Superior Develops Heavy Oil Flow At SW Midland Test

The Superior Oil Company developed a heavy flow of oil from the Ellenburger on a drillstem test in its No. 4-16 Windham, project three-quarters of one mile northeast of a recently completed two-mile north extender to Ellenburger production in the Pegasus field of Southwest Midland County.

The project was drillstem tested two hours in the interval from 13,178 to 13,245 feet. Water blanket surfaced in 22 minutes and oil started flowing but in 30 minutes. Flowing through a 5/8-inch bottomhole choke, the well ganged 48.6 barrels of oil the first 30 minutes. At the end of 90 minutes it had made 114 barrels.

Gravity of the oil flowed is 51.9 degrees. Open flowing bottomhole pressure was 1,000 pounds.

Operator plans to run casing and complete the well from present total depth of 13,245 feet.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 16, block 40, T-4-S, T&P survey and 18 miles southwest of the city of Midland.

Lion Has More Shows In Ellenburger Zone At Crockett Wildcat

Lion Oil Company No. 1 J. M. Shannon estate, North - Central Crockett County wildcat found more distillate and gas in the Ellenburger in a drillstem test at 7,033-53 feet.

The tool was open 20 minutes. Gas surfaced in two minutes and was in a strong blow for the remainder of the period.

No Signs Of Water

Recovery was 20 feet of clear distillate. There were no signs of formation water. Open flowing bottom hole pressure was 950 pounds. Shutin bottom hole pressure after 10 minutes was 3,100 pounds.

The prospector was drilling ahead below 7,100 feet in Ellenburger lime. Operator planned to drill to about 7,150 feet and take another drillstem test.

This exploration topped the Ellenburger at 6,945 feet, which is on a datum of minus 4,285 feet.

Had Show Above

The zone at 6,936-78 feet had a recovery of 230 feet of drilling mud cut with gas and distillate. The tool for that test was open one hour.

The interval at 6,978-7,003 feet was tested for one hour. Recovery was 10 feet of drilling mud with no shows of oil, gas or water.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 46, block UV, GS&SF survey. It is two and one-half miles east of the Todd-Deep field and three miles southwest of the Elkhorn-Ellenburger field.

Wilshire Completes Big Producer In W-C Upton Field

The Wilshire Oil Company, Inc., has completed a one-location north extender to production in the Wilshire-Ellenburger field of West-Central Upton County, 18 miles northwest of Rankin.

The new well is the concern's No. 23-130 McElroy Ranch Company. It was finaled for a daily flowing potential of 3,447.82 barrels of 53.4-gravity oil and no water.

The potential was based on an actual 10-hour flow of 1,450 barrels of oil through one-inch choke. Production was from open hole at 12,067-12,225 feet. Top of pay was logged at 12,078 feet, elevation 2,841 feet.

Gas-oil ratio was 824-1 and tubing pressure was 500 pounds. Pressure on casing was 600 pounds. Completion was natural.

Location is 660 feet from north and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 130, block D CCSD&RGNG survey.

Ryan, Hays & Burke To Drill Venture In NW Crockett

Ryan, Hays & Burke of San Antonio and Midland will begin drilling immediately on an 8,500-foot rotary wildcat in Northwest Crockett County.

It is No. 1 Shannon—West Texas Memorial Hospital and is located 660 feet from north and east lines of section 10, block Q, GC&SF survey.

That makes it 29 miles west northwest of Ozona and on an 80-acre lease. It is one and one-half

Ridgway Hints Reds May Use Germ Warfare

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway Thursday told Congress Communist talk about germ and gas warfare should impress on all the deadly danger confronting the free world.

In an address to a joint meeting of the Senate and House, the four-star general stopped short of saying he fears the Communists will use those weapons. But this plain implication was that he agrees with those who say the Communist technique is to charge others with crimes they intend to commit.

For weeks, the Red propaganda machine has hammered out charges that United Nations forces in Korea are using gas and germs.

Ridgway said the charges are false in their entirety but that the Communist harping on them should serve as "a monumental warning . . . as menacing and urgent as a forest fire bearing down on a wooden village."

The former UN commander in the Far East received a rousing welcome from the lawmakers.

Senators and representatives were joined by cabinet officers and diplomats in several minutes of applause when Ridgway entered the House Chamber. The crowded galleries joined in.

It started all over again when Speaker Sam Rayburn introduced the general. Ridgway acknowledged the tribute with a broad smile.

He was applauded several times during his 20-minute speech and, at the conclusion, the members rose

Methodist Bishop Asks Church Union

CHICAGO—(AP)—A Methodist bishop Thursday appeared at a national assembly of Disciples of Christ to speak for a large union of Protestant churches.

Bishop Ivan Lee Holt of St. Louis set forth in an address to the International Convention of Disciples of Christ:

"From time to time barriers and obstacles may slow our progress, but we are too much in earnest to turn back even if at times our march is slowed to a hesitant pace.

Great Objective

"I plead with this national convention and your communion, which is historically committed to this great objective of bringing Christ's scattered flock into one fold, to give unwavering loyalty to constructive plans for uniting our churches."

Bishop Holt traced the history of moves for uniting Protestant churches. He told how representatives of seven denominations, among them the Disciples and the Methodists, formed the Protestant Conference on Church Union late in 1949. Since then a basis-for-union plan has been drafted, and it will be considered further next Fall.

He commented:

"Those who have considered dif-

Man-Made Snow Slated To Fall Here Thursday Night

It's scheduled to snow in Midland Thursday night and farmers, ranchers and businessmen are invited to be on hand to watch the show.

The snow-making demonstration is on the program for a meeting scheduled at 8 p.m. in the district courtroom by the West Texas Weather Improvement Association.

Using a deep-freezer, a spokesman for the district will demonstrate how tiny particles of silver iodide, used in cloud-seeding operations, are capable of attracting enough moisture to produce a miniature snowstorm.

Also on the program is a color movie on weather improvement techniques now being used in West Texas by Dr. Irving Krick, famed "rain-maker."

B. T. Graham and John Dublin, Jr., Midland directors of the association, have issued invitations to all interested parties to attend.

ODESSA FIRE WRECKAGE—White-hot flames, fed by high-octane casinghead gasoline, sear the wreckage of railroad tank cars which plunged into a switch engine in Odessa Wednesday night and exploded, causing fire damage estimated as high as $1,000,000. Two warehouses, in addition to the railroad equipment, were destroyed as firemen battled the blaze until early Thursday.

Runaway Tank Cars Crash, Set Major Blaze In Odessa's Warehouse District

ODESSA — Eight runaway railroad tanks cars, loaded with casinghead gasoline and moving at a speed estimated at 75 miles an hour, crashed into a standing switch engine on the main line of the Texas and Pacific Railroad here late Wednesday and exploded into a million-dollar fire.

Only three persons suffered minor injuries but official still were trying to total up damage Thursday morning as they probed through the twisted ruins of two warehouses, crumpled tank cars and piles of other debris.

The fantastic mishap brought firemen from Midland and Stanton to join the entire Odessa force, which battled the blaze from shortly after 6 p.m. Wednesday to early Thursday morning.

Thousands of spectators, jamming the area only a few blocks from Odessa's main business district, brought a call for all off-duty policemen to report to hold the crowd back from danger.

Top officials from the railroad company arrived in Odessa Thursday to inspect damage but no official statements were forthcoming.

Members of the crew of the switch engine jumped to safety a short time before the string of tank cars, roaring in from the west, crashed with a "thumping sound."

Tracy Byers, a reporter for the Odessa American, was driving past the scene just as the crash took place.

"I heard the sound of the tank cars on the tracks," he reported, "but I thought it was just some cars being switched.

Like Atom Bomb

"Then there was a shattering noise and then a thumping sound. "I looked around in time to see fire and smoke shooting straight up into the air. It looked like an atom bomb."

Some of the cars were split open by the force of the collision and spilled the natural gasoline over the wreckage, starting an immediate fire.

Demolished by the ensuing blaze was the City Transfer and Storage Company and the Jack Rainosek Sales Company warehouse.

The whole thing started at the Shell Oil Company's Penwell loading racks at Duro, 10 miles west of Odessa.

Clyde Gray, superintendent of the gasoline plant, said the eight cars had been loaded Wednesday afternoon for shipment to the Warren Petroleum Corporation. The cars carried 26 pounds vapor pressure and the shipment already had been consigned.

Buddy Ryles, loading rack man, said that when the loading crews left, the cars were on the loading spur, inside the "frogs"—safety devices placed on rails to prevent the cars from rolling away.

It was believed the frogs had been removed and the tank cars moved out on to the main line by a switch engine, ready to be picked up by a freight train for shipment.

The cars slowly began moving down the gradual incline toward Odessa, picking up speed as they moved along.

75 Miles An Hour

Four miles east of the Shell rack, a crew at the Stanolind Oil and Gas Company loading rack watched the string roar by at a speed estimated at 75 miles an hour.

Two members of the crew jumped into a pickup truck and sped toward Odessa to sound the alarm and get the main line cleared. They reported they were unable to overtake the runaway cars.

As the strings of cars hit the switch engine, there was a puff of flame and three persons sitting in nearby automobiles suffered minor arm and hand burns. They were listed as William Riley Knott, 41; Mrs. S. H. Teakel, 41, and Mrs. B. C. Robinson, 22, of Odessa.

All available fire-fighting equipment from Odessa was called out

Money Agreement Paves Way For Final German Peace Pact

BONN, GERMANY —(AP)— Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and the Western Allies solved their major financial dispute holding up the West German peace contract early Thursday and made preparations for a weekend visit from the Big Three foreign ministers.

In a 13-hour session ending shortly after midnight, Adenauer and Western representatives agreed in principle on what Allied troops in Germany would get from the 850 million marks ($202,300,000) a month the Germans have agreed to raise for defense.

The foreign ministers—U. S. Secretary of State Dean Acheson, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman—are expected here Saturday for final settlement of two remaining points in the contract and signing of the treaty on Monday.

The pact will give West Germany near sovereignty, ending the seven-year occupation, and will ally the Adenauer government politically and militarily with the West. Once signed, it must be ratified by the U. S. Senate and the parliaments of Britain, France and West Germany.

★ LATE NEWS FLASHES ★

WARWICK, R. I. —(AP)— A Navy diver, working with FBI agents investigating the $100,000 Quonset Naval Air Station robbery, Thursday salvaged a plastic bag of currency from the Pawtuxet River here. It was believed to contain the bulk of the stolen funds.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Senator Kem (R-Mo) gave Secretary of Agriculture Brannan a vigorous tongue-lashing at a Senate hearing Thursday, charging Brannan made "irresponsible and unfounded" statements about him and hinting he might sue the cabinet officer for libel.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The government Thursday reported a slight rise in living costs which boosted its Bureau of Labor Statistics index to 188.7 in mid-April, within a shade of the all-time peak of 189.1 registered last January.

MANILA —(AP)— The Defense Department reported one soldier and six Communist Huks were killed in an hour-long battle Thursday in the Sierra Madre Mountains northeast of Manila.

Scribes Told Nobody Can Take It Away

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Truman Thursday said: (a) He is sure of his power to seize industries in an emergency, (b) he likes all the men who have come out for the Democratic nomination for President, and (c) he believes the government clean-up will take care of itself under his new attorney general.

Truman, in a news conference, also said he doesn't know whether Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois might be persuaded to seek or accept the Democratic nomination.

Politics took second place in the discussion. The conference was highlighted by the President's statement that he has power to seize industries in time of national emergency. Nobody—and he included both Congress and the courts—can take that power away, he said.

But when pressed by questions on what he would do if the Supreme Court specifically denies his authority to seize and operate the steel industry, the President said he would turn the mills back to their managements.

Parries Questions

He added, however, that he did not believe the court would do that.

In the best of humor, the President smilingly parried questions from reporters who said they were trying to reconcile his reassertion of "inherent" presidential powers with his willingness to yield on the steel seizure if the court declared it illegal. As for legislation outlawing the seizure, Truman reminded questioners that any act of Congress must be signed by the President—a plain reference to the President's power to veto legislation.

He remarked that he has been trying, ever since he entered the White House, to get an industrial relations law which would make possible real collective bargaining.

The law, he said, must provide some method of keeping the country running in cases of major threats to the nation's welfare.

The President said he did not know whether seizure authority was the only way of accomplishing this. There is some way, certainly, he said

Strike Drags On In 11 Big Texas Plants

HOUSTON —(AP)— Negotiations continued Thursday between union and management of 11 strikebound Texas refineries with only a few rays of hope for early settlement indicated.

Crown Central Petroleum Corporation on the Houston ship channel made a new offer to its employes represented by CIO Oil Workers International Union Local 227 and a meeting of the parties was underway Thursday.

The offer called for a cash settlement of $80 to each employe in lieu of retroactive pay; the 15-cent hourly wage hike and shift differentials of six and 12 cents hourly; improved sick and insurance benefits.

Negotiations Continue

Shell Oil Company and OWIU officials of Local 367 also were meeting Thursday.

At Beaumont, a committee of workmen in the union was to report to the membership Thursday night on an offer of Magnolia Petroleum Company.

The Texas Company at Port Arthur and Port Neches, Gulf at Port Arthur and Pure at Nederland also were meeting with union negotiators. At Pan American Refining Corporation at Texas City, no meetings were scheduled. Negotiations broke off early this week.

These refineries, with three small plants upstate, have combined daily crude oil capacity of about 1,000,000 barrels. The five plants in which the strike was settled and work resumed have total capacity of 261,000 barrels daily. They are Atlantic at Port Arthur, Republic at Texas City, Sinclair at Houston and Corpus Christi and Taylor at Corpus Christi.

Lingerie Looters' Lust For Lace Spreads As Pantie Pluckers Go Into Action At Colleges In Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana

By The Associated Press

The college boys' national quest for panties spread to Texas Wednesday night with forays at the University of Texas in Austin and at North Texas State College in Denton.

Police and student defenders turned the lingerie-looters back at Austin, where fist fights broke out among contending students. But the pantie pluckers stormed through four dormitories for women at NTSC.

"We want panties," was the breathless cry.

Girls giggled and screamed. The Denton boys stormed through Terrill Hall, Bruce Hall, Chilton Hall and the Oak Street Dormitory.

Cordons of Austin police and members of the State Highway Patrol, augmented by Austin firemen and students objecting to the demonstration, turned back the raiders at University of Texas dormitories and sorority houses.

Dean of Student Life Arno (Shorty) Nowotny's plea to break it up in front of the Chi Omega House in Austin was greeted by catcalls and jeers.

Girls at Denton leaned out of windows and laughed as the raiders bore down on the four dormitories there. There was no resistance from the girls, the Denton Record-Chronicle reported, "except screams."

Some of the boys came out with panties and brassieres waving over their heads. Some were masked with handkerchiefs across their faces.

A student in front of Littlefield Dormitory at Austin pleaded with the raiders not to enter the building, then turned to laughing girls in the windows and said:

"Girls, there are newspaper reporters and photographers out here. If you don't get inside the building they will take your pictures."

"Put 'em on the front page!" the girls answered.

"Boy, you don't know anything about female psychology," a raider yelled.

Scottish Rite Dormitory, Carothers Dormitory and the Pi Beta Phi Sorority House also were visited by the Austin raiders. But police, the threat of fire-hose dousings, and the defending men students turned back the would-be raiders.

Co-eds leaned from windows and teased, "Well, why don't you come on in and get what you came after?"

A reporter at Denton heard one of the raiders say, "I missed the goldfish craze, but I'm sure gonna get in on this."

Outside of Texas, the snowballing pantie raids recurred from Maine to California.

The worst brawl Wednesday night was the University of Oklahoma, where a demonstration labeled a "lust for lace" ended in an egg-tossing riot.

And at the University of Georgia, students were routed by tear gas and bombs after hurling rocks and eggs at police patrol cars.

The strange fad, in which college boys invade women's dormitories and sororities in search of undergarments, began several weeks ago but became widespread this week.

Since Sunday, undie sorties have occurred at more than 40 schools,

Franchot's Ex-Wife Wins Joint Custody Of Tone Children

SANTA MONICA, CALIF. — (AP) — The frequently acrimonious court battles between actress Jean Wallace and her former husband, Franchot Tone, over custody of their two children appear to be over.

Miss Wallace was awarded joint custody of her sons, Pascal, eight, and Thomas, six, in a dramatic court session Wednesday. Tone admitted he is satisfied with the kind of home the children have with Miss Wallace and her present husband, actor Cornell Wilde.

Tone had asked permission of the court to take the boys with him to make their permanent home in New York. He was given legal custody when he and Miss Wallace were divorced in 1948, but she retained their physical custody.

Wednesday's decision was a victory for Miss Wallace, who broke into tears at one juncture when she was describing the home life of the boys. She will keep them with her, and she told Tone that although she cannot promise that she will remain out of movies, "I will be with them as much as I possibly can."

Tone, she said, is welcome to see the boys, "and he knows it."

Marguerite Chapman Returns Protesting 'Horrible' Publicity

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — Exclusively Yours: "Sure I was the night-club kid. But I was out in the open and not behind closed doors doing something terrible!"

Gorgeous Marguerite Chapman, making a 14-karat movie comeback at Fox, leveling about her glamor-queen days at Columbia when the fan magazines dubbed her the "Sunset Strip Butterfly."

"The publicity was horrible—and so undeserved," cried Marguerite, who's Scott Brady's co-star in "Bloodhounds of Broadway," her first Hollywood movie in two years. "I was making 12 'B' Pictures a year and then I moved up to the 'A's' and had time on my hands. Really, I just wanted to learn a little about life and have some fun. I had a different date every night—and every Monday morning I was on the carpet at the studio. But I did nothing wrong and I'm not sorry about anything."

John Howard's the man in Marguerite's life now—"and we never go to night clubs"—but she ducks the $64 marriage question.

Lawyers for Zsa Zsa Gabor and George Sanders have started the property settlement talks. It's expected that Zsa Zsa will ask for a California free-me action before leaving for Europe to co-star with Jose Ferrer in "Moulin Rouge."

The perfect TV vehicle for zippy Zsa Zsa, by the way, has been found by CBS executives Harry Ackerman and Bill Brennan. Miss Double Z will star in a video version of Arlene Francis' famous "Blind Date" show this Fall.

Romance Blooms

Babe Blum, Mary Livingstone's gravel-voiced sister on Jack Benny's radio program (and for real, too) will wed Broadway Producer John Wildberg in Europe this Summer.

Stuart Randall, a Clark Gable-ish newcomer who played the role of the general in "Fixed Bayonets," will be Gloria Swanson's leading man in Albert Zugsmith's production of "Crosstown." Gloria's salary for the movie, by the way will be $80,000.

The stork again is hovering over the manse of UI Producer Aaron Rosenberg, a former USC All-American football star . . . How time flies: Alan Dinehart III, son of the famous actor, now is 16 years old, six feet tall and will enter West Point after his high school graduation.

Writer Alyce Canfield's eyebrows still are aloft over the way her original story, "Models, Inc.," turned out in its screen translation. Coleen Gray plays the part that Alyce wrote for Dan Duryea, John Howard the role intended for Joan Bennett and Howard Duff reads the heroine's lines. No movie has ever had such switches.

"Anna," the new Italian movie co-starring Sylvia ("Bitter Rice") Mangano and Vittorio Gassman, has been given a "C" rating by the Legion of Decency. Even when Sylvana plays a nun, the censors pounce on her.

The reason it's escaped Hollywood that Terry Moore is an accomplished airplane pilot, with more than 150 hours of solo flying time to her credit, is that her license was issued under her real name of Helen Luella Kofoed. Pretty Terry, who can de figure 8's in the air, now is boning up to pass her commercial pilot test.

This will make Orson Welles scream! Orson produced the Eric Ambler suspense thriller, "Journey Into Fear," for RKO in 1942 with Dolores del Rio and Joseph Cotten. Now a writer at RKO has reworked the mystery yarn into a slapdash comedy and it will be remade as an Alan Young starrer.

Barbara Rush, who bowed out of Paramount's Golden Circle, will move her make-up box to MGM after the birth of the heir she's presenting to hubby Jeffrey Hunter . . . Ella Raines' four-month-old Christina Eloise napped through a recent Hollywood parade, but she had the bonnet for it—a John Frederics original decorated with pearls and sequins yet!

There's a parallel in the careers of Betty Grable and Marilyn Monroe that's escaped mention. Both were dropped by Fox, then signed again and whizzed to stardom . . . Terry-Moore's penciled in for the role of the refined floozy in "From Here to Eternity." . . . Neil Rankin the Met's Alabama-born mezzo who looks like Jane Russell, is being screen tested by Fox in New York.

Actress' Secretary Attempts Suicide By Sleeping Pill Route

NEW YORK—(AP)—Patricia Ward, 18-year-old secretary to Martha Raye, was taken to a hospital early Thursday after swallowing sleeping pills in the actress' hotel suite.

Police said the girl had written a note indicated she was despondent over a broken romance.

Miss Raye told police the girl had been despondent.

Roosevelt Hospital reported the secretary's condition not serious.

Miss Raye, her husband, night club proprietor Nick Condos, and the secretary arrived at the Hampshire House suite shortly after midnight following an evening out.

Miss Raye invited her secretary to stay overnight. Emerging from the bathroom in a nightgown, police said, the secretary told Miss Raye: "Well, I did it. . . . I took those sleeping pills that were on your dresser."

Miss Raye found several pills, prescribed by her doctor, were missing from a bottle. The actress notified police and an ambulance was called.

The secretary's real name is Wisotsky, but she uses the name of Ward.

Revealing New Summer Sandals Point Up Pretty, Painted Toes

All your toes will show in the pretty new Summer sandals that are getting so much attention this season (left). The "naked" look calls for extra care for your feet (right), and you'll be particularly pleased with a new shimmer polish that harmonizes with the glistening leather of the sandals. It's a fashion-right combination.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

If you haven't started a Summer foot-beauty routine, you better make up for lost time. There is every indication that shoes will be more bare than ever before, with the nude look predominating.

As you well know, Winter's closed shoes may protect and keep your feet warm, but they also tend to exaggerate any tendency toward calluses, corns and unsightly ridges.

To get your feet looking lovely in short order, you will need a few simple aids. A pumice stone, stiff nail brush, nail clippers, extra-rich lanolin cream and your regular pedicure preparations should do the trick.

Begin with the pumice stone and nail brush on the rough skin of your heels. A little extra rubbing each night while you're still in the shower, plus thorough drying with a heavy towel, will start you on the way.

Give careful attention to the cuticle with an orange stick, cotton and cuticle softener. Follow with a sensible trimming of the nails (never cut into corners), not only because this will prevent future complications, but because the sheer hose necessary for your new sandals have no reinforcement.

Always apply a heavy cream or lotion to any trouble spots each night before retiring. An old pair of white cotton socks will help keep the preparation from staining the sheets.

Following this special care, you will want to complete the pedicure with nail enamel as the finishing touch. Harmonizing polish on both hands and feet always is smart, but with the introduction of jeweltones in enamel, an unusual effect may be achieved by matching polish to the leather sandals.

This wonderful matching effect will be possible because of a new leather treatment called "antiqued," which adds a luster to the material much like the shimmer of polish. Use gold polish with your gleaming gold slippers, and the darkest reds with black suedes.

Red Blackmail Robs Humanity

A new United Nations survey of world economic and social conditions indirectly serves to measure the magnitude of communism's crime against men of this age.

While the survey found that a third of the globe's total population was making significant strides toward higher living standards, it concluded that the other two-thirds is fighting a losing battle against hunger, poor housing, ignorance and general poverty.

Communism, if you recall the advertisements from the Kremlin and assorted branch offices, is supposed to be a cure for all the ailments of modern-day humanity. Communism is supposed to be the people's friend.

No one would pretend that if there were no Moscow-directed communism all the ills of the world would thereby be solved and upwards of 2,000,000,000 people would be enjoying a high standard of living.

Yet it is a dismal fact that the United States and many other free nations are pouring billions of dollars annually into armaments, using up steel and other substances and commandeering the skills of millions of men. All these materials and all these talents obviously could be put to far better purpose improving the lot of Americans, of Europeans, indeed, of all mankind.

We and the rest of the West are not in the category marked by the UN as fighting a losing battle with poverty. But our technical knowledge, our machinery, our chemicals and fertilizers and other materials could be at work right now on a considerable scale combatting the handicaps of the unfortunate two-thirds.

The UN discovered there is today six per cent less food in the world than before World War II, even though there are millions more mouths to feed. Supplies have declined most sharply in areas where they are most needed —as in the Far East. If you could ask the Chinese under Communist rule, what would they say of the blessings brought by "benevolent" communism?

The housing problem is universal, but it naturally is much worse in under-developed regions. In these, an estimated 150,000,000 families need new homes; in more advanced areas, the figure is 30,000,000. A study of 17 European nations showed that if prewar construction rates were doubled, it would take an average of 22 years to meet housing needs. Yet nowhere are such building rates possible.

That they are not is due in great part to communism. Our prime task today is not to advance ourselves and the world along the road of human betterment, but to prevent the gains we already have made from being destroyed. We must defend ourselves against a program of conquest which masquerades as a revolution of the people.

Even in backward countries, progress will be made in time despite the Kremlin's menace. But how much more could be done if we were free to focus our energies on building for peace instead of for possible war.

Every tank built by the free nations, every gun, every plane is an evidence that the Russians are blackmailing humanity, sucking out substance that should be thrown into the fight for the uplifting of men's lives. To offer this blackmail as the solvent for human ills is to perpetrate the greatest fraud in history.

Progress? Phooey

The island of Molokai, in the Hawaiians, is trying to come to terms with the age of jet planes, rockets and lightning communications.

For years the citizens of Molokai have been resisting some of these advances, even while taking advantage of them. But now they are under some pressure to go along with some of the impersonal features of a high-speed mechanical era.

Specifically, they are being urged to use numbers when they telephone their friends or their local merchants.

Apparently all you have to do in Molokai to get results is pick up the phone and say: "Lemme talk to Joe Mallao." This is friendly, to be sure, but it puts the burden of looking up the number on the operator, and slows down the use of the facilities.

So friendliness is being asked to yield a point to efficiency. Thus, even in Molokai, we accommodate ourselves to progress.

Look at the bright side—you seldom see any billboards bordering a rough detour.

A very important key to business is busyness.

After a person has done only as he pleased he isn't always pleased with what he has done.

Why is it that the best advice is usually the kind most people don't like?

Go to the law with your troubles, advises a judge. But not to in-laws.

Better Hurry, Son, Time's A-Wastin'!

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1952, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Drew Pearson says: Puerto Rican radicals again endanger President; American reactionaries endanger Puerto Rican constitution; U. S. territories can't vote, but they can nominate.

WASHINGTON — The steel cables which once roped off the sidewalk in front of Blair House now are removed; so also the little guardhouses once occupied by the White House police.

They were placed there immediately after two Puerto Rican fanatics ran down Pennsylvania Avenue, their guns blazing, mowing down two guards in an insane, abortive attempt on the life of the President.

Today people can walk along the sidewalk of Pennsylvania Avenue without going out in the street to avoid the barriers. But the root reason for the attempt on the President's life has not been removed.

In fact, security measures to protect his life and that of the governor of Puerto Rico, Luis Munoz Marin were tightened last week because the new constitution of Puerto Rico now is up for debate in Congress. Governor Munoz Marin, who was attacked in San Juan simultaneously with the atack on Truman, now is under special guard in Washington, and the name of the hotel where he is stopping is kept a secret.

The attempts on the lives of the governor and the President were made by Puerto Rican fanatics who demanded that Puerto Rico be completely independent of the United States. They bitterly opposed the new constitution which sets up a model, middle-of-the-road partnership with the U. S. A., as merely continuing Yankee rule.

Simultaneously, from another group, the new Puerto Rican constitution has been under fire. This group, not fanatical in the physical sense, but almost fanatical in its desire to preserve the status quo, is in the House of Representatives.

After a bill was passed by both Houses of Congress permitting Puerto Rico to adopt a new constitution, and after the carefully drafted constitution was overwhelmingly adopted by a plebiscite of the Puerto Rican people, it suddenly was blocked in the House last week by GOP Congressman Charley Halleck of Indiana.

Two-Cadillac Charley

Halleck, frequently called "Two-Cadillac Charley," because he came to Washington a man of modest means and suddenly blossomed out with two Cadillacs, was rather vague about reasons for opposing the Puerto Rican constitution. He did not like the fact that it prohibited child labor, although the United States, does, too; and he also objected to section 20 which sets forth the Puerto Rican goal of a job for every man.

Other Republicans, equally conservative, disagreed with Halleck. Congressman "Doc" Miller of Nebraska, a strong MacArthur booster and a student of the Puerto Rican constitution, pointed out that it would not have permitted seizure of the steel mills or taking over newspapers.

"Do you object to the fact that it would prevent the government from seizing the steel mills?" asked Congressman Miller. "Do you object to this ban against wire-tapping?" Halleck had no convincing answer.

His friend, Congressman Fred Crawfrod of Michigan, another conservative Republican, also championed the constitution, but the gentleman from Indiana continued to object, not only to the constitution, but even to permitting a vote on it. Halleck wanted to bottle the bill up in the rules commitee, thus stifling free discussion. Several Dixiecrats supported him.

Thus, while the extreme radicals of Puerto Rico are ready to assassinate the President and Governor Munoz Marin if the constitution is adopted, the extreme reactionaries in Congress are ready to assassinate the constitution.

What the latter don't understand is that the entire Latin American world is watching Congress to see whether we renege on our pledge to out a commonwealth partnership with the Puerto Rican people.

Note — Later, several Republicans persuaded Halleck at least to permit a vote on the constitution, and he receded from his opposition to a vote. But one GOP colleague remarked: "Herbert Hoover once proposed a chicken in every pot and two cars in every garage. Today Halleck has two Cadillacs in his garage, but is opposed to letting Puerto Rico express its hope of a job for every man."

Statehood And Politics

When the Senate finally voted down the question of statehood for Alaska last Winter, Senator Clinton Andersen of New Mexico walked across the Senate floor to fellow Democrat Bob Kerr of Oklahoma and remarked:

"You're going to regret that some day, Bob. That vote will come back to plague you in your race for the nomination."

Inside fact was that Senator Kerr had made a deal with Southern Democratic friends to trade his vote against Alaskan and Hawaiian statehood in return for their support on oil-and-gas legislation. Kerr is a big oil-and-gas man.

But what Senator Anderson knew was that the people of Hawaii, Alaska and Puerto Rico, who can't vote, but can nominate, deeply resent the way they have been kicked around by certain U. S. legislators; so their delegates at both conventions hope to support those who have befriended them.

On the Democratic side, Senator Kefauver is the only leading candidate who consistently has championed statehood and the rights of island people. He even took a long trip from Iowa to Washington in order to be on hand to vote. One the Republican side, Taft voted to pigeonhole Alaskan statehood. Eisenhower has favored it.

Washington Pipe Line

Life magazine is negotiating to buy a picture of a flying saucer seen over Brazil for $25,000 from Brazilian Photographers Ed Keffell and Joao Martin. Life has examined the negative and decided that it has not been retouched. But the magazine still isn't sure whether the picture is a phony, because all it shows is a flying saucer in the empty air. There is no way to judge its size and altitude . . . President Truman telephoned Governor Stevenson of Illinois while Stevenson was visiting in California last week, and urged him to change his mind about running for President. Stevenson refused . . . Wage Stabilizer Nathan Feinsinger is taking a rest in Colorado after fainting last week following three days of brutal questioning by the House Labor Committee —a third degree led by GOP Congressman Gwinn of New York.

Journal Says Drug Ordinance Needed

SINGAPORE —(AP)— Penicillin and other antibiotic drugs are being offered for sale openly by grocers and street vendors in Malaya, the Malayan Pharmaceutical Journal discloses.

Calling for an ordinance to control sale of therapeutic substances and antibiotic drugs, the official organ of the Malayan Pharmaceutical Association says there are loopholes for unscrupulous manufacturers to supply non-sterile ligatures and outdated and ineffective drugs.

Have a Laugh

By BOYCE HOUSE

A half-intoxicated cowboy entered a saloon and offered to bet that he could identify any and all ingredients in any drink the bartender could make. The bartender took him up and the cowboy won several wagers by identifying various mixtures of gin, rum, whisky and brandy.

Then the bartender went through the motions of mixing another drink but actually set out a glass of plain water. The cowboy sipped, paused, sipped again, then said, "I give up."

• JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Probably every experienced bridge player is familiar with the psychic overcall of one no-trump based on a long "escape" suit. An example is provided in today's hand. South overcalled with one no-trump, expecting to run out ot hearts if he got doubled.

This idea, although it cannot be expected to deceive experienced opponents, sometimes produces good results. If your opponents happen to be just out of school, you may talk them out of the hand.

Even against native opponents, however, this psychic overcall is unsafe if you are vunerable; and is particularly dangerous if you are vulnerable and the opponents are not. This hocus pocus is most effective when you are non-vulnerable against vulnerable opponents.

When today's hand was actually played, West happened to be a very experienced player. As the bidding indicates, West was not deceived for a moment. In fact, North was the only player at the table who didn't know what was going on.

Opening lead—♠ A

When North bid three no-trump (a doubtful raise) South had to scramble back to four hearts. This was promptly doubled, and South was severely punished for ignoring the vulnerability.

West opened the ace of spades and continued the suit, ruffing the third spade with one of his low trumps. The defenders then took a diamond and two clubs, setting the contract three tricks.

East and West found it very pleasant to chalk up 800 points as the result of this hand. It was even more pleasant when they realized that if they had been left to their own devices they could not even have made a game.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been.

North	East	South	West
1 Heart	Pass	1 Spade	Pass
1 N. T.	Pass	?

You, South, hold: Spades A-Q-7-3-2, Hearts 7-5, Diamonds K-J-4, Clubs K-Q-2. What do you do?

A—Bid three no-trump. Even if your partner has a minimum opening bid, there should be an excellent play for game at no-trump. It would be foolish to invite the game by bidding only two no-trump because your partner might decide to decline the invitation.

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades A-Q-7-3-2, Hearts 7-3, Diamonds K-Q-8-7-5, Club 2. What do you do?

Ike Goes First To Washington To Finish Business By June 3

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—General Eisenhower's schedule immediately after his return from Europe now has been agreed upon. He is expected in Washington, Sunday, June 1. He will clean up his business with the Pentagon, the President and Congress by June 3.

On June 3 he will go to Abilene, Kan., and the next day will make his first speech at cornerstone-laying ceremonies for the Eisenhower Foundation building. This is booked as a non-political speech, but it will be carried fully by radio and television networks.

Eisenhower will hold his first political press conference in the Elks Club of Abilene at 9 a.m., Thursday, June 5.

General Eisenhower will be in New York for the week of June 7 to 14. He will make his headquarters at the Columbia University president's residence. He will hold one press conference and will otherwise make himself available to convention delegates and his New York political managers. He is not scheduled to make any speeches while in New York.

After this he will go to Denver and set up his headquarters for the Summer. Where he speaks and what he says up to the time of the Chicago convention July 7 then will be decided.

This schedule was revealed in Washington by Paul Hoffman, head of the Eisenhower-for-President organization. Hoffman says Gen. Lucius Clay got Eisenhower's approval of the timetable on his recent visit to Europe.

Stand On Domestic Issues

Still to be worked out is just what stand Candidate Eisenhower will take on the many controversial domestic issues in this campaign.

Paul Hoffman emphasized in Washington that he could not speak for the general on these points. Hoffman expressed some doubt on whether the general had time to formulate fully his ideas on all the questions that are bound to be asked him.

The Abilene press conference of course could be turned into an endless free-for-all. General Eisenhower may choose to issue a statement outlining his platform. Or he may choose to say that he will make statements on some issues at later dates.

The general is being urged to make speeches in Michigan, Pennsylvania, New York, Illinois, other key states and all other states for that matter. But the pre-convention list will be limited.

Paul Hoffman's own opinion is that General Eisenhower will have to clarify his position on the key issues like labor and farm policy. The latter is considered particularly important in the Midwest, where it is claimed Senator Robert Taft has his greatest strength.

General Eisenhower's position on foreign policy towards Europe of course has been stated in detail. Hoffman feels he should make some clarifying statement on the Far East situation.

In studying the past speeches and statements o General Eisenhower, Hoffman—talking now like a campaign manager—says he found the general "takes a new approach to all problems. Ike never quibbles over the past. He is always looking ahead."

Solutions To Problems

Applying this principle to questions like the Far East, Hoffman thinks his candidate will steer clear of comment on things like the MacArthur issue. Instead, he is expected to offer his ideas on what can be done now to solve the present problem instead of merely trying to make an issue of controversy out of it.

Similarly, Hoffman does not expect General Eisenhower to touch the subject of McCarthyism as a specific issue. Hoffman believes the general will make clear where he stands on the matter of freedom of speech. One of the notes General Eisenhower has struck most often is the importance of maintaining freedom, says Hoffman.

He hopes that Ike can take us out of the atmosphere of fear and hate into an era of good will and confidence.

"Issues like McCarthyism became important because we didn't have the right atmosphere in this country," says Hoffman. "We should be able to treat such matters with thunders of silence."

Hoffman says he sees no possibility of a deadlock at Chicago. He thinks Senator Taft will show his greatest strength on the first ballot and lose thereafter.

No thought has been given to a vice presidential candidate to run with Ike, says Hoffman. He opposes the idea that this vice presidential candidate should be an ultra-conservative to provide a "balanced ticket." Hoffman wants a running mate with views like Ike's.

Alias Basil Willing

By Helen McCloy

THE STORY: Jack Duggan, a private detective, was murdered and Miss Katherine Shaw died under mysterious circumstances following a dinner given by a psychiatrist at which Duggan appeared to be impersonating Basil Willing. Although the dinner was seemingly part of Dr. Zimmer's treatment of some of his patients, there seems to be many suspicious circumstances surrounding the guests. Dr. Zimmer has decided to resume the gatherings. Charlotte Dean, Miss Shaw's secretary, regards her invitation with suspicion, but Basil thinks she will be in no danger and wants her to go so that she can report on what takes place.

XXII

BASIL WILLING'S library was a pleasant place to spend the long hours that decline so gently from late afternoon to sunset in spring. At one end, tall windows stood open to the bustle and drama of the street scene with a wide expanse of sky above the low buildings opposite, and the room was so deep that one could sit there observing, unobserved. Usually Basil enjoyed these hours of the day more than any other, but Friday evening he was troubled.

"What's wrong?" asked Gisela quietly after Juniper had brought in mint juleps.

"I took a great responsibility the other day. I let Charlotte Dean accept an invitation to dine tonight at Dr. Zimmer's with the same people who were there the night Duggan and Miss Shaw died."

"Is there any reason why she shouldn't?"

"I don't know of any, but I don't like the idea."

Gisela did not mention the matter again until after dinner when curtains were drawn, the fire lit, and they sat before it, drinking coffee.

"Has it occurred to you that Duggan may have been killed because someone really believed he was Basil Willing?"

"It has occurred to Brinsley Shaw."

"Maybe he was trying to clear Rosamund Yorke. She's the only person who knew from the beginning that Duggan was not Basil Willing."

"He was trying to clear Brinsley Shaw. And he tried quite adroitly to kill two birds with one stone—first, to scare me off the case; second, to make me believe that Duggan's death had nothing to do with Miss Shaw's employing Duggan and therefore that Miss Shaw had died a natural death. Duggan's death didn't worry Brinsley so much, since he had no apparent motive for killing Duggan. But I was not fooled by Brinsley's suggestion. It couldn't be coincidence that Miss Shaw and Duggan, a private detective she employed, died the same night after being with the same people."

"Have the police checked Dr. Zimmer's account of his background?"

"Of course. All the available facts are just as he and his sister said. Whoever poisoned Duggan, it can't have been Zimmer."

"You say that Duggan was poisoned by someone who knew he was a private detective. Zimmer could have found that detective license while Duggan was still alive."

"BUT Zimmer was nowhere near Duggan's glass while Duggan was drinking. I was watching Zimmer all that time."

"What about Otto? He served the cocktails. It would have been easy for him."

"How could Otto possibly know Duggan was a private detective?"

"Zimmer might have told him."

"Impossible. Zimmer and Otto didn't speak to each other after Duggan came. They weren't even close enough to speak to each other."

Pensively Gisela looked into the fire where a feather of blue flame fluttered at the heart of incandescent red coals. "Why do you trust Charlotte Dean so much?"

"Her embarrassment and everything else about her at our first meeting seemed more like innocence than Brinsley Shaw's coolness, so I'm willing to take a chance on Miss Dean. She doesn't seem to like Brinsley, but—I wish I knew what Miss Shaw meant when she said: 'They're always watching.' Who were 'they'? Brinsley and Miss Dean are the logical candidates—both heirs to Miss Shaw's money, both members of her household whom she didn't confide in when she engaged Duggan. Is there anyone else she might link with Brinsley? Perhaps Isolda Canning, with whom he is so friendly?"

Basil rose to pace the floor while Gisela sat still on the sofa, listening, chin in hand, eyes still on the fire.

"Miss Shaw suspected someone was trying to kill her," mused Basil. "I do not say her suspicion was correct."

THE telephone rang. Basil halted his pacing. Gisela lifted her chin from her hand and turned her eyes toward his. As they looked at one another, the bell pealed again, stridently, insistently.

"I hope that isn't what I think it is!"

Basil reached the telephone in three strides.

Gisela looked at the clock. It was nearly midnight.

"Hello?"

A weak voice whispered, "Dr. Willing?"

"Miss Lawrence!"

"Please come to our house at once." Over the telephone wires he could hear her breath throb unevenly. "Something dreadful has happened."

"What is it?" he demanded.

"My father. I think he's dying. But there may be a chance to save him—if you come quickly."

UN Officers Suspicious About Buildup Of Red Power In Asia

By ROBERT EUNSON

TOKYO—(AP)—United Nations officers are eyeing suspiciously a buildup of Soviet strength in Asia because of the danger that Russia might leap into the Korea war.

There is nothing to indicate right now that the Soviets are planning any more than to keep Chinese and North Korean soldiers well supplied with arms, ammunition and vehicles.

But the belief here is that if the Russians ever decide to touch off another world war, Korea is just as likely a spot as Europe.

The power which controls Korea also controls Japan and Japan is a forward frontier of the free world in Asia.

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's remarks in Washington that Russia is carrying on a big and "significant" military buildup put on the record what staff officers at his old headquarters here have been observing for more than a year.

The threat is closer now because Korean roads are just about thawed.

Summer Best Period

The North Korean Reds, Russian trained and Russian equipped, started the Korean war on June 25, 1950. Summer is the best period for movement of supplies and tanks.

Although the danger period is approaching, the general belief here, however, is that Russia probably is ready to enter the Korean war only in case the Chinese Communists need help.

"Face" is an important thing in Asia. If the United Nations were to launch an all-out attack, threatening the Communists with defeat, Russia might step in to save China's reputation among her neighbors.

While Russia is building up her own forces in the Far East, she is also supplying the Chinese and North Korean Communists with new equipment and supplies.

The Red war potential in Korea is greater than ever, say UN officers.

There has been a marked increase in tanks, artillery pieces, aircraft, and enemy quartermaster supplies, according to field reports.

Gen. James A. Van Fleet, U. S. Eighth Army commander, estimates the Communist strength in Korea at 750,000 men with a substantial reserve force in Manchuria.

Half Are Jets

Red air strength is about 1,500 planes, with half of them jets, according to Lt. Gen. O. P. Weyland, Far East Air Force commander.

The situation, when Ridgway turned over command to his successor, Gen. Mark Clark, was this:

1. Despite the armistice talks, military strength of the Chinese and North Korean Communists had increased.

2. Personnel and equipment losses have been replaced.

3. Communist soldiers have been equipped with a substantial amount of new clothing, even to the extent of having a surplus for civilians.

4. During the last nine months the Communists have dug themselves into new and deep positions, so well constructed as to compare to the famous military defense lines in Europe. The Bunkers are heated in Winter and well stocked with food and ammunition.

5. There is no doubt but that the Communists are planning on maintaining strong positions in Korea.

"The promotion of good will and friendship between the two countries will be my first and last job always," Araki said in an interview.

The 61-year-old ambassador is a banker.

He has spent almost six years in the United States as a student at Princeton and Cornell and as an employe in the New York office of the Bank of Japan.

A widower, he will take his 21-year-old daughter, Tomiko, as his hostess.

Like President Truman's daughter, Tomiko is a music lover and is studying voice. She will continue her music study in Washington.

The new ambassador is a slight, friendly man with a winning smile. He is a snappy dresser and reading is his favorite pastime.

"I like golf too," the ambassador said. "I guess you'd say I play 'scoreless' golf. I never keep score."

Prince Charles' Cry Sends British State Into Action

LONDON—(AP)—The elaborate machinery of the British state sprang into action at a crisp message from Buckingham Palace—"Prince Charles is crying. He cannot find his rabbit."

A luxurious black sedan sped down the tree-lined drive to Clarence House, across the park, and returned triumphantly a few minutes later.

Palace officials swarmed around the car and tenderly carried away the green hutch with the startled white rabbit perched inside.

The rabbit, prize pet of the three-year-old prince, had been forgotten when the new queen moved her family from Clarence House to the palace.

But a lusty princely yell resounding through the palace grounds Wednesday served as a quick reminder. The rabbit now has new quarters in the palace garden.

Four Rail Tank Cars Blaze In Downtown Lowell, Ind.

LOWELL, IND. —(AP)— Four railroad tank cars burst into flames in the center of Lowell's downtown district early Thursday after 14 cars of a Monon Railroad freight train left the rails.

The flaming tank cars, filled with gasoline and fuel oil, blocked travel on the town's main street and highway leading to Indianapolis.

Several of the derailed freight cars also caught fire. Some of the derailed cars smashed into the railroad depot which later was destroyed by flames from the burning tank and freight cars.

More than 150 firemen from Lowell and other communities in Lake County, about 35 miles south of Chicago, fought the blaze throughout the early morning. The accident occurred about 12:30 a.m. (EST) and the fire had not been extinguished five hours later. Hundreds of the town's 1,600 residents were attracted to the scene.

No one was reported injured.

The 14 cars which were reported to have left the rails were in the center of the 65-car train of the southbound Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville Railway Company (Monon). The train was enroute from Hammond to Lafayette, Ind., on the road's main line.

Police Chief Harry N. Brown of Lowell said the cars left the rails as the train was passing through the downtown district. He said the tank cars overturned and burst into flames. Other derailed cars, Brown said, piled up alongside the railroad right of way.

Brown said he had been told a broken wheel on one of the cars had caused the derailment.

Officials of the Monon were not immediately available for comment on the cause of the accident or estimate of the damage.

Proposed United Fund-Raising Plan To Be Discussed

A proposed united fund-raising organization in Midland will be discussed pro and con at a public meeting scheduled at 2:30 p.m. Friday in the Crystal Ballroom of Hotel Scharbauer.

Ray O. Howard is temporary chairman of a citizens' committee sponsoring the unified finance campaign idea.

A representative of a professional fund-raising concern will speak at the Friday meeting, Howard said.

He said the meeting is open to the public and everyone interested is urged to attend.

JEEVES HELPS LITTLE WOMAN

BIGGLESWADE, ENGLAND—(AP)—C. J. Jeeves, who's been paying his wife two pounds, 15 shillings ($7.70) a week since they separated asked the court's permission Wednesday to send along a little more.

The astounded judge, who said he never had heard of such a thing, granted Jeeves' request to increase the maintenance money to three pounds ($8.40).

It's the increased cost of living, Jeeves explained.

FBI Nabs Two Men, Woman For Armed Robbery Of Naval Station Credit Union

BOSTON — (AP) — Two West Warwick, R. I., men—former civilian employes of Quonset Point, R. I., Naval Air Station—were arrested by the FBI Wednesday night for a bold, $100,000 armed holdup of a credit union there last March 7. A New York night club singer was taken into custody as a material witness.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation reported one of the men was carrying bills identified as part of the loot but declined to say how much of the money was recovered.

The FBI identified the trio as:

Howard Hildebrandt, 25, who worked at Quonset two months during World War II, and afterward from December, 1946, to May, 1951. Since the latter month he has been employed intermittently as a private detective and a guard for an armored car service in Rhode Island.

Robert Roger La Plante, 27, a helper and airplane mechanic who went to work at Quonset Feb. 10, 1947, and gave up his job only last week. He was on the payroll the day of the robbery but did not work that day nor the preceding day, March 6.

Gloria H. Fazzina, 30, Jersey City, N. J., known professionally as Glorida Dale. She was born in New Britain, Conn.

Hildebrandt and Miss Fazzina were arrested in New York City, La Plante at his home in West Warwick.

Hildebrandt and La Plante, both World War II veterans, are charged with armed robbery on a U. S. government reservation. None of it was government funds.

La Plante will be arraigned before a U. S. commissioner in Providence, R. I., while Hildebrandt will be arraigned before a U. S. commissioner in New York preliminary to his removal to Rhode Island.

The FBI said Miss Dale was held in the Women's House of Detention in New York.

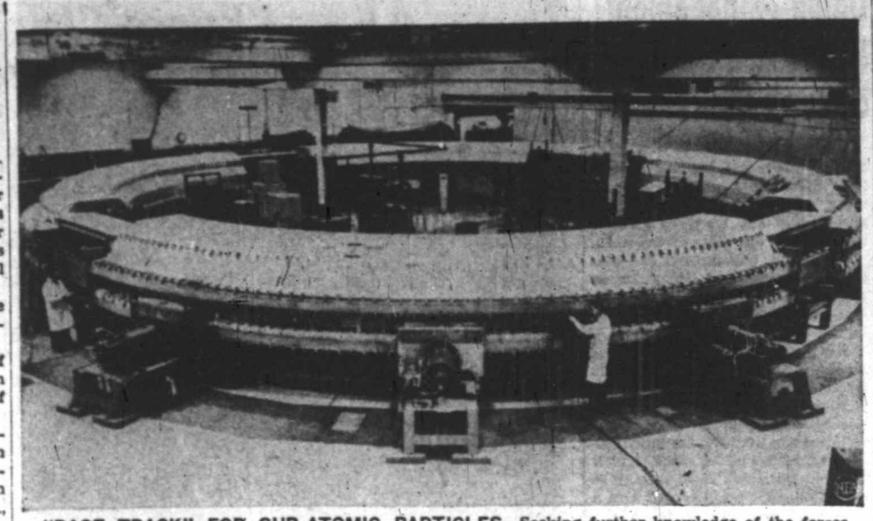

She was described as a divorcee and a singer at Tony Pastor's Night Club in New York. William Janava, club manager, said she once sang there four years ago and only recently returned for an engagement.

Javana said Hildebrandt first visited the club April 16 and thereafter was a frequent visitor, sometimes paying checks as high as $200 for a party of six. He said Hildebrandt's admiration for Miss Dale was well known in the club.

FBI officials declined to name the armored car firm for which Hildebrandt worked.

During the last two and half years, two armored car firms in New England have been victims of daring robberies.

Hallowe'en-masked bandits grabbed $1,219,000 at Brink's, Inc., in Boston on Jan. 17, 1950, in the nation's biggest cash haul, and on March 25, 1952, in Danvers, Mass., $681,000 was scooped out of an unattended armored car operated by U. S. Trucking Corporation, while its three-man crew sipped coffee in a nearby drug store.

"RACE TRACK" FOR SUB-ATOMIC PARTICLES—Seeking further knowledge of the forces pent up within the atom, scientists put finishing touches on the mammoth Cosmotron, at Brookhaven National Laboratories, in Upton, N. Y. The ring-shaped magnet, with an inside diameter of over 60 feet, weighs 2200 tons, and will serve as a "race track" for protons, sub-atomic particles which will be made to collide with a target of carbon or liquid hydrogen.

Captain's Final Combat Mission Almost Is Fatal

Communist gunners shot down his Corsair fighter on his 100th mission. Barbanen, Bronx, N. Y., parachuted uninjured behind enemy lines.

An Air Force helicopter, manned by Pilot-Capt. Charles Johnson, Paradise, Calif., and Crewman John Withers, Belford, Ind., snatched him to safety—but not before the Reds had nicked the 'copter several times with rifle fire.

Johnson said "Barbanen was almost captured three different times before we could pick him up."

Union-Management Peace Achieved For Nation's Railroads

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Union-management peace, the first in more than three years, came to the nation's railroads Thursday and the government was ready to give up its 21-month operation of the roads.

Three rail unions, with a combined membership of 150,000, signed a "memorandum of agreement" with the carriers late Wednesday night in the White House.

The agreement, unlike one signed by the same three union chiefs in December, 1950, is binding on the rank-and-file. The 1950 agreement was repudiated by a vote of the memberships of the three unions.

Actual return of the roads to their private owners will come as soon as the unions and the railroads sign a contract based on the terms and conditions of employment agreed to Wednesday night.

That might take a week or more, even though the job is almost purely mechanical.

Does Four Things

The agreement, worked out between the carriers and the engineers, firemen and the conductors after intensive mediation efforts by Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman, does these four things:

1. Raises wages 37 cents an hour for men in the yards and 22 1/2 cents for over-the-road employes.

2. Ties wages to the cost of living. Pay now goes up or down one cent each three months for each one point change in the government's cost-of-living index.

3. Lays the foundation for yardmen to switch from a 48-hour week to a 40-hour week and get a four-cent pay hike when the shorter work week takes effect.

4. Gives the unions the right to reject carrier requests to run the same train crew through a divisional terminal point if the two parties can't negotiate their disagreements over these interdivisional runs.

Iva Jean Bryan, four, 409 East Michigan Street, is a medical patient at Midland Memorial Hospital. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Bryan.

"JO-JO, THE DOVE"—Joe Stalin, blackjack in hand, "peace" sign and peace dove on a leash, is the star of this new anti-Communist poster being distributed in Paris by the "Paix et Liberte," anti-Red movement. Joe is caricatured as a Parisian desperado, waiting behind a corner for innocent victims of his phony peace propaganda.

Sheriff Montgomery Convicted, Handed Seven-Year Sentence

DALLAS — (AP) — Sheriff Sully Montgomery of Tarrant County was convicted of income tax evasion and sentenced to seven years in federal prison Wednesday.

It took the federal district court jury one hour and 15 minutes to decide Montgomery's fate.

He sat erect and outwardly unmoved as the jury verdict was announced.

Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson sternly told the former professional football player that "in the eyes of laymen, the sheriff is the embodiment of the law."

Montgomery had been charged with three evasion counts involving his 1948, 1949 and 1950 income tax returns.

Judge Davidson fixed sentences of two years, four years and three years on the three counts. The two-year sentence is to run concurrently with the other two.

Montgomery's attorneys said they would file a notice of appeal to the Circuit Court of Appeals.

Montgomery, freed on a $7,000 appeal bond, said he expected to remain in office as sheriff until a decision is handed down by the appellate court. He said he was still a candidate for reelection to his fourth term.

Ranch Hand Held In Fatal Beating Of Young Stepson

HONDO—(AP)—Earl (Curley) Mathews, lean, rugged ranch hand, remained in the Medina County jail Thursday, charged with murder in the death of his three-year-old stepson, Clinton Lee Clark.

Mathews Wednesday sat in his cell and pleaded with a reporter:

"Please, sir, tell them I didn't mean to do it."

The 29-year-old cowhand was arrested Monday following a probe of the boy's death. An autopsy revealed the child died of internal ruptures.

Clarence Laroche, San Antonio Express writer, quoted Mathews as saying:

"Yessir, I hit him. But, mister, I didn't mean to murder that little boy. I don't know what happened, but it did. He talked back to me in the bathroom and I picked him up and hit him."

Mathews was moved to the Medina County jail from the Bandera County jail after feeling ran high in the dude ranch center.

At Tarpley, the boy's mother still appeared dazed. She had been married four month to the ranch hand.

"I don't know what I'm going to do," she said. "I don't want to talk about it. . . . I don't want to think about it."

Mrs. Mathews' mother, Mrs. Betty Faris, sobbed and said, "I hope he (Mathews) gets what's coming to him. . . . I loved that baby. We all loved him."

The term "Old Guard" in U. S. politics refers to the conservative or stand-pat element in the Republican party.

Jack Porter Says Zweifel Losing Grip On Texas GOP

By The Associated Press

Jack Porter of Houston, state campaign manager for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, says the Republican State Executive Committee is slipping from the grasp of Henry Zweifel.

Zweifel, the GOP national committeeman, is becoming frantic, Porter said in Dallas Wednesday night, adding:

"Mr. Zweifel has been issuing irrational statements."

Zweifel is also leader of the Taft forces in Texas.

Porter spoke at a Republican rally Wednesday night, where it had been publicized 10,000 Eisenhower backers would be present. Newspaper estimates the actual crowd placed it at about 600. The affair had been billed as a "monster demonstration" of Dallas Republicans desiring fair play and majority rule.

Porter told the crowd he had little fear that the GOP Executive Committee would "ignore majority rule in favor of Taft rump delegations in 31 contested counties.

"There are many fine people in that committee," he said, "and they want to hold their heads up."

Comment still came thick and fast after the State Supreme Court's Wednesday decision to throw the Taft-Ike feud back into the party ranks.

It refused to grant a petition asked by Ikemen to nullify the rump county conventions held by Taft followers in six counties.

Taftman Walter Rogers of Dallas said the court's action "only emphasizes our contention that a political party is a voluntary association of voters believing in certain principles of government."

If Zweifel intended to stampede the GOP Executive Committee into seating only Taft delegates, as the Eisenhower forces claimed, at least one committeeman wasn't going along.

Buck L. Miller of Pampa said Wednesday night that "when the time comes when the rule of the majority is ignored by the leaders of the state Republican Party, I think it is time that we look at our hole card."

And Miller continued: "I am embarrassed by the action of some of my fellow committee members. I can't help but believe that the majority of the executive committee are loyal Americans, and regardless of their presidential preference, they too, will do the right thing and recognize majority rule."

Joy Hands Reds Virtual Ultimatum As Swan Song

MUNSAN, KOREA —(AP)— Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, in his final statement as chief Allied truce delegate, Thursday rebuked the Reds for using the Korea armistice talks as a "stall to repair your shattered forces."

"There is nothing left to negotiate —the decision is in your hands," the admiral declared.

Joy, upon completing his prepared statement, strode from the Panmunjom conference tent. His action threw the Communist delegation into a flurry.

But Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison, Jr., Joy's relief, moved over into the UN chief delegate's seat and suggested a recess until Friday.

The Reds demanded an almost unprecedented afternoon session.

It lasted 29 minutes. Harrison said North Korean Gen. Nam Il used it in a feeble attempt to reply to Joy in what Harrison called "plain drivel."

Another session was scheduled Friday.

Joy said in his stinging farewell the Allies have made their last concession on the repatriation of prisoners of war issue—last roadblock to a Korean truce.

The Allies won't back down, he said, from their refusal to return prisoners of war who do not want to go back to Communist rule. The Allies say that of almost 170,000 Red captives and internees about 100,000 refuse to rejoin the Reds voluntarily. The Communists want all their captured soldiers back—or no truce.

"Your side must completely abandon your absurd proposition to retain our captured personnel," Nam Il said in a 15-minute opening blast at the Allies.

LIFE SAVINGS GO IN BONFIRE

DAYTON, OHIO. —(AP)— When Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. White were wed 25 years ago, they decided to go along with just the bare necessities in life. Both worked. Neither smoked nor drank. They had no car. Movies were a luxury.

When they counted up their savings last weekend, they had $43,530, which Mrs. White kept pinned to her slip. They intended to bank the money Monday. But Mrs. White worked late and the banking was postponed. Monday night the money was gone. They figure their life savings dropped into trash Mrs. White gathered and burned.

Thoughtful Robber Ties Up Mother, Feeds Baby, Flees

NEW YORK — (AP) — A knife-wielding robber bound a young mother with picture wire Wednesday and stole her $6,000 ring—but before he left he fed the baby.

The mother, 20-year-old Mrs. Anita Laken, said she was fixing lunch for her 18-month-old son, Lane, when a man rang the doorbell and said he was with the Office of Price Stabilization.

Hinting that Mrs. Laken's rent might be reduced, the man left. In 15 minutes he was back and this time produced a knife. He bound Mrs. Laken to a chair with the wire and took the ring.

The mother pleaded to be released because the baby was ill and it was time for his medicine.

"I'll give him his medicine," the man said, and did.

"He needs his milk, too," said Mrs. Laken.

The robber heated the bottle, fed the baby, and fled.

'Poppy Day' Funds Aid Disabled Vets, Dependent Children

Dimes, quarters and dollars dropped into Poppy Day contribution boxes of the American Legion Auxiliary in exchange for the memorial poppies to be worn Saturday in honor of the war dead, will bring their full value of help to disabled veterans and needy children of veterans during the coming year, Mrs. Vivian Steele, rehabilitation chairman of the Midland unit of the Auxiliary, said Thursday.

She explained there are no campaign expenses to be deducted from the Poppy Day contributions. All workers are unpaid volunteers, except the disabled veterans who make the poppies, she said.

"Most of the money will stay right here in Midland to be used in carrying on our rehabilitation and child welfare programs," Mrs. Steele said.

Plans Are Complete

Plans for the staging of the annual Poppy Day were complete Thursday, and Auxiliary representatives will be out bright and early Saturday with the bright red poppies.

Meanwhile, T. E. (Red) Steele, commander of Midland's Woods W. Lynch Post of the American Legion, said members of the Legion should be the first to buy and wear memorial poppies. He reminded veterans that the poppy is a symbol of remembrance for their fallen comrades, and provides very real aid for the disabled and needy children of veterans.

Nevada Atom Test Postponed Again

LAS VEGAS, NEV. —(AP)— There will be no atom bomb test Thursday.

The Atomic Energy Commission indicated weather conditions were unfavorable and announced the postponement Wednesday night. It was the third time the test had been called off since it was originally scheduled for last Thursday. No new date was set.

The 701st Armored Infantry Battalion Combat Team, 1,000 strong, from Fort Hood, Texas, will move into the test site Thursday

Three Tugboat Men Are Missing In River Collision

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— Three men of a seven-man tugboat crew are missing after a pre-dawn collision in the Delaware River early Thursday.

The Coast Guard reported four men of the crew of the tug Patco were picked up alive after the tug sank near Tinicum Island, off Chester, Pa., which is south of Philadelphia. The Coast Guard said the tanker American Dealer collided with two oil barges towed by the Patco.

Six Coast Guard vessels including three utility boats and a 64 foot tug were sent to the area to search for other survivors. The oil barges belonged to the Patterson Oil Company, of Paulsboro, N. J.

Other ships in the area were alerted to be on the lookout for the missing men.

There was no immediate report of the condition of the American Dealer.

California Ike Backers To Vote For Warren Slate

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — The word went out Thursday to California supporters of General Eisenhower to vote for Gov. Earl Warren's Republican delegate slate at this state's June 3 presidential primary—in the hope Warren would throw his weight to Eisenhower at the Chicago GOP convention.

Eisenhower's name isn't entered in the California primary.

Warren, as usual, played it coy.

If he couldn't win at Chicago, "my delegates shall be released to vote for any candidate of their choice," was his only comment. Wednesday night he told a GOP rally:

"I shall go to Chicago in the hope of winning my party's nomination for President. But I have made no alliances with any candidate or with the sponsors of any candidate and shall make none for the purpose of either promoting or defeating any candidate."

Crackdown On Movement Of Pre-Built Houses Stir Tempest In New Industry

By The Associated Press

The State Highway Department crackdown on movement of pre-built houses over Texas highways has a relatively new industry up in arms.

Beginning June 1, factory-built houses more than 20 feet wide will not be allowed on state highways. The Highway Department says they are a traffic hazard.

Lubbock firms making the pre-built houses say it has "knocked the props from under" their business. San Angelo companies say it will break up their million-dollar annual business. Amarillo joins in the protest.

The new industry seems to be concentrated in those cities. The houses are assembled completely in factories. Most buyers are farmers or smalltown people.

"You can't build a good house in the country without paying portal-to-portal pay for workmen," says M. J. Thorn, manager of Universal Homes, Inc., of Amarillo, builder of 121 factory-built houses in the last six months. "Factory-built houses are the first real progress in the building industry in 100 years."

State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer announced the new rule May 7 as a "policy decision." In effect, he rejected an appeal made by representatives of house manufacturers at a public hearing of the Highway Commission April 29. Industry representatives will speak up again at the commission's regular hearing in Austin next Wednesday.

The ruling applies also to storage tanks, which has oil industry representatives protesting.

"Any house 20 feet wide or less isn't worth a damn," one Lubbock manufacturer observed. Lubbock firms say the pre-built house industry there has grown into a $3,500,000 annual business employing about 500 persons.

Pressure Charge

Lpubbock manufacturers charge the ruling was issued after pressure was applied by large lumber companies which do not make the pre-built houses. Most Lubbock firms making the houses are small lumber companies.

"Naturally the big lumber companies want to see us go out of business," said an official of the P&R Lumber Company of Lubbock. "They can get $2,500 more for building a house on location that we ask for building a house in our plant and moving it to location. I saved one farmer $3,400. We sold him a house for $9,500 and moved it 70 miles to his farm. The contractors wanted $12,900 for making the same-sized house on location."

One of San Angelo's big builders, James Hill, has been making three at a time in a hangar at Mathis Field, now the city's municipal airport. At a meeting of the San Angelo Home Builders Association last week, Hill said:

"This ruling will break up a million dollar a year business for San Angelo. Twenty builders here are turning out 300 houses a year now. I've been building 20 a month. It'll be two next month."

Prices for the San Angelo-built houses range from $1,500 to $4,800, delivered on site. Many were for oil field camp housing.

Amarillo has seven firms dealing in pre-built houses. Largest is Thorn's Universal Homes, Inc., which employs 139 workers in an assembly-line operation which turns out a house every six hours.

Thorn said not more than 15 per cent of his houses move on highways—that most are moved on primary or secondary roads. Most of his houses are 24 to 26 feet wide.

After June 1, the Highway Department will require special permits for movement of factory-built houses and storage tanks on the highway—but will issue no permits to those more than 20 feet wide. Nor will permits be issued for moving such houses or tanks more than 100 miles.

State Engineer Greer said, in making his May 7 announcement: "The transportation of these houses and tanks over Texas highways has grown to such an extent that those regulations are necessary for the convenience and safety of Texas motorists."

Ridgway—

and gave him an ovation.

Ridgway came to the Capitol while the House was debating its $6,889,100,000 foreign aid bill. The amount is about one billion below what President Truman asked and critics of the bill are out to cut it still more.

Ridgway made no mention of the matter, however, although the amount is of vital importance to the European defense forces he soon is to command in succession of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Before his speech, Ridgway had a meeting behind closed doors with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Chairman Connally (D-Texas) quoted Ridgway afterwards as saying he planned no major changes "in any policies that General Eisenhower has approved."

Connally said Ridgway did not discuss the foreign aid bill. He added:

"General Ridgway explained he was not sufficiently familiar with the European situation to discuss proposed reductions."

He quoted the general as saying, in reply to a question, he would insist that the European "members of NATO do their full part."

In his address, Ridgway made a general report on the Far East.

He gave Congress a dramatic account of how the Eighth Army in Korea, only three days under his command, repulsed an attempt by the Chinese and North Koreans to knock it out after a long retreat, and rose again on the offensive in less than a month.

He spoke at length on the armistice negotiations, which he called "no failure" despite the lack of a cease-fire, and of relations with Japan.

Ridgway said he approaches his new job in Europe with high confidence.

The sinewy paratrooper followed his predecessor in Tokyo, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, to the House rostrum by 13 months and three days. On April 19, 1951, shortly after being dismissed from command by President Truman, MacArthur told the assembled Congress he had passed the summit of a long military career and was ready to fade away like old soldiers of a barracks ballad.

Ridgway, in contrast, came before the legislators enroute from the highest Allied command on one side of the world to the highest Allied command on the other side.

In Gravest Language

He made no mention in his prepared text of MacArthur or of his own successor in the Orient, Gen. Mark Clark. He likewise said nothing about the controversy surrounding the capture and subsequent release of Gen. Francis T. Dodd by Communist prisoners of war at the camp Dodd command. But he gave high praise to Gen. James Van Fleet, commander of the Eighth Army in Korea.

Ridgway reserved the gravest language of his speech for his warning about Communist germ and gas warfare propaganda charges. He said:

"I wish to reiterate what I have repeatedly stated publicly, that these allegations are false in their entirety; that no element of the United Nations Command has employed either germ or gas warfare in any form at any time.

"In the whole black record of false propaganda, these charges should stand out as a monumental warning to the American people and the free world—a warning as menacing and as urgent as a forest fire bearing down upon a wooden village.

"The extent to which Communist leaders have gone in fabricating, disseminating and persistently pursuing these false charges should impress upon the brains of those yet who yet fail or refuse to see the purpose of communism, the deadly danger with which it confronts us and the free world."

112 Seniors Plan Annual Trip Friday

This year's trip will be to Carlsbad Caverns. The trip will be made in three chartered buses.

A tour of the caverns will be made in the morning, followed by a noon luncheon in the caverns.

Swimming and boating at Carlsbad Beach will comprise the afternoon entertainment.

After a 5:30 p.m. chuck wagon barbecue, the group will leave at 9 p.m. for Midland.

—and he intends to keep searching for it.

Truman ducked every question which sought to enlist him for or against any specific political candidate. He re-emphasized that he will support the Democratic candidate, whoever he is, to the utmost.

Quizzed on whether he had shown a lack of enthusiasm for Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, the President said he likes every man who has come out for the Democratic nomination.

Quick Cleanup Due

On other points, Truman:

1. Told questioners that the Administration's long-stalled cleanup drive will be taken care of quickly when James P. McGranery is sworn in as attorney general on Tuesday. He said the Senate's confirmation of McGranery this week should have been accomplished without all the hooey, as he put it in an obvious reference to Republican assaults on McGranery's fitness.

2. Insisted he had not implied any criticism of Frank McKinney, Democratic national chairman, in a recent message to Americans for Democratic Action (ADA). McKinney is a good chairman, the President said.

3. Declined an invitation to elaborate on his recent denunciation of the bill to give states clear title to oil-bearing submerged lands beyond their shores. He promised he would have more to say when the legislation reaches him for signature.

4. Avoided comment on Wednesday's statement by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway that the outlook for a Korean armistice is not bright. The President said he had no comment—but General Ridgway knows more about the situation than anyone else.

The discussion of seizure powers was touched off by Truman's opening remark that he was happy over settlement of the three-year railroad dispute. The government-operated lines will be restored to private ownership as soon as the papers can be signed, he said.

Man With One Arm Swims Two Miles To Save Companions

NEW ORLEANS —(AP)— A one-armed man swam about two miles for help while companions clung to a makeshift craft in Lake Pontchartrain near Madisonville, across the lake from here.

St. Tammany Parish deputies identified the man as Nick Fitzsimmons, about 27, of Covington.

They reported Fitzsimmons, his brother Robert, about 23, and Howard Stanga, about 26, both of Covington, were dumped into the lake about 5 p.m. Wednesday when their craft overturned.

While the two men clung to the craft and an oil can, Nick Fitzsimmons swam to the Madisonville shore. It took him about three hours.

Searchers in three boats found the other two men thereafter and all were safe in Madisonville by 10 p.m. They were reported suffering from shock.

to battle the blaze.

In the nearby Sand and Sage Motel, one of the largest such places in West Texas, guests fled their rooms, but firemen were able to keep flames from spreading to it.

Using fog nozzles, they kept the flames confined to the cars and the two warehouses. Escaping the blaze was a large Gulf Oil Company warehouse with its hundreds of barrels of refined oil.

Midland Firemen Help

A 750-gallon pumper from the Midland Fire Department joined the battle, and four volunteer firemen from Stanton arrived to offer their services.

Three big trucks belonging to the Halliburton Oil Well Cementing Company also took part in helping pull some of the railway cars to safety.

One passenger train was delayed by the wreckage.

An eastbound train, scheduled to arrive in Odessa at 10:30 p.m., was not permitted to proceed past the point until 2 a.m.

As the firemen and volunteers battled the flames, Salvation Army workers turned out to serve sandwiches and coffee to the tired men.

Flames from the fire could be seen five or six miles away.

Mississippi Scientist, Sailplane Pilot Take Lessons In Soaring From Buzzards

STATE COLLEGE, MISS. —(AP)— A soft-spoken scientist and a young sailplane pilot were trying Thursday to learn to fly like Mississippi buzzards.

Dr. August Raspet, head of the aerophysics department of Mississippi State College, and Dick Johnson, graduate student and world's distance title holder in soaring, are teamed in a series of unusual experiments that call for everything from trained buzzards to a bicycle aircraft.

Sailplane enthusiasts and newsmen watched Johnson as he tailed a wild buzzard across the sky Wednesday afternoon.

Because the buzzard glides through the air with half the resistance or drag of man's most efficient sailplane, Dr. Raspet and Johnson wanted to find out how he does it.

There is, they decided, only one way—to study the bird in flight.

So Johnson, 29-year-old aeronautical engineering student from Palm Springs, Calif., goes up in sailplane and plays tag with the buzzards and radios information to Dr. Raspet on the ground.

This system of following the birds worked fine for preliminary tests but the team is now ready for deeper scientific delving.

That calls for a trained buzzard that will fly around Central Mississippi's pastures and cotton fields, carrying a barograph and other instruments.

Finding an amiable buzzard that would cooperate in the tests seemed quite a large order until Raspet found Naturalist George Carter of Kendelville, Ind., something of a bird psychologist, who trained one.

But just when the buzzard had learned to fly at his master's whistle and carry the necessary instruments, he choked on a chicken bone and died.

Now Carter is training two squadrons of buzzards, one to fly in wind tunnels and the other in free flight.

Meanwhile, Johnson will continue tracking wild birds across the skies around State College.

Slow-Flying Craft

Johnson and Dr. Raspet also are working on a Navy research project for the Navy in one of the only sailplane or motorless flight experiment stations in the world. They are designing a ship to fly as slow as 15 miles an hour without stalling when a bird slows up when Johnson is chasing it.

Dr. Raspet plans to design a ship that can be propelled by a single man using his feet for power. He says the bicycle principle will be used.

Mississippi has entered him in the international competition at Madrid, Spain, this Summer. He will compete in his Ross-Johnson five, a sailplane he designed with Harland Ross of Wichita, Kan. It was this ship that Johnson flew from Odessa, Texas to Salina, Kan., to break the world's record held 13 years by a Russian woman.

Expert Testifies For Mrs. Parsons

EL PASO —(AP)— Mary Jean Parsons didn't know right from wrong February 16 when she killed her husband, a psychiatrist said Wednesday.

Dr. Arlin B. Cooper of El Paso said the attractive 21-year-old Tulsa heiress was overprotected by her father and mother.

He described the twice-married young woman as suffering from "phases of confusion when it's hard to differentiate fact from fiction."

"It's a disease of the emotions," he explained, and continued:

"She did not know the nature, quality and result of her act."

Mrs. Parsons is charged with murder in the slaying of her husband of a month, Army Lt. Richard O. Parsons.

"She'll answer yes to nearly any question you ask her," the psychiatrist said. It was the third day of the sanity hearing.

Rare Reptiles To Be Sent To U. S.

AUCKLAND, N. Z. —(AP)— Four 12-inch tuataras, a rare specimen of reptile with characteristics of prehistoric times, were brought to the Auckland Zoo from Stephens Island Thursday to spend the Winter hibernation period. If they survive they will be sent to zoos in Chicago, New York, San Diego and London in October.

The tuatara is a iguana-like reptile which reaches two and a half feet in length in maturity. Stephens Island in Cook Strait is one of the few places in New Zealand where they are found.

51 Regional Champs Vie In Spelling Bee

WASHINGTON— (AP) —Fifty-one youngsters, each a regional champion, start spelling each other down Thursday in the 25th annual national spelling bee.

Five hours, 800 polysyllabic words and possibly a few tears later, the national champion is expected to emerge. To do so, he or she will have to spell words that few youngsters—and not many adults—ever heard of.

Last year's champion, Irving Belz, of Memphis, offers a good example of what these youngsters can do.

After spelling down the other regional champions, he breezed through "cuisine" and "insouciant"—words not normally in a grade school vocabulary—to claim the national title.

To the champion will go $500 in cash, a loving cup, a plaque for the winner's school and an appearance on Ed Sullivan's television show Sunday night.

Everyone Wins

Second prize is $300, third $100. But everyone wins something. Even the first youngster eliminated gets $40.

As usual, the bee is sponsored by Scripps-Howard and 31 other newspapers.

Also, as usual, more girls are here than boys, 31 to 20, to be exact. But those who would draw conclusions from this are apt to run into trouble. For in the last three years the best a girl could do was tie for first.

That was in 1950, when Diana Reynard of Cleveland and Colquitt Dean of Atlanta used up every word in the list without a miss. Somewhat groggily, the judges called it a draw.

The oldest youngsters competing are only 14; the youngest is Raymond Sokolov, a 10-year-old from Detroit.

Probably the most unusual of the spellers is Marjorie Foliart, 13, from Crafton, Pa. She was here last year, and proved then that any word she can spell she also can spell in reverse.

She proved it, too, with a snappy "l-a-i-r-o-g-a-m-s-a-t-n-a-h-p."

As anyone can plainly see, that is "phantasmagorial" spelled backwards.

There is a strong possibility the Midland Indians will have a cracker-jack veteran first baseman by June 1,

The first sacker, Earl Boysenberry, a .309 hitter with New Iberia in the Evangeline League last year, hit 19 home runs and handled approximately 1,200 fielding chances with only 12 errors charged against him.

Boysenberry was signed by the Indians last Winter but he had requested that the Midland club allow him to complete his schooling under the GI bill, which was granted.

The first baseman is single, six feet, one inch tall, and lives in Detroit Mich.

He was voted the most valuable player on the New Iberia squad, a team that finished second in the Evangeline League.

* * * * *

With Boysenberry due to report and Shortstop Scooter Hughes coming in for a five-day look, the Indians conceivably could have a veteran infield, provided of course that Dempsey Albritton was shifted to second base.

Right now it is toss-up between Albritton and Bill Crumley for the keystone sack. Albritton has a bit of an edge in the hitting department while Crumley is considered the better fielder of the two.

* * * * *

With Hughes on the team, the Indians will have seven veterans, one over the limit allowed by league rules.

The Tribe will not have to make a decision until Hughes' five-day look is up, but after that, one veteran will have to go.

Veterans on the squad include Pitchers Israel Ten, Eddie Jarome and Jose Peraza; Infielders Dempsey Albritton, Julio de la Torre and Scooter Hughes, and Outfielder Pat Lorenzo.

* * * * *

Furthemore, if newly acquired Outfielder Allen Dinkel clicks in the centerfield spot, the club might have a limited service outfield to go with their veteran infield.

* * * * *

The pressure is on Hurler Jose Peraza to produce or else. Peraza is here on a 30-day look from Wichita Falls, but so far he has looked better filling in at first base than he has on the mound.

Peraza has appeared in two games for Midland so far and pitched a total of 14 innings, giving up 27 hits and 17 runs, striking out 15, and walking seven.

In all fairness, it must be said that one of the games Peraza worked was a wind-blown affair in which each team collected 18 hits, many of them the type which got caught in the wind, and fell in for a safety.

* * * * *

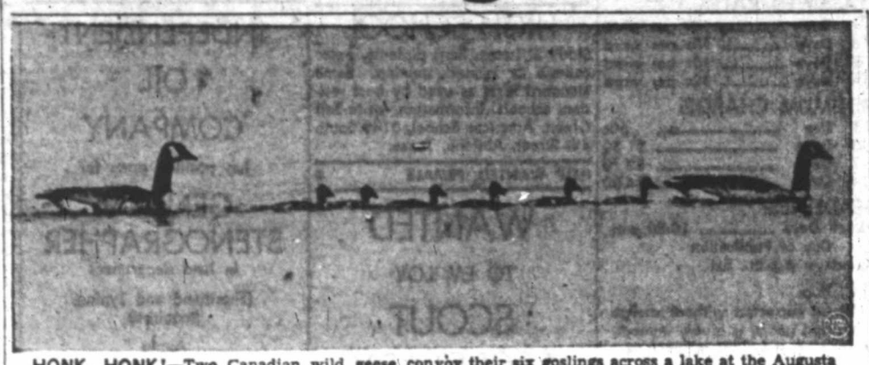

Midland Indian Pitcher Bruce (Gabby) Blumenthal, optioned recently to Statesboro in the Georgia State League, has been suspended indefinitely by Longhorn League officials for failure to report.

Blumenthal currently is working in a downtown store here.

* * * * *

Stan Wilcox, outfielder who was given his outright release by the Indians, now is working for the telephone company here.

Strikeout By Nicolls Ends Close Battle

ARTESIA — (AP) — Keith Nicolls struck out Eldon Pichan with two men on base in the ninth inning to end an Artesia rally and give the Midland Indians a narrow, 8-7 win over the Artesia Drillers here Wednesday night.

The Drillers had scored two runs in the ninth and were threatening to break up the game when Nicolls settled down and fanned Pichan to end the game.

The Indians started the scoring with a single run in the third frame. Dempsey Albritton doubled in Woody Pennington, on with a walk.

Midland added three more in the fourth. Jose Peraza and Bill Brown had singled and came home on Pennington's triple. Nicolls doubled in Pennington.

Albritton led off with a single in the Midland seventh. Dick Cassidy was safe at first on a fielders choice and a costly two-base error

Currently on their longest road trip of the season, the Indians journey to Roswell Thursday to open a three-game series.

Following the Roswell series Saturday night, the team will return home Sunday to open a six-game stand, starting with a three-game set against the Artesia Drillers.

Game time Sunday afternoon has been changed from 3 to 4 p.m. to allow the Indians time to make the long trip home from Roswell.

shoved him to third, Albritton scoring. Julio de la Torre lifted a long fly to right, with Cassidy scoring after the catch.

A single by Brown and a double off the bat of Pennington accounted for another tally in the eighth. Nicolls drove in the winning run when his single scored Pennington.

Artesia notched four runs in the fifth, highlighted by Pichan's two-run homer, a single marker in the seventh and two in the ninth.

Dodgers Run Wild, Bounce Redlegs, 21-1

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Call the cops! Murder, Inc., is back in business at Brooklyn.

With 15—count 'em, 15—record-breaking runs in the first inning, Boss Chuck (The Brain) Dressen's Dodgers did everything but bundle the Cincinnati Reds in a cement vest Wednesday.

And what did Dressen say? "Maybe we snapped out of our hitting slump." That wins the rubber ice pick as the understatement of the year.

Dressen's Dodger ruffians even roughed up the little red book of baseball. The statisticians will be busy for days, typing new lines into the old book.

Five records got the rubber hose treatment while the Dodgers flexed their muscles for the home folks in a 19-1 rout of Cincy. They all got it in the first inning when 21 men went to bat, scored 15 runs, 12 of them after two were out, and 19 successive batters reached base safely.

Maybe they'll find new broken records when they sweep out the wreckage at Brooklyn Thursday. Here's what they found Wednesday night.

1. New modern major league record of most runs scored in an inning, 15. (All time high is 18 scored by Chicago Cubs, Sept. 6, 1883.)

2. New modern major league record for most times facing opposing pitcher in one inning, 21. (All time high is 23, by those same Cubs in '83.)

3. New major league record for runs scored in the inning after two were out, 12.

4. New major league record for most men reaching base safely in succession, 19.

Just for good measure, Billy Cox, Pee Wee Reese and Duke Snider tied a record by going to bat three times in an inning and Reese, Snider, Jackie Robinson, Gil Hodges, George Shuba and Rube Walker tied another by scoring twice in the inning.

To rub it in, Pitcher Chris Van Cuyk's four hits—two of them in the big inning—were one more than he had in his league career before Wednesday night.

Blackwell First Victim

Ewell Blackwell, the fellow the Dodgers are supposed to be trying to lure from Cincy in a trade, was the first victim. When he left it was 3-0, two of the runs coming on Snider's homer. Bud Byerly quickly ran it to 7-0. Herm Wehmeier raised the bid to 10-0 and Frank Smith finally ran it to 15-0. Smith also gave up the other Dodger runs, on a pair of two-run homers by Bobby Morgan in the third and fifth.

In the 15-run inning, the Dodgers had 10 hits—eight of them singles—seven walks and two hit batsmen.

Brooklyn took over undisputed possession of the National League lead because the New York Giants split a day-night doubleheader with St. Louis. Cliff Chambers shut out the 1951 champs with four hits to hand Larry Jansen his first loss in the 3-0 day game. But Dave Koslo, that old Cardinal jinx, came back to rack up St. Louis for the tenth straight time since June 11, 1950, in the 8-1 game.

Robin Roberts of the Phillies won his seventh straight by turning back Pittsburgh, 7-3, the Pirates' twenty-seventh loss in 32 starts.

Detroit's Virgil Trucks ran his hitless string to 15 2/3 innings in a bid for a second straight no-hitter before Billy Hitchcock of the Philadelphia A's, broke the spell with one out in the seventh inning. Trucks' hitless string included one-third of an inning against Chicago, May 9, nine innings against Washington last Thursday and Wednesday's 6 1/3 frames.

Tribe Stretches Lead

Obviously nervous under the strain of trying to equal Johnny Vander Meer's 1938 record, Trucks lost his control after the hit and had to be removed in the eighth. Dick Littlefield finished up his two-hitter for a 5-1 victory.

Cleveland lengthened its lead to three full games in the American as Early Wynn and Reliefer Mike Garcia proved too much for the Boston Red Sox in a 5-1 night win. The St. Louis Browns helped the tribe by knocking off second-place Washington, 2-1, when Sid Hudson walked home the winning run with the bases loaded in the tenth inning to give Satch Paige a relief decision.

Allie Reynolds turned back Chicago with five hits and delivered a triple and single in the New York Yankees' 5-1 win, their eighth in the last 10 games. The scheduled Chicago-at-Boston game in the National was rained out.

Ortega Chalks Up Sixth Win; Odessa Takes Vernon, 8-7

ODESSA—(AP)— Southpaw Evelio Ortega chalked up his sixth win of the year here Wednesday night as Odessa swept its three-game series with Vernon, 8-7.

The league-leading Oilers smashed out 19 hits—17 of them singles—off starter and loser Eddie Baski. Audie Malone, Tuesday night's loser, came on in the seventh and held the Oilers hitless the rest of the way.

Shortstop Marion Treadaway singled home Roberto Fabian with what proved to be the deciding run in the bottom of the seventh.

The score:

		R.	H.	E.
Vernon	202 020 100	7	9	3
Odessa	213 001 10x	8	19	2

Baski, Malone and Niedson; Ortega and Castro.

Colonial Meet Opens With Smaller Field, Fatter Purse

FORT WORTH—(AP)—The field was smaller but the money was more plentiful Thursday as the Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament moved into its first 18-hole round.

Cary Middlecoff, the Memphis, Tenn., dentist, seeking to repeat with championship, and Ben Hogan, National Open champion from Palm Springs, Calif., after his third title in six Colonial tournaments, were shooting for $1,000 more than they anticipated.

Six players withdrew Wednesday to cut the field to 42 but at the same time, the board of governors of Colonial Country Club, anticipating a booming attendance, raised the prize money from $15,000 to $20,000, adding five places and boosting the amount for the 20 already listed.

First place was raised from $3,000 to $4,000, second from $2,000 to $2,700, third from $1,400 to $1,875 and the other places proportionately.

Colonial sponsors said it meant the tournament would tie the Masters at Augusta for the biggest purse for a tournament in which there is no entry fee. And it will be the fourth largest purse of all tournaments. Only the PGA, the All-America and World Championship exceed it and the Masters.

Hogan Is Favorite

Hogan is a solid favorite to win first money. Middlecoff, however, turned in a 69 Wednesday in his final tune-up round to show he was getting the feel of the course.

Jake Burke of Houston, the year's leading money-winner with $11,220, registered a 68, Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago a 67 and Ray Gafford of Dallas equaled Hogan's 66 in practice rounds.

Artesia's Joe Bauman Sets Torrid Pace In League's Home Runs

ABILENE — (AP) — Joe Bauman, Artesia first baseman who is setting a terrific pace in the home run department, is way ahead of the pace set by Tom Jordan of Roswell in 1950, who holds the league record at 43.

Bauman, in the first 27 games played by Artesia, has 13 four-masters to his credit as compared to only three by Jordan in the same number of games in 1950.

Even though Jordan set the league record during a 154-game schedule, Bauman easily can break that mark if he comes anywhere close to keeping up his current pace. The 1952 Longhorn League schedule calls for 140 games and if the big Driller first sacker continues his current pace he would wind up with 69 homers.

Bauman, known for his long ball hitting, formerly played for the Amarillo Gold Sox of the West Texas-New Mexico League and the Little Rock Travelers of the Southern Association. He is playing his first year in the Longhorn League.

While at Amarillo, Bauman led the West Texas-New Mexico League in home runs with 48 in 1946.

Roswell, San Angelo Split Doubleheader

SAN ANGELO —(AP)— The Roswell Rockets and San Angelo Colts split a pair of free-swinging contests here Wednesday, the Rockets taking the first, 13-4, and the Colts the second, 7-2.

A murderous, 19-hit assault including four homers, a triple and a double, made it easy for Rocket Pitcher Bob Weaver to achieve his fourth win against only two defeats in the first game. Wayne Crawford, Rocket catcher, registered two home runs and drove in five runs as every man in the Rocket lineup gathered at least one hit. Ed Fenelon, first baseman, rapped a homer and two singles to drive in four counters with Al Monchak getting the other circuit clout.

Roswell started out in the second game just as it ended the first, scoring two runs in the opening inning. But the Colts came back in the bottom of the first to slam four hits and four runs before Rocket Starter Jimmy McClure, a former Colt manager, could escape with only two outs.

Midland To Field Two Semi-Pro Ball Clubs

Midland will field two semi-pro baseball teams to play in the eight-team league currently being organized in this area.

In addition to the two Midland teams, the league will include a pair of teams from Odessa, and single teams from Big Spring, Forsan, Rankin and Kermit.

The league is due to start official play around June 15.

Meanwhile, the Midland teams, with approximately 70 boys out for workouts, have scheduled practice sessions at 5:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of each week at their field just east of the Wadley Park softball diamond.

The Midland teams voted L. C. Cobb as their manager.

In early workouts, Cobb is having the players throw and bat a few, with infield workouts to come in a few days.

After the season gets underway June 15, it will last until the latter part of August, when district playoffs will be held in Midland.

The winner of the district playoff will have an opportunity to enter the state semi-pro meet at Wichita Falls, and the winner of the state playoffs will get a chance to go to the national playoffs in Wichita, Kan.

Broncs Stampede Over Braves, 23-9

SWEETWATER —(AP)— The Big Spring Broncs made a race track of the baseball diamond here Wednesday night as they raced to a 23-4 victory over the Sweetwater Braves to sweep a three-game series.

The wild-hitting Broncs collected 21 safeties off three Sweetwater pitchers.

Big Spring picked up three in the first inning, six in the second, eight in the fourth and climaxed the scoring with six runs in the fifth inning. Eight Sweetwater errors contributed to the downfall of the Braves.

The Broncs' first three runs came on two Sweetwater errors and a single. The Broncs plated six in the second inning with the big blows being a triple by Pitcher Aramis Arencibia, a double by Witty Quintana and an inside-the-park homer by Ozzie Alvarez. The eight runs in the fourth came on six hits and two Sweetwater errors and then collected the six in the fifth on five hits and a pair of Brave errors.

It contains much less lead than the types now used and is, therefore, lighter and less costly.

Lamesa Climbs Into Second Spot In WT-NM Loop

By The Associated Press

Lamesa's Lobos bounded into second place, four percentage points ahead of Albuquerque, in the West Texas-New Mexico League Wednesday night by taking its fourth win in the last five games.

The Lobos were the only first-division club on the winning side of the ledger.

They rapped Albuquerque, 8-4, and moved within two and a half games of Clovis which was bowing to sixth-place Lubbock, 8-6.

Borger and Amarillo kept abreast in the cellar.

Ed Flanagan of Borger gave his team an easy, 7-1 decision over Pampa while his mates backed his pitching with 12 hits.

Amarillo beat Abilene, 14-13, coming from behind.

Sports Bounce Roughnecks Twice In Texas Loop Tilts

By The Associated Press

Beaumont bowed twice in the Texas League Wednesday night while Shreveport apologized to the rest of the loop for letting the Roughnecks believe they had a runaway in the standings.

Beaumont had, in three previous nights, quelled Shreveport in three games to build up the widest margin—three and a half games—yet held by a first-place club. Wednesday night, the Sports bounded back, said "So sorry" and clubbed the Roughs in a twin-bill, 5-3 and 3-1.

The night's results returned the league to normal—jammed so close that the tail-end club is but five and a half games out.

Tulsa, in last place, handed Fort Worth's Cats their fourth defeat in five games, this time 5-0 with Pitcher Tommy Reis chunking three-hit ball and slamming in the first four Tulsa tallies.

Jerry Witte homered in the seventh inning to enable Pitcher Mike Clark and Houston to beat San Antonio, 2-1, on Clark's two-hit hurling. And in the other game, Dallas copped its fourth straight by stopping Oklahoma City, 8-6.

Beaumont's Roughnecks saw their attack snag at the outset of both games. With Joe Budny working a five-hitter, Shreveport built up a 5-0 lead before Beaumont scored in the seven-inning opener. Claude White's six-hitter didn't allow a Roughneck run until the ninth in the second game.

The main standings changes saw Houston climb into second place and Shreveport jump from seventh to fifth.

Former Midland High Golfing Quartet Now Pacing College Freshman Squads

Four Midland High School golfers, who led Midland High School to its most successful year in golfing in 1950, now are making names for themselves in collegiate circles.

The foursome—John Ward, Bill Franklin, Roane Puett and Graham Mackey—led Midland High to an undefeated season in 1950, later taking the district and regional titles and placing fourth in state competition.

Two of the quartet, Ward and Franklin, played in a highly successful Texas A&M freshman squad this year, while Puett played on the University of Texas frosh squad and Mackey on the Texas Christian University freshman team.

Midland High School Golf Coach Audrey Gill was here when golf first was initiated at Midland High in 1948 and watched all of the crew develop.

Played Varsity

Neither Franklin nor Ward made the varsity in 1948, Gill recalled, but both rounded into top form and played on the varsity their last two years.

Of the four, Gill holds Puett, probably, in highest regard.

Puett had the second lowest score in a qualifying round at the University of Texas the last year, but he lacked enough points to qualify for the varsity so had to play on the frosh squad.

"If Puett really works at the game, people will hear a lot more about him," Gill said.

Puett entered Texas on a golf scholarship and plans eventually to become a professional golfer.

With Ward and Franklin playing on the four-man Texas A&M squad, the crew won four of its five games.

After losing its opening match to Southern Methodist University 4 1/2 to 1 1/2, the team polished off Hardin-Simmons, 3 1/2 to 2 1/2; Texas, 6 to 0; took a return match with SMU, 4 to 2, and defeated Texas a second time, 4 1/2 to 1 1/2.

Ward and Franklin played against Puett but did not play against Mackey since they were unable to schedule TCU.

Congress Shelves Curbs On Baseball

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Organized baseball got the word Thursday that it will have to worry about anti-trust laws without help from Congress.

A House Judiciary subcommittee shelved three bills which would have exempted the professional game from monopoly curbs.

The group, after taking a close-up look at baseball's front office operations and its own legal setup, decided to keep hands off the sport.

However, it reported it considered doing these things:

1. Outlawing the keystone of baseball law—the reserve clause through which an organized ball club gets the continued and exclusive right to the services of any player that signs a contract;

2. Exempting the reserve clause from anti-trust legislation;

3. Providing for only a provisional exemption for it; and

4. Setting up a federal bureau to draft a code of regulations and then policing the game.

But it decided against any of these things although it said the game has "occupied a monopoly position" for years and "free competition" as carried on in other ventures does not exist.

The committee's report said it is convinced the sport, to get along profitably, has to have some form of the reserve clause. And there was no question raised about the desirability for organized baseball to keep going.

Old Scot Revives Liberty Network

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — The Old Scotsman, Gordon McLendon of Dallas, is reviving his Liberty radio network, and 40 West Coast stations will begin operations the first week in June.

McLendon's old Liberty System suspended operations last week after all but three major league clubs clamped down on Liberty's direct-from-the-park broadcasts, aired from coast to coast on more than 400 stations.

McLendon said his pared-down network will comprise stations in eight Texas and Louisiana stations for some programs. Backbone of the program will be a daily recreated major league baseball game.

The network will be incorporated in California, McLendon said. He will maintain his headquarters in Hollywood.

LaMotta Decisions Deaf Mute Hairston in Detroit Scramble

DETROIT—(AP)—At Jake LaMotta's age, you can't fight slambang 10 full rounds against a dancing youngster like Eugene (Silent) Hairston. So how did the 30-year-old Bronx bull gain his unanimous decision over Hairston in a 10-round slugging match here Wednesday night?

"That's easy. I paced myself," grinned the happy veteran of 12 ring years who outweighed 22-year-old Hairston 168 to 160 1/4 pounds. "That's my best fight since I started the comeback."

However Jake, former middleweight champion, couldn't explode his once-lethal right when he got Hairston in trouble. One of his few good right hands jarred the deaf mute negro in the eighth round but Hairston clinched and was all right before Jake could move in again.

Jake, aiming for a light heavyweight title fight or a battle against the winner of the Randy Turpin-Don Cockell fight, saved most of his wildmill clouting for the last 30 to 45 seconds of each round.

Referee Clarence Rosen scored the fight 53-47, Judge Jack Aspery 55-45, and Judge Joe Lenahan 52-48. The AP scorecard read 55-45.

Hairston, a middleweight contender, of course had nothing to say but his father, Eugene, Sr., spoke for him: "His idleness for the last seven weeks hurt him. Besides he gave up too much weight."

Hairston and LaMotta fought to a draw here in March and Gene hadn't met anyone since. Jake decisioned Norman Hayes of Boston here last month.

Jake now has two victories, a draw and a defeat since he began his comeback in December. It's no secret he would like to fight the winner of the light heavyweight title fight between Sugar Ray Robinson and Joey Maxim.

Texas Loop Draws Better Attendance

DALLAS—(AP)—The Texas League is drawing 211 more persons a game than last year, figures for the first quarter, released Thursday by League Secretary Milton Price, show.

In the quarter, which included 133 playing dates but with 11 of them rained out, the league drew 284,560. For the same period last year when there were 159 dates with 19 rained out, the total was 297,003. The average this year is 2,332. Last year it was 2,121.

There will be fewer dates this year than last because the race is shorter. It opened April 12 this year compared, to April 10 last year and closes September 7 compared to September 9 in 1951.

Beaumont has shown the biggest gain. The Roughnecks have drawn 26,992 for 15 dates this year—7,119 more than for 18 dates last year. Fort Worth has shown 6,136 more for 16 games this year than 20 last year. Shreveport has a gain of 3,474 for 17 games over 18 last year.

The United States consvime approximately 3,000,000,000 pounds of fresh fish annually.

Bears Land Four Players On All-Southwest Squad

Baylor landed the most players on the All-Southwest Conference baseball squad selected by the six coaches.

The Golden Bears, who finished second to Texas in the championship race, got four men on the selection. Rice and Texas each had three, Texas A&M two and Texas Christian and Southern Methodist one each.

There are five players who were unanimous choices—Larry Isbell, Baylor catcher who has signed a contract with the Boston Red Sox; Luther Scarborough, Texas pitcher; Knobby Graves, Texas Christian pitcher; Dave Devine, Rice first baseman, and Bobby Farmer, Texas A&M outfielder.

Tom Ballinger, Southern Methodist outfielder, got the full six votes but one was for utility outfielder.

Here is the All-Southwest Conference baseball squad selected by the coaches for The Associated Press:

Catchers—Larry Isbell, Baylor, and Bill Golibart, Rice.

First base—Dave Devine, Rice.

Second base—Ty Newton, Baylor.

Third base—Dan Pace, Texas.

Shortstop Joe Tanner, Texas.

Utility infielder — Joe Ecrette, Texas A&M.

Center field — Tom Ballinger, Southern Methodist.

Right field—Bobby Farmer, Texas A&M.

Utility outfielder — Parke Davis, Rice.

Lingerie Raid-

many of them large universities.

In the Oklahoma wrangle at Norman, Okla., Wednesday night, about 2,000 male students made off with lingerie loot from 16 women's dormitories.

The crowd got out of hand and officers called on state troopers and police from three nearby towns for help. The pantie-pilfering lark turned into an egg-throwing battle after officers tried persuasion, tear gas and finally high pressure hoses.

Twelve students were arrested.

Dr. George L. Cross, Oklahoma president, called it a disgrace, adding:

"I was fearful after reading of such incidents at other colleges but kept hoping our students were a little more stable, a little more sophisticated. x x x I'm deeply ashamed of what happened."

Another college president, John A. Hannah of Michigan State, deemphasized pantie raiding on his campus. He told some 1,000 students milling around a girls' dormitory, "We don't want any of that notoriety here."

Police arrested 25 raiders and the rest gave up at midnight—minus loot.

Louisiana State University officials used chivalry and the Selective Service Act to repulse dormitory invaders.

Dean of Men Ardent French told 700 men students expulsion and draft awaited those attempting to enter the girls' dormitories. Lt. Gen. Troy H. Middleton, LSU president, appealed to the men's chivalry. The crowd around the dormitories dispersed.

At the University of Georgia, police met 400 youths marching toward a co-ed dormitory.

The officers said the students began throwing eggs and stones. The police retaliated with gas and smoke bombs. After a 45-minute tussle four boys were arrested and the others dispersed. No one was injured.

Other pantie forays Wednesday night and early Thursday occurred at Western Reserve University, Pomona and Claremont Colleges in Southern California, Bradley of Peoria, Ill., Cornell of Ithaca, N. Y., Mercer University at Macon, Ga., Virginia Tech and the Universities of Maine, Maryland, Richmond, Kentucky, Arkansas and Louisville.

AL Loop Hornets Sting Eagles, 8-5

The Hornets drubbed the Eagles, 8 to 5, in an American Legion Baseball League game played Wednesday afternoon at West Elementary Field.

Harold Robbins tripled in the fifth to drive in two Hornet runs.

KEY, WILSON & MAXSON is the LEADER in Midland. A good reputation for fair dealing is the first quality that we sell—all others are secondary. Word-of-mouth advertising does not supplement these columns of listings—it far surpasses them. We gratefully acknowledge our appreciation to all our past and present clients. Why not stop in our office when you're in town—over a Coke.

DON'T LIVE IN IT, if you don't want to. But have you ever thought of buying a home for $2,000 down, and then renting it out for $125 per month? Real Estate is MORE than just purchasing a home. Today, it is your investment—or would you rather earn bank interest of only 2%? Look at it this way: You pay 5% on a home loan, and you earn 15 to 20% on the borrowed funds. How can you possibly go wrong? Stocks and bonds are good investments. But why not take the best: Real Estate investments. Why, even your bank invests your savings in real estate. Let us explain it fully to you. Call or see us at the office.

CUT YOUR RENT IN HALF and own your own home. What about this lovely 2 bedroom, clean kitchen, and large living room home? It has smart carpeting throughout, large closets, detached garage. Your full payments are only $56 per month. Excellent financing. $10,700.

Warfront Comes To Life With Tank, Air Attacks

SEOUL, KOREA—(AP)—U. S. Fifth Air Force fighter-bombers, in an all-out, hour-by-hour attack, Thursday smashed a huge Communist supply area between the North Korean capital, Pyongyang, and its port, Chinnanpo.

The attack began at dawn and continued throughout the day. The Air Force described the target area as a huge war material manufacturing and supply area.

Pilots reported 117 buildings destroyed and 80 damaged heavily.

Fighter pilots from the First Marine Aircraft Wing and the Royal Australian Air Force 77th Squadron took part in the big strike.

The air force did not say whether the Allied planes met any opposition from Red fighters or ground fire.

On the ground, U. S. Patton tank rifles shot up Red fortifications along a 20-mile sector of the central front Wednesday.

A U. S. Eighth Army staff officer said the tanks blasted 250 Red bunkers and inflicted 354 casualties.

Tanks of the U. S. 40th Division (California National Guard) spearheaded the assault. A U. S. Eighth Army staff officer said these tanks smashed 193 bunkers, 14 buildings, six machine gun nests, three communications trenches and one 76-mm. gun.

The staff officer said one Allied tank was lost.

There was no explanation of the tactical plan behind the assault but the staff officer emphasized that the tanks were used as self-propelled guns and not in the normal tank fashion of fire and movement.

Smash Red Bunkers

The obvious objective was to burst open the fortress-like earth and log bunkers the Communists have built during the lull in fighting. Artillery fire usually wastes itself on massive overhead shields of earth and logs, sometimes 15 feet thick.

The 901mm. guns on Patton tanks can fire with sniper accuracy up to two and one-half miles.

The tank assaults ranged from Chorwon in the west to the jagged peaks south of Kumsong in the east. They began Tuesday morning and continued until Wednesday afternoon.

The 40th Division Pattons attacked from positions near the Kumwa-Kumsong road. In addition to pummeling Red positions, they brought a Communist battalion under direct fire, killing 96 Reds and wounding 258.

The Communists struck back with 250 rounds of artillery and mortar fire but failed to halt the attack.

Elsewhere on the 155-mile front, Allied and Communist patrols clashed in fights lasting as long as three hours.

Robert Chick Still At Large, Three Pals In Custody

HOUSTON—(AP)—Robert Arthur Chick, 27-year-old international airplane thief and forger, was still at large Thursday, but his three prison-breaking pals were back in custody.

Geoge Theodorou, 23, was captured Tuesday north of Chenoa, Ill., Arthur Lorton, Houston FBI man, said.

Lorton said Theodorou was armed and driving a stolen car when captured. He had been serving a 12-year sentence for robbery by firearms when he escaped from Ramsey Prison Farm, near Angleton, last week.

Two of the escapees were caught soon after the escape.

Within a few hours after the break, the four men had kidnaped eight hostages, including a woman and her small daughter. All were released unharmed.

Hirohito's Third Daughter To Wed

TOKYO—(AP)—The imperial household Thursday announced that Emperor Hirohito's third daughter, Princess Yori, will marry a Japanese dairy farmer in October.

The announcement said the princess, 21, will exchange wedding gifts at the palace Saturday with Takamasa Ikeda, 25, eldest son of a former marquis who now runs a dairy farm on Southern Honshu.

Ikeda was selected as a prospective bridegroom last july.

Yori now is taking lessons in the customary Japanese bridal arts of flower arrangement, tea ceremony, dress-making and housekeeping.

The emperor's eldest daughter, Princess Teru, was married in 1943 to Horihiro Higashikuni, now a bank clerk.

The second daughter, Princess Taka, in 1951 married Toshimichi Takatsukasa, now a clerk in the National Railways Museum.

Still to be married are Crown Prince Akihito, 20, Prince Yoshi, 16, and Princess Suga, 15.

Irate Senators Demand More Facts On Koje Camp Coddling

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Irate senators demanded more facts from the Pentagon and Korean commanders Thursday about the handling of the Koje Island Prisoner-of-War Camp.

Senator Bridges (R-NH) told a reporter closed-door testimony Wednesday by Gen. Matthew B. Rigway, recent Far Eastern commander, left many questions unanswered.

Both Bridges and Chairman Russell (D-Ga) of the Senate Armed Services Committe quoted Ridgway as saying his orders had not been carried out in obtaining the release of Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd after Dodd's seizure by Communist prisoners on the Korean island.

Senator Margaret Chase Smith (R-Maine) tossed a mystery angle into the affair late Wednesday by telling the Senate a woman relative of General Dodd contended "Dodd received orders from superiors in the Army to 'coddle and appease' the Communist prisoners on Koje Island."

Some light on what has been happening may come from a Thursday conference between Secretary of the Army Pace and Senators Bridges and Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Texas).

Bridges has been demanding a full dress Senate inquiry and Johnson heads the Defense Investigating subcommittee of the Armed Services Committee.

After Dodd's capture by the Communist prisoners, Brig. Gen. Charles Colson, named to succeed Dodd as commander of the prisoner compounds, made an agreement with the Red POW's for Dodd's release. This has drawn a repudiation from Army commanders and censure from Congress.

Crackdown Demanded

At the outset of Ridgway's Senate conference, Chairman Russell (D-Ga) of the Armed Services Committee said Congress expects military leaders to "re-establish control" of the Communist prisoners and "crack down where a crackdown is needed."

Later Russell told reporters General Ridgway agreed this was needed, said he did not have full reports or details and was anxious to learn the facts.

Both Russell and Bridges quoted Ridgway as saying the Communist prisoners had been flying Red flags above the compounds and had set up their own telephone and communications system.

Ridgway later told a news conference he had directed U. S. forces in Korea to obtain release of Dodd unharmed "or we would move in in force."

He said he had ordered Dodd's unconditional release and use of whatever force was necessary to gain and maintain control of all prisoners.

The senators said Ridgway told them the Communists apparently had a strong underground organized in the prisoner compounds and were able to communicate secretly but rapidly with China and Russia.

The general also confirmed reports that several prisoners had been slain brutally by fellow prisoners.

Shocked, Shamed

Russell said he was shocked and shamed that fanatical Communists had been able to capture a general and then force a humiliating deal for his release.

Both Generals Dodd and Colson have been removed as commanders of Koje compounds but Russell said "serious damage has already been done to our prestige—not only in the Far East but throughout the world."

Ridgway told reporters he kept full responsibility for the Far East and Korean commands until a few hours before he flew away, leaving Gen. Mark Clark as his successor.

He added that responsibility for the Koje incidents rested upon the prisoner compound commander.

Senator Smith told the Senate that a Miss Isabel Grasty, who identified herself as a relative of General Dodd, appeared at the woman senator's office to say the general had been ordered to coddle and appease Communist prisoners.

Mrs. Smith was unable to supply Miss Grasty's address, her relationship to the general, or say how the information was received.

But she urged that congressional committees, rather than the Army, investigate this report.

More Spring Rains Hit Wide Regions

By The Associated Press

More spring showers hit wide areas of the country Thursday.

One wet belt covered areas in the Central Plains states and the lower Missouri Valley northwestward into parts of Wyoming, Montana and Idaho. Light rain also fell in the Southern Lake Michigan area and in Indiana. More rain was reported in Northern New England and there were showers and thunderstorms in the Southern Rocky Mountain states.

Warmer weather appeared headed for Midwest areas from the Gulf States. It was on the cool side early Thursday in the Central Rockies, Utah and Nevada and Lake Superior region. It was hot in Texas and the far Southwest Wednesday with temperatures in the nineties.

Brother, Sister Drown In Tank

ENNIS—(AP)—A boy and girl, their family's only children, drowned in a stock tank near their home Wednesday.

They were Jo Ann Hejny, nine, and her brother, Ernest Hejny, Jr., five. Both children were pronounced dead after they were taken from 15 feet of water. They were the children of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hejny.

Pipe Line Workers Accept Pay Boost

HOUSTON—(AP)—Union President J. W. Hinds says the Employes Federation of the Southern Division of Humble Pipe Line Company is accepting a company wage boost offer.

The new offer closely parallels recent Wage Stabilization Board proposals for wage boosts in the oil industry.

The federation has not been on strike.

A steak has a different odor when it is raw than when it is broiled, due to chemical changes caused by the heat.

Foes Of McCarran Bill Suffer Defeat

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Foes of the McCarran Bill to override the nation's immigration laws suffered a major defeat Wednesday when the Senate rejected, 51 to 27, a substitute they offered. Both Texas senators voted to reject the substitute.

The House already has passed a similar bill.

It was the second sharp setback this week for senators who want to liberalize the bulky McCarran Bill and accept into this country thousands more aliens than it would let in. They failed earlier, on a 44 to 28 vote, to send the legislation back to Senator McCarran's (D-Nev) committee for revision.

One major difference between the McCarran Bill and the substitute sponsored by Senators Humphrey (D-Minn) and Lehman (D-NY) is that the latter would have allowed the pooling of unused immigration quotas to let in more applicants from countries whose present allotments are over-filled.

Man, 38, Drowns In Eagle Mountain Lake

FORT WORTH—(AP)—Lellon D. Hill, 38, drowned Wednesday in Eagle Mountain Lake. High waves tossed him out of an outboard motor boat about 300 yards offshore.

Hill was an aircraft firm employe and was on his way to an experimental air-sea craft floating in the lake when the accident occurred.

Fisher Receives Foundation Award

DALLAS—(AP)—West Texas Scientist Charles E. Fisher received the Texas Research Foundation's Hoblitzelle Achievement Award of $5,000 Wednesday.

The Spur Agricultural Experiment Station head was selected from a field of 30 other scientists. He is 41 years old.

Fisher's award came from his method of controlling mesquite, resulting in the 98 per cent kill on 400,000 acres of West Texas rangeland.

Van Fleet Predicts Quick Control Of Koje Camp Rebels

KOJE ISLAND, KOREA—(AP)—Gen. James A. Van Fleet Thursday said the 80,000 stubborn Communist captives on riot-torn Koje Island shortly will be "under complete control within their compounds."

The U. S. Eighth Army commander briefly visited this Prisoner-of-War Camp No. 1, where die-hard Reds two weeks ago seized and held the camp commander as hostage for 78 hours.

Under its new commander, Brig. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner, the Koje camp is "certainly fast approaching adequate security," Van Fleet said.

"I believe it is just a question of a short time," he said at a press conference, "when the prisoners will confirm to all the orders of the camp and will be under complete control within their compounds."

Communist prisoners in Koje's 17 compounds have been in control within their enclosures since Brig. Gen. Francis Dodd's seizure May 7.

Chief Of Police At Abilene Quits

ABILENE—(AP)—The city commissioners Wednesday accepted the surprise resignation of Police Chief Raymond Eakins.

The commission adopted a resolution praising Eakins' work and character. He said he quit "because of opposition among some of the members of the department and private citizens."

RECONNAISSANCE—Behind the front lines of a UN division in Korea, three members of a reconnaissance company advance on a group of village huts suspected of housing Communist guerrillas and civilian sympathizers. Center hut is burning from an explosion of hidden ammunition ignited by the firing of the mop-up team. Both food and ammunition were discovered in the three huts, and 25 suspected guerrillas were captured in the village.

The MATURE PARENT

Fear Of Ridicule Makes Mother Ridicule Child

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Some time ago, Stan decided that he wanted to drink his milk out of one of his baby sister's bottles. He took it to bed with him every night along with his adored dump truck. It was quite a sight to see him sucking briskly at his bottle while he arranged his dump truck carefully under the covers for the night.

His mother did not find it funny or ridiculous. She was pleased that he was able to reveal so freely his need to convince himself that his baby sister wasn't getting away with any special privileges. Now Stan is bored with the bottle and is drinking his milk from his silver mug once more.

His mother is not deficient in a sense of humor. She laughs very heartily at Stan when he imitates airplanes. She knows that Stan is inviting laughter with his airplane imitations just as she knew that he was not inviting laughter by his demand for milk in a baby's bottle.

This is protective training. Stan has emerged from his little lapse from proper behavior standards unscarred by fear of ridicule.

Just as we do not feed broiled lobster to small boys and girls, we should not offer them ridicule which their emotional systems cannot digest. Like Stan, they revert to "babyish" conduct because their self-esteem is under strain. At such times, they are most vulnerable. It is unfortunate that these are also the times when we are most likely to make fun of them.

Our motive for trying to jeer children out of "babyish" habits is not nearly so pure as we are apt to think. To Mary who is demanding the right to ride in her little brother's baby carriage, her mother says, "Stop pushing like that! You ought to be ashamed—a big girl like you wanting to ride in Billy's baby buggy."

Although she doesn't know it, Mrs. Brown really is talking to the neighbor who has been watching critically. She ridicules Mary because she fears ridicule of herself by her neighbor. She fears that the neighbor may say to someone, "Oh, she acts like a fool with her children. She lets that four-year-old ride in her brother's baby carriage."

To uproot this fear of ridicule, Mrs. Brown must stop calling it pretty names like "shyness." It thrives on unawareness and will continue not only to despoil Mary of a poised, sure mother, but will encourage depreciation of her by others. Just as Mrs. Brown never dared to describe her genuine secretarial competence completely to personnel managers before she married, now she never dreams of expressing her opinions at meetings of her literary club. Yet her opinions might be valuable to it, as Mrs. Brown worked for some years as secretary to a well-known editor. Her dread of being thought "silly" denies her the satisfaction of others' respect that belong to her.

The child guidance books will give Mrs. Brown enlightening information on the hazards of ridiculing her little girl's desire to claim equal privileges with the baby brother whom she envies. They may not suggest that she apply to herself what she learns about what fear of ridicule can do.

This is too bad, as Mary will be doing many things that may seem ridiculous to others. Unless her mother recovers from her own allergy to what they think, she'll be running to the child guidance books every 10 minutes. That is why, instead of spending all her time studying what fear of ridicule can do to Mary, it is a good idea for her to reflect upon its manipulation of her.

When Mrs. Brown knows how, when and why this fear was planted in her, she will not need any child guidance book to plead for her protection of a child against it.

Youth Center Chatter

By NANCY LOU KLINGLER

Well, fancy meeting you here! Oh, we almost forgot it is Thursday again, so now we know just why you are here. At least we hope you are here. No, not here but there.

We are very sorry to be losing one of our best Youth Center members. Barbara Ware has left us for Wichita Falls. We sure will miss you a whole bunch, Barbara.

Those of you who were in the Youth Center last weekend missed something, didn't you? Well the thing you missed (at least you were supposed to miss) was "Myrt." He went home to Denison for the weekend. He says he went to see his mother and daddy but we wonder if there happened to be anyone else there? ? ? Maybe his brother?

Many Junior High students attended the show last Friday as well as Friday before last. That was a very pleasing sight to all for we have been trying so hard to get them started and it looks as if we have done it at last. Hope you all will come back more often.

There was a mistake in the picture show of the week before last, and this time it wasn't us that made the mistake. Believe it or not! ! ! No, the company sent the wrong film and it was quite a surprise to all there. We were expecting "Li'l Abner" and instead we got a film entitled "Sensation."

Girl Scout Hayride

Girl Scout Troop 7 gave a hayride for its members. We are informed they all had a very good time and enjoyed themselves very much. There were about seven couples and after the hayride they must have thrown the hay all over the streets, because Saturday night just about everywhere in town you would go there was hay all over the streets. After the hayride, they were all seen at the dance. There was hay all over the Youth Center floor, too.

The Juniors and Seniors were excited, and now it's all over. Yet, the Junior and Senior banquet has come and gone. It is something in the far past (a whole week). But the thoughts of it still linger on in the minds of those who were there. The banquet was held in the Midland High School Cafeteria and then after the banquet there was a thirty-minute program. After the program there was a dance in the cafeteria. There was fun for all who went, and we know that all Juniors and Seniors had a very good time.

Popular "Sewing Bee"

Since we were speaking of the program in the above paragraph we will tell you about it. There was a "Sewing Bee," which was a very clever idea of the girls who thought it up. Those participating were Frances Hefren, Cherry Page, Ann Grayum, Ann and John Fitzgerald, Sara Cameron, Roberta Stewart and Judy Edwards. In case you are wondering just what a sewing bee is, it is a bag party or in other words a "Hen Party."

The Male Quartet, including Gerry Geisler, Charles Whitmire, Dwayne Chesnut and Robert Stubbeman, was going to sing, but due to the fact that Charles got the measles the boys were unable to go on with the show. We know they had very good intentions. There was a tap dance with Retta Hazlip and Pennye Jones. They were all blacked-up and had on old clothes. Then Ruth Ann Rhodes sang a solo, accompanied by Elaine Johnson. There was another tap dance by the Three Margies—Margie Hensley, Margie Miller and Margie Neill. They did a tap dance to "School Days." To take the place of the boys' quartet, there was a girls' trio with Sally Breese, Ann Kinnemer and Joan Basshan. That concluded the program and then everyone went to the dance in the cafeteria.

Senior Trip Set

While we still are on the subject of Seniors, we might as well tell you they are going to take their trip Friday, and they are going to Carlsbad, N. M. They will visit the Caverns in the morning and then in the afternoon they are going to an amusement park. We bet there will be a lot of tired Seniors after the trip.

Roy Kimsey, Bill Erskine, Bill Mims, Harold Hensley, Fella Patterson and Robert Payne went swimming at Balmorhea last Sunday.

The Seniors are having dances galore. Last Wednesday, a group of boys gave a Western Dance. Then last Friday there was a dance at the Ranchland Hill Country Club. This dance was given by some of the seniors. Mrs. W. A. Yeager and Mrs. Georgia Goss Harston gave the Seniors a dance Saturday night honoring Emily Hamilton and Joan Turner. The first part of this dance was a program affair and everyone seemed to like that idea very much. Sunday there was a tea for the Seniors. That is all up to now that we know about.

Dick Spencer, John McGuigan, M. A. Rose and Paxton Howard went to Balmorhea about three weeks ago. Sorry, boys, that we didn't get the news sooner.

Dancers Out Enmasse

The YC dance last Saturday was the largest yet. In fact it was so crowded you hardly could budge. Glad all of you were there. Be sure and come back next week for another session.

Well, we are very sorry there wasn't a Chatter last week, but it got lost in the rush over here at school. We are sorry this week's Chatter isn't longer, but tests, tests, and then some more tests.

By the way, would someone like to volunteer to take the Chatter about three or four weeks while we are out of town. Please now, someone come to the rescue so there will be Chatter for all of the lucky people out there who want to read it.

The Catoico's finally are here, and we are all very glad to see them. Well, we gotta be going along so we will see you next week.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By WARREN PAGE
Shooting Editor

TWO-GUN PETE, with a hog-leg tied down to each thigh, may have been a holy terror in Wild West days. If he was it was because he had spent a good part of his life learning to make those two guns talk.

These days most of us don't have time or opportunity to learn one gun intimately enough to become really skilled with it, be it a handgun, a smoothbore, or a rifle. Yet for my dough, the one-gun man represents more menace to game critters, targets, or even marauding human critters, than the fellow who owns a rack full and has only a speaking acquaintance with any of 'em.

I shoot skeet with a fellow who hasn't broken more than 23 of the 25 targets since Hector was in rompers. He usually starts off like a house afire with that new smoothbore he's trying out.

Three stations later he bloopers a target, which can happen to the best of us. His fault? No—must be the gun is throwing high or low or sideways. So he gets another one to finish the round with.

Do any better? Not noticeably, because it's quite possible that by the time he's gotten around to shooting the doubles sequences he has borrowed still another gun and is trying to learn that particular musket in one difficult lesson. He gets no place fast and ends up with a sorry 18 for a score.

A shotgun theoretically should fit us so perfectly that it becomes an automatic extension of our eye, of our will to hit. And if we all drove Rolls Royces maybe we could afford to have our smoothbores so fitted.

But most of us have to struggle along with Pop's old musket, or a standard factory gun which fits just well enough, like a ready-made suit. So we have to fit ourselves, our shooting and our holding habits, to that one gun. And that isn't so difficult either, if we stick to the one musket, and don't try to learn the feel of 14.

Another friend of mine went to Alaska to slay some big brown bears. He had for years owned and used a .30-06, and could really shoot with it. Feeling for some reason that he needed a heavier weapon, although he actually didn't he invested in a secondhand .375 H & H Magnum. This was too short in the stock for him, and he fired only eight or ten rounds on the range before taking off for the land of Brownies.

Result? He finished away two chances for a fine trophy. Very probably if he'd been using his familiar '06 he'd have had two rugs for the living room and a big bill at the taxidermist's.

Or take a target shooter who has used his old reliable revolver for a couple of years of successful competition. Through hours of range work and dry firing practice he has learned every last nuance of the gun's trigger movement. He knowns exactly when an ounce more pressure means let-off. The stock has been shaped and reshaped until it butts into his palm perfectly, and the gun points as unerringly as his index finger.

Give him another gun, even if the trigger pull is actually smoother or cleaner, if the stock and hang are theoretically more perfect for the job, and his scores will go to pieces until he learns that new gun.

Actually, it makes little difference what rifle or what shotgun or what pistol you own—you can make it do an amazing variety of shooting jobs if you know it well enough, of you've handled it and shot it over and over again until every action is mechanical every point is dead on.

Farm Empire Ready To Bloom As Water Flows Into Vast Columbia River Basin

MOSES LAKE, WASH. —(NEA)— A new economic empire within the state of Washington is coming into being Thursday.

Life-giving water from the Columbia River will flow to irrigate about half of the 930 farms sprawled over 66,000 acres of the Columbia Basin irrigation project. It's a start that is bringing life-long dreams to many dry-dirt farmers of the area.

Under construction for seven years, this project eventually will encompass 1,029,000 acres—an area larger than the state of Rhode Island. For the next seven years, the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation expects to bring water to about 1,000 acres yearly.

To celebrate the happy event, starting Thursday and for 11 days, every town in this part of the state will take part in what is called the Columbia Basin Water Festival. At Ephrata, it will be a fair; Pasco will have a water parade of floats; Quincy will have an old-fashioned, horse-drawn plowing contest. But it'll be judged from a modern helicopter.

Some of these more than 1,000,000 acres got water in 1948 near Pasco. Then 5,500 acres came into production by water pumped from the Columbia River. The acreage now will get water through the 300 miles of canals, the 4,500 miles of laterals and the hundreds of miles of tunnels and siphons. The laterals alone, if stretched on end to end, would extend to New York and almost back to Chicago.

Everything in this project is gigantic. And it's only right that some of the celebration is, too. The biggest event takes place May 29, three miles north of Moses Lake.

In a 24-hour period, a now barren 80-acre tract will be transformed into a $50,000 irrigated, plowed, planted, stocked and equipped farm, with a $19,000 house. Everything from labor, land, materials and tractor, right down to the kitchen gadgets and fodder in the barn, as well as a cat and dog, will be donated.

It will go free to Donald D. Dunn, 30-year-old war veteran and farmer at Marion, Kan., until wiped out by the 1951 flood. Dunn, his wife and two daughters, will move in because the ex-soldier was winner of the Veteran of Foreign Wars farm-in-a-day contest.

Washington state officials are equally excited over what the new irrigated land will do. Gov. Arthur B. Langlie says, "In one swift, dramatic stroke we get 66,000 more acres of good farm land."

About 20 per cent of the project is government-owned; the rest belongs to private capital. The Reclamation Bureau so far has sold 199 full-time farm units, averaging between 48 to 153 acres, to ex-veterans.

They get the preference, but they must have two years farming experience and $4,500 in credit. Purchasers are drawn by lot. More than 10,000 have applied for farms.

The total project, when completed some years hence, will cost at least $702,500,000. To date, about $450,000,000 has been spent, with much of that on Grand Coulee Dam, the world's largest concrete structure, about 50 miles away. Of the total cost, the irrigation part of the project will total $483,000,000.

Uncle Sam will get his money back two ways. Coulee Dam's 1,974,000 kilowatts are paying back some of the cost now. Irrigation project water users will pay about $85 per acre, plus interest, over a 40-year period.

Man-made river: One of six major canals in the vast Columbia Basin irrigation project in Washington, his concrete river starts carrying water to 66,000 acres of farmland Thursday

New Sign For Jail Must Wait

BRANTFORD, ONTARIO —(AP)— A provincial inspector, spotting a newly-painted sign reading "Gaol" on the Brant County Jail, said the the Brant County Jail, said the proper way to spell it is "Jail."

Major Sidney Rogers, jail governor, said it would probably remain "Gaol" until they get another prisoner who can paint signs. The man who did the present sign was released recently.

Housing Shortage In Tokyo Is Acute

TOKYO —(AP)— Metropolitan Tokyo is virtually bursting at the seams, with more than 300,000 additional Japanese pouring into the city from the provinces each year.

The Tokyo City Office reports 530,000 families urgently need housing. These families are trying to share one-room shacks with other families.

In the workers' residential districts most of the houses were built hastily on bombed-out ruins. They are less well-built than the log cabins on the American frontier 100 years ago.

McDaniel To Get Commission On A&M Graduation

CRANE—Bruce McDaniel, 20, of Shreveport, La., and formerly of Crane, will be commissioned as a reserve second lieutenant in the armored artillery of the United States Army upon graduation May 31 from Texas A&M College.

McDaniel attended Crane High School during his freshman and sophomore years and was graduated in 1948 from Fair Park High School at Shreveport.

An outstanding record was made by McDaniel at Texas A&M. For the last two years he has been a member of Ross Volunteers, an official honor drill team. He will be employed with the Borden Company until assignment in the Army.

His brother, Dan, who is a graduate of Crane High School and West Point, now has the rank of first lieutenant and is an instructor in the guided missile school at Fort Bliss.

Both are sons of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. McDaniel of Shreveport.

ONE CHURCH HELPS ANOTHER

CENTRALIA, ILL. —(AP)— Fire destroyed the First Christian Church of Centralia and a re-building fund was started the same day. The first $1,000 was given by members of the First Methodist Church.

California Primary Is Match Between Warren And 'Haters'

By BRUCE BIOSSAT

SACRAMENTO, CALIF.—(NEA)—In California, second most populous U. S. state, with a fat prize of 70 GOP convention delegates, the June 3 primary is strictly a match between Gov. Earl Warren and the Warren haters. The great engagement between General Eisenhower and Senator Taft lies beneath the surface.

All the political oracles accord Warren a clear-cut margin over his opposition. Under California's winner-take-all provision, that means he should bag the full 70. But the anti-Warren slate, nominally pledged to U. S. Rep. Thomas H. Werdel, Bakersfield, could run up a sufficient vote to nick the governor's prestige.

To hurt Warren nationally rather than to beat him is probably the real aim of the anti-Warren group, which is master-minded by John Francis Neylan, of San Francisco, former general counsel for the Hearst newspaper chain.

Normally Warren could have expected to collect his home state delegates without a fight, and go to the convention a "favorite son." But any governor accumulates enemies, and Warren, the only three-termer in California history, is now reaping several years' harvest. He is not known as a man who placates a foe.

Voters Choice

Bernard Brennan, Warren's Southern California manager, says the entry of the Werdel slate gives the voters a choice between "a candidate and a grudge." The "antis" in effect concede the point. Their only program is to cut Warren down.

To that end they are pouring out vitriol and venom in a stream seldom if ever equalled in California. The basic charge is that Warren is a complete New Dealer. One Werdel man described him as a "leap-year Republican in campaign years and a Republicrat in other years." The governor's progressive state record is labeled "Warren's Trumanism."

Warren is painted as the very opposite of the true Republican, as a man who is not a sincere candidate for president but is trying to make a deal for the vice presidential nomination, a cabinet post or a place on the federal bench.

Seeking to heighten their appeal, the Werdel leaders offer their slate as a catch-all for voters who want any candidate but Warren. But both the Eisenhower and Taft forces have publicly disclaimed any link with the opposition slate.

Warren opponent, Congressman Thomas H. Werdel, has a catch-all slate of delegates.

There is a grimmer side. The Werdel slate has some good names on it, but its campaign is serving as a vehicle for an assortment of more practiced professional haters whose product is spread nationwide. These include the Partisan Republicans of California. Run by Gregory Berne, White Russian print shop proprietor in Los Angeles; and Robert Williams, Santa Ana, whose specialty is phoney photographs purporting to show Eisenhower as a drinking partner of Soviet generals.

The Partisan Republicans have been officially repudiated by the national GOP headquarters, but they are represented on the Werdel slate and their support seems to have been accepted.

The governor ignores the poison-pen specialists. To the more temperate jibes at his Republicanism, he gives answer. He asserts again and again that he has sponsored nothing not advocated clearly in the national GOP platforms of 1944 and 1948.

He punctures the claim that the "real Republicans" are in the Werdel camp by pointing to his own slate: it contains both U. S. senators, four congressmen, the national committeeman, state chairman, top Republican women, Young Republican leaders, and several key county chairmen. In the view of the experts, he has the cream.

Not all feel comfortable under Warren's wing. Some disagree heartily with a lot of his policies, especially his much-assailed health plan (not in force). But the regulars believe in Warren's integrity. And they can read figures. His power as a vote-getter in California is unsurpassed. In a state with a 3 to 2 Democratic edge in registration, they aren't sure a Republican of more conservative stripe could win.

Warren denies he intends to horse-trade his 70 delegates for a national job. "I won't treat delegates like chattels," he says. He has publicly declared that if and when his delegates are released they will be free to vote as they wish. Neither he nor his aides have polled the delegates on their second choice.

(A reliable neutral source indicates, however, that Eisenhower probably will inherit the majority of Warren's strength, though Taft has some representation.)

Since he wants no trades and since he realizes he is not a front-runner for the nomination, what lies behind Warren's candidacy? The answer, which can be offered here with authority, is simple.

Sincere Desire

The Californian has a sincere desire to be president, to cap a long, distinguished career of public service with this greatest crown. But he is not consumed by this ambition; he is unwilling to drop everything and drive to fulfill it. Entered in the May 16 primary of friendly Oregon, he had no organization at all a month before the event.

Warren believes the people should have a choice among many men—not just one or two. So he has made himself available. He announced his candidacy earlier than usual this time because he was annoyed by arguments that another candidate was the "only right one" for the Republicans and that failure to line up behind this man in California might spell political suicide.

Warren understands a stalemate is his only chance. If it comes, well and good; he is ready and willing. If it doesn't, he will be quite happy to go on being governor of California.

Daddy Ringtail And No Thimble Thumb

Mugwump Monkey now was Thimble-Thumb in his dream. He was riding a mouse for a horse, and he was looking for dangerous adventures. He was riding along the Elephant Path, brave as brave could be, waiting for something exciting to happen in his dream adventure.

It began to happen. An eagle dived down from the sky and picked gently with her beak, just as a cat will gently hold her kitten in her mouth. The eagle flew up and up.

Mugwump wasn't worried. Oh no. He didn't care how high the eagle flew, for he was dreaming the dream himself, and nothing sad could happen to him as he was doing the dreaming. Mugwump wasn't worried even when the eagle stopped at last in her nest on top of the mountain. Mugwump wasn't even afraid of the baby eagles who were waiting to eat him for dinner.

Mugwump was hungry himself, and since he was the one who was dreaming the dream, he said a magic dream-word in it. The word was eagle-pie backwards, and straightway and forthwith—there all the eagles were changed to an eagle pie all ready for a hungry boy to eat.

Ah yes, and Mugwump laughed out loud with the fun of dreaming his dangerous adventure, for he still was sure—quite sure—that nothing really sad could happen to him in his dream.

Pretty soon Mugwump began to look for a way to get down from the top of the mountain where the eagle nest was. "Ah well," dreamed Mugwump, "as long as I'm dreaming, I'll dream I can fly down from here like a bird."

Out he jumped into the air. Down and down he began to fall. He flapped and flopped his arms like wings, but still he fell. "Oooooh!" shouted Mugwump, for somehow his dream wasn't dreaming right. "Ker-bump!"

There he had hit the bottom, except the bottom was really the floor where he had fallen out of bed. Mugwump got up and crawled into bed again. He decided not to dream of Thimble-Thumb any more, because he had some sleeping to do, and he couldn't be bothered with maybe falling out of bed again.

No more Thimble-Thumb. No more story about him. Happy day!

Columnist Boyle Doffs Derby To America's Two-Ulcer Men

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — (AP) — Ulcers are what you make them.

The ulcer used to be the Horatio Alger disease. A man started off life poor but healthy, worked hard and honestly, and ended up wealthy —and ulcer-ridden.

An ulcer became a badge of success, particularly in the movie, radio and advertising fields, although industrial leaders were prone to catch them, too. The big gag was: "Even my ulcers are getting ulcers."

But today the ulcer no longer is an internal medal of honor in the struggle to get ahead. Somehow the word got around that ulcers were the product of tension. That immediately made the ulcer the property of the common man. For who in these times doesn't brag about the tension he is under?

Not to have an ulcer now is a kind of rebuke of your way of life, an implication you have been cheating by failing to do your fair share of the general worrying. Even housewives, smarting under the criticism they have a soft touch, are developing more ulcers. Either that or they are just tired of hearing husbands complain about their ulcers.

Such Is Prestige

Such is the prestige of the ulcer in the business world that a friend of mine, stricken by sudden abdominal pains, went bravely and proudly to the hospital for an emergency operation. When he emerged from the anesthetic he learned to his horror that all he had undergone was an appendectomy.

"I was sure it was an ulcer," he said, shame-facedly, and pleaded: "Please don't let the word get around. They'd kid me to death at the office. Nobody but children get appendicitis any more."

Ulcers are divided into two classes:

(1) The social, or fake, ulcer.

(2) The true ulcer.

The fake ulcer is by far the most widespread. It also is the better type to have, as it requires little or no medical treatment and has wonderful social advantages. It is a fine excuse to stay home from work. If you are at a party and the host serves poor liquor, you can get out of drinking it. If you are playing poker and get $100 ahead, you can grimace, clutch at your belt, and mutter: "Ugh, my ulcer. Sorry, boys, I'll have to go home."

Picks His Audience

After you leave some disgruntled loser may grumble, "That lucky darn fool doesn't have the brains to get an ulcer." But he can't prove it. That's the best thing about a social ulcer—people have to take your word for it.

Those who have true ulcers rarely like to discuss their ailment with fellow sufferers, as that means they have to take turns listening to the other guy's agony. They prefer to talk to those who have never had the malady, just as old soldiers like to show their battle scars to bug-eyed children.

A veteran victim gave this description of his affliction:

"Having an ulcer is as near as the average man ever comes to motherhood. You feel like you are pampering a spoiled child.

"Ulcers have personalities just like people. Some folks even give them nicknames. I call mine 'Aching Abner.' After a while you actually get to have a companionable feeling toward an ulcer. Why not? It is always with you.

"Ulcers are temperamental. Usually they gulp milk like a calf. But some days I can drink three martinis and eat steak and fried onions and Aching Abner won't even whimper. Six months later if I even glance at a jar of pickles, he starts screaming.

"How does an ulcer feel? It feels like a little demon inside you is probing your innards with a blow torch. You have to fight like hell to think life is wonderful."

But the sad fact today is that, unless you become a two-ulcer man, sooner or later the idea is going to spread that you are a shiftless failure.

Presbyterian Assemblies Set New York, Charleston Meets

DECATUR, GA. — (AP) — General Assemblies of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A. (Northern) and the Presbyterian Church, U. S. (Southern) will meet separately again this year as will the high courts of United Presbyterians, Associate Reformed Presbyterians and Cumberland Presbyterians.

Assemblies of the two largest bodies, U. S. A. and U. S., will meet two weeks apart in New York City and Charleston, W. Va., respectively. In New York, May 20-28, the Northern group will launch a church-wide Sesquicentennial celebration to run from May, 1952 to May, 1953.

At Charleston on June 5, the 92nd General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. will consider reports of its agencies, synods and presbyteries.

Although final figures for the Southern church are not yet available, early reports point to the greatest Sunday School enrollment in the history of Southern Presbyterianism; total gifts exceeding $40,000,000 in 1951; organization of more than one new church each week during the last five years; considerable progress looking toward possible union of U. S., U. S. A. and U. P. Churches.

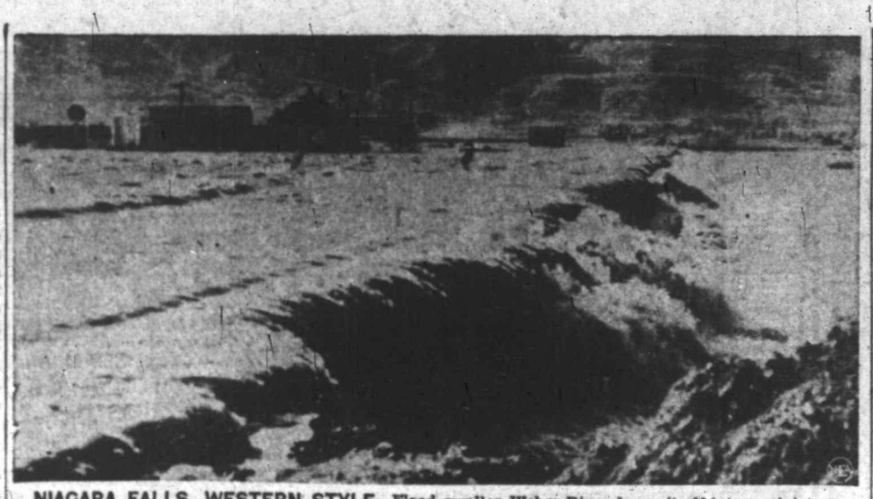

The Northern and Southern groups will be entering the final year of a five-year period of "exploring avenues of cooperation and acquaintance," leading toward possible union of the groups in 1953. A committee of the United Presbyterian Church is also engaged in the "exploration."

HE DIDN'T SAY IT — Adm. William M. Fechteler, above, Chief of Naval Operations, states at a Washington press conference that he had no connection with an alleged "report" which had appeared in some papers, which said that he believed war was inevitable by 1960.

Navajos Are Aided By Uranium Mining

AP Newsfeatures

NAVAJO INDIAN RESERVATION, ARIZ.—Uranium destined for atomic bombs is helping relieve the plight of the Navajos, proud Indians whose poverty has come in for nation-wide attention.

As yet, it can't be said to be enriching them—not by ordinary standards. But it is providing jobs for a good many. It is putting some in position to collect royalties. It is dropping money into the tribal coffers to help develop the primitive land. And the end is not in sight.

"I suppose uranium stands a chance of making some millionaires among the Indians but the odds are against it," theorized one of the region's best known white men. He is Harry Goulding who operates a trading post and tourist spot in Monument Valley, isolated region of spectacular rocks along the Utah-Arizona border far from main roads.

"Uranium mining has been a God-send for these Indians," Goulding said. "It has brought a payroll in here and it has given them a vocation."

Monument Mine, No. 2, is the largest uranium operation in the United States. So few outsiders have seen it, the property is reputed to be a "secret" mine, but it isn't.

From Mexican Hat, Utah, the mine is 25 miles southeast. But the usual direction given to a newcomer is this: "When you've wandered a day and a half in the reservation, you're probably there."

Mostly Indians Employed

Operated by Vanadium Corporation of America, Monument No. 2 employs Indians in all jobs below the supervisory level. Many of them are unable to speak even the rudiments of English. Nearby properties operated by the Climax Uranium Company also largely employ Indians.

The big Monument No. 2 mine lies at the crest of a windswept hill of blowing sand. It has ore seams from 5 to 22 feet thick. Workings are on two levels — unusual in uranium properties—and there is some strip mining at the surface. There is one and one-half miles of tunnels.

Found when a Navajo brought a chunk of ore to Goulding's post, the mine has been operated extensively only about five years.

Most of the Indians working here —currently about 80—learned mining on the spot.

"We put foremen right along side of them to teach them, CVA Vice President Dennis Viles said. "We stay with them until they learn. They're quick to catch on, considering the business is new to them. They're faithful.

Evidences of the Navajo's artistic ability were visible in the mine. The sand-colored tunnels were decorated at many places with realistic black drawings smudged onto the rock with the flame of carbide lamps.

Most of the workers live on the side of the long hill in tiny homes surrounded by cactus and sagebrush. Actually, 300 people live in the vicinity, many of them children.

Indians Abandon Tribal Home

Goulding pointed out with pride that some Indians have abandoned the round, squat hogans for cabins. But the doors almost invariably face east because Navajo tradition requires this so that the first rays of the rising sun can enter the home.

Many persons believe the Indians resent the white man's opening of the mines, but Goulding says, "I've found the Indians to be very progressive-minded. Anything that will help them, they'll go along with. Of course they have to be convinced.

One full-blooded Navajo, Cato Sells, operates sizeable uranium properties in the Lukachukai and Carrizo Mountains, some as an individual and some with the Climax Company.

So far uranium has been found only in the sparsely settled northern part of the reservation. Indians now file individual claims and then lease them to others with approval of the tribal council. A sizeable royalty goes to tribal funds in each instance.

Cry Of 'Twister Coming' Loses Some Of Terror

By SAUL FELDMAN

OKLAHOMA CITY—(AP)—Tornadoes still strike often with deadly force and destruction, but men are beginning to take some of the terror out of the cry: "A twister is coming."

Right now, the main aim of weather forecasters is to warn residents in the path of the swirling black funnels, but there also is the hope that perhaps some day scientists may be able to take the sting out of the tornado.

The scientific approach to tornadoes is an exacting one, and a warning is sent out only after the checking of data reported by hundreds of weather observers throughout the country.

Three different groups in Oklahoma are concerned with tornado forecasting and tracking.

The Weather Bureau this year for the first time is giving wide publicity to tornado forecasts; the severe storm warning center at Tinker Air Force Base in Oklahoma City issues warnings for military installations and Oklahoma A&M College is doing research on tornado tracking.

The Tinker warning center was formed after a 10 million dollar tornado in March, 1948, wrecked part of the installation. Lt. Col. E. J. Fawbush, weather officer for the base, was assigned to command the Air Force weather office with Maj. Robert C. Miller as his assistant.

Compile Data

The office began compiling weather data and using it to warn military installations of severe storms.

"Finding these conditions and putting them together is just like baking a cake," Fawbush explains. "You have to mix the ingredients in the proper order and provide the proper temperature to get the right results."

The severe storm center has found that the conditions needed for a possible tornado are narrow bands of moist southerly winds with stronger bands of winds on top and a squall line of colder air moving from the west so that they will collide.

These are the conditions needed, but they don't always end in a tornado. The squall line, which is a series of thunderstorms, is the trigger.

With the warm air moving under the cold air of the thunderstorms, the atmosphere becomes out of balance because of the severe differences of temperature. The warmer air, which is light, starts to rise rapidly to regain the equilibrium and here is created the maximum instability.

The winds, their direction, temperatures and moisture contents all must be taken into consideration in the forecasts.

Similar Methods

The weather bureau uses similar methods to arrive at its forecasts with all agencies exchanging information.

W. E. Maughan, of the Weather Bureau, points out one of the bureau's requirements is upper air data and said an increasing amount of such information must be obtained to become more accurate.

The tornado forecasters are trying to hold their predictions within a 10,000 square mile area and to give at least three hours warning. Under certain conditions, tornado warnings can be given as much as 24 hours in advance but conditions can change any time and a constant check must be kept.

At Oklahoma A&M College, Dr. H. L. Jones is directing another phase of the tornado problem—the tracking of the twisters after they are located. He evolved the theory that only thunderstorms spawning tornadoes carried a high electric charge.

Using a cathode ray oscilliograph which converted the electric charges so they could be seen on a screen similar to a television screen, he charted the intensity of different storms. Now he is building another charting station with a grant from the Signal Corps so that the two stations can get a fix on a tornado by following it with oscillograph and radar. Jones hopes to be able to warn cities in its path.

Although it likely is many years in the future, weather experts are toying with the idea of dissipating tornadoes soon after they are formed. First must come an accurate system of predicting and locating tornadoes. Then maybe a way will be found to seed the storm clouds to lessen their violence.

ISRAEL DOCTORS GRADUATE

JERUSALEM —(AP)— The shortage of physicians in Israel may be eased somewhat when the first 62 students fully trained at the medical school of the Hebrew University—Hadassah Hospital in Jerusalem receive their doctors degrees next month. Shortly afterwards the cornerstone will be laid in the hills west of Jerusalem for a new 20 million dollar University-Hadassah Medical Center to supplement the present hospital buildings and laboratories.

★ THE DOCTOR SAYS ★

Low Blood Pressure Is Usually Sign Of Long, Healthy Life

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

Mrs. E. C. writes that she blacked-out in a store and soon after her doctor found that her blood pressure was low. She also says that she often feels tired and dizzy with pain in the top of her head and wants to know whether this is all caused by low blood pressure.

In answer it may be said that a few rare diseases can cause low blood pressure and perhaps one of these might have been responsible for her fainting, but it seems unlikely that low blood pressure by itself could have been at fault. However, in addition to Mrs. C., a great many people are interested in low blood pressure and frequently become much disturbed because their blood pressures are lower than what they think should be normal.

As a matter of fact most people with low blood pressures are well off and can expect a long life. There are few exceptions: there is a condition known as Addison's disease which, among other symptoms, is characterized by a low blood pressure, but this is rare and there are only a few other things which are accompanied by low blood pressure which have any serious significance.

There are several things which help to determine whether the blood pressure will be low, high or normal. The pump-like action of the heart is one. The elasticity of the arteries is another. In most cases of below "normal" blood pressure, the cause seems to be exceptionally elastic arteries and this is a good thing. For one it generally means that hardening of the arteries will be slow to develop and this in turn has much to do with the expectation for a long life.

It is hard to say whether there are or are not any symptoms which can be laid at the door of low pressure and nothing else. Some people—like Mrs. C.—who have low blood pressure also complain of lack of pep or some other vague thing, but this is just as likely to arise in the mind as it is from the pressure.

Let Pressure Be Low

Even if the blood pressure should have something to do with complaints of this sort there is not much that can be done about it. There is no good, safe, way to raise the blood pressure and it is better left alone in most cases, unless anemia or some other condition also is present which should be treated on its own account.

Low blood pressure causes a great deal of unnecessary worry, and with exceedingly few exceptions the person with below normal pressure can feel lucky, and does not need to do anything about it providing there are no other signs of disease.

City Of Pittsburgh Has Oxygen Bank

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— There are many blood banks in the Pittsburgh district but now there's also an oxygen bank.

A group of businessmen in the Mount Oliver district of Pittsburgh established the oxygen bank to help cope with emergencies.

Tanks of oxygen and equipment to administer it are stored in the Mount Oliver Borough Building. The service is available, free of charge, to any physician in the area.

By making a phone call a physician can have the oxygen rushed to the bedside of heart attack victims or other critically ill. The oxygen bank is maintained by donations of district residents.
