'Baering' Down On The News

BY ARTHUR (BUGS) BAER

IT HAPPENED IN TWO MINUTES

Here's what happened during the eclipse of the sun yesterday:

During the two minutes of total darkness the revenue agents raided 300 New York speakeasies.

A Fifth avenue hotel charged its patrons for an extra night.

Brooklyn tried to sneak up on the Chicago Cubs in the dark.

Pullman porters on the Erie started to make up the berths.

Wall street brokers left their offices at 3:39 and at 3:41 they rushed back again for the next day. Anything can happen over night.

The spooners on park benches got in a couple of quick hugs before they were sunburned.

The night watchmen are convinced there were 32 days in August. But Tammany won't okay the vouchers.

Long Island policeman cracked prisoner with nightstick and jury of golfers decides he used correct club.

And the Albany night boat made a false start.

PLANE SPEEDS 293 MILES P. H.

Doolittle Sets New Mark In Flying Silo

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 31. (AP)—In the gathering dusk of the sun's eclipse, Major James H. Doolittle today mounted the airplane speed throne of the world by flashing four times over a three kilometer course at an average speed of 293.193 miles an hour.

The former air corps ace, piloting a stubby plane that has earned the title of The Flying Silo, surpassed an eight-year-old mark, the existing record of 278.48 miles an hour set Dec. 11, 1924, by Warrant Officer Bonnett of France.

Doolittle carried no barograph as he made his spectacular flight and his record therefore must remain unofficial and uncertifiable. Had he carried a barograph the instrument would have been calibrated by the National Aeronautique Internationale in France, world governing body of sporting aviation.

Doolittle, grinning at the congratulations he received on landing, said he would try for the record with a barograph as soon as there was an open space in the race program tomorrow.

"Everything went fine," he said. "I am having the propeller changed tonight—the only change that is planned. All we want is 10 to 15 miles an hour more.

"The ship behaved well and that's about all there is to say right now."

"This was just a practice hop today," he said.

Foreign War Vets Condemn Hoover

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Aug. 31. (AP)—The Veterans of Foreign Wars unanimously adopted a resolution today that condemned the president of the United States for using the army "to rout and maim a pitiful and inoffensive crowd of ragged and unarmed bonusers."

The resolution recited that the United States presented to the world a movement against the use of gas and then ordered gas used against women, children, veterans and men, unarmed and defenseless, weakened by hunger and unemployment.

The resolution continues "this encampment makes a solemn protest against the unnecessary use" of the army and that "the American public may become dramatically aware of this organization's attitude, that every post possessing a club house be urged to mount the same with sand bags and post a military guard from now on until November so that the Washington evacuation may be fully completed in November."

EXTRA SESSION STRAYS FROM OUTLINED PATH

Senate Petitions Governor To Submit Question Of Salary Reductions

28 BILLS IN HOUSE

Senators Argue That Wage Cut and Less Employes Are 'Real Relief'

AUSTIN, Aug. 31. (AP)—The Texas legislature, meeting in extraordinary session to enact tax relief legislation today strayed from the path hewn for it by Gov. R. S. Sterling in his proclamation convening it.

The house devoted considerable time to consideration of a resolution proposing investigation of the state highway department funds and the senate adopted a resolution petitioning the governor to submit the matter of salary reductions of state employes.

The highway investigation resolution, drawn by Representative I. J. Burns of Brady, was referred to the committee on highways and motor traffic with an understanding that group would recommend it be considered by the house sitting as a committee of the whole. The committee later ordered copies of the resolution placed on members desks before action is taken.

Senate For Cut

The senate favored the salary cut legislation resolution, 18-10, after Senator Walter Woodul of Houston and others argued that the governor should be let alone in his program to have the legislature enact legislation providing for assumption of county and district road bonds by the highway fund, pass other tax relief laws and go home.

"I am opposed to high pressuring the governor," Senator Woodul said. "Besides, the governor said during the campaign that he would not ask this legislature to consider salary reductions. He wants to leave that matter to the regular session convening in January."

The resolution, sponsored by Senators Tom Deberry of Bogata and W. R. Poage of Waco, proposed that the legislature be permitted to consider reduction in appropriations, maintenance costs and the number of employes now on the state pay roll, as well as reduction of salaries.

"Real Tax Relief"

They argued that reduction in salaries and the number of employes would bring about "real tax relief."

Senators W. A. Williamson of San Antonio and Pink Parrish of Lubbock also wanted the subject submitted. Senator Parrish said he believed Governor Sterling was sincere in his desire to afford tax relief and expressed the opinion the governor would submit salary reductions if the legislature asked him to do so.

It was a concurrent resolution and must be favorably acted on by

Miners in Illinois Returning to Work

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 31. (US)—Striking miners in northern Illinois who previously have protested the newly ratified and lower wage scale were returning to work today.

Many still are holding out against the agreement reached several weeks ago by the operators and representatives of the United Mine Workers of America, but the action today of employes of mines at Peru and LaSalle in resuming work was construed as an indication that soon practically all the mines of the state would be in operation again.

Bandits Shoot Woman In Blue Ridge Robbery

M'KINNEY, Texas, Aug. 31. (US)—Bandits kidnaped two persons and shot a woman through the shoulder after they had robbed the Security State bank of Blue Ridge, near here, of $2,000 today.

The bandits seized A. H. Eubanks, a bank employe, and Miss Elfred Richardson, to cover their escape, but released them about a mile out of town.

As they drove furiously through town they fired 10 or a dozen shots at pedestrians on the street. Mrs. J. O. Nelson was hit by one of the bullets as she was emerging from a store.

Heavy Rains Over Wichita Area Aid Late Cotton And Fall Crops

Late August showers swept over the Wichita area Wednesday afternoon covering territory south and west of the city with beneficial moisture for farm crops. Precipitation ranged from .25 of an inch at Olney to nearly two inches at Vernon. The downpour in Wichita Falls totaled .45 of an inch, running the total for the month to 3.30 inches, .10 of an inch less than the August record of 3.40 inches in 1926.

The thundershowers will delay cotton picking through the area Thursday but were welcomed as beneficial for late cotton and as a season for early falll plowing.

The downpour totaled 1.50 inches at Seymour at 8 o'clock Wednesday night as precipitation continued unabated after starting about 3:30 p. m. A heavy rain of 1.75 inches was reported at Vernon as covering most of Wilbarger county. The streets were flooded in the Vernon business district during the heavy shower.

The Panhandle area in the Childress, Shamrock and South Plains territory of the Fort Worth & Denver received light showers Wednesday augmenting good rains of Tuesday night. Overhanging clouds and continued misty weather forecast additional precipitation, according

M'ADOO WINS SENATE RACE

Young Republican Wet To Face Demo Nominee

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31. (UP)—A vigorous and enthusiastic young anti-prohibitionist, Tallant Tubbs, will oppose William Gibbs McAdoo, tall veteran of national politics, for the United State senatorial post now held by Samuel M. Shortridge.

McAdoo's triumphant drive to the Democratic nomination in yesterday's primary, in which he secured more votes than his five opponents together, was more surprising to political observers than the retirement of the thin-faced, conservative Senator Shortridge from the office he had held for 12 years.

Opponents Fall Short

McAdoo had been expected to lose part of his southern California strength to the Rev. Robert P. (Fighting Bob) Shuler, dry radio divine who ran as a Republican, Democrat and in the Prohibition party. Justus Wardell, northern California wet leader of the Bourbons, whose supporters claimed he had the silent support of Alfred E. Smith forces that have long been engaged in a bitter feud with McAdoo, had been expected to give the former secretary of the treasury a close race.

Today, with 9,076 precincts of the state's 10,531 complete, McAdoo had 199,690 votes to 97,652 for Wardell. McAdoo's five opponents mustered a total vote of 185,140—far from his total.

Tubbs, who gained his political experience as a state senator, was the only outright repealist making the race in either party. With 9,-

TRUCE CALLED IN STRIKE OF IOWA FARMERS

National Chairman Orders Temporary Lifting Of Ban on Produce

SHOTS INJURE 19

Governors of 15 States To Take Part in Parley Called by Olson

DES MOINES, Iowa, Aug. 31. (UP)—John Chalmers, chairman of the National Farm Holiday association, called a truce tonight in the farmers' strike.

He sent a telegram to all county chairmen, ordering them to lift their ban on farm produce sales tomorrow.

The truce, he said, will be "temporary."

"You are hereby notified that a temporary truce has been declared in the farmers' holiday movement in Iowa," his statement read. "Such truce is effective Sept. 1, and pending the governors' conference at Sioux City Sept. 9.

Safeguard Lives

"Notify all members at once. We will not jeopardize the lives of unarmed farmers in such attacks as occurred at Cherokee last night.

"John Chalmers, state chairman."

The conference to which the chairman referred was called by Gov. Warren Green of South Dakota. The governor has asked executives of 15 mid-West states to meet with him to consider action in the farmers' strike.

Chalmers would not elaborate upon his statement, but it was believed here that the association's action meant it would hold immediate termination of the truce "over the heads" of the governors and in this way effect some material benefit to the farmers.

END SOUGHT IN FARM STRIKE VIOLENCE

OMAHA, Neb., Aug. 31. (US)—Every effort was being made tonight to bring an end to acts of violence that have marked the farm holiday movement in Iowa and Nebraska.

Seasoned political and agricultural leaders were moving to curb agitators and the authorities were showing a firmer hand in dealing with the situation.

Full realization of the danger to be found in the situation was brought home to the authorities last night when a band of striking farmers was fired upon at Cherokee, Iowa, 50 miles northeast of Sioux City.

19 Wounded by Shots

Nineteen striking farmers were wounded by birdshot. Sheriff A. N. Tilton, of Cherokee county, demanded troops but word from Des Moines indicated that Gov. Dan Turner of Iowa would refuse to employ military force. It was believed Sheriff Tilton would be able to maintain order.

Picket lines were also reported weaker at Sioux City and Des Moines, though there was still some restriction on movement of farm produce, especially milk.

While the campaign to end violence was under way it did not presage the end of the strike, by any means.

Word was received that Gov. Floyd B. Olson of Minnesota and Gov. Warren Green, of South Dakota, are in full sympathy with the farm holiday movement but are demanding that it be conducted along peaceful lines.

Recruits Needed

More farmers will have to be enlisted in the movement before it can have any hope of success, it was pointed out. The governor of Minnesota and the governor of South Dakota hope to accomplish this by organization of the farmers throughout the country.

Governor Olson today called 11 cooperative farm organizations in Minnesota to meet on Sept 8 to formulate a plan to be laid before conference at which 15 middle western governors and farm representatives have been invited. This general conference is scheduled to be held in Sioux City on Sept. 9. The purpose of the conference, as described in the call, is "to bring about a general plan which would provide for securing reasonable prices for the farmers commodities through the regulation of the amount of produce that shall be placed in farm markets at a given time."

OIL ALLOWABLE HIKED IN ETEX

New Order Allows Wells To Produce 50 Barrels

AUSTIN, Aug. 31. (AP)—Increase of the per well allowable in the East Texas oil field from 43 barrels to 50 barrels daily was ordered by the Texas Railroad commission today. The maximum field production was raised from 325,000 barrels to 375,000 barrels daily.

The order will replace one expiring tonight. Under its provisions readjustment of the per well allowable will be made at the end of each 15-day period, each producer to contribute an equal share to the top field allowable. That arrangement obtained under the expiring order. The new order will hold until Nov. 1.

The commission estimated there were approximately 7,500 producing wells in the field at this time.

Hearing Completed

Hearing on the East Texas field was concluded last night. There was a sharp division of opinion among interests in the field concerning the allowable that should be prescribed. One group vigorously contended against any increase above 325,000 barrels daily and recommended that in the interest of conservation this figure be reduced. The other faction contended that wells in East Texas could produce 50 barrels without causing any physical waste.

No orders were issued on the four other fields heard in conjunction with East Texas. They were gulf coast, Van, southwest Texas and Yates. Orders on these fields likely will not be issued until the commission returns from a hearing called for tomorrow at Amarillo to consider the question of gas waste in the Panhandle field, R. D. Parker, director of the oil and gas division of the commission said.

SUN'S ECLIPSE IS SPECTACLE TO WATCHERS

Natural Phenomenon Proves Only Partial Success to Scientists

TOTALITY IN EAST

5,000,000 Thrilled as Sun Rays Shut Off as Moon Passes Between

(By The Associated Press)

A total eclipse of the sun swept across New England today—only a partial success from the scientific standpoint, but a magnificent spectacle to thousands.

A sky, darkened almost completely in some sections by huge banks of clouds, and partly or entirely clear in others, made results uncertain from the standpoint of the 50 or more scientific expeditions scattered from Canada to the end of Cape Cod, Massachusetts.

Results Dubious

At Magog, Quebec, where were gathered expeditions from Cambridge and London, England, and from the University of Virginia, clouds hid the sky and the Virginia expedition reported failure.

At Conway, N. H., the center of the largest concentration of scientific observers, the results were dubious.

Toward Boston, barely outside of the path of totality, the eclipse was visible for brief periods, but there also clouds swept across the face of the sun and moon.

The tip of Cape Cod, however, was clear and observers there reported perfect conditions throughout the period of the eclipse.

Hurricane Kills Six in Florida

PENSACOLA, Fla., Aug. 31. (UP)—Six persons were killed in the tropical storm that roared up from the Gulf of Mexico to pass inland west of here, leaving considerable minor property damage in its wake.

Five men were reported drowned off the Pensacola casino, on Santa Rosa island, seven miles from here. The men, all from Destin, Fla., 40 miles away, were in a small fishing boat that was swamped by the tremendous seas brought on by the 60-mile gale accompanying the storm.

Life guards were forced to stand by as the men drowned, being unable to go to their assistance because of the heavy seas. Communications have been cut off between Pensacola and Destin, making it impossible to learn the identity of the dead.

The other fatality occurred earlier when Ben Baker, 14, son of the assistant postmaster here, came in contact with a blown down power line and was electrocuted.

Governor Promises To Show Conclusive Proof Of Victory In Primary

Executive Issues Statement Charging Thousands of Illegal Ballots Were Cast Saturday and Advises Friends to Be of Good Cheer

AUSTIN, Aug. 31. (AP)—Gov. R. S. Sterling tonight said there was no doubt that he had obtained "a substantial majority of all the votes lawfully cast," in Saturday's run-off primary with Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson.

That he had obtained more votes for governor of Texas than his opponent "will be conclusively demonstrated," the governor said.

"I will be declared the nominee for governor of Texas in accordance with the orderly processes of our primary election laws," he said.

He declared his statement was based on "reliable information and advices from all over Texas."

Conference Held

What were apparently plans to contest the nomination of Mrs. Ferguson were made in a conference at the office of Governor Sterling today.

Former Gov. Dan Moody and Alfred Petsch of Fredericksburg, however, on leaving the governor's office made it plain that Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson will not be conceded the victory without a fight.

Others at the conference included former State Senator Tom Love of Dallas; former State Senator R. S. Stuart of Fort Worth; Senators Walter Woodul of Houston and Walter Woodward of Coleman; W. R. Ely of Abilene, chairman of the state highway commission and R. L. Arterbury of Houston, Sterling's South Texas campaign manager.

Ferguson Lead 2,000

When Governor Sterling made his claim of nomination, the last report of the Texas Election bureau, unofficial collection of returns for newspapers, showed Governor Sterling trailing Mrs. Ferguson by more than 2,000 votes out of 950,000, in one of the closest gubernatorial elections Texas ever has experienced.

Governor Sterling said he believed "thousands of illegal votes were cast, and that gross errors occurred in the count."

He said he proposed "to leave nothing undone that is within my power to secure an honest ballot and an honest count and to eliminate every unlawful vote cast in Texas last Saturday."

"Having put my hand to the plow I will not turn back," he said. "The friends of good government may be of good cheer. I have been nominated and will be re-elected governor."

Statement in Full

The governor's statement in full: "I have no doubt whatever that I received a substantial majority of all the votes lawfully cast in the run-off primary election last Saturday; and that this will be conclusively demonstrated and that I will be declared the nominee for governor of Texas in accordance with the orderly processes of our primary election laws. This statement is based upon reliable information and advices from all over Texas.

Hoover to Concentrate His Campaign in East

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31. (US)—Convinced the battleground of the November election will be in the states east of the Mississippi and north of the Potomac, President Hoover today made plans to call the leaders from those states here immediately after Labor day to plan an intensive drive.

The president was said to feel encouraged as a survey of conditions in states of this group reached him today. Representative Will R. Wood, Indiana, chairman of the congressional campaign committee, told him that Indiana could be safely counted in his column.

BUREAU'S FINAL COUNT GIVES FERGUSON LEAD

With 150 Votes Still Out, Ma Has Majority Of Over 2,000

DALLAS, Aug. 31. (AP)—Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson led Gov. R. S. Sterling by 2,398 votes for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination of Texas on the final tabulation today of returns from Saturday's run-off primary.

With 951,102 votes tabulated from 254 counties in the state, 251 of which were complete, the Texas election bureau gave the following for governor:

Mrs. Ferguson 476,750; Sterling 474,352.

Await Official Count

The election bureau announced it would tabulate no more returns until Saturday, when it would gather the official returns from each county seat for release to Sunday morning papers.

The counties carried as incomplete are Kimble, Reagan and Zavalla, in all of which, on the face of incomplete returns Sterling was leading.

Latest returns from Kimble gave Sterling 782 and Mrs. Ferguson 627; from Reagan, Sterling 782 and Mrs. Ferguson 208; from Zavalla, Sterling 580 and Mrs. Ferguson 552.

Two Probably Complete

The election bureau stated that Kimble and Zavalla counties probably were complete, but correspondents had neglected to so inform the bureau. Kimble had reported 1,409 votes as compared with 1,392 cast in the first primary in July. Zavalla has reported 1,120 against 1,106 in July.

The outstanding vote was estimated at around 150. If all should be cast for Sterling, the result would not be changed.

Unofficial Count

In previous statements, the bureau called attention to the fact that its tabulation was strictly unofficial and was made simply that the public might know the result of elections before the official count, eight days later.

The official count will be certified to the Texas state Democratic executive committee, which in turn will certify the nominee to the state Democratic convention. The convention then declares the nominee and authorizes the placing of his name on the party ticket to be voted on in the general election.

This year the committee meets on Sept. 12 in Lubbock, one day before

Flood Submerges Big Dam Tunnels

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Aug. 31. (UP)—A sudden flood which swelled the Colorado river high on its banks threatened the new Hoover dam project tonight when a wall of water began filling three of the giant diversion tunnels.

Newly poured concrete in the tunnels was covered by several feet of water, and may cause damage and delay mounting into millions of dollars, dam foreman reported.

The flood waters were believed due to cloudbursts in Utah, which filled many of the Colorado's tributaries.

Additional pumps were installed in tunnels two, three and four in a vain attempt to lower the water level. The peak of the flood was expected late tonight.

On returns to the Texas Election bureau, George B. Terrell of Alto, Joseph Weldon Bailey of Dallas and Sterling P. Strong of Dallas were nominated for the three congress at large places. Texas was given three new congressional seats under the reapportionment act.

Terrell received 468,877 votes to 384,243 for Pink Parrish of Lubbock. The contested for place No. 1. For place No. 2, Bailey received 514,420 votes and J. H. (Cyclone) Davis of Sulphur Springs 354,239. Strong had 460,115 to 388,688 for Joe Burkett of San Antonio.

Terrell, Bailey and Burkett were endorsed by organizations seeking repeal of the 18th amendment. Strong is a former Texas state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league. Prohibition was not stressed in their campaigns, but all candidates came out for resubmission of the question and voters generally classified them as "wet" or "dry."

Judge William Pierson won a close race from Judge J. E. Hickman for associate justice of the state supreme court. Pierson on the final tabulation, had 433,157 votes while Hickman had 419,470.

McFarlane Wins

W. D. McFarlane won the contest for congress in district 13 over George W. Backus. They sought the seat of Congressman Guinn Williams, who did not run for re-election. McFarlane received 25,258 votes to 21,003 for Backus.

C. V. Terrell defeated Lee Satterwhite of Odessa for a six-year term on the Texas Railroad commission. Terrell, the incumbent, had 530,073 votes and Satterwhite 352,529.

For a four-year term on the commission, Ernest O. Thompson, former mayor of Amarillo, was given 453,661 votes and W. Gregory Hatcher of Dallas, former state treasurer, 416,820. Thompson is a member of the commission under appointment by Governor Sterling.

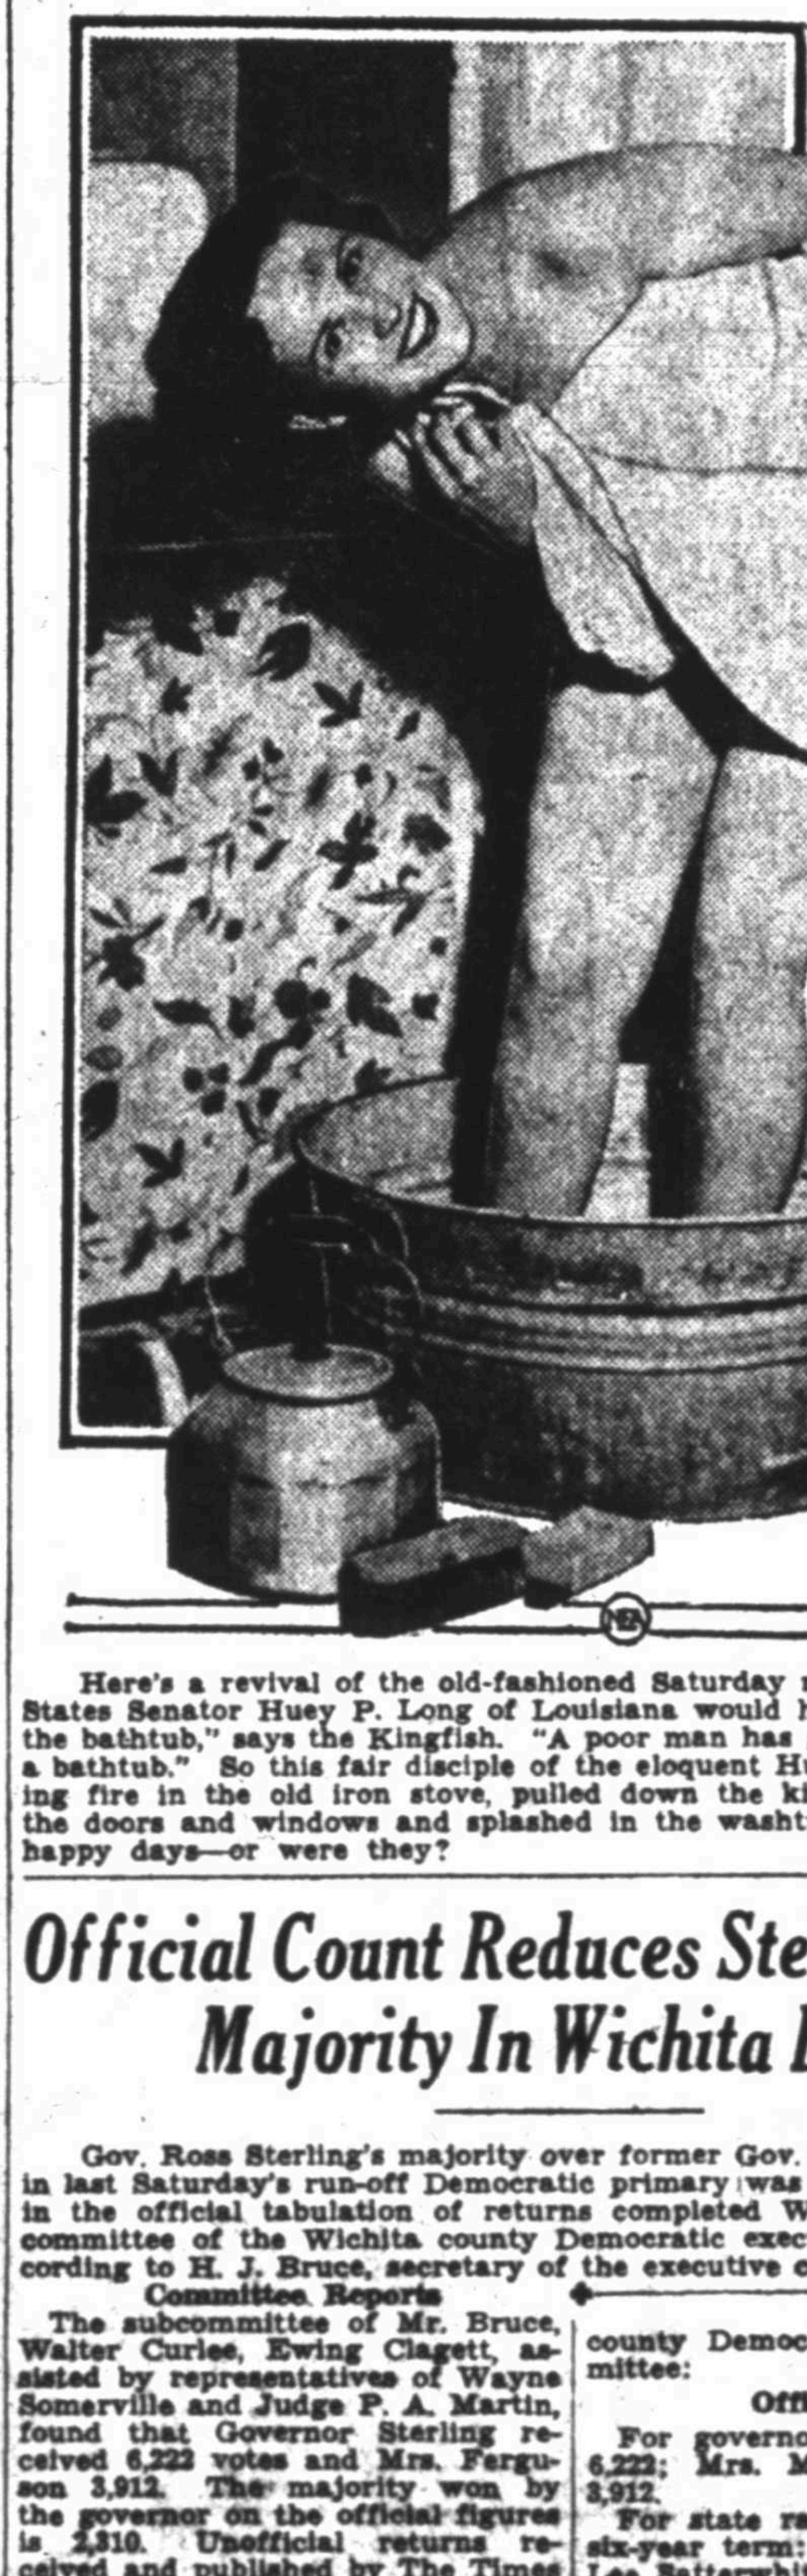
For justice of the fifth district court of civil appeals, Judge Joel R. Bond won over Judge Robert M. Vaughan. Bond received 47,592 votes and Vaughan 41,623.

For the sixth court of civil appeals, George W. Johnson defeated Ed Rabb. The vote was Johnson 59,522 and Rabb 41,403.

Returns on other state contests were not as complete as on the governor's race, but were regarded as having definitely indicated the result.

This Is The Way, Says Huey

LOUISIANA "KINGFISH" WARS ON BATHTUBS



Here's a revival of the old-fashioned Saturday night bath as United States Senator Huey P. Long of Louisiana would have it. "Throw out the bathtub," says the Kingfish. "A poor man has got no business with a bathtub." So this fair disciple of the eloquent Huey has built a roaring fire in the old iron stove, pulled down the kitchen blinds, locked the doors and windows and splashed in the washtub. Those were the happy days—or were they?

Official Count Reduces Sterling's Majority In Wichita By 11 Votes

Gov. Ross Sterling's majority over former Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson in last Saturday's run-off Democratic primary was reduced by 11 votes in the official tabulation of returns completed Wednesday by a subcommittee of the Wichita county Democratic executive committee, according to H. J. Bruce, secretary of the executive committee.

Committee Reports

The subcommittee of Mr. Bruce, Walter Curlee, Ewing Clagett, assisted by representatives of Wayne Somerville and Judge P. A. Martin, found that Governor Sterling received 6,222 votes and Mrs. Ferguson 3,912. The majority won by the governor on the official figures is 2,310. Unofficial returns received and published by The Times and Record News Saturday night credited Governor Sterling with a majority of 2,321, his total vote having been reported as 6,246 and that of Mrs. Ferguson as 3,925. In the official count Governor Sterling's vote was reduced by 24 and Mrs. Ferguson's by 13 ballots.

It was announced also that Judge P. A. Martin of the 89th district court was given a majority of 21 votes over Wayne Somerville in the race for that bench, a gain of 17 votes over the majority given Judge Martin in the unofficial returns published Sunday morning. Mechanical errors in carrying forward totals in the tabulation of votes in various precincts accounted for the discrepancy, according to Mr. Bruce.

County officials expressed the belief Wednesday that the increased majority found for Judge Martin will preclude the probability of a contest.

Numerous other slight changes were made in the election returns, but none affected the standings of candidates already announced.

Wichita county voters gave the various county and state candidates the following totals, according to the official tabulation which is to be submitted next Saturday to the county Democratic executive committee:

mental observations at the expedition camp here.

The eclipse began at 2:15 p. m., eastern standard time, with a small nick or dent impressed upon the solar disc by the moon's shadow, which traveled 2,100 miles per hour.

Crescent Visible

This indentation increased when only a small golden crescent of the sun remained visible; the totality phase approached. Just then, the sun's shaveling of gold turned into a set of amber beads; Baily's beads, so called because they were first observed and explained by Francis Baily in 1836. These are produced by irradiation of light through the valleys of the moon.

Shadow bands passed upon the ground, alternate patterns of light and dark, caused by uneven deflection of light peering through atmospheric layers which were in motion.

Not until the last Baily bead vanished did the total eclipse begin.

A hush fell all around. A chill swooped over us. At level of your head, standing up, the temperature fell nearly 10 degrees Fahrenheit.

In the ghostly spell of momentary gloom rock maples and pines seemed like weird ghosts.

Apparatus Clicks

In both Lick observatory and Michigan university camps counting of time began as the total eclipse commenced at hour 3 minutes 28 and seconds 18 p. m., eastern time.

The poor time-counters dared not take a look at the peerless splendor of the corona, a halo of pearly white wings and plumes.

There was incessant whirl and click-clack of spectrographs and telescopic cameras and interferometer apparatuses, moving and snapshot photographing contraptions of the utmost refinement and sensitivity.

Lick astronomers were taking some 75 snapshots of the flash spectrum, also its moving pictures. The sun's atmosphere and the farther away coronal regions were being photographed and spectrographed.

Thus new in highly keyed activity the 98 seconds!

At signal of the hour 3, minutes 29, seconds 56 certain instruments snapped shut, the others kept going.

Dr. J. H. Moore, head of the Lick-Crocker expedition, rushed up to tell the newspaper men how it had all fared observationally.

Start and End Recorded

Father Emeran J. Kolmeyer, S. J., of Georgetown university expedition, was busy in a neighboring field measuring the changes in the intensity of light during the entire period of totality, with a continuous photographic record made by Wulf electrometers and photoelectric cells. Also thus was registered the time of beginning and ending of total eclipse within accuracy of 10ne-500th of one second.

The total eclipse occurred here as was scheduled, except for a very slight delay in the beginning of totality.

Refinery Equipment Recovered by Police

Recovery of a centrifugal pump, two eight-inch belts, a quantity of fuel and a blow torch was reported by police Wednesday. The property was taken from the Continental Refining company pumphouse about 2:30 o'clock Wednesday morning. The loss was discovered about 2:45 a. m. The property was valued at $200.

Loss of a 12-gauge shotgun was reported by Jerome S. Stone, 1400 Grant, and T. P. Duncan, 1404 Grant, said a battery was taken from his automobile Tuesday night.

Sun-Moon Stage Disappearing Act For Sky Gazers

One of the few scheduled performances of Old Sol and the moon in a disappearing act was staged for Wichita Falls residents early Wednesday afternoon. Weather in the Wichita Falls area barely gave the starring performers in the universe's production a break, but most Wichitans satisfied their curiosity on the eclipse before rain clouds interfered.

The sun had the appearance of a small cookie after a hungry youth had taken a first bite as the moon eased between the earth and the sun. Smoked glasses were in use at almost every home in the city and yards were peopled by Wichitans with upturned faces. Large supplies of smoked glass were in evidence in business offices during the afternoon.

The moon turned sun shade shortly after 1 o'clock and a few minutes after 2 p. m. had covered about 25 per cent of the sun's disc as viewed from the earth. Rain clouds drew a curtain on the show shortly after 3 o'clock.

STERLING TO PROTEST VOTE

Governor Claims 'Legal' Majority

legal votes cast in this year's primaries, and his supporters are repeating similar charges. I believe that thousands of illegal votes were cast, and that gross errors occurred in the count; and I propose to leave nothing undone that is within my power to secure an honest ballot and an honest count, and to eliminate every unlawful vote cast in Texas last Saturday. This is my simple duty under my oath of office, and it is a duty I owe to the friends of good government. Having put my hand to the plow I will not turn back.

Busy With Session

"I am busily engaged in the effort to secure legislation relieving the people of seven million dollars a year in county road bond taxes, and to relieve them of interest and penalties on their delinquent taxes next year as was done last year, and to enable Texas home owners to have the advantages of the federal home loan bank laws recently enacted by congress in renewing and carrying the mortgages on their homes in order to avoid foreclosure. I am confident that this legislature I have called in special session will be the most valuable to the taxpayers of Texas of any in the history of the state.

"The friends of good government may be of good cheer. I have been nominated and will be re-elected governor. I thank them for the manifestations I am receiving of their widespread interest and support, which I know I shall have in increasing measure."

James E. Ferguson, husband of Governor Sterling's run-off opponent, told that Governor Sterling claimed he had received a majority of the "votes legally cast," said he or Mrs. Ferguson did not care to comment.

"We prefer to wait until after we have read Governor Sterling's statement," Ferguson said.

STERLING FORCES PLAN BATTLE

Special to The Record News.

AUSTIN, Aug. 31.—R. A. Stuart, Fort Worth, Wednesday was selected as head of a legal board of strategy to handle future proceedings to secure an official or court decision as to the outcome of the race between Gov. Ross S. Sterling and Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson.

The board includes more than a dozen lawyers from every section of Texas, with former Gov. Dan Moody one of those in the conference here. The board was formed while Governor Sterling was making an emphatic claim of a majority of votes unlawfully cast."

Court action to cause re-examination and check of the poll lists, exemption lists and ballots, particularly in areas where voting exceeded poll tax receipts, was intimated by the strategy board.

The committee is to act both in relation to the canvass by the Democratic executive committee and state convention at Lubbock Sept. 12-13, and with court proceedings. Members in both houses of the legislature were considering asking the legislature to conduct a fine-toothed investigation of the entire balloting, with a probable check of every ballot for governor throughout the state.

HIGHWAY FUND PROBE ASKED

the house before it reaches the governor.

vided in the constitution if these new subjects were opened up.

Burns first proposed the highway fund investigation be undertaken jointly by the house and senate, or that either make the inquiry on its own responsibility, but he later substituted that resolution with one that involved only the house.

Argue on Committee

Originally, Burns wanted the resolution referred to the committee on state affairs, but after Representative Walter Beck of Fort Worth, chairman of the committee on highways and motor traffic, told the house he believed the resolution should be considered in connection with the bills proposing assumption of county and district road bonds by the highway fund and said it was his desire it and the highway bond bills be brought before the house sitting as a committee of the whole, Burns asked that the investigation proposal go to the Beck committee.

Later, however, the road bond bills were referred to the state affairs committee.

Twenty-eight bills had been introduced in the house and 10 in the senate.

Representative Dewey Young of Wellington complained that some of the house bills were out of order because they were not upon subjects submitted by the governor. Speaker Fred Minor said he would not rule on the point until he had studied the question.

Variety of Bills

The bills were for enactment of special game laws, designation and maintenance of certain highways and for other purposes other than assumption of county and district road bonds, remission of interest and penalties and interest on delinquent taxes and to permit insurance and building and loan associations to invest in stock of the federal home loan banks, created by congress as an economic relief, the subjects submitted by Governor Sterling.

All bills were before committees and hearings had been set, it being likely most of them will have been reported to the floors of the respective houses by the first of next week. The bond assumption bills in the seate had been set for hearing Friday at 4 p. m.

A bill by Representative Baily Hardy of Breckenridge proposing that the highway commission not let any contracts or make further expenditures for construction of roads until enactment of a measure providing for assumption of outstanding county bonds, was set for hearing tomorrow at 7:30 p. m.

McAdoo Clinches Race For Senate

076 precincts complete he had 184,324 ballots to 159,195 for Senator Shortridge; 138,621 for Congressman Joe Crail, Los Angeles dry; 124,615 for the Rev. Shuler and 44,037 for Leo V. Youngsworth.

Despite an increased Democratic registration in California and the bitter McAdoo-Wardell pre-election campaign as a magnet, the Bourbons polled only slightly more than half as many votes as the Republicans. Republican senatorial candidates for a total of 630,792 ballots, compared to the Bourbon total of 384,830. The ratio, political observers said, was about that of a "normal Republican year."

Observers sought the significance of the fact that McAdoo, running in the minority party, polled more votes than Tubbs, the Republican victor, received. While McAdoo ran far ahead of his field and Tubbs faced powerful contenders in Crail and Shortridge, indications were that McAdoo had accomplished his "comeback" in a sensational manner and would be a powerful contender at the November election.

Indicated Wet Trend

Senator Shortridge, long a dry, ran as a resbumissionist, and devoted himself to other issues. Congressman Crail ran as a bone-dry.

While Tubbs' victory indicated an anti-prohibition sentiment the Democratic result showed no such trend.

Wardell, the outspoken wet, was heavily defeated by McAdoo, a dry turned cautious resubmissionist.

In the Republican race, dry votes won by Congressman Crail, a southern California "favorite son," were at the expense of Senator Shortridge, it was believed. Totals of Crail and Shortridge were far greater than Tubbs' entire vote.

Votes of minor Democratic candidates were : Abbott, 10.022; Hale, 6,091; McCarthy, 14,907 and Shuler, 56,569.

The Rev. Mr. Shuler, defeated in the Republican and Democratic primaries, won the nomination of the minor prohibition party.

Druggist Gives New Formula To Stop Headaches

Realizing that no one drug can relieve all headaches, as they come from so many causes, a North Carolina pharmacist has developed a combination of several ingredients, so blended and proportioned as to relieve almost any headache in a few minutes. You can get this formula wherever drugs are sold under the name "B. C." 10c and 25c packages, and when you have one of those violent, nerve-racking headaches, from inorganic causes, "B. C." will give you soothing relief in three minutes. "B. C." should also be used for the relief of muscular aches and pains, common colds and neuralgia, reducing fever, and for quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit forming drugs. —Adv.

DIXIE FARMERS BUYING AUTOS

Georgia Dealers Report Brisk Business

ATLANTA, Ga., Aug. 31. (UP)—Cotton and tobacco, which have picked up about half a billion dollars in "paper value" within the last few weeks, are buying repairs for old automobiles and paying for new ones sales managers in the old South reported today.

Cotton is responsible for most of the new business, for that staple alone has advanced about $20 a bale since the low of this summer, giving a total new valuation of $486,000,000 to the 24,300,000 stored and growing bales of cotton in the land.

Fourteen-cent tobacco has been a factor also in those states where it is an important crop.

As a result, better feeling prevails. Said a department store sales manager:

"Last year you couldn't get a college girl to look at a coat above $29.50. Today they want to see them at $39.50, $49.50 and even $59.50, and they're buying 'em. People are definitely turning to luxuries."

A dealer in low-priced automobiles reported:

"Our sales have been grand for the past 30 days. We have sold more cars in the past 10 days than in any similar period in the past six months. We can't fill the orders fast enough. More than 25 dealers were in today, waiting for cars we couldn't supply."

A salesman for a high priced machine said the used car department was "doing a wonderful business." He predicted that sales in the last 10 days of August "unquestionably will exceed those of the first 20 days."

"The interesting fact," he said, "is that we are selling the higher priced cars, with fewer trade-ins—money in cash-on-the barrelhead transactions. I'm looking at a $900 check just paid on a purchase this day. And as for our service department, it is doing three times as much as it was before the cotton boom."

Another automobile dealer, told that the leading radio dealer, who also handles refrigerators, had done nearly twice as much business in the past two weeks as in any similar period this summer, said he could explain that by the fact Sept. 1 is moving day.

"People naturally are thinking in terms of their new homes, new radios and new home furnishings," he said. "By Sept. 15 we expect a definite improvement in our business."

Famous Tascosa Trail May Be Reconstructed

AMARILLO, Texas, Aug. 31. (AP)—The famous old Tascosa trail is to be rebuilt, and probably will be designated as a state highway.

The trail was first used by freighters from Kansas back in the days when Tascosa was the chief trading post in the West Texas cattle country. It was also the first road maintained by Potter county more than 40 years ago, and may now become an important link in the state's highway network, as it would shorten the route to New Mexico and Colorado by way of Chanhing and Dalhart.

It runs in a northwesterly direction from Amarillo to Channing crossing the Canadian river at Tascosa. It is about 47 miles from Amarillo to the point in Hartley county where the trail route enters highway No. 5, between Amarillo and Dalhart. The road is in good shape in Potter county, and Hartley recently voted bonds to improve its highways.

State May Take Over South Texas Ferries

BEAUMONT, Texas, Aug. 31. (AP)—Two ferries in South Texas would become state operated and maintained, if requests of two counties are approved by the state highway department.

Jefferson county urged that the Dryden ferry, over the Neches river on the Port Arthur-Orange highway, be state maintained. The action would save the county $34,000 per year.

Similar request was made of the commission by Galveston county business men and county officials in regard to operation and maintenance of the Galveston-Port Bolivar ferry. Ferry charges, they claim, are causing much traffic to be diverted from Galveston. A plan whereby the state and county would cooperate in its operation was advanced as a possibility.

73 Millions Spent On Highways in Mexico

DEL RIO, Texas, Aug. 31. (AP)—Bulletins issued by the National Road commission of Mexico recently revealed the expenditure of $73,940,553.93 on Mexican highways from 1925 to 1931 and an estimated $7,600,000 outlay for highway construction in 1932.

The principal highways of the network are the Mexico Neuvo Laredo highway, 1,228 kilometers; the Juarez-Toluca highway, going through Chihuahua, Durango and Leon, 1,800 kilometers; Tijuana-Mexico 3,050 kilometers; Mexico-Suchiate, passing through Oaxaca, Tehuantepec and Tuxtla Guetierrez, 1,435 kilometers; Mexico-Vera Cruz, 432 kilometers, and Mexico-Puerto Valarto by way of Guadalajara, 933 kilometers.

Eastland Doctors Plan To Entertain Association

EASTLAND, Texas, Aug. 31. (AP)—The Eastland County Medical society is busy with plans for entertainment of physicians and their wives at a meeting of the district organization of medical men at Ranger Sept. 13. Committees have been named to work out details of the program.

The district extends from Fort Worth west to Eastland county, north to the Red river, and northwest to Vernon. It includes 17 counties. A large attendance is anticipated by Dr. J. H. Caton, president of the Eastland county society.

Pampa Firemen Called To 'Put Out' Aunt Swarm

PAMPA, Texas, Aug. 31. (AP)—Pampa firemen were recently called out to "put out" a swarm of flying ants.

The ants literally covered the roof, walls and window and door screens of a local residence. They were so thick on the screens they shut out the air. A fire hose was used in washing them off the building.

Musty Records Fail To Show Texas Election Decided By Closer Margin Than Indicated Majority For Fergusons

FORT WORTH, Aug. 31. (AP)—Dust-covered library records of races long ago must be searched in order to find a Texas election comparing in closeness with the struggle for the governorship that is still undecided.

No contest of recent years will begin to rival the narrow lead held by first one and then the other in the returns from the Aug. 27 run-off.

Once upon a time, the governor's chair was won by a margin of 124 votes. This was in 1861 when F. R. Lubbock defeated Edward Clark and T. J. Chambers.

But this was a wide lead relatively speaking as only 57,343 votes were cast compared to nearly a million in the present battle of ballots. The division was: Lubbock, 21,854; Clark, 21,730; Chambers, 13,759.

Then there was the occasion in 1869 when E. J. Davis, the only Republican governor Texas ever had won by 809 votes out of 79,373. The totals were Davis 39,901; A. J. Hamilton, 39,092; Hamilton Stuart, 380.

Incidentally historians have charged that the election was "stolen" for Davis by the military authorities and that the federal commander, upon leaving the state, carried the records with him.

In 1847, the vote polled was less than many single counties cast today. George T. Wood, veteran of General Taylor's army was victor by a margin of 2,046 votes with 14,767 cast. Two years later Wood lost by 1,555 to P. H. Bell, who fought at San Jacinto and under Taylor in Mexico.

Texans who have permitted their knowledge of history to grow dusty will be surprised when reminded that the immortal Sam Houston was defeated for governor by H. R. Runnels in 1857 by less than 4,000. Two years later Texas honored itself, however, by bestowing the governorship upon Houston.

All these races were general elections. When primaries are considered, none comes within hailing distance of the recent run-off for closeness. In 1912, O. B. Colquitt received a majority of 41,629 over William F. Ramsey with 395,995 ballots being cast. This was the closest primary at which a governor was nominated until the latest one.

Two primaries produced closer results than the 1912 one but they were first primaries, requiring run-offs. In 1920, Joseph W. Bailey Sr. led Pat M. Neff by 2,522, Neff winning in the second primary. In 1924, Mrs. Ferguson won her way into the run-off by a margin of 5,216 votes over Lynch Davidson and won the governorship over Felix Robertson in the second primary.

National W.C.T.U. Assails Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31. (UP)—The national W. C. T. U. in a statement today charged that Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt "offers to restore the liquor traffic to a respectable place in business."

The 700-word criticism of the prohibition stand of the Democratic presidential nominee concluded with the explanation the statement was made "in opposition to the repeal; not in favor of any party or candidate."

"Corrupt government" wants state control of liquor "and of everything," the statement said, adding "it makes no difference to the corrupt city political organizations which party wins this election, as long as state control comes along with it."

Governor Roosevelt was referred to as "a smaller Roosevelt," and accused of "offering to restore the liquor traffic to a respectable place in business . . . if only the liquor traffic and its friends will quit kicking and place this second Roosevelt in the White House."

Pimples Formed Eruptions. Face Disfigured. Cuticura Healed.

"I had been bothered for quite a while with pimples on my face, and had used a number of other preparations with little improvement. They itched causing me to scratch, and they then formed eruptions that disfigured my face. At night I could not sleep well for the itching and they worried me. The trouble lasted six weeks.

"I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment, according to directions, and used two boxes of the Ointment and two cakes of the Soap, when I was completely healed." (Signed) James F. Henry, R. 2, Box 6, Louisville, Tenn., Feb. 2, 1932.

YOU may have noticed how your car seems to run differently in the rain than it does on a hot summer day. You have noticed how one gasoline gives you a quick start on a cold morning while another rasps your temper. On long fast drives in hot weather you may have noticed your car sputtering and missing. The reason for this variation in performance is that gasoline is extremely sensitive to changes in "engine heat".

At last something has been done about it. Mobilgas has CLIMATIC CONTROL! By this scientific achievement Mobilgas is preadjusted to every variation in temperature or altitude before it is placed on sale in your locality. Hot—cold—rain—shine—from sea level to mountain peaks, it's all the same to Mobilgas.

The outstanding advantages of Climatic Control are yours in Mobilgas without extra cost . . . plus the fact that Mobilgas gives you the highest ANTI-KNOCK performance of any regular priced gasoline. Fill your tank today . . . you'll notice a great improvement!

* CLIMATIC CONTROL...

. . . is the preadjustment of the specifications of Mobilgas, before it is placed on sale in your locality. It automatically adapts itself to the variations in "engine heat", caused by changes in temperature, altitude, humidity and road "pull". In the Mobilgas Research Laboratories all these changing climatic conditions have been "manufactured" in hot and cold testing-chambers. The road performance of Mobilgas is thus scientifically verified at different "engine heats".

September Brides-Elect Honorees At Parties

Courtesies to charming young girls who will become September brides were features of society interest Tuesday evening. Mrs. J. M. Wright entertained a group of friends at her home, announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Zoe Louise (Babe), to Darby S. Anderson. The reception suite was beautiful with cut flowers and ferns.

Tiny wedding bells decorating tallies and score pads were in the chosen colors of the bride-elect, silver, blue and white, and these used on six tables arranged for progressive games made an exquisite motif that was further emphasized in two clever contests following the games. Each guest was given an addressed blue envelope stamped with a silver wedding bell; these envelopes contained puzzles which proved to be photographs of the bride-elect and her fiance. The second contest featured a game in which white wedding bells bearing the names Babe-Darby were given guests who formed words from the letters in the names.

Miss Nellie Mae Ross and Mrs. Elizabeth Jacobs won high score gifts, which they in turn presented to the honoree.

The entire wedding news was told in the unique plate favors which were tiny white scrolls tied with bows of blue and carrying a silver bell, which unrolled showed engraved the words, "Babe-Darby, Sept 4, 1932."

Refreshments were served to the honoree and to Misses Martha Johnson, Louise Roberson, Alta Saye, Virginia Allen, Nellie Mae Ross, Marie Beaty, Ollie Pauline Kimbell, and Ella Mae Kimbell, Ada Hall, Mae Bartlett, Beulah Trammell, and Mesdames George Thorburn, Fred Sehmann, L. A. Walther, Melvin McDonald, Glenn Haynes, Lemuel Park, Reuben Johnston, Royal Jacobs, Misses Ellen and Elizabeth Wright and the hostess.

Miss King Honoree

Bridge appointments, prizes and refreshments in orchid and yellow were used as the chosen colors of another bride-elect, Miss Lucile King, when Miss Louise Kay and Mrs. C. V. Reynolds entertained at the Kay home on Tenth street with a pretty bridge. Miss King will become the bride of Cline E. Morris, Sept. 10. Mrs. John C. Kay assisted in entertaining.

Miss Mary Catherine Gould was winner of high score prize; Mrs. Irvin J. Vogel of second high and Mrs. Bert King won the pretty cut prize. Each presented her trophy to the honoree, who was recipient of a lovely pewter pitcher as the gift of the hostesses.

The guest list included Misses Lucille King, Roberta King, Elizabeth Carrigan, Mary Catherine Gould, Sadie Fisher, Marietta Hunt, Isabel Stone, Doris and Reva Rae Brown, Adeena Kouri, Mary Ziegler, Sara Creath, Lena Fisher, Elizabeth Gilbert and Mesdames Bert King, J. S. Minton, Lindel Stone, Frank Higginbotham, Melvin Hobbs, Irvin J. Vogel, John Ebner, Marconi Hobbs, L. A. Reid and Seth Moore.

Cisco Visitor Honored With Pretty Bridge

Mrs. Paul Pond was hostess Wednesday afternoon to a group of members of the sub-deb set entertaining her sister, Mignon Clark of Cisco at a pretty bridge party. Cut flowers made her rooms colorful.

The high score prize was awarded to Elizabeth Huff and the cut to Louise Cookenboo of LaPort. The pretty young honoree was presented with a dainty favor.

The guest list included Joan Hoffman, Gwendolyn Voelcker, Mary Eleanor Clement and her guest, Louise Cookenboo, Mary Louise Bailey, Bonnie Jean Lincoln, Patsy McGregor, Elizabeth Huff, Ruth Mary Connor, Dorothea Lyle, Ruth Ferguson and the honoree, Mignon Clark.

So Listless...What's the Matter?

A Despondent Young Girl

SHE looks despondent, listless. Young girls budding into womanhood often get quiet, wistful and they should be watched.

During this "trying time" every young girl needs the helpful benefit of a strengthening medicine like Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mother, won't you give your daughter the Vegetable Compound? Records show that it helps 98 out of every 100 women who use it. Ask your Chemist for a bottle of the liquid or the convenient tablets.

A bit of contrast always makes a frock appear neat and clean. It is very refreshing applied as vestee and cuffs on this model of printed cotton. It is a simple frock, easily made, but the lines are especially good for the larger figure. The scalloped edges and seaming are mighty effective. Long sleeves are included.

Pattern 2224 may be ordered only in sizes 32 to 52. Size 38 requires 4 yards 36-inch fabric, and ½ yard contrasting. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included with this pattern.

Our Children

By ANGELO PATRI

WASHING THE DISHES

"Please, Mr. Patri, tell me what I can do to make my little daughter wash the dinner dishes without a fight. I do all the housework for six people and all I ask her to do is this one thing. Every time she cries and fusses and has to be driven to the job. Don't you think she ought to help me that much?"

Yes, I think a little daughter ought to help her mother by washing the dishes. Most little girls like to help about the house if the job is not overwhelming. The trouble with the dishes is just that. Most of the time the task looks so formidable that the child is discouraged at the start.

Make the job attractive. The sink is built for a grownup person. The child has to have something to stand on to reach the basin comfortably. Have plenty of hot water. Clean all the plates and stack them in neat piles. Sort the silver, place the glasses by themselves. Have clean towels handy. If you have a gay dishpan with pretty towels that helps.

Give the little girl a pretty rubber apron. And a cap. Now she feels important and trim and efficient, just like a uniformed nurse. The neat stacks of dishes, the shining pan, the pretty towels appeal to her instincts of order and beauty and she is happy to wash the dishes.

Wash the pots and pans yourself. This is easy to do if they are filled with hot water the moment they are emptied. A child cannot handle pots and pans with any degree of skill so keep them out of the game until the girl gets old enough and strong enough and experienced enough to handle them. Then equip her for the fray. Give her the soap and the powders and the cloths and teach her how to make them shine. Girls like to keep the kitchen shining and pretty. Nobody wants to work with dingy pots and pans in a drab room.

A kitchen ougt to be attractive. A house mother has to be in the kitchen a big portion of every day. Then why not make that room just as pretty and bright as you can make it? There are so many attractive things for the kitchen these days, and the prices are so reasonable that one can make a kitchen sing for a penny. Paint helps cover a multitude of discouraging furnishings and gay paper, oilcloths, shining pots and pans, will do the rest.

I think a lot of the trouble we have in teaching girls to do the work of the kitchen is caused by their mother's attitude toward it. If a mother grumbles about the kitchen, if she looks down on the kitchen work as menial and beneath her, what can she expect of her daughter? No girl wants to demean herself and if mother says kitchen work is demeaning, who is daughter to say her nay?

A kitchen ought to be a laboratory for the household. It ought to be attractive. The people who work in it should be proud of the job as indeed they may well be. It requires intelligence and skill of a high order to maintain and run a kitchen efficiently. There is nothing cheap about the job save the attitude of the misplaced worker who scorns it.

Make the kitchen a lovely place to work in, be proud of the work you do there, and daughter will willingly help. That has been our experience in schools for years.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing stamped, addressed envelope for reply.

Modern 'Undress' For Beach Given E. Post's Approval

By EMILY POST
Author of "Etiquette, the Blue Book of Social Usage"

A generation or two ago, before ease and urge of travel made distant nations neighbors, the manner in which each took its seaside bath was not only characteristic but, to all of the others, shocking. Europe held up its hands in horror of American "mixed bathing," while America blushed at the variations of undress within Europe's carefully roped enclosures, which segregated but in no way hid the women from the men. At the so-called "naughty" French resorts, criticism was perhaps a sop to conscience, as bated attention leveled itself upon the steps of the bathing machines. Barring the French, the other nations, including our own, held one belief in common: Ugliness was the infallible proof of morality.

Few girls swam then. How could they, in thickest of stockings and stoutest of garters and corsets, a tight-fitting waist lining and then loaded down with yards and pounds of water-soaked flannel? The few who surmounted this handicap displayed their accomplishment complacently, swimming 50 of 100 gentle breast strokes, with heads held high out of the water in emulation of swans. Compare this picture with that of modern girls who swim and dive like seals—all of them! Which is wherefore that they dress seal-fashion too.

At the beach, yesterday, one of the last blue-flannel survivors said to me: "Well, really one might as well go nudist altogether since that is what we've come to! I'd like to know what you think! I trust you don't approve of young women in these one-piece jersey suits?"

"Young women? I do! Old women? Decidedly not!"

And that is just the point! "Modesty," says the cynic, "is consciousness of one's own imperfection," which is one of those smart-sounding, half-way truths. Consciousness of imperfection should make one want to hide, but unhappily for the beauty-loving frequenters of beaches, the modesty of unsightliness is no more to be relied upon than the brazenness of beauty. If only the hideous would hide themselves, beaches would be 100 per cent beautiful instead of 50.

That which constitutes actual propriety or the contrary depends not so much upon effect as upon intent. Certain of the most celebrated European beaches, which in description differ in no way from our own, are in reality basically opposed. In France and Italy sex is always dominant, whereas in America it seems scarcely to count.

At beaches such as Trouville-Deauville or the Lido, not more than 25 per cent of those clothed for bathing go into the water; certainly not more than five per cent swim. The morning bathing hour is the morning exhibition hour for feminine allure, and while the orchestra plays attention is centered upon the sirens and manequins displaying their wiles and whatever of anatomical beauty each may possess, under the sheltering awning of tents or capannas, or basking in the sun. Little, if any, interest is taken in the water—at least not further out than wading depth.

Our own beaches may at first impression seem much the same. The difference is in the shifted point of interest. In America, attention is centered not upon the sands but in the water. The entire 100 per cent are swimmers. The life of the American beach is out on the rafts, the spring boards, the surf boards. The smallest children are "water babies," wriggling about in doughnut shaped life preservers gaily painted to look like ducks or frogs or other aquatic animals.

As for bathing undress, the question of propriety all depends upon the how and wherefore. To say that every feminine bather in America is white flower innocent, and every European flamingly red, is of course ridiculous, but the typical seal-swimming young athlete to be found in unlimited numbers on every one of our beaches is nevertheless almost unknown and certainly not understood in many continental watering places. Gone almost nudist, in a pair of thigh-length trunks and a bib, the typical young American girl is as a matter of fact an ideal and singularly beautiful picture of vitality and grace and youth. There are plenty of Americans who are sensualists, of course, but American youth by the most part is thinking of something else. Certainly the typical American boys of today think no more of a girl's bare back or legs than they think of their own. The real allure of the beach is the sun and water and sand, to which is added the exhilarating effect of gaiety suggestive more than anythin else of the circus, in that all the colors of the palette find their echo in the running and laughing, the squealing and splashing of children who always dominate the typically American scene.

Mother Seeks Word Of 12-Year-Old Son

Fearful over the long absence of her 12-year-old son, Mrs. Bettie J. Dolman, 2142 Avenue F, Wednesday offered a description of the boy and asked that all citizens of Wichita county aid her in the search.

The boy, Elbert Dolman, has been gone since Aug. 20, and is believed to have started to Royalty, Texas, where his father resides. He is about 4½ feet tall, weighs 98 pounds has brown eyes and hair and is heavily tanned.

The missing youth is well known in Wichita Falls, having recently established a salesmanship record of 300 magazine sales a month.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

The eclipse was really a thing of interest around 2:30 o'clock Wednesday. On the street corners downtown people of all ages stood round peering upward through smoked glasses.

"Why don't we have a full eclipse," we overheard one young girl ask another, and the answer came crisply, "Why we can't afford it. This is in the time of depression and nothing is full in value," whereupon they giggled.

We said once that we never intended to use that word "depression" again in our column. We will not except to tell of some foolish thing such as this. It is a word we would sincerely like to see eliminated from the dictionary. Something else might be coined to describe dents upon the earth.

The cheeriest soul we have ever known on earth was an old woman known to the entire community in which we lived as a girl as "Granny." She never did grow really old and she was a part of community life until the night she died alone in her sleep. But no matter how hard the times of that day were, she never admitted it.

She had an excellent cook, (old Betty probably drew about $3 per week for preparing three hearty meals each day), so Granny was free. Early each morning she started on her rounds. Our family was one of the group she visited daily and we had no secrets. We remember that our father and her son were rivals in their early gardens and how furious our father became when she walked into his well tended rows, picked the first ripe tomato of the season and carried it away in her capacious apron pocket to show the neighbors before he himself could spread the news.

We never had a new dress (our mother always made them) that a sample did not get into Granny's pocket and all the neighbors knew what we would come forth in, before we could wear the garment.

We can see her plump old figure as if it were yesterday; she would stand on our corner and call to a farmer, "Heigh, what have you to sell?" Farmers brought their fresh produce to town in wagons then, and made better money selling from house to house than delivering to a grocery store.

But there was never a new baby that Granny was not there to officiate (it was before the day of trained nurses); there was never a person sick that she was not ready to "sit up" with them; there was never a death, that she did not "lay out the body."

She knew all the news and all the jokes and her bright brown eyes twinkled as she told things. All who knew her respected her tongue, even though it never grew morose, and feared the extent of her knowledge, if they had secrets to keep.

We have often wondered what Granny would have thought of woman's suffrage. She believed that all women should stay in their homes, except herself, and we know the opinion she had of the saloon. Her son, the father of children older than ourself, had a regular monthly drunken spree. We have seen him reeling down the street and have run into our home in fear. But he had a home and money in the bank. The family knew what luxury was.

Liquor was the crowning curse of the world to Granny, but in spite of that, it never made her acknowledge the world a bad place. She was a person of Victorian ideals and 1932 methods. But her name was blessed in many homes.

Rebekahs Entertain At Evening Picnic

Mesdames Mamie E. Moore, Maude Davis, Esther Pack, Mildred Hodges, Myrtle Hodges, Myrtle Ramsey and Messrs. G. H. Haynes, G. D. Shamwell and Hartfield were hostesses and hosts Tuesday evening when 50 members of Panhandle Rebekah lodge 236 and their families enjoyed a picnic supper, followed by a dance and games at the I. O. O. F. hall. Plans for the event at Haven park were upset by the inclement weather.

Long white covered tables were decorated with bowls of pink roses, crepe myrtle and ferns and after the invocation by Allison Moore, a delicious menu was served. Judge H. J. Bruce served as a clever toastmaster.

Dancing, bridge and 42 were the evening's diversions.

Shepherd Tells Lions Of Jubilee Pageant

Interesting details incident to the history of Wichita Falls from the town's earliest beginnings are to be depicted during the golden jubilee pageant during the last week of September, R. E. Shepherd, chairman of the pageant committee, told members of the Lions club at their weekly luncheon Wednesday noon at the Wichita club.

Oklahoma Comanches will aid in representing the days of Indian life in this area. Pioneering activities, with ox teams and prairie schooners will follow in the portrayal. Beginnings of school, church, and civic activities in Wichita Falls also will be represented, and the robbery of the old City National bank at Seventh and Ohio will be re-enacted.

Reports of baseball games played at Fort Worth this week by local playground teams, sponsored by the Lions club, were made by James King. Wichita Falls youngsters captured four out five games.

Plans for a membership drive to be made during the next three months were discussed.

Music was furnished by the Lonesome Four, a stringed instrument quartet made up of J. A. Marley, Manny Marley, Willie Guyton, and Leon Gibbs, who have been frequent performers this summer on the city park department's free vaudeville programs.

Leads 'Godless'

Emilian Yaroslavsky, above, head of the "Godless society" in Soviet Russia, recently told American tourists in Moscow that his group now has more than 5,500,000 members and that these represent only a fraction of the atheists in that country. Yaroslavsky stated, however, that there are still 100,000,000 Russians who profess religion, and said that "some children are still being given religious training at home in spite of the efforts of our public schools to prevent it."

A Washington Bystander

HERBERT HOOVER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 1.—Had it not been for campaign necessities, the corps of cameramen invading President Hoover's Rapidan retreat likely would not have been invited. Mr. Hoover's ideas on that score are well known.

Still, a presidential campaign is a presidential campaign. No present-day candidate can afford to overlook the newspapers and news reels.

Whether or not he likes to have his picture taken, he must let the people who get their news by eye from the picture pages and the movie reviews see him in various poses.

Back in that White House heyday of the cameramen, the Coolidge administration, there was no trouble about it. Mr. Coolidge apparently did not mind posing before the cameras.

A Good "Build-Up"

Who does not recall Coolidge in the 10-gallon hat, Coolidge at the traps, Coolidge in boots, whipping a trout stream, Coolidge in an outsize yachting cap, sailing away down the Potomac on a week-end cruise Coolidge pictures are probably more numerous than Coolidge utterances in the files. And who is to say what part they played in establishing him in popular fancy?

President Hoover has been quite another problem for the camera crews. Aside from those largely formal occasions at the White House when he has posed with some distinguished visitor, been pictured presenting a medal or a cup or receiving a birthday cake or what-not, there have been few intimate Hoover camera studies for the public to gaze upon.

No Monopoly, No

Governor Roosevelt had that field all to himself for a time, what with his yachting, swimming and other out-of-door likenesses seen so much after his nomination.

And, regardless of his feeling about the dignity of his office or the desire for home-like privacy at his Virginia fishing camp, it appeared likely from the first that Mr. Hoover would find it expedient to call in the cameramen sooner or later.

And a Hoover obeying camera directions, changing his clothes, fishing, walking and all the rest of it, is a wholly new Hoover.

Hearing Set Friday In Oklahoma Assault Case

ARDMORE, Okla., Aug. 31. (UP)—Oscar Brandon and Albert Ellis, Ada, face preliminary hearing on armed robbery and criminal assault charges Friday, Carter county officers said today.

The charges were filed in the attack on Jo Anna Weber, 19-year-old Fort Worth girl, and the robbery of her family on the Sulphur-Ardmore highway Sunday night.

Ellis, confused by officers with Aussie Elliott, fugitive from Granite reformatory, confessed, officers said, to the robbery charge but denied the assault charge.

His identity was established by fingerprints.

Brandon was held in the state penitentiary at McAlester where he was taken for safe keeping after his arrest.

Don't Sacrifice the Character Agencies

A QUESTION which is going to be raised in nearly every city in the land during the community chest campaigns this fall was brought up in a letter to a Cleveland newspaper the other day by Mr. Joseph J. Lopresti, who contends that 50 per cent of the chest dollar goes to "petty, parasitic bureaucracy," and then goes on to point out that he means such agencies as the Boy Scouts and the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Lopresti's argument is answered just about as effectively as possible by Newton D. Baker, national chest campaign head, in a letter to the same newspaper.

"The peril of our civilization is not a dearth of material things," Mr. Baker says. "The real danger is that this glittering, material civilization will dwarf individual character and that personal integrity and industry and thrift and reverence will be lost sight of in a high-speed, industrialized society which has broken many of the molds in which character used to be formed.

"I am sure that Mr. Lopresti will agree with me," Mr. Baker goes on to say, "that the ideal for our race is that they should be strong and wise and love beauty rather than that they should be well fed and selfish and satisfied like cows in long grass.

"As a matter of fact, character is essential to happiness and the character-building agencies are indispensable to any effort which confronts poverty, want and disease," he says.

Mr. Baker then discusses the plan for immediate relief for unemployment by shorter working hours and the shorter working week, and concludes with "Indeed, I am persuaded that the answer to these problems and a relief from these distresses will come chiefly from the building up in us of that very character which for the moment Mr. Lopresti impatiently discards."

It is doubtless true that many persons will fail to see the reason for not spending—for the time being—nearly 100 cents of every dollar available for bread and meat for the destitute.

But at the same time it is also true that the character-building agencies were never more needed than now—that they have never faced a harder, more important task; that they have never accomplished so much with so little.

And if all these things are considered—and they must be before any hasty action is taken—one cannot help agreeing with Mr. Baker that "character-building agencies are indispensable to any effort which confronts poverty, want and disease."

Dallas Reports Great Market

DALLAS wholesalers and retailers are jubilant over the rousingly successful annual fall market. Indeed, wholesalers are reporting the best business experienced by them since 1929, due to the upturn in cotton prices and improved business tone in general. As for the local business men, they declared that the optimism and the crowd in Dallas in connection with the market season have proved a tonic stimulant to local business. An additional 1,000 buyers were in the Dallas markets during the final week, giving a total for the month of August of well over 4,000.

Firm after firm, it is said, with the highest credit rating and larger sizes of business done, sent their representatives this year. Members of the wholesale market affirmed that the most favorable factor of business outlook is that, with cotton advancing, the replenishment of retail stock begun in August will undoubtedly call for continuing purchases throughout the fall and the winter.

Speaking of business in the nation, wholesale commodity prices advanced one per cent in July, and a similar gain likely will be shown in the monthly index for August. As for the petroleum industry, The Lamp, mouthpiece of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, expresses satisfaction over the general improvement in the statistical position of the oil industry and in the earnings of the oil company. Building activities the nation over are very encouraging to the experts of the trade, and they are predicting increased activities in the fall months of the year.

The Waistline Battle Line

WAISTLINES—always a troublous problem—are back in the news. They are, it seems, the chief news of the new fashion season and about them wages a controversy. Shall the feminine waistline be placed just below the armpits as Paquin, Chantal and Maggy Rouff—all famous designers—place it or shall it drop down on the hips as Jean Patou—equally celebrated—insists it shall be?

This is the great fashion controversy of the fall. Disinterested observers who consider the subject trivial should remember what the short skirts-long skirts argument did to the nation, what the tempest over Empress Eugenie millinery did to household peace and tranquility.

And now American designers have come forward with the announcement that the normal waistline is the most artistic and becoming. That makes three choices of waistlines.

Meanwhile, what is Mrs. Average American to do about the situation? A waistline she must have, and with Paris in disagreement who is to tell her where it shall be? Waistlines are battle lines and even on the sidelines any one can see there's trouble ahead.

High Alimony as a Divorce Cause

JUDGE HERBERT L. CARPENTER of Providence, R. I., just about hit the nail on the head the other day when he said, in ruling on an alimony case, that one of the reasons why divorce is so popular is that ex-wives get more money than wives.

In reducing a landscape gardener's alimony from $28 to $10 a week, Judge Carpenter pointed out that the man had earned just $716 since February, and that his ex-wife had collected $28 each week.

Simple arithmetic shows that the ex-wife had received just about the total amount of the money her ex-husband had earned in six months of hard work.

If we had more men like Judge Carpenter on the bench, we would have fewer divorces.

On Broadway

(Copyright, 1932, Daily Mirror, Inc.)

Portrait of a Man Talking to Himself

I'm Getting annoyed listening to the local yokels who continuously prate about the past glories of Broadway...They bore you through the night into the yawning with their prattle about what the Grandest Canyon Used to Be and how little of it there is left....They swallow their brandy between gulps of reminiscences, and once these recallers get started, you're in for a good professional whine....They build up the glamour of Rectors and Churchills and Delmonicos and Mouquins until you begin to feel that you were born a few years too late to enjoy life and that the best thing you can do is to curl up and be sorry for your natal tardiness.... I've listened to the best talkers of this fading generation for 10 years, and for a long time they had me crying with them....Every speakeasy bar became a wailing wall.... "The old street isn't what it used to be....No sir! There's nothing left but orange juice hatches and cheap exhibitions of nude paintings and haberdasheries with eternal going-out-of-business sales....The theater is dead....The big stars are all working in Hollywood....The personality of a street that once was the cross-roads of the world has dwindled to that of side show freakishness....Oh, well, it was too good to last for long....How about another brandy?"....That's the wail of the city-slicker....The fellow who refuses to recognize the years beyond 1921.

But the chorus is moaning low. ...Somebody put pennies on their eyelids and the money isn't big enough for them to pocket....So, they go through their life half-blinded....It is hard to feel the pulse of Broadway if you haven't a pulse of your own....And it's hard to know Broadway if you're going to limit it to a few buildings and side-streets....Or to the tawdry stores that line its pavements or to the ugly structures that hem it in. ...Or to the chiseling half-wits that comprise a good part of its everyday routines....Or to the down-at-the-heel bread-liners who have been shunted from city to city and finally wind up with the Big Crowd. ...But that isn't Broadway and never has been....The factor that these wailers miss entirely is that Broadway never was simply a street....Broadway is a state of mind, an attuning of one's self to the vast surge of forces that seethe for recognition....Broadway is New York, and therefore one of the most important creative centers of the world....The glamor of creation never ceases....It's only the lugs who waste their nights around the moaning-board who stop living.

If you want to know how alive the old stem is, let me introduce you to the young blood that comes pumping its way into the Main Artery every day...There's that little lass from New Orleans who galloped full-shod into town for two roaring weeks...She writes a gossip column in one of her local papers, and her idols are the big columnists of Broadway...Beneath the sophisticate brim of her hat there is a youthful face that longs for the steaming existence of New York...She isn't more than 21, but she has a keen sense of proportion and a fine understanding..."All I know about Broadway is what I have read and been told by those who visited here," she confessed. "This is my first trip, and I am plenty excited about it...And Broadway is just what I expected ...Big, open, and full of promises that you have to collect...But I like it...It's glamorous. Why, after three days I feel as though some one had injected dynamite into my veins...I've read all about Broadway's past, and I've perused a thousand stories about the so-called death-knell which prohibition rang over its long trail...But to one who lives a thousand miles away, these dead pictures of the past mean nothing...You can't feel them any more, but you can feel the present scene...I doubt very much that Broadway means as much to you who live on it as it does to those who seldom or never get here... The glamor and influence of Broadway has seeped into every village in the country...Every novice composer and painter and writer is working to a goal that will bring him to recognition on your Main Stem...Every midwestern housewife looks to Broadway for her future romance...Why, if Broadway weren't the most alive spot in the world, it couldn't nurture the great army of widely-read New York columnists."

That's why I'm tired of listening to the dead heads who still consider themselves part and parcel of the street...The directions that Broadway travels change constantly, but there is no doubting that Broadway is relentlessly active... And restless, wholesomely restless ...And out of its milling hordes new genius rises every day to astound the world...And with it comes new glamors.

But the street noises of Broadway...Now there's an entirely different subject!...Once you heard the general clatter of subway rumbles, automobile screeches and shrieking newsboys...And you were thrilled by its pitch and fever... But, today a 10-minute stroll from the "L" crossing at 53rd down to 42nd St. leaves you limp with its meaningless cacophony...A swooping plane yells at you through its loud speaker that Mumbo Cigarets are kind to your fingers...The beating of jungle tom-toms throbs into your unsuspecting eardrums as you pass Loew's State...A picture on its screen has Africa for the locale...Over that 47th St. marquee you still look for the braying of papier-mache animals as they beat their tortuous ways thorugh the massed foliage from a 46th St. scenic studio...A hawker yells the secret wonders of his peep-show which you may now enter for 10 cents as compared with the 15-cent price of last week...A big inducement, indeed!...And I even heard a shop-keeper imploring a window-gazer to come inside and see the merchandise at closer range...This wasn't a particularly loud noise, but for one who has watched the actual physiognomy of the street disintegrate, it was sickening... That "Blessed Event" flicker is something to thrill about...It is magnificent movie magic...Lee Tracy gives the greatest performances of his career, and Warner Bros. are to be congratulated on the best portrait of a columnist.

Those street beggars are getting more and more demanding...A social worker said yesterday that 95 per cent of the lads who stop you with a plea for enough to "buy something to eat" are phonies... And that there is no reason for men to beg on the streets for food because there are sufficient food-distributing agencies to feed them all...The chap who stopped me yesterday asked for $2 "for a meal"... I asked him why the ridiculous sum and he startled me with his reply ..."You see I am pretty well dressed, don't you?" he started, and when I nodded in amazement, he continued: "It is hard for me to get people to stop. Most of them think I am asking for a match or the direction, but when I spring the two-buck request they invariably come to a halt...And out of every 200 I approach, one comes through...It's a lot easier than getting a dime from 20 people."... I'm anxious to read Charles Chaplin's tell-all story on his career in a forthcoming issue of the Woman's Home Companion...Some one called him the Shakespeare of the screen and I've always wanted to know what a Shakespeare does and thinks about...At any rate, there's only barely miss the heights are just like the rest of us, and regardless of what we say, I think we're always more interested in the fellow who goes so far we can never hope to touch him.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

THE LUMBER-JACK'S SHAVE—To prove that the timberman of today is just as rough and sturdy as he ever was, Paul Chriss of the Oregon Woods, assisted by a steel-nerved fellow faller, J. S. Babcock, gave a public demonstration of shaving with an ax at the 4-L club in Portland, on June 21, 1932. As deftly as the most expert of tonsorial artists, Chriss lathered the unflinching Mr. Babcock, and wielding his oversized "razor" easily and somewhat carelessly, gave the latter a perfect shave, and at the finish he broke the tense and determined silence of the audience by a laughing shout, "Next."

SYNOPSIS

Gypsy O'Malley lived with her wealthy grandmother, Nance O'Malley, on her Long Island estate after the breaking up of Gypsy's pleasure-mad, hard-drinking family. They had occupied a house on the estate until Nance dispossessed her son Jim in the hope that he and Gypsy's half-brother Jiggs would go to work. Her step-mother Peg had gone to Reno for a divorce and was found dead in bed, a half-emptied bottle of sleeping tablets beside her, the day after publication of the news that Peter De Whittey, young millionaire, had married. Gypsy's half-sister Angel, a show girl in the Follies, had an apartment on Park avenue. Disgusted by the drinking parties in her home, Gypsy had gone job-hunting. Returning home, she heard an airplane circling in the stormy darkness. She lighted a pail of gasoline as a flare and Brent Jamison, famous transatlantic flier, landed safely. He taught her to fly, assisted by Ted Colman. She fell in love with Brent but he was captivated by Angel's baby-faced beauty, and they became engaged. Angel was able to explain away newspaper reports that the wife of "Pinky" Delmar was going to sue for divorce, naming her as corespondent. Delmar was the owner of Jamison field, where Gypsy got her pilot's license. He entered her for the women's air races and had a racing plane built specially for her. Jiggs went to call on his grandmother with Mary O'Day. Her father owned a garage and Jiggs was working there. Mary impressed Gypsy and her grandmother very favorably.

Now Go on With the Story

INSTALMENT XXV

The next day after Jiggs' visit with Mary O'Day Gypsy came home to find a letter from her father. She opened it with trembling fingers wondering why he was writing to her.

Several times she had phoned him at his apartment studio in the Village since Peg's death but he had seemed to want to be alone. Both she and Gram decided it was best to respect his wishes. When he felt like coming to see them he would.

It was not a real letter she saw with a keen little stab of disappointment but a few lines scrawled in his childish handwriting. A short clipping from The Star was pasted to the bottom of the page. She could scarcely believe her eyes when she began to read it.

"Dear Gypsy and Mother: The enclosed clipping will explain how busy I have been lately. I was keeping it for a surprise. See you soon. Love—Jim."

Gypsy read the clipping, her eyes widening in amazement.

"James Hurley O'Malley, wealthy Long Island society man, will bring out a book of poems next month. The volume, published by Bradwin & Heller, is titled 'Fallen Leaves.' The publishers believe it will be the outstanding work of its kind of the year—if not of several years."

Her father had found himself at last. He had accepted Marsha Coyle's offer to publish his poetry. She pictured him in his studio writing to ease the pain of loss and disillusionment and her heart contracted with pain for him.

If the book made money he could pay Marsha back and pay his other debts. Then he could regain his self-respect and the respect that others had once had for him.

It seemed incredible that Gram's scheme to make the O'Malley men go to work should have produced results so soon. Jiggs was busy working from early morning till late at night in the O'Day garage, and her father had burst forth as a poet.

Only Angel seemed to remain her selfish, indifferent self through everything that had happened in the few weeks before. It was a coincidence that Gypsy should have been thinking about her when old Bridget knocked on the door.

Bridget had the evening paper in her hand and the shocked look on her face told Gypsy before she spoke that something else had happened.

"Miss Gypsy," Bridget's voice trembled, "sure I was just bringin' in the evenin' paper when the headlines caught me eye—and will you look at this. Your sister all over the front page."

Gypsy grabbed the paper.

"Play-Boy Husband Shot in Love Nest; Follies Beauty Escapes Irate Wife," she read in glaring headlines.

"An after-the-theater supper party for two," the story stated, "was rudely interrupted last night when Mrs. Horace ('Pinky') Delmar suddenly burst in on her husband and his show girl friend in what was said to be their love nest on Park avenue.

"Mrs. Delmar took one look at the champagne bucket—cool and inviting on the table—and at the beautiful vision in black who sat beside her husband, and fired two shots point-blank. One went wild, the other landed in hubby's arm.

"No one knew exactly what had happened to the girl—Angel O'Malley, Follies show girl—until today. She was found hiding in a room far up in the top of the Hotel Belgen."

Gypsy suddenly realized that Bridget was still standing looking at her.

"It's terrible," she sobbed. Bridget put her hand on Gypsy's head. "Sure, dearie, you can't be after helpin' what that one does. She's made her bed and you just be lettin' her lie in it. I wouldn't have showed it to you but I thought you ought to know."

"Of course." Gypsy wiped the tears from her eyes. "You should have given it to me. Oh—I'd hate for Gram to find it out."

"She will," Bridget said sensibly. "You best should show it to her yourself—and maybe do a little explaining."

"I will." Gypsy got up miserably and went to Gram's room.

Gram was in her usual spot knitting by the window. When she saw Gypsy's tears and the newspaper in her hand, she laid her knitting aside and said calmly, "Now what has one of those nit-wits done? Who is it this time?"

Gypsy handed her the paper. "Angel—she's in a terrible mess."

Gram read the headlines without batting an eyelash. Gypsy was amazed at her seeming indifference. She watched Gram's face closely as she read and aside from a little sniff now and then it didn't seem to bother the old lady. When she had finished she looked over her glasses.

"Well! It's about time something happened that might pound a little sense into her head."

"I suppose I'll have to go over to her hotel," Gypsy said unhappily.

"I forbid you to do any such thing." Gram looked very stern. "We'll not go near her. Let her get out of this like she got into it. Did you know she was seeing this man?"

Gypsy told Gram the truth. How, the opening night of the "Follies" Angel had shown her the ruby Delmar had given her—and how she had reasoned with her to no avail. Then she told her of Delmar's kindness to her at the airport and Gram was shocked that he was Gypsy's sponsor in the air races.

"What shall I do, Gram?" Gypsy said miserably. "Do you think I dare fly in the races with all this publicity?"

Gram shook her head, puzzled. "You know best, child. There's a great deal at stake. I'd ask that nice Colman man about it. If he says for you to go ahead, I'd go."

Then Gypsy remembered that she hadn't yet told Gram about her father's new book of poems and she handed her the letter.

Gram's face lighted when she read it.

"We were right, Gypsy. I thought my boy couldn't be all no-good. All he needed was a little trouble—and to have his source of income shut off. If I'd been the right sort of mother when he was young he would have been a man long before this. I spoiled him."

Gypsy went back to her room with the paper and called for Gray to bring her the rest of the evening papers. They all gave the Delmar shooting affray a big display. From the most conservative one Gypsy learned that Mrs. Delmar had winged "Pinky" in the arm. It was just a flesh wound. They had gone home together—apparently reconciled.

Gypsy ached to go to her younger sister. But she knew Gram was right. The family should not get involved with her—even if she was only 18 years old. It would be most embarrassing for Gypsy to get mixed up in the publicity.

The papers reviewed the other scrapes the O'Malley family had been in during the past few months and Gypsy wondered why it was always necessary to drag so many other people into a news story. There was the story of Jiggs and the death in the car crash of "Fluffy" Little. Because Peg's death was still fresh in the minds of the public, every paper mentioned it. Three hinted strongly that the Long Island matron, in Reno for a divorce, had committed suicide.

Gypsy remembered then that Brent Jamison also would see the papers. And she wondered what he would think now that he knew the truth.

Would Angel be able to blind him again? Or would he know that all these months she had been living a lie?

Q.—Was Oliver Wendell Holmes a jovial man?—E. S.

A.—Holmes's personal aspect was extraordinary and delightful. He had what Julian Hawthorne calls a "funny face." "It was round," he says, "with bright little eyes and a rather large mouth underlying an upper lip of considerable length. The nose was amiable but not distinguished; a very attractive visage; a sally of kindly wit seemed always about to come from it, and this expectation was constantly gratified. Holmes seemed uniformly in a merry humor—enjoying the world and mankind, and prompt to make it more agreeable to his fellows . . . an immortal comedy spirit possessed him."

Q.—Please give a short biography of Nils Asther.—D. H.

A.—He was born at Malmo, Sweden, the son of wealthy parents who wished him to enter the diplomatic service. Against their wishes he left the Royal academy at Stockholm and entered a dramatic school in Copenhagen. Graduating from there, he played several stage roles until Maurice Stiller, Swedish cinema director, gave him a role in one of his pictures. He was with UFA for two years, and spent some time in Russia. While appearing in Berlin, he received an invitation to visit Hollywood, where he has been under contract since.

Q.—Are farm wages much reduced now?—R. C. L.

A.—Farm wages are the lowest in 30 years. Wages per day without board vary from a minimum in South Carolina of 55 cents to a maximum in Massachusetts and Rhode Island of $2.60. Wages per month with board range from $12.80 in South Atlantic states to $29.40 in far western states.

Q.—Where was Zane Grey, the author, born?—N. D.

A.—He was born at Zanesville, Ohio.

Q.—How far has an aviator fallen before opening his parachute in a safe descent?—J. W. G.

A.—The record for delayed parachute jumps is held by E. S. "Spud" Manning, who has since been killed. After an official calibration of the barograph he carried on a leap March 1, 1931, it was proved that he fell 15,265 feet before opening his parachute. The previous record of 9,600 feet was held by Rex Hardin.

Q.—How much must a world's record track mark be broken before there is a new mark?—E. K. F.

A.—The American Olympic association says that a better performance according to time would create a new record.

Q.—Is it true that a postage stamp is not a stamp?—D. E. F.

A.—The term, postage stamp, as used at the present time is something of a misnomer. When the adhesive stamp was first introduced it was known as a label. The stamp is really what we call the postmark.

Q.—Are the stock exchanges of New York, London and Paris under government control?—J. H.

A.—The stock exchanges of New York and London are not under government control, but the Paris bourse is subject to government control and supervision.

Q.—Do the students with high scholastic marks or the average students turn out to be more successful financially?—C. H.

A.—In a study of 809 graduates of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, it was shown that there is a definite correlation between scholastic ability and success. Taking graduates of the years 1917 to 1929, from the start the money makers stood out as men of the upper fifth of the class. Three years out of college they averaged $3,000 annually, and at 10 years $8,500. In contrast, the lowest fifth made $1,700 at three years and $2,400 at 10 years.

Q.—How many miles per hour did Kaye Don make in Miss England III at Loch Lomond, Scotland?—F. L. A.

A.—He made 119.81 miles per hour.

Athlete's Foot Is Becoming Common

This disease is increasing at an amazing rate.

The surgeon general of the United States public health service has stated that at least one-half of the adult population suffers from foot ringworm.

If you don't have it now, you may be next in line. The germs swarm in swimming pools and locker rooms, or any place where there is a common dressing room. They may be picked up from towels or rugs. Any occupation that entails long continued heating of the feet may aggravate an attack.

The disease is painful, and often dangerous. It is very contagious, and great care should be taken not to pass it on. Don't neglect this disease if you have it, and don't take any chances of getting it if you don't.

Send for a copy of Care of the Feet. It contains important information about athlete's foot as well as much general advice on the care and home treatment of the feet. Use this coupon at once, enclosing 10 cents in coin (carefully wrapped) to cover cost and postage.

OFFICER HURT DURING FIGHT

Wounded Fugitive Clubs Dallas Deputy

DALLAS, Aug. 31. (AP)—Deputy Sheriff Denver Seale received a deep cut in his scalp today when struck with a pistol in a hand-to-hand fight with a wounded fugitive he was trying to capture.

Seale and another officer rode past a car in which they saw Harold Oldham, wanted on a robbery charge. The officers turned around and overtook Oldham, forcing him to stop his car. Oldham fled on foot, Seale pursuing him. The other officer, Deputy Bob Alcorn, stopped to question a woman who was in the Oldham car.

Seale caught Oldham after chasing him around some buildings. The fugitive jerked loose, however, and tried to grab the officer's pistol. Seale fired, hitting Oldham in the wrist. Then Oldham grabbed Seale's pistol and wrested it from his hands.

Oldham stepped back a few paces, saying, "If you try to follow me I'll kill you."

Seale ignored the threat and rushed at the fugutive, who struck him on the head with the pistol. After knocking Seale to the ground, Oldham fled.

Police records showed that Oldham recently escaped from the Ellis county jail at Waxahachie.

Oldham was arrested several hours later. Officers found him hiding in a chicken house in the rear of a negro residence. When asked why he had resisted Seale, he said, "I just couldn't stand being taken back to jail at Waxahachie."

MANKINS TO OPEN SCHOOL

Many Improvements Made In Summer Months

Special to The Record News.

MANKINS, Texas, Aug. 31.—Mankins will ring the bell once again Monday morning, Sept. 5, to call children back to school.

Many improvements have been made during the summer months for the betterment of the school along every line. The school building has been cleaned thoroughly and inspected. A new gymnasium has just been completed and will enable Mankins to meet all other schools in athletics.

Five and one-half credits of affiliation have been added to the nine already affiliated credits, which leaves only one-half credit of affiliation to make the school a fully accredited high school.

Last year was the first year for Mankins to have a four-year high school, and the school board and faculty offer this as a sign of the school progressing fast to an A-1 fully accredited high school. Subjects affiliation was made in are English, bookkeeping, history, biology and economics.

Registration of seventh grade and high school students will be Saturday, Sept. 3, from 9 to 12 o'clock in the morning and from 1 to 4 in the evening.

All teachers have been assigned their duties by Supt. W. C. Kimbrough and are ready for work to begin.

PAPEN WANTS SPECIAL LAW

Chancellor Seeks Bill To Protect Reich

BERLIN, Aug. 31. (AP)—Chancellor Franz Von Papen will refrain from dissolving the new reichstag only if his cabinet is empowered by a special emergency law to govern for six months without parliamentary support.

The Associated Press learned of this decision today as officials of the new reichstag, which held its first session yesterday, were attempting to obtain an immediate audience with President Von Hindenburg for the purpose of attempting to convince him that the legislature was able to carry on parliamentary government.

Hindenburg Takes Time

Immediate audience was requested by Speaker Hermann Wilhelm Goering, a member of Adolf Hitler's National Socialist party, in a telegram sent to the president's home in Neudeck in East Prussia. The aged field marshal replied that next week, when he will be in Berlin, would be time enough for this conference. Government circles interpreted the reply as a rebuff to the Nazi speaker.

One of the chancellor's closest collaborators was authority for the statement that Herr Von Papen intends to proceed as though Herr Hitler no longer was a political factor.

The chancellor, it was explained, gave the Nazi chieftain two big chances—on Aug. 13 he offered to recommend to the president that Hitler be made vice chancellor and premier of Prussia, and at their famous luncheon Aug. 29 he peladed with Hitler to bury the hatchet and help reconstruct the Fatherland.

Hitler refused both times and now Chancellor Von Papen intends simply to ignore him, this collaborator asserted.

Backed by President

In this stand the head of the cabinet is backed by the president, who was outraged by Hitler's strong remarks concerning the death sentences imposed on five of his followers who were convicted at Beuthen of murdering a Communist in a political brawl. It was said that so long as Von Hinderburg is president Hitler will not be permitted to occupy any official position of power.

The president was represented as looking askance at all talk of a Nazi-Centrist coalition in the firm conviction that any such alliance must be unholy and calculated solely to upset the Von Papen government without putting something better in its place.

The chancellor, back in Berlin after having obtained the backing of the president in a conference yesterday at Neudeck, presided at a cabinet session today and continued work on emergency decrees which will legalize the government's economic program.

Armed with a signed but undated decree dissolving the reichstag, which he obtained from the president, the chancellor calmly awaited the next move of the parliament, biding his time for the most effective moment at which to end the session.

Secrecy was observed regarding coalition negotiations by the Nazis and the Centrists, but a Nazi spokesman expressed the opinion that "der alte" meaning the president—could not yet be forced to unseat Chancellor Von Papen.

ARCHER WOMEN IN QUILT BEE

Plan Proposed to Pay Back Salary of Pastor

Special to The Record News.

ARCHER CITY, Texas, Aug. 31.—Women of the Archer City Baptist church yesterday put into operation a plan by which they hope to pay their pastor's delinquent salary, amounting to $300, for the past year.

The plan provides for four "quilting bees," one for each circle of the church. Four quilts will be quilted, each quilt to contain 30 or more blocks 12 inches square, and each block to contain not less than 50 pieces. Members of the circle will contest by entering a block for the quilt, the block containing the most pieces to win the whole quilt. Each piece entered is accompanied by one cent.

The first quilt was finished Tuesday when 50 women of circle No. 2 gathered at the home of Mrs. Charles L. Abercrombie. The quilt contained 6,000 pieces, and was won by Mrs. Abercrombie, whose block contained 400 pieces. Mrs. J. R. Jones was second and Mrs. J. V. Longan was third.

Guests at the Abercrombie home were served with a delicious three-course luncheon.

Other circles of the church will hold similar contests during September.

'Fats' and 'Leans' Plan Second Game at Electra

Special to The Record News.

ELECTRA, Texas, Aug. 31.—The score for the "Fats" and the "Leans" baseball game which appeared in The Record News Wednesday was given as 10 to 0 instead of 10 to 9, as it should have read. The "Fats" kept close to the "Leans" in score throughout the game. They made 23 hits to 18 for the "Leans."

The game will be played over Monday due to several "articles of protest" which will be announced later. The protests indicate that the "Fats" plan to smear it on the "Leans."

NEW YORK, Aug. 31. (UP)—Nations of today can not call themselves Christian or civilized as long as they tolerate unemployment, the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America declared today in the annual Labor day Sunday message.

ARMY AND NAVY SIGN PACT TO RESUME ATHLETIC RELATIONS

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

Here's Your Chance

Taking a tip from the athletic department of the University of Texas, officials of the local high school this fall will give football fans a chance to see the opening Coyote game of the season free of charge.

All you have to do is name the Coyote starting lineup for the initial game of the season.

Fortunately, that game will be played on the local field. Ardmore, Okla., will be the visiting club, and the game will be played Friday, Sept. 30.

There are always from 50 to 150 or more onlookers at the practice field every day while the Coyotes go through the training grind. They appraise the worth or unworthiness of the lads one by one, and venture upon all sorts of wild predictions as to what this and that boy will do. This year they'll do the same thing, and through the generosity of school officials, they will get something substantial in the way of reward if their selections turn out right.

Picking a starting lineup, we can assure one and all, will be no easy task. Coach Jefferies himself probably won't know the identity of the 11 men first to take to the field for the Red and Black until a minute before game time. There will be more than 100 candidates to pick from, at the start. The problem is a big one and will require more thought than one would at first suspect. It will be necessary for every fan participating in the contest to take more than one look at the boys on the practice field.

The squad meets today for the first time. Equipment will be issued this morning, and practice is expected to begin in earnest Friday. The sooner you begin taking an interest in the squad the more likely you are to get a free ticket to the opening game.

The contest will be handled this way: Mail your selection to the Rambler. Go ahead and buy a ticket to the first game. Then if your starting lineup proves correct, you will be refunded the admission price.

As a matter of reader interest, this column probably will print a few of the selections turned in. It should be interesting to know, for instance, what some of our leading citizens consider a good quarterback, halfback, or whatnot. But we can't promise to print all the lineups submitted.

A Big Day

Today is a whopper, from the sportsman's viewpoint. Coach Jefferies will meet with his entire squad for the first time. The Wichita Falls Golf and Country club's fifth annual tournament will get under way unofficially, with all entries allowed to start their qualifying rounds. The dove season opens. The prairie chicken season opens. And maybe the Chicago Cubs will win another game.

Art for His Sake

Art Scharein has been doing his level best with the Browns since his adoption by the parent club, with the result New York sports writers are giving him no little consideration. And what is more important, the bigwigs of the Browns are perfectly delighted with Scharein's playing.

This is the gossip brought back to Texas by J. Alvin Gardner, Texas league president who returned recently from a minor league baseball meeting at Atlantic City. Gardner reports, according to the Dallas News, that Manager Bill Killefer of the Browns, after watching Scharein perform at third base, wanted to know why the kid had been buried so long in the Texas league; and Jimmy Austin, Browns' coach, declared Scharein had shown him more real third basing than any one he had seen play in many years.

To which Gardner replied: "You ought to see him on short or second, where he really belongs." Gardner pointed out that Scharein had played only 11 games at third in his whole career before being called up by the Browns.

If young Art can so impress his big league bosses at a strange position, his big league berth seems secure.

Just Pretense

"Do you let your husband have a latchkey?" asked Mrs. Newbride.

"Yes, I humor him that way," said Mrs. Oldun. "He likes to show it to his friends to let them see how independent he is."

"A good idea," put in the other.

"But," interrupted Mrs. Oldun, "it doesn't fit the door."—Answers.

School opens soon. Why not rent your bedroom or apartment to teachers or students? A small want ad in the Times and Record News may bring results.—Adv.

GRID TEAMS TO CLASH AGAIN

Three-Year Contract Signed Beginning Dec. 3

By ED FRAYNE
Universal Service Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 31.—The five-year athletic rupture of the United States Military academy at West Point and the Naval academy at Annapolis was healed tonight.

Relations broken in 1928 will be resumed with a football game to be played at Franklin field, Philadelphia, on Dec. 3.

Maj. Gen. William D. Connor, superintendent of the army school, and Admiral Thomas C. Hart, commandant of the naval institution, entered into a three-year agreement at a luncheon held at the Bellvue-Stratford hotel today.

Navy Loses Fight

In signing the armistice, Navy lost its fight to force Army to conform to intercollegiate eligibility rules which prohibit students from engaging in more than three years of college football. It was Navy's insistence on this clause in the 1928 contracts which caused Army to withdraw from further competition.

A statement signed by Admiral Hart, Capt. John W. Wilcox Jr., and Commander John L. Hall of Annapolis and Major General Connor and Major Philip B. Fleming of West Point, said:

"Faced with the situation under which postseason football games are repeatedly played very late in the year, to the detriment of the academic work of both institutions, the military and naval authorities have decided to arrange a three-year series of athletic contests.

"The arrangement is made without change in existent policies under which each institution fixes its own eligibility rules but without prejudice to any future position which either academy may take in the matter.

"The first contest of the series will be a football game to be played at Franklin field on the third of December, 1932. A portion of the net proceeds thereof will be devoted to charity."

Charities Insistent

The final paragraph doubtless embodies the chief reason for the resumption of relations. Economic conditions and the insistence of charitable organizations forced superintendents of the schools to play postseason games in 1930 and 1931.

It was realized finally that they would never be allowed to fight in peace. Neither would consent to make money for the other, and they wound up playing anyway and having little to say about the distribution of what they did make.

Army won both the 1930 and 1931 games by close scores. The first game netted $600,000 for the Salvation Army and the second yielded $400,000 for other charities.

President Hoover had no part in today's peace parley, although he has urged a reconciliation for some time. Personal friendship between Admiral Hart and Major General Connor was largely responsible for the results.

Admiral Hart was a guest of the army superintendent at the Poughkeepsie regatta, and afterward spent several days at the military institution. The ground work for today's agreement was laid here.

Detroit Tigers Nose Out 5-4 Victory To Square Series With Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 31. (AP)—Tony Freitas' winning streak was halted at 10 straight today as the Detroit Tigers nosed out the Athletics 5-4 and evened the series here at two victories apiece.

Freitas pitched only seven innings but during this time he served home run balls to Gehringer and Hogsett, his mound rival, and three blasts over the right field barrier gave the Tigers the margin of victory. Score:

SHIPPERS BEAT CATS, 6 TO 1

Easterling's Two Homers Help Hamlin

BEAUMONT, Texas, Aug. 31. (AP)—Paul Easterling's two mighty homers helped Luke Hamlin win his 20th victory of the season here this afternoon, the lanky Exporter right-hander pitching superbly in the pinches to beat the Fort Worth Cats, 6 to 1, and square the series. Paul's No. 33 home run of the year came in the fifth frame and tied the score, and he connected for No. 34 in the sixth with two men aboard. His first was over the left center wall 402 feet away, while his second four ply was over the scoreboard in right center, 422 feet from the platter. Preacher Thurman started for the Cats and gave Hamlin quite a battle until the big sixth. He went out for a pinch batsman in the seventh and Roy Appleton finished. Easterling also played a great game afield. The Exporters and Cats are squaring off in the last game of the season Thursday. Friday the Dallas Steers hit town and must step through a double-header, the first two games of a four-game tilt, a three-day stay that may decide the second half bunting. Score:

HUNTERS FARE FORTH TODAY

Season Opens on Dove And Prairie Chickens

To those of tender sentiments the mourning dove makes sweet moan and his song is imitated by composers, but to the huntsman it's just a good game bird and if there's any moaning done it's by the hunter who misses a good shot.

The moans of the huntsman will mingle with his cries of delight today as the open season on this fleet-winged creature gets under way. He may blast away for two months, provided he does not exceed the bag limit of 15 birds in one day or 45 in any period of six consecutive days.

The prairie chicken season, a three-day affair, also opens today, and while this may not interest the stay-at-homes, it is great significance to those who annually migrate to the distant prairie where these birds are fairly plentiful. Several parties of Wichitans Wednesday were either at the hunting grounds waiting for the season to open, or en route to the favored spots. Most Wichitans preferred the Seminole region for their hunting.

ARTIFICIAL LURE LICENSES EXPIRE

Fishermen devoted to the use of the artificial lure must be armed with a new license before engaging in their favorite sport today. The 1932 licenses expired yesterday.

New licenses may be purchased at any sporting goods store, at the county clerk's office, or from any game warden.

Walter Hagen And Al Watrous Beaten

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 31. (AP)—The wildest orgy of overtime matches in the history of modern golf shook professional championship play today, tumbling Walter Hagen and Al Watrous out of the title drive after dramatic, record-breaking struggles.

Hagen, gunning for his sixth professional crown, fell after a stirring battle that did not end until the 43rd green where his stubborn rival, Johnny Golden, of Norton, Conn., rolled in a 10-foot putt for a birdie four. Watrous was eliminated by wee Bobby Cruickshank of New York, who waged an uphill fight seldom equaled in golf to win on the 41st hole.

Both engagements, which capped a day of upsets that victimized such stars of the professional world as Horton Smith of Chicago, Charles Lacy of New York, Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., and Denny Shute of Cleveland, runner-up in the 1931 final at Providence, broke all records for overtime golf.

Skipper Burton of Munday will rely upon the pitching of Joe Bailey King, Sam Stone, southpaw, and Abbott, while Rochester will likely depend upon the offerings of the Pittman brothers and Austin.

DODGERS WIN TWO

CINCINNATI, Aug. 31. (AP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers' pitching staff displayed two radically different brands of hurling today as they defeated the Cincinnati Reds in double-header and advanced a half-game nearer second place. The scores were 7 to 1 and 11 to 10.

In the first game Bill Clark and Joe Shaute held the Reds to four hits while their teammates scored six of their runs in the eighth inning. In contrast, however, Manager Carey used six pitchers in the second game before finally getting the decision after Vance halted the Reds in the ninth. The Reds used three pitchers in the free hitting contest in which 34 hits were made. Scores:

THURMAN HILL PROTESTS TAX

Kansas Official Telegraphs Treasury Head

TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 31. (AP)—Thurman Hill, member of the Kansas Public Service commission announced today he had filed a protest with the treasury department against its ruling admitting napthas, distillates and commercial solvents derived from petroleum into the country at a tax of one-half cent a gallon.

"If this ruling is permitted to stand," he said in a telegram addresses to Secretary Ogden Mills, "it will defeat the purpose of congress in imposing an excise tax of two and one-half cents a gallon on imported gasoline and other motor fuels.

"Unless this ruling is set aside, the country will again be flooded with imported pretroleum derivities at great loss to the American producers and the responsibility for a breakdown in the oil stabilization program which has restored the industry to normal will be upon your department."

Commissioner Hill said the petroleum derivities could be used as motor fuels with the addition of some casing head gasoline. A hearing concerning the ruling, he said, would be held Sept. 8.

Billy Edwards And O'Brien To Scrap

Wrestling fans will be offered one of the most colorful cards of the year Friday evening at Govro arena with Billy Edwards, the Kansas City headlock king, taking on Pat O'Brien, the Wild Irish Rose, as the feature attraction. It will make the first appearance of Edwards here since his hectic battle several weeks ago with Juan Humberto which ended in a general free for all when the match was awarded to Edwards on a foul.

Pat O'Brien has for a long time been a well known performer in Wichita Falls, and the well liked Irishman has a great following here.

The semifinal will mark the return of Silent Condell after a few weeks' absence. He will battle Ted Travis, a new husky, for the 45-minute scrap.

Gulf Coast Wildcat Comes In as Gusher

BAY CITY, Texas, Aug. 31. (AP)—The North and South Oil company No. 1 Stoddard ranch, a wildcat eight miles southwest of here, blew in today, spraying oil estimated unofficially at 1,000 barrels daily.

The depth was 8000 feet in 100 feet of sand and shale.

The well is near the railroad tracks, and the crew of a passenger train passing by this afternoon extinguished the fire in the locomotive firebox to prevent igniting the spray.

Nearest production to the well is five miles to the northwest, in the Markham field.

Filling it Out

"Well, how do you like my new suit?" a man asked his friend as they seated themselves at their usual table for lunch.

"Not bad," replied the other, "Only there's a wrinkle in the vest. You ought to get rid of that."

Vernon Senators Even Playground Title Series

Special to The Record News.

VERNON, Texas, Aug. 31.—Scoring five runs in the opening frame, the first half champion Senators Tuesday evened the 1932 play-off series for the championship of the Junior Council Playground Baseball league by defeating the Yankees, second half title holders, 8-3, at the Shive Ward school diamond. The Solon victory brought the series standing to two victories for each club.

The Senators scored all of their runs in the first three innings, tallying twice in the second stanza, and adding another run in the third inning, after the first inning outburst. The Yankees scored one time in the first inning, and although threatening continually, could not score again until the final frame when they pushed across a pair of runs.

D. D. Moore, veteran ace of the Senator mound staff, held the Yankees to seven hits in chalking up his second victory without a defeat in the series. Bill Pearce, young Yankee star, was nicked for 10 hits, and four free passes issued by the Yankee moundsman aided in the win. Each club earned but two runs, most of the Senator runs coming across the plate after the side should have been retired.

Hubert Sewell led the hitting with three hits, including a triple, in four trips to the plate. Anderson of the Yankees and Weir, Farrell and Bourland of the Solons each collected two hits.

The fielding of the opposing third basemen, Coffey of the Yankees and Weir of the Senators, was a feature of the contest.

MOLLISON ENDS AIR ATTEMPT

British Flier to Return By Steamer

SYDNEY, N. S., Aug. 31. (AP)—Importuned by his wife, his physician and his flight backer, Capt. J. A. Mollison, the first airman to make a westward solo crossing of the north Atlantic by air, today abandoned his plan to return to England by plane.

Tomorrow Mollison will fly to Quebec and embark on the liner Empress of Britain.

His wife, the former Amy Johnson, herself a noted distance flier, had beseeched him to choose the more prosaic steamer passage after learning from his physician that his nerves were in a bad way.

Dr. Freeman O'Neil, Captain Mollison's host here had insisted the flier rest for at least three or four weeks.

Exhaustion plus lack of fuel made it impossible for the airman to reach his goal of New York when he made his westward crossing, and Aug. 19 he landed in a meadow at Pennfield Ridge, N. B. Subsequently he continued on to New York and on Monday, while en route to Harbor Grace, N. F., for the ocean takeoff, he bucked severe storms and fog and was forced to land on a farm at Coxheath, near Sydney.

BRIDE DECLARES FLIGHT FOOLISH

LONDON, Aug. 31. (AP)—"Everybody in aviation would consider him foolish if he started his flight immediately," Amy Johnson said today when she learned that her husband, Capt. J. A. Mollison, had decided to return to England by steamer.

Lord Wakefield, who backed the Atlantic flight, appealed to the captain to give up the return journey by air.

"All of Jim's friends are much disquieted by the message I received yesterday from Dr. O'Neil," Mrs. Mollison said. "I telephoned and cabled Jim, as a result of the message to abandon the flight."

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Aug. 31. (AP)—An apparent disposition to even up commitments following recent excited advances was reflected by irregular and rather violent fluctuations in cotton here during today's trading.

December contracts closed at 8.50, with the general market closing easy at net declines of 29@33 points.

Offerings increased after the publication of the weekly report of the weather bureau which seemed to read rather more favorably than anticipated.

One private crop report placed the condition at 59.5 and the indicated yield at 11,924,000 bales, while another made the condition 54.8 and the indicated yield 11,472,000. There were reports of beneficial rains in Texas, but the trade again seemed more interested in readjustments of the technical position than in the general news.

Liverpool said Bombay and Japanese selling had been absorbed by trade calling and covering but that Manchester was at a standstill with the strike spreading. Exports today 50,968, making 464,297 so far this season. U. S. port stocks 3,301,400.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 31. (AP)—Cotton was feverishly active today and prices after an early gain of more than a dollar a bale broke sharply under long liquidation which uncovered numerous stop loss orders causing a decline of nearly $3 a bale from the early highs. In the early trading prices advanced 23 to 24 points, but the subsequent declines forced prices down 58 points. The close was barely steady and close to the bottom, active trading months showing net declines for the day of 28 to 33 points. Several storm warnings during the day exerted but momentary influence.

Manchester cabled that the cloth and yarn markets were at a standstill and the weavers strike spreading. First trades here showed gains of 7 to 8 points and prices continued to advance after the start on the cables and on prospects that the gulf of Mexico storm would bring rains to the belt.

The weekly weather and crop summary issued early in the second hour was considered favorable.

Two private crop estimates were issued during the morning, one making the yield 11,924,000 bales and the other 11,472,000.

The market turned easy again during the middle of the afternoon owing to a renewal of long liquidation which again caught stop loss orders. Prices made new lows for the day near the end at 8:30 for October and 8.47 for December, down 58 points from the highs of the morning. There was a slight rally at the end and October closed at 8.32, down 32 points net for the day and December at 8.50, down 33 points net.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans tomorrow 22 to 25 penny points down.

Port receipts 24,280, for week 82,882, for season 399,305, last season 196,685. Exports 52,362, for week 135,069, for season 480,814, last season 191,091. Port stock 3,283,297, last year 2,710,777. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 71,148, last year 46,734. Spot sales at southern markets 20,397, last year 14,368.

CHICAGO COTTON

CHICAGO, Aug. 31. (AP)—Cotton was active but nervous. An early advance was turned into a larger decline. Final prices on the board of trade were barely steady, 27-35 points net lower. The opening was 4-11 points higher which was a poor response to cables that were about 15 penny points better than due. Further gains were made in early business when December advanced to 9.12. Then prices turned downward under general selling. Over three inches of rain fell at Del Rio and heavy rain at Mobile and Tampa. Showers are forecast for the southern part of the belt. The government weekly weather report was said to be not so unfavorable as expected.

Markets 'Under Control' But Issues Decline In Second Successive Day

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Aug. 31. (US)—For the second successive day in the stock market, railroad shares were the only major group today to show a net gain on the average.

Industrials and utilities continued sluggish though without reacting more than a point or less in most issues.

The bond list likewise continued irregular and lower, especially among the lower grade bonds.

Commodities, too, sold off further.

But the same eastern "merger rail" stocks which stirred the market to strength last week repeated their performance today. Under their leadership in the afternoon the general list recovered from the extreme lows but this comeback was insufficient to cancel, among industrials and utilities, their earlier losses.

Transactions totaled 3,000,000 shares.

Although the market continued "under control," so far as the prevention of drastic declines was concerned, it was quite apparent to disinterested observers that the creation of a new short account is very much sought by the sponsors of the market, especially is this the case with the industrials, in which conservative speculators and investors have been inclined to take profits on the theory that the upturn had outrun the improvement in business.

American Can and United Aircraft were among the few industrials to show an advance equal to the improvement in rails. Aircraft is favored at the moment by exceedingly aggressive sponsorship.

It appears that several speculators are interested in the aircraft advance, but each fears the other will carry the stock along should any of them sell, and for this reason all have been fearful of disposing of their respective lines. The net result is at least a temporary vacuum of offerings. The volume in the stock, of course, indicates the high degree of speculation.

Setbacks suffered by the wheat and cotton markets have been distinctly disappointing, especially so since many of the trade reviews have failed to disclose appreciable upturns in activity. The weekly electric power output report showed a decline of 12.3 per cent from a year ago, but the trend has been favorable for several weeks; a week ago the decline was 12.9 per cent and two weeks ago the drop was 13.1 per cent. In the smaller consuming lines, especially textiles, there has been a distinct pick-up of buying at wholesale. Some department stores especially are understood to be heavy buyers, hoping they will be able to dispose of their purchases to the public later in the year. The department stores have been rather barren of merchandise for a year or more, so that up to date they have been without inventory worries; only if the anticipated buying revival at retail fails to develop, will they become embarrassed by too-large inventories.

Heavy industries such as steel, of course, remains at low operating rates, and the automobile trade has been disappointing. The price strengthening, however, has spread to many fields.

The latest will be the pineapple trade, where an agreement among leading producers and dealers will shortly be disclosed. On the strength of this expectation Pacific coast sources were reported planning increased interest in Hawaiian Pineapple and California Packing.

Railroad shares, however, occupied the center of the market stage throughout the day. The bulls hope that maintained strength in this department finally will filter through the entire list. New York Central was the day's most active issue, rising above 29 for a net gain of 1¼. The most startling performer, however, was Delaware, Lackawana and Western, which closed up 6¾, with Reading, Delaware and Hudson, Lehigh Valley and Norfolk and Western sharing in the buying. The story that Lackawanna is sought by one of the big systems in competitive bidding would have more support if the supposed buying by the reconvening of the railroad managers' conference to devise ways and means of carrying out the eastern merger scheme approved by the Interstate Commerce commission.

TEXAS CASH GRAIN

FORT WORTH, Aug. 31. (AP)—Fair demand for the light offerings was reported on the Fort Worth cash grain market Wednesday.

Quotations ranged as follows, basis car loads on track at Fort Worth, freight paid, delivered Texas gulf ports, export rate, or Texas common points: Wheat—No. 1 hard, according to protein and billing 57½@59½c. Barley—No. 3 nominally 30½@31c. Sorghum—No. 2 milo, per 100 pounds 67@68c; No. 2 kaffir 66@67c.

Delivered Texas common points or group three: Corn—No. 2 mixed 40½@41½c; No. 2 white 44½@45½c; No. 2 yellow 47@48c, all nominal.

Delivered Texas common points: Oats—No. 2 red 23½@24c; No. 3 red 20@21c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 31. (AP)—Persistent liquidation smashed all grain prices sharply lower today, but last minute rallies brought some recovery. Weakness of stocks and cotton was the initial disturbing influence and the trade received no stimulus from the general crop news. The chief weakening factor was switching of position by traders. Selling of the September delivery of wheat and corn by brokers unwilling to accept delivery on contracts tomorrow was heavy and the resulting decline found many stop loss orders forced into execution. Buying of deferred months checked the decline. Oats and provisions eased with other grains.

Wheat closed weak and ⅝ to 1⅛ cents lower than yesterday's finish despite a rally at the close, corn ⅝ to 1⅛c off, oats steady to ⅛c down, and provisions showing a drop of 5 to 15 cents.

Weather and crop news, both here and abroad, were little changed form yesterday.

North American clearance of wheat and flour last week, according to Bradstreet's, were 4,863,000 bushels.

Countr yofferings of corn were smaller, but the market was depressed by professional selling and liquidation.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—Sept. 51c, 52⅞c; Dec. 55⅜@55½c, 57⅝@57¾c; May 60⅜@60½c, 62⅛@62⅜c. Corn—Sept. not quoted; Dec. 33@33⅛c, 34⅛@34⅜c; May (bids) 38⅛c.

PARK COUPONS IN DEMAND

Kids Scramble for Tickets To Lakeside

Copies of the two Wichita Falls daily newspapers are at a premium this week in many homes of the city as youthful members of the family are rivals to clip coupons for use at Lakeside park Saturday. The coupons with a nickle will enable any school boy or girl in the city to ride the merry-go-round and other devices at the park as many times as the coupons and nickles last.

Other concessions at the park, including sandwich and cold drink stands and various other entertainments also will honor the coupons as will the traction company in transporting the youngsters to the city's "Coney Island."

The occasion is the third annual kids' day carnival sponsored by The Record News and Times together with the park and traction company management. The party is staged each year on the Saturday before Labor day, in order that young Wichitans may enjoy a full outing at the lakeside before school opens.

Naval Academy Open To Enlisted Men, Says Officer

Information relative to the opportunity for enlisted men in the U. S. navy to gain admission to the Naval Training academy at Annapolis, Md., is available at the local naval recruiting office in the courthouse for the many persons who have evidenced interest in that matter, Thomas Hall, local recruiting officer, announced Wednesday.

Declaring that enlisted men are given fullest opportunities to win admission to Annapolis, Mr. Hall pointed out that they are not encouraged to enlist in the navy solely for the purpose of making such application.

The first requirement made of such applicants from the ranks, he said, is that they be of officer caliber. They also must have had nine full months' sea duty, and must have had at least two years of high school education.

Men from the ranks have acquitted themselves with honor in the academy at Annapolis, Mr. Hall stated. Full information regarding the requirements for such appointment will be given to any who are interested, he said.

Houston Relief Chief To Seek R. F. C. Loan

HOUSTON, Aug. 31. (AP)—W. G. Winters, head of the city's unemployment relief committee, left today for Austin to ask the aid of Gov. R. S. Sterling in obtaining a $450,000 loan from the Reconstruction Finance corporation to be used in winter relief work here.

A total of $900,000 will be required for emergency relief and social welfare work here the coming year, charity agencies estimated and attempts will be made, under present plans, to raise half that sum by local subscription.

Municipalities seeking aid from the Reconstruction Finance corporation must proceed through the governor of the state.

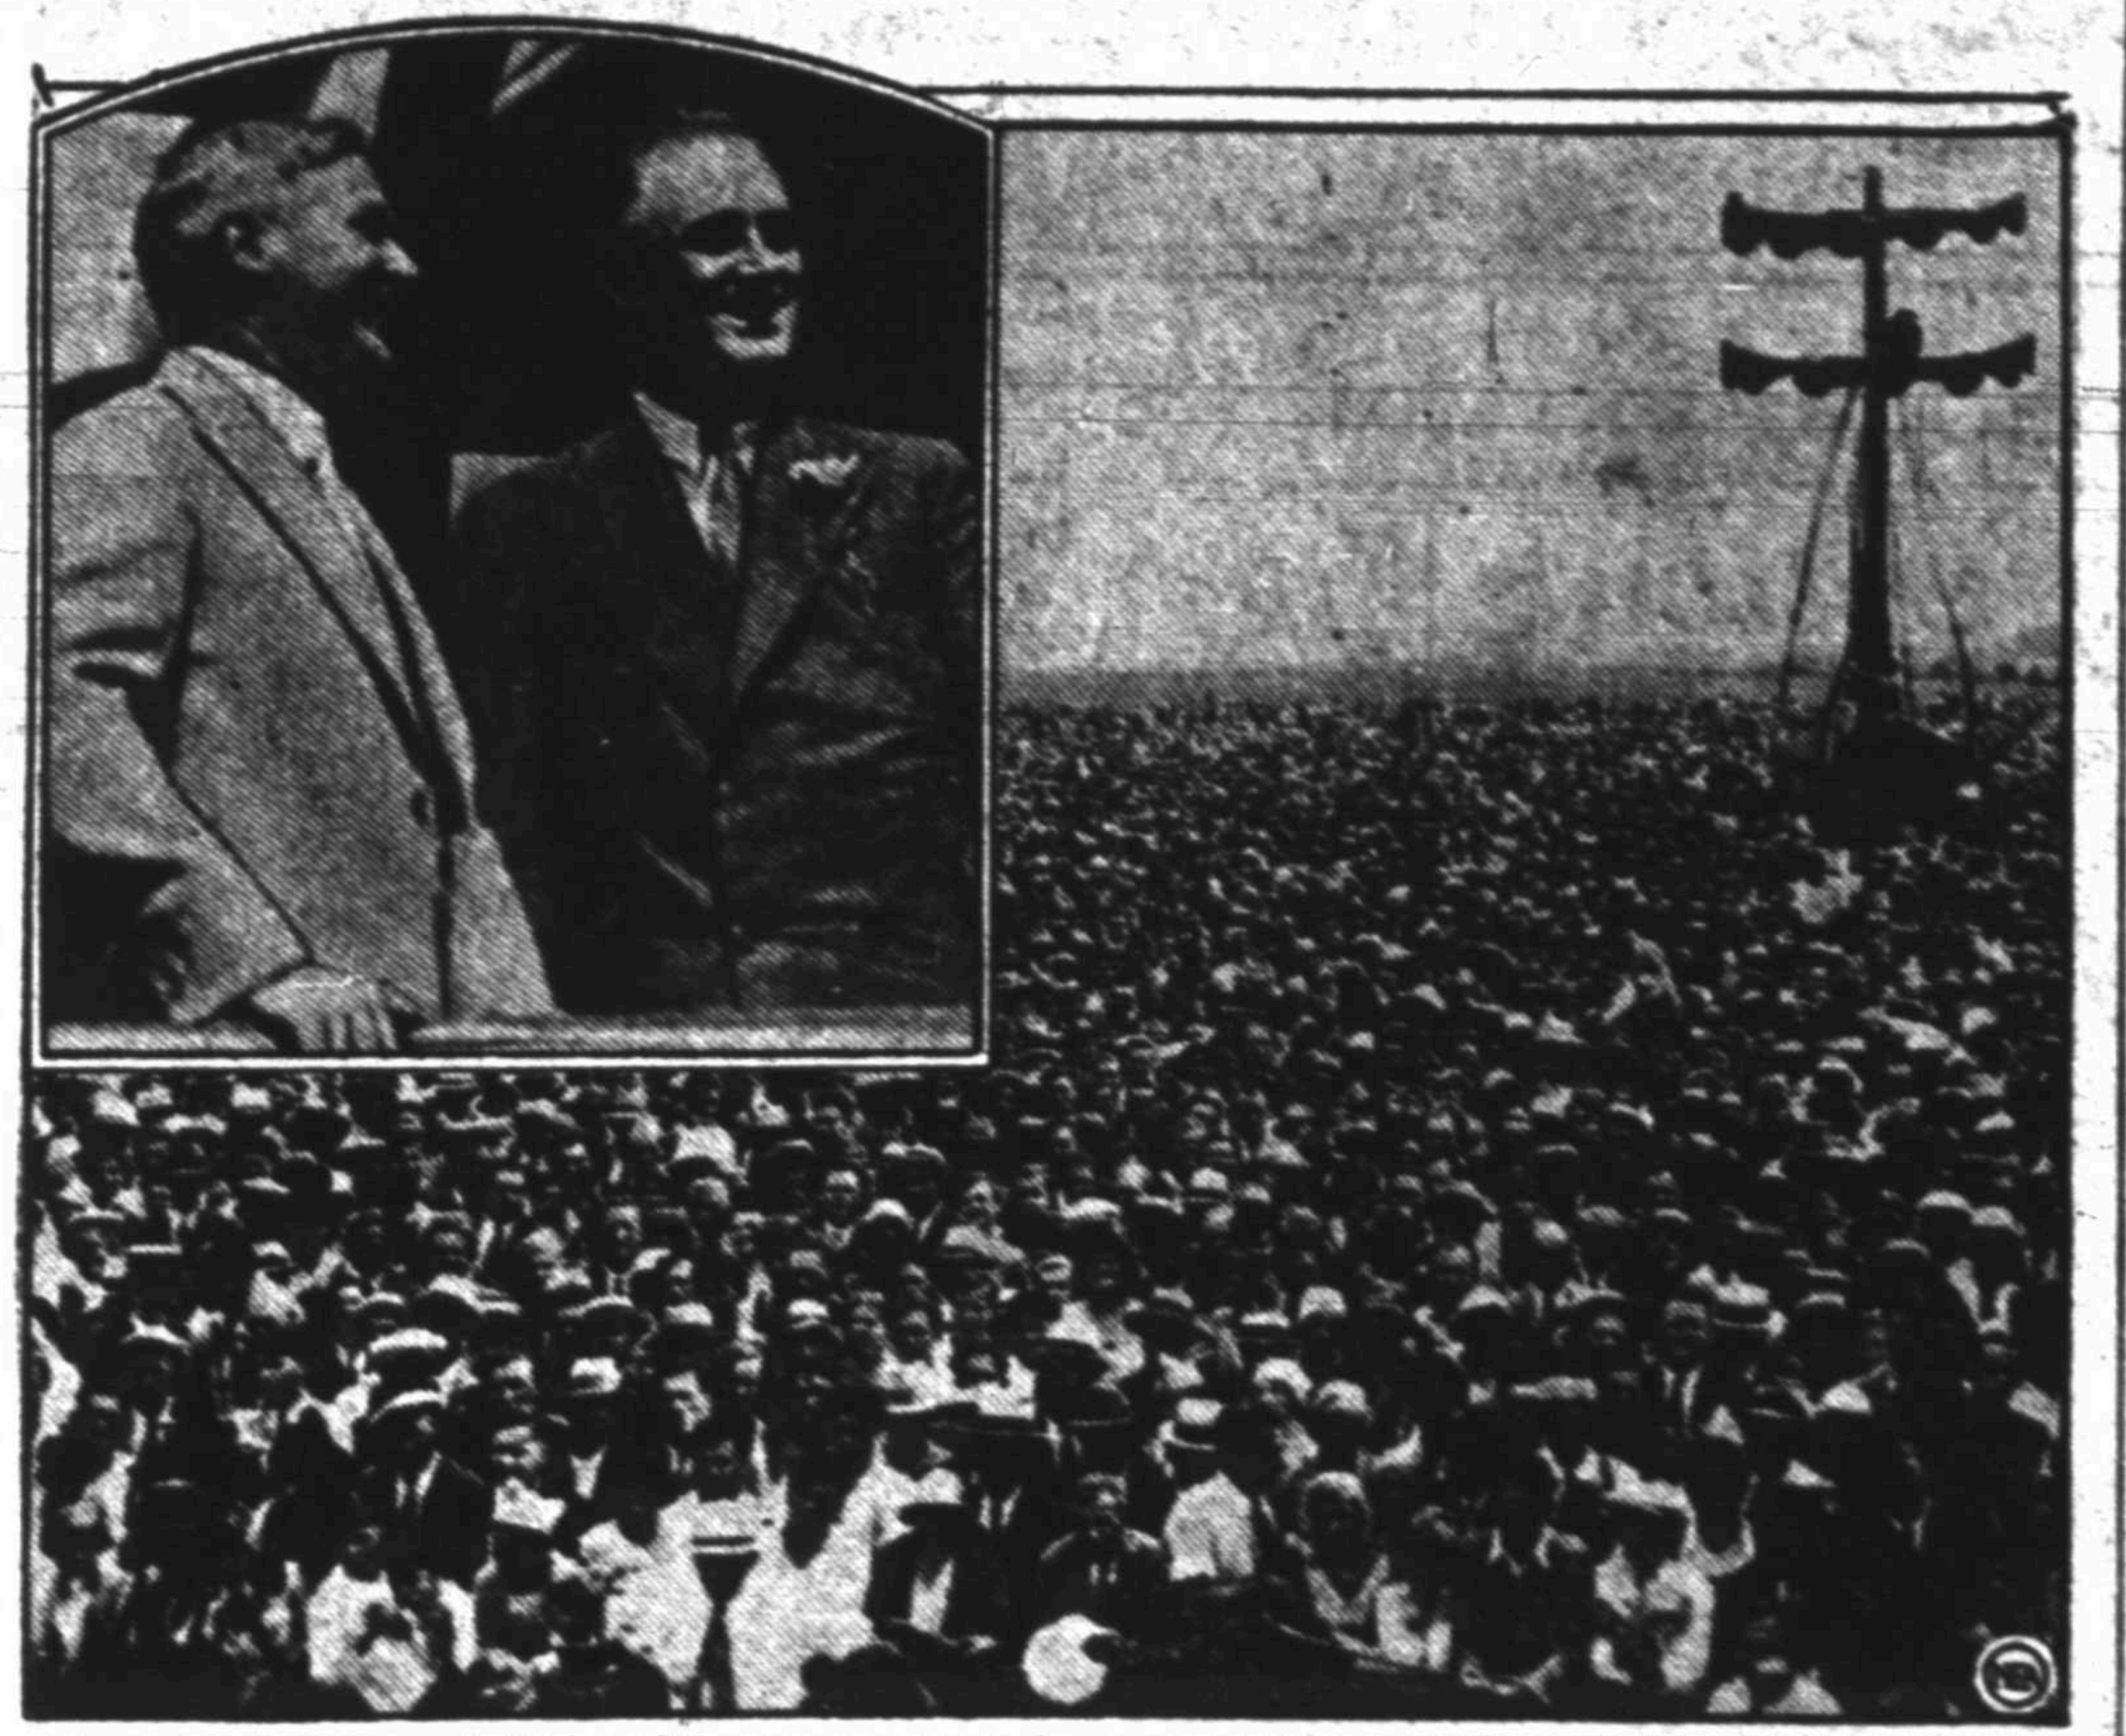
Roosevelt Hailed By New Jersey Throngs



Here's the huge crowd that gathered at Sea Girt, N. J.—traditional rallying point for the state democracy—to hear Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt demand outright prohibition repeal and attack Republican campaign tactics. And in the inset above, you see the Democratic presidential nominee himself (at right) with Gov. A. Harry Moore of New Jersey as they turned smiling faces upon the cheering throng. Note the battery of amplifiers which carried the speakers' voices to the 100,000 listeners.

Great Cattle Drift In Drouth Of 1886

Stories Of The Wichita Area Pioneers

Recalled By Former Archer Sheriff

Serving as sheriff of Archer county for 16 years and maintaining a record of arresting every defendant indicted by a grand jury is the accomplishment of J. D. Powell of Archer City. Mr. Powell is a native of Murfreesboro, Tenn., and has resided at Archer City for the last 48 years, moving there after a four-year residence at Burnett, Texas.

Mr. Powell was sheriff of Archer county in the difficult period during the drouth of 1886 when drifting cattle precipitated clashes throughout the section while armed ranchers trailed their herds to protect them.

Former Cowboy

He was named deputy sheriff of the county under the second sheriff, T. M. Coulson, in 1886 and served under Dennis Yoakum in 1887 and was elected to the office himself in 1888, holding the position eight years, retiring in 1896 for four years, was re-elected in 1900 and held office until he retired in 1908.

Mr. Powell was a cowboy on the old OX ranch prior to his official career and wrangled horses on the L bar ranch in 1887 and went up the northern trail in the same year with a heard.

"I was elected sheriff in November, 1888, and took office in the following month. I had the 'luck' to arrest every man indicted by a grand jury in Archer county for a felony in my 16 years as sheriff. I never saw, in my long official career, a man indicted by a grand jury and convicted by a petit jury that I considered innocent," Mr. Powell wrote T. J. Waggoner Jr., recently in asking that he be registered for the golden jubilee party here in September.

Mr. Powell's first assignment as a deputy was to serve as a peacemaker in the great cattle drift of 1886 that swept from the west through Archer county along the west fork of the Trinity river. Many thousands of drouth-stricken cattle drifted east drinking up the water in the pools as they passed, with the owners all heavily armed and trailing their herds as closely as possible.

Ranch War Averted

The ranchmen were confronted with an armed force in Archer county threatening to shoot them down in order to protect their own pastures and water holes necessary to keep their stock alive. "This was a terrible undertaking for a young officer but by reasoning with the leaders on both sides bloodshed was prevented. The wire fences were cut and the cattle allowed to continue. In the spring roundup many western range cattle were found as far east as Fort Worth," Mr. Powell writes.

MRS. TREVATHAN RECALLS VISITS OF INDIANS

Impressions of the frontier village of Wichita Falls by Mrs. E. D. Trevathan, 1508 Twelfth, offer a typical western community with unpaved streets, board sidewalks, and several saloons. She recalls visits of Comanche Indians to the village with the tribesmen wearing no clothing but a blanket draped about them. Mrs. Trevathan was formerly Miss Alma Hull and was graduated from the local high school in 1909. She attended services of the First Methodist and Baptist churches in three different buildings.

BIG TEAM OF OXEN USED IN PLOWING

When the Bacon subdivision in Clay county was opened, C. J. Shumake Sr., 1607 Tenth, purchased the first six blocks of land and improved the area, using a seven-yoke oxen team for powering a 10-inch gauge plow. He helped to establish the Thornberry school and was president of the school board for over 10 years. He also was a charter member of the Thornberry Baptist church. Mr. Shumake is a native of Marion, Ala., and came to this section Dec. 20, 1889, after a short residence at Austin.

"Nature in the Raw is seldom MILD"

NO QUARTER
"Nature in the Raw"—inspired by the savage ferocity of a death-battle between a vicious tiger and the bloodthirsty Black Panther—the terror of the Java jungles.

—and raw tobaccos have no place in cigarettes
They are not present in Luckies ...the mildest cigarette you ever smoked
WE buy the finest, the very finest tobaccos in all the world—but that does not explain why folks everywhere regard Lucky Strike as the mildest cigarette. The fact is, we never overlook the truth that "Nature in the Raw is Seldom Mild"—so these fine tobaccos, after proper aging and mellowing, are then given the benefit of that Lucky Strike purifying process, described by the words—"It's toasted". That's why folks in every city, town and hamlet say that Luckies are such mild cigarettes.

"If a man write a better book, preach a better sermon, or make a better mouse-trap than his neighbor, tho he build his house in the woods, the world will make a beaten path to his door."—RALPH WALDO EMERSON.
Does not this explain the world-wide acceptance and approval of Lucky Strike?
