ENGLAND SUSPENDS GOLD STANDARD IN CRISIS

Wines, Beer And Dismissal Of Farm Board Advocated By Demo Chairman

SHOUSE GIVES OUTLINE OF '32 PROGRAM

Tariff Revision Suggested For Action in New Congress

'PERSONAL VIEWS'

Hoover Berated for Waiting Until Last to Secure Debt Revision

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20. (AP)—Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, wants the party to declare for light wines and beer.

Suggestions put forward by him today also call for abolition of the farm board, tariff revisions and re-enactment of the Wagner bill establishing employment offices nationally. He would have the Democrats work for this legislation in the coming congress.

Platform Views

Published by the Woman's National Democratic club, the proposed platform likewise advocates the five-day week for federal employes and opposes use of the injunction in labor disputes. It berates the Hoover administration.

Shouse, submitting his views to the Democratic Bulletin on request, said these were personal entirely. The publication disclosed other Democratic leaders have been asked their platform ideas, to be put out by the club later.

The outline of the platform, however, was issued from the national committee's headquarters and was regarded as undoubtedly the product of extensive conferences.

The only difference between the Shouse "personal" offering and an official Democratic party one is that it offers a chance for change if the reaction is unfavorable.

As to the moratorium on intergovernmental debts, Shouse said President Hoover "waited until the last minute of the last hour of the last day."

The party should pledge itself for a prohibition referendum, he contended, by offering a substitute for the eighteenth amendment. Congress first would have to pass the substitute; but in voting the members "need not voice personal endorsement," Shouse said.

Referendum on Iquor

"They can merely state a willingness to offer to the people the chance to pass judgment in the knowledge that unless and until ratified by three-quarters of the states the substitute can not be effective," he explained.

Amendment of the Volstead act immediately was the means advanced to legalize light wines and beer. The beer tax alone would yield immense revenue, he maintained, but employment would be afforded "several hundred thousand idle men."

Pair Arrested After Robbery of Collector

DALLAS, Sept. 20. (AP)—Dallas detectives held two men today for questioning in connection with the robbery of a chain grocery store collector and his assistant in which $3,500 was taken last night.

W. E. Caldwell, collector, and W. H. Armington, negro helper, were robbed as Caldwell was moving the truck from a parking place near one of the stores from which he collected.

Detectives said they arrested the men because they believed they knew something about the robbery.

Bluebeard Slayer Rushed to Prison As Angry Mob Surrounds Small Jail

Harry Powers Carried to Safety Under Escort of Two Heavily Armed Cars of State Troops

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va., Sept. 20. (AP)—Harry F. Powers, slayer of two women and three children, occupied a cell in the new death cell annex of the West Virginia prison tonight, after being rushed here from Clarksburg, where a threatening crowd milled about the county jail early today.

Powers was put under heavy guard and Warden A. C. Scroggins announced no one would be permitted to see the prisoner except authorized persons.

Powers Trembles

The slayer of Mrs. Asta Eicher and her three children of Park Ridge, Ill., and Mrs. Dorothy P. Lemke, of Massachusetts, was trembling when he was escorted into the penitentiary but regained his composure quickly and spent most of this afternoon sleeping.

Powers was transferred to the little stone jail at Clarksburg a short time after his victims were found buried in a ditch six miles from Clarksburg about a month ago. Shortly after last midnight a crowd began milling about the jail and Sheriff Grimm and other Harrison county authorities, after a hasty conference, hustled Powers out of a rear door into an automobile and hurried him to the state prison.

Escorted by Troops

The prisoner was slipped out through a rear door of the jail and through the sheriff's residence to where three automobiles were waiting after a mob of several thousand persons had milled about the jail throughout the night and morning.

Powers was pushed into the center car between two officers. As the machine moved away he cried to the sheriff, "My God, man, you don't know how much I appreciate what you have done for me."

A carload of troopers with two machine guns preceded the car with the prisoner and another car brought up the rear with a third machine gun and a case of tear gas bombs, which were unnecessary as the cavalcade was away before the crowd understood what was happening.

The mob gathered shortly before midnight last night after rumors had spread throughout that mob action would occur.

Lack of a leader seemed to deter concentrated action on the part of the crowd which seemed to be awaiting a second mob which was rumored to have planned to take the prisoner from the jail.

KILGORE SHOW TROUPE JAILED

Burlesque Cast Accused of Indecent Exposure

KILGORE, Texas, Sept. 20. (AP)—Bennie Kirkland and eight girl members of his burlesque troupe were at liberty here today on bond after spending four hours in the Kilgore jail on charges of indecent exposure. Trial was set for Sept. 28.

The troupe was arrested at 1 o'clock this morning as officers broke up a midnight performance, played to a capacity house. Jeers and threats from the audience met the raiders. Despite threats to jail anybody who would follow the troupers a crowd of about 300 followed the officers to the jail.

Awakened at 2 o'clock, Gen. Jacob F. Wolters, commandant of the oil field martial law zone, issued a statement in which he said national guardsmen were not to take part in such raids. He said his instructions to soldiers to cooperate with civil authorities were not to be construed as authority to participate.

The audience at the midnight show was made up largely of oil workers with a few women present. Constable A. P. Farrar led a force of deputies down the aisle. Climbing the stage the officers arrested the troupe. The show was being given in a tent. A troupe, playing in an adjoining theatre, was not molested.

The troupers spread newspapers on the jail floor to spend the night. Attorneys were forced to go to Longview to arrange bond with district judge. Bond was placed at $100 each.

MRS. COLLINGS EXPANDS STORY

Widow Gives New Clues in Yacht Murder

By JOSEPH MULVANEY

(Copyright, 1931, by Universal Service, Inc., and New York American, Inc.)

STAMFORD, Conn., Sept. 20.—Startling new clues to the identity of the murderers of Benjamin P. Collings were revealed today by the slain sportsman's widow, Lillian, at a family conference in her Stamford home. Still suffering from the shock of the Penguin tragedy, the young woman told relatives that she had recovered sufficiently to formulate a clear theory of the cause of the crime and to make definite suggestions to aid in the apprehension of the slayers.

The most dramatic disclosure made by Mrs. Collings was embraced in this statement:

"While we were in the canoe, the elder man told me that he was the father of three children. He also said that his wife was not good enough for him, that she was ignorant and that he had worked his fingers to the bone to earn an honest living before he turned to a career of crime.

Noticed Man in Canoe

"Let me explain the little things that led up to it all. In the afternoon of Wednesday, Sept. 9, about 5:30 o'clock, I noticed a man padding back and forth in a canoe off Price's Bend where our boat was anchored.

"Betsy—that's Barbara—and I were playing on the sand and paid no attention. The canoe seemed to mean nothing but I did notice the man wore a cap, pulled down over his face. He paddled as close as eight or 10 feet to the Penguin's side.

"After a while, Betsy tired of play and we went back to the Penguin where I began preparing supper. That done, I slipped into my own bathing suit and dropped into the water.

Couple Retire

"Then I noticed the man in the canoe again. He did not speak nor make any sign of recognition. He

Two Suspects Held for Kidnaping of Texan

HOUSTON, Sept. 20. (AP)—Two men were held at Bellville today for questioning in connection with the purported kidnaping of A. P. C. Brandt, night baggageman for the Katy railroad at Sealy, yesterday morning.

Sheriff Rembert of Bellville was en route home from Eagle Lake to investigate a report one of the suspects had made a statement to special officers and indicated important developments in the case would follow later.

Brandt reported to police here yesterday that he was bound and blindfolded shortly after midnight Friday at Sealy and taken for a ride by three men. He said he was forced out of the car about seven miles from Houston.

OFFICERS REST CASE AGAINST NEGRO PAIR

Confession Here Completes Evidence in Slaying Of Nodurft

JURY MEETS OCT. 5

Pistol Taken From Black Sent to Expert for Examination

Wichita Falls authorities Sunday rested their case against two negroes, Robert Pope and Richard Brown, who are held in jail at Fort Worth charged with murder in connection with the shooting of Audrey N. Nodurft and the assault of his young woman companion here Sept. 9.

A confession was obtained Saturday from Brown, who admitted a part in the attack and named Pope as the negro who fired the shot that severed Nodurft's spinal cord, according to Mike Anglin, assistant district attorney.

Although Pope maintains his innocence, Sam B. Spence, district attorney, declared that with the mass of evidence accumulated, and with Brown's statement a very strong case is presentable against the pair.

Negroes in Fort Worth

Brown's confession came after hours of grilling by Mr. Anglin and Warren W. Belcher, special investigator. Immediately after the negro had signed the statement admitting he was with Pope when the attack occured, he was hurried out of the city to Fort Worth, where Pope was removed almost immediately after his capture Friday afternoon when he concealed himself in the Goodner Grocery Company building in an effort to elude officers. He was viewed first, however, by the young woman.

Sheriff Perry Browning said Sunday that he did not know how long it would be necessary to hold the two negroes at Fort Worth. Although the grand jury, which convenes Oct. 5, will make an investigation into the case, it was not known whether the pair would be returned here for the hearing.

Four negroes, two of them women, are held in the county jail as material witnesses. Mr. Spence said that probably no charges would be filed against them as accessories after the fact. Instead, they will be held as witnesses, although they probably will be allowed to make appearance bond, the district attorney said.

Four Others Held

One of the negresses is the woman captured by Sheriff Browning and Pat Allen, deputy, when the woman and Pope were surprised on Holliday creek Friday morning. Pope at the time escaped temporarily.

The negress' home was searched, leading to the discovery of a diamond engagement ring, identified as the one given by Nodurft to his fiancee, and a .44 calibre revolver, believed to be the one with which Nodurft was shot.

The second negress maintains a home on Roosevelt street, where Brown was captured, according to his statement, almost immediately after his return here from Gainesville. Both negroes were lodgers at the Roosevelt street place.

The two negro men are said to have been companions of Pope and Brown.

Statements from witnesses were obtained Friday night by George Anderson and Mike Anglin, assistant district attornies.

All authorities who had gone to

State to Award Road Contracts For $5,000,000

AUSTIN, Texas, Sept. 20 (AP)—Highway construction estimated to cost between $4,500,000 and $5,000,000 will be placed under contract at the meeting of the Texas highway commission starting tomorrow.

The schedule of awards includes improvement of 331 highway miles and 23 bridge projects. The road projects call for 90.9 miles of concrete paving; 72.6 miles asphalt and other hard surfaced paving; 145.9 miles grading and drainage construction; 21.7 miles of graveling and 8.8 miles of reconstruction.

The commission will consider placing the minimum highway wage law into effect. It requires that laborers on state highway jobs be paid at least 30 cents an hour.

Hoover's Statistics on Beer Making Cited

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (US)—Added momentum was given to the agitation to legalize beer today by the statement of John J. Cochran, of Missouri, who quoted President Hoover as saying in 1918 that 4,500,000 bushels of grain were used by breweries each month.

Cochrane who pointed out the amount of grain, coal, sugar and other products used in making beer as well as the number of men employed in the industry, took his figures from advertisements printed by dry advocates in 1918.

Community Chest's Drive For $59,000 Opens Here Today

An attendance of more than 200 campaign workers at the "early bird" breakfast to be staged at the Wichita club at 7:30 o'clock Monday morning by the community chest organization was predicted Sunday evening.

It was stated that emphasis will be placed throughout the week upon the following slogan adopted by the chest for this year's campaign: "Thank God you can share and give more now than ever before, because the need is greater."

The object of the campaign to be waged this week by the army of 250 workers is the raising of $59,921 with which to foster the relief and welfare work of the 10 agencies comprising the chest during the coming year.

Entire Force Meets

Monday's general mobilization of all the campaign forces will be the first meeting on which every committee of the organization will be present in its entirety.

For three weeks leaders of the movement have been rallying the volunteer assistance of workers and preparing for the campaign which it is hoped will be culminated successfully by Friday night of this week.

Emphasis has been placed this year upon the emergency faced by the community chest agencies in administering to greatly increased numbers of persons who are in need.

Not only has the widespread unemployment brought unheard of demands for relief and welfare service but it has greatly reduced the number of people in a position to subscribe to the fund. Owing to this factor, leaders of the movement have frequently pointed out that those residents of Wichita Falls who have suffered less or whose capacity for weathering a world-wide depression has been greater, must now make up for those who formerly subscribed but

Former Oklahoma Family Wiped Out

DELANO, Calif., Sept. 20. (AP)—Six members of a family were killed when a Southern Pacific train struck the automobile in which they were returning from a dance 12 miles from Delano early today.

The dead were William E. Youngblood, 39, formerly of Henryetta, Okla.; Mrs. Laura Ellen Youngblood, 38, his wife; Raymond Youngblood, 17, a son; William Youngblood, 15, a son; Harold Youngblood, 15, a son, and Ellen Youngblood, 8, a daughter.

Engineer R. O. Quackenbush said he blew the train whistle a considerable distance from the crossing. Coroner J. M. Hadley said the only explanation for the tragedy he could give was that the driver must have fallen asleep.

The bodies were badly mangled and the automobile destroyed. Identification was difficult.

McGregor Mass Meeting To Protest Utility Rates

AUSTIN, Sept. 20. (AP)—A mass meeting will be held tomorrow night at McGregor, McLennan county, to protest against utility rates charges in that vicinity. James V. Allred, attorney general, and Representative J. B. Ford of McGregor have been invited to attend.

Ford stated gas, light, power, water and telephone rates would be protested, claiming that approximately 25 per cent of the proceeds received for the cotton crop would be spent to pay utility charges at the present rates and with the low price of cotton.

East Texas Produces 434,552 Bbls. Sunday

KILGORE, Texas, Sept. 20. (AP)—Operators' reports to military authorities gave production in the East Texas oil field for the 24-hour period ending at 7 a. m. today as 434,552 barrels from 1,987 wells.

A general order, limiting production in the field to 185 barrels per well per day, was distributed today.

HOT SPOT

Wichita Records Highest Temperatures in Fall Heat Wave

(By The Associated Press)

Texas continued to swelter under a protracted heat wave Sunday although the autumnal equinox was but one day away.

Tomorrow is the official beginning of the fall season.

Two thirds of September's 30 days were gone and unseasonable temperatures, some of which soared as high as 97 degrees, at Wichita Falls were reported from all sections of Texas.

Skies were overcast at Amarillo with a threat of rain. No rainfall was reported in sections where precipitation is needed.

Reports on yesterday's temperature maximums included: Wichita Falls 97; Corsicana 96; Dallas 94; Austin 93; Waco 93; Amarillo 91; Beaumont 90, and Galveston 87.

CHINESE NOTE WARNS JAPS

Immediate Withdrawal of Troops Demanded

(By The Associated Press)

While a Rengo news agency dispatch early Monday told of the destruction by Chinese soldiers of a section of the Chinese Eastern railway, the Chinese foreign office at Nanking Sunday night dispatched a second note of protest to Japan against the "occupation of Japanese troops of Manchurian territory."

Second Protest

The protest demanded immediate evacuation by Japanese troops of all territory now occupied and restoration of conditions as they were before a clash at Peitaying last Friday.

Although the Chinese foreign office's first protest was received at Tokyo Sunday, it was not to be answered until some time Monday. The Japanese answer, a foreign office spokesman said, will protest what the government considers a deliberate attempt by Chinese troops to destroy property of the South Manchurian railway.

Foreign Minister Baron Shidehara and other Japanese officials yesterday conferred on the Manchurian situation, considering among other points what steps will be taken if the matter is presented to the League of Nations.

63 Killed, 119 Wounded

Casualties during fighting at Kwanchengtse and Naling were placed by Rengo news agency at 63 dead, 119 wounded and two missing. A communique from Mukden said Japanese losses at Peitaying and vicinity were two dead, 18 wounded.

Nothing official was available on Chinese losses, but they were described as "considerable."

RAILROAD DESTROYED, SAYS REPORT

TOKYO, Sept. 21. (Monday) (AP)—a dispatch to the Rengo news agency from Changchun early today said the southern section of the Chinese Eastern railway between Kwanchengtse and Ichienpu had been destroyed by Chinese soldiers.

Word of the alleged destruction of the railroad was received shortly after receipt of a strongly worded protest from Nanking, charging the occupation by Japanese troops of Mukden and other Manchurian cities was entirely unwarranted.

DRASTIC MOVE EXPECTED TO HALT OUTFLOW

Government Bank Raises Discount Rate to Six Per Cent

GOLD SUPPLY DROPS

Heavy Withdrawals Imperil Stability of British Currency

By VICTOR EUBANK
Associated Press Staff Writer

(Copyright, 1931, by The Associated Press)

LONDON, Sept. 20.—In one of its most serious financial crises since the world war, Great Britain went off the gold standard tonight and the Bank of England announced the raise of its discount rate from 4½ per cent to 6 per cent.

Announcement of this drastic action to halt the outflow of gold followed a special session of the cabinet, which unanimously decided that only immediate suspension of the gold redemption act would prevent a currency catastrophe.

Stock Exchanges Close

Parliament will drop all its other business tomorrow and it is expected that by night the necessary legislation will be passed and will have received royal approval.

The London stock exchange will be closed tomorrow, together with other exchanges throughout the country.

It was emphasized, however, there would be no interruption to ordinary banking business.

After the cabinet meeting, a statement was issued from 10 Downing street, residence of Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, as follows:

"His Majesty's government have decided after consultation with the Bank of England that it has become necessary to suspend for the time being operation of the subsection of the gold standard act of 1925 which required the bank to sell gold at a fixed price.

Reasons Given

"A bill for this purpose will be introduced immediately and it is the intention of his majesty's government to ask parliament to pass it through all its stages on Monday, the 21st of September. In the meantime, the Bank of England has been authorized to proceed accordingly in anticipation of the action of parliament.

"The reasons which led to this decision are as follows:

"Since the middle of July, funds amounting to more than 200,000,000 pounds (approximately $1,000,000,000) have been withdrawn from the London market.

"During the last few days, withdrawals of foreign balances have accelerated so sharply that his majesty's government felt it was bound to take the decision mentioned above.

Reserve Low

"This decision will, of course, not affect obligations of his majesty's government or of the Bank of England which are payable in foreign currencies.

"Gold holdings of the Bank of England amount to some £130,000,000 ($650,000,000) and, having regard to contingencies which may have to be met, it is inadvisable to allow this reserve to be further reduced.

"His majesty's government have arrived at their decision with the greatest reluctance. But during the last 10 days the international financial markets have become demoralized and, have been liquidating their sterling assets regardless of their intrinsic worth. In the circumstances there was no alternative but to protect the financial position of this country by the only means at our disposal."

Third Raise in Rate

This is the third time that the bank rate has been raised since it touched its lowest post-war figure of 2½ per cent last May. On July 23 the rate was raised to 3½ per cent and in the following week to 4½, at which figure it remained until today.

The bank rate has not stood at 6 per cent since Oct. 31, 1929. In that month it was reduced from 6½ per cent. The highest figure at which it has stood since 1914 is 10 per cent, to which it was raised two days before the declaration of war on Aug. 3, 1914.

There is no record of the rate

Slight Earthquake Shakes Houses In Parts of Two Midwestern States

TOKYO, Sept. 21. (AP)—(Monday)—A severe earthquake struck Tokyo at 11:20 a. m. today (8:20 p. m. Sunday, central standard time), and it was feared considerable damage was done by the shocks.

SIDNEY, Ohio, Sept. 20. (AP)—Two churches, the high school and virtually every house in the village of Anna, Shelby county, were damaged badly by the earthquake that rumbled through western Ohio and eastern Indiana late today.

An outside wall of the Methodist Episcopal church was cracked and the cornerstones of the Lutheran church were jarred loose. The interiors of both structures were damaged.

Plastering was shaken from the walls of every room in the high school, while chimneys were topped from village houses. All merchandise was shaken from the shelves of the general store. Authorities said the total damage would exceed $10,000.

CHICAGO, Sept. 20. (AP)—The earth's surface in districts of Indiana and Ohio did a little readjusting of its own today, but beyond momentarily frightening a few residents, damage was slight.

Tremors shook and jarred structures over a wide area in the two states but the shocks were not se-

Former Sherman Judge Succumbs From Shot Intended for Another

SHERMAN, Texas, Sept. 20. (AP)—Two charges, in connection with the accidental shooting of J. Q. Adamson, former Grayson county judge and assistant district attorney, were filed against E. W. Wiley Green of Dorchester in justice of peace court here this afternoon.

Adamson died this morning from a bullet wound he received late yesterday afternoon while sitting on a park bench in the business section here. Green surrendered after the shooting, saying he had shot three times in an effort to hit Lorin Gooding of the Day community. He collapsed when told one of the bullets had struck Adamson, saying the judge was one of his best friends.

The charges placed against Green were murder in connection with Adamson's death and assault to murder Gooding.

Adamson did not recover consciousness. Funeral services will be held from Travis Street Methodist church tomorrow afternoon.

PRISONER SLAIN BY CELL MATE

MARLIN, Texas, Sept. 20. (AP)—A. A. Thompson, 60, inmate of the Falls county jail, was wounded fatally when attacked late yesterday. Authorities said today murder charges would be filed against Thompson's cell mate.

Officers said the man who attacked Thompson had occupied the cell with him but a short time,

CHINA SENDS JAPAN NOTE

Occupation of Manchuria Protested

soldiers at Kwanchengtse, contending such action ignores the Kellogg anti-war pact and threatens the peace of the Orient.

Nanking demanded the immediate withdrawal of Japanese troops from the various occupied areas within Manchurian territory.

Tomorrow Tokyo will answer the note, protesting against what the government considers a deliberate attempt of Chinese regulars to destroy property of the South Manchurian railway.

A dispatch from Harbin to the Rengo news agency said Soviet Consul General Orlov drew attention of Japanese Consul General Nakano today to the alleged detention of all Soviet railway employes and the injury to two of them during the Japanese occupation of Kwanchengtse. Nakano promised a prompt investigation.

Japan Gives Views

A spokesman for the foreign office said the government views the bombing of railway property at Peitaying as engineered chiefly by a clique of young Chinese officers. It was thought the officers took that means of indicating their feelings against the Japanese, who had been pressing Mukden for an account of the shooting of Capt. Shintaro Makamura and several Russians as spies.

Recently Tokyo was told a Chinese general and 11 soldiers were to be executed for the "unjustified executions." The foreign office spokesman said there was no contention made that higher authorities in Mukden had any cognizance of the plans of the young officers.

Rengo news agency says officials made it clear that Japan would do its utmost to prevent further occupation of Manchurian territory and emphasized that every effort was being made to localize the affair.

GENERAL LEAVES FOR MANCHURIAN FRONT

NANKING, Sept. 20. (AP)—Having failed to receive an answer to its note of protest to Japan yesterday over the occupation by Japanese troops of Manchurian territory, the Chinese foreign office dispatched a second note late tonight.

The protest, sent through the Japanese minister to China, demand immediate evacuation by the Japanese troops of all territory now occupied and restoration of conditions as they were before the clash at Peitaying Friday. China will reserve all her rights, the note concluded.

Foreign Minister Wang said his government was prepared to "lay all facts before the world, so that it would be judged which party was the aggressor." Appropriate steps will be taken, he said, to appraise the signatories of the Kellogg anti-war pact and the League of Nations.

Nanking leaders, meanwhile, awaited word from Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shekbn who was en route to the Hunan province war front when the Manchurian disturbance broke out.

'Insanity Mike' Ahern Expected By Underworld to Free Al Capone

Gangland's Favorite "Springer" Has Bag of Legal Tricks To Aid Scarface in Court

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—"Insanity Mike will save Scarface from taking much of a rap, say de boys in de speaks." Translated into English:

Attorney Michael Ahern will save Alphone (Scarface Al) Capone, "world's worst criminal," from a lengthy term in Leavenworth penitentiary, say the underworld denizens who operate Chicago's several thousand illegal saloons.

Capone goes to trial Oct. 6 on charges of defrauding the government of $215,000 in income taxes. Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson will rule simultaneously whether Capone must stand trial also on 5,000 separate beer charges.

Ahearn to Do Arguing

The tall, slim Ahern, with the blue black hair and the smile that reminds one of an open-hearted, guileless schoolboy, will do all the arguing in court with District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson. And if Ahern doesn't display some new legal tricks, doesn't obtain for his paunchy client a light sentence, then "de boys in de speaks" are going to be disappointed.

Ahern is a criminal attorney so typical he looks as though he might have stepped off the talking screen of the latest gangster movie. He was born 43 years ago in the tough Bridgeport avenue iron working settlement, back of Chicago's stock yards. Alternately he went to school and drove a truck until he finally became a lawyer. For a time he was an instructor in a legal school. And then he popped into the front pages of the newspapers and won his nickname of "Insanity Mike" when he discovered a new way to keep murderers from going to the electric chair.

He found an ancient Illinois law which said a jury could find a murderer insane. Ahern tested the law on Scalise and Anselmi, two "rats" who shot down a pair of patrolmen in cold blood in 1925.

Makes Reputation

The jury found them insane. Ahern congratulated himself, and Scalise and Anselmi strolled from court, free men, thanks to the devious workings of the law. Both were taken for an underworld "one way ride" a few months later, but Ahern's reputation was made. Almost every gangster who got entangled in the courts tried to retain Ahern.

Then came the case of "Machine Gun Jack" McGurn and Louise Rolph, his "blonde alibi." McGurn was wanted in connection with the St. Valentine's day massacre. He proved that he was in a room at the Stevens hotel with Miss Rolph while seven men were being slaughtered in a North Clark street garage. "Aha," said prosecutors, "Machine Gun Jack and his blonde alibi aren't married; we'll prosecute 'em on morals charges."

McGurn hired Ahern, who told a jury:

"They say they're married. You prove they're not."

Prosecutors couldn't prove they weren't married; Machine Gun Jack and the beautiful Miss Rolph were freed. They later were sentenced on Mann act charges, but Ahern's reputation as a "springer" wasn't dimmed.

Al Fires Staff

Capone, meanwhile, had been having his own troubles in the courts. He fired his staff of high-priced legal talent and hired Ahern alone. And Ahern apparently has been keeping Capone out of the penitentiary these many months.

"Scarface Al" pleaded guilty in July, for instance, to both income tax and beer charges. The wily Ahern's assistant got into an argument with the judge. The judge denounced alleged "deals" between Capone and the prosecutor, and continued the case. Capone changed his plea to not guilty on the income tax charge. That necessitated further delay. The trial was supposed to have come up again on Sept. 8. It was postponed once more when Ahern demanded that the beer charges be quashed. That will be fought out in court in October.

And when the trial finally starts, it may drag out a year, or even two, if Ahern's success in tying legal knots continues. Capone is so confident of Ahern's ability that he now appears at baseball games, theaters and horse races, gets his pictures in the papers and takes life casually, like a big busines man on a lengthy vacation.

Expert to Test Negro's Pistol

Fort Worth in connection with the removal of the two suspects there had returned here by late Saturday night. Activities Sunday consisted mainly of tying bits of evidence into the whole.

Spence Praises Officers

The 44 revolver was forwarded Friday to a ballistics expert at Oklahoma City for comparison with the lead slug taken from Nodurft's body after his death. A report definitely establishing whether or not the pistol is the death instrument, is expected Monday or Tuesday from the expert at the Oklahoma state identification bureau.

Mr. Spence Sunday highly praised the cooperation with which every official department of the city and county have worked toward the clearing up of the case. Officers of the police, sheriff's and constable's departments, he said, have worked in perfect harmony.

The present status of the case, Mr. Spence declared, is not the result of one day or two days of work, but is the result of the several days that have elapsed since the crime was committed. Each department, the district attorney explained, has painstakingly worked out every clue, regardless of how insignificant it may have appeared, with the ultimate result that the case now probably is solved.

who now are actually the recipients of the aid of the various agencies financed by the chest.

Those close to the movement declare that they believe the people of this community will meet the challenge confronting them just as hundreds of other cities have already met it.

They say that many communities that never before have been successful in financing their community chest budgets are now over-subscribing materially increased goals.

Cline Issues Statement

In a statement on the eve of the opening of the campaign, Walter D. Cline, general chairman of the 1931 appeal for funds said Sunday night:

"It has been my pleasure to address many groups of men and women during the past three weeks in regard to our 1931 community chest appeal and I am happy to add this word as the hundreds of volunteer workers take up their kits and prepare to carry the chest message to the four corners of the community.

"Briefly, it is unthinkable that Wichita Falls should fail to attain its chest budget this year of all years and yet unless we all face the issue squarely and unitedly there can be no other result.

"I do not think that there is any tendency on the part of our people to do less than their full share during this emergency or to adopt a 'let George do it' policy. That is unlike Wichita Falls. If that should come to pass the failure of the 1931 chest is certain and the inevitable result will be indescribable suffering here during the coming winter.

"Realizing that through no fault of their own, many of those good people who last year subscribed to the community chest are not in a position to participate with us this year, I am sure that all of our people will unite to take up the standard from their hands and by substantial increases on the part of each individual who has an income, make up for them this year. That is the only way we can succeed—and we must achieve success."

Austin Farmer Held For Shooting Hunter

AUSTIN, Sept. 20. (UP)—Charges of assault to murder were filed today against Earnest Thurman, 30-year-old gravel truck driver, in the shooting of Gilbert Smith, 20, near Bluff Springs.

Smith fell with a high-powered rifle bullet in his abdomen as he stooped to examine a bird he had shot. His condition still is serious, physicians at St. David's hospital here said.

Thurman, who lived in a small rent house near Bluff Springs, had objected to youths hunting in his neighborhood because of possible injury to cattle, Sheriff Coley White was told.

England Quits Gold Standard

ever before having been changed on Sunday. The highest it has been since the end of the war is 7 per cent, at which it stood from April 1920, to April 1921. On April 28, 1921, it dropped to 6½ per cent and in the following June to 6. In September 1929, it again touched 6½, but was reduced in October to 6 and in November to 5½.

WALL STREET APPLAUDS MOVE

NEW YORK, Sept. 20. (AP)—Part suspension of gold payments by the Bank of England was applauded in high Wall street banking circles today as a constructive measure, dictated by an emergency situation.

It was pointed out that the suspension does not affect recent loans to Great Britain by the federal reserve and the private banking syndicate since these loans are specifically payable in gold dollars. Neither does it affect service on the bulk of the British dollar bonds held in this country since they are specifically payable, both as to principal and interest in gold dollars.

It is expected here that the British banking authorities will control foreign exchange transactions, in a measure similarly to the control which has been exercised in Germany.

While the British crisis has caused considerable uneasiness in financial circles, largely because of the uncertainty of the outcome, Wall street bankers assert it will have less effect on the American banking system, since American short-term balances in London are small, indeed, compared with those in Germany.

American banks have maintained small balances in London for their clients, but these are estimated in informed banking quarters here as probably not exceeding $50,000,000.

Quake Rocks Middle West

vere enough to weaken foundations and cause buildings to collapse.

The disturbance, according to geologists of the local weather bureau were caused by the slipping of strata under the earth's surface. These geological readjustments occur sporadically in the Middle West but no serious damages has resulted during the past 100 years.

Today's oscillations were most severe at Cincinnati, Springfield and Lima, Ohio. Windows rattled, houses trembled and alarmed citizens telephoned police departments to ask if there had been an explosion.

Tremors also were felt at Indianapolis and Richmond, Connersville and Liberty, Ind.

The maximum length reported for the shocks was about 15 seconds.

There were no injuries reported. Special Policeman Arthur Soos of Wapakonetta, Ohio, said the floor shook and windows and dishes rattled in his home. He first believed an automobile had struck the house, he said.

MRS. COLLINGS EXPANDS STORY

Widow Gives New Clues in Yacht Murder

paddled slowly along shore and I did not notice him further.

"At a little after 11, Ben and I decided to go to bed ourselves. The night was hot. We did not wear night clothing.

"I must have dozed off quickly for the next thing I heard was men talking. Then I recognized my husband's voice from the deck, too.

"I looked up over the cabin's swinging doors and saw two men. Ben was telling them that his wife and child were aboard and that he could not help them.

Motor Started

"But the two men came aboard anyway. A minute or two later, Ben opened the door to throw on the switch that started the motor. The Penguin started. It was half past one when I heard Ben say we were off Stamford. That time is fixed in my mind because I heard one of the men—the one that did almost all the talking—ask what time it was. I switched the light on and off hurriedly in the cabin and looked at the clock.

"Then I heard talk about tieing Ben's hands. I heard my husband say: 'that's too tight!'

"Then I heard the man who did most all the talking tell my husband to go and sit down and from the sounds I knew that Ben was doing as he was told. That startled me."

When she heard him obey orders from strangers on his own boat, the young wife sensed that he must be doing so under threats. She went on deck to aid him.

Pleaded for Family

"Ben was offering to turn the Penguin over to these men. He said:

"'Why don't you put us all in the row boat?' 'Take the ship if you want to.' When I reached the deck I told them the same thing.

Mrs. Collings, rising nude from bed, had slipped a light cotton frock over her figure, for Barbara was swaddled in her mother's nightgown when found.

Mrs. Collings continued:

"After I thought I heard that groan, I did hear Ben's voice:

"'They're putting me overboard!'

"I ran to a porthole and saw my husband in the water. I tried to throw the anchor rope over so he could seize it.

"But the noise I was making must have attracted the attention of the older man. I climbed on deck again and they seized me, and forced me into the canoe, alongside the Penguin.

Remembers Psychology

"They sat me down in the canoe, the older man facing me at one end and the younger man behind me. I couldn't help thinking of the things we girls had studied at Smith college about mentality. I was facing a worse problem than I ever imagined at school.

"The older man was beginning to mumble to me and I drew back as far as I could. I remembered at college when we studied psychology, the professors told us that any mentally upset person might be stayed, even diverted, from any purpose if we could get him to talk and think of some other thing for a while—that if we could divert his thoughts long enough and far enough, he might, being in an upset condition mentally, forget his purpose entirely. And this man was obsessed by a purpose—I could not doubt that by what he said and tried to do? Need I tell—"

No, Mrs. Collings was told gently, that would not be necessary.

Pair Not Bootleggers

"It seemed to work out. I said to him: 'I didn't know you two were rum runners—are you?' And the man leaned over and said harshly:

"'We ain't no bootleggers, no.'

"And I told him he ought to be ashamed to treat a man and his wife as he had treated us and to set a baby adrift on a boat. I asked him if he had a wife or a baby and I supposed he had neither, else he could not have been so cruel to us, and he answered me:

"'Yes, I got a wife and three children but my wife ain't much good. She ain't good enough for me anyway.'

"And I begged him to tell me what was the matter with his wife, defending her to him by my question, trying to involve him in an argument, fighting for time.

Continues Questioning

"About then, I think, he leaned over and threw an arm around my neck and tried to kiss me. I turned my head quickly. I tried to talk him out of it, without enraging him. I managed to free myself and drew back and I began my questioning again, making up new questions from each answer. I remembered that once he said:

"'I couldn't make a go of it when I worked as an honest man and I haven't made a go of this either.'

"He meant of course that the attack on the yacht had brought nothing. So I set my wits against his purpose through the long sail across the sound. He did not achieve his purpose with me and he did not kill me. But I could not keep him away from me altogether."

SOUTH TO JOIN COTTON SLASH

Majority of Governors Concur in Texas Plan

AUSTIN, Sept. 20 (UP)—Governors of other cotton growing states stood ready tonight to join Texas in divorcing the south from the tyranny of King Cotton.

Conferees from both houses of the Texas legislature, who last night agreed to cut this state's cotton yield to about 2,500,000 bales, announced today that a majority of other southern governors had promised by telephone to concur.

"Louisiana and South Carolina have already passed laws calling for the total prohibition of cotton in 1932, but the governors of practically all others have agreed that their states would enact laws following the Texas plan of 50 per cent limitation for two years rather than the 100 per cent prohibition for one year," said an official statement from the conference committee today.

Although the Texas cotton bill has not yet found formal expression in ink, it will provide three cardinal points:

Not more than 30 per cent of the land cultivated to all crops during the year 1931 may be planted to cotton in the year 1932.

No land planted to cotton in 1932 may be planted to cotton in 1933, and not more than 30 per cent of the land planted to all crops in 1932 may be planted to cotton in 1933.

In 1934 and thereafter, no land may be planted to cotton which was planted to cotton in the preceding year.

1931 Budget

WICHITA FALLS COMMUNITY CHEST

Boy Scouts	$ 2,400.00
Campfire Girls	1,200.00
Children's Aid Society	3,268.00
Commissary Account	12,000.00
Colored Day Nursery	2,300.00
Day Nursery	6,629.00
Family Relief	12,117.00
Salvation Army	9,088.00
Traveler's Aid Society	1,500.00
Y. W. C. A.	3,000.00
Executive Office	2,419.00
Campaign Expense	4,000.00
Total	$59,921.00

Weeks of effort were devoted by the budget committee to a thorough study of agency needs and the budget as outlined above represents the irreducible minimum at which the agencies can function and "carry on" during the coming year. This comprehensive study of agency needs guarantees the people a maximum service from chest agencies with a minimum expenditure of funds.

WICHITA FALLS SOCIETY AND CHURCH NEWS

Splendid Representation At Archer County Federation

Special to The Record News.

ARCHER CITY, Texas, Sept. 19.—Members of the Archer County Federation of Women's clubs and representatives from several other counties were present Saturday when the federation convened for the day in the auditorium of the First Baptist church of this city, with Mrs. W. H. Taylor, county president, in the chair. "America" was sung by the audience, with Mrs. Frank Hutcheson at the piano, Mrs. Harry V. Pearston accompanying with the violin and Mrs. Eugene W. Maxwell the cello.

Mrs. Taylor's gracious speech of welcome had as a response, a beautiful talk by Mrs. Ben G. Oneal of Wichita Falls, president of the first district, T. F. W. C.

Mrs. John Barbour of Iowa Park made an interesting talk on "Marketing in Wichita County," after which Mrs. Harry V. Pearston of Archer City gave a piano number.

Luncheon was served at noon by the Archer City clubs when Mrs. Sam C. Newman, guardian of the Camp Fire girls of Archer county, entertained with a "Caribou dance," with 16 girls from Mango camp participating.

Afternoon Program

The afternoon program included a reading by Mrs. Ollie Raulston, accompanied by Mrs. Bert Herron at the piano; address on "Poems of Rev. Pat Moreland," Mrs. Charles L. Abercromble; piano number, Mrs. Horace Haile, Megargel; address, "Aesthetic Art in the Home," Mrs. R. H. Farmer of Megargel.

Mrs. St. Andrew Myers of Henrietta reported on the Clay county federation and Mrs. Ed H. Trigg of Archer City, secretary of the county federation, reported for all clubs of Archer county.

Guests from other counties included Mrs. Ben G. Oneal, Wichita Falls; Mesdames St. Andrew Myers and E. L. Ikard, Henrietta; Mesdames John B. Barbour and F. K. Austin, Iowa Park; Mrs. Bill Abernathy, McKenney, Texas. Out of town guests were Mrs. E. M. Childs and Miss Bertha Taylor, Holliday; Mesdames Burton Threet, Roy Chamberlain, Winfield Hunter and T. T. Gossaye, Geraldine; Mesdames Horace T. Haile, R. H. Kunkel, Ray Horamy, H. E. Pitt, Howard Farmer and F. Sims, Megargel.

Members of Archer City clubs who were present were Mesdames Paul P. Greusel, Charles L. Abercrombie, E. H. Trigg, S. B. Herron, J. E. Shelton, E. R. Prideaux, W. H. Taylor, W. E. Forgy, Claude Cowan, T. C. McCurdy, Maude Ikard, Chester Prideaux and J. L. Prideaux, Sam C. Newman, Misses Ivan Mayfield, Emma Gregg and Mary Hall.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

As I had a shampoo the other day, the pretty young married woman who does all my work sighed. "What's the matter?" I asked; "are you tired?"

"Why no," she told me, in a surprised tone. Then, "Oh, did I sigh? I've caught myself doing that several times lately because I am just so happy I can't hold it all. Honestly, Mrs. Cason, I am so full that I feel sometimes as if I just could not stay on the ground."

Then when I asked her the cause, there was nothing new; she was so happy she could not sleep, so aught up at night with her reading; working all day in a beauty party, going home and getting dinner for her husband, playing a little bridge, then reading until after midnight; getting up and getting breakfast before she came to town with her husband for another day's work, and so happy it was a benison to have her radiant face working over one.

There was the best sermon I have had in ages. One who would not get some benefit from it, is a hopeless case.

Makers of phrases say some peculiar things; one I read the other day was "the only crime is not to live life fully." The words "the only crime" spreads over a large amount of space, and we would suppose the maker of the epigram forgot the murderers and thieves and lawbreakers in the jails.

But the latter part of the phrase struck us, and we have wondered what living life to the full really is. Life can only be lived day by day and somehow the end of a well done day is a cheering thing. When we do the things that lay at hand cheerfully and as well as we can do them, that day has been lived to the full.

I would word one of my beliefs, "The only domestic crime is to be cross and critical and impolite." Men and women who love one another and who love their children drift into the habit of adopting a querulous tone without knowing it.

For instance a stranger might interrupt my reading with a question and I'd be quite courteous in reply, while if it were one of my very own, I'd probably say "What is it?" in a tone that meant "Why in the dickens haven't you sense enough to leave me alone when I am busy?"

A courtesy that would keep romance always fresh in the family circle is a thing I wish I had thoroughly learned while I was rearing a family that's just about reared. I wish I had always at least seemed happy.

For after all, happiness makes happiness.

Friendship B. Y. P. U. Has Evening Picnic

Members of Lamar Baptist Friendship B. Y. P. U. met at the church Friday evening and went in cars to Cedar Park where they enjoyed a delightful watermelon feast.

Games were played during the evening and refreshments served to Winnie Lee Davis, Orilee Somerville, Lavaughna Roberts, Cleo Kemmerly, Juanita Allred, Faye Powell, Adene Wood, Joe Allen, Allen Moody, Truett Richardson, Patsy Richardson, Cooper Waters, Levi Price, Jesse Lee Osborn, C. C. Majors, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Perkins, Mesdames J. B. Allred and E. L. Kemmerly and Mr. F. O. Fisher.

Nazarene Members Honor Pastor and Family

Rev. and Mrs. W. B. Walker and family, who leave Monday for Ashland, Ky., where Rev. Walker will take another pastorate, were honorees for the week preceding their departure at a number of events given by their church members and intimate friends. Rev. Walker has been pastor of the Nazarene church of Wichita Falls for more than three years.

Last Wednesday evening, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Jones entertained the pastor and his family when approximately 70 members of the church were present.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Browning entertained them at luncheon Thursday when Mrs. M. M. Wall was also a guest. Thursday afternoon, the Walker family had a reunion at Paducah, Texas, which was attended by the members from Wichita Falls and on their return Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Morrison surprised them with a delightful dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee McLain were host and hostess at a two-course luncheon Sunday and Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Haley gave the retiring pastor and family the final honor Sunday evening when they entertained with a chicken dinner. Mr. and Mrs. H. H. McBee and chfdren were also guests at this occasion. Mesdames Charlie Bledsoe and Edwin Perry of Oklahoma, who were guests of their sister, Mrs. W. B. Walker, enjoyed several of the courtesies extended during the week.

Rochester Wins Final After Cinching Pennant

NEW YORK, Sept. 20. (AP)—For the fourth successive time the Rochester Red Wings finished on top as the 1931 International league season closed today. After clinching the title yesterday, the Red Wings held their place two games ahead of the Newark Bears by defeating the Toronto Maple Leafs, 4 to 1, in the final encounter today while Newark won its last game from Baltimore, 6 to 2.

Baltimore, which figured for a long time as the third contender in the hot pennant race, wound up in third place four games behind Newark.

COTTON DISCUSSION

FREDERICK, Okla., Sept. 20.—John C. Thompson, secretary of the Texas Ginners association, will discuss all phases of the cotton situation in an address at the court house Monday evening. He will handle the subject from the standpoint of the grower, the ginner and the trade.

FLOYDADA GINS RUNNING FULL

Cotton and Other Crops Hurt by Heat

Special to The Record News.

FLOYADA, Texas, Sept. 20—The movement of cotton from Floyd county fields to the gins has begun to get underway in a pronounced fashion as the dryest, hottest September in many years continues to make itself felt. Cotton is popping open fast and new crews are getting into the fields every day. Practically every gin in the country is fired up every day now and all are getting a few bales. Probably 100 bales have been ginned in the county already. By the latter part of this week a third or half the fields will have pullers in them.

Reports indicate that late feeds, as well as late cotton is damaging badly during the present heat wave which has been the hottest in many Septembers. The reports on the feed crop indicates that it will be much better than last year, on many farms the production will be ample to take care of all needs.

Many instances of the use of row binders to gather the crops and save it in the form of bundles for roughage as well as for concentrated feed are being reported. This would indicate that the percentage of the crop that will be offered in the open market in the form of threshed grain will be small. Many farmers are making their preparations to put their feed on the market in the form of cream, eggs and livestock. At this time cream represents the greatest profit of any item the farmer has for sale, with eggs second. A few loads of heads are reaching this market however, which has been sold to meet needs of actual cash for running expenses.

CHILDRESS GINS 1,000 BALSS

CHILDRESS, Texas, ept. 20.—The gins in this city, five in number, have ginned about 1,000 bales of cotton so far this season, with an increase in receipts each day. There is still demand for pickers and at least 300 men could be given employment this week. The chamber of commerce is giving assistance to the farmers in securing pickers. It is expected many will arrive during the week. Cotton is turning out better than expected, the sample and staple being good.

BOOK REVEALS SHAW AS LOVER

Irish Philosopher's Letters Are Published

By ROBERT WELLS RITCHIE
Universal Service Correspondent

LONDON, Sept. 20.—George Bernard Shaw is known throughout the world as a cynic, joker, and past master of self advertisement, but he has only just been revealed as an ardent lover by the publication of "Ellen Terry and Bernard Shaw: A Corespondence."

After what he called "our delicious flirtation," which ceased with Miss Terry's marriage to James Carew, the middle-aged Irish philosopher wrote to the actress:

"I love falling in love."

Told of Affair

This confession of Shaw's referred to the circumstance that he had met Miss Charlotte Francis Payne-Townshend, who later became his wife. When G. B. S. was in the throes of a real love affair, he wrote Miss Terry thus:

"Miss Townshend doesn't really love me. The truth is, she is a clever woman. She knows the value of her unencumbered independence, having suffered a good deal from family bonds and conventionality before the death of her mother and the marriage of her sister left her free. The idea of tying herslf up again by a marriag before she knows anything—before she has exploited her freedom and money power to the utmost—seems to her intellect to be unbearably foolish. Her theory is that she won't do it. She picked up a broken heart somewhere a few years ago, and made the most of it (she is very sentimental) until she happened to read the quintessence of Ibsenism, in which she found, as she thought, gospel, salvation, freedom, emancipation, self-respect, and so on. Later on she met the author, who is, as you know, able to make himself tolerable as a correspondent. She got fond of me and did not coquet or pretend that she wasn't. What does your loving wisdom say to it?

Footlight Romance

The curious "paper courtship" between Shaw and Ellen Terry in the late 1890's had its first strange phase across the footlights. Then Shaw saw the object of his devotions after he had written her ardent love-letters for weeks. Ellen Terry finally identified the tall man with the flaming red beard in his seat at the Lyceum theater through a peep-hole in the curtain. She wrote:

"I have seen you at last! You are a boy! You are a duck!"

Both the actress and the critic felt that a personal meeting might spoil their courtship, apologizing for the appearance of his ears, Shaw wrote:

"They are a Shaw specialty. They stick straight out like the doors of a triptych; and I was born with them full size, so that on windy days my nurse had to hold me by the waistband to prevent my being blown away when the wind caught them."

Nevertheless, the two "soul mates" finally became acquainted during the rehearsals of "Captain Brassbound's Conversion," which Shaw wrote especially for Ellen Terry. In one of his letters to the actress, Shaw analyzes his capacity for love thus:

"It is not the small things that women miss in me, but the big things. My pockets are always full of the small change of love making, but it is magic money; not real money. Love is only diversion and recreation to me. Nevertheless, I love you soulfully and bodyfully, properly and improperly, and in every way that a woman can be loved."

DEATHS

Burglars Rob Denver Station at Iowa Park

Special to The Record News.

IOWA PARK, Texas, Sept. 20.—Burglars robbed the Fort Worth and Denver railroad depot during the noon hour Sunday. The intruders forced their way into a door and took $4.95 from the cash drawer, leaving five pennies. W. A. Richfield, agent, had locked the office and gone to lunch at the time. A fingerprint expert from Wichita Falls aided Iowa Park officers in their investigation.

Texas Facts

By BILL EDWARDS

Texas produces a surplus of numerous raw materials and its cotton is a major item in the nation's exports. But it does not raise enough hogs to supply its own pork products consumption. In 1900 Texas had 2,665,614 hogs, greatest number in its history. In 1930 this number had fallen to 1,048,561. In 1920 Texas had 5.2 hogs to every farm. In 1930 it had only 2.1.

Texas is credited with having the largest off-the-railroad postoffice in the United States, Canton, county seat of Van Zandt county, carrying that distinction.

HELPING BUILD TEXAS

With many more miles of roads to be contracted for at the September meeting of the state highway commission, there is no letup of construction already under way. . . . Jacksonville reports contracts let for hard-surfacing of state No. 43 from there to the Neches and No. 37 north to Tyler. Completions will give that town hard-surfaced roads leading in six directions. . . . McLennan lets contracts for 75 miles of lateral roads at a cost of $55,000, leaving 60 miles of laterals, contracts on which are soon to be let, uncompleted in the county-wide system. . . . Coke county votes Sept. 26 on $175,000 road bonds for paving the San Angelo-Robert Lee highway. Two other precincts were given by the highway commission until Oct. 1 to vote bonds prior to designation of the routing of state No. 30, via Tennyson or Bronte, with prospects that both routes will be designated, Tennyson having voted its bonds several weeks ago. . . . A hard detour on state No. 10 was eliminated this week with the opening for traffic of the 3,000-foot bridge across the Leon river. . . . Brownwood celebrates completion of the pavement on state No. 9 into San Angelo. . . . Paved roads from Dallas to Athens will be available when the gap on state No. 40 near Athens is opened for traffic in a fortnight, the paving having been completed. State No. 64 is being paved from Carthage to the Sabine, state No. 29 north and south across Victoria county is open to traffic. Letting of contract at $122,000 for the bridge across Red river north of Vernon will eliminate a gap in U. S. 283 from Norton, Kan., to Brownwood, Texas. . . . Contract was to be let this week for surfacing the Bell county section of state No. 2 from Salado to the Williamson county line, graded several years ago and in use in dry weather since, but closed in the rainy season.

Who Profits in War?

WHEN Gen. Smedley Butler told a group of Massachusetts business men the other day that war is nothing but "dumb diplomacy," he voiced a simple truth that ought to be impressed on the mind of every diplomat on earth.

If you care to test his assertion, you might consider the course of events in international politics during the decade or so preceding the world war.

The diplomats were playing a complicated game in which each one tried to win some advantage for his own nation. How well did they play it, anyway?

Well, there were the German diplomats. Germany wanted a "place in the sun," room for expansion, opportunity to improve her foreign trade. What did she get? A ruinous war that wrecked her industries, obliterated her foreign trade, lost all her colonies and left her so exhausted that today, 13 years after the war ended, the rest of the world has to unite to keep her from collapse.

Russia had diplomats, too. What did they get for their country? A war that wrecked the monarchy, years of unspeakable suffering to millions of people and a form of government that is the pet bogey for all the rest of the world.

And the English—supposedly the best diplomats of them all? Before the war England was unrivalled mistress of the seas, possessor of a thriving foreign trade, banker for all the world, head of the mightiest empire ever seen. Today she shares the seas with the American navy, her grip on India has weakened, millions of unemployed live on the dole, industry is crippled and the foreign markets are vanishing—and the lowest income tax is 25 per cent.

The French perhaps did better. But France lost more than a million young men, plunged deeply into debt and emerged with a fear that keeps Europe an armed camp.

Then there is the United States. If you want to know what we got out of the war, look around for the nearest breadline.

Gen. Smedley Butler has made several foolish remarks in the last few years. But when he said that war is dumb diplomacy he seems to have said a complete and unanswerable mouthful.

Writing on the Wall

GERARD SWOPE'S program for the stabilization of industry, outlined in his recent speech before the National Electric Manufacturers' association in New York, simply proves once more that no one on earth can be quite as radical as the big business man.

Head of one of the largest industries in the world, Swope plunges boldly into a series of proposals that would sound fearfully socialistic, not to say subversive, if they came from a politician.

To group the industries of the nation into gigantic trade associations under the friendly supervision of the federal government; to provide for every worker life insurance, accident insurance, unemployment insurance and a pension system that would enable each worker to retire at 70 on half pay; to give workers and the general public a controlling voice in the administration of these schemes—this, surely, is as radical a set of suggestions as any one could ask.

Nevertheless, this, or something like it, will undoubtedly be put into effect in the not too distant future. Swope himself asks, "Shall we wait for society to act through its legislatures, or shall industry recognize its obligation to its employes and to the public and undertake the task?"

One thing or the other must be done. The American public is in no mood to let the experiences of the past two years be duplicated a little later on. Purblind industrialists can emit gasps of horror about "governmental interference" and "the dole" until they are hoarse; Swope has indicated the path they are going to follow, and they might as well recognize the fact.

Of course, putting a program of this kind into effect would be an enormously difficult job. But since when has American industry shied away from jobs because they were difficult? It has been our boast for two decades that our business and industrial leaders are the wisest on earth. Now is their chance to prove it.

Swope has done much to restore the ordinary citizen's confidence in the industrial leadership of the nation. His program is radical, to be sure; but radical measures are needed, and if industry cannot evolve them itself it can rest assured, as Swope remarks, that society will act, through its legislatures.

Our Flying Equipment

AT THE recent national air races several fliers—notably Jimmy Doolittle and Lowell R. Bayles—amazed the country by the speed of their airplanes. Speeds well above 220 miles an hour were clicked off repeatedly; Bayles did a mile, unofficially, in the startling time of 286 miles an hour.

It all looked pretty encouraging.

But now Flight Lieutenant Stainforth of England takes a seaplane aloft and skates through the air at a cool 404 miles an hour. In a race with America's fastest planes he would be out of sight in 10 minutes.

The American government spends around $300,000,000 a year on its navy; but to date it refuses to set aside the necessary $2,000,000 or $3,000,000 that would enable it to develop planes as fast as those the English fly. As a result, American planes are being badly outdistanced. Perhaps a new policy is needed.

Portrait of a Man Talking to Himself

Never realized when I Saturday'd that line about "Shine On, Harvest Moon" what a story there was to it . . . I mean, how after 20 years the grand chune now is among the best sellers—because Miss Etting revived it and made a platter of it, too. . . . Nora Bayes and Jack Norworth wrote that song when they were married and adored each other. . . . They made it the hit of the 1907 "Follies" and today it remains the hit of the current "Follies" . . . Poor Nora . . . Before she passed on she thought she left enough coin to take care of everything . . . Those three adopted children, f'instance . . . They'll be taken care of a little better now, I suppose . . . Now that her song is so popular again . . . There was the complaint some time ago that Nora's remains were placed in one of those "waiting vaults" until plans were made for a finer resting place . . . Nora is still waiting . . . All because of Money Trouble, I prefer to believe . . . And now looka . . . The song she helped author is a walloping hit and royalties to her estate are pouring in . . . Besides leaving behind a beautiful memory Nora also left a beautiful song . . . It is nice to know that some money is coming to those she loved so . . . For Nora gave so much of hers away to this charity and that one, black and white.

That row in the foyer between Lew Brown, the author of "Scandals" and George White, the producer, was exciting while it lasted . . . It wasn't temperament, it was "nerves," and those of us close to the contestants realise why the lads exploded . . . So much was at stake . . . Brown and Henderson were told by dopes that they couldn't achieve success without Buddy De Sylva . . . Is that so? . . . Well, the premiere of "Scandals" revealed that no show ever had so many remarkable and beautiful songs—and no "Scandals" was ever more comical . . . Brown and Henderson's big problem henceforth will be to "top" their current success . . . Too bad about Charlie Moccasin. He broke his tiny toe—from kicking himself around, one presumes . . . Wonder if it is true what they are saying of Bobby Crawford? . . . They say he's one man who ran two million dollars up to a shoestring! . . . When I ran her secret marriage months ago she denied it—so I mean that member of the four Gales in "Scandals" to Matty R. . . . The Big Denier! . . . Wonder when Claire Windsor will confess that she intends to marry A. C. Read Jr., her latest heartbeat—within six months? . . . Funny gag Jolson tells . . . Of the guy who rushed up to his broker and ordered 500 shares of Warner's at Nothing!

It remained for Buffalo, N. Y., to do Something About the Depression . . . If only the other leading cities and even the smaller towns did a carbon copy of it . . . One day recently Buffalo pulled itself together and the town merchants, restaurateurs, et al., plotted "Buffalo Day" . . . On that day the trolley lines reduced their fares . . . The restaurants slashed prices, theaters reduced admission fees, furniture stores, grocers, barbers, beauty parlors, druggists, lunch wagons and everybody trimmed their prices for one day to learn if the people had coin to spend . . . Instead of Dog Eat Dog everybody got a break . . . The townsmen and women went on a spending spree and over five million dollars were spent on that one day. . . . Naturally a lot of people bought things they won't need again for a long spell, but the Big Idea was to put coin back in circulation . . . The Minds who thought it up are to be bravo'd . . . And so are the Buffalo newspapers, all of which donated free page ads to promote it . . . Buffalo must be a Big town.

That new machine-played baseball game is the most fascinating pastime . . . You pull a lever—it releases a tiny steel pill at your opponent whose lever-manipulated steel bat swings—if it's timed well . . . You may get a single, a double, a triple or a homer—and then, again, you can be fouled out or hit into the outfield gloves which your opponent has to use fast with another paw . . . Thrilling? . . . Won $20 from that tin-typer the other night playing him, the amateur! . . . One game was particularly exciting—the game that took 12 innings . . . I singled and then tripled—for $20—whee! . . . It was 3 in the morning when we quit, but now we have some place to go after the so-called gay places close at 3 . . . You attract an audience, too, and their excitement is like any baseball fan's . . . I only wish Nick the Greek and those others wouldn't make me so nervous, though . . . They stand there and make $500 wagers that you won't score.

You come across the unusuals in the Broadway places . . . That show girl, f'instance, who confessed how her grand sideline works . . . She married a musician and carried him on tour with her . . . But she always told him it would hurt her chances in the profession if they knew she was a bride . . . So he agreed to remain in the background and never questioned her hours, routine, etc. . . . Her racket is to employ "The Motherly Interest" angle on men in every town . . . After sizing up a new victim she goes speakeasying with him, gets him silly and then, while stroking his hair, she coos: "Why on earth does an intelligent man like you waste his money and health in places like these? You are such a fool. Promise me that you will keep better hours and stop squandering your hard-earned money this way, won't you, dear?" . . . The victim as a rule is so startled at meeting a woman who isn't trying to make a sucker out of him, he sobers up and says to himself: "What a girl! A regular guy. She's what I've been waiting for!" . . . So he promises to be a goody and showers her with gifts and money . . . The woman has been receiving money every week from seven different chumps in as many hinterland towns . . . She gets her mail at General Delivery and always does the long-distance phoning at reversed charges . . . This, she explained the other night, is to prevent her unsuspecting hubby from accidentally answering a call and frightening her gold mines away . . . Her men are happy, she's happy, and so is her husband . . . A slip of the tongue isn't as dangerous as a slip of a girl.

It amuses me a lot the way that snobbish society writer scolds the Bluebloods about this and that . . . And he dwells in a tenement house! . . . Like the guy who can't get on himself, who is incessantly telling others where to get off . . . It is a good try, anyway . . . I mean the stunt planned for Friday by that newspaper publisher and several of the locally prominent men . . . Who are going to Mr. Hoover in Washington and try and convince him how necessary it is to bring back light wines and beer . . . They might as well take a flying tackle at the Paramount Bldg. . . . Wonder when they are going to wise up to that dead-shot from the west who just opened a shooting gallery for cops to practice their sharpshooting—and after hours he rents it to mobsters so they can polish up on their marksmanship? . . . Very funny to me about how the Fox Film execs handled James Dunn . . . The star of "Bad Girl" was such a bad boy, his bosses sent for his mother to come out there . . . Rudy Vallee does very well in the new "Scandals," but all his clothes fit him like potato sacks. Marvelous story the rags missed . . . Five machine gunmen stuck up two political clubs, one on 118th St. and the other on 96th St., the other night . . . They took everything from dollar watches to bank rolls . . . The victims could not complain to the police, ironically enough, because those clubs are mainly gambling houses and "horse" rooms . . . Broadway—a place where Max Gordon's name is in lights with his unknown show, "Cats and the Fiddle" —and where Lunt and Fontanne are starred over "The Guardsman" in the lights and Molnar's name isn't even mentioned

EXPLANATION OF SATURDAY'S CARTOON

MRS. PETER SCHUMACHER—Mr. N. Schumacher of Pandora Ohio, who submitted this suggestion, is one of 163 grandchildren of Mrs. Peter Schumacher, and he questions if any one can beat this record.

Mrs. Schumacher, who came from Switserland in 1835, had 16 children, and her children now have a total of 163 children.

JOHN CLANCY HAD NO FIELDING CHANCE DURING AN ENTIRE GAME—John "Bud" Clancy, White Sox first baseman, went through a complete game without handling a fielding chance in a contest played at St. Louis on April 27, 1930. It was the first time such a feat had been performed in the history of the American league. Only one other first baseman to have a chanceless day is to be found on the baseball records, this being A. B. McCauley, who played with Washington in the old American association, Aug. 6, 1891.

THE GIRL WHO WON

By May Christie

Nollie Day, pretty and ambitious, longs to escape the unhappy life she leads with her aunt and uncle in the small town of Yapahunk. She wins a $50 newspaper prize and goes to New York. After three days of fruitless search for a position, Nollie's funds become depleted. Exhausted she faints on the street and later finds herself in a tawdry house, where a woman called "Daffy," tells Nollie she could make "easy" money.

One of Daffy's "friends" makes advances to Nollie. She strikes him and flees from the house in fear.

Nollie secures a position as public stenographer in an exclusive hotel. Mrs. Virginia Judson, a wealthy widow, takes an interest in her. Mrs. Judson asks Nollie to model some of her gorgeous gowns for her.

CHAPTER VIII.

The rich young widow in the smart little hotel off Park avenue had taken a real liking to Nollie.

In the gorgeous gowns and wraps that Mrs. Jinny Judson had bought for her trip to Paris—which was imminent—this shy young girl looked lovely.

The thrill of dressing up like Cinderella going to the ball had brought a vivid glow to Nollie's usually pale face and her eyes were sparkling as a child's at its first party.

Mrs. Judson made her pirouette up and down the floor and before a long mirror.

"My goodness, if I could look one half as pretty as you do—!"

Nollie protested this.

"It's the clothes." She was in a white satin evening dress. Jinny Judson stared at her with honest admiration. "You look like a—like a vestral virgin going to the sacrifice . . ."

"And what is that?" asked Nollie, feeling very ignorant, but with enthralled eyes on her image in the mirror.

"Well, there aren't many of them in this town . . . or anywhere today for the matter of that," said Jinny Judson shortly.

Then Nollie donned an exquisite black chiffon.

"'Merry Widow,' what? This ought to make a hit! Men prefer sophistication with a considerable dash of spice, to the snowdrop!"

"I'm afraid I don't know very much of men. At least not the kind I'd like to meet—"

This naive remark—which left Nollie confused the moment she had made it—caught the widow's attention.

"If I weren't dashing off abroad day after tomorrow, it would be a whole lot of fun to play fairy godmother to you."

"Oh, I didn't mean it in that way!" Nollie flushed scarlet.

Visioning anybody who still had the capacity to blush, the widow was intrigued.

"You're a refreshing girl. Who knows what fate has in store for you? Come on, slip into that green chiffon . . ."

Nollie carried the expensive costumes well. The frail, clinging fabrics showed every curve of her young figure.

When she donned the last one, which was in delicate blue satin, Jinny Judson drew a deep breath.

"Woops, what a peach! It's the exact shade of your eyes! What's the color? Delphinium?"

A wrap went with this frock. Of the same enchanting blue—but in chiffon. The long, loose sleeves had cuffs of gray fox fur, and there was a fluffy fur collar.

On the left side of this, close to the face, was a La France rose in glowing pink, and scented like the real thing. Nollie closed her eyes and took a long whiff of its perfume.

"The whole outfit's just your color. Look here, child, why not keep it?"

"Me? Why—why—" Nollie stammered—"I couldn't—"

"But I tell you the skirt's too short for me. You're a couple of inches less than I. And for that delicate shade of blue anyhow my skin's too sallow."

"But I—I couldn't pay for a dress like this in 20 years—" Nollie was dreadfully embarrassed.

"You goose! I mean it as a gift!" Jinny Judson was extravagantly and recklessly generous, when she took a liking to anybody.

But Nollie, despite her shyness, was quite firm. She appreciated Mrs. Judson's kindness—even though she suspected the good lady would regret it on the morrow!—and she wouldn't be indebted to anybody.

So the dress parade came to an end, and the delectable gowns were hung in the cupboard.

But Nollie dreamed romantic dreams that night, in her shabby hall bedroom on West 48th street.

The next afternoon—a Friday—she was sitting on the mezzanine floor of the hotel when the telephone rang.

"Hello there, Miss Day? This is Mrs. Judson speaking. I'm in the dickens of a mess. Will you be an angel and come on up and help me with my packing?"

"I'd love to. But—"

"Oh, it's okay. I've already asked permission for you from the manager."

Nollie glanced at the clock in the lobby. It was half past four.

"If he says 'yes,' I'll be up in two minutes."

She found the suite in great disorder.

"I'm not half way through, and I've a dinner date at seven, and a kind of a farewell party at ten, and it seems I've to be aboard the Ile de France before midnight!" wailed the widow.

But Nollie soon brought order out of chaos.

Her slim, deft fingers were marvels of despatch at folding gowns without creasing, at finding the right place in the right trunk for everything.

Exclaimed Mrs. Judson, gratefully: "I declare, if there were only time to get a passport for you, you'd be a real boon to me in Europe!" Then, sinking back into a chair, she inquired what Nollie planned to do when her temporary job at the hotel was over?

"I'd like to go with a good firm—"

Mrs. Judson thought a minute.

"There's a big import house where I am sure they'd fit you in if I asked them to. I'll scribble a line to the head right now—you can take it to him next week—he's a friend of mine," said the widow.

Nollie thanked her for the letter, put it in her bag and was about to wish her bon voyage, and leave, when a bellboy brought a message. Mrs. Judson gave a little scream of dismay as she read it.

"Heavens! I've entirely forgotten this date! And now I simply can't keep it!"

She darted to the phone, but got no answer to her number. She turned to Nollie in dismay.

"It was for dinner . . . with a dear old fogey sensitive as the dickens . . . I put off our dinner engagement four days ago, and made it a theater date instead, not thinking I was sailing . . . and now I'd entirely forgotten and have these other dates on hand, and I can't reach him . . . and he'll never forgive me. . . ."

It seemed that Mrs. Judson valued the "old fogey's" good opinion. She stared at the message, which stated that "Mr. Hiram was looking forward very much to seeing Mrs. Judson at the play. He might be late, so would she please call for her ticket at the box office? He was dining out with friends, but would leave as soon as he could get away . . ."

Suddenly a light broke over her. She turned to Nollie. "My dear, I see a way out and still not offend the old chap. You must wear the blue satin dress and wrap . . . oh, it'll be a real favor to me if you do this . . . and go in my place and with my apologies to the theater."

Damage Suit Follows Frederick Auto Crash

Special to The Record News.

FREDERICK, Okla., Sept. 20—Suit was filed in district court Saturday by E. C. Mueller of Lawton against Miss Elsie LeMay for $2,000 damages as an outgrowth of the automobile accident three miles south of Manitou Sunday afternoon, September 13, when Mueller and nine others were injured. The petition states Mueller was rendered unconscious several hours, that he was crushed and sustained serious and permanent injury, his left arm was broken, four ribs on his left side broken and muscles and flesh torn and lascerated.

He says the accident was due to the carelessness of defendant. He asks for $1,000 damages for personal injury, $400 hospital fees and $600 for the damage to his car.

Hit and Run Driver Sought After Tragedy

NACOGDOCHES, Texas, Sept. 20. (AP)—Officers sought an unidentified motorist tonight in connection with the death of Roy Chandler, 30, truck driver, who was killed by an automobile at Angelina bridge, 12 miles from here, earlier in the day.

Chandler was struck as he left his cotton truck to get lunch.

Officers were told the driver of the automobile doubled back and turned from the highway into a country road.

Officers believed the driver lived in a distant town and changed his course to throw them off his trail.

Answers to Questions

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing to our information bureau in Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The bureau can not give advice on legal, medical and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, or undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Write your question plainly and briefly. Give full name and address and enclose two cents in coin or stamps for return postage. The reply is sent direct to the inquirer. Address The Record News Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, director, Washington, D. C.

Q.—How many stations broadcast the pope's address at the time of the opening of the Vatican station? —D. A. W.

A.—One station (HVJ) broadcast the pope's address during the opening of the Vatican station, and approximately 300 stations throughout the world rebroadcast the program.

Q.—Who was Empress Eugenie for whom the new hats are named? —H. I.

A.—She was the last empress of the French. She was a very beautiful woman and the acknowledged leader of fashion and society. She made small ostrich-trimmed hats popular.

Q.—When were the week-end cruises of the big Atlantic liners started?—S. D. F.

A.—April 24, 1931, the first of these cruises was made by the Mauretania to the Bahamas.

Q.—Did President Wilson sign the eighteenth amendment?—J. H. I.

A.—A constitutional amendment, such as the eighteenth amendment, is not submitted to the president for his signature. The constitution requires that it be passed by a two-thirds vote of each house of congress, and be afterwards ratified by three-fourths of the legislatures of the states. President Wilson vetoed the enabling act, known as the Volstead act, and it was passed over his veto.

Q.—In contract bridge, if a player bids six tricks, or seven tricks, but does not say he is bidding a small slam, or a grand slam, and makes his contract, will his slam be counted as a slam?—D. E. S.

A.—Certainly. A bid of six is a small slam bid, or a bid of seven is a grand slam, whether or not the player so announces it.

Q.—When did work start on the Mount Rushmore memorial?—G. J.

A.—The site was dedicated on Oct. 1, 1925, but active work began Aug. 10, 1927. The head of Washington is nearing completion, and work is progressing on the head of Jefferson.

Q.—What is the total capitalization of all corporations in the United States? How much do they owe?—F. H.

A.—The total capitalization of American corporations is estimated at $140,000,000,000. Debt of corporations fluctuates widely, showing varying volume from year to year or month to month. A fair estimate would be $20,000,000,000.

Q.—Have any foreign governments erected monuments in Arlington cemetery?—H. C. H.

A.—A statue commemorating the memory of Americans who lost their lives with the force of Canada in the world war, was erected by the Canadian government in the Arlington national cemetery. There are no other monuments in Arlington built by foreign governments.

Q.—How many big motion pictures are made every year?—B. N. M.

A.—About 300 major feature pictures are produced annually.

Q.—What is the game of hurling? —S. D.

A.—Hurling is an old Irish game somewhat similar to hockey. A team consists of seven backs and eight forwards. The field is 140 yards in length and the goals have cross bars. A shot under the bar is a goal, while a shot over the bar is a third of a goal, counting one point. Two periods of 30 minutes each constitute a game. The hurling sticks are shorter and thicker than hockey sticks and have flat-bottomed blades.

Q.—Who was it who was called the world's richest baby some years ago? What was the extent of his, or her, fortune?—G. H. U.

A.—John Nicholas Brown of Providence, R. I., was so called. When he was but a few months old he inherited some $15,000,000 from his father and uncle, and when he was nine years of age another fortune, said to have been $10,000,000, came to him from his grandmother.

Q.—What causes astigmatism?—W. C.

A.—The public health service says that astigmatism is due to an irregularity in the shape of the eyeball.

Q.—Does Canada grow her own tobacco?—G. M.

A.—In 1930, Canada produced 36,716,917 pounds of tobacco. Of this, she exported 5,356,869 pounds. During 1930, she imported 17,436,153 pounds, 90 per cent of which came from the United States.

The Record News Offers an Etiquette Booklet

Teach the children the rules of etiquette. Good manners are an asset—bad manners a life-long handicap. This is one reason why children should have the advantage of early training in the practice of the little courtesies that rub off so many of the sharp edges of daily living.

The easiest and best way to teach the children manners is to set a good example yourself. Maybe you had better brush up on a few points.

The etiquette booklet which our Washington bureau offers is just what you need for this purpose. Send in your name and address, together with ten cents in coin or stamps, and a copy will be forwarded promptly.

Dieting Necessary for Diabetes

Through the improved methods of sanitation, which are so common today, most of the contagious and infectious diseases are showing a steady decline in number. Diabetes however, not being infectious or contagious, is steadily increasing. Each year more and more people are developing it. Diabetes is more common in cities and among men, but it is now becoming more widespread in the country districts and among women than it formerly was. Some races are more susceptible than others. The Jewish race is especially prone to this disease, while the Japanese are seldom troubled.

Diabetes has become one of the most serious diseases which threaten those of middle age and who are overweight through eating excessive amounts of sugars and starches with too little exercise and some mental strain. About one per cent of the population suffers from diabetes.

Among the first symptoms are extreme thirst, a great appetite, desire to get up often at night, loss of strength, the presence of sugar in the kidney excretions. Other symptoms may be itching, dry skin, red tongue, constipation and arterial hardening. Some frequent complications are diabetic coma, boils and carbuncles, cataracts of the eyes, and a low resistence to infections.

It has been found that the kidneys actually save the lives of diabetic patients by removing excessive quantities of sugar from the blood. Since the body is unable to oxidise the sugar in diabetes because of the absence of a special secretion from the pancreas, the sugar would accumulate to a dangerous extent were it not for the kidneys.

One danger which diabetic patients must guard against is eating too much fat. It has been known for some time that the use of too much fat is dangerous to one with diabetes. The reason is that fat cannot be burned in the body unless some sugar is burned with it at the same time. Since the sugar oxidation is so poor with diabetes, the fat cannot be completely oxidized and leaves acid residues in the blood. These bring on a serious condition of acidosis known as ketosis, which may cause the patient's death if allowed to continue.

The discovery of insulin has not lessened the number of deaths from diabetes although it undoubtedly makes life more comfortable.

The cure of diabetes must depend entirely upon dietetic measures. Controlling diabetes is almost entirely a matter of controlling the diet.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Lacquer Poisoning

Question—Mr. S. writes: "I am 54 years old and never been ill in my life before until three weeks ago I took very dizzy spells and had to call a doctor. He said I had lacquer or otherwise paint poisoning. I have used an air brush for three years without an exhaust in the room but these spells do not stop. What should I do?"

Answer—Lacquer poisoning usually comes from methyl alcohol which is contained in various types of lacquer and varnishes. Paint poisoning on the other hand usually refers to poisoning from heavy paint, particularly those with a white lead base. If you are using an air brush, you should certainly see to it that you have good ventilation and the fumes should be carried off or blown away as much as possible.

Dizziness in Meniere's Disease

Question—Leo says: "I have what the doctors call minear's or mindear's disease and have suffered from dizzy attacks very much."

Answer—You probably have Meniere's disease which is an inflammatory congestion of the semi-circular canals in the inner ear, causing dizziness, pallor and various aural and ocular disturbances. The treatment is similar to that outlined in my article, "Ringing in the Ears," which I will be glad to send you if you will write to me in care of this newspaper and enclose a large self-addressed, stamped envelope. I believe my Cleansing Diet would be helpful to you. I would also suggest osteopathic treatments.

Belching

Question — Paul asks: "What causes me to belch so much? I seem to get so much gas that it affects my heart."

Answer: Belching is caused by an excess of stomach gas, which is in turn produced principally from using improper food combinations. Some people, however, have developed a habit of swallowing gas, which they try to belch up. The pressure of a large amount of gas in the stomach may press against the diaphragm and affect the heart.

Memphis-Lakeview Road Near Completion

Special to The Record News.

MEMPHIS, Texas, Sept. 20.—Paving on the Memphis-Mulberry bridge highway, by way of Lakeview, will be completed from two miles west of Lakeview to Eli the latter part of next week, according to Sam Riza, superintendent of the McClung Construction company. The only part of the road which is unpaved at the present time is a strip of about two miles west of Eli. The strip from Eli to Memphis was recently completed and opened with the completion of the remaining two miles the company's work here will end when side grading and other finishing work is done, Riza stated.

The complete highway, from Memphis to Lakeview, will be opened to traffic about the middle of October, since 21 days are required for the paving to cure, it was stated.

Shamrock Club Agrees To Help City's Poor

Special to The Record News.

SHAMROCK, Texas, Sept. 20.—The Shamrock Home Demonstration club has volunteered to see that all vegetables brought in as donations are canned and given this winter to needy families here.

T. C. Davis, president of Shamrock United Charities, has agreed to make arrangements to buy cans to be used in this venture, while A. R. Hugg had volunteered his services in seeing that all vegetables are gathered and brought to town.

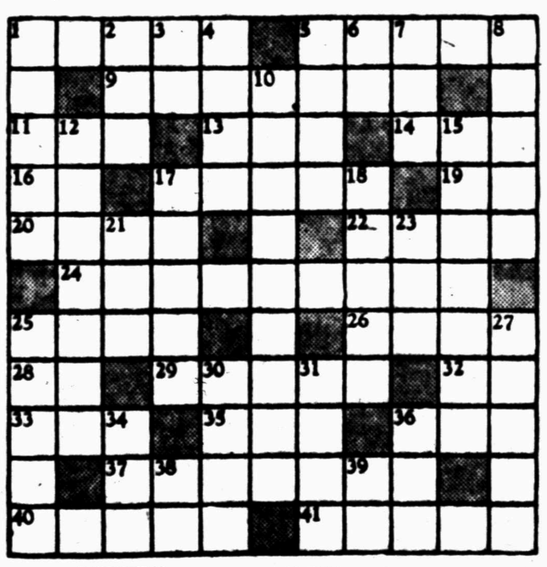

There is an abundance of garden truck near Shamrock that owners are letting rot in the fields and Shamrock citizens are making an effort to preserve this surplus so as to help the many who are expected to appeal to the city for aid this winter.

Wellington Officials Jobless Shirkers

Special to The Record News.

WELLINGTON, Texas, Sept. 20.—A statement signed by Edward Brown, county judge of Collingsworth county, and by Pink Sullivan, mayor pro-tem of Wellington, has been issued to unemployed people here warning them that no assistance will be rendered by the county or city to those who refuse work at this time. The statement, in part, says, "There is now plenty of work on the farms for all local people who are unemployed, and records will be kept of all who do not find work at this time. Those who do not work need not expect help of any kind from either the county or city, for all such help positively will be refused."

DIZZY HOLDS BARONS TO THREE HITS AS BUFFS WIN, 2-0

DEAN AVENGES LOSS IN FIRST

Buff Ace Masters Caldwell; Fifth Game Tonight

HOUSTON, Sept. 20. (UP)—The Houston Buffaloes, champions of the Texas league, won the fourth game of the Dixie series here this afternoon, defeating the Birmingham Barons, champions of the Southern association. The score was 2 to 0.

"Dizzy" Dean's performance in holding Birmingham to three hits and three errors by the Barons tell the story of the game.

The series now stands three games to one in favor of the Texas leaguers. The fifth game will be played here Monday night.

Jerome "Dizzy" Dean, the pitcher who this season established new records in every department possible in this league for a hurler, had little trouble in turning back the Barons. His strike outs were not numerous and in the early stages of the game he was forced to bear down, but easily showed a crowd of about 15,000 fans that he is just what he claims to be—"great."

Gets Revenge

The veteran Ray Caldwell pitched his usual steady game and for a time the contest appeared to be settling into a close battle and possibly a victory for the 40-year-old hurler. Doubles by Selph and Peel, however, in the fourth inning gave "Dizzy" the one run that he always asks of his team mates. Caldwell was victor over Dean in the first game of the series at Birmingham by a 1 to 0 score.

The Barons' infield weakened in the seventh and two errors, an infield hit and a sacrifice fly netted the second run for the Buffs. Funk, the Houston catcher, ended the scoring when he over-ran third base when Abernathy threw to the plate on the sacrifice fly.

Bancroft opened the game by working Dean for a walk. "Dizzy" didn't like the ball that was put in play and obtained a new one after having trouble pitching to Bancroft. The Barons' second baseman immediately put Dean in a bad spot by stealing second base on the second ball pitched to French. The Texas league wonder pitcher brought a great cheer from the home crowd by pulling out of the hole. French sacrificed Bancroft to third and was out, Dean to Sturdy. Susko sent a weak pop fly to Hock and Weis ended the inning by fanning the air at a third strike.

Buffs Also Stopped

The Buffs made an auspicious start also, but were stopped dead by the veteran pitcher from "down South." Hock drug a single toward first and Smith sacrificed him to second. Selph and Medwick, however, were easy outs on flies to Weis in left field.

Dean's wildness again got him into a hole in the second. Gooch opened with a fly to Medwick. Abernathy walked. Cortazzo popped out to second but Taylor came through with a single to left, putting Abernathy on third. With Caldwell batting, Abernathy and Taylor attempted a double steal but Abernathy was run down between third and home, Hock making the put out.

Houston went out in order in the second. Peel grounded out, Gooch to Susko, Sturdy lined out to left field and Funk grounded out, Caldwell to Susko.

"Dizzy" got his second strike out of the game when Caldwell fanned the air to open the third frame. Bancroft fouled out to Funk and French grounded out, Carey to Sturdy.

Susko flied to center. Weis fouled to Hock at third base and Gooch popped out to Selph to complet the fourth inning for the Barons at bat.

The First Run

The Buffs unloosed two doubles in their half of the fourth that produced the first run of the game. Selph opened with a two-bagger to center. Medwick was out on an infield roller. Peel sent Selph across the plate with a double to left center. He reached third on the throw in. Sturdy walked and stole second as Funk fanned. Carey ended the inning by grounding out, Bancroft to Susko.

Dean added a strike out and two outfield flies accounted for the Barons in the fifth. Taylor was the strike out victim.

"Dizzy" gained life at first and credit for a single when his smash glanced off Cortazzo's glove. Hock then lined to Bancroft and Dean was doubled off first. Smith flied to French to end the fifth for the Buffs.

With two out, French singled in the sixth for the Barons but Susko grounded out Selph to Sturdy.

For the Buffs, Selph opened the sixth inning with an infield hit, and Medwick sacrificed, but the runner was out stealing, Caldwell to second base. Peel fanned swinging.

Infield Wavers

In the seventh, Weis popped out to Selph, Gooch flied to Medwick, and Abernathy singled to left. Cortazzo popped to Hock to end the inning.

The Barons' infield weakened at this point and the Buffs added a superfluous score. Sturdy reached first on Cortazzo's fumble. Sturdy went to second and Funk was safe at first when Gooch fumbled the catcher's grounder. Carey beat out a slow rolling hit toward shortstop, filling the bases. Dean popped out to Bancroft. Hock sent a long fly to Abernathy and Sturdy scored after the catch. Abernathy made a hard try to prevent the score but his throw was late. Funk, however, over-ran third and was out, Taylor to Gooch, to end the scoring.

Except for Medwick's high infield fly which dropped safe for a hit in the eighth, both teams went out in order for the remainder of the game.

Cleveland Wins National Amateur Baseball Title

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 20. (AP)—The national amateur baseball championship came to Cleveland today as the local sandlot champions defeated the defending Cincinnati champions in both games of a double header, 6 to 0 and 2 to 1. Cleveland had won the first of the three-game title play-off yesterday, so needed only the first win today to take the title.

DIXIE SERIES CASH DIVIDED

Texans to Get $23,719 if Buffs Win Flag

HOUSTON, Sept. 20. (UP)—Winner's share in the Dixie series players' pool will be $23,719.18 and the losers' share will be $15,819.46. Fred Ankenman, president of the Houston Buffaloes, Texas league representatives in the series, announced the shares tonight after compilation of attendance and receipts for the first four games of the series.

The winner's share goes to the Texas league if Houston wins tomorrow night's game from the Birmingham Barons, Southern league representatives. In that case the share will be divided between Houston, Beaumont and Fort Worth players, whose clubs were, respectively first, second and third place winners in the Texas league pennant chase.

Ankenman announced total attendance at the first four games was 53,591. Total admission receipts, he said, were $82,393. The players' pool was $39,548.64, of which 60 per cent goes to the winners.

The Texas league divides the winning players' share thus: 66 2-3 per cent for the first place team, 20 per cent for the second place team and 13 1-3 per cent for the third place team.

Floydada Eleven and Clarendon Play Tie

Special to The Record News

FLOYDADA, Texas, Sept. 20.—The Floydada Whirlwinds started the 1931 gridiron season on their home grounds here Friday against the Clarendon Broncs. Both teams battled through the four quarters without a score being made by either team. Clarendon made 11 first downs to Floydada's three. The game was confined to line plunges and end runs as the high wind made it impossible for either team to do much with passes. This was not an official conference game.

MONEY-SAVING IDEA?

WASHINGTON.—Big air line operators of the country have petitioned the U. S. department of commerce to amend its regulations requiring co-pilots with the large air transports. They claim that co-pilots are necessary only when the first pilot is scheduled to fly six hours or more and that under this time a co-pilot is a useless expense.

Quitaque Panthers Win Over McLean

Special to The Record News

QUITAQUE, Texas, Sept. 20.—The Quitaque Panthers defeated the McLean eleven here last Friday, by a score of 13-0 in the first conference game of the season.

The first touchdown was made by Blake Witcher in the first three minutes of play. M. Graham, 190-pound half, ran the ball over for a touchdown in the second quarter. Capt. A. C. Bickford made the star play of the game on a triple reverse fake play when he ran the ball down to the four-yard line on a 35-yard run.

The Panthers will meet the Wellington team at Wellington in the second conference game Friday, Sept. 25.

PENN ADOPTS NEW TACTICS

Team Will Depend on Warner Plays

CAMP WYOMISSING, North Water Gap, Pa., Sept. 20. (AP)—Pennsylvania will depend on many new things to bring it out of the morass it plunged into during the last football season.

Coaching staff, training methods and conditioning camp, offensive and defensive tactics—all have been changed as Harvey Harman, product of Glenn Warner, aided by eight assistant coaches, attempts to bring the Pennsylvania team back to the lofty place it once held in intercollegiate gridiron circles.

Whole-hearted enthusiasm and cooperation have been the response to the coaches' appeal from the 75 candidates encamped here in the Pocono mountains. It appears Harman and his aides are going to meet with as much success as could be expected from a team playing football entirely different from that of any other Penn eleven.

Warner plays will be the foundation of the attack. A shift from double wing backs to single wing-back formation will be employed at the start.

Penn's strength is doubtful from tackle to tackle. Capt. Paul Riblett and Bill Raffel seem certainties on the ends, with Len Tanseer and Mel Hemeon, reserves from last year, and Ludwig, a sophomore, possibilities.

Harman has an all veteran backfield in Bill Graupner, Warren Gette, George Munger and Carl Perina. Graupner's the dynamo and appears destined to go far. Bud Smith, Jerry Ford, Bob Onderdonk, Ed Masavage are other holdover backs who did not get much chance to show their wares in '30.

The schedule: Oct. 3, Swarthmore; 10, Franklin and Marshall; 17, Lehigh; 24, Wisconsin; 31, Lafayette; Nov. 7, Notre Dame at South Bend; 14, Georgia Tech; 26, Cornell; Dec. 5, Navy.

Night Football Proves Popular in Frederick

Special to The Record News

FREDERICK, Okla., Sept. 20.—Night football proved popular here, a crowd estimated at 2,000 being present at the Frederick Bearcat-Tipton Tiger game Friday night, the first time a contest has been seen in this locality under floodlights. The locals got the best end of a 33 to 6 battle. It was fortunate the game was played at night. Had it been played in the afternoon it would have been under a sweltering sun.

Although the score seems to indicate the game was one-sided the visitors put up a scrappy fight from start to finish.

In line plunging, double passes and circling ends Frederick excelled, a total of 28 first downs being obtained while Tipton received but six. Frederick gained 376 yards in scrimmage to 68 for Tipton. Frederick lost 12 and Tipton 24.

Officials penalized both sides freely, Tipton losing 115 yards on 11 decisions, and Frederick 55 yards on five decisions.

Trap Fails to Catch Extortion Suspects

CORSICANA, Texas, Sept. 20. (AP)—Officers had made no arrests today in connection with a threat letter received by S. D. Ramsey, wealthy oil royalty owner and capitalist, in which an attempt to extort $10,000 from him was made.

Ramsey received the letter yesterday. It came by registered mail and was crudely written.

A decoy package was placed in a cemetery near Corsicana yesterday by officers but no one came to claim it.

Barnstorming Texans Beat Mexico City Nine

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 20. (AP)—A team of touring Fort Worth all-star baseball players defeated the Fabriales team of Mexico City, 5 to 2, in the fourth game of their extended series today.

Chagnon scattered seven Fabriales' hits well.

Fort Worth has won three games and lost one in the series.

Sox Rookie Preparing for Law

CHICAGO, Sept. 20. (AP)—When it comes to ambition among major league rookies, Billy Sullivan Jr. has it.

Early this summer this 20-year-old son of a famous father stepped out of his Notre Dame cap and gown into a White Sox uniform. He was up for a tryout.

Almost immediately he became the team's regular third baseman—and he's made a better-than-average showing for a rookie.

But that's not all.

Billy also wants to be a lawyer. His ambition is not confined to baseball. If he can handle both jobs, young Sullivan figures, so much the better.

Instead of spending his winters in idleness, Billy will go back to Notre Dame this fall after the baseball season ends. There he will enroll in the law school.

State Anti-Race Track Gambling Laws Expected to Be Strengthened

AUSTIN, Sept. 20. (AP)—Legislators anticipate an attempt to strengthen the anti-race track gambling statute at the earliest legislative opportunity as the result of the races held at Arlington Downs, near Fort Worth, yesterday, under the option system of wagering.

Several members of the legislature here for the special cotton session expressed interest in the court test which was launched yesterday with two arrests by Tarrant county officers at the track.

The majority of legislators questioned today said they would support a measure to prohibit the use of the option system if the courts declared it is legal under the present anti-race track gambling laws. An attempt to modify the law and permit gambling at the last legislature was defeated by a substantial majority.

Gov. R. S. Sterling said he had received no complaints regarding use of the option system at Arlington Downs yesterday. He said enforcement was up to local officials though they could call on the state if aid was needed. He said no request had been made.

Members of the legislature declined an invitation to attend the races by means of a special train from Austin to Arlington Downs.

Four-Way Beats Posters In Milk Fund Contest

The Four-Way Filling station nine defeated the Wichita Poster team, 3 to 1, in the first game, and held a lead of 2 to 1 in the second game of a charity benefit double-header played Sunday afternoon at Katy park. The second game was called in the fourth inning on account of darkness.

The games concluded a two-day series which the clubs played for the benefit of the Times and Record News milk fund. More than $30 was realized for the fund in the games Saturday and Sunday, it was announced.

The service station's victory Sunday squared the series, the Poster nine having won the Saturday game, 9 to 3.

The Four-Way lineup was considerably altered Sunday, several City and Commercial league players being used.

Henceforth the Poster nine will be known as the Wichita Athletics. The team will play the sandlot champions of Fort Worth here Sunday week in another Times-Record News milk fund benefit game, it was announced.

SECOND MONEY BATTLE STARTS

Yanks' Drive Features Week in Majors

By GAYLE TALBOT

Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Realizing that second money is better than no money at all, the New York Yankees made a spectacular spurt during the past week to overhaul the Washington Senators and establish themselves as runners-up in the American league.

By winning eight straight games, the Yanks caught the Senators and went a game ahead with only a little over a week of play remaining. The only clubs that came near equalling the record of the McCarthymen for the week were the champion Athletics, who won six and lost one, and the Chicago Cubs of the National league who set a similar pace.

Yankee sluggers, led by Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Tony Lazzeri and Bill Dickey, dealt a world of punishment to opposing hurlers. They collected 77 hits and scored 57 runs, more than any team in the league.

The Boston Red Sox, winding up their first campaign under Shano Collins, enjoyed their most prosperous week of the season by winning seven of their nine starts and climbing out of the American league cellar. Washington, with four wins and three losses, was the only other team in the American to break even.

With Chick Hafey and Jim Bottomley hitting at their greatest clip of the year, the Cardinals celebrated the clinching of their second straight National league flag by pounding 101 hits during the week and scoring 59 runs, leading the circuit in both departments.

Saint Jo Nine Beats Star Transfer, 1 to 0

George "Dummy" LaRue, of Saint Jo, bested Steve "Iron Man" Franklin, of Star Transfer from Wichita Falls, in a torrid pitcher's battle Sunday afternoon at Saint Jo when the home club bunched two of their five hits in the last of the ninth for the winning marker. Dutch Phillips opened the rally in the ninth with a crashing double down the third base line after one was out. Pedego then collected his second hit of the afternoon, a single to right to score Phillips. For the first eight innings the two teams battled at a scoreless pace, LaRue giving up two hits and Franklin three. Sensational catches in the outfield by Maurice "Lefty" Cox, for Wichita Falls, and Williams for Saint Jo featured the game. Score:

SOVIET DIRIGIBLES

MOSCOW.—Soviet Russia is to enter the field of lighter-than-aircraft with the construction of two huge dirigibles, it is reported here. An order has been given to the Friedrichshafen Zeppelin works for two dirigibles, size of which is unknown at present, it is said.

YANKS DRUB TRIBE TWICE

New Yorkers Run Winning Streak to 10 in Row

NEW YORK, Sept. 20. (AP)—The Yankees ran their winning streak to 10 games in a row today by defeating the Cleveland Indians twice, 7 to 1 and 10 to 4. Due to rain which delayed the first game, the second clash was halted by darkness after seven innings.

Dick Porter's homer in the first inning was the only run off Henry Johnson in the first game as Cleveland got only seven hits. A second inning rally brought five runs to win the second game, as Babe Ruth walloped home run 44 to remain one behind Gehrig. Scores:

HERE, NICE KITTY—

PITTSBURGH, Pa., (NEA)—Horns tooted, street car bells jangled, and traffic was tied in a tight knot in Oakland. Under one street car a perspiring policeman was crawling. Peacefully out from under the car at cat gazed at him and steadfastly refused to move.

The cat was seen to run underneath the car by the motorman. He stopped the car to save the kitty. In the meantime the traffic piled up behind it.

Patrolman Dean Moriarity was called. His repeated pleas to the cat were unheeded by the feline and Moriarity was forced to crawl under the car on his stomach and chase the cat over the rough street on his hands and knees.

GRAHAM OPENS FAIR TUESDAY

Big Parade to Mark Start of Young County Show

Special to The Record News.

GRAHAM, Texas, Sept. 20.—After a parade around the square with 10 beautiful floats, 50 decorated cars, and 1,500 school children marching in line to music by the Graham bands, the gates of the Young county fair will open Tuesday morning, Sept. 22, and continue for five days closing Saturday night at 12 o'clock, Sept. 26.

The managers are looking forward to one of the best fairs ever held in the county. The agricultural exhibits will be more numerous and of excellent quality. Arrangements have been made for a much larger livestock exhibit than usual. More space has been applied for by the rural communities than ever before in order to place community exhibits in the fair which are expected to exceed in quality all former displays.

Ample Entertainment

Ample entertainments have been provided and advertised and many programs will be rendered, including one-act plays by different communities in contests. All 4-H club boys will be permitted to enter the contest for any prize in the fair and no entry fee will be charged them. A better baby contest will be held and the services of an expert baby "specialist" have been secured. A pageant to recall the history of Young county since the days of the early fifties will be staged the opening night of the fair which bids to be one of the most dazzling and brilliant features of the fair.

A display of art, showing familiar scenes will be one of the most entrancing features of the fair which will be on exhibition inside the exhibit building. These pictures will represent true life in Young county, sketched from the many picturesque hills and valleys.

A large attendance is expected despite the talk of depression and hard times. The business men of Graham have made a number of booster trips to neighboring cities where they found warm receptions with the promise of many visitors from every city.

The fair grounds and all streets leading from the pavement have been kept oiled for several days previous to the opening date and no dust is expected to hamper the pleasures of the fair goers this season.

Littlefield Eleven Beats Brownfield, 18-0

LITTLEFIELD, Texas, Sept. 20.—The Brownfield Cubs played the Littlefield Wildcats at Littlefield on Friday afternoon. These two football teams have the distinction of being the best in their respective districts. This was the first conference game of this season. The game resulted in a score of 18 to 0, in favor of Littlefield. Outstanding plays were made for the home team by Powell, Carter and Cook. Cook showed wonderful guarding and tackling. Carter made center plunges and walked over the Cubs' heads. Powell made a 75-yard dash after catching a pass, for a touchdown.

NIGHT SCHOOL PLANS MADE

Program Drawn for Boys Club Members

Plans for the night school to be conducted daily at the Wichita Falls Boys club, in the old city hall annex at Ninth and Ohio, were announced by Marvin Robertson, director.

Instruction in trades and some academic subjects will be provided, according to the information given. There will be no charge, and those announced as instructors are volunteering their time and effort, it was stated. The classes will be open to all members of the club, and are being provided primarily for boys who are unable to attend public schools.

Two nights weekly, Monday and Saturday, from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m., will be devoted to basketball practice under the direction of Will Habern, former high school and junior college athletic star, and now a student in the junior college. Mr. Habern attended Baylor university last year, and was a member of the basketball squad there. It was announced that two leagues, one junior and one senior, will be organized with a schedule to begin in October.

A class in mechanics will be organized on Tuesday night, with George Pierce of the Hamilton Chrysler company as instructor. An automobile motor has been loaned to the club by the Auto Salvage Dealers for experiment and demonstration purposes, it was announced. Also on Tuesday night, a crystal set radio class will be conducted by Boyce McDonald, a club member.

On Wednesday night, boys who have had some training in radio work will be given advanced instruction by C. W. Ridling, Vernie R. Ross, and J. R. Martin, all local radio dealers and service agents. Mr. Ridling will conduct the first class, to be held on Wednesday night, Sept. 23, at 7:30 o'clock.

Show card painting, to be taught by H. R. Boese of the Publix theater organization here, will be given on Thursday night from 7:30 to 8:30 o'clock.

C. H. Fooshee, city electrical inspector, will conduct a class in electricity on Friday nights from 7:30 to 8:30 o'clock. During the succeeding hour, ending at 9:30 p. m., Wiley Culberson will conduct a class in manual training.

Sunday morning meetings of the club membership will be continued, it was announced, with local men serving as speakers. A part of each Sunday morning hour will be given to rehearsal of the boys' glee club under the direction of George Taylor.

Teachers for English, mathematics, and other academic subjects have not yet been secured, Mr. Robertson said. Volunteers for such service will permit the opening of new classes for such study, it was said.

Notables Pay Final Tributes to Mulhall

MULHALL, Okla., Sept. 20. (UP)—Oklahoma pioneers, men close to Col. Zack Mulhall who settled in the state when it was a waste expanse of Indian territory, gathered here today to bury their friend.

Will Rogers, who started his stage career as a cowboy in Colonel Mulhall's wild west show, was present. Maj. Gordon W. (Pawnee Bill) Lillie, one of the few remaining Indian scouts, and Col. Zack Miller of the 101 ranch, were here. Rogers arrived in an airplane from California.

Mulhall, 84, died last week from the infirmities of old age and from grieving over the death of his wife last January. He was buried in the family vault on the Mulhall ranch.

Movie of Scouting Presented at Church

Don Ross, scoutmaster of troop 12, presented at Grace Methodist Episcopal church Sunday evening the movie of Boy Scout work, "The Scout Trail," which has been in preparation by him and his troop for the past six months. It is a presentation of the purpose, spirit, principles and activities of the scout movement.

The pictures were enjoyed and appreciated by a good congregation at the church's regular Sunday evening service. This is the first public appearance of this film, which is to be presented many times this fall and winter together with a troop demonstration of scout work. This movie is dedicated to Executive Frank Creighton.

Sterling Undecided on Salary Reductions

AUSTIN, Sept. 20. (AP)—Gov. R. S. Sterling said today he was undecided about submitting reduction of salaries of state employes to the present special session of the legislature.

More than 100 members of the house have signed a bill calling for such reductions. Early in the session the senate unanimously adopted a resolution asking submission of reduction of governmental expense as a legislative subject.

Texas Foreign Whites Now Number 426,282

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20 (US)—Persons of foreign white stock in Texas total 426,282. Of this number 98,396 were born abroad and 327,897 were native born whites of foreign or mixed parentage, the census bureau reported today.

KIWANIS CLUB

Members of the campaign army of the community chest will take luncheon Monday noon at 12:15 at the Wichita club with members of the Kiwanis club, and will provide the program for the hour, according to the Kiwanis bulletin for the week.

Reports of the progress made Monday morning in the annual drive for chest funds will comprise the luncheon program, it was indicated.

EPWORTH LEAGUE

Miss Lena Smith was the leader Sunday evening of an interesting meeting held by the Grace Methodist Epworth League. The topic was "Hymns and the Meaning of Jesus." The religious interpretation of several hymns was given by members of the league and others. There were several special numbers besides the singing of some of the great hymns of the church. There were about 40 present.

Today

At the Theaters

By ELLEN SEE

MAJESTIC: Joan Crawford in "This Modern Age," with Neil Hamilton, Monroe Owsley and Pauline Frederick. "Strange As It Seems," by John Hix; a Mack Sennett comedy, "Cannon Ball," Terrytoon, "Blues" and Majestic news events.

STATE: George Arliss in "Alexander Hamilton," with Doris Kenyon and June Collyer. Comedy, "All Excited." Crazy House cartoon and Paramount sound news.

GEM: Ronald Coleman in "The Devil to Pay," with Loretta Young. "The Come Back," one of the leather pusher series and a cartoon comedy.

There is no excuse for Wichitans who wish to see good acting to complain during the early part of this week, for they may pay their money and take their choice.

George Arliss, fascinatingly ugly, speaking exquisite English, wearing his 60 odd years with the swing of a young man, brings an Alexander Hamilton to the State theater that intrigues every intelligent interest.

His entanglement with a young adventuress is so cleverly kept in the dark, that even the most ardent feminist feels nothing but sympathy for the patriot.

Arliss never over acts. His encounter with the mob, his renunciation of everything for his country and his one gesture of pure sentiment, "rosemary for remembrance," mark a consummate artist.

"Drink to me only with thine eyes" haunts the memory and the patriotic music stirs the blood. An audience rather hopes that the group of young Americans who go to midnight matinees to exhibit their idea of wit in side remarks may remember them 10 years from this date. They may learn to blush, not at what they said but that they thought it clever.

At the Majestic, Joan Crawford in "This Modern Age," does the best acting we have ever seen her do. Pauline Frederick, poor lost lady, subordinates all else to love of the daughter she had lost as a child.

We saw Pauline Frederick in person 15 years ago, young, bouyant and vivid; her face still wears beauty and she is a better actress, if anything, than then.

The feeling depicted by Joan Crawford as she realizes her mother's real status; as she feels her mother has not the strength to last and as she defies the man who had scorned her mother, prove the girl really an actress.

And, for the benefit of those who seek such beauty, we must remark that in a bathing suit, she is as nearly a perfect figure as we ever saw. But oh, her pajamas! They have only a bib for a waist.

And the young drunken comedian is more likable than the sober hero.

Martin Pays Tribute to Men Who Wrote Constitution in Sunday Talk

Guaranties of religious liberty found in the constitution of the United States were extolled by Judge P. A. Martin in his address before members of the Men's Bible class of the Floral Heights Methodist church Sunday morning.

At the request of class members, the speaker said, he devoted most of his talk to the constitution in commemoration of its completion and adoption on Sept. 17, 1787.

"The constitution is the foundation, the chief cornerstone, of all civil and religious liberty that we enjoy today," Judge Martin said. "We marvel that those men of 1787 were able to lay such a wise and beneficent foundation as was laid in the framing of this remarkable document."

The address in part was as follows:

"This being the last day of 'constitution week' as I promised the class last Sunday, I will speak a few words about the constitution of the United States, as it specially affects the religious status of our country.

Leaders of Period

"The men who constituted the constitutional convention at Philadelphia 144 years ago were the leaders of thought in the original 13 states of the union. There never was in the history of the world a meeting of such distinguished men and no conclave ever had a more important work to do. They came together in April and their work was finished and given to the world on the 17th of September, 1787. My time will not permit me to pay any tribute to them worthy of the name, or even to name them. Suffice it to say that Washington, the 'father of his country' presided as the president of the convention. Madison, of Virginia, probably the most versatile writer of his day, Alexander Hamilton of New York, an aristocrat, but a true patriot, Benjamin Franklin, philosopher and world diplomat, was a member of the Pennsylvania delegation and each state was represented by such men as these.

"They came from the places where the Pilgrims settled to escape religious persecution; from the state where William Penn led the Quakers to religious freedom and from the far southland where the Huguenots settled after St. Bartholemew and its horrors of religious persecution. So their hearts were aflame with the desire to construct a government in which men could forever have the privilege of 'worshipping God after the dictates of their own consciences.' And this was one of the most striking things they did. But there were those, of course, who wanted an 'established church' but they were in the minority. Civil and religious liberty was the leading ideas represented and these were born of the centuries of king-craft and priest-craft their ancestors had suffered in the old world.

"And so these men wrote a constitution. They had to write it, not only for the few millions inhabiting the original states but for generations to come, for you and for me and for our children and grand-children for all generations. With what wisdom they wrote time has told the story, for while we have added to this wonderful document, we have never seen fit to undo any of the work these men did. It stands today, the organic law of more than 130,000,000 American people. Not only this, but it has been substantially copied in the constitutions of every republic that has been set up throughout the world since that time.

Foundation of Liberty

"The constitution is the foundation, the chief cornerstone, of all civil and religious liberty that we enjoy this day, and, as we sit here in this church this day and worship our God in our own chosen way it is very fitting that we reflect that it was the wisdom of these men that gave us this right and gave to all other men the same blessed right that we enjoy. And then when we reflect that it not only assures us religious liberty, but complete civil liberty, as well, the right to life, liberty and property and the right of every man to have a voice in the government of the country and to select his own officers, and representatives, from president to constable, we are lost in amazement that these men of '87 were able to lay such a wise and beneficent foundation as was laid in the framing of this remarkable document."

Episcopalians Approve Ministry of Healing

DENVER, Colo., Sept. 20. (US)—The ministry of healing is an inherent part of the pastoral office of the Protestant Episcopal church and the modern health movement is here to stay, in the opinion of the 15 members of the joint commission on Christian healing who today made public their report to the 50th general convention of the church now in session here.

A recommendation that those who practice Christian healing in the church operate in cooperation with the medical profession is contained in the report.

Auto Crash Fatal to Youth at Hebronville

HEBRONVILLE, Texas, Sept. 20. (AP)—T. W. Lee Jr., 23, of Corpus Christi was killed instantly and three other persons were injured today when an automobile and a truck collided on a highway west of Hebronville.

Mrs. D. M. Lee Sr., and Miss Stella Lee, both of Corpus Christi, occupants of the automobile, were injured seriously. Higherro Basclo, driver of the truck, was only slightly injured.

FLIGHT POSTPONED

AKRON, Ohio, Sept. 20 (US)—The test flight of the huge dirigible Akron was postponed today until Wednesday at the earliest because of atmospheric conditions.

ANNIE HOWSE TRIAL OPENS

Altus Murder Case Slated in District Court

Special to The Record News.

ALTUS, Okla., Sept. 20—Mrs. Annie Howse, charged with murder of Thurman Fitzgerald, will go on trial before District Judge Frank Mathews, Monday. She was arrested immediately following the death of Fitzgerald on the night of Aug. 18, and has remained in the county jail since that time.

Thirty nine witnesses have been subpoenaed to testify in the case. Twenty three were called by the state and 16 by the defense.

Announcement was made here that Lonnie B. Yates will be associated with Stansell Whiteside in defending Mrs. Howse in the case. Frank Storey of Vernon, Texas, has been secured to assist County Attorney Ross Rutherford in the prosecution.

Big Crowd Expected

A return of the crowd of spectators who stormed the courthouse during the preliminary hearing is expected for the trial Monday. Arrangements have been made for police to handle the crowd during the trial. Old timers say that never before has a case aroused as much sentiment in Jackson county.

Testimony in the case is not expected to be started before noon on Monday. The entire morning and possibly a part of the afternoon is expected to be required to empanel the jury in the case.

State witnesses subpoenaed include Lovie Whitfield, Eddie Bailey, O. B. Barbee, Walter Harrison, Dr. C. G. Spears, Dr. R. H. Fox, W. D. Pickens, M. R. Hansborger, Miss Patty Fitzgerald, Mrs. Cora Fitzgerald, Lynn Beard, Ben Adams, Dale Hunter, Mrs. Granville McElroy, Henry Turner, Lola Newton, Mrs. J. B. Cash, Mrs. Joe Smith, C. C. Mansfield, Mrs. Annie Houston, Miss Jewel Cearley and Mrs. Jewel Cox.

Sister and Mother

Miss Patty Fitzgerald is a sister and Mrs. Cora Fitzgerald, the mother of the slain man.

Defense witnesses will be Houston Howard, Tommy Worrell, Mrs. Blanche Dixson, Mrs. Helen Malone, W. D. Pickins, R. D. Harrison, Mrs. Robert Cunningham, Bill Allen, Jap Herring, John Harrison, Floyd Goodloe and S. E. Bidwell.

An order was issued by attorneys for the defense requiring Ross Rutherford, F. B. Tims, S. G. Banks and Mrs. Cora Fitzgerald to appear at the trial and bring articles of clothing worn by Fitzgerald at the time of his death to be used as evidence in the case.

Self Defense Plea

Fitzgerald was shot to death when a bullet entered his neck as he approached the home of Mrs. Blanche Dixon in this city, shortly before midnight, on August 18. Mrs. Howse was visiting with Mrs. Dixon that evening and at the home when Fitzgerald appeared. He was fatally wounded as he was crossing the lawn in front of the Dixon home.

Self defense will be the plea of the defense. The penalty to be asked by the prosecution has not been announced by County Attorney Rutherford.

Iowa Park Officer Able to Leave Hospital

Much improved, Will Detleff, Iowa Park city marshal who was shot in the leg with a shotgun at Iowa Park Friday night, returned to his home Sunday from the Wichita General hospital.

The officer was shot when he went to the C. C. Morris home at Iowa Park to investigate a reported disturbance. Approaching an automobile parked in front of the home, Detleff was struck by a charge from a small shotgun.

The officer returned the fire with his pistol, and C. C. Morris is in the Wichita Falls Clinic hospital here with bullet wounds in the neck, jaw and shoulder.

FIRE DAMAGES HOME

Damage of $300 was caused by fire early Sunday morning to the home of M. P. Johnson, 1205 Kemp boulevard, according to fire officials. The blaze was believed to have originated in a clothes closet. Flames were extinguished before they spread over the house.

BIBLE CLASS HEARS DANIEL

Noted Men of Constitution Convention Sketched

Personalities and circumstances which strongly influenced the constitution of the United States when it was in the process of being written were discussed by Roy J. Daniel before members of the Kay Bible class of the First Methodist church Sunday morning as a preface to the assigned lesson for the day.

Mr. Daniel sought to emphasize the qualities in numerous leaders which steered the deliberations of the constitutional convention toward the principals eventually written into the document.

The controversy between early Christians at Antioch and those at Jerasulem finally resulted in a compromise, Mr. McDaniel said, with the result that "Christianity was saved from the deadening effect of mere rites and ceremony, and became the great world-wide religion it is instead of a static branch of Judaism."

The talk in part was as follows: "One hundred and forty-four years ago last Thursday the Constitution of the United States was signed. The purpose of the Federal Constitution is best expressed in the preamble which reads: 'We the people of the United States in order to form a more perfect Union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.' After the Revolutionary War the Articles of Confederation proved unequal to the task of holding the 13 States together, and something had to be done to prevent chaos and anarchy. When the Constitutional Convention assembled the members thereof realized that the only solution lay in drawing up a constitution providing for a form of government with executive power to enforce its laws and orders. So they set to work to save the country and to safeguard that which they had won from England after eight years of war—from 1775 till 1783.

55 Delegates

"There were 55 delegates at the Convention, of whom only 16 were lawyers. Thirty nine of the delegates signed the completed Constitution. Bryce an Englishman said of the Convention that it was the greatest group of men ever assembled under one roof. Gladstone said of the Constitution, 'It is the greatest piece of work ever struck off by the hand of man at one time.' The Convention held its meetings at an historic place—Independence Hall in Philadelphia, where the Declaration of Independence had been signed in 1776. The personalities of any gathering determine its quality and greatness. George Washington was elected President of the Convention. His father died when George was 12 years old, and leaving school at 16 he went to work as a surveyor. He inherited from his brother the estate of Mt. Vernon, and he became the most progressive farmer in Virginia. He was the first Virginian to send a shipload of wheat to France. He was the first man in America to recognize the value of the mule and to breed them for his estate. Becoming the Commander-in-chief of the American armies he was the only commander of an army who could lose every battle and yet win a campaign. With armies never paid and half fed he outgeneraled and defeated Cornwallis at Yorktown. Washington was the only man who could have held an equal balance between the rival factions, and he did so in the Constitutional Convention because he had the unlimited confidence of all classes and groups.

"Three other leading and outstanding members of the Convention were Alexander Hamilton of New York. Hamilton had fought in the Revolution under Washington, and then became one of the eminent lawyers and leader of the New York bar. He was the leader of the Federalist Party. He was born in the Bermuda Islands, and came to New York penniless, and without friends. Hamilton favored a strong central government. One of the tragedies of American history was his untimely death, in a duel, at the hands of Aaron Burr.

"Franklin was past 80 when the constitutional convention met. He was feeble physically but his wonderful intellect was unimpaired. He was the most widely known man in the American states, and except for Washington was the most noticeable figure in the convention. You know how he landed in Philadelphia from Boston with just a few pennies in his pocket. He founded a newspaper, and became postmaster general of the colonies under the British government, and gave the colonies the first real postal service they ever had. He was intensely interested in science, and corresponded on intimate terms with the greatest scientists of his time. He was our ambassador to France during the revolution, and became the fashion of the Parisians. He was invited to court, charmed every one with his wit and philosophy, and it was due to his efforts that France aided us in money, troops, and ships that enabled us to win our war for freedom. At the very close of the constitutional convention and just before the signing of the document Franklin made a brief speech. On the back of the chair of the presiding officer where Washington sat, was carved a likeness of the sun and its rays. He said that often during their deliberations he had noted the carving and wondered whether it portrayed the rising sun or the setting sun, that now at the end of their labors he was sure that it was the rising sun of a great world power. When some of the members hesitated to sign because the document did not in every particular meet their views he said that he had learned in his long life and had come to believe that after all the will of the majority was nearly always right. His speech caused many to sign who had before refused to sign, and throughout the convention his unfailing good humor and wit and common sense calmed many tumults, and made the constitution possible. He was one of the great assets of the convention. At one time when the debates became so bitter that it seemed the convention would break up, Franklin arose and called their attention to the fact that so far the help of God in their deliberations had not been invoked and proposed that the members pause for a moment in silent prayer before they resumed their work. Those few moments of silent communion with the Supreme Being calmed the storm and their work proceeded more in harmony.

Provisions

"Although Jefferson was in France while the constitutional convention was in session he had in James Madison a true friend who sought to place in the constitution many of Jefferson's ideas of government for the people. Madison was a Virginian and he succeeded Jefferson as president. Madison took a leading part in the proceedings of the convention, and had the difficult task of debating the virtues of the new constitution with Patrick Henry, the greatest orator of the revolution. The debates and arguments of the convention were held strictly secret but James Madison every night made notes of the proceedings which were published after his death, and from which alone we derive a fair picture of the difficulties. Madison was a strict interpreter of the federal constitution.

"The federal constitution created the central government of the United States under which we now live. As it is written document requiring four months to make, it does four important things: 1—It provides for a democratic republic; 2—It provides for three branches of government—the legislative, the executive and the judicial; 3—It provides in a bill of rights for the protection of the individual; and 4—It provides for the relations that shall exist between the central government and the states. It is a cherished document that protects more than a hundred million people.

"The whole constitution was a compromise. It was not entirely satisfactory to anybody in the convention. The men from the large states thought the central government that it created too weak; on the other hand delegates from the small states thought it too strong. Three outstanding compromises were: 1—The compromise between the large states and the small states over representation in congress; 2—The compromise between the seaport states and non-seaport states over control of commerce, and 3—The compromise between North and South over slavery. In the argument over representation in congress delegates from the large states insisted on representation in proportion to population. The delegates from the small states insisted that each state should continue to have but one vote in congress. It was agreed that the states should send members to the house of representatives in proportion to population, but that in the senate they should be equally represented each state having two senators. It was further agreed that five slaves should be counted as three free persons. The seaboard states and non-seaboard states disagreed over giving congress complete power to control commerce. For example, the outlet for New Jersey commerce was the port of New York. New Jersey was greatly hampered in its trade by restrictions imposed by New York. The states with seaports hated to give up their control of the privilege that their locations conferred upon them, but the great majority of the states were determined that trade and commerce both foreign and domestic should be under the control of the national government, and that was finally agreed to. In the question over slavery the northern states desired to end the slave trade at once and to abolish slavery gradually. The southern states absolutely refused to consent. It was finally agreed that the slave trade, that is, the importation of negro slaves from Africa, should be abolished in 1808, and the slave question should be left to each state to settle for itself.

Christian Compromise

"Our lesson this morning is the story of a compromise—a compromise between the conservative and liberal groups of the early Christian church. The argument started in the church at Antioch when some members from the Jerusalem church informed the Gentiles that before they could become Christians they had to conform to all the laws of Moses—in effect become followers of Judiasm before they could embrace Christianity. The conservatives took the position that the Gentiles must first embrace and obey the Mosaic laws while the liberals followed the leadership of Paul and contended that such procedure was not necessary to accept Christ. Paul realized that the argument would tear his church to pieces so he went to Jerusalem to carry the question to the leaders of the church there. The three pillars were James (the brother of Jesus), Peter and John. The question was debated before the church at Jerusalem with James sitting as judge of the debate. Paul arose and in his address told of the wonderful success of his labors among the Gentiles, and contended that for the Gentiles to follow the laws of Moses and become circumcised were not necessary for them to become saved and followers of Christ. He was interrupted by certain ones of the conservative group who contended that it was necessary for the Gentiles to accept in toto the Mosaic law. Then Peter arose and spoke for Paul's side of the question. He reminded his hearers that he had a right to say something on the Gentile question because he had been called to convert the Gentile Cornelius at Joppa. And Peter's argument had great weight because he was one of the most conservative of the conservatives. Then James rendered his decision. It was a compromise between the two contentions. He ordered that the Gentiles would not have to undergo circumcision but on the other hand were ordered to obey to the letter four Mosaic laws: 1—Refrain from fornication; 2—Refrain from things strangled; 3—Refrain from offering food to idols; and 4—To refrain from blood. The orders were written out and given to Judas and Silas to carry back to the church at Antioch. Thus Paul won his contention and was recognized as the special missionary to the Gentiles. The practical effect of the compromise was that Christianity was saved from the deadening effect of mere rites and ceremonies, and became the great world-wide religion it is instead of a mere branch of Judiasm."

Legion at Wellington Elects New Officers

Special to The Record News.

WELLINGTON, Texas, Sept. 20—New officers who will serve the Frank King Post of American Legion during the ensuing year have been elected, with Marvin Somerville as post commander; Riley Dunson, first vice commander; Guy E. Clay, second vice commander; W. Y. Burden, adjutant; John Bevers, finance officer; John C. Harper, tiler; and Rolly Fisher, historian. The new officers will be installed Oct. 1. Somerville succeeds Dr. E. W. Jones as post commander.

The Wellington post is one of the largest and most active units of American Legion in this section of the Panhandle.

EDISON PROBES HIS OWN ILLS

Wizard Keeps Close Check On Physicians

By DOROTHY ROE
Universal Service Correspondent

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Thomas A. Edison once more has proven himself the true scientist, in the recent days of his infirmity.

A scientist, according to sages since the time of Plato, must possess that one all-important attribute—curiosity. His must be the passion for investigation. He must insist on finding things out for himself, rather than taking some one else's word for them.

So the 84-year-old Edison, who is responsible for most of our modern inventions, takes the same interest these days in the treatments prescribed for him by his physicians as he has been accustomed to turn on a fascinating laboratory problem.

Demands Explanations

He insists on a scientific explanation of every prescription. He demands the chemical formulae of his medicines, and he studies eagerly the diagnoses of his doctors.

The electrical wizard's faculty of keen observation of the things that go on about him has not slackened since his recent collapse, according to Dr. Frederick M. Allen, metabolic expert of Morristown and New York, who has been seeing Mr. Edison every day since late in June.

Despite recent reports that his illness had taken a serious turn, Mr. Edison continued until a few days ago to take his daily automobile ride.

"A man who eats and sleeps as he does, and drives out every day, is not in serious shape," says Dr. Allen.

"He takes a keen interest in everything, and always thinks about his work, though he has done no active laboratory experimentation since his return from Florida in June," says Dr. Allen.

Has to Be Shown

"He always wants to know about and supervise everything related to his treatment, but he is amenable once convinced. Sometimes it is necessary to show him the properties of medicines described in scientific books before he will take them.

"He has a wide knowledge in many fields, and a remarkable intuition that leads him to see or suspect much about a subject. This is the first time in his life that he ever has been strictly under medical care.

"For two years, up until last June, his diet consisted of practically nothing but milk. It is interesting that, while milk is by no means a complete food, there is every probability that in this it benefitted him. Guided entirely by his own notions, he hit upon something that was good for him.

Aids Medical Science

"As a matter of fact, the medical world is indebted to similar intuitions of Mr. Edison in fields that the public knows little of. He told me that he was the first to suggest the use of mineral oil, now common as a laxative.

"He was one of the earliest experimenters with X-ray plates."

The inventor observes the slightest change in his daily routine, his family says. Recently the amount of water with which he was accustomed to take a certain dosage of medicine was increased. He declined to take it until it was explained what had been added in the glass.

His chief interest these days is in recovering his health.

And so he takes the greatest interest in treatment, analyzing it with the same great mind that has made him the world's greatest inventor.

Advance Agent Here to Plan Music Festival

Merle Armitage, who for many years has been the personal representative of Charles L. Wagner, New York booking agent, arrived in Wichita Falls Sunday, and will spend the ensuing week here assisting Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Cheshire in preparation for the autumn music festival to be presented at the Memorial auditorium during the first week in November.

Mr. Armitage has been engaged for nearly a quarter of a century in conducting concert tours of this and other countries for both American and European artists. During that period he has associated closely with scores of the most famed musicians and dramatists of the present century.

Referring to the appearance of Will Rogers and the De Reszke singers here several years ago under a Wagner contract, Mr. Armitage volunteered the following comment:

"Mr. Wagner has excellent reason to remember the Rogers program here. Will and the singers—mostly Will—proved too popular, and the crowd wouldn't let him go. He isn't a union man, and entertains until he's ready to quit. The result was we had to charter a special train to make our next engagement—and that took several hundred dollars." Mr. Armitage is now on tour of the cities throughout the West where the three-program festival is to be presented this fall. The three groups of artists under contract with Mr. and Mrs. Cheshire for local appearances will also be presented in Dallas, San Antonio, Houston, and Amarillo.

According to Mr. Cheshire, the purpose of Mr. Armitage's visit in Wichita Falls this week is to acquaint the people of the city with the nature of entertainment which is to be provided during the autumn festival in November.

Artists to be presented here will include Mary Garden, Chicago prima donna; Claire Clairbert, sensational Belgian coloratura soprano, and San Malo, outstanding violinist from Panama; Doris Kenyon, motion picture star and lyric soprano, with Carl Achatz, flutist.

Mr. Armitage is stopping at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cheshire while in the city.

BAPTISTS TO MEET SEPT. 22

Dr. O. L. Powers to Speak At State Rally

Dr. O. L. Powers, pastor of First Baptist church, Wichita Falls, will be one of the principal speakers at the meeting of Texas Baptists, Tuesday, Sept. 22.

The meeting will be held at the First Baptist church of Dallas where Dr. George W. Truett has been the pastor for the last 34 years.

Baptists from every county in the state will attend this meeting. The purpose of the meeting is to complete the plans to raise $6,350,000 the week of Nov. 29 to Dec. 6.

The meeting will begin at 10 Tuesday morning and will close at 3 in the afternoon.

Immediately after the state rally of Texas Baptists closes, the executive board of the Baptist general convention of Texas will meet to attend to important business matters.

$100 Loss in Second Fire at Poultry Ranch

Fire destroyed a chicken house and burned to death about 30 chickens early Sunday afternoon at the poultry ranch operated two miles out on the Burkburnett road by J. T. Van. Damage was estimated at $100.

A similar blaze destroyed a chicken house and a number of chickens Friday night at the Van place. Damage on this occasion also was estimated at $100. Origin of both fires were undetermined.

Late Sunday afternoon fire equipment answered an alarm to a negro home in the 400 block on Brick street. An outhouse was destroyed, but damage was negligible, fire officials said.

CARE WILL SAVE YOUR CAR!
For All the World to See
Your car is more than a convenient vehicle of transportation. It is a possession of yours that is constantly under the scrutiny of friends, associates and strangers—keep this possession looking brilliant and shining. Either of the following operations will make your dull faded car look like new.

Simonizing
We clean the body and fenders with Simoniz cleaner. Next we give it a good coat of Simoniz wax—leaving a brilliant long lasting finish. Then we dress the top and wheels—paint under fenders and behind bumpers. Only—
$8.50 to $12.50

Polishing
We use genuine Duco or McAleer's polish to bring back the original luster on the body and fenders. We also dress the top and wheels—paint under fenders and behind bumpers.
A $10 JOB FOR $6.00

AUTHORIZED DUCO REFINISHING STATION
Maybe the finish is too far gone to Simoniz or Polish. Our expert Dupont Duco Repainting department will put on an A-1 Duco job using the Duco specifications. We have the latest colors or combination of colors. All work is guaranteed to give you satisfaction. Drive in today and see our color scheme and let us give you an estimate without obligation to you.

Should Chemist Analyze Chemicals?
You say yes. Then who but lubrication specialists should lubricate your automobile. All cars of today are manufactured on the highest standard ever known. Lubrication must be based on this same high standard and not the old way of just "GREASING." It takes seven different lubricants to correctly lubricate almost all automobiles. We, as ALEMITE dealers, have these seven lubricants; also the best equipment that can be had. Our service men are thoroughly trained to lubricate all automobiles. As further protection to you, we use a CHECK CHART endorsed by your car builder. LET THE E-Z EXPERTS HANDLE YOUR LUBRICATION PROBLEMS.

Watch Your Speedometer
Remember—oil in your motor that has been driven 500 miles should be changed. The makers of your car and the makers of the oil you use advise it. They know—for one builds the car and the other makes the oil. We carry all popular brands. Let our crank case service men drain the old and refill with a new oil of your choice.

The Better Job—Time Saved—The Same Price
Why wait two or three hours to get your car washed. Our expert system enables you to be on your way in a few minutes with the best to be had. We wash under fenders, brake drums, wheels, top, body and fenders—then vacuum clean the inside all for only $1.00
