Burglaries On Rise

Mary's Flowers Is Latest Victim

A burglary early Tuesday night took cash from Mary's Flowers and ransacked the adjacent home of the owner.

The break-in was reported to police at 9:13 p.m. when Mrs. Evelyn Hrbacek returned to her home.

It was another of a series of burglaries and thefts in the Colorado City area within recent weeks.

Police reported a coat hanger was used to unlatch a window screen on the east side of Mrs. Hrbacek's residence. After the screen was unlatched, a window was raised.

All closets were ransacked and all chests of drawers were opened.

In adjoining business area of Mary's Flowers a cash drawer was opened. Missing in the burglary were two $5 bills and undetermined amount of single dollar bills.

Friday burglars carried away $50 worth of cigarettes and about $150 in pennies from Green Top Cafe on Interstate 20 freeway at Westbrook.

Sheriff's office investigated the break-in and said the burglary was carried out after the cafe closed Thursday night at 10 o'clock and before it reopened Friday at about 5:50 a.m.

A juke box was broken in to also at Green Top, but no money was taken from the machine, officers said.

Earlier in the week a $2,000 Cabot pump jack was stolen from Walbert & Associates on an oil lease three miles west of Guthrie. The equipment, with yellow lights attached to beam, is a 1967 PC 808, made by Jones & Laughlin.

Sheriff's office is investigating the theft.

Other recent thefts and burglaries include the loss of a Remington 22 caliber rifle from the residence of Cotton McGee, 2 miles east of Colorado City.

The rifle, valued at $50, was taken as the front door of the house was broken, Sheriff's office said.

A calculator was taken from D&P Farm Supply at 1299 West Point in East Colorado City.

Heavy Snow Ups '68 Crop Outlook

Heavy snow, storm in several seasons covered up Colorado City and Mitchell County Monday with a thick and downy spread.

Staffing before dawn, the snow continued for eight hours, totaling 3 inches both here and at Laramie.

The spectacular snow scene in town and country followed rain most of Sunday and Sunday night.

Return of winter to most of Texas came after 70 degree temperature shifts and accompanying dress weather here all day Saturday.

Neither the budding fruit trees nor the average weather man expected the 3-inch snow which turned into freezing rain during the middle of Monday afternoon, to say the least.

And, at least, a good underground season like this days before the official first day of spring 1968.

Benefit to farmers and ranchers in this area would be hard to overestimate, said agricultural specialists questioned.

"It's good, all to the good," said Eddie Braswell of the ASCS office. "The 3 inches of snow will prove a wonderful boon to small grains, wheat, pastures, range and, at least, a good underground season like this is most important to the new season's cotton crop," Braswell added.

Fruit trees, about to unfurl their blossoms, are not believed to be damaged to any great extent, because they were not quite far enough along to be ruined.

Hazardous driving warnings were issued over most of Texas throughout the day. Accidents in city limits of Colorado City were at a minimum in spite of the snow, freezing temperatures and ice on streets, curbs and sidewalks.

Only one collision was reported to Colorado City Police Department Monday.

James Weldon Claxton, driving a 1967 passenger car and Linda Pardee Garcia, driving a 1965 passenger car, were in collision about 11:45 a.m. at 2nd and Walnut Sts.

Damage of $200 was estimated for the Claxton car with $35 damage to the Garcia vehicle.

Tuesday morning at 8:24 a.m. a 1965 passenger car driven by J. P. Stewart Jr. received $400 estimated damage when a 1964 pickup driven by V. C. Byrnes struck the Stewart car's front bumper at 10th and Walnut Sts.

Brakes of the pickup failed to hold at the stop sign Bagwell reported, and the Bagwell pickup plowed on into the yard of the Mack Gideon home, 928 Walnut St. Damage to the pickup was placed by police at about $50.

Playhouse Has Hit Li'l Abner Back This Week

By Ruth Coffey

Li'l Abner, staged for enthusiastic audiences last Friday and Saturday nights, will be presented again this Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in Colorado High School auditorium by Colorado City Playhouse.

It is the best, the biggest, the most professional and by far the most amusing show staged by Playhouse, amateur theater group here since its organization four years ago.

Li'l Abner is "folksy," melodic, innocent, fast moving, funny. Direction by Curtis Baker, who also directed the popular Fantasticks during the 1965-66 season, was Baker at his best. George Womack was production assistant to Baker.

Singing the lead role of Li'l Abner was a young man from Lorraine, Don Richard who made Al Capp's Li'l Abner "for real." The rich and tender baritone voice of Richard in his first Playhouse role is the standout offering of the show.

If Richard is not in show business as a "pro" it is not because he lacks the talent or the depth or the feel for music. His voice is big as his tall young physique. It filled the auditorium with no apparent effort.

First bonus of the Saturday evening performance was Richard's solo "If I Had My Druthers." His voice was equally appealing with "Namely You" and the rollicking "The Country's in the Very Best of Hands."

In addition to his excellent voice, Richard is an actor of no mean ability. Co-star Marilyn Hicks made a beautiful and extremely shapely Daisy Mae. Her lyric soprano voice, a little soft for the big auditorium, was none the less sweet clear and true. Especially effective was her "Namely You" and her share of the duet with Li'l Abner "Love in a Home." She, too, lived her role.

Richard as Li'l Abner and Mrs. Hicks as Daisy Mae might have walked straight out of one of Al Capp's comic strip drawings.

Casting of the musical was excellent. Betty Ellis as the opinionated Mammy Yokum, backbone of the Yokum family, turned in a delightful performance which came across the footlights as energetic and effective comedy.

Bruno Kalfus as Pappy Yokum, his first Playhouse role, won his share of laughs and appreciation with his flair for timing.

Porter Richardson again established himself as a perennial favorite with Playhouse audiences. Richardson, playing Marryin' Sam sang the catchy "Jubilant T. Cornpone," backed by the Colorado High School choir, the chorus which added so much harmony from first scene to last.

Bob Reilly as Earthquake McGoon proved to be worth the price of admission. Already known in Colorado City as a light versifier, chronic sports fan and lively speaker, Reilly sang solo lines for "Typical Day, In Dogwatch" like a real trouper. What's more, he was riotously funny with his stage business and his lines spoken in a booming "tough guy" voice.

Because of the large cast Li'l Abner presents a problem to any reviewer. Every single member of the cast came through, added merit.

Tandy Curlee, who shone in Fantasticks, won the Saturday audience as General Bullmoose in Li'l Abner, a conniving crook who sang "Progress is the Root of All Evil," with polish and gusto.

Robert Jones, high school student cast as Dr. Binsdale was superb. Danny Majors as Eagle Eye Fleagle and Jones each won spontaneous laughter and applause with their handling of lines and comedy routines. Don DeLaney as Available Jones won his share of approval from the attentive crowd.

Kent Womack as Hairless Joe and Ronnie Arispe as Longsome Polecat brought some of the show's brightest moments. Lovess Curlee as Moonbeam McSwine, her first appearance on stage at Playhouse, was aptly at home with her lines and her song.

Gwen Brown as Stupefying Jones and Sharon Hammond as Appassionata von Chmax added glamor. Wives, as played by Charlene Birdwell Melba Mickle, and Ann Morgan, were a hit with their "Put 'em Back" song and with their vivacious participation in the plot and music all the way through.

The Skragg family, Pat Reilly, David Benson and Jesse Rocha, got their share of laughs along with the Cronies as played by Don Feaster, Gregg Reddell and Roy Wolf, and Jim Harris as Mayor Dawgmeat, Sonny Pawkett as Senator Phog bound, Casey Oliver as the colonel, and Mel Palmer doubling as Dr. Schleiffitz and Creighton, the butler. Cathy Curlee as Saret, Larry Parham as Cedric

SNYDER HIGHWAY

For the past few months Frontier Electronics has been extending its system on the Snyder highway as far north as Charles Rees's residence. We are now ready to start accepting orders, we will attempt to install orders on a first come, first serve basis, however, we ask that you take in consideration that it will take some time longer for your installation to be completed if you live on the East side of the highway as these are long installations and will take special consideration by our district engineer. We do hope however, to have all residents in this area enjoying multi channel cable television by May 1, 1968.

TO THE FARMERS OF MITCHELL COUNTY

Mitchell County Farmers Union Will Hold A Meeting
SATURDAY NIGHT, MARCH 16th
Lone Wolf Electric Cooperative
MEDALLION ROOM, 7:30 P.M.

This Is What Farmers Union Has Done For You!

- Given the farmers of the state a powerful voice in Washington and other places where important decisions are made that directly affect farm income.
- Sponsor a Washington Flier program to fly Texas farmers and ranchers to Washington to present economic facts to members of Congress supporting need for improved farm income in the state and to testify before hearings on the Farm Program.
- Helped the farmers in the state to be better informed on how farm income legislation would affect them, so that they would be alert to changes which might be detrimental.
- Was responsible for developing as good a four-year Farm Program as could possibly be passed through the Congress considering the opposition of one large farm organization and several cotton organizations.
- Got the concept of direct payments to the farmer firmly built into the programs for wheat, feed grain and cotton.
- Sought restoration of budgetary cuts that could cripple the effectiveness of the 1965 Farm Bill and damage existing and future programs for soil conservation, Farmers Home Administration, rural housing, school lunch programs, and rural electric co-operatives.
- Fought for and was effective in retaining the 7% investment tax credit on up to $20,000 worth of farm equipment.
- Fought for and was successful in getting revision of skip-row regulations removing the penalty, and the review of inequitable projected yield allocations tied to the skip-row pattern.
- Urged and was successful in getting the 2.11 cents increased in cotton payments announced for 1967.
- Protested sales permitting CCC sales of cotton in competition with sales of current stocks and was successful in influencing USDA to announce a program for 1967 allowing farmers more headroom to sell their 1967 crop.
- Provided its members with insurance services of all kinds including low cost Group Life and group hospitalization through Blue Cross. Made available low cost direct drug service to its Senior Members.
- Is the only farm organization in the state that has provided constructive support for programs that the farmers and rural communities need.

... TO THE BOYS...

GENTLEMEN:

A wonderful feeling of pride overshadows my waning thoughts of defeat... and sadness is mellowed by success already achieved... Gentlemen, your contributions this year to Colorado High School will be remembered for many years to come, by those here now, and by those yet to walk in these halls that will long echo with the winning spirit and tradition that each of you and coach Matthews, have helped to establish.

Also, enough can not be said for the student body and cheering sections, who equally contributed much to the will to win. Now it is up to each and every one of us, students and fans alike, to see that this winning tradition and fantastic spirit be cherished, protected, and forever preserved.

Gentlemen, it has been my pleasure to attend your splendid performances this year in all of your athletic endeavors...

Most Sincerely

Dan Majors

Honor Group -

So, you know these young men and women in Colorado High's National Honor Society have made outstanding accomplishment. They have excelled in studies . . . in addition to keeping up with that busy, busy pace.

We won't try to name all the members - 17 new ones were inducted into the society last week, but we offer our congratulations to all of them. An extra pat on the back, too, for those officials of the Honor Society—Pete Brewton, president; Ann Blackard, vice president; Jean Keeth, treasurer, and Ida Jean Basham, secretary.

Rolling Plains Growers Announce Annual Meeting

Annual meeting of the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. will be held in the auditorium of Stamford High School on Friday, March 22, beginning at 1:00 p.m.

To interest wives of the members of the Growers' organization, the program will include a talk by Mrs. L. B. McDowell of McAdoo, Texas, chairman of the Women's District Cotton Promotion Association, and a style show sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Other speakers on the program will include John A. Baker of Washington, D.C., Assistant Secretary of Agriculture; Representative Graham Purcell of Wichita Falls, congressman from the 13th district; Joe R. Pate, Jr., Lubbock cotton farmer who is chairman of the new Texas Association of Cotton Producers Organizations; and J. B. Coover Jr., Roscoe cotton farmer and president of RPCG.

Style show will feature models wearing garments made of cotton fabrics. Most of the items to be modeled are manufactured by Stamford by a firm that supplies a number of exclusive shops in the Southwest with women's and girls' dresses and other apparel.

There will be other entertainment features including refreshments during a break in activities expected to be concluded by 4:30 p.m.

Mrs. McDowell, who heads a district organization of women in the Plains area, outlined at a recent meeting of the RPCG's directors how women are getting results in promoting cotton products in retail stores. She emphasized that the program is not aimed at banning synthetics but is to promote cotton and cotton goods.

"We have had inquiries from women about the women's groups since Mrs. McDowell discussed the program at a recent meeting here of RPCG directors," said Charles Bragg, executive vice president of the growers' group. "We want the women in the 33 counties comprising our association to have a chance to hear details of this program which can promote a better overall economy in West Texas."

Talk by Chairman Pate of TACPO will outline the cooperative objectives of six Texas grower organizations working together for improved communication, better understanding and unity of action.

The organization is composed of the Plains and Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, South Texas Cotton and

Grain Association, Blackland Cotton and Grain Association, Trans-Pecos Cotton Association and El Paso Valley Cotton Association, formed at the annual meeting of the National Cotton Council last January in Oklahoma City.

Assistant Agriculture Secretary Baker, who will address the meeting, directs six agencies including the Agricultural Service, Farm Administration, Rural Community Development Service, Rural Electrification Administration and Soil Conservation Service.

Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. is a non-profit organization with headquarters in Stamford, Texas. It represents cotton growers in 33 counties of the Rolling Plains area.

The annual meeting is a special occasion for the growers and their families. It provides an opportunity for them to meet with their representatives and hear from the national cotton council.

The meeting is open to all cotton growers in the Rolling Plains area. It is a chance for them to voice their concerns and suggestions to the national cotton council.

Rolling Plains Growers Announce Annual Meeting

Annual meeting of the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., will be held in the auditorium of Stanford High School on Friday, March 22, beginning at 1:00 p.m.

To interest wives of the members of the growers' organization, the program will include a talk by Mrs. L. B. McDowell of McAdoo, Texas, chairman of the Women's District Cotton Promotion Association, and a style show sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Other speakers on the program will include John A. Baker of Washington, D.C., Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, Representative Graham of the 12th district, Joe B. Pate, Jr., Lubbock cotton farmer who is chairman of the new Texas Association of Cotton Producers Organizations, and J. D. Cooper, Jr., Roscoe cotton farmer and president of RFGC.

Style show will feature models wearing garments made of cotton fabrics. Most of the items to be modeled are manufactured by Stanford by a firm that supplies a number of exclusive shops in the Southwest with women's and girls' dresses and other apparel.

There will be other entertainment features, including refreshments during a break in activities expected to be concluded by 4:30 p.m.

Mrs. McDowell, who heads a district organization of women in the Plains area, outlined at a recent meeting of the RFGC's directors how women are getting results in promoting cotton products in retail stores. She emphasized that the program is not aimed at banning synthetics, but is to promote cotton and cotton goods.

"We have had inquiries from women about the women's groups since Mrs. McDowell discussed the program at a recent meeting here of RFGC directors," said Charles Bragg, executive vice president of the growers' group. "We want the women in the 33 counties comprising our association to have a chance to hear details of this program, which can promote a better overall economy in West Texas."

Talk by Chairman Pate of TACPO will outline the cooperative objectives of six Texas grower organizations working together for improved communication, better understanding and unity of action.

The organization is composed of the Plains and Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, South Texas Cotton and

Grain Association, Blackland Cotton and Grain Association, Trans-Pecos Cotton Association and El Paso Valley Cotton Association, formed at the annual meeting of the National Cotton Council last January in Oklahoma City.

Assistant Agriculture Secretary Baker, who will address the meeting, directs six agencies of the USDA, including the Agricultural Service, Rural Electrification Administration, Farm and Soil Conservation Service, and the National Agricultural Experiment Station, which is the largest of the USDA's research and development agencies.

Voter Gains In Small Counties

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Rural areas are surprising the experts on voter registration.

Preliminary figures submitted to Comptroller Robert S. Calvert show that the first 100 counties to report on their voters, all smaller counties, had a 63.5 per cent gain over last year.

Estimates by tax collectors in the three largest counties, Harris, Dallas and Bexar, indicate gains of only 13.6, 31.7 and 18 per cent.

Some of the increase in rural counties is due to the fact that voters over age 65 in rural areas and towns under 10,000 now must register to vote. Heretofore, they could vote without registering.

It is estimated that the number of qualified voters in Texas will exceed 4,000,000 this year. In 1967, 3,900,000 was the figure.

At the date that County reports are due.

the junior college system. But he described area problems as so urgent that waiting for development of a system was not feasible.

He said he will recommend to the next legislature an appropriate state agency to run the new institute permanently. Meanwhile, he recommended that Texas A&M University and James Connally Technical Institute at Waco operate the Harlingen facilities.

Last year the legislature appropriated $3,200,000 to buy facilities and equipment at James Connally Air Force Base to launch the state's first program of this kind.

Funds from the Federal Manpower Development Training Act will finance 90 per cent of the Harlingen facility's cost—at least until June 30, 1969.

sons who have not been Texas residents for the past three years.

GOVERNOR PREPARING BUDGET

With a view toward that special legislative session just around the corner, Governor Connally is putting final touches on his budget recommendations this year.

Connally still declines to be pinned down on the session date, but he volunteered one significant prediction: The new tax bill at this time appears to be shaping up in the $125,000,000 to $135,000,000 range.

Legislative Budget Board previously gave tentative approval to spending for 1969 which would require some $122,500,000 in additional taxes. LBB general fund budget so far totals $168,500,000. Governor's will be higher.

BARRERA NAMED

Roy Barrera, 41-year-old San Antonio attorney, is John Hill's successor as secretary of state. Hill resigned last month to devote full time to his race for governor.

SCHOOL COSTS

Local school districts' share of the minimum foundation school program for next year will be $5,800,000 higher than the current level.

However, only 74 districts actually will have to pay a bigger share of teacher salaries, maintenance and operation costs of schools, bus transportation and Texas Education Agency operating expenses. In fact, 157 will pay less.

Total estimated costs for the minimum foundation school program this year has grown to $739,112,195. Local fund assignment is $159,600,000.

Governor Connally named Barrera to the $24,000-a-year job. His duties include service as the governor's top liaison man and as the chief state election officer.

Barrera is a member of the Texas State Historical Survey Committee, is a former chief prosecutor in the Bexar County district attorney's office and is executive director of the board of trustees of Edgewood Independent School District.

COURTS SPEAK

Fining of 22 whites for staging a civil rights sit-in at Gate Raven in Huntsville was affirmed by the Court of Criminal Appeals. Same court also upheld the death penalty conviction of Tommy R. Vessels for rape of a Gray County woman and ordered a new trial in a fatal stabbing case.

State Supreme Court ordered a Bexar County jury trial to determine whether a group of San Antonio stockholders in the Uvalde Rock Asphalt Company has the right to inspect the firm's books and records.

Third Court of Civil Appeals reversed an additional workmen's compensation award to a Comal County woman hurt on the job because her lawsuit petition appealing the Industrial Accident Board decision was filed one day late.

ATTORNEY GENERAL

Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin has held that county commissioners courts may not legally sell to private concerns for commercial purposes duplicate copies of magnetic tape containing names of registered voters.

However, Martin said that county tax assessor-collectors and their deputies can prepare on their own time and sell copies of the registered voter list, providing the "moonlighting" does not interfere with regular duties.

In a separate opinion, Martin concluded that the State Liquor Control Board must turn down liquor license applications from per-

ELECTRIC EYE

Electronic watchdogs are being strategically placed on rivers and streams all over the state by the U. S. Geological Survey and the Texas Water Development Board in an attempt to gain all the information necessary for having a complete assessment of Texas' water resources.

As of July 1, 1967, they had instruments gathering data at 802 locations, and by next July, that number will increase to more than 1,000.

Instruments measure such things as continuous streamflow, chemical quality, lake content and river and stream stages.

SHORT SHORTS

Federal government will acquire 206,650 acres in Williamson County during the next five years to build Laneport and North Fork dams on the San Gabriel River, reports the U. S. Corps of Engineers.

Renovation and expansion of Stephen F. Austin State Park three miles East of Sealy is almost complete, says the Parks and Wildlife Department.

Congressman's View

By OMAR BURLESON
U. S. Congressman
17th District

How often have we expressed the desire to have "a little peace and quiet." Yet the trend with most of us is to do anything, to go anywhere, to take our mind off ourselves. Could it be that we have such a low estimate of our own company that any chance to be alone is avoided?

Apart from the strife of tongues, every life desperately needs a Chapel of Silence. Away from the debates which rend the air with contending voices, the greatest things are said and heard in silences.

Great men and women of the past found the most vital things to say in public given them in brooding hours far from the crowd with its loud and distracting accents. A cloister offers the high privilege of listening to voices of abiding truth symbolized, not by the earthquake and whirlwind, but by the small voice.

The one who spoke as never man spoke, knew the creative silence of the hills and wilderness. Paul's immortal insights into life and death came out of three hours of silence apart from the haunts of man.

Silent arguments are the final and effective answer. The unspoken arguments are the unanswerable ones. Truth can afford to wait in quietness and restraint. The fiery verbal missives hurled from the platform or legislative halls, the courts of law or the street corner demonstration, are at last answered by the truth which, assailed by words, abides in silence, uttering no indignant rebuttal but nevertheless eloquent in its disclosure.

What is said about things is not nearly as important as what things say about themselves. It often comes to pass that their silent testimony refutes and confronts noisy affirmation about them. For instance, John Lightfoot, Chancellor of Cambridge University in 1654 gave assurances that God's creation occurred at 9 a.m., October 26, 4004 but the wise old earth never believed anything of the kind. It spun on making no audible refutation regarding its alleged age. However, there were uncut leaves in the book of nature, in the coal and chalk beds, on the ocean floors, and in the rocks, all proving that the recent date was not inspired by truth. At last the record was opened and the planet had its say. As is usual, the unspoken argument finally prevailed.

Modern life with its hectic amusements, its grinding traffic, its crowded cities and its mob-movements, seems to be a giant conspiracy against the sacrament of silence and solitude. But, the most worthwhile human achievements have come out of a loneliness. Our utmost inward development awaits our practice of it. The disciplined mind can enter its own secret chapel anywhere, at a moment's notice, where beyond these voices there is peace and meaningful silence. Thomas Carlyle exclaimed, "I think the happiest of all men is one who can keep himself the quietest." Cardinal Newman matched Carlyle's insight when he said, "We are never less alone than when alone." These men may have been inspired by Isaiah's, "In quietness and confidence shall be your strength." Solitude can be a garden enclosed where blooms the choicest flowers of grace. Perhaps we have to be touched by some sorrow in our lives before we rock the healing touch of the silent place. John Oxenham's prayer:

"A solitude where I can think,
A haven of retreat,
Where of Thy red wine I may drink
And of Thy white bread eat,
Come! Occupy my silent place.
And make Thy dwelling there.
More grace is wrought in quietness
Than any is aware."

Senator's Point

Luring The Retired

By RALPH YARBOROUGH
United States Senator

Colleges and universities in the United States are, having a tough time finding enough qualified teachers and professors to keep up with the tremendous growth in enrollments on our campuses. This is especially true among the new junior colleges and developing institutions, and in many older small colleges.

As a member of the Senate Education Subcommittee I've studied this need for ten years. I've worked to pass three previous laws in this crucial area of higher education and this year I have introduced a plan which will go a long way toward relieving the manpower shortage — my "Professors Emeritus Act."

A "professor emeritus" is a college professor who keeps in touch and helps his school after he retires. The University of Texas at Austin, for example, has several outstanding retired professors who still work at the University. Sometimes they teach a couple of classes a day, sometimes they help with important research. Either way, they make their skill and experience available to the University.

My "Professors Emeritus Act" carries this same idea a step further. It would encourage colleges that have trouble attracting top teaching talent to look to the ranks of the retired. The federal government would help these small and often financially weak schools to locate and hire recently retired men and women who want to keep teaching.

In the past two years more than 100 new junior colleges have opened up in the United States. Several more are planned for Texas this year. The American Association of Junior Colleges predicts we will need 100,000 more college instructors by 1975. Yet two out of three major colleges require many able-bodied teachers to retire around the age of 65 years.

My bill would try to lure the best and most energetic of these retired professors back to our smaller schools, to help these schools grow and produce well-educated graduates. A few days ago I received a letter from the chairman of the engineering department at a big university in Massachusetts. This professor wrote me, "I expect to be retired from my present position not later than June 1969. I am in excellent health... I have no wish to retire from the work I love to do... and I am qualified by virtue of my many years of teaching and industrial consulting experience to teach a wide range of subjects." This is the kind of man we want for our developing schools.

I have also had an encouraging response from deans and presidents of many small colleges and junior colleges in Texas. The president of a Negro college wrote that colleges like his which are "struggling for survival" would benefit greatly.

We have teacher shortages, and we have a surplus of retired professors who want to keep working. My "Professors Emeritus Act" would seek to bring the two together.

Taxpayers Quiz

For Income Tax

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — My father, who qualifies as my dependent, is over 65. Is it true that I can't deduct the doctor's bills I pay for him anymore?

A — No. The medical expenses you paid last year for your father are deductible but they are now subject to the 3 percent limitation.

Another change in medical deductions is the new provision on medical insurance premiums. You may now deduct one-half of the premiums paid for medical insurance up to $150 without regard to the 3 percent rule.

Even if your total medical expenses including those you pay for your father are less than 3 percent of your income, you may still deduct half of your medical insurance premiums up to $150.

Q — I take a payroll deduction for savings bonds and put them in my child's name. Who has to pay the tax when they are cashed in?

A — It depends on how the bonds are registered. If the child is listed as co-owner on the bond, the purchaser is liable for tax on the interest. If the child is sole owner with the parent as beneficiary, the child assumes tax liability.

Q — If I send in my return now how long will it take to get my refund?

A — For returns that are complete and accurate, refund checks can be issued five or six weeks after the return is filed. Be sure to send your return to the regional service center in the envelope provided in the 10-40 package for fast action on your refund.

Q — We bought quite a few things for our house last year. Can we add the sales tax we paid on them to the amount listed in the sales tax tables?

A — No, only sales tax paid on the purchase of a car may be added to an amount listed on the sales tax table. If you believe you are entitled to a larger sales tax deduction than the tables allow, deduct the amount you have the records to substantiate.

Q — I have been buying shares of stock for some years on a monthly investment plan. How do I figure the cost of the shares if I sell some?

A — When no other price identification can be made, consider the shares you sold to be the ones you acquired earliest.

Q — Who is liable for self-employment tax?

A — If you have your own business, are a member of a partnership or render services as an independent contractor you could be liable for this tax. This would include anyone who has net income of $400 or more from these activities, even though you are not otherwise required to file an income tax return.

Payments of self-employment tax make you eligible for participation in the social security program. Details on this tax are contained in Document No. 5047, "Self-Employment Tax." Send a post card to your IRS District Director for a free copy.

Q — Do I count my son's summer earnings as support in determining whether I can still claim him as a dependent?

A — Yes, your son's earnings should be included to the extent they were used to pay any of his living or school costs last year. These earnings do not have to be included if they went into a savings account or were otherwise not spent for any portion of his support.

Q — My wife and I went to an expensive charity ball last year. How do we figure our tax deduction?

A — If the event was sponsored by a qualified charitable organization then you may be allowed to deduct a portion of the ticket price as a charitable contribution when you itemize. For example, if the tickets to the ball cost you a total of $50 and you received a dinner and entertainment that would normally cost $15, then your charitable contribution would be $35.

J — I will have a new address next month. Should I mail my return to the district office at my new address?

A — No, mail your return to the IRS office indicated in the 1040 instructions based on your address at the time you file the return. When you move be certain to leave a forwarding address with the Post Office. Many refunds are delayed because the Post Office is unable to locate the taxpayer.

Q — Can my wife and I file a joint return this year if it is to our advantage even though we've filed separately in the past?

A — Yes, you can.

Social Security

Additional Insurance

(This is the seventh in a series of articles concerning Social Security. The articles were written for publication by Erven Fisher, District Manager at Big Spring.)

About 14 million people over 65 who missed out on signing up for the supplementary medical insurance under medicare — which helps pay doctors' bills and other medical bills not covered under hospital insurance — will also miss out on some new benefits unless they take advantage of the period now open to enroll, provided by recent legislation.

These people will be receiving an application blank in the mail soon which will give them whether or not they want the supplementary coverage. If they sign up by April 1, their coverage will begin July 1, 1968. The premium paid by the person who enrolls on time will be $4 a month, matched dollar for dollar by the Government — so the insurance is worth twice the amount of the premiums people pay for it.

Those who miss out on this second chance to take the supplementary protection will have to wait another year, and pay a premium that is 10 percent higher for each full year they could have had the medical insurance for a year or longer had they signed up, will pay an additional premium of 40 cents a month above the $4.

A person who is not enrolled for medical insurance may henceforth enroll during the first 3 months of any year, provided this period begins within 3 years after he had his first opportunity to enroll. People already 65 or older who do not enroll by that date, they will have to wait until 1969 for another opportunity to do so.

If you are the son or daughter or guardian of an elderly parent who is a bit absent-minded or has a leading difficulty, and you are not sure whether he or she is signed up for medical insurance, we suggest you check to see whether that elderly person gets the letter in January offering this opportunity to enroll. You may want to advise him, or help him be sure the application for this important protection is mailed back. Remember, more than 9 out of 10 people over 65 already have it

Even a frown can worry Mother. And when he has a fever—she always fears the worst!

Did you know, Mother, that more children fall victim to spiritual neglect than any of the crippling diseases we dread? It has wrecked the fond hopes and bold dreams of hundreds of thousands of parents.

Yet it isn't a disease, at all! It is a HESITATION; hesitating to start our child in Church School, hesitating to go with him and worship God, hesitating to discuss at home the need for moral and religious foundation for the whole family.

Face it today! Do something about it next Sunday! Choose YOUR church. And make it YOUR church. And through a lifetime of worship and faith it can be for your child... HIS church

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
