Colorado City, Loraine & Westbrook

Answerline

Q. How many schools have year round schooling in the United States?

A. To combat the summer learning loss, many schools have implemented year-round schooling. The National Association for Year-Round Education reported in 2007 that 3,000 year-round schools enrolled more than 2 million students in the United States. That number had risen to 3,181 in 2017.

Preparations being made for students' return to class

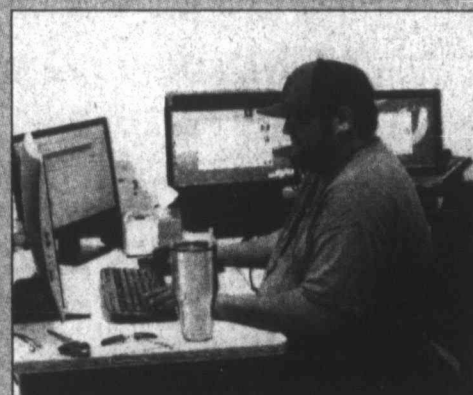

Students will return to classes in Mitchell County beginning August 16th when Colorado Independent School District opens for the 2018-19 school year.

Westbrook ISD will start one day earlier on August 15th, while Loraine will begin classes on August 20th.

In this issue of the Colorado City Record, our annual Back-to-School edition, you will find valuable information such as school supply lists, schedules for students and parents, along with registration information.

Sports schedules for the upcoming football and volleyball seasons are included so that you may follow your favorite team.

While browsing the school supply lists, you may notice a shortened list for Colorado Elementary and Middle School. The Colorado ISD Board of Directors voted earlier in the year to purchase $20,000 worth of school supplies to help with the cost of sending your child to school.

PREPARING FOR STUDENTS — Pam Alvarez (top) and Bubba Limones (bottom) are preparing student's laptops and desk top computers before the return of students on August 16th.

Football practices begin at all schools

The first day of school is right around the corner, and that means pre-season football practice is even closer.

Colorado City

The Colorado City Wolves report for the first day of practice on Monday, August 6th.

Head Football Coach and Athletic Director Dan Gainey said all high school football players should report to the field house at Wolf Stadium at 6:30 a.m. Certain items will be issued before players take the field at 7:30 a.m.

For the past several years, the two-a-days programs have been modified to protect students from heat exhaustion. The Wolves have been practicing early and in one block for several years, and this year is no exception. Coach Gainey expects to be finished with practice around 11:30 a.m. each day.

Offensive Line Coach B.J. Graham said players will be in shorts and helmets on Monday and Tuesday with shoulder pads being issued on Wednesday. Regular practices will be conducted on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday with a full pad intra-squad scrimmage scheduled for Saturday morning.

Maggie Boatman, Mitchell County Librarian, spoke to the court concerning a donation of $100 given to the library from Kiker Seale Funeral Home. The funeral home had donated all the snacks and drinks for the summer reading program. The $100 was given to pay for the end-of-year pizza party held last week.

Erwin enjoying life with his new heart

We all mark the years in some way. Most of us at least recognize our own birthdays, though some may not celebrate. But, as of June 25, 2018, Heath Erwin gets to celebrate two "birthdays": one on the day of his birth and another June 25th of each year. That's the day he got a new lease on life. That's the day he got a new heart!

Heath Erwin was born with a heart defect and had lived for 42 years with it. Now, that's a thing of the past, as he underwent a heart transplant last year.

According to his dad Randy Erwin, Heath was born with a defect that had his arteries hooked up to his heart backwards. At the tender age of 10 months, he had a surgery called a Transposition of the Great Arteries.

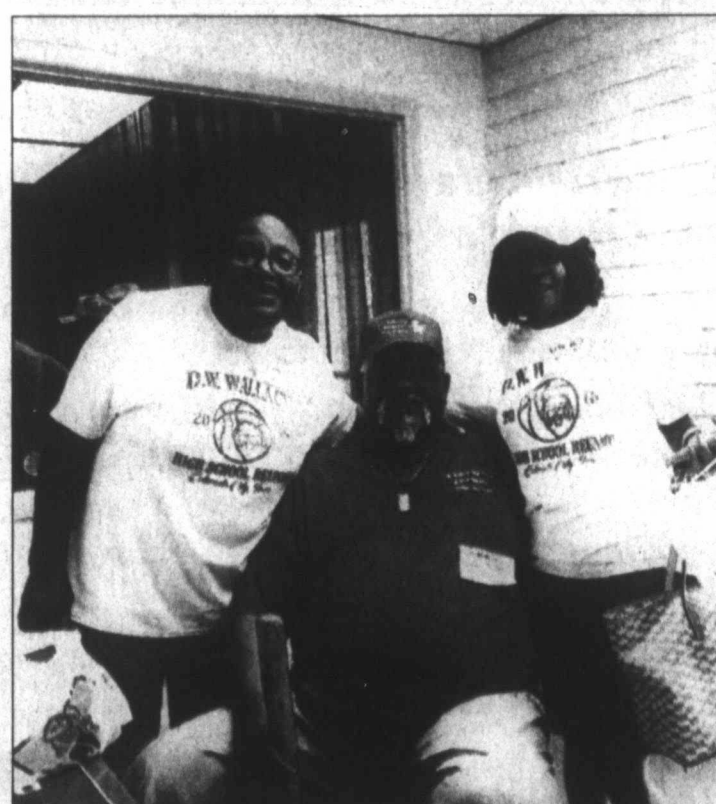

Though the surgery helped him survive, Heath had lived with a compromised heart all his life. His blood pressure had always been low, along with his oxygen levels. He also had to deal with other illnesses caused by the poor function of his heart throughout his life.

Thanks to a nine-hour surgery last June, Erwin is getting to enjoy a bit more out of life. He recently celebrated his one-year

A DIFFERENT LIFE — Quality of life for Heath Erwin has improved significantly since his heart transplant last year. He celebrated one year with his new heart at the end of June. He's pictured here in his home with just part of his extensive sports memorabilia collection.

Over 70 attend Wallace Reunion

A large crowd of D.W. Wallace School alumni gathered over the weekend to hold the 2018 reunion. There were lots of visiting, laughter and reminiscing as old friends and classmates enjoyed catching up.

The reunion kicked off with a fish fry Friday evening at the Colorado City Civic Center that had those attending raving about the food. Everyone enjoyed seeing each other again, and it was a time for celebration.

On Saturday morning, it was time for business. Each year, the meeting is held to let everyone See WALLACE, page 5

LORAIN – Marie Elizabeth Jarratt Hare passed peacefully into the next life at 1:50 p.m. on Monday afternoon, July 16, 2018, at home in Loraine at age 92 with her loving family and caregiver by her side after Psalm 91 had been read aloud and a recording of the hymn "In the Garden" was playing. Marie was a woman who could best be described as a true altruist, spending her life putting other peoples' needs and happiness ahead of her own. Marie was first and foremost a mother who loved her family with all her heart. She loved being outdoors, especially gardening, and was often giving neighbors and friends fruit or vegetables from her garden.

Shoe drive donations sought

One of the best things about starting school is new school clothes, but sometimes buying new shoes for every kid is hard for a family. One Heart Women's Ministry is making a difference in that area, and citizens are urged to take part.

It's time again for the One Heart Women's Ministry Shoe Drive. Members are now starting to collect new tennis shoes for school age kids, pre-k through 12th grade, and any donation will be greatly appreciated.

Citizens can purchase shoes and drop them off in one of the drop-off boxes located around town. Drop-off locations are at FirstBank & Trust, Colorado City Record, Christian Temple, Calvary Baptist Church, First United Methodist Church, St. Ann's Catholic Church and Matlock.

Deadline to make a donation is Friday, August 3rd. Shoes will be handed out on Sunday, August 5th from 2 to 4 p.m. at Christian Temple, located at 1927 Hickory Street.

VISITING THE CAMP — Several members of the local Lions Club took a trip down to Kerville to visit the Texas Lions Camp on Friday, July 13th. Local Lions Club members voice opinions on EDC questionnaire

The program at the weekly meeting of the Colorado City Lions Club was a little different than usual. Stephanie Perez, Colorado City Economic Development Corporation (EDC) board member, asked Lions to respond to a survey-style questionnaire.

The newly-formed EDC was approved by the state two months ago. At this time, there are no funds to seek out new businesses nor help existing ones, but there is an important election coming up in November that could change all that.

The city is looking for election judges to sit at polling places on November 6th to oversee the process and ensure the results are untampered. The job pays $14 per hour and training will be provided. If you're interested in being a judge, contact city hall.

The city council has ordered an election which will give voters the choice to fund the EDC or not. City officials are proposing to use 1/8th of 1% of the sales tax rebates the city already gets to designate for funding the EDC.

The measure would not cost citizens anything, as it is basically directing funds to the EDC that already being sent to the city each month. If the measure is passed by the citizens, the funds would allow for the hiring of an EDC director and give the board money to seek out new businesses.

During the last meeting of the city's EDC board, a questionnaire of sorts was handed out to board members. The title of the document was "Overall Economic Plan - Intermittent and/or Short-Term Goals". Board members were asked to talk with citizens about the topics on the sheet and write down the best answers.

The first item was about developing a strategy to permanently bolster the business climate throughout the City of Colorado City. Bob Brooks said he thinks attitudes toward competition in business needs to change in order to see the business climate bolstered. It has been a prevailing attitude that business owners, particularly past business owners, try to run off or buy out a competing business that is trying to open in Colorado City.

September 22, 2018 Berman brothers to attend annual Mitchell Co. Reunion

The sons of Herman Berman, Harold, Stanley and Irwin, are planning a visit to Colorado City, their beloved hometown. They'll be here for the Mitchell County Reunion in September, and they want to see their old friends and classmates.

The three brothers of H.I. and Alice Berman are planning a trip to Mitchell County. All three are in their 90s, and Harold and his twin brothers, Stanley and Irwin, will present the program at the annual Mitchell County Reunion in September.

Harold called the Record office last week to announce the good news. He said his dad, H.I. (not to be confused with Uncle Max) Berman, served as mayor of Colorado City for a couple of years many decades ago. Harold is 92 and is still a practicing attorney in Dallas.

The men plan to share stories of Colorado City in the 1930s, 40s and 50s. Harold said he even remembers some things from the 1920s, but his brothers would not because they were born in 1929.

"Twin boys born in the middle of The Great Depression was news back then," Harold said Monday. "They're sort of legends."

Harold graduated from Colorado High School in 1942 as the class valedictorian. His brothers graduated three years later in 1945 as the valedictorian and salutatorian.

The trio realize many of their classmates may not still be around, but they want to extend a sincere invitation to all. They would enjoy the chance to reconnect with their classmates.

Not only are they coming to town to be a part of the reunion, they are bringing lots of people to help celebrate. Harold said they are chartering a bus to transport many family members from locations near and far. One family member is even coming from Mexico City.

So, if you know anyone who may have gone to school with Harold, Stanley or Irwin Berman, give them a heads up and let them know the Berman boys want to see them. The Mitchell County Reunion will be held Saturday, September 22, 2018.

OPINION & COMMENTARY

TUMBLEWEED SMITH The flag flies in Old Glory

In the late 1800s some German families moved into Stonewall County and began farming operations. They started a town and called it Old Brandenburg to honor their German heritage.

"They built an old school house way out in the country," says Anita Dozier, Old Glory historian. "Then they started little businesses. When the train came through, they moved closer to the tracks and renamed their little community New Brandenburg. Then in WWI, when our boys were fighting over there in Germany, they all decided they needed to change the name to Old Glory. There was a little old lady named Mrs. Carr who suggested the name."

Anita says Old Glory used to be a big town with hundreds of residents, two grocery stores, a warehouse, filling stations and two cotton gins. Seven school buses took kids to school where Anita played basketball and performed in plays. The school closed in 1985. She remembers milking cows and her mother selling the cream and taking the milk to the depot. Now there's not much of her town left.

"Just our post office and our community center. We only have about 15 or 20 people living in Old Glory now."

Shopping is limited.

"About the only things you can buy are stamps at the post office. But our post office is open just two hours a day."

There is a historical marker in Old Glory.

"A flag flies over it 24 hours a day, seven days a week. I order the flags."

Some people send the post office items for mailing to get the Old Glory postmark. For 36 years, Anita has written a column about Old Glory. It's in newspapers in Stamford and Aspermont. I asked her what she writes about.

"Whatever I can find. People help me out. If they go visiting or something happens, they tell me about it. I write the column Sunday nights."

The community center in Old Glory has events twice a month.

"There are three women who take care of that community center, which used to be our school cafeteria. I'm one of the three. We have a senior citizen dance the second Thursday of every month and we have our musical the fourth Saturday of every month. We set up tables and chairs for the musicals and take them down for the dances. The musical is our biggest event. We have musicians that come from all around that get up there and play. They play for nothing. They just like to play together. We have it every month except November and December. About half a dozen groups, primarily from Abilene and Sweetwater, play gospel and country western music. We have a concession stand that makes money to keep it going. We sell childlids, Frito pie and barbeque sandwiches. For dessert, we have good homemade pies."

A tale of motherhood

By Monte Wike

King Solomon was faced with a very hard case. Two women had given birth about the same time. One mother rolled over and smothered her child, and the other child lived. They were arguing before the wise king that each was the mother of the child. To trick them into deciding, he pronounced that the child be split in half and each mother be given a share. Realizing that there would be no baby at all, the real mother spoke up and said the other woman could have the infant. King Solomon immediately knew that she was the real mother because her love for the child was greater than the fear of its destruction or harm.

We are told to honor our mothers and we seek to do that in May. Gifts are nice, but not the only way of showing our appreciation. Family gatherings, respectful obedience or recalling memories might be a better way to celebrate.

It saddens me when I hear of mothers who harm their children. Yet it has happened many times. Often the child is torn between loyalty to a mother or father, depending on a divorce settlement. He may have to face inadequate care, living in an addictive atmosphere, or sustained anger. He may not even live with his mother, but with some other relative who has stepped forward to raise the child. It also saddens me when mothers abandon their children, do not want them, or put their own interests, desires and habits ahead of the welfare of the child.

But it is such a joy to see mothers who are supportive, effective, or temperate. I was very fortunate in my upbringing to have loving, devoted parents. Mother was very inventive when it came to adding extra income to the family. We were sent out by age five or six to go door-to-door and sell "White Cloverine Salve". Then she got on a kick to import and sell cacti. We had a house full of the prickly fellows.

Still later we sold milk and eggs from our productive hens and a single cow. They bought a big house and made six apartments out of it for additional income. When we finally had our own home, then she rented out rooms there, including mine. I had to sleep on the couch!

There were times of fun, family games, a large garden to tend, fruit and vegetables to can, unique vacations, yearly visits with other relatives and always church. Both mother and dad had good voices and sang in the choir. They were usually busy as Sunday School teachers and youth leaders. We always got new clothes and shoes for Easter. I thought we were just an average family, but as I grew older, I realized how very special their love, devotion and care was.

Then when Noma and I married and our children began to come along, I had an entirely new view of motherhood and appreciation. (She can tell you all the details of every pregnancy, world events that happened at the same time, and what time of day and what day of the week each child was born and what she wore to the hospital!) I saw her selfless sacrifices, desire to please, and often strong discipline. Each one holds her in special, high regard.

Mothers deserve their day of recognition. Women who have not been mothers deserve praise, too. The tale of motherhood is as varied as women themselves, but our gratitude and appreciation should be constant, vocal and visible. Even if there are problems in the home, thanks goes a long way toward providing an answer. It takes a really wise person to be a mother.

Texas Tuition deadline approaching

Texas families have until midnight on July 31 to enroll their newborns in the Texas Tuition Promise Fund* and pay this year's rates for all or some future tuition and schoolwide required fees at Texas public colleges and universities. Newborns are children younger than 1 year old at the time of enrollment.

Under the Texas Tuition Promise

Fund, the state's prepaid college tuition program, participants can purchase tuition units and lock in future costs of tuition and schoolwide required fees at Texas public colleges and universities based on today's prices.

Enrollment at 2017-18 prices closed on Feb. 28 for children 1 year old and older. The next annual enrollment period begins on Sept. 1, and prices will be based on Texas public college and university tuition and schoolwide required fees for the 2018-19 school year.

Complete plan information, including plan description and agreement, current prices, enrollment forms and more, is available at TuitionPromise.org, or by calling 800-445-GRAD (4723), Option 5.

anniversary with his newest muscle. While Erwin is enjoying more freedom since the surgery, he certainly still sees plenty of doctors, nurses and hospitals.

Following the surgery, Erwin and his mom, Leigh Ann, stayed for three months with Heath's brother in Frisco to be close to the hospital. Doctors required him to visit the hospital up to four times daily in the days immediately following the surgery.

Doctors saw a positive progression in his recovery and sent Erwin to cardiac rehab to help build his strength.

There was lots of testing to be done... lots and lots of testing. Erwin still returns to William P. Clements Jr. University Hospital once a month for various types of testing just to make sure all is going well.

After a few weeks with his new heart, doctors told Erwin it would be necessary to give him a virus. The donor had this particular virus and had developed immunity to it, but Erwin had never been infected with it. He said it took six or seven IVs to introduce the virus properly to his system, and, thankfully, it never made him sick.

Erwin's first trip back to Colorado City happened in September of 2017, when he got to come home for the weekend. His immune system was still compromised and delicate, so doctors gave him permission to come home on the condition of no hugs and no unnecessary trips to public places.

An unknown germ could have wrecked the many weeks of work toward a healthier heart. Erwin said last week doctors are still working to strengthen his immune system.

Though the outcome has been great, the whole process was full of adjustments, especially in Erwin's medications. He said it took about three to five months for doctors to get his medicines the way they want them. The meds he takes put him at an unusually high risk for skin cancer, so Erwin also sees a dermatologist every trip.

Erwin got to come home for good at the end of October last year. Part of the testing he undergoes each month in Dallas is a biopsy of his heart. Doctors insert a snipping tool into Erwin's chest cavity and pinch off a tiny piece of his heart for testing. Erwin's case is helping doctors develop a blood test to replace the heart biopsies.

His new blood-pumper has Erwin feeling fine these days. "Everything's great!" he said last Friday. "I stay busy all the time now."

Leigh Ann embarked on the long process to be able to contact the donor's family to thank them for giving her son a chance at a better life. She sent them a letter thanking them, and the family has sent a letter back.

The donor's family is choosing to remain anonymous at this point, and Erwin respects that privacy. He did, however, learn that he is the new owner of a lady's heart. And, the Erwin family is leaving the next step of contact up to the donor's family.

But, like he said, "Everything's great!" And, Erwin's future looks better than ever!

The board is present and presides over the meeting. Some fundraising ideas were suggested, such as putting together and selling a cookbook. Also, it was suggested that each family could do their own fundraiser if they wish.

It was reported that the last "loose change fundraiser" brought in $734. People saved their loose change for the two years between reunions and donated it when they arrived. Part of the funds are used during the year to send flowers and cards to Wallace-connected families losing loved ones. Before the meeting adjourned, board members told attendees to send them their ideas for the next reunion.

The memorial service for classmates who have passed away was held after the picnic.

A banquet Saturday night capped off the weekend. Alfred Henderson, long-time educator in Plainview ISD, was the speaker at the event. Henderson taught English at Colorado ISD from 1957 - 1964. Approximately 70 people attended the Saturday night festivities.

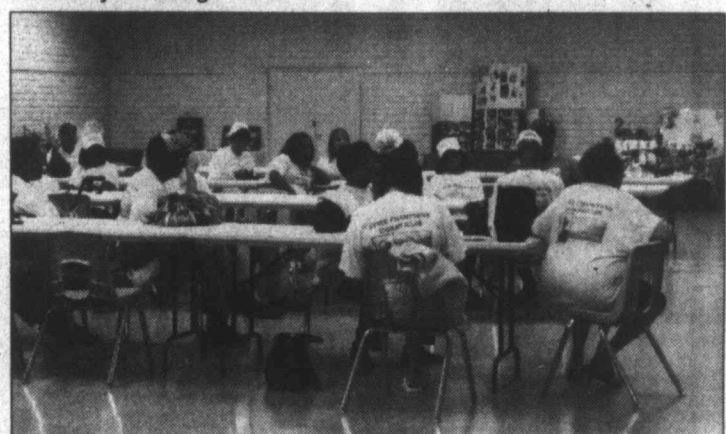

Some of the attendees of the reunion stayed another night in Colorado City and attended Sunday morning worship service at the House of Hope Church on 17th Street.

Back 2 School

Colorado Elementary packet pickup to be held August 1-3

Registration is quickly approaching for Pre-kindergarten through 2nd grade students attending Colorado Elementary School this fall. Details on that and quite a few other things follow, including instructions for parents of HeadStart students.

The Colorado Elementary campus is located at 1244 E. 10th Street, and the campus hours are 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Free breakfast is available to all students every school day from 7:20 to 7:45 a.m. Morning Assembly will be held each morning from 7:45 to 8 a.m. in the elementary gym.

All pre-k through 2nd grade students should be dropped off in the mornings on the west side of the building at the front and picked up in the same location in the afternoons. Buses will drop off at the back of the building.

Registration packet pickup will be held August 1st, 2nd and 3rd. Meet the Teacher and packet turn-in is set for Thursday, August 9th from 1 to 3 p.m. Students and families are invited to bring back complete registration paperwork and meet their teachers.

For the first two days of school only, parents may walk students into the building for morning assembly in the elementary gym. Parents may join their child's class during the assembly and exit once it is over. After the first two days, parents should drop off students in the designated area and leave.

Parents are welcome to have lunch with students after Labor Day. The extra time period allows students to get used to attending school without their parents. Please do not send a lunch for students that must be heated.

Classroom volunteering will also begin after Labor Day. Please come in and fill out a volunteer form and provide a copy of your driver's license. Background checks will be done on every volunteer that visits the campus on a regular basis. Please be prepared to present a current ID.

Every guest that comes on campus, whether parent or grandparent, must come into the main office, sign in, show a valid driver's license or Texas ID, indicate whom they will visit, and provide the reason for the visit. This includes eating breakfast with students after Labor Day.

Visitors will receive a printed ID badge to wear. The badge indicates to staff that a visitor has checked in at the main office.

Parents of HeadStart students should be aware that there are special procedures that apply specifically to them. Parents of HeadStart (HS) students should not come into the main elementary entrance. All HS parents should enter the building from the south entrance by the playground at 7:45 a.m. The gate will be open from 7:45 to 8 a.m. for signing in students.

Parents with a student arriving late will need to sign in at the main office and the staff will walk them to either class or to the café for breakfast. If HS students are leaving early, parents will wait in the office while the child is brought to the office for early pickup.

While the rules may seem strict, it is of the utmost importance to the administrators and staff of Colorado ISD that students are able to attend classes in the safest environment possible. Limiting non-staff traffic in the hallways is the first step in implementing safety.

School starts on Wednesday, August 16th.

Registration planned for August 2 & 3 at CHS

The 2018-19 school year is upon us and the staff at Colorado High School has set dates for registration and orientation.

All returning students will register on Thursday, August 2nd from 9:00 a.m. - noon and 1:30-3:30 p.m. New students can register on Friday, August 3rd from 9:00 a.m. - noon. A copy of their birth certificate, Social Security card and previous school records will be required when new students are registering.

Freshmen students and their parents/guardians are invited to the Freshmen Orientation on Monday, August 13th from 1:00-2:00 p.m. The orientation will involve a meeting in the auditorium, followed by students touring the building, according to their class schedule.

If unable to attend, freshmen students and their parents/guardians may attend the Grade 10-12 Orientation, but this will not include the building tour.

Students in grades 10-12 and their parents/guardians are invited to the Grade 10-12 Orientation on Monday, August 13th from 6-6:30 p.m. The orientation will include a meeting in the auditorium for new procedures and updates.

Simplifying students' transition to college

College is the first taste of true independence many young students experience. Whereas mom and dad were always around to make sure kids were out the door on time and homework was done, that safety blanket is no longer there once kids move into their dorm rooms.

The transition to college life can be exciting. But while students typically welcome that transition with open arms, parents often worry about how their children will handle their suddenly more independent life. Parents who want to help their kids make as smooth a transition to college life as possible can take steps during their children's senior year of high school to help them adjust to their new surroundings and responsibilities more easily.

Let kids fly solo on school day mornings. New college students have to make many adjustments upon moving into their dorms and getting themselves out of bed each morning and off to class on time is one such change. Parents worried that their students will sleep in when mom and dad isn't around to remind them to wake up can start letting kids fly solo on school day mornings during their final year of high school. Let kids set their alarms, prepare their own breakfasts and get out the door on time all on their own. By the time their freshman year of college arrives, kids will know how to handle their mornings by themselves.

Teach kids how to develop budgets. Another problem many first-year college students encounter is an inability to effectively manage their money. Whether you plan to give kids an allowance while they are in school or intend for them to work part-time for their spending money, use senior year of high school as an opportunity to show kids how to budget their money. If they don't have accounts already, open bank accounts in your youngster's name, and insist that he or she start paying for his or her expenses via these accounts. Resist the urge to give high school kids gas money or money for shopping trips if they have already spent their allowances so they can learn how to effectively manage money between paydays. In addition, teach kids about the right and wrong ways to use credit cards, including the importance of paying balances in full and on time.

Let kids handle more standard responsibilities. Adults tend to take more mundane responsibilities like making doctor's appointments or grocery shopping for granted. But kids likely have no idea how to handle such tasks. Parents can encourage their high school seniors to make their own medical appointments. In addition, take kids along on grocery shopping trips, explaining how to find sale items and which foods to buy and which to avoid. Nutrition is not always foremost on the minds of college freshmen, but those who understand the importance of healthy diets are more likely to buy nutritious meals than junk food.

Emphasize time management. Today's high schoolers are busier than ever before, so many may already be prepared for the juggling act that is college life. But college students have more free time than their high school counterparts, so parents can emphasize the importance of managing that free time wisely as opposed to spending it lounging on the couch or napping.

The transition from high school to college can be both exciting and difficult. But parents can get a head start on that transition by encouraging their youngsters to be more independent during their final year of high school.

Local 4-H chapter planning fun-filled day camp

The local chapter of 4-H is getting ready to kick off another year of educational and fun programs, and all kids from 3rd grade up are welcome to join. 4-H is a great way to engage in family activities and is about so much more than raising livestock. Make plans to send your kids to 4-H County Camp to find out what it's all about.

The Lone Wolf 4-H chapter is planning to hold the first-ever 4-H County Camp on Tuesday, August 7th from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Kelley Café. There will be plenty of learning and leadership fun for the youth of Mitchell County.

All kids ages 6 to 18 who are residents of Mitchell County are eligible to participate. Cost for the one-day camp is $10 per kid and includes a lunch from Kelley Café.

Adult leader Margo Connell said kids attending will get to experience archery, STEM (science, technology, engineering, math) time, some fun in the kitchen, and a trash n fashion show.

Anyone planning to attend should register at the extension office at the corner of Hickory and 2nd Street anytime between now and Aug. 7th. Late registration will be held the day of camp.

At 4 p.m. that day, there will be a camp demonstration for parents and grandparents, so they can see what their kids have been doing all day.

"It's a great way to experience what 4-H is about," Connell said.

The local 4-H chapter is also actively looking for adult volunteers to help grow the program. Kids are willing to take on new projects, but responsible adults are needed to oversee such programs. All volunteers must pass a background check.

The cost to participate in 4-H is $20 per child per year; an inexpensive fee for a world of experience. For Annual kids' shoe drive now underway

One of the best things about starting school is new school clothes, but sometimes buying new shoes for every kid is hard for a family. One Heart Women's Ministry is making a difference in that area, and citizens are urged to take part.

It's time again for the One Heart Women's Ministry Shoe Drive. Members are now starting to collect new tennis shoes for school age kids, pre-k through 12th grade, and any donation will be greatly appreciated.

Citizens can purchase shoes and drop them off in one of the drop-off boxes located around town. Drop-off locations are at FirstBank & Trust, Colorado City Record, Christian Temple, Calvary Baptist Church, First United Methodist Church, St. Ann's Catholic Church and Matlock.

Deadline to make a donation is Friday, August 3rd. Shoes will be handed out on Sunday, August 5th from 2 to 4 p.m. at Christian Temple, located at 1927 Hickory Street.

For more information, call Kyla McGuffin at 325-242-0478 or Machel Strain at 242-1387.
