the seventh grade...when Bun Combest destroyed the evidence by eating the despised "demerit list".

Many remembered...and supplied details...to the story of Spot Dodson's shoving Bonnie Joe Howell off his section of a double-desk in Study Hall, causing him to fall to the floor, well splashed with ink...just as Superintendent H.P. Webb (a strict disciplinarian) entered. To the query "Who is responsible for this, young man?"...the luckless victim kept repeating "I'd rather not say, Mr. Webb"....until Dodson finally admitted to the crime.

Of this incident, Dodson says "I hope somebody preserved Mr. Webb's belt. I bear some scars to remember it by...but I hope somebody has the BELT".

Also well remembered was the fatal day in which Ray Finney and Harold (Pete) Turner had climbed to the attic above the auditorium of "the old red brick building"....perhaps to do a little forbidden smoking. Stepping gingerly on the cross-timbers...a slip of the foot sent Turner through the metal ceiling with a crash...along with dumping years of accumulated attic dust.

The noise of the catastrophe sent students rushing from the room, some leaping the banisters as they bolted down the rather narrow stairway...a few lingered long enough to see the dangling legs of Turner, suspended through the opening...and the arm of his frantic ally, tugging to retrieve his friend.

As the story goes..."the culprits remained quietly in the attic until midnight. Thinking all was clear they crept down...only to find Mr. Webb waiting for them.

Another Study Hall incident seemed to involve Jack Webb's setting fire to the waste basket filled with papers...rushing out into the hall for the fire extinguisher...putting out the fire, then writing on the blackboard, "You can roll up your hose, girls, the fire is out." The frantic study hall teacher was not able to cope with the situation, according to Rena Finney.... but Mr. Webb was.

As the 50-year veterans compared mental notes, they realized that it was uncanny how many of these priceless memories revolved around Jack Webb...from his marching around study hall with a shot gun (prop from a currently practiced play) on his shoulder....to standing at the extreme left end of the assembled student body posed for a wide-angle picture, then (as the camera slowly turned to the right)...rushing to the other end of the line...to become a blurrrrr.

None of the celebrants have forgotten the athletic prowess begun in 1928, when the football team under direction of Scott Anderson as coach, won seven out of ten games. Led by "The Four Buccaneers"...O.L. Beach, Thurman Lewis, Dubbs Granbery and X.A. Austin...they compiled the enviable record of 133 points for the season as against the combined total of their opponents, 82 points.

Many of those same athletes formed the basketball team that won County laurels, and later made a clean sweep of track and field events of the County....

Vivid in the memory of Buddy Dennis was a trip to Hale Center for a football game. A scene in the dressing room was marred by the entrance of some girls. Pistol, clad only with his pads, dropped the rest of his clothing and innocently asked the coach, "Mr. Carter, what'll I do?" Later that same evening, Dennis was able to assist Paul Nafzger as the two chased an opponent downfield...running in the wrong direction...for a touchdown.

Luther Fisher remembers an eraser that he threw at Bennett Ogden. Missing his mark, the eraser hit Mr. Webb's ear...splattering it with chalk...just as he entered the door.

As antics were recalled, along with the inevitable punishment meted out by Mr. Webb, more than one guilty offender sobered with respect for the Educator. Fisher probably voiced the sentiments of the whole group as he said "He was the most impressive man I ever knew. His sincere desire was to help everyone of us get an education. He really cared for us. I have never met a man of his equal."

Remnants of these three classes plan to stage another reunion, five years hence.

Perhaps at that session they'll review all of these stories once more...and doubtless they'll gain even more flavor in the re-re-telling.
