STILL BUFFALO HUNTING?

Or Will America Quit "Skinning" Its Employees and Strewing Streets With Forgotten Men—Thoughts on Relief Administration.

THE DOCTRINE of "rugged individualism" is a negative philosophy. It assumes that if every man will do the best he can, some will become rich, some will barely make a living, but opportunity will be open to all according to ability, energy, and integrity. Unfortunately, this theory is tenable only in a new country and is wholly inadequate under complex conditions such as this century has developed in America. Our theories of government must be revised—and they are being rather well overhauled right now—to include a solution for unemployment and human misery in the midst of plenty. We must be humanity-conscious in addition to having our own particular ambitions. Our theories have been too narrow, too selfish, too inhumane.

BUFFALO CARCASSES

From the old standpoint, an employee is worthy only his hire in terms of his ability and our needs. That is the selfish view, socially speaking. But consider the problem from the standpoint of the employee himself. Is he to be squeezed of the last drop of usable service then, with many years still in his body, cast aside with no work opportunity and able only to join a breadline or starve? That would be "rugged—or cussed—individualism" for you. We heard an apt illustration. Remember how the buffaloes which once roamed the plains by the millions were exterminated by hunters who sought only the hides to make beautiful robes, leaving the carcasses to be eaten by the coyotes, the jackals of the plains. A society which does not definitely and deliberately spread its work, shorten hours, and provide employment opportunities is as ruthless as the buffalo hunters and will leave its streets strewn with the "skinned" torsos of forgotten men.

COST OF RELIEF

Nor can we abandon the fate of unemployed, sick, needy humans to the inefficiency and whims of volunteer relief dispensers. We do not doubt that, in some instances, Ferguson patronage has become involved in distribution of work-relief in this state. It is possible that the legislature will find some examples of exorbitant cost of administration. Yet our observations prompt us to warn that legislators should not be too hasty in their conclusions. . . . When federal relief first came to Texas volunteer workers were asked by the regional chambers of commerce to dispense the funds. Governor Ross Sterling had turned the job over to the chambers. It is being said that the federal relief under Mr. Sterling was distributed virtually without cost to the people. Such is not the case.

TRUTH OF IT

The West Texas chamber of commerce, for example, spent liberally of its funds to distribute the federal relief. Its officers gave largely of their time and services. And locally, at least, the funds were turned over to a Welfare Board already in existence, for administration. The people had provided the funds for the "overhead" which the Board paid, without cost to the federal government. If the investigators are intelligently honest, they will admit that large sums were spent in distributing those funds, though the overhead was not then taken out of the federal relief. They will admit something else: The volunteers, the chambers of commerce, and the various local welfare agencies could not be expected to continue indefinitely to put up the cost of overhead—they lacked the funds and still do. They will discover a third fact: With millions to distribute, trained and experienced welfare workers are necessary to prevent a huge waste of the money distributed.

MORE REASONING

You will read that overhead costs of administering federal relief should be borne by individual communities. Since the funds are dispensed by a county committee, and

Futile Smile

WREATHED in smiles, David A. Lamson is shown here in court at San Jose, Calif., as his trial on a charge of murdering his wife, Allene, in their home on the campus of Stanford university, neared its close. But the smile was futile—he was given a death sentence.

SENATE OKAYS JOHN WOOD AS HIGHWAY HEAD

Will Begin Hearings On Relief Issue Tomorrow

AUSTIN, Sept. 18. (P)—The Texas senate today confirmed Governor Miriam A. Ferguson's appointment of John Wood of Timpson as chairman of the state highway commission.

Several other appointments also were confirmed in an executive session lasting less than thirty minutes. Shortly after Mrs. Ferguson assumed office, she appointed Frank L. Denison of Temple to the chairmanship of the highway commission. The senate twice refused to confirm Denison and a court contest ensued.

Other nominations confirmed included T. C. Andrews of McKinney, chairman of the state pardon board; George Simpson of Corpus Christi, state auditor; and Frank Scofield of Hillsboro, chairman of the racing commission.

AUSTIN, Sept. 18. (P)—Both houses of the Texas legislature did little more than mark time today as they transacted minor business while waiting to get to major problems submitted by the governor in convening the extraordinary session.

The house judiciary committee was prepared to start its hearings this afternoon on bills that would modify the anti-trust laws to give business and industry a freer chance to practice codes prepared under President Roosevelt's recovery legislation.

The senate recessed, after a short session, until tomorrow, when it will sit as a committee of the whole to receive information bearing on the cost of administering unemployment relief in Texas.

CUBAN CHIEF MAY QUIT

Bailey Grins As Urschel Kidnaping Trial Commences

QUESTIONS PUT TO 14 JURORS IN EXAMINING

ONLY THREE EXCUSED; DEFENDANTS ARE GUARDED

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 18. (P)—In a courtroom filled with armed guards, the first panel of 12 jurors was called to the witness stand at 10 a. m. today to be examined for service in the kidnap trial of Harvey Bailey and 11 others accused of participating in the abduction of Charles F. Urschel, Oklahoma City oil millionaire.

The chief defendants, Bailey, Albert Bates, R. G. Shannon, his wife and her son, Armon, were kept under heavy guard in an iron barred "bull pen" on the floor below the federal courtroom until the jurors filed the box and the methodical propounding of routine questions began.

Would Prosecute Lawyers Bailey and Bates, handcuffed together, were brought in as Judge Edgar S. Vaughn asked the usual questions of all the jurors, to determine their fitness, willingness and qualifications to serve.

The two desperadoes were kept standing several minutes while this formality was completed.

As the trial opened, Joseph B. Keenan, assistant United States attorney general, warned that lawyers accepting any part of the ransom ransom money as fees or money obtained in transfer of the ransom currency would be prosecuted to the full extent of federal law.

"We do not propose to permit attorneys, bondsmen, fixers or anyone else to get by with a wink, with any manipulations in this kidnaping. We are here to prosecute everyone whose hands are not cleaned."

Even Keenan was searched as he entered the federal building.

"We are taking no chances that guns will get into the courtroom," a federal agent explained.

HARLOW 'GETS' A CAMERAMAN IN YUMA CEREMONY

Fly From Hollywood And Are Married Quietly

YUMA, Ariz., Sept. 18. (P)—Jean Harlow, blond screen actress and wife of the late Paul Bern, was married at 4:20 a. m. here today to Harold Rosson, Hollywood cameraman.

They came here from Los Angeles by plane and obtained a license to wed at 4 a. m.

The actress was widowed a little more than a year ago when Bern shot himself in the luxurious Hollywood home he had given to his bride of two months. The producer's body was found last September 5.

The reason for his act is still a mystery. Scarcely a week after Bern's death, Dorothy Millette, woman-of-the-past in his life, leaped overboard from a San Francisco-Sacramento steamer and drowned in the Sacramento river.

Justice of the Peace George L. Freeman, routed out of bed before dawn was also the clerk who issued the license, performed the ceremony at his home. The only witnesses were Allen Russell, pilot who flew the pair here from the coast, and Joe Redondo, in charge of the Yuma aviation field.

PAMPA AND M'LEAN STUDENTS IN F. F. A. FAIR CONTESTS

FUTURE Farmer-association students of Tri-State fair territory will have their annual dairy and poultry judging contests at Amarillo September 25, according to Dr. A. A. Tample of McLean.

Plans had been made for judging on Sept. 23, but it was learned that stock for judging would not be available at that time.

Poultry judging will consist of 50 questions on the American standard of perfection in two classes of Bantam Rocks, two of White Leghorns, and two of Rhode Island Reds. A large trophy will be given the winning team.

The dairy judging subjects will be Jerseys, Holsteins and Guernseys, with oral reasons given on one class of each breed. The winning team will be awarded a trophy. Prof. Frank R. Phillips of West Texas Teachers college will be in charge of the dairy stock and booths.

The F. F. A. booths in the agriculture building will be placed by students of this section. The showings will be on a competitive basis, but prize money will be divided evenly among the competing schools, which will be Claude, Pampa, Clarendon, Farwell, and McLean.

AUTHORITY OF PRESIDENT IS OFFERED TEST

HUMPHREY CLAIMS HE CAN'T BE REMOVED WITHOUT CAUSE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18. (P)—William E. Humphrey continued to serve as a republican member of the federal trade commission today after flatly rejecting President Roosevelt's request for his resignation.

The refusal was given by letter several weeks ago. Humphrey questioned the president's authority to remove the commissioner.

Reports that the president sought Humphrey's place for Philip La Follette, progressive republican brother of Senator Robert M. La Follette, could not be confirmed. But friends doubt that Wisconsin's former governor would take such a federal post.

President Roosevelt asked Humphrey to submit his resignation effective August 15. In his request, the president said that while another republican would be named to the place, he felt his policies with respect to the federal trade commission could be carried out better through appointees of his own choosing.

Humphrey, instead of resigning, replied that the trade commission was a continuing and independent body not under presidential control. He said the law prescribed the removal of commissioners only for wrong doing or inefficiency.

Neither of these causes were raised in the president's request. Mr. Roosevelt based it rather upon his desire to have a republican commissioner of his own choosing.

Humphrey's refusal challenged the presidential power to remove members of independent federal agencies who have been confirmed by the senate.

Humble Meets Top Oil-Price Set By Phillips

The Humble Oil & Refining company today issued price bulletin 167, effective as of September 8, the only changes being an increase in the Gray county price of crude oil 5 cents per barrel, making oil of below 35 gravity 68 cents with a 2-cent spread up to 40 gravity and above, or a top price of 81 cents.

The new posted price meets the top set by the Phillips Petroleum company when that producer announced a top of 81 cents for highest gravity oil. Other companies in the field are still paying 76 cents.

It is the consensus of opinion here that dollar oil will prevail in a few weeks after the field allowable under the national oil code is set.

Total of 2,800 Are Enrolled In Pampa Schools

High school and grade school enrollment continued to advance in Pampa today, boosting the total for the independent district to more than 2,800.

The high school registration mounted to about 760 students today when nine new pupils enrolled. Most of these students have just returned from summer jobs or vacations.

HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUBS WILL OPEN ANNUAL EXHIBITS TUESDAY IN WORLEY BUILDING

Achievement Days to Show Result of Activity

Home Demonstration club women of Gray county will open to the public an exhibit of their work for the year at 1 o'clock tomorrow. Their annual achievement day display will be held on the first floor of the Combs-Worley building Tuesday and Wednesday.

Prize winners in each division of this exhibit will form the county club exhibit to go to the Tri-State fair at Amarillo the last of this week.

Entries are being received today to form the general display. Several clubs are also planning educational features for booths. Visitors are invited to see the products during the two days.

Reservations For Football Season on Sale Here Today

Pampa football fans today were advised to obtain their season's reserved seat ticket before the McLean game of next Friday.

Reservations for the five home games now scheduled may be obtained at the office of Joe Smith in the courthouse for one dollar. General admission tickets also will be necessary, but they will be sold during the week of each game and will vary somewhat late in the season.

It is possible to pick out a desirable seat now and reserve it for the five home games. The reservation would not apply to extra games, but the holder of the seat would be given an opportunity to retain it.

LATE NEWS

DALLAS, Sept. 18. (P)—The Magnolia Petroleum company announced today that it had made retroactive to Sept. 8 an increase of 5 cents in the price it paid for crude oil in Gray county. The new listings ranged from 69 cents for below 35 gravity to 81 cents for 40 and above, with a 2-cent differential on gravities between those extremes.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18. (P)—King Levisky of Chicago outwitted Jack Sharkey of Boston, 205½ to 201 pounds today when they officially weighed in for their 10-round heavyweight battle at Comiskey park tonight.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18. (P)—Wheat bounded sharply above $1.00 a bushel early today. A lively advance in British exchange, together with opening upturns of securities at New York, gave fresh stimulus to buyers. Opening ¼-2 cents up, wheat later reacted to a material extent from initial top figures.

DALLAS, Sept. 18. (P)—J. Alvin Gardner, president of the Texas league, announced today after a telephone conference with officials of the San Antonio, Memphis and New Orleans baseball clubs that the Dixie series would start in San Antonio Wednesday night.

TEXARKANA, Ark., Sept. 18. (P)—The First national bank of Lewisville, Ark., was robbed at noon today by three men, one of whom was said by Sheriff R. W. Turquette of Miller county to fit the description of Charles Frazier, Louisiana prison break leader. The robbers obtained cash which bank officials estimated at less than $1,000.

SOLUTION OF LATEST CRISIS IS PREDICTED

AMERICANS NERVOUS UNDER THREAT OF NEW STRIKES

HAVANA, Sept. 18. (P)—Provisional President Ramon Grau San Martin predicted today that a solution of Cuba's political crisis would be reached before the afternoon was over, and indicated that he might surrender the presidency.

Receiving the foreign press, Dr. Grau San Martin, appearing fatigued but smiling, declared that "the person who occupies the government is unimportant; fulfillment of the revolutionary program is the principal thing."

His prediction of a solution of the crisis came as labor troubles were increasing and as Americans throughout the island were described as "nervous" under the threat of new strikes.

Americans throughout the island were said to be "nervous" as 37 business groups threatened a 24-hour cessation of business tomorrow to protest against workers' violence and the growing number of strikes.

Boycotts against American firms were invoked at Manzanillo, where a general walkout was set for today. Communists in Santiago threatened to seize American mills and banks and all American women were taken for safety to Rente, across the bay from Santiago.

American-owned manganese mines at Cristo remained a storm center. In Havana 8,000 persons paraded, shouting "Down with Sumner Welles," American ambassador, and "Down with American imperialism." Unrest grew in a number of other places.

Meanwhile, there were reports that a compromise could be effected between President Ramon Grau San Martin and the opposition factions which seek his retirement—the nationalists of Colonel Carlos Mendiolaga, the followers of former President Mario G. Menocal, the ABO and OGRE secret societies, and others.

In protracted meetings they failed to get the executive's acceptance to any of three plans offered for the solution of political turmoil, and it was understood in high political circles that their newest plan reiterated demands that the president make way for a "truly national" government representing all factions. Those who believed a solution was in sight found great significance in a conference between Mr. Welles and Dr. Grau San Martin. Neither would comment. The ambassador recently conferred with a committee of the student directorate, staunch supporters with enlisted men, of the president.

ANOTHER MILESTONE WHIZZES BY

When you are traveling fast and have no speedometer, one way of gauging your speed is to watch the milestones along the road and see how rapidly they are whizzing by you.

One of the handiest milestones now available for Uncle Sam's children is that provided by the banking business.

Less than a year ago finance was still the sacred mystery of the old days, a realm which ordinary mortals might not criticize and into which a mere public servant might not venture without first removing his hat.

Today we find responsible government officials declaring that it may soon be necessary for Uncle Sam to assume virtual control of the whole banking industry.

The R. F. C., it is pointed out, is ready to invest a billion dollars in stock of banking institutions. In this way is could get a 25 per cent ownership in American bank capital, and would have an important voice in the control of most of the nation's banking resources.

It would, of course, take the seventh son of a seventh son to say right now whether all of this will actually be done. But the mere fact that the administration is talking about it is immensely significant. Do you see that milestone whizzing past?

Now it is easy to find good reasons for opposing this proposed step. The principal reason that will occur to most people, probably, is that we have no guarantee whatever that the scheme would work out well. No one, that is, knows whether Uncle Sam is qualified to run the banking business. He might make a fine hash of things.

But any question of this kind has got to be considered against its proper background; and the proper background for this one is the simple fact that the existing system has been working very badly indeed for quite a long time. Bank depositors and stockholders have lost a great deal of money, and trade has not had the credit facilities it should have had. We may be moving at a frightening pace, but we had plenty to be afraid of when we were standing still.

Markets

NEW YORK, Sept. 18 (P)—Stocks failed to respond with any show of enthusiasm to another sharp slump in international dollar rates today and with the exception of some mining, oil, and specialty issues, prices were inclined to slant downward. There were a few minor rallies, but the close was rather heavy. Approximately 2,700,000 shares changed hands.

because of the abject poverty obtaining in many of the communities to be helped, this is impracticable in many instances. Furthermore, welfare society funds are needed for buying medicine and handling incidental problems, when there are such funds. Merchants have very largely supported the welfare societies. Merchants under NRA are making a distinct sacrifice and should not be asked to go further by paying the overhead costs of federal relief. Furthermore, if the lawmakers as claimed wish to take the relief project out of politics, they can hardly do so by turning the funds over to one thousand county commissioners, as has been suggested.

DOWN TO POINT

Having acknowledged these things, the legislative committees can then get down to the point of their investigation. In this, they must recognize that a Ferguson appointee is not guilty, per se, of being a pampered pork-barreler. He may need the money. He may be qualified. He may even be honest. It would be unfortunate if the legislature should, through a desire to discredit the present state administration and even old scores, paralyze the whole relief program in the name of safeguarding the bonds to be issued. We say this as one who feels that the bonds should be surrounded by all reasonable restrictions. One does not do justice to a suckling calf to use an exaggerated figure—by shooting its mother because she ate a bit of forbidden rag-weed. Let us not, in all of our investigations, our politics, and our legislative fireworks, forget the subject of the whole thing—THE MILLIONS OF TEXANS WHO NEED FOOD AND SHELTER.

There will be no charge for admission and you are invited to attend as the guest of this newspaper.

The dates will be October 5, 6, and 7, and the school will be held in the city auditorium.

The Happy Kitchen School of Cookery will be under the direction of Miss Beulah Mackey Yates, noted home economist and food lecturer. She brings to the women of this city the newest ideas in food and kitchens, the newest frills and ruffles in kitchen artistry.

More than a score of new and different recipes and menus will actually be prepared and cooked right before the eyes of her audience by Miss Yates. An entirely new program will be prepared each day. The Happy Kitchen under her leadership is not limited to matters entirely of cooking, but takes up all the important phases of home making, such as color in the kitchen, advice on the latest and newest labor saving devices used in the preparation of foods and her talks will be full of suggestions that will brighten your kitchen for a whole year.

If you want to hear about the latest fashions in foods and the latest ways to make them with less work and more fun and receive a lot of entertaining surprises, plan to attend the Happy Kitchen when it comes to this city.

STUDENTS FROM McLEAN ARE LEAVING NOW TO START THE TERM IN VARIOUS COLLEGES

Young People From Two Churches Are Entertained

McLEAN, Sept. 18. (AP)—As fall days are coming on and different colleges are opening, McLean's younger set is losing a number of its members. McMurray college at Abilene where last year's superintendent has become dean, is claiming several. Those already enrolled there are: Lavelle Christian, who was a member of last year's football team, Laverne Pettit, and Beth Word, members of last year's graduating class, and Fayoma Ladd, who finished in 1932.

Kelly Newman, honor student of last year's class has enrolled in Abilene Christian college, as has also Miss Cressie Turner who has been a member of the grade school faculty for the last three years.

Many Go To Tech

Those entering Texas Tech are Miss Margaret Hess who attended school there last year; Miss Ruth Hess, honor student of last year's class who was awarded a sweater for being the best all-round girl athlete, having been star forward on the basketball team and one of the tennis doubles who represented Gray county at the district meet; Allison Cash, tackle on last year's football team, Basil Pettit and Woodrow Wilkerson, both of whom will do freshman work there, and Nora Lee Morgan who was a member of the class of 1932 in the local high school. Winifred Massey, who is now at the world's fair, will enroll for his senior work in the law school. He will receive his degree at the close of the first term. Miss Sybil Graham will enroll for junior work there. Haze Waters will also return to Tech.

Miss Lola Ruth Stanfield has enrolled in Texas Woman's college where she is majoring in music. Miss Bobbie Appling is doing her sophomore work in Wayland Baptist college at Plainview.

To W. T. S. T. C. at Canyon many are going. Fern Landers will enroll for her junior work; Lois Kirby for her sophomore year; Nora and Norvin Ashby for the first year's work; Maxine Fowler, Brady McCoy, Bonnie Bell, Clyde Andrews, and Bert Carpenter will enter for their freshman work, while Duard Lynch and Mackie Greer will feel like they are returning home when they reach the campus.

Misses Francis and Lois Wilson will attend Amarillo junior college. Lucille Morse has already enrolled in Oklahoma university at Norman where she will be associated with Kathryn Hales, a member at the class of 1932 of the local high school.

League Entertains B. Y. F. U.

Those enjoying the lovely affair were: Misses Bonnie Bell, Dorothy Jean St. Clair, Nora Lee Morgan, Lois Kirby, Geraldine Bowen, Juanita Carpenter, Marie Landers, Eula Pay Foster, Mary Alice and Catherine Patterson, Odessa Kunkel, Lillian Carpenter, Clara Fay Carpenter, Juanita Brooks, Sybil Young, Mary Emma Back, Bathus Woodward, Hazel Dyer, Nerine Smith, Louise Turman, Margaret Kennedy, Elizabeth Wilkerson, Naomi Hunt, and Mrs. Murray Boston.

Messrs. Averill Christian, George McCarty, Bruce Graham, Jack Crowe, L. A. Tolliver, Tom Jack Wade, James Lee Rice, Elwin Dyer, Cagle Hunt, Denver Nunley, Van Brawley, Basil Pettit, O. C. Bogan, Robert Brewer, C. W. Bogan, Harold Hodges, Neal Jackson, Johnnie Merlet, and David Flowers.

Dr. W. E. Ballard was carried to Amarillo Thursday night for medical treatment under Dr. Lumpkin. He was accompanied by Mrs. Ballard, Mrs. Vigna Stranberg, Byrd Guill, C. C. Bogan, and Dr. W. H. Finley.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Carpenter went to Childress Friday in response to a message that a niece of Mrs. Carpenter's was very ill. Mr. Carpenter returned that afternoon but Mrs. Carpenter remained there.

Miss Pauline Muncey of Wellington was a week-end guest of Miss Irene McCoy.

P. T. A. Teas

Two benefit teas were held this week for the Parent Teacher association. Mrs. Ken Rector was hostess Wednesday afternoon. "42" was played by the following ladies: Mrs. Witt Springer, Mrs. W. K. Wharton, Mrs. N. E. Poage, and the hostess.

Mrs. J. A. Meador entertained Thursday afternoon at an informal affair. Her guests were: Mrs. Vester Smith, Mrs. Ray McCabe, Mrs. Buck Jones, and Mrs. Bob Lynch.

Personals
Eld. Ector Watson, pastor of the Church of Christ at Atoka, Okla., Eld. Bela Watson, pastor of San Saba, Texas, and their sister, Mrs. Cecil Bishop of Tipton, Okla., were guests in the J. R. Glass home at McLean and the Jack Back home in Pampa last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Callahan returned Thursday from Fort Worth with a newly adopted son, Clifford Pryce. The young man is three months old.

Mr. and Mrs. John Conner of Pampa were in McLean Saturday.

Alton ("Smitty") Smith of Pampa was among the many Pampa people who attended the football game in McLean Friday.

Victor and Neville Back made a business trip to Berger Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Thompson and family of Canadian were weekend guests of friends and relatives in McLean.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Upham and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Cousins spent Sunday in Pampa. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Upham's daughter, Mrs. Sherman White and Mr. White.

Club Begins Year's Work
At the home of Mrs. Wilson Boyd Wednesday afternoon the Epworth League held its initial meeting of the year. Mrs. C. O. Greene is president and Mrs. John Butler is secretary and club reporter.

Those attending the Wednesday's meeting were: Mesdames: C. S. Doolin, Harold Rippey, Karl Estes, J. W. Butler, J. R. Glass, D. C. Carpenter, Allen Wilson, Ercy Cubine, Vigna Stranberg, Pete Fulbright, Donald Beall, and the hostess.

Other members are: Mesdames: Horace Brooks, Alva Alexander, E. L. Sitter, Jess Kemp, S. D. Sheldorn, C. O. Greene.

FALL REVIVAL SERVICES HELD IN 2 CHURCHES

METHODIST MEETINGS TO CONTINUE THIS WEEK

REVIVALS continued to be of chief interest in Pampa church programs yesterday, with closing services of a two-week series held at Central Baptist church, and the second week of a revival started at the Methodist church.

Baptismal services followed the evening worship at the Baptist church, where the Rev. Thomas J. Doss of Bowie preached his concluding sermon to a large crowd.

Good attendance marked services at the Methodist church also. The Rev. Gaston Foote of Amarillo last evening brought a new message based on the familiar story of Jonah, while the Rev. C. A. Long, pastor, preached in the morning.

Revival services with the Rev. Mr. Foote preaching will continue through the week at 10 a. m. and 8 p. m. daily.

A Sunday school attendance of 552 was reported at the Methodist church, 788 at First Baptist, 168 at Central Baptist, 113 at the Presbyterian, 377 at First Christian, 165 at the Church of Christ, and 85 at Calvary Baptist, where an addition to the church was also reported.

Dr. E. L. Thomason spoke at the Christian church in the absence of the pastor, John S. Mullen, who ended his sermons in a revival at Shamrock Friday because of illness. Miss Anna Mary Smith of Tulsa sang at the morning hour.

Old Timers Enjoy Picnic at Ranch

A group of old-time Gray county residents, and some friends who are more recent residents, enjoyed a picnic at the Mel B. Davis ranch near LeFors yesterday.

A calf was barbecued and coffee was prepared as Mr. Davis' contribution to the dinner, while each of the guests brought a basket dinner to add to the bountiful feast.

Members of the party spent the time renewing acquaintances and talking with old friends.

Mrs. J. McFarland and daughter, Miss Zenobia, spent the week-end visiting in Fort Worth and Wichita Falls.

Seeks Cure

DISCOVERIES made by Dr. Margaret G. Smith, above, assistant pathologist at Washington University, St. Louis, may provide a means for checking the mysterious epidemic of sleeping sickness which has ravaged St. Louis and other communities. Dr. Smith's research indicates that the virus which causes the malady resides in the kidneys.

School Children Need Best Foods

BY MARY G. MCCORMICK,
Supervisor of Health Teaching, New York State Department of Education.

The first rule of buoyant good health is, eat properly. This is true both for adults and children, but the selection of foods for children demands special care always. School time and winter time both make special demands upon the strength of children. These demands must be met by proper nutrition.

A child should have at least three good meals a day, each containing one or more warm dishes. If he eats his noon meal at home, this should be prepared with care to provide him with the materials he needs.

The school child should begin the day with a substantial breakfast, including a cereal (preferably a dark cereal), milk or cocoa made with milk, and fruit, such as oranges, prunes, ripe bananas, apples, etc. Lunch should consist of cooked vegetables, perhaps a warm dish such as soup or a stew or some other meat dish, milk and bread. At dinner the child may receive some lean meat, at least two cooked vegetables and a salad of raw, leafy vegetables, fruit, bread and a glass of milk.

CLASSES ELECT NEW OFFICERS FOR NEXT YEAR

Business Meeting Is Held; Another Scheduled

Two classes of the Methodist church held week-end elections of officers for next year. The Clara Hill class chose Mrs. Paul Jensen as president to succeed Mrs. Carl Sturgeon, who has served two years, and the Fidelity class re-elected Mrs. C. H. Whittle president.

Election for the Clara Hill class was held at the monthly business meeting Friday afternoon. Mrs. Lloyd B. Roberts was named vice president, Mrs. Roy Kretzmer secretary and treasurer, and Mrs. G. T. Ratcliff reporter and historian.

Reports of committees were heard, and all business of the year concluded.

The Fidelity class adopted the report of its nominating committee in its Sunday morning session. All officers were re-elected. They include Misses Fay Winget and Mabel Kabor, vice presidents, and Miss Geraldine Ragsdale, secretary.

Committee chairmen will be appointed, and other class business transacted at a picnic this evening. Members will meet at the church at 6 o'clock.

Marriage Announced By Bride's Parents

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Peters announce the marriage of their daughter, Earline, to Bill Robinson. Both have been residents of Pampa.

They will make their home in Berger, where Mr. Robinson is connected with the Tulsa Rig, Reel, and Lumber company.

An egg a day is ideal in any diet. Milk, fruits and leafy vegetables are known as the protective foods, because they are rich in the elements necessary for bodily health. These are the foundation foods upon which all adequate diets must be built.

Growing children especially need bone-building minerals, particularly calcium and phosphorus. These substances must be supplied at an adequate rate or else the bones and teeth will grow improperly. The teeth particularly will be affected.

Fresh milk is the best food for supplying these necessary minerals. A quart a day gives the proper amount of calcium and phosphorus for growing children, as well as other food elements which they particularly need.

PAMPA WOMEN VOLUNTEER ASSIST R

WORK CREATES EST IN FORM LEAGUE

HALF a dozen young Pampa have volunteered to assist Mrs. W. H. Davis, county administrator, by making his and investigating the applicants for relief through federal and state channels.

They are Mesdames: Bessie Clyde Fatheree, Arthur T. Art Swanson, Misses Mabel and Virginia Faulkner.

Their duties will be to visit homes of persons registering for relief, and to make return intervals as long as the federal and state welfare agencies. They will advise and assist registrants in efforts to find and become independent of relief board.

Mrs. Davis expects to have services of other volunteers in work.

It has interested Pampa in the formation of a Junior League here, she said, has been asked to secure a position concerning such a league. She has written of the League at Amarillo for information.

UNBALANCED LINE IS COACH PHELAN'S HOPE FOR VICTORY

Burl Bufkin's Departure Forced Changes in Washington Backfield.

By FRANK G. GORRIE Associated Press Sports Writer SEATTLE, Sept. 18. (AP)—Jimmy Phelan, University of Washington football coach, plans to unbalance his team in an effort to balance his luck.

"We have been working toward an unbalanced line for some time and this year we will use it altogether," said the former Big Ten coach who is starting his fourth season on the Pacific coast.

"Maybe it will change our luck. We need something to balance our wins and losses and a dwindling budget."

Phelan was forced to make changes in his backfield because of the departure of Burl Bufkin, brilliant blocking halfback who went to West Point. The unbalanced line is expected to help maneuver Art Ahonen, a light but slippery running back, into the open with Jack Hornbeak, quarter; Paul Sulosky, battering fullback and Matt Muczyński, blasting half, paving the way.

"Where Washington will finish I cannot guess, with Stanford, California, Washington State and Oregon much improved and Southern California as strong as ever," said Phelan.

"One thing I am sure of is that we will have an end who will compare with any in the country. Bill Smith is one of the greatest pass receivers I have ever seen and we will have plenty of aerial plays mapped out for him."

The schedule: Sept. 23—Gonzaga at Seattle. Sept. 30—Idaho at Seattle. Oct. 7—Oregon at Seattle. Oct. 14—College of Puget Sound at Tacoma. Oct. 21—Stanford at Seattle. Nov. 11—California at Berkeley. Nov. 18—University of California at Los Angeles in Seattle. Nov. 25—Washington State at Pullman.

Phillips Loses 13 to 2 Game To House of David

Phillips "66," conceded to be at least one of the best baseball teams in the Panhandle, was made to look like just another bunch of sandlotters yesterday by the House of David, a team of 13 to 2.

Led by old "Pete" Alexander, former Phillis, Cub and Cardinal star, and one of the greatest pitchers of all time, the outfit outplayed from Benton Harbor, Mich., but in reality from any place that produces ball players, put on about as neat an exhibition of the national game, both in fielding and hitting, as has been displayed in these parts for a long time.

Alexander started the game and pitched two innings and allowed but one hit, that a double by Squires, first man up in the second. Apparently he has lost none of his old time cunning, but, no doubt, was pitching as much with his head as with his arm. He uses the same old short wind-up and semi-side arm delivery that was so effective in the National league for twenty years.

Hunter, a bearded giant, with a burning fast one, succeeded Alex on the mound and allowed eight hits and two runs during the remainder of the game. A homer by Deck inside the park in the seventh after Squires had led off with a triple, accounted for Phillips two runs.

Tennis Players Plan To Form a Permanent Club

Organization of a permanent tennis club will be attempted at a meeting of county tennis enthusiasts in the chamber of commerce rooms at 8 o'clock tonight. The meeting is being called by the committee which sponsored the last tennis tournament here. They are anxious to turn the "reigns" over to a permanent organization.

The committee will present plans for installation of courts near the city and also for a territorial tournament for next spring. It is hoped that all preliminary work on courts can be done this fall so that they can settle over the winter before putting on the opening.

Every tennis player and enthusiast in the city is invited to attend the meeting. It is also desired that clubs and organizations having several players, will send representatives to vote for that club or organization.

BOYS WORKING TO STAVE OFF TIGER THREAT

McLEAN LIKELY TO BE STRONGEST Foe OF SEASON

Pampa's Harvesters will start intensive training this afternoon for their opening game Friday afternoon, when the great McLean Tigers come to Pampa with a veteran lineup and a 70 to 0 win over Wheeler to their credit. The Harvesters will have one veteran and a few letter men to throw against the Tigers and the game is hoped to be the test of the entire season.

Coaches Odus Mitchell and Argus Fox have the task of getting a green combination into shape before one of the most strenuous seasons that has ever faced a Harvesters football squad. The Pampa team will meet five of the strongest opponents in the southwest before a conference game is played.

McLean will come to Pampa Friday with a team that went to the state finals last year. Also the team worked out most of the summer and coaches have been in charge for more than a month. A backfield that thrilled spectators in every section where seen last year is intact and much improved. Where a two-man attack was used last season, all four players carry the ball this year. Last season two men lugged the mail and the other two ran interference, but times have changed and the two blockers of last year have turned into even greater ball carriers than the regulars of the year before.

In "Cricket" Christian, McLean has a clever and aggressive quarterback who can hit the line like a fullback despite his 147 pounds. Dwell and Crockett are a pair of halfbacks with speed to burn and plenty of power along with it. Toliver is the plugging fullback, but he is also speedster.

Robinson and Stratton are veteran ends, while Ellison and Bogan were named for all-state tackles. H. McCarty and Woods are the guards who tear the big holes. G. McCarty is center and line bucker de-luxe.

Harvester coaches have not yet selected a starting lineup, but it is expected that following a scrimmage Wednesday afternoon, to which fans will be admitted, the starters will be officially announced. Fans are again asked to remain away from Harvesters park until Wednesday afternoon when the biggest scrimmage of the season will be staged.

Coaches will work hard this week trying a quick development that will be about all that will save the Harvesters Friday afternoon. "This is going to be a week of work," Coaches said this morning.

Creighton formerly captained an Arkansas team and was named as an all-southwest conference guard. Ledbetter was the conference's leading scorer in 1931. Van Sickle was an all-conference tackle.

Cow Williams, 204-pound fullback, whom Coach Dana Bible of the University of Nebraska selected to play in last year's East-West game on the Pacific slope, will captain this year's West Texas State Teachers college Buffaloes of Canyon.

Seven of the West Texas players average 190-pounds or more, and the others weigh from 155 to 188 pounds. It is the heaviest lineup the Buffaloes have ever had.

Fred Lauterbach, Rice tackle and captain, is being touted as the greatest lineman in this year's conference campaign. Fred weighs 188 pounds and has been playing football several years.

He is smart, aggressive, without doubt, and unless injuries stop him should prove the "Rice spark" this year.

Whispers are going over the conference to watch this Will Greathouse of Baylor. Greathouse was a promising star in 1930 but a blow in the kidney forced him out of football for two years. He is back this season and looks better than ever. He is a fiery tackle who would plow into a brick wall, and is always at his best when the heat of the battle is the hottest.

West Texas Has Heaviest Lineup In Buff History

By BILL PARKER Associated Press Sports Writer The difference at Texas Christian University is that last year's championship squad boasted 10 two-letmen and 8 one-letmen and this season's aggregation has only four men who have earned two varsity awards. Seven have earned one varsity letter.

Harold Crites, former Texas Tech fullback, has a berth on the Chicago Cardinals professional team. Under Coach Pete Cawthon, Crites developed into one of the best running fullbacks in the southwest. The gap he left in the Tech backfield is Coach Cawthon's most important worry.

Johnny Erp advises that five former members of University of Arkansas football teams will play professional football this season. They are Milan Creighton, Homer Ledbetter, Clyde Van Sickle, Joe Faye Moore, and Winton "Cowboy" Kyle.

Creighton formerly captained an Arkansas team and was named as an all-southwest conference guard. Ledbetter was the conference's leading scorer in 1931. Van Sickle was an all-conference tackle.

Cow Williams, 204-pound fullback, whom Coach Dana Bible of the University of Nebraska selected to play in last year's East-West game on the Pacific slope, will captain this year's West Texas State Teachers college Buffaloes of Canyon.

Seven of the West Texas players average 190-pounds or more, and the others weigh from 155 to 188 pounds. It is the heaviest lineup the Buffaloes have ever had.

Fred Lauterbach, Rice tackle and captain, is being touted as the greatest lineman in this year's conference campaign. Fred weighs 188 pounds and has been playing football several years.

He is smart, aggressive, without doubt, and unless injuries stop him should prove the "Rice spark" this year.

Whispers are going over the conference to watch this Will Greathouse of Baylor. Greathouse was a promising star in 1930 but a blow in the kidney forced him out of football for two years. He is back this season and looks better than ever. He is a fiery tackle who would plow into a brick wall, and is always at his best when the heat of the battle is the hottest.

CHICAGO CUBS DROP OUT OF LEAGUE RACE

GIANTS AND SENATORS READY TO CLINCH CROWNS

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr., Associated Press Sports Writer. The New York Giants and Washington Senators stood at the threshold of baseball's throne room today, ready the step over at a moment's notice and accept the crowns as 1933 champions of the two major leagues.

Each had disposed of all but one rival and the schedule today made it possible for both to clinch the flags.

Of the two, the Giants were a trifle closer to a certainty. By defeating the St. Louis Cardinals, 4 to 3, yesterday on a combination of Mel Ott's 22nd home run of the season and Adolfo Luque's fine relief pitching, they eliminated the Chicago Cubs, recently considered as their most dangerous rivals. Two more decisions were needed to drop the Pittsburgh Pirates out of the race and the Buccaneers were scheduled for a doubleheader against the Phillies today while the Giants played their second game at St. Louis.

Assuming a Giant victory and an even break for the Pirates, Pittsburgh could win all the nine games it would have left and the Giants could drop their last ten and still the clubs would finish with this standing:

Club	W.	L.	Pct.
New York	38	53	.624
Pittsburgh	30	63	.559

The Senators, 9½ games ahead of the New York Yankees and with ten games to go against 13 for their rivals, needed three decisions to clinch the American league pennant. And all three were on the program today with Washington playing the St. Louis Browns and the Yanks entertaining the Chicago White Sox in a doubleheader. Given a double defeat today and a Washington triumph, the closest the Yanks could come would be this:

Club	W.	L.	Pct.
Washington	38	53	.632
New York	34	59	.563

The Senators helped their cause along yesterday by coming from behind in the ninth inning to score two runs on Buddy Myers' single with the bases full and two out and defeat the Detroit Tigers 4 to 3. The Yanks cut the Washington margin a trifle by taking two games from the Cleveland Indians, 3 to 2 and 6 to 1.

Russ Van Atta and Lefty Gomez pitched fine ball for the Yanks, the latter turning in a three-hit, 13-strikeout masterpiece in the second game. Babe Ruth whacked a homer in each contest to bring his season's total to 30. Monte Pearson pitched three-hit ball for the Indians in the opener, but lost out through a walk and an error in the eighth.

Chicago's Cubs also won a doubleheader, besting Brooklyn twice by 6-5 scores but the one Giant victory automatically eliminated them from the pennant race. Charley Root managed to outlast three Dodger hurlers in the opener and relief finger Pat Malone won the second game by driving in Bill Campbell with the odd run.

The Cincinnati Reds threatened to climb out of the National league cellar as they took two games from the Boston Braves, 5-2 and 6-0 to land only a point behind the idle Phillies.

The closing doubleheader between the Chicago White Sox and Boston Red Sox was rained out while the Philadelphia and Pittsburgh clubs in the National league and St. Louis and Philadelphia in the American had open dates.

ABOUT HUBBELL "He finished the season with 21 victories while hurling for a fourth place club. He is probably the league's most valuable mound star because he drew all the toughest assignments. He had to beat clubs like Houston, Galveston and Dallas throughout the entire season. Seidman did he get an easy assignment. Hubbell Developer Believes Mission Should Have Won 'Most Valuable' Title. Associated Press Sports Writer Jim "Bad News" Galloway, former Texas league club owner, player, manager and now an umpire, regards Fabian Kowalik as the league's finest pitcher.

Galloway has been in the league many seasons. He knows baseball and baseball players. He was one of the men who helped develop Carl Hubbell, crack New York Giant star ranked as one of the greatest hurlers.

Galloway believes Kowalik should have won the most valuable pitcher award. For that matter, so do most of the San Antonio and Houston players. Referring to Kowalik, Galloway said:

"He's got plenty of speed, a fine curve, good control—three essential things a pitcher needs. But what I like about him is the way he pitches to a batter's weakness. He doesn't rely on nature's pitching gifts. Instead he pitches with his head. Not once during this season have I seen Kowalik stray from a batter's weakness."

WITH THE— HARVESTERS

By HARRY E. MOORE

"Coaches are still smiling over the scrimmages staged last week between the A and B squads," writes the Borger HERALD about the Borger Bulldog football team. "If the boys continue to improve as they have the past few weeks, we'll be ready for all comers," said Coach A. S. Acker.

The Bulldogs had more than 50 men in uniform when the season opened but the squad has been cut down until it is at working strength. Only five lettermen returned this season but the substitutes are the type that gladdens a coach's life. "They are batters every one and they are living football," Coach Acker has remarked on several occasions.

Borger will have her opening game of the season September 29 with Spearman playing in Borger. The Lynx have another strong team, according to information from the north plains. Pampa saw the team lose to McLean in a hard fought battle here last year.

Some more inside information from the camp of the Amarillo Golden Sandies—The Sandies scrimmaged the Amarillo college Badgers the other day and played them off their feet.

And still even more information—The Canyon college freshman team is composed almost entirely of former Amarillo college Badgers who are ineligible to play with the Buffaloes. Many of them are former Amarillo high school players and they are already boasting what they will do to the Harvesters the night of November 4. That is the week before the Harvesters play the Sandies here.

New Mexico And Idaho Vote On Repeal Tuesday

By The Associated Press

Idaho and New Mexico get their turn tomorrow to stand up and name their choice between prohibition and repeal.

With these two elections—the only ones to be held this week—the number of states which have voted on the proposal to repeal the 18th amendment will reach 31.

The 29 which have balloted thus far have all favored repeal. Thirty-six are necessary before repeal becomes an accomplished fact.

Repealists predicted that more than the necessary number will have voted against national prohibition by Nov. 7. Prohibitionists, disputing the ground, continued to oppose the "anti" sweep.

Five Thousand Veterans Apply For Ford Jobs

DETROIT, Sept. 18 (AP)—Jamming and halting pedestrian and street traffic over several blocks in downtown Detroit, a throng of unemployed war veterans, estimated by police to number nearly 5,000, today began registering as applicants for 5,000 jobs promised to veterans by the Ford Motor company.

Laughing and joking, all apparently in good humor, the veterans, several hundred of whom had waited all night in order to be first on call at the registration desks in American Legion memorial hall, maintained good order as the interviewing began. Twenty-five members of the American Legion, headed by Rex Humphrey, commander of the Wayne County Council of the Legion, planned to interview 800 men today. Out of the 800 they said they expected to get 300 who can qualify for the jobs.

Three hundred men will be hired each day, Humphrey said, until the 5,000 quota is filled. All the veterans must live in Wayne county. (Detroit).

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18. (AP)—President Roosevelt is suffering from a slight cold and remained in the executive mansion today away from his desk.

Lieutenant Commander Ross T. McIntire, U. S. N., called on the president this morning and reported a very slight fever.

He advised Mr. Roosevelt to remain in the mansion for the day.

There is every expectation that the president will return to his desk tomorrow.

Dr. Scarborough Is Injured in Crash

FORT WORTH, Sept. 18 (AP)—An automobile collision on the highway south of Burleson caused the injury of Dr. L. R. Scarborough, president of the Southwestern Baptist Theological seminary, his daughter, Miss Ada Beth Scarborough, and Tom Taylor, about 60, all of Fort Worth.

The automobile in which they were returning from the Rio Grande valley collided with a car loaded with McLennan county negroes late yesterday. Dr. Scarborough suffered a broken nose and a rib fracture. His daughter was bruised and cut on the scalp. Taylor's collar bone was broken.

G. R. Dowdy was admitted to Worley hospital yesterday for treatment.

FLOOD CREST PASSES
RIO GRANDE CITY, Sept. 18 (AP)—The stage of the Rio Grande here today was 22.7 feet, compared with 25 feet at 6 p. m. yesterday, indicating that the crest of the flood waters from the San Juan river of Mexico had passed on to the lower Rio Grande valley.

Robert Lomax of LeFors underwent a major operation at Worley hospital yesterday.

MONKEY AT FAIR
CHICAGO, Sept. 18 (AP)—A black spider monkey, with a gray sailor beard, played hookey from the monkey school at a Century of Progress. He escaped, mounted the tower of the sky ride to a dizzy height and defied all rescue attempts. Bananas were offered. The monkey came down, snatched the fruit, mounted the tower and tossed the skins at his besiegers. Hundreds of spectators watched. The monkey was still on the tower early today.

ROOSEVELT IS BESIEGED WITH PLEAS TO INFLATE CURRENCY

FARMERS LENT 150 MILLION IN NEW FUND

INFLATION MOVEMENT GROWS STRONGER DAY BY DAY

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON, Associated Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP)—President Roosevelt put another $150,000,000 of federal pressure behind the credit expansion program today as southern congressional spokesmen rallied for straight-out currency inflation.

The new federal funds were made available to the federal land banks by the reconstruction finance corporation to assist in the immediate refinancing of farm mortgages held by banks whose operations have been restricted by heavy portfolios of such paper.

Jesse H. Jones, chairman, announced the plan as the drive for currency inflation picked up its strongest force since congress empowered Mr. Roosevelt to issue new currency or devalue the dollar.

The gathering here of cotton men and southern political leaders again made the inflation issue one of Mr. Roosevelt's major problems.

Senator Thomas (D., Okla.) who has telegraphed members of congress asking their views on inflation, said the meeting will choose a committee to convey its inflation views to the president. Every cotton state was expected to be represented.

Thomas said Representative Byrns of Tennessee, the house democratic leader, was supporting the inflation move along with 82 other members of the senate and house.

Mr. Roosevelt, to whom inflation requests have been carried by a number of party leaders in recent days, was silent about any plans he might have on the subject. From every indication, the president was maintaining his announced intention of moulding his monetary policies to meet conditions as they arise.

Just now, the president was concerned particularly about boosting prices received by the farmer. The new RFC plans to improve the position of banks holding farm mortgages was considered a new step in this direction.

The president was busy also pressing a number of other federal efforts toward credit expansion. These included:

Open market operations by the federal reserve banks through which members are piling up credits available for commercial loans.

The RFC plan making $1,000,000.

Chapter 49 THE WHOLE TRUTH

Colin jerked his hand toward the desk. "The answer's in that letter over there—the one I was to deliver to Joe Lazarre. I opened it when I got back here tonight. It's rather longish, as you see, but it cleans up pretty well everything and if you want to read it for yourself go ahead. Otherwise I'll give you the gist of it in a few words."

"I don't want to read it now," Sergeant Mulvey answered. "I'm too tired. And I've got a few things to say myself. So speak! All I want to know is what Reddy thinks it was the Mask who bumped French Pete and Annie off in the first place and why Reddy supposed Lazarre had been down on the lower St. Lawrence for a year and what made him think Lazarre was working for the Mask down there."

"It's the code, of course," Colin said. "No help asked or wanted from the police. A rift in a mob is another story. Annie was Reddy's sister, and French Pete was Lazarre's brother. Reddy's idea, in the event of anything happening to him, was to pass on the torch. He believed that Lazarre would turn against the mask to avenge his brother and the murder of his brother's wife."

"Check!" said Sergeant Mulvey. Colin's brows puckered. "It's a little difficult to iron it all out in its proper sequence," he said, "although Reddy explains everything at length in his letter as though he believed that Lazarre was in ignorance even of the murder themselves."

"That you can readily understand, because it appears from Reddy's letter that Lazarre, as an ally for himself, we can safely say now, dropped out of sight a month or so before French Pete was murdered."

"In other words," observed Sergeant Mulvey, "Reddy went on the assumption that Lazarre knew nothing at all about anything that had happened."

"Yes," said Colin. "Even to the extent of Lazarre being unaware that Reddy knew him to be Louis Mireau, French Pete's brother. So French Pete obviously knew it and he used to take Louis, or Lazarre—we'll call him Lazarre hereafter to avoid confusion—with him frequently to Annie's flat."

"That's how and where, of course, Lazarre's infatuation for Annie began; but with Annie, we may be certain, having none of him, and with French Pete standing always in the road. Well, French Pete naturally enough told Annie, the girl he was going to marry, who Lazarre really was, and in turn Annie confided in Reddy, her brother—all this, apparently, without Lazarre being aware of it."

Sergeant Mulvey's eyes were narrow with interest. "Well, go on! He prompted impatiently. 'What did he do?'"

"While he was still in stir," Colin went on, "he got tipped off to the men who were in the murder car the night French Pete was put on the spot. And as soon as he got out he went to work with that as a starter. Conversations brought this overland, the Mask, into the picture and definitely linked up the Mask with French Pete's murder and Annie's abduction."

"Also one night he overheard one of these men say that Lazarre was on the Cap a l'Orange job, and from that he concluded that Lazarre like wise was allied with the Mask and assumed that Lazarre had been at Cap a l'Orange all the time since he had left New York."

"That's about all. He ends by giving Lazarre a list of the men he has spotted and putting it up to Lazarre to carry on. I don't know how far he got, but he was a lot farther from the truth than he seemed to think he was, or, it is needless to say he would not have written to Lazarre."

"Somewhere a false step or ill luck exposed him. There's just one thing, though, that I must confess I cannot quite understand."

"What's that?" inquired Sergeant Mulvey. "Why Louis Mireau assumed the name of Joe Lazarre?"

Sergeant Mulvey smiled grimly. "I can explain that," he said. "I told you we'd had a pretty busy night of it. That scar on his shoulder started the ball rolling—and identified him down at headquarters. He had a police record—that's why he didn't have his calling cards engraved with Louis Mireau on them. See?"

"Oh!" Colin nodded. So that's it. Is it?"

"Yes," said Sergeant Mulvey, "and now listen to what we dug up out of the files. I told you I'd have a word or two to say when my turn came. The Mireau family originally came from somewhere down on the Gulf of the St. Lawrence—which probably, later on, gave Lazarre the 000 available to the banks for re-lending to industry in aiding the recovery drive.

Cash expenditures by the public works administration out of its $3,300,000,000 fund.

Federal loans through such agencies as the farm credit administration and the home loan bank system.

Cash advance to farmers by the agricultural adjustment administration.

Plans of the deposit guaranty corporation and other agencies to reopen closed or restricted banks not hopelessly insolvent.

Important to the success of federal efforts was a disposition of the banks to lend money. The president looks for the cooperation of the banks and Eugene Black, governor of the federal reserve board, has predicted confidently this cooperation would be given.

idea of locating that counterfeit plant there where its isolation made it look sure-fire as far as safety went, and the natural resources made it practical. He's about forty years old. When he was twenty, he was on the vaudeville stage—and say, what do you think his 'turn' was? We was one of those lightning change artists—an impersonator."

"The devil he was!" ejaculated Colin tensely; and then, with a tight smile; "Well, that explains a lot!"

"I'll say it does!" Sergeant Mulvey laughed harshly. "Just about that time, however, he got caught at a pretty dirty bit of blackmailing and forgery and got two years for it. When his term was up he disappeared."

"It must have been around then, when he turned himself into Koppelstein and started in on his own private theatricals at the Wine Press, and began to build up his mobs, creating a new big shot out of himself for each one as it came along. He was never heard of again until tonight."

"And it wasn't until about eight years ago, as far as we've been able to check up yet, that even Joe Lazarre appeared on the scene—by which time he figured, I guess, that no one would connect him with Louis Mireau unless he himself went around asking for it. And nobody did, either! So, as I said, when he wasn't playing around as Heime Schwarm and Buck O'Mara and such like, he was Joe Lazarre instead of Louis Mireau when his make-up was off. That Koppelstein was a winner."

"He could come and go in any character the next scene called for, and make those hops down the Gulf, obviously inspection trips from 'headquarters' whenever he liked—though it's open and shut that he always had to go down there as Lazarre on account of it keeping him so long away from his make-up base, but I guess you said it all when you made that crack about him getting to work to show Satan how it was done!"

Colin was staring moodily at the floor. He was silent for a moment; then abruptly:

Annie was bound to find out the truth, of course, and there's no doubt that's why in the end she was found in the river—but I wonder where he took her? He certainly never liked in a place like the Wine Press. He must have had quarters somewhere."

Sergeant Mulvey shrugged his shoulders. "More than one, probably," he said. "Heime Schwarm, for instance, no doubt had a swell lay-out somewhere, anyway, we'll dig that all out in time. We found some papers tucked away in a drawer of that revolving bar, which latter, by the way, according to the suddenly awakened memory of one of the old-timers down at headquarters, turns out to be nothing but another come-on circus stunt that was pulled by the Wine Press to amuse the clientele at the time prohibition was in the air and everybody was talking about it—only there wasn't any wardrobe on the other side of it then!"

"But no matter about that! Besides the addresses, we found a list of the members of the different mobs. And"—Sergeant Mulvey grinned suddenly—"the last name on Buck O'Mara's list was Clarkie Lunn with an 'O. K.' after it. We've got a dragnet out now—and there ought to be quite a haul by the time we're through."

"Kind of makes the fake stuff you've been getting away with in your books look sick, eh?"

"Yes," said Colin. "And that's another thing Reddy was right about. As a matter of fact, I'm working on a love story at the present moment."

"More than one, probably," he said. "Heime Schwarm, for instance, no doubt had a swell lay-out somewhere, anyway, we'll dig that all out in time. "But no matter about that! Besides the addresses, we found a list of the members of the different mobs. And"—Sergeant Mulvey grinned suddenly—"the last name on Buck O'Mara's list was Clarkie Lunn with an 'O. K.' after it. We've got a dragnet out now—and there ought to be quite a haul by the time we're through."

"Kind of makes the fake stuff you've been getting away with in your books look sick, eh?"

"Yes," said Colin. "And that's another thing Reddy was right about. As a matter of fact, I'm working on a love story at the present moment."

"More than one, probably," he said. "Heime Schwarm, for instance, no doubt had a swell lay-out somewhere, anyway, we'll dig that all out in time. We found some papers tucked away in a drawer of that revolving bar, which latter, by the way, according to the suddenly awakened memory of one of the old-timers down at headquarters, turns out to be nothing but another come-on circus stunt that was pulled by the Wine Press to amuse the clientele at the time prohibition was in the air and everybody was talking about it—only there wasn't any wardrobe on the other side of it then!"

Film Stunt Man 'n Alamo Shows Opening in City

The Alamo shows, featuring this year a stunt man of the movies in a sensational fire dive, will open a week's engagement near the Harvester football park at 7 o'clock tonight.

The fire-diver, Mouton, was seen in "Wings" and other dangerous pictures. He drops off a 98-foot tower into a tank 12 feet in diameter filled with 5½ feet of water. Both he and the tank, it is claimed by Don Brashear, advance man, will on fire during the dive. The exhibition will be more about 8:30 p. m.

Mouton worked over the Royal gorge in one of his most daring exhibitions. He also does gymnastic stunts on a pole atop his tower.

Brown Funeral To Be At Amarillo

The G. C. Malone Funeral home took the body of J. B. Brown, who died of gunshot wounds here Saturday morning, to Amarillo yesterday afternoon. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

Mr. Brown's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Brown of Amarillo, came to Pampa yesterday morning.

Mr. Brown is survived by his wife and three small children, his parents, and five sisters and one brother. He had been a resident of Pampa for four years.

Fight To Save Lamson From Noose Started

SAN JOSE, Calif., Sept. 18 (AP)—Defense attorneys have announced they will use every possible means to save David A. Lamson from the gallows.

The defenders of the 31-year-old Stanford university press executive said the legal warfare would be far more intense than that waged during the last month at the trial in which Lamson was convicted by a jury of slaying his pretty wife, Allene Thorpe Lamson.

Edwin M. Rea and Maurice Rankin will begin their battle for Lamson's life by asking a new trial when he appears in court tomorrow to hear himself condemned to hang to hang the only sentence possible under the unflinching verdict Saturday night of the jury of seven men and five women.

While Lamson continued his fight, his 24-year-old daughter, Allene Genevieve, was to be the subject of a court battle for her custody. Frank C. Thorpe, of Lamar, Mo., brother of Mrs. Lamson, said he would institute such a suit, possibly today.

Body of Girl Is Taken to Post

The body of Miss Ruby Hilliard, suicide victim, was sent to Post this morning by the G. C. Malone Funeral home. Funeral services will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at Post, the former home of Miss Hilliard.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hilliard, two brothers and an uncle arrived in Pampa yesterday afternoon and made arrangements to have the body sent to Post for burial. Two sisters did not come to Pampa.

Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard and family were residents of Pampa from 1925 to 1931. They moved to Houston to make their home but Miss Hilliard remained in Pampa.

Patricia Arnold, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Arnold of Perryton, underwent a tonsillectomy at Pampa hospital yesterday.

Mrs. Mary E. Gillis is a patient at Pampa hospital for medical treatment.

HURRICANE WRECKS COASTAL SHACKS, LEAVES ONE VICTIM

NORFOLK, Va., Sept. 18 (AP)—A vicious hurricane, conceived in the tropics and born at sea, raked the Virginia coast tonight after pounding the North Carolina seaboard with devastating effect.

Near Wilkesbarre, Pa., one man was known dead, four were trapped and many were marooned by floodwaters that swept down the Wyoming valley.

A sailor and a fisherman, were drowned in the Carolina hurricane. But there was no news from many fishing villages that sprawl along the coast. They were isolated and in wake of the storm.

This city had been warned to get ready for a terrific blow, but the hurricane changed its course before its force reached here, and headed northward.

Big craft ploughed through mountainous seas all along the seaboard and small boats sought refuge. Hurricane warnings flew as far north as New Jersey and danger lights flashed from South Carolina to New England.

Coastal residents of Virginia fled to safety. The weather bureau gave steady signals of warning that the hurricane's fury was growing as it moved northward.

Even while the Virginia cape country almost held its breath in anticipation of danger, the sunny coast of Mexico sought its dead and injured from a storm that swept between Brownsville, Tex., and Tampico, Mexico, yesterday. At least six were known dead, 50 injured and 2,000 homeless.

Mrs. L. V. Natho of LeFors shopped here this morning.

R. R. Watson returned this morning from a visit with friends in Oklahoma.

Relatives of Man Sought After He Succumbs Here

Relatives of R. E. Murray, short time Pampa resident who died in a local hospital Thursday morning, have not been located and the body is still at rest at the G. C. Malone Funeral home.

Mr. Murray arrived in Pampa a week before he became ill and friends here do not know the whereabouts of his relatives. Every effort is being made to locate them through former addresses.

Mr. Murray was a plumber. He visited in Pampa several years ago. Friends and Mr. Malone are making the search for relatives. A sister has moved from an address found in Mr. Murray's pocket.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Upham of McLean spent Sunday in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Sherman White.
