REBELS FORCED TO FLEE AFTER STUBBORN FIGHT

Four Hundred Rural Guards Defeat 1,000 Insurgents

ONLY NINE KILLED

Battle Occurred on Outskirts of Havana and Rurales Fail to Pursue Enemy

CUBAN SITUATION

That Roosevelt and the cabinet are aware of the gravity of the Cuban crisis is evidenced by the hurrying of marines to Havana. The Denver is already lying in the harbor, ready at a moment's notice to take American refugees aboard in case the rebels should threaten them.

There is severe fighting taking place all around Havana and it is thought an attack on the city has been planned.

Secretaries Taft and Bacon will arrive in Cuba Monday and try to bring about peace.

By Associated Press.

HAVANA, Sept. 15.—The government forces won a victory over the rebels at a point close to Havana. General Rodiguez, with 400 rural guardsmen, attacked the rebels under General Del Casto and Colonels Asbert and Acosta, 1,000 strong, at Kajay, twelve miles south of Havana, and after a stubborn fight the rebels were dispersed. Eight of their number were killed and 23 wounded. Of the guardsmen one was killed and thirteen wounded. General Rodridguez returned to Havana this morning. There is considerable speculation as to why the enemy was not pursued.

Marines Ordered South

By Associated Press.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Sept. 15.—A detachment of sixty-five marines under the command of Captain Charles Hatch left the Portsmouth navy yard under hurry orders today on the way to Norfolk, Va. It is the opinion among the officers at the local yard the marines are being hurried south in order that they might be available for service in Cuba.

Will Go to Cuba

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 15.—Orders for a detachment of sixty marines to proceed at once to Norfolk, Va., were received today from Washington at the Charleston navy yard. On arrival at Norfolk it is arranged to embark on a United States cruiser bound for Cuba in connection with the Cuban insurrection. The marines leave today.

Bridges Destroyed

By Associated Press.

HAVANA, Sept. 15.—Heavy fighting is reported near El Cano, ten miles southwest of Havana. No details have yet been received.

U. S. Ship to Carry Secretaries

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—None of the secretaries who participated in the conference at Oyster Bay yesterday were in Washington early in the day, but Secretary Taft and Acting Secretary Bacon are expected to arrive later in the day or in the evening. No definite arrangements have been made regarding the ship which will take Secretary Taft and Mr. Bacon to Havana from Key West, but a vessel will certainly be used for the purpose. A cable dispatch was received from Cienfugos by the navy department today announcing the arrival of the Marietta at that place yesterday. No mention was made of landing blue jackets or marines.

INTERVENTION TO END FIGHT

Rebels Asked to Stop Warfare During Negotiations

FAITH IN AMERICA

Cubans Ready to Follow Whatever Roosevelt Suggests to Remedy Situation

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—President Roosevelt's letter to the quarreling Cubans, in which he called for peace and announced that he would send Secretaries Taft and Bacon to Havana at once to inquire into conditions, is pleasing to business men here, whose interests in Cuba had begun to suffer. The suggestion that he send a commission to Cuba, it was stated, came from them.

Palma in Dilemma

One of the most prominent Cuban bankers in this city said last night:

"President Palma cannot cope with the revolutionists because it is impossible for any military power in the world to prevent the rebels from burning crops and destroying railroads. If the rebels engage in open battle the government forces will be victorious, but they scatter and hide in the mountains and woods, so that it is impossible to capture them.

Peace Now Looked For

"President Roosevelt did not wish to intervene in Cuban affairs, but he has had to do so. I believe that as a result of sending a commission to Cuba the revolutionists will lay down their arms and both sides will tell their stories. Then, after a lapse of a few months, when affairs have quieted down, the question can be amicably settled."

Secretary Taft and Secretary Bonaparte reached Long Island City from Oyster Bay at 11:30 o'clock last night. They refused to comment on the Cuban situation or to discuss their conference with the President.

Embark from Key West

Secretary Taft said that he and Assistant Secretary of State Bacon will leave Washington for Cuba tomorrow night. They will go by rail to Key West and embark there on a warship for Havana. He said he could not tell when they will reach Cuba, as he had not looked up the time tables.

The Times quotes a prominent Cuban official, who has just arrived from Cuba, as saying of conditions in his country.

Cuba is doomed and the republic has fallen."

That for which our forefathers fought for over forty years and died has been destroyed by Pino Guerrera in a few days on account of political jealousy. President Palma can do nothing with these bandits, who lurk in the woods and come out at night and burn crops and destroy property. Let all Americans who talk easily of annexation think for a moment of what it means to us, whose dream was "Cuba libre." There are thousands of loyal Cubans whose parents and relatives have been executed in the cause which has been betrayed today by Pino Guerrera and his fellow traitors."

Asks Insurgents to Quit Fighting

Immediately on being informed early this morning that Secretary Taft and Acting Secretary Bacon were going to Cuba, Colonel Charles M. Aguirre, head of the revolutionary junta, sent a cable dispatch to Havana, advising the insurgents to stop fighting pending the outcome of the mission of Mr. Taft and Mr. Bacon.

Colonel Aguirre forwarded the message to Felipe Romero, at Havana, who has been acting as an intermediary for General Loynaz del Castille in his offer of surrender to Commander Colwel and who will deliver it to Dr. Alfredo Zayas, executive head of the insurrection.

"I am pleased to hear," said Colonel Aguirre, "that two such responsible men as Mr. Taft and Mr. Bacon are to investigate the situation right on the ground. We are ready to do whatever President Roosevelt might reasonably suggest."

SHIP HITS ROCKS BOTTOM TORN OFF

Oregon Runs Against Headland in Darkness

By Associated Press.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 15.—A dispatch to the Post-Intelligencer from Valdez says:

The steamer Oregon hit the rocks on the beach of Hinchinbrook island at the entrance to Prince William sound at 12 o'clock last night. She was trying to find the entrance in the darkness when the headland loomed up and altogether she reversed the engines the vessel struck hard enough to tear the bottom off. The Oregon struck at low tide and water soon filled the engine room to the second grating.

Go For Assistance

A crew of five men left immediately for Valdez to get assistance. The revenue cutters Rush and McCullough left to take off the passengers. There was no sea running at the time of the wreck, but the position of the steamer is exposed to the full force of the swell and if the wind rises she is in a precarious position. The wreck is several miles from Valdez. The passengers all are safe. The vessel will be a total loss.

STRINGENCY BROKEN

Gold Shipments to New York Help Out Market

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Gold shipments for New York set in full tide this week and were made immediately available to New York bank reserves by the operation of the treasury order for deposit of government funds against the engagements. The result was the breaking of the money stringency in Wall street and the recession of the call loan rate to nearly normal figures.

The response in the stock market was moderate owing to some realizing on purchases made while money was stringent. The remaining doubt of the money prospect owing to the large demands to be met to accommodate the exceedingly active business conditions also exercised some restraining influence. General confidence was felt, however, that measures of money relief by the treasury department would follow any sign of harmful money stringency.

The boring for the water was done to get a higher pressure and the oil millionaire had promised to aid the city in its water supply if his experiments in this direction were successful.

CUBANS LOOK TO UNCLE SAM

Embrace Opportunity to End Insurgent Uprising

TO WELCOME TAFT

Want No Intervention But Will Accept Aid From President Roosevelt

By Associated Press.

HAVANA, Sept. 15.—President Roosevelt's action in sending Secretary of War Taft and Acting Secretary of State Bacon to Cuba to investigate conditions in the island was regarded favorably on the whole to those who were first apprised of it. Cubans generally, it may be said, do not desire intervention of any sort in Cuban affairs, but the desire for a settlement of some kind now predominates. The conviction is overwhelming that the trouble must be settled through the United States.

Taft as Peacemaker

The truth of President Roosevelt's picture of the deplorable deplorability of the revolution and of his reference to the United States' right of intervention is not questioned.

Secretary Taft's reputation as a pacificator and as an administrator in the Philippines makes his coming particularly welcome.

Both Sides Claim Victory

The insurgent loss is unknown.

AMERICANS FLEE TO SAN ANTONIO

Railroad Men in Mexico Take Precaution

Special to The Telegram.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, Sept. 15.—Despite all assertions by the Mexican government and its elaborate preparations to prevent trouble between Mexicans and Americans, hundreds of Americans are seeking a haven in San Antonio. Even where men with big interests remained there they have sent their families here to remain until all danger of trouble has passed.

The families of railroad workmen have been arriving in San Antonio in small numbers for several weeks. Many who have come here frankly state they did so because they fear serious trouble, while others indignantly deny that they are afraid, but the fact remains that they found it convenient to be out of Mexico just at this particular time. The majority of the visitors are the wives of railroad men who have minor positions.

The general belief seems to prevail among the refugees that if certain classes of Mexicans, when fired with drink, were given the opportunity they might pillage and burn the homes of the Americans, even if they had to take lives to accomplish this. A leader with sufficient bravery to lead on a hundred or more of the drunken peons might cause riots of the most serious proportions. The only safe place these people consider is in the United States, where they will be beyond the reach of all trouble.

But for the hay the men probably would have sustained fatal injuries, for they were thrown ten feet and landed on their heads. Neither was injured. The costly racing machine was completely wrecked.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—New York has the reputation of being a pretty rapid city, but with all its speed it has not for years been able to build schoolhouses enough to accommodate all its children. With nearly, 600,000 children enrolled it has been found necessary to put 73,000 of them in half time classes and by Nov. 1 the probability is that there will be 95,000 children able to go to school for only half a day. And the situation instead of improving is growing steadily worse.

MEXICO PREPARES FOR OUTBREAK

Saloons Ordered Closed During National Holiday

Special to The Telegram.

CITY OF MEXICO, Sept. 15.—The best indication that the Mexican government is alarmed and seriously so at the reports of a probable outbreak on the part of the Mexican laborers against the Americans and other foreigners on Independence Day is the fact that all saloons and pulque shops have been ordered closed from the evening of Sept. 15 until the close of the Mexican celebration on the morning of Sept. 17.

This applies to all cities and towns where there are Americans and is a very radical move on the part of the government. A Mexican celebration of Independence Day without wine and champagne flowing freely for the rich, gin and beer for the middle class and an abundance of pulque for the peons is like a German picnic without beer. It will take all life and spirit out of a great Mexican fiesta, and only the gravest alarm could have induced such a movement on the part of the government. The men who had planned the uprising intended to fill the Mexican peons with aguadiente, pulque and other cheap intoxicants and when drunk would fire them on to deeds of outrage. Gambling will also be greatly restricted.

CUBA WARNED TO KEEP PEACE

Roosevelt Asks Islanders to Lay Down Arms

WAR NOW MENACE

Taft and Bacon Will Go to Havana and Try to Settle Difficulty

Special to The Telegram.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Sept. 15.—After a protracted conference with Secretary of War Taft, Acting Secretary of State Bacon and Secretary of the Navy Bonaparte, President Roosevelt last night addressed an important communication to Cuba and arranged to send Secretaries Taft and Bacon to that island Sunday to make a thorough investigation of conditions there and lend their influence to restore peace.

The communication is addressed to the Cuban minister to the United States, Senor Quesada. It is an impassioned plea to Cuba to realize her responsibility as a self-governing republic, and to restore peace to the island. Her attention is called in no uncertain language to the responsibility which the United States bears to the island and the certainty that such responsibility will necessarily be exercised should peace not be preserved.

The President says he has certain information that the peace of the island is now menaced, and that American property has been destroyed.

Secretaries Taft and Bacon will leave for Cuba Sunday. They will go by rail to Key West, Fla., and from there to Havana on a naval vessel, probably the cruiser Des Moines.

The conference which resulted in the Cuban decision began at Sagamore Hill shortly after 3 o'clock and continued until 10 o'clock. At its conclusion Secretaries Taft, Bonaparte and Bacon left for New York and will go to Washington.

Secretary Taft said as he left Oyster Bay that he had no idea as to the length of his visit to Cuba. He indicated that there would be no haste in the investigation which would be made there. Aside from this, no information of the discussion will be divulged by those attending the conference, the statement being made that the letter from the President was intended to cover the whole Cuban situation, so far as it was desirable to do so in the public print.

Senator Albert Beveridge of Indiana, a member of the senate committee on Cuban relations, also participated in the conferences.

Four Drowned as Boat Capsizes

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Four persons whose names are unknown were drowned from a launch in the lower bay last night when the launch overturned in a collision with a scow. At the quarantine station they refused to give their names or tell those of the persons drowned.

The launch was found to be the Sausage, belonging to W. W. David of Jamaica, L. I. David was among the rescued. It is said by those who picked up the little boat it must have been dangerously overloaded. It seemed incredible eight persons would trust their lives to a small boat on a stormy night.

DECLARE CHRIST AND APOSTLES SPOKE THE POLISH LANGUAGE

Special to The Telegram.

BERLIN, Sept. 15.—"Polish is the language spoken by Christ and his apostles, and it is certainly the language spoken in Heaven." This declaration was made by a Polish witness in a recent case, and shows the reverence in which the Poles hold their native tongue and explains the opposition the Prussian authorities are meeting in carrying through the compulsory use of German in the Polish schools.

Where religious instruction is concerned the opposition of the Poles is particularly persistent. In certain districts of Posen, the children, instigated by their parents, refused to answer questions in religion except in Polish or to say their prayers, including the Lord's prayer, in what they regard as a foreign tongue.

At Sulpi several children obstinately refused to speak German and were dismissed from school for three days in order that their parents might consider the serious consequences of persistent antagonism to the law. When the children returned to school they were equally recalcitrant. The school authorities have telegraphed Berlin for instructions, as it is feared that this language boycott will spread.

ROOSEVELT MAY MOVE HOME; OYSTER BAY CITIZENS AGHAST

Special to The Telegram.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Oyster Bay is aghast, not to say indignant. Gossip has it that President Roosevelt has under consideration the purchase of a place at Bayside and the making of his home at that place instead of at Sagamore Hill.

The report followed an automobile trip by the President to Bayside last week. He looked over two pieces of property and Baysiders at once began to cherish hopes and talk about them. One of the estates examined was that of Street Commissioner John M. Woodbury. Mr. Woodbury is a friend of the President and his handsome residence between the estates of Charles Gould and G. Howland Leavitt, the millionaire railroad director, has been unoccupied for several years. Bayside residents say the President seemed enthusiastic over the property and exclaimed "De-lighted!" several times as he looked it over.

He also examined another tract of land nearby and the citizens are burning with curiosity to find out whether he is going to buy one or the other estate for himself or both for himself and Congressman Longworth, or just the Woodbury mansion as a New York home for his daughter and her husband.

PISTOL SHOTS KILL 2 BOYS

Causes in Both Cases Declared to Be Accidental

ONE A STRANGER

Supposed to Have Come From Town of Decatur, But Is Still Unidentified

★ Violent death reaped an unusual harvest in Fort Worth in the last twenty-four hours. Two deaths by shooting, one by drowning and one a suicide by carbolic acid. Appearances indicate that three of the deaths are due to accidents. The other, the suicide, was deliberately premeditated, as the letter left shows. ★

Friday afternoon a lad of about 17 years of age was shot and killed by Burlie White, aged 17 years. The dead boy is supposed to be E. E. England, for on his body was found a bank book issued by the City National Bank of Decatur, Texas, which bore the signature of E. E. England. Inquiry made at Decatur by the Telegram Saturday morning failed to glean any information about anyone of that name. None of the banks carried accounts for a depositor by that name.

White's story is that he met the boy near the Texas and Pacific yards Friday afternoon, and as he seemed to be a pleasant sort of fellow, they chummed together a little, and as White was going homeward (he lives with his family at 1012 East Daggett) he let the boy ride his wheel to the family residence. Arrived there, the stranger wished to ride the wheel up and down in front of the house, to which White rather objected, saying that the wheel needed oiling and he would go in and get the oil can. As he passed through the house to get the can he saw a pistol lying on a window sill; he picked it up to move it; it was discharged, and as the other lad happened to be standing in range outside the window, the bullet struck him near the left nipple and passed through the body, causing almost instant death. Young White denies that there was anything that savored of a quarrel and says such limited intercourse as they had was of the most pleasant character. The body was taken to Robertson's. Judging by appearances the lad was about 17 years of age and evidently a hard-working boy, about five feet seven inches tall, stoutly built, with brown hair and blue eyes. He wore at the time of his death a blue jumper, a black shirt and a pair of striped pants. White works for the Texas and Pacific as a call boy and his father, Wesley White, is a Texas and Pacific engineer.

Young White was detained at police headquarters Friday night, Justice Rowland giving orders that bail was not to be taken in the case until after some further investigation was made. The shooting occurred about 6:40 o'clock.

Negro Boy Shot

Earlier in the afternoon, though the news was reported about the same time, a negro boy was shot and killed by his older brother at their home, 1070 East White street. Richard Freeman, aged about 14 years, is under arrest charged with the shooting. His story of the affair is that he was playing with the pistol, or there was a scuffle for it, and it was discharged in the scuffle, the ball striking Willy Freeman, entering at the left nipple and going through the body to the right. He says that Porter Owsley wanted to borrow the pistol; he went to get it for him, and when he came back in the room with it Herman and Charlie Freeman, the deceased, and Owsley all grabbed for it and then the fatal shot was fired. The dead boy was aged about 12 years.

Bail was refused Friday night in the case and Saturday both of the accused were transferred to the county.

The entry on the police blotter in each case is "murder."

Justice Rowland held an inquest on the body of the dead boy, name unknown, killed at 1012 East Daggett avenue Friday at 6:40 p. m., and made an inspection of the premises of the White family, where the killing occurred. Two witnesses were examined, the evidence in substance being as follows:

Miss Gertie White, sister of Burlie White, said she did not know name of the boy who was killed, the first time she ever saw him being at 6:40 p. m. Friday, when he came home with her brother Burlie White.

"I was sitting in a swing when Burlie came to me and asked where the oil can was, saying he wanted to oil his wheel, which he and the other boy rode to the house. I told him where the can was and he went into the house; the boy took the wheel around to the south side of the house. In four or five minutes I heard a shot and ran into the house to see what was the matter. As I got to the door of my room my brother Burlie ran out of the room into the hall; he went out of the south door to where the other boy was and I went with him. The other boy was dying when I got to him; he lived only a few minutes after he was shot. I think he was shot just above the left nipple. I ran back into the house and phoned for a doctor. Dr. Kelly and another doctor came out to the house. The boy did not speak after I got to him. When the shot was fired I heard him cry out: 'I am shot.' Shortly after the boy was shot a Mr. Webb came in the house and told my brother to get the pistol and my brother did so, going into the house after it.

"When I asked my brother about the shooting he said the boy was fooling with the pistol and shot himself. I do not know of my own knowledge where the pistol shot was fired from; I do not know where the pistol was found; when I got to the boy there was no pistol near him; my brother did not have any pistol in his hand when he went out. Lilly Wilson was with me when this occurred.

"My brother told me he did not know what the boy's name was."

May Be Frank Cummings

Mrs. J. A. White testified that she did not know the dead boy personally, but she believed his name was Frank Cummings and she had heard he ran away from his home at New Boston; that Mr. Webb who lives in Daggett avenue knew something about him.

Justice Rowland made an inspection of the premises and found a bullet hole in a wire screen of a window on the south side of the house.

The verdict of Justice Rowland was that the deceased, name unknown, came to his death from a pistol wound inflicted by Burlie White.

RAILROAD TO WEATHERFORD

Surveyors Said to Be Running Preliminary Line

A GOULD PROJECT

Story Comes From Mineral Wells—Say Line Is for Street Car Company

Considerable speculation has been started in Brooklyn Heights over the appearance of a small surveying party there this week, running a line along the stove foundry road southwest of the city.

Only three men were in the party and they moved rapidly, apparently working only for the purpose of getting a general idea of the grade out from Fort Worth to the southwest.

A Brooklyn Heights resident later saw the surveyors in Fort Worth and asked one what the purpose of the survey was. He was told it was for the purpose of running a street car line out to Brooklyn Heights.

Local street car interests profess to be ignorant of any project involving a street car to Brooklyn Heights. The distance from the nearest street car line to Brooklyn Heights is about two miles. The population to be served at Brooklyn Heights is about 200. There are other suburbs which offer apparently more reasonable claims for street car service.

Mineral Wells Report

The Telegram has made an effort to learn if anything of the survey were known at Mineral Wells on the theory that it might be made by persons interested in the familiar Mineral Wells project.

Instead of confirmation of this idea the somewhat surprising statement was made by a Mineral Wells citizen who ought to be in a position to know, that a survey is being made between Fort Worth and Weatherford for the Weatherford, Mineral Wells & Northwestern Railroad, the object being to ascertain the practicality of extending the railroad from Weatherford to Fort Worth. This statement is impossible to verify in Fort Worth, but it comes from a source in Mineral Wells so high as to assure its veracity.

In this connection it will be recalled that the Weatherford, Mineral Wells & Northwestern now has two surveying parties in the field running lines for an extension to Roswell, N. M.

BLUE AND GRAY HOLD CAMPFIRE

Memorial Exercises Held on Field of Gettysburg

By Associated Press.

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Sept. 15.—On the historic battlefield where they clashed for supremacy, the survivors of General Pickett's division of the Confederate army met today in fraternal reunion, the survivors of the Philadelphia brigade which composed the four regiments of Pennsylvania volunteers. The reunion was held at "Bloody Angle," where General Pickett made his famous charge. A feature of the gathering today was the presentation of General Armstead's sword to the men of the south.

General Armstead fell during the charge and his sword since has been in the possession of the Philadelphia soldiers. The veterans will hold a camp fire tonight and on Monday go to the battlefield of Antietam. At the latter place they will be joined by the survivors of four other Pennsylvania regiments and monuments erected to the memory of Pennsylvanians who fell during the battle will be unveiled.

THIEF IN OFFICE OF JUDGE BELL

Gets Purse of Stenographer Containing $40

Miss Caroline E. Hale, the stenographer in Judge C. K. Bell's office in the Wheat building, lost her purse containing about $40 Saturday morning, evidently to a sneak thief. Miss Hale had to leave the office about 10 o'clock and was absent until 11:30. Some of those in the neighboring offices noticed that several persons were in the office during the absence of Miss Hale and told her when she returned. With one exception they were all well known to her. Others could have possibly entered the office without being seen, so there is really no clue to the thief.

The purse was left in the drawer of her typewriter desk, where she has long been in the habit of placing it after her arrival at the office in the morning.

TRIED TO KILL COUNT WITTE

Student Caught in the Act of Throwing Bomb

KEPT HIS NERVE

Prompt Action of Detectives Saves Life of Former Russian Premier

By Associated Press.

WIESBADEN, Sept. 15.—Found with a bomb, revolver and dagger, a Russian student named Rosenberg today made an unsuccessful attempt to assassinate Count Witte. The attack was made at Soden, a watering place near here, where Witte had gone to drink the waters. As Witte was leaving his carriage to enter the hotel Rosenberg made the attack. Detectives who were guarding Witte seized the student before he could throw the bomb or use other weapons. The would-be assassin was overpowered and taken to jail. Witte did not lose his nerve in the presence of danger, although he paled slightly, and thanked the officers who saved him.

SUES FOR $30,000

Car Repairer Asks Damages from Denver Road

J. G. De Fee has sued the Fort Worth and Denver Railroad Company for $30,000 damages on account of personal injuries alleged to have been received July 9, 1906.

The petition alleges that plaintiff was in the employ of defendant as car repairer July 9, 1906, and was working on cars on the "rip track" or repair track of the company; that while so engaged the cars between which he was working were moved by defendant's agents, running over plaintiff, crushing and bruising him, causing internal and external injuries of a permanent character. Plaintiff says at the time he was injured he was earning $75 per month, but because of his injuries he is incapacitated from following his usual avocation and from earning said amount per month.

AMUSEMENTS

"Jersey Lilies" were the attraction at Greenwall's Friday night, giving a melange of musical burlesque and vaudeville to a fair-sized audience. The "Lilies" give a road version of the type of production usually furnished in a Sam T. Jack burlesque house, designed only to amuse folk who laugh at trifles, especially if the trifles are limber and at times even libidinous.

Tonight "A Message from Mars," one of the best comedies which ever visited Fort Worth.

Cole and Johnson

Melville B. Raymond will offer the successful song writers and comedians, Cole and Johnson, in their own original creation, "The Shoo-Fly Regiment," at Greenwall's opera house Monday and Tuesday nights, Sept. 17 and 18. These clever Afro-Americans have interpolated numbers in almost every musical success that has been produced on Broadway within the last five years

"A Pair of Country Kids"

The next attraction at Greenwall's opera house, Wednesday matinee and night, Sept. 19, is the new rural comedy success, "A Pair of Country Kids," and is pronounced by all since its opening performance one of the best country comedies of the day. Matinee prices, adults 25c, children 15c. Night prices, 25c, 35c and 50c.

"Ikey and Abey"

Edward R. Salter will present a new musical comedy as this season's novelty at Greenwall's opera house, Thursday matinee and night, Sept. 20. The piece is called "Ikey and Abey," and is away above the usual in point of witty lines and clever quips. The play is amusing and has two such stars as Leavitt and Traynor, assisted by their large company of clever fun-makers.

"His Highness the Bey"

A delightful musical creation of the present season is "His Highness the Bey," which comes to Greenwall's opera house Friday and Saturday nights, Sept. 21 and 22.

BODY STILL MISSING

No Trace Found of Aged Negro Who Was Drowned In Trinity

The body of Leonard Mills, the old negro who drove his team of mules and wagon into the Trinity river early Friday morning and was drowned has not been found, it probably having been washed by the swift current of the swollen stream miles below the city.

The negro was a well known scavenger and has been working at that business for several years and while nothing certain is known, the belief is that in driving his team into the stream to water them or to empty his load he did not know how deep the water was and got beyond the depth of the mules, which, with the wagon and driver, were swept away.

A LETTER TO OUR READERS

53 COTTAGE STREET, MELROSE, MASS.

Dear Sir:

"Ever since I was in the Army, I had more or less kidney trouble, and within the past year it become so severe and complicated that I suffered everything and was much alarmed—my strength and power was fast leaving me. I saw an advertisement of Swamp-Root and wrote asking for advice. I began the use of the medicine and noted a decided improvement after taking Swamp-Root only a short time.

I continued its use and am thankful to say that I am entirely cured and strong. In order to be very sure about this, I had a doctor examine some of my water today and he pronounced it all right and in splendid condition.

I know that your Swamp-Root is purely vegetable and does not contain any harmful drugs. Thanking you for my complete recovery and recommending Swamp-Root to all sufferers I am,"

Very truly yours,
I. C. RICHARDSON.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, sent absolutely free by mail, also a book telling all about Swamp-Root. VON HODGE WILL VISIT ROSS HOME

Texas Charley Ross Going to Germantown, Pa.

Special to The Telegram.

GALVESTON, Texas, Sept. 15.—William Von Hodge, whose identity has about been completely established as that of Charley Ross, lost to his parents from childhood, is busy these days getting things in readiness and gathering evidence which will be used upon the occasion of his early visit to the Ross Homestead near Germantown, Pa., at which time he proposes to completely and finally make known to the world his right to the name of Charley Ross.

Some new developments have come quick and fast during the past few months, all of which are in Von Hodge's favor. An old man known as Joseph Likens, who made himself known to Von Hodge three years ago here, appears now to be the main link which will doubtless clear up the mystery.

Likens Clears Mystery

Likens evidently knows more than he has before made known, and while here in Galveston, though he did not admit that he knew Hodge to be Charley Ross, he displayed keen interest in the case. Likens went from this city to Holly, N. J., some six weeks ago and there he has emphatically declared that Von Hodge is the real Charley Ross.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Mr. Miggles was trying to call up a friend who lived in a suburban town. Mr. Miggles looked up the number, then got central.

"Hello!" he said, "Give me Handley, two-ought-four-seven."

"Handley? I'll give you the long distance."

Long distance asked, "What is it?"

"Handley, two-ought-four-seven."

"Handley, two-ought-four-seven?"

"Yes."

"What is your number?"

"I just told you. Handley, two-ought——"

"I mean your house number."

"Two-sixty-five Blicken street."

"Oh, that isn't what I mean. Your 'phone number."

"Why didn't you say so?" asked Mr. Miggles, who is noted for his quick temper.

"I did. What is it?"

"Violet, eight-seven-seven."

"Violet, eight-seven-seven?"

"I reckon so. And what do you want?"

"What is your name?"

"My name is John Henry Miggles. I live at 265 Blicken street; my house 'phone is Violet, eight-seven-seven or eight-double-seven, as you choose; I am married, have no children; we keep a dog and a cat and a perpetual palm and a Boston fern and ——"

'All that is unnecessary, sir. We merely——"

"And last summer we didn't have a bit of luck with our roses. I tried to have a little garden, too, but the neighbors' chickens got away with that, the house is green, with red gables; there is a cement walk from the street; I am forty years old; my wife is younger and looks it; we have a piano, keep a cook and an upstairs girl; had the front bedroom papered last week, and I want to——"

"Did you want Handley, two-ought-four-seven?"

"Yes," gasped Mr. Miggles.

"Well, the circuit is busy now. Please call again."

But Mr. Miggles wrote a letter.

UPHOLDS CANTEEN

General Wint Blames Resorts for Increased Demoralization

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—Brigadier General Wint, commanding the department of Missouri, reported to the war department, in his opinion the canteen should be restored at army posts. He says:

"The demoralizing influence of resorts surrounding the posts cannot be too strongly emphasized, giving rise as it does to a large proportion of the most serious offenses and practically all those with penitentiary confinements. Conditions are chargeable in a great measure in the opinion of the judge advocate to the prohibition placed upon the post exchange."

YOUTH OF WEALTH WEDS SECRETLY

Henry McHarg Jr. Used to Fire Locomotive in Texas

Special to The Telegram.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15—The romance of young Henry K. McHarg Jr., whose father is a millionaire, has been revealed, through a newspaper advertisement and has added a new note to his interesting life. The advertisement tells of the secret wedding of Miss Laura Whiting Brown of Boston to young McHarg Aug. 15. Now the young millionaire and his wife are somewhere touring in Europe, and at his father's great country estate his mother declines to talk of the matter at all.

In marrying to suit his own choice young McHarg has simply given another example of the characteristics of his self-will, that, against his parents' wishes, made him insist on plunging from student life at Cornell into the rough life of a day laborer on his father's railroad and in his father's mines.

He went to Texas first and "fired" on a locomotive. And when his hands were good and tough and his muscles hardened he went to Radford, Va., the headquarters of his father's mines. There he actually and honestly did for months the work of a day laborer. At Radford he met Miss Mary McIngles, who was the belle of all Southwestern Virginia, a brown-eyed girl of superb figure. Young McHarg made no concealment of the charm Miss McIngles had for him, and rumors sped everywhere that the young laborer-millionaire had set his cap for her.

But that was not to prove the chief romance of his life. Miss Laura Whiting Brown, who became the bride of young McHarg, was a student of music in Boston, and it was there that McHarg and confidants of Miss Brown met in New York on the evening of Aug. 15 and with the young couple went to St. Luke's church in Brooklyn, where they were married by the Rev. Dr. Albert Hind. The next day the young millionaire and his bride sailed for Europe.

FIGHT NEAR HAVANA

Insurgents Burn Railroad Bridge and Alarm Cuban Capital

Special to The Telegram.

HAVANA, Sept. 15.—Insurgents today set fire to the bridge of the Western railroad at Calabaxar, near Sagua Lagrande, but it was not sufficiently burned to prevent the passage of trains, the rebels using locomotives to pull down water tanks, etc., along the line. Insurgents are swarming in and about the town of Santiago Delas, thirteen miles south of Havana, and a conflict near that city is imminent. Four hundred additional troops were brought into Havana this morning from Guinea for the protection of the city and to assist attacks on the rebels in outlying towns.

The President has commuted the sentence to imprisonment in a reform school until the girl is 21 years of age.

Dr. Eastland, who is one of the physicians in the Texas National Guard, was appointed by the governor from the guard to take the course. Under the law the governor has two appointments from the guard, and Dr. Eastland was one of the appointees. He had, however, to stand an examination to make him eligible. He has successfully stood this examination and leaves here on Sept. 27 to take his course. The expense while in attendance is borne by the government.

RESPONSES ARE SLOW

The cattlemen of Texas and the southwest are not responding as liberally in the matter of subscribing for shares of stock in the new Fat Stock Show enterprise as was generally expected they would, and considerable disappointment is being manifested over the situation. It was believed the 250 shares desired to be placed outside of Fort Worth would be taken rapidly, but the subscriptions expected have not arrived with the celerity with which they might have come.

It is believed that several causes have operated to prevent as liberal responses as were expected. It is a time of year when cattlemen are moving around a great deal and many of them are hard to locate. It is probable many of the letters soliciting subscriptions have not yet been delivered, and will have attention just as soon as the gentlemen addressed return to their homes.

And again, it is possible that a few of the cattlemen have been led to believe that the movement is one originating in Fort Worth for the purpose of inducing them to put up money for a Fort Worth enterprise. And that is a very erroneous idea. The people of Fort Worth have simply endeavored to carry out the wishes of the gentlemen who are engaged in the very laudable undertaking of promoting this great enterprise. They stipulated that half of the stock should be subscribed in Fort Worth, and the other half must be taken by the stockmen of the southwest, in order that interest in the enterprise might be as widespread as possible. Fort Worth raised the sum allotted her in short order, and the opinion is rife that the entire amount could have been raised here with little difficulty.

It is expected that the action of the executive committee of the Cattle Raisers' Association of Texas in indorsing the enterprise so warmly a few days ago will have a stimulating effect upon the situation. There are in the neighborhood of two thousand members of this great association, and it would seem that among its membership there ought to be 250 men broad and liberal enough to recognize the importance of this undertaking. The fat stock show is not a Fort Worth enterprise, although it is located in this city. It belongs to the producers of the southwest. The cattlemen of every portion of the state are vitally interested in its success and should not hesitate to lend it the proper support and encouragement.

A personal letter with subscription blanks inclosed has been mailed to every member of the Cattle Raisers' Association of Texas, and Captain S. B. Burnett and other leaders in the organization still have confidence in the outcome. They say that just as soon as the cattlemen have time to get to those letters there will be a response that will make short work of the subscription list. But in the meantime the period is almost at hand when decisive action must be taken. It is understood that the gentlemen who are backing the enterprise do not intend that it shall stand open indefinitely. If the new $200,000 home of the Fat Stock Show is to become an accomplished reality all the people who are interested must proceed to get busy.

Friends of the enterprise point with becoming pride to what has already been accomplished with the nucleus of a Fat Stock Show that has been gathered here during the past by the very enthusiastic gentlemen who have done so much to promote the enterprise from a local standpoint. The last exhibition held here afforded a genuine revelation to the thousands in attendance as to what is being accomplished by the Texas stockmen. Visitors from other states were amazed at what they saw here, and it is known that many profitable deals that have since been made by stockmen of the southwest can be traced directly to the influence of the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show.

Some of the leading cattlemen of the state have responded to the call for subscriptions, and have written the most encouraging letters relative to the enterprise, promising to use their best efforts to induce others to take stock. But there is no denying the fact that the amount so far subscribed is distinctively disappointing, and affords opportunity for the knocker to begin to get in his work with the usual prediction of disaster and expected failure. It is not believed there is any prospect of failure, however, for there is too much at stake to permit such an eventuality. It just seems to be a situation where a very important issue is being permitted to drag its way along wearily, when its importance demands that it should be closed up in short order.

The cattlemen of Texas and the southwest should no longer delay in the matter, but send in their subscriptions promptly. There is too much at stake to take any unnecessary chances.

THE REPUBLICAN TEXT BOOK

The republican text book, containing 277 pages, has made its appearance, with the same old array of alleged facts and figures that is made to do service in every congressional campaign.

Discussing campaign issues of 1906, the book says that since the termination of the Fifty-third congress, in 1895, the house of representatives has been republican, and adds "that there is every reason to expect that a substantial working republican majority will be elected next November." During those ten years it is stated, "We have made a greater advance as a nation and a people than was ever made before in a generation and in many respects greater than in all our previous history. There cannot then be the least doubt of republican success if the voters study carefully the record of the two parties.

"There will be thousands and hundreds of thousands who will vote for the first time in November, who were mere children when the democrats last had a majority in the house of representatives, and they do not vividly remember the awful times and conditions brought on the country by that congress. They were not born when the only democratic President since the civil war was first elected. They were babes in arms when Grover Cleveland sent his famous or infamous free trade message to congress, and when, a year later, the iniquitous Mills bill was framed and passed by the democratic house of representatives of the Fiftieth congress. But fortunately there was then a republican senate to prevent the enactment of a free trade law, and disaster and calamity were for the time averted. But in 1893 the democrats had the Presidency as well as both senate and house of representatives and the work of that single Fifty-third congress cost the industries and people of the country many billions of dollars and incalculable suffering."

And the text book tells the story of why the republican party is in existence in the following discussion of the tariff question:

"Protectionists are content to let the present law stand without change or amendment so long as present conditions prevail. A slight reduction in many of our schedules would result in dumping into our markets perhaps a billion dollars' worth of manufactures more than we now import. That would mean a resort to one of two things: We would have to close our mills or reduce wages. There is positively no other alternative. Protectionists do not claim that schedules are sacred and never to be altered. They do claim, however, that the so-called system of American protection as exemplified by the operation of the Dingley law for nine years is sacred and must be maintained."

And The Telegram takes off its hat to the writer of this republican campaign text book for the consistency revealed in that publication. The old and time tried republican principle of protection for the few at the expense of the many sticks out through every page of the publication like quills upon the back of a porcupine.

THE PRESIDENT'S REFORMED SPELLING

The newspapers of the country have had a great deal of fun at the expense of President Roosevelt on account of his celebrated order officially recognizing the proposed new method of spelling. And now it appears there is a serious side to the situation. A dispatch from Washington to the New York Times says:

The discovery was made by a Washington lawyer today, it is said, that the action of President Roosevelt in ordering the simplified spelling may be in violation of a law that was passed by congress some years ago.

It is stated that about twenty-five years ago congress passed a joint resolution, which was approved by the President, making Webster's Unabridged Dictionary the standard for government spelling, and that the law has never been repealed.

It is also stated that there is on record a decision of the United States supreme court upholding the resolution.

The lawyer who is reported to have made the discovery declares that it may tie up the proposed spelling simplification until congress repeals the old law.

It is not expected, however, that a little thing like a perverse law will stand in the way of the President in his proposed innovation. He has shown many times that when it came to a matter of conflict between the law and Theodore Roosevelt the law has had to take to the brush and remain in perpetual hiding. Even the constitution has been known to suffer when it crossed the path of the President, and those who know the man do not expect him to yield one particle in the present emergency.

It is going to prove a great big, prolonged job to reform the English language, however, and President Roosevelt seems to have undertaken it without realizing the full magnitude of the undertaking.

T. & P. WILLING TO PAY PAVING

Will Co-operate in South Jennings Movement

The plan for the paving of South Jennings avenue, from the viaduct southward, is still being worked on by those most interested, but it is practically certain now that the paving will be done as far south as Daggett, which takes it past the high school. It is possible that the paving may be extended to Broadway. The Texas and Pacific, which will have the heaviest single bill to pay of any one property holder, that sum amounting to about $1,500, has approved the paving project and will be willing to pay its share when called on to do so.

LYTLE ON VACATION

Cattle Raisers' Secretary to Take Long Rest

Captain John T. Lytle, secretary of the Cattle Raisers' Association of Texas, has determined to take a long holiday and recuperate. He left Wednesday night in company with Colonel Burke Burnett for the latter's Dixon Creek ranch in Carson county, where he will remain for some time and then will continue his trip to other points in the range country, with a probable crossing over into Old Mexico to his ranch. While the captain loks badly to his friends, still he has no organic trouble, but is simply worked down. His many friends in this city and over the whole broad range country of Texas, New Mexico, the territories and Kansas will send their best wishes with him and a hope that when he returns he may again be in the fullness of his usual good health and strength.

MACHINERY SHIPPED

Two Carloads From Iola Cement Plant Site

Two carloads of machinery which had been used in preparations for building the plant of the Iola cement works, five miles southeast of the city, on the International and Great Northern railroad, were shipped east on the Texas and Pacific Thursday night.

This follows the recent close of operations at the cement plant site following the announcement that the unusual advance in land prices among the property holders of the vicinity and the vein of clay available for the manufacture of cement had made it impracticable to continue operations.

His Only Concern

A well known member of the New York bar, a man of most patronizing manner, one day met John G. Carlisle, to whom he observed loftily:

"I see, Carlisle, that the supreme court has overruled you in the case of Mullins vs. Jenkinsin. But," he added, in his grand way, "you, Carlisle, need feel no concern about your reputation."

Carlisle chuckled. "Quite so," he agreed. "I'm only concerned for the reputation of the supreme court."—Harper's Weekly.

Among the Exchanges

Judge Cowan is a well known lawyer in Texas and is recognized as strong and well qualified in railroad rate matters; and because of his special knowledge and experience in rates, as well as for his general qualifications and standing as a lawyer, the attorney general selected him to assist in these very important cases, wherein so much is involved to the state and to the railroad commission. —Austin Statesman.

The selection of Judge Cowan to assist in those suits against the railways insures the interests of the state being well looked after. He has the railroad question down to a very fine point.

Mr. Bryan has heard from the south and Mr. Bryan now talks differently. Mr. Bryan told a Louisville audience that he was for regulation first and if that was not successful in controlling the railroads then he favored government ownership. Had Mr. Bryan said that in his New York speech he would have kept down lots of hard feelings.—Waco Times-Herald.

Colonel Bryan has let himself down very easy on the government ownership proposition, but his New York speech will be used with telling effect against the democratic party in the coming congressional elections.

❖ ❖ ❖

Suppose the government should buy all the railroads, paying therefor something like fourteen billion dollars, what would the people who sold the railroads do with the money? This question has been asked and it seems to be pertinent.—San Antonio Express.

Perhaps they would employ it in building new lines and enter into active competition with the government.

The Fort Worth Telegram is a powerful wrestler when it tackles its own straw men. The esteemed Telegram's last wrestling match is now on. It has matched itself against its own straw state division bugaboo and calls on the state to watch it take a fall out of its straw man.—El Paso Times.

And all because The Telegram called the Times down on its suggestion of state division. Truly, we are cruelly but fittingly rebuked.

Fort Worth is boasting of being the birthplace of Joe Gans, the negro prize fighter. We think it would be little to boast of being the birthplace of any prize fighter, but to boast of being that of a negro prize fighter is going beyond the limit of laudable ambition. We like to see any city or community proud of its products, but this goes beyond the limit.—Athens Review.

Fort Worth is not boasting of being the birthplace of Joe Gans. Mention was merely made of the fact that a Tarrant county negro claims to be the father of the negro pugilist. Fort Worth has plenty of other things to boast of without coming down to the level of a pugilistc coon center.

In political circles there is much talk of Cone Johnson of Tyler jumping into the arena against Senator Bailey. Should he do so there'll be exciting times.—Austin Tribune.

Yes, it will be very exciting—for Cone. He will have something to remember for the balance of his natural life.

Judge Bell would have made a better race for governor had he married before the primaries instead of after the primaries. Judge Bell cannot blame the Times-Herald—this paper warned him of the fate that was sure to befall an old bachelor who aspired to be governor of Texas. However, it is all over now, and the Times-Herald hastens to extend congratulations. All the world loves a lover.—Waco Times-Herald.

Judge Bell was seriously handicapped by the fact that he was conducting two campaigns. He won out in the most important one, and has the best wishes of thousands of loyal friends throughout Texas.

Work has been suspended on the railroad line being built south out of Fort Worth. This action was due to the operation of the same magic law that makes a fat Jersey out of a poor cow hit by a railway train. When the people, owning property near the Iola cement works, ascertained that the road was really being built south, with the ultimate view of connecting Egan and Fort Worth, lots valued at $40 jumped to $1,000. If the people do not loosen up and dispose of property to the company at reasonable rates, work may be suspended until land prices are dropped to acceptable figures.—Cleburne Review.

There is always a method of overdoing things, and people who desire to get rich too quick through inflated real estate values usually find themselves coming out of the small end of the proposition.

There is no increase of uneasiness in Mexico over the reported uprising that is to come off there on the 16th of September. There is hardly a doubt anywhere that the confusion over that reported uprising is mostly from sensational sources, and that the sober citizens, native and foreign, do not take the least stock in the sensation, or feel alarm over the result.—San Antonio Light.

There is no question about some people being busy in an effort to foment trouble in Mexico, but the probabilities are that the authorities have the situation well enough in hand to thoroughly control it.

The Pine Tree state republican machine was nearly smashed last week and the democrats feel that there is lots of ground in the New England group worth fighting for this fall in the congressional elections.—Sherman Democrat.

The Maine state election is always regarded as important, and is looked forward to with much interest by both parties. The loss of over 25,000 votes in that state by the republicans this year is considered a very hopeful sign for the democracy.

Ruling on Divorce Proceedings Made in 17th Court

Judge Mike E. Smith of the Seventeenth district court has adopted a rule that is of interest to divorce litigants and that is to make no entry on his trial docket upon the final hearing of a case until he has been notified by the district clerk that the costs in the case have been paid. If upon hearing the evidence the court decides that a divorce should be granted, the party seeking it and the attorney in the case will be so informed, but until the costs are paid the decree will not be entered on the docket. This means that until costs are paid a party securing a divorce cannot legally marry again.

NO PAY, NO FRANCHISE

San Marcos City Council and Telephone Company at Outs

Special to The Telegram.

SAN MARCOS, Texas, Sept. 15.—The city council and the Southwestern Telephone Company have had another twist and the result is a dogfall. Several months ago the franchise of the company expired and a new one was asked, but the council would not grant it unless the company would agree to pay something for the franchise, which they stoutly refuse to do. Yesterday a petition was presented to the council signed by business interests praying the council to do something to settle the matter as it is claimed that the business of certain firms is suffering on account of the lack of telephone connection since the council refuses to permit the company to extend its business by putting in new phones until the franchise is regranted.

Mayor Porter says he is very anxious to grant the company a new franchise if they will agree to pay a reasonable sum for the franchise privilege. The council was divided in its action yesterday afternoon.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio.

SWINE

SUBSTITUTE FOR MILK

We have known many farmers who kept their brood sows penned up closely to express wonder at their ill-luck with their pigs. The fault, dear friend, is not in your sows, but in yourselves, that you do not raise more pigs.

No mother who does not take ample exercise during pregnancy and up to the time of giving birth to young can expect to bear healthy, vigorous offspring, and a sow is no exception. Rather, the sow is more prone to ill-fortune from lack of exercise than any other animal owing to her tendency to acquire fat at that particular time.

A brood sow in pig should not be fed any considerable quantity of grain, especially corn. An ideal food for her then is a good alfalfa or clover field or, wanting that, any pasture that furnishes succulent food is better than a bare lot, and a bare lot is, in turn, far ahead of a small pen.

Plenty of green food, pure water and some mill stuffs, bran, shorts, or middlings, as a thin gruel, is feed enough for any sow. Provide wide shade and shelter from storm and with the feed named above you need have no trouble for lack of pigs.

PIGGIES

Keep the troughs clean.

Alfalfa means an ideal hog pasture.

Provide shade and cool, clean water these hot days.

In buying pure-bred stock look after individual excellence as well as pedigree.

Brood sows before farrowing do best in individual quarters. The small hog houses meet this demand. Better get some.

Sows differ in their milk-giving propensities, requiring different amounts of feed for individuals. Here is where judgment counts.

Pigs should not be hog fat. Keep them growing, but keep them hungry and hustling.

Feed the little fellows in a separate low trough fenced so they can get to it, but so the mother cannot.

Don't take a thin sow that has been nearly exhausted from the nursing of a litter and turn her out on grass without grain and expect her to recuperate rapidly.

The demands for meats of all kinds is growing and the outlook for high prices for hogs is good. This means that breeding stock will bring good prices this fall.

The most satisfactory way to dispose of the rape crop is to employ hurdles and give the hogs a small strip at a time. It means less waste, better control of a feeding ration for fattening swine and aids in second growth of plants.

Put weaned pigs together so they will not be lonesome, and feed milk, shorts and corn, and give them pasture if possible. When all are weaned a separate yard is not so essential.

If the sows are to raise but one litter a year let the pigs run with them until they are 3 months old. Where sows are bred again, wean the pigs at half that age.

It should take nearly a month to get the sow on full feed after farrowing. Then there will be no danger of thumps if the sow gets sufficient protein and she and her pigs are forced to take plenty of exercise.

It is well enough, in embarking in the swine business, to aim at a large herd, but commence with a few sows; in other words, aim at the top, but commence at the bottom.

Pigs will begin to eat with the sows when 2 or 3 weeks old. If getting plenty of exercise it will not hurt them to crack a little corn. But the ideal feed is skim milk and shorts in the form of thin slop. It will make them grow and not get over-fat.

HOG SENSE

The breeder who does not have in his mind the picture of the animal he wishes to produce, is likely to move in a circle.

If there are no trees in the hog pasture, set up some rough scratching posts. They will be very popular at this time.

When pigs weigh about seventy-five pounds they are ready to lay on a pound of flesh a day and will do it if properly fed.

If you have a hoggish hog in your herd cut him out and put him by himself. He will only make a hog of himself and keep the others from doing so.

The practice of using male pigs from common litters for breeding purposes is dangerous. Even though sired by a pure bred, no reliance can be placed upon the offspring of such boars.

FRUIT AT THE BREAKFAST TABLE

Nature Provides Its Own Remedies Which, if Used Judiciously, Insure Perfect Health at All Times

Aside from the pleasure of eating seasonable fruits before beginning the first meal of the day, this custom has undoubtedly arisen from the well known fact that nearly all fruit and more particularly plums and PRUNES contain natural laxative principles which act directly on the stomach and bowels.

Constipation, that dread and troublesome complaint which is undoubtedly the basic cause of nine-tenths of the dyspepsia, indigestion, biliousness, etc., so prevalent among our people today, and, which if neglected, surely leads to more complicated and serious organic diseases, can surely be prevented, and when not too far advanced, can be absolutely cured by the judicious use of the modern laxative and cathartic California Prune Wafers.

They are not a patent medicine in the ordinary sense of the word, being compounded from fresh California Prunes, which every intelligent person knows is truly nature's laxative.

A dainty little wafer, always the same, compounded in a highly concentrated form from fresh California Prunes, they are a natural dissolvent, acting on the contents of the stomach and bowels and not on the organs themselves.

They regulate the Liver and Stomach, Cleanse the System and Purify the Blood, Cure all Bowel Troubles, Biliousness, Bad Breath, Bad Blood, Wind on the Stomach, Bloated Bowels, Foul Mouth, Headache, Indigestion, Pimples and Dizziness.

Every household should have its family package of CALIFORNIA PRUNE WAFERS, and at the first signs of approaching illness, or when under the weather, take a couple of wafers, and the doctor's bills will soon be much smaller than they are now.

You can eat what you please if you follow each meal with a CALIFORNIA PRUNE WAFER, which quickly dissolves the most indigestible food, and helps to carry it through and out of the system in a gentle and healthful manner, without the slightest pain, griping or nausea. 100 Wafers for 25c.

WHISKEY TAKEN FROM CORN COBS

Experiments May Develop New Paying Industry

Special to The Telegram.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—In the manufacture of alcohol from corn cobs and corn stalks at a small cost, the department of agriculture is developing a new industry that the department says will likely be of large commercial value. The investigation which the department is making at Hoopeston, Ill., proved that large quantities of corn cobs, which every year heretofore have gone to waste, can be converted into alcohol in sufficient quantities to justify the erection of a distilling plant in connection with a corn cannery.

Two chemists sent to Hoopeston to make the experiments succeeded by simple methods of fermentation in getting a yield of eleven gallons of alcohol from a ton of green cobs, and by similar methods of getting six gallons of alcohol from a ton of green stalks.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 15.—It has been found that Rockefeller is entitled to free railroad transportation because the president of a pipe line is termed a common carrier. It is really an evidence of strength of character to have a decided preference, and have reasons for it, and act according to it ,and stick to it.

PANHANDLE LOOKS LIKE GARDEN NOW

Range Captain Says Conditions Never Were Equaled

Captain Sam A. McMurray, the well known ranger captain, is in Fort Worth from Colorado. Captain McMurray has always had a strong faith in the outcome of the Texas Panhandle country, and made careful observation and inquiries on his way through it on this trip. He said:

"I never saw in all my life a more beautiful country than the Panhandle is now. The range was never in better shape, the whole face of the earth appearing to be covered with a carpet of green. The grass is luxuriant and there is a fresh look above everything that makes a fellow feel good as he rides through on the train.

"I never saw prettier crops than are now growing in the Panhandle. I passed alongside of corn fields that looked as if they would yield forty bushels to the acre and what cotton I saw was in splendid condition. The seasonable rains this year have put the Panhandle in better shape than it has been in for years and should next year be as seasonable as 1906 lands will jump almost out of sight in value."

Clarendon Man Enthusiastic

J. D. Jefferies of Clarendon, the well known cowman, was in Fort Worth Friday en route home from San Antonio. He said:

"Southwest Texas is in fairly good condition, but there is no part of the state that surpasses the Panhandle this year. People are coming into our section from all directions and Panhandle lands are in demand and steadily advancing in value. Good raw land that a few years ago could have been purchased for $3 is now selling for five times as much, and the price will go much higher if we have a good season next year."

WELL PEOPLE TOO

Wise Doctor Gives Postum to Convalescents

A wise doctor tries to give nature its best chance by saving the little strength of the already exhausted patient, and building up wasted energy with simple but powerful nourishment.

"Five years ago," writes a doctor, "I commenced to use Postum in my own family instead of coffee. I was so well pleased with the results that I had two grocers place it in stock, guaranteeing its sale.

"I then commenced to recommend it to my patients in place of coffee as a nutritious beverage. The consequence is, every store in town is now selling it, as it has become a household necessity in many homes.

"I'm sure I prescribe Postum as often as any one remedy in the Materia Medica—in almost every case of indigestion and nervousness I treat, and with the best results.

"When I once introduce it into a family, it is quite sure to remain. I shall continue to use it and prescribe it in families where I practice.

"In convalescence from pneumonia, typhoid fever and other cases, I give it as a liquid, easily absorbed diet. You may use my letter as a reference any way you see fit." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville" in pkgs. "There's a reason."

GOOD CROWD SEES RACES AT PARK

Sight of Runner Evokes Much Enthusiasm

With M. A. Spoonts, J. H. Maddox and Ed Bowles in the judges' stand a fairly large crowd saw the races at the driving park Friday afternoon, and witnessed some good races, though the true raceman's spirit was shown by the greater interest manifested in the running races, rather than the harness races. That feeling showed from the moment the horses were paraded before the grandstand.

The visitors to the park took the time to see the improvements made and they were delighted with them. Fully two hundred stalls are ready for use, and that is about a true criterion of how well the management has redeemed its promises to make all desirable improvements, and when the fall meet comes on there will be no park in the state that will excel the Fort Worth Driving Park in any respect.

There follows the summaries:

First race, free-for-all pace—First heat, Fox Elkins (Wilson) won; Jack Muhl (Long) second. Second heat, Jack Muhl (Long) won; Fox Elkins (Wilson) second. Third heat, Fox Elkins (Wilson) won heat and race. Time—1:12.

Second race, green pace—First heat, Eva K. (Knight) won; Elzogel (Cromer), second; Tom Jones (Jones) third. Enid also ran. Time—1:16½. Second heat, Eva K. (Knight) won; Elzogel (Cromer) second; Tom Jones (Jones) third. Enid also ran. Time—1:18.

Third race, half-mile dash, running—Miss Parle (Salmons) won, Wise Acre (Davenport) second. Time—0:51¼.

Fourth race, half-mile dash, running—Red Damsel (Davenport) won, Little Fannie (Henley) second, Champ (Salmons) third. Time—0:52.

Fifth race, green trot—Miss Fort Worth (Harrison) won, Tom Patch (Walker) second. Time—1:39. Second heat, Tom Patch (Walker) won, Miss Fort Worth second. Time—1:34½. Third heat, Miss Fort Worth (Harrison) won heat and race, Tom Patch second. Time—1:38.

Sixth race, half-mile dash, running—E. St. George (Henley) won, Miss J. L. Rush (Salmons) second. Time—0:53.

GOULD-HARRIMAN FIGHT

Southern Pacific Said to Be Planning Shreveport Extension

Another step in the impending fight between the Gould and the Harriman interests has been taken, and this time it is the move of the Harriman side, and the intent is said to be to build from Lake Charles, on the Southern Pacific, to Shreveport, where the Southern Pacific would make connections of great value, not only in bringing it business, but, what is so dear to the Harriman party, cut into the Gould territory. It is believed in New Orleans that the Southern Pacific will build to Shreveport from Lake Charles northward to the Red River Valley, at some point in the vicinity of Alexandria, and thence northward on the west bank of Red River to Shreveport.

The same report stated that the Southern Pacific is desirous of connecting Shreveport with its New Orleans line, which extends as far north as Alexandria, on account of through business which such a line would receive at Shreveport from connections traversing the northwest, and that it is also desirous of occupying the rich Red River valley on the west bank of the river, as the Louisiana Railway and Navigation Company has occupied the east bank. In addition, the Southern Pacific would carry out one of its well-defined and cherished policies of paralleling the Texas and Pacific, wherever it is possible to do so.

Bandits Hold Town at Bay and Rob Bank

Special to The Telegram.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 15.—In a raid as spectacular as those in the days of Jesse James on the bank of Akely, Minn., a band of robbers, after virtually holding up the town, blew the building to pieces and carried off $10,000. In the vault was $80,000 in cash and $10,000 worth of diamonds, which the bandits overlooked. The men on guard fired more than fifty shots at citizens and they held the town marshal captive during the robbery.

Pigs may want to become a little too familiar, but that is a good failing. It is better to have them too tame than so wild they cannot be handled.

FRENZIED TO SEE MRS. LONGWORTH

Women Trampled on During Unveiling of Statue

Special to The Telegram.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 15.—With a panic threatening in a crowd estimated at 50,000 surging about the stand erected in the capitol grounds, frantic to secure a glimpse of Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, the President's daughter, the exercises arranged for the dedication of the McKinley monument were suddenly terminated yesterday afternoon after the statue of the martyred President had been hurriedly unveiled by Mrs. Longworth.

The prompt action of the committee on arrangements was regarded as most fortunate, for the crowd was beyond control, and the shrieking of women and children, who were caught in the crush, was rapidly working the crowd into a frenzy. Many women fainted and were carried out of the crowd by the police. Two were so badly hurt that they had to be removed in an ambulance, Mrs. Eliza Louisa Kuhn of 1308 South Sixth street, who was trampled, and a colored woman. Both will recover.

Throughout the exciting scenes, Mrs. Longworth remained cool and self-possessed, but afterward she said:

"It was the worst crush I ever witnessed. I have seen nothing like it in my trip around the world."

Mr. and Mrs. Longworth had an exciting experience in escaping from the crowd at the capitol. From the speakers' stand they went through a window overlooking the platform into the governor's office, but they were scarcely inside when the people began to surge through the doors from the corridors, which were quickly filled. They then attempted to reach an automobile which was waiting for them on the street, but once outside they were caught in a surging crowd. Finding no immediate avenue of escape, they fought their way out of the capitol grounds and across Broad street into the Outlook building. There they remained until a carriage was secured and the police cleared a way to it, and they were driven to the Hotel Hartman. Later they took a train for Cincinnati.

The committee on arrangements had expected an enormous crowd on account of the presence of Mrs. Longworth, but, in view of the solemnity and dignity of the occasion, they believed the crowd would be easily kept in restraint. Under ordinary circumstances the police arrangement would have been adequate, but the officers quickly found they were unable to cope with the crowd.

NEW YORK STOCKS

Reading Again Market Leader—Heavy Buying Continues and Price Rises Addition 4½ Points

Special to The Telegram.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Reading again occupied the center of the stage on the stock exchange and its performance was highly pleasing to the bull crowd. Indications point to the fact that the old bull pool has resumed operations in the stock and are making strenuous efforts to boost the price to 164, the high level touched last January, and should the furious buying which occurred yesterday and throughout the brief session today continue it would seem that their desire was in a fair way to be realized. A block of 8,000 shares changed hands on the call, and while the initial gain was only fractional, the price rose by leaps and bounds until within a comparatively short time 4¼ points had been added to yesterday's gain, making the total for the two sessions 11¼ points, a phenomenal record, considering surrounding conditions and the lack of outside interest in the market. All kinds of rumors explanatory of the rise were again afloat, but still without confirmation, and the consensus of opinion attributed it to manipulation. With the exception of some of the smaller coalers, particularly Baltimore & Ohio, which attracted good buyers and at one time sold at a net gain of 3⅞ points, and American Locomotive, which gained the same amount, the balance of the list was rather neglected and price changes were unimportant, although owing to the strength of the aforementioned issues a good tone was in evidence until after the appearance of the bank statement, which, while very favorable, showing an increase upward of $10,000,000 in the surplus reserve, caused some profit-taking, sending prices off from the best for the general list, the close being irregular.

Market Exhibits Good Recuperative Powers—Foreign Weakness Causes Drop, But Prices Recover Loss

Special to The Telegram.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The cotton market today was as quiet as the usual week-end session and although prices slumped sharply on the first call, recuperative powers were strong and the net loss was inconsequential. The initial loss amounted to 6 to 8 points, being a response to the very unfavorable character of the cables regarding both spot cotton and contract prices, which dropped materially owing to the character of the visible statement, better weather news and freer offerings. The Chronicle summary was also more favorable than expected. The local tone was good at the outset and while considerable cotton was sold in an effort to force a further decline, it was bought back in a short time, when bears perceived that little attention was being paid the foreign weakness. Trading, however, was mostly professional, the evening up of short contracts being responsible for the recovery. The close was steady with prices at a net loss of 1 to 3 points.

Spot cotton prices unchanged at 9.80c for middling, with the market quiet.

New Orleans Cotton

Special to The Telegram.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 15.—While trading was fully as light as usual on Saturday, the cotton market had a good tone today and bears were unable to achieve a signal victory, principally because of the week-end, which tended to restrict aggressive selling despite the fact that the tenor of all the day's news was bearish, Liverpool prices being several points lower than due, the visible increase larger than expected, weather conditions generally good and the Chronicle summary without especial significance, although perhaps better than expected. A sympathetic decline caused the loss of 6 to 8 points at the start, but the intervening holiday and the prospect of more rains in Texas, as indicated by the formation of another cold wave, imbued shorts with a desire to cover rather than put out fresh lines, as a consequence the market steadied and after the first half hour was without feature, closing steady with prices at a net loss of 3 to 4 points.

The spot cotton market ruled quiet and steady, prices being unchanged at 9 5-16c for middling. Sales, 450 spot balese and 1,200 f. o. b.

LIVERPOOL, Sept. 15.—Spot cotton prices declined 7 points, American middling being quoted at 5.56d. Sales aggregated 5,000 bales, including 4,000 American and 500 for speculation and export. Imports, 7,000 bales, all American.

The future market was under pressure throughout the brief session owing to more favorable American advices. Due to open 3½ to 4½ lower, prices at the start showed a decline of 4 points, the market being easy, while the close was quiet with prices at a net loss of 5 to 7 points.

Man Charged With Carrying Pistol and Bogus Imprisonment

Special to The Telegram.

HILLSBORO, Texas, Sept. 15.—Pete Peterson, who lives five or six miles southeast of Hillsboro, is in jail here charged with carrying a pistol and false imprisonment. It is alleged that he went to the farm of Chris Peterson and accosted the son of the latter, charging him with having insulted his wife, and demanding that he go with him and rectify the wrong. Protesting his innocence, the young man reluctantly complied, starting to accompany Peterson home.

His younger brother at once came to town and notified the officers that his brother had been carried from home under duress. An officer overtook the men and found young Peterson a prisoner of the other Peterson, and compelled his release. Peter Peterson was arrested then, a big pistol found in his possession, and he was brought to town and jailed.

Negro Boy Released

Richard Freeman, the negro boy who was held for the accidental death of his half-brother, Herman Freeman, was before County Attorney Jeff D. McLean Saturday morning and the matter was fully investigated. The county attorney satisfied himself that the killing was purely accidental and declined to make any case against Richard Freeman. The boy was released.

Wheat Bulls in Control at Close, Although Profits Derived Were Unimportant—Prices Advance

Special to The Telegram.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 15.—The wheat market finished the week with bulls still in supremacy, although profits derived today were unimportant. The market has behaved all the week as though oversold and the firmness today may be attributed to the same cause. While there was more opposition to the advancing tendency a sufficient line of shorts was liquidated to push prices up ⅝c during the day, but bears were more aggressive in the final hour than at any other time, with the result that the principal portion of the gain was wiped out and the market closed steady with prices at a net gain of only ¼c.

Local receipts 38 cars, including 17 of contract grade, as compared with a total of 360 this day last year.

Corn

Corn trading was fully as light as usual in week-end sessions and under scattered liquidation of long contracts prices dropped ¼c, finals being at the lowest.

Local receipts 385 cars, as compared with 360 this day last year.

Oats

The oats market encountered a fair volume of trade, but fluctuations were extremely narrow and the close was steady with prices unchanged.

Local receipts 193 cars, including 39 of contract grade, as compared with 215 this day last year.

Provisions

Provision trading was absolutely devoid of feature and final prices showed no changes of importance.

Hog receipts were moderately heavy, considering this being the last market day of the week, there being about 400 head coming in from the territories and Texas points, with a few drive ins. The bulk of the run were heavy packers mostly, in mixed loads, with a few medium weights. Packers bought readily and the marketing was soon over. The heavy packers weighed from 212 to 265 pounds, mediums from 138 to 199 pounds.

One load of stocker and feeder hogs was received from Indian Territory. They were not sold on the early market, The market was barely steady, tops selling at $6.35. The bulk sold from $6 to $6.30.

VIEWS ON THE MARKET

Vivion Commission Company

FORT WORTH, Texas, Sept. 15.—The cotton market was dull, and net changes small. Liverpool was worse than expected, probably on better weather, less activity among the spinners, increased offerings from the expectation of freer receipts next week. The opening here was hardly as bad as expected, there being some demand at the decline, indicating the feeling that the market is not on the verge of a serious break. The spinners' takings indicate a fairly good desire to buy and while receipts will likely increase demand is not likely to be slow to improve, unless prices are forced too high. The weather is better than many have expected, but many complications continue to come and it is not known how soon the weather will get bad again and put an end to prospects of a top crop, already bad in many sections. The week's movement was short of last year and unless there is an unexpectedly heavy increase next week the showing will not be so bearish as last year at this time receipts were increasing daily. There is the farmer to be considered and he will not sell if prices break. The short interest for September shipment is thought to be largest and will tend to sustain prices.

Scalping on the longs, taking small profits will be as safe as any policy.

ONLY 100 AT FACTORY CLUB

Meeting in City Hall Is But Lightly Attended

COMMISSION IS FAVORED

Reference to Change in Form of City Government Provokes Applause.

Mayor Urges Franchise Tax

The annual meeting of the Home Factory club at the city hall Friday evening was attended by about 100 people, to the acknowledged disappointment of the officers of the club, who expected and had prepared in the refreshment part of the evening's entertainment, for 500 or more. There were several things of interest. Not a reference to the idea, plan, thought or suggestion even, of a commission for the government of the city that did not elicit liberal applause from practically all, if not all, of those present.

This unanimity of sentiment was also most plainly manifested for every allusion or specific statement favoring the imposition of franchise tax on all kinds of corporations, to whom a grant of any kind was made, involving the use of the streets in any way.

Why Cement Company Quit

Another matter of particular interest now is an explanation of what has caused much inquiry and comment in the last few days, and that is: "Why did the Iola Cement Company leave Fort Worth?"

The statement was made by the president of the club, W. R. Booth, and while he refrained from any reference even, to the Iola company, by name, every one in the audience understood the explanation to apply to that company.

He said that a cement company had come here to establish a great plant, and before the company had acquired all of the land desired publicity was given to the plans and land which they wanted and could have bought prior to making public the plans, at $35 per acre, jumped in price to $1,000 per lot. They would not and could not pay such prices and left. This came in the course of a general statement, made by the president, that the club had a number of good things pending, which he could not talk of in public at this time, for the reason that premature publicity too often defeated the purpose of those who were trying to land enterprises.

Another explanation of the cessation of work on the part of the Iola people, not brought out in connection with the meeting of the factory club, is that the quantity and quality of the earth to be used for the manufacture of the cement was not what the first experts reported it to be.

What Club Has Accomplished

In opening the meeting President Booth stated the good that had come from the patriotic and public spirited efforts of those of and in the Factory club, who had contributed of their substance and of their time for the upbuilding of the city. Among the results he claimed are the location of a female college, a wholesale saddlery and harness firm, a vinegar and pickle factory, produce commission house and many smaller establishments, most of them going to help swell the tin bucket brigade.

He stated that many other enterprises were seeking locations here and yet, for good reasons, must refrain from giving any specific statements about them for fear that the object in view might be defeated. He appealed to all of the citizens for support, saying that the dues were but $1 per month and all could afford that sum.

Mayor Urges Franchise Tax

Mayor Harris followed, after premising that the subject was too big to be handled in that way, and took up the financial phase of the city's affairs. He asserted that the city was laboring under a load of debt and yet the income, which was fully $500,000, from all sources, should pay all expenses and more. One-fifth of the income goes for interest. About a similar amount goes for schools, and then when the general expenses, sinking fund and all else are taken out there is but little left for public improvements. He held that the taxes imposed in the greater degree on private property, were insufficient to meet the demand and that the corporations should bear a truer proportion of the burdens than they now do, not unjust, or excessive burdens, but proportionately such burdens as private property owners now bear. He would be one of the last to do aught to retard the progress of the city, but he did believe that there was the eternal right, inherent in the people, of imposing on all alike, franchise holders and all, such proper, reasonable, conservative and just taxes as will make the contribution to the general income what it should be and equal from all of the people. He advocated the sale of franchises and said that no one should have the right to use the city streets for private gain without compensation to the citizens through its city government. This applies to all grants of privileges on, over or under the streets, which are the public property of all the people.

Colonel R. M. Wynne spoke on the "Need for Systematic Effort in the Upbuilding of the City of Fort Worth." He began by calling attention to the small crowd, which numbered, he said, about three baker's dozen, when they were there for the good of all the people of the city. He took a shot at the referendum, as it had worked out in this city, and said that he had favored it, but when he saw the indifference of the voters he did not know that he now favored the plan. He is unequivocally in favor of the commission form of city government for Fort Worth. He applauded the civic leagues of the city and urged that all of the citizens come to the aid of the Factory club in their work, for it was only by organized effort that good work could be done on the lines they were working.

Major J. J. Jarvis talked briefly on "Factories and Their Benefits." The admirable location of the city, its healthfulness, its unrivalled transportation facilities, unless Houston was an equal in this respect, gave it an advantage that should appeal to all who were seeking locations for their plants or enterprises anywhere in Texas.

T. J. Powell spoke of "Fort Worth as a Home," and enlarged on the good supply of the best of water, as one of the conducements to good health and an integral factor in the welfare of the city; its good schools, its healthfulness, which was unrivalled in the country. He asserted that he was the first citizen of Fort Worth to advocate the taxing of franchises and referred to his fight for the imposition of a tax of that kind on the telephone company when he was a member of the city council.

Benefit of Jobbing

A. P. Foute made the practical talk of the evening, on "Jobbing, Its Advantages and Benefits." He told of the many benefits accruing from a large number of jobbing houses and not the least of these was the use that all of them made of the traveling man, for every traveling man was one of the very best advertisements for the city from which he traveled. He said there were 325 traveling men belonging to the two local organizations of the traveling men and, using the proportion that generally obtained, that would mean that there were fully 450 or more traveling men, with headquarters at Fort Worth, and every one of them an experienced talker for the city wherever he chanced to be. Having the unrivalled advantages that Fort Worth had, there should be no trouble to locate enterprises here, but there must be systematic effort and for that money was needed. If they heard of a good thing, which wanted a location, they should have the money to send some one after it, for the letter writing did but little good. He also advocated the establishment of a freight bureau, for the railways, he said, were friendly to Fort Worth and if the claims of the city were well presented they would come very near to giving the city everything in the way of freight rates, which they could.

O. S. Lattimore told of the great work done by the "Railroads in the Work of City Building," and said there was no other agency comparable to this in that kind of work. Tersely, and yet very strongly, he put the facts of that feature of the evening's program, before the audience.

Lee Stephens spoke on "Labor and Home Industry," and advocated with much earnestness the duty of the people to patronize home industry and then told in some detail of the interest in and the work for the upbuilding of the city organized labor felt and did. The interest of all classes of the people are identical and when one advances others must share in the benefits, was one of his points.

New Members Secured

An appeal of the president for new members elicited a fairly large response, among the number being "Bob" Davis, who tried to pass himself off as R. M. Davis, which no one recognized. Then some one called out: "Put him down as Bob Davis" and then all knew him. Colonel Wynne said that it did not look well for non-members to come out and talk factory club, as they had done, without a membership in the organization, and he was put down as a member and Mr. Lattimore said he "would have to follow suit." Probably twelve or fifteen more gave in their names and then the lunch was enjoyed. That consisted of ham sandwiches, pickles, Saratoga chips, cider and cigars, all home products.

FORMING CHAUTAUQUAS

National Jewish Secretary a Visitor in Fort Worth

Miss Jeannette Miriam Goldberg, field secretary of the National Jewish Chautauqua, arrived in Fort Worth on Friday, coming here from Oklahoma. Miss Goldberg is touring the south with a view to organizing local associations or reading and study circles in the larger towns and cities. She left Saturday for Dallas and will deliver a lecture there on her work Sunday night in the Jewish temple. The national Chautauqua was organized in this country about thirteen years ago by Rabbi Henry Berkowitz of Philadelphia and is today modeled after the general Chautauqua, having its systematic courses of study. George E. Fox is secretary at the home office, and at present George W. Ochs, a well known newspaper man, is at the head of the national organization. The purpose of the organization is to promulgate education in history and literature among the Jewish race. Miss Goldberg's work consists in visiting communities and addressing them on educational topics taught by the main organization. After she has established a reading circle she revisits it during a year.

This is Miss Goldberg's first visit to the south and from here she will go to Houston, Waco, Dallas, San Antonio and other points. She will not confine her trip to Texas, but will visit at points in the southeast, returning to Philadelphia about Jan. 1.

PUMPKIN CONTEST IN

Farmer Raises One Weighing 105 Pounds With 6 Feet Circumference

Special to The Telegram.

SULPHUR SPRINGS, Texas, Sept. 15.—A great deal of rivalry between the different growers near here is shown by their endeavoring to gain first place in a pumpkin growing contest. John D. Williams has the premium pumpkin thus far upon exhibition. The pumpkin weighs 105 pounds, is six feet and one inch in circumference, and was grown by C. P. Ross, living six miles east of this place. There is little, if any, competition for second place, which is now held by a pumpkin weighing but eighty pounds, measuring four feet and ten and three-fourths inches in circumference. It is claimed that pumpkins larger than any yet shown are ripening in the fields.

AUSTIN WANTS BRYAN

State Capital Will Invite Nebraskan to Visit City

Special to The Telegram.

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 15.—In the event that Colonel William J. Bryan accepts the invitation extended him by George A. Carden of Dallas, chairman of the state democratic executive committee, to come to Texas and address the democracy of the state, an effort will be made to have him come to Austin while in the state and deliver an address here.

Colonel Bryan is quite a favorite here, having several years ago spent two weeks here as the guest of Colonel E. M. House and also of Former County Judge A. S. Walker. The distinguished Nebraskan is also well known among the different state officials here from the governor down. It was here that he and former Governor Hogg went on that memorable panther hunt.

Hogs often give a great deal of trouble at this season. The old hen and her chicks are in danger the minute they enter the hog lot. This is especially true of the corn-fed hogs. What the chicken-eating hogs need is more middlings, clover or skim-milk.

REPUBLICANS TO HELP OPENING

Crowd Going From Fort Worth to Meeting in Dallas

The state republican executive committee will meet Saturday afternoon in the Bush Temple of Music in Dallas to open the state republican campaign. A large number of candidates for office will be present and speak at the evening session at 8 o'clock. Several republicans of Fort Worth will go to Dallas for the afternoon meeting and a number more have expressed their intention to go in the evening. From here the party will leave on the 6 o'clock interurban car, arriving in Dallas at 7:30 o'clock. Plans were announced Saturday morning to congregate at the Oriental hotel from where they will adjourn to the hall. Arrangements have been made with the Northern Texas Traction Company to have the last interurban car held in Dallas to suit the convenience of the visitors from Fort Worth. Members of the local Roosevelt club are working hard among interested men to have a large delegation go from here to open the campaign.

STICKS TO POST SCALDED TO DEATH

Engineer Shows Remarkable Heroism in Wreck

Special to The Telegram.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.—Remarkable nerve and heroism were displayed by Hugh S. Murphy, 34 years old, of Alexandria, Va., an engineer of the Southern Railway, who was pinioned under his engine for an hour and five minutes and so badly scalded by escaping steam that he died in half an hour after release.

The engine, pulling a heavy passenger train, jumped the track and upset as it was pulling out of Washington last night. Murphy stuck to his post, reversed the lever and brought the engine to a halt, probably saving many lives.

His legs and right arm were caught underneath the cab and though he cried for help it was half an hour before he was discovered. Though literally cooked by steam he inquired first of his passengers and sent a man for a jack and directed the efforts to rescue him. He leaves a wife and family. The cause of the accident is unknown. The colored fireman saved himself by jumping.

NIECE SOUGHT TO KILL TREPOFF

Kills Frenchman Whom She Thought Her Uncle

Special to The Telegram.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 15.—Identification as Taplana Leontieff, the woman who killed an aged Frenchman named Mueler at Interlaken, Switzerland, Sept. 1, mistaken for M. Durnovo, former Russian minister of the interior, opens up the final chapter of an interesting romance. Mlle. Leontieff is one of the nieces of General Trepoff, who was concerned in an unsuccessful attempt on the life of her uncle in 1905.

This caused a sensation at the time. Mlle. Leontieff was arrested and confined for some time in an insane asylum. She was eventually released on the promise to leave Russia forever. This she did, but she maintained connection with the revolutionary group.

COTTON BELT CLEAR

Though partly cloudy weather, with scattered showers, is still the forecast for Fort Worth and vicinity, the cotton belt states are now having clear skies with but few points reporting cloudiness. The low barometer area which has centered itself in the Rocky mountain region for several days past, is now rapidly moving to the northeast and was noted Saturday morning over the Dakotas, causing rains in the Dakotas, Montana and Minnesota, accompanied by high winds reaching in velocity nearly forty miles. Cloudy weather is the rule over the southwest and rain is reported from western Utah Saturday morning. High barometer overlies the northeastern states and clear cool weather for the past couple of days. Temperatures reported Saturday are: Chicago, 66 and 56; New York, 78 and 60; Knoxville, 86 and 62; Galveston, 88 and 82; San Francisco, 66 and 52, and Spokane, 62 and 42.

Railroad Notes and Personals

On the persistent rumor that the coal carrying railroads would soon have to divest themselves of their coal property holdings, and the belief that such sales would result in great profit to the railways, there is a sharp advance in the price of Reading stock on the New York exchange.

All of the Manhattan surface street railways have advanced wages of all employes on a graduated scale, which involves the companies in an additional expense of more than a quarter of a million dollars.

The heavy rains the night of the 12th instant so damaged the bridge of the Katy over Cedar creek, near Owl, I. T., that the bridge was declared unsafe. There had been no train through Owl from the north since Tuesday to the night of the 14th instant.

The opinion is expressed seriously that a passenger riding on a train on a scalper's ticket, which he has bought at a reduced rate from the scalper, violates the Hepburn bill in that he seeks to travel at a lower rate than that posted by the company as the rate, which latter is a requirement of the bill.

All of the Texas railways have issued notices that all passes of whatever description will be good only over their Texas lines.

The Frisco will run the last Sunday excursion of the season Sunday, Sept. 30, from Denison to Fort Worth, arriving in Fort Worth about 10 a. m. and returning leaving Fort Worth at 7 p. m.

The annual report of the Katy shows increased earnings in spite of the loss of the coal traffic, which usually brings in a great revenue, a loss due to the strike last spring. The expenses of operating the lines were reduced and the company can now pay dividends on its preferred stock. The figures show gross earnings of $21,169,145, an increase of $1,180,050 over last year. Net earnings are $6,168,847, an increase of $696,188. The total surplus is $1,739,315, an increase of $798,424 over last year.

The Orange & Northwestern Railway, which is the southeast Texas end of the Colorado Southern, New Orleans & Pacific, will make extensive improvements at Orange, enlarged terminals, several miles more of sidings, a new brick depot and new freight storage rooms.

THE BREATH OF LIFE.

It's a significant fact that the strongest animal of its size, the gorilla, also has the largest lungs. Powerful lungs means powerful creatures. How to keep the breathing organs right should be man's chiefest study. Like thousands of others, Mrs. Ora A. Stephens of Port Williams, O., has learned how to do this. She writes: "Three bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery stopped my cough of two years and cured me of what my friends thought consumption. O, it's grand for throat and lung troubles." Guaranteed by James Walkup, Holland's Red Cross Pharmacy, Renfro Drug Co. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

COTTON RATE RULING WITHHELD

Interstate Commerce Commission Reserves Decision

Special to The Telegram.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 15.—The interstate commerce commission Friday concluded its hearings regarding the petitions of the various railroads for a waiver of the thirty-day notice provision of the railway rate law regarding intended changes in rates.

M. C. Markham of St. Louis, assistant to the vice president of the Missouri Pacific railroad, was the principal witness and he was subjected to a series of interrogatories by the commission.

He said it perhaps was true that if the thirty-day notice were to be waived it would tend to open the way to outside steamers to compete with part of the business now done by the Leyland and Harrison lines of steamers on export cotton business to Liverpool and Manchester. The witness admitted that it was generally understood that the lines above referred to carried most of the freight, but he would not say that they controlled the situation. He was unable to state whether the regular line steamer rates were less than those of tramp steamers. He said, however, that in his opinion the effect of the abrogation of the system of equalization and applying a fixed rate to the ports would be to work out a reduction in the cost of ocean transportation and thereby tend to increase the prices of cotton to the grower.

After a general discussion of the whole question Representative John Sharp Williams of Mississippi made a plea that the commission exercise the discretion vested in it by suspending for this season, or for ninety days at least, the thirty-day notice, and that at the end of that time give notice that the law requiring the publication of rates to the seaboard must be strictly complied with. Such an arrangement, he said, would give the railroads and the people who deal with them as shippers a breathing spell in which to adapt themselves to the law.

Commissioner Clements, the acting chairman, announced that the committee would take the whole subject under advisement and announce its devision at the earliest possible moment.

Some of the steamship agents and owners profess but little concern in the whole question, saying it is purely a railway matter, and this is particularly true of the Galveston people.

When asked for a description of the method of handling cotton through the port of Galveston from interior points, a prominent steamship agent said: "Hardly 2 per cent of the cotton exported from the port of Galveston is handled on a through bill of lading. The shippers in the interior are represented by freight brokers in this port and deal through them or direct with the steamship agent. For instance: Say a shipper at Sherman has 5,000 bales of cotton for Liverpool. He notifies his broker at Galveston to that effect and asks what room is worth. The broker goes to the agents of the various lines and secures the lowest rate on that amount of cotton from Galveston to Liverpool and if satisfactory to the shipper he consigns his cotton to Galveston; a local bill of lading, which is given to the broker, who immediately makes out a ship's bill of lading and with his insurance papers, deposits them in a local bank, the cotton being taken from the cars and put on board ship for export without any more delay than if shipped from point of origin to destination on a through bill of lading.

"For this reason I cannot see how railroads hauling cotton to Galveston from Texas points can be vitally affected by the thirty days' publication of rates, although there may be some other point connected with the matter that I am not familiar with. The Texas and Pacific, however, in handling Texas cotton via New Orleans, will find the rule of thirty days' notice to be bothersome, for their local rate to New Orleans is about 10c higher than their rate on a through bill of lading.

"The entire rate law, as being discussed at the present time, seems to be little understood and various interests and attorneys put as many different constructions upon it. However, the commission seems to be willing to make it as easy for the railroads and shippers as possible, and I have no doubt that some agreement will be arrived at which will be just and equitable to all."

A RECORD BREAKER.

It is said that the greatest and quickest permanent advertising success on record is that of Cascarets, Candy Cathartic, which have been persistent'y advertised in every way, but chiefly in newspapers for about six years. In that time the sale of Cascarets has grown from nothing to over one million boxes a month. This wonderful record is the result of great merit successfully made known. Those who tried Cascarets as a direct result of advertising, were pleased and recommended the article to their friends, until its fame was spread to become universal.

NO VERDICT REACHED

Jury in J. H. Thomas Case Finally Discharged

After having been out twenty-four hours endeavoring to agree on a verdict the jury in the case against Dr. J. H. Thomas of Handley, charged with an aggravated assault on Mrs. F. C. Foster, was discharged by Judge Robert F. Milam Friday afternoon. The case was bitterly fought on both sides, and there is considerable feeling over it in the Handley neighborhood. There is another case growing out of the same matter yet to be tried.
