

SCHEDULED TO TESTIFY IN ESTATE CASE TODAY

Missing Pair Witness Shot

(AP WIREPHOTO via radio from Saigon)

HE'S NOT HEAVY — Disabled North Vietnamese soldier and his crutches are carried aboard the U.S. troopship Upshur at Da Nang Thursday on his way to be repatriated. The South Vietnamese government abandoned plans to return 13 POWs after Hanoi's representatives failed to rendezvous with the ship off the demilitarized zone.

DALLAS (AP) — A man scheduled to testify in a court inquiry into the disappearance of two elderly, wealthy persons was shot early today, he told police.

The witness for today's hearing is Robert Seanor, 29, reported in poor condition in a Dallas hospital.

Opening of the hearing before Dist. Judge Dee Brown Walker was delayed 20 minutes, presumably while principals in the case were briefed about the shooting.

Missing since Aug. 15, 1970, are Robert L. "Tex" Roberts, 85, and Roberts' aunt, Jessie I. Forsythe, 89.

Witnesses have said that Roberts had an estate of $500,000 or so.

Seanor told police he was shot in his apartment about 2 a.m. by one of two well-dressed men.

The shooting victim said the same pair forced their way into his apartment Thursday and wanted to take him riding.

He said he refused to go because he had heard his life was in danger.

Seanor was the person who reported the disappearance of another woman, Mrs. Anna Farley, in 1963. She has figured in earlier hearings.

A. J. Bergeron, who called himself a friend and bodyguard of the missing Roberts, asked authorities to investigate the disappearances.

At an earlier inquiry, it developed that Dallas lawyer Leon C. Horton assumed full control of the Roberts and Forsythe estates acting through a power of attorney document.

Judge Walker ordered Horton arrested after expert handwriting witnesses said the purported Roberts signature on the power of attorney was a forgery.

Also arrested was Ardi O'Dell Reed, a Grand Prairie notary public who attested to the Roberts name on the document.

Since the earlier hearings, the Roberts' estate has been placed in court control, managed by Whitney R. Sessions.

Sessions called Bergeron as the first witness in the new hearing.

He asked Bergeron, "Did you shoot Mr. Seanor this morning?"

Bergeron replied, "No, sir. I was unaware he had been shot."

Sessions brought in the name of Paul Edward Hayward, another witness, formerly rent collector for the apartment complex operated by Horton and now manager for the receivers.

The estate lawyer asked Bergeron whether he was aware that Hayward had been under a murder threat. The witness said Hayward had indicated that "someone had been hanging around" and didn't like the look of the situation.

Speaking of the Seanor shooting, Sessions asked Bergeron, "Do you mean you did not know he was in the hospital in critical condition with gunshot wounds—that he was shot about 6 o'clock this morning?"

"It's news to me, absolutely," Bergeron replied.

The witness was asked if he could account for Seanor speaking his name when he was being carried to the ambulance.

It possibly was because Seanor had promised to be in court, Bergeron said.

The witness said that Seanor's testimony would have corroborated Hayward's evidence regarding the disappearances.

Bergeron further said he had never threatened Seanor, that the wounded man would have testified as to Mrs. Farley's associates, and that there seemed to be some animosity between Hayward and Seanor.

Hayward, a large man with red, crewcut hair, took the stand and told Judge Walker he hadn't come to court expecting to be accused of attempted murder.

The judge told him he was not on trial, and Hayward agreed to testify, saying he "had nothing to hide."

Threats Snap Deadlock In Redistricting Tussle

AUSTIN (AP) — The legislature prepared to debate today a threat-induced congressional redistricting bill, which Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin said was the only redistricting bill a special session may consider.

Gov. Preston Smith opened the session to bills regulating highway billboards and de-annexing the University of Texas at San Antonio from the City of San Antonio.

Martin said the legislature could not pass a valid bill redistricting the state Senate.

In an opinion requested by Sen. J. P. Word, Martin said the state Constitution directs a special five-member board to redistrict either house of the legislature that the first regular session following a census fails to redistrict.

The board is composed of the lieutenant governor, speaker of the House, attorney general, land commissioner and comptroller.

TIME RAN OUT

The legislature redistricted the House, but time ran out in the regular session at midnight Monday before it could remap districts for Congress and the state Senate.

It took three threats by Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes to break a deadlock Thursday night between House and Senate negotiators over what congressional districts in East Texas should look like.

The negotiators squabbled for several days before the personal intervention of Barnes and Speaker Gus Mutscher—especially the threats by Barnes—won the agreement.

"When you start from (Lubbock Rep. George) Mahon's district, it makes it pretty hard to draw this map, which is what the (Texas) House has done," Barnes said early in the evening.

LOCK HIM UP

Mahon is chairman of the U.S. House Appropriations Committee and lives in the home district of State Rep. Delwin Jones of Lubbock, chairman of the House negotiators and redistricting.

Mutscher was making a speech in San Antonio while Barnes listened to the negotiators pull and tug at each other's plans.

"I guess we'll have to get Mutscher up here and lock him in a room," Barnes said. "This is Disneyland on review."

Barnes fussed over a coffee urn in a sideroom while waiting for the speaker to arrive. The coffee came out weak and lukewarm.

"I don't know," Barnes said. "I give up. I can't even make coffee."

Mutscher walked in at 9:52 p.m. He and Barnes retired to a separate office for five minutes.

After they returned, the speaker proposed across a polished conference table that Grayson County (Sherman-Denison) be split, with half going to the district of U. S. Rep. Wright Patman of Texarkana.

where Haynes could run, but the House plan, which Haynes helped draw, excluded Angelina County (Lufkin).

Sen. Charles Wilson of Lufkin, who also wants to run for Congress from that district, began arguing with Haynes across the table.

'I'LL RESIGN'

Barnes reddened in the face. "I'm going to take Charlie off the committee and replace him with Dallas Sen. Mike McKeel if you will replace Haynes, the lieutenant governor barked at Mutscher. "It's obvious we've got a personality conflict here."

"I'll resign," Haynes said. Barnes said the Senate had "yielded and yielded and yielded." He said he was unhappy with the way Jones had reapportioned West Texas in an effort to protect Mahon at the expense of four other congressmen.

"We're going to take East Texas as it's drawn or we're going to go back to West Texas and redraw the map," Barnes said.

Haynes spoke again. He said that he and Wilson reached a gentleman's agreement Sunday and Wilson backed out on it. Wilson denied it.

"That's great," Barnes burst out. "I welcome the opportunity to remap West Texas. Let's get some fresh maps."

Danish Porno On Home Tube Coming Event

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Something new is being developed for the pornography buff: sex movies on cassettes to be run off through the home television set.

It won't be long before Americans and Europeans can receive pornographic video cassettes in unmarked packages from Denmark, an exhibitor at the latest sex and pornography fair said Thursday.

The exhibitor, a big producer of blue movies, said he is ready to make and market such TV cassettes as soon as international standardization problems are solved to make sure his pornographic software will fit machines made abroad.

He demonstrated to fair-goers what it will be like to watch Danish porno on the home cassette tube. But the producer may run into trouble if he tries to mail his product out of the country. After numerous complaints from West Germany, Italy, France, Britain and the United States, the Danish Justice Ministry has taken a mail-order exporter of other pornographic materials to court in a test case.

This didn't worry the fair exhibitors, since they admit the bulk of porno exports is smuggled out in crafter ways.

To the seasoned Danish observer there was little new at the fair since the world's first porno fair in 1969, shortly after Denmark lifted the last remaining restrictions on pornography for adults.

OPTIMISTIC Doctor Sews Tip Back On Girl's Finger

Hospital officials were optimistic today that a young Stanton girl might be able to keep the tip of her finger which was sliced off Thursday and then resewn to her hand.

Diania Wells, 13, Box 987, Stanton, was reported to be in good condition today at Cowper Clinic.

The young girl was sitting on a folding table in the house when the table folded up under her and cut off the tip of her right ring finger, according to police reports.

Diania was taken to Cowper Hospital at 10:47 a.m. and police officers Bill Baker and Earnest Lee brought the finger to the hospital approximately 30 minutes to an hour later. Dr. Roscoe B. Cowper sewed the girl's finger back in place after recovering it at the hospital.

"The chances are fairly good that Diania will be able to retain the finger, however, it was severed from her hand for over an hour," said Dr. Cowper.

NOT ENOUGH TO STOP THE DUST

The north-west corner of Howard County got almost one-half inch of rain Thursday, but most of the county had only light sprinkles.

Ackerly had .4 inch of rain and "lots of wind"; Vealmoor had .5 inch of rain and strong winds; Knott had a good shower and wind; Vincent reported no rain, but a little blowing sand in the fields; Luther had a light sprinkle and a little wind and sand; Forsan had a light sprinkle; Coahoma had no rain; and Big Spring had a light sprinkle and some wind.

Seeks To Void Redistrict Plan

MIDLAND, Tex. (AP) — State Rep. Tom Craddock of Midland filed suit today seeking to void the Texas House redistricting plan just adopted by the legislature.

Craddock, a Republican, has said publicly that the reapportionment plan is gerrymandering (drawing district lines) with some political motive in view specifically designed to oust him from office.

Midland County in Far West Texas has a strong GOP trend, particularly for statewide and national offices, although most local officers are Democrats.

Named as defendants are Gov. Preston Smith, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin, Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr., state Democratic Chairman Elmer Baum, Midland County Clerk Rosellen Cherry and Midland County Judge Barbara Culver.

Smith said before word of the suit arrived in Austin that he planned to sign the bill.

He said he would ask for an attorney general's opinion on whether he could convene a special session on House redistricting if court decisions made the bill unconstitutional.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin issued an opinion to Smith today saying he could not convene a special session for Senate redistricting — a task left undone at the close of the regular session.

Martin said the state Constitution requires a five-man legislative redistricting board, composed of five state officials, to do the job if the legislature failed to redistrict either house in the first regular session after the publication of the census data.

The issue of court decisions arose in an informal news conference after the U.S. Supreme Court indicated it favors single-member house districts as a "general matter."

Rise In U.S. Unemployment, Wholesale Prices Listed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government reported today a rise in unemployment to match a nine-year high and another hike in wholesale prices, indicating trouble for President Nixon's hopes for an improving economy.

The nation's jobless rate moved back up to 6.2 per cent of the U.S. work force to equal last December's figure, and wholesale prices rose four-tenths of one per cent, largely because of higher steel and gasoline costs.

The jobless rise gave more political ammunition to Democrats, who blamed Nixon's economic policies.

"The return of the nationwide unemployment rate to the record high of last December is a shocking and dismaying comment on President Nixon's continuing failure to deal with the economy as a problem that affects individual Americans," said Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien.

Wholesale prices have risen at an annual rate of 4.3 per cent the past six months, highest for any six-month stretch since March of 1970, said the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Jobless rates rose especially for construction workers and sales workers and young women, and the number of long-term unemployed—27 weeks or more — climbed substantially, the Labor Department said.

The national jobless rate was up from 6.1 per cent in April, said the department's bureau of Labor Statistics.

The actual number of jobless Americans dropped 300,000 to a total of 4.4 million, but because it usually declines more than that in May the bureau figured it as a rise of 130,000 on a seasonal basis.

The bureau also reported that average earnings of some 45 million rank and file workers—more than half the nation's work force—rose two cents an hour to $3.40 and increased $1.41 per week to $125.46.

The average weekly paycheck was up $7.06 for a 60 per cent gain over the past year. A 4.3 per cent rise in living costs over the same period reduced purchasing power $5.39 per week, leaving the average workers with a net gain of $1.67.

The report said the nation's total employment rose 500,000 in May to 78.7 million, but because it generally rises more in May the bureau figured it as a 265,000 rise on a seasonal basis.

The jobless rate for women 20 to 24 years old continued its sharp climb of recent months, rising from 10.3 per cent in April to 11.5 per cent in May—the highest in more than a decade, the bureau said.

In a racial breakdown, the bureau said the unemployment rate for Negroes rose from 10.0 to 10.5 per cent, highest in nearly eight years and the rate for white workers edged up from 5.6 to 5.7 per cent for the highest in nearly 10 years.

Another achievement in Big Spring's industrial effort came about today with the signing of an agreement for the location of an exposed beam manufacturing industry here.

Locating here is the "Big Spring Beam Company, a division of Arley Beam Company, now operating in Alabama."

The president of the firm, Keith Wilkins, was here to make the announcement of the move with Ken Perry, president of the Industrial Foundation, and Winston Winkle, a member of the Foundation.

Perry reviewed the history of the firm with Wilkins. The company started four months ago and is now employing 18 people. More than 400 beams are manufactured daily and sold to 13 mobile home manufacturers.

"We came to Big Spring," said Wilkins, "because of Eagle Homes We supplied beams to them in Alabama and will do the same here. We also supplied beams to other mobile home manufacturers now in this area, such as Tidwell Industries in Midland."

"These Spanish style beams are used only in the more expensive mobile homes," said Winkle.

The local plant will be in an existing building located at 1205 E. 3rd and will employ about 20 persons. The annual payroll will be about $100,000.

"We plan to start production in about three weeks," said Wilkins. "We have not hired anyone yet, but we are considering four men and plan to start hiring today," he said. A carpenter's background is required for employees.

"We use a machine on the beams, but they are hand finished," Wilkins said.

Murder Case Hearing Held

A production of evidence hearing in the murder case against Whitmer Jean Ballard, 45, and Orville Davis, 51, was held Thursday in 118th District Court. Ballard and Davis are indicted with murder with malice in connection with the Dec. 2-shotgun death of Steve Currie, 71, Glascock County rancher.

"We are required by law to present any evidence we may have against them to the defendants and their attorney," said District Attorney Wayne Burns. Gil Jones, local attorney assisting Burns in the prosecution, and Bobby Bearden, Midland attorney for the defense, were also present for the hearing.

Ballard is scheduled for trial June 21 in Garden City. To date, no motion for a change of venue has been filed.

"Whether or not such a motion is filed will depend on how much success we have in selecting a jury in Garden City," said Burns.

Bearden had indicated earlier that he might file such a motion to prevent the trial from being held in the victim's home town.

Following Thursday's hearing, Ballard was returned to Howard County jail, and Davis was returned to Martin County jail. Both men are being held without bond.

Crystal City Racially Taut Hearing Set

DEL RIO (AP)—A preliminary hearing in the federal suit brought by Crystal City against the giant food conglomerate Del Monte Foods Inc., is scheduled for June 21 in San Antonio. However, the trial, if held, is likely to be in Del Rio.

Crystal City is seeking to declare unconstitutional a city ordinance exempting Del Monte property from annexation and taxation. The order was passed by the city council before the third party movement of La Raza Unida gained control of the city's political machinery.

The city also alleges that the ordinance is invalid because the city attorney and a council member were employed by Del Monte at the time. It wants to recover a sum equal to what Del Monte should have paid in taxes since 1963 if the order had never been made.

A claim is also made for $150,000 in lawyer fees for San Antonio attorney Jesse Gamble, who is representing Crystal City in more than a thousand pending law suits.

Employment of the unusual no trump overall backfired against West in today's hand when it guided South into a somewhat unusual line of play to land his six spade contract.

South opened the bidding with one spade and West overcalled with two no trump, which, in the methods used by his partnership showed a two suited hand in the minors and requested partner to bid the longer of those two suits.

North had ample values to freely raise his partner to three spades. When the trump fit was announced, South's holding assumed powerful proportions and slim appeared to be a reasonable gamble. He accordingly proceeded directly to six spades.

West opened the ace of hearts, and then shifted to the queen of diamonds which was taken in the closed hand with the ace. On the bidding, South decided to play West for at least 10 cards in the minors which would leave him with a maximum of three cards in spades and hearts. So reasoning, he led a small diamond and ruffed in dummy. The queen of spades was put thru for a successful finesse when East failed to cover. A small heart was led and ruffed in the closed hand. When West followed with the king, the remainder of North's holding became established.

South cashed the ace of spades, dropping East's king. He ruffed out the ten of diamonds, South might have chosen to take a ruffing finesse thru East for the king of hearts. Such a play would, of course, have enabled West to score the setting trick with the king of hearts.

If there had been nothing to guide him from the bidding and West had defended in the same manner by leading the ace of hearts and then shifting to the queen of diamonds, South might have chosen to take a ruffing finesse thru East for the king of hearts. Such a play would, of course, have enabled West to score the setting trick with the king of hearts.

Scouts Join Attempt To 'Keep America Beautiful'

Big Spring Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorer units will take part Saturday in Keep America Beautiful Day by concentrating on special conservation projects for the day.

The Scouts have been working on conservation as a part of Project SOAR (Save Our American Resources) since the first of the year.

The Scouts have been working on all aspects of the ecology of the biosphere, the life-supporting layer of air enveloping the globe. The biosphere is only a few hundred feet thick and contains the only known life in the universe.

Keep America Beautiful Day is an educational effort by the Scouts aimed at both an immediately cleaner environment and litter prevention in the future. Some of the Scout units will clean up an area Saturday and then return one month later to see how much litter has accumulated since the litter drive. The results will be sent to a national committee studying the long-range effects of anti-litter drives.

"The Scouts don't plan to make this a one-day effort," said Dr. Paul T. Koshi, program coordinator for Big Spring. "They will continue to work on conservation projects such as water development for quail or on the nature trail in Big Spring State Park. Any Scouts that do not have a project now can contact me and we will help them get started on one."

"The reasons behind this campaign are evident. It costs almost $500 million annually just to clean up public areas, and almost that much is spent on private property. Each year, according to a study of the Highway Research Board, National Academy of Sciences, motorists drop 16,000 pieces of trash on each mile of primary highways.

"More important than the way roads look when they are surrounded by litter is the human toll the litter takes. In one state alone, 21 fatal accidents had litter as a contributing factor in the accident."

"For this one day, the Scouts will focus national attention on the removal and recycling of trash," said Dr. Koshi.

Brig. Gen. Tallman To Speak At Webb

A semi-annual formal dinner in honoring undergraduate pilot training classes will be held Saturday night at the Officers' Club.

Guest speaker for the dinner will be Brig. Gen. Kenneth L. Tallman, deputy assistant chief of staff, Personnel for Military Personnel, Military Personnel Center, Randolph AFB.

According to Capt. Allan Trush, project officer for the affair, Undergraduate Pilot Training classes 71-08, 72-01-02, and 03 will be honored.

Gen. Tallman was graduated from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, N. Y., with a commission as second lieutenant and a bachelor of science degree in 1946, and the same year received his pilot wings at Stewart Field, N. Y. He was then assigned to Williams Field, Ariz., where he completed fighter transition training.

He next served with the 1st Fighter Group at March Field, Calif. Between 1948 and 1956 he served in Okinawa, Mississippi, Colorado, California, Washington and as assistant squadron operations officer for Navy fighter squadron VF-01 at Alameda Naval Air Station, Calif.

Gen. Tallman began an assignment at the U. S. Air Force Academy, Colorado Springs, Colo., in February 1956, serving first as a training officer in the Department of Military Training and later became air officer, commanding cadet squadron and group units.

Self-Identified Homosexuals Cause Meet To End In Disorder

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A skirted young man and other members of the Gay Liberation Front halted a Methodist meeting Thursday, unfurling protest banners and shouting insults as they defended their life style.

There was scuffling and some churchmen appeared ready to fight the group, which staged the demonstration over the ouster as a minister of an admitted homosexual.

A more subdued outburst temporarily halted the meeting Monday night as the Gay Libs demanded that the church cease "harassment" of Gene Leggett of Dallas, a Methodist minister for more than a decade.

The conference suspended him from the ministry Tuesday.

But Thursday's final session of the conference was adjourned ahead of schedule after the group suddenly unfurled their paper banners from the balcony railing in a downtown church.

Two men jumped to their feet and ripped the banners apart. They scuffled briefly with two young men who had displayed the signs.

"You're interfering with freedom of speech!" shouted the man in the miniskirt, Pat Brown, 25. There were other shouts of "Pigs!" and "Fascists!"

The presiding bishop, the Rev. O. Eugene Slater, immediately adjourned the conference and began to say the closing prayer — only to be interrupted by more shouts.

WHAT MAN?

Brown, with a leather purse swinging from his shoulder, rushed up an aisle toward the bishop.

"Our rights were flagrantly violated," he shouted, struggling to get through the crowd.

"Don't touch that man!" someone said.

"What man?" said another in the crowd.

Churchmen surrounded the silver-haired bishop and kept Brown from reaching him.

Brown, who sported dark

"granny glasses," a thin mustache and a goatee, called the churchmen "pious-hypocrites." He said they were concerned "with nothing more than your pocketbooks and stained-glass windows of a hippie, bearded Jesus."

ACCEPT GAYS

Finally he stood on a pew to make himself heard as the audience of several hundred persons drifted out.

Leggett later said Brown became angry because Leggett was not allowed to address the conference.

Banners unfurled from another section of the balcony were allowed to remain. One of them bore the words, "Accept gays or deny Christ."

An incident that lasted only moments started the conference earlier Thursday when another ousted minister, Wil Schaefer of Laredo, Tex., stormed up to Bishop Slater and threw a burning document on his desk.

TRIED EVERYTHING

"Bishop, here are my credentials," Schaefer said, meaning his credentials as a minister. He left at once as the bishop and some other men doused the flaming paper.

Schaefer, who was ousted from the ministry over his relationship with a woman friend, said he burned his credentials as "a symbolic act of disgust."

A church jury stripped Schaefer of his rights as a minister recently after he disclosed he had a romantic relationship with the woman friend while still married to another woman.

He said Thursday he plans to file for a divorce.

"We don't need any legal sanctions to be friends," Schaefer said of his wife Rita, who now lives in California. He said she was aware of his divorce plans.

Bishop Slater expressed disappointment over the homosexuals, who were allowed to present a list of demands Monday.

He noted the conference set up a task force to study homosexuality in the coming year and said, "We tried everything we could."

Leggett, who was not a participant in Thursday's protest, said the Gay Libs had planned a peaceful demonstration.

"I was praying it would not happen this way," he said.

Three Twisters Sighted In Texas

By The Associated Press

Savage thunderstorms, with their usual sprinkling of tornado funnel clouds, dealt the Texas Panhandle-Plains sector fresh punishment Thursday night.

Sightings of three twisters were reported by the National Weather Service, but they apparently stayed overhead and caused no damage.

Peace officers said a tornado might have been to blame, however, at Sherwood Shores south of Clarendon, where several trailer houses were torn up. They said there were no injuries.

Appearance of the funnels was reported just south of Clarendon

10 miles west of Estelle and in the south edge of Wheeler County near Shamrock.

The threatening weather led to a tornado warning at one point for four Panhandle counties—Wheeler, Collingsworth, Hall and Childress.

It was issued while a severe thunderstorm watch already was up for 44 counties in Texas in a 140-mile wide belt from Midland to 30 miles northeast of Amarillo.

Isolated showers had cropped up earlier in the northeast part of the Panhandle and farther south around Midland, followed by thunderstorms with small hail on the South Plains near Lubbock and Brownfield.

Churchmen surrounded the silver-haired bishop and kept Brown from reaching him.

Newspaper 'Fight' Decision Shapes

AUSTIN (AP) — University of Texas regents are expected to decide today if the presently student-controlled Daily Texan newspaper should have more guidance from the UT journalism department.

Renewal of a charter for Texas Student Publications Inc. is a major item on the regents agenda.

TSP a non-profit corporation, has a 50-year charter, that expires July 1. The corporation publishes The Daily Texan and other student publications.

MANDATORY FEE

Chancellor Charles A. LeMaistre of the University of Texas System originally said he will recommend a 10-year charter with a TSP board of directors consisting of five students from the department of journalism, the president of the student body and three faculty members and two professional newsmen selected by the university president.

The present TSP board, which has a student majority with the president of the student body and four students elected at large, have asked that some of the students on the new board be elected at large. LeMaistre said he would consider the request.

The new charter recommended by LeMaistre also proposes that the editor of The Daily Texan be appointed by the journalism department dominated TSP board. The present editor is elected at large by the student body.

LeMaistre said he also would ask the regents to authorize a mandatory fee of $3 per student to support the newspaper. Currently the Texan receives $4.10 from each voluntary student blanket tax paid.

"I do not feel that student government should control the student publications board as it is now the case," LeMaistre told the TSP board this week.

FREEDOM OF PRESS

Opposition to LeMaistre's plan has been led by Andy Yemma, Austin, the 1970-71 Daily Texan editor, and Miss Lori Rodriguez, Mission, the new Texan editor. They claim, among other things, that the changes are largely because the Texan has been outspokenly critical of university administrators and regents, particularly former regents Chairman Frank Erwin.

Just before the regular session of the 62nd legislature ended the Senate passed on voice vote a resolution telling UT regents, in effect, to not make changes that would endanger The Daily Texan as "an independent voice of the students."

The resolution was co-sponsored by nine senators.

Dr. Norris G. Davis, chairman of the department of journalism, has supported the proposed changes.

"I feel certain journalism majors would be more dedicated to freedom of the press than are student politicians who don't even know the difference between an editorial and a news story," Davis said.

Coin Flip Won By Rep. Calhoun

ABILENE, Tex. (AP) — Rep. Frank Calhoun has won by a coin flip the opportunity to run for the Texas House from the 62nd District in Taylor County. The coin flip was between Calhoun and Rep. Grant Jones, also of Abilene.

The new House redistricting bill pitted one of the two incumbents against Rep. Tom Craddock of Midland. Rep. Delwin Jones, redistricting committee chairman, said Thursday the coin flip was the fairest way to do it.

Calhoun said he was "not at all pleased with the redistricting which is unfair to the people of Midland and Taylor counties."

FOR THIRD TERM AS HOUSE SPEAKER Mutscher Short Of Majority

By LEE JONES Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Speaker Gus Mutscher, beset by political, financial and legal troubles, has the hard-core backing of less than a House majority for an unprecedented third term in one of Texas' three most powerful state jobs.

His opposition—which thus far is fragmented—has expanded into close to a majority.

A poll taken on the House floor by newsmen showed only 47 members support Mutscher without reservation for the 1973 speakership.

Twelve members, including some known Mutscher backers, were absent when the survey was taken Wednesday and Thursday.

"NO COMMENT" — Sixteen said they were pledged to Mutscher but indicated they planned to review their commitments between now and 1973.

Sixty-eight said they opposed Mutscher's re-election.

Another seven, said they were unpledged and undecided, or else had "no comment."

A conservative member said his pledge was shaky, and "I think that is the case with every member here."

Opposition to Mutscher began building a week after he was re-elected in January, when his name was linked to a U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission stock fraud suit.

Limited mainly to the "Dirty 30" coalition of Republicans and liberal Democrats through most of the regular session, the anti-Mutscher feeling accelerated in the past 10 days.

Some conservative members who voted with Mutscher on the House redistricting bill privately expressed disgust with the way Mutscher used the measure to eliminate some of the "Dirty 30."

Others griped because he saved over 100 Senate-passed bills till the closing days of the session, then tried to ram them through without explanation—a move foiled by the "Dirty 30."

Each member interviewed in the poll was told his response would be held in confidence, and many would talk only on that condition.

The 68 anti-Mutscher representatives break down into 12 who say they have formally withdrawn their pledges, 14 who say they will withdraw them, 6 who say they probably will withdraw them, 26 unpledged but anti-Mutscher, six pledged to Rep. Price Daniel Jr. of Liberty and 4 pledged to Rep. Raymond Price of Palestine.

Price will pick up another four pledges from members who have or intend to desert Mutscher, the poll showed.

The anti-Mutscher list includes several committee chairmen and others whom Mutscher named to positions of power, including members of the appropriations and rules committees.

Mutscher could gain strength by helping defeat unfriendly House members and electing new ones who would help his cause. He has indicated he plans an active travel schedule in 1972 to accomplish just that.

Some members have indicated they won't seek re-election or will run for other offices.

DEAR GUS — Opposition to the speaker reached a head with the adjournment Monday night of the regular session, when his power over members' legislative programs ended.

Five conservative or moderate members who had supported him throughout the session made public letters withdrawing their pledges. One of them was Rep. Guy Floyd of San Antonio, a member of the rules committee, which decides what bills to schedule each day for debate.

Some merely objected politely to the idea of any speaker serving more than the traditional two terms.

But Floyd's "Dear Gus" letter went into detail about his reasons for opposing Mutscher's "vendetta" against the "Dirty 30: 'too much power' in the speaker's office; the 'flood of bills' raced through in the closing days; and the $22 million worth of items added to the appropriations bill by a conference committee.

Mutscher said in March he had "over 100" pledges for re-election. In May, just before the "Speaker's Day" celebration at Washington on the basis of new evidence.

The Justice Department confirmed a meeting Wednesday between Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and Publisher William Loeb of the Manchester, N.H., Union-Leader, who has been active in attempts to free Hoffa.

The Justice Department said the possibility of a Hoffa parole after he relinquishes power wasn't discussed. A White House spokesman brushed aside a question Thursday of how the President would look on a Hoffa request for pardon and said any such plea would go before Justice first.

Fire Kills Three Small Brothers In Back Bedroom

HOUSTON (AP) — Three small brothers died Thursday in a fire that heavily damaged a two-story frame apartment building.

The dead were identified as Larry Fuller, 4, Harry Fuller, 3, and Darrell Fuller, 2. Their charred bodies were found huddled together in the corner of a back bedroom in their downstairs apartment.

They were the sons of Mrs. Joyce Fuller, 23, who was visiting a neighbor at the time of the fire.

Andrew Miller, 42, who resided in an upstairs apartment, said he had just returned from visiting a neighbor when he noticed flames coming through his floor.

"I ran down and tried to get them out, but the fire was just too much by then," Miller said. "They were running around and hollering, but when we broke a window and tried to get them out the flames came out at us."

Arson investigators said the cause of the blaze was under investigation but all authorities agreed it began in the children's apartment.

Pilot Didn't Know Dixie Gang Leader In Trouble

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — 11, saying he wanted the pilot to fly to New Orleans, pick up a man and take him to Dallas, Tex. Stallcup said he rented a plane in Dallas, flew here with Cook and took Nix to his own home in Dallas County, Tex., until medical help could be obtained for a chest wound the following day.

Stallcup quoted Cook as telling him that "they'd got into a hassle and the boy got shot."

He told me there was no police trouble," the pilot added. "That was the main question I was asking."

Corso exchanged shots with intruders at his home and was believed to have wounded one of them.

Others indicted with Nix were John C. Fulford, 38; Peter Frank Nule, 30, and James Ratcliff Knight, 28, all of New Orleans.

Hoffa Yielding Reins Of Union To Old Friend

WASHINGTON (AP) — Facing the possibility of several more years in prison, James R. Hoffa is retiring after 14 years as president of the Teamsters Union, turning over leadership of the world's largest labor union to Frank E. Fitzsimmons.

"I will not be a candidate for office of general president because of my present legal difficulties," Hoffa announced Thursday from his prison cell in Lewisburg, Pa.

He endorsed Fitzsimmons, longtime friend and stand-in and Teamsters general vice president, to succeed him as president of the two-million-member union.

PAROLE REPORTS — There have been reports Hoffa might win parole from his 13-year jury-tampering and loan-fraud sentences after stepping down from the Teamsters post. He was rejected for parole March 31 and has until June 30 to petition the U.S. Parole Board for a new hearing.

4-DAY WEEK FOR COPS?

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas traffic patrolmen are taking a close look at the possibility of a 4-day work week with 10-hour days.

Ten men in the department's helicopter division started a 4-day week June 1 and the traffic division is considering the experimental program.

Traffic officers say the 4-day week would allow more men on patrol during the high crime times from 8 p.m. to 4 a.m.

In Denton, 30 patrolmen have been on a 4-day week since April 1. The patrolmen say they are happy with their new shifts.

LOVE: WESTERN-STYLE — They both love horses, so Jack Threet, 51, and Dorothy Esser, 45, became man and wife on horseback at Saugus, Calif., last week, as the minister, Dr. Ward B. Chandler, beamed his approval. The couple met several months ago—while riding. The ceremony was performed outside a Saugus stable.

A Peep Behind Bamboo Curtain: Chinese Women Are Still Lovely

By JOHN RODERICK
Associated Press Writer

TOKYO (AP) — Deprived of the props so dear to feminine hearts, the women of China nevertheless continue to be among the loveliest anywhere.

Gone are the tight-fitting silk cheong-sam skirts with their provocative silts up the thigh. Gone are the lipstick, rouge, eyebrow pencil, hair curlers and fingernail polish without which most women would feel naked.

Nakedness is not a problem for the women of the People's Republic: They are amply covered in jackets and trousers not so much different from those worn by their menfolk.

During my visit to Shanghai, Peking and Canton, I saw no skirts at all.

NO BOUTIQUES

There are no boutiques to display a fashion which never changes: no beauty parlors to style the hair. Women's hair styles in China are simply and easily attended to by the ordinary barber. They come in three kinds: the revolutionary bob, twin pigtails braided and held together by bits of wool yarn, or the bun at the back favored by older women.

I saw no earrings, bracelets, expensive rings or necklaces on China's women, except the very old and the very young. Old ladies, who look like the dignified matrons of the Sung dynasty, wore cherished brooches, combs or ear rings in pierced ears. Children, too, were gay with tassels and bells on their caps, bracelets on their chubby wrists and outfits of red, blue and green.

The Chinese permit these extremes only at the beginning and near the end of life. The rest of the population—men and women alike—are studied in blue or brown, with an occasional dash of white or black thrown in.

Gone, too, are the high heels of yesteryear; sensible, flat sandals, sneakers or cloth shoes, all eminently suitable for work in factory or field, have taken their place.

Though the fashions of Paris, London or New York mean little to Chinese women, some of them are aware of the world of haute couture. They are the women engaged in turning out Western style dresses, coats, furs, hats and accessories for export. Their handiwork is on display at the Canton Trade Fair twice a year.

A comparative handful of women get a chance to see the real thing as delegations from many countries troop through Peking, Shanghai and Canton. On the U.S. table tennis team's trip they saw players in hippie garb and girls-in-minis and midis. What they thought of them was not recorded.

'LILY FEET'

Bound feet—the "lily feet" of the past, acquired through painful binding and sometimes accelerated by the use of ground glass—are no more.

Despite the absence of artifice, beauty survives on its own. Life in the open may not do much for the fingernails, but it has brought a bloom to young cheeks as convincing as rouge. And the girls and women still have the poise, the personality and the charm which have long set Chinese women apart.

Their lot in other ways has improved under the new order. They are guaranteed full equality with men, and Chinese law says: "The state protects marriage, the family and the mother and child."

From age 18 they are entitled to the vote.

Marriage is a simple process: registration with the appropriate officials. Divorce theoretically is just as easy, but a Chinese who has lived abroad told me it is less frequent than one might suspect. Marriage counselors try to patch up threatened marriages, recommending giving it another try.

Women who become mothers are given 56 days of paid vacation to recover.

The arranged marriage has vanished, along with the tyrannical mother-in-law who once ruled the new bride's life.

Marriages, too, are later and later. Early marriage interferes with work, increases the birth rate and affects the health of young mothers, the government says. The ideal marriage ages are said to be 26 for women and 28 for men.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I'm known as the pack rat of the family. I shudder and tremble when anything is tossed on the rubbish heap that is still good and useable.

For all the teasing I receive, my family is delighted when they need that "something extra" that I have tucked away.

I have saved many a dollar especially on the beautiful package wrappings that cost a young fortune to buy. My daughter was recently married and I saved all the decorations on her shower and bridal gifts. Each package was prettier than the last; they were absolutely gorgeous!

I carefully removed them and stored them in plastic bags, being careful not to fold or damage them, then tagged each one with the sender's name.

Now that the season of brides is upon us, and so many of my daughter's friends are joining the ranks of homemakers, the decorations in my collection are at a premium! And of course, we know that the decorations will not be sent back to the original purchaser.

Heloise, this is not only a way to save money, but we can personally decorate a gift to match the personality of our friend—dainty, beautiful, religious, whimsical, humorous, etc. . . . Pack Rat

Dear Heloise:

Here is a hint for those of us who end up with sticky dough clear up to our elbows whenever we punch our bread dough down.

Simply wet your hands and shake off the excess water. Then do your punch-down job. You'll find the dough does not even stick to your hands (let alone the elbows) and a little more moisture never did hurt my bread dough. It probably helps.

Thank you for all your good hints and ideas. . . . Lois McMahan

A LOVELIER YOU Electrolysis Takes Good Doctor, Patience

By MARY SUE MILLER

A lovely writes: I have been going to an electrologist over a period of several months for the removal of face fuzz. I understand that results are permanent, but some strands keep growing. Do you think that mine is a stubborn case and the process will take hold eventually? Or should I give up?

The Answer: Electrolysis is indeed the only permanent means of removing unwanted hair. The method destroys the root of each strand treated. Lacking live roots, strands wither away.

It is possible for an occasional strand to grow again. This happens in rare instances when a root is not fully exterminated. A second try is then made. But the more skillful the operator, the less likely the happenstance.

Sometimes the "patient" mistakes results. She decides a hair has "reappeared," when in reality it has not yet undergone treatment. At any one sitting, removal is usually well-scattered. Otherwise—effects would look spotty—sort of bald and pale in patches—until the work reaches completion. And this brings us back to the need for a deft operator.

Your doctor or your county medical society stands ready with recommendations. Those experts can iron out doubts and dissatisfactions too.

STRICTLY PERSONAL

Everything you need to know about deodorants, antiperspirants and depilatories is contained in my leaflet, "Strictly Personal." All doubts are cleared up about why, what, when and how to use these safeguards of femininity. First Baptist Youths Star In Folk Musical

'NATURAL HIGH' — Members of the First Baptist Church youth choir are shown in a segment of the folk musical "Natural High" to be presented at 7 p.m. Sunday at the church. Portraying the four principal characters are Randy Jones, Connie Gary, Patti Seitzler and John Hicks.

Forty-five youths at First Baptist Church will be spotlighted Sunday evening at 7 o'clock in a performance of the Christian folk musical "Natural High." The Ralph Carmichael-Kurt Kaiser musical centers around the message "Jesus can help you get it together."

The musical is being presented by members of the church's youth choir and is under the direction of Wally Shamburger, minister of youth and music.

"The cast has been working for about 12 weeks to get this ready," said Shamburger, adding, "The really great thing about this is that they are all young. We have about five or six who are juniors in high school and all the others are sophomores or younger. They've done a great job."

According to Shamburger, the four principal characters in each of the two cases had to learn the music, speaking parts and the necessary stage movements. The musical features 22 fast-paced songs which are a blending of solos and chorals.

"Natural High" is choreographed by Betty McCann and Tommy Butler. Danny Jackson and Robert Bradbury will direct the lighting and sound.

The story centers around four youths, two of whom are "turned on to Christianity," the "natural high." Two other youths represent the restlessness, disillusionment and a desire for a way out that is felt by contemporary youth. The drug problem is also alluded to, but not heavily dwelled upon.

Anti-drug messages, according to Shamburger, are old news to youth. The play tries to present youth with a new insight into the satisfaction and hope to be gained through Christianity; rather than merely berating the drug scene.

The principal characters are Murph and Jackie, the youths searching for an answer; and John and Carol, who represent concerned Christian youth.

In the first cast, Randy Taylor portrays Murph, John Hicks is John, Connie Gary is Jackie, and Patti Seitzler is Carol. In the second cast, the same characterizations are presented by Joe Miller, Randy Gaines, Carol Boyd and Carne Wheeler. David Wright will be a featured soloist.

All instrumental music will be performed live; no recorded sound tracks will be used. "Natural High" features the contemporary sound of guitar and drums.

Providing the musical back-up for the play will be guitarists James Householder, Bobby Bryant and Karla Walker. Alan Householder will be featured on drums. Karen Coffee, pianist, and Van Johnson, organist, will also accompany the performers.

The first cast will present the musical Sunday. The second cast will perform at the youth center in Snyder June 12. Both casts will alternate performances July 24 through Aug. 1 in Colby, Kan., as they take part in the Rev. George Foster's pioneer mission work.

A performance at the local Veterans Administration Hospital is also being planned, according to Shamburger.

The public is invited to attend Sunday's performance at 7 p.m. in the church auditorium. The musical replaces the regular evening service.

Two Students Earn Honors For Work In Bible Class

Two students selected as outstanding members of the Big Spring High School Bible Class plan to make religious work their careers.

They are Jackie Acuff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Al Acuff, and Brenda Nichols, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Nichols.

Both plan to enter Bible Baptist Seminary at Arlington in the autumn. They were presented with copies of Bible reference works by Mrs. Elizabeth Johansen, Bible class instructor.

Jackie will begin his studies toward becoming a minister. At Trinity Baptist where he is a member, he has worked with the youth group, sings in the choir. He has been a member of the Good Morning World devotions committee at the high school, where he also played basketball.

Brenda contemplates training for youth work. She has been singing in the Grace Baptist Choir and has worked in the office as a volunteer, and has been treasurer of the young people's group. She has served as librarian of the high school Bible Club.

Church Plans Film Showing

Billy Graham's feature-length dramatic film, "Shadow of the Boomerang," will have its Big Spring Showing at 7 p.m. Sunday at Evangel Temple Assembly of God, 2205 Goliad.

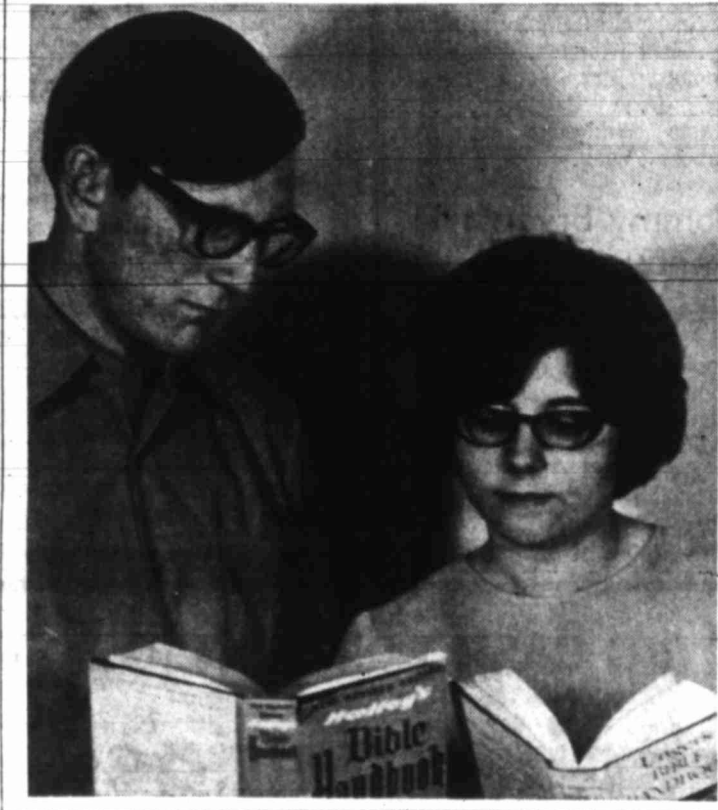

Starring Georgia Lee and Dick Jones, "Shadow of the Boomerang" is an outdoor action picture. Setting for the screen drama is Australia's "Outback," the continent's vast interior region where some of the world's largest cattle stations are located.

The two young Americans head an all-Australian supporting cast, playing brother and sister roles in an involved story of family life. Their arrival in Australia to manage newly acquired family holdings, plunges the couple into strange situations, which they find difficult to meet.

The brother is immature and slow to accept Australian ways. His sister is much more adaptable, readily accepted by her new friends who help her try to build understanding in her brother.

"Shadow of the Boomerang" attempts to underline the Christian's reaction to crises and conflicts. An effective dramatic device is used in the climax.

The public is invited to attend this free evangelistic film showing.

ALONG THE TRAIL

Novices tend to follow the path, especially when it is straight and narrow. But even with experienced riders there can be unexpected turns, and it's possible to get lost.

In life there are very few straight paths. It is extremely easy to come upon an unexpected turn, and to encounter doubt, confusion, even despair.

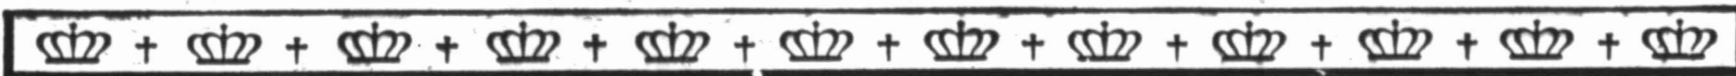

Horseback riding is not compulsory. But you do have a life—and you have to live it. The way is up to you. If we get lost, we can give up, but with the help of the Church, you will find a trustworthy guide which will renew your faith and clear the way to the path of eternal fulfillment.

A STICKY STUDENT SITUATION — Students hurl sticks and stones at each other during a demonstration outside the American University of Beirut today. A three-week strike at the university ended today with students walking out of buildings they had occupied. The students struck to protest a 10 per cent increase in tuition fees next year.

Job Picture Bit Brighter

AUSTIN (AP)—A total of 181,000 Texans in the labor force were unemployed at mid-April, 6,000 fewer than the previous month, the Texas Employment Commission reported Thursday. The unemployment percentage of 3.8 was 2 per cent lower than in March the commission said. This decline indicated a "possible end to the doldrums of the past year," the commission said. The mid-April unemployment percentage is the same as December, 1970, and in normal times the December rate is the lowest of the year, the commission said. Thirteen of the major labor areas in the state reported improvement in their unemployment situation. "Austin — still enjoying the lowest (1.8 per cent unemployment) rate in the state — had no change," the commission said.

HOORAY FOR WOMEN'S LIB; SINGER MUST PAY ALIMONY

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jacqueline Ward, a singer and voice coach, earns $5,700 a month more than her husband so Superior Court, before approving the couple's divorce, ordered her to pay David Ward $1,602 monthly alimony. Ward's attorney successfully argued that Mrs. Ward, 36, should help support two children who will be cared for by her husband. The payments should be made in the form of alimony, the lawyer said, because alimony is a federal income tax deduction and child support payments are not. The wife will have custody of the couple's two other children. Ward, 43, a musical arranger, earns $1,157 a month, the court was told, whereas Mrs. Ward makes $6,913 monthly. The couple was married 16 years.

TAINTED BY 'POLITICAL CONSIDERATIONS'
Nixon's Concern Over Cop Killings

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's show of concern over the slayings of 100 policemen in the past 11 months has been tainted by political considerations, says a police official left out of a White House conference. New York Police Commissioner Patrick V. Murphy, who was not among the 23 police heads or sheriffs who met with Nixon, Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover Thursday, greeted his exclusion with "disappointment and dismay." "We cannot allow political considerations to hinder cooperative efforts to improve the safety of our police officers and the public," said Murphy, whose force has lost seven of the 32 law officers killed since Jan. 1. The White House said Hoover was not present "because he had drawn up the guest list for the meeting. Murphy, a Democrat, is a protégé of former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, described by Hoover as a "softie" and "jellyfish." A Hoover aide said Murphy was in New York personally directing the investigation of the murders of his two men as Mr.

Hoover would want to be if it had been FBI agents killed." It was the May 21 ambush slaying of two New York officers, and the recent deaths of two Washington policemen, that prompted Nixon to call Thursday's meeting. Also left out of the White House conference was Quinn Tamm, executive director of the International Association of Chiefs of Police. Tamm reportedly asserted Hoover vetoed his presence because of personal animosity, but at least seven other IACP officials, including its president, attended. The gathering itself was described by one Justice Department official as "window dressing." Meetings next Monday and Tuesday at Justice are expected to develop more solid proposals, he indicated. Mitchell disclosed, however, the administration will back legislation providing federal compensation to survivors of policemen killed in the line of duty. He told newsmen the amount would be $50,000, but gave no details. Mitchell reiterated his opposition to legislation to make killing a policeman a federal crime, contending most such deaths are best solved by local authorities.

Local AFA Winner In State Contest

Billy R. Franklin, winner of the Earl North Parker essay competition of the Air Force Association, will be entered in the statewide competition. Billy is the son of L. C. Franklin, Big Spring, and resides at 601 N. Scurry. While in high school, he has been a participant in athletic programs, particularly basketball where he was on the varsity for three years, also on the track team as a hurdler. He holds down a full-time job at the post office, but as an avocation, he has been writing poems. He hopes to attend Howard County Junior College this autumn.

WATCH FOR THE SIGNS

Not Following Trend

After years of steady increases, auto insurance rates are beginning to fall, the Wall Street Journal reports. The turnaround came in mid-1970, when auto coverage suddenly became profitable.

The trend, the Journal says, appears to be nationwide.

Various possible explanations were given for the change: safer cars, fewer claims and declines in deaths and injuries in accidents.

The Journal reported that hundreds of companies have quietly cut rates and more reductions are on the way, by both small and large insurance companies.

If these reports are accurate — and the Journal quotes several companies on both rates and profits — then Texans must wonder about the rate increase granted by the State Insurance Board last fall.

"Frankly, since the middle of last year, we've been turning up unconscionable profits on auto coverage," the Journal quoted an official of one insurance giant as saying. The company is considering staged rate reductions.

Last fall the insurance industry in Texas asked the state board for an increase of 27.7 per cent, average statewide, on private auto insurance, including collision, comprehensive and liability. The board granted an average statewide increase of 14 per cent.

The insurance industry declared it was suffering great losses on auto coverage. This is something for Texas drivers to ponder as they pay their increased premiums and the board to double-check on its own. If our loss rate is so much higher than the remainder of the nation, we need to know it and take extreme remedial action. If not, then we need to get back in step with the rest of the country.

Who's Afraid Of Harry?

Politely, but firmly, the National Weather Service is sticking to its policy of naming hurricanes after women.

The Weather Service, answering Women's Lib's complaints, claims it is a compliment and not a slur to use women's names on hurricanes. It said the storms "are among the most awesome forces in nature," implying that women are too. They are.

Carla, Camille, Beulah and Betsy are fearsome storms to remember. Names beat coordinates on a map for storm designations. And who would be afraid of a hurricane named Harry, Clyde or Bob?

Nixon And Peace

Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON — But what if peace should break out? This is an appalling thought for the weapons manufacturers, the cold war warriors and even, it could be, for Democratic presidential aspirants who see a principal issue gone with the wind.

WHEN PRESIDENT Nixon dramatized the recent breakthrough in the SALT talks with a personal television appearance the effect on political opinion here at home must have occurred to someone in the White House. Here was a Chief Executive making good on the pledge in his inaugural address to initiate an era of negotiation as against the old era of confrontation.

It goes with the new China policy, which is a strong plus. Far from being an accidental happening, the ping-pong encounter was merely the visible sign of many months of effort. Overtures were made through at least a half-dozen private channels to Peking.

SMALL SIGNS that got relatively little attention indicated early on the way the Administration was moving. When President Nicolae Ceausescu paid a state visit to Washington in October of last year Mr. Nixon, in addressing him, spoke of the People's Republic of China. American officials had hitherto designated the government of Chiang Kai-Shek on Taiwan as the Republic of China while referring to Peking as mainland China or Red China. Again in his State of the World message in February the President gave Peking the official designation.

CHOU EN LAI, Peking's premier, took note of this. At the time of the Laos invasion Henry A. Kissinger, the President's adviser on national security affairs, stated without qualification his conviction that China would not send troops to support the North Vietnamese. He based this, prior to the invitation to the American ping-pong team, on progress made through channels in establishing a new relationship with the China of 750,000,000 as against the 14,000,000 on Taiwan.

IF THE Administration could by the end of 1971 or early the following year get an agreement on nuclear arms, however limited in scope, and if progress continues on the China front, the President will have gained a big advantage. He can bill himself, facing November, as the peace candidate.

Even though this could come about, the anti-war Democrats will still have plenty of openings for attack. Sen. Mike Mansfield's resolution to cut the American troop commitment in Europe failed by a wide margin. But, as was aptly pointed out, he may have lost a battle while certain to win the war.

THE DEMOCRATIC candidates have concentrated most of their fire on the Vietnam war. They have hammered away on the demand for a fixed date for withdrawal of all American troops, differing only on the timing of the final pullout.

Within the Administration the conviction is that the Vietnam card will not count for much by the spring of 1972. On Nov. 1 the President will announce another large troop withdrawal. Still another announcement will come in March. Then, such is the rosy view in the White House, the political opposition will be confounded and the public convinced that the Nixon policy is working.

'WHAT EVER HAPPENED TO THE GUNG-HO SPIRIT?'

Plight Of The Railroads

John Cunniff

NEW YORK (AP) — Back at the turn of the century when there were no trucks and super-highways and aircraft, and the barge system was not so highly developed as it is today, the railroads had a practical transportation monopoly.

The world has an ominous connotation, and as most schoolboys know, the railroads did much to give it that quality.

The hoarse, hollow whistle of the train in the night mourns its way gently through American folklore. But to those in the way, it was a raucous blast that meant defiance, arrogance.

By admission of a prominent spokesman now pleading the industry's case before Congress, "They were greedy and tough and they ran all over everybody." They got their own way through power.

Today they are broke. The banks, which respect power and never its absence, are reluctant to lend the money at prime rates. And they claim they are being suffocated under a tonnage of government regulations that favor competitors.

Still, though beaten and brought pleading to their knees — four lines are bankrupt, the largest included, and 11 to 14 are on the verge—the industry is likely to win its way again, this time through its very weakness.

This is how power-through-weakness works:

The country cannot survive without railroads. They move 41 per cent of its freight, or some 780 billion ton miles. Close them down, as in a strike, and quickly a major segment of other industries begins to close also.

The railroads are impoverished. Their equipment and roadbeds are in disrepair. Though essential to the nation's survival, their own survival is not assured.

This presents two solutions: One, relaxation of restrictive regulations, combined with subsidies and government-guaranteed loans from the reluctant banks; two, government takeover.

Takeover! As terrible a word as monopoly. Governments in other democratic nations operate their railroads, although in the red. But big government had been feared by Americans almost as much as big business.

But that really is not the problem. It's something else altogether; it involves money, as neatly laid on the line by the distinguished railroad spokesman.

"Nationalization would be the worst solution by far. To start with, the cost would be immense, because in this country the government can't just take something away from its owners.

"It must pay for it—usually at full market value. Takeover of the entire railroad investment would mean a cost to taxpayers of anywhere from $27 billion up to $60 billion or even more."

The words, including the reference to the earlier greed of the railroads, are those of George Smathers, former U.S. senator from Florida and now general counsel for ASTRA, an acronym for "America's Sound Transportation Review Organization."

What do the railroads want? In summary: less regulation, equal treatment with other modes of transportation, and money.

There Is No Peace

David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — President Nixon the other day, in a speech at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, said that the United States has "good grounds to believe that the hope for a new era of world peace will come true." But the news dispatches from around the world are constantly telling of domestic unrest which again and again emphasizes that internal peace is by no means assured in many countries.

THUS, 200,000 Japanese recently held nationwide rallies demanding that Okinawa be returned to Japan without allowing military facilities or nuclear weapons to be based there by the United States. There was criticism, too, about the sending of 6,000 Japanese troops to the island.

Troubles in Ireland are regularly reported. Riots and disturbances in many European countries have often been in the headlines in the last few years. Some of the "demonstrations" are not unlike those in the United States.

IN LATIN AMERICA, there are frequent outbursts by organized groups. On this continent Canada as well as Mexico have had their troubles with disorders by dissidents.

An impression has prevailed that the youth in America have been primarily responsible for the unrest here, and many a college president or spokesman has endeavored to explain that the demand for change is natural in the evolution of man.

WHAT HAS BEEN disturbing, however, is the use of violence and particularly the indifference shown by some of the organized groups of protesters to the fact that lives have been lost and innocent persons have been injured as the result of fighting that has been stirred up in many of the so-called rallies and marches. There are some analysts who are saying that drug abuse and alcohol have played a part in the irresponsible behavior of many of the persons who have participated in the demonstrations. But this doesn't explain the continual demand for "change."

THERE WAS a time when political parties sought the power that could be derived from public office, and individual organizations backed candidates who had definite programs of reform and carried on campaigns to get public approval by street parades and other publicity methods. There was no thought of causing disorders or becoming involved in situations that would require the police or National Guard to be summoned.

Whatever the underlying cause of the youth rebellions nowadays, it is not confined to any one country. There are evidences of the same kind of dissent in many lands. Also, the riots and resort to violence — bombings and explosions — seem to have become commonplace everywhere. Never in history have there been so many attacks on the innocent nor such brazen attempts to interfere with the processes of government openly and by spectacular demonstrations.

PUBLIC OPINION in the United States is slowly being mobilized to pay more attention to the complaints of youth. Many books are being written about the responsibilities of parents and the necessity for better home training as children grow up. It probably will take a number of years for the effects of remedial measures to be felt.

Citizens will wonder what the real chances are for peace inside America and if there could be a significant move toward a more and more normal relationship between the younger and the older generations in our own country.

Hal Boyle

By LOUISE COOK (Substituting for Hal Boyle) NEW YORK (AP) — Anyone who's ever studied a foreign language in school is in for a rude awakening when he tries to use his newfound knowledge abroad.

Try traveling to France, for example. Unless you happen to be in Paris on Bastille Day, there really aren't very many occasions when it comes in handy to know the entire first verse and chorus of the Marseillaise, the French national anthem.

Nobody really uses those complicated past tenses you memorized so carefully when reading 18th century French literature.

And have you ever tried to start a conversation with a stranger by talking about "la plume de ma tante?"

What they don't teach you in school are those little things that pop up in conversation and yet never seem to be included in lengthy lessons on conjugation, vocabulary or idiomatic expressions.

Equipped with six years of high school and college French, I set out in Paris to try to buy some nail polish remover. In the course of my travels I learned the word for finger-nail—"ongle"; purchased several items I really didn't want, but felt I should buy because I'd caused so much trouble; and became an expert at the charade of rubbing at my nail and looking hopeful.

Finally, the light dawned and one druggist came up with the required product and the required word—"dissolvant."

Simple yes? Only if you happen to think of it.

Then there was the time I needed my butane lighter refilled. Butane is expensive in Europe and rather than buy a whole tube of the gas, people simply stop at a tobacconist for a refill. That much I'd learned in England. But how do you say "Would you refill my

'Vibrant Thing'

Around The Rim

Walt Finley

Houston Astro fan, Red Thomas quotes William A. Sunday (remember him?):

"If there is no Hell, a good many preachers are obtaining money under false pretenses."

BILL FACTOR, of U.S. Postal Service Ok-740, says: "I don't know what kind of vehicle the Russians put on the Moon, but Henry Ford called his Model T 'the universal car.'"

As I recall, a lot of other people, trying to crank it, had a lot of other names for it.

J. O. Sheid Jr. says: "Getting up in the morning is simple. It's just a matter of mind over mattress."

PROOF-POSITIVE Ann Stephens, claims the infinite said to its mate: "I've had it! I'm splitting!"

She also said if you put a radio beside the cat's bed in Alabama, you'd have "Music by mew sack."

MARGARET MEAD'S latest description of the modern family is: "Man travels to the city doing something he doesn't want, to bring home money so his wife can do something she doesn't want, so they can bring up children to rebel." Very interesting, Miss Mead. But if she actually has that outlook on life, I offer condolence.

Life is a vibrant thing, and if you can't enjoy it, you are cheating yourself as well as others.

INCIDENTALLY, I try to improve my Okie vocabulary each day. To do so, I reach for words — not the usual ones — to express my exact feeling on the subject.

So, I spend quite a bit of time scanning the dictionary (I know, boss, you're saying not enough). Frequently

I find the word is even more meaningful (you should pardon the expression) than I intended.

Take vibrant, in the preceding item, for example. When I found it in a small dictionary, it meant not only vigorous and energetic, which was the definition I wanted, but also quivering and vibrating, which are even better. What a way to go!

Handout For Kids

Andrew Tully

WASHINGTON — The kid's name eludes me, which should be excusable because fortunately it is not a household word. A college sophomore, he was on one of those interminable TV panel shows that feature mostly half-cooked goulash about The Meaning of Life, and he was shilling for a Great Idea.

BOILED DOWN from the usual pot of y'knows and I means, his proposal was that the government subsidize trips abroad by students so they could spread the gospel of peace and become soul brothers with the French, the Armenians and the Bulgars. Only by such ventures, he argued, could the United States convince the people of the world that all we wanted was to live in brotherly love with everybody. Perhaps accurately, he claimed that the cost of this project would be billions of dollars less than fighting a war in Vietnam.

I DO NOT necessarily knock the kid's idea — I merely wonder at it. To me it seems preposterous that even the sleazier campus freaks would be willing to sacrifice their ideological independence by taking President Nixon's shilling. Accepting a subsidy from bad old Washington would be a rejection of everything the student protesters stand for, including the demand that all politicians be trundled off to the guillotine.

SOME OF these young people undoubtedly are brighter than those of my day, if a trifle gamey around the armpit, but their weakness is in their willingness to accept something for nothing from anyone with the wherewithal. It is hard to regard seriously a bunch that insists the community take care of them — that it owes them not only an education and a living but a month in Paris. Adults are always insisting there is nothing new in today's student protests, but number me among the boys from Missouri. In my day, the adolescent protester wouldn't have been caught dead accepting help from a reactionary parent, let alone an imperialistic public treasury.

THERE WAS another difference in those bad old days. No one seemed interested in listening to your brilliant ideas, save an occasional teacher or unfringed newspaperman. Today, the TV cameras are broken out every time a kid desires to deliver himself of an opinion on Vietnam, free love or the mental therapy inherent in LSD.

THE ADULT WORLD of that era, of course, was composed of individuals. They lived their own lives and cast their ballots for the candidates of their choice without waiting for the Word from Junior at Yale. If Susie posed in the nude for the college magazine, she was yanked out of school and put to work. If Junior wanted to smoke marijuana and move into a coed commune, he was free to do so — on his own money.

That may not have been a better world, but I suspect the grownups were a lot smarter. At least they made a pass at running the show. (Distributed by McNeught Syndicate, Inc.)

My Answer

Billy Graham

My husband and I don't agree about how to rear children. He is for strong discipline but I feel that he is too harsh.

Parents are apt to form their ideas of discipline from the practice in their own childhood homes. This may have been quite different in the case of father and mother and may lead to a real clash of opinion and authority. One of the most important principles in family discipline is that the parents agree. Husband and wife should talk over this matter at length and they should come to an agreement. Their personal opinions may be as far apart as the poles, but they must present a united front to their children. When it is necessary for one to act without the other, perfect support should be given.

A Devotion For Today...

"These things I have spoken to you, that my joy may be in you, and that your joy may be full." (John 15:11, RSV) PRAYER: Dear God, help us to find in the simple things which we take so much for granted. Help us to serve You, always remembering and thanking You for the joy that is ours through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen. (From the 'Upper Room')

Dear Abby
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for 17 years. We have a lovely family, but if you use my letter in your column, please do not mention their ages or what sex our children are.

I love my husband with all my heart and the thought of infidelity has never crossed my mind. Three months ago, I accidentally found out that my husband was having an affair with a young woman in her mid-20s. He is 46. I caught him flat-footed, so there was no denying it. He was terribly upset at having been caught, claimed he loves me, and it will never happen again. I am so broken up over this, I cannot tell you the agony I have suffered.

I am considered a very good-looking woman and would have no trouble at all doing to him what he did to me. This is the only way I know of hurting him like he has hurt me, so he will know what I have gone through. I know two wrongs don't make a right, but at least we will be even.

Is there a better solution? LOVED AND LOST? DEAR LOVED: There must be, because there couldn't be a worse one! Don't kid yourself. Should you have a fling and announce it to your husband. Men tend to view such things with far less emotion than women. (My mail shows 50 women to one man agonizing over an unfaithful mate.) If you love him, forgive him. And if you really want to hurt him, love him to death. He'll feel like the world's biggest heel.

DEAR ABBY: We have a son and a daughter whom we try to treat equally in all things. Our daughter, who is a few years older, did not want to go to college. After graduating from high school she worked for a year and then got married.

Our son chose to go to college, and we are paying for his college education. Is our daughter legally or morally entitled to the money we saved on her college education because she didn't go? She thinks she is entitled to cash in the same amount of money we are spending on her brother's education.

JUST CURIOUS: DEAR CURIOUS: If you had offered your daughter either the cash or a college education, and she chose the cash, she would be entitled to the cash. Since you offered her only a college education and she turned it down, she is entitled to nothing.

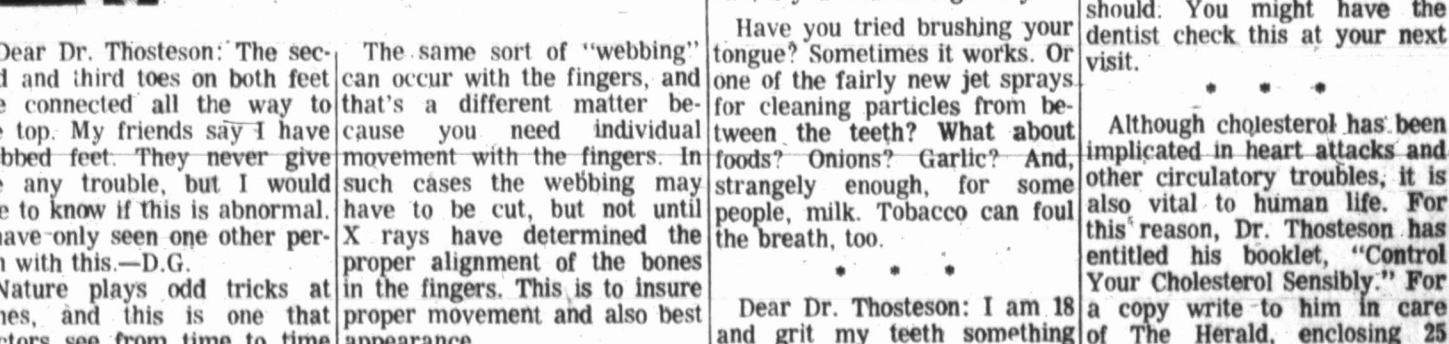

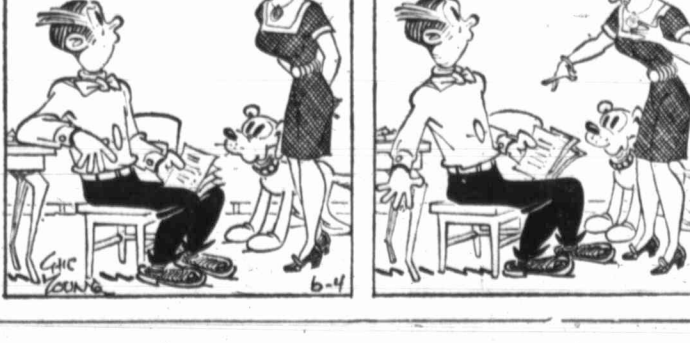

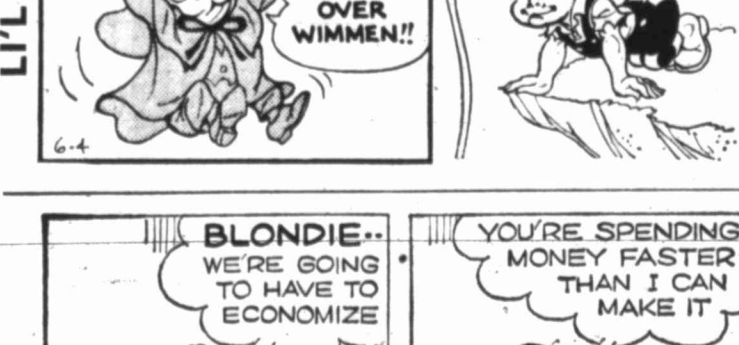

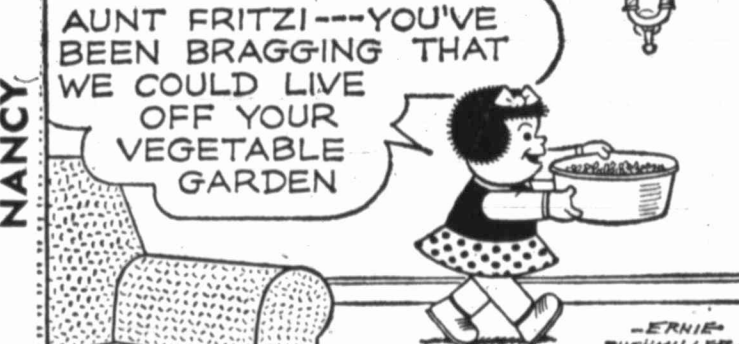

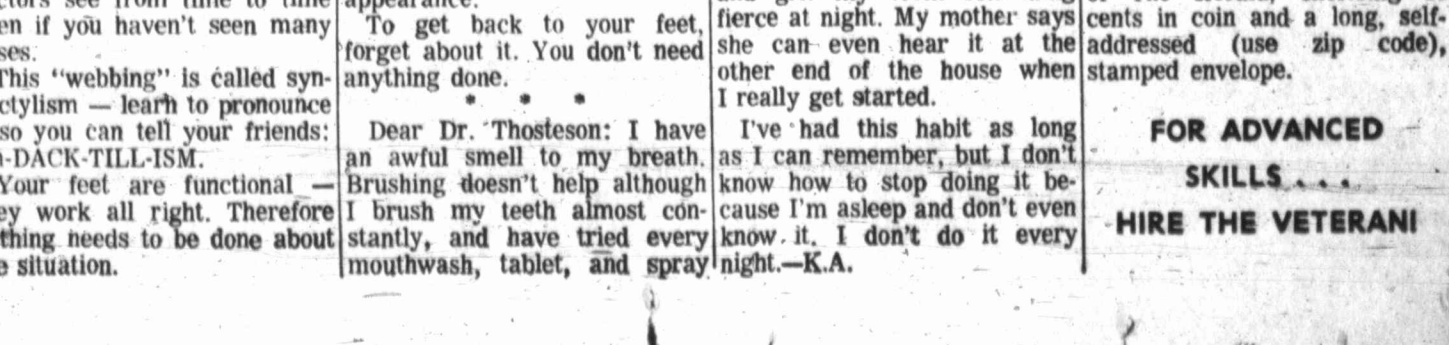

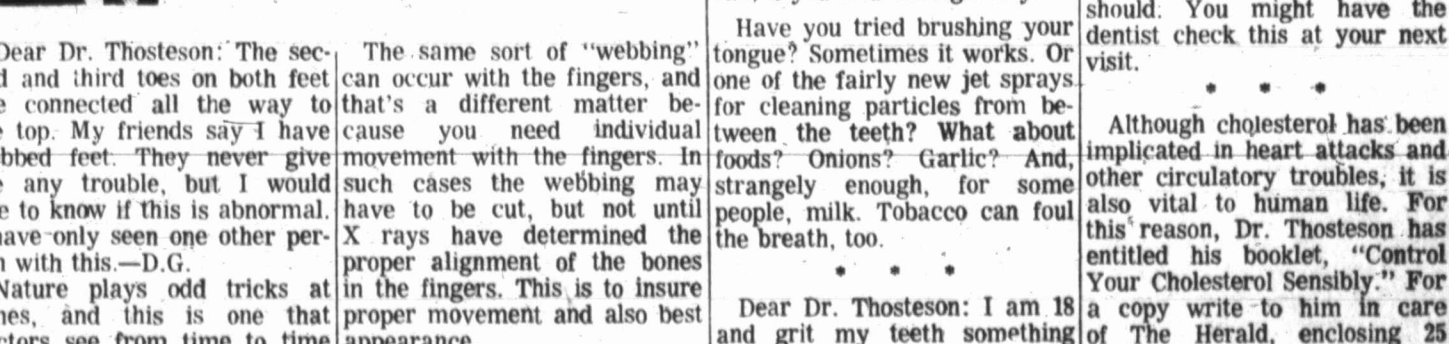

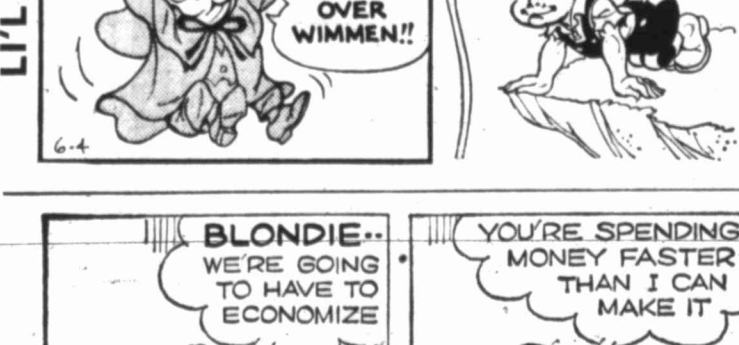

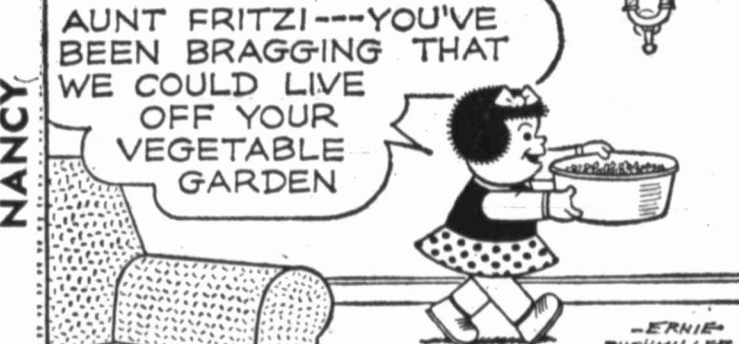

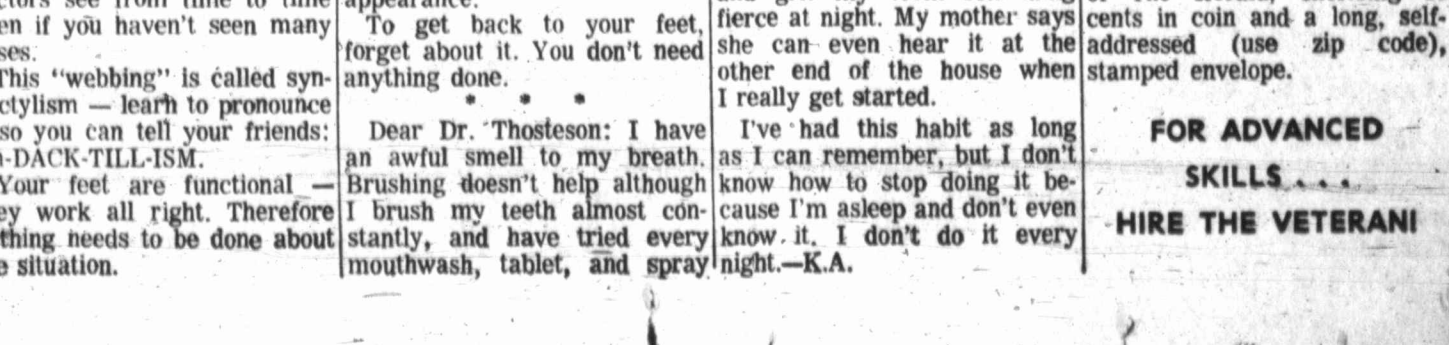

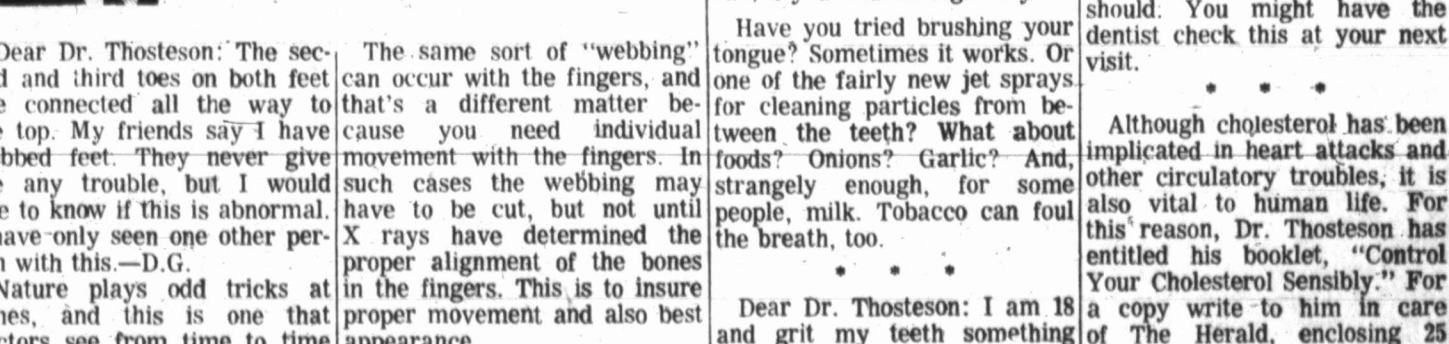

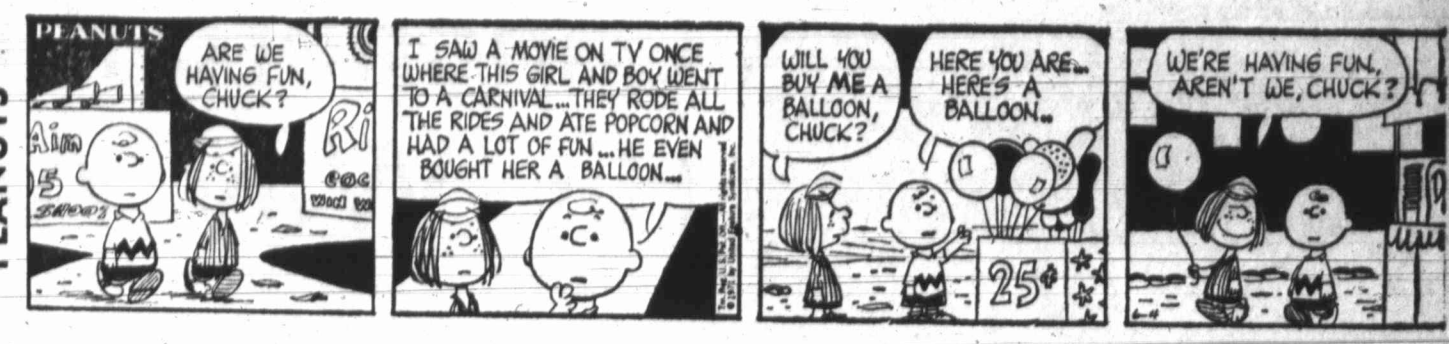

DEAR ABBY: I am not saying this to brag, but I am the favorite relative in a family where there is a lot of backbiting and petty fighting going on. A niece of mine invited me to attend the christening of her baby. She told me that I am the only aunt she is inviting, so if anybody in the family asks how come I went to the christening, I should say that I just happened to drop in at my niece's house unexpectedly that morning and she invited me to the christening on the spur of the moment. What would you do?

FAVORITE AUNT DEAR AUNT: I'd tell her that I appreciate the honor, but if I had to lie in order to accept it, I would have to decline.

Canonero II Knows His Way Around

NEW YORK (AP) — Canonero II knows where the Belmont winner's circle is. Now all he has to do is get there Saturday and racing will have its ninth Triple Crown champion.

Trainer Juan Arias schooled Canonero II in the paddock Thursday and then led him to the winner's circle in front of the stands before the fifth race. He followed the same procedure before the colt won the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness.

To win the Belmont Stakes and become the first to win the Derby, Preakness and Belmont since Citation in 1948, Canonero II will have to beat at least 10 other 3-year-olds. The most any of the eight Triple Crown champions faced in winning the Belmont was seven, by Citation.

Among those expected to oppose Canonero II, owned by Venezuelan Pedro Baptista, were four colts he already has beaten — Frank J. Caldwell's Jim French, second in the Derby and third in the Preakness; William A. Levin's Bold Reason, third in the Derby and fifth in the Preakness; Pastoral Stable's Twist The Axe, 10th in the Derby, and J.M. Davis' Royal JD, seventh in the Preakness.

Other probables were Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Epic Journey, Tartan Stable's Highbinder, Anthony Imbesi's Purse Finder, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lunger's

Salem, Neil Hellman's Good Behaving and Peter Kissel's Pass Catcher.

Royal JD was entered Thursday. The others were expected to be entered today.

Good Behaving, the triple stakes winner who missed the Derby and Preakness, and Jim French will run as a John Campo-trained entry. Good Behaving was a supplemental nominee for $5,000.

RESTING AFTER NO-HITTER Chicago's Ken Holtzman

Holtzman Finds Reds In Hitless Slump

By The Associated Press

Ken Holtzman's strong left arm and some cooperative Cincinnati Astroturf have combined to produce the 1971 baseball season's first no-hitter.

Holtzman, the lanky Chicago left-hander, spun a 1-0 classic at the Reds to highlight the abbreviated Thursday night baseball action. In the only other game played, St. Louis trimmed Pittsburgh 7-1 and Atlanta downed Houston 5-2 in the National League and Boston edged New York 3-2 in American.

But the night belonged to Holtzman, who pitched the second no-hitter of his career, overcoming some early wildness and retiring the last 11 Reds in order. He struck out six, including Tommy Helms and Lee May for the final two outs in the ninth inning. The only Cincinnati runners came on four walks.

CLOSE CALL

The Reds tried everything to get a hit off Holtzman and even went to the extreme of having slugger Johnny Bench lay down a leadoff bunt in the seventh inning. It was, according to Holtzman, his closest call.

"At first, I thought Bench had a hit," the 25-year-old pitcher said. "There was no way I could have thrown Bench out if the ball remained fair."

Holtzman rushed off the ground, across the Astroturf-covered infield and towards the ball.

"When I got over there, I saw the ball was spinning and I knew it would roll foul," the pitcher said. The ball spun off the artificial turf into foul territory and then Bench fled out.

That was the Reds' best chance for a hit. It seemed like such a good idea that Buddy Bradford, who drew two of the four walks off Holtzman, tried bunting in the eighth. But he ran into the ball and was declared out.

Holtzman had control problems in the early innings and got into his toughest jam in the third when Bradford walked and moved up on a wild pitch. He advanced to third on an infield out and then was stranded as Gary Nolan tapped in front of the plate and Hal McRae fled out.

In the top of the third, Holtzman scored the game's only run. He reached on Tony Perez' throwing error, moved up on an infield out and scored on Glenn Beckert's single.

SHOCKED

Holtzman also pitched a no-hitter on Aug. 19, 1969, against Atlanta and said after Thursday's classic he felt much the same way he had after his first one — "A little in shock and awfully tired. I let it all out in the last inning."

Holtzman threw a total of 108 pitches and became the first Cub pitcher in history to hurl more than one no-hitter.

Elsewhere, Hank Aaron ripped a two-run pinch double to break a tie in the fourth inning and Atlanta topped Houston as Pat Jarvis halted a personal two-season 11-game losing streak.

Steve Carlton became the National League's first 10-game winner, pitching St. Louis past Pittsburgh. He also contributed a two-run double to the Cardinals' attack and ex-Pirate Matty Alou ripped his first homer and a pair of singles to drive in three runs for the Cards.

Boston ended its five-game losing streak and moved back into first place in the American League East by edging New York.

Colts Again Tied For League Lead

In a classic hookup of American Little League contenders, the Colts edged the Hawks, 5-4, Thursday night.

The outcome tied the two teams for the top spot in the standings, each with an 11-2 record.

Clarence Palmer's home run in the fifth with a mate aboard gave the Colts the margin they needed. The Hawks rebounded for two runs in their half of the round but it wasn't enough.

Chris Burrow pitched for the Colts, beating the Hawks for the second time this season. He yielded six hits, three of them to opposing pitcher Tommy Churchwell.

Craig Bailey had two safeties for the Colts.

Hector Fernandez gave pitcher Johnny Valencia and John Scott a lot of support by clubbing a double and making a fine running catch of a fly ball that shut off an Indian rally.

Valencia and Scott each had two hits for the Giants, who drove out five blows in all. The two limited the Tribe to two safeties. Those were by Duron and Lara.

The win was the second in 11 starts for the Giants while the Indians are 5-6.

Only games scheduled: Chicago (Lynch 8) at Atlanta (Nieto 3-5), night; Houston (Billings 3-4) at Pittsburgh (Moore 4-2), night; St. Louis (Torres 1-2 or Zachary 2-2) at Cincinnati (Cromley 2-1), night; Montreal (Stevenson 6-3) at San Diego (Phoebe 3-5), night; New York (Seaver 4-2) at Los Angeles (Osteen 6-2), night; Philadelphia (Short 3-7) at San Francisco (Perry 6-2), night.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

In the intervening years, Big Spring's Horace Rankin had lost track of Bud Carson.

The two were members of the same Marine Corps backfield, which thundered past a crack Air Force team in the 1954 Rice Bowl Game in Tokyo.

Not only did Carson coach the Devil Dogs but he was named the Most Valuable Player in the game, after scoring three touchdowns and gaining over 100 yards carrying the ball.

Rankin, who overcame a deficiency in height to become outstanding in both football and basketball for Big Spring and then went on to basketball stardom at Howard County JC, was the only enlisted man on the Marine team.

Horace was pleasantly surprised not long ago to learn that his old teammate, Carson, is now the head coach at Georgia Tech, a school whose team is perhaps the best of Dixie's independents year in and year out. Rankin had known Carson as Buddy. Carson had dropped the last two letters of the nickname after he became a coach, feeling the shorter name suggested less the kid and more the maturing man.

The Atlanta Constitution recently printed a picture of the Marine team's backfield in 1954, which included QB Bill Dechard (former Holy Cross star) and St. Mary's Ed Ward, as well as Rankin and Carson.

In college at North Carolina, Carson had spent three years playing in the shadow of first Charlie (Choo-Choo) Justice and later Dick Bunting. When he was assigned to Quantico, Va., after joining the Marines, Bud sought identification on a team that resembled an extension squad of the NFL.

When Washington ordered all its football players to duty in Korea, mainly to quieten talk that athletes were being spared combat duty, Carson and the rest went along.

Other members of the Marine team destined to vanquish the Air Force in the Rice Bowl included Ray Wietuca, long-time center for the New York Giants; Jim Mutcheller, an outstanding receiver for the Baltimore Colts; Jim Weatherall, a defensive standout for several pro teams; and Johnny Mazur, now coach of the New England Patriots.

The men went their separate ways after departing the service. Carson worked his way up through the ranks at Georgia Tech. Rankin became a rodeo performer of championship stripe.

Horace would like some day to see Georgia Tech play. He says if the Engineers apply the same verve that Carson did they're bound to be winners. Carson, like Rankin, wasn't very big but he cast a long shadow.

Thanks to the generosity of goldfom's aegis, the sponsors — without which big time professionalism could not exist — the recent Alamo Ladies Open in San Antonio finished in the black.

Total expenses came to $31,625 and gate receipts covered only $2,333 of that, but the angels, who wear business suits during the day and try to keep businesses out of bankruptcy courts and stockholders happy, anted up $31,345 of the necessary loot.

A total of $20,000 was offered in prize money this year and delighted promoters are talking of sugaring the pot by five grand in 1972.

T. Sgt. Larry Lawrence, a long drink of water who used to help work this beat, writes from the sun-kissed shores Hawaii that he went to the 1970 Hawaiian Golf Open with a chief master sergeant who five years before had tried to neutralize the high cost of living by laying out 50 bills for a dentist plate fashioned by a Mexican ivory carpenter.

The luckless guy, while watching the pros unload from the tee, caught one of Arnold Palmer's errant shots squarely in the chest at almost maximum velocity.

Arnie apologized profusely but Old Sarge shrugged it off. In fact, he thanked Palmer and said it was the first time in five years he wasn't conscious that his gums were sore.

Ken Spain, the former University of Houston basketball player, will try to swim against the tide in professional football this summer. The 6-10, 250-pound giant, active in pro roundball for two years in the Eastern League, will go to camp with the Detroit Lions

Troy Kerby Hurls Tigers Past Kiwanians, 11-0

In a Hi-Junior-league game where the 10-run rule was made to apply after the sixth inning, the Big Spring Harding Tigers romped past the Kiwanians, 11-0, Thursday night.

Troy Kerby, who shouldered pitching duties for the Tigers, set the Kiwanis down with two hits — L. Stanley and J. Lacey were the only players to connect safely for the losers.

Shortstop Earl Reynolds crashed out three hits in as many trips for the Tigers while second baseman Willie Williams and third baseman Alan Davis each had two hits. Reynolds and Williams each scored three times.

Both of Davis' blows were doubles while Reynolds smashed one for three bases.

Kerby pitched to only 19 batters in the six innings. One of the Kiwanis-base runners was retired at second base on a fine throw by catcher Landon Soles.

Elgin Baylor May Land Laker Job

LOS ANGELES (AP) — There was widespread speculation today that veteran forward Elgin Baylor of the Los Angeles Lakers would be named coach of the National Basketball Association team after Joe Mullaney was fired.

The Lakers, with a lengthy history as a bridesmaid in NBA championship playoffs but never a bride, announced Thursday Mullaney was being "removed" and offered him an executive position.

Mullaney, in a statement released through the club, said he "reluctantly declined" the offer to become an executive vice president as head of scouting. He said he had "tendered my formal resignation to the club."

General manager Fred Schaus said he hoped to name a new coach shortly and the name of Baylor, the often injured 6-foot-5 star, began popping up. The club refused comment.

Baylor has had a series of knee and groin injuries which have staked him in recent years. Then, last Dec. 2, the 36-year-old former Seattle University All-American underwent surgery for a torn Achilles tendon. He said the University of Washington has contacted him concerning the head coaching post, now vacant there, but Baylor has refused comment on his future plans.

The Lakers were successful under Mullaney, though injuries prevented them this past season of making much headway in the NBA playoffs. The previous year, Mullaney's first in the NBA, Los Angeles extended New York to seven games before losing the title.

"Nothing short of a championship will please Jack Kent Cooke," said one Laker source of the volatile owner of the team. And that's one of the reasons Baylor's name has been mentioned.

If Baylor was chosen, he'd be the first non-college coach named to head the team since it came west from Minneapolis. Schaus, of West Virginia, was the first Los Angeles coach and when he became general manager, Bill van Breda-Kolff of Princeton was chosen to succeed him. Mullaney was the third college draftee of Cooke, coming from Providence.

ATLANTA (AP) — A two-month slump almost convinced young Californian John Miller to bypass the $125,000 Atlanta Golf Classic.

Tired Jarvis Tips Astros

ATLANTA (AP) — Right-hander Pat Jarvis of the Atlanta Braves reaped the benefits of a long, hard day of work Thursday when he ended his 11-game losing string with a victory in relief against the Houston Astros.

"I knew something had to happen but I didn't know when," a fatigued Jarvis said after blanking the Astros for 5 2/3 innings.

"I unloaded 700 bricks this morning to lay a wall by my driveway and then I threw real hard for about 15 minutes when I got on the field about 5 o'clock," Jarvis said. "Then I ran my wind sprints, so I'm really tired. I was dehydrated out there."

Jarvis said he told Manager Luman Harris he believed he could pitch if needed, "but I didn't expect to get in there that soon."

Jarvis was summoned in relief of starter Jim Nash with one out in the first and the Astros leading 2-0. John Mayberry hit into a double play to end the inning and Jarvis stopped the Astros on four doubles over the next five as he recorded a 5-2 triumph and increased his lifetime mark to 13-2 against Houston.

Oddly, his last major league victory was a 5-3 decision over Houston at the Astrodome last Sept. 12 when he beat Ken Forsch, the Thursday night loser.

"I thought it was only 10 straight," Jarvis said of the losing string. "I don't want any more of them, I'll tell you that."

Jarvis worked out of trouble spots in three innings when the Astros had lead-off doubles and also escaped delivering a gopher ball when Sonny Jackson streaked to the center field fence, reached over it and robbed Cesar Cedeno of a home run.

Henry Aaron struck the fourth-winning blow in the fourth inning when he delivered a two-run double down the third base line.

"My luck must be changing," Jarvis said, noting that Aaron had fouled his third strike, which capped John Edwards couldn't hold, giving the Hammer another shot.

Chippers Win Again, 13-2

Morton's Chippers buried Intech under a 31-2 score and Goodyear flattened the Merchants, 7-3, in City Softball League games Thursday night in Comanche Trail Park.

Roy New, on the mound for the undefeated Chippers, set Intech down without a hit. Intech scored once in the first when N. Woods crossed the plate and again in the fifth when W. Dow made it to the plate.

The Chippers banged out 12 hits. Highlight of the evening was three home runs hit by Jimmy Roger, Herb Sorley and New, each connected safely twice for the Chippers.

The second game was close until the fifth, when the Goodyear team unloaded for three runs.

Gary Akins paced the Goodyear club with three singles. Jim Sterling and Charlie Williams each had two safeties for the winners.

Robert Prescott, on the mound for the Goodyear club, yielded five hits to the Merchants. Two of those came off the bat of Charley Burdette.

Flock Ousted In Playoffs

ABILENE — Lubbock Monterey advanced to the Class AAAA state baseball finals by defeating the Abilene Eagles for the second straight time here Thursday, 3-1.

The win was the 32nd in 34 starts for the Plainsmen and their third in as many starts over Abilene this season.

Abilene ended play with a 25-10 record. Billy Sorrells, who plays shortstop when he isn't pitching, blanked the Eagles until the seventh, when pinch runner Doyle Walker scored on a triple by pinch hitter Clint Thomas.

Monterey scored once in the second following an Abilene error. Center fielder Roy Churchill misjudged Gary Pumphrey's fly ball, allowing it to fall in for a triple. His drive scored Tim West.

In the fourth, pinch runner Tom Ellis and Sorrells counted for the Plainsmen.

Dennis Shepherd limited the Plainsmen to four hits but his mates couldn't rally behind him.

Missionary From Mexico To Speak At VA Services

The Rev. Wayne White, Southern Baptist Missionary to Guadalajara, Mexico, will speak Sunday during the 9:45 a.m. chapel services at the Veterans Administration Hospital and at the 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. worship services at Airport Baptist Church, 1208 Praizer.

REV. WAYNE WHITE

The Rev. White's wife Winnie will assist by showing films of their work in Mexico. Since 1968, the Rev. White has been stationed in Guadalajara, where he engages in religious education promotion on a national scale. He also continues to serve as field missionary for the state of Sinaloa, a position which he previously filled full-time.

He is also religious education director for the Getsemane Baptist Church in Guadalajara. In this capacity he is setting up a training and teaching program, including a special worship service for young people.

The Rev. White previously was stationed in Mazatlan. The move to Guadalajara was necessitated by his health. After he had been ill with hepatitis for about 18 months, his colleagues suggested that the climate, food and medical facilities in Guadalajara would be more beneficial.

Appointed by the Foreign Mission Board in 1963, the Whites went to Mazatlan after a year of Spanish language study in San Jose, Costa Rica. Born in Jester, Okla., the Rev. White grew up in Pampa, Tex. He joined the U.S. Navy

War II from Saipan to Okinawa on a destroyer.

He attended Wayland Baptist College in Plainview and was graduated from Baylor University in Waco, with the bachelor of arts degree and from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, with the bachelor of divinity degree.

After serving as pastor of churches in Hastings and Strong City, Okla., he helped organize Redrock Baptist Church, Las Vegas, Nev., in 1956. Before he resigned that pastorate to become a missionary, Redrock Church had grown from six members to nearly 200, with a Sunday School enrollment of over 400, and had erected two buildings. It originally held services in the White home.

He is married to the former Winnie Dudley of Abilene. They have four children, Laurie Lee, born in 1952, Robin, 1955, Travis, 1957, and Cynthia, 1958.

State Hospital Receives Accreditation Extension

Big Spring State Hospital authorities have been notified that the hospital has received an extension of accreditation by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals for a period of two years.

This is the maximum time that the agency grants accreditation. The extension was based on a recent survey of the hospital by the Joint Commission. The commission is sponsored by the American College of Surgeons, American College of Physicians, American Hospital Association and the American Medical Association. Purpose of the commission is to establish standards for the operation of hospitals and other health facilities and services. It conducts surveys and accreditation programs that will encourage members of the health professions, hospitals and other health-care facilities to furnish the optimal benefits that medical science has to offer. In so doing, it outlines certain basic principles of physical plant safety and maintenance; programs for organization and administration, etc.

The certificate of accreditation means that the hospital governing body, personnel and medical staff have accepted outside appraisal in relation to nationally applied criteria, said hospital officials.

Big Spring State Hospital was the first state hospital to receive full accreditation. Only the Austin hospital has been fully accredited since.

It Was A Sight To Make A Hoodlum Cry, Cry, Cry

DALLAS (AP) — It was a sight to make a gangster cry. Government agents banged into scrap metal 51 machine guns, a bazooka, 20 semi-automatic shotguns, 20 pistols, mortars, and other assorted weapons.

Agents of the Internal Revenue Service's Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Division said Thursday they had seized the weapons in criminal investigations conducted over a six-month period in the Southwest.

The weapons, about 100 in all, were destroyed by a special hammer at Commercial Metals Co. "The monetary value of these weapons isn't very high but on the black market one of those machine guns would fetch around $600," said Don Chadsey, chief of the ATF's Southwest Region.

Agent Lee Ellsworth said one of the heavy machine guns, if employed by robbers, could be attached to the flat bed of a truck to attack an armored car. "The bazooka was exactly the same kind of weapon used to fire on the UN building a few years back," he said.

Among the weapons which fell under the giant hammer's crushing blow was a World War I vintage Spandau water-cooled machine gun.
